Some Shell Buyers Encounter 'Unexpected'

(Last of a series on the shell home industry.)

By MARTI MARTIN Reflector Staff Writer

From interviews with shell home buyers in Pitt County, it is evident that the typical buyer has run into financial difficulty in either meeting payments or in finishing his home sufficiently before he moves into it.

his first mortgage, thereby making him pay the entire balloon note at once. If he doesn't, then they can evict him and auction the house which he literally finished himself.

A shell salesman in Greenville is presently offering a "kick-back." He was seen at a local dry cleaning establishment offering personnel $20 for each sale close that they lead him to make.

Another Finance Problem

Once the buyer moved into the home, he may run into another problem when trying to obtain some of the materials on credit for finishing his home.

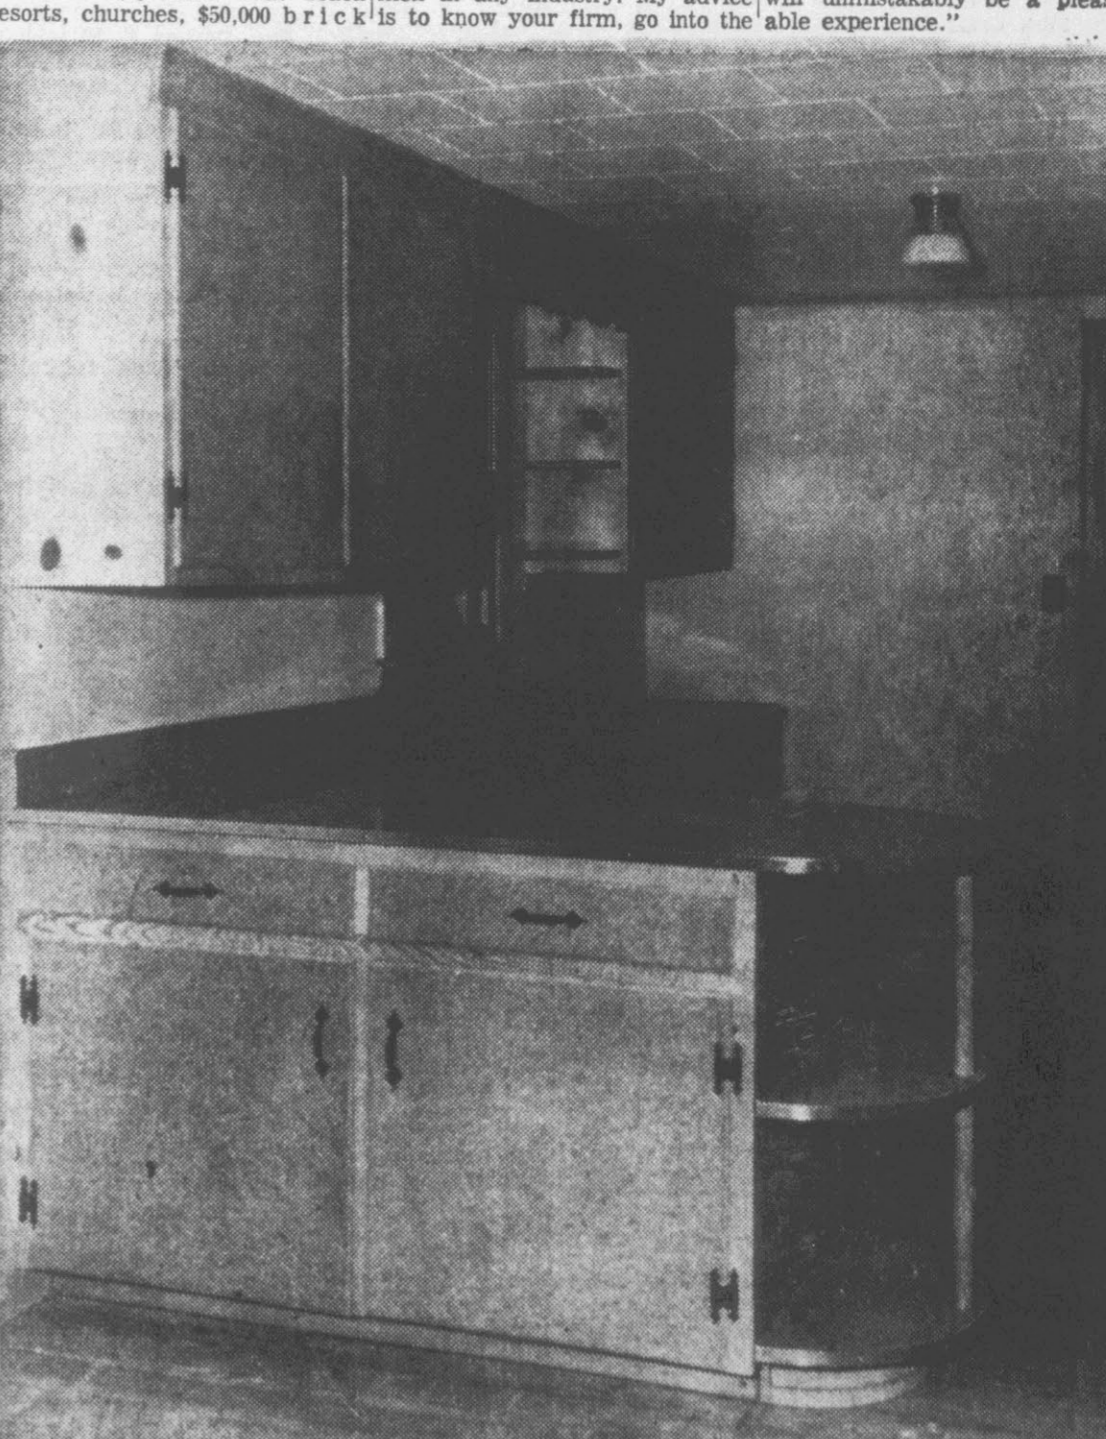

Dealers Tell of Assets

Local dealers point out that for the price of the house they sell, the buyer is often able to purchase a house when he would not otherwise be able to do so.

approach it according to the individual's needs. Not only do shell dealers build the typical shell home, but in some instances they have built beach resorts, churches, $50,000 brick homes and grocery stores. One shell dealer summed things up with this comment: "There are good and bad businessmen in any industry. My advice is to know your firm, so into the deal with your eyes open. . . and your chances for actually making money by the increased value in finishing your own home, will unmistakably be a pleasurable experience."

The Mayor Is Behind Bars

'JAILED'—Mayor Charles M. King peers from behind "bars" as a unique drive for contributions to the Heart Fund got underway about 10 a.m. today.

Dealers do not expect payment of this large lump sum at the end of the termination of your mortgage. They simply suggest refinancing.

Corporate Gifts Hit New Level

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate gifts have risen to a new annual level of about $178 million, an increase of more than 30 per cent in two years, says the Council for Financial Aid to Education. Business and industry not only are giving more money to education, the council reported Thursday, but they also are giving education a bigger share of their total contributions.

There are more than 60 radio telescopes in the world.

Clothes Are Child's Play

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

BLOOMER GIRLS . . . Equal rights at the sand castles on the beach are practically assured for these young misses who wear bouffant shorts over low-waisted tops in the fashion of the bloomerall.

ALL LITTLE HANDS ON DECK . . . Shepherds fare well in these deck pants sets with A-line tops featuring jaunty nautical appliques. Color combinations are seaworthy, red, white and navy blue.

GAY AS THEIR CANVASES . . . Junior Left Bank artists make impressions in colored overblouses supplied with ample pocket space for art tools. Pedal pushers allow for trike rides between masterpieces.

Although fun is a trite word to use in describing grown-up fashions, it is still the most appropriate one today for little girl styles.

Until very recently designers of toddlers' play clothes didn't seem to know what fun was. They were so determined to be practical that they produced woefully stilted and unimaginative ones.

For the active little adventurers they made sturdy rompers with doubly practical patches at the knees. They waterproofed the seats of pants. And they carefully arranged buttons and snaps and zippers so that toddlers could learn self-reliance by dressing themselves.

Yet with the exception of halfheartedly applying a red apple here and there, or adding a ruffle somewhere else, the designers gave up on the idea of making anything merry, exciting, colorful, even beautiful.

Mothers appreciated the practicality, but they missed the fun (excuse the word) of dressing their little dolls for play. That is they did until recently. Today, they have both.

Now mothers are enjoying second childhoods by turning out their offspring in play clothes as quaint and imaginative as the characters in their story books. Psychologically more appealing to small fry, the bright colors of their wardrobes also keep the little charges in view from considerable distances.

Instead of one-piece overalls and sun suits, there are two pieces which make a judicious amount of switching possible. For example, smoke-like toppers (that button at the shoulder to teach self-reliance) guard a lot of territory during a finger painting session. Then clean blouses can take its place over the same pedal pushers.

Of course, toddlers romping apparel is as washable as it ever was, and much more ironable. The designs, such as pockets and appliques are flat. And toppers cut as A-lines make it possible to iron them flat on the board.

The Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club was organized in 1938 with 20 charter members. Some of the charter members were: Mrs. Viola Baker, Miss Martha Lee Cowell, Mrs. Roscoe Cox, Mrs. Hazel Jordan, Mrs. David Proctor, Mrs. Elsie Simpson, and Mrs. Georgia James, honorary member.

Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale was also a charter member and was the first president, serving for two years. The local club recently honored her by placing a piece of furniture in the new state headquarters building at Chapel Hill as a memorial.

During the first year the two major projects were the revival of the WPA administered art gallery and the providing of a public restroom for women and children. The art gallery was later sponsored by another group.

The National Federation was organized in 1919. The objectives of the club are as follows: To elevate the standards for women in business and in the professions.

To promote the interest of business and professional women. To bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women of the United States.

To extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific, and vocational activities.

The committees which plan and present the programs are: Career Advancement, Health and Safety, International Relations, National Security, Public Affairs.

One of the outstanding features of the club year on a state level is the annual conference known as "Spotlight on Women", which is sponsored jointly by the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the University of North Carolina. This is held at the university for two days during February each year and courses are given on such subjects as Human Relations and Personnel Administration; Management; Practical Politics.

Present officers of the Greenville Club are: President, Miss Gladys Stokes; First Vice-President, Miss Camille Clarke; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Helen A. Snyder; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elsie May; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Dorothy W. Johnson; Treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Owens; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Kemp Baldwin.

Margaret Ann Harrell of Greenville, a senior at Duke University, has been chosen to be a member of Mademoiselle magazine's 1962 national College Board. She is one of 805 students at 335 colleges who will report to Mademoiselle this year on the college scene.

As a College Board member, she will complete an assignment that will show her interests and abilities in writing, editing, fashion, advertising or art, competition for 20 Guest Editorships to be awarded by the magazine at the end of May.

The winning Guest editors will be brought to New York for four weeks next June to help edit, write and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1962 August issue.

While they are in New York, the Guest Editors will interview outstanding men and women in their chosen fields to help clarify their career aims. They will be guests of honor at Mademoiselle's mammoth College Fashion Show in the Waldorf Astoria and at parties that the magazine is planning for them.

Margaret Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Harrell of West Rock Spring Road.

Dept. Commander Speaker For Ayden Legionnaires

AYDEN—Members of the Ayden Legion Auxiliary were guests of the Ayden Legionnaires when they entertained their wives at a banquet on Wednesday evening.

The meeting was held in the Recreation Hall of Ayden's American Legion Building. Invocation was given by the Legion Chaplain.

Following the dinner, students from Marie's School of Dance gave an exhibition program. At the conclusion of their performance, Mr. Jack Collins presented a record to each participant.

Honor guest for the occasion was Ben B. Halterman, Department Commander of the American Legion. Kenneth Jesneck, President of the Ayden Post, presided at the meeting. He introduced Roy Turnage, chaplain, who gave a tribute to Mr. Halterman and then presented him to the group as speaker for the evening.

Commander Halterman spoke first of the responsibilities resting upon members of both the Legion and the Auxiliary. He referred to the Communist as one who believes there is no authority above that of the government, and startled the audience with the statement that there were more Communists in America today than there were in Russia at the time the Communists took over the country. He insisted that the "Back to God" movement, which is the emphasis program for the American Legion this year, was the only solution for our problem and that the necessity for success of this movement was a vital need.

To this he added force to the need of a more effective training of American youth in Americanism. He stated that to offset the condensed doctrine of the Communist, the understanding of and respect for, Americanism was the best weapon. Commending the oratorical program, Boys State and Girls State as fine projects in this direction, he still urged that the Legion was not going far enough or building deep enough.

He touched briefly on the Rehabilitation and Child Welfare Programs of the two organizations and gave statistics on the accomplishments in these departments.

In conclusion, he insisted that the people urge their representatives in Congress to abandon their shortsighted programs for National Security and take more definite action in this urgently needed program.

Belvoir-Falkland FHA Banquet Honors Mothers

On Thursday night, the Future Homemakers of America Chapter of Belvoir-Falkland High School held their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in the Belvoir lunchroom. The theme for the night was "Mother — Key To My Heart".

The traditional Valentine colors, red and white, were used throughout the decorations, which consisted of cupid and red candles.

The welcome was extended to everyone by Joan Windham, the president. Anne Proctor had the invocation, after which Sue Pierce, the vice president, recognized the special guests. They were: D. H. Conley, Superintendent of Pitt County Schools; A.S. Alford, Assistant Superintendent and Mrs. Alford; Miss Elizabeth Edwards, High School Supervisor; the Belvoir-Falkland board members: E. N. Warren, principal of Belvoir-Falkland and Mrs. Warren; and Miss Jeanette, student teacher in Home Economics. Others taking part in the program were: Harriette Turner, Mrs. McAlvin Turner, Andrea Wooten, Mrs. Levy Wooten, and Frances Stepps.

The president next recognized the outstanding members who had worked hard to receive their degrees. Those receiving the Home-maker Degrees were: Jane Corbett, Dorothy Everett, Brenda Forehand, Becky Sue Harris, Linda Morris, Carol Peaden, Barbara Rackley, Patsy Teel, Debbie Turner, Carolyn Simpkins, Janice Allen, Lois Garrett, Mary Geaniton, Callie Hudson, Stella James, Helen James, Sylvia Peaden, and Jean Stocks.

Those receiving the Chapter Homemaker Degrees were: Anne Proctor, Audrey Harris, Janie Keel, Mary Mills, Faye Pollard, Donna Stancill, and Judy Zurface. Special recognition was also given by Donna Stancill to Joan Windham and Sue Pierce, who are working toward their State Homemaker Degree which will be presented to them in April at the State F.H.A. Convention in Raleigh.

Special music, "Bless This House" was provided by Linda Clark and Mary Pollard. Judy Wilson, Debbie Turner, Patsy Lewis, and Becky Sue Harris also sang, "You Taught Me How to Pray". Both were accompanied by Tommy Harris.

After a meal consisting of barbecue chicken, candied yams, string beans, slaw, rolls, butter, iced tea, coffee, and cherry pie a-la-mode. Mr. Arthur S. Alford, Assistant Superintendent of Pitt County Schools, spoke to the group on "Mother-Daughter Relations in Marriage".

Joan Windham, president, presented gifts on behalf of the club to Mr. Alford, speaker; Mrs. Faye Bullock, director of waitresses; and Mrs. Lucille Mayo, advisor to the club.

Shower Given Recent Bride

Mrs. John Trotman, bride of February 3, was entertained Thursday night at a miscellaneous shower by the members of the Greenville Credit Women's Breakfast Club at the home of Miss Joyce Paramore.

The honoree, dressed in a red wool dress, was presented a corsage of kitchen utensils by the members.

Games, suitable for the occasion, were led by Mrs. Sara Jenkins and Mrs. Frances Blanchard.

Guests were invited into the dining room, where the appointed table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations and white mums. Silver candelabras held white burning tapers.

Miss Joyce Paramore poured tea and bridal mints, nuts, cheese straws, cake and sandwiches were served.

The gift table was centered with a cake designed with a Valentine motif that held the gifts. Mrs. Trotman received china, crystal and silver in her chosen patterns and other gifts. Goodbyes were said by Mrs. Trotman, Mrs. S. A. Paramore and Miss Joyce Paramore.

Duplicate Club Has Session

The Faculty Duplicate Club met in regular session Friday night in the Community Room of the Planters National Bank and Trust Company.

Six tables were in play, and a regular Mitchell movement was followed. Winners north-south were, first, Mrs. S. M. Woolfolk and Mrs. J. S. Willard, and second, Miss Ruby Edens and Dr. George A. Cook. Winners east-west were, first, Mrs. W. Bundy and Mr. C. J. Goodman, and second, Mrs. W. R. Hooks and Mrs. H. B. Wood.

The next meeting of the club will be Friday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Ladies' Aid Society Meets

Mrs. Agnes Settle, president, opened the February meeting of the Mount Pleasant Ladies' Aid Society on Monday night by leading the group in "Take Time to be Holy".

Mrs. W. A. Ross read the minutes after which Mrs. Billy Ross gave the treasurer's report.

The president thanked Mrs. Clifton Bullock for curtains she made and donated for the community building. A new committee, the "Sunshine Committee", was formed with the following people: Mrs. Clifton Bullock, Mrs. Rufus Mayo and Mrs. Herbert Randolph.

After a program on "How the Christian Women can Help Man-kind", the hostesses, Mrs. J. D. Harrington and Mrs. D. B. Small, served apple pie a la mode and coffee.

Special music, "Bless This House" was provided by Linda Clark and Mary Pollard. Judy Wilson, Debbie Turner, Patsy Lewis, and Becky Sue Harris also sang, "You Taught Me How to Pray". Both were accompanied by Tommy Harris.

After a meal consisting of barbecue chicken, candied yams, string beans, slaw, rolls, butter, iced tea, coffee, and cherry pie a-la-mode. Mr. Arthur S. Alford, Assistant Superintendent of Pitt County Schools, spoke to the group on "Mother-Daughter Relations in Marriage".

Fete Husbands At Party

The Home Life Department of the Woman's Club changed from their usual meetings to a night of fun for February. A Valentine party at the Woman's Club on Wednesday evening was attended by members, their husbands and guests.

The club house was decorated with greenery and hearts carrying out the Valentine motif. The table was covered with an imported cutwork cloth centered with an arrangement of miniature red roses in a white tulle heart. Streamers of red satin ribbon and red hearts decorated the corners of the table from which homemade cake, ice cream and coffee were served.

Mrs. Preston Cannon directed games. Singing and dancing were enjoyed throughout the evening.

Hostesses for the occasion were: Mrs. C. C. Hilton, Mrs. Preston Cannon, Mrs. Marie Clark, Mrs. H. R. Rogers, Mrs. J. R. Jackson, Mrs. J. L. Bishop, Mrs. Vance Perkins, Mrs. Clara Shackell and Mrs. N. L. Garrison.

Mrs. Reid Perkins was hostess to the Athenaeum Book Club on Tuesday. The home was decorated with red and white flowers and appropriate Valentine motifs.

A three course luncheon was served at tables covered with red cloths and centered with Sweetheart roses.

The program was presented by Mrs. Morris Brody, who told of "Styles for Spring and Summer." She explained that fashion has become an important influence and extends to the people who design and manufacture and wear the clothes. As 1962 comes into focus, fashion gives its support to the feminine type. The clothes have the Americana look, as blue is in the lead combined at times with red and white. Coats, dresses and hats were modeled by Mrs. Lee Hannah and Mrs. Reid Perkins.

Their Gain Would Be State's Loss

It would be a great loss not only to Greenville and East Carolina College, but to the state of North Carolina as well if Dr. Leo W. Jenkins were to resign the presidency of East Carolina to accept a position in another state.

In the two years he has headed the college here he has given it forceful leadership that has enhanced its growth, its academic standing and its prestige in North Carolina and in the nation. During this period also, Dr. Jenkins has provided wise and vigorous leadership in behalf of higher education as a whole in North Carolina.

The fact that Dr. Jenkins is being considered for the presidency of the state university in our sister state is a high compliment to the man, to the college he now heads, and to the service he has rendered higher education in North Carolina during the past 14 years. It is a high tribute not only to what he has achieved in the past, but also to the confidence which responsible officials have in what he will continue to achieve in the future in behalf of higher education.

In spite of these compliments, however, there is no getting around the fact that South Carolina's gain would be North Carolina's loss should Dr. Jenkins leave his present post as president of East Carolina College.

East Carolina College has before it a period of great need for development if it is to meet the demands which are being forced upon it by the growing number of young people seeking college training in this progressive state. Without the farsighted and forceful leadership such as Dr. Jenkins has provided East Carolina, it cannot hope to meet the demands and provide the service needed to fulfill its rightful role in higher education in the state.

North Carolina as a whole in the years ahead faces a tremendous task in bolstering its higher education to meet the needs of the state. It needs for the task the best qualified leaders it can find in higher education, and it can ill afford to lose to other states those it already has.

One of these, certainly, is Dr. Jenkins.

Another Major Step In Training Program

In hiring a qualified director for the county's new industrial training center, the Pitt Board of Education has taken another important step in effecting the program of industrial training which holds significant promise for this county.

The more than $300,000 authorized by the voters of the county to be invested in the new training center will be of little value to the citizens of Pitt unless the center provides a well rounded program that will meet the needs for industrial training here. By hiring as a director a man who is experienced in this particular field, and a man who comes highly recommended by industrial training people of our own state, the county is doing what it can to assure an adequate program.

It is well too, we think, that the county have its new director here during the period in which the new center is being constructed. It will afford additional assurance that the center which is constructed will be adequate to meet the anticipated needs of the county, and further that the planning of the program and construction of the center can be moved forward simultaneously.

The industrial training center will be an important asset to Pitt County. It is gratifying to note that the County Board of Education is making steady progress toward putting the center into operation.

DeGaulle Seeks To Go It Alone

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, who is the cement holding his country together, may need special glasses to correct his grand vision of France's future.

This strongman saved the French from chaos closing in on them when he took office in 1958. If he should suddenly disappear from the scene now, they might tumble into revolution between left and right.

Under him, as he claimed in his recent TV talk to the French people, his country has become more prosperous than any time in its history.

To the dismay of the French in Algeria he was strong enough to face the inevitable: That there can be no peace there without a settlement with the Algerian Moslems.

But it is astonishing he has not felt strong enough to crush or even cope with the assassins of the French Secret Army Organization who have sought to frustrate his Algerian plans with bombs, violence and murder.

Over the years he has demonstrated a prodigious sense of rightness in himself and a mystical conviction about the glorious future of France.

In his TV talk he sought to convey a vision of France so aware of the times and the unfolding future that it was ahead of the times by becoming part of the future.

For example, he mentioned France's transition from feudalism to centralized government at a time when centralism was needed and feudalism was outmoded.

He cited the French Revolution of the 18th Century to illustrate France's awareness — ahead of anyone except the new American republic — that the world was moving into a new period of freedom.

But he has never fully integrated the French army in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and judging from his TV talk, has no intention of doing so even though his West German ally is expected to.

He talked of reorganizing the French army into a new, atomic force, integrating his army in a single military force with his allies, he indicated, would

Strength For Today

ON THE MOVE
We who live on the North American continent are continually on the move. We do not stay put. The policy of modern industry is to move administrative officials from one part of the country to another.

People are constantly packing up and taking off to distant parts sure that they will find what they are looking for at the end of the rainbow. This is not all bad. It is a necessary part of the type of industrial and commercial civilization we have created. But it easily becomes bad. Without our knowing it, the tendency of these times begins to make us restless. Just yesterday I encountered a person who has countered a person who has made five changes of jobs and only make France a "back-seat nation."

Thus, at a time when there is talk of a United States of Europe, De Gaulle insists France will go it alone.

This can hardly appeal to the West Germans, who have wanted the closest links with France, especially since Russia is edgy about seeing a free, unattached West Germany military force of West German atomic power.

Reports from West Germany indicate his TV report to the French people got a bad reaction and that there is suspicion there he may want to hold aloof to some extent from full participation in the new Common Market.

In short: At a time when there is growing sentiment among France's neighbors for merging their interests, De Gaulle sees France's future in standing more or less aloof.

Maybe he's right in thinking that this course also demonstrates France's awareness of the times and its historic rightness in the course he wants to take.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Thursday night he agrees with De Gaulle's belief that he alone was the man helping restore French glory.

But if De Gaulle is wrong in his vision of France's role in the future, he may have headed off one of its greatest disasters.

He's walking at this minute on a fiery furnace. On one side the murderous secret army which opposes his idea of freedom for Algeria; on the other millions of Frenchmen — Communists, leftwing parties and non-Communist trade unions — opposed to the secret army.

A week ago eight people — six of them Communists — were killed by French police in a riotous demonstration against the secret army.

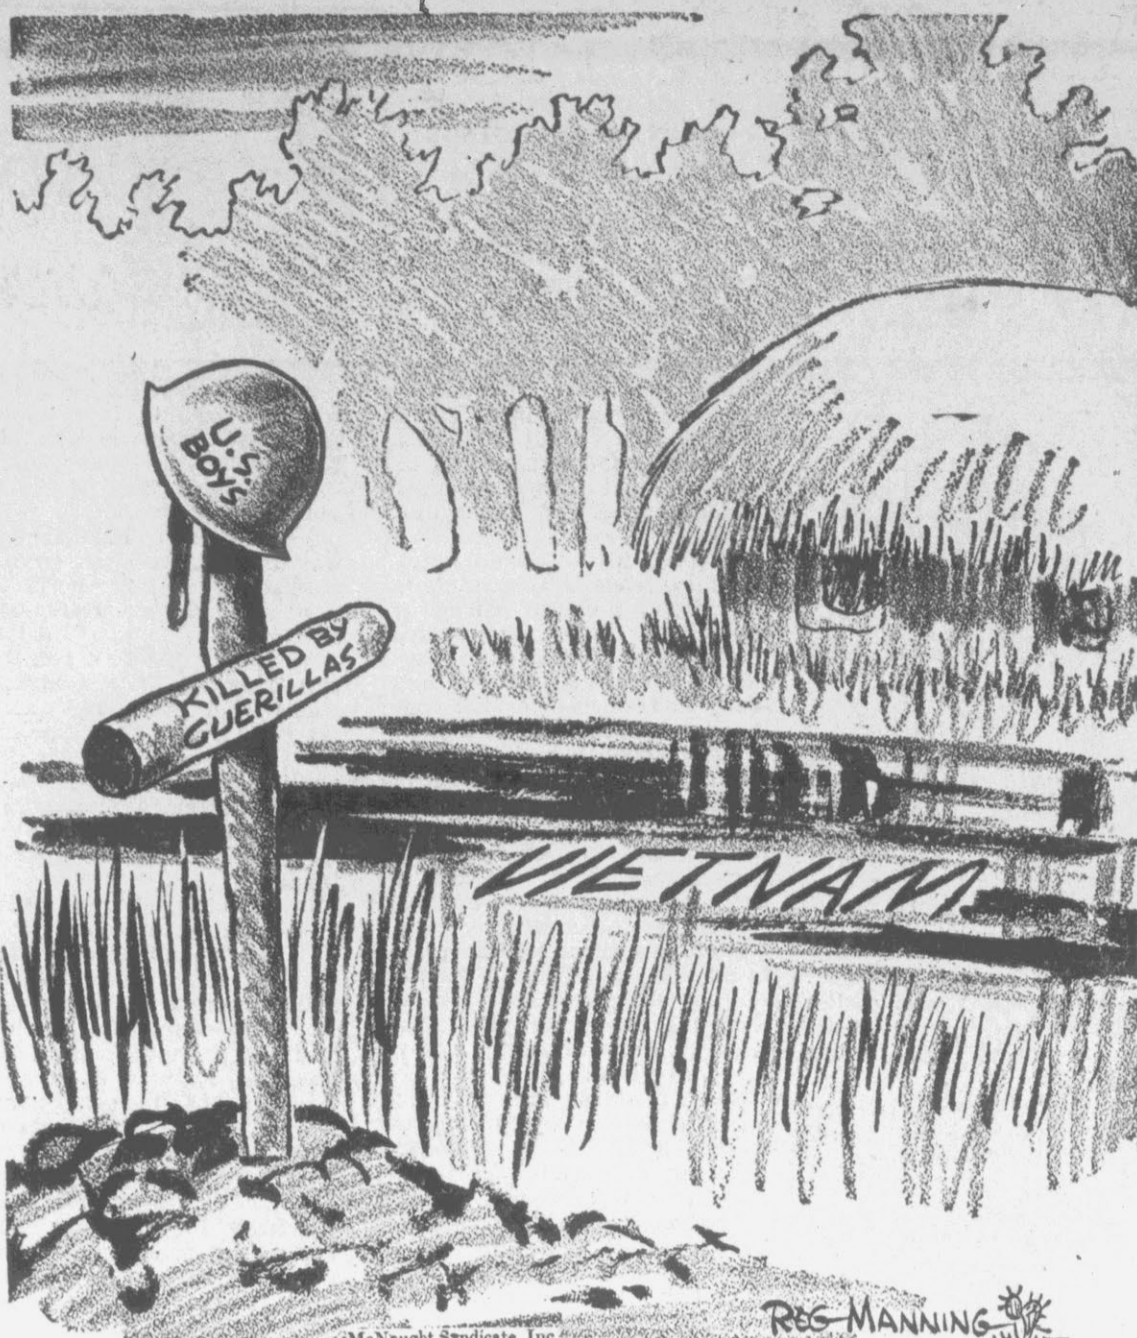

This week hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen — they could hardly be all Communists — paraded in one of the greatest demonstrations in French history in sorrow for the eight killed and in protest against French police brutality and the terrorism of the secret army.

residences within the past five years.

Our grandparents, for the most part, died in homes which they had founded fifty or more years ago. Sometimes a man muffed against his will is moved about by his company from one place to another until his family life is damaged and disjointed. But most of the time people get into the habit of wandering because they are restless, unsettled, sometimes lazy, or a bit fuzzy in their thinking.

Get your roots down. You're "acres of diamonds" are in your own backyard. We can easily enough wander into the desert or over the precipice. Wandering is only good if it is the working out of a definite purpose.

How Deep Is Our Commitment

By DON SCHLIENZ

An Hour Was Too Brief

A lot of people apparently stayed up late to see the First Lady conduct a tour of the White House. Reactions I've heard and read all indicate Mrs. Kennedy carried it off with a flourish.

Professional critics and reviewers, who can haggle over a minor flaw and scathingly condemn as a literary exercise, were using applause-laden prose the morning after.

There were untold millions of TV-viewers across the land, most of us seeing for the first time the home of our president. It would take a cold heart indeed to avoid feeling some pride in the historical heritage of the White House; and when, by inference or plain statement, it was conveyed that this showplace of America should house the finest showpieces, one could visualize a million heads nodding in sobre agreement.

The audience was treated to some history, much beauty, and inspiring relics of the past; all woven into an attention-holding hour that seemed too brief.

It will be shown again, at an earlier hour, in March, for benefit of the younger viewing audience who should have been abed at the time of the February showing. To me, this should be a "required" program for history classes; and well worth a look by any of their elders who missed it this week.

I don't really believe that 1961 license plates are going to make a "comeback". Tags for 1959, '57 and '55 (a vintage year) never regained their lost status.

But year after year, on changing city and state license plates, the old tags are thoughtfully put away in the trunk of the family chariot. Don't ask why.

There are few things worth less than an out-of-date license plate. A cancelled stamp has about as much practical value.

If a person saved all his old tags for fifty years, then sold the lot for scrap metal (assuming he found a buyer), his proceeds would not even buy a dinner.

Is it nostalgia, an abhorrence of waste, a keeping of souvenirs or milestones?

I remember seeing, years ago, an interior wall of a barn lined with old license tags the owner had nailed up each changing season. It was a more colorful display than available today. There were variations in colors and shapes and sizes, then. It made today's conformity seem pretty drab.

Yesterday I was reading of a man who discarded his '61 plates and later received via mail notice of a parking violation. Seems somebody put his old tags to use during their last few days of life... a "risk" that may not have occurred to everybody.

Marvel Of Our World

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1962, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It is possible to be so logical that minus negative plus and one thing comes to mean nothing against another. Mathematicians and philosophers are capable of that kind of pill-popping. They can deal with a theory until they have slaughtered the practical and nothing remains for them but words which bump into each other and flash for a second and are gone in the stillness.

A friend of mine who has undoubtedly found life disappointing wonders how I can find anything to praise in a world held together by spit and molasses. What he does not understand is that I am enthusiastic that it holds together at all, man having a way of tearing everything apart as children tear paper dolls. We could, of course, make a worse mess than we have of the world we live in but the human mind and spirit emerges and finds justification for virtue and for life.

My friend writes me: "Holding a thing together despite an absurdity does not always represent significant statesmanship. In this case it means holding together an organization which has become a peace-disturbing organization under the control of the Asian-African-Soviet bloc, which preaches and practices the holy mission of conducting wars of liberation and uses the UN as a forum for subversive propaganda against other nations. It is true that the UN has certain success of mediation to its credit, but the same things could have been accomplished by other devices without fostering a machine for world government which is in the hands of our enemies."

My friend finds in the UN the imperfections of an organization which lives by a majority vote, namely that the majority will often consist of the least intelligent and will express itself in unsatisfactory terminology. That happens all the time in the United States when we are suddenly faced by some politician whose manners are undignified. We shrug our shoulders and hope for the best and it often does work out surprisingly well. After all, none of the great statesmen of the world were trained for their jobs — not Caesar or Napoleon, although Alexander was brought to light by none other than Aristotle who wrote so wisely on how men should govern themselves. We have done remarkable well by a hit and miss method, even in this country where George Washington was advised by Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, extraordinary amateurs who risked success against the tide of the violence of their own opinions.

What can be said of the United Nations is that it has existed less than twenty years and its members do not all pay their dues and fees; that the white nations have failed to prove their supremacy for other reasons than the existence of the United Nations; that during a period of universal revolution and continuous war we have not discovered an alternative for war other than the United Nations.

Is this perfection? Of course not! It is a strident effort by man to find a technique for living together without constant war. It would be so much easier to hold the world together in great empires, to suppress every expression of independence and to have a council of five or ten to decide all questions with unerring wisdom.

Unfortunately we sent too many black and yellow boys to school and they have read the same books that the white boys read and they wonder if certain rules of life hold for the whites, why do they not hold for them. And they go in for biology and anthropology and all the learned disciplines and they wonder what is the essential difference between one group and another. And suddenly they discover the meaning of physical power.

At that point we must either recognize the Biblical brotherhood of man or the biological kinship of species or we are licked by the majority vote in the United Nations. My friend does not like that. Too long, he has lived as a superior man, glorying in his production of

Steel Peace Chances Growing

By ELMER ROESSNER

The nearer contract-expiration time comes, the further away a steel strike appears. A few months ago a strike seemed certain. Now a peaceful settlement seems likely — though not yet certain.

Here are reasons why: 1. Steel users have built up considerable inventory, fitting them to stand a long strike. Union leaders know it and know a strike would be costly.

2. Union leaders know that a strike would cost the economy more than their men could gain.

3. Union leaders know that steel companies would have to increase prices to make up strike losses — and that the unions would be blamed.

4. Both mill and union leaders have been informed that the White House insists on a peaceful settlement. While there may have been no secret letters or midnight phone calls, the message has got through, and each side knows that, if blamable, the power of the Administration will be brought to bear on it.

5. Both mill and union leaders are showing a conciliatory attitude. There have been no official meetings yet, despite reports to that effect, but there appear to have been friendly contacts and soundings out.

HIGHER SALES VOLUME
Here are other look-aheads in business.

More boom at retail: Sales have been surging since December. Department store sales have been running 7 per cent higher than a year ago. A preliminary survey of all retail sales indicates that January totals were 5 per cent above a year ago. Auto sales in January were at a five-year high, Ward's Automotive Report says.

And because all these increases are based on consumer confidence, and because there is nothing in sight to disturb that confidence, sales will continue to rise.

AUTO STOCKS HIGH

New car bargains: Despite vigorous sales, auto stocks are unusually high, with dealers holding almost a million cars. This may lead to some cutbacks in production and it may lead to some fine bargains for those who seek them out.

Foreign investing to increase: Prospects of a boom in the European Common Market are interesting American investors in many of the securities in European countries, and lively investment and/or speculation in foreign stocks is likely. This involves the danger of worsening the American balance of trade and lessening the gold supply.

Apartment house building boom: Contracts signed last year alone guarantee a boom in apartment house building. The creation of new families would indicate a good occupancy. However, there may be some leveling off in the construction of single-family houses. Many new families are being priced out of the market.

No nolo contendere: Companies caught in antitrust law violations often plead nolo contendere (no defense) instead of not guilty. This slight difference often leads to gentler sentences. So Congress may get a bill this year eliminating the nolo contendere plea. Passage: Doubtful.

PEACE PROMOTERS AMAZE THE OLD PROMOTER

The Old Promoter was chuckling when he dropped in today, and he showed me a clipping from the New York Times. It was from "People for Peace," calling upon readers to join.

"Send $1, and learn how you can help," the old one read. "Plain people, women, men, students must take the bull by the horns."

"Down where I come from," the Old Promoter added, "not even loco cowpokes took bulls by the horns, and certainly not plain people. Between a short war and a tough bull, I'd take a war every time."

Prep Scores

Bethel Downs Bel.-Falk. 83-58

BELVOIR—The Bethel Indians successfully invaded Belvoir-Falkland last night defeating the Eagles by a score of 83-58. This was Belvoir-Falkland's twelfth loss of the season, while the win was Bethel's eleventh win against three defeats.

The Indians outscored their opponents 21-17 in the first quarter, and they went on to maintain their advantage for the remainder of the contest. By the end of first half, Bethel had surged out in front by a score of 44-22.

However, the Eagles came back in the third period to outscore the Red Devils 23-20. This rally by Belvoir-Falkland was not enough, as the Indians coasted home to victory, 83-58.

Bethel was led by high scoring Don Dewar as he hit the nets for a game high total of 27 points. Tex Everett and Jimmy Lewis were also in double figures for the winners with 18 and 19 points respectively.

Allan Witherington led the Eagles in their losing effort by scoring 22 points, while Steve Cobb tallied 11 points for Belvoir-Falkland.

Earlier in the night, the Belvoir-Falkland girls defeated the Bethel girls 45-42. The Eagles took a 17-8 first quarter lead and managed to maintain this lead for the remainder of the contest.

Mary Pollard led the Eagles with a total of 22 points for the night. Francis Stepps was also in double figures for Belvoir-Falkland with 17 points.

Carolyn Manning and Janet Cobb scored 21 and 14 points respectively for the losing Indians.

Tuesday, Belvoir-Falkland will host Oak City while Bethel remains idle until Friday when they host Chicod.

Ayden Defeats Grifton 63-41

AYDEN—The Ayden Tornados won their twelfth conference game of the season last night defeating the Grifton Bulldogs 63-41.

The Tornados jumped to an early lead behind the sharp shooting of William Edwards. At the end of the first quarter, Ayden held the advantage 20-11. The Tornados were able to increase their lead to 39-20 at the end of the first half.

When the two teams returned to the court for the third period, it was Ayden who continued to increase their lead as they jumped to a 55-29 third quarter advantage. The Tornados, who outscored by the Bulldogs 13-8 in the last period, managed to hang on to their early lead to win the contest.

William Edwards was the high scorer for the Ayden Tornados with a total of 20 points for the night. Clem McLawnorn was also in double figures for Ayden with 11 tallies.

The losers were led by Tommy Riley and Warner Burch who scored 16 points each. They were the only Bulldogs in double figures for the losers.

Earlier in the night, the Ayden girls defeated the Grifton girls by a score of 37-28. The Tornados took a 9-5 first quarter and managed to maintain their lead for the remainder of the contest.

Nancy Stokes led the Tornados with a game high total of 19 points for the night. Susan Murphey was also in double figures for Ayden with 18 tallies. The only Bulldog to hit in the double figures for Grifton was Jane Mewborn with a total of 15 points for the contest.

Friday night Ayden travels to Stokes, while Grifton is idle until March 2 when they host Chicod.

Farmville Tops Grimesland 59-43

FARMVILLE—The Farmville Red Devils won their eighth conference game of the season last night, defeating the Grimesland Panthers by a score of 59-43.

Ben Monk led the high scoring Red Devils with a total of 18 points. Also in double figures for Farmville were Johnny Briley and Wynn Donat with 17 and 13 points respectively. William Reason added nine points to the total for the Red Devils.

The Panthers were led in their losing effort by Carlton Hardee and Billy Hardee who scored 15 and 11 points respectively. Nile Dail tallied 10 points for Grimesland.

The Grimesland Panthers surged to a 16-15 first quarter lead behind the sharp shooting of Carlton Hardee. However, the Panthers were unable to maintain the pace as the Red Devils rallied to regain the lead. At the end of the first half, Farmville had increased their advantage to 33-25.

Farmville came onto the court in the second half and continued to increase their lead over the tiring Panthers. The Red Devils led their opponents 46-33 at the end of the third quarter. Grimesland was unable to keep pace with Farmville as they went on to win 59-43.

Grimesland girls in a close battle 48-41. Farmville took the lead early in the first quarter and went on to lead at the end of the first period 11-9. However, the Panthers rallied to go ahead of the Red Devils 25-21 at the end of the half. Farmville returned to the court in the second half and immediately regained the lead and managed to maintain it for the remainder of the game.

The winners were led by Betsy Allen who scored a total of 16 points for the night. Also leading the Red Devils were Becky Williams and Kay Allen with 15 and 12 points respectively. High scorer for the losers was Sarah Tucker with a total of 31 points. She was the only Panther with double figures.

Feb. 23, Farmville travels to Winterville while Grimesland meets Belvoir-Falkland at Belvoir.

Rams Tops Bears 55-47

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Rams defeated the Bear Grass Bears in a conference game last night 55-47 for their fifth loop victory of the season.

ELIZABETH CITY—The Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets upset the Greenville Phantoms last night 47-44. This was Greenville's sixth loss of the season.

The Phantoms' loss can be credited to several factors while taking nothing away from the Yellow Jackets. Elizabeth City was ready for the game and outplayed Greenville for the win. However, the Phantoms lost the ball 21 times on violations such as bad passes and traveling.

Another factor which hurt the Greenville Phantoms was that they could not hit the nets for points. Greenville did not have a man in double figures, while Elizabeth City placed two men in the double figures column.

Jackets Pull Ahead—With two minutes remaining in the first quarter, the Yellow Jackets managed to pull ahead of the Phantoms by a score of 8-7. Greenville rallied to tie the score at 11-11 with only one minute left in the period, but Elizabeth City scored a field goal to go ahead 13-11 at the end of the first stanza.

Elizabeth City returned to the court in the second quarter to immediately start to increase their lead. After three minutes of the second period, the Yellow Jackets had increased their advantage to 17-11. The Phantoms fought desperately to overcome the deficit, but Elizabeth City maintained the lead and were still in front 23-20 at the end of the first half.

Phants Take Lead—Elizabeth City returned to the court in the second half and began to narrow the Yellow Jac-kets' lead. Alan McArthur sank two free throws late in the third period to send the Phantoms ahead for the first time of the night, 28-26. Greenville then increased their advantage to three points before they were overtaken by the determined Yellow Jackets. At the close of the third quarter, Elizabeth City had surged ahead of the Phantoms 31-30.

The Rose High Phantoms rallied in the beginning of the last quarter to once again take the lead over the victory-minded Yellow Jackets. However, for the remainder of the fourth period, the lead changed hands several times. Rodney Knowles sank a pair of free throws to send Greenville into the lead with three minutes remaining in the contest, 39-38. Knowles then fouled out of the ballgame and Elizabeth City surged into the lead to stay for the rest of the contest.

The Phantoms were led in the scoring department by Rodney Knowles, Jack Poley, and Alan McArthur who tallied nine points each. Kenneth Allen and Kroghie Andresen scored eight and six points, respectively, for the losers.

James Ball of Elizabeth City took the scoring honors for the night, sinking a total of 14 points. Also in double figures for the winning Yellow Jackets was Ike Jackson who dropped in 10 points for the contest.

Phant JV Wins—Earlier in the night, the Greenville junior varsity defeated the Elizabeth City junior varsity by a score of 47-45. The

Pirates Meet Bulldogs

Second Place In Carolinas Loop At Stake Tonight

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Carolinas Conference teams — with the exception of Lenoir Rhyne — go after seeded spots for the conference tournament in games tonight.

Lenoir Rhyne has already clinched the top-seeded position and the regular season championship with its 13-4 record. The Bears will be host to High Point tonight.

But Western Carolina (11-6), East Carolina (10-6) and Elon 9-6 have a chance to finish second and head the lower bracket for the tournament.

Western Carolina plays at Elon tonight, and East Carolina plays at Atlantic Christian. A victory by Western Carolina would give the Catamounts the runner-up spot.

An East Carolina defeat would send Elon into the No. 2 position. East Carolina, of course, could take second place if the Pirates defeat ACC and Elon beats Western Carolina.

Elon into the No. 2 position. Tonight, Catawba plays at Appalachian. In the only other league game scheduled for tonight, Pfeiffer is at College of Charleston, and Newberry plays host to Pembroke.

The pairings for the conference tournament will be made Sunday at Greensboro.

The eight teams which have berths in the tournament are Lenoir Rhyne, Western Carolina, East Carolina, Elon, High Point, Catawba, Pfeiffer and Appalachian. Newberry didn't play enough conference games, and ACC and Guilford failed to gain a berth on the basis of their conference records.

Newberry was the only conference team in action Friday night, and the Indians fell to Presbyterian 58-51.

WOMEN WRESTLERS — Carol Little and Rita Cortez will tangle in a one fall match with a 30 minute time limit Thursday night in the East Carolina gym. The event is part of the program sponsored by the Stadium Fund Committee and all proceeds will go toward the construction of the new stadium.

The Rams trailed the Bears at the end of the first period by three points with the score 13-10. Bear Grass increased their margin in the second quarter to lead at the half 29-22.

However, in the third period Robersonville rallied and pulled ahead 39-35 as the final quarter got underway. Bear Grass moved back in front early in the final period, but two minutes remaining in the contest.

The high scorer of the night for Robersonville was Butch Brown with 15 points. Wayne Britton was the only other Ram player to hit in the double figures. Topping the scoring column for Bear Grass was Van Parker with 27 points. He was the only player to hit in the doubles mark for the Bears.

Robersonville also came out on top in the Girls game when they came from behind in the second half to win 30-25. At the end of the first period Bear Grass led 10-3 and by the final the Bears held a nine-point advantage 19-10. In the final two periods Robersonville rallied to win the contest.

The high scorer for Robersonville was Norma Williams with 12 points. Topping the scoring column for the Bears was Lix Harrison with 10 points.

Tuesday night the Rams will host Williamson in a non-conference game while Bear Grass entertains Stokes-Pactolus.

Junior Phantoms jumped to an early lead over the Yellow Jackets and went on to an 11-4 first period lead. However, Elizabeth City rallied late in the second quarter to set the half-time score at Greenville 17, the Yellow Jackets 15.

The Phantoms increased their lead in the third period of the contest and they managed to ward off a last minute surge by the Yellow Jackets to win the game 47-45.

Chester Walden led the Phantoms with four field goals and three free throws for a total of 11 points. He was the only Greenville player in double figures.

The Yellow Jackets were led by Gene Scott and Frank Davenport who tallied 11 points each for the losers.

Tuesday night, Greenville travels to Kingston to meet the Red Devils, and Friday night the Phantoms play their last game of the regular season at home against Washington.

Houston Colts Miss Montego

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—The Houston Colts, one of two new National League entries for the 1962 baseball campaign, checked in at their Apache Junction training camp in Arizona and immediately ran into their first problem — missing pitcher Pete Montego.

Montego, who came to the Colts along with pitcher Bob Bruce in a trade that sent hurlers Sam Jones to the Detroit Tigers, lives in Cuba and told Houston officials he has been having difficulty arranging transportation from Havana.

The 21-year-old right-hander was unable to say when he might make it to the Colts' advance camp, which opened Friday with 21 pitchers and six catchers on hand.

Signing activity was at a minimum with Cincinnati signing pitcher Bob Purkey, the New York Mets picking up relief specialist Clem Labine, a free agent since he was dropped by the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Philadelphia linking hurler Art Mahaffey.

The Cleveland Indians completed signing their 40-man roster by reaching agreement with pitcher Jim Perry. Gary Bell, Bob Allen and Don Rudolph, outfielder Chuck Essegian and infielder Mike De La Hoz.

Werner Draws 9th Position—CHAMONIX, France (AP) — Bud Werner, Steamboat Springs, Colo., America's top hope in the men's downhill of the World Alpine Ski Championships, has drawn the No. 9 starting position for the races Sunday.

Chuck Ferries of Houghton, Mich., got the No. 19 position in the draw Friday, followed by Jim Huega, Tahoe City, Calif., 20th, and Bill Marolt, Aspen, Colo., 25th.

Guy Perillat of France took the No. 1 spot. The favorite, Karl Schranz of Austria, will have the No. 8 spot.

Both men's and women's downhill — closing events of the championships — are scheduled Sunday, with practice runs slated to day. The Austrians have won three of four events so far.

Among the other still wide open affairs as the season heads into its waning weeks are the Atlantic Coast, Southwest and Skyline, each with three teams still contending, and the Big Eight, Missouri Valley and — at least technically — the Big Ten.

In the latter, however, mighty Ohio State has a stranglehold with a 9-0 record and the country's No. 1 rating at 19-0 for the season.

Even if Mississippi State should take the lead in the SEC, and they're heavily favored to do so, the title would still be very much up for grabs — just as it is in most other major conferences.

Mississippi State has only four other league games remaining after Florida, Kentucky five. Auburn is still alive with a 7-2 record.

The Bulldogs take an eight-game winning string and a 19-1 over-all record into the scrap with Florida, 4-5 in the league and 8-9 for the season.

Among the other still wide open affairs as the season heads into its waning weeks are the Atlantic Coast, Southwest and Skyline, each with three teams still contending, and the Big Eight, Missouri Valley and — at least technically — the Big Ten.

In the latter, however, mighty Ohio State has a stranglehold with a 9-0 record and the country's No. 1 rating at 19-0 for the season.

Even if Mississippi State should take the lead in the SEC, and they're heavily favored to do so, the title would still be very much up for grabs — just as it is in most other major conferences.

Wake Forest Seeks Sixth Straight Loop Victory

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Wake Forest's rampaging basketball Deacons go after their sixth consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference victory tonight on their home court against Maryland.

Sparked by phenomenal scoring of 6-8 Len Chappell, the Deacons have vaulted to the top after a stumbling start. They wrested the lead from seventh-ranked Duke by flogging the Blue Devils by 18 points two nights ago.

Two other league games tonight will be played at the Charlotte Coliseum. North Carolina State plays Clemson in the opener, with North Carolina facing South Carolina in the nightcap.

Duke is home against Navy in a 2 p.m. regionally televised game to start the activity.

In a doubleheader at Charlotte Friday night, North Carolina

State edged South Carolina 76-75 to pull into a tie with Duke for second place in the conference, and sophomore Charlie Shaffer scored 25 points to lead North Carolina to a 69-59 victory over Clemson.

N.C. State, trailing by 14 points late in the first half, and by 47-39 at halftime, rallied in the second half to win. The Wolfpack now has a 9-3 conference record.

Wake Forest is 9-2. Jon Speaks paced State with 28 points, and Art Whinsant was high for South Carolina with 22 points.

Shaffer, starting his first game, paced the Tar Heels to their 23rd consecutive victory over Clemson in 10 years. The victory also gave North Carolina sole possession of fourth place in the ACC.

Chappell has scored 260 points in his last seven games to raise his 20-game average to 30.6, one of the top marks in the nation. His heroic feats this month have been responsible for the Deacons getting untracked and boosting their ACC record to 9-2.

Two months ago Wake Forest was maulled at Ma'land 79-62, despite Chappell's 26 points. But the Terrapins have encountered rough going of late. They've dropped their last three league games and are 3-7 to date in conference play, with an 8-12 overall record. One more loss would equal the high mark for coach Bud Milliken in his 12 seasons at Maryland. His 10-13 record three seasons ago is his only losing campaign.

Duke's game with Navy completes the Blue Devils' home season. They finish on the road next week against Virginia and North Carolina. Navy has a 13-5 record against Duke's over-all 16-4.

George Washington Earns Loop Tournament Berth—Richmond. The victory boosted GW's conference record to 5-6 and, with only two more conference games ahead, it's now mathematically impossible for the Colonials to miss out on a tournament invitation.

A narrow 79-76 squeak past the Citadel last night at Ft. Myers enabled Coach Bill Reinhard's struggling Colonials to nail down a spot in the eight-team title tournament March 1-2-3 in Richmond. The victory boosted GW's conference record to 5-6 and, with only two more conference games ahead, it's now mathematically impossible for the Colonials to miss out on a tournament invitation.

A key game in W&M's do-or-die push comes up tonight in the Indians' cozy Blow Gymnasium, where they play host to VMI.

Besides the Tech-Richmond and W&M-VMI games, there are a couple of games on the conference card tonight that won't count in the league standings. They find West Virginia, 18-5 over-all, visiting Syracuse and Furman (13-10) at home to Wofford.

George Washington withstood a 34-point barrage by the Citadel's Gary Daniels to upend the Cadets, who had won three games in a row.

Davidson's Wildcats, an in-and-out club since VMI ended their 12-game winning streak last Saturday, fell before non-conference Erskine 76-66 at Gastonia, N.C. Bill Jarman paced the Wildcats with 31 points but yielded scoring honors to Erskine's Bob Tuttle, who had 35.

Another nationally-ranked team, Kansas State (No. 4), also is trying to catch up in its league, the Big Eight. Kansas State (7-1) tries Oklahoma, while leading Colorado (8-0) is at Kansas.

A couple of other major games pit ninth ranked Duquesne (16-4) against Dayton and 10th-ranked Bowling Green (17-2) against Ohio University. A victory would secure the Mid-American title for Bowling Green.

Yale took a giant stride toward securing the Ivy League title Friday night, blanking Cornell 77-56. They entered the match tied for the top with 7-1 records, and play each other again next week.

In other major games Friday night, LaSalle edged St. Joseph's (Pa.) 72-71, and Penn clouted Harvard 89-59 in a Philadelphia doubleheader. North Carolina outlasted Clemson 69-59. Brown beat Columbia 87-57. George Washington bested the Citadel 79-76.

Creighton shot down the Air Force 61-60. Stanford beat California 64-51

Judge Urges Individual Effort To Reduce Crime

Superior Court Judge William J. Bundy of Greenville Friday called for a universal individual effort to reduce criminal activity in an address to the Greenville Exchange Club.

Judge Bundy addressed the club's regular meeting which hosted as guests local and state law enforcement officials and marked the end of the Exchange Club's observance of Crime Prevention Week.

In opening his address, Judge Bundy quoted J. Edgar Hoover: "The average citizen does not take seriously the rising tide of crime unless and until it involves him."

The Greenville judge cautioned his audience: "Laws were made to protect and not to punish."

Citing the "terrible cost of crime, not only in dollars and cents, but in the misery and heartbreak which inevitably comes as a direct result of crime," Judge Bundy said it is the duty of each individual to obey the law and the duty of all to teach obedience to the law.

"Only a concerted effort by the nation as a whole can slow the advance of crime," he said. Judge Bundy closed his address with a quote from Abraham Lincoln: "Let reverence for the law be taught in the home and the school; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed from legislative halls and enforced in the courts of justice; and let all tongues and colors sacrifice unceasingly upon its altar."

Judge Bundy's address climaxed an organized program conducted by a special committee of the Exchange Club headed by Bruce Koonce. A series of speakers addressed various civic clubs and Greenville school assemblies during the week.

Law enforcement officials who were guests of the club included Pitt County Sheriff's Deputies Duke Andrews and Ralph Tyson, Greenville Police Chief Guy D. Langston and Capt. J. B. Cannon, Highway Patrol Capt. S. H. Mitchell, and Troop A executive officer Lt. Ernest Guthrie. Other guests included John Haney, Richard Gaylord and Lee Rowland.

Bishop Wright Visiting Local Church Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Wright, DD, of Wilmington, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina, will make his annual visitation to St. Paul's Church in Greenville tomorrow.

Bishop Wright will be present at three services in the local church, 7:30 a.m. Holy Communion, Morning Prayer and Sermon at 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. At these two later services he will preach and confirm a class of persons to be presented by the curate and the rector.

Bishop Wright is a native of Wilmington which is now his see city as Diocesan Bishop. He is married to the former Hannah Knowlton and is the father of four children. His undergraduate work was done at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn and Theological work at Va. Seminary at Alexandria, Va.

Since ordination he has served Episcopal Churches in Lexington, Va., the University of North Carolina, San Francisco, Calif., and San Antonio, Tex. He was elected and consecrated to the Episcopate in East Carolina in 1945 in his home parish, St. James Church in Wilmington.

Under his leadership the diocese of East Carolina has grown in numbers of communicants and financial strength. His influence and popularity among church people has spread to many lands. At present he is chairman of Overseas Missions for the Episcopal Church's national council. Last year Bishop Wright took a world tour visiting all overseas stations. In this country he is in great demand as a preacher and speaker.

Well known in Greenville, Bishop Wright can be heard at St. Paul's Church this Sunday. The services of the church are open to visitors.

Sorority Is Sponsoring Heart Tag Day In City

As a part of the 1962 Heart Fund Campaign, members of Alpha Phi Sorority of East Carolina College today were sponsoring Heart Tag Day.

The effort began about 9:30 this morning in the downtown and business areas of Greenville. Persons contributing to the Heart Fund were to be given red hearts.

Thursday, members of Alpha Phi Sorority will be in charge of Coffee Day, when merchants who sell coffee will be asked to give their coffee receipts to the Heart Fund. Miss Gay Hogan, advisor of the sorority, stated, "The merchants have been very cooperative. This same project was carried out here last year, with a great deal of cooperation from the merchants."

She added, "We hope on Thursday that people will drink a lot of coffee."

Chairman of different projects for the Heart Fund Drive in Alpha Phi have been Rebecca Murphree of Maury, Nancy Wright of Henderson and Brenda Reges of Rocky Mount.

Alpha Phi has maintained an interest in heart work since 1946, when cardiac aid was adopted as a national philanthropy. In the past 15 years, over $600,000 has been contributed by Alpha Phi to the cardiac aid fund. From this fund contributions have gone to three hospitals: Children's Heart Hospital in Los Angeles, Herrick House in Bartlett, Ill., and Heart Hospital in Minneapolis. Money is used for care and treatment, and also for fellowships for men and women in the area of cardiac research.

Bethel Rotary Hears Speaker

BETHEL—Highway Patrolman Luther Long of Bethel was speaker at the Bethel Rotary Club meeting this week.

He pointed out that last year 20 million automobiles were registered in North Carolina, and that every seven hours one person was killed. Every nine minutes there was an accident and every 20 minutes someone was injured.

"Accidents have increased in our state even after all the work done to prevent them," Patrolman Long noted. The legislature has helped the situation by passing better and stricter laws, he said. Clinics and the State College training program which offers a four-week course are helping to reduce accident rates. Many large companies are now having their men trained.

Describing the point system, Long mentioned advantages brought about through suspension of licenses, when a total of 12 points have been accumulated. The driver then has eight points before suspension for the next three years.

Parents should set a good example for their children in driving safely, he said.

Long was the guest of program James Womack, President Linnwood Briley presided and C. W. Everett gave the invocation.

Guest for the evening was Dr. Sylvester Green of the Greenville Rotary Club. Tom Andrews Jr. made a plea for support of the Ficklen stadium movement in the county.

Seven Parochial Schools Holding Music Festival

St. Raphael's School in Greenville will serve as host Sunday to a music festival in which children attending schools of the Eastern Deacony, Diocese of Raleigh, will take part.

Seven parochial schools will be represented in the annual festival which gets underway here tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

Children from the following schools will take part: St. Therese School (Wilson); Our Lady of the Atonement School (Kinston), Christ the King School (Kinston), St. Alphonsus School (Wilson), Our Lady of Perpetual Help School (Rocky Mount), St. Gabriel School (Greenville) and St. Raphael School.

The Reverend Maurice Spillane, host pastor, will preside. The public is invited.

Father Of Local Woman Succumbs

SELMA—Lewis Evans, 74, father of Mrs. Roy Gibbs of Greenville, died here Friday afternoon.

A lifelong resident of the Pine Level community, Route 3, Selma, Mr. Evans was a member of the Pine Level Free Will Baptist Church.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today.

Surviving, in addition to Mrs. Gibbs, are his wife, Mrs. Edilla Blackman Evans; seven daughters, Mrs. Oscar Baker, Mrs. Ralph Godwin, Mrs. Ervin Balley and Mrs. Glenn Reaves of Selma, Mrs. Bill Halb of the home, Mrs. Garth Howell of Pine Level and Mrs. Sterling Kitzer of Havelock; three sons, Wilton B., Rayford and Aaron, all of Pine Level; one brother, John Evans of Four Oaks; two sisters, Martha Adams of Four Oaks and Mrs. Lucy Albert of Selma; three half-brothers and one half-sister.

Rose High News

By SHERRY EVERETT

"When you see an officer of the law enforcing a regulation, cooperate with him and, by your attitude to the law, set the tone you want to see others follow in respect for the law," urged Recorder's Court Judge Charles H. Whedbee in an assembly Friday.

Sponsored by the Exchange Club, the assembly was centered around Crime Prevention Week. Mr. Whedbee explained that the youth of the day would rule tomorrow and that they have a grave responsibility on their hands.

"The impetus for violating laws usually stems from the lack of sufficient training at home. As future parents you have a sacred duty in training your children to respect the laws," he stated.

"Crime is foolish. It admits that you have a mental and physical weakness when you don't abide by the laws."

Mr. Whedbee showed that, even from the beginning, man found that he needed rules. Without them, everyone turned to the hands.

Club members who receive the chicks return 12 grown birds to a fall show and sale seven months later. Proceeds from the sale go into the Poultry Chain treasury to purchase more chicks for the following spring.

Annual sales are conducted by the Poultry Chain program on the Pitt County Courthouse lawn, usually in September.

The program, according to Sanderson, is designed to teach good poultry management and practices.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

The nature of true happiness will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Selections from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Soul" include these verses from I Chronicles (16): "Glory ye in his holy name—let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord . . . Glory and honor are in his presence; strength and gladness are in his place."

One of the citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 57): "Happiness is spiritual, born of Truth and Love. It is unselfish; therefore it cannot exist alone, but requires all mankind to share it."

Bergeron of Farmville.

Students Hear D. W. Stith

AYDEN—D. W. Stith, president of Southeastern Business College, Durham, addressed South Ayden students who are enrolled in business classes and who plan to make their careers in "The World of Free Enterprise" recently.

Stith pointed out that a business school differs from that of a four-year college, since there are no entrance exams, the courses are limited to two years and the student begins school with the field which he plans to study. There are no co-curricular courses, he said.

Business colleges, however, are accredited by the state and recognized throughout the United States.

Stith was introduced by Mrs. A. M. Brown, instructor of business classes at South Ayden.

RECEIVES AWARD—Dr. J. W. (Joe) Pou, (right) assistant vice president and manager of the agriculture department of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Greenville, is shown receiving the 1961 North Carolina 4-H Club Alumni Award from L. R. Harrill, State 4-H Leader. The presentation was made recently in Raleigh at the annual Farm Credit Convention, sponsored by the North Carolina Bankers Association. Dr. Pou was cited for his outstanding achievements and contributions to the 4-H program on the local, state and national levels.

Reviews And Reflections

By JIM POINDEXTER

Last week there was a report here about some of the remarkable devices which can be utilized to perform human brainwork.

Here is further information about one of them, the machine that translates English to Russian. According to John Fuller in the Saturday Review, the other day it rendered "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak" as "The liquor is good but the food is lousy."

National Newspaper
An interesting new weekly publication is the National Observer. Issued by Dow, Jones, publishers of the Wall Street Journal, it too is in newspaper format, which the editors claim will enhance ease and speed of reading.

They also compare their product to the old-fashioned country weekly newspaper — except that they claim the whole country as their community.

In addition to articles on the main events of the week, the Observer contains columns, special departments and bright gems from here to there.

The latest issue, for example, presents Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago as a master of the malapropism almost in the class of Sam Goldwyn. His Honor has been heard referring to "higher and higher platitudes" and a "tantrum bike."

Juvenile Delinquency?
The Observer also tells the story of the University of Wisconsin student who, in making a study of juvenile delinquency, phoned twelve homes at 9 p.m. to ascertain where the children were. In seven of the homes, the phone was answered by a youngster who professed utter ignorance of the whereabouts of his parents.

The New Barry
Barry Goldwater has suddenly taken on a new human dimension. That is, he has turned out to be a man with a sense of humor. This means that he can now be taken seriously, as paradoxical as that may sound.

Goldwater exhibited this most necessary trait in the public man last week in Washington, speaking before the Alfalfa Club, an organization which annually holds a mock national convention to nominate a Presidential candidate. This year Goldwater was the choice.

Here are some excerpts from his "acceptance speech," as reported in U. S. News & World Report.

"It (the nomination) takes my breath away, even though I feel the White House is ready for me since Jacqueline remodeled it in an 18th century decor, and I feel this is a double honor since I've never been to Harvard."

"Of course, the Goldwater clan is not as large as the Kennedy clan. And my brother Bob doesn't want to be in government — he promised Dad he'd go straight. Besides, somebody has got to mind the store."

"I have a grandson too young to vote but too old to be the Attorney General. This may be an asset."

"I was born in a log cabin, which I had moved to Phoenix, and except for some air conditioning, a swimming pool, a bowling alley, a bar, a shooting range and a golf course, it remains the simple log cabin it always was."

"I've never hesitated with an answer. When anyone asks me how I stand on integration, I've only got one answer: Where are you from?"

An Ancient Art
In a year of great cultural events, undoubtedly the ultimate will be reached Thursday evening with the appearance of an ensemble of ladies and gentlemen in Memorial Gymnasium to give a demonstration of the ancient art of wrestling.

The connoisseur of the Spanish style will find nothing lacking in the finesse of the rather quixotic Senor Pancho Villa, who will be opposed by Mr. Larry Montana, an artist of fire and spirit.

Most interesting to a discriminating audience, however, will be Sir Alan Garfield, reportedly a remote descendant of the doughty Charles the Wrestler of Renaissance fame. Sir Alan — it is rumored, became a devotee of the art whilst at Eton, under the inspiration of the account in the twenty-third book of the Iliad of the bout between the Telamonian Ajax and Odysseus (three falls ending in a draw).

Burmese Play
The Burmese play, Prime Minister U Nu's "The Wages of Sin," which will be presented at the College Feb. 22, 23, 24, McGinnis, 8:15, is creating much interest throughout the country. There is a rumor that Life will send reporters in. If they came Thursday night, they could also make a few studies of Sir Alan in action. The word is that the play has a talented cast and that it bids fair to be excellent entertainment.

Art Exhibit
Marjorie Jackson, Director of the Greenville Art Center, says it's like Christmas at the Center. Things are coming in from every quarter for the Exhibition of Associated Artists which will open Feb. 25. More on that next week.

Will see you at the ringside. Bring along your copies of Homer for Sir Alan to autograph.

The East Carolina College Playhouse will present "The Wages of Sin" by U Nu, Prime Minister of Burma, Feb. 22, 23, 24, as a major attraction of its 1961-1962 program of dramas and as a gesture of international friendship and cultural exchange.

Three performances, the first to be given in this country, are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium on the campus.

His Excellency U On Sein, Ambassador from Burma to the United States, and members of his staff at the Burmese Embassy in Washington, D. C., will be honor guests at the Feb. 24 performance. Also invited to attend are state and national officials from North Carolina and military officers from nearby bases.

The play, a moralistic drama with a modern political background, deals with the evils of Communism. The plot centers around U Po Lone, Burmese Home Minister, whose vices make him unworthy of his position and a danger to his party and to democratic government in his country.

In a discussion of Communism among visitors in Po Lone's house, U Tun says, "Democracy gives man his dignity. . . Put the two ideologies together before the people and they are bound to choose Democracy every time. That's why we need have no fear that Communism will prevail."

U Mone answers, "Not if the leaders on Democracy's side become depraved. . . debauched leaders can never fight Communism, they can only pave the way for it."

The idea voiced by U Mone is developed in the career of U Po Lone, drunkard, briber, gambler, and seducer of women.

Dr. J. A. Withey, Director of the East Carolina Playhouse, became interested in the drama by the statesman-playwright during 1960-1961 when he was a Fulbright scholar in theater arts at the University of Mandalay. His request to give the play its premiere in the United States was granted by U Nu in December. Rehearsals began in late January.

"The Wages of Sin" will be presented here with a cast of more than thirty students and two faculty members. Dr. Albert Diket, faculty member of the social studies department, who has had experience with the New Orleans Little Theater and with semi-professional groups in Washington, D. C., is cast in the leading role of U Po Lone.

Costumes for the East Carolina College production by Mrs. Lois Garren of Greenville, follow designs of the Burmese national dress. Scenery is based on original plans by Dr. Withey.

In the interest of authenticity, Daw Mya Sein, Burmese educator, historian, and former representative to the United Nations, will act as consultant to the East Carolina Playhouse for four days preceding the opening performance. Her visit to the campus and her role as advisor was made possible by a grant from the Asia Foundation.

Prime Minister U Nu, champion of democracy, and head of the Burmese government during most of its 14 years of independence, is author of a number of works, including "Burma Under the Japanese" and his plays "The People Win

Through," written shortly after World War II and presented in this country in 1955 by the Pasadena Playhouse, and the recently written drama "The Wages of Sin." He has translated such diverse works as Marx's "Das Kapital" and Dale Carnegie's "How To Win Friends and Influence People."

At the Feb. 22 and 23 performances no seats will be reserved. Reserve-seat tickets for the Feb. 24 performance at $1.00 each may be obtained by writing to The East Carolina Playhouse, Box 894, East Carolina College, Greenville, N.C.

Rhythm Therapy Applied In Trainable School

A six-week program of therapy through rhythm has already improved muscular coordination of students attending the Trainable School for retarded children here.

Mrs. Ellen Carroll, director of instruction for Greenville schools, believes Greenville is the only school system in the state which has used a concentrated program of rhythms for the trainable group.

Through volunteer efforts by Mrs. Marie Wallace, local dance instructor, the two groups of students at the Trainable School (located behind Rose High School) have received instruction in rhythms including dance steps in the cha cha, waltz, ballet, twist and polka.

This program has served not only to improve muscular coordination, but also to help the students in social development, following directions and in recreation.

Traditionally, muscular coordination of mentally retarded children is poor, though there are exceptions.

Asked her own opinion of progress of the students through the therapy, Mrs. Wallace said, "Their muscular coordination has improved tremendously. For the younger group, there is a striving for perfection." Some members of the older groups have even appeared on television in dance shows.

Some children who have previously suffered strokes or polio to have particularly benefited from the therapy, since they have been encouraged to use muscles they ordinarily do not exercise. As a group they have shown a great enthusiasm for the period of rhythms, which has been given four hours a week, two hours for each group.

The students have learned to recognize different dance rhythms. Teachers and the dance instructor have received "100 per cent cooperation from the students," their principal, Mrs.

Robert Starling, said. In previous periods they have bounced a ball and jumped rope to music, but "it is more fun this way," Mrs. Starling said.

Participating in the program have been the teachers themselves, including Mrs. Starling, who teaches the younger group, and Mrs. Thurman Hale, assistant teacher of the younger group; Mrs. William Sermons, teacher of the older group and Mrs. Raymond Smith, assistant.

Rhythms are also given on Mondays and Fridays when Mrs. Hubert Haynes plays the piano for the children two hours a week, on a gratis basis.

Mrs. Carroll expressed her pleasure at the progress of the students at the Trainable School through the rhythm therapy.

Streamlining Due For Recreation Program

FARMVILLE — Farmville's municipal recreation program is in for a streamlining if tentative plans being formulated by the Town Commissioners' Recreation Committee materialize.

And it's a good bet a considerable portion of the ambitious plan will become a reality by the time vacation-from-school rolls around for Farmville youngsters.

There's a reason for that. The Recreation Committee — composed of Commissioners Joseph D. Joyner, Tommy Lang and Sam Wainwright — has started early with its planning. Already the three-man study group has discussed its way through blueprinting sessions. More are to come.

Adding lustre to the progressive appearance of the budding program is the fact that a recognized authority in recreational planning has been consulted. Mrs. Virginia Gregory, assistant director of the N. C. Recreation Commission, already has forwarded informational material to the local committee.

Following up the initial contact, the committee has scheduled a meeting with Mrs. Gregory next Wednesday in the Farmville Town Hall. Joyner, Lang and Wainwright plan to re-examine their plans carefully at the Wednesday meeting.

Some features that may be added to this summer's program include an arts and crafts program, tennis and badminton courts, shuffleboard facilities, table tennis and other indoor games.

These, under the committee's tentative plan, would become additions to the local program that includes a well-organized swimming and swimming instruction program as well as a competitive softball league-type organization.

A prominent feature of the planning is the desire to utilize Farmville's new National Guard armory. The paved parking area there, as well as the spacious, modern interior of the building, figure into the committee's planning.

But perhaps a greater feature of the local program's planned revamping is the potential of a long-range plan. The committee is expressly interested in providing more recreational activity this summer.

But, at the same time, the three commissioners have been giving careful attention to the fact that their plan today should have a broad enough base to be used as a foundation for expansion without unreasonable renovation.

TWIST . . . is one way to achieve muscular coordination. Above, Marie Wallace (right) gives instructions to students of the Trainable School in therapy through rhythms. During a six-week program, the muscular coordination has already improved. (Reflector staff photo)

SENIOR CITIZENS CLUB . . . Officers of the Senior Citizens Club, sponsored by the Greenville Recreation Department, include Mrs. Charles Horne and Mrs. Ellen Petrie, telephone committee co-chairman; Mrs. H. W. Tarkington, Vice-chairman; and Mrs. Linda Stout, secretary-treasurer. Not pictured is Miss Ellen Proctor, Chairman of the club. The group, which meets each Tuesday and Thursday at 10 a.m., held its last charter-member meeting yesterday. Membership of the group, which was organized in October, 1961 now totals 30. Yesterday's meeting included a program on gardening books by Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian of the Sheppard Memorial Library and a covered dish luncheon.

'Minimum' U.S. Loss In South Viet Nam Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials say the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam will be won with a minimum amount of combat and loss of life by Americans.

As this official optimism was being expressed here, there was a report in Saigon the United States is going to triple the length of service of some of its army men in Viet Nam.

About three-fourths of the estimated 4,000 U. S. servicemen there are assigned to a temporary six-months tour of duty, but an informant said this was being extended to a permanent 18-month tour for some key personnel, such as helicopter pilots.

The Saigon dispatch said official information on the extension was classified, presumably to avoid calling more attention to the U. S. military buildup. It is timed at keeping the Southeast Asian country from falling to Communist guerrillas and infiltration slipping across the border from North Viet Nam.

The situation will take Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on another flying trip to Hawaii this weekend for a conference with top officers and diplomats from the Red-pressed country.

He will leave Sunday, accompanied by Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Assistant Secretary of Defense Paul A. Nitze, and Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, newly appointed U. S. military commander in Viet Nam, arrived in Honolulu Friday to prepare for the talks.

It will be the third such Viet Nam conference for McNamara in two months.

U. S. officials said their opti-involved very often in this kind of clash.

Thus, the officials said, the only American casualties foreseen would be few in number, such as in airplane crashes. Eight Americans were killed Sunday in the crash of a plane dropping propaganda leaflets.

The three U. S. helicopter companies, each with about 200 men, are doing what is called support work, ferrying Vietnamese troops into combat zones. At least two of the helicopters were killed, but no Americans were killed.

U. S. officials also expressed belief that neither Red China nor Communist North Viet Nam would launch a full-scale attack on South Viet Nam.

Despite the optimism, officials figure the fight against the Communist guerrillas will be a long campaign.

Press dispatches from Saigon have reported that U. S. forces supporting and advising Viet Nam's military establishment are increasingly trading pot shots with the Communist Viet Cong.

President Kennedy has said the Americans—described as assigned to technical and training jobs only—are under orders to shoot back if fired upon.

But the officials said they don't expect U. S. troops to get involved very often in this kind of clash.

100 Navy Volunteers In Long Confinement Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—One hundred Navy volunteers walk into a hole in the hillside today for a stay that—so far as they have been advised—will be indefinite.

The hole leads to a $70,000 fallout shelter where the sailors will sleep in shifts, play cards, eat emergency rations and wait for outside of simulated radioactivity to cool off.

The Navy and newsmen know how long the group will live below ground in the test of shelter living conditions at the Navy Medical Center at Nearby Bethesda, Md. But the subjects of the test, youngsters fresh from boot training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Illinois, are not being told.

The results will be of interest to the Pentagon's Civil Defense planners.

"This is not a Civil Defense test," a Navy spokesman said, "it is a military test to determine best means of protecting personnel at naval bases, so the Navy will be able to operate even under the conditions of nuclear war."

Twice each day, two-man teams will emerge like groundhogs for a quick check of "radiation" interest, then go back into the tunnel, toss their "contaminated" clothing into a receptacle in a tiny anteroom, take a shower, and re-enter the 25x48-foot shelter.

When the simulated radioactivity reaches a safe level the seamen will come out for 48 hours of medical checks and interrogation.

Until then, they will live in quarters giving each man about one tenth the space he would have in a submarine. They will live on a 2,000-calorie diet based on survival ration crackers, supplemented by soup, stew, peanut butter, coffee and chocolate.

In command will be Lt. (j.g.) John T. White. The medical officer will be Capt. David Minard. Two medical corpsmen and 96 enlisted men round out the complement.

In later experiments the psychological effect of long confinement will be studied. Right now the Navy wants merely to test physical reactions. However, each man will keep a diary.

The only heat in the shelter will be body heat.

In a two-day preliminary test the inside temperature rose quickly to 68 degrees while the outside temperature was 10.

The 50 beds are rectangles of canvas, slung five deep on a steel jungle gym arrangement that occupies about half the living space. Each man gets two blankets.

The young seamen will have no television and just one radio set, but their movements will be monitored by a TV camera.

The only cooking utensils are an electric soup kettle and an electric coffee pot. The supplies stacked around the walls in cartons include cases of the canned wheat crackers, canned soups and stew, dried milk, instant cocoa, paper cups and towels, plastic food trays and soup bowls, cigarettes and facial tissues.

YOU FINALLY OPENED THAT DOOR, DIDN'T YOU, MR. SMYTHE?

YES, I OPENED IT. I WAS LOOKING FOR SOME CARBON PAPER.

I INTENDED TO SHOW YOU THAT ROOM LATER AFTER YOU BECAME ORIENTED IN YOUR JOB—I KNEW YOU WOULD WONDER.

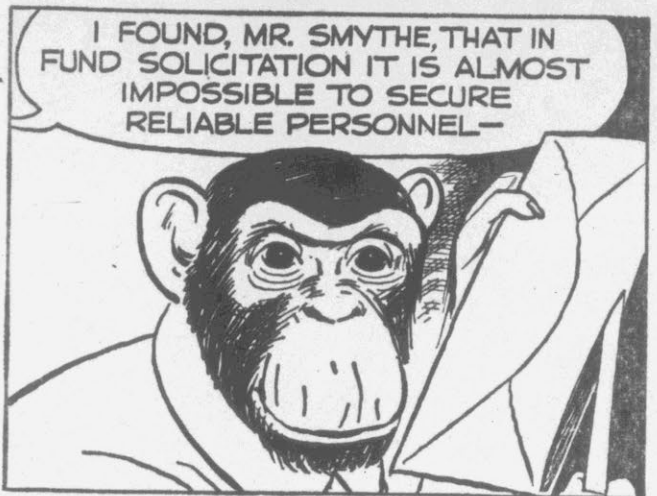

CHIMPS?

YES, CHIMPS.

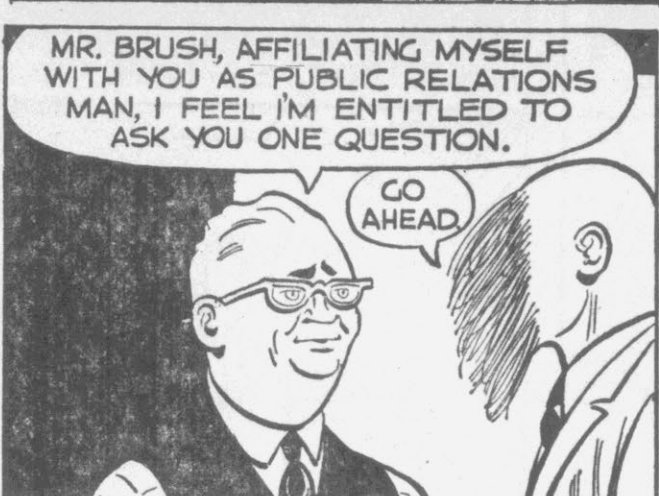

THEY OPEN ALL OUR MAIL AND REMOVE THE CONTRIBUTIONS.

I FOUND, MR. SMYTHE, THAT IN FUND SOLICITATION IT IS ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO SECURE RELIABLE PERSONNEL—

THE CHIMPS ARE HONEST AND EFFICIENT. THEY REQUIRE NO SOCIAL SECURITY, AND THEY DON'T TALK.

MR. BRUSH, AFFILIATING MYSELF WITH YOU AS PUBLIC RELATIONS MAN, I FEEL I'M ENTITLED TO ASK YOU ONE QUESTION.

GO AHEAD.

JUST WHAT DO YOU DO WITH THESE FUNDS IN YOUR FIGHT TO AID MANKIND AGAINST FALLOUT?

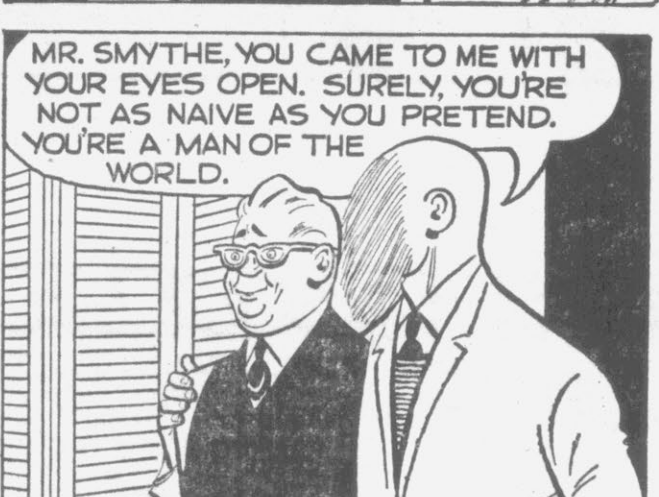

WHAT DO I DO WITH THESE FUNDS? IS THAT WHAT YOU ASK?

P. O. SMYTHE, LOOK ME IN THE EYE AND ASK ME THAT QUESTION AGAIN.

—BUT THIS MUST INVOLVE MILLIONS.

MR. SMYTHE, YOU CAME TO ME WITH YOUR EYES OPEN. SURELY, YOU'RE NOT AS NAIVE AS YOU PRETEND. YOU'RE A MAN OF THE WORLD.

YOU AND I CAN MAKE QUITE A TEAM," SAYS THE BRUSH, "IF WE JUST CO-OPERATE. SHALL WE HAVE A TALK?" "YES," SAYS P. O. SMYTHE, "LET'S HAVE A TALK."

WELL, CAPTAIN! WHAT DID YOU LEARN? IS THE PHANTOM MARRIED?

NO, HIGHNESS, THOUGH THEY DO SAY HE HAS A SWEETHEART FAR AWAY...

THAT'S NO PROBLEM. WHAT ELSE?

...THEY SAY HE'S THE WISEST OF MEN... HAS THE STRENGTH OF TEN TIGERS... AND, ER... IS 400 YEARS OLD.

THEY CALL HIM THE GHOST WHO WALKS... MAN WHO CANNOT DIE. NATURALLY, JUNGLE NONSENSE. BUT THEY DID SAY THAT, DIDN'T THEY?

YES, HIGHNESS.

NONSENSE? WHY... YES... OF COURSE.

400 YEARS OLD! CAN THIS BE POSSIBLE? HE TOO MUST BE UNDER A WITCH'S SPELL!

CHAPTER 30

The girl, who had been listening attentively to James Bond, now seemed distracted. She looked up at him and then swiftly away.

She said shyly, "What I said, what I said about having you. That is not true. I didn't understand. How could I—all this terrible story? I still can't quite believe it, believe that Largo has anything to do with it. We had sort of an affair in Capri. He is an attractive man. Everyone else wanted him. It was a challenge to take him from all these other women. Then he explained about the yacht and this wonderful trip looking for treasure. It was like a fairy tale. Of course I agreed to come."

She looked briefly at him and away. "I am sorry. But that is how it is. When we got to Nassau and he kept me ashore, away from the yacht, I was surprised but I was not offended. The islands are beautiful. There was enough for me to do."

"But what you have told me explains many small things. I was never allowed in the radio room. The crew were silent and unfriendly—they treated me like someone who was not wanted on board, and they were on curious terms with Largo, more like equals than paid men. And they were tough men and better educated than sailors usually are. So it all fits."

"I can even remember that for a whole week before last Thursday, Largo was terribly nervous and irritable. We were already getting tired of each other. I put it down to that. I was even making plans for flying home by myself. But he has been better the last few days and when he told me to be packed and ready to come on board this evening, I thought I might just as well do as he said."

"And of course I was very excited over this treasure hunt. I wanted to see what it was all about. But then"—she looked out to sea—"there was you. And this afternoon I had decided to tell Largo I would not go. I would stay here and see where you went and follow you." For the first time she looked him full in the face and held his eyes. "Would you let me do that?"

Bond reached out and put his hand against her cheek. "Of course I would."

"But what happens now? When shall I see you again?"

This was the question Bond had dreaded. By sending her back on board, and with the Geiger counter, he was putting her in double danger. She could be found out by Largo, in which case her death would be immediate.

If it came to a chase, which seemed almost certain, the Manta would sink the Disco by gunfire or torpedo, probably without warning. Bond had added up these factors and had closed his mind to them. He kept it closed. He said, "As soon as this is over, I shall look for you wherever you are. But now you are going to be in danger. You know this. Do you want to go on with it?"

She looked at her watch. She said, "It is half past four. I must go. Do not come with me to the car. Kiss me once and stay here. Do not worry about what you want done. I will do it well. It is either that or a stiletto in the back for this man."

Minutes later Bond heard the engine of her car come to life. He waited until the sound had receded in the distance down the Western Coast Road; then he went to the Land Rover and climbed in and followed.

A mile down the coast, at the two white obelisks that marked the entrance to Palmyra, dust still hung in the driveway. Bond sneered at his impulse to drive in after her and stop her from going out to the yacht. What in hell was he thinking of?

He drove on fast down the road to Old Fort Point, where the police watchers were housed in the garage of a deserted villa. They were there, one man reading a paperback in a canvas chair while the other sat before tripod binoculars that were trained on the Disco through a gap in the blinds of a side window. The khaki walkie-talkie set was beside them on the floor.

Bond gave them the new briefing and got on the radio to the Police Commissioner and confirmed it to him. The Commissioner passed two messages to him from Letler.

One was to the effect that the visit to Palmyra had been negative except that a servant had said the girl's baggage had gone on board the Disco that afternoon. The boat was completely innocent. It contained a glass-bottomed boat and a pedalo. The pedalo would have made the tracks they had seen from the air.

The second message said that the Manta was expected in twenty minutes. Would Bond meet Letler at the Prince George Wharf, where she would dock.

The Manta, coming with infinite caution up-channel, had none of the greyhound elegance of the conventional submarine. She was blunt and thick and ugly. The bulbous metal cucumber, her rounded nose shrouded with tarpaulin to hide the secrets of her radar scanner from the Nassavians, held no suggestion of her speed, which Letler said was around forty knots submerged. "But they won't tell you that, James. That's Classified."

"What else do you know about her?"

"Well, we won't tell this to the captain, but of course in C. I. A. we had to be taught the basic things about these atom subs, so we could brief agents on what to look for and recognize clues in their reports. She's one of the George Washington Class, about four thousand tons, crew of around 100, cost about a 100 million dollars. Range, anything you want until the chow runs out or until the nuclear reactor needs topping up—say every hundred thousand miles or so."

"If she has the same armament as the George Washington, she'll have sixteen vertical launching tubes, two banks of eight, for the Polaris solid-fuel missile. These have a range of around twelve hundred miles."

"These Polaris jobs are fired from way down below the surface. The sub stops and holds dead steady. They have the ship's exact position at all times through radio fixes and star sights through a tricky affair called a star-tracker periscope. All this dope is fed into the chief gunner's presses a button and a missile shoots up through the solid water by compressed air. When it breaks the surface the solid-fuel rockets ignite and take the missile the rest of the way."

"Hell of a weapon, really, when you come to think of it. Imagine these damned things shooting up out of the sea anywhere in the world and blowing some capital city to smithereens. We've got six of them already and we're going to have more. Good deterrent when you come to think of it. You don't know where they are or when. Not like bomber bases and firing pads and so on you can track down and put out of action with your first rocket wave."

Bond commented dryly, "They'll find some way of spotting them. And presumably an atomic depth charge set deep would send a shock wave through hundreds of miles of water and blow anything to pieces over a huge area. But has she got anything smaller than these missiles? If we're going to do a job on the Disco what are we going to use?"

"She's got six torpedo tubes up front and I dare say she's got some smaller stuff — machine guns and so forth. The trouble is going to be to get the commander to fire them. He's not going to like firing on an unarmed civilian yacht on the orders of a couple of plainclothes guys, and one of them a Limey at that. Hope his orders from the Navy Department are as solid as mine and yours."

The huge submarine bumped gently against the wharf. Lines were thrown and an aluminum gangplank was run ashore. There was a ragged cheer from the crowd of watchers being held back by a cordon of police.

Letler said, "Well, here we go. And to one hell of a bad start. Not a hat between us to salute the quarter deck with. You curtsy, I'll bow."

The commander of the Manta had had news for James Bond. The story continues here tomorrow.

Diverted Pitt Grain Acreage Mounts

Greenville F. W. B. Announcements

The Greenville Free Will Baptist Church Sunday School, with Mr. Stephen Walters as superintendent, meets at 9:45 a.m. to study God's Word on the subject "Respect For All Persons." At the 11 a.m. service, the Senior Choir, under the direction of Mr. William Lloyd and with Mrs. Bill Taylor at the organ, will sing the anthem "Be Still and Know" by Byes. The pastor's sermon topic at this service will be "For or Against God" (Isaiah 45:9).

The F.W.B. Leagues meet at 6:30 p.m. with David Nobles as general director. At the same hour a teacher training study course is being taught by Miss Betty Pittman. Sgt. Alfred Cates will bring the message at the evening worship at 7:30. We are deeply grateful to the Lord that Sgt. Cates and his family are back with us after three years in Turkey.

The flowers are given this Lord's Day by Miss Dora Ann Brown in memory of her father, Mr. Peter Brown, who passed away February 16, 1961.

The Sunday School Council meets Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Connie Hines, Pinewood Drive.

Tuesday night at 7:30 is the time for visitation evangelism. Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. the Chorus Choir, Junior Choir and Adult Fellowship meet for a period of singing. Prayer service begins at 8:00 p.m. the same evening.

The Senior Choir meets on Thursday evening at 7:30. Scout Troop 452 will meet Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the church annex basement.

Coming Events: An ensemble from Free Will Baptist Bible College will be here for the 11 a.m. service on March 4. Revival services are scheduled for March 25-April 1 with Rev. Bobby Jackson as evangelist. The District Women's Auxiliary Convention will meet here March 28.

Response of Pitt County corn producers to the 1962 feed grain program indicates diversion of a total grain acreage equal to or greater than last year's total.

Through Thursday—the ninth day of the 1962 sign-up period—718 county farmers had diverted a total of 13,768.6 acres under the production reduction program. Through the first nine days of the 1961 sign-up, about 100 less farmers had diverted approximately the same acreage.

Advance payments to the 718 growers totaled $215,563, indicating a total payment of at least $431,000 to growers already participating. Last year 1,382 farmers joined the program and received a total of $21,877 in advance and final payments.

The 13,800 acres already diverted represents a corn base acreage of 25,448—nearly a third of the county's total corn base of 86,175 acres on the 2,729 farms for which the base figures have been figured.

Figures through Thursday indicated the average Pitt grower participating was diverting about 54 per cent of his base acreage. The 1961 program attracted a diverted-acre total of 22,374 of 47,865-acre total base. Those figures showed growers diverted an average below 50 per cent of their base acreages.

Sign-up for the program, created to reduce federal feed grain stockpiles, began Feb. 5 and will continue through March 30. Corn acreage planted under the program—indicated at present

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

"Longsuffering, the Fruit of the Spirit," will be the subject for the pastor's message in the 11 o'clock worship.

There is a Bible class for each age group at 9:45 a.m. Robert Leggett, superintendent, invites you. Sunday School for the Deaf meets at 2:30 p.m.

League and teacher training meets at 6:30 p.m. Edward Earl Sutton, the director, invites all age groups to attend and enjoy the fellowship and training.

"The Healing Touch" will be the subject for the pastor's message at 7:45 p.m. Marvin Sutton, the music director, will lead the congregation in choruses, hymns and will have some special music. Prayer for the sick and testimonies will be featured in the service.

The Sunday School Council meets on Monday night. All Sunday school officers and teachers are urged to be present.

The Boys' Auxiliary meets on Tuesday night with Tommie Sutton on Belvoir Road. Boys are requested to bring Bibles.

Prayer meeting and choir rehearsal is on Wednesday night. Visiting teams will go out on Thursday night.

COMING EVENTS: The New Life Class for all new members will be taught by the pastor beginning March 4th in the Sunday hour. Baptism for new members will be April 1st.

A 'Difference' In The Climate After 6 Years

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—A few weeks ago the board of parish education of the United Lutheran Church in America abruptly canceled the impending publication of a book that had been nearly six years in preparation.

Title of the book was "The Difference." It explored things that divide Lutherans and Catholics.

"Considerable time has elapsed since this course was first projected, and the climate has undergone a marked change in the interim," explained the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Getz of the board's editorial division.

"Recently the emphasis has been on conversations between the two faiths," he said, "and stress is being laid upon understanding each other."

Dr. Bernard Mandelbaum, provost of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, also sees the need for conversation and suggests it begin by discussing similarities rather than differences. But he also says "this is not to imply that any energies needed to preserve the distinctive faiths should be diverted from that purpose."

The Rev. Leonidas C. Contos, dean of the St. Sophia Greek Orthodox Cathedral in Los Angeles, says the followers of the various religions instead of talking to themselves "have begun to say some meaningful things to each other."

Similar manifestations of this new religious climate are occurring in every part of the nation, and it's safe to say that next week's 28th annual Brotherhood Week will be observed in an atmosphere closer than ever before to that which its sponsor, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, seeks to promote.

The new climate is reflected in a series of four pamphlets the NCCJ has issued for this year's observance. Their common title is "Platform of Good Will" and they present the viewpoints of Catholic, Protestant, Jew and Eastern Orthodox.

Though they were written separately, a thread of similarity runs through all four pamphlets which further points up today's emphasis on conversation and understanding noted by Dr. Getz.

"The notable achievements in the fight against religious intolerance during this century," writes Protestant Jaroslav Pelikan, professor of ecclesiastical history at Yale Divinity School, "make it possible, perhaps for the first time, to think about going beyond mere tolerance to genuine understanding."

The Rev. Walter J. Ong, S.J., professor of English at St. Louis University, feels "the world into which we are moving is one which cannot endure unless men increase their understanding of one another."

Compensation For Hearing Loss

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—An airplane mechanic who said he lost his hearing because of daily exposure to the roar of jet engines is entitled to workmen's compensation, the Georgia Court of Appeals ruled Thursday.

The State Board of Workmen's Compensation and a lower court had rejected the claim of E. H. Shipman, a flight line mechanic for six years at Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in nearby Marietta.

Adult Fellowship will meet at 11:15 a.m. in the "Y" Hut. The program will be an informal discussion of the play "The Wages of Sin" by U Nu, Prime Minister of Burma. The play is soon to be presented by East Carolina College students and faculty members under the direction of Dr. Joseph Withey.

Forgetful Juror Must Pay $150

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A juror who said he forgot to show up one morning during the trial of a damage suit learned that his faulty memory will cost him $150.

Judge Robert Floyd told Walter Lee, the juror, that his contempt of court sentence would be to pay the amount of excess costs of the lost morning.

Louis Vernell, the plaintiff's attorney, reported Thursday that his extra cost was an hour and a half waiting time for a doctor—one of his witnesses—at $100 an hour.
