

Saigon A Battleground; Martial Law Declared

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) - A Viet Cong suicide squad perished under fire at the U.S. Embassy today while guerrillas afield pressed a mosaic of attacks throughout South Vietnam that was costing them 10 men dead for every allied soldier they killed.

At another point a detachment of 25 U.S. military policemen was hit hard in rushing to relieve a billet that was under heavy attack. The U.S. Command announced seven of the MPs were killed and all the rest were wounded.

Gen. Westmoreland said he believed the enemy attacks were a diversionary effort "to take attention away from the northern part of the country." The threat there is a major offensive by North Vietnamese divisions, some already south of the demilitarized zone.

While peace appeared restored at the embassy, action continued in various parts of downtown Saigon 20 hours after the shelling of the city began, signaling the start of guerrilla action.

Three explosions were heard tonight in the downtown area, and a military spokesman said it was believed mortar fire was responsible. There was also the possibility that it involved allied rather than Viet Cong initiative.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said the attack in early morning darkness on the new $2.6-million embassy, hailed as the terrorist-proof at its dedication last fall, "was obviously premeditated and planned well in advance."

Other populated areas around the country, the 74-year-old diplomat added in a statement. "This callous disregard of the announced truce for the traditional Tet new year holidays through acts of terror and assassination against the civil population of South Vietnam is an accompaniment to the invasion and open aggression of the Northern 1st Corps by North Vietnamese forces directed against South Vietnam. These acts speak for themselves in terms of the enemy's objectives against the people of South Vietnam and their willingness to use the most inhumane methods to achieve them."

Stars Reopened Ford Theater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Historic Ford's Theater, darkened for 103 years since Abraham Lincoln's assassination, has reopened with a star-studded cast, a cheering VIP audience and the voices of a few Vietnam war dissenters.

It was a rainy reopening night Tuesday when the first lady of the American theater, Helen Hayes, stepped out and told the audience:

"No voices, no music, no light has shone on this stage" since April 14, 1865, when President Lincoln was shot.

Then followed a gala inaugural evening dedicated to Lincoln, who loved the theater, and featuring a dozen top American entertainment stars.

The President's Cabinet was host for the event.

There were two performances of the show attended by high government officials, including Chief Justice Earl Warren and members of Congress.

Each show was celebrated with a champagne reception.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was greeted as he stepped from his car by the chant of some 25 antiwar demonstrators across the street who shouted: "Hell, no, we won't go!" and "End the war in Vietnam."

President and Mrs. Johnson did not attend. The First Lady went to Texas Monday night for what her staff said were "compelling personal reasons."

The theater, which seats about 700, was restored by the National Park Service in the elegant white, gold and red decor of yesteryear with cane-bottomed chairs, chandeliers and a polished hardwood stage.

It will be the new home of the National Repertory Theater which opens a 14-week season Feb. 12 with Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body."

There are enough soap products manufactured in this country to supply every American with at least 28 pounds of soap a year.

Seven Killed By Suburban Blast

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The death toll climbed to seven early today in an explosion that rocked the business district of suburban Ingram, shaking homes a half mile away.

One person was still reported missing and 17 injured after firemen pulled a badly-burned body from the wreckage.

Workers at the scene said one man was thrown 90 feet across railroad tracks. Three were hurled against an iron fence 25 feet away by the explosion Tuesday.

What had been a row of five business shops was leveled almost to the street.

The buildings exploded while a 12-man Equitable Gas Co. crew was ripping up sidewalk outside looking for a gas leak. Five of the dead were Equitable workers.

"Who knows what triggered the explosion?" said a gas company spokesman. "Actually, the real cause probably will never be known."

"The men were working on a low-pressure, four-inch main. The gas into the buildings was shut off."

A passer-by, whose car was covered with debris, said the explosion occurred just as a gas company worker started up a jackhammer.

New Surface Water Standards Approved

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's revised surface water standards, tightened to satisfy federal requirements, were approved Tuesday by the State Board of Water and Air Resources.

The amended standards will be submitted immediately to the U.S. Department of Interior and federal approval is expected within a month.

The standards eliminate the "open sewer" classification allowed for 206 miles of North Carolina's rivers and streams.

Gov. Dan Moore appeared briefly at the meeting Tuesday to introduce members of the two advisory committees on air and water.

Dr. Ralph Fadum, dean of the School of Engineering at North Carolina State University, was elected chairman of the Water Advisory Committee. Dr. Robert F. Young, director of the Halifax County Health Department, was elected vice chairman.

Austin C. Thies, vice president of Duke Power Co., was elected chairman of the Air Advisory Committee. Dr. David A. Fraser of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was named

Broughton Sees Millions For East In Four-Laning

JACKSONVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Mel Broughton Jr. says that eastern North Carolina would reap millions of dollars in benefits if U.S. 17 were four-laned.

Broughton told the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club Tuesday that four-laning the highway would bring new business and industry into the East.

He said that if he were governor he would make four-laning of the highway a priority project.

Broughton, a Raleigh attorney, proposed last week that the state make all primary roads four lanes wide.

He said "the sad truth is that much of this region has not shared in the prosperity that has come to much of our state since 1940."

C., took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal Church here.

The Rev. Alexander Robertson, chaplain at Sweet Briar College, performed the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Roger Cole and the St. Paul's Choir.

Given in marriage by her brother, Charles Tilton Lee, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de sole with a basque bodice and portrait neckline of Brussels lace, and three quarter sleeves trimmed in lace. The gown featured a wide circular chapel train.

Her mantilla was of matching Brussels lace and she carried her prayer book covered with gardenias, an orchid and freesia.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old daughter has graduated from high school and has steady employment, so now she says she can do as she pleases. She is living at home, but she doesn't care what anybody thinks about her actions.

Her "old-fashioned" parents want to know if we have the right to set some rules for her. We have asked her to be home by 1 a.m. when she goes out on a date. (She's been coming home anywhere from 2 a.m. until 4:30.) When we object to her going to her boy friend's bachelor apartment to watch TV for an evening she says we have "dirty minds."

She tells us if we don't "get off her back" she will move out and rent with girl friends. Of course she is trying to assert her independence, but we think she's overdoing it. Please give us bewildered parents some guidelines.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Tell your daughter to sit down with a pencil and paper and figure out exactly how "independent" she is. Advise her that when she is able to support herself entirely—and that means pay for her room, board, clothes, transportation, entertainment, travel, doctor, dentist, and insurance, then she may live where she chooses, and by her own rules. But as long as she lives with you, she will have to live by yours.

DEAR ABBY: This will amuse you, I'm sure: The other evening I was in the company of an elderly couple I have known for over 50 years. The subject of your column came up and the lady remarked that she doubted very much if all those letters in your column were "real." And the gentleman agreed that you surely must make them up yourself because people couldn't be that "peculiar."

Briefly, here is the background of this couple: They are not married, but have been engaged for 49 years! They have traveled all over the world together, she as "Miss" and he as "Mr." They are both independently wealthy and neither has ever been married. I once had nerve enough to ask her why they never got married. She replied, "If I married him today, he would ask for a divorce tomorrow. A man needs his freedom."

This lady is past 80, seems completely fulfilled, and she walks five miles to her stockbroker every day.

J. B. (AMSTERDAM, HOLLAND)

DEAR J. B.: Thank you for writing. (Could your friends have originated "The Dutch Treat!")

DEAR ABBY: We are three girls with a problem. There is this creepy girl at school who is real queer. She dresses funny, is very homely, and has no friends. Well, she just won't leave us alone. She hangs around my locker and tries to eat lunch with me and my friends.

She is causing us to lose all our friends because people are beginning to think we are a friend of hers. We hate to hurt her feelings, but we don't want to let her go around with us. How can we get rid of her? We are all in eighth grade.

TROUBLED TRIO

DEAR TROUBLED: Be kind to her. She needs it. To treat this unfortunate friendless girl with common courtesy will do your reputation no harm. It might even improve it. You needn't cultivate her friendship outside of school, but when she seeks you out in school, treat her as YOU would like to be treated if you were in her unhappy shoes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NAMELESS" in CHARLOTTE: Tell your "wonderful fiancé" that your father is an alcoholic who hasn't the strength to help himself. If your fiancé is as "wonderful" as you say he is he will not think less of you for your father's weakness. Lying is a weakness, too, you know.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Best Of All Arguments: 208 Lives

Officials with the Department of Motor Vehicles have come up with the best argument imaginable for using the seat belts which are in most automobiles.

They say that no less than 208 of those who died in highway accidents in North Carolina last year would be alive today if they had been protected by seat belts at the time of the accidents. All of the 208 died in "roll-over, one-car accidents in which there was no collision with any object." Had seat belts been in use, the department says, injuries would not have been fatal.

The protection offered by seat belts in automobiles is general recognized. Laws require that automobiles sold in the state be equipped with this safety device. Safety spokesmen constantly remind motorists that the seat belts will save lives only if they are worn. Yet, a good part of those at whom such messages are aimed still neglect to take the extra few seconds required to fasten a seat belt when they get into an automobile. No driver would think of going out on the highway with faulty breaks or a steering mechanism that was not functioning properly. Most are careful to see that tires are safe; that lights are working properly, that doors will not fly open and spill passengers on the highway. But the little seat belt, one of the most important auto safety devices developed in recent years to protect life and limb, lies unused by otherwise careful drivers.

With its statistics, the Department of Motor Vehicles offers good reasons for motorists to reconsider use of the seat belts . . . 208 good reasons.

Cabinet Post Offers Sanford A Challenge

Based on speculation in times past, there is bound to be renewed speculation that former Gov. Terry Sanford may be tapped for the Post of Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare made vacant by the recent resignation of Secretary John Gardner. Sanford is seriously considering challenging Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr. for the seat he holds in the Senate. So far, however, Sanford has not announced his decision on the matter. Should he choose not to challenge Ervin in the Democratic primary this spring, he may be receptive to a proposal that he join President Johnson's cabinet.

On at least two occasions in the past there has been widespread speculation that Sanford might be tapped by a cabinet position, and the one most frequently mentioned is that of Secretary of HEW. That former governor Sanford has shown no inclination to go to Washington in an appointive capacity since he stepped down as governor of North Carolina suggests he prefers elective positions to appointive ones.

On the other hand, if he decides not to make the race for the Senate this year it might be that a cabinet post would have some appeal. The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare could be just the spot that would challenge Sanford's administrative ability and also his view that in many areas the federal government is overstepping its bounds and encroaching upon state government functions.

Challenging as the cabinet post may be to the former governor, there can be little doubt that it would be second choice to making a race for the Senate seat.

Avoiding Rush To Take Sides

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH—Business is going on much as usual, almost routinely, in the offices and agencies of state government despite the recent building up of political excitement. Of course, politics is the business of government and always a subject of intense interest in state capital circles and among the many thousands of officeholders and state employees during an election year.

Naturally there is more and more mention of and talk about various of the state's 1968 political contests these days. There is an undercurrent of apprehension and anxiety about the eventual outcome, especially in those offices in which department heads are elected officials facing opposition in the Spring primaries.

But there also is an atmosphere of caution against becoming actively and openly involved.

Governor's Position

The outward display of neutrality in the Democratic primary campaigns in state circles thus far almost certainly results from the position taken by the governor, Dan K. Moore, who cannot succeed himself.

Moore said firmly a few weeks ago he has no intention of trying to "dictate the choice" of a successor, and that to do so would be a "great mistake."

"I intend to stay out of the primary campaigns unless I need to clarify positions of my administration," he said.

Moore would, of course, speak out in the event of any political attack upon him, administration or its record. Thus far, no candidate has made such an attack and one of the gubernatorial primary contenders, in fact, has praised the Moore administration warmly.

May Change

It may develop as the primary campaign proceeds that certain of the administration's inner circle officials will abandon strict neutrality.

Many political observers here will be surprised if Moore's directive for a "hands off" policy on the part of his administration can be carried out completely.

Many of these men, appointed officials and all Democrats, are too deeply committed to politics — personally, financially and otherwise — to keep from speaking out or working for the man of their choice. They themselves know they probably will be leaving their posts in state government at the "changing of the guard" a year from now anyway and would see nothing wrong in politicking if it did not involve or reflect upon their official capacity nor upon the Moore administration people about.

This could involve drawing a fine and delicate line. In essence, it was what the governor was cautioning his administration people about. The fact is, however, that the Moore administration includes a very large number of people of wealth, influence, prestige and political following.

The budget Johnson produced last year was so complicated it caused cries of pain, even from the experts. This year his aides, who had been working on the budget since August, used a brand new way of figuring it.

Under the new method government costs seem to have skyrocketed. But this year the budget included $47 billion, representing outlays and income of government — held trust funds, like Social Security and medicare, not included last year.

This complicates things for any average citizen trying to compare this latest budget with previous ones except in certain areas, like the cost of defense in peacetime and wartime over many years.

And if he tried to do that he'd have to have the previous years, figures handy. Have you been saving the budget figures for the last decade or so? But the real complexities are just beginning.

Now that it has the budget Congress will be busy on it until late summer, holding hearings, arguing with government officials trying to justify the amount of money they say they need, and trying to decide whether to vote as much money as Johnson asked for.

Johnson's total budget, the cost of doing all the things Johnson says have to be done, is $186.1 billion.

But despite all the complexities, a few figures show how the cost of government, particularly defense, has gone up, but it must be remembered the government has a lot more programs to handle than it did only 23 years ago as World War II was coming to an end.

As a starter, take the last budget President Franklin D. Roosevelt gave Congress. This was in January 1945, when this country's armed forces were fighting both in Europe and the Pacific.

His budget was $83 billion, $70 billion of it for defense.

Now move up to peacetime in 1948 when, in January of that year, President Harry S. Truman's budget was only $41.8 billion, with only a little more than $14 billion for defense. Tearing one's hair and beating one's breast does not produce many good results, but at least we ought to have sense enough to be ashamed of ourselves. The hunger problem of the world is not simple, but it is capable of solution. Our conscience should be keeping us awake at night if we have no interest in this problem. Something or somebody should begin kicking us about if our hearts are not heavy with sorrow and our minds full of consideration for human suffering.

And especially for the suffering of children. Those are our children, our grandchildren, who look at us pathetically out of the pages of newspapers and magazines. Let us for God's sake (and we say that with reverence) begin doing something about life's heart-rending problems.

Vacant, frightened, desperate faces — the faces of these little sufferers. But how about our faces? If they are not scarlet with embarrassment,

Speechwriter For GOP

WASHINGTON — "So you want to work as a speechwriter for the Republican Party in 1968?"

"Yes, Sir." "All right. Did you see the television show the other evening when the Republicans answered President Johnson's State of the Union address?"

"Yes, Sir. And it was a brilliant performance by one and all."

"Okay, forget the soft soap. Let's get on with the test." "I have to take a test?"

"Of course! If you're going to work for the Republican Party, you're going to have to know where it stands on the issues."

"I know where it stands." "Well, let's just see. First question: What kind of integrity does the Republican Party stand for?"

"The integrity of the American dollar."

"Okay. What has the Johnson Administration failed to do?"

"It has failed to make clear our goals, and it has not been candid with the American people in facing up to the complex and difficult road that lies ahead."

"By heaven, you did watch the show. Now let's go on to the Ship of State. Where is the Ship of State?"

"It is wallowing in a storm-tossed sea, drifting toward the rocks of domestic disaster, beaten by the waves of worldwide fiscal crisis that threaten shipwreck."

"And what can save the Ship of State?"

"A new captain at the helm who will call up full power, break out new charts and hold our course steadfast and inspire the crew to bring us through the storm."

"Good. Now let's go on to cities. What are the cities boiling with at the moment?"

"Frustration and unrest." "It's unrest and frustration, but we'll accept your answer. And why are they boiling, thustly?"

"Because the Administration has been long on promises and short on performance."

"And what situation are you confronted with because of this?"

"Lawlessness, crime in the streets and abuse heaped upon our police and elected officials."

"That's well put. Now let me ask you this. What does the Republican Party have abiding faith in?"

"The individual."

"Why did you hesitate?" "I thought it might be the American free enterprise system."

"We've got abiding faith in that, too. Either answer would have been correct. Let's go on to inflation. What does the President have to do to cut

Not Choosing Sides

By and large, there is a noticeable absence thus far of rushing to choose sides, wave banners and hand out cards for one or another of the candidates.

Even most of the members of the Council of State who are themselves seeking re-election have avowed neutrality in any of the primary contests except their own. So have many of their opponents.

There are some of course who will express a preference privately but few if any of the many appointed state officials and officeholders or rank and file employees are making public proclamations or endorsements.

A typical, frequently heard comment is "I'm not taking sides this time. I can't. I'm staying out of it."

Budget To Get Experts' Study

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the wonderful things about a president's budget—for most people's peace of mind—is that after one look they don't have to remember much about it. They leave it to the experts.

The experts, like economists and politicians, mainly in Congress, are relatively few. They have to have the energy and interest to follow the budget from the time a president hands it to Congress until Congress is through with it.

It's some job. The budget President Johnson submitted Monday to Congress—counting his message, various explanations, and figures—was in 4 volumes, one of them as big as a telephone book, numbering 1,964 pages and weighing about 6 pounds.

The one obvious fact that will stick in the average person's mind, even if within a week he forgets what the budget figure was, is that the cost of running the country is going way up, and so is the cost of war.

The budget Johnson produced last year was so complicated it caused cries of pain, even from the experts. This year his aides, who had been working on the budget since August, used a brand new way of figuring it.

Under the new method government costs seem to have skyrocketed. But this year the budget included $47 billion, representing outlays and income of government — held trust funds, like Social Security and medicare, not included last year.

Grifton, Jan. 31.—Police today were seeking robbers who stole $600 worth of stamps and currency from the local post office shortly before daylight. The robbery follows the robbery of the Lillington postoffice last week when several hundred dollars were stolen.

Police believe the North Carolina bank robbery gang is linked up with the postoffice robberies. Besides robbing the Bank of Four Oaks yesterday morning, the Bank of Elon was also robbed lately.

LET US BEGIN

It seems that every time we pick up a newspaper or open a magazine we look upon the faces of unhappy — and perhaps starving — children. Misery is written on every line of their faces. An older sister is carrying a little brother, a child is sleeping in the arms of a mother who has desperation written all over her countenance.

Well, this is life — and life is a world where if we would only use our brains we could bring forth vastly more food than the world population needs. It appears that where the soil is deepest the worst hunger of the world persists.

Vacant, frightened, desperate faces — the faces of these little sufferers. But how about our faces? If they are not scarlet with embarrassment,

Miss America Is Very Taxable

By ELMER ROESSNER

Miss America is taxable. The Internal Revenue Service says so.

The glory is hers. But a large percent of everything else belongs to Uncle Sam.

The IRS, in Rev. Rul. 68-20, holds that most of the loot of a beauty contest winner is income. The ruling being in general terms, does not point "a bony finger at Miss America, but it seems to apply not only to her but all other Miss Wow contests in the land.

It is based on the fact that each contestant must sign a contract with the contest management, and any contest manager who does not put his girls or matrons under contract has a loony bird for a lawyer.

Employee, Not Contestant
Under those circumstances, an entrant is an employee.

not a contestant, and all her goodies are therefore taxable. For instance, her scholarship for four years in college isn't a scholarship at all, but pay, and Miss Twinkle-toes, or whoever, must pay income taxes on it.

Furthermore, the loot, the fair market value of the autographs, the fees for personal appearances, the checks for modeling and posing, the cash allowances for wardrobes, the gifts of gowns, furs, shoes and perfumes and cosmetics — is also taxable.

The fact that a girl has spent 19 years becoming talented and beautiful does not make her profits a capital gain. It is still gross income and therefore taxable as such.

However traveling and other expenses paid by the so-called employer are deductible as business expenses. Meanwhile gifts, awards and other loot given the girl, being income, are subject to withholding taxes.

This could lead to scenes in which Bert Parks may say, "And here is a beautiful string of pearls, with 19 pearls withheld for the IRS."

One day, at two minutes after five, the boss discovered that a shipment to a valued customer had been overlooked. He asked one of the men to get it out, a matter of a few minutes.

Later the worker demanded $57.95 for a full day's pay at weekend rates increased 50 per cent by overtime because he had already done eight hours work.

The claim went to arbitration and the arbitrators awarded the worker his $57.95.

"That just saved the company $4,000 a year," said the boss, "because with that decision we cut out the Friday afternoon party."

Not An Urgent Budget

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—At a moment when Communists are launching a new offensive in Vietnam and provoking a second-front crisis in Korea, President Johnson's new budget calls for a whopping 60 percent increase in appropriations for the supersonic transport (SST).

When Mr. Johnson's budget for the next fiscal year is reviewed, the SST millions will quickly blot out of Congressional minds the Administration's real efforts to hold down domestic spending. Such an increase for a civilian aircraft only buttresses the charge that this is a business-as-usual budget submitted by a business-as-usual President.

Indeed, the President's unwillingness to put Washington on a wartime footing is harshly underlined by the acknowledgment of the SST financing program.

A year ago, the President asked an appropriation of $1-98 million for the SST, the 1,800-mile-per-hour last word in transatlantic travel whose development is being subsidized by Uncle Sam. Congress actually appropriated $142.4 million, a generous figure in a penny-pinching Congress (though considerable sentiment was building on Capitol Hill to eliminate the appropriation for the duration of the war emergency).

As we reported in previous columns, there is a strong argument that the SST should be financed out of private corporate funds rather than the U. S. Treasury. The necessity for Federal subsidy is further undermined by the current technical problems faced by the Concorde, the Anglo-French rival.

But even some government officials who fully approved the federally financed SST felt some cutback was dictated by this year's supposedly tight budget—a cutback widely expected on Capitol Hill.

They will now be disappointed. The Federal Aviation Agency and its parent, the Department of Transportation, actually recommended a higher appropriation. Surprisingly, this was fully supported by the Budget Bureau and by Mr. Johnson himself (an SST fan dating back to his Vice Presidential days) in confidential budget deliberations at the LBJ ranch early this month.

The result is that the budget unveiled to the public calls for a new appropriation of somewhere between $220 million and $230 million, an SST-sized increase of $80 million or so beyond what Congress appropriated last year.

This is proof positive that the mood of urgency in Washington is not strong enough to resist the lobbying power of the aviation industry and, even more important, the political muscle of Senator Warren Magnuson of Washington.

The Boeing Co., which stands to gain federally-induced windfall profits without risking any of its own capital as a designer of the supersonic jet, is a gargantuan force in the political and economic world of Magnuson's home state. Facing a determined Republican bid to unseat him in 1968, Magnuson made it clear to the White House he wanted a hefty appropriation for his pet project this year.

Stickley Airs Plans In Education Field

MOORESVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A new financial plan to aid small school systems and a college loan fund for students promising to teach in North Carolina for at least five years were proposed by Republican Jack Stickley Tuesday night.

Stickley, a GOP candidate for governor, made the proposals in a major policy speech before a Mooresville meeting of the North Carolina Education Association.

His program to assist smaller school systems calls for the state and the localities to match such a 1 per cent tax after the referendum was authorized by the General Assembly.

His proposed loan program for students promising to teach in North Carolina at least five years would help combat what he called the state's "brain drain" and the exodus of young teachers lured to other states by higher salaries.

The loan funds would be provided by the state or from private sources with the state guaranteeing the loans, Stickley said.

"These loans would be available to students who certify their intention of teaching for at least five years in a system having less than a certain number of students, and satisfying certain other relevant criteria," he said. The loans would be due and payable upon graduation but would be deferred while the funds for education "on a ratio basis, taking into account the wealth and income of the locality, and also the rate at which the locality is taxing itself for education."

Such assistance would "enable and also encourage the cities and counties to increase their support of education," Stickley said. Local supplements would not be ruled out by his program.

Stickley said he also favors legislation to authorize any county to levy upon itself a sales tax for education. Mecklenburg County voters recently approved teacher fulfills the promise with indebtedness to be canceled after "a period of perhaps five years."

A similar loan program is operated by the federal government under the National Defense and Education Act.

During his speech, Stickley also called for "the removal of education from the political arena, and the 'eventual' removal of the office of superintendent of public instruction from politics."

defense, although this was when the cold war was getting started and the United States was just at the beginning of its enormous overseas spending.

Then came 1950. When Truman handed Congress his budget in January of that year nobody dreamed the Korean war was coming in June. His budget was about $42.5 billion, with only $13.5 billion for defense.

This low defense figure, as it turned out, was a terrible miscalculation.

The proof: In January, 1951, when this country had been in the Korean war less than six months, Truman's budget soared up to $67.5 billion, with about $61 billion for defense.

Now take a look at what happened to Johnson's budgets. In 1965, just as this country began to plunge into the Vietnamese war, his budget was around $100 billion, with only about $52.5 billion for defense.

In 1967, with the war full blast, his budget was $169 billion, about $73 billion of it for defense. This year, with the total budget $186.1 billion, the defense part of it was $76.7 billion.

This was $6.7 billion more for defense than Roosevelt asked for in 1945, the final year of World War II.

the challenging years ahead?" "Domestic chaos as well as chaos abroad. And because of this, we are forfeiting our leadership overseas and our credibility at home."

"Okay. Now let's go on to Vietnam. What kind of Communist aggression are we trying to stem there?"

"Naked?" "Fine. You seem to have passed the test. You can start writing speeches in the morning."

"Thank you."

"Thank you, what?"

"Thank you from the bottom of my heart, so help me God."

He had more than a few favors coming. Without Magnuson serving as blocking back in the Senate Appropriations Committee, the President never would have won final approval of his model cities plan.

The very fact that Great Society projects like model cities retain a high priority in time of shooting war reflects the President's attempted—but unattainable—balancing act. Mr. Johnson has set himself the impossible goal of being a war President and a reform President at the same time. While seeking to contain Asian communism in Vietnam, he also seeks to make history with his domestic programs.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined moderately in active trading early this afternoon as interest in glamor issues continued to wane.

Investors' disenchantment with the recent high-flyers spread again to the blue chips.

Brokers said the market also was depressed by the United States' critical problems in Asia and dissatisfaction with which President Johnson's budget has been received.

Declines among individual stocks exceeded advances by a margin of nearly 2 to 1.

Steels, rubbers, mail order-retails, electronics, nonferrous metals, tobaccos and drugs were mostly lower.

IBM declined more than 8 points. Losses of more than 3 points were taken by Control Data, Teledyne, Ling-Temco-Vought and Polaroid.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 1.21 at 858.36.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had declined 6 to 314.0 with industrials off 4, rails up .1 and utilities off 1.0.

Flim-Flammed Out Of $8,500, Her Life Savings

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A retired, 74-year-old Mecklenburg County schoolteacher has been flim-flammed out of her life savings of $8,500 by two sets of thieves.

Miss Connie Peeler said Tuesday night that two men posing as FBI agents tricked her out of $3,500 Monday.

She told this story: The men told her they were investigating an earlier flim-flam in which two young women hoodwinked her out of $5,000.

The men told her they were special agents from Washington and that the two girls were in jail in Raleigh. If she would put up $3,500 they could get back the $5,000 she lost earlier.

She gave them the money. In addition, Miss Peeler said her bank book covering $800 in a Charlotte bank, the last of her savings, was missing.

"They may have got it. I don't know yet," she said sadly.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures through Monday will average above normal. Rather mild, with precipitation expected to total about three quarters of an inch or more, occurring as scattered showers on Thursday.

Egypt Suspends Canal Efforts

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian Foreign Ministry said Tuesday night that operations to release foreign freighters trapped in the Suez Canal have been suspended indefinitely because Israeli troops fired on Egyptian boats trying to survey the northern half of the waterway.

Despite the official statement, the semiofficial newspaper Al-Ahram said today that Egypt is "resolutely determined" to continue the canal operation.

"Regardless of Israeli allegations and regardless of Israel's stand," said Al-Ahram, "we are totally determined to exercise our legal right of sovereignty over our territory and our canal and are determined to go on with the work of clearing the canal and releasing the trapped foreign vessels."

Fifteen foreign ships and an Egyptian tanker have been trapped in the canal since the six-day June war between Israel and the Arabs.

Kiwanians To Hold Farm Auction Sale

WINTERVILLE — The seventh annual farm auction sale sponsored by the Winterville Kiwanis Club will be staged Friday.

The auction will be held on the May farm, a mile north of Winterville on N. C. Hwy. 11, and according to Norman Worthington, chairman of the farm sale project, no equipment will be accepted for sale after the auctioning begins at 9 a.m.

All profits from the sale will go toward various civic projects sponsored by the Kiwanis Club in the Winterville Community.

In addition to the farm equipment to be sold, hot barbecue dinner will be available at the site beginning at 11 a.m.

Worthington said anything of value will be auctioned, from tractors to cars to harvesters, tobacco curers. "Anything in the farm equipment line will be on the lot and will be auctioned off," Worthington said.

Club president Randolph Harris said part of last year's money went toward the purchase of a permanent scout hut for use as a scout meeting place in Winterville.

He added that part of the profits from the sale go to support a permanent scholarship fund where $1,000 is made available to Winterville High School students each year; and to give financial support to the Little League Football program and the Winterville recreation program each year.

Phantoms Roll To 61-45 Victory Over Havelock

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor

Rose High School took a step closer to clinching a berth in the Northeastern Conference tournament last night with a 61-45 romp over Havelock.

The Phants pulled away from what had been a tight ball game at the half, and coasted to an easy victory, their fourth in 11 starts.

Ayden Wins To Return To Top

AYDEN — The Ayden Tornados avenged their only conference loss in the last four years with a 9-38 victory over Grifton last night.

Grifton earlier this year stopped the Tornados and temporarily knocked them off their customary perch atop the Pitt County Conference.

But after last night, the Tornados were back at the old homestead, sporting a 6-1 record to Grifton's 5-2.

The Ayden girls also came away with a victory, 30-26.

In the girls contest, the two teams battled to a 6-6 tie in the first period, but Ayden slowly pulled away to a 17-14 lead by the half.

During the third period, both teams grew cold, but Ayden held a 21-16 margin by the start of the final frame. Grifton tried to rally, but could cut only one point off the margin.

Marion McLawhorn led the Grifton effort with 13 points, while Kay Kite had nine for Ayden.

The boys game saw Ayden take a slim 12-10 lead at the end of the first period, then roll away to build up a 27-19 lead at the half.

Grifton rallied in the third period, cutting the lead to 33-32, but Ayden outscored the Bulldogs, 16-6, down the stretch to gain the win, and take over first place.

B. T. Chappell led Ayden with 11, while Paul Miller had 10. Barry Sutton had 16 to pace Grifton.

At the half, and coasted to an easy victory, their fourth in 11 starts.

Buddy Turnage was the hero for the evening, getting 16 points, all of them in the first half. He picked up his fourth foul early in the second half, and sat most of the rest of the game, eventually fouling out for good shortly after returning to action. The Phants also got some practice at the foul line. After blowing a game at Tarboro on Friday because of poor foul shooting, Rose came back to hit on 15 of 24 shots, making most in the fourth period as Havelock was forced to foul to try and get the ball.

Turnage put the Phants in to the opening lead after a minute and a half with a jumper from the corner, and then Ricky Tom hit from the corner to make it 4-0.

Joe Rudder led Havelock back, tying it up on two shots, then Roland Fisher put Havelock into a 6-4 lead with 4:47 left. Turnage tied it up and Billy Taylor put the Phants back on top, 8-6.

Havelock took command again as Rudder hit two in a row for a 10-8 margin. Rose tied it again, but Rudder again hit from underneath to move Havelock out again.

Rose came back to take the lead as Tom and Turnage hit for a 14-12 margin with 1:40 left. Havelock tied it once more, but Tom hit with nine seconds showing to make it 16-14 in favor of the Phants at the buzzer.

Havelock tied it for the seventh time on Tommy Gwinn's shot in the opening minute of the period and then Rudder pushed Havelock into the lead. Rose tied it up on Turnage's shot, but fell back again, 20-13, as Paul Huehner hit. Mike Aldridge hit on a foul shot to slice the lead back to one, and then two straight buckets, one by Mike Joyner and the other by Mike Harrington pushed Rose into a 23-20 lead with 5:24 left.

From there on out, the Phants were in control. After swapping baskets with Havelock for a few minutes, Rose pushed out to a five point lead and finally a six point margin at 33-27 before the Rams snipped off one point by the end of the half, 33-28.

Havelock cut the lead back to four points at the start of the second half, but Rose shot up by eight on buckets by Joyner and Harrington. Havelock again rallied to cut the lead back to four, but the Phants again pulled away to lead by eight at 45-37 at the end of the frame.

In the final period, Havelock again rallied, cutting the lead to 46-41 with 7:13 left, but the Phants were not about to let the game go down the drain. Joyner hit a basket, and Tom connected on five straight foul shots for an 11-point bulge, 52-41, with 3:01 left.

From there on out, it was just a question of what the margin would be.

Besides Turnage's 16 points, Tom had 13 and Taylor had 11. Pacing Havelock was Rudder with 15 and Gwinn with 14.

The Rose junior varsity also swept to a victory, 62-34. The Baby Phants spotted Havelock a six point lead in the first period, then came back to tie them up 9-9 at the end of the frame.

With Ray Pezko celebrating his 16th birthday with 24 points, the Phants shot away to a 22 point lead in the second period, leading 38-16 at the half. From there on out, the only problem was what the final margin would be. Rose held a 53-22 lead at the end of the third period, and led by as much as 32 points before the end of the game.

Aiding Pezko was Joe West with 10 points. Vaughn Strum had 15 points to lead Havelock.

Rose heads into rough territory again on Friday, traveling to meet Washington's Pam Pack, 7-2, going into last night's game.

Gregory's Shot Nails Louisburg For Freshmen

LOUISBURG—The East Carolina University freshmen rallied to edge Louisburg Junior College, 73-72, in the closing seconds last night.

Jim Gregory dropped in a 10-foot jumper with two seconds left to give the Bucs the victory, their seventh in 11 starts this season.

East Carolina had taken the lead in the first half and worked up a 39-31 lead by the intermission. But Louisburg rallied strongly in the second half, and with 8:37 left, Dickey Driver hit to give Louisburg a 55-54 lead.

From there until the final shot, the hosts held the lead. Louisburg built up as much as a six point lead, holding that margin the last time at 71-65. But from there on in, Gregory took command, pulling the Bucs back for the win.

With 12 seconds left, East Carolina was forced to gamble on a foul, which Louisburg missed. The Bucs got the rebound, and that led to Gregory's game winning shot.

Gregory finished the contest with 31 points, while Mike Dunn had 11.

For Louisburg, Joe Penland had 32, John Lewis had 13, Roger Taylor had 11 and Bob Walker had 10.

The Baby Bucs play host to the Richmond freshmen in their next game, a preliminary to Wednesday's game between the varsity Pirates and the Spiders at Minges Coliseum in Greenville.

Chicod Downs Belvoir, 57-46

BELVOIR — The Chicod Hornets climbed out of the Pitt County Conference cellar last night and shoved the Belvoir-Falkland Eagles into it instead. Chicod downed Belvoir, 57-46.

But the Belvoir girls, steadily improving, upset Chicod, 25-22.

In that game, the two teams fought to a 4-4 tie in the first period and then Belvoir pulled out into a 10-7 lead at the half.

Chicod rallied in the third period to take a 14-13 lead, but Belvoir outscored the Lady Hornets, 12-8, to capture the victory.

Judy Jones led Chicod with 13 points, while Judy Scott had nine to pace Belvoir.

Chicod pulled away to a 12-6 lead in the first period of the boys game, and then build up a 24-16 lead by the end of the end of the half.

In the third period, Chicod added three more points to its margin for a 39-28 lead, and then coasted through the final period for the win.

Garland Warren led Chicod with 20 points, while Steve Peel had 11 and Phil Page had 10.

David Nichols led Belvoir with 23 points.

North Lenoir used a strong first period to erase any Farmville hopes of an upset in the boys game. Then in the second frame, both teams were hot, but North Lenoir held a 33-21 lead at the half.

is what makes our white bread better!

We're talking of course about Jane Parker White Bread.

We use a bit more milk than we have to, to give you a richer loaf.

We never use milk substitutes.

We use a bit more shortening than we have to, to give you a softer loaf... the way you like it.

We use a bit more sugar than we have to, to give Jane Parker more flavor.

We use a baking process that produces a velvety-soft, silky-textured slice... free of holes.

We pack it fresh from the oven in a reusable plastic bag with a twist-tie for convenient reclosing.

We do one more thing that hardly anybody does.

We date our Jane Parker White Bread.

It's the only absolute guarantee of freshness you have... unless you bake your own.

And speaking of guarantees, we unconditionally guarantee you'll like it.

So, you see, we really do do “a bit more.”

Since Jane Parker Bread is sold only at A&P, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Capt. Bucher Of The 'Pueblo' An Aggressive Man

By JIM DONNELLY
BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — "We won with desire," says Cmdr. Lloyd "Pete" Bucher in a letter recalling his football days at Boys Town. The Pueblo skipper says he has tried to apply that quality to his career and his shipmates.

Bucher, whose ship was seized by North Korea Jan. 24 and is being held captive along with the commander and his crew of 82 men, had written from Sasebo, Japan, to his old coach, Maurice Palrang, earlier this month.

"The day that I began to fight and work was the day you put us skinny kids on opposite sides of those posts and said 'Now let's separate the men from the boys,'" Bucher wrote.

"...there was not more than one or two really talented football players, but you made us think we were the greatest. The reaction was to win from teams that we should never have been with. We won with desire and because we were the best coached and drilled team.

"That is the way I try to run my ship and the way I have tried to instruct my people."

Bucher was born Sept. 1, 1927 at Pocatello, Idaho. His mother, Mrs. William Bucher, died the next year and he was placed in an orphanage, St. Joseph's in Coldspring, Idaho.

At the age of 14, he enrolled in Boys Town.

Msgr. Nicholas Wegner, Boys Town director and a close friend of the commander, says: "I guess Pete was an ordinary boy. He kicked up as much as anybody. But he was a real goer and found it difficult to stand still."

In San Diego, Lt. Cmdr. Alan Hemphill, a friend of Bucher since 1963 who served under him for two years on a submarine, says:

"If I had to select someone who had to be captured, I would choose Pete Bucher. If he gives anything other than his name, rank and serial number, it's unprintable. I'm sure the North Koreans' ears are burning because Pete's attitude is nothing but belligerent.

"...he's a born leader with a very magnetic personality." While a communications officer at San Diego in 1958, Bucher returned to speak at Boys Town's annual athletic awards dinner. This, in part, is what he told the homeless and under-privileged boys:

"The world does not owe you anything, but you owe everything to the world. What you achieve depends strictly on you. The problems you will meet are your problems and you must face them and solve them. When you leave Boys Town remember you've got the ball. Run with it."

'Dim View' Of Flood Project

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Salt Lake County Flood Control Office said Monday it takes a dim view of do-it-yourself flood control projects such as one Gordon Merrill undertook over the weekend.

Melting snow had formed a small lake in front of his suburban home because of apparently inadequate drainage facilities. So Merrill, pick and shovel in hand, proceeded to hack a drainage trench across the asphalt road on his block.

Prepare To Sell Cunard Liner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Cunard steamship line official said Monday the Queen Elizabeth, sister ship of the Queen Mary, will be for sale in November.

Lord Mancroft, deputy chairman of the Cunard line, told Newsmen the younger but larger Queen Elizabeth would be ready for retirement before the end of the year.

The Queen Mary was purchased last year by Long Beach, Calif., and is being converted into a convention center, hotel and nautical museum.

Ticketed, He Sues University

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Harold Hooks, a 22-year-old prelaw student at the University of South Florida, has sued the university and the State Board of Regents for $100,000 each because he was ticketed on campus for illegal parking.

Hooks claimed the university had the right to set traffic regulations and tag offenders, but said the school's constitution gave the right to fine to the nearest municipality.

Fines are paid to the campus security office and go into the student scholarship fund.

N.C. 'Open End Contracts' Still Undiscussed

By MICHAEL PUTZEL, Associated Press Writer. RALEIGH (AP) — Questions surrounding "open end" contracts are among the issues so far undiscussed by the North Carolina Board of Award, which will resume a hearing Thursday on a controversial motor grader contract.

The original controversy was sparked by a bid opening last December in which North Carolina Equipment Co. of Raleigh submitted the only offer to sell the state 101 motorized road graders. Five other distributors declined to bid, and several claimed they had been excluded from consideration by narrow specifications written into the contract.

The option may save the state money by permitting new purchases without a new bid opening.

Records of the sale, the newspaper reported, were "mysteriously missing," but after the report was published the records appeared on the desk of a highway commission official who said he did not know how they got to his office.

Because the clause permits the bidder to refuse to sell new equipment under the option provision, he stands to gain if he can still sell the equipment at a profit, and he cannot lose if rising costs have pushed his selling price beyond the bid figure.

Reaves concedes, however, that the purchases under the 1960 contract were "abnormal." Ivan Hardesty, assistant chief engineer for the commission, also said the purchases were unusual but added, "The state would likely have been most fortunate in having an open end contract and a contractor who would agree to stock with it."

may exercise its option, and most contracts it present are limited to one year.

Reaves said the one-year limit was initiated about a year ago, but he does not see the benefit of it. "The Purchase and Contract Division felt it would be better," he said.

The highway commission official said highway equipment is one of the largest budget items in his department, and most large maintenance equipment contracts contain the option.

Hardesty said "the majority" of highway commission purchases do not have the open end feature. "It's impossible to find out exactly, but it would be less than 10 per cent in my personal opinion."

The engineer also said no date is written into the option clauses.

The number of open end contracts and the profits realized from them are among the unanswered questions still before the Board of Award.

New Wildlife Head Named

RALEIGH (AP)—T. N. Massie of Sylva is the new chairman of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission succeeding Hugh Chatham of Elkin.

Massie, 60, a furniture dealer and close friend of Gov. Dan Moore, was elected Tuesday to a 12-month term. Dr. Joe Anderson of New Bern moved up from secretary to vice chairman. Holt Evans of Enfield was elected secretary.

In other action, the commission voted 5-2 to kill a proposal to lease 17,000 acres of state-owned land in Hyde County to a Texas man for oil explorations. W. Cullen Noble Jr. of Houston sought to lease the land in the Gull Rock Wildlife Management Area in Southern Hyde. It consists of two tracts of about 8,500 acres each.

"We feel we are risking a known wildlife area for an unknown exploration," said Elkin. "If someone had found gas and oil near Gull Rock, then we'd say it would be a worthwhile gamble."

Two Tar Heels Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two North Carolina soldiers have died recently in Vietnam, the Pentagon said Tuesday.

Killed in action were Army Pfc. Charles A. Dellinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Dellinger of Rt. 2, Conover; Marine and Gunnery Sgt. Michael A. Miktis, whose wife, Beatrice, lives in Burgaw.

N.C. Cancer Society Cool To Cigarette War

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina division of the American Cancer Society is opposed to an anti-smoking campaign planned by the national organization.

The society said so in "a very polite" way Tuesday night as it registered disapproval of a national directive from the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Rachel Davis of Kinston introduced what she called "a very polite expression of disapproval" with the national group's drive to ban cigarette advertisements and discourage smoking in hospitals and doctor's offices.

There were only two dissenting votes when the resolution was adopted by the 100-man board of the society's North Carolina division, nearly half of whom are doctors.

"We're an intellectually honest group interested in the health of the people," said Dr. Davis.

She told the board the national directive asks "that we be party to banning all advertising in all media and that health institutions, hospitals and doctors' offices employ signs discouraging smoking by all personnel."

Dr. H. L. Bacon of Bryson City, one of the two who voted no, told a newsmen later, "We're pussyfooting when we're afraid to come out flat-footed."

"I've got a no smoking sign in my office," he said, "and I've discouraged it for years. I feel smoking is a cause of cancer and it's up to the society to foster cancer control."

Assistant Fire Chief Injured

LAURINBURG, N. C. (AP)—The assistant chief of the Laurinburg Volunteer Fire Department is in fair condition today after suffering serious injuries in a fire Tuesday.

M. H. MacHoffman, 42, is being treated for a broken hip, collapsed lung, severe head lacerations and a possible fractured back.

A rear wall of a three-story building "blew out" as he was attempting to enter during the fire.

He was rushed to Scotland Memorial Hospital.

The fire threatened the heart of the downtown business district in Laurinburg with losses estimated at $10,000. Firemen said the blaze apparently broke out on the first floor in the rear of the building which was being remodeled for a second tenant.

Other defects which decreased were: Brakes, 28 per cent; steering, 45 per cent; wipers, 7 per cent; turn signals, 7 per cent; and horns, 19 per cent.

Lindsay noted that in 1966 it cost Tar Heel motorists an average of $1.88 to have defects repaired on an inspected vehicle. Last year the average declined to 99 cents.

He said the inspections last year disclosed 821,891 defective lights, 121,706 defective turn signals, 142,613 brakes with defects, 30,352 defects in steering, 61,940 wipers that needed repairs and 99,000 defective horns.

More Inspected, Fewer Defects

RALEIGH (AP) — A total of 2.3 million motor vehicles were inspected for safety in North Carolina last year, an increase of 125,000 over 1966, but there was a big drop in the number of defects detected.

C. S. Lindsay, director of the License and Safety Division of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, said Tuesday there was a 39 per cent drop in the number of vehicles with defective lights.

Other defects which decreased were: Brakes, 28 per cent; steering, 45 per cent; wipers, 7 per cent; turn signals, 7 per cent; and horns, 19 per cent.

The bidding: West North East South Pass 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass 2NT Pass 3♠ Pass 4♠ Pass Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♣. West's attempt to influence South, the declarer at four spades, backfired when the latter saw thru his opponent's strategy. West opened the four of clubs and the king was played from dummy. The jack of spades was led and finessed, West winning the trick with the queen. Defensive prospects were not very bright. It was obvious to West that his queen of diamonds would drop under the ace, king, where by providing declarer with all the tricks he required as soon as trumps were drawn. West reasoned that the only chance for the defense was to find his partner with the queen of hearts. By under-leading the ace, he could put the declarer to an immediate guess in the suit. He first cashed the ace of spades for, by locating both spade honors in his own hand, he hoped to induce his opponent to play East for the other ace. East discarded a diamond on the ace of spades. Now came the shift by West to the four of hearts, and it was declarer's turn to deliberate. If he guessed wrong, the defense would be in position to cash the setting trick, before South could regain the lead. Inasmuch as West had already shown up with six points in spades, declarer was tempted to put in the ten of hearts from dummy, playing East for the ace. He was puzzled, however, by West's having played the ace of trumps before leading the heart, since there was no apparent need for the latter to release his spade control. South decided that the only reason West could have for cashing out was to influence declarer's play in the heart suit. He, therefore, put up North's king of hearts and thereby salvaged his contract. If West had shifted to a heart at once when he was in with the queen of spades, South might still have guessed the situation; however, the latter would have had only his own intuition to fall back on. West had overplayed his part.

The Worry Clinic Doctors Often Must Counteract Parents

Dolly shows how modern doctors often must counteract the effect of overly doting parents. As a rule, a dental surgeon leaves Mamma out in the reception room. Then a "spoiled" child will often behave fairly well. But occasionally, a child like Dolly will still try to be a "prima donna." Notice how Daniel curbed Dolly's grandstanding.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE E-574: Dolly D., aged 4, needed dental care. Her mother brought Dolly into the office of my son Daniel, the dental surgeon.

Daniel has a winning way with most children but occasionally he meets one who has been spoiled by a doting mamma.

"After working on her lower teeth," Daniel said, "I urged Dolly to lean over and spit out the saliva."

"But she wouldn't move. She just stared at me, stubbornly."

"So I told her if she didn't want to empty her mouth, that was O. K. with me, for I'd just work on her upper teeth."

"After a couple of minutes, the saliva was brimming over. I ordered her to lean over and spit it out. She refused. Instead, she tried to spit it into the paper napkin that my Dental Assistant had placed around her neck."

"So I grabbed her and held her head over the basin, insisting that she spit. She did."

"Then I placed her back in the chair and told her that she couldn't play such games with me! I informed her that she might continue to do so with her mother and get away with it. But when she was in my dental chair she must act like an adult. Instead of a baby. Understand?"

"Dolly nodded her head. 'Yes.' And thereafter Dolly has never caused any trouble."

"In fact, she has since become a great roofer for Daniel, who clowns around with child patients and also wins the younger ones by letting them select a 'small toy out of his "Pirate's Chest," if they have behaved properly while seated in his operative chair.

Daniel's office suite is on the ground floor, facing the street, and many youngsters drop in without appointments just to chat with him or tease him. This may not augur well for efficiency but does show the new attitude of youngsters toward the modern dental surgeon.

Instead of dreading the dentist and shunning his office, modern children actually seem to relish visiting their dental surgeon.

And that's a great advancement in medical science, for our 32 teeth are the foundation stones of good health all our lives.

With fluoridation, plus regular tooth brushing and early dental care, our present crop of children can easily reach the age of 75 years without requiring false teeth at all!

Such full dentures are a boon to us of the older generation who now need them.

For they remove the sunken cheeks, puckered mouth and shortened chin - to - nose dimension that makes us look like an old witch.

So dentures can be a woman's major cosmetic improvement after middle age.

But they never work as efficiently as our own natural teeth, for people with false teeth tend to shun steaks and raw vegetables, thus becoming victims of secondary anemia.

The usual American is offered plenty of vitamins, protein, sugar and fat in our typical three square meals per day.

But there is often a lack of iron in the diet of middle aged folks so their red blood corpuscles routinely show lower hemoglobin than is correct.

If you are past 40, eat plenty of red meat (liver and hamburger), plus leafy and red vegetables to keep your iron intake up to par!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and print in g costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

Although Westminster Abbey is now a place for the coronation of English kings and burial of famous British dead, it was built in the Middle Ages as a home for a group of Benedictine monks.

Most Hope Diplomacy Solves Crisis

By JUNE LONG

Most Greenville citizens apparently share the opinion that the United States should exhaust all diplomatic means to recover the U.S.S. Pueblo before using force.

A poll conducted here revealed that 60 percent of the people thought that all peaceful means for settlement should be tried before resorting to war, 30 per cent thought that war was necessary and 10 per cent thought that the U.S. should not resort to war at any cost.

The answers were:
Johnny Griffin, store manager, 205 Belvedere Drive: "I think the government is doing right in trying diplomatic relations, but I think in a week's time we should know whether they are going to give it back. If they aren't, we should use force and I am in the reserves."

Mrs. S. H. Mitchell, store manager, 1112 S. Overlook Drive: "As much as everyone hates war, we can't let that many boys and their families go without the nation's support and if what we have heard is true, they had no right to take the ship."

E.W. Mills, farmer, Route 2, Farmville: "We want it back and whatever means it takes, we should use them."

Billy Revels, Snow Hill: "If we were within the 12 mile limit then we should admit it and hope to get the crew back. If we were not in Korean waters, I think we should go after the ship at all costs."

Mrs. Michael House, housewife, 1603 North Overlook Drive: "I think the steps the government are using now are the wisest—trying to enable the Pueblo and its crew's return through peace."

Mrs. Agnes Barrett, university employee, 402 Jarvis St.: "I believe we should exhaust all diplomatic negotiations first, but we must get it back."

Mrs. Sprigg, salesclerk, 1900 S. Charles St.: "I think it is necessary to get the ship back, but we should try all peaceful means first."

Jim Price, store manager, 503 E. Ninth St.: "I don't think the government can risk a war for 83 men and one ship. I do think there are other ways to put diplomatic pressure on people and not have a war."

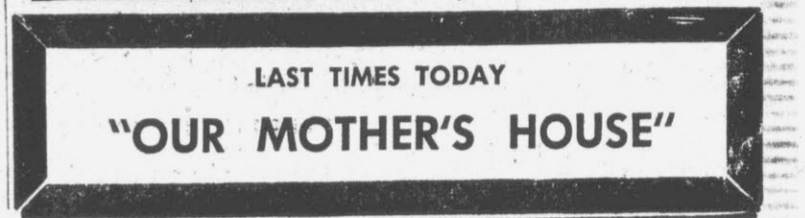

Mrs. Betty Hand, saleslady, Bell Arthur: "When it comes to this situation I would rather not think about it! This is just terrible."

Not Coins, But Dentures Stolen

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Bernard E. Petrich took his mother's dentures to a dentist for repairs and they were stolen from the glove compartment of his car.

"They were in a pink plastic case," Petrich said, "and the thief may have thought the case contained coins."

Sentimental Return To TV By Veteran

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Charlton Heston makes a sentimental return to television tonight, co-starring with Judith Anderson in a dramatic special of Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen."

The sentiment stems from the fact that Heston won his seasoning as an actor in what is now considered television's golden age—the five-year span when the new medium abounded in live and vital drama emanating from New York. The shows were "Studio One," "Philco Playhouse," "Robert Montgomery Presents" and "Schlitz Playhouse."

"I doubt if any other five-year period in American entertainment history produced a greater amount of fresh talent," said Heston. "It provided a start for such performers as Eli Wallach, James Dean, Anne Bancroft, Julie Harris, Eva Marie Saint, Paul Newman, Grace Kelly, Steve McQueen, Rod Steiger, Jack Lemmon, Sidney Poitier and Lee Marvin."

And Charlton Heston. In 1948 he was fresh out of the Air Force and hunting for acting jobs in New York. "Studio One" was planning a version of "Julius Caesar," and the producer wanted to cast the entire play with those who had Shakespearean experience. Fortunately Heston had played the Bard at Northwestern University and even starred as Marc Antony in a student film version of "Julius Caesar."

He drew a small role in the "Studio One" production, but got a chance to shine in rehearsals by subbing for an ailing actor in the role of Brutus.

"After that I played in such things as 'MacBeth,' 'Jane Eyre,' 'Taming of the Shrew,' two Henry James plays and 'Wuthering Heights,' he recalled. "That's about as prestigious a springboard as any actor could hope for."

Such a classical background was invaluable for Heston when he arrived in films and was cast in roles as Moses, Ben-Hur, El Cid, Michaelangelo and John the Baptist. Unlike other film stars who emerged from television, Heston makes periodic returns to television. His last appearance was in 1964, when he played Thomas Jefferson in "The Patriot." Like tonight's NBC telecast of "Elizabeth the Queen," it was done for the "Hallmark Playhouse."
