All County Schools May Get Power Today

Utilities Need Replace 160 Poles Broken By Ice Storm

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

"Just about everybody has power now that we can possibly get on where broken poles are not involved," Greenville Utilities Commission director Leonard Bloxam said this morning.

Surveys indicated that about 160 poles are broken off and will have to be replaced, Bloxam reported.

He noted that crews will probably be able to reset 100 poles today.

He added that electrical contractors in Greenville are still working with the Commission in an effort to restore services that were pulled from houses by falling tree limbs.

The Greenville Utilities Commission services some 9,000 customers in Greenville and about 5,000 customers in Pitt County. The transmission system outside the Greenville city limits includes 822 miles of electric transmission lines.

"We are trying to get all the county schools on today—this morning if possible—so they can warm up and have school, without fail, tomorrow"

Damage to the GUC transmission system is "getting closer to the $200,000 figure every hour," the director noted.

Bloxam termed the power restoration question "strictly a manpower problem now." The director said "we had trees break off new poles" and it just takes time and manpower to get them replaced.

Bloxam said an estimated 160 men are at work on utility lines now, including two additional contract crews that arrived Sunday and four contract groups that arrived this morning.

He noted that Virginia Electric and Power Company sent three crews in Sunday, but said they were released back to VEPCO at noon today at the company's request.

The director explained the Commission is attempting to secure additional contract crews to help with the work.

This ice storm, Bloxam said, was worse than hurricane Hazel or "any hurricane we have had since." He noted, "Hurricane Hazel was mild compared to this."

"The rain," Bloxam said, "gave us as much relief as anything."

According to the Utilities Commission weather station, 1.22 inches of rain fell after 1 a.m. Saturday to help melt the ice and clear trees and power lines.

Temperatures, too, helped. The commission reported temperatures Friday stood at 30 degrees, but by 8 a.m. had reached the 35 degree mark. Noon-time Saturday saw a 42 degree reading.

Saturday's high temperature was recorded at 53 degrees while the low for that day was reported at 30 degrees. Sunday's temperatures ranged from a high of 52 to a low 30 degrees. Temperatures this morning at 8 a.m. stood at 26 degrees.

The Tar River level this morning at 8 a.m. was recorded at 11.2 feet and rising.

C. K. Beatty, Public Works Department director, said this morning his men are attempting to clear the sidewalks of fallen trees and limbs. The city sanitation department resumed their normal collections this morning. No collections had been made since last Thursday.

The State Highway Commission Department reported that most roads in the county are open. Officials said the department's men have been working since this morning removing trees and limbs off the roads.

"The farmers of Pitt County have had a lot of trouble watering livestock," said Sam Winchester, chairman of the Pitt County agricultural extension service. He noted that swine operators had trouble keeping heat to small pigs and that some pigs were lost due to the lack of heat.

Winchester reported that a dozen or more dairy farmers in Pitt had trouble with electrical milking machines and milk coolers. He added, "The major pressing problem in the livestock operation was the water problem."

All Greenville schools, except the Trainable School—resumed operations today.

Superintendent of Pitt County Schools Arthur Alford reported four county schools were unable to open today because power had not been restored in those areas. The schools closed today included: Falkland Elementary, Belvoir-Falkland High School, Sallie Branch Elementary, and Pac-

Evacuated Families Are Returning To Chadbourn

CHADBOURN, N.C. (AP) — Evacuated families began moving back into their homes at Chadbourn today following the removal of 12 derailed freight cars loaded with live ammunition.

Some 1,500 residents were removed shortly after the Saturday mishap, the cause of which has not been determined. Munitions experts were rushed to the scene from Ft. Bragg, and said there was no immediate danger of an explosion.

The cars were loaded with 750-pound bombs, 3.55mm rockets, 105mm howitzer shells and mortar shells, bound for the Sunny Point, N.C., depot and transshipment to Vietnam.

residents of this strawberry and tobacco marketing town spent the night with friends and in public buildings as a safety measure.

Military experts said there was no danger of explosion.

The derailment ripped up 400 feet of track and left the boxcars scattered along both sides of the road bed. One car, loaded with 3.5mm rockets, overturned less than 100 yards east of the Chadbourn city limits.

Capt. Peter Keys, head of a nine-man demolition squad summoned from Ft. Bragg, said the derailed cars carried 750-pound bombs, 3.5mm rockets, mortar shells and 105mm howitzer shells.

National Guardsmen from Whiteville were called to Chadbourn to keep curious spectators out of the area, and some 250 rescue squad members from five towns and Robeson County helped railroad crews and provided high-powered lights and generators to continue the clean up operation on a round-the-clock basis.

The accident occurred about 4:05 a.m. Saturday, but it wasn't until amost noon that it was learned the freightcars carried munitions. All businesses in Chadbourn closed at noon after the evacuation was ordered.

A railroad spokesman said trains carrying munitions travel through Chadbourn daily en route from Florence, S.C., to the Sunny Point depot.

Wave Of Killer Quakes Rocks Tip Of Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — A catastrophic wave of killer earthquakes smashed across the western tip of Sicily today and police said more than 250 persons were killed.

The quake was the worst natural disaster to hit Sicily—the largest and most populous island in the Mediterranean sea—since an earthquake destroyed Messina in 1908 with a loss of 75,000 lives.

The quakes ripped across a mountainous farming region of Sicily considered to be the stronghold of the Mafia. At least half a dozen towns and villages were wrecked.

The shocks also reached into the cities of Palermo, Trapani and Marsala, on the edge of the disaster area, causing some damage and widespread panic.

Hundreds were injured as the shocks came in a series of death-dealing waves.

Five tremors had rocked the region Sunday and at least five more came today, starting at 2:34 a.m. and continuing through midday.

The disaster plunged western Sicily into winter misery. The Italian government mounted a massive relief and rescue operation of planes, ships, trucks and cars to get medicine, blankets food and tents into the disaster zone.

Hundreds of homeless huddled without shelter in bone-chilling cold, many in fields where snow lay four inches deep.

The full fury of the quakes struck in a mountainous triangle roughly halfway between the north and south coasts of Sicily's western end.

Gibellina, a town of 7,000 inhabitants, was destroyed. So was Montevago a town of 3,000 where a late shock razed the hospital. First rescue teams into Gibellina said they saw nothing but ruins.

Refugees from Gibellina truged along the icy road away from their ruined town, seeking shelter.

Last Rites Tuesday For John T. Barnhill

Mr. John Taylor Barnhill, 58, died Sunday at 12:55 a.m. at Pitt Memorial Hospital after several months of illness. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 11:00 a.m. at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Richard Gammon, his pastor, assisted by the Rev. Irby Jackson, Baptist minister of Greenville. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Barnhill was a native of Pitt County and was reared in the Stokes community. He attended school at Stokes and Massey Business College in Richmond, Virginia. He had made his home in Greenville since 1937 and was a partner in Hendrix-Barnhill Farm Equipment Company. He was active in Kiwanis Club work, having been a past president, past District Governor of Carolinas District, and had served as chairman of the International Committee of Circle K. He was a member of Greenville Masonic Lodge No. 284, member of the Shrine, and a past president of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. He had also served on the Pitt County Hospital board of trustees. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maude Congleton Barnhill; two sons, Kelly of Greenville, and Jack of Roanoke, Va.; two daughters, Mrs. Dan C. Calhoun of Springfield, Va., and Mrs. Walter Davis Jr., of Fort Myers, Florida; five grandchildren; two brothers, Marvin T. Barnhill of Stokes and Richard K. Barnhill of Robersonville; and two sisters, Mrs. Edna B. Everett and Mrs. Dare B. Lucas, both of Hamilton.

Red MIG Shot Down U.S. Raider

SAIGON (AP) — A MIG21 flashed up through monsoon clouds to shoot down a U.S. Air Force Thunderchief Sunday during a strike against an airfield deep in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today.

The pilot is missing.

The F105 Thunderchief was taking part in a radar attack on the Yen Bai airfield and storage area 78 miles northwest of Hanoi. It was the 786th American warplane reported lost in combat over North Vietnam. This includes 36 downed by MIGs, while American pilots claim to have shot down 103 of the Communist jets.

Hanoi claimed three U.S. planes were shot down Sunday, including an RB66 electronic counter-measure plane loaded with highly sophisticated electronic equipment to jam North Vietnam's radar warning system.

With much of North Vietnam blanketed by clouds, U.S. planes flew only 83 missions Sunday. The only two raids above Hanoi were on the Yen Bai airfield and the Sam Tra railroad yard on the northwest line 94 miles northwest of Hanoi. Bomb drops were made by radar in both strikes and no assessment of damage could be made because of the weather.

Tobaccomen Hail Report By Doctor

CHICAGO (AP)—The tobacco industry has hailed a report stating that it's still unknown whether cigarette smoking causes an increase in deaths from coronary heart disease.

In the report, published in the latest issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Carl C. Seltzer of Harvard said new data haye "in effect raised serious questions as to the validity of the surgeon general's report of 1964" which said the death rate from coronary heart disease rises consistently with the amount of cigarettes smoked.

In New York a spokesman for a tobacco company said: "This is what we've been saying all along—that there was no conclusive proof of the cancer part. let alone all the other aspects of it."

The surgeon general's report said there was a connection between lung cancer and cigarette smoking.

Leaving Post

RALEIGH (AP) — Dr. Charles F. Carroll announced today he will not seek re-elction to his post of state superintendent of public instruction. Carroll, who has been superintendent since 1952, said he has no plans after he leaves office next year. He did not give any specific reason for his decision.

Court Overturns State Grants To Private Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court found unconstitutional today a 1962 Louisiana law that authorized payments to parents of children in private, nonsectarian schools.

A federal court in New Orleans held last August that the purpose of the law was to continue segregated education in the state. It ruled the law in violation of the constitution's "equal protection" guarantee, saying Louisiana was illegally promoting private discrimination.

The Supreme Court, acting on a motion by the Justice Department, affirmed the three-judge court's ruling.

PROTESTING VISIT

TOYKO (AP) — Police arrested 116 students, including 13 coeds, today after a shouting mob clashed with authorities in a demonstration against the coming visit of the nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft Enterprise.

Second Session Of 90th Congress Opens At Noon; Problems Remain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second session of the 90th Congress opened at noon today in a Capitol coated with fresh, sarpkling snow in contrast to the grim problems confronting the legislators.

All the frustrations of the Vietnam war that plagued Senate and House members before they adjourned just a month ago were still on hand.

And compounding the difficulties and divisiveness of the war in an election year were the concern over soaring crime rates, rising prices, racial unrest and threats to the stability of the dollar.

In advance of the start of the session, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana urged a halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam to test Hanoi's willingness to enter into peace talks.

His words echoed a similar plea from Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who served as ambassador to India during the Eisenhower administration.

In contrast to the ceremonial opening of a new Congress, the reconvening today was pretty much routine, especially since the last session continued until mid-December.

The good fellowship that traditionally accompanies the opening ceremonies is expected to fade quickly once the Senate and House tackle controversial issues left over from last year.

Hanging over the Senate is a civil rights bill battle that may turn into a full-fledged filibuster in the opening days of the session.

Little action was anticipated in advance of President Johnson's State-of-the-Union message Wednesday night to a joint session of Congress.

In his nationally televised address, the President will outline the legislation he wants passed.

Anticipated is a call for measures aimed at heading off a renewal of the racial violence that wracked many U.S. cities last summer.

Johnson also is expected to appeal anew for an income tax increase, a proposal on which he suffered his biggest defeat at the 1967 session.

Possible buttresses for Johnson's request this year are the devaluation of the British pound, the continuing outflow of dollars and gold and climbing prices.

And in an effort to strengthen the dollar and cut down an adverse balance of payments, Johnson may ask for a tax on travel abroad, tax rebates for U.S. exporters, a tax on imports and removal of the gold backing for the dollar.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler plans to discuss these possible measures with key congressional leaders early in the session. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Sunday he feels Congress would balk at a tourist tax.

An income tax increase was just one of several administration proposals abunted aside last year.

High Court Approves Rail Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Spreme Court approved today the merger of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central Railroads, clearing the way for their combination by Feb. 1.

The two roads were given a go-ahead almost six years after they had asked the government to allow what will be the biggest merger in the history of American business.

Justice Abe Fortas, speaking for the high court, said the justices could find no basis for reversing approval of the merger by the Interstate Commerce Commission and a federal court in New York.

He said the court's job is limited to deciding whether the commission has proceeded in accordance with law and whether its findings are supported by substantial evidence.

Having done this, he said, "We find no basis, consonant with the principles governing judicial review, for setting aside the commission's determination, approved by the district court, that the 'public interest' directives of the governoring statute have been reasonably satisfied."

Elizabeth City To Get New PO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for a new post office building at Elizabeth City, N.C. were announced today by the Post Office Department.

The department said the building will be constructed on the south side of Ehringhaus Street near the Norfolk and Southern Railroad spur track by a private developer who will lease it to the department.

Worst Is Over For Most Of Tar Heels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rays of sunshine glittered today on white North Carolina, and weathermen said the falling ice and snow which have locked the state in for the last five days "has ended for the most part."

Thousands of residents of the eastern part of the state were still without electrical power. Driving conditions remained dangerous over much of the state. Many schools remained closed.

The Raleigh-Durham Weather Bureau said that while all significant precipitation was over, only a slight warming trend would occur.

High temperatures today were expected to range from the 20s in the mountains to the 40s on the coast.

The temperature dropped to 11 degrees at Clingman's Peak Sunday night. It was below 20 over most of the mountain area and in the 20s everywhere else in the state.

Skies were partly cloudy today over most of the state and fair weather with a slight warming trend was predicted for Tuesday.

Light snow fell over much of the state before dawn today. In the high-mountain areas it was still falling at midmorning. There were eight inches of snow at Ridgecrest on the Continental Divide between Black Mountain and Old Fort and it was snowing hard. At Clingman's Peak, near Mt. Mitchell, one observer said drifts were shoulder deep to a six-foot man.

A spokesman for Carolina Power & Light Co., which serves much of eastern North Carolina, said the damage caused by the ice and snow was comparable to that done by Hurricane Hazel in 1954.

"Nobody has begun to estimate the cost of this ice storm," he said. "It will be next week before we can get a figure on it.

"Goldsboro was our hardest hit area."

The current failed Wednesday night and Thursday in areas ranging from Southern Pines to Raleigh to Goldsboro. Saturday and Sunday it began going off to Duke Power Co. customers in Charlotte.

W. J. Burton, a Duke Power spokesman, said about 40,000 Charlotte and Mecklenburg County customers were affected by the blackout in varying degrees.

He said the power was restored to virtually all of them by shortly after midnight today.

"We're in good shape," he said. "We just hope the sun keeps shining."

R. N. Hadley, district manager of Carolina Power & Light Co. at Raleigh, said only about 100 CP&L customers at Raleigh were without power this morning and about 100 at Clayton.

Fifteen work crews who had been working in the Raleigh area were to move out today to reinforce crews working at Goldsboro, Fuquay and Dunn.

Power has been restored to some customers in these areas.

Johnson May Ask End The Gold-Dollar Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — A request to Congress to remove the last domestic link between gold and the dollar—the so-called gold cover—could come this week in President Johnson's State of the Union message.

Key administration officials decline to say when the request might be made but Johnson hinted he might move on it soon in his New Year's day announcement of a program to cut the overseas dollar drain by $3 billion this year.

Johnson said all the nation's gold will be available to back the dollar.

The only way this can happen is to remove the gold cover—the requirement that each $1 in federal reserve notes, the only paper money now circulated, must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board last year urged quick removal of the gold cover to serve notice the nation is willing to use its last ounce of gold to defend the dollar.

Administration officials agreed with Martin's basic reasoning but not on the timing.

Johnson is expected in his State of the Union message Wednesday to review the new balance-of-payments program which includes investment control and a possible tourism tax on Americans traveling abroad.

Removing the gold cover would reinforce the program although in itself would have no effect on the flow of dollars abroad.

Another possible hint on administration thinking came Sunday from Walter Heller, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. He called for removing the gold cover and for abandoning gold as a world money metal.

Heller was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" radio-television program.

Only Belgium, Switzerland and South Africa among major nations now have any type of gold cover on currency. Even France, where the love for gold is unquestioned, requires no gold backing for domestic money.

The U.S. gold cover now ties up about $10.5 billion worth of the metal.

Thieu Reminds De-Escalation Is Up To Reds

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu declared today that "the Communists started this war" and if they want peace, the burden of de-escalation is on them.

Thieu added that Hanoi has not indicated any softening of its long established four points for ending the Vietnam war which, he said, constitute "nothing less than a demand for our surrender to the Communists."

All possibilities for peace in Vietnam should be "thoroughly explored," the South Vietnamese president said. But "after a reasonable time, if the Communist aggressors remain adamant, heavier pressure against them will become necessary."

Ina speech prepared for a meeting of the Society of Vietnamese Newspaper Editors, Thieu also defended the bombing of North Vietnam, reserved for his troops the right of hot pursuit of Communist forces into Cambodia if the Reds keep using it as a sanctuary and expressed his regrets that the United Nations could not play a more active peace-making role.

Thieu also had some criticism of allies of South Vietnam who he said had placed "themselves at the center of peace efforts on Vietnam . . . while such a move should be made by the government of Vietnam, as the principal party, with the support of all allied and friendly countries." He apparently was referring to the United States.

Attended Meet In Charlotte

Beth Fowler of the Pitt County Federal Crop Insurance office attended an annual procedure and refresher training meeting in Charlotte last week.

State FCI director Julian E. Mann of Raleigh said the three-day meeting was held "to bring employees at all levels up-to-date on newest procedures in order that they may better serve farmers."

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and offers a voluntary program of crop loss protection.

Announces Bid In 5th District

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Dr. Eldon D. Nielson, director of the biological research department o the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Winston-Salem, has announced as a Republican candidate for Congress in the 5th District.

He is the husband of State Sen. Geraldine Nielson of Forsyth County, also a Republican.

Free Advice For Small Businesses

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The best counsel ever received by many of America's small businessmen has come to them free. But for those who gave it, few expenses have been more profitable. This is the legacy of SCORE.

SCORE, an acronym for Service Corps of Retired Executives, is the domestic equivalent of the International Executive Service Corps, which aids foreign businessmen. Both are made up of "young" retirees and are sometimes called Paunch Corps.

In a recent case, SCORE's Raphael Gross, 73, a former engineering executive, was assigned to aid the proprietor of a storefront chocolate candy company. The woma n owner had problems with modernizing.

Gross concluded after many visits that new belting and cooling equipment was needed. He assisted in arranging a $10,000 loan wih the Small Business Administration. He helped choose the equipment and found a company to make it.

Said the proprietor, whose business now is on the road to profits: "He was just like a good, good friend. I just wouldn't have had any business otherwise. Now I can go on to get more business."

Gross received no money for his services, but a cule to is motivation was found in his SCORE application: "I will never be able to give back to America what America gave to me," said Gross, a native of Cincinnati.

There are some 3,000 men like Gross in 180 SCORE offices around the country—lawyers, engineers, accountants, bankers, advertising men, sales managers—offering their brains, ideas and knowhow to small businessmen.

"We're all vital guys who don't want to vegetate," said Arthur Littman, 69, president of New York SCORE. "All these fellows," he said, "want to use their time and talent, serve their fellow man. It keeps them alive."

SCORE, now about four years old, was begun by the Small Business Administration and is still sponsored by that agency. SBA provides the offices pace and the clerical help.

Beyond these modest expenses, SCORE costs neither the government nor its client any money except for minor out-of-pocket costs. Yet it is willing to accept the headaches and save the life's work of almost any small businessman who applies.

In fact, you don't have to be in business yet to obtain SCORE advice. "Many times we discourage people planning to go into business," said Littman. And sometimes SCORE's advice to an existing company is to close its doors.

How would a retired executive apply for a counselor job? Simply by writing to his nearest Small Business Administration office, whose address and number is listed in the telephone directory.

"We turn down very few applicants," said Littman.

Three Collisions Saturday Night

An estimated $790 property damage resulted from three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Saturday night.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 10 p.m. collision at the intersection of 10th and Washington Streets involving cars driven by Henry Vernon Weeks, 17, of Bethel, and Olivia Mae Evans, 21, of 302A Watauga Ave.

Officers said an estimated $185 damage resulted to the Weeks car while damage to the Evans car was placed at $200.

Miss Evans was charged with operating left of center.

Gary Leo King, 20, of Alexandria, Va., was charged with operating under the influence following investigation of an 11:30 p.m. collision on Fifth Street, 20 feet east of the Student Street intersection.

The King car, officers said, collided with a tree, causing an estimated $300 damage to the car.

No charges were placed when a vehicle operated by Jerry Lynn Stokes, 20, of 2818 Edwards St. collided with a sign post about 6:07 p.m. at the intersection of 14th Street and Dealwood Drive.

Damage to the car was set at $75 while damage to the sign was placed at $30.

Senior Giving Recital Tonight

Ronald Hufstader, student trombonist in the East Carolina University School of Music, will give his senior recital tonight.

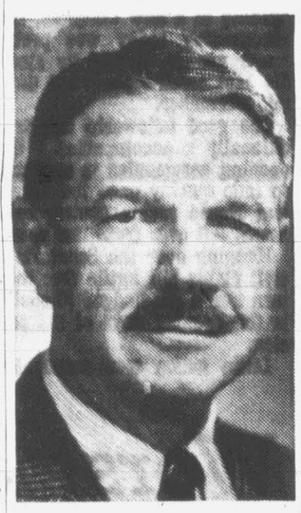

His program is scheduled at 8:15 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the music building. It is free and open to the public.

Hufstader will play two Bach arias, a sonata by Paul Hindemith and a piece by Frohne.

Assisting Hufstader will be pianist Sharon Pope, trombonist Terry Mizesko and trumpet players Charles Driver and Dan Ramsey.

Consulting With Local Realtors

John J. Cronin, regional representative of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will spend Wednesday in this community consulting with local realtors, D. G. Nichols, president of the Greenville-Pitt County Board of Realtors, announced today. Cronin travels from the headquarters office of the Association in Chicago.

JOHN J. CRONIN

During his visit, Cronin will meet with the officers of the Greenville-Pitt County Board of Realtors and address a meeting of the board at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Prior to his service with the Realtors Association, Cronin was a real estate negotiator for one of the major oil companies. He is an experienced home builder, has served as executive secretary of the Maryland Council of Retail Merchants and on the legislative committee of the National Association of Retail Merchants.

Crash Kills One Of Blue Angels

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — A member of the Navy's precision flying team, the Blue Angels, has died in the third fatal crash by Angel pilots in 13 months.

The Navy said Lt. Bill Worley, 29, of Nashville, Tenn., a Vietnam veteran with seven Air Medals, died Sunday when his F11 Grumman Tiger jet fighter crashed into the desert 18 miles from the naval air facility.

In winter training last February two Blue Angels died in separate crashes in the same area.

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Does Robert Aldrich's purchase of a film studio portend the economic future of Hollywood? He thinks so, and he could be right.

The film town was startled this month when the producer-director announced he had sold out his 15 per cent interest in the profits of "the Dirty Dozen" to purchase a venerable movie lot not far from downtown Los Angeles.

"Evebody's entitled to a dream," Aldrich romanticized as he explained why he bought the one-stage Sutherland Studio which dates back to Mary Pickford films of 1912. His dream was to own the Aldrich Studio, and soon he will. Part of the purchase plan is construction of two more stages during the next two years, with another to follow later.

Robert Aldrich is a practical man, and it wasn't merely a dream that motivated him.

"I think this is the way the picture business is going to operate in the future," he explained in his office at MGM, where he recently filmed "The Legend of Lylah Clare." "The land that major studios are on will become so expensive that they will no longer be able to afford to functioin where they are. The business will scatter into a collection of satellite studios such as mine."

Aldrich has worked at most of the major companies with his independent films—"Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte," "Flight of the Phoenix." He is well aware of the economics involved.

"To get financing from the major companies, you have to agree to use their studio facilities," he said. "That means you must absorb their cost of operating that big studio, and at the best you're getting a bum deal. If they have planned well, and the studio has been busy all year, it's not so bad. But if the studio has been idle for long periods of time, you have to pay for their inefficiency."

The Aldrich plan is bold, but it may point the way to the future. It appears certain that major studios cannot continue on their present basis. This week there were no pictures shooting at MGM, 20th Century-Fox, Paramount or Columbia, and only one apiece at Universal and Warner Brothers. Meanwhile the overhead on these immense film factories continues.

Lawmen Enrolled In Special Course

WILSON — M. B. Oakley, deputy sheriff with the Pitt County Sheriff Department, and Earl L. Keel, detective sergeant with the Farmville Police Department, have enrolled in a 136 hour Advanced Criminal Investigation Course at Wilson County Technical Institute in cooperation with the Coastal Plain Law Enforcement Association.

While attending this extensive course, they will receive instruction in collection and preservation of evidence, arson, civil disturbance, police management, fingerprinting and laws of search and seizure.

More Parking Areas Opened Up On Campus

By RITA LOUISE BEST

East Carolina University has opened up 180 new parking spaces to take care of the ever increasing number of autos.

The new parking areas added on campus are located along the main drive of the women's dormitories, directly behind New Austin and in front of the music building. Recently annexed off-campus facilities comprise the vacant lot adjoining the Alpha Phi sorority house and the land around Minges Coliseum.

ECU staff members were provided with 35 on-campus spaces and 43 tracts were established for the use of the women's dormitories. The area surrounding Minges Coliseum was divided between the staff and the students, giving 70 spaces to staff members and 32 spaces to students.

"Our problem is that there are more cars than parking spaces available, and we do not see any help for the future," said Dan K. Wooten, administrator of the Traffic Department.

About 6,732 autos are registered on the ECU campus. Comprising this total are 480 of the women's dorms, 591 of the men's dorms, 1,250 staff members, 4,284 day students, and 127 special students. Some of the day students are issued permits which allow on-campus parking only after 4 p.m. Special students are those who are handicapped or staff members who are hired for a period of three weeks.

Co-ordinating the problems of ECU are staff members Wooten, Chief Johnny Harrell, head of the campus police, and F. D. Duncan.

Appreciation Voiced By Pitt CD Agency

The Pitt County Civil Defense Agency today expressed gratitude to Camp Lejeune headquarters and to the National Guard headquarters in Raleigh in that they enabled the Civil Defense Agency to alleviate water shortages in Winterville and Fountain.

Camp Lejeune sent a mounted generator with two marines to Winterville on Thursday, and then when the water shortage developed in Fountain on Saturday, National Guard headquarters in Raleigh dispatched a mounted generator with two guardsmen to Fountain.

Civil Defense Director J. H. Rose was in Fountain yesterday afternoon and found the generator still at work and the guardsmen taking turns resting and sleeping while the generator worked the pump that filled the town tank with water.

Saturday night Mayor Walter Dail of Winterville allowed the marine unit to go to Fountain to help pending the arrival of the National Guard generator, but when they arrived in Fountain they found out that the marine generator was too small and would not work.

The Pitt County Civil Defense Director and Colonel David Spivel, director of the area office in Washington, N.C., remained on duty constantly throughout the crisis. Director Ross expressed his gratitude for the cooperation which he received from all the citizens and officials of Pitt County.

The Civil Defense class in radiological monitoring will resume tonight at 7:00 o'clock in room 14 of Old Austin Building, East Carolina University.

ECU Pilot String Project Meetings Are Scheduled

A series of three meetings will be held with parents interested in the ECU Pilot String Project, Rodney Schmidt, director of the project has announced.

The meetings will be held in Room A105 of the School of Music building. They will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 16, Thursday, Jan. 118 and Friday Jan. 19.

Schmidt said there had been overwhelming response from parents after distribution of a questionaire. "We did not anticipate that over 250 Greenville young people in the first, third and fifth grades would be interested in learning a string instrument," he said.

He said the project staff will not be able to handle that many children during the initial part of the project. It will be necessary to select students will the strongest aptitute and interest. Since one parent will be required to atttend a class each week with his child, parental interested and the ability of both parent and child to attend the classes will be considered.

Schmidt said the string instrument instruction program will begin shortly after the second semester opens on Jan. 22. Instruments have arrived and are being prepared for use.

'Minischools' In Poverty Areas

NEW YORK (AP) — A plan to put "minischools" for children 2 to 4 years old in every block in poverty areas has been announced by a city school official.

The program will start next fall with two schools, Mrs. Shelley Yumans said Sunday. She is director of Title III projects of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Mrs. Yumans said: "We find the earlier we get youngsters, the better they do in schools."

Named Director For Peace Corps

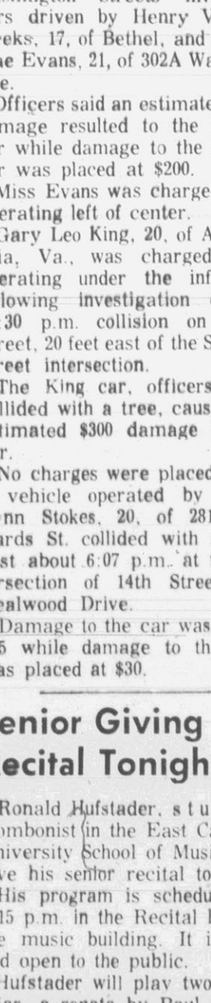

WASHINGTON (AP) — C. Bayne Lucas, 34, of Spring Hope, N.C., a staff member of the Peace Corps since 1962, has been named director of the volunteer agency's program in Africa.

He has served in four African nations and in Washington.

Couple Exchanges Vows On Sunday Afternoon

Rhe wedding of Miss Joanne Marguerite Bynum and Victor Earl Pate was solemnized Sunday at two o'clock in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Hamilton Bynum Sr. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clairborn Pate of Burlington.

Dr. Joyce V. Earle, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with standing brass baskets of white mums and gladioli placed on each side of the alter backed with bridal palms and brass tree candelabra holding lighted catheral tapers.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Paul A. Toll. Soloist Julie Harris sang "Because" and "The Lords Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white net over taffeta. The empire bodice and long sleeves were appliqued with alencon lace. The A-lineskirt was high-lighted with alencon lace around the bottom.

The bride's catheral length mantilla was edged with alencon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Frenched carnations centered with a white orchied tied with streamers of velvet and tulle.

Miss Patricia Ann Aldridge was maid of honor and Mrs. Merrill Hamilton Bynum Jr. of Hamilton was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gary Ray Mull and Miss Eunice Faye Roper, both of Greenville. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Arleen Pate of Burlington, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore street length red velvet dresses with empire waistlines. Their headpieces consisted of a red velvet bow with matching tulle. They carried cascade bouquets of peppermint carnations centered with a cluster of red carnations.

Mrs. Bynum, mother of the bride, wore a pink organza dress with beaded neck and sleeves. She wore matching accessories and a lavender orchid corsage. Mrs. Pate, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gold ensemble with a full length coat. She wore matching accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

Mrs. Ina H. Rouse of Louisburg, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. M. J. Moye Sr. of Greenville, and Mrs. R. V. Pate of Burlington, grandmothers of the bridegroom, wore corsages of carnations.

The bride and bridegroom attended East Carolina University. The bridegroom is now employed by Monach Processing Plant, Graham.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed into a gold knit ensemble with a full length coat and matching accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlor given by the bride's parents.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of satin and lace centered with a silver candelabra holding a mixed arrangement of mums and carnations. The wedding cake was served after the bride and bridegroom cut the first slice. were Mrs. W. G. Norman, Mr.

Assisting at the reception and Mrs. J. G. Proctor Sr., Mrs. Jean Wall, Mrs. J. C. Lamm, Mrs. C. W. Moye, Lacy Harrell, Mrs. John E. Rouse, and Miss Marguerite Rouse.

After-Rehearsal Party

The Pate-Bynum wedding party was honored at an after-rehearsal party held Saturday night at the home of Mrs. M.J. Moye.

Assisting hosts and hostesses were Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. J. Moye Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Carles W. Moye, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Norman and Mrs. Mae Norris.

Churchwomen To Hear Mrs. Irvin

Mrs. E. Johnston Irvin of Concord will be guest speaker for the general meeting of the women of the First Presbyterian Church tonight at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Irvin will speak on "World Missions."

She is past Synodical president and past chairman of the Women's Advisory Council of the General Assembly. Last year under the auspices of the Board of World Missions and the Board of Women's Work, she made a Far Eastern tour of mission fields. She will tell of her experiences and of the needs in this area.

Two Honorary Life Memberships in the women of the church will be presented at the meeting.

A social hour will be held in the church parlor following the meeting.

Adult Classes Began Last Week

Adult classes, sponsored by the ECU Home Economics Department, began last week. The classes will continue through Feb. 14.

The dates for the classes and the topic for discussion are as follows: Jan. 17, "Understanding Your Child;" Jan. 24, "Creative Play;" Jan. 31, "Selecting Children's Clothing;" Feb. 7, "An Ounce of Prevention;" and Feb. 14, "Toyland."

The classes are taught by home economics students as a requirement for the vocational teaching degree from ECU. It is a state requirement for the students to participate in the teaching of this course. Miss Alice Strawn is the overall supervising teacher.

The classes are held from 3:15 - 4:15 p.m. in room 101-A, Flanagan Bldg., on the ECU campus.

Dr. Donald Tucker Is Jay-C-Ette Speaker Wed.

"Functions of the Heart Fund" was the topic of the talk presented by Dr. Donald Tucker, guest speaker, at the Wednesday evening Jay - C - Ette meeting.

During the business session, club members heard reports from recent December projects. Mrs. Lib Layne reported on the response from the members in their assistance with "Operation Santa Claus." Mrs. Bonnie Perkins gave a report on the distribution of the club's Christmas baskets delivered to three needy families. Also, several thank-you letters were read from an Army battalion in Viet Nam, who received a Christmas tree, decorations, and Christmas cards from the Jay-C-Ettes.

The club voted to make a contribution to the Pitt County United Fund and to renew their membership with the Pitt County Association of Retarded Children.

Mrs. Barbara Krewatch and Mrs. Jeanette Whitehurst are January volunteers for the Crippled Children's Clinic.

Plans for the approaching Jay-C-Ette's dinner and dance on Feb. 9 were presented by chairman, Mrs. Peggy Holding.

Visitors for the meeting were Judy Bell, Frankie Anderson, Libby Swinson, and Donna Wooten.

Dr. Frank Adams Gives Club Department Program

Dr. Frank Adams was guest speaker for the meeting of the Fine Arts Department of the Woman's Club held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James R. Worsley

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. H. R. Phillipps, Mrs. Helen Snyder and Mrs. Ann De La Mater.

Dr. Adams, of the English Department of ECU, gave an informal review of the book "Berenson — A Bioigraphy" by Sylvi Sprigge.

This book, he said, was written in 1960, a year after Berenson's death and is the only biography about him. Born in Lithuania of Jewish parents, he came to this country with his family in 1875 and settled in Boston.

He became interested in art and wrote some 29 books in that field. He traveled a great deal and wherever he went, he went to the art museums. He ended up living in Italy where he spent much time in the museums said the speaker.

Berenson acquired a small fortune by buying paintings on commission especially for Mrs. Gardner who had helped him as a student in Boston. Mrs. Gardner eventually bought a Venetian house and had it transported to Boston to house the paintings which Berenson bought for her, which is now a museum continued Dr. Adams.

Berenson left his estate to Harvard but it was not accepted until he provided an endowment.

Mrs. T. W. Rouse, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. W. A. Pollard, chairman of the Fine Arts Department, presided at the meeting.

It was announced that the next meeting would be Feb. 13 and the general meeting will be held Feb. 2.

Father Of Young Sons Should Be Patient And Affectionate

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Like most people who read your column, it had never occurred to me to write. That is, until I read that letter in your column for the young wife whose husband constantly corrected their two small sons (ages 2½ and 5) at the dinner table until they left in tears.

I have a message for that father: As an engineer by profession, I am inclined to perfectionism and intolerance of the faults of others.

Fortunately, I am more tolerant today than I was when I was raising our first son. Looking back, I am and shall forever be deeply ashamed of the way I hounded and belittled our son until his self-confidence and initiative were destroyed.

This boy, of superior intelligence, became a high school drop-out, incorrigible, and a runaway. Now 21, he has no direction, a questionable future and has tried everything from liquor to LSD. Except for an occasional letter or phone call every three months, we never know where he is.

We have five younger children who are fine because by that time I had learned a little. However, that doesn't diminish the sin of my intolerance.

So please, Abby, tell this young father to give his small sons patience and affection before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently returned from a week-end at a well-known resort where we met another couple. (I'll call them Freddy and Alice.) They posed as husband and wife, but we know for a fact that she is his mistress, not his wife. (Someone at the resort knows Freddy's wife.)

What people do is their own business, but I learned a lesson. I think I know why men enjoy mistresses so much. Alice was always well-groomed and beautifully attired. Her figure was trim and she always had a smile on her face. Never once did she interrupt Freddy or disagree with him.

She gave him all her attention, laughed at his jokes, and her company was consistently gay, pleasant and charming. I can assure you Freddy had the time of his life. Please print this. If more wives acted like Alice there would be fewer mistresses.

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: I don't know what Freddy's wife is like, but maybe she could top Alice if all she had to worry about was how she looked, and how to be charming for a few hours (or days) at a time. I wonder how Alice would hold up with a steady routine of battling bottles, babies and budgets. And possibly knowing that her husband was week-ending with somebody else?

INDIANA FATHER

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding with a young man for about two years. I have been ending my letters with "love." He has been ending his with "fondly." What would you say his "fondly" means?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: His "fondly" is just a cut above "sincerely," but a long way from "love." One who signs his letters "fondly" is taking no chances on being misunderstood.

Troubled: Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Sure Controversy For Proposals

A subcommittee of North Carolina's Study Commission on Public Schools is crafting recommendations on school organization and operations which are certain to prompt controversy across the state.

The subcommittee reportedly will recommend that local school boards be given fiscal independence from Boards of County Commissioners in order that the school boards rather than the commissioners might have the final say in getting school taxes.

Another recommendation is that city school administrative units be abolished in North Carolina and that county-wide administrative units be the operation divisions. It will also be recommended that administrative units of small counties be merged to provide for more efficient school operations.

Still another recommendation will be pointed toward keeping schools open on a year-round basis and for utilizing buildings at night as well as during the daytime.

It is not likely that any of these recommendations will find universal support among school officials or other officials across North Carolina. Nevertheless, the recommendations are being made on the basis of a study of public school needs of North Carolina and in an effort to meet those needs.

If North Carolina is to move forward with its effort to provide quality education for its children, it must give careful consideration to these as well as other recommendations which might enhance its public school operations.

Extra Funds Permit Completing Project

City officials should be pleased with the additional $1 million grant from the Housing and Urban Development Department.

The extra funds will enable the Redevelopment Commission to take in the north half of the court house block, the junior high school property and portions of the ravine along the eastern side of the Shore Drive area.

The grant also includes funds for the retaining wall and esplanade which will be built along the river bank from Greene Street to Side Street.

Disposing of the old junior high property has enabled the city schools to proceed with construction of a new junior high. In addition, clearing of the area will make the land available to East Carolina University. This is a good example of how governmental bodies can work together to the good of all the people.

The grant, in virtually assuring the river esplanade will be constructed, can be the catalysis for development of one of the outstanding park areas to be found anywhere. The river area at the foot of Evans Street, once crowded with slum housing, can now become a most unique and beautiful section.

The additional funds should complete the Shore Drive project, which has been in the planning and execution stages for several years.

Scott Promises Few Promises

By WILLIAM A.SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Bob Scott's first promise as an officially announced candidate for governor was that his campaign will be "short on promises."

"I will not knowlingly make a promise I cannot reasonably expect to fulfill," he told the throng gathered in Raleigh for his long-awaited formal announcement and official beginning of his campaign.

He added, "I will not attempt to mislead people into believing that I or the state can bring them utopia."

Instead of making pie in the sky promises, Scott said, he intends to talk about specific problems and situations, examine current needs and long-range goals, to look for ways of doing things and set forth positive ideas. And, he intends to deal "with issues, not personalities."

Predictable Approach

This was a predictable Scott approach to the forthcoming campaign. In effect it is the same approach and technique he has employed during the long months, even years of unannounced candidacy for governor.

WILLIAM SHIRES

He has talked about many things. He has discussed and examined. He has listened. He has formulated ideas and taken stands. But so far as is known, he has made few firm promises and commitments.

"Progress is not always easy," Scott said, "and I will be the first to admit that I do not have all the answers. . ." His promise was of "sound and stable leadership, positive in approach and aggressive in spirit."

Coins Phrases

Scott and his campaign advisors have coined several phrases and the lieutenant governor made use of them during his formal announcement.

"I want to give such leadership, and I want to join hands with you and your family to form this 'Partnership for progress.' " Another phrase was "program for progress."

"As the campaign progresses I will spell out a 'program for progress' in North Carolina," he said.

Cities Qualifications

When asking for the office of governor, Scott said, a person is obligated to "spell out clearly and unmistakably why he merits support and what his purposes are.

"He must be of the people. He must know people. He must have understanding, must know the wants and desires. . . . of the people. . . . must have the courage and the ability to act, and know how to produce within the framework of government.

"This is not the time for the capricious, the opportunist, the inexperienced," he said. He cited his own experience both in public service and as a farmer, bank director and family man. Already, Scott said, he has gone into every county of the state "to discuss with you what you contribute to, get from and expect of your government."

He added later that he intends to cover the state "like the morning dew" during the campaign.

Things To Discuss

Scott plans to talk about "matters of great urgency" and matters that will "bring fresh ideas and meaning" into state government, to present "positive ideas about education and how we can overcome the state's unenviable low national rank.

"I will talk about roads, programs for the physically and mentally handicapped, agricultural and industrial development, conservation and development of both natural and human resources, about law and order, of assuring equal justice for all out citizens."

Scott said he will propose a means of equipping all levels of government with the trained manpower to insure that rights of all citizens are respected. He suggested bringing specific state services together in an urban-oriented agency to assist local governments in coping with modern-day problems.

He said he will examine the problems of rural migration, lack of training and skills, and low family and per capita income.

A Tight Curb On Committee

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO—As the uneventful one-day meeting of the Democratic National Committee at the Conrad Hilton Hotel here Monday (Jan. 8) neared adjournment, a 40-page booklet on voter registration techniques was distributed to committee members.

Six months in the making, the booklet represented the sum total of the National Committee staff's voter registration effort. Consequently, National Committee members were flabbergasted at its superficiality. Instead of the detailed technical manual some had expected, it was, in the words of one committeeman, "just more eyewash."

Nevertheless, there was no outcry of protest from the committee members. They have been conditioned the last three years to expect next to nothing from the National Committee staff. Moreover, in marked contrast to their pessimism of a year ago, the committee members are confident that President Johnson will win in 1968 even though neither he nor the party's national headquarters attends to the fundamentals of political organization.

The shrewder committeemen realize that this optimism boils down to blind faith in the political luck of Lyndon B. Johnson. Committee members expressed supreme confidence here that the Republicans will pass over Governor Nelson Rockefeller, whom they fear, and instead nominate Richard M. Nixon, poorly regarded by the Democrats. If that isn't enough to win, they feel, George Wallace's third-party candidacy will drain enough votes from the Republicans to elect Mr. Johnson.

Given this euphoria, there were no echoes here of the criticism a year ago in Washington by committeemen assailing the lack of campaign preparation. Though silenced, however, the critics are not satisfied. Rather, they now accept the doldrums at the party's national headquarters as a permanent fact of life, hopefully to be transcended by the President's political luck.

The field of voter registration best represents the impact on the states of the malaise at national headquarters. Comparing notes here, National Committee members revealed a desperate need for crash registration programs.

In Ohio, an estimated 400,000 Democrats who voted in 1964 have been removed from the rolls and need to be reregistered. In California, some half-million Democrats in Los Angeles County alone either have been purged for failure to vote in 1966 or have switched to a splinter par.

Yet in nearly every state Democratic registration is dangerously behind schedule —a reflection of the shutdown, for economy reasons, of the National Committee's registration division in 1965 and 1966. Since reopening a year ago, it has provided no technical assistance, no prodding of state Democratic leaders, and, most grievously, none of the financial aid badly needed for registration.

But frustrated committeemen months ago stopped pressing the National Committee staff for help in registration or anything else. "Why should I expect them to help me out?" confided the committeeman from a Midwestern state whose party organization is a shambles. "Hell, they don't even answer my letters."

John Bailey, beginning his eighth year as National Chairman, is more the victim than the author of this malaise. Never more than a figurehead, Bailey is increasingly detached from decision-making. For all his surface exuberance and amiability, Bail-

Republican Death-Blow

WASHINGTON —President Johnson, knowingly or unknowingly, may have dealt a blow to his Republican opposition when he indicated it would be very unpatriotic for any American to travel outside of the Western Hemisphere for the next two years.

It is part of the American political tradition that any candidate running for high public office must visit Ireland, Italy and Israel with stops in other parts of the world if he hopes to get elected.

Without these trips no politician can ever win the hearts of the American people.

It is interesting to note that President Johnson made his announcement about keeping Americans at home after he completed his globe-girdling trip, and Republicans think it was no accident that the President saw the Pope before he told the American people that they shouldn't go abroad.

One Republican candidate, a favorite son, said "Nixon, Romney and Percy must have known something, because they got their trips out of the way before the President made his dollar - deficit speech. But what chance have the rest of us got if we can't leave the country?"

"Does it mean that much?"

"It certainly does. How would you feel if you had announced you were running for President and you'd never seen Dublin's fair city, where the girls are so pretty and you had not had your picture taken with sweet Molly Malone?"

"Just terrible," I admitted.

"And what kind of leader do you think a man would make if he hadn't had an audience with Pope Paul, in private, of course?"

"An awful leader."

"And how would you feel if you were asked to vote for a man who had never walked the streets of Tel Aviv or swum in the Dead Sea?"

"I'd say that man just does not have the qualifications for the highest office in the land."

"Exactly. I had a great campaign all set," the candidate said. "I was going to go to Moscow and debate Kosygin in an American kitchen."

"Say, that would have been novel."

"And I was going to go to India and have my picture taken in front of the Taj Ma-

(Sanford Herald)

"God knows they deserve it."

This is what Actor John Wayne said about the Green Berets when he sent his personal check of $5,000 to the U.S. Army Special Forces Memorial Fund at Fort Bragg.

The memorial is an acre and a quarter park, the main feature of which will be an eight or nine-foot statue of a Special Forces soldier.

The project of the park, for which groundbreaking services were held last March, is intended to honor not only the Green Berets—on whose shoulders has been much of the responsibility for fighting the Vietnam war — but also the late President John F. Kennedy, to whom the Green Beret was a personal pride. The park is in the U.S. Army John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare (Airborne).

What hasn't been widely known was the fact getting funds for the tribute to the Green Beret has been hard sledding. Actually, much of the money obtained for the project has been contributed by Green Berets themselves.

We've commented editorially before on this sad situation —that Americans, including Lee Countians, next - door neighbors to the center for making the fighter for Vietnam, don't realize the psychological shot-in-the-arm a gesture of support for our boys would mean.

Waye apparently learned of the financial plight of the park while making the movie, "The Green Berets." However way he learned, what he did fits into his image of being a rough-and-tumble guy filled with American "basics."

He likewise probably was able to do more in financial assistance than the average citizen.

But the important thing was that he did something.

It's a pity that we of the Fort Bragg area, who reap untold financial benefits commercially from the Green Berets, haven't done even a little bit in demonstrating the esteem in which we hold them and the appreciation for what they are doing for the defense of our country.

Hardly Crying Time

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — I have heard a number of people laughing lately and find it somewhat puzzling.

What in the world can anyone find to laugh about in a year in which I'll be 57 years old?

Certainly it is no laughing matter to me. On the other hand, it isn't anything to cry about either.

The advent of a birthday, even to a child, always stirs one to philosophic musings. But the approach of a 57th natal anniversary produces no stunning enlightenments, even though at 57 one is certainly getting nearer heaven.

And it leaves the rest of mankind completely unimpressed. If you tell a friend your 57th birthday is coming up, he will look at you as if you were mildly daft and then ask, "So what else is new?"

But on the vague possibility that someone might have a curiosity about how life is at 57, here is the way it seems to one who has reached that niche of mortality:

The condition of the weather fascinates you more than debates on the future of the mini-skirt.

When a shoestring breaks you don't throw it away. You tie it together and go right on wearing it.

You'd rather be remembered on your birthday than at Christmas.

When you see your picture in your old high school or college yearbook, the face reminds you of someone you used to know well but now have pretty much forgotten.

You get more real pleasure out of reading a seed catalog than a naughty new novel.

The snows of today are nowhere near as deep as those that fell in your youth, but for some reason they are harder to wade through.

It worries your wife if you get your feet wet.

Even if a football game is close, you leave the stadium five minutes before it is over so that you won't get caught in the mob.

You become adjusted to the idea that indigestion is just a normal way of life.

As you visit the dentist less often—after all, there isn't much left for him to work on—you visit the doctor more.

Whenever some bright young whiz kid comes up with a new suggestion during an office conference, you snicker inside. It is old stuff to you. You can remember at least three other times during your career when that same suggestion was advanced and discarded.

It annoys you now and then when you start to look around for your bifocals and discover you already have them on.

No one who has a better job than you worries that you may take it away from him. If you were going to do it, you'd have done it by now.

The social graces don't trouble you so much. If you feel like scratching in public, you go right ahead and scratch in public.

It flatters you when your daughter tells you, "I know you

Strength for Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

ADOLESCENT AMERICA

We live in an age characterized by speed. A hundred and fifty years ago people traveled as their ancestors had traveled for centuries. One hundred years ago the steam locomotive was coming into widespread use. It had been prophesied that the day would come when men would travel as rapidly as forty miles an hour. To this claim a great English authority made the rejoinder: "This could never be; man under such circumstances could not breathe."

Fifty years ago the automobile was just beginning to come in. Twenty-five years ago, air travel was getting started. The jet propelled plane, which exceeds the speed of sound, is largely the result of the research and genius of the past decade.

We have speed but do we have direction? It is most significant that the first use man often makes of a new discovery is a bad use. He is using his scientific discovers today to wage war. If we can get over the next fifty or one hundred years without committing racial suicide, a chastened generation will probably view such utilization of human opportunity with disdain.

We all know how reckless the adolescent is who has just learned to drive an automobile. In the use of our new discoveries, our generation has the characteristics of an adolescent.

Many Others Feeling Inflation

By ELMER ROESSNER

The United States is not the only nation troubled by inflation. In 1967, 61 of the world's 122 monetary units were officially devalued, Pick's World Currency Report shows. In the U. S., at least the dollar was not officially devalued, although its purchasing power sank a little bit more.

"Yields or returns on bonds remained negative for the fourth consecutive year' on worldwide basis, said the report, which is edited by Dr. Franz Pick. "Some stock markets rose, but in dwindling currency value terms, while others continued their decline."

For the fifth year in a row, the world of art and culture did not lead the "what was best" list of investments. The leader was again metals, this time the precious ones, "which in billion paper dollar turnovers seemed to have become the most popular hedge against the general debasement of currencies.

Silver Profits
Up To 300 Per Cent

"Silver, fully mismanaged by the U. S. Treasury, generated hundreds of millions of mini-dollar profits to those who simply 'sat on it.' The metal itself rose 71 per cent since May 18. But as most dealings were effected in futures markets or on a credit basis, net profits of up to 300 per cent were realized in such operations within a seven-month period."

The report said platinum rose 53 per cent; palladium, 24 per cent; gold coins rose everywhere, legally or not, and $10 and $20 U. S. gold pieces, legal collectors items, gained between 65 and 90 per cent.

Old masters did well, too. Leonardo da Vinci's portrait of Ginevra dei Benci sold for $3 million. Sandro Botticelli's Wedding Feast fetched $294,000 in a London sale.

French impressionists and post-impressionists also made gains. Claude Monet's La Terrasse a St. Andresse, bought for $26,000 in 1926, was sold to New York's Metropolitan Museum for $1,411,000.

Books And Manuscripts, Too

scripts rose about 50 to 60 per cent. Tapestries, up 40 per cent, reached a historic high. Rises were also reported in drawings by famous artists, furniture, prints and etchings, porcelain, snuff boxes, silverware and sculpture also showed sizable gains.

Diamonds failed to show gains and some sizes were down.

The best free-market currency performances were by Egyptian pound, up 18 per cent in the year, and the Yugoslav dinar, up 12½ per cent.

Dr. Pick does not cover real estate, and some of the biggest gains of the year were reported in realty by other sources.

Investments in real estate, art and gems are not for the little fellow or the uninitiated. Both capital and knowledge of the field are essential to avoid the traps and pitfalls of off-beat investments.

Even buying gold where it is legal can be risky. A London banker declared that it now costs a gold hoarder about 10.5 per cent a year for insurance, storage and other charges. And when he passes up the opportunity to get 5 per cent on bank deposits or 7 per cent on bonds on his money, his loss is 5.5 to 17.5 per cent a year. Gold rarely advances that much

'Old Brigade' Retiring From Draft Boards

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 1,500 of the old men who have been selecting the young men to fight in Vietnam have retired from draft boards across the country in recent weeks. Others will follow.

Dozens of the retired were more than 80. Some were in their 90s. Many had served on their local boards since the inception of Selective Service in 1941.

Under federal legislation which became effective Jan. 1, draft board members—they are unpaid volunteers—must retire upon reaching 75.

There are 4,087 local boards with a total of 17,232 members and 96 appeal boards with 593 members. During January the age rule required the retirement of 1,508 local board members and 36 appeal board members.

As an extreme example of the rule's effect, it eliminated further service by all five members at Hot Springs, S.D., where Joe C. Weyl was dean of the board at 89.

Another 333 board members in various parts of the nation will reach 75 during 1968.

In general, the retiring oldsters say they never regretted the time and effort spent serving on their boards, and during the hectic buildup of armed services manpower during World War II they sometimes worked from morning to midnight.

Archer A. Page, 80, who was on a Richmond, Va., local board from the start of Selective Service, told an interviewer:

"I must have acted on 25,000 or more individual cases over the years. It was a duty to be done just as the boys we were sending out had a duty."

"I thought about giving the job up several times, but I didn't" said Tom Hargis, 85, who was chairman of the board of Madison County, Ark., from the time it was organized. "I knew somebody had to do it, so I just kept staying on."

Dr. George Earl, 83, until Jan. 1 a member of the Minnesota state Selective Service Appeal Board, said, "It's been tough a lot of times but I never thought of resigning."

One of 65 Californians required to retire because of the age limit was peppery John P. Dunning, 87, of Sacramento, who served on his local board from the start.

He said the World War II draftees were better than those the boards are getting today.

"They were a lot healthier, for one thing," Dunning said in an interview. "But what can you expect the way kids are living now, using dope, growing their hair long, running around?

"We didn't have the problems with those in World War II that we have now. Now you have all these concientious objections who come to board meetings prepared to read three hours worth of documents to you, if you let them."

John J. Quinn, 82, an original member of his local board at Horseshoe Bend, Idaho, took a contrary view.

"The Vietnam draftees are better qualified mentally because educational opportunities are greater," Quinn declared. "Physically they are just as good as those we got in the Second World War."

All of the oldsters interviewed felt, with few or no reservations, that the Selective Service System is fair.

"It seems fine just the way it is," said Dunning.

"Anything as large as that can't be all perfect," said Hargis, "but I really wouldn't recommend any changes."

"I don't think there should be any changes at all," said Page. "The system has done a magnificent job and you can make that as strong as norseredish."

Quinn thought the system on the whole works fairly but was dubious about the exemptions for college students.

"There are some guys who wouldn't still be going to college if it were not a way out of the draft," he declared. "And lots of kids can't afford to go to college."

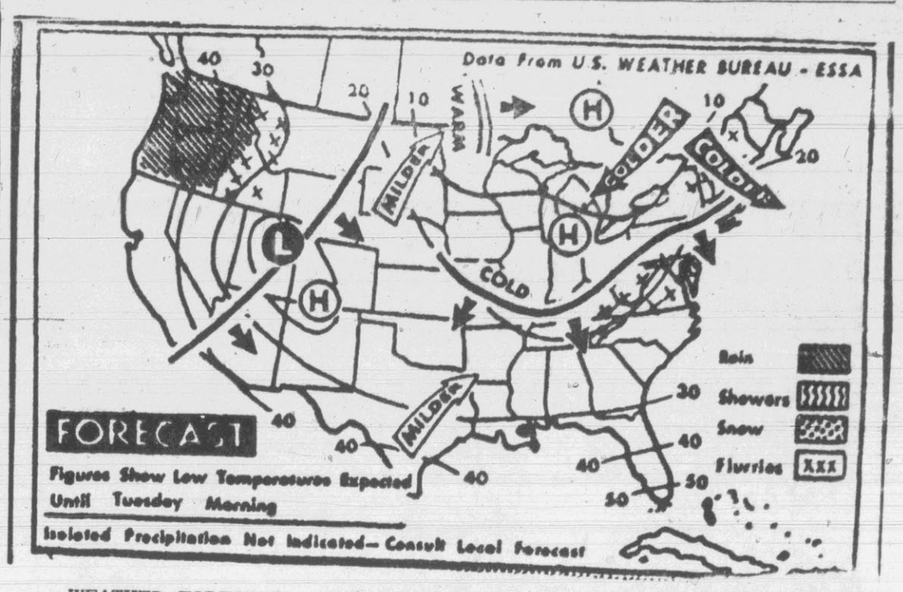

Some civil rights leaders have asserted that Selective Service is unfair to nonwhites from poor families who cannot afford to give their sons a higher education.

But the Rev. Mr. Pair, a Negro, described the system as "the best method I would have been able to imagine."

Replacements for the retiring old board members are expected to be in much lower age brackets in most states. A presidential commission which studied the Selective Service system recommended last year that the boards be made up of younger men.

The first step in choosing local draft board members is for state directors to collect nominations from prominent citizens of the community.

The directors forward the nominations to the governors, who pass on their recommendations to the national director, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey. He makes the appointments.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain with snow showers are forecast Monday night in the Pacific Northwest into the northern Rockies. Snow showers are predicted for the northeastern third of the country. Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service Administration says about 600 Negroes are now serving on local draft boards—an increase of 315 in a year.

Under the draft law of 1967, a Selective Service spokesman said, all local board members over 75 years of age or with 25 years service were required to retire. This provision resulted in about 1,500 vacancies on draft boards.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, has been pushing local boards to increase the number of persons in minority groups represented in the makeup of boards. This has resulted in more Puerto Ricans, Spanish-Americans and American Indians—as well as more Negroes—on draft boards, the spokesman said.

The action resulted, the spokesman said, in Arkansas now having 35 Negro board members where it usedt o have none, and Louisiana now having 33 where it formerly had none.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Coordinating Committee has urged Congress to cut federal income-tax revenues to make more money available for state and local taxes.

"State and local governments would be in a far better position to support their activities adequately if this federal tax burden did not hit their taxpayers every year like a ton of bricks," the GOP leaders said.

They also renewed a proposal that the federal government share part of its tax collections with the states. And they asked for much greater freedom for states in spending federal money, urging that 400 aid programs be consolidated into nine broad categories with a minimum of controls.

The recommendations were in a policy statement on wayst o reverse what the group called "a trend toward centralization in Washington of decision-making on domestic public issues."

Packers Methodically Destroy Oakland, 33-14

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Professional football's second Super Bowl is history and Green Bay's old pro Packers are still on top of the hill.

The Packers methodically destroyed the upstart Oakland Raiders 33-14 Sunday with Bart Starr's brilliant play-calling and Don Chandler's educated toe doing the bulk of the work.

The victory was a study in balance for the Packers, who got solid defense to go with Starr's ball-control offense.

Someone asked Coach Vince Lombardi who would get the game gall and the Packer leader responded with his famous toothy grin.

"The game ball?" Lombardi laughed. "I got it, and it's right over there," he said, nodding at the sterling silver football that sits atop the trophy emblematic of football's world championship.

The game started as if the Packers would breeze and when it finished, they had.

Chandler kicked field goals from 39 and 20 yards out and then Starr and Boyd Dowler combined for a 62-yard scoring pass in the second quarter and a 13-0 Green Bay lead.

Dowler caught Starr's pass over the middle at the Oakland 35 and outran Rodger Bird to score. He later revealed that he was a secondary receiver on the play.

"Carroll Dale was the primary man on the other side," Dowler said. But the Raiders were blitzing on the play and that made the difference. "When Oakland came with the blitz," said Starr, "it meant there was single coverage on Boyd. He beat Kent McCloughan inside."

With the Raiders seeingly ready to be finished off, the Packers let them off the hook. Daryle Lamonica finally got Oakland's offense moving and hit Bill Miller with a 23-yard scoring pass.

"It was typical of the way we've played all year," said Lombardi. "We got a 13-or 14-point lead and then we go on vacation."

The Raiders seemed ready for more late in the first half when Donny Anderson punted and Bird called for a fair catch. But he dropped the ball and rookie Dick Capp, added to the Packer roster in midweek, recovered for Green Bay.

Three plays later, with just six seconds left in the half, Chandler kicked his third field goal — this one from the 43. "That was the one we wanted." the balding, 33-year-old placekicker said. "It meant a nine-point halftime lead instead of six."

Although they were trailing, the Raiders were far from discouraged. "We had complete confidence at halftime," said Coach John Rauch. "We'd come back like that often during the season before."

But the Raiders hadn't played the Packers before.

Green Bay kept the pressure on and soon it was 23-7 on Anderson's two-yard plunge. Starr keyed the 82-yard drive when he hit veteran Max McGee, the hero of last year's Super Bowl, with a 35-yard pass in a third-and-inches situation at the Green Bay 40.

McGee, 35, who announced his retirement after the game, said, "The old man couldn't quit without catching just one more. This is it. I'm retired as of now and, no, he won't talk me out of it this time."

McGee also said he was quitting after the Packers' 35-10 Super Bowl victory over Kansas City last year. But Lombardi convinced him to return this season.

Chandler's fourth field goal of the game, with two seconds left in the period, made it 26-7. The 31-yarder hit the cross bar going over.

Now the Raiders had to open it up — and Green Bay was waiting. Herb Adderley picked off Lamonica's pass and raced 60 yards for a fourth quarter TD. When Lamonica hit Miller for his second score of the game, it was much too little, much too late.

"The Packers never change," said Billy Cannon, the Raiders' tight end. "They just come at you and beat you."

"It was a day of learning," said Lamonica, who completed 15 of 34 for 208 yards compared to Starr's 13 for 24 for 202.

And In She Goes

A WOW OF A FINISH — Johnny Pott gives with the big gesture as his putt from off the green goes into the hole for a birdie in the Bing Crosby golf title. Pott sank the putt on the first hole of a three-way sudden death playoff with Billy Casper and Bruce Devlin. The win was worth $16,000 to Pott. (AP Wirephoto)

Johnny Pott Wins In Crosby Golf Playoff

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The first time Johnny Pott played the 15th hole at Pebble Beach Sunday he won confidence.

The second time he won $16,000 and victory in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.
Crosby Golf Tournament.

His 25-foot chip for a birdie was the money shot but he thought a blast out of the sand an hour earlier and 10 feet away was better.

"I hit a good chip," said the happy 32-year-old from Broadwater Beach, Miss., after whipping Billy Casper and Bruce Devlin in a sudden-death playoff. "But the shot out of the sand on the 15th was a great shot."

Pott—if they had held a vote—would have won the "most unlikely to make a playoff" plaque after 10 holes of the final day of Bing's $104,500 clambake. He had blown a three-stroke lead at the start of Sunday's play and was four strokes down to Casper and three to Devlin.

"I never did get dejected," Iott said. "I wasn't doing anything right but anything can happen."

It did. After four bogeys through 10, John said he began to get the feeling. On 12, he sank a 12-footer for a birdie—"the first thing I'd really done right all day." Then came No. 15—the later scene of his playoff—and he hit his second shot into a trap alongside the green.

Confidence regained, he birdied 16 and 17 and came home with a four-day score of 285, equal to Casper and Devlin.

Pott and his playoff mates went back to friendly 15, first hole of the sudden death. On their second shots, Casper knocked his ball six feet from the pin, Devlin was 50 feet away on the edge of the green and Pott, with an 8-iron, was in a little ridge of fringe grass to the right—a couple of club lengths from Johnny's earlier "great shot."

"I had a pretty good feeling . . . I thought I might make it," he said.

Casper missed his six-footer and Pott, smiling his best toothsome smile, was a tournament champion for the first time since 1963.

He also got $2,700 for winning the pro-amateur title with partner Virgil Sherrill, a New York stockbroker. They had a four-day best-ball total of 253, four strokes ahead of Casper and amateur Bob Dickson.

Casper and Devlin split the second and third pro division money for $7,800 apiece.

Happy WVU Coach Says Hummell One Of Heroes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"He was great, just great," said West Virginia basketball coach Bucky Waters—and yes, he was talking about brilliant Ron Williams. But this time, he was also talking about someone else—Bob Hummell.

The final gun had just sounded Saturday afternoon on WVU's 89-86 overtime upset of Davidson at Morgantown—a triumph that gave WVU the Southern Conference lead — and Waters was listing his heroes.

"Williams was just tremendous — but then he always is," said Waters of the All-Southern star who led the Mountaineers with 30 points. "The man you have to mention especially, though, is Bob Hummell.

"He got 25 points for us, a lot of them in the clutch. This was a big pressure test for a sophomore, and he certainly came through."

Waters didn't say it, but the fact was that Hummell had been a bit of a disappointment until the big battle with taller, stronger Davidson came along. He was averaging only 9.3 points a game, after leading the Mountaineer freshmen last winter with a 24.2 average.

Now, with Hummell going full blast, West Virginia may be poised to live up to pre - season expectations. For while WVU leads the Southern Conference with a 5-1 mark, its over-all record is a mediocre 6-6.

For Davidson, 4-1 in the SC and 10-4 against all comers, the setback was inexplicable. The Wildcats led by 17 points in the second half—and by five points with only 1:08 to go. Still, they were beaten.

"It'll take the responsibility for losing it," said coach Lefty Drisell. "We've got a lot of sophomores in there, but we should be able to do something to protect a lead like that."

WVU's victory, which gave an entirely new complexion to a conference race that could have become a runaway for the Wildcats, came in one of three Saturday night games for SC clubs.

Furman, 4-2 in SC play and 8-7 over-all, moved up to third in the standings by downing The Citadel, 1-2, 6-6, by a 95 - 85 count. William and Mary, 3 - 3, 5-9, rode a floodtide of 35 foul-shot points to a 98-92 overtime victory over old enemy Richmond, 3-4, 6-7. Bad weather forced the postponement of East Carolina's home game with Washington and Lee.

There are only five games on this week's card for conference teams.

The lone intra - conference skirmish is scheduled for tonight when East Carolina, 2-3, 4-6, goes to The Citadel.

West Virginia's presumed improvement will be tested twice in non-conference action — at home against Pitt on Wednesday and at Penn State on Saturday.

Play Tonight

The Rose High School-New Bern basketball games will be played tonight in the Rose High gym.

The game was scheduled for January 12 but was postponed due to bad weather.

The junior varsity contest will begin at 6:30 with the varsity game scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Appalachian To See Big Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defending Carolinas Conference basketball champion Appalachian is slated for heavy action this week—and it is now or never if the Mounties are to take another title back to Boone.

The Mountaineers host second place High Point Tuesday, battle last place Pfeiffer Wednesday, and take on Elon Saturday. All three are conference games.

Appalachian, currently in seventh place, has lost four games. No team has ever lost more than five games and won the conference title.

Also this week, a couple of teams with unimpressive records—second place High Point, and Lenoir Rhyne, tied for third place with Catawba and Atlantic Christian—have the opportunity to up their averages.

Indoor Track Sport Has Fabulous Start

BOSTON (AP) — An Olympic year brings out the best among track athletes — and 1968 doesn't appear to be any different. The indoor board circuit is off to a fabulous start.

"I don't know what we can do for an encore," an official said happily in the wake of the 42nd Knights of Columbus Games Saturday night at Boston Garden. "The meet was fantastic."

Top performances in the K of C meet usually are rare because it is held so early in the season and athletes are just warming up. However, this year was a big exception.

A flock of Olympic hopefuls is ready for hot competition leading to the World Games at Mexico City this summer. The athletes are in top shape and going all out.

Few wanted to talk about their Olympic hopes after the K of C meet. However, former Georgetown star Eamonn O'Reilly summed up the general feeling: "yes, we all dream."

O'Reilly, now running out of Oakland, Calif., hopes to make the U.S. Olympic team in the 3,000-meter steeplechase or the 5,000 or 10,000-meter runs.

As one of his tuneups, he set a meet record of 8:41 in the Boston two-mile event. The clocking was a personal best.

Southern California football star Earl McCullough, fresh from the Rose Bowl, felt tired as he entered the Garden with just four hours sleep after a victory in Washington Friday night. Then he broke too soon for a false start in the finals of the 45-yard high hurdles.

Although claiming he was weary and worried by the false start, McCullouch equalled a 26-year-old indoor record with a clocking of 5.3 seconds for the unusual distance.

"If I felt better I'm sure I could have broken the record," he said matter of factly.

Sweden's Ulf Hoegberg, making only his second appearance on the boards, was voted the meet's outstanding performer. The 21-year-old student ran the fastest mile in Boston history as he turned in a blistering 4:02.3 effort.

Australia's Ralph Boubell made his U.S. debut by turning in the fastest 1,000 yards in Boston history — 2:07.7. Another all-time Garden mark was set by Villanova's Vince Bizzarro, who hit a personal high of 16-7¾ in the pole vault.

Week Of Opportunity For Clemson Cagers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is the week opportunity beckons for the heretofore virtually toothless Tigers of Clemson in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race.

While pace-setting North Carolina and most of the other league teams take time out for midyear exams, Clemson has a chance to scramble out of the cellar.

The Tigers could do it on their home court tonight against Maryland, another team that has been stumbling.

North Carolina, No. 3 in the nation, hit a season high in winning at Clemson 115-83 Saturday night to rack up No. 4 in a row in the ACC while pushing Clemson a bit deeper into the cellar at 0-4.

But Coach Bobby Roberts' sophomore - junior squad at Clemson could replace Maryland (1-5) in seventh place with a victory in tonight's only ACC game.

The sparse schedule lists only three other games involving league teams this week. Maryland is host to Navy Wednesday and on Saturday afternoon Clemson plays a regionally televised game at Virginia. Rounding out the skimpy slate, North Carolina State is host to East Carolina of the Southern Conference Saturday night.

Clemson held midyear exams last month, hence the activity.

Clemson, 1-7 for all games, shot 47.8 per cent against North Carolina, but a 57.8 performance by the Tar Heels and 27 turnovers by the Tigers sent North Carolina breezing to its ninth straight victory and 11th in 12 games.

Larry Miller's 30 points before he retired with eight minutes to play was the top Tar Heel performance.

Duke climbed into a second place tie at 3-1 with idle North Carolina State by trouncing Maryland 84-52 on the Terp floor in a regionally televised game.

Steve Vandenberg scored 22 points, Mike Lewis had 17 and each grabbed 12 rebounds to spearhead the Duke rout of a Maryland team that shot only 30 per cent.

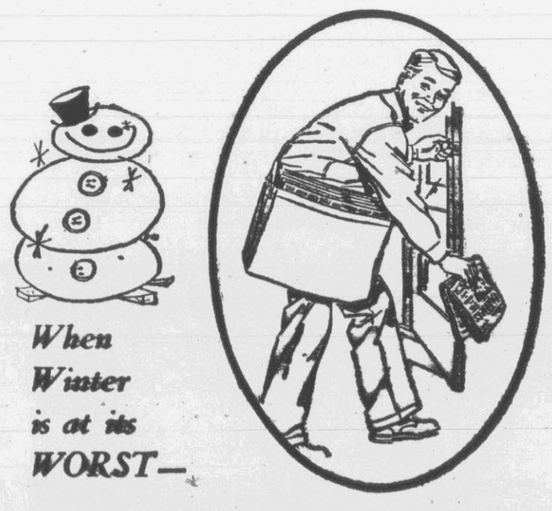

South Carolina tightened its hold on fourth place at 4-2 by bombing Virginia 94-68 after holding a 41-40 lead at the intermission. Jack Thompson, back in action after a month on the injured list, scored 22 points and Skip Harlicka 30 to sound a warning to future foes that Frank McGuire's Gamecocks must be reckoned with the rest of the way.

Wake Forest stepped out of the conference and found the going just as rough as Temple belted the Deacons 84-73 for its 10th victory and the 10th loss for Wake Forest.

Sophomore Dickie Walker's 23 points and a team total of 25 freethrow conversions in 29 attempts kept Wake Forest from a complete rout. The visiting Owls were led by John Baum, who scored 26 points and snared 12 rebounds.

Humphrey Sees Calif. Party Unity Plea Fail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Hubert H Humphrey's hope for party unity was quickly dashed by dissident California Democrats who lined up behind Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Humphrey, warning intraparty warfare over Vietnam could cost Democrats the White House in November's elections, won repeated applause from a conference of California Democrats in a speech backing President Johnson's war policies.

But about 50 of the conference delegates joined McCarthy in calling for immediate negotiations to end the war, and led cheers for the senator Sunday when he charged Johnson "is following a Republican foreign policy" in Vietnam.

McCarthy, the Minnesotan whose campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination is based on his differences with U.S. war policy, spoke one day after fellow-Minnesotan Humphrey addressed the conference.

"Don't put poison in the well from whence you're going to have to drink," Humphrey told about 1,000 delegates.

Despite the dissenting notes from the antiwar delegates, State Chairman Charles Warren said "the overriding majority of Democratic participants in the meeting support the President of the United States."

As Democrats waged their foreign policy fight in the West, Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan paused in his bid to capture the March 12 New Hampshire primary.

Romney foresook the campaign trail Sunday. He worshiped at a Portsmouth, N.H., branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, telling his fellow Mormons during the service the nation's "most burning domestic problem is social injustice to people because of race and color."

Romney has faced criticism from some Negroes on the ground that Mormons exlude Negroes from the church priesthood.

Earlier in the weekend, Romney managers reported many New Hampshire Republicans appear to be withholding support from the Michigan governor in the belief New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will enter the GOP primary.

"There's no indication that Gov. Rockefeller is going to do other than support me," Romney told one audience. "I hope the Rockefeller people will do what he is urging them to do."

The Gallup Poll reported meanwhile that its nationwide sampling indicated President Johnson is considered more hawklike in his Vietnam policy than any potential Republican presidential candidate.

The poll defined a hawk as one who wants to escalate the military effort in Vietnam and a dove as a person who wants to reduce it.

On that basis, the poll found 66 per cent of those sampled felt Johnson was a hawk, and 18 per cent thought he was a dove, while 16 per cent offered no opinion.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was considered a hawk by 46 per cent, a dove by 26 per cent; McCarthy, a dove by 52 to 11 per cent; Romney a dove 39 to 21 per cent; Rockefeller a dove by 30 to 28 per cent; Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a dove 54 to 25 per cent; former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, a possible third-party candidate, a hawk 37 to 20 per cent; and California's GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan, a hawk by 39 to 27 per cent.

The State Poll copyrighted by the Los Angeles Times said its survey showed 31 per cent of Californians polled believe Nixon is the leading contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

That was a three-point jump for Nixon over his percentage the previous month, but Rockefeller now stands at 23 per cent —an increase from 13 per cent last September.

In other weekend political developments:

—James A. Farley, making his first political speech in nearly a year, told a conference of Democrats in Salt Lake City, Utah, that Johnson will win a "smashing victory" this year despite "a few renegade ingrates within our party."

Farley, 79, postmaster general under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, singled out for criticism two other opponents of Johnson's war policies, New York's Sen. Kennedy and Sen. J. W. Fullbright, D-Ark.

—Arkansas' Republican State Committee voted unanimously to send Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to the GOP National Convention as a favorite son.

The Arkansas governor has urged his brother, New York's Gov. Rockefeller, to announce his candidacy for the GOP nomination.

—Also urging the New Yorker to enter the race was a newly formed "Rockefeller for President" group in Washington, D.C. The group said it would work to get capital Republicans to unite in a draft-Rockefeller movement.

Strikers To Ask City Bar Strike-Breakers

DURHAM (AP)—A delegation from the Tobacco Worker's International Union is to meet with the Durham city council tonight in an attempt to obtain city legislation banning the use of strike breakers by American Tobacco Co.

Members of the Durham local met Sunday and voted to petition the city council for an ordinance preventing the strike-bound plant from bringing in outside workers while the strike continues.

Rudolph Hobby, president of TWIU Local 183, said he expects more than 5,000 union members and supporters to attend tonight's meeting.

Ordinances similar to the one proposed by Hobby have been adopted by "more than 100 cities in 18 states," Hobby said.

He told union members Sunday American Tobacco intends to import supervisory personnel from the Richmond, Va., and Reidsville plants in an attempt to break the Durham strike.

All three plants are under strike by the union in a dispute over wage provisions and cost of living and work load clauses in the contract.

Company officials declined Sunday to comment on the strke-breaking charge.

The strike began Jan. 1 after workers at the Durham and Richmond plants rejected the company's final contract offer. Also involved is American's Louisville, Ky., plant.

Negotiations broke down again last Wednesday after no progress was reported.

Workers at the Reidsville plant voted Saturday to legally sanction the Durham walk-out. the Reidsville local had voted to accept the company's last offer, but union members went on strike in sympathy with the other plants.

In addition to union leaders and members, those attending Sunday's meeting included Durham City Councilman C. E. Boulware and W. Millard Barbee, president of the North Carolina AFL-CIO.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠— ♡Q ♢A 6 ♢A K 8 4 3 2 ♣Q J 3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♢	2 ♣	Pass	Pass
Dble.	Pass	2 ♢	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. True, partner has promised nothing since he forced him to bid, but possession of four diamonds will no doubt enable you to run the suit and a club lead or the favorable location of the king of spades would give you a ninth trick.

Q. 2—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A J 7 2 ♡2 ♢K J 6 ♣A J 9 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Altho West's overcall is preemptive, your partner was unable to compete freely and there is no safe course of action available to you. A pass, at least, is apt to produce a small profit.

Q. 3—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A Q 3 ♡K Q J 8 7 ♢3 ♣K Q 8 7
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♢	Dble.	Pass
1 ♡	Dble.	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Your partner is most likely close to being broke since East has announced possession of a very good hand, so the burden of the bidding lies squarely on your shoulders. Since both the ace of clubs and the king of spades appear to be favorably located for your side, all partner requires is some fair distribution or the jack of clubs to make four hearts a virtual lay-down.

Q. 4—Your side is vulnerable with an 80 part score, and as South you hold:
♠K J 10 6 4 3 ♡K 9 2 ♢7 3 ♣K 10
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	3 ♢	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♢	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. No serious thought should be given to bidding four hearts as that call could only serve to inflame an already slam minded partner. You had barely enough for your free bid and a simple rebid in your suit is called for at this point to slow down the pace.

Q. 5—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠Q 6 5 4 3 2 ♡J 10 ♢A 8 3 ♣3 2
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♡	1 ♠

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. No more drastic action than this could be justified on such a relatively balanced holding. Unless partner can proceed over three, no game will have been missed. A leap to game by you might invite a double that could prove surprisingly costly.

Q. 6—Neither side vulnerable. As South you hold:
♠A 8 5 4 3 ♡6 2 ♢10 8 5 2 ♣7 3
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
4 ♡	Dble.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass, for a sure profit. A double at this level, while it still may be taken out, should be passed with anything but a highly unbalanced holding. There is no guarantee that partner possesses a fit with the spades, so any offensive action by you would be highly speculative.

Q. 7—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠8 6 ♡A 9 8 3 ♢J 6 3 ♣A 10 5 4
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♢	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 ♢	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. Your hand does not technically qualify for a second constructive bid. However, partner appears to have a very good diamond holding, since on his rebid he skipped by spades, no trump, and clubs. If he can stop spades, there may be nine tricks available in no trump.

Q. 8—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A K 10 9 ♡A Q J 7 3 ♢9 8 6 5
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	2 ♣	Dble.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. True, you are void in clubs and that is always a deterrent against leaving a penalty double in, but your defensive values, otherwise, are all of the gilt-edged variety your partner will be counting on. His club holding figures to be pretty good, and you are well prepared to give the opposition a warm reception should they decide to run out to some other spot.

Seek Competitive Bids For New PO

The Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids to build and lease the new post office at Greenville, N.C. 27834, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced.

The purpose of competitive bidding, O'Brien said, is to encourage the most attractive and economical offers to the Government in line with President Johnson's economy program to achieve the best possible postal service at the least possible cost.

Under the Department's Lease Construction program, the site selected on the block bounded by Greene Street, Second Street, First Street, and Pitt Street, will be assigned to the successful bidder, who will purchase the property, construct the building according to departmental specifications and lease it to the Post Office Department for a basic period of 20 years, with options to renew the lease for an additional 30 years.

The Department's capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents may be obtained from Gerald D. Martin, Room 224 Main Post Office, P.O. Box 20966, Greensboro, N.C. 27420. The Real Estate Officer will supply bidding forms, building specifications, lease provisions and other information. Bids must be submitted to the Real Estate Officer by 10:00 A.M., February 19.

Seventeen GOP Members Of Assembly For Gardner

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Seventeen Republican members of the 1967 North Carolina General Assembly today announced their endorsement of Rep. Jim Gardner, R-N C., in the GOP gubernatorial race.

State Sen. Bruce Briggs, R-Buncombe, said at a news conference in Charlotte, "we believe we are endorsing a man who has leadership ability and has demonstrated a sincere desire to serve the state of North Carolina."

The group represents a majority of the Republican delegations in the House and Senate during the 1967 session, but one of the signers of the endorsement, Ronald Ingle, resigned his House seat when he moved from Forsyth to Wake County last year.

Briggs, however,s aid, "Many other Republican members of the General Assembly are supporting Jim Gardner for governor but were unable for various reasons to announce their endorsement at this time."

The 30 - year - old senator praised Gardner as a Congressman who has "expressedand displayed a deep concern about the problems confronting our state" and "demonstrated a unique ability of leadership."

In his prepared statement announcing the endorsements, Briggs did not mention Gardner's opponent in the Republican primary, John L. Stickley of Charlotte, but he criticized one oft he three Democratic candidates, Lt. Gov. Bob Scott.

"As state legislators we have observed in the 1967 General Assembly the lack of leadership displayed by the lieutenant governor and other top state officials," Briggs said. The lack of leadership, he added, was evident "in such critical matters as public education, East Carolina University status, insurance and voting reforms."

In addition, to Briggs and Ingle, the GOP legislators endorsing Gjrdner include:

Sens. T. R. Bryan Sr. of Wilkes, Harry Bagnal of Forsyth and Claude U. Parrish of Rowan; and Reps. Colon Blake of Montgomery, Gilbert Lee Boger of Davie, Roby Garner Sr. of Randolph, Edley Hutchins of Buncombe, Mack S. Isaac of Avery, Howard A. Jemison of Forsyth, E. M. McKnight of Forsyth, Austin Mitchell of Rowan, Charles Taylor of Transylvania, Samuel A. Troxell of Rowan, Wayne Wicker of Davidson and Clyde Whitley of Stanly.

Model Tank Will Be A Reminder

OLDENBURG, Germany (AP) — Christian Schneekloth's first toy is a model of the West German Army tank in which he was born during a snow storm.

The real tank was dispatched to the nearby north German village of Doehnsdorf after snow drifts blocked Mrs. Marga Schneekloth's way to a maternity clinic. Christian was born during the cross-country ride in the tank, with an assist from the crew.

The 6th Scout Battalion later volunteered to become the seven-pound boy's sponsor and gave him the tank model.

SHIP DETAINED

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)— Indonesian port authorities found radios, tape recorders and cigarettes in the Panamanian ship "King Lion", that was supposed to be carrying only flour and general cargo. The ship has been detained.

False Notions Cause Damage To Marriage

Lola is in the same boat with probably 1,000,000 other young wives. Their lives are miserable and quite unnecessarily. But their husbands have absorbed a false, though widely prevalent notion, about women's erotic nature. So send for the booklet below and stop such abnormal jealousy!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE E-561: Lola B., aged 24, is worried.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I have been married for two years but my life is miseable.

"For my husband is almost insane with jealousy.

"He refuses to let me go to the supermarket to buy groceries unless he is along.

"Why, I can't even attend church alone! And even if he is with me, if the usher smiles and greets me by name, he accuses me of having an affair with that usher.

"Dr. Crane the more jealous he becomes, the more frigid I feel toward him. And that seems to incite further jealousy. So what can I do except get a divorce?"

Jealousy usually indicates a feeling of sexual inferiority.

Lola's husband is like millions of others who have an entirely false notion about woman's erotic hunger.

Such men thing ahat a devoted wife should be as wildly ardent as her husband.

But that's not true!

Normal wives are frigid as measured by the usual male standard.

Sex is not of primary interest to the typical woman, though it is a major driving force in the husband's personality.

Occasionally we find sexual gluttons among women but they are also victims of a serious inferiority complex.

They usually feel that they are below par, as a woman, due to sterility, removal of a cancerous breast, ugly scars as from burns, a crippled condition, plus the menopause or a hysterectomy.

Such women may then rush into clandestine affairs as a tonic to their minds but not because of real sexual hunger.

They use men as cosmetic sops to their vanity.

We call such women nymphomaniacs.

But they are not motivated by a localized sexual urge by an ego hunger to compensate for their imagined feminine inferiority.

Lola's husband is seriously deflated in his ego because Lola doesn't show wild excitement at his amative advances.

So she has unintentionally made him feel below par in the erotic realm.

That attitude then causes his insane jealousy.

"She must be as wildly passionate as I am," reasons such a husband who has this false notion about a wife's erotic ardor.

"So why isn't she interested in my physical advances? It must be due to the fact that she is dissipating her erotic desires by clandestine affairs with other men.

"Ergo, I'll accuse her violently until she confesses. And I'll watch her like a hawk till I catch the other men making love to her."

That is the usual confession that jealous husbands will make to us doctors, though they may not have verbalized those ideas to their own wife.

So she is bewildered by their supposedly unjustified jealousy. Yet the husbands think they have ample evidence for their suspicions!

To prevent this all to common misunderstanding in early marriage, send for the booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. It can stop such jealousy quickly!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Didn't Warm Up In 'Sunny South'

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A truck driver who apparently thought he was driving into the sunny Southland had to be "thawed out." Ulysses Gallman of Newberry, S.C. pulled into a service station and asked that a policeman help him get to the nearest hospital.

Gallman said it was 30 below when he left New York State, and a vent on the left side of his truck's cab was stuck open, resulting in a steady flow of frigid air on his left foot. Gallman said he thought things would warm up when he got into the South, but the mercury didn't climb far enough. Lynchburg that night had an overnight low of 11 above.

The driver was treated for frost bite.

Roof Caved In On Librarians

CARSON CITY Nev. (AP) — City librarians working in the basement of the civic auditorium had complained about the thump, thump, thumping of basketballs and players' feet on the floor above.

Cracks suddenly appeared in the ceiling. An hour later, with the library still open, the roof caved in. No one was reported hurt. Some books and equipment were damaged.

Henry Etchemendy, city-county manager, said the floor of the 30 year-old auditorium had gradually been weakened by use of the basketball floor by a winter recreation league.

A chair was displayed in Chicago which weighed 2,000 pounds and was 14 feet high.

NOTICE

North Carolina
Pitt County

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust executed by Reuben Payton, Rosa Lee Payton, John Bebion Hill and Icerlene Hill, to M. E. Cavendish, Trustee, dated September 16, 1964, and recorded in Book X-34, Page 371, in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, and the said deed of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, and the holder of the indebtedness thereby secured having demanded a foreclosure thereof for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness, the undersigned Trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse door of Pitt County, in Greenville, North Carolina, at twelve o'clock, noon, on the 12th day of February, 1968, the land conveyed in said deed of trust, the same being more particularly described as follows:

Lying and being situate in Winterville Township, Pitt County, State of North Carolina and BEGINNING at the northeast corner in the railroad right-of-way of Pattie Mayo's lot, and running northwardly with railroad right-of-way, 17½ yards to Calvin Cox's corner; thence westwardly with Calvin Cox's line, 70 yards to his other corner; thence southwardly and parallel with the first line 17½ yards to Pattie Mayo's corner; thence eastwardly with Pattie Mayo's line, 70 yards to the point of Beginning, and said lot being situate on the west of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and contains one-fourth of an acre, more or less, and being the same lot which was conveyed by A. G. Cox and wife, Susan, to Sarah Duggins on the 20th day of December, 1906, by deed recorded in Book M-8, at Page 535, of the Pitt County Registry, and further being the identical lot or parcel of land conveyed by deed of record in Book D-26, Page 627, Pitt County Registry.

But this sale will be made subject to all outstanding and unpaid taxes and municipal assessments.

The highest bidder will be required to make a cash deposit of ten per cent of the amount of the bid.

This the 11th day of January, 1968.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today are steady to mostly 25 to 50 cents higher today. Tops of 18.25-18.85 at Rocky Mount; 17.75-18.75 Wilson; 17.50-18.25 Statesville; 17.50-18.00 Hickory; 17.00-18.00 Bethel; 18.50 Salisbury, Rich Square; 18.25 Greensboro, Goldsboro; 18.00 Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina poultry market prices today advanced one-half cent per pound. Price of live poultry at the farms is 12½ to 13, mostly 12½ cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — More stocks rose than fell, but the Dow Jones industrial average continued to decline early Monday afternoon, following the pattern which prevailed most of last week.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1 among stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the 30 blue chip industrials listed in the Dow Jones industrial average, however, losses had the edge, with the average dipping 2.25 to 896.73 at noon.

Analysts saw the blue chip segment of the market as cautious and uninspired now that the early January reinvestment demand has been satisfied.

Buying interest spread to a host of secondary issues, most of them with speculative appeal for one reason or another.

Wall Street was hesitant in view of the reconventing of Congress and the President's coming message on the state of the union and the budget.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 325.9 with industrials up .2, rails up .2 and utilities unchanged.

Biggest news for Wall Street was that the Supreme Court had finally approved the New York Central-Pennsylvania Railroad merger. Pennsy spurted 3½ points to a peak of 62 on the news but soon settled back to a fractional net gain. New York Central widened a small fractional gain on the initial impact of the news, then eased back, trading about unchanged.

Movements were very narrow among steels, autos, rubbers and oils.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Officials in Martin County reported that the county's 18 schools had resumed normal operations today.

Limited service has been restored to all telephone exchanges now, according to Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company Greenville manager Linwood Langley.

The official said by Sunday night 1,500 telephones had been reported out, although 573 of them had been restored by that time.

In addition, he said the company had reports of 132 poles down, of which 39 had been replaced.

Additional contract crews coming in brought the number of telephone construction crews operating in Pitt County to eight, including about 70 men. This, he said, is in addition to the local service men working to restore service to individual homes.

Conditions in other Pitt County and surrounding towns were also improved Saturday and Sunday.

Winterville, which had been without power and even without water for a period of several hours Thursday, reported today power restored in most areas of the town. The damage to the street light circuit and the main water pump motor that was burned out were the largest damage in Winterville, according to town officials.

Fountain, without water for four or five hours Saturday, reported today that current to most of the town had been restored.

Officials said workmen were expected to have one of the town's water pumps repaired by noon and in operation.

A generator from Camp Lejeune was moved to Fountain Saturday night to power one of the town's water pumps and supply water. The generator had been used in Winterville to supply power for city water pumps there before electric power was restored there.

Farmville Police Chief Graham Creel reported that all current was back on in the town today. He added that most electric power, with the exception of possibly some isolated places in the county, serviced by Farmville was on.

Officials in Ayden this morning reported that power has been restored to about 95 per cent of the customers there. They noted that individual homes where connections were torn away and some isolated cases are the only ones now without power in town.

Four crews were reported working on lines supplying current to the area of the county around Ayden and until they finish, only about 45 per cent of the rural area will have current, officials noted.

The lines in rural areas around the town received heavy damage and will take longer to rebuild.

One crew from Florida, two from Charlotte, and the local town crew are working mostly on rural area service.

Officials noted, however, that it may be the end of the week before current can be restored to much of the rural area.

No telephone contact was available with Grifton and Snow Hill this morning.

She was the sister of Mrs. C. W. Dunn of Greenville.

Four Charged In Theft Of Hogs

Four persons have been charged with larceny of hogs from a farm between Belvoir and Penney Hill.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson identified the four, all Negro, as: Ernest Mullins, Jr., 18, Rt. 1, Box 291A Tarboro; Kenneth Sheppard, 20, Rt. 1, Box 283, Greenville; Hilton Reddick, 16, Rt. 4, Box 267, Greenville; Dennis Dupree, 17, Rt. 4, Box 253, Greenville.

They will be tried in County Court.

The sheriff said the hogs were reported stolen around 11 a. m. Saturday from the farm of Bruce Simpkins at Rt. 1, Box 353, Tarboro. The hogs —three duroc yorkshires and one white yorkshire — were taken from a pasture on rural road 1408.

They were located at Owens Livestock Sale where they had been sold, the sheriff reported. All four hogs, valued at $125, were rcovered.

Vietnam Debate Slated Tuesday

A debate on Vietnam between Dr. John P. East and Cleveland Bradner Jr. will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Education-Psychology Auditorium at East Carolina University.

The resolution for the debate is: "Resolved, that the defense of South Vietnam is vital to the national interest of the United States."

Dr. East will maintain the affirmative and Bradner the negative. A question and answer period will follow the debate.

NO "COMMODITY"

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Sharon McFarland has resigned her title as Miss California in protest over being treated as "just a commodity."

Silt Is Choking Haiphong Port

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communists are being force to rely heavily on small ships to supply North Vietnam because silt is choking channels and waterways leading into the major port of Haiphong, U.S. intelligence sources say.

They said this means the Communists must use many more vessels than previously.

In peacetime, the approaches to Haiphong were kept open for big ships by constant dredging of the approaches.

But the sources said Sunday the Communists apparently are having increasing difficulty carrying out the necessary amount of dredging. They gave no reason for this except to cite "wartime conditions."

"Silting has become a real problem," one expert said. "Haiphong is a bad harbor to get into.

"You see very few of the bigger ships going in these days. North Vietnam needs smaller ships."

Vessels up to 10,000 tons used to be common sights in the Haiphong harbor, the sources said, but now ships in the 5,000-6,000 ton range and smaller are needed to haul petroleum, food and other cargo to support the Communist war effort.

Offering Help Emergency Cases

Representatives of the Randolph Emergency Fund have asked local citizens to cooperate in helping the fund to give aid to persons in need of food, clothing or emergency medical care.

They said if anyone knows of anyone in an emergency situation and in need of food, clothing and medical care, George F. Garrett, 752-5293; Gonnie Mae Jordan, 758-9638 or Moses Teel, 752-5431; could be contacted.

Dr. Blaiberg Leaves His Bed

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Philip Blaiberg got out of bed today for the second time since his heart transplant operation Jan. 2. A hospital bulletin described his condition as satisfactory; but his wife said he looks "marvelous."

Mrs. Blaiberg said her 58-year-old husband sat in a chair to eat supper Sunday night and again to have lunch today.

"He looks marvelous and has an excellent appetite," she told reporters.

Rent-Strikers Bow To Order By Judge

DURHAM (AP) — Negro tenant of low rent housing projects bowed today to a temporary restraining order issued by Superior Court Judge C. W. Hall and called off their week-old rent strike against the Durham Housing Authority.

Mrs. Irene Joyner, chairman of the Tenants Steering Committee and one of the individuals named in the restraining order, announced the end of the strike in a formal statement.

She made no mention of the cease-and-desist terms of the court order as the reason for ending the strike.

Instead, she said the striking tenants have decided to pay their rent because, "We have been informed" the housing autrority is seeking federal approval for a change in the method of determining rental fees.

This could not be immediately confirmed with Carvie Oldham, executive director of the housing authority, who secured the court order Friday.

Mrs. Joyner denied contentions in the court order that the United Organizations for Community Improvement (UOCI), operation breakthrough and the North Carolina Fund had any active role in the rent strike. The UOCI had acted only in an advisory capacity, she stated.

A spokesman for the UOCI had stated at the outset of the strike that the UOCI was withholding the striking tenants' rental fees until their grievances with the housing authority were settled.

Mrs. Joyner said the tenants initiated the strike on their own, and that "no other groups or organizations started the strike or encouraged the tenants to do anything."

The housing authority, in its petition to Superior Court for the restraining order, stated that it was owed $8,000 in back rent from the striking tenants.

The strike involved about 100 tenants, less than 10 per cent of those living in the low rent projects.

Neuroanatomists Lecture On ECU Campus Today

Two eminent neuroanatomists are visiting East Carolina University today to speak to science faculty members and students.

Dr. Jerome Sutin, chairman of the anatomy department of the Emory University School of Medicine, was to address a biology departmental meeting at 5 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium. The public was invited.

Schnitzlein Sutin

Dr. H. N. Schnitzlein, associate professor at the University of Alabama Medical Center, is tonight's guest speaker at the ECU Sigma Xi Club. His address, "The Relationship of Fish Brain to Behavior," is scheduled at 8 p.m. in Room 315 of Flanagan Building.

Dr. Sutin and his associates have published numerous accounts of research on the brain, its anatomy and the influence of factors such as drugs on its activity.

Dr. Schnitzlein has published extensively on comparative anatomy of the brain. His research has involved brain anatomy of man, monkey, fish and the African lungfish.

During their visit on the campus today the two scientists were scheduled to visit several biology classes to speak informally on the comparative anatomy of the brain.

Galifianakis To Seek Seat In 4th

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C., announced today he will be a candidate for Congress from North Carolina's new 4th District. He now represents the 5th District.

The new 4th District includes Wake, Durham, Orange, Randolph and Chatham counties.

Europe Hit By Snow And Gales

LONDON (AP) — Snow storms and winds of hurricane force swept across Europe and as far east as Iran today, leaving a trail of death and destruction.

And at the height of the great winter storm, a series of earthquakes struck Sicily, killing more than 250 by police accounts, razing villages, and leaving survivors huddling in subfreezing cold.

Hardest hit by the high winds were England and Scotland, where at least 16 persons were killed, four persons were missing and hundreds were injured as houses collapsed.

Heavy snows and the threat of avalanches trapped thousands in the Swiss Alps.

In the eastern Mediterranean, blizzards struck Syria, Jordan, Israel and Iran and high winds wrought havoc in Lebanon.

Reports listed two children burned to death and hundreds injured in forest fires, fanned by the high winds in the Caspian region of Iran.

Syria, in the wake of weekend hurricane-force winds, was blanketed in deep snow, Damascus Airport was closd, and the port of Latakia was badly damaged.

Winds of up to 100 miles an hour struck in Jordan, and Amman, the capital had the heaviest snowfall in years. The storm spread misery among Arab refugees from the war with Israel in the Jordan River Valley. Their tents were torn to shreds.
