

Resignation Of Dowd Accepted By School Board

By PATRICIA MOORE, Reflector Staff Writer. The resignation of Rose High School Principal O. E. Dowd was accepted by the Greenville Board of Education at a luncheon meeting yesterday...

A second matter taken up by the board was unanimous approval of a motion to ask the city of Greenville to stabilize Howell Street...

The board moved to request that the city provide for such

Dazzling Light In Night Sky

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—A dazzling multicolored light, apparently from an exploding meteor, flashed across the sky from Kansas to Northern California Wednesday night.

The light was so brilliant that street lamps in Eureka, Utah, operated by a photoelectric system, went off momentarily just as they do automatically at daybreak.

Many people reported hearing what sounded like an explosion as the fireball vanished. Dr. Robert Kadesch, associate professor of physics at the University of Utah, said it apparently was a bolide, or exploding meteor.

It probably exploded 50 to 60 miles in the atmosphere or perhaps a little lower, Dr. Kadesch said.

Raid Guerrilla Supply Centers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces destroyed 25 Viet Cong food depots and 11 other guerrilla installations in an operation last week in Tay Ninh province, near the Cambodian border, the semi-official Vietnamese news agency reported today.

The report said four Viet Cong guerrillas were killed and the rest fled toward the border.

improvement in its new budget. Superintendent of Schools J. H. Rose and several members of the board noted that on rainy days children could not get to the school without crossing muddy streets or pathways. The situation was accentuated by last week's bomb scare at the school, when elementary students were evacuated into a heavy rain so the building could be searched.

Rose reported that 950 students are expected to enroll at Rose High School next year, compared to some 830 students at the school now.

A financial report on replacement of the ceiling in the Junior High School gymnasium showed cost of the general contract, $750; new acoustical ceiling and insulation, $1,916; and painting, $940.

Rose commented that in spite of the portion of ceiling which fell, the remaining part of the ceiling was difficult to tear down.

In other business, the board approved a recommendation that the driver's training program and summer kindergarten program be carried out as they were last year.

—Asked that a letter be written to the family of the late James Griffith, who served as architect for the schools in several cases.

—Noted that Rose High School graduation exercises will be held May 30 and that C. M. Eppes graduation will be May 29.

Dr. E. B. Aycock, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting.

Backed Car Into Child, Kills Her

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—An 8-year-old girl who ran out to greet her father returning home from work was killed here Wednesday when he backed the family car into her.

Police said Melvin Bost apparently did not see his daughter, Polly, when she ran out of the house to greet him. The car struck the child while Bost was backing into a parking place.

Zorin Moving To Block U.S. Nuclear Test Plans

By TOM OCHILTREE, GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union launched a series of diplomatic maneuvers today in an attempt to block the American atmospheric nuclear weapons tests due soon in the Pacific.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin called in the 17-nation disarmament conference for an unpolluted moratorium on testing—a move firmly resisted by the American ambassador.

Zorin demanded that the United States promise to refrain from conducting shots over the Easter holiday weekend. He declared the Soviet Union would not agree to a recess of the conference unless such a promise was received.

Zorin's maneuvers tied up the conference in a procedural wrangle. The delegates—many with their bags packed—had been scheduled to recess today until Tuesday.

Twelve States Seek Help On Protecting Coastlines

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Federal action to build permanent shore protection and to provide financial assistance to persons who suffer property losses in storm has been requested by 12 Atlantic Coast states.

The requests were made at the end of a day-long conference on shore protection here Wednesday, which was called by Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey in the wake of last month's severe northeast.

Hughes pointed out the Atlantic Coast states have suffered more than $1 billion in losses due to storm and erosion since 1946.

The governors of Massachusetts, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia also attended, as did high officials of Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, New York, North and South Carolina and Rhode Island.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall led a delegation of federal officials to the conference. Udall, who spoke twice, suggested that wildlife refuges might be established in some of the storm-damaged areas and also that some sites might be made national seashore recreation areas.

Gov. Elbert Carvel of Delaware proposed the resolution asking for permanent shore protection. The resolution requested that money be appropriated to the Army Engineers for a survey of what facilities are needed for permanent shore protection.

The chief of Army Engineers pointed out to the conference that local interests may create problems in a beach protection program.

If local interests can't or won't provide an adequate right of way for dunes, the federal government can't provide protection, said Lt. Gen. Walter K. Wilson Jr.

There was no indication in Geneva that the American tests would start this weekend. Westerners speculated that the first shot in the projected Christmas Island series was at least seven days away.

In a long session of the conference, U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Godber insisted there was no change in the Western position. Simply stated it is this: The United States tests will take place as planned unless the Soviet Union quickly accepts a test ban treaty with international control arrangements.

The American and British delegations said they, too, were willing to negotiate on the neutralist plan if the Soviet Union would accept the principle of an international control system and of on-site inspections.

The plan was submitted three days ago by the eight nonaligned countries at the conference—Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and the United Arab Republic.

The eight countries tried to bridge the differences on inspection and control dividing the Soviet Union from the United States and Britain.

Dean said the Soviets "are accepting what is in their favor but rejecting what they are opposed to."

"The Soviet Union is ready to stop tests if the Western powers do," Zorin said. He claimed that fruitful negotiations can not be carried out in Geneva if tests are going on.

The Soviet move came less than 24 hours after President Kennedy told a Washington news conference that the United States intends to proceed with the tests in the Christmas and Johnston Island areas. Only a change of views by the Kremlin can alter this situation and there is yet no sign that it is about to do this, the President explained.

Record Military Budget Adopted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has unanimously approved the nation's biggest peacetime military budget—a hefty $47.8 billion for the next fiscal year.

The appropriation bill was approved 388-0 in a roll-call vote Wednesday and sent to the Senate.

The money bill, $67.5 million less than Kennedy had requested, continues to emphasize a buildup of conventional ground forces and weapons capable of fighting limited as well as global wars.

The bill earmarks 18 per cent of the money for such items as six more Polaris firing nuclear submarines and 200 more Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The bill is $1.3 billion more than Congress approved last year. The new measure is for fighting forces and military hardware. Still to come are appropriations for military construction, civil defense and military assistance abroad.

In recent years the Senate generally has been more liberal than the House, and even the administration, with the Pentagon's purse strings. So the final figure could be even higher.

The House version would support 2,683,881 active military personnel and reserve forces 1,003,500.

The House voted more than was asked for Army Reserve and National Guard forces, but the action would not prevent Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara from going ahead with his proposal to trim these forces by 58,000.

The House measure would also give McNamara virtually a free hand to continue the controversial R570 bomber program at the current cautious rate, or to use additional millions provided to expedite radar research if his experts recommend it.

ington and London President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan have said the same thing. Zorin repeated that the Kremlin never would accept international controls.

Zorin coupled his move with a qualified Soviet offer to negotiate on those portions of a neutralist test ban which conform to Moscow's ideas on enforcement.

The United States and Britain said they also would be willing to use the neutralist proposal for negotiating purposes provided the Soviets accepted the concept of scientifically sound international enforcement.

The American and British delegations said they, too, were willing to negotiate on the neutralist plan if the Soviet Union would accept the principle of an international control system and of on-site inspections.

The plan was submitted three days ago by the eight nonaligned countries at the conference—Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and the United Arab Republic.

Pilgrims Flock Into Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Jordan Section (AP)—Hundreds of Christian pilgrims flocked to Jerusalem today—the day of the Last Supper—to celebrate Easter in the ancient walled city where Christ was crucified and resurrected.

Turbaned Copts from Egypt and Greek Cypriots in billowing pantaloons jostled with American and European tourists outside the Church of the Holy Sepulchre—the most hallowed spot in Christendom.

Heavy rains pattered on the twisting stone streets as the acting patriarch of Jerusalem, in golden robes entered the church for a Pontifical High Mass.

Before a marble basilica housing the vault where most sects believe Jesus was entombed, liveried dragomen solemnly rapped the stone floor with staffs in the candlelit procession of the Blessed Sacrament.

The ceremony was one of many held by different sects in Jerusalem churches today, Maundy Thursday, while Moslems residents squeezed through crowds of visitors in the bazaars and alleys.

Surprise Salute To Rep. Umstead

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Veteran State Rep. John W. Umstead Jr., who championed the causes of better schools and help for the mentally ill, was honored Wednesday night at a surprise dinner here by state leaders.

Gov. Sanford, Dr. Frank Graham, former University of North Carolina president, and William C. Friday, UNC president, were among those who paid tribute to the Orange County legislator and his wife.

The military ousted Dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955 and is determined to suppress the resurgence of his followers. The military stopped short of taking over the government completely last month by replacing Frondizi with his constitutional successor, Guido, the Senate president.

The armed forces made plain then they expected Guido to heed their wishes. But the military leaders have become increasingly alarmed at the growing sentiment among non-Peronist politicians or recognition of the Peronist election victories as the will of the people.

New Stadium Bids Open; Officials Pleased

Low bids totaling about $277,000 for a 10,000-seat structure were read Wednesday as official re-opened bids on construction of James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. Low bids on an 8,400-seat version totaled about $246,000.

The two figures include about $20,000 for installation of piling to support the concrete-and-steel structure, but do not include architect's fees, estimated at about $14,000.

Bids opened and read Wednesday pleased officials, according to East Carolina President Leo W. Jenkins. Too-high bids read March 6 were rejected and a second bidding session was scheduled. Total low bids exceeded cost estimates by about $125,000.

Officials made no announcement concerning an expected date when contracts may be awarded.

Crain & Denbo, Inc., of Durham submitted the low general construction bids on both plans. For the 8,400-seat proposal, the Durham firm bid $203,780, nearly $8,000 below Eastern Construction Co. of Greenville, which bid $211,279. Crain & Denbo's bid on the 10,000-seat version added $32,230.

A. D. Blake Electrical Co. of Wilmington submitted a low bid of $9,399 for the 8,400-seat stadium and $9,456 for the larger version. A $6,292 bid on plumbing work, submitted by W. M. Wiggins & Co., Inc., of Wilson, was low in that category. Washington Iron and Metal Works of Washington, N. C., submitted the low piling bid, between $20,000 and $21,000.

The revised plan amounts to a 1,600-seat reduction in the stadium's seating capacity. Existing stands at College Stadium that seat 6,000 will be transferred to the new stadium site to bring total capacity there to 16,000 or 14,400, depending upon the plan used.

Architect William Freeman of High Point revised the specifications to reduce the cost after the March bids totaled nearly $390,000 while estimated cost of the project had been placed at $262,000.

Changes include substitution of steel for concrete supports and elimination of some dressing room facilities.

More than $260,000 has resulted from a drive in Greenville and Pitt County conducted by an eight-man Stadium Committee of Greenville men. Their initial drive encouraged other donations from various organizations.

Other bids included: General construction—Eastern of Greenville, add $35,000 for 10,000-seat plan; Corbin Construction Co. of Dunn, $226,800 for 8,400 seats, add $37,000 for 10,000 seats.

Plumbing work—Kinston Plumbing & Heating, $6,884; Riddle Brothers, Greenville, $7,338.90; Lenoir Plumbing & Heating, Kinston, $7,188; Quality Plumbing & Heating, Goldsboro, $7,271.

Pitt Will Apply For Loans In Redevelopment

Pitt County will seek approval for federal loan funds made available by the Area Redevelopment Act that became law in Congress last year.

The Pitt Development Commission and the Farmville Economic Council began Wednesday night preparing an application to the U.S. Department of Commerce to gain approval for the county. Three Tar Heel counties—Cumberland, Madison and Mitchell—have already been approved and seven more have applied.

Funds would be furnished on a participating basis with the federal ARA footing a large share of the bill; the Small Business Administration furnishing a part and the local area a share.

Dr. Green pointed out the rate of interest would be below that usually charged for similar industries. He said funds would be available to communities desiring to conduct economic-need surveys.

The Development Commission, Dr. Green said, will explore the entire program "with the idea that it may prove helpful to existing and potential industry in the county."

In other action Wednesday, the commission approved conducting a "Geared For Progress" inventory in each incorporated town in the county. The body also pledged its cooperation to the N.C. Department of Conservation and Development on its emphasis on food-processing as potential industry in Eastern North Carolina.

In his monthly report, Dr. Green told the commissioners his office had developed 118 new industrial leads during the prior four weeks, running his 16-month total to 1,384. He said 13 prospects are "active" and four are in "finalizing stages, with encouraging immediate developments."

Dr. C. Sylvester Green, executive director of the commission, said the jointly-prepared application would be filed with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges' department within the next 30 days.

Meeting with the commission Wednesday was T. W. Willis, director of the Farmville Economic Council. Farmville's own economic development organization.

Argentina Again At Crisis Stage

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Battle-equipped troops deployed through Buenos Aires today as a new Argentine crisis flared between President Jose Maria Guido and the military leaders who put him into office three weeks ago.

Soldiers and national policemen were posted at key points in the capital to guard against Peronist disturbances as the military chiefs pressed Guido's government to bar the followers of ex-Dictator Juan Peron from politics once again. An estimated 5,000 more troops were summoned from the provinces to Buenos Aires.

Guido was reported standing firm against the military demand, but his new government began to waltz under the same pressures the military put on President Arturo Frondizi before ousting him last month.

Interior Minister Rodolfo Martinez resigned and charged the government was planning to defy the constitution by taking over the provincial governments. Labor Minister Oscar Guigeros hinted that he also would quit.

There was no immediate reaction from the Peronists. But they have repeatedly warned of social disturbances unless the government allows the many Peronist voters in the March 18 elections to take office on schedule May 1. Leaders of the 3-million-member, Peronist-dominated General Confederation of Labor arranged to meet Tuesday to map strategy.

Informed sources said Guido turned down the military's demands in a 30-minute meeting Wednesday night with the three service secretaries, the army's Gen. Raul A. Poggli, the navy's Rear Adm. Gaston Clement and the air force's Brig. Jorge Rojas Silveira.

The military chiefs demanded by the Department of Commerce as qualifying for the funds becomes eligible to receive loans for buildings, the rehabilitation of abandoned or unoccupied buildings and the alteration, conversion or enlargement of existing buildings. Loan funds may be used for industries that are establishing branches, not for relocating plants operating in other areas.

Ceremonies Set For USS North Carolina

DEDICATION TO BE APRIL 29—The stern of the U.S.S. North Carolina in its berth across from downtown Wilmington will serve as the platform for principal speakers Admiral Arleigh Burke, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, Gov. Terry Sanford and Admiral Claude V. Ricketts as the battleship is dedicated Sunday April 29 to the men and women of all United States military services branches who served in World War II. The 3 p.m. program can be seen from the ship or from the parking area ashore, with room for thousands to attend. Formations of Air Force, Navy, and Marine Corps aircraft and Navy minesweepers will salute the ship that 20 years earlier was the greatest sea weapon ever built by the United States. Tar Heels raised $315,000 to save her from being scrapped.

Old Furniture Fits New Home

RESORT RETREAT—Westport, Conn., furniture takes to Summerplace, Fla., atmosphere without a hitch. Mrs. Elaine Francis, whose home this is, advises persons planning to furnish a vacation or retirement home to take along the furniture they already have.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Furnishing a vacation retreat or moving to a retirement home? Consider taking your furniture with you.

"Many people sell all their furnishings on the theory that they should start from scratch in the new climate, but that move may prove to be regrettable," says Elaine Francis. Francis, a Florida transplant from Connecticut.

"It's especially disconcerting when you find yourself trying to find the same type of furniture you've given up," she says, "once you discover that your own furniture could have been integrated handsomely in the new area. And another good thing about having your own furniture is that your new abode will feel like home sooner than you'd expect."

Mrs. Francis' two bedroom, one-bath cottage at Summerplace, Fla., had to look weathered inside, she says. It's that kind of place, tucked in between ancient live oaks and palm trees. Stark modern furnishings wouldn't be the order of the day, even though the ocean and beach are a stone's throw from the house. The other factor is that Mrs. Francis' cottage is used as a model home and for entertaining.

"The aim was to make it look like home, the kind of place that makes you want to shuck off your shoes and prop up your feet to relax. I found myself acquiring the same kind of furniture I'd had in Westport, Conn., plus some pieces salvaged from the old homestead. It suited the place to a T."

The vacation resort near Vero Beach has a casual rather than formal atmosphere. There is fishing from wooden bridges, jeeping through citrus groves, gathering wild oysters, beach-bugging along stretches of sand, "all conducive to barefoot simplicity," Mrs. Francis explains. She wanted to maintain that feeling in her home.

"There's no true warmth or welcome in the model home that is too regimented and immaculate," she advises. "And you can't sacrifice comfort in the interest of style and appearance. A comfortable couch and the best bedding you can buy are prerequisites of a vacation or retirement retreat."

She has surrounded herself with homey furniture—a pine hutch, pine coffee table and end tables, milking stools, big roomy sofa, and lounge chair with ottoman that could serve as another seat. There are duck decoys and decoy lamps, hooked rugs and towels. Coral and mustard yellows provide special cheer.

"Mix and mingle the furnishings you like. I have an English copper pitcher for plants, rooster bases for lamps, Victorian piano stool, carved Chinese pieces and Venetian cherubs. I put a Peruvian spear on the wall," she says.

Mrs. Francis' advice is to stick to wooden pieces that children can't harm. She likes large crash-proof ash trays for the same reason.

"And forget cluttery draperies. You want the view, privacy and little upkeep. Use small rugs. A broom should be the extent of your household equipment," she advises.

Most vacation homes will attract guests, she says. The same rules apply to your home that apply to a guest cottage or a guest room in vacationland: avoid perfection. "If guests take over your cottage for awhile, post a type-written guide to the house on a kitchen wall, as I do. That way they can bumble around in cupboards and closets, feeling their own way. They shouldn't feel they are in the midst of clutter or that everything is precious and breakable."

And you shouldn't feel that way either if you'd enjoy your home.

Bridge Lunch Given Thetis Club Members

Mrs. William Cochran, Mrs. Tommy Snowden and Mrs. Charles Lewis were hostesses at a bridge-luncheon for members and guests of the Thetis Book Club at the home of Mrs. Lewis on Tuesday afternoon.

Arrangements of spring flowers, featuring yellow roses, the club flower, were used throughout the home. Miniature ceramic baskets filled with violets marked each guest's place.

Tomato juice cocktails were served the guests on arrival followed by a two course luncheon.

A focal point of interest was an egg tree decorated with Easter eggs of pastel colors.

Following the luncheon, members and guests enjoyed an afternoon of bridge and canasta. Mrs. Franklin Brown was high at bridge and Mrs. E. L. Clark won consolation in canasta. Mrs. Charles Lewis was high and Mrs. Donald Simpson won consolation.

Guests for the afternoon included Mrs. Herbert Wilkerson, Mrs. Nick Dorroll, Mrs. M. W. Aldridge, Mrs. Raymond Fleming, Mrs. W. P. Haynes and Mrs. Donald Simpson.

Gardening Today

By JOHN G. DUNCAN

We like to keep our cut flowers as long as possible—even when they become jaded we try to keep them at least one more day. The following list of ways to prolong their stay in our vases and flower holders may be helpful. This list was put out by Mississippi State University.

How to Keep Them Longer.

Alyssum—One tablespoon sugar in two quarts water.
Amaryllis—Two teaspoons kitchen ammonia in one quart water.
Anemone—One half cup vinegar in two cups water.
Apple Blossoms—Cut in bud, crush stems, two tablespoons ammonia in two quarts water.
Asters—Two tablespoons sugar in one quart water.
Begonias—Two tablespoons salt in two quarts water.
Canterbury Bells—Two tablespoons washing soda in two quarts water.
Camellias—Wrap in wet tissue overnight. These never drink after cutting from stem.
Columbine—Five drops oil of peppermint in one quart water.
Carnations—Put in cool water up to flower heads. Do not submerge blossoms.
Chrysanthemums—Ten drops oil of cloves in two quarts of water.
Clematis—Three tablespoons alcohol and pinch of soda in two quarts water.
Coreopsis—One tablespoon salt in one quart water.
Cosmos—One teaspoon sugar in one pint water.
Dahlias—Burn end of stems, five tablespoons alcohol in three quarts ice water.
Daisies—Eight drops oil of peppermint in one quart water.
Delphinium—One tablespoon alcohol in one pint water.
Dianthus—Cool water up to flower heads.
Evergreens (all types)—One tablespoon glycerine in one quart water.
Ferns—Submerge under water for twelve. When ready to use shake well.

Forget-Me-Not—Plunge in hot, then cold water, eight drops of alcohol in one quart water.
Fuchsia and Foliage and Day Lilies—One half cup vinegar in two cups cold water.
Gaillardia—Two tablespoons salt in one pint water.
Gardenia—Wrap in wet tissue overnight; these never drink after stems are cut.

Gladioli—Five tablespoons vinegar in one quart water.
Crepe Hyacinths—Plunge in hot, then cold water, eight drops of alcohol in one pint water.
Gypsophelia—One teaspoon alcohol in one pint water.
Hollyhocks—Burn ends of stems, one handful rock salt in two quarts water.
Hyacinths—Squeeze substance from ends of stems as soon as picked. Plunge immediately into very cold water to which five drops of peppermint have been added.

Iris—Three drops of peppermint in one quart of water.
Larkspur—One tablespoon alcohol in one pint water.
Lilacs—Never pull the green leaf off near flower head, because it is the water conductor to the bloom.
Lily-of-the-Valley—One half cup vinegar in one pint water.
Marigolds—Two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon salt in one quart water.
Narcissi (Daffodils)—Arrange in no more than one inch water; all like small quantities of water.
Peonies—Three tablespoons sugar in one quart water.
Lilies (Easter, Regal, Calla)—One half cup vinegar in two quarts water.
Poinsettias—Burn stems, one handful rock salt in two quarts water.
Poppies—Burn stems, one handful rock salt in two quarts water.

Roses (all types)—Two tablespoons powdered alum or table-spoons salt in one quart water.
Salvia—One tablespoon alcohol in one pint water.
Snapdragons—Two tablespoons salt in two quarts water.
Keep this list handy—it might come in handy sometime.

Twirp Week

The Winterville Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America celebrated Twirp Week the week of April 9-14. This week was a turnout of the usual social happenings and was one the girls enjoyed because they could ask the boys for dates and do the social courtesies that boys usually perform.

Each day of the week had a special name and a special purpose: Monday—"Be Kind to Gentlemen;" Tuesday—"Mix, Match Day;" Wednesday—"Sweetheart Day;" Thursday—"Be Kind to Teachers Day;" Friday—"Twirp Day."

The outstanding event of the week was the Twirp dance on Friday night, April 13, at the Winterville Community Building. Dancing was enjoyed from 7:30 to 11:30. La Verne Cayton was mistress of ceremonies for the floor show. Those participating were: Roger Baker and Jerry Sutton, Virginia Conney, Carol Porter, Judy Hathaway, Lynda Hall and Bobby Hall.

Soft drinks, potato chips and cookies were served during the evening.

Carole Porter served as chairman of Twirp Week. Serving on her committee were: Sandra McLawhorn, Trudy McLawhorn, Patricia Worthington, Gayle Little, Bettie Sue Avery, Judy Moye, Eva Wynn, Rickie Jackson and Virginia Conney.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Origer were chaperones for the dance.

Keep Denture Cups Hygienic, Daily

A thoughtful dentist has designed an opaque plastic denture cup for the convenience of people who put their "store" teeth to soak in a cleansing solution overnight.

These spillproof, water-tight, unbreakable cups—made with hinged lids—should be kept hygienic by daily washing with hot soap or detergent suds and rinsing.

Simpson H.D. Club Has Meet

"Five Keys To Better Decorating" was the demonstration given by Mrs. Mavis Johnson, assistant home economics agent, to the Simpson Home Demonstration Club on Tuesday.

The meeting was held at the community building with Mrs. Jennie Porter and Miss Lena Barron hostesses. Fourteen members were present and Mrs. Zeno Hudson was a visitor.

Mrs. Johnson said to make a room measure up artistically, the idea is to balance furniture and color so that no part of any room is overemphasized. Relate the proportion or scale of furniture pieces to each other and to dimensions of the room. Provide contrast with variations of line color, shape to insure greater eye appeal. Achieve unity by giving each room keynotes of color and style, and by blending furnishings for an effect of oneness.

She used a scale and miniature furniture as a practical guide to make a room measure up practically.

During the business session reports were heard from Mrs. L. E. Edwards, education; Mrs. Roy Edwards, music; Mrs. Lyman Mills, safety; Mrs. Ella Edwards, treasurer.

Mrs. S. D. Tucker presided and Miss Lena Barron gave the devotion.

Occasion For Flurry..Oops! Mother-Of-The Bride Role No

By CELESTINE SIBLEY
 Women's News Service
 They patted me on the shoulder soothingly when we went to the church to talk about what we now refer to in capitals as Arrangements and told me not to worry, that they hadn't "lost a mother-of-the-bride yet."

A friend of mine whose daughter was married a little while back said sympathetically, "My dear, I know what you're going through! If I had it to do over again I'd give my children a check and tell them to elope!" Another friend offered to give me some of her tranquilizers.

All of this makes me feel guilty and slothful and then—well, uninformed, like perhaps an actress who goes along thinking she has a one-line part in a play and then is plunged on opening night into the starring role.

Who do they think is getting married—ME?
 So far I haven't been able to get exercised over having a child marry up. I fully understand that the role of the mother of the bride is to spin into a Billie Burke-type flutter at the last minute. But my goodness, the wedding is almost a month away and since it will by no means be a color, cast-of-thousands production, I can't start getting worried yet.

After all, I once organized a gigantic parade to welcome an elephant to our zoo—and if I do say it, it was a good parade, replete with clowns, tumblers and the Shrine and Army bands.

Surely the march of half a dozen young folks, who've eaten peanut butter sandwiches in my kitchen all their lives, down that brief distance of chapel aisle isn't going to throw me. It's true that the elephant parade was run by an excellent marshal, but did you know that nowadays church es have sort of wedding march marshals?

It's the truth. Committees of ladies stand by to settle urgent matters of etiquette and keep the faint-hearted and fumbling moving. So I'm not worried there.

In fact, I don't know just when I'll start getting suitably flurried. Maybe next week, maybe 10 minutes before the ceremony. So far I'm in that same lovely April lethargy that has enveloped me all the other Aprils I can remember.

I started to clean up the house but, my goodness, what's the use so far ahead? Leo Frank Durden Jr., grandson of our sometimes cleaning woman, washed a few windows a while back but they need it again now.

If I laid in a supply of food for our kinfolks who are coming from out of town you know what would happen. We'd eat it all up and be back to bologna and peanut butter when the wedding guests arrive.

It seems clear to me that it's the duty of the mother-of-the-bride to take her ease and save her strength in case her role grows taxing later. So I've pulled apart that old pine table with the idea of refinishing its top.

And, of course, the front porch is filled with buckets and boxes of sand and fertilizer, the scene of my repotting, early seed-starting operations. I don't suppose the bride-elect will let me keep my milk cartons of seedlings out there much longer but, gracious, there is going to be a lot to do, isn't there?

Secondary Roads Bond Issue Looms

It appears evident there is increasing sentiment among state officials for another road bond issue in North Carolina, primarily for secondary roads. has hinted at the possibility in speeches in recent months. Gov. Sanford commented on the possibility this week, but without committing his administration to such a program.

Before the state goes into another major bond program for secondary roads, however, careful consideration should be given to the possibility of a more effective pay-as-we-go program for improving secondary roads of the state.

Proponents of the new road bond proposal have suggested that a bond issue might be financed by adding another one cent per gallon gasoline tax on a "temporary" basis. They point out that the extra one cent tax per gallon added to finance the $200 million road program of the late Gov. Kerr Scott is slated to end in about six years. A new road bond issue between now and then, they point out, could be financed by an extra cent per gallon tax until the existing bonds are retired and then the bonds amortized through the extra tax authorized during the Scott administration.

The major problem facing the Highway Commission so far as its secondary road program is concerned appears to be revenue. The big question overshadowing the suggested new bond program is whether the people of the state would approve such a bond issue and the extra gasoline tax even on a "temporary" basis to finance it. Even if the people of the state were willing to increase gasoline taxes by one cent per gallon for about six years, would not the state be better off to put that additional revenue into a pay-as-we-go road program rather than in financing a bond issue?

Such a program would mean that the contemplated secondary road building program would be stretched over a longer period of years than would be the case if bonds were issued. On the other hand, the state might be able to get more for its money spending on a planned basis year-by-year rather than spending a huge sum from a bond issue in a relatively short time. In a pay-as-you-go road building program all the additional tax revenue would go into building roads rather than a good part of it into interest that would be required in the case of a bond issue.

North Carolina needs to give careful consideration to some method of financing additional secondary road construction, but we feel more good could be realized through a sound pay-as-we-go program than through another major state bond issue for secondary roads.

A Difference In The Two Terms

By LYNN NISBET
RECREATION — There isn't much distinction in the minds of average people between a park and a recreation area. The terms mean very different things to the administrators and others connected with the services. Paul Anderson, superintendent of the Kerr Reservoir Development Commission, states it very clearly in a recent letter to this writer. "A State park," he said, "is to preserve the area for future generations while a recreation area is designed to provide recreation for its visitors or the people now." and legislative officers have been nominated and elected through due process.

Cameron Morrison in late 1930, William Umstead in late 1946, Frank Graham in early 1949 and Alton Lennon in mid-1953 were appointed to the United States Senate at times when there was no opportunity for their nomination by the executive committee. They had to go "cold" into a statewide primary. And they didn't fare very well. Sam Ervin was appointed in June, 1954, was nominated by the committee and elected that fall. He was nominated for a full term in the 1956 primary and elected and is up for re-election this year. Everett Jordan was appointed in April, 1958, was nominated by the committee and elected that fall. He went into the 1960 primary, as Ervin did in 1956, with the prestige of having been elected by the people, was nominated and elected for a full term in the 1962 primary and elected and is up for re-election this year.

HISTORY — Sen. Sam Ervin was appointed by Gov. William Umstead in May of 1954. He was elected that year for the unexpired term of the late Senator Clyde Hoey, re-elected in 1956 for a full six year term and is unopposed in the primary this year.

Sen. Everett Jordan was appointed in April of 1958 by Governor Luther Hodges. He was elected that fall to fill the term of the late Senator Kerr Scott and was elected in 1960 to a full six year term.

Thad Eure was appointed Secretary of State by Governor J. C. Ehringhaus in December of 1936, after he had been elected in November, and has been elected every four years since.

Henry L. Bridges was appointed State Auditor by Governor Greg Cherry to succeed George Ross Pou, deceased, in February, 1947. He was elected the following year and re-elected in 1952, 1956 and 1960.

Edwin Maurice Gill, appointed State Treasurer by Governor William Umstead in July, 1953, replacing Brandon Hodges, resigned. He was elected for the unexpired term in 1954 and for a full term in 1956 and again in 1960.

Charles F. Carroll, appointed Superintendent of Public Instruction by Governor Kerr Scott in August, 1952, elected that fall and again in 1956 and 1960.

L. Y. Ballentine, elected Commissioner of Agriculture in 1948, re-elected in 1952, 1956 and 1960. Frank Crane appointed Commissioner of Labor by Governor William Umstead in June, 1954, elected that fall for the unexpired term of Forrest Shuford, deceased, re-elected in 1958 and 1960.

Charles F. Gold, appointed Commissioner of Insurance by Governor William Umstead in November, 1953, elected for the unexpired term of Waldo C. Cheek in 1954 and for a full term in 1956. Re-elected in 1960.

Dowd's Resignation A Shock And Surprise

Resignation of O. E. Dowd as principal of J. H. Rose High School came as a surprise and a shock to most Greenville citizens. His work with high school students and in the civic affairs of this community for almost two decades brought him into close contact with the lives of many Greenville families.

There are many adult citizens of the city now who fondly remember the guidance they received as high school students under Mr. Dowd's direction. There are many others whose children have received their high school education under his leadership at the local high school.

During the past 19 years since he has been principal of Greenville High, there have been many improvements and considerable expansion of the curriculum at the school. And while Mr. Dowd would not personally claim credit for these improvements, his dedicated work as principal of the school has made a major contribution to the better high school education provided the young people of this city.

The Reflector joins with other citizens of this community in expressing our gratitude to Mr. Dowd for the excellent work he has done with the young people of this city during his years here, and we wish for him every success in his new responsibilities at the Methodist College in Fayetteville.

President Used All Three Paths

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — A president can take three directions in giving leadership: persuasion, pressure and education. In his spectacular steel-price victory, President Kennedy used all three.

It was the first time he really had. He has relied mostly on persuasion. Some Republicans, rather quiet while the steel drama unfolded last week, are getting critical of him now for his pressure tactics.

The way he smashed the steel industry's desire to raise prices provided both Kennedy and the country with fresh insight into what a combination of persuasion, pressure and education can do.

But after watching his performance for 15 months it seems safe to predict he will still rely — unless he bangs into some new crisis — mainly on persuasion as his chief instrument of leadership.

The President has been criticized, when Congress ignored some of his pet projects, for not going on television, explaining his case to the people, and asking them to demand action from their representatives in Congress.

That would be a combination of education and persuasion. Kennedy has done very little educating since he became president except in his messages to Congress or news conference remarks.

That's a lot different from President Roosevelt's radio talks. But the standard answer from people around Kennedy, when asked why he doesn't go before the people more, is that he doesn't want to outwear his welcome.

BREAD AND WINE

On Thursday evening of that week which we have come to call Holy Week, Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper.

It was his divinely simple way of showing his companions that devotion to him meant complete identification of their lives with his. He held up bread and called it his body. He raised the chalice full of wine and called it his blood. He bade the disciples partake of these elements. This was — among other things — to show them that the duty and privilege of following him consisted in the complete identification of their lives with his. As the bread and wine were eaten, digested and became part of their bodies, so the spirit of their Master was to become one with their spirit. He was to live in their hearts. He was not just to be a fondly remembered friend, a king enthroned in a far away heaven — he was to be a Companion.

In addition to the symbolism involved in the Lord's Supper, Jesus in his farewell discourse tried to make plain to his disciples what true fidelity to him involved. "He that abideth in me and I in him, the same beareth much fruit; for apart from me ye can do nothing. If ye abide in me and my words abide in you ask whatsoever ye will and it shall be done unto you."

By symbol and holy act, Christ taught his companions the meaning of his ministry.

Quote

"There seems to be some kind of loony conspiracy under way to keep railroads from reducing freight rates even when it is economically feasible to do so. Why should any person or interest object to increased business for railroads and increased savings for their customers?" — Springfield (Ohio) Sun.

If They Really Split—

By PATRICIA MOORE

Ballad About 'Big John'

By now everyone . . . but everyone . . . has heard about the "A&P" song, which undoubtedly will go down in history in honor of our fine president Big John.

The swinging ballad tells about the PT boat and everyone looking for the A&P, which brought pictures to us of the A&P food store, tea, and even the Associated Press, popularly called the AP.

Finally we distinguished enough of the words to realize all that bit about being marooned and swimming around the ocean was the song version, beat style, of JFK's visit into the ocean waters while rescuing a companion. All during World War II. What talent lies undiscovered in this country

Greenville's school superintendent J. H. Rose told school board members who were discussing education problems that we have always faced three problems: what to do about loose women, alcohol, and how to get a good school report card. Education's always there.

Another columnist this week said something to the effect that library week (which just occurred) and newspaper week (in the fall) are two weeks which should be forever omitted from the growing list of observances, for one should enjoy books and newspapers every day — not just one week of the year.

It reminded us of the very words used by the local librarian. As for newspaper week, regardless of who decides what about the papers, there are those who most certainly are aware that they do come out every day.

Under the editorship of Joanne Hinson and Barry Sautter and their teacher Mrs. Jack Gates, assisted by student teachers, the sixth grade of Agnes Fullilove School has published the "Agnes Fullilove Gazette." Contributions are made from each grade.

The newspaper contains a complete, up-to-date roundup of news and sporting events concerning the school, as well as some creative talent in the field of fiction and poetry. Jenny Horton of the fifth grade in the following article which subtly urges care of the teeth says:

"The mouth is the door to the body. Teeth, tongue and gums are doorkeepers. Nothing harmful must pass the door. Therefore the doorkeepers must be well and strong. Their health must be cared for by experts. How long do you want them to stand on guard? Take a peep into the future."

Opinions In Brief

"A UN committee will study peaceful uses of outer space. If it can find peace there, it should be a great attraction for folks from this planet." — Memphis Press-Scimitar.

"It's possible to be a loyal Democrat and still hope that Jacqueline's new 'brioché' (meaning a sweet bun) won't sweep the country." — Raleigh News and Observer.

"A man owes it to himself to become successful; after that, he owes it to the Bureau of Internal Revenue." — Grandville (Mich.) Star.

Gold Figured In Blow

By ELMER ROESSNER
President Kennedy's clobbering of big steel has been widely hailed as a blow for labor and for the consumer, and so it was.

The Steelworkers Union, urged to fight inflation, had foregone a wage increase and settled for fringe benefits worth only a drink a day per man, and labor had expected steel to be as co-operative. Kennedy forced steel to be content with even less.

And in causing the rollback in prices, President Kennedy prevented an immediate rise in prices of things made with and by steel, thereby benefitting consumers and putting another brake on inflation.

But little noticed is the fact that Mr. Kennedy's action had another and equally important purpose: the protection of the American dollar.

GOLD MARKETS COULD FADE AWAY

As the steel companies surely know, American steel is high priced in competition with Western European and Japanese steel. American steel companies are not only losing large shares of the foreign market but are also losing a big chunk of the American market to foreign producers.

In 10 years, the American share of the world market dropped from 17 to 10 per cent. In the same span, foreign producers have invaded the American market heavily, grabbing sales right under the noses of American producers. United States is now buying almost one fourth of Japan's total production.

If the $6-a-ton steel price increase had stuck, American mills would have lost more of their share of the world market. And at the same time, foreign companies could undersell American steel companies right in their own back yard.

LESS STEEL, MORE GOLD OUT

The gold drain is one of the most pressing national problems. President Kennedy has been waging a vigorous, if not always successful, campaign to bring it to a halt.

But when the U. S. buys foreign steel, it buys it with credits that can be exchanged for gold. Every time a ton of foreign steel is sold in the U. S., almost five ounces of gold is lost to this country. And when the U. S. loses a foreign customer for steel, it loses foreign credits that could be collected in gold.

In forcing big steel to rescind the price rise he forced it to keep fighting to preserve the balance of trade.

SAYS HOUSEWIVES GYPPED 8 CENTS A POUND ON COFFEE

Every time a housewife buys a pound of coffee, she contributes 8 cents to the bank accounts of private world coffee growers. Charles J. Meeno, professional New York coffee trader, has written to Congressmen.

He said that the International Coffee Stabilization program has been taking $200,000,000 a year for the last two years out of American families' pockets. He wants Congress to abandon plans to continue the program for five years more.

A READER ASKS AND GETS AN ANSWER

Q: Banks offer me 4 per cent interest on my savings and at the same time offer auto loans at 4 per cent. How can they do it and make money? — J. T. A.

A: Easy. When you borrow $1,000 for a year at 4 per cent, you agree to pay back $1,040 in 12 instalments. Therefore, you have borrowed an average of only $500. And $40 is 8 per cent interest on $500. A bank paying a depositor 4 per cent on deposits can actually get back 8 per cent on the same money by lending it on rapidly amortized payments. This is legal and proper; your own bankers would have explained it to you as readily as I. — E. R.

Figures for other steel companies are similar. The principal expenditures of steel companies in recent years have been "investment for modernization." This has been essential to keep the American industry efficient and competitive with the "new" steel plants in Europe and Japan. A "new" plant in Europe and Japan is one that was either bombed out during World War II or that has become obsolete and had to be rebuilt, or as in the case of Russian plants, were built entirely new with funds provided by the United States as military or economic aid. American companies have not received such aid, unless orders are regarded as aid.

The American steel industry is not currently sufficiently modern to compete in foreign markets with the newer plants. Were it otherwise, it would not be necessary in 1961 for these companies to spend so much on modernization: U. S. Steel $326,800,000; Bethlehem 114,300,000; Republic 89,117,264; Jones and Laughlin 36,599,000; Kaiser 5,272,793; Colorado Fuel and Iron 13,331,178; Allegheni-Ludlum 6,479,000; National 107,106,091; Armco 76,034,000; Youngstown 24,923,191; Inland 18,392,000.

The modernization can only come out of earnings or capital. If from earnings alone, it could reduce dividends; if from capital, unless reserves are available, it might imperil the company. On the other hand, if these plants are not modernized, the American product will grow increasingly non-competitive.

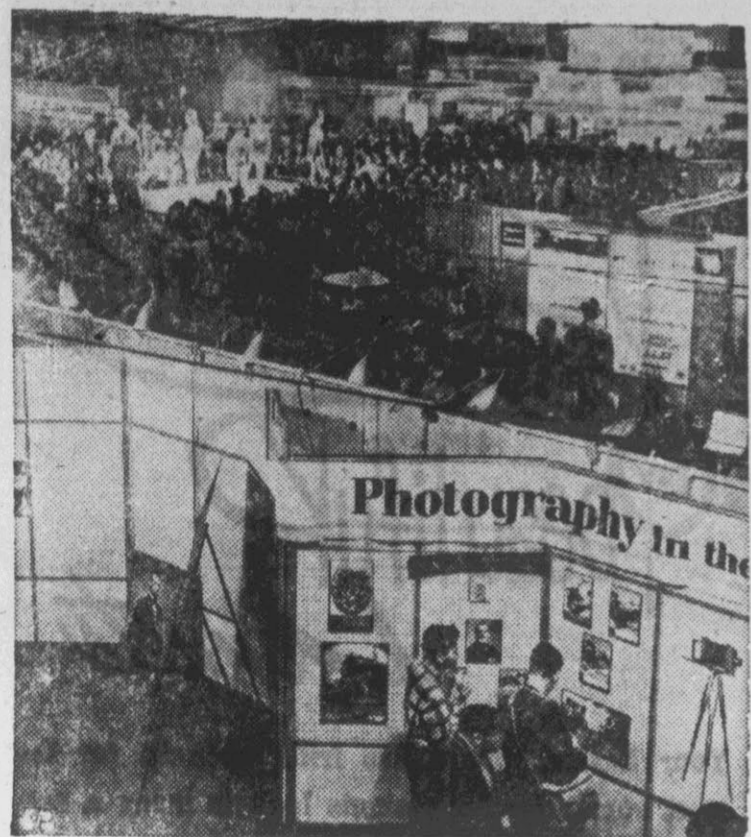

Let us take another set of figures: Between 1957 to 1961, inclusive, United States Steel spent $2,148,300,000 on modernization; a smaller company, such as Inland Steel, spent $383,155,000. As one looks at the list of expenditures for modernization, an expenditure that comes out of profits or capital, it runs into several billion dollars. None of this has come out of any government agency but out of sales, profits or capital.

Inflation is a terrible economic condition, but obsolescence is just as bad. The United States is being forced by conditions to import its iron ore from abroad; we should indeed be in bad straits if we were forced to import our steel from abroad because we have permitted our plants to grow obsolete, unready to meet any condition that they may be faced with.

The modernization of plant and equipment is as much a national problem as inflation. Again, it needs to be repeated that a piece-meal approach to our economic problems will not solve them. What is needed is an over-all review of where we stand and what needs to be done about it. And the best minds in the country need to be recruited for that task. And the analysis need not be political.

CAMERA ANGLES

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

EXCITEMENT and the enthusiasm of photography were very much in evidence in New York City recently with the opening of the first International Photo Fair by a new group of photo show backers. It was a nine-day event to which camera fans flocked to see, hear, absorb and participate. They could see the latest in equipment, hear experts explain or demonstrate their specialties, view outstanding exhibitions and, above all, have fun snapping away at glamorous models, celebrities and photographic activities.

I joined the opening day crowd outside the fortress-like walls of the 71st Regiment Armory and noted the large proportion of fans who came prepared to shoot pictures. Many had two or three cameras slung over their shoulders. They were the enthusiasts who keep one camera reserved for color or loaded with a different type of film or who didn't want to lose time changing film.

A carnival spirit prevailed inside. Groups pushed along from exhibit booth to exhibit booth, stopping to study the many new items which had been introduced only a few weeks earlier in Chicago to photo dealers.

In the center of the main floor was the "Great Stage," a three-foot-high platform like a prize-fight ring, around which the crowd gathered on all sides. Performers and demonstrations were scheduled there every hour on the hour, ranging from trampoline acrobatics to fashion, beauty and magic shows.

For hobbyists who wished to improve their skills, demonstrations and lectures on photographic techniques were presented hourly in a "Hall of Learning," a tent-like area with seats. Dark-room chemistry, color printing at home, editing home movies, flash and travel photography were some of the subjects explained.

"The Little Theatre" was another screened-off area where slide and movie showings were also put on regularly at hourly intervals. Some of the typical presentations there, designed to improve camera craftsmanship by inspirational example, were: "Around the World in 80 Slides" by Harvey Meston, "Use of Photographic Filters" by Norman Rothchild, "Slide Showmanship" by James Cleary, plus several movies by Ansel Adams.

For viewing pleasure, more than half a dozen separate exhibitions were scattered around the rim of the floor to browse through. Yusuf Karsh's portraits of famous men and women, 76 in all, were obtained from the Smithsonian Institution. "Photography and the Civil War" is a collection of more than 100 pictures prepared by Ansel Adams from Mathew Brady original negatives and others from the National Archives. Special exhibits on "Space Photography" and "Photography in National Defense" focused on photography's role in today's world. Photo journalism was represented by a display of selections from the 19th annual Newspicture of the Year competition sponsored by the National Press Photographers Association and the University of Missouri.

A recent survey of 135 Japanese girls born and reared in the United States showed they were 1.6 inches taller than girls of like age in Japan.

Gen. Clay Leaves Berlin May 6

BERLIN (AP) — Retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay will leave here May 6 after eight months as President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, the U.S. headquarters announced Wednesday.

It was announced last week that Clay's mission to Berlin was to be terminated.

Clay plans to return to private business but will remain the President's advisor on Berlin affairs, the White House has said. Clay has promised to visit Berlin from time to time. The announcement said he would return here for a visit in July.

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (AP)—An autographed photograph of Abraham Lincoln, missing from the Theodore Roosevelt Museum here for the past month, has been returned by mail. The 5 by 8 inch bust photo, mounted in an oval frame, had been on display at the Roosevelt Mansion.

Wrapped in cardboard and brown paper—but with the frame missing—the picture returned to the museum Wednesday. An anonymous note in crayon read: "I am sorry but please forgive me."

CARTER A. VAUGHAN'S Exciting Novel of Revolutionary Romance SCOUNDRELS' BRIGADE

CHAPTER 10
Violent incidents, seemingly unrelated, began to form a pattern, and the thirteen American colonies gradually became aware of their destiny.

The most significant took place in Massachusetts on April 19, 1775, and it did not matter that some men thought of the affair as a battle, while others referred to it as an "unfortunate brawl." General Thomas Gage, military governor of the colony, had learned that a group of rebels led by Samuel Adams, the hot-headed editor who was preaching the doctrine of independence, were collecting arms and munitions in the village of Concord, northwest of Boston.

Gage sent a detachment to seize the munitions, but a company of local militia blocked the advance of the troops on the village green at Lexington, a few miles from Concord.

No one knew whether a nervous soldier or an untrained militiaman fired the first shot, but the fact remained that British troops and American provincials became engaged in open hostilities.

Gage's detachment dispersed the rebels and proceeded to Concord as ordered, but that was the beginning of the incident, not the end; when the soldiers started their march back to Boston, militiamen hiding behind trees and boulders fired at them, then vanished in the dark and the supposedly invincible red-coated troops were badly beaten.

On May 10 the Continental Congress convened to discuss ways to obtain redress for legitimate grievances, but it was too late for the colonies and England to reconcile their differences. On the same day that the Congress sat down to deliberate, forces led by Benedict Arnold of New York and Ethan Allen of Vermont captured Ticonderoga, a strong British fort in New York.

In mid-June the New Englanders tried to force the British to evacuate Boston, but Gage defeated them, at great cost to himself, at what came to be known as the Battle of Bunker Hill. The news spread quickly through the colonies that raw militiamen had repulsed Gage's regulars twice, and had been forced to abandon the field only when they had run out of ammunition.

By autumn even moderate men were saying that independence was the only solution to America's problem. George Washington of Virginia, the most respected soldier in the New World, had accepted a congressional appointment as commander-in-chief of his army, and recruits flocked to his banner from every colony. An American force succeeded in capturing Montreal, Arnold assaulting Quebec in spite of great odds against him and his untrained troops, and General Gage, who had made war inevitable in the opinion of his superiors in London, was supplanted by General William Howe.

Life at the plantation near Bedford remained almost unchanged, however, in spite of the ferment everywhere. Osbert Fleming and his friends toasted King George every night and, refusing to allow rebel agitators to set foot on their land, swore they would remain loyal to the crown. The militia sent recruiting teams into every county, but only few men were being accepted by the army, so Hugh Spencer and the other indentured servants who were Fleming's bondsmen were not eligible for service.

Hugh, increasingly restless as news of the developments from the outside world reached the plantation, saw a chance to improve his own lot, and expressed his mind freely to his friend Dr. Campbell. "Freedom for America can mean freedom for me," he said vehemently. "Why shouldn't I just disappear some-night and join the militia?"

"You'd be returned in chains, lad," the physician replied flatly. "Liberty doesn't mean license to run wild. I have no way of guessing whether the colonies will take up arms formally or whether Lord North and his ministers will have the good sense to make peace while they can. But I do know that no matter how hard they curse the colonial leaders at the great house, General Washington is no radical. Neither is John Adams of Massachusetts, and gentlemen like Robert Morris believe in maintaining law and order."
"But if America is fighting for her independence—"
"There's been talk of independence, but the Continental Congress is still trying to negotiate a settlement with the king's ministers. The colonies aren't so desperate that they'll accept runaway bondsmen in their army. They might be tempted, I'll grant you, because they're suffering from a shortage of trained officers, but we're still living under the jurisdiction of the king's courts, and Fleming would be within his rights to hand you."

The plantation was unusually quiet during the Christmas season. The tobacco planters of Bedford County, sympathizing with the American cause, saved themselves embarrassment and avoided the red brick house on the bluff overlooking the James River.

The indentured servants and slaves were given a holiday on Christmas Day, but Hugh, thoroughly dissatisfied with himself and his drab life, wandered down from his little house to the deserted stables.

The horses had been fed shortly after dawn, and most of them were quiet, but a two-year-old gray stallion, Toby, was restless. Hugh understood how he felt and decided to exercise the beast. Toby permitted no one else to ride him, much to Osbert Fleming's annoyance, so Hugh felt closer to the animal than he did to any of the other horses, and, saddling the stallion quickly, started up the trail that ran parallel to the river.

After he had ridden past the tobacco fields, he increased his pace. Toby responded eagerly to his touch, and only when they reached a stand of hemlocks did Hugh realize that he had gone beyond the boundary of Fleming's property. Hugh didn't care, and galloped on toward the Blue Ridge Mountains, whose pine-covered peaks had become a symbol to him of the personal liberty he had lost.

He urged Toby up a slope, and the stallion, sensing his excitement, pounded recklessly across rocky ground. Hugh was staring so intently at the sky line that he paid little attention to his immediate surroundings, and was startled when three men appeared unexpectedly from behind a large boulder some distance in front of him.

Two wore buckskins, the third was dressed in somber, homespun linsey-woolsey, and all were armed with rifles, which they raised threateningly.

Reacting instinctively, Hugh reached into his belt for a pistol, remembered that he was unarmed, and, as chagrined as he was annoyed, drew Toby to a halt.

The younger of the pair in buckskins laughed grimly. "He's a Tory spy."

Hugh was bewildered and indignant. "I'm neither a Tory nor a spy."
"You sound English."
"I am. Or I was, rather. Is that a crime?"
"Anybody who sounds like an Englishman and who is visiting Fleming is sure to be a Tory!"

Woman Caused 5-Car Accident

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A unidentified woman driver today caused a five-car accident, but probably doesn't know it.

Kent County sheriff's deputies said the woman, driving a bright red car, put out her arm to signal a left turn at a Grand Rapids intersection. The driver immediately behind her slammed on his brakes, and four other cars crashed while attempting to stop.

Patricia Stroh of Bitley was taken to the hospital and treated for head injuries.

The woman driver? She decided not to turn and went straight ahead as the chain of crashes started.

Nat'l Magazine Features Frat

As one of three recently installed chapters of the national Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity, the East Carolina College Gamma Eta Chapter is featured in the Spring 1962 edition of the fraternity publication "The Laurel."

The magazine carries an article by Michael C. Wilkinson of Belhaven, 1961-1962 president of the East Carolina chapter, in which he outlines the history of the Gamma Eta Chapter from its beginning in 1960 as a colony of Phi Tappa Tau through the granting of the national charter last February.

Photographs of the ceremony at which the charter was presented and of campus scenes at East Carolina illustrate the article.

In the spring quarter of 1961 the Phi Kappa Tau colony won the East Carolina College Board of Trustees Trophy in recognition of attainment by members of the highest record in academic work among the nine fraternities on the campus.

At a Domain Conference of the fraternity April 14-15 at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., the Gamma Eta Chapter here was recognized as having achieved during 1961-1962 the highest scholastic average of any other chapter in the southeastern region of the United States and fourth highest in the nation.

Another $200 For Vaccine Is Allocated Pitt

The National Health Foundation has appropriated an additional $200 to be used for polio vaccine for indigent children in Pitt County. It was announced this week by J. H. Rose, chairman of the local chapter.

It had been previously announced that the foundation had given $300 to be used for polio vaccine here. The additional appropriation brings the total to $500.

The action was taken upon the request of the Pitt County Health Department and the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society.

The National Health Foundation includes polio, birth defects and others.

Apparently Had Plans In Jail

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—Jim Kersey faces sentencing on a charge incurred after his arrival at Warren County jail to serve a three-day sentence for driving under the influence of liquor.

Kersey pleaded guilty Tuesday to violating the penal code.

When he arrived at the jail last Friday, he was searched by Sheriff Donald Allen. He found a pint of liquor strapped to Kersey's leg.

Long Distance Phone Charges To Be Reduced

TARBORO—A recent North Carolina Utilities Commission decision will bring about an estimated $150,000 annual saving in long distance charges to Carolina Telephone subscribers. The commission's action will reduce rates on long distance calls of more than eighty miles within the state and will range from 5 cents to 20 cents per call.

According to L. R. Langley, Carolina Telephone local manager, the reduced rates resulted from a change in the procedure for dividing telephone expenses for rate-making purposes. It involves the transfer of $47 million within the Bell System companies from intrastate expenses to interstate expenses. The revised procedures were worked out by a committee for the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, of which the North Carolina commission is a member, and the Federal Communications Commission and its staff.

On a statewide basis, it is expected that the rate reduction will bring about a saving of approximately $800,000 annually to North Carolina telephone users.

Carolina Telephone, which owns and operates extensive toll lines, will be affected more sharply than any of the thirty-three independent telephone companies in North Carolina. The reduced rates will apply to long distance calls within the state in excess of eighty miles completely wholly over Carolina Telephone lines, as well as those which require joint usage of Carolina and connecting company lines.

Giant Twin Towers Rise Skyward At New York Harbor's Entrance

NEW YORK (AP)—Giant twin towers are rising skyward from a man-made island at the entrance to New York Harbor.

Within a few months they will form the western tower of the awesome Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, a project long debated and marked by controversy.

When completed in 1965 the suspension span will be the world's longest. By then most people probably will account it a blessing.

It will link Staten Island, the southernmost of New York's five boroughs, with Brooklyn—one of the two situated on Long Island.

It also will provide a fast and easy route south and west from New York, via the present bridge from Staten Island to New Jersey.

Furthermore, as an engineer remarked:

"It is going to be the first great sight of New York, rather than the Statue of Liberty, for people coming to the United States for the first time by ship. It will be there to greet them ahead of the statue."

That's because the bridge spans the historic Narrows, through which the world's ships pass as they enter New York Harbor. The statue is inside the harbor, on an island off the southern tip of Manhattan.

The western tower now is up past the 20-story level. When completed it will be nearly 70 stories—almost as high as the RCA building in Rockefeller Center. Construction was begun a few days ago on the eastern tower, off the Brooklyn shore.

John W. Kinney, the engineer in charge of construction, stood on a platform at the 20-story mark as a huge new section of steel was being hoisted to the top.

"We're right on schedule. We haven't had any real snags since we started work in January 1960," Kinney said.

"We lost a lot of time because of weather the first winter but the past one was so mild we more than made up for it."

"Our work goes on," said Jim Bowers, chief steel inspector, "even when the temperature falls to zero or below. If it gets really cold the fellows will take a few minutes off every now and then to warm up."

"The wind is the main thing. If it gets up to about 35 miles an hour we have to knock off."

Between the two towers will hang the longest suspension span ever built by man. This section will be 4,260 feet long, or 60 feet more than the previous titleholder, the main span of San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge.

The roadway, divided into two levels of six lanes each, will be held up by four cables. Each cable will be a yard in diameter and made up of pencil-sized wires of the strongest steel ever devised.

If tied end to end those wires would reach almost to the moon.

The bridge and its approaches will stretch nearly three miles. The suspension cables from an anchorage to anchorage will reach nearly 7,000 feet.

The structure and its approaches will cost $325 million.

In a high wind the roadway will sway as much as three feet in hot weather the steel will expand and the roadway will bow perhaps five feet.

"Probably nobody will even notice it," said Kinney.

Thousands of tons of steel and concrete will anchor the cables on either shore. These are calculated to settle one inch when they are completed, and one more inch in the years to come.

Fight Conceded By Park Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The battle of Grandfather Mountain has not been conceded by the National Park Service, which says it will press for a high level right-of-way across the privately-owned North Carolina peak.

The Park Service said Wednesday it will present additional information next month to North Carolina officials in support of building a portion of the Blue Ridge Parkway 1,000 feet below the crest of the mountain.

North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford said Tuesday the state will not attempt to acquire right-of-way for a high level routing of the parkway across the mountain owned by businessman Hugh Morton of Wilmington, N. C.

A spokesman for the Park Service countered Wednesday by saying, "The service continues firmly in the conviction that the route it has selected for the section of the Blue Ridge Parkway across Grandfather Mountain is necessary to maintain the high standard and integrity of the parkway."

The state purchased a low level route across the mountain for the parkway in 1939.

Operation Kills Whooping Crane

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A 10-day-old whooping crane died while undergoing an operation Wednesday to correct a crippled leg, reducing the world population of the rare bird to 45.

The chick was flown to St. Louis from New Orleans, La., last week to undergo treatment at the Ralston Purina Co. animal research center. It was hatched at New Orleans' Audubon Park Zoo.

The prairie provinces of Canada are Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Inhabitants raise wheat and cattle and prospect for oil and ores.

New Parachuting Combat Role For Flying Generals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force is developing a new breed, including a few flying generals, qualified to jump into battle along with Army paratroopers.

They are officers and men serving in the headquarters of the new unified Army-Air Force Strike Command and as air controllers whose job it is to direct fighter plane support operations by radio from front line positions on the ground.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, has let it be known he wants as many as possible of his people attached to the new command to take the rugged jump training at the Army's Airborne School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Lt. Gen. Bruce K. Holloway, 49, Air Force deputy commander of the Strike Command, recently won his Army paratrooper wings by completing five qualifying jumps.

Another recent graduate of the Army jump school is Maj. Gen. Karl Truesdell Jr., 53, commander of the 12th Air Force.

The Strike Command, based at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida, was created last September to weld combat-ready land and supporting air units into task forces which can be moved swiftly to any part of the world in an emergency.

At least an advance party of the headquarters likely would jump with the airborne troops on a combat mission.

Army Gen. Paul D. Adams, chief of the Strike Command, is a qualified jumper.

The 300-man headquarters staff is divided equally between Air Force and Army officers and enlisted men.

So far in the young program, 85 officers and men of the headquarters staff and the communications unit have passed the jump test.

The tactical air command has decided that up to 10 air controllers from each of its 28 fighter squadrons should also qualify to jump with the airborne soldiers.

The aim is to get these controllers, all pilots, in position quickly to make sure the soldiers get adequate fighter support when and where it is needed after the airborne troops land on their objectives.

To date, 60 of these controllers have passed through the Ft. Benning classes which have space for training 15 Air Force men at a time.

Pitt's Wildlife Protector 'High Man' In Arrests

The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission in their report on law enforcement activities of individual officers for 1961 announced that Pitt wildlife Protector J. O. Teel was high man for the year for enforcement officers assigned to one county.

Teel, who July 1 will have 25-years service with the Wildlife Resources Commission, totaled 150 arrests for the 12-month period.

Included in the number were 124 arrests for violations of game and fish laws, and 24 charges for boating law violations.

There are 20 other county-assigned enforcers in the 11-county District II area. Included in the area in addition to Pitt are Beaufort, Carteret, Craven, Duplin, Greene, Jones, Lenoir, Onslow, Pamlico and Pender Counties.

Giant Steps In Medical Advances Are Made

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Medical research reports offered new hopes today for male heart attack victims and babies born with inoperable heart conditions.

Dr. Jeremiah Stamler and associates of Chicago told a symposium on coronary heart disease in Philadelphia Wednesday that female sex hormones apparently can give many men extra years of life after a heart attack.

At the same time, in St. Louis, four Stanford University surgeons reported a giant step forward ward heart surgery outside the body, which they said they believed might help many of the 15,000 babies born annually the United States with inoperable heart conditions.

Stamler told the Hahnemann Medical College symposium that he used a preparation of natural, mixed female hormones, or estrogens, in a five-year study among 275 middle-aged men.

He said that among men who suffered a single, uncomplicated heart attack, only seven per cent taking the hormone died within five years, compared with 17 per cent not treated. Statistically, he said, this represented a reduction of 59 per cent in the mortality rate.

In St. Louis, the Stanford surgeons said they had removed dogs' hearts for as long as two hours, then replaced them without apparent harm to the animals.

"So far the experiments have been successfully carried out on four dogs, which are still alive from five to nine months after the operations," the surgeons told the annual meeting of the American Thoracic Society.

The report, presented by Dr. Edward J. Hurley, said the technique may be the first step toward operations in which a patient's heart is cut out of his body to correct serious heart defects.

Stamler, director of the Chicago Board of Health's heart disease control, said female hormone was used because women seem to have an inbuilt resistance to coronaries, at least until after menopause when their production of female hormone declines.

He said the hormone (trade name Premarin) produced feminizing effects in the men, such as breast enlargement, and made some of them impotent but it did not harm their health.

Honor Students Announced At Grifton School

GRIFTON—Frank Davis, ninth grade student, and Connie Lewis, tenth grader, were listed on the honor roll at Grifton High School for the fifth marking period, Principal E. B. Bright said today.

Kennedy Considered Call For Legislative Rollback

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, it was reported today, seriously considered in the midst of his recent battle with the steel industry a recommendation to Congress to legislate a steel price rollback.

The President is described as having been extremely reluctant to take the step. But he definitely had aides working up such a plan for possible use if it had been necessary in his administration's drive to get the major steel companies to rescind their price boosts.

The idea was to require a return to the lower steel price level for a specified cooling off period during which there would have been hearings and discussion of any necessity for higher steel prices.

This is much like the present Taft-Hartley law arrangement in which labor unions are required by court injunction to refrain from engaging in strikes during 90-day cooling off periods while issues are supposed to be aired and thrashed out.

Other price restraint legislative moves were also being considered in the midst of the administration maneuvers to squelch the steel price jump. One such move was reported to be a simple resolution to Congress condemning the price increases. These moves are now on the shelf—now that congressional committees are planning investigations and the crisis is considered to be over.

A House Antitrust subcommittee hearing on steel prices was to open May 2, but a short postponement was announced Wednesday. No new date was set.

At his news conference Wednesday Kennedy said he had no ill will against the steel industry or its leaders or, in fact, any segment of American economic life because he expects them all to work together to achieve stability and the nation's goals at home and overseas.

He made clear, however, that he expects his policies of wage-price restraint to be observed. In that connection he mentioned the next most important labor bargaining situation in the missile-space and aircraft industry.

Another facet of the recent steel price situation has just come to light. This is that Kennedy at the outset of his showdown battle with the steel industry figured his chances of winning were very remote.

In fact, an initial draft of his angry statement denouncing "a tiny handful" of steel executives as profit-greedy and irresponsible contained an outright call for a cancellation of the price increases.

With the other major steel companies announcing one by one at the time that they were following the price boost lead of U.S. Steel, Kennedy toned down the wording to read that the nation's economy would be badly upset unless the price increases were rescinded.

It can now be explained why Clark Clifford, a private attorney here who was White House counsel to former President Harry S. Truman, accompanied Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to New York last Friday to confer with Roger M. Blough and Robert C. Tyson, board chairman and finance chairman, respectively, of U.S. Steel Corp.

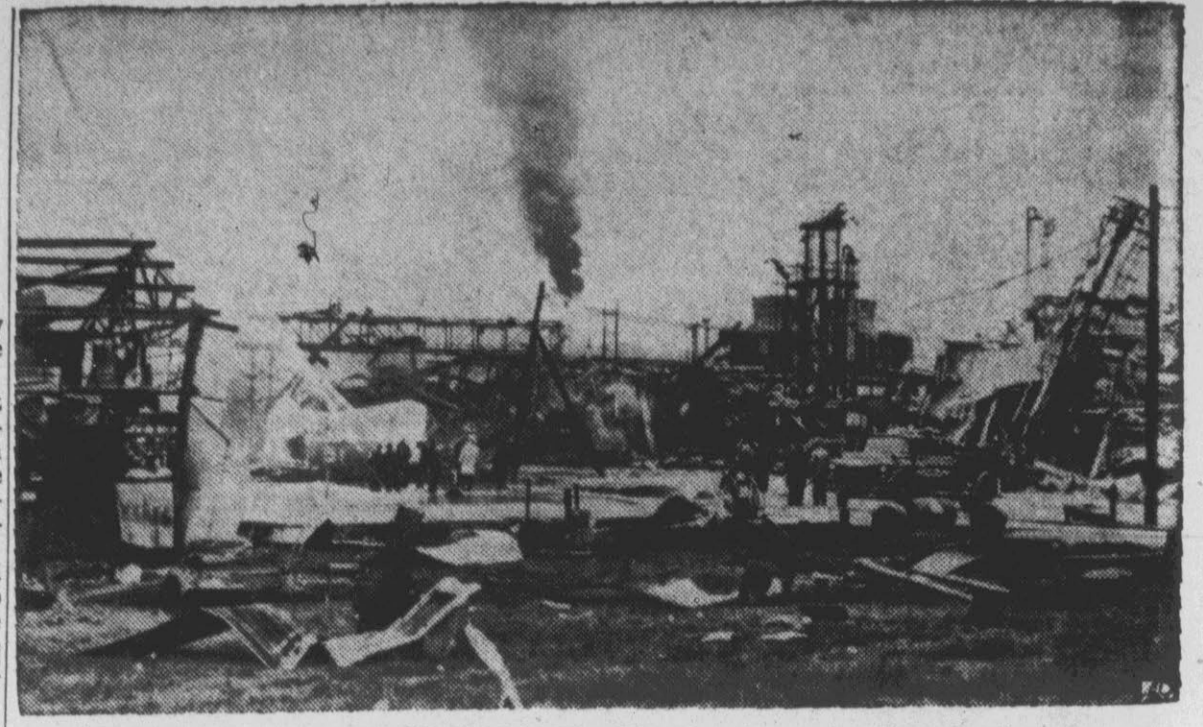

Administration sources say this meeting was requested by the steel executives, who were apparently getting nervous about whether their higher price level would stand up.

Clifford went along, it is stated, because he was understood and respected by business, and as a neutral unconnected with the administration was sent to bolster Goldberg's arguments.

It's ironic as things turned out but the administration checked out rumors early last week as it had several times in the past that a steel price boost was coming. Officials satisfied themselves the new rumors were untrue. Therefore, the President was all the more shocked and surprised when Blough went to the White House to disclose U.S. Steel's increase.

When Kennedy left to inspect Atlantic Fleet maneuvers last Friday evening he knew that Inland and Kaiser Steel had announced they weren't going along with the major companies on the higher price level. He knew time was playing in his hands and he had marshalled every resource to get big steel to back down.

When he got word later that night that U. S. Steel had withdrawn the increase, the President sketched away the rest of the weapons he had readied for possible use. One of them was a legislated steel price rollback.

Expect Delay On Tax Relief Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress there has been talk, but nothing more, that Congress ought to do something about it.

Influential House members said they had found colleagues unenthusiastic about acting before this year's elections on a proposed $10 tax credit for political donors and a Senate-passed measure increasing the ceiling on expenditures by the two major parties.

President Kennedy is expected to send to Congress soon a message incorporating recommendations of a bipartisan commission for tax incentives to broaden the base of political contributions.

The commission proposed in a report made public Wednesday by the White House to give individuals a direct tax credit of $10 to apply against donations they make to authorized political committees. Larger donors could take a deduction of up to $1,000 yearly for political contributions in figuring the taxes they owe.

A Senate-passed bill requiring more stringent accounting of campaign contributions and expenditures is languishing in a House committee.

This measure boosts the present $3 million yearly limit on spending by major party national committees to what sponsors said would be a more realistic figure of about $7 million each.

The report of the presidential commission, headed by Dean Alexander Heard of the North Carolina University Graduate School, recommended that the federal government pay the expenses of a successful presidential candidate in the interim between the election and his inauguration. This cost the Democratic party $360,000 in Kennedy's case and

Talkie Tours Provided For The Timid Tourist

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—You're in the Mexican tropics in your car, lost on a winding mountain road barren of road signs and service stations for the past 50 miles. You're hungry and it's getting late. What to do?

Just pick up a two-way radio and ask: "Hey, Jose, where the heck am I and when do we eat?" And you'll get an immediate answer over the radio — if you're a member of an experimental new talkie tour for timid tourists, or those who just want to relax and enjoy the landscape without worry.

Called "Caravans for Fun," the tour works like this: No less than 10 or more than 25 cars sign up for the tour, leaving Brownsville, Tex. (Later on there may be other starting points.)

Each tour has a trained bilingual guide and a mechanic. When you get to the border, two-way radios are installed in each car. It takes just a few minutes.

The caravan takes off, with the guide in the lead, of course. He gives continuing information about the history and customs of the country, pointing out places of interest.

And at any time you can interrupt him for vital information, like, "Say, Jose, where can we get some cold beer?"

The tour is designed to eliminate your worries about whether you are on the right road, where to stop for gas and food, what to do if you have car trouble, and to help you with your Spanish. The cost is $25 a day per couple, and includes hotels, food, high-test gasoline, car insurance, special parties.

Bob Peacher of Mexico City, an importer-exporter who came here four years ago from Tacoma, is mainly responsible for the idea. Headquarters are now at the Sandy Retreat Hotel on South Padre Island, Tex., near Brownsville.

If the idea clicks, similar tours may be arranged in reverse — for Mexicans to visit the United States.

Pitt Scout Troops File To Attend '62 Camporee

Eighteen Pitt District scout troops, including 327 scouts and 62 leaders, have filed their registration for attending the April 27-29 annual East Carolina Council Camporee in Wilson.

The Wilson site, located just west of Wilson on NC Highway 42, has been reported ready for the annual event. Utilities, including water and lights, have been made available and patrol sites have been designated, according to the Council's Wilson office.

Pitt District's advance registration showing was second only in the 21-county Council to the Rocky Mount District's 352 registered scouts. Advance registration for the entire council showed a total of 2,700 scouts and 499 leaders plan to attend. Late registration is expected to bring the total camporee attendance to about 4,000.

The following Pitt District units, with numbers of scouts and leaders, have registered for the event:

Greenville troops: 9, 13 scouts and two adults; 30, 24 scouts and two adults; 33, 18 and two; 205, 28 and seven; 340, 24 and seven; 386, 21 and four; 452, 24 and five.

Bethel Troop 15, 15 scouts and three adults; Grifton 24, 29 and five; Farmville 25, 17 and three; Fountain 92, 16 and two; Belvoir-Falkland 160, 18 and three; Pactivol 162, 11 and two.

Grimesland Troop 200, 15 and two; Red Oak 398, 15 and three; Black Jack 401, 17 and 4; Bell Arthur 404, eight and three; Gardnersville 471, 14 and four.

Silent Easter For Group

By SY RAMSEY
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Their world is silent, they hope eternal. About 150 deaf persons, most of them also mute, will begin Friday night a three-day Easter revival service at the First Baptist Church.

They will sing hymns noiselessly. They will listen to sermons without a word spoken.

The concluding event will be Sunday afternoon, when Gov. Bert Combs will make a brief speech. His words will be interpreted in sign language by Mrs. Robert Brandon of Frankfort, who learned the process a few years ago when she vowed to bring more deaf people into the church fold.

The congregation, ranging in age from 16 to 70, will come from Louisville, Lexington, Frankfort, Georgetown and Danville.

"They live in a world of pictures," Mrs. Brandon said. "Each thing must be portrayed."

"They know what goes on. I have seen tears come into their eyes when they are invited to accept Christ."

The sermons will be preached by The Rev. Carter Bearden of the Southern Baptist Convention at Atlanta. He is a deaf mute.

Also participating will be The Revs. Herman Bowers, pastor of the local church, and Rex Purvis, minister to the deaf at Trinity Baptist Church in Lexington.

The song leader, Mrs. Alex Sams of Frankfort, a deaf mute, will sing a solo in sign language. She will lead the congregation in hymns by making signs, then waiting for the members to duplicate her action.

"There is a certain rhythm in all this," Mrs. Brandon said. "Spoken words are not the only way to communicate."

Scholarship For James Eatman

WINSTON-SALEM — James Ponda Eatman, senior at Rose High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Eatman of Greenville, has been awarded a George Foster Hankins Scholarship at Wake Forest College.

Winners of the scholarships were selected from among 61 finalists who advanced from January screening tests to final tests and interviews held at the college during the weekends of March 16 and March 23.

It was previously announced that John Marice Triplett Jr. of Grifton High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Triplett of Grifton, had been awarded a Hankins Scholarship for Wake Forest College.

These scholarships range in four-year value from $800 to $4,800.

Eatman is co-editor of the school newspaper at Rose High, president of the Junior Music Club and a member of the varsity debate team. He is president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at St. James Methodist Church and a member of the United Christian Youth Movement Executive Council Order of DeMolay and Greenville Teenage Club.

Triplett is president of the student body at Grifton High School, president of the Beta Club and vice president of the school band. He has played on the varsity basketball and baseball teams throughout high school and is a member of the Christian Youth Fellowship at the Grifton Methodist Church.

College Crisis An 'Illusion' To Insurance Firm

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The present crisis in college enrollment is a "statistical illusion," according to a study being released today by The Prudential Insurance Co.

Prepared for the insurance firm by college admissions experts, the study is being published by Prudential as a guide to parents and their college-bound youngsters.

Entitled "Facing Facts About College Admissions," it contends that "Somewhere in the nation there is a college for every qualified high school student with purpose."

It will be distributed in booklet form to 30,000 high schools and to colleges throughout the nation. As a public service, the company is also making it available without charge to the public.

The forward was written by G. Kerry Smith, Executive Secretary of the Association for Higher Education, of the National Education Association.

The study should prove reassuring to most students planning to go to college. It indicates, for instance, that:

Of the more than 2,000 colleges in this country, only 100 to 150 are really hard to get into.

Half of all college applications are sent to fewer than 10 per cent of the colleges.

There are 25,000 to 50,000 empty seats in good colleges.

The Prudential study also goes into what one college admissions officer calls "the unhappy marriage" between students and colleges.

It points out the many students should not have been directed to the overcrowded colleges in the first place, that half the students entering college never finish, and that most students are not selecting the right kind of college, as evidenced by the high number of transfers.

Commenting that "Much of the confusion is not in college admissions but in the student's mind," the study seeks to help him by advising him on admission opportunities and telling him how to prepare for college.

The student is advised that there isn't any "best college" for him, and is told there are several dozen that are right for him.

Offers Exercise System Only 10 Seconds Long

BOSTON (AP) — Okay, so you want to keep trim, but admit you're too lazy to exercise.

Vic Obeck, 44-year-old former professional football player and now professor of education and athletic director at New York University, has a few suggestions for you.

His system — termed "isometric exercises" — takes only 10 seconds and some exercises can be done sitting down.

For example, you may strengthen stomach muscles by pulling in your stomach (for a slow 10 seconds; until it feels as though it's touching your spine. Obeck says you can take an inch off your waist in a week.

To strengthen your arms you may brace them against a wall and try to push the wall down (10 seconds again).

To strengthen neck muscles, lie on your back and try to press your head through the floor (10 slow seconds).

Bank Robber Is Camera's Victim

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Johnny W. Gains, 26, was held today in a $3,055 bank robbery during which a hidden camera snapped several pictures of the holdup man.

The FBI charged him with the Jan. 31 robbery of a branch of the Royal Bank and Trust Co.

The camera snapped shots as the robber approached a teller's window, kept a hand in his jacket pocket as though he carried a gun and shoved a note to the manager demanding currency in 10's, 20's and 50's.

Pictures of the robbery were transmitted by The Associated Press wirephoto network. There was no comment on the part of the pictures played in the arrest. The FBI arrested Gains at his home Wednesday. He was indicted by a federal grand jury Monday at Paducah.

Annual Egg Roll Set For Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn—a tradition started 72 years ago—will take place on Monday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. All children under age 12 are invited. Adults will be admitted only when accompanied by a child. The Marine, Air Force, Army and Navy bands will take turns playing music with the Air Force bagpipers tooting in between.

President Kennedy and his family won't be on hand for the affair. They are spending the Easter holidays at Palm Beach, Fla.

Will Consider A Hitching Post

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—The City Council has voted to give serious consideration to Milo Yoder's parking problem.

Yoder, a resident of the nearby Amish community of Kalona, wrote the council recently complaining that when he made a trip to town he always had difficulty finding a hitching post.

3 Governments In Anti-Tobacco Drives

By ANTHONY WHITE
LONDON (AP) — New medical reports linking smoking with lung cancer have brought anti-tobacco campaigns in Britain, Denmark and Italy.

by the reports.
Italy has banned all tobacco advertising. The British government is sponsoring a poster campaign saying smoking is a hazard. In Denmark, cigarette sales are dropping. It all began with a report by a panel of doctors from Britain's Royal College of Physicians declaring flatly that heavy cigarette smoking is a cause of lung cancer.

Major British tobacco companies quickly responded to a plea by the doctors that children should be discouraged from smoking. The companies announced they will take tobacco advertisements off television during children's viewing hours.

papers.
In Italy, parliament voted a ban on all forms of tobacco advertising with stiff fines for violators. The government asked the health and education ministries to arrange school lectures on what it says are the dangers of smoking. Just how seriously the government is taking things is indicated by one fact: it has a monopoly on tobacco sales.

cigarettes are cheap (as low as 18 cents for 20), and there is no legal age limit for smoking.
Swedes are sticking to their two main tobacco habits—cigarettes and snuff.
In Austria—where you have to be 18 before you can smoke legally—there seems to be no move away from smoking. In fact, a bill is being prepared to lower the smoking age limit to 16.
Yugoslavs also smoke on, with cigarettes at only 10 cents for 20. There is fierce competition there between the rival tobacco factories which are all state-controlled.

Years Fail To Spoil Sarong Girl's Shape

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A famous figure was back in town this week, and it belonged to Dorothy Lamour.

But she does, and after many transatlantic phone calls, Dotty agreed to do her stint.
"Now I feel like the cat that swallowed the canary," she said. "I read the reviews from England, and they're all great for me."

One company took 6,000 vending machines out of circulation where children could buy cigarettes. The companies all said they will remind traders more pointedly in the future that it is illegal to sell cigarettes to those under 16. The law is widely flouted in Britain.
While there are no figures to indicate Britons are smoking fewer cigarettes, several pipe manufacturers report a 50 per cent boost in sales.
"Many women are taking up pipes," one trader said. "We have always made pipes suitable for women but we have sold more of these in the last month than in the last five years."

West Germany's ministry of health obtained a copy of the British report for study, but there is no way of knowing whether it will go farther than that.
Norwegians are smoking about as much as ever. A Laborite in Parliament suggested a ban on tobacco advertising and increases in tobacco taxes.
No one seems to be giving up smoking in Switzerland, where Frenchmen seem to have shrugged off the British doctors' report as just another in a long series. France's tobacco business is also a state-run enterprise, there is no tax and you can buy a pack of 20 for as little as 25 cents. And there is no law to say when you can begin smoking.

One even in France ran directly against the antismoking current. The postoffice issued a stamp honoring the 16th century French diplomat, Jean Nicot, generally credited with having introduced tobacco into Western Europe, or at least into France. He gave his name to nicotine.

I can report that the figure is still highly sarongable, even though its owner admits to having starred as "the jungle princess" 25 years ago.
"I don't mind admitting it," she said. "In fact, people think I'm so much older than I really am that I have to correct them. Don't forget I started as a kid."

"I've had plenty of scripts sent to me from Italy, from England and from here," she said. "But you should see what they want me to play."
"One of them had me as a woman living with a married man. Another was an alcoholic. Or a prostitute. I'm not about to do pictures like that. I always made pictures that the whole family could see. Even though I haven't made a picture for nine years, the public is amazingly loyal."

Denmark's smokers are taking the warning seriously. The British report was followed by similar findings by Danish doctors.
Danish manufacturers reported a drop in cigarette sales. Women are changing to small cigars and more men to pipes—a result of physicians' claims that a pipe of cigar is less dangerous than a cigarette.
Leaders of Denmark's tobacco industry last week voluntarily agreed to cut out all tobacco advertising except in daily news-

World's Biggest Cigar Crumbling

BUENDE, Germany (AP) — The world's biggest cigar threatens to crumble away.
Carl Paetow, director of the Buende Cigar Museum, says a 26-year-old cigar 5 feet 6.929 inches long and 26.378 inches in diameter in the museum is the world's biggest. The cigar's wrapper leaves are slowly coming off. Tobacco inside also is crumbling.

"We hope to be able to repair the damage," Paetow said. "But it will be difficult because the cigar must be taken out of its glass container for the repair job."
And if it's taken out and found necessary to be used up, Paetow said that would be difficult, too. He said:
"It would take you some 60 hours to smoke the big cigar."

You'll recall that Dotty almost staged a sit-down strike last summer when she was asked to come to London for a guest part in the movie. Joan Collins took over the role between Bing and Bob.
"Imagine-me doing four lines and one small number in a 'Road' picture!" she said. "Those jerks—Bing and Bob—I don't know why I still love them."

Home for her has been Baltimore, where husband William Howard is engaged in a promising bread-canning enterprise. They've lived there for three years, and she loves it.
How does she keep her figure so whistleable?
"Have you ever tried to keep up with two boys, 12 and 16?" Those are her sons, Tom and Ridge.

Likes To Hike In Favorite City

BALTIMORE (AP) — Herman H. Diers Sr. of Washington, D. C., a retired civil servant who has toured Baltimore more than 2,100 times in his spare time since 1914, probably knows more about this city than any native.

Returning from six weeks in London, Diers immediately caught a train from New York to Baltimore and spent an hour hiking around in his favorite city.

When a passing pedestrian asked him some easy question about Baltimore, Diers, who loves a joke, replied: "I don't know. I've only been in the country four hours."

SAVE REPLANTING! INCREASE YIELDS!

KILL WIREWORMS with CHLORDANE IN TOBACCO TRANSPLANT WATER!

Wireworm larvae damage tobacco transplants by feeding on the roots and stems. Unless wireworms are controlled, it may be necessary to replant large areas, or settle for greatly reduced yields. It's easy to control wireworms, though. All you have to do is add Chlordane to your transplant water. No extra work is required. The cost is just a few cents per acre, and increased yields more than pay for it. All principal tobacco growing states recommend Chlordane for wireworm control. Use it this year to protect your crop!

NO EXTRA WORK/VERSATILE/ECONOMICAL LASTING ACTION/NO OFFENSIVE ODOR!
Chlordane in transplant water kills wireworms, most cutworms, flea beetles, and many other insects.

Reflecting On SPORTS

By George Bryant

ECC Baseball

Coach Jim Mallory and the East Carolina baseball team have returned from their tour of the Western part of the state. The trip was termed successful by the veteran coach even though the Pirates lost two of the four games they played. The Bucs split a double-header with Appalachian, lost to Catawba and defeated Pfeiffer.

Mallory said that the team's hitting is "superb" and commented that the pitching is beginning to come around now with Lacy West, Nathan Greene, Tommy Norman and Earl Boykin doing the work on the mound. The coach contributes spotty performances so far this season to the inexperience on the team. However, the boys are beginning to jell now and should be able to put on a good show. Mallory also noted that the Bucs must win from now on to take the conference championship. Every member of the league has lost two games now except Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba with one loss each. The Pirates are 6-5 overall so far with a 3-2 conference record.

The Bucs have a chance to rest up and regroup before their next contest which is in Chapel Hill Monday with Florida State. On Tuesday the team will take on Coach Walter Rabb's Tar Heels.

Scholastic Ability

Over the years the general feeling has been that athletes are at the bottom of the scholastic trial, but this is not always the case. At the University of North Carolina two Greenville boys, both athletes, were tapped into the Golden Fleece, the school's highest honorary society. The two boys are Bob Bilbro, co-captain of the swimming team and Grover (Rett) Everett, track co-captain. Two other athletes were also tapped into the society at the same time and there have been others in the past.

We have said before that Greenville and Pitt County athletes, in many cases, are above average in their academic work and if it were looked into, this would probably be the case in most school systems. Of course, we do not deny the fact that many athletes do poorly in the classroom, but there are also a great many other students who also fall below average from an academic standpoint.

Effect of Storm

A lot of folks have been wondering about the effect of the March 7 storm on the fishing in the Nags Head area. Reports from anglers who have been going to Colington or Kitty Hawk Bay for bass fishing and reports from Wildlife Commission biologists show that it is doubtful if any appreciable damage was done. Guides in the area where the salt water from the ocean poured into the sounds indicate that the fishing will be as good as ever. Not being a devout fisherman, your columnist can't give first hand information, but this was the report that I have been able to scout up.

Kennedy and Boats

One day within the past few weeks President Kennedy proposed to Congress a plan to levy an annual use tax on pleasure boats over 14 feet in length. The plan would put a $5 tax on boats 14-16 feet long and $2 a foot for all over 16 feet. According to the Outboard Boating Club of America the tax plan would pay for the acquisition of additional land for federal parks, forests and wildlife refuges.

If this is the case, we feel that the tax is highly unfair. The tax reaches only a small segment of the population to pay for such lands for the benefit of the entire population. Boatmen are already paying more than $100 million annually in boat registration fees, taxes paid on fuel, personal property taxes and similar fees.

On the other hand, if the tax money were to be used for the improvement of boating facilities, public docks and other forms of waterfront and navigational facilities we feel the boatowners would benefit a great deal and that the tax would be worthwhile. However, if the money is for acquiring additional federal lands for parks and wildlife refuges, the boatowners are being unduly taxed for something that will not be for boats.

Boat owners get a refund from most states for taxes on gasoline and fuel because boats can't use the highways and that is what the state fuel taxes are for. Then, why should boatowners pay for land on which boats will not operate?

"I guess so," Musial admitted when asked whether his blistering start may prompt him to try it again in 1963. "I told John (St. Louis manager Johnny Keane) I wanted to play just this one more. But I think he knows if I had a good year I'd probably be back."

And Musial, 41, is off to one of his greatest starts. He lashed out two hits in the Cardinals' 15-5 romp over the New York Mets Wednesday and improved his National League leading batting average to .474.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn gained the 310th victory of his career in a 4-4 decision over San Francisco while Ernie Banks' 300th career home run with two out in the 10th brought the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 decision over Houston. Cincinnati blasted the Los Angeles Dodgers 14-0 and unbeat Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 4-3 for its seventh straight victory.

In the American League, Milt Pappas and Hoyt Wilhelm combined for a three-hitter as Baltimore blanked the New York Yankees 1-0. Detroit whipped Washington 5-1. Chicago's White Sox edged Minnesota 3-2 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Kansas City 3-2. Cleveland and Boston were not scheduled.

Musial's two hits gave him a total of 3,410, only 20 short of Honus Wagner's National League record.

Cleroux Wants Return Match If Price Right

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Canadian heavyweight champion Robert Cleroux wants a return shot at his conquerer Zora Folley. The Arizona says he'll be glad to oblige—if the price is right.

The price wasn't too right for Folley Wednesday night as he adroitly boxed his way to a one-sided and unanimous decision victory over the Montreal Mauler in 10 rounds at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Cleroux collected a $7,500 guarantee, while Folley picked up only 25 per cent of a disappointing net gate of $12,662.07 or $3,165.

Folley, the No. 3 ranked challenger, still yearns for a title shot. But his victory over Cleroux, the No. 4 man, doesn't figure to put him much closer to his goal, since hits off four Met pitchers. Included were a pair of home runs by Kenny Boyer and one each by Julian Javier and Carl Warwick. It was the sixth straight loss for Casey Stengel's Mets.

Banks' homer brought the Cubs their first victory in eight starts this season. The blow, off relief man Dick Farrell, made Banks only the 20th man in the history of the majors to reach the 300 figure. Lefty Dick Ellsworth went the distance for the victory.

San Francisco had a 3-2 lead on doubles by Jim Davenport and Jose Pagan, and Tom Haller's homer before Spahn started Milwaukee's winning rally by walking as the lead-off man in the eighth. Before the inning was over, Eddie Mathews doubled in two runs and Frank Bolling singled in two more, and the Braves were home safe. Homers by Mathews and Hank Aaron produced the first two Milwaukee runs.

Bob Skinner's three-run homer and Earl Francis' relief pitching were the keys to the Pirates seventh straight. Francis blanked the Phillies on three hits after taking over for Wilmer Mizell in the third. Bill Mazeroski also had a homer for the winners. Jack Hamilton was the loser.

Vada Pinson drove in five runs, three on a homer, and Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter in Cincinnati's shutout of Los Angeles. Jerry Lynch also homered for the Reds.

North And South Women's Golf Semifinals Begin

By KEN ALYTA

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Golf's youth movement has been stymied in the 60th North and South Amateur tournament for women which enters the semifinal round today.

The average age of the four survivors is 36 years. Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., is the "baby" of the lot at 23. Her opponent, Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., is 37.

The upper half semifinal paired two veteran Pennsylvanians, Mrs. Charles Wilson of Gladwyn, 41, against Mrs. John Dyson of Sugarloaf, 43. Mrs. Wilson is the former Helen Sigel, 1950 U.S. Curtis Cup team member.

They are not strangers on the golf course. A year ago, Mrs. Dyson, making her first North and South appearance, was eliminated by Mrs. Wilson in the first round, 3 and 2.

Miss Burns, toser to Miss Creed in the Southern Amateur finals five years ago, beat the 103-pound Louisiana schoolteacher 3 and 2 in the quarterfinals of the Palm Beach, Fla., championship two months ago.

Miss Creed, whose father is a golf professional, shot an eagle and two birdies on the last four holes to close out Jean Ashley of Chanute, Kan., 4 and 3, in quarterfinal play Wednesday.

Miss Burns, for a decade the dominant figure in North Carolina golf, never has had much luck here. In eight successive years she only twice got by the second round, losing both times in the quarterfinals. Give of her eight losses were one and two hole margins.

She demolished an old nemesis, Doris Phillips of Belleville, Ill., to gain the semifinals for the first time. Marge won 6 and 5 after racing to a 6 up lead at the turn.

and finished the match one over par. She had lost three 1 up matches to Miss Phillips in two years, including one here in the second round a year ago. A back ailment has kept Marge out of competition for two months and a heavy cold has been an added handicap.

Mrs. Wilson, with her husband following her progress daily, was one over par in her 4 and 3 conquest of Phyllis (Tish) Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla., blonde who was a national finalist last summer.

Mrs. Dyson ran in a 15-foot birdie two putt on the 17th hole and matched the finishing bogey five of Mrs. Alex Welsh of Rockford, Ill., for a 1 up victory.

Pappas Hurls Orioles To 1-0 Victory Over Yanks

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

A month ago Milt Pappas' side was throbbing. Today his right arm was throbbing. But Baltimore Manager Billy Hitchcock was smiling.

Making his first start since he climbed out of the hospital bed last month, Pappas set the New York Yankees down on two hits for six innings and accounted for the game's lone run as the Orioles whipped the world champions 1-0 Wednesday night.

The 23-year-old right-hander, rushed to the hospital March 12 for an appendectomy, allowed only two singles and one walk while providing the Orioles with the run they needed on a 340-foot homer in the fifth inning.

Hoyt Wilhelm, 38, the veteran knuckleball specialist, came on to preserve Pappas' triumph when his arm stiffened. Wilhelm got six straight Yanks, then had to pitch out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the ninth to nail it down.

Don Mossi pitched a five-hitter for Detroit's 5-1 victory over Washington, Chicago's White Sox edged Minnesota 3-2 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Kansas City 3-2 in other American League games. Cleveland and Boston were not scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis clobbered New York's Mets 15-5. Milwaukee whipped San Francisco 6-4, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Houston 3-2 in 10 innings. Cincinnati walloped Los Angeles 14-0 and Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 4-3.

Pappas' home was the sixth of his career, and the first hit off Yankees' starter Bill Stafford, who left for a pinch hitter in the eighth after checking the Orioles on two hits.

The only run off Mossi was an unearned tally that came across in the seventh when Dale Long and Willie Tasby singled and Steve Boros threw wild on Bob Johnson's grounder. The Tigers, however, had already built a 5-0 bulge against Joe McClain as Al Kaline hit a first-inning homer and started a four-run rally in the fourth with a double.

Homers by winning pitcher Ray Herbert and Al Smith gave the White Sox an early lead before the Twins tied it. Floyd Robinson won it for the Chicagoans' with a run-producing single off Don Lee in the sixth.

Bo Belinsky, making his first major league appearance, got the victory over the A's with Art Fowler's three-inning relief help. Belinsky also drove in the tie-breaking run in a three-run fourth inning with a single after Billy Moran's bases-loaded single had tied it for the Angels. Norm Bass was the loser.

'The Man' May Change Mind About Retiring

By JOE REICHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Because he can't get base hits out of his system, Stan 'The Man' Musial has changed his mind about retiring at the end of this season.

There's nothing official about it yet but the way Stan feels about it right now, he "probably" will continue to play at least through the 1963 season.

"That is," he says, "unless my batting eye suddenly grows dim. An unlikely happening, indeed."

The St. Louis Cardinal's great slugger is enjoying his best spring since he won his last batting title in 1957 when he hit .351. His average through five games is a stratospheric .474. He got two more hits in Wednesday's 15-5 rout of the New York Mets, giving him 9-for-19, just 20 hits shy of Honus Wagner's lifetime total of 3,430. A National League record.

Oddly enough, part of the reason for Musial's great start is because he was sure this would be his last season.

"John (St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane) and I talked it over at the start of spring training," Musial explained today, "and we decided I was going to work harder to get into playing shape than I had been doing in recent years. In the past, I took things rather easy in spring training, hoping to conserve my energy for the regular season. As a result, I usually didn't get into top physical shape until about May or June."

"This spring, I played in more exhibition games than ever before. I came down south weighing the same as I did when I finished the 1961 season and I deliberately worked off five more pounds. As a result, I'm the lightest I've been in 10 years and I'm in the best shape I've been in a long time."

"I feel so good. I see no reason why I can't play next year. I KNOW I'll be 42 but my legs feel strong, my health is good and I have no aches and pains. Also, I'm swinging good. I've detected no slowing up in my timing and I'm pulling the ball as well as ever."

Kinston Tops Wilson 11-7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kinston scored its first victory in the Carolina League Wednesday night and did it the hard way.

Trailing 7-3, Kinston scored 4 fours in the ninth and then slammed over four more in the 10th and a ninth place tie with Palmer and Gary Player a year ago.

The odds-makers quoted Casper and Gene Litter at 6-1. Souchak and Dow Finsterwald at 8-1. Finsterwald has finished in the money every year but his best finish was a tenth place tie in 1958.

Quoted at 12-1 odds today were Jay Hebert, the defending champion, Ken Venturi, and Julius Boros.

Hebert won a 19-hole playoff from Venturi a year ago after finishing 72 holes in a 276 tie. Boros lost a 1959 playoff in which Jack Burke Jr. won his second Classic title. Burke, Jack Nicklaus and Doug Sanders were quoted at 10-1.

Celtics Win Fourth Straight

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics—possibly the greatest team in basketball history—wore their latest world championship crown with a cocky tilt today.

The crown wasn't anything new. The Celtics first won it in 1957. But the victory Wednesday night that earned them their fifth title in six years and their fourth straight National Basketball Association championship was a special one—particularly appreciated because it was won the hard way.

A critical manpower problem brought on by injuries and personal fouls couldn't stop Boston from driving to a 110-107 overtime triumph over the Los Angeles Lakers at Boston Garden. Boston won the best-of-seven final series,

Veteran Carl Braun perhaps summed up the feelings of the Boston players, old and young alike, when he bubbled:

"I've got permission from owner Walter Brown and I'm keeping my Celtics shirt. I may even wear it to bed."

Spirit-like Braun's was what enabled the Celtics to do what no other NBA team ever had managed before—win the title four years running. Boston now has won the championship five times in the last six years.

But if the Celtics were the greatest, the Lakers weren't far behind, as Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus pointed out. The Lakers came within an inch or two of becoming the new world champs on a tremendous last-minute rally in regulation time.

The drive was engineered by Frank Selvy, who dropped in his only two baskets of the night in the final 40 seconds to tie it 100-100. Selvy barely missed a winning basket with three seconds left.

"I thought it was all over when Selvy shot from that corner," said Celtics Coach Red Auerbach. "The guys won it, though, and it was one we had to win."

"We're an aging club and if we hadn't won this one it would have made it rough psychologically for the guys in the future. But now we're still the champions and the rest of the league still has to catch us."

Injuries hampered the play of Bob Cousy, Bill Russell, Frank Ramsey and Tom Heinsohn. Then in the fourth period Tom Sanders, Jim Loscutt and Heinsohn fouled out, Ramsey following in the opening seconds of the five-minute overtime session.

Unsung Sam Jones, however, came up with five points in the overtime period and Russell added four. That gave Jones 27 for the night, 25 of them after the first half.

Rosenthal Says He Is Innocent

By BOB SALMON

BOSTON (AP)—Record holder Johnny Kelley of Groton, Conn., combats a double-barreled threat from Finland today in the 66th running of the Boston A.A. Marathon.

The weatherman forecast ideal conditions for the 26-mile 385-yard hill and dale romp from suburban Hopkinton to Boston's Back Bay. A high temperature of about 50 with partly cloudy skies were forecast.

A total of 232 entries were listed, but the starting field was expected to be about 160 or 170. Kelley, 31, an English teacher, set the course record of 2:20.05 when he beat out Finland's Veikko Karvonen in 1957. He has been runnerup four times including last year when police detective Eino Oksanen of Helsinki, Finland, won for the second time. Oksanen also captured top honors in 1959.

His running mate this year is Paavo Pystynen, a Finnish army sergeant. Pystynen, also 31 as is Oksanen, is running his first Boston Marathon though he is a veteran at the distance in Europe.

A few of the darkhorses to watch include former Canadian national champion Gordon Dickson of Hamilton, Ont.; Marine L. Alex Breckenridge, who was sixth two years ago; Dick Haines of Washington, D.C., the national junior 30-kilometer champ, and promising youngster Ed Duncan, 20, of Rochester, N.Y., who broke Dickson's 20-mile race record in New York recently.

Excluding Canada, there are only three other foreign entries. From Chile comes 1960 Olympian Gonzalo Alcaino, now a graduate student in astrophysics at the University of Indiana. Ludwig Schical is from West Germany; though he has been living in New York for the past year, Australia

ACC Teams To Play Outside

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clemson was host to Florida State, Wake Forest was at Furman, and Virginia was at Virginia Tech today as Atlantic Coast Conference baseball teams faced outside competition.

The Virginia-Virginia Tech was rescheduled today after a rainout Wednesday. No other games were scheduled Wednesday.

Wake Forest, which has a 3-0 record in the ACC and was 7-3 over-all going into today's game, took the conference lead Tuesday by beating Duke 9-5.

Clemson, which split a doubleheader with Virginia Monday, has a 3-1 conference record for third place, trailing South Carolina which has a 2-0 conference record. The Tigers had a 6-4 overall record before today's game.

Virginia, which won its first conference game of the season when it took the nightcap of the doubleheader with Clemson, had a 5-4 over-all record. The Cavaliers faced a tough Virginia Tech team which has beaten two other ACC teams, North Carolina and Wake Forest.

Friday, Maryland is at North Carolina; Virginia at N.C. State; Florida State at Duke and Wake Forest at Clemson.

It Is Now Up To McGuire

COLUMBIA AP—It is now apparently up to Frank McGuire to decide whether to resign as coach of the Philadelphia Warriors and become basketball coach at the University of South Carolina.

Among USC officials expressing "keen interest" in the possibility of hiring McGuire is President Robert L. Sumwalt. Athletic Director Marvin Bass and Sol Blatt Jr., of Barnwell, chairman of the athletic committee of the school's board of trustees.

The committee discussed the coaching vacancy with Sumwalt and Bass here Wednesday.

A USC spokesman noted that McGuire is still under contract to the Warriors, "and there has been no change in his situation during the past few days."

McGuire is reportedly dissatisfied with plans to move the Warriors to the West Coast.

He discussed the USC coaching vacancy with Bass last week.

Bob Stevens, coach at USC for the past three years, resigned recently to take a similar post at the University of Oklahoma.

Busy Weekend For Stockcars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Easter weekend will be a busy one on the stock car circuit with the 7th annual Virginia 500 at the Martinsville, Va., Speedway the top feature.

The race was originally scheduled for April 8, but was delayed because of rain until Easter Sunday. Time trials for the original race will stand.

Richard Petty, who won a 250-mile event last Sunday at North Wilkesboro, N.C., will be after an other victory in Martinsville. His father, Lee, will also compete.

The Hickory, N.C., Speedway will feature a 100-lap NASCAR-sponsored late model sportsman and hobby race Saturday night.

Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem, N.C., will open its 14th stock car racing season Easter Monday with a 250-lap event.

Ned Jarrett of Newton, N.C., will lead a field of 20 cars for the first NASCAR Grand National race of the season at the Greenville-Pickens Speedway in South Carolina tonight.

Saturday night races also include:

- A late model event at the Rockingham, N.C., Speedway; A Grand National race at Rambi Raceway near Myrtle Beach, S. C.; and hobby racing at the Rutherford County, N.C., Fairgrounds.

The Harris, N.C., Speedway will have a Sunday hobby racing program.

Houston Golf Gets Underway

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The $50,000 Houston Golf Classic got under way today without a strong favorite but with $124,200 in the bank.

Bill Casper and Mike Souchak, a couple of long hitters, held a narrow edge in speculation that has varied from day to day since Arnold Palmer withdrew his entry to concentrate on business affairs.

Souchak holds the 72-hole record for the 7,100-yard par 70 Memorial Park course. He won $6,000 in top money with a 273 in 1955 but since then had managed no better than a fifth place tie in 1957. His record 273-1 recorded as 15 under par in that Memorial's sprawling layout carried a par 72 in 1955.

Casper is the new champion of the Greensboro Open. His lowest score in five tries at Memorial however, was a three-over 283 that was good enough for $1,200 and a ninth place tie with Palmer and Gary Player a year ago.

The odds-makers quoted Casper and Gene Litter at 6-1. Souchak and Dow Finsterwald at 8-1. Finsterwald has finished in the money every year but his best finish was a tenth place tie in 1958.

Quoted at 12-1 odds today were Jay Hebert, the defending champion, Ken Venturi, and Julius Boros.

Hebert won a 19-hole playoff from Venturi a year ago after finishing 72 holes in a 276 tie. Boros lost a 1959 playoff in which Jack Burke Jr. won his second Classic title. Burke, Jack Nicklaus and Doug Sanders were quoted at 10-1.

Strip Of Austria On Border Of Iron Curtain Is Becoming Desolate Zone

By HANS BENEDICT
LANGAU, Austria (AP)—Under the watchful eyes of gun-toting Communist soldiers, a small band of Austrian miners dig for coal within reach of the Iron Curtain.

The coal deposit runs straight across the frontier into Czechoslovakia, beneath electric barbed wire and mine-infested no-man's land.

In two years the stretch on Austrian territory will be exhausted.

Then the miners will abandon the pit, adding another to a string of deserted camps, farms and ghost towns in what is gradually becoming a "dead zone" along Austria's 200-mile northern border with the Communist hemisphere.

A depression area since World War II, this wind-swept part of Lower Austria Province never recovered from the damages of 10 years of Russian occupation during which most of its factories were razed and the equipment shipped East.

And, after the Russians had left in 1955, the chill of the Cold War drove thousands away from their homesteads. Staying behind were mostly old farmers who doggedly clung to the land of their forefathers. But their number dwindles steadily.

In one typical district, Haugsdorf, in the northernmost tip of the ragged border line, some villages lost up to 29 per cent of their population.

Local authorities admit they can do nothing to stem the exodus. "Who would want to spend his life in a trap that might close on him if it comes to another war?" one official summed it up.

This general uneasiness is deepened by a "we have no chance" feeling of economic insecurity.

Industrial production in the rural border district is virtually nonexistent because private capital is reluctant to invest money in an area drained of most of its manpower.

The Langau coal mine is kept running by the giant Austrian Steel Works (Vereinigte Oesterreichische Stahlwerke), in Upper Austria Province, west of here, just to help 90 miners retain their livelihood for two more years.

The nearby town of Hardegg, famous for its picturesque 11th Century castle, counts 210 people—a quarter of its former population. Many of its 110 houses stand empty.

Hardegg has no midwife of its own. It doesn't need one because no children have been born here for years. There is no carpenter because there is nothing to build.

The bridge across the Thaya River marking the frontier at Hardegg is half Austrian, half Czech. It hasn't been used for a decade.

From beyond the river comes the rumble of guns during Czech army maneuvers. And low-flying Communist jets sometimes pick the town as a mock-attack target.

AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has staked out a chair for the government—or as he views it, for the people—at the hitherto sacrosanct corporation boardroom and collective bargaining tables across America.

This has been a firm administration policy for some time, but news of it, despite frequent re-statement, doesn't seem to have generally seeped through. It was the root of all the uproar in the recent steel price fracas.

Simply put, the policy is that the national interest requires the government to state clearly and positively how price and wage decisions, put into effect or contemplated, stack up with requirements of maintaining wage-price stability. The President has stated a few rules to follow.

There is no law prohibiting this. There is none precisely authorizing it either, except perhaps the unwritten law of necessity of everyone, as Kennedy says, sticking together in a nation faced with worldwide problems and commitments.

Clearly Kennedy is depending upon the force of public opinion to keep wages and prices in line to foster economic growth and keep this country ahead in world trade in the face of growing foreign sales competition.

"This interrelationship," Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday, "makes the public interest mandatory in these matters, and it is our responsibility to present it to those involved. That is what we tried to do in the steel case."

"We can attempt, it seems to me," he said at another point, "to bring before the (private) parties in the most effective way possible, the public interest that is involved, and must be involved, particularly in these basic industries."

In getting the major steel companies to rescind their price increases Kennedy's most effective way possible included channeling government steel purchases through those firms that maintained the lower price line.

Some members of Congress have questioned whether this was legal. But the administration defended the action, saying a firm which had boosted prices had thus boosted itself out of the lowest price bracket on a negotiated contract.

Early in his administration Kennedy seems to have decided that letting some businesses set prices according to whatever the market would bear, without relation to costs, and some unions tap employers for economically-disruptive wage increases, no longer could be tolerated without public disapproval via the government.

Kennedy established a labor-management advisory committee with elder statesmen from business, labor, government and the public. This committee has been busy on such varied problems as wage-price stability, foreign competition, economic growth, how to deal with automation problems and unemployment, and so on.

This group has been making some slow but steady progress, leading the president and his chief strategist on the home front economic situation. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to schedule a broader White House Conference on National Economic Issues here May 21-23. Kennedy personally is inviting top business, labor and public figures to come to this open meeting to hear him and principal administration figures talk on the whole gamut of economic problems. The whole idea is to sell the Kennedy plan of economic togetherness.

The President says he has no wage-price fixing powers and has never suggested they are desirable. But he said he expects business and labor to cooperate so that their wage and price decisions will continue economic stability.

This injection of the government into wage-price decision-making — for that's what it amounts to on a strongly persuasive advisory basis—has brought protests not only from steel on the business side but also from AFL-CIO President George Meany on the labor side.

Meany said once in February that he didn't like government in a free society telling labor and management what they ought to do. Meany hasn't repeated the criticism lately.

And Kennedy certainly hasn't altered his third man theme of government looking over labor's and management's shoulder.

City Proud Of Elephant Calf

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Belle the elephant and her five-day-old baby are doing fine, and the city of Portland is as proud as any new parent.

The 225-pound male calf was born at the Portland Zoo Saturday. It was the first elephant calf born in the United States in 44 years.

Queen Alice, a Sells-Floto circus elephant, was the last to bear a calf in captivity. She had four, but none of them lived.

Belle's baby hasn't been named by reporters have tagged him "Fuzzy-face." Fuzz covers his body and makes him look as if he has a beard.

Organ Berry, Seattle wild animal dealer who owns Belle, said he was deluged with offers to purchase Belle and her calf, with offers running as high as $50,000.

But he is a friend of Portland Zoo Director Jack Marks and offered to sell mother and baby to the city for $30,000.

A "Jack Marks Elephant Fund" was established and a committee appointed to coordinate solicitations. No word was available to day on how much money had been collected, but radio stations, business and schools were joining the drive.

Berry was confident Belle would be a good mother, and he was rich. She was so protective the attendants had a hard time separating the calf from her long enough to weigh him.

Another problem arose when Belle wouldn't sleep or let her baby lie down. Berry finally figured out that her jungle instinct told her she couldn't protect him alone. In the jungle, another elephant would stand guard while she and her baby slept.

Berry lay down on the hay and snuggled up to Belle's bars Sunday night. Belle, convinced she had a good baby-sitter, lay down to sleep with her calf snuggled between her and Berry.

First Fatality Of Plant Blast

BRANDEBURG, Ky. (AP)—Robert W. Trent, 23, who suffered a head injury, became the first fatality of the gigantic explosion that caused $8 million damages at the Olin Mathieson Chemical plant.

Trent, of Irvington, died Wednesday in a Louisville hospital, 37 hours after the multiple blast. He never regained consciousness.

Three of the 18 other men hospitalized after Tuesday's explosion were released from an Eliza Bethel hospital. The others were reported improving.

Production resumed on a limited basis as cleanup work began.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A white storekeeper was held on a murder charge today after a shooting spree in his store that killed a Negro youth and injured five others.

Police quoted Ollie F. Sally, 59, as saying the teen-agers tried to attack him.

The boys, high school students on Easter vacation, told another story. They said Sally locked them inside his tiny confectionery store, then—without provocation—opened fire at them.

Police said 13 shots rang out before one of the youngsters, wounded in the knee, grappled with the storekeeper, threw him toward the rear of the store, and followed the other boys to safety outside.

Two times after the incident, officers had to disperse angry groups of Negroes—relatives and friends of the boys.

Killed in the fusillade from Sally's pistol was Clarence Simms, 16, shot twice in the head. Wounded, though not critically, were Charles Hayes Petty, 17; Nathaniel Conyers, 14; James Lee Moore, 13; Anthony Lyons Tucker, 16, and Harry James Moseley, 16.

Sally told officers the boys came into his store, demanded soft drinks, banged their hands on the counter. Then, he said, one of them asked for a bag of potatoes.

As he stooped to get the potatoes, the storekeeper said, Simms said, "Let's get him," and tried to grab him.

That, Sally told police, was when he got his pistol and began shooting. He denied he locked the doors.

Sally was convicted 13 years ago of manslaughter in the death of a white man, Everett J. Justice in a store Sally operated on the fringe of a Negro neighborhood in Durham, N.C.

The conviction in 1949 came a year after Sally unsuccessfully ran for mayor of Durham. He served a few months in prison. His store here was opened in 1960.

Kennedys Begin Easter Vacation

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President and Mrs. Kennedy, their two children and the dog, Charlie, settle down today in an ocean front mansion behind a hibiscus hedge for a 10-day Easter vacation.

The only item on the official schedule was for the President to tap a telegraph key Saturday to open the World's Fair at Seattle, Wash., across the continent.

The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, was at the airport to greet his son at midafternoon under partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the mid 70s.

The elder Kennedy, recuperating from a stroke suffered last December, was driven to the airport in a dark blue convertible. The President's mother is in Europe.

today after U.N. soldiers with fixed bayonets deployed against Congo government troops who had prevented his departure from Leopoldville.

"We must pay tribute to the United Nations for all they have done for my protection and for the protection of my colleagues," the Katangan president told a crowd of 5,000 as he landed here in a U.N. chartered plane.

The secessionist president had been in Leopoldville for more than a month for unity talks with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula. He started to return to his capital Wednesday.

Congo authorities ordered fire trucks to block the runway as his U.N. plane was ready to take off and prevented his departure.

Tshombe and 22 other passengers remained in the plane despite the steaming temperature.

Robert Gardiner, U.N. operations chief in the Congo, finally gave the order to U.N. Nigerian troops to clear the runway and permit Tshombe to leave.

"The United Nations had guaranteed Tshombe's safety and his freedom to return to his capital if he would go to Leopoldville to discuss conditions for ending the secession of Katanga.

Eyewitnesses said Nigerian troops with bayonets ran to positions surrounding the runway on Gardiner's order, and jeeps raced up and down. Congolese soldiers finally gave way.

Gardiner said that while waiting to take off, Tshombe still talked of returning to Leopoldville for further negotiations.

To the cheering crowd in Elizabethville's main square, however, Tshombe spoke bitterly of the Adoula government, and praised the United Nations.

"Adoula and I have not had one real meeting yet," Tshombe said, charging that the central government acted in bad faith and had no thought of real negotiations.

But he said he would meet with his Cabinet in an effort to contrive a new approach to negotiations.

In leaving Leopoldville, Tshombe said he was coming to Elizabethville merely for an Easter visit.

In Elizabethville, acting Katanga President Evariste Kimba declared Wednesday night that the central government's action against Tshombe showed "its absolute, disdain for the negotiations."

The United States and the United Nations joined in a stern demand Wednesday night that the central government release Tshombe. U.N. Secretary-General U Thant ordered the U.N. chief in the Congo, Robert Gardiner, to make every effort to aid the Katanga leader.

The United States, which had joined the U.N. in assuring Tshombe's safety in Leopoldville, followed through with a statement declaring that Tshombe "must have full freedom to depart from Leopoldville whenever he wishes."

Officials in Washington believed that Tshombe's detention had been ordered by lower-level Congolese officials acting on their own rather than on orders from Premier Adoula. Adoula left Leopoldville earlier Wednesday for an inspection trip up country.

Diplomatic sources in Leopoldville said central government officials were angered because they had not been informed of Tshombe's departure plans.

A Coombe originally had balked at coming to Leopoldville because the central government arrested him a year ago at Coquilhatville when he tried to walk out on a unity conference. He was held nearly two months.

Surprise Alert Demonstrated Guard Is Ready

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The reservist was 100 miles away when he heard the news and rushed back to Kansas City to take part in a surprise alert of the National Guard's 35th Division Wednesday night.

Within three hours after the practice alert was called, 95 per cent of the 5,400 National Guardsmen in Missouri and 2,700 in Kansas had reported to their units.

"We feel it successfully demonstrates to our people in Kansas and Missouri that we can be ready in 66 cities and towns to help them in the event of any disaster whether caused by man or nature," said the division commander, Maj. Gen. Charles Browne Jr.

He said he believed it was the first alert of a two-state division.

At the Kansas City Country Club, a cook and bartender were summoned while a party of 250 persons was in progress.

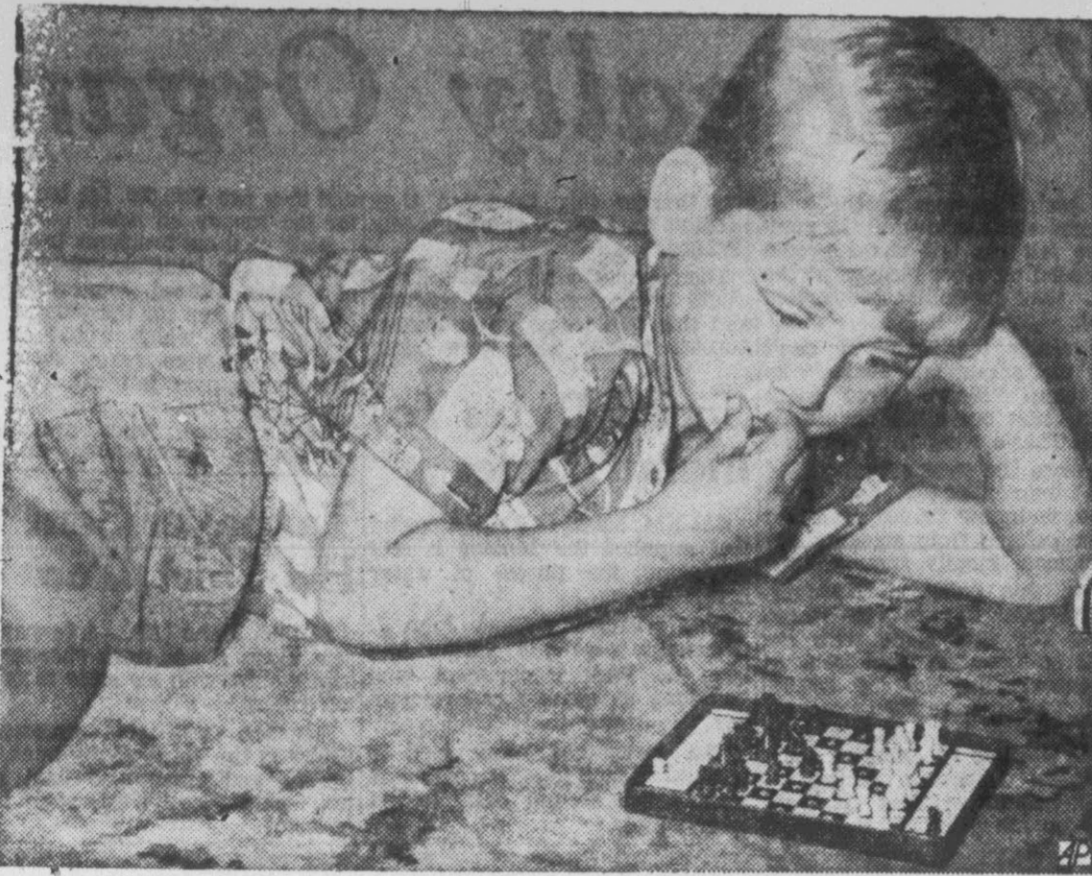

First Lt. Elbert W. Warnick of Warrensburg, Mo., was driving to Kansas City when he was stopped by a highway patrolman and told to call his company commander.

The commander of the second battalion of the 123rd Artillery at Sedalia, Lt. Col. Walt Wilson, was at a smorgasbord dinner when a courier gave him his orders.

It was known the alert would be called, but the date and time were secret. Unit commanders were notified first by courier and an hour later a general alert was broadcast.

It was called "Operation Paul Revere" because it was called 187 years to the day of the storied ride.

The 35th, threatened by the Pentagon with reduction to brigade size, was pleased over the success of the practice mobilization. The alert was planned in December, before the reduction was proposed.

"If the plans announced recently to eliminate this division were to be implemented, this capability would be lost to our fellow citizens in both states, said Gen. Browne.

Once they reported to their units, soldiers were briefed on the alert plan and how they would move if the mobilization were real.

Happier Easter For Serviceman

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—"It'll be a much happier Easter now," said Pfc. Bernis Owen after he was released from the post stockade on orders from President Kennedy.

Owen, 23, from Seadrift, Tex., freed Wednesday, had served three weeks of a six-month, hard-labor sentence by a court-martial which found him guilty of disrespect to his commanding general. He also was fined $50 a month.

In Washington, President Kennedy told a news conference he was remitting the sentence and also releasing another Reservist "in the spirit of Easter week."

The other man was Pfc. Larry D. Chidester of Salt Lake City. Chidester, 24, had been facing court-martial at Ft. Lewis, Wash., for suggesting among other things that perhaps Kennedy figured "the jobs left open by our callup will re-elect him on the basis of low unemployment."

The President ordered Chidester's court-martial canceled. "I'm very happy," Chidester said, "and it's something I deeply respect the President for, now more than ever. Regrets? My only regret is the trouble it caused for the military. I did not intend to do that."

Chidester criticized Kennedy in a letter to Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, and encouraged 74 other men in his outfit—the 15th Ordnance Co., a Utah National Guard unit — to sign the letter.

In Owen's case, he was accused of having said the general's order halting "we-want-out" demonstrations was "a hilarious climax to a chain of injustices."

After leaving the stockade, Owen packed his gear and moved out to join his company in the field. He is in Company D, 4th Armored Rifle Battalion, 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard.

Owen's unit is scheduled for release from federal service in August.

Paid Dues With Public Money

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mayor Haydon Burns was within the law in paying country club dues from public funds, says City Attorney William M. Madison.

Madison ruled Wednesday the mayor properly paid $1,217 in dues to nine clubs—including three golf and country clubs—from an expense account for dues and affiliations.

The attorney said under the city charter the mayor is required to be an official host and his membership in certain facilities comes within that role.

The question of Burns paying club dues from public funds was raised recently at a City Council meeting.

BUSINESS WEEK
FOR FEBRUARY 17
REPORTS COMET
THE COMPACT WITH THE HIGHEST RESALE VALUE!

IN DOLLAR SAVINGS, MERCURY COMET IS THE BEST PERFORMER

This is what Business Week stated in the February 17 issue. The magazine reported that Mercury Comet depreciation costs, over a 2-year period, ran not only lower than any other compact, but also $165 lower than the best performer of standard-size cars. That's real proof that Comet saves you more — mile after mile, month after month. And Mercury Comet is still priced with or below the compacts of other makers! See it today at...

Placement Tests For Peace Corps Set Saturday

Peace Corps Placement Tests will be given Saturday in Civil Service Commission testing centers throughout the country. All tests will begin at 8:30 a.m. This new round of tests has special significance: Applicants are now being invited to train for 30 new Peace Corps projects in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Training will begin this summer on college campuses throughout the United States. Many who take the tests will be applicants who have sent in a Peace Corps questionnaire available at Post Offices since the last round of testing.

But interested persons who have not yet filled out a questionnaire will also be permitted to take the tests. They will be accommodated on a "space available" basis at the testing centers. Peace Corps opportunities abroad cover many fields—teaching, nursing, engineering, plumbing, carpentry, agriculture, medicine, home economics, architecture, city planning, geology, physical education.

Applicants must be American citizens and at least 18 years of age. (There is no upper age limit; persons 60 and older are performing key Peace Corps jobs overseas). Married couples without dependent children may apply, providing both qualify.

At the testing centers, each person will be given his choice between two types of Placement Tests. One is for men and women who would like to be considered for positions as teachers. For this a bachelor's degree is required, but you do not need to be an accredited teacher.

The other test is for everyone else who wants to serve in the Peace Corps. While some projects call for technical skills, many others require men and women without such formal or specialized training. Among these are liberal arts graduates for community development projects and people with general farming backgrounds for agricultural projects.

Testing centers in North Carolina are at the post offices in Goldsboro, Greensboro, Raleigh and Wilmington.

EAGLES RETURN
FULFORD, B. C. (AP)—Bird watchers report the bald eagle population appears to be growing around this Salt Spring Island community. They are feeding on a plentiful fish population and leaving available ducks alone.

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor
Written for The Associated Press
The Untouchables they were tagged, this group of men who prowled Greenville's streets in a big black auto for a week or two occasions. They played the part well. The vehicle, carrying six men, moved slowly down the city's business streets. It would duck into a parking space. The men would pile out and disappear into a store. In a few minutes they would reappear step back into the car and move on. The scene was repeated at another business and another. A protection racket? Hardly. There were no violin cases, no broken up store displays, no burning gasoline bombs. And yet, in one week they collected more funds—with no foreseeable direct returns to the donors—for one specific project than had ever been accomplished here before. The Untouchables was what the curb stone observers dubbed them but they were known more formally to the business and professional men they called on as The Committee.

Their job? To raise between $100,000 and $150,000 in voluntary contributions to construct a new outdoor stadium for the fast growing East Carolina College. The results? In one week, they had pledged totaling between $200,000 and $215,000. It was last fall that Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, ECC president, approached W. M. Scales Jr., Greenville insurance man who has a fantastic record for raising money when worthwhile causes are involved. He asked Scales to become chairman of the drive to finance a James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. The 16,000-seat concrete structure was to replace ECC's 6,000 capacity steel-bleacher stadium. It was a part of the college's efforts to move up in athletics by seeking Southern Conference membership. Scales agreed to take the job if he could obtain the men he wanted for the committee. The chairman, "Booger" Scales is a highly successful insurance man. There was also Reynolds May, president of a lumber firm and once a star Duke baseball player; R. Wallace Howard, senior vice president of a bank; Howard Hodges Jr., president of a Greenville firm, who once played football at UNC; J. Con Lanier Sr., a lawyer; James T. Little, president of a sales company; Dr. E. B. Aycock, a physician; David J. Whichard, editor of The Daily Reflector, and Dr. Jenkins. Little, a close friend of the late tobaccoist James S. Ficklen, for whom the stadium is to be named, it was decided, could best approach friends of Ficklen outside Greenville. Lanier was given the job of contacting tobacco industry personnel who might be interested in contributing to the memorial. Dr. Aycock was asked to contact members of the medical profession. The remaining six decided to travel as a group. They agreed to take a full week from their occupations to carry on the work. They carefully sized up each prospect and the committee member who felt he could best handle the presentation did so. The response was enthusiastic beyond expectations. There were even such situations as the businessman who asked what the committee felt his fair share should be. Based on other pledges at the time, the committee suggested $2,000. He shook his head. "I don't think that's our fair share," he told them. "We've talked about it and think our share should be $3,000. That's what he pledged. So when the week's work ended more than $200,000 had been raised, including $25,000 promised by the college from students, organizations, faculty and alumni. From this point on, however, the stadium was to face three crises. The first came with the defeat of the state bond issue in November. This was lost $50,000 which was to have been used for moving seats and facilities from the old stadium site, making room for a new classroom building. The committee went to work again raising additional money. It was harder this time but they brought the total to approximately $272,000. Then came news that piling would be needed for the stadium and this would cost an additional $30,000. Finally bids were taken and they ran $389,505, far too high for the money on hand. None of these problems brought despair. The stadium plans are now being altered, separate bids are to be taken for the piling and a time limit which would have had the stadium ready for the first game next fall will be relaxed. What's more, funds are still coming in. A wrestling match sponsored by the committee netted $1,300 and a benefit performance of "Guys and Dolls," the annual student musical, brought in $1,100. The James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium is nearing reality.

Parole Offer Is Not Taken Up
FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP)—Donociano Comancho, 74-year-old life-terminer, is permitted to live in a little house of his own outside the walls of the Arizona State Prison. Comancho, who already has served 31 years for the depression-days murder of a bootlegging partner, was offered a parole, but he turned it down. "I have my garden in," he explained. "I must stay here and take care of it."

Taxpayer Sent His Shirt, Too
BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A taxpayer sent along a well-worn checkered sports shirt with his state income tax return. Attached was this message: "Here is the shirt off my back." "The gentleman also paid his tax," said Floyd West, state tax collector.

Spring Dates To Indian Times
SALEM, Mass. (AP)—A spring that supplied the Indians is still producing the purest of water here. Public Property Supt. John J. O'Rourke says the spring has been on Park Department land "as long as anyone can remember." The spring has been piped to facilitate filling jugs. People come from miles around daily to get their supply.

U.S. Gives Allies Special Defense Course

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 160 military officers from almost every Latin-American country are graduates of a U.S.-operated school in Panama which teaches the techniques of counter-insurgency.

Another class of 33 officers began studies in classrooms and jungles of the Panama area April 9 and still more will come in subsequent classes.

Although the course of study—provided for military personnel of nations which request it—puts the accent on guerrilla and anti-guerrilla action, it also includes such related items as intelligence and counterintelligence, psychological operations and civil affairs.

The Army says none of the training is designed specifically for any one country and emphasizes that the program is not aimed at training forces to invade Communist Cuba.

Classes in the unconventional warfare school in Panama are small and select. A maximum of 40 are in each class.

Average '61 Life Span Tops 3 Score And Ten

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Mortality among industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reached a record low last year, according to statisticians of the company.

The average length of life (expectation of life at birth) reached the peak level of 70.8 years in 1961, an increase of 0.3 years over the figure for the year before.

The average length of life increased only 2.4 years in the past decade, compared with a gain of 5.0 years between 1941 and 1951, and of 5.5 years from 1931 to 1941, the statisticians said.

The study also showed that the combined death rate from the principal communicable diseases of childhood (measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria) continued at the extremely low level of 0.1 per 100,000 in 1961, and deaths from the complications of pregnancy and childbirth also remained at an all-time low of 0.6 per 100,000 established in 1960.

Briton Marvels At TV Comedy Offered In U.S.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Brad Ashton, who writes a 45-minute Saturday night comedy show on the British commercial network, returned to London this week after a busman's holiday in New York.

In two weeks, he crammed a lot of television-viewing into his schedule—and was positively overwhelmed by what he saw.

shows for about two years. Now there's talk that CBS will try to fight NBC's winning news combination of Huntley-Brinkley, by teaming up Walter Cronkite with David Schoenbrun, the network's Washington head news man.

Better they should team Walter up with Dave Garroway, who is reported to be talking to the network about some work. He's definitely lined up to preside over the telecast of the Miss Universe beauty contest in early summer.

Study Freezing Citrus Stockpile

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—A proposal to stockpile frozen citrus concentrate to hold up prices during bumper years and hold down prices during periods when the crop is small is being studied by Florida Citrus Mutual.

"We aren't allowed to joke about commercials, either, and you people do that all the time."

Perhaps even more impressive to Ashton was the speed and tempo of American television humor.

"In England, we aim for about five laughs a minute from our audiences," he said, "and at least a quarter of them come from ples in the face, trousers falling down, and roofs falling in."

"American comedians aim for character and warmth—not necessarily comedy. They get away with subtle comedy we could never use. Our audiences would never understand it. I asked one of your comedy writers if he tried to tailor his material for the hick town audiences, and he said that you don't have any hick towns anymore."

Four-Day Career In TV Ends For New Actor

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The unlikely television career of Jim Davidson is ended.

Jim, 24, of Racine, Wis., was near the end of his studies for a degree in English at the University of Washington when he decided, impulsively, to come to Hollywood to get an acting job.

That was last month. Exactly four days after he arrived he got a steady job as the male half of a young married couple added to the cast of "Window on Main Street," a CBS series starring Robert Young.

Four days after he started working, the cast was notified the program was being dropped. Enough segments were made to last until the end of May, but after summer re-runs the program will be through.

It doesn't matter much to Davidson, anyway. His draft notice caught up with him and Wednesday he left for a new career—with the Army—at Fort Ord, Calif.

Find Fossil Of Ancient Whale

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Geologists have identified a series of fossilized bones found on the Pearl River reservoir construction site today as the back vertebrae of a 40-million-year-old basilosaurus or whale.

"The find is not uncommon," said William H. Moore, a member of the Mississippi Geological Survey team. "But, the condition is peculiar with its vertebrae almost completely intact."

Moore described the ancient whale as nearly identical to the present-day giant ocean mammal, except for its sharp teeth.

Exhibits Work In Graphic Arts

Woodcuts and other work in the graphic arts by Karen McLawhorn of Vanceboro, East Carolina College senior, are now being exhibited in the Kate Lewis Gallery, Rawl building, at the college. The student art show will extend through April 26 and is open to the public.

The current exhibition features woodcuts by Miss McLawhorn. The show includes also one example each of the serigraph, lithograph, pencil drawing, wash drawing, wood engraving, and etching.

Miss McLawhorn was recently named by the college Department of Art as 1962 recipient of the annual award presented to an outstanding senior art major. She is a candidate for the B. S. degree at East Carolina and plans to study for the master's degree after her graduation.

As an art student, she has served as president and treasurer of the student Art Club and is a member of the college chapter of the national honorary art fraternity Delta Phi Delta.

She has acted also as a member of the Dean's Student Advisory Committee. In addition she belongs to the Women's Recreation Association and the Aquanymphs, women's swimming team.

As a student of art at East Carolina, she has studied with Bruce Carter and Donald Sexauer of the faculty.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McLawhorn of Vanceboro.

Red Carpet Week Set For Products Of N.C.

RALEIGH — North Carolina-made products will get the red carpet treatment in stores, restaurants, and other places of business throughout the State during "Made In North Carolina Week" June 10-16.

Dates for the event were announced today by Director Harrold Bowles, Jr., of the Department of Conservation and Development, which is sponsoring it.

Cooperating will be merchants, food dealers, restaurant operators, manufacturers, civic groups, and others.

Bowles emphasized that the purpose of "Made In North Carolina Week" is to "make the buying public more aware of the availability and the excellence of the large variety of eye-catching and highly useful North Carolina-made products, to encourage greater purchase and use of these products, and to point up the growing importance of industry to State, local and individual economy."

He said North Carolina-made products now include everything a family or individual normally needs "and we want the public to buy more of them."

These products, he stressed, include fresh and processed foods and seafoods, of many varieties, wearing apparel of all kinds, tobacco products, ladies' hosiery "of the eye-catching types," fabrics, furniture, luggage, mattresses, medical preparations, mobile homes, paints, pipes, sleeping bags, stoves, storm windows and doors, mirrors, eye glasses, zippers, perfumes, towels, handkerchiefs, detergents, jewelry, and numerous others that the buying public wants and needs.

Plans for the week's observance call for North Carolina-made products to be prominently displayed in stores, featured on restaurant menus, in display advertisements, and in public gathering places. Civic clubs throughout the State are being requested to assist by serving "100 per cent North Carolina meals" at their meetings during the week.

Batista Visits Sevilla Taverns

SEVILLA, Spain (AP) — Fulgencio Batista, ex-president of Cuba, and friends who are entertaining him during the Holy Week celebrations, visited a few taverns to drink wine Wednesday.

Batista also visited the West Indies Archives to see some papers dealing with the Spanish dominion over Cuba.

He will fly back next week to his exile home in Funchal, Madeira Islands.

Atomic Beacon For Sea's Floor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is planning a navigational beacon, powered by atomic energy, at the bottom of the sea.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday award of a $60,000 contract to the Martin Co. of Baltimore for development of a deep-sea nuclear generator, an energy storage system and a pressure housing for electronic equipment.

The announcement did not say where the beacon will be located. A prime purpose is for oceanographic research. A research vessel making studies can use the beacon to be sure it is returning each time to exactly the same spot.

An 8-inch thick cast iron shell will protect the unit from water pressure, and at the same time act as a radiation shield.

NORTH CAROLINA
BONDS
Sealed bids will be received until 11 o'clock A.M. Eastern Standard Time, May 1, 1962, by the undersigned at its office in the City of Raleigh, North Carolina, for the following bonds of the Town of Grifton, North Carolina, dated June 1, 1962, and maturing annually June 1, as follows, without option of prior payment:
$105,000 WATER BONDS, maturing annually, $3,000 1964 to 1981, $7,000 1982 to 1986, all inclusive, $6,000 1987, $5,000 1988, and $5,000 1989.
$30,000 SANITARY SEWER BONDS, SERIES A (first series of an authorized issue of $130,000 bonds), maturing annually, $4,000 1964 and $2,000 1965 to 1977, inclusive.
Denomination $1,000; principal and semi-annual interest (June and December 1) payable in legal tender at Bankers Trust Company, in New York City; general obligations; unlimited tax; coupon bonds registrable as to principal alone; delivery on or about June 4, 1962, at place of purchaser's choice. There will be no auction.
A separate bid for each issue (not less than par and accrued interest) is required, but no bid for less than all of the bonds offered will be entertained. Bidders are requested to name the interest rate or rates, not exceeding 6% per annum, in multiple of 1/4 of 1%. No bid may name more than six rates for either issue, and each bidder must specify in his bid the amount and the maturities of the bonds of each rate. All of the bonds offered will be awarded to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest interest cost to the Town, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds from their date until their respective maturities.
Each bid must be submitted on a form to be furnished with additional information by the undersigned, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for Bonds" and must be accompanied by a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company for $2,700, payable unconditionally to the order of the State Treasurer of North Carolina, on which no interest will be allowed. Award or rejection of bids will be made on the date above stated for receipt of bids and the checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned immediately. The check of the successful bidder will be held uncashable as security for the performance of his bid, but in the event the successful bidder shall fail to comply with the terms of his bid the check may then be cashed and the proceeds thereof retained as and for full liquidated damages.
The unqualified approving opinion of Mitchell, Pershing, Shetterly & Mitchell, New York City, will be furnished without cost to the purchaser. There will also be furnished the usual closing papers.
The right to reject all bids is reserved.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady. Supplies about adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers for clean, unsorted eggs, delivered nearby grading stations on a grade-yield basis, cases exchanged: Grade A large, whites 35-36½, mostly 35½-36½; medium, whites 26-28; small, whites 19-20.

Gains of a point or so were made by Du Pont, Air Reduction, Phelps Dodge, Merck and Sears, Roebuck.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.95 at 692.96. Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were slightly higher. U.S. government bonds declined.

CLOSED ON FRIDAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York and American stock exchanges will be closed Good Friday. The Chicago Board of Trade also will suspend trading for the day, but the Chicago livestock market will remain open.

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels continued uneasy in a mixed stock market which showed a slightly higher tendency early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 at 254.10 with industrials up 60, rails up 10 and utilities up 40.

Small gains and losses were scattered throughout the list.

The top steelmakers were unchanged to a bit lower but some of the lower-ranking steels picked up. Oils and tobaccos were active and higher. Motors were up a bit. Religious holidays—Good Friday when the market will be closed—and the Jewish Passover which began Wednesday night, tended to quiet the market spirit.

Bethlehem and U.S. Steel showed scant change. Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin dipped fractionally. Youngstown Sheet & Tube advanced a couple of points.

A 1-point gain by Chrysler was the best among autos. Ford and General Motors gained fractions.

Tobacco, which took losses earlier in the week, recovered nicely. Liggett & Myers rising about 2 points while Lorillard and Reynolds advanced a point or so. American Tobacco added a fraction.

Fractional gains were posted for Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texaco and Royal Dutch.

Xerox spurted another 3 points. Texas Instruments moved up more than a point.

Griffon Rescue Squad To Seek Entry In Ass'n

GRIFTON—The Griffon Rescue Squad plans to propose that the Griffon Community Fire Association include the rescue unit as a part of their association at an annual meeting to be held at the Town Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Leigh Vanneman, captain of the newly formed rescue squad, said its members last night voted to make the request. Vanneman pointed out that the by-laws of the community fire association allow such action, if the members approve it.

There are 280 members in the community fire association, which sponsors the community fire truck.

The rescue squad has been given a nine-year-old ambulance by a Kinston funeral home. It will be housed in the old pool hall on Queen Street.

Vanneman said the need continues for equipment for the rescue squad. The squad hopes to obtain needed equipment through voluntary contributions, rather than through solicitation. Members of the squad are anxious to equip their ambulance so that service may be provided in case of need. "Every delay is hurting someone who might need our help," Vanneman stated.

The Griffon community is located in an eight-mile radius that doesn't come into contact with any other rescue group.

Report On Lions Aid To Blind

The Greenville Lions Club, arranged for payment of glasses for seven persons and approved payment of glasses for five others during March. It was reported at the club's meeting recently.

In addition, the club was told that garden seeds were given to 14 blind persons and their families.

The report of the caseworker for the blind of Pitt County Welfare Department, which is given each month to the club, stated that during March 51 persons were given eye examinations, glasses were recommended for 31, surgery for 3, treatment for 12, artificial eyes for 2, and for 3 there was no recommendation for improvement of vision. Four persons were removed from the classification of blindness. Two eye operations were performed.

One hundred and forty-five persons received aid to the blind during the month, in other work.

Program Given By Mrs. Johnson

Mrs. Mavis Johnson, assistant home economics agent, and W. R. Sanderson, assistant farm agent, presented the programs at the Stokes Senior 4-H Club meeting held last week.

Mrs. Johnson discussed sewing, while Sanderson showed a film on tobacco.

Diane Whitehurst, president, presided at the meeting. Also participating were Sherry Langley, who read the devotion; Brenda Hart, pledges; Elaine Buck and Shirley Meeks, song leaders, accompanied by Jewell Perkins.

Marilyn Hardison, secretary, read the minutes.

Mrs. Johnson reminded the club of the 4-H Camp and the tent show.

Last Rites Held For Richard L. Manning

Funeral services for Mr. Richard Lee Manning, 48, were held at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. Luther Burns, pastor of Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church. Burial was in Holywood Cemetery in Farmville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mildred Williams Manning of Wilmington; a son, Richard Lee Manning, Jr. of Wallace; a daughter, Elvira Sue Manning of Wilmington; a granddaughter; four brothers: Perry Manning of Wilmington, Paul G. Manning of Edgewater, Conn., Gurney Manning of the U. S. Air Force, now stationed at Ft. Bragg, and Wesley Manning of Atlanta, Ga.; and five sisters: Mrs. Leo Sullivan and Mrs. Robert L. Holloman of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Charles Hester of Durham, Mrs. Edward Wohlford of Goldsboro, and Mrs. Charles Hagan Jr. of Greenville.

Funeral Friday For Miss Rachel Moore

Miss Rachel Elizabeth Moore, 49, of 112 E. 10th St., died at Duke Hospital in Durham Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. She had been critically ill for a week.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Memorial Baptist Church Friday afternoon at three o'clock by her pastor, the Rev. Percy Upchurch. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Miss Moore, daughter of the late Charles E. and Nan Hemby Moore, spent all her life in Greenville and attended East Carolina College. For about 20 years she had been employed in the State Highway Patrol office in Greenville. She was a member of the Memorial Baptist Church, the Torchbearers Sunday School Class and the Pilot Club.

Surviving are a brother, Elbert M. Moore, and a sister, Miss Marietta Hemby Moore, both of the home.

Oddities In News

By ANDREW MEISELS

Associated Press Staff Writer

Things are not always what they seem to be. The woman looked Chinese; the man looked like a music lover.

EAST IS WEST

Many of Marlon G. Buckley's Los Angeles neighbors thought she was Chinese. She isn't.

Mrs. Buckley, 27, who was born in London, testified in her divorce suit that she didn't mind wearing Oriental dresses when she and her British husband lived in Hong Kong for several years. On moving to California, however, she would have preferred to dress like other Westerners.

But, said the pretty young woman, her husband, Bryan, 29, insisted that she "look, dress, speak and act like a Chinese woman."

She said he became violent and beat her when she balked at his demands.

"It was terribly trying to be someone that I was not," Mrs. Buckley said. "Even when we went out I had to wear Chinese dresses."

She got the divorce.

CURSES GROUND AGAIN

Teeth gnashing, once the trademark of the melodrama villain, is an activity now indulged in by 8 out of 10 Americans, says a Minneapolis mouth specialist. And it's grinding down the life of their teeth by as much as 50 per cent.

Dr. Ralph H. Boos told the Southern California State Dental Association: "It's a modern phenomenon, this teeth grinding, due to the great increase in worries and tension being experienced by modern man."

CALLING ALL THIEVES

When Bernie Kolenberg, a photographer for the Albany, N.Y., Times-Union, learned his car had been stolen, he first phoned the Central Communications Center that provides service for the radio-telephone in the auto.

The center's radio operator then began a series of messages to the auto thief. The operator warned that police had set up roadblocks and that they were closing in on the car. It would be best, the operator suggested, for the thief to park the car, leave its contents intact, and lock the doors.

"It was all a bluff, of course, but it worked."

Several hours later Kolenberg found the auto parked on a downtown street. Photo equipment and other items in the car were untouched.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

A young man walked into Saul Grossman's Third Avenue music shop in New York, looked over the saxophones, and picked out a $150 model.

He blew a few notes and beamed.

"That's it," he exclaimed.

Then he took a knife from his pocket, tied Grossman up, took his wallet with $20, and fled.

(P. S. He also took the saxophone.)

Advise Looking Ahead In Planning Baby Diet

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A baby's very first meal should start him on a diet aimed at preventing a heart attack years later, two prominent physicians suggest.

That means changing the type of fats in his milk, and later on in his solid foods, they said.

The idea is to keep him from developing high amounts of cholesterol and other blood fats blamed for clogging arteries and bringing on heart attacks and strokes.

Babies are born with low levels of cholesterol in their blood, said Dr. Laurence W. Kinzell of Oakland, Calif., and Dr. Herbert Pollack of New York City.

"It rises as they grow older if they eat the typical American foods high in so-called saturated fats, including dairy fats, they said."

The American Heart Association has urged a change in diet for adults. It recommends cutting down on the customary intake of saturated fats—the kind which usually are solid at room temperature—and increasing the intake of unsaturated fats supplied by vegetable oils, fish and fowl.

It would be a good idea to start babies right off on the same kind of diet, Kinzell and Pollack said at a symposium on coronary heart disease sponsored by Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital. Later they amplified their views to newsmen.

If a mother nurses her baby, she can supply the right kind of milk by eating foods high in the polyunsaturated fats, the physicians said.

If the baby is drinking formula milk, they said it should be skim milk with butter fat removed, and unsaturated fats added from corn oil, cottonseed or safflower oil.

Both physicians stressed that they were not calling for any reduction in total consumption of milk, "because milk is so valuable in supplying proteins and minerals."

When babies start eating solid foods, the doctors urged that half of the fats in the food be of the polyunsaturated type.

Many studies have implicated saturated fats and cholesterol as playing a role in bringing on the artery disease known as atherosclerosis. Not all physicians are convinced it is highly important.

They'll Remove Signs On Meters

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—They're going to replace those signs on downtown parking meters, and from now on you'll pay to park on holidays.

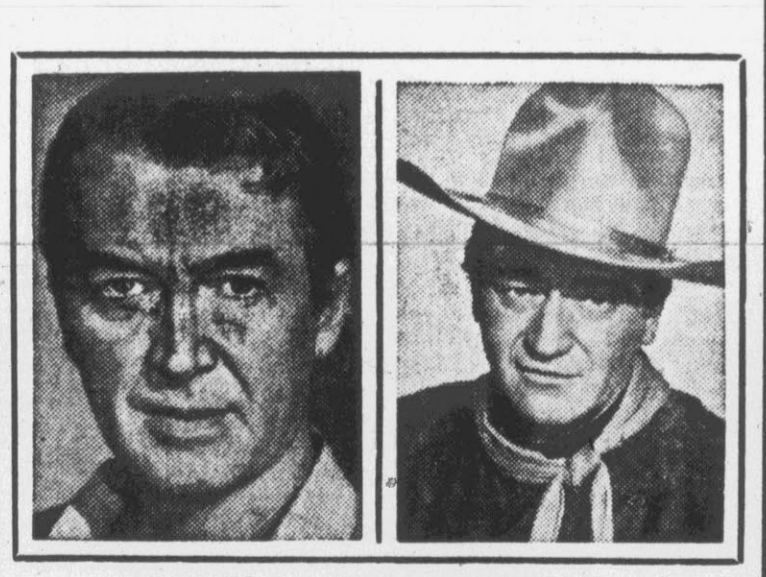

It all started when businessman J. A. Overton was given a ticket for overtime parking beside a meter on Washington's birthday. Overton paid his $1 fine, but protested that the sign on the parking meter read: "Except Sundays and Holidays." Overton told council Washington's birthday is a legal holiday—even if it isn't recognized locally.

Council agreed, and gave Overton his dollar back. But it instructed the maintenance department to remove the signs from the meters and replace them with one which reads "Sunday only."

Masefield is division sales manager of Pfaff and Kendall and Hamilton is vice president of Pfaff and Kendall and Traffic and Street Sign Co., both of Newark, N.J. Schoefeld, now employed with a Westfield, N.J., sign firm, had been general manager of Traffic and Street Sign Co.

The charges grew out of a probe into state highway sign purchases. Also charged with influence peddling are Kidd Brewer, Raleigh businessman; former highway engineer Robert A. Burch and Burch's son, Bobby, a college student.

Seven Divorces Granted In Term

Seven divorces were granted by jury during Tuesday's session of this week's Pitt County Civil Court term.

Presiding Judge Joseph W. Parker of Windsor signed judgments granting divorces to:

Frances Joyner Harper from Harry R. Harper. The plaintiff was taxed with costs.

Mary Joyce Harrell Strum from Robert Gene Strum.

Linwood Chaston Bunch Jr. from Mamie Ruth Harrell Bunch.

Lena Pearl Whaley from Edgar M. Whaley. The defendant was taxed with court costs.

Margie Boyd Bright from Horace Edward Bright.

Sudie Mae Moore, Negro, from J. D. Moore. The plaintiff was taxed with costs.

Harrison Junior Freeman, Negro, from Ida Mae Freeman. Plaintiff was taxed with costs.

All seven divorces were granted on the grounds of two years' separation.

Pacific Island Girds For Tests

HONOLULU (AP)—Christmas Island, the U.S. nuclear test site, is hot, soggy, and a feverishly busy speck of land in the Pacific.

Antennas sticking up all over give the coral atoll the appearance of a pin cushion.

Nuclear tests are scheduled at the 22-square mile British possession this month. The antennas apparently are to pick up or emit signals connected with the tests.

Workers returning from the island say about 1,600 civilians are employed there and at Johnson Island, 700 miles west. Both will be used for high and low-level blasts.

Some workers, complaining of the heat and humidity, quit their jobs in mid-October. The island is just north of the equator, 1,300 miles south of Hawaii.

The 1,600-foot runway at Christmas Island was described as busier than the civil and military runways at Honolulu International Airport.

One worker said the ocean is dotted with submarines. Navy surface ships and transports of every kind.

The intense equatorial heat was said to be affecting many of the 2,000 Americans and 400 British military men who make up Joint Task Force 8, the U.S. nuclear force.

Says U.S. Could Still Halt Plans

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said today the United States might call off its forthcoming nuclear tests—even at this late date—if the Soviet Union will agree to a workable ban on such weapons.

"If not, no negotiations can be fruitful and I cannot ask the President to postpone the tests," Macmillan told the House of Commons.

Macmillan spoke in reply to questions about Britain's view of the latest proposals made by the nonaligned nations at the disarmament talks in Geneva.

In Memoriam

In memory of my husband, Mr. Dewey Sauls, who passed away one years ago, April 19, 1961.

Forgive us, God, for doubting you

In the hour of our deep sorrow, We should have known You would walk with us in every dark tomorrow.

We didn't understand at all Just why he had to go. But you will explain it all to us one day.

Until then, we will never know. But when you love someone so much,

It's hard to have to part. Forgive us, God, You know what's best, Although You broke our hearts.
