A New Home Far From Familiar Scenes

LOTHS IN THEIR NEW HOME . . . Paul Loth, with one of his sons, Paul Jr., and daughter Margreth, discusses the trip to the United States from the Netherlands. They were "thrilled" with the nine-room house furnished for them in Winterville and "flabbergasted" with efforts of the citizens to bring them here. (Reflector staff photo)

Loth Family 'Stunned' By Reception In Winterville

By PATRICIA MOORE Reflector Staff Writer

WINTERVILLE — "We didn't realize that people like this still existed," Paul Loth said, describing his family's reaction to Americans here.

Loth, his wife and five children arrived last night from The Hague, Netherlands, to live in a house secured and renovated by the Winterville United Fellowship. The group of 30 teenagers and their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman HHusted, also have provided a job opportunity for Loth in Greenville.

Some 50 persons, including the youth group, greeted the Loths at the Kinston Airport about 10:15 last night and in caravan style drove to their new home on Railroad Street, with a highway patrol escort part of the way.

An impression of the United States? Loth said, "We were stunned from the time this thing started rolling. From the letters we had from Rita and Sherman and the group, we were flabbergasted. We didn't realize that people like this still existed."

"It's done a tremendous thing, as far as our friends and colleagues are concerned at home (in Holland). I told them what they were doing here, and showed them the pictures we received of the house. They have been tremendously impressed," Loth continued.

Loth commented that some of the tourists had not left such good impressions of the United States, but that the good will generated from Winterville citizens "has shown the other side."

The Loths are thrilled with their nine-room home, especially ly after living in a four-room apartment. Children this morning were scampering about, inspecting the yard and porch and playing with toys given to them by the people of Winterville, who completely furnished the home. Local businessmen and others throughout the county have given furniture and items for the home. Ginny May, eight, was most

Lanier Is Re-Elected As Country Club President

James C. Lanier Jr. was re-elected as president of the Greenville Golf and Country Club at its annual stockholder's meeting last night.

Elected vice-president was Clarence Tuwell. New members named for the board of directors were Howard Hodges, Dr. Frank Longino, J. C. Whitehurst and Louis Clark. The four new directors will serve three year terms.

The proposed building program for the Country Club highlighted the business discussion at last night's meeting.

A resolution approved by stockholders in 1960 relating to the building program for the club was modified at the meeting last night when stockholders instructed the president and board of governors to name a building committee to develop a long range building plan to be submitted to the stockholders for approval.

A condensed financial report was included in the business. James Lanier, as president of

Two Helicopters Lost 'In Action'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Army helicopters have been lost and three others hit by Communist fire in two combat operations in three days. There have been no casualties among the American crewmen or Vietnamese soldiers aboard, but a U.S. source reported the Communists "are getting our range." "They're learning to aim ahead of us, to compensate for the forward movement of the aircraft," the informant said after one helicopter crashed and two others were hit while ferrying Vietnamese government troops into action Tuesday.

It was not determined whether the plane that crashed went down because of enemy fire or mechanical trouble. But one helicopter was shot down and another hit in a similar operation Sunday.

No official information was disclosed on Tuesday's mission. The third operation since the United States committed itself to the defense of South Viet Nam and ordered a major U.S. military buildup here two months ago.

However, sources said the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, just as they did Sunday, escaped before assault forces could surround them. The target area was believed to have been 30 miles southeast of Saigon.

Informants said 15 American Army helicopters shuttled two battalions of Vietnamese infantry—564 men—into the combat area while three other battalions moved overland. The helicopter crashed as it was coming in to a rice field to pick up a fresh load of troops after having just unloaded one group of soldiers in the target area.

The U.S. Navy aircraft ferry Core docked here today with two U.S. companies and 21 large single-engine liaison planes. The planes will soon be flying missions against the Communist Viet Cong rebels.

The companies were identified as the 18th Aviation Co., fixed wing, light; and the 39th Transportation Maintenance Co., direct support; both from Ft. Riley, Kan.

The new units, equipped with Canadian-made Otter planes, will be stationed at the coastal town of Nha Trang, about 180 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Otter is capable of carrying 10 soldiers and has an operating range of about 600 miles. It can land on short, poor runways, is useful for observation and can even be used to drop paratroopers. It is not armed.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy urged Congress today to charter a huge corporation—with shares to be sold to the public and communications firms—to build and run a worldwide space network for radio, television and telephone.

More than $1 billion in first-class voting stock in the "Communications Satellite Corporation" would be made available to the public and communications carriers at not less than $1,000 a share. Other secondary shares could be purchased only by companies in the communications field.

The corporation would be designed to make a profit—ultimately a good one—from the rental of satellite channels to firms such as telephone and telegraph companies and to other authorized organizations, foreign and domestic.

The satellites, as relay stations in space, would open innumerable channels for international communications and make possible ocean-spanning telecasts.

Kennedy set forth the plan in a letter to the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate. The letter accompanied proposed legislation, "the Communications Satellite Act of 1962," that spelled out the details.

There has been controversy and hearings over who should own the projected satellite communication system—the government, a monopoly by one firm or group of firms, or open to all comers.

Kennedy urged today that both the public and the communications carriers be let in on the deal. Last July he announced he was in favor of private ownership. The proposal called for the issue of a million shares of Class A voting stock. While these shares would be eligible for dividends, the payoff might be a long time coming.

Government officials warned that the initial costs of a satellite communications system will be so great that earnings in the first years will be small. Estimates of the costs of such a system range upward from $500 million and it is unlikely to become a profitable venture in less than a decade.

Just when the space network will be a reality is a matter of dispute. The director of the President's Space Council, Dr. E. C. Welsh, has said it will be some years before the system is ready to be launched. Some private companies had testified they could do the job by 1963. Welsh said, however, these companies have changed their tune and now are speaking of 1965.

As forerunners of the program, the United States planned to put four communications satellites in orbit this year.

If Kennedy's proposal should be approved, the government would handle the corporation's satellite launchings. The corporation would pay for the space vehicles and other expenses involved. Kennedy included a number of provisions designed to guard against domination by any one stockholder.

Fifty-Six Known Dead In German Mine Explosion

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP)—A fiery explosion caved in large areas of the Luisenthal coal mine near here today and officials reported 56 miners were killed, 78 injured and 150-200 missing.

The Coal Mine Office of the State of Saarland announced 216 miners in the workings at the time of the blast were rescued or reached safety.

Many of those saved suffered severe injuries. The explosion occurred about 9 a.m. at a depth of 1,500 feet in the so-called Alsbach layer of the mine. The Mining Office blamed the blast on coal dust gas.

The mine is at nearby Voelklingen. Fire and the cave-in of several levels of the mine killed some workers. Others died when a shock wave threw them against pit walls.

"I was thrown back against the walls of the pit by a huge air pressure wave," said a young miner who escaped. "A huge 100-yard long sheet of flame shot from the second level to the fourth down the main shaft," he said. "When it hit the fourth level, there was a gigantic explosion. Most of the men on the fourth level were young kids, learning the mining trade."

Many were trapped by falling debris and hundreds of rescue workers—including elements of the U.S. Army in Germany—struggled to reach them.

About 50 miners were just about to descend into the mine when the explosion occurred. Many fled in panic, but returned later to help with rescue operations.

At the muddy, rain-soaked approach to the mine about 2,000 persons, including many young women, stood with anxious faces. Rescue workers descended into the various shafts every few minutes, while others returned.

"They can only stay below a short time," one official explained. "The fires are out, but there is still some gas below." Returning with black soot-covered clothes, rescue crews now and then brought a stretcher with a dead or injured miner.

FCC Approves WNCT-TV Sale To Roy H. Park

The sale of Greenville television station WNCT-TV to Roy H. Park of Ithaca, N. Y., has been okayed by the Federal Communications Commission.

The agency announced Tuesday in Washington that it had approved an application filed last September.

Park, owner of Roy H. Park Broadcasting Inc., offered $2,557,458 to Carolina Broadcasting System of Greenville for the station.

Park, a Dobson, N. C. native and graduate of North Carolina State College, also has a minority interest in radio station KREB of Shreveport, La.

He heads the Duncan Hines Institute and has other business interests in New York. Carolina Broadcasting President Earl McD. Westbrook of Dunn said his firm "feels fortunate" to have Park operate the station. He said he was "sure he will continue the fine operation. I feel like it's going into good hands."

The cast of the pageant will be dinner guests of the Greenville Moose Lodge at 6 p.m. Saturday. The local lodge also will furnish dressing room facilities for the pageant's participants as well as parking facilities for the Exposition itself.

The stage, located in Raynor-Forbes Warehouse, site of the Exposition, will be decorated to imitate an Indian village in a pine forest.

More than 100 scouters from throughout the East Carolina Council will stage an Indian Pageant at 8 p.m. Saturday—a feature attraction of the Pitt Scout District Exposition.

Narrator and director of the pageant is Leroy Hight of Tarboro, Edgecombe District scout executive. Hight, a native of Oklahoma, has previously directed similar stage productions and Indian dance teams in his native state.

Men and boys participating in the pageant all members of the Coastan Lodge of Order of the Arrow, the honorary camping society of Boy Scouts of America. Women and girls in the production are members of Senior Girl Scout Troop 422 of Greenville and Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 430 of Greenville. Mrs. John Behr is 422's leader. Mrs. Robert Cramer and Mrs. Wyatt Brown are the leaders of 430.

A 100-foot stage has been prepared for the production, the portrayal of a young Indian boy's proving himself as a qualified "brave."

On education, Wheeler said: "I recognize the problems in education and realize that it is necessary that we do all we can to maintain and improve our schools." Wheeler is a former school teacher, having received a teaching diploma from East Carolina College.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served with the U.S. Navy for five years. He has taught in schools at Grimesland and Pink Hill.

A 1948 graduate of ECC in Greenville, Wheeler completed his law degree at Wake Forest College's School of Law in 1953. He served as Grifton's town manager in 1953 before assuming a post as district parole supervisor for the state before passing the State Bar examination and setting up his law practice in Grifton in 1955.

Currently town attorney for Grifton, Wheeler is chairman of the Board of Deacons at the First Christian Church in Grifton. A 32nd degree Mason, Wheeler is a member of the Greenville Moose Lodge, the Kinston Elks Lodge, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

He is married to the former Barbara Faye Moore of the Cox Crossroads section of Pitt County and they reside on St. David Street in Grifton.

Young Democrats Prepare Red Carpet For State-Wide Rally

Pitt County and East Carolina College Young Democrats Tuesday mapped plans for the first YDC state-wide rally to be held east of Raleigh in more than a decade.

More than 75 members of the Pitt and ECC YDC clubs formulated details for spreading the red carpet for National YDC President Allan Howe when he is scheduled to appear as the featured speaker at the rally, scheduled for the Greenville Moose Lodge Feb. 17.

David E. Reid Jr., Greenville attorney and chairman of arrangements for the rally, said 300-350 Young Democrats from across the state are expected to attend the Saturday afternoon-evening affair.

Reid said Howe will speak to the rally at a 7:30 p.m. banquet held in his honor. He noted Howe's visit to Greenville marks the first appearance of a national YDC president in North Carolina for several years.

The Feb. 17 event, to include an afternoon session of the North Carolina YDC executive committee, is sponsored jointly by the Pitt and ECC Young Democrats. William F. Tyson of Stokes is the Pitt Club's president while Miss Ann Frances Allen of Farmville, ECC student, heads the collegiate Democrats.

Another feature of the rally, Reid said, will be a workshop session during the afternoon (4 p.m.) when attending YDC members will discuss organization of Teen-Dem Clubs, the Democratic Party's move to organize young Democrats below age 20.

Other items on the agenda for the rally include a 6:30 p.m. reception honoring the national president and a dance in the Moose Auditorium at 9 o'clock. Registration for the rally is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at the Moose Lodge.

Mrs. Ruth Beddingfield and George Coffman, both of Greenville, were appointed co-chairmen of the Attendance Committee for the rally. Louis Clark of Greenville was named chairman of the Hospitality Committee.

Testing Ground For CD Course

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Terry Sanford called on North Carolinians today to cooperate in the trial run of a new, nationwide medical self-help program as a part of Civil Defense efforts.

The State Civil Defense Office is awaiting arrival of training kits from the U.S. Public Health Service to begin the training.

North Carolina has been selected to conduct pilot courses in communities of varying sizes and structures. Reports will be used in a national evaluation of the program, which is designed to train lay people to give basic health care in the event of an emergency when services of a physician would be unavailable.

Shelter Booklet Is Now Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 30-page booklet, telling how to build home fallout shelters ranging from $75 to $650 is on its way to the American public.

Five million copies are being sent to local and state Civil Defense offices. Defense Department officials said in unveiling the booklet, anyone can get one free by asking for it.

Jenny Makes Her Mind Up

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"I was brain-washed," Jenny Hecht cheerfully asserts.

It is her explanation of how one gets to be an acting fanatic. And the tiny, 18-year-old daughter of author Ben Hecht is without doubt one of the most zealously determined young performers now extant.

"Nobody has to lure me into anything—I'll take any role," declares Jenny. "I don't understand other players my age who aren't as intense as I am."

"I keep joining groups—all kinds of groups from philosophy to dancing. And all I do is prove to myself that acting is all I want to do."

She Gets Her Way
During the past half dozen years the black-eyed 93-pounder has orbited from coast to coast for workouts with summer stock and resident theater groups, plus some TV.

"There are family disputes if I announce I'm going to be in Washington for the next four months or something like that," she says when asked about parental approval.

"But I get my way in theater work because it's the only thing I'm fanatic about. I give in on things like skipping three-inch heels or more layer cake."

Her mother, a former actress, is regarded by Jenny as a good career influence—"She levels me off."

Miss Hecht recently finished shooting in "Katie's Lot," a movie novella about a teen-ager just emerging from tomboy phase. Her performance promptly won her a contract from the producer to star in "The Girl From Fury," an upcoming feature about juvenile delinquency.

Jenny's first role was a movie made when she was 7, but the exposure to show world glamor began three years earlier.

JENNY HECHT
Dedicated at 18

Her godmother was the renowned actress, Constance Collier. The star taught her to recite the poetry of Keats, Byron and Shelley. This, Jenny regards as the "brain-washing phase."

Her current project is "Glamour," a play to be presented in Cleveland, Ohio, during February in test of Broadway prospects.

The drama is an adaptation by her father of a Bertolt Brecht work, based in turn upon a novel by Lion Feuchtwanger.

She Has Method
"I got the part four years ago and I've been waiting ever since," she reports. "Feuchtwanger approved me for the role, and then he died. I think I'm in the poor man's will."

All parts that come along, she vows, are going to be done the way she understands them.

"My studies have included Shakespeare and the Method and I've got a lot of favorite performers. But if I do anything anyone else's way it can't possibly be as good as if I do it for myself."

Queen Breaking Tony In On Royal Family Horse

By MARGARET ANDERSON
LONDON — (WNS) — Lord Snowdon is learning to ride a horse, and the chief tutor is none other than Queen Elizabeth.

Armstrong-Jones, who is notable for his lack of aristocratic attainments, has for some time undergone extensive tutelage in grous shooting while with the royal family at Sandringham, their Scottish country retreat.

Apparently, since he has been moved up to riding instruction, he is now judged able to pass muster in a shooting box, which has first priority with English gentlemen.

The Queen's interest in the equestrian attainments of her brother-in-law stems from her own well-known attachment to horses and racing.

Like Jacqueline Kennedy, the Queen is fond of riding, although she is a less accomplished rider than the President's wife. But Queen Elizabeth's equestrian interests center on breeding and racing, fields in which she is respected for expert knowledge.

When the royal family is at Sandringham, the Queen and the Queen Mother spend much of their time touring the stables and talking with the stable hands.

"The Queen knows every horse in the stables like a member of the family, and Her Majesty seems happiest when making the rounds handing out lumps of sugar and bunches of carrots," a stable hand said.

The Queen rides well but decorously. Unlike Jackie Kennedy and the Duke of Windsor (then the Prince of Wales), she has never been photographed taking a spill.

However genteel may be her equestrian attainments, the Queen knows horses, and the professional ease with which she discusses technical points of breeding and racing frequently astounds her stable executives.

Queen Elizabeth's expert knowledge of equine affairs is not surprising, though, to her auditors. For the Queen, although few know it, turns a tidy profit from the royal stables.

Regularly, she posts winners at Ascot, and, even more lucrative, the Queen's stud at Sandringham is conducted as a straight business enterprise.

Stud fees last year brought in $80,000. This year is expected to be even more profitable.

A canny business woman, Elizabeth has boosted the stud fee for Aureole from $1,200 to $1,800. Aureole won the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot in 1954 and was second in the 1953 derby. The hike makes him one of the most expensive sires at stud.

The Queen also had last year's Derby winner, Psidium, and this horse commands a fee of $1,500. Douteille, another past derby winner, will cost more money this year, his fee rising from $600 to $800.

Sandringham's stud opens February 14, and there is already a long list of applications. The first client will be the Duke of Norfolk, who is sending a gray mare to be matched with one of the royal stallions.

The success of Sandringham's stud, and the Queen's deep personal interest in racing, have been powerful factors in rejuvenating British racing.

It's no secret that while Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip both enjoy ocean yacht racing, this is Philip's sport. The Queen stands up staunchly for her horses, and the result is that British racing has climbed to a crest of sporting interest in this sports-loving country.

Best - Dressed List In Vote And She Didn't Get Vote

By CELESTINE SIBLEY
Women's News Service
Well, now that the Best Dressed announcements have been made I guess I can settle back down and stop worrying about the runs in my stockings, and the funny way the dye ran on those summer shoes I tried to winterize. As usual I didn't get a vote, and furthermore, not a one of my chums was on the list—unless, of course, you count Jackie Kennedy.

She doesn't know me but I reckon I've read an acre and a half of stories entitled "The REAL Jackie Kennedy" in the last year, so I know her. At least I know more about her than I know about some of my close kin. I like her fine, too, so that eases some of my disappointment at the way the Best Dressed list turned out.

But to tell you the truth, I'm about ready to give up on fashion. There was a red hot story out of Washington the other day to the effect that

Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Great Britain and many times a Best Dressed winner, buys her clothes from a rack. I read it avidly but what a letdown! She buys them from racks, all right, but out of department stores.

As far as I can see that's not news. I thought the story was going to say she bought those simple, chic little frocks and splendid ball gowns off racks at the Nearby New Shop, the Thrift House, the Goodwill or the Salvation Army. That would be a story worthy of the space. But new clothes out of department stores, for goodness' sake, that's hardly sporting.

She doesn't even run the risk of a terrible fit or a bum zipper job by some Paris dressmaker. What I would like to see is somebody make old Best Dressed the hard—or cast-off clothes—way.

But I might as well give up. Clearly the New York Dress Institute isn't going to seek my counsel. I guess I can't blame them either—not after the way my flyer into fashion turned out the night Georgia's Gov. Ernest Vandiver made his State of the State speech.

Aubrey Morris, the intrepid radio newsmen, was broadcasting from the House chamber and I got an urgent message that he wanted to see me. I rushed over and Aubrey asked me if I would describe what Mrs. Garland Byrd, beautiful wife of the lieutenant-governor, was wearing.

"We're on live," Aubrey sotto-voiced to me. "Go ahead."

"Wait a minute!" I cried. "Let me ask somebody." So I asked Mrs. Byrd herself. "What is that you've got on?" I asked, standing on tiptoes and peering over the heads of several legislators.

She sort of checked herself and told me a yellow knit dress and I relayed that to the vast radio audience, adding a couple of embellishments of my own about some fringe on the cuffs and beads on her hat. Then I went back to the press table and triumphantly advised my colleagues that I had covered myself with glory. I thought I had, too, I was beginning to dream of a career as the Raymonde Alexander of the air waves.

But all of us have our detractors and wouldn't you know I'd run into one of mine when I was going out for coffee with my boss and several other people?

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" whooped an all-advised young woman con-torting her face in merriment and pointing at me. "You and the fashion bit! I heard you and you made poor Mrs. Byrd sound like she was wearing a gunny sack. Some fashion commentator!"

So nuts to fashion, I say.

Driving Instructors Have Troubles

SYDNEY, Australia—(WNS)—Driving instructors are having trouble getting rid of their female students, it was revealed in a study of student driving habits here.

One Sydney woman took 122 lessons before she got her license and continued demanding instruction until she had had 250 lessons.

"She just liked having someone to sit beside her to give her confidence," one school proprietor said.

Another woman passed her driving test after taking 80 lessons. Her instructor said she had been involved in two car crashes and found it hard to get back her nerve.

A female school teacher insisted on having 10 lessons without touching the car. She simply sat beside the driver and took copious notes.

She became word-perfect in the theory of driving and at the 11th lesson took the wheel, confident she would be able to manage the car without trouble.

"But she had to take 35 lessons before she was roadworthy," the instructor said.

From the 17 candidates chosen to represent campus organizations, the queen will be selected to reign on the basis of a high count vote. Suspense will await candidates until a tally is made before intermission.

Twist versus Tango

PARIS—(WNS)—A poll by French night-club owners uncovered these comments on the merits of twist versus tango.

Melina Mercouri: "I like to dance alone, but I don't like to do it without a partner."

Fernandel: "I'm for the tango, because I like to dance all night. The twist wears me out in five minutes."

Julietta Greco: "I prefer the twist. It's such fun to have the fuss and fidgets with everybody else."

Micheline Presle: "I vote for the tango. The twist gets so monotonous."

Georges Guetary: "When I feel romantic, I love tangos. When I want fun, I pick a twist."

Marcel Achard, the "Shot In The Dark" playwright: "The tango is too old for me, and I'm too old for the twist."

Jean Pierre Aumont: "I'm against both the tango and the twist. They are two extremes."

Roland Petit: "Any beginner can do the twist, but it takes a real dance lover to master the tango."

Jean Seberg: "The twist should be forbidden to all those over 25. The tango is only for adults."

Françoise Sagan: "I don't know from dance to dance."

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Mrs. Thessie Beach and George Keel of Everettts was solemnized Sunday afternoon, January 28, at 3:30 in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton L. Keel in Robersonville. Dr. William Tucker of Wilson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

For this occasion, the house was decorated with pink carnations and white gladioli. Tall palms, burning white tapers, and white glads formed an attractive background in the den where the vows were pledged.

The bride wore a pale blue suit with a gray mink collar and a matching blue hat. Her accessories were black and she had a white orchid corsage.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Keel entertained at a reception.

The table spread with lace was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations flanked by lighted candles. A decorated two tiered cake was at one end of the table. After the bride and groom cut the first slice, Mrs. Virginia Mumford served the guests, while Mrs. Jake Whitley poured the lime punch. The other refreshments were pickles, party mints and salted nuts.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keel said the goodbyes to the 30 relatives and friends.

The bridal couple left for a wedding trip immediately after the reception. They will live in Williamston in the new home of the bride's son, Jerry Beach while the bridegroom's house in Everettts is being remodeled.

Russians Pan Drink; Critics Pan Panners

MOSCOW—(WNS)—Girls who imbibe in Russia are getting a few friendly tips from a new book published by the Soviet State's Medical Publishing House.

The book, "For You, Girls," warns that even a glass or two of whiskey can make girls "lose a sense of proportion, become friendly with little-known people, and then with shame and regret bemoan their fate."

It urges the girls to eat a well-buttered sandwich before drinking. And it warns against mixing water with alcohol because this helps the blood absorb the alcohol quicker.

The Moscow Literary Gazette has panned the book.

A daily bath or shower — plus reaching for soap 'n' water instead of more powder during the day—will do more than anything else toward keeping your complexion clear and glowing.

All-Important Revenue Estimates

Every two years when the North Carolina General Assembly has to estimate the state's revenue in the succeeding biennium, there is the possibility that the estimates will miss the mark by a wide margin.

If the revenues during the biennium prove to be higher than the estimates, it creates a rosy picture because the resulting surplus provides a comfortable cushion for state operations. If, on the other hand, the estimates turn out to be higher than the revenues, a serious problem results because spending for the most part is geared to the revenue estimates.

Particularly are the revenue estimates of critical importance in such a legislative session as that of 1961 in which significant increases in state spending were approved for the two years ahead. The estimates not only involved calculating the amount of revenue to be produced by existing levies, but also the amount which would be produced by proposed new levies which were enacted.

It should be encouraging to North Carolinians that for the first half of the first year of the biennium, revenue estimates have proved fairly accurate when compared with actual revenue collections. If anything, the estimates were slightly on the low side rather than on the high side. In short, the state government is able to operate about as expected with revenues sufficient to offset the increased expenditures approved by the legislature. The state's operations are continuing on a sound financial footing in spite of the increased expenditures.

Changing conditions in the remainder of the biennium could alter the outlook for the state's financial position, but with one-fourth of the biennium now behind us, the revenue and expense figures adopted by the 1961 legislature do not appear to be in need of readjustment to assure the state's winding up the two-year period without going into the red.

State officials should be careful, however, to look for danger signs if revenues would dip below the estimates. They should quickly make adjustments where possible to assure the state will end the biennium without deficit financing for its operations.

Friday's Demo Meet In Raleigh

By LYNN NISBET

DEMOCRATS — The Democratic State Executive Committee has been called to convene at Raleigh on Friday of next week, February 16. The committee at that time will fix the times and places for precinct meetings, county and state conventions, all of which will be held sometime in April or May. The committee also will consider the revised Plan of Organization prepared by a committee headed by Secretary of State Thad Eure. This will be the first time since the original plan was adopted in 1918 that a complete re-write of the whole document has been offered, although it has been amended almost every two years since its adoption. Most significant previous changes perhaps were those made in 1922 to comply with woman suffrage provisions, and those made in 1958 which for the first time recognized affiliation of the Democratic party in North Carolina with the National Democratic organization, and provided for appointment of a platform committee in advance of the convention date.

INFORMED — Chairman Bert Bennett attached to his official call of the committee meeting printed copies of the present Plan of Organization and full text of the proposed revision. This same information went to county chairmen, members of the Congress and other elective officers and party leaders. The purpose is to have the men and women who come to the February 16 meeting as well informed as possible on all the proposed changes.

Party officials have expressed the hope that any Democrat who has a constructive suggestion to offer will see that it gets before the committee. At the same time, they have voiced the hope that consideration can be held to essentials without caviling over details of verbiage.

DIFFERENCES — About two-thirds of the provisions of the present plan are carried forward without change, except in some instances items have been placed at different positions in the whole text. For example, the old plan started out with the state committee, although down in the body of the document it was set out that the unit of party organization is the precinct. The next text opens with the precinct organization and works up through county and districts to the state.

Earlier texts of the plan had shown such desire to protect women they eliminated all protect for men. For instance, it was provided that at least two members of some committees and at least one official should be a woman. There was nothing to prevent all of 'em being females. The new version says when there must be at least two women there must also be at least two men.

The new plan provides for disciplinary procedure against party officials who defect, but there is nothing to suggest imposition of a "loyalty oath" on rank and file party members. Discipline of officials extends only to office in the party organization, not to the ballot box.

Other major changes include elimination of proxy voting at any committee meeting, and establishment of 90 per cent membership attendance as a quorum for committees. Another important change is provision for county chairmen and vice chairmen in each congressional district to name one man and one woman from each district to comprise a state campaign committee. Heretofore such committee has been named by the state chairman, and could possibly all come from one county.

MINOR — There are numerous less significant changes, such as reduction in convention voting strength of precincts and counties and earlier fixing of convention dates. The old plan accords one vote in the county convention for every 25 votes cast in the precinct for the Democratic Governor in the last election; and allows one county vote in the state convention for every 150 votes cast in the county for the Democratic Governor. The new plan cuts this representation in half, giving the precinct one vote for every 50 and the county one for every 300 votes cast for Governor.

The old plan requires a meeting of the state committee on or before March 10 of each election year to fix time and place for party meetings. The new text moves that deadline back to January 15.

The old plan gives full authority to the executive committee for adopting and amending the Plan of Organization. The new text leaves that original authority in the committee, but adds a proviso that all changes shall be submitted to the state convention for appropriate action. Any rules adopted by the committee will hold until the convention meets. Then if the convention so desires it can amend or repeal any of the committee's actions.

THOROUGH — Opinion generally expressed hereabouts is that the committee did a very thorough job on revamping the Plan. Members of the committee, in addition to Chairman Thad Eure, are: L. J. Phipps, Chapel Hill; Robert E. (Fleet) Williams, Raleigh; T. Wade Bruton, attorney general; John Warren, Charlotte; Mrs. O. Max Gardner, Shelby; and Mrs. Leonard Lloyd of Robbinville.

You May Live Longer On Piedmont Roads

From the planning division of the State Highway Commission have come interesting statistics which the experts say show chances of accidents on old-type highways of the state are one in every 303,000 miles while on a controlled access superhighway the rate is only one accident in every 1.6 million miles.

Interpreting the figures, the experts say they mean that on old type highways each motorist may expect to have one or two accidents in his lifetime. On the superhighways the chances of having an accident is only one in every three lifetimes.

All that sounds good and makes us wish all our highways were of the "super" variety for safety's sake.

But we must live with the reality that for a good many years (maybe several lifetimes) most of the traveling in Eastern North Carolina will still be done on old-type highways, unless our motorists stop going anywhere, or unless the Highway Commission decides to put as much emphasis on superhighways in the Eastern section as they have been according to the Piedmont part of the state.

Personal Touch In Travel Tours

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has picked up what President Eisenhower started—the informal, personal, and even family touch in foreign affairs—and added some touches of his own.

His most glittering addition has been the decision to let his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, make a goodwill trip to India and Pakistan next month.

Even Premier Khrushchev seems taken by the idea of making use of somebody besides ambassadors in foreign dealings.

He sent his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubel, editor of Izvestia, over here last November to interview Kennedy. Last week Adzhubel came back for a three-hour luncheon at the White House.

President Truman, except at the beginning of his presidency, stayed pretty much to home, as did most of his predecessors except for the trips of Presidents Roosevelt and Wilson as a result of war.

Eisenhower in his first year traveled to Canada, Mexico and Bermuda on official business.

Kennedy traveled even more in his first 12 months: to Canada, Bermuda, England, France, Austria to see Khrushchev, Colombia, and Venezuela. Eisenhower did much more traveling later in his presidency. Kennedy is a cinch to do more too.

In his first year Eisenhower used his family in foreign affairs, sending his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, to Latin America on a fact-finding mission.

Also in 1953 he sent Vice President Richard M. Nixon on a goodwill visit to Asia.

Kennedy in his first year sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on a goodwill journey to Asia. Now the president's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is making a 26-day goodwill trip through Asia and Europe.

This month the president's youngest brother, Edward M. Kennedy, is to go to Poland. But this has been described as a private trip with no arrangements for meeting the Communist leaders there. Earlier last year the President sent both brothers, Edward and Robert, to Africa on separate missions. His brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, visited South America in behalf of the Peace Corps he heads.

Sisters Jean Smith and Eunice Shriver took a vacation behind the Iron Curtain but managed to have tea with the wife of Yugoslavia's President Tito.

The Kennedy family is a big one and before the President's term is up the various members of it ought to cover a lot of international real estate.

Compared with today's jet-traveling world leaders, Stalin was a stay-at-home except for his wartime conferences with Roosevelt. It was the extroverted Khrushchev who put the personal touch by personal visit into Soviet foreign affairs.

Maybe he got the traveling idea from Eisenhower. Perhaps he thought of it himself. But he became quite a traveler, although he didn't start moving around until 1955. Then he made up for lost time.

Kennedy and Khrushchev have used their press relations men to work out some pretty important arrangements.

Last June 24 Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, appeared on a TV debate in New York with Adzhubel and Mikheil Khilashvili, press officer of the Soviet Foreign Ministry, discussing the role of the press.

All three then came to Washington and for a couple of days talked about ways to improve communications between the United States and Russia.

Out of this discussion, which was right after Khrushchev had given interviews to three American newsmen in Russia, came the idea for Adzhubel's interview with Kennedy in November, the text of which was printed in Russia.

All this, of course, had Khrushchev's approval. There can hardly be any doubt he picked his son-in-law, who is also a member of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee, to do the interviewing.

Last week, while Adzhubel was here to lunch with Kennedy, it was announced that Salinger has been invited to visit Russia later this year. He'll go, with Kennedy's full approval.

Public Forum

TO THE EDITOR:

Urban Renewal and Urban Redevelopment are the most controversial issues ever of this community. Urban Redevelopment entails absolute demolition and reconstruction. The elderly citizens' proposed compulsive loss of home, the ashes of their fathers and the temples of their Gods, were fanned into deepest emotions.

By virtue of power of the New Deal, deeds have lost their significance and Seal of State ceases to seal and guarantee security of real estate investments. The solidity of everything seems upset.

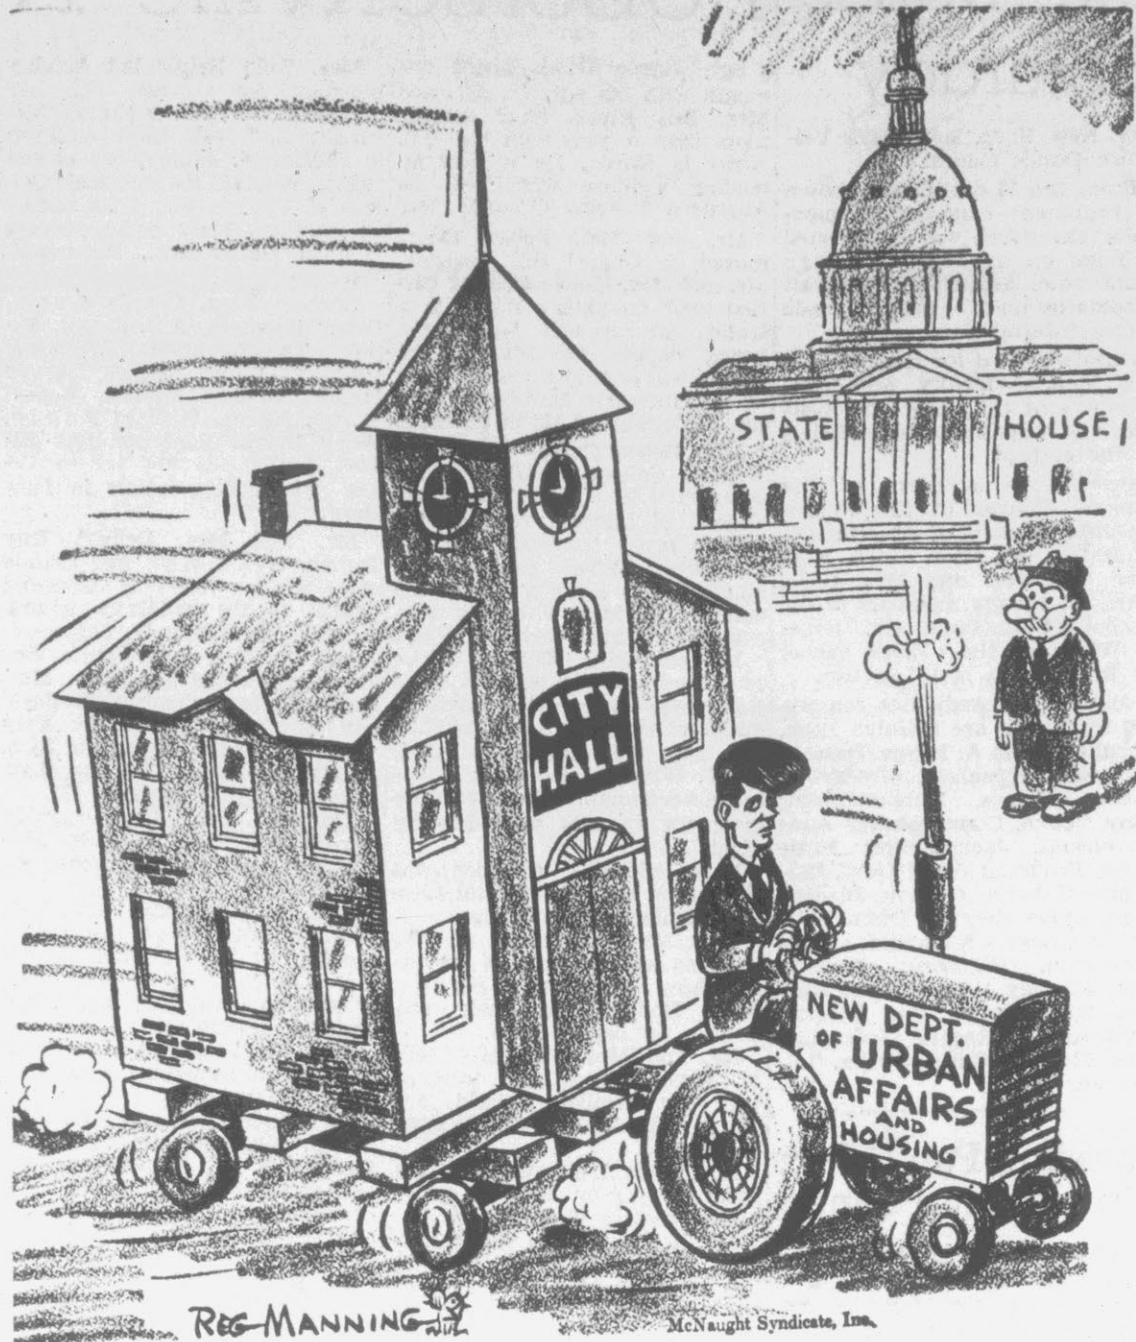

While the stage of insecurity shuffles in suspense, many of the best citizens, living in the target area, awaiting transit out into a colony (at undisclosed location) against their will or consent, to start life all over again, many have under pressure recently succumbed to hypertension, heart attacks and heartbreak. What is offered in recompense for our homes and our suffering? We are reminded that man cannot live by bread or material substances alone. He is made of mind and matter.

In my opinion, the greater need is progress in moral and spiritual ideology preserving a healthy State of the Union — a nation indivisible. Eliminating violent internal combustions which blast open avenues for infiltrations of "isms" and revolutions which plague other lands.

Let us keep our Beloved United States truly united in brotherly consideration with freedom and justice for all. MRS. ELLEN BOYD HUSSEY

Another Move to Washington

By ALVIN TAYLOR

A Visit To Yesteryear

A newspaper's main concern is with the immediate happenings of the day but frequently, through its features, it takes a look backwards at items of yesteryear.

Such stories prove of interest to younger readers who perhaps weren't born during the times the stories discuss. They are of particular interest, however, to older readers who recall the days gone by.

Such was the case with a January 27 feature in the Daily Reflector by Marti Martin. This story told of the Bethel Academy which was operated in the Pitt County town at the turn of the century by Prof. Zack McWhorter.

The story brought back fond memories for my mother's brother, W. Linwood Bailey of Nashville. He recalled in a letter to my mother that he and another sister, Daisy, attended school there.

In the letter, he said, "I recall Daisy and a Herbert Salisbury from Hamilton in a commencement program had to sing a song and then do a cakewalk together across the stage two or three times and it brought down the house . . .

I even remember the kind of hat Aunt Henrietta (who operated a millinery shop in Bethel) fixed for her for this occasion. It was a wide brim with a ribbon that tied under her throat and it was beautiful."

"That same year I was on a debating team. John David Bryant was my partner and Judson Blount and Joe Bowers were on the other side. It was a split decision as I remember, but they were the good old days and I am going to keep all these pictures and thank you for sending them to me."

My Uncle Linwood was born and raised near Bethel. Later he was in the general merchandising business in Hobbins. For the past 20 years he has been with the Cotton Growers Cooperative Warehouse, Inc. first as a manager of the warehouse in Nashville and now as a field manager to train and supervise warehouse managers.

Late in life he entered politics without even trying. He was elected to the town commission of Nashville on a write-in vote even though he was not a candidate.

He is married to the former Eva Cherry of Bethel.

Uncle Linwood carved a successful career with the Cotton Growers Cooperative Warehouse, Inc. after he had passed 50 years of age. The new career also came after he had suffered severe injuries in an auto wreck as he returned from a football game. The injuries left him partially crippled but today in his 70s, he travels to various Eastern North Carolina towns where the warehouses are located.

Active as he is, he is most proud of the fact that a son, grandson and a nephew have received Man of the Year Awards in three Eastern Carolina towns within the past few years.

The son, Herbert Bailey received the award in Tarboro. The grandson, Albert House Jr. received Man of the Year honors in Roanoke Rapids. The nephew, W. C. Taylor Jr., was so honored in Greenville in 1959.

GREAT WORLD FIGURES

Some years ago an Arab boy walking in the vicinity of the Dead Sea threw a stone into a small cave opening in the side of a mountain and to his amazement heard a distinct "ping" as if the pebble had struck crockery. It had. The Dead Sea Scrolls were thereafter discovered and the world's best scholars are now working on them to find out their full significance.

Dr. Fleming, an English physician, once left a saucer of fluid on an upper shelf in a laboratory and to his annoyance later found that it had developed a coat of mold. But at the moment he discovered the mold he also discovered penicillin, as a result.

Some years ago Albert Einstein asked himself whether or not the conclusions of Sir Isaac Newton were all sound and correct. Thereupon followed one of the greatest discoveries in human thinking. Albert Einstein, an unknown person, went to the head of the class. He will always be recognized as one of the twelve greatest human beings that ever lived.

The "ping," the mold in the saucer, the "I wonder" attitude of a mathematician toward the findings of the great mathematical idol Newton before whom the world has prostrated itself for generations! God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform. And so often the greatest results from the most insignificant beginnings.

It is easy for the critic to decide what is best in each situation at each moment, but the critic possesses neither the authority nor the responsibility, nor do his words of wisdom afford any help.

Nikita Walks In Peril

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1962, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Nikita Khrushchev is doing everything to woo the Kennedy Administration. It grows increasingly obvious that he goes as far as he dares. His son-in-law is not staying in these parts because he prefers the climate; what he seeks is a way to keep the lines of communications open.

Khrushchev's days are numbered and he knows it. He also knows that the United States and Great Britain knows that whoever follows Khrushchev will be an Albanian, which means that he will favor immediate war upon the United States. Khrushchev also knows that in such a war, the combination of states in Europe will be economically antagonistic to the United States.

The play, at the moment, is a big one and can easily be lost. If it is lost by Khrushchev, it will not be won by the United States. It will be won by Mao Tze-tung and the old Stalinist gang. Khrushchev dares not indicate a pro-American policy lest he be accused of betraying the Communist Revolution. Khrushchev's daughter and son-in-law are not important political figures; therefore they are being used to keep lines of communications open. Anyone who knows Communist techniques must realize that when Gromyko is by-passed, when the Embassy is by-passed and an Izvestia editor, married to Khrushchev's daughter, is employed to keep open lines of communications, the political situation inside Russia is bad and that trustworthiness is measured carefully.

From Khrushchev's standpoint, there must be no errors, because the slightest wrong move and the Albanians will end Khrushchev's political career.

From an American standpoint, two questions cannot be ignored. Either we make war or we avoid war. There is no way to miss the question of war and President Kennedy cannot evade this fact. Either he commands a war on Russia or he avoids one. Therefore both Khrushchev and Kennedy face the same problem — war. Either they fight or they come to terms.

2. From an American standpoint, if we do not want war, are we better off with Khrushchev or with Molotov, Suslov, or Mao Tze-tung. Here a decision has to be made. Recognizing that Khrushchev is a boor, we still have to ask ourselves if our peril is not greater if one of the others indicated above should manage to succeed him.

On the other hand, if we desire war, it makes little difference for us who is in control in Russia. But our problem nevertheless is to choose time and place without being forced by Soviet Russia to take a position where we cannot possibly win. This means calm and sure thinking, the cold calculations which marked the genius of Napoleon's marshals.

While the position of our government must be anti-Communist, we must make distinction between Khrushchev and the Albanians. It might be suggested with a good measure of correctness that every time trouble starts in Russia, we bail out the Russian leader as we did Stalin in 1939. On the other hand, there can be no doubt but that if Khrushchev falls, we shall have immediate war.

Suppose that hypothesis is wrong, the President risks his own political future. But if the hypothesis is right, the President may by diplomatic steps, prevent the violently anti-American Albanians from gaining control of the Soviet Universal State. In a word, if we ally ourselves with Khrushchev, we may bring Mao Tze-tung into total power in the Soviet Universal State.

So great is American power that we can do for Mao Tze-tung vis-a-vis Khrushchev what we did for Castro vis-a-vis Batista. The President has to make a final decision with regard to this. In the year 1962, any decision he makes will have about it a dangerous finality. Each decision may be an error and each error must lead to war.

Demos Hint Explosions In Stockpiling Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats hinted broadly today they believe they have found the fuse for some political explosions against the Republicans in the forthcoming stockpiling inquiry.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota told an informal news conference Tuesday he expects some "interesting revelations" when a committee headed by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., inquires into what President Kennedy calls the excessive storage of strategic materials.

While Humphrey would not elaborate, it was learned from other sources the Democrats expect some high figures of the Eisenhower administration to be illuminated in an unfavorable political light by disclosures before the Symington committee.

It was emphasized that preliminary investigations have disclosed no illegalities. But there was said to be ample evidence of what Kennedy said could prove to be "unconscionable" profits.

As an example, a senator who didn't want to be quoted by name said he had been informed that agreements had been made under which processing plants had been built and accelerated depreciation granted. A high price set on the product to finance its production was not reduced after the plant had been fully depreciated for tax purposes.

Republicans—and some Democrats—think the inquiry will cut both ways politically. They say the blame for the failure of the government to get lower prices and its purchase of excessive amounts of materials will fall on members of both parties.

They note that the program got its first impetus under the Truman administration, with which Symington was associated as secretary of the Air Force, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, and Reconstruction Finance Corp. administrator.

In one aspect of the stockpiling matter, the General Services Administration said Tuesday it had sold 3.4 million pounds of feathers from storage since October 1960. This announcement came after Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del. had let it be known he had asked GSA for a report on whether it had sold two million pounds of deteriorated feathers and down which Congress had authorized it to dispose of last September.

GSA declined to say how much it had got for the material it sold. Symington told the Senate last fall that the average cost to GSA of feathers was $2.25 a pound and $6 for down.

He said there had been sales in August 1961 at $1.04 a pound for feathers and $3.37 a pound for down.

Williams contended that some of the feathers and down had been bought on the black market during price controls in effect in the Korean War era. He said the price of feathers had shot up from 90 cents to $2.25 a pound in a short time.

Flying Saucers Remain Myth In Air Force Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — They might have been birds, balloons, hoaxes or unusual sky lights—but not spacecraft from other planets.

That is the word from the Air Force today after 15 years of investigating flying saucer reports. It said there was no evidence that any of the 7,369 unidentified flying objects checked on were spaceships swooping in from distant planets.

To date, no unidentified flying object—UFO—has given any indication of threat to the national security, the Air Force concluded in summing up its investigations from 1947 through last year.

It said its "Project Blue Book" has turned up no evidence that any of the unidentified sightings represented technological advances "beyond the range of our present day scientific knowledge," or that any of the UFO's were "Extraterrestrial vehicles under intelligent controls."

During 1961, the Air Force's office of aerial phenomena probed into 488 UFO reports—26 fewer than the year before.

At year's end, only 10 of the 1961 sightings still were classified as unidentified. Most of the rest were traced to aircraft, balloons, satellites, astronomical phenomena, birds, lights, hoaxes and other causes.

The report disclosed that a new experimental beacon designed to prevent airliner collisions has been mistaken by some persons as an unidentified flying object. The beacon is intense and flashes for a fraction of a second.

"It has been seen as much as 50 miles away and at that distance only the light could be seen, thereby producing a rather startling sight," the Air Force said.

Recently, too, there were widespread reports to the Air Force of flashing objects in the sky. Investigation revealed that these were caused by the earth's passing through meteor showers, the report said.

Exhibiting Work Of D.M. Merrick Here

Paintings, drawings, and prints by D. M. Merrick of the Richmond Professional Institute of the College of William and Mary, Richmond, Va., are being shown during February in the Hallway Gallery, Rawl Building, at East Carolina College. The exhibition is sponsored by the Department of Art, at the college here and is open to the public.

A native of Minnesota, Mr. Merrick received his training in art at the Art Institute of Chicago, the Minneapolis School of Art, the University of New Mexico, and the University of Chicago.

After a year of teaching at the University of Missouri, he joined the staff of the Richmond Professional Institute in 1959 and since that time has taught design and drawing there.

As an artist, he has received wide recognition. His work has been exhibited in a one-man show at the University of Virginia and in such events as the Southeastern Annual Exhibition in Atlanta, Ga.; the Pennsylvania Academy Annual Exhibition; and the Mid-America Show in Kansas City, Mo.

In 1961 he was awarded a purchase prize and two awards of distinction in the Virginia Biennial Exhibition at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond.

The current exhibition at East Carolina includes twelve oil paintings, a watercolor and a print, and four drawings.

The work being shown are characterized by a figurative style complemented by emphasis on structural qualities of painting. Some are built around a limited and subtle color theme, while others employ brilliant contrasts of color.

Tiros Satellite Launch Held Up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Technical troubles with the Thor-Delta booster rocket forced a second straight postponement of the Tiros IV weather satellite today.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the postponement after the countdown had progressed at one time to within two minutes of launch.

It was not learned if the troubles were the same that caused the shot to be put off Tuesday. No new launching date was set immediately.

Argentina Will Break Cuba Ties

By NAON ABRAMOVICH BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina will break relations with Cuban's Communist regime later this week, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Tuesday night.

The report, which the spokesman said was unofficial, coincided with a boycott by Argentina's three service secretaries and 24 top military officers of a banquet President Arturo Frondizi gave for visiting ex-King Leopold of Belgium.

Instead, the military leaders held a meeting reportedly to discuss the government's attitude to their demands that Argentina's foreign policy be swung to the right. Military sources said the military leaders intend to boycott all such functions until Argentina breaks with Fidel Castro's regime.

The military began pressuring Frondizi for a break with Cuba after Argentina and five other nations at the Inter-American conference last week abstained on a resolution ordering expulsion of the Cuban government from the Organization of American States.

In an effort to appease the military, Frondizi recalled the Argentine ambassador to Havana but reportedly favored a gradual approach to a full break with Castro.

CHAPTER 21
At Police Headquarters, James Bond went to the Commissioner's room.

He found Commissioner Harling at his desk with his coat off, dictating to a police sergeant. He dismissed him, pushed a box of cigarettes over his desk to Bond, and lit one himself. He smiled quizzically. "Any progress?"

Bond told him that the trace on the Largo group had been negative and that they had called on Largo and gone over the Disco with a Geiger counter. This also had been negative. Bond still wasn't satisfied.

He told the Commissioner what he wanted to know about the fuel capacity of the Disco and the exact location of the fuel tanks. The Commissioner nodded amiably and picked up the telephone. He asked for a Sergeant Molony of the Harbor Police.

He cradled the receiver and explained, "We check all fueling. This is a narrow harbor crammed with small craft, deep-sea fishing boats, and so on. Quite a fire hazard if something went wrong. We like to know what everyone is carrying and whereabouts in the ship. Just in case there's some fire-fighting to be done or we want a particular ship to get out of range in a hurry."

He went back to the telephone. "Sergeant Molony?" He repeated Bond's questions, listened, said thank you, and put the receiver down.

"She carries a maximum of five hundred gallons of Diesel," Harling said. "Took that amount on the afternoon of June 2nd. She also carries about forty gallons of lubricating oil and a hundred gallons of drinking water—all carried amidships just forward of the engine room. That what you want?"

This made nonsense of Largo's talk of lateral tanks and the difficult ballast problem and so forth. Of course he could have wanted to keep some secret treasure-hunting gear out of sight of the visitors, but at least there was something on board he wanted to hide, and for all his show of openness, it was not established that Mr. Largo might be a rich treasure hunter, but he was also an unreliable witness.

Now Bond's mind was made up. It was the hull of the ship he wanted to have a look at. Letter's mention of the Oterra had been a long shot, but it just might pay off.

Bond passed on a guarded version of his thoughts to the Commissioner. He told him where the Disco would be lying that night. Was there on the force a totally reliable man who could give him a hand with his underwater recon, and was there a sound aqualung, fully charged and available?

"Of course you shall have what you want, Commander. Yes, we've got plenty of what you want. We've got twenty men in the Harbor Salvage Unit. Have to. You'd be surprised how often a small boat gets wrecked in the fairway, just where some cruise ship's going to anchor. And of course there's the occasional body. I'll have Constable Santos assigned to you. Spendid chap. Native of Eleuthera, where he used to win all the swimming prizes. He'll have the gear you want where you want it. Now just give me the details..."

Back in his hotel, Bond took a shower and threw himself down on his bed. He felt absolutely beat. He went out like a light—to dream of Domino being pursued by a shark with dazzling white teeth that suddenly became Largo, Largo who turned on him with those huge hands. They were coming closer, they reached slowly for him, they had him by the shoulder. . . . But then the bell rang for the end of the round, and went on ringing.

Bond reached out for the receiver. It was Letter. What the hell was Bond doing?

The Pineapple Room was paneled in bamboo carefully varnished against termites. The barman and the two waiters wore scarlet satin calypso shirts with their black trousers.

Bond joined Letter at a corner table. They both wore white dinner jackets with their dress trousers. Bond had pointed up his rich, property-seeking status with a wine-red cummerbund. Letter laughed. "I nearly had a gold-plated bicycle chain round my waist in case of trouble, but I remembered just in time that I'm a peaceful lawyer. Waiter!"

Letter ordered two dry martinis. When the waiter had disappeared Bond said, "Dare say I'm taking it all too seriously, but there's something fishy going on around here. I checked up on that fuel problem and Largo certainly told us a lie."

Bond gave the details of what he had learned at police headquarters. "I feel I've got to make sure tonight. You realize there's only about seventy hours to go? If I find anything, I suggest tomorrow we take a small plane and really run a search over as much of the area as we can. That plane's a big thing to hide even under water. You still got your license?"

"Sure, sure," Letter shrugged his shoulders. "I'll go along with you. Of course I will. If we find anything, perhaps the signal I got this evening won't look so damned silly after all."

Bond alerted. "What was that?"

Letter took a drink and gazed morosely into his glass. "Well, for my money it's just so much more attitudinizing by those Pentagon chair warmers. But a circular has been sent to all our men on this job saying that the Army and the Navy and the Air Force are holding themselves ready to give full support to C.I.A. if anything turns up. Think of that, dammit!"

Letter looked angrily at Bond. "Think of the waste of fuel and manpower that must be going on all over the world keeping all these units at readiness! Just to show you, know what I've been allocated as my striking force?"

Letter gave a harsh, derisive laugh. "Half squadron of Super Sabre fighter bombers from Pensacola, and—" Letter stabbed at Bond's forehead with a hard finger—"and, my friend, the Manta! Our latest atomic submarine!"

When Bond smiled at all this vehemence, Letter continued more reasonably. "Mark you, it's not quite so idiotic as it sounds. These Sabres are on anti-submarine sweep duties anyway. Carrying depth charges. They have to be at readiness. And the Manta happens to be on some sort of training cruise in the area. But I ask you! Here's all these million dollars' worth of material on instant call from Ensign Letter, commanding Room 201 in the Royal Bahamian Hotel! Not bad!"

Bond shrugged his shoulders. "Seems to me your President is taking all this a bit more seriously than his man in Nassau. I suppose our Chiefs of Staff have weighed in with our stuff on the other side of the Atlantic. Anyway, no harm in having the big battalions in the offing just in case Nassau Casino happens to be Target No. 1. By the way, what ideas have your people got about these targets? What have you got in this part of the world that fits in with SPECTRE's letter? We've only got the joint rocket base at a place called Northwest Cay at the eastern end of the Grand Bahamas. That's about a hundred and fifty miles north of here. Apparently the gear and prototypes we and your people have got there would easily be worth $100,000,000."

"The only possible targets I've been given are Cape Canaveral, the naval base at Pensacola, and, if the party really is going to take place in this area, Miami for target No. 2, with Tampa as a possible runner-up. SPECTRE used the words 'a piece of property belonging to the Western Powers.' That sounds like some kind of installation to me. A rocket base would fit all right. If we're got to take this thing seriously, I'd lay odds on Canaveral or this place on Grand Bahama."

James Bond has a means of tricking Emilio Largo into an admission of his connection with SPECTRE. Continue the story to a climax tomorrow.

Dislikes Source Of His Income

DUXBURY, Mass. (AP)—Eighty-six-year-old H. E. Merry isn't fond of chickens or eggs, but they're providing a pretty good living for him in his retirement.

When Merry retired from the meat business 10 years ago, he began raising Rhode Island Red chickens and selling "extra large eggs." He says seven of every dozen are double-yolked. He has peddled as many as 215 dozen in a week.

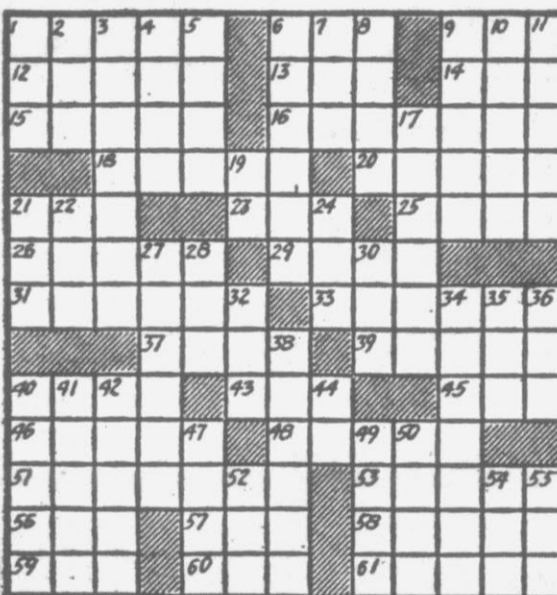

Even so, Merry says, "I dislike both eggs and chickens."

Castro Complaint Appears Doomed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuba's charge in the United Nations that the United States is planning new aggression against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime appears fated to wind up as an oratorical exercise with the General Assembly taking no action whatever.

The United States had made plain that it will oppose any resolution related to the Cuban charges no matter how mild or vaguely worded.

The U.S. stand is expected to get support from virtually all the Latin American and West European members and a good portion of the 50-member Asian-African group.

The General Assembly's main political committee, which recessed for a day so that members could wade through the mass of charges and counter charges delivered at the opening session Monday, scheduled two debate sessions today.

Chairman Mario Amadeo of Argentina was reported having trouble getting anyone to take part in the Cuban debate. Only Communist Romania and Guatemala were scheduled to speak.

Cuba and its Soviet bloc backers have been trying to frame a resolution that would command the two-thirds majority needed for approval in the 104-nation assembly, but they apparently have received little encouragement.

A resolution by Communist Czechoslovakia and Romania calling on the United States to stop interfering in Cuba has run into sharp Western resistance.

The Cubans have been trying to drum up support for a much milder proposal to be sponsored by nations of Asia and Africa. It would not name Cuba or the United States but merely note that the U.N. charter calls for equal rights and self-determination of nations.

Informants said, however, that most members of the Asian-African group were opposed to taking any part in the Western Hemisphere dispute and had made clear they would not support any such resolution.

Cuba's Latin-American neighbors were said to have rallied behind the United States and given assurance they would not vote for any resolution, strong or mild.

Promotions For Senior Cadets

Two senior cadet officers in the AFROTC at East Carolina College have been promoted to the rank of Cadet Major. These are Cadets Erhard G. Weis, of Rt. 14, Richmond, Va., and Kenneth G. Alexander of Jacksonville, N.C. These two cadets are in their final year of AFROTC, and look forward to commissions in the United States Air Force as Second Lieutenants.

Cadet Major Weis is enrolled in the Flight Instructional Program, and flies twice a week at the local airport under the auspices of the USAF. Upon graduation, he will be commissioned as a pilot trainee in the Air Force, and is presently assigned the duties of Group Operations Officer.

Cadet Major Weis has, in his AFROTC career, been awarded the Marksmanship Medal and the Sons of American Revolution Medal, for outstanding leadership, military bearing, and excellence in college and AFROTC academics.

Cadet Major Alexander is presently assigned duties as Material Officer for the Cadet Group. Earlier he won the Outstanding Service Medal, for outstanding service during the East Carolina AFROTC detachment's 1961 Marchathon for the March of Dimes campaign in Pitt County; the Outstanding Achievement Medal, for services in the 1960 Marchathon; and the Competitive Drill Award, for being selected the best-drilled cadet in the basic corps.

Both Cadets are members of the Arnold Air Society.

For Country

NARA, Japan (AP)—Buddhist priests asked Robert F. Kennedy to burn incense today at Nara's most famous temple, the world's largest wooden structure.

The U.S. attorney general turned to Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer, an expert on Japan, and asked him the significance. Reischauer replied that burning the incense would show respect for Buddhism but would not connote worship.

"Well, if I get kicked out—," Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, replied with a grin as he lit the incense.

Buy Film Rights To Stage Hit For $5.5 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After nearly five months of negotiation, Warner Bros. has bought the screen rights to the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady." It cost the studio a record $5.5 million.

The transaction was made public Tuesday in a joint announcement by Jack L. Warner, studio president, and William S. Paley, chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

CBS is the majority owner of the Alan Jay Lerner-Fredrick Loewe musical, based on George Bernard Shaw's play "Pygmalion."

Warner Bros. also agreed to pay 47 1/2 per cent of the film's gross over $20 million and five per cent of the distributors' gross to Shaw's estate.

Industry said the previous record price for movie rights to a play was the $2,270,000 that 20th Century-Fox paid for "South Pacific."

Halstones as big as grapefruits fell in a Nebraska storm a few years ago.

Mourners Will Get $10 Each

LAFER, Mich. (AP)—The 75 mourners at John R. Rood's funeral last December are to get $10 each for having been present.

Rood, former University of Michigan law professor, made the bequests "as a slight testimonial of my appreciation for their friendship."

Rood died at 93 last Dec. 23 of burns suffered in a fire that destroyed his palatial home. Most of his half-million dollar estate was left to a trust fund.

Report Rash Of Arrests In Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Reliable sources said Tuesday 80 persons have been arrested by the Ghana government since last Thursday. An opposition member of Parliament, Daniel Apehoh, was said to be among those detained.

The reports could not be officially confirmed.

Knowles Scores 37 Points

Cardinals Top Phants 75-68

JACKSONVILLE—The Rose High School Cardinals suffered their third conference loss of the season last night when a fired up Jacksonville team came out on top 75-68.

The Greenville team was led by Rodney Knowles in the scoring department. The big 6-foot 7-inch sophomore scored 37 points for the Phantoms which was his high game of the season and boosted his average from 21.3 to 22.9 for the season.

Tied At 18-18

The score was tied up at the end of the first period of play 18-18. However, during the second quarter the Cardinals of Jacksonville managed to outscore the Phantoms for a halftime lead of two points with the score 35-33.

During the third period the Greenville boys were able to move out in front and by the end of the quarter the Phantoms held a one point advantage. However, the Cardinals came back fighting for the win, which they were able to get.

Jacksonville outscored Greenville in the final period of play by eight points, picking up 27 points to the 19 gained by the Phantoms.

Greenville Foul Trouble

Two of the Phantom players ran into foul trouble during the second half. Alan McArthur and Kroghie Andresen both fouled out of the game. However, Andresen was still the second high scorer for Greenville with 10 points.

Topping the scoring column for Jacksonville was Jim Henson with 31 points for the Cardinals. He hit on 10 field goals and 11 of 19 free throws. Others hitting in the double figures for the Cardinals were William Davis was 14, Phil Harris with 11 and Fred Willett with 10.

Phant JV Wins

Earlier in the night the Greenville junior varsity team downed the Jacksonville junior varsity 46-44 behind the fine shooting of Chester Walden.

The junior Cardinals held the young Phants to three points in the first period of play to the 11 points scored by Jacksonville. By the end of the first half the Cardinals held a seven point lead with the score 23-16.

However, the Greenville boys rallied in the second half to outscore their opponents and win the game. In the third period the Phantoms gained 17 points to the 14 picked up by Jacksonville. In the final quarter the junior Phants again outscored their opponents to win the game.

Walden High Scorer

Walden was the high scorer for Greenville with 28 points. He hit on 11 field goal attempts and six of eight free throws for the total. He was the only Phantom player to hit in the double figures.

Topping the scoring column for Jacksonville was Roy Wiggins with 33 points. He dropped in 13 from the floor and seven out of 12 from the line.

The next game for Green- ville will be Friday night when the Phantoms host New Bern. On Saturday night Greenville will travel to Roanoke Rapids for a makeup game.

ECC Grid Team Begins Winter Drills Tomorrow

East Carolina's new head football coach, Clarence Stasavich, will take his first good look at his new charges when the grid Pirates take to the practice field tomorrow afternoon as the winter drills get underway.

The rule for winter practice states that 20 sessions may be held in a 36 day period. However, exam week does not count in the 36 day period and this is the reason Coach Stasavich moved the starting date. Practice was originally scheduled to begin next Monday.

Switch To Single Wing

One of the biggest things on the agenda is for the current members of the squad to switch from the T-formation to the single-wing.

The new Pirate mentor said today that the first couple of days will be mostly a "get acquainted" period and that the players will be learning some of the drills to be used. The coach added that it would probably be Monday before the team gets down to football.

In commenting on the 36-day period, Stasavich said he hoped that the 20 days of practice could be accomplished without working on Saturdays. However, the coach noted that should the weather interfere, it would be necessary to hold Saturday drills.

The practice sessions are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. with a skull session lasting for about thirty minutes. During this period the coaches and the team will discuss the things they plan to cover on the field that day. The plan is to be on the field shortly after 3 o'clock and practice until about five.

Won't Hinder Studies

Stasavich said he did not want to hinder the academic work of the team members with the winter drills. "As far as some of the boys are concerned, they will need to put a lot of time on their school work during the next couple of weeks before exams and I want to give them that opportunity," the coach noted.

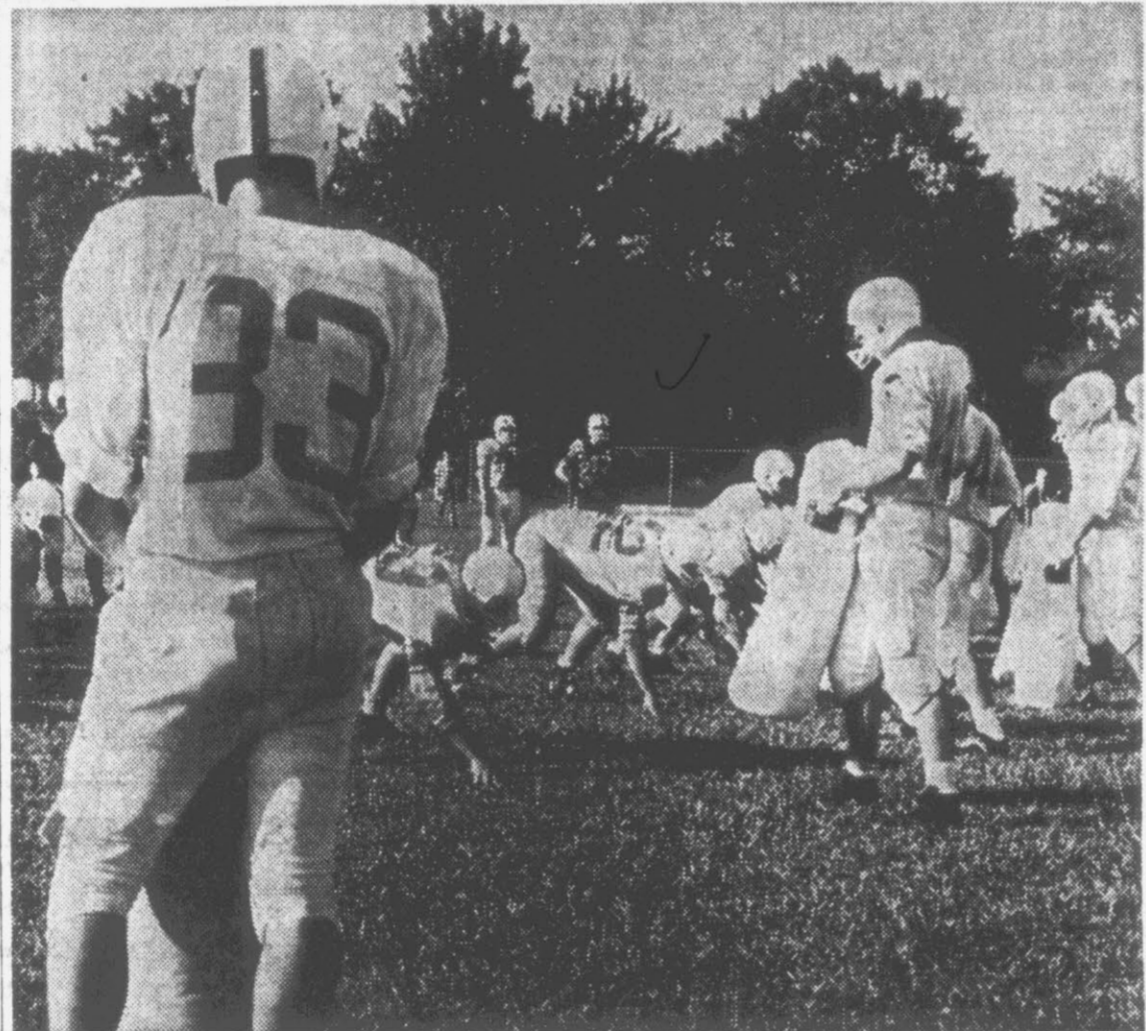

The new coach added that in the past he has been able to start the winter drills right after the end of the semester and that exams were not a problem. On the quarter system the exams fall during the practice session. This year they begin on Feb. 26.

Stasavich also said, "We are not as prepared as I would like to be for the first day of practice." He noted that there would be about 64 boys out which is a lot more than he is used to working with. "At Lenoir Rhyne we had only 25 boys to work with," Stasavich said.

"This large number will be a test for me to see what kind of a teacher I really am," the coach noted.

Stasavich also said that there would be no evening sessions which will give the boys plenty of study time if they will use it.

Bruno Ferrari named a race horse after his three grandchildren—Susan, Karen and Wayne. The horse's name is Su Ka Wa.

WINTER DRILLS — The ECC practice field will show signs of fall tomorrow afternoon when the football Pirates begin their winter practice session. However, the weather will be somewhat different and this year a new head coach will be at the helm.

Important Game For EC Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two important games tonight could produce another shakeup in the changeable top rankings of the Carolinas Conference basketball campaign.

East Carolina, hanging on to the lead by a handful of percentage points, will try to widen the gap a little over second-place Lenoir Rhyne. The Pirates take a 9-3 conference record to Catawba.

If they lose, the Pirates drop into second place behind Lenoir Rhyne, which broke a three-game losing streak against Newberry Tuesday night, 85-56. The victory made the Bears' record 11-4 in the league.

Meanwhile, High Point, 9-6 in the conference, will be at Western Carolina. The Panthers, now in fourth place, could be winning jump into third spot, displacing Elon, which lost 75-66 to Pfeiffer Tuesday night.

Other shakeups could result. If Western Carolina wins, the Catawbas will replace High Point in fourth place. And a Catawba victory at the same time would put the Indians in a tie with High Point for fifth.

Eddie Holbrook scored 22 points and Tommy Burton 20, mostly on long shots, to overcome a Newberry defense that held Lenoir Rhyne's Jerry Wells to 11 points.

Wells contributed 20 rebounds. Newberry's top scorers were David Hawk, 22 points, and Phil Musgrave, 15. Newberry, which took sixth place Monday night by beating Appalachian, fell back to a tie with the Mountaineers for seventh with a 4-4 record.

In a battle of the conference's leading scorers, Dewey Andrew of Elon hit for 17 points and Pfeiffer's Bobby Frank for 15 — both off their season's pace. Frank's 16 rebounds were a considerable help in the Falcons' victory. Jesse Branson also had 17 points for Elon, but high scorers for the night were Harold McManus and Larry Lentz, each with 18 points for Pfeiffer.

Guilford dropped a non-conference game to Campbell, 76-69. The Camels had four men in double figures — Sam Bishop 24, Mike Reidy 22, Glenn Lindsay 13 and Marvin Ross 10. Mike Allred scored 26 for Guilford and Elwood Parker 13.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Without their ace, Art Heyman, Duke's Blue Devils couldn't scare up enough meanness to frighten a rabbit Tuesday night.

The nation's fifth-ranked team hit on a sad 32.8 per cent of its floor shots in bowing 71-55 to North Carolina State in an Atlantic Coast Conference game before 11,500 people at Raleigh.

It was Duke's second defeat this season by the Wolfpack—the other was by a 61-60 score a month ago—and third in 17 games. "Our best all-around effort of the season," beamed State Coach Everett Case.

He paused. "This will make them mad at us come tournament time," he added, perhaps with tongue in cheek.

"There'll be another time, and you can quote me on that," declared Duke Coach Vic Bubas, an N.C. State alum who has lost three straight now to State—the first one a 61-59 squeaker last season.

If the first two losses were close, though, Tuesday night's was decisive—even if one considers that Duke lacked Heyman, who has averaged 26.7 points in 16 games. When Heyman, hobbled by a sprained ankle, got only nine points against North Carolina last week, the Blue Devils made up for it with 24 points by sophomore Jeff Mullins and 17 by Jack Mulen, and won 79-57.

This time Duke was bottled up by fine defensive play. Mullins managed 13 points, the only Blue Devil in double figures. State had four—Russ Marvel with 22, Ken Rohloff 16, John Pungler 15 and Pete Aukzell 10.

"Everything State did, they did well," praised Bubas. "It was the best outside shooting I've seen them do in two years." The Wolfpack hit on 53.5 per cent of its floor shots.

N.C. State pulled into third place in the conference with a 6-3 record, displacing North Carolina, which lost to Maryland 79-62 and dropped to fourth with a 5-3 mark.

Heyman will continue to rest. Bubas said he and doctors had decided it "wouldn't be fair to the team or to the boy to have him play" against State. Duke's next game is Saturday with Virginia.

Maryland's upset was keyed by Ted Marshall, a 6-7 senior who has been an unnoticed substitute. Marshall came into the game with less than nine minutes left in the first half and hit for 16 points in 6½ minutes. For the night, he had 22 points and 12 rebounds. He had scored only 32 points in 12 previous appearances.

Jerry Greenspan hit 17 points for the Terps. North Carolina was led by Larry Brown's 18. Maryland now is 3-4 in the conference, but was unable to improve its sixth place standing because South Carolina dumped Clemson 86-74 in another ACC game.

The fifth-place Gamecocks, now 4-3 in the league, had four offensive leaders — Bobby Robinson with 24, Art Whisnant 21, Bill Cronin 18 and Scotti Ward 14. Clemson's all-sophomore starting five was led by Jim Brennan with 16 points. Woody Morgan had 11. The loss dropped Clemson into a tie with Virginia for last place. Both have 1-7 conference records.

No conference teams play tonight. Thursday night State is at Virginia and Wake Forest is at Virginia Tech of the Southern Conference.

Camilo Pascual of Minnesota's Twins and Baltimore's Steve Barber, now in the Army, led the American League in 1961 shutouts with eight apiece.

State Wolfpack On Prowl Again

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
North Carolina State's Wolfpack, a former collegiate basketball power in the Atlantic Coast Conference, is on the prowl again. They joined nationally rated Duke Tuesday night for the second time this season.

Coach Everett Case's team, despite a de-emphasis program and a schedule reduction because of last year's fix scandals, temporarily dashed the fifth-ranked Blue Devils' league title aspirations at Raleigh, N.C., 71-55.

The loss gave Duke a 7-2 ACC record and 14-3 over-all. The Blue Devils lead Wake Forest, which is second at 6-2, by a half-game. The Wolfpack moved right into contention, climbing past North Carolina into third place with a 6-3 slate.

North Carolina, which had bowed to Duke Saturday night, was stunned by underdog Maryland 79-62 at College Park, Md. The setback dropped the Tar Heels into fourth with a 5-3 mark.

Duke's defeat came with its high-scoring junior, Art Heyman, on the sidelines with a sprained right ankle.

North Carolina State, an old hand at winning ACC regular season and tournament championships in 1955, 1956 and 1959, had a relatively easy time of disposing of Duke. Russ Marvel headed the Wolfpack scoring parade with 22 points and Ken Rohloff added 16 as the Casemens wound up with a 53.5 shooting percentage.

Ted Marshall, an unheralded sub, supplied the impetus in Maryland's upset of North Carolina. Marshall, who entered the game with a 2.7 scoring average, clicked for 16 points in a 6½-minute span in the first half. He wound up with 22 points. Larry Brown topped the Tar Heels with 18.

The nip-and-tuck Southwest Conference race produced its share of surprises. Texas Christian upset league-leading Texas Tech 65-63 at Lubbock and underdog Baylor knocked off heavily favored Arkansas 76-60 at Waco.

Texas A&M moved into a tie for first place with Texas Tech by thrashing Rice 88-73 at College Station while Southern Methodist eked out an 84-82 overtime decision over Texas at Dallas to remain in title contention.

Texas Tech and Texas A&M are tied for the lead with 5-2 records. Rice and SMU share the runner-up spot at 4-3 and Texas is 3-3.

Wichita moved into a second-place tie in the Missouri Valley Conference with idle Cincinnati. No. 3 nationally. The Shockers polished off North Texas State 105-75 for a 6-2 league record, one game behind pace-setting Bradley.

In other games: Notre Dame utilized a height advantage and led from the outset in overpowering Canisius 88-72 despite a 28-point harvest by the visitors' Bill O'Connor; Bobby Robinson collected 24 points as South Carolina throttled Clemson 86-74 in an ACC test; Memphis State coasted to an 82-70 success over William & Mary for its 14th victory in 19 starts; Bob McCully (39) and Miles Aiken (35) accounted for 74 points between them in St. Bonaventure's 111-104 triumph over Tennessee State, ranked No. 2 in the small college poll; Allen Johnson provided the scoring punch with 25 points as Georgia bested The Citadel 91-86 while Gary Daniels caged 25 in a losing cause.

Eisenhower: Penn State tamed Gettysburg 60-43; Connecticut beat American International, 78-51; Massachusetts took over the Yankee Conference lead from defending champion Rhode Island 73-62 and Maine downed New Hampshire 78-68 in another Yankee game; Marshall upended Miami of Ohio 67-59 in a Mid-American Conference affair; Western Kentucky tightened its grip on first place in the Ohio alley Conference with an 89-84 verdict over East Tennessee; Idaho State beat Seattle 74-68 and New Orleans Loyola trounced Tampa 106-78.

Moore's Crown On The Line

SAN FRANCISCO AP)—Jack Kearns says Archie Moore will put his light-heavyweight crown on the line in May against Gene Fullmer, the NBA middleweight champion.

"The Fullmer match is practically agreed upon by Mary Jensen and myself," said Kearns. Jensen is Fullmer's manager. Kearns handles negotiations for Moore's title fights.

Kearns said Tuesday he would ask the California Athletic Commission to recognize the Moore-Fullmer bout as a championship match.

The NBA took its title from Moore last year, saying he wasn't fighting enough to keep the 175-pound crown.

Outside the NBA, however — which means California and New York — the 45-year-old Moore still is recognized as the light-heavyweight champ.

Kearns said Moore would meet Argentine heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante March 30.

"That comes first and then Fullmer," said Kearns.

Frank Leading Loop Scoring

GREENSBORO (AP) — Bob Frank, Pfeiffer's 6-foot-8 point-maker, has displaced Elon's Dewey Andrew as the Carolinas Conference's leading basketball scorer.

Frank climaxed a steady rise during the last several weeks by forging to the top this week on a 22.6 average, his highest figure of the season.

While Frank was climbing, Andrew has seen his average decline, and the big Elon junior drops into second place on a 21.6 average, a full point behind the Pfeiffer star.

Frank's big spurt came Saturday night when he dumped in 45 points against the College of Charleston for the best one-night show in the conference this year. Frank, however, still was 10 points shy of the record of 55 points for a single game set by Raeford Wells of Lenoir Rhyne against Guilford in 1955.

Andrew retained one of his major scoring leaderships, however, total points scored, with 492. Frank is second at 475.

Mel Gibson of Western Carolina is third man in both categories with a 20.6 average and 433 total points.

Dan Kuzma of Guilford leads in field goal percentage, having hit 107 of 182 efforts for a 58 per cent figure. Benny Bowes tops the free throw shooters with 40 of 47 for 85.1 per cent accuracy mark. And Frank leads in rebounds with a 19.8 per-game average.

Pressure Is On Steel Agreement

By NORMAN WALKER
 WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy reportedly wants a steel labor settlement in a matter of weeks. If there is delay, he has full power to head off a midyear strike and a disruptive steel inventory buildup as well.

The reason is that the 80-day cooling-off procedures of the Taft-Hartley Act can be invoked to prevent a strike from occurring as well as to stop one that has already started.

With both the President and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg saying repeatedly that a steel strike at this stage of half-developed economic recovery is unthinkable, it's logical to assume the administration wouldn't let a steel walkout occur if threatened.

But besides not wanting a strike the administration wants to avoid the usual overstocking of steel in advance of a strike threat. Both Kennedy and Goldberg have said this should be avoided as economically disruptive—a production let-down inevitably following a production buildup.

Thus if the industry and Steelworkers Union fail to heed the administration's advice to come up with an early settlement, it should surprise no one if the President lets it be known publicly he intends to trigger the Taft-Hartley procedures into effect early.

A promise of this sort—that there would be no strike when present steel contracts expire on June 30—certainly would substantially discourage steel customers from overstocking.

If all this came about, the threat of any steel strike would be put off from July 1 to past mid-September when the 80-day no-strike period ran out. Even then the odds probably would be against a walkout because Congress, too, could step in to prevent one.

Such discussion is perhaps premature. It's still early in the game. The Steelworkers Union is to come up with its demands for contract changes today in Pittsburgh. Such demands are traditionally a statement of goals rather than realistically expected attainments.

Right now the administration is pouring the heat on both sides to get going toward an early agreement. A settlement date goal is rumored to be March 1 or soon thereafter. It is known officials fear stockpiling will get under way in earnest in the second quarter, April through June.

Faced with this situation, the industry and union probably will engage in some intense informal and behind-scenes negotiating in next few weeks.

A key factor could be Kaiser Steel, a relatively small producer compared with U.S. Steel or other industry giants. But it was Kaiser that settled early in 1959 on terms that fairly well fixed the settlement pattern for the rest of the industry.

A group of prominent labor experts headed by Prof. George W. Taylor of the University of Pennsylvania is operating as a public advisory panel to Kaiser and the union. This group met recently at Palm Springs, Calif., in preliminary talks with Board Chairman Edgar Kaiser and top union officials.

Other major producers, fully aware of the Kaiser meetings, have their fingers crossed. It's one of the pressures that are going to make the next few weeks, rather than the next few months, a crucial period.

Girls Of Ziegfeld Club Hold Annual Gathering

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-TV Writer
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was a sizable display of mink, but some cloth coats, too. Some brought along their husbands, but many came singly. They seemed to have one thing in common: a joy of life, spawned in a wonderful era.

These were the Ziegfeld Girls, meeting for the 25th anniversary of their Ziegfeld Club. There were grandmothers and even great-grandmothers among them, but some were still stunning to behold, like Berniece Dalton Janssen, mother of actor David Janssen and a lovely brunette who recalled wearing a hat and a few rosebuds in the Follies of 1930.

When I dropped in at the Ziegfeld Club's banquet at the Hotel Roosevelt the first person I met was Billie Burke. Flo Ziegfeld's widow was the guest of honor.

"They're such brave girls," said the still-lovely actress of the club members. Then she added as an afterthought: "I think anyone must be brave to go into show business."

Beulah McFarland (Follies '18-'24) is head of the local chapter. She passed between her duties to tell about the club. It was founded 25 years ago in New York, where there are now 200 members. In recent years groups have formed in Los Angeles (75 members) and Miami (50).

The girls meet for monthly get-togethers and sometimes raise money for members whose luck has turned sour.

The Ziegfeld Follies ran from 1908 to 1931, but Mrs. McFarland said there was no difficulty about members' dating themselves. "The ones who won't admit their age won't join," she said.

Glenn Flight Is Now For Feb. 14

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The attempt to launch astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit around the earth has been delayed at least another day, until Feb. 14, to allow more time to get his Atlas booster rocket ready.

No further problem developed in the big booster, but officials decided to take an extra day to prepare the Atlas for the new attempt. This included a full scale fueling test for the vehicle Tuesday.

SBI Director Confers With Two Companies

RALEIGH (AP)—State Bureau of Investigation Director Walter Anderson was scheduled to confer today with two sign firms recently suspended from doing business with the state.

Officials of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. of St. Paul, Minn., and of Pfaff and Kendall of Newark, N. J., were to meet with Anderson in connection with the Burch-Brewer affair.

Gov. Terry Sanford said recently that Raleigh businessman Kidd Brewer received $72,000 from Pfaff and Kendall and $148,000 from Minnesota Mining while acting as their manufacturer's representative.

Both firms provide sign materials to the State Highway Department.

Sanford last month fired highway engineer Robert A. Burch, in charge of sign procurement and specifications, for being too closely associated with Brewer.

Birds Shiver To Keep Warm

KINGSTON, R. I. (AP)—May be it's more fun being a human being than a bird, after all, birds shiver all night while they sleep.

Prof. George C. West of the zoology department, University of Rhode Island, says birds not only shiver all night, but "they often shiver very violently." Their shivering, he explains, "is a physiological mechanism to keep them warm."

Judge Will Not Seek Re-election

RALEIGH — (AP) — Superior Court Judge Walter Bone, 63-year-old Nashville resident, says he will not seek reelection to a new eight-year term.

Bone has been on the bench since 1937 when he was appointed by the late Gov. Clyde R. Hoey.

His decision, made public in a letter to the News and Observer, caught political leaders by surprise in the counties of Nash, Edgecombe and Wilson which make up the Fifth Judicial District.

'Peace Pause' Planned At University Of Iowa

Two Of Three Companies Top 1960 Net Income

IOWA CITY (AP)—A group of University of Iowa students and professors—and some Iowa City townspeople—plan to halt their daily occupations today in a 53-minute "Pause for Peace."

The peace pause was scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. CST—just 2½ hours after the university begins its spring semester classes.

After it's all over, a telegram signed by nearly 1,000 persons will be sent to President Kennedy informing him of what is described as a community demonstration in favor of peace. Sponsors of the movement say that nobody knows whether it will be a success or not, but it has been a chief topic of conversation in this town of 30,000 for the past several days.

There's symbolism in the 53-minute duration of the pause—one minute for each billion dollars in the nation's new defense budget. The "Pause for Peace" has the backing of several university faculty members and large numbers of students. Mayor Dorr Hudson of Iowa City issued a proclamation endorsing it.

Mrs. Joseph Rosenfield of Des Moines, a member of the State Board of Regents, the university's governing body, praised it as a worthwhile effort to direct the thoughts of the community to peace. U.S. Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, also gave the movement his backing.

University President Virgil M. Hancher said the school has neither officially endorsed nor opposed the movement.

Asked if he planned to "pause for peace" himself, he replied: "I would if I didn't have so much work to do."

Mayor Hudson said his proclamation, which urged serious consideration of peace problems during the pause, doesn't mean the city government is officially backing the movement. He said he didn't believe any city employee would ask for 53 minutes off to join in the observance.

But asked if he planned to take part in the pause, the mayor said: "I'll be right here at work, and I'll stop for some real serious thought."

A former Iowa graduate student, Michael Fine, 25, who now operates a bookstore, generally is credited with starting the idea, but he says the credit should go to his wife.

The Fines and a friend, Lawrence Barrett, 40, program assistant at university radio station WSUI, solicited the support of some faculty members. Since then it has snowballed rapidly.

"This is the first time anything like this has been tried in the United States," said Fine. "It's grown by leaps and bounds here and I think it will spread."

The telegram to President Kennedy read: "We wish to enforce your State of the Union commitment to make a supreme effort to break the logjam on disarmament and nuclear tests and pledge our full support to bold and imaginative initiative toward that end."

NEW YORK (AP)—Two out of three companies reporting their 1961 profits pulled ahead of their 1960 net income after taxes. As a whole, U.S. corporations reporting so far made 3.3 per cent more.

Most of the gainers thank a pickup in output and sales in the final months which helped reverse the earnings decline in the first half of 1961. And many also thank mechanization programs that cut operating costs, bringing slightly better profit margins in ratio to sales.

Returns by 647 corporations, first to report for fiscal 1961, show widely divergent trends, even within industries. There were 203, some large ones, reporting a decline in profits in 1961, but the number operating at a loss was a bit lower—48 in 1961 and 54 the previous year.

Combined, the 647 bettered their 1960 showings by 3.3 per cent—or $10,673,397,000 in 1961 vs. $10,328,656,000 the previous year.

Big gains by some companies in the final three months of the year gave the brightest promise of better days ahead—both for stockholders and for the U.S. Treasury. Dividend payments have risen—some 200 advances were reported last month.

And the Treasury is counting on higher corporate income tax collections to balance the fiscal 1963 federal budget. Declining corporate profits—and tax collections—in the early months of 1961, the recession's low point, helped increase the fiscal 1962 Treasury deficit.

Profits brightened steadily last year. In the first three months they ran 19 per cent below the same 1960 period. In the second quarter the decline was cut to 2 per cent. Business recovery brought third quarter profits 8 per cent above the like 1960 period when the recession was being felt. Fourth quarter returns, when all are in some weeks from now, may show profits higher than the previous year by about one fifth.

Shufflin' Sam Accepted Jail

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Shufflin' Sam Thompson, who convinced the U.S. Supreme Court he got a fast shuffle on a loitering charge, is leaving his latest case at a lower level.

Thompson, 49, a Negro handyman, appeared in police court Tuesday and was fined $25 on charges of disorderly conduct, amended from malicious striking. The matter stemmed from an argument with a neighbor, in which both were accused of hitting each other with a hammer. The neighbor also was fined.

The Supreme Court ruled in Sam's favor 20 months ago when he appealed the two $10 fines on the loitering arrest. Police said he was dancing in a tavern. Sam said he was just "shufflin'" his feet to keep warm.

Sam failed to pay his fine Tuesday and was taken to jail.

An old barracks joke says that GI clothes come in two sizes—too small and too big.

Cuba Tightens Money Control

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government enacted new regulations Tuesday night to give it tighter control over monetary transactions and aid it in "the cardinal task of reaching in a short time the Socialist ordaining" of production.

The new law will make cash practically obsolete in transactions between business organizations.

It specifies that most of the few remaining private businesses and all government enterprises shall make "all payments and collections through the agencies of the National Bank."

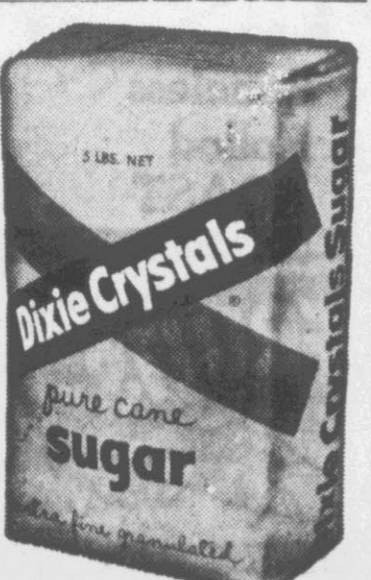

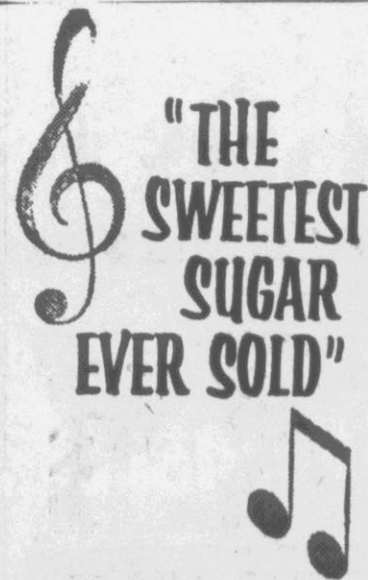

All business transactions must be accompanied by invoices and official bank transfer forms. Cash payments may be made only after obtaining special permission from the National Bank, Cuba's sole banking institution.

The new banking law, coupled with recently announced income taxes on gross income without any allowances for deductions, seems sure to strangle most of what is left of private enterprise in Cuba.

Only the very smallest businesses—and personal checking accounts—were exempted from the regulations.

PER CAPITA UP

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Congregations of the Christian (Disciples of Christ) churches contributed $88,448,655 for work in their own communities and around the world during the last fiscal year, with per capita giving up from $55.53 to $57.78, the church's newly published year-book shows.

Military Chiefs Boycott Banquet

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine military leaders boycotted a banquet given by President Frondizi Tuesday night in honor of the visiting Belgian ex-King Leopold. The move was linked to continued strife between Frondizi and the military over Argentina's Cuban policy.

None of the 24 top military officers or the three armed forces secretaries showed up at the banquet. Instead, they held a meeting reportedly to discuss the government's attitude to their demands for an immediate break in relations with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

Only The House Was Missing

BOSTON (AP)—The auctioneer's red flag was flapping briskly in the breeze.

The city auctioneer and his assistants were there.

At least one prospective bidder was there.

All that was missing Tuesday was the three-family house which Boston officials had ordered sold for taxes.

It seems the building department razed the South Boston building last October and forgot to tell the real property department.

The auctioneer furled his flag and went away.

Bill Would Make Eve A 'Felon'

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The first woman, Eve, would be a felon under a bill proposed in the Michigan Legislature.

The measure, introduced by Charles R. Feenstra, R-Grand Rapids, says that "anyone who steals fruit from an orchard, whether growing or picked, is guilty of a felony."

Some Bible-reading senators were quick to point out that Eve picked a fruit. They quoted Genesis, third chapter: "She took of the fruit thereof, and did eat and also gave unto her husband with her, and he did eat." "We assume that the Garden of Eden was in Michigan, according to our tourist publicity. I just hope the bill never becomes retroactive—poor Eve," commented Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski.

Members of the English Chapel Senior Choir are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. Esther Porter tonight at 7:30 for rehearsal.

Vows Spoken
Miss Marian Theresa Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Davis, became the bride of James Foster Sunday night in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. J. E. Tillett officiated, and music was presented by Johnny Wooten and Miss Theresa Pierce.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Beatrice Foster of Raleigh. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of lace over satin. Her brief veil was attached to a pillbox hat, trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of mums and carnations.

Rita Keets of Baltimore, Md. was the matron of honor, and Donnell Wilson of Raleigh was the best man.

The bride's parents and sister, Mrs. Jessie Williams, entertained with a reception immediately after the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests were from Raleigh, Norfolk, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, and Newark, N. J.

Three Scouts To Get Eagle Badges

The awarding of badges to three Eagle Scouts will highlight the observance of Boy Scout Week by Pitt Division scouts beginning today and continuing through Tuesday.

The three boys, all members of Greenville Troop 191, will be presented their Eagle badges on Scout Sunday (next Sunday) during ceremonies at Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist Church. The entire Pitt Division is to be hosted to a chicken dinner by the church.

Receiving their Eagle citations will be 16-year-old Howard Lee Joyner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Joyner; Cornelius Williams Jr., 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Williams Sr.; and Larry Joyner, 15, son of Mrs. Mary C. Joyner.

The presentations will be made during a Court of Honor which will also include awarding of badges for other achievement of scouts in the Pitt Division. Troop 191, whose scoutmaster is Willie Joyner, has made arrangements for and will conduct Sunday's program activities.

While Sunday's program is the feature event during Boy Scout Week, the Division has also scheduled three additional observances.

Thursday, Scout Anniversary Day, will see Pitt Division members wearing their scout uniforms to school. Schools have planned various programs on scouting.

Scouts have been urged to wear their uniforms to church Sunday. And the uniformed scouts have been asked to take part in the programs at the respective churches in the Division.

Next Monday, the Division will wrap up its Scout Week activities with the regular monthly meeting of Division committeemen. All registered adults have been urged to attend the meeting that begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Eppes High School gymnasium in Greenville.

and particularly horses. The other children—all boys—are Freddy, 5; Paul Roberts Jr., 2 1/2; and Jules, 15 months. They were exploring the house and grounds this morning.

The Loths, who travelled by air from The Hague, left Holland on Feb. 5 and arrived in New York yesterday morning.

By helicopter they flew over the Empire State Building and the Statue of Liberty on their way from New York to the Newark, N.J. airfield.

They made air stops enroute to Kinston in Richmond and in Raleigh.

The Loths' living and dining room furniture, and china and silver is being shipped and will arrive here in March. Until that time, they have been loaned the furniture for those two rooms.

Now they will be occupied with unpacking and becoming acquainted with the community.

Mrs. Loth, who loves warm weather, is looking forward to making a garden in the yard.

The Loths formerly lived in Indonesia, where Loth worked with an American oil company, until he was forced to leave by the Communists, who had threatened the family.

They returned to the Netherlands about five years ago, where Loth again worked with an American company.

Loth holds a marine engineering license and later returned to mechanical engineering school. Having worked with command of the English language.

Mrs. Loth and Margreth speak the language more haltingly, and the younger children converse in Dutch. However, Ginny May is expected to continue school and her father believes she will add to her small knowledge of English rapidly.

The Loths will meet more of the Winterville townspeople on Thursday, when a covered dish supper is to be held.

Shrink Painful Piles With "REMEDEX"

New Medicated Formula Relieves Pain and Shrinks Hemorrhoids With Prompt Action and Fast Results

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Special) — Medical science has discovered a formula which is compounded like a doctor's prescription for quick relief of pain of simple piles and which shrinks the hemorrhoids at the same time, without surgery.

Internal and external relief in one case after another is reported with the use of this new medical discovery called REMEDIX, which is now available at all drug stores. Many people have indicated that REMEDIX has brought relief where so many ordinary ointments and other medications have failed to do so.

REMEDEX contains several medicinally-proved ingredients, compounded to a most exacting formula, prescription, each of which quickly acts to stop pain and itching, to reduce swelling and to promote healing.

Although this new formula is available only in the form of suppositories, it may be used as an ointment simply by softening them in the palm of your hand.

Complete instructions appear on every package. Ask for REMEDIX at your drug store, and for complete satisfaction do not accept any substitutes. Results guaranteed or your money refunded.
