'Excellent' Rating For Rose High Band In Regional Contest

IN CONTEST . . . The Rose High School Band is pictured here as they competed for honors in the State-Eastern Region Band Contest held on the Campus of East Carolina College Saturday. The group, which received an "excellent" rating competed against bands from 18 schools in Eastern North Carolina. James E. Rogers is director of the local musical group.

Five Injured In One-Car Wreck Over Weekend

A one-car mishap in which five persons were injured and a car-bus crash in which 37 passengers as well as the drivers involved escaped uninjured were included in the Highway Patrol's report of weekend activities in Pitt County.

Patrolman W. E. Williams of Greenville said the five injured were persons on a car which went out of control and overturned twice west of Greenville on U.S. 264.

The officers said the injured included the driver of the vehicle, Edward Earl Meeks, 23, of Route 1, Greenville and four passengers in the car. They were identified as Thomas E. Whiteley, 25, of Hookerton; Bruce Hardison, 20, of Snow Hill; and Meason L. Brown, 20, and Dalton Croomb, 17, both of Farmville.

Both Brown and Croomb were admitted to the hospital while the three others were treated and released.

A sixth person was a passenger in the car but was not injured. He was identified as Marvin Shackelford, 22, of Snow Hill.

Pit. Williams said the vehicle skidded out of control for a distance of 423 feet before overturning two times. The vehicle was a total loss and officers set the value of the car at $850.

Meeks was charged with reckless driving.

In the second collision of the day, Jane Haddock, 24, of Route 2, Greenville was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Trooper Howard Winslow said the Haddock car collided with a Seashore Transportation Company bus being driven by Frederick Everett Gathercole, 39, of New Bern.

The collision took place about 16 miles south of Greenville on N.C. 43.

Pit. Winslow said the Haddock car pulled out into the path of the bus. The car was listed as a total loss. The force of impact caused the bus to run into a roadside ditch. Damage to it was placed at $300.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C. Temperatures will average a little above normal. Slow warming trend, turning a little cooler about Thursday or Friday. Rainfall will be light, occurring as scattered showers about Thursday or Friday.

Soviet Ready Negotiate Treaty On Nuclear Test Ban, No Inspections

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it was ready to negotiate with the United States and Britain on a nuclear test ban treaty. But it stood firm against allowing international inspection teams on its soil. The action opened new prospects of East-West talks on the deadlocked issue, although it did not resolve any of the differences blocking a treaty. If agreement can be reached on a test ban pact, President Kennedy has announced he will cancel next month's scheduled start on a new series of U.S. atmospheric tests. The Russian announcement was made by Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin at a news conference. His statement coincided with information from Western delegations that the United States and Britain have finally agreed on concessions to offer Russia in an effort to meet Soviet objections to international inspection. The offer probably will be made Tuesday. It is understood that the Western powers would reduce the number of inspection trips which teams of international inspectors could make around the Soviet Union. Much Soviet territory also would be eliminated from any inspection at all. British Foreign Secretary Lord Home returned to Geneva from weekend consultations in London with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Allied diplomats said they believed Macmillan had been in touch with Kennedy on nailing down the concessions. Macmillan is said to be even more anxious than Kennedy to show that if the U.S. tests are held every possible effort was made to avoid them. Zorin said the Soviet Union would like to negotiate here with the United States, Britain and France on a nuclear test ban. The great powers would form a subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference. Since France is boycotting the conference, Zorin said Russia was "also ready to continue negotiations" among the three powers. At the news conference, Zorin said: 1. Said the Soviet draft treaty for total disarmament by three stages in four years should be the basis for negotiations here, especially since, he said, the United States has not laid down a complete treaty proposal. 2. Rejected the proposal advanced by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk last week that Russia and the United States each transfer 50,000 kilograms of nuclear explosive material to a stockpile for peaceful uses. Zorin said that should be done only at a time when nuclear weapons came under a total ban. 3. Declined to say whether Russia would walk out of the disarmament talks if and when Kennedy starts nuclear explosions in the atmosphere, assuming there is no test ban treaty meanwhile. 4. Declared that national inspection systems for detecting nuclear explosions are sufficient to police a test ban treaty. This is the heart of the treaty dispute. The United States insists international inspectors must be admitted to the Soviet Union. In the 17-nation conference itself, Canada made a new appeal for agreement on a pact to end nuclear weapons testing.

Fronzizi Acts To Nullify Peronista Vote Landslide

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Arturo Fronzizi today ordered federal control in all provinces where Peronists won Sunday's nationwide congressional and provincial elections. The president will name civilian or military leaders to head the government in the provinces where followers of Peron gave the president and his government a sharp setback in Sunday's election of provincial governors and some members of his congress. Should the president continue federal control past May 1, when the officials elected Sunday are to take office, the action could have the effect of nullifying the results of the election. Latest unofficial returns showed that followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron won more than 30 seats in the national Congress and 10 governors' posts including that of Buenos Aires Province, which is second to the presidency in political power and prestige. Fronzizi acted at about 5 a.m. after Argentina's armed forces chiefs met with Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo to consider whether to form a military junta to deal with the crisis. The military chiefs called on Fronzizi to intervene and demanded the resignation of Vitolo, who had mapped the strategy of Sunday's election. Vitolo reportedly already had submitted his resignation, but government house sources said Fronzizi had not decided whether to accept it. Jubilant Peronists hailed the outcome as a recall for their exiled leader, but there was doubt in the military, which threw Peron out in 1955, would permit his followers to regain control. After the voting trend became clear, Fronzizi's ruling Intransigent Radical party issued a warning that the Peronist victory could cause chaos in Argentina. Peron was not present to taste the fruits of his victory. He was reported following the returns by telephone from exile in Madrid. At midnight, the four-year-old state of siege, lifted for election day, went back into effect. Early this morning squads of police using tear gas bombs roamed the streets dispersing crowds who massed in front of newspaper offices to see late returns posted in the windows. The armed forces leaders were said to feel havoc would result if 10 or more Peronist governors take over May 1. The biggest prize at stake—the governorship of populous Buenos Aires Province, site of Argentina's capital—went to Andres Framini, 47, labor leader who favors a hands-off policy toward Communist Cuba. It seemed virtually certain that the president's party had lost its majority in the House of Deputies, a blow which would probably spell defeat for Fronzizi's projects as he winds up the last two years of his six-year term. The Peronist victory was seen as a sharp setback for President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress aid program for Latin America. Kennedy had singled out Argentina as a prime target for his program to bolster the Americas against the twin threats of Castroism and communism. Washington loaned Fronzizi's regime $150 million only a few weeks ago to ease its economic ills. The Peronist comeback could wreck Fronzizi's austerity-tinged program for Argentine development and torpedo Washington's hopes for this country. The result put the strongest pressure yet on Fronzizi's crisis-ridden regime, which has never been able to recover from the legacy of debt left by Peron in 1955.

Returning

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Princess Grace—the former Grace Kelly—is returning to the movies, the palace of this Riviera principality announced today. The announcement said she will appear in a film directed by Alfred Hitchcock based on a novel by British novelist Winston Graham. The announcement indicated that the onetime movie queen's return to films would be for only one picture. During her heyday in Hollywood, the statuesque blonde appeared in three Hitchcock films—"Dial M for Murder," "Rear Window" and "To Catch a Thief." The announcement said the princess would make the film toward the end of next summer and she would be back in Monaco by late November. She has not appeared in a movie since her wedding.

Cuba 'Protests' Hostile Acts

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba has sent the United States a protest note accusing U.S. military personnel of stupidly hostile acts at the Guantanamo naval base. The protest said deliberate provocation proved that the base at the southeastern end of the island was being used as a launching site for a "large-scale armed attack the Imperialist government of the United States is organizing against Cuba." The note, signed by Foreign Minister Raul Roa, cited 12 alleged incidents including charges that Cuban guards outside the base were fired upon.

Cease-Fire Ends Savage Algerian War; Secret Army Calls For Strike

ALGIERS (AP)—A cease-fire ending the savage 7½-year Algerian nationalist rebellion went into effect at noon today. But the third force in the ordeal of Algeria, the European Secret Army, struck back with crippling general strikes and terrorist attacks. Vowing to keep Algeria French, the secret army's call for a 24-hour strike halted all but essential services in Algiers and brought business to a standstill in Oran, Algeria's second largest city. The underground army warned the real fighting was just beginning. Terrorist attacks erupted in Algiers despite reinforcements of French soldiers sent into the city. Gunfire and explosions rang through Oran, where AP correspondent Rodney Angove said no French troops were seen in the center of the city. Authorities gave no casualty figures. Oran, a right-wing stronghold, had all communications cut with France by secret army saboteurs, Angove reported. He said all stores were closed as Europeans rallied to the secret army's strike call. Air France and Air Algerie canceled all flights from France to Algeria because airport personnel in Algiers and Oran joined the general strike. Fugitive ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, head of the secret army, ordered his European followers on a war footing Sunday evening as President Charles de Gaulle was announcing the cease-fire agreement and urging Frenchmen and Moslem alike to forget their differences. The secret army has called the cease-fire agreement betrayal, and its announced campaign to challenge De Gaulle's authority brought uneasiness among Algerian nationalists who signed the agreement with France at Evian. "The cease-fire has not brought peace to Algeria," declared Algerian nationalist Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda, whose group will share with France the main burden of ruling turbulent Algeria until a self-determination vote this summer charts the territory's future. "There still are enemies of peace here," he said in Rome en route from Tunisia to Morocco. He referred to "groups whose interest it is to sabotage the peace." Throughout Algeria, the Moslem majority was under orders from its leaders to refrain from demonstrations or contacts with Europeans that might lead to disorders. In an order of the day, Gen. Charles Allieret, French supreme commander in Algeria, told the French army "to continue to make sure that disorder does not prevail, whoever are those who would attempt to unleash it again." He also paid tribute to the Algerian nationalists who fought the war that cost the lives of 17,250 French soldiers and 141,000 Moslems. He called the rebels "an adversary frequently exalted but always courageous." A French army spokesman said there had been no firing between the nationalist rebels and the army anywhere in the field for several hours before the cease-fire order went into effect. More bloodshed threatened before Algeria gains independence as the underground army of European settlers defiantly proclaimed: "Now the real fighting has begun." As the first show of strength, the secret army called a general strike in Algeria's major cities for 24 hours and urged Europeans to remain indoors. The walkout that went into effect at midnight crippled Algiers but the French army was in tight control of the capital. Jean Morin, French delegate general, appealed to both Europeans and Moslems to remain calm. He told the Europeans, "I know the solution (the cease-fire) is not the one you wanted but it is a solution of reality." He warned them against "a catastrophe of senseless resistance" and counseled the Moslem majority to show "patience and prudence in the weeks to come." Algiers was outwardly calm with few Europeans and fewer Moslems in the streets. The authorities mobilized key personnel of vital utilities to ensure the supply of water, gas and electricity. The strike call was to demonstrate that the million European settlers—only one-tenth of Algeria's population—control the country's economic life and can cripple it at will. French President Charles de Gaulle, acknowledging their still were last obstacles to be cleared up, brushed off the terrorist threat. He appealed to the French people for support of the cease-fire even though it marks the end of the French empire. The 71-year-old French leader, who returned to power four years ago with the backing of former French army officers now leading the fight against him in Algeria, declared in a nationwide broadcast Sunday night that he had achieved a "solution of good sense." U.S. President Kennedy hailed the agreement as providing "a sound basis for a friendly and fruitful relationship between Algeria and France."

Public Hearing Set April 5 On Annexation

Councilmen this morning set a public hearing for April 5 for annexation of Forest Hills Addition 1.

The council agreed to furnish fire protection and garbage collection for the nine homes already in the area.

Reynolds May, representing developers of the property, told the council that he had believed the area to be in the city. However, through error the annexation had not been carried out.

Mayor Charles M. King told the council at the special noon session that the property had been checked by City Engineer C. A. Holiday and found to comply with the subdivision ordinance.

The public hearing was set for the next regular council meeting.

The council also called for recommendations to revise the property owners' payment rate for curb and gutter and paving costs. Presently, property owners pay $1 per foot for paving and $1 per foot for curb and gutter. The city pays the remaining costs.

Mayor King said rising costs may have made these figures out of line.

The council instructed the city engineer and Department of Public Works Director Kenneth Beatty to work with the mayor in recommending a new policy for street assessments.

Councilmen M. W. Aldridge and James Lee were present for today's special session along with the mayor.

Flash Of Light Hints Explosion

MANILA (AP)—A report of a mysterious flash of light in the sky increased suspicion today that a Liberator tanker in the western Pacific along the scheduled route of the missing Flying Tiger Super Constellation bound for South Vietnam with 107 persons aboard, was possibly sabotaged.

U.S. officials said a "bright light strong enough to light" a ship's decks was sighted by a Liberator tanker in the western Pacific along the scheduled route of the missing Flying Tiger Super Constellation bound for South Vietnam with 107 persons aboard.

A spokesman at rescue headquarters in Guam said, "With the search in its fourth day, more credence is given to the possibility that the tanker may have seen the missing aircraft explode in flight."

An official of the Flying Tiger line, which operated the plane, said if investigation reveals the plane blew up, it would strengthen previous suspicions of sabotage.

Frank B. Lynoff, executive vice president in charge of operations, said experts consider it impossible for a violent explosion to occur about its Super Constellation under normal conditions.

The tanker T. L. Linzen said it sighted the bright light in the sky early Friday morning—about 90 minutes after the plane made its last report.

The Super Constellation was last heard from about 10:30 p.m. Thursday, 270 miles west of Guam, and gave no hint of anything amiss.

Health OK Required For Migrant Labor Camps

No labor will be assigned to migrant labor camps which have not received a permit from the local health department, it was reported this week by E. L. Kilpatrick, chief sanitarian for the Pitt Health Department. Regulations for this year have been released through the N. C. State Board of Health and made public by the local health department. Kilpatrick noted that there have been some changes in regulations, becoming effective this year. The following standards will be used in making inspections of migrant labor camps and in the issuing of permits for this year: Each person, firm or corporation now operating or intending to operate a migrant labor camp shall be required to secure a permit from the local health department. Application should be made in writing at least 15 days before the camp is to be placed in operation. Before issuing the permit, the local health department will make an inspection and will not issue a permit to the migrant camp operators where camp facilities do not meet the recommended standards of the State Board of Health. Permits may be revoked at any time the camp is not operated in conformance with recommended standards of the State Board of Health. The camp operator, or the crew leader, will be responsible for complying with recommended standards of the state board of health and in maintaining the camp in a sanitary manner. Regarding water supply, the recommended standards are for an adequate, convenient and safe water supply approved by the State Board of Health be available at all times at each camp. Water under pressure shall be provided, and water outlets shall be located not farther than 200 feet from each housing unit. The well or spring shall be constructed in accordance with state specifications, the supply adequate to provide a minimum of 35 gallons per person per day. Sewerage—Toilet facilities for each race and sex shall be provided in accordance with General Statute 130-160. The minimum number of toilet seats shall be one for 20 users for each race and sex. Privies, when used, shall be located no farther than 200 feet from the dwelling units. Showers and wash rooms—Water shall be made available for bathing facilities at each camp. In camps housing more than 15 workers showers shall be provided on the ratio of one shower head for each 15 persons. Separate facilities shall be provided for each sex. Shelter—in rooms for living and sleeping purposes, there shall be at least one window for each room opening to the outer air. The minimum total window area shall be 10 per cent of the floor area for new buildings and five per cent for existing buildings. It is recommended that all buildings be constructed in a safe manner with provision against fire hazards and protection against the elements. The roof and walls shall be water resistant and in dormitory type construction, a minimum of 20 square feet per person shall be provided. Provisions also are made for bedding, lighting, cooking and garbage. Where mattresses or pads are provided, they shall be kept clean and in a sanitary manner free from vermin. Where central feeding facilities are provided, and operated for pay, they shall be operated in accordance with the requirements of the State Board of Health for food-handling establishments. As for garbage, water tight receptacles shall be provided for storage of garbage and refuse. Containers must be emptied daily and the contents buried or disposed of in a manner approved by the local health department. Employment Security Commission is required by Federal regulations to certify that the housing, water supply, sewage and waste disposal at migrant labor camps meet the state or local requirements or else meet the standards established by the U. S. Secretary of Labor.

Thousands At Marine Base Hear Evangelist

EAGER TO HEAR . . . a message by famous evangelist Billy Graham, thousands thronged to the football stadium of the Camp LeJeune Marine Corps Base yesterday, young and old alike willing to sit on the ground, Graham (inset) said the turnout was the largest he had ever addressed at a military installation. During a news conference Graham said "only God" can bring about racial integration. (Photo by Roy Hardee.)

Yellow And White Color Motif Used At Luncheon

Miss Nelson Blount, bride-elect of Sellars Crisp, was honored Thursday at a luncheon at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Hostesses were Mrs. William H. Taft Jr. and her mother, Mrs. George D. Pinch of Thomasville.

Upon arrival, Miss Blount was presented a white orchid corsage which complemented her beige suit. Carnation corsages were given mothers of the bride- and bridegroom-elect.

Guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses, the honoree, Mrs. M. K. Blount, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Sellars Crisp, mother of the bridegroom-elect.

Guests were directed to the refreshment table where a mechanical birdcage encircled with camellias and fern were of focal interest. On a side table was an epergne containing nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums, white carnations, baby's breath and fern. On either side of the epergne was a five-branched silver candelabra holding burning white tapers.

At the oval of the U-shaped dining table were crystal and silver compotes containing colorful mints. Galax leaves graced the luncheon table with an arrangement of white, yellow and gold carnations used as the centerpiece. Elsewhere in the clubhouse were arrangements of jonquils.

The handmade place cards and match booklets further emphasized the yellow and white color motif.

After the three course luncheon the hostesses presented Miss Blount with a silver aspic tray and an English Sheffield cutlery set. Each guest took a carnation from the centerpiece as a favor.

The 40 guests attending were from Bethel, Rocky Mount, Thomasville and Greenville.

New Officers Installed

Mrs. D. S. Spain entertained the Round Table Book Club at her home on East Fifth Street. Spring flowers were used throughout the home.

At a brief business meeting, members voted unanimously to accept the slate of officers for the coming year as presented by Mrs. R. H. Hunsucker, chairman of the nominating committee. They are:

President, Mrs. Robert Fountain; 1st vice president, Mrs. R. B. Lee; 2nd vice president, Mrs. W. W. Howell; recording secretary, Mrs. D. L. Moore; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. M. Davis; treasurer, Mrs. D. R. Taylor; custodian, Mrs. H. J. McGinnis.

Mrs. Robert Fountain, president, read a letter of acceptance of membership to the club from Mrs. Robert Holt. Mrs. Fountain welcomed Mrs. Holt to the club.

Mrs. W. W. Howell presented a very interesting program on "Frontiers In Education." This discussion covered the many phases of quality education by means of student classification. She then discussed the phases of National, State and local emphasis in the quality education program.

Mrs. Spain, assisted by Mrs. E. E. Rawl and Mrs. D. H. Conley, served refreshments carrying out St. Patrick's Day motif.

Versatile Doc

NEVERS, France—(WNS)—Mrs. Jeannine Bouillet, 21, was being rushed to the maternity hospital by her doctor, Andre Riffet, when he swung into a ditch to escape hitting a horse that had run into his path. Despite a broken leg she gave birth to a superb eight-pound baby boy. Dr. Riffet took care of both problems.

Mrs. Cannon Gives H.D. Demo.

Have you ever tussled with a gusset? That's what Pierce Home Demonstration leaders will cease to do after the demonstration by Mrs. Heber Cannon. She showed how to put a gusset in a sleeve, and how to put in a zipper the new way. Instructions for binding buttonholes were given to every member.

Mrs. Ed Humbles, music leader, selected "Jacob's Ladder" for the song. Mrs. Mack Allen led the Club Collect. At roll call there were nine members and one visitor present.

The community service leader, Mrs. J. C. Whitehurst, was authorized to purchase a gift of silver for a new baby of one of the members and a nice robe in lieu of the usual sunshine basket for a sick member.

Chocolate cake, nuts and coffee were served by the hostess, Mrs. Heber Cannon.

Rose High News

By SHERBY EVERETT

Bands from 18 schools in Eastern North Carolina, including Rose High, played in the annual band contest held at East Carolina College Saturday, March 17.

Having been awarded a grade of superior last year, the high school band, directed by J. E. Rodgers, had selected five pieces to practice, three of which they played in the contest. Each band chose a march and a contest number to play, and the judges selected the third piece to be played.

The band had been practicing on "Block M," a march by Billik, "Second Suite in F for Military Band" by Holst, "Military Symphony in F" by Gossec, "Toccata" by Slocum, and Peller's "Theme for Tomorrow."

Divided into different groups, the bands play graded music numbered two to five. The pieces become harder as a band plays a higher numbered group of music. This year Rose high, Elizabeth City, Washington, and New Bern played grade five music.

Judges for the contest were Earl Slocum of the University of North Carolina, Allan Bone of Duke University, and Bernie Hirsch of Lenoir high school.

Teachers Attend Convention
 Representing Rose High in the annual North Carolina Educational association convention, Robert G. Mulder, Roy A. Phelps, and Wilkie C. Burt traveled to Raleigh Thursday for the three-day meet.

Mr. Mulder was asked by the state president to play the console of the Hammond organ in the Raleigh coliseum each evening before the convention assemblies began and during the meetings at special occasions. He played relaxing music to put the audience "in a good mood" in order to have had a better convention.

An experienced musician, Mr. Mulder played mostly light music. Hits from "My Fair Lady," "South Pacific," "The King and I," "Camelot," and "Oklahoma" were his chief selections.

Two Rose high teachers were officers of the local N.C.E.A. this year. James D. Nicholson ends his year as president this spring while Mrs. Nancy K. Singleton will remain as secretary-treasurer next year.

Seniors Take Development Tests
 To help each person find his individual strengths and weaknesses, 144 seniors took the Iowa Tests of Educational Development Tuesday and Wednesday at East Carolina College.

The tests, which lasted two full days, included nine separate sections which tested all areas of school work except foreign languages. When the scores are returned in three weeks, the seniors can compare their scores with those of their classmates and of second semester seniors all over the United States.

Another purpose of the test developed by Science Research associates, who also make the National Merit tests, is to help the schools to evaluate themselves as to their weakness in subject matter.

Finalists Visit Duke
 Jimmy Jenkins, Jimmy Eagan, and Dennis Eagan, all finalists in the Angier B. Duke scholarship race, went to Duke University Thursday for a few days of looking over the school and talking with officials at the university.

The finalists were taken out to dinner and observed a few classes along with other finalists. During their visit they stayed on the campus.

Thompson Joins Faculty
 Filling Miss Laura M. Bells position in the business department, Miss Lina C. Thompson of Goldsboro joined the faculty recently.

Miss Thompson graduated from East Carolina college after the fall quarter and worked on her Master's degree last quarter. She ranks flying as her favorite hobby, although she likes to do almost everything.

 1 cup fine crosswise slices green celery

Roast pork according to your favorite directions. Drain pineapple. In a saucepan stir together the cornstarch and cold water until smooth; add 1-3 cup of the pineapple syrup, soy sauce, vinegar, bouillon cube and boiling water; cook and stir over moderately low heat until bouillon cube dissolves and sauce thickens and clears. Add drained pineapple and celery; reheat; serve with roast pork. Sauce is slightly sweet and sour.

News From Bethel

Bethel Woman's Christian Temperance Union
 Mrs. J. S. Moore was hostess to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Monday with Mrs. W. J. Taylor, co-hostess.

Mrs. J. L. Gurganus called the meeting to order and presided. Following the opening song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," Mrs. Mollie Bullock led in prayer. Mrs. Gurganus presented the program, choosing a devotion from Nehemiah 8:1-3, 5, 6-8 with basic thoughts on "With Understanding."

She briefly commented, then closed with a scripture prayer.

Mrs. Gurganus spoke on our program topic, "Effective Reading." She urged the Union to study more, especially our own literature leaflets. She reviewed the following leaflets, "Drinking Prevents Thinking," "Effects of Alcohol in Minute and Moderate Doses Upon Self-Control and Efficiency," "Eminent Authority vs. Alcohol in Medicine," "Six Established Facts about Alcohol."

Mrs. J. P. Harris continued our Study Book, "Today's Deceit," reviewing the following chapters: II "Alcohol-Ancient and Modern," III "Two Kinds of Wine," IV "The First Abstinence Test."

Omitting the minutes, the roll was checked with fourteen members present. The president announced our District Meeting to be held in Mount Olive, March 27. There was no further business, so motion was made to adjourn. The group dismissed with Aronite Benediction.

"The hostess served delicious refreshments."

Bethel Home Demonstration Club Meets
 The Bethel Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. W. R. Bullock, with Mrs. Lewis Ayers as co-hostess. The meeting was opened with a devotional given by the vice president, Mrs. J. P. Harris.

Mrs. R. J. Whitehurst, president, presided at the business meeting. Twenty-one members and one guest answered the roll call. Mrs. Maude Harris reported that twenty books were reviewed at the last book club. Mrs. F. C. James reported that it was time to prune shrubs and Mrs. R. R. James reported it was time to mulch strawberries and that pine straw made the best mulch.

In the absence of an agent, the demonstration was given by Mrs. Dennis Hardy, which was, "New and Helpful Hints on Serving."

There being no further business the meeting adjourned and a social hour was held and led by Mrs. R. R. James, the recreation leader. During the social period, Mrs. Whitehurst presented a gift of silver of her chosen pattern to Mrs. R. R. James for her work as recreation leader and a crystal hostess plate to Mrs. R. B. Edmondson, our past president, for faithful work and service she has performed.

Book Exchange Club
 The Book Exchange Club met on Monday night in the home of Mrs. Willard Whitehurst with Mrs. Raymond Whitehurst, co-hostess. Eleven members and nine guests were present.

Mrs. Raymond Whitehurst presided over a short business meeting during which Mrs. Linwood Briley reminded members of the club's goal for a scholarship to be awarded to deserving students.

The program chairman introduced Rev. and Mrs. Clark who favored the group with several musical selections. Rev. Clark then spoke to the club using as his topic, "Blues or Depression," which seem to occur in nearly every person's life. Using First Kings, chapter 19, he paralleled our despondency today with that of the prophet Elijah, showing that all people suffer in much the same way. The cure prescribed for both Elijah and us today was rest and closer fellowship with God.

Books were then exchanged and a dessert course was served by the hostesses.

 The annual meeting of North Carolina Conference of Woman's Society of Christian Service will convene Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Methodist Church in Wilson.

The featured speaker for the three-day meeting will be Mrs. John M. Pearson of Newburgh, N. Y.

Mrs. Brantley Speight, New Bern District Treasurer of the W.S.C.S., is attending along with Mrs. W. H. Williford and Mrs. Edgar Fisher. They are delegates from Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church W.S.C.S.

Siesta Champ Tells How Stop Insomnia
PALMA DE MAJORCA, Spain—(WNS)—Jan Krom, 57-year-old Dutch philosopher, has won the annual siesta competition against native Spaniards and international expatriates.

The slight, serious Dutchman, who can go to sleep at will in 20 seconds flat, offers these tips to insomniacs:

1. Make yourself physically comfortable. "No binding pajamas, hair curlers or other impediments."
2. Take long, slow, even breaths. "All animals breathe slowly except the monkey. Why be a monkey?"
3. Relax, and mentally lose yourself. "Lose your feet first, then continue up. When you lose your head, you are asleep."
4. Steer through into peaceful areas. "I think of tranquil meadows and blue skies. But maybe something else is peace to you."
5. Swim in restful colors. "Let yourself see a blue-green and dive into it so that it surrounds you. But do not concentrate on it."
6. Avoid concentration. "Concentration is what ties you up, and you must get untied in order to sleep."

Ladies Day Held At Club Friday
 The first Ladies Day of the Spring was held Friday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club with 16 golfers participating in a hidden numbers tournament.

Winners were Margaret Sutton and Mavis Lupton. At the conclusion of the tournament a two course luncheon was held on the porch of the Club House.

Prizes were awarded to the winners during the luncheon. Each winner received a survivor hat and a golf ball.

Sewing Methods Shown Class

Mrs. Eric Whichard gave a demonstration on professional methods in home sewing to the members of Sweet Gum Grove Home Demonstration Club last Thursday when they met at the community building.

Mrs. Johnnie Meeks presided at the meeting and Mrs. Howard Briley gave the devotional, her topic being "Lord Have Mercy On Me a Sinner," which was taken from the Psalms. She led the group in repeating the Club Collect.

Leader reports were given by Messrs. Sam Alexander, W. C. Hollowell and David Nobles Jr.

Mrs. John Whichard gave a report on the County Council meeting held at Lang's Community Building recently.

During the business meeting the group discussed sponsoring a concession booth during the stock show and sale to be held at the Fair Grounds. They also voted to serve supper to the Farm Bureau members and their wives during their meeting at the local community building, April 19th. Mrs. Arthur Barnhill, secretary, added a new member, Mrs. L. S. Brown Jr., of Route 1, Stokes, to the roll call.

During the social period, Messrs. Barnhill and Meeks served refreshments.

Supper Marks St. Patrick's Day

A covered-dish supper in the auditorium of St. Raphael's School Saturday evening marked an observance of Saint Patrick's Day by members of Greenville's Catholic families.

The hall was liberally decorated with shamrocks and a greeting by Irish-born Fr. Maurice Spillane, the new pastor.

Irish airs were provided at the organ during the meal, and children of the school presented a program of songs and recitations to conclude the evening.

Underscoring Long Delay By CAB

Reports late last week that the Civil Aeronautics Board was ready to announce its long-delayed decision on charges in commercial air service in Eastern North Carolina proved unfounded. The reports did, however, serve to emphasize the extremely long delay in the CAB's handing down a decision on the Eastern Carolina matters pending before it.

It was a year ago last Wednesday that the CAB hearing examiner officially made his recommendations regarding commercial air service in this section of North Carolina. At that time it was estimated that the CAB's decision on those recommendations would be forthcoming within 60 to 90 days.

For more than a year, now, this part of the state has been patiently waiting the CAB either to confirm, modify or reject the recommendations of its examiner. So far the waiting has been in vain. And during the period progress toward better commercial air service—so greatly needed in this section of North Carolina—has been at a standstill.

Until the CAB makes known its ruling on the recommendations the area as a whole and its individual communities don't know which way to move in order to improve their commercial air service, or their facilities for handling air service.

We recognize that the CAB has many pressing matters which command its attention. In the overall picture of the matters it must consider and rule on, the recommendations concerning Eastern North Carolina may appear to it of relative minor importance. To this section of North Carolina and its people, however, a ruling on the examiner's recommendations are of utmost importance.

The section recognizes the urgency of moving forward to develop in a realistic manner better commercial air service to meet its present and future needs. State officials of North Carolina, past and present, have likewise recognized this need and have urged that steps be taken to meet it. In spite of these efforts, the matter has been in the CAB bottleneck for more than a year.

Better air service is vital to the future of this area of North Carolina, and the longer the delay in making concrete progress, the more detrimental the situation becomes to the future development of the area.

The Civil Aeronautics Board should end its already unreasonable delay by ruling as quickly as possible on the Eastern Carolina recommendations.

Astronaut Faces Up To Disappointment

Donald K. Slayton has come face to face with what is probably the most difficult of all situations for the seven members of the Mercury astronaut team: being scratched from the pilot's slot for a space flight.

Through their long period of training, these astronauts have learned that they face many hazards. The possibility that they even faced death seemed not to dim their desire to break loose from the pull of gravity and be among the first men to face the challenges of outer space. For Col. Slayton, it seemed his chance had come, for he was scheduled to be the next astronaut to slip into the space capsule just before lift-off time. The next ride was to be his.

Now the dream has suddenly be shattered by what an Air Force medical board termed an "erratic heart rate" that caused them to advise against his attempting a space mission.

In time, perhaps, Col. Slayton may get another opportunity to fulfill what is probably his greatest ambition. For now, however, the challenge he faces meeting this disappointment is probably the greatest faced by any of the spacemen.

Data Reflecting January Decline

By RALPH ROBEY

Almost everyone is discussing the slight downturn in business during January, and perhaps continuing into February. Was it a mere pause or does it indicate that this recovery is over? Here are some of the data which reflect the decline:

Total personal income dropped by $1.5 billion. This is after making a correction for normal seasonal behavior of this item.

In manufacturing the seasonally adjusted hours worked per week declined from 40.4 in December to 40.0 in January. Average weekly earnings fell from $96.63 in December to $94.96 in January.

Total industrial production, as measured by the Index of the Federal Reserve Board, slid from 115 in December to 114 in January.

Private housing starts were down for the third consecutive month. Preliminary estimates for retail trade in January revealed a slight decline. The estimates have now been revised and show a slight increase.

Various other important statistics, such as gross national product, personal consumption expenditures, corporate profits, expenditures for plant and equipment, etc., are compiled only on a quarterly basis and we have nothing on them so far.

Now obviously this is not the manner in which statistics should behave during a recovery period. But Administration spokesmen are not disturbed. Two of them expressed their views a few days ago and they reflected complete confidence in the outlook.

Secretary of Commerce Hodges, in a news conference, said that he expects continued expansion in the months ahead, and forecast that gross national product will rise to more than $560 billion in the second three months of the year. (It was $542 billion in the fourth quarter of 1961.)

Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, just shrugs off the January figures. He has been predicting that gross national product would be above $550 billion in the first quarter; and he sees all kinds of facts which will assure a continued upward trend for business the remainder of the year and into 1963. And he still holds to $570 billion for gross national product for the year as a whole.

Is such optimism justified? Secretary Hodges appears fairly reasonable, but Dr. Heller, in our judgment, is going too far.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH

We do not know who wrote the Epistle of James but whoever he was, he was a practical soul. Apparently he had become annoyed over the fact that so many people were professing a great deal as regards their religious faith and then living the same kind of life they had always lived. In other words, James complained that some Christians were long in their profession and short in their practice. They claimed to believe many Christian truths and principles which they apparently took not the slightest interest in putting into practice. "Be ye doers of the word," wrote James, "and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. For if any be a hearer of the

The January decline was not serious, and a major portion of it can be accounted for by weather. But granting this, it still remains true that there were setbacks, and these must change total estimates for the year 1962. For example:

Our original estimate for gross national product was $560-565 billion. That now definitely appears on the high side, and we would be inclined to place the figure at $555-560.

Industrial production, we said, should rise by 7 per cent. That figure probably needs to be shaded to not more than 5 or 6 per cent.

We estimated that unemployment would decline between 5 and 5.5 percent of the civilian labor force. Whether this proves to be accurate will depend primarily upon the growth of the labor force.

Our forecast on private housing starts was 1,325,000. That was a low figure, and still is reasonable.

We objected to the Administration's estimate of corporate profits, and used that as one important element for insisting that the proposed balanced federal budget would not be realized. There now is no question but that we shall have a deficit for the fiscal year which starts next July 1.

But the recovery is not over. We experienced a pause in January, and we may find that some of it was continued into February. But the business trend basically still is upward, and should remain so for the remainder of this year.

Opinions In Brief

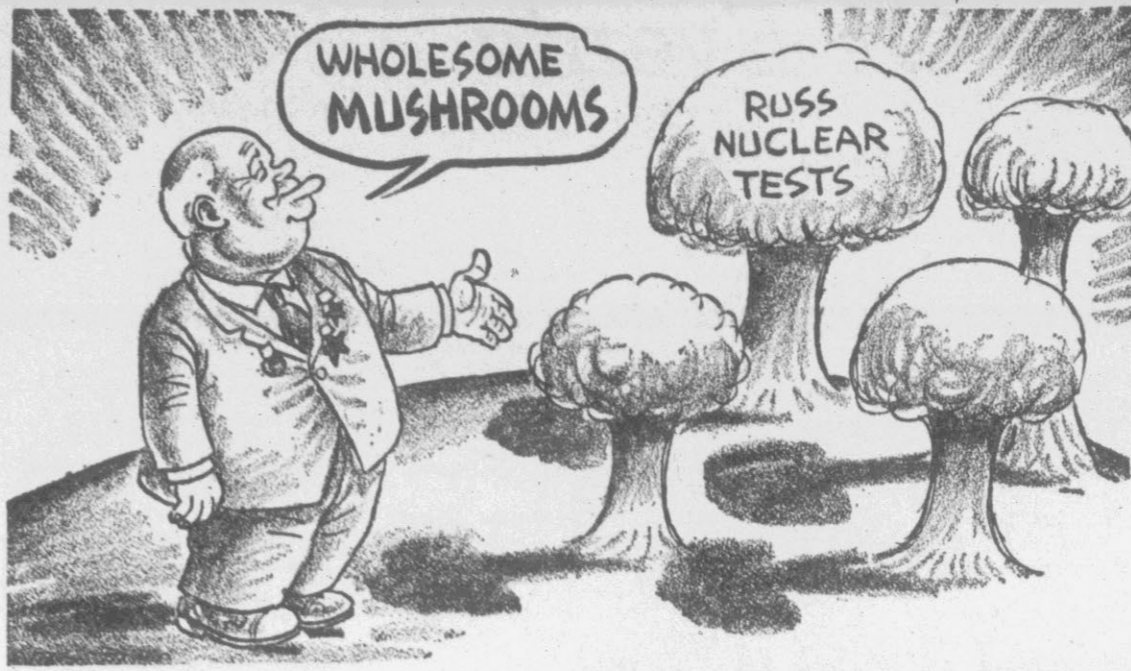

"Pending any overall solutions, there is something that every parent can do which would help considerably—be sure that their own children are not among the drop-outs, among the youngsters starting out in a world which has no place for them." — Atlanta (Ga.) Journal.

"Money doesn't make you happy, but it quiets the nerves." — Sean O'Casey.

"Reading of Mr. Shriver's visit to the Hill, on the same day the President asked $4.8 billion in new foreign aid, we are minded to wonder if the fantastic outpouring of American funds will ever stop. Is our Republic never again to pursue a course of simply minding its own business?" — Richmond News Leader.

word and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass, for he beholdeth himself and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was. But a doer of the word shall be blessed in his deed. No one probably ever lives up completely to the highest and best that he believes. We never see one hundred per cent on life's examinations. But we are urged by Christ himself to seek perfection. We may not attain it—in fact we are pretty sure we shall not—but only if we try for perfection will we achieve any satisfactory result whatsoever. Let us not be afraid to profess much regarding religious faith, but let us be diligent to see that we put into operation the faith we profess.

The Big Difference

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Reason For Civics Study

Copyright, 1962, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I have a rather remarkable letter from a reader in Phoenix, Arizona, which explains to me why the teaching of civics should be restored to the public schools. The writer says:

"It is my belief that the duty of the Supreme Court, when a case comes before it, to decide it on the basis of law or whether the constitution has been violated. That they should be able lawyers, know the law or where to find it, and be thoroughly familiar with the constitution. They should not be politicians."

"Frequently cases are decided on a five to four basis. One labeled. How can that be possible? If they all know what the constitution says how can a decision be other than unanimous, one way or the other."

The questions raised here are only difficult to answer because the writer apparently cannot envisage the Supreme Court, which consists of nine men appointed for life, all of whom are lawyers and know the Constitution. But the Constitution, like the Ten Commandments, is a tightly drawn document which from time to time requires interpretation.

For instance, we have moved into a wholly new relationship between government and proside will claim some law or the constitution has been violated arising out of the fact that many industries are forced to unite to produce the kind of goods that the government buys such as missiles, rockets, satellites, etc. These cannot be made by small enterprises or by a single company. Some 2000 American industries played a role in the Manhattan Project which produced the atom bomb. The application of the anti-trust laws to production will have to be re-interpreted to meet these conditions. In fact, both large and small industries are now essential—but the big ones are generally enormous.

Or to give another example: villages and even small towns are being deserted and more and more people are moving into large cities. The urbanization of our population has raised many questions of inter-racial relations in a country where there are about 19,000,000 Negroes, many of whom have in recent years left farms and plantations and moved to large cities; some of whom have fought in two wars abroad; others of whom have been to college. They have raised questions as to their rights under the Constitution which the Supreme Court had to hear.

A five to four decision is in no manner a violation of propriety; it simply means that nine trained lawyers of distinction have reached different conclusions in their interpretation of the identical clause in the Constitution as applied to a current situation brought before them. The Supreme Court initiates nothing. It does not act on a case unless it comes up to it from a lower court. The Supreme Court reviews decisions; it does not try cases. Naturally, each justice applies his own judgement to a problem; otherwise he would not perform any useful service.

This kind of correspondence is not unusual these days. I receive quite a few letters which attack the Supreme Court, the way the Communists used to. The attack is generally on Chief Justice Earl Warren who is being held responsible for the integration decision, although nine justices were responsible for it. Again, it needs to be pointed out that the Supreme Court did not initiate this case; that it comes from the lower courts, as all cases must, on appeal.

The attack on political judges is usually an attack on Chief Justice Warren, although Chief Justice Taft and Chief Justice Hughes were politicians too.

"We should know by now that where weakness and dependence are not transformed into strength and self-reliance, we can expect only chaos, and then tyranny, to follow."

Other Income Choices

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—Last week I discussed investing in common stocks and mentioned several of the most popular groups today, one or two of the most speculative, and some which should be good for the "long pull." To be safe, not more than one third of an investor's funds should be in common stocks today.

PREFERRED STOCKS AND CORPORATION BONDS
This week let me describe other securities to be purchased solely for income: Preferred stocks will yield the most—nearly 5 percent. I prefer only the cumulative and "non-callable" preferreds. Best of these seem to be the preferred stocks of the Utilities—avoiding New York, Chicago, and other large cities which might be bombed. Of the Industrial preferreds United States Steel Corp., 7 percent Cum. Non-callable Preferred should fit most investor requirements. It sells at over $140 per share but yields nearly 5 percent.

Following the preferreds we may consider high-grade corporate bonds. These yield about 4½ percent. Avoid "collateral trust" or "subordinated" bonds, sticking to a mortgage bond except for large corporations such as the American Tel. & Tel. Co., which puts out debentures of the highest grade. This company has just issued $300 million due in 32 years—yielding about 4½ percent. I would not hold them too long, as someday the federal government may take this company over. First-mortgage bonds of strong railroads are worthy of consideration. All State Bonds—not "revenue bonds"—should be good.

MUNICIPAL BONDS AND GOVERNMENTS
I next rate Municipal Bonds especially for those investors in a high income bracket because interest thereon is non-taxable. Here again I say: "Avoid the large cities which might be bombed." I prefer the bonds of state capitals—cities usually located in the interior of the state. State capital cities seldom suffer from unemployment. Moreover, their income is largely derived from state taxation. State Revenue Turnpike Bonds are worthy of mention. Although these are non-taxable as to interest—yet their interest payments depend upon uncertain toll receipts.

We next come to "Government Bonds." These will always be paid in principal and interest. The Federal Government is the only "corporation" which can print money in case of a severe depression. On the other hand, U. S. Government Bonds are taxable both as to principal and interest. My favorites are the U. S. Savings Bonds Series E, on which the interest is paid when the bond is cashed at the end of 7 years and 9 months. Or the U. S. Savings Bonds Series H, on which the interest is paid by check twice a year. These Series H Bonds are issued to be cashed at the end of 10 years. Both Series E and Series H pay about 3½ percent.

BANK ACCOUNTS
I should also mention interest paid by Savings and Loan Banks, Commercial Banks, Mutual Savings Banks, and Mutual Funds. These pay 4 percent or more. An ideal investment portfolio, in my humble judgment, now consists of about one third in common stocks; one third in preferred stocks or corporation bonds; and one third in bank deposits or good short-term bonds which can readily at any time be turned into cash. This last third I like to think of as "Liquid Funds" which can be used later for buying more common or preferred stocks, or for buying more bonds, or real estate—whenever any bargain occurs in any of these possible investments. I like Kansas real estate acreage.

In closing, I must say a word regarding inflation. With President Kennedy spending federal money so freely it seems that eventual inflation is ahead of us. The present dollar worth 100 cents in 1940 is now worth under 50 cents. If we should get into a World War, it could go to 25 cents, or less. This means that preferred stocks and all bonds having no maturities are going to be worth less. (Continued on page five)

Laws Affecting The Tourists

By BILL CROWELL
Department of Motor Vehicles
Guest Writer

Knowing Lynn's interest in travel and tourism, perhaps it's not inappropriate to mention here in the guest spot that vacationers this season can darn well run afoul of more than the traffic laws.

I have in mind some recent intelligence released by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators. It points out some rather unusual, shall we say, provisions of the law in various states which might affect touring Tar Heels.

Like many you plan to visit Connecticut. Fine, but don't bring a wild rabbit with you and set the creature loose. It's likely to cost you a $100 fine. And if you are driving near Delaware, don't cross over the line with a load of garbage. Of course, if you've got a permit, it's okay.

Watch it in Arkansas if your engine conks out or you have a sudden flat. Cussin' won't help. Fact of the matter is ladies there is punishable by a $200 fine and maybe six months in the pokey. Up in Michigan it's illegal (and dangerous) to speak insultingly to a woman.

If there's a teen azer along in your group and you are in Indiana, don't let him or her smoke. Juvenile smoking is more than a Mom and Dad problem there. Authorities don't even allow youngsters under 21 to possess much less puff cigarettes. And in Maryland, keep your slingshot out in the open—it's illegal to conceal one.

Back in Arkansas again, you'll want to know that it's forbidden to drive blindfolded cattle down the highway. So if your vacation plans call for driving a few head of blindfolded cattle down the road don't do near Little Rock.

In Maine don't ride down the highway "with a naked scythe, sharpened and hung in a snatch."

Also in Maine you should never encourage mutiny among the crew of any vessel tied up along the coastline. It should be noted, too, that it's forbidden to incite Indians in Michigan to violate a treaty.

Care must be taken in Illinois not to sell a book with the title page removed. That is, of course, if you had any serious intentions of selling a book while journeying in Illinois.

And don't carry a red flag in Iowa. Don't carry either a red or a black flag in Minnesota. 'Gaint' the law both places.

If your vacation takes you to Louisiana, you'd best not figure on going any shrimping. Only residents are permitted to take shrimp. And nix on fishing for shad on Sunday in Florida.

Probably you won't be opening someone else's mail while touring. But if you do slip it will cost you $250 and three months in jail in Kansas. And if you get an urge to row a party across the Mississippi for pay within two miles of a public ferry—don't. Not in Louisiana anyhow. State law forbids this.

It's illegal to tell fortunes in Indiana, to fight a duel in Arkansas or unhitch a stranger's horse in Michigan.

Now and then a tourist has an affirmative obligation, like maybe in Colorado when you encounter a sick bee. By law you've got to get in touch immediately with the Commissioner of Agriculture and tell him. So happy vacationing.

Railroads Caught In Glum Spiral

By ELMER ROESSNER
There's a curious, inexplicable situation in the railroad business.

Shippers are demanding more and better freight cars. Railroads are making thin profits because they are losing revenue freight to truckers and other movers of freight.

Builders of rolling stock have almost no orders on their books. The railroads, especially those in the East, say they do not have funds with which to buy freight cars. They seem locked in a descending, frightening spiral. Freight revenues are falling off because they do not have adequate freight cars; because revenues are declining they do not have funds to finance more freight cars.

A curious quirk to the situation is that fact that the builders of railroad stock have been spending large sums to design more efficient and hence more profitable cars.

SHIPPERS COMPLAIN
The lack of freight-moving rolling stock is very real. Consider: The number of freight cars now sidetracked for repairs is now 9 per cent of the total, almost double the ratio of five years ago.

Grain dealers, lumber companies, steel mills and other industrial groups are increasing complaints about delayed deliveries and increased costs of switching to trucks and other types of transport.

A spokesman for the National Association of Shippers Advisory Boards said last month, "The current car situation is extremely critical."

Shippers have been complaining that available freight cars are getting "full of holes or full of termites."

The American Railway Car Institute last July declared that freight cars were in the poorest shape since the Depression, and warned that a crisis was coming. "The emergency is upon us and industry is going to feel the pinch."

their products, met in St. Louis last spring to complain about shortages and poor quality of freight cars.

IN COMPETITIVE CINCH
There is no easy solution to the problem. Railroads are not prospering and few are in position to build up reserves to finance new rolling stock.

The railroads' share of intercity freight has declined from a postwar peak of 67 per cent to around 43 per cent today. They have lost revenues, mostly to truckers, but some to planes and other means of moving freight.

Records of the American Railway Car Institute show that fifty years ago the Class I railroads had 2,145,050 freight cars and that in 1919 there were 2,389,860. After that the total declined and today there are only about 1,600,000 cars. Last year cars were being scrapped at twice the rate new ones were being built. On January 1, this year, the car builders had orders for only 15,670 cars, about a tenth of the number on order only six years ago. The average age of freight cars is now 19 years.

GREENER FIELDS
The car builders have ceased to depend on railroads for major parts of their business. Pullman has gone into truck trailers and oil-refinery equipment. ACF Industries is deep into auto carburetors and electronics. Other car builders are similarly diversifying.

Some of the railroads are into oil, mining, timber, land development and similar activities that grew out of original grants. But most of them are just idling along, hoping that truck competition may just go away.

Justice Sharpe Will Be FELA Meet Speaker

Justice Susie Sharp of the N. C. Supreme Court and Dr. Ernest F. Emurian, well-known author, lecturer, hymnologist, and for fifteen years pastor of the Elm Avenue Methodist Church in Portsmouth, Va., will be principal speakers at the Eighth Annual Convention of the N. C. Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America in Durham.

The event will take place Friday and Saturday, March 23-24. Convention headquarters will be at the Jack Tar Durham Hotel.

Dr. James L. White of the East Carolina College School of Education, State FELA Adviser, announced the program of the two-day meeting. More than 600 members from 75 active FELA Chapters in the state are expected to attend, he stated.

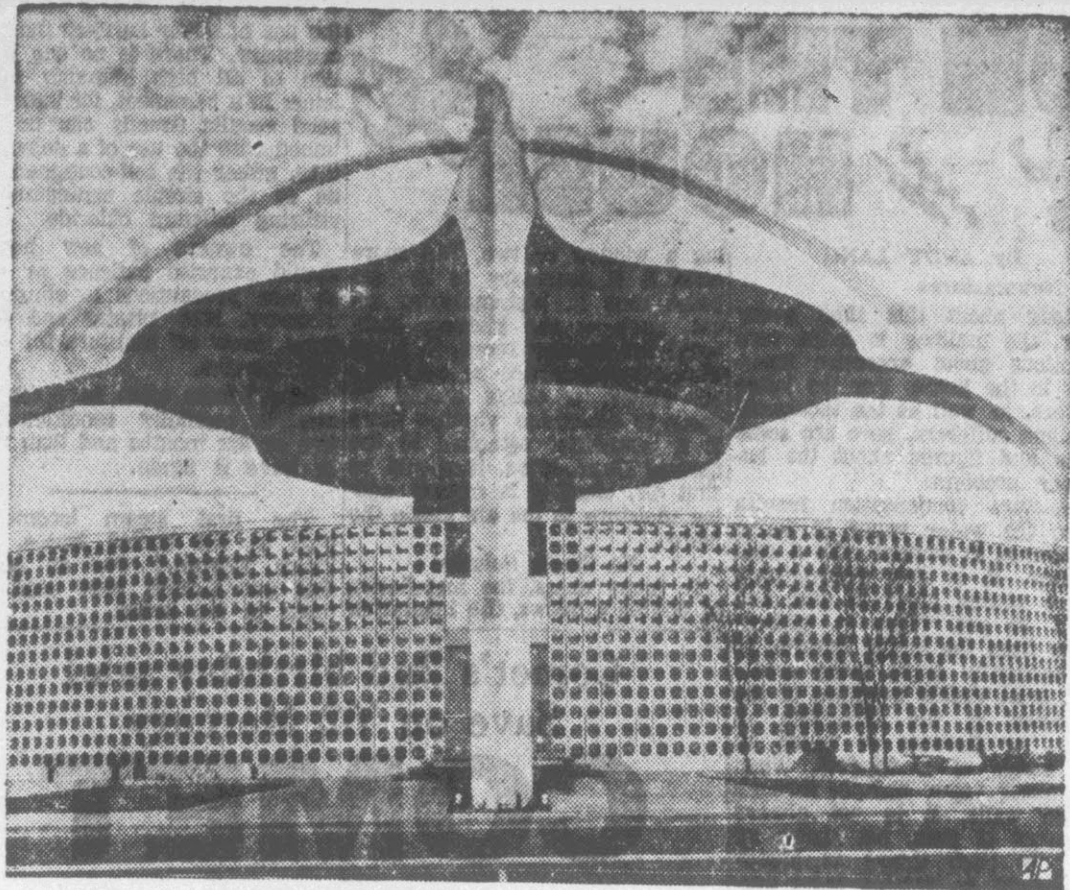

Dr. Emurian will address the general session Friday at 7:30 p.m. Justice Sharp will speak at the second general session Saturday morning.

Group discussions providing for exchange of ideas on programs and projects in FELA chapters in the state will make up an important part of the convention agenda.

A series of contests to encourage proficiency in spelling, public speaking, and parliamentary procedure is scheduled for Saturday afternoon. In a special event Mr. and Miss FELA for 1962 will be introduced as the young man and woman most likely to succeed in business.

Pauline Phipps of Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, is president of the state FELA.

Other officers are Martha Wright of Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, college vice president; Jeanette Elder of Allen Jay High School, High Point, high school vice president; Carolyn Smith of Broughton High School, Raleigh, secretary; Karen Brown of East Carolina College, Greenville, treasurer; Brenda Stocks of Havelock High School, Havelock, reporter; and Naomi Holt of Pike High School, Wilson, historian.

Peace Prize To Be Given Castro

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro will receive the Lenin peace prize at a Havana rally Wednesday, Havana radio said Sunday.

The rally, sponsored by the Peoples Peace Movement, will be attended by Moscow's Science Academy members who arrived in the Cuban capital last week to bestow the decoration.

The Lenin prize was awarded to Castro by the Soviet government.

enormous dimensions before they found their places on the bench. Taft had been President; Hughes had been Governor of New York State and a candidate for President. Justice Hugo Black was a Senator and had, in his younger years, been a member of the Ku Klux Klan; yet today he is regarded as the most liberal judge on the bench. Justice Felix Frankfurter was a professor and was regarded as a radical; today he is probably the most correctly oriented and conservative member of the Court.

In a word, my correspondent ought to take a trip to Washington to see the Supreme Court at work and then he would understand what a magnificent institution it has been throughout our history. And he ought to read a good biography of Chief Justice John Marshall to learn how the Court came to be what it is.

Winterville High Sees Fifteen On Honor Roll

By ANN JACKSON

WINTERVILLE — Fifteen Winterville High School students qualified for honor rating at the close of the fourth grading period. It was announced here this week.

Qualifying for the Honor Roll by posting grades of A on all academic work were a junior and a freshman, Janie Lou Jackson and Laura Braxton.

The 13 students on the Principal's List included seniors Alfred Gold, Winnifred Averett, Carolyn Barnes, Judy Lawrence and Steve Worthington; juniors Nancy Whelihan and Connie Jones; sophomores Ann Cox, Ann Jackson, Bettie Sue Avery and Jackie Kerr; and freshman Linda Shivers.

To qualify for the Principal's List, students must receive grades of A on at least half their academic work with no grade less than B.

Four new student teachers from East Carolina College have arrived to teach at Winterville High during the college's spring quarter.

Mary Lou Nicholson, under the supervision of Mrs. Clarissa May, has joined the music department staff. In the English department, Joyce Curran of Burlington is working under the joint supervision of Mrs. Willie Grey Mallison and Mrs. Helen Collins. In the math department, supervised by Mrs. George Jackson, are Betty Lane of Cary and Patsy Elliott of Hertford.

Janie Jackson has been chosen as a finalist to attend the Governor's Health and Fitness Youth Conference in Raleigh June 8-9. She was chosen on the bases of her academic achievements and other school and community activities.

Willis Stancill's third-period physics class presented Winterville's student assembly program last Tuesday.

A feature of the program was a panel discussion devised to show how the United States' leadership in certain specific fields is being challenged.

Judy Lawrence, Vivian Strickland and Carolyn Barnes explained to the audience the areas in which America's performance is not so far ahead of other countries.

One Injured In Two Accidents

Two traffic mishaps, investigated by Greenville officers Saturday, caused an estimated $1,375 damage and saw one person injured.

Traffic investigators said heaviest damage resulted from a collision involving a moving car and two parked vehicles at 1004 Myrtle Ave. about 7:58 p.m.

Driver of the moving car was identified as Irvin Mathew Barber, 36, of 1600 Myrtle Ave. He was charged with operating under the influence of alcohol following investigation of the crash.

Police said the Barber vehicle struck a parked car owned by John Arthur VanWagnen Jr., 28, of 1100 West Third St., causing an estimated $600 damage to the parked car.

The force of impact caused the VanWagnen car to strike a second parked car, owned by Lewis Stocks Jr., 29, of 1101 Cedar Lane. Damage to that vehicle was estimated to be $125.

Officers set damage to the Barber auto at $400.

Barber was treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital for cuts and bruises.

In the second Saturday mishap, cars driven by Zeno Gray Jr., Route 1, Greenville and James Elbert Nelson of 603 B Church St. collided at the intersection of Boyd and Dickinson Aves.

No charges were placed in the 1:37 p.m. mishap which caused an estimated $100 damage to the Gray car and about $150 damage to the Nelson auto.

New Child Study Center Named

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A new child study center has been named for President Kennedy's brother, Joseph Jr., who was killed in World War II.

The center, built with funds from the Kennedy Foundation, will provide out-patient services for mentally retarded, brain-damaged and emotionally disturbed children. It will be operated by the Sisters of Charity of Leavenworth.

Some 1,000 persons attended the dedication Sunday, including two of President Kennedy's sisters, Mrs. Sargent Shriver Jr. and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Comedian Danny Thomas was master of ceremonies.

College Admission Crisis Called Myth

NEW YORK (AP)—To Dr. Fred E. Crossland, the so-called admission crisis in the nation's colleges and universities is a myth explainable through a simple equation: four college applicants equal one college freshman.

The typical college applicant, Crossland says, files three or four applications to different institutions. More than 50 per cent of all applicants send their applications to fewer than 10 per cent of the colleges and universities.

When the immense paper shuffling and grade weighing subsides, however, the four college applicants become only one college freshman.

"We might call it a statistical phenomenon," says Crossland, who is director of admissions at New York University—a private institution with 43,000 students in 15 various divisions.

Crossland said in an interview that only 25 to 30 of the nation's 2,000 institutions of higher learning have more qualified applicants than they can handle. High among these are the Ivy League schools and other prestige-type institutions of New England.

Among sufferers in the other extreme are the small residence colleges of the Midwest where, he said, a variance of 15 to 25 in a freshman class can cause trouble.

Crossland sees the high school guidance counselor as a key to the problem. He sees parents and their neighbors as hindrances to a solution.

"It's getting so that the counselor is like a football coach," he said. "He's expected to produce, and that often means getting junior into a 'prestige' school might not be right for junior."

"Everybody is an expert on colleges," he added. "Mom and dad remember the one they attended and think they know what's best. The neighbor has his recommendation. The counselor often is the last one listened to."

Man Is Drowned In Neuse On Saturday

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—Two chemists from the DuPont plant at Kinston went boating and water skiing Saturday. One drowned and a search was on for the other.

The body of Frank Royce Merenda, 29, was found about 6 p.m. Sunday in the Neuse River east of New Bern near Cherry Point. A search continued for his companion, Jack Knox Jr., 30, a graduate of The Citadel at Charleston, S. C., and son of Jack Knox Sr., superintendent of city schools at Salisbury, N. C.

Coroner Clyde Smith of Craven County said he hoped that Knox had made it to shore.

The two men reportedly launched their fiberglass boat at a boat ramp at Union Point in New Bern ist Mrs. Sue Jarrett of Shelby. Program chairman Norman Wilkerson has urged all members of Post 39 to make plans to attend the Tuesday gathering.

Both Halterman, and Mrs. Welborn were elected to their respective positions during the simultaneous conventions of the N. C. Department and the N. C. Auxiliary in Charlotte last June.

Halterman is a native of West Virginia and has been a resident of Wilmington since 1946 when he joined the sales firm of Hughes Brothers, Inc.

Mrs. Welborn, an active civic worker in Thomasville, the city of her residence, has held various offices in the American Legion Auxiliary. She has been advertising manager for the Ala Gab, Inc., since 1947.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

Along about this time every year, the mailbag is laden with questions about excessive moisture in the home. For the letter-writers, as well as the thousands of silent sufferers, here are some facts and figures about the humidity problem.

Moisture condensation results when the water vapor in warm air comes in contact with a cold surface. It is this condensation which causes paint to peel and wood to rot. (This is entirely aside from the health hazards of a continually damp living area.) The most visible evidence of the condition is the formation of drops or streams of water on the inside of a window. When the water vapor escapes through inside walls, it is not always apparent at first, but shows up later in such things as blister formations on outside paint surfaces.

In older houses, where there was a great leakage of air, excessive humidity was seldom a problem. Today, with such things as insulation, storm sash, weatherstripping and other measures designed to tighten the construction of a house, the water vapor can not escape and so condenses on the inside. The situation is made worse by the multiplicity of modern appliances which give off moisture.

Basic Principle

The principle to be remembered in attempting to correct the humidity problem is that the moisture must be permitted to escape—but not through the walls.

Where possible, this can sometimes be done merely by opening a window or two. But more often it is necessary to use exhaust fans in high-moisture areas, such as the kitchen, bathroom and laundry room. In areas where furnaces are in operation all winter, a check should be made to determine whether there is a humidifier attached to the heating plant. If so, it should be shut off, since it is merely adding moisture to the air inside the home.

The owners of new homes should exercise patience as well as take precautions to eliminate moisture. New plaster and concrete throw off moisture for several months.

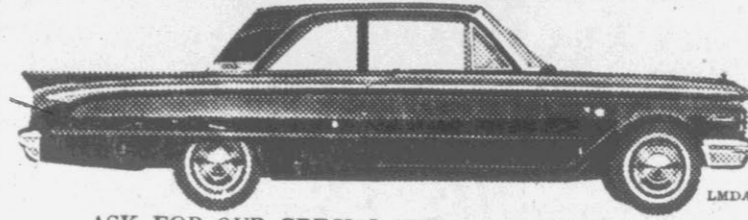

New homes often have an excessive humidity condition for five or six months and then never have it again.

The first steam locomotive built in the United States, the "Tom Thumb," was so small that gun barrels were used for tubes in the boiler.

Local Congregation Is Invited To Convention

Ray Nichols, presiding minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced today that the Greenville congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Falkland Hwy. Unit, has been invited to attend a weekend convention to be held April 6-8 at the Beaufort High School in Beaufort. Mr. Nichols will head the local delegation of about 80 persons.

In discussing the matter, Nichols said that about 600 delegates and interested persons from eastern North Carolina are expected to attend. "The convention in Beaufort is one of four that will be held in North Carolina this spring," he said.

Nichols pointed out that during the weekend of the Beaufort meeting there will be 10 or more other assemblies being held in the United States.

said Nichols, "is to provide additional Bible instruction for the Witnesses and persons interested to enable them to apply Bible principles more fully to their everyday lives and activities." There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions devoted to Bible talks, discussions and practical demonstrations, he explained.

The principal address will be delivered Sunday, April 8th, by an official of the Watchtower Society of New York, Rutherford G. Sakatos. The subject will be "Who Will Rule the World?" Nichols said that the public is invited to attend all three days for this free Bible course.

Swim Lessons For Boy Scouts

The Pitt Scout District has announced swimming instruction for boy scouts will be offered at the East Carolina College pool in Memorial Gymnasium on the following Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 12 noon: March 31; April 7, 14 and 21.

Scouts who are attempting to complete First Class swimming requirements or earn the swimming merit badge have been invited to participate in the training program.

Scoutmasters have been urged to bring registrations from their units to the District Roundtables in Greenville Tuesday night. Officials have said the registrations would not be accepted at any other time.

Claims Belgian Arms In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., said he saw Fidel Castro's troops carrying Belgian rifles and other weapons during his two-day investigation trip to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

"I can't understand why a NATO ally is supplying Castro with equipment," he told the Miami Herald. "This is something we should certainly look into."

Fascell said he planned to seek a congressional inquiry.

'Cannot Afford' Cutting Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said today the United States cannot afford "a truly significant reduction in the total amount of our tax bill" in the immediate future.

Dillon argued that the tax burden which inspires many complaints really isn't as burdensome as many claim that five of the country's faster-growing allies bear even heavier burdens.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Tax Executives Institute, Dillon said that although tax rates can be cut, total tax payments cannot be reduced. Discussing the broad tax reform proposal which President Kennedy will send the Congress later this year, with a view to enactment in 1963, Dillon said: "Our aim is to reduce tax rates for all by eliminating the special tax privileges of some—all at the same time maintaining the revenues needed to fulfill our national commitments."

The administration wants to lower basic tax rates, perhaps by as much as one-fourth, by closing loopholes and repealing special benefits which apply only to a minority of taxpayers.

Dillon said that those who urge massive cuts in rates without provision for offsetting revenue gains, "are simply refusing to recognize that such a course would leave us no alternative but withdrawal from our world commitments and neglect of our pressing needs at home."

At Least 17 Die Violently In NC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 17 persons died by violence in North Carolina over the weekend. Eleven died in highway accidents, many of them blamed on speed. Four were killed in a plane crash.

In addition, a farm boy died in a tractor accident and one man was killed in a family argument. Victims of the plane crash, which occurred a half-mile from Elizabeth City's Municipal Airport, were two fathers and two sons. They were identified as:

K. L. Noxon, 45, the pilot, and his son, Jack, 20, both of near Eenton, and John M. Perry, Jr., 41, of Hobbsville, and Johnny V. Perry, 22, of Eiler.

James McClain was shot to death at his home in Raleigh. His wife, Florine McClain, 42 was charged with murder. Police quoted her as saying she kicked a pistol out of her husband's hand when he threatened her, then picked it up and shot him.

Grover Daniel Stanley, 13, of Rt. 4, North Wilkesboro was fatally injured when a farm tractor he was driving overturned.

Many Mistakes But They Were Expected

Intra-Squad Game Tied 18-18

By GEORGE BRYANT
Reflector Sports Editor

COLLEGE STADIUM—East Carolina College football fans got a preview of the 1962 team and the Stasavich single wing Saturday afternoon when the Pirates' annual Purple and Gold game ended in an 18-18 tie.

The new head coach did an excellent job of pairing up the two teams as far as talent was concerned. However, mistakes were quite obvious on both sides, but this was to be expected as the game counted as the sixteenth practice of the winter drills.

Largest Crowd Ever

About 700 fans braved the cold windy weather to watch the game. Athletic Director N. M. Jorgensen termed the crowd as the largest ever to watch the annual game. Figures immediately after the contest showed about $612 were taken in at the gate and this will be turned over to the Ficklen Memorial Stadium fund.

The game went well, according to new head coach, Clarence Stasavich, who said afterwards that he was very pleased with the winter practice session. "The boys have shown me a lot of enthusiasm," Stasavich noted.

Stasavich attributed some of the mistakes to the cold weather, but he also said the team had a lot of work to do, especially on offense, but also on defense. "Our defense is way ahead of our offense and our timing and play execution was not good this afternoon," the coach said.

Gold Take Early Lead

The Gold team, coached by assistant coaches Ray Fennington and Odell Welborn, was able to capitalize on some Purple mistakes for an early lead on a safety when the snap from the Purple's center ended up in the end zone with a Gold man on it. The first two points of the contest came during the early minutes of the second quarter.

The scoring was aided a lot by fullback Bill Bailey of Tarboro for the Golds and tailback Bill Cline of Valdese for the Purples. Both boys scored two touchdowns each during the intra-squad affair.

The Gold team strengthened their lead over the Purples again when Frankie Galloway received a fourth down punt and returned it to the Purple 44 yard line to begin the scoring drive.

It took the Gold boys four plays to pick up the touchdown. This included a 15 yard penalty which put the Golds back to the Purple 49 yard line. Gold tailback Vince Eiduke got away a long pass complete to end Richard Huneycutt who traveled a short distance before being stopped on the one foot line. Bailey carried over on the next play off left tackle.

Two Point Conversion

The two point conversion was good on a pass from Eiduke to Huneycutt in the end zone. The Golds led 10-0 with about eight minutes left in the first half.

The Purple team started their scoring drive when a pass by Eiduke was intercepted by Cline, the Purple, tailback, on the Gold 35 yard line. Four plays put the Purples on the one yard line. A third down try by Cline over the middle failed, but on the next play he ran his own left end for the score with 50 seconds remaining in the half. A try for the two point conversion failed when it was blocked by several White players.

When the two teams returned to the field after the half, it took the Purples just five plays to move into the lead.

Purples Move Ahead

Two carries by Cline, a pass from Cline to end Dave Bumgarner, an incomplete pass and another pass from Cline to fullback Tom Michel put the Purples in the lead 12-10. The scoring drive covered 69 yards with 16 of them on the ground and the remainder in the air.

The next touchdown drive for the Golds began on their own 31 yard line. The drive was aided by a 31 yard run by Bailey to the Purple 25 yard line before he was stopped by Richard Jackson. Two plays later Eiduke completed a pass for 22 yards to Jerry Tolley who carried down to the Purple three yard line. Bailey carried over for the score with slightly more than nine minutes left in the contest. The two point conversion try was good on a pass from Jerry Tolley to end Leroy Spivey.

The Purple team, determined to overcome the six point margin, ran into penalty and fumble trouble in their attempt and it appeared for a while like they were out of the running.

Rudisill Breaks Away

However, the Gold team was caught on a fourth down situation and had to punt. Larry Rudisill received the kick, broke away, and looked as if he were going all the way down the right sideline, before he was stopped on the Gold's 25 yard line.

Cline ran his own right end and managed to evade the Golds as he traveled to the three yard line before being stopped. On the next play he again ran the right end for the touchdown with three and one-half minutes left in the game.

The Purples tried to kick the extra point without the tee and the try was blocked by a host of Gold players. It was later determined that the tee was not used because the other team had it last and it was still in their possession.

Fumbles and interceptions hindered any attempt by either team to pull ahead in the remaining minutes of the game.

Ayden Tops Lions 33-31 In District Tournament

By GEORGE BRYANT
Reflector Sports Editor

Coach Stuart Tripp's Ayden Tornadoes continued on the road to victory Saturday night when they defeated a stubborn Windsor team for the District One Class A Championship 33-31.

The Tornadoes won the regular season action in the Pitt County Conference and managed to come out on top in the county tournament when they defeated Bethel.

Saturday's contest was close all the way with the Ayden club trailing most of the time until they moved out in front to stay with one minute and 30 seconds remaining in the contest on a field goal by Clem McLawhorn which put the Tornadoes ahead 29-28.

Tornadoes Trail

The Tornadoes lagged behind the sharp shooting Windsor Lions by as much as seven points during the first half of the game. At the end of the first period the Lions were out in front 13-6, but the Tornadoes were determined to overcome this margin during the second quarter.

However, the Ayden club had trouble narrowing the margin until Coach Tripp ordered a man to man defense about halfway through the period. The fast leg work on the part of the Tornadoes pressured the Lions and halted their scoring efforts. When the horn sounded ending the half the Lions were still ahead 18-14.

Windsor's 6-foot 8-inch center, Al Pierce, gave the Ayden team a lot of trouble in the rebound department the first half, but he ran into foul trouble and had to take it easy the second half, opening the way for the Tornadoes.

With seven minutes remaining in the third quarter Ayden's William Edwards dropped in a free throw which closed the gap another two points with Windsor leading 18-16. A free throw by Clem McLawhorn put Ayden another point closer to the leading Lions.

Score Tied 21-21

With three minutes left in the third quarter Edwards dropped in another shot from the floor which tied the score 21-21 for the first time since the opening minute of the game. However, Ayden was unable to move ahead at this time. The score was tied again at 23-23 when the third period ended.

The Tornadoes took the lead at 27-25 with three minutes left in the game on a field goal by Edwards. However, the determined Lions moved out again.

Ayden captured the lead to stay with one minute and 30 seconds left in the game when Clem McLawhorn dropped in a field goal, making the score 29-28. A field goal by Edwards and two free throws by Wayne Dail boosted the Tornadoes to 33 while the Windsor team was unable to go above 31.

Ayden held the ball and ran out the clock during the final 12 seconds of the contest, stopping any chance of the Lions to tie the game and go into an overtime.

Edwards Paced Ayden

Edwards paced the Tornadoes in the scoring department in their winning efforts with 13 points. He had four field goals and five of seven from the line for his total. The only other Ayden player in the double figures was Clem McLawhorn with four from the floor and three of three from the line for 11 points.

The high scorer for Windsor was Pierce with a game high total of 14 points. He had four field goals and six foul shots to his credit. Ricky Mitchell was also in the double figures for the Lions with 12 points.

Ayden will take on Tryon from the Western part of the state in the opening game of the State Tournament which begins Wednesday night at 7:30 in Durham.

The only comments Coach Tripp had to make after the Saturday night victory were, "It was a team victory. There were no individual standouts." Ayden won the district tournament four years ago according to Tripp. However, the team lost out in their first game of the State tourney in the last minutes after leading most of the way.

Stasavich Pleased With ECC Football Prospects

East Carolina's new head football coach, Clarence Stasavich, was all smiles following the annual Purple and Gold game in College Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The contest counted as the sixteenth winter practice session and Coach Stasavich appeared pleased with the way things have gone so far. However, the winter drills have been hampered by the cold wet weather.

The team plans to get in four more practice sessions this week to complete the 20 days allotted by the NCAA in a 36 day period. Saturday will be the 36th day for the Pirate practices and the last four must be completed this week regardless of the weather.

In an interview after the game Saturday Stasavich noted that these last four practice sessions would be the best. "Overall, we have made fine progress and I am pleased with it," the coach said.

Stasavich noted that the "wide stuff" worked better in the intra-squad game than anything else. He attributed this to the fact that the timing and play execution was not good, but he said, "It takes time to develop this." He also noted that the interior blocking was not up to par because the boys were not sure of their blocking assignments.

The Pirate mentor said he felt like the team had good overall speed and that the club will be three deep at every position. "At Lenoir Rhyne we were one deep at every position with few exceptions," Stasavich recalled.

In commenting on speed, the new coach said that some of the linemen were slower than he wanted, but he said, "They will be running track this spring."

The three tailbacks that Stasavich is counting on now are Bill Cline, Vince Eiduke and Whitty Bass. Stasavich noted that right now it looks like Cline is the better runner and Eiduke the better passer. "Cline is not sure of himself with his passing. He needs experience," the coach said. "Eiduke has had some experience and so has Bass," Stasavich added.

The top fullbacks according to the coach are Bill Bailey, Tom Michel and Billy Strickland. "All three boys will see a lot of action next year," Stasavich said. "Tolley surprised me at wingback" he noted. Larry Rudisill and Ricky Jarrell are also slated for this position. Rudisill returned a punt 27 yards setting up the touchdown which tied the score at 18-18.

"The quarterbacks all did well on offense. They were thinking real well," the coach said.

At blocking back in the intra-squad game were Maurice Allen of Henderson, the number one man for the position, Bubba Hopkins of Edenton and Ralph Kinsey of Charlotte. Pete Thorrell, who is expected to be the number two man at this spot did not play because of a knee-injury.

In commenting on the line, Stasavich mentioned ends Dave Bumgarner, Bobby Bumgardner and Richard Huneycutt, as doing good jobs. At guard he mentioned Earl Sweet and tackles discussed were Bill Burton and Colon Quinn. The coach also praised the playing of Captain Dave Smith at center.

Stasavich commented on next season: "We will have to play some games before we can play real well." He did not seem too optimistic about the opening contest with Richmond. The coach had this to say about the Spiders. "They have a fine club that scored 34 points last year in their opener with West Virginia."

3-A

KINSTON, N. C. (AP) — Sanford has wrestled the 3-A high school basketball championship from Mount Airy, winner in the past two years.

Sanford put on a last-ditch spurt to the Mount Airy and then won in overtime, 61-57, in the title game Saturday night at Kinston.

Sanford's spurt carried the winners to a 55-55 tie after regulation play. Sanford outscored Mount Airy 6-2 in the overtime for its 25th straight victory of the season.

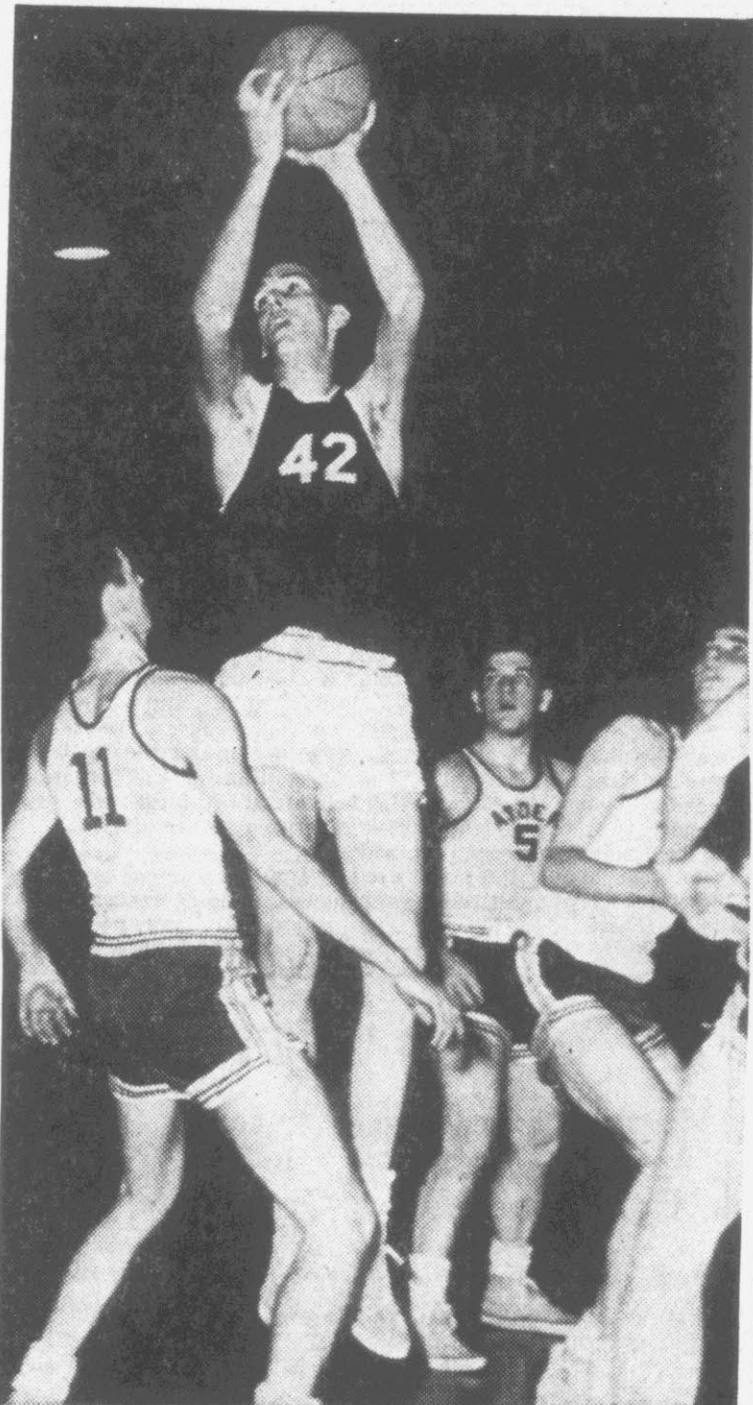

Charles Larue was high man for the winners with 25 points. Flashy R. D. Carson scored 20.

Hendersonville defeated North Durham 39-26 with three points in the final half-minute in a consolation game.

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — The state Class A high school basketball tournament gets under way here Wednesday night with Ayden playing Tryon in the 7:30 opener. Warrenton, meets Yadkinville in the 9 p. m. nightcap.

The first round will be completed Thursday with Leland facing Colfax in the first game and Southern Pines playing Valley Springs in the second.

ASCS

Note Book

By AILEEN H. CLARK
ASCS—Office Clerk

All Pitt County tobacco farmers have been mailed revised tobacco allotment notices reflecting the 4.3 per cent National Increase.

This will, in some instances, affect the lease agreements entered into between the Lessor and Lessee in transferring tobacco from one farm to another.

The increase will go to the farm from which the tobacco was leased and if the owner and operator (Lessor) wish to lease this additional tobacco, it will be necessary for them to execute a supplemental lease agreement.

If they do not, no further action is required.

The regulations that prohibit a farm from leasing more than 5 acres of tobacco from other farms are still in effect. Growers who plan to have leased tobacco transferred to your farm, should see that the ASCS office has the lease on file no later than April 1.

Premeasurement will be affected by the 4.3 percent increase. The farms on which premeasurement has been completed will be revisited by the reporter to add the additional allotment the farmer receives through the 4.3 percent increase. No more applications will be accepted for premeasurement.

Planted Wheat

Wheat acreage for 1962 cannot exceed the exemption acreage for the farm or the allotment, whichever is larger, provided the farm is not participating in the Wheat Stabilization Program.

The exemption acreage this year is not the 15 acres permitted which has been effective for the past few years.

In cases where wheat acreage has been diverted under the Wheat Stabilization Program the planted wheat for grain cannot exceed the permitted acreage which is the acreage remaining after diverting acreage under the program.

All wheat above the acreage allotment or marketing quota exemption must be turned under by May 15 or the farm will be penalized.

A farm which has no wheat allotment and on which no wheat was harvested as grain in either 1959, 1960 or 1961, is not permitted to harvest any wheat in 1962.

On this farm any wheat which is not disposed of by May 15 will be considered excess wheat and a penalty of approximately $1.54 per bushel times twice the normal yield established for the farm will be assessed.

Producers have been cautioned not to produce wheat above that allowed for the farm. If wheat is to be used for cover, it must be disposed of not later than May 15.

Reminders

Here are four upcoming dates to which the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service has called attention:

March 23 (Friday) — final date for releasing or requesting cotton acreage.

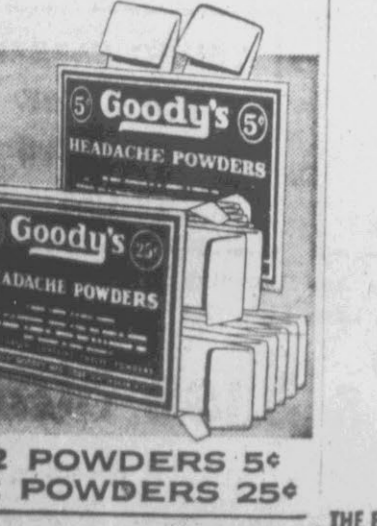

March 30 (Friday) — final date for signing up for feed grain program.

March 30 (Friday) — final date for seeding permanent pasture and reporting it complete.

April 15 (Sunday) — final date for releasing or requesting peanut acreage.

March 23 is the final date for releasing cotton to the Pitt County Committee and also the final date for requesting additional acreage.

You are urged to plant the full cotton allotment in 1962 and to request additional cotton if you can handle it, however, in the event you do not plant to plant at least 75 per cent of your allotment, you should release it to the ASC Committee in order to preserve your cotton history acreage.

On this date more acreage has been released than has been requested by growers wishing additional acreage.

Plan your cotton program for high level production.

Here's why:

One-half bale per acre produces $245 net revenue to land, buildings and management.

One bale per acre produces $68.32 net revenue to land, buildings and management.

One and one-half bales produces $117.70 net revenue to land, buildings and management.

Ohio Preparing For Wake Forest

By JACK CLARY

Ohio State, just itching to get another crack at Cincinnati's basketball Bearcats for the national collegiate title, began taking aim on the rematch today by first zeroing in on Wake Forest.

The Buckeyes, who lost a 70-65 overtime thriller to Cincy a year ago for the title, meet with the torrid Deacons in the first game of the semifinal match this Friday night in Louisville's Freedom Hall.

Cincinnati, just as eager to make it two in a row over its intrastate rival, meets surprising UCLA in the nightcap. The winners play Saturday night for the title and it will be surprising if the Bucks and Bears are out.

While the week of waiting and wondering is going on, the fur will fly in New York National Invitation Tournament, picking up again Tuesday night with the last quarter-final pairing, Bradley, which came to the NIT after losing a playoff battle with Cincinnati for the Missouri Valley Conference's NCAA berth, takes on Duquesne and St. John's plays Holy Cross.

The winners will play each other in one semifinal game on Thursday night, while Loyola of Chicago and Dayton meet in the other game. Loyola smothered Temple 75-64 and Dayton's onrushing Flyers easily defeated Houston 94-77 in quarter-final games last Saturday night.

Both Bradley and St. John's drew byes. Duquesne, which beat the Braves only two weeks ago in a regular season game, defeated Navy 70-58 and Holy Cross edged Colorado State University 72-71 in first-round games.

The semifinal winners meet for the title on Saturday afternoon, in a game that also will be televised nationally—NBC.

No sooner had Ohio State and Cincinnati reached their respective dressing rooms after the 1961 title game, then talk of a rematch began, and it has persisted all year. Now comes the weekend decision.

The Buckeyes, with a 21-1 season record, took the NCAA Midwest regional title at Iowa City on Saturday night with a 74-64 victory over Kentucky's young Wildcats as All-America Jerry Lucas bombed in 33 points and played his usual flawless floor game.

Cincinnati easily disposed of Colorado for the Midwest title, winning 73-46 at Manhattan, Kan., with Paul Hogue, the giant center who helped kill Ohio State a year ago, once more in the van. He scored 22 points as the Bearcats won their 16th in a row.

The two supposed sacrificial lambs—Wake Forest and UCLA—were far from unimpressive. The Deacons, behind All-America Len Chappell, whipped Villanova 79-69 for the Eastern regional title, and UCLA's Bruins put the clamps on 7-foot Mel Counts and rolled over Oregon State 88-69 for the Far West title.

Tobacco Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

Blue mold has been a threat to tobacco plant production every year since 1932. It has created many problems such as transplant shortages, delay in transplanting, and poor stands on many farms.

Anthracnose, a more recent disease discovery, is also destructive to the young tobacco seedlings. Both blue mold and Anthracnose are still a threat to plant production although losses caused by these diseases were very light in 1960.

Both of these diseases are caused by a mold-like parasite, known as fungi. These diseases spread from plant to plant by spores (the fruiting body of the fungus).

Blue mold spreads worse during cool, damp weather (50 to 60 degrees F.). Anthracnose develops more rapidly when temperatures are higher than those favorable for blue mold development (60 to 70 degrees F.).

Control methods are the same for both diseases. They can be effectively controlled by using fungicides containing either ferbam, zineb, or maneb, as a preventative treatment.

It should be remembered that the recommended fungicide dust and spray treatments are preventatives and not cures. Therefore, the first application should be made early, when the plants are about the size of a dime.

The dust or spray should be applied at least twice each week until transplanting is completed. If the fungicide is washed off by rain within two days after application, an extra application should be put on as soon as possible.

It is a good idea to begin checking dusting or spraying equipment now. Be sure it will be in good mechanical condition when the plants are large enough to treat.

Since the plants on most farms appear to be rather small for this time of year, it is very important that a good blue mold and Anthracnose control program be followed. Do not make the mistake of discontinuing the preventative treatments until the transplanting is completed.

Coffee is a major crop in Portuguese Angola. Other crops include sugar cane, sisal, cotton, tobacco and tropical fruits.

Deacs To Send Balanced Team To Louisville Fri.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., (AP)—Len Chappell is the All America standout, but Wake Forest will send a balanced, veteran team against Ohio State at Louisville Friday in the semifinals of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Chappell, a 6-foot-8, 240-pounder, led the Demon Deacons as usual when they won the eastern regional tournament here Saturday night.

He scored 56 points and hauled down 39 rebounds in the games against St. Joseph's and Villanova, a couple of speedy teams from Philadelphia. Wake Forest whipped Villanova 79-69 Friday to advance to the semis.

For the season, the senior from Portage, Pa., has tallied 879 points for an average or better than 30 a game. And his 441 rebounds averages out to slightly more than 15 per contest.

But the Deacons had other stars in the regional playoff, including 6-11 Bob Woollard, who scored 19 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in the payoff battle. He had 12 points and 11 rebounds in the opening game.

Billy Packer, the 5-9 playmaker, turned in a sparkling performance, directing the attack from his backcourt position and scoring 32 points in the two games.

Packer sent the St. Joseph's game into overtime with a vital basket four seconds before the regulation time ran out. Against Villanova, he tallied five of the nine points in a Wake Forest string which decided the contest.

Coach Bones McKinney and his Wake Forest Deacons were greeted by a huge crowd when they arrived home Sunday.

McKinney appreciated the reception at Winston-Salem. "I kept thinking about the day we got back after losing to Florida, and how easy it was for me to get off the plane and walk straight to my car, and you'll never know how much it meant to me."

replant or repel?

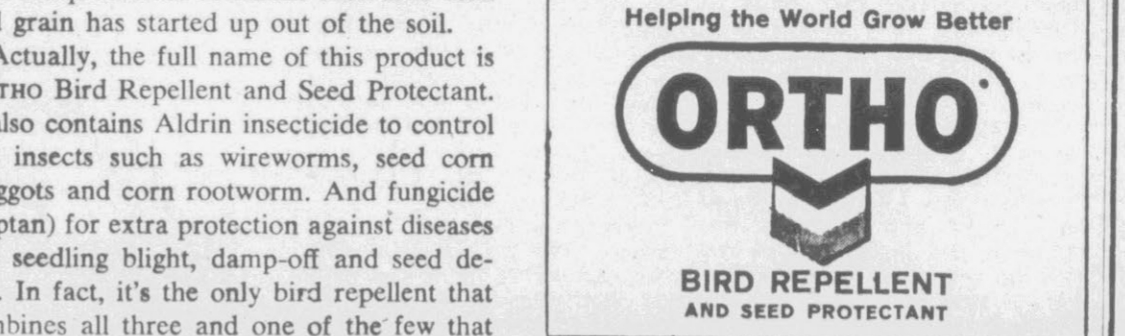

The answer is as simple as ORTHO Bird Repellent mixed with the seed.

Crows, blackbirds, jacksnaws, grackles, pheasants and larks don't come back a second time for seed treated with ORTHO Bird Repellent. They spit it out and fly away. And this protection continues even after corn and grain has started up out of the soil.

Actually, the full name of this product is ORTHO Bird Repellent and Seed Protectant. It also contains Aldrin insecticide to control soil insects such as wireworms, seed corn maggots and corn rootworm. And fungicide (captan) for extra protection against diseases like seedling blight, damp-off and seed decay. In fact, it's the only bird repellent that combines all three and one of the few that won't cause seed to bridge in the hopper.

This year, don't plant for the birds. Plant with ORTHO Bird Repellent and Seed Protectant. Ask for it at the time you buy your seed. And just say ORTHO Bird Repellent. Almost nobody uses its full name.

A New JOHN CREASEY Thriller

A ROCKET FOR ROLLISON

CHAPTER 19
"May I use your telephone?" Richard Rollison asked Kate Lawson.

As she motioned toward it, he went across, dialled the Yard, and asked for Superintendent Grice. Kate stood by looking at him, and he appeared to be taking little notice of her, but in fact he was studying her expression all the time.

When Grice came on the line, Rollison said: "The girl was with Flat Nose at the airport last night. Bill. He talked about his sister. I think you might get something out of him if you let him know what's happened. If you'd like some help—" he broke off.

"He's due here at noon for questioning," Grice said. "If you're through with Malling Motors by noon, why not come along?"

"What name does he give himself?"

"Bennett."

"H'm," said Rollison. "Thanks, Bill." He rang off and stood tapping the telephone with the edge of the photograph, and was not surprised when Kate Lawson asked in an uneasy voice: "Is that girl dead?"

"Yes," Rollison answered bluntly.

"Is it the girl who was found strangled at a house in St. John's Wood last night? There was a news-cast about it on the radio soon after I woke."

"The same girl."
"And at Maurice's house?" Kate said, in a whisper. "Mr. Rollison, what is happening?"

"We're finding out just as fast as we can," Rollison assured her. He slipped the photograph into his pocket and said, "Look after yourself, Kate."

He went towards the door, and as he did so, heard a man hurrying up the stairs, and a moment later recognized Mike Kennedy's voice as Mike spoke to the policeman on duty at the landing. Rollison glanced at Kate. Her eyes lit up as she recognized the voice, almost as much as Kennedy's lit up when he saw her.

"My, it's good to see you!" he greeted, and took both her hands. He glanced at Rollison, but from that moment on seemed almost oblivious of him. "Well, if nothing else you owe me a good night's sleep!" he exclaimed.

"Now, tell me..." Rollison left them.

Twenty minutes afterward, a parking attendant at Bickley Square found room for him to park the Rolls-Bentley almost outside the showrooms of Malling Motors Limited.

In a doorway opposite was a man from Scotland Yard, and another plainclothes detective was studying several models in the big windows.

Rollison went into the doorway at the side of the showrooms. He asked for Mr. Wedlake, was taken up to the fourth floor and received by a nice-looking brunette whose hair was brushed smoothly back from her forehead.

"Have you an appointment, sir?" She gave him a professional smile.

"Not yet," Rollison said. "Tell him I've come to see him about Maurice Holmes, will you?" He handed her his card. On one side there was the simple announcement of his name and address, but on the other was a skillfully drawn design—of a top hat set at a jaunty angle, a monocle, a cigarette burning from a holder, and a bow tie; in fact it was a drawing of a man without a face.

The girl glanced down, saw it, and exclaimed: "So there is something wrong!"

She leaned forward, pressed a button on a telephone, and a moment later said: "Mr. Wedlake, the Toff is here to see—" she broke off, as if in confusion, and corrected herself quickly: "I mean, the Honorable Richard Rollison has called to see you, and he has some news of Mr. Holmes." There was a moment's pause, and then she said: "Yes, sir, right away."

She put down the receiver, stood up, and said: "Will you come this way?"

It was a long, narrow, paneled office. The carpet was a wine red color, and Rollison's feet seemed to sink into it. On each panel was a painting of a girl getting out of one of the Malling cars; the faces and the pictures had almost household familiarity.

At the far end of this office was a large desk, fairly close to the wall. Behind the desk sat James Wedlake, the sales director of Malling Motors.

Wedlake stood up as Rollison entered. He was a burly, red-faced, powerful-looking man, and his face had at one time been as familiar as those on the walls, for he had been a racing driver of remarkable success and colorful reputation.

The years and probably much whisky had taken their toll, but there was something reckless about him, something aggressive in the way he stood up, said, "All right, Chloe," then rounded his desk and came forward with a big hand outstretched.

His hand could have crushed Rollison's had Rollison been unwary. As it was, he gripped very tightly, and then let go.

"Mr. Rollison, do you know where Holmes is?" Wedlake asked abruptly.

"I only know that he's disappeared."

"Any mystery about it? I mean anything that would normally bring you into it as a private eye?"

"Yes," Rollison said. "Tell me, why was Holmes brought back in a hurry?"

"For normal business consultations, that's all. He's been away for two years, and that's long enough. We've got our main annual sales conference next week, and we've got to have an up-to-the-minute report on the American sales position before—"

He broke off, astonished, for Rollison, having sat down, eased himself to his feet, and picked up his hat and stick. He beamed at Wedlake, and had the satisfaction of rendering the sales director completely speechless.

"Good morning," he said politely.

Wedlake exploded: "Where the hell do you think you're going?"

"Home."

"Are you mad?"

"Oh, no, not mad. Just not sufficiently glib."

"What are you driving at?"

"Holmes seems to be in some kind of trouble. Malling Motors seems to be in some kind of trouble, one or two people on the wings have been caught up in that trouble, but we won't get anywhere if the Malling Motors policy is one of the big lie," explained Rollison.

Elderly Patients Unhurt By Fire

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Sixty-nine elderly patients at Doctor's Convalescent Center in the old Broadview Hotel building escaped unharmed Sunday night when fire damaged the building. Most of the patients occupied second-floor rooms, the fire was brought under control in about 30 minutes.

Officials said the fire started in a basement area where paint and decorating materials were stored. Patients were moved into new quarters on the other side of the center.

School Menu

The school lunchroom menu for the coming week has been announced by the supervisor of city school cafeterias as follows:

Tuesday — baked cured ham, potato salad, mustard greens, pickle relish, cornbread and butter, chocolate cobbler, milk;

Wednesday — stew beef with potatoes and onions, buttered corn and tomatoes, pickle rings, homemade roll and butter, gingerbread with applesauce topping, milk;

Thursday — chili con-carne with crackers, pimiento cheese sandwich, carrot strips, chilled grapefruit and pineapple cup, milk;

Friday — fish stick, creamed potatoes, cabbage, carrot and raisin salad, corn muffin, butter, fudge cake, milk.

PROFESSOR IS ARMED

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — When Professor Tom Wood of the University of Tulsa made a caustic remark about a dozing student someone left him a loaded water pistol at the lectern. There has been no sleeping since.

The first air conditioner was placed in a Brooklyn printing plant in 1902.

Report Anti-Red Revolt This Month In China

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The official Chinese Nationalist central news agency today carried an unconfirmed report of a large-scale anti-Communist revolt early in March in eastern wangtung Province, South China.

It quoted as its source a Chinese who reportedly escaped to Hong Kong. The refugee, who was not named, was quoted as telling this story.

About 8,000 persons took part in the revolt, which broke out in Tihlupa County, 140 miles north-east of Hong Kong. It spread to three other counties — Wuhua (Ngwa), Chihing and Tihchang — and provoked bitter fighting with Communist militiamen.

The demonstrators seized rice from commune granaries. The Communists rushed regular troops in an attempt to quell the uprising, but the revolt melted away.

Town's Oldest Inhabitant Dies

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — The oldest resident of Provincetown, Florence Waldin, 104, died Sunday in her home.

Mrs. Waldin, who celebrated her 104th birthday Feb. 12, had been active until about three weeks ago when she became ill. She claimed to remember hearing when she was a little girl of Gen. Robert E. Lee's surrender and of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Born in Oswego, N.Y. in 1858, she had lived in Provincetown since 1897.

Pope Appoints Cardinals, Mourns 'New Slavery'

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII created 10 new cardinals today and at the same time spoke sorrowfully of the "new slavery" being established in vast regions of the world ruled by communism.

The Pope addressed a secret consistory of 30 members of the College of Cardinals who concurred in his new selections to their ranks. It was the first in a series of ceremonies that will culminate in a public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica Thursday at which the pontiff places the broad-brimmed galero—the hat symbolic of the cardinal's rank—on the head of each new prince of the church.

The appointments raised the sacred college to an all-time high of 87 members.

None of the 10 new cardinals is from the United States. Three are Italians, and two are South Americans. The others are Irish, Spanish, Portuguese, Belgian and Syrian.

In his address to the consistory, the 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church expressed profound sorrow for the condition of the church in countries where, he said, it suffered trouble and sacrifice and elementary human freedoms were lacking.

The pontiff led also for greater social justice in general, mentioning especially the arduous road that confronts the new nations of the world.

The Pope expressed concern lest the condition of the church in Communist-dominated lands might impede bishops from those areas from attending the Ecumenical Council of the church. It opens here on Oct. 11, a great Christian gathering expected to give new impetus to the movement for world Christian unity.

Red and yellow hunting clothes are among the least visible of all wearing apparel, according to tests run by the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources.

from ages 18 to 52. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings in this area during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay as high as $446.00 a month to start. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service helps thousands prepare for these tests every year. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once—TODAY. You will also get full details on how you can qualify yourself to pass these tests.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Utilities and rubbers were firm in an irregular stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .10 at 261.90 with industrials unchanged, rails off .20 and utilities up .30.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

Steels were mixed. A decline in durable goods demand had little effect on electrical equipment makers.

Rubbers still appeared encouraged by the recent boost in tire prices. Rails, airlines and tobacco showed a slight downward tendency. Most groups were mixed.

Consolidated laundries dropped around 3 points.

U.S. Smelting advanced another point. Dow Chemical lost about 2.

Montgomery Ward and Armour were up more than a point.

A drop of about a point for Du Pont and more than a point by Union Carbide dampened the chemical section.

Motors were narrowly mixed. Utilities produced a string of small gains.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.38 at 721.39.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds edged upward.

The following bid and asked prices are obtained from the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., and other sources but are unofficial. They do not represent actual transactions; they are intended as a guide to the approximate range within which these securities could have been sold (indicated by the "Bid") or bought (indicated by the "Asked") at the time of compilation, March 16, 1962.

G. W. Everett, Jr. Wins Foundation Fellowship

Grover W. Everett Jr., senior at the University of North Carolina, has been named a winner of the National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowships for study for the year 1962-63, it was announced today.

He has elected to accept the fellowship through Harvard University, where he will study toward a Ph.D. degree in chemistry. He was named one of the National Science Foundation he has maintained a 3.58 out of 4.0 average scholastically and has been outstanding in cross country and track.

He is captain of cross country and co-chairman of track this year. He is vice alchemist of Alpha Chi Sigma, a member of Delta Phi Alpha and a member of the Monogram Club. He has been a member of the Inter-dormitory Council. As a junior Everett was one of 25 selected from the junior and senior classes to be a member of the Junior-Senior Honors Colloquium.

His fellowship covers tuition, fees, travel and living expenses and is renewable from year to year. Selection of winners is based on academic records, recommendations regarding the applicant's ability, graduate record examination scores and further evidence of potential ability.

In addition to the National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship, Everett recently has been offered teaching fellowships and scholarships by the chemistry departments of both Harvard and Cornell.

winners by Alan T. Waterman, director of the foundation.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Grover W. Everett of the East Carolina College faculty, Everett graduated from Rose High School and will graduate in June from the university. Through three and a half years of college

Suggests Good Teacher Morale

RALEIGH (AP)—An official of the North Carolina Education Association said today good teacher morale was one of the chief reasons for the record attendance at the NCEA convention which closed here Saturday.

"The whole push by the governor and other agencies in behalf of education has boosted the morale of teachers considerably," said A. C. Dawson, the association's executive secretary.

Dawson termed the three-day convention one of the best in history. It attracted a record attendance of about 5,000.

Division officers were elected at the closing session. Anna Neese was chosen president of the Classroom Teachers Association. She will take office July 1 succeeding Grace Hager of Charlotte.

Other division presidents elected were: Principals, Luther Medlin of Greensboro; supervisors, Dr. Robert C. Hanes of Charlotte; higher education, Dr. Leopold M. Hays of High Point; future teachers, Larry Shrader of Boone.

Adults Urged To Join In Tetanus Immunizations

All adults who have not been immunized against tetanus were urged to take advantage of the countywide tetanus immunization program to be held here in April by Dr. Charles Adams, guest speaker at the Wahl-Coates P.T.A. meeting on Thursday night.

Dr. Adams is president of the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society. The immunization will be open April 4 and April 25. A small fee of 50 cents to cover materials will be asked of those who can pay. Immunization will be provided regardless of ability to pay, Dr. Adams said.

Mrs. Rachel Edwards, nominations chairman, presented the slate of officers for 1962-63 as follows: Herbert Wilkerson, president; Mrs. Bob Harrington, vice president; Mrs. Bob Lee, secretary; Bob Messner, treasurer.

Mrs. Myrtle Clark discussed social studies and methods parents should use to help their children with social studies. Students from two of the Wahl-Coates sixth grades took part in the program, presenting songs about different countries and later presenting a debate panel. The debate subject was "Whether Europe Should Join the United States."

Six graders had painted murals which they introduced to the P.T.A. audience during the program.

Six grader Otho Cozart gave the invocation.

Mrs. Clay Burnette, president, presided at the meeting.

Rites Tuesday For Mrs. Alonza Brown

Mrs. Mary Jones Brown, 80, died Sunday night at 6:25 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Linwood O'Neal near Greenville.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. E. C. Coats, Presbyterian minister of Farmville, assisted by the Rev. C. W. Kimbrough, pastor of the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Brown, a native of Craven County, was born and reared in the Dover community and had been living in Pitt County for the past twenty-five years. She was a member of St. De-light Free Will Baptist Church near Ormondsville. Her husband, Alonza Brown, died in 1952. For the past 16 years she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Linwood O'Neal, near Ballard's Crossroads.

Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Beshelley Anderson of Greenville, Mrs. Bennett Rouse of Ormondsville, Mrs. Linwood O'Neal and Mrs. Mack Bowen of Ballard's Crossroads, Mrs. Thun-morris of Wilson, and Mrs. Thomas Watson of Augusta, Ga.; three sons, Frank Brown of Farmville, Lonnie and Johnnie Lee Brown of Greenville; 44 grandchildren; 48 great grandchildren; a brother, Bill Jones of Tarboro; and a sister, Mrs. J. W. Norris of Kinston.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ruby Cannon Smith, a son, William T. Smith of the home; two grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Herman Cannon and Mrs. Clarence Harris of Greenville; and four brothers, Grover Smith of near Black Jack, Fountain Smith of Greenville, and Levy and Hubert Smith of the Cox's Hill community.

Assault Charged In Injury Case
Johnny Weldon, 64-year-old Negro of the Coville area, was cut on the head when hit by a section of concrete block Saturday night.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said a warrant charging assault has been sworn out for Jim Nicholson, 30-year-old Negro, of Rt. 2, Greenville in connection with the case.

Weldon was treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital and released. Deputies Bill Forest and Gerald Davis investigated.

Four People Die In Plane Crash

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP)—A light airplane leaving Municipal Airport here fell into trees less than a half-mile from the runway Sunday, killing four persons — two fathers and their sons.

The victims were identified as K. L. Nixon, 45, the pilot, and Jack Nixon, 20, both of Edenton; and John M. Perry Jr., 41, of Hobbs and Johnny V. Perry, 22, of Piner.

Airport Manager Nat Sanderlin quoted witnesses as saying the plane appeared to be in trouble when it took off. He said the four people climbed about 50 feet above a wooded area, and then fell and burned.

The passengers, who had filed a flight plan for a local pleasure cruise, were buried beyond recognition. The metal skeleton was all that was left of the plane.

Officials of the Federal Aviation Agency office here said the FAA will investigate to determine the cause of the crash.

Scout Units Set Roundtables

Roundtables for cub and scout units are scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church in Greenville.

Tom Patterson and Bob VanVeld, assistant Pitt District commissioners for cubbing and scouting, have urged all unit leaders to have their units represented at the Tuesday meeting.

Both commissioners were hopeful Tuesday's attendance would top the roll call at the last Roundtables. At the last session, 10 of 12 district cub packs were represented while 13 of 21 scout troops attended.

Last Call For Srienre Entries

Students wishing to participate in the N.C. District Science Fairs in this area and who have not requested applications have been advised to write or phone immediately Dr. Frank Eller of East Carolina College.

Two Arrested In School Break-In

Two arrests have been made in connection with the theft of a tape recorder from Grimesland High School, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson reported.

The recorder was found in possession of Harvey Lee Craft of Grimesland, a 19-year-old student at the school, the sheriff said.

Craft and Arden D. Hardison, Rt. 1, Box 116, Grimesland were charged with breaking, entering and larceny.

The school was entered Saturday night.

Both Craft and Hardison posted $500 bond pending trial in County Court.

Deputy Ralph Tyson and City-County ID officer John Kerr investigated the case.

Sugar content of the sugar beet has been raised from 2 to 4 percent in the 18th Century to 15 percent today.
