More than six hundred farmers attended a tobacco hearing at the Moose Lodge here today.

This is the first in a series of six meetings sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to determine whether or not there is sufficient evidence to merit a referendum on the question of a federal marketing order for tobacco.

G. Osmond Hyde, Chief Hearing Examiner for USDA, conducted today's hearings. He told the group that the six meetings would collectively constitute one public hearing.

Hyde reminded the group of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's position, as expressed by the Secretary earlier this month at a speech in Durham: "The announcement of the hearing does not mean that I favor federal order."

Freeman added that the Department would consider the prospect of a referendum.

Representing the federal government at today's hearing were Steven Wrather, director of the tobacco division of the Consumer and Marketing Service; Albert Doub Jr., representing the tobacco division of Consumer and Marketing Service; Hary Platnik, from the Office of General Counsel in Washington; and Frank Grasberger of Consumer and Marketing.

James B. Hunt Jr., a Wilson attorney, represented the state Granges of North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia and the North Carolina Association of Farmer-Elected Committeemen.

"The generally acknowledged chaotic conditions in the marketing of flue-cured tobacco," explained Hunt, "... have led many . . . to conclude that some means of limiting and controlling the flow of tobacco must be developed."

Hunt called for the "self-regulation of this problem by those who experience it," adding that the "power of the law" must be behind their acts.

The Wilson attorney explained the interstate character of tobacco marketing. He then added that the term "Federal Marketing Order" may be a "misnomer" because the power to administer the program would be delegated to elected representatives of producer groups.

"Marketing order programs are truly democratic in origin," said Hunt. He called for the approval of the proposal, saying that the "real power lies in the hands of the committee and those who select it."

John H. Cyrus of the tobacco marketing division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture appeared as a mutual witness. Hunt questioned Cyrus on the point of regulated sales periods.

Based on the fact that each set of buyers can manage the marketing of 380,000 pounds of tobacco per day, Cyrus concluded that following the closing of the Georgia market, the Eastern belt and border belt of North and South Carolina could theoretically market a maximum of 125.4 million pounds per week.

These figures were based on a five-day week, five-hour day proposal.

Sees Step A Demonstration Of Determination Westmoreland Presents Case For Additional U. S. Troops

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland says more American troops probably will be needed in Vietnam.

"With additional troops," he says, "we could more effectively deny the enemy his objective, capitalize on his recent defeats to a greater degree in both time and place, and clearly demonstrate to Hanoi our firm determination to prevent him from taking over any part of South Vietnam."

Westmoreland gave no estimate of how many more U.S. troops might be needed above the 525,000 already authorized. Some military sources estimated this may be as many as 100,000. There are 500,000 U.S. troops here now, plus 35,000 men in 7th Fleet ships offshore and another 35,000 in Thailand at air bases from which bombing strikes are launched against North Vietnam.

Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, conferred over the weekend on the troop situation with Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, who was in Saigon.

Wheeler left Saigon late Sunday to return to Washington. Dispatches from Washington said a decision on whether to call up thousands of reservists is hanging fire until he gets back to the capital. Westmoreland's views on the Vietnam situation were expressed Sunday in written answers to questions submitted by The Associated Press in which he expanded on comments voiced in a two-hour informal interview.

He said he did not believe Hanoi could stand a long war and he likened the recent Communist lunar new year—Tet—offensive to the Battle of the Bulge of World War II, in late 1944. That battle was the last major offensive by the Germans before their defeat in 1945.

Westmoreland said he underestimated the Communist infiltration tactics in their Tet offensive but said they nevertheless "suffered a military defeat."

In his wide ranging replies, the 54-year-old commander also said: "He had no reason to believe the North Vietnamese have changed their plan to attack Khe Sanh."

"The North Vietnamese had ignored the neutrality of Laos and Cambodia and used these countries to send men and munitions into South Vietnam."

"He was confident the U.S. 'body count' of Communist troops killed in the war is accurate and even conservative."

have "run into a buzz saw."

"—He saw no need to change allied strategy but the time had come for debate to end and 'get on with the job.'"

"—The Communist offensive seems to be a 'go-for-broke effort' and any follow-up attack would not have the element of surprise."

UNC Board Asks Speech Curb Study

RALEIGH (AP)—Trustees of the University of North Carolina today called on their executive committee to make further study of regulations governing visiting speakers at the university's four campuses.

Pending that study, the board adopted regulations proposed by university president William C. Friday and the university chancellors. These regulations are to remain in effect until further action by the full board.

The trustees acted after wrangling more than an hour over how to replace the controversial Speaker Ban Law recently knocked down by a federal court decision.

The regulations would not give the university power to bar a speaker solely because of his political views, as the Speaker Ban Law did.

Friday pointed out, however, that a 1941 law makes it illegal to use any state building or institution supported wholly or in part by the state by anyone advocating the overthrow of the government.

Friday proposed the following six regulations:

—Express effort shall be made to present all sides of controversial issues in a balanced program of public addresses.

—When the chancellor deems it appropriate, he may require that the forum be presided over by a senior faculty member.

—All forums shall be open to the public.

—The right to question or challenge a point of view and to present the opposing point of view shall be assured.

—Only recognized student, faculty and university organizations may use campus facilities for the presentation of speakers.

—Non-university organizations authorized through official channels to meet on the campus shall be routinely informed that the use of facilities must conform to state laws.

Storm-Battered Ships Escorted To Wilmington

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The tanker Potomac and the Canadian freighter Sillery made their way to the port of Wilmington today with Coast Guard escorts.

Both vessels reported trouble during high winds and rough seas off the North Carolina coast during the weekend.

The Coast Guard cutter Chilula out of Morehead City reached the 246-foot Potomac Sunday morning about 90 miles southeast of Diamond Shoals Light off Cape Hatteras. The crew had already controlled flooding on board and reported no injuries.

The Sillery, a 205-foot freighter registered in Quebec, had reported a breakdown in steering equipment. The 13-man crew made temporary repairs and was being escorted to Wilmington by the Coast Guard cutter Papaw out of Charleston, S.C.

Sees 'Disastrous Course' In Sending More Men Fulbright Proposes Congressional Debate On Escalation In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright urges a full-scale congressional debate on any further U.S. escalation in Vietnam, saying dispatch of more American troops to the war would be "a disastrous course."

The Arkansas Democrat, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a long-time arch critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, said Sunday he feels the country deserves a "re-examination of the purposes, the objectives" of that policy.

The president of South Vietnam and a top U.S. diplomat spurned meanwhile U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's call Saturday for an end to American bombing of North Vietnam.

"I believe this is the last year for the VC," the Communist guerrillas in South Vietnam.

Undersecretary of State William P. Bundy said North Vietnam must indicate clearly in advance that it would not take military advantage of a bombing halt.

"We just can't take this one on faith—pure and simple," said Bundy.

Fulbright was interviewed on the ABC radio-television program, "Issues and Answers," Thieu on CBS' "Face the Nation," and Bundy on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Fulbright once more said the administration hasn't proved two U.S. destroyers were attacked in the August 1964

Gulf of Tonkin incident — the reported naval engagement that led to the first U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

And even if the ships were attacked, said the Arkansas, the U.S. military retaliation was far too harsh.

"Can you imagine how they (the North Vietnamese) look at it, having done nothing to us and then suddenly to have 64 missions with enormous tonnage dropped on you?" he asked.

Fulbright referred to 64 U.S. bombing sorties against North Vietnam launched shortly after the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy reported being attacked by North Vietnamese torpedo boats.

Three days after the incident Fulbright—acting as floor manager—steered through the Senate the so-called Tonkin Gulf resolution authorizing the President to use "all necessary measures" to repel further aggression.

Fulbright said Sunday if he had known then what he does now he would not have supported the resolution, which won overwhelming Senate adoption.

His proposal for a full-scale Senate discussion of Vietnam policy came when he was asked about reports Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, has requested more troops.

Fulbright said further escalation could bring Red China into the war.

"I think this is a disaster to the country and there is nothing we could possibly achieve commensurate with the cost," he said.

Maxwell D. Taylor, former U.S. ambassador to Saigon and onetime chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Sunday the Communist strategy of attacking South Vietnam's cities is doomed to failure and actually has created fresh hope for peace negotiations.

Urge Filing Of Suits By Wounded Students

By AL LANIER

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina State College NAACP officials said today they are attempting to get wounded Negro students to file damage suits against the State of South Carolina.

George Campbell, president of the student chapter of the NAACP, interviewed Negro college students who were wounded by state troopers in an encounter with state highway patrolmen Feb. 8.

Campbell, contacted after a student assembly at the college this morning, said he did not know the nature of the suits, other than that they would be for "damages."

He did say, however, that he met with "about 15 or 20 of the wounded students this morning, and that every student he has talked with says suit will be filed."

"I don't know if all of them will sue," Campbell said, "but we're begging them to. The NAACP will provide lawyers and full support."

"We have the full support of the national NAACP office," Campbell said.

Classes resumed without incident today for the first time since Feb. 8 when three Negro students were shot to death and more than 30 wounded by state highway patrolmen during a bloody encounter on the fringe of the State College campus.

School officials said a majority of the approximately 1,500 State College students had returned to the campus this morning, but said a complete headcount was not immediately possible.

Maceo Nance, acting president of the school, told the students today, "We are all saddened and grieved" by the death of the two State College students and an Orangeburg high school pupil.

Speaking at the assembly, Nance said he hopes students will cooperate in allowing the remainder of the academic year to be continued "without further turmoil."

Nance said he was concerned about some newspaper accounts which were obviously based on interviews with wounded students.

"You should be careful of what you say and you should have the facts when you say something," Nance said, "Otherwise you should refrain from having such a glib tongue."

Giving Thailand 50 Helicopters

BANGKOK (AP) — The U.S. government has agreed to supply Thailand with 50 transport helicopters to be used in the war against Communist terrorists in north and northeast Thailand, Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today.

Thanom said the first 10 helicopters would be delivered in June.

He also reported five Communist terrorists were killed last week, 29 were captured and 13 surrendered in seven clashes with government forces

Saturday's Snow Faded Away By Clear Skys And Bright Sun

Sunday's clear skies allowed a bright sun to shine down on Pitt and surrounding counties and quickly melt snow that accumulated Saturday.

Saturday's snow began about 9 a.m. and lasted until 7:30 p.m. Within an hour after the snow stopped falling, the sky was clear and the stars were shining.

Roads which had been hazardous during the day Saturday were being scraped by Highway Commission crews and were passable. By midday Sunday little snow remained on the highways.

Temperatures at mid-morning today stood at 35 degrees. Low for the day was reported at 4 a.m. when the temperature stood at 22 degrees.

By 8 a.m. the temperature stood at 25 degrees.

Highest winds during the morning were from six to eight miles per hour from the North.

The Tar River level was 3.7 feet.

Lay Witness Movement To Be Sponsored By Church Mar. 1-3

Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church announced today it will sponsor its first three-day Lay Witness Movement here this weekend, March 1-3.

John Montgomery of Jarvis, chairman of the Lay Witness Committee, said the meeting will bring together 22 visiting laymen from North Carolina "who will give local laymen an opportunity to share with them the reality of Christ in their lives."

Mrs. J. H. Waldrop and Mrs. Frank Wilson and Miss Elizabeth Wilson.

Saturday at 5:30 p.m. a supper for the visiting laymen and the members of the commission on evangelism will be served at the church. At 7:30 p.m. all Methodists will come together again for a practical sharing period in the fellowship hall. Sunday morning at 9:45 the visiting laymen will teach Sunday School classes. At the 11 a.m. worship service in Jarvis they will have charge of the morning service. And that evening at 7:30 p.m., local church members will evaluate the effect of the three-day mission.

The Home Gardener

By JOHN H. HARRIS
N.C. State University

Nothing makes my mouth water like thinking about full ripe strawberries fresh from the garden and strawberry short cake. And, nothing makes my back ache like thinking about keeping out the grass and weeds in August. But, there's a way to grow strawberries without grass and weeds.

Here's how:
1—Select a fertile, well-drained site, and have your soil tested, if possible. If you don't have it tested, broadcast and work into the soil three pints of 8-8-8 and seven pints of lime for each 100 square feet.

2—To control weeds, disease and soil insects, fumigate the entire area with methyl bromide. This is done by covering the area to be treated with an air-tight plastic cover. Seal all four sides down with soil and release the methyl bromide under the cover. An area 20x40 feet (800 square feet) would be sufficient for 100 plants and should give you all the berries you will need unless you plan to freeze a large quantity. This would require eight pounds of methyl bromide. Leave the cover undisturbed for two days, then remove it. You may set your plants two weeks later. See your county agent for details on the use of methyl bromide.

This procedure is especially suited to tobacco farmers since they treat their plant beds exactly the same way.

3—Use only healthy, certified plants; preferably the Albritton variety. Tennessee Beauty is ideal for the mountains.

4—Set plants two feet apart in rows four feet apart before growth starts in the spring. Fertilize a month later with two pints nitrate of soda for each 100-foot of row.

5—Remove blossoms the first year. This insures early runners and a good crop the following spring. Space the runners so that the bed stays about 18 inches wide.

6—If available, use a mulch of pine straw or shavings to conserve moisture. Fertilize again with nitrate of soda (two pints per 100-foot of row) in August or September.

7—Harvest a good crop one year later and enjoy the choice fruit the year round by freezing, the surplus. You will have very little trouble from grass and weeds.

Moore Going To Governors Meet

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore plans to be in Washington this week for the National Governors' Conference which is expected to devote attention to a special presidential report on last summer's racial disturbances.

The governor goes to Washington Wednesday for the three-day meeting at the White House. He will attend a reception for members of Congress Wednesday evening and have dinner with North Carolina's congressional delegation that night.

A dinner at the White House is scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday. The governor's schedule today included a meeting of the University of North Carolina Board of Trustees at the Capitol and a luncheon meeting of the trustees' Executive Committee at North Carolina State University.

Moore will attend a meeting of the Council of State at 3 p.m. Tuesday and will make an industrial announcement in Raleigh at 10 a.m. Wednesday before departing for Washington.

Judge H. Hoyle Sink Died Sun. In Adult Education

GREENSBORO (AP)—Judge H. Hoyle Sink, a veteran of more than 40 years on the Superior Court bench, died at a Greensboro hospital Sunday. He was 79.

The Greensboro jurist had been in declining health for several months and had been hospitalized since Jan. 8.

He was appointed to the Superior Court bench in 1927 by Gov. A. W. McLean and he had served as a judge continuously since then until his fatal illness.

Sink was defeated for reelection in 1954 by Judge Walter Crissman of High Point but he continued to serve on an emergency basis.

Court observers regarded Judge Sink as a tough judge, but he also was known for his humor. He believed in capital punishment and pronounced the death sentence 43 times, a record for North Carolina jurists.

However, he said not long ago that he doubted that there would ever be another execution in the state. With more than 40 years of service on the bench, Judge Sink held court longer than any other Superior Court judge.

Gov. Dan Moore said in Raleigh. "He was a faithful friend of mine for many years. I served with him both as a solicitor and as a judge. His death is a great personal loss to me, but beyond that, the state has lost an outstanding citizen and one of its finest jurists."

Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Greensboro and burial will follow at Chestnut Hill Cemetery in Salisbury.

Judge Sink is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Harriet Sink Prophet of South Norwalk, Conn., and a sister, Mrs. R. Grady Shoaf of Lexington.

Professional Photographers Hold Meet Here

Wives Of Candidates Campaign In Own Way

EDITOR'S NOTE—They're not running for president, but they are campaigning as hard as the candidates. They are the candidates' wives—Lenore Romney, Abigail McCarthy, Pat Nixon. All are out in New Hampshire now, shaking hands, making speeches, and kissing babies in dedicated, wifely campaigns for the Granite State primary March 12.

By JOY MILLER
AP WOMEN'S EDITOR

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—Lenore Romney makes speeches, the eighth of the day as effective as the first.

Abigail McCarthy talks, answers questions, soothes restive crowds when her husband is running late and mellowly stiff social gatherings.

Pat Nixon stands in receiving lines for hours, shaking hands with undiminished vigor — "She really squeezes," marvels a New Hampshire voter — and occasionally hugs a newfound friend with fond exuberance.

In the New Hampshire primary campaign — climaxed by the voting on March 12 — the wife is not only an important member of the team, she is often the hardest worker next to the candidate himself. Most of the time she is making solo appearances, facing crowds of strangers without the familiar comfort of her husband beside her.

While the candidates' schedules fall more or less into the same pattern, their wives campaign in a manner uniquely their own.

Mrs. Nixon, for example, does not make speeches. She never has, not when her husband was running successfully for the vice presidency in 1956 on the Republican ticket, nor when he was running unsuccessfully for the presidency in 1960.

"I have never spoken on issues," she explains, "but I do talk to people and get their opinions. I am eyes and ears for Dick. He's the speechmaker of the family, and we've always considered him so. What if I didn't know the Pueblo had been hijacked and someone asked me about it? Anyway, this is our idea."

Mrs. Nixon works mostly in his campaign office in New York. "I like to be identified with the other volunteers," she says. "I learn a great deal from women."

Sometimes she travels with her husband, shaking hands and listening to him speak. During a recent weekend, accompanied by her two daughters — Tricia, 21, a real blonde beauty, and Julie, 19, brunette and vivacious — and David Eisenhower, Julie's fiance and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's 19-year-old grandson, she made her first solo appearances in this campaign.

At receptions at the Exeter Inn and in the high school cafeteria in Rochester, N.H., she seemed relaxed and happy as she greeted well wishers.

"They say you can shake hands with 700 an hour," she answered, when asked how many guests she thought attended, "but I talked so long to them maybe there were 600 in two hours."

Whether there's a new Richard Nixon as some claim, mellow and more relaxed, the Granite State women kept talking about the new Mrs. Nixon.

In the 1960 campaign, they agreed she frequently looked tense and sharp-featured, and although she put her heart and soul in to her handshaking, she seemed timid about making a misstep.

Eight years later she looks 10 years younger and prettier than she's been for a long time. Her face is fuller, her tawny hair more bouffant, her manner lighthearted.

The most indefatigable campaigner on the New Hampshire primary circuit, including the candidates, is probably Lenore Romney, wife of Michigan's Republican governor and mother of four, grandmother of nine. She maintains a punishing pace six days a week, then flies home to Michigan to teach her Mormon Sunday School class.

She says: "By Saturday night I never want to talk to anyone again, but by Monday I'm ready to go."

Mrs. Romney starts out as early in the morning as she can, often at 8 a.m., and drives hard all day, from home coffee party to high school assembly to coffee hour at a general store to meeting skiers at a lodge. Sometimes she doesn't see her husband for days.

Mrs. Romney is a pretty, reddish-brown-haired, almost fragile looking woman with laugh wrinkles around her eyes. She is adept at putting nervous hostesses and their guests at ease at the six or so home coffee parties she attends in a day. She never drinks coffee herself, but sometimes sips hot water to soothe her throat.

Often there are not more than 200 women gathered in the living room to hear her, but each time she puts everything she's got into her speech.

She never uses notes, but begins talking quietly, taking her cue from her surroundings, standing beside an American flag at the Newfields Town Hall she told about 25 women, which is 50 per cent of the registered women voters there, about the great moral crisis she believed was threatening the nation.

In the Concord High School auditorium she won attention from 700 teen-agers by telling them: "You have the right to rebel, but make sure what you're rebelling for is greater than what you're rebelling against."

Through all her speeches runs her deep belief in her husband, who, she says has never had a hint of scandal in business, or his personal or political life "and the worst thing they can say about him is that he is a square. Well, I think this country is ready for a straight arrow."

An equally articulate, but much more low-key, speaker is Mrs. Eugene J. McCarthy, wife of the Minnesota senator who is challenging President Johnson in the primary, principally on his Vietnam policy.

Recently the attractive, former schoolteacher made her first political foray into New Hampshire, mostly, she said, to meet with the volunteers and offer her services, "and not so much to reach out to the uncommitted at this time. That comes later."

At a volunteer workers luncheon she told them frankly that she was not a glamor girl and that she thought she could be more effective in situations where she could talk for a period of time about issues and about what the senator thought

Couple Says Vows In Charlotte Ceremony

CHARLOTTE — Miss Carol Lee Francis became the bride of Jerry W. Hoogenakker on Feb. 17 in Myers Park Baptist Church here.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Francis of Charlotte. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hoogenakker of Pella, Iowa.

The Rev. Charles Davis officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by E. Turley Higgins Jr., organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin styled with a long-sleeved bodice of imported lace with lace detail on the front panel of the formal length skirt which was accented in the back with a cathedral train. Her French illusion floor length veil was attached to a lace chapel cap. She carried a bouquet of orchids with roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Gay B. Francis was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. E. Turley Higgins Jr. of Charlotte was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Laney of Monroe, Miss Penny Featherstone of Charlotte, Miss Sylvia De Jone of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Mary Frances Gentry of Walnut Cove, cousin of the bride, Junior bridesmaids, all cousins of the bride, of Fountain Miss Beth Bullock of Fuquay-Varina and Miss Sharon Francis of Waynesville.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were Hal Machen, Terry Limpert, Bill Milner, Steve Francis, brother of the bride, all of Charlotte and Jack Gosselink of New York City.

Following a wedding trip to Atlanta and Sea Island, Ga., the couple will reside in Charlotte.

The bride is a graduate of Monroe High School and Wingate College. She is employed with Belk Stores Services, Charlotte. The bridegroom graduated from Pella, Iowa Senior High and from Central College in Pella. He was a member of the Bachelors Club and is employed with brokers, Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., Charlotte.

Reception Following the wedding, the bride parents entertained at a reception in the church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cox of Winterville assisted in receiving and serving were Mrs. Robert J. Rice, Mrs. John L. Turner, Mrs. Mike Francis and Mrs. Henry Jenkins, all of Charlotte.

Centering the interior was the bride's table skirted with a bouffant floor length cover of white illusion bordered with lace and looped with garlands of cerise pink ribbon caught to nosegays of deep pink roses in cerise maitine puffs.

Follow Your Lawyer's Advice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My dear mother passed away nearly two years ago and on her death-bed she told me she wanted me to have her lovely diamond ring, and my sister to have her small emerald ring. Our father was right there, and he heard her say it.

Well, before Mother had been gone a year, Dad gave the emerald ring to a "lady friend." It was a brief encounter and nothing came of it. The "lady" soon disappeared, and with her went the ring.

Now our father tells me that he is planning to give the diamond to still another "lady friend." I am broken-hearted, Abby. Does he have the right to do this? It would be a public scandal to take him to court over something like this, but that ring belongs to me. It's not the value of the ring, but the sentiment, that's important. Is there some way to keep him from giving away the diamond my mother meant for me?

BROKENHEARTED
DEAR BROKENHEARTED: Talk to a lawyer. He can tell you whether you are LEGALLY entitled to the diamond or not. If what you say is true, your father is morally obligated to carry out your mother's wishes, but unfortunately that which is moral is not always legal.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I left my husband for a man I loved. And yes, I have children, but I put my love for him before my children.

We have had many fun times together since then, but I have never quite gotten him to make the break with his wife.

He says he loves me and does not love her, but he cannot leave his children, Abby. I left my children for him.

His wife must be the world's biggest fool because she found out about us, and forgave him. He came right back to me, tho, which proves he really loves me.

What can I do now, Abby? I gave up everything for this man I can't see why he won't give up a loveless marriage for me. Why does his wife stand in the way of our love?

SOUTHERN BELLE
DEAR SOUTHERN: Maybe she loves and prays that this is just a foolish fling from which he will recover.

And maybe she has put her love for her children before ev-anything else. Some women do, you know.

DEAR ABBY: If you think grown men don't cry, you should have seen me as I read that letter in your column from the father who was so strict with his young son that the boy's self-confidence was destroyed and made of him a high school drop-out and a runaway kid.

I'm just as guilty as that father—only in a slightly different way. It seems I was "too busy" to spend time with my son. This I deeply regret now.

It's too bad more fathers don't realize that the opportunity to be close to their children is theirs for just a few short years. Then it is gone forever. If this letter helps to bring a few guys to their senses, it will have been worthwhile.

Mrs. Jerry W. Hoogenakker Cosmos Members Hear Mrs. Wilks

Mrs. Wilhelmine Wilks was guest speaker at the meeting of the Cosmos Book Club held Tuesday. Mrs. James Smith was hostess for the luncheon meeting.

Dressed in a native costume which she made, Mrs. Wilks spoke about her native county, Latvia.

Latvia has four seaports and is located in northern Europe on the eastern shore of the Baltic Sea. Its size is equivalent to the state of West Virginia. The climate is mild in the summer, the hottest month being July with an average temperature of 64 degrees. The winters are very cold with temperatures ranging 34 degrees below zero, said the speaker.

The many rivers, lakes, streams and national parks lend themselves to the natural beauty found in Latvia. Mrs. Wilks described her experiences during the Russian and German occupations and her eventual escape with her daughter.

Mrs. Wilks displayed Latvian pottery, jewelry and linens.

Guests included Mrs. Gail Jones, Mrs. Stephen White and Mrs. Wilks.

FURNITURE DINING

There never was such a choice in shapeliness in dining furniture as can be seen to-day!

For most homemakers, finding the right size and shape dining set for this area is a relatively simple task. For others, where the dining area is small, oddly-shaped, or otherwise hard to deal with, selecting the proper table and chair set can be a real challenge.

The smart homemaker will relate the size and shape of her dining area, and the number of people she expects to seat.

Study Might Turn To Area Needs

Investigation by the Civil Aeronautics Board into air service between three major North Carolina airports and New York, Chicago and Miami may do more than open the eyes of the CAB to the changes which have taken place around the major cities of this state in the past decade.

Hopefully, the investigation may suggest to the CAB the need for a similar review of air service needs to smaller cities of North Carolina as well.

The immediate matter under review by the CAB is whether there should be additional service between the Charlotte-High Point-Winston-Salem and Raleigh-Durham airports and the three major cities to the North, South and Northwest. It is not likely that the matter of service to other airports in North Carolina will enter directly into the hearings. The welfare of other cities of the state, however, is directly involved.

As a matter of course, the CAB can hardly look at the changing needs for air service at these major airports in North Carolina without likewise recognizing the needs for air service at smaller cities in the same general areas of the state have also changed in recent years.

A careful review of the needs of the major cities in North Carolina can hardly help but result in recommendations for improved service to other major cities of the nation. The investigation is fully justified and long overdue. So too, in our judgment, is a subsequent review of the next lower level of air service to smaller cities throughout this state.

Establishing Of Boys' Club Seems Assured

A Boys' Club of Greenville fund drive has been so successful that establishment of a club here seems assured.

R. W. Howard, president of the board of directors, announced this good news last week.

The local club will be affiliated with Boys' Club of America which has been so successful in building character and promoting social, educational vocational and health development among boys seven through 18 years old.

According to Howard, the club will at first be located in temporary quarters.

We believe a Boys' Club here can render a great service to youngsters of the seven through 18 age group. These are the years when a young man's character becomes set. The availability of the services offered by a Boys' Club may be just what is needed by many boys.

The group that is working on this project should be commended for the effort. Establishment of a Boys' Club here deserves the support of all our citizens.

Henkel Known As A 'Fighter'

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — C. V. Henkel of Iredell, squire of Turnersburg, N. C., is known in state legislative circles as a fighter.

"Don't go up against C.V.," is a statement of advice heard frequently in the legislative halls and corridors. And it is advice heeded by neophytes in the General Assembly. C. V. Henkel is a veteran of legislative wars, of statewide political campaigns and almost every sort of state political issue. Henkel is a battle scarred veteran.

The initials, C. V., stand for Columbus Vance, and this Henkel's name — the name of a strong man in the State Senate for many years, a candidate for lieutenant governor in 1960, and still a voice and power in state government affairs while seeking a sixth term.

Made A Comeback
After political defeat in 1960, Henkel waited out a couple of legislative seasons. He was a power, and influential legislative figure during the Hodger administration and rose quickly to a leading role on the Senate floor in those years. He guided a number of important programs to enactment and except for the popularity of a member of the House, Rep. Cloyd Philpot, Henkel very likely would have become lieutenant governor the next year.

But Philpot was elected. A few months later he died, suddenly and unexpectedly.

There was litigation about filling the vacancy but the office of lieutenant governor remained vacant and unfilled throughout most of the term of former governor Terry Sanford.

Henkel faded into the background for a time. Many felt, that, except for an act of fate, he would have held the office of lieutenant governor which fell instead to the president of the Senate in 1963, Sen. T. Clarence Stone of Rockingham. Henkel at this point was no longer a member of the legislature. But his political career was not ended.

Is Undaunted
Undaunted by defeat in a statewide political race, Henkel ran again. He returned to the legislature as a member of the State Senate two years ago.

Almost immediately Henkel was handed one of the toughest and most difficult challenges in the 1967 lawmaking body — chairmanship of the Senate Propositions and Grievances committee. Henkel never flinched. He took the assignment, knowing it would be controversial and would require a strong, resolute stand. This true because the politically - hot "brown bagging" issue went first to the House committee. Henkel's Senate committee either had to rubber - stamp or take issue with what the House committee had done. Henkel is not a man to rubber - stamp anything. His committee refused to approve the House version of a brownbagging bill on two occasions and Henkel stood resolute.

Now Henkel, an incumbent, has filed for re-election for a sixth term in the legislature. His senatorial district includes Catawba, Lincoln, Alexander, Iredell Counties.

He is a Statesville hotel executive and real estate man, a Democrat and well - known political figure. He faces Republican opposition in the district.

Ulcers -- Price Of Prosperity

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One of the prices of our worried prosperity is ulcers. Some five million Americans have the disease, and it claims 4,000 new victims each day. From 7 to 12 per cent of our people get an ulcer sometime during their lives.

Few creatures work as hard at creating posterity as the female codfish. She lays up to nine million eggs in a season, and if all her offspring survived, in no time at all you'd be up to your chin in codfish every time you took a dip in the ocean.

Our nation is getting older, but our people are getting younger. The average age of Americans five years ago was 29. Today it is 28. And the typical U. S. family breadwinner is male, works at a white collar job, earns better than $7,500 a year, owns a three-year-old car, is buying a home in a city or suburb, has been married five years, is the father of two children and expects to have a third one before his 10th wedding anniversary.

You can win money by betting the guy at the desk next to you that he can't tell you what the American Chocolate was. It was one of the more than 2,000 varieties of motor cars that have been manufactured in this country. The American Chocolate was turned out in 1903.

Quotable notables: "What, sir, would the people of the earth be without woman? They would be scarce, sir, almighty scarce." — Mark Twain.

Heavy money: The largest metal coin ever made was Sweden's 24 - inch long, 44-pound copper "X-daler," or $10 piece. Of 26,000 coins struck, only three are known to survive. They are in museums.

Bottled gold: The reason top-grade French cognac is so expensive — $17 to $32 — is that from 8 to 10 bottles of wine have to be distilled to create one bottle of this superbrandy.

Literary training: Robert Kyle, author of the new eyebrow-raising novel, "Venues Examined," worked his way through Harvard by playing bridge for money. He also has written two dozen mysteries, including the Ben Gates series.

Feminine appetites: Many a husband has noted his pocketbook's sorrow that his wife eats more after marriage than when he was court-ing her. It's the other way with lady elephants.

In captivity a lady elephant eats only about 100 pounds of food daily, but if she's wild and free in the woods she'll gobble 800 pounds of grass, shrubbery and tree leaves and bark.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
WATCH FOR THE GRANDCHILDREN

Every now and again society as a whole goes "off the deep end" about some new discovery. In the eighteenth century when men began to their first knowledge about have electricity, it was felt that electricity was something that would heal all diseases. Now we know that while electricity is very important from the industrial standpoint, it is not so important as people thought it would be from the medical standpoint.

Today the world has gone crazy over psychology. Most of our difficulties, we are told, are the result of frustration, emotional maladjustment etc., etc. No longer does the pulpit have the final message for settling individual and world problems, but the office of the psychiatrist. In fact, many preachers are slipping the Bible down to the bottom shelf of their libraries and filling the top shelves with the latest books on psychoanalysis. This too will prove a fruitless dream. Psychology is a branch of knowledge which has a real contribution to make to the thinking life of the world, but that it is a cure-all is a mere delusion. We are taking the psychiatrist and psychoanalyst too seriously, and our grandchildren will smile complacently at our navete.

Rearmament Conference

WASHINGTON—Last week Israel and Jordan had a shoot-out. After it was over, Israeli political circles were quoted as saying they feared that the decision of the United States to supply Jordan with arms would upset the armament balance in the Middle East. At the same time, Israel would not make any protest since it preferred the Jordanians getting arms from Washington instead of from the Soviet Union, which is hostile to Israel.

It may be just grabbing at a straw, but perhaps the solution for peace may be that instead of nations holding "disarmament" conferences, they could meet to discuss "rearmament." If they could agree on how much they were going to rearm, some of the suspicion about disarmament could disappear.

Public Forum

To The Editor:
Sometime during your teens, someone will most likely urge you to drink. Will you? It will be too late after you already have the drink in your hand to decide whether you will drink or not. You need to make this decision before it is too late.

There are many arguments in favor of drinking and the arguments against drinking make you seem so self-righteous. So why shouldn't you drink? You say, everybody drinks and I'd be a square if I didn't. The trend today is to be a non - conformist. So, why not be an individual? If you do go along with the crowd and drink, you are conforming to their mixed - up beliefs and you are not being an individual at all.

Another argument in favor of drinking is that it makes you feel more at ease. But when you really think about it, is it really a sound argument? When you take a few drinks to ease the tension, you lower your standards and really begin to feel ill at ease with everyone.

Some girls drink because they think their dates expect them to. Isn't this absurd? When your date smuggles alcoholic beverages into a party, drink it behind doors or in pop bottles, he thinks it makes him an important adult. However, it really shows how adult he is — his actions are about as convincing as a little girl dressing up in her mother's too - big shoes, gloves, and hats to prove she is an adult.

Many teenagers use the excuse, "But my parents drink. Why can't I?" This often sounds logical at a first glance, but is it really? Parents are adults and have the right to choose their habits, and if we wait until we are adult, we will have seen the dangers of drinking and will be more prepared to make this decision.

There are many reasons for drinking, but are they valid? No matter what excuse you find in favor of drinking; after thinking about it for a while, it seems unconvincing. No one can tell you not to drink. The decision is up to you. What decision will you make?

discuss the problem.
"We're getting 50 F - 100s from the United States," the Jordanians say.
"That's perfectly all right with us," the Israelis reply.
"We're getting 50 American F-5s. They're much faster and can also carry rockets."
"Is that so? Maybe we should get F-5s as well."
"Well, we don't want to tell you how to run your defense, but you're crazy to take the F-100s if you can get the F-5s," the Israelis say.
"That's good of you to warn us. By the way, our intelligence reports indicate that those new American tanks you bought won't stand up against the antitank guns the Americans gave us."

"No kidding? Where are the weaknesses?" the Israelis ask.
"In the turret. Maybe you could add some armor in the turret to compensate for the deficiency."
"I think we could. Oh, by the way, we read in the newspapers that the Jordanians are buying some 105 artillery guns. They're pretty expensive, you know."
"You don't think we should buy them?"

On The Moon In '69?

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — American astronauts now are favored to beat the Russians to the moon, with a good possibility they'll plant the Stars & Stripes there next year.

Faced with this potential space defeat, the Soviets may try to reduce the sting by flying men around the moon late this year and making an all-out effort to establish the first large manned space station and to land the first men on another planet.

They also may attempt within a year or so to land a large unmanned robot on the moon and return it to earth with the first samples of lunar soil, thus beating U.S. astronauts to this prize.

These conclusions are based on a survey of recent Soviet publications and discussions with U.S. officials who assess the Russian space program.

These sources believe both nations will bounce back strongly from last year's man-in-space tragedies and that 1968 and 1969 will produce a series of spectacular launchings.

The feeling is that the United States is recovering more quickly from the Apollo 1 fire than Russia is from the re-entry crash of Soyuz 1 that killed Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov. Three astronauts died in the Apollo blaze at Cape Kennedy.

If the Apollo program continues to progress as smoothly as it has in recent months, a pair of astronauts could be on the moon by the summer of 1969. American experts generally believe the Russians don't have a chance of making it before 1970, unless they embark on a high-risk mission aimed at winning the race at any cost.

Dr. Charles S. Sheldon 2nd, acting chief of the Library of Congress Science Policy Research Division and a leading American specialist on Russian space matters, said:
"With every month of delay in the Soviet program, this enhances U.S. chances of landing on the moon first. If the Apollo program runs into no more major problems, the edge must go to this country."

He cautioned, however, that Soviet secrecy "gives them lots of opportunities to catch us off balance and makes it difficult to predict their next move."

Even the Russians seem to be playing down the moon race lately.
Prof. Leonid Sedov, a top Soviet space scientist, said an "American landing is technically possible by 1969 or 1970" but that his country still had difficult problems to solve. Among them, he said, are slowing a mooncraft safely for the fiery return through the earth's atmosphere — technology already mastered by the United States. Other Russian documents indicate control problems that plagued Soyuz 1 have not been corrected completely.

American officials said the Russians soon will have the capability of sending a Soyuz-type spacecraft on a circumlunar flight that would take it once around the backside of the moon and return it to earth.

Sheldon said an attempt was made to send an unmanned craft on such a journey last fall, but that it failed.

Another unmanned circumlunar attempt is expected when the spring thaws come, in March or April. Russia has never launched a manned flight in the winter months because of severe weather conditions in much of the country. For this

Coming Fight Over 1970 Census

By ELMER ROESSNER

There's a big build - up for a battle over the 1970 census. On one side are big business interests and government statisticians who see a great opportunity to gather facts for business and government planning.

On the other are people, including a few Congressmen, who see the present plans of the Census Bureau as a scheme for a monumental invasion of the privacy of the people. Some say it would bring George Orwell's "1984" here 14 years ahead of time, and that Big Brother will be setting a watch on everybody in 1970.

Nobody will be asked about either his religious or sex practices; that's been agreed by the Census Bureau and its critics.

Everybody will be asked old questions about the number of children, including illegitimate; they have; in come, job (instead of "occupation"); location, housing, education, age and race.

Sources Of Trouble
That last question may result in some varied answers, tion"); location, housing, education, age and race. Sources Of Trouble

That last question may result in some varied answers, sibly how many appliances. The Census Bureau says this information is necessary to determine the U.S. standard of living, to plan new highways, to determine future power, water and sewage needs, and to determine the mobility and strength of American manpower.

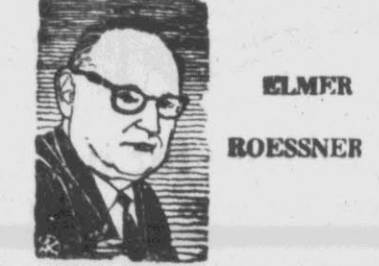

While everybody will be asked the basic questions, not all may be asked the newer ones. One plan under consideration is to demand the information from only a percentage of the population.

First Skirmish
The first fight over census plans will take place in the House Subcommittee on Census and Statistics. Representative Jackson Betts, R., Ohio, has introduced a bill limiting the Census Bureau to the old basic questions. He is being supported by Cornelius E. Gallagher, D., N. J., who led the fight against the Budget Bureau's proposal for a National Data Bank, where information on every citizen, from cradle to the grave, would be stored in a computer system.

Before the subcommittee is a request by Census for a $17 million appropriation for advance planning of the census. The eight - man committee is reported to be about equally divided on how far Census should go. The fight will probably be renewed on the floor of the House and in the Senate.

In the fight, references will probably be made to the growing attempts to keep all people under surveillance. Newport Beach, Calif., made plans to keep all streets, shopping centers and beach fronts under the watchful eyes of mobile television cameras. And in San Antonio, Texas, a workman smashed a TV camera trained on employees of a sash and door plant. "I did it for the working people," he said.

Day Of Prayer To Be Observed On Friday

"Bear One Another's Burdens" is the theme. And with that Church Women United in Greenville are making preparations for World Day of Prayer set Friday, March 1, to call attention that "in unity there is fellowship through Christ."

The service is scheduled at 11 a. m. in Jarvis Memorial Church. And on this day Greenville citizens will join people around the world in praying for peace, for justice and for understanding in a world threatened by war and destruction. It is open to the entire public of every denomination. And a nursery will be provided in the church.

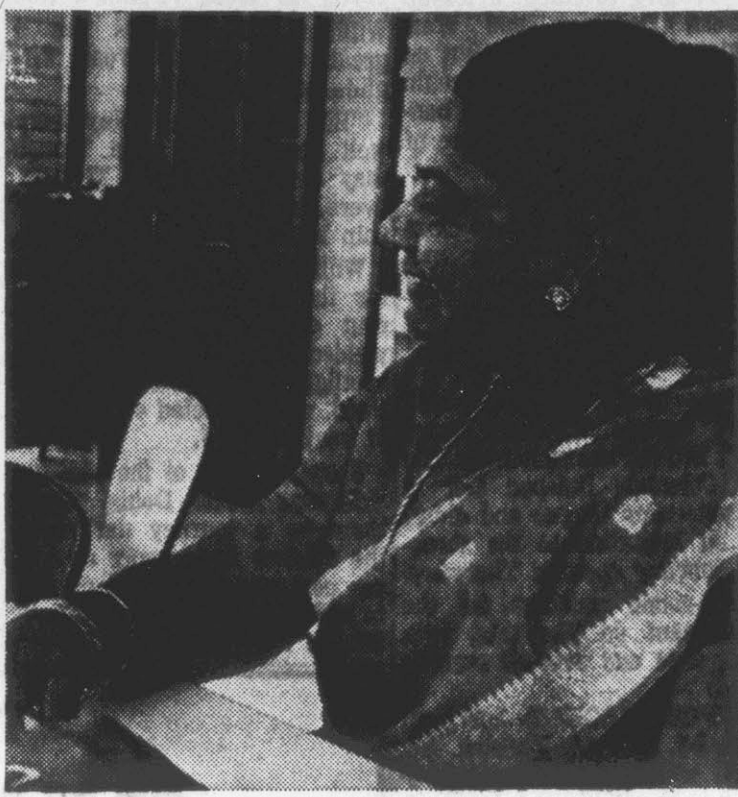

The prayer service for this occasion is written by the chairman of the Asian Church Women's Conference, Mrs. Rathie Selvaratnum of Ceylon. She is well-known in church circles in the United States and has attended many church gatherings in this country as well as in Africa and other parts of Asia.

During the 80 years since its beginning, World Day of Prayer has had as its main purpose prayer and giving for the worldwide mission of the church. Men and women join together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries to pray for the needs of the world and to make an offering for the Church's mission around the globe.

The offerings on this day will go to many worthy projects in America, as well as in other lands. Include will be scholarships for training women for Christian broadcasting in Africa and support for 13 colleges in Camaroun, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Guatemala.

The International Student Service also will be aided as will the literacy work in 18 countries carried out by the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature of the National Council of Churches.

In America, agricultural migrants will be helped, as well as Indian-Americans, rural pastors, vacation church schools and other Christian programs under the general direction of the National Council of Churches of which Church Women United is a part.

Four Traffic Accidents Here On Saturday Night

Four Saturday night wrecks resulted in an estimated $1,025 property damage.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 6 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Wilson Street and involved cars driven by Linda Eileen Ivey, 20, of Siler City and James Lee Wagner, 19, of Route 2, Greenville.

Damage was set at $400 to the Ivey car. No damage was reported to the Wagner vehicle.

An estimated $100 damage resulted to a car driven by William Taft, 48, of 119 Woodside Rd. when his vehicle went out of control and ran down an embankment on Memorial Drive a half-mile south of the Airport Road intersection, about 7:30 p.m.

Cars driven by Louis Woodson Gaylord, 16, of 203 Longmeadow Rd. and Vera A. Blackwell, 18-year-old Negro of Route 3, Greenville were involved in a 4:30 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 14th Street and Rock Springs Rd.

Damage to the Gaylord auto was set at $60, while damage to the Blackwell car was set at $80.

A 5:55 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Glenwood Avenue involved cars driven by Verona Whitchard Robinson, 109 Glenwood Ave. and Calrin Cox, 65-year-old Negro of Route 1, Ayden.

Damage to the Robinson vehicle was set at $185, while an estimated $200 damage resulted to the Cox car.

No charges were placed in the four mishaps and no injuries were reported.

Mardi Gras At St. Gabriel's Begins Tuesday

quite satisfied with it." "Of course, why didn't we think of mortars?" the Jordanians say. "Do you have any dope on antiaircraft missiles?"

"Be careful about which missile you select. The Americans have sold us an antimissile - missile system that's pretty good, and you'll just be throwing your dough away on an antiaircraft missile."

"That's really a valuable piece of information. Why are you being so helpful?"

"Well, we'd rather you get your stuff from the United States. If you're dissatisfied with what you get from the Americans, you might turn to the Soviet Union for help."

"By the way," the Jordanians say, "one of our biggest items is the cost of shipping the hardware to Jordan. Sometimes when Israel doesn't have a full shipload, perhaps we could put some of it on your ships. After all, it's going to practically the same place."

"That makes sense. If we could pool our shipping expenses, we'd have more money to spend on the M-16 rifle."

"Hold off on the M-16 rifle. There are still bugs in it," the Israelis say. "In spite of what they say, it still jams."

"I don't know if this makes sense or not," the Jordanian says, "but if your minister of defense and our minister of defense could fly over to Washington together, they could lay out their needs and there would be co-ordination on what we bought."

"I'll bring it up with General Dayan. It could save us a lot of trouble. The beauty of the arrangement is if one of the other of us runs out of spare parts for the American equipment, we could borrow it from the other."

Jenkins: ECU Seeks Best Health Care For East

RALEIGH — East Carolina University President Leo W. Jenkins said Sunday his institution will do all within its power to make sure that Eastern North Carolina gets "the best health care possibly attainable for all of our people."

He Congratulates Jenkins' Campaign

RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott says definite steps must be taken to assure the people of eastern North Carolina that they will have the best medical services available.

He made the statement Sunday in congratulating Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of East Carolina University, for the leadership and advance plans the university has under way to provide better medical services in the eastern part of the state.

Scott said the long-range health-planning goals of ECU are "sound propositions." He added, "I share Dr. Jenkins' concern about the health resources available in eastern North Carolina."

He noted Dr. Jenkins "wants ECU to take the lead to find workable answers in matters of health. I particularly like the approach of ECU working in partnership with communities to attack health problems."

In Charlotte Saturday, Scott said that if elected he would "make the state government work for the people."

Kicking off his campaign in Mecklenburg County, Scott told his followers that "I believe government is a servant and not a master."

House Damaged By Fire Sunday

Moderate to heavy damage resulted to a Rotary Avenue home when fire broke out in the dwelling Sunday morning, according to firemen.

Fire units were called to the 106 South Rotary Avenue dwelling about 9:20 a.m. and found fire burning in the rear wall of the dwelling.

Officers said the blaze started in a faulty chimney.

Firefighters had to cut through walls at the rear of the dwelling to get to the fire that was traveling up inside the walls.

Water, smoke and fire damage was reported.

Box 37 at the intersection of Harding and First Streets was sounded for the fire.

He also said the General Assembly should consider changes in state laws and the constitution so as to allow local government more "flexibility."

Charge Driver In Sunday Mishap

Stephen Alton Hardee, 16 of Route 1, Grimesland was charged with following too closely by Greenville police who investigated a 6:18 p.m. collision yesterday on Maxwell Street, 300 feet South of the Dickinson Avenue intersection.

Officers said the Hardee car collided with a vehicle driven by Ann Thompson, 16 of 603B Church St.

Damage to the Thompson vehicle was set at $150 while damage to the Hardee auto was placed at $250.

but the very rarest of afflictions or diseases or injuries can be taken care of in our backyard."

ECU's "assault on health problems of the region," Dr. Jenkins said, is taking a three-way approach: (1) the training of professional health personnel, (2) a regional program that disregards county lines, and (3) the discovery of better ways to deliver health services.

According to the ECU president, the overall effort will combine the resources of the university, hospital and other clinical facilities throughout the region and the growing community of medical and health professionals in Eastern North Carolina. If such resources are used with imagination, he declared, "The possibilities are unlimited!"

The effort to raise the level of health care, Dr. Jenkins pointed out, is part of the total development of Eastern North Carolina. "We are seeing the East emerge economically. We are seeing it come alive culturally. We must also keep pace medically."

He added: "Our concern is far from abstract. Some of the most pressing and acute health problems in the nation exist in our backyard."

Yarborough Wins In Daytona 500

By F.T. MacFEELY
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "We'll learn how to handle these speeds," predicted Cale Yarborough, after winning his second straight major race on the banked asphalt track at Daytona International Speedway where high velocity qualifying turned into low key racing for the second year in a row.

It was obvious from the 58 caution laps that the nation's best stock car drivers didn't have things under control in Sunday's $200,000 Daytona 500.

The record crowd of 94,800 saw the survivors regroup behind the caution car 11 times and parade at slow speed for more than one-fourth of the race as a series of accidents eliminated all but 22 of the 50 starters.

The crowd's compensation for patience was a sensational finish in which Yarborough passed his Mercury Cyclone teammate, Lee Roy Yarbrough, of Columbia, S.C., three laps from home and took the checkered flag less than one second in front.

Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., and David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., made it a great day for Ford-Mercury when they finished third and fourth in a pair of Ford Torinos.

The next four places went to Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., and Darel Dieringer of Charlotte in Plymouths, Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., in a Dodge and Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., in a Plymouth.

Tiny Lund of Cross, S.C., was ninth in a Mercury and Andy Hampor of Louisville, Ky., 10th in a Dodge.

Yarborough said his car wasn't quite as fast as Yarbrough's and "he could pass me when he wanted to. All I could do was grin and bear it. I'd beat him in the corners and he'd pass me on the straight."

"You can't do better than wide open, and that's what I was going," Yarborough said.

He maintained a double pit stop within two laps fairly late in the race, had no bearing on his heart-breaking loss and the difference between Cale's $47,250 winnings and Lee Roy's $17,525.

Tar Heels Rack Up First Seed In Tournery

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina's Tar Heels, undefeated in league play, have locked up the first seed for the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament, but a scramble will be on this week for other places.

Three ties need to be resolved and games this final week of the regular season figure to settle several tournament positions. The tournament opens March 7 at Charlotte, N.C.

The conference basketball committee meets in Raleigh, N.C., next Sunday to settle any remaining ties.

Duke currently is in second place in the ACC standings, but North Carolina State and South Carolina still have a shot at No. 2 seeding.

Behind Duke's 9-3 league mark South Carolina and N.C. State are tied for third at 8-4. Virginia and Maryland are tied for fifth with 4-9 marks, and Clemson and Wake Forest are knotted at seventh with 3-11 marks.

Clemson and Wake Forest have finished league play so their spots in the tournament will be determined by Sunday's draw.

The regular season winds up with games Wednesday and Saturday.

Wednesday's schedule has Georgia Tech at Clemson, Duke at N.C. State, South Carolina at North Carolina and Wake Forest at St. Joseph's.

North Carolina is at Duke Saturday afternoon in a regionally televised game, while the scheduled game that night has N.C. State at South Carolina and Georgetown at Maryland.

The past weekend's games brought some shockers as South Carolina downed Duke 56-50 and Wake Forest defeated N.C. State 72-66. North Carolina, meanwhile, pushed its league mark to 12-0 as it defeated Virginia 92-74 and Maryland won 81-68 over Clemson.

South Carolina captured its second win this season over Duke by risking a slowdown.

"Duke is a bunch of runners," explained South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire. "If we had tried to run with them, they'd have run us right out of the gym, all the way to Chapel Hill."

"You always take a chance when you go to a slowdown. If you lose it's bad strategy, but if you win you're a great coach."

Wake Forest's victory over N.C. State snapped an 11-game losing streak for the Deacons. Dickie Walker, a 6-foot-3 sophomore, led the victors with 21 points and seven rebounds.

The third-ranked Tar Heels of North Carolina had a scare from lowly Virginia before routing the Cavaliers 92-74. Virginia's tight zone defense limited North Carolina to a 27.7 field goal percentage in the first half and the Cavaliers led 39-38 at intermission. Rusty Clark led North Carolina's second half comeback and had 27 points for the game.

Party Salutes Harold Thomas

By SONNY McLAHORNS
Reflector Sports Writer
Last night Harold Thomas was honored for his 22 years of service as golf pro at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Thomas is assuming ownership of Brook Valley Country Club March 1.

Following a cocktail party, Louis Clark opened a short program. Then Simon Moye recalled the history of the club and Thomas' part in it.

Moye pointed out that the Greenville course was a nine hole layout with sand greens in 1946. During the next two years, grass greens were built and a new pro shop was constructed.

In 1952 the second nine holes of golf were constructed with irrigated greens. A new club house was built in 1964.

During 22 years the club's membership increased from 100 to approximately 420.

"Rather than make a great eulogy," said Moye, "we should feel that someone whom we all love has bettered himself."

"This will be a great step toward cementing relations between the two clubs" in Greenville, he said.

By unanimous vote the board of directors granted Thomas lifetime membership in the Greenville Golf and Country Club, with privileges of all the facilities.

"It is naturally with mixed emotions that I leave," said Thomas, "but I am convinced that there is room in Greenville for two country clubs. I think we will be able to work together . . . so that we both may prosper."

Thomas was presented a silver chafing dish and tray by the club.

Knudson Wins In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Grand Canyon took a back seat today to Canada's George Knudson, winner of the $100,000 Tucson Open golf tournament and Arizona's newfound attraction.

Knudson, nervous, chain-smoking veteran from Toronto, charged from the pack Sunday to win the $20,000 top money in Tucson, a week after pocketing the same amount for his Phoenix Open victory.

"It was a great round, just a great round," said Knudson of his 7-under-par 65, which gave him a 72-hole score of 15-under 273 and a one-stroke triumph over Frank Beard and Frank Boynton.

George Washington Coach Feels 3 Teams Have Chance In Tournament

By ED YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
George Washington coach Wayne Dobbs, who's in a unique position to judge, thinks only three teams have much chance to win the Southern Conference championship basketball tournament this week at Charlotte.

The three are top-seeded Davidson, second-seeded West Virginia, and — surprise — Richmond's sixth-seeded Spiders.

"You have to call it a tossup between Davidson and West Virginia," says Dobbs. "But on a given night, Richmond could shoot the bottom out of the basket and get one or the other of 'em."

Dobbs has two recommendations as prophet. He's had close looks at both Davidson and WVU in the last 10 days. And he has no axe to grind in assessing the tournament field of eight.

Tourney Finals

The Pitt County Tournament finals will be played tonight in Christenberry Memorial Gym on the campus of East Carolina University.

The tournament finals, scheduled for Saturday night, were postponed because of the snow.

The girls game, between Bethel and Grifton, gets underway at 7 p.m., while the Ayden boys meet Bethel at 8:30 p.m.

Both Ayden and Bethel automatically get berths in next week's District Tournament at Williamston.

Recognize Two World Records

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The International Amateur Athletic Federation recognized two world records Sunday — The one-mile women's mark of 4:37, set by England's Anne Smith on the discus throw of 61.26 meters by Liesel Westermann of West Germany.

GRANTED REFUNDS
NEW YORK (AP) — The Madison Square Garden Corp., said Sunday 15 hockey fans were granted refunds because their seats in the $43 million arena had obstructed views.

UPPER BRACKET—1:30 p.m. VMI, 8-7, 9-11, vs. Furman, 6-6, 12-13; and 7 p.m., Davidson, 9-1, 19-4, vs. William I Mary, 4-10, 6-17.

LOWER BRACKET — 3:30 p.m., The Citadel, 6-5, 11-13, vs. Richmond, 8-8, 11-12; and 9 p.m., West Virginia, 9-2, 17-7, vs. East Carolina, 6-7, 9-15.

Davidson will go into the tournament with a nine-game winning streak, West Virginia with a six-game victory string, thanks to a 90-72 conquest of George Washington Saturday afternoon.

"It's hard to choose between Davidson and West Virginia," says Dobbs. "When you match up personnel, Davidson is better balanced, but I don't think they have as consistently good a player as West Virginia's Ron Williams. If Williams has a great tournament, West Virginia will be tough.

"But they didn't play very well against us, even though they won. They had 27 turnovers, and that's not championship basketball."

Williams poured in 34 points for the Mountaineers in their rout of Dobbs' Colonials, but yielded the individual weekend spotlight to Richmond's Wilton Ford, who collected 41 in a 108-81 rout of WIM.

Showing some of the shooting skill that makes Dobbs regard them as a tourney darkhorse, the Spiders fired away at a 63 per cent clip in the second half to offset a 34-point barrage by W&M's Bob Sherwood.

The Citadel took final ownership of third place, although idle, as East Carolina knocked slumping VMI into fourth, 79-68. Vince Colbert led the Pirates with 25 points.

Davidson closed out with a flourish by beating non-conference Tulane 76-68 at the tournament site in Charlotte, and Furman clipped Wofford 62-57 in another non-conference finale.

Westmoreland Tightening Up News Security

SAIGON, (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters announced today a broad new policy to withhold information from the press on some military matters which until now have been made public.

An announcement of a lamp-down on release of news was distributed to correspondents at the daily military briefing and provoked a series of protests and questions from newsmen.

A U.S. spokesman said Brig. Gen. Winant Side, chief of information of the U.S. Military Command, would appear before the correspondents to answer questions on the new directive soon, probably Tuesday.

The announcement of material damage (e.g. damage to supplies, equipment, vehicles, artillery pieces or aircraft) is furnishing the enemy a report of the effectiveness of his fire and tells him of the reduction in the combat capability of the particular target against which his attack was directed.

"Personnel casualty reports give the enemy a measure of the number of personnel available to fight him.

N. C. Weekend Traffic Claimed Twenty-Two

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A three-death traffic accident near Siler City helped boost North Carolina's weekend highway fatality toll to 22.

The count for the year stood at 200 with less than two months of 1968 completed.

The Highway Patrol said David Millard Johnson, 16, of Rt. 3, Siler City and Roger Dale White, 16, of Goldston, were killed when their truck went out of control and overturned in the path of a car near Siler City.

"For these reasons, we will, if the tactical situation dictates, withhold information which will be of intelligence value to the Communist side as being released.

The policy was outlined in a memorandum to the press from Side which was headed "denial of intelligence information to the enemy."

"The rationale behind this policy is to deny the enemy information of intelligence value on which he can base subsequent attacks.

Fire destroyed a home in Hamlet Sunday and Matthew Blakley, 41, of Hamlet died in the blaze. A home fire also was the cause of death Sunday of Mrs. Rachel Honeycutt, 44, of Charlotte.

"As you know, we have always reserved the prerogative of withholding information which would give aid and comfort to the enemy.

"Announcing the number of rounds which impacted in a particular area is in itself a measure of accuracy of the enemy's fire. The announcement of times, specific locations and unit designations helps the enemy to adjust his fire to particular targets.

Thirteen-year-old Robert A. Henry Jr. of Rt. 8, Charlotte was killed and five persons were injured in a train-car collision three miles east of Charlotte.

Sex Tests Awaits Olympic Females

The policy was outlined in a memorandum to the press from Side which was headed "denial of intelligence information to the enemy."

"The rationale behind this policy is to deny the enemy information of intelligence value on which he can base subsequent attacks.

Other fatalities during the weekend included: Roger Gene Wimbish, 18, of Rt. 1, Burlington; Thomas Eugene Hawkins, 16, of Rt. 1, Sandy Ridge; Susan Myra Hogue, 18, of Rt. 3, Easton, Md.; Roam Linnie Waters, 73, of Rt. 1, Blowing Rock.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — All females competing in the Mexico City Olympics this summer will have to undergo sex tests, the International Amateur Athletic Federation said Sunday.

"The rationale behind this policy is to deny the enemy information of intelligence value on which he can base subsequent attacks.

"Announcing the number of rounds which impacted in a particular area is in itself a measure of accuracy of the enemy's fire. The announcement of times, specific locations and unit designations helps the enemy to adjust his fire to particular targets.

High speed was blamed for the accident in which Harvey Lee Townsend, 25, of Greensboro, was fatally injured. The Highway Patrol also listed excessive speed as the cause of a mishap in Durham in which Carolyn Sanders Coleman, 18, of Durham was killed.

There will also be doping tests for all competitors, male and female.

Reports from New Delhi said the immigration bill might cause a rift between India and Britain. The reports said the Indian government feels the bill is intended to pressure Kenya Indians to return to India, where many of them have never set foot before.

British Gov't Stands Behind Immigration Curb

By MICHAEL R. CODEL
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The British government stood firmly behind its bill to limit the flood of Asian immigrants from Kenya despite growing opposition. But with the working masses opposed to colored competition, political observers predicted Parliament would pass the bill this week.

Left-wing Laborite Sir Dingle Foot, a former cabinet minister, said he would vote against the bill as it stands. He termed it "in effect racist legislation."

A group of Conservative members of Parliament said the quota of 1,500 entry permits a year for those affected by the bill was "too low," although they agreed that some form of restriction is necessary. The Tories will probably abstain on the House of Commons vote, assuring the bill of passage.

Demand Push Nuclear Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee—taking up a challenge from Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover—demands a Pentagon speed-up in development of nuclear-powered ships.

Representatives of Indian immigrants living in England's industrial Midlands voted last night to hold a week of mass protests against the bill.

Immigrants of Indian and Pakistani origin continued to pour into Britain to escape Kenya's new restrictive labor laws aimed at the 100,000 Asian Kenyans. With direct flights from Nairobi booked solid, the refugees came via Uganda, the Congo, Cairo and even Moscow.

Immediate and major improvement in the nuclear submarine program is needed "to counter the rapidly increasing Soviet submarine threat," the committee said in a report released over the weekend.

Reports from New Delhi said the immigration bill might cause a rift between India and Britain. The reports said the Indian government feels the bill is intended to pressure Kenya Indians to return to India, where many of them have never set foot before.

And it accused the Defense Department of failing to press hard enough on development of nuclear-powered guided-missile escort vessels and destroyers.

An estimated 2,000 British and Asian demonstrators marched through London Sunday to protest the bill. They were booed by 500 counterdemonstrators. Amid conflicting shouts of "Nigger, go home!" and "Fascist

The committee report accompanies testimony released after closed hearings at which Rickover, head of the Navy's Division of Naval Reactors, appealed for Congress to speed-up nuclear ship development.

The committee said it was "extremely concerned" over Defense Department treatment of the nuclear submarine program.

Hospital Patient Was 'Too Fast'
ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Officials of an Abilene hospital are looking for a patient who had a fast recovery. He had stayed at a $33-a-day room, ordered a number of floral displays and at one point asked a deliveryman to bring change for $50. When the deliveryman arrived, the patient told him to leave the change and collect the $50 from the hospital office.
Finding no money on deposit there, the deliveryman rushed back to the hospital room. The patient had fled—leaving behind bills of more than $800.

Goren on BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (1934 by The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—Both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK92 ♠AK52 ♠A1093

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1♣ Pass 1♠ Pass 1♥

What do you bid now?
A.—Redouble. Despite the fact that you have one spade, the redouble is in order for your high card strength should enable partner to fulfill the contract even with the weakest sort of hand.

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. This is perhaps an overbid by the margin of an eyelash as the hand contains only 12 high card points. However, the hand does have good intermediates and the queen of diamonds is somewhat more impressive than it ordinarily would be by reason of partner's bid in that suit.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K92 ♠A1094 ♠Q93 ♠K106

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1♣ Pass 1♥

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. This is perhaps an overbid by the margin of an eyelash as the hand contains only 12 high card points. However, the hand does have good intermediates and the queen of diamonds is somewhat more impressive than it ordinarily would be by reason of partner's bid in that suit.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠KJ952 ♠A954 ♠K9 ♠Q86

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass 3♥ Pass 4♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. Especially in view of your previous pass, a jump in response to the double is indicated. This is by no means forcing and, if partner's best bid happens to be three hearts, you may safely bid three spades, which partner will read as a somewhat indifferent four-card suit.

Q. 4—As South, both vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ10976 ♠1085 ♠Q54

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—At risk of being charged with recklessness, we recommend a bid of four hearts. This hand lacks high card strength, it has the merit of attractive distribution. East has confessed a weak hand and is trying to block you out. If partner's double is sound you are assuming no great risk of injury at this level. If you are punished it will not do you any harm as the loss was sustained in preventing the opponents from scoring a vulnerable game.

Q. 5—East - West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K82 ♠KQ953 ♠8 ♠A78

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1♣ Dble. Pass 2♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. It would not be good policy to contest the auction because partner probably has little or nothing and, furthermore, may have only a four-card suit. You have good defensive values, and your brightest prospect is to pick up a small set.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AK1075 ♠J6 ♠AK974 ♠8

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. This is perhaps an overbid by the margin of an eyelash as the hand contains only 12 high card points. However, the hand does have good intermediates and the queen of diamonds is somewhat more impressive than it ordinarily would be by reason of partner's bid in that suit.

Q. 7—Neither side vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q873 ♠Q ♠Q10843 ♠A6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1♥ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. Especially in view of your previous pass, a jump in response to the double is indicated. This is by no means forcing and, if partner's best bid happens to be three hearts, you may safely bid three spades, which partner will read as a somewhat indifferent four-card suit.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQAKQJ98 ♠Q86 ♠Q

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
Pass Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—While an opening bid of one heart is technically correct, your own choice would be for four hearts. Any opening bid that can be ruled out by the fact that partner has already passed, and the preemptive bid will prove very effective if the opponents have a spade hand between them in any suit, partner needs very little for you to bring home 10 tricks.

Tobacco Tips. By S. J. WEEKS. Pitt County Tobacco Agent. In recent years foliar sprays have been used as a part of the tobacco fertilization program on some farms. When used, the application of foliar sprays have been used as a supplemental application of nutrients - mainly for the nitrogen content of the solution.

Police Report Two Break-Ins

Greenville police said two break-ins were reported yesterday. First of the illegal intrusions was discovered by officers about 4:58 a.m., Chief H. F. Lawson said. That incident was at Bell's Service Center at the intersection of Third Street and Memorial Drive, where someone broke the glass from a door, entered the station and took three boxes of cigars. The second entry was reported at 8:30 a.m. from Jefferson's Florestos on West Fifth Street.

Chief Lawson said someone entered that firm through a rear door and took an estimated $50 in cash and change and a transistor radio. Investigation of the thefts is underway.

Exhibit Art By John Moffitt Through Mar. 4

Eight oil paintings by an East Carolina University faculty artist are on display in "Mushroom" of the Georgetown Shopping Center here. Dr. John Moffitt, a member of East Carolina's School of Art faculty since 1966, is the artist. His oil paintings include "Action in Mayo Clinic," "Thameside" and others.

The Greenville show began this week and will continue through Monday, March 4. Hours are from 11 a. m. until 8 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 11 a. m. until 6 p. m. on Saturdays. The public is invited to attend without charge.

Dr. Moffitt, a native of California, has a BFA degree from California College of Arts and Crafts, an MA from San Francisco State College and a PhD from the University of Madrid.

The Worry Clinic Help Your Church By Doing Yourself Good

Wives, listen to this Episcopalian clergyman! For the usual "triangle" involves a fat wife who loses her mate to a slender siren! Remember Cupid's darts usually fly toward slender feminine targets! So start this "Dieting Contest" at once! You save $2.50 per pound in groceries, so give that to your church!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE E-595: Luke J., aged 36, is an Episcopal rector. "Dr. Crane," he began, "you helped us raise our $1,000 during Lent last year.

"For you suggested that plump ladies should slenderize and then contribute what they salvaged in grocery money, to the church.

"Well, one of our Women's Society groups contained a number of older wives who were rather corpulent.

"So they had a 'weighing in' party and frankly admitted their gastric sins by agreeing to go on a group dieting contest.

"They promised to give the church an extra $2.50 for each pound they shed.

"And this group of women actually reduced by more than 400 pounds during Lent.

"Their check for over $1,000 thus didn't upset their home budgets an iota.

"And meanwhile they regained a far more attractive figure."

Cupid's darts usually fly toward slender targets!

So get rid of that excess upholstery from around your anatomical "equator."

When your waistline equals your bustline, you wives look like a good old motherly soul.

So that's why you incite only "fatherly" kisses from your mates!

To regain those sizzling oscillations of your honeymoon, you must regain more of your honeymoon profile!

Many stodgy wives complain about the lack of ardor on the part of their middle-aged husbands.

But the husbands may secretly confess that they can't feel romantic about a female human walrus who jiggles like a barrel of jelly as she waddles down the street.

If they try to revive some of that former courtship ardor by holding you on their knee, you feel like a hippitamus!

And when they vainly strive to steer you across the dance floor, it's like covorting with the GOP elephant!

So lop off that ugly blubber

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady to 25 cents lower. Tops of 18.50-19.00 Rocky Mount; 18.25-18.75 Hickory; 18.00-18.75 Statesville; 17.50-18.50 Bethel; 19.00 Greensboro. Salisbury; 18.75 Selma; 18.00 Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was steady. Price of live poultry at the farms was 16 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a sharp loss in active trading early this afternoon.

Losses outnumbered gains by 2 to 1. The market was mixed at the start but even then softness in blue chips dampened the averages.

Analysts noted that last week's advance was blunted even on Friday and that the technical recovery had little to work on in the way of fundamentals.

The drop in machine tool orders to a four year low, caution in planning auto production and tightening of credit by the Federal Reserve Board were reasons for a bearish attitude in the market, analysts said.

On top of that was the continuing uncertainty of the situation in Vietnam.

The more highly priced glamor stocks were down more than 3 or 4 points.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 7.68 at 842.12.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.1 at 307.7 with industrials off 3.3, rails off 1.3 and utilities off .4.

Gulf & Western led the list on volume, rising nearly a point. Fansteel, off about 3/4, Control Data, down 3 and Monogram Industries, down 2, were among the actively traded losers.

A loss of about 4 points by Du Pont dragged down the industrial averages.

American Smelting bucked the downturn with a rise of about 1 1/2.

Prices were mostly lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Top Pacification Adviser Leaves

SAIGON (AP) — The top U.S. adviser to the South Vietnamese pacification program, set back seriously by the Communist offensive, left for Washington tonight to give a personal report to President Johnson.

Robert W. Komer, who has the title of ambassador, said he would return to Washington with Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, who has completed a visit of several days to South Vietnam. Wheeler went to Bangkok, Thailand, from Saigon Sunday.

American officials let it be known Saturday that the pacification program had suffered "considerable setbacks" and loss of momentum in the Communist offensive, arousing speculation that Komer was being rushed home to explain the critical situation to Johnson and other administration officials.

But Komer told a newsman, "I'm just bumming a ride home with Wheeler now that the crisis is over." He pointed out that he had originally planned a trip to Washington Feb. 4. He said he had postponed the trip to supervise U.S. relief operations.

Marine Patrol Ambush Outside Khe Sanh Perimeter; Heavy Loss

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops ambushed and overwhelmed a U.S. Marine platoon 800 yards outside the barbed wire of the Khe Sanh combat base today. A second platoon of about 45 men sent to help also suffered casualties.

Several Marine officers said they believe the North Vietnamese now are in position and set to launch a large-scale ground attack on Khe Sanh with up to 40,000 men.

AP Correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from the base in the northwestern corner of the country that Marine jet dive bombers dropped bombs and napalm on the Communists in efforts to cover the Marines trying to get back into the base. One observer said he saw Marines lying on the ground and Communist soldiers swarming through the area just before the bombs fell.

The Leathernecks inside the base gave the survivors cover with tank guns, recoilless rifles and machine guns.

Marine casualties were not announced under new security regulations that went into effect today. But they obviously were heavy.

The patrol, sent out to gather intelligence, was hit 800 yards beyond the outer wire. Senior Marine officers said the young lieutenant leading the platoon went beyond the distance set for him.

A survivor said the patrol's point man spotted two North Vietnamese soldiers and the platoon gave chase. The two enemy soldiers lured the Marines into the ambush, and "a whole bunch were killed in the very beginning," the survivor said.

The enemy bombardment of Khe Sanh also continued without letup, and several hundred rounds dropped into the besieged area today. Reporting of the exact number also was barred by the new security regulations.

Air activity around Khe Sanh accelerated as the monsoon weather lifted slightly. For the first time in a week U.S. fighter-bombers were able to fly strikes close to the base perimeter.

The giant B52 bombers also pounded suspected enemy gun positions and troop concentrations within three miles of Khe Sanh.

Eight Marines were killed and wounded over the weekend by the enemy shelling of Khe Sanh and a brief firefight involving a small Marine patrol south of the combat base. An American helicopter was shot down Sunday, but the crew escaped to safety.

Communist gunners also blasted Marine strongpoints along the eastern section of the demilitarized zone with more than 300 rounds of artillery, rockets and mortars Sunday. The bulk of them landed on Con Thien, but there was no immediate report of casualties.

Over North Vietnam, meanwhile, U.S. bombers followed up their first raid of the war on Hanoi's Red River docks with their closest raid to the center of Hanoi in nearly two months Sunday.

There will be a freeze branding demonstration of beef cattle held on the River Road Ranch near Belvoir Wednesday at 1:30.

This demonstration is sponsored by the Pitt County Livestock Association and the Agricultural Extension Service.

Clint Reece, animal husbandry extension specialist of N. C. State, will conduct the demonstration. The public is invited.

U.S. Birth Rate At Record Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. birth rate dropped to a record low last year, possibly because of the growing cost of rearing and educating children. The National Center for Health Statistics reported a rate of 17.9 live births per 1,000 population in 1967. The previous low of 18.4 per 1,000 was recorded in the depression years of 1933 and 1936 and again in 1966.

Robert C. Cook, president of the "Population Reference Bureau, predicted still another decline for 1968, but he discounted the development of new contraceptive methods as the major factor.

"People in the United States are reducing their fertility for a variety of reasons," he said. "One of the most important, I am sure, is to do a good job of raising and educating the children they choose to have."

Massachusetts is 190 miles long and from 60 to 100 miles wide, containing 8,266 square miles in area.

Council Cites Roots Of Orangeburg Race Turmoil

ATLANTA (AP) — Racial turmoil that ended with the deaths of three young Negroes in Orangeburg, S.C., earlier this month was the outcome of "poverty, racial animosity, discrimination and educational deprivation," according to a report by the Southern Regional Council (SRC).

The council, a biracial group working for closer race relations, said the events at Orangeburg "told a story in microcosm of years of racial struggle."

"A nonviolent protest was met with police resistance and ensuing violence, all of the violence to persons by the police," the report said.

A segregated bowling alley was the focal point for trouble that began Feb. 6.

Negro students at South Carolina State College and Claflin College in Orangeburg gathered to demonstrate at the segregated facility. A subsequent confrontation with law enforcement officers erupted into violence.

"More than one witness told of a young woman held by one policeman, hit with a billy club by a second, also of a young woman begging not to be hit again, even as a policeman swung his club," the report said. "The brief melee sent eight students and one policeman to the hospital."

The SRC said the students held inconclusive meetings with each other and with town officials in the two days that followed.

Unrest culminated the night of Feb. 8 when state highway patrolmen shot three students to death and wounded more than 30 at the edge of the S.C. State campus.

Plan Reception For Bob Scott

Lt. Gov. Robert W. Scott will visit Greenville Tuesday night, to meet informally with people of the Pitt County area.

Scott, campaigning for governor, will be honored at a reception at the Greenville Moose Lodge from 5:30 to 7 p. m.

All interested voters are invited to attend. The reception is planned especially as a husband-and-wife event. A spokesman said many couples are expected to attend.

Rap Brown Still In Parish Jail

PORT ALLEN, La. (AP) — Militant Negro leader H. Rap Brown remained in the West Baton Rouge Parish jail today in lieu of $100,000 bond, facing two federal charges.

Federal authorities jailed Brown in Port Allen Saturday after flying him here from Richmond, Va., where a federal judge ordered bond forfeited because he violated travel restrictions while appealing extradition to Maryland.

Briton Says Hanoi Blocks Peace Talk

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary George Brown said today Hanoi rather than Washington is holding back peace talks on Vietnam.

Brown rejected efforts by backbench members of his own Labor party to drop British support for the American position on Vietnam. Instead, answering a question in the House of Commons, Brown reiterated that support.

David Winnick, a 34-year-old Labor backbencher, asked Brown: "When will the British government tell the Americans that they can no more win the war against the Viet Cong than the French could against the Viet Minh?"

"I respect your military judgment," Brown told his young colleague amid laughter in the House. "But it is equally clear that talks could begin the moment Hanoi makes it clear that they are ready to come to the table."

"We can go on forever saying what people should do. Our job is to get them to come at the same moment. But it is Hanoi which is holding back at present."

Lizard Lick Has Its Signs Stolen

LIZARD LICK, N.C. (AP) — Just when this Wake County community had won a battle in the struggle to keep its identity, it has been thrust back into obscurity.

This came when vandals stole the two Lizard Lick highway markers during the weekend. Miley Whitaker, operator of a service station on Highway 64 which runs through this community, said:

"They took the sign and left the pole. It was just bolted on so it wasn't much trouble to get."

Billy Sherron, a tobacco farmer who led a drive which persuaded the State Highway Commission to place highway markers at Lizard Lick recently, said the second sign was taken Saturday night.

"I sure would like to know who would do a thing like that," said Sherron. "There's a lot of sign vandalism. People shoot them and steal them. Something ought to be done about it."

Russians Visit Beatles' Guru

NEW DELHI (AP) — A group of Soviet technicians visited the Beatles' Guru Sunday and heard him explain his system of transcendental meditation.

The group of 25 Soviet specialists work at a Soviet-aided antibiotics factory seven miles from the hermitage of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi at Rinshikesh, 130 miles northeast of New Delhi.

A spokesman for the guru said the Russians showed "keen interest" in his system.

While the Yogi explained transcendental meditation to the Soviets, believed the first to meet with him, the Beatles and other Western disciples were practicing it in an adjoining community prayer hall.

Greek Cypriots Back Makarios

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Nearly 94 per cent of the registered Greek Cypriot voters turned out Sunday and overwhelmingly re-elected President Makarios, their leader since independence from Britain in 1960.

With over half the votes counted, Makarios had received 133,299 votes to 4,968 for Dr. Takis Evdokas, a 41-year-old psychiatrist representing the Enosis Front.

Makarios, 54, told the voters his re-election would enable him to pursue a compromise solution of the long and bitter differences between the 500,000 Greek Cypriots and the 100,000 Turkish Cypriots.
