Jail Break-Out In S. Carolina By Bank Bandit

SUMTER, S. C. — An Ayden, N. C. Negro, charged with the December 28 robbery of the West End Circle office of State Bank and Trust Co., in Greenville, N. C. escaped Sunday from the Sumter County jail here.

Curtis Harris, 23, apparently planned his escape carefully, Sheriff I. Byrd Parnell said.

Harris was arrested in Florence, S. C. January 9 by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and charged with the $17,567 robbery. When arrested, Harris had $13,891 in five State Bank and Trust Co. money bags in his suitcase.

He had been held in the maximum security section of the two-story county jail, where federal prisoners are usually housed, since his arrest.

Sheriff Parnell said Harris was discovered missing from his cell about 7 a.m. when a jailer made a routine check.

Officers said Harris, the only prisoner in his cell, kicked a plumbing fixture from the wall and crawled through the small hole into a narrow alleyway separating his cell from another row of cells which backed up to his.

Harris then kicked a plumbing fixture out of a cell in the other cell block. That cell, the sheriff said, was unoccupied and the cell door was open.

Apparently, Sheriff Parnell explained, Harris waited until the jailer came for his check, then fled from the jail through the unlocked office door, running down a flight of stairs and out the front door.

When last seen in the jail, Harris was wearing dark pants and a white shirt with red checks, and had a dark raincoat. The six-foot-two-and-one-half inch tall 220-pound man was wearing a heavy goatee and moustache also.

Small Marine Force, Civilians Move Out

Town Is Evacuated Under Threat Of Massing North Vietnamese

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders abandoned the town of Khe Sanh under pressure of North Vietnamese army regulars today and several thousand civilians fled for their lives.

About two dozen U.S. Marines and 40 South Vietnamese militiamen pulled out of the town in South Vietnam's threatened northwest corner after repeated weekend attacks by a force estimated to number 600 North Vietnamese.

Marine commanders said the decision for the withdrawal was made because of the danger that the North Vietnamese could overrun the town at any time. The commanders added that 3,000 Marines based at the Khe Sanh combat camp two miles outside the town were spread too thin to provide reinforcements.

After the weekend attacks in the Khe Sanh area, the enemy let up today but continued to lob mortar rounds into U.S. and South Vietnamese positions.

Waves of B52 bombers pounded suspected enemy positions in the Khe Sanh Valley area.

Khe Sanh is seven miles east of the Laotian border and 16 miles south of the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams. U.S. officials said the North Vietnamese were striking from staging bases in Communist-held territory in Laos in hopes of scoring a spectacular military victory for propaganda purposes.

Associated Press correspondent Robert D. Ohman reported from Khe Sanh residents of the town were streaming into the Marine combat camp in the valley with their pots, pans and bundles of belongings. They were forced to dive into trenches on several occasions when enemy mortar rounds fell. The refugees were being airlifted to Da Nang on the coast.

The huge eight-engine Stratofortresses struck four times in 24 hours around the big U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh that guards the northwest approaches from the demilitarized zone and Laos into South Vietnam.

The bombers dropped their loads of up to 50,000 pounds of explosives each on suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations, staging and storage areas in a wide area ranging from three miles southeast of Khe Sanh to 15 miles north of the base.

In addition, Air Force, Marine and Navy fighter-bombers flew more than 50 strikes Sunday in support of hard-pressed allied forces who for two days beat off brutal mortar, artillery and ground assaults.

Military officials ordered newsmen to stay away from the area. But one who did get a glimpse of the main Khe Sanh base, Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc, said Communist rockets left some Marine bunkers and huts in rubble and smoke blanketed the entire camp. The allied strongpoint guards the northwest approaches to South Vietnam from Laos, where the North Vietnamese troops are believed to group up.

Federal Funds For Highways Are Held Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd announced today that $600 million in federal highway money will be held back during the 1968 calendar year to fight inflation.

The department said this was a five per cent reduction in the level of obligation to states in 1967.

But the federal highway fund is growing each year, and the reduction will put the level about 13 per cent below what will be available this year.

The total obligation level for this calendar year will be $4.115 billion, Boyd said. He described the holdback as a "modest but essential move to combat general inflationary tendencies in the economy."

Boyd had warned the nation's governors last October that the highway program could be held back by as much as one-half.

While the reduction announced today will slow highway construction, carried out by the states, it has no effect on the budget. This is because income for the highway program—mainly from gasoline taxes—will row in the federal highway trust fund which can be used for no other purpose than highways.

Klan Informer Fears For His Family

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Robert Hill, a self-described former triggerman for a Ku Klux Klan terrorist squad, says he sat up at nights with a loaded gun across his knees after becoming an informer for the FBI last March.

Hill said in an interview that he feared for his life and those of his wife and five daughters.

Hill's whereabouts have been kept secret since he turned informer and moved his family from their Concord home. He says he now fears for the safety of his mother and sister who still live in Concord.

The 31-year-old truck driver testified for the government during the recent trial of nine klansmen on charges of conspiring to disrupt school integration and anti-poverty programs in Rowan and Cabarrus counties. Eight of the men were found innocent. A mistrial was declared in the case of the ninth. Hill pleaded guilty to the charges.

Hill said he doesn't regret becoming an informer, but added he wouldn't feel safe at his old home.

ROME (AP) — Ex-Mayor Amerigo Petrucci, who was arrested Saturday on embezzlement charges, suffered a heart attack in jail Sunday. His condition was not considered grave.

Pitt County Fair Dates Announced — October 7-12

The annual Pitt County American Legion Agricultural Fair at Greenville will be staged this year Oct. 7-12, according to an announcement made by President Ford McGowan.

McGowan said many improvements will be made at the Fairgrounds during the year, including the possibility of repainting the livestock building and the erection of a new fence at the lower end of the grounds. Mrs. Amos J. Evans will serve as Entry Clerk and receptionist and Norman Y. Chambliss will be manager for the 19th consecutive year. The 1968 event will offer $3,800 for agricultural exhibits, livestock, swine and poultry.

Sam C. Winchester will be in charge of the Men's Division of exhibits and Mrs. Sue B. May and Miss Addie Gore will head the Woman's Division.

McGowan said the Fair is owned and operated by the American Legion Posts of Greenville, Farmville and Ayden and has been very successful for the past years. He added that exhibits would be limited to Pitt County.

Industrial Investment In N.C. Said Showing Gain

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Investment in new and expanded industry in North Carolina topped the half-billion dollar mark in 1967 for the second successive year, members of the North Carolina Board of Conservation and Development were told today.

A report from the C&D Division of Commerce and Industry, read at the board's mid-winter meeting, said industrial investment for the year totaled nearly $662 million as compared with $614 million in 1966.

The 1967 plant investment, however, created only 23,774 new jobs as compared with 37,455 new jobs in 1966 and added payrolls totaling only $109 million as compared with $142 million in 1966.

Gov. Dan Moore told the board at a dinner which marked the opening of the three-day meeting Sunday night that industrial expansion had totaled nearly $1.8 billion dollars in the first three years of his administration and brought the state nearly 100,000 new jobs.

"Also of significance, especially to the future well-being of our citizens," Moore told the board, "is the increase in recent years of the average amount invested per job created and the average annual salary paid by these new jobs."

"Average investment per job was $9,600 in 1967; $9,350 in 1966; and $26,720 last year," he added. "Average salary paid per job created was $3,400 in 1967; $3,200 in 1966; and $4,400 in 1965."

"These figures indicate the trend of sound development in our state during the last decade," Moore stated.

The Commerce and Industry Division reported that industrial expansion took a slight dip in the fourth quarter of 1967. Investment in new and expanded in-

Holshouser Will Seek 2nd Term

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Republican Party Chairman Jim Holshouser today scuttled speculation that he would run for lieutenant governor and announced he will seek a second term as chairman.

The Boone lawyer made the announcement at a news conference in Raleigh.

Ervin Files

RALEIGH (AP) — U.S. Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., paid his $300 filing fee at the State Board of Elections today and officially became a candidate for re-election, saying he will run on his record.

The 71-year-old Senate veteran pledged to support President Lyndon Johnson for re-election and said he will remain "absolutely neutral" in the North Carolina governor's race.

Asked by newsmen if he expected strong opposition in the primary or general election, Ervin said he hoped no one would oppose him in the primary, but if he does face a strong opponent, he will "flit to and fro from Washington" to campaign.

Will Review 'Substitute Father Law'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama officials today won Supreme Court review of a federal court ruling that the state's "substitute father" welfare regulation is unconstitutional. An immediate effect of the action is to keep 15,000 to 20,000 children off the state's welfare rolls.

The appeal, to be heard later this term and decided by June, will be of interest far beyond the Deep South state. Alabama is just one of 21 states that have similar regulations. So does the District of Columbia.

The federal court in Montgomery ruled Nov. 8 that Alabama may not deprive children of welfare aid because of their mothers' sexual conduct.

The Alabama regulation bars aid to dependent children if there is a man—a "substitute father"—living in the home or if he meets with the mother outside the home to have sexual relations.

By taking the case, the Supreme Court broadened its examination of state welfare laws. Just last Monday it agreed to decide if states can deny benefits to welfare applicants until they satisfy residency requirements.

Mishap Kills Young Hunter

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — Milton Jerome Russell, 15, of New Bern, was killed Saturday while hunting north of New Bern. Sheriff C. B. Berry said the shooting was accidental.

The officer said a tree limb evidently caught in the trigger of a .22-caliber rifle carried by a companion, who was 10 to 15 feet behind Russell.

Coroner Clyde Smith said no inquest was planned.

Bomber Crashes With A-Bombs In Greenland

WASHINGTON (AP) — A B52 bomber carrying nuclear weapons crashed in Greenland Sunday, the Pentagon announced today.

A Defense Department statement said the atomic devices were unarmed "so that there is no danger of a nuclear explosion at the crash site."

Seven crewmen were aboard the Air Force B52, and five are known to have survived. One body had been found and search and rescue operations are under way for the seventh.

The Pentagon said the plane crashed about 3:40 p.m. EST Sunday on the ice of North Star Bay some seven miles southwest of the runway, at the Thule defense area, Greenland.

The Pentagon said the plane was attempting an emergency landing but there was no indications as to the difficulty.

The five known survivors parachuted from the plane. The craft was assigned to the 380th Bomb Wing at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, N.Y.

No civilian property was damaged, the Pentagon said.

An Air Force investigating team from Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, Neb., was sent to Thule to probe the cause of the accident.

The Pentagon said it had no further information on the accident at mid-morning.

There was no immediate word from the Air Force on whether the nuclear bombs aboard the B52 were lost, or if recovered how badly damaged the weapons were.

Nor was it clear whether the B52 had plunged through the ice.

The B52s normally carry several hydrogen bombs and orbit the fringes of the North American continent continuously to be within close striking range of the Soviet Union in case nuclear war should erupt.

The accident was the first involving a nuclear bomb-carrying plane since January 17, 1966, when another B52 was involved in a refueling collision with a KC135 tanker off the coast of Spain.

Will Try Couple For Son's Death

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — A Charlotte couple will be tried at the May term of Brunswick Superior Court on murder charges in the death last November of their 3-month-old son.

The grand jury last week indicted Charles Lee Guy III, 32, and his wife, Donna Smith Guy, 22, in the death of their son, Ricky Lee Guy.

Coroner Lowell B. Bennett said the infant died of strangulation, probably caused by several broken ribs, and also had suffered a skull fracture.

K. T. Futrell Rites Planned Tuesday

Mr. K. T. Futrell, 81, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital early Sunday morning. Funeral services will be conducted in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church at 2:00 P.M. Tuesday by Dr. Joyce V. Early, pastor, assisted by Rev. T. E. Loftis. Interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Members of the Ellington Bible Class will serve as active and honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Futrell, a native of Guilford County, was a graduate of Guilford College and taught in Guilford County Schools before going to Jamestown in 1914 as school principal. He served in the U. S. Army in World War I, coming to Greenville in 1920 as Superintendent of Public Welfare in Pitt County. In 1930 he was elected president of the state association of Superintendents of Public Welfare. He had been a member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and its Board of Stewards for many years where he had been active in all phases of church life; he had been a teacher in the Sunday School since 1920 and had served many years as chairman of the committee of church and as a member of the boy scout troop of the church and as a member of the Finance Committee. Active in many phases of community life, he had long records of service on the Executive Committee of the Red Cross, in the Crippled Children's, Tuberculosis, and Cancer Associations. He had served four years on the Greenville Recreation Commission. He was a member of Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion, having maintained a continuous membership for 46 years. An active sportsman, he was a member of the Pitt County Wildlife Club.

Mr. Futrell retired as Pitt County Superintendent of Public Welfare January 1, 1959.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lena Lefler Futrell, of the home; two sons: Charles T. Futrell of Silver Springs, Maryland; James L. Futrell of Ashton, Maryland; a daughter, Mrs. Fred D. Turnage of Annandale, Virginia; 6 grandchildren; a brother, A. E. Futrell of High Point; a sister, Mrs. Blanche Short of Greensboro, N. C.

Communication Gap Leads To Trouble For Couple

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every day my husband picks up your column and says, "Well, let's see what Abby has to say to those nutty people who write to a newspaper psychiatrist!" He would never admit that HE could use some help.

My husband is a good provider and generally a good husband, but he is a very poor father to our six children, who range from 3 to 12. He never pays them the slightest attention unless it's to punish them.

When a male friend comes over here, the children compete for his attention and the man can't get the little ones off his lap. I am worried about how this will affect the children's lives. Will my girls be so hungry for male affection and approval that they'll be pregnant at 15? And will my sons grow up to be Mamma's boys? What can I do before it's too late? Or am I being silly?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: It's sad that a couple who have spent more than a dozen years together have so little communication between them. Why can't you tell your husband these things? You seem to be an intelligent woman and your complaints make sense. If you are not able to get thru to him, find someone who can. Your husband needs desperately to get this important message.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't laugh, but where can I buy a foam rubber fanny? I have heard that there are such things, but I have never seen one anywhere nor have I ever seen them advertised, have you?

I once asked a saleswoman who sold falsies and padded bras in a department store and she looked at me like she thought I was crazy. I would really appreciate your help, Abby. Thank you.

FLAT IN BACK

DEAR FLAT: Maybe I'm behind times, but I've never heard of such an item. However, if it exists and the manufacturer's fill me in, I'll be glad to fill you out.

DEAR ABBY: It disgusts me to read the letters in your column that begin, "While straightening my daughter's room I came across one of her letters, or her diary, and after reading it, I was horrified. Where have I failed?"

Perhaps these mothers should begin by looking at their own code of ethics. It is important to children, especially teenagers, to feel that they are individuals with privacy and rights of their own. Having a mother who comes snooping around reading personal mail and examining private possessions will surely force the child to become deceptive and secretive and constantly on the defensive, rather than to feel free to discuss personal problems and share private experiences with her mother.

If a mother feels it is necessary for her to know everything that happens in her child's life, she should teach the child early to trust her and come to her and share her feelings openly.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

SATURDAY SUPPER
Home-roasted Peppers Rolls
Spaghetti with Meatballs
Salad Bowl

Rum Cake Beverage
HOMER-ROASTED PEPPERS
1 pound (4 large) green peppers
1/4 cup olive oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 garlic clove, peeled
Sliced cucumbers

Place peppers on a small cookie sheet and broil on rack directly below high heat. With tongs turn often until blistered and charred—about 10 minutes; turn pepper stems side up so tops blister. At once place peppers in a brown paper bag; close tightly; allow to steam in bag for 15 minutes. Peel skin from peppers; halve and remove seeds and white membranes; slice lengthwise into about 1-inch wide strips. In a wide shallow container with a fork, beat together the oil, lemon juice and salt. Halve garlic, smash halves slightly and add. Mix in peppers. Cover tightly and refrigerate 3 to 6 hours or overnight. Before serving, remove garlic and allow peppers to stand at room temperature (so congealed oil will melt). Place peppers in serving dish; add cucumbers; drizzle marinade from peppers over cucumbers. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Pandora's Box Is Thrift Shop

By JANE LANG

There is a Pandora's Box in Greenville! Unlike the box presented to Pandora by Zeus filled with human ailments, the one the women of the First Presbyterian Church have established in Greenville is full of good will.

Pandora's Box is a thrift shop located in the Skinkers Building on the corner of Third and Washington Streets. It is opened on Fridays and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and sells good used clothing at a minimum price.

All profits from the Thrift Shop go directly into other projects for the Greenville area. It has given $660 to Operation Sunshine, a local philanthropy for young underprivileged girls. This past Christmas the Thrift Shop gave money to buy shoes for the children of North Greenville Presbyterian Sunday School.

Donations of used clothing and miscellaneous household items are accepted. A receipt will be given for the remarkable value of all donations. These are income tax deductible, pointed out Mrs. H. H. Bryant, treasurer. Other members of the Steering Committee of Pandora's Box are Mrs. G. E. Trevathan, Jr. chairman and committee members: Mrs. John Allen Jr., Mrs. Tommy L. Little, Mrs. Clarence Stasovitch, Mrs. Samuel A. Sewall, Mrs. George Fuller, and Mrs. John D. Grier.

Pandora's Box Thrift Shop

originated in May of 1966 as a project of volunteer service for the women of the First Presbyterian Church and because of its continued success has remained in operation.

INVASION OF ART

Art has been invading our homes for some years now. Everything from oil canvases to varied prints have been finding their way from the galleries to home settings. This cultural upsurge has prompted many interior decorators to use art as a focal point, repeating the key colors of a painting in the furnishings and accessories.

The fun of evaluating, exhibiting, and enjoying art provides a new dimension to decorating and a new challenge to the homemaker.

Jarvis Memorial Church Renovations Get Go-Ahead

The congregation of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church voted Sunday to approve the schematic drawings of their architects, Smart, Woodall & Associates, for the remodeling and air-conditioning of both educational buildings. The plans had previously been approved by the official board on Jan. 2.

The needs of the church have been carefully studied by a planning committee last summer and by a building committee in recent months. W.H. Taft Jr., chairman, made the report to the congregation. Others on the committee are: J.B. Kittrell Jr., E.H. Williford, Mrs. Thomas Patterson, Buddy Edmondson, Phil Moore Jr. and Dr. J.V. Early, pastor.

The plans call for the complete remodeling of the educational buildings, with the installation of a new heating system and air-conditioning with zoned temperature control. The basement area will be waterproofed and re-arranged. The first floor plan calls for space for a church library, a new narthex, re-arranging of the secretaries' offices, and more adequate space for cribs, toddlers, and older nurseries. Provision for a modern weekday kindergarten and day care nursery is being provided.

A second floor will be added over the present Hall of History, with new classrooms and new bathrooms added on all floors. Partitions will be moved and all classroom space made to conform with the square footage recommended by the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, as to a particular age group.

The church has secured the services of the Department of Finance and Field Service of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church to promote a fund raising crusade between April 18-May 8. Dr. Thomas L. Williams, an ordained Methodist minister, will direct the campaign for the estimated $290,000 needed for the remodeling project.

Jarvis Memorial Church built a new sanctuary in 1959 at a cost of $400,000. This was dedicated several years ago. Currently the church property of this congregation is valued at $750,000 and when the new project is completed, the total value will be more than $1,000,000.

Jarvis Memorial is the largest church in Greenville of any denomination, having 1,435 members. Its history dates back to 1782, the beginning days of Methodism in America. Bishop Francis Asbury, the first bishop of the Methodist Church in America and father of American Methodism, preached in Greenville and Pitt County several times in his travels.

Jarvis Memorial Church has a well balanced membership as to age groups, with 189 children and high school young people who are members; 402 young adults who are under 40 years of age; 566 middle aged; and 287 older adults on its church roll of 1,435 members. There are 90 young people from the membership who are attending 28 colleges and universities this year. Jarvis Memorial contributes to missions and other conference and connectional benevolences, with 35% of its $100,000 operating budget going for others. It leads the North Carolina Conference in the total money raised for the College Capital Fund development program, having raised over $56,000.

Dr. J.V. Early, pastor, and Rev. Thomas E. Loftis, associate pastor, are in their first year as leaders of this congregation, both having come to this church from First Methodist Church in Rockingham last June. Mrs. Thomas Latimer is the new director of Christian Education, having assumed this position the first of this month. When the proposed remodeling and modernization project is completed, Jarvis Memorial of service to Greenville and Methodist Church will be in the best position ever to carry forward its challenging programs through its benevolences to the world," said Dr. Early.

Workshop For Area Ministers Planned Jan. 25

A workshop for ministers of Greenville, Pitt and surrounding counties is set for Saint James Methodist Church on Thursday, January 25.

Registration for the one-day session will be at 9 a.m. at the church, 2000 East Sixth Street in Greenville. Sponsored by the Greenville Ministerial Association in cooperation with the Clinic on Mental Retardation, a number of specialists in the field will share in the day's program.

The Rev. Wes Brogan of Raleigh, a former director of Children's Work for the North Carolina Methodist Conference, will be the major afternoon speaker. Rev. Brogan will address the workshop on "The Role of the Minister." Mrs. Margaret Shelton of Ayden, a parent of a retardate, and Ted Gartman of the Pitt County Welfare Department will also share in the afternoon session.

The morning emphasis will feature an address by Dr. Gilbert Ragland of East Carolina University, a film and panel which will focus on the medical aspects, education, workshop and employment of retardates. Panel members are Dr. Malene Irons, director of the Developmental Evaluation Clinic at ECU; Mrs. Betty Levey, a supervisor of the Pitt County Schools, and Tom Boring, director of the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop.

The Rev. John W. Drake, president of the Greenville Ministerial Association, will preside.

All ministers, regardless of race or denomination, are invited to share in the workshop, according to Mrs. Sara Allen, Community Coordinator for Mental Retardation in the North Carolina Council.

Wraps Up 32 Years Of Flying

CHICAGO (AP) — Capt. Joe Anderson wrapped up his flying career and 32 years with American Airlines Sunday with a ceremony at O'Hare International Airport.

Anderson said as he draped his arms around four stewardesses for the benefit of photographers: "I sure don't feel like 60."

Two Terms Better Than Long One

While we do not agree with the thought that a governor's term of office should be more than four years, we can see merit in amending the law to allow a governor to seek a second term.

Gov. Dan Moore has proposed that one of these two things be done and we can agree with him on the general premise.

However we believe that four years is enough time for a governor to prove that he can adequately do the job. If the term were extended to six or more years voters would have to wait too long to express their displeasure at his actions.

North Carolina law limits governors to one four-year term in office. He can be returned to the office only after being out for one or more terms. There is merit in considering a change in the law to allow a governor to seek a second term. While this would give him eight years in office, the voters would have a chance after four years to turn him out, if they chose.

We would hope that if any changes are con-

Turbulent Era For Dr. Carroll

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — For the past 16 turbulent years no one has had a more difficult job nor more important one in state government than tall, kindly Dr. Charles Fisher Carroll.

Few if any will argue the point.

As State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Carroll has served since 1952 as administrative head of the largest, most complex and most costly public function in North Carolina—the public education system.

He guided, patiently and calmly, with dignity and courtesy, forcefully when necessary, the state's public school system through a long, sometimes dark and bleak period of crisis and trouble.

Faced Problems
In no other area of state government were there so many perplexing matters during these 16 years.

Then school system experienced unprecedented growth in enrollment, in expansion of facilities and needs. It faced unexpected, nevertheless came as a shock in state capital circles. He had indicated in recent weeks that he probably would run again and would be willing to serve four more years.

In final analysis, however, Dr. Carroll decided that this will be his last year. After January, 1969, he will turn over the reins to a younger man.

"I am eternally indebted and grateful to the people of North Carolina for having provided me with the opportunity, the privilege and the honor to serve in a period of history when much has occurred in the field of public education at local, state and national levels," he said.

Much Achieved
A book could — and perhaps will — be written about the Carroll era in North Carolina public education. Very likely the last 16 years have been the most eventful and significant in the history of free public education — beginning with the war baby boom in enrollments, through the U. S. Supreme Court decision on school segregation, its implementation, the U. S. Education Act and federal guidelines.

On the state level, successive legislatures have appropriated record amounts of money for schools and enrichment of the school program.

Many changes have been wrought. Always, despite the difficulties of a dual-headed administrative structure, Dr. Carroll has pressed gently but firmly forward.

Sees Goals
With careful and thoughtful foresight, Dr. Carroll has forged goals for improvement and broadening of the educational process and a streamlining of its system. He has advocated public kindergartens, stronger local level support of school systems, better salaries and more benefits to attract qualified teachers, higher standards and more thorough teacher training and better school administration.

All these points automatically become political issues as the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction — salary $21,000 a year — goes up for grabs in this year's elections.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

problems of woefully inadequate funds, of teacher shortages, lack of classrooms, buildings and equipment. It underwent social and procedural change.

Through the emotionalism, confusion and bitterness of racial desegregation and federal guidelines, it was — and remains — a man — killing job. But Dr. Carroll faced it, handled it, balanced disappointment against success and survived.

Will Retire

Now approaching his 68th birthday on March 31, Dr. Carroll issued a brief statement the other day saying he will not seek re-election.

His decision, not entirely sidered in gubernatorial terms, it will be in the direction of a second term for governors rather than a longer single term.

Simpson Alert To An Opportunity, Used It

It is indeed pleasing that the City of Greenville has agreed to sell its 1950 fire engine to the Simpson Rural Fire Department.

Greenville has been using the truck to answer virtually every call since it was purchased 17 years ago. Then it was decided the time had come to replace it with a new, more modern vehicle. This was ordered and placed in service recently.

The city asked for informal bids for disposing of the 1950 truck and the Simpson department submitted the highest bid at $2,500. The City Council agreed to the sale.

Thus the truck will undoubtedly see a number of additional years service to the people in the Simpson Rural Fire Department area. Because of this additional service in the county the City Council may have made the best possible disposal of the piece of equipment.

The Simpson Fire Department is to be commended for being alert to the opportunity.

Romney Seeks 'Credibility'

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CONCORD, N. H. — So low had Governor George Romney sunk in public esteem that his first assignment in the Presidential primary here was to re-establish credibility as a serious politician and avoid massacre in the March 12 primary, thus giving Richard M. Nixon a possibly insurmountable lead for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Accordingly, it was particularly heartening to Romney's highly-skilled campaign team, headed by William Johnson, former state senate president, that a heckler who asked a needling question during Romney's Vietnam speech Monday evening was roundly booed by the audience.

In reply to the question — whether Romney still felt he had been "brainwashed" on his first inspection trip to Vietnam — Romney momentarily paused, then said: "I've gotten into that enough," and moved onto the next question.

The audience, composed equally of students at Keene State College and town people, gave him a roar of applause.

This sympathetic reaction was symbolic. And for once, Romney's insatiable appetite for his own foot was held under control. Moreover, his Asian speech calling for internationalization guaranteed neutralization of Vietnam, which was well received here, indicates he has finally anchored the plaguing question of Vietnam to fairly safe ground. This alone was a large step forward in his drive to become a credible Presidential candidate.

Romney's mental gyrations on Vietnam have already cost him far more than realized. His "brainwashing" charge last summer infuriated General Eisenhower. It also abruptly cancelled the plan of General Lucius D. Clay, an Eisenhower intimate, to quit his job as Republican Finance Chairman to head a new citizens-for-Romney national committee.

Moreover, the latest confidential poll taken by the well-financed Romney organization here last month shows that although he is far better known than last summer the overall impression is far more "negative" than it was then. This, too, is a direct result of his clumsy handling of Vietnam last year.

Having at least temporarily laid that plaguing issue to rest, Romney is now free to do what he loves so well — travel from town to town, sounding with messianic zeal his warning against the Washington politicians, headed by politician-in-chief Lyndon B. Johnson. No basement office hideaway is safe from the outstretched Romney hand as he charges through office buildings with grim but effective sincerity. The message is simple: that he was called on to "straighten out" American Motors, and straightened it out; that he took over a "messy situation" in Michigan and straightened it out; and that now the whole country is in a mess and he will straighten that out too if only the people send him to the White House.

Face to face campaigning is Romney's forte. The Nixon camp is already worried about whether the former Vice President, who has not yet declared his candidacy, is willing to spike the Romney camp's implied claim that Romney's saturation campaign here is proof that he really "cares" about New Hampshire — the same slogan that helped Governor Rockefeller of New York win the Oregon primary in 1964. In short, Romney in the brief space of one week is accomplishing his first purpose. He is becoming a credible candidate.

Opinions In Brief

"There is no better investment for banks, businessmen or educators than to develop a future taxpaying average citizen instead of a future welfare client." — New Bern (N. C.) Sun-Journal.

"Millions do not break the law even though they are poor, and many crimes — among them embezzlement, forgery and fraud — are not usually committed by slum dwellers. Moreover, crime is increasing in the slum-free affluent suburbs." — Findlay (Ohio) Republican-Courier.

"Perhaps we are overlooking the probability that the campus protestors feel the public attention they are getting is worth the price of tuition — especially when in most cases the old man is picking up the tab." — Marysville (Calif.) Appeal-Democrat.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

COOLING-OFF PERIOD

Industry today is almost universally committed to the "cooling-off" provision in labor legislation. No strikes until a cooling-off period has elapsed.

It would be good for us all to put it in our personal codes. No stinging rejoinder until a cooling-off period. No divorces until the contemplating parties have had a few months to think what their actions will mean to them and their families. No lawsuits until the litigants have a chance to ponder the expense, mental and moral as well as financial, of going to law. No hasty judgment of an associate, no scratching of anybody off the calling list, no throwing up of a satisfactory job, no hasty dismissal of an employee until the cooling-off period has had time to substitute cool reason for hot passion.

Most things over which people quarrel are so ridiculously petty and insignificant that one scarcely knows whether to laugh over spiteful performances or to weep over them. Feuds lasting for generations have often started over matters forgotten in a few weeks, although the feuds went on.

Cool off, brother, cool off; and in doing so try to make plain to yourself just what's the excitement about anyway.

Turnabout

By ART BUCHWALD

Everybody's Telling Us

WASHINGTON — The worst part of the economic dollar crisis is that everyone is telling the United States what to do about it. For 25 years we have been advising other countries how to shore up their economies, but now the tables are turned and we have to sit and listen to them. De Gaulle started it but even the smaller countries are getting into the act.

The other day the U. S. ambassador to Zemelulu was called in by Zemelulu's minister of finance. After shaking hands with him the minister invited the ambassador to sit on the dirt floor of his tent near the fire.

"Mr. Ambassador," the minister said as he popped a betel nut into his mouth, "Zemelulu is very concerned about your dollar crisis."

"It's good to hear you say that," the ambassador replied as he tried to keep a lizard from running up his leg.

"You see, we feel we have a stake in America's economy and what affects you will affect us."

"Why do you say that?" the ambassador asked as he knocked a spider off his sleeve.

"Well, as you know, most of our aid comes from the United States, and we certainly don't want help from a country that is having trouble with its currency."

"Of course, you don't," said the ambassador. "We're grateful you've been playing along with us this long."

"Yes, but I must warn you since we are an underdeveloped country we can't play along with you much longer. The Zemelulu people demand that the country that helps them show more fiscal responsibility or they'll have to get their aid somewhere else."

"We're doing the best we can," the American ambassador said.

"From what I can read, this apparently is not good enough," the minister said. "It seems to me you're going to have to tighten your belts, straighten out your balance-of-payments and win the respect of the worldwide banking community."

Fair Sex Is Ruder?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are American women getting more discourteous?

A cynic might reply to this query by saying it is impossible. But I keep bumping into a lot of men lately who testily complain about the rudeness of women.

A recent unofficial poll taken among male hangers-on at a local office water cooler disclosed that four out of five felt that feminine impoliteness is on the increase.

"I just got married last week, and I don't see anything at all wrong with women," said the lone dissenter.

The disillusioned majority, however, felt able to enumerate a number of things wrong with women.

Said male No. 1: "What I think is wrong about women is their presumption that they are either worth looking at or listening to. It is hard for a man today to look at a modern woman without breaking into a laugh, and it is all but impossible to listen to one without a feeling that you can hear more real wisdom in a pool hall."

Said male No. 3: "Yeah, they dress today with all the hidden charms of a public clotheshorse or a hattrack. What they ain't got you can see for yourself they don't have. They are about as mysterious as a punch in the eye."

"They impress nobody but no-

body anymore, and that includes themselves. And they take out their frustration by being mean to men. I wouldn't help an old lady across the street anymore for fear she'd bite my helping hand after she got to the farther curb."

Said male No. 4, a man hoary with years and vintage memories:

"When I was a lad women were still fun — perhaps for the last time in the history of the world."

"It was a pleasure then to be gallant and chivalrous to them. They spoke in voices murmurous and low. They did not feel it necessary to shout their merit, or to seek to be equal by acting unkind."

"Women today aren't so much a loving partner of man as they are his shrill competitor. They no longer suggest — they command."

"They are confused, uncertain and capricious in that uncertainty. They don't know for certain what they want, but they insist on having it anyway."

"They are afraid now to be merry or kind. They are born not only with a chip on their shoulder but also with a grudge in their heart."

"Women expect for a man to treat them as women while they are trying to take his job away from him."

"But in the business world they are neither a boon companion nor a hail-fellow-well-met. They regard a man as merely something to take advantage of. Even during National Brotherhood Week how many career women do you know who both to take a man to lunch, and pick up his check?"

"If you do a woman a favor today she turns on you that

Silver Coins Gulped By Hoarders

By ELMER ROESSNER

All silver quarters have been disappearing and dives may go into hoarding next, now that the Treasury has gone on record as willing to melt silver coins if industry wants more silver.

Robert A. Wallace, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury told the Silver Users Association that the government stands ready to convert its silver coins into industrial metal.

Since the Treasury stopped holding the silver price at $1.29 a troy ounce last July, the price has gone up to $2.20. While Wallace's statement caused a slight drop in silver prices, the average person is likely to interpret it as foreshadowing higher prices and will be tempted to hoard.

Economy Still Bouyant

Despite the finding of the University of Michigan's survey Research Center that consumer attitudes and buying intentions have lessened, business appears to be perking along. Auto and other retail sales have been holding up, perhaps because of fear of higher prices later.

So far business seems to be fulfilling the standard economic forecast for 1968: a bombing first half and slightly less excitement in the second.

The rise in employment and the increase in overtime worked in December were stimulating factors.

Steel Hoarding Helps

The rush of manufacturers to lay up steel in fear of a long steel strike starting in August is also stimulating the economy, but it will eventually leave an awful hangover.

For the moment, steel mills are operating at capacity and even the government has stopped griping about price increases. Steel workers and those in related industries are working overtime; activity in transporting and warehousing fields is high.

Eventually, one of two things will happen:

If the strike takes place, those who have accumulated steel will be able to continue operating for a long time, but the rest of the economy will be hit. Business will slump as it did during the Ford strike.

If there is a settlement, steel users will begin to work off their inventories by cutting back orders, which can also slow the economy.

This situation will tend to make a strike more likely. Workers, calculating that there will be a slump in orders and layoffs if there is no strike, will be inclined to reason that if there is going to be less work, they'll be better off striking and get higher wages and benefits when it's over.

Government Strike Subsidy?

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has launched a campaign against the issuance of food stamps to strikers, perhaps in an effort to head off this subsidy to strikers if there is a steel walkout.

It points out that 3,809 families of Ford strikers in Detroit alone, representing 16,970 individuals, obtained food stamps with a purchasing power of $273,171 during last October. The government set up a second office in Detroit to handle the give-away.

Reception Opens Faculty Art Show

A reception Sunday afternoon honoring 30 artists of the East Carolina University School of Art opened the largest Faculty Art Show ever by the university.

Scheduled on the third floor of Raul Building, the exhibit is open to the public. It opened one week later than originally scheduled because of recent bad weather in the area.

According to exhibit director Wesley V. Crawley, the show will continue through Wednesday, Jan. 31. Exhibit hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily except Sundays (2 to 10 p.m. only).

The show has a variety of art media. There are paintings, drawings, prints, sculpture, stoneware, intaglios, collages and woodcuts.

Gunman Killed In Shootout During Robbery

DURHAM (AP) — A Negro gunman was killed and another man injured in a shootout in a Durham produce market late Sunday night during what police described as "an apparent armed robbery attempt."

The store's owner, Lewis N. Graham, 49, said the man entered the store about 11:40 p.m. wearing a stocking over his face, "pulled out a gun and started shooting."

The man wounded Luther Graham, a clerk, no relation to the owner, in the chest. He was hospitalized in good condition.

Lewis Graham said he pulled a .38 caliber pistol from under the counter and "shot him six times before he dropped."

The dead man was identified as Donald R. Dempson, 20, of Durham.

SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE — Seedlings like those being placed on a truck by County Forest Ranger Joe Allen are available from the N. C. Forest Service. Some of the trees for sale and suitable for this area, Allen said, include: loblolly and longleaf pine, black walnut, sweetgum, red cedar, arizona cypress, yellow poplar, bald cypress, sycamore, black locust, tupelo gum, black gum and green ash. Allen urged persons wishing to purchase seedlings to order early due to the limited supply available. Order blanks may be secured by calling 756-0414.

"Zemululu economists have just completed a study of the United States' economy. We feel that among the measures you must take to strengthen the dollar is to export more than you import, increase your gross national product and raise taxes. Unless you are willing to do this we will not be able to accept your financial assistance."

"But those are very strong measures."

"Mr. Ambassador, we can't help you if you're not willing to help yourselves. It is not just a question of economic stability. You are also lacking political stability, and you will never get anywhere if you don't win the hearts and minds of your own people."

"You mean you want us to change our political system, too?"

"Not much," the minister said. "We're planning to have a dam and if your gold situation doesn't improve we may ask the Russians to build it for us."

"I'll pass your thoughts on to Washington, but I hope your won't make up your mind until we have a chance to prove ourselves."

Agricultural Occupations

Child labor regulations, effective January 1, 1968, issued by the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division of the U. S. Department of Labor prohibit the employment of a child under 16 in certain agricultural occupations deemed to be hazardous.

Generally, the hazardous occupations include handling of certain agricultural chemicals, operating or riding on tractors and certain other power-driven equipment, and working from a ladder or scaffold at a height over 20 feet.

The regulation does not prohibit a child under 16 being employed in such occupations by his parent or by a person standing in the place of his parent on a farm owned or operated by such parent or person.

Of course, no child under 16 years of age, other than your own, is to be employed during school hours at any occupation. The list of hazardous occupations are as follows:

1. Handling or applying anhydrous ammonia, organic arsenic herbicides, organic phosphate pesticides, halogenated hydrocarbon pesticides, or heavy metal fungicides, including cleaning or decontamination equipment used in application or mixing of such chemicals.
2. Handling or using a blasting agent. For the purpose of this subparagraph, the term "blasting agent" shall include explosives such as, but not limited to, dynamite, black powder, sensitized ammonium nitrate, blasting caps, and primer cord.
3. Serving as flagman for aircraft.
4. Working as Driver of a truck or automobile on a public road or highway, or Driver of a Bus.
5. Operating, driving, or riding on a tractor (track or wheel) over 20-horsepower, or attaching or detaching an implement or power-take-off unit to or from such tractor while the motor is running.
6. Operating or riding on a self-unloading bunk feeder wagon, a self-unloading forage box wagon, a self-unloading auger wagon, or a self-unloading auger trailer.
7. Operating or riding on a dump wagon, hoist wagon, fork lift, rotary tiller (except walking type), or power-driven earthmoving equipment or power-driven trenching equipment.

8. Operating or unloading a power-driven combine, field baler, hay conditioner, corn picker, forage harvester, or vegetable harvester.
9. Operating, feeding, or unclogging any of the following machines when power-driven: stationary baler, thresher, huller, feed grinder, chopper, silo-filler, or crop dryer.
10. Feeding materials into or unclogging a roughage blower or auger conveyor.
11. Operating a power-driven post-hole digger or power-driven driver.
12. Operating, adjusting, or cleaning a power-driven saw.
13. Felling, bucking, skidding, loading, or unloading timber with a butt diameter of more than 6 inches.
14. Working from a ladder or scaffold at a height over 20 feet.
15. Working inside a gas-tight type fruit enclosure, gas-tight grain enclosure or gas-tight type forage enclosure, or inside a silo when a top unloading device is in operating position.
16. Working in a yard, pen, or stall occupied by a dairy bull, boar, or stud horse.

Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pvt. County Tobacco Agent

One of the greatest hazards facing flue-cured tobacco growers is caused by nematodes. There are very few fields where tobacco is grown that parasitic nematodes are not a problem.

Nematodes generally damage tobacco in two ways. They either enter the roots and feed internally, or puncture the roots and feed from the outside. They rob a portion of the food supply from the tobacco plant when attacking either of these ways.

During the feeding process, nematodes inject a substance into the plants that may kill part of the root tissue, cause swelling, or stunt growth. A 'sick' plant root system results, and eventually the entire plant may be stunted and the leaves begin to 'frie' around the margin and tip. The wound made by the nematodes also makes it easy for disease-producing organisms to enter the plant. Tests have shown that the presence of certain nematodes will make a black shank or Granville wilt worse even when using resistant varieties.

There are three different types of nematodes that attack the tobacco plant. There are ten or more species within these three groups—which makes nematodes more difficult to control. The crop preference of the different nematode species is such that each may attack a wide variety of crops. Any given crop may be resistant to one kind of nematode and susceptible to another. It is believed that root knot and meadow nematodes cause more damage to tobacco than stunt nematodes.

Nematodes do most damage when high numbers are present in the field at transplanting. Therefore, it is important for farmers to do everything possible to prevent a big carry-over of nematodes from the previous season. High infestations at transplanting time may stunt the tobacco plants so severely that they may not recover.

Politics Of Host Govm't Can Get Involved In Peace Corps

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps' official policy says volunteers are not to get involved in the politics of a host nation. But there's nothing in the rule book that says local politics can't involve the Peace Corps.

During the seven years of its existence, the Peace Corps has been caught up in the political and armed crossfires of countries in which it serves.

The volunteer agency's batting average, however, has been quite high in winning more friends than it loses. Since its inception in 1961, the Corps has left a nation—either voluntarily or on being asked—on the average of one country a year.

On the other hand, it has sent volunteers to a new nation on the average of nine new countries a year.

Thus, the Peace Corps had slightly more than 12,000 volunteers serving in 55 countries by the end of 1967. Today, volunteers were scheduled to arrive in Fiji. Dahomey is scheduled to receive volunteers in February.

Volunteers have left seven countries during the past seven years but one—Ceylon—asked for more volunteers last year after asking them to leave in 1964.

The other countries in which volunteers no longer serve are Pakistan, Cyprus, Guinea, Indonesia, Mauritania and Gabon. The Peace Corps is gradually fading out of Nigeria, once one of the agency's largest programs, but there has been no official notice the program there is being eliminated.

Jack Vaughn, director, and other officials at headquarters here have a standard reply when asked about volunteers being pulled out of a country.

Typical was the reply in December when the announcement was made that 57 volunteers were being withdrawn from Gabon at the request of that French-speaking West African nation: "We go to a country at the invitation of the host government, and whenever a government wishes us to leave, we do so willingly."

There was no mention of the recent shakeup in the Gabonese government after the death of the prime minister and the possibility of influence from the French government.

The Corps does not officially comment critically on its outposts because there is always the possibility of another change in government.

In 1962, the Peace Corps sent 39 volunteers to Ceylon for a two year tour of duty but the program was not continued after it ended in 1964 "by mutual agreement of the United States and Ceylon governments," according to official releases. Unofficially, an anti-United States government was put in office in 1964 and asked that the volunteers be withdrawn. Last year, however, there was another change in the government—to a pro-United States body—and the Peace Corps was invited back.

One of us was Hospital Saving Association of Chapel Hill and the other was Hospital Care Association of Durham. Now we're North Carolina Blue Cross and Blue Shield, Inc. And it's better for everyone.

Individuality is good, but when it comes to a good health plan, togetherness is better.

Last year, between the two of us, we served over 25% of the total population of North Carolina. That's a lot of people, but we think you never run out of people to help. And together, we can help more. Like the other 75%. But besides helping more people, we think we can help them better.

We've both been in business a long time. We have a lot of experience, and because our experiences are different, there's a lot we can do for each other. And more we can do for you.

Just between the two of us, we're glad we waited this long to get together. We're both a little older and a little wiser now. But we just couldn't wait any longer. It was bigger than both of us.

Skating Champs Ready For Olympic Uniforms

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National champions Peggy Fleming and Tim Wood led the U. S. Olympic Figure Skating Team to New York today for uniform fitting.

"I hope they fit," said the 19-year-old Miss Fleming, who turned in an almost perfect performance Saturday night in winning her fifth consecutive women's national title.

"I remember 1964," said the pretty dark-haired girl from Colorado Springs, Colo. "They had to take so many inches in it was a mess. The uniforms just hung on us."

The way Miss Fleming skated at the four-day U. S. Figure Skating Championships here last week, it probably wouldn't make any difference if she skated draped in a barrel. But women's vanity must be served and perky Peggy wants to be dressed like the gold medal winner everybody expects her to be.

The U. S. hasn't won a gold medal in figure skating since 1960, when Carol Heiss and David Jenkins were twin U. S. victors. The 1961 Brussels airplane crash wiped out the American team in 1961, after Miss Heiss and Jenkins retired.

The first three-place winners at the nationals in senior ladies, senior men and senior pairs automatically made both the Olympic team and Uncle Sam's World team. The Winter Olympic games start Feb. 6 in Grenoble, France, the World Championships, Feb. 27 in Switzerland.

Joining Miss Fleming on the women's team are Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., second in the singles for the fifth straight year, and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., third.

Men's defending champion Gary Visconti of Detroit, who was edged by Wood of Bloomfield, Mich., and third-place finisher John Petkevich of Great Falls, Mont., for the men's team.

Cynthia and Ron Kauffman, the brother-sister combination from Seattle, Wash., won the pairs championship and made the teams along with Sandi Sweitzer, Roy Wagelein, Jo Jo Starbuck and Kenneth Shelley, all of Los Angeles.

Dan Gurney Captures Riverside 500-Miler

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A Jones went into the pits for some more fuel, Gurney stepped on it to beat Pearson by about a mile.

All three were driving 1968 Ford Torinos.

Other favorites in the race, A.J. Foyt of Houston, Richard Petty, of Randleman, N.C., and Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., were knocked out of the race by mechanical difficulties.

Only 13 cars of the starting 44 completed the race.

The victory was worth better than $21,000 to the Costa Mesa, Calif., driver. The purse was $86,000.

It was Gurney's fifth Motor Trend victory. The race has been staged only six times. And he won it despite the same bad luck that has plagued him his entire racing career.

Gurney has been among the top qualifiers in most of the major races around the country. But invariably mechanical difficulties have reduced his winning chances.

Gurney qualified for Sunday's race with a time of better than 110 miles an hour last Thursday. A rear tire was shredded by debris on the track with 31 laps remaining and called for an unscheduled pit stop. But Gurney, unfazed, went back out and won in a 1968 Ford an average speed of 100.598 m.p.h.

The speed broke the record he set in 1966 of 97.946 m.p.h.

David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C. and Parnelli Jones, of Palos Verdes, Calif., made it a race for Gurney but when WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — A 1968 football schedule that includes games with Minnesota and Purdue, plus five games at home, has been announced for Wake Forest University.

The Deacons will play their home games in a new 31,000-seat stadium now under construction. The stadium will be dedicated in the home opener against North Carolina State Sept. 14.

The five home games will be the most the Deacons have played in Winston-Salem since the 1957 season. The games against the two Big 10 teams will be played away.

The Deacs had a 4-6 season last year, winning their last four games.

The schedule: Sept. 14, N.C. State; 21, Clemson; 28, open; play perfectly, with All-American Elvin Hayes and Ken Spain doing the coking job on the 7-foot-1 Alcindor and Don Chaney working the defensive backcourt magic on the lanes. It resulted in a 33.6 shooting percentage for the Bruins, compared with their usual 50 per cent.

Hayes, a 6-foot-8 standout who played, by his own testimony "my best game ever," finished with 39 points, 15 rebounds, four assists and three blocked shots on Alcindor.

A mix-up in signals, on which Bruins Mike Warren tipped a pass out of bounds, killed UCLA's final chance with 12 seconds left.

Alcindor, obviously below par with only 15 points, refused to take refuge in the excuse of the injured eye which had kept him out of UCLA's two previous games.

"We were beaten by a better team," said big Lew.

Unbeaten New Mexico and St. Bonaventure kept pace with the streaking Cougars. The sixth-ranked Lobos beat Brigham Young 84-69 for their 16th victory and the No. 7 Bonnies outlasted Canisius 71-65 for a 13-0 mark.

But St. Peter's of New Jersey, only other previously unbeaten major team, bowed to St. Francis, Pa., 88-78 while three nationally-ranked powers—Tennessee, Utah and Kentucky—were brought down.

Florida shackled fourth-ranked Tennessee 59-46 and Wyoming ambushed No. 5 Utah 81-72. The Vols had won 10 of 11 previous starts; Utah, 13 of 15.

Auburn edged No. 8 Kentucky 74-73 on a pair of free throws by Tom Perry in the final minute, thwarting Adolph Rupp's bid to match the all-time career victory mark of 771 held by former Kansas Coach Phog Allen.

Rupp's Wildcats, 10-3, will attempt to bounce back tonight at Tennessee in a pivotal Southeastern Conference game.

Columbia, ranked 10th in last week's Associated Press poll, crushed Cornell 93-51 for an 11-3 mark. Third-ranked North Carolina and ninth-ranked Vanderbilt were idle over the weekend.

AAU. Jumping champion Ralph Boston, spokesman for the group of athletes who are protesting against AAU threats of disqualification, said, "the thing has been tossed around quite a while but nobody had done anything until today."

Also signing the statement were Jim Grelle, Lee Evans, Richmond Flowers, Ed Caruthers, George Young and Frank Murphy.

Cold Winter For Geo. Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Will the real George Washington please stand up?
Once there was George Washington, father of his country—first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen.
Now his namesake university is busily reversing the image. George Washington U.'s basketball team is last in offense, last in rebounding, and last in the Southern Conference standings.
One thing the two GW's have in common: both know the terrors of a cold winter. The general's was at Valley Forge 200 years ago. GWU's has been all over the map, and may not have ended yet.
So sad has been the plight of the GW basketball team in its first season under coach Wayne Dobbs that the Colonials will resume play this week after the exam break with a 1-12 record and an 0-6 SC mark.

Unless things change radically, and soon, GW will wind up ninth in the league and miss an invitation to the championship tournament Feb. 29-March 2 at Charlotte. This is a humiliation the Colonials have suffered only twice since the SC was realigned in 1953.
GW, averaging 65 points to 85 for its foes, starts sampling its post-exam luck Wednesday on the home court of its closest rival for the basement—East Carolina, which has a 2-4 conference mark. Then, on Saturday, the Colonials move over to Lexington to meet VMI, 3-3.
The two games are part of an eight-game program for Southern Conference clubs this week and half the program of four intra-league games.
East Carolina, 4-8 over-all, is the only team active tonight. The only team active tonight. The date at East Tennessee.

COLLISION AT THE GOAL LINE — Defensive back Larry Wilson (dark jersey) of the St. Louis Cardinals, playing for the Eastern Conference in yesterday's NFL Pro Bowl, meets fullback Les Josephson of the Los Angeles Rams on the goal line at Los Angeles and Josephson goes into a spin . . . but it was good enough for a touchdown. Play began on the four yard line. The West rallied to win, 38-20. (AP Wirephoto)

Two New Teams Welcomed Into Carolina League

DURHAM (AP)—Directors of the Carolina League welcomed two new teams. High Point-Thomasville and Salem, Va., to the league and approved the Durham team operating as a Raleigh-Durham entry during a meeting Sunday.
The directors also approved a 140-game schedule for each team, 70 home and 70 games away, during the season which opens April 14.
Raleigh-Durham was placed in the league's eastern division along with Winston, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Portsmouth and Peninsula. Salem and High Point-Thomasville will be in the western division along with Burlington, Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Lynchburg, Va.

Clemson Ace's Cheering Section Cheer Him On To Top Performance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Trip Jones, who has blossomed into a starter for the Clemson basketball team, has his own cheering section, complete with a trumpet, at home games.
His friends cheered him on to his top performance, 20 points, on Jan. 11 when Virginia sank four foul shots in the last 39 seconds and edged the Tigers 95-92 at Clemson.
But in a return game at Virginia last Saturday, with the trumpet tooter at home, he managed only nine points and the Cavaliers won again, 81-73.
Virginia led by 12 points in the middle of the last half, but the Tigers, paced by Butch Zatezalo and Richie Mahaffey, cut the lead to 73-72 with 1:24 left. The Cavaliers outscored the Tigers 8-2 in the last seconds to claim the win.
Mike Katos scored a career high of 32 points for Virginia, the most points scored against Clemson by any player this season.

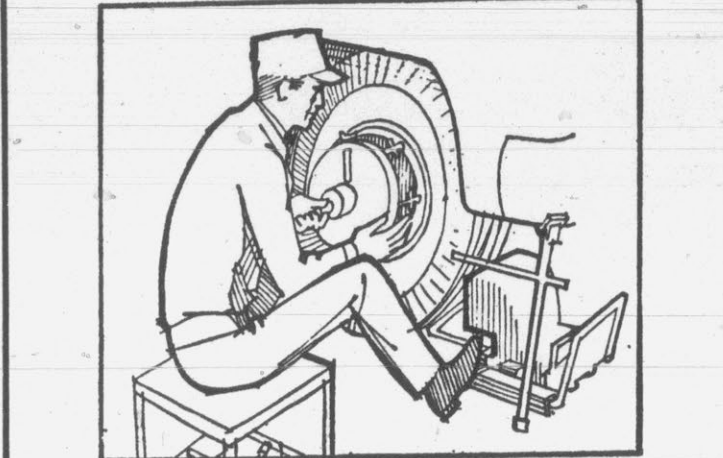

Five Winless Years Taught Kermit Zarley

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Kermit Zarley learned a valuable lesson in five winless years on the professional golf tour.
"You can't let up," said the 26-year-old Seattle pro after blistering Silverado Country Club's new North Course for a 65, seven under par, Sunday to defeat Dave Marr by a stroke and win the top prize of $25,000 in the Kaiser International Open.
Marr, who went into the final round 12 under par, wound up with a 70 for a 274 total to Zarley's 273.
Zarley completed his round 20 minutes before Marr and was 15 under while Marr was making up for a double bogey with three straight birdies—on the 16th, 17th and 18th holes.
Zarley had birdied the 18th and Marr missed an eagle by a foot. "That's why you can't let up," said Zarley.
Marr won $15,000 in second place money, more than half what he won during the entire 1967 season.
Gene Littler shot 69 after Saturday's 66 and tied George Archer for third. Archer added a 70 to Saturday's 68.
Each finished with a 276 total and won $7,812. Closest to them was Bert Greene with 69-71-71-68—279.
Bill Casper, who shot a 65 Friday, scored 71 Saturday and came in with a 76 Sunday for a 287 total, one under par and good for $597.
Arnold Palmer finished a stroke better at 286 on rounds of 70-73-76-69 and won $906.

No other sedan can make this statement.

"One trunk to a car" has been sedan dogma ever since sedans began. (And why not? Isn't it obvious that a car can't have two trunks? After all, how can you add a trunk without subtracting an engine?)
Well, you know how much we worry about dogma.
So our new VW Fastback Sedan not only has two good-sized trunks, but—since even a Volkswagen can't get along without an engine—an engine.
What we did was to make the engine only 16 inches high and tuck it underneath the rear trunk.)

Of course, while our Fastback may be the first two-trunked sedan, it's still a Volkswagen.
So it can make a couple of more statements most other sedans can't make.
Gas mileage: up to 27 mpg. The price: $2179.
But best of all, with this car what you gain in function you don't lose in style. Shut both trunks and you have a dashing little fastback.
Believers in the "one trunk to a car" dogma can call us heretics.
But at least we're good-looking heretics.

The State Of Affairs At Winterville High

By TED A. MINTON

Exams began today after being postponed for a week due to the area's recent bad weather spree. They will take up the better part of three days Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. First and second period will be given on Monday, third and fourth on Tuesday, while fifth and sixth will be given on Wednesday. This schedule holds true for most Pitt County schools.

During the past week the Wolves and Lady Wolves played a decisive game in Ayden against the Ayden Tornados. The scores were very close; however, Ayden managed to take over and win both games.

Winterville Homecoming

I'm sure all students and teachers alike are looking forward to out next Ayden game because on that night, Feb. 9, we will have the homecoming which has been long awaited by everyone. Already the main topic of student gossip has been the homecoming and who is most likely to be homecoming queen this year. I'm sure every girl at Winterville High is hoping and praying that she will be lucky enough to be nominated by some group or organization to represent them as a candidate for this most honored position.

Already some groups have nominated girls to represent them. Miss Frances Carroll will represent the Beta Club; Miss Kay Gooding, the Science Club; and Miss Rhonda Cox, The Future Homemakers of America. The individual classes have chosen nominees also. The Senior Class candidate is Miss Dorothy Hooks; the junior class, Miss Yvonne Weatherington; the sophomore class, Miss Brenda Wells; and for the freshman class, Miss Vickie Allen.

I know that everyone will agree that these girls are all worthy of their nominations. There are still more clubs left that have not submitted candidates, though. So one can only guess who will be lucky enough to become the next Homecoming Queen of Winterville High.

Blaiberg Plans Hold A Party

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The world's only surviving heart transplant patient continued in good condition today, Groote Schuur hospital reported.

Philip Blaiberg's wife said he asked for a champagne party when he is released from the hospital. The doctors expect to let him out next month if he has no setbacks.

Blaiberg received history's third heart transplant 20 days ago.

The widow of the man who donated the heart, Dorothy Haupt, arrived in Durban Sunday for a vacation.

"It's so nice to be here, to get away from the memories awhile," she said. "Now I am glad it's all over and Dr. Blaiberg is getting along so well."

The pioneer heart transplant surgeon, Dr. Christiaan Barnard said he hoped American doctors are not discouraged by the death of Mike Kasperak and would continue their work.

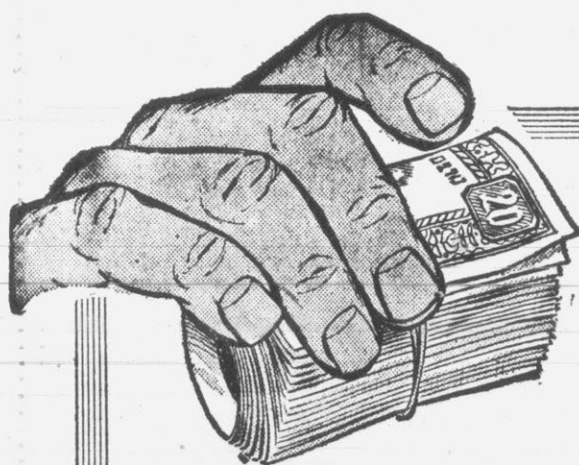

Auto Agency Is Robbed Of Cash And Merchandise

Police are investigating the theft of an estimated $400 to $500 worth of money and merchandise from Billmeyer Ford on East 10th Street Saturday night or early Sunday.

Chief H. F. Lawson said thieves gained entrance to the building by breaking out a rear window.

Missing from the building was a record player, two money boxes with money inside, and change and bills from a money tray, as well as one bottle of champagne.

Officers said estimates of the value of merchandise and money missing totaled between $400 and $500, with most of it in coins.

The Worry Clinic 'Muscle Hunger' Can Make Smoking Slaves

Tod's question appears quite often in the letter and questions that high schoolers direct to me. So scrapbook this case and use it in high school hygiene classes or at Sunday School. It is the inertia of habit that keeps most people slaves to tobacco, as well as to obesity and narcotics!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE E-567: Tod G., aged 15, is a smart high schooler.

"Dr. Crane," he asked during the forum discussion following my address to his high school, "if tobacco is so dangerous to health, then why do so many doctors smoke?"

"It seems to me they'd be the first ones to quit!"

Tod's question is pertinent, for way soulded damage smoke when they see the bodily damage produced by tobacco?

Well, the answer is simple. They started the cigarette habit at the age of '5 or 16 while in high school, long before they became doctors!

In fact, a recent report in our A. M. A. Journal stated that about 5,000 teen-agers thus become new addicts of tobacco every day, including Sunday!

For advertisers make it appear that the smoker is older and more sophisticated.

Since teen-agers are eager to be thought more mature than their years, they are suckers for this kind of bait!

That is why most of the physicians and dental surgeons started the tobacco habit, for they were then in high school and hungry for extra social prestige.

Once having become addicts, it is then very difficult to break off any nuisance habit, whether that be over-eating, smoking, drinking or the use of drugs, such as LSD and narcotics.

In the case of tobacco, it is not a chemical craving that keeps the smoker a slave to nicotine.

For an experiment during World War II, in which the subjects didn't know that 98 percent of the nicotine had been removed from their cigarettes, showed that they didn't reduce at all the number of cigarettes smoked per day.

Nor did any but two of the smokers even mention any change in taste.

So the main thing that keeps the smoker a slave to his cigarettes is what we call "muscle hunger."

In a tense or bored or sedentary situation, he wants an outlet of a muscular sort to vent his surplus energy.

Via smoking, he can thus wave his arm around for 5 minutes in the office or parlor and not be regarded as a "kook."

But if he were to shadow box in the parlor, while waiting for his girl friend to come downstairs, her father would think he was "tetched in the haid".

Or, if he excused himself to run around the block for several minutes, her father would look upon him as a "nut".

In the business office or bank, if an executive likewise jumped up from his desk and did calisthenics or lay on the floor every half hour to do 20 push ups, his co-workers would shake their heads in suspicious wonder!

Actually, however, those push ups would drain off far more energy and thus would be much superior to the cigarette habit.

But they are not socially "approved". Alas, most people are worse slaves to social custom than to tobacco!

So send for my booklet, "How to Break the Tobacco & Liquor Habits," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Try to re-channel your muscular energy in a new outlet if you wish to stop smoking with the least discomfort!

costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Oregon's butchers give the customer a break more often than they cheat, the state says.

The State Agriculture Department said that in 1967 its inspectors found 13.3 per cent of meat packages were overweight, and 11.4 per cent were underweight.

Goren on BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with two no trump and you hold:

♠ 4 ♣ KQ98743 ♦ KQ32 ♠ 5

What is your response?

A—The only information you require is the number of aces in partner's hand. The recommended bid, therefore, is an immediate response of four clubs, the Gerber convention. If North bids four diamonds showing all four aces, you will bid a grand slam; if he bids four no trump, showing three aces, you will settle for a small slam.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 10 4 ♥ J 10 7 5 ♦ K 8 2 ♣ A J 9 5

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Partner has insisted upon a game contract despite the warning that there is no particular fit. Actually you have a near maximum holding on which a one no trump response may be made. Therefore, it is necessary to bid one more heart than is necessary. The suggested call is five hearts. Certainly partner cannot expect more than this, else you would have made a more constructive response.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ K J 9 ♥ K Q 7 4 ♦ A Q 6 2 ♠ 7 6

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Having reached the conclusion that there is no possible game in the hand, a pass is indicated. Partner's known maximum is 10 points which together with 15 does not add up to the required 26.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ J 7 5 4 2 ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q 6 4 2 ♠ 5

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♥ Dble. Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Despite the fact that you have only six points in high cards this is a good hand facing a partner who is strong enough to double and then bid no trump. The recommended bid is two diamonds, the a bid of three diamonds could not be severely criticized. Partner could not reasonably expect much more, inasmuch as you responded with only one spade, not two.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with two hearts, and you hold:

♠ 9 5 ♥ J 7 5 3 ♦ K 7 4 ♠ K 5 3 2

What is your response?

A—The proper response to this heart bid is 2 NT, showing support and seven points, the immediate raise should be given.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ A K J 9 2 ♥ A 7 ♦ K Q J 4 ♠ K 6

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—You should not be satisfied with anything less than game, but you should make every effort to insure reaching game in the best contract. This can be done by a forcing rebid of three diamonds. Such a bid will allow partner to show a preference. If partner does not care for spades, he will no doubt bid three no trump, which you are prepared to pass.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K 9 6 ♥ K Q 9 5 3 ♦ A 10 2 ♠ 9 3

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♥ 2 ♣ 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Your partner has forced you to rebid at the level of three and, therefore, have a very strong hand. The suggested bid is three spades rather than a rebid of your own suit. Free bids by responder in suits higher in rank than the opener's suit are very drastic acts and should consequently be accorded great respect.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, partner opens with one spade, and you hold:

♠ K J 10 2 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ 7 5 3 ♠ A Q 2

What is your response?

A—This hand is not as good as it looks at first blush. While it has 10 high card points, it is not rich in playing strength, and the suggested response is two spades.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady. Tops of 17.75-18.25 at Rocky Mount; 17.50-18.25 at Wilson; 17.25-17.75 at Hickory; 17.00-18.00 at Bethel; 17.25-18.00 at Statesville; 18.00 at Salisbury; 17.75 at Rich Square; 17.75 at Greensboro; 17.50 at Selma; 17.25 at Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was about steady. Price of live poultry at the farms was 12½-13, mostly 12½ cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a sharp tumble in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The ticker tape was late most of the morning but caught abreast by noon.

It was the first of a series of shortened market sessions, cut to four hours from the regular 5½ so that brokerage houses would have a chance to catch up with a logjam of paperwork in their back offices.

Both glamor stocks and blue chips were hit hard by selling, with some of the high flyers losing several points.

Analysts said that investors seemed nervous because of the abbreviated sessions combined with the warnings over speculation in low-priced stocks and the continued uncertainty as to what tax and spending plans will emerge from the new session of Congress.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 8.73 at 871.59.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.3 at 317.0 with industrials off 4.6, rails off .1 and utilities off 1.1.

A plunge of half a dozen points by Litton Industries followed a report from the company that earnings for the January quarter will be substantially lower than expected. IBM, down 9, was weak even before the Litton news came.

Teledyne sank 5 points, Xerox nearly 5, Control Data and Occidental Petroleum 4 each, Fairchild Camera 3, U.S. Industries and Sperry Rand 2.

Du Pont's drop exceeding 2 points set a bad example for blue chips. Down a point or so were General Motors, Goodrich, Caterpillar, American Smelting and Homestake.

On the American Stock Exchange, many of the recent low-priced favorites were battered in heavy selling.

Plans To Oppose Senator Ervin

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Ed Tenney, Republican member of the Chapel Hill school board, said Sunday he plans to oppose incumbent Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., in this year's election.

Tenney said he will make his formal announcement this week.

Knifed To Death Over Hamburger

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Betty Lou Davis, 34, of Charlotte died Sunday of knife wounds witnessed told police were inflicted during an argument over a hamburger.

Police said that Margaret Jeanette Black Sweeney, 37, was charged with murder. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Friday.

Jail Ayden Man For Break-In

AYDEN—An Ayden man has been charged with breaking and entering a business firm north of Ayden.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson identified the man as Milton Carmon, 21-year-old Negro of 310 E. Hart St., Ayden. He was charged with breaking, entering and larceny. He was given a hearing before Magistrate W.E. Whitehurst and placed under $500 bond for trial in Ayden court.

Carmon was in Pitt County Jail this morning.

He is accused of entering a business establishment owned by Odell McLawhorn. The building was entered on the night of Jan. 8, when a window was torn from the frame. Approximately $5 was reported missing. The break-in was discovered by patrolling deputies around 10 p.m. on Jan. 8.

No Evidence Kasperak's Heart Failed

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Although Mike Kasperak died on the 15th day after his diseased heart was replaced, his doctor feels transplant operations will be continued.

"There was no evidence of rejection of the heart," Dr. Norman E. Shumway told newsmen Sunday at Stanford University Medical Center. "If the findings of the post mortem bear this out, then we feel we have every basis on which to plan another clinical attempt."

Kasperak, 54, died at 1:43 a.m. Sunday following kidney failure, liver failure and other complications.

"We think that we are in the process of making observations of tremendous importance to other possible (heart) recipients and to the medical community as well," Dr. Shumway said.

Sasebo Naval Base Remains Calm Today

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Calm prevailed around the Sasebo Naval Base today after four bloody clashes between radical students and police since the arrival Friday of the nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise.

In the only demonstration of the day, some 3,000 persons affiliated with the moderate Democratic Socialist Party marched quietly through the streets of Sasebo to protest the visit of the 75,000-ton carrier.

U.S. officials said the Enterprise would leave Tuesday. She is en route from Hawaii to Vietnam with the nuclear-powered frigate Truxton.

Police said the four clashes injured 465 persons, including 260 police, 180 students and 25 bystanders. Police arrested 66 students.

About 250 of the student demonstrators were reported remaining in the Sasebo area to demonstrate Tuesday before the ships sail.

Servicemen Express Their Appreciation

"I am writing to express my thanks for your wonderful gifts. I was one of the fortunate ones to receive a 'ditty' bag from your chapter of the American Red Cross."

Thus began the thankful letters to the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross from soldiers in Vietnam who received "ditty" bags from the Pitt chapter.

"These gifts mean more than Christmas gifts."

"It is reassuring to know that the people at home are thinking of us in Vietnam."

Early in the fall of 1967, under the direction of Mrs. J. T. Little, Sr. and Mrs. R. W. Howard, the local chapter of the Red Cross began to work diligently to prepare and fill 600 "ditty" bags for a company in Vietnam.

With the aid of church organizations, clubs, and individuals, the chapter had the bags filled and on their way to Vietnam in time to brighten Christmas for 600 men in Vietnam. According to Mrs. Walter Taylor, Executive Secretary of the Pitt County Chapter, the chapter began to receive letters this month from individuals and officers in Vietnam expressing their "heartfelt appreciation" for the bags they received.

The American National Red Cross working through all chapters across the country sent approximately 525,000 filled bags to Vietnam.
