More, Tougher Anti-Riot Laws Seen For Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has narrowly rejected an effort to exempt single-family homes from a civil rights-open housing bill but has crushed a liberal bid to stave off antiriot amendments.

More and tougher antiriot proposals were on tap today as the Senate continued its seven-week struggle with the civil rights measure.

By a thumping 82-13 vote, Tuesday, the Senate attached to the bill a measure that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to inci a riot.

And over the objection of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager of the bill, it adopted two other Southern-sponsored amendments related to riots and other civil disorders.

In contrasts, an amendment to punch a big hole in the proposed ban on discrimination in the sale or rental of housing was barely defeated, 48 to 43.

The amendment, by Sen Howard H. Baker, Jr., R-Tenn., would have exempted individual homeowners and thus removed from coverage an estimated 29 million single-family dwellings, or about 44 per cent of the housing market.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said he will propose antiriot amendments to provide federal criminal penalties for a whole series of acts by persons who travel in interstate commerce.

He referred specifically to persons who instigate civil disorders, teach or demonstrate the use of firearms, explosives and incendiary devices like homemade firebombs, engage in sniping and looting, obstruct a fireman or policeman, or shoot at or throw a rock at a car on a federal-aid highway.

Long contended this would be more effective than the antiriot measure tacked on the civil rights legislation Tuesday after Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had first ruled it out of order.

The antiriot measure, sponsored by Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, was reworded before adoption to make it necessary to prove a person intended to incite a riot when he crossed a state line.

Its adoption came after a four-hour hassle in which Humphrey's ruling was appealed. The appeal was withdrawn and the ruling vacated after it became apparent the Senate was not going to sustain Humphrey.

Later in the day the administration antiriot measure arrived at the Capitol. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said in an accompanying letter that it was carefully drawn so as not to impede free speech or peaceful assembly.

Like the bill approved by the Senate, however, it would provide penalties up to five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for inciting a riot after crossing a state line with that intent.

The defeat of Baker's amendment was a major victory for administration forces fighting for a strong open-housing law.

The bill provides that beginning Jan. 1, 1970 owner-occupants of single-family dwellings may not discriminate if they sell through a real estate agent or broker. They would be free to discriminate if they handled the sale themselves.

Tobacco Insurance Rates OK'd

RALEIGH (AP) — New tobacco insurance rates averaging 1.09 per cent higher have been approved by insurance Commissioner Ed Lanier after cutting out a proposed increase for Lenoir County.

Lanier ordered that the rate for Lenoir County, scene of a probe into fake insurance claims, be kept at $.50 per $10 coverage. The N. C. Fire Insurance Rating Bureau wanted the rate boosted to $6.

Lanier said he turned down the Lenoir increase because loss figures on which the increase was requested included some "fraudulent" claims. He kept the rate in Pitt County, where some fraudulent claims were filed, at the 1967 level of $4.

All other rates were approved as proposed. They would raise premiums on $10 coverage by $1 in Alamance, Buncombe, Davidson, Hoke and Watauga counties; $1.50 in Moore; 75 cents in Gates; 50 cents in Caldwell, Caswell, Columbus, Forsyth, Hertford, Johnston, Montgomery, Northampton, Orange and Warren; and 25 cents for Bertie, Halifax and Wilson.

Decreases approved were $1 in Cleveland and Lincoln; 50 cents in Wake, Bladen, Chowan, Franklin, Granville and Iredell; and 25 cents in Nash and Onslow.

'Disastrous' If Scott Nominated

WASHINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Mel Broughton, who is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for governor says "it would be disastrous for the Democratic party" to nominate Lt. Gov. Bob Scott for governor.

Broughton said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Kiwanis Club that if Scott wins the nomination he will "surely lose" to the Republican nominee in November.

All 63 Dead

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP) — Rescue crews reached the wreckage of an Air France 707 Boeing jet today and reported that all 63 persons on board, including a woman identified as the wife of real estate man William Zeckendorf, died when the plane hit a mountain-side Tuesday night.

Cutting through dense terrain, searchers found parts of the plane on Matouba Mountain on the western half of this two-island French West Indies territory.

Recognition For Service

RECEIVES AWARD . . . John B. Casey holds award for VOA service at Hue, South Vietnam.

Dangers Marked Service In Hue

John B. Casey, a Voice of America radio engineer now stationed in Greenville, was recently presented awards in recognition of 19 months of civilian government service in Hue, South Vietnam, in the midst of hostilities there.

Casey's assignment in Hue ended two years ago, shortly after his wife, Betty, was evacuated to Hong Kong during a time of increasing hostilities.

In accepting the medals from Greenville VOA manager J.W. Alley, Casey said, "I'm just thankful to be here to receive them. The Hue station of VOA has been silenced by the Viet Cong since the recent Tet offensive and the ensuing bitter battle for the city.

Casey said that even when he was in Hue it was necessary to carry sidearms. "My stay in Hue," he said, "was marked by danger. There were anti-American riots, burning of the USIS Library, coup d'e-tats, monsoon floods sending hordes of snakes and rats into the plant, and mortar attacks on the VOA installation.

"I was just lucky," he said. "I can only hope that my friends who were there made it through."

Reprisal: 5 Arab Homes Are Blown Up

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli army said today its troops blew up five Arab houses Tuesday in Kfar Rammun village in occupied Jordanian territory. Two of the houses belonged to village headmen who the army said admitted providing Arab commandos with food and shelter.

A garage in Beit Hanin village north of Jerusalem also was dynamited after troops uncovered a large arms cache there, the army said.

The action came after the army announced it had rounded up 18 Arab saboteurs over the weekend, including two commanders of the El Fatah terrorist organization.

Israel security forces reported seizing two large arms caches in the occupied Gaza Strip between Israel and Egypt, where a curfew was still in effect in several villages because two Israelis were killed by a mine. Sources said the caches held a bazooka, automatic weapons and 10,000 rounds of ammunition.

Czech General Believed In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Evening Star quoted informed sources today as saying Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna of Czechoslovakia, who fled his country 10 days ago, has defected to the United States.

U.S. officials would not comment on the report that Sejna, the top-ranking political officer in the Czech army, arrived in the United States about Feb. 28 after traveling through at least three European countries in his flight from Czech authorities.

Board Decides To Meet Budgeted Figure

Revising Consolidated School Plans Is Decided

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday instructed County School Superintendent Arthur S. Alford to meet with architects on the North Pitt Consolidated School project and revise a proposed $1,794,000 plan for the facility in order meet a proposed budgeted figure of not over $1.6 million.

Project architects Smart, Woodall and Associates, told board members yesterday that the recommended 96,000 square foot high school building would cost an estimated $1,794,000, including an estimated 30 classrooms, gym, auditorium, 41 teaching stations (office areas), lunchroom facilities and other areas, as well as all site work.

The auditorium and gymnasium, along with other work, including site work, would be alternates in the bidding. Alford was told to meet with the architects and revise the plans in an effort to meet the $1.6 million figure, including cost of the site.

A report on the outcome of the revisions is expected to be made at the April board meeting.

Cost of the proposed project as presented by the architects yesterday would be $15 per square foot.

The school board yesterday indicated they will move forward with proceedings to condemn the Hart - Garris land between Ayden and Grifton which will be used as a school site. The board also indicated that after some legal proceedings, action may be taken toward condemnation of the Davis property in Farmville as a school site.

Board members approved Good Friday, April 12, as a make up day for Pactolus, Belvoir - Falkland and Falkland Elementary and Sally Branch Schools which missed time due to the ice storm in January. They also approved adding a day to the end of the school year as a make up day for last Friday's snow day.

The board voted to cooperate with East Carolina University in planning for a musical program for the county schools. Steps are being taken to obtain a planning grant for the project under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Superintendent Alford reported to the board that March 20-22 has been set as the registration period for all children entering the first grade in county schools next year. The registration programs will be held at each of the elementary schools.

The board approved the school calendar for next year. Teachers will report for work August 29, while students will begin classes on August 30. Christmas holidays were set as December 21 through January 1. Closing of school for students, under the schedule, will be June 3, while teachers will remain through June 5.

Plane Downed By Red Gunners At Khe Sanh

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners besieging Khe Sanh shot down a U.S. Air Force C123 transport carrying 49 men near that Marine combat base today, a 7th Air Force spokesman announced.

The fate of the men — 5 crew men and 44 passengers — was not immediately determined.

The C123s are propeller-driven planes with two auxiliary turbojet engines. The maximum payload is 15,000 pounds. They ordinarily carry in fresh troops for Khe Sanh and fly out others for rest or reassignment.

Communist shelling of the base appeared to be easing. The Marines reported 100 incoming rounds in a 24-hour period, a sharp decline from the hundreds of recent days.

Elsewhere, U.S. forces killed 110 enemy soldiers in three sharp clashes, U.S. spokesmen reported, as the Communists shelled provincial capitals and military posts for the third straight day. The U.S. Command said the shelling caused little damage.

American officers said 50,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been killed in their operations against cities and other major centers in South Vietnam from Jan. 30 until midnight Tuesday. A senior U.S. commander said the enemy "scraped up a lot of people at the last minute" for the lunar new year offensive, but estimated the net losses at 30,000.

American armed forces were reported to have lost 2,000 killed and the South Vietnamese 4,000 in the five-week period.

About 75 miles north of Saigon, paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division ran into 150 Viet Cong holding a village.

The Communists opened up with automatic weapons and bazookas and pulled in about 250 reinforcements. Supported by artillery and rocket-firing helicopters, the Americans killed 56 of the enemy force, spokesmen said, while five Americans were killed and 26 wounded.

Along the coastal lowlands below Da Nang, men of the U.S. Army's Americal Division reported killing 64 enemy soldiers in two clashes. Artillery and air strikes accounted for many of the dead among the enemy forces, who were entrenched in concrete bunkers. Two Americans were killed and 23 wounded.

Other scattered clashes brought total American casualties for the day to 13 killed and 54 wounded, U.S. headquarters reported.

Fighting was reported continuing two miles southwest of Ca Mau, with South Vietnamese troops pursuing guerrillas they drove out of the provincial capital at the southern tip of the country.

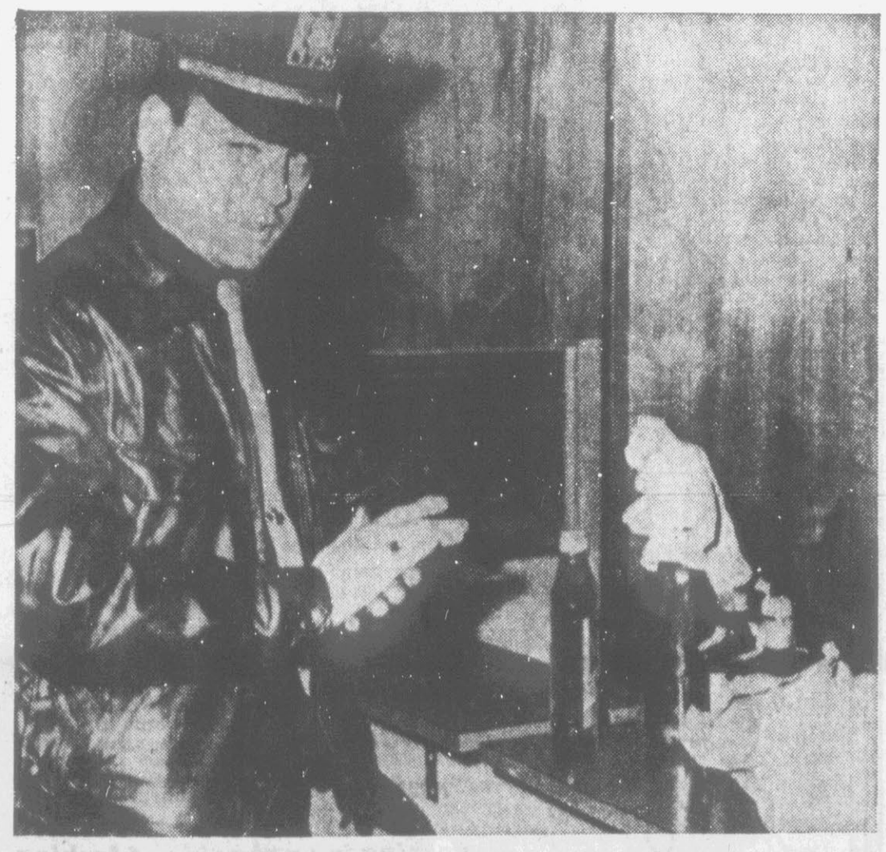

Reliefers Oppose Welfare Probe

RALEIGH (AP) — A group of Durham welfare recipients were turned down Tuesday when they asked the chairman of the state Board of Welfare to have the board reconsider its plans to set up an investigative agency to comb relief rolls for ineligible recipients.

R. C. Howison, board chairman, said he told the group he thought the action taken by the board last week "has merit" and the board would stick to it.

"We asked if they had any extra money to spend to use it for increasing welfare allotments or giving us better training programs," said Mrs. Matilda Harris, spokesman for the Durham group.

Morehead Award For Local Youth

Leslie Holland Garner Jr., a Rose High School student, was named one of nine winners Monday night of the 1968 Morehead Awards to study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

L. H. GARNER JR.

Hugh Chatham of Elkin, chairman of trustees of the John Motley Morehead Foundation, announced that trustees had voted to increase the value of the awards by $250 a year for North Carolina students and $375 for out-of-state students. The awards are now worth $8,000 to North Carolina students for four years of study.

Morehead scholarship winners are selected on the basis of their scholarship ability and attainments; their character, leadership and physical vigor, and their truthfulness, courage and devotion to duty.

Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Garner, is manager and trainer for the Rose High School football teab; editor, writer and manager of the high school newspaper; and a member of the Order of DeMolay and the Quill and Scroll.

A member of St. James Methodist Church, Garner is president of the district Methodist Youth Fellowship.

$350,000 Suit By Prisoner Dismissed

NEW BERN — U. S. District Court Judge John Larkins Jr. yesterday dismissed a $350,000 suit against Pitt County Superior Court Clerk D. T. House and assistant clerk H. L. Lewis.

The suit was filed in mid-December by Charles Robert Marriner, a convicted murder serving a life sentence for the 1963 shotgun slaying of his wife in Pitt County.

Marriner in the suit charged that House and Lewis were "negligent in failing to supply" copies of warrants charging Marriner with murder" and said the two men "intentionally held my warrants because they know the warrants had been improperly drawn and in fact, warrants never were read to the plaintiff . . . "

The Odom Prison Camp inmate sought $250,000 in damages from Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson in a suit filed September 11, 1967, but withdrew the suit 11 days later.

Marriner was convicted of shooting his 21-year-old wife, Mrs. Nancy Marriner, to death as she slept in their trailer home off the Belvoir Road July 10, 1963.

Marriner pled guilty to the charge after first entering a plea of not guilty by reason of temporary insanity.

Suspect Arson In Death Of Nine

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Nine persons perished in two residential area fires on Houston's East Side during the night, and investigators said an arsonist may have started both blazes.

Firemen and police reported a number of bodies were charred beyond recognition.

Both fires occurred in a low income area verging on the industrial district about three miles east of downtown Houston.

Russia Gives No Clue To Fate Of Space Probe

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians gave no clue to the fate of their space probe Zond 4 today, the day on which the Sputnik should reach the moon if that is its target.

There has been no official word since a terse announcement early Sunday that Zond 4 was launched Saturday, went into a parking orbit around the earth, then blasted off "to study outlying regions of near-earth space."

The wording stirred speculation that the craft might make history's first attempt to orbit the moon and return to earth. Scientists consider this anecessary preliminary to landing a man on the moon.

Board Of Awards Considers Request To Reject Grader Bid

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Board of Award has taken under advisement requests that it reject the one bid received on a $1.5 million contract to furnish the state Highway Commission with motor graders.

Attorneys for three firms which say they were written out of specifications also asked the board Tuesday to rework specifications so that they can bid.

State Sen. Tom White, D-Lenoir, did not indicate when the board would act on the bid submitted by N. C. Equipment Co. of Raleigh, distributor of Galion Graders.

At the third day of the hearing Tuesday, about a dozen witnesses testified and the board heard final arguments from lawyers.

Asking for rejection of the bid and new grader specifications were Charles Hagan, counsel for E. G. Craven Co. of Greensboro, and Howard Manning, who represented Gregory - Poole Equipment Co. of Raleigh and Interstate Equipment Co. of Statesville. Both said their firms will bid if given a chance.

Harrison Lewis, deputy attorney general representing the state Department of Administration, told the board it should award the contract to N. C. Equipment. Lewis said the board had received no proof that the machines of other companies had been written out of specifications. He contended that other firms could have bid by making minor changes in their basic models.

John W. (Jake) Munn, a state purchasing agent, told the board under cross-examination that he wrote bidding instructions so that graders with hydraulic controls would be preferred and machines with mechanical controls could be bid only as alternates. An advisory council which drew up grader specifications had stated that either type of control would be acceptable.

Munn said Layton H. Gunter, highway equipment engineer, put in a request for hydraulic controls with which the Galion grader is equipped.

No Furs For Fashion Model, For Her Love Of Animals--

By NADEANE WALKER

Associated Press Writer

LINDON (AP) — Celia Hammond is one of London's top fashion models—but "I wouldn't be caught dead in a fur coat," she says.

Is it only coincidence that sealskin and mink prices have been on the skids since she joined the campaign for Beauty Without Cruelty (BWC)?

Celia, 24, a willowy, fragile blonde with Madonna-like features, was one of the top fur models until she took up the cudgels for her cause two years ago. Now she says she has extracted pledges from all London's leading models that they will not show sealskin, and the BWC campaign holds signed pledges from some 10,000 women that they will never again wear fur.

The furriers wryly admit that her campaign influenced a drop in seal prices from $18 to less than $4 a pelt. Some furriers have sent out pamphlets saying they have done away with cruel traps.

"Of course, there were other market factors," says Mr. Leslie MacMillan, a spokesman for the fur trade, but Lady Muriel Dowding (founder of BWC and wife of Air Marshal Lord Dowding, of Battle of Britain fame) feels sure that her group is affecting all fur sales.

When Celia expressed her antifur views in a published interview, Lady Dowding contacted her and asked for help.

Celia now a member of the BWC council, has appeared on TV in England and Holland, given innumerable interviews, made an antifur film in French and English for Canada and America ("but I don't think they showed it," she says sadly), helped a supporter publicly burn a $1,400 ermine coat and enlisted the sympathies and support of her fellow mannequins.

"If women had to catch their own fur animals, of course they wouldn't wear them, but they're willing to shift the responsibility onto somebody else," Celia exclaims passionately. "But I believe if they knew the cruelty involved, they'd stop it."

Fur trappers are not the only villains Celia and the Beauty Without Cruelty campaign are gunning for. They make and sell their own range of cosmetics, now complete except for lipsticks, and guaranteed to contain no animal products.

"Cosmetic firms maintain vivisection labs for experiments," she says, to find out how strong they can make a shampoo for example without burning your eyes.

The BWC products contain only fruit, nut, and vegetable matter. So far, BWC has not been able to sell in America, but they are doing well is England, South Africa and Australia.

Has BWC damaged her career? She says it hasn't. She's booked up from nine to five every day.

"But I've lost a lot of my friends," she admits. "First, because BWC takes all my spare time—I haven't had an evening at home in three months—and secondly, because lots of my former friends think I've gone round the bend.

"I'll never marry unless I fall in love with a man who feels as strongly about anials as I do. I'm not worried about that, either. I'm not looking for a husband, and I'll never give up this fight. I only go on modeling to get money, as I couldn't carry on my work without it."

Impaired Hearing May Be The Answer For Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: One of the men in our office claims that in all the 31 years he has been married he has never had a fight with his wife. He says that she has never nagged him, questioned him, or contradicted him. And furthermore, he claims that he has never heard her raise her voice to him. Is this possible?

THE OFFICE GANG

DEAR GANG: It's possible, but highly unlikely. Maybe there is something wrong with his hearing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old man who will be getting married in a large church wedding come June. My bride is 25, and we've been engaged for two years.

I was raised in a strict home where hand - holding in public was considered sinful, so perhaps you can understand why I can't see myself kissing my bride in front of all those people in church.

I am very inhibited when it comes to public demonstrations, but I am normal otherwise.

I have told my bride that I consider a kiss between a man and his beloved a very sacred and PRIVATE affair, and I do not intend to kiss her in front of all those people in church. She says everyone will be disappointed if we don't kiss.

I explained that if I were to give her a "token" kiss, people might get the impression that I am incapable of one more passionate, and they will feel sorry for her. And if I kiss her in public the way I kiss her in private we may be in for a lot of criticism. What do you suggest?

JUNE GROOM

DEAR GROOM: Of all the reasons for kissing after a marriage ceremony, not wishing to "disappoint" the onlookers is the poorest. It seems to me that you two could compromise without going to one extreme or the other.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman with what I thought was a good marriage. We have two beautiful children and a lovely home.

My problem is my husband's constant companion. (I'll call him Alex.) Almost every night Alex calls here, and if he doesn't come over to spend the evening with us, my husband meets him somewhere. Usually at some bar.

If my husband and I go out together, Alex always joins us. When they are together, I feel like an intruder. Abby, I love my husband, but I am beginning to feel like a housekeeper. What should I do?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Have a talk with your husband, but remain calm, and don't become accusative or hostile. Ask him point blank what there is about Alex that he finds so fascinating. If your husband won't (or can't) try to be more of a husband to you, get professional help. Your doctor can advise you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. AND D.: If you want to see less of a troublesome neighbor, lend him some money.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69-700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Young Moderns, How To Beat Inflation

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK AP) — Everything is going up, up, up, but, teen-age allowances remain the same, point out Cythia and Lisa. a couple of 17-year-olds who are looking for money-making ideas.

One answer to the teen-age money-making dilemma is made-by-hand items. This is an era when such efforts are appreciated. Small sketches, paintings, embroidery, decorated ceramics,are little home projects that can be worked on now and sold at vacation time.

For example, a simple project that requires little talent is decorating mugs or loaf tins that may be used as flower or herb containers in the kitchen.

A motif must have sales appeal. Potential customers can offer clues. The work will go quickly and the investment in materials will be kept to a minimum, if one sticks to one or two basic ideas such as themugand loaf tin.

The mugs may be painted different colors before you put designs on them to vary their appearance.

Daisies, fish, ducks, bird. dog, cat and abstract designs may prove to be good sales bait. The idea is to make the little mug irresistible.

A jiffy drawing may be made y cutting a design out of newspaper and taping it to the mug so that you can make an outline. Remove the paper and fill it in. Make a striped fish, solid color duck, or a polka dot dog.

If you want to copy an unusual design, tape a cutout to the mug with carbon paper under it. Trace over it with heavy pencil to outline the pattern.

And don't be embarrassed about copying designs. Good artists copy scenes from anything—old books, calendar art, travel brochures.

A small-size metal meat loaf pan makes an ideal little herb container. Put holes in the bottom of it, paint it a pretty color that will be attractive in a kitchen and then put some feathery herb designs on it. If you want a colorful container, decorate it with a beet, tomato, carrot, peas motif. Paint a little scalloped decoration as a border around the top of the container.

If you get an early enough start you might contract with a florist to buy your entire output. The florist will fill the little pots and sink herbs or flowers into the baking tins.

The cost may be figured by estimating the number that can be made in an hour and the approximate cost of materials used duringt hat period.

For example, say each tin costs 20 cents and paint used in an hour costs an additional 20 cents. Make 5 tins in an hour and your cost is roughly 25 ents each. You may make 50 cents on each, providing you with a tidy little profit. If you sell in bulk, your profit will no doubt be less per item, but you will be assured of larger profits in the long run.

Couple Observes Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. W. J. MOORE — of Greenville were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary at a reception held Sunday afternoon at their home by their daughters. The hosts and hostesses included Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wooten of Falkland, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Grant of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frizzelle of Wilmington and Dr. and Mrs. Ed Beddingfield of Stantonsburg.

Clio Members Entertained At Luncheon On Tuesday

The Clio Book Club met for a luncheon and program Tuesday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club with Mrs. A. L. Barrett as hostess.

Mrs. G. C. Worsley, outgoing president, presided over a short business session, and turned the gavel over to Mrs. Rose Farnbrough, who will succeed her for the 1968-69 club year.

Other officers are Vice President, Miss Agnes Fullilove; Secretary, Mrs. L. S. Ficklen; and treasurer, Mrs. Helen Hawes.

Letters were read from the club's 13-year-old foster child, Tong Tak, of Hong Kong.

Miss Janice Hardison, of the English staff of the University, gave a program on nonsense verse and read selections from James Thurber, Ogden Nash, Lewis Carroll and others.

"The rules of nonsense are as exacting" Miss Hardison said, "as those which govern the writing of a play or a sonnet. It is the art of rearranging immutable laws in such a way as to set logic, order, authority, or acceptable standards of behavior slightly awry".

The Nineteenth century, she said, was the great age, and English speaking people, almost the English themselves, the source; "Nonsense is the confirmation of experience, and the laughter it promotes is probably the most genuine laughter of childhood."

She also read some limericks and parodies on well known poems.

Miss Gray Gulbreth and Mrs. Austin Perry were guests.

Bridge-Luncheon For Club Members

Members of the Carpe Diem Book Club met at the home of Mrs. Edwin Dixon for a bridge-luncheon on Tuesday.

During a business session, Mrs. Glen Cox was welcomed as a new member. She was presented a yellow rose which is the club flower.

A new slate of officers was presented to the members. Officers are: Mrs. Joe Goodson, president; Mrs. Raymond Fleming, vice president; Mrs. Dixon, secretary; Mrs. Michael J. House, treasurer; Mr. Charles Hollingsworth, librarian; and Mrs. George Fuller, historian.

Bridge winners were Mrs. Wayne Holloman, Mrs. H. E. Lowry and Mrs. Joe Swain.

MARINATED ASPARAGUS

1 can (15 ounces) asparagus spears
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon ciler vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon prepared brown or yellow mustard

Drain asparagus. In a shallow container with a fork beat together the remaining ingredients. Add asparagus and spoon marinade over them. Cover and chill for several hours, turning asparagus once. Allow to stand at room temperature for 15 minutes or so before serving. Makes four servings.

Mental Health Program Given Service League On Monday

Mrs. Joseph Le Conte, executive secretary of the Mental Health Association, was the speaker at the Greenville Service League's meeting held Monday at Elm Street Park.

Her talk included different aspects of mental health. She pointed out that mental illness has existed from premature to the most advanced cultures. At first people were badly mistreated but now they are seen as sick people who do need medical help. One out of 10 are mentally sick but many who have emotional disturbances do not seek help.

Mrs. Le Conte said, "Picture disgust, fear, failure, anger, sorrow and joy; all these in anxieties night and day constitute the image of the mentally ill."

The Mental Health association is the spokesman for the mentally ill and is a non-profit organization," she continued. The speaker noted there is a 294 persons case load and 25 per cent of these are children. Thus, one can see how understaffed the association is.

Some of the projects of the association include the cheer fund which any organization can contribute $12 a year which helps a forgotten patient, operation Santa Claus, used clothing shop, collecting magazines and books, and getting a beauty parlor established at Cherry Hospital.

In conclusion, Mrs. Le Conte urged the members to become educated on mental illness, to be informed on mental health legislation.

To encourage teen-agers or other groups to visit Cherry Hospital and to offer their volunteer services and to contribute to scholarships.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor Jr., president, then called on the committee chairmen for their reports. Bloodmobile head, Mrs. Charles Pope, announced that on Feb. 12, 38 volunteers worked 88 hours and collected 122 pints of blood. On Feb. 13, 44 members staffed the Bloodmobile for 96 hours and collected 130 pints of blood.

The Bloodmobile will return on March 19 and will be at the Moose Lodge. Mrs. Bill Watson announced she had answered three calls for emergency charity during the month of February.

Mrs. Lettie Bilbro reported 174 Valentine favors had been made and two arrangements had been placed in the hospital lobbies.

Lending Chest Chairman, Mrs. Jerry Sutherland, said she answered three calls for pajamas and one call for slippers for T B patients and has loaned one wheel chair.

"Thirty-one bundles of coat hangers and two cookbooks have been sold," announced Minges, Finance Chairman. Mrs. Charles Stevens secured hostesses for the Art Center on March 10 and March 31.

In conclusion, Mrs. Robert Van Veld, overall chairman, thanked everyone for making this year's Charity Ball such a success.

Staying To Fight For Better Deal

We hope leaders of the North Carolina Education Association are correct when they offer the opinion that the organization will not become unionized.

Sate Rep. C. Graham Tart of Sampson County had expressed the fear that the NCEA might affiliate with the American Federation of Teachers and strikes could develop.

Both Miss Helen Wells of Asheville, NCEA president, and Dr. A. C. Dawson, NCEA executive secretary, replied that they did not thing this would happen.

We can understand Rep. Tart's fears of teacher unionism in light of what is happening in other parts of the country and we can agree that we would not like to see it happen in North Carolina.

Over the long haul teachers have gradually built the standards of the field to where it is now recognized as a profession and we doubt that a teachers union could do much to promote professionalism among teachers in this state.

We do not infer that North Carolina does not owe its teachers a better financial deal. One the contrary it is all too obvious that despite increases approved by the 1967 Legislature North Carolina teachers salaries still lag far behind the national averages. No one can blame the teachers if they raise their voices in protest against what appears to be a substandard pay scale.

North Carolina cannot afford to ignore the injustice of the teachers pay situation in this state. The way to avoid unionism among its teachers and to keep the ideals of professionalism growing is for the state to do everything possible, with its limited resources, to provide adequate salaries to teachers.

Over the years the profession's answer to low pay has been for many of the best teachers to leave the field. There are now indications those who have chosen the profession may have decided to stand and fight for better salaries, rather than leave.

If North Carolina can keep some of its best teachers through developing more adequate salaries the state and its children will be better off. If this is done without the threat of unionism then the profession will be better off.

New Consumer Council Forms

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — A new North Carolina Consumers Council is being organized and activated with the stated purpose of informing and educating buyers.

A policy statement adopted by the council's incorporators says it "shall be concerned foremost with effective and accurate information about policies and products emanating in North Carolina, and elsewhere, so that the consuming public can buy with confidence."

It will seek "to inform the consumer as lucidly as possible" of sales practices, advertising, packaging, legislative propositions, and governmental regulatory policies "which affect his ability to make wise choices in the market place," according to the statement.

WILLIAM SHIRES

Fair Competition

The organizers say the Council will "encourage fair competition" to give the consumer the widest possible choice as to price and quality.

"In the absence of such choices, it shall seek fair and honest regulation which holds as its goal the interest of the consumer in monoply situations," the statement says.

The group which will elect interim directors this week has a 20 member steering committee headed by Mrs. B. Collins (Mary) Kilburn of Raleigh and it was this group which adopted the policy statement.

Goals and Purposes

The incorporators' statement says the Council will seek to give consumers "an effective voice in government and the market place." It will affiliate with national organizations with similar goals and promote formation of local units.

"The Council shall conduct research and studies of goods, services, and business and professional practices, and shall receive, investigate and act upon consumer complaints where justifies," the statement said. Its means of action will include, first, "persuasion and conciliation," then, when necessary, "legal and legislative means. . ."

It pledges "due regard to price, quality, the effect of indiscriminate price cutting upon the preservation of an ultimate competitive situation, upon maintaining a source of supply for essential goods, and all of the elements which go into pricing a product and service," it said.

Idle Acres

Nearly 1,100 acres of burley tobacco allotments were left idle in North Carolina last year. As a result, growers lost an estimated $1.6 million in potential income.

This was reported at a meeting of approximately 50 agricultural representatives from 18 counties called by the Asheville Agricultural Development Council. The 18 counties are the state's principal burley producers.

The key to fuller utilization of burley allotment according to Council officials, is legislation to permit lease and transfer of allotments within counties for a maximum of five years per lease. Not over 10 acres could be transferred to any one farm.

Burley tobacco allotments are small compared to fluecured tobacco. For example, barley allotments for the state last year totaled only 8,836 acres of which 1,085 were not utilized.

Smallness of many allotments apparently makes it impractical for their holders to grow tobacco.

Routine, But Shows Airport Not Neglected

Approval for acceptance for a $20,500 federal grant was a routine measure by the County Commissioners but it serves to remind us that the Pitt-Greenville Airport is not being neglected.

The grant, to be matched by city and county funds, will be used to install runway lights, erect a lighted wind cone, replace the rotating beacon light and install direction signs for taxiing aircraft.

The improvements will make the local airport a better facility for the private aircraft now using it. It will also place Pitt County and Greenville in a more advantageous position when the time comes to apply for commercial air service here. And that time should not be far off with Greenville's growth and the spectacular phosphate mining developments east of here.

The improvements to the airport are a wise move on the part of county and city authorities. We should not stop there, however. The two governments should be constantly evaluating the situation to determine the most opportune time for making application for commercial air service. Our progress will be hampered until this is accomplished.

Tax Surcharge Far From Dead

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal, now seven months old, has remained virtually motionless since its unveiling last Aug. 3. But it's still very much alive.

There are fresh signs the tax hike will win new attention in the coming weeks, especially in view of the current reappraisal of U. S. troop strength in Vietnam.

It costs as much as $40,000 to send a man to Vietnam and maintain him there for a year. So any troop escalation of 50,000 to 100,000 men could cost as much as $2 billion to $4 billion.

Administration officials have never abandoned hope for the surcharge even when it was shelved temporarily or the third time by the House Ways and Means Committee earlier this year.

And some officials appear more hopeful than at any time since last fall that the surcharge will become law before long.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Foller, one of the architects of the surcharge, is expected to make a new appeal for the tax when he testifies Wednesday before the Senate Finance Committee.

Although the committee is primarily considering a Housepassed bill to prevent the auto and telephone excise tax rates from dropping on April 1, it will be Fowler's first chance this year to appeal for the surcharge in a formal meeting with the Senate group.

An optimist when it comes to the surcharge's chances in Congress, Fowler pointed out in a recent interview that it took more than a year to win final approval of the last two tax cuts.

There are reports that any escalation of troop strength in Vietnam might prompt the administration to propose a surcharge even higher than 10 per cent.

Some of Fowler's optimism probably springs from a statement by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, who last week said a substantial acceleration of the Vietnam war could force Congress to enact higher taxes.

Mills cautioned that cutbacks elsewhere in the federal budget would also be essential.

When Johnson last January submitted his 186.1 billion budget to Congress for the next fiscal year he asked for the surcharge to take effect April 1 for indviduals and retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations.

This timetable now appears out of the question since not even the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee has acted on the proposal, much less the House itself and the Senate.

"The Rev. William Sunday, who is to open an evangelistic campaign in this city April 22, has just closed a successful meeting at St. Louis," a member of the local Ministerial Association, mentioned to the writer today. . . This noted champion of the Bible had over six thousand converts in this city alone. His powerful sermons, portraying the high standards of human morality and duty, no doubt had their effect upon the lives of thousands of other men and women, groping in the dark of misunderstanding and disbelief. Mr. Sunday's campaign in this city is expected to be one of the outstanding revivals in Eastern North Carolina. We are arranging to take care of thousands of people at every service, and have not the slightest doubt but that crowds will be greatly augmented by other cities on Sundays. This will be an opportunity of the Christian workers of this city to accomplish something noteworthy in behalf of mankind."

Stuck In The Elevator

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon Johnson had one of his better days last Thursday. He was stuck in an elevator in the Pentagon for 12 minutes and finally had to crawl up and out with retiring Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara. Ordinarily, this could have been a very embarrassing situation for the Commander - in - Chief, but, fortunately, a contingency plan had been worked out for just such an occasion.

As soon as it was announced that the President had been stuck in the elevator, a White House background press briefing was called. Walt Rostow, the President's aide, told reporters that the President had been planning for some time to get stuck in a Pentagon elevator, and it came as no surprise to anyone in the government that it had happened at this time.

"The fact that the President was only stuck for 12 minutes is proof that the faulty elevator failed to accomplish its mission. We consider this the death rattle for all the elevators in the Pentagon."

At the very moment that Rostow was holding his backgrounder, Dean Rusk was being questioned about the elevator at a press conference at the State Department. He said:

"Instead of you reporters writing about one bad elevator that went wrong, why don't you write about all the other elevators that were working at that time? Why don't you print something good about American elevators for a change, rather than always pointing out what's wrong with them?"

A reporter said the fact that the President's elevator wasn't working was news; the fact that the other elevators were working wasn't news.

ART BUCHWALD

Flushed, Rusk turned to the reporter and said, "Whose side are you on?"

Sen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said that more troops would have to be provided for the elevators and he said the military leaders advocated the calling up of all elevator reserves.

Meanwhile back at the Senate, Sens. Fulbright and Morse chastised the Administration for escalating the elevator when it got stuck. Fulbright said the President should have sent the elevator down instead of up. Morse, on the other hand, said the elevator shouldn't have been there in the first place.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who was speaking in Chicago again, told the Optimists' Club:

"Nobody wants to get out of a stuck elevator more than the President. But at the same time Mr. Johnson has

One Second To Eternity

(The Texas Methodist)

Sometimes it is necessary to scare a person to make the person aware of the dangers around him. We know many of you will be on the highway during the holiday seasons, and in an effort to help you complete your journey safely, we would like to give you an "instant replay" of a fatal accident.

We hope it scares you. We hope it reminds you to buckle your seat belt. And we hope it saves your life.

The first second of a traffic accident is often called the fatal second. The following description tells what happens when a car going about 55 miles an hour hits a solid object:

In the first tenth of a second the front bumper and grille collapse.

In the second tenth of a second the hood crumbles, rising and striking the windshield as the spinning rear wheels lift from the ground. Simultaneously fenders begin wrapping themselves around the solid object and, although the car's frame has been halted, the rest of the car is still going 50 m.p.h.

Instinct causes the driver to stiffen his legs against the crash, and they snap at the knee joint.

During the third tenth of a second the steering wheel starts to disintegrate and the steering column aims for the driver's chest.

The fourth tenth of a second finds two feet of the car's front end wrecked while the rear end still moves at 35 m.p.h. and the driver's body is still traveling at 55 m.p.h.

In the fifth tenth of a second the driver is impaled on the steering column.

The sixth tenth of a second finds the impact built up to the extent that feet are ripped out of tightly laced shoes. The brake pedal breaks off. The car frame buckles in the middle and the driver's head bangs into the windshield as the rear wheels, still spinning, fall back to earth.

In the seventh tenth, hinges rip loose, doors open and the seat breaks free, striking the driver from behind. But he doesn't mind, because he is already dead, and the last three-tenths of a second mean nothing to him.

That's what happens in the first second of a fatal accident. Now, just two questions: (1) Will you buckle your seat belt? (2) Once you've got it buckled, will you drive safely—and watch out for the other guy?

Inflation Robs Widows, Orphans

By ELMER ROESSNER

One of the worst things about inflation is that it robs widows and orphans. It does this by depreciating the value of the life insurance they collect when the husband and father dies.

This robbery is so great the the government, which has brought about the inflation, should reimburse the victims. There are now many proposals for reimbursing victims of holdups and robberies; the responsibility for reimbursement should be even greater when the thief is not a felon but the United States government.

A man who took out a $20,000 policy 20 years ago might have thought that it was adequate to care for his widow and send a child or two through college. But if he should die today, the proceeds would have the purchasing power of only $14,400 in terms of the consumer dollar at the time he signed up.

Shrinkage Is Great

If he bought a $20,000 policy 30 years ago, the proceeds would have the buying power of only $8,460 in terms of 1938 dollars.

If this were translated into terms of the education dollar instead of the consumer dollar, the shrinkage would be even greater. Thirty years ago it was possible to send a lad through four years of college for $2,000. Today the same education may cost $8,000 or more.

Years ago many people took out policies of from $200 to $500 to provide for their burial. You can't get your body put very far under ground for that much today.

To make matters worse, inflation threatens to worsen. Huge government deficits and lack of any gold or silver backing to the currency assures that. If our inflation follows the course it has in Germany, Brazil, Indonesia and other countries, the proceeds of a $20,000 policy in 1998 might be only enough to buy a dinner.

In consequence, Americans

are vastly underinsured. There are millions of men carrying $10,000, $20,000 and $50,000 policies when, to maintain their families in this inflationary period, they should be carrying policies of $50,000, $100,000, and $250,000.

Variable Annuities Proposed

Several insurance companies, aware of this situation, have proposed variable annuity policies. Under this plan, the insurance reserves are invested in common stocks and the beneficiaries are paid according to the yield of the stocks upon the insured's death. It is assumed that common stocks rise in value with inflation.

This, however, cannot be guaranteed. In fact, inflation may break a corporation under certain circumstances.

The only reliable solution would be for the government to make up to the widow and children what has been taken from them by infiltration.

Under such a plan, if a man who bought a $20,000 policy 20 years ago died today, his survivors would get the $20,000 from the insurer and an additional $5,600 from the government to make up for the shrinkage caused by inflation. And if the man bought the policy 30 years ago, the government would make up $12,600.

Romney Heeded Signs

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Gov. George Romney's audacious attempt to deprive Richard M. Nixon of an overwhelming victory in New Hampshire and propel Gov. Nelson Rockefeller into the race must be counted a failure, foiled by the political bungling and miscaluation of moderate Republicans.

For this grand design of Romney's dramatic with drawal to succeed, essential roles had to be played by Romney, the Republican Governors, and Rockefeller. But, in turn, each botched his part.

Thus, Nixon's lead for the Republican Presidential nomination is wider than ever. Morose and apprehensive after Romney's withdrawal last Wednesday (Feb. 28), Nixon strategists were supremely confident by week's end.

The original strategy behind Romney's withdrawal was sound. With Nixon's only competitor in the March 12 New Hampshire primary withdrawn, his big win there could be drained of meaning.

Beyond that, Romney's strategists foresaw a series of events whereby Romney would quickly endorse Rockefeller, followed by a majority of Republican Governors, and Rockefeller himself would begin a campaign climaxing with victory in the Oregon primary May 28.

The advisability of endorsing Rockefeller Wednesday night in his withdrawal statement was discussed at length inside Romney's inner circle (though not with Rockefeller). A final draft of Romney's withdrawal statement actually contained a clause endorsing Rockefeller providing that he would run.

But Romney at the last minute changed his mind and eliminated that statement, and Rockefeller's own obtuseness must be blamed in part. Long suspicious that Rockefeller's support for him was only superficial, Romney was steaming over Rockefeller's timed statement in Detroit a few days before that he would be open to a Presidential draft.

Besides personal considerations, some members of Romney's inner circle had their misgivings about a Rockefeller endorsement. One advised that immediate endorsement of Rockefeller would fertilize suspicions among Republican conservatives of a deeply laid Romney-Rockefeller conspiracy.

Moreover, this advisor proposed that Rockefeller stay aloof, hoping for the polls and Nixon-can't-win sentiment to substitute for primary victories— a Psychological Theory was expounded on Wednesday night to National Committeeman George Hinman, Rockefeller's top lieutenant, by Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, a strong Rockefeller supporter.

The opposite view—a Tactical Theory of Rockefeller

Greene School Board Okays Asking Bids For New Facility

SNOW HILL — The Greene County Board of Education Monday approved the preliminary and working drawings of the proposed transportation building for Greene County Schools and instructed architects to advertise for bids.

Bids for the proposed facility will be opened on Thursday, March 27, at 2 p.m.

The board agreed that the $40,000 from the sale of the Hookerton school building be re-budgeted from capital reserve and placed in the capital outlay budget to be used in the construction of the transportation building.

The board established March 15 to April 15 as the Freedom of Choice period for Greene County. Forms were mailed to the homes of Greene County students and will be returned to the principal of each school.

Board members approved the Summer ESEA Program and instructed Greene County Superintendent of Schools Robert Strother to present a Summer Program budget for consideration at the April 1 board meeting.

The sale of the Walstonburg Teacherage to J. R. Little of Farmville for a total of $4,000 was approved by board members.

The board approved adding a day to the end of the school year to make up for the day lost during the recent snow. The final school day for students will be June 4 and the final day for teachers will be June 6.

Superintendent Strother was instructed by the board to prepare a memorial resolution in honor of Alonzo Clay "Lon" Edwards of Hookerton.

picking up endorsements and entering the Oregon primary—was spread at the National Governors' Conference here by Govs. Spiro (Ted) Agnew of Maryland and Tom McCall of Oregon. But their effort to win governors' endorsements for Rockefeller, another essential part of the original plan, collapsed.

Governors who for months had been vocally yearning to support Rockefeller suddenly grew reticent when given the chance. Gov. Harold Levander of Minnesota advised the most he could do to stem the Nixon tide in his state was to become a favorite son. Gov. Daniel Evans of Washington advised that as prospective convention keynoter he couldn't take sides. Gov. John Love of Colorado said it was too early to endorse. Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania said he was committed to a favorite-son candidacy and couldn't switch. Out of 26 governors, Agnew and McCall collected no more than seven hard commitments.

Simultaneously, Romney boiled over to learn that Agnew, for the past two weeks, had been lining up Rockefeller support among the governors without informing Romney. Even more irritating to him was Rockefeller's inexplicable and erroneous hints that he had advance knowledge of Romney's withdrawal.

made a commitment to the Free World which he intends to honor; and if this means getting stuck in a Pentagon elevator, he will do it, because he believes it is the right thing to do."

During the 12 minutes that the President was stuck in the elevator, Lou Harris took a poll with the following results:

Sixty - seven per cent said they thought the President was doing a good job running the Pentagon elevators, 20 per cent thought someone else could do a better job and 13 percent said they had "no opinion."

When asked if the President should get out of the elevator, 35 percent said he should get out, 34 percent said he should stay in and 31 percent said they didn't think it would make any difference.

During the wait, the President turned to Secretary McNamara and said: "Well, Bob, what the h— happened now?"

And Secretary McNamara is said to have replied in a halting voice full of emotion: "Mr. President, I cannot find words to express what lies in my heart today. I think I had better respond on another occasion."

But an attempt is expected in the Senate to tack a surcharge to the excise tax bill.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican Finance Committee member, intends to force a vote on the surcharge in both the committee and on the Senate floor. He would couple it with strict limits on federal spending, hiring and construction.

Rhodesia Hangs Terrorist Trio

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The Rhodesian government hanged three Africans today after rejecting Queen Elizabeth II's order commuting their sentences to life in prison.

A guard pinned notices on the gate of Salisbury's central prison announcing the executions of the three men convicted of murder and terrorism.

The queen, still considered head of state by Rhodesia's rebel white minority government, commuted their sentences Saturday. But the appellate division of Rhodesia's high court, ruling on two of the cases Monday, held it was "not a personal decision by her majesty but by her government (in Britain). Her majesty is quite powerless in this matter. It is a source of great regret that her majesty has become involved."

Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence from Britain in 1965, and Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle ruled it is the only government in Rhodesia with the power to exercise the prerogative of mercy.

The decision to go ahead with all three hangings was understood to have been reached at a six-hour Cabinet meeting Tuesday.

FWB Convention To Hear Jenkins

MOUNT OLIVE—East Carolina University President Leo Jenkins will be one of the principal speakers at a special session of the Free Will Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at Mount Olive College Thursday.

Jenkins will discuss the vital role of church-related colleges in meeting the educational needs of today's youth.

The meeting will be held to consider plans to raise $1 million for the College during the next three years.

The convention will begin at 10 a.m. in the auditorium on the downtown campus and will conclude with lunch.

Trio Diverted Plane To Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Havana Radio said today that a Jordanian and two Colombians hijacked the Colombian airliner diverted to Cuba Tuesday with between 32 and 36 persons aboard.

The broadcast said the passengers and crew were guests in the Hotel Versailles in Santiago, where the plane landed in eastern Cuba. It gave no indication when they would be allowed to take the plane back to Colombia, but this is expected soon. In the past, passengers and crewmen of hijacked planes have usually been allowed to leave within 24 hours.

The broadcast said the crew was forced to fly to Cuba by Taly Analaye, a Jordanian who lives at Maicao, Colombia; Enrique Ortiz Acosta and Aristides Villalobos.

The Colombian DC4 plane was the third hijacked to Cuba this year and the sixth since last Aug. 6, including two other Colombian aircraft. In each case the hijackers asked Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government for political asylum, but there has never been an announcement that any of the requests was granted.

Among the passengers Tuesday were several children, a Colombian senator, two congressmen and an aide to President Carlos Lleras Restrepo. Emilio Urrea. No U.S. citizens were reported aboard.

The plane carried four crew members, but there were conflicting reports on the number of passengers. Colombian sources said there were 28 while Havana Radio said 32.

After the plane landed at Santiago, in eastern Cuba, Urrea told a newsman by telephone that three men with guns had seized the plane and he believed they were Colombians. Before Urrea could give more details, the telephone connection was cut.

Auditions Are Scheduled By ECU Summer Theatre

The professional East Carolina University Summer Theatre will hold the first of two North Carolina auditions for its upcoming fifth season with a session in Greenville this Saturday, March 9.

Producer Edgar R. Loessin said he will be looking for actors, singers, dancers, instrumentalists and technicians from 2 to 6 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium, home of the Summer Theatre.

He will hold special auditions for children (ages 5 through 14) from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

Loessin started formal auditions for the coming season, officially named "Season 5," in Atlanta last weekend as part of the annual Southeastern Theatre Conference.

The remainder of the 1968 audition schedule:

Saturday, March 16, Washington, D. C.; Saturday, March 23, Winston-Salem (N. C. School of the Arts auditorium, 2 to 5 p.m.); Saturday, April 6, Richmond, Va.; Thursday, April 11, Variety Arts Studios, New York City.

Loessin issued these instructions to performers:

All auditioners should bring a resume and photograph.

Actor-singers should be prepared to sing and read. Dancers will need practice clothes. Instrumentalists should be prepared to play a selection of their own chosing and to sight-read a selection by the music director. Off-stage workers should bring resumes and be prepared for interviews.

Children who audition in Greenville this Saturday should be prepared to sing or perform a simple dance. "Training is helpful," said Loessin, "but not essential."

According to the producer, most performers will get contracts for the entire season, though a few will be hired for specific productions. All will be paid, he said, except for a few apprentices.

Rehearsals for Season 5 will begin on Sunday, June 23. The first play opens Monday, July 1, and the final one closes Saturday, Aug. 17.

Scheduled for production this summer are two plays, "Gigi" and "The Odd Couple," and four musicals, "The Boys From Syracuse," "The King and I," "Guys and Dolls" and "The Desert Song."

Board Discusses Street Repairs

BETHEL — The Bethel town board last night discussed at length street repairs needed in town.

Although no action was taken, the commissioners talked of what to do and what can be done to make needed repairs to streets throughout the municipality.

The board approved installation of a street light in the park in the northern section of Bethel and also approved installation of a street light at the new Holiness Church on N. C. 11 North in the city.

Didn't Campaign, Got Six Votes

CIMARRON, N.M. (AP) — Natalie Cheshire, who received only six votes in Cimarron's election for mayor Tuesday, explained why she finished so poorly in the four-way race.

"I didn't have time to campaign," she said. "I had to have my upper (dental) plate fixed."

She said she filed for office because, "I just get so doggone mad at what goes on here I thought I'd try it."

Healing Service Thursday Night

The monthly healing service held at St. Paul's Church will be conducted tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

The Rector, the Rev John W. Drake Jr., will offer a meditation as a portion of the service.

Clothing Appeal For Overseas

The Eighth Street Christian Church is headquarters this week for the Church World Service clothing appeal.

Mrs. James Patton, service chairman for World Church Service, said blankets as well as wearing clothes are also needed for the overseas "Collection Centers," in announcing the great need in sending used clothing abroad.

She stated the truck will be here the week of March 4.

The drive is sponsored annually by Church Women United.

Scholarship For James K. Smith

James K. Smith, a senior at Williamston High School, is one of the 280 winners in the fourth National Achievement Scholarship Program for outstanding Negro students, it was announced today by John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The awards are valued at $1.4 million.

All Achievement Scholarships are four - year college scholarships providing aid ranging from $250 to $1,500 per year, depending on the student's need to attend the college of his choice.

The 1968 winners, picked by a selected committee, represent 35 states and the District of Columbia.

The winners were chosen for their outstanding intellectual ability and academic promise. Financial need was not considered, but need determines how much a winner receives.

Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis H. Smith Jr. of 410 E. Main St., Williamston, is a member of the Honor Society, football letterman, chief marshal of the junior class and a Boy Scout. Smith will enter Colgate University in Hamilton, N. Y., in the fall, where he will major in law.

London firemen answered 20,383 calls in 1967, compared with 55,907 in 1966.

CAMPAIGN LITERATURE — Dr. Martin Luther King displays the poster and literature to be used during his poor people's campaign this spring and summer. (AP Wirephoto)

King Recruits Army Of The Poor To Sway Solons

By DON MCKEE
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., says he is confident he will get strong support for his plan to raise an army of the poor to camp in Washington.

"I am convinced we will have greater response to this than anything we've ever undertaken," King said after a recent trip to Mississippi and Alabama where he met mixed reactions.

King disclosed that he intends to camp with his poor people's army for at least two months in the nation's capital beginning about April 21, demanding action by Congress to provide jobs or income for the poor.

His initial search for support took him first to Mississippi for a session with Negro leaders and then to Alabama, where he began his civil rights career 13 years ago by leading a Negro boycott of segregated city buses in Montgomery.

Now again, King expects to enlist the masses: tenant farmers who have been kicked off the plantations; others out of jobs; the underemployed, and all the sympathizers who will join the army.

"We want you to sign up and say that you will go to Washington," King told a church rally at Selma, Ala., the setting for his 1965 voting rights drive that produced Congressional action.

"This isn't going to be an easy struggle," he acknowledged. The issue is not segregation, such as it was in 1963 when King led the Birmingham, Ala., drive that brought the Civil Rights Act of a year later. Nor, King said, is the issue political as it was in Selma three years ago.

"We are dealing with a class issue now," he said. It is the underprivileged against the privileged, King said.

"We are taking on a mammoth job."

King's two-day trip that included four stops produced indications of perhaps considerable middle and upper class financial support among Negroes, but at the same time a reluctance or outright refusal of some of the Negro leadership to join the campaign.

In tangible results King's staff collected some money and pledges for more at rallies and private meetings. Plans were made for a follow-up trip and some of King's aides talked of expanding their recruitment to 23 states.

One of King's closest associates, the Rev. Andrew J. Youn, said after a private session in Edwards, Miss., "I would say the grassroots are for it 200 per cent, but the leaders raise questions about Congress, whether or not the country is too sick to do anything about it. There is a degree of despair among the leadership."

Reservations about the undertaking were expressed by Lawrence Guyot, chairman of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party which plans another challenge of the state's delegation to the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

"If it definitely involves poor people and addresses itself to economic deficiencies and the right to dissent," said Guyot, "then I would be in favor of it."

But Guyot said he opposed any "single purpose or political ends that are addressed especially to the U.S. Congress."

King's campaign seeks to create enough public support to pressure Congress into action on such proposals as a guaranteed annual income.

"Many groups are now in the mood for a guaranteed annual income," King said. "There is a national climate that is very healthy, but the Congress is not reflecting the mood of the nation. So we must go over the heads of Congress and appeal to the conscience or self-interest of the people."

Oyster Hearing Set For Friday

RALEIGH—The N. C. Commercial and Sports Fisheries Advisory Board will conduct a public hearing on the state's 1968 oyster planting and rehabilitation program Friday in Jacksonville.

The hearing will begin at 9 a.m. at the Onslow County Courthouse, according to the Advisory Board chairman, William A. Shires of Raleigh.

All interested persons are invited to attend. The oyster program involves the planting of seed oysters and shells, cost of planting and oyster production in public beds under authorization granted the Department of Conservation and Development by the legislature.

A review of the oyster rehabilitation program is one of the matters referred to the Advisory Board by the state's fisheries commisisoner, Dr. David A. Adams, for study and recommendations.

A regular working meeting of the Advisory Board will be held at the state fisheries headquarters, Morehead City, on Thursday, March 7, for the purpose of discussion, formulation and drafting of recommendations on "trash fishing" regulations, Shires said.

Hawaii Seeing Tourism Soar

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's record-breaking 1967 tourist count not only passed the million mark, but jumped 40.2 per cent over the 1966 total.

There were 1,005,790 visitors who stayed overnight or longer, according to the Hawaii Visitors Bureau. The previous record was set in 1966, when the count was 717,550.

May Register At Kindergarten

Registration for Mrs. Smith's kindergarten is being held today and Thursday, from 2:30-5 p.m. at 705 E. Fourth Street, one block from the college.

Interested parents may either come by the kindergarten or telephone 752-2430.

Symposium On War In Vietnam Begins Tonight

A symposium on the war in Vietnam, sponsored by the United Campus Ministry of ECU, begins tonight at the Baptist Student Center at 511 E. Tenth St.

Each Wednesday throughout March the question of the war will be examined through various media. Tonight's meeting will feature in address, "A Political Review of Our Involvement in Vietnam," by Dr. Philip J. Adler.

March 13 the films "The Hole" and "The Phoenix" will be presented. Another address on March 20 will feature Dr. Herbert R. Paschal on "The Question of the Right to Dissent."

The last program, on March 27, will be highlighted by a student debate, "Our Military Committment in Vietnam."

The symposium will begin at 6:00 p.m. each Wednesday and is open to the public.

CAP Squadron Meets Thursday

The Greenville squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Pitt - Greenville Airport.

Jim Davenport, local FAA instructor, will conduct the class program.

London Festival, Starting July 8, To Make History

LONDON (AP) — When Queen Elizabeth II attends the opening concert of London Festival in St. Paul's Cathedral July 8, she will be making history.

This will be the first occasion upon whch the titular head of the Church of England attends a ceremony shared by the state-established Church and the Roman Catholics.

Main item on the program is a specially commissioned work from composer Lennox Berkeley, which will be sung by the combined choirs of St. Paul's, Westminster Abbey, and Roman Catholic Westminster Cathedral.

Top dignitaries of the Roman and Anglican hierarchies are being invited to the event which reflects the closer friendly relations between the two communions in Britain.

The City Festival, which will last two weeks, will be presided over by Sir Gilbert Inglefield, Lord Mayor of London.

Postmaster Says Must 'Conform'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Postmaster Hugh T. Albright has his own way of dealing with the long-haired, sloppy-clothed set.

He said he rejected a job applicant because of a hippy haircut.

"We do not hire anyone whose appearance does not conform to community standards," Albright said.

Constitutional Guarantees Are Variously Viewed

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a three-part series of stories on reaction in North Carolina to the adoption of the Reardon Report by the American Bar Association.)

By ROY MARTIN
Greensboro Record Writer
Written for the AP

GREENSBORO (AP) — The free press-fair trial controversy is essentially a clash of interpretations of constitutional guarantees.

The legal-judicial system contends newspaper use of information such as a defendant's past criminal record, alleged confessions, eyewitness reports and other details are a violation of the Sixth Amendment.

News media, for the most part, contend court actions are public record and information pertaining to court actions must be released to the public.

"It seems to me some members of the news media go to the extreme in reporting the news of crimes just as some member of our bar go to the extreme in their defense or prosecution of crimes." said Lillington attorney Sen. Robert B. Morgan.

"The difficulty is that these news media go into the gory details of a crime, print the accused's background and criminal record in such a sensational manner it is difficult to find a jury that doesn't have an idea or thought about the case before deliberating."

Morgan, candidate for state attorney general, was involved in a murder trial in August, 1967, as defense counsel for three men accused of murder in Harnett County.

The three, Billy Ray Hall, Jerry Thomas Hall and Brian Sweeney, were charged with the murder of James "Crick" Stewart in a brawl at a Harnett County nightspot.

Newspapers in the county followed closely the arrests of the three and the subsequent trial. The Dunn Dispatch, at one point in its coverage, quoted a sheriff's deputy as saying the motive for the killing was apparently robbery. The Dunn Daily Record, in a front page story, quoted another deputy who said the three men had confessed to the slaying.

The Daily Record's headline over the story read: "Confession Reported In Murder, Beating."

"I really thought our coverage was quite conservative," said Hoover Adams, editor of the Dunn Daily Record. "I really felt like they got a fair trial under the circumstances."

Adams acknowledged "some wild statements" in some of the county's newspaper coverage of the trial.

"But I think the real problem is when the newspapers create an atmosphere that forces the prosecution to prosecute more diligently than they would otherwise," he said.

The trial judge for the Hall-Sweeney case was Maurice Braswell, who with Judge Raymond B. Mallard came in conflict with the press in September 1966 when they issued a joint order in Wake County prohibiting the release of certain information by court officials and law enforcement officers.

At the time of the Harnett County trial a year later, Braswell, speaking of the press, said: "We aren't trying to cut off their (the press's) sources of information or their right to know. But we are asking them not to hold court in their pages before a case comes to trial."

Dr. J. B. Adams, professor of journalism at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, believes the Mallard - Braswell ruling provides for secrecy in the courts.

"This is the very thing we don't want," he declared. "I must admit there has been prejudicial publicity. But the reporter should have access to the information, then treat it responsibly."

He cited a headline he had once seen in connection with a story about a robbery trial. The headline said: "Thief Goes On Trial."

"That is the kind of thing the press ought to do something about," Adams said. "It puts in the mind that the evidence is going to be good or the newspaper would not have used that kind of headline. Images are built by using words loosely."

The press should use caution, he asserted.

"Caution should be exercised by the media in possession of the facts rather than have the information turned into a simple announcement without any story at all," Adams declared.

Recount Votes On Fair Housing

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — A recount indicates that a city fair housing ordinance has withstood a referendum aimed at repealing it.

The ordinance officially passed by 30 votes, the Genesee County Board of Canvassers said Tuesday after a second recount of the votes in the Feb. 20 election.

Following the second recount, the vote was: 20,170 for the ordinance, 20,140 against it.

Want Johnson Speak On Campus

RALEIGH (AP) — Petitions are being circulated at North Carolina State University asking President Johnson to speak on the campus before May 15.

The petitions point out that NCSU students are "responsible citizens deeply concerned with vital issues facing the nation" including draft regulations.

List Tar Heel War Casualty

WASHINGTON (AP)—A North Carolina serviceman was included Tuesday in a list of 70 Vietnam casualties released by the Department of Defense.

He was identified as Pfc. Robert J. McGee, son of Mrs. Dora A. Johnson of Hudson.

Water In Bumper Is Demonstrated

CHICAGO (AP) — Safety-minded motorists soon may be telling their service station attendants to "filler 'er with gas, check the oil and put some water in the bumper." The new approach to safety, vinyl bumpers filled with water, was demonstrated Tuesday in Chicago. Plugs along the top of the bumpers pop out on impact to let the water squeeze out, cushioning the force of collisions.

False Alarm: No Car Thief

NEW YORK (AP) — A midtown doorman watched aghast while a man went to work with a bent coat hanger trying to open a sleek, black limousine.

"There's a redhaired man trying to steal a car," the doorman phoned police. But when patrolmen arrived minutes later the man was gone.

An hour later the man was back—this time carrying a spare ignition key.

He identified himself as John Ryan, chauffeur for City Council President Frank D. O'Connor and explained he'd locked his other keys inside.

O'Connor told newsmen, "Look, there isn't a man alive who hasn't locked his keys in the car at one time or another."

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Box", is an Academy Award nominee that cost $1,300 and was produced entirely through the efforts of one man.

No, the august Academy hasn't instituted an award for home movies. "The Box" has been nominated in the category of short subjects—cartoons, and it is the work of bearded Fred Wolf, at 35 a 17-year veteran of the animation business.

"The Box" is a cartoon, but it is as far removed from Woody Woodpecker as Modiglian is from Norman Rockwell. Drawn in stark, imaginative style, it shows a frizzled character entering a bar. He orders a drink and places before him a box, which evokes the curiosity of other drinkers. The character keeps the contents of the box secret, but it appears to contain a small creature. A girl enters the bar and she has the same kind of box with the same kind of creature. The two box-owners happily exit from the bar, arm-in-arm.

What's in the box?

"I don't really know," says Wolf. "But I'm amused by the number of people who claim to know. Everyone has a different impression of what it all means."

Wolf isn't saying. He figures it's better for "Box" watchers to inject their own hypotheses, and that indicates how far animation has come from the explicitness of Donald Duck and Bugs Bunny. The latter cartoons were assembled by small armies of animators, assistant animators, gag men, inkers and painters, studio musicians, etc.

"The Box," every frame of it, was drawn by Fred Wolf. "Well, I did get a little help," he confessed. "An 11-year-old boy, my son, painted some color in a few of the pictures." The musical score was provided by one musician, drummer Shelley Mannel

Significantly, Fred Wolf never worked at the Disney studio. Together with his partner, Jimmy Murakami, Wolf represents a new generation of animators who are not beholden to the anything-for-a-gag tradition of movie cartoons. The new, impressionistic style has flourished in Europe, but the two partners have been showing the foreigners some tricks. Murakami's "Breath" won the grand prize at the recent animated film festival in France, and "The Box" took the critics award.

Wolf provided some insight on the economics of the animation business:

"The real money is in television commercials, which can bring us upwards of $30,000 apiece. But we use pictures like 'Breath' and 'The Box' to show advertisers what we can do. 'Breath,' for example, helped us get a Lavoris commercial.

"Otherwise it's difficult to get your monty back from a theatrical release, even though 'The Box' cost under $1,300. The rental for an animated film is something like $15 a week, and even at that price theater owners don't want them. They'd rather just run the feature.

"If they do buy a short, it's usually the 'Looney Tune' kind of thing. Our pictures usually play the art houses, where you get a more discriminating audience. But I'm hopeful that we can break out of the art houses. There's no reason why 'The Box' can't play on a bill with 'The Graduate' or 'Bonnie and Clyde,' which attract the younger, thinking audience."

Whiteville Romps Over South Ayden For Title

Southern Swim Meet Is Here

The Southern Conference will hold its annual championship swimming and diving meet at East Carolina University Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The new Minges Natatorium will be the site of the event, the second straight time it has been at East Carolina.

The Pirates are also the defending champions of the meet, having won it every year since being admitted to the conference.

Preliminaries to each event will be held in the day's first session, with the finals later in the day. Preliminaries will start at 1 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Finals will be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Thursday's events include the 500 freestyle, 200 individual medley, 50 freestyle and 800 free style relay.

Friday, the swimmers will compete in the 200 butterfly, the 200 freestyle, 100 breaststroke, 100 backstroke, 400 individual medley and 400 freestyle relay.

Saturday's events are the 1,650 freestyle, the 100 freestyle, 200 backstroke, 200 breaststroke, 100 butterfly, one-meter diving and 400 medley relay.

Teams from West Virginia, The Citadel, William & Mary, Davidson, and VMI will join the Pirates in the meet.

Seeded Teams In City League Wins

The four top-seeded teams in the City League, Holt's, Womack, Whitehurst and Book Barn, vaulted into the semi-finals of the league tournament last night.

Book Barn downed Garris-Evans, 96-65; Whitehurst edged Home Builders, 50-46; Womack beat Hazelton, 53-39; and top-seeded Holt's beat Coca-Cola, 78-54.

In the opener, Holt's pulled away to a 34-17 lead over Coke in the first half, then outscored them, 44-34, in the second period. Riddick led Holt's with 20 points, while Worthington had 17, Alexander had 14 and Taylor had 12. For Coke, Hardee had 25 points.

Womack pulled out into a 31-17 lead in the first period, then went out to outscore Hazelton, 27-22 in the final stanza to claim the win. Murphy led Womack with 16 points, while Claybrook had 15 and Dunn had 12. For Hazelton, Moore had 14.

In the third game, Home Builders threatened to pull an upset gaining a 26-20 lead in the first half. But Whitehurst rallied in the second half, outscoring Home Builders, 30-20, to forge ahead and get the win. Sharpe led Home Builders with 15 points and Parnell added 12. Whitehurst paced his team with 16 points, while Briley added 13.

The Book Barn pushed out into a 42-36 lead in the first half, then bombed Garris-Evans, 54-29 in the second half for their easy victory. Gibson led Book Barn with 35 points, while Hardison and Clark each had 16 and Lee had 10. Garris-Evans was led by Tilghman with 29 and Miller with 20.

In tonight's semifinals, Holt's meets Womack in the first game, while Whitehurst takes on Book Barn in the other. The winners meet for the title on Tuesday.

East Tenn. In NCAA Field

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It will be Columbia vs. L Salle at College Park, Md., and East Tennessee vs. Florida State at Kent, Ohio, in the first round of the NCAA national collegiate basketball championship tournament on Saturday.

Columbia, eighth-ranked nationally, gained its NCAA berth by whipping Princeton 92-74 in the playoff Tuesday night for the Ivy League title. East Tennessee landed its spot by downing Murray State 79-75 in the playoff for the Ohio Valley Conference crown.

Kansas of the Big Eight became the 14th team named to the other major postseason tourney, New York's National Invitation. Two more teams still are to be selected to fill the NIT field.

The remaining two berths in the 23-team NCAA field will go to the winners this week of the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney and the West Coast Athletic Conference.

The unbeaten St. Bonaventure Brown Indians from Olean, N.Y., third-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll to Houston and UCLA, just barely made it 24 in a row, including 22-0 this season. They had to go overtime for a 70-69 squeaker over Fairfield at New Haven, Conn.

The Bonnies, named for the NCAA tourney two weeks ago, were paced by Bob Lanier, a 6-foot-11 sophomore, who scored 23 points and grabbed 14 rebounds in addition to three vital assists in the extra period.

The aroused Stags missed forcing a second overtime when Billy Jones, who scored 21 points, missed a free throw with two seconds left.

Columbia, paced by soph Jim McMillian's 37 points, exploded early in the second half to drub Princeton on St. John's neutral court in New York.

Mike Kretzer paced East Tennessee over Murray State with 21 points in the OVC playoff on Eastern Kentucky's neutral court in Richmond, Ky. It was the first OVC championship for the Buccaneers.

Fordham and Villanova, each NIT-bound, scored easy victories. Fordham whipped Colgate 91-67 and the Wildcats took Seton Hall 80-66.

Indiana defeated Wisconsin 93-85. Purdue whipped Michigan State 93-75, Providence vanquished Brown 80-66, Xavier of Ohio edged Cincinnati 72-71, North Texas took Memphis State in overtime 63-62 and Niagara upended Canisius 96-84.

Calvin Murphy, Niagara's hot-shooting soph, the No. 2 scorer in the nation, got 41 points in his last game of the season. That gave him 916 for the year.

Trotter Ducats Are On Sale

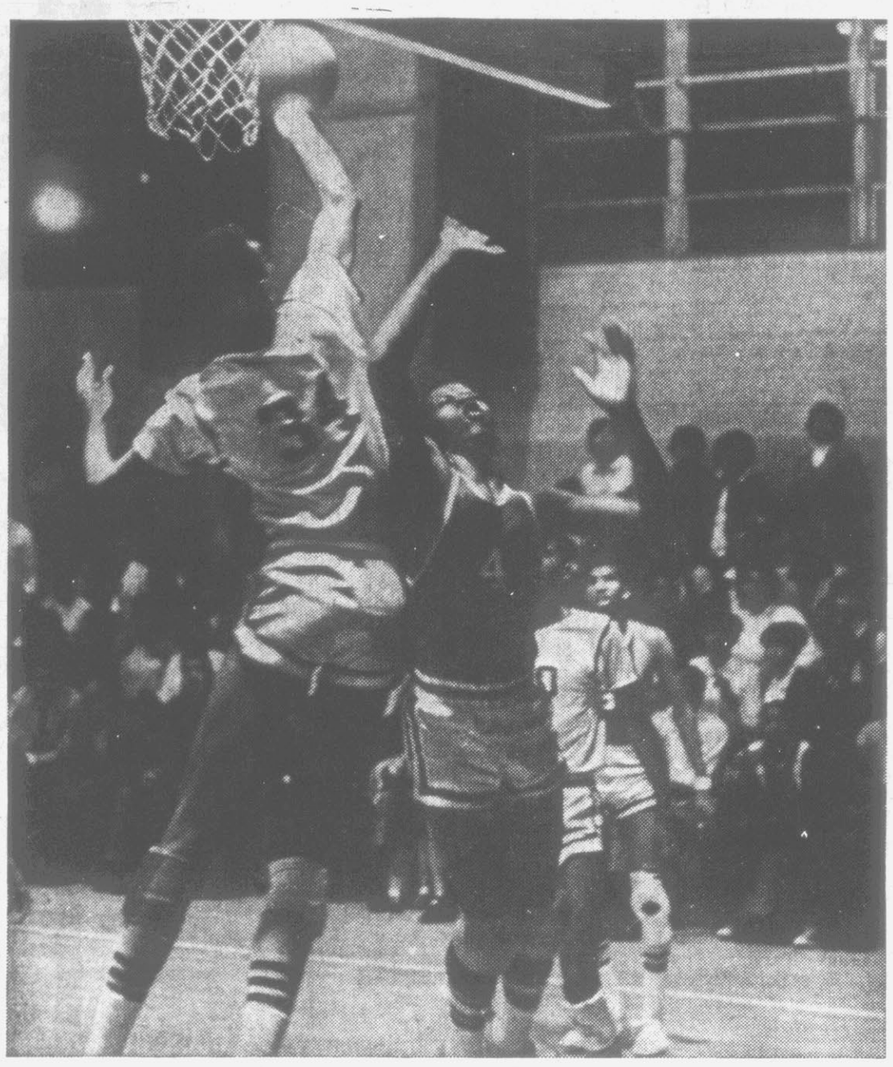

The 42nd edition of the Harlem Globetrotters, more effervescent than the original version — bubbling over with basketball ability and comedy routines which have earned them the tag "Magicians of Basketball," will play the Washington Generals Sunday, March 10th, in Minges Fieldhouse on the campus of East Carolina University. Tap-off is 3 p.m.

Reserved seat tickets are available now at $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 and may be obtained from the Fieldhouse Box Office, Shirley's Barbershop in Greenville or from any member of the E. C. U. Track Team, the sponsoring organization.

Robersonville Has Open Dates

Robersonville High School is seeking to fill three dates with baseball games, Coach Noland Respess announced.

The Rams have open dates on April 2, 9, and 19. Teams wishing to schedule games with the Rams are asked to contact Respess at Robersonville High School.

ANOTHER BLOCKED SHOT — Whiteville Central's Reggie Royals blocks a shot attempt by South Ayden's John Roundtree in last night's Double-A State Championship game in Whiteville. The 6-7 Royals blocked around a dozen shots in the game, and dominated the boards as Whiteville swept to its second straight state championships, 102-62. (Reflector Photo by McLawhorn)

Mini-Skirted Miss Has Rockingham In Uproar

By SYLVIA ROBERTSON
Richmond County Journal Writer
Written for the AP

ROCKINGHAM N. C. (AP)— "Hey, where are all the girls?" asked the tall, red-haired young Englishwoman at the North Carolina Motor Speedway.

The reply was shouted back. "You're the only one, baby. Girls don't race cars over here."

Jacqui Smith, 24, entered the Sandhill 250-mile Grand Touring race at Rockingham Saturday. From Winchester, England, she's the first female to race in a NASCAR-sanctioned meet in the southeastern United States.

Lady drivers, she said, aren't so uncommon in England.

"I thought there would be one or two floating around" at Rockingham, she said. "There usually are at home."

After learning she'll be a loner on the southern tracks, Miss Smith had a few second thoughts. But she finally decided, "Why not? It can't be any worse than ladies in any other bid meet . . . I don't think."

Jacqui was the "circus attraction" during the Sunday open house at the Speedway. She spent most of the afternoon in the track cafeteria being gaped at. Her Chevrolet Camaro hadn't arrived.

One fellow skirted the table a couple of times before getting an introduction. Asked if he thought she looked like a lady race driver he stammered, "I don't know. I've never seen a lady race driver before." Jacqui smiled and smoothed her mini skirt.

She says she's not out for kicks and is serious about the profession. Her family had ideas of enrolling her in the Christian Dior School of Modeling, but she decided she wanted to race. She bought her first car herself and headed for the tracks. Training? "You just get out there and start. It's called fender-banging," she laughed.

"Mum thinks it's just great," she said, but she added that other relatives are less enthusiastic.

There've been 60 to 70 races for her with 14 wins. "There's far less money to be won in England. I would guess our drivers make more money abroad," she said.

She has no superstitions but "wouldn't break any the other racers believe in either." She's even won a few races in a green car, which is strictly taboo on American tracks.

"They won't race green cars over here, yet I used to have one. It wouldn't bother me in the least but I wouldn't take one out on the track for the other racers' sake," said Jacqui. And she added she's even bought some new white uniforms to replace her usual green ones.

She's rolled a car once—her only major catastrophe during her career. It didn't happen on a track. She was in England on an ordinary road taking her father out for a birthday dinner.

Landing in New York Feb. 20, Jacqui remembers, she "just hated it." She says she likes the South better. She wrote a letter home saying she's doing fine but having a little trouble with "the foreign language."

The lady racer came specifically for the race Saturday. She'll drive a car for former star Buck Baker.

Jacqui worked for an electronics firm in England doing research for several years before "I gave it up to race and paint."

She has two cars at home, a Cooper and an MG-PEB. "They're little cars by your standards. In England, they're sort of medium." She's raced the Lotus 4, Jaguar XKE, Lotus Milan and others.

Her English accent is very pronounced but one week in Rockingham has already taken its toll. She swung out of the press trailer late Sunday with a, "be seeing you."

Will she stay in the U.S. after Saturday's race? That depends on Baker, she said, and "whether or not he'll let me drive again.

"I'll let you know Saturday" —after the race.

Fitness, Golf Classes Set

Two new programs will be started by the Elm Street Recreation Department beginning Monday.

Men's physical fitness classes will be held each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at Elm Street gymnasium from 7:30 to 8:30. The first class Monday will be an organizational meeting to set up the program and to see if there will be enough interest to continue it. Men are asked to wear tennis shoes.

Also, adult golf lessons will be taught at Elm Street Center on Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to 11:00. Beginners do not need to bring golf clubs or balls as they will be furnished by the department.

Registration will be taken for these two classes by calling Elm Street Center, PL2-2355.

South Ayden Falls To Tough Club, 102-62

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

WHITEVILLE — The Whiteville Central High School Hornets stung the South Ayden Eagles, 102-62, last night, to capture their second state Double A State Basketball Championship.

The victory gave the Hornets a 20-0 record for the year, their second in a row without a loss. South Ayden, the Cinderella team of the tournament, finished with a 21-6 record.

The quicker, better-shooting Hornets intimidated the Eagles from the start. With 6-7 Reggie Royals blocking over a dozen shots, pulling down at least as many rebounds, and scoring 31 points, the Hornets had little trouble with the nervous Eagles.

Larry Jackson put Whiteville into the lead in the opening 10 seconds, and South Ayden was never able to catch them at all. John Roundtree hit a foul shot to close the gap to 2-1, but two buckets by Andrew Davis and two more by Royals pushed the lead up to 10-1 with 6:00 left in the first period.

South Ayden appeared to get over its initial stage fright and came back to cut the lead to 12-6 with five minutes to go, but Whiteville put on another surge, as Jackson got two free throws, and Davis got one basket and Willie Thompson hit two more for a 20-6 margin with 3:30 to play.

South Ayden again clipped the lead, cutting it to 10 at 20-10, but Whiteville again pulled away, this time to a 15-point spread, at 29-14, the score at the end of the quarter.

Scoring by both teams was at its lowest in the second quarter. South Ayden put on another short rally, cutting the lead back to 11 at 29-18 in the first minute, but Whiteville appeared to be just teasing the Eagles, as they pulled away again, pushing the lead to 18 for a while, and then threatened to push the Eagles right off the floor. Holding a 36-20 lead, Whiteville got two buckets by Thompson, a pair of foul shots from Jackson and Warren Troy, and buckets by Jackson and Royals to rush the score to 48-20 with 1:40 left in the half. South Ayden managed to cut four off this to trail by 24 at the half, 48-24.

In the third period, Whiteville continued to move steadily away. They allowed the Eagles to cut it back to as little as 19 midway through the period, but then shot away to build up a 31 point lead as the quarter came to an end, 72-43.

Royals, in his effort for the night, showed a perfect 10-for-10 evening at the line.

Quinn Featured In Industry Ad

East Carolina University basketball coach Tom Quinn, along with individual stars from other major colleges in North Carolina, is featured in an advertisement currently running in the New York Times and other major publications.

The ad, promoting North Carolina as an industrial development site, pointed out, through basketball, that "there is more than one reason for moving an industry into North Carolina."

Featured with Quinn are Larry Miller of the University of North Carolina, Norwood Todmann of Wake Forest, Eddie Biedenbach of North Carolina State, Rodney Knowles of Davidson, a former Rose High School player, and Mike Lewis of Duke University.

The ad appeared in the February 27 Eastern Edition of the New York Times, and will also appear in the March 5, 19 and April 9 editions. It will also appear in the Midwest edition of the Times on March 19.

A smaller version of the ad will appear in the metropolitan Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis editions of Time Magazine for March 22, and the March issue of Area Development Magazine.

Doubleheader May Have Touched Off A Fresh Boom In Boxing World

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing bubbled with revived spirit today and looked ahead to a series of top caliber matches.

The highly successful twin title show in the new Madison Square Garden Monday night, in which Joe Fraizer stopped Buster Mathis and Nino Benvenuti edged Emile Griffith, may have touched off a fresh boom in the often kicked around sport.

Cassius Clay said boxing would die when he left. Well, the corpse had a lively time Monday night when 18,096 fans paid from $10 to $100 in contributing to a record indoor gate of $658,503.

Frazier collected $175,000 and New York, Massachussetts, Maine and Illinois recognition as heavyweight champion while stopping Mathis with one short, jolting left hook to the temple in the 11th round.

The Philadelphia slugger's manager, Yancey Durham, asked about possible lucrative matches with the winner of the Jerry Quarry-Jimmy Ellis World Boxing Association title fight April 27, and with Floyd Patterson, Boone Kirman of Seattle, Wash., Manuel Ramos of Mexico and Argentine Eduardo Corletti.

Benvenuti, back at the top as middleweight champion, may take on Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, Luis Rodriguez of Miami, Fla., or Gypsy Harris of Philadelphia, in his next title fight.

Both managers said they would take their time before signing for the next match.

Durham said he will wait until Quarry of Bellflower, Calif., and Ellis of Louisville, Ky., settle their title fight.

"But they'll have to challenge us," said Durham. "We've got the hot fighter."

He said the unbeaten Frazier, winner of 20 fights including 18 knockouts, would have to get at least equal terms with the winner.

Harry Markson and Teddy Brenner, who head the Garden's boxing team, said they have signed light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger and Bob Foster, the knockout contender from Washington, for a title bout in the Garden, possibly for May 24.

They also said they hope to make a Patterson-Kirkman fight for May 6 and a bout between Griffith and Italy's Sandro Mazzinghi, the former world junior middleweight champion, for either May or June.

Clay was stripped of title recognition by the WBA and New York when the champion refused to enter military service. He is appealing his draft evasion conviction and probably won't be boxing for some time, even though he's recognized as champion in many parts of the world.

Solon Notes Salary Dispute

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard may get a lot of surprises before the 1968 baseball season ends, but none is likely to be more astonishing than seeing his salary dispute with the Washington Senators end up in the Congressional Record.

The big left fielder signed for about $47,500 early this week after a holdout and Tuesday John P. Saylor of Pennsylvania rose on the floor of the House of Representatives to take note of the negotiations "for possible future reference."

Saylor was talking about statements made by George Selkirk, the Senators' general manager.

Selkirk was reported as saying, "It might be pleasant to see someone out there in left who can throw, run and field."

Saylor replied, "In view of management's enviable position whereby a player, bound by the reserve clause, cannot contract with more than one protessional baseball club, it is unfortunate that he should be subjected to insults when he seeks to bargain for a salary raise."

Saylor continued that Howard "may not be worth what he is asking, or even what he has been offered, but whether a ball club's exclusive seigniory carries with it the right to public castigation of its vassals is open to a question of ethics."

The message is not likely to be lost on other general managers, but, in at least one case, it is probably unnecessary. Baltimore Personnel Director Harry Dalton could certainly have little derogatory to say about Frank Robinson's throwing, running or fielding.

Robinson and the Orioles still were some $15,000 apart Tuesday, the 1966 batting champion asking for $125,000.

"We did not up our offer and Frank did not come down," Dalton said. "I repeated I felt we had made a very fair, considerate offer and told him I felt it was time he signed and got to work." Another major holdout, Jim Maloney of Cincinnati, was no closer than Robinson to signing Tuesday. Instead, said the pitcher, he was going home to Fresno, Calif., hinting darkly that he hoped the Reds would trade him.

General Manager Bob Howsam said the next move was up to Maloney. Howsam is also still trying to get his star outfielder, Vada Pinson, to sign a contract.

The Reds did sign two of their holdouts, though, as outfielder Pete Rose and reserve infielder Chico Ruiz agreed to terms.

The Pittsburgh Pirates signed up their last player when Matty Alou arrived in camp from the Dominican Republic where he said he had trouble getting a visa. Pitcher Bob Humphreys also signed with the Senators Tuesday.

Miller, Lewis Pace All-ACC

RALEIGH (AP) — The 1968 All Atlantic Coast Conference basketball team boasts scoring power at every position, a rugged big man and fine floor players.

The All-Star team was announced Tuesday by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association after compiling the votes of 95 of its members.

North Carolina's Larry Miller and Duke's Mike Lewis were unanimous choices of the writers. Not far behind were Charlie Scott of North Carolina, Skip Harlicka of South Carolina, and Eddie Biedenbach of N.C. State. All are seniors except Scott, who is a sophomore.

Miller was the only repeater from last year's All-Star team, but it was the second time Biedenbach had made it. He was named in 1966 but missed all of last season because of a back injury.

The teams, with voting points, height, weight, class and home town:

First Team:

Mike, Lewis, Duke (190), 6-7, 225, senior, Missoula, Mont.

Larry Miller, N.C. (190), 6-4, 210, senior, Catasauqua, Pa.

Charlie Scott, N.C. (166), 6-4, 178, senior, New York, N. Y.

Skip Harlicka, S.C. (159), 6-1, 178, senior, Trenton, N. J.

Eddie Biedenbach, N.C. State (159), 6-2, 175, senior, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Second team:

George Zatezalo, Clemson (102), 5-11, 170, senior, Alliquippa, Pa.

Rusty Clark, N.C. (94), 6-11, 230, junior, Fayetteville, N.C .

Gary Gregor, S. C. (92), 6-7, 215, senior, S. Charleston, W.Va.

Frank Standard, S.C. (49), 6-4, 195, senior, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mike Katos, Virginia (37) 6-4, 195, senior, Lebanon, Pa.

Mike Buck Is Methodist Star

FAYETTEVILLE — Methodist College grappler, Mick Buck of Greenville, won his championship match and contributed to the Monarch's upset victory in the recent Dixie Conference wrestling tournament.

Buck, a 130 lb. freshman, won by a pin in both his first and championship matches.

In its second year of intercollegiate wrestling, Methodist carried a dismal 2-8 record into the tournament but emerged with four of the nine individual titles. The Monarch team was entered in only eight events.

Buck is a 1967 graduate of Rose High School.

Buc Coaches Happy At Finish

East Carolina University's indoor track and wrestling teams have posted their best finishes in Southern Conference history.

The Pirate trackmen finished fourth in the Conference championships and the wrestling team wound up third.

Coach Bill Carson's team scored two individual firsts in the indoor meet at Virginia Military Institute with Dennis Moody throwing the shot 50 feet and 10 inches for the title and Ed Whyte broad jumped 23 feet 3 inches to claim that title.

The mile relay team also turned in a good time of 3:28.4, which like the shot and broad jump efforts, was a school record.

"I am extremely pleased with the progress made during the indoor season and an encouraging note for the outdoor season was the performance of several of our boys," Coach Bill Carson said. "We consider ourselves first division now in track and still looking up."

Besides Whyte and Moody, Carson lauded Jim Cargill, Don Jayroe, and Charles Hudson. Jayroe finished sixth in the mile despite the fact that it was the first time he had been in competition in two months because of an injury.

Coach John Welborn's wrestling team came up with one individual winner and finished with three seconds. The individual winner was sophomore Tim Ellenberger in the 130 pound class.

Howard Metzgar, who was defending champion in the 123 pound class, finished second as did Tom Ellenberger at 115 pounds and Stan Bastian at 152 pounds.

The Pirates collected 51 points in the meet, compared to 15 last year, and the 7-2-1 record was the best ever posted by an East Carolina team.

"We have a young team and lose only one man so I'm looking forward to next season," Coach Welborn said. "We've come up a lot, but I'm still not satisfied. We can do better."

State Could Be Darkhorse As Atlantic Coast Tourney Opens

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Want a darkhorse in the Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournament opening Thursday at the Charlotte Coliseum?

How about North Carolina State?

The Wolfpack rebounded from a 7-19 season a year ago when it finished last in the conference to tie for third this year.

Coach Norman Sloan's team carries a 14-9 record into its opening tourney test against Maryland Thursday afternoon.

The team doesn't have the abundance of outstanding players some of the others in the field possess, but, as Sloan points out, "They have played better than I had hoped. They developed patience, poise and aggressiveness."

State is the only team in the conference to beat formidable South Carolina twice this season.

State scored one of its most notable victories last Saturday at South Carolina over a Gamecock team that has just scored back-to-back road victories over Duke and North Carolina.

State's zone defense kept South Carolina's attack under control, and its overall effort prompted this tribute from Gamecock Coach Frank McGuire:

"They're an extremely aggressive team—very strong and very good. They play the way I'd like to play if I were still playing the game.

"You have to credit State with a fine game, but we didn't play very well either. We didn't get inside their zone and if you don't hit the outside shot you can't beat them when they're playing that well."

The rallying point for State has been the play of backcourt veteran Eddie Biedenbach. He was out last season with a bad back and came back this year to experience more adversity.

A thigh injury early in the season hampered him considerably. Then came a severe case of blisters on his feet. He's played the last two games resembling a man from Mars, peering out from behind a grotesque face mask he's wearing to protect a nose broken in a game against Wake Forest.

Through it all he has led the team with a 14.9 scoring average and some bristling floor play.

Veterans Dick Braucher and Joe Serdich have become 13-point-average players and sophomores Vann Williford and Nelson Isley have come along to play important roles in the team's progress from doormat to contender.

The gangling 6-foot-6 Williford leads the club in rebounding and has the best field goal percentage in the ACC—.578. His two free-throws with three seconds left last Saturday gave State a three-point cushion over South Carolina, enough to offset a last - second uncontested Gamecock field goal.

The winner of the N. C. State-Maryland game will move to Friday's semifinals against the winner of the Duke - Clemson game, which is the second Thursday afternoon game.

Killy May Lose Amateur Status

POUND RIDGE, N.Y. (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy, triple gold medal winner in the recent Winter Olympic Games, has been given until Friday to show cause why he should not be suspended by the International Skiing Federation (FIS).

Killy, a Frenchman who won his gold medals in the Alpine skiing events at the Grenoble Games, denied in Saint Gervais, France, on Tuesday that he had received money for exclusive photos in a Paris magazine.

Bjoern Cjellstroem, chairman of the FIS eligibility committee, said in Pound Ridge that if Killy can prove his claim he will be cleared of any taint on his amateur record.

"FIS has given him until next Friday to show cause why he should not be suspended," Cjellstroem said. "Disqualification would mean loss of his titles. As for his Olympic medals, that would be up to the International Olympic Committee."

Maurice Martel, president of the French Ski Federation, said in Saint Gervais, France, that Killy "informed me that he is sending me a letter officially declaring on his honor that he had never received any money for the exclusivity accorded the magazine Paris-Match."

"I have also contacted executives of Paris-Match who certified to me that the magazine had never paid any sum to Killy," Martel added.

Martel had been asked by Marc Hodler of Switzerland, president of the FIS, to get Killy's version.

"I consider," Martel said, "that after the conversation that I have had with Hodler, Jean-Claude Killy is going to be able to continue to race and should be able to finish his season normally."

This means Killy would be able to race in the events counting for the World Cup, including races in the United States.

To Win Is Big Thing

Ball Night at the Teaneck Armory wasn't as successful as the New Jersey Americans had hoped. It didn't matter too much as the Americans whipped the Indiana Pacers 121-111 and gained ground in the American Basketball Association.

Between 700 and 800 regulation-size ABA red, white and blue basketballs were handed out to those qualified Booster Club members among the crowd of 2,892 at the game in Teaneck, N.J., Tuesday night. A spokesman for the Americans said they had expected to give away 1,000 basketballs.

Levern Tart led the Americans over the Pacers with 39 points. The victory moved the Americans within one game of the Pacers in their battle for third in the Eastern Division. Indiana has a 35-37 record, New Jersey 33-37.

The Americans pulled away in the last period after Stew Johnson's hook shot had put them ahead for good 85-84.

Karate Club Requires A Willingness To Work

By RAY CHARROR

"Hachimae!" With this command two robed figures cross - step toward each other with light - footed ease. Four eyes are transfixed, yet alert. Trained hands and feet move cautiously, protecting. . .distracting. . .preparing.

"Ippon!" With lightening swiftness one of the four feet has accurately kicked up and out to brush the temple of the slower reacting figure.

"Tomare!" Both figures return to their starting places, bow to each other, bow to the judges, then rejoin the other robed figures sitting Buddha-style in a semi - circle on the floor.

Some kind of ballet? No, this is karate. Two members of the school - sponsored East Carolina University Karate Club have been sparring or mock - fighting. "Hachimae" is the Japanese word that begins all sparring matches. "Ippon" indicates that a point has been scored, and "tomare" ends the match.

Gary Wooten of Lenoir, the "sensae," or instructor, and club president, calls two more members to the center of the semi - circle to spar. This time one of the sparrers is a girl. "It's good for a girl to know how to protect herself," says Ramona Odham, a sixth - degree white belt from Grifton.

Arms and legs recoil as hands and feet are fired at the head, solar plexes, and other vital spots on the opponent's body. Two - inch contact is used. This means that punches and kicks, though thrust with full force, are aimed to stop just before, or to lightly brush the target. But can't you get hurt like this? "Of course you can get hurt, just like you can in any other sport," says Bill Bailey, club vice president and a second-degree brown belt from Port Chester, N. Y.

As "tomare" ends this match, the instructor, a second - degree brown belt, calls the club to attention. Standing in their two - piece robes, or "gees," the club members are seen wearing various colored belts.

Belts Show Rank

Belts indicate rank, and the ECU Karate Club, which uses Okinawan style karate, has four different color belts. The colors, which begin with white, then go through green and brown to black, also have a number of degrees within them.

A beginning sixth - degree white who works hard can advance through the ranks to first - degree black in about three years. Advancement, which is determined by periodic tests, "depends upon the individual skill, initiative and attitude of the student member," according to the club's constitution.

Who can join? Anyone can, regardless of sex or athletic ability. Says President Wooten, "We are always looking for new club members, just so they have the right initiative and are willing to work."

With the club at attention, the instructor now directs "katas," which the members need to know for belt advancement. "Katas" are formal series of movements which incorporate various punches and kicks. One such "kata" is called "san - chin."

Says Wooten, "Karate is great exercise." As he leads the club through "san - chin" it is clear what he means. "San - chin" is a tough arm and breathing exercise. Breathing comes from deep within and is very loud, with the exaggerated inhaling and exhaling giving a "hee - haw" sound.

During this "Kata," every muscle in the body is flexed and movement is very slow. The exercise in this particular "kata" is similar to that in isometrics. The difference here is that you can be punched and kicked, when doing it properly, and not feel a thing.

After this strenuous "kata," which spectator Jim Monnes of McLean, Va., says "sounds like a herd of donkeys getting slapped around," the club goes into another aspect of karate — the board - breaking.

The karateist's actual training consists of a prescribed physical fitness program, mental training, learning of terminology, techniques and the courtesies of karate. Board - breaking is an added attraction. "Though a minor part of karate, it sure is a satisfying one," says Wooten.

Hands, Feet Toughened

In the Orient, where karate originated, hands and feet are purposely toughened to break boards, bricks, and almost anything else imaginable. The ECU Karate Club however, uses Board - breaking merely for demonstrations.

Board - breaking is based on the ability to use "focus." This means that at the moment of impact, every muscle in the body is tensed and concentrated, or focussed, on the part of the body which makes contact with the wood.

Does it hurt? "It sure does, if done improperly," says Wooten, "and I have a swollen knuckle to prove it." With this in mind, focussed hands, feet, elbows, knees, and foreheads of ECU karateists begin to snap as many as 12 boards, each board three - fourths of an inch thick.

Besides its weekly Tuesday and Thursday evening meetings, held at 8 p.m. in the old dance room of Memorial Gym, the ECU Karate Club gives occasional demonstrations. During its six years on campus, the club has also taken part in many East Coast karate tournaments and brought home trophies. Plans to attend future tournaments, including the Tar - Heel Open Karate Championships in Asheville April 20, show the club is trying to win still more trophies.

Karate is a combination of physical, psychological and scientific which develops the dedicated student in body, mind and spirit, besides being an effective means of self-defense. In simpler terms, Dan Waterman, a fifth - degree white belt from Raleigh, seems to sum up the feelings of the entire club when he says, "Karate is just great!"

With a formal bow, another meeting of the ECU Karate Club comes to an end.

Rushing To Get Battleship Ready

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —An air hammer pounded viciously at the steel stateroom wall of the battleship USS New Jersey. But her captain just smiled—and tried to ignore the ear-splitting noise.

"I chewed the men out recently about the need of rushing the work," said Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr. of the $27-million reconditioning of the Vietnam-bound battleship. About 2,000 men are working round-the-clock on it at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

"I'm not going to tell them to stop now because it bothers me. I'll just move my office."

The 45,000-ton New Jersey has been in mothballs here for 10 years, sidelined after shelling coastal defenses in the Korean War. By September, if there's no delay in tests and trials, the mammoth ship—three football fields long—will be stationed off the coast of Vietnam blasting the enemy in Southeast asia with nine 16-inch guns that can hurl 2,700-pound projectiles nearly 24 miles.

"We'll do a helluva job," said Snyder, a 43-year-old Annapolis graduate who has already created a new slogan for the New Jersey: "Firepower for Freedom."

"Our sole mission is shore bombardment—nothing else—and we're going to do that damn good."

The New Jersey will have half the normal 2,800-man crew that took it successfully through two wars.

"There are some people who insist we can't run this huge ship with only 1,400 men," said Snyder, a gunnery officer on the now-scrapped battleship Pennsylvania during World War II.

"Well, they're wrong. I say it can be done—and it will be done. We're going to have problems, hundreds of them, maybe thousands. But I don't anticipate anything major.

"We'll just cut out a lot of the old housekeeping chores. We'll use every labor-saving device we can."

Everywhere he's shortcutting and trimming down, except in the big gun department.

"Each man will be trained for one single job," said Snyder, "Whereas with a full crew he'd normally be trained for a primary job and a secondary job. We just won't have the luxury of switching people around."

The New Jersey, last U.S. battlewagon to see action, steams down the Delaware River and out to the Atlantic Ocean for sea trials March 25-27. Commissioning is set for April 6.

"From May to September we'll be at sea," said Snyder, "shooting guns and training, whipping the crew into a real team. And whipping is the right word because it's a real, rough life—and we have so much to do in so short a time."

Two other battleships, the Iowa and Wisconsin, are tied up silently watching the New Jersey come alive from an adjoining pier. Docked at Bremerton, Wash., is the Missouri.

The New Jersey was activated first—"if we show we can be effective again, and not obsolete like out critics claim, another might join us," hints Snyder—because its communications and electronics system, though being overhauled and refitted, were considered more modern.

Thttttttttttttttt

being overhauled and refitted, were considered more modern.

ECU Air Cadet Commissioned

A Forsyth County cadet in the Air Force ROTC at East Carolina University has received a commission as second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force.

Lt. Col. Douglas F. Carty, chairman of the aerospace studies department, administered the oath of office to Frank Frederick Freudig of Winston-Salem.

Freudig is scheduled to enter Lowery Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., March 20 for an intelligence officer course.

He is one of ECU's outstanding AFROTC graduates and is the son of Mrs. Fred Freudig of Hoots Road, Route 8, Winston-Salem.

He is listed in the 1967-'68 issue of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Robert E. Plaister, a farm expert, says brush-eating goats should be put to work to help prevent fires on Southern California's brush-covered hills.

Dr. Boxberger Journal's Editor

Dr. Ruth Boxberger of East Carolina University has been appointed editor of the national Journal of Music Therapy.

Selected by the executive committee of the National Association of Music Therapy (NAMT), she succeeds Dr. William Sears of Indiana University.

DR. RUTH BOXBERGER

Dr. Boxberger is associate professor of music at ECU and chairman of the Department of Music Therapy in the university's School of Music.

She has served NAMT as treasurer and second vice president. She has also served on the association's editorial board and has been associate editor of the yearbook, Music Therapy.

Prior to joining the East Carolina faculty last September, she taught at Ohio University, the University of Kansas and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Thinking of remodeling? Include modern electric heat in your plans.

If you've finally decided to remodel your home, don't forget about the heating system.

Are you redecorating? Remember cleaner, flameless electric heat helps keep all your furnishings newer looking a lot longer.

Adding on? Only an electric heating system can grow as your house does. All you do is install new baseboard units in the new area.

Building a basement playroom? An electric hot water furnace weighs only 90 pounds and takes up less than 3 cubic feet of space. It can be mounted on any wall in the house.

But probably the best reason to install electric heat is to make your remodeled house more comfortable, and more pleasant to live in. And isn't that the reason you wanted to remodel in the first place?

Your VEPCO-authorized Comfort Conditioning Contractor will be glad to give you a free estimate on converting your home. And help you choose the system that's right for your heating needs.

SELF-SERVICE, PRE-PACKAGED MEATS CAN BE A PROBLEM!

You can see the top side of the meat
but not the bottom.
So you wonder.
The steak looks good,
but is the bottom all bone and fat?

It's a problem...
a problem we've given a lot of thought.
We think we have the answer.
We have a policy.
We put the best side down
The side you don't see is guaranteed to be equal to or better than the side you can see.

Simple? as ABC.
Effective? No more gamble.
Fair and square? Sure because "We Care."

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P?
It's one of many.

Army Rejects Marble Shrine; Too Perishable

HONOLULU (AP) — The Army says it will not take ownership of the marble shrine at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific in Punchbowl Crater until structural deficiencies are corrected.

A major problem is 10 battle map murals made by Italian artist Emilio Martelli. They cost about $50,000 and the artist said they were supposed to last "forever and a day."

Installed only about three years ago, the murals are now peeling away from their white marble backing.

The arrangement was that the Army would assume ownership of the memorial after dedication. But as early as February 1967, Gen. Dwight Beach, commander of the U.S. Army in hte Pacific, wrote the American Battle Monuments Commission in Washington to complain about the peeling maps and discolored tablets.

The Monuments Commission owns the memorial itself while the Army owns the cemetery grounds.

The battle map murals and accompanying text are peeling in the Court of Honor. Dozens of tablets in the Courts of the Missing are discolored.

The $3 million memorial, dedicated last year, is a shrine to the unburied dead and missing of World War II and Korea.

Late last year Gen. Beach approved a recommendation that the Army not accept ownership until the commission corrects the problems. The commission, a creation of Congress, sent a representative and he agreed that something should be done. The architectural firm of John Carl Warnecke & Associates has been hired to study the problem.

In Florence, Italy, artist Martelli said the deterioration must be caused by "the bad, humid weather and even the frequent storms in the area." He suggested the maps be repaired and then protected with glass.

Percussionists To Give Concert

WILSON—The East Carolina University Percussion Ensemble will be among the musical groups appearing in the Festival of Contemporary Arts, March 14-28 at Atlantic Christian College here.

Areas to be emphasized include art, photography, drama, music and films.

The East Carolina University Percussion Ensemble, under the direction of Harold A. Jones, will present a concert in Howard Chapel, March 20, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

Guest composers include Ben Johnston, University of Illinois; Alfred Blatter, Marshall University; Kenneth Bliettel, Pennsylvania State University; and John S. Davis, North Carolina Wesleyan College.

Appearing with the East Carolina group will be: The University of Maryland Woodwind Quintet, the McLean Virginia Madrigal Singers, the Atlantic Christian College Brass Quintet and the ACC Vocal Ensemble.

New 'First' For Wright Brothers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — "Orville and Wilbur—the Rights Brothers," are making their debut in cartoon form as part of a Human Relations Council newsletter here in the home town of the famous flying Wright brothers.

"They've taken care of things in the air, and now they're coming down to the ground," said Jack Moss of the council's public relations committee. He said the misspelled names of the famous brothers credited with building the first flyable airplane should add interest to the newsletters.

Young Violinist Finished First

SHELBYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Harold Saunders, who teaches violin, was rehearsing four young fiddlers scheduled to play at a school concert.

During one session, she noticed the little girl violinist stopped before the song was finished.

"Is anything wrong, honey?" asked Mrs. Saunders. The girl shook her head.

"Did you lose your place?" Another shake of the head.

"Why did you stop playing?"

The child looked up with a surprised expression and replied: "Because I got through."

In physics, the melting point is that temperature at which a substance changes from solid to liquid.

Pipe-Smokers' Contest Is Set

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The International Association of Pipe Smokers Clubs Inc. will hold its 20th annual pipe smoking contest and convention in Ann Arbor Aug. 2-3.

The contest winner will be the smoker who can keep his pipe going longest without relighting. Each is given 3.3 grams of tobacco. The International record was set by the late Max Igree of Flint, Mich., who kept his pipe going 125 minutes and 7 seconds in 1954.

The Worry Clinic

The 'Motherly Souls' Don't Stir A Romance

Mabel is a smart wife, for she realizes a platonic husband is dangerous! For he may then easily succumb to the wiles of an outside paramour who is a slick chick with a classy chassis and a neat paint job. Mabel is maternal instead of erotic. But she changed! Read below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-509: Mabel W., aged 42, is worried.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my husband seems to have lost his erotic interest in me.

"In fact, he treats me like a sister!

"But he is only 45, so shouldn't he still be romantic?

Yes, a man should be romantic till he reaches 100, and so should his wife.

Mabel was a jolly brunette with even white teeth and a pretty face.

But she weighed 164 pounds! And was only 5'5" tall.

"How heavy is your husband?" I asked, and she told me he tipped the scales at only 149. Mabel weighed only 124 as a bride.

So I informed her that a man can't feel properly romantic about a woman who is heavier than himself!

Obesity is an erotic tranquilizer!

If a man were blindfolded and then were to put his arms around two women in succession, one of whom weighed 164 whereas the other was only 124, what would he say?

"Mother!" would be his comment to the 164-pounder.

"Hot dog!" he would probably exclaim at hugging the 124-pounder.

Fat wives look like good old motherly souls.

That's why they evoke only respectful, fatherly kisses!

Nor do men offer wolf whistles at female waddling walruses, even in mini skirts!

The average husband prefers to have an affair with his own wife, if she will cooperate.

But that "cooperation" involves not only a receptive mental attitude on the woman's part, but also a reasonable facsimile of her figure on her wedding day!

Even if a fat wife tries to act romantically kittenish, she appears incongrous.

Can you imagine an elephant or a hippopotamus trying to prance around like a gazelle?

So I urged Mabel to shed at least 30 pounds of excess blubber from around her equator.

For when your waistline equals or exceeds your bustline. you women look maternal instead of erotic.

Children will still love you because you create a motherly aura of cookies and other kitchen pastries.

But grown men will not seek you - except at meal time!

So Mabel started on my dehydration diet. And coaxed several of her church women's society members to do likewise.

They had a weighing-in party and then agreed to donate an extra $2.50 per pound to their church for each pound they shed.

On this dehydration menu, you stay on 800 calories per day for women (1,200 for men) but restrict your fluids to help kill your stomach cramps.

The first day, you thus drink a total of only one glass (8 oz.) of all types of fluids (coffee, soup, water, etc.)

On the 2nd day, you are entitled to 2 glasses; then 3 glasses on the third through the 10th days. You'll be down 10 lbs. in 10 days!

Just be sure that about half your food calories are protein foods, since your body does not store protein, though it has plenty of sugar and fat.

Send for my booklet "How to Lose 10 Lbs. in 10 days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. I'll report later on Mabel's success!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The First Grumbling From Third Brigade

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

LANDING ZONE GATOR, Vietnam (AP) — "I've been with the Airborne when water iced up in their canteens. But not a word was said.

"I've been with the Airborne when they've been in the field, came back for two hours and went out again. Not a word.

"I've been with the Airborne when they made a practice jump in Puerto Rico in a 25-knot wind and took 20 per cent casualties. Not a word.

"This is the first time I've heard the Airborne complain," said Capt. Bob Gushwa, of South Bend, Ind., chaplain for the 1st Battalion, 508th Airborne Infantry, 3rd Brigade, 82nd "All American" Division.

What's the Airborne complaining about?

Not so much that the 3rd Brigade has come to war, but that so many of its 4,000 men—about 85 per cent—are going around for the second time. The veterans' unprecedented ordered second tour began last month at Chu Lai and two outlying helicopter landing zones about 330 miles north of Saigon, nicknamed Gator and Fat City.

The 1st Battalion commander, Lt. Col. Archie Carpenter, of Seattle, Wash., said: "The Airborne is strictly a volunteer outfit. It's the job of paratroopers to move fast. That's what we've done. I'm sure many of the men aren't ecstatic about coming back here."

The brigade and a regiment of U.S. Marines are the core of the latest reinforcements sent to Vietnam. They arrived a week after the massive Communist Tet offensive began Jan. 31.

President Johnson saw some of the Airborne units depart from Ft. Bragg, N.C. "He gave us a shot from the glory needle," said one paratrooper.

The returnees feel the one year they already put in Vietnam was enough. Practically to a man they were members of the 101st and 173rd Airborne Brigades that participated in fighting from War Zone "C" to the Central Highlands. Many wear the Purple Heart and there are Silver and Bronze Stars among them, as well.

"I think that if a man comes over here once he should be kept away for good," said Sgt. Dick DiGiovanni, 22, of Norfolk, Va. "Once is enough."

Mostly, the veterans resent having their plans cut short.

"I was all set to be a jump training instructor," said Sgt. Harold Price, 23, of Appalacnia, Va. "I had no idea I was coming back."

"I don't mind coming back, but it's too soon, man," said Spec. 4 Lincoln Walton, 24, Opelika, Ala. He was supposed to be married this week.

"Hell, I just bought a new sports car, and spent $300 on racing tires and magnesium hubcaps." said another returnee, Sgt. Dan Varner, 23, of Rock Hill, S.C.

"Now Varner's going to drive LPC's," said a paratrooper lounging against a bunker. "That stands for leather personnel carriers—boots. Ha ha ha."

The brigade is heavy with sergeants, as many as four and five to a squad. This is a result of a sweeping brigade promotion order intended to boost morale

Though many of the returnees would rather not be here, they go about their work cheerfully as can be expected and few try to do anything about it.

Capt. Gushwa, a returnee himself, estimates that only a half dozen men have complained to him, though the chaplain is a traditional safety valve for disgruntled soldiers.

The Defense Department has announced that it was considering ways of getting the returnees home quickly and resuming the policy of only one mandatory tour in Vietnam. Yet, nothing has been done here.

Col. Carpenter said he would not have a combat-effective battalion if he lost his veterans.

So far the brigade has taken it easy. A three-day jungle refresher course failed to show the veterans anything new. "That could be trouble," said Walton. "Everybody thinks they know everything."

Blaiberg To Leave Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Christiaan Barnard says he plans to discharge Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's only living heart transplant recipient, from the hospital when he returns to South Africa next week.

And when Dr. Blaiberg is sent home, Dr. Barnard says, he plans to perform a third heart transplant "soon—pretty soon."

Dr. Barnard, who performed the first human heart transplant, discussed his plans after reporting on his two transplants to doctors and students at Cornell University Medical College Tuesday night.

Although he has no specific candidate for a third operation. Dr. Barnard said he hopes to do another operation soon "because I think I'll be able to send this patient home pretty soon. I hope to discharge him when I get back."

Dr. Barnard is scheduled to return to Capetown next Wednesday.

At Cornell and at a seminar at Somerville, N.J., earlier Tuesday, Dr. Barnard met headon critics who have said heart transplants are premature.

The critics, including those who would establish commissions to decide on such operations, are "seeing ghosts," he said.

"I don't quite see the reason for all this," Dr. Barnard said. "They are seeing ghosts that are not really there. Perhaps I am too young and enthusiastic to see them."

Firemen Respond To False Alarm

Greenville firemen were called to the intersection of Fifth Street and Roosevelt Avenue about 1:30 a.m. today when Box 155 at that intersection was turned in.

Officers who responded to the call reported the alarm as "false." No fire was found and no one was at the box.

The Greenville city code provides for a $25 reward to be paid to anyone leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone turning in a false alarm.

Safety Council Meets Thursday

The Pitt County Safety Council will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the Greenville Country Club.

Jim Blount, pharmacist at Pitt Memorial Hospital will present the program at the Dutch luncheon meeting.

Persons interested in safety are invited to attend the Safety Council sessions and become members of the county-wide group.

Harvard Dean Says Church Must Look To The Future

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Grandmother sits on the porch, rocking contentedly, her status, accomplished and assured. In contrast, a keen-eped poet scans the changing world, seeking its fuller truth, agonizing over how to declare its grandeur, its possibilities and its hazards.

Those two images, as seen by the new leader of one of the nation's top centers of religious learning, symbolize counterviews of the Christian church—what it has been, and what it needs to become.

"For a long time," says the Rev. Dr. Krister Stendahl, named to be dean of Harvard Divinity School, "people have thought of the church as a kind of bastion of security, like grandmother in her rocking chair, upholding the good old values.

"It could function that way in a stable society, but not in the midst of rapid change. This kind of back-looking church, shielding values of the past, doesn't really ask about the future. And I don't think it can find the will of God for now."

The church, he added in an interview, must take the precarious, exploratory way of the poet, not just providing a safe refuge for static principles, but trying to relate them progressively to utterly new situations.

"We can't just repeat the good old recipes," he said. "Although basic values are sternal as the rocks, how to apply them isn't. It's much trickier than Christians tend to think."

Dr. Stendahl, 46, a lean, 6-foot man with a ramrod straight bearing imposed by an old spine injury, is considered one of America's foremost New Testament scholars, and his popularity with students—in and out of the divinity school — regularly has overpacked his courses.

He takes over as dean at the end of this term, the first Lutheran ever to head the Prestigious religious faculty at Congregationalist-founded Harvard, whose current president, Dr. Nathan Pusey, is an Episcopalian, and whose divinity school has become thoroughly ecumenical.

Its retiring dean, the Rev. Dr. Samuel Miller, is a Baptist.

Swedish-born Dr. Stendahl, a relaxed but systematic man who alternately puffs on a pipe or small cigars, frequently throws this poser at this students: "The question for us in what is God doing now, in our time."

"This is not just a matter of promulgating principles, but of becoming really sensitive to what the will of God is for our situation," he said. "The question is not only what He wants us to do, but trying to figure out what He's doing, what is going on in our period of history."

Opening lead: King of ♣

South, the declarer at four hearts, was obliged to alter his plan of campaign more than once on the deal and, tho the defenders never let up their pressure for a moment he managed to emerge unscathed.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace. East followed with first the seven and then the three in order to show that he had a doubleton.

West continued with the queen of clubs and South cautiously discarded a spade from dummy to avoid an overruff. It was his intention eventually to trump out his losing spade which appeared to be a safer course.

Having apparently located declarer's weak spot, West continued with a fourth round of clubs. East ruffed with the ten of hearts and South was obliged to overruff with the king. The ace of trumps was led next and, when East showed out discarding a second spade, declarer realized that he must abandon his design for ruffing a spade in dummy, inasmuch as it had now become necessary to use North's hearts for the purpose of drawing West's trumps.

A small heart was led and, when West followed with the eight, North covered with the nine as East parted with a diamond. The ace of diamonds was cashed, followed by a diamond ruff. A trump was led to the queen felling West's jack and on this play East—who was left with the Q-J-7 of spades and the K-9 of diamonds—found the pressure unbearable.

If East discarded a diamond, it would enable declarer to establish North's ten of diamonds by ruffing away the king. East chose to throw away a spade; however, South now cashed the ace of spades and led a small one to the king, dropping the queen and ten. His six of spades took the final trick.

State Charges No Fee To See Historic Sites

By Christopher Crittenden
Dept. of Archives and History
Written for The AP

RALEIGH (AP)—Four dimes and two nickels. That's what the man enclosed with his letter.

"While visiting a North Carolina historic site," he wrote, "I had already come out before I knew that there was an admission fee of 50 cents. I have enclosed it with this note."

This was for a North Carolina historic site maintained not by the state but by an unofficial group. The money will be forwarded to them.

The incident emphasizes the fact that no fee is charged at any state historic site except one. The purpose is to make such sites available without charge to all our five million citizens, especially school children.

The state now maintains a total of 13 historic sites, all the way from Ft. Fisher and Brunswick Town in the east to the Zeb Vance birthplace in Buncombe County. Last year Pettigrew, a historic plantation east of Plymouth, was added.

Included are the birthplaces of two governors: Zebulon B. Vance, of Civil War fame, near Asheville, and Charles B. Aycock, our "educational governor" near Goldsboro.

Another is a prehistoric Red Man's religious ceremonial center—Town Creek Indian Mound, near Mount Gilead.

This year near Charlotte there will be dedicated the birthplace of the nation's eleventh President, James K. Polk.

The exception where an admission fee is charged is Historic Bath. Here period - costumed hostesses serve as guides to the buildings, and it is necessary to pay for this service.

Various other groups likewise find it necessary to make a charge. Tryon Palace needs admission proceeds in order to pay heavy maintenance costs, especially the hostesses.

The Cornwallis Headquarters house in Wilmington also makes a charge, as does the Carson house near Morganton.

But as much as possible our state historic sites are maintained without an admission charge—for all the people.

That the public appreciates these sites is proved by a visitation of 387,878 in 1967.

Name Center For American Tenor

ASHKELON, Israel (AP) — A Richard Tucker Music Center will be built here, as a permanent part of the Kfar Silver Complex.

Proceeds of a recent Zionist Organization of America dinner honoring the American tenor, Tucker, will be used toward the erection of the new music center. It will consist of an auditorium for concerts, a music library, a recording room and a number of studio classrooms.

The new music center will adjoin the agricultural school of Kfar Silver, named for the late American rabbi, Abba Hillel Silver.

Ashkelon is in the southern part of Israel, on the road between the port city of Ashdod and Beersheba.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog market was steady today, with instances of 25 cents lower. Tops of 18.75-19.25 Rocky Mount; 18.50-19.25 Wilson; 18.25-18.75 Hickory; 17.75-18.75 Bethel, Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove, Albertson, Lumberton; 19.00 Salisbury, Rich Square; 18.75 Greensboro, Selma; 18.00 Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to one cent lower Tuesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 37 to 38; medium whites 33 to 35; small whites 30½ to 33.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was substantially higher early this afternoon as a vigorous technical rally expanded gains.

Trading was active, about on a par with Tuesday's 11-million-share session.

Gains outnumbered losses by well over 4 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 7.40 at 834.43.

Analysts saw it as mainly a technical rally, since there was no special news to change Wall Street's basic psychology.

Prices advanced from the start, taking off from the flurry of recovery that marked the closing minutes of Tuesday when short covering boosted a number of volatile issues.

Computer, conglomerate and other growth stocks, many of them high-priced, fast moving issues which have been battered down in the recent decline, were prominent on the rebound.

Gold mining stocks continued to sink under profit taking.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.0 at 303.1 with industrials up 3.2, rails up 1.4 and utilities up .5.

Among the very active stocks Control Data and Scientific Data spurted about 4 points each; Republic Corp., Fairchild Camera and Royal Dutch about 2; Chrysler, Amphenol and Teledyne more than a point each.

Itek dropped about 2 points as earning results disappointed holders of this growth stock.

Williamston Board Orders Streets, Drainage Study

WILLIAMSTON —Williamston town board members Monday night instructed their Water and Street Committee to study street and drainage problems in the Little Street community section of the town and make recommendations as to possible solutions.

The board's action came after residents of the area reported that streets were in need of improvement and ditches in the area were not draining, causing water to back up and become stagnant.

The commissioners tabled action on an informal proposition to make the Williamston Fire Department the central reporting station for fires in Martin County.

Martin County Rural Fire Departments asked County Commissioners Monday to consider establishing a county-wide fire alarm system and set up a central point in the county where all fires could be reported.

No action was taken on a request from North Carolina Natural Gas Co. to extend the December, 1968 deadline for installation of gas lines in the city

In a letter to the board, NCNG said they would not be able to install gas lines before the deadline.

The town board last year granted the gas firm a 20 year franchise to supply natural gas to the town.

Commissioners agreed to hald a public hearing on the rezoning of a section of Liberty Street, near Martin General Hospital, from residential to neighborhood business.

The change in the zoning was recommended to the board by the Williamston Planning Board.

Wins Acquittal In Assault Case

HALIFAX, N.C. (AP) — Recorder's Court Judge J. T. Maddrey has acquitted a Halifax County merchant of a charge of assaulting a Charlotte Observer photographer.

B.F. Johnson, 62, was charged with assaulting Donald A. Sturkey, 36, chief photographer for the newspaper, with a pistol.

Sturkey testified he and Hank Daniel, 32, another Observer staff photographer, went to Johnson's trailer court to photograph Alfred Paladino of New York, who dived part time in Halifax County and operates a mail order cigarette business.

Sturkey said the two had taken a couple of pictures and were leaving when Johnson and two other men approached, told them they were trespassing and cursed them. He said Johnson drew a pistol and beat him, while one of the other men beat Daniel.

Court officials said no charge were brought against the other two men, including the one who struck Daniel, because they could not be identified.

Judge Maddrey, in his verdict in the Johnson case, said he also had doubts "about the the identification of Johnson" in the incidient.

Pitt Students In Talent Show

GREENSBORO—Two Pitt County students will participate in the talent show entitled "An Evening at the Stagger-In" to be presented by the freshman class at the University of North Carolina here March 7 at 8 p.m. in the Aycock Auditorium.

The two are: Judy Jackson of Robersonville and Nancy Ramsey of Greenville, who is also student co-ordinator for the show.

Seventeen different acts, including dramatic dialogues, acrobatic dancing, folk songs and a ghost story, will be presented by members of the UNC-G. freshman class.

REVIVAL TO BEGIN

Revival services will begin Thursday night at the Good Sheppard Church.

Services will begin at 7:30 nightly.

Enrolling Children At ECU Nursery School

Enrollment of children for the 1968-69 term of the Nursery School operated by the East Carolina University School of Home Economics, has begun and will continue through April 1.

Dr. Josephine A. Foster, chairman of the Department of Child Development and Family Relations, has advised interested parents to apply promptly because the enrollment is limited to 22.

The children will be divided in two groups, one group composed of children who will have passed their fourth but not fifth birthday, and the other composed of children who will have passed their third but not fourth birthday by Oct. 15.

Twelve children will comprise the four - year - old group, while 10 children will make up the three - year - old group. The children are expected to be enrolled for one year and regular attendance is expected.

Tuition is $55 per quarter, lunch included, for the four-year - old group and $36 per quarter, no lunch served, for the three - year -old group.

Application forms for the Nursery School may be obtained between now and April 1 by writing or phoning the home economics office, 748-3426, Extension 243. Completed forms should be returned to Dr. Josephine Foster, East Carolina University, P. O. Box 2743, Greenville, by April 15.

Meeting Dates For Craft Class

The adult craft class will meet March 12 and March 19 at the Elm Street recreation center at two time periods, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Classes on these dates will feature antiqued wall plaques and plaques with the new oil painted look, recreation dircetor Alton Little said.

Persons interested should bring their own prints and should call the recreation department no later than Monday noon to give the size of boards that will be needed for their plaques, Little noted.

RISKY BUSINESS

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — The theft of a wall clock was reported from the wall of Laramie City Court one door away from the city police desk.

Set Registration Of New Pupils At Sally Branch

Registration will be held at Sally Branch Elementary School Wednesday, March 20, at 1 p.m. for children entering school in the fall.

The parents of pre-school children will meet in the school cafeteria to receive information and materials concerning school policies. The children do not have to be present.

Children who will be six on or before October 16 will be eligible to begin school in September. The children will have an orientation day on March 29, when they may ride the bus to and from school.

The PTA meeting of Sally Branch will be held March 14 at 7 p.m.

A parent-teacher basketball game is scheduled for March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Burton And Liz Plan To Retire

LONDON (AP) — A London newsman quotes Richard Burton as saying he and Elizabeth Taylor will adopt a baby within a year because the actress runs a high risk of death in childbirth.

Burton also told writer Fergus Cashin of the London Daily Sketch Tuesday that he and Miss Taylor would retire from acting within the next two years:

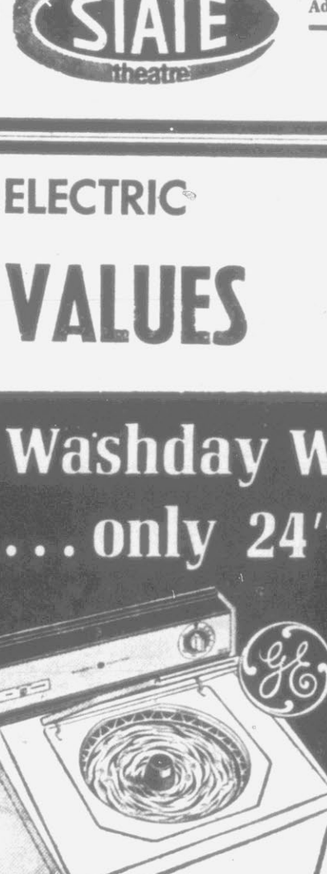

"My interest in the cinema is moving from acting to production. We have our own company and both Elizabeth and myself will retire from acting within the next two years.

"When I retire I will concentrate on writing. Let's face it, I have not been a dedicated actor. It is all bloody marvelous luck."

THE PENNEY STORY

Where do top executives shop for their suits?

By ROBERTA NASH

"Finance" magazine wondered about this and more. It sent a questionnaire to subscribers. Here are some of the things learned:

Median salary was $30,000. (Lowest was $8,500; highest was $500,000!) 94% were vice-presidents or above.

As to suit labels: the 4 names mentioned most included 2 national brands, 2 stores. One store was Brooks Bros. The other? J. C. Penney.

Surprised? I was—'til I realized these successful executives base decisions on value. Why expect their shrewdness to stop at the office?

Men's Towncraft® fashion duos are cool never-iron* wonders!

These handsome sport duos stay as neat as the day you buy them! In a tropical weight blend of Dacron® polyester and rayon, these Towncraft fashion duos are totally Penn-Prest. You really can machine wash and tumble dry them, then put them right back on! You'll be amazed at their 'just-pressed' smoothness, with no ironing! Look at the styling, the natural shoulder plaid jackets, the trim solid color slacks. Look at the Towncraft easy-fit tailoring for warm-weather comfort. Look again at the price — think of the money you'll save on cleaning bills. Such a choice of blue or brown plaids you'll want several. Charge yours now!

THE PENNEY STORY

The only thing that we really sell...

By ROBERTA NASH

"The only thing we really sell is satisfaction," a store manager told me recently.

We do everything humanly possible to make sure you'll be satisfied with the things you buy at Penney's. Yet, once in a blue moon, something happens and you're not satisfied. What should you do?

Please bring it back to Penney's so we can make you satisfied. Please? It's much more important to us than it is to you.

We have such wonderful plans for our future, and they all depend on keeping you satisfied.

FREE PUNCTURE REPAIR FOR LIFE OF TREAD!

36 MONTH GUARANTEE WITH 18 MO. FREE REPLACEMENT

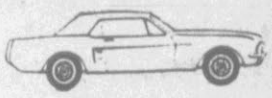

PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Every Foremost tire is guaranteed against defects in material and workmanship and road hazards for the number of months stated. This guarantee covers all tire injuries with the exception of ordinary repairable punctures. If the tire fails, return it and Penney's will, at our option, 1) repair it free of charge or 2) replace it with a new tire, or give you a refund, charging an amount based on the guaranteed months and the current exchange price including Federal Excise Tax at the time of return. This guarantee is reduced to 50% stated time period for passenger tires used commercially and is void where passenger tires are used on trucks.

Here's How It Works:

Length of Guarantee	36 mos.
Free Replacement	18 mos.
50% Replacement Charge	19-27 mos.
75% Replacement Charge	28-36 mos.

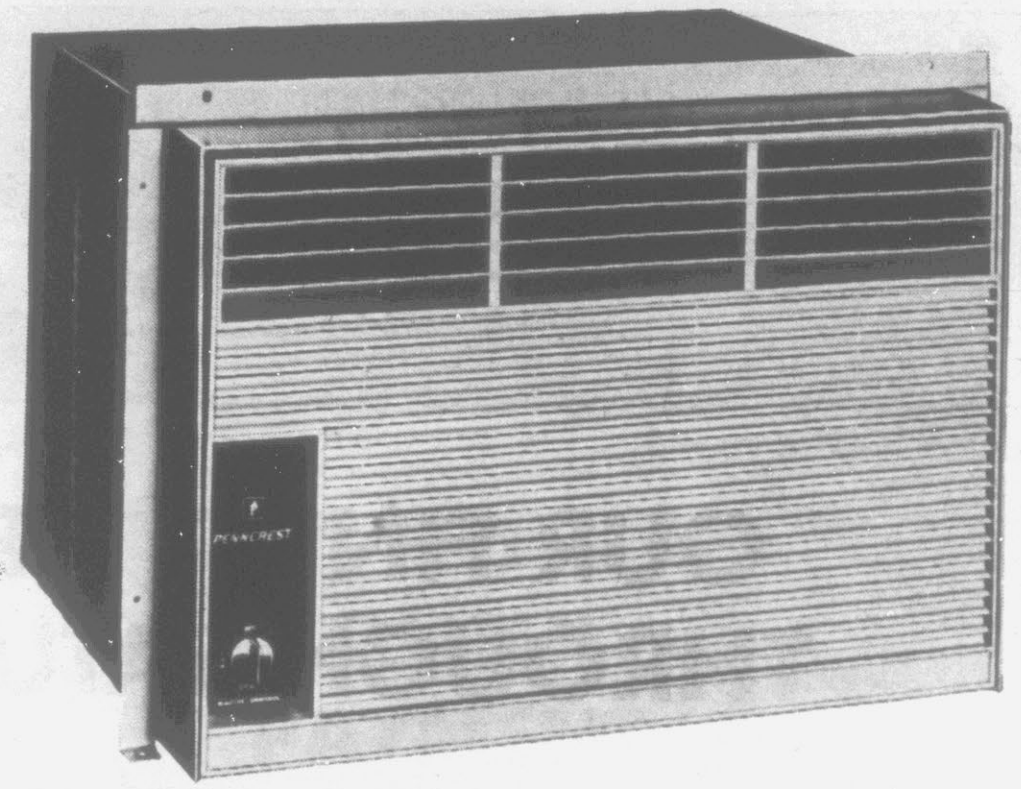

*Penney's Foremost® tires in order of quality (with our best listed first) are called Premium, Custom, BRW, Mileagemaker and Reliant. These names are our own and do not reflect any nationwide standard of quality.
