Junius Rose Portrait Is Unveiled Yesterday

Greenville city school teachers honored former superintendent of city schools J. H. Rose yesterday by presenting a portrait of the retired school head to school officials.

The honor was marred for Rose, however. His wife, Lenna Arant Rose suffered a heart attack about 1:30 p.m. and died in Pitt Memorial Hospital last night.

The portrait of Rose was unveiled at a 3:30 p.m. program at the Elmhurst School auditorium.

Presentation of the portrait, painted by Sarah Blacklee Speight, was made by Miss Agnes Fullilove, Louis Gaylord, chairman of the city Board of Education, accepted the painting on behalf of the schools.

The portrait will hang in the City Schools administrative office building on Fifth Street.

The unveiling of the portrait was done by Rose's grandson, Junius H. Rose III of Kinston. Dr. Junius H. Rose Jr., in the absence of his father, expressed Rose's appreciation for the honor.

Rose retired at the end of the 1966-1967 school year after heading the Greenville school system as superintendent for 48 years.

He came to Greenville as principal of Greenville High School in 1919 and was named school principal in 1920.

He is a graduate of Trinity College, now Duke University, and a member of the school's varsity baseball team. He received his MA degree from Columbia University.

Bullet Passed Safely Through

POWELLVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Tavern owner James Madison Keemer, 50, shot Saturday night during an argument with a customer, appeared to be dead and an undertaker was called.

But signs of life were detected and Keemer was taken to a hospital, where a doctor discovered the bullet had passed through his body without apparent damage to any internal organs. The doctor applied two small bandages and Keemer was released.

Not Sitting By

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today his administration has built mighty foundations for American society "and we are not going to sit by and let them be torn down in a partisan, political election year."

He told a loudly cheering labor audience that the nation can meet its social problems at home and its obligations in preserving peace in the world. Johnson said the United States has never been found wanting in previous wars "and we're not going to be found wanting now."

Showdown For Rivals In Panama

PANAMA (AP) — National Guard troops smashed the headquarters of opponents of President Marco A. Robles today and arrested an opposition leader after the National Assembly swore in a new president—an action Robles ignored. The troops moved in two hours after twice-deposed ex-President Arnulfo Arias called for nationwide civil resistance—understood to mean a general strike—in support of the assembly's decision to convict Robles of unconstitutional political activity and suspend him from office.

A make-or-break showdown seemed imminent. The National Guard, the nation's only military force, already had announced it could not obey the assembly decision and said it would await an opinion from the Supreme Court, due to reconvene next Monday.

Witnesses said the guardsmen smashed windows and doors and moved in behind a barrage of tear gas bombs shortly after 2 a.m. at the two-story headquarters of the National Union, a five-party coalition opposition opposed to Robles' government. Hildegrando Nicosia, the union's secretary-general, was among scores of demonstrators reported arrested in front of opposition headquarters. Nicosia told newsmen he thought he was the only official arrested.

Protesting N.C. Prison Conditions

RALEIGH (AP)—A Ku Klux Klansman, the parents of a man in prison and a girl staged a demonstration today in front of the Prison Department administration building to protest prison conditions.

Mrs. R. A. Overby of Graham, whose son is serving 10 to 15 years in prison for assault with intent to commit rape, told newsmen, "We want a new prison director."

"I have a list of things I want done," she said. After reading the list for newsmen, Mrs. Overby was asked if she had taken her complaints to Commissioner of Correction Lee Bounds.

"I've written him letters and I've seen him," she replied. "One time he gave me two minutes to get out of his office."

Others in the group were her husband; Violet Louise Mason, who lives with the Overbys; and Lloyd Jacobs of Durham, a painter who told newsmen he was a member of the Klan.

Mr. and Mrs. Overby charged that their son, Claude, 21, had been molested by other prisoners and mistreated since entering prison from Durham County in April, 1966.

"He was thrown into an out-building at Blanche Prison in Caswell County Wednesday and his clothes taken away from him," Overby said.

The four protesters carried placards. One read: "Demanding proper justice for the poor of all races, and better trained personnel, and care for inmates."

Bounds said Mrs. Overby had been to see him several times. He added, "She came to see me yesterday at my apartment and I wouldn't give her any time. I have checked on her complaints and they were without foundation."

Find Bodies From Irish Air Tragedy

FISGUARD, Wales (AP) — Bodies and bits of wreckage were found today near where an Irish airliner plunged spinning into the Irish Sea Sunday with 61 persons aboard. Hope has almost been abandoned for finding any survivors.

The British Air-Sea Rescue Center, directing the search, said a frigate had picked up two bodies and sighted a third.

Wreckage was found, too, about eight miles off Rosslare Point, Wexford, Ireland.

The last cryptic message from the pilot said "...at least 1,000 feet...spinning rapidly."

Lifeboats from Kilmore and Dunmore on the Irish coast put to sea and an Irish Army helicopter joined the search for more bodies and wreckage.

On shore, squads of police from Wexford and Rosslare patrolled the beaches, should anything be washed up there.

The British navy frigate HMS Hardy reported she would put into Rosslare harbor tonight with three bodies and some wreckage.

The finding of the bodies, closer to the Irish coast than expected, drew an armada of vessels which had been concentrating the search nearer the British mainland.

Two Injured As Car Goes Into Canal

GRIFFON—Two Negroes were injured Sunday when the car in which they were traveling went out of control and overturned end-over-end for 650 feet before landing in an 18-foot deep canal.

Highway Patrolman C. T. Herring said the driver of the vehicle, William Avon Daniel, 25, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was charged with careless and reckless driving following investigation of the 2:20 p.m. wreck. The wreck occurred on rural paved road 1110 about four miles east of Griffon, near St. John's Church.

According to Trooper Herring, the car left the roadway in a curve, then overturned three times before landing in the deep canal, 650 feet away.

Both Daniel and a passenger in the vehicle, William Earl Gardner, 27, of Route 1, Griffon were thrown from the vehicle. They were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of their injuries.

Damage to the car, a 1968 model auto, was set at $3,000.

Swiss Act To End Drain Of Silver Coins

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss government took drastic action today to halt a great silver rush after ingenious speculators tried to drain the nation of small change.

Following the gold panic, the world price of silver also shot up. Speculators quickly spotted the fact that Swiss silver coins contain roughly 30 per cent more silver than other European coins.

News of the big leak filtered through at the weekend as banks, department stores and automatic vending machine operators reported an unprecedented rush for silver change in the form of one, two and five franc pieces and the 50 centimes, half a franc, piece.

West Germany was reported the main target for the coins, which were melted down and used for industrial purposes or the manufacture of silver jewelry.

Imposing an immediate ban on hoarding, export, or melting down of all silver pieces, the Swiss government said in a communique that speculators made profits of about 36 per cent on the deals.

Pitt Youth Killed As Car Overturns Sunday

Pitt County's seventh highway fatality this year resulted from an 11:25 p.m. one-car crash a mile west of Greenville on U.S. 264 yesterday.

Edward Durant Frazier, 18, of Route 3, Greenville, died in investigators said, of injuries he received when thrown from the overturning vehicle in which he had been riding.

The alleged driver of the car involved was identified as William Allen Weathering Jr. of Lawson's Trailer Ct. Weathering, 37, also thrown clear of the car, landed in a plowed field in which the car came to rest. He suffered a fractured vertebrae and other injuries.

Coroner Harvey and Ptl. Winslow said investigation of the death is continuing.

Sampan Supply Fleet Smashed By Gunships

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — American helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers have smashed 245 sampans carrying weapons and food to Viet Cong troops in the Mekong Delta in the last three days, the U.S. Command said today.

Gunships destroyed 114 sampans and damaged another 50 Sunday at an enemy base camp near the Cambodian border, headquarters said. Pilots spotted the flotilla while flying support missions for South Vietnamese civilian irregulars and their U.S. Special Forces advisers fighting the Viet Cong 116 miles southwest of Saigon.

Headquarters said 20 Viet Cong soldiers were killed and 43 huts destroyed. It reported two civilian irregulars wounded.

Earlier Sunday, South Vietnamese infantrymen spotted a force estimated as a battalion moving in sampans near the delta city of Sa Dec, 80 miles southwest of Saigon, and called in air strikes. U.S. pilots reported ed sinking 36 sampans and said the enemy fled into nearby woods.

Numerous secondary explosions have been reported after the recent attacks on the sampans, indicating they were carrying ammunition or fuel.

U.S. officials said the volume of war supplies, presumably coming from Cambodia along many rivers and canals, has increased considerably in recent days.

This indicates the Viet Cong may be replenishing supplies depleted during their lunar new year offensive for possible fresh attacks in the delta. U.S. officials said the allies have begun a major effort to stop the sampan traffic.

On South Vietnam's northern frontier, North Vietnamese gunners shot down two U.S. Marine helicopters near Khe Sanh. One, a gunship, was attacking an enemy bunker complex two miles northwest of the Marine fortress. Its four crewmen were rescued but suffered burns when the chopper crashed.

Mrs. Blaiberg Tells How He Changed

Dr. Philip Blaiberg of South Africa is the only man in the world with another man's heart. Following is the second of three exclusive articles by his wife on the human side of this medical miracle.

By MRS. EILEEN BLAIBERG

Copyright, 1968, by Women's News Service
CAPE TOWN — By Dec. 14 Phil was so ill I didn't think he could last another day and he went into the hospital. I went with him in the ambulance, but we didn't talk. He was too ill.

In the last few days Groote Schuur hospital had become world famous — besieged by the international press and by television companies, avid for every scrap of news. It was the Mecca of physicians from all over the globe.

And in these same days, one man, Prof. Christiaan Barnard, Africa's leading heart surgeon, had become a household name on every continent. But all I could think of those days was my dying husband—pale tortured, despondent.

When I visited him at Groote Schuur on Dec. 15, the day after he was admitted, I couldn't believe my eyes. There was a new look about him. There was joy and hope in his eyes. He was excited and said there was something he must tell me. He told me he was just drowsing off the previous night when he saw a man standing looking at him from the end of the bed. He said he was a strange man with a sort of ethereal look about him.

The man told Phil he was Professor Barnard, and not to worry because Phil was going to be 100 per cent again.

I couldn't believe it was Phil telling me this. He doesn't talk like that. He doesn't use flowery language. He's very down to earth. But he told me that if Dr. Barnard asked him to jump into the lake, he would do so. Right from the beginning, he had confidence in him.

Joked
And every day Dr. Barnard called at the hospital, Phil grew to like him more and more. In fact, he grew fond of the whole medical team. They used to joke, and tell him what a kick it gave them to get their hands on a dentist. Phil liked that. He couldn't tell me enough about them and their dedication. And coming from Phil that's something, because he's a bit of a cynic.

Two days before Christmas I thought the end of the world had come. I heard on the radio that Mr. Washkansky had died. I rushed to the hospital to try to comfort Phil. Professor Barnard was in his room. He looked tense, exhausted and very pale. He told us about the death and said he would like Phil to go ahead.

But he emphasized it was a decision only Phil could make. I looked at my husband. He didn't hesitate. "Just name the date," he said. "Now I want more than ever to go ahead — to make it a success for both our sakes, and for the sake of the medical team."

Barnard's face lifted a little. "I'm glad you said that," he replied.

One day at the hospital Dr. Barnard told me he was going to America. He told me not to get frightened, as he would be back in five days.

Hated Barnard
Can you imagine how I felt? Phil seemed to be getting worse and suddenly, quite unreasonably, I began to hate Dr. Barnard with a deep hatred. I became like a raving lunatic. I'm ashamed of myself now because he obviously knew what he was doing.

I even tried to phone America to beg him to return because I couldn't bear to think that we might throw away this wonderful gift of a new life for Phil.

In many ways this was the worst time. And then, thank heaven, the news that the professor was returning home on Jan. 1. What a New Year's Eve!

As I lay in bed I could hear all the revelers, and imagined all the parties and wondered where the professor was, high in the sky, and just when he would be back at the foot of Phil's bed. You see, I knew what complete confidence Phil had in this brilliant man.

Well, at three o'clock on New Year's Day he arrived, and at seven that night I was with Phil.

But as hope rose for Phil and I, tragedy struck a 24-year-old colored factory worker, Clive Haupt. He had been married only three months when, playing on the beach in brilliant sunshine on New Year's Day, he suddenly collapsed. He was rushed

A Longtime Holder Of Public Trust

The resignation of D. T. House, Jr. as clerk of Pitt County Superior Court will leave a void in county government that will be difficult to fill.

Mr. House has a long and spotless record of service, stretching over a period of 23 years as clerk of court. And even before that he was serving in various positions of public trust.

Mr. House was teacher and principal at Falkland School from 1924 to 1931. He served as principal of Belvoir High School in 1931 and 1932 and was principal of Chicod High School from 1932 to 1936. He served five years on the county commissioners before being named clerk in July, 1945.

Thus Mr. House has been connected with the county government in one capacity or another for 44 years—most of his adult life.

Mr. House has also been active in civic life in Bethel, where he lives. He is on the Official Board of the Bethel Methodist Church. He is a member of the Bethel Masonic Lodge and a director of the Bethel Savings and Loan Association.

D. T. House Jr. will be stepping down from his post as clerk of Superior Court March 31. It is

Fisheries Ship Needs New Dock

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The state's gleaming new fisheries research vessel, the R-V Dan Moore, is completed, outfitted and staffed but embarrassingly has no place to dock.

Temporarily, the 85-foot steel-hulled stern trawler built at a cost of $400,000 is being berthed at a private facility close by the state fisheries headquarters at Morehead City. In Raleigh, meanwhile, officials of the division of fisheries and the department of Conservation and Development (C&D) are trying to find funds to build a new, bigger and lengthier pier to replace a little, weatherbeaten and rotting one which literally is falling apart.

The existing pier cannot be used — it is inadequate — to berth the R-V Dan Moore which, hopefully, will gather information, data and new knowledge leading to strides in developing North Carolina's fishery.

Is A Symbol

The costly vessel itself is a symbol of the demand for and recognition of the need for research into how best to harvest the bounty of the sea.

Emphasis today in the fisheries industry is on research—in many fields. It is well known that several other nations have surpassed the United States in fishing, in techniques, methods and knowledge.

There is also the realization that North Carolina with its great expanse of coastal waters and Atlantic Ocean fishing grounds, its sounds, bays, inland waters and estuaries has barely scratched the surface of its fisheries potential.

Research Is Key

Almost unanimously, up and down the coast, among fishermen, oystermen, shrimpers and crabbers it is agreed that more research is the key—that new knowledge, new methods, techniques, better conservation measures, more markets and more profits will result.

But the fact is that the state has been stingy in this respect. Funds requested for fisheries research have been cut to almost nothing except for approval of money to build the R-V Dan Moore. Until then, fisheries had been considered primarily an area of enforcement of various local laws and collecting of commercial fishing license fees.

In 1965, the multitude of local fishing laws applying to different coastal counties was wiped out by a new state fisheries code. Funds were voted to construct the new research vessel and it appeared a new era for coastal fisheries might be dawning.

The next legislature will be asked for even more money for fisheries research and programs.

Inland Waters

A fisherman from Stumpy Point, N.C., writes about the need for an experimental vessel for the "inside waters" of North Carolina.

The writer, H. O. Golden, says "there are many things to learn, new methods of producing and protecting what we have today. There are many things in our waters which with the proper study would increase the commercial and sports fishing to a great extent."

"For example, transplanting clams, as well as oysters. There are millions of bushels of clams up our sounds and rivers which could be transferred to the proper water and bottom conditions. . . We have much to learn about how to catch shrimp and help protect our fish at the same time."

Golden, and others, urge research efforts for the state's inland waters such as the Pamlico and Albemarle Sounds.

a certainty however, that a man who has been so active in public life through the years will continue to give his attention and energies toward helping maintain good government.

Further Expansion Of Hospital Seems Sure

It takes only a glance at statistics concerning Pitt Memorial Hospital to bring home the fact that further expansion of the hospital's facilities is just a matter of time.

The hospital staff has reported that the institution had an average of 157.4 patients per day last year compared with 139.7 during the previous year.

There were 4,868 operations last year compared with 4,230 in 1966. Last year saw 1,044 live births while in 1966 there were 1,027.

Some 100,300 laboratory tests were performed in 1967 compared with 80,100 in 1966 and there were 11,052 x-rays last year comparing with 9,365 in 1966.

All of this shows that the hospital's facilities are being used increasingly as time passes. In this day of Medicare and widespread private hospital insurance programs it is a certainty that this trend will continue.

This means, of course, that the present facilities will be overloaded in a few years and the county will be faced with the responsibility of finding additional funds to provide more space.

Use That Time You're Waiting

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — You can't hurry a wife or an army. It's foolish to try to.

Any male veteran of either matrimony or the military service soon learns the unspoken philosophy of both institutions is the same: "Hurry up and wait."

In the Army you receive rush orders to be prepared to move out at a moment's notice. You get ready as fast as you can. Then you just sit there and wait. . . and wait. . . and wait. Marriage works the same way.

"For Pete's sake, when are we going to get going?" demands the newlywed husband of his bride as she dawdles at her dressing table.

"I'll be ready when I'm ready," she answers serenely. If you try to hurry me, you'll only make me nervous."

What the new husband doesn't realize is that playing the waiting game is one of the major industry's of a woman's life, and that it is a game only a woman can play superbly well. It is her chief weapon against men, her means of keeping them off balance.

If a man marries at 25 and expires at 70, he'll spend 45 years in marital harness. He can look forward, on the average, to spending at least 10 of those 45 years waiting for his wife to do something.

He'll be standing on a street corner waiting for her to show up. He'll be sitting outside a powder room waiting for her to come out. He'll be drooping behind her at a restaurant waiting for her to pick out a seat. He'll be tying up a travel agent waiting for her to decide where they are going on a vacation. He'll be pacing a hospital corridor on Christmas Eve, waiting for her to give birth to the baby that the doctor confidently told them would arrive before Thanksgiving.

There are many interesting and profitable ways a man can pass the time while wife-waiting.

1. Catch up on his sleep. Ten more years of sleep is what most men really need today to cope with the trials of civilized living.
2. Learn to wear a monocle.
3. Practice introspection and become the first local guru in his neighborhood.
4. Grow a beard.
5. Take a correspondence school course in how to become a ventriloquist or private detective.
6. Start a home mail order business in selling hand-dipped candles and art objects made of used chicken wishbones.
7. Dig a family bomb shelter in the backyard.
8. Memorize the commercials on television, and see if you can recite them backward.
9. Write helpful letters to the troubled congressman of his choice.
10. Secretly raise a herd of chinchillas in his basement and surprise his wife on her anniversary with a home-grown fur coat.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PROGRESS?

Someone has said that progress is the mother of problems. If you want to get a really hot argument started, make the statement among a group of intelligent and well-informed people either that our nation is the greatest ever and getting better every day, or that we are on the slide and are daily getting closer to the precipice. No matter which side you take, you will confront strident adversaries.

Yet, look at what we call progress. Since the turn of the century we have killed more people in war than during the whole of previous world history. Just when we think everything is settled for a good lunge into a peaceful future, we are overwhelmed with race riots. A small preparatory school recently had to dismiss an alarming number of students who insisted on smoking marijuana. Who would ever have thought that the time would come when habit-forming drugs would enter into the discipline problems of modern educators?

Yet this is undoubtedly an age of progress. Materially and scientifically the human race has made more progress in the past century than ever before in human history. When George Washington was serving his second term as president in Philadelphia, he returned several times to his beloved Mt. Vernon, less than a hundred and fifty miles away. The best time he ever made was six days! Today one is hardly off the runway at Philadelphia before he is on the runway at Washington.

Progress—but the mother of problems.

Too Much Is Too Much

Dear Francois:

I wish I could tell you things are going well here in Paris, Francois, but I would not be telling the truth. As you know, everyone in France keeps his gold in his mattress, and because of the recent surge in gold buying, the mattresses are so lumpy that no one has been able to get any sleep. People walk around with cricks in their backs and bruises on their arms and legs from turning over in bed. Tempers are short and a certain joie de vivre has gone out of the French people.

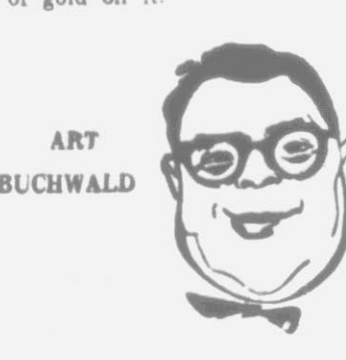

Even my mistress, Yvonne, has been complaining. I bought so much gold last week I couldn't get it all in my mattress at home, so I asked Yvonne if she would mind if I stored some gold in her mattress. At first she said she wouldn't, but after a couple of nights she said either the gold had to go or she would. I hate to take Yvonne off the gold standard.

It's true, Francois, that all we talk about in France these days is gold. I went to the dentist the other day to have my teeth cleaned, and before I knew it, the dentist had filled every tooth in my mouth with gold. I complained, because he had told me on the previous visit that I had no cavities. But he just shrugged his shoulders and said, "I don't know what to do with the gold I've got, so I might as well fill teeth with it."

Everywhere you go it's the same story. Even in the restaurants they now sprinkle gold powder on your salad whether you ask for it or not. Several restaurants are now featuring cream of bullion soup, and instead of bacon, liver is now served with strips of gold on it.

In the grocery stores, for every bar of soap you buy, you get a free bar of gold. And if you drive into a gasoline station and you can name the president of France, they give you a free gold bumper for your car.

People are getting so fed up with having gold forced on them that they've been dumping it in junk piles all over the city, which, as you can imagine, has played havoc with Mme. De Gaulle's beautification program.

Employees must now accept their wages in gold, instead of checks, and many unions have protested that their with hernias before they home.

You remember, dear Francois, the barricades the students used to build at the Boulevard St. Michel with paving stones? Well, now they are using gold bricks instead, which are infinitely cheaper.

There is even talk of tearing down the Eiffel Tower and rebuilding it in gold. Of course, President De Gaulle is aware of what the gold surplus is doing to his country, and he has ordered a

Other Editors Saying Walking To School

(Hartford Courant)

Probably it is progress and a sign of something that escapes Countrymen. Big buses pick up the children and deliver them to school. If they walked they would get too tired to their physical education classes in flossy gymnasiums. Our national fitness program deserves our support and experts probably figure that walking is not the right way to help achieve it.

Half a century ago boys and girls walked peaceful country roads to the district school. On a pleasant day, when telephone wires were singing and a brisk, gusty wind varied the music, it was taken for granted that boys and girls would walk along the tracks left by sleighs and sleds.

It was good to start early enough so a lad would have a few minutes to explore the hillside above the brook and see if the fox den showed tracks around the entrance. One could take time to visit in a sugar grove and have a drink of the sweet sap. The brook was running full and naturally one looked to see if that big, dark water snake had come from its winter hiding place.

Walking to school and walking home were parts of the day a young citizen enjoyed. You could feel spring in the air as the granular snow crunched underfoot. Chickadees sang their sweet two-note spring song and the alto strains blended with the music of the wires that stretched from gray, weathered poles. Children don't walk to school now, but a man watching a big bus go by wishes that boys and girls could know the fun he had half a century ago walking a country road.

That Gold Rush Will Affect You

By ELMER ROESSNER

The two-price solution to the gold crisis will have only slight immediate effects on Joe and Mary Doakes.

However: Gold jewelry will cost more.

Gold dental work will be more expensive.

Costs of foreign travel, already high, will go higher.

The build-up of interest in gold will create more interest in gold jewelry, gold coin collecting and other ways of owning gold legally.

Smuggling of gold into the United States will increase. More travelers will try to bring in foreign gold coins, small gold bars, etc.

Over the long term, effects will be great. The United States has but one more tie between gold and the dollar.

The first cut was made by President Roosevelt when he increased the price of gold to $35 an ounce. The U. S. cut another tie at the same time when it removed gold from circulation. It cut another when it prohibited Americans from owning gold, except in jewelry and coin collection.

Later it cut another when it prohibited Americans from owning gold abroad. This week still another tie was cut when President Johnson signed the bill ending the gold cover for U. S. currency.

There is only one tie left: our promise to meet our foreign obligations in gold.

The dollar's major intrinsic value now is that it is good to pay taxes, and for that reason alone will be generally accepted within the U. S. It will be accepted abroad only when it may be exchanged for local currencies, and central banks can exchange it for American gold, at $35 an ounce.

So far, the dollar has been fully negotiable abroad, except for a few hours last weekend.

More Inflation

With it no longer necessary backing up the dollar in domestic use, legislators and politicians will be strongly tempted to inflate the currency even more than they have already. We can look for-

Screen Out Talent

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The discovery that poorly conceived, mass produced employment tests can deprive corporations of valuable talent is leading some companies to place more reliance today on personal examination of applicants.

This reaction is good news not just to the geniuses who fail to conform to the pattern demanded by the tests but to those who, because of background and environment, cannot fully understand the meaning of questions.

In this latter category, says the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, are numerous minority group members, especially Negroes, Spanish Americans and the foreign born.

The commission, in a report just released, noted that "the personnel procedures of many employers screen out rather than screen in people." With good workers in scarce supply, this could be damaging to both company and job applicant.

Standardized tests, said William Taylor, staff director of the commission, have been designed to test the white middle class. To illustrate, he draws this question from a widely used test: "Does R.S.V.P. mean 'reply not necessary'?"

Although it is entirely possible that the white applicant would fail the question, it isn't difficult to imagine a much higher failure rate for those from environments where such niceties have little meaning.

Would the white applicant do well on this question: "Cheap chintills taste rubbery unless they are cooked long enough. How soon can you quit cooking them to eat and enjoy them? 1. 15 minutes. 2. Two hours. 3. One day. 4. One week on a low flame. 5. One hour."

The answer: It would take one day or 24 hours to properly cook cheap chintills.

The report, called Employment Testing: Guide Signs, Not Stop Signs, was prepared by Myron Kandel, editor of the New York Law Journal on assignment from the commission, a temporary, bipartisan, independent agency set up by Congress.

One of the major themes of the report is that employers must remember that the applicant who cannot perform well on a test might perform well on the job. To overlook this may be to ignore a potentially productive employee.

Among the several other ways in which employers deprive themselves of good workers and retard the future of applicants: —Setting standards unnecessarily high.

—Using tests as the sole indication of whether to hire or reject.

—Confusing social acceptability with the capability of doing the job.

—Failing to recruit from among minority groups.

—Using unskilled personnel interviewers.

—Failing to train potential employees, even though government funds are available to assist employers in training the unemployed.

Some Don't Grow Up

By ABIGAIL BAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to Meyer for three years. He's short, fat, and bald, but he thinks he's God's gift to women. This is my second marriage and his fourth. I am 55 and Meyer claims he's 63, but I am sure he's closer to 70.

For the last year Meyer has been chasing young girls. Believe me, he is no lady-killer, but he has plenty of money which explains why he can get a different young girl every night. He goes around in public with his girl friends and has even brought them to our apartment, knowing I will come home and catch him. He came right out and asked me to divorce him, but he is not getting rid of me so easy.

I am too old to work and I don't want to get married again. I told him I made a bad deal but I'm willing to sit with it. Am I wrong? I am really satisfied with things as they are, as I don't bother him and he doesn't bother me.

STANDING PAT IN MANHATTAN

DEAR STAND: Yours is a very strange marriage, but to each his own. Tell Meyer to quit chasing young girls before he drops dead. And if he wants a divorce in New York, he'll have to catch YOU.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our twenties, have been married over a year, and are expecting our first child soon.

My husband works out of town six nights a week, and Sunday is our only day together, and we like to spend it alone.

Here's our problem: We have two friends, a young engaged couple, who come to visit us EVERY Sunday. If we aren't home when they arrive, they wait for us outside in their car. We have hinted and tried to tell them in every polite way we know that they have worn out their welcome, but they don't seem to understand. Last Sunday when they came, I was lying down as I didn't feel well. My husband told them this at the door, but they just said, "That's too bad," and they barged in anyway, took off their coats, and stayed all day visiting with my husband.

Abby, we are at the end of our rope with these people. We hate to hurt their feelings, but what do we do now? They say we are the only friends they have.

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't worry about hurting the "feelings" of those who show such an appalling lack of consideration for yours. "Polite" talk, and hints won't help. TELL them in plain language that when you want company, you will call them — and to please discontinue their visits until then. If you lose their "friendship" (this is a freindship?) you haven't lost much.

DEAR ABBY: Recently someone wrote in blaming his mother for not having FORCED him to continue with his music lessons.

My father has taught music for 35 years, and here are a few of his ideas on the subject:

Never force music on a child who has no interest in it. Music should be enjoyed; don't spoil a child's pleasure as a potential member of an audience. Listening is an art, too.

Trying to teach your child to play the instrument you yourself play is like trying to teach your own wife to drive a car. Ask the school music teacher if he gives private lessons. If not, he will be able to recommend someone who does.

If you love the violin and your child wants to play the sax, rent him a sax. Most music stores rent instruments, and some schools lend them. (Don't invest good money in an expensive instrument "hoping" your child will learn to like it. Find out first.)

Give him privacy to practice, and never laugh at his mistakes or ridicule him.

And last, but most important, encourage him by attending any recitals he happens to be in.

A home full of music can't be all bad. The family that plays together stays together.

Shows Dolls Collected In Europe And Global Tour

Mrs. Ned Kinsaul of Farmville presented the program at the meeting of the Senior Citizens Club Thursday morning at the Elm Street Recreation Center.

Mrs. Kinsaul showed the dolls she has collected in her travels to Europe five times and around the world another time. The dolls are dressed in fashions typical of the country visited.

The speaker gave a brief history of the doll. She told of an antique collector in England who has a doll, found in an Egyptian tomb, that is over 4,000 years old. In Europe, the first dolls were made in Germany. Later Switzerland, France and The Netherlands manufactured dolls.

"The early settlers in this country made dolls from bedposts and from wishbones. Later paper dolls and rag dolls were made," Mrs. Kinsaul said. "In 1858, the first doll manufacturer in America was a German who used papier mache for the head. Later China heads were used on stuffed bodies."

Her collection includes an American Indian doll, a Mexican doll, a Portuguese peasant doll, a doll of Finland and many others.

Mrs. Sallie Reagan president, presided over the business meeting and the devotional was given by the Rev. Adrian Brown.

Mrs. May Collins of Florida, a former member of the Greenville Senior Citizens Club presented the local club with a plaque of the Senior Citizen Prayer.

The Greenville Club has been invited to be the guests of the Washington Senior Citizens Club on May 8. The club voted to accept the invitation and to postpone their annual luncheon until May 17. Plans were made to attend the State Convention in Raleigh May 21-22.

I envy you, Francois. You don't have such problems in the United States right now.

'Family Textbook' Of The Average American

Dr. Ross shows why the newspaper is truly the "Family Textbook" for most Americans. It often pioneers in helpful education and thus blazes the trail that is later followed by the curriculum in high schools and colleges. Yet some men sneer disdainfully at newspapers as being "low-brow." That's ridiculous!

By George W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-525: Dr. Galen Starr Ross is President of Capitol College.

He is a peppery defender of "free enterprise" and a superb coiner of striking phrases.

For that reason, he has been a popular platform artist, having delivered over 550 college and high school commencement addresses.

Thirty years ago I sat at the speaker's table when he electrified the men at the Chicago Executive's Club by his luncheon speech.

During a recent visit with Dr. Ross, I was interested to hear his comments on "advice" columns in the daily newspapers.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "when you first announced the shocking fact that divorces start in the bedroom, many people regarded you as merely a sexologist.

"They called you the 'American Dr. Freud.'"

"Here at Columbus, Ohio, some of the psychology professors even attacked you! One wrote saying it was impossible to change personality by reading a newspaper column, or a book or one of your educational newspaper booklets.

"But while other 'advice' writers were still talking about the 'birds and bees,' you were showing couples specifically how to avoid divorce.

"For you revealed the terse medical and psychiatric facts by which they could insure happiness.

"Now the pendulum has swung in your direction to such a degree that other 'advice' writers are even using your phraseology.

"Ann Landers thus states that 'divorce starts in the bedroom,' thus adopting your scientific views which you released in your 'Worry Clinic' 30 years ago.

"And now many university psychologists are launching Marriage Courses, wherein they parrot the very ideas your newspaper column revealed a generation earlier.

"Which simply goes to show that the newspapers of America are far in advance of our schools.

"They inform and educate the great mass of Americans with helpful medical, psychological and political facts that are often 20 years ahead of our formal college curriculum.

"So I fully agree with your oft repeated theme that the newspaper is truly the 'Family Textbook' of America.

"It is also more practical and far more dynamic than the usual college curriculum!"

Dr. Ross graciously is demonstration the "Compliment Club," isn't he?

But what he says about newspapers is certainly very true.

When I lecture before church "Marriage Clinics," I find that there is a vast difference in the audience's attitude, depending on whether they have had access to this column in their local newspaper.

Thus, 20 years ago when I addressed the Detroit TOWN HALL, the women there were most appreciative, for they had been acquainted with my daily column.

But my next stop was at Toledo. I delivered almost the identical address but it caused about 20 women to arise right during my talk and march out in shocked protest!

Yet I didn't use lurid terms but even employed the euphemism of "erotic calories" to avoid the taboo word, "sex."

Ann Landers and Abbey were students at Morningside College where my college textbook was the classroom text in Applied Psychology, so maybe they absorbed some ideas therefrom, for they are clever girls.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents and see how newspapers have pioneered in preventing divorce!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Alcindor Voted Star Of NCAA Tourney Play

NO. 1 OF NO. 1 — With the basket netting draped over his shoulders as a souvenir, giant Lou Alcindor makes his feelings known just after leading UCLA to the NCAA basketball championship at Los Angeles Saturday night. Alcindor dominated the game and scored 34 points in a 78-55 victory over North Carolina. UCLA crushed Houston, ranked No. 1 in polls, the previous night. (AP Wirephoto)

By DAN BERGER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Towering Lew Alcindor was named today as the outstanding player in the national collegiate basketball championships after leading UCLA to its fourth title in five years.

The Bruins crushed previously unbeaten Houston, 101-69, Friday night and then came back for a 78-55 triumph over North Carolina in the title game Saturday. The 7-foot-1½ Alcindor scored 53 points and hauled down 34 rebounds in the two games.

He is the fourth player in history to be voted the honor two years in succession. The others are Bob Kurland, Oklahoma State, 1945-46; Alex Groza, Kentucky, 1948-49; and Jerry Lucas, Ohio State, 1960-61.

Three other Bruins were named to the all-tournament team. With Alcindor on the select five were Mike Warren, Lucius Allen and Lynn Shackelford. The fifth man was North Carolina's Larry Miller. Player of the year Elvin Hayes of Houston failed to make it.

Shackelford was accorded the honor on the basis of his 17 points and great defensive play in the victory over Houston.

Allen and Warren set the tempo of the game early in the finale. Allen wound up with 30 points for the two games and was all over the court against the Tar Heels, stealing passes on the Bruins' full court zone press.

Warren was the court general, guiding the offense and keeping

North Carolina's fine sophomore Charlie Scott fairly well bottled up.

But Alcindor was the real story. He tossed in 34 points. He blocked nine Tar Heel shots, five of them off the head of 6-foot-10 Rusty Clark. And Lew even stole the ball at midcourt and dribbled in to score a crowd-raiser early in the second half.

"They are by far the greatest basketball team I've ever seen," North Carolina coach Dean Smith said.

And most of them will be back next year.

"We are going to have a fine team," UCLA coach John Wooden said. "I hope we will be back to defend our title. I wouldn't trade our chances with anyone." In the game for third place, fired up Ohio State came from behind in the second half to beat Houston, 89-85, as burly Steve Howell scored 26 points.

The Tar Heels, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference, tried to slow down the torrid Bruins in the first half by using a "four corner" offense—sending one player to each of the four corners of the fore court and hoping to get the ball to Miller or Scott.

But the defensive efforts of Mike Lynn, Aen Heitz and Shackelford plus the ever-present Mr. A stopped the attempt. The Bruins went into a 2-2-1 zone defense and won going away.

Little Porsche Racers
Lead Others In Points

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Porsche's durable little cars left no room for argument about the finish of Sebring's 12 hours of endurance Saturday.

At the awards presentation Sunday, when it became official that Hans Herrmann of Germany and Jo Siffert of Switzerland were the winners in their Porsche prototype, there wasn't even a token protest.

Porsche didn't have any competition that could stand up around the clock and the 1-2 finish of the German team was almost a duplication of its 1-2-3 at Daytona Beach seven weeks earlier.

In the race for world points, Porsche is far out front with 18 going into the Brands Hatch race in England next month.

Vic Elford of England and Jochen Neerpasch of Germany, who won at Daytona, took second here.

The domination of Porsche was clear when a pair of Camaros and a Mustang—heavier and clumsier than the sleek racing porsches—finished third, fourth and fifth. They were more than 130 miles behind the winner.

Mark Donohue and Craig Fisher drove the third-place Camaro; Joseph Welch and Bob Johnson the fourth placer. Jerry Titus and Ron Bucknum were in the fifth-place Mustang.

Next came three Porsche 911s—production cars like Mustang and Camaro—and a little MG.

Winners Herrmann and Siffert covered 1,232.4 miles at an average speed of 102.512 miles an hour.

Olympic Funds
'Missing'

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Olympic Committee said today it had asked the district attorney in Dallas to look into the disappearance of some $72,000 collected in the South-West for the Olympic fund.

In Dallas, it was reported that the Dallas grand jury had received five embezzlement counts growing out of local handling of the funds.

Arthur Lentz, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said his office had asked Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas to make an investigation several weeks ago after anonymous telephone tips of mismanagement of the funds.

Lentz said this was the first instance of any sort of a scandal in the collection of Olympic funds. The U.S. Olympic Committee depends on donations and subscriptions for the support of its teams.

Golfing Playboy
Battles 'Image'

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Ray Floyd is trying to erase his image as a golfing playboy, but the 25-year-old Texan still likes to gamble.

The chunky bachelor took a one-shot lead into today's final round of the Pensacola Open Golf Tournament because of a gamble that paid off Sunday.

Floyd, who wiped out an eight-stroke deficit with a blazing 64, eagled the eighth hole after driving into the woods. He was 235 yards from the green, but he saw a six-foot opening between the trees and went for the hole with a three-wood.

The ball stopped 30 feet from the cup, and Floyd knocked in the putt for an eagle 3 on the par five hole.

Dayton Flyers Pulled Away For NIT Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton only made it into the National Invitation Tournament by a 10th of a 10-game winning streak but the tourney-wise Flyers certainly knew what to do when they got there.

"We had the worst record in the tournament," said Flyer Coach Don Donohue, "and we had to sweat it out getting into the field. We had to win the last game of the season."

The Flyers, who won their last 10 regular season basketball games for a 17-9 record, stretched the string to 14 Saturday by beating Kansas 61-48 for the NIT championship.

Last year, the Flyers surprisingly finished second to UCLA in the NCAA tournament that UCLA won again Saturday night in Los Angeles. The Bruins clobbered North Carolina 78-55 as Lew Alcindor scored 34 points.

Ohio State upset Houston 89-85 for third place.

With sparkling Don May and three other starters back, Dayton was poised for another great year.

"When we were 7-9 in January," Donohue said, "I thought we needed a new coach. Although seven of those defeats were by less than six points. This team definitely was as good as last year's team."

But everything seemed to fall into place in Dayton's last loss, at Louisville, Jan. 23.

"We were down by 16 when we started Dan Obrovac at center the second half, and lost by one," Donohue said. "Obrovac was a new kid after that. We're bigger and stronger at center with him than we were last year."

May, who won the Most Valuable Player award, hit 17 of his 22 points in the second half when the Flyers broke a 25-all halftime tie and pulled away to their second NIT title in 12 tries. Dayton won in its last appearance in 1962 after five second place finishes.

May, a 6-foot-4 second team All-American, who became Dayton's all-time high scorer in the victory, also topped The Associated Press All-Tournament team.

Kansas, which finished with a 22-8 record after its first NIT, placed Jo Jo White on the first five. Others were Larry Newbold of Long Island U., Eluard Webster of St. Peter's and Bob Whitmore of Notre Dame, which beat St. Peter's 81-78 for third place.

Glum Exhibition Season For Rigney Angels

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the kind of exhibition baseball season it's been for Manager Bill Rigney—about the only thing he's had to comment on lately is what pitcher has looked best in shutting out his California Angels.

So far, it's been San Francisco southpaw Ray Sadecki.

"That's the best we've seen this spring," Rigney said of Sadecki's pitching Sunday in the Giants' 4-0 victory over the Angels, who have been blanked in three of their last four games.

"I can see why they were excited about him last year," Rigney said after Sadecki scattered four hits over nine innings. "He must have pitched that way toward the end of the season."

Sadecki finished strongly for a 12-6 record in 1967.

Three of San Francisco's runs Sunday came on Willie McCovey's homer off George Brunet in the fourth inning.

In other games, Houston drubbed Oakland 11-4 for its eighth straight victory, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 6-5, Washington overcame Philadelphia 4-2, Cleveland nipped the Chicago Cubs 5-4, Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 2-0, Baltimore stopped the New York Mets 3-0, the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 6-5, Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 4-0 and Boston whipped Atlanta 6-2.

While Sadecki was making a baseball look like a marble to the Angels, it continued to appear the size of a grapefruit to Sal Bando and Don Pavletich.

Bando hit his eighth homer of the spring for Oakland, and Pavletich belted his fourth and fifth for Cincinnati.

The two-run shot by Bando, who didn't hit any homers in 47 games with the Athletics last year, couldn't compensate for a sour fielding performance by his teammates. They committed four errors, two in the seventh inning when Houston scored five runs.

Pavletich, who socked six homers for Cincinnati last season, drove in the Reds' first four runs with a single and his two blast, and they won it in the ninth on Bob Rauman's triple.

Fred Whitfield's pinch double and Tony Perez' single.

Washington beat Philadelphia by scoring three runs with two out in the ninth inning. Bernie Allen's two-run double brought in two, and the third scored when shortstop Don Money lost a pop fly in the sun.

Cleveland overcame a 4-0 Cub lead by scoring five times in the seventh on a double, two singles, four walks and a hit batsman.

Denny McLain pitched the first seven innings and rookie Daryl Patterson finished up in Detroit's shutout of the Yankees. Willie Horton drove in both Detroit runs.

Eddie Watt yielded two Mets hits in the first inning, then he and Pete Richert, who took over in the sixth, pitched hitless ball the rest of the way for Baltimore. Larry Haney batted in Dave Johnson for all three Baltimore runs.

Pete Ward paced the White Sox, who overcame a 4-1 Minnesota lead, with a home run and two doubles.

Don Drysdale and Jim "Mudcat" Grant combined for a four-hitter against Pittsburgh at Nassau in The Bahamas. Bob Bailey batted in two Los Angeles runs.

Boston was shut out by Atlanta for five innings, but got going in the sixth when Mike Andrews homered.

Interior Of USC Field House Is Ravaged By Fire

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The interior of the University of South Carolina field house, site of Gamecock basketball games for 41 years, was destroyed by fire early today.

The last scheduled game in the 3,200-seat field house was played March 2 when South Carolina lost to North Carolina State. A multimillion dollar coliseum being built two blocks away is to be ready for use when the 1968-69 basketball season opens in December.

Campus police braved heavy smoke to rescue university trophies from the office of Coach Frank McGuire.

Students formed a human chain to bring out athletic equipment stored in the building.

Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

It is very important to control insects in the tobacco plant beds. Insects can be very destructive to the tobacco plants, especially when they are small. Some of the more common plant bed insects are: Flea beetle, midge larvae, vegetable weevil, aphids, grub worm, and cut worm.

These plant bed insects can be adequately controlled with either Parathion or DDT. Parathion is a quick killer but does not give any residual control. DDT will give some residual control. Parathion is a very poisonous material; therefore, precautions on the label of the container should be followed. It is safer to use Parathion as a dust than as a spray. Even when using it as a dust, it is a good practice to change clothes and take a bath immediately after applying the Parathion dust.

When you see evidence of insect damage you can get effective results quickly by applying Parathion dust. However, it is best to remove the plant bed cover before applying the Parathion dust.

Preventative treatment, using the schedule described below will in most cases give adequate control of plant bed insects. Three applications should be made as follows: Dust or spray the plants and soil (1) when the plants first appear, (2) when leaves are about two inches across, and (3) immediately before pulling. Use Parathion or DDT for the first two applications, but use only DDT for the last application. Preventative treatments are particularly suggested to growers who do not frequently check on their plant beds for insects.

DDT-Fermate dust can be effectively used for both blue mold and insect control but should not be used continuously. Excessive use of DDT will injure the plants.

Complete recommendations for plant bed insect control can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office in Greenville, located in the Tucker Building, or by calling telephone number 758-1196.

Landowners Join In Planning To Dig Lead Ditch

A group of Farmville landowners met recently with Elmer Bland and Roy Beck of the Soil Conservation Service to make plans to dig a lead ditch through their lands.

The landowners include: Harold Flanagan, Mrs. Doris Moore, Fred Moore, George Moore, Meta Sauls and L. G. Caraway.

Bland and Beck explained the engineering plan and furnished estimates of quantities and costs. The group agreed to have the ditch dug and made plans to ask the ASCS for cost-sharing assistance through a pooling agreement.

The ditch, when constructed, will cross N. C. Hwy. 264 where a 42 inch culvert is to be installed. Bland said the N. C. Highway Commission has agreed to install the 42 inch culvert.

Man Is Jailed On Morals Count

Robert Lee Jenkins, 24-year-old Negro of 1801 South Pitt St. was jailed Sunday, charged with having carnal knowledge of a 14-year-old Negro girl.

Chief H. F. Lawson said the girl's mother reported the incident at 9:45 p.m.

Jenkins, Chief Lawson said, admitted having intercourse with the girl, but said she told him she was 17 years old.

Investigation of the case is continuing.

McNair X-202 HYBRID CORN PRODUCES HIGH YIELDS

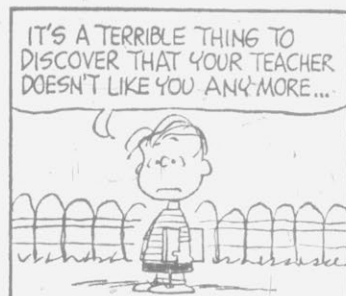

Mr. Edward Nixon, Hertford, N. C., reports "I planted 5.7 acres of McNair X-202 hybrid corn, and my yield averaged 199.5 bushels an acre."

"I planted 65 acres of McNair X-202," says Mr. Boyd Barfield, Mt. Olive, N. C. "I picked 487 bushels of corn for every bushel of seed I planted." He averaged 180 bushels an acre.

From all over the South, growers report high yields from McNair corn hybrids. In fact, McNair hybrids have led in more official yield tests than any other line of hybrids.

Plan for a profitable corn crop this season. Plant McNair corn.

Conservation Efforts Spread

Pitt farmers are working to get established permanent type soil and water conservation practices, such as sod waterways, diversions, terraces, tile and open ditch drainage, before crop planting time.

According to Elmer Bland of the Soil Conservation Service, a recent count of equipment doing conservation work in the county shows 10 bulldozers, 10 draglines, six tile trenching machines and numerous farm tractors on the jobs.

Bland said the SCS personnel have been assisting in planning the practices, doing the staking and layout, supervising construction, making construction checks, certifying amounts to the farmer and contractor and to the ASCS office where cost-sharing is involved.

"With improved weather conditions lately, farmers have needed assistance in erosion control practices," Bland said. "Several farmers have constructed sod waterways on their farms. They include the J. H. Harrell farm in Seven Pines community, the Powell Speight farm in the Seven Pines Community and John Smith of the Grifton community.

After 1970, the British money unit will be divided into 100 parts.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Nationalist China has told the United States it would reject any "fantastic suggestion" to withdraw defenses from the islands of Quemoy and Matsu with an unequivocal "no."

Chinese Nationalist Ambassador Chow Shu-Kai made the statement in an interview on a report the United States is preparing to ask President Chiang Kai-shek to withdraw the defenses.

"At a time when the Chinese mainland is in great turmoil and the people are resisting Mao Tse-tung in trying to overthrow his regime," Chow said, "it would be criminal to put more territory and people on a platter to be offered to that regime for slavery."

"Any U.S. suggestion for the removal of the Chinese National forces would be rejected," he said.

Newspaper columnist Jack Anderson reported last week a secret Defense Department analysis concludes the two islands, 3 to 12 miles offshore, could be written off without jeopardizing the defense of Taiwan.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has been sent an "urgent request" by a civil rights leader to help line up House Republican support for Senate-passed open housing legislation.

"I do not believe you want the bill to be killed or weakened," Clarence Mitchell, Washington NAACP director, wrote the Republican presidential candidate in a letter.

Mitchell said House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan is leading a fight to emasculate the open housing provision of the civil rights bill by sending it to a House-Senate conference for compromise.

The compromise, Mitchell told Nixon, likely would be a provision permitting real estate brokers and agents to discriminate against Negroes in the sale and rental of housing.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Poultry market steady. Price of live poultry at farms 13½ cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined irregularly in light trading early this afternoon.

After an initial show of firmness the list worked lower, without any particular selling emphasis.

Losses outnumbered gains by around 150 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The action in Wall Street was backgrounded by rising prices in most European stock markets and an increase in the price of gold in foreign markets.

Steel orders continued high and progress was made toward ending the prolonged copper strike. But the outlook for auto sales seemed uncertain even as new car sales in mid-March were well ahead of a year earlier.

A number of the leading blue chips were soft while gold-mining stocks perked up again. Some of the computer and conglomerate issues took further losses.

The Dow Jones industrial average at close was off 2.37 at 823.68.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.0 at 298.5 with industrials off

Evangelist Here For Services

The Rev. C. L. Patrick will be the guest evangelist at the Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church, located near Belvoir, this week.

Services will begin at 7:30 nightly and will continue through Saturday.

A former pastor of the First Free Will Baptist Church, Greenville, the Rev. Patrick has served as pastor of the Free Union Free Will Baptist Church for 20 years.

In 1964, he was chosen the "rural pastor of the year." He is present moderator of the Fourth Union Meeting of the Central Conference of Original Free Will Baptist.

REV. C. L. PATRICK

A period of prayer will be held each evening before the children's choir begins singing at 7:25. Each service will include special singing by members of the local church as well as choirs and groups from other churches. Among those expected will be a quartet from People's Bible Church, a trio from Mt. Pleasant Church in Wayne County and the Men's Choral Group from the Rev. Patrick's church.

The pastor of the local church, Jerry E. Rowe, and members extend an invitation to the public to attend the services.

Bob Dole, R-Kan., told a Regional Senior Citizens Conference that "inflation is a debilitating disease which (bbs) the older ease which strikes the older American with more savagery than any other group." Retirement plans, Social Security and veterans benefits "must be insulated from the erosion of inflation," he said.

Mindszenty Is Ready To Leave

VIENNA (AP) — An authoritative source said today that Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty has changed his mind about maintaining his self-imposed exile in the U.S. Embassy in Budapest and now wants to go to Rome.

But the informant said Hungarian authorities, who earlier displayed "great interest" in having the Roman Catholic prelate leave, have cooled toward that idea, making an early solution of the cardinal's case unlikely.

Candidate Helps Rival Incumbent

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Harry Sawyer, a former Key West police lieutenant, interrupted his campaign for sheriff long enough to help his opponent, Sheriff Reace Thompson, capture a prison escapee.

Sawyer was on a campaign trip through Florida's keys when he heard a radio report that two prisoners convicted of murder had escaped custody. Sawyer spotted one of the men along a highway and radioed the sheriff's department. Both prisoners were recaptured a short time later.

Fired Two Shots, Police Moved In

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Police swarmed to a residential area after Ray Brown, 64, fired two shots from his .22-caliber rifle.

"Policemen were coming at me from all directions, with guns and dogs," he said. One of the officers ordered me to drop my gun and put my hands up." Police apologized later. Brown is an official pigeon shooter for the city. He had called police to tell them where he would be shooting but the message wasn't relayed.

FIGHTER'S VIEW — Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templar, the Briton who beat the Communist guerrillas in Malaya, is shown during interview in London when he said an American withdrawal in Vietnam would have absolutely disastrous effects, not only in the Far East but farther afield. Templar, 69, said "If the Americans pull out of Vietnam the Communists will take over the whole of Southeast Asia—and Burma, India right up to the Caspian Sea would go." (AP Wirephoto)

N.C. Peach Crop Escapes Unhurt

WEST END, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's multi-million dollar peach crop, for the most part concentrated in the Sandhills area, escaped damage from the weekend cold spell, growers said today.

The orchards in the Sandhills "triangle" of Candor, West End and Ellerbe, are in full bloom and will remain so for the remainder of this week, said Clyde Auman, a leading grower.

Temperatures in the area dropped to about the freezing mark Saturday and Sunday nights. But Auman said the cool weather only served to slow the blooming cycle.

"It would take a sustained cold spell with much lower temperatures to hurt the crop at this stage," Auman said.

Improvement By Lurleen Noted

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An aide said today Gov. Lurleen Wallace showed "slight but steady improvement" over the weekend.

The daily hospital bulletin issued by acting News Secretary Ed Ewing said the 41-year-old governor's fever was "somewhat less;" that she is taking more nourishment by mouth, and that she is sitting up more and doing more walking about her suite.

Mrs. Wallace underwent cancer surgery for the third time Feb. 22. She was operated on again March 12 to drain an abdominal abscess.
