Joe Clark received the annual Distinguished Service Award presented by the local Jaycees last night. Clark, a former president of the Greenville Jaycees, has been chairman of the blood program for the American Red Cross in Pitt County. He initiated a Jaycees-sponsored "Pledge - A - Thon" project which has resulted in more than 700 pledges to date.

Clark, a former president of the Greenville Jaycees, has been chairman of the blood program for the American Red Cross in Pitt County. He initiated a Jaycees-sponsored "Pledge - A - Thon" project which has resulted in more than 700 pledges to date. State Senator Robert B. Morgan, in presenting the award to Clark, said, "It may well be said that there are numerous people in Pitt County who owe their very lives to his dedication and untiring ef-ports on behalf of the Pitt County Bloodmobile." C. Eugene Prescott, 1967 DSA Chairman welcomed the group and introduced past DSA winners. The Jaycees observed "Bosses' Night" concurrently with the DSA banquet, and club president Julian Vainright introduced the bosses of the member Jaycees. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina University, introduced the guest speaker. Morgan, a candidate for state attorney general, told the group of his interest in politics. In reference to part of the Jaycee creed, Morgan said, "Our government here in America should be a government of laws and not government of men."

Probation Cases Sharply Rise In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore told delegates to a conference on crime and corrections today that the number of persons placed on probation in North Carolina increased from 14,159 to 17,707 last year—an increase of over 25 per cent. "It is evident that the trend is upward and many offenders who might receive an active prison sentence are allowed to remain productive in a free society under rehabilitative probation supervision," Moore said. "It means they can keep their jobs, pay taxes and provide for their families," the governor stated. "It means also that they are of less expense to the state."

Moore told the group the state does not have all the responsibility in rehabilitating offenders but that "just about every aspect of community life has a part to play in the proper rehabilitation and utilization of offenders who go back into society."

Congressman Fountain Injured In Auto Wreck

SHARPSBURG, N. C. (AP)—Rep. L. H. Fountain, D—N.C., was injured today in an automobile accident while making a campaign tour of Nash County. Fountain was admitted to the Edgemont General Hospital at Tarboro which said his injuries were considered "not severe." The hospital in Fountain's hometown of Tarboro issued this bulletin: "Mr. Fountain is alert and conscious. His condition is fairly good, but he has a moderate degree of pain because of the injuries. He has a laceration of the forehead, injury to the right shoulder and left chest. The injuries are considered not to be severe but to be on the safe side he was admitted to the hospital for observation."

Chief of Police Calvin Boykin of Sharpsburg said Fountain, 54, was driving south on U.S. Route 301 when he attempted to make a left turn at Sharp Street in the center of Sharpsburg, which is about six miles south of Rocky Mount. Fountain's car collided with a pickup truck driven by Loris Wayne Lamm, 27, of Rt. 2, Elm City. Boykin said Mrs. Lamm who was apparently not seriously injured was taken to a doctor's office for treatment. The chief said both vehicles were badly damaged. Boykin said Lamm apparently was uninjured. Asked if he was going to file charges in the wreck, Boykin said, "I don't know yet. I haven't completed my report."

North Korea Continues Belligerent Tone

Show Of Firmness Linked With Use Of Diplomacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 14,800 air reservists prepared to muster for indefinite active duty as the United States pushed along diplomatic paths to a possible bloodless settlement of the Pueblo crisis. President Johnson's approach obviously was to couple an air of determination with a readiness to use diplomacy in gaining release from Communist North Korea of the captured U.S. Navy intelligence ship and the 83 Americans aboard. The diplomatic paths included an urgent session of the 15-nation U.N. Security Council to consider what U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called a "grave threat to peace."

In seeking the session for today Goldberg said he hoped it would lead to the immediate return of the Pueblo and her crew. In Moscow, U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, who had no luck Tuesday in persuading the Soviets to act as intermediary in the dispute with North Korea, made another call at the foreign ministry today. While the U.S. embassy made no comment on the new attempt, a Soviet source said the ambassador again was unsuccessful in getting the Soviet government to play some role in unraveling the crisis. This source, who cannot be identified, said his government has no intention of getting involved. The prospect that Moscow might relent looked rather dim after the official Soviet news agency Tass said Thursday that North Korea acted "rightfully," and denounced the call-up of U.S. air reservists as a "threatening act."

The North Koreans also talked tough. The official newspaper of the North Korean Communist Party said Friday the Pueblo's crewmen "must be punished by law." It was not clear whether this meant the North Koreans planned to try the U.S. Navy men on some kind of charges, or would demand their punishment as the price of their being freed. Any move to try the Americans would almost certainly inflame members of Congress, some of whom already are demanding direct military action to reclaim the ship and its men. Navy sources in Washington said messages from the ship's master, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, furnish evidence that the crew blew up the Pueblo's secret coding machine and that the North Koreans evidently got "nothing that really compromiened it would "deal a hundred-fold, thousand-fold retaliation." The tone of these statements suggested North Korea is in no mood to listen to the Security Council even if that body should act. North Korea is not a U.N. member and has a history of ignoring the world organization's efforts to solve peacefully divided Korea's disputes. White House Press Secretary George Christian said Johnson's move, through Goldberg, to bring the U.N. into the problem "reflects his earnest desire to settle this matter promptly and, if at all possible, by diplomatic means." What will happen if diplomatic means should fail remained very much in doubt. The call-up of 14,787 Air National Guardsmen, Air Force Reservists and Naval Air Reservists will serve to give the United States a little more airpower at a time when pilot and plane resources are spread thin because of the Vietnam war.

Final Acre, Final Act Of Comprehensive Soil Survey

FINAL ACRE CEREMONY — At East Carolina University today local and state officials observed the completion of a comprehensive Pitt County soil survey. Samples of soil were taken from an acre of the ECU campus near Minges Coliseum and the data was plotted on an aerial photographic map. Then a formal program was held inside the coliseum which will itself be formally dedicated Saturday afternoon. Speakers on the program this morning included Arch J. Flanagan, Rev. Richard R. Gammon, Dr. Leo Jenkins, Joe P. Kuykendall, Dr. Ralph McCracken, E. H. Karnowski, Roy R. Beck, Thomas W. Willis, Sam C. Winchester and Robert L. Martin. (ECU News Bureau Photo)

Some Think Farmers Say Committee Congress Could Solve Problems Not Told All

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's limited mobilization of reserve airmen is receiving general support from members of Congress, many of whom reacted angrily to North Korea's refusal to release the captured intelligence ship Pueblo. But there also was increasing grumbling Thursday that Congress hasn't been told enough about the circumstances surrounding the ship's seizure and some talk of a possible congressional investigation. Those supporting the mobilization generally expressed hope it demonstrated U.S. firmness they felt could spur release of the Pueblo without hostilities. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it was important, in view of the uncertain situation, to entrust to the President "this added responsibility" for decision-making on the Pueblo incident. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, deputy Republican leader, said the call-up was necessary. He urged firmness without war hysteria. Kuchel said Johnson had a duty "to explain the circumstances as fully and as soon as national security permits."

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., proposed a congressional investigation of "the policy of sending these ships into dangerous waters without air cover." Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., asked for a full explanation from the administration by Monday, and proposed that otherwise the Senate conduct its own inquiry.

Farmers yesterday told members of the House tobacco subcommittee that, in their opinion, the present Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee can act to solve marketing problems which plagued the farmers, warehousemen and buyers in North Carolina last year. The comments came as the House Agriculture Committee's subcommittee met in Greenville for the second of three public hearings into marketing problems facing North Carolina flue-cured tobacco growers. The tobacco subcommittee opened the round of hearings in Lumberton on Wednesday and concluded the series with a hearing in Durham this morning. First District Congressman Walter Jones of Farmville presided over the sessions. The marketing problem was described as a chaotic situation by W.A. Allen of Farmville. Allen said the situation was caused by overproduction . . . change in buying patterns . . . buyers not purchasing quantities of tobacco as in past seasons . . . loose leaf tobacco being marketed faster than tied tobacco. "The 90-hour limit on loose leaf tobacco being sold (under government support prices) caused the farmers to rush the markets," Allen told the hearing. George Watson, a Nash County tobacco farmer, warehouseman and seed producer, told the congressman there are four possible routes to the solution of the problems. The possibilities as outlined by Watson included, "the 36-man industry committee, the federal order route, the Federal Trade Commission or political means." "Tobacco farmers have a great stake in this problem," Watson said, indicating that possibly the best way to solve the problems is through the marketing committee which has representatives from all sections of the industry. That committee was set up last year to regulate sales on all belts and is composed of farmers, buyers and warehousemen, with farmers holding two-thirds of the committee's membership. Cooperation is the best path to follow, Watson indicated. "You cannot make buyers buy . . . and you cannot make the seller sell." Allen, too, backed the marketing committee as the best solution for the flue-cured tobacco growers problems. "It would be unfair and unreasonable to junk the present 36-man committee that many

Hold Woman For Branch Bank Robbery

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP)—Terry Lee Rogers, a 20-year-old woman who weighs 197 pounds and stands 5-foot-4, was arrested at her home near Sharpsburg Tuesday and charged with bank robbery. The woman, also known as Terry Lee Battle, was accused of the $14,050 robbery of the Sharpsburg branch of the People's Bank & Trust Co. on Jan. 15. FBI agents said none of the money has been recovered. Sharpsburg is five miles south of Rocky Mount. She was arraigned Thursday before U.S. Commissioner N. Ray Watson, who set her bond at $20,000, appointed a defense attorney, and set a preliminary hearing for next Wednesday at Rocky Mount. Miss Rogers then was taken to the Wilson County Jail.

Farmers Say Committee Could Solve Problems

Farmers have worked for many years without an opportunity for them to finish the 1968 market season," Allen said. The marketing committee is composed of representatives chosen by their respective organizations with authority to act in the best interest of all concerned," Allen outlined. "The attitude is much more cooperative than at the beginning . . . and they can implement any phase of activity in tobacco marketing in 1968," the Farmville man continued. According to Allen, "farmers are at the bottom, there is only one way for the farmer to go—that is upward." Producers, he said, can join hands and close the warehouse if they wish. Is this not sufficient authority for farmers? Allen asked. "Growers would like to see the 36-man committee continue its operation this year," A. C. Edwards of Hookerton said. The tobacco grower said, (Continued On Page 12)

Concern Voiced Over Cost Of Living Trend

By NEIL GILBRIDE WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs, climbing at a 10-year record pace and more than wiping out wage gains of many Americans, are causing White House concern in this election year. For all Americans, a White House source said Thursday, the rising prices mean "you've got trouble and it's not on the horizon, it's all around you." The Labor Department reported Thursday living costs rose 3.1 per cent in 1967. "Not only are they clipping along, but at an accelerated rate," the White House source said of steadily climbing costs of food, clothing, housing, transportation and medical care. The price hikes in the final quarter of 1967 would add up to an annual rate of 3.5 per cent if they continued this year, said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. And, Chase said, "It looks as if the trend would continue." "Almost everything went up in December except automobiles and gasoline," Chase said in reporting final 1967 figures. The Consumer Price Index in December showed its third straight monthly rise of threenths of one per cent and wound up the year at 118.2. This means it cost $11.82 last month for every $10 worth of typical family goods and services in the 1957-59 period which the government uses as a base for measuring the rise in living costs. In other terms, the 1957-59 dollar sustained a loss of 15.4 cents over the past 10 years. Some 45 million workers—60 per cent of the nation's work force—lost 27 cents a week in purchasing power over the past year despite wage gains of $3.28 to an average of $103.25 a week. President Johnson, in his State of the Union speech earlier this month, warned of "an accelerating spiral of price increases, a slump in home building and a continuing erosion of the American dollar," if Congress doesn't enact his proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Award Contracts On Dorms, Stadium Job

Contracts were awarded by East Carolina University yesterday for two dormitories and a 10,000-seat addition to Ficklen Stadium costing a total of $3,278,668.46. The stadium addition will be built on the north side of the football field. The old bleacher type seating has already been cleared away and piling is now being driven for the addition. Contracts for the stadium addition totalled $564,029.46. It is expected to be ready by next football season. Contracts for the two dormitories include a nine-story residence for 500 men students and ECU's third 10-story 400 bed unit for women. Contracts for the men's dorm total $1,479,440 but that figure doesn't include built-in and moveable furniture. A total of $1.7 million is available for the building which will be located with four existing 500-bed men's dorms between 10th and 14th Streets. Cost of the women's dorm, including all but moveable furnishings, is $1,235,199. The maximum budget is $1.5 million. This will be the third matching 10-story dorm to be built on the extreme west end of the main campus near Cotanche Street. Following is a summary of successful bidders: Ficklen Stadium addition—William F. Freeman Associates

Thad Eure Files To Run For 8th Straight Term

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Secretary of State Thad Eure is an official candidate for re-election to the post which he has held for 32 years.

The 68-year-old Democrat paid his $200 filing fee at the State Board of Elections Office in Raleigh Thursday and said in a prepared statement: "I covet the hope that I shall be privileged to serve again in this office and continue my established open-door and helpful policy to everyone."

Eure is seeking his eighth consecutive term.

Six other members of the Council of State already have filed for reelection, and only one member, Dr. Charles Carroll, has announced he will step down at the end of his current term as superintendent of public instruction.

Other candidates filing Thursday included the six judges of the new State Court of Appeals.

Chief Judge Raymond Mallard and Judges David M. Britt, Naomi Morris, Hugh Campbell, Walter Brock and Frank M. Parker are Democrats appointed by Gov. Dan Moore after the 1967 General Assembly established the new court. They are seeking election to eight-year terms.

John B. Wardell Jr., 54, of Jamestown paid a $200 filing fee for a second opportunity to oppose State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane in the May Democratic primary.

Wardell, a printing superintendent at Indian Head Hosiery Inc. of High Point, placed third in a field of three candidates in the 1964 primary race.

Find Pieces Of Crashed Bomb

THULE AIR BASE, Greenland (AP) — The U.S. Air Force found hydrogen bomb fragments Thursday around the spot where a B52 bomber crashed and burned on thick ice near this Arctic Circle base.

But the Air Force doesn't know whether the rest of the four bombs aboard the big Strategic Air Command jet are buried in the snow and ice or at the bottom of North Star Bay under about 880 feet of water, Maj. Gen. Richard O. Hunziker told a news conference.

All the debris is being left "right where it is," said Hunziker. "because right now I have control of the contamination and I don't want to let it get away from me."

He added that it had not been decided whether to search deeper for the rest of the bombs.

The plane crashed Sunday on a nine-foot thick blanket of ice covering North Star Bay near Thule base. The flame-scorched area and fragments of the plane indicate that the B52 may have exploded on impact.

One crewman perished in the crash. Six others parachuted to safety. One of them, Capt. Frank F. Hopkins, has been returned to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., suffering a broken arm and a minor frost bite.

"I have positive evidence the weapons are around the scar" where the plane crashed, Hunziker said.

But while "every piece of debris we found was contaminated," by the device's radioactive contents, Hunziker said, "based on the information we now have, this does not present a dangerous situation to anyone."

Hunziker said he does not know what percentage of the thermonuclear devices aboard the plane has been found.

Hunziker said the bombs apparently were on board the huge aircraft not thrown from it when it plunged into the ice. He displayed a photograph of what he called the plane's impact area and a long, black scar on the ice where the plane slid for several hundred yards, spewing fuel and burning.

Hunziker, a SAC officer, is directing identification and recovery efforts by some 40 men in the near-total darkness of the crash area. Two helicopters and eskimo-driven dog sleds are ferrying technicians to the scene. Air Force efforts are being hampered by dark and cold.

Newsman who arrived at Thule Thursday are to be flown over the site.

A deep blue twilight hangs over thule for about two hours around noon and the rest of the day is black as night. Flashlight batteries wear out in 15 minutes. Hunziker said he is ordering more helicopters and trying to provide electric power to the recovery area.

He said the contaminated area is more than 300 yards wide around the impact point. The debris he identified as portions of H-bombs, were found on top of two feet of snow.

A noted expert on the effects of radiation, Dr. Wright Langham of UCLA Los Alamos Laboratory, flew to Thule Thursday and told newsmen that on the basis of early information: "I am fairly convinced that the plutonium is fixed," in other words, confined to the contaminated objects themselves and not radiating deadly rays into surrounding air.

Records show that the earliest skating club, formed in 1642, was the Edinburgh Skating Society, in Scotland.

Misery Deepens In West Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Rain, snow, wind and more tremors worsened the misery today of western Sicily hit by a powerful new shock Thursday after a massive earthquake Jan. 15.

Officials reported that the toll from the new shock now stood at nine dead and 87 injured.

This added to the hundreds killed and injured in the disastrous quake that left a dozen communities in ruins 10 days earlier.

The new quake sent thousands in refugee tent centers and tens of thousands from Palermo and other cities on the fringe of the disaster area fleeing into the open to huddle again around bonfires.

Two more tremors rippled through the area this morning.

Diamond Reset For Second Time

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Am I a dope to accept an engagement ring from a guy who admitted it was the same diamond he gave a girl three years ago? I didn't ask him any questions because I never knew him when he was engaged to her and I figured it wasn't any of my business. Right?

Well, a very good friend of George's said she thought I was a dope for accepting a second-hand engagement ring, but Abby, he had the diamond reset, so it's not like it was the same ring. Do you think I was a

DEAR SECURE: She is certainly entitled to it since it is the "kitty" into which both she and her employer have been contributing for many years. Tell her to give it to charity, if she doesn't want to keep it.

ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: No. If George can fell two birds (chicks, that is) with one stone, there's no harm done. (P.S. Keep your eye on that "good friend" of George's who thought you were "a dope"—just to make sure she doesn't take you for one.)

DEAR ABBY: If this letter makes sense, it will be a miracle because right now I am so nervous I can hardly think. Yesterday I came home and found my 15-year-old son putting on my make-up! He had lipstick on his lips, eye shadow on his lids, and he was putting on mascara. He acted embarrassed when he saw me, but he didn't run and hide. All he said was, "I just wanted to see how I'd look."

He was wearing his regular clothes, but he had his shoes and sox off, and later I found my high-heeled slippers under his bed. I can't understand things like this, Abby. What does it all mean? We have three other children and they are normal. I can't tell my husband. It would kill him for sure. I am worried sick and don't know what to do.

DESPERATE MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: This boy could be normal too, and is only passing thru a stage. Talk to your family physician. He may suggest that you take your son to a psychiatrist for evaluation. Most important, don't make the boy feel freakish or guilty. And DO tell the boy's father. If it didn't kill you, it won't kill HIM.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think girls with glasses can be as attractive as girls without them?

FOUR EYES DEAR FOUR: That depends on their frames.

DEAR ABBY: I have been drawing social security for two years now, and my wife will be eligible for hers in the near future. My problem is she doesn't want to accept hers. She says the government is billions of dollars in debt and they need the money worse than she does. It is true, we could live without her social security, but it would come in handy, and since she is entitled to it, I can't see any reason why she doesn't take it. How can I persuade her to take it?

Schools Needs Not Being Satisfied

A survey by the Department of Public Instruction on school classroom needs in North Carolina offers another peg on which to hang a proposal for year-round utilization of public schools.

The survey also points up the fact that in spite of the school construction going on, the need for classrooms still is not being satisfied.

According to the survey, there are 5,087 more classrooms needed in North Carolina than are scheduled for completion during this year. To make matters worse, six per cent less classrooms are scheduled for construction this year than last year.

Operation of North Carolina schools on a 12-month basis would not, of course, eliminate the need for additional classrooms. It would in time, however, reduce the total number of classrooms needed. Over a period of years it would mean less investment required in buildings to meet the needs of young people of the state.

Be that as it may, it will be some time before North Carolina goes to a year-round school operation even on an experimental basis. In the meantime, greater efforts must be put forth at both the local and state levels to see that additional classrooms are provided. Through bond issues in recent years the state has helped meet the need for school buildings throughout North Carolina. Some federal funds have likewise found their way into capital outlay programs for schools. At times there have been indications that local governments have been too anxious to wait and see what the state or federal governments were going to do about meeting school construction needs before moving positively to provide local funds for school construction. In many cases the result has been long delays in meeting school needs, and the ultimate investment of more local funds than would have been required had the task been undertaken earlier.

If the building needs of public schools are to be met, more funds from both state and local government sources must be directed into school construction. When local governments wait on the state and vice versa, usually everyone suffers... particularly those youngsters who want and need a good public school education.

Gains Made In Lumberton Area

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

LUMBERTON—A network of good, smooth roads sweeps across the gentle, piney-scented hills and fertile, winter-browned fields south of the Cape Fear and an interstate highway speeds the travel toward South Carolina.

But, here a few miles north of the border, lies the thriving and growing seat of Robeson County — a neat, clean and busy community of many new homes, churches, stores, banks, shopping centers, restaurants and motels—Lumberton.

It is the financial and trading hub of a large, pulsing area covering parts of both states lying between Fayetteville and Florence, S. C.

Still primarily rural in makeup, Robeson County alone has a population of 100,000 and in addition to Lumberton there are more than a dozen smaller towns in the county.

C & D Meeting

The importance of Lumberton itself as a financial and trading center, as a place to work and shop, as a nucleus of an expanding — almost exploding — economy is evident.

It was seen first hand this week by the state's Board of Conservation and Development which held its winter meeting here. C&D members and officials shuttled between fine headquarters motels on the outskirts to the complex of spacious new buildings in the downtown area and looked at Lumberton closeup.

Approximately 40 Lumberton firms and organizations joined the local chamber of commerce in sponsoring social events, tours and other activities. The weather was perfect for golf, and the hosts explained that mild, temperate climate even in January is not unusual in southeastern North Carolina.

This is one reason, along with available labor and water supply, plentiful housing and capital that industry is moving in and expanding in this section of the state.

Remarkable Gains
There have been remarkable industrial gains in Lumberton and the immediate area in a relatively short time.

Hector MacLean, who is president of Lumberton's burgeoning Southern National Bank and a state senator, says "we are very pleased and encouraged by substantial economic growth." He cites instances of fantastic success on the part of industries which have chosen good locations and found necessary labor and applied skilled know-how to manufacturing and marketing.

One example is a national rubber and automotive products concern which has employed a high percentage of Robeson County Indians in its work force here because of their dexterity and manual and mechanical skills.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Another outstanding example of growth is that of a firm here which makes bags and has developed a process for covering them with woven synthetic material. Such waterproof and not resistane bags are in great demand by the military forces in Viet Nam and elsewhere for sandbagging, bulkheading and other uses.

Regional Meetings

The Lumberton meeting of the C & D board completed a series of sessions held in each of the various geographic regions of the state in which C&D established regional industrial development offices in 1965.

The schedule has included sessions in Asheville, High Point, Salisbury, Gastonia, Goldsboro, Morehead City and the Spring meeting, in April, will be in Raleigh.

Nuclear Bomber Crash Bound To Be Dangerous

It is uncertain how much the crash of an American bomber loaded with nuclear weapons influenced voters in this week's defeat of the pro-American Danish government.

It is certain that the accident on a Danish possession carried considerable impact. Demonstrations by young Danes in front of the American Embassy, comment from the government's opposition, and the Soviet Union's description of the incident as "a dangerous accident," bear this out.

Despite the Pentagon's assurance that there is no danger of a nuclear explosion from the lost H-Bombs, such accidents are, indeed, dangerous.

Not only does there remain the chance, however remote, of nuclear explosion, but the United States may have lost much in the way of international accord.

Can Only Guess Korea Motives

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trying to guess at this moment what the North Koreans and the North Vietnamese Communists are up to is like trying to guess why Santa Clause always looks fat. It's a bit of a fantasy.

The reason is simple: Nothing positive has been disclosed yet about the motives behind their most recent actions.

This week the North Koreans captured the USS Pueblo, a Navy intelligence-fathering ship loaded with electronics, and her crew of 81 plus two civilians off the Korean coast. You really need a crystal ball on this one.

One idea comes to mind immediately: That the capture was part of a plot worked out with North Vietnam to add to the pressure on this country to make peace in Vietnam, for otherwise it might be faced with a war in Korea, too.

But before any guess is sensible one question has to be answered beyond dispute, and that hasn't happened yet: Was the American ship in international waters, where she would have a right to be, or was she in Korean territorial waters, spying on Korea?

There's not much doubt about the spying. The ship was equipped for that.

The North Koreans say the Pueblo was in their territorial waters and issued what they say is a "confession" by the American skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, admitting his ship was spying within Korean territorial waters.

The Defense Department quickly called the alleged

"confession" a "travesty on the facts" and that, judging by the kind of language used, Bucher couldn't have written the kind of statement attributed to him.

But — at the White House President Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, was something less than positive about where the ship was.

"To the best of our information," Christian said, it was in international waters. He refused to be more positive.

This brings up the memory of the American U-2 spy plane shot down over the Soviet Union in 1960 during the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. This government of first denied the plane was on a spy mission, tried to say it was simply factoring weather information.

The Soviets had too much evidence and a few days later the United States admitted the plane had been spying. But the guessing on this Korean episode is peanuts compared with some of the guessing about North Vietnam.

For weeks, perhaps months, there has been this kind of guessing:

North Vietnam believes public feeling in this country is so intensely antiwar that Johnson is bound to be defeated in this year's election and that then maybe business can be done with his Republican successor.

Until then, as this particular guess sees it, the North Vietnamese have decided they must continue the war doggedly. But there's a soft spot in this thinking.

Of the four Republican tactics of as possible president.

Other Editors Saying Medical Center Proposal

(Spring Hope Enterprise)

Eastern North Carolina—indeed, the whole state, might well listen to what a family doctor from this section (a past president of the State Medical Society) has to say about establishing a medical center at East Carolina University.

It is a fact that the proposed medical school at ECU would be a tremendous undertaking, one costing more than a million in dollars and 15 in length of years before its first graduating class could be turned out. That'd be very well for the future, but what about now?

Dr. Amos Johnson of Garland proposes that a medical center, rather than a medical school, be organized at ECU.

There, post-graduate medical students could take advantage of existing medical facilities in Greenville for their residency and internship.

Also, as Dr. Johnson suggests, they could engage in the family-type practice of medicine so needed in the eastern part of the state.

In addition to preparing young men and women for the medical profession, this would bring new citizens into our section of the state. For if we sell ourselves as we should, these doctors will want to set their roots here, so how can we lose?

Let's forget the EC "U" hassle and work together to improve both East Carolina University and the lot of our people by working toward this medical center.

AN INTERESTING POINT--

By HAL BOYLE

When In Doubt--Punt!

WASHINGTON — "Well, ladies and gentlemen, this has been quite a football game. The heavily favored Johnson Regulars are leading the Democratic Dissenters 56 to 12, and although we're still in the first quarter, there doesn't seem to be much chance of the Dissenters overcoming the Johnson Regulars' lead. As you know, the winner of this ball game gets to play in the Presidential Super Bowl in November, 1968, and all eyes are focused on what is happening here today.

"Leading the attack for the Dissenters is second-string quarterback Gene McCarthy of Minnesota. The first-string quarterback, Bobby Kennedy, a transfer student from Massachusetts to New York, is suited up but is sitting on the bench. A doubtful starter because he was afraid of being permanently injured, Bobby has been working out with the team in practice, but no one knows if he'll get into the game.

"That cheering you hear in the background comes from the Dissenter fans' section of the stadium. In case you can't understand what they're chanting, it's 'We want Bobby,' 'We want Bobby.' Bobby has a blanket around his head as if to drown out the chant.

"During the first quarter, every time Gene McCarthy was thrown for a loss, he got up and looked over at the bench as if to inquire if Bobby were going to come into the game. But so far these has been no indication that Bobby is going to play.

"Coach Lyn Johnson of the Regulars doesn't seem to be bothered by the McCarthy offense. As a matter of fact, during the game he substituted the regular defense captain, Bob McNamara, and put in Clark Clifford to replace him.

"While Clifford has never played defense before, he got a rousing cheer when he came into the contest.

"There haven't been too many fumbles in the game. The Dissenters just can't seem to get the ball rolling. Their strategy has been just—

Percy Avoids Battle

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO—After months of indecision and debate in his own camp, Senator Charles H. Percy has all but decided against an attempt to make Illinois's 58 delegates to the Republican National Convention unmistakably his own.

That means Percy's favorite son candidacy will rest on a delegation selected not by him but essentially by the regular party organization, whose first loyalties are distinctly not to Percy. Thus, Percy is sidestepping an outright battle, testing his popular appeal against the creaky party organization.

Moreover, the significance of this tentative decision transcends Percy's position here. Just as he chooses not to struggle for the Illinois delegation, so is he less likely to enter the Oregon primary on May 24. As a Presidential dark horse, Percy is now in low gear.

This signifies a victory for the "softs" among Percy's advisors, members of Percy's own staff in Washington and Chicago who want Percy to be a passive candidate who could become the choice of the moderates only after both Governors George Romney and Nelson Rockefeller had a shot at it. The "hards," principally friends outside his staff, have urged him actively, though not openly, to pursue the nomination.

The clearest focus for this struggle has been back home in Illinois, where the Bourbons who run the regular party organization have always regarded Chuck Percy as an over-liberal upstart—and always will. Beginning last spring, Percy discussed with his closest advisors the possibility of putting up Percy-pledged candidates for every convention delegate to be selected in the June 11 primary.

Admittedly a gamble, the Percy offensive would have had a fair chance of success. The creaky Bourbon machine turned out less than half the 1964 primary vote for Barry Goldwater and is sadly out of touch with grass roots Republican thinking. Furthermore, a Percy victory would have asserted once and for all both his independence from and superiority over the Bourbons.

But it would have been a blood bath, Percy's soft-line advisors emphasized, insuring everlasting war with the Bourbons. As time has passed with no preparations made to form a Percy delegation, the decision is being made by the calendar (though, at least theoretically, the effort is still possible).

Working behind the scenes, Percy forces will still fight the election of blatantly anti-Percy delegates — notably Phyllis Schlafly, the notorious right-wing pamphleteer. But in the absence of a statewide Percy drive, Mrs. Schlafly is odds-on favorite to win (despite opposition from the regular organization as well as Percy).

Since the Bourbons who will be selected for delegates through the party process will do Percy no favors, his favorite son candidacy now rests solely on the good favor of Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen and on support from the man likely to be nominated for Governor — Richard Ogilvie, now president of the Cook county (Chicago) board.

As we have reported, Ogilvie is a pragmatist more in tune with Percy than the Bourbons. But he considers

If The Gold Drain Isn't Ended

By ELMER ROESSNER

Some discontent is rumbling over President Johnson's program to halt the gold drain. Most of the business community is going along with it. Some executives are unhappy, but almost all agree that something must be done. Many travelers and their agencies are unhappy. The travelers don't want to be restricted or taxed, and the agents fear a cut in profits.

Many opposed to the Vietnam war, perhaps calculating that if LBJ's program fails, America will have to abandon the South Vietnamese to the communists. One noted cartoonist has drawn President Johnson acting like a lunatic and labeled "balance of payments obsession."

Obsession? Let's see what might happen if nothing were done to check the outflow of gold.

In 1949, the United States held $24.5 billion in gold and today holds $12.4 billion. At that rate of decline, the U. S. would hold zero gold in 1986.

Decline Would Be Faster
However, if our gold stocks remained on a come-and-get-it basis, the decline might be much faster. If foreign holders of dollars saw the gold backing disappearing, they would rush to convert their paper into metal.

Without gold to back the dollar, the dollar abroad would become just what it is at home, a bit off paper. It's buying power abroad would decline just as fast as it has in the U. S.

This would make everything we exported bring less in stronger foreign currencies. It would make everything we imported cost more in terms of dollars.

We might come to the point where we were exporting shirts and transistors to Japan and making suits for people of Asia. Vast areas might fall under communist domination.

International Effects
The weakening of the dollar would also cause a weakening of many foreign currencies. The loss of gold backing would be an automatic devaluation of the dollar. Other nations would race us in devaluing their own currencies. The situation might become similar to that in Europe after World War I, when the currencies of the impoverished terms. Figure out what that nations became worthless or almost so.

Even worse, because Russia appears to have a huge stock of gold, all the Western nations would have to deal with the Soviet under its terms. Figure out what that would lead to.

Opening lead: King of ♡ South, the dealer at five spades, did not give himself the best chance to win 11 tricks. West's five heart overcall of South's preemptive four spade opening bid could have been punished severely, had North taken time out to double instead of persisting to five spades. Accurate defense will score up two tricks each in spades and clubs and one in diamonds for an 800 point sting.

West opened the king of hearts against the final contract which was ruffed in dummy with the deuce of spades. There was no quick entry back to declarer's hand so that he might ruff out his remaining heart. He decided, therefore, to draw trump and hinge everything on the club finesse. If he could pick up the queen, dummy's suit would provide enough discards to give him all 13 tricks.

A spade was led to the jack and one more pull drew the adverse trumps. The ten of clubs was led and finessed. East won the trick with the queen and returned a heart. West topped declarer's jack with the king and, after a moment's reflection, chose to play the ace of diamonds before attempting to cash a third round of hearts. In all, the defense took one trick each in diamonds, hearts, and clubs to score a 50 point profit on the deal.

Declarer could have made the hand by giving up on the club finesse and playing instead for a three-two division in that suit. Since he can afford to lose a club and a diamond, it is suggested that he lead a small club from dummy at trick two, while North still retains a trump to protect against the hearts. East is in with the queen, but there is no effective return that he can make. If the defense does not cash the diamond trick immediately, they will lose it, for dummy's clubs are now established.

The finesse in clubs offered South roughly a 50-50 chance. The play of the small club from dummy which depends on a three-two division in the suit gives declarer about 2 to 1 odds in his favor.

One Person Hurt In Series Of Six Collisions Here Yesterday

One person was injured and an estimated $1,125 property damage resulted from a series of six traffic collisions investigated in Greenville yesterday.

Officers said the only injury reported occurred in a 10:04 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Gum Road and Drum Avenue.

Police said a car driven by Clifton Earl Wilson, 18, of 712 East Gum Rd. skidded on ice and struck a dirt bank. The force of the impact caused his brother's head to strike the windshield, causing minor injuries.

Wilson's brother was identified as eight-year-old Donald Wayne Wilson.

No damage resulted to the car and no charges were placed.

Heaviest damage reported resulted from a 1:42 a.m. collision at the intersection of Ninth Street and Forrest Hill Circle which involved cars driven by James Kenneth Williams, 20, of 800 Forrest Hill Cir., and William Hoke Smith, 53, of 1905 East 10th St.

Damage to the Williams auto was set at $25 while damage to the Smith car was set at $300.

Police charged Williams with failing to keep a proper lookout while backing.

Betty Briley Joyner of 1708 Spruce St. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 9:40 a.m. mishap at the intersection of 14th and Glenn Arthur Streets.

The Joyner car, officers reported, collided with a vehicle driven by Rubell Jones Heath, of 604 Norris St. causing an estimated $50 damage to the Heath car and about $225 damage to the Joyner vehicle.

Christopher Char Baker, 19, of 406 West Fourth St. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 11:05 a.m. accident at Greene and Fourth Street intersection.

The Baker car, officers reported, collided with a vehicle driven by Vernon Leon Tyson,

Artists Series To Open Nov. 6

The East Carolina University Central Ticket Office has issued a reminder that the five-concert Artists Series announced recently is for next season, not the current one.

Rudolph Alexander, concert manager, said the office has received numerous requests from persons who have the mistaken impression that the concerts are scheduled this season.

The 1968-'69 Artists Series opens next Nov. 6 with the Roger Wagner Choral. Other attractions are Metropolitan Opera baritone Robert Merrill, Dec. 10; classical guitarist Andres Segovia, Jan. 27, 1969; the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Feb. 5, 1969; and pianist Van Cliburn, March 14, 1969.

Alexander invited any interested persons to contact the Central Ticket Office in Wright Auditorium for season tickets ($10 each) for next season. He pointed out that several hundred season tickets remain available for sale to the public and he reemphasized that no tickets for individual performances will be sold next season.

Refuses To Wear Shoes, Expelled

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Robert Nighswonger has been expelled from Fullerton Junior College because he refuses to wear shoes, but he says he'll insist on attending classes.

College trustees acted because he ignored an order to wear shoes on campus.

The 25-year-old art student showed the trustees a letter from a physician saying that if Nighswonger wore shoes, a neurological disorder affecting his toes would prevent his walking without a cane or crutches.

Cite Slow Desegregation Among Schools In Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP)—School officials of Wilson, N. C., seeking continuation of federal funds, have testified that desegregation is progressing as rapidly as it can in the 12 schools of the district.

The school officials said at a hearing in Washington Thursday that desegregation this year is 96 per cent greater than last year.

But Dr. Kenneth Haddock of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Wilson is maintaining a dual school system. He said there are only 151 Negroes in formerly all-white schools in a Negro school population of 3,700. He also said only 14 of 310 teachers had crossed racial lines.

George S. Willard, Wilson school superintendent, and George H. Adams, school board chairman, headed the Wilson delegation at the federal hearing.

In this context, Percy's favorite son candidacy loses whatever national implication it might have carried. Percy's situation in Illinois exposes weakness far more than it reveals strength to the rest of the party.

Why is there war? Why must the innocent suffer? For a South Vietnamese family in a small farming village in the midst of gunfire and death, questions like these are hard to answer. And the answers are hard to comprehend. UPI Correspondent Thomas Corpora describes life for the people of one such village Sunday in the Daily Reflector.

less, and they just can't seem to catch the imagination of the crowd.

"Wait a minute, folks. Wait a minute. Bobby Kennedy has just taken off his blanket and he's starting to warm up with a football with his brother, Teddy. The crowd has gone crazy. Bobby is throwing the ball back and forth now, and more fans are watching him than are watching the ball game.

"McCarthy is looking over at the bench again, wondering if he will be substituted. Now Kennedy is talking with the coaches. He seems to be in an argument. He's nodding his head. Now he's sitting down on the bench again and is putting a blanket around himself. The fans are booing, but Bobby doesn't seem to be paying any attention.

"The Johnson Regulars are making long yardage, and there doesn't seem to be anything that's going to stop them. They've been running through Bill Fulbright, Mike Mansfield, Ernie Gruening and Joe Clark and have been passing over the heads of George McGovern, Frank Church and Wayne Morse.

"Wait a minute. Bobby's getting up off the bench again. He's thrown off his blanket and he's running up and down. Now he's doing knee bends. The fans are going wild. It looks as if this time he may go in.

"Oh, oh. He's talking to the coaches again. Now he's on the phone to the scouts up in the boxes. He's examining the field. He's studying the Johnson Regulars' bench. He's on the phone again. Now he's talking to the cheer leaders. He picks up a football and is juggling it in his hand as he walks by himself along the sidelines.

"Now he's back at the bench. He shrugs his shoulders, sits down and puts the blanket around himself again and stares out toward the goal line. From where he sits it seems awfully far away."

Federal Research Funds For Universities Cut

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense and space agency spending for research at universities is being sliced by 20 per cent this year. A private government memo says the cuts threaten programs and jobs at some schools.

Other government agencies also are reducing research spending, putting an additional squeeze on the academic community.

Universities that exultantly rode the government research roller-coaster to a $1.6 billion crest are beginning to tremble on the ride downhill.

Faculty and staff hiring in some areas is near a standstill. Graduate admissions for next September probably will be cut. Some schools are hunting more intensively for private money.

Shirley A. Johnson Jr., director of research at the University of Denver, said, "If we feel a cut here we'll just have to decrease our activities." His school did $3.27 million in Department business last year and also has seven space agency contracts.

"We're hurting in the graduate education area," said James J. Brophy, academic vice president at Illinois Institute of Technology, where government research finances one-third of the entire academic program.

Defense officials expect private schools with little or no endowment—Denver and IIT, for example—to be hurt more than state universities such as Michigan and California, or heavily endowed private schools like Stanford and Harvard.

The Defense Department talked with officials at 33 schools to measure the impact. The private memo reported: "The cuts have just not hit them yet but are only beginning to be felt."

Schools "realize it is going to get worse, will probably peak next spring (when contract decisions will be made)."

"Because impact haven't hit yet, no firm plan of how to deal with them has evolved at any institution interviewed."

"There is general agreement on priorities: Post-doctoral fellowships in-take in school year 1968 will be reduced... no investment will be made in major pieces of equipment and technicians will be let go... the number of graduate students admitted will be down this year... some faculty members' summer salaries will not be covered as in the past by grants and contracts... the more affluent universities who believe that the trend will change in '69 will commit some of their own private resources to tide them over during this period."

The government spent about $1.6 billion for college and university research in 1967. Overall research and development obligations totaled $17.5 billion in 1967, is giving 75 this year. The National Science Foundation is cutting its training fellowships from 1,200 to 700. National Defense Education Act fellowships are being halved to 3,000.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration cut its sustaining university program from $30 million to $10 million, and lopped about $9 million from the $87 million in program research that went to universities in 1967.

In addition to the research cutback, colleges and universities also face a $208 million deferral in spending for new campus construction by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The Defense Department is either slowing the effort or shortening the contracts for projects it would continue full tilt if it had the money.

Projects affected by the NASA cutback won't be abandoned—they have phaseout money appropriated in earlier years.

Both agencies hope President Johnson's fiscal 1969 budget will provide money to reaccelerate the programs and that Congress will abstain from budget slicing. Some congressmen have frequently criticized research programs, leveling charges of poor administration, duplication, concentration of dollars at a few schools and waste on studies they regard as unneeded.

The National Institutes of Health, which poured $600 million into colleges and universities in 1967, is holding at that level in 1968. But with rising costs it expects to get about seven per cent less research per dollar.

The Bureau of the Budget, acknowledging it knows little about what is happening on campus, is setting out to trace research dollars in the hope of learning what effect their presence—or absence—is having.

Concern has been voiced periodically about what might happen when federal research money declined but until now the discussion has been mostly theoretical.

NASA, which gave 750 predoctoral three-year fellowships in 1967, is giving 75 this year. The National Science Foundation is cutting its training fellowships from 1,200 to 700. National Defense Education Act fellowships are being halved to 3,000.

The military draft is another factor complicating the graduate admissions picture. Schools expect the axing of graduate study draft deferments by Congress last year to cut the pool for 1968 graduate admissions by from 10 to 25 per cent.

For a graduate student who survives the draft and the cut in fellowship money said Dr. Harold F. Bright, vice president for academic affairs at George Washington University, the caliber of his training could be diminished since "a major advantage of the research contracts has been the opportunity for graduate students to get some support on real life research."

Dr. Edward P. Todd, deputy associate director of research for the National Science Foundation, said: "If we don't turn out a certain number of PhD dissertations in a given year, we'll be in trouble 10 years after that. We have to maintain a community of scientists for the future."

Religious Growth Sagging Behind Population Growth

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Religious growth in this country has sagged to its slowest pace in more than a quarter century, the latest headcount shows. It's falling behind the rise in the general population.

"The churches had better begin to run scared," says the Rev. Dr. Lauris B. Whitman, a minister-sociologist and the long-time keeper of statistics about the status of church life in the United States.

"It's not ascending anymore," he said.

In fact, in relation to the over-all population, church membership is shrinking slightly. Newly issued figures show that it registered a yearly gain of only .9 of a per cent, while population grew 1.1 per cent. This is the smallest percentage increase in church rolls since before World War II, Dr. Whitman said, adding that several other statistical indices also show a downturn.

"The over-all image suggests that the church really has to begin to think of itself as in danger," he said in an interview, assessing the new figures released this week by the National Council of Churches.

"It reflects the general outlook of our culture in which so many people think that the church is not a major influence anymore," he added.

"We may be moving into a situation like that in Denmark, Sweden or England, where the formal rites—of birth, marriage and death—have become the major function of the church, with little relation to the life of the culture."

On the other hand, he said, out of the reverse pressures "may arise a church within the churches that is more alive and dynamic and more concerned with issues that confront society than anything we have seen before."

He said elements at work among Christians point in this direction—a disenchantment with conventional methods and member recruiting, and a "real concern and involvement with the world, a tendency to listen to the world, rather than sit and view it with a critic's eye."

At the same time, there were some positive signs, on the statistical yardstick. A recent Gallup Poll shows that church attendance rose in 1967 for the first time in 10 years.

On an average Sunday, 45 per cent of all adult Americans—51 million of them—went to church.

The percentage had been

Mixed Chorus Will Be Church Guests Sunday

The J. H. Rose High School Mixed Chorus will be guest choir at Oakmont Baptist Church during the morning worship service Sunday.

The chorus will sing two numbers from "The Peacable Kingdom" by the American composer, Randall Thompson, "Glory to God in the Highest" and "Ye Shall Have a Song."

The director of the Rose High School Choral Department is Mrs. Bette Jo Barbre. The mixed chorus has a membership of 69 singers and is a regular participant in the NCMEC Choral Festivals as well as the ECU Choral Clinics. The chorus also gives two annual concerts, traditionally in winter and spring.

Officers of the Mixed Chorus are: president, John Clark; vice president, Kenneth Langley; secretary, Rebeca Starkey; and treasurer, Julie Harris. The accompanist is Sheila Marlowe.

View from your Window

What do you see from your window? Another house across the street? A wheat field? A pine forest? A placidly flowing river, or an endlessly crashing sea? Your view, of course, depends on where you live.

The kind of church you go to—whether it is Gothic in style or white frame, a pale pink stucco built in a Spanish manner, or a domed cathedral, depends, too, upon where you live.

But whatever the size... whatever the shape... the Church is the Church. God's House assumes many forms on earth, but in all of them you will find His teachings, His word, His spirit.

Go to your church next Sunday.

NOTICE TO LIST TAXES

Every person, firm or corporation owning property January 1, 1968, whether real or personal, is required by the Laws of North Carolina to list such for taxes during the month of January. Property must be listed in the township in which it is located.

All male persons between the ages of 21 and 50 are required to list for Poll Tax during the same period. Failure to list carries a penalty of 10% of the tax and a possible fine.

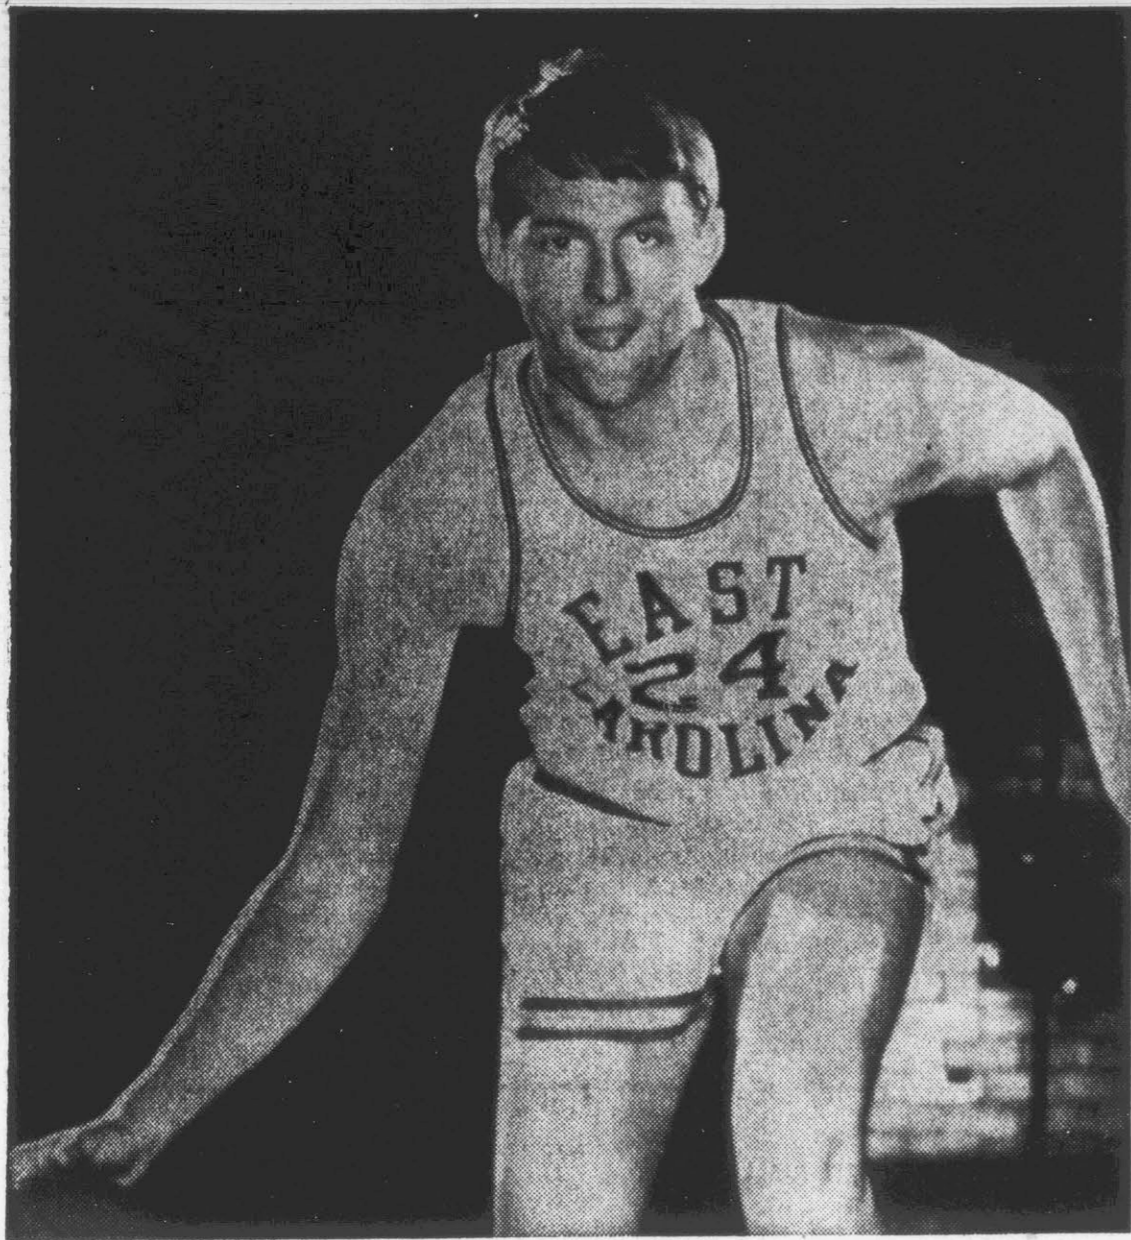

North Carolina Law requires owners and operators of parks or storage lots renting space to three or more house trailers or mobile homes, to file with the Tax Supervisor a full and complete list of all owners, together with the total number of house trailers or mobile homes owned by each on January 1. This list must be submitted each year during the month of January.

Owners or operators failing to comply with the law shall be liable to payment of the tax and a penalty of $250.00.

ALL PERSONS MUST HAVE THEIR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS AT TIME OF LISTING.

West Virginia At ECU For Dedication Game

SOPHOMORE STARTER — Jim Modlin, a 6-6, 210-pound sophomore from Jamestown, N. C., has started nearly every game for East Carolina University this year. The forward is averaging 10.8 points per game, but has been disappointing in his rebounding thus far. He and the other Pirates play host to West Virginia, the Southern Conference leaders, Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

The East Carolina Pirates will have three reasons to beat West Virginia University on Saturday in Minges Coliseum.

First, the Mountaineers are the leading team in the Southern Conference. They have beaten the Bucs in their only three meetings, and soundly embarrassed them in the opening round of the Southern Conference tournament last year.

Second, the game and its activities will dedicate the new coliseum, being used for the first time this year. The 6,500 seat complex was named for seven members of the Minges Family, prominent in Eastern North Carolina, and in the support of East Carolina University.

Third, the game will be regionally televised over the Southern Conference Basketball Network as the "Game of the Week." It marks the first time the Bucs have appeared on camera in the series, started this year. West Virginia makes its third appearance in four weeks.

"I saw them play Davidson or television," East Carolina Coach Tom Quinn said. "I thought they played a tough defense and rebounded well. Their comeback in that game has served as an inspiration since then. It was their best win of the year."

But Quinn isn't running scared. "Our boys feel they can beat them as we have in past years, knowing what we have, and that we have the ability to go to the boards with them."

Quinn pointed out that the Bucs are shooting a better floor percentage than the Mountaineers, 46.7 to 43.3. "And our competition has been just as tough," he said. Quinn added that West Virginia has been beaten in the conference, by Virginia Military Institute, on a so-called "neutral" court, at Beckley, W. Va., a home-away-from-home for the Mountaineers.

"They have more experience than we have in three returning starters, Dave Reaser, Norman Holmes, and Ron Williams," the coach noted. There is only one sophomore in the lineup, Bob Hummel, and he has been brought along slowly. "Our sophs have a lot of experience by now, and we're playing at home."

his career in the past few weeks. "He's playing the best ball of anyone on the team," Quinn said.

"I'm also impressed by the improved play of Richard Kier, and you can bet that Tom Miller will be out to win in this one." Miller is a West Virginia native, and his home town folks will be watching.

Two of the Buc players, however, haven't come up to expectations. "Jim Modlin hasn't been going to the boards like we have expected him to," Quinn said. "He didn't start the other night against George Washington, and then came on to score 17 points, but still only got five rebounds. We hope that he'll improve in this."

"Charlie Alford could be the best pivot man in the league if he would turn in some 40-minute performances. In spurts, he has rebounded, defended and scored like a pro. But he apparently hasn't been inspired enough to play a full game as yet."

Vince Colbert, at 6-4, has 71 rebounds in the past eight games, while Alford, 6-9, has 72. Modlin had just 25.

"It's taken us a year to find out who we are and what we can and can't do," Quinn said. "We've got to do what we can and avoid the rest."

The Mountaineers will bring in a high scoring team with a four-game winning streak. The leading scorer is Williams with a 22.6 mark, best in the conference. Bailey has a 13.2 mark and is averaging 10.6 rebounds per game. Reaser is hitting 11.6 points per game, followed by Hummel at 11.2 and Greg Ludwig at 9.7. Ludwig is pulling down 9.0 rebounds per game.

The Mountaineers have a 9-6 record, but are only 2-6 on the road.

"We expect a great team effort from East Carolina," Mountaineer Coach Buck Waters said. "They are dedicating their field house and will be all keyed up over that. They are much improved and have a good bench man, but just haven't been able to put things together yet."

Waters feels that it will take one of the Mountaineers' better efforts to whip the Pirates, but admits that his team has momentum going for them. "Our bench seems stronger, and our players have been delivering in spot roles more consistently."

"And," he added, "we're 2-0 on television."

Seagren Breaks Pole Record

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Forget about the wide open spaces, take back the wind in your face and the sun on your back. Bob Seagren likes it better indoors.

When the 21-year-old Southern California junior broke his own indoor pole vault record by topping 17-4 1/4 at the Millrose Games Thursday night it was the 11th time Seagren has done it; he's the only one.

"I prefer the indoors," he said with the joyful shouts of 14,000 fans still bouncing around Madison Square Garden. "The smoke doesn't bother me. It shouldn't affect anyone."

"Outdoors you have to worry about the rain and the wind in your face and a lot of things. Inside, you're closer to people. It's more fun."

Seagren's attitude is an unusual one since most track men dislike indoor meets with the smoky arenas and narrow, hard board tracks and runways.

Seagren set his record on his third and final try and then missed three times at 17-8, higher than he or anybody else has jumped indoors or out.

A highly regarded field of five sub-four-minute milers gave way to somebody who said he's not a miler at all, Preston Davis of the Army, who won his third straight indoor start at that distance, winning in 4:03.9.

Meet records popped up in several events. Larry James, a Villanova sophomore, clipped nine-tenths of a second off the 500-yard mark, winning in 56.1. Martin McGrady of the Santa Clara Valley Youth Village won the 600 in 1:10.1, breaking by one-tenth of a second a 25-year-old mark.

George Young, two-time Olympic steeplechaser, won the three-mile in 13:31.8, breaking Bruce Kidd's four-year-old mark of 13:31.8. Byron Dye of New York University won the 1,000 in 2:10.1, breaking Bob Zieminsky's mark of 2:11.6, set last year.

turning to some of his own personnel, Quinn said that co-captain Vince Colbert has turned in four of the best games in

Four Tie For Lead As Los Angeles Open Starts

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —

Arnold Palmer predicted that the gallery traffic on the tight Brookside Park course might prove to be quite a problem, a condition which already existed in the player ranks today in the second round of the -100,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

No fewer than 28 professionals were crowded into the sub-par bracket, and 11 more were even with par 71 after Thursday's hectic first round over the 7,021-yard test with its nine-hole 36-35 par.

Four shooters—Gene Littler, Al Geiberger, Jimmy Clark and Dave Eichelberger—led the way with initial round 67s.

The 68 bracket listed six players, and Palmer was one of four tied at 69.

A three-time winner of the Los Angeles Open, Palmer was satisfied with his 34-35—that is, if Arnie is ever completely satisfied—but said his game does need sharpening. He three putted only one green but he was critical of the greens, some of which were bumpy.

"Honestly, though," he continued, referring to the crowded course, "I think there may be a problem with the gallery, particularly with the big rounds Saturday and Sunday. There is just no place for the people to go."

Duke Hoping History Will Repeat As Blue Devils Tackle N.C. State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Duke basketball team hopes history repeats itself in its regionally televised home game against North Carolina State Saturday afternoon.

Last year, Duke had beaten Clemson and Maryland and then routed State 99-60 on the way to a string of seven victories. The Blue Devils also go into this game with victories over Clemson and Maryland in their last two games.

Duke Coach Vic Bubas was a standout guard for N.C. State in his college days.

Five Atlantic Coast Conference teams will be playing Saturday as near full-scale activity returns after an examination break.

In night games, North Carolina will play Georgia Tech in the Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum; Clemson will be home to Virginia Tech, and Wake Forest will play Davidson in the Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum.

There were no games involving ACC teams Thursday night, and none are scheduled tonight.

Five Georgia Tech players who combined for 59 points as Tech defeated North Carolina 82-80 last year are ready to play Saturday. They are Phil Wagner, Pete Thirne, Ted Thomasovich, Dave Clark and Bob Brizendine. The only Tech player who has graduated is Pres Judy, who led the Yellow Jackets with 22 points.

North Carolina, ranked third in the nation behind Houston and UCLA, will be going after its 10th consecutive victory. The Tar Heels are 11-1, losing only to Vanderbilt. Leading the North Carolina attack will be Larry Miller, who scored 25 against Tech in Atlanta last year.

Wagner, who scored 15 points against North Carolina last year, is reported ready to play after sitting out Tech's last three games with a pulled abdominal muscle. Tech lost two of those games.

Wake Forest starts the second half of the season with a 4-10 mark, the reverse of Davidson's 10-4.

Each team has a sophomore as leading scorer, Dick Walker of the Wake Forest Deacons at 19.9 average, and Mike Maloy at 15.9 for the Wildcats.

Wake Forest has won only four of the 14 games it has played in the Greensboro Coliseum, but two have been over Davidson, last year and the year before.

Holt's Gains Sixth Victory

The City League is rapidly developing into a one-team race, as Holt's continued to roll on unbeaten, increasing its lead over the rest of the league.

Holt's, along with Book Barn, Whitehurst, and Hazelton's each picked up wins in last night's games.

In the opener, Holt's picked up a 61-46 win over Coca-Cola. Holt's built up a 27-19 lead at the half, then rolled to the win. Worthington led Holt's with 17 points, while Roebuck had 10. For Coke, Hodges had 13, McDuffie had 12 and Hardee had 11.

Book Barn took a 61-46 win over Garris-Evans in the second contest. The two teams battled to a 23-23 tie at the end of the first half, but Book Barn outscored Garris-Evans, 36-23, in the second half to take the game. S. Fuller led Book Barn with 20, while J. Clark had 10. Spencer had 21 and Tilghman had 10 for Garris-Evans.

Whitehurst edged out Home Builders, 60-59, in the third game of the evening. White-hurst moved out into a 34-22 lead at the half, then held on as Home Builders rallied to within one point. Sharpe had 20 to lead Home Builders, while Nelson had 17 and Parnell had 10. For Whitehurst, Whitehurst had 19 and Sayetta had 14.

In the final game of the evening, Hazelton edged Womack, 58-55. Hazelton worked up a 29-18 lead at the half, and then had to stand off a Womack rally in the second half to claim the victory. Mills led Hazelton with 15, while Waters had 11, and Worthington and Moore each had 10. Claybrook led Womack with 14, while Baton had 12 and Stox had 10.

Holt's is now 6-0, followed by Book Barn at 4-1. Whitehurst, Hazelton and Womack are each 3-3, while Coke, Garris-Evans and Home Builders are all 1-4.

Boston College Warms To UCLA

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
There was a mystery college basketball game Thursday night. Boston College beat LeMoyné, N.Y., 90-61 at Syracuse.

When the score came in there was a scurrying around in some sports departments. Boston College, slated to meet mighty UCLA in New York Saturday night, did not have any game with LeMoyné listed in its pre-season schedule. Neither did LeMoyné's list any Jan. 25 game with BC.

It developed that the game was arranged after the original schedules had been published. It provided a nice warmup for the Bob Cousy-coached Eagles before their confrontation with UCLA and famed Lew Alcindor.

A sellout crowd of 2,200 at the LeMoyné Athletic Center saw Steve Adelman with 18, and Terry Driscoll, with 17, combine for 35 points in leading the Eagles to their ninth victory in 13 starts.

The unbeaten Brown Indians of St. Bonaventure, fifth-ranked in The Associated Press poll, made it 15 in a row by defeating St. Francis of Pennsylvania 74-58 at Olean, N.Y. Sophomore Bob Lanier led the Bonnies with 23 points and 23 rebounds.

No other team in the AP Top Ten saw action as the midway exam lull continued to keep many teams idle.

Bill Schutsky's 37 points paced Army to a 75-69 victory over Manhattan for the sixth in a row for the West Points Cadets. Rich Travis got 35 points in leading Oklahoma City to a 92-09 overtime conquest of Arkansas.

In other home court triumphs, Iowa State downed Oklahoma 80-70, Jacksonville edged Citadel 63-59, Bradley humbled Memphis State 92-69, Fordham beat Rutgers 67-50, Kent State vanquished Tulane 93-73 and Seattle defeated Montana State 92-82.

On the road, Providence whipped Massachusetts 83-77 and Connecticut beat Vermont 85-59.

After five games Tom Fambrough of West Texas State had a perfect record in kicking extra points. He made 19 for 19.

The Worry Clinic Your Outlook Changes As Death Approaches

Terry's case shows that the "Golden Years" don't come just after we pass the age of 66. Instead, they are the first few years of marriage when our kiddies are with us and hungry for camaraderie with their parents. Paste this Case Record on your bathroom mirror so you can be reminded daily!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE E-571: Terry B., aged

38, has changed. "Dr. Crane," his wife began, "Terry was a tense business executive."

"He smoked incessantly and was always a bundle of nerves, for he worked under terrific pressure."

"The children almost dreaded his homecoming, for he'd bark at them on the slightest provocation."

"And I often didn't dare open my mouth lest he would scold me unmercifully.

"But about a month ago, he changed!

"It has been a miracle. He is as different now as Scrooge after Scrooge's nightmares."

"For Terry now uses your Compliment Club strategy on all of us."

"He never scolds. He has become a devoted father and pal of our three children."

"I can't understand what caused this great transformation, but it is wonderful. What do you suppose did it?"

St. Paul obtained a similar change in outlook following his attack of blindness on the road to Damascus.

After St. Paul regained his sight, he was a changed man. Alas, Terry's trouble is more ominous.

Terry hadn't told his wife or children, but a month ago he had been diagnosed as having a terminal case of lung cancer!

"Dr. Crane," he confessed to me later, "when my chest expert told me to put my house in order, saying I had not more than three months to live, I was floored."

"For 15 years I had been slaving under terrific pressure to make a quick pile of dough, just so I could retire and enjoy my family."

"Now I had but 90 days to live!"

"And I would never have a chance to enjoy my family after that."

"So I decided to make up for lost time and try to salvage as much happiness as possible."

"I haven't told them yet about my death warrant, since I don't want them to cater to me merely as a dying husband and father."

"Instead, I want to leave them a pleasant memory of me, at least during these 90 final days of my life."

"Oh, they are bound to learn the truth within another month for I find it harder and harder to keep going, so my wife will soon insist on a medical check-up for me."

"But when you have a mere 90-day expectancy ahead of you, it changes your outlook tremendously."

"What I had regarded as of mountainous importance are now insignificant molehills."

"Your idea about paying compliments and buying up the morale and happiness of my family, are far more valuable than that pile of dough I'll never accumulate. Fortunately, I'll leave my wife plenty of insurance."

Alas, thousands of brilliant men are so enamoured of their financial or professional goals that they chronically "chew out" their family and employees.

Remember, compliments are verbal bouquets whose fragrance will live long after your own graduation from this earthly classroom in God's Cosmic School!

So send for my "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and praise instead of always scolding your family.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Non-Farm Jobs At Record High

RALEIGH—Employment increased 7,100 in North Carolina non-farm establishments during December, rising to a record high of 1,606,700, the State Department of Labor reported today.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane said the year-end non-farm job total was 28,700 higher than in December, 1966.

Factory employment dipped by 4,800 in December, due mostly to a seasonal decrease in tobacco stemmeries, Commissioner Crane stated. Factory jobs totaling 665,300 in December were up 8,400 over the year-ago figure, he said.

The non-manufacturing group climbed by 11,900 during December, rising to a total of 941,400, for an increase of 20,300 over a year ago, Crane reported. A large seasonal increase in retail trade was mostly responsible for the December gain in non-manufacturing.

Crane said average hourly earnings of factory workers gained a penny in December, rising to $2.10. The workweek remained unchanged at an average of 41.2 hours, and average weekly earnings were up 41 cents to $86.52.

Not Dressed For Night-Clubbing

BOSTON (AP) — Two Boston police officers hadn't heard of an alert for two escaped prisoners, but they became suspicious when they saw two men dressed in blue denim prison clothing sitting in a night club. The two were inmates of the Plymouth County House of Correction in Plymouth who had escaped in the sheriff's car. The men were returned to jail.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets weaker. Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:
Grade A large whites: 42 to 44; medium, whites: 40 to 43; small, whites: 36 1/2 to 40.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady. Tops if 18.25-18.75 Rocky Mount; 18.00-18.75 Wilson 17.50-18.50 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove, Albertson, Lumberton; 17.25-18.50 Tarboro; 17.50-18.25 Statesville; 17.50-18.00 Hickory; 18.00 Salisbury. Greensboro: 17.75 Selma; 17.50 Siler City, Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rebounded sharply early this afternoon as war-scare fears quieted over the North Korean incident.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.31 at 866.56.

The rise was a continuation of Thursday's late recovery drive when Wall Street realized that the call up of reserves by President Johnson was limited and that a total war situation seemed unlikely.

The improvement was fairly general, with little group leadership. Some of the aerospace-defense stocks, strong Thursday, continued in demand but others relapsed under profit-taking.

An assortment of specially situated stocks made sharp gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.6 at 315.9 with industrials up 3.0, rails up .8 and utilities up 1.6.

McDonnell Douglas, up nearly a point, was outstanding in the defense group, running second to American Photocopy in volume.

Vare Corp., mentioned by an advisory service as in the early stages of becoming a conglomerate.

...the Gulf & Western and Ogden Corp., rose 2 1/4 to 24 on an opening block of 22,000 shares, later trimming a fraction from the gain.

Texaco raised its dividend and the stock gained a fraction. Dunhill International advanced 1 1/2 to 22 on a block of 43,900 shares, later expanding the gain slightly.

Xerox rose about 3; IBM 2; Pfizer, Schering, Illinois Central, Polaroid, American Smelting and Westinghouse Electric about 1 each.

Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Greene Schools Remain Closed

Yesterday's snow and freezing temperatures caused the closing of schools in surrounding counties, although Pitt County and Greenville city schools did operate.

Pitt County Schools, which maintained their regular schedule yesterday, began classes one hour later than usual this morning, while the Greenville city schools, which delayed their opening until 10 a.m. Thursday, opened at their regular time today.

Greene County schools remained closed today, while schools in Martin County reopened as usual this morning.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station one-tenth of an inch of snow and freezing rain fell Thursday.

Yesterday's high temperature was recorded at 30 degrees, while the low for the day was 25.

At 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 22 degrees, while by 10 a.m. the temperature had risen to 32 degrees.

The Tar River level stood at 7.7 feet this morning and was falling.

Rural Area Problems Are Cited By Conservationist

DISCUSSING CONSERVATION PRACTICES . . . at the meeting of the Greene County Soil Conservation dinner last night are A. C. Edwards, Greene County Area Soil and Conservation chairman; Dailey; Beddard; Ford; Charles W. Bartlett, State Conservationist in Raleigh; and Arch Flanagan, Pitt County Soil Conservation area chairman. (Photo by Jerry Greene)

"Population migration from the farm to the city creates problems for both rural and urban sections of America," R. M. Dailey told the group attending Greene County's Third Annual Soil Conservation Award Dinner held last night at the Snow Hill Elementary School.

Dailey, a member of the United States Department Soil Conservation Service, is head of the nation's Watershed Division. A. C. Edwards, master of ceremonies, introduced the speaker.

L. O. Beddard was presented the "Goodyear Soil Conservation" award last night by Tom Ford, a representative of the Goodyear Rubber Company.

Beddard received the award for his progressive soil conservation practices on his farm, located in the Maury Community during 1967.

The speaker urged the more than 100 farmers, businessmen and special guests in attendance to "take advantage of the opportunities offered in the rural areas and for the businessmen to offer financial assistance when needed for soil conservation work."

Dailey compared the crisis that faced rural America in the middle 30's with the crisis of today. "The solutions brought about then have effected living conditions of today. The establishment of commodity programs created more equal balance."

He told the group that America is facing an acute problem today as were our ancestors. "The only difference in today's crisis is a hidden one — we are overshadowed by other problems at home and abroad."

"If the present migration trend continues unchecked, a density of population with 2,600 people per square mile will be the results," the speaker noted.

"The problem can be minimized provided goals for the future are outlined and farm areas diversified with industry. Communities must work together to seek a solution as is now being done in the Greene County area," he added.

Wesley Randall Nelson of Route 4, Greenville received severe head injuries in the 8:55 a.m. mishap four miles from Greenville, Trooper Billy Day reported.

Day said the boy was struck by a car driven by James Sherwood White, 31, of Conetoe.

The patrolman quoted White as saying young Nelson crossed the road in front of his car, then stepped back into the path of the car.

Investigation of the collision is continuing, Pit. Day reported. The officer set damage to the car at $15.

Ralph Brack, an Edgecombe County farmer, said the Federal Marketing Order should be avoided in solving marketing problems. "I have no desire for congressional legislation. We should take the legislation we have now and try to solve the problem without passing additional laws."

He said, "We need cooperation between all systems of operation and tobacco officials." Wilson farmer and warehouseman Fred Eagles suggested the factory facilities be enlarged to handle more volume.

"Tobacco companies need to provide more facilities so that more tobacco can be sold at a more rapid pace," Eagles said. He said about 85 million pounds of tobacco were bought each week last year. "This number should be increased by 10 percent this coming season."

Tobacco subcommittee members present for the Greenville session, in addition to Rep. Jones were Congressmen Frank A. Stubblefield of Kentucky, and William C. Wampler of Virginia. In addition, Rep. Alton A. Lennon and Rep. L. H. Fountain were present for the session, although they are not members of the committee.
