Sec. Rusk Urges 'Real Effort' To Curb Arms Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk took off for Geneva today, calling on the Soviets to join in a real effort to stem the arms race and reduce cold war tensions. Rusk, heading for a 17-nation disarmament conference, told newsmen that "We will do everything that we can on our side to help turn down the arms race and reduce present tensions."

Gromyko First To Arrive For Geneva Negotiations

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko arrived today for a round of East-West negotiations and said he hoped the nations meeting here would halt the "avalanche of armaments" facing mankind. Gromyko's plane touched down at Geneva Airport in a driving rain. He was the first leading figure to arrive for foreign ministers talks on disarmament, nuclear and East-West cold war problems, including Berlin and Germany.

First Woman In N.C. History On Supreme Court

RALEIGH (AP) — For the first time in history, a woman has been named to the State Supreme Court bench. She is Superior Court Judge Susie Sharp, who accepted her appointment by Gov. Sanford Friday with humility and gratitude. "This is an honor which comes to few men and fewer women," she said in a statement. "I shall do my best to justify the governor's faith in me and to serve the people of the state well."

Dentists Join In Subduing Prisoner Trying Escape

Two dentists and a prison guard subdued two prisoners who attacked the guard in an attempt to effect an escape in a Greenville dentist office this morning. Capt. L. E. Dail, superintendent of the Pitt County Prison unit, reported that guard Wilber Grizzard was "shaken up" but otherwise uninjured after being struck over the head by a chair in the fight. Dail identified the two convicts as Richard Eldridge, 28, of Rowan County and Gerald R. Wilcox, 21, a native of Connecticut.

City's Sales And Use Tax Soared For December

Sales and use tax collections in Greenville last December totaled $118,116.75, more than $44,000 above the $73,950.18 recorded for December 1960. While a share of the gain was attributed to the sales tax exemptions removed by the 1961 General Assembly, figures for all of Pitt County showed a gain in gross retail sales receipts from $7,119,500 in December 1960 to $7,731,646 last December. And Greenville's tax collection increase was greater than that recorded by eight other Eastern North Carolina cities, according to a bulletin issued by the Greenville Merchants Association. Only Wilmington, in a list of 10 cities in the report, saw a greater gain in collection than Greenville.

One Man Happy Over Big Boom

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—"This is the prettiest sight I've ever seen," chortled a plate glass company official as he surveyed nearly $5,000 in damage to windows caused by a mystery sonic boom. "I never remember being this busy," he said. The mid-afternoon sonic boom caught hundreds of people on downtown streets in this north-west Louisiana city Friday. Many narrowly escaped flying splinters of glass. But the only casualty reported was a cut finger by James Lowery, director of the United Service Organization (USO). Lowery was in his office when the crash occurred. The USO building on Texas Street, the downtown section's main thoroughfare. A large window in the front of the building was smashed. "I looked up and saw the top half of the window just slide toward the bottom," said Lowery. "Then the glass started breaking in the middle."

Weather Delays Storm Clean-Up

NAGS HEAD, N.C. (AP)—Outer Banks residents hoped today for a break in the weather which has mocked their attempts to cleanup and gauge the damage done by Wednesday's storm. Friday's efforts were curtailed by a chilling rain and a still-turbulent ocean which continued to slam the strip from Ocracoke to Duck with abnormally high tides. In Raleigh, James W. Denning of the state civil defense office said three helicopters were working in the area and others were on a stand-by basis. The copters were combing the area, and flying in food and supplies as needed. Denning said communications were being maintained by radio. "I've just had a request from the Dare County civil defense officer for additional help on the water problem. We will have other tank trucks going in soon," Denning reported. "No estimate of damages in dollars and cents was available, al-

Lightship Barely Beats Atlantic

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Chesapeake lightship beat the Atlantic. But her 11 pale, bearded crewmen said Friday night the north-easter that had skulked down on them from the north two days earlier was the worst they'd ever seen. There was a moment early Wednesday when nearly every man aboard had given up hope of escaping the hurricane-like winds and 40-foot seas that were pounding the little 31-year-old vessel. First the storm pried open a link of her heavy anchor chain like opening a safety pin. Then it punched in the front of her pilot house with an estimated 600 pounds per square inch thrust of water. Many of her crew was paralyzed with nausea. The tossing was so severe that at times it was impossible to pump aboard seawater to cool the engines, and the little red ship was almost without power.

Soviets Tamper With Radar

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians have tried to interfere with Western radar reception on the vital air lanes to Berlin, an informed source reported today. For two hours Friday the Soviets showered metallic objects known as chaff on the air approaches to Berlin, the source said. The metallic strips are picked up on radar screens causing false images and distorting reception. Similar devices were used in World War II by the U.S. and British air forces to confuse the German defenses during bombing raids. Western aircraft flying the three corridors in and out of Berlin are kept on course by radar controls. Interference with this system could have a serious effect on navigation in the corridors and possibly lead to aircraft straying into Communist territory. There was no indication that the maneuver had had any such effect. Official Western comment on the Soviet action was not immediately available.

Goldberg Offers Advice To Nikita

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman offered this advice today to Soviet Premier Khrushchev: "Let your farmers operate their own farms." Commenting on Soviet efforts to increase farm production, Freeman said a major secret of the success of American agriculture is that it is based on family farms. Soviet agriculture, on the other hand, emphasizes state-operated farms. Freeman said that if the Russians really wanted to match U.S. farm productivity they should emulate not only American hybrid corn, fertilizer and farm machinery, but also "the all-important principle of the ownership and operation of our farms by the farmers themselves."

Firemen Leave For CD College

Greenville firemen, Capt. Claude Christopher and Dawson Nethercut left yesterday for the Canadian Civil Defense College at Arrnprior, Ont., Canada, Chief George W. Gardner reported today. According to the official, the two men were scheduled to start classes at the Canadian school Monday. Included in the three-week long course are instruction in all forms of light and heavy rescue practices and methods of teaching rescue. Chief Gardner said the two men are being sent with funds received from the Greenville Recorders Court and other donations.

U.S. First Lady Arrives In Italy

ROME (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, hailed by Italians as "America's queen," arrived today en route to India and Pakistan and immediately paid a courtesy call on President Giovanni Gronchi. The U.S. First Lady, who is making a 33-hour stopover in Rome, drove directly from Rome's airport to 400-year-old Quirinal Palace, now the presidential residence and once the home of Popes and kings. Mrs. Kennedy was received by Gronchi and his wife and spent 25 minutes with them. Then she was driven to Villa Taverna, residence of G. Frederick Reinhardt, U.S. ambassador to Rome. She will spend the night there, be received in audience by Pope John XXIII Sunday and leave in the evening for New Delhi.

Telephone Company Will Take Grifton Plea To Commission

GRIFTON — Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company will soon submit to the N. C. Utilities Commission a resolution passed by the Grifton Town Board of Commissioners requesting the company to provide extended area service between Grifton and Kinston. Representatives of the telephone company appeared before the Town Board on Feb. 28 to discuss the proposal of extended area (toll free) service between Grifton and Kinston. The representatives were W. E. Marshall, district commercial manager of Tarboro, and J. E. Cutler, Grifton telephone manager. Marshall said it is expected that the commission will request the telephone company to submit the proposal to a vote by individual subscribers. Assuming that a majority of Grifton subscribers vote in favor of the new service, approximately 12 to 18 months will be required to fabricate and install the additional central office equipment. The proposal approved by the Grifton board contains these upward adjustments in local monthly telephone rates: business one-party, $4.25; business two-party, $3.25; business multi-party, $2; residence one-party, $1.75; residence two-party, $1.25; and residence multi-party, $1. These rates would be the same as those now being paid by Kinston subscribers. Marshall noted that these adjustments are necessary to offset the loss of toll revenue which the telephone company should sustain in providing the extended area service. It was explained to the Grifton Town Board that the telephone company at present handles a considerable volume of toll calls between Grifton and Kinston, which are eight miles apart. Having received inquiries from local residents concerning extended area service, the telephone company prepared a study to determine the costs involved in providing the service. Results of the study, they said, were promising. It was following this step that the company submitted a proposal to the N. C. Utilities Commission, who then granted the company permission to place the matter before municipal authorities.

Barn Destroyed By Fire Friday

SIMPSON—An early morning fire Friday destroyed a barn and its contents on the farm of L.C. Edwards about a mile southeast of here. Simpson volunteer firemen reported the loss, estimated at $3,000 to $4,000, was only partially covered by insurance. When the 15 Simpson firemen arrived on the scene, they reported, the frame structure was already engulfed by the flames. They said origin of the blaze was undetermined. The Simpson department received the call from the Edwards farm about 1:30 a.m. Friday.

Weather Along Dare Coast Is Calmer Today

KITTY HAWK—The weather on North Carolina's storm-lashed Dare Coast, hard hit Wednesday by a severe northeaster, was somewhat calmer today, the North Carolina Highway Patrol reported. Captain S. H. Mitchell, commanding officer of Patrol Troop "A," said his executive officer, Lt. Ernest Guthrie, reported overcast skies with winds approximately 10 miles per hour and the sea "a little above normal." Captain Mitchell noted that 20 additional patrolmen from outside the troop have been called for weekend duty in the coastal area. One report of damage given by officials on Hatteras Island included the fact that "Buxton, Hatteras, Frisco, and Avon are self-supporting and have no damage." The troop commander added, however, that patrolmen on the 30-mile-long Hatteras Island report there is a large inlet, estimated to be 1,200 feet wide, cut completely across the strip of sand just north of Buxton. The patrol report continued by saying that ferries are leaving "Avon and Hatteras enroute to Englehard to pick up supplies only." Arrangements have been made to service Waves, Salyo and Rodanthe on Hatteras Island. A ferry left Avon at 7 a.m. today for Englehard and was scheduled to leave Englehard at 2 p.m. for the return trip to Avon. The report also said a ferry left Hatteras at 7 a.m. for Englehard and was scheduled to start its return trip at 1 a.m. The ferries operating in the area "will carry emergency passengers, vehicles and supplies," Capt. Mitchell emphasized. The Oregon Inlet ferry is not running and will be out of service for an indefinite period of time. The report closed by saying "things on the beach are proceeding satisfactorily."

Civic Clubs Invited Consider Constructing Joint Building

Greenville's Kiwanis Club last night asked other civic clubs of the city to join with it in exploring the possibilities of constructing a large civic building to be used for club meetings and other civic activities. E. E. Rawl Jr., president of the Kiwanis Club, proposed the undertaking at the Kiwanis meeting at which other civic club presidents were invited guests. It is proposed that the building be located on a 200 by 300 foot area on the south side of Green Springs Park. Rawl said preliminary discussions have been held with city officials concerning the particular location, and the officials have indicated their willingness to cooperate in making the property available for such use. A preliminary sketch of a possible floor plan showed a single-story building 85 by 120 feet which could contain an individual office for each of the civic clubs which used the build-

Islands Undergo 2-Hour Shelling

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists lobbed 38 shells at the Quemoy Islands Friday in a two-hour attack. The Chinese Nationalist defense ministry said Chen Lee-ii, 33, a woman living in Anwu, a village on Quemoy, was seriously wounded.

Police Chief Of Robersonville Is Re-Hired

ROBERSONVILLE — At the regular board meeting on March 6, Robersonville commissioners voted to rehire Police Chief William T. Smith as of June 1, 1962, at the same salary he is presently receiving. This action voided the commissioner's vote at a special Feb. 16 meeting to have Chief Smith's term expire on June 1 if he failed to resign by that time. William T. Smith, a native of Robersonville, was hired in 1946 as Police Chief and has served in that capacity since that time. Prior to this, Chief Smith served two years as a Secret Service presidential guard for Roosevelt from 1940-42 and was a Chief Specialist in the U.S. Naval Shore Patrol during 1942-46.

People Evacuate Virginia Coastal Isle Under Orders

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. (AP) — Dump trucks carried thousands of dead chickens from Chincoteague today as Civil Defense officials attempted to persuade the remaining residents of this weather-beaten island to evacuate. An estimated quarter million chickens were drowned when high tides hit this seven-mile-long island off the eastern shore of Virginia four days ago. Dr. William Fritz, Accomack County health officer, ordered that the fowl be taken from the island to a rendering plant in Crisfield, Md., on the mainland, where they will be used for fertilizer. Evacuation by school buses, which started Friday afternoon, continued today, but many persons refused to take advantage of the transportation to the mainland. One old-timer, Fred Savage, said "I stayed through the storm, what's the use of leaving now?" "I've been on the island for 76 years and this was the worst storm we've ever had. It was worse than the ones of '33 and '36." Savage and his son, Lee, and grandchild, Clayton, were busy clearing away seaweed and debris that covered his ocean front home. Boats and cars were strewn over streets, lawns and porches. Dr. Fritz said all workers on the island will be inoculated against typhoid. Remaining residents could be inoculated if they wished, but that it would not be mandatory, he added. A heavy drizzle fell over the area and there were reports that tides would be three or four feet higher than normal, but officials said this would not make for increased flooding. More than 1,800 of the island's 3,900 residents were taken to the mainland before the operation was halted Friday night. But many of the hardy fishing folk were reluctant to leave their homes on the tiny finger of land off the Atlantic coast. W. J. Vaughan, Virginia's Civil Defense director, stopped the evacuation when a light rain be-

With Anne Mattox

Memrie Mosier will be married in Greenville on May 12th to Perry Lewis. Memrie, a guide at the United Nations in New York City was assistant leader at the 1959 Terpsichorean Debutante Ball in Raleigh. A graduate of St. Mary's Junior College and the University of North Carolina, she was a member of Pi Beta Phi. Mr. Lewis of San Antonio and New York City, is an alumnus of Andover Academy and Princeton University and is with the investment firm of Lee Higgins and Company of New York City.

Mrs. J. B. Smith Sr. had the fortune of being in Florida Feb. 16 when Col. John Glenn made his orbital flight. She was visiting with former Greenville residents that day who now make their home in Cocoa, Fla. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Briscoe, live just 12 miles from Cape Canaveral. They sat in the living room and viewed the firing and followed it over the house through binoculars. Mrs. Smith said it was an exciting time. Mrs. Smith has been in Florida since February 2. She visited in Jacksonville with her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Spann and children and also visited friends in Tampa, Clearwater and St. Petersburg. She also visited Marineland, Daytona Beach and St. Augustine.

Luncheon Fetes Miss Blount

Miss Nelson Blount, bride-elect of April, was entertained at a luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. J. White on Longmeadow Road.

Mrs. White and Mrs. E. E. Rawl Jr., hostesses, presented Miss Blount and her mother, Mrs. Marvin Blount, with corsages of pink carnations.

A pink color motif was carried out in decorating the home. On the auxiliary tables miniature arrangements of pink carnations were used and each guest was given as favors miniature hat-boxes with mint sachets. The bride's table featured a centerpiece of carnations and a china brides doll.

The first course consisting of hot cider and cheese straws was served in the sunroom. Mrs. S. M. Crisp, mother of the bridegroom, presided.

After the three course luncheon, the honoree was remembered with a gift from the hostesses. Mrs. Rawl took pictures throughout the party and gave them to the honoree for her wedding scrapbook.

Fashion Show On 'Hats' Given Club

The Delphin Book Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Morris Brody, who also gave the program on "the prettiest part of one's spring wardrobe and therefore the most important—the hat."

Members and guests, Mrs. Bill White, Mrs. Ed Rawl Jr. and Mrs. Milton Williamson were welcomed by Mrs. Badger Clark, acting president, in the absence of Mrs. Bob Messner. During a brief business meeting, the club voted to begin having luncheon meetings next September.

Arrangements of jougills were used throughout the home. The hostess then served a dessert plate consisting of two kinds of sherbert, sea-foam cake, nuts and coffee.

Before Mrs. Brody introduced the two members who modeled a variety of spring bonnets, she gave a brief history of the hat, pointing out that it has been an important part of dress since the 16th Century. Each country has hats as a symbol of their past and present with the styles being unique and varied. "Hats, like diamonds, are not among the necessities of life, but are among the tonic pleasures and are golden chances for a chic woman to acquire extra chic."

This season, designers are coming up with a special surge of hat excitement and John Frederick's rules when selecting a hat would be good to remember:
1. Simplicity is the foundation of good taste.
2. Select hats that do something for you, not to do.
3. Select hats to please men.
4. Have one good hat and wear it 100 times than have a dozen thrills hats.
5. When selecting your hat, your first impression is always best.

Mrs. Percy Pair and Mrs. John Howard Jr. then modeled a variety of hats.
Books were distributed and the meeting was adjourned.

FURS UNCLAIMED FROM STORAGE TO BE SOLD

Here is the story on these furs. Furriers from time to time get "stuck" with furs unclaimed or uncalled for from storage. Hilder Brothers Cleaners & Furriers in Raleigh has been consigned a large group of new and used furs which will be almost "given away" to the Raleigh area. Imagine buying a Fur Stole for only $15.00 and up. Many of these furs are expensive furs and are being sold for "practically nothing." These used furs look like new but must be labeled "secondhand used." Fur origin unknown. If you want to buy a real $150.00 and up (plus tax) bargain in a fur, you'd better come early. New fur products labeled to show country of origin of imported furs.

Also many fine quality fur coats, jackets, scarfs and stoles from regular factory stock will go at these ridiculous give-away prices. All sales final. A deposit will hold fur layaway. These furs are on sale at Hilder Brothers Cleaners & Furriers, 105 E. Martin St., Raleigh, N. C. Open 9 to 6 daily.

Years of Fulfillment

Take Ruthless Look At Spring Wardrobe

By HENRIETTE KISH
NEW YORK (WNS)—Is your wardrobe beginning to show its age?

Or worse, does it show up yours?

If you are in the middle years or past, these are questions to ask yourself when planning your spring outfit.

Discard the dowdy dress that may still be "good" but depresses you every time you wear it. The chances are it has a similar effect on others. The same goes for that nondescript "old lady" hat, and the unbecoming coat.

If you must "make do" with them one more season, then do something about them.

Perhaps the dress is too long, and taking it up an inch or two will give it flair. A woman asked her niece if her slip was showing. "No," said the niece, "but your age is with the length of that skirt."

Skirts to the knee may not be right for Grandma, but neither are skirts halfway to the ankle. Small touches can make big differences. Try a crisp pique spring collar, tassled costume jewelry, a wide patent leather belt.

Hats are easiest to rejuvenate. If the basic shape is becoming add chic with a veil, or color with a bow or wreath of flowers. You can really indulge your love of color in a hat, if the rest of the costume is conservative.

A change of buttons may be all your old coat needs to give it a new look. Or try a bright scarf or a lapel pin. Look to the length of the coat also. A little off the hemline may take a lot off your years.

If a garment is really dated and done for, be brave and part with it. Don't keep it because "the material isn't really worn yet" or because "it cost so much originally." A less expensive substitute may be more becoming and youthful.

The buyer for a big city specialty store says that many of her older customers fall into one of two categories. There is the woman who still dresses for 16 and the one who has been dressing too old all her life.

"Some women always confuse dowdiness with conservatism," she says. "They are reluctant to try any line that is least bit different from what they have been wearing. Even the introduction of a new color, no matter how becoming it is, scares them off."

"We tell women on budgets—and so many older women are—to insist on good cut but to follow general style trends. No woman at any age wants to look way behind the times. We advise basic colors, but not necessarily always the proverbial black, gray or navy. Some women look their best in pastels, some can wear bright blues and even certain reds. These are the women, however, who have to be more careful to tone down their accessories."

"We remind our customers to consider what is already in their closets before they add one thing. A blouse that is marked down will be no bargain if it doesn't go with any suit or skirt. A coat that is the wrong color for hat, gloves, shoes and bag will demand a whole new set of these. Unless the customer is looking for a complete new wardrobe, she should build carefully on the one she has."

So if you want to feel younger and look better this spring, take a good look at your wardrobe. Throw out ruthlessly but add with caution.

Miss Smith Bride Of Mr. Nelson

In an early evening ceremony of Route 2, Ayden, Mr. Nelson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mark Nelson of Route 4, Greenville.

The church was decorated with bridal greenery and white chrysanthemums. Candelabras holding cathedral candles were used. A brass cross was placed in front of the altar where the bride and the bridegroom knelt for prayer. Pews were marked with bridal satin.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Alton Gardner of Rt. 2, Ayden, organist. Mrs. Ray Page Gaskins, aunt of the bride, rendered "Because" by D'Hardelot and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte as benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported white wool dress with fitted waist, round neck and three-quartered sleeves. The hat matched the dress with sequins featured on the veil. Her jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a Bible topped with a white orchid with satin streamers of baby's breath and fern.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith wore a dressmaker's suit of black tweed, with black accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress and blue accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed to a beige wool two-piece dress. She used skin accessories and the orchid lifted from her Bible.

Mrs. Nelson, a 1959 graduate of Chicod High School, is a senior at the Rocky Mount School of Nursing.

Mr. Nelson is employed with Greenville Utilities.

Mrs. Clark Thetis Hostess

Mrs. E. L. Clark was hostess to members of the Thetis Book Club at her home on Tuesday afternoon.

During the business meeting, members who attended the Flower Show in Raleigh gave brief comments on the affair. Mrs. Roscoe King, a new member of the club, was recognized by the president, Mrs. Bill Howard.

The hostess introduced Mr. D. H. Sencindver as speaker for the afternoon. Mr. Sencindver, who is associated with the Voice of America project, gave members an insight into the meaning and operations of the program. He explained that the main purpose of the "Voice" is to tell about the American way of life to people abroad—especially those behind the iron and bamboo curtains. He told of how the "Voice" is an invaluable aid in helping the C. I. A. keep other people informed of the truth. In closing, Mr. Sencindver told the group what the Voice of America program would mean to Greenville and Pitt County. A question and answer period followed his talk.

A dessert was served to members and guests, Mrs. Graham Quinn and Mrs. R. L. Harrelson.

By SHERBY EVERETT

In the annual high school Science Fair three projects qualified to be sent to the Northeastern District fair held at East Carolina College at a later date.

Dr. Grover W. Everett of East Carolina College and members of the high school science department chose "The Comparison of a Starch Diet and a Balanced Diet of the Chicken" by John Fou and Bill Green, "The Common Fruitfly" by Nancy Tribley, and Jimmy Eatman's "How PH Affects Anthocyanins" as the projects to be submitted to the district fair.

John Fou and Bill Green's project compared the bone development of a chicken fed only starches and a chicken fed a normal balanced diet. They took pictures showing what the two chickens looked like at various ages.

Nancy Tribley depicted the life cycle and external structure of the fruitfly, while Jimmy Eatman showed the different colors of pigments in flowers.

Debaters Participate In Triangular Debates

In the fiftieth annual North Carolina High School Debating Union, Rose high met Kinston and Raleigh high schools Friday in debates on Resolved: That the federal government should equalize educational opportunity by means of grants to the states for public elementary and secondary schools.

The Greenville affirmative team traveled to Raleigh's Needham Broughton high school where they won over Kinston's negative team two to one. Tom Campbell and Pat Worsley composed Rose High's squad.

Franklin Jolly and Bill Green, Greenville's negative team, were defeated by Raleigh's affirmative debaters two to one at Grainger High School in Kinston.

Rose High hosted debating squads from Kinston and Raleigh with the Raleigh negative topping the Kinston affirmative two to one. A. Louis Singleton, W. A. Talton, and E. J. Carter judged the debates held in the high school gym. Jimmy Eatman was the timekeeper.

The Federal-aid-to-education topic is the national debating topic for this year. Robert B. Starling advises the local team.

Daniel in Chicago
Junior Anne Daniel, who has previously been chosen to represent Greenville in Governor Terry Sanford's youth fitness program this summer, has been selected to be one of two students from North Carolina to attend the Youth Power Conference in Chicago, March 28-31.

Anne will have an all-expense paid trip by air to Chicago where she and David Crockett from Vass, the other delegate, will participate in discussions on the fitness of the nation's youth. The program was developed by ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956.

Students Take Merit, Math Tests

Taking part in the eighth annual National Merit Scholarship contest, over 150 juniors took the Merit qualifying test Tuesday at the Rawl Building on the East Carolina College campus.

Sponsored by the National Merit Scholarship corporation and other corporations, foundations, associations, and unions, the three-hour exam contained questions on math, science, social studies, and English. The students' scores will be sent to the high school in the middle of May.

Next fall the corporation will announce 10,000 semifinalists in the contest from all over the United States. These will take another test to determine the finalists and winners of the National Merit scholarships varying from $100 to $1500. Over 25,000 students will receive honorable mention for their outstanding performance on the exam.

This year five seniors were named as semifinalists and later became finalists. They are Esther Johnson, Jimmy Blythe, David Mosier, Dennis Eagan, and Jimmy Eatman.

Juniors and seniors who were interested in competing in the thirteenth annual National Mathematics contest took the eighty minute test Thursday along with students in every state.

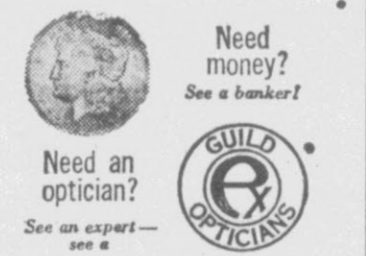

Consisting of forty problems, the test is jointly sponsored by the Mathematics Association of America and the Society of Actuaries. The highest scorer at Rose High will receive a mathematics medal for his achievement.

The score of the top three in the high school will determine the team score and will compete with the scores from other schools in North Carolina's region and on a national basis. Greenville is in region five which consists of the southern states, the Canal Zone and Puerto Rico.

Mail Gets Through Eventually

OBEROSTENDORF, Germany—(WNS)—Julie Krautwein has just received a postcard mailed to her from France 47 years ago by Georg Kaltenmaier, a soldier in the first World War. On it was a proposal of marriage. Fortunately, Frauein Krautwein did not wait for the postcard. She married Herr Kaltenmaier in 1919, and it was their 40-year-old daughter Maria who accepted the overdue postcard from the mailman.

Another Hopeful Step By Board

Pitt County Commissioners' seeking preliminary estimates on the cost of a nursing or rest home for the county marks another hopeful step toward providing this much-needed facility for Pitt.

Over a period of months the County Commissioners and a special committee appointed by the Commissioners have investigated the possibilities of providing such a facility. At one stage in the study by the committee, there appeared the possibility that such a facility might be constructed by private capital. That possibly has now been practically ruled out by the committee.

Surveys have shown a definite need for a nursing or rest home in the county, and by their past action the County Commissioners have evidenced their interest in seeing that the need is filled.

The seeking of preliminary estimates of the cost of such a facility is further indication of the interest on the part of the Commissioners.

In all probability, however, the final decision on whether or not to provide the facility will hinge on financing the initial capital outlay for the facility and its subsequent operation.

The Commissioners have started on the right course by seeking to determine approximately what the cost of such a facility would be. They should, we believe, follow through by formulating a detailed program for financing the facility and its operation in order that a total picture may be presented the people of the county.

We are also of the opinion that if the Commissioners present to the people of the county a reasonable program for filling this need, the large majority of the citizens will indicate their support for the commissioners in providing this new facility.

Eighth District Is Very Unhappy

(Note to Readers: Lynn Nisbet is out of the state, visiting his daughter and grandchildren in Tampico, Mexico. During his absence guest writers will supply material for this column.)

By Julian Scheer.

Charlotte News Guest Writer — CHARLOTTE — Mecklenburg County has about as much in common with Mt. Gilead as Pittsburgh has with Miami. Last year you could point out, too, that Mecklenburg had little in common with Bakersville. But this is 1962 and an election year—and this is one way of trying to explain that we're living in a very unhappy district, the Eighth, these days. The Eighth Congressional District is ready for two real political battles, a Democratic primary in May and a general election in November.

Mecklenburg is in North Carolina, it is populated by a lot of Tar Heels, and its interests are still, believe it or not, North Carolina's. But the contrast between one of the South's largest urban centers and the rural areas in the district is striking. In this crazy-quilt of cotton and (white) collars, offices and orchards, traffic and terracing, a real bitter fight is shaping up.

The 1961 General Assembly's reapportionment or redistricting plan hasn't made anyone very happy. The new Eighth — Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Union, Anson, Moore, Montgomery, Lee and Richmond — rings today with outrageous cries.

Rep. A. Paul Kitchin of Wadesboro (pop. 3,800) maintains that "big" Charlotte (pop. 201,000) is about to swallow up the whole district.

Rep. Charles Raper Jonas, the state's only Republican who was moved from the Tenth to the Eighth, is from Lincoln (pop. 6,000) and he says he lost about 15,000 good votes while the Democrats picked up about 20,000.

You can dope out these figures any way you want, but the fact remains that Kitchin is not happy and Jonas is not happy —and all this makes Mecklenburg-Charlotte just a wee bit unhappy.

One fact remains: Mecklenburg will vote big again (registration is nearly 100,000) and if the vote goes Democratic, Mr. Jonas is in trouble. If the vote goes Republican, Mr. Kitchin is in trouble.

Before we get around to that big vote in the fall, there is the Democratic primary coming up in May. State Rep. John P. Kennedy Jr., of Charlotte is seeking the nomination against Rep. Kitchin. The race looks very close. Kennedy is a moderate New Frontiersman. Kitchin is a conservative of the old school.

Mr. Kennedy and his supporters are hopeful. Rep. Kitchin and his supporters are hopeful. Hope is running out all over the place right now, but the big question mark is Charlotte-Mecklenburg.

If Kennedy carries Mecklenburg by a slim margin, he'll lose the race. If Kennedy carries Mecklenburg by a good margin, he could defeat Kitchin.

Of course, no one is going to try to predict the outcome in this community right now. Kitchin certainly has an appeal to the Democrats who have supported Jonas in general elections. On the other hand, Kennedy is a hometowner. The battleground is right here.

Best guesses in the primary would be Kennedy in Mecklenburg, (by an unknown margin) Richmond and with a slight lead in Montgomery, Moore, Anson and Lee. That could bring Kitchin into Mecklenburg ahead and the fight would be to hold his lead here.

When you get down to the fall race, a comparison of past district results would give the Democrats a slight vote edge over the Republicans. But the situation will boil down to the man Rep. Jonas faces—Kitchin or Kennedy.

Perhaps Lynn would like to take a vacation in August and leave another 15 inches of type vacant in some afternoon dailies.

needs to betake himself to a building hallowed by sacred memories and dedicated to the worship of God and there in the company of other believers face the great fact that God through Jesus Christ has provided for man's salvation. When we face this fact together, something happens to us—to the inside of our hearts—which cannot happen in personal devotions alone.

Quiet sanctuaries, pealing organs, choruses, hymn singing, prayer, meditation, and the expression of God's word all have a place in worship. They impress upon us the thrilling truth that Christ died for our sins according to the gospel.

We all need worship — a response along with other Christians to God's gracious offer of salvation.

Immediate Attention To Storm's Destruction

The devastating storm which struck portions of North Carolina's Outer Banks has dealt another terrible blow to parts of the long, sandy strip which makes up one of the state's major tourist centers.

Coming just a few months before tourist season begins in the Spring months along the Outer Banks, the storm has posed a great problem not only for individual property owners who suffered heavy losses, but for state and local governments as well. Destruction of highways is said to be more severe than during any of the hurricanes that have slammed into the North Carolina coast in recent years. The same applies to private property, both residential and commercial, in the area.

With losses expected to run into millions, immediate moves are necessary in order that as much of the repair and reconstruction work as possible may be completed before the tourist season reaches its peak during the summer months.

Also of importance are reports that the vicious storm may have made geographic changes along certain sections of the banks, sweeping away sand dunes and radically altering shorelines. There is also the possibility that new inlets may have been cut in some places where the sea and sound met across the sandy stretch of beach. These matters must receive the immediate attention of the state and steps should be taken immediately to repair damage insofar as possible.

The battering taken by the northern section of the Outer Banks cannot be viewed as purely a local problem in one part of North Carolina. It needs the full attention of state officials as well as that of officials and citizens of the immediate area.

An Astonishing Homework Job

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — No president, probably, ever worked harder at his homework than President Kennedy, if as hard. An astonishing knowledge of details shows through every news conference.

The fact that he's only 44 must be a big help. The details cover the world, from describing the attitude of a governor in Brazil to telling a reporter his figure was too high when he said 13,000 men faced unemployment in a Long Island plane plant.

You can criticize him, and often justly, for not fighting more, or not seeming to fight at all, for some of the programs he dumps on Congress in such rapid abundance.

You can wish for fewer literary touches in his speeches and more iron and follow-through after he delivers them, even if it means making some people mad at him.

Like President Eisenhower, Kennedy has made a policy of not stirring up the bees, even when some of them sting him. But he cannot be criticized for not attempting to absorb the fantastically varied duties and problems of government at home and abroad, in dollars, dimes and percentages, in men, missions, and missiles.

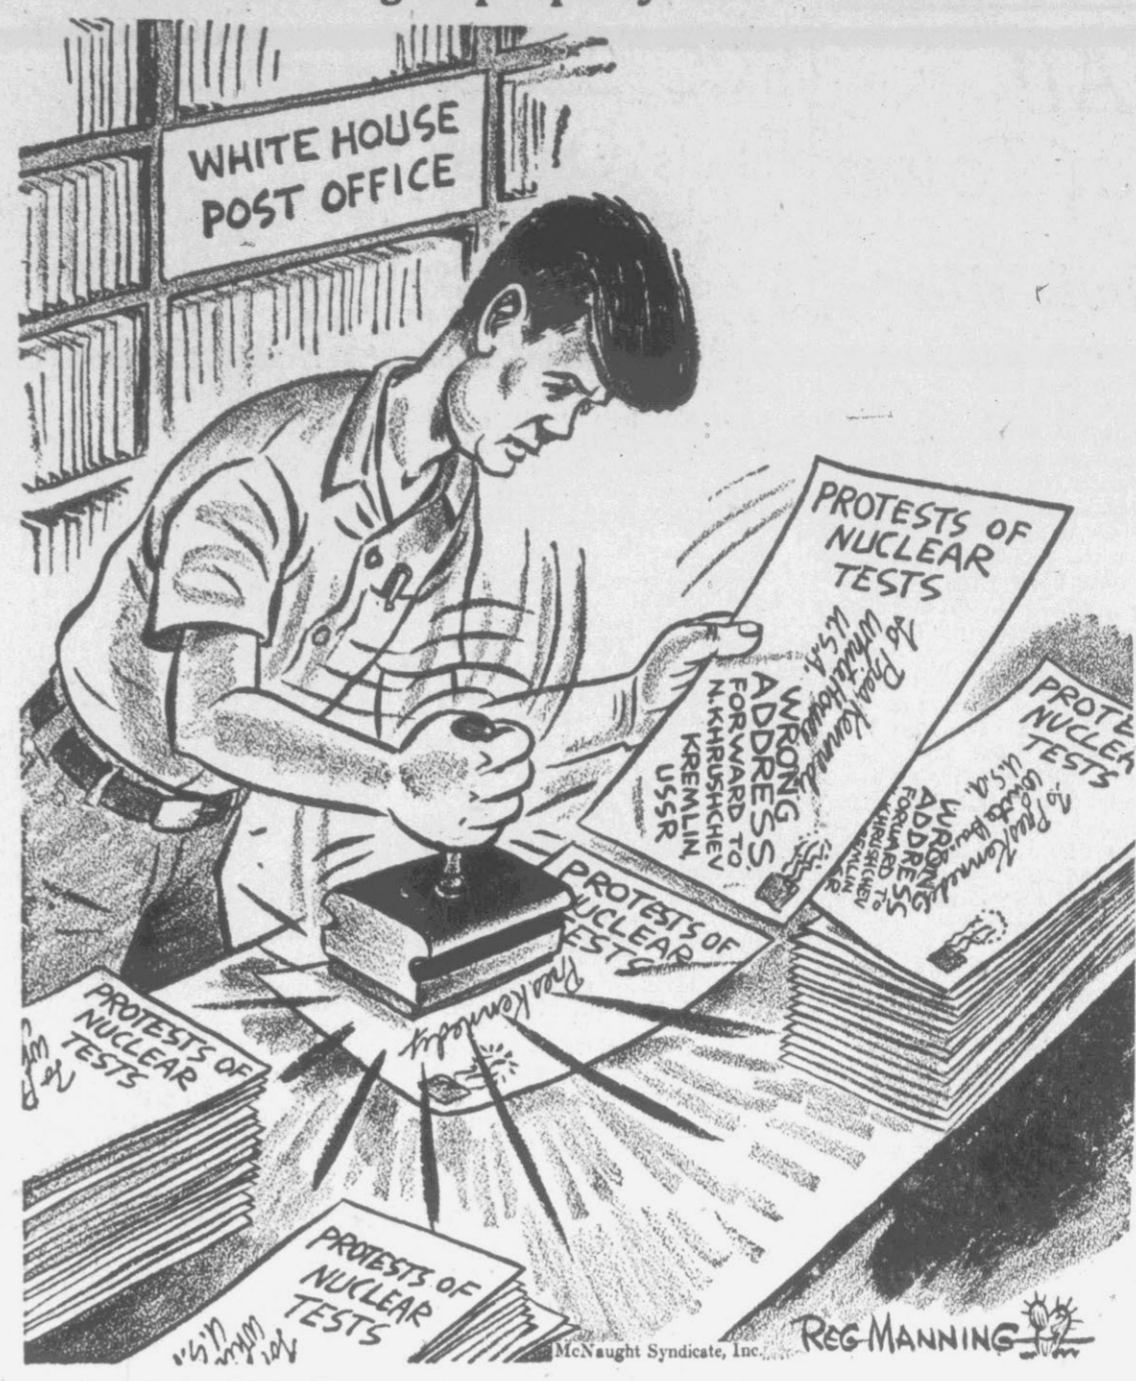

His accumulation of detailed knowledge, which must be acquired through much reading and many conferences, is in addition to the other activities of the presidency, from speeches by day to White House musicales by night.

His news conference last Wednesday was an example, better than most, of Kennedy's mastery of the intricacies of his job. It was better than most, only because of the nature of the questions which prompted detailed answers.

Here is a rundown on his answers, showing the range of his knowledge, domestic and foreign, plus the evidence of his activity which is sandwiched in between all he seeks to inform himself on.

He had written the steel industry and the steel union to resume negotiations on a new contract Wednesday (both sides agreed to) and he had written Premier Khrushchev some suggestions on space cooperation.

Cat Looking To Future

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you ever been adopted by a cat? If you haven't you have missed an experience in life which is unusual and, on the whole, rather flattering.

For nearly four years the cat in our house, Lady Dottie, put up with me with majestic indifference. In the hierarchy of her interests I rated slightly above the laundryman, but far below the butcher's delivery boy.

Lately, for no apparent reason, all that changed Lady Dottie seems to have a crush on me. I have become her No. 1 plump boy.

Other Editors Saying Blind Criticism Not Fair

(The Raleigh Times)

A reader called yesterday to complain that he had heard that Raleigh school children had been forced to write Governor Sanford letters praising his education speech of last week. The caller said he didn't think school children should have been forced to listen to the speech and that he surely didn't think they should have been forced to write the Governor praising him.

Too much of the story of education has been told in grim tones telling us how far we are lagging behind the Russians, how much more home work we must give our children, how many more dollars we must spend if we are to catch up with New York or California or Timbuctoo. Too much of the story of education has been pitched in such a way as to make education seem something unpleasant and distasteful, something that children should swallow with a grimace and get out of the way.

Sanford, in his speech to the children, did a really good job of holding out the attractiveness of the opportunities education can offer, and actually does offer. He made a really effective attempt to lead the children into liking education instead of whipping them into taking something they didn't like.

Quote

"A news story says that the federal government has given up the idea of evacuating Washington in case of nuclear attack. It was a fine idea." —Chicago Tribune.

Incidentally, the man who called yesterday to complain about children being forced to write Governor Sanford was asked how he liked the speech. He replied indignantly that he hadn't bothered to watch it. He was asked how he liked it when he read it in the papers, and replied, still indignant, that he hadn't read it. Furthermore, he said, he wouldn't listen to anything Sanford had to say and he wouldn't read anything Sanford said. He added that he didn't like Sanford and wouldn't have anything to do with him.

The Governor rates praise and not blind criticism for his talk to the young people of North Carolina. Those who want to refrain from having anything to do with Sanford, even to the point of refusing to hear or read his speeches have every right to do so. But it seems odd for such people to criticize something about which they know nothing.

"It isn't true that teenagers are always talking on the telephone. Sometimes they're listening." —Dayton (La.) Review.

"The Tax Foundation points out that the 1963 fiscal year budget of $93 billion, highest in our peacetime history, works out to $508.33 for every man, woman and child in the nation. Moreover, this proposed expenditure is only about $5.5 billion less than we spent in 1945, the last full fiscal year of World War II." —The Industrial News Review

Odds On Steel Peace Reversed

By ELMER ROESSNER

Fresh action by the Administration to get steel wage negotiations going again is highly probable. The Administration, after leaving word that a peaceful, moderate solution was sure to be found, was put on the spot when negotiations suddenly ruptured.

Meanwhile, odds on a peaceful settlement have been reversed. Note: 1. Labor has toughened its attitude. The recent statement by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, criticizing Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg's view of the government's part in labor negotiations is one of many indications that the labor movement does not intend to let the government limit labor demands.

have built up inventories to the extent that, sooner or later this year, they will stop buying. That could lead to shut-downs and layoffs. Workers may figure that as long as they may be out of work sometimes this year, it might best be during a strike that could yield additional benefits.

2. Stockpile's role reversed. Labor has toughened its attitude. The recent statement by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, criticizing Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg's view of the government's part in labor negotiations is one of many indications that the labor movement does not intend to let the government limit labor demands.

Television price war: One big set maker (Motorola) is bringing out a 23-inch receiver at $169. Other large manufacturers are reported to be planning competitive models, which will lead to price battles at manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing levels.

Antiques boom: As most observers foresaw, Jackie Kennedy's refurbishing of the White House increased demands for Early American furniture in furniture and department stores. But the truly big boom has been in sales by antique stores handling Early American items. Despite the fact that prices have been inflated, many stores are all but sold out of these pieces and are scrounging desperately for new stock.

Alsop's Public Service

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Stewart Alsop has performed a solid service by writing an informative article on the State Department which was published in "The Saturday Evening Post."

The State Department has always been attacked for its own sins and for those of others in the government and I must admit that I have done as much complaining as anyone. In the Cuban situation it was clear to me that two Presidents, two Secretaries of State and at least one Under-Secretary were not properly and adequately informed, by their subordinates, as to what was going on. During the 1945-1948 period, it was clear that the top officials of our country were babes in the woods concerning China and much of what they then said has by now been proved to be untrue. It was an unfortunate situation but it then indicated that the machinery for gathering, evaluating and moving information forward was faulty.

Stewart Alsop is more objective in his analysis than most of us have been. He has discussed this matter with the present Secretary of State and with two previous ones and has come up with these conclusions:

"First, there are too many people in (the State Department).

"Second, partly for this reason, the department produces too many 'waffle papers'... and too few clear, clean and rapid policy decisions.

"Third, partly because there are so many people producing so many waffle papers, nobody — except the dross — has enough time to think.

"Fourth, for understandable reasons, the career Foreign Service tends to put a greater premium on avoiding mistakes than on bold and original thinking about foreign policy.

"Fifth, our ambassadors abroad do not have enough independent authority and prestige. As one ambassador remarked to me in Africa, 'I have to ask Washington for permission every time I want to go to the bathroom departments and agencies have got into the foreign-policy act, thus weakening the State Department's authority.'

All of this is absolutely correct, but can it be cured? Difficulties are insuperable. The excessive staff and the deadwood in the State Department are there because under the Foreign Service Act and the Veterans Act it is practically impossible to fire anybody. One solution might be to abolish the Department and start all over again. This is, of course, absurd and impossible but even a bizzarr idea had to be cleared away and when men are buried in paper, it does something to clear an opening.

It would seem that every young man who comes in to sit at a desk feels that he is already a great authority, that he has read the literature and the papers and knows the subject as the Secretary of State or even the President cannot. So he is already a policy-maker and he finds other young policy-makers who can together work out policy — which could, as it has done about both China and Cuba, plague the nation for decades.

They remind me of a business man who was touring the world and whom I met in Shanghai and who was having a good time. Suddenly, he was like one demented. He said that he had built up an enormous business and had a product, the brand name of which was known to all, which was then true; that he had a son whom he had educated in several universities as a chemist; that the reason his product was successful was that he carefully took out of it an ingredient which tended to grow rancid; that his brilliant, trained chemist son had decided that his slow, costly step was inefficient. So he said, the business would be killed. It was the fault to which I point is lack of discipline in the State Department. The fellow who hides reports or who delays them should be fired no matter who wants to protect him. The blabber-mouth should be fired. The security risk need not be (Continued on Page 6)

Ayden Defeats Farmville Five By 54-41

By CHARLES VAUGHAN
Reflector Sports Writer

Captain Stuart Tripp and the Ayden Tornados suppressed a determined Farmville team last night to surge to victory 54-41.

Tommy Dunn led the Tornados to a first quarter lead of 14-11. However, at the end of the second period, the Farmville Red Devils rallied to set the score at 21 all.

Ayden Wins
Early in the second half, the Red Devils matched the Tornados basket for basket. However, Ayden slowly began to increase their lead as they pushed to a 40-33 third quarter lead. In the fourth period, Ayden easily maintained their advantage to win 54-41.

The Ayden Tornados were paced by William Edwards who tallied five field goals and four free throws for a total of 14 points. Also in double figures for the winners were Wayne Dall and Clem McLawhorn with 13 and 11 points respectively. Incidentally, all three of these boys were selected to the Pitt County All-County Squad.

Briley Scores 19
Johnny Briley led the Farmville Red Devils with eight field goals and three free throws for a game high total of 19 points. Bobby Piser was the only other Red Devil in double figures as he tallied 10 points.

After two minutes of the first quarter, Wayne Dall hit the nets for two points to send the Tornados ahead 4-3. Ayden was able to maintain their lead for the entire first quarter. At the close of the period, the Tornados led by a score of 14-11.

Farmville managed to hold Ayden to seven points in the second period as they began to overtake the Tornados. During this period, the two teams matched each other basket for basket until the last two minutes of play. With two minutes remaining in this quarter, Farmville scored two straight baskets to set the halftime score at 21 apiece.

Ayden Increases Lead
When the two teams returned to the court in the second half, it was Ayden who immediately jumped to the advantage. During the first four minutes, the Tornados were able to only increase their advantage to three points. However, led by William Edwards, Ayden rallied late in the quarter to move to a 40-33 third quarter lead.

In the fourth and final period, Farmville could not keep pace with the hard working Tornados. The Red Devils, fighting desperately to overcome Ayden, slowly began to fall behind the victors. At the close of the last period, Ayden had increased their lead to 13 points as they went on to victory 54-41.

The Ayden Tornados led the Farmville Red Devils in all departments last night. Ayden tallied 21 field goals as compared to Farmville's 16. In the free throw department, the Tornados sank 12 for 16 for a percentage of 75%. The Red Devils hit 9-14 from the foul line for a free throw percentage of 64%.

Tonight's Games
Tonight, Ayden returns to the Pitt County Tournament to meet the Bethel Indians in the final game which will determine the conference champion. Bethel was very impressive last night in their win over Winterville by a score of 72-44. Regardless of the results of this final game, both teams will represent Pitt County in the district tournament. Tonight's contest will begin at 8:00 o'clock, and it will be preceded by the girls final game between Farmville and Stokes-Pactolus which is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

Limping Doug Sanders Enjoys 3-Stroke Lead

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Limping but light-hearted Doug Sanders carried a three-stroke lead into today's third round of the $20,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

Sanders reeled off his second straight 5-under-par round of 67 Friday for a 36-hole total of 134 despite a ride to the hospital to have a glass silver removed from his left foot just before the round began.

The 28-year-old native of Cedar-town, Ga., picked up the silver from a broken ashtray.

Tournament favorite Arnold Palmer was knotted in a tie for second with five other players — Dave Ragan Jr., Miller Barber, Paul Harvey, Bert Weaver and Don Fairfield.

Tied for eight a stroke back at 138 were Moon Mullins, Jerry Steelsmith, Dan Sikes, John Pott, Bobby Nichols and Joe Campbell. The honeymoon ended quickly for the first-day leader, unheralded Peter Mazur of Tonawanda, N.Y. He scored an astonishing 9-under-par 63 on the first round, but slipped to a 78 on the next 18, giving him a halfway mark of 141.

Stokes-Pactolus Girls Roar Back To Upset Belvoir-Falkland Rivals

The Stokes-Pactolus girls upset the Belvoir-Falkland girls last night by a score of 46-41.

Early in the game, the Belvoir-Falkland Eagles surged out ahead of the Blue Jays. At the close of the first quarter, the Eagles had increased their advantage to 16-8. However, the Blue Jays rallied late in the second period to narrow the Eagles lead to 28-24.

Blue Jays Go Ahead
With one minute remaining in the third period, Stokes-Pactolus took the lead for the first time of the night. Lillian Crisp sank two free throws to send the Blue Jays ahead 34-33. However, at the close of the quarter, the Eagles surged back in front by a score of 35-34. Stokes-Pactolus, led by Jennie Forbes and Linda Warren with 13 points each, overtook the Blue Jays and went on to victory.

Stokes-Pactolus was paced by Lillian Crisp who tallied six field goals and four free throws for a total of 16 points. Also in double figures for the Blue Jays were Jennie Forbes and Linda Warren with 13 points each.

Barnhill An Asset
Phyllis Barnhill, an All-County selection at guard, was also a tremendous asset to the Blue Jays. Time after time, she controlled the rebounds for Stokes-Pactolus. Barnhill also played a remarkable defensive game.

In double figures for Belvoir-Falkland was Frances Stepps with 11 field goals and two free throws for a game high total of 24 points. Mary Pollard was also in double digits for the Eagles as she tallied 11 points in her team's losing effort.

Eagles Control First Quarter
After five minutes of the first period, the Belvoir-Falkland Eagles had gained a four-point advantage over the Blue Jays.

Mary Pollard then scored a 3 field goal and two free throws to increase the Eagles lead to 12-4. In the last minute of the opening stanza, both teams scored four points to set the score at 16-8.

Belvoir-Falkland continued to increase their advantage during the early stanza of the second quarter. After three minutes of play, the Eagles had pushed to a 22-8 lead over their opponents. However, the Blue Jays began to score rapidly as they slowly narrowed the Eagles advantage.

Stokes-Pactolus outscored Belvoir-Falkland 16-12 in this pace. Now Grelle is hoping for a similar pace to help him become the second U.S. runner to crack the four-minute indoor barrier.

Blue Jays Win
The Blue Jays were determined to emerge victoriously last night as they surged in front of the Eagles after two minutes of the final period.

Stokes-Pactolus surged in front of Belvoir-Falkland 39-37 on a three-point play. As the contest neared the end, the Blue Jays increased their advantage and went on for the win 46-41.

Tonight Stokes-Pactolus will return to the Pitt County Tournament to meet the Farmville girls in the finals at 7:30 o'clock. This contest will determine the Pitt County champions.

Beatty 'Rabbit' Primed For Run

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Jim Grelle, one of the "rabbits" for clubmate Jim Beatty's "four minute" mile last night, shoots for the charmed mark himself tonight in the 11th annual Journal Indoor Games at the Arena.

Grelle, winner of the Journal mile in 4:03.6 a year ago, is prime for a top effort in defense of his meet laurels, while Beatty drops down to the 1,000-yard run.

Beatty uncorked a blistering 3:58.9 in Los Angeles Feb. 10 with the help of Grelle and others who moved out and set a fast pace. Now Grelle is hoping for a similar pace to help him become the second U.S. runner to crack the four-minute indoor barrier.

"Give us a good pace and Grelle can do it," said Dick Bank, president of the Los Angeles Track Club.

Beatty ran the mile in 3:59.7 Friday night in winning the event in the Chicago Daily News Relays. It was the second time he had run it in under four minutes.

Other individual winners included:

Broad Jump — Dave Raimey, Michigan, 24-3 3/4 with world champion Ralph Boston second with 23-9 3/4; 50-yard dash — Tom Robinson, Michigan, :05.3; 1,000-yard run — Bill Crothers, University of Toronto, 2:09.6.

600-yard run — George Kerr, former Illinois star from Jamaica, 1:10.8; High jump — Alonzo Littlejohn, Western Michigan, 6-8; two-mile — Bruce Kidd, University of Toronto, 8:53.1.

Jim Beatty Chalks 2nd Sub-4-Minute Mile

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Beatty registered his second sub-four-minute mile of the indoor track season and Hayes Jones bettered the American 60-yard high hurdle record to be the show-stoppers of the 26th annual Chicago Daily News Relays Friday night.

Their outstanding performances, plus an American record-lowering time by the University of Kansas two-mile relay team, drew cheers from a capacity crowd of 15,189 in Chicago Stadium.

Beatty, who became the first indoor miler to break the four-minute barrier last Feb. 10 with 3:58.9 in Los Angeles, took the mile in 3:59.7. On his heels, until he opened up a 12-yard gap to the finish, was 19-year-old Tom more. O'Hara was timed in 4:01.6.

East Germany's Siegfried Heermann ran an indoor mile in 3:59.9 shortly after Beatty's Los Angeles race.

Jones, former Eastern Michigan star and now a Detroit school teacher, rocketed the high-timbers in :06.9, clipping one-tenth second off his own American mark, which he had shared with Milt Campbell, Campbell, ex-Indiana ace, first set it in 1957.

"That '06.9 had been eluding me for years," said Jones, who won his fifth straight Chicago Daily News Relays hurdle crown and his 31st consecutive hurdle event. "I moved my rear foot back a full three inches farther than I ordinarily do in the starting blocks. Guess I got an eyelash faster start."

Kansas overshadowed the relays competition with a blistering 7:30.8. This bettered the accepted two-mile batten record of 7:32.8 set by Manhattan College in 1961.

The Kansas team was made up of Kirk Hagan, who sped the first half mile in 1:52.0; Tomni Coane, Bill Thornton and Bill Dotson, whose anchor leg was 1:51.1.

Charlotte Officers Wounded In Arrest

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Three city policemen were wounded in a blazing gun battle with a safe-cracker early today at a Charlotte car wash. A Negro man surrendered when officers fired tear gas bombs into the building. Patrolman J. W. Bowen, 28, was the most seriously wounded officer. He was shot point blank with a .38 caliber pistol when he stepped through a broken glass door into the car wash. He received a wound in the chest. Charlotte Memorial Hospital said his condition was serious. The other officers, O. E. Elliott, 34, and D. W. Kirkpatrick, 30, were less seriously wounded. Kirkpatrick was struck by a ricocheting bullet. He was treated and released from the hospital. Elliott was struck in the thumb. The man who stumbled out of the fumes-filled building, Jess Williams, 21, of Charlotte, was taken to Memorial Hospital where police are keeping him under a 24-hour watch. Williams' wounds were described as not serious. Officers and the burglar carried on a 30-minute gun battle before Williams surrendered. Sgt. T. W. Williams, who said he was directing police gunfire, wanted to make "sure we didn't hit some of our own men and ordered the tear gas. I knew there was a wounded officer in there... but we had to get that man out of there before he shot someone else." Sgt. J. T. Benfield said as he tried to reach the wounded Bowen, he found himself face-to-face with the Negro man. He said both men pulled the triggers on their guns, but both guns were empty.

OFFICIALS . . . including Highway Patrol Capt. S. H. Mitchell, Commander of Troop "A" stand on edge of washed out portion of U.S. 258 by-pass on early morning survey of damage. An inlet was cut from the ocean to the sound here following the old sound road to Nags Head village.

STRANDED . . . like many vehicles on the Dare Coast, this truck is "planted" in the deep sand that covered the beach road at Kitty Hawk.

WITH "MOUTH" OPEN . . . as if being strangled by the deep sand, Box 28 still stands atop its post beside the sand-covered beach road.

A WATERFALL . . . is formed as waters from an angry and gray Atlantic Ocean spill over broken pavement just south of the Kitty Hawk Fishing Pier at the northern end of the beach resort late Thursday morning.

RESCUE VEHICLES . . . including helicopters from HMM 263, New River Marine Air Facility and a Highway Patrol car rest beside the highway before resuming patrols along the flooded strip of sand Thursday afternoon.

BARRIER DUNES . . . once held out waters of the Atlantic Ocean but now, with dunes eaten away by raging surf, water spills over into area between ocean and the beach bypass road, flooding homes and businesses. Note fishing pier at end of flooded street, with part of its wooden walkway torn away.

National 4-H Club Week Being Observed By Clubs Of County

Members of 4-H Clubs throughout America are celebrating National 4-H Club Week this week. Pitt County 4-H'ers have joined the 68,000 members in North Carolina in this observance.

Marking the special observance, assistant county agent W. P. Sanderson, whose duties include supervisory work with Pitt County 4-H'ers, reviewed last year's accomplishments and activities of clubs and their members in the county. Here is Sanderson's report:

During the past year Pitt County members joined together in worthwhile activities and events, in addition to the projects each member carries, to make it a successful year. The activities began in April with the County Dress Revue. A large number of girls modeled garments which they had made as a part of their clothing project. The Senior winner received an opportunity to participate in the District Dress Revue.

At the same time as the Dress Revue, the Kings and Queens of Health from each local 4-H Club were presented, and from this group a Junior and Senior King and Queen was chosen on the basis of improvements made in personal, family and community health.

Also in April the County Fat Stock Show and Sale was held. 4-H members showed the baby beefs which they had spent many hours, in the past six months, grooming, feeding and training.

In May of last year 4-H members participated in a County Talent Show. The winners received an award plus the opportunity to perform in the District Talent Show.

4-H members activities vary and each one is aimed for spiritual enrichment. On National 4-H Church Sunday many members took an active part in their local church services. Also in May, 4-H members participated in various demonstrations. There were 26 demonstrations and Pitt County had winners in 13 of these.

One important activity that junior members look forward to is summer camp. Last year approximately 35 4-H members, leaders and agents attended one full week at Camp Millstone, located near Rockingham. In June, 4-H demonstration winners from all 18 counties in the Northeastern District, of which Pitt is one, met and one winner was selected. These winners competed for state honors in July during State 4-H Club Week. Last year one Pitt County 4-H'er represented the Northeastern District in Boy's Electric.

State 4-H Club Week, which is held on the campus of North Carolina State College, gives the members an opportunity to meet other 4-H'ers from all across the state.

In the month of September, 12 boys and girls showed 144 pullets from a lot of 1,200 which they received in February. These members raised these pullets, doing all the work themselves. This event is known as the County Poultry Show and Sale. These chickens are sold at auction, and the proceeds are used to give other 4-H members an opportunity to secure 100 chickens the following spring.

4-H members take an active part in the Pitt County Agricultural Fair. Last year 4-H members entered 4 educational booths. One of these booths won the Chambliss Award as the best educational booth at the fair. 4-H members entered individual exhibits in poultry, livestock, crops, and phases of Homemaking. In the individual and team livestock judging contest 4-H'ers displayed outstanding ability in judging.

To complete a successful 4-H year, there was a County Achievement Program to recognize 4-H boys and girls who were winners in various projects, to install new County Council officers, and to name the boy and girl who had done the most outstanding work for the entire year.

The past year has provided many Pitt County boys and girls with rewarding experiences, and for this coming year the 4-H'ers are working together "to make the best better."

Two hundred seventy-six million pounds of honey were produced in the United States in 1961.

Reviews And Reflections

By JIM FOINDEXER

The name of Claude Eatherly has been cropping up in a good many places recently.

A book of his correspondence ("Burning Conscience"), originally issued in German in Hamburg, has just been published in England. Two British poets, John Wain and George Barker, have written poems about him.

He has been asked by Hollywood to allow a film version of his life to be made. He has become the center of a cult in Japan, and his picture has appeared in magazines in many countries.

Only last week, there was an inquiry in the Times for information concerning him from an author preparing to write another book about him.

Stricken Conscience

And who is this Claude Eatherly? He is a World War II Air Force officer whose climactic moment apparently came when he got involved in the in the bombing of Nagasaki 1945. Strangely enough, his role in this tragic business has been and still is a matter of dispute. Was he the pilot of the lethal plane? A reconnaissance pilot? Or what? Was he involved in the bombing of Nagasaki or Hiroshima, or both?

These questions, at least, appear to be settled now. In one of his letters quoted in "Burning Conscience," Eatherly says that he was at Hiroshima, and that his duty was fly ahead of the bomber, check the weather and enemy forces, and give the go-ahead for the bombing run.

On the way back to his base, he says that he "made a dedication that day, Aug. 6, 1945, that I would dedicate my life to destroy the causes of war and the banishment of all nuclear weapons."

Subsequently, however, the life of this remorseful airman seems to have developed a radical split. On the one hand, he worked with pacifist organizations, sent aid to Hiroshima and visited it, and done other good works.

On the other, he has engaged in what we may euphemistically call a good deal of "anti-social" behavior, which the courts have taken cognizance of, finally ending up in a governmental mental hospital, according to reports.

Good Copy

Of course, all this makes good copy for all sorts of people, whether they be idealistic, cynical, ironic, or plain morbid. Yet, somehow, we doubt the value of a whole series of books, pamphlets, and articles on this unfortunate man, who, though a relatively innocent participant in a grim act, has been thrust into a role which obviously has great symbolic significance for this generation. Therefore, he will probably not be allowed to fade into a seemingly anonymity for a very long time, if ever.

Education in Aritamia
Education at best is a curious thing. At worst, it is also curious. This latter dictum is illustrated by a new book called "The People of Aritamia" by a couple by the name of Reichel-Dolmatoff.

Aritamia is a false name for a peasant community in the mountains of Colombia, where all the work in the school is carried on in a rote question-and-answer fashion. Maybe that's not the curious feature of education in Aritamia, after all, on second thought. Maybe it's the fact that the rote answers there are simply not like our rote answers.

For example, in health education the children are questioned in such a way that they affirm that all physical effort should be avoided (we would never say that in school), that reading is harmful to the eyes, and that thinking damages the head (we don't often get a chance to test this one).

Corrected Census
Last week we published a very amateurish local bird census and as a result are the proud recipient of our first letter from a reader. Or correspondent, Dr. George Cook of the College, a fine migratory species himself, offers this amplification of what we wrote:

"You did not mention in your column the tufted titmouse. . . . What about the yellow-bellied sapsucker? Or would you classify it as just another woodpecker? You mention sparrows, but shouldn't the native sparrows have separate recognition? The white-throat and the fox are our usual winter companions. But you must mention the slate-colored junco, or snowbird, as my mother used to call it."

Many thanks to Dr. Cook also for making the point that local birdlovers should put up bluebird boxes because these little visitors are well nigh homeless since hollow fence posts and orchard trees have been abolished. As he says, dimensions for such boxes are shown in the new "Reader's Digest."

Flower Show
This is another reminder that there will be a spring flower show next week, sponsored by the Greenville Garden Club Council. Proceeds from the show will be used to make Greenville more attractive, a worthy project. We hope that includes some scheme for saving the trees which we have left—and even planting some new ones, if that is not too futile even to contemplate.

The show will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Wednesday, March 14, 2-9:30 p.m. Men are specially invited.

At the College there will be a French film, Thursday, 7:00, Austin. The film is "Gervaise," an adaptation of Emile Zola's "L'Assommoir." There is no charge.

MULTIPLY SEVEN BY ONE MILLION and you'll get some idea of the amount of money retailers and other local advertisers invest in daily newspaper advertising EVERY DAY!

These advertisers know that the more than $7 million they invest daily in newspapers* is a wise investment that regularly pays off in buying action at the cash register. People want and look for advertising messages in the daily newspaper, and no other medium equals daily newspapers' ability to move merchandise out of shops and showrooms into homes and onto shelves.

A New JOHN CREASEY Thriller

A ROCKET FOR ROLLISON

CHAPTER 12

Looking about the cellar, Richard Rollison saw a snap-brimmed hat on a chair in front of an old table, which held an open briefcase. By the briefcase were several manila folders, two of them open, the others closed.

The initials on the case did not show up clearly until Rollison moved forward. Then he saw: M. K.H.

Kennedy edged towards him. "No one said Maurice Holmes' middle name began with K," he muttered, "but it looks as if it did. At least we haven't found his body."

"Yet," said Rollison, drily. He went to the folders and fingered them so that he could see the papers inside; there were rows upon rows of columns, which looked like stock lists of spare motor car parts, and hundreds upon hundreds of carbon copies of letters. Most of the letters were addressed to a James Wedlake, Esq., Mailing Motors Sales Division, London, W. I.

"Quite a boy for work," Kennedy remarked.

"I wonder if they stole his love letters, too," said Rollison.

"Eh? Why should they?"

"Don't take me too literally, Mike. We can be sure that Holmes was brought down here, and it rather looks as if he was questioned while tied to that chair."

"If they didn't kill him, then obviously he's more valuable to them alive than dead," observed Kennedy sagely, and then appeared to realize the inanity of the remark and went on hurriedly: "What I mean is, they want him alive but they'll gladly kill Kate."

"Yes," said Rollison. "Notice anything else?"

Kennedy hesitated, looked round sniffed, and shook his head.

"The smell of oil, that's all."

"The people who own this house, or at least who live in it, believe in eating well," Rollison pointed out. "Only true gourmets would worry about such a variety of wine and brandy as this."

He went to a bin, picked up a small bottle and studied it almost reverently. "Napoleon," he said, and put the bottle back. Then he saw a torn label tied to a small crate, bent down and read: Jeremiah Wur—. The rest of the name was torn off.

"Yet they were so scared that they got out at a moment's notice."

"If they've been here a long time, we should be able to trace 'em pretty quickly," Rollison said, and frowned. "I don't know what it is, but there's a pretty little trick being played here. There is a man's cellar, probably an old man's cellar. Few white wines, few light wines — brandies and liqueurs, no champagne to speak of. Hmm, Mike. Rollison went on, more quickly, "did Kate Weston tell you the name of Holmes' uncle — the one you said had died?"

"Well, no, but — she said something about a deceased Uncle Jerry?"

"An old man's cellar, a heap of Victorian junk upstairs, a Jeremiah W. — it could shape up. Rollison went on, almost as if he were speaking to himself. "It's worth —"

He broke off.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

The spiritual relationship of God and man will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Man" is the Golden Text from Psalm 100: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture."

One of the citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 265): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections must near grow spiritual—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite—in order that sin and mortality may be put off."
