Heavy Fighting For Control Of Tiny Hamlet

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen supported by tanks, artillery and planes battled the Viet Cong today for control of a tiny hamlet northwest of Saigon in the fourth straight day of heavy fighting in the area.

Men of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division called in artillery and napalm air strikes only 50 to 100 yards ahead of them as they advanced into the hamlet of Ap Long Muc about 38-miles northwest of Saigon near the district town of Trang Bang.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have reported killing 396 enemy in the Trang Bang area since Sunday. Allied casualties were described as light.

Al Chang, an Associated Press photographer who was wounded slightly by shrapnel as U.S. tanks and armored personnel carriers moved up on Ap Long Muc, said the Viet Cong were well entrenched in the hamlet and greeted the advancing infantrymen with heavy machine-gun fire and a barrage of rocket-propelled grenades.

With the battle still raging, at least eight enemy dead were reported.

Meanwhile, U.S. headquarters said in another fight in the Trang Bang sector, 25th Division units killed 17 enemy after making a helicopter assault Tuesday four miles northeast of the town.

Moore Says Airports Now Vital Factor

AHOSKIE, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore said today that airports, once considered luxuries, are now an important factor in determining the location of future industries in North Carolina.

He made the statement in a speech prepared for the dedication of the Tri-County Airport near Ahoskie. The facility will serve Bertie, Hertford and Northampton counties.

Moore said the three counties had demonstrated "an outstanding spirit of community cooperation" in constructing the air facility.

"You have made this dream a reality because you worked hard and you worked together; and if anyone doubts the effectiveness of that combination, from now on I am going to recommend that they come down here and talk to you," Moore told the audience gathered for the dedication ceremony.

The governor noted that many companies in this area are already using the airport. Moore congratulated the three counties, saying: "You took on a bold and daring project, and in the face of great odds, you have succeeded."

Living Costs Up For Fifth Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in February, rising for the fifth straight month at an annual rate of 4 per cent, the Labor Department said today.

At the same time wholesale prices took the biggest monthly jump in two years, seven-tenths of one per cent, including a sharp 1.5 per cent rise in food costs that will probably be reflected later in grocery prices.

"It does appear it will continue to go up," Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said of the rise in the cost of living. The February increase brought the consumer price index to 119.0, meaning it cost $11.90 last month to purchase typical family goods and services worth $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Despite the price increases, some 45 million American workers gained 55 cents a week in purchasing power as average wages rose to a new high of $104.33. The gain resulted from a longer average work week and a one-cent rise in hourly earnings. Among the larger February price rises were medical care, up six-tenths of one per cent, housekeeping services, up five-tenths, and increases in mortgage interest, home maintenance and auto repairs.

Grocery prices rose four-tenths of one per cent and clothing six-tenths, the bureau said. The big rise in wholesale prices pushed that index up to 108.0, and preliminary figures for March indicate a further rise of three-tenths of one per cent.

Among the larger wholesale price hikes were those on copper, due to the continuing eight-month-old strike in that industry, and iron and steel products, stemming from stockpiling as a hedge against a possible steelworkers strike this summer.

Prices for copper and other nonferrous metals affected by the strike rose 5.5 per cent in February. About 112,000 workers, largely in the aerospace industry, will get pay increases ranging from one to three cents per hour because of the rise in consumer prices. They have cost of living clauses in their contracts.

Redevelopment Board Elects New Chairman

Billy Laughinghouse has been elected chairman of the Redevelopment Commission.

He succeeds Jack Edwards who is leaving the commission because he is moving to Brook Valley, which is outside the city limits.

The Redevelopment Commission administers the city's urban Newtown project. A Central Business District project has been approved and planning for this is now being carried out. Federal funds pay three-fourths the cost of the projects with the remaining one-fourth coming from local sources.

Laughinghouse is a Greenville native, attended local schools and graduated from East Carolina University. He served in the U. S. Air Force as an intelligence officer with a SAC refueling squadron in Texas. He returned to Greenville in 1956 and joined his family in the operation of Bostic-Sugg Furniture Co.

Laughinghouse has been active in the Jaycees. He has served as Boys Home Bowl chairman, state vice president, national director and for the past two years he has been editor of the Jaycee state publication "N. C. Future."

Laughinghouse received the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award in 1964. This year he is also serving as president of the Chamber-Merchants Association.

He is married to the former Jane Kanoy and they have four children. They reside at 1204 Greenville Blvd.

Laughinghouse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Laughinghouse.

Forecasting Shortage Of Nurses

RALEIGH (AP) — A report published by the state Board of Higher Education says North Carolina will have an acute shortage of nurses by 1975 unless action is taken to improve the quality of nursing education.

The report, to be distributed by the board Friday, was prepared by a joint committee of the Board of Higher Education and the state Board of Education.

"Most indicators," the committee said, "show the state below the national average."

"The number of registered nurses per 100,000 population rose from 236 in 1963 to 260 in 1966; however, the national ratio was 306 in 1964.

"Nearly 70 per cent of the nurses are employed by private hospitals and other institutions. The number of hospital nurses has increased while private duty nurses have decreased.

Forty-four per cent of the students in four-year college nursing programs in 1966 dropped out without degrees, the report continued. The drop-out rate from hospital schools was 36 per cent, from practical nursing programs 31 per cent and from two-year college programs 11 per cent.

Increased scholarship and loan programs and greater dissemination of information were recommended to recruit more students in nursing programs.

The report said North Carolina will need 21,000 "active, registered" nurses by 1975, and to meet a "more realistic goal" of 18,200, schools must produce 1,400 nurses a year. The present output of registered nurses is about 1,000 a year.

"Unless plans for orderly and sound development of nursing education are implemented," the committee said, "even the goal of 18,200 will be difficult to reach."

London Gold Dealers Hold Urgent Talks

LONDON (AP) — Urgent and secret talks were under way today among London's bullion dealers to devise a new plan for operating a free market in the world's largest gold trading center. The fate of the dollar may be at stake.

The London market was closed two weeks ago at the height of the gold rush. Its major source of supply, the monetary reserves of the gold pool nations, including the United States, was cut off by the central bankers meeting in Washington March 17.

The market was ordered to remain closed until next Monday.

The bankers in effect decreed a two-tier system for gold trading—one level for trading between central banks at the fixed price of $35 an ounce, and a free market price determined by supply and demand.

Smooth operation of the London market would lessen the risk of manipulation, because a bigger market is harder to fix. The French are believed to have tried to influence the Paris market at the height of the gold rush when London closed down. The Bank of France, acting on government instructions, is reported to have offered gold at an artificially high price to impress the central bankers meeting the next day in Washington.

Dealers in London said a statement on the future of the market here is expected Thursday or Friday at the latest.

Letters Mention Earlier Apology

TOKYO (AP) — The latest North Korean broadcast of purported letters from crewmen of the USS Pueblo mentions that the United States apologized to Pyongyang in 1963 to obtain the release of two captured helicopter pilots.

The North Koreans have demanded an apology and a promise against future such incidents as their condition for releasing the 82 crewmen of the Pueblo, captured Jan. 23. They claim it was spying in their territorial waters.

Execution Of Arabs Claimed

CAIRO (AP) — More than 16 Arabs from among 300 taken prisoner by Israel in last Thursday's attack on Jordan have been summarily executed, the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today.

Quoting "reliable information," the newspaper said between 16 to 20 of the Arab captives were shot by the Israelis after being interrogated on the size and activities of Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan. The report added, "The fate of the rest of the kidnaped Arabs, mostly civilians, is in serious jeopardy."

Fifteen Pitt Industries Receive Safety Awards

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Fifteen Pitt County industries received safety awards from the North Carolina Department of Labor at a meeting here last night.

North Carolina Commissioner of Labor Frank Crain, who made the presentation, gave a special award to Dr. James Butler, a long-time East Carolina University staff member, for his work in originating the safety awards program 21 years ago.

Butler, Crain said in presenting him a certificate of appreciation, organized the first safety awards program in the state while manager of the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce.

Industries recognized last night were presented safety awards for their accident prevention efforts and improved safety records during 1967.

Firms receiving first year certificates included: Carolina Dairy Products, Chapin Construction Company, Farmville Corporation, Florence-Mayo Co., Hendrix-Barnhill Co., and International Harvester Sales and Service.

Second consecutive year awards were presented to Blount Fertilizer Co., Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., and Phelps Chevrolet, Inc.

Awards for three consecutive years of safety were made to Fieldcrest Mills, Lutz and Schramm, Prep-shirt Manufacturing, Scott's Cleaners, Union Carbide Corporation and The Daily Reflector.

Last night's program was the third annual Pitt County safety awards program.

Sponsoring organizations included the Ayden, Farmville and Winterville Chamber of Commerce, the Grifton Merchants Association, the Greenville Chamber of Commerce-Merchants Association and the Pitt County Safety Council, in cooperation with the North Carolina Department of Labor and the Pitt County Development Commission.

Robert E. Leak, head of the Department of Conservation and Development's division of Commerce and Industry was principal speaker at the dinner session.

Leak, who told that in the past three years, 10 new industries have located in Pitt County and a like number of industries have expanded, said capital investments of the new and expanding industries totaled $6,252,000. He added that the newcomers and expanding plans created 986 new jobs and a new payroll of $3.5 million per year.

After outlining the C and D department's eight divisions, Leak listed the main problems facing his division's industry hunters.

Maintaining good prospect inquiries, Leak said, is one of the major problems; while getting industry to locate in communities that need new industry the most, he cited, is another formidable task. "Motivating industrial workers to upgrade their skills, being faced with apathy on the part of communities enjoying economic good times at the present . . . and having a low average manufacturing wage in North Carolina," Leak said, are other problems his division is faced with.

Suggestions offered by Leak to communities wanting or needing additional industry included, "encourage expansion of existing industry . . . and give complete cooperation to all agencies helping in economic development."

Another way a community can help secure industry, Leak noted, is for all people in the community, "to be in tune with what factors influence plant locations."

Heading the list of factors, the Commerce and Industry division head said, is a supply of good trainable labor, while second in importance is good employee-employer relationships in the community.

A good community attitude toward industry, good productivity of the labor force and a politically calm atmosphere and economic stability rank next in line.

Also of importance, he noted, is good educational opportunities and the attractiveness of the area. And of importance, too, Leak emphasized, is the safety record of workers.

Easter Seal Drive Begins This Week

The 1968 Easter seal campaign is being launched in Pitt County this week, announced George Wilkerson, president of the Pitt Chapter and campaign chairman.

At a directors meeting Monday afternoon, names of Pitt county chapter directors were announced and Eastern North Carolina district representatives of the North Carolina Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults was introduced.

assumed his duties in organizational services as well as actively assisting the various county and regional units with projects.

Chairman Wilkerson acknowledged the support of the crippled society projects by two fraternities of East Carolina University, Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity, and Alpha Epsilon Pi, and a sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma. Officers of the Pitt county Easter Seal Society in addition to Wilkerson are:

J. B. Conleton, Stokes, first vice chairman; Mrs. John Woodson, second vice chairman. (Continued On Page 5)

Carla Alberghetti Evens Up The Score

By OLGA CURTIS

DENVER (WNS) — Carla Alberghetti was once best known as "Anna Maria Alberghetti's baby sister," and it used to get her mad. But now she's a grown woman with her own life and singing career, and the sibling rivalry is over.

"We used to fight when we were kids," Carla recalls with a smile. "Anna Maria never wanted me to tag along or cramp her style. There's only three years between us, but it used to seem like 30."

"But now it's different. She's 31 and I'm 28. We've both been married and we're both mothers. And we get along very well. In fact, we've discovered that what works for one works for the other, and we give each other tips on parts and recommend shows to each other."

So far, Carla is the only Alberghetti to star in the national, touring company of "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever," but the sisters seem to have swapped parts all through their careers. Anna Maria starred in "Carnival," and then Carla took over. Carla starred in "West Side Story," and then Anna Maria took over. Yet the only time they were in competition was for the TV version of "Kismet." Anna Maria won, and Carla says "I was very happy for her."

So Much Alike

"We're so much alike that we're always being mistaken for each other," Carla explains. "We can sit in the same restaurant and Anna Maria gets a huge intended for me. Or I can call her husband on the phone and convince him I'm Anna Maria."

Yet, as the slender, brown-eyed Carla says ruefully, "life plays tricks." The sister who seemed destined for a life-long career now wants domesticity. The sister who wanted domesticity is going all-out for a career.

"There is one difference between us," Carla explains. "Anna Maria is very happily married (To TV director Claudio Guzman). I'm just getting over a divorce (from Los Angeles lawyer Paul Polena).

"I never really wanted a career. I was rather pushed into it. The whole Alberghetti family was musical and I was expected to sing. And then everybody made a big thing of Anna Maria when we were both too young—and a child will do anything to be recognized. She was only 13 when she became famous here, and I was 10. And I thought, well, if I sing good too, maybe they'll notice me."

Never Ambitious

"When I got married I pretty well dropped show business, because I never really was ambitious. I'd have settled for some happiness as a homemaker. But it didn't work, and divorce hurts. So I took this touring job to get away from home and resume my career, and this time I'm going to give it everything I've got."

Carla will star in the cross-country tour of "Clear Day" through next May, and whenever possible her three-year-old daughter Cosette will travel with her. The brunette soprano admits the child is the center of her life, and her "best audience."

"Everytime she sees me perform she tries to get up on stage with me," Carla smiles. "And she sings along with me when I do my voice exercises."

Cosette, Carla adds with a laugh, also is going to help even things up for those years she was labelled "Anna Maria's baby sister."

"My sister's little girl, Alexandra, is only 15 months old, and when Cosette grows up, she'll be the older one who tells Alexandra not to tag along!"

Gruesome Garden For Country Home

NIORT, France (WNS) —Sollange Bonnet was happy with the country home that her husband had bought her here until a funeral cortege entered the property and buried a corpse at the far end of the garden. "I had seen several old tombstones there but never expected anything like this," she told police. Local authorities explained that family cemeteries in gardens have been permitted among the Huguenots in this area ever since the revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685.

Mrs. Starling Gives Pilot Club Program Monday

Mrs. Robert Starling presented the program at the meeting of the Pilot Club of Greenville at its regular monthly dinner meeting Monday night.

In reviewing the year's activities of the Community Service Committee, she used as her theme "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," and illustrated this with a chalk talk depicting a lighthouse.

The hostesses for the meeting were members of the Community Service Committee: Mrs. Ann De La Mater, chairman; Mrs. Emily Johnston; Mrs. O. C. Noble; Mrs. Helen Snyder; Mrs. Starling; and Mrs. Richard White.

Miss Mildred Mallard, first vice president, presided and welcomed the following special guests: Mrs. Joan Leith; Mrs. Eleanor Scheipers; Mrs. Doris Marlowe; Mrs. Nancy Warren; Mrs. Margaret Hux; and Miss Kay Buck.

Mrs. Brunie Yarley, chaplain, gave the invocation.

The delegates for the District Six convention to be held in Greensboro, May 3-5, were elected as follows: Mrs. Daisy Rogers; Miss Camille Clarke; and Miss Mallard; alternate, Miss Elizabeth Quinerly and Mrs. Richard White.

The following committee chairmen will serve for the year 1968-69: Community Service, Mrs. Ann De La Mater and Mrs. Richard White, co-chairmen; Membership and Pilot Information, Miss Elizabeth Quinerly; Finance, Mrs. Hila Johnson; Education, International Relations, and Patriotic Emblems, Miss Ivie Lee Smith; Safety, Mrs. Ruby Fields; Public Relations, Mrs. J. N. Le Conte; Friendship, Mrs. Leslie Jones; Parliamentary, Mrs. Robert Fennell; and Chaplain, Mrs. Brunie Yarley.

If you are using an old-fashioned waffle iron that has no heat indicator, you can test the iron to see whether it is the right cooking temperature. Just place a piece of white typewriter paper between the grids of the heated iron; when the paper turns a light brown color the heat should be right.

Free A Man To Fight Says First Lady Of U. S. Marines

By CLIFF MCKENZIE

VISTA, Calif. (WNS)—Freeing Marines to fight was Geraldine Moran's job and she did it for 20 years. She was one of the first women to enlist when the Marines opened its ranks to females February 13, 1943.

She was also the first Woman Marine (WM) in the nation to earn the rank of first sergeant and later master gunnery sergeant. Before her release from active duty five years ago—she's still in the reserves—Miss Moran was the senior enlisted WM in the Corps. Today there are about 27,000 WM's on active duty and about 300,000 more.

Probably the most historic of Geraldine Moran's firsts came when she was dubbed the first enlisted WM to officially enter World War II. She received the distinction by being the first to walk off the ship at Pearl Harbor in January 1945.

Grizzled Marine veterans of the tough Pacific fighting could barely believe the ir-eyes when she and 160 other WM's debarked, she recalls. Miss Moran, who has attractive silver-gray hair and great social aplomb, is reluctant to reveal her age. She does admit, however, to being 35 when she joined the Marines 25 years ago.

Quiet Life

She lives a quiet life now in Vista which is only a few miles from the Camp Pendleton, from which the majority of Vietnam-bound Marines depart. For company she keeps two cocker spaniels. She remains active with the WM's and recently took part in their 25th anniversary. She also gives lectures occasionally to new WM noncommissioned officers.

But she recalls often her sometimes frustrating but never boring overseas adventures.

"We did mostly administrative work," she says. "We relieved the pressure on the men so they could fight. Today it's the same. The more jobs women can do the more the men are able to fight." There is a handful of WM's assigned to Vietnam, she says.

Life in the early days of her Marine career wasn't always a snap. There was duty during which women were called "Maids of the Deck." There were sterile quarters and bare light bulbs and never any time to really beautify the surroundings.

Pacific Crossing

Her most dramatic adventure was the Pacific crossing which took her to Pearl Harbor.

"We all had to carry 40-pound packs like the men, and loading a pack is a lot trickier than stuffing a handbag or overnight case," recalls Miss Moran.

District Young Career Woman Named Sunday

Miss Linda Humphrey of Greenville has been named local and district Young Career Woman for 1968.

Sponsored by the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club, she competed in District 9 competition held in Kinston on Sunday.

The Young Career Woman award is part of the personal development work in BPW. This consists of working with young women just starting out in careers.

The topic of Miss Humphrey's speech for the district meet was "Extension Home Economist: A Challenging Career For a Young Woman."

She competed with other Young Career Women in the district from Jacksonville, Carteret, Kinston, Goldsboro and New Bern.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson L. Humphrey of Kinston, Miss Humphrey attended High Point College and graduated from East Carolina University with a B. S. degree in home economics. She is now assistant home economics extension agent for Pitt County.

During the meeting, which began with a luncheon, reports of the year's activities were given by District Director Eva Doty and each of the local club presidents in District 9.

District officers elected for 1969 include: Hazel Chadwick, Morehead City, district director; Grace Ayscue, Morehead City, district secretary; Mollie Hart, member of state nominating committee; and Frances White, Greenville, alternate state nominating committee.

Various state officers were present for the meeting including the State President Mary Sue Jarrett.

Luncheon Given Cosmos Members

Mrs. I. J. Edwards Jr. entertained members of the Cosmos Book Club at a progressive luncheon held in Elm City.

Mrs. Edwards' aunt, Mrs. C. E. Lewis, was hostess for the luncheon and dessert was served at the home of Mrs. Edwards' mother, Mrs. J. G. Fleming.

The houses were decorated with arrangements of spring flowers.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Tom Haigwood, Mrs. Max Minges, Mrs. Richard Gaylord and Mrs. E. W. Turcotte.

A short business meeting was held prior to adjournment.

American Legion Auxiliary Members Hear Mrs. Gwynn

Mrs. Frances Gwynn presented the program on Americanism at the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held Thursday evening at the Legion home.

In defining the term, Americanism, Mrs. Gwynn referred to words of the American author, Bruce Catton, — "The essence of the democratic tradition grows out of the simple notion about the individual citizen's duty. This duty is self-imposed. It means nothing except that the people involved in a democratic society owe something to the society of which they are a part — they owe a duty to the state they have created because it is the instrument through which they can work together for the common good."

As Americans, she said, we are proud of this wonderful land of ours, we remember the courage of our fighting forces, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and our heritage of law and freedom.

She concluded with her definition of Americanism: An involvement in government, the duty which is owed, the coming together of individuals for the common good, the creation of the state — this is Americanism.

Mrs. W. C. Eagles gave a report on the Auxiliary's activities in the field of child welfare, remembering families who have lost a son in Vietnam; making a contribution to the Department President's project of providing a nurse's scholarship; and giving to the Child Care Center sponsored by the American Legion for retarded and handicapped children of servicemen stationed in North Carolina.

Mrs. Frank Whitehurst reported that 12 Gold Star Mothers were special guests at the Legion's birthday anniversary and ladies' night dinner on March 19.

Mrs. Etta Gill, district president, reported on the district meeting which will be held at Windsor April 8 in the Cashie Baptist Church, with registration at 11:30 a.m., and asked that Auxiliary members make reservations by April 4.

Mrs. Alfred Kennedy, president, announced that reservations should be made soon for the Department Convention which will be held in Charlotte in June. She said plans are being made for the dedication ceremony of the American Legion building some time in May, the date to be set later.

A new member, Mrs. Jimmy Hawkins, was recognized and this brings the total membership to 108.

A nominating committee was appointed to report at the next meeting, with Mrs. Gill, as chairman, with Mrs. M. L. Grimsley, Mrs. Lonnie Hartaway, Miss Annie Turner and Mrs. Frank Whitehurst as members.

Grandmother, Hide Disgust And Don't Mention Subject

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me how to get a message across to my daughter-in-law without creating a scene?

I was thinking of having a friendly little talk with her, but I know she would blab to my son and he would tell me to mind my own business.

The problem is this: Atoher children have had fine training in the arts, sports, and music, they have not been properly trained to keep themselves clean.

I am a very fastidious person, and it horrifies me to see what I see when they come to visit me. The children are allowed to jump out of bed, go to the toilet, maul the cat and roughhouse with the dog, and then come directly to the breakfast table without having washed!

I give them each a washcloth, and during the entire week-end it will not be used. When I ask the children if they have washed, I get a long withering look from my son, and a cool silent stare from my daughter-in-law.

These children sit at my table on a beautiful sunny morning, in a charming dining room, and it makes me feel grubby to look at them.

What do you advise me to do? The children are seven and eight years old and already should be trained in the rudiments of hygiene.

SUFFERING DEAR SUFFERING: It is curious how, feeling as you do, you could have reared a son who was able to forget the rudiments of hygiene as soon as he married. Try your best to conceal your disgust, and make no mention of this sore subject again. Hopefully, the children will survive their unhygienic childhood.

DEAR ABBY: Roy and I have been going together for three years. We're not kids—we're both in our fifties.

Roy has mentioned marriage several times, but nothing definite was said about "when."

I always suspected that Roy could still be interested in other women, altho he kept telling me I was wrong. Well, I decided to put him to the test, so I wrote him a note saying I had seen him somewhere and I asked him to meet at a certain place at a certain time. Then I signed another woman's name. I went to the "meeting place" at the appointed time and hid, and sure enough, there was Roy all spruced up and waiting!

Isn't this a sign that he would go to meet another woman if he had the chance?

I finally told Roy that I had written the note, and I could never trust him again. Now he is mad at ME! Don't you think I should be mad at HIM? We broke up over this, but I would still like to know who has the better right to be mad?

DEAR NO NAME, PLEASE: I don't blame YOU for being mad at Roy. And I don't blame Roy for being mad at YOU. Too bad you broke up. You sound as tho you deserve each other.

DEAR ABBY: When is a wife supposed to talk to her husband about family problems?

If I try to talk to him at the breakfast table, he says, "Do you have to ruin my whole day by starting in on that?"

When he comes home from work, if I mention anything concerning a family matter, he says, "Can't you let me read my newspaper first?"

After dinner, it's, "Will you please let me digest my meal before you start?"

Later on, I don't dare disturb him because he's watching television. And at bedtime it's, "How is a person supposed to get a good night's sleep with THAT on his mind?"

We have three teen-aged children, and they get the same treatment. What's the solution?

HIS WIFE: DEAR WIFE: Your husband is a champion "manana Man." Ask HIM for an appointment to discuss the family problems, and tell him you want an answer RIGHT NOW.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Little Things Add Up To Safety

During all of last year, Pitt County counted only seven fatalities in traffic accidents on the highways of the county. With less than three months gone by in 1968, the county already has equalled that number of deaths on its highways.

Nothing can be done to alter the circumstances under which those fatal accidents occurred. Traffic accidents can never be predicted, otherwise they would be prevented. Traffic accidents will happen in spite of the precautions taken to prevent them. Yet the precautions which are taken reduce the chances that an accident will occur.

For the motorists of Pitt County, the number of fatalities which already have been suffered on local highways during the past three months should be more than enough to encourage safer driving during the rest of 1968. There will be more traffic accidents on the county's highways, to be sure. But the number of accidents and the degree of their seriousness will depend to a large degree on the extra safety effort made by Pitt drivers during the rest of this year.

Proper use of safety belts, officers have suggested, probably would have prevented more than one of the seven highway deaths recorded in the county so far this year. Fastening a seat belt is such a small thing, and yet it could be the difference between life and death. Arriving at a destination one minute or five minutes later usually is of little importance, but the difference in miles per hour it represents could mean the difference in life and death in case of accident.

If motorists of the county pay careful attention to the little things while they are behind the wheel, the chances of major accidents on the highways will be greatly reduced.

Survey May Determine New Industry In East

Hopefully the industry which is considering a location in Greene County will be sufficiently convinced by a labor survey now underway to carry forth the plans.

The Greene County Development Commission is presently conducting a survey through the mailing of 20,000 questionnaires to determine if labor is available for a hosiery finishing plant.

The results may determine whether a plant employing 800 persons with an annual payroll of about $4 million will be built at Walstonburg. The plant would represent an investment of about $3 million.

It is our hope that residents in Greene, Pitt and other counties who receive the questionnaires will fill them out and return them.

Establishment of the plant would be a great boost for the economies of Greene and Pitt Counties. Full participation by the residents of this area may be the thing that assures the industry's locating at Walstonburg.

Believes Banks Can Be Too Big

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — All but one of the 11 matters on the agenda at a recent regular meeting of the State Banking Commission dealt with branching by large, state-chartered banks.

"Some knowledgeable observers say if the trend is allowed to continue, we could have only eight or 10 banks in North Carolina within the next few years. This means, of course, only eight or 10 sources of credit instead of 110 today."

It also means, "Forlines says, that loan and credit policies will be set on a statewide system basis "without any real regard for the individual needs of the local communities."

Must Complete

Forlines believes that banking is more competitive today than ever before. In his bank, which "decided long ago that we were not interested in merger propositions — that we were going to compete, "Forlines says "we try harder."

But he adds it is increasingly difficult for small community banks to compete "with these financial giants." "We desperately need to create a climate which will allow aggressive, local owned community banks to compete on a favorable basis with these statewide chain banks if we are going to maintain sound banking," Forlines says.

Handbook Published

The State Board of Elections has for the first time published a handbook containing general information on elections and registration in North Carolina.

It is a 20 page, yellowbacked booklet which was prepared and edited by the boards executive secretary, Alex K. Brock and is being distributed statewide.

In addition to general information on the election process, it includes up-to-date statistical data and lists terms of offices filled by election ranging from justice of the peace to governor and U. S. senator and qualifications for voting and holding office. It contains a table of registration statistics and a breakdown by party for all but two of the state's 100 counties. No party breakdown was available in Orange and Yadkin counties.

Copies of the booklet are available for 10 cents by writing the State Board of Elections, P. O. Box 1166, Raleigh.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

It was a typical banking commission agenda. None of the applications to open new offices in new towns, neighborhoods and suburbs was particularly controversial — most were approved routinely.

But the subject of branching — proliferating of offices of the large chain banks — is and has remained highly controversial. North Carolina law has permitted statewide branching since the 1930s — and the controversy has raged since the late 1950s.

It was then, according to a spokesman for the state's local, independent bankers, that an "unprecedented race for bigness" began.

Forlines Views

Now, as a result, says John A. Forlines Jr. of Granite Falls, approximately 80 percent of the total commercial bank deposits in North Carolina are in the six largest banks.

"In North Carolina, if you run a small, independent locally-owned bank, you either compete or you die — literally," says Forlines.

Writing in a recent issue of the Independent Banker, Forlines points out that in 1967 North Carolina had 210 commercial banks. To day there are 110.

Opposes Bigness

Forlines, president of the Bank of Granite, feels "very strongly" that concentration of deposits in the hands of a few commercial banks "is not a good thing for our state."

Johnson Keeps Asking Action

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Since Congress convened in January, President Johnson has sent messages to Capitol Hill at the rate of almost one every other working day.

All request action. Most call for spending.

The steady barrage of messages is one of the irritants that have made for prickly relations between a President determined to keep his long-range domestic programs alive and a Congress generally willing to go along on Vietnam, but bent on consolidation—at most — rather than expansion of government undertakings at home.

One of the more vocal critics of the administration, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., has complained bitterly that well-publicized messages calling for new governmental programs or expansion of old ones belie Johnson's insistence he is offering Congress on austere budget.

"He talks about economy," Curtis said, "but he keeps whetting people's appetites."

Members of the President's own party naturally are less inclined to criticize him publicly.

But in private conversation some of them say much the same thing: That Johnson must know that Congress, even if it approves new proposals in principle, is not likely to provide funds for them now in amounts sufficient to make much of a showing—and that disillusionment all around is the inevitable result.

Administration officials who appear in closed committee sessions seeking such Johnson objectives as the income tax surcharge are accustomed to hearing, "If he'd only cut

Strength For Today

GREATER LOVE

On February 3, 1943, the troop transport Dorchester was torpedoed off the coast of Greenland. The order was given to abandon ship, and the troops started over the side. Four bewildered young soldiers had forgotten their life belts and were left standing on the deck of the sinking transport. Without a moment's hesitation four chaplains gave their life jackets to the four soldiers and went down with the sinking ship.

The four chaplains were: Rev. George L. Fox, Methodist; Dr. Alexander D. Goode, Rabbi; Father John P. Washington, Catholic; Rev. Clark V. Poling, Dutch Reformed Church. When they gave their lives they did not stop to ask: "Are you a Protestant? Are you a Catholic? Are you a Jew?" They did the duty that was at hand and surrendered in their youth what might indeed have been long lives of happiness and Christian usefulness.

The Chapel of the Four Chaplains in Philadelphia memorializes the wonderful courage of these four gallant young men. Jesus said, "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends." We can believe that the heavenly host shouted with joy as the four young chaplains entered heaven and their bodies, never to be recovered, sank to the bottom of the sea.

The bravery of these four men teaches many lessons, but certainly it teaches, does it not, that there is a good God Who made mankind and shapes his destiny. Acts like this have upon them the splendor of heaven.

A FAMILIAR VOICE IN WASHINGTON!

By ART BUCHWALD

A Doublecross By Nixon

WASHINGTON — Now that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has put himself out of the Republican presidential race, former Vice President Nixon seems to have the field to himself. I thought this would satisfy everyone until I ran into my friend, Trembling, a loyal member of the Republican Party.

Trembling was furious. "I don't know what Nixon expects to gain by continuing now. He's the only candidate left who hasn't bowed out."

"Maybe," I said, "Nixon feels that with no one else opposing him for the nomination, he could win for a change."

"Yes, but by running for the Republican nomination unopposed, all he's doing is dividing the Republican Party."

"I don't understand, Trembling," I said.

"It's quite simple. If Romney or Rockefeller had run against Nixon in the primary, it would have united the Republican Party. Republicans would have worked for their own candidates within the party. But now, with only Nixon running, the party is split right down the middle."

"I don't think Nixon should be blamed for this. After all, it was up to Romney and Rockefeller to run so the party wouldn't be split."

"Romney acted in good faith. He bowed out because he thought Rockefeller was going to run against Nixon."

"That I understand. But why did Rockefeller bow out?"

"Because he thought if he bowed out, then Nixon would bow out, too, and the unity of the Republican Party would have been preserved."

"The Nixon doublecrossed Rocky by staying in the race?"

"He doublecrossed all of us. One of the reasons many of us in the Republican Party supported Nixon to start with is that we didn't think he had a chance," Trembling said. "How did we know he was so opportunistic and ruthless about going after the Republican nomination?"

"Doesn't Nixon know he's splitting the Republican Party by running alone?" I asked.

"Of course he knows it. We've pleaded with him. We've said, 'Dick, you've got the nomination for the asking. What more do you want to prove? Get out of the race before it's too late.'"

"He wouldn't listen!"

"He said, 'I don't care what it's doing to the party. I feel the issues are so important that I've got to get in the race, even if it means running unopposed.'"

"Well, you'll have to admit he has guts," I said.

"He has nothing to lose. If he wins the presidential election in November, everyone will consider it an upset. If he loses, the public will chalk it up to one more election that he's lost."

"Do you think there's still a chance that Nixon might bow out of the race?"

"He's running against himself in Oregon, and if he loses there, he may call it quits."

"By the same token," Trembling continued, "he might be stubborn enough to stick through until the Republican convention in August on the off chance that Rockefeller won't be drafted."

"From what you've said, then, the Republicans seem much more divided than the Democrats."

"They are. The Democrats have President Johnson, McCarthy and Kennedy fighting

Overly Tired Blood

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Senator Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, two Republicans who had known each other only casually during long careers of public service, achieved new intimacy on Monday evening, March 18, as they dined alone at Rockefeller's Washington mansion on Foxhall Road.

Rockefeller said he could not run for President without Morton's fulltime help. Morton replied that if Rockefeller would run he would be there fighting to the finish. The two men embraced, Morton convinced that the decision had been made and, indeed, that he would be Rockefeller's national campaign manager.

Thus did it come wholly as a shock to Morton, prepared for a last hurrah for himself and the Republican moderate wing, as he watched Rockefeller via television bow out some 60 hours later. Tears in his eyes, Morton murmured that a golden opportunity had been lost. When Rockefeller telephoned 10 minutes after that press conference, Morton told him: Nelson, you've misjudged your party.

These private exchanges illuminate some dark corners of the Governor's strange conduct last week. Rockefeller's drop-out was not preceded by discussions with Morton or other supporters outside his personal entourage. Nor did Rockefeller appreciate the carefully calculated appraisal by these supporters that he had a very good chance, indeed, against Richard M. Nixon if he waged an all-out campaign.

The reason lies in the lack of fight by Rockefeller and his inner circle. Battered and wearied by 10 years of rebuffs in national Republican wars, they had no stomach for another struggle.

One political leader from another state invited to Rockefeller's Fifth Avenue apartment for consultations a few days before the decision noticed immediately that many of the insiders — columnist Emmett Hughes, Republican National Committeeman George Himan, egghed William Ronan — were the same advisors who convinced Rockefeller not to challenge Nixon in 1960. In eight years, the names and faces had not changed. It was a case of tired blood on Fifth Avenue.

Given that residual lethargy, Nixon's clever coup of pressuring Nebraska state officials to put Rockefeller's name on that state's primary election ballot against his wishes was peculiarly depressing when it became known on Tuesday. Acknowledging certain defeat in Nebraska, Rockefeller felt the strategy of concentrating on beating Nixon in Oregon was demoralized.

His pessimistic inner circle agreed, but Morton did not. Instead, he quickly put together the rudiments of a Rockefeller campaign in Nebraska aimed at a moral victory of around 40 percent. After conferring with a key Nebraska politician in his office on Tuesday afternoon, Morton informed Rockefeller that he could raise adequate financing for the primary campaign in Nebraska alone.

Beyond Nebraska, Morton was organizing an embryonic Rockefeller campaign from party regulars unconvinced of Nixon's ability to win in November. For instance, Robert Corber, the highly regarded

Other Editors Saying Judge Lays It Down

(Greensboro Daily News)

Anson County, where school board members and Negro citizens have been targets of intimidating incidents for a year or so, has needed strong judicial leadership. Judge Woodrow Jones, who only a few months ago donned his robes as a federal judge, was just the man to give it—and give it he did. Last week, Judge Jones told Anson County to dispense with a "freedom of choice" plan that had yielded little but harassment to its few beneficiaries, and to begin eliminating its dual school system.

We would neither minimize the practical difficulties of Anson's problem nor presume to speculate on what is occurring in the mind of Judge Jones. He once, as a signer of the so-called "Southern Manifesto" of the 1950s, and as a stalwart of the Democratic Party's conservative wing, bore the reputation of an unyielding opponent of desegregation.

"I can't let my personal feelings interfere with my legal judgments," the judge commented after signing his court order last week. If his comment means what it seems to mean, his forceful intercession in Anson County is all the more significant. It is a rebuke to those who doubted just this capacity for objectivity when Senator Ervin nominated him. His nomination in fact lay in an administration pigeonhole for the better part of a year before the President at length sent it to the Senate.

A good many glib things are said and written about the chemistry of the bench. It often brings out the procedural conservatism of certified liberals, as it spotlights the liberality, under the law, of certified conservatives. But the essential point is that most federal judges continue to surmount personal bias, real or rumored, when it becomes their task to dispense justice. There are a few judges, now and then, who seek to thwart the laws they swear to uphold, but Judge Jones is not one of them. Indeed, his case illustrates how very many more judges there are who set aside personal whim and put justice first. That is the great strength of an independent judiciary.

Gold Standard Would Be Tough

By ELMER ROESSNER

Maybe Charles de Gaulle is right after all.

Le Grande Charles says the world should return to the gold standard.

Fiscal experts of the other Western nations have devised counterplans. They have already concocted a two-price system, whereby gold in transactions between nations shall be at the rate of $35 an ounce, but that in deals between individuals, the price will be all that market will bear.

That's nonsense.

Despite all the safeguards the fiscal authorities of the other Western nations set up, international gold will slip through them into the free market and eventually gold prices will be dominated by the law of supply and demand.

Now the other Western nations are trying to cook up a scheme whereby IOUs will substitute for gold.

More nonsense.

A Psychodelic Plan

An International Monetary Fund committee is meeting in Stockholm this week to work out a plan where by "special drawing rights," called "paper gold," will substitute for gold in international payments.

In the United States, the powers that be have substituted paper for gold. This plan will simply do the same thing on an international bases.

We'd be living in a world of chits, just as, for a large part, we are living in the United States today.

In this sort of manure bed, new currencies would spring up like mushrooms. Each would be of lesser value until the existing currencies would be worth only their value as waste paper, and the Western world would have to start all over again, perhaps with a system of barter, in which a pair of shoes would be worth six raisin cakes and a mink coat be worth eight hogs and a fat rooster.

Idea, Not The Man

Now Charles de Gaulle (we call him Chuck in St. Louis) has delusions of delusions and sometimes he makes a fruit-cake look like a computer.

He has been laced in this column as an enemy of the U. S., a candidate for Dr. Joyce Brother's couch and as an amusing megalomaniac. Nevertheless, his proposal that the Western world return to the gold standard is worth serious consideration.

It would be tough, of course. We Americans would probably have to turn in all our paper money for new issues in which 45 dollars would be worth a quarter of an ounce of gold.

But we could exchange the new dollars for that many grams of gold, which would be a vast improvement over the present system under which we can exchange a paper dollar for another paper dollar.

Edwin Gill Denies He Favored Three Banks

RALEIGH (AP)—State treasurer Edwin Gill says charges that he has favored three North Carolina banks by giving them a disproportionate share of state deposits are "full of inaccuracies and errors."

The charge was leveled Tuesday by state Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, who is seeking to unseat Gill in the May 4 Democratic primary.

High, a Fayetteville attorney and former state revenue commissioner, said 52 per cent of the state's funds are deposited in Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., First-Citizens Bank and Trust Co. and North Carolina National Bank.

He said the three banks have 87 per cent of the total money the state has in checking accounts and that Wachovia has had at least $18 million in state funds in an interest-free checking account since Gill took office in 1953.

High also said the average interest return on deposits since 1953 has ranged from a low of 1.6 per cent to a high of 3 per cent.

Gill replied that state funds total more than $600 million, most of which is in federal securities.

"Actually, less than 10 per cent of the treasurer's balances are in all of the depository banks of the state on demand deposit," he added.

"An additional 20 per cent is placed with the banks all over the state on interest bearing certificates of deposit, on which they are now paying . . . 5 1/2 per cent."

The treasurer said High's statement that 3 per cent is the highest rate of interest the state has secured on deposits "is a gross error because we are now charging the banks 5 1/2 per cent."

"Until I have had more time to study my opponent's statement, I will only say that we have been fair and impartial in the administration of state funds," Gill said, "and that I deny emphatically any insinuations or innuendoes to the contrary."

Cadette Girl Scouts Camped Over Weekend

Eleven girls of Cadette Girl Scout Troop 511 took a weekend camping trip March 22-24.

Compass and mapping skills were taught on the trip. Lectures on camping skills and equipment were also presented.

Girls packed overnight equipment and back-packed for one-half mile hikes.

The girls of the troop also experimented with new camping skills, such as cooking oatmeal in a hay-hole.

Those attending were Carolyn Smith, Sally Boyette, Rebecca Jones, Mickey Jones, Carolyn Mills, Martha Davenport, Carole Cameron, Kathryn Rowlette, Sally Best, Marcia Schiller and Robin Smith.

Mrs. Grace Smith accompanied the girls.

Will Lecture At Conetoe School

Cortez W. Peters Jr., president of Cortez Peters Business Colleges in Washington, Baltimore and Chicago, will lecture on "Opportunities in the Business World" at Conetoe High School Thursday at 11 a.m. in the school auditorium.

The program will be sponsored by the Business Education Department of the school and Miss E. M. Porteur, department chairman.

Peters will also give a typewriting demonstration for the student body and guests. He is one of few individuals in the world who has typed a single speed sentence at the rate of 220 words a minute, according to Miss Porteur.

Scott Claims A Moderate Label

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, a Democratic candidate for governor, says if his program for education requires new sources of revenue, they should be sought.

He predicted Tuesday that the existing tax structure could support his program, which includes summer kindergartens and higher teacher salaries. If it did not, Scott said in an interview, his program would not be junked "because education is just too basic."

Scott, in Charlotte to open his campaign headquarters, rejected the attempts of one opponent, Mel Broughton, to put him in the "liberal" camp.

"I'm in the moderate camp," Scott said following a luncheon address to Charlotte Jaycees. "I'm entirely too liberal for some and entirely too conservative for others. Actually, I think labels are meaningless. Pick the one you like."

In his speech, Scott stressed free bus transportation for city pupils, educational improvement, improved industrial education, increased summer enrichment programs as well as kindergartens, and reduced classroom loads.

He estimated his education program at $180 million for a two-year fiscal period.

UNION CARBIDE AIDS ECU FOUNDATION — William N. Letch, manager of the Union Carbide Consumer Products plant of Greenville, presents a $2,000 contribution to the East Carolina University Foundation to ECU President Leo W. Jenkins. The contribution from Union Carbide will be used to strengthen the academic standing of the University. Dr. Jenkins said he is particularly happy to receive the Union Carbide financial support because it represents another link between the university and "this fine company which is employing a larger and larger number of our graduates every year." Winterville Man In Bid For Alderman WINTERVILLE — Another candidate has filed for the office of Alderman here.

Clinton R. Anderson, a resident of Winterville for the past 13 years, has paid his filing fee to town clerk Elwood Nobles.

Anderson, a Negro, is a bricklayer and making his first bid for public office.

He attended Robinson Union School and is a Mason and a member of Good Hope Free Will Baptist Church.

The 32-year-old man is a Korean war veteran. He is the first Negro to seek political office in Winterville.

Franklin A. Branch, manager of the Docol Gas Service in Winterville filed for the seat several weeks ago.

One alderman will be elected in the May 6 municipal election. Deadline for filing for the seat is 12 noon, April 13.

Jackson Thompson now holds the seat on the town board for which Branch and Anderson have filed. Registration books will be open at the Winterville town hall beginning Saturday, March 30, from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. for re-registration. Rommie Mallison is registrar.

those messages off . . .

Between Jan. 17 and March 13, Johnson sent 23 messages to Congress, including the opening State of the Union message he delivered in person.

This total does not include routine communications such as those transmitting departmental reports. It does include four reorganization plans of limited financial impact.

The others, however, embrace proposals on such wide-ranging subjects as civil rights, education, public safety and crime, the crisis of the cities and conservation, among others.

There is nothing unusual about a President accompanying a significant legislative proposal with a special message to Congress.

The question both critics and some supporters of the administration seem to be raising, each in their own way, is whether it is good psychology to direct such a concentration of publicity about domestic programs at a Congress haunted by Vietnam and worried about the budget deficit.

But Rockefeller's battle-weary inner circle was giving Rockefeller wholly different and less accurate information. The ability of pro-Rockefeller Governors such as James Rhodes of Ohio and Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania to control their delegations was grossly underrated by the Rockefeller staff.

Some incurably optimistic Republican moderates have not given up hope. A few fondle Rockefeller's promise of speaking out on Vietnam as a vestige of hope. Others seek an eleventh hour alternative (one moderate leader frantically tried to contact Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois last Thursday night — without success). But the realists only hope they can sell some of their ideas to Nixon.

Someday, when you have nothing better to do, do all the work electricity usually does for pennies.

You'll sleep well.

The first thing you'll discover is that electricity helps you do a lot of the work around your house.

Jobs that usually don't seem very difficult will suddenly seem very difficult. Jobs like scrubbing clothes, polishing floors, cleaning rugs. Just opening a can might once again be a chore.

And remember, there are many old drudgeries that don't have to be done at all anymore. Stoking the furnace is one. Think of some more while you work.

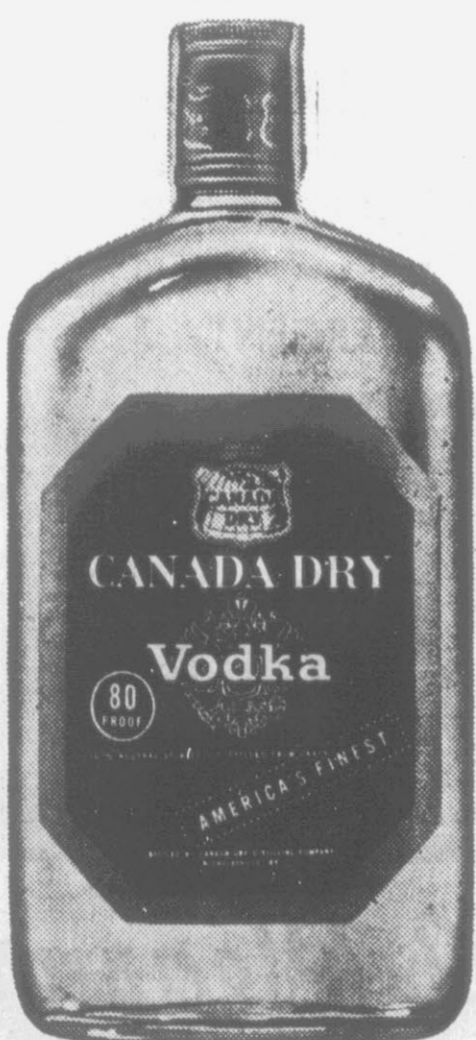

Seriously, we're just kidding. Vepco wouldn't want you to do without your electric helpers. Not even for a day.

We just wanted to remind you that you're using more electricity now. And you're getting more for your money because electricity is one thing that actually costs less than it used to.

Can you think of anything else that costs less today?

People Of Hue Rebuild Their City

By RICHARD MERRON
Associated Press Photographer
HUE, Vietnam (AP) — Gradually Hue is striving to bring itself back from the ravages of the lunar new year fighting. It is going to be a long process.

Everywhere in this city 380 miles northeast of Saigon there still are signs of the Vietnam war's longest sustained battle — 25 days of fighting that wracked the city in February. There are destroyed, burned-out buildings, and marks of shells and bullets in the old capital's walls and battlements.

Little by little the people are trying to restore life to what once was considered South Vietnam's most beautiful city.

Most of the work so far is being done by the people themselves and is centered on their own property—homes, shops or places of business. They have cleared much of the rubble left from the fighting and they are patching up buildings and trying to return a semblance of physical order.

Student volunteers from Saigon University and other schools have come to Hue to help with the job of rebuilding.

The official task of reconstruction still is moving slowly, however. One American noted that the Tua Thien province chief who had authority over Hue was fired and that other administrative officials are no longer in their posts—either removed missing, wounded or killed.

The same thing is true on the American side with an almost complete changeover in personnel since the offensive.

"We got 14 brand-new people here," said one U.S. official, "and many of them don't even know where province headquarters is yet."

This official also noted the possibility of another enemy attack still is "very much on peoples' minds and Westy's press conference didn't help."

He referred to a recent news conference statement by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in South Vietnam, who said he thought Hue might be the next target of a new enemy offensive.

The U.S. Military Assistant Command (MACV) compound here is back to normal with only the marks of bullets and shells to denote recent fighting. The movie schedule at the compound this week included the TV film "Combat." A goose that died during the fighting has been adopted as an official mascot.

The main bridge spanning the perfume River between the new and old sections of Hue was blown up during the fighting but now is usable for limited traffic as a result of a 100-foot pontoon link put in by U.S. Marines.

Traffic across the bridge is single file and during the busy hours hundreds of people wait to make the crossing. Somehow they make it, pushing bicycles, motorbikes and handcarts up the 45 degree incline to reach one side or the other.

Women wash clothes from the edge of the structure. Occasionally a Vietnamese man will jump into the water and wash the clothes he is wearing and himself at the same time.

"The people are just living from day to day," said one American official, "but they are living. I suppose it's the natural resiliency of the Vietnamese people."

ECU Seminar For Principals

Women principals from Eastern North Carolina public schools will meet at East Carolina University Thursday, March 28, to discuss the principal's role in elementary and high schools.

They will attend the first seminar conducted by the university's School of Education especially for women.

The program calls for a 10:30 a. m. panel discussion on "Basic Concerns in Program Development."

After a 12:30 p. m. luncheon in the Buccaneer Room, the ladies will hear a talk by Mrs. Esta D. Johnson on "The Principal's Role in Creating a Climate for Innovations."

Another panel discussion, "Some Promises and Problems of Educational Innovations," will conclude the program.

The seminar begins at 10 a. m. with coffee in the Buccaneer Room. It will adjourn about 2:30 p. m.

Profit Plan Aids Soviet Production

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The contrasts of capitalism and communism create from time to time the very opposite: discussions of the similarities in the two systems. Such examinations have been popular for several years now in academic circles.

Among the factors causing the re-examination is dissatisfaction among Eastern European nations with the workings of their systems, partly because they have failed, partly because youth is replacing the revolutionaries.

And the Soviet experimentation with profits as an incentive has done as much as anything to promote renewed interest among economists.

Russia, despite the appearances of some Soviet statements, did not invent the profit motive. But the Russian sense of discovery that profits sometimes lead to efficiency and bonuses lead to happier workers sometimes gives the impression that something unheard of has been revealed to them.

Y.G. Liberman, a professor at Kharkov University and one of those most responsible for economic reforms in the Soviet Union, now reports big gains by several hundred state-owned enterprises that adopted profit sharing.

Last year, he said, profits of such operations rose 25 per cent, compared with a national average of 10 per cent. Sales rose 10 per cent, compared with 8 per cent for other firms.

Liberman's advocacy of profit incentives is only part of a larger program to revamp almost all the heavy-handed, centrally imposed goals on production, worker quotas, production costs and new technologies.

Meanwhile, in the United States there has been a long trend toward less completely free enterprise and far more involvement of local, state and federal governments in the gross national product.

The result, then, is a discussion that surfaces from time to time about the similarities between the systems of East and West.

Writing in the Columbia Journal of World Business, the director of the Netherlands Economic Institute, Jan Timbergen, gave a typical example:

"In general there is a tendency toward decentralization in the East and one of centralization in the West. Central planning tends to be reduced in the former and strengthened in the latter. More freedom is being given to Eastern managers and less to Western managers."

The similarities, Timbergen reminds readers, results from pragmatism rather than changes in ideologies, and involve economic and social structures only — not politics. And imitation is not involved, he says.

It is easy to believe that the Communist experiment with profits is a result of experience rather than of changes in fundamental beliefs. As the Communist economies developed the old structures cracked.

In the United States, for example, a consumer product is produced to meet a consumer need. American businesses are market oriented; they study consumer needs and then set out to fill the need. There's no use producing what nobody wants.

In Russia until recently, output of farm and factory was determined by an agency sitting atop a large bureaucratic structure. Orders were sent down as to what production would be. That was that.

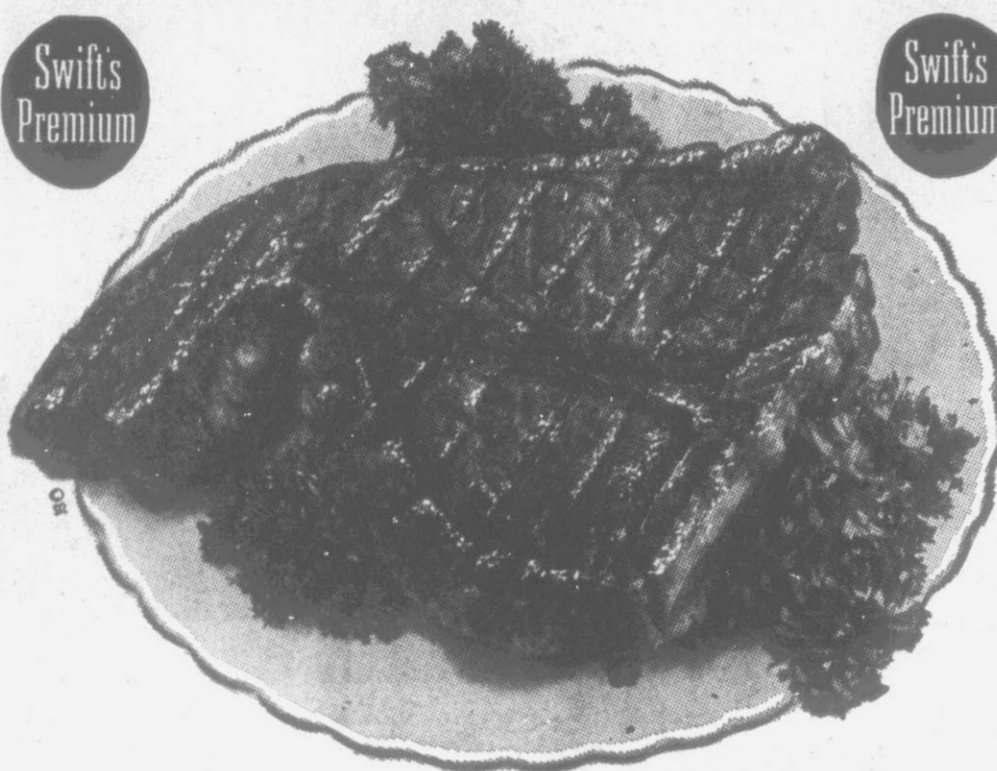

As a result, production managers viewed their job narrowly: They produced. If they could make high priced dresses more easily than low priced dresses then there was little argument over what to do. A dress was a dress.

The result sometimes was chaotic. Dresses filled warehouses but woman didn't fill the dresses. When warehouses were filled, wholesalers might dump their goods on retailers. Ten-year supplies of stockings, all the same size, might end up at one store.

Things still are dictated from the top, but presumably with less interference. Under Liberman's plan, specific goals would be applied to regional economic councils rather than to individual factories.

More important, bonuses paid for production would be paid in the future for achieving a profit. That means the goods would have to be sold, not just stored in a warehouse.

"He'll be a United States Senator some day," was his grandfather's prophecy when, on August 27, 1908, Lyndon Baines Johnson was born near Stonewall, Texas.

His ambition, following graduation from Southwest Texas State Teachers College in 1930, was to teach. Two years later, however, he accepted the position as secretary to Representative Richard Kleberg in Washington, D.C., and entered the political world.

Following a courtship of two days in 1934, he proposed and, ten weeks later, married Claudia Alta Taylor, known as Lady Bird.

In 1937, with a $10,000 loan from her father, Lyndon Johnson made his first attempt for elective office, winning a seat in the House of Representatives and the attention of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

With the President's help and the guidance of fellow Texan Sam Rayburn, Lyndon's career advanced steadily.

As a naval reserve officer, he obtained leave from the House following Pearl Harbor and served on a three-man commission inspecting southwest Pacific conditions. In mid-1942, Roosevelt ordered him back to the House.

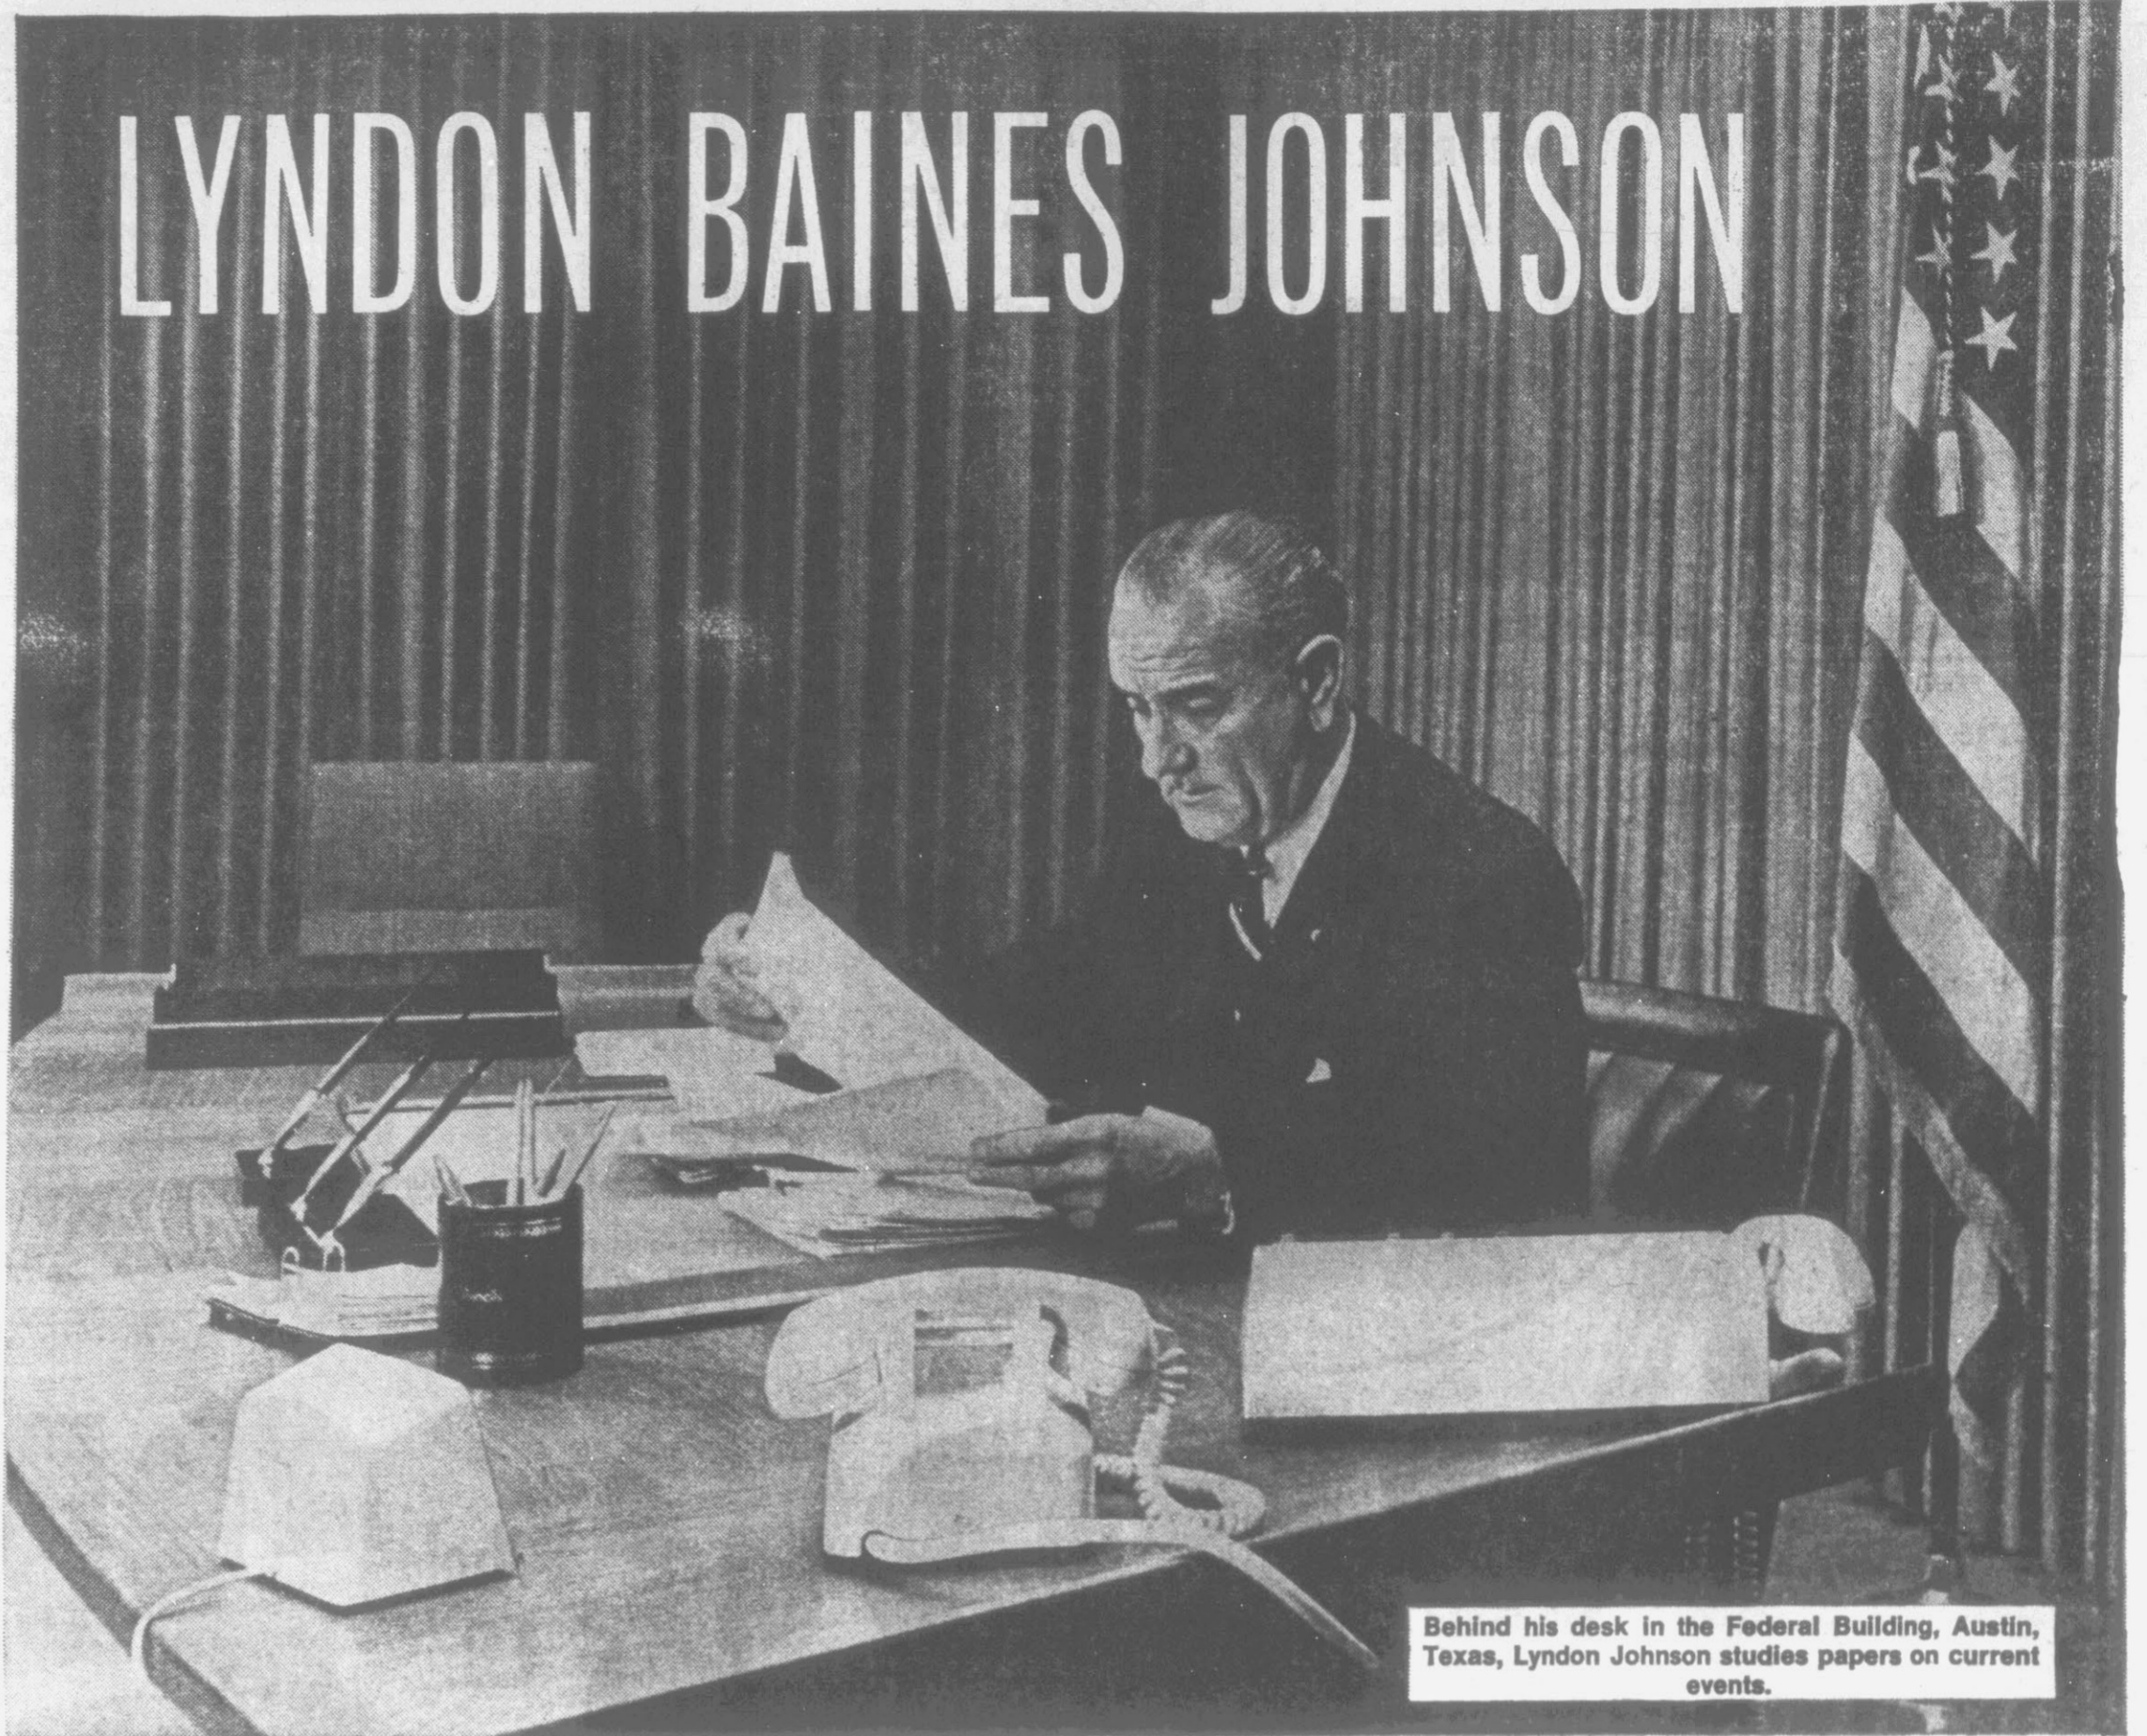

In 1948, fulfilling his grandfather's prophecy, he was elected to the United States Senate by 87 votes out of one million cast. Before his first term ended, he had become Minority Leader and, in the 1954 Democratic Congress, moved up as Majority Leader.

In 1955, he suffered a serious heart attack which threatened his career. Following doctor's orders, however, he recovered fully and, in 1960, was elected vice-president on the John F. Kennedy ticket.

When Kennedy was assassinated on November 22, 1963, Johnson moved up to become the 36th President of the United States, going on in 1964 to win the largest popular vote majority ever given a presidential candidate.

As president, Lyndon Johnson continues to seek solutions to the many national and international problems confronting him while, in election year 1968, he takes his case once more to the people.

Teacher Walkouts Reflect Association Rivalry

By GARVEN HUDGINS
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rash of teacher walkouts sweeping the United States reflects a rivalry between the two principal teacher associations for members and influence.

Locked in the competition are the once conservative National Education Association, with 1 million members, and the aggressive AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, with a membership of 150,000.

For the NEA, founded in 1857, militancy became respectable last summer only after its leaders glanced over their shoulders and found AFT membership growing.

Last July, NEA, which had frowned on teacher walkouts, announced it would support affiliates that carried out work stoppages.

"We will not encourage strikes," NEA Executive Secretary Sam Lambert said then, "but if one occurs after all good faith efforts fail, we will not walk out on our local groups."

Since then, NEA has backed walkouts by teacher affiliates in Pike County, Ky., Scranton, Pa., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Michigan, Bay County, Fla., Paducah, Ky., Albuquerque, N.M., Montgomery County, Md., and recently, in Florida, where teachers pulled their first statewide strike.

AFT, founded in 1916, has made major gains in large cities, winning bargaining rights for teachers in New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland and Gary, Ind.

AFT also handed NEA an embarrassing setback in its own backyard by winning a representational election held by teachers in Washington, D.C. It backed the recent strike in Pittsburgh, and a long, bitter one in New York.

The AFT-NEA rivalry was spotlighted March 4 when AFT President Charles Cogen suddenly announced plans to propose that the organizations merge.

"There is no use denying that the AFT and the NEA are engaged in dire competition for the membership of the teachers of America," Cogen said, "but it's very unhealthy for the teacher force to be divided—both for the teachers and for the children."

Cogen insisted that NEA ally itself with the AFL-CIO as a precondition to merger, but NEA has traditionally resisted affiliation with any group.

Said NEA President Braulio Alonso: "Since teachers instruct children from all walks of life, they must not be aligned with any segment of society. They cannot afford to be tied to any one group, whether it's a labor union or the Chamber of Commerce. Independence is too important."

NEA hopes to eventually see one organization speaking for all teachers, said Alonso, "but it has to be independent."

At this moment chances for a merger appear practically non-existent. The battle between AFT and NEA has centered largely on major cities over the past year but the rivalry is beginning to shift to suburban areas. NEA clearly showed it realized it was fighting for its life in the recent teachers walkout in Montgomery County, wealthy residential area in Maryland adjacent to Washington, D.C.

Mindful of a militant AFT organizing campaign in Montgomery County, NEA took the unusual step of dispatching from its Washington headquarters a high-ranking official to oversee the walkout.

Gary Watts, a veteran of teacher-school board disputes elsewhere, took over field management of the walkout, and shortly found himself cited for contempt for violating a court injunction to halt the strike. The teachers, after six days, won a new base pay of $6,340 compared to the old $5,880 and Watts was given a three-day suspended jail sentence.

The Montgomery County episode amply illustrated NEA's willingness to match the militancy shown last year by the AFT's New York City affiliate, the United Federation of Teachers, which led a 17-day strike that crippled the city's 1.1-million pupil school system.

In New York, the AFT won a new pact providing a teacher pay scale of $6,750 to $13,750 compared to $5,400 to $11,950 under its old contract.

Alonso predicts there will be 300 new teacher walkouts in the United States this year. "This is not just a question of teacher militancy," he said. "It demonstrates the desire on the part of teachers to win recognition as contributing members of society entitled to a fair and sensible pay scale."

The NEA-AFT rivalry reflects new militancy among the teachers themselves. An Associated Press survey disclosed that more teachers than ever before are men with families and most hold or are working for masters degrees.

"I believe today's teacher is dedicated," said an Arlington, Va., high school biology teacher who flew a B47 bomber in the Korean War. "But you can't raise and provide for a family on dedication."

There is no doubt that teacher salaries are at the root cause of the militancy. But there are other issues.

Better school facilities, a greater voice for teachers in curriculum selection, and relief from nonteaching chores, are other major goals.

Both the NEA and the AFT are on record as ready to back any local affiliate which works out over any or all of these issues.

Govm't Worker Claims Fund-Raising Pressure

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran civil servant charged today that he and other high-level employees of the Maritime Administration were summoned to a business hours meeting last week and pressured by their boss to contribute to a Democratic party fund-raising dinner.

The employe told the Associated Press the meeting was called by James W. Gulick, acting head of the Maritime Administration, for 79 members of his staff who had received invitations to the $250-a-plate dinner to be held April 4.

Gulick reportedly told those present that contributions were not being sought by arm twisting. But, the source said Gulick added:

"If you want to make sure that you have a nice, clean file — and you can be sure that a file is kept somewhere — you know what to do."

Gulick denied he made such a statement.

"There was no pressure, no solicitation and whatever they wanted to do was in accordance with their own circumstances and their own positions," he said. "I'm inclined to think that this is a small minority that wants to think this way. I'm just at a loss to understand why."

John J. McCarthy, deputy general counsel for the Civil Service Commission, said his of-ice was checking into the allegation that contributions were solicited and that if the findings warrant it, "We will investigate up to the hilt."

The invitations to the dinner, being given by Rep. Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for President Johnson, went to 12,000 persons, including government personnel with a pay-grade level of GS-15 and above whose salaries range from $18,400 up.

The meeting on the question of contributions was called by Gulick for 11 a.m. last Thursday in a conference room near his office in the General Accounting Office building.

Gulick arrived at 11:10 a.m. with his general counsel, Carl C. Davis.

The source said Gulick took his place at the head of a long table before a standing-room-only crowd and said:

"I'm going to lay it on the line. I'm going to give it to you as it was given to me."

"C. R. Smith wisely turned this over to Howard Samuels and Bob Lee passed it on to me. (The references were to the new secretary of commerce, the undersecretary of commerce and the special assistant to the secretary for public affairs, respectively.)

"C.R. Smith feels that $250 is too much. He thinks that perhaps $50 would be about right. Maybe some of you would like to go in together. You know it doesn't make any difference whether you go to the dinner.

"This thing comes up every four years. You are aware of it. All of you have received invitations to the congressional dinner on April 4. Now there's not going to be any arm twisting. I have to make a decision myself. "It's a personal decision. Each of you will have to decide

Church Group To Be Dissolved

GREENSBORO (AP) — The North Carolina-Virginia Methodist Conference, embracing Negro churches, continued meetings today looking toward its dissolution.

The conference, established in 1836, will wind up its three day session Thursday putting itself out of existence. The 20,000 members and 100 ministers in the conference will be distributed among three previously white conferences under a merger approved last summer.

Parents Pep Club Day

Saturday, March 30, a Parent's Pep Club Day will be held. The day will be spent in helping the school to look better. Any student can come and bring a parent or come without one. how important this is to you. This has been going on a long time, and incidentally it happened under Republicans, too.

"If you want to make sure that you have a nice clean file — and you can be sure that a file is kept somewhere — you know what to do."

One of Gulick's aides said he felt it was inconceivable that anyone left the meeting with a feeling that he had been pressured.

But the employe who was at the meeting said, "The tone of Gulick's remarks was that, 'I'm

Prison Term For Failing To Report

DURHAM (AP) — Harold Ceyes Foster, 26, of New York City, has been sentenced to 30 months in prison for failure to report for induction into the U.S. Army.

U.S. District Judge Edwin M. Stanley imposed the sentence Tuesday and ordered the former Chapel Hill, N.C., resident to report to the U.S. marshal Monday to begin his sentence.

Foster was quoted as selling an FBI agent on Nov. 15, 1967, that he did not have to comply with Selective Service laws because he was no longer represented in Congress as a result of the removal of Harlem Congressman Adam Clayton Powell.

LONDON (AP) — A Buckingham Palace source says Queen Elizabeth II is expected to make a South American trip in the fall, but no definite date or itinerary has yet been set.

a nice guy and I'm not going to do anything to you (if you don't contribute) but ..."

"I've seen pressure before, but this is the worst I've ever run into," the source added.

At the meeting, Gulick reportedly said that contributions to the dinner "will be reported on our quota, either by name or just a total—and my recommendation will be that we report only a total. This quota is not mandatory."

Plans For Anson Private School Are Abandoned

WADESBORO, N. C. (AP) — Plans for a private high school for white students in Anson County reportedly have been dropped for lack of sufficient financial support and failure to get enough pupils signed up for next year.

James A. Hardison Jr., chairman of the Anson school board, said Tuesday he was personally assured that plans for the school had been shelved.

F. J. Cloud, chairman of the board of county commissioners and an opponent of the private school plan, said: "They didn't get any support from the teachers in the county or from the elected leaders. And after they thought it over and saw what it was doing to the community, I think they made a moral decision to drop the whole thing."

The county is under a federal court order to submit by Nov. 15 a speeded up school integration plan.

Gulick denied he ever mentioned quotas.

The source said several participants at the meeting asked how payments could be made and Gulick replied:

"Now you know we can't collect money. That's against the law."

At this point, the source said, General Counsel Davis, who stood beside Gulick throughout the 30-minute session, interjected:

"Let's not be too technical. Let's put it this way; let's not force anybody to walk down the street if they want to contribute."

Davis could not be reached for comment, but Gulick denied that Davis made any such remark.

The following day, Gulick called a second meeting because, he said, "I heard of the possibility of a misunderstanding."

Since then, he said, he has received more than 20 responses from staff members to the effect that they did not feel they had been pressured.

Asked if he had heard of pressure being put on other high-ranking civil servants, the source said, "I know of at least one other meeting in another agency, but I'm told they're asking only $25 over there."

Chevelle's new style, power and road stance aren't the only reasons it's the most popular mid-size car.

Chevelle SS 396 Sport Coupe (foreground) and Malibu Sport Coupe.

One more reason: Its prices start a full $100 lower than any competitive models.

Why is Chevelle so popular? It's a quick-size car, yet it's got big-car ride. That's because its wide stance chassis has a full coil spring at each wheel.

Chevelle offers a choice of wheelbases, too: 112 inches for coupes and convertibles and four inches more for sedans and wagons.

Chevelle is popular because it performs. In the recent NASCAR sanctioned Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials, a Chevelle SS 396 won the Sports Intermediate Class, placing first in both economy and braking.

In the Intermediate 6-Cylinder Class, a Chevelle 300 also outperformed all the others, scoring the highest number of total points in the economy, acceleration and braking tests.

Popular, too, is Chevelle's price. It starts lower than the competitors', so you can order one equipped the way you want it without bending your budget.

Bucs Whip Virginia; Rose Outlasts Patriots

Phants Win, 5-4, In Nine Innings

By SONNY McLAHORNS Reflector Sports Writer Ron Leggett clubbed a ninth-inning single to give Rose High a 5-4 conference win over West Carteret Tuesday.

Leggett's hit broke a 4-4 deadlock with the Northeastern favorites, and kept the Phants in a tie for first with a 4-0 record.

Patriot batsmen jumped on starter Mike Aldridge for three hits and two runs early in the first inning. But the Phantom righthander settled down to pitch three straight hitless innings and held West Carteret to just two more runs through the first eight before being lifted in the ninth inning.

Rose was a little slow getting started, as the Phants could muster only two safeties through his first four innings. In the bottom of the seventh, the Phantoms tied it up to force the game into extra innings.

Leading the Phants in the three-hour, 15 minute marathon was third baseman Ken Beaman, who had three hits in five trips, including a triple.

Rodney Garner singled to start Carteret's first inning surge. Centerfielder Phil Moran followed with another single and John Turnage walked to load the bases. Bruce Maness was hit by a pitch to force in Garner. Then Dewey Willis drew a free pass to send in another run.

Rose broke the ice in the third, as Russ Cayton reached base on an error and scored on Beaman's single.

After a short drought, the Patriots picked up another run in the fifth, as Moran singled, moved to second on Turnage's hit and finally scored when Maness stroked a sacrifice fly. The Phants rallied to tie it up in the bottom of the fifth, as centerfielder Russ Smith was hit by a pitch and later scored on an error. Cayton, who reached base on a double, scored on Beaman's booming triple to left.

Mike Bradshaw added another run for the Patriots in the next inning. After hitting safely, the Carteret shortstop scored on an error.

Cayton led off in the Rose seventh, stroking a single. The Phantom backstop went to second on an error and scored on Aldridge's single.

Neither team threatened again until the last of the ninth. With two outs, Joe West singled. Stuart Jones walked to send West to second base. Then Leggett cracked the game-winning hit.

Aldridge, who had some trouble with control, managed to strike out 12, while giving up eight hits. The senior hurler walked eight and hit two batsmen.

The Phants travel to Kinston Friday for another Northeastern battle — one which will break the two-way tie between the two for first place.

Killy May Not Show For World Cup Finals

By JACK SCHREIBMAN SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — A smashing finish is being prepared for one of the most controversial and bitterly fought seasons in top ski-racing competition. For the Americans it was one of their poorest seasons.

At Heavenly Valley in the snowy Sierra and in San Francisco 200 miles away, parties and banquets will mark the 19th and last of the 1967-68 World Cup Races from April 5 to 7.

Some 150 of the world's best skiers will race slalom and giant slaloms down the face of Heavenly Valley, near the glittering gaming dens just over the Nevada state line.

Western ski fans are getting ready for a major disappointment if the French phenom, Jean-Claude Killy, fails to show up for the World Cup finale. At Sun Valley, Idaho, last weekend, after France, thanks to Killy, won the American International team meet, Killy said he might enter only the Rossland, B.C., World Cup contest this weekend and stay away from Heavenly Valley.

That's how sure the Olympic triple gold medalist is that he has the men's cup locked up for the second straight year. Killy, who counts his victories by tenths and hundredths of a second, is reputed to ski only as quick as he has to for a victory.

If Killy doesn't show up in California, it would save Austrian downhiller Karl Schranz the trouble of ignoring Le Superman. Schranz contends Killy stole the Olympic men's slalom gold medal from him. Schranz was disqualified for missing two gates.

A racing star certain to show is Canadian darling Nancy "Tiger" Greene, who is trying for her second consecutive World Cup women's crown. She's ahead so far but is under threat from Annie Famose and Isabelle Mir of France.

Once again the Americans are being all but shut out by the French. But no one can take away the sparkle of the tremendous comeback by 1964 Olympic medalist Bill Kidd, 24, of Stowe, Vt.

Kidd, whose beautiful style and technical ability on the snow have made him the most admired American racer, has been plagued by assorted wrenching accidents and broken limbs. But he shrugged all that off at Aspen, Colo., recently by winning the men's slalom four places ahead of Killy.

Winchester, Snyder, Fornash Slam Homers

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor East Carolina University's Pirates pulled out their heavy artillery on the University of Virginia yesterday and powered their way to an 11-4 victory over the Cavaliers.

The Pirates slammed three home runs, which accounted for seven of the 11 runs, and banged out six more hits on top of those. The addition of seven more walks, and another hit batter added to the total of baserunners.

Vince Colbert and Brickly Woodard teamed up to toss a six-hitter at Virginia. Colbert allowed three hits in four innings, giving up three runs. He struck out four and walked one. Woodard, who went the last five, allowed one run, three hits, and struck out one.

The Pirates were in trouble until the bottom of the third inning, when they struck for five runs to take a 6-3 lead. After that, they were in control all the way.

Virginia got the ball rolling in the first inning, when Joel DeBoe led off reaching on an error. He advanced to third on ground outs, and then scored on a wild pitch.

The Pirates tried to make the bottom of the first an instant replay of the first. Dave Goings led off, reaching on an error. He moved to second on a wild pitch, but then was driven home by Jim Snyder's single. Virginia returned to the lead in the top of the third. Dick Witt walked and was sacrificed to second. Joel DeBoe hit sharply to third, and beat out the throw, which was hit and allowed Witt, who had stayed at second to move to third. Steve Bryant brought the two in with a triple, and gave the Cavaliers a 3-1 edge.

But it lasted just long enough for the Bucs to get up to the plate. Virginia retired the first two batters, but then Snyder walked. Steve Fornash reached on a fielder's choice and Dave Winchester powered the Bucs into the lead with a three-run homer.

The Pirates weren't through however. Wayne Vick singled and Dennis Barbour reached on an error. Vince Colbert got a bloop double to score both runners and give the Bucs a 6-3 lead.

From there on out, East Carolina was in firm control. In the fourth, the Pirates pushed their lead to 7-3 as Snyder slammed a solo homer. Then in the seventh, they added another run. Steve Fornash singled and Winchester was hit by a pitch.

Wayne Vick then singled to score Fornash for a 8-3 lead. In the top of the eighth, Virginia came back with its last run. DeBoe reached on an error and scored on Lou Paulson's double.

East Carolina closed out the scoring in the bottom of the frame. With one out, Stu Garrett doubled and Snyder walked. Fornash finished out the home run derby with a slam, running the score to 11-4, the final spread.

Winchester, when hit in the seventh by a pitch, must have set some kind of East Carolina record as a pitcher's target. That marked the third time in as many games he's been hit. He was also struck in the opening game, but somehow managed to dodge balls in the second contest.

Winchester's homer in the third was his second of the year, coming in back-to-back third innings. Snyder's homer was a tape-measure job, sailing over the 390-foot marker in deep center field.

The Pirates, now 4-1 for the year, entertain Dartmouth College here on Thursday, and play host to William & Mary on Saturday. The W&M game does not count in the conference standings.

Hays May Be Center Of ABA-NBA $$ War

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The first player salary war between the two major professional basketball leagues may develop over the signing of Elvin Hayes.

The San Diego Rockets have won the National Basketball Association draft rights to the Houston Cougar All-American and reportedly are ready to pay Hayes the price tag of $300,000 for three years which he has placed on himself.

The Houston Mavericks of the new American Basketball Association said Tuesday they are willing to offer Hayes $500,000 for the same period.

"If he isn't worth $750,000 to San Diego with their television contracts, he would be getting shortchanged," said Slater Martin, general manager and coach of the Houston team.

The 6-8 Hayes met privately at San Diego late Tuesday with Bob Breitbard, owner of the Rockets. Hayes was not available for comment following the meeting.

However, Breitbard said he hoped to sign Hayes before he returns to college.

"I'm interested in building a good basketball team, and Hayes is the man I need to do it," Breitbard said.

Hayes had indicated he would rather play in the NBA. However, this was prior to the Houston salary announcement.

"They (San Diego) have a young team and the only place for them to go is up," Hayes said earlier. "I think I can be as great an asset to them as they can be to me. If they meet my price I'm ready to sign."

The ABA draft will not be held until April 8 but the Mavericks announced two weeks ago they had obtained the league's negotiation rights for Hayes.

Hayes can accept the Houston offer as the two leagues do not have a working agreement under which they forbid any player from seeking the best possible contract.

State Hails Big Sale Of Soybeans

North Carolina Agriculture Commissioner James A. Graham announced Friday the sale of 5,000 tons of Tar Heel soybeans to a Japanese firm for $500,000 and termed the sale "a significant breakthrough in export sales." "While this is only a small portion of our state's total production," Graham said at a news conference, "it is significant in that it indicates the acceptability of our soybeans by the Japanese people." Rep. Walter Jones, D - N.C., and two top officials of the N. C. Soybean Producers Association also attended the news conference. Jones said he was "excited" over the announcement, adding: "It could have far reaching possibilities in export sales. We're well on the road now." Graham said the sale of Dare variety soybeans to Ataka and Co. Tokyo amounts to 188,000 bushels or 6,000 acres. "The shipment," he said, "will bring more than $500,000, which includes a premium of $64,000 for the Dare variety over the price of other varieties." Graham said Japan uses more than 2 million tons of soybeans annually "and there is no reason why North Carolina cannot help supply a larger portion of this market."

Kaat Has Sore Elbow; Shaw, O'Toole Get Ax

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Spring training will be a little late this year for Jim Kaat, but Bob Shaw and Jim O'Toole are wondering whether it will come at all for them.

Shaw and O'Toole, two of baseball's top pitchers several years ago, were looking for employment today after the Chicago White Sox dropped them Tuesday. At the same time, the Sox gave veteran slugger Rocky Colavito a new chance by selling him to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Kaat, Minnesota's ace left-hander who pitched the Twins to the 1966 pennant, started his spring training Monday by hurling 15 minutes of batting practice, and that was as far as he got. The sore elbow that plagued him last year was back again. Kaat's next appearance is not expected until after the season begins April 8.

Jim Bunning, however, indicated he still is one of the National League's indestructible pitchers as he tuned up for an expected leading role in Pittsburgh's pennant chase.

The new Pirate, acquired from Philadelphia last winter, hurled a two-hitter for eight innings as Pittsburgh downed Boston 2-1 on Manny Mota's two-run homer in the first.

In other games, Cincinnati belted Los Angeles 7-2, the New York Mets blanked St. Louis 1-0, Atlanta edged Baltimore 2-1, Detroit clobbered Washington 8-0, San Francisco nipped the Chicago Cubs 3-2, California bounced Cleveland 6-2, Minnesota topped the New York Yankees 4-2 and the White Sox shut out Oakland 4-0.

The 29-year-old Kaat, who won 25 games in 1966, fell to 16-13 last season. A snapped ligament in his left elbow suffered last Sept. 30 failed to heal completely during the winter.

The elbow still twinges when he throws breaking pitches and Minnesota trainer George Lentz said Kaat will do no more pitching in regular spring training. Twins' President Calvin Griffith said there is a strong possibility Kaat will be on the 15-day disabled list at the start of the season.

Shaw, 34, a 10-year veteran who pitched the White Sox to the 1959 pennant and later starred for Milwaukee and San Francisco, planned to contact Boston and Pittsburgh for a trial.

O'Toole, 31, whose 19 victories helped Cincinnati to the 1961 pennant, had a sore shoulder most of 1967 after the Sox acquired him from the Reds. He and Shaw each started this season as free agents.

Colavito, 34, a homer-hitting outfielder picked up by the Sox in their 1967 pennant struggle, lost his job in spring training to two rookies, Buddy Bradford and Bill Boss.

A former World Series hero, pitcher Larry Sherry, was cut by the Houston Astros, who also named outfielder Jackie Brandt a player-coach with Dallas-Fort Worth in the Texas League.

Minnesota got by without Kaat, the scheduled starter Tuesday as Jim Perry and rookie Moe Ogier stopped the Yankees and John Roseboro slammed a two-run single in the eighth inning.

Cisco Carlos, Bob Priddy, Wilbur Wood and Hoyt Wilhelm stopped the A's on six hits in the White Sox' victory.

Pitcher Cecil Upshaw singled home a run in the bottom of the ninth with two out for Atlanta's triumph. The Mets scored their first run in 28 innings on ninth-inning doubles by Bud Harrelson and Ken Boswell while Nolan Ryan, Bill Short and Dan Frisella blanked the Cardinals.

San Francisco also won in the ninth as Cub Manager Leo Durocher was ejected for protesting a pitch and reliever Pete Mikkelsen let in the winning run on a wild pickoff throw to first base.

Home runs helped decide the other three games as Lee May slammed a three-run blast for Cincinnati, Bill Freehan cracked one with two on for Detroit and California's Chuck Hinton and Roger Repoz connected for five runs.

Mullins Again Sparks Warriors Over Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A player doesn't get tired early in a season, and San Francisco's Jeff Mullins appears about as fresh as one can get.

Mullins scored 29 points last Friday in sparking San Francisco over St. Louis in the first game of the National Basketball Association Western Division semifinals, and said the playoffs are just like a new season.

Tuesday night he did it again—scoring 33 points as the Warriors beat St. Louis 124-109 to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

It was the only NBA action of the night.

In the American Basketball Association playoffs, Dallas eliminated Houston 3-0 in the best-of-5 Western Division semifinals by winning 116-103, New Orleans drubbed Denver 130-104. Fred Hetzel and Clyde Lee each added 19 and Rudy Larusso 18 for San Francisco. Zelman Beatty, Lenny Wilkens and Lou Hudson each scored 21 for St. Louis.

Dallas raced to a 19-point halftime lead and then coasted to its third straight playoff victory over Houston. John Beasley poured in 31 points, Maurice McHartley 24 and four other players hit double figures for Dallas. Art Becker scored 26 and Guy Manning 25 for Houston.

Dallas now will play the winner of the New Orleans series which opened with New Orleans' one-sided victory.

Five-foot-9 Larry Brown scored 31 points, his high for the season, in pacing New Orleans, which built up a 14-point halftime margin. Wayne Hightower led Denver with 28.

Pittsburgh's Art Heyman drove through the Indiana defense for 32 points in leading the Pipers to a 2-0 lead over Indiana in their Eastern Division semifinal series.

With Pittsburgh ace Connie Hawkins and playmaker Charlie Williams on the bench with five fouls each, Indiana cut the Pipers' lead from 92-75 to 94-88 in the fourth quarter. But then Hawkins and Williams returned and Pittsburgh went on a 14-2 tear to put the game out of reach.

Chico Vaughn added 24 points and Hawkins 21 for the Pipers. Fred Lewis paced Indiana with 21.

In the other Eastern semifinal, Kentucky rallied in the final nine minutes to even its set with Minnesota at 1-1.

Louie Dampier tied it for Kentucky at 94-94 with 1:30 left, and then Randy Mahaffey put the Colonels ahead to stay at 96-94. Dampier led Kentucky with 24 points, and Mahaffey contributed 21. Gary Keller topped Minnesota with 16.

Greene Central Downs Devils

SNOW HILL — Greene Central rolled to an 8-3 victory over Farmville here yesterday in an Eastern Plains baseball game.

Greene Central took the lead in the second inning with two runs. Marion Hill reached on an error and Sammy Barrow was safe on a fielder's choice. Lee Quinn singled in Hill and Robert Hill walked to load the sacks. Felton Ormond then walked, forcing in Barrow with the second run.

In the third, Greene Central picked up three more runs and settled the outcome. Gilbert Cobb singled and Barrow walked. Quinn reached on an error, loading them up. Walter Hill singled in Cobb and Barrow and Quinn scored when Ormond reached on an error.

Greene Central added three more in the fifth. Farmville came up with two in the fourth and one in the seventh.

Cobb, who hurled the win, shut out Farmville with just one hit. He struck out eight, but walked seven.

The victory was the first in three starts for the Rams.

Cubs Are Exciting Again This Year

By JIM CHURCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Leo Durocher getting thrown out of games... Lou Johnson trying to stretch at triple into an inside-the-park home run... Ernie Banks coming through with clutch hits.

That will be the Chicago Cubs of 1968 as the exciting young club makes a run for the Cubs' first National League pennant since 1945.

Durocher, who has been in professional baseball since 1925 and has managed teams to three pennants, took over the Cubs in 1966. That year they finished last but in 1967 the young pitchers kept them in the pennant chase until August, and the team finished third, 14 games behind St. Louis.

The stars of the mound staff, Ken Holtzman, 22, and Ferguson Jenkins, 24, were hit hard in their early spring training outings.

"I'm not worried," said Durocher. "They'll come around."

Holtzman won six straight last year, went in active reserve duty and won three more pitching on weekends. Jenkins, 20-13 with a 2.80 earned average in 289 innings last year, gave up nine hits and six runs in his first three exhibition innings. Holtzman, in his first six innings, allowed eight hits and six runs.

Joe Niekro, a 23-year-old right-hander who was 10-7 last year, started well in the spring, giving up four hits and no runs in six innings.

The fourth prospective starter, Rich Nye, 23, gave up seven hits and four runs in his first six innings. The left-hander was 13-10 last year.

Of those trying to make the staff for the first time, Dick Calmus, 24, Jim Ellis, 23, Dick Gardner, 23, and Frank Reberger, 23, have been impressive.

In the infield, the Cubs are set with Randy Hundley behind the plate, Banks at first, Glenn Beckert at second, Don Kessinger at short and Ron Santo, who hit 31 homers last year, at third. Bill Plummer, John Stephenson and John Dudek are battling for the No. 2 catching job. Stephenson is the only one with major league experience, having hit 224 in 18 games last year.

Banks, 37, hit .276 with 23 homers last year in his 15th major league season. He and center fielder Adolfo Phillips led the team in runs batted in through the first seven exhibition games.

Beckert, 27, could be one of the best at second, says Durocher. "I think he can hit 300," said Durocher. "He's hit at least 280 the last two seasons and he seldom strikes out."

Durocher is high on rookie infielder Jose Arcia, 24, who hit .219 for Little Rock in the Pacific Coast League last season.

"There's no way he'll leave us," said Durocher. "He's been playing short because Kessinger has been on active reserve duty, but he's a heckuva second baseman, too. Why do you think I let Paul Popovich go to the Dodgers?"

Johnson, who hit .270 for the Dodgers last season, was cut down trying to stretch a triple into a homer against the California Angels despite the warning of coach Pete Reiser.

"He's scrappy and hitting the ball well," Durocher says of "Sweet Lou," who has played for 13 teams in the past 17 seasons.

Solid hitting Billy Williams, .278 with 28 homers last year, will be in left. Ted Savage appears to have the edge on Byron Browne and Al Spangler as the fourth outfielder.

The Cubs' pennant chances depend heavily upon the performances of Holtzman, Jenkins, Nye and Niekro. Williams, Banks, Santo and Phillips must hit and stay healthy. Biggest weakness is lack of a reliable bullpen.

May Change Tournney Setup

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — The chairman of the Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Committee says he may call a special meeting of the group, in advance of the ACC spring meeting, to discuss plans for next year's basketball tournament.

The conference will hold its spring meeting May 23 at Hot Springs, Va. Basketball committee Chairman Eddie Cameron, Duke athletic director, said Tuesday, however, he may call a meeting of his committee "sometime in the next month."

Cameron said the purpose would be for the five-member committee to consider where to hold the 1969 tournament and have a final recommendation ready for the conference to act on in May.

He said Raleigh, Greensboro and Charlotte, where past tournaments have been held, will be considered. He said the University of South Carolina also has extended an invitation to hold the 1970 tournament at its new coliseum, which is under construction.

Cameron said the committee also will consider a proposal offered by Willis Casey, North Carolina State assistant athletic director. Casey has suggested that first round games of the three-day tournament be played on the home courts of the four seeded teams.

Cameron noted that this plan, if approved, could not be implemented until 1970 since it could not get NCAA approval before next January's meeting. The committee chairman also noted that cities bidding for the tournament want to know in advance whether they will have a three-day or a two-day tournament.

Open Tennis May Be Tough On Kids

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Popular Manuel Santana of Spain, rated by many as the world's top amateur player, added a poignant dissent today to the question of open tennis.

"Open tennis will be tough on the kids," he said. "For that reason, I hate to see it come."

"Open tennis will be beautiful to watch. People will see the best players. I have no worries. I welcome the challenge to play against the pros."

"But the kids—they will be left out in the cold. I love tennis. I like kids. I was one of them once."

The 29-year-old Santana, a 10-year Davis Cup veteran plays America's Arthur Ashe tonight in the feature quarter-final match of the Garden Challenge Cup International Tennis Tournament.

Two men's and two women's matches are on the card at Madison Square Garden, leaving until Thursday the remaining quarter-final matches.

Other matches tonight send Clark Graebner of New York against Yugoslavia's young Zeljko Franulovic; second-seeded Ann Haydon Jones of England against Francoise Durr of France and Judy Tegart of Australia against Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif. Billie Jean King of Berkeley, Calif., queen of women's tennis, plays Winnie Shaw of Scotland Thursday. Mrs. King, who will sign a fat pro contract next week, needed only 37 minutes to dispose of Elena Subirats of Mexico 6-0, 6-2.

Fined 14 For Blocking Entry

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Two persons identified by police as leaders of a demonstration against a Dow Chemical Co. campus recruiter were fined $50 and costs Tuesday in Chapel Hill Recorder's Court. "Twelve other defendants were fined $25 and costs."

The 14 were convicted of blocking an entrance to a room on the University of North Carolina campus during the demonstration last week aimed at preventing a Dow recruiter from interviewing prospective employees.

Dow manufactures napalm for use in Vietnam and has been the target of numerous student demonstrations throughout the nation.

Draft resister George Vlasits, a former graduate student at the university, and Lynn Wells, a leader of the Southern Students Organizing Committee, received the $50 fines after they were found guilty by Judge L. J. Phipps.

Ten of the defendants are students.

That Part Of The Job Is OK

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Howard Pyle, twice governor of Arizona, made a talk here recently and explained how he moved into politics by way of radio.

He intended to be a musician and figured radio would give him needed public exposure. After 25 years in broadcasting, he turned to politics, much to the dismay of his father, a Baptist minister.

After Pyle became president of the National Safety Council, he received this telegram from his father:

"You're your father's son after all. You keep them alive until some of the rest of us can save them."

Kennedy Changes Target, Aiming At Nixon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—carrying his Democratic presidential campaign into Republican Idaho country—has turned his political guns from President Johnson to GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon, Kennedy told a Pocatello, Idaho, college crowd Tuesday, "has had no new ideas in the past decade. (He) says what we are doing is wrong, but we should just do more of it."

The New York senator's jet-age campaign swing moved into Utah today. By Saturday he will have covered a third of the 50 states in two weeks.

In other political developments:

—President Johnson is backed for renomination by 14 of the nation's 24 Democratic governors, an Associated Press survey shows. Only one, Philip H. Hoff of Vermont, commits himself to Kennedy. Another, Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, said he leans toward Kennedy or Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

—McCarthy faced a mutiny by his top press aides, Seymour Hersh and Mary Lou Oates. But campaign advisor Richard N. Goodwin called the dispute a "tempest in a teapot."

—Nixon appeared likely to be able to write his own platform at the Republican National Convention. GOP moderates plan to gather ideas to help shape it, but Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., platform committee chairman, said he suspects their ideas may be lost in the drafting.

—Former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace carried his third party presidential candidacy into three southern states —criticizing the major parties and candidate Kennedy in particular.

Kennedy and McCarthy, both concentrating their anti-Vietnam war policy campaigns heavily on college and university campuses, took varying stands Tuesday on the draft issue.

McCarthy drew cheers from students in Wausau, Wis., by calling for the removal of draft director Lewis B. Hershey.

"Men like Hershey," McCarthy said, "must be replaced by administrators who understand that the object of the draft is to defend democracy, not to suppress free speech."

Kennedy in Seattle urged development of a professional army to replace the draft and he also was cheered by students. But he added students' demands should be abolished so long as the Vietnam war continues.

"Is it fair, in your judgment, to those others that they should be drafted and have to go to Vietnam?" he asked.

"Why should it be those who are very poor have to bear the burden?" Wallace, campaigning in Louisiana, Georgia and Florida, called for military victory in Vietnam.

"If we can't win militarily," he said, "I don't know what we're there for."

Kennedy, Wallace said, "has recommended and supported every policy followed in this country today and yet he says he wants to try something new."

The Alabamian said Kennedy "advocated more civil rights legislation to get the agitators out of the streets but the more legislation they pass, the more they've got in the streets."

Moose Elections Are Set For Next Monday

Greenville Moose got the word Monday night that election of officers for 1968-69 would be held on April 1 and their installation on April 27.

The installation will be held at a dinner for new members and their sponsors. The Installing Officer will be Supreme Junior Governor Cecil Webster of Burlington.

Monday night's meeting was also marked by presentation of the Charter for Boy Scout Troop 362, sponsored by the fraternity.

Institutional Representative Joe Easter introduced a number of troop members, cited growth of the troop, its accomplishments and many advancements.

Governor Sam Brooks, Past Governor James Harris and Deputy Supreme Governor Henry Flake reported on events at the mid-year convention of North Carolina Moose at Goldsboro over the weekend.

Twenty-two members of the Greenville lodge and thirteen wives and chapter members attended the affair. Lodge 885's drill team assisted in the enrollment of a class of new members and the Greenville degree staff placed fourth in the annual competition.

A banquet on Saturday night honored the Deputy Supreme Governor.

Herbert Heilman, director of membership and enrollment department at national headquarters in Mooseheart, represented the Supreme Lodge. Regional Director Frank Ray, State Director William A. Moon of Winston-Salem and State Ass'n President Charles Stone, of Kinston, were in attendance, as was Cecil Webster, the Supreme Junior Governor.

Moon announced forming of three new lodge in the state. New lodges are located in Greensboro, Siler City and Kernersville. "We now have 30,000 members in North Carolina," he reported.

In all, some 500 members attended the mid-year gathering.

Brothers Triumph In Pinewood Derby

The Jones brothers took home the bacon last night at the Pinewood Derby.

The annual event was held at the Moose Lodge for the Moose sponsored Cub and Webloes Scout Pack 200. George Evans, Cub Master for Pack 200, conducted the race which was run on the new 8-lane track.

The Pack meeting was opened with a skit by Mrs. Perry Lockamy's Den 4, after which Evans blew the starting whistle for the Pinewood Derby.

One heat was run for each den to eliminate all but one car per den. The winners of each heat were Den 1, Mike Weston; Den 2, Ricky Jones; Den 3, Eddie Stallings; Den 4, Charles Lockamy; and Den 5, Eddie Flake.

The Webloes first heat winners were Den W-1, Donald Blanchard; Den W-2, Lee Hill; Den W-3, Joel Jones; Den W-4, Jimmy Leitch.

All of the Cub winners were pitted against each other and Ricky Jones of Mrs. Ferne Jones' Den 2 took the checkered flag.

Webloes Den winners then took to the track and Joel Jones of Leo Sheetz's Den W-3 crossed the finish line first.

Ricky Jones took home a Cub Scout flashlight and the First Place trophy for the Cub division.

Joel Jones received a "vitals kit" and the First Place trophy for the Webloes division.

The cars were inspected prior to the race by Mr. Paul L. Jewett and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Edwards. After the inspection, the cars were placed on the raceway by chief starter William "Bill" Hopkins. The green flag was waved by Henry Flake and the chief judge at the finish line was Bruce Baker. At the completion of the racing schedule, the track was opened for unorganized competition and fun was had by all. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Miles' Cub Den 1.

Students Fined In Shooting Case

LOUISBURG, N. C. (AP) — Six white high school students, charged with shooting into the home of their Negro teacher, were convicted Tuesday in Franklin County Recorder's Court.

Each was fined $25 and assessed the court costs. Each also was ordered to surrender his driver's license for 90 days and pay a share of the $250 damages done to the home of the teacher, Robert Lee Webster of Sandy Creek Township.

Sheriff William T. Dement and agents of the State Bureau of Investigation arrested the students Saturday and charged them with destruction of property.

The students were identified as Elwood Hight and Milto Dement, both 17; John C. Joyner, 18; and Alton Parrish, Ronald Dement and Robert Speed, all 16.

The sheriff said the March 20 shooting "was strictly a teacher-student incident completely without racial overtones and definitely not connected with" recent shooting and bombing attempts at the home of the Rev. Luther Coppedge, a Franklin County Negro leader.

Zoo Could Be Launched In 1969

RALEIGH (AP)—N. W. Pope, chairman of the North Carolina Zoological Park Study Commission, says if the 1969 General Assembly enacts a bill to create a state zoo, ground could be broken for the project by mid-1970.

Pope made the remark Tuesday in accepting a $10,000 gift for the commission from the Raleigh Jaycees who donated the funds to help finance the zoo feasibility study authorized by the 1967 General Assembly.

The study group chairman also said he is confident a bill for the zoo will be introduced next year, and legislators from many areas "will be fighting tooth and nail" to have it located in their areas.

Thomas Bradshaw, president of the Raleigh Jaycees, said if the capital city area is selected as a site for the zoo, between 500 and 1,000 acres of land will be made available for the park.

$30,000 Gift To Catawba College

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP) — A $30,000 gift from the Fieldcrest Foundation has been presented to Catawba College toward its $5 million capital fund development program.

The gift was made through the North Carolina Finishing Co., Salisbury division of the Felderest Mills Inc., of Eden, which set up the foundation.

NOW A&P IS REALLY IN THE SOUP (SOUP BUSINESS, THAT IS)

For years, our Ann Page Division has made great soups...but there were only 3.

For some time, we've been working on new varieties. But you know fussy A&P. If they are going to be called Ann Page, there can't be better soups... and you can't rush perfection. It's taken time but it was worth it. When you taste our 4 new varieties, you'll agree.

And when you see the prices... you'll want to buy them all. You should, because they just might be the best values in the store. One more thing, all 7 have shiny new green, red and gold labels. Now that A&P is really in the soup business, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Etruscan Vault Was Overlooked

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — Somebody stole the wealthy Coruna family's fare to the afterworld. Whether they ever got there or not, all 10 of the ancient Corunas have finally emerged in modern times as the most sensational Etruscan discovery in many years.

The Corunas were monied and patrician somebodies in the once-great Etruscan city of Tuscania 2,300 years ago. The richness of their buried tomb 40 miles north of Rome showed that.

When state archaeologists finally got around to digging into the burial dome last November they had little hope of a major find. The tomb was in a necropolis that had been almost completely looted during the past century.

But when the archaeologists dug down to the buried entry and broke through the sealed door, they flashed their lights in on a scene that startled them.

Ten stately Etruscan men and women appeared to be rising out of stone coffins in reproof over the intrusion.

When they finally were hauled out onto the hillside they turned out to be massive lids of 10 stone sarcophagi, sculptured into the life-size, full-length figures of the buried, each propped up on one elbow.

The inscriptions showed that the head of the clan was Setre Coruna, a thick-set patrician whose parted toga left him bare to the waist. He was shown, probably just as he had been in life, a portly gentleman with heavy jowls, a double chin and a bulging paunch.

His wife, Apunia Panaquilla, was a strong-minded looking matron in her 40s with a surprised expression as if she had just been awakened by a clatter from the kitchen.

There also were Alente Coruna, possibly a brother of Setre, and seven other men and women of the family. The stone coffins were crowded one beside the other in the 14 by 14 foot burial chamber before some survivor sealed the door and filled in the entryway. The names could be read. The Etruscan alphabet is known although the language itself never has been translated. Archaeologists said the fact that the sculptured lids were still on the sarcophagi showed that the tomb had been overlooked by looters in recent centuries. The sculptured figures are of inestimable value now. But they would have been passed over as too heavy by tomb robbers in early Medieval times.

Back then, or even in Roman days, someone had cracked holes in the corners of the stone coffins to grope inside and pull out the jewelry and valuables always buried with the wealthy.

Setre Coruna's outstretched hand held a stone bowl that must once have contained the coins to pay the family's way to the afterworld.

But someone had stolen the fare.

Exhibits Work In Commercial Art

The show can be viewed in the third-floor Hallway Gallery of Rawl Building. It opened Sunday, March 24, and will close Sunday, March 31.

On view are illustrations, posters, offset productions, photographs and graphic design problems in commercial art.

Ex-Mayor Plans To Serve Abroad

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Former St. Louis Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann has accepted an assignment with the International Executive Service Corps and will go to San Salvador in Central America. The organization is a sort of businessman's peace corps that assists private enterprise in developing countries. He will act as consultant to the chamber of commerce which serves the country of El Salvador.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND
VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A dog is not a burglar's best friend! A burglar tipped through the home of Mrs. John Storks to avoid awakening her. But when his canine pal jumped on the couch on which she slept and started licking her face, she awoke and started streaming. The thief and his dog fled without taking anything.

The Worry Clinic 'Health Argument' Is Used To Hide Fears

Harold is trying to deceive his wife in the sexual realm. But his "health argument" is merely one of the typical types of camouflage employed by a scared male! You wives must learn to distinguish between logical reasons, versus emotional excuses! So memorize this case and send for the booklet below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-527: Harold R., aged 68, is a problem.

"Dr. Crane," his wife began, "Harold is afraid of sex!"

"Oh, I'm not joking!"

"He has told me we must have a platonic marriage, for sexual activity is hard on the heart and shortens one's life."

"So for the past year we have lived like brother and sister."

"But is he correct in shunning physical affection?"

No; Harold is wrong!

For exercise of the glands is just as vital to long life as is regular muscular activity.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent heart specialist, has urged coronary patients to engage in moderate but regular physical exercise, just to keep their heart muscles strong.

Exercise also produces a richer blood supply to the organs involved.

Furthermore, the sexual function, in itself, is not as great a strain on your heart as smoking one cigarette!

For our medical researchers have proved that your heart speeds up by as much as 20 beats per minute while you are smoking.

Alas, that acceleration then persists for as long as 15 to 20 minutes after you have thrown the cigarette butt away!

But the sexual act itself does not produce any significant zooming of your pulse or blood pressure. Among young people, however, the preliminary coquetry and dancing, tennis playing or hiking may accelerate the heart.

But mature adults, after marriage, seldom indulge much in those teen-age romantic pre-ludes.

So men like Harold can be suspected of employing the health argument as a subterfuge.

It is a common device to shield a husband's ego from severe deflation! For a platonic man fears his wife will guess that he simply cannot become aroused by her.

This celibacy, camouflaged by the health alibi, belongs in the same syndrome of the climacteric in men, as sudden alcoholism, gambling, reckless driving, hypochondria in general (worry wart behavior), as well as the fabrication of phantasy female paramours!

Millions of American husbands are forced to manufacture excuses to avoid their wives in the boudoir.

For our tense modern business competition drains off much of the male eroticism in office and factory production, leaving scant energy for reproductive attempts.

Furthermore, such tense husbands usually become smokers and the tobacco addict soon becomes semi-platonic, if not totally impotent.

THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

But many wives are partly to blame, for they remain indolent and too passive in their boudoir. Because they have often grown fat and sloppy after the age of 40, their visual appeal has also waned.

But an older husband needs EXTRA visual and perfume appeal to bolster his own reduced erotic fervor! Wives, get help!

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Tax Concessions For Pollution Control Adopted

CHICAGO (AP) — Pollution control facilities constructed to make the air and water pollution-free now receive special concessions on taxes in some states.

Tax breaks centering on income, sales and property levies have been voted in more than a fourth of the states, Commerce Clearing House reports.

Tax credits are given for the construction and maintenance of facilities designed to combat the growing threat of pollution. Concessions range from allowing amortization over a 60-month period to cover water-control facilities in California to exemption of pollution-control equipment from sales tax in Connecticut.

Air pollution control property has been exempted from taxation in Connecticut, North Carolina, and Wyoming. Idaho, New Jersey, and Ohio exempt water-control facilities from taxation.

GOOD TIMING

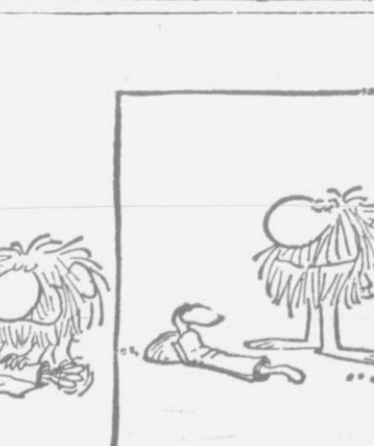

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Marsha Wolf couldn't have timed her baby's arrival any closer. She took a final examination at Missouri Western College in the morning, then left for Sisters Hospital where she gave birth to a son at night.

Opening lead: Three of ♠
In order to maintain full control of the proceedings, South—the declarer at four hearts—found it necessary at one stage to trump his own trick.

West opened the three of spades and South overtook dummy's jack with the king in order to lead a club out to the queen. East won the trick with the ace and shifted to the ten of hearts.
South put up the ace, cashed the king of clubs, and then led a third round. West discarded the seven of diamonds and North ruffed with the eight of hearts. The ace of diamonds was cashed on which West's jack fell.

Confiscated Cigarettes Used

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania confiscated more than 50,000 packs of contraband cigarettes last year and distributed them to smokers in the commonwealth's 19 mental hospitals. The cigarettes were seized from persons smuggling them into Pennsylvania from states with lower taxes. The state raised the tax on a pack from 8 to 13 cents last year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued climbing early this afternoon in active trading. As the long-postponed rally entered its second day, advances outnumbered declines by about 3 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.32 at 836.86. Blue chips and glamor stocks rose together. Gold mining shares declined as the price of gold bullion sank in Paris.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were scattered through the list of leading issues. The higher-priced stocks tacked on several points.

Part of the market strength was a follow-through to Tuesday's technical rally. Also given credit was progress in the U.S. Senate toward adopting legislation combining a cut in government spending with a tax increase. The large amount of cash held on the sidelines by mutual funds and other institutions and the need to "dress up" portfolios for first quarter reports also were cited as factors in the rise.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.6 at 301.4 with industrials up 2.9, rails up .6 and utilities up 7.7. A block of 99,000 shares of Avnet traded at 34 1/2 was enough to push it to the top of the list of volume leaders. After the block cleared, Avnet's gain stretched from 1 point to nearly 2.

Among high-flyers on the most active list, Polaroid gained 5, Teledyne 4 and Control Data 3. Up around a point or better were Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Xerox, United Air Lines, Merck and U.S. Smelting.

Prices advanced broadly on the American Stock Exchange.

Revised Teacher Sanction Plan To Be Given NCEA

RALEIGH (AP) — The president of the North Carolina Education Association, Helen Wells, says a revised teacher sanction proposal will be presented to the group's statewide convention in Charlotte next week.

Miss Wells, interviewed in Raleigh Tuesday, also said the predominantly white NCEA will push for a September merger with its Negro counterpart, the North Carolina Teachers Association.

The sanctions proposal, designed to give teachers bargaining power with local and state governments, has been weakened by revisions which were made following presentation of the draft at 36 area conferences in recent weeks.

The present working paper established three levels of sanctions including sanction alert, censure and withholding services.

The sanctions, which would require a two-thirds majority of the state membership or local involved, could be invoked to remedy or prevent violations of an ethical nature or "of individual or group rights or to bring about long-range improvement of the welfare of pupils, school systems, members of the association and the education profession."

Miss Wells said withholding services, the strongest level of sanction, could include urging NCEA members to "seek employment elsewhere as soon as individual arrangements permit," submitting resignations with 30 days' notice and calling a "professional holiday" with the approval of a board of education.

The earlier proposal would have permitted calling of "professional holidays" without school board approval and would have permitted local associations to urge industry and business not to expand or locate in an area under sanction. Miss Wells said the provisions were dropped from the final draft.

The NCEA's board, she said, plans to press for early approval of a proposed to merge the NCEA and NCTA into one statewide, integrated group: the North Carolina Education Association Inc.

Miss Wells said the NCEA would like to implement the merger in September, but there have been reports the NCTA hopes to put the action off until September 1969 "because they say they have some projects under way that they cannot complete by the time we want to merge."

"We're certainly not going to force the issue, but we're ready to merge and are anxious to do so as soon as possible. With so much integration of educational staffs up and down the state, it's beginning to create a real problem having two separate organizations."

acted on today. Downtown Panama appeared quiet Tuesday night after guardsmen dispersed crowds with tear gas and rifle shots, and seven persons were treated for gunshot wounds. Delvalle and his deputies, caught briefly in the melee outside the assembly hall, ducked into their cars and drove away.

A large group of newsmen and cameramen were engulfed in tear gas and a hail of flying objects. Associated Press photographer James Bourdier was struck in the ankle by a grapefruit-sized rock but was not badly hurt.

Police arrested one member of the opposition today and sought another on charges of possessing Molotov cocktails, bombs made by filling bottles with gasoline.

Robles was ousted by the assembly Sunday in a 30-0 impeachment conviction on charges that he violated the constitution by promoting a candidate to succeed him in the May 12 elections.

Delvalle seemed cheerful as he spoke with newsmen after a cabinet meeting in his suburban home. He would not say what was discussed at the meeting but asserted the dismissal of Vallarino and all four of his top subchiefs probably would be

Hospital Stays Despite Protest

TOKYO (AP) — Despite official urgings that the United States cancel plans to operate an Army hospital in Oji, northern Tokyo, U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson said today the hospital would open on schedule in April.

Tokyo Gov. Ryokichi Minobe met with Johnson today to outline problems arising from the hospital. Prime Minister Eisaku Sato urged Thursday that the hospital be moved.

Oji residents and Japanese leftwingers have clashed with police twice in protests against the hospital. They claim the 400-bed hospital will get Japan involved in the Vietnam war and also produce a flock of GI bars and cabarets.

BOLD GETAWAY

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A burglar who broke into a service station here felt lucky or foolhardy. As he was making his getaway, two bystanders, one of whom had a gun, ordered him to halt and give himself up. He answered, "Go ahead and shoot me," got into his car and drove away.

Panama's 2nd President Will Try To Fire General

PANAMA (AP) — Hoarse from tear gas in a confrontation with the Panama National Guard, the president installed by the National Assembly said Tuesday night he would try to fire the guard's commander today.

President Max Delvalle, his cabinet and legislators were kept from meeting in the assembly Tuesday by Brig. Gen. Bolivar Vallarino, commander of the 4,000-man guard, the country's only armed force. Rioting followed.

Vallarino told The Associated Press: "There are not two presidents in Panama. The constitutional president is Marco A. Robles unless the Supreme Court rules otherwise, in which case the National Guard will abide by that pronouncement." The court convenes Monday.

Robles was ousted by the assembly Sunday in a 30-0 impeachment conviction on charges that he violated the constitution by promoting a candidate to succeed him in the May 12 elections.

Reece Gardner Backs New Jobs

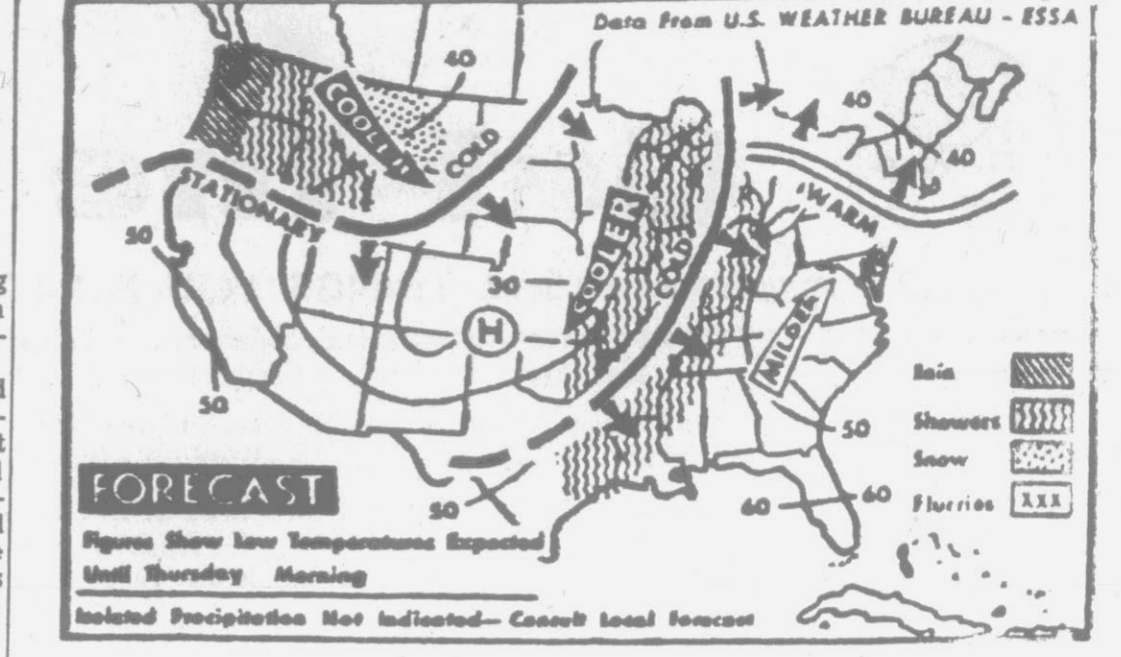

WASHINGTON, N. C. — Reece B. Gardner, Republican candidate for governor in the First Congressional District, has proposed jobs for poverty workers.

In a talk to the Kiwanis Club here last night he said, "There is one way that Martin Luther King's planned April march on Washington can be turned into a real success, and that is for the administration to greet poverty workers with jobs."

"I hereby propose that Pres. Johnson set up temporary job centers, manned by U.S. Employment Service workers, to line the streets of the capital to greet King's marchers and match jobs with jobless."

Gardner said he sees no need for federal programs to create work "when there are literally thousands of jobs going begging for people."

Gardner is in Washington, D. C. today conferring with GOP Congressional leaders and plan the strategy for his Congressional campaign.

Plans Non-Stop Rocking Stint For Easter Seals

Swingers of the early 1950's remember Bill Haley and his Comets for a record of "Rock Around the Clock." Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity men at East Carolina University want to make a new record on the same subject this weekend.

Instead of a record for the Top Ten, it will be a record of endurance if 19-year-old Paul Breitman of Charlotte can hold ride a rocking chair for 54 out. Breitman says he can ride a rocking chair for 54 hours without stopping as a gimmick to stimulate Easter Seal sales.

As he begins at 12 noon this Thursday, March 28, he will have plenty of moral support. There will be a speech by ECU President Leo W. Jenkins. Also on the rocker platform will be Mayor Eugene West, City Manager Harry Hagerty, Dean of Men James B. Mallory and AEPi adviser Graham J. Burkheimer Jr.

While the rocking goes on, Breitman's fraternity brothers and their girls will cover the surrounding area to collect contributions to the Society for Crippled Children from passers-by.

'Doing' Theme At 4-H Meet

"Learning by Doing" was the topic of the program given at the meeting of the Red Oak 4-H Club Monday at the home of Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr.

Tomy Manning helped the boys in an electric workshop and displayed a study lamp he had made. Each boy was given a kit and made a lamp of his own.

Susan and Faye Manning assisted their mother in teaching the girls how to correctly hem a dress. Each girls hemmed a length of material.

Susan Manning presided over the meeting and Sally Mc Rorie led the group singing. The devotion was given by Tommy Manning. Raymond Tripp and Kathy Allen led the pledges.

Each member was urged to enter the Pitt County 4-H Talent Show and the girls participating in the Clothing project were urged to enter the 4-H Dress Revue. These events will be held on April 8.

Hostesses for the meeting were Kathy, Robbie, and Sam Allen.

The next meeting will be held on April 22 when the group will tour the Voice of America Station.

Hunger Strike Among Faculty

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Ten assistant professors of Milan's Catholic University started a hunger strike in front of the university today in a sign of solidarity with students who have been demonstrating for educational reforms.

A spokesman said the assistants were protesting what they considered the dictatorship of university teachers.

Demonstrating students brewed Monday with police in an attempt to enter the university. Several policemen and students were injured.

He said the state will provide $625,000 for the project and local sources will raise the remaining $75,000.

The high school is scheduled to open next fall with an enrollment of 1,460 students.

Added Tear Gas To Bank Loot

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — When a robber entered a suburban bank office Tuesday and ordered teller Mary Young to fill a sack with currency, she did so—defiantly slipping a tear gas cartridge in with the money.

Officers arrested two men and two women fifteen minutes later, and said some of the had tear gas on their clothing. One of the men, they said, suffered tear gas burns and had been crying.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation later brought bank robbery charges against Thomas Theodore Pacheco, 27, and Theodore Samuel Pacheco Jr., 30, both of Salt Lake City. The FBI said $1,548 taken from the bank was recovered.

Bubonic Plague Sees An Upswing

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials said today 708 suspected cases of bubonic plague were in South Vietnam in the first 11 weeks of this year, less than half the number during the same period last year.

They said U.S. health officials do not consider this an epidemic but rather a normal, seasonal upswing in plague cases.

Up to March 16, the officials said, 98 of the cases had been confirmed and 56 deaths had resulted. This compares to 1,688 suspected cases, 186 confirmed and 74 deaths in the first 11 weeks of 1967.
