

Pupil School-Choices To Be Made During March

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The month of March has been set as the choice period during which time Greenville City School students may select the school they wish to attend during the 1968-69 school year.

City Superintendent Dr. C. C. Cleetwood said pupil assignment for the coming year will be based on the "freedom of choice" plan under which the local school unit has been operating for the past several years.

The same procedures as in the past will be followed, the superintendent explained. Letters and choice forms will be mailed to parents of students in the school system, and choices must be made during the period of March 1 through March 31, he continued.

A census of pre-school children will be conducted this month, Dr. Cleetwood said. The parents of all children entering the first grade in the city next fall will be notified of a date and time in early March when they may report to any elementary school for orientation and registration. At that time, they will receive materials for making their choice of any school in the system, he explained.

In a letter to the Greenville Board of Education, Peter Libassi, director of the Office for Civil Rights of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said the department's position that "free choice procedures are an available means of eliminating a dual school structure if they lead to significant year-by-year progress toward the establishment of a single system of nonracial schools," is not expected to change.

However, Libassi continued, "where experience demonstrates that these plans are not proving effective, local education agencies have the affirmative duty to eliminate the dual school structure, normally by the 1969-70 school year."

Commenting on the HEW official's letter, Dr. Cleetwood said, "It would appear that this represents a new approach and a new deadline."

The new approach, the local school head commented, "appears to be a shift from the hard-nosed federal line—which has prompted all-too-often defiance rather than compliance—to a softer approach with less bargaining over percentages and numbers of children and faculty members transferring from one school to another."

Dr. Cleetwood emphasized, however, there is no less mandate to achieve desegregation of staff and students, and freedom-of-choice plans will be carefully scrutinized to see that desegregation is being achieved.

The new deadline for complete desegregation is the fall of 1969, the superintendent said.

"Workable plans which are resulting in substantial progress may extend beyond this date, however," Dr. Cleetwood suggested. "Such exceptions would require an approval of the target date by the regional director of the Office of Civil Rights."

Students will be allowed, again this year, to cross Greenville city and Pitt County school administration lines as in the past, the superintendent explained.

Dr. Cleetwood emphasized two points of the reciprocal agreement:

—Upon application and acceptance at a school in a district where the student does not live, the decision is binding for the school year as though the choice were made within the district of residence.

—Acceptance at a school is dependent upon the anticipated enrollment at that school after the freedom of choice period tally is accomplished.

An alternate choice, he indicated, may be offered out-of-district students where their first choice is for a school where their attendance would result in overcrowding.

Al Capp, Lecturer, In Action

CARTOONIST-HUMORIST AL CAPP . . . Three views of the famous creator of "Li'l Abner" comic strip during visit to East Carolina University. (Reflector Photos by Tommy Forrest)

If You Wonder—Just Ask Capp

By HENRY HOWARD
ECU News Bureau Director

"Why does Richard Nixon have the image of a consistent loser?" was the question.

"Well," replied Al Capp. "Because he never wins."

That's just a sample of the give-and-take that went on around here Thursday between cartoonist Al Capp and East Carolina University folks.

He lectured to a packed house (2,100) in Wright Auditorium Thursday night and then was nearly swamped by an overflow crowd at a reception.

His lecture, the same format he uses on many campuses, is "Ask Al Capp." He bases his talk on questions raised by persons in the audience who have filled out pre-circulated cards.

But he has his own points to make, too. Last night, for example, he recalled having been invited to the Presidential Prayer Breakfast of President Johnson. "That was fine," he said, "but then it occurred to me. If we were praying WITH President Johnson who would we be praying TO?"

The Thursday night lecture was just part of Capp's visit to East Carolina. Rarely does he arrive early for a campus lecture. At dinner Thursday night he confided that he usually has to "shave in the cab" and "phone ahead to tell them to prolong the introduction, I'm on the way."

He made it to Greenville in plenty of time. In fact he and an aide, James Artis, got here Tuesday and spent much time looking for possible material for an upcoming TV show, "Al Capp on Campus." Dates are not yet certain.

Deaths Due To Pneumonia And Flu Drop

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The death rate from influenza and pneumonia has dropped in all but two of the nine major geographical areas of the country, the National Communicable Disease Center reported today.

However, the rate continues to be above the epidemic level in all but one of the areas.

Based on reports from 122 cities, the pneumonia and flu death count stood at 1,105 for the week ending Jan. 27, the CDC said. For the previous week the total was 1,177.

Only the Mountain Division's death rate is not above the normally expected rate.

Death rates were down in all areas of the country except the East South Central Division and the Pacific states. It was the first week in which there has been excess mortality in the Pacific area, the CDC said, with the major source of deaths apparently being the state of Washington.

In the East South Central Division deaths increased from 92 to 93. The Pacific area recorded a larger increase, from 27 to 54.

In the eastern and central United States, influenza activity appears to be decreasing, with most absenteeism returning to normal rates, the CDC reported.

Capp gave dinner guests a clue as to why he spent more time here. "I was at Duke a couple of weeks ago. Now down here. When I find something interesting or unusual in some part of the country I like to look around." (There was no real implication that Greenville or East Carolina University would ever see their shadows in Capp's comic strip, "Li'l Abner," which appears in the Sunday Daily Reflector color comic section.)

Over the dinner table some local-interest tie-ins came out. A bell rang for Capp when he heard that among the many virtues of ECU is painter-in-residence Francis Speight. The cartoonist recalled that Dr. Speight had been the professor at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts who many years ago advised young art student Al Capp to switch from painting to something else. It turned out to be cartooning.

What, No Shadow?

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The groundhog of Octorara Creek poked his weather-beaten body from a burrow at the crack of dawn today. But he failed to see his shadow, meaning an early spring is on the way.

As usual, members of the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge of nearby Quarryville, dressed in top hats, long coats and jewels, were on the scene to see if their favorite groundhog would see his shadow.

If he had according to legend, he would be frightened back inside and winter would rage for another six weeks.

Lodge members failed to say how they can reconcile the groundhog's performance today with the calendar, which shows at least six more weeks of winter.

News of the groundhog's unusual behavior came from Ray Dunlap, the lodge's minister of public information.

Board Refuses Drop Malpractice Charges

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Dental Examiners refused today to drop malpractice charges against Dr. John P. Stinson, one of three Negro dentists accused of committing discrepancies during an antipoverty dental project in Charlotte-Mecklenburg schools.

Attorney Julius Chambers, representing the three dentists, moved that the charges be dropped shortly after the defense took over the hearing, which began on Monday.

One of the dentists charged is Dr. Reginald A. Hawkins, who is running for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May 4 primary. Also charged is Dr. George T. Nash. All three of the dentists are from Charlotte.

Chambers said he would represent each of the respondents individually and that the cases of Hawkins and Nash will be handled later.

The all-white, six-man Board of Dental Examiners has the authority to revoke the licenses of the three dentists to practice in North Carolina. The board called a biracial panel of four experts to hear technical evidence, but this panel now has been relieved.

Chambers told the board the charges against Stinson were nebulous and mostly unproven. He said the only discrepancy by Stinson proved by the prosecution in its four days of presenting evidence involved the extraction of four teeth of Howard Avery, one of the persons treated under the Project Headstart program in 1966.

Chambers admitted the X-rays submitted as evidence by the prosecution proved the four teeth had not been pulled. The lawyer then moved for dismissal, and the board denied it.

Thomas A. Starnes of Morganton, who is prosecuting for the dental examiners' board, said Thursday a final decision in the case may not be announced before the May primary.

Vessels Collide Off Cape Henry

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The collision of two loaded freighters just off Cape Henry in a murky fog has severely damaged one of the vessels.

The Coast Guard said the Italian Anna Bibolini was listing several degrees and settling in 45 feet of water where she was run so that most of the ship would remain above water. She collided with the Greek freighter Peter L. about 9 p.m. Thursday.

No injuries were reported in the incident.

Allies Claim Big Toll Of Raiders

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese officials said today their forces were crushing the biggest Communist offensive of the war with skyrocketing losses to the enemy. But Red troops were reported in control of much of Hue, the ancient imperial capital, and South Vietnamese dive-bombers still roared over the streets of Saigon attacking Viet Cong holdouts.

Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from Hue, 50 miles south of the demilitarized zone, that four battalions of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese controlled most of the streets in the coastal city. Lengel said U.S. Marines and infantrymen and South Vietnamese troops were battling more to maintain their positions than to oust the enemy.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker went on television to assert that the Communists were being defeated with unparalleled losses.

The U.S. Command said 10,553 of the enemy had been killed in the four-day countryside assaults on the cities and towns of South Vietnam. Allied losses were put at 917 dead and 2,817 wounded, including 281 Americans killed and 1,195 wounded.

Thieu said, "The back of the Viet Cong attack has been broken." He said there is still Communist resistance "in a few

The Pitt County United Fund, falling short its $129,000 goal by $28,270.44, has been forced to revise allocations to its 22 member agencies, according to Pitt County UF chairman, William N. Leitch.

Leitch said the revisions are as follow:

The Pitt County United Fund made some progress in the 1967 campaign, in spite of a poor overall economic year, Leitch said. The UF did exceed the $100,000 level for the first time in its 10-year history, he added.

"The Budget Committee of the United Fund regretted to have to reduce the allocations to the Member Agencies," Leitch stated. "The 1968 campaign looks more favorable with earlier planning and campaign development already taking place."

Leitch and the officers of the Pitt County United Fund, thanked every contributor for their contribution through the 1967 United Fund Campaign.

Warship, Soviet Ship In Collision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported today a "minor collision" between an American destroyer and a Russian merchant ship in the Sea of Japan Wednesday. No casualties were reported.

The department said the accident occurred in a crossing situation. It claimed the destroyer had the right of way under international maritime rules.

The department issued this statement:

"Soviet merchant ship Kapitlan Vislobokov and the destroyer U.S.S. Rowan (D-782) had a minor collision in the Sea of Japan approximately 95 miles east of Pohang, South Korea, at 1:53 p.m. EST on Wednesday, Jan. 31.

"There were no personnel casualties aboard the destroyer Rowan and no casualties were reported by the merchant ship. The Rowan sustained 'minor damage,' a three-foot hole above the water line on the port bow. When queried by flashing lights, the Vislobokov signaled 'no assistance required' and 'damage to my stern two meters in length.'"

"The collision took place at 36 degrees 06 minutes north and 130 degrees, 28 minutes east. The accident occurred in a crossing situation, with the Rowan having the right of way under international regulations, being on an easterly course while the Vislobokov was on a southerly heading."

"The Rowan is a Gearing class destroyer with a displacement of 3500 tons and a length of 350 feet. It is commanded by Commander Loren I. Moore of Wheat Ridge, Colo., and carried a crew of approximately 250 men. The Soviet merchant ship Vislobokov has a displacement of about 10,000 tons and is 511 feet long.

"The incident is being investigated by the Navy."

Ground Force Reserves Not Yet Required

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials say they don't foresee any imminent call-up of ground force reservists as the United States readies today a second bid to recover the USS Pueblo through talks with her North Korean captors.

These were the major developments in the ongoing Asia crisis:

—The State Department announced Thursday U.S. willingness to engage in face-to-face talks with North Korea aimed at gaining return of the Pueblo and her 83-man crew.

The action followed a broadcast hint by North Korea that a settlement might be possible through new talks at Panmunjom, the Korean War truce site.

—President Johnson said U.S. bombing of North Vietnam will continue until the enemy gives "some better sign" that a halt would not result in stepped-up terrorism and aggression against South Vietnam.

He spoke as the Communists continued widespread assaults against major South Vietnamese cities and U.S. commander Gen. William C. Westmoreland warned the enemy's "main effort" is yet to come.

—Military sources at the Pentagon indicated the heat is on, at least for now, on any call-up of Army Reserve or National Guard ground units.

The surprisingly strong Communist attacks in South Vietnam—along with last week's call-up of some 14,000 air reservists in response to the Pueblo crisis—had generated Capitol Hill speculation that a major muster of reserve ground forces might be in the works.

Defense officials said last week's call-up was intended to show North Korea the United States is determined to recover the Pueblo and her crew. Any further muster of reservists, they said, is likely to depend on whether the President feels the point should be made more emphatic.

Another N.C. Bank Held Up Early Today

GROVER, N.C. (AP) — Two young bandits robbed a branch of the Blacksburg State Bank shortly after it opened today and fled with $22,000.

Roadblocks were set up around the community, which is on the North Carolina-South Carolina line just off Interstate Highway 85. The bank is a few steps inside South Carolina.

W. E. Troublefield, vice president of the Blacksburg, S.C., bank and manager of its Grover branch, said the two bandits cleaned out the vault and cash drawers at two teller windows.

Troublefield and two tellers, Mrs. Elizabeth Hammett and Mrs. Ann Shouse, were the only persons in the bank at the time of the 9:35 a.m. holdup. The bank had opened at 9 a.m.

The bandits were described as 18 to 20 years old and were wearing stockings over their head.

Group Ponders Shifting SBI

RALEIGH (AP) — A legislative subcommittee is studying the possibility of removing the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation from under the jurisdiction of the attorney general.

It has been proposed that the SBI be included in a new state department of public safety.

The public safety subcommittee of the Legislative Research Commission discussed the proposal Thursday, but reached no conclusion.

The 1967 General Assembly authorized the study and said in a resolution that its purpose "is not to create a state police force but to coordinate state law enforcement agencies."

The new department might include the state Highway Patrol and other law enforcement agencies along with the SBI. The purpose would be to eliminate overlapping activities and provide better coordinated and more effective law enforcement.

Sen. Albert Ellis, D-Onslow, told the subcommittee, "I think the biggest objection we'll have is combining the Highway Patrol and the SBI. We're not going to get to first base. That's when they'll start hollering 'state police.'"

Stickley Favors An Urban Dept.

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A proposed state department devoted to solving North Carolina's urban problems was endorsed by Republican Jack Stickley Thursday.

The GOP candidate for governor said that while he had not researched the need for such a department, he thought he would support one if elected. Urban problems are not limited to one city but to all of the state's 100 counties, he said.

The Charlotte textile yarn broker said he would also favor the addition of public kindergartens to the public school system.

Asks Fair Share Of Industry Jobs

RALEIGH (AP) — A Negro civil rights leader from Chicago told Negro ministers from a dozen North Carolina cities Thursday that "we don't have our fair share of the jobs" in the tobacco and textile industries.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson made the comment during a two-day workshop conducted at Shaw University on how to use economic pressure in civil rights work.

Boycotts in textiles and tobacco may be necessary to get more Negro employment, he said.

Jackson is leader of Operation Breadbasket, a nationwide drive to increase Negro employment. The project is sponsored by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

He said Operation Breadbasket already has units in 20 cities, including Cleveland, Los Angeles and San Francisco, and hoped to expand to 20 more.

The minister told the group his organization will try to "get information on unfair treatment, to educate people about it and to negotiate to do away with it." He added, "We will go to street demonstrations if necessary."

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bette Davis described it in the title of her autobiography, "The Lonely Life." Her onetime costar, Joan Crawford, is inclined to agree.

"It's the loneliest life in the world," said Miss Crawford in a mood that found her with defenses down.

Miss Crawford is everyone's idea of a movie star, and she has always played the role to the hilt. Even today she will toss off quotes like, "If I had ever been seen on the Sunset Strip with bare feet and my hair uncoiffed, I would have killed myself." She decries the new actresses who so deport themselves; Miss Crawford herself never goes anywhere without the full regalia of a star—hair coiffed, makeup applied, clothes proper.

Such attention to her calling has kept her before the film public longer than any other star. Like all actresses, she doesn't like to be reminded of dates—but she made her first film 43 years ago. She enjoys pointing out the monetary, if not the critical success of her latest movie, "Berserk"—"in 29 theaters in the New York area we pulled $6,000 more than Elizabeth Taylor in 33 theaters with her latest picture."

She also continues to demand on television. She was here to make her first situation-comedy show, appearing in the role of Joan Crawford on "The New Show." She worked in the assignment between her travels as an ambassador board member of Pepsi-Cola, of which her husband, Alfred Steele was president.

"I know what Al meant now," she reflected, "when he used to tell me about all the traveling he had to do. He said he would wake up in the night and not be able to remember what city he was in."

"That's the way it is with me. I always leave the light on in the hotel bathroom, because I never know whether the door is to the right or the left of the bed."

"Last year I traveled 200,000 miles—imagine, 200,000 miles. That's what I mean by the lonely life; there's no time to be yourself. I'm surrounded by businessmen all the time. Sure, they take me out to dinner, but they want to talk about business. I can tell you the bottling capacity of every Pepsi plant in the country."

He Needs Times To Cool Off

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you make of a man who buries his wife on a Friday and asks you for a date for the following Wednesday? I accepted, thinking he needed someone to console him, but I got the surprise of my life. He acted like a sailor on shore leave after 8 months on a ship.

His wife and I were very good friends and I realize that she had been sick for a year, but I can't see any excuse for the rush this man was in to make up for lost time. When he asked me out for the next night I told him I didn't think we should be seen in public together because people might talk, so he's been parking himself over here every night telling me how lonesome he is, and how much he needs "female companionship."

Abby, I'm a widow and I am lonesome, too, but I'm not THAT lonesome. How long do you think I should wait before I let him court me? I know lots of women in this town who would be glad to have him.

ENCINO WIDOW
DEAR WIDOW: The man shows a shocking lack of respect for the memory of his wife. Put him on ice for about a year. He could be some cooling off.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26, very happily married and have two adorable children, but I have one big sorrow in my life. I have always been as flat-chested as a 10-year-old boy.

I suppose now that I'm married it really shouldn't bother me so much, but it does. Abby, I have always felt so cheated. No one will ever know how I envied girls with voluptuous bosoms.

I've always worn padded bras, but now I hear there are silicone "shots" available that will fill a girl out like a miracle. They say most girls who work in topless clubs get these shots regularly. What kind of doctor gives them? Please answer this in your column because my husband sometimes gets the mail before I do, and if he knew this still bothered me so much he'd have a fit.

DERA NAMELESS: I have been advised that silicone (for breast injections) has not been approved by the Food and Drug Administration, so to seek such shots (assuming they were available) could be taking a foolish risk. In this regard, I advise you to do nothing without first talking it over with your husband. He just may like you the way you are.

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who is so afraid she'll die of germs that she has people thinking she is off her nut. She carries a big bottle of disinfectant around in her purse to clean off the rim of a glass or cup before she will drink from it. She also cleans the silverware in this manner before using it.

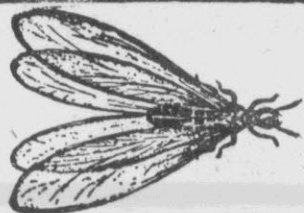

Now I'm not talking about such precautions in a restaurant—she does this right in someone's home when she is a guest. Pretty insulting, isn't it? She is a nice lady, but people are beginning to talk about her.

My husband says to forget it, that everyone is a little peculiar about something. I would like your opinion.

GERM - FIGHTER'S RELATIVE
DEAR RELATIVE: If this is the only "peculiarity" he lady has, I would say she is harmless. But if I were you, I'd watch her for other symptoms.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN A BIND" IN WATERLOO A man who joins his wife in getting "mad" at a whole family because his wife had an argument with one of the members, shows his stupidity—not his loyalty.

Spectacular, But Meaning Unclear

Almost no one can say with certainty at this point just what the suicidal Viet Cong attacks in Saigon and other South Vietnam cities mean.

The attacks have certainly been spectacular, but at the same time they have meant almost certain death for those who were assigned or volunteered for the task.

It is highly probable that the attacks will be followed by some sort of attempt at a major offensive by North Vietnam. That raises the question of whether the communist forces actually feel at this point that they are strong enough to push the Americans out of the country.

We would like to believe the theory that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong have come to a do-or-die point in the war. It is possible that the communist leaders realize that the war toll is becoming too heavy and, as a consequence, they are mounting one last great effort to break the stalemate.

There is historical precedent for this. Hitler mounted one last offensive in the Battle of the Bulge. It briefly changed the course of World War II, but eventually a beaten Germany was unable to sustain the drive and soon succumbed to superior forces.

We would not dare predict that this is the situation today in Vietnam, but it is a possibility. A major communist defeat at this point could perhaps lead to peace talks. It could mean an end in sight for this war which has brought so much waste, grief and unpleasantness to so many.

There is just a bare chance that we are seeing the darkness before the dawn in Vietnam. We can only hope and pray that this is the case.

Comforting To Know System Is In Order

There is something comforting in the knowledge that the Greenville fire alarm system — wrecked by last month's ice storm — is back in operation.

It is true that in this age when a telephone is within reach of virtually everyone in the city, the red fire alarm boxes are not as essential as they once were.

Still when fire strikes a home or business every citizen knows that pulling the lever in one of the alarm boxes will establish instant communication with the fire station.

Unfortunately vandals know this, too and frequently when the alarm sounds there is no fire to be found at the location. It is merely a false alarm.

While this is a liability so far as the system of fire alarm boxes is concerned, the system has not outgrown its usefulness. The fire alarm box is a source of protection for every citizen. Used properly it can bring quick aid in the event a fire erupts.

Garren May Be An Early Entry

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH—A candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor will come forth shortly and a good bet at this point is that he will be Don H. Garren of Hendersonville.

More than one GOP hopeful may announce — but Garren presently appears to be nearer making a definite decision. He has received strong encouragement to enter the race.

If he does, it can be assumed that the 34 year old attorney will raise issues and conduct more than a token campaign for the nomination and election.

Is Outspoken
Garren was a freshman legislator on one of the back rows of the House of Representatives in 1965 when the Democratic contender for lieutenant governor, H. P. (Pat) feel its denial is really insurance for the Democrats against the day a Republican is elected governor and has to deal with a Democratic-controlled legislature.

Garren's group of GOP House members also sought to make political points a year ago on such things as court-ordered congressional redistricting and during the legislative flip-flops over voting regional university status for East Carolina and three other schools.

By the time the legislature adjourned and Garren went home to Henderson County his notebooks and briefcases were bulging with notes and documentation which he felt would be political ammunition. He may now be ready to bring it out in the form of campaign issues.

Brock's Decision
Alex K. Brock had been thinking about becoming a political candidate — about running for a seat in Congress — for several months. The idea was that he would oppose Rep. Nick Galifianakis of Durham in the Democratic primary May 4.

He had been urged to do so and had been promised support. And Brock, a former office supply firm official and staunch conservative politically, has political ambitions.

The idea appealed to him strongly. He had pledges of substantial support in Galifianakis' home county of Durham. Also, he reasoned, there is a natural political rivalry between neighboring Durham and Wake counties which has not been forced into a confrontation until this (because of the new Congressional redistricting placing both Wake and Durham in the Fourth.)

Brock finally went into the den of his home in Raleigh last Saturday, closed the door and quietly decided the time wasn't right. Not for him. He cited "realization of the more pertinent and compelling responsibilities to my family — my wife and two sons — and to my position, which I consider extremely important."

Brock is executive secretary of the State Board of Elections which today is one of the busiest agencies in state government.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Taylor Jr. was the Speaker. He quickly won recognition as a determined, keen-minded member, although a Republican. Two years later the GOP numbers in the General Assembly tripled and Garren became the House minority leader. In two terms he became not only a floor leader but one of the most vocal members of the outspoken GOP group. Under his leadership, the Republicans in the House made themselves heard rather loudly on certain sharp political issues.

For example, the GOP minority sponsored bills for election reforms, to elect Superior Court judges on a district basis, for constitutional changes including veto powers for the governor.

The issue of veto power for the governor of North Carolina is a sore point among many Republicans who

--In Case Of An Attack

WASHINGTON — Anyone who doubts that the federal government is prepared for World War III just doesn't know how organized Washington really is. The other day someone who works for the Treasury Department received his instructions in writing on what he was to do in case of enemy attack.

They read as follows, and I haven't made a word of it up:

"...all National Office Employees with or without emergency assignments should follow this procedure. If you are prevented from going to your regular place of work because of an enemy attack—keep this instruction in mind—GO TO THE NEAREST POST OFFICE, ASK THE POSTMASTER FOR A FEDERAL EMPLOYEE REGISTRATION CARD (sample shown on reverse side), FILL IT OUT AND RETURN IT TO HIM. He will see that it is forwarded to the office of the Civil Service Commission which will maintain the registration file for your area. When the Civil Service Commission receives your card, we will be notified. We can then decide where and when you should report for work. . . . You should obtain and complete your registration card as soon after enemy attack as possible, but not until you are reasonably sure where you will be staying for a few days. . . ."

Nobody believes it will ever happen, but let us suppose that Robert Smiley (a fictional person working for the Treasury Department) has just crawled out of the rubble after an enemy attack and remembers the instructions concerning civil defense for federal employees.

After walking for four days and 350 miles, Smiley finally finds a post office that is still standing. He staggers up to a window, but just as he gets there, the man behind it says, "Sorry, this window is closed," and slams it down.

Smiley stumbles to the next window and is told to get in line behind 20 other people. Two hours later he gets to the head of the line and croaks, "I want to register..."

"I'm sorry," says the post office clerk. "This window is just for stamps. Registered mail is at the next window." "No, no," says Smiley, "I want a federal employee registration card."

"We don't sell those. Do you want any stamps or don't you?"

"You see," says Smiley, holding onto the window, "I was instructed after the enemy attacked to find the nearest post office and fill out a card."

"You better try the parcel post window," the clerk suggests.

Smiley goes over to the parcel post window and gets in line with 30 other people. Four hours later he is informed that the post office has run out of federal employee registration cards. They suggest he try another post office.

Smiley staggers out into the road and starts walking again. Four hundred miles up the highway he finds another post office. After catching his breath, he takes the card shakingly to the counter and starts to fill it out. But the pen won't work. He informs

Stakes In The Battle

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Contrary to the confident talk from the U. S. high command in Saigon, the massive land battle now developing at the Marine outpost of Khe Sanh is worrying both civilian policymakers and Pentagon generals here far more than they admit.

A U. S. victory in what looms as potentially the largest battle of the Vietnam war would, of course, be a favorable turning point. But what worries official Washington are the ramifications of a Communist victory or, more likely, a stalemate.

That would not only make Washington more pliable to Hanoi's diplomatic strategy but might well pose an agonizing choice for President Johnson: remove the 525,000-man ceiling on U. S. troops in Vietnam or dictate a fundamental change in General William Westmoreland's strategy by pulling U. S. forces back from their highly-exposed positions along Vietnam's borders.

This is so in large part because of the high cost of Khe Sanh. Win or lose, according to the private estimate of the Pentagon's best Vietnam experts, U. S. casualties may climb to between 400 and 500 a week when the battle actually starts in all its fury—the highest of the war for American troops.

These casualties would come against a backdrop of repeated official predictions that the Communists could no longer mount large-scale ground attacks because of the success of American arms. The predictions were wrong for one reason: the failure of the U. S. high command in Saigon to anticipate outright invasion of the South, across the demilitarized zone (DMZ) at the 17th parallel, by powerfully-armed North Vietnamese regulars.

This miscalculation has disrupted the American order of battle. For example, the First Cavalry Division, so long the protector of the highlands, has been quietly moved all the way up to the old imperial capital of Hue, to reinforce the First Corps in the northernmost part of South Vietnam. Confidential reports from the highlands now indicate that, with major elements of the First Cavalry no longer on hand, the U. S. and South Vietnamese strength there is stretched very thin.

Furthermore, South Vietnamese district and provincial officers in the highlands have been made deeply uneasy by Hanoi's new diplomatic offensive embodied in its claim that it "will" talk peace if the U. S. stops bombing the North.

The critical area, however, is not the highlands but Khe Sanh, and there the coming battle is tightly linked to Hanoi's diplomatic offensive, in the opinion of Washington policymakers.

Indo-Chinese history is menacing. Almost exactly 15 years ago the Communists began their massive build-up in the French-held Dien Bien Phu area in the extreme northwestern portion of North Vietnam. The military genius then was the same General Giap, now directly in control of the massive Communist build-up around the American held fortress of Khe Sanh.

Other Editors Saying Those Favorite Sons

(Cincinnati Enquirer)

Politics is politics. But Republicans are in grave danger of boring the nation's television audience to death if they go thru with their plans to parade a veritable army of favorite sons before their national convention in Miami.

As of the moment, the list seems to include Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, Sen. Claude Kirk of Florida, Sen. Len Jordan of Idaho, Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts, Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey, Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio, Gov. Dewey Bartlett of Oklahoma, and Sen. John Tower of Texas.

There is a distinct possibility that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will wind up as New York's favorite son.

In addition, of course, there will be the major contenders —former Vice President Nixon, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, and maybe Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Each of the favorite sons is entitled to a nominating speech, several seconding speeches, and a floor demonstration.

As a practical matter, many states simply cast their votes for their favorite sons without going to the trouble of placing their names formally in nomination—a gesture of deference that delegates and viewers alike would appreciate.

Just the same, the convention planners ought to give some thought now to how to keep their deliberations from running on thru to election day.

"Tobaccoists" is the name by which the Greenville baseball club of the recently formed Eastern Carolina league will be known during the coming season, according to information given out this afternoon by members of the board of directors of the local club. . . . Jennings Ragsdale has the honor of naming the club, although three others participating in the contest to win a season ticket to the ball games followed a close second place. The name "tobaccoists" was presented by four of the contestants, and the directors were forced to ascertain the postmark of the letters in order to determine the winner. Ragsdale's time of mailing led the other three. . . . Others submitting the same name were Miss Selma Carson, C. B. Rowlett and Miss Appie Smith. . . .

Mr. Ground Hog Scurries Back To Hole Today
Today was "Ground Hog" day here and everywhere. According to legend, Mr. Hog cautiously emerged from his long period of seclusion to determine the state of the weather. In Greenville he saw his shadow and promptly scurried back to place of incarceration, leaving the superstitious and believers in black magic predicting forty more days of bad weather. And it really seemed that Mr. Hog knew his "stuff" — to employ a little parlance of the street — for the mercury took a slight but distinct drop during the morning, this being accompanied by the chilly fingers of Jack Frost, king of winter. The legend about Mr. Hog may hold good, but Greenville and Pitt County people were mighty glad to see fair weather after two days of clouds and fog.

Good Senate Outlook On Interest Disclosure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The far-reaching House bill to require plain language disclosure of interest and other credit costs stands a good chance of Senate approval without major changes, Senate sympathizers say.

The House passed the legislation 382 to 4 Thursday following much closer votes nailing into it a number of sections that go far beyond the similar bill the Senate approved last year. The differences remain to be worked out in a Senate-House conference.

"We hope we can preserve most of the strengthening amendments in conference," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Vt. "I am delighted at the House bill."

Proxmire was a principal sponsor of the legislation in the Senate, but found his original version somewhat trimmed there.

As approved by the House, the bill not only applies broadly the principle that finance charges should be stated in terms of annual percentage, but also strictly limits garnishments of wages for debt and adds the force of federal law enforcement to state laws against usury.

Under its terms, a store offering revolving credit could no longer tell a customer the charge is, for example, 1½ per cent monthly on the unpaid balance. It would have to state the annual percentage—for example, 18 per cent.

Homeowners would be protected by a cooling-off provision against quick sign-up salesmen who might sell them home improvements without telling them the sale involves adding mortgages to their homes.

Stores could no longer advertise only "$5 down, $5 a week." They would have to say how many payments were required and what the cash rate was.

The first $30 of weekly earnings could not be garnished. Above that, only 10 per cent could be diverted to pay debts. Workers could not be fired because of one garnishment.

In a move directed against loan-shark operations by criminal syndicates, the bill was amended to provide federal penalties for violating state usury laws, with the penalties rising steeply to 25 years imprisonment in cases involving violence or conspiracy.

Joining Proxmire in congratulating the principal House sponsor of the legislation, Rep. Leonard K. Sullivan, D-Mo., was former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who led a six year fight in the Senate for similar legislation.

"God bless you, dear lady, for your work and bravery," Douglas messaged Mrs. Sullivan. "It could not have been done without you."

"What? And ruin the point?" Listen, why don't you go over to the Smithtown post office. I hear their pens are still in working order."

Clutching the card, Smiley walks 60 miles to Smithtown where he fills it out. He mails it that very day.

Years later, Smiley is still waiting for a reply. For in his haste and fatigue, Smiley had forgotten to write down his return ZIP code.

Precisely at the time the Communists began massing around Dien Bien Phu in the winter of 1953-1954, Communist agents began their major peace offensive with secret contacts in European capitals leading to the Geneva Conference the following summer. On the very day the conference opened, the Communists overran Dien Bien Phu. The resulting recriminations in France and failure of the Americans and British to come to France's help ended the war.

In basic respects the situation today is far different—for example, the overwhelming military mobility and air monopoly of U. S. forces. Nevertheless, Hanoi's "talk-fight" policy of today is a carbon copy of the Communist "talk-fight" policy 15 years ago.

Wants Payment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress should demand collection of the $7 billion World War I debt owned to the United States by France, says U. S. Rep. Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C.

He introduced a resolution to this effect in the House Thursday.

"This is a legal debt," Galifianakis said, "and in light of Gaullist policies, I believe the United States should secure payment of the debt immediately."

The resolution suggests that the debt be collected within 20 years. It was cosponsored by 100 members of the House.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U. S. Public Health Service scientist says the work of researchers in Dallas may pave the way to rapid development of a test for predicting diabetes.

Dr. Jesse Roth of USPHS told newsmen Thursday Dr. M. D. Siperstein and colleagues at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dallas had found abnormal thickening of capillary membranes in diabetics when they examined tissue samples with electron microscopes.

While their technique would be too costly and difficult for large-scale use, it may be possible to develop a simpler test based on their discovery, Roth said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ticket prices rounded off to even dollar amounts have gone into effect on most airlines, speeding up service at ticket counters and relieving sales personnel of the change-making chore.

While most lines began the new policy Thursday, some are waiting until later this month. The new prices are rounded to the next higher dollar on trips 750 miles or less and to the next lower dollar on longer flights.

The streamlining was approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board Jan. 18.

Schools To Have Choice Of Texts On Literature

RALEIGH (AP)—Local school boards in North Carolina will have two basic texts for high school literature from which to choose for the semester beginning next fall.

The State Board of Education decided Thursday to depart from tradition and adopted more than one basic text for high school literature.

Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction, said "the double adoption has been done in other fields" over the years, but this marks the first time in literature.

The double adoption was recommended by the Textbook Commission headed by George Willard, superintendent of the Wilson city schools.

More than a half dozen representatives of Houghton Mifflin and the Webster's Division of McGraw Hill Publishing companies were waiting outside Carroll's office when he made the announcement of the board action.

He told them both firms had been awarded the contract to provide North Carolina's high school students with literature texts next fall.

The double adoption includes a series of anthologies based on the traditional chronological approach to literature by Houghton-Mifflin and a thematically oriented series published by McGraw Hill.

Willard was unable to attend the board meeting because of illness. Contacted at his home, he said the reason for the double adoption was that both companies offered excellent books with distinctly different approaches to literature.

Two Reasons For Not Heeding Call

KEESEVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Michael Ryan of this northeastern New York village says he recently received an induction notice, but cites two reasons why he should not go into the Army.

Ryan explains that he was turned down by draft officials during World War II "because I had heart trouble." Besides, he adds, he is now 63 years old.

Wake Forest Plans Set Up Ecumenical Institute

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Wake Forest University plans to establish an ecumenical institute which the university president says will show that Southern Baptists "are not in fact spiritual isolationists separated from the mainstream of Christian thought."

President J. Ralph Scales said the institute would have as its director former Arkansas Congressman Brooks Hays.

Southern Baptists, although members of the largest single Protestant denomination in the United States, have not been in the forefront of the ecumenical movement. They did not send official representatives to Vatican II meetings in Rome.

Scales, a Baptist layman, serving his first year as president, announced plans for the institute Thursday.

The institute will be established March 1, Scales said, and its purpose will be to promote understanding among various Christian groups. It will draw on the resources of the university departments of religion, sociology, history and English.

Farmer Leaves 356 Descendants

CHARLOTTE, Tex. (AP) — Fautino C. Munoz, a Mexican national who moved here in a covered wagon in 1911, died Thursday in a Pleasanton hospital at age 104.

Munoz, who was born Feb. 15, 1863, in Jescas, Zacatecas Mexico, was an active farmer near the South Texas town until he reached the age of 95 in 1958.

Munoz left 356 direct descendants, including two daughters; three sons; 61 grandchildren; 195 great grandchildren; 80 great-great-grandchildren, and 15 great-great-great-grandchildren.

NOW REALLY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John Muir, founder of the Sierra Club and leading conservationist in the fight to save California's redwoods from logger's ripaws, lived in a house built of redwood.

The first seminars are planned for the summer of 1969. Scales said ecumenical studies should not be undertaken "in isolation" and for this reason Wake Forest is offering use of its resources and faculty.

"It is time for an established Baptist institution to give direction of the swirling winds of change in the area of religious thought and action," he said.

Hays, a former special aide to President John F. Kennedy, currently is a visiting professor of politics at the University of Massachusetts. He plans to lecture in political science at Wake Forest as well as direct the ecumenical institute.

Last November, Hays and about a dozen other Southerners formed a Southern Committee on Political Ethics (SCOPE) with its purpose to make Southern politics "more ethical, more dynamic and more just."

Wake Forest College was elevated to university status by its board of trustees last June 12, shortly before Scales took over as president. The school, located in Winston-Salem, is supported by the North Carolina Baptist state convention and has nearly 3,000 students. HP448aes Feb. 2

Institutional Portfolio Managers Gather; Big Wall Street Powers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — From the nation's money centers there flocked here this week the most powerful, glamorous and eager investors in America, the men who make the stock market rise and fall, the managers of institutional portfolios.

Powerful: They own well over 30 per cent of all shares on the New York Stock Exchange. Glamorous? Some doubled their money last year. Eager? Some trade by the day, week or month in quest of quick gains. Such in-out trading is called performance. At all times a good record must be shown, and so the portfolio manager sometimes takes advantage of every swing in the market, swiftly trading thousands of shares at a time.

In so doing, some critics maintain they upset the market, cause volatile price swings, pose a threat to the finances of corporations, crowd out the small investor and even guarantee success by their own trading power.

On the other hand, their shrewd analyses of some stocks is said to be raising the standard of all investment research. They have helped fill pension accounts. They have introduced millions of persons to stock market profits.

Among them were the managers of big mutual funds, administrators of corporate pension plans, conservative insurance men who soon hope to be running mutual funds, and sharp young millionaire brokers. The heads of college endowments mingled in the crowd, since they are now concerned with making money grow, as are the cagey, cautious oldtimers who for years ran the big trusts at a return of one or two per cent a year.

This was the first Institutional Investor Conference and it began as a triumphal one, the past year having been one of big capital gains. But this first meeting glittered only briefly and then turned more somber.

First, stocks were being battered, ironically by their own trading. The high flyers, which had doubled and tripled in a year, were being bombed. In addition, critics had begun to question the management methods of some favorites.

Gustave Levy, New York Stock Exchange chairman, sounded the theme early. Be responsible and professional, he said. Face problems "or others will do it for us because great public interest surrounds a business that handles other peoples' money."

Moore Enthused Over VASCAR

HIGH POINT, N. C. (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore says the new speed-timing device, VASCAR, is "one of the finest additions to the Highway Patrol's efforts in many years."

"I believe the impact of these devices and the effective manner in which the Highway Patrol is utilizing this equipment is evident on our highways this year," Moore told the High Point Lions Club Thursday night.

He said tests had shown VASCAR is efficient and accurate. It enables highway patrolmen to clock the speeds of vehicles moving in any direction by timing them over measured distances while the patrolman is either moving or stationary.

Critics have argued that the device involves too much margin for human error in starting and stopping the timer at exactly the correct time.

Moore said VASCAR tests were made by the Highway Safety Research Center at Chapel Hill. The center put six highway patrolmen trained in VASCAR operation through 175 test

Tenderfeet Are In Demand As Cowboys; Old Hands Quitting

By STEVE BASSETT
Associated Press Writer

PHOENIX (AP) — Some Arizona ranchers are using bankers and lawyers as weekend cowboys and are glad to get them.

Large cattle spreads in southern Arizona are using large numbers of Mexicans as ranch hands.

These are two indications of what has become one of the state's major problems—the disappearing cowboy.

"It's become a very serious problem," says Brad Stewart, president of the Arizona Cattle Growers' Association. "The experienced cowboy is becoming almost nonexistent."

And many of the state's cattlemen believe things will get worse before they get better.

"As the market demands place more emphasis on efficiency," said Stewart, "it means that even more highly trained cowboys will be needed. The problem is, where do we get them?"

Stewart noted that the shortage in some areas has become so acute that dudes are welcomed with open arms—mainly because they work without pay.

"These people, mainly lawyers, bankers, and doctors from the city, come out on weekends just so they can get out into the country," said Stewart. "They're not being turned away."

Ranchers, in order to cope with the labor shortage, have taken a number of steps to ease the problem.

They're stringing more fence in an effort to cut down on labor needs.

Small ranchers are pooling their resources, especially during the spring and fall rounds.

Salary increases have become more pronounced, hopefully to encourage ranch hands to stay on longer.

But the work is hard, the hours long, pay, even with room and board thrown in, is below that of industry, and somehow the romance has disappeared.

"Now the migration is the other way," said Stewart, "to the urban areas, where the pay is better and the work easier."

The bigger Arizona spreads pay as much as $500 a month, including room and board. An experienced ranch hand can ask for and get $350 a month plus eats and bed.

"A big problem is that when a rancher puts on a crew he has to take a man's word for how good he is," said Stewart.

"Once out on the ranch, if he turns out to be a deadbeat, the rancher is stuck with him, thinking he's better than nothing."

Seek Cause Of Fire At Prison

RALEIGH (AP)—Central prison officials are seeking to determine the cause of a fire which broke out in the sign shop Thursday shortly after inmates had left their jobs for the day.

Prison administrator David Henry said the fire caused "a terrific amount of smoke. We haven't estimated the damage."

He said the fire, the second in the prison in recent weeks, apparently started at a vat containing a clearing type chemical. No one was injured.

South salvaged a seemingly hopeless slam contract by applying an unbearable degree of pressure against his right hand opponent in the waning moments of play.

Alto the six heart contract appears doomed to defeat, since declarer is confronted with a loser in each major suit, no blame is to be charged against North and South for their auction. The duplication of values in the diamond suit can hardly be diagnosed. Observe that, if South's queen of diamonds is exchanged for the same card in either spades or hearts, the slam becomes a strong favorite to succeed.

West opened the six of diamonds and declarer won the trick in his hand with the queen. The two top trumps were played as both opponents followed suit, and South then cashed his remaining diamond, followed by the ace, king of spades and the ace, king of clubs, to produce the following position with five cards remaining:

A heart was led giving West his trump trick, and East disposed of the five of diamonds. On the forced diamond return, the four of spades was discarded from dummy; however, East found himself caught in a fatal pincer movement, for he had no safe discard.

If he threw a club, South would ruff the diamond in his hand, cash the queen of clubs, to drop East's ten—and North's seven of hearts and seven of clubs would take the last two tricks.

East chose to give up the nine of spades and declarer ruffed. A spade was trumped with the seven of hearts as East followed suit with the jack, and South reentered his hand with the queen of clubs to cash the seven of spades for his fulfilling trick.

FBI Man There At Bank Robbery

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — While a special FBI agent was inside the U.S. National Bank showing photos of four men who robbed it Jan. 15, four gunmen walked in Thursday.

The quartet escaped with $31,799 as the FBI man, Carl E. Plikvist, fired three shots at their disappearing car.

They apparently were the same men who made off with $18,600 in the other robbery, bank employees said.

ON THE WAY UP

Four years out of college... assistant to a department head... the junior executive considered most likely to succeed.

Fifteen years from now—or twenty—do you think he'll be president of the company?

We haven't the slightest idea. All we know is that, right now, he's on the way up.

Many things determine a man's potential for positions of responsibility and trust; one of them is character.

Character isn't easy to define—it is much easier to recognize. This man goes to church every Sunday... not because he is seeking character... but because he is seeking God.

And the people who know him best figure that is one of the clearest marks of his character.

Devlin, Zarley Lead By Three

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Golfer Billy Casper examined the scoreboard at the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic and observed: "You'd have to think the green and the black scores are in good condition."

To explain this mystifying remark, it must be explained that in what has been called a computer's dream tournament, there are four courses in play and, to distinguish them on the scoreboard, each course has its own color.

Green is the color for La Quinta and black is El Dorado, which are considered the two toughest to play. Indian Wells is red and Bermuda Dunes is blue for the two less difficult layouts.

Among the better players who have now played the green and the black are Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer and Casper himself, as well as Bruce Devlin.

Indian Wells awaits them in today's third round, the Bermuda Dunes Saturday and again for the final of the five rounds Sunday.

Brewer, with a 69, was in a tie at 141, three shots off the pace, and Palmer, with a 70, and Casper, 72, were in the 142 ranks.

South Carolina Can't Take Wake For Granted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With that big victory over ninth-ranked Duke behind them, South Carolina's Gamecocks prepared today for a trip to Winston-Salem and a game with a Wake Forest team that can't be taken for granted.

The South Carolina - Wake Forest game Saturday afternoon will be this week's regionally televised Atlantic Coast Conference game.

South Carolina, victors over Duke 83-80 on Tuesday night, will be trying to defeat the Deacons for a second time this season. The Gamecocks won their Jan. 10 home meeting 88-73.

Wake Forest has had its ups and downs this season and is generally considered better than their 2-4 ACC record would indicate. South Carolina is 5-2 in the conference.

Deacon Coach Jack McCloskey said Thursday he has yet to realize "maximum performance" from his players. The Wake Forest starting five usually includes three sophomores. "But we're going to change," he said. "I know we can be successful. It's a matter of being patient but I am not a patient man. I want to win not today but yesterday."

One of Wake Forest's sophomore starters, Dickie Walker, is the team's high scorer. He is averaging 19.4 points a game and is ranked fifth on the list of ACC scoring leaders.

But South Carolina has three of its starters among the conference's top 10 high scorers—Frank Standard (20.0 points a game), Skip Harlicka (18.8) and Gary Gregor (18.6). The trio combined for 54 points in South Carolina's victory over the Duke Blue Devils.

Duke tied South Carolina for second place in the ACC with its fifth conference victory Thursday night, dumping the Virginia Cavaliers 90-78. Mike Lewis scored 26 points and Joe Kennedy had 24 for the victors.

Virginia had a one-point advantage at intermission and battled all the way. Duke led by only two points, 80-78, with 2:20 remaining. The loss dropped the Cavaliers to a 3-5 mark in the ACC.

North Carolina's third-ranked Tar Heels came from behind in the second half to whip independent Florida State University 86-80 at Chapel Hill. It was their 11th consecutive victory and Larry Miller was North Carolina's high scorer with 24 points.

In Thursday night's other game involving an ACC member, Clemson bowed to Georgia Tech 99-64. Junior Rich Mahaffey led the Tigers with 21 points.

High School Swimmers At EC

The 13th Annual East Carolina University High School Swimming and diving championships will be held here Saturday February 3 at Minges Natatorium.

A total of 21 teams, including defending champion Grimsley High from Greensboro, have entered the meet.

Eight Virginia teams are entered. They are Norview of Norfolk, Kecoughton of Hampton, Maury High, Granby High, and Catholic High of Norfolk, W.T. Woodson and Annandale High of Alexandria and Hampton High.

Besides Grimsley, other North Carolina teams are North and South Mecklenburg of Charlotte, Fayetteville High, Rose High of Greenville, Chapel Hill High, Page High of Greensboro, Granger High of Winston, Whitefield High, Sanford High and Smith High and Myers Park High of Charlotte. Woodrow Wilson High of Levittown, Pennsylvania, is also entered.

and Butch Zatezalo added 19 as Clemson lost its 11th of 14 games this season.

No ACC teams play tonight.

Thinclads Go To VMI Meet

Coach Bill Carson will take a 21-man East Carolina University track squad to Lexington, Va., Saturday for the Virginia Military Institute's relays.

"If Don Jayroe is able to overcome a knee injury, our distance medley relay team should give us our strongest entry," Carson said.

Charles Hudson in the 880, Jayroe in the 3/4 mile and Ken Voss in the mile will make the relay team if Jayroe's knee is stable.

Carson also expects to have a strong 440 team and a 880 team in the meet and anticipates good performances from Jim Cargill in the high hurdles, Pete Moe in the high and triple jumps, Dennis Moody in the shot put and Ed Whyte and Clem Williams in the long jump.

Teams besides East Carolina which are entered include Maryland, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia Tech, Duke, Wake Forest, N.C. State, East Tennessee, and all the Southern Conference schools.

"Anyone who places in any event in this meet will have done a good job," Carson said.

Bucs Challenge Tough Florida State Cagers

The East Carolina University Pirates, after two straight losses, head into even rougher water Saturday afternoon, as the Pirate ship lands in Tallahassee, Fla., to meet the Florida State Seminoles.

East Carolina lost to High Point, 83-77, Wednesday night, after dropping their last home game, 77-60, to Southern Conference leader West Virginia.

Florida State, which had a 10-game winning streak snapped on Thursday, will be one of the toughest opponents the Bucs have run into this year. Thursday night, FSU was edged by third-ranked North Carolina, 86-60, in a tight ball game. Only in the final few minutes were the Tar Heels able to shake loose from the Seminoles to take the victory.

The Seminoles have the reputation of being a high scoring team, passing the century mark on five occasions, while posting a 12-5 record. One of the big victories was over Louisiana State University and hot-shooting Pete Maravich. That game ended in a 130-100 score, one of the top totals in the nation this season.

All five of the Florida State starters are averaging in double figures, Dave Cowens, a 6-8 sophomore leading the way.

Cowens, however, was held to 16 against Carolina, but guard Jeff Hogan poured in 25.

Cowens, however, is rated as one of the top sophomores in the country, and the Pirates will have their hands full with him and the other members of the team.

Cowens, along with several other sophomores on the squad, have made the Seminoles one of the top independents in the South this year, and appear headed for an NCAA or NIT Tournament berth.

East Carolina continued to have its troubles in getting a full performance out of some of its players. Vince Colbert has sat on the bench lately because of foul troubles, but continues to play at full strength when in the game.

Charlie Alford is still the leading scorer and rebounder, hitting over 15 points per game and pulling down just over 10 rebounds a game. Earl Thompson, after several low scoring games, led the Bucs against High Point with 18 points.

Leaders Post City Loop Wins

Holt's, Hazelton, Book Barn and Womack picked up victories in City League action last night.

Womack bombed Harris-Evans, 92-47, while Book Barn downed Whitehurst, 72-52. Hazelton defeated Coca-Cola, 72-48, and unbeaten Holt's rolled over Home Builders, 84-49.

In the opener, Holt's shot away to a 47-19 lead in the first half. Then in the second frame, Holt's outscored Home Builders, 37-30, to take the win. Riddick led Holt's with 20 points, while Alexander had 18, Hardee had 16 and Worthington had 10. Home Builders was led by Nelson with 12.

Hazelton took a 31-20 lead in the first period, then stormed away, 41-28, in the second half for the 72-48 victory. Moore led Hazelton with 22, while Jox had 15 and Waters had 11. Hardee had 19 and Hodges had 10 for Coke.

The Book Barn built up a 30-16 lead in the first half, then coasted through the second half, 44-36, for an easy victory over Whitehurst. Book Barn was led by Fuller with 24, while Clark had 18 and Hendershot had 13. Whitehurst led his team with 22, while Thomas had 11 and Lewis had 10.

In the night's finale, Womack fought to a 37-20 lead at the half, then dumped in 55 points in the second half, while Harris-Evans could get only 27. Claybrook led the winners with 29, while Baton had 20, Dunn had 16, Jordan had 11 and Solson

Florida Swimmers Splash Pirates

The tough University of Florida swimming team gained a 66-47 victory over East Carolina University here last night.

It was the 13th meeting between the two schools, and marked the 13th straight win for the Gators, one of the top swimming schools in the South. Florida appears to like the number 13, going for the Southeastern Conference title for the 13th straight time this year also.

East Carolina managed to take first in just three events against the Gators, who won 10 events.

U.S. Girls Are Not Easy To Scare

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — They call them the Chewing Gum Kids. They've been here less than 24 hours and already they're the talk of this village where the Alpine events in the Winter Olympic Games start next week.

"They're not scared of the devil himself," said Bob Beattie, the coach of the U.S. Alpine team.

They are Cathy "Kiki" Cutter of Aspen, Colo., 18, and Judy Nagel, 16, of Enumclaw, Wash., daughter of an Olympic veteran.

Before the Christmas holidays they had no idea they might be going to the United States in the Games, opening here Tuesday. Then injuries beset the American international squad, training in Europe, and Beattie made a hurried trip to the States to look for some help. "I decided to attend the junior championships," Beattie said. "Teen-agers Kiki and Judy plus Erica Skinger of Stowe, Vt. were told to grab their skis and get to Europe as fast as they could."

Racing in Europe for the first time against such seasoned international stars as Nancy Greene of Canada, Marielle Goitschel of France and Gertraud Gabl, they astounded the experts by finishing among the leaders.

Kiki is just a slip of a girl with straight, short hair hanging just below her ears. She walks with a boyish bounce and chews gum constantly.

Judy looks like a little girl playing hooky from grade school. She is fresh and talkative. She chews gum constantly. Asked whether she felt nervous going against the world's most experienced Alpine skiers, Judy shrugged her shoulders and said, "It's just another race."

Hayes (39 Points) Not Happy With His Game

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston's Elvin Hayes was not satisfied with his performance in New York's Madison Square Garden, but neither was opposing Marshall, so the Big E must have done something right.

Whatever he did, it got him 39 points and 19 rebounds, enough to run the top-ranked Cougars past the Thundering Herd 102-93 Thursday night for their 20th college basketball victory without a loss.

Houston, although in command from the early moments, never could shake hustling Marshall, but still had an easier time than third-ranked North Carolina, which came from behind twice in the last half to beat visiting Florida State 86-80. The only other ranking team in action, Duke, No. 9, also had its hands full before subdividing Virginia 90-78 in Charlottesville.

Hayes, a 6-foot-2, 235-pound All-American, connected on 16 of 29 shots from the field, but most of them were short jumpers or rebounds as he seldom moved outcourt against the smaller Thundering Herd.

"I was looking forward to playing in the Garden," he said. "I had 22 points here two years ago, but I didn't think I had a good night."

"I think I played well tonight, but I could have played better. I don't think we were as up to tonight as we were for UCLA. How could we be?"

Controlling the backboards and with Hayes hitting 17 points, the Cougars turned a 12-10 deficit into a 48-39 halftime lead that later grew to 65-49. But they couldn't break it open and Marshall pulled within 85-81 before Hayes' four points paced an eight-point surge and then he scored Houston's last seven points.

The game was the opener of a doubleheader in which Army trounced New York U. 75-51 in the nightcap for its eighth straight victory and a 14-3 record.

North Carolina, winning for the 13th time in 14 starts, led 46-40 at the half, but had to make up 63-61 and 76-75 deficits. Four consecutive points gave the Tar Heels a 79-76 lead they never gave up.

Larry Miller had 24 points for North Carolina.

Duke, upset Tuesday night by South Carolina, had trouble again as Virginia held a 72-70 edge before Mike Lewis hit a basket and Steve Vandenberg dropped four straight free throws. Then with the score 80-78, Duke scored the last 10 points of the game.

Lewis finished with 26 points. Tulsa pulled away from a North Texas State press in the second half for a 70-57 victory in Denton, Tex. Rob Washington had 23 points for Tulsa.

Don May notched 31 points to lead Dayton to a 98-60 rout over visiting Miami of Florida.

Oklahoma City, playing at home and led by Ardel England's 30 points, pulled away

New Mexico State blew a 19-point lead at home and had to break a 78-all tie for a 95-87 victory over Hardin-Simmons. It was the Aggies' 17th triumph in 19 games.

Richmond Rally Bests Colonials

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One reason George Washington's Colonials are sadly short on basketball victories this season, is that, for them at least, the game is just a bit too long.

If someone would chop a few minutes off the last half, GW wouldn't be in the Southern Conference cellar with a 1-9 record. Twice in less than a week, the Colonials have lost games simply by giving out of points.

The height of something or other, however, came Thursday night when George Washington, ahead 79-73 with only 61 seconds left, yielded eight points to the Spiders in that span and were beaten 81-79.

The GW-Richmond game was the only one scheduled for Southern Conference teams Thursday night. The Citadel, 3-2 in SC play and 8-8 over-all, visits VMI 4-3, 5-7, in tonight's only action.

Lombardi Retires As Coach; Bengtson Named

By KEN HARTNETT

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi, the Brooklyn-born miracle man who built football's mightiest dynasty in this small city on Green Bay, has retired to the executive suite after nine smash seasons as Packer head coach.

From now on, Lombardi, 54, will be only the general manager of the team he coached to five National Football League titles in those years. The new head coach will be Phil Bengtson, 56, the designer of the Packers' stifling defenses.

It was the first time Lombardi, absolute ruler of Green Bay football as coach and general manager, ever delegated a major share of his authority.

Bengtson was sure Lombardi would not interfere with the running of the team.

"Our relationship has been very close and there's been a very real understanding between us as long as we've been together," Bengtson said.

"I realize I will be succeeding a remarkable man as coach of a team with a record probably unequaled in the history of football," Bengtson said. "I hope we will be able to continue the winning tradition of the Packers."

The one-time Minnesota star, who admitted having turned down previous head coaching offers, spoke immediately after Lombardi told Packer directors and newsmen of his decision Thursday night.

He had made up his mind, Lombardi said, "only after a great deal of thought and study."

"Because of the nature and growth of the business and the corporate structure of the Packers, I believe it is impractical for me to try to do both jobs. I feel I must relinquish one of them," he said.

Lombardi's emotion showed only momentarily during his three-minute talk. When it was over, tears were noticeable in his eyes.

The indomitable Lombardi, the only man ever to coach a team to three straight titles since the NFL adopted the playoff system in 1933, said he was flattered by the number of people who attended his news conference and dinner. "This started out as a routine press release, believe me," he said to the gathering of more than 100 persons.

Lombardi, who took over a team that had won only one game in 1958 and turned it into a contender almost overnight and a champion within three years, leaves after nine straight winning seasons.

His Packer teams won 89 regular season games, lost only 29 and tied four. The Packers captured six Western Conference tities as well as five league titles and for the past two seasons have won world titles by beating the American Football League champions in the Super Bowl.

Bengtson, believed close to Lombardi in football outlook, said he planned no major departures from traditional Packer patterns.

Packer players don't expect any changes either. Bengtson indicated he would, at least for the time being, continue to run the defense. For the past nine seasons he has called all the Packer defensive signals.

Promoter Wants New Officials

OAKLAND (AP) — Don Char- gin, promoter of the Thad Spencer-Jerry Quarry heavy-weight elimination series fight Saturday, would like to see new officials in the ring, and at ringside.

"We need a new set of officials to improve the scoring," he told newsmen. "and I'd like to see a school for referees. An ex-fighter doesn't always make the best referee."

Quarry fought a disputed 10-round draw with former champion Floyd Patterson in their first fight and then scored a close 12-round decision over Patterson in their second meeting.

There has been man-in-the-street speculation that Quarry would get the officials' verdict in a close fight on the contention he is a sentimental favorite here — and that the officials could be swayed by applause.

Spencer, 24, 203 with a 32-7 record, is a San Franciscan but never has drawn well there.

Quarry, 22, now a Los Angeles resident spent his boyhood in the San Francisco Bay area. He weighs 193 and has a 25-14 record.

Saturday's fight, scheduled for 5 p.m. EST, will be televised to the United States and Mexico City and, via Satellite, to Europe and Japan. Northern California will be blacked out.

NCAATurnsDown Fed Peace Plan

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A peace between the two battling, major regulatory bodies in amateur athletics has failed to materialize despite a formula devised by a federal sports arbitration board which spent the past 26 months mediating the feud.

Just 5½ hours after the board —headed by labor mediator Theodore Kheel—made its recommendations public, one of the organizations issued a statement saying it would continue to operate as it had in the past.

The board established in its 29-page report three categories of track meets in this country—with varying sanctions. And it proposed a five-year binding arrangement in an effort to settle the dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The NCAA and the AAU have been feuding for the past half century but the battle has become increasingly heated during the past few years. If anything, it has worsened during recent weeks.

The nation's track and field performers, who will carry American prestige into the Olympic Games at Mexico City this fall, are the key issue in the dispute.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said his panel might have to consider legislation to solve the dispute if all the factions involved did not accept the findings of the arbitration board.

Despite the threat, however, the U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the NCAA, issued a statement Thursday night in which it said it "will without obtaining AAU sanction, as long as they are confined to full-time students."

In its report, the board gave the AAU the sole sanctioning right for all open meets—those involving athletes from other countries and nonstudents.

It gave the USTFF the right to run closed meets, without AAU sanction, as long as they are confined to full-time students.

A third category of meets also was established by the board—open domestic competition. The USTFF could sponsor these meets but would need the sanction of the AAU, which would be automatic if the collegiate federation satisfied all the union's international requirements.

Kheel had said the board would assist during the changeover period in clarifying its ruling but "we are not about to renegotiate this decision."

The Rev. Wilfred Crowley, USTFF president, said he is elated that the board unanimously recognized the need for a single purpose track and field organization but "it is regrettable that the board and the Senate Commerce Committee have failed to pursue what is obviously the only solution to the problem."

The board conceded the ideal situation would be for a single organization to govern the sport, but added it has no hope of this.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said: "After listening to all of the organizations that make up the USTFF, I am convinced that the federation will not accept any decision which restricts the rights of the track and field organizations to conduct bona fide track meets for their own members."

David Matlin, AAU president, said he would not comment until he had read the entire decision.

However, Col. Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU, said: "The point that we have been trying to make is that open meets have to be sanctioned by the AAU. The board says that. That's what we've been fighting for."

Only The Coffin Makers Are Open

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The only shops open in Saigon today were the coffin makers. Business was brisk.

Watchful Vietnamese soldiers stood guard as the artisans worked busily to meet the demand resulting from the devastating battles that have swept across the suburbs of South Vietnam's capital this week.

All other shops and businesses in the city of three million people have been ordered closed during the crisis. The population was told to stay indoors under a 24-hour curfew.

Vietnamese police and soldiers fired into the air to break up knots of curious bystanders that gathered on some streets. Roads leading to many government and U.S. buildings in the heart of the city were blocked off.

Cars and trucks pulled up at the half dozen coffin shops. Tearful relatives loaded the brown varnished boxes, decorated with highly colored religious symbols.

No official count has been given of the number of civilians killed in the fighting. The three main public hospitals reported more than 100 dead in their morgues. Scores more were known to be inside the blocks of squatters' shacks and refugee houses devastated by mortar and helicopter fire on the northwestern and southwestern outskirts of the city.

Hundreds of dead Viet Cong lay in the city's alleys. There were no coffins for them, only communal graves outside the city.

Hundreds of civilians have been wounded in the fighting. The medical director of the Seventh Day Adventist Hospital on one edge of Saigon, Dr. Jess C. Holm, said: "We have 40 beds for 75 patients. We haven't turned anyone away. We'll put them in the chapel at the back of the hospital if we have to."

Most of the wounded civilians were being taken to the two public hospitals still open. At noon today fighting raged around the largest public hospital, Cho Ray, in Cholon, the Chinese quarter, and patients could not be moved inside.

Military and civilian ambulances began to move into some of the devastated slum areas to seek out civilians wounded as long as two days ago.

One convoy of five ambulances sped through the center of the city, packed with wounded.

Sniper fire could still be heard in the center of Saigon, and police and soldiers were nervous. Refugees poured in from the western suburbs.

RALEIGH (AP) — Don't look for many innovations in North Carolina's gubernatorial campaign this year.

There aren't likely to be any. Strategy planners for the candidates plan to stick pretty much to tried and true methods of vote-seeking.

That means there'll be plenty of handshaking, a lot of speech-making, and a dash of appearances on television.

Only two of the five candidates have campaigned for public office previously.

Those two — Lt. Gov. Bob

Scott, a Democrat, and U.S. Rep. Jim Gardner, a Republican — have built up particular styles.

The three others—Republican Jack Stickley and Democrats Mel Proughton Jr. and Dr. Reginald A. Hawkins—are to some extent still developing theirs.

Scott's campaign manager, James Johnson, says Scott won't change his style at all.

"He was elected lieutenant governor in the last campaign by running a person-to-person campaign and that's what he'll do this time," Johnson says.

"You can't argue with success."

Gardner is likely to alter his campaign style slightly and appear on television more.

"His time for campaigning is going to be limited because of his congressional duties," says Gardner's campaign manager, John Hutchins.

"He'll make personal appearances as much as possible, but that will depend on how much time he can be away from Congress."

Hutchins says the Gardner organization may prepare stand-ins to take over should Gardner not be able to make a scheduled appearance.

Broughton, like Scott the son of a former governor, and Stickley, 65-year-old Charlotte yarn broker, have been following the established pattern of campaigning and are likely to continue to do so.

Hawkins, dentist, minister, civil rights leader and the first Negro gubernatorial candidate since Reconstruction, will carry on the type campaign used by most political longshots, with perhaps a few slightly different approaches.

Hawkins says he'll depend almost exclusively on personal appearances, and most of them will be at night and on week-ends "because I'm out to reach the working man who can't attend a meeting in the middle of the day."

The different approaches Hawkins uses may be in the way the meetings are conducted, with a likelihood that they'll include song-singing and other typical features of civil rights gatherings.

Point Illustrated, Sign Too Small

DALLAS, N.C. (AP) — Residents of the small North Carolina community of Dallas had been clamoring for a sign on Interstate 85 pointing the way to their town. But when the State Highway Department erected the sign this week there was more dissent. Mayor David Hoyle said the sign is so small it looks like a postage stamp.

He was explaining his views to newsmen near the sign Thursday when a passing motorist stopped his car and yelled, "Can you tell me how to get to Dallas?"

Go Underwater In Space Study

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists from Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. have gone underwater to study the problems of working in space. Project leader for the underwater work, John H. Duddy, explained that with the correct placement of weights on his torso, arms and legs, a man can submerge in water and experience neutral buoyancy similar to the weightless condition astronauts experience in space.

The Worry Clinic
Communist Thinking Was Tried; It Failed

Gov. Bradford tells how the Pilgrims entered into a Communist pact and failed miserably. When they shifted two years later to an American "free enterprise" system, they zoomed out and as a result, held that famous Thanksgiving feast which we commemorate every November. Send for the booklet below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE E-576: William Bradford was the second governor of our famous Plymouth Colony. He wrote a little book entitled "Of Plimoth Plantation."

Therein he mentioned that the Pilgrims entered into the Mayflower Compact, which was an experiment in Communism.

Nobody owned any land and they shared the crops alike, even if one man worked hard and the other shirked his duties, or was bedfast with illness.

The plan was a complete flop!

Governor Bradford wrote that this Mayflower Communist plan:

"...was found to breed much confusion and discontent, and retard employment that would have been to their benefits and comforts.

"For the young men that were most able and fittest for labor and service did repine that they would spend their time and strength to work for other men's wives and children, without recompense."

Instead of a Thanksgiving feast in 1622, there was literal starvation and hopelessly low morale.

So they had a pow wow and decided to try our typical American "free enterprise" system. Governor Bradford then assigned to every family its own parcel of land and let them keep what they raised.

"This had very good success," added Governor Bradford, "for it made all hands industrious, so as much more corn was planted than otherwise would have been."

That fall (1622) they had their great Thanksgiving feast!

Governor Bradford then remarked that this experiment: "...may well evince the Vanities of that conceit of Plato's and other ancients, applauded by some of later times—that the taking away of property, and bringing in Community into a common wealth would make them happy and flourishing; as if they were wiser than God!"

One of our modern great patriotic orators and radio analysts, Dr. W. S. McBurnie of California, suggests that this experiment in Communism by our early Pilgrims should be explained in all our schools.

For Socialism is now trying to destroy our American system, even while it deludes people by its open attack on Communism. Actually, there is but a hair's breadth separating the two!

In Socialism, the government owns the agencies for the production, manufacture and distribution, but you can have title to your own home.

In Communism, the government owns the agencies for the production, manufacture and distribution, but also owns the land.

But when the government controls the jobs, your technical ownership of a house and lot will afford you no more sustenance than your cemetery lot!

Socialism launched its campaign in 1905, with talented authors, university professors and theologians, dedicated to overthrow our wonderful economic system.

Yet Governor Bradford showed the folly of such unAmerican views back in 1622.

One reason we are financing the major philanthropy and U. N. work around the world is the fact that "free enterprise" offers more food, more money and more freedoms than any other system on this planet.

Ferry Resumes Regular Runs

RALEIGH—The State Highway Commission announced today that the Bogue Sound-Emerald Isle Ferry has resumed normal operation and its regular schedule after being out of service for four weeks.

While the ferryboat was out of service, improvements were made to ramps and docking facilities at the Bogue Sound-Emerald Isle ferry terminals.

Assistant Chief Engineer Ivan Hardesty said that additional improvements will be made, but they are of such a nature that they can be completed with the ferry in operation.

State Highway Commissioner W. W. Exum of Snow Hill said: "With the conclusion of these improvements, we believe that the ferry will operate more efficiently and therefore we can offer improved service to both local residents and visitors to the area."

The Bogue Sound-Emerald Isle ferry schedule is as follows:

Leave Mainland Side: 5:00 a. m. thru 12:00 midnight.
Leave Beach Side: 5:30 a. m. thru 12:30 a. m.

Additional trips on weekends and holidays as traffic requires.

OSAKA, Japan (UPI)—An Osaka real estate dealer was beaten by eight men who claimed he swindled them out of $278,000.

The dealer managed to escape and ran to the nearest police station to report the beating and confess to the swindling.

Road Signs Have Very Short Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—How long do road signs last? Not long, according to a recent survey by L.B. Foster Co.

The average sign has a life expectancy of from three to five years. After that, the message begins to fade. And not all signs last that long. Of those that don't, 10 per cent are damaged in traffic mishaps and 20 to 30 per cent are shot up or defaced by vandals.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets weaker. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 37-38; medium, whites: 34-36; small, whites: 30-32.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog market was mostly steady today. Tops of 18.25 - 18.75, Rocky Mount; 18.00-18.75, Wilson; 17.50 - 18.50, Bethel; 17.50-18.25, Statesville; 17.50-18.00, Hickory; 18.25, Salisbury, Goldsboro; 18.00, Greensboro; 17.75, Siler City, Denton, Selma.

NEW YORK (AP)—A technical rally continued in the stock market today but the best gains were being trimmed early in the afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses by a comfortable ratio of 7 to 4. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.37 at 863.73. Earlier it was up between three and four points.

Blue chips and the glamorous "flyers" joined together in a resumption of the Thursday rally. Aside from what analysts called the "oversold" condition of the market, some credit for renewed optimism was given to news that the U.S. is willing to negotiate at the Korean Armistice Commission in Panmunjom for the release of the Pueblo and her crew.

The approach of the weekend and the shortness of the session caused some preliminary selling which blunted the advance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3

at 315.7 with industrials up .9, rails up .3 and utilities off .3.

Polaroid spurted 4 points and Xerox about 2.

IBM, however, erased an early gain of a couple of points and showed a net loss of 4 points or more. Nervous traders were obviously at work in IBM as well as some others which have been showing strong rebounds.

SCM Corp. dropped 3, Tele-View 2, Eastman Kodak 2 and Control Data more than a point.

United Aircraft and Standard Oil of California held gains of more than a point.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

Grader Hearing Resumes Feb. 17

RALEIGH (AP) — A public hearing into allegations that several manufacturers and distributors were excluded from bidding on a $15 million road grader contract will resume after Feb. 17.

State Sen. Thomas White, D-Lenoir, chairman of the North Carolina Board of Award which is holding the hearing, said at the close of Thursday's session he will set another hearing date within the next two weeks.

James H. Tiller, sales manager for Galion Iron Works of Ohio, testified at the Thursday session that no manufacturer or distributor was prevented from submitting a bid in the state's Dec. 15 bid opening.

Ask Capp . . .

Theater of World War II, had tented with an Al Capp relative on Iwo Jima. Martin Davidson, Capp reported Thursday night, now is business manager for Scientific American, a national magazine based in New York City. Dr. Jenkins had lost contact with Davidson. Next trip to the city, though, he plans to look him up.

The University gets some national publicity out of Capp's visit. Campus technicians, at the request of NBC Radio, recorded the lecture program to be excerpted for the national network's "Emphasis" series (similar to CBS's "Dimension") heard locally on WNCN-AM.

Also during his ECU visit, Capp agreed to a long interview with the university's national award-winning literary magazine, The Rebel. The interview will appear in a near-future issue of the quarterly.

His lecture climaxed the visit. He spoke and the audience roared back from 8 until just past 9. Then the reception lasted 'til about 10.

One estimate was that about 80 per cent of the audience was students with the remaining 20 per cent about evenly divided between faculty and townspeople.

The audience seemed in complete agreement that Capp's presentation made for good entertainment and even light food for thought. One official said, "He's fun but just too expensive for a one-hour lecture." (Capps gets $2,000.) Said another, "We'll make up for that in fringe benefits we picked up during the two days he was here."

Firemen Respond To Two Alarms

Greenville firemen responded to two alarms yesterday.

First of the calls was to 1200 West 12th St. where officers said a pilot light on a gas stove ignited glue being placed on kitchen counter tops there to stick plastic counter - top covering down.

That fire was out on arrival and only minor damage was reported. Officers said Box 221 at the intersection of 12th and Clark Streets was sounded for the 11 a.m. fire.

Box 224 at the intersection of 14th and Greene Streets was pulled for a 7:15 p.m. fire at 206 West 15th Street, officers said.

Firemen reported a minor fire broke out while gas was being pumped into the tank of a car at that address.

No damage was reported.

Some 250 Attended Memorial Service

This university community paid its last respects to Mary H. Greene in a late afternoon memorial service held in Old Austin Auditorium on the campus of East Carolina University. About 250 persons attended.

Miss Greene, who died in a fire at her home last Sunday before dawn, served on the East Carolina faculty for 40 years. She taught English and for nearly 20 years was director of the news bureau.

In the service ECU President Leo W. Jenkins said of Miss Greene: "She was loved and admired by her associates, students and the professionals in the newspaper world."

He read a letter from Dr. Amos Abrams, editor of N. C. Education, and said: "I fully agree with Doc Abrams that there are not many Mary Greenes left in this world; in fact, there never were many born."

Dr. Meredith N. Posey, chairman emeritus of the ECU English department, said Miss Greene "poured her heart and soul into her work" and left an enduring memory with many as a "pleasant, witty, knowledgeable, warm-hearted friend."

Janice G. Hardison, a colleague of Miss Greene's on the English faculty and a former student in her classes, said Miss Greene gave the best of her life to her students. Those she influenced, Miss Hardison said, remember her "kindly, fondly, lovingly" and will honor her memory by carrying on the ideals she exemplified.

D. D. (Jack) Gross, director of religious activities at ECU, conducted the half-hour service. The University Women's Glee Club sang two selections.

Trainers will be: Miss Judy Parrish, District Adviser and Senior Planning Board Adviser; Mrs. Carl Hammer, Council Training Coordinator; and Miss Jo Hervey, Executive Director. Jack Hankins of Radio Station WELS, Kinston will serve as special consultant for the Public Relations Aide group.

The Coastal Carolina Council is a United Fund Agency.
