Architects Give Detailed Study And Evaluation Of Pitt Industrial School

By PATRICIA MOORE Reflector Staff Writer Architects for Pitt County's proposed industrial training center...

They have envisioned "campus type" buildings for the industrial school, in contrast to the all-in-one type building...

The report of architects George Shoe and Cameron Dudley included a variety of subjects vital to the center, with recommendations from directors of other centers...

New Year's Start Has Its Oddities

By ANDREW MEISELS Associated Press Staff Writer A 2-day-old babe called 1962 already has begun to display some oddities all his own.

Phoebe, who is Mrs. Peter II, gave birth on New Year's Day while under water. Phoebe is a hippopotamus, and the underwater delivery is peculiar to the species.

The first baby of 1962 born in Iosco County, Mich., is appropriately named. The baby has not yet been given a first name, but his last name is First. He is the son of Airman IC and Mrs. Larry First.

Mrs. Dorlin Kall gave birth to the first baby of 1962 in Peekskill, N.Y., hospital. It was not an unusual distinction for Mrs. Kall.

She gave birth to Peekskill Hospital's first baby of 1962.

The Burlington (Vt.) Free Press had no takers for an offer it made in a front page editorial prior to the New Year's holiday.

The newspaper offered to pay the funeral expenses of any Vermont motorist who registered with the Free Press in advance and then got himself killed over the holiday. None chose to tempt fate by registering.

The offer was part of a safe driving campaign that apparently paid off. Vermont had no New Year's holiday auto fatalities.

A group of whites and Negroes pressing for equal rights in Maryland restaurants were invited to a New Year's Day open house given by Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

The group accepted the invitation, attended the affair, partook of punch and cookies and shook hands with the governor.

Then the demonstrators went outside and continued their campaign for equal eating rights—by picketing the governor's mansion.

Girl Found Seriously Stabbed Today In Charlotte Apartment

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Penney Moore, pretty blonde holiday skater, was found seriously stabbed in her apartment here early today after what police described as "an all-night party."

Detective Robert Hinson said the girl's assailant fled when a member of the party returned to the apartment about 5 a.m. Hinson declined to identify the suspect whom he said was not a member of the party but who entered the apartment when Miss Moore was left alone briefly.

Miss Moore, 21-year-old sophomore at Woman's College in Greensboro, came to Charlotte building plans are completed so that he can make recommendations. 2—Those interviewed stressed flexibility in building; proposed plans may be changed, they said, and consequently buildings and rooms would need to be adaptable to changes.

3—Sewer and water facilities are one of the greatest problems facing planning for the local site, architects said.

4—All schools appeared to have inadequate administrative space; classrooms were larger than necessary.

5—Storage at existing facilities is inadequate and not well planned.

6—Many existing schools are experiencing parking problems, since most of the students use automobile transportation.

Shoe and Dudley said of the 19 approved industrial centers in North Carolina, eight are in operation or limited operation in new buildings; five are operating in old buildings adapted for this use and six are in the various stages of planning or construction.

"With this information, we feel we will be ready to go into the planning, once the program is worked out," Shoe told the board. In addition to the architects, others connected with the project were present today, including S. F. Peterson and Leon Forlines, who have assisted in site clearing and planning.

Shoe said that "in nearly every case (of sites visited) the buildings were planned before a director was retained. In each case, the director said that the building had gone too far 'to change, or economic reasons made change inadvisable,' Shoe reported. He noted the architects feel the buildings for classrooms, administration and machinery should be as well planned as possible.

Indications are the local board of education hopes to profit from "mistakes in other localities, as well as to benefit from their good points in building a center here.

Chairman of the board Joseph S. Moye questioned Shoe about the advantages of hiring a director before ultimate planning has been worked out. Such a director would have an opportunity to make suggestions which might be helpful in overall planning. On the other hand, he and other board members discussed the possibility that a director hired prior to the building's completion might inject his own ideas which would be unsatisfactory to other directors who might succeed him.

The architects noted that of sites visited, classrooms were larger than necessary in that they had room for 25 to 30 students. Industrial training academic classes should have 18 to 20 students for better instruction, it has been pointed out. Those interviewed at the centers felt classroom space could be cut down.

Need for more administrative space in existing centers was suggested since such a center probably would operate morning, afternoon and evening, necessitating more administrative personnel than in the average school with more work space.

Inadequate storage space was existing in most of the site visited, the architects pointed out. Large machinery and materials take up a great space area, they said.

As for the sewer and water facilities, the architects noted that they investigated facilities using a maximum of 2,000 enrollment as a basis. They noted there is no receiving stream for the effluent from a sewage treatment plant located in the vicinity of the local school site, near Greenville on Highway 11. There is evidence of "rather high ground water table during wet seasons" also.

In view of the above conditions, the site was found to be unsatisfactory for a sewage treatment plant of adequate capacity," the architects reported. "Therefore, it is recommended that the sewage from the proposed school be conducted to the municipal sewer system of Winterville," they said.

They also reported that no attempt for on-the-site sewage facilities should be made. Since absorption in the soil would be the only means of secondary treatment, such a plant would be limited to an ultimate capacity for possibly 500 to 750 students.

However, Peterson and Superintendent D. H. Conley noted that a ditch which could empty into a nearby swamp, and that some of the statistics furnished by other schools concerning enrollment were misleading.

It was also pointed out that the town of Winterville, whose sewage plant is closer than that of Greenville's, could not adequately handle a tremendous increase without expansion.

No decisions were made on any points this morning. Peterson was expected to present a report on the site, and Forlines was to make another report.

The detailed report also included information on costs, building data, storage, quality of materials, durable materials, site improvement, drainage, drafting areas, and detailed analysis of shop areas.

It was pointed out that it appears more durable materials are available at lower cost in the Piedmont region than in the eastern part of the state, possibly because of more contractors and competition.

Happy Report

RALEIGH (AP)—Motorists did themselves proud in North Carolina over the New Year's holiday period.

The Highway Patrol reported today that over the long holiday from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday only six traffic deaths were recorded in the state.

This compares with 19 highway deaths over the Christmas holiday period, 16 deaths during the New Year's holiday weekend a year ago, and the 18 deaths that had been predicted for the weekend by the Carolina Motor Club.

At 8 a.m. today, no traffic deaths had been reported in the state during 1962.

Boast Resisting 'God And Devil'

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communists boasted today that their wall through Berlin is "so high and strong that neither God nor the devil" can help in getting across. But West Berlin newspapers reported at least two refugees escaped over the weekend.

The Communist statement was directed at Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the German Evangelical Church. Bishop Dibelius in a New Year's message quoted a line from the 18th Psalm about leaping over a wall with the help of God.

Neues Deutschland, the official East Berlin Communist daily commented sarcastically: "In the first place our walls, unlike those of Jericho, are so high and strong that neither God nor the devil's help would permit him to get over it."

two weeks ago as a temporary skating instructor at the Coliseum rink. Detective Hinson said the party in the girl's apartment apparently started after Monday night's hockey game. He said Andre Drolet, 24, of Quebec City, Canada, a member of the professional Charlotte Checkers hockey team, a Fat Cook of Charlotte and a second man were at the girl's apartment.

Hinson said that Miss Moore's date left earlier. He quoted Miss Moore as saying that she was alone in her apartment after Drolet left to take Miss Cook home. He quoted her as saying a man entered the apartment and attacked her when she resisted an assault attempt. Hinson said no one in the original party was suspect.

"She said the man threatened to kill her if she didn't stop screaming," said Hinson. "He stabbed her, and about then, Drolet returned and he ran from the building."

Hinson said Drolet took Miss Moore to his apartment and called for an ambulance. Hinson said he was unable to tell immediately what was used to stab the girl. He said only "a sharp instrument was used."

Miss Moore, who has traveled extensively and participated in many ice shows, came to Charlotte on the recommendation of Vivi-Anne Spain of Greensboro who has taught skating in Charlotte and Greensboro. She was substituting for Miss Spain during the Christmas holidays.

Pitt Social Security Consultant Resigning, Advises Program End

By HENRY HOWARD Reflector Staff Writer Pitt County's Commissioners today reluctantly accepted the resignation of W. K. Whichard, the county's special Social Security consultant who has engineered and led Pitt's Social Security program for five years.

Whichard submitted his letter of resignation, to become effective Feb. 15, accompanied by a recommendation that the Social Security program be terminated "at the earliest practicable date."

Today's action, while it did not specifically include acceptance of Whichard's recommendation to terminate the program, apparently was considered by the commissioners the beginning of the end for the five-year-old program, financed by the county to aid its citizens to secure Social Security benefits.

Whichard's resignation, the commissioners accepted "with regret" and with the understanding that Whichard would operate the Social Security program on a part time basis "until it becomes apparent that the new district office eliminates the need for the special venture."

Next step for the Griffon issue will be public notification of the official results and a 30-day waiting period before arranging for sale of the bonds. Speight said the bonds would probably be sold after the Feb. 13 transaction with the industrial training school bonds.

A Light Sample Of Winter's Touch

DURING THE NIGHT some few flakes of snow fell in Pitt and were present to greet early risers this morning.

Heavy Snow For Some N.C. Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow-weary North Carolinians hoped that a high pressure system moving toward the state will bring expected warmer temperatures Wednesday, clearing slush from many of the state's highways and roads.

The State Highway Patrol said in Raleigh that all main highways in the state, even in the mountains, are open. "People shouldn't have any trouble if they drive carefully," the patrol reported.

Troop F of the patrol, which is based in the western part of the state, said all major roads in that area are open. U.S. 441 across the Smokies into Tennessee was reported passable with chains recommended.

The in-coming high pressure system is expected to bring clearing to the state today. More cold weather is expected tonight, with low temperatures ranging from near 20s in the mountains to mid-20s central and around 30 along the coast. Warmer weather is expected Wednesday.

Many schools and colleges across the state did not open as planned today, but most were expected to convene post-holiday classes Wednesday.

The snow Monday, which fell for several hours on some portions of the state, snarled traffic in some mountain areas. Motorists were delayed by snow-halted cars in some of the state's mountain roads.

The weather bureau said Monday's snow reached more than four inches in some areas of the state.

During the night, low temperatures reported in the state included Asheville 26 degrees, Charlotte 30, Greensboro 21, Raleigh 28, and Wilmington 33. Precipitation for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. included .27 of an inch at Asheville, 1.23 at Charlotte, .45 at Wilmington and .66 at Greensboro.

Snow mixed with rain and sleet fell in the Greenville area last night, with precipitation measuring .41 of an inch. By morning all that was left of the snowy mixture was a coating on automobile windshields.

Temperatures have remained in the bottom 30s throughout the night and early morning, as reported by L. M. Bullock of the Greenville Utilities Plant. The midnight and early morning temperature here was 31, dropping to 30 degrees at 8 a.m. today.

The low for Monday was 31 and the high was 40 degrees.

The weatherman's forecast for Greenville and Pitt County is clearing today and rather cold, with continued cold tonight and warmer Wednesday. The same prediction holds true for most of the state, except for partial clearing in some locations.

The wind this morning was blowing from the northwest about 3 to 5 miles per hour. The barometer this morning read 29.8, Bullock said.

The Tar River is remaining at about a four-foot standstill, measuring exactly 3.9 feet this morning.

President Engaged In Policy-Framing Talks

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy holds policy-framing conferences today with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and top defense officials.

The vice president was scheduled to arrive in early afternoon from Johnson City, Tex. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's personal military adviser, were also due here for a later afternoon meeting on the nation's security status.

From all appearances, they intend to go over the preparedness situation which Kennedy has depicted as giving the West an overall edge on the Communists.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the meeting would not directly concern the defense budget, which is likely to absorb more than half the President's anticipated $92-billion spending proposals for 1962-63.

Neither Salinger said, was it called to make a decision on whether the United States needs to resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

to leave his hospital bed for a short period in a wheel chair. The President and other members of the family visited the elder Kennedy Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in neighboring West Palm Beach.

The chief executive spent a quiet New Year's Day, cheated by foul weather from his usual cruise on Lake Worth.

He made public a report from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy claiming significant advances in the government's war on the underworld. The attorney general, summarizing 1961 activities by federal crimebusters, said laws passed during the year could be thanked for much of the progress.

Without being specific, he said the Justice Department could use additional legislation to fight racketeers gamblers and hoodlums.

The attorney general cited the indictment of officials at Newport, Ky., in declaring his department is conducting a major effort to nail racketeers who try to currupt public officials. He said a majority of race wire services have shut down and contended betting on football games slumped during the 1961 season.

Kennedy plans to remain here until Saturday, when he will fly to Columbus, Ohio, to speak at a fund-raising birthday dinner for Ohio Gov. Michael DiSalle.

City Auto Tags Go On Sale At City Hall Today

City license tags went on sale today with sales for 1962 expected to approach 7,000.

City Clerk W. N. Moore said the tags may be purchased at City Hall Monday through Friday. Law requires that Greenville residents display the 1962 auto tags by Feb. 15, the same deadline as that required for state license.

Moore asked that purchasers have registration cards available. This will prevent delay in obtaining information needed for city records, he pointed out.

The license plates cost $1 each. During 1961 the city sold 6,672 tags for display on vehicles in the city.

Dominicans Told Freedoms Ahead

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Rafael Donnelly, president-to-be of the new Dominican Council of State, promised Dominicans freedom of assembly and discussion Monday and warned the armed forces against interference in the affairs of the new anti-Trujillo government.

Donnelly, named to succeed President Joaquin Balaguer as head of the ruling body, declared at the swearing-in of the seven-man council that freedom to meet and discuss all issues would be observed "because truth can be achieved only through conscientious and dispassionate discussion."

He asserted that the council, which assumed all legislative and executive powers until installation of an elected government early in 1963, wished to emphasize "our decided endeavor to maintain unalterable" the armed forces' non-political status.

The military, he said, must restrict its activities "to the defense of the independence and integrity of the republic, to maintain order and respect for the rights of man." Maj. Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, chief of the armed forces, who has vowed to support the council, stood behind Donnelly as he spoke. Rodriguez Echavarria led a military move which crushed a coup planned by Trujillo diehards last October and paved the way for the expulsion of the family of the late Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

Sworn in as vice president of the council, Donnelly will take over from Balaguer when the latter resigns, possibly within the week. Balaguer drew up the plan for an interim government and promised to quit when the Organization of American States lifts its economic and diplomatic sanctions against the Dominican Republic.

Following lukewarm approval of the council plan by opposition factions, President Kennedy announced that the United States favored lifting the sanctions imposed against the old Trujillo regime for plotting to assassinate President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela.

New Assistant Agent Assumes Pitt Duties

William R. Sanderson, 27-year-old Bath native, today assumed his duties as assistant agricultural agent for Pitt County's division of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Sanderson, whose appointment was accepted at today's session of the Pitt County Commissioners, succeeds R. O. Tharrington who resigned in November to accept a position with the Farmers Home Administration.

The new assistant agent left a job as agricultural chemical representative for Swift & Co. in Smithfield, Va. to accept the Pitt position.

Sanderson had been employed by Swift since his graduation from N. C. State College with a degree in agricultural education in 1959.

The Bath native's accepting the Pitt job brings the staff of County Agent S. C. Winchester again to five, including C. J. Goodman, S. J. Weeks and a secretary.

Fashions This Spring Will Be Ladylike

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—In the nick of time dress designers have rescued the American woman from the psychiatrist's couch. After more than a decade of Paris-inspired fashions that flattened her bosom, shifted or ignored her waistline altogether, and minimized her hips, she was getting a complex over having been built like a girl in the first place. Now at least the members of the New York Couture Group have agreed that it is all right—indeed fashionable—to have a ladylike figure.

for necklines—that is, shoulders—in dresses at all. But as an afterthought they cover their bare shouldered fashions with little shelter jackets. HEMLINES—Designers are satisfied with the lengths they've been going to for the past few seasons. No change there. RUFFLES—They flutter and flounce all over the place; down the fronts of little blouses. They ripple down shoulder blades to hemlines. Of they spiral around and around, or sweep diagonally from side to hem. PLEATS—Walking leaway in the form of pleats tuck into slim skirts. Soft pleats fold into flared ones, both at the waistline and at the hemline. COSTUMES—Jackets, capes and coats with flamboyant linings which match dresses or blouses of the same fabric are still in the spring picture. Some coats and jackets flare gently from the shoulder blades, but most fit snugly in a high waisted manner front and back. FABRICS—They are the soft, supple, clingy, drapy kind that figuratively make the most of a woman, especially when cut on the bias. Materials used for coats and jackets are crisper, less bulky than in previous seasons. Plaids are more bland in color, tweeds are on the other hand are spicier. Silks, chiffons, crepes and a highly disciplined fabric called alaskan are favorites for spring clothes. PATTERNS—Floral prints are gigantic garden riots combining colors that Nature never dreamed of, often on black, brown or gold backgrounds. HUES—Blues, bright yellows, red, white and blue combinations are in everybody's line.

Can't Vote, But Are Paying Tax

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Revolutionary War protest of "taxation without representation" was heard once again Monday, but to no avail.

In answer to protests of employees living at Perry Point Veterans Hospital, Maryland Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan ruled that they could not vote in the state as long as they lived on federally controlled property. The ruling covers those living on government-owned land throughout the state.

The Perry Point residents had contended they were being taxed without benefit of representation, since they are required, by law, to pay state income and sales taxes.

The Dahlgren, commanded by Cmdr. Cary E. Landis, is in the naval shipyard for an inspection following a shakedown cruise to Guantanamo Bay. It will be the destroyer division's flagship.

Capt. Isaac C. Kidd Jr. is division commodore.

Four-Hour Riot In Montreal Jail

MONTREAL (AP)—More trouble was feared today from 400 prisoners who rioted and battled police for four hours in Montreal's Bordeaux jail.

The men spent the night in cells of two unheated, water-logged wings where they were herded finally after their outburst Monday in the dining hall.

Lt. Col. Leon Lambert, governor of the jail, said prisoners in a block for persons awaiting trial took part in the rebellion and that "some of them looked drunk—possibly from goof balls (barbiturates)."

"The disturbance is far from over," Lambert told newsmen. "We have to get them back in their own cells yet."

He said three prisoners and a fireman manning a water hose were injured, none seriously. The fireman was believed struck by a piece of metal thrown by a prisoner.

Lambert said the rioting started with some grumbling and shouting about 4:30 p.m. which developed into open rebellion as the men were being served a roast beef New Year's dinner.

An electric power failure followed two hours later, knocking out the tower which controls the cell gates. "Without electricity, we could do nothing," Lambert said. "We had no lights or water here for two hours."

About 90 city and provincial police rushed to the jail and entered the prison yard with baseball bats and tear gas. Firemen were forced to run in hoses from outside the jail when water pumps failed to work.

Windows, plumbing, walls and bunks were smashed or ripped in both wings and a foot of water covered the floors.

Benj. Fairless Dies At His Home

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—Benjamin F. Fairless, 71, the son of a coal miner who rose to head a steel empire, died Monday at his home in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains.

Fairless was president of the American Iron & Steel Institute and retired board chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp.

His life story was an American success saga. He was the son of a Welsh immigrant; he started his business career as a newsboy; he worked as a part-time janitor in his high school, and he financed his college education by teaching in country schoolhouses.

He started at the bottom and he worked his way up to the top by what friends and adversaries agreed was ingenuity, diplomacy and hard work.

Fairless was the very model of the rugged individualist. He was a staunch defender of big business, and if he had to talk gruffly to congressmen in pleading its cause, he did.

"In what other country of this world could I have fared as well as I have here in the United States?" he once remarked in a speech.

Fairless recently spent six weeks in a Pittsburgh hospital under treatment for pleurisy.

Just two weeks ago, he had been granted a divorce from his second wife, the former Hazel Hatfield, daughter of former West Virginia Gov. Henry D. Hatfield. His first wife, Jane Blanche Truby, died in 1942.

Fairless was born on May 3, 1890 to Mr. and Mrs. David D. Williams in Pigeon Run, Ohio, a mining town near Canton. His struggling parents sent him to live with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fairless, at Justus, Ohio, when he was only 5 years old. They later adopted him.

Snow In South, East As '62 Started

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A New Year's Day snowstorm which dumped up to a foot of snow in parts of Virginia and Tennessee and heavy falls in other sections of the South and East, headed into New England today.

Many schools in Virginia, Tennessee and Maryland were ordered closed because of the snow. Traffic was slowed and driving conditions were hazardous in many parts of the snow and rain belt.

Colder weather spread into the Northeast, with temperatures below zero in some northern sections of New York State, including 15 in Watertown. Freezing weather was reported in parts of Alabama and Georgia.

The snow ended in the Southeast but continued in parts of the middle Atlantic Coast states and into the south Atlantic Coast states. Rain and drizzle sprinkled the south Atlantic seaboard.

There was a foot of snow in southwest Virginia and in mountain areas of Tennessee. Six to 8 inches of snow covered the ground in southern Virginia, with 4 in Richmond and 3 to 5 inches in areas east of Richmond. Schools in 24 counties and 3 cities were closed.

In addition to the 12 inches of snow in mountain areas in Tennessee, 1 to 4 inches was on the ground in the extreme eastern sections. Schools were ordered closed in Johnson City and four counties.

Some schools were closed in the eastern half of Maryland, hit by a 5-inch snowfall. Nearly four inches of snow fell in parts of lower Delaware, including Dover, the state capital, Georgetown and Bridgeville.

Snowfalls in Georgia ranged from nine inches in mountain areas to 4 to 7 inches in northern areas.

THE WONDERFUL WIZARD OF OZ

Once upon a time there was a great big ole wizard who had charge of everything. When he said, "Frog!" most people hopped. Others said, "How high?"

This big ole wizard, who knew all the answers, noticed one day that people in Switzerland and Patagonia earned more interest on their savings accounts than savers in the United States. The result was that smart money was leaving the U. S. for Patagonia.

So he decided to pass a law. And he did. From now on, he said, banks in the United States can pay savers 4% on 12-month savings accounts.

Now most folks had been knowing this ole wizard from way back. They knew that ole "wiz," as they called him, was all the time un-passing laws, deciding on whether he felt good that day and put their pending on whether he felt good for 12 months at the bank had to pay them for the next 12 months 4%. And they chuckled to themselves, for they knew the bank had to pay them for the next 12 months anyway at 4%—regardless of what the ole wizard decided to do later.

Who knows? they thought. Maybe ole wiz will decide in April to reduce the rate back to 3%—or even 2% for that matter. Might as well sew up 4% for the next 12 months while sewing-up is good.

The real smart folks, the Eggheads, read the Wall Street Journal to get the real low down on the high level program. But the more they read the more confused they become.

Apparently, the folks in Patagonia had been sending their money to the U. S. A. to invest in savings accounts. Well, naturally, the bankers in Patagonia began to offer more interest so that these folks would bring their money back.

Somewhat or other, when the Patagonians began to pull their savings back from the U. S. to Patagonia, about the only way it could be done was for the U. S. to send them gold out of Fort Knox.

That's what set the ole wizard on his car. He didn't have any gold himself. In fact, he had already passed a law so that nobody in the U. S. could have any either—except for one or two gold teeth—

But anyhow, it must be bad, the ole wizard thought, because everybody got upset whenever gold had to be dug up out of Fort Knox and sent across the ocean.

So naturally the only thing to do was to pass a law, which he did.

Well, here at State Bank, we don't know whether it's good or bad, but we're going to do what the wonderful Wizard of Oz says.

And if you want to get 4% for 12 months guaranteed before the wizard changes his mind and reduces it to 2%, hurry on down.

About all we can hope for is about a 2% gross profit (minus the cost of an IBM machine to keep track of everything), but it must be a good thing, so we're going along with it.

Portuguese Govm't Hunts Leaders Of Futile Revolt

BEJA, Portugal (AP)—The hunt was on today for political associates of a rebel leader who tried unsuccessfully to seize a military barracks and touch off a revolution against Premier Antonio Salazar's government.

Capt. Joao Maria Paulo Varela Gomes, 37, an army officer turned politician, lay near death in the Beja hospital. Manuel Serra, a former Roman Catholic youth leader who authorities said shared leadership of the uprising with Gomes, was captured while heading for the Spanish border with four heavily armed companions.

Between 40 and 50 persons, most of them workers, apparently were in the band that engaged Salazar's troops in a three-hour battle Monday at the barracks of the 3rd Infantry regiment. Officials at first announced all had been killed or captured.

But so far the government has announced only one rebel killed, two wounded and 20 others captured. It appeared some might still be at large, although the rebel casualties were believed to have been much higher than the government said.

Most notable casualty on the government side was Lt. Col Jaime Filipe da Fonseca, under-secretary for war who rushed to the southern city of Beja from Lisbon. He ordered the government forces to hold their fire and then walked into the barracks to demand that the rebels surrender. They shot him down. He died later in the hospital.

The government tightened security precautions by placing all police and military units in a "state of prevention." There was no general alert, but a huge Lisbon rally scheduled for Wednesday night was canceled, officially in mourning for Da Fonseca.

Salazar was to have addressed the rally to outline Portuguese policy for 1962 following a year of painful and embarrassing setbacks ranging from the seizure of the liner Santa Maria on the high seas to the Indian seizure of Goa.

The ill-fated uprising began in the sleepy New Year's morning. Witnesses said the rebels burst past the guardpost at the barracks, smashed into the officers' quarters and overcame the drowsy men. Two junior officers managed to escape to another strong point in the barracks and sounded the alarm.

The rebels were pinned down in the officers' quarters by machine-gun fire but could not be dislodged. Then Da Fonseca arrived and tried to arrange a surrender, at the cost of his own life.

The shooting of the under-secretary for war aroused the loyal troops and panicked the rebels. A number attempted to escape by seizing army vehicles and driving from the barracks. All were captured, and resistance crumbled.

Authorities said Gomes shared leadership of the uprising with Manuel Serra, a former Roman Catholic youth leader who until recently had taken political asylum in the Brazilian Embassy in Lisbon.

Gomes was an opposition candidate in last November's parliamentary elections and an outspoken critic of Salazar's 30-year dictatorship.

All opposition candidates withdrew from the race before the balloting, charging that the Salazar regime had not permitted them to campaign freely.

Takes Time Out From Cruise To Earn Money

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Two New York youths en route to the Bahamas in a sail-powered boat plan to resume their journey as soon as one returns from a trip to Charleston, S.C., designed to earn "$30 or $40" to help with expenses.

The two, Bob Warden, of Merrick, L.I., and John Tulley of Bellport, L.I., both 20, docked here the week before Christmas to hitchhike home for the holidays.

When they returned to Wilmington Monday, Tulley signed on as first mate of a yacht headed for Charleston. When he gets to Charleston, he'll hitchhike back to Wilmington.

"I meant $30 or $40, so he went," Warden said. "When he gets back, it'll be southward bound again, the first day a suitable wind comes along." Warden, meanwhile, lives alone on the ship.

Their sloop, the Wooden Shoe, was constructed in Holland in 1890. Warden, Tulley and four friends raised her after she sank off New York's coast last winter.

Two of the boys backed out of the Bahamas trip before it started.

One turned back at Norfolk, Va., another at Morehead City. They left Long Island Oct. 15.

"It's hard to explain what we're really doing this for," Warden said. "I guess we're not just waterway beatniks like some people have called us."

The Wooden Shoe is without automation. She is powered by one main mast, and rides low in the water.

Warden said he and Tulley "may go to college for a semester if we get to Florida in time. But we're not sure, although we definitely want to continue our education."

"Some day," he added, "we also hope to go to Europe—but not in the Wooden Shoe."

Corps Team Off To Sierra Leone

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-eight Peace Corps volunteers are off for a two-year tour of duty in Sierra Leone, West Africa, to teach English, geography and math to secondary school students.

The volunteers, who average 23 years in age, left here by chartered plane Monday following 26 days of jungle living in Puerto Rico.

Earlier, they spent seven weeks at Columbia University where they studied American history, African subjects and Mende, the native language of Sierra Leone.

Total Of 712 Fled Red China

MACAO (AP)—A total of 712 fugitives from Communist China reached this tiny Portuguese colony on the China coast in December, the Mainland Refugees Relief Association announced today.

It was the largest monthly total since the formation of the association a few years ago. The actual total is much higher because many refugees don't register with the association.

The announcement said 4,840 refugees from the mainland had registered in 1961.

Manslaughter Is Charged Mother

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A Negro mother faces a hearing here Friday in Recorder's Court on a manslaughter charge growing out of the deaths of three of her four children in a fire Saturday night.

Police Chief Phillip Paul said $5,000 bond was set for Mrs. Dorothy Long Lawrence, about 30. She was away when fire gutted her four-room frame house.

Beaufort County Coroner Bonner Paul said he requested that the manslaughter warrant be brought because the mother had left the children unattended. He added the deaths were due to suffocation.

The victims were Freddie Lawrence, 9 months-old; James, 4; and Virginia, 1 1/2. They were buried Monday. Dorothy, 2 1/2, was treated at the Beaufort County Hospital and released.

Police said the mother told them she had gone to her sister's house four blocks away to contact a man about getting some fire wood. Her husband, Wade Lawrence, is serving a two-year prison sentence for assault on a female.

Paul said the fire was caused by a faulty tin heater in the living room. The four children were in a bed in a nearby room.

Seek Indictment Of Councilmen On Bribe Count

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—The indictment of two city councilmen on bribery charges was to be sought today before the Spartanburg County grand jury.

City Councilmen She a Thomas and L. T. (Buck) Amick are charged by the State Law Enforcement Division with accepting a $10,000 bribe to influence their votes on city aid to street improvements in a subdivision.

If true bills are returned by the grand jury, they are scheduled to go on trial Wednesday. The Wednesday trial date has been agreed to by defense and prosecution attorneys.

The Spartanburg citizens for good government committee, seeking to unseat the two city councilmen, is due today to present more than 3,000 signatures to the county registration board. Only 2,800 signatures are needed for a recall election but the registration board must verify that the signers are legally registered voters.

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP)—Nancy King Textiles, a lingerie plant here which employs 55 persons, announced plans Monday to build a new plant to employ an additional 200.

Dr. W. N. Newton, secretary-treasurer, said the firm will build a 40,000-square foot plant on a seven-acre site which it purchased from the county in the eastern edge of the city.

Income Tax Rate Authority Seen Possible Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is reported to be seriously considering asking Congress to give the President authority to increase or reduce income tax rates as a hedge against inflation or recession.

The proposal, sources said Monday, may be presented in one of President Kennedy's major messages to Congress this month. Presumably it would be apart from the White House's tax revision program.

Behind the plan is the knowledge that getting tax legislation through Congress is often a drawn-out business. The informants said that by the time a tax bill has been written, put through hearings, amended, passed and signed, a recession could sidle into depression.

There is strong and traditional resistance to any executive encroachment on Congress' taxing power. But administration aides reportedly have worked out a formula they think might be acceptable.

Although details were withheld, the plan was said to provide for presidential authority to cut the basic 20 per cent tax rate to possibly 15 per cent for a limited period only—perhaps, for six months—with the cut subject to congressional veto.

Many economists have urged that device on grounds the government needs a more potent anti-slump weapon than now available.

On the other hand, a tax increase could help brake any serious inflationary climb that might rocket toward a boom and bust.

Treasury Department technical advisers and the President's Council of Economic Advisers were said to have reached substantial agreement on what ups and downs of key economic indicators might be used as the trigger for presidential action to order a temporary increase or reduction of the tax rate.

President Joaquin Balaguer has been busy giving away millions of dollars worth of Trujillo property, chopping taxes and behaving mostly like a generous politician seeking another term. Balaguer is not a candidate, however, and his official party soon will be dead as such.

What is behind the president's give-away program? The political opposition, thinly veiling its irritation, calls it demagoguery.

The 14th of June group, most outspoken in censuring Balaguer's donations, claims the president is trying to bribe labor. Alluding to plans to give shares in Trujillo companies to employees, the 14th of June group said in its newspaper: "We point out that some shares that were obtained through the blood and sweat of all the Dominican people should not benefit only part of the people."

Some agricultural experts criticize the distribution of developed land and cattle among the poor, contending this will break up efficient operations and endanger the cattle industry through slaughter of breeding stock. There seems no intention of disrupting farm and cattle operations which were owned by the Trujillo family. Government sources say these donations, claims the president is purposes, agrarian reform and interest rates cut from 8 to 4 per cent and extended payments to a maximum 20-year period instead of 10.

Generally Balaguer's program has been applauded by many Dominicans and foreign observers who see it as an idea to deprive future political leaders of the use of these resources for political purposes.

After the Trujillos departed the government took over 51 firms they owned outright or in part. The over-all value is not disclosed. The Haina sugar operation alone is likely worth $100 million. The president has been using Trujillo funds to donate taxicabs to needy operators; tricycles in wide use here as portable vending stalls; land and livestock. He also ordered home mortgage power.

The coffee-cacao monopoly of the Trujillos was dissolved and the arbitrary export tax eliminated. This dissolution has created a field of at least 60 independent exporters, the government says. Reduction of sales taxes will cost the government $20 million annually in revenue. Balaguer says new sugar tax legislation—the Trujillo companies paid no taxes—will more than make up the difference.

The result of all this government experts claim, is nearly a doubling of the peso's purchasing

Ohio State And Cincinnati Top Poll; Duke Is Eighth

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
If there is any dissent about it, it isn't apparent. Ohio State seems to have convinced everybody it is the undisputed leader in college basketball.

The ten teams the mighty Buckeyes have rolled over so far are convinced. So are the 42 panel members voting in The Associated Press poll. They again made Ohio State the unanimous choice for No. 1 in this week's balloting.

The Buckeyes, deep in talent and experience and with a magnificent leader in Jerry Lucas, swept to three victories and the title in the premier event of the hectic holiday tournament program, the Los Angeles Classic. They beat Washington, UCLA and nationally ranked Southern California.

Alabama's Win In Sugar Bowl Left Tide Number 1 In Nation

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Alabama's convincing Sugar Bowl victory over Arkansas left the Crimson Tide still towering over the field today as the No. 1 college football team in the country.

Alabama's 10-3 decision in New Orleans Monday turned out to be pretty much of a routine job—a rock-ribbed defense and enough offense to keep the enemy off balance.

But if Alabama didn't get much satisfaction out of its Sugar Bowl victory, Minnesota and Texas, two other bowl victors, were walking on air.

Minnesota defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl 21-3 to make amends for its loss a year ago. The Gophers got in the back door, when Big Ten champion Ohio State declined a bid.

Alabama coach Bear Bryant said he had "nine heart attacks" during the game.

CHAPTER 20

"I always hated you, Lee Polson," Holly Eastman said furiously, "but never so much as at this moment."

"Thanks, Holly, I appreciate that," Lee drawled. "I've never had much use for you, either. But since you and your mother, two able-bodied women perfectly capable of getting jobs and earning your own living, have moved in on Miss Cora, I've actually despised you."

"And especially now that you know Kermit frequently calls me for dates," Holly said spitefully. Lee laughed. "About that, I couldn't care less."

Mrs. Eastman, lost in her own thoughts, suddenly gave a little gasp and looked up at Holly, her face bright and eager.

"Holly, I've just had the most wonderful idea!" she cried gaily. "That cottage dear Martin is repairing—how nearly finished is it?"

"He hopes to move into it from the hotel in a few days," Holly answered.

Mrs. Eastman beamed at her. "Then we shall simply borrow the cottage from Martin for a while," she gurgled happily. Holly's lovely eyes flew wide, while Lee looked from one to the other in incredulous amazement.

"Oh, Mimi, that's a marvelous idea!" Holly gurgled. "We'll be right there at Oakland with him all the time."

"And if you don't make him realize how important, how completely indispensable you are to him, I'll be very surprised and disappointed," Mrs. Eastman gurgled eagerly, with an adoring look at Holly.

"You leave that to me," Holly answered complacently.

Lee looked from one to the other in astonished disbelief.

"But Martin has been planning on using that place for himself," she began.

Mrs. Eastman laughed. "Oh, he'll be glad to share it with Holly and me," she said delightedly. "After all, Martin will really need us. There must be a servant staff to be found and trained, and who can do that better than the former mistress of Oakland?"

They beamed maliciously at Lee, and after a moment Lee said quietly, "I knew that you were utterly shameless when you moved in on Miss Cora; but I never dreamed you'd go this far."

"Well, after all," Mrs. Eastman pointed out spitefully, "you didn't leave us much choice, did you? You simply turned us out of the house, and we have nowhere to go. So naturally, since Martin is our dear and good friend, he will be glad to offer us shelter until we can make other plans."

"And when I tell him what you've done to us, Lee, I doubt if he'll even speak to you when he passes you on the street," Holly said radiantly. "Go after all, we really should thank you, shouldn't we, Mimi?"

"Oh, we do, we do!" Mrs. Eastman fluted. "And you can tell that outrageous Cora that her precious house will be empty for her return tomorrow. As soon as we get in touch with Martin, we'll pack!"

"They rushed out of the room, and Lee dropped into a chair and put her head in her hands. She had never been so surprised, so shocked in her life.

Lee got up at last and left the cottage. Outside, she turned the car about and headed for home.

something," pleaded Miss Cora. "We're going to, darling," Lee assured her firmly.

"Oh, I'm glad, you're going to warn him."

"I'm going to do nothing of the sort, Miss Cora!"

"Oh, but Lee dear—"

"Look, Miss Cora honey," Lee soothed her, her own eyes somewhat grim for all her soothing tone. "Martin Whitfield is a grown man, past his thirtieth birthday. He's been around. I can't think of anything that would offend him more than for me to trot out and say, 'Now look, you mustn't have anything to do with Holly and Mimi. They're not good for you.' Miss Cora, he's a grown man! How could I insult him like that?"

"Well, Lee, I suppose there's something in what you say," Miss Cora admitted reluctantly. "But just the same—"

"Furthermore," Lee went on, "there is the chance that he could think me merely jealous and spiteful."

Miss Cora nodded soberly.

"And there's his fiancée in New York," she said thoughtfully. "I suppose if he's really in love with her, perhaps Holly won't be able to snare him, after all."

"We hope!" said Lee without conviction as she stood up. "Now you are going to have a cup of tea and forget the whole mess! We aren't going to talk about it any more."

Lee doesn't expect Martin Whitfield to take a side in the "Miss Cora" issue, but she does. Continue the story here tomorrow.

U. S. Ambassador And Gromyko Talk Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko conferred for 2½ hours today as the first step in a new attempt to find a mutually satisfactory basis for East-West negotiations on Berlin.

The American diplomat, asked if there would be more of his sessions with Gromyko, said, "I suppose so but I do not know when." He declined to say how the meeting went.

Thompson took Kempton Jenkins, embassy second secretary specializing in German affairs, to the meeting. Soviet propagandist chief Leonid Ilychev was with Gromyko. Since Ilychev considerably outranks the foreign minister, this could indicate the Russians are already trying to move the talks to a higher level.

Thompson said he would fill in the British and French ambassadors here about the conference. He did not mention the West German ambassador, but it is assumed that he will give him a briefing too.

President Kennedy has instructed Thompson to probe the Soviet position on the Berlin issue to see if there is a profitable basis for formal talks.

Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had agreed to have the U. S. ambassador handle the preliminary round for both Britain and the United States. There is a possibility that British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts may also take a hand.

If the Thompson-Gromyko talks are successful, the next step is expected to be a foreign ministers' conference to determine the future of Berlin.

Thompson's last round of talks with Gromyko in Moscow took place at the end of October. The subject of those talks was not the general Berlin situation but the problem of identification procedures at the checkpoints along the Berlin border. This problem, involving questions of whether Allied officials should show their papers to East German guards, had brought U.S. and Soviet tanks to the border for a time.

The tanks were withdrawn but the impasse on identification remained. The West refused to yield on the ground that control of the East Berlin border was the responsibility of the Soviet Union as an occupying power and not of the East German Communist regime, which the Western Allies refuse to recognize as a valid government.

Suggests Queen House Homeless

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England (AP)—A Presbyterian minister suggested today Queen Elizabeth should invite some of London's homeless to come and live in Buckingham Palace.

"There must be a great deal of spare room in the palace," the Rev. William Barbour wrote in his church magazine.

"I know if the queen allowed people in need of accommodation to share her house many other people would follow suit."

There are about 3,000 homeless in London. The vast palace has more than 600 rooms, many of them unused.

Triples Born To One Of Twins

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ebba Cuddy, a twin herself, gave birth to triplet boys on New Year's Day.

Mrs. Cuddy gave birth to the infants in 38 minutes at Chestnut Hill Hospital where her husband, Dr. Vincent D. Cuddy, 29, a native of Wheeling, W. Va., was completing a term of duty as a resident. The Cuddys have three other children.

Farm Census Is Part Of Listing

January's tax-listing operation in Pitt County also includes the county's share of the 1962 federal farm census.

When they list their personal and real property, county farm operators are required to furnish list takers information about their farms that will be filed along with similar data from the nation's 3,000 counties to comprise the 1962 national agricultural census.

Farmers are required to provide the information requested under the original State Farm Census Act of 1921 in which the General Assembly agreed to cooperate with the federal government in conducting the annual census.

Information requested in the census includes: — a list of acres of each crop grown; total acres cultivated by the owner; each separately recognized farm; acres in improved pasture, wood-land, idle and other lands; number of bearing fruit trees; number of livestock of breeding age; numbers of hogs sold or slaughtered during the past 12 months; and tons of fertilizers to be used during this crop year.

All information furnished the list takers is held in strict confidence and has no relation to taxes.

Purpose of the annual farm census is for agricultural education, economic analysis and safer guidance of county agents and farmers in agricultural matters.

Burglars Loot Woolworth Home

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Burglars have looted the sumptuous winter home of Norman B. Woolworth of the variety store family.

The New Year's Eve burglary was discovered Monday by caretakers who live nearby. Police say they are having trouble determining just what was taken.

Woolworth, nephew of the founder of the F. W. Woolworth Stores, said there were no jewels in the two-story home on Indian Creek Drive.

Reached at his New York apartment, he told the Miami Herald: "I understand they took furs, china and silver and several paintings. And my clothes. They were crazy to take my clothes. They got stuck."

'Different' Larry Parks In A Hollywood Holiday

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—He appeared a different Larry Parks—bearded, serious, mature. But beneath the sober look was the same sparkle as when he portrayed Al Jolson in two smash-hit movies.

Parks was in town for a holiday visit with his family and a look at his business enterprises. Then he had to return to Munich for the finish of "Freud," his first American-made film in nine years.

What has he been doing in that time?

"Working my head off," he said. "I've done a great deal of stage work—summer stock, a year with 'Teahouse of the August Moon,' 'Beg, Borrow or Steal' on Broadway. I've done television and night clubs.

"And I build apartment houses."

Builds them and operates them. He wouldn't say how many there were, but said he had put up seven apartment houses since last March. Some of his places have as many as 40 units.

"I had planned to start building two places in January, thinking I would be through with 'Freud' by then," he said. "But I won't be finished until mid-January, so I had to postpone construction."

You see, when I'm building, I'm the first man on the job and the last one to leave. It's harder work than acting."

Parks said he got started in the building business back in 1940, when he came west for an acting job that disappeared. He and other out-of-work friends put up a house in Burbank.

"Sometimes we'd have to walk down the street to see how a real carpenter put in windows and other things," he said. But they got it built and Parks made $133 on the deal.

Building business was sidetracked for his movie career, which flourished and waned. When the drought set in, he and partner Lewis Mandell began building apartment houses.

"Actually putting up buildings is a great deal like making movies," Parks said. "But there's a difference. You can always change your mistakes in a building; you can't in a movie. Another thing: you're pretty sure of getting your investment back in a building; you can lose everything in a movie."

The Seminole Indians have built a large arts and crafts center and an office building for tribal officials on a reservation near Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Predicts Victory For NAACP

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, predicts victory for the cause of racial equality.

"I think we're going to win," Wilkins said Monday night, "because of the helpers we have, because the American people are essentially fair, and because the Negro has faith in himself."

Some 1,000 persons attended a dinner honoring Wilkins for his 30 years' service with the association.

Three Break-Ins At Walstonburg

WALSTONBURG, N.C. (AP)—Federal, state and county officers continued an investigation today of break-ins at the post office, ABC liquor store and a cafe here Saturday night.

Thieves broke open the safe in the post office and made off with more than $200. About $140 worth of liquor was stolen from the ABC store and approximately $4 and four cartons of cigarettes from Hinnant's Cafe.

Greene County Sheriff Clifton Barfield said entrance to the post office and cafe was made by the rear doors. The thieves entered the liquor store by breaking a back window.

IN NEW POST—William A. Crawford, a career foreign service officer, is the new United States minister to Romania. He succeeds Clifton Wharton in the post.

TV Screens Awash With Gridiron Play

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It was a rough weekend for television fans who can take football or—preferably—leave it alone.

The home screens were awash over the long weekend with gridiron warriors. Football may well be the No. 1 American spectator sport, but eight or nine televised bowl games, often occupying all three network channels, sometimes seems a bit excessive.

For spectacle lovers, there was also the Pasadena Tournament of Roses procession Monday. A few floats could go a long way in black and white, but for the lucky handful of viewers with color sets it was a handsome show. Betty White, handling part of NBC's commentary, was bright and amusing. But the CBS staff and Roy Neal of NBC handled their assignments with the solemnity and urgency normally reserved for getting a missile into orbit.

Another major effort of TV's weekend was shoving 1962 off to a gala start. This involved the usual orchestra music and close-ups of ladies and gents in floppy hats waving at the cameras.

Football, "Auld Lang Syne" and parades behind, we can settle down now to worry with Chet Huntley about the international situation again.

ABC may have a controversial variety show in the offing. It's a comedy special set for Feb. 4 in which Stan Freberg will serve as star, creator, writer and executive producer. Comedian Freberg, who has appeared only infrequently on television, plans to use parts of his satirical revue of American history. The revue has had some exposure in the form of a record album—but was banned by many radio stations because of its irreverent treatment of patriotic themes.

Looks as though "The Untouchables" will be around for still another season. ABC recently said that the show would be continued if star Robert Stack—who was making discontented noises about quitting his Elliot Ness role—would sign again and apparently he has agreed.

Add shows reported to be shaky: "National Velvet" and Bob Newhart—the latter admired by the more sophisticated viewers but not drawing the big audiences.

Recommended tonight: "Password," premiere, CBS, 8-8:30—night-time version of a popular day-time game show; "The Cake Baker," ABC, 10-11—Shelley Winters stars.

Western Samoa—Now Independent

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Western Samoa became the modern world's first independent Polynesian nation Monday.

Ceremonies at Apia, the capital of the island group in the South Pacific, ended New Zealand's 48-year administration of the pre-World War I German colony.

With New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake in attendance, New Zealand's flag was lowered in Apia and Western Samoa's new flag—a southern cross on a red and blue background—was raised.

SITTING PRETTY—Modern bar stool which can be used as an ash tray, a chair, left, consisting of wire frame dotted with seven cushions and inverted conical chair in which model is sitting were displayed at furniture exhibition in Hamburg, Germany.

Investigating Removal Of Girl From Couple

SILER CITY, N.C. (AP)—Chatham County Sheriff J. W. Emerson Jr. says he is conducting an investigation to determine whether any laws were broken when a 6-year-old girl was taken from the couple who was rearing her.

Emerson said Brenda Colson, a Negro, was taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colson the day after Christmas by Colson's niece, Miss Ruby Dickson. He said she took the child to New York.

Neither the Colsons nor Miss Dickson is related to Brenda.

Miss Dickson, the sheriff said, was a friend of the child's mother, who abandoned her when she was three months old. The Colsons

Saves Two Who Fell Through Ice

BRAINTREE, Mass. (AP)—Stephen Lyon, 13, inched out on the ice of Montauquet River toward a hole 20 feet from shore where brothers David and Mark Barry struggled in the water.

Carefully Stephen extended a hand, seized Mark, 8, and lifted him to firm ice. A moment later he hauled David, 11, to safety.

The three boys had been coasting on the ninth fairway at the Braintree Municipal Golf Club. Mark's sled coasted onto the ice at the bottom of the hill and dropped into the hole. As the younger brother clung to the edge of the ice, David went to his aid and slipped in, too.

Three Reasons To Salute 1962

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Guenther Bauers of South San Francisco have three new reasons to celebrate the coming of 1962—all of them boys.

Mrs. Bauer gave birth to triplet sons at St. Mary's Hospital Monday.

Israel is once again using King Solomon's mines—to produce cop-ter for the state.

ART BY NATURE—After season's first major snowstorm dumped six inches of white on Minneapolis, this fire hydrant looked like Humpty-Dumpty with epaulets.

YOU MAY BE ASTONISHED at the value that the nation's leading industries place on daily newspapers as an advertising medium. Last year, there were more than 100 national advertisers who invested more than $1 million each in daily newspapers—and the largest of them bought more than $40 million worth of space.* Retailers and local advertisers agree with these industrial giants that the newspaper sells best. These retailers and local advertisers last year invested $2.9 billion in daily newspapers—more than they spent in radio, TV, magazine, and outdoor advertising COMBINED!

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market began its 1962 career by backing away from an early rise and showing a mixed pattern in moderately active trading early in this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 262.70 with industrials off .40, rails up .50 and utilities up .10.

Most key stocks showed gains or losses running from fractions to about a point.

Some of the motors and aerospace issues remained well ahead but initial gains by other sections of the list tended to melt away as trading slackened.

Steels were mixed. Bethlehem held a fractional gain. U.S. Steel dipped moderately.

Chrysler was up about a point while Ford and American Motors gained fractions. General Motors eased. Studebaker-Packard dropped a fraction.

Sees Success In Invading Cuba

GUATEMALA (AP)—President Miguel Ydigoras says last April's invasion of Cuba by forces trained in Guatemala so frightened Fidel Castro "that his warlike activities outside Cuba ceased since that date."

The Guatemalan president, disclosed officially in a New Year's message Saturday night for the first time that anti-Castro Cubans were trained in Guatemala.

"President Kennedy still has the responsibility of a sequel," he said.

He did not explain that statement clearly, but went on to say: "The Bay of Pigs (scene of the April invasion) was a victory, not a defeat, and he who begins under such auspices must go on with the great task of decommunizing that part of the American territory. There are signed commitments in South America."

Referring to the April invasion, he said Guatemala "encouraged thousands of exiled Cubans to fight to regain their own homeland instead of lamenting their ill fortune."

He said Guatemala reached an understanding with the exiled Cubans and "they entered into arrangements with a friendly government able to give arms and sustain training and a military campaign."

A secret training base was set up in Guatemala and another operated openly, he added.

UAW Calls Out 6,500 Workers At Auto Plants

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union called its members out on strike at Studebaker-Packard Corp. early today after extended weekend sessions set up by mediators had failed to bring company and union together.

The executive committee of Local 5 had set the strike deadline after the company terminated the contract, which had been extended from its Dec. 1 expiration date. The committee had had strike authorization from the membership since November.

Only a few volunteer pickets without signs were on hand at midnight, when second shift workers left the plants. Studebaker-Packard has not been operating a production force on the third shift. Regular picketing started at 6 a.m.

The strike involves 6,500 production workers.

Issues in dispute included wash-up time, shift premium, vacation computation, representation and management rights, a union spokesman said.

About 400 Held After Uprising

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—About 400 persons were reported under arrest today following the unsuccessful uprising by a right-wing extremist group seeking to push Lebanon into a bloc with other Arab nations.

Large stores of arms were also seized Monday in raids on villages where the Popular Social party (PPS) maintained strongholds. The party wants Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Palestine and Cyprus joined under one Arab flag but strongly opposes U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser's pan-Arab movement led from Cairo.

Premier Rashid Karami's Cabinet dissolved the PPS and announced restrictions on political parties, the press and foreigners.

Ship Powerless, Radio Also Dead

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A general cargo ship, the Catalina S., reported it was drifting without power in the Gulf of Mexico today, then its radio went dead.

A Coast-Guard plane later located it 150 miles west of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The pilot radioed that the vessel was dead in the water and another commercial vessel, the Irish Ash, was en route to assist.

The Catalina S. is a 2,407-ton ship of Panamanian registry. Her destination was not available.

Tshombe Claims Mass Murders

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga President Moïse Tshombe has conceded the loss of the north Katanga stronghold of Kongolo to troops of the central Congolese government but claims his forces have beaten off Congolese attacks at Kapona, south of Eaudouville.

Tshombe charged at a news conference Monday in Elisabethville that 13,000 Congolese troops advancing on Kongolo had murdered hundreds of civilians and burned villages.

He claimed that the Congolese abandoned heavy equipment and fled in the face of strong Katangan resistance at Kapona. The separatist leader said both sides suffered heavy casualties there, asserting that most Katangan casualties involved civilians.

Tshombe also declared that he has rejected an order by Congo President Joseph Kasavubu that the Katanga Assembly convene Wednesday in Kamina under U.N. protection.

He said he had informed the U.N. Command in Elisabethville that the order for the Assembly to meet and ratify Tshombe's Kitona unity agreement with Premier Cyrille Adoula was "a treaty and in direct violation of the Cong constitution" and "an abuse of power."

Tshombe has summoned the assembly to meet in Elisabethville tomorrow to discuss the Kitona agreement. But he said he was no longer sure the meeting would be held on schedule.

The U.N. Command announced that Bashi tribesmen in Kivu Province had killed at least 12 of their tribal enemies while trying to elect a new chief.

Dutch Gov't Offers Talk West New Guinea's Future

By NEL SLIS
THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The Dutch government announced today its willingness to discuss the future of West New Guinea with Indonesia without setting conditions beforehand.

Premier Jan de Quay read the government declaration in the lower house of Parliament at the start of debate on West New Guinea, last remnant of Holland's East Indies colonial empire which Indonesia has threatened to invade.

President Sukarno Monday proclaimed the disputed territory a province of Indonesia and ordered a special military command set up to direct the invasion if he orders it.

De Quay said the Netherlands is willing to enter into negotiations without making self-determination of New Guinea's Papuan population a prerequisite. Previously the Dutch had said they would negotiate only if the Papuans were assured the right of self-determination.

The Labor party opposition had been pressing the government to announce willingness to relinquish the territory and then to negotiate for some autonomy for the Papuans.

Foreign Minister Subandrio of Indonesia recently said Indonesia might consider giving West New Guinea "a great measure of autonomy."

Dutch New Guinea — 159,000 square miles of jungles, mountains and swamps and the scene of some of World War II's hardest fighting—has been claimed by Indonesia ever since it won independence from the Dutch in 1949.

The Dutch say the Papuans in the disputed territory have no ethnic relationship to the Indonesians and are only beginning to learn self-government under Dutch tutelage.

Sukarno gave no hint of conciliation after a meeting with his military advisers at Bogor Palace. Asked by reporters what was discussed, he shook a clenched fist and said: "We discussed this."

Then he issued an order declaring that Dutch New Guinea is now the Indonesian province of West Irian, the Indonesian name for the disputed territory. The order also said the province is to have a Papuan governor, a move apparently aimed at Dutch public opinion and educated Papuans.

Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, security minister and army chief of staff, said in a New Year's statement that the army is ready to invade New Guinea "disregarding risk of starvation, the risk of hardship, even the risk of death."

Military experts say Sukarno by the end of the year will be able to send a naval flotilla against the Dutch military headquarters at Biak, while jet bombers and paratroops would handle Hollandia. Amphibious landings at other towns would encounter scant opposition.

Sukarno has ample ground forces — 40,000 troops hardened fighting rebels in the North Celebes and 200,000 experienced soldiers elsewhere—but seapower is the major question.

The navy recently announced it will buy cruisers, submarines and destroyers from Yugoslavia and Poland.

Indonesia also expects additions to its MIG jet fighter squadrons and more than two dozen jet bombers later this year under an arms agreement with Moscow.

Hercules transports from the United States are being used to train paratroops, and U.S. landing craft have been added to the navy.

Lions Look For 3 Wheelchairs

AYDEN—Local Lions are looking for three wheel chairs owned by the club.

The chairs were loaned out but no one remembers to whom. Club president, Kermit Sumrell asked anyone knowing the whereabouts of the wheel chairs to contact him or any member of the Ayden Lions.

The Lions gave Christmas baskets to eight families over the holidays. J. D. Cannon reported at the club meeting Friday night. One pair of eyeglasses was given to a third grade student during December, he told the club.

President Sumrell reported that the White Cane drive quota for the Ayden club has been exceeded and that Ayden is one of the few clubs in its district to do this. The club voted to send two delegates to the Third District Governor's cabinet meeting in Rocky Mount Jan. 16.

Invocation was delivered by Lion Ben Phillips.

Two New York City Bus Lines Closed By Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike against the two largest bus lines in the city forced 1.3 million regular riders to seek other means of transportation today. Police reported little confusion.

Subway traffic was heavier than usual. Automobile traffic from Queens and Brooklyn to Manhattan also was heavier, as bus riders switched to their own cars or car pools. Lines of cars outside midtown parking places were longer than usual.

An early morning snowfall in Queens and Brooklyn hampered automobile traffic somewhat.

Drivers for the Yonkers Bus Corp. reported they carried more passengers than usual from the suburban Westchester County area to city bus lines.

No negotiations were scheduled for today in the dispute that halted service on the struck private bus lines at the start of the New Year.

Passengers affected by the strike found alternate transportation for the most part on subways and city-owned bus lines and five private bus lines that were not struck. Taxicabs also did a heavy business.

Public schools were ordered opened an hour later—10 a.m.—to take the pupils out of the early morning crush. Catholic schools reopen Wednesday except in Queens and Brooklyn where they were to open today.

The strike by 6,400 members of the Transport Workers Union was born with the new year after last-minute conferences failed to resolve the cause of contention—city concessions to ease the lines' financial plight.

It closed down Fifth Avenue Coach Lines, and its subsidiary, Surface Transit, Inc. Another subsidiary, Westchester Street Transportation, Inc., also was hit.

The city offered concessions on transfers and other issues that would bring the lines about $4.5 million a year for the next two years, but management held off for more.

Admit Troubles Behind Curtain

TOKYO (AP)—All three Communist countries behind Asia's Bamboo Curtain have admitted in New Year's statements that 1961 was a bad year because of "natural calamities" or other difficulties.

The leaders and official organs of Communist China, North Korea and North Viet Nam in New Year's greetings to their people all placed emphasis on domestic problems rather than on international issues. Drought and flood contributed to the domestic difficulties.
