

Administration Sources Claim 'Ultimatum'

Kennedy Proposal Heats Up Feud With Pres. Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Johnson administration have exchanged politically explosive charges over the New Yorker's proposal to stay out of the presidential race if U.S. policy in Vietnam were revised.

tered the race for the Democratic presidential nomination on Saturday: "This incident reveals in the sharpest possible terms why the American people no longer believe the President and the White House; why the credibility of our political leadership has been so critically eroded and why it is clear that the only way we are going to change our policy in Vietnam is to change administrations in Washington."

the proposal, the source said, on grounds it smacked of a political deal, cast doubt on his Vietnam policies, might encourage North Vietnam to think U.S. resolve was weakening and furthermore represented an attempt to usurp presidential authority.

entitled to the facts." Kennedy said Johnson had first appeared interested in the proposal but later rejected it, in part—said the senator—because he didn't want Kennedy on the commission.

Urges All-Out Effort In Vietnam To Win The Peace

President Calls On Americans To Finish Job

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—President Johnson called on the American people today for "a program of national austerity" and an all-out effort to win the Vietnam war, win the peace and "complete the job at home."

Johnson announced what reliable sources reported Saturday—that he is working with Congress to make major budget cuts in an effort to gain enactment of a 10 per cent income tax increase.

With the dollar under new assault in international money markets, Johnson also promised an intensified program to curb nonessential travel outside the hemisphere and to reduce business spending and investment in Western Europe.

In Vietnam." He said: "We seek not the victory of conquest, but the triumph of justice. We will win."

U.S. Officials 'Radiate' Confidence

Two-Level Gold Pricing System Invoked By Governments In Pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-level gold pricing system took effect today as the gold pool governments halted the flow of metal from their treasuries into the fevered speculative markets.

U.S. officials radiated confidence that the frenzied speculative attacks on the dollar would die away. Most Congressmen were pleased and relieved.

The Treasury will continue to issue licenses to legitimate users, however, and the holders can buy on the free market here or overseas.

Faculty Wives Fashion Show Set For Friday

The return of the feminine look will be seen on Friday night at a fashion show and bridge benefit sponsored by the Faculty Wives Club of East Carolina University.

Dirndl skirts, ruffled blouses, lacy jabots, and belted waistlines will be the trademarks of the feminine look to be seen. Blouses will feature the tapered look, button detailing, long pointed collars, and embroidery in profusion. Dresses will resemble blouses with long sleeves and frilly collars and fronts. The simple A-line dress, always a crowd pleaser, will be shown in soft pastels. Another favorite is the jewel-necked short-sleeved skimmer. The trend in shoes will be patent and mostly wild in colors.

Models for the fashion show are: Mrs. C. Q. Brown; Mrs. James Smith; Mrs. Douglas Carty; Mrs. Kenneth Davis; Mrs. Ramon Hedges; Mrs. Henry Vansant; Mrs. Henry Howard; Mrs. Scott Garrow; Mrs. T. J. Haigwood; Mrs. Joseph Clark; Mrs. Douglas Jones; and Mrs. Allen Sharpe.

Mrs. David Middleton is the chairman of the fashion show and will be the narrator for the fashions. Assisting the chairman is Mrs. Ramon Hedges.

The North Dining Hall of East

Carolina University will be the locale for the fashion show and will be transformed into a location of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow." In that place anything can grow and will be doing so on each bridge table. Centerpieces will all be handmade, with whimsical flowers sprouting from matching pastels. Handmade tallies for each table will match the flower at that table.

Spanning the stage will be a rainbow under which all of the models will promenade. The back of the stage will be banked in greenery and big capricious pastel flowers. In pastel trees, flowers will be in bloom, and the bluebirds who fly over the rainbow will stop to perch for awhile.

Refreshments will be served before the fashion show by a committee of faculty wives with the assistance of the chairman, Mrs. George Knit, and co-chairman, Mrs. Paul Aliapoulos.

Reservations to attend the benefit may be made by calling either Mrs. Donald E. Bailey, Mrs. Gilbert Ragland, or Mrs. Takeru Ito.

Alpha Nu Chapter Hears Speaker

Tom Boring spoke on the Sheltered Workshop at the meeting of Alpha Nu held Thursday night at the Holiday Inn.

The workshop's aim is to help the clients adjust personally, socially and spiritually. They are also taught skills said Boring.

The workshop opened Nov. 1, 1967, and people entering must be at least 16-years-old. Boring said that some work was being done by clients outside the workshop and some work is done inside the workshop.

He further added that items needed by the workshop include sheets, pillow cases and pillows. Alpha Nu contributed to the workshop.

The devotional for the evening was given by Mrs. Jeanette Clapp.

Mrs. Thelma Switzer, president, reminded members to bring clothing to the next meeting to be sent to Cherry Hospital.

Happily Married Man Speaks Out On Wive's Appearance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That guy who said his "eye had begun to rove" because his wife made breakfast every morning for him in her nightgown, barefoot, with her hair uncombed, had better find a better excuse.

My wife has been getting my breakfast in her nightgown with her hair uncombed for 20 years, and to me she's beautiful.

I know lots of husbands who fix instant coffee and grab a store bought donut and call it breakfast because their wives are too lazy to get out of bed.

My doll prepares a breakfast for me that's fit for a king. It's either fresh juice, French toast and maple sirup, or pancakes and sausages, or eggs and bacon and home-made biscuits. And plenty of REAL coffee.

So she doesn't comb her hair? Who needs Elizabeth Taylor at 6:30 in the morning?

LOUIE IN FLATBUSH
DEAR LOUIE: Richard Burton, maybe?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to answer that husband whose big complaint was a wife who got up every morning and fixed his breakfast in her nightie with her hair uncombed:

If a woman can't be herself in the privacy of her own home at 6 o'clock in the morning, when can she?

And do YOU get showered and shaved and all dressed up on YOUR day off to have breakfast with your wife? Or do you eat in your pajamas with your hair not so snazzy?

HAPPY HUSBAND: HASTINGS NEE.

DEAR ABBY: I am torn between my duty as a wife and my duty as a mother. I am 59 and my husband is 63. I recently received a letter from my daughter who lives 1,800 miles from here. She said she was leaving her husband after 14 years of marriage and she wanted me to come at once to stay with her kids and run her household so she can go back to work.

I don't think it's fair to leave my husband alone, but I hate to turn my daughter down. She didn't say for how long she wanted me to stay, but she has always been a very selfish girl, and I know once she gets me there I will have a terrible time getting away. Please help me.

TORN
DEAR TORN: Write to your daughter and tell her that if she plans to go back to work she had better make permanent arrangements right now for running her household because your place is with your husband, and that's where you intend to stay.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell your friend Amy Vanderbilt to include a line or two about elevator etiquette in her next book.

I become so provoked when I wish to get out of a crowded elevator, and several "gentlemen" in front of me stand rooted to the floor, refusing to get out of the elevator ahead of ladies who are in the rear, struggling to get out. Someone should tell those stupid men to just get out of the elevator and ease the congestion.

And while I'm on the subject, please add that it is not necessary for a gentleman to remove his hat for a lady in an elevator. I caught an elbow in the eye the other day when some gallant "gentleman" reached for his hat.

Annual Spring Ball Held Friday

The Greenville Junior Cotillion held its annual spring ball Friday night at the Moose Lodge. Members of the cotillion vote each year for the best all-round girl and boy in the group. They are then crowned queen and king to reign at both balls the following year. This year's winners were Debbie Webb and Steve Bostic.

Runners-up were Betsy Gidley and Barbara Dale for queen and for king, Harding Sugg and Gary Warren.

The outgoing king and queen, Johnny Conway and Pat Cavendish, presented Miss Webb with a tiara and an arm bouquet of American beauty roses and Bostic with a red rose boutonniere. Runners-up were presented white orchid corsages and carnation boutonnieres.

Music for dancing was presented by the Jokers Seven. Mrs. N. O. Van Nortwick Jr., director, was assisted by Miss Annie Cobb and chaperones in greeting guests.

In the foyer was a huge basket of mixed spring flowers. The front of the stage in the ballroom was covered with pleated panels of deep pink crepe paper. Across the front edge were 15 storm candles. Each candle was linked with pink satin ribbon and a spray of pink carnations and ivy.

The double refreshment tables were covered with a qu a cloths. The centerpiece was a may pole made with pastel satin ribbons topped with a fresh nosegay of pink carnations, roses and snapdragons. Three branched silver candelabra holding aqua candles were used on each side.

AN AREA RUG

Interior designers have rediscovered the beauty, decorating advantages and fun of putting a rug on the carpet. Popular in grandmother's era, this delightful aid to decorating went into disuse for awhile. What better way to brighten a corner, create a conversational area, protect a heavily travelled spot, or simply add a dash or pattern and color than to make the most of the wonderful area rugs available today. You will still be enjoying the comfort and decorating benefits of wall-to-wall carpeting.

Before adding an area rug to your room, let us install beautiful new wall to wall carpet for all the luxury and beauty you want. Tommie Willis Interiors, 425 Greenville Blvd., Greenville. 756-1336.

Garden Club Program Given By Mrs. Cannon

Mrs. Preston Cannon presented a program on "Garden Soil and Its Management" at the meeting of the Greenville Garden Club held Friday afternoon at her home.

"There are many things to know about soils and of course, good gardening depends on good soil. First, know what's wrong with your soil. It could be top soil or it could be poor drainage," she said.

She gave examples of soil to be used for various flowers and plants and what to add to the soil.

Mrs. John Carrington, president, presided at the business session. Mrs. J. W. J. Roberts, ways and means chairman, told of plans for a desert bridge project to be held at the Woman's Club building on April 4 at 1:30 p.m. For reservations, contact Mrs. Roberts or Mrs. D. L. Harrell. Exhibit chairman Mrs. R. V. Keel showed three pine cone wreaths. Mrs. Pauline Whitehurst exhibited two baskets made with hardware cloth trimmed in velvet ribbon. One ribbon contained pink roses and colored Easter eggs and the other held velvet fruit.

Mrs. Paul Davenport read a letter from C. D. Ward thanking the club for planting pines and magnolias at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

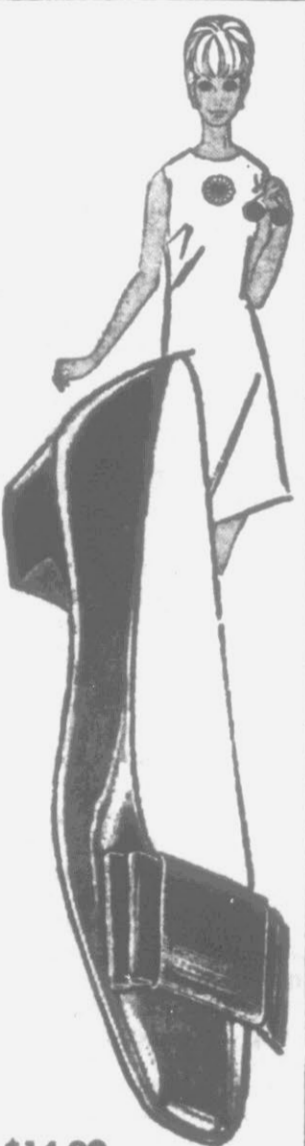

A workshop on flower arranging will be held in April. Preceding the meeting, refreshments were served. The table was covered with a linen cutwork cloth centered with an arrangement of jonquils, and camellias.

Hostesses were Mrs. Cannon, Mrs. K. R. Rowe, Mrs. J. E. Ricks, Mrs. R. V. Keel and Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth.

Miss Baldree Entertained

AYDEN—Miss Becky Baldree was honored on her 15th birthday at a party held at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Baldree, Saturday night.

Approximately 15 guests were present for the event.

Moving To Meet Traffic Problem

It is good to learn that bids will be received next month on the four-laning of Greenville Boulevard from Memorial Drive to Elm Street. This much needed project will help alleviate what is already becoming a major traffic problem. It is also clear that as the areas on each side of Greenville Boulevard build up, traffic problems will become even more acute.

The thoroughfare will also serve to bring traffic into the Ficklen Stadium-Minges Coliseum area. Access to this area is going to become more and more important as time goes on. It is likely that the Memorial Drive-Greenville Boulevard route will develop as an intra-city four lane thoroughfare in future years. It is already apparent that eventually the Highway Commission is going to have to plan another limited access bypass beltline to carry high speed traffic around Greenville. Until this is done, the heavy load of traffic coming through Greenville will be channeled on Memorial Drive and Greenville Boulevard and this latest four laning project can only help the situation.

There will, of course, be much inconvenience to motorists while the road construction is underway and this will call for care by drivers who use the route every day. The inconvenience will be well worth the ultimate benefits, however, and we are happy to see the project got underway.

Education Sees Political Role

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Requests for public education enrichment and improvement have come to play a role of increasing importance in statewide political campaigns in North Carolina, and no candidate for governor overlooks them.

Endorsement of a particular candidate isn't necessary nor required and it is now omitted.

The fact is that both principals in the Democratic primary — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott and J. Melville Broughton Jr. — have come close to endorsing the UFE's 1969-71 goals. There is no real choice and as yet UFE does not attempt to make one.

Three Points Program UFE decided to break with tradition this year. In the past UFE has presented a program with as many as 12 points for educational enrichment. This time, it came out with a simple three-points legislative program calling for increased teacher salaries, summer enrichment programs and allotment of additional personnel in the public school field. Overall, the three points program would cost approximately $200 million per biennium.

At present, each gubernatorial candidate is attempting to come to grips with the UFE proposals. Whether or not they can be met, they are nonetheless very important politically.

Visit Campuses Groups of state legislators are visiting campuses of newly created region 1 universities at Greenville, Boone and Cullowhee.

Pointedly, perhaps, the campus of A&T university in Greensboro is being omitted. The Greensboro campus, predominantly Negro, was added to the regional universities bill almost as an afterthought but at the insistence of Guilford legislators. Many observers felt the amendment was actually an attempt to defeat the regional universities bill. The inclusion of A&T was opposed on grounds that this institution was in the same city as another campus of the consolidated university — UNC-Greensboro. This in itself presented a problem because UNC-G was formerly Woman's College and was the last of the UNC branches that state legislators were willing to see integrated.

Several sessions of the legislature were required before it was agreed to admit male students at Greensboro. UNC-G is still regarded as primarily a woman's school.

Visit Boone At Boone, groups of 40 or more legislators and former members of the General Assembly met with ASU officials, trustees and others for "A first hand view" of construction projects.

Not Choosing This time the United Forces (UFE) will not choose nor endorse a candidate for governor.

They do not need to. A lesson has been learned. Political candidates in North Carolina will attach priority to educational enrichment and goals and these automatically become politically expedient.

On The Right Track To Encourage Tourists

North Carolina has awarded contracts for construction of welcome centers on Interstate highways 85 and 95 near the Virginia line.

The 2,800 square feet of floor space in each center will be used mostly for a reception area where the visitor entering the state can find travel literature, weather information and other facts.

The centers will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily year round, with even longer hours during peak travel months.

North Carolina is on the right track in constructing travel centers which will cater to the tourists entering our state.

With our mountains to the west and the long unique coastline to the east, this state has a tourist potential which few can match.

It is such moves as this that will develop tourism in North Carolina.

Poll Is Awaited By Rockefeller

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A secret poll to be taken by the Ohio Republican party early in June just after the May 28 Oregon Presidential primary may turn out to be Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's best hope for the Republican Presidential nomination.

If Rockefeller runs markedly better than Nixon in that survey, it likely will give him most of Ohio's 58 delegates and perhaps irreversible momentum for his Presidential hopes. Indeed, Ohio, traditional bastion of Republican conservatism, is ironically the main reason why the nomination cannot quite be wrapped up yet for Richard M. Nixon.

Flamboyant Gov. James A. Rhodes, Ohio's all-time champion vote-getter, and John Andrews, the party's bright young state chairman, are determined to nominate a maverick this time. And neither they nor other Ohio leaders were convinced by Nixon's uncontested sweep in New Hampshire that he is that winner.

Rather, they are inclined to Rockefeller while keeping resolutely uncommitted (with Rhodes declining an invitation to Rockefeller's March 10 summit meeting in New York) until at least July.

Moreover, their pro-Rockefeller inclinations are backed up by polls. Contrary to the cliché that this Midwestern heartland is Nixon country, the most recent survey by the state party shows both Rockefeller and Nixon edging President Johnson with Rockefeller running slightly stronger.

But party leaders here are interested in more than just beating Mr. Johnson. They want somebody atop the ticket to pull in state and local candidates. And, again contrary to cliché, the most recent poll shows lesser candidates in Ohio running up to 5 percentage points better with Rockefeller on the ticket than with Nixon. Consequently, Ohio's traditional role at national party conventions as guardian of Republican orthodoxy is being transformed to champion of political pragmatism — a change understandable only against the backdrop of the last four years.

In 1964, Rhodes was a state party leader in name only. Some 47 of the state's 58 delegates were committed in advance to Barry Goldwater no matter what Jim Rhodes had to say about it. Bowing to the inevitable, Rhodes backed Goldwater at San Francisco. The dismal result in November was Goldwater carrying only five of Ohio's 88 counties and scores of Republican candidates perishing in his wake.

The party bounced back in 1966 behind Rhodes' landslide reelection victory and immediately began working against a recurrence even faintly reminiscent of 1964.

The first step was guarding against another infiltration of the delegation in behalf of one candidate. State chairman Andrews, fully backed by Rhodes, permitted only delegates not opposed in advance to any single candidate for President — automatically excluding confirmed Rockefeller-haters. The remarkable result is that of 58 regular party delegates only 17 were on the 1964 delegation (and more than half of those are statewide at-large delegates picked because of their office).

The main challenger to the Rhodes-Andrew doctrine is Rep. John Ashbrook, a young doctrinaire conservative and loner in Ohio politics who is opposing the two regular party delegates from his district in the May 7 primary. Despite opposition from Andrews's state committee, Ashbrook is expected to win and go to Miami Beach pledged in advance against Rockefeller.

The Heart Of The Issue

WASHINGTON — There is now a lively debate going on in medical circles concerning the moral aspects of heart transplants. Since there will be a shortage of donors and a large demand for hearts in the future, great decisions will have to be made as to who will be entitled to a new heart.

Among those working on the problem is my good friend, Dr. Heinrich Applebaum. The doctor told me: "I think what will be needed is an International Heart Transplant Authority that will have the final decision on all heart questions."

"Where would you locate the authority?" I asked. "Hartford, Conn.," he replied.

"But that's not spelled the same way," I said.

"Nobody would have to know that," he replied. "What would the IHTA do?" I asked him.

"The authority would have to decide many heart-rending questions. For example, if you had a world leader who was a hard-hearted person, would you give him a soft heart in hopes he would change his thinking, or would you find a warm-hearted person to replace him?" "I have heard it said that there are some world leaders can they get by?" I inquired. "Who have no heart. How can they get by?" I inquired. "Everyone has a heart," Applebaum said. "Some people have hearts of stone, others have hearts of steel, and still others have heavy hearts, but we in the medical profession refuse to believe that anyone is completely without heart."

The psychiatrist says the youngsters simply use the language of their generation. The GI who decorates his helmet with "Keep California green, legalize grass," is no more likely to smoke marijuana than anyone else, the young doctor from Springfield, Pa., believes. It is his method of identifying with his generation.

The doctor advances one serious reason why the combat GI decorates his helmet and flak vest. He has a "magical attachment" to these items since they may save his life. He wants them to be readily identifiable as his.

As psychiatric tools, however, the doctor doesn't see much significance in the GI graffiti. "In Vietnam," the doctor says professionally, "this is a socially acceptable mode of expression."

"What do you mean?" I asked. "Well, I believe that the poets and song writers have given the heart many roles it is not entitled to. For example, how many times have you heard that one person broke another person's heart? Now, this is not medically possible. There is a song with the lyrics 'You took my heart and threw it away.' This is possible, but it's also wasteful, particularly when we are so short of hearts."

"What about the song 'My Heart Cries for You?' Can a heart cry for somebody?" "If something is heart-rending enough it probably can. But the International Heart Transplant Authority (Continued On Page 5)

Other Editors Saying Living Like Brothers

(Christian Science Monitor)

The House of Representatives should now follow the Senate's example and pass a civil-rights bill which includes an open housing provision. In passing its bill, which strikes at racial barriers in some 80 percent of the nation's housing, the Senate listened to the demand and the need of the times. The House should do likewise.

It is now unarguable that there will be no true, lasting answer to racial problems in the United States so long as millions of Negroes — either through poverty or discrimination — cannot find better housing. A freer choice of housing will not, of course, alone work wonders. Much else remains to be done on everybody's part. But the ability to buy or occupy better housing on the basis of one's capacity to pay will relieve one of the pressures on the nonwhite population and will give it a greater sense of belonging and of being wanted. And it is in this sense, which is an essence of brotherhood, which will make perhaps the greatest contribution to resolving racial tensions.

Not even the most sanguine observer predicts or believes that open housing provisions, whether federal or local, will early change the housing pattern in the United States. It has long been pointed out that housing in suburban areas will become available only as the nonwhite population improves its economic position. As of now, there is only a tiny proportion of that population which could easily move from urban concentrations to the greater pleasantness of suburban living.

But it is crucially important that the Negro, as an American citizen and a human being, feel that he has the right to go where his pocketbook and his choice take him. Today this right has become a conscious touchstone of full acceptance into the opportunities and obligations of American society. This right is coming, however, slowly, in both schooling and work opportunity. It must also come in housing.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
IMPORTANCE OF ORATORY

The orator has had profound effect on the acts of men through the ages, yet oratory is almost a lost art today. Our lives are given over to TV commercials, to moving picture scripts, to endless columns written by alleged authorities and placed at our disposal in the daily paper.

But how about the individual who from ancient times has stirred the multitude? Think of the prophets of Israel who in spite of the fact that they were often rebuked nevertheless have a profound effect upon the life of their hearers whether these hearers agreed or disagreed with the message.

Daniel Webster spoke for some hours in his reply to Hayne. Abraham Lincoln in a few words spoken at Gettysburg set a standard for oratorical excellence that has probably never been surpassed. Many of us heard Woodrow Wilson in the days of his power, and the excellency of his speech was something never to be forgotten.

It is a wonderful thing that the utterances of world leaders can be brought into our homes day after day by radio and television, but one would have to look a long time to find a real orator in political or church life today. Mars Hill and the association it had with the career of St. Paul remain a solid historical fact that has had its effect on human thought and behavior.

Let us try to do something to revive the ancient art of oratory. There are latent orators round about us, some perhaps in our homes.

Oratory is a factor of real value in human life, and we should strive to make it work.

Steadily Rising Prices In 1968

By ELMER ROESSNER
The drum fire of price rises will continue through the year. It will get faster as the year goes on.

There will be a new spiral of prices to meet the higher wage settlements certain to come from the current strikes in copper, glass, moving. There will be another spiral when settlements are made on the coming demands of steel, telephone, marriage, aluminum, clothing, electrical and other workers.

There will be still more spirals when railroads get another raise in freight rates, which the Interstate Commerce Commission has permitted them to file for, and when the airlines get their next fare boost, which they are now planning to ask.

And the biggest spiral of all will come when corporations raise prices in an effort to maintain profits after the next tax rise, which is sure to come.

ELMER ROESSNER

The Tax Picture No matter what you read elsewhere, a substantial tax increase is certain. The government must increase taxes to defend the dollar, to win the war in Vietnam, and to meet the rising clamor for more and more welfare.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D.,

Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, the dictator of American taxes who has long insisted that there be no tax increase until the administration slashes its budget, is now conceding that an increase may be necessary to defend the dollar.

Painful though a tax increase will be, since it will both skim off income and increase prices, the alternative would ache even more.

That alternative is round after round of inflation, with all the consequences: higher prices, strikes and the chipping away of the value of the dollar.

A tax rise would limit price increases. Sellers would try to get higher prices, of course. But because higher taxes would blot up some of the consumers' purchasing power, the

Retain 'Cool' Views

By GEORGE McARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — W. C. Fields is not dead. He's alive and drunk in Harrisburg, Pa.

This information comes from the back of a GI helmet in South Vietnam. On helmets, flak jackets and clubroom walls the GI has gone happy and hippie, at least with words.

"You wouldn't be here if you weren't weird" graces a chopper pilot's bar.

"Caution. I may be hazardous to your health" stares from a flak vest.

"A collision at sea can ruin your day" appears on the bridge of an aircraft carrier.

"The Vatican" irreverently declares the sign over a battered tent at Khe Sanh.

"Make love and war" says a Marine helmet.

The sentiments are largely the work of the youngsters of this "cool" generation, typified by the soldier wearing dark glasses who fell on his head while disembarking from an airplane at 3 a.m. Why was he wearing sun-glasses at that hour?

"Man," he replied, "if you're cool the sun is always shining."

The combat soldier's preoccupation with the hereafter is sometimes expressed by having a rosary in his helmet band or a psalm inked on the helmet.

As frequently, however, you will see such expressions as "God isn't dead, just temporarily unemployed." One soldier with a personal view wrote, "Just you and me. God. Right?"

While civil rights are seldom discussed in the remarkably integrated combat units, the Negro GI frequently puts "Keep the faith, Baby" on his helmet.

The outpouring of vest-pocket literature is attributed by some scholars to nothing more complicated than the new brush pen and the introduction of cloth helmet covers. The GI, these scholars say, was always an artist. He just didn't have much to write on or a proper pen to write with. Furnished the equipment, he took off.

Nor does the hippie influence run much more than skin deep, according to Lt. Cmdr. Morris J. Chalick, a psychiatrist who has been in Vietnam 11 months with the Marines.

The psychiatrist says the youngsters simply use the language of their generation.

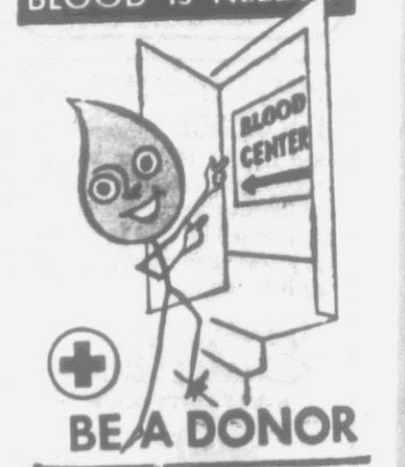

The GI who decorates his helmet with "Keep California green, legalize grass," is no more likely to smoke marijuana than anyone else, the young doctor from Springfield, Pa., believes. It is his method of identifying with his generation.

Twenty-Nine Persons Die In N.C. Weekend Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Twenty-nine persons died in highway accidents in North Carolina over the weekend, including six in a collision near Scotland Neck and six more in an accident near Benson.

The two wrecks in eastern North Carolina contributed to the highest weekend total of the year. The death toll for the year rose to 317, or 38 more than in the corresponding period last year.

Six members of a Philadelphia, Pa., family were killed when their car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on rain-slickened Interstate 95 near Benson. The Highway Patrol said the truck was trying to pass another truck when it went out of control, crossed the median strip dividing the four-lane highway, and collided with the car, landing on top of it.

Killed were Charles R. Kriebel, 57; Mrs. Edith M. Kriebel, 56; Mrs. Carol Kriebel Cupic, 29; Alexander Boshko Cupic, 5; Constance Erica Cupic, 2, and Michele Claudine Cupic, 11 months old.

The driver of the tractor-trailer, James Loys Keown, 44, of Cerro Gordon, N. C., received minor cuts on his face.

In the accident near Scotland Neck, two cars collided head-on on a curve on fog-shrouded U.S.

258. There were no survivors. Killed were Harry T. Barner, 22; Robert Newell Jr., 20; and Troy Lee Hawkins, 21, all of Roanoke Rapids; and Sherill Ann Hendrick, 16, of Tillery, all in one car; and Willie Edward Williams, 47, and Gladys G. Smith, 56, both of Norfolk, Va.

Other victims: Helen Harrison, 15, and Gresham Wilkins, 13, both killed when their car in which they were riding overturned near their hometown of Spring Hope.

John Charles Dover, 35, of Marion, whose car overturned on a wet road near Asheville.

Lawrence Carter, 20, of Asheville, whose vehicle overturned near Goldsboro.

Gussie Coleman Conner, 53, who was in an automobile which hit a guard rail and overturned in her hometown of Winston-Salem.

Edward Leon Carswell, 20, of Nebo, whose car ran off a road 12 miles south of Marion.

Nor are such Bourbon Republicans as former Sen. John Bricker and National Committeewoman Katharine Kennedy Brown likely to vote for Rockefeller.

But these are exceptions. Although Nixon might win two-thirds of the delegation on a test of personal preference, most Ohio delegates are more interested in winning nationally and keeping their big 1966 majorities in the state General Assembly.

Robert Lynn Tyson, 12, of Hope Mills, was killed when the car in which he was riding overturned in Hope Mills.

Clarence Caldwell Cooper of Chadburn died, the patrol said, when the door of his car opened and he fell out near Chadburn. He was run over by his own vehicle.

Mrs. Thelma Young Benson, 55, was killed when her car was hit by a train at Benson, her hometown.

Jimmy Guy Moore, 23, of Whiteville, lost his life when his car overturned near Tabor City.

Charlie Holmes, 30, of Newton Grove, died when a vehicle overturned in Sampson County 15 miles north of Clinton.

A highway patrolman, C. H. Hoffman, 27, of Statesville, died when his car rammed another while he was pursuing a motorist, who escaped. Also killed was Harvey Wilford Cleary, 45, of Statesville.

Brothers James Hubert Moore, 22, and Bill Moore, 32, both of Cherryville, died in the collision of two cars near Lincolnton.

Benjamin Grady Webb of Rock Hill, S. C., was struck and killed by a car while crossing U.S. 29 near Salisbury.

Josephine Parker, 45, of near Fayetteville, was killed while crossing U.S. 301 four miles south of Fayetteville.

will not get involved in any emotional heart situations. If someone loses his heart to somebody else we will not do anything to reclaim it. For example, if someone said her heart belongs to daddy, we would consider this her problem, and not ours."

"Then your jurisdiction would only be involved with medical matters?"

"Not necessarily. There are some very moral questions that aren't strictly medical ones. Let us take the economic situation at the moment. There are many people who have hearts of gold. Right now, the world faces a severe gold crisis. Do we transplant these hearts of gold into other people, or do we take the gold hearts and turn them over to the International Monetary Fund?"

"I'd hate to decide that one," I admitted. "Tell me, Dr. Applebaum, what hearts are most in demand right now?"

"We need stouthearted men who will fight for the right they adore. Start me with ten who are stouthearted men, and I'll soon give you 10,000 more."

"That's beautiful, doctor."

Do you think the International Heart Transplant Authority has a chance?

"Definitely, if for no other reason than all of us in the medical profession have our hearts set on it."

Blames War For Unemployment

MONTREAL (AP) — Jean Marchand, minister of manpower and immigration, says the Vietnam war is a prime cause of unemployment in Canada.

The war has brought on a tight money policy in Canada, cutting down on investment and diminishing the number of jobs available, he said. "The U.S. is spending three times more on the war in Vietnam than Canada spends for her annual budget," he told a meeting of the Quebec Liberal Federation.

Fire Alarm . . .

is the fact that if one department is confronted with a major fire and needs help, all that is needed is for the dispatcher to be notified by radio. He then will activate the alarm at the next nearest fire department and have that unit's fire trucks enroute to the fire in a matter of minutes.

In effect, according to Worthington, "it combines the 16 departments with 43 trucks and 521 men...to operate like a city department with substations...each helping the other."

And when special hazard property such as schools, large churches and industrial plants are involved, the dispatcher can summon the three or four closest departments at one time, the fire marshal noted.

Under the system, each department is equipped with one base station radio and one mobile radio. When the dispatcher activates the alarm button a decoder causes the right alarm to go off. And to make sure the alarm is working properly, the radio transmitter switch is thrown automatically so the dispatcher can hear the alarm over the radio. If the alarm has malfunctioned, he then can summon firemen by telephone.

Another way it will help, Worthington pointed out, is if one department is out on a call and received another call in their area. The next closest fire department can be called in quickly to the second blaze.

Worthington urged that all fires, except in the city limits of Ayden, Greenville, Bethel and Farmville, be reported to the central fire control office. Fires in those four municipalities should be reported, as usual, direct to the proper fire department, although fires outside the municipal limits should be reported to the central control.

Why the alarm system? Offsetting the cost — $1,000 for each base station and $950 for each mobile unit — is a reduction in fire insurance rates, Worthington explained.

The system will enable rural fire districts to be expanded from a three mile district to a four mile area (road miles from the fire station) and will give rate reductions to 25 to 30 per cent more people.

Worthington said rural residents should learn the rural road number of the roads they live on and use these numbers when reporting fires.

Information that should be given when reporting a fire includes: "where they live and on what road, their name, who's property it is, what type of fire and any other information the caller feels is necessary such as if any lives are involved and how bad the fire is," Worthington said.

Believe Much Gold Is Unmined In Colorado

By GORDON G. GAUSS
Associated Press Writer
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — While world markets are in a frenzy with the rush on gold, perhaps $1 billion worth of the precious metal lies untapped under the mountains of Colorado, according to a veteran deputy state mine commissioner.

Colorado has produced more than $900 million in gold since the state was settled scarcely 100 years ago, commissioner G. A. Franz said Monday. He added that much of the calculation is based on the price of $20 an ounce.

And, he said, there probably is as much—or more—gold remaining in the ground as already has been mined. The price to date simply has not justified trying to mine.

Franz said an increase in the price of gold from $35 an ounce is "something we out this way think should have occurred a long time ago."

This buying rush, he said, could lead to a new mining boom in the fabled Cripple Creek district of Colorado, where $400 million worth of gold was mined before all shafts were closed down.

Recent reports on government prospecting—using computers and bulldozers instead of pans and burros—have confirmed that more gold lies under the mountainous Cripple Creek area west of Colorado Springs.

But, without a prize high enough to make it worth while, Franz noted that not a single mine is operating now in the Cripple Creek-Victor field.

He said it may take up to two years to prepare for any jump in production, to permit operators to get larger mines into operating condition and possibly to work out financing for modern machinery in some cases.

The handful of mines operating elsewhere in Colorado that depend upon gold and silver for part of their revenues are "barely able to make a living now," Franz said.

Most of these mines contain complex ores which include lead and zinc along with gold and silver.

Franz said any gold price increase will tend to make companies operating these diggings "look a little harder for a gold area in their mines."

This, he said, could result in some immediate production increase, although such a boost probably would not approach boom proportions.

Gold has been found in many parts of Colorado, including the Leadville area two miles above sea level, and in the scenic mountains of southwest Colorado around the once-booming town of Creede.

But it was in 1958, in what is now the tourist town of Central City, where gold first was found in the Fraont range of the Colorado Rockies.

The discovery, not too far west of Denver, touched off a gold rush in 1859, when the slogan of immigrants coming West in covered wagons became, "Pikes Peak or Bust."

Europe Sees Temporary Relief In Gold Pact

By MICHAEL R. CODEL
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Europe greeted the Washington gold agreement with relief, but commentators and bankers termed it a temporary measure whose success would depend on cuts in American and British spending.

The agreement's basic point—the establishment of a two-price gold system—had been widely predicted in Britain and on the continent. The West German government advocated introduction of a free gold market last Friday, and Swiss bankers said they had urged the two-market system as the only way to stop the gold rush.

"Anything is better than the suspense and confusion of the last few days," said one French banker. He called it a victory for speculators and hoarders, but would not predict their reaction.

The Bank of England ordered that London, bullion market to remain closed until April 1, "to give things a chance to settle down, to give people a chance to see what is going on," said a stock market spokesman. Since this is the world's chief gold market, its closure was certain to restrict trading on the continent.

Gold trading also remained suspended in Canada while the Bank of Canada and the government assessed the implications of the new system. The central bank's governor, Louis Rasmin-sky, pledged Canada's cooperation with the seven nations of the gold pool.

Swiss bankers met in Zurich and decided to let their big banks organize the free gold market in Switzerland. One major question still unanswered was where the free market would get its gold. Prospective sources of supply included South Africa's newly mined gold, small hoarders and speculators who stocked up during the recent rush, and some central banks which might collect gold from other banks and funnel it out the back door at a good profit.

South Africa's finance minister, Nicolaas Diederichs, said that his government would study the situation "in all its aspects."

Swiss sources said much of the 300 tons of gold sold last Thursday and Friday in Zurich probably would never be delivered as a result of the Washington agreement. It had been sold on condition that the international gold pool would continue to deliver, and the weekend conference in Washington ended that.

British editorial writers emphasized that the two-price system will only work if America and Britain can cut down their trade deficits.

"A two-tier price for gold is no more than the most hasty first aid," said the Guardian. Cuts in United States government spending represent the element of surgery."

The Daily Telegraph said the agreement was only a palliative and the real solution lay in resolving the U.S. balance-of-payments problem, including the cost of the Vietnam war.

"For Britain," said the Sun, "the decisive test comes tomorrow... with the budget. That budget will show whether Britain is at last facing the disagreeable realities of her own situation—or still running away."

The budget is expected to be a severe one designed to wipe out Britain's chronic payments deficit.

What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. A try for game is in order even though partner has already announced a minimum opening. The significant fact is that North did not pass your two diamond bids which he was at perfect liberty to do.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠74 ♥63 ♦A10862 ♣AKQJ
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♥ Pass 2♦ Pass
2♠ Pass 3♣ Pass
4♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—You have better than an opening bid and partner has opened and jumped. This spells a slam which you should bid forthwith. The prescribed call is six hearts. North has not only opened and jumped but, in the meantime, shown great strength by his bid of two spades, technically known as a "reverse."

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠2 ♥J754 ♦Q1084 ♣KJ73
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1♥ 1♠ Dble. ?
What do you bid?
A.—This does not appear to be a propitious place for the hand to play. A rescue bid of one no trump is in order, in that it suggests to partner to rescue himself in either diamonds or clubs, whichever he prefers, since obviously you are short in spades and have length in the other three suits.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠AQ104 ♥32 ♦65 ♣QJ865
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1♥ 2♦ ?

What do you bid?
A.—Pass. If you mention either of your suits, partner will probably be cornered into bidding three hearts which will place you in a highly awkward position. When a free bid tends to project the bidding to the three level, the player contemplating such action should be backed up by a holding which is equal to an opening bid.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQJ93 ♥104 ♦A1065 ♣3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2NT Pass
3♦ Pass 3NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. Hope for slam is not abandoned by the four spade bid. The very fact that you took pains to bid three diamonds, intending all the time to take partner out of his aggressively bid game contract, indicates your willingness to entertain the idea of a slam. If his points are first rate (aces and kings), he may proceed.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠AQJ64 ♥7 ♦A865 ♣1072
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♦ Pass
2♥ Pass 3♣ Pass
3♦ Pass 3♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four diamonds. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that himself, but bid hearts instead. When you return to diamonds partner will be able to infer that your holding probably contains a singleton.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠10963 ♥J832 ♦K6 ♣A93
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1♠ Dble. ?
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. This holding falls just short of the requirements for a redouble. An immediate raise should be offered only on a hand with less high card strength and more distributional values. You are forced to compromise by passing for the time being with every intention of offering competition on the next round.

Three Arrested For Hog Thefts

Three men have been arrested for the theft of some hogs. Sheriff Ralph Tyson reported today.

The three were identified as: Wilbert Chapman, 43, Rt. 2, Ayden; Charlie Gray Artis, 20, Rt. 2, Box 169, Ayden; James A. Pollard, 28, Rt. 2, Box 490, Ayden. All are Negroes.

The sheriff said the hogs, valued at $10, were allegedly taken from Mrs. Lewis Lang's farm.

Deputies, on night patrol, came up behind a truck operated by Chapman around 1:15 Friday morning. There were two Hampshire hogs in the truck. They were taken to Mrs. Lang's farm where they were identified as belonging to her.

COLD - SINUS Miseries?

Is your head pounding — nose running — are your eyes watering and are you sneezing — sneezing — sneezing? Have you blown your nose until it is raw? We're sorry you're suffering so; obviously you're not aware of our product SYNACLEAR and this is our fault.

SYNACLEAR is the original timed release tablet that gives up to eight hours of real relief from cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses. And that's a guarantee!

We do not have millions to spend on TV to tell you about SYNACLEAR; just this small ad. We do not gimmick our advertising and product by offering twelve hours of medication. What is medication without relief? SYNACLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours relief per tablet or your money back in full.

We could go into detail on how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SYNACLEAR. The druggist at the store listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula.

SYNACLEAR costs a little more ($1.50 & $3.00 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks.

Try SYNACLEAR as soon as possible — you know — all have to lose are your discomforts.

This little ad has an awfully big job to do — to get you to try SYNACLEAR. So as a bonus, cut me out and send in with an empty SYNACLEAR carton and we'll mail you a check for 50¢ for just trying SYNACLEAR. If you have time to tell us about the results SYNACLEAR gave you, we would be pleased to hear from you.

W. M. Scales Qualifies As THE LISTENER...Finally!!

In October of 1967 Security Life and Trust Company launched the biggest advertising campaign in the company's history... THE LISTENER. This campaign was published in LOOK, LIFE, TIME, THE DAILY REFLECTOR and many other outstanding periodicals. My close friends and associates said that for some reason this campaign was not appropriate for me.

Well, circumstances have changes, and now I fully qualify as THE LISTENER. The dream of many has come true. I have been advised by physicians, due to a throat irritation, not to utter a sound for at least 2 weeks. People seem happy to hear this and somehow, I feel this is not a compliment. However, I am determined to follow the doctor's orders.

Though I can't talk to you, I am still able to render complete life insurance service. If you get lonesome, give me a call. I am undoubtedly the greatest LISTENER in my company... NOW!

Sincerely,
Boogey

Tar Heels Credit Some 'Luck' Against Davidson

By REESE HART Associated Press Writer RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Davidson's Wildcats were "tougher than expected" and All-American Larry Miller and his North Carolina teammates might consider themselves lucky to be the NCAA Eastern regional basketball champions.

"I figured they would give us a hard time early and we would come on late in the game," said Miller. "They were tougher than I expected. But we weren't as good as I expected."

It was 6-foot-10 center Rusty Clark who led fourth-ranked North Carolina to the 70-66 victory over eighth-ranked Davidson Saturday night. He scored 22 points and was voted the outstanding player of the two-day tournament at Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh.

Columbia, beaten by Davidson 61-59 in overtime in the opening round bounded back with an easy 95-75 victory over St. Bonaventure to win third place.

North Carolina, which lost to Dayton in the national semifinals last year, will play Ohio State and defending champion UCLA meets top-ranked Houston in the first round of the national finals Friday night at Los Angeles.

Clark's 22 points, mostly from the inside, and 17 rebounds made the difference for the Tar Heels. Miller scored only 16 points.

"They were just killing us off the boards in the first half," Clark said. "During intermission we just said we had to get some rebounds in the second half. Davidson was real tough."

Davidson had a 47-37 rebound edge for the game. Defense was the key point in the game and both teams showed they knew how to play it. But North Carolina had an apparent edge in depth and balance and Davidson was without starter Doug Cook who was injured Friday night.

Cancer Crusade Kickoff Thursday

The Pitt County Unit of the American Cancer Society will hold its 1968 Crusade kickoff dinner March 21.

Some 200 volunteer workers are scheduled to attend the 6:30 p.m. meeting at the Greenville Moose Lodge. Dr. Dan Jordan of Bethel, president of the Pitt cancer unit, will preside at the organizational session.

LEX RAY

Lex Ray, executive vice-president of Duke Power Company and 1968 Crusade Chairman of the North Carolina Division of the American Cancer Society, will speak at the meeting.

Ray, an Alamance County native, is a graduate of N.C. State University and taught agriculture in Randolph County before becoming an agricultural engineer with Duke Power Company.

In addition to other activities, Ray has been executive vice-president of the North Carolina Dairy Products Association and was Director of Development for N.C. State. He joined the Duke Power staff as executive vice-president in 1964.

Dr. J. Edwin Clement and Jerry Sutherland are co-chairmen of this year's Cancer Crusade in Pitt.

It's Mod, But Not Navy Style

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — It took an order from the Navy for John Malloy to look the part of King Henry I.

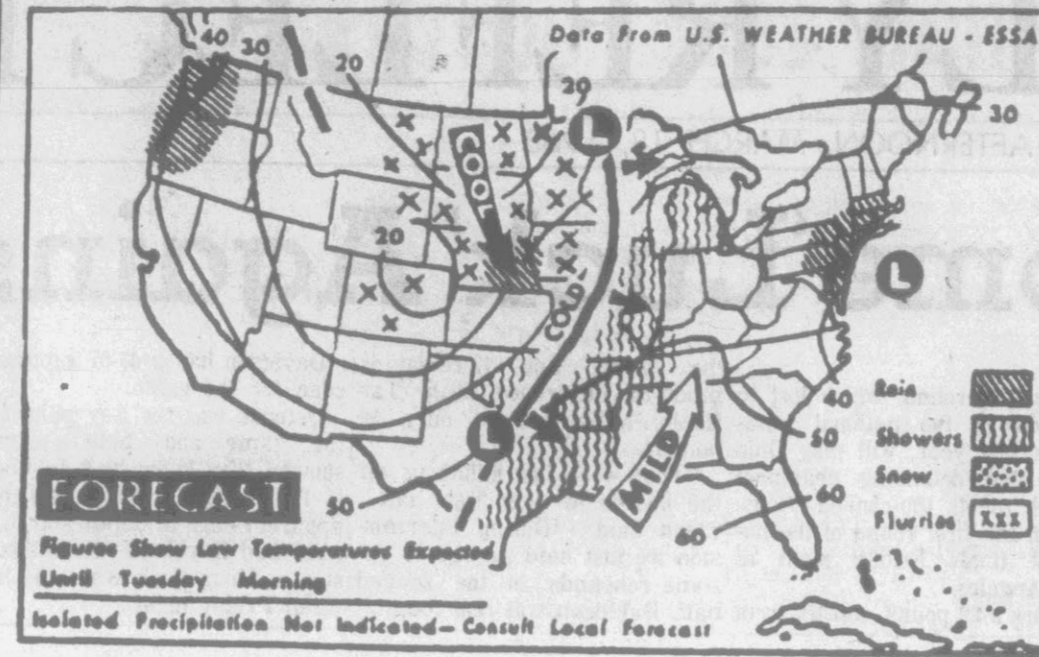

Malloy, a chief petty officer and a course supervisor at the Naval Air Station here, got official permission to go two months without a haircut so he'd be in style to play Henry in Memphis Little Theater's production of "The Lion in Winter."

He said it was the first time in his 18-year Navy career he hadn't had a trim every week and a half.

Mother Explains Away The UFO

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (AP) — There was no question it was a strange flying object, a number of Castle Rock residents averred after looking at the night sky. One man said it was at least 50 feet long with flashing lights.

Then a mother in the foothills community cleared up this mystery. Her two sons had fastened thin wood sticks to a plastic bag and lighted four birthday-candle candles fastened to an aluminum cup in the center. Hot air from the candles caused the small balloon to rise and float away.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast for Monday night in southern New England and in the Pacific northwest. Snow flurries are expected in the upper Midwest and showers are due in the lower Mississippi valley. It will be colder in the Great Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Film Stars Urged To Attend Oscar Night

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Motion Picture Academy is striving to avoid a no-show show with the 40th annual awards on April 8.

Last year's Oscar cast was considered a scandal by some of the academy's supporters. They deplored the fact that only one of the major acting winners was present at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium to collect his Oscar. The audience itself lacked the glamor that is expected at the awards; stars stayed away in droves.

Outspoken Walter Matthau, the only acting winner present, said he felt it was poor taste that the other victors couldn't be present. Their excuses seemed lame. Elizabeth Taylor was in the south of France making a picture, Sandy Dennis was in New York doing the same. Paul Scofield was too shy to appear, someone said.

In these times of je, travel, it seemed to local observers that the Misses Taylor and Dennis could have been excused from their films to attend the film industry's most important event.

This year the academy president, Gregory Peck, made a personal plea to a number of former Oscar winners such as Greer Garson, James Stewart, Jennifer Jones, Charlton Heston, Jane Wyman, Marlon Brando, Lee Marvin, Joan Crawford, Jack Lemmon, Norma Shearer.

"We in the academy are proud of our award winners and urge that you become part of our anniversary celebration by accepting this invitation," wrote Peck, who invited the winners to be the academy's guests at the awards and the board of governors ball afterward.

The academy has also been exerting its influence to get as many of the acting nominees as possible into the April 8 audience. One device is to invite them to be presenters on the show.

"Some of the nominees—Dame Edith Evans, for example—prefer to be in the program," an official explained. "In that way, they don't feel so embarrassed if they have come 6,000 miles just to be a loser."

But another of this year's nominees, Faye Dunaway, declined being a presenter. She would be too nervous that night, she explained. But she will come from New York for the awards, as will Anne Bancroft. Audrey Hepburn will fly in from her Switzerland home, and Dame Edith Evans will make the trip from England.

Only Katharine Hepburn of the best-actress nominees will not appear. She is making a film in Nice, France. But then, she has failed to attend the awards when nominated in other years.

Dustin Hoffman, Rod Steiger and Warren Beatty have accepted their invitations. Sponder Tracy is dead. That leaves Paul Newman, who has declined. He says he's too busy editing the film he directed.

All of the supporting actor nominees are expected to be present, except Michael J. Pollard, who will be appearing in "Leda Had a Little Swan" on Broadway.

Two of the supporting actresses are also in plays. Estelle Parsons is appearing in a new Tennessee Williams drama and won't come to Santa Monica. Beah Richards, who will be playing "The Little Foxes" in San Francisco, is expected to be excused to attend the big night.

No Signs Gomulka Is Losing Grip In Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Intellectuals are loudly criticizing Wladyslaw Gomulka's cultural policy, and students are protesting his use of police force. But there are no signs that his grip on the controls of the Polish Communist party are slipping.

Nor are there any signs that the party is responding to cries for liberalization. Many Western observers believe, however, that behind the curtain of declared party unity, a drama of political jockeying is under way.

One hears often the opinion that the current unrest is being stirred up by the powerful minister of interior, Mieczyslaw Moczar, who is said to be aspiring to take over the country's reins. He heads the Security Service and also the Partisans, a powerful organization of wartime underground fighters.

In 1956, after riots and economic and political discontent, Gomulka emerged from Stalinist disgrace to become first secretary of the party, the boss.

Intellectuals complain that liberal advances made then have been eroded over the years. They ask for less censorship and more freedom of expression. They apparently are getting no satisfaction.

One intellectual at a recent meeting of the Warsaw Writers' Union referred to the "scandalous leadership of ignoramuses" running the country.

Part of Gomulka's strength is believed due to his firm commitment to the Soviet Union. He calls it "our greatest ally." He has backed the Russians in the Chinese-Soviet dispute and been a fervent supporter of such Soviet causes as the world Communist unity conference.

A Nationalist play by the 19th century poet Adam Mickiewicz about Polish suffering under the Czars brought on the government's present headaches.

At the end of January the regime ordered the play "Dziady" closed at Warsaw's National Theater. Some anti-Russian lines were receiving enthusiastic responses from audiences and apparently embarrassing the government.

There was a student demonstration protesting the closing, some arrests and a cascade of protests from actors, writers, intellectuals and students.

On March 8 Warsaw University students gathered to protest the expulsion of two students who took part in the "Dziady" demonstration. Their meeting ended in a clash with police and auxiliaries who violated the traditional immunity of the campus from police invasion. Three days of street rioting followed, led mainly by rowdies, however.

Students have been demonstrating for a week, angry over police clubbing on the campus

Lecturer Here Tuesday Night

How to cope effectively through prayer with problems of any kind will be explained in a free public lecture on Christian Science by Martin Broones, C.S.B., in Greenville, at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Tuesday, March 19, at 8:00 p.m.

Broones, a Christian Science lecturer from Beverly Hills, California, will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist. His lecture is titled "A Discovery that Meets the Needs of Today."

A native of New York City, he was educated at Columbia University and later studied musical composition under John

MARTIN BROONES

Ireland of the Royal College of Music in London.

Besides composing many well-known sacred songs and musical scores for many popular light operas, he organized and was director of the first music department in the motion picture industry for Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios in Hollywood.

He subsequently became a producer of motion pictures and radio programs, acting also as manager and producer for his wife, Charlotte Greenwood.

Active in Christian Science for many years, Broones withdrew from business in 1948 to devote his full time to the practice of Christian Science healing. He became an authorized teacher of Christian Science in 1958.

N.C. McCarthy-Backers See New Difficulties

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A leader of the McCarthy for President movement in this university community says the entry of Sen. Robert Kennedy is going to make the job more difficult.

"We're sorry to see Kennedy enter the race since it will probably divide the anti-Johnson vote," said Gerhard Lenski,

University of North Carolina sociology professor and head of the Finance Committee for the Chapel Hill McCarthy chapter.

Chapel Hill is the first chapter in a movement in North Carolina in support of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform protesting Vietnam policy. Sen. Kennedy of New York, also an opponent of administration conduct of the war, got into the Democratic race Saturday, five days after McCarthy did so well against the President in the New Hampshire primary, the nation's opening presidential primary.

McCarthy got 42 per cent of the Democratic vote last Tuesday. President Johnson's name was not on the ballot. The state Democratic organization waged a tough write-in campaign, but the President emerged only a minority winner with 43 per cent of the vote, about 4,000 ballots more than McCarthy. The President's promoters had forecast a 3-1 victory, toned down from earlier 10-1 talk.

Prof. Alden Lind of the UNC Department of Political Science heads the Chapel Hill chapter, which opened its doors on Jan. 29.

Since then, an office has opened in Raleigh, one is to open soon in Charlotte, and a group is forming in Durham. Inquiries about forming units have been received from High Point, Greensboro and Mount Airy, according to a Chapel Hill spokesman.

Lenski said the purpose of the groups is to raise money for McCarthy's campaigns in the states where presidential primaries are being held, and to distribute information to North Carolina citizens.

Jack Lasley, Chapel Hill attorney, said all the North Carolina McCarthy groups have benefited from his showing in New Hampshire.

"A lot of people on the fence who felt that the McCarthy effort was doomed are now realizing that success of his campaign is not just a fantasy," Lasley said.

Six Candidates

A public forum for the six candidates to succeed Dr. Charles F. Carroll as state superintendent of public instruction will be held at East Carolina University tonight, officials announced.

Robert S. Messner, president of the sponsoring Parent-Teacher Association Council of the Greenville City Schools, said the public service program will be held at 8 p.m. in Wright Auditorium on the university campus.

Each candidate will be given about 10 minutes to make a formal presentation. After the candidates have spoken, time will be allotted for questions and comments from the audience.

Registration At School Friday

Pre-school registration will be held at Bruce-Falkland Elementary School Friday at 1 p.m. for children entering the first grade in September. Children who will be six years old on or before October 16 will be eligible to begin school.

Parents are urged to attend the meeting and bring their child and records of immunization and birth certificate of the child to be registered, said Principal E. L. Smith.

New, $15 Million Center Planned

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A $15 million regional shopping center containing more than one million square feet will be constructed on the southern edge of Charlotte. The Lennox Square Shopping Center in Atlanta, largest in the Southeast, has 1,200,000 square feet.

Seventy stores and 5,000 parking spaces are to be located on the 104-acre site. The largest stores will be the Belk Bros and Ivey's department stores and Sears, Roebuck.

Completion of the project is expected in early 1970. Construction will begin within 30 days at Sharon and Fairview roads.

The center, to be known as South Park, is expected to employ 3,000 persons.

More than half of the toys produced in Japan are exported to the United States. More than 20 per cent go to Europe.

GEORGIA FARMER GROWS RECORD CORN CROP

240 Bushels / Acre

Mr. Davis Aultman of Warwick, Georgia, reports: "McNair 340-V is the highest yielding corn that I have ever planted. It weighed out real good and stood in the field better than average."

"I harvested 1,667 bushels off 6.93 acres for an average of 240 bushels an acre."

Aultman said that he used 500 lbs. of 5-10-15 and 120 units of nitrogen per acre and that his seeding rate was 24,800 plants an acre.

McNair 340-V is a medium early double cross yellow hybrid. It gives top season-long performance throughout the Southeast.

Davis Approves Gold Price Plan

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Archie K. Davis, chairman of the board of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., said Sunday a proposed two-price system for gold is a sensible solution to the gold drain.

He explained that foreign nations want to purchase U.S. gold when the price is down because of inflation in this country. "They want to buy cheap and sell back at the regular rate."

The two-price system has been proposed by the seven nations of the London gold pool. It would maintain the price at $35 an ounce for the central banks of member nations while increasing the price for nonmembers.

Aviation Academy Of N.C. Trains Industry Workers

RALEIGH — The Aviation Academy of North Carolina, located at the Raleigh-Durham Airport, was organized two years ago and its main purpose is to train people to be qualified for commercial aviation and airline industry.

The academy is the only school of this type in the state which has a formal classroom and training curriculum which a student is required to attend regularly.

Formal classes are held eight hours daily and the school maintains apartments or quarters for single students adjacent to the airport.

The academy is approved under the Federal Aviation Agency regulations to do both flight and ground training. In addition, the school is approved by the state and the new GI Bill for flight training. Under this bill, the Veterans Administration will pay up to 90 per cent of a student's flight training after a certain plateau is reached.

In order to enroll in the academy, a student does not have to have previous flight training, only a high school education. In 17-20 weeks, a student can qualify for a career in aviation industry.

Summer courses are also available for high school and college students.

Nelson G. Perego is director of the academy.

The Department of Agriculture says farms are declining at the rate of nearly 80,000 a year.

The Worry Clinic Brightening Image Of The Business College

At Dean Sonneman's invitation, I recently gave the Commencement Address at his famous College of Business. Therein I outlined the salient facts listed below. Business Colleges are the most truly "American" of all our institutions of higher learning! They give professional training that causes their graduates to be offered topnotch jobs at once!

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D.
CASE F-519: Dr. L. J. Sonneman is Dean of a famous College of Business in South Dakota. On behalf of the Board of Directors, he asked me to deliver the Commencement Address to 200 graduates. "Dr. Crane," he asked, "what topic shall we use for your speech?" And I suggested the following: "Why Business education Merits a Brighter Image." In my talk I mentioned that business is basic to all the other colleges, plus altruistic organizations like the YMCA and our churches. For Business Colleges shore up our superb "free enterprise" system, which has made it possible not only for us to enjoy the highest standard of living among all nations on this planet Earth.

But we then have enough surplus funds to endow the 2,000 Liberal Arts Colleges in America, plus the Medical, Dental, Law and Engineering Schools, too.

Yet Business Colleges have too long been treated as the "Ugly Duckling" or stepchild in the field of higher education!

But Business Colleges give the students of their one-year or two-year diploma courses far better leverage for obtaining a high salaried position than any two years of Liberal Arts!

For two years of Liberal Arts merely offer a smattering of impractical cultural topics, usually forgotten soon after the final exams.

But a Business College diploma means the owner thereof has been professionally trained, like a doctor and lawyer, to go right out into practice.

Thus, the Business College graduate has studied Business Law, Applied Psychology, Business English, Public Speaking, plus the operation of the many modern business machines.

He has also developed skill as a typist and can take shorthand.

And Charm Courses are now adding a vital attribute for later success.

Mrs. Crane took the one-year business course at International Business College in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Later she studied at Northwestern University, New York University and also took courses at Indiana University.

But that one-year diploma at Business College has been worth far more to her (and certainly to me) than all her other so-called "cultural" courses!

For Business College is one of the very best preparations a girl can obtain for happy marriage.

She can then handle the budgeting problems of a home. She can compute her husband's income tax and do his typing.

Alas, many citizens place an undue "aura" around their state university, but it is a heavy burden on the backs of taxpayers!

Business Colleges not only don't ask the taxpayer for a cent.

But they even pay taxes to help support such rival institutions as the state colleges!

Besides, beatniks and LSD rioters are not linked with a Business College! Nor do you find Communist agitators there!

So salute the 1,000 private Business Colleges since they are the most truly "American" of all our institutions of higher learning!

School Selects Area Students

WINSTON-SALEM — Eleven students from Pitt, Martin and Greene counties are among the 400 sophomore and junior class students from secondary schools in North Carolina invited to attend the 1968 Governor's School of North Carolina from June 15 to August 3, on the Salem College Campus here.

The group was selected from among more than 3,000 candidates. Selection was based on records of academic achievement and by audition in artistic fields.

The Governor's School, for academically gifted and artistically talented high school students, is under the State Board of Education and there is no charge to students invited to participate in the program.

Students participating from Pitt County include: Julie Harter, 1000 East Fourth St., Greenville; Robert T. Wingate, Route 2, Grifton; Carolyn D. Triplett, 413 North Church St., Grifton; Laia C. Steelman, 1703 Knollwood Dr., Greenville; Sandra G. Hardee, Forest Acres, Grifton; Benjamin F. Lewis, Farmville; Henry D. Jefferson Jr., May Blvd., Farmville; Ernest C. Avery, 205 West Martinsborough Rd., Greenville; and Lynn M. Rylander, Greenville.

Bobby Jones of Route 1, Snow Hill and Dorothy S. Peele of Route 1, Williamston, have also been invited to participate.

Homer And Jethro On Campus Mar. 20

The famous musical satirists, Homer and Jethro, will play a concert at East Carolina University Wednesday night, March 20. The performance is scheduled at 8:15 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. Tickets are available to the public for $2 each at the Central Ticket Office in Wright Auditorium.

It will be the first trip to Greenville for the two singers. They appear as part of the entertainment series sponsored by the Student Government Association.

Homer (Henry Doyle) Haynes, the guitarist, and Jethro (Kenneth C.) Burns, the mandolin player, have become famous on radio, television, RCA Victor recordings and personal appearances throughout the nation.

Since launching their career in Knoxville, Tenn., a number of years ago, Homer and Jethro have become widely known for such parodies of popular songs as this treatment of "You Belong to Me": "Bring me paw-paws in a paper poke."

VD Rate Rises In N.C. Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Durham County, N.C., had the United States' highest gonorrhea case rate for urban area during the year ending last June 30, the American Social Health Association reported Sunday.

Durham County reported a ration of 1,662.2 cases per 100,000, the report said.

Fulton County, Ga., which includes Atlanta, was second with a case rate of 1,549.8 per 100,000 population.

Charlotte-Mecklenburg County ranked ninth in the nation with a case rate of 797 per 100,000.

The association report, published by the American Public Health Association and the American Venereal Disease Association, commented on "alarming and continuing increase in the incidence of gonorrhea in almost all states and urban areas."

A total of 375,606 cases were reported in the U.S. during fiscal year 1967, 41,000 more than the previous year.

On a state basis, South Carolina ranked fifth highest and North Carolina 13th.

Among cities, Raleigh had the 16th highest incidence of infectious syphilis—44 per 100,000 population.

'Flea Index' At Saigon Is Down

SAIGON (AP) — The flea index—the average number of fleas found on rats—is down from nine to two in the port area, a U.S. AID public health division report says. The index, an indicator of the likelihood of bubonic plague, has been lowered by DDT dusting, the report said. The plague can be spread to humans by fleas.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady. Tops of 18.90-18.50 Rocky Mount, Hickory, Statesville; 17.75-18.50 Wilson; 17.25-18.25 Bethel, Tarboro; 18.75 Salisbury; 18.25 Greensboro; 17.75 Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was steady, rice of live poultry at the farms was 13 1/2 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a boisterous rally today, paring its best gains early in the afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Gains outnumbered losses by 5 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange while blue chips and glamour stocks advanced on a broad front. The ticker tape lagged four minutes behind transactions.

Wall Street was given considerable confidence by steps taken by the international bankers Sunday to meet the gold crisis, analysis said.

The result was an early surge of 13.35 points in the Dow Jones industrial average. By noon the gain was cut to 9.08 when the average stood at 346.63.

A jam of sell orders resulted in delayed openings for a number of the gold and silver mining issues. Some of these dropped several points. Encouraging economic reports also backgrounded the market's rise.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.4 at 305.2 with industrials up 4.9, rails up 1.3 and utilities off .5.

IBM gained 7, Xerox 6, Polaroid (new), Whittaker and Teldyne about 4 each.

Up about 2 points were Gulf & Western, Sperry Rand, Monogram Industries, Raytheon and Eastman Kodak.

Among the gold mining issues, Campbell Red Lake fell 4 1/2 to 30 on a delayed opening block of 20,000 shares, halving the loss later. Homestake plunged more than 7 points, American-South African and Dome Mines over 5.

Benguet, off a fraction, was the most active of the golids.

Silver mining shares also backtracked.

Prices rallied on the American Stock Exchange.

Extra U.S. Division For Vietnam Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is expected to increase U.S. troop strength in Vietnam by at least one more division—or about 35,000 more men.

Sources said the President has decided on a "moderate increase" in U.S. military manpower in response to an appeal by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, American commander in Vietnam, to raise the 525,000-man ceiling previously set.

Westmoreland was reported to have requested up to 206,000 more men after the massive Communist Tet offensive which began at the end of January.

The Johnson administration has claimed the Viet Cong forces suffered a major military setback in the resulting fighting.

But U.S. officials acknowledge the Viet Cong offensive threw U.S. and allied operations off balance and pinned down major combat forces to defensive positions in South Vietnam's bigger cities and towns.

Last week, Westmoreland launched the first major allied offensive since the Viet Cong mass attacks, with American forces sweeping out from Saigon.

ESEA Nurse, Mrs. A. Flanagan told the parents her main interest was to see that the pupils receive proper health and dental services. These services include medical examinations, eye, dental, audio and other physical services.

Protestors Now Face A Hog Farm

VERONA, Va. (AP)—Verona landowner Stanley L. Price wanted to set up a trailer park on his property. But his neighbors petitioned against it and the Board of Supervisors turned down his request.

Sunday this newspaper advertisement appeared:

"To lease to qualifying person or persons: 10 acres more or less, county ater, easily accessible for garbage truck through Verona Court or Verona Heights subdivisions. Qualifiers must maintain a legal hog farm raising from 300 to 3,000 hogs per year. Also feed and cook garbage on premises is possible. Will lease for $1 per month. Signed, Stanley L. Price

Red Attack On Khe Sanh Beaten Off

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese rangers fought off another attack on Khe Sanh today and allied troops sweeping around Saigon claimed an enemy death toll exceeding 800 in the first week of their big drive.

About 600 North Vietnamese soldiers charged from their trenches, some as close as 20 yards from the outer barbed wire, in their second attack this month on the South Vietnamese position at Khe Sanh.

A sheet of machine-gun fire from the rangers' trenches and U.S. Marine mortars drove the enemy away after about an hour. There was no report of casualties on either side, but the North Vietnamese could be seen dragging away dead and wounded men.

U.S. spokesman said the attack was a "strong probe" against the northwest frontier combat base, where the 400 rangers and some 6,000 U.S. Marines have been braced for several months for a major assault by an estimated 40,000 enemy troops around the fortress.

Enemy gunners fired about 500 shells at the Khe Sanh base Sunday, the heaviest barrage in bombers flew three raids against enemy positions.

Cites Services School Provides

FOUNTAIN—Frederick Graham, principal of North Fountain Elementary School, explained the services offered at school at the annual Parents' Conference held Wednesday at the school.

Graham explained the School Food Service and urged parents to participate in the lunch-room program. He urged parents to attend PTA meetings, to help teachers in their task to teach, and to become more interested in their children's attaining more academically.

Mrs. G. L. Reddrick, Elementary and Secondary Education Act social worker, told the parents her main interest was to see that the children attended school regularly. Mrs. Reddrick said she visits the children's homes whenever the teachers or principals request it to investigate absences. She said shoes and clothing are purchased for children whose parents are eligible to receive aid through the ESEA program.

ESEA Nurse, Mrs. A. Flanagan told the parents her main interest was to see that the pupils receive proper health and dental services. These services include medical examinations, eye, dental, audio and other physical services.

Moore noted in his prepared talk that Mrs. Smith has been paralyzed below the waist since she was injured in an automobile accident 30 years ago. She writes all the news stories and the editorials for the Bessemer City Record. The governor said she has been an inspiration for other handicapped persons.

Mrs. Smith was selected for the award by the governor's committee on employment of the handicapped.

Dr. Samuel Dace McPherson Jr. of McPherson Hospital in Durham was honored for his work in behalf of the handicapped.

McPherson was chosen by the executive council of the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina as the outstanding physician for 1967. He has been clinical professor of ophthalmology and acting head of the department of ophthalmology at the University of North Carolina Medical School since 1955.

Moore announced that the "ability counts" essay contest was won by Miss Elizabeth Vance Fogartie of the Myers Park High School, Charlotte. Runner-up was Miss Debrah Lee Jordan, Rockingham High School. C. G. Van Wyk Jr. of Pantego High School was third and Henry Derr Leonhardt of Oak Hill High, Morganton, fourth.

The National Weather Records Center, with 23 per cent of its employees handicapped, received its award in the over-200 employees category. The West Durham Lumber Co. was honored in the under 200-employees category. Moore said 44 per cent of the firm's total employees are handicapped.

If you're vice president of the United States, you send your jetliner back to Washington to get it.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Scranton Sunday night without a tuxedo. The discovery was made shortly after the $3 million jet landed at the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre airport at 5:05 p.m.

The Lockheed Jetstar went back to Washington National Airport and returned at 7:42 p.m. A state police car transported the formal wear to the vice president waiting at a Scranton hotel.

Calcutta's police chief imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew Sunday night, ordering his men to shoot any law violators in the area where gangs of Hindus and Moslems fought street battles.

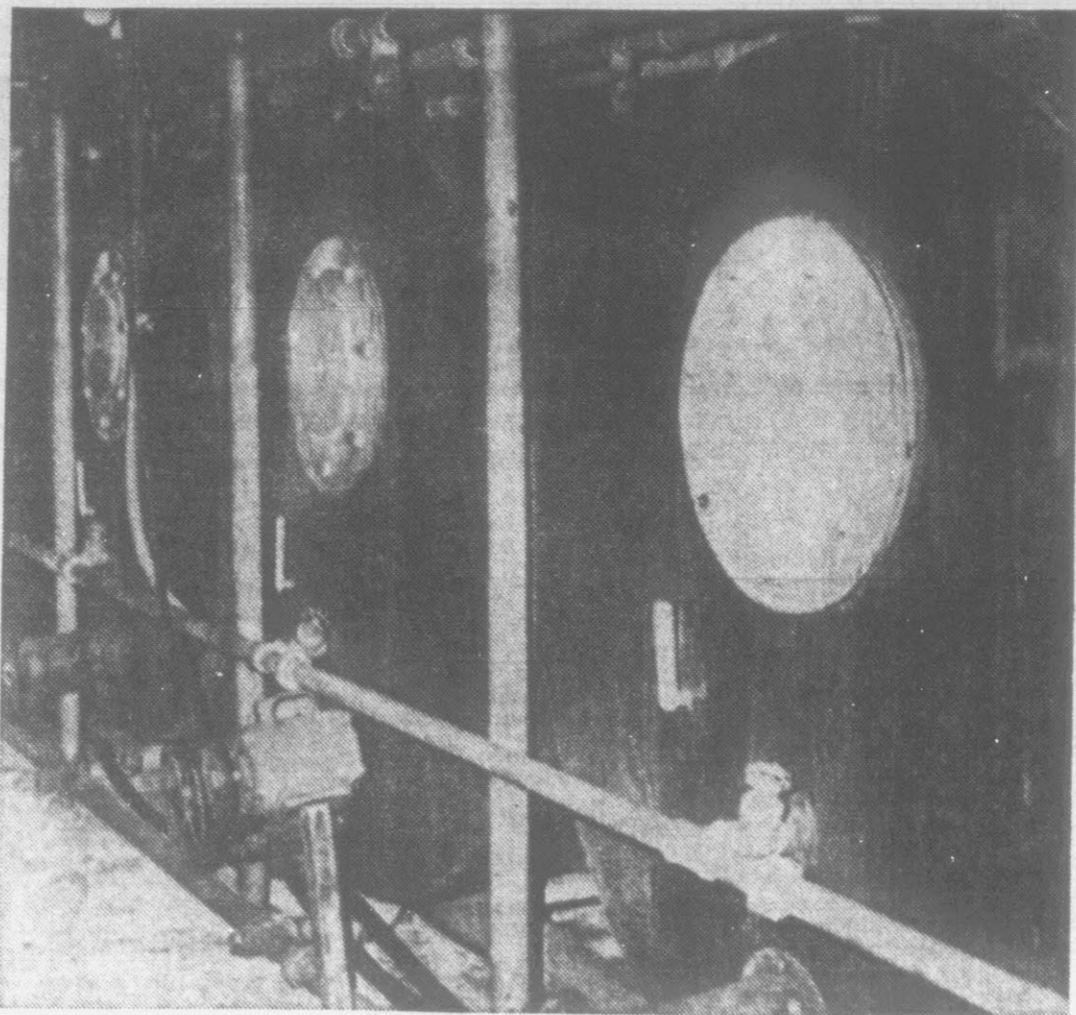

Richard Gallagher of nearby Shiprock, has been named city librarian in Farmington. According to public library statistics published by the secretary of state's office, Gallagher, 26, will become New Mexico's second fulltime male librarian.

Gallagher, a graduate of the University of Northern Iowa, is an elementary teacher at Shiprock, on the Navajo reservation. He will take over the job in June.

New Mexico's only other male librarian is Donald A. Riechmann of the Albuquerque Public Library.

When overdue books were accepted at the public library without fines Jan. 2, nearly 105,000 books—many of them valuable or out of print—were returned. Library officials were jubilant.

Now they fear the amnesty may have backfired. There has been a sharp decrease in the collection of fines on overdue books since.

Bessemer City Editor Is 'Outstanding Handicapped'

RALEIGH (AP)—Mrs. Lois Sexton Smith, a paraplegic for 30 years and editor of the Bessemer City Record, received an award today as the outstanding handicapped Tar Heel of the year for 1967.

Gov. Dan Moore also presented awards to the National Weather Records Center of Asheville and the Wes. Durham Lumber Co. for being the outstanding employes of handicapped persons in North Carolina in 1967.

Moore noted in his prepared talk that Mrs. Smith has been paralyzed below the waist since she was injured in an automobile accident 30 years ago. Coast Guard Hunts Lost Men

FORT MACON, N.C. (AP)—The Coast Guard today launched a search in the Sneads Ferry-New River Inlet area for three Goldsboro men missing on a fishing trip.

Three Coast Guard vessels and a Marine helicopter from Camp Lejeune were pressed in to the search for E. W. Walters, Charlie Bell and John Rich.

The three set out Sunday in an 18-foot outboard owned by Walters.

When they failed to return late Sunday, Mrs. Walters, who is at Sneads Ferry, notified a friend, who in turn called the Coast Guard.

It was not certain whether the men left from Sneads Ferry or New River Inlet.

The Wrightsville Beach Coast Guard also searched its area of responsibility for the missing boat.

The weather was clear and the water calm after some wind Sunday.

Nine Terrorists Killed In Fight

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Nine members of a terrorist band which slipped into Rhodesia from neighboring Zambia have been killed, one has been wounded and several captured in a fight with Rhodesian security forces, the government said today.

The announcement said one security member was killed and two wounded in the fighting.

Rhodesian forces are trying to block an influx of terrorists who have threatened to free condemned Africans from Rhodesian prisons and avenge the recent hanging of five blacks.

Rhodesian security forces have been on a general alert for nearly a week as anger mounted in neighboring black African nations over the executions. The government has relieved 35 Africans who were to die but sentenced five others Thursday to hang for bringing "weapons of war" into Rhodesia.

Calcutta's police chief imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew Sunday night, ordering his men to shoot any law violators in the area where gangs of Hindus and Moslems fought street battles.

U.S. Air Losses Far Below WWII Levels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. loss of planes and helicopters in the Vietnam war now exceeds its aircraft losses in Korea—but still is far below the World War II toll.

Pentagon figures show a total of 3,487 U.S. helicopters and fixed-wing planes have been destroyed in Vietnam.

In the Korean War, the total was 3,001, virtually all airplanes since helicopters were used in that war to a relatively insignificant degree.

The United States recorded 27,137 aircraft losses to enemy action in World War II. Figures were not available, but losses as a result of accidents and other noncombat causes probably ran into many thousands.

The total for fixed wing aircraft lost in the Vietnam war reached 2,007 last week. The number of helicopters destroyed in both combat and noncombat operations came to 1,480.

The Pentagon would not give a breakdown on aircraft losses by types, saying this is security material of value to the enemy.

Pentagon spokesmen said total costs of aircraft losses in the three wars are not available. But competent sources have said $4 billion probably would not be far off as the cost for Vietnam air losses.

The prices paid for individual airplanes indicate how costs have escalated since World War II.

For example, a B17 heavy bomber of World War II cost nearly $190,000—about $80,000 less than the price of an Army helicopter being used in the Vietnam war.

A B29, classed as a "very heavy bomber" in one World War II document, cost about $635,000—only a fraction of the $8 million price for a B52 of this era.

A World War II P51 fighter could be bought for $33,000. By the Korean war, the government was paying $212,000 for an F86 jet fighter. And today's fighter bomber, the F4 Phantom, runs about $2.4 million a copy.

Sunny skies and warm temperatures Saturday were replaced Saturday night by showers which continued through the day Sunday.

Receives $3 For Stolen Gasoline

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—Jackson County Treasurer Chester Guches received $3 and this letter:

"Dear Sir: Approximately eight or nine years ago, while I was still in high school, myself and a friend stole about 10 gallons of gas from a loader near Willow Lake. In the past month this has been bothering me and now I feel I should make things right. Enclosed please find $3 which should cover the cost of the gas."

What happens when you're scheduled to be principal speaker at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick's dinner and you forget your formal attire?

If you're vice president of the United States, you send your jetliner back to Washington to get it.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Scranton Sunday night without a tuxedo. The discovery was made shortly after the $3 million jet landed at the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre airport at 5:05 p.m.

The Lockheed Jetstar went back to Washington National Airport and returned at 7:42 p.m. A state police car transported the formal wear to the vice president waiting at a Scranton hotel.

Calcutta's police chief imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew Sunday night, ordering his men to shoot any law violators in the area where gangs of Hindus and Moslems fought street battles.

Richard Gallagher of nearby Shiprock, has been named city librarian in Farmington. According to public library statistics published by the secretary of state's office, Gallagher, 26, will become New Mexico's second fulltime male librarian.

Gallagher, a graduate of the University of Northern Iowa, is an elementary teacher at Shiprock, on the Navajo reservation. He will take over the job in June.

New Mexico's only other male librarian is Donald A. Riechmann of the Albuquerque Public Library.

healing & understanding

Christian Science has been a source of healing and understanding to many thousands since its discovery over a century ago. Those who have discovered for themselves what this religion teaches have felt deeply touched by the evidence of God's presence and care in their lives. You are invited to hear a public lecture on Christian Science called "A Discovery that Meets the Needs of Today" by MARTIN BROONES, C.S.B., member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.
