New Divisions Will Need About Eight Months Of Preparation

Pentagon Says Army Hopes Have New Units In Fighting Shape By Year's End

WASHINGTON AP — The two regular Army divisions are expected to be established by the end of March, but it will take about eight months of intensive training before they can be declared ready to fight.

President Kennedy announced Wednesday he had approved immediate formation of the two divisions, the 1st Armored and the 5th Mechanized Infantry. They will bring the regular Army force to 16 divisions.

Officials said today the term "immediate" was relative. They noted that certain advance arrangements must be made, including the mustering of a framework of officers and noncommissioned officers and housekeeping preparations to receive the troops at Fort Hood, Tex., and Ft. Carson, Colo.

The Pentagon has ticketed a group of regular armored, infantry and artillery units to become the nucleus for the two divisions. Together, they total about 10,500 men. At full strength, the new divisions will number about 31,700 men in all.

The 21,000 soldiers need to fill the divisions' ranks will be drafted who have finished eight weeks of basic training. Defense officials said they do not expect to raise draft calls.

After the new outfits are brought up to strength, they will be put through a cycle of advanced individual training, basic unit training, division drills and field maneuvers. Only then will they be considered combat ready.

A Pentagon spokesman said the Army hopes to have the 1st Armored and 5th Infantry in fighting shape before the end of this year.

Kennedy said creation of the two added regular units will permit the return to civilian life after this year of two National Guard divisions ordered to active duty last Oct. 15. These are the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored of Texas.

Officials said there will be some overlap. Under present law, Kennedy could hold the Wisconsin and Texas divisions in uniform until Oct. 15, but Pentagon officials had been hoping to release the 32nd and 49th by June 30. Some smaller units may be demobilized before then.

Army officers said the two new divisions will need only about 50 percent of their authorized equipment to carry out training. Only when they are approaching combat readiness will the new divisions need a full complement of modern howitzers, tanks, armored troop carriers and the like.

The Army has estimated it would cost some $70 million to organize, equip and maintain two more divisions in the remaining six months of this fiscal year. Officials said this can be done out of funds already in hand.

The cost for the next fiscal year has been calculated at about $165 million. Money requests for this purpose will be included in the new defense budget, due to go to Congress later this month.

Reluctantly OK Selling Shares

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Utilities Commission, with some reluctance, has given Carolina Telephone & Telegraph Co. the green light to sell 195,039 shares of common stock at the $20 par value.

Commissioner Tom Eller issued a dissenting opinion and the commission's accounting staff objected to the stock sale.

In giving the firm permission, the commission majority said Wednesday that future financing should be through bond issues rather than the sale of common stock.

In a letter to Dr. Ray D. Minges, chief of staff at the hospital, the dentists said the space allocated for a dental operating room at the hospital in the recent addition and renovation program is "too small to accommodate the personnel and equipment necessary for general anesthesia and oral surgery."

Signed by Dr. Jack E. Silvers, president of the society, the letter said: "The dentists have agreed that they would prefer to continue

French Algerian Rightists Call For Mobilization Of Settlers

ALGIERS (AP) — The underground French right-wing Secret Army Organization called Wednesday night for a general mobilization of European settlers for a last-ditch fight to keep Algeria French.

Terrorism mounted in the North African territory with 37 persons slain Wednesday in attacks by both Europeans and Moslems, bringing the toll for the first three days of the year to at least 60 dead and more than 130 wounded.

Handbills calling on the settlers to prepare to fight were posted as the belief spread that the way was at last open for an agreement between the De Gaulle government and the Algerian rebels to end the seven-year-old war in Algeria. The handbills gave no further instructions but a pirate radio broadcast earlier in the day predicted victory for the Secret Army in 1962.

Terrorism surged up in most major Algerian cities. The attacks were indiscriminate and followed no particular pattern. It was believed the Moslem nationalists were making a show of strength to influence the secret talks under way for several weeks between the French and the Nationalists. And the European extremists appeared trying to foster the idea that France could not enforce an independence agreement against the French settlers' determined resistance.

Three persons were killed and 30 wounded by grenades thrown into a crowd of Moslems leaving a movie house in Constantine Wednesday night.

In the western port of Oran bands of youths savagely stabbed or beat to death six Moslems in separate attacks after word spread that a pregnant Jewish woman had been wounded by a Moslem terrorist. The woman later died.

Rebel headquarters in Tunis made a conciliatory gesture in a statement Wednesday declaring: "The provisional Algerian government is animated by a sincere desire to achieve a realistic solution, a solution that would take into account France's interests."

"Independence of the Algerian people and its entire sovereignty over all of its territory should be conciliated with the interests of France."

The statement was distributed as a "political bulletin" by the official rebel agency, Algerie Presse Service.

Observers in Tunis believed the statement was a forerunner of an announcement concerning the opening of formal peace negotiations between the De Gaulle government and the Nationalists.

High French sources in Paris said the secret talks now going on deal with the possibility of a cease-fire followed by a transitory period leading to Algerian independence.

The sources said the French propose to retain technical sovereignty over Algeria during the truce period and be responsible for maintenance of order until a self-determination vote by Algeria's nine million Moslems on their political future.

The Moslems are considered certain to favor independence. Then a provisional Algerian executive body would be installed to carry on further negotiations with France on cooperation between the two countries.

The sources emphasized that negotiations are still in a fluid state and a number of points remain to be cleared up.

Indonesia Steps Up Arming; New Terms Indicated

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia stepped up its arms buildup today off the shores of Dutch-held West New Guinea despite reports that President Sukarno's regime was ready to offer the Netherlands a compromise on the future of the disputed territory.

The army announced that 10,000 veterans of independence fighting against the Dutch are being retrained on Ambon and other islands of the Molucca chain some 150 miles off the western tip of New Guinea.

The announcement closely followed a report from a high government source that Indonesia is willing to promise West New Guinea eventual self-determination if the Dutch agree to let Jakarta take over the territory's administration in the meantime.

Col. Busjiri, military commander of the Molucca area, declared that the issuance of arms to the veterans and their assignment into combat units are preliminary steps to "the march forward to stop the Dutch-created Papuan state from operating and to hoist Indonesia's red and white flag in the territory."

President Sukarno ordered national mobilization—last month and said he would invade West New Guinea unless the Dutch handed it over. He gave no indication of an invasion date.

But the high government source reported Wednesday night that Indonesia was prepared to drop its demand for immediate sovereignty over the primitive area and to offer the 700,000 Papuan tribesmen there the right of eventual self-determination.

He said the Netherlands in turn would have to give Indonesia administration of the territory. He called the proposal "the most liberal stand" his government could take.

The source said that the Indonesian shift resulted from pressure from the United States and Australia. Australia administers the eastern half of the island, the world's second largest.

N.C. Tax Collections For December Show Increase

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's tax collections showed a healthy increase last month over December of 1960, Revenue Commissioner W. A. Johnson reported today.

Johnson said collections for the fiscal year are running "pretty well in line with estimates" given when the General Assembly last year was preparing the state's budget for this biennium.

Total state collections for December were $34.4 million for a gain of $3.2 million over the $31.2 million received in December, 1960.

General fund collections amounted to $23.1 million for a $1.4 million gain, and highway fund receipts totaled $11.2 million compared with $9.5 million in December of 1960. A big jump in gasoline tax collections, from $9 million to $10.7 million, was mainly responsible for the highway fund gain.

The state's collections for the first half of the 1961-62 fiscal year totaled $212.3 million for an increase of $13.6 million over the first half of the previous fiscal year.

The general fund took in $152.7 million, an increase of $10.5 million. Highway fund collections amounted to $59.6 million for a gain of $3 million. Gasoline tax collections for the six-month period totaled $36.8 million compared with $33.9 million in the first half of last fiscal year.

For the first half of the fiscal year, sales tax collections amounted to $63.5 million compared with $45.5 million in the same period last year. Income tax collections for the first six months of the fiscal year, however, were down, totaling $53.9 million compared with $61.9 million in the first half of last fiscal year.

Johnson said sales tax collections for the fiscal year are running "almost right on the button" with estimates. He pointed out an increase of $35 million for the entire fiscal year was expected and the gain the first six months amounted to $17.9 million.

The drop in income tax collections for the first half of the fiscal year, Johnson added, had been expected and was taken into account when revenues estimates were prepared. He said a reason for the drop was that persons were paying taxes in the fall of 1960 on the installment plan on their 1959 incomes and because of the withholding plan no such payments were received in 1961.

'Passing Good' Grade For Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine commandant and crisp talking critic of the Corps, gave his annual word to the Marines today.

Said he, in a message read to his staff and telegraphed to all Marine units around the world: "The Corps' work was 'passing good' last year; superior marksmanship knocked out some bull's eyes, but for 'a few—Maggie's drawers!'"

(Note to non-Leathernecks: "Maggie's drawers" is a red flag waved by target attendants in rifle pits to indicate to a shooter that the last round he fired missed completely.)

The clean misses could have represented "bad range estimation on my part" in setting goals, but he still didn't like them.

Training is not all sitting in a chair, listening to lectures. "Get out into the rain, snow, cold and darkness to where you might have to die."

"I recently observed a training lecture in progress in a barracks. The platoon of Marines which was listening to their instructor talking about guerrilla tactics looked about as enthusiastic as weight-watching women waiting at the skimp milk dispenser."

Fifty-plus per cent may satisfy some requirements. "There are those who draw salaries by bailing only .333. But for Marines there can be only one goal—100 per cent."

He has "no trouble finding people to handle machines. The problem is to find people who can handle people. Concentrate on Marines. They'll handle the machines."

It is gratifying that increasing command attention is being given to combat intelligence. "However, there are too many of us who seem to hope for success in combat while operating in a black-sock atmosphere."

And finally "We will continue to teach fighting, but not hate."

In an interview last fall, Shoup was asked what he thought about intensive troop orientation lectures on communism. He replied that teaching hate is not necessary, that Marines are taught only to fight whatever enemy the commander in chief designates.

Declares India Is 'Determined'

PATNA, India (AP) — The annual meeting of India's ruling Congress party opened today with a warning that Chinese Communists and Pakistanis must follow the Portuguese off Indian soil.

Party President Neelam Sanjiva Reddy was loudly cheered when he declared India is determined to end their occupation of Indian territory within a short time. Turning to Prime Minister Nehru, the party head, Sanjiva Reddy said the entire nation is behind the government in whatever steps it takes to regain Indian territory.

ORDER COMPLIANCE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge has given Montgomery until Friday to remove signs from separate facilities at the city airport in compliance with a ruling outlawing segregation there.

Hearing Tonight Is On Rezoning Red Faces For Propagandists

A public hearing on rezoning a block from commercial to industrial will be among the City Council's business tonight.

The hearing concerns a block on the east side of Raleigh St. between Myrtle and Chestnut.

Councilmen will meet in City Hall at 8 p.m.

There will be consideration of amending the city ordinances to authorize addition ex-officio members of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

A report from the consulting engineer who was hired by the city to inspect the heat pump installation at Sheppard Memorial Library will come before the council.

Certain property owners on Elm St. will request refunds of street assessments for improvements to the street. City Attorney R. B. Lee offered the opinion last month that the city could not legally collect paving assessments for improvements to Elm St.

Other items on the agenda for tonight:

—drainage ditch improvements in Lincoln Park.

—bids for a metal Public Works Department building.

—report on cost of Elm St. improvements.

—discussion of proposed improvements on Cozart St.

—Police recommendations for certain parking regulation changes in the business district.

Red Faces For Propagandists

MOSCOW (AP) — A photograph distributed by the Soviet government as evidence in its charges against West German Gen. Adolf Heusinger gave Moscow propagandists red faces today.

Foreign Ministry officials declined immediate comment when they saw a photograph they had distributed—purporting to show Nazi soldiers burning a Russian village at Heusinger's order—was actually one the Soviet government had previously issued of Japanese soldiers burning a Chinese village.

"We will investigate," they said. It was one of the biggest propaganda slips in recent years.

The news reached Moscow in the issue of the West German magazine Stern dated Jan. 7. It was confirmed here by reference to the original document.

At a news conference Dec. 12, the Soviet government demanded that the United States turn Gen. Heusinger over to the Soviet Union for trial on war criminal charges.

Heusinger, 64, was chief of staff until 1944, chief architect of the postwar West German army and now is chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent military committee in Washington.

Plan Announcing A Joint Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam will announce tonight a joint economic program designed to stiffen South Vietnam's resistance to Communist subversion.

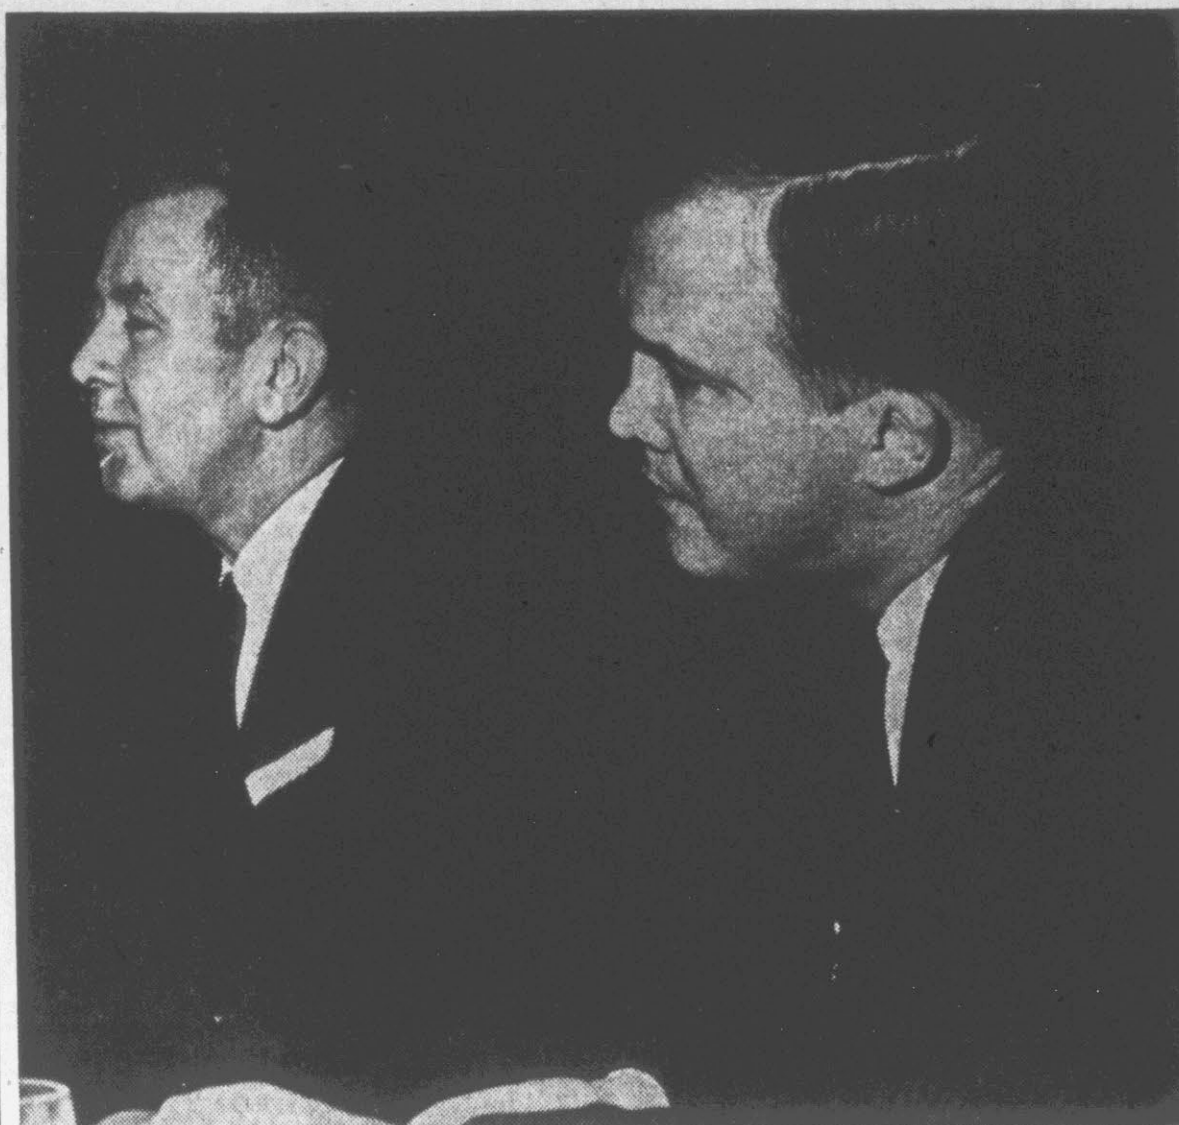

The new program includes many of the economic reforms recommended last summer by a U.S. mission headed by Dr. Eugene Stanley of the Stanford Research Institute.

The program is designed to strengthen South Vietnam's fiscal operations, eliminate corruption and waste and put more funds into the government treasury to help it finance the expanded campaign against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

TRIP TO BERLIN

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Lord Home will make a 24-hour visit to Berlin beginning the evening of Jan. 9, the Foreign Office announced today.

At Wednesday's Session Here

Six Counties Move Nearer Forming Regional Ass'n

Thirty-four representatives from six northeastern counties and state officials gathered here Wednesday night moved a step closer toward organization of regional planning and economic development association.

Wednesday's meeting of the proposed organization's Steering Committee, held in the Buchanan Room in East Carolina College's cafeteria building, was the outgrowth of the initial session of the six counties' delegates in Rocky Mount Nov. 7.

State Sen. Dallas L. Alford Jr. of Nash, temporary chairman of the fledgling organization, presided at Wednesday's session and appointed three committees designed to move ahead with organizational and other plans.

The group met Wednesday, Jan. 31, as the date for its next meeting, to be held also in Greenville. Nine speakers, in addition to Alford, took turns urging the six counties — Pitt, Beaufort, Nash, Edgecombe, Martin and Wilson — to complete plans for combining industrialization and economic development efforts in the half-dozen counties on a regional basis. Dr. John Crawford of N. C. State College in Raleigh emphasized the benefits of combining planning and action. He said the six-county association must set out to "create a good business climate for all kinds of development."

A representative from the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill, Dr. Philip Greene, insisted that the organization move ahead toward the proposed six-county mutual union with careful deliberation. He urged the organizers to "complete your adequate planning in advance."

Tom Broughton and R. D. Barbour, both Conservation and Development staffers, appeared to offer the services of C & D in aiding the formation and activities of the association.

Gov. Sanford's economic adviser for regional development, George Stephens Jr., called the delegates' attention to 1961 legislation which allows counties to work cooperatively with financial support in development.

Other speakers included W. W. Speight of Greenville, State Sen. Henry Grady Shelton of Speed in Edgecombe County, Dr. J. W. Poul of Greenville and Alton Mills of Aurora.

Alford appointed organization, projects and arrangements committees with these members:

Organization Committee — Peyton Beery of Tarboro (chairman), William Hackett of Belhaven, Sted Mallory of Williamston, George Watson of Whitakers, W. W. Speight of Greenville and Mrs. Marvin Daniels of Black Creek.

Projects Committee — Dr. C. Sylvester Green of Greenville (chairman), Alton Mills of Aurora, Sen. H. G. Shelton of Speed, William Heard of Williamston, Mrs. Agnes Saff of Rocky Mount and Preston Harrell of Stantonsburg.

Arrangements Committee — Tom Lacro of Rocky Mount (chairman), Mrs. M. C. Gautier of Washington, Mrs. J. W. Van Landingham of Tarboro, Carl Griffin of Williamston, Mrs. Albert Bell of Fountain and R. L. Stephenson of Wilson.

Arrangements for Wednesday's meeting were made by an East Carolina College faculty member, Dr. R. E. Cramer of the geography department.

Stabbing Case Fugitive Gives Self Up Today

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Joel Lee Saye, 22-year-old ex-paratrooper wanted in the stabbing of a pretty ice skating instructor, gave up to police early today after calling his probation officer.

Saye, an unemployed plumber's helper beset with domestic worries, called State Probation Officer Ted Williams Wednesday night and said he was ready to surrender to police.

Saye had been widely sought in the Tuesday morning stabbing of Penelope (Penny) Christine Moore, 19, a petite college student and expert figure skater who was teaching ice skating here during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Moore, who was stabbed four times. One of her lungs was punctured, but doctors said she was in satisfactory condition today.

Detective Capt. O. A. Crenshaw reported Saye was named in warrants charging first-degree burglary — a capital crime in North Carolina — and with assault with intent to kill. Officers said Saye was identified by Miss Moore from photographs.

Williams, who has been Saye's probation officer since he was convicted on a house-breaking charge, said Saye called him at his home Wednesday night. Williams quoted Saye as saying he wanted to meet with him and Kays Gary, columnist for the Charlotte Observer.

The three met at a restaurant where Williams bought Saye a cheeseburger and a soft drink. Saye told the two men of his domestic troubles and blamed the attack on loneliness and drink.

Saye, cold and hungry, told how he had wandered about the city since the attack and took refuge under a house to sleep.

"Tonight I went to the hospital where the girl (Miss Moore) was," Gary quoted Saye, "I wanted to the emergency entrance. I wanted to go in there and tell her it was all over. Let the police come get me there, but I couldn't."

Williams said Saye, who quit school when he was 15 and after the ninth grade, had been distraught over the separation from his wife, Betty, five months ago. He couple has two children.

The parole officer, an ex-Marine captain who had just learned he is suffering from leukemia, pictured Saye as an unhappy, confused young man who acted on impulse and ran at the wrong time.

Gun-Running Said Broken Up

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal Laotian government today announced it had smashed a ring of civilians and military men who have been gun-running.

Forty persons, including prominent businessmen, were reported arrested on charges of stealing weapons from the royal army munitions depot.

The announcement did not say whether the ring had been selling or giving the weapons to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

Dental Society Urges Special Hospital Clinic

The Pitt County Dental Society has requested that dental equipment currently installed in a special dental surgery room among the suite of operating rooms at Pitt Memorial Hospital be placed into service in a dental clinic for the county's indigent patients.

In a letter to Dr. Ray D. Minges, chief of staff at the hospital, the dentists said the space allocated for a dental operating room at the hospital in the recent addition and renovation program is "too small to accommodate the personnel and equipment necessary for general anesthesia and oral surgery."

Signed by Dr. Jack E. Silvers, president of the society, the letter said: "The dentists have agreed that they would prefer to continue using a regular operating room for oral surgery rather than the one allocated for this purpose."

On this basis the dentists reasoned: "This leaves all of the dental equipment purchased for this operating room unused. This equipment includes two dental chairs. Both could be utilized in the proposed dental clinic."

The letter was submitted to Tuesday's meeting of the Pitt County Commissioners who passed along a recommendation to the hospital's board of trustees to assist the dentists in their attempt to establish the clinic.

Dated Nov. 30, the letter prompted Dr. Minges to appoint a committee to study the matter. Dr. Maicene Irons was named chairman of the committee and passed a copy of the letter along to the commissioners for their consideration Tuesday.

Jesse R. Moye Jr., chairman of the Pitt Memorial Board of Trustees, said today the proposal has not yet been presented to the trustees. He added his board would consider the matter at its next meeting, Jan. 16. The board's last previous session was Dec. 19. In their proposal, the dentists suggested the already-purchased equipment be utilized in a clinic as a means of revising one of two current methods of treating indigent patients.

The letter said the dentists and the county's public health officer would like to see a revision of the method of treating indigent patients in private offices under the state sponsored Joint-School

Health Program. That program employs 18 public health dentists who are apportioned among the state's 100 counties. The State Board of Health assigns $2,000 annually to Pitt County to pay the salary of the public health dentist.

The dentists said in their letter that Pitt County seldom is as busy as the dentists since there are only 18. They reasoned: "A better and more far-reaching indigent care program can be accomplished by the establishment of a dental clinic to treat this group of patients. In a central clinic a more extensive service can be rendered to more patients in less time. In doing so the State and County would get much more for their Public Health dental dollar."

Bethel Citizens To Try Night Policeman Telephone System

BETHEL — As a result of action by the Town Board this week, Bethel residents will be the first in the county to use on trial basis a police telephone at night.

The telephone will be placed downtown so that a night policeman can be reached at all times. It will operate with a loud bell on two corners of the town, which should attract the attention of the patrolling night policeman, Mayor Joe Butterworth said today.

At the present time, citizens cannot reach the night policeman at the police department at night, since he is on town duty.

The only way he can be reached is by the citizen's calling another policeman off duty, who in turn goes out and locates the on-duty officer.

Citizens will dial VA 5-5481 after hours to reach the night policeman. The town telephone number is being switched over to the street phone after hours, Butterworth noted.

The telephone company has said it may have the telephone installed within the next week. At the regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, board members approved purchase of two radios which will be a part of the Civil Defense communications network for the county. Cost of the two radios is about $406, with the federal government paying half.

Other discussion at the meeting centered on additional night lights for the town and the possibility of paving streets which encircle McWhorter Park here. Butterworth said members of the board are considering paving the streets in the spring.

In other business, bills were approved and paid. Members reviewed the well situation in Bethel. The town is continuing to operate on one well, while repairs are being made on the pump of the second one. Butterworth said the second well should be repaired within a week or so.

Speed Reading Topic Of Rev. Davis' Talk

The members of the Round Table Book Club held their first meeting of the new year with Mrs. Leonard Bloxam at her home on North Elm Street Tuesday afternoon with 15 present. After an exchange of new year's greetings, the president, Mrs. Robert Fountain, conducted a brief business session.

Introducing the program for the afternoon, Mrs. E. E. Rawl Sr. spoke of its timeliness in the club's study theme for the year, "New Frontiers," and Mrs. T. M. Davis presented her husband, the Rev. Mr. Davis, as the guest speaker on the subject of "Speed Reading." Mr. Davis brought to his listeners his recent experiences as a student in a speech clinic, discussing briefly the current interest in speed reading, and explaining techniques which if applied with diligence may "turn plodding readers into pacers" in a remarkably short time.

Rev. Davis called attention to the fact that value in acquiring acceleration in visual speed calls for accompanying practice in "reading" since comprehension must keep pace with reading speed—learning to acquire the great asset of speed reading therefore involves not only training the eye to see thousands of words a minute, but also requires discipline in rapid comprehension and recall. Delighted with the opportunity to discuss this popular new skill, the members of the club questioned the speaker at length on many of its aspects.

In the social hour which followed, the hostess, assisted by Miss Joyce Lynn Bloxam and Mrs. C. O. H. Horne, served refreshments.

Give Canned Vegetables First-Course Treatment

MARINATED CANNED vegetables are delightful served as a first course with crunchy French bread and butter.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

BORROW AN idea from European tables and serve marinated vegetables as a first course. We do this often, using canned vegetables. So convenient and so many varieties from which to choose! Use epicurean articles, hearts, asparagus spears, mushrooms or pimientos; or try every-day green beans or beets.

If kitchen economy is your watchword, look out for "bargains" at the markets and stock up your pantryshelf so you have a supply on hand. Read labels! Canned green beans come in various ways, from cut style to whole vertical pack—and the price varies accordingly. When company comes, the whole green beans are great to marinate, but cut style green beans, treated the same way, are also delicious.

If you're choosing beets, you may find it thrifty to buy the whole or chunk style beets and slice them yourself. If every second counts, you may wish to use the canned sliced or shoestring style beets.

Both white and green asparagus are delicious marinated. The canned white spears we found, on European visits, were favored in a number of countries.

Marinated whole mushroom caps make a wonderful appearance, but there isn't a thing wrong with the flavor when economical caps and stems are used.

Don't mix the vegetables when you serve them as a first course. Marinate them individually and offer them on separate dishes, or at least in separate mounds. Of course here, as with any rule, there are exceptions. Mushrooms and pimientos, for example, are delightful marinated with green beans. And sometimes we mix green and wax beans for a pretty color combination.

If any marinated vegetables are leftover, you'll find they'll make a real contribution to a tossed green salad.

MARINATED VEGETABLES

1 pound can vegetables (suitable for marinating)
6 tablespoons olive or other salad oil
3 tablespoons cider or wine vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1 small onion (peeled and sliced into thin rings)

Turn vegetables into a strainer to drain; use vegetable liquid in sauces or soups. In a wide shallow container, beat together with a fork the oil, vinegar, salt and sugar; add drained vegetables and onion, mix. Refrigerate covered, several hours or overnight, turning vegetables once or twice in the marinade. Before serving, drain vegetables from marinade. Onion rings may be served with vegetables or removed—as you like.

Ex-Husband Behind B.B.'s Defiance Of Secret Army

By TONIA SCHILLING

PARIS—(WNS)—Behind Brigitte Bardot's decision to take a public stand against the right-wing Algerian fanatics is her ex-husband, film director Roger Vadim.

When the Secret Army Organization, the anti-de Gaulle underground, tried to shake down the film star for the equivalent of $10,000, she went to Vadim for advice.

Though the couple has been divorced for nearly four years, this wasn't surprising. Since the breakup of her second marriage and a mounting pile of personal troubles nearly overwhelmed B. B. a year and a half ago, leading to her famous suicide attempt, Vadim has been frequent companion and counselor to her.

He suspects that the terrorists may really have been aiming at him through his ex-wife. He has long been an outspoken critic of the war in Algeria and is respected as a man who says bluntly what he believes.

"They knew they would get nowhere with me," he declared. "They may have mistakenly thought they could frighten her or me through her."

Instead of responding to the letter from the "headquarters" of the Secret Army signed by one "J. Lenoir," who described himself as the "chief of financial services," Bardot went to the police and then revealed what had happened in a fiery letter to a Paris newspaper. All this was done with Vadim's advice.

The French police, who have placed a 24-hour guard on B. B.'s apartment, don't think it is a publicity stunt.

Frenchmen are commending her because, they say, she could have ignored the blackmailing letter and the terrorists probably wouldn't have dared to harm her.

By revealing the incident, she has placed herself on the rightists' blacklist. Should the day ever come when the Secret Army and its supporters seize power in France, as they are plotting to do, Bardot would be in considerable danger.

"I have no desire to live in a Nazi country," the actress declared in her letter to the newspaper.

Guests assembled in the basement where a log fire and decorations of red and green made a cheery setting. Tomato juice cocktails followed by a fish supper was enjoyed by the 35 guests.

Men Beginning To Revolt

By IRENE FERRIS

AMSTERDAM—(WNS)—Dutchmen are beginning to revolt against their wives' too-thorough housecleaning by taking foreign brides, reported Dr. Pieter Nietmeyer, who has been conducting a survey on the subject.

"My wife takes every piece of furniture out of the house out of the front lawn every day while cleaning. It's too much," one husband told him.

"I married an American girl so I could get away from my mother's strict cleaning routines and relax in a dustier but less tense atmosphere," another admitted.

It is impossible to protect yourself and loved ones completely from germs, said Dr. Nietmeyer. It's better to live with a few germs than make life miserable for the family.

The tall, blonde bachelor doctor is in favor of clean homes, but not of over-cleanliness that chases away husbands as well as germs. His suggestions:

One thorough housecleaning per week is enough.

Casual cleaning and dusting should be limited to two hours per day.

Sheets and pillow cases need not be changed more than once a week.

Windows should be washed twice a month, and silver polished once a month.

Babies can be bathed every night although it is not necessary.

Children should be taught sane habits of cleanliness that will last them for a lifetime.

"Above all, do not instill an exaggerated fear of germs in your children," advised the doctor.

Prosperity Brings Its Own Kind Of Headache

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street is admitting today that prosperity can bring its own peculiar headaches.

The growing number of Americans who are buying stocks—or wondering about buying them—and the record number of companies offering stocks and other securities to the public for the first time is keeping brokerage and investment houses pleasantly busy.

It is also giving Wall Street a big job of self-policing—in addition to, and perhaps to beat to the punch, official investigations of stock market practices.

Washington naturally is casting its eye on the transgressions, discovered or suspected. Wall Street points out in mitigation that the big increase in the volume of securities and the transactions involved make the percentage of such transgressions small.

But officials of the exchanges and of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., are urging member brokerage and investment houses to mind their conduct.

They are anxious, just as Caesar was in the case of his wife, to see that the Street is above reproach.

Total sales in 1961 on the New York Stock Exchange topped a billion shares for only the second time and were barely under record 1929. Several times that many shares are estimated to have changed hands on the over-the-counter market — nationwide and involving many times as many shares as are listed on the exchanges.

There was excitement enough in the listed shares at times, and in some unlisted ones that had been traded over-the-counter for years.

But much of the excitement was in the new issues which the public could buy for the first time.

These reached a record volume in the closing months of 1961, the Securities & Exchange Commission reports. In the last six months corporations filed 1,224 registration statements, offering $8.1 billion of securities publicly. In the first half of the year there were 1,121 statements filed, and in the second half of 1960 there were 709.

A record 70 per cent of the offerings in the last half of 1961 were by companies going to the public for the first time.

A few, but a spectacular few, of these offerings rose quickly to much higher prices than those set at the offering—and usually fell as fast. These are the ones, known as "hot issues" which the SEC is eyeing balefully.

Public buying and selling of these was marked. But there was a steady increase reported in stock ownership generally—either individually or through participation in mutual funds. And stocks of a number of companies whose securities had been traded for years had some sudden ups and downs laid to unconfirmed rumors.

As 1962 starts, member brokerage firms of the New York Stock Exchange are under fresh admonition to use "more than ordinary diligence" in the acceptance of directorships in companies whose securities the firm helped introduce to the public. They are reminded that they aren't to hold back any stocks of such offerings for themselves, employees or members of their families.

The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., a semi-official group that helps police broker-dealer firms, also is urging brokerage houses to avoid charging too much for selling unseasoned stocks. It is looking into such firms' expense allowances and stock options, as well as sales commission.

With an eye on the SEC and possible congressional investigation, Wall Street's own police are urging brokers to remember what happened to Caesar's wife — she got bounced.

Applications For Nat'l Teacher Exam Due Jan. 12

Less than two weeks remain for prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teachers Examinations at East Carolina College on February 10, to submit their completed applications for these tests to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. E. M. Nicholson, Director of Testing announced today.

Applications for the examinations must be forwarded so as to reach the Princeton office no later than January 12, Mr. Nicholson advised.

Applications for the examinations and Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing representative test questions may be obtained from Mr. Nicholson, Box 111, East Carolina College, or directly from the National Teachers Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Italy Extends Verdi Copyrights

ROME (AP)—The Italian Parliament has extended the copyrights on Giuseppe Verdi's music for another year — and caused great rejoicing among a hundred old musicians in Milan.

They are the residents of the home for aged, indigent musicians founded in accordance with a bequest in the opera composer's will and built after his death in 1901. Verdi is buried on the grounds of the institution.

Each performance of a Verdi opera anywhere in the world means more money for the Giuseppe Verdi Rest House for Musicians — 4 per cent of the ticket sales. Italy's opera houses alone contributed $36,285.80 in 1961.

Italian law set the Verdi copyrights to expire in 1951, 50 years after his death. A 10-year extension carried the copyrights through last year. A few days ago Parliament approved a proposal by Premier Amintore Fanfani extending the rights until the end of 1962. The extension becomes official with publication in the government's official gazette after the holiday recess ends.

The rest home is also supported by a $32,000 annual stipend from the Italian government as well as royalties from performances of the operas abroad. Verdi's publisher, the Milan firm of G. Ricordi, also collects a 4 per cent royalty from each performance as the holder of the copyrights.

When the copyrights finally expire, the works will enter the public domain and royalties no longer will be paid either to the home or to Ricordi.

Verdi's operas are even more popular today than at his death, which might have surprised the composer.

Verdi said just before he died: "The copyrights on my operas will be enough to run the house for a few years."

Fugitive Koala Didn't Stray Far

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sydney, a playful, wide-eyed koala, is back in his cage today with his three wives.

The two-foot long marsupial from Australia, the only male koala among four at the Fleischacker Zoo, disappeared Monday, perhaps longing for some independence in 1962.

Or maybe he was just plain hungry.

Sydney—not far from his cage at all—was found perched atop a 20-foot eucalyptus tree, nibbling leaves.

Koalas subsist almost solely on eucalyptus leaves.

Capturing Cat Not For Deputy

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Frances Johnson notified the Oakland County sheriff's department that a cat was loose in the attic of her Groveland Township home.

Deputy Donald G. Bailey climbed to the attic and started after the intruder. The attic had no floor boards so Bailey had to walk on rafters. He slipped and wound up straddling a rafter with his legs hanging through the living room ceiling.

The cat made it to the front porch, where it was captured. Bailey took it to the Oakland County Animal Shelter, where the cat promptly climbed a fence and escaped.

Discontinuing Program Is In Order

In this era in which special government services designed to fit a temporary, specific need have a way of becoming permanent parts of government functions, it is unusual to see officials recommend elimination of jobs which they hold or have held.

Such is the case with the special social security program which the Pitt County government has offered local citizens for the past five years. W. Kenneth Whichard, who has headed the program during this period offered his resignation to the County Commissioners this week and recommended to the commissioners that this particular service of the county be terminated. Whichard declared the opening of the new district social security office here should fill local needs so far as social security applications are concerned, and thus the county could relieve itself of the responsibility of rendering special services in this regard.

Although the Commissioners, at their meeting Monday did not specifically act on the recommendation that the service be discontinued, the recommendation appears to us to be based on sound reasoning.

During the five-year period in which the county has offered this consultant service for persons eligible for social security benefits, the total number of Pitt residents receiving these benefits has risen sharply. So have the total payments each month to local citizens received through the social security program. At present social security payments in Pitt County are running at an annual rate of approximately $2,700,000. In many instances these social security payments have made it possible to remove people from the county's welfare rolls, and in other instances have provided income for others whose names eventually may have been on the county's welfare rolls.

It has been a service well worth to the people of Pitt what the county government has invested in it. With the opening of the district office here, however, the need for special social security service to people of Pitt can be filled by the district office. The county program would become largely duplication of service by two different levels of government.

Mr. Whichard should be commended for the service he has rendered people of Pitt through this program and likewise, we believe, he should be commended for the recommendation to the Commissioners that this special county undertaking be ended.

Just as the Commissioners acted in the best interest of the county as a whole in initiating the program when a special need existed five years ago, we believe they will be acting in the best interest of the county now by discontinuing the program since the need will be filled by the presence of a Social Security District office here.

Heart Of The Report Is In Increase Of Jobs

A record year in 1961 for North Carolina's industrial expansion suggests that the state's development efforts are gaining momentum year-by-year and that dividends from these efforts are constantly increasing.

Investment in new plants and plant expansion last year, according to Gov. Sanford, amounted to $279.4 million, adding some 35,000 new job opportunities and an annual payroll of $117.5 million to the state's economy.

These figures indicate that industries already located in North Carolina are greatly interested in expanding their facilities within the state, and further that the Tar Heel state still holds a great attraction for industries which are looking for new plant locations. They also point up the fact that there are still job opportunities to be created in individual communities which put forth the required effort to help established industries expand and cultivate new industries.

While the figures—in terms of jobs and annual payroll are of utmost importance—they should not be looked upon as the net gain in employment and payrolls for the state during the past year. In spite of the progress in economic development made by North Carolina each year during the past decade, the state cannot count a net increase in jobs equal to the new opportunities provided by new and expanded industries. Just as new job opportunities have been created each year, other job opportunities have been eliminated. In each case, however, the state is better off for having the new jobs to replace those which disappear, plus enough to provide some net gain in total employment. North Carolina probably does not have a net increase now of 35,000 jobs more than it had last year this time, but at least it has more than made up in new jobs for those which have been lost.

The state's rate of economic growth will depend to a great extent on the net increase in jobs it has from year to year. And 1961 proved to be an excellent year in this respect.

From Now On, Comparisons

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — From now on, after a year in office, President Kennedy more and more will be compared in policies, performance and personality with men who had his job or have one like it.

Kennedy is more like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan than any other world leader of recent times. Haughty, stubborn, French President Charles de Gaulle is a complete opposite. So is earthy, bouncy, extroverted Soviet Premier Khrushchev. So is former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman was more outwardly aggressive and the result was a lot of conflict — for instance, with Republicans and particularly Sen. Taft and McCarthy — which he seemed to enjoy.

Some of his conflicts might have been avoided with different tactics but this is not to say he was wrong, given the time and circumstances of his presidency.

The country will be forever grateful to him for his decisive move in beginning foreign aid, his military alliances and stiff-arming the Russians.

In all these areas, and a dozen others, there was conflict of one kind or another.

Much of his willingness to accept it and chance his political future on it no doubt was in part a product of his early background in Missouri precinct politics.

He played politics the way it had been played for generations. But that way may not be seen again for some time if only because the circumstances of the presidency are different.

In the Truman years and all those that preceded it—before a trigger-pull on hydrogen missiles could devastate a continent—a president could afford to occupy himself more with domestic politics.

Some other possibilities may also explain the change which has taken place in the presidency as demonstrated by Kennedy and Eisenhower. For instance:

1. American politics may be entering a more sophisticated period when the traditional cat-and-dog fights between a president and his opposition look old-fashioned and time-wasting.

More than the Kennedy-Eisenhower presidencies will be needed to show whether this is the case.

2. It may be simply that Kennedy and Eisenhower either think it shrewd and in the long run more fruitful to compromise and avoid brawls or they just don't have the stomach for slam-bang fights.

To put it another way, it seems to be a necessary part of their nature to avoid embroilments. Eisenhower did that with Taft, McCarthy, and with everyone else when he could.

But then, of course, he didn't come up through the American political system, either. Even as a general he had made a reputation for avoiding open

Strength For Today

VALUE OF GOOD WORKS

The Epistle of James is one of the most interesting books in the New Testament. It is placed immediately after the Epistle to the Hebrews, one of the most exalted pieces of literature ever produced. It comes before the first Epistle of Peter, written by the head of the apostolic group. Who James was we do not know, save that he designated himself "a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ."

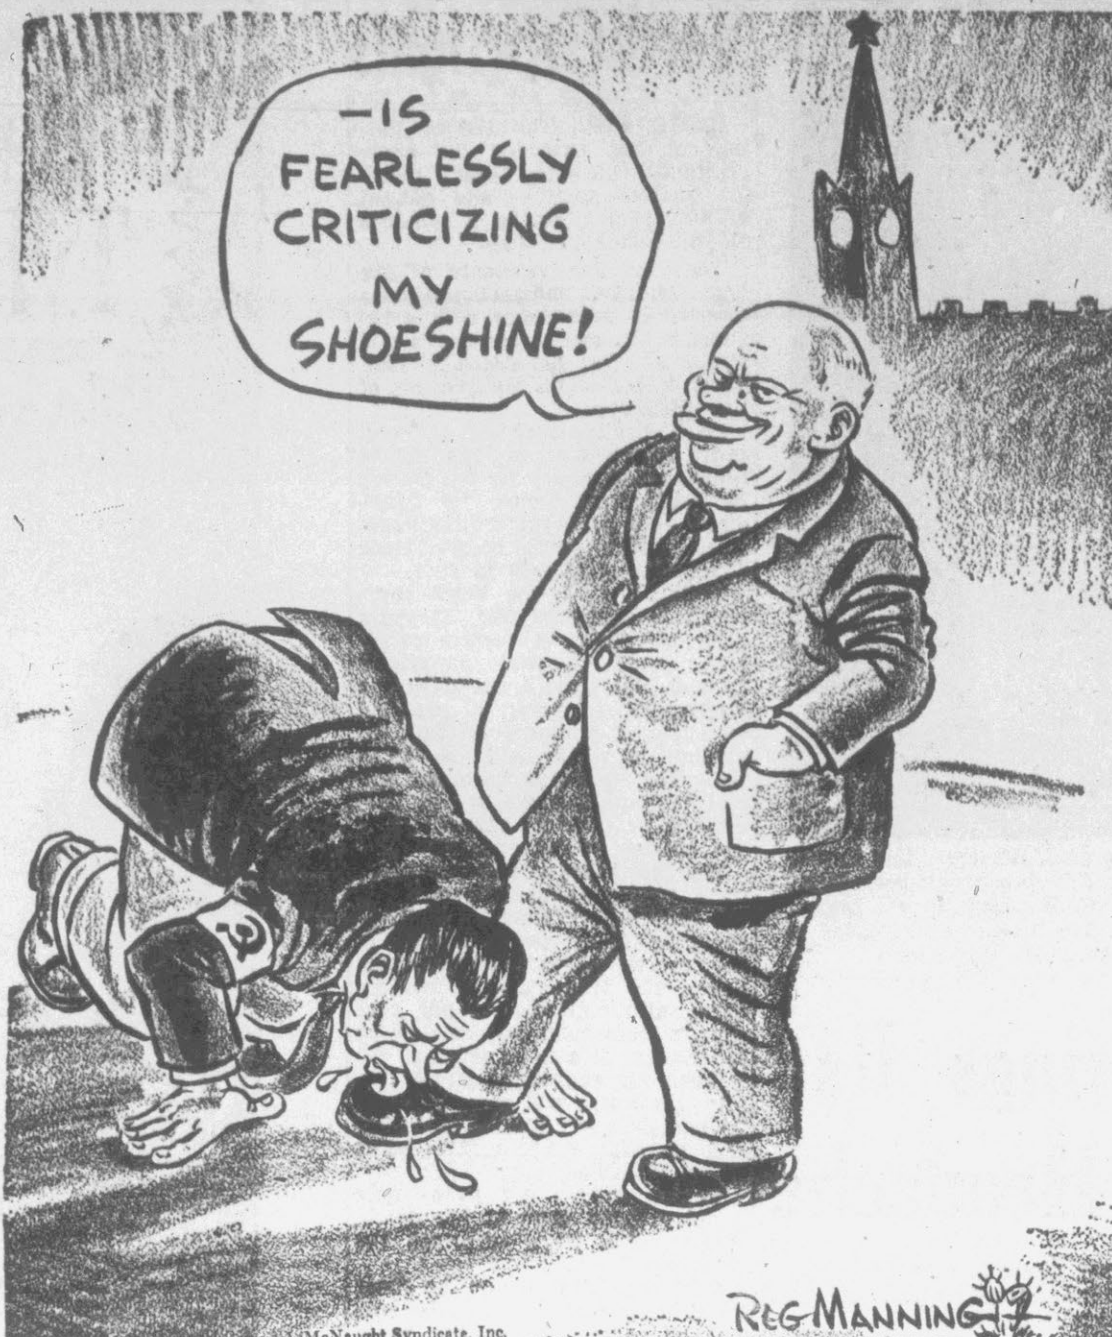

The book is a study in practical Christianity. Because of St. Paul's influence, great emphasis had been laid upon the importance of faith in the Christian experience. The result was that some had probably gone to the extreme of maintaining that if they had faith they had everything. Good works were of no value. The Epistle of James is written in protest against this viewpoint. James was a firm believer in the value and power of good works. He does not go so far as to say that heaven can be purchased by good works, but he makes it plain that if good works do not accompany a life of faith, then there is something basically wrong with that person's faith.

In other words, good works are not the roots of salvation but they are decidedly the fruits of salvation, and any claim of Christian faith and salvation which does not bear a crop of good and kindly works is, according to James—and certainly we of the twentieth century would agree with him—a thing of shame and falseness.

Faith and good works belong together in a truly sound Christian experience they are found together.

Is Not 'Bootlicking'—

By DON SCHLIENZ

Let it be said from the start that the writer is not shilling for the Duncan Hines Institute. No favors are involved, no remuneration, and no one asked me to mention the 1962 edition of Adventures In Good Eating.

The only reason that publication is involved in today's column is because on scanning I find no mention of an eating place in Pitt County. That kind of omission is not helpful.

The Institute says 4500 of the best places to eat are included in their latest edition. It's said that more than 60,000 nominations are received each year for inclusion in the listing, and final selection is based solely on the opinion of field inspectors and the editorial staff.

Size of a community has no bearing on qualifications of the eatery involved; populations may run from the hundreds to the millions.

Why bother to strive for inclusion in the book? Well, Duncan Hines is an important name to unnumbered thousands of the travelling public. Its endorsement is about as good a guarantee as you'll ever get that on stopping in X-ville there is something more than greasy scrambled eggs and muddy coffee awaiting at day's end.

It's good advertising, too. The eating facility so listed is not the sole beneficiary; the community shares . . . hotels, motels, filling stations, banks, shops, garages . . . because the traveler relying on the guide to "good eating" is not going to avoid a route which includes an approved restaurant.

The guide book lists the cities and towns (by state), their population and principal route numbers, the location of the restaurant, hours of service, specialties, price ranges, outstanding features, telephone numbers in case reservations are required, and even if it's air-conditioned.

For the record, three well-known restaurants in Morehead City are listed in the guide book; and I'll bet it has meant a lot to Morehead City.

On birthdays, Christmases, Easters and other such gift-giving occasions, parents sooner or later are hit with the inspiration of giving a pet to their youngsters.

It's a good idea; but sometimes it just doesn't work out. Years ago we acquired a pup. It was supposed to be the toddler's; but the sentimental picture of "a boy and his dog" just never did pan out. To begin with, we learned early that if the puppy was going to be long in this world it would be because we took over the job of protecting, feeding and caring for it . . . as well as doing the same for the boy.

And I suspect the casualty rate among biddies and ducklings of Easter-time runs high except in those cases where parents keep a constant eye on the welfare of those bits of fluff.

Little boys and girls fall in love with tiny blue-eyed kittens; but the things that happen to those kittens! Carried by one leg, by the tail, thrown into the air, stepped on . . . it sometimes barely falls short of mayhem.

The long and the short of it is that with acquiring a pet, responsible members of the family also acquire a new responsibility. And if you don't want all that entails, it's far kinder to stay out of the pet market.

Littler Figures Blamed

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Frank L. Kluckhohn has had a wide experience as a newspaperman and government official and knows the State Department well. He does not heap the blame for State Department failures on the Secretaries of State but describes the mechanism of the Department in an article in the January "Reader's Digest" which makes it clear beyond doubt that something drastic must be done to revise, reorganize, retrain the staff of the State Department.

Citing chapter and verse, Kluckhohn shows how men in lower positions prevented Secretaries of State from becoming aware of the data which was essential to them. This does not apply only to the Kennedy Administration but has been continuous for years.

Kluckhohn describes the situation as follows:

"There are now 23,000 persons on State's payroll, the controlling group being the 3628 Foreign Service Officers. Typically, a young FSO steps into the Department direct from college. For six to eight years he stamps visas or does routine embassy chores while being shifted around the world. Even as he accumulates seniority and begins to assume 'responsibilities,' he rarely has to make an individual decision. Whatever reports he turns out are initialed and okayed by so many persons that he doesn't have to worry about being blamed personally if things fail to go right. In fact, his basic technique for advancement in the bureaucratic morass comes to consist of avoiding the displeasure of his immediate superior, or identification with any controversial action—even when the avoidance may mean ignoring a problem that could build up to a disaster."

Kluckhohn indicates how the young official is trained to avoid getting into trouble. His first lesson is "Don't rock the boat." This, of course, is true in big business and in universities and wherever there are large organizations of men. The problem that faces the individual is promotion without risk of hurting a superior or upsetting a superior. It is so easy to be squeezed on the escalator of achievement. The man above can kick the rising personality off the ladder; the man below can trip him as he moves upward. The rising personality cleverly avoids interference or sudden emergencies. He takes his strides slowly, even if it means wronging or hating someone else. The easiest one to blame is the Secretary of State; the public will believe that he took the wrong steps because he is the big man in the picture. How could a little giant cause so much trouble? But the little ones do cause trouble, lots of trouble. They get in the way of things. They talk too much. They bubble over. They need to be spanked and no one wants to spank them. The President protects himself by having a staff in the White House to screen what comes from State and the CIA but the Secretary of State is a daily work-horse on the job who has day by day responsibilities and who causes duck issues. All sorts of dispatches are signed in his name and decisions are taken for which he is directly and personally responsible. As few as a half dozen bone-heads can trip him up.

Secretary of State Hull, for instance, specialized in tariff questions and too often overlooked broader problems, so that the President or the Under Secretary was handling matters which rightly should have been the Secretary's.

This explains why the London Economic Conference at the beginning of the Roosevelt regime was such a failure. Secretary Hull was left out altogether. Raymond Moley, President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau were reaching decisions about the Secretary of State knew nothing. In fact, Hull never knew anything about this most significant meeting out of which, in a large measure, grew World War II.

Conquest Of Goa-Bad Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

Regardless of the ethics, morals or politics of Jawaharlal Nehru's conquest of Goa, the operation was bad business.

Nehru paid a very high price for 1,537 square miles of real estate, including some manganese and iron mines and some primitive salt works. Iron exports last year were less than $35 million, mostly to Japan and West Germany.

The biggest immediate loss to India is the change in attitude of American and Western European businessmen toward investing in India.

The Indian government promised it would not invade the Portuguese holding, then invaded. If the Indian honor is so slight, many businessmen think, then promises to guarantee investments against oppression and sequestration are equally valueless.

$5 MILLION FACTORY LOST

This is not theory. It has already happened. Almost immediately after India's attack on Goa, Time Corp. announced cancellation of plans to build a $5 million watch factory in India. U. S. Time said its action was "an inescapable consequence" of the Indian government's "violation of its pledged word by invading the enclaves."

Other American companies may be even further-reaching.

They are:

1. Although Congress will not resume for another six days, there is already talk of re-examining United States aid to India, and certain Congressmen are sure to demand a cut in grants, American aid to India in fiscal 1960 totalled $386 million—ten times more than India can squeeze out of exports of Goa iron and manganese ores.

MORE AID FOR FRIENDS
2. More help for Pakistan,

India's traditional enemy, is likely. In the same period, aid to Pakistan was only $184 million. Because Pakistan has shown great loyalty to Western ideals, the ratio of aid may be reversed. This will force India to increase levies from its own people — or mortgage itself to the communists — to protect its frontiers.

3. India may face a spontaneous boycott. Goa is revered by many Catholics because it is the resting place of St. Francis Xavier. Portugal is allied by blood and faith to the Latin nations of the world. The Catholic and Latin countries will tend to buy fewer Indian products and invest less money in the Indian economy.

4. When the Red Chinese resume their pushing of India's borders back—which they probably will when spring weather comes—India will get less American help than the Laotians are now receiving. The attitude of many will be that India should use the battalions that conquered Goa to throw back the Chinese on its borders.

The conquest of Goa may have been a triumph of ideology. But it was surely lousy economics.

SHORT & SIGNIFICANT BUSINESS NEWS BULLETINS

"Some increase" in housing starts is ahead, said M.L. Dye, president of the United States Savings and Home League. . . . Indiana General, one of the world's largest manufacturers of magnets, has established an office in Fribourg, Switzerland. . . . Montgomery Ward is renting tuxedos by mail in eight Midwestern states. Business Notes

Astor C. Richardson has received Carolina Sales Corp. Top Salesman's Award for 1961. The award was made at the company's annual banquet last week.

Carolina Sales, a 34-year-old firm, distributes household appliances throughout North and South Carolina.

All representatives of Carolina Sales Corp. and its close business affiliate, Redisco were in attendance. A. R. Johnson of Greenville, vice president and National Accounts Manager of Redisco was present for the occasion from Detroit.

Also present were representatives of Kelvinox, Sylvania and Duo-Therm.

Business Firms Increase

The number of businesses in Pitt County has increased by 5.7 percent since 1955, according to figures released by Dun and Bradstreet, Inc.

In 43 Eastern North Carolina counties located between Chapel

Hill and the coast, the number of businesses increased from 24,186 to 24,799 during the same period. This represented an overall increase of 2.5 percent.

J. D. Harris Jr., manager of the Raleigh office of Dun and Bradstreet, Inc. reports that during 1961 13,703 changes occurred in the Reference Book listings for Eastern North Carolina. These included 3,593 names added, 4,297 names deleted and 5,813 changes in credit ratings of continuing businesses.

The Reference Book, which is published every 60 days, contains approximately 3,000,000 business listings for over 50,000 communities in the United States.

Appoint Engineer

Carolina Power and Light Co. has named an agricultural development engineer to serve the seven-county region in Eastern North Carolina. It has been announced by Jack S. Howell, CP&L manager in New Bern.

The new ag engineer is Russell Howard Lee, a native of Georgia and a 1961 agricultural engineering graduate of the University of Georgia.

Lee will have headquarters in New Bern. His services will cover Pitt, Beaufort, Greene, Craven, Pamlico, Lenoir and the northeastern half of Jones County. He assumed the new post Jan. 2 and will work with agricultural agencies and organizations and with individual farmers in promotion of farm electrification as a means of boosting farm income.

Leader in Sales Program

A. D. Lincoln, test deskman here for Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co., is one of the leaders in the firm's company-wide plant sales program.

Recently Lincoln was honored by a dinner and a gift from the company after he had earned 500 Point Club membership ten times. In order to qualify for the club an employer must, in one month, sell services equivalent to at least 500 points.

Joins Franklin Life

Effective Jan. 1, I. J. (Jack) Edwards Jr., 37, joined the Frank Strawn agency in Greenville. He resigned a position as Director of Placement at ECC to join the Franklin Life Insurance Co. agency.

Edwards has a bachelor of Arts from the University of North Carolina and a Master of Arts degree from East Carolina College.

Arrest Pair On Extortion Count

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—The FBI arrested two Santa Ana men Wednesday night on charges of trying to extort $25,000 in return for the release of two American students imprisoned in East Germany.

Intended victim of the plot, the FBI said, was Edgar E. Pankey, a rancher at nearby Tustin, Calif. Pankey's son, Victor S. Pankey, and his nephew, Gilbert Ferrey, both 20, were arrested by East German police last September. They were shortly afterward sentenced to two years in prison on charges they had tried to smuggle a girl student into West Germany in the luggage compartment of their car.

Charged with federal extortion charges were Dennis Shane Hatrick, 23, and Albert Bruce Dyer, 23. Both are unemployed. They are brothers-in-law.

William G. Simon, special agent in charge of the Los Angeles FBI office, said Pankey received a letter on Sept. 19, 1961, a few days after the two youths were seized by the Communists.

The letter instructed the elder Pankey to deliver $25,000 if he wished to see his son again soon. Simon said the demand was on the basis that a release of the boys would be effected through alleged contacts in West Germany and in East Germany. Simon did not say whether any such contacts had been discovered.

Hatrick had a .22 caliber revolver on him when arrested but offered no resistance, Simon said. Victory Pankey is a mathematics major at Pomona (Calif.) College who attended summer school at the University of Oslo in Norway, while Ferrey was in school in Switzerland. Their arrest came in East Berlin after the East Germans sealed the border. The youths were sentenced along with four other persons accused of aiding East Berlin residents to reach West Berlin.

Decor Resolves Partisan Uproar

CHICAGO (AP)—Bipartisan decor has ended a partisan uproar in a private club in the Merchandise Mart, owned by the family of President Kennedy.

The newly decorated American Eagle Room of the Merchants and Manufacturers Club featured the portraits of 16 U.S. Presidents, 15 Democrats and 1 Republican. Republicans belonging to the 100-member club blew their partisan stacks and the situation was rectified Wednesday by the removal of the portraits of seven unidentified Democrats and replacement with Republicans.

Club manager Frank Klein attributed the situation to a "decorator's error."

Chaplin Awaits His Tenth Child

LONDON AP—Comedian Charlie Chaplin and his wife, Oona, expect their eighth child—his tenth—next summer.

"Yes, it's true," Mrs. Chaplin said Wednesday night, confirming reports that she is pregnant again. She said the baby would probably be born in July.

Chaplin, 73, has two sons by his second wife, Lita Gray. Mrs. Chaplin, daughter of playwright Eugene O'Neill, is his fourth wife. She is 37.

The couple live in Switzerland and are here on a visit.

Similarly, Eisenhower was never adequately informed about the Castro situation. Kluckhohn describes how efforts were made to inform Eisenhower through his brother, Milton, and how those efforts failed. Little stood in the way.

Much is being written and said on this subject but few constructive suggestions are made. Obviously, it is necessary to maintain a Foreign Office Force of trained men; at the same time, it is necessary to provide the top officials with precise information and to give them flexibility of decision and action.

breaks and in getting opposing factions to work together. This is how he operated with his Democratic opposition. It is clear, after a year in office, that Kennedy is following with his Republican opponents the same course Eisenhower pursued with the Democrats.

Even though this is a congressional election year and he wants more Democrats in the Capitol, an authoritative source at Palm Beach let it be known Kennedy is making a peace offering to Republicans before Congress opens for 1962: he won't do any heavy politicking.

Eisenhower went less than all-out on some of the programs he asked Congress to pass. Kennedy already has shown a great willingness to compromise.

Both men, like Macmillan of Britain, have shown an immense desire to avoid personal conflicts, which in a way is a good method of staying popular.

On the other hand, at a time when the Russians have weapons just as sudden and terrible as this country's, both Eisenhower and Kennedy must have felt the day-by-day American political slugging of the past is small potatoes compared with the greater conflict with communism.

automotive parts business, which he owns, for ten years, he returned to college to obtain his M. A. degree and joined the faculty of ECC's Business Department just four days after completing his degree. He taught salesmanship, management and retailing. After six months of teaching he was promoted to the position of Director of Placement.

A Greenville native, Edwards served in World War II as an officer in the Quartermaster Corps. In Greenville he has been president of the Pitt Executives Club and officer and director of the Jaycees, Sunday School teacher and class officer and a Rotarian.

Among his hobbies are water skiing, golf and amateur radio. He was awarded a hurricane citation for his emergency radio work when hurricane Hazel struck Eastern Carolina in 1955. Edwards is married and has a 11-year-old and a nine-year-old son.

Time Trials for Washing Autos
A local service station is claiming 21 minutes for hand washing out the speed washing service.

of an automobile.
R. T. Rickert of College Suboco Service Station said the time trials are being run to get hand washing service competitive with automatic washings.
Crews of six to eight people will work on Mondays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays to carry out the speed washing service.

CHAPTER 22

As Martin Whitfield accepted the keys to the Grayson apartment from Lee Folsom, he said, "I'm giving a dinner party at the Country Club tomorrow night, Lee. Naturally, I hope you'll be there."

"That's very kind of you; thanks a lot," Lee responded. "But I have another date."

Kermit has assured me he will be there."

"How nice for Kermit!"

Martin straightened. "I'm sorry you won't be free for the party."

"Thanks. I know you'll all have fun. I've promised to help Miss Cora get resettled in her own home," she told him sweetly. "After a two-year ordeal of having very ungrateful house guests, the poor darling needs help to put her back in order."

"Oh, she's coming back from her visit?"

"She spent the weekend at my apartment," said Lee coolly. "The janitor has given her a kitten to take home with her, and she's as excited as a child. Holly and Mimi hate cats, and she had to give her old one away when they moved in on her."

"Martin's brows drew together. "It was her house, yet they wouldn't let her keep her own cat?" he asked as though he found that very difficult to understand.

"Oh, Miss Cora found a good home for the cat. Holly and Mimi kicked it when they saw it, and she couldn't endure to see Samantha mistreated," Lee answered him.

Martin straightened. "Now that is something I find very hard to believe," he stated. "that a gentle, kind creature like Holly could be unkind to any animal."

Lee barely managed to restrain a derisive hoot, and knew a moment of pity for him. The poor lamb, she told herself! Did he have something to learn about his "gentle, kind creature?"

Martin scowled, hesitated a moment, then turned and plunged out of the office. The door banged shut behind him.

She was almost ready to leave the office for the day when Mimi Eastman rushed into the office wearing a very expensive frock.

"Lee darling," she cooed gaily, as she drew off her gloves, "I simply don't know how Holly and I are every going to thank you."

Lee stared at her warily.

"You made us see how cruel and unkind we were to darling Cora," Mimi went on as she reached for the lease and the pen with which to sign it. "Now that dear Martin has provided us with such absolutely lush living quarters, we really do see how very right you were!"

"We'd simply have sat there, being very uncomfortable and miserably unhappy, in that horrible little shack, if you hadn't forced us out! This is the lease, isn't it?"

"Why," she gasped, "it's for a whole year's rent!"

"Yes, Martin's quite generous," Lee managed.

"Generous?" Mimi tossed the word aside as completely inadequate. "Of course he can easily afford it, the dear boy. But he need not have paid for a whole year! Two months would be quite enough!" Her voice trailed off, and her eyes narrowed as a sudden thought struck her. "But of course! After he and Holly are married I can still stay on at the Grayson! That was thoughtful of him, wasn't it?"

"After he and Holly are married?" Lee could not keep back the words.

"But of course! He's simply mad about her!" she fluttered sweetly. "And of course, when he found she'd been turned out into the street, and realized how much she needed him—" She made a gay little gesture as she drew on her gloves. "I wouldn't be a bit surprised to have him announce their engagement at the dinner party tomorrow night!"

Lee could find no answer, and Mimi's laugh came again.

"Of course you'll be there, Lee?" she said.

"I'm afraid not, Mrs. Eastman."

"Oh, come now, Lee, where's your pride, your self-respect?" Mimi mocked her derisively.

Lee blinked in surprise. "What's my pride and self-respect got to do with my not coming to the party?" she wanted to know.

"Do you want people to think that you're sulking because Holly's taken Martin away from you?" Mimi asked sweetly.

"That's ridiculous! I never had him, for her to take away from me," Lee flashed hotly.

"Of course not!" Mimi mocked. "You and I both know that. He was Holly's from the first moment he set eyes on her. But you've been around with him so much that I'm sure people were beginning to think you'd broken with Kermit so you could marry Martin."

"That's not true!"

Mimi lifted her shoulders in a little shrug, and her smile was even more malicious.

"Oh, I'm not saying it is," she replied. "But of course that's what people will think, if you aren't at the party to hear Martin's announcement tomorrow evening."

"Then I'll most certainly be there?" Lee flashed.

"Good! I felt sure you'd change your mind when it was pointed out to you what people would think if you were not there," said Mimi with satisfaction. "You must see Holly's party frock. She's a dream in it. Of course it was frightfully expensive, but we felt it was a good investment."

"I'm sure it was," said Lee icily.

Mimi laughed, gave her a little wave and said, as she walked out, "Well, see you tomorrow night. And Lee, be sure to wear your very best frock!"

Lee dropped down into her desk chair, rested her elbows on the desk and for a moment hid her face in her hands.

She didn't know how long she had sat there with her troubled thoughts when the telephone beside her rang sharply. She pulled herself out of her daze and lifted the receiver.

Kermit's voice, cool, controlled, spoke in her ear.

"Lee? Congratulations on renting that Grayson place! You're quite a realist."

"I couldn't have done it without your help, Kermit; thanks a lot," she told him humbly.

"Glad to do it," said Kermit brusquely. "To the bank's interest to have the whole building occupied."

"Well, thanks anyway."

"About the party Whitfield's giving tomorrow night," Kermit went on. "What time shall I call for you?"

"Oh, are we going together?" Lee could not keep back the words, and even as she spoke she could picture Kermit stiffening, growing even more cold.

"Well, aren't we?" he demanded.

"Of course, Kermit, if you'd like it that way."

"It's been that way for a long time, Lee. Be kind of silly to change now, don't you think?" Kermit asked.

"I suppose it would," Lee agreed. "What time is the party?"

"Mimi said 'eightish,'" Kermit drawled. "Suppose I pick you up about a quarter of?"

"Fine," said Lee. "I'll be ready."

She put down the telephone and sat for a moment in thought. There was still time for her to stop in at the Plaza Shop, Lewisville's best dress shop.

She could easily afford a new dress out of the commission from the year's rent on the apartment at the Grayson. And then suddenly her mouth thinned as she stood up.

What earthly sense would there be in her trying to compete with Holly? She closed her desk and walked out.

Martin Whitfield's goat is going to be got at the party. Continue the story to a climax here tomorrow.

Little Robber No Match For Him

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Charles A. Moore Jr., a chiropractor, was getting ready to close his office Wednesday night when a masked man walked in and pointed a gun at him.

Moore, 45, is 6 feet 2 and weighs 255 pounds. He surveyed the gunman, who looked to be about 5 feet 7 and 150 pounds. Grabbing for the gun, Moore forced the holdup man to the floor. Gasping for mercy, the would-be bandit relinquished his weapon. Moore called police, who booked Bennie Richard Campbell, 23, for investigation.

Sophia Is Chosen Best Actress

PARIS AP—Sophia Loren, chosen best actress of 1961 by New York film critics, said today she would attend the award ceremony in New York later this month if director Anatole Litvak agreed.

"But I'm not sure, because maybe Litvak won't let me go," she said. Litvak is currently directing the Italian star and Tony Perkins in a picture in Paris.

She won the award for her acting in "Two Women."

Snowbank Saved Falling 2-Yr-Old

BOSTON (AP)—A six-foot snowbank probably saved the life of 2-year-old Robert Cook Wednesday.

The youngster toppled from a third floor window of his home at 69 Dix Street, Boston, and landed in the snowbank. He suffered only a fracture of the right leg.

The mother, Elaine Cook, said the boy opened the window while she was in another room.

University Gives Cupid A Hand

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University is giving cupid a little assistance.

The new university directory now includes a person's marital status. Numbers listed after each name indicate whether a man or woman is single, married, separated, divorced or widowed.

A quick check is all that's needed to find out who's fair game.

In 1890 a St. Louis doctor concocted a food for invalids and infants. It was peanut butter.

HERE ARE 2 OF THE NEW JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLETS

WHICH ONE IS THE CONVERTIBLE AND WHICH THE HARDTOP?

Top one's our new Impala Sport Coupe whose steel roof line is a dead ringer for the Impala Convertible's below. But after rich new styling, what? In glamor and go, comfort and craftsmanship, here's all you'd reasonably expect of an expensive car. Except the expense.

Slip inside a Jet-smooth Chevrolet, relax and just notice how good you feel. Ready for action? Just flick the key and let'er purr (your choice of two standard engines—a 135-hp 6 or 170-hp V8—or optional-at-extra-cost V8's way up to a 409-hp mile-shrinker). That gentle cradling motion you enjoy is Jet-smooth ride at work. And the rich interior and neat craftsmanship are Body by Fisher at work. Have your dealer give you the whole story. That's the work he loves best.

Stasavich Looks On Recruiting As A Year-'Round Job

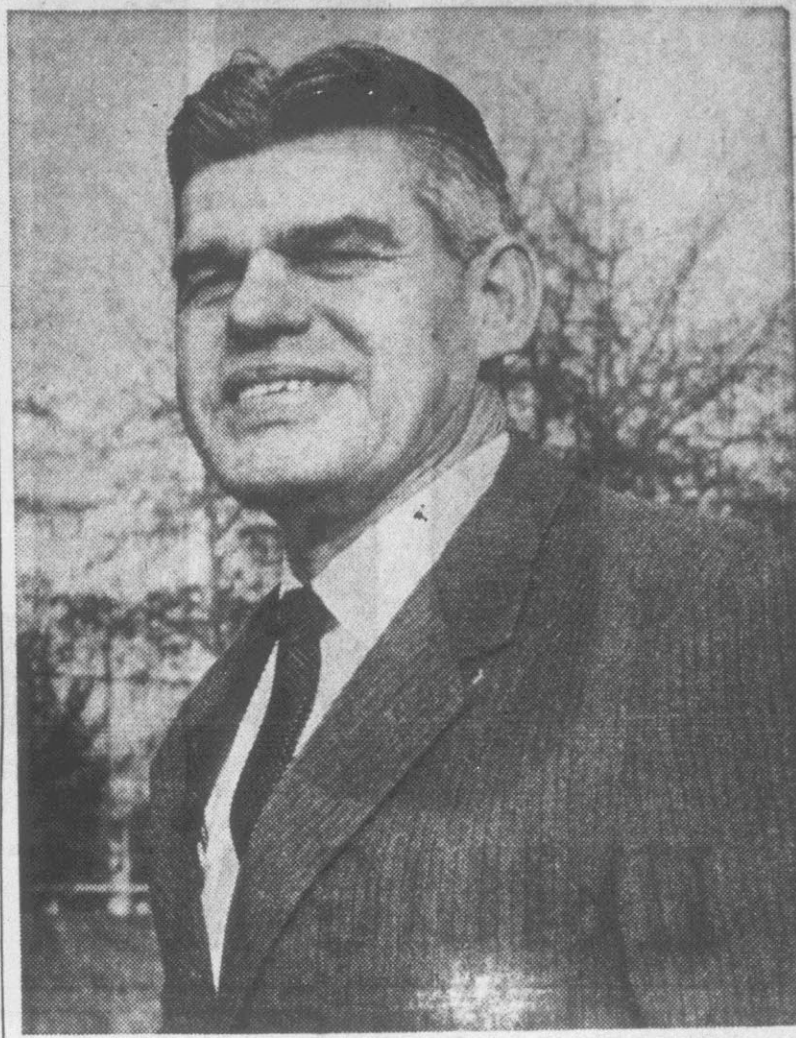

EQUIPMENT . . . is just one of the many things Stasavich has to discuss with his associates.

DESK WORK . . . takes up a lot of the new coach's time as he gets settled in his new job.

"STAS" . . . surveys field where he has played against Pirates many times.

CLARENCE STASAVICH . . . East Carolina's new football coach.

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

An unassuming Clarence Stasavich sat back in his chair at his desk and talked. This would be his office now, many, many miles from Lenoir Rhyne College where he once starred as an athlete and where he gained many honors and much recognition as a coach.

Stasavich, or "Stas" as he is widely known, will now head the East Carolina College football Pirates. He assumed his duties here at this state-supported college January 1.

A native of Georgetown, Ill., a coal mining region south of Chicago, Stasavich attended high school there then came to the "Old North State" to attend college at Lenoir Rhyne. This was in 1931.

After graduating in 1935 with a major in science and a math minor, Stasavich went to Campbell College as assistant coach in football, basketball and baseball. After three years at the junior college, one of which he served as head basketball coach, the teacher-coach returned to his alma mater as line coach for the Lenoir Rhyne Bears, head tennis coach and assistant basketball coach. Stasavich was also head of the school's Physical Education program and taught freshman math at the school. This was in 1938.

This was his return to Lenoir Rhyne. During his previous four years at the school, Stasavich chalked up an outstanding record as a ball player.

Was A Tackle

"Stas" played tackle and offensive end for the Bears, and lettered four years in basketball. He was no stranger to football honor rolls and, as a sideline, Stasavich made all-conference basketball teams for three years as a guard. Baseball and tennis were also on his list of sports while in college.

In 1950, the Greensboro Daily News sports department, reflecting the first half-century of sports in the state, named "Stas" as one of the four best tackles in the past 50 years and said that "undoubtedly" if there had been a "Little All American" selection at that time, Stasavich would surely have been on the team. And in 1960 the gridiron veteran and coach was honored again for his college football days by being chosen for the Helm's Hall of Fame as a football player.

In 1942, the Bear coach left his teaching position to enter the Navy, and as a Commander of an LST, Stas served in the Mediterranean and European Theaters for 24 months, participating in the North African operation and landings at Sicily, Salerno and Anzio, then "had the pleasure" of landing on the Normandy beachhead on D-Day. Stasavich then traveled to the Pacific where he served as operations officer for a flotilla staff.

Stas, who received a spot promotion at Salerno to the rank of Lieutenant, returned to civilian life in 1946 and to the head football position at Lenoir Rhyne. Here, he also served as head of the Physical Education Department and Director of Athletics.

When Stasavich accepted the position here at East Carolina in November, he was serving in the head football spot and directing the athletic program.

Also To Teach

Here at ECC, Stas will serve as an assistant professor in the Department of Health and Physical Education as well as head football coach.

Why was Stasavich chosen by East Carolina? His record probably speaks more clearly than other words could.

In his past years as head coach of the Lutheran college footballers, the teams have chalked up a 120 to 26 record with seven ties.

In those 16 seasons, the school's teams took nine conference crowns—seven of those in the past seven years. During those past seven years, their record includes 42 wins and only two defeats in league play.

Currently Stasavich is chairman of the NAIA's football committee, was the NCAA District 3 Coach of the Year last year, was the NAIA Coach of the Year in 1959, the NAIA District Coach of the Year in 1961, and the North State Conference Coach of the Year. He also serves on two committees of the Carolinas Conference.

Stasavich is a devotee of the single wing. The biggest reason for his choice is "because of my concern in training quarterbacks." "I have always been concerned" with the question,

Lampooning OK In Hungary Now

By ANTHONY PEARCE
BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungary's Communist regime is letting its shortcomings be lampooned sharply in public and joining in the laughs.

The main topic of conversation among Budapesters Wednesday was a 4½-hour television revue, seen by an estimated two million people, which relentlessly gaped some of the major failings of Hungarian life.

The revue was televised live from a Budapest theater. And the cameras frequently turned on government leaders in the front row who were obviously enjoying every barbed shaft.

Some Western observers considered it possible that a new soft breeze is blowing in Hungary in the wake of the anti-Stalinism launched at the recent Soviet party congress in Moscow.

In a swipe at shoddy building methods, a plumber in one sketch said: "I read recently that the regime intends to build one million new apartments. Which means that I for one will never be out of repair work."

Debunking the Communist theory that it will eradicate middle class thinking, the plumber quips: "When I call on a bourgeois housewife I say good morning and never forget to add 'madame.' She likes it."

"When I call on a proletarian housewife, I also say 'good morning, madame.' She likes it even more."

Another sketch showed a radio reporter interviewing a worker on a collective farm:

Reporter—What's your daily program?

Peasant—I read the papers and magazines, read old and new books, listen to the radio, watch the TV and play gramophone records.

Reporter—Where does work figure in your daily schedule?

Peasant—Work? What's that? They tell us it's all done with machinery now.

Reporter—But what about the small private plot of land you're permitted to own on this collective?

Peasant: That's different. My family is out there now working itself to death.

In a third sketch a professor asked a student what type of commentaries the Voice of America gives on current affairs. The student emitted a loud screech, indicating the effectiveness of the regime's radio jamming apparatus.

The latest issue of the usually staid Journal of Life and Literature took a similar satirical approach. Regarded by many Hungarians as reflecting neither life nor literature, the journal is often referred to simply as "and."

The editors this week reproduced "and" in the title block in big bold letters. To drive home the point, a black circle was drawn around the word.

In an editorial—printed upside down—the journal acidly commented on the regime's constant exhortations that writers should go to factories and then write about "socialist man."

"Let our writers go out into life," the journal said. "Kneedeep in its wilderness they should be able to report reliably on what they see there. We, too, should like to know."

U.S. Ranks 4th In Population

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union and United States are the third and fourth most populous nations on earth, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

The U. S. S. R. had 209 million people at its last census in 1959 and the United States had 176 million in 1959, 179 million in 1960.

China's population is 700 million and India, the second most populous nation, has 440 million people.

Crippled Patrol Plane Is Safe

OTTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—An RC121 patrol plane landed safely at Otis Air Force Base Wednesday night after two of its four engines became disabled.

The craft carries a normal complement of 18. It first reported trouble several miles south of Nantucket Island.

Says Newspaper Can Shape Future

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A good newspaper can do more than any other single voice to shape the future of a community and its citizens, says Gov. David Lawrence.

Speaking Wednesday night at the annual dinner for employees of the Gettysburg Times, Lawrence called a good newspaper the "conscience and leader" of the people it serves.

"It is a critic, a goad, an innovator," he declared. "It reports the news and it comments on the news. It tells its readers not only who has done what, when and where it happened—but it also attempts to explain why."

Shelters Date Back To '20s

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Prohibition era distillers didn't know it but they were doing residents of this atomic age a favor when they secretly constructed two underground rooms behind an old house.

When the house was torn down to make way for an apartment building recently, the two reinforced concrete rooms, still equipped with water pipes, electric wiring and 50-gallon metal drums, were discovered.

William Eschenburg, who is building the 16-family apartment house, said he will use the rooms as fallout shelters for his tenants. "Probably all we'll have to do," he said, "is to clean the place and paint the walls."

Reflecting On SPORTS

By George Bryant

All-East Players To Be Honored

Tonight, four Pitt County boys will be honored for their outstanding efforts on the Gridiron during the past season. All four have already received honors from their schools and conferences and it probably will not be the last time these particular football players receive awards for their ability on the football field.

The four players we are talking about are Jack Foley and Alan McArthur of Greenville, William Edwards of Ayden and Danny Dilda of Farmville. These were the boys from this area who were named to the first team in their respective classes. Of course, there were others who were listed on the second teams and for honorable mention who also deserve a great deal of credit for their hard work during the past football season.

The All-East team is picked by the News and Observer each year and the banquet in Rocky Mount tonight is where the awards are handed out and pictures of the various teams are taken so the boys can have a permanent reminder of the year they were named to the squad and of those who were on the team with them.

This year there are 53 players from 37 high schools in Eastern North Carolina on the various teams. The five teams consist of one for each class—4-A, 3-A, 2-A, A and eight-man. In addition to the players, their parents and coaches have also been invited to attend the dinner.

The awards to be presented will consist of miniature gold footballs and certificates. In addition to the presentation of awards, Coach Jim Hickey of the University of North Carolina will be the main speaker with some comments by Clyde Walker, coach of Raleigh's State 4-A champion Needham Broughton High Caps.

The All-East selections mean a lot to the players, their parents and their coaches. It is something that will long be remembered by them. The honor represents a lot of hard work for all concerned.

One Problem

For the two boys here in Greenville, there could be one problem. All of the Rose High School players received miniature gold footballs at the school's award dinner in December. The word is that most of these miniature footballs have already been passed on to girl friends. The problem we had in mind, is what will the boys do with their next football. Could it lead to two girl friends? Will they keep this one as a reminder? These are two possibilities that the boys and their girls should be thinking about. We would like to know the outcome.

Phantom Cagers

The Rose High basketball team won their first game of the season Tuesday night by defeating conference foe Tarboro 79-73 after four straight losses to non-conference teams. It appeared to us that the Christmas holidays must have represented a lot of work for the Phantom cage team.

All of the boys played harder and worked better together than in any of the other games this season. We hope that Tuesday night's version of Rose High cage action will be repeated throughout the season. We feel like the material is there and that this material is beginning to mold together now into a unit that can work together to get the job done. There was no inclination toward this during the first four games.

West Virginia Tops VMI Keydets 101-79

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Mountaineers of West Virginia, newly dumped out of the top 10 teams of the nation, snapped back into top form Wednesday night with a 22-point lead over Virginia Military Institute in a Southern Conference encounter. Running their conference record to 6-0, the Mountaineers grounded the Keydets with a 101-79 victory.

Two of the West Virginians, Rod Thorn and Jim McCormick, led the attack with 22 points each, but lost out in game scoring honors to the Keydets' Norm Halberstadt who had 28.

Has Not Missed Game In 50 Years

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP)—A football fan who hasn't missed a Williams College home game in half a century has been given a gold admission pass to all home games.

Nelson W. Domin, 67, began his remarkable record in 1912. He was recovering from an operation on one occasion and confined to bed. But he was able to watch the game through the bedroom window of his home, which overlooks the football field.

Halberstadt broke the VMI career scoring record of 989 points set by Bill Ralph in 1952-54. His career total reached 1,012 points with Wednesday night's showing.

In other Southern Conference play last night:

The University of Richmond capitalized on a 65 per cent field goal average in the first half to outpoint The Citadel 76-68.

Davidson stretched a one-point half-time lead to a 62-47 victory over William and Mary behind the 20-plus hitting of Terry Holland and Bill Jarman. Holland tucked in 21 points and Jarman had 20.

In non-conference play Wednesday night:

Virginia Tech christened its new $1.75 million coliseum with a 91-67 victory over the Crimson Tide of Alabama.

George Washington fell before the University of Maryland 67-56 under Jerry Greenspan's 17 points. Furman was idle Wednesday night and no member of the conference has a game tonight. All of the teams will see action Saturday night.

GETS FIRST ACE AT 78

CHATTANOOGA (AP)—It took him 39 years of golfing, but Dr. Leo Shumacker finally came up with the magic stroke. Shumacker got his first hole-in-one at the age of 78, using a 7-iron on the 120-yard 6th hole at the Lookout Mountain Golf Club.

Heyman Boosts Average

Eighth Place Blue Devils Topple Penn State 95-55

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Duke University's Art Heyman boosted his season's scoring average to 28.7 last night, scoring 36 points as the eighth-ranked Blue Devils romped Penn State 95-55.

But 36 points is nothing unusual for Heyman. He's scored more than 30 in half the 10 games Duke has played this season. He hasn't scored less than 20 in any game, and is the nation's fifth-leading scorer. Highest figure the 6-5 Rockville Centre, N.Y., junior has piled up in a single game was 39. That was when the Blue Devils whipped South Carolina 76-69.

Duke's record now is 9-1, 2-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Last night was victory night also for the other three Atlantic Coast Conference teams which saw action. Virginia edged Marshall 65-63, Maryland beat George Washington 67-56 and South Carolina stomped Georgia 97-62.

South Carolina's Art Whisman scored 27 points in the Georgia game. His teammate, Ronnie Collins, grabbed 16 rebounds to aid the cause. The victory gave the Gamecocks a 7-4 record for the season, 1-1 in the conference.

Maryland (4-5) went ahead of George Washington in the opening minutes, but led only 35-32 at intermission. Jerry Greenspan scored 17 points for the Terrapins. Joe Adamitis had 23 for GW.

Virginia, which hasn't won an ACC game out of five starts, broke a six-game losing streak in its Marshall victory. Tony Laquintano had 18 points for the Cavaliers, but it was two baskets by Steve Jarvis that put them in winning position.

Jarvis tied the score and 61-61 and then hit another field goal to put Virginia ahead.

Virginia's overall record is 3-7.

The battle of the unbeaten wasn't.

Villanova beat Seton Hall in a walk. Or, more appropriately in the case of the fleet Wildcats, a run.

Racing and driving, showing off their quick-handed defenders in their aggressive zone, the Wildcats blitzed the Pirates Wednesday night 99-67. Now there are just three undefeated major college basketball teams—Villanova (12-0), Ohio State (10-0) and Mississippi State (9-0).

Seton Hall, winner over four lesser opponents, was expected to face an unhappy moment of truth at the Villanova Field House against the nationally 5th-ranked Wildcats — and the issue was never in doubt. Villanova's versatile Hubie White hit on 13 of 20 shots from the floor and totaled 30 points, sophomore George Leftwich scored 22, Jim O'Brien had 18, and soph Wally Jones did a dazzling job as playmaker despite a sore shoulder.

Sophomore sharpshooter Nick Werkman was Seton Hall's only threat with 30 points.

Another member of the top ten, 8th-ranked Duke, smothered Penn State 95-55 behind the gunning of Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins. But 10th-ranked Bowling Green needed a pair of clutch free throws in the waning seconds to shade Western Michigan 73-72 in the Mid-

American Conference opener. Heyman's 36 points and Mullins' 24 were more than the Blue Devils needed against Penn State as they ran their record to 9-1. Bowling Green (9-1) and Western Michigan played a corker, with the lead changing hands seven times in the first half and 11 in the second. The vital foul shots were by Howard Komives, bringing a 72-72 tie, and Nate Thurmond's winner with two seconds to play.

Defending champion Texas Tech and the club that appears to be its toughest rival for the title, Arkansas, started off the Southwest Conference season with victories. Tech took the lead for good in the early stages and the Red Raiders cruised over Texas 77-66. Arkansas won its ninth in a row beating Texas A&M 64-59.

Dayton (9-1) came from behind in a 64-48 runaway against Xavier (Ohio). Marquette, swamped in its last previous outing, rebounded by surprising DePaul 75-68.

Three teams, members of the elite ten before losses skidded them out, were winners Wednesday night. West Virginia, back in the neighborly confines of the Southern Conference, blasted Virginia Military 101-79. Providence came out of a 4-game losing slump with a 56-54 decision over Brown. And St. Bonaventure, loser of two of its last three, overcame Belmont Abbey 85-68.

In other games it was Richmond

Prelude Gets Started Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Golf's greatest players hit the rich money trail today in a $5,000 professional-celebrity prelude to the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

The 72-hole main show gets under way Friday in this 36th annual winter classic as the pros launch a $2 million dollar tournament campaign for 1962. The setting again is the Rancho Municipal Golf Club which has par 36-35-71 for its 7,000-yard course.

Rancho is not regarded as particularly tough. But one of the best golfers in the world, Arnold Palmer, can eye one hole as extra menacing.

It was on the ninth hole in the first round a year ago that Palmer knocked four balls out of bounds and wound up with an atrocious seven-over par 12. The former National Open and Masters champion is back again, along with the man who beat him out of the 1961 money-winning title, Gary Player of South Africa.

Maris And Ward Receive Awards

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Speed Queen Wilma Rudolph Ward and home run king Roger Maris will receive trophies tonight in recognition of their selection as woman and male athletes of 1961.

The Frederick C. Miller memorial trophies, named after the late Milwaukee brewer and sports figure, will be presented at the awards banquet of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Wilma, Mrs. William Ward in private life, and Maris were selected for the honors in an Associated Press poll in which they easily outdistanced all competition.

It was the second straight year that Wilma was picked for the honor. Maris is the first baseball player to win the trophy since 1957.

Wilma was the overwhelming choice in the 1960 poll after her triple crown triumph in the Olympic games. She won the honors last year on the basis of two record performances — an 11.2 second clocking in the 100-meter dash at Stuttgart and a time of 6.8 seconds for the 60-yard dash indoors. In posting the second mark, she lowered her own record.

Maris, the 27-year-old Yankee slugger, produced the sports story of the year as he belted 61 homers to top Babe Ruth's mark of 60 for a single season. The record performance also earned him the American League's most valuable player award.

Ball Clubs Hopeful Stars Can Return

By LARRY OSIUS
WASHINGTON AP — Major league baseball players called to active military service last fall probably won't make spring training, but they could see action before the 1962 season is half over.

There has been no definite decision, but it appeared possible today that such players as Tony Kubek of the world champion New York Yankees and Ron Hansen of the Baltimore Orioles both shortstops, may be cavoring around the infield before July 4.

President Kennedy announced Wednesday that two new regular Army divisions would be formed this year. The announcement said the two National Guard divisions and assorted National Guard and reserve units reactivated in September and October "will be released this year as the international situation and the readiness status of the two new divisions permit."

Under law, the 32nd Division of Wisconsin and the 49th Division

Action For Dietzel If He Asks Release

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The big pull came from the South today in the tug of war between Louisiana State University and the Army over the football coaching services of LSU's Paul Dietzel.

Tom Dutton, a member of the LSU board of supervisors which hires and fires football coaches, said he would ask the board to take legal action against Dietzel if he asked to be released from the remaining four years of his $18,500 a year contract.

There were reports from West Point that Dietzel had asked the board to meet to consider such a request. Not so, said Dutton. The board has not been asked to meet.

As for Dietzel—the 38-year-old coach who guided LSU to the national championship in 1956 and three bowl games in the last four years—well, he wasn't saying anything.

"My only comment, for what it's worth, is no comment," he

Sox Ball Park Retains Name

CHICAGO (AP) — Although the last of the Comiskey has stepped out of the club, the home of the Chicago White Sox will continue to be known as Comiskey Park.

Arthur C. Allyn, club president, made the announcement today in response to a number of inquiries.

"Charles A. Comiskey—the Old Roman, as he was called—founded the White Sox and established them in Chicago," Allyn said. "The park was named for him but it is only fitting that his contributions to baseball should be so commemorated. The park will continue to be known as Comiskey Park."

Comiskey's grandson, also named Charles Comiskey, sold his interest in the club last month, ending the family's connection with the club that had endured for 60 years.

Curtis Turner Will Drop His Suit Against NASCAR

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Race driver Curtis Turner said Wednesday night he is dropping his feud with the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, Inc. (NASCAR).

Turner, from Roanoke, Va., said he is withdrawing a suit $200,000 against NASCAR and is giving up his efforts to unionize race drivers into the Federation of Professional Athletes, which planned to affiliate with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The driver was banned from NASCAR by its President Bill France last summer for his union activities. Since, he has been promoting races for the Midwest Association for Race Cars, (MARC).

"I am promoting more than 20 races this year in as many states," he said Wednesday. "I don't feel I will have the time to pursue legal action against NASCAR" or organize race drivers.

Driver Tim Flock of Atlanta, Ga., who filed an identical suit against France and NASCAR, could not be reached for comment on Turner's action.

The two suits sought $200,000 damages and an injunction to prohibit NASCAR from banning drivers from the union. A hearing was scheduled for next month. A Deland, Fla., judge several weeks ago denied a request for a temporary injunction.

Turner said his MARC commitments will keep him busy most of this year. But he added he would accept an invitation to compete in the annual NASCAR race at Daytona Beach, Fla., next month.

Dave Sarette, Syracuse quarterback, wears contact lenses when on the football field.

Ball Stolen During Time Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A teen-ager ran off with the ball with five seconds left to play in the San Francisco-Kansas City American Basketball League game Wednesday night. It seemed a good omen for San Francisco, because the Saints hung on to their 3-point lead and beat the Western Division leaders for the first time 102-99.

In the Eastern Division the Cleveland Pipers beat the Chicago Majors 114-104 and again tied Pittsburgh for first place. The other teams were idle.

Kansas City led 99-98 with 57 seconds left in San Francisco, but Ken Sears put the Saints in front with two free throws. A jump shot by Gene Brown made it 102-99 and Kansas City called time out with five seconds left in an effort to set up a 3-point goal.

It was during the time out that the unidentified teen-ager darted on the floor, grabbed the ball and fled the building. A new ball was put in play, but it didn't go in for the Steers.

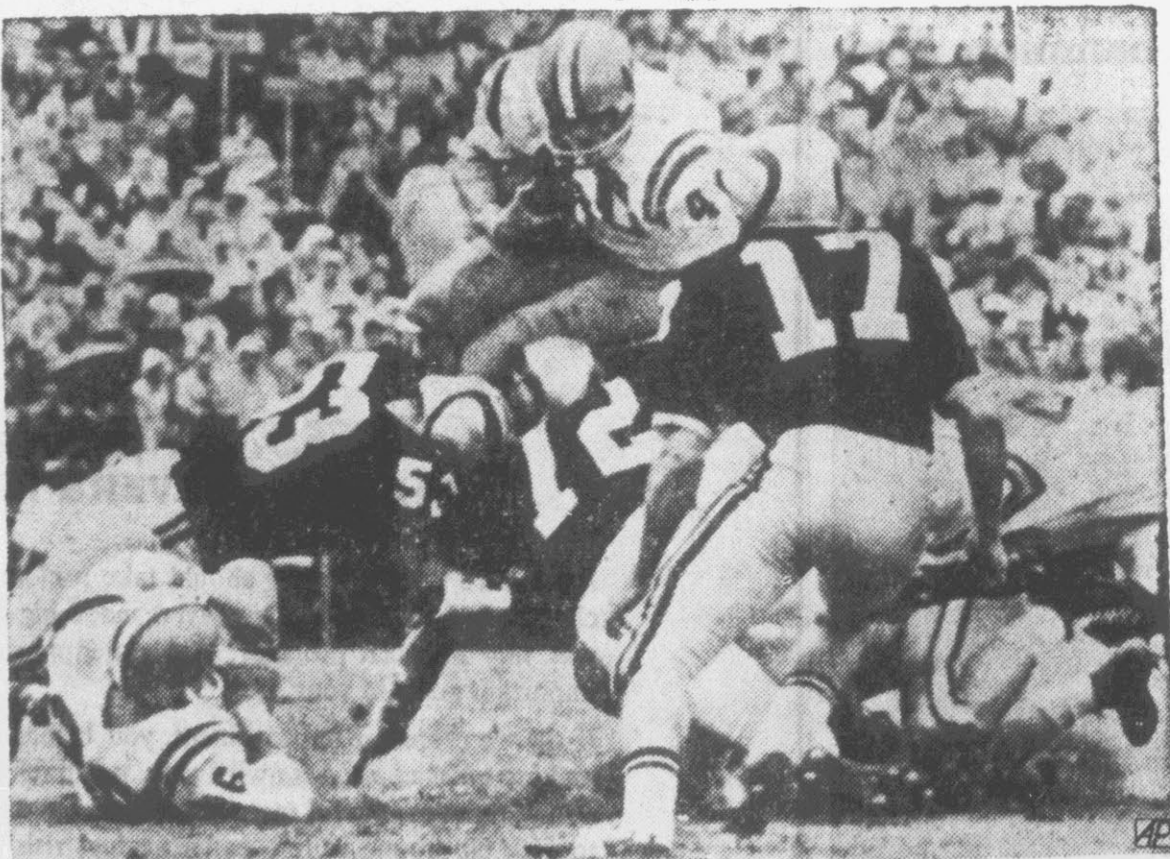

Speedway Case In Court Today

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The financially-muddled affairs of the million-dollar Charlotte Motor Speedway were expected back in court today.

The speedway was made a ward of the court in November to keep its creditors from holding a foreclosure sale. Robert N. Robinson was appointed its trustee.

The case is expected to be submitted to Judge J. B. Craven in Federal District Court here today in an effort to clarify the procedures of operation of the corporation.

Robinson said Wednesday he is going ahead with plans to hold the annual World 600 stock car race at the speedway May 27. He said tentative arrangements have been made for financing the race.

Earl Gros (40), LSU fullback, takes to the high road as he gains two yards in first period of Orange Bowl game with Colorado in Miami. Making the stop is Colorado center Walter Klincker (53), with an assist by tackle John Denver (72). Colorado back Nick Graham (17) backs play. (AP Wirephoto)

STRUMMIN' SIGHT — The young Edwardian blade with the guitar has a familiar face. It's none other than actress Brigitte Bardot, all decked out as a boy, for one of her sketches to be broadcast over the French national television network.

Portugal's Six Years Of UN Membership Stormy

By MAX HARRELSON
Chief AP U.N. Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Portugal had a tough time getting into the United Nations. Now, after six years of membership, it is talking about getting out.

Repeated vetoes by the Soviet Union, starting in 1946, shoved aside the Lisbon government's applications for membership. Admission finally came in 1955—10 years after the organization was set up—as part of a package deal which brought in new members with divergent outlooks.

The six years of membership have been so stormy that few diplomats here were surprised when Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar let it be known Wednesday that "Portugal will surely be among the first countries" to quit the U.N. He set no date, however.

No nation ever has resigned from the U. N.

A poor relationship between Portugal and a majority of the United Nations virtually ruled out any possibility of U.N. action to help the Salazar government when India seized Goa last month. There was so little sympathy among Asian and African countries that Western leaders felt they would be fighting a lost cause if they tried to take the invasion before the General Assembly.

The breaking point could come later this month when the assembly is expected to condemn Portugal for asserted failure to heed an earlier U.N. appeal for major reforms in Portuguese Angola.

In the current assembly session, Portugal was condemned for refusing to give information on nonself-governing territories, as required by the U.N. Charter. The vote was 90-3 with only Portugal, South Africa and Spain voting against it. Portugal's Vasco Vieira Garin denounced the action as a move which would "encourage international lawlessness."

One of the byproducts of differences between Portugal and the United Nations has been a growing rift in the Salazar government's relations with the Kennedy administration. While the United States did take the lead in seeking Security Council action in the Goa case, it had voted for the Angola inquiry last spring. That touched off angry anti-U.S. demonstrations in Lisbon.

The coming assembly debate on

Has Advice To Solve Softness

CHICAGO (AP) — Americans, living in a push-button age, are going soft physically, says a researcher at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, director of physical fitness research, says this softness can be overcome by hard physical work and the addition of wheat germ and other nutritionally high supplements in the diet.

His observations highlight a report on the training methods of Olympic athletes just readied for publication. He gives four reasons why U. S. athletes seldom win in the 1,500 meter, 10,000 meter, steeplechase and marathon runs. Youngsters do not compete in endurance events in high schools. They are careless about diet in relation to performance. Physical education emphasizes fun. American physicians discourage endurance work for American youth.

Angola is expected to subject Portugal to one of the sharpest attacks ever directed at a member nation. This was foreshadowed last spring when African countries hurled charges of mass slaughter and brutality at the Salazar government and demanded the immediate independence of Angola. Guinea's Diallo Telli called Portugal "the world's defendant No. 1."

Gun Permit For Davy Crockett

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Oakland County Gun Board issued a permit to carry a pistol for hunting and target shooting to Davy Crockett.

"I didn't think he'd really need any more practice," said Board Chairman Anthony Stiel after granting the permit to Michigan State University student David B. Crockett, 24, of Bloomfield Township, Mich.

Planning Adopt Doorstep Baby

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The baby that was brought to Jimmy Durante's doorstep Christmas Eve was baptized in a private ceremony Tuesday.

The sacrament was given at St. Victor's Catholic Church in West Hollywood, where Durante and his wife Marge are parishioners.

The Durantes intend to adopt the youngster, Cecilia Alicia, who is less than a month old. Hollywood columnist Louella Parsons was named godmother and Danny Thomas godfather.

WHY IT OFTEN TAKES TWO KINDS OF MILK TO KEEP A FAMILY FIT

Milk is an excellent source of high-quality proteins, vitamins and minerals for grown-ups and "growing-ups" alike. But one member of your family may have a need for homogenized vitamin "D" milk, while another may benefit more from skim milk.

Sealtest Homogenized Vitamin "D" Milk is the rich, whole milk with extra sunshine vitamin "D" added. Sealtest "HVD" helps build strong bones and bodies, sound teeth, gives youngsters the milk richness and energy they need for play and healthy growth.

Sealtest Diet Fortified Skim Milk combines high nutritional value with low calorie value. Sealtest dairy-fresh skim has the flavor of milk and the important milk proteins, vitamins and minerals—but a minimum of fat.

Sealtest Diet Fortified Skim Milk is ideal for the weight watchers who want to keep in trim while they stay slim.

All Sealtest Milk is guarded by the most rigid system of quality control.

Your family deserves the best...

Possible Demo Split Over Majority Leader Averted

Carl Albert Knows Long Road To House Leadership

By GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's a long road from Bugtussle, Okla., to Washington, D. C. and virtually certain election next week as the next majority leader of the House.

Carl Albert, son of a coal miner, has traveled it in 53 years. On the way this product of a one-room Oklahoma schoolhouse won a national oratorical contest, a Rhodes scholarship and a Bronze Star in the Pacific theater in World War II.

Since his election to the House in 1946, Albert's rise in its circles of power and influence has been quiet and sure. The withdrawal Wednesday of his only opponent for the office of majority leader, Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., makes Albert's elevation a foregone conclusion.

For the past nine years, Albert has served as Democratic whip in the House. His effective handling of this chore of rounding up colleagues for important votes put him in line to move up a notch to Rep. John W. McCormack's job as majority leader as McCormack moves up to speaker. Albert is a self-effacing man. It is said that no one in the House—Democrat or Republican—dislikes him. Yet he is considered an able cog in the House leadership machine.

Although the White House kept hands off the majority leader contest, President Kennedy made it known that he was greatly appreciative of Albert's efforts in getting the administration program through the House last year.

Albert was born in a little coal mining community outside McAlester, Okla., May 10, 1908. It was known in those days as Bugtussle. Today it's known as Flowery Mound.

One of Albert's most cherished pictures among dozens on his office walls is a group portrait of his first grade class, given him recently by his first grade teacher at a luncheon back home.

He went to high school in McAlester and was class valedictorian. He won a national oratorical contest and a trip to Europe. After a brilliant career at the University of Oklahoma, he won another oratorical contest and a trip to Hawaii.

In 1931 he won a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford University in England, where he took two law degrees.

It is typical of Albert that the official biography issued by his office says of his military career, "he served in the Army in the Pacific theater in World War II." What it doesn't say is that Albert enlisted as a buck private before Pearl Harbor, emerged as a lieutenant colonel and won a Bronze Star.

Albert is 5 feet 4 in his stocking feet. His southeast Oklahoma district is called "Little Dixie" and Albert has become famous there as "The little giant from Little Dixie."

He is a favorite with the neighborhood children when he goes home to McAlester. When they see his car parked they come in droves to see him. He and his wife, Mary, have two children, Mary Frances, 13, and David, 6.

As majority leader, Albert can be expected to be an administration stalwart. "I have a progressive voting record," he said Wednesday. "I supported the President's program right down the line last year."

Decide On Shoes For Footballers

HONOLULU (AP)—Rural high school officials on Oahu Island have decided to put shoes on their football players.

Junior varsity players have been playing without shoes for years. They even kick the pigskin without shoes.

Wai'anae High School, near Honolulu, has fielded a barefoot team since 1957. They won the junior varsity last year.

And at Kahuku, on the northern Oahu, a team of players mostly of Samoan ancestry not only play football without shoes but call defensive signals in Samoan instead of English.

Fed Up With His Totem Pole Job

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—One of British Columbia's top totem pole carvers is ready to throw in the chisel.

"I would like to get back to a 20th Century job for a while," says Bill Reid, 42. "I feel I'm becoming a living monument and it's not my idea of a permanent occupation."

Reid, whose mother was a Haida Indian and father a white man, has spent the past two and a half years carving huge cedar logs into totem poles and other symbolic figures of the Haida Tribe. He got the assignment from the University of British Columbia.

Before taking up carving, Reid was an announcer with 20 years in radio. He isn't sure what he'll turn to next.

Eagle Guest Of Illinois Couple

CRETE, Ill. (AP)—A golden eagle that apparently flew far afield found himself the guest of a Crete, Ill. couple Wednesday—but not by choice.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steiber said they found the rare eagle caught in a small game trap in their back yard. Steiber stunned the eagle with a stick and offered it to Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo.

Crete is a suburb about 28 miles south of downtown Chicago.

The natural habitat of the golden eagle is the mountainous regions of North America, Europe, Northern Asia and Northern Africa.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the withdrawal of Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., from the race for majority leader and tentative approval of a new policy committee have averted a possible session-opening split among House Democrats.

Bolling's statement Wednesday that he would not seek the majority leadership being vacated by Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts left next week's caucus of House Democrats without a controversial issue.

It cleared the way for unanimous selection of Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma as the party floor leader to succeed McCormack, who has no party opposition to replace the late Sam Rayburn as speaker.

McCormack's election at the initial House session next Wednesday may not even be contested by Republicans. Whether the GOP will go through with the formality of nominating Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana for speaker may not be decided until early next week.

In any event, Halleck would have no chance of election, the vote traditionally being along straight party lines.

Bolling had the support of some House liberals when he announced last November that he would seek the majority leadership. However, not enough colleagues rallied behind his standard and he pulled out of the contest.

"Developments in the last few days convince me that I do not have a chance to win," Bolling told newsmen.

Bolling said he was unable to get solid support in several states with big Democratic delegations. He estimated that at the time of his withdrawal he had from 70 to 80 sure votes and 30 to 40 "possibles"—not enough to win in a caucus of 253 Democrats.

He said he considered his failure to make a winning race a defeat for House liberals. Bolling said that while he regarded Albert a liberal, the Oklahoma had "reservations" when it came to legislation dealing with civil rights and oil and gas.

Bolling said he was not a candidate for majority whip to succeed Albert and would not accept that position, considered third in the Democratic chain of command in the House. Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana reportedly has the inside track for the post.

Bolling's withdrawal coincided with reliable reports that Democratic leaders, with White House backing or even prodding, had given the go-ahead to reestablishment of a House Democratic steering or policy committee.

A group of liberals known as the Democratic Study Committee has been assisting for creation of a policy committee to give the liberals more of a voice in party decisions.

If created, the committee would serve in an advisory capacity to the Democratic leaders but would have no binding authority. Its chairman presumably would attend the weekly White House meeting of congressional leaders.

The committee would follow the lines of the former Democratic steering committee with representatives from each of an estimated 18 regions. The old steering committee folded up about 10 years ago after several years of inactivity.

The proposed new group would meet regularly and attempt to bring about party agreement on major legislative measures. Its job would be complicated by the fact that its membership would include Democrats with widely divergent ideas on legislation.

Should creation of the committee be approved, there probably would be a scramble for the chairmanship, with Bolling already mentioned as a likely candidate.

Bolling already is a member of the House Rules Committee, which has a dominant voice in deciding what bills reach the House floor for a vote.

Old Iron Horse Pulled To Scene

CHICAGO (AP)—Old 2903, a giant steam locomotive donated by the Santa Fe Railway to the Museum of Science and Industry here, arrived by way of a bride path.

The 340-ton railroad engine was inched toward its destination by repeatedly laying fourteen 39-foot track sections that were removed after the locomotive passed over them. A tractor-digger with a winch pulled the huge locomotive and an air compressor mounted on the tender supplied pressure for its braking system.

'Checkmate' Sleuths Have Lost Limelight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Title of Wednesday night's episode of CBS' "Checkmate" was "A funny thing happened to me on the way to the game." It was an unwieldy title on an unwieldy show—but that's the way it's been with "Checkmate" this season.

Last year, it was a jolly, entertaining series centered on three sleuths. But now regulars, Anthony George, Sebastian Cabot, and Doug McClure have been relegated most weeks to playing bewildered body guards and the plots, such as they are, focus on a guest star.

Wednesday night, the focus was Jack Benny, playing a comedian pursued by an assassin at a New Year's football bowl game. Even Benny in his usual TV character couldn't make it much of a show.

ABC had a special program about Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr. expected to be the first American put into orbit.

It was a disappointing perfunctory portrait painted in glowing words by parents, old friends, and neighbors, but it never got below the surface to reveal the man inside the silver space suit.

One of TV's favorite preoccupations is a device called the "spin off." This is TV's equivalent of the motion picture "sneak preview"—a chance to try out a show idea quietly. If it pleases, it may return another season as a full-blown series. If it fails, it just quietly goes away.

One such was last week's G.E. Theatre comedy starring George Gobel as a well-intentioned bungler. Probably that one-Gobel held great hopes for it as long as a year ago—will be one of the pilots best forgotten. It wasn't funny and not even George's bag of familiar tricks could pick it up.

On the other hand, Danny Thomas' current shows have an interesting potential in some fresh characters he is developing: Sid Melton and Pat Carroll playing the nightclub owner and his wife. They are a funny apri and work well as a team.

Washington newsmen call the weekly joint press conference of the Senate Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and the House Republican leader, Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "The Ev and Charlie Show," although the newsreel film is usually shown in bits and pieces on later TV newscasts. Next Sunday, however, "The Ev and Charlie Show" will go network—NBC—when the Republican pair face the "Meet the Press" panel.

ABC will give viewers another chance to see its recent special starring Yves Montand (which ran in criticized competition with NBC's "Victoria Regina" and "CBS Reports" controversial documentary on a Boston betting parlor. A repeat is scheduled for spring.

Tony Curtis Figures Luck In Airplanes Is Used Up

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—As far as Tony Curtis is concerned, the Wright brothers could have skipped the whole thing.

Curtis recently returned from locations of "Taras Bulba" in Salta, Argentina. He came back the hard way, via train to Buenos Aires, boat to New York, train to Hollywood. Travel time: two weeks vs. one day by air.

Tony doesn't fly.

Ordinarily when a person doesn't fly, nobody makes much of it. But Curtis is probably the most famous non-flyer in the world, the reason being that he is married to a flying type, a beautiful chick named Janet Leigh.

"Janet flies, I don't; it's as simple as that," says Tony. "Except that it isn't that simple. Whenever we go on a trip separately—whoosh! The rumors start. We had a fight. We separated. We're getting a divorce."

"Janet usually arrives before I do because she flies. So maybe it's New York and she wants to see some shows, so she calls up a friend of mine to take her out. Whoosh! The tongues start wagging."

"As a matter of record, we are better off than we have ever been. I don't mean we don't have our differences, we do. But we've been married 10 years now, and as far as I can see, the first 10 years are the easiest."

Though the rumors fly when he doesn't, Tony has no intention of giving up his groundling ways.

"I don't intend to get more than 60 feet off the ground at any time," he remarked. "I guess you might call it a phobia, a fear of crashing. I'll tell you when it started."

"It was during those early days at Universal, when I made all those personal appearance tours. They'd have me visiting 20 cities in 20 days, flying in any kind of plane in any kind of weather. I figure I used up all my luck in those days."

Fed Up . . . Driver Got Out, Walked

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh bus driver, fed up with the antics of high school students riding in his bus, halted his vehicle at a busy Pittsburgh intersection Wednesday and walked off the job.

"I can't stand it anymore. I've had it," Frank Seitz told police at the scene.

Seitz, a driver for the Pittsburgh Railways Co. for 15 years, ordered the students off the bus and then telephoned his office to come and get the bus because he was going home.

"It is too early to say he quit, or whether he will be disciplined," said R. A. Hamilton, manager of rates and services for the bus firm.

Humphrey Predicts Push For Medical Aid To Aged

WASHINGTON AP — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted today that President Kennedy will "push very hard" in Congress for enactment of a medical aid program for the elderly.

This prediction by Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, coincided with reports that National Chairman John M. Bailey has picked medical care as the top issue to be plugged by party candidates in this year's campaign.

Humphrey said in an interview that he looks for "tough going" but believes a bill providing health care financed through the Social Security system can be piloted through both houses.

"The President must fulfill his campaign pledge to get this program enacted," Humphrey said. "I think he is going to push very hard in it."

But the Minnesota senator was less optimistic about some of the other major proposals Kennedy is expected to lay before Congress shortly after it convenes next Wednesday.

He said he feels it is unlikely that Congress will approve any general aid to education plan. He expressed hope, however, that some assistance for higher education can be obtained.

Asked how he felt about Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's failure to recommend any new civil rights legislation, Humphrey said he thought "there still is much that can be done on the executive front."

"I think the administration has an excellent record of executive action in this field," he said. "Personally, however, I think some of the civil rights laws should be strengthened, particularly in the field of voting, and I will support legislation of this kind."

Humphrey said prospects for enactment of a measure to establish a new cabinet department of urban affairs—an action promised by Kennedy in the 1960 campaign—are being canvassed.

Humphrey said Kennedy would prefer to follow the legislative

Earl Beach Is Elected Life-Fellow In Institute

Earl E. Beach, Director of the Department of Music at East Carolina College, has been elected a life fellow in the International Institute of Arts and Letters, an organization with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mr. Beach has just received notification of the honor from Dr. Helmut L. Dernel of Kreuzlingen, Switzerland, secretary of the international organization.

"The purpose of the Institute is 'world-wide cooperation in the cultivation and promotion of Arts, Letters, and Sciences, with the object of increasing knowledge, and of contribution in other ways to human progress.'"

Widely known for his work as an educator in the field of music, Mr. Beach has for a number of years been prominently identified with the Music Educators National Conference, serves as a member of the Board of Directors, and is a past president of Southern Division of the organization.

He was recently appointed as a member of the Study Committee for Organizational Purposes of the MENC and of the Council on Cooperation and Teacher Education, an organization sponsored by the American Council on Education. He serves also as a member of the Board of Directors of the American Association of College and University Concert Managers.

He is listed in "Who's Who in Music" and "Who's Who in the South."

His "A Selected Bibliography of Music Education Materials In Use In The United States" is a 1958 publication of the International Society for Music Education, Cologne, Germany.

If such a department is set up, it is expected to be headed by Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, who would be the first Negro in the Cabinet.

Astronaut Told Wait Extended

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. will have to wait at least an additional week before an attempt is made to rocket him aloft as the first American to orbit the earth.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Wednesday postponed the launching from Jan. 16 to Jan. 23 because of a minor fueling problem with the Atlas booster rocket.

The world came from reliable sources close to the Mercury Project, NASA, which is not announced any date for the launching, declined comment on the report.

The informants said the difficulty could be corrected with only a day or two delay but that NASA officials decided to call a seven day hold to make a complete check.

Glenn, 40, reportedly was disappointed by the postponement, the second for the launching. He was not available for comment.

The Marine lieutenant colonel originally was slated to make the orbit trip on Dec. 20 as the space agency pushed to achieve the flight in 1961, the same year the Soviet Union succeeded in orbiting two cosmonauts. But with pressure mounting and time running out, NASA decided to put the firing off until January.

Glenn's spacecraft, which was placed atop the Atlas Wednesday, is intended to whirl three times around the world in 4½ hours at a speed of 17,500 miles an hour.

Appoint Nelms ECC Placement Office Director

G. Allan Nelms, Director of Foundations and Alumni Affairs at East Carolina College since 1959, has been appointed Director of Placement on the administrative staff of the college, President Leo W. Jenkins has announced. Mr. Nelms began his new duties January 1.

He replaces Jack Edwards Jr., of Greenville, who held the position from July, 1960, to January, 1962. Mr. Edwards resigned to enter private business.

Mr. Nelms is a native of Rocky Mount. He is a graduate of North Carolina State College, where as an outstanding athlete he was a letter man in football, basketball, and baseball during his four years there.

After his graduation at State College, he began his career as a teacher and coach, first in Whiteville and later in Raleigh. From 1936 to 1941 he was connected with the Raleigh YMCA and during the next year he was engaged in USO and YMCA work for the National Council of YMCA's in Montgomery, Alabama, and in North Carolina, South Carolina, and the coastal area of Virginia.

G. ALLAN NELMS

In World War II, Mr. Nelms served for three years in the U.S. Navy. During this time he was on sea duty for 27 months. At the time of his discharge he held the rank of lieutenant-commander.

He again entered USO-YMCA work for a year and then was with the Wolfpack Club at State College from 1946 to 1951.

As personal director of Serv-Air Corporation, he had headquarters in Winston in 1951-1956. He came to Greenville from Wilmington, where for three years 1956-1959 he was engaged in USO-YMCA work.

Slab Of Cheese Saved Her Life

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Five-year-old Wanda Gale Stegall of Marshallville, N.C., played happily here today at the home of a Texas highway patrolman. She was unaware of the close brush she had with death in a head-on auto collision Saturday, and of the part a slab of cheese played in protecting her.

The cushioning effect of the cheese probably saved her from a serious injury," commented Highway Patrolman H. R. (Lefty) Block, who investigated.

Block's wife, Pat, said, "It took me 3½ hours to get the cheese out of her hair and scalp."

The Blocks have temporarily adopted Wanda while her guardians, Navy Seaman Mildred D. Medlin, 20, and his 17-year-old wife recover from serious injuries. The Medlins, who live in Corpus Christi, are in a local hospital.

The Medlins were en route from North Carolina to Corpus Christi Saturday when their car collided with another car on U.S. Highway 90 near here. A pickup truck smashed into the wreckage, seriously injuring a Beaumont motorist who had stopped to render aid. Eight persons were injured. Wanda was the only occupant to emerge unscathed.

"Wanda told me she lost her little brother recently in a fire in Marshallville," Mrs. Block said. Wanda's mother was hospitalized.

The Navy and the Red Cross located Wanda's father, Pernay Stegall, Tuesday. In a telephone call to Beaumont, Stegall, a woodsman, said circumstances prevented him from coming to Beaumont.

Bill Collector Was Welcomed

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A bill collector called at the home of Mrs. Ann Foster and—for a switch—he was more than welcome.

Ralph Wagner, collector for the City Utilities Department, rang her doorbell, got no answer and—you know bill collectors—went to the back door.

"Intuition told me to keep trying," Wagner explained. "I found the door ajar and called."

Mrs. Foster, 88, who lives alone, answered weakly. She had fallen in the house four days earlier.

"All she was worrying about," said Wagner, "was her parakeet. She hadn't been able to look after it."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued higher in active trading early this afternoon although prices were below their best of the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 262.90 with industrials up 1.40, rails up .50 and utilities unchanged.

Rails followed through briefly on their strong rally which paced Wednesday's market rise, then a number of leading carriers fell victim to short-term profit taking.

Motors were briskly traded and the Big Three showed plus signs. Nonferrous metals, oils, aerospace issues, drugs and selected issues also moved higher. Some of the tobacco stocks as well as other issues which made big gains in 1961 were subjected to further selling to cash long-term profits.

Steels were mixed. Certain-Teed, which had a net gain of 40 1/4 points in 1961, was elbowed by further profit taking and traded about 3 points lower. Brunswick also came under selling pressure, showing a loss of 2 points or so.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .29 at 725.72. Prices were mostly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were higher. U.S. government bonds were steady.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets irregular. Supplies ample on large, short on mediums and smalls. Demand good. Prices paid producers for clean, ungraded eggs, delivered nearby grading stations on a grade-yield basis, cases exchanged: grade A large, whites 35 1/2-37, mostly 35 1/2-36 1/2; medium whites 30-32; small, whites 25-26.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — Hog prices mostly steady. Tops of 17-18 Nahant; 17-25-17.75 Smithfield; 17-17.75 Rocky Mount; 16.75-17.75 Wilson, Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, New Town Grove; 17-17.50 Spring Hope; 17-17.25 Murfreesboro; Robertsonville 16.50-17 Pembroke; 17.50 at Tarboro, Enfield, Scotland Neck, Rich Square, Bethel; 17.25 Middlesex, Greensboro, Castle Hayne, Burgaw, Goldsboro; 17 Albertson, Dunn, Siler City; 16.75 Lillington. Wilson cash cattle prices steady: Steers and heifers, choice, 23.50-25.50, good 22-24.50, standard 19-22; beef cows 14-16.50, heavy cutters 13-14.50; lightweight bulls 12.50-15, heavyweights 15-18.

New Cold Front Hits New York; Warmup For East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures topped as much as 34 degrees in eight hours today as a cold front pushed into New York State from the north. The mercury plummeted from 32 above at midnight to 2 below zero at 8 a.m. in Massena, N.Y. It dropped 24 degrees to 14 above in Syracuse and plunged 15 degrees to 21 above in Buffalo.

A freezing drizzle mixed with snow added more weather woes in New York State. Some schools were closed because of glazed roads.

Much of the North braced for colder weather. Watertown, N.Y., had 6 below zero early in the day, and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., had Dental Society ...

The dentists asserted that they "feel so strongly about this that they are willing to donate a portion of their time to the operation of a dental clinic for the indigent."

Obstacles to the establishment of the clinic, the dentists cited, were the "considerable cost" of equipment and adequate space for such a clinic.

They said the already-purchased equipment—while it would not fully equip the two dental treatment rooms they requested—could be supplemented by Pitt's $2,000 allocation which Dr. E. A. Pearson of the State Health Department has indicated could be obtained in July, according to the letter.

The letter suggested using space in the hospital's basement for setting up the clinic, but stated: "If the hospital space cannot be made available, it may be possible to set up the clinic in some other location (Public Health Building or other) provided the hospital could release or permit the removal of the dental equipment..."

In their Tuesday session, the County Commissioners indicated a preference that the dental equipment remain in the hospital.

Space in the hospital's basement is currently used as kitchen and cafeteria facilities, central sterile supply and general hospital supply storage space, instructional rooms, an autopsy room, a boiler room and other rooms designated for future use as facilities for physical therapy.

Space needed for operation of the proposed clinic, the dentists' letter said, would include two rooms 10 feet by 10 feet and waiting room facilities for patients. In discussing the dentists' request today, trustees' Chairman Moye pointed out his board has not yet officially taken the matter under consideration but said the trustees "may be able to work something out on space in the basement for such a clinic."

Moye said the operating room designated as a dental surgery room currently is equipped for use for dental surgery. As yet he said, the trustees have not considered a possible future use for the surgical facility.

below. But, south of the cold front, the East enjoyed a warm-up. Forecasters predicted highs in the 70s in southern Florida and in the 60s in northern Florida as that state's third cold wave within two weeks began to recede.

Miami's early morning reading of 51 compared with 38 Wednesday morning. Predawn readings ranged from 30° in Gainesville to 55 in Key West.

An estimated 2 to 4 million boxes of citrus were lost in the frost but industry spokesmen said it merely reduced the record orange crop of 99 million boxes and was not a severe blow.

The Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa and forecast cold air, northerly winds and snow from the Rockies eastward across most of the Plains, the Upper Mississippi Valley, part of the Middle Mississippi Valley and into the Great Lakes region.

Cold wave warnings also were posted for Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire. But some warmer weather appeared likely over sections of the Middle and South Atlantic Coast states.

Receives Science Study Grant

WINTERVILLE—J. G. Cox, Auburn University professor and son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cox of Winterville, is one of two professors in mechanical engineering at the university to receive a National Science Foundation Science Faculty Fellowship for study towards the doctoral degree.

Cox and Weldon Frank Swinson are the second and third persons in the mechanical engineering department at Auburn University to receive such grants.

Cox plans to enroll in the Department of Industrial Engineering at Purdue University, where he will major in operations research. His grant will cover 15 months study toward a Ph. D. in industrial engineering.

He received the B. S. degree in chemical engineering and the M. S. degree in mathematics from Auburn. He has completed preliminary work on a Ph. D. in mathematics at the University of North Carolina. A member of the Auburn faculty since 1949, his publications include co-authorship of "Stability Criteria for the Numerical Solution of Certain Transient Heat Transfer Problems," a paper on "Couchy's Method of Interpolation by Rational Functions" and several classified works on Operations Analysis for the Air Force.

Cars Collided At Intersection

An estimated $300 damage resulted yesterday when two cars collided on Dickinson Ave. near the intersection of Watagua Ave. about 9:15 a.m.

Traffic officers said drivers of the vehicles included: Mrs. Clara Lowery May, 57 of 100 South Elm St., and Lawrence Boseman, Jr., 28 of 1313 Chestnut St. Damage was set by investigators at $100 to the May auto and $200 to the Boseman vehicle.

Boseman was charged with passing at an intersection.

State Dept. Believes Odd Tale Of $1 Million Offer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department says it believes the strange story of a million-dollar offer to Costa Rica if it would recognize Katanga as an independent nation, and believes further that a New York agent of President Moise Tshombe had a part in the maneuver.

The agent of the rebellious Congolese province, Michael Struelens, reports that the accusation is untrue as to himself and even if the story were true, he can't see why this country should be so concerned over diplomatic efforts of another government.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, brought the affair into the open in a volunteered statement Wednesday at his news conference, commenting on what he called press reports that "Struelens might have been involved in an attempt to purchase recognition for Katanga."

White declined to name the nation involved or give other details.

The terms in which he spoke, however, made it clear he referred to a report, by columnist Drew Pearson, that the offer was a million dollars, that the country was Costa Rica, and that the proposition was indignantly turned down.

The story in question did not name those who made the offer. It did, however, discuss Struelens' activities as an information officer for Tshombe's regime.

Struelens, a former Belgian civil servant, replied to White in a statement in New York.

"As far as the allegation by Lincoln White pertains to me, personally, it is absolutely without foundation," he said.

"Even if the story were true, which it is not, I cannot understand why the United States would be so concerned about diplomatic efforts made by another government."

Struelens, commenting on previous discussions of his activities, has contended he acts purely as a Katanga information officer.

N. C. Physicians And Congressmen Will Be Meeting

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina physicians plan a series of meetings with the state's congressmen to voice their objections to President Kennedy's proposed medical aid for the aged plan. A delegation met here Wednesday with Fourth District Rep. Harold Cooley of Nashville.

A spokesman said similar meetings, with doctors from each congressional district, are planned with other members of the North Carolina delegation.

Cooley said the group "exact no promises from me." He said they opposed the plan, claiming it would be costly and be another step toward "government control of medicine."

The President made a major campaign issue of his program to tie a medical aid for the aged program to social security.

Cooley told another conference he was "friendly" to the Kennedy farm program in general, but "frankly I do not agree with it in all its aspects."

Two vehicles were declared a total loss this morning by Highway Patrolmen who investigated a collision about six miles from Greenville on the Bethel Highway, in which three Pitt County High School students were slightly injured.

Trooper D. L. Minshew of Farmville, who investigated the mishap, said the vehicle in which the students were passengers was a pickup vehicle belonging to the Pitt County School Bus Garage. It was being driven by Jarvis Edgar Harris, 40, of Winterville. Driver of the second vehicle, a car and trailer, was listed as Ben Bell Harris, 54, of Route 4, Greenville.

Damages were estimated to be about $400 to the car and an estimated $850 to the truck.

The three youths who were not identified were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment and released.

Investigation into the collision, which occurred about 10:30 a.m., was continuing this morning, Ptl. Minshew noted.

Explain Divorce Was A Mistake

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"You just can't break up after 15 years," says actor-producer Dick Powell. The entertainer was explaining to newsmen Wednesday that it's no secret that he and his wife, actress June Allyson, have long since reconciled.

Miss Allyson, 38, was granted an interlocutory divorce decree last Jan. 31 after she charged extreme cruelty and testified Powell, 57, was "always tied up with business."

Powell said the couple soon will file briefs to set aside the decree. California law requires a one-year waiting period before a final decree is granted.

Powell said they have the same home and have been appearing in public together for several months, since Miss Allyson suffered a throat ailment. The diminutive actress has fully recovered after two operations, Powell said.

Miss Allyson commented, "It was a divorce that never should have been. Besides both of us realized we had made a horrible mistake—that we loved each other. It was the children who brought us together again. Both Pamela (13) and Rickie (12) kept telling us we were both idiots. Dick and I finally got the message."

In Memoriam
In memory of my loving husband, Jim A. Allen, who departed this life one year ago today, January 4, 1961:

There is so little we can say,
So little we can do
When God has called home.
When smiling eyes are closed in sleep
According to God's will,
You are missed so much in the home.

Woman Died In Flaming House

ROBBINSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A courageous wife burned to death early today when she returned to her flaming home after seeking help and roused her sleeping husband.

The body of Mrs. Maude Hennegan, 47, was found in the charred ruins of the house by members of the Robbinston Volunteer Fire Department.

Mrs. Hennegan, apparently awakened by the fire, rushed outside to ask a neighbor to call the fire department, then went back inside the frame house just off Main Street to call her husband, Donald Hennegan.

Hennegan, who was seriously burned, was quoted by Fire Chief Harry Ford as saying he leaped from a bedroom window to safety after telling his wife to follow him. Mrs. Hennegan apparently was overcome by the smoke and flames before she could jump. Her body was found on a bed near the window.

Hennegan, taken to Andrews hospital for treatment of second and third degree burns, was in serious condition.

The Hennegans lived in a small cottage which once had been part of a tourist facility. The cottage was completely destroyed by the flames.

Ford said the fire might have started in a gas heater used to warm the cottage.

Two Young Men Listed Missing

CONCORD, N.C. (AP) — The Cabarrus County sheriff's office said today that two young Concord men, Homer Roscoe Brooks Jr., 18, and Bill Newton, 20, have been reported missing by their parents.

Officers said the two have not been heard from since about 1 p.m. Monday when they telephoned that they were leaving the Georgia city en route home. Young Brooks and Newton had been working in Atlanta, but quit their job.

Brooks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brooks Sr., and Newton's father, Hoyle Newton, left Concord Wednesday and drove to Atlanta in an effort to find some trail of the missing men.

Officers said authorities in Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina were looking for the pair.
