Delving Deeper Into Cable TV

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

Councilmen expect to hear from all parties interested in a Cable Antenna Television system franchise here before making a final decision on the issue.

With this in mind, the council last night requested a written report from Greenville Utilities on progress of their studies. The council had earlier told the commission to study the feasibility of Greenville Utilities operating such a system.

Utilities Chairman J. Ed Waldrop told the council last night that a commission committee headed by E. H. Taft has "done quite a bit of exploratory work."

"We feel that CATV is coming to Greenville," he stated. "We also feel that the Utilities Commission is in a very unique position to render the service to the citizens of the area at the lowest possible cost."

Waldrop said the commission could operate the CATV system without major additional expense. He pointed out the commission already has crews trained in similar work; it has the poles for the cable and it now has a billing system.

CATV involves erecting a tower to support a television receiving antenna. Cables are run from the antenna through out the city and individual houses may tap on. Such a system eliminates roof antennas and supporters of the system claim it gives a superior television picture, especially for color reception.

Enough channels can be offered so that other services such as weather reports, stock market reports or background music can be provided.

Waldrop reported that estimated cost of installing the system would be $250,000 to $300,000. The service would be provided to homes for about $4.50 per month.

"I am not necessarily trying to sell anybody on the idea of CATV," he said, "because I think it is coming to Greenville."

He also told the council he felt the city government would derive more revenue from the operation by awarding the franchise to Greenville Utilities rather than a private concern.

Utilities Director Leonard Bloxam told the council that the cost for installing the system would probably be paid through issuing revenue bonds. These would be paid off from the monthly collections.

He told Mayor Eugene West that a written report on the CATV prospects can be prepared within a few days.

WNCT Manager Hank Tribble appeared to again register the station's objections to franchising a CATV system here. He asked to speak when other groups are heard on the issue.

Shipyard Lands Maine Contract

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — The Maine Port Authority has awarded a $290,000 contract for a ferry to the New Bern Shipyard, Inc., of New Bern, N.C.

The 130-foot steel vessel, named for current Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis, will serve in the state's fleet linking the mainland with islands in Penobscot Bay. It will have a capacity of 17 vehicles and 75 passengers.

ALLENTOWN, S. C. (AP) — The mother of author Erskine Caldwell, Mrs. Preston Bell Caldwell, died in the Allentown County hospital Thursday. She was 95.

Air Offensive Taken Nearer To Red China

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots struck within nine miles of Red China's border Thursday and blasted bridges close to Hanoi and Haiphong, then carried the first big air offensive of the new year into the third day today.

The break in the monsoon weather over the northern part of North Vietnam continued today for the third day, and officers at U.S. headquarters cautiously predicted a brief extension at least of the good flying weather. U.S. officials had hopes of another all-out offensive similar to the week of deep penetration raids in December, when the seasonal rains and heavy clouds lifted temporarily.

Ground fighting in the south paralleled the intensity of the air war, with today's war communique reporting fierce battles in the sensitive northern provinces and along the Cambodian border area northwest of Saigon.

U.S. plane losses over North Vietnam rose with the return of the raiders into the nest of missiles and anti-aircraft guns around Hanoi and Haiphong.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of an Air Force

F105 Thunderchief and a Navy F8 Crusader, making three U.S. planes downed since the new air offensive began Wednesday and a total of 777 officially reported lost since the air war started.

Hanoi claimed 13 American planes were shot down since Wednesday, including three today.

The U.S. Command also announced the loss of an F100 Super Sabre to ground fire in South Vietnam, the 220th U.S. combat plane downed in the South.

U.S. Headquarters reported 135 missions against North Vietnam Thursday, as unusually large number for the rainy season.

The raids penetrated within nine miles of the Red Chinese border, where Air Force Thunderchiefs raked anti-aircraft guns on the northeast rail line from Hanoi and then turned to bomb the Lang Son highway and rail bridge which had been repaired during the rainy season.

U.S. pilots reported mushroom explosions blanketed the two Haiphong bridges that Navy planes attacked, and one pilot reported an American rocket burst directly on the main highway and rail bridge on the city's western limits.

Other carrier pilots hit a main bridge three miles north of Hanoi and blasted the bypass ferry landings alongside the bridge. All the Hanoi and Haiphong bridges were cut last fall but were repaired after the rains set in.

TRAINS COLLIDED

SMETHWICK, England (AP) — Two trains collided at Smethwick in the English Midlands today and a fleet of ambulances took 27 injured persons to hospitals.

So, File Early

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Revenue Commissioner Ivy Clayton said today the state's 1.2 million taxpayers probably will receive more than $29 million in refunds from state income this year.

"If taxpayers file early, we can mail their refunds within two weeks," Clayton said, "but if they wait until April, the only promise we make is they will get them by June 30."

The average refund last year was $24.40, Clayton reported.

Joint Action By City And County

New Voter Registration To Be Held This Spring

The city will hold a new voter registration this spring in conjunction with the county's new registration.

Councilmen approved the registration last night. It will be held jointly with the county registration, but with separate registrars. The city registrars will be stationed at each of the city's nine precincts to register those voters who live within the city limits.

The city also adopted the new loose leaf registration system similar to that which will be used by the county in the future.

Although prospective voters will be able to register with the city registrars at the same time as with the county the two sets of voting books will be entirely separate.

Registration on the county books will entitle the individual to vote in county, state and national elections and primaries.

Registration on the city books is for municipal elections only. The next city election will be a year away, in 1969.

It is not expected that municipal voters will cast their ballots at the precincts, although the polling places will have to be designated before the 1969 municipal elections. City Attorney David Reid reported to the council that a committee had met with Bruce Koonce, chairman of the county board of elections, and it was determined that the city registration would not conflict with the county registration.

The council approved a resolution entering into a mutual agreement with the county board of education for a joint registration.

The council also approved a request from Koonce that Gardner Fire Station be used as a polling place for a new precinct, No. 9. This precinct would be carved out of No. 7.

They approved the use of the Meadowbrook recreation center as a polling place for Precinct No. 1, which has been voting at Farmers Warehouse.

The council recommended to Koonce that No. 7 be moved from the Elm St. Park recreation building to the new gym across the street.

Russia Complains Ship Damaged In Air Raid On Port Of Haiphong

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government claimed that a Soviet ship was seriously damaged by an American air raid on Haiphong Thursday, Moscow Radio reported.

The broadcast said the Soviet government protested to the U.S. government.

The broadcast said the Soviet merchant ship Pereslav-Zalesky was damaged by a bomb during an American raid on the North Vietnamese harbor. It said there were no casualties.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin delivered the protest in Washington to Secretary of State Dean Rusk Thursday, the report said.

In Washington, the U.S. State

Department declined immediate comment.

The Soviet note said that "in connection with the situation that is being created, Soviet authorities will be compelled to carry out measures to insure the safety of Soviet ships" going to North Vietnam.

It pointed out that Moscow had protested previous incidents in which it maintained Soviet ships were damaged by U.S. planes.

The note accused the United States of "drawing no appropriate conclusions from these warnings."

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the Pereslav-Zalesky's "marine engines were put out of order, the stern was smashed and there are holes in the ship's hull... as a result of an explosion of an aerial bomb."

It said the attack occurred during the late afternoon. It said the ship had carried a cargo of food to Haiphong.

Tass said Capt. Boris Tsvetkov, the Pereslav-Zalesky's master, radioed this report of the bombing.

The American planes bombed Haiphong for two hours from altitudes of 1,500 to 1,800 feet in clear weather.

Seven bombs landed 10 to 20 yards from the Soviet ship, while an eighth—a delayed action bomb—hit a loaded barge about six feet from the ship's port side and exploded 25 minutes later.

"As a result of the blast, all mechanisms and a pipeline were dislodged in the engine room, water is flooding into the ship though holes in the hull, while the pumps have broken down."

"There are no casualties among the 41-man crew."

Big Buying Followed Small Grader Contract

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Highway Commission wound up purchasing 245 motor graders under an original contract in 1960 for 75.

Ivan Hardesty, assistant chief highway engineer, said Thursday the commission saved "thousands and possibly millions" of dollars by purchasing graders under the 1960 bid instead of seeking new bids.

No new bid was taken on commission graders from September, 1960 until January, 1963.

Records in the Highway Department's Equipment Office show that Galion Iron Works of Galion, Ohio, sold the commission 245 graders at a cost of $2.8 million. The original contract was for 75 at a cost of $859,724.

The extra purchases were possible under an "open end" feature of the contract, which allows the state to buy as many machines at the bid price as a contractor will sell.

The figures released Thursday were from a motor grader file which a Raleigh newspaper (The News and Observer) reported was "mysteriously missing" Tuesday. The file appeared on the desk of a Highway Commission official Wednesday.

N. C. Equipment Co. of Raleigh is the North Carolina representative for Galion.

The Raleigh firm recently submitted the only bid on a contract to supply the state 101 motor graders. Several distributors charged that the contract specifications had been written in such a manner as to exclude other bidders. A public hearing on the issue is scheduled in Raleigh Jan. 19.

Optimistic For Heart Patient

By DAVID J. PAINE

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Heart transplant patient Philip Blaiberg, feeling fine and "probably a little euphoric," can go home in about three weeks if his condition stays satisfactory Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard said today, and resume normal activity "within a few months."

The surgeon, reporting optimistically on the second man he has fitted with a new heart, said once Blaiberg is released he would return to Groote Schuur Hospital for daily examinations.

"We like to discharge heart patients as soon as possible," Barnard said. "The chance of infection outside is less than in the hospital and if he does catch an infection it is not likely to be so resistant to drugs as an infection he might catch in the hospital."

A medical bulletin issued by the hospital today said Blaiberg's body was free of infection and showed no sign of rejecting its transplanted heart. The patient took his first semisolid food since his operation three days ago—some corn flakes and a soft boiled egg.

Slight changes that showed up in the patient's electrocardiograph Thursday suggesting his body might be reacting adversely to the grafted heart were gone today, Barnard told newsmen. The symptoms were like those which developed in Louis Washkansky, the first human to undergo a heart transplant, whose body asserted its natural tendency to expel foreign tissues.

Barnard commented Thursday that "perhaps we treated the last patient too early for rejection," indicating that anti-rejection treatment may have weakened Washkansky's natural defenses against infection and made it impossible for him to combat the pneumonia attack that killed him on Dec. 21, 18 days after receiving a young woman's heart.

Mrs. Wallace Again Will Take Treatments

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace says her doctors have discovered a thumb-size nodule in her pelvic region and it is "possibly malignant."

Gov. Wallace has had two operations for cancer in less than three years.

Her doctors say treatment should take care of the growth. She returns to M. D. Anderson Hospital at Houston, Tex., Monday, to begin another series of radiation treatments.

With her will be her husband, former Gov. George Wallace, a near-certain third party candidate for president.

The treatments will last from three to four weeks. Wallace will remain with her at least part of that time, but aides say they aren't sure yet what his exact plans are.

Mrs. Wallace, 41, flew back to Montgomery Thursday afternoon from two days of tests at the cancer clinic. The latest series of checks was her second in a month.

In a statement released through an aide late Thursday, Mrs. Wallace said she expects the radiotherapy to be conducted on an out-patient basis, as it was following her second operation last July.

"From the beginning," said the governor, "I have asked my doctors to be honest and candid with me, and I will continue to be honest and candid with the people of Alabama."

She has not been back to her Capitol office since her return, and press secretary Ed Ewing said he doubted whether she would be before flying back to Houston.

Her husband returned from a trip to California, where he announced that he had obtained more than enough signatures needed to get his American Independent party on California's ballot.

What effect his wife's illness would have on his presidential campaigning was not revealed.

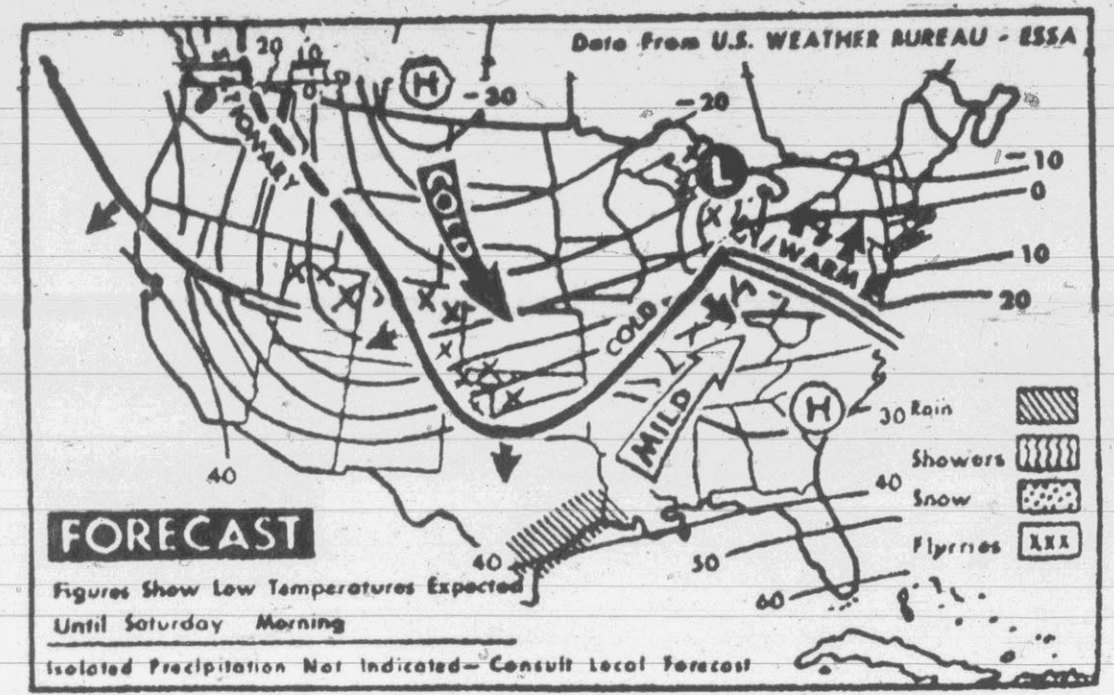

"This," said one Wallace aide, referring to Mrs. Wallace's possible illness, "has taken precedence over everything else. We haven't even discussed anything else."

However, Ewing announced later that Wallace was postponing a speech which was to have been televised tonight in Alabama and Florida.

Mrs. Wallace's history of cancer dates back to 1965, when she underwent a series of radiation treatments in Montgomery intended to kill a tumor of the uterus.

When her doctors decided the treatments weren't sufficient, she underwent a hysterectomy early in 1966, before her successful campaign for governor.

Last July, further surgery was performed at the Houston hospital for removal of another malignant growth, this one requiring removal of eight to ten inches of the colon. She underwent a subsequent series of radiation treatments last fall, intended to kill any remaining mi-

PEOPLE ARE FUNNY

(and we're grateful)

Four years ago when we opened we started with a pretty good image as a community book store. Our college text books gradually took over, along with other college items, and destroyed this image.

When we moved the text books out (to the new University Book Exchange) we thought it would take six months to a year to get our former image back. You funny people fooled us and came back over night. We are so grateful to you unpredictable, funny people! We love you!

Child's Learning Begins At Home

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are both college graduates, and our nine-year-old daughter, who is in the 4th grade, loves to read. Each week she goes to the library and brings home books, which she devours. She also loves to read your column in the newspaper.

Abby, I can explain murders and riots to her, but how can I explain some of the things she reads about in your column? This week she asked me what a "homosexual" was. She also wanted to know how you get a "venereal" disease!

I told her that a homosexual was a person who had a problem getting along with the opposite sex, and a venereal disease was a serious infection.

Must I hide the newspaper from my child? Do you really receive so many letters of this kind as to justify printing them? Or was this just a bad week?

RANDOLPH MASS DAD
DEAR DAD: Yes, I really receive sufficient letters of "this kind" to justify printing them. You are fortunate to have a child who loves to read, and doubly fortunate that she asks you to explain things she does not understand.

Few children reach maturity without hearing a good deal about the subjects you mentioned, and what better place than home is there for them to learn the facts? You can "hide" the newspaper from your child, but you cannot hide from her the somewhat less than lovely truths of life.

DEAR ABBY: A girl I have known all thru high school, and three years of college was recently married. I ran into this girl at the student's lounge, and just automatically said, "I hear you got married. Congratulations!"

She seemed annoyed, and then she said, "Gosh, you congratulate me as if you thought it would never happen." Since this was the farthest thing from my mind, I was shocked.

My mother said that I had committed the ultimate sin—that one congratulates the groom, and to the bride she says, "Best Wishes." That sounds so corny. I would like your opinion.

FOOT IN MOUTH
DEAR FOOT: Your mother is right. However, if that is the most "ultimate sin" you ever commit, you may qualify for sainthood.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a year away from retirement, at which time we plan to buy a trailer and live in Florida. I possess many family heirlooms. Cut glass, hand-painted dishes, etc. They have been in my family for years. My husband wants me to sell them.

I want to keep them in the family by handing them down to my daughters. (I have three.) We certainly can't take them with us, and the money would come in handy, altho we aren't what you would call "hard up."

Could I ask my daughters if they would like to BUY them? They could afford it, but then, would that be right? They didn't cost me anything as I got them from my own mother. I would rather keep them in the family instead of selling them to strangers. I want to be fair. What should I do?

WAITING
DEAR WAITING: Money always "comes in handy"—but since you're not "hard up" and prefer to keep your heirlooms in the family, GIVE them to your daughters.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE FIRST LIEUTENANT:" You weren't the first—obviously. How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ABBY I am a 65-year-old woman, facing eye surgery which could cost me my eyesight, but that is not my problem. My problem is my 41-year-old daughter. She is married and lives in the same town, but I have not been able to contact her or see my grandchildren for five years.

My daughter started growing distant toward me when her husband was promoted and they moved into a fine big home. Then she broke off with me completely. When I call her house her maid says she is not in. I have left my number, but she never calls me back. When I call my son-in-law at his office, his secretary gives me the same story. I have written letters to her, but she never answers. On Mother's day and Christmas I never hear from her.

I am not a drunk or a dope and have done nothing to make her ashamed of me. I go to church and have never interfered in her life. My husband (her father) deserted us when she was a child, so I went to work and gave her a good home and put her thru college.

I have spoken with my minister and hers too and they both tell me their hands are tied and their authority is limited. Please tell me what to do. Life isn't worth living anymore.

LONELY IN GREENVILLE, N. C.

DEAR LONELY: It seems highly unlikely that this is the whole story. But if it is, your daughter is heartless beyond belief. In any case, your only course is to accept the fact that she has chosen to ignore you. Put all thoughts of her out of your mind as best you can. Not an easy pill to swallow, but it's better than consuming yourself with the pain and sorrow that now dominate your life.

A Solution Isn't Going To 'Happen'

North Carolina's Legislative Research Commission will make a major contribution to the state and its people if it can spur implementation of a program that will relieve the shortage of medical doctors in rural areas and small communities of the state.

This problem was the subject of the first public hearing by the Commission held today in Raleigh. Investigation of the shortage of doctors in some areas of North Carolina is one of eight studies assigned the Commission for its consideration and a report to the 1969 legislature.

The shortage of doctors in rural areas and particularly in the Eastern section of the state, was discussed at length during the 1965 General Assembly when authorization was given for a two-year medical school at East Carolina University. At that time the severe shortage of doctors in some areas was vividly pointed out.

There is little doubt that the new study being undertaken by the Legislative Research Commission will show the shortage has become even more acute in the intervening years. There are more small towns in North Carolina without doctors today than there were when the legislature was last discussing the matter. The downward trend in the number of general practitioners throughout the country has continued in these past few years. Many who retire or later decide to enter some other specialty of medicine are not being replaced by younger men.

The Legislative Research Commission, we believe, will find the problem still much in evidence in North Carolina. It is to be hoped that recommendations it might make for coping with this growing problem in North Carolina will encourage the state to move positively and with imagination.

Many North Carolinians continue in their firm belief that development of the two-year medical school at East Carolina offers at least one effective, long-range approach to solving this problem North Carolina faces.

Traffic Safety Breakthrough?

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — This possibility could be the year of a breakthrough in reducing dramatically and significantly the street and highway fatality and accident toll in North Carolina.

At least there is hope at the onset of 1968. There are certain signs which encourage highway safety and traffic law enforcement officials — and the general public — to sustain their efforts and be hopeful about results.

Of course, they realize 1968 will bring disappointment along with tragedy, heart-break, needless loss of life and loved ones and staggering financial burdens because of traffic accidents.

Guess at Reasons
To a large extent, traffic safety experts are only able to guess at reasons either for a decline in the highway death rate or a sudden rash of multiple fatality accidents during such a short period.

It takes time to establish cause and effect as measured against factors which may or may not be involved.

However, there are certain factors which could very well have a bearing on the late 1967 reduction in fatalities. One is stepped-up, intensive enforcement of speeding and drunk-driving laws. There is use of the new speed-detecting device, VASCAR, which almost instantly computes the speed of a moving car on the highways and removes a nifty guesswork on the part of speed-clocking troopers. There has been a renewed and more intensified highway safety educational campaign across the state. Steadily, through better engineering and new construction, highways are becoming safer in many areas of the state. Certain trouble spots remain and it might be noted that several of the year-end and early 1968 fatalities occurred on notoriously dangerous stretches of road.

Hot Spots Identified
A map pinpointing locations of fatal traffic accidents in the state last year readily identifies certain of the "hot spots" and trouble places.

There are "missing link" stretches in Iredell and Davie and in Catawba counties where flows of traffic from Interstate 40 feed onto non-interstate roads. One of the state's earliest 1968 fatalities occurred on such a stretch 10 miles east of Statesville. Another holiday fatality occurred on an unimproved stretch of 1-85 near Lexington.

Catawba County, according to the Hickory Daily Record, has been given the name "bloody Catawba" by ambulance attendants, rescue squads and law enforcement officers. In the Hickory area — parts of six counties in the Catawba Valley — 126 people were killed in 1967 traffic accidents.

Another county, Robeson, was called "bloody Robeson" because of its heavy highway fatality toll several years ago. In 1967, it was bloody again. Robeson counted 56 traffic fatalities during the year.

Outside The Realm Of Reasonable Behavior

Pitt County and state law enforcement agencies should leave no stone unturned in their effort to bring to justice persons responsible for the bomb hoax calls received yesterday by two Grifton schools.

Obviously such calls are made for the sole purpose of disrupting the school program and possibly for the purpose of intimidating youngsters who attend the schools. Such calls are outside the realm of reasonable behavior and certainly cannot be termed pranks in the true sense of the word.

Recognizing the seriousness of such acts, North Carolina has provided severe penalties for persons convicted of making hoax bomb calls to public schools. Pitt County can ill afford to tolerate such interference with its public schools. Tough as the job may be, its law enforcement agencies must make every possible effort to apprehend those responsible for the Grifton school calls.

Congress Links Are Fouled Up

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Johnson prepares for the battles of 1968 one problem he must ponder beside the banks of the Potomac is the short-circuit in his dealings with Congress.

Ironically, too, for legend has it that Lyndon B. Johnson is another Merlin the Magician in knowing which Capitol Hill buttons to push and how hard to push them.

But if he is to live up to his reputation in this critical year—and it is probably impossible—Johnson will have to find his missing wizard's wand.

Last year the President not only failed to bewitch Congress but found his biggest trouble-makers in the ranks of his own party on Capitol Hill. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—all are democrats who promise to haunt Johnson in the paramount concerns of 1968—Vietnam, fiscal policy and politics.

There is no magic formula for dealing with such differences. And the breaks in Johnson's relationships with Fulbright and McCarthy appear beyond repair.

But in the broader range of communications, there were persistent mutterings last year, particularly from (Continued on Page 5)

State U. M. C. A. Older Boys To Gather In City

Accepting the invitation from Greenville, the State Young Men's Christian Association will hold its ninth annual older boys' conference here next month, February 10-12. The following committee has begun work on local arrangements. J. H. Rose, chairman; J. B. Kittrell, secretary; C. B. Rowlett, for entertainment; J. H. Harrington, registration and assignment to homes; J. B. Kittrell, banquet; J. A. Keech, program; C. W. Porter, recreation; J. B. Clark, music; D. J. Whitchard, Jr., publicity...

Along with other things there is talk here of a radio broadcasting station—and why not? A well equipped and properly managed broadcasting station is an asset to any city or town and we believe that one here would mean much to Greenville. Surely Greenville and Pitt county have something really worthwhile to tell the world and through newspapers and over the radio is indeed the way to reach into every heart of the homes of the nation. Coping With DeGaulle

WASHINGTON — My friend Zimmerman is a wise man, and when he speaks I listen. The other day Zimmerman said the United States was approaching the De Gaulle problem from the wrong direction.

"What exactly do you mean by that?" I asked him.

"Well, every time De Gaulle makes a statement or holds a press conference, we immediately react in rage and disbelief."

"As well we might," I said. "But this is exactly what De Gaulle wants everybody to do. He gets his kicks out of getting everybody mad at him. The madder we get, the better he likes it. Don't you understand? De Gaulle is devoting his last years to bugging everyone, and the more we show how upset we are, the happier we make him."

"That I can believe," I said. "But what is the solution, Zimmerman?"

"We must not show that De Gaulle is getting under our skin. We must make believe that everything he advocates makes sense and is in our interests as well as his."

"But how?"

"Let us suppose at his press conference De Gaulle says that Quebec should be free, and no longer a part of Canada. The United States should immediately announce this is not only a brilliant idea, but our military future depends on an autonomous Quebec. As soon as De Gaulle hears our reaction he will drop his Free Quebec campaign and announce that Quebec must never be separated from the Canadian Federation."

"I could see him doing it," I said.

Zimmerman continued. "Now let us take the Common Market problem. We know De Gaulle is against Great Britain becoming a member because he thinks we want the British in."

"The thing we must do is send word to De Gaulle, through a neutral power, that the greatest fear of the United States is that France will permit the British to become part of the European community. We should urge De Gaulle at all costs to use his good offices to keep the British out. We might even send over Vice President Humphrey to plead with him to make it impossible for the British ever to join."

"When De Gaulle hears this he will immediately make the British a partner behind our backs," I said excitedly.

"You catch on fast," Zimmerman said. "At the moment, De Gaulle is making an attack on the dollar, forcing us to use up our gold reserves. Suppose we passed the word to Swiss bankers that the United States is short of dollars and we're pretending we have a gold shortage so France will sell us her dollars."

Yet no amount of pressure from the top could keep the party rank - and - file here from playing Presidential politics if there really were a consensus for one candidate. In fact, however, sentiment is evenly divided between Nixon and Reagan.

Nor do they have the field to themselves. Although Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York remains anathema to party leaders here, he has amazing support from rank-and-file Texas Republicans who read polls and want a winner. One secret poll commissioned by the party in expectations of a Rockefeller tally among Texas Republicans of around 3 percent revealed him running closely behind Nixon and Reagan.

Given this divided opinion, agreement to Tower's favorite son candidacy has widespread support across factional lines. Former State Chairman Thad Hutcheson (incorrectly described by us in a previous column as a Reagan partisan, based on information from the Reagan camp) is actively promoting O'Donnell.

Reagan Chill In Texas

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
DALLAS — The campaign to wrap up 56 Republican National Convention delegates from Texas for Governor Ronald Reagan of California in 1968 much as they were committed for Barry Goldwater in 1964 is running out of steam before it has really started.

Grass roots Reagan activity here is surprisingly anemic. Operations to commit delegates to Reagan have all but collapsed. What Reagan strategists in California looked to in Texas as a solid citadel has not and probably will not materialize.

This constitutes a major victory for Republican State Chairman Peter O'Donnell and his closest allies, who long ago realized that their early unqualified backing of Goldwater was a monumental blunder not to be repeated. Although Texans could wind up for Reagan at Miami Beach next August, O'Donnell intends to keep them tied to Senator John Tower as a favorite son as long as possible and then deliver them, somewhere, en bloc.

Thus, Reagan - for - President activities conducted by oilman Larry Reed have been stomped on quietly but firmly by party leaders. When Reed was discovered trying to line up Reagan delegates, he received a telephone call from Fred Agnich, the shrewd, hard-boiled Dallas county chairman. Agnich put a quick end to Reed's delegate hunt in his county.

But this is no undercover operation for Richard M. Nixon, Senator Tower discovered that several weeks ago when he first accepted, then backed out of becoming Nixon's national campaign chairman. As we reported earlier, pressure from Reagan interests led by Reed and H. J. (Jack) Porter helped back down Tower. But there were other, possibly more significant, reasons.

O'Donnell and Agnich both made it clear to Tower that they could not support Nixon so early, a sentiment shared almost unanimously through upper and middle echelons of the state party structure. "We haven't got any business committing ourselves to Nixon until and unless he wins the primaries handily, and I do mean handily," one state party leader told us.

Yet no amount of pressure from the top could keep the party rank - and - file here from playing Presidential politics if there really were a consensus for one candidate. In fact, however, sentiment is evenly divided between Nixon and Reagan.

Nor do they have the field to themselves. 'Tempo' Agencies Get A Boost

By ELMER ROESSNER
The rise in Social Security taxes and the coming increase in minimum wages are creating a highly favorable situation for temporary employment agencies.

These increases are compelling all employers to re-examine payroll costs.

Few agencies, of course, handle workers at minimum-wage levels, and agencies' own increases in Social Security taxes will have to be added to costs of doing business and passed on to employers in higher fees.

Nevertheless, even at higher costs, the use of temporary employees can help employers shave payroll costs.

HOW TEMPOS SAVE
The big saving, of course, comes in paying for workers only when they are needed. In most companies there are risers and dips in workloads. In many offices there are rises in the load at billing dates and payroll times, and tempos, as they are called, may be cheaper than full-time employees who are idle part of the time. This is true even if the tempos get higher hourly rates than regular employees and cost a fee in addition.

structed on the employers' way of doing things.

A secondary gain in hiring tempos is that a lot of record-keeping, tax deducting and other chores are done by the agency, the cost of which is included in the fee. But this saving can be important; one employer calculates that if it employs a man directly for one day, the cost of record-keeping, withholdings and taxes amount to more than the man's net pay.

A HIDDEN SAVING
Another saving in the use of tempos is frequently overlooked. That is that it cuts state unemployment tax rates. In most states these rates are determined for each company by benefits paid to former employees. The more benefits paid ex-employees, the higher the unemployment tax.

Prentice-Hall's Executive

Tax Report tells of an employer who laid off one employee who drew the maximum benefit for the maximum period. This pushed the employer into the next highest unemployment tax bracket and, on a $1 million annual payroll, the single layoff cost him $2,000 in a year. Thus, where tempos can reduce labor turnover, they can make important savings.

Prentice-Hall recommended: care in hiring regular employees, avoiding those whose record shows they frequently changed jobs; keeping a full record of separations; conducting exit interviews, with the reason for the employee's leaving put in writing and the employee asked to sign it; checking all notices of benefit charges, and protesting and appealing all unjustified awards of benefits.

West's activities during the auction served as a beacon light to South that virtually guided the latter safely home in landing his six spade contract.

Bidding three clubs over his opponent's demand opening of two spades was the height of futility for there was virtually no chance of buying the hand. The overcall can only serve to provide the eventual declarer with information which may prove helpful in planning his campaign.

West opened the eight of diamonds against the final contract of six spades, and the ace was played from dummy. A spade was led to the ten and South continued to draw trump by cashing the ace and king.

A small heart was led next from the closed hand and West was obliged to put up the king to prevent dummy from winning a cheap trick with the jack. The diamond return was ruffed by South, who crossed over to the jack of hearts to trump another diamond. The ace, queen, seven of hearts provided a parking place for two clubs and the remaining diamond from dummy and declarer claimed his slam.

The auction had provided South with several valuable clues. West's three club overcall clearly indicated that the club finesse would fail. East's double of five diamonds marked him with the missing strength in that suit. The only other outstanding card was the king of hearts, and South was inclined to place it with West, inasmuch as the latter appeared unlikely to have entered the bidding on club strength alone.

Observe that, if West remains silent during the auction, declarer is apt to make the normal play in hearts of leading the jack from dummy to take the finesse. If he does so, it becomes necessary subsequently to trump a heart in dummy in order to establish the suit, and North's remaining spade is used up in the process. South must now rely on the club finesse and, when this fails, the contract is doomed.

Seeking Involve Court In Draft Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A University of Washington graduate student is asking the Supreme Court to bar draft boards from speeding the induction of young men who destroy their draft cards to protest the Vietnam war.

The appeal by Russell Milton Wills, 28, is the first attempt to draw the court into the controversy over reclassifying student protesters.

On October 15, 1965, Wills wrote his draft board in Berkeley, Calif., that "I have intentionally destroyed my draft card and will henceforth refuse to carry another."

Reacting quickly, the board declared Wills a "delinquent," stripped him of his student classification and made him I-A. He refused to be inducted, was tried, found guilty and sentenced to five years in prison.

The heart of Wills' appeal to the Supreme Court is the claim that destruction of a draft card is "a peaceful act of symbolic speech" protected by the Constitution against punishment.

In a case to be heard by the high court later this month, David P. O'Brien of Framingham, Mass., is making a similar claim in challenging the 1965 federal law that makes it a crime to burn a draft card.

O'Brien's punishment was prosecution under that law and a six-year sentence. The U.S. Circuit Court in Boston ruled the law unconstitutional and now the Supreme Court will hear the Justice Department's appeal.

Wills claims that his reclassification was punishment. The court is likely to say by the time it hears the O'Brien case whether it will grant a hearing to Wills.

Last October, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, recommended that students who throw away or tear up their draft cards be declared delinquent.

In a follow-up letter Hershey said persons who illegally interfere with the draft or military recruiting could lose their deferments.

This touched off protests—and lawsuits—that the draft was being used unconstitutionally to punish protesters of the Vietnam war.

In early December, Hershey and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said draft registrants involved in "lawful protest activities" need not fear priority call-ups.

And at the end of the year, Joseph A. Califano Jr., special assistant to President Johnson, told a group of concerned college presidents that the Selective Service System "is not an instrument to repress and punish unpopular views."

If the Supreme Court takes on the Wills case, the ruling may turn on whether his protest action was "lawful" and whether reclassification is punishment.

(Continued From Page 4) the House, that liaison between the White House and Capitol had become frayed or even severed.

For Johnson the need for a smooth White House - Capitol operation is more urgent this year.

The late President John F. Kennedy inaugurated the White House-Capitol liaison staff and installed Lawrence F. O'Brien as its Machiavelli.

It can be a tedious craft, keeping the pipelines open between Congress and the executive department.

It involves plotting legislative strategy, dawn-to-dusk parading of Capitol hallways and repeated telephones to size up sentiment or coax it in another direction, knowing the key men on vital issues and what they want.

Under O'Brien the craft became a fine art.

Last year, almost two years after Johnson gave O'Brien the additional job of postmaster general, the muttering started.

There were complaints of bad timing on legislation, faulty efforts to sample sentiment, unanswered telephone calls, lack of aggressiveness and so on.

One key Democrat complains bitterly in private that Johnson's advisers don't always give the President the straight goods and that he is often forced to interrupt Johnson monologues in order to make his point.

The result, he contends, is a lack of understanding between the White House and top Democrats in Congress.

Moreover, what few open Reagan adherents there are in the party structure have nothing approaching the missionary zeal of the 1964 Goldwaterites. Dallas businessman James Collins, who ran an outstanding race against right-wing Democratic Representative Joe Pool in 1966 and is favored in the 1968 rematch, is known to favor Reagan but not nearly enough to challenge O'Donnell's leadership.

The Worry Clinic

A Life Can Depend On A Smile, Or 10 Cents

Arnold's life hung on a 10-cent piece! Alas, thousands of other Americans live or die because of tiny factors that seem insignificant to most of us outsiders. But to the sinking soul even a smile or cheery word, may be the straw that buoys up the soul. Dr. Goff's dime bought a man's life! Discuss this in Sunday School.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE E-553: Arnold B., aged 52, jolted Dr. Goff.

For Dr. Charles Ray Goff was pastor for 19 years at the skyscraper Chicago Temple, in the heart of our Chicago Loop.

He and I had served together on the student YMCA Board at Northwestern University in our college days and took speech class together under Lew Sarratt.

One day at the Temple, a shabbily dressed man timidly asked to see Dr. Goff.

When he was admitted to Dr. Goff's office, the man said:

"I hope you'll pardon my intrusion, but I wonder if you could lend me a dime for streetcar fare to get home?"

Since Dr. Goff, like most clergymen, often was asked for cash handouts, this request for merely 10 cents, was easy to fulfill.

So he smiled and handed the stranger a dime.

The man expressed his thanks with a strange glow in his eyes and a new light on his wan face.

Six months later, Dr. Goff was busy in his office when a man asked to see him.

And when the stranger was admitted, it was Arnold, who had borrowed the 10-cent piece 6 months earlier.

"I'd like to return your dime," he said.

Dr. Goff noted that he now was better dressed and better fed.

"Why, that's all right," Dr. Goff replied. "I didn't expect you to repay me."

Then, as an afterthought, Dr. Goff asked just why the man was so tense at the time he had borrowed the dime in the first place.

So Arnold confessed that he was an artificer in gold, having worked all his life for a Loop jewelry firm.

It sold out and Arnold was left without a job.

But he had an invalid wife and he hesitated to tell her of his misfortune.

So he would pack his meager lunch each morning and ride a streetcar downtown, as he looked for work.

But his special talents didn't fit into the usual type of job. So he found nothing all that week.

His wife and he had a little savings account in the bank, so Arnold withdrew the exact amount of his usual weekly paycheck and gave it to her.

But week followed week until finally Arnold had exhausted his meager savings.

On this particular day, he was broke, not even having the streetcar fare to ride to his home in the suburbs.

Despondent and hungry, threadbare and hopeless, he decided that the only hope for his wife would be his $2,500 life insurance policy.

So he walked over to the bridge across our Chicago River and started to climb the railing, intending to jump into the icy water below.

Just then the chimes in the Temple began to play.

"That's church music," Arnold thought, "so I'll go there and ask the clergyman for a dime for carfare."

"If he gives me the dime, then I'll go home tonight and try once more for a job. But

Dr. Goff's dime gave Arnold new hope and the very next day he landed a job!

But it is awesome to think how narrowly a man's life hung in the balance, isn't it? Little things often determine great destiny!

That's also true of your smile and cheery word of praise!

Now here's a clock that beats them all . . . Big Ben, himself, watching the passing parade. Somehow, old Ben still manages to keep an eye on things while he's telling the time, and the stories he could tell might fill a book.

With today's atomic clocks, which mark the passage of time by atom vibrations, time now can be measured more accurately than ever before. Yes, we've come a long way since the first clock, which was simply the alternating periods of darkness and daylight.

Just as man has always relied on some satisfactory method of telling the time, so has he always been aware of a hunger within his heart for peace and meaning in life.

SCALES FIELD HOUSE — The W. M. Scales Field House at East Carolina University will be dedicated Sunday at 4 p.m. David J. Whichard II, a member of the Board of Trustees, will give the dedicatory address. Scales is being honored for his many services to the university athletic system.

Pirates Look For Second Victory On Road Against Furman's Paladins

East Carolina University's Pirates early claimed a 91-89 victory over the Bucs on their home court. One thing the Bucs will not have hanging over them this time is a long losing streak on the road. Wednesday night, the Bucs battled through four overtimes before downing George Washington, 71-68, for their first victory away from home since January, 1966. It was also the first road win since Tom Quinn took over the coaching chores at the university.

The Pirates just might also have a new man in the lineup, or at least seeing a lot of action. Richard Kier came off the bench early in the first half against George Washington and along with co-captain Vince Colbert turned in a stellar performance and was instrumental in the victory.

But the Bucs will have their work cut out for them, since Furman has been having some troubles of their own.

During the last few games, Furman has developed its own losing streak. Going into last night's game at Clemson, the Paladins were in a four-game slump, losing to Georgia, South Carolina, Mississippi and Clemson. The latter two came in Furman's annual Poinsettia Classics.

The Paladins have four men averaging in double figures.

Furman Snaps Losing String

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Davidson and West Virginia, who share the distinction of being title favorites in Southern Conference basketball, now find themselves sharing another distinction that isn't nearly so grand.

For all their supposed preeminence, the Wildcats and Mountaineers are owners of the longest losing streaks in the nine-team SC. West Virginia has dropped its last three starts, Davidson its last two.

A pair of rival losing streaks went by the boards Thursday night Furman's Paladins, who'd lost four in a row, upset Clemson 70-68 and William and Mary, loser of its last three, trimmed Pitt 79-65.

The only other SC team active Thursday night, The Citadel, also racked up an impressive victory. The Cadets nosed out Loyola of New Orleans 61-59.

Dick Esleek amassed 31 points, including nine of Furman's last 11, while leading the Paladins past Clemson, which only last Saturday had beaten the Paladins 78-53 in the Poinsettia Tournament. The Furman triumph evened its season mark at 6-6.

William and Mary, now 3-7, came from behind with 59 percent shooting accuracy in the last half in its victory over Pitt on the W&M court. Big Bob Sherwood had 25 points and 14 rebounds, Ron Panneton 21 points and Jim Rama 19 for the Indians.

Greg Connor's two free throws with 29 seconds left and another free throw by Al Krobeth with only nine seconds remaining gave The Citadel a 61-57 lead and iced its decision over Loyola. Doug Bridges was high point man for the Cadets with 14 points.

All conference teams are idle tonight, resting up for a big six-game Saturday program.

Rams, Browns Meet In Playoff Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, sidetracked from the Super Bowl, and Cleveland Browns, working to block a repeat of their humiliation at the hands of the Dallas Cowboys, continued workouts today for the National Football League Playoff Bowl—with time out for lunch.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and coaches of both teams were to attend the $5 a plate luncheon that is part of the buildup for Sunday's eighth annual meeting between the runners-up of the Eastern and Western conferences.

"We'd hoped to be here for the Super Bowl," said Rams' Coach George Allen. "It was a tremendous disappointment. But we're making progress. This was only our second year together."

To use Allen's favorite phrase, "everybody is giving 110 per cent" in workouts for the game.

Nobody around here ever heard of two-day practice sessions for the Playoff Bowl. It's a fun game. But two-day is what Allen ordered.

He sent out two extra tackling sleds and when Lamar Lundy or Deacon Jones or somebody else slammed a sled, Allen shouted: "Leroy Kelly." Kelly is a ball-carrying runner for the Browns.

Defensive tackle Roger Brown said of Allen, "We work harder during the regular season than I ever did with the Detroit Lions. But Allen's a great coach to play for. You know what you're going to be doing every minute."

At the Browns' practice session, flanker Gary Collins was drilling on his pass receiving and musing over the 52-14 embarrassment at Dallas when the Cowboys took the Eastern Conference showdown.

"We were so humiliated at Dallas," said Collins. "We've got to stay with the Rams."

Collins has had his least productive season since he became a regular in 1963, pulling in just 32 pass receptions for seven touchdowns. His punting average was 36.5 yards, a comedown from 1965 when he led the NFL with 46.7 yards.

In 1965 Collins also grabbed 50 passes for 10 touchdowns and had 56 for 12 in 1966.

Collins at his Miami Stadium workout Thursday said, "I don't think any of us had a real great year offensively."

The playoff will be nationally televised by CBS with a 2 p.m., EST, kickoff.

Southern Tilts To Be On WITN

WITN-TV, Channel Seven, will telecast ten Southern Conference basketball games starting Saturday afternoon.

The Southern Conference basketball Game of the Week marks the debut of a new series on WITN-TV bringing top college basketball action to the viewers of Eastern Carolina.

The Southern Conference has long been one of the top basketball conferences in the nation. Led by the Mountaineers of West Virginia and the Wildcats of Davidson, the SC has usually been in the finals of the Eastern Regionals of the NCAA Championships. West Virginia was in the NCAA finals in 1959 and has produced many All-Americans including Jerry West, Rod Hundley and Rod Thorn. Davidson vaulted into national prominence in the past five years under the guidance of Coach Lefty Driesell, and has produced such All-Americans as Fred Hetzel and Dick Snyder. The other conference schools, William & Mary, The Citadel, Richmond, George Washington, VMI, East Carolina and Furman have all performed well over the years and have made their mark on the college basketball world. Furman has given college basketball two of its all-time scoring stars in Frank Selvy and Darrell Floyd. And the Southern's newest member, East Carolina, is fast becoming a top contender in both football and basketball.

Games to be telecast include: Jan. 6, 5 p.m., The Citadel at Richmond; Jan. 13, 1:30 p.m., Davidson at West Virginia; Jan. 20, 1:30 p.m., West Virginia at Penn State; Jan. 27, 1:30 p.m., West Virginia at East Carolina; Feb. 3, 1:30 p.m., The Citadel at William & Mary; Feb. 10, 1:30 p.m., VMI at Furman; Feb. 17, 1:30 p.m., Davidson at George Washington; Feb. 24, 1:30 p.m., George Washington at West Virginia; March 2, 1:30 p.m., Virginia Tech at Houston; March 9, to be announced.

Veteran sportscaster Gene Kirby will handle the play-by-play. Kirby is a familiar voice in the Southland and will be remembered for his many years of broadcasting the Baseball Game of the Day with Dizzy Dean.

All telecasts will be live and direct except for the first, which will be delayed until 5 p.m. In addition to the quality coverage of the games, the telecasts will offer special features. These include "University Showcase," a five-minute pre-game film story of the host school; "Halftime Variety Entertainment Show," featuring musical variety shows by student talent; and "Coaches Corner," a post-game analysis of the game by the coaches.

In the opener, Union Carbide pulled away to an early lead, building up a 38-11 margin in the first half. Then in the final period, the winners outscored Carolina Telephone, 20-8 for the win.

Robert Mills, Chuck Czerniowski and Herbert Adams led Union Carbide with 12 each.

In the second game, P & M rolled to a 36-33 lead in the first half, then coasted through the final period, 36-26, for the easy victory.

Fred Mills led P & M with 16, while Doug Parker had 12 and Johnny Sasser had 10. Jack Connel had 22 and Dan Carroway had 12 to lead Collins & Aikman.

Scales Field House To Be Dedicated On Sunday

East Carolina University pays formal tribute Sunday afternoon to one of its most enthusiastic supporters with dedication ceremonies for the Waightstill Morehead Scales Field House.

The program is scheduled at the Scales Field House near the center of ECU's athletic complex at 4 p.m.

University Trustee David J. Whichard II of Greenville, long a close personal friend of Scales, will make the dedicatory address. Scales' son, W. M. Scales III, will unveil a new portrait of his father which will hang in the field house.

The portrait, painted by Marilyn Gordley of the ECU art faculty, is being presented in memory of Radford Garrett Folger by his family.

ECU President Leo W. Jenkins will welcome those attending the ceremonies. Then a trombone quartet from the School of Music will present music. Then, following the portrait unveiling and Whichard's address, the honoree's pastor, Rev. William J. Hadden of Eighth Street Christian Church, will offer the prayer of dedication.

Scales Field House, an 8,000-square-foot building between Ficklen Stadium and Minges Coliseum, provides locker rooms and related facilities for ECU's outdoor sports program.

With Scales leading the way, funds for the field house were raised through contributions of some 150 friends and supporters of the university.

Before that, Scales was chairman of a highly successful fund-raising effort for Ficklen Stadium and co-chairman of the stadium campaign for the Century Club building at the stadium. He served as the first president of the Century Club and is a former Pirates Club president. At 43, he is one of America's outstanding life insurance men, having led his company, Security Life and Trust, as top producer for the past 11 years.

As a civic leader, he is the only person who holds both of Greenville's highest civic affairs honors: the Distinguished Service Award of the Jaycees (1957) and the Book of Golden Deeds Award of the Exchange Club (1961). In 1958 he was honored by the Jaycees as Community Man of the Year for the entire state.

Pirates Sign Jacksonville Boy

Sam Cernugel, a 17-year-old, 6-0, 202 pounder, has signed a football grant-in-aid with East Carolina University.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Cernugel, 102 Country Club Acres in Jacksonville, he has played the last two seasons with New York military Academy in Newberry, New York.

Cernugel, a fullback on offense and tackle on defense, averaged more than 5 yards per carry his senior season. He has won three letters in football, three in track and two in wrestling.

"He is the kind of boy you can play anywhere," said Coach Henry Vansant, who recruited Cernugel.

The youngster's high school coach was Bob Paroli, who formerly was at Jacksonville High. His assistants included Dave Thomas, a former outstanding end at East Carolina.

Cernugel is the second prospect to sign with Pirates in the last week. Grover Truslow, a 6-4, 195 pound tackle from Lumberton, was given a grant last week.

Phantoms To Host Kinston

Rose High School's Phantoms, after their stunning upset victory over West Carteret, try to do it again tonight as they play host to the undefeated Kinston Red Devils.

The Phants crushed the Patriots on their home court Tuesday night, 67-51, controlling the boards and playing an excellent defense. They were also able to avoid being bothered by the press used by West Carteret.

Tonight more of the same is expected. Kinston brings a four-game conference winning streak into the meeting, and should provide more exciting competition. They are the third straight undefeated loop team the Phants meet.

Kinston, a perennial powerhouse, also uses the press to great advantage, and this has been one of the great stumbling blocks of the Phantoms in the past. It has been longer than anyone cares to remember since the Phants last beat the Red Devils, coming closest in the 1963-64 season when Rodney Knowles was a star for the Phants. That year, the Phants went into two overtimes before losing to the eventual state champs.

The Phants got top performances from Ricky Tonn with 20 points, Buddy Turnage with 14 and Mike Harrington with 12 in the game against West Carteret, but equal performances will be needed tonight.

Game time is 8 p.m., with the junior varsity game getting underway at 6:30 p.m.

Duke, Carolina To Collide Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS It will be the "Golden touch" against the "great Scott" when the Duke basketball team plays at North Carolina Saturday afternoon.

Dave Golden had 22 points, nine field goals and four free throws, in leading Duke to an 89-84 victory over Davidson Wednesday night on Duke's home court. All but one of his goals were on long shots.

"It was that outside shooting that did it," said Davidson Coach Lefty Driesell after the game. "We sagged to the inside and tried to make them shoot from the inside."

Over in Chapel Hill it was sophomore Charlie Scott who broke through for six consecutive long jump shots late in the second half as North Carolina won 74-62 the same night against Wake Forest. Scott had 22 points in the game, 16 in the second half.

Third-ranked North Carolina is 8-1 and Duke is 7-1. Each has lost only to fourth-ranked Vanderbilt.

It will be the second Atlantic Coast Conference game for North Carolina and the second for Duke, which beat Virginia 103-61 on Dec. 13.

ACC teams are idle tonight, but all play Saturday.

In addition to Duke at North Carolina, South Carolina is at Clemson and Maryland at North Carolina State in league games. Against Southern Conference teams, Virginia is home to Virginia Tech and Wake Forest to VMI.

Clemson was beaten 70-68 Thursday night by Furman of the Southern Conference. The game was tied twice in the closing minutes after Clemson scrambled back from a 10-point halftime deficit. Butch Zatezalo led the comeback, scoring 19 of his 23 points in the second half. Dick Esleek, high man with 31, scored nine of Furman's last 11 points.

City League Opens Season

Whitehurst and Holt's picked up opening game victories in the City League last night.

Whitehurst downed Hazelton's Cleaners, 48-43, while Holt's took a 62-52 decision over Womack's.

Hazelton's battled to a 24-19 lead in the first period, but the lead didn't stand up as Whitehurst rallied in the second half to outscore Hazelton's, 29-19 and gain the victory.

Charles Whitehurst led his team with 14 points, while M. Waters had 12 to lead Hazelton's.

Holt's hopped off to a 30-24 lead in the first half, then outscored Womack's, 30-28, in the second half to insure their opening victory.

Riddick had 15 points, while Worthington had 14 to lead Holt's. Claybrook had 18 and Jordan 12 for Womack's.

Thomford's Leads Princeton Victory

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Princeton's Chris Thomford is thinking about being a missionary, maybe in a big city, he says. Lou Rossini wishes he'd find some nice, small out-of-the-way place where NYU is never likely to play basketball.

After a fairly erratic first half Thursday night, Thomford came on strong to lead the Tigers to a 78-62 triumph over Rossini's Violets and make Princeton's return to Madison Square Garden after a three-year absence a happy one.

Thomford, a rangy blond, said he is seriously considering a career as a missionary and probably in a large town where he says people and their problems are. But Thursday his 21 points and 10 rebounds made more than enough problems to last NYU for a while.

Elburt Miller topped the Rebels with 32 points and Don Lyons added 28. Ron Koper was high for the Chiefs with 24.

Long Island University, No. 3 in the small-college rankings, won its 11th straight game, disposing of Seton Hall 53-47. Cliff Culuko scored 21 points for the Blackbirds.

Louisville, getting 18 points from West Unseld and 13 from Jerry King, won its second Missouri Valley Conference game, topping Tulsa 65-53 on the road.

Bradley won its third MVC game, beating Wichita State 104-92 behind Joe Allen's 26 points.

Cincinnati opened its Missouri Valley season with a 61-53 triumph over North Texas State. Rick Roberson scored 14 points and pulled in 2' rebounds.

In other games, the Citadel beat Loyola of New Orleans 61-59. St. John's whipped Syracuse 79-58. Rutgers beat Dartmouth 79-52 and Utah State beat American U. 94-78.

Nevada Southern scored eight straight points in the final minute of play after trailing 90-68. Curtis Watson stole the ball from OCU's Ron Koper to tie the game and seconds later Watson came up with another steal and the go-ahead basket.

Oklahoma City overcame a 47-42 halftime deficit and led by as much as eight points—87-46 with eight minutes to play before Nevada Southern launched its comeback.

ARMS, LEGS AND A BALL — San Francisco's Joe Ellis (face between arms, top) and Nate Thurmond (42) surround St. Louis' Paul Silas (29) as they all battle for a rebound during second half of game at Oakland, Calif., Coliseum last night. A tip in score was made on the play by St. Louis' Gene Tormohlen (34) shown between Thurmond's legs. St. Louis retained top spot in the Western Division of the NBA with a 106-98 win. (AP Wirephoto)

Changes Made In U.S. Soccer

NEW YORK (AP) — Owners of the newly-named Professional Soccer League were expected to determine today the number of teams and the cities that will be included in its two-division setup next season.

Executives of the league, an amalgamation of the National Professional Soccer League and the United Soccer Association, disclosed Thursday that:

1. Kansas City has taken over the franchise of the Chicago Spurs of the NPSL.
2. Pittsburgh of the NPSL will not operate next season.
3. Los Angeles of the NPSL is expected to move to San Diego.

It was also revealed that Boston of the USA will leave that city to the Boston Beacons of the NPSL, which will start play in 1968.

Toronto of the USA is bowing out, leaving the Canadian city to the Toronto Falcons. San Francisco of the USA has merged with Vancouver, leaving the Bay area to the Oakland Clippers, NLSL champions.

In addition, the New York entries, the Skyliners of the USA and the Generals of the NPSL, also have merged.

The developments left the merged pro circuit with a maximum of 19 teams for the coming season which is scheduled to start April 1.

Other teams in the circuit are Atlanta, Baltimore, Cleveland, Dallas, Detroit, Houston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Washington.

Gurney Engine To Go In Indy Cars

By BLOYS BRITT
Associated Press Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Dan Gurney is going to make good use of the 305-inch stock block, rocker arm engine that carried him to victory in the Rex Mays championship 300 at Riverside, Calif., last month.

Dan's All American Racers is building 10 of the Gurney-Westlake power plants for a long line of Indianapolis - interested customers. Max Muhlman, All American general manager, says the engines will sell for less than $15,000, which is significantly less than the 4-Cam Ford or turbo Offenhauser prices.

The new Gurney engine, equipped with special heads and twin blowers, developed about 450 horsepower at Riverside. This may not be enough to compete with the more exotic engines at Indianapolis, but observers say the smaller unit may turn out to be more reliable and a race-by-race threat on the seven road courses the United States Auto Club will use for championship events this season.

Muhlman says the first of the new engines will be ready about April 1.

Incidentally, by winning the Rex Mays 300, Gurney became the only driver in modern racing history to secure major victories in the four primary theaters of motor sports — Indianapolis, Grand Prix, sports cars and stock cars.

Dan currently is building three cars for his own use in 1968—an all new Indy Eagle; a new, smaller Formula 1 Eagle, and a Formula A Eagle for Sports Car Club of America's brand new, single-seater stock block division.

James Hylton, the Inman, S.C., independent who used cast-off machinery to finish in second place two years in a row in NASCAR's Grand National point standings, is a prime example of the old adage that says good things come to him who waits.

Hylton, rookie of the year in 1966 when he finished second to David Pearson in the driver championships, has signed a contract with Dodge for 1968. It will be his first season with factory backing.

The 29-year-old crew cut blond plans to drive a 1967 Charger in the Jan. 21 Riverside 500, then switch to a new 1968 at Daytona Beach in February.

Hylton has fully recovered from the effects of a bad crash in the American 500 at Rockingham in October.

South Warned Of Anderson

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The North is loaded with all-star football players, but the South has been warned to beware in particular in Saturday's Senior Bowl game of defensive back Dick Anderson of Colorado.

The Pittsburgh Pipers continue to play a happy tune for their followers, but it sounds like the blues to the rest of the American Basketball Association.

The latest beat in the Pipers' rendition of the ABA Title march was a 107-98 victory over Kentucky—their 15th straight—which kept them 10 percentage points behind Eastern Division leading Minnesota, a 109-97 winner over Houston.

In the other ABA game, Denver trounced New Orleans 122-107. St. Louis upended San Francisco 106-98 in the only National Basketball Association action.

Pittsburgh, which last lost Nov. 28 to New Orleans, featured a trio at Louisville, Ky., with Connie Hawkins scoring 26 points, Charlie Williams 25 and Chico Vaughn 23. Louie Dapier and Randy Mahaffey scored 17 each for Kentucky.

A three-minute span midway in the fourth quarter in which Minnesota outscored Houston 14-2 to build a 21-point lead helped keep the Muskies in first place. Ron Perry and Mel Daniels led Minnesota with 21 points each. Willie Frazier got 20 for Houston.

Denver staged off a last-period New Orleans surge in jolting the Western Division leader, Wayne Hightower's 26 points and 13 rebounds spearheaded the Rockets' home-court triumph.

The Buccaneers outscored Denver 43-38 in the fourth quarter but the rally fell short. New Orleans, now 26-12, was led by Doug Moe's 39 points.

St. Louis maintained its domination over San Francisco, defeating the Warriors for the HONOLULU (AP) — Everyone on the Honolulu sports scene, including the coaches, predicts a storm at the 22nd annual Hula Bowl Saturday—a storm of action and scoring.

South Coach Tommy Prothro said, "You can look for an exciting game. Exciting and close, and very likely high scoring."

"It'll be wide open—can't help but be with all the talent," said Duffy Daugherty, the North coach. "There'll be a lot of points on the board."

One thing that will put the points there is "the rule." The rule says the team that is behind can choose to take the

Appalachian Withdraws From Carolinas Loop

GREENSBORO (AP) — Appalachian State University is withdrawing from the Carolinas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at the end of the 1968-1969 school year.

It's decision followed defeat by conference leaders in Greensboro Thursday of Appalachian's proposals to increase the number of athletic grants-in-aid and remove certain restrictions on athletes.

Dr. W. H. Plemmons, president of Appalachian, located at Boone, N. C., said, "It is our hope that Appalachian, as an independent, will move into competition with institutions of comparable size and ones which have similar athletic programs."

Appalachian was a charter member when the North (Carolina) State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference was formed in 1930. The name was changed to the Carolinas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference when the first South Carolina school was accepted in 1961.

The 11 members are Appalachian, Atlantic Christian College, Catawba College, Elon College, Guilford College, High Point College, Lenoir Rhyne College, Pfeiffer College and Western Carolina University, all in North Carolina, and Newberry College and Presbyterian College in South Carolina.

The conference allows 35 athletic grants, with a limit of 26 in football and nine in basketball. Students on academic scholarship, or those receiving certain other forms of aid, are not allowed to participate in athletics.

Defeated by the association of presidents of the conference were Appalachian motions to increase the number of athletic grants-in-aid, remove restrictions on academic scholarships for athletes, on campus and off-campus jobs for student athletes, and commuting student athletes.

Appalachian's enrollment of 4,940 is the largest in the conference. The school operates a comprehensive athletic program, fielding 10 teams and plans to add others in the near future. In many of these sports there is no competition in the conference.

Dr. Plemmons said "Appalachian will honor all previously signed contracts for games already scheduled, and will cooperate in every way possible so as not to make a hardship on other conference teams concerning their schedules next season."

Appalachian has football contracts for next fall with six conference members and three outsiders. In the other nine sports all contracts will end during the current academic year.

Appalachian's eligibility for conference championships during the 1968-69 school are to be decided at the next meeting of the conference in the spring. The presidents association said it would recommend that Appalachian teams be eligible for all championships during its final year as a league member. Dr. Plemmons said the withdrawal was on a cordial and friendly basis.

Dr. Plemmons said in a statement: "It has been our desire to remain in the Carolinas Conference, but we do not feel that our place is within the conference under the present conditions. . . . We believe that the total program in athletics should be expanded within the general purposes of the university."

"Appalachian's chief purpose and aim is to maintain the type of athletic program which is best suited to Appalachian, and to give every student a chance to participate. . . . The criterion for measuring the success of the university's athletic program should not be solely wins and losses in competition. It is recognized, however, that indications of a well conducted program should be reflected by reasonably satisfying and successful records against competition which operates on comparable standards."

"Appalachian will operate on the belief that programs of financial aid to students, whatever their special capacities should be administered by officials of Appalachian, according to the policies and procedures established by Appalachian."

Four-Month Rise In N.C. Business

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Business activity in North Carolina rose slightly during November to a record high but the rate of climb was slightly below that of the nation as a whole.

It was the fourth successive month of increase after a slight drop was experienced in July.

Employment was up somewhat and so was business and personal spending as indicated by bank debit figures. A slump in new car sales was attributed to the Ford strike.

The Wachovia North Carolina Business Index gained during November by only five-tenths of 1 per cent to 174.8 (1957-59 equals 100) over October, but was a substantial 8.5 per cent higher than November of 1966.

According to the State Department of Labor nonagricultural employment rose by 9,000 during the month to 1,599,000—up by 4.1 per cent from November of 1966. The seasonally adjusted figure was up only 0.9 per cent from October.

Employment in manufacturing rose 1.3 per cent during November after figures were seasonally adjusted. The textile and furniture industries accounted for most of the increase.

The State Department of Revenue reported that total retail sales were up by $29.7 million in November as compared with November of 1966. While food sales were down, furniture, general merchandise, lumber and building materials and miscellaneous categories were up.

The North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association reported that new passenger car sales in November totaled 13,792 as compared with 16,646 in November of 1966. However, Mrs. L. Y. Ballentine, executive secretary, said that sales of most makes of cars except Ford lines were up.

The Federal Reserve Bank reported that bank debits, showing the amount of checks drawn on demand deposits, showed an increase in November in all of North Carolina's major reporting centers as compared to November of 1966. Compared to November 1966, the gain was 13.7 per cent, but the increase over October was a negligible 0.1 per cent.

The value of building permits issued in 18 North Carolina cities was down by 8.9 per cent from October and 4.9 per cent from November of 1966, according to the Federal Reserve Bank.

Worker Award For 2 Students

Two East Carolina University students have been honored with eighth annual "Student-Employee-of-the-Year" awards from the ECU Students Supply Stores.

Engraved plaques and $150 scholarships were presented to Carolyn Ann Tucker of Greenville and Russell E. Nolan of Fredericksburg, Va.

The co-winners were picked by a Students Supply Stores committee. Nominees were drawn from the 60 students who help pay their college bills by working part-time in the student stores.

Joseph O. Clark, manager of the stores, noted in presenting the awards that the annual honor recognizes "students who get along well with fellow workers, who have a favorable attitude toward duties and who make a habit of outstanding performance of assignments." He said Miss Tucker and Nolan have been "outstanding members of our student staff."

Clearer Evidence Of LSD Damage

NEW YORK (AP) — The Medical Society of New York County says recent studies have established a clearer link between use of the hallucinogenic drug LSD and damage to the genetic material of human beings.

The society said 80 to 85 per cent of the LSD users studied "showed both an unusually high incidence of chromosomal breaks and chromosomal rearrangements."

It also noted that similar chromosomal abnormalities were found in some of the offspring of women who had taken the drug during pregnancy.

Chromosomes, the rod-like containers of genes found in all cells, transmit hereditary information that shapes human characteristics from generation to generation.

Acreage-Poundage Plan Said 'Working'

By NOEL YANCEY

Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Five North Carolina farm leaders agree that the acreage-poundage program designed to bring flue-cured tobacco supplies in line with demand is "doing a real good job."

"It's working and working very satisfactorily," says Fred S. Royster, managing director of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association.

The acreage-poundage program for flue-cured leaf was placed in operation in 1965 after production per acre had risen steadily under the old program, which sought to control production by acreage allotments alone.

Under the new program, a flue-cured grower is assigned both an acreage and a poundage quota. The poundage quota for an individual farm is based on the production history of that particular farm during the best three years for the 1959-63 period. A farmer is permitted to exceed his poundage quota by 10 per cent without penalty but his quota for the following year is reduced by 10 per cent.

The program has been in operation for the last three crops, and last July 18 growers of the five states which produce flue-cured tobacco—Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida—overwhelmingly approved it for another three-year period.

Farm leaders have stated that in addition to helping bring flue-cured production in line with consumption, the acreage-poundage program has resulted in growing a more desirable leaf marketwise.

Although the flue-cured marketing season last year was marked by "chaotic conditions" in which falling prices caused growers to rush their leaf to market, the farm leaders were not disposed to blame the acreage-poundage program.

Asked if he feels the acreage-poundage program is working, B. C. Mangum, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, says:

"Yes, it is. In my opinion it's doing a real good job. The acreage-poundage program is not responsible for the tremendous pressure we found at the market place this year."

"I feel the acreage-poundage program is very satisfactory and is working well with flue-cured tobacco," says Mrs. Harry B. Caldwell, master of the North Carolina Grange.

Royster said that since the program has been in operation, the surplus has been reduced substantially.

Royster noted that in 1967, because of unusual growing conditions, we had a high yield and receipts of the stabilization intended to in North Carolina (under the price support program) were much larger than in 1965 or 1966. But James A. Graham, North Carolina commissioner of agriculture greatly exceeds disappearance, a substantial amount of the crop will go under loan. That's the primary purpose of the loan program—to balance the supply with demand over a period of years.

"Definitely, I think it's working," said L. T. Weeks, general manager of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization

Corp. "It's working the way it was intended to in North Carolina despite present conditions," said

James A. Graham, North Carolina commissioner of agriculture, "with any control program when you have a year when produc-

Introducing a used car guarantee without any "you pay half, we pay half" nonsense.

Most used car dealers sell their cars with 50-80 guarantees. You know the deal: if anything goes wrong, you pay half the cost of parts and labor. Well, our guarantee doesn't work that way. When we guarantee a car we guarantee the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1000 miles. No charge for parts, labor. Anything. (We don't give our cars a guarantee until all the things that need fixing get fixed.) It saves us—and you—time and money in the long run.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market mounted a broad-based advance in active trading early this afternoon.

A rebound by some of the high-priced glamor stocks was accompanied by strength in steels and a selection of heavy industrials.

Gains outnumbered losses by a ratio of 8 to 3 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.29 at 902.68.

The news about peace moves in Vietnam seemed to be much more solid this time than on many past occasions, analysts said, and the prospects of peace would be very bullish for the stock market over the long term, even if there were some temporary dislocations, analysts said.

Wall Street also was encouraged by the ability of the market to make a strong comeback late Thursday after weathering a very sharp early decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.2 at 324.2 with industrials up 1.5, rails off 1 and utilities up 1.5. IBM gained 10 points, Xerox 6 and Polaroid 4 as these and other expensive glamor stocks snapped back from what some analysts called temporary reversals.

Some of the steady-going paper stocks also were in demand, a reflection of conservative investment. International Paper rose about 1½ as it paced the list on volume.

The top four steelmakers gained fractions. Steel mills were reported stepping up production to handle surging orders.

Gains of a point or better were made also by Goodyear, Zenith, American Smelting and New York Central.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady. Tops of 17.75-18.25 at Rocky Mount; 17.25-18.25 at Wilson; 17.00-17.75 at Statesville; 16.75-17.75 at Bethel and Tarboro; 18.00 at Greensboro; 17.75 at Selma and Salisbury; 17.25 at Siler City and Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 35-37; medium whites: 31½-33; small, whites: 28-30.

Ports Authority To Open Bids On Bonds Jan. 19

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Ports Authority plans to open bids Jan. 19 on the sale of $11.4 million in revenue bonds to finance construction of a phosphate shipping terminal at Morehead City.

The sale of the bonds was approved Thursday by the authority. Construction of the project began early in 1967 and is scheduled to be completed July 1.

The facility, bordering the Newport River, will serve as the loading point for phosphate rock and fertilizer being mined at the plant of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. in Beaufort County.

The ore, which will be exported worldwide, is transported by rail for loading on ships at the Morehead City port. When the terminal is finished, more than 3,000 tons of phosphate can be loaded on ships each hour. Storage space will be provided for 100,000 tons of the processed mineral.

Funds were borrowed from private banks to finance the costs of building the phosphate shipping terminal. The bond money will be used to repay it.

Joseph Guandolo of New York, the SPA's bond counsel, said, "I don't anticipate you're going to get any bids other than the federal government's bid at these (low) rates."

He explained that the federal government has agreed to purchase the bonds at the rate of 3½ per cent on the first $9.5 million of the total $11.4 million issue. Interest on the remaining $1.9 million will be 4½ per cent.

Act To Acquire More Elementary Teachers

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Education is eliminating a policy regulation under which teachers with high school certificates who teach in elementary schools receive $10 less a month.

The board voted Thursday to liberalize elementary teacher certificate requirements in an effort to encourage more high school teachers to change to the lower grades and thus alleviate a critical teacher shortage in elementary grades.

The action was taken at the request of Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction. Nearly 50 per cent of North Carolina's teachers have high school teaching certificates when they leave college and do not have sufficient credits for an elementary certificate.

The board wiped out the provision which reduces the salaries of elementary teachers with high school certificates by $10 a month.

Effective in July, teachers with high school Class "A" certificates will be allowed to have a Class "A" elementary certificate without salary reduction. However, they must start during the second year of elementary teaching to complete at least six semester hours of college credit each year toward meeting the requirements for an elementary level certificate.

Carroll said this is designed to make it easier for teachers to adjust to North Carolina policy regulations without lowering the qualifications.

On another matter, Carroll told the board the question facing Tar Heel public kindergarten was "whether we shall give them proper guidance and how well the teachers shall be prepared."

Carroll said the General Assembly is going to have to decide whether kindergarten teachers receive adequate training.

"The question of whether or not we shall have public kindergartens in North Carolina has become academic," he added. "Seventeen city units and 17 county units already have them."

The State Board of Education was unsuccessful in its efforts to get the 1967 General Assembly to approve a bill appropriating $800,000 to establish pilot kindergarten projects.

Carroll said individual school units in North Carolina are already establishing kindergartens without state help. He added, however, that without the pilot projects as a training ground many of the teachers are entering kindergartens without adequate preparation.
