U.S. And North Koreans Again In Secret Parley

SEOUL (AP) — The United States and North Korea held their fourth secret meeting at Panmunjom today on the seizure of the Pueblo, South Korean sources reported. U. S. troops halted 400 South Korean students trying to march on Panmunjom to protest the negotiations.

tions broke out in Seoul this week for the first time in five years after South Korean officials accused the United States of slighting South Korea's cause in the secret talks. American officials have been holding at Panmunjom with the North Koreans since last Friday.

The South Korean sources said the secret meeting preceded an open session and asserted the United States handed over an apology to the Communists. A U.S. military spokesman denied this. But he did not deny a secret meeting was held.

Korean officials did an about-face today and withdrew much of their criticism. But the clash between the students and American soldiers was certain to inflame public opinion.

Some Army Reserve Units Are Disbanded

CHARLOTTE (AP)—About 1,600 officers and enlisted men of North and South Carolina Army reserve units have been released after a "streamlining" of reserve forces.

The 20 reserve units effected have been disbanded and their men will fill vacancies either in units to be created this year or in existing units, a spokesman for the Third Army in Atlanta said Tuesday.

Unemployment At 15-Year Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped to 3.7 per cent last month, the lowest level in almost 15 years, the Labor Department reported today.

Greenville firemen were called to 2401 East Third St. this morning when a boiler supplying hot water for heat in the apartment building exploded.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, calling federal enforcement of narcotic laws "fragmented," asked Congress today to create "a new and powerful Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs."

RALEIGH (AP)—Income tax and sales tax receipts led the way as North Carolina's General Fund collected $53.8 million in January, an increase of $6 million over January, 1967.

Campaign Against Cities Is Dying Down Special Forces Camp Battles Red Tanks Joining Massive Assault

By GEORGE ESPER SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent their Russian tanks into the Vietnam war today, apparently for the first time, against South Vietnamese irregulars and their American Green Beret advisers fighting furiously to hold onto a Special Forces camp in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Reports from Da Nang said a Special Forces sergeant had radioed that only five of the 25 Americans in the Lang Vei camp were still alive—ne and four others in the headquarters bunker. He reported a knocked-out tank was on top of the bunker.

The U.S. Command said Lang Vei's defenders destroyed five of the nine Russian T34 tanks sent against them.

Filibuster Over Civil Rights Is Again In Offing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A filibuster against the administration's civil rights bill is taking shape following defeat of a substitute measure backed by Deep South senators and introduction of an open housing proposal.

The administration bill would make it a federal crime to interfere by force or threats with the exercise of specifically enumerated rights because of a person's race, color, religion or national origin.

The massive assault on Lang Vei, four miles west of Khe Sanh, could be the kickoff of the long anticipated offensive along the northern frontier, which Gen. William C. Westmoreland has predicted will be the biggest enemy push of the war, exceeding the furious assaults on South Vietnamese cities and towns last week.

After three weeks of desultory debate, there were these rapid-fire developments Tuesday on the bill aimed at protecting Negroes and civil rights workers against racial violence:

Ervin's substitute would provide like protection for all citizens, not just members of minority groups. It also would not have included state activities among protected rights.

The campaign against the cities, the largest enemy offensive so far, has died down at most points after eight days, but Viet Cong forces still fought stubbornly in Saigon and Hue.

The Senate voted 54 to 29 to table and thus kill a substitute offered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C.

The open housing amendment offered by Mondale and Brooke adheres to one by President Johnson except for the exemption of owner-occupied dwellings with up to four units. Otherwise, over a three-year period, the ban on discrimination would apply to all housing.

The U.S. Command said the enemy death toll in the past eight days reached 22,748 by midnight Tuesday. It said 1,768 allied troops have been killed, including 614 Americans and 1,130 South Vietnamese.

Letters Warn Schools Of Guidelines

RALEIGH (AP) — Letters have been sent almost a third of North Carolina's 160 public school systems warning they may not be operating in compliance with federal desegregation guidelines.

Ervin's substitute would provide like protection for all citizens, not just members of minority groups. It also would not have included state activities among protected rights.

The camp was kept under aerial observation all day, but visibility was poor. A ground patrol in the area also reported radio contact with men inside the camp.

Hearings On Tobacco Marketing Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hearings on a proposed federal marketing order of flue-cured tobacco will start in late February, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said Tuesday.

The major purpose of the hearings Freeman said is to give "farmers, warehouses, manufacturers, exporters and others interested in flue-cured tobacco an opportunity to make their views known" as to the desirability of a marketing order.

Long On Dollars, Short On Sense

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: I am dating a gentleman who is quite well-to-do, but he has a thing about money. He's not really cheap or anything like that, but he always makes sure I know how much he spends on me.
 For instance, he gave me a nice Christmas present, but afterwards he said, "You know, your gift cost me $75?" And if he takes me to dinner and a movie, he later says, "Would you believe that evening set me back $30?"
 I enjoy this man's company, Abby, but his always bringing up money makes me feel uncomfortable. My father says he will make a good husband. My mother says he won't. What do you say?

 DEAR DIANE: I say that a man who makes you feel "uncomfortable" about money when he's courting you will make you feel miserable about money if you marry him. He may be long on dollars, but he sounds short on sense.
 DEAR ABBY: I used to think that only unhappily married women became attracted to other men.
 I love my husband very much and have a near-perfect marriage, but for a year now I have been fighting a terrible attraction for another man.
 When I first realized how I felt about him I was so upset with myself I couldn't sleep. I became extremely irritable and disgusted with myself. Then I told myself that it was only natural to find this man attractive, that he was just a friend and that is all I'd ever want him to be. So I avoided him as much as possible but still tried to be friendly so no one would notice.

 Just about the time I thought I had my thinking straightened out, my emotions flared up again, and I was back where I started from. I don't understand myself. I have no desire to ruin my marriage, but this is driving me crazy and I don't know what to do.
 I need some suggestions as this battle with myself has been going on too long.

BEWILDERED: Keep talking to yourself, Sister. And tell yourself that this is the stuff of which broken marriages (and broken hearts) are made. Believe me, it is.
DEAR ABBY: My husband is in business in another town, which is about a two-hour drive from here, so he comes home only on week-ends.
 Everything was working out fine until about six months ago when he started bringing me "presents." You see, during the week my husband stays at a trailer court, which is located near the city dump, so every time he comes home he has the trunk of his car filled with junk he's picked up from the dump.

 Last week he brought home some moldy shower curtains, hard paint brushes, some rusty nails, and old rags. And Abby, he puts all this stuff in our basement!
 If I try to throw anything out there's a big fight. We live in a new home, and I want it to look nice. I never had a moth before, but now I am seeing spiders in my basement and even silver fish!
 I am so disgusted, I am ready to give him the whole house for his junk and move out. We own four other houses and have no money worries, but I can't take this. What should I do?

FED UP: Madame, do you need me to tell you that your husband is not behaving in a normal manner? The man could be mentally disturbed. Trick him, trap him, or tranquilize him into seeing his physician. And fast!

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Winter Olympics Draw Style-Conscious Skiers

By YVETTE DE LA FONTAINE

GRENOBLE, France (WNS)—The world's greatest skiers are at Grenoble now. The greatest ski clothes and after-ski wardrobes are also arriving here daily, checking in at the Park, the Lesdigueres, the Savoie and the other hotels. Style-conscious ski enthusiasts from all countries are out to make the Grenoble Winter Olympics the smartest in history. Luncheon at Les Mesanges or at Rostang looks like a top-quality fashion show. And on the slopes, the chic outnumber the able. As the season reaches its mid-winter peak, there are five great new looks for skiing: The nude look in cling jersey or, more clinging still, in handknitted wool (both top and pants), is the sort of thing you zip yourself into.

No line of the figure escapes attention.

The leather look, in smooth calf, not in suede, is smart, rich, tailored and windproof. Best color is black.

The silver look is divine against the white of the snow. It looks gay and flirtatious.

The furred look is both pretty and cuddly. Jackets or windbreakers of lavish, long-haired furs go over traditional black ski pants. The cape look is dramatic and care-free. You look like a flying bird as you soar down the slopes. (Some, of course, end up as lame ducks.)

Try as one may to divide these looks into countries, to determine that the Italians like the furred look, or the Germans the cape look, it simply cannot be done. Fashion has become so international that it obliterates barriers and borders, customs and nationalities. Like the arts and like sports, it melts barriers.

A keen observer might more easily divide these fashionable women into types and ages than into countries. The figure-revealing nude look, in all-over cling knits, seems preferred by the no-longer young. The silver look is liked by those who are here to make a conquest, not to break a record. The leather look is a bit snob, but it is protective, except for those who fall down very often. When too wet it gets clammy.

The cape look is loved by the young. It is the closest thing to any hippy attire that you'll see in a ski resort. Long, short, wide and wide open, it doesn't keep them warm in action, but the young don't care; they have their own fire.

Party dessert: use strawberry Bavarian cream as a filling for white or yellow cake layers. Chill thoroughly so the filling will be firm when the cake is cut.

Inspiration For Their Romance

BIRMINGHAM, England (WNS)—Richard Burton, a plumber, met Elizabeth Taylor, a stenographer, at tryouts for an amateur theatrical company here six months ago. "We didn't get the jobs, but we did fall in love," confided Burton as he and Liz flew off for a honeymoon in Majorca. The bride said that she has never met "the famous Liz Taylor," but sent her a wedding announcement with a letter of thanks for having been the inspiration for her romance.

Really Bad If Situation Reversed

Assessment of the tide of battle in Vietnam is risky business for Monday morning quarterbacks while said battle is still in progress.

One has a better chance of keeping his tealeaves-reading permit in good standing if one waits a week after the event . . . and fares even better if the impulse to analyze is deferred a month or a year.

Still, the "viewers-with-alarm" have already voiced an opinion of defeat; and we cannot resist observations to the contrary.

General Westmoreland has for many months yearned for the Viet Cong to come out and fight. They finally have, and aside from not being able to hold any of the cities they are suffering casualties estimated at better than ten to one. That is victory?

Military and civilian observers have bemoaned a lack of purpose, of dedication, of unity, of combativeness among South Vietnam's urban dwellers.

The VC have lit that spark . . . for what greater incentive can one imagine than to suffer in common, to mourn in common, to finally focus all the resentment, all the anger, all the indignation against the cause of their common misery. That is victory?

Our own bombings in North Vietnam may be presumed to have encouraged a greater degree of unity among the populace against our country. Why should the people of South Vietnam be different?

A winner does not draft 13-year-olds and 14-year-olds to fight. That is an act of desperation.

If the situation were reversed, we'd be the ones in really big trouble.

We are inclined to the opinion of Senator Everett Dirksen, who expressed his belief the attacks on urban centers of South Vietnam was a Communist gamble, and the coming battle at Khe Sanh was a part of that gamble . . . made by men who are desperate.

There is no sign of dismay or uncertainty among the men charged with conduct of the war, either in South Vietnam or in Washington.

No, we cannot take a defeatist view.

Senator White Relished Work

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — For the record, this column reported back on Jan. 15 a prediction by Sen. Thomas J. White of Kinston that the state's biennial budget for 1969-71 would reach astonishing $3.5 billion.

Three weeks later this same prediction by the three-time chairman of the Advisory Budget Commission grabbed big headlines in the newspapers. White repeated it at a press conference which he called for the purpose of announcing he won't be a candidate for any political office in 1968.

He cited figures to call attention to and emphasize the magnitude of the task of preparing the state's budget. He called it a "time-consuming task and a task important to the state and important to its taxpayers." But it was not the purpose of his press conference to dwell on budget matters.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Twinge of Regret

Instead, White wanted to say that after 15 years of continuous service in the legislature he was interrupting what had been "an exciting and challenging experience" and one which "I have thoroughly enjoyed and would like very much to continue."

"All in all," White said, "I do not now see my way clear to become a candidate for any political office in this year of 1968. I will continue to serve the state in many capacities. Later, perhaps, I may become a candidate, but for now I will have to be content to serve otherwise."

It was not, White said, "a happy decision for me."

"I would like to come back. I will miss being 'the Senator from Lenoir' — I doubt that I will enjoy being referred to as 'ex-Senator White'."

Waxed Poetic

Those who were there and those who read it described White's legislative farewell as a masterpiece.

In it, he waxed poetic at times. For example, he said: "The skies were never more blue nor the earth more green than when I first embarked upon my legislative service to my people and to my state; but the skies are still just as blue and the earth just as green as I continue to serve my state and my people in a number of equally responsible ways."

Gallifanakis Idea

Rep. Nick Gallifanakis, D-N. C., insists that his resolution calling for payment of France's $7 billion World War I debt to the United States is his own idea.

He introduced resolution as a result of his own "study and evaluation" augmented by indignant sentiment expressed by constituents. Gallifanakis believes this sentiment stems from the calculated gold drain and other anti-U. S. policies of the De Gaulle government in France. As a practical matter, he feels France should pay its just debts and that the $7 billion owed since 1914-18 is only the beginning of what France really owes the United States government. He has asked the Treasury Department for a detailed report on France borrowing from the U. S. in the intervening years, up to and including the Indo-China war of the 1950s.

Gallifanakis said he may introduce additional legislation concerning France's debt to the United States at the conclusion of his investigations.

Reporter's Notebook

The department of Corrections, formerly the Prisons department, and the State Highway Patrol recently purchased $6,363 worth of tear gas bombs. The successful bidder on the hand-held, aerosol type weapons was Carolina Police Supply Co. of Charlotte.

N. C. State University in Raleigh has purchased two high-powered microscopes recently. One cost $2,383.36 or about the price of a medium automobile, and the other $5,650 which would be a more expensive model.

Quality Of Ambulance Service Must Be High

It is encouraging that the county-operated ambulance service is progressing better than had been expected.

Pitt Memorial Hospital Administrator C. D. Ward reported this to the county commissioners Monday.

The ambulances responded to 55 calls during the first three weeks of operation. For 25 calls collections were made immediately. For ten more calls there is no question of collection.

The commissioners authorized the purchase of a third ambulance to handle the increasing load.

The county was forced into the ambulance business when funeral homes announced they would have to give up the service because of the increasing cost.

Regardless, Pitt Memorial Hospital should work to provide the most efficient ambulance service possible, while holding to the schedule of fees which has been adopted.

It is, of course, essential that adequate equipment is maintained because of the emergency nature of the work. Too, the authorities should make sure that ambulance service personnel is adequately trained and supervised. Not only should the personnel be properly qualified when they are employed, but a continuous training program should be carried on; for ambulance attendants can at times mean the difference between life and death for a critically ill or injured patient.

Pitt Memorial apparently has a good start in operating the county's ambulance service. But the quality should be constantly evaluated. There should never be room for criticism of the county ambulance service.

No Big Assault On Inflation

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)

—What's the government going to do about inflation? Not very much, it appears.

People who looked for a novel or dramatic anti-inflation plan in President Johnson's Economic message to Congress last week were disappointed. He came up with a plan for a committee—and with a renewed plea for the 10 per cent surtax which the House Ways and Means Committee has shelved three times.

Some expected Johnson to propose a revision and revitalization of wage-price guidelines. Others looked for a plan to set up an advisory board to give guidance on pending major wage and price decisions.

Nothing so definite was suggested, although the new five-member Cabinet Committee on Price Stability apparently will try to find a substitute for the virtually defunct guidelines.

Meantime, said Johnson, unions and industry should refrain voluntarily from "excessive wage settlements or unnecessary price hikes."

But how can a union negotiator be expected to settle for anything less than he can wrest from an employer, when he knows 1968's inflation will eat away three, four, or possibly five per cent of his unionists' paychecks?

And why should a businessman — unless he has fat profits in sight — be expected to reprint last year's prices in his 1968 catalog when he gave a 5.5 per cent wage increase in 1967 and fares another one, perhaps just as big, in 1968?

The fact is, as Johnson's message acknowledged, that

Custer's Last Interview

LITTLE BIGHORN, Dakota, June 27, 1976 — Gen. George Armstrong Custer said today in an exclusive interview with this correspondent that the Battle of Little Bighorn had just turned the corner and he could now see the lights at the end of the tunnel.

"We have the Sioux on the run," Gen. Custer told me. "Of course, we still have cleaning up to do, but the redskins are hurting badly and it will only be a matter of time before they give in."

"That's good news, General. Of course, there are people who are skeptical about the military briefings on this war and they question if we're getting the entire truth as to what is really happening here."

"I just would like to refer you to these latest body counts. The Sioux lost 5,000 men to our 100. They can't hope to keep up this attrition much longer. We know for a fact Sioux morale is low, and they are ready to throw in the towel."

"Well, if they're hurting so badly, Gen. Custer, how do you explain this massive attack?"

"It's a desperation move on the part of Sitting Bull and his last death rattle. I have here captured documents which show that this is Phase II of Sitting Bull's plan to wrest the Black Hills from the Americans. All he's going for is a psychological victory, but the truth is that we expected this all the time and we're not surprised by it."

"What about the fact that 19 Indians managed to penetrate your headquarters? Doesn't that look bad?"

"We knew all along they planned to penetrate my headquarters at the Indian Lunar New Year. The fact that we repulsed them after they held on for only six hours is another example of how badly the Sioux are fighting. Besides, they never did get into the sleeping quarters of my tent, so I don't really think they should be credited with penetrating my headquarters."

Other Editors Saying War's Turning Point?

(Christian Science Monitor)

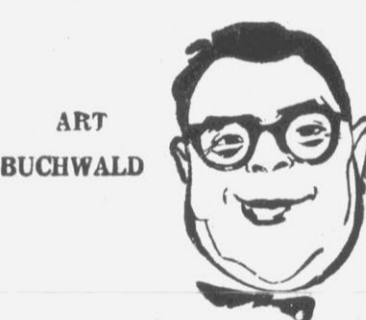

The present Viet Cong offensive (perhaps soon to be followed by a North Vietnamese offensive south of the demilitarized zone) could be a decisive turning point in the war, both militarily and politically. Militarily it will test the American thesis that allied strength is now so great that it cannot be decisively hurt and that Communist losses must inevitably grow heavier. Politically it will test whether the organized fabric of South Vietnam's society can stand blows of this magnitude.

And all of this, in turn, could have a decisive effect on how soon and under what conditions peace talks can be held. There is one body of opinion which holds that this winter's offensive has a political rather than a military objective. These observers believe that the purpose of this massive expenditure of men and weapons aims at preparing the way for the Viet Cong's entrance into a South Vietnamese coalition government and for peace talks held under better bargaining conditions.

It may be impossible for several weeks (if then) to know whether the Communist push has won them any substantial gains. But it would be dangerous for Americans to assume that such gains are impossible. There is already evidence that the Viet Cong's boldness and initial successes have made a strong impression on Vietnamese thinking. True, part of this could be wiped out if, in the next few weeks, the Communists are shown to have suffered high losses with no lasting territorial gains. Yet the Viet Cong's ability to cut into so many major cities and areas cannot but raise respect for its organizational capacity and fighting ability.

This will almost certainly increase the difficulty of the countryside pacification program, an effort which has been lagging at best. But, above all, it will increase the absolute, dire necessity for the South Vietnamese Government to prove that it is willing to do what must be done — lay aside selfish, personal ambition, root out graft and corruption, find new and better administrators, and set an example of dedication for the whole country.

"You seem to be surrounded at the moment, General." "Obviously the enemy plans have gone awol," Gen. Custer said. "The Sioux are hoping to win a big victory so they'll be able to have something to talk about at the conference table. Look at this latest body count. We've just killed 3,000 more Indians and lost 50 of our men."

"Then, according to my figuring, General, you have only 50 men left."

"Exactly. They can't keep up this pressure much longer. The truth of the matter is that their hit-and-run guerrilla tactics haven't worked, so they're now resorting to mass attacks against our positions. Thanks to our interdiction of their supply lines, they are not only short of bows and arrows, but gunpowder as well."

An aide came in and handed Gen. Custer a sheet of paper. "I knew it," the general said. "The latest body count shows they've lost 2, (Continued On Page 5)

Cashless Society Coming Soon?

By ELMER ROESSNER

There are a lot of predictions these days that the cashless society is coming soon. Business Week says it will come in the 1970s. The Journal of Home Economics predicts by 1985.

In this cashless society there would be no checks, no credit cards as we know them now, no currency. Everyone would have a banking account and a card, presumably indestructible, presumably unforgeable.

Whenever a shopper bought anything, the card would be put into an electronic machine connected with a clearing house and the amount typed out. The computerized system would automatically transfer the amount from the buyer's account to the seller's, providing the buyer had sufficient cash or credit in the account. If he didn't, the machine would signal "no sale," perhaps by spitting out the card, perhaps by saying, "Insufficient funds. This is a recording."

Meanwhile, employers, dividend and interest payers, Social Security offices and others paying money to individuals would, by using identical cards, transfer money from their accounts to those of individuals to whom it was owed.

All proponents of these systems concede that it would be necessary to continue coins, else how could individuals, no matter how rich, pay bus or taxi fares or get into pay toilets? The equipment would probably be too expensive to install in every newsboy's bag or under the seat of every rickshaw.

These systems would eliminate the huge cost of handling checks and would eliminate the "float," bankers' word for money tied up now from the time a person writes a check until it is cleared and deposited in the payee's account. It would also give the government an instant picture of the economy, enabling it to tinker with interest rates and credit limits to keep business steady.

ELMER ROESSNER

Will It Work I don't believe the cashless society will come in the foreseeable future if ever. I was the one who predicted that the automobile would not work which, as you can see by the

Daley Nixes Bobby

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Any lingering temptation for Senator Robert F. Kennedy to challenge President Johnson in 1968 was ended when a red light was flashed by the Democratic party's single most powerful state leader: Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago. Daley dispatched unequivocal word to Kennedy, through intermediaries, that his monolithic Illinois organization did not want Kennedy to run against the President and, furthermore, would oppose him in any showdown between the two. That completely convinced Kennedy's political advisors that Kennedy could not be nominated, an appraisal central to Kennedy's public reiteration last Tuesday (Jan. 30) that he would not run for President.

Before last Tuesday, a handful of Kennedy's most trusted political lieutenants had been making a discreet state-by-state check of party leaders to determine their loyalties, an operation not initiated by the Senator but not discouraged by him either.

The results were mixed: Kennedy would control New York and have an excellent shot against Mr. Johnson in the California primary election. Ohio and Pennsylvania were divided. Michigan State leaders (including officials of the United Auto Workers) discouraged a Kennedy bid but did not rule out supporting him if he actually ran.

Illinois was the clincher. One of Kennedy's closest political associates contacted a lieutenant in the Daley organization. He was informed that Illinois, which under Daley's leadership was one of John F. Kennedy's earliest and most important 1960 strongholds, would be for Lyndon Johnson all the way no matter what Bobby Kennedy did. And without Illinois, Kennedy would be a long-shot at best for the nomination.

This reinforced the sentiment against running among the architects of the 1960 Kennedy campaign who are now advising Bobby — Theodore Sorensen, Kenneth P. O'Donnell, Frederick G. Dutton. Old line Kennedys at the state level (with the notable exception of California Speaker Jesse Unruh, who urged Kennedy to run) agreed overwhelmingly.

A footnote: Academic supporters and members of Kennedy's own Senate staff who want him to oppose Mr. Johnson have not completely surrendered. They still feel he would suffer less in the long run even if he lost the nomination to Mr. Johnson, a loss they agree would be probable.

Vietnamese Subversion Top officials in Washington concede privately that the success of the Vietcong rampage all over South Vietnam validates in large part Communist boasts of deep subversion inside the Saigon regime.

Those boasts were made last fall at Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, when members of the National Liberation Front (NLF) — political arm of the Vietcong — met with radical New Leftists from the U. S. Claiming one-third of the regime had been penetrated, the NLF representatives forecast a coordinated Vietcong offensive directed at major South Vietnamese cities early in 1968. The assaults would be (Continued On Page 5)

Charlotte Area Combed For Young Bank Bandits

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Police and FBI agents have fanned out over the Charlotte area in a search for two young gunmen who entered a branch bank in a busy shopping center Tuesday and made off with $22,176.

It was the sixth robbery of the year in the state. Five banks were held up in January, two of them on the same day.

Burt Melton, manager of the Park Road Shopping Center branch of the First Union National Bank, said the two entered shortly after the bank opened at 9 a.m.

He said the bandits, wearing

The classes will meet 4 hours daily, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Monday through Friday for four weeks.

Anyone interested in either course should contact the Extension Division of the Pitt Technical Institute, Post Office Box 97, Greenville, or phone 756-3130.

"How many did we lose, General?"

"Our losses were light. We only lost 45 men."

"But, General, that means you have only five men left, including yourself."

"Look, we have to lose some men, but we're taking all precautions to keep our losses to a minimum. Besides, we can always count on the friendly Indians in these hills to turn against the Sioux for starting hostilities during the Indian Lunar New Year!"

The aide staggered back in, an arrow in his chest. He handed Gen. Custer the slip of paper and then dropped at his feet.

"Well, they just lost 500 more. And we only lost four. It looks as if they've had it."

"But, General, that means you're the only one left."

"Boy," said the general, "would I hate to be in Sioux shoes right now."

light colored topcoats and plastic masks, held guns on the five employees and three customers present and ordered them into a rest room.

"There was no panic," Melton said. "It was a very smooth operation."

Moments later a car police say may have been the getaway vehicle was found at the opposite end of the crescent-shaped shopping center. The car had Georgia license plates and was identified by police as having been stolen last Friday.

H. Y. Kinard, executive vice president and comptroller of First Union, said the bank has been robbed once before. He said a tall, tough-talking bandit held up the branch on Jan. 3, 1961, and escaped with $1,450. No arrests were made in that case.

North Carolina banking commissioner Frank Harrelson said Tuesday he thinks the advent of the branch banking system is responsible for the state's increasing number of robberies.

He said the branch bank, often relatively isolated, affords a better getaway route than the big downtown bank where road blocks can be set up more systematically.

Robert M. Murphy, special agent in charge of the Charlotte office of the FBI, agreed with Harrelson, but said North Carolina's upsurge in robberies is not unique. He said there has been a general increase all over the country.

There were 18 bank robberies in North Carolina in 1966 and 29 in 1967. If the holdups continue at the rate set in January, there would be 36 this year.

Class Wrote To Men In Vietnam

WINTERVILLE — As a project while studying a unit on Letter Writing, the ninth grade English class at W. H. Robinson School here wrote letters to soldiers in Vietnam.

Class officers said they hoped the letters would in some way aid in building the soldiers' morale.

Evans-Novak . . .

Only virulent subversion can be responsible for the success of the rampage, in the private belief of officials here.

For instance, the U. S. Embassy in Saigon could not have been breached had the Vietnamese police station nearby been doing its job. Some civilian policymakers now hope that field commanders in Vietnam will realize that military victories will never end the war unless the political situation in South Vietnam is radically improved.

Green Col. . . .

(Continued From Page 4) a classic wage - price spiral has been set awirl. And that it cannot be halted in 1968, regardless of higher taxes or anyone's private sacrifices.

It could be slowed by prompt enactment of the surtax, the President told Congress. And if there is also labor - management restraint, reasonable stability may return by 1969 or 1970.

But with business activity heating up "and with labor unions building the expectation of further price rises in their wage demands, there is danger the spiral will accelerate," Johnson said. "The longer it runs the harder it is to stop."

Some congressional critics complain he is trying to stop the runaway with a rubber sword.

The Cabinet committee is under orders to get into any "specific current wage and price matters," but to foster restraint and cooperation among industry, labor and the government, and to undertake these two further assignments:

—To seek out causes of inflation in "problem industries," and then to propose specific remedies —private, governmental or both.

—To confer with representatives of business, labor and the public "to attempt to reach some consensus on appropriate general standards to guide private price and wage decisions."

But the task of finding and eliminating inflationary hot spots, industry-by-industry, is a long - term undertaking.

Jail Sentence For Defiant Leader Of Strike

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of a five-day strike by sanitation men begins a 15-day jail term today for defying a court's back-to-work order as 40,000 tons of garbage—enough to fill 666 railroad coal cars—lie moldering in the streets.

John J. DeLury, president of the striking Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association, was sentenced Tuesday and fined $250 for criminal contempt under the state's Taylor law which forbids strikes by public employees.

State Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit continued today

a hearing on contempt charges against the union itself. Under the Taylor law the union could be fined up to $10,000 a day or $1 a day for each of its 10,000 members.

Meanwhile the garbage piles grew apace with no progress reported in negotiations aimed at ending the walkout. The 40,000 tons already on the streets is enough to fill a freight train nearly nine miles long.

In one concession, DeLury said the union would resume garbage pickups at hospitals, schools and other places which the city will designate for emergency collection. He said the men would work without pay. Residents of a five-block area on the lower East Side took their own action by dumping trash and garbage in the streets. One block on 10th Street was closed until 2 a.m. and several fires broke out.

The bizarre uprising was triggered when members of a neighborhood action group dumped refuse from two trucks. In a chain reaction residents began overturning cans and tossing trash from apartment windows.

The neighborhood is a mass of tenements housing mainly Negroes and Puerto Ricans and is also the center of the East Village hippie colony. Police arrested six persons in the incident including a former city anti-poverty worker.

In other developments Mayor John V. Lindsay announced that 200,000 plastic bags for garbage would be distributed free to residents today and also designated sites where the public can burn trash under fire department supervision.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ordered the state Civil Defense Commission to work with the city's Emergency Control Board on plans to deal with the garbage accumulation and the possibility of snow.

The Weather Bureau forecast today predicted a better than 50 per cent chance of snow Thursday. Sanitation men normally man the city's snow removal equipment.

The strike began Friday when the men walked out in support of their demand for a $600 a year increase in annual salaries that range from $6,424 to $7,956 after three years. A mediation panel recommended a $400 increase but neither the union nor the city endorsed the proposal.

The root systems of most trees are more extensive than the trunks and branches.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast Wednesday night for the Southwest. Snow is due in the eastern Great Lakes region, colder weather will move into the South. (AP Wirephoto)

Riot Teed Off By Private Bowling Alley Rules

By AL LANIER
Associated Press Writer
ORANGEBURG, S. C. (AP)—National Guardsmen were ready to quell further rioting today after infuriated Negro college students smashed windows, overturned cars and hospitalized a policeman Tuesday night because they were barred from an all-white private bowling alley.

Gov. Robert McNair issued a post-midnight statement saying the situation had been brought under control and he was keeping in close touch with State Adj. Gen. Frank D. Pinckney and Chief J. P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division. The disturbance involved at least 500 young Negroes, both male and female. Most are students at predominantly Negro South Carolina State College and Claflin College.

At least 12 were arrested. One was charged with assaulting Orangeburg city policeman William Long, hospitalized after being struck on the head with a metal pipe.

Others were charged with trespassing at the All Star Lanes, a bowling alley at a shopping center near the heart of this town of 15,000 persons 40 miles south of Columbia.

A Negro photographer, Cecil Williams of Orangeburg, told the Associated Press he visited the State College infirmary after quiet had been restored and six students, including two girls, were being treated for injuries received in the fighting. Williams said one male student was suffering from an ear injury received when a tear gas canister was fired into the side of his head at close range.

Although students at state boycotted classes over college administrative matters last spring, this was South Carolina's first serious racial outbreak in four years. South Carolina boasts of being the only Deep South state which has never had a death or serious injury directly attributed to racial violence.

The 250 men of the 1052nd National Guard Transportation Company, which includes one Negro, were alerted about 9:30 p.m. after chanting Negroes had moved from the shopping center down Russell Street to the adjacent campuses of State College and Claflin College, breaking store windows and damaging automobiles at two motor companies.

The Guardsmen gathered at the Orangeburg Armory in full combat gear.

Several new cars were damaged at the East End Motor Company and some were overturned. Windows were shattered at the Sutcliff Furniture Company, the Acacia Flower Shop and the Salley Motor Company. Tires on some automobiles were slashed.

The disturbance began Monday night. About 100 young Negroes gathered at the bowling alley, singing and chanting and blocking the entrance. They were dispersed by police and no arrests were made.

Police closed the bowling alley Tuesday. Harry Floyd, the manager, complained to the Orangeburg City Council that police should have dispersed the throng and not ordered his business closed.

Tuesday night a larger throng gathered at the bowling alley, which closed at 7 p.m. because of the obvious danger of a disturbance.

About 100 law officers, including highway patrolmen and SLED agents, gathered at the scene. The Orangeburg Fire Department also sent trucks to the scene but did not hose down the Negroes as was done in the late 1960s when several hundred demonstrators were arrested.

The whitebark pine does not reach maturity until about 250 years old.

Pentagon Has Names Of Casualties On Pueblo

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon early today said it has received the names of four Navy men who are dead or wounded as a result of the seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo by North Korea.

One of the men is dead, one is seriously injured and two are less gravely injured, the Defense Department said in a statement.

The Pentagon—which declined to reveal the source of its information—said none of the names would be released publicly until the families of the dead and injured crewmen have been notified.

The questions raised by the Pueblo's capture off the North Korean port of Wonsan continue to echo in Congress.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., asks why the United States, with its vast radar tracking network, can't say for certain the Pueblo did not violate North Korea's territorial waters.

The South Dakota Republican posed his question as Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., speculated the administration is preparing to apologize to North Korea for violating the sea limit in hopes of getting back the ship and survivors of her 83-man crew.

Top administration officials have said the Pueblo maintained radio silence from Jan. 10-21, before the North Koreans captured her Jan. 23, so it cannot be said for sure she did not violate the Communist nation's sea limit.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a Tuesday news conference: "There was some monitoring done and there are some tapes. I think most everything was known."

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The message received at the Federal Aviation Administration's air traffic control station at Eugene, Ore., was terse and urgent.

"I'm in trouble. I'm in the soup. It's socked in on me, and I can't get out of it. Gonna' crash. I'm afraid."

Just 42 minutes later, the pilot who radioed the "Mayday" message made a routine landing at the Eugene airport, a landing

But Dirksen, who attended White House briefings on the Pueblo affair, declined to amplify his statements further.

Mundt said he is asking the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to add a question about radar coverage to a list of queries on 20 general areas of the Pueblo incident already submitted to the State Department.

Mundt said it seems logical that if American intelligence knows the position of Soviet intelligence ships in all parts of the world—as he said it claims—it could keep track of one of its own electronic vessels without radio communications.

Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said in a separate interview the same question is likely to be explored at a select committee's briefing by the Central Intelligence Agency on the Pueblo matter.

Fall's Litter To Show In Spring

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter litter may be hidden temporarily by snow but it eventually springs back in full blooming ugliness.

Keep America Beautiful, the national antilitter organization, reminded that although a fresh snowfall makes litter invisible it will still be there when the snow melts in the spring.

KAB said U.S. communities spend untold millions of dollars each spring picking up trash that has carelessly been left in the snow. For highway litter alone the bill comes to $30 million.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said on a national broadcast Sunday that they cannot say beyond a shadow of a doubt the Pueblo did not enter territorial waters. Such an assertion, they said, must await release of the captain and crew.

The State Department said subsequently that Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg had been talking only about the day of the ship's seizure when he told the United Nations the ship was outside the 12-mile limit Communist countries set.

The North Koreans have made an American apology and punishment of the Pueblo's captain basic demands for the release of the captive Americans.

Aiken, a critic of President Johnson's Asian policies, said the McNamara and Rusk statements "were almost a concession that the ship may have been inside North Korean waters." He said this might be made the basis of a "confession" to get the crew back. At Panmunjom, Korea, U.S.

and North Korean negotiators didn't want the morale of the troops in Vietnam and of the people at home to be lowered.

Dirksen, who said last week the time had come to "put our foot down" to gain release of the crew, switched gears to say of negotiations, "We couldn't crowd this thing."

He said he had made his previous statement because he

Shot, But He Finished Eating

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Antonio Riojas, 17, was all set to enjoy the hamburger and root beer he had ordered at a drive-in restaurant. He took one bite; then a waitress pulled out a pistol and shot him after accusing him of bullying her brother. But, Riojas was hungry—so hungry that he finished the hamburger before driving himself to the hospital. The waitress was charged with intent to murder.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says U.S. support of former President Galo Plaza of Ecuador has been a major obstacle to his election as secretary general of the Organization of American States.

"Our sponsoring him aroused the normal jealousies of small countries for big ones," the Arkansas Democrat said.

Sol M. Linowitz, U.S. ambassador to the OAS, said the United States has done nothing more than tell the other OAS nations why it felt Plaza was the best qualified of three candidates. The exchange came at a committee hearing on proposed amendments to the OAS charter.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warrie Lynn Smith, a girlfriend of Lynda Bird Robb, has taken a job at the bottom rank of the U.S. Information Agency, a USA spokesman said Tuesday.

Miss Smith, a roommate of President Johnson's daughter at college and maid of honor at her wedding last December, began work Monday as a foreign service reserve office in grade 8—$6,734 a year—after filing an application, passing a language aptitude test and undergoing screening by a panel, the spokesman said.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway has paid the government $5,000 following an Interstate Commerce Commission decision that the railroad had discriminated against Negroes on its passenger trains. The ICC, calling the payment not a fine but a "civil forfeiture," said the railroad had a choice of paying it or fighting the matter in court.

"This was just a little demonstration to him that you can't just say or do anything you want to around here, whether it's true or not, and expect to get everything you want just by asking for it," an unidentified House Democrat after the House refused to approve a bill co-sponsored by Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., who has criticized publicly some of his colleagues.

Proved Point To Dinner Guest

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Irvin Dagen, executive director of the city's Housing Authority, was given a lunch to prove a point. A group of women in public housing wanted to show Dagen why it was "important not to increase the rent."

The women brought to Dagen's office a plate of rice, beans, fat meat and cornbread and explained "this is the diet we must live on."

A variety of results was obtained when this hand was dealt during the National Open Pairs held recently in New Orleans. A final contract of six hearts was reached at a great many tables and the number of tricks taken by the declarer hinged entirely on West's opening lead.

Many Wests chose to open the ten of spades from their sequence and South succeeded in taking 12 tricks. After playing the ace of spades at trick one, declarer continued with the ace and another club. East was in with the king and shifted to a trump. South put up the ace of hearts, ruffed the queen of clubs in dummy, and then discarded the four of diamonds on the king of spades.

Some Wests declined to lead the suit bid by dummy and the final result varied according to which suit was opened.

Where a club was lead, South took all 13 tricks. East's king of clubs was trapped at the outset and, after declarer cashed the ace of spades, he gained access to the North hand by ruffing the third round of clubs and then discarding his losing diamond on a high spade.

A diamond opening proved much more effective to the defense. The queen was played from dummy, and East covered with the king to dislodge South's ace. The latter could not get to the North hand quickly enough and, when East was in with the jack of clubs, a diamond return defeated the slam.

The best result for East and West on the deal was obtained at those tables where West opened a trump. This defense prevented the club ruff altogether and thereby shut declarer out of the dummy. East played a second trump when he got in and South ended up losing two club tricks as well as a diamond, to suffer a 100-point setback.

Girls More Apt To Suck Thumbs

BONN (UPI)—Girls are more likely than boys to suck their thumbs, the Association of German Dentists reports.

A study also shows that children in large families are more often addicted to thumb sucking than an only son or daughter.

The dentists offered no explanation of their findings, but warned that thumb sucking after the second year is detrimental to the development of healthy teeth and a normal jaw.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 7, 1968

West Carteret Downs Phants, 61-48

By WOODY PEELE
Rose High School ran out of rally in the closing minutes of the fourth period and fell to West Carteret, 61-48, last night in a Northeastern Conference basketball game.

The victory brought revenge for the Patriots, who were undefeated until Rose handed them a 67-51 loss earlier in the season.

The loss dropped the Phants to a 4-9 record in the conference, with five games left to be played. The Phants are battling for a berth in the eight-team tournament. Two teams will not qualify for the event.

West Carteret grabbed the opening lead on a shot by David Livingston after a minute of play. Mike Harrington put Rose on top with a three-point play 10 seconds later. West Carteret came back to regain the lead on a pair of foul shots by Henry Washington with 6:01 to play.

Rose then caught fire and looked like they were going to run the Patriots back to the Outer Banks. Mike Joyner put Rose ahead 5-4 on a jumper and Ricky Tonn followed with a shot from the corner.

Billy Taylor hit and Harrington followed with another field goal for a seven-point lead, 11-4, with 2:18 left. West Carteret then rallied and sliced the margin back to three at 11-8 before the Phants hit another basket, by Harrington, and a free throw, by Mike Aldridge for a 14-8 lead.

But after that, West Carteret was in command the rest of the way. Their pressing defense caused the Phants to make 12 turnovers in the first half, and a number after that. The Patriots also dominated the boards after that point, and Rose was put on the defensive, and had to play catch up.

Trailing by six, David Morrison hit to cut the lead to two and then Bruce Maness hit two free throws to pull within two at 14-12. Billy Clark got one more point for the Phants before the quarter ended with Rose ahead, 15-12.

Morrison pulled the lead to one after nearly two minutes, and then used two charity shots to push West Carteret into the lead, 16-15. Rose tied it up on a free throw by Harrington, but West Carteret again took the lead, 18-16, as Washington hit. Tonn got a Rose basket to tie it up again, but that was the last time.

Washington hit on two more free throws with 4:17 left, and then dropped in another basket. Ira Winberry hit from the floor to push the lead to six at 24-18. Rose cut the lead back to two at 24-22 as Turnage hit two shots, but the Patriots pulled away again. Washington made a field goal and David Livingston hit from the line. Washington then hit again for a seven-point edge at 29-22. The margin held for a 31-24 lead at the half.

The junior varsity game also saw West Carteret come away with a win, 74-58.

The Baby Phants looked like winners for nearly all of the first half, pulling away to a 13-9 lead in the first period, and then leading by as much as eight points midway through the second frame.

But then West Carteret went into a full-court press and quickly turned the game around, charging into the lead for a 36-27 margin at the half.

From there on out, West Carteret was in charge, building up a 51-45 lead in the third period, and then outscoring the Baby Phants, 23-13, in the final period.

George Hester led West Carteret with 22, while Roland Bell had 20. Ray Peszko had 21 to pace Rose, while Russ Smith had 13.

The Phants travel to Kinston to meet the league-leading Red Devils on Friday.

Hobpton Edges Past Farmville

HOBBPTON — The Farmville Red Devils battled Hobpton down to the wire and then into an overtime before bowing 45-43 last night.

Farmville inched out into an 11-10 lead in the first period, but Hobpton came back to grab a 23-18 lead at the end of the first half.

Farmville rallied in the third period and pulled back to trail by just one at 32-31. Then in the final period, the Red Devils dropped in a basket just before the end of the regulation period to tie it up at 41-41.

In the overtime, both teams scored two points, then G. Joyner hit for Hobpton to give them the lead that turned out to be a final score. Farmville had the opportunity to tie it up, but failed.

George Moore led Farmville with 17 points, while Bill Hall had 1.

Jordan led Hobpton with 17, while Davis had 12.

In the junior varsity preliminary, Farmville downed Hobpton, 67-42.

Eppes Downs Wilmington

Wilmington pushed out into a 15-11 lead in the first period, but Eppes came back strong in the second quarter and took a 34-33 lead by the end of the half.

Wilmington stayed close through the third period and tied it up at 48-48 as the final frame got underway. In the last period, the Bulldogs outscored their guests, 12-8, however, and picked up the win.

Competition Begins As Olympics Get Underway.

By MORRIS ROSENBERG
GRENOBLE, France (AP) — World champion Peggy Fleming soared to a comfortable lead in ladies' figure skating competition at the Winter Olympics today, but an ankle injury to Alpine ace Billy Kidd dampened U.S. hopes for an unprecedented men's skiing gold medal.

U.S. skating queen from Colorado Springs, Colo., began her gold medal drive in championship fashion, scoring high marks in each of two compulsory figures on the opening day of competition in the Olympic Ice Stadium.

Kidd, the Stowe, Vt., flash who has been plagued by injuries since capturing the silver medal in the Olympic slalom at Innsbruck four years ago, fell heavily during the final training run for Thursday's downhill race. And is a doubtful starter for the downhill race Thursday.

Miss Fleming's brilliant opening performance and the Kidd setback overshadowed the upset victory of Italy's Franco Nones in the Games' first final—the 30-kilometer (18.6-mile) cross-country ski race previously dominated by Scandinavian and Russian athletes.

Nones, a brash, 27-year-old customs officer who had predicted that the favored Norwegians, Finns, Swedes and Russians could be beaten in the demanding overland race, became the first gold medalist at Grenoble with a wire-to-wire victory.

He sped over the course in one hour, 35 minutes, 39.2 seconds, with Norway's Odd Martinsen second and defending champion Eero Maeniyraita of Finland third. Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt., was the top U.S. finisher in 27th position.

Miss Fleming, a stunning brunette who excels in both compulsory figures and free skating, opened up a lead of 30.4 points over East Germany's Gabrielle Seyfert after the first two of five school figures.

The remaining three figures will be skated Thursday, and the free-skating wind-up is set for Saturday.

Albertina Noyes, 19, of Arlington, Mass., rallied on the second figure and moved from fifth to fourth position, behind Beatrix Schuba of Austria and ahead of European champion Hana Maszkova of Czechoslovakia.

Eight of the nine judges gave Miss Fleming the top mark for each of her two figures—the "left back paragraph three" and "right forward inside rocker."

She finished the first day's competition with 373.4 points. Miss Seyfert had 343.0 points, Miss Schuba 340.7 and Miss Noyes 332.5.

Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., at 14 the youngest member of the U.S. Olympic squad, held able to compete in the slalom and giant slalom races beginning Sunday.

Carolina Rolls To Big Victory Over Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Third-ranked North Carolina waited to a 108-64 victory over Virginia Tuesday night in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game, the Tar Heels' 13th victory in a row.

Thirty-two points and 18 rebounds from Duke's Mike Lewis helped the Blue Devils easily handle Maryland in a 85-64 victory in the only other ACC game played last night.

North Carolina trailed in the opening minutes, as a capacity crowd of 8,800 saw them fall behind 12-6 during the first four minutes.

The Tar Heels came back to tie it at 12-all, then trotted to a 20-26 lead at half-time.

North Carolina's Rusty Clark set the pattern for the Tar Heels in rebounds with 16, including nine in the second half and scoring 19 points total.

It was the sixth conference victory without a loss for the first place Tar Heels who sport an over-all record of 15-1, the lone loss being to Vanderbilt.

Virginia is 3-6 in the ACC and 6-12 over-all.

Virginia's Norman Carmichael led with 18 points and 10 rebounds.

The Blue Devils were never threatened in their game, jumping to a safe lead in the first half. The win ties Duke for second place with South Carolina, which means the Gamecocks will have to beat Clemson tonight to break the tie.

In its field goal tries, the Blue Devil's hit 51.5 per cent to Maryland's 40 per cent.

Duke had its 11th victory in a row on its home courts, moving its record to 12-3 overall.

Maryland's top scorer was

Will Hetzel with 15 points with Steve Vandenberg and Dave Golden contributing 16 and 14 respectively.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils and Southern Illinois form one half of the last collegiate doubleheader to be staged in Madison Square Garden. Southern Illinois knocked Duke out of the NIT last March en route to capturing the championship.

Phant Matmen In NE Tourney

Rose High School's wrestlers will be looking for some upsets tomorrow as they travel to New Bern to take part in the Northeastern Conference tournament.

The Phants, along with favored West Carteret, Kinston and New Bern make up the teams in the league which participate in the sport.

Coach Bud Phillips feels that the Phants have a good chance to finish at least second in the conference, and with a few breaks, could upset the Patriots.

Eight of the Phants are rated as possible champions, "if they give a top effort," Phillips said. He listed these as Dean Wilkerson, Ronnie Williams, Kevin Price, Frank Saunders, Kyle Hodges, Tommy Bland, Duke Clarke and Ed Bartlett.

"Any of these boys could win their weights," Phillips said. "But it will be a tough battle, no matter what." Phillips also expects the rest of the team to come in strong.

Only one member of the Phants will not be present for the meet, Jackie Speight, who broke his elbow playing basketball in physical education classes.

A complete rundown of the team, and each entry's probable seeding is as follows:

98-pound class: Glenn Nichols, fourth; 103: Dean Wilkerson, second; 112: Ronnie Williams, second; 120: Tom Trevathan, third; 127: Joey Brown, fourth; 133: Kevin Price, first; 138: Frank Saunders, second; 145: Chuck Brown, second; 154: Kyle Hodges, first; 165: Steve Williams, second; 180: Tommy Bland, second; 197: Duke Clarke, second; unlimited: Ed Bartlett, second.

Preliminary matches will be held Thursday afternoon, with finals slated for Thursday night.

Holt's Begins To Clear The Field

Holt's began the countdown toward the City League title last night as two of the other seven teams were eliminated from title contention. Holt's downed Hazelton, 55-50, and coupled with Womack's victory over Coca-Cola, 62-56; Whitehurst over Home Builders, 57-38; and Book Barn downing Garris-Evans, 62-53, there was little change in the league standings.

In the opener, Book Barn pushed out into a 31-26 lead in the first half, then scored a similar number of points in the second half. Garris-Evans, however, got only 27 and never caught up. Johnny Hardison led Book Barn with 31 points, while Steve Fuller had 16, Tigman led 18 and Miller had 17 to lead Garris-Evans.

Whitehurst gained a 26-19 lead in the first period, then scored 31 to Home Builder's 19, in the second half for an easy victory.

Home Builders was led by Nelson with 12, while Neely had 10. C. Whitehurst had 17 and T. Sayetta had 16 to lead Whitehurst.

Womack edged out into a 29-26 lead over Coke in the first half of their game, then outscored them 33-30 in the final half for their six-point victory.

Womack was led by Dunn with 14, while Claybrook had 16, Jordan had 14 and Stox had 10.

Hardee and Hodges' each had 18, while Rogers had 12 for Coke.

In the evening's final game, Holt's and Hazelton battled to a 23-23 tie at the end of the first half, and then found themselves knotted in a 48-48 deadlock at the end of regulation time. But in the overtime, Holt's outscored Hazelton, 7-2, to escape with its record intact. Hazelton was led by Worthington with 14, while Moore had 13. Hendricks had 18 and Worthington had 11 for Holt's.

Holt's is now 9-0 for the year, followed by Book Barn at 7-1. Next comes Womack at 6-3, followed by Whitehurst and Hazelton at 4-5, Coke at 2-6, and Garris-Evans and Home Builders at 1-7. The latter two cannot win the title.

South Ayden Routs Sugg

FARMVILLE — South Ayden's Eagles rolled to an 85-51 victory over H. B. Sugg last night.

South Ayden put the game on ice in the first period, stripping the nets for 31 points, while holding Sugg to just 11. Sugg put on a slim rally in the second period, cutting the margin by three, but still trailed 43-26 at the half.

In the third period, South Ayden shot away again, building up a 69-34 lead, and then coasted through the final period, letting Sugg outscore them, 17-16.

Melvin Williams led South Ayden with 28 points, while James Lowry had 16, Curtis Williams had 14 and Dennis Harp and John Roundtree each had 11.

Marvel Edwards led Sugg with 15, while George Gay had 14.

South Ayden also won the junior varsity game, 53-34.

Munitions Will Be Handled By Rail Strikers

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Munitions trains arriving in Wilmington and bound for Sunny Point Army Terminal would be handled by striking railroad employees, a spokesman said Tuesday.

R. B. Quesinberry, chairman of the local grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said that despite the spreading rail strike, any munitions trains bound for the Sunny Point Ordnance Depot on the Cape Fear River near Southport would be worked by striking yard foremen, switchmen and brakemen.

Sunny Point is a major military Atlantic terminal for transshipment of munitions to overseas points.

C. Mac Whitehurst With Planters Bank

Frank L. Little, Jr., vice president and manager of the Greenville Office of The Planters National Bank and Trust Company, has announced the association of C. Mac Whitehurst with the bank.

A recipient of the Ayden Junior Chamber of Commerce Key Man Award in 1967, he has served his club as secretary, vice president, president, and state director.

In 1966 he was co-chairman of a shelter workshop in Ayden for physically and mentally retarded children. As a member of the Ayden Methodist Church, he has served in the board, and as committeeman on Christian Social Concerns.

Little expressed the bank's pleasure in acquiring the services of such a qualified and highly regarded agricultural specialist.

"We believe," Little said, "that we are fortunate, and this significant expansion of our trust and agricultural service can be of material benefit to farmers and the entire Pitt County area."

Whitehurst's initial responsibilities primarily will be in the field of farm relations and farm management. Through the bank's established agricultural division, he will offer a complete program that covers planning, financing, supervision and accounting. Personal farm counsel and advice are available at no charge on livestock, crop production, farm sales, timber management, record keeping, financial analysis and other phases of agriculture.

Whitehurst and his wife, the former Helen McLawhorn, have two children. They live at Route 1, Ayden.

C. MAC WHITEHURST

Whitehurst officially joined PNB in January, concurrent with his appointment as farm manager of the bank's agricultural division.

Whitehurst is the son of Mrs. James Clarence Whitehurst and the late Mr. Whitehurst of Ayden. A graduate of Ayden High School and North Carolina State University, he has gained extensive agricultural experience in farm management and operations since 1959.

Four-Way GOP Race In Wisconsin Is Shaping Up

Associated Press Writer
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A four-way Republican race appears likely in Wisconsin's April 2 presidential preference primary.

Six GOP candidates were chosen for the primary ballot by a nominating committee Tuesday. But within hours, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Illinois Sen. Charles Percy announced they would withdraw by filing disclaimers of 1968 presidential intentions.

On split votes, the committee rejected attempts to place the names of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama on the ballot under the Democratic label.

Rockefeller said his selection caused him "embarrassment" because he is supporting Michigan Gov. George Romney. Percy said he planned to "respectfully but firmly" withdraw.

Under Wisconsin's new primary law, a person named by the bipartisan committee can withdraw if he signs an affidavit declaring he does not intend to become a candidate.

If Rockefeller and Percy step aside, the four GOP candidates left on the primary ballot are—in order—Richard M. Nixon, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, Romney, and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen.

Nixon, Romney and Stassen have launched campaigns in the Badger State.

Reagan, a favorite son candidate in California, indicated he would not have his name removed but would not campaign in Wisconsin.

The only two Democrats named for the primary were President Johnson and Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

The committee will submit the names of the eight candidates, including Rockefeller and Percy, to the Wisconsin secretary of state Friday. The secretary will then officially notify the eight.

Disclaimers must be filed with the secretary by Feb. 29.

Any person not listed by the nominating committee who desires to run April 2 must obtain at least 1,000 signatures in each of the state's 10 congressional districts.

Negotiations Stop, So Do Most Of Trains

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Negotiations are at a standstill and so are most of the trains of the Missouri Pacific, Texas & Pacific, and Seaboard Coast railroads.

The strike by the International Brotherhood of Trainmen began Monday night against MOPAC and its subsidiary, Texas & Pacific, and spread to Seaboard Tuesday. The issue: How many men does it take to run a train? Nearly 50,000 employees on the three lines could be affected by the strike. There was no indication of how many were observing the picket lines, although MOPAC spokesmen said most of its 23,500 employees refused to cross the lines.

MOPAC's 12-state system serves portions of the Midwest, Southwest and South. Seaboard operates in six southeastern and southern states.

After the strike started, MOPAC posted notices saying the company has the right to determine the size of crews. Harry Hammer, a public relations officer for MOPAC, said he understood these other railroads posted similar notices: Seaboard, Boston & Maine, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, Southern & Gulf, and the Mobile & Ohio. MOPAC serves four major arsenals, several military bases and defense manufacturers along its 12,000 miles of track. Seaboard said it has canceled all passenger service and curtailed freight service but promised to try to deliver perishable goods.

The problem of crew size dates to 1959 when a presidential railroad commission first considered it. Congress passed special legislation and then in 1965 an arbitration board ruled in favor of the railroads. Special boards of adjustment were then created to iron out local disputes.

Talks in Washington last week between the union and the National Railway Labor Conference, a group representing management, ended in stalemate.

A MOPAC spokesman said the strike "is an attempt to return to featherbedding." But A. F. Smith, chairman of the brotherhood grievance committee in St. Louis said safety was the issue.

Will Soon Outlaw Brush And Mug

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The traditional barber's shaving mug and brush will soon be outlawed in Connecticut.

The state examining board for barbers announced Tuesday that it will require Connecticut shops to replace brushes with lather machines.

In the old-fashioned approach, the same brush goes from face to face, the board said. With the machine, a sanitary new supply of lather is produced for each shave.

Fugitive Had A Tight Squeeze

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Police say a 6-foot, 170-pound robbery suspect escaped in downtown Oakland by squeezing through steel bars only seven inches apart.

The bars were on a sheriff's prison bus, ferrying Allen L. Stanton, 18, from jail to the Oakland Courthouse Tuesday.

"An amazing display of contortionism," an officer said after hearing the bus driver tell how he saw Stanton wriggle out of the bus too late for him to stop the man.

Raleigh Judge Is New Candidate

RALEIGH (AP) — Samuel S. Mitchell, Raleigh's first Negro judge since reconstruction days, filed Tuesday as a Democratic candidate for one of Wake County's five district judgeships.

The Raleigh attorney was appointed three months ago as Assistant Judge of Raleigh City Court.

To Seek Morgan Senate Seat

SANFORD, N. C. (AP) — A practicing attorney and former Democratic national committeeman has filed as a Democratic candidate for the single seat in the 13th state senatorial district, composed of Lee, Harnett and Chatham counties.

Rep. William W. Bill Staton of Sanford is applying for the post being vacated by Sen. Robert B. Morgan of Lillington, who has entered the race for state attorney general.

JUST OLD ENOUGH
ATHOL, Mass. (AP) — Peter A. Gagliardi—who's just old enough to vote himself—has been elected to the School Committee. The 21-year-old government major at Harvard topped a list of three candidates for the post.

Seeds released periodically from a variety of pod plants are the main diet of winter birds.

'Racial Imbalance' In Northern Schools Studied

By STEPHEN M. AUG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is taking its first cautious steps into the potentially explosive area of racial imbalance in Northern schools.

Stephen J. Pollak, newly appointed assistant attorney general in charge of civil rights activities, said his office is examining a handful of complaints alleging discriminatory treatment of Negroes in Northern schools.

At least some of the complaints are from California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Oklahoma, said Pollak.

He declined to specify the communities or the precise nature of the complaints, but said in at least two cases letters have been written to the school boards in a bid to resolve the problems.

He said the department also is considering plans to enter some privately initiated suits aimed at ending alleged discrimination in Northern schools. The department would take part in such a case only when it involves a matter of substantial importance.

The Justice Department has done relatively little in connection with schools racial imbalance problems in the North when compared with its extensive activities in the South. Last year alone it undertook 68 Southern school desegregation actions, including 26 suits which it filed or joined, and 42 which it reopened to bring court-ordered desegregation plans up to current legal standards.

But, while in Southern cities it was relatively simple for the department to prove that separate school systems were operated for whites and Negroes, racial discrimination is far more subtle in the North.

The department has little if any power to end so-called de facto segregation in Northern schools. This is racial imbalance existing because of neighborhood residence patterns, and not generally by design of school boards.

What the department needs to know, Pollak said in an interview, is precisely "what's unlawful. We are in the early stages of having an understanding of what the facts of the Northern school situation are."

Pollak believes the department's opportunities for successful desegregation actions in the North lie in targeting cases in which school boards engage in discriminatory activities.

"A clear example," he said, would be "where a school system is under-financing predominantly Negro schools; where children are more overcrowded in Negro schools or when the pupil-teacher ratio is disadvantageous; where course offerings in Negro areas are restricted; where Negro schools have more temporary teachers than do white schools."

To initiate a probe of school desegregation, Pollak explained, the department must have a complaint from the parent of a child or a group asserting a pupil is a member of a class of citizens being denied its rights.

Wife A Spy? Husband Says 'News To Him'

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Neighbors say sleader, brunette Alice Crownfield doesn't fit the part of a Central Intelligence Agency operative, as the Soviet newspaper Ivestia claims. And her husband says if she did play spy, "she hasn't told me yet."

Her husband, Prof. Fred Crownfield Jr., a physicist at the College of William and Mary, said the charge that his wife lured a Soviet scientist into defecting is simply a case of Russian misunderstanding. He declined to say more except that "personal problems were involved."

While in Vienna, the Russian received orders to return to Moscow earlier than he had anticipated. The abrupt orders frightened him. Alice Crownfield then apparently suggested that he seek help at the American Embassy. The Russian did.

What took place next the elder Crownfield says he doesn't know. He said his son and daughter-in-law don't know either. They left Vienna for the United States.

They heard from the Russian only once more. He wrote telling them that he had become disturbed by the severe questioning by American authorities and decided to return to Moscow as ordered.

The Soviet government newspaper said Mrs. Crownfield talked a Russian physicist into going with her to the U.S. Embassy in Vienna where a CIA man duped him into surrendering his Soviet passport. No date was given in this account.

Ivestia said the scientist identified only under the code name of Pyotr M. Savrasov, met Mrs. Crownfield at a scientific conference in Yugoslavia two years ago.

The younger Crownfields have heard through other sources that their Russian physicist friend has been assigned to some duties in Siberia.

The scientist was taken to Frankfurt, West Germany, said Ivestia, for questioning about "secret scientific establishments," but two weeks later escaped to Bonn and begged the Soviet Embassy: "Save me."

Mrs. Crownfield, who is in her early 30s, said Monday night she was not familiar with the exact nature of the Ivestia charges but that in her travels with her husband in Yugoslavia and Russia, she had met many Soviet scientists.

RALEIGH (AP) — Woodstock Electric Membership Corp. of Belhaven was to present witnesses today in behalf of its request for assignment of service territories in Hyde, Beaufort and Washington counties.

The State Utilities Commission began a hearing Monday on Woodstock's application and a conflicting one from Virginia Electric and Power Co. The hearing is expected to last several days.

Woodstock and the private power company are seeking assignment of areas in the three counties. The requests coincide in certain territories.

Teachers Favor Choice-System For Textbooks

RALEIGH (AP) — A survey shows 80 per cent of North Carolina's school teachers and supervisors favor a multiple textbook selection system for the state.

This was reported Tuesday by the textbook subcommittee of the governor's study commission on public schools. Two special committees conducted a survey among the state's school personnel on textbooks and library materials.

Questionnaires were sent at random to local educators. An estimated 80 per cent replied.

Most of the teachers answering the textbook questionnaire said they favored increasing the number of persons on the state textbook commission from 12 to as many as 150 or 200 members.

Opinion-Sampling Shows Support For Retaliation

By LARRY BRYANT
Last week the Viet Cong forces launched a surprise "suicide attack" on Saigon, capital of South Viet Nam.

In regard to retaliation by the United States, this question was asked of several local citizens picked at random in downtown Greenville: In view of the recent Viet Cong attack on Saigon, do you feel that the United States should retaliate in like manner with a major offensive on Hanoi? The answers received varied, but most of them reflected an affirmative approach.

W. F. Phillips, salesman, 23-04 Deal Place, Greenville had this to say: "Certainly I think we should retaliate; if we're going to fight we ought to go all out and stop calling so many cease-fires."

Oscar Herring, postal employee, 1617 Longwood Drive, Greenville, left the decision to government officials, but said: "We should begin an all out effort to win the war, or bring about peace in some way."

CARL KINLAW

Carl Kinlaw, food distributor, 209 Ramblewood, Raleigh, answered the question with: "An emphatic yes; we have to hit them where it hurts."

Frank Vaughn, paving contractor, 1609 S. Elm St., answered: "Most definitely, we must retaliate."

Jerry Little, Washington, had this to say: "I sure do, we ought to hurt them like they tried to hurt us."

R. W. BENTON

R. W. Benton, police officer, Rt. 3, Greenville, said: I sure do, and I also favor escalation of the war to bring victory as soon as possible."

There were also some dissenters who favored alternate measures. George Schreiber, ECU drama professor, 2406 E. Third St., Greenville, commented: "No, I don't think that sort of tactic would help; it is not in line with our present policy of territory control."

GLORIA CARMON

Miss Gloria Carmon, 521 Davis St., Greenville, also declined: "I don't think attacking Hanoi would help; I feel that the U. S. should try a little harder to win the war by peaceful means."

CHARLES LEONE

Charles Leone, owner-manager of the Pizza Chef, 803 Forest Hill Circle, Greenville, answered, "Yes, I feel that the Viet Nam situation merits more action and less diplomacy."

S. O. HATHAWAY, JR.

S. O. Hathaway Jr., owner of Stan's Cycle Center, 109 N. Eastern St., concurred: "We definitely ought to retaliate by attacking Hanoi, as well as sealing off Communist supply routes through Laos and Cambodia."

Robert Erhmann, 801 Summit St., Pizza cook, summed it all up with this statement: "Sure I think we ought to bomb Hanoi; if they can do it to us we can do it to them. After all, it is war."

Scott Calls For Agency To Deal With Urban Need

WINSTON - SALEM (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert Scott said Tuesday there is a need to develop an agency in state government to deal with urban problems before they mushroom beyond control.

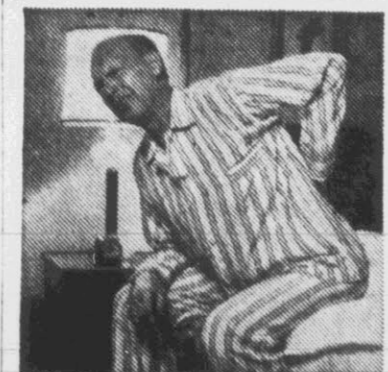

Scott, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, indicated he will seek to establish such an agency in North Carolina if he is elected this fall.

Scott said a state agency concerned with urban affairs could be of "great assistance" to cities and counties just beginning to feel the pressures of urban sprawl.

The candidate, a son of former governor and U.S. Sen. W. Kerr Scott, made the statements as he campaigned in Winston-Salem and Forsyth County.

PROJECT LOAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Durham, N. C., has received a $100,000 loan from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to enable the city to start its Hayti-Elizabeth Street Urban Renewal Project, the department announced Tuesday.

Rip Van Winkle couldn't sleep with nagging backache

Nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets, or everyday stress and strain. If this nagging backache, with restless, sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills — an analgesic, a pain reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache is often the answer. Get Doan's Pills — not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size.

WCU Steps Up Nursing Program

CULLOWHEE N. C. (AP) — Western Carolina University announced Saturday it will establish a Bachelor of Science in Nursing program, the first in the mountain section of the state.

Dr. Paul A. Reid, WCU president, said a critical shortage of nurses in the state, especially acute in the western area, makes the step imperative.

Lauds Rails For Food Shipments

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi has personally thanked and praised the nation's railways and rail employees for their movement of food supplies during India's "difficult period of drought" in 1967.

She said more than 13 million tons of imported and internationally procured foodgrains were moved by rail to about 239 million people.

Where Models Cost More Than The Original Cars

LONDON (AP) — Britain's smallest auto factory is a one-man affair carried on in half a garage but it has enough work on hand for the next 20 years.

It is no ordinary production line. No two models are the same, all are exactly 1-12th actual size and prices range up to 4,000 pounds ($9,600).

Head of the one-man show is 59-year-old Henri Baigent, a painstaking executive whose individual effort on any one model ranges up to 11,000 man hours.

So long is the order book for Maestro Baigent's Lilliputians that he puts in a seven-day week. His creations are ordered by the famous and wealthy.

Precision and exactness is the key to it all. Detail is true from roof to road wheels, bouncy suspension and steering linkages.

Interested? Well don't be surprised if Henri turns your order down. At the moment he is working on eight Lotus Formula One cars for Ford who power the racers.

This particular run is based on the actual cars which collected top honors in the D'Arden, British, American, Mexican and Spanish Grand Prix.

One of his earlier models was a 1951 Aston Martin ordered by racing car owner Rob Walker. The price was 2,000 pounds—roughly 10 times the current value of a life-size Aston of that vintage.

The short, balding, plumpish Henri uses a needle made into a drill, for instance, when he wants to bore a hole the size of a pinhead in a ball bearing. In fact most of the tools for his work he makes himself.

Formerly a fireplace maker, Baigent turned to model making just after the war when business got thin.

The town council at the south coast resort at Bornemouth at one stage was planning to close his business down when they got word of factory premises in a residential zone.

When he explained that his business was creative art, they relented.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a moderate gain early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains outnumbered losses by 3 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.54 at 863.79.

The rise was attributed mainly to technical reasons, said analysts. Losses have outnumbered gains in every session since Jan. 26 and the series seemed due to be broken.

A number of the high flyers rebounded one or more points.

Motors, steels, rubbers, aerospace, electronics and mail order-retail stocks were generally higher.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 315.0 with industrials up 2.3, rails off .6 and utilities up .9.

Gillette, up more than a point, was the most active stock.

General Motors advanced over a point, more than wiping out its loss of Tuesday. Ford gained another fraction following Tuesday's rise of 1/2.

Whittaker advanced about 3/4.

Republic Corp. 2 1/2. Sperry Rand and Allis-Chalmers 1 each.

Gains of a point or so were

Three To Seek New Municipal Building Site

ROBERSONVILLE — Town commissioners last night named a three-man committee to conduct a survey for a suitable location on which to construct a municipal building.

J. R. Crandall, Ervin Smith Jr., and B. A. Rogers were instructed to search for a possible site for the proposed facility.

Officials said it is hoped that such a facility will house all city departments as well as the library.

Commissioners also discussed ways of financing construction of such a building, including the possibility of a bond issue.

A lot approximately 200 feet by 200 feet would be needed for the site, officials theorized.

Dutch Chamber Calls For A Halt

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The lower chamber of the Dutch parliament passed a motion Tuesday night expressing shock at the suffering of the Vietnamese people and its fear of a new escalation of the war in Vietnam.

The motion called for an unconditional end to the bombing of North Vietnam by the United States, an ally of the Netherlands in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Employ Architects For Greene Project

SNOW HILL — P. H. Brown Associates of Raleigh have been employed by the Greene County Board of Education as architects for a new transportation garage.

The architects drawing will be presented to the board at their next meeting on March 4.

The $83,000 given to Greene County schools under Title I of ESEA for summer programs will be used in three phases, according to Greene County Superintendent Robert Strother.

Chairman of the steering committee named at the meeting were: Mrs. Betty Walston, grades 1-3; Talton Jones, principal of Snow Hill Elementary School, grades 4-8; and Greene Central High School Principal George Taylor, grades 9-12.

The board decided to take two Easter Holidays and to extend the closing of school two days to make up for the school days lost during the ice storm in January.

Greene County Schools will close on Saturday, June 1. Easter holidays will be held on April 12 and April 15.

Ayden Golf And Country Club Seeks New Members

AYDEN — The Ayden Golf and Country Club kicked off a membership drive Feb. 1, in hopes of securing 50 new members by the end of April.

Club president Gary Jordan said the usual $50 initiation fee has been waived for the membership drive, and explained that new members will only have to purchase the usual $150 non-transferable membership certificate. Club dues are $12.50 per month, Jordan noted.

The club president noted that inactive members now owning a partial membership certificate may join by simply paying the balance on the full membership certificate.

The club has recently completed a new 6,000 square feet clubhouse at a cost, according to Jordan, of between $80,000 and $90,000. Started in the late 1950's, the club now has an 18-hole golf course, swimming pool and new clubhouse on a 145 acre tract of land east of Ayden. Part of the land is still undeveloped, Jordan explained.

Regularly scheduled events at the club include Saturday steak dinners, Sunday buffets

Kansas Will Honor Famed Small-Town Editor

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer
EMPORIA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas will honor William Allen White, the famed small-town editor who is remembered as the voice of rural America, with a series of centennial programs. He was born 100 years ago this Saturday. The anniversary events will continue until late summer, and will include dedication of a historical marker on the Kansas Turnpike and a monument on the site of the old White home in El Dorado, Kan. Programs also are scheduled at the University of Kansas. Next Monday, White's son, William L. White, will speak at the university in his first major address concerning his father. Mark Ethridge, retired publisher of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal, will deliver the annual William Allen White lecture the same day and receive the 1968 citation from the William Allen White Foundation. Writing with political sagacity, common sense and humor on the great issues of his time, White became a national figure through his editorials in his Emporia Gazette. He also was the author of two dozen books and an estimated 200 magazine articles.

In 1895 White borrowed $3,000 and bought the Gazette. One day the following year, admittedly "boiling mad" over a street corner political argument, White ripped off a scathing, sardonic editorial called "What's the Matter With Kansas?" Aimed at Populists supporting William Jennings Bryan in the presidential election campaign against William McKinley, the editorial said: "What's the matter with Kansas? Nothing under the shining sun. She is losing wealth, population and standing. . . Kansas is

They were greeted by a five-shot salute from fellow trapshooters after the ceremony. She has started to raise hell . . . and seems to have an overproduction. But that doesn't matter. Kansas never did believe in diversified crops." The editorial was picked up by Mark Hanna, national Republican leader, and circulated around the nation. It was credited with playing a key role in electing McKinley and started White on the road to journalistic glory. In 1922 White locked horns with an old friend, Kansas Gov. Henry T. Allen. White put placards in the Gazette office window sympathizing with striking railroad workers. Gov. Allen ordered the signs removed. White refused, calling the order "an infamous infraction of the right of free press and free speech." Threatened with arrest, White wrote an editorial entitled "To An Anxious Friend" defending free speech even during times of emergency. "You can have no wise laws nor free enforcement of wise laws unless there is free expression of the wisdom of the people—and, alas, their folly with it," the editorial said. White and Gov. Allen eventually made their peace, and the editorial won a Pulitzer Prize. When White died here Jan. 29, 1944, as he neared his 76th birthday, President Franklin D. Roosevelt said in tribute, "As a writer of truth, forcible and vigorous prose, he was unsurpassed."

Committee 'Plans Write Guide On 'Transplants'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Any day now—perhaps tomorrow—someone is going to hurl a charge of murder at the doctor in some heart-transplant case." This prophecy by Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger will lead this week to formation of a committee of medical and legal authorities to draft legislation expected to serve as a guide to cities across the nation.

"There are many foreseeable situations not covered by existing law. We have a duty to protect the physician from charges that he is using humans for guinea pigs, and at the same time the public must be assured that living beings, no matter how desperately ill, will not be sacrificed." The publicity about recent heart transplants is a heady wine. It builds reputations for doctors, hospitals and even nations.

South Africa, Younger said, "has never had so much publicity as it has had since Dr. Christian Barnard made the first human heart transplant." Younger said it is inevitable "that somebody will get in a hurry and use bad judgment as the frequency of such operations increases. We have a duty to anticipate such problems and know how to handle them when they arise."

The committee, which Younger believes will be the first of its kind anywhere, holds its initial meeting Friday. Younger says it will include representatives from medical schools and societies as well as law enforcement experts.

"The need is immediate," Younger said in an interview explaining his plan. "I have information that at least two major medical institutions in this area—which I am not free to name—are gearing up for heart transplants whenever the opportunity arises."

"These are reputable institutions, but even they may be subjected to criticism. And what of the small hospital, or the individual doctor, who may have plans that I don't know about? Is there anything to prevent them from attempting a transplant of a heart or some other vital organ? Even if such an operation were successful, the situation is loaded with potential complaints. Among the questions Younger will ask the committee to tackle: 1. Precisely when does death occur? When breathing stops? When the heart stops? When an electroencephalogram shows no further brain activity? 2. Who shall have priority in obtaining available hearts? 3. Who shall give consent for the taking of a heart? Younger pointed out that the donor may be unconscious and unable to give consent, and that relatives—particularly if they are of divided religious beliefs—may seek criminal action later against the physician. 4. Who shall give consent for implanting a heart in a minor? 5. Who may attempt transplants?"

Freed By Ruling Of High Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two Missourians indicted for possession of unregistered sawed-off shotguns were freed Monday in U.S. District Court at St. Louis because of a ruling last week by the Supreme Court. The high court ruled invalid a federal law requiring persons possessing machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and certain other weapons to register them with the secretary of the Treasury.

Outside World Is Far From The Sanh Lines

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — The war, for Lance Cpls. Curry, Bennett and Farrah, is a log bunker eight feet square, plus one lovingly cared for machine gun.

They don't much care for the location — hard by the barbed wire on the western edge of the Marine base at Khe Sanh. The surrounding jungle is controlled by North Vietnamese. Life in the dusty, threatened fortress is hard on all. Curry, Bennett and Farrah are at the bottom of the heap. They get maybe six hours sleep a night. Two C ration meals a day. As best they can recall, they haven't had a shower in two months. Downwind, they smell a bit strong to visitors.

They operate a nasty black M60 machine gun; Farrah the leader, Bennett on trigger and Curry the "ammo humper." Barely a year ago they were fresh out of high school. Bennett was a dropout — he hopes to get a diploma before he leaves the Marines. Now, they are the first line of defense, at least for about 30 yards, for 5,000 Marines.

By day they haul up ammo, dig a little deeper, snake out to repair cuts in the barbed wire, or read any tattered magazine that comes their way. They complain mostly about the big rats and wild pigs that bother them at night, setting off trip flares that make them jump and have to be replaced the next day.

At sundown they start alternating watches, an hour and 15 minutes for each man.

"We don't like to stay on watch too long," Farrah says. "We had rather swap around. If you stay on too long the weeds and bushes start to move around. We don't want to start seeing things."

Curry recalls that on his last five-day rest leave he went to Bangkok and saw a war movie, "The Dirty Dozen." Says it was great.

Now the outside world is far away and they snatch at bits of scuttlebutt. When the intelligence ship Pueblo was seized they thought the United States had declared war. They were overjoyed to confirm this wasn't so.

"We were afraid our enlistments would be extended," said Bennett.

They Tell What It's Like To Be A Negro, A Catholic Or A Jew

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — In this era of the picket sign and the fire bomb, what can a bunch of housewives do to advance the cause of human rights?

But she noted in many communities the appearance of her panel is the first time issues like racial intermarriage, school segregation or separation of church and state have been discussed in the open.

"We can do anything," insists Mrs. Esther Brown, a Kansas City mother of four and founder of the Panel of American Women.

"It gets people to think about members of minority groups as individuals not just black masses," Mrs. Brown explained. "Maybe this is the first time it's happened to them."

"It isn't what we say but the way we say it."

A Jewish member of the panel tells how her 6-year-old daughter came home crying because a playmate had taunted her for "killing Christ."

The approximately 700 panel members scattered around the nation simply tell people what it's like to be a Negro, a Jew, a Catholic or even to belong to the white Protestant majority.

"I never killed anyone," the child sobbed. "What are they talking about?"

Utilizing their image as respectable middle-class matrons, they address audiences in churches, colleges, civic clubs and other places where the Rev. Martin Luther King or Stokely Carmichael might not be welcome.

A Negro woman recalls her small son gazing at a carnival merry-go-round and asking, "Where's the back? I want to ride."

"And the best part is we never go unless we're invited," said Mrs. Brown. "Frankly, we can get by with murder. People look at us and can see we're just ordinary housewives."

"People may not agree with what we say," Mrs. Brown contends, "but at least we can open the door."

Mrs. Brown, wife of an automobile parts supplier, said she founded the first panel 11 years ago "by sheer accident" to provide a program at a Jewish temple meeting.

Occasionally a panelist does lose her temper, Mrs. Brown admitted. She recalled one attractive young Negro matron who was asked about racial intermarriage just once too often.

City Dog Tag Sale Said Slow

Both city auto tags and dog tags must be obtained by Feb. 15 and displayed by Feb. 16. City Manager Harry Hagerty reminded today.

"Why would we want to marry you after all the things you've done to us?" she demanded of her white questioner. And there are lighter moments, like the time a Jewish panelist said:

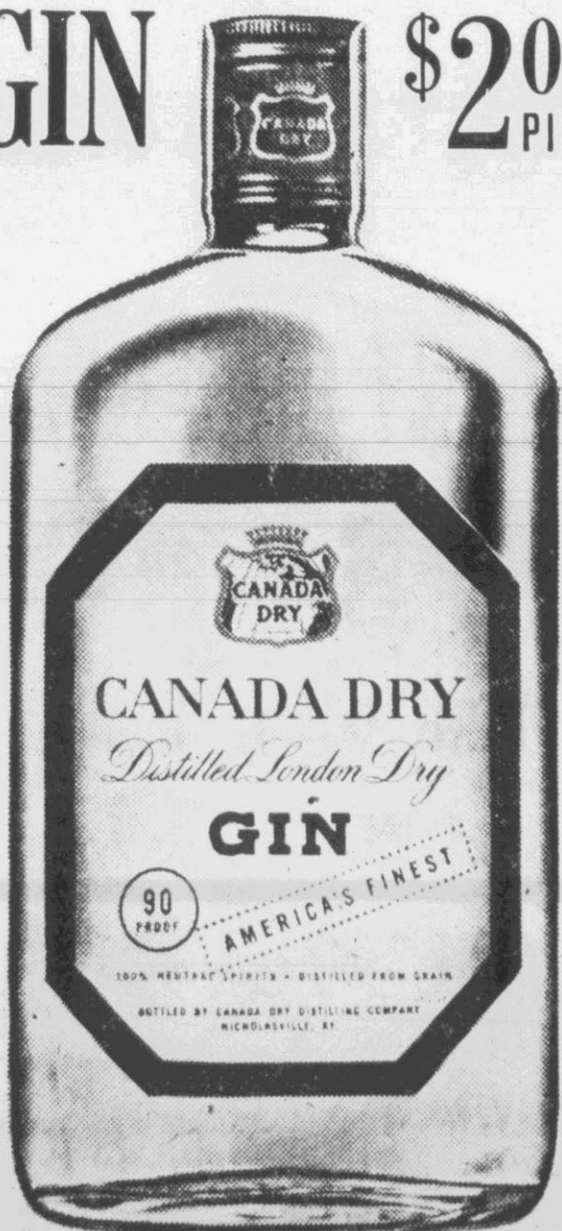

The auto tags are moving rather well, he reported, but only a few more than 300 dog tags have been sold.

"If you think all Jews are rich and clever, you should meet my husband's relatives."

He urged citizens to purchase both auto licenses and dog tags before the Feb. 15 deadline.

Most panelists are young and have husbands in business or the professions. This gives them entry into middle-class havens even in the South.

Feb. 16 Deadline Set For Seminar

East Carolina University issued a reminder to business firms of the area this week that the application deadline for this year's Executive Development Seminar is less than two weeks away.

Edward M. Stanfield, development specialist of the ECU Regional Development Institute, said interested firms should submit application forms to the university on or before Friday, Feb. 16.

He reminded that enrollment, as in past years, will be limited to 30. The enrollment fee of $400 is usually paid by the firms whose representatives attend the seminar.

This year's program begins on Thursday, March 7, and continues each Thursday through May 9. Each session begins at 10 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m.

The faculty includes some of the nation's most outstanding authorities in business management. For the first time this year the seminar will give special emphasis to the use of computers in business.

World Of Economics Still Full Of Contradictions

NEW YORK (AP)—An uneasy feeling that the world of business, finance and economics is filled not only with complications but with contradictions too, is one of the factors irritating and confusing Americans today.

Just this week another example was provided, when citizens were told of a government tax plan that would try to discourage foreign travel for the good of the nation, specifically to reduce the balance of payments deficit.

This proposal follows many weeks, months and years of efforts by airlines to induce Americans to cast their worries behind them and fly forward to adventure in London, Paris and Rome.

Since to do so in the future will mean to be taxed, if the Johnson administration has its way, the result will be frustration. And, of course, confusion too.

In fact, many people cannot understand why such stringent measures are needed if the dollar is as sound as the Treasury says it is and the nation powerful as almost all the world believes it to be.

Other examples are all about us.

More and more often Americans are being reminded that they have more of the material goods than others, and much of this reminding has come from the federal government, especially in recent presidential messages.

Nevertheless, more and more often Americans are being reminded, and by the government, that many of their fellow men are poor and discontent and feel they are being denied their share in the wealth of the nation.

The unemployment statistics provide an example. Contrast the low jobless figure of 3.9 per cent of the labor force with the reality of so many unskilled looking for and not finding jobs.

Perhaps as a result of these disturbing reminders, consumers are themselves contributing a contrast of sorts. Instead of translating their savings into the things that money buys, they are leaving it in the bank.

But, as if to deny the high rate of savings — it is still about 7 per cent of take home pay — people are also gambling in the stock market and even redeeming their U.S. savings bonds at a faster rate than they are buying them. It appears that people may be saving on the one hand, gambling on the other.

One of the most obvious contradictions — or seemingly so — regards free trade. After months of haggling, agreements are reached in the Kennedy Round to lower tariffs. Weeks later, attempts are made to impose other restrictions.

Closer to the pocketbook, consumers find everyone disclaiming about the horrors of inflation, but he finds action against inflation stalled for months while the Capitol and the White House fire missiles along the mail.

Lived On Street With No Name

NEW SCOTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — When friends wanted to visit Joseph Dominski in this community just outside Albany they had a hard time finding his house—the street he lived on had no name.

Dominski complained to the Town Board. At a loss to find a better name, the board decided to call the street "Dominski Lane."

But once the sign was up, several townsmen recalled that the street's long-forgotten name was "Mil Road"—and the board ruled the Dominski sign will have to be replaced.

Since to do so in the future will mean to be taxed, if the Johnson administration has its way, the result will be frustration. And, of course, confusion too.

In fact, many people cannot understand why such stringent measures are needed if the dollar is as sound as the Treasury says it is and the nation powerful as almost all the world believes it to be.

Astaire Again Has A Special

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Old dancers never die, they just sweat away," groaned Fred Astaire as he swirled a mug of stout.

The drink was to help replenish the five pounds he had dropped in putting on "The Fred Astaire Show," which appears tonight on NBC. He had finished the final number—a rock version of his old "top hat" dance—the night before, and he was understandably exhausted. Yet his springy step and his jaunty manner remained unchanged.

"Well, I like to dance," he admitted, "but it's such damned hard work. At least it is the way I do it. I can't do things the easy way. I figure if I'm going to do something, it's got to be the best I know how. Otherwise there's no point in doing it."

"Oh, I know how they generally do dance numbers in television. They say, 'Let's have a soft-shoe number here,' then they get six girls and they throw a routine together. And that's the way it looks—thrown together."

"You may not like my show, but at least you can't say that it was put on haphazardly. Everything was designed to flow together. There was no flowery introductions, no idle chitchat; I hate that sort of thing and I'm terrible at it. The numbers will follow along, one after the other."

The Astaire approach to television is unique. He declines to

Nash Wants 'Off' Disaster List

NASHVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Nash County commissioners Monday asked that their county be removed from a list of 21 counties for which federal aid had been asked as a major disaster area.

Gov. Dan Moore sent the request to Washington following an ice storm last month. The commissioners were advised by the Civil Defense agency that the request had been officially received.

Commissioner Henry Milgrom said, "If we needed help we would have asked for it."

quest on anyone else's show, preferring to limit himself to hand-crafted specials. There have been only four in 10 years.

"I wish I could be like Dean Martin; he's a genius at doing a show with speed, yet maintaining his particular charm," said Astaire. "As for myself, I started laying out the dances for about four weeks. Then I worked with the dancers for another eight weeks of rehearsals and taping. Here—look at this."

He displayed a calendar of his last month of work. It was as detailed as a military operation, with each day of seven-day weeks designated for numbers in various stages of development. He was so wrapped up in his work that he didn't get out to Santa Anita racetrack to watch his new filly Sharp Curve win a race.

The ageless Astaire's 66th year has been one of his most strenuous. Through the long, hot San Fernando Valley summer he played "Finian's Rainbow" on the Warner Bros. backlot. His winter has been spent at NBC's color studios, also in Burbank.

Unappreciative Of Their Help

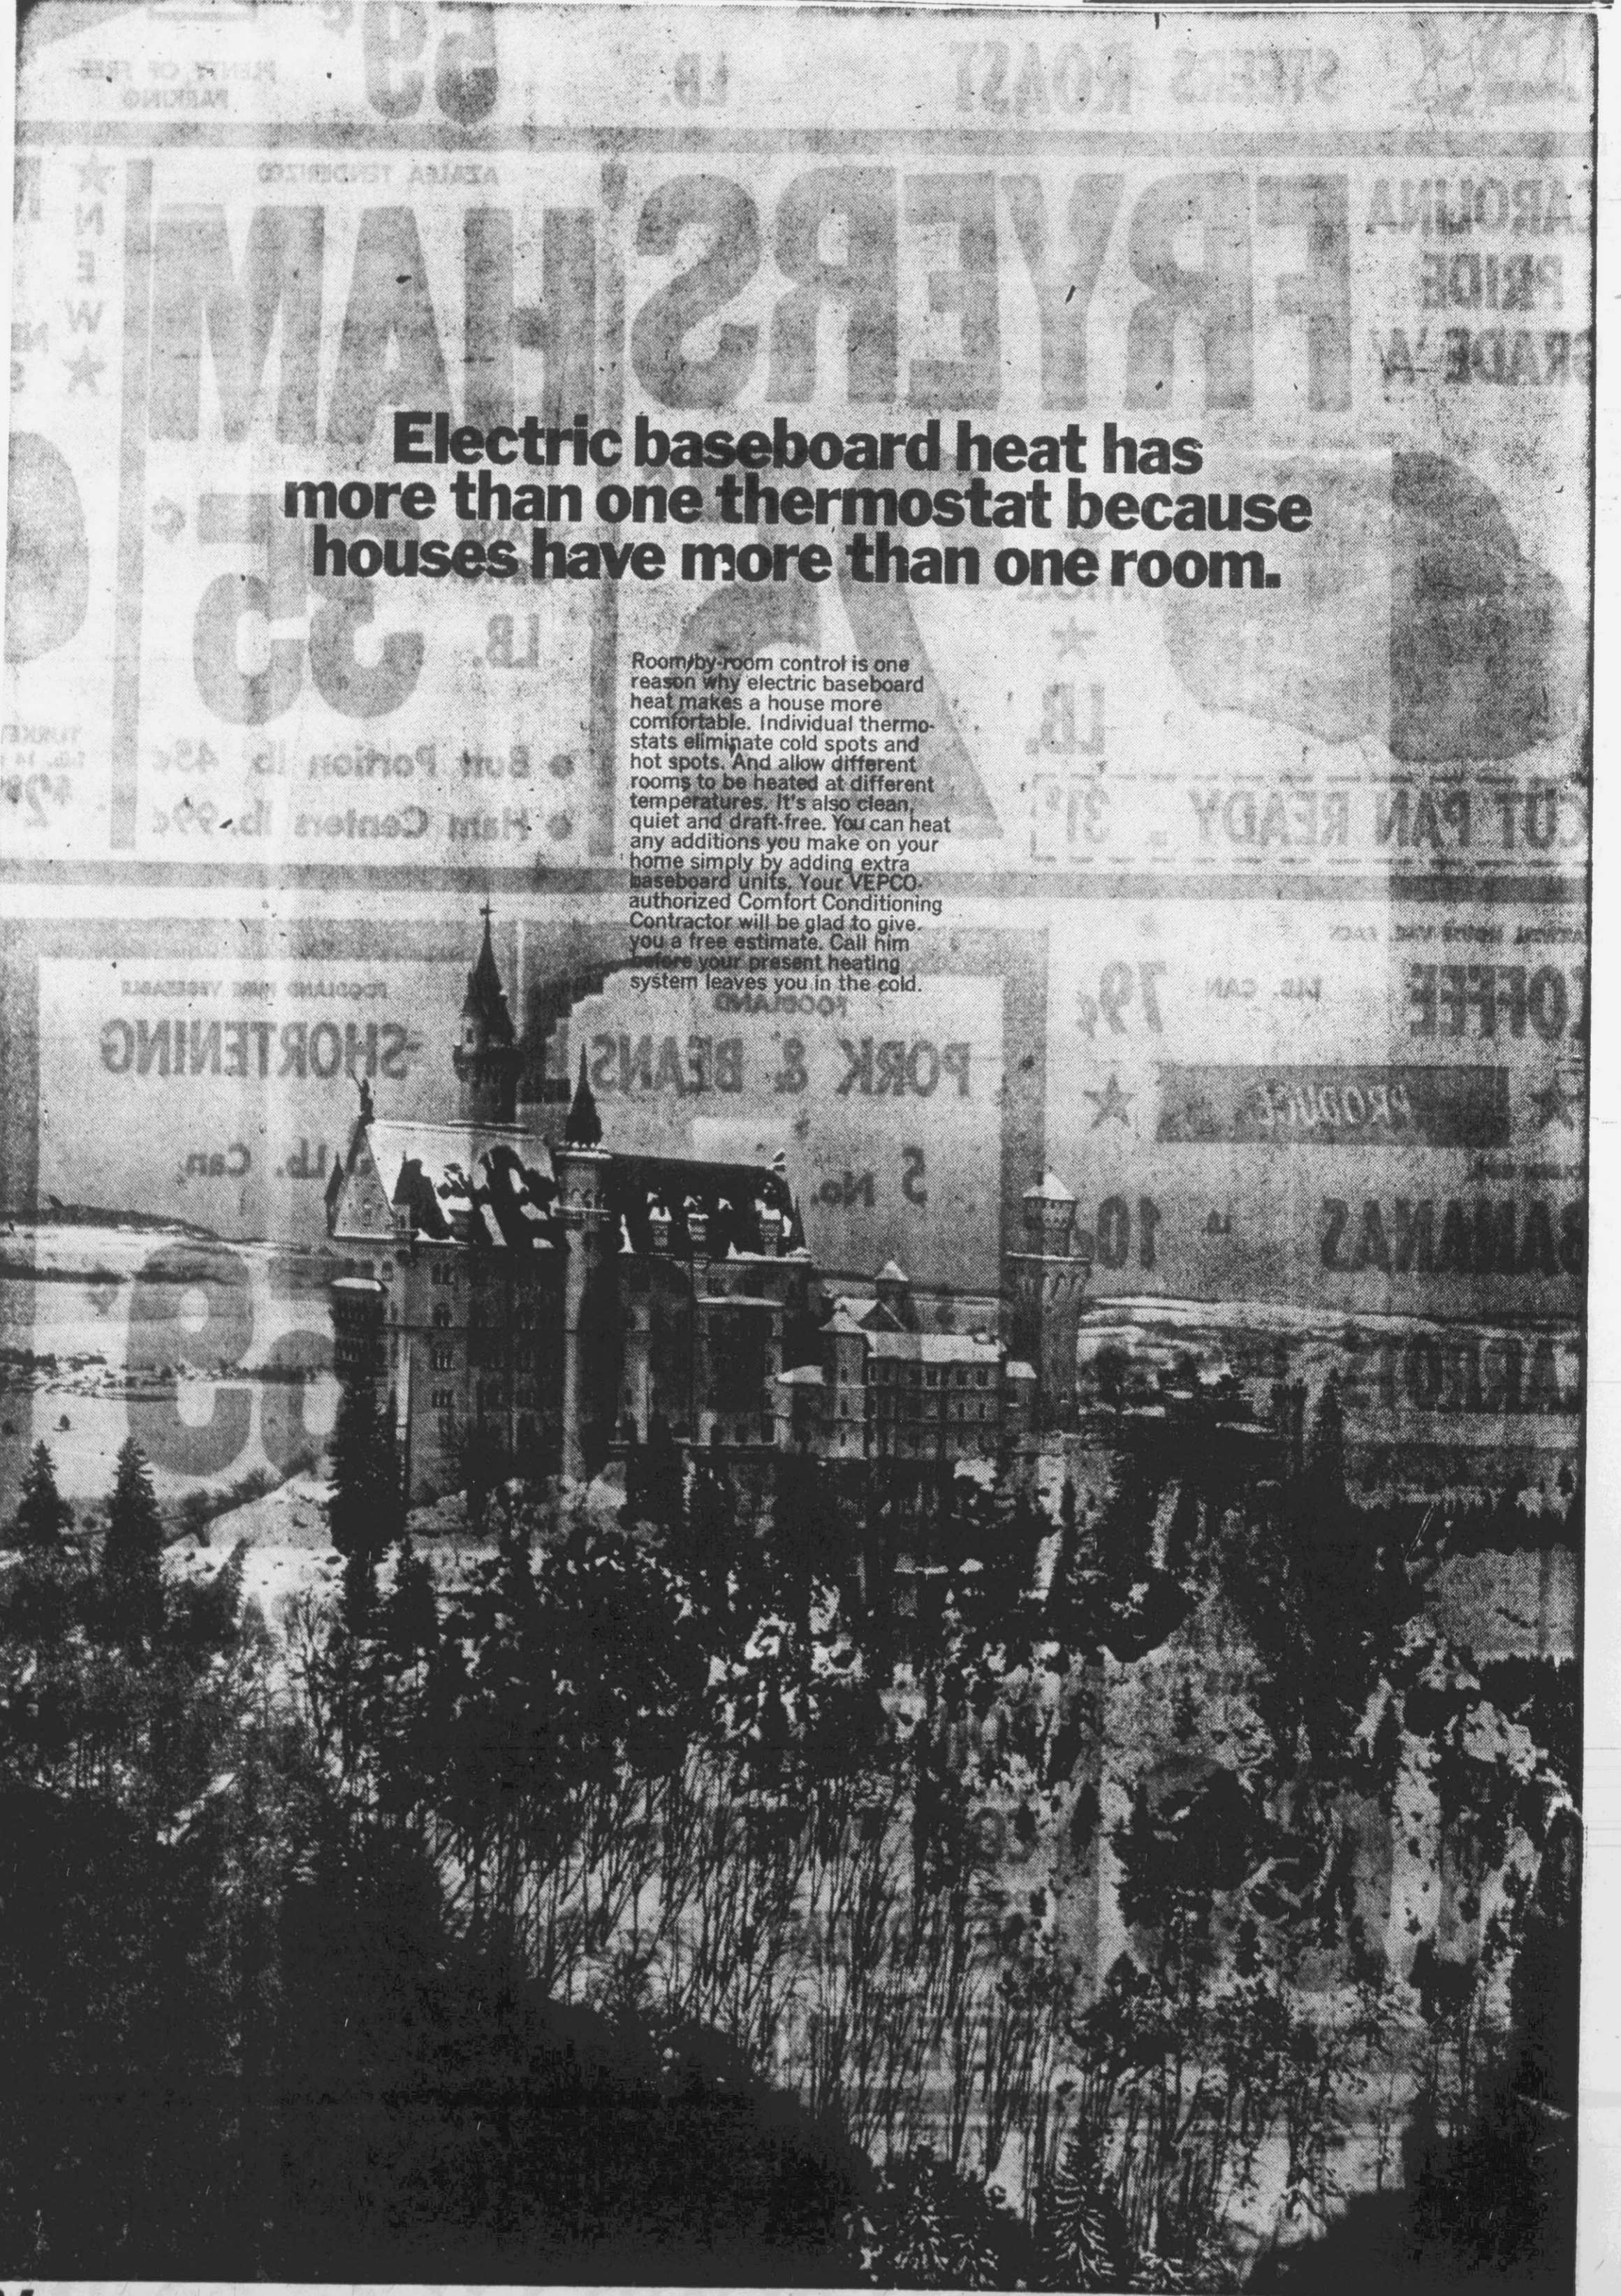

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A large male cougar that got caught in a bobcat trap in eastern Oregon proved a difficult customer to help the State Game Commission said.

When two shots of an immobilizing drug failed to put the animal out, game wardens had to lash it to the ground with ropes to free its paw. The cougar is a protected animal in Oregon.

Will Accept Cash Instead Of Party

TOKYO (UPI)—Construction workers who were usually rewarded with on-site sake (rice wine) parties after completing a project have decided not to accept the traditional gift.

They say too many car accidents, tile setters and plumbers are involved in traffic accidents after such parties. They say they will accept cash instead.

Electric baseboard heat has more than one thermostat because houses have more than one room.

Room-by-room control is one reason why electric baseboard heat makes a house more comfortable. Individual thermostats eliminate cold spots and hot spots. And allow different rooms to be heated at different temperatures. It's also clean, quiet and draft-free. You can heat any additions you make on your home simply by adding extra baseboard units. Your VEPCO authorized Comfort Conditioning Contractor will be glad to give you a free estimate. Call him before your present heating system leaves you in the cold.

Elder Statesman Cites A New Role For Britain

EDITOR'S NOTE—Lord Butler is one of Britain's most experienced and respected elder statesmen. Before being elevated to the peerage he was a Conservative member of Parliament from 1929 to 1965. He has held many posts in British governments, including minister of labor, chancellor of the exchequer, leader of the House of Commons, home secretary, deputy prime minister, and foreign secretary. He is now master of Trinity College, Cambridge. Following is a partial text of an interview with John Parrott of the Christian Science Monitor in which Lord Butler discusses such issues as the current state of Britain, the brain drain and the youth of his country and the world. The interview, copyright by The Christian Science Monitor, was made available to The Associated Press.

Q. Many are saying that the "Great" has been taken out of Britain. Do you agree with this? If not, how would you challenge this belief?

A. I don't think the "Great" has been taken out of Britain at all—I think she has changed her role. After all, it was only in my lifetime we had this magnificent, as it was called, empire in India with the crown at the head of the edifice. Immense numbers of our young people were joining the forces and going automatically overseas to Egypt, or to India or the Far East.

We can't continue with that sort of role in the modern age. I would say that one of the things we are lacking now is an occupation for our young people.

You see, the ordinary British youth has been occupied a great deal overseas. If you live in a village you find that many of the most modest homes have a son or a father who has served in India or served overseas.

Now this is rapidly coming to an end. We have just withdrawn from Aden which in many ways is a shattering experience—it looks like a retreat. But the fact is that we cannot keep our influence in the modern days in an old colonial pattern.

I think that we have to invent some sort of wide service for our people of a young age. I'm thinking partly of the U.S. Peace Corps and I'm thinking partly of a continuation of some form of national service.

This is not felt by the ordinary person because they have not thought about it. But I believe that as we rapidly give up our overseas obligations we want to find something a little more than football for our young people.

Q. Would you make this compulsory?

A. I think that you have to make it, and I'll use the word like Lord Beveridge, "universal," otherwise it wouldn't be fair. Our Voluntary Services Overseas is broadly the sort of concept I have in mind.

It might involve also social duties and plays in Britain itself—the main fields here being in social welfare. But if they go overseas they will have to take part in teaching and education as they do in our VSO at present.

Q. And this, you think would provide a new momentum for young people?

A. Yes. You see, if they play football, young people are quite healthy and happy—but that is not enough alone. It's better than doing nothing and loitering on street corners, but it is not enough alone.

I think we have seen in Scandinavia, Sweden, and other great countries that they are having considerable young people trouble—even more than we are.

That is partly because the young are so sheltered in what you could describe as a safe and prosperous democracy. But their natural instincts are not met or satisfied.

I don't take so pessimistic a view of the young as some people who don't mix with them so much as I do, because I am at present spending my time living with the young.

I think they are feeling for new experiments—this accounts for their clothes and for the length of their hair, which I think is regrettable.

But I find that the great majority of them are working extremely hard for what they want to do in life.

Q. What are your opinions on the much talked-about "brain drain" of young British talent to the United States? Do you think that this is something that should be controlled, apart from U.S. immigration controls, or do you consider that basically it is a good thing?

A. I personally don't take again so pessimistic a view as some people do about this. For example in my own college we take it for granted that the very brightest young people will go to America for a spell.

Q. What do you think they gain from going to the United States?

A. I think because it is such a rushing and mighty free enterprise civilization such as the world has never seen before. I think it is a very good thing for them to see the "States." What I don't want to be done is for our brains in industry, which we need so much in Britain, to be creamed off simply because of lack of money and paid for by more expensive industries in the United States. That I think is rather a waste.

But what I think is not a waste is when a scientific man finds that he wants to enlarge his experience and his boundaries and either spends some time in America or goes to America—I don't think you can stop science expanding.

Q. What advice would you give to young people generally, as there is currently such a terrific emphasis on youth?

A. My advice to young people would be not to underestimate the old.

I think there is a great danger today which came from the Kennedy image and has been continued partly by the (British Prime Minister Harold) Wilson image, of thinking that you can do everything as a young or middle-aged man.

There is a great tendency for people after about the age of 60 to be retired. With the extra extension of life I think that this is just nonsense. Some of our greatest names—Churchill, the elder Pitt, and many others including the late Lord Attlee—did much of their best work when they were in their older years.

I should advise young people to be thoroughly adventurous, to try out life, but also to use the wisdom of the more experienced—perhaps a little more than they are inclined to do so now. I think this tendency to think that the young must do everything, will pass like any other tendency.

Q. Looking at the present state of the country with its current low morale, what is needed?

A. I think our first duty is to get our economy straight and then I think people will not lose confidence in their pound and their prices and their currency which is what the professional and other classes are feeling now—a great sense of fear.

I think if we got that right it would have much more effect upon our young people and upon the future happiness of our country than they perhaps realize.

Q. Turning to politics, Lord Butler, do you agree that there is a role for a young man in politics today?

A. I take a very personal view of this. I think that the younger a man goes into politics today the better. I don't mean by that necessarily 23, but I mean by the time he is 30. This is because there is so much to learn in our modern complex society, whether in America or Britain, that I think the apprentice ought to start young. I started myself at the age of 15 and it certainly did me no harm. It took me years to acquire some of the small knowledge I have now.

Had Extreme Of Poor Publicity

HARRISBURG, Ore. (UPI)—It has been said that any publicity at all is better than none, but owners of a restaurant here weren't too happy recently when the first leg of the "N" in their non "DINE" sign went out leaving "DIVE" brightly lit for all passers-by to see.

ECU Geologist To Give Paper At World Meet

An East Carolina University geologist, Dr. Percy Crosby, has been selected to present a research paper at the 23rd International Geological Congress in Czechoslovakia next August. Dr. Crosby, an intensive researcher of feldspar-rich anorthosite, will give a paper based on his continuing investigation of the rock in the Adirondack Mountains of New York.

He began the study in 1962 and has continued it since with support by the National Science Foundation and the New York Geological Survey.

His paper, titled "Igneous Differentiation of the Adirondack Anorthosite Series," will be delivered to the Volcanism and Tectogenesis Section of the international meeting. Then it will be published as part of the official record of the 1968 congress.

Dr. Crosby joined the ECU faculty last fall as a member of the new Geology Department. Before coming to Greenville he taught at the George Washington University, the State University of New York at Plattsburgh and Northeastern Illinois State College in Chicago.

He is a magna cum laude of Dartmouth College where he also earned Phi Beta Kappa membership. He has MA and PhD degrees from Harvard University.

His research work in anorthosite is part of the overall study by many geologists the world over which adds to the general knowledge of the behavior of the earth's crust during mountain formation.

Board Approves Survey Contract

SNOW HILL — The Greene County Board of Commissioners Monday approved a contract with Rivers and Associates of Greenville for a county-wide water and sewer survey.

The survey was made possible through a $5,000 grant from Farmers Home Administration.

Final plans were adopted by the commissioners in connection with implementing the food stamp program in Greene County.

George Mewborn, auditor of Greene County, said the issuance of food stamps to eligible recipients will begin April 1, and will be handled through the banks in the county.

Mewborn said grocery merchants will be given an opportunity to participate in the food stamp program if they desire.

The board set April 8 as the first meeting date of the Board of Equalization Review.

Engineer Hints Things To Come

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Giant glass submarines and huge city-covering domes may be practical by the end of this century, an engineer has predicted.

Thomas C. Kavanagh of New York, structural consultant for the Houston Astrodome, told a recent meeting at the University of Michigan that large glass spheres may be developed to explore ocean depths.

The subs, he said, would consist of "large glass spheres mounted on reinforced plastic pontoons." Domes, possibly supported by air, could be used over whole cities to keep weather out, he said.

HONORS BEAVER

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (UPI)—A five-ton carved wooden beaver was hoisted on a concrete base here recently.

The statue is part of a drive by a local magazine to have the beaver recognized as Oregon's official state animal.
