

U.S. Warplanes Shoot Up Three Red Airfields, Down Two MIGs, Aid Hue Fight

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers shot down two MIG17 jets today, blasted three North Vietnamese airfields and lent a hand to U.S. Marines trying to drive diehard Communist holdouts from the walled Citadel of Hue.

Two Air Force F4 Phantoms encountered the MIGs 30 to 40 miles northwest of Hanoi and brought them down with missiles and 20mm cannon, the Air Force said. This raised the total number of MIGs claimed down in aerial combat in the last three years to 110, compared with 40 American warplanes lost to MIGs.

The U.S. Command said that during strikes against North Vietnam Tuesday, Air Force and Navy bombers attacked the airfield six miles southwest of Haiphong, the Bai Thuong field 70 miles south of Hanoi, and the Vinh airfield 140 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

As the battle for Hue continued into its third week, U.S. Marine jets streaked down on the former imperial capital of Vietnam to bomb, strafe and rocket an outer wall of the old Citadel behind which remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment stubbornly held out.

The jets made pass after pass, attempting to blast a path through the wall for the Leathernicks on the ground. But the North Vietnamese continued to lay down eavy barrages of fire on the Marine positions a few hundred yards away. The interior area held by the Communists apparently was still off limits to the U.S. fliers because it contained historic 19th century monuments and the imperial throne room.

A senior U.S. officer said the North Vietnamese holed up in the Citadel were believed running low on ammunition and other supplies. He said they apparently had managed to hold out this long by getting supplies at night from the nearby north bank of the Perfume River.

The Air Force also announced it is investigating reports of "friendly casualties" when half the bombs dropped Tuesday by U.S. B52 bombers on the closest raid they have ever made to Saigon landed outside the target area.

The spokesman said 100,000 pounds of bombs went astray, indicating three or four of the high-level Stratofortresses made the raid. The target was Viet Cong troop concentrations 10 1/2 miles north of the city, and the spokesman added that even the bombs that went astray landed in an area for which South Vietnamese officials had given target clearance.

It was the first report of a bombing error by the big B52s in nearly three years of operations over South Vietnam, but most of their strikes have been against enemy-controlled areas. On the northwest frontier, the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh took its heaviest pounding in six days.

Commissioners last night authorized the installation of a plaque at the Utilities plant to commemorate outstanding work done by Utilities crews during the paralyzing storm.

Director Leonard Bloxam, in answer to a question from the commissioners, described the havoc created as "the worst I've ever seen."

Commissioner B. B. Sugg offered the motion that a permanent bronze plaque be installed in the plant honoring the employees for their outstanding service. It was approved unanimously.

Commission Chairman J. E. Waldrop reported that the repairs were made without any "loss time" injury. This was accomplished despite the fact that linemen were working around the clock on iced poles and under extremely hazardous conditions.

Bloxam reported to the commission that the cost of restoring service to all Utilities customers has been set at $114,000. This does not include the cost of making permanent repairs later on.

He said the commission will make application for Civil Defense disaster funds to aid the emergency costs. Commissioners last night accepted a bid for a supervisory control system to monitor circuit breakers at electric substations.

Vietnam Needs Cut Into Strategic Reserve Pressure Rises For Call-Up Of Guard Division To Fill Ranks

By FRED S. HOFFMAN AP Military Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The hurry-up shipment of another 10,500 combat troops to Vietnam cuts deeper into a strategic reserve of fulltime soldiers which senior military officers say has been dangerously depleted.

These officers, say privately they believe at least one division should be called up from the Army National Guard to bolster the strategic reserve of divisions available in the United States for swift deployment around the world.

The question of a call-up of group reserve units is under study and no decision has been reached. But pressure for such a call-up is rising.

Military officers in the Pentagon express belief further ground force deployments to Vietnam will be necessary and that the current buildup objective of 525,000 will be raised. This also is under study.

A Congress member who declined to be identified said the dispatch of more troops to Vietnam in addition to the 10,500 would be announced shortly. "They're already programmed," he said.

Three days after the Viet Cong opened their devastating city offensive, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen "we believe that the American forces there at present are adequate."

In the interim, Gen. William C. Westmoreland sent out a call for more ground troops, in view of that offensive and the continuing North Vietnamese threat to attack the Khe Sanh stronghold in northwestern South Vietnam.

Either McNamara was overruled or has changed his mind since his Feb. 1 statement that U.S. forces in Vietnam are adequate. Civilian officials at the Pentagon dispute the idea U.S. military strength is being stretched perilously thin. They say there are nearly one million men—not counting reservists—in uniform in the United States who could be drawn on for overseas deployment.

But senior officers argue such numbers are misleading, since a large part of this total is in basic or other training or performing rear-area functions. Key elements of the strategic organization of the buying companies "or any other group or organization apart from the warehousemen" be set up as an "efficient and satisfactory method" of handling the sheets.

The group also adopted a statement which said: "Since warehousemen will be unable to completely examine and inspect pre-sheated tobacco, they will not be responsible or liable for any nesting (inferior or damaged) tobacco discovered by the companies after the grower has been paid by the warehouse for the tobacco."

The Bright Belt proposal will be presented at a USDA-sponsored conference on pre-sheating in Raleigh Thursday.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — An agreement to sell the Newark News to Time Inc. was announced today.

Time will acquire all assets and liabilities of the News, New Jersey's largest daily and Sunday newspaper, from the 85-year-old Evening News publishing company headed by Richard B. Scudder and Edward W. Scudder Jr. in exchange for 325,000 shares of Time common stock. The stock closed at 88 1/2 Tuesday.

However, there was little optimism in London that a further contact between Thant and Hanoi would be decisive for efforts to get the Americans and the Communists to a conference table.

"There are simply no signs of willingness by North Vietnam to talk peace on terms that the United States could accept," one source said.

PARIS (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant made a hurried trip to Paris today and went immediately to the headquarters of the North Vietnamese mission, presumably to get a message from Hanoi.

Thant delayed his return to New York, previously scheduled for Tuesday night, after a tour of New Delhi, Moscow and London seeking to open the door to talks to end the Vietnam war. But British officials were not optimistic that peace negotiations were any closer.

Thant talked in New Delhi with a North Vietnamese representative, and there were reports in London a message from Hanoi was waiting for him in the office of Mai Van Bo, North Vietnam's representative in the French capital.

These reports said the message could be a reply to proposals for peace talks made by Thant to Nguyen Hao, North Vietnam's consul-general in New Delhi.

However, there was little optimism in London that a further contact between Thant and Hanoi would be decisive for efforts to get the Americans and the Communists to a conference table.

reserve, these officers say, are the combat-ready regular Army and Marine divisions in the United States. There were 10 such divisions in this country in July 1965 when President Johnson ordered a major build-up of American ground forces in Vietnam. Eight of them were Army divisions, two were Marine.

There are four Army divisions in the United States—and one of them is losing a brigade of highly trained paratroopers to the Vietnam war. The Army has begun to form another division, the Sixth Infantry, at Ft. Campbell, Ky., but this outfit will not be combat-ready for about nine months.

After the new deployments to Vietnam, the Marines will be down to a little more than one division in the United States. Marine officers long have urged a call to active duty of the Fourth Marine Division, the corps' reserve element.

The Marines claim their reserve division and its associated air wing could be ready for deployment about 30 days after call-up. This combined ground-air unit totals about 48,000 men.

The Army has a 150,000-man force of first-line reservists and guardsmen who for two years have been undergoing extra training and are supposed to be fit for deployment eight weeks after being mustered.

Chief H. F. Lawson said M Gene Summey told detectives he had driven from Charlotte Monday and was tired. He stopped his truck at a traffic light at the intersection of Dickinson and Grande Avenues, Lawson continued, while riding around looking for a room.

A Negro man, Summey told investigators walked up to his truck, pulled a pistol and asked him for his wallet. Summey said the robber took the cash from his billfold then tossed the wallet back into the truck and walked away.

This, he reported, occurred about 9 p.m. Monday. The incident was reported to police 12 hours later.

Chief Lawson quoted Summey as saying he drove to a service station, parked his truck and went to sleep following the theft.

Investigation into the case is under way.

Plaque Will Salute Ice Storm Work

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Managing Editor The Great Ice Storm of 1968 will be perpetually memorialized by the Utilities Commission.

Commissioners last night authorized the installation of a plaque at the Utilities plant to commemorate outstanding work done by Utilities crews during the paralyzing storm.

Iced-up trees crashed electric lines virtually wrecking the Utilities electric distribution system in last month's storm.

Director Leonard Bloxam, in answer to a question from the commissioners, described the havoc created as "the worst I've ever seen."

Commissioner B. B. Sugg offered the motion that a permanent bronze plaque be installed in the plant honoring the employees for their outstanding service. It was approved unanimously.

No Stand By Warehousemen On Marketing

RALEIGH (AP) — The Bright Belt Warehouse Association is not taking a stand for or against a proposed federal marketing order to regulate the flow of flue-cured tobacco to markets.

The association agreed Tuesday that the question of a marketing order should be decided by tobacco growers after public hearings and in a referendum if one is called by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Some 300 warehousemen from Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia attended the special session. They voted unanimously to endorse pre-sheating of loose-leaf tobacco provided certain conditions are met.

Pre-sheating is a method of packaging looseleaf tobacco at the farm in burlap sheets. The Bright Belt plan, substantially different from one proposed by buying interests, would apply only to markets in North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

"It is our feeling," said Lawrence Wallace of Smithfield, president of Eastern Belt warehousemen, "that neither the farmer nor the warehousemen should have to assume any burdensome cost in connection with pre-sheating."

Wallace and Fred Royster, managing director of the Bright Belt Association, indicated that since the buying companies will receive the major benefit from pre-sheating, the companies should bear the major share of the expense.

Time, Inc. Acquires N.J. Paper

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — An agreement to sell the Newark News to Time Inc. was announced today.

Time will acquire all assets and liabilities of the News, New Jersey's largest daily and Sunday newspaper, from the 85-year-old Evening News publishing company headed by Richard B. The Newark News would be a wholly owned subsidiary of Time Inc. The agreement provides that time will assume a debt of about $5 million.

James A. Linen, president of Time Inc., said it is anticipated that both Scudders will continue to be actively associated with the newspaper. Richard is publisher and Edward is president.

Not involved in the sale are Garden State Paper Co., a newsprint firm, and Newark Broadcasting Corp., which operates radio station WVNJ.

A Charlotte man told Greenville police yesterday he had been robbed of $267 at gun-point here Monday night but went to sleep before reporting the theft.

Re-Election Bid By Rep. Rountree

Horton Rountree, member of the State House of Representatives, announced today he will seek reelection to the post in the May 4 Democratic primary.

Rountree is the first candidate to announce for seat number two from Pitt.

Rountree said one of the most important problems facing the 1969 general assembly will be meeting the medical needs of rural Eastern North Carolina.

One proposal, he said, to help meet these needs is the establishment of a medical center in Pitt County to serve the entire area.

"As a member of the subcommittee of the Legislative Research Council to study the needs of our people," Rountree said.

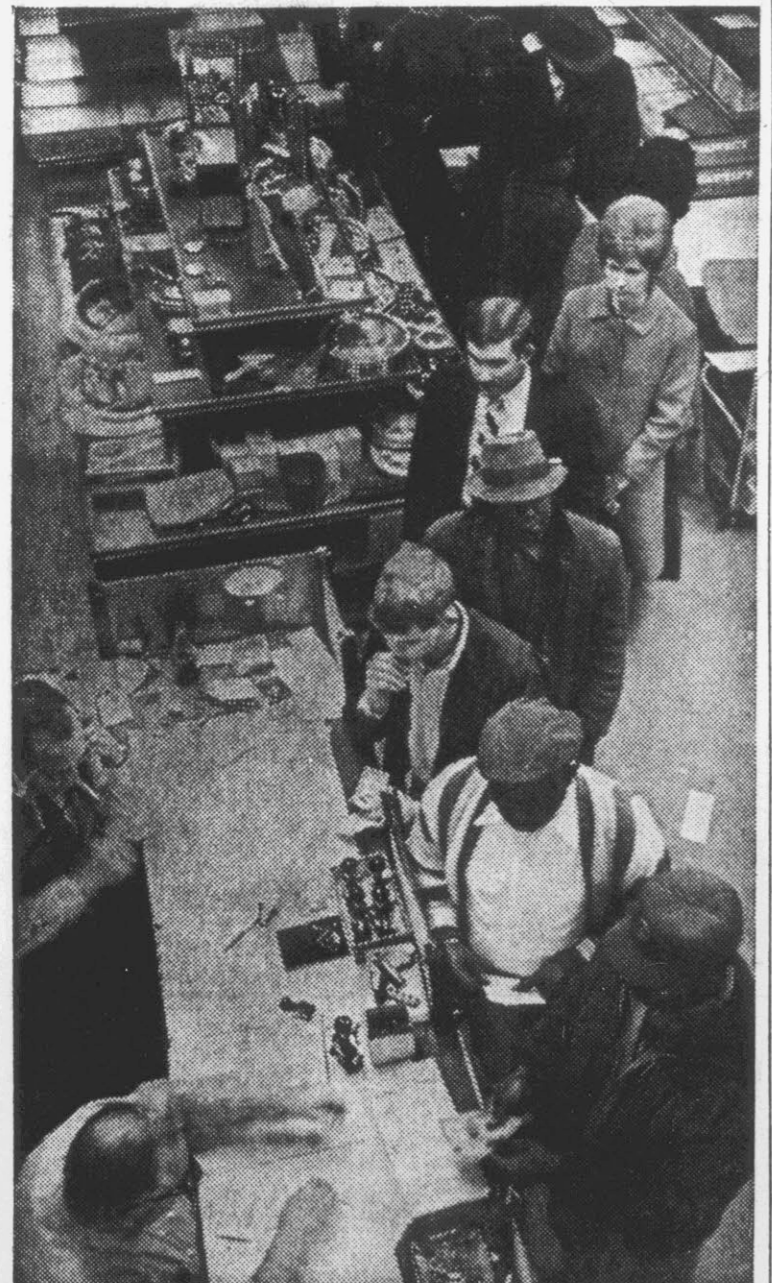

HORTON ROUNTREE

The Pitt native has served as a town commissioner in Farmville, an assistant attorney general of North Carolina from 1959 to 1962. He was also solicitor of the Pitt County Recorder's Court from 1951 to 1953.

In announcing his candidacy, the attorney said, "the experience gained during the 1967 session of the state legislature will enable me to better represent the people of Pitt County in 1969."

As a freshman legislator, Rountree was a member of the Longer Lines Ahead?

THE LICENSE LINE . . . Owners standing in line yesterday in Greenville waiting to buy tags before the Thursday midnight deadline.

One Day More To Buy 1968 License Plates

Motorists have only one more day in which to purchase 1968 license plates for motor vehicles before the midnight February 15 deadline for displaying the new red and white reflectorized tags.

According to reports from license agents in Pitt County, many owners may be standing in line tomorrow to meet that deadline.

Through Monday, license sales in Greenville totaled 17,196 registration plates. That figure includes: 13,157 cars, 88 motorcycles, 2,917 trucks and 1,434 trailers.

Through February 15, 1967, the last day before the midnight deadline, sales totaled 19,200 registration plates, including 14,442 cars, 123 motorcycles, 3,237 trucks and 1,418 trailers.

Mrs. White said sales during the month of February this year have amounted to from 600 to 1,000 more plates than in February of 1967. In all, the Farmville office sold 10,000 registration plates for all types of vehicles during 1967.

Both agencies reported steady but not unusually long lines during yesterday, but said lines might get longer tomorrow.

Garbage Problem Is Put Back In Lindsay's Lap

NEW YORK (AP) — The garbage crisis comes full circle today as Mayor John V. Lindsay and the sanitation union sent negotiators back to the bargaining table for new efforts at reaching a permanent contract settlement.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and legislative leaders were unable Tuesday to break the deadlock over his mandated end to New York City's nine-day garbage strike and turned to Lindsay for help—as he had turned to the state six days earlier.

Bloodmobile Tops Two-Day Goal, Getting 252 Pints

By BLANCHE HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer A total of 252 pints of blood was collected Monday and Tuesday by the Pitt County Bloodmobile, surpassing the two-day goal by 26 pints, in a visit sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees.

Pitt County Bloodmobile Chairman Joseph O. Clark said this visit was the first time the bloodmobile has met the quota in Greenville, excluding the visit to East Carolina University and the emergency visit last July, since March.

The bloodmobile collected 122 pints Monday, nine pints over the goal, with a total of 18 people rejected for various reasons. This 122 pints, plus the 130 pints collected Tuesday, brought the total for the two days to 252 pints. A total of 52 persons were rejected.

Clark said this visit was the first test of the new idea of advance pledges with hopes of putting the Blood Program on a more sound and steady basis, Clark stated.

"Comparing this visit to the last two-day visit to Greenville, which was prior to the Pledge-A-Thon, we can really see what a tremendous success this pledge system has been," the chairman continued.

Last Nov. 1, 36 pints of blood were collected and on Nov. 2, a total of 48 pints was donated. A total of 84 pints of blood was collected during the two day visit as compared with the 252 pints donated during the visit Monday and Tuesday. The citizens of Pitt County owe a great deal to the Greenville Jaycees, not only for sponsoring the Pledge-A-Thon, but following that up with this outstanding two-day visit," Clark noted.

Today's Thought: What Happened To Romance?

EDITOR'S NOTE — On Feb. 14, the fest day of St. Valentine of which saint there were at least eight, all partial to lovers, thoughts generally turn to romance. But alas, where did it go?

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

Romance was such a fragile unobtrusive creature you may not have noted its passing.

But now it's too late to send flowers, although there's the Heart Fund, of course.

The cause of demise—often delicately phrased in obituaries to spare the feelings of life bereaved—can be stated in this instance without pussyfooting: a severe case of Cynics' Syndrome—see definition at end—complicated by Science-itis. Recovery was out of the question.

For posterity, Romance's tragic life should be recorded. It was born back when men were men, women were women and even a child could tell the difference.

Noah Webster, who wrote the brief biography, said—with his customary redundancy—that Romance was "love of a romantic nature." He later amplified that definition to include "appeal of the heroic, adventurous, remote, mysterious or idealistic." Any perceptive person could foresee the seeds of Romance's destruction.

Nourished as it was on tales of chivalry and heroism, Romance died a little every time a frail, fair lady immobilized an attacker with one karate chop and then tenderly, with one hand, lifted her erstwhile male defender to his feet. Love maybe, but Romance?

With the advent of the briefest bikinis, then the miniskirts, mystery and remoteness fled. Romance was left glassy-eyed from looking on beauty bare down to the last mole.

In other days poets rhapsodized about a lovely eyebrow or the liquefaction of Julia's clothes, but who, even among our underground poets, would pen an apostrophe to an appendectomy scar?

Romance was suffering noticeably by the time boys and girls became indistinguishable by dress, hair and mannerisms. Those mature enough to grow bears were imbued with a certain romanticism out of gratitude for the easier identification.

No one can say definitely when the disease took a fatal turn.

Certainly Romance became stifled when the hippie movement turned its back on those decadent symbols of middle-class materialism, soap and deodorants.

Then swiftly came a series of setbacks: Mere toddlers were to study sex education. Scientists probed endlessly elucidated clinically about those things Romance preferred kept in the dark. Frank discussion of the Pill became parlor conversation.

The last lingering illness set in about the time computers began to make a science of love. Romance knew it could not survive data, engagement by electronics, marriage by machine—so it took to its bed forever.

By removing trial and error from friendship, by diluting all the delicious discoveries two lovers could make about each other, by banishing forever the possibilities of refreshing quarrels and ineluctably pleasant making-up periods, scientific matematching doomed Romance.

With nothing left for it to do, Romance faded away as gracefully and as unmoored as lace from valentines.

Today a Feb. 14 greeting card is as successful as its degree of witty insult. But of Romance, there is no trace at all.

Cynics' Syndrome—a group of symptoms first recognized in the mid-1960s by a team of social scientists dissecting the body politic.

Men, Where's Your Sense Of Adventure? Open Your Eyes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a teenage girl with the same kind of problem every other teenage girl has. BOYS! First, let me explain that I am not very crazy. I'm just tired of going out with my girl friends.

In our social setup, the boys reserve the right to ask the girls to go out, marry them, etc. This is stupid. All the boys I know are shy and no initiative. It is very frustrating!

Could you do me a favor and tell the boys of the world to open up their eyes and notice that there are girls around, and to please pay some attention to them, to call them, up and show some interest?

And, Abby, if you know of a planet where it is acceptable for a girl to ask a boy for a date, please let me know. I am packed and ready.

A PROTESTER

DEAR PROTESTER: I agree. The system is all wrong. Not only do the girls outnumber the boys, but they mature earlier and are ready, willing and eager to commingle while the boys stand around with their hands in their pockets, blushing it up.

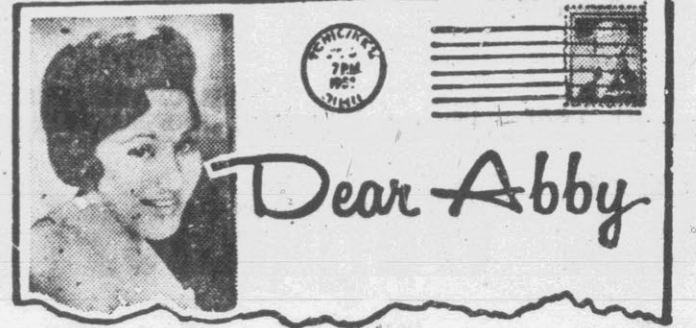

No wonder the women are becoming the more aggressive breed. And even more frightening is the undeniable increase of men who don't care whether they lead or follow.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the girl who wants to change her fiance's name to something shorter and easier to pronounce: Don't do it.

My name has 14 letters in it, too, but I've known how to spell it since I was three.

Nobody can spell it, and very few people pronounce it right, but do I care? No, Sir!

I am proud of my name, and your fiance is probably proud of his, too. Just think of someone with a name like "Eleuthere Irene du Pont de Nemours." How would you like to sign a check with a name like that? You would be doing your fiance a great favor by keeping his name like it is. You may even learn to like it yourself.

A "BRETTSCHEIDER"

DEAR ABBY: To the girl who was engaged to a man whose last name had 14 letters in it: NO name is unpronounceable. Some just require a little more practice.

I wouldn't recommend changing one's name, but it might simplify matters if one were to change the spelling. For instance, Hyszczyński can become Hisschinsky. And Ardziwsky can become Arjefsky. There isn't much you can do with Baccigaluppi, but as it stands, it isn't ridiculous to one who has used it all his life.

There are 39 William Johnsons in the Seattle telephone directory. Why not enjoy an unusual name?

Dr. Ralph Dunn Speaks To Pitt County Medical Auxiliary

Dr. J. Ralph Dunn, a Tarboro surgeon, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Pitt County Medical Auxiliary yesterday.

Two years ago Dr. Dunn went to South Vietnam as a volunteer physician with the American Medical Association's program to keep 40 civilian doctors at all times to give medical care to the Vietnamese civilian population. Dr. Dunn used slides which he photographed to illustrate his talk.

His pictures presented sharp contrasts. He showed pictures of scenery and the fertility of the land. He also showed slides of the open sewers, the ubiquitous goats and unsanitary food preparation.

There were pictures of Vietnamese women in their exotic dress with bright parasols and of wounded children. He showed slides of the market place colorfully decorated for the national holiday Tet. He also had slides showing squalid and crowded living conditions of displaced civilian population.

Dr. Dunn presented a report of conditions among the civilian population of this land which has been torn by war since 1947. However, he said that the most satisfying thing he'd ever done was the 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week work that he did during the months that he was there.

At the business meeting, the Medical Auxiliary heard the reports of committees who are in charge of having a survey made of health education materials available to Pitt County school children, and reports from the committee collecting leper bandages, soap and "johnny coats" to be sent to hospitals overseas.

Interrupted Honeymoon To Sign Papers

CHATEAU LONDON, France (WNS)—Marie Anne Ingrain burst into tears on her honeymoon when her husband told her that they would have to return home at once because they had failed to sign all the proper papers at City Hall. Now Mrs. Ingrain's tears have turned to smiles. The mayor and citizens felt so unhappy about the interrupted honeymoon that they financed a second honeymoon for the couple that is four weeks long instead of only two.

Skier Injured For Third Straight Year

GSTAAD, Switzerland (WNS)—Ruth Steeren, 29, has suffered ski accidents for three years in a row but is still not discouraged. This year she did not even make it to the ski slopes. On her first evening here, she broke her ankle dancing the watusi in a local night club. "I don't mind," she said. "A woman meets more men in the bar than on the ski slopes and they behave like gentlemen when you are injured."

Nursery Supplies Walking Boots

TEYNHAM, England (WNS)—Nursery manager Hilary Haltern bought 36 pairs of boots so that women could inspect the plants without ruining their shoes. Gradually the boots have disappeared. Haltern has replaced them, and added a sign: "Boots are made for walking, but not for walking away in."

A Far-Reaching Split In New York

The split that obviously is in the making between the Rockefeller and the Lindsay forces in New York's Republican party may have repercussions that will be felt in the GOP far beyond the boundaries of New York state.

Governor Rockefeller's ordering New York city's garbage collectors back to work over objections of Mayor Lindsay caused resentment that will not soon be put aside. On the other hand the failure of Lindsay to accept the governor's committee's recommendations on settling the strike which threatened the health and safety of the city was not taken kindly by the governor and his associates.

Subsequent statements by these two influential political leaders in New York have given no indication that they are inclined to put aside their differences. Mayor Lindsay has said the governor overstepped his authority in deciding how New York City should settle a problem with some of its employees. He said it set a precedent that posed a threat not just to his city, but to other cities of the state as well. The governor, for his part, has remained firm in his position that the mayor did not act in the best interest of citizens of his city in not accepting the proposed settlement. In the absence of positive action by the mayor, the governor felt compelled to take action.

Whatever the merits of the two positions, the political facts of life are such that the situation in New York is bound to leave deep scars even after superficial healing takes place. The result is likely to be detrimental to the political future of both Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Lindsay. Certainly New York's influence in the national Republican organization is likely to be diminished as is the personal influence of each of these men. Each will find his position within his own party more vulnerable and certainly will find the office he holds more vulnerable to a challenge from the Democrats.

The political aroma of New York City's garbage strike is likely to linger in the nostrils of that state's Republican organization long after the streets are cleared and scrubbed clean.

Sanford Chose To Look Ahead

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — There is substantial belief that by choosing not to oppose Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. this Spring Terry Sanford greatly improved his chances of becoming a U. S. Senator.

Not this year—barring an act of fate—but later. Sanford, 50, chose to bide his time and by doing so increased the odds in his favor.

There was some disappointment but by and large, taking everything into consideration, it was a popular decision. He followed the advice of many of his closest, staunchest friends and supporters who felt this was not the time.

In deciding to stand aside improved his position for the future, put himself in the front of contenders for the next U. S. Senate vacancy and probably shifted the odds to his favor.

This is the consensus of veteran political observers who feel Sanford had nothing to lose and everything to gain by waiting.

tory nor a clear Ervin advantage. But Sanford read it with an experienced, knowledgeable and politically sensitive eye and saw it meant a close bitterly contested fight in which—both he and the state's Democratic party might lose more than they could gain.

Explains Decision

"To challenge an incumbent in your own party I feel there should be an almost certain he can be replaced, and that the challenger's position should be better than even," Sanford said.

He spoke from experience. Remember Sanford was campaign manager for the late Gov. W. Kerr Scott in 1954 when Scott challenged incumbent U. S. Sen. Alton A. Lennon who was holding his post by appointment. Lennon had been in office only a few months and Scott, having left the governor's office a year earlier, had the odds in his favor. The result was a landslide Scott victory.

This was different. Ervin, the state's senior senator, is strongly entrenched. "To be completely honest," Sanford said, "I do not see that certainty that he could overthrow an incumbent's advantage... and do not consider my chances better than even."

Party Considerations

Sanford also cited party considerations. It is certain that such a contest would be "drastically divisive" among mutual friends and the Democratic party, he said.

The former governor said he was "convinced" that another highly-charged political campaign at this time "would divide the state" at a moment which could prove "disastrous" to its progress.

It was clear, however, that Sanford was looking to another day—in 1972 or sooner. His U. S. Senate aspirations are on record, and he has given his reasons for wanting to be a senator.

As soon as his long-awaited and not-expected decision was announced, there were guesses in political circles that it was a stroke which enhanced his chances and gave him an unwritten first call either on an appointment or candidacy during the next few years.

Significantly, the final Sanford poll last week did not concede either an Ervin vic-

Fitting Tribute To A Farm Bureau Pioneer

Naming of the Pitt County Farm Bureau building for the late Jasper E. Winslow is a fitting tribute to a Pitt Countyman whose leadership in founding a major organization in this state has brought great benefits over the years to North Carolina's agriculture.

A moving force behind the formation of the Pitt County Farm Bureau in 1936, Jasper Winslow was likewise instrumental in establishing the North Carolina Farm Bureau later that year and served as its president for a decade. The organization was established at a time when there was a dire need for greater unity among farmers of North Carolina in order to protect their interest. It came into being at a time when it was instrumental in helping to shape a number of agriculture programs at the national level and at the state level which helped to lift the agricultural economy of North Carolina to new heights.

With its agricultural heritage, it is fitting that Pitt County should be the birthplace of the state's foremost farm organization. But had it not been for Jasper Winslow and the other leaders who joined with him decades ago to meet the needs of farmers of this state, agriculture in North Carolina would now lag far behind its present position.

Romney Doesn't Talk Quitting

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—People keep asking George Romney who he's going to support for the Republican presidential nomination if he can't win it himself, and the Michigan governor keeps telling them he doesn't expect to lose.

It would take a lot to shake that expectation and convince Romney he should stand aside or become a proxy for some other GOP moderate in the race for the White House.

In current political conjecture, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a determined non-candidate, would become the beneficiary should Romney drop from the race.

But Romney is not behaving like a man who has any intention of standing aside, no matter what the outcome of the early presidential primaries. His standard answer to questions about the months ahead:

"I expect to win in New Hampshire I expect to win in Wisconsin and I expect to win at Miami Beach." That is the site of the Republican National Convention which opens Aug. 5.

If Romney makes good his claim and overcomes the New Hampshire odds, he could propel himself back toward the top ranking he enjoyed a year ago.

But Romney adds that he does not need a plurality over former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in New Hampshire to remain in contention for the nomination. He sets no firm target, says only that he realizes he must make a strong showing. And he adds that one game doesn't decide a championship.

Romney has taken to telling campaign audiences that he entered the New Hampshire race as a 5 to 1 underdog to Nixon. By that yardstick, any respectable showing in the March 12 primary would enable Romney to claim he was making substantial headway against Nixon.

It is a process which conceivable could be repeated in later primaries.

For once Romney gets into a game, it is hard to con-

The VC Couldn't Win

WASHINGTON—One of the many discussions still raging in the nation's capital is whether the Viet Cong did or did not get into the American Embassy in Saigon. The official government position is that they did not.

One of our public servants told me, "You newspaper people went overboard on the story. The truth is that although the Viet Cong penetrated the embassy grounds, they never did get into the chancery. Since they did not achieve their objective, we consider this one of the worst defeats the Communists have ever suffered in the downtown district of Saigon."

"That may be true," I said, "but there are some people who feel that penetration of the embassy grounds by the Viet Cong was a black eye."

"Balderdash," my friend said. "The question was never in doubt. Even if the Viet Cong had captured the embassy, we weren't worried."

"Of course not. Everyone knows the Viet Cong don't know how to operate an American Embassy."

I guess I must have looked stunned.

He continued: "Let us suppose the worst happened and the Viet Cong did get into the embassy. Do you think they have any notion of how to issue visas or passports or handle the fantastic amount of paperwork that an embassy of this size requires?"

"Well, they aren't trained for it," I had to admit.

"Of course they're not. Our intelligence showed that not one of the 19 Viet Cong who invaded the embassy grounds had any foreign service experience at all."

"Then why would the Viet Cong try to take over the American Embassy?"

"Because they're smug, and it's this smugness that's going to defeat them in the long run. They think they can just walk into one of our embassies and have it running smoothly in six hours. Well, they found out they couldn't."

It wasn't just a case of not knowing how to issue passports. Do you know not one of those guerrillas was capable of writing a report to Washington that anyone could have understood?"

"I forgot about writing reports to Washington."

"It's obvious they did, too, or they would have sent a much higher caliber man. Any idiot knows that one of the most important functions of an American Embassy is to cable back clear, precise, reliable reports on the conditions of the country. In the case of Vietnam, they would have had to supply reports on the pacification program, the military assistance program, the AID program, as well as transmit daily body counts to the White House. How they ever expected to do these reports with only 19 men, I'll never know."

"Maybe they were going to bring in more people after they captured the embassy," I suggested.

"It isn't just a question of paperwork and reports," my friend continued. "An American Embassy has to keep up relations with the government as well as other embassies. Do you think anybody in a prominent position in Saigon would come to an American Embassy reception if he knew it was being catered by the Viet Cong?"

"Socially, they'd be cut dead," I agreed.

Other Editors Saying More Federal Control

(Henderson Dispatch)

If the farmers want a Federal marketing system for sale of the 1968 flue-cured crop, they can of course have it. They will have opportunity at a series of public hearings on the proposal later this month to express their wishes. Some groups have asked for this additional imposition of authority from Washington.

A rough outline of what U. S. Department of Agriculture regulations would be like has been indicated in suggestions from various sources. But if these rules could be implemented by decrees from Washington, why could they not be accepted on a voluntary basis under existing procedure?"

Every one knows that there was some chaos and confusion in the marketing of the crop last year. It was also apparent that the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee which functioned last year for the first time was unable to, or at least did not, overcome the problem. But could not that agency be strengthened to meet conditions? We are not saying it could or would, only offering the suggestion.

What is repulsive about the new proposal is that it would be a further step in tightening the noose about the neck of producers, and hence depriving them of still further freedom of choice in conducting their own business. They are now regulated to the extent of acreage and poundage quotas, which have seemed to work satisfactorily for the most part.

If a Federal marketing program would work to the advantage of growers, despite surrender of more of their freedom of choice of USDA, then it might prove profitable at least financially. At the same time it is another move toward government decrees in nearly all phases of growing and handling the crop.

The decision is for the growers to make. If they like it, then their wishes should be respected. At the same time, it would be well to understand what all this leads to in the end. If this, then there might be still more of the same or different in the seasons ahead.

An Old Idea On Auto Insurance

By ELMER ROESSNER

President Johnson's consumer message to Congress last week has moved an idea that has been on the back of the stove for 35 years to a front burner.

It is the proposal that litigation be removed from auto-accident claims, that such claims be handled somewhat like workmen's compensation claims are.

That's a persuasive approach. Years ago workmen's compensation claims were handled through litigation as much as auto claims are today. But employers, through successive appeals, could starve workmen into accepting paltry settlements, or, by alleging contributory negligence, escape all settlements. It was public indignation over this system that forced states to establish workmen's com-

Victims Short-Changed
In a speech on the Senate floor, the Senator quoted reports that of $4.5 billion paid each year for auto insurance, less than half of that is returned in net benefits to accident victims.

Prof. Jeffrey O'Connell, of the University of Illinois law school, speaking before a Connecticut Bar Association forum in Hartford, declared that many lawyers oppose the Basic Protection plan because the legal profession is now getting $1.3 billion a year in auto accident cases. About 30 per cent of total lawyers' income comes from auto accident litigation, he said. He added that under the present systems, many victims get no recompense while others are "smothered in riches."

Exiles Forge Unity

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The new determination by exile Greek politicians to forget past differences and forge an alliance against the military dictatorship in Athens is clearly seen in an extraordinary request privately submitted to top Johnson administration officials.

In a series of secret meetings over the last three weeks, these officials were asked by an exile emissary to receive Andreas Papandreu—the left-of-center Greek leader now exiled in Paris who never has been a favorite of the State Department—when he comes to the U. S.

What made this request so remarkable was the identity of the exile emissary: George Plytas, the highly conservative former mayor of Athens whose ties to King Constantine (exiled in Rome) are intimate. Inasmuch as palace-oriented politicians such as Plytas considered Papandreu a red-tinged enemy of the monarchy before the coup of the Colomels last April, this means the extreme edges of the old Greek political spectrum are coalescing against the military junta.

This was an eye-opener for key policymakers here. The Plytas mission showed that the democratic Greek right as well as the left fears that continued military rule in Athens in time will lead to a Communist-led armed resistance and a renewal of the Greek civil war—a terrible prospect pool-pooed by the State Department until now.

Plytas, who fled Greece after the unsuccessful royal counter-coup of last December, has now returned to Europe to try to build the broad anti-junta coalition. His first step will be to see Papandreu and convince him of the necessity to cooperate with his arch-enemy, the former conservative Premier Constantine Caramanlis (also exiled), under the general leadership of the King.

Conservative exiles believe Papandreu, whose demagogic oratory against the King helped precipitate the April coup, has modified his anti-royalist stance. What may take considerable negotiation is getting Papandreu to accept even King Constantine's nominal leadership.

But Plytas is well aware that whatever exile alliances are forged in Europe will mean nothing if they are opposed by Washington. Furthermore, there is some fear that the mercurial Papandreu might get enveloped in a popular front including Communists if he is rebuffed and the junta is embraced by the U. S. government.

Accordingly, in his meetings at the State Department and the White House, Plytas sharply criticized the resumption of U. S. diplomatic relations with the Athens junta and pleaded with the U. S. not to resume full military aid. Backing up these arguments, he gave policy makers information quite different from the pro-junta dispatches coming from the U. S. Embassy in Athens.

The prospect of a popular front armed resistance inside Greece—under covert control of the Communists—is nearing, Plytas informed U. S. officials. He has fully substantiated evidence that a war chest has been raised (perhaps with Communist party

Man Is Making A Sewer Of His Ocean Of Air

EDITOR'S NOTE—The choice for man may very well be: clean up the air or stay indoors and live like a mole. The alternatives result from man's heedless poisoning of his environment. The following third of five articles on what man has done to his "home" tells of steps being taken to alleviate the situation.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

To breathe enough oxygen to stay alive, you must draw some 1,600 quarts of air into your lungs every day.

But civilized man is making a sewer out of his sky and air. Too much of our daily air is polluted, containing increasing quantities of noxious, offensive and poisonous gases and solid particles.

Health officials say they can only guess at the real cost to health both from killer smogs and from chronic exposure to carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide, ozone, lead, dust, soot, and a host of new chemical compounds.

The national bill from air pollution damage to clothing, metals, buildings, crops, paints and fabrics is estimated at $12 billion per year—about $60 per man, woman and child.

But to control or reduce air pollution, the federal, state and local governments until this year were spending only $84 million a year—42 cents per man, woman and child. Federal funds were boosted in legislation passed last year, but some experts say it's not enough.

"Americans have a choice:

clean up the air and live like human beings, or stay indoors and live like moles," warns John W. Gardner who recently resigned as secretary of health.

The earth is a spaceship whose outer "walls" are only its atmosphere bugged to the planet by gravity.

Each day into this atmosphere, 90 million motor vehicles are pouring 180,000 tons of carbon monoxide, 53,000 tons of hydrocarbons, and 17,500 tons of nitrogen oxide.

Each day, factories, homes, and power plants using fuel oil and coal belch up 100,000 tons or more of sulfur dioxide.

Damage to agriculture and livestock from polluted air is estimated at $500 million annually.

Much of some 800 million pounds of trash, garbage, leaves and the like is burned daily in incinerators, many of low efficiency, pouring more pollutants into the air.

Some 7,300 U.S. communities suffer from varying degrees of air pollution, says the U.S. Public Health Service.

During smogs, daily death rates soar above average as polluted air takes a toll of people with weakened respiratory systems and hearts.

A London smog was blamed for 4,000 excess deaths in 1952; one in Donora, Pa., for 20 dead in 1948; a Thanksgiving week smog in New York City in 1966 was blamed indirectly for snuffing out 168 lives prematurely.

Polluted air is blamed by some medical authorities for causing some lung cancers, for exacerbating asthma, the lung disease emphysema, tuberculosis, and congestive heart failure. Years of chronic, low-level exposure presumably take some toll.

"When people just don't feel well from air pollution, how do you fix a price?" asks Dr. John T. Middleton, director of the Public Health Service's National Center for Air Pollution Control in Washington.

"The auto driver consuming carbon monoxide for an hour or so daily may become a highway hazard from monoxide effects on his nervous system," he declares.

An initial step has been taken to choke off some of air pollution from motor vehicles, which some experts say contribute 60 per cent or more of all air pollution.

By federal law, all new cars starting with 1968 models must be equipped with devices that reduce the usual exhaust emissions of hydrocarbons by about two-thirds, and carbon monoxide by one-half.

It costs the new car buyer about $50. There is no legal requirement that the new efficiency be maintained as cars age, nor do older cars have to be similarly equipped. The government has proposed more stringent controls for 1970 models, cutting by one-third the amount of exhaust pollutants permitted in 1968 autos.

Some cities have pioneered clean air programs, notably among them Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

But as yet, says Dr. Middleton, most state programs lack adequate authority and resources to clean up what is everyone's air. And regional programs have been virtually nonexistent.

The federal government is putting more muscle into the struggle for cleaner air.

Under the Clean Air Act of 1963, and subsequent amendments, Congress supplied increasing funds for air pollution abatement programs, matching grants to states, research, training of personnel, and pilot programs to demonstrate specific means of reducing air pollution.

The budget to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare last year for all such efforts was $64 million. State and local governments were spending another $20 million.

The Air Quality Act of 1967 boosts sending to $428.3 million, over a three-year period. This includes $125 million for research over a two-year period.

HEW will set standards, designate air quality regions, and enforce the standards. The new act has been praised as a great step forward, and criticized as too complicated and as slowing down needed efforts to control air pollution.

No one denies that the problem is urgent, and complicated. "There is little or no political mileage to be won yet in working for cleaner air," says Ron

M. Linton, chairman of Urban America Inc., a nonprofit organization, in Washington, concerned with urban needs. "The pressure groups fighting for it are not in the political mainstream." "Yo wonder," he adds, "whether we have to wait for real disaster, the loss of many lives in a smog, before we begin all-out efforts to control air pollution."

France Quietly Taking A Major Part In New NATO Radar System

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Although President Charles de Gaulle has cut many French ties to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, France is quietly taking a major role in NATO's biggest current project.

It is a $308-million modernization of Europe's radar defenses against air attack from the Soviet Union.

Maj. Gen. Jean W. Accart, a decorated French pilot of World War II, is in charge of making the early warning system faster and better. His office has been moved from Paris to Brussels in the general withdrawal of French forces from NATO and the removal of NATO headquarters from French soil.

"France still belongs to the alliance," one French official pointed out. "In case of attack, French troops could be put under a unified NATO command in a few minutes."

"But you can't improvise a radar net. It has to be organized in advance."

Fourteen members of the alliance are paying for the project—all except Iceland which has no armed forces. It is officially called NADGE, short for NATO Air Defense Ground Environment.

In place of soldiers who now plot the position of hostile aircraft on maps, and transmit information about them by telephone, NADGE is installing computers to handle the necessary calculations and messages in fractions of a second. When complete—the target date is Dec. 28, 1970—it will save 10 to 15 minutes in reaction time.

That is the time it takes from the moment a radar operator spots the first unidentified blip on his screen, to the moment when fighter planes start to scramble or a missile is launched to intercept it.

Though the system is designed to eliminate human error and delay, the judgment of experts will still be needed to determine if a given blip is really an enemy plane or a friendly one wandering from its flight plan. As part of the project, 6,000 to 8,000 experts are being trained to maintain the improved system.

The radar net will spread out to the east of nine countries in a continuous north-south sweep: Norway, Denmark, West Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Britain, which has already improved its radar defense, will be locked into the system.

De Gaulle's partial withdrawal from NATO means that while France continues to take its full share in the work of watching for hostile planes, it is strictly on its own in taking measures against anything detected.

'Unphilosophical' Urban Approach

HONOLULU (AP) — Author Paul Goodman, speaking here at a symposium on "The Plight of the City," says most of the problems of urban society result from an "unphilosophical approach to planning."

As examples he referred to communities that bulldoze down buildings to build highways. In turn, he said, the people who have been displaced have to move to the suburbs, and have highways built to get them back to the city.

"This unphilosophical approach can lead to poor planning which is worse than no planning at all," he said.

The other 14 NATO members work together on the countermeasures. French planes and missiles may work with them, or they may not. That will be up to De Gaulle.

Pollution, Noise Laws Gaining Ground In States

CHICAGO (AP) — The various states in 1967 enacted more than three times the amount of air pollution control, noise control and solid waste disposal legislation than the year before.

Commerce Clearing House said well over 100 laws related to such problems were passed across the country as compared with 34 enactments in 1966.

Laws provide tax exemptions, license credits and other incentives designed to eliminate air pollution. They authorized the formation of air pollution control commissions, councils, agencies and boards.

State acts also combined states into regional enforcers, rules on air pollution. Connecticut, New York and New Jersey approved their entrances into the Mid-Atlantic States Air Pact which would also include Delaware and Pennsylvania.

That attempt failed, but a willing arms merchant will be found sooner or later. In Greek guerrilla fighting, there is some question how much popular support would be given the military government and how effective would be the army minus so many senior officers purged for suspected disloyalty to the ruling Colonels.

Indeed, Pyltas informed incredulous U. S. officials, the purges inside Greece exceed all published reports. An astounding 115,000 mayors and city councilors (including Pyltas himself) have been peremptorily removed from office. Thus, the referendum on the proposed new constitution which has been the aim of U. S. policy would be conducted by vassals of the junta in the fashion of a totalitarian plebiscite.

He has tried it twice in New Hampshire. First time out, it took him 34 balls to knock down 10 pins. The regulation quota is three. Apparently unconvinced, he tried again later and threw 33. He wouldn't quit until every pin was down.

That Romney trait could be the flaw in the scenario which has him slow Nixon's race in the earlier primaries, then stand aside and see Rockefeller emerge as the moderate GOP contender for the White House.

Rockefeller, who has supported Romney from the beginning, could not gracefully drop his non-candidate's role unless the Michigan governor had left the race.

Ayden Board Agrees To Deadline On Bill-Payment

AYDEN — The Ayden Town Board agreed to discontinue service on all light and water accounts that have not been paid by the 20th of each month at their meeting Monday night.

The board decided that personnel responsible for reading light and water meters will no longer collect money for late bills. The bills must be paid at the municipal office.

Ayden Fire Chief Tillman Charnzey appeared before the board to request that a telephone alert system be installed in the homes of the Ayden firemen. The board deferred action on the matter until Town Manager Peter Vandenberg could check with a telephone representative on the cost and work involved.

Vandenberg's acceptance as executive secretary for the Ayden Development Corporation was unanimously endorsed by the board.

The board accepted the resignation of Commissioner Elton

Z. McLawhorn who is moving to New Bern. McLawhorn was commended by the board for his outstanding contribution to the town of Ayden.

Board members signed an agreement with Seaboard Coastline Railroad for the town to install a 15-inch sanitary sewer main beneath the right-of-way.

Mrs. Estelle Langston requested that her property, located in the B. T. Stokes subdivision, be rezoned from residential to commercial. The board referred the matter to the Planning Committee.

A 60-inch tile will be placed on the property of Mrs. W. B. Tyson subject to the availability of funds, board members decided.

Pirates Lose To Oilers; Rose Shocks Jackets

ALDRIDGE FOR LAYUP — Roanoke Rapids saw a lot of this last night as Rose High School played a deliberate game, waiting for the easy shots such as this layup by Mike Aldridge. The formula paid off as the Phants upset the Jackets, 50-44, in a Northeastern Conference contest. (Reflector Photo by McLawhorn)

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor The Phillips Oilers put up a stiff defense and fired a fine 52 per cent from the floor last night to down the East Carolina University Pirates, 85-72. But the Pirate loss was not without one highlight. Big Charlie Alford played another excellent game, drawing down 11 rebounds and dropping in 22 points. If his play continues the rest of the season at the pace he has set in the past two games, the Bucs will have an excellent chance of climbing up in the Southern standings, and moving into good position for the tournament.

Belvoir Grabs 2 From Jasper

BELVOIR — Belvoir-Falkland swept a pair of games from Jasper last night. The girls won, 36-19, while the boys took a 77-66 decision.

In the opener, Belvoir moved out to a 6-0 lead and then held an 11-7 lead at the half.

In the third period, Belvoir again shot away as Jasper went scoreless, and the lead climbed to 23-7. In the final period, Belvoir outscored Jasper, 13-12, for the win.

Dianne Everette led Belvoir with 23 points.

In the boys contest, Jasper took a 16-12 lead in the first period, but Belvoir came back to gain a 29-24 lead at the half. Belvoir then outscored Jasper, 31-14, in the third period to pull away to a 60-38 lead and wrap it up. Jasper came back to outscore Belvoir, 28-17, in the final period but was too far back to catch up.

Robert Amerson led Jasper with 22 points, while Cecil Rhodes had 20.

For Belvoir, Buddy Teel led with 21 points, while Kelly Witherington had 16, David Nichols had 15, James Stancil had 14 and Ricky Beaman had 10.

Overall, however, the Pirates were outmanned by the much more experienced Oilers, who boosted their record for the year to 24-8.

Dominating the backboards, they gave the Bucs few chances for second shots, and at the same time, were able to get them when they needed them.

Mickey Wittman put the Oilers out in front at the start, but Earl Thompson hit for the Bucs from outside and tied it up. And that was as close as the Bucs got again the rest of the night.

Harold Sergeant, the Most Valuable Player in the AAU's basketball league last season, put the Oilers back on top and then Gary Schull, a big 6-8 center, made the lead four at 6-2.

For the next few minutes the Bucs and Oilers swapped shots, until at 13:58, Schull hit again to push the lead to 14-3, a six-point bulge. Wittman dropped in another bucket eight seconds later for an eight-point spread and after a couple of swapped shots, Schull hit again with 11:05 left in the half to make it 22-12, a 10-point lead.

Schull got another basket and Sargent hit on a couple of foul shots and the margin climbed to 14 at 26-12.

From that point, the Oilers slowly inched out on, hitting a 15-point lead at 31-16 on a bucket by Lou Skurcenski, and then following that up with a shot by Sargent to make it 33-16. The 17-point bulge was the largest of the half.

With 6:00 the Oilers hit to make it 35-18, and then both teams grew quite cold. The Oilers didn't score again until there was only nine seconds left in the half, and East Carolina didn't do much about cutting down the lead.

Thompson made a foul shot and then Vince Colbert got a basket and two free throws to trim the lead to 12 at 35-23, but the Oilers got one more bucket for a 37-23 lead at the half.

In the second half, the Bucs tried to rally and succeeded in cutting the lead back to as little as seven. After Phillips went back out by 16 in the early minutes of the half, Tom Miller hit to cut the lead back to 14. Alford then got a bucket and Colbert made the first of three three-point plays for him during the night to slice the lead to nine at 41-32.

After an Oiler free throw, Alford hit to snip the margin to eight, and after another charity shot by the Oilers, Richard Kier hit to nip the lead to seven at 45-38 with 13:54 to play.

For the next three minutes the lead stayed right at seven points. The Oilers went out by as much as 10 in the meanwhile, only to have Colbert drop it back to seven with another three-pointer.

But with 10:07 left, the Oilers began to pull away again, as their superior defense and bench strength told on the tiring Bucs. Two free throws made the lead 58-47 and another charity shot seconds later boosted the margin to 12.

From there on out, it was a steady climb away from the Pirates, as the Oilers boosted their lead to as much as 20 points in the final three minutes of the game.

In the closing seconds, East Carolina managed to cut it back to the 13-point final margin.

Besides Alford's 22 point effort, Colbert had 19, Earl Thompson had 14 and Kier had 11.

Schull had 20 to lead the Oilers, while Bill Kusleika had 16 and Wittman had 12.

In the preliminary, the Pirates freshmen nipped Louisburg Junior College, 74-68.

During the entire first half, the score bounced back and forth between the two. The lead changed hands on 11 occasions. East Carolina led by as much as three points, and Louisburg by seven, and held a 36-33 at the half.

In the second half, the Bucs rallied to take the lead at 37-36 and held it most of the way. Again they went out by as much as three only to lose it and fall back by four at 57-53. But finally at 58-57, they grabbed it for good and pulled slowly away, building up as much as seven point spread at 68-61. Louisburg rallied to within two with 1:24 left, but could never catch up after that.

Wayne McLemore led Louisburg with 24 points.

East Carolina was led by Jim Gregory with 25, while Bob McKillop had 18 and Ken Hartzler had 12.

The Bucs hit the road Thursday for an important game against VMI in Lexington, Va. Then on Saturday, the Bucs invade the University of Toledo. Monday they return home to finish the final week of the tournament, starting with The Citadel.

Deliberate Game Is Key To Phant Win

By SONNY McLAWHORN Reflector Sports Writer

A well-disciplined Rose High School basketball team dumped second-place Roanoke Rapids last night, 50-44.

The Phantoms attacked a 2-1-2 defense with a "four-corners" offense, made famous by UNC's Tar Heels. Gradually, the Yellow Jackets forced the Phants out of that offense, but Nelson Best's chargers refused to be rattled, as they continued to play for good shots.

Rose lost the lead only once. After Mike Harrington's opening bucket, the Jackets' Kirk Adams scored and Cotton Nicholson followed with a three-point play, making it 5-2 with 3:57 remaining in the first quarter.

The Phants had only two attempts from the floor during the first five minutes, but they made it back to the top at 10-3 by the end of the quarter, as Mike Aldridge cashed in on a two-shot opportunity at the foul line with seven seconds left.

Ron Hunnings' basket early in the second period tied it up, but the Phants battled back to score six straight points and increase the lead to 16-0.

Rose continued to play for the good shot in the third quarter, but occasional pressure from the Yellow Jacket defense forced some bad passes.

Hunnings' bucket with 7:30 left in the third period cut the Phant lead to two at 20-18, but the lead was back out to six on Billy Taylor's rebound shot with 6:13 left.

The Phants got their biggest margin of the quarter on Harrington's foul shot with nine seconds left, making the score 35-26.

The Jackets kept chipping away at the Rose lead during the final stanza, finally narrowing it to three points when Adams hit with 2:35 left.

But the poor ball-handling that plagued the Phants for about three minutes of the period quickly disappeared, and Rose's Taylor got his team out of trouble, hitting three foul shots to make it 46-30 with 1:18 remaining.

With 43 seconds left, Taylor hit two more to ice the game at 48-42.

Buddy Turnage's pair of free throws with four seconds showing on the clock accounted for the final margin.

Turnage had a fine floor game, as did forward Aldridge, but it was the effort of all five players, working together, that made the difference.

Hunnings led all point-makers with 17. Tommy Fondren added 12 to the Jackets' total.

Taylor paced Rose with 14 points. Turnage had 13, while Harrington had 12 and Aldridge had 10.

The Baby Phants made it a clean sweep, as they rolled to a 75-57 victory over Roanoke Rapids' junior varsity.

Rose jumped off to a 15-11 advantage in the second period and increased it to 32-21 by halftime.

A 23-16 margin in the third quarter lengthened the lead to 18 points.

The lead was increased to 20 on Trent Hill's layup, as the count was 60-40 with 6:30 left in the game.

Rose got its biggest lead when Russ Smith hit with six minutes remaining to make it 63-40.

Ray Peszko led the Baby Phants with 17, while Joe West had 15, Smith had 14, and Hill added 12.

Kenny Hale, who played an outstanding game at both ends of the floor, tallied 16 for the losing Jackets. Tommy Myrick scored 12, while Ronald Sewell had 11.

Womack pulled away to a 30-25 lead in the first half, but Holt's came back to outscore them, 29-24, and tie it at 54-all at the end of regulation time. But in the overtime, Holt's out-pointed Womack, 7-4, to take the victory.

Bad Luck Continues To Plague U.S. Olympians

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHAMROUSSE, France (AP)

"We wouldn't have been surprised if our skiers had started falling out of the chair lifts," Bob Beattie, coach of the U.S. Alpine team, said today. "I've never seen such atrocious luck. But I'll say this for the kids. They have refused to get down in the mouth. They keep fighting back. They've got a lot of guts."

For a brief moment Tuesday it appeared that America's run of misfortune on the Alpine slopes here may have found a golden rainbow. After the first of two runs in the ladies' special slalom, the U.S. girls were placed at 1-4-6.

The Olympic gold medal looked better than possible. To it might be added the silver, or even a sweep.

Then in the bat of an eyelash, the picture changed. Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., who had the fastest time of all had missed a gate. So had Rosie Fortna of Warren, Vt., who was fourth, and Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., sixth. All disqualified.

Only 16-year-old Judy Nagel was left but she led the parade with an narrow eight-hundredths of a second lead over Marielle Goitschel, the favorite, and 26-hundredths over world champion Nancy Greene of Canada.

There still was hope for a medal.

Then Judy, in her first major international competition, became tense and fell twice before reaching the fourth gate. Instead of a medal, the Americans had nothing but frustration.

"That's the way it's been ever since we've been here," said Beattie. "Just one break, one little break — that's all we've asked. We've had none."

The team was beset by dissension before the Games even started. A week before the official opening, Beattie removed veterans Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., and Sandra Shellworth of Boise, Idaho, and replaced them with teenagers Judy Allen, 16, and Kiki Cutter, 18.

There was a mild flap over what uniforms the downhill girls should wear — the official blue ones or the skin-tight silver ones made by a friend of Sue Chaffee.

On the day before the Games opened, Robin Morning, 20-year-old downhill ace from Santa Monica, Calif., took a spill and broke her leg in two places.

Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., the main American hope for a medal, wrenched an ankle but remained in the competition.

In the men's downhill, Jim Barrows dislocated a hip and Jere Elliott suffered two sprained ankles and a collarbone injury. The two Steamboat Springs, Colo., men were put out for the duration.

"If they gave gold medals for the 2,000-meter run to the hospital or silvers for stitches and plaster casts, we'd take home a bundle," said one discouraged team member.

Beattie was asked about possible criticism in his choice of inexperienced youngsters over the more seasoned campaigners.

"I don't have to apologize for Kiki Cutter and Judy Nagel," he said. "They've kept us going." The American coach said that spirits around the American Village remained high despite the repeated setbacks.

"These kids don't know what it is to whine," Beattie added. "They're all heart."

Tears are for coaches — and Beattie brushed a few away.

Three East German girls, including defending Olympic champion Ortrun Enderlein, were disqualified Tuesday in the women's singles luge competition for heating the runners of their sleds to make them go faster.

Miss Enderlein was leading when the International Luge Federation jury met in emergency session and announced the disqualifications. The other East German girls were Anna Maria Mueller, second at the time, and Anegela Knoesel, fourth at the time.

The unbeaten Soviet Union team made it five in a row in the hockey competition by defeating Sweden 3-2. The Soviets took over undisputed possession of first place in Group A when Canada defeated Czechoslovakia by the same score 3-2. The U.S. team, beaten in four of five games, was idle.

Ayden Teams Clinch Tie For Pitt County Titles

AYDEN—The Ayden Tornadoes iced no worse than a tie for both the boys and girls Pitt County titles last night with a pair of wins over Bethel. The boys won, 66-30, while the girls took a 26-21 victory.

The Tornadoes are now 10-1 with on Friday's game with Belvoir remaining. A win there would clinch the title for the boys. The girls, however, still have their hands full. They have a 9-2 record, a game ahead of Bethel, and two games ahead of Belvoir. But a victory by Belvoir could knot it again if Bethel beats the Grifton girls.

In the girls game, Ayden inched out into a 9-7 lead in the first period, only to fall behind as Bethel took a 15-11 lead at the half.

Ayden came back in the second half to tie it up at the end of the third period, 17-17, and then the Lady Tornadoes outscored Bethel, 9-4 in the final period to claim the win and forge into first place all alone.

In the boys game, Ayden jumped off to a 13-8 lead and built that to 27-12 by the end of the half.

Bethel came back to slice two points off the lead in the third period, to trail 33-22, but the Tornadoes whirled through the final period outscoring Bethel, 31-8, to win easily.

Jerry Price led the Bethel Indians with 14 points, while Kent Allen had 19, George Booth had 13, Dail McLawhorn had 11 and B. T. Chappell had 10 for Ayden.

GRIFTON—Grifton's Bulldogs avenged an earlier loss at the hands of Winterville by downing the Wolves 64-55 last night.

Meanwhile, the Grifton girls took a 42-36 win over Winterville's Wolverines.

The Bulldogs ran to a 15-8 first quarter margin, making the score 29-19 by the end of the second period.

Linwood Moore's 25 points led Grifton. Larry Sutton added 14, while Jimmy Coles had 11.

Ronnie Potter scored 17 points to pace Winterville. Philip Haddock scored 13, while Karl Sutton had 11.

Faye Everette's 13 points paced Winterville.

One of these necessities costs less than it used to. Which one?

It isn't food. Everybody knows what's happened to the cost of food. Clothing costs are also up. And houses and apartments cost more than ever before. Electricity costs less than it used to. Vepco has reduced residential rates three times in the last five years. As a matter of fact, electricity is one thing that actually costs less than it did in 1941. (That's when sirloin steak sold for 19c a pound.) Electricity is such a bargain today and there are so many useful appliances, that the average family uses about five times as much as it did in 1941. So, if your electric bill is a little higher, you are using a lot more electricity. Because it costs a lot less.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market made a fairly good rebound early this afternoon from three days of severe pounding. Trading was active.

The market was a shade higher at the opening and gathered strength as no untoward news items came to interrupt its progress.

Gains outnumbered losses by a ratio of better than 7 to 4. Brokers said the upturn was based largely on technical reasons. The business and economic news has been quite bright recently but there was nothing of an especially encouraging nature to spur prices early today.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.80 to 835.57.

Although the next theoretical 60 stocks at noon was up 1.2 around 820, analysts opined that the market was so oversold that

Persinger Won't Run This Year

AYDEN - Mayor Ross Persinger announced today that he will not seek re-election to the post he has held for the past four years.

In his bid for re-election in 1965, Persinger defeated two other candidates, Russell Wooten and Marvin Savland, winning by one vote. The mayor received 70 per cent of the votes in his first try for the mayor's seat in 1963.

The official, a DuPont company employee, gave personal reasons for not seeking the post a third time.

Saying that Ayden has much potential, the mayor suggested that "we need to analyze the future, set our goals and work toward the end."

"My two terms in office have given me an outstanding liberal education in public relations, government financing, and the processes of government from the local level to the federal level," Persinger said.

Persinger continued, "I will support whoever is elected as our mayor for the next two years and assist him in anyway, if called upon to do so."

The Teenage Club will meet, the commission approved, in the Elm Street Gym until another location can be found.

Recreation Director Alton Little reported that playground equipment has been installed at the recreation facility at the Meadowbrook public housing site, and tennis nets will be erected in the near future there.

Little also reported that an article on the commission's summer 1967 program with the handicapped, written by Assistant Director Boyd Lee appeared in the January issue of the

LOW IN "TAR" AND NICOTINE

According to published figures, TRYON is among the very lowest: 11.30 mg. "tar" and 0.90 mg. nicotine average per cigarette. Only the first three primings - the tobacco that ripens first - are used in TRYONS. This tobacco is naturally lower in "tar" and nicotine.

UNUSUALLY EFFECTIVE FILTER

The full flavor of TRYONS' natural tobacco taste comes through, but the TRYON filter is a major factor in reducing the "tar" and nicotine in the smoke. Even with this efficient filter, TRYONS are surprisingly easy on the draw.

REGULAR OR MENTHOL

Look for this distinctive design - gold on yellow for regular TRYONS, silver on turquoise for Menthol. Whichever you prefer, pick up a carton and discover the full-flavored satisfaction of smoking very special tobacco; you may never switch again. TRYON... the cigarette you can really enjoy.

INSECTICIDE-FREE TOBACCO

VERY SPECIAL TOBACCO means naturally mild, low in "tar" and nicotine, and grown without the use of harmful insecticide poisons.

WHY "LIMITED"?

The very special tobacco of TRYON is scarce, and more expensive. Naturally light and mild, it is the secret of TRYONS' natural tobacco taste. That is why TRYONS will always be in limited supply, and why they command a premium price.

OUR SHIP

That was the year an imaginative 26-year old,

The idea?
Buy tea direct from the Orient by the clipper shipload
Eliminate expensive in-between costs.
Sell directly to the public, at great savings...
a small profit.
1859...that's when our ship came in.
That was the beginning.
That's when our founder showed he cared about people.
Today, in keeping with that proud heritage,

Car Telephone Service Ready By Mid-March

After March 12, if you hear a telephone bell ring as you drive through town, don't be alarmed—chances are it will be one of the Carolina Telephone Company's new Car Telephone installations in the vehicle next to you.

The new service will use 2-way radio and electronic telephone equipment to provide fully automatic Car Telephone service. In the car, the subscriber simply picks up the handset, dials, and his call is on its way. Subscribers to the new service may call directly from their vehicles to any other telephone—local and long distance. Any telephone subscriber may dial the standard (7-digit) telephone number directly, to reach any of the vehicles equipped with these new telephones.

Each of these rolling telephones will consist of the control panel and dial with a telephone handset, connected to a compact 2-way radio. At the telephone exchange office, the master 2-way radio base station will connect directly to the dial telephone facilities.

Stated in simple terms, this is how the system will work: When the mobile subscriber places his call, special tone codes are generated and transmitted. These tones are received by the telephone company 2-way radio station and translated into conventional dial pulses which are carried into the regular telephone system. When a telephone call is placed to the mobile unit, the reverse happens. The dial pulses are translated into tone codes and transmitted by the telephone company radio station. When the tones are received by the called mobile unit, a bell rings in that vehicle and the driver lifts his handset and answers.

Installation of mobile telephones will begin on February 22, and the mobile telephone service date is scheduled for March 12.

In making this announcement, L. R. Langley, local manager for Carolina Telephone stated that anyone desiring additional information may come by the local business office or simply dial 758-9111.

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — William Bradford, the second governor of the Plymouth Colony, began Massachusetts' literary tradition. His history, "Of Plimoth Plantation," and Gov. THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

Branches Taken By Busy Beavers

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — beavers along Fox River are chewing tree trunks and felling trees like woodsmen, but no woodsman can discover where the by beavers in one three-week period. Ash trees more than a foot in diameter were cut down by the animals. They leave the tree trunks after stripping off the branches. Virgil L. Gilman, director of parks and recreation for the Fox River Park District, said more than 25 trees were felled

Israel Invites World Gourmets To 'Eat-In'

By HAL McCLURE
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israelis, showing courage above all odds, have invited the world's great gourmets to hold their annual eat-in here this year.

It's a real challenge. For 2,000 chefs, gastronomes, gourmets, hoteliers and members of the "Chaine des Rotisseurs" are expected here Nov. 3-10 for a round of sightseeing and feasting. Israel, as many long-suffering hotel guests will attest, has never won a reputation for being a culinary oasis.

Indeed, Jewish ritual slaughter and dietary—kosher—law even add to the blandness of the Israeli diet. "Asking the world epicureans here to eat could be compared with inviting the chef of the Waldorf to your home for a mashed potato sandwich," grunted one dyspeptic tourist. "What will prevent the delegates from taking bicarbonate and staggering out?" "Israeli food, that's what," retorted one tourist official sponding to the critics. "They'll love our food, don't worry," he said, adding, "They'll eat Israeli avocados and citrus, St. Peter's fish on the shores of the Sea of Galilee, milk and honey in a kibbutz and food of the desert nomad."

"Why we even have developed an Oriental gefilte fish. It's carp stuffed with eggplant, moistened with tangerine juice and baked. Delicious." The Israeli official responsible for arrangements wasn't worrying either. Ayre Avissar admitted Israel's shabby culinary past, but blamed it on the public, not the cook. Israel can draw from a large reservoir of good cooks—immigrants from all over the world who brought along their national dishes, Avissar said. Avissar's training department of the Ministry of Tourism has launched a crash program to acquaint the average Israeli with the fine food available and to arouse a greater interest in cooking—in the home, hotel and restaurant.

"That's where we are falling down," admitted a fellow official. Highlight of the Fifth World Gastronomical Congress will be a feast held in Bedouin tents in the Negev Desert. The guests will dine on such desert delicacies as lamb and rice, eaten nomad style—with the fingers. For dessert the Israelis will stage a "fantasia," with desert tribesmen firing rifles into the night from camel-back.

GUESS WHO STOLE THE SHOW — James Stewart, Mae West and Mervyn Leroy were honored by an honorary cinema fraternity at the University of Southern California. But, predictably, it was Miss West who stole the show. (AP Wirephoto)

Amid A Galaxy Of Big Movie Names, Mae Can 'Steal' Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The evening was scheduled as a tribute to James Stewart, Mervyn Leroy and Mae West. Predictably, Miss West stole the show. It was one of those annual banquets of the honorary cinema fraternity at the University of Southern California, and the gathering was a curious mixture of the academic and entertainment worlds. Nostalgia was the keynote, and the diners viewed photographs from films of the three honored guests as they were flashed on the walls of the campus dining room. The program began with emcee Norman Corwin presenting clips from three Stewart films—"Philadelphia Story," "Harvey" and "On Our Merry Way." Also a clip from an old Ed Sullivan show in which Stewart sang a number with which he made his professional debut at Princeton University.

The man who wrote the number and persuaded Stewart to go on stage, Josh Logan, joined Vera Miles and Andy Devine in asking Stewart a few desultory questions about his career. The gray-haired Stewart, still boyish of voice, answered politely. He deplored the loss of big-studio training for today's actors.

Leroy's long career was represented by clips from "Little Caesar," "Blossoms in the Dust" and "30 Seconds over Tokyo." The director was interrogated by Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon and Dr. Frank Baxter. Leroy's message to the film students: "The audience doesn't care about trick camera work—only the story." Next came Miss West. She agreed to accept the honorary membership in Delta Kappa Alpha if she could do it her way. That's the only way she operates.

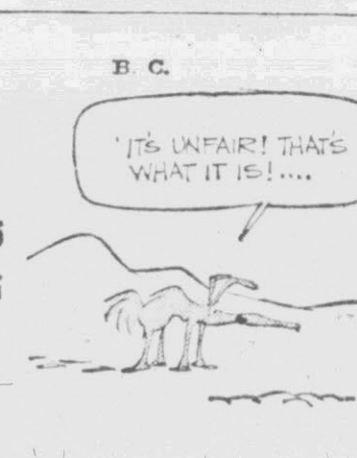

After the brief scenes from "Klondike Annie" and "Every Day's a Holiday," the lights came up. The platform had been converted into a boudoir with white fur rug, white chaise longue, full-length mirror, candelabra, etc. Miss West, who likes to surround herself with musclemen, had three U.S.C. football players—Adrian Young, Tim Rossavich and O.J. Simpson—huddled around her. The three athletes, unborn when Miss West quit making movies, made their retreat, revealing her to the audience.

All the trappings were there: The three golf-ball diamond rings; the spray of diamonds above the pneumatic chest; the cascade of milk-white hair (a wig?); the undulating figure, more than ample despite tight corseting, in a jeweled white gown. Despite abundant makeup, the face showed its 75 years. But the eyes beneath the upswept lashes were clear, and the voice still had the quality of a small girl playing the vamp.

"I have been honored many times . . . (laughter) for many things (laughter) . . ." Her insinuating manner can still draw amusement from straight lines. The proceedings took a more historical turn as George Cukor and Robert Wise literally sat at her feet and questioned her about the West career. She related her beginnings as a dancer at 8, her authorship of the play, "Sex," and her film adventures in a rambling manner that required much prompting by the two directors.

Miss West picked up the pace by delivering a 1910 song, "The Grizzly Bear," to show ragtime's relationship to rock. Then she did a recitation from her "Diamond Lil" followed by a rendition of "Frankie and Johnny." Although some of the younger members of the audience seemed baffled by the performance, the applause grew by degrees to a standing ovation. "I want to thank you for your generous applause—and your very heavy breathing," said Miss West, remaining in character.

The bidding: West North East South Pass Pass 1 NT Pass 2 NT Pass 3 NT Pass Pass Pass Pass Opening lead: Eight of Nimble footwork by the defense was essential to the upset of South's three no trump contract. East's opening one heart bid was based on distributional values and the fact that his partner was a passed hand. South displayed good judgment in overcalling with one no trump. There is little to be gained in bidding two diamonds, inasmuch as the best chance for game is in a nine trick contract. When North mustered up the ingredients for a raise, South carried on to three no trump.

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Paul Percival, a Lusk area rancher, bagged two deer in a single day—and still didn't fire a shot. Percival got his first deer with his pickup truck—at a cost of $700 damages to the truck. He managed to get to town, phoned his wife at the ranch and asked her to pick him up in their car. En route home, Percival's car struck and killed another deer. The car wasn't damaged.

Umps Attacked, Refuse Officiate

NEW DELHI (AP) — Umpires, the target of serious mob attacks at Indian cricket matches in recent months, have begun to strike back. The finals of the Inter-College Cricket Tournament had to be indefinitely postponed after all umpires refused to officiate. In the semi-finals two umpires had been manhandled by a youthful crowd which disagreed with the officials.

Girl Keeps Game Statistics

CHICAGO (AP) — Females are invading many areas of sports. And intercollegiate basketball at the University of Chicago is enjoying the feminine touch when it comes to score-keeping. Barbara Ann Bernstein, a sophomore, is the Maroons' official team statistician, making her the first coed in the university's history to hold the job. Barbara is no neophyte to the world of basketball or its statistics. Last season she assisted the official team statistician by keeping track of individual rebounds made by each player. She said she also learned a lot about the game and statistic keeping from her brother, Chuck, who was the Maroons' statistician while an undergraduate at the university a few years ago.

Import Workers To Mozambique

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Forty-eight per cent of the workers in coal, uranium and gold mines in neighboring South Africa are from Mozambique, the South African government's recruiting agency says. The total number of natives from the Portuguese East African territory working in South African mines last year was 163,914, the agency said. The workers sign up for work periods of 18 months.

Anonymous Cruelty Sent Families Of War Dead

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Grieving women who have lost husbands and sons in the Vietnam war are being subjected to a barrage of antiwar diatribes sent anonymously through the mail. Some of it says American servicemen fighting in Vietnam are worse than cannibals.

One widow who received antiwar material is Carol Schwellenbach, 26, of Fayetteville, N.C. Her husband, Army Pfc. Gary Schwellenbach, was killed in Vietnam Dec. 28. When she was notified of his death, Mrs. Schwellenbach went to his parents' home in Chico, Calif. The first envelope from Susanville arrived there.

Clark's recollections of the night his son's body was returned from Vietnam. Dr. Clark said in Kansas City he knew that "in some instances" his article had been sent to mothers and widows of men killed in Vietnam. He declined to say how he knew or how many instances there had been.

Dean Peerman, managing editor of The Christian Century, said in Chicago that he did not approve of such use of the article but had no way to control it. Said Peerman: "The mailing to Vietnam war widows of purchased reprints of Prof. Edward Clark's article has been done without his or our consent. We do not approve of such use of the article, a use which we find distasteful. It is one thing for Prof. Clark to have made a public statement

Book Tells Stories Of 93 N.C. Governors

By Christopher Crittenden
Dept. Archives and History
Written for The AP
RALEIGH (AP) — Ninety-three governors. That's how many North Carolina has had. There were 32 in the colonial period; 61 since.

For each governor there is a biographical sketch, and, if available, a picture, together with references for further study. Photography was developed only a little more than a century ago, and before that only a few portraits of the governors are available. The earliest of these reproduced in the book portrays Philip Ludwell, governor 1689-91. The earliest actual photo is of Tod R. Caldwell, 1871-74.

Asked if he had ever mailed the reprints or other material to women whose sons or husbands were killed in Vietnam, the man said: "I wouldn't say for sure if I didn't or did. I don't remember sending any of this to women who have lost a son or a husband. What if I did? I don't see anything wrong with it. There's no law against it, is there?"

One of the three printed pages she received contained the essay bearing Hummel's name. "We have violated with abandon every resolution of the Geneva agreements," the essay said, "and in bombing hospitals, kindergartens, private homes and in poisoning crops we have violated international laws governing wars . . ."

Clark's recollections of the night his son's body was returned from Vietnam. Dr. Clark said in Kansas City he knew that "in some instances" his article had been sent to mothers and widows of men killed in Vietnam. He declined to say how he knew or how many instances there had been.

Federal Land Bank Ass'n Continues Serve Farmers

"The Federal Land Bank Association of Washington continues to serve the sound, constructive and productive long-term credit needs of farmers in this area during the most unfavorable monetary situation in its 50-year history," according to W. Hackney High, manager of the association.

The farmer-owned Land Bank System observed its Golden Anniversary during 1967 which was dedicated to "America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty." During the year the banks and associations exerted every effort in helping to tell the true story of the contribution of the American farmer to the progress of the nation and our good way of life, High said.
