

Now 3 Demos Seek Lt. Governorship Candidates Make Late Rush To Meet Today's Deadline

RALEIGH (AP) — A former president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs surprised the political experts and filed as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Mrs. James M. Harper Jr. of Southport was among several candidates filing with the State Board of Elections office in Raleigh Thursday.

The filing deadline for the May 4 primaries was noon today.

Mrs. Harper entered the Democratic primary race for lieutenant governor to oppose H. Pat Taylor of Wadesboro, a former speaker of the State House of Representatives, and Frank M. Matlock, a Greensboro lawyer.

Mrs. Harper said she entered the race because "this is one job a woman can do."

Republicans flocked to the elections board office Thursday to file for several Council of State posts.

Former GOP State Rep. Ron Ingle filed for state labor commissioner, and Joe L. Morgan of Marshall entered the race for superintendent of public instruction.

Carl W. Rice of Charlotte became a candidate for the Republican nomination to Insurance Commissioner Edwin Lanier's post, and Warren H. Coolidge of Fayetteville filed as a GOP candidate for attorney general.

Other filers Thursday included Charles W. Pratt of Wrightsville Beach and Fred G. Brummitt of Bakersville, who entered the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sam J. Ervin D-N.C.

S. A. Chalk Jr. of Morehead City filed as a Democratic candidate to Congress in the 3rd District; and Clarence Gene Leggett and B. B. Felder, both of Greenville, entered the 1st District Democratic primary.

State Rep. Sneed High, 52, of Fayetteville, filed as a Democratic candidate for state treasurer and will oppose Democratic incumbent Edwin Gill.

Matlock will oppose two other candidates for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. They are former House Speaker H. Pat Taylor of Wadesboro and Mrs. James M. Harper Jr. of Southport, former president of the North Carolina federation of women's Clubs.

Matlock is working with the state attorney general's office in Raleigh and is attached to the Department of Administration specializing in property control.

After completing one year with the attorney general's office in March he plans to go into private law practice in Greensboro.

Wendell W. Smiley, 59, librarian at East Carolina University, filed as a Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction. Four other Democrats are in the race for the post being vacated by Dr. Charles F. Carroll.

Republican William P. Garbrant, 36, of Raleigh, filed for the congressional nomination in the 4th District.

Ted Conrad of Charlotte filed as a Republican candidate for state auditor.

Another Republican, Claude L. Greene Jr. of Robersonville, filed for commissioner of agriculture.

Charles Holloman, 53, of Raleigh, filed as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the 4th District. He is associate director and business manager of the North Carolina Community College System.

Mrs. Pauline L. Frye of Pinehurst filed as a Republican candidate for Congress from the 8th District.

Army Deserter 'Sickened Friend'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A 19-year-old soldier from South Carolina said today he went to Stockholm to persuade a U.S. Army deserter from his hometown to return to duty but came away "sickened" by the man's anti-American tirades.

Pfc. Frederick Davis of Beaufort, S.C., who said he had volunteered for duty in Vietnam, said he felt compelled to go to the Swedish capital to talk with Michael D. Haire. Davis explained he had not known Haire personally but that they had gone to the same high school in Beaufort.

Haire, a deserter from an 8th Infantry Division unit in Mannheim, West Germany, arrived in Stockholm Oct. 8 and was granted asylum by Sweden "for humanitarian reasons" on Jan. 23.

"After seeing the way Haire lives, after discovering what he is doing in Stockholm to harm our country, and after listening to his tirades against the United States, I was sickened by him," Davis told Army Times, a privately owned weekly sold to U.S. servicemen.

Davis said while on leave he visited Haire earlier this month in a Stockholm apartment that had a large poster of Chinese leader Mao Tse-Tung on the living room wall. He said Haire was wearing a blue Chinese-style tunic.

Davis reported Haire told him he was not a Communist but rather a "strong socialist."

"I had expected to find a typical South Carolina boy like myself," Davis added, "but the terrific change in this man shook me, especially his complete lack of feeling toward home."

Davis said he asked Haire why he did not come home but later told him: "I'm not asking you to come back home because you make me ill." He added: "I wouldn't want Haire back in the American army fighting anywhere near me."

Through Haire, Davis said, he met several other American deserters, whose number grew from 22 to 30 in the seven days he spent there.

"They don't discuss their futures. I felt sorry for them. But I also felt it is best to let them go. You don't want your life to hang on a man who won't fire his rifle in anger," he said.

"Most of the deserters believe that when the Vietnam war is over, they will be allowed to go home and all will be forgiven," he added.

Wendell W. Smiley, 59, librarian at East Carolina University, filed as a Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction. Four other Democrats are in the race for the post being vacated by Dr. Charles F. Carroll.

Republican William P. Garbrant, 36, of Raleigh, filed for the congressional nomination in the 4th District.

Ted Conrad of Charlotte filed as a Republican candidate for state auditor.

Another Republican, Claude L. Greene Jr. of Robersonville, filed for commissioner of agriculture.

Charles Holloman, 53, of Raleigh, filed as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the 4th District. He is associate director and business manager of the North Carolina Community College System.

Mrs. Pauline L. Frye of Pinehurst filed as a Republican candidate for Congress from the 8th District.

RALEIGH (AP) — State Sen. Jesse Austin of Clayton, who switched his party affiliation from Democrat to Republican, decided today not to run for Congress from the 3rd District.

One Of Several 'Options' For Joint Chiefs Calling Guardsmen, Marine Reserves Being Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 50,000 National Guardsmen and Marine reserves would be called up under a plan tentatively proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to bridge a Vietnam war-caused home forces manpower gap.

But in sketching details of the JCS plan, sources said Thursday night it is only one of a number of options being considered to reinforce U.S.-based forces depleted by the war's needs for troops.

The sources said the JCS proposal—which also calls for putting on alert another 130,000 or so reservists for possible later call-up—may differ from proposals by the Army and the other services for solving the problem.

National Guard sources said they anticipated a call-up of up to 90,000 Guardsmen and reservists, but other sources discounted such an estimate as premature.

Word of the JCS proposal leaked out as the chief's chairman, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, arrived in Vietnam after an unannounced flight from Washington for a visit expected to last several days.

Wheeler told newsmen in Saigon his purpose in making the trip was to get first-hand information on the war's course—information that presumably would include future troop requirements.

President Johnson has said the United States will up its troop ceiling—now set for 525,000 by July 1—if a larger force is needed.

A number of high-ranking members of congressional committees dealing with military affairs have recently bemoaned what they say is a reduction to dangerously low levels of forces based in the United States.

Such forces, ostensibly for use in emergencies that might arise around the world, were further reduced by last week's presidential order sending 10,500 Army paratroopers and Marines to Vietnam on a speeded-up deployment basis to meet a Westmoreland request.

In another Vietnam-related development, Robert S. McNamara speedily accepted Sen. J. W. Fulbright's request to make public the secretary of defense's full congressional testimony on the Gulf of Tonkin incident.

Pentagon security censors, working on a federal holiday Thursday at McNamara's behest, cleared for public release all but 250 words in the 62,200 words of testimony the defense chief gave the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in closed session earlier this week.

McNamara's move was the latest in his ongoing battle with Capitol Hill critics of U.S. war policy about the August 1964 naval engagement that touched off massive U.S. military escalation in Vietnam.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat and Foreign Relations Committee chairman, claimed a 21,000-word statement McNamara issued the day of the hearing told only the administration's side of the incident.

Brezhnev Vows More Build-Up

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev declared today the United States is the main cause of war in the world and pledged that the Soviet Union will build up its armed forces.

He lashed out at the "criminal, dirty war in Vietnam."

Brezhnev spoke at a special Kremlin meeting celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces. It was attended by other Soviet leaders, including Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny and defense ministers of various Communist countries.

Brezhnev accused the United States of "creating centers of tension in different regions of the world" and called it "the main force of war."

He told an audience of 6,000 in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses that in view of this the government "considers it its sacred duty to strengthen the defense capacity of the Soviet Union in all possible ways."

Brezhnev cited no figures but he asserted the Soviet army has "the most modern rockets and nuclear weapons."

Brezhnev, reading congratulations from the Communist party and government to thea rmed forces, made no mention of efforts to bring peace to Vietnam. He also avoided going into other current causes of international tension.

The Soviet leader made his speech after flying back today from a meeting of East bloc leaders in Prague, where increased unity was urged for the Communist movement.

The Soviet government celebrates the anniversary of its armed forces on Feb. 23 to mark the battle at Pskov outside Leningrad in 1918. This was the first time that the newly created Red army fought a regular engagement.

Reinforcements Driven Off By Allies Red Battalion Chopped Up At Hue

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese threw a new battalion of troops at Hue's Citadel Thursday and on another front sent their heaviest artillery barrage in two weeks thundering down on the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

Military spokesmen said the Communist battalion of perhaps 500 men stormed the northwest wall of the 1½-mile-square Citadel in Hue in an attempt to reinforce the besieged Communist troops inside the fortress.

South Vietnamese officers in Da Nang said government forces counterattacked and drove the enemy off killing 223 Communist troops. They said South Vietnamese casualties were light.

With the battle for Hue in its 24th day, U.S. military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are "very desperately trying to reinforce" the Citadel, where an estimated 350 or more Red troops hold part of the southern wall and the adjoining palace compound where Vietnam's emperors lived in the 19th century.

The U.S. spokesman said the government troops were reacting quickly and effectively and killed another 126 enemy troops in a series of six lesser clashes, most of them holdouts or infiltrators in the northwest section of the fortress. Government casualties again were termed light.

Vietnam Press, the government news agency, reported that two companies of South Vietnamese marines captured one gate of the inner walled palace just inside the outer south wall. The Communist command post is reported to be inside the inner palace grounds.

U.S. Marines reported killing

21 Communist troops in clashes Thursday as they secured the east wall of the Citadel. But AP correspondent George McArthur reported from Hue that the Communists in strength still held the east bank of a canal running parallel to the east wall.

Just to the north and west of Hue, more than 1,000 U.S. air cavalrymen and paratroopers were fighting a running battle to block Communist reinforcements and supplies headed for Hue.

The U.S. Command reported that the American force had killed 163 enemy troops in the past two days and captured 92 gas masks apparently consigned to the Communist forces in Hue, where the Marines have been using tear gas on enemy positions. Twelve Americans were reported killed and 137 wounded in these operations.

On the northwest frontier where an estimated 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are poised, Communist gunners slammed 377 rocket, mortar and artillery rounds Thursday into the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh and Marine positions flanking it.

The barrages killed nine Americans, wounded 22, destroyed a big CH53 helicopter and damaged a twin-engine C123 cargo plane.

Twenty miles to the northeast, nearly 300 mortar and artillery rounds hit the Marine outpost at Con Thien, just below the demilitarized zone. But the bunkered Marines reported only two men wounded.

Air Force B52 bombers made two strikes Thursday and two more today on the enemy gun positions around Khe Sanh.

Marine Corps Will Share Some Pentagon Increases Draft For April; 48,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today ordered the drafting of 48,000 men in April, the highest such monthly call in 18 months.

The April call will provide about 4,000 men for the Marines, the first time in about two years that the Corps has drawn on the draft.

The other 44,000 to be inducted will serve in the Army.

The Pentagon said the new draft quotas "support currently approved force levels and will assure a timely flow of replacements for men completing their terms of service."

A sharp increase in draft calls, which started in January, has resulted partly because of the discharge of men inducted starting in late 1965 when the United States set in motion a big buildup in Vietnam and a corresponding over-all buildup of its military manpower.

The draft took 230,000 men last year and high defense officials have predicted that the 1968 inductions would total about 302,000, an increase of more than 70,000 over last year.

The April call of 48,000 is the highest since the 49,200 inducted into the Army in October 1966.

The March figure stands at 41,000, February 23,300 and January 34,000.

Last year, draft calls fell as low as 10,900 inductions in February.

The Pentagon said the new Marine Corps draft call "results from the need to replace about 19,000 men inducted into the Marine Corps in late 1965 and early 1966 to help support an accelerated buildup of the Marine Corps at that time."

Many of the replacements, the statement said, have been obtained through stepped-up voluntary recruitment which is expected to average about 8,000 a month in the first half of 1968.

COLUMBIA (AP) — Operators of a segregated bowling alley at Orangeburg were enjoined today from operating the facility in a discriminating manner.

The order was issued by U.S. District Judge Robert Martin Jr. against All Star Triangle Bowl Inc. The bowling alley was the center of week-long demonstrations and riots which ended Feb. 8 when state highway patrolmen killed three Negro students and wounded many others.

Filed Yesterday To Oppose Rep. Jones

Clarence Gene Leggett, a Pitt County native and long-time resident of Cary, filed yesterday as a Democratic candidate for nomination to the First Congressional District seat now held by Congressman Walter Jones of Farmville.

Leggett paid his filing fee to the State Board of Elections in Raleigh about 12:45 p.m. He gave his address at Route 6, Greenville.

The 45-year-old Leggett told newsmen before he filed for the May 4 primary, that if elected he would "see that farmers get help" and that law enforcement agencies should have more support.

1965 on three counts of impersonating an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and given a three-year jail term.

An appeal of that case resulted in the judgment being affirmed, however an order of dismissal of the sentence was issued. Court records show that "the sentence imposed in the conviction be vacated and the defendant is ordered committed until such time as he might be found mentally competent to stand trial."

Court records continued, "the reason for the dismissal . . . is that the defendant will be admitted to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Salisbury, N. C. for treatment."

The Department of Justice, parent agency of the FBI, agreed to the dismissal of the sentence.

Covenant Of Judaism Reminded Christians

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A major shift in Christianity's theological view of Judaism is urged in a new study. It says Christians should recognize that Judaism, although not accepting Jesus as savior, continues to be a divinely sanctioned instrument of salvation.

Judaism's nonacceptance of Jesus "falls within the sovereign purposes of God," says the Rev. Dr. A. Roy Eckardt, a Protestant theologian and specialist on the subject who advances the case for a basic re-evaluation.

He calls Judaism the "star of redemption" and Christianity the supplemental "rays of that star" for reaching out to a pagan world.

He deplores Christian efforts "to convert" the Jews as a "fatal distortion of the structure of the history of salvation" and in veiled form, an "attack upon the essence of the Christian faith itself."

He adds: "For if the Jewish people are not already members of the family of God, we who are Gentiles remain lost and without hope. The covenant into which Jesus the Jew ostensibly leads us would be revealed as a delusion."

But the divine covenant with Israel is "an enduring one," he says, and "all attempts to put it out of business by missions, however well intentioned, contradict God's purpose."

Dr. Eckardt, a Methodist and chairman of the Department of Religion at Pennsylvania's Lehigh University, has specialized in studying Jewish-Christian relationships for 25 years.

His new analysis, entitled "Elder and Younger Brothers," published by Scribner's, adds a timely note to the current observance of "Brotherhood Week," which continues through this Sunday.

It is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Eckardt calls for a basic change in the traditional Christian teaching that the church entirely succeeds Judaism as the "new Israel," leaving its predecessor outmoded.

As younger partner, the church can carry "forward Israel's sacred role" beyond Judaism, he says, but "the church does not annul the role of original Israel, nor can it ever, in human history, take the place of Israel."

Dr. Eckardt says "It is the Lord's faithfulness to His promises to original Israel that enables us to affirm theologically the peculiar and abiding integrity of the Jewish faith."

Only by such an affirmation, he says, can Christianity rid itself of its anti-Semitic tinge.

"There is no other cure of this plague, no other atonement for the dreadful crimes of Christendom against the people of God," he says.

"But neither is there any other way to establish and celebrate the unique truths of the Christian faith. Only a Jew (Jesus) could accomplish the miracle of opening the covenant to the pagan world."

State Will Not Appeal Ruling On Speaker Ban

RALEIGH (AP) — The state will not appeal a federal court ruling which threw out North Carolina's amended Speaker Ban Law as unconstitutional.

Gov. Dan Moore announced the state's decision Thursday after conferring with Deputy State Atty. Gen. Ralph Moody and Col. William Joyner, a Raleigh attorney who was retained by the state to defend the law in federal court.

A three-judge federal court at Greensboro voided the controversial amended Speaker Ban Law Monday. A group of student leaders from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill had brought suit against the statute nearly two years earlier.

The court said the law was too vague. It required school administrators to approve speaking invitations to "known Communists," persons who had taken the Fifth Amendment in loyalty hearings and those advocating the overthrow of the Constitution of the United States and the State of North Carolina.

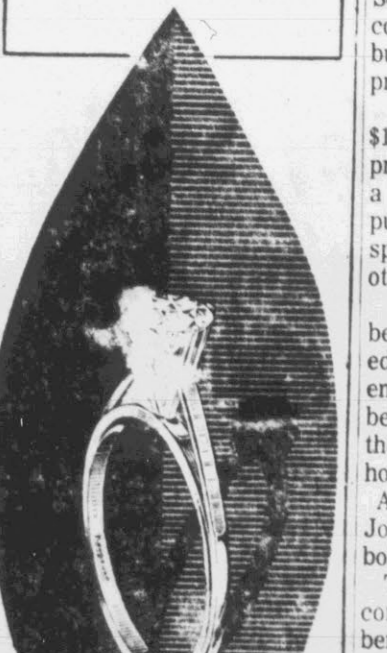

The governor, in a prepared statement, said the judges' opinion "gives ample authority to the trustees and to the administration to see to it that those invited to speak have something to offer the cause of education as opposed to the creation of sensationalism and discord."

The governor called on the University of North Carolina to carry out the basic intent of the law by "adopting reasonable rules and regulations within the framework of this opinion."

"The campuses," he added "should not be exploited as convenient outlets of discord and strife."

Sign-Up Period Extended For Grain, Wheat, Cotton

The sign-up period under the 1968 feed grain, wheat and cotton program, which began Feb. 5, will continue through March 15, according to Stacy J. Evans, acting office manager of the Pitt ASCS Office.

Evans reported 522 farms had signed to participate in the feed grain program and 186 in the cotton program through Feb. 20.

Producers may request advance payments at the time they sign up. The advance payment amounts to 50 per cent of the total diversion payment due the producer, Evans said.

To date, $200,382.78 has been advanced to Pitt County farmers who have signed up to divert approximately 2,569 acres in the feed grain program and $7,904.90 advance payment made to the cotton producers who signed to divert 319 acres.

Evans said farmers interested in participating in one or more of these programs should visit the county office during the sign-up period.

The 1968 Cotton Program offers price support and diversion payments to all farms, Evans stated. "If you plan to plant your cotton, an intention must be filed on or before March 15 in order to be eligible for payment." If farmers do not plan to plant their cotton, they will lose their allotment unless it is released to the county committee.

Evans said the final date to release 1968 cotton allotment is March 22 and the final date for farmers to lease and transfer tobacco is April 1.

Leaf Growers Trade Fair Set

WILSON — A Tobacco Growers Trade Fair will be held here this year at the Centre Brick Warehouse March 6-8.

The Fair will afford tobacco producers an opportunity to see the latest and best ideas in supplies and equipment for producing and harvesting tobacco.

W. D. Lewis, Wilson County Agricultural Extension Chairman, said much emphasis will be placed on mechanical harvesting.

Among the exhibits will be at least 15 booths dealing with harvesting. The three leading manufacturers of leaf harvesters will be displaying their latest equipment, from harvesting aids to a completely mechanized machine, Lewis said.

Other exhibits will deal with agricultural chemicals and equipment, soil fumigants, sucker control, insecticides, "super machines," sprayers, stalk destruction, irrigation.

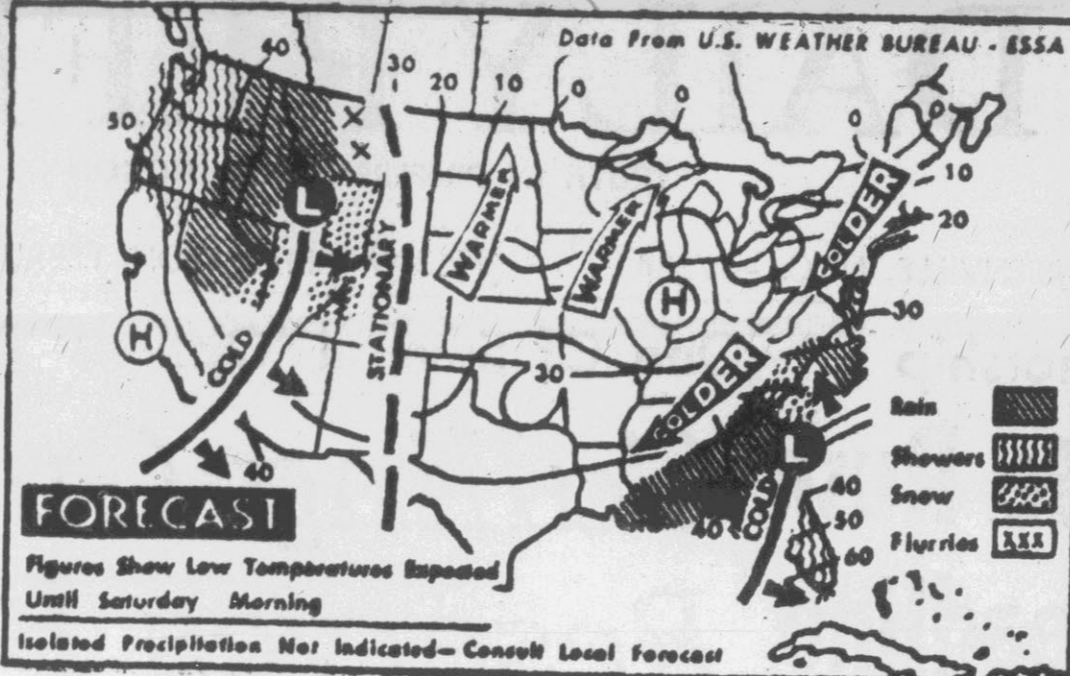

Modification of curers will also be featured and different types of packaging methods and containers for putting tobacco on the warehouse floor also will be among the exhibits.

White Ball Queen Crowned In Ceremonies

A tall brunette from Nokesville, Va., who was Miss Homecoming Queen of her high school wears the crown of East Carolina University White Ball Queen for 1968.

She is Janice Wanda Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ray Smith of Route 1, Nokesville and a 1967 graduate of Brentsville High School there.

She was crowned at the annual White Ball, traditional social function at ECU sponsored as benefit to crippled children by the campus Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity.

Window Shade Will Solve The Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We work in an office, and our hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We are usually here at 8:30 a.m. preparing for the day's business which requires getting our money and records out, etc.

Our problem concerns irate customers who stand outside the door between 8:30 and 9 a.m. banging on the door and rattling the knob until you think the building is coming down. Some of them even yell and signal, demanding that we open the door!

We have a sign on the door, plainly stating that we open at 9 a.m. On some occasions we have opened the door to some impatient ones feeling it's easier to let them stand inside than to put up with their infernal racket.

How can we tactfully let these people know that we are not prepared to let them in until 9 a.m.?

THE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: If you don't have a shade for your door, ask your management to get one, and keep it down until you're ready to open. If you aren't in evidence, you'll probably not be bothered. If you can't get a shade, go about your business and ignore the rude ones.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may sound silly to you, but it is very serious to me. For some years now, altho I am a male, single, and not considered effeminate, I have been wearing a pair of panties under my outer male attire.

I like to sleep in baby doll pajamas and have a nice supply of ladies' lingerie, negligees, panties, hosiery, bras — the works, which I wear when I am alone. There is nothing "wrong" with me, but I like the feeling of these things next to me.

My problem is keeping a good supply of these items. No matter how carefully I launder them, they do not last forever, and I must keep shopping for them. Such articles are sold only in the ladies' departments, and they all have women salespeople. When I ask for pink panties (pink is my favorite color) in size 8 (I am rather hefty) I say they are for my "wife" but then my face gets as pink as the panties.

I have tried mail-order houses, but they are unsatisfactory as I like to SEE the merchandise before buying it. I don't care to divulge my secret to anyone, so I must do my own shopping, so I would appreciate any solutions you have to offer, as I do not like the embarrassment.

IN A QUANDRY

DEAR IN: Since you have already thought of all the alternatives and have rejected them, I can only infer that you aren't seeking a solution to your problem — you just like to talk about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a plastic surgeon and a very busy one, but I am not too busy to write this letter asking you to PLEASE implore parents (especially mothers) to NEVER — and I repeat, NEVER allow their children to stand up in either the front or back of an automobile while it is in motion.

These last few weeks I have been called upon to make some heart-breaking repairs on some very beautiful little faces which had been pitifully mutilated from accidents that came about in just this way. All it

Speaker Ban Law Served Purpose

A federal court having ruled the state's Speaker Ban law unconstitutional, we trust North Carolina will exercise the good judgment to let the matter die the quiet death it deserves.

Nothing constructive is to be gained by efforts to revise or re-write such a law to apply to the state's institutions of higher learning. Those who advocated and succeeded in passing the law in the first place have made their point. Those who were instrumental in revising the original law in a subsequent legislative session should have no further ax to grind.

The institutions toward which the law was aimed have openly recognized the point that was being made and through their administrations and boards of trustees have indicated their willingness to accept responsibility for speakers who might appear on their respective campuses.

Any effort to re-write the law into a form acceptable to the courts would only open old wounds and stir new internal battles North Carolina can well do without. It would be detrimental to the state and certainly to its colleges and universities. It would at the same time be detrimental to other programs of the state because the heat that would be generated in such a scrap would spill over into other issues as well.

The Speaker Ban law has served its purpose in North Carolina. If the state ever had a need for such a law, that time is now passed and the law also should remain a thing of the past.

Interesting Reading, But Unimportant Now

The question of whether Terry Sanford would have been John F. Kennedy's running mate in 1964 seems to be another of those unanswerable questions which follow leaders to their graves.

Kennedy's personal secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln reported in her book that the late president was leaning toward Sanford for the vice presidency, rather than Lyndon Johnson.

Robert Kennedy promptly denied that this was in the planning. In his conversations with his brother, Robert Kennedy reported, it was clear that Lyndon would again be the vice presidential choice.

Of course, it would have been a great honor for North Carolina if Terry Sanford had been nominated and subsequently served as vice president. But it did not work out that way. What ever Kennedy was thinking on the matter before his assassination very likely was not a final decision.

As so often happens, decisions on who will be the president's running mate are delayed until the last minute in order to determine what combination will give the ticket the greatest strength.

The debate over who Kennedy's choice for vice president would have been in 1964 makes interesting reading. However it has little to do with the course of political events today.

Demo Machine Is In Disrepair

for Johnson-Humphrey groups is ahead of schedule under the direction of Washington lawyer James H. Rowe Jr., Johnson's choice to be overall head of campaign strategy.

But the state of the party in the big states, where Republicans scored smashing victories in 1966 and 1967, remains questionable, with serious new splits threatening in a number of places.

Of the 10 largest states, whose 255 electoral votes are only 14 short of the majority needed for election, Democrats have governors in only 3—New Jersey, Texas and Illinois.

But in New Jersey, Republicans scored smashing statewide victories last fall; in Texas, the retirement of Gov. John B. Connally has

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
REALLY IMPORTANT

It cannot be said too often that what God appears chiefly to be interested in as we live our lives day by day is what we try to do rather than what we achieve. The very humble person who insistently keeps after his faults to correct them is more to be admired than a person of fine background and heredity who leads a decent and commendable life largely because he was born into circles in which high ideals prevailed. If we had the capacity to look into every human heart, we would no doubt see that some of the humblest people we know are moral heroes because they make the matter of living a good life a thing of daily and continual importance.

We are brushing sleeves every day with moral heroes, and usually they are not people about whom we think in heroic terms at all. They are men who have little jobs, women who preside over households of moderate means, students who go about their daily routine without people paying very much attention to them. But within there is conflict. Within there is the burning of hot fires and the upsurge of strong appetites. Many such people have to fight all their lives against the blighting effect of disappointment. They had hoped they would achieve much which indeed never came their way. They look at others and wish they could exchange places with them.

But let us be sure that God is primarily interested not in our achievements but in our efforts. It's what we try to do that really counts.

A Computer That Failed

WASHINGTON — A few weeks ago David Brinkley reported that a scientist had programmed all the pertinent military information about the United States and North Vietnam and fed it into a computer, raising the question, "When will the war be won and which side will win?"

The computer answered that the United States had won the war two years ago.

I decided to go see the computer to find out what went wrong.

The computer seemed very annoyed when I fed it the question. It replied on the tape, "Nobody's perfect."

"I'm not trying to criticize you Sir, but it does seem that the results do not jibe with the facts."

"There are a lot of unpredictable factors in this that I can't be responsible for. All I was doing was computing relative strengths of the United States and North Vietnam military, enemy troop morale factors based on CIA reports, information gleaned from defectors, pacification results. Gen. Westmoreland's optimism and the high esteem the South Vietnamese people hold for their government. If you had digested all these facts, you would have come up with the same answer."

"Then you didn't include any information out of Hanoi?"

"Why should I? The State Department told me not to believe anything Hanoi says."

"Did you take into consideration the American bombing of North Vietnam?"

"Of course I did. Why else would I have said the United States had won in 1966? Everyone knows that if you drop a certain ratio of bombs on a given country during a given time, that country has to surrender."

"But they didn't."

"It's not my fault those people don't think like a computer."

"I'm not criticizing you. I'm just trying to find out where you made your mistakes. How do you explain that despite the fighting and the victories the Americans have amassed over there, the Viet Cong was able to launch a drive on the cities?"

The computer shuddered. "That was not my error. I just accepted the body counts of the last five years, ran them through and, on the basis of my figures, came to the conclusion that every Viet Cong was either dead or had defected. As a computer, I can't err well go around criticizing bodies myself."

"That's true. Now, I understand one of the reasons you came to your decision was based on captured enemy documents. How do you err there?"

Somebody captured the wrong enemy documents. Look, I'm just a machine. You can't lay all the blame at my feet."

"Yes, but there are thousands of computers like you, and if every one of them comes up with the wrong answers, we could be in a mess, couldn't we?"

"Only if there is a credibility gap somewhere along the line."

"Have you made allowances for that?"

"I'm a loyal American computer, and if I made allowances for a credibility gap, I'd only be giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

"Well, since you goofed so badly on the last go-round, when do you think the war will be over now?"

"That's not up to me. That's up to Hanoi."

"That's not up to me. That's up to Hanoi."

Slaves In 30 Nations

By HENRIETTA LEITH
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In a cultured Middle Eastern home, 8-year-old girls serve the table until 1 a.m. and are aroused three hours later to begin their morning chores. Their owner calls them "lucky children."

In one African country, between 300 and 400 women and girls live in one man's harem—sold to the chief by those seeking favors from him.

African field hands work through the daylight hours with a 15-minute rest and a glass of water in midday, and their children do not belong to them, but to the man who owns them and several thousand other slaves.

And around the world, says the head of a British anti-slavery group, there are an estimated 10 million human beings living in these or other forms of bondage.

Col. Patrick Montgomery, executive secretary of the Anti-Slavery Society for the Protection of Human Rights, cited examples of human bondage in an interview here and called for action by the United Nations to implement its 1956 convention on abolition of slavery.

"There should be set up within the United Nations," he said, "some body of knowledge available to states wishing to solve this problem. There is not a single person within the United Nations whose business it is to know anything about slavery, much less do anything about it."

Montgomery said U.N. policy on treatment of refugees and the illicit drug trade are backed up with efficient staffs of U.N. experts.

But the slavery convention, though ratified by 72 countries—more than either of the others—has never been made effective, he said.

Montgomery blamed the inaction on the "sensitivity" of newly independent nations. "The United Nations is most reluctant to handle this problem," he said, "very largely because of this sensitivity" and because the nations involved "now form a majority with the Soviet bloc."

Slavery in one form or another—classic "chattel" slavery, sham adoptions, serfdom and servile forms of marriage and concubinage—exists in some 30 countries and the 10-million estimate, Montgomery says, is "very modest."

Countries in which some bondage still exists, he said, "lie in a belt stretching all way around the world between latitude 10 south and 30 north of the equator, starting in Polynesia, all the way through southern Asia, the Persian Gulf, southern Arabia, central and Saharan Africa and the high Andes and Amazon forests of South America."

"In these countries where there is no birth control, there is appalling poverty and destitution, and a child will be sold into prostitution so the rest may eat for a little longer," he added.

Montgomery said the African harem and the dawn-to-dusk field slaves were described in a report to his group by a recently returned missionary. Many reports come from society members who travel around the world seeking evidence of slavery.

The little Middle Eastern girls, he said, were observed during the past year by a woman member of his group as she dined in the luxurious home of a native doctor. She was told, he said, that the children came from poor families in the nearby hills, and had been sold to the doctor for 10 years for a total of $40.

"The doctor and his wife were very indignant," he said, "at any insinuation that there was exploitation involved. They said

This article is about students killed and wounded in Orangeburg, South Carolina.

The justice department filed suit against the bowling alley owner. Why? Why was there a resulting investigation by the FBI immediately started. This was because three college students are killed and forty wounded. They were not investigating to see if the students were United States citizens, but rather to see if any Federal law had been violated. Garrette says he has news for "Mr. Federal Law Makers." I wish you all would explain, not only to me, but to the world about United States laws concerning killing. Are you sending thousands of mother's sons to be killed in Viet Nam to see if any Federal law has been violated? I think millions share my views on this. When you start protecting citizens rights rather than the color of his skin, maybe you should let some black help to investigate some of these murders. Maybe all of the qualified ones are in Viet Nam protecting the Federal law

New Stress On Responsibility

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The state's so-called speaker ban law, devised during the days of protest marches and sit-ins on Raleigh's sidewalks, later debated and amended, appears to have run its legal course. As a statute it has been struck down — declared faulty, null and void.

Its opponents predicted it would be. Appeal appears unlikely and probably futile. In effect, the controversial law is wiped off the books. But its sponsors and supporters feel that, to a large extent, it served a worthwhile purpose.

Whether it halted academic freedom on state-supported campuses is no longer at issue, but the controversy it stirred emphasized the point of corresponding responsibility.

erament or who had pleaded the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer any question about subversive or Communist activity or affiliation.

Under pressure and threats of loss of accreditation of the affected institutions because of "political interference," Gov. Dan K. Moore appointed a special study commission in 1965. This body recommended amendments to place control over visiting speakers in the hands of trustees of the institutions subject to regulation and procedures administered by the respective administrations.

Even this, however, did not suit those who felt any restrictions and regulation would bridle "academic freedom." The challenge of the law in the courts followed denial of a platform at UNC-Chapel Hill to a known Communist, Herbert Aptheker.

No Absolute Right

The court's "discussion" statement said it was "not blind to world affairs, and can understand and appreciate the vital concern... over the unregulated appearance of dedicated members of the Communist Party on the campuses of its state-supported institutions."

"The record in this case clearly establishes that the Communist conspiracy is dedicated to the destruction of freedom, and attempts to achieve its goals of world conquest through discord, deceit and untruths. The record further establishes that the use of college campuses affords the Communist party an optimum chance of reaching and influencing a maximum number of young people."

"It is beyond question that boards of trustees of state-supported colleges and universities have every right to promulgate and enforce rules and regulations, consistent with constitutional principles, governing the appearance of all guest speakers," the judge said. This, of course, was the purpose of the 1966 amendment to the speaker ban law.

Following the amendments, each institution's trustees board adopted regulations and outlined procedures on inviting speakers.

As originally enacted, the law flatly prohibited speeches on state-supported campuses anyone who was a known Communist, was known to advocate overthrow of the gov-

Court's View

The same three-judge federal court which held that the amended law itself was too vaguely worded to stand a constitutional test upheld the principle on which the law was written, and later amended.

It went beyond mere findings of law and "discussed" the question in a separate statement. It said this:

"Certainly, the state is under no obligation to provide a sanctuary for the Communist party, or a platform for propagandizing its creed."

This, in essence, was the intent of the speaker ban law as drafted and enacted in the closing hours of the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

As originally enacted, the law flatly prohibited speeches on state-supported campuses anyone who was a known Communist, was known to advocate overthrow of the gov-

Irradiated Foods Still To Come

By ELMER ROESSNER
Twenty years ago the American public was handed the dream of irradiated foods. This was to be the life-giving by-product of the death-dealing atomic bombs.

Foods, we were told, need only to be put in airtight packages and exposed to gamma rays, X rays or high-speed electrons and they would keep forever without refrigeration.

We could have tree-ripened cherries and peaches on Washington's birthday. We could take a steak off a shelf, cut open the airtight plastic wrapping and find a chunk of meat as fresh and tasty as it was cut off a steer five years ago. We could enjoy the new taste of reared pork.

So far, some GIs have eaten some irradiated bacon.

and a few other items.

The public fear of atomic rays, intensified by recent scares of genetic damage from excessive use of X rays and the reports of X-ray leakage from TV sets, will slow acceptance, even with governmental assurance that irradiated foods are safe, when that major problems:

Used on meat, the process may generate "off" flavors.

Used on fruits and vegetables, there is a loss of flavor.

While scientists believe they can solve these problems, there are still the hurdles:

All countries still control the distribution of irradiated food for world consumption.

In the United States, the Food and Drug Administration has not yet approved the sale of irradiated foods except for ba-comes.

Some Progress Made
However, some progress has been made:

In 1966, 30,000 pounds of irradiated bacon were consumed at Army bases. In 1967, 400,000 pounds of bacon and 260,000 pounds of flour were tested.

Irradiation is now being used to inhibit sprouts on potatoes.

Non-Farm Jobs Off In January

RALEIGH — Employment dropped 43,100 in North Carolina nonfarm establishments during January due to seasonal factors and the mid-mouth ice storm, the State Department of Labor reported today.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane said effects of the unusually severe January ice storm were felt in virtually all industries but were especially noticeable in textiles, apparel, lumber, construction, motor freight transportation, stone, clay and glass products, and schools. Seasonal employment decreases in tobacco stemmeries, trade, services, construction, transportation, and food products added substantially to the January employment decline, Commissioner Crane said.

Nonfarm employment totaled 1,563,200 in January, Crane reported. Although down 43,100 from December's record high, the January total was 10,600 higher than in January, 1967. Crane said factory employment totaling 655,000 in January was down 9,900 from December and was 2,600 below the year-ago figure. Nonmanufacturing groups, with employment totaling 908,200 in January, were 33,200 below the December level but 13,200 higher than a year ago, he stated.

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
 Associated Press Writer
 RALEIGH (AP) — The need for higher teachers' salaries and better roads are two issues on which the candidates for governor of North Carolina can be expected to agree, but the means they propose to achieve their goals vary.

Republican businessman Jack Stickle, Rep. Jim Gardner, R-N.C., and Democrats Dr. Reginald Hawkins, attorney Mel Broughton and Lt. Gov. Bob Scott were asked their feelings on these and other issues in an Associated Press questionnaire.

Gardner declined to answer the questions and said he planned to issue "position papers" on important issues during the course of his campaign.

The candidates also were asked to discuss problems in the marketing of flue-cured tobacco, but Hawkins and Stickle said they had not yet formulated proposals on the issue.

North Carolina, which pays the bulk of teachers' salaries with state funds and permits local governments to provide pay supplements, offers an average salary more than $1,000 below the national average.

Stickle proposed that teacher salaries should be brought "in line with the national average" within four years and said a state-local matching fund program should be instituted to aid public school systems.

"I favor a plan of encouraging local support with the state and the localities matching funds in accordance with ratios which would take into account the wealth and the income of the localities, and also the rate at which the localities tax themselves for education," he said. "Local supplements, directed at meeting cost-of-living differentials, should not be discouraged."

Hawkins said increases "should come from both state funds and from increased local participation," but he added that "consideration should be given to the ability of the local governments to pay."

Broughton also suggested local salary supplements and said county governments should "be permitted to hold referendums on the questions of levying sales taxes without having to go to the General Assembly each time."

"I would think that the improvement of schools and upgrading of teacher salaries created a void at the head of Democratic ranks; and in Illinois, Republicans scored significant victories in 1966.

Illinois presents the Democrats—and Johnson in particular—with a unique problem. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who has strongly supported the President on Vietnam, is seeking a fourth term. Unless Democrats run a strong race against him, the President could lose the state and its 26 electoral votes.

However, the retirement of Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner gives the party a chance to come up with its most star-studded state ticket in a general election. Sargent Shriver and State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III, son of the former governor and two-time Democratic presidential nominee.

The other seven big states present even greater problems for the Democrats, who carried all of them in their landslide 1964 victory. Consider just these four:

In California, the party is reduced to one statewide office-holder, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch; is racked by intramural fighting; and must face popular GOP Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel in November.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney led a substantial GOP sweep in 1966, and Zoltan Ferency quit as Democratic state chairman because of opposition to the Vietnam war.

would be a good reason for a county to consider levying such a tax."

Scott said increases "should come from the state."

"Local governments should do more," he continued, "but they should not be expected to bear the brunt of the load. Besides, there would be inevitable discrepancies if the bulk of the increases were left to local governments, and those most able to pay would siphon off the best teachers because they could offer more money."

Asked "what and where most improvements are needed" in the road program, Stickle said top priority should be given to construction of "an East-West expressway, a limited-access road connecting our ports and beaches with the Piedmont and West."

He added the state's seaports at Wilmington and Morehead City should be "tied in to the Interstate highway system," and U.S. 17 should be "greatly improved" to attract tourists to our beaches.

Hawkins called for "a more comprehensive scheme of road and highway planning." He said "Our roads must be designed to meet our economic needs rather than to meet the desires and whims of local politicians."

"More attention should be given to public transportation in road planning," he added.

Broughton said, "improvements making all primary routes completely four lane the children were given lodging, food and clothing and were lucky little children to be sold to him instead of being sold into prostitution."

Montgomery said actual chattel slavery, where the slave is "owned like an animal" and all rights of ownership are vested for life in the slaveholder, exists in many countries and "an informed, intelligent guess is that there are probably some hundreds of thousands of chattel slaves in the world."

Montgomery said his organization does not want to lay the blame on new governments for not doing "what ought to have been done by colonial governments long ago."

"We would like to gain their confidence," he said, "and convince them that this is not just a way of washing their dirty linen in public."

should be a first order of business. We should also concentrate on projects aimed at preventing bottlenecks around our cities and improving the secondary roads that serve rural areas."

Scott observed that the state's road building program, financed by a $300 million bond issue, "already is at a high level." He said that level should continue to be high. "I believe our greatest need probably is for more East-West highways to supplement the interstate system," Scott said.

He noted that the state should "overcome our serious deficit in roads, particularly in expressways, by-passes and the primary highways."

The 1967 marketing season in the flue-cured tobacco industry was labeled "chaotic" by numerous marketing specialists and agricultural organizations. The industry-wide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee, organized last year, ordered auction closings and limited selling hours in an effort to reduce marketing problems.

Several agricultural organizations and U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman recently have called for drafting of a federal marketing order to be voted on in a grower referendum as a possible solution.

Asked if the state or federal government "should do more to regulate the flow of flue-cured tobacco to markets," Broughton replied, "I do not believe North Carolina should turn over the problem of tobacco marketing to the federal government for solution."

He credited the industry-wide committee with "remarkable progress during its first year of existence" and recommended that the committee have "the opportunity of proceeding with plans for 1968 and subsequent years."

Scott said, "It is better for all segments of the industry to work out the solution voluntarily, but if they cannot agree, then a federal marketing order may be necessary to bring order to the marketing procedure."

He added that if a marketing order "appears necessary," the Agricultural Extension Service

"should conduct meetings with tobacco farmers to explain just what such a marketing order will do and will not do" before the issue is submitted to a referendum.

Refreshing Outlook

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What an exciting, stimulating century we live in! There's so much to see and to do. From morning until night we're on the go, and sometimes we can't sleep because our minds are whirling with plans for a busy tomorrow.

It pays to take time to breathe . . . time to unwind. We need a way to restore our souls and bodies so that the demands of modern life will not be overwhelming.

The Christian faith offers in full measure that healing peace within us that the palmist describes. The Christian outlook is refreshing in its sincere approach to the problems of our complex society.

Why not join your neighbors, and attend church this Sunday? Here is a way to find "that peace which the world cannot give."

Pirates Close Out Regular Season Against VMI

Northeast Scramble Ends In Final Flurry Tonight

The Kinston Red Devils are the regular season champs of the Northeastern Conference but after that spot, everything else is in a state of confusion pending the outcome of the final games of the season Friday night.

The Red Devils saw their 17 game winning streak go out the window last Friday night as the Washington Pam PaPck beat them 68-61 but at the same time the Devils clinched the title as Roanoke Rapids also lost to West Carteret 61-57 which gave the Devils a three game lead with at that time just two games to play.

Jim Buckman, Washington's top scorer paced the Pack to their big win over Kinston with 18 points and he came through with 17 against Tarboro on Tuesday to have another good scoring week. Charles Harrington also chipped in with 31 points for the week for the Pack in their two wins.

Joe Karns had the top point production for Kinston with 29 points in their two game split as the Devils came back to take Roanoke Rapids 72-61 on Tuesday night.

The Yellow Jackets had a bad week losing to both West Carteret and Kinston and dropped into a tie with Washington for third place with one game to go. Ron Hunnings had 28 points in the two games while Tommy Fondren chipped in with 30 for the two contests.

The Patriots of West Carteret made the biggest advance moving into second place with big wins over Roanoke Rapids 61-57 and New Bern 67-63 as Henry Washington Pam Pack beat the two games.

Elizabeth City and New Bern both split their games to remain deadlocked for fifth place with 9-8 records. The Bears downed Rose High 62-43 with Richard Stillely the big man with 19 and although Scott Davenport pumped in 28 points, the Bears lost to West Carteret by four points 67-63. Elizabeth City had trouble with Havelock before winning 77-72 with the league's leading scorer Larry Gray having 25 and Geoff Burness 24 but were then tripped up by Rose High 55-53 on Tuesday.

The regular season winds up on Friday and it should end in a blaze of glory with six teams still vying for playoff berths. Third place may be settled as Washington visits Roanoke Rapids providing West Carteret gets by at Elizabeth City. If the Patriots lose, they'll be tied with the Washington-Roanoke Rapids winner. Kinston will be at New Bern with the Bears trying for fifth place while the eighth and last spot for a tournament berth is still up for grabs as Havelock will be at Tarboro trailing the Tigers by one game. Only Rose High at East Carteret knows it will finish seventh no matter what the outcome of the game. Perhaps the smoke will be cleared at the end of play Friday night. The tournament is due to start next Wednesday, Feb. 29, with the championship being held on Saturday, March 2. More details will be forthcoming next week.

Sixth Place At Stake In Season's Wrapup

The East Carolina University Pirates close out their regular season play Saturday night as they play host to the Keydets of Virginia Military Institute.

The game, at 8 p.m. in Minges Coliseum, means a lot to both teams. East Carolina is battling for a chance to climb out of seventh place and into a more advantageous position for the Southern Conference Tournament. VMI, at the same time, is trying for a third place finish, and needs a victory over the Bucs to get it.

For East Carolina's dream to come true, however, it will take more than just a simple Pirate victory. William & Mary, the team that will go into the tournament in eighth place, must stop Richmond on the Spiders' home court. That would shove Richmond into seventh as the Bucs scramble over them.

The contest will not be an easy one for the either team. VMI edged out the Bucs in Lexington, Va., last week, 69-64 in a close game all the way. Since then VMI has dropped an 86-76 decision to Richmond, while East Carolina has lost to Toledo, and whipped The Citadel and Washington & Lee.

John Kemper was the man most responsible for the Keydet victory over the Bucs. He scored the last 11 points for VMI that carried them to the win.

He currently leads the Keydets with an 18.9 average, while John Mitchell comes up close behind with a hefty 16.3 mark. Three other starters are hitting in double figures, Mike Manis at 12.8, Steve Powers at 10.4 and Denny Clark had 10.3.

These five have seen practically all of the action this year, and have done virtually all of the scoring. They have scored over 90 per cent of all the VMI points this year.

Powers is also one of the top rebounders around this area, posting a 14.0 mark for the year to date.

VMI's biggest problem has been poor field goal shooting, as they have hit only 40.9 so far. But they have been tough from the line, with 75.4, the place where they are likely to go against East Carolina.

Last week, the Bucs outscored the Keydets from the floor and out rebounded them, only to loose on foul shots.

East Carolina also has another barrier to overcome. They haven't won three straight games this year, and will have to do it to win.

Earl Thompson, after several top-flight games boosted his scoring average to 17.1 for the year, while Charlie Alford is next with a 14.8 mark. Vince Colbert has a 13.6 average with Jim Modlin climbing up to 10.1 after two good games this week.

The fifth regular, Tom Miller posts a 9.2 mark, while number six man, Richard Kier has a 7.9 average.

For the Bucs, four men will be playing their final game on the Coliseum floor. They include co-captain Vince Colbert, Alford, Fred Campbell and Sam Lilly.

For Northern Nash, Tom Ennis had 19, and Fred Jones and Fred Martin each had 11.

Greene Central must await the results of tonight's semifinal game between Hobpton and North Lenoir before learning whether the Rams have a district tournament berth. Four teams from the Eastern Plains attend the tournament next week, and Greene Central will automatically get a bid if North Lenoir wins over Hobpton. A Hobpton victory will give the bid to them, eliminating Greene Central.

Pirate Tankers Host Tar Heels

East Carolina University winds up its pre-Southern Conference championship schedule with two matches in the space of three days.

First, the Pirates take on nationally ranked North Carolina here Saturday afternoon in Minges Natatorium and then Monday afternoon meets Virginia Military, the runnerup to the Pirates in last year's Southern Conference meet.

The Pirates carry a 6-6 record into the meet with the Tar Heels, who have been beaten only by North Carolina State and the University of Florida this season, both tank powerhouses.

Phil Riker, an Olympic swimmer four years ago, and Jim Edwards, ranked nationally, and Pete Worthen, who is a key figure in the Tar Heel relays picture, head the North Carolina team.

Coach Ray Martinez' Pirates expect good performances from Mike Tomberlin, who has a college division championship to his credit in the backstroke, Owen Paris, the butterfly specialist who leads the team in points this season, John Sultan in the individual medley and Bob Moynihan and Dick Donohue in the freestyle.

Hayes Scores 44 To Climb In Score List

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Elvin Hayes, the Big E, whose All-American play snapped UCLA's 47-game winning streak last month, has put his name in another niche in the college basketball record book.

The 6-foot-8 star of top-ranked Houston threw in 44 points and grabbed 21 rebounds to pace the unbeaten Cougars in a 130-75 romp over Arlington, Tex., Thursday night.

His performance not only helped the Cougars to their 25th straight, 24 this season, and to their 54th in a row at home, but made the Big E the third leading career scorer in the record book for a three-year period.

In moving up to third place with a career total of 2,525 points, 855 this season, Hayes passed Elgin Baylor's 2,500 at Seattle and Bill Bradley's 2,503 at Princeton. He needs only 14 more points to pass Frank Selvy's 2,578 at Furman.

Oscar Robertson is No. 1 on the career scoring list with 2,973 during his undergraduate days at the University of Cincinnati. Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest is listed as second, but he needed four years for his 2,587 points.

Ron Sanford, another 6-8er, tallied 34 points to lead the seventh-ranked New Mexico Lobos over Arizona 102-74 before 14,855 at Albuquerque. It was sweet revenge for the Lobos, who had their 17-game winning streak snapped by Arizona several weeks ago.

Duke's eighth-ranked Blue Devils, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, overcame a slow-down by Wake Forest and beat the Deacons 50-41 at Winston-Salem, N.C.

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame beat NYU 70-67 in New York's new Madison Square Garden and accepted a bid to the NIT postseason tourney after the game. The Irish, now 16-8, join Army, Fordham and Oklahoma City as the only teams picked so far for the 14-team NIT field.

Oklahoma City, paced by Rich Travis' 32 points, scored a 78-74 home court victory over Hardin-Simmons. Bradley, also playing at home, kept alive its hope of a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference title by whipping Tulsa 85-67.

In other home court triumphs, Wyoming took Arizona State 91-86, Furman edged Clemson 66-64 in overtime, Massachusetts downed Rhode Island 76-68, George Washington beat Georgetown, D.C., 65-61, and Miami of Ohio defeated Xavier of Ohio 55-52.

On the road, Syracuse whipped Colgate 80-72, Holy Cross nipped Connecticut 86-85 and San Francisco edged San Jose 63-61.

Deacons Nearing End Of String

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wake Forest's Deacons haven't won a basketball game since Jan. 8 and are running out of chances of ending the losing streak.

The Deacons have only two games left before the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament in Charlotte. They play North Carolina State Saturday afternoon and St. Joseph's next Wednesday.

Duke topped the Deacons 50-41 Thursday night to run the Wake Forest losing streak to 11. The school record loss string is 14.

Saturday afternoon's Wake Forest-N.C. State game will be regionally televised.

The N. C. State Wolfpack already has played three games on television this year, losing well-played contests to third-ranked North Carolina twice and to eighth-ranked Duke. The television losses have been N. C. State's only defeats in 12 games. State has an overall record of 13-7 and is 8-3 in the ACC.

"Wake Forest has been having some difficult times lately," says Wolfpack Coach Norman Sloan "but we must be prepared to meet the Deacons at their best."

"It's going to be a Big Four game and anything can happen. Coach Jack McCloskey is playing four sophomores, just as we did last year. It has been tough for them to put things together."

In Thursday night's game with Duke, the determined Deacons held high scoring Bob Lewis to seven points, including only one field goal. The Deacons are now 4-19 over-all and have won only two games in 13 conference starts. Duke is 18-3a and 9-2 in the conference.

Another ACC team played in a non-conference game Thursday night and wished it hadn't. Clemson lost to Furman 66-64 in overtime.

Dick Esleeck hit a jump shot for Furman with only five seconds left in the overtime. The game-winning basket gave Esleeck 36 points for the night—including 12 of 19 floor shots and 12 of 12 free throws.

Dick Thomas led the Clemson scoring with 16 points putting the Tigers 4-17 this season and Furman 11-13.

Eppes Upsets Kinston, 51-48

KINSTON — Eppes High School fought their way into the District Tournament finals last night with a 51-48 victory over Kinston Adkins.

The Bulldogs pushed out into a 16-9 lead in the first period, but then had to hold off an Adkin rally in the second frame. By the half, the score was knotted at 24-24.

Kinston pushed out into the lead in the third period, holding a 40-36 edge at the buzzer. But Eppes refused to fade and fought back outscoring Kinston, 15-8, to gain the upset win.

Kinston had been seeded number one in the tournament.

Thomas Perkins led Eppes to their seventh victory in the last eight games with 18 points. Kinston was led by Ricks with 16 and Powell with 10.

Eppes now goes up against third place Rocky Mount, which beat second-seeded Wilson earlier this week. The championship game will be played Saturday night at 8:30 in Rocky Mount.

The winner advances to the State Tournament.

Grifton's girls advanced to the final round of the Pitt County tournament last night as they upset Ayden, 26-19.

Ayden's Tornados made it to the finals on a 61-51 victory over Stokes-Pactolus, despite after a fourth-quarter scare by the hustling Blue Jays.

In the opening contest, both teams had a little trouble getting started, and neither team played its best until the Lady Bulldogs amassed a 13-4 margin in the third quarter.

Ayden got off to a 5-1 start, as Kay Kite opened with a foul shot and Christine Mumford added a couple of baskets.

Then Grifton's Deborah Hurst scored a bucket and a free throw to cut the first quarter margin to one at 5-4. Grifton got its first lead when Marion McLawhorn sank a ten-footer to make it 6-5 with 6:50 to go in the half. Miss McLawhorn got the only other basket of the quarter, as the Lady Bulldogs moved out to a 9-8 first half edge.

Grifton rolled it up in the third quarter, controlling the backboards while taking advantage of several Ayden turnovers.

Joanna House hit with three seconds left in the quarter to make it 22-12.

The Lady Tornados were forced to foul in the final stanza, and Grifton cashed in at the foul line. Grifton didn't score a basket in the fourth period, but an air-tight defense prevented Ayden from gaining the lead.

Miss McLawhorn led all scorers with 14 points, more than half the Grifton total.

Stokes' boys had the lead three times early in the final game. But a basket by Ayden's Kent Allen and three more by Paul Miller sent the Tornados into a 13-6 lead in the first period. B. T. Chappell's three-point play with 5:55 left in the half pushed the Ayden lead out to 11 at 20-9.

Two foul shots by Miller with 52 seconds to play in the half increased the lead to 12, 31-19, but Stokes filled the last few seconds with five points, a bucket by John James, a free throw by Hoyt Haddock, and a basket by Eddie Hudson.

The Tornados grabbed a 17-15 edge in the third quarter to increase a seven point halftime lead to nine.

Ken Turner got a couple of key baskets for Ayden early in the final period, but Stokes closed the lead to two on the strength of nine straight points. Hudson's jumper with 4:50 remaining cut the lead to two at 50-48.

The two teams traded baskets for most of the next three minutes, but the Tornados

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Democrats on Capitol Hill have pledged support for President Johnson's proposed $10.4 billion assault on urban ills, echoing his warning that immediate action is needed if the nation's big cities are to be revitalized.

Chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Senate Banking

END YOKOSUKA VISIT

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — The U.S. nuclear-powered submarine Queenfish left Yokosuka today after a nine-day recreation visit for its 119-man crew.

Committee, which will handle the package of urban legislation Johnson proposed Thursday, said "there is no time to lose in rebuilding our cities."

"Today's challenge is an urgent one," said Sparkman. "We retreat or hesitate at our own peril."

Calling the proposals a "prescription which could avoid the illness known as the death of our cities," Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., House Democratic floor leader, added:

"This prescription may not guarantee that riots will never again occur in congested, deteriorated, segregated urban areas, but it does demonstrate that the nation cares about the future of the cities and the future of the people who inhabit them."

Albert suggested an argument sure to hit home with many big-city Congress members in this election year when he said anyone "who votes to cut or obstruct urban programs today must bear in his conscience the riots and disturbances of tomorrow."

Johnson's program, unveiled at the Texas White House, embraces legislation in the fields of housing, antipoverty, transportation and riot insurance.

He called it an attack on "the crisis of the cities" and labeled its keystone a 10-year program of building 26 million new housing units through government-private cooperative, cost-sharing arrangement.

In other main points:

—Establishment of a congressionally chartered corporation to reinsure policies granted by private insurance companies in so-called riot-prone areas.

—Removal of the 6 per cent interest ceiling on mortgages guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration. Johnson said this would generate more private purchasing of such mortgages, thus freeing more loan money for home buyers.

This proposal drew opposition from Chairman Wright Patman, D-Texas, of the House Bank and Currency Committee, who said it "will work a tremendous handicap on low-income and moderate-income families throughout the country."

—Convert the federal-private Federal National Mortgage Association into a fully privately owned corporation, thus ridding it of government budget restrictions in providing a secondary market for mortgages.

The over-all program includes $2.18 billion for antipoverty projects; $1 billion for the model cities program; $362 million for housing; $750 million for urban renewal; $190 million for federal aid to mass transit systems and $85 million in federal grants for metropolitan planning and housing programs.

It also calls for $2 billion for model cities for two years after the 1969 fiscal year beginning

July 1; $2.14 billion for housing programs for four additional years; $1.4 billion for urban renewal and $230 million for mass transportation to carry on each program one additional year.

Chairman William A. Barrett, D-Pa., the House housing subcommittee promised his panel would hold early hearings on the urban proposals and predicted overwhelming congressional support.

Johnson's package was called "a fresh and imaginative approach" by Lloyd E. Clarke, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was advanced to the highest levels since May 1966. Price of live poultry at the farm was 16 cents per pound.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady. Tops of 18.50-19.25 Wilson; 18.50 - 19.00 Rocky Mount; 18.25-19.00 Statesville; 17.75-18.75 Bethel, Tarboro, 18.25-18.75 Hickory; 19.00 Greensboro; 18.75 Selma; 18.50 oldsboro; 18.00 Siler City, Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's effort to push its rally into a fourth straight session foundered early this afternoon. The Defense Department boost in the draft call was linked with profit taking.

Losses outnumbered gains by some 60 issues — a turnaround from early trading when there were about 150 more plus than minus signs.

Thanks to continued strength in selected blue chips, the Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.73 at 850.96.

Some of the higher priced conglomerates and other glamor stocks were soft from the start. Although Wall Street was heartened by the string of advances prior to the Washington birthday recess, the renewed emphasis on the military struggle brought usual preweekend selling.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 310.4 with industrials up .4, rails off .2 and utilities off .3.

The New York Stock Exchange index wiped out a small early gain and showed a decline at noon.

IBM dropped about 6 points. Control Data 4, Polaroid and American Smelting 2 each. Montgomery Ward 3, "Automatic" Sprinkler and Allis Chalmers about 2 each. Eastman Kodak held a gain exceeding 3 points in the wake of its 2-for-1 stock split proposal. Caterpillar was up 2.

Liggett & Meyers advanced more than a point in continued response to its proposed 2-for-1 split.

American Credit and Teledyne were weak following termination of a plan for Teledyne to acquire American Credit.

Prices turned mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Lurleen Has Third Cancer Operation

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace has undergone her third operation for cancer, and her doctors say they are "quite pleased with what the operation actually did reveal, and could not really be more satisfied with the findings."

The report from the team of physicians came Thursday after a malignant tumor was removed from Mrs. Wallace's abdomen.

The 41-year-old governor spent approximately four hours on the operating table here Thursday afternoon, as surgeons removed a radiation-shrivelled, cancerous tumor, and a section of her bowel.

Examination of the liver, lymphatic system and other abdominal organs, they said, revealed that they were normal.

It was the third cancer operation for Mrs. Wallace in about two years, and followed by seven months the removal of an egg-sized malignancy and a section of her colon in an operation at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston, Tex.

Jones, president of the workshop's board of directors talk with Greenville Jaycees Joe Clark and Julian Vainright as Vainright, Jaycee president, presents a check for $1,000 to the Workshop officials. The check was in payment of a pledge made by the Jaycee organization which sponsored a drive that raised over $30,000 for the Sheltered Workshop.

Cancer Claims Cartoonist Arno
PORT CHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The cartoon shows a tuxedoed gentleman leaning over a girl in a strapless dress, saying, "Tell me about yourself, your struggles, your dreams, your telephone number."

It is imitatively the work of Peter Arno, the ribald cartoonist who delighted readers of the New Yorker magazine and other publications for 43 years. He died Thursday of cancer at 64. His pen lampooned a world peopled by pompous plutocrats, blank-faced blondes and wheezy dowagers and chronicled the accelerating change in the world over the past four decades.

Florence Alert To Flood Danger
FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Italian authorities, recalling the disastrous floods of November 1966, kept firemen and local military detachments in readiness today as the waters of the Arno and other central Italian rivers rose past their danger marks.

The Florence area was pelted with 1.6 inches of rain Thursday, but in 1966 the deluge was 7.1 inches in two days.

The road from Florence to Pisa was closed after landslides cracked the roadbed. Several houses in suburbs outside Florence were flooded by the Bisenzo River.

Clean-Up Of Hate-Inciting Is Ordered

NEW YORK (AP) — Alfred A. Giardino, president of the Board of Education, has directed Supt. of Schools Bernard E. Donovan to "establish clear control" of Intermediate School 201 in East Harlem and put an end to "incitements to hate" there.

Giardino said Thursday that he and other members of the board were "shocked" by news of the antiwhite program held Wednesday in the school auditorium.

Giardino also said in a statement: "Several people have told me of the vile racial slurs, incitements to hate and violence and the anti-United States invective made during the program. The board will not and cannot permit public school facilities to be used for such purposes."

"I have requested the superintendent to make an immediate investigation of the event and to make a full report to the board. I have also asked the superintendent to establish clear control of I.S. 201 pending the appointment if an administrator for this demonstration project and pending official recognition of its governing board by the Board of Education."

No 'Mercy' In Death Sentence

The jury deliberated only 30 minutes and there was no recommendation of mercy.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said today that "for very compelling personal reasons" he will not seek a third term next fall.

At a news conference in a downtown hotel, the former GOP national chairman said: "To use an old Kentucky expression, I suppose I am just plain 'track sore'."

Morton said his decision is final. Only one week ago he indicated he would run.

Quit Under Fire On Defense Talk

TOKYO (AP) — Agriculture-Forestry Minister Tadao Kuraishi resigned today under fire from opposition party leaders who accused him of trampling on the Japanese constitution's renunciation of war.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato accepted the resignation to end a deadlock which had blocked parliamentary action for 16 days.

After the North Koreans seized the USS Pueblo, Kuraishi told a news conference: "We need warships and guns in the background to insure the safety of our fishing boats."
