Dr. Pou Wins Club Book Of Golden Deeds

Dr. John W. (Joe) Pou received the Greenville Exchange Club's Book of Golden Deeds award last night for outstanding community service during 1967. The award was the 14th annual Book of Golden Deeds presentation made by the local club. In presenting the honor to Dr. Pou, Exchange Club president Dr. Tom Patterson said "one definition of a golden deed used by the Exchange Club is an act performed for the benefit of others with no thought of benefit for the one who performs it. A golden deed may help just one person or it may help a whole community." Dr. Patterson said Dr. Pou "is one whose golden deeds have served not only individuals but also Greenville, Pitt County and the state of North Carolina." Opportunities for service come to all of us in "various sized packages," Dr. Patterson said. "Many times we are unwilling to tackle even the small ones." "Someone must be the leader for drives for community or church funds, someone must be willing to accept administrative responsibilities for community service groups. Positions such as these must be filled to make good things happen in our town," the speaker emphasized. "Making such things happen requires the sacrificial expenditure of time, talent and energy on the part of someone willing to perform golden deeds on a large scale," Dr. Pou is such a man, Dr. Patterson noted. Dr. Pou, a resident of Greenville for the past six years, is president of the Pitt County Mental Health Association and a member of the board of the North Carolina Mental Health Association. In addition he is a member of the executive committee and treasurer of the Pitt County Alcoholic Information Center and a member of the board of directors of the Pitt County United Fund. He has served as president and campaign chairman for the United Fund, also. Dr. Pou is a graduate of North Carolina State University, has served as president of the NCSU Alumni Association and has headed the Department of Animal Husbandry at N. C. State. He is a deacon and chairman of the finance committee at Oakmont Baptist Church and was chairman of a $200,000 fund raising campaign for the church in 1965. Other of Dr. Pou's activities as outlined by Dr. Patterson include being president-elect and chairman of the industrial committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce-Merchants Association and being a member of the board of directors of the Coastal Plain Development Association and a former president of that group. "He is a man blessed with many talents," Dr. Patterson said, "but far from burying them in the ground, he has put them to work for the benefit of all." Nominations for the Book of Golden Deeds award are made by local civic groups and organizations and selection of the winner is made by a secret committee.

Bomb Hoax: Evacuation At School

An estimated 1,200 Rose High School students were evacuated from Rose High School for a short time this morning while policemen and firemen searched the building for an alleged bomb. Police chief H. F. Lawson said school officials called police at 8:15 a.m. and told that a caller had reported there was a bomb planted in the school and set to go off at 3 p.m. Officers searching the building found nothing. Chief Lawson said students were cleared from the building in an orderly manner in less than two minutes. Police officials attributed the quick clearance of the building to monthly fire drills at the school. According to the chief, making a false report of a destructive device in a building, vehicle aircraft or boat is a violation of the North Carolina State Law and is punishable at the discretion of the court.

NEW YORK (AP)—Eastern Air Lines, Trans World Airlines and Airholdings, Ltd., of Britain announced agreements today to buy 144 tri-jets from the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. at a cost of $2.16 billion. The Lockheed L1011 airliner will be powered by Rolls-Royce jets. The order is the largest commercial aircraft purchase in history and it is Lockheed's first commercial airline entry since 1962.

Hanoi Says F111 Was Shot Down

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese forces had shot down an F111A, the controversial new U.S. airplane which tasted combat for the first time this week. U.S. authorities had reported earlier one of the $6 million planes was overdue after a mission. The North Vietnamese claim, heard in a Hanoi broadcast monitored in Tokyo, said the supersonic swing-wing aircraft had been "shattered down" Thursday over Ha Tinh Province about 100 miles northwest of the demilitarized zone near the Laos border. The broadcast made no mention of the fate of the two-man crew. Asked about the Hanoi claim, a U.S. spokesman said: "I can't comment on it. I can't confirm or deny it. As far as I'm concerned, a plane is overdue." One senior U.S. military official did not rule out the possibility when asked before the Hanoi announcement whether the plane might have been shot down. "We have no evidence of that at all," he said. "It's a new aircraft. We have no way of knowing yet." Six of the F111s, capable of speeds of more than twice the speed of sound with bomb loads greater than any other U.S. plane except the B52 Stratofortress, arrived at Ta Khil air base in Thailand March 17 and a flight of them, presumably four, made their first combat missions Monday. Their mission Thursday, aimed at truck parks and storage areas 24 to 29 miles northwest of Dong Hoi in the North Vietnam's southern panhandle, was the fourth since they arrived in the combat zone. The U.S. spokesman said he had no reports of any enemy action against the F111s in the raids near Dong Hoi Thursday night. He said no MIG interceptors engaged them and they did not draw surface-to-air missiles or anti-aircraft fire. The day before, he said, North Vietnamese ground troops fired on a flight of F111s but did no damage. If the loss of the F111 is confirmed, it will be the 815th U.S. warplane downed in more than three years of bombing of North Vietnam. There was no indication the planes would be grounded because of the loss of one. One source said he was almost certain the F111s were back in action over North Vietnam today, although operational reports had not yet reached Saigon. The Lubbock, Tex., Advance-Journal reported that the Pentagon had notified the parents of Capt. Dennis L. Graham, 26, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Graham, that he was one of the two crewmen aboard the missing plane. Word of the loss of the plane came out in a terse announcement from the headquarters of Gen. William C. Westmoreland: "An F111A has been declared overdue on a mission. For security reasons, no other details will be made available at this time."

Czech Opines Liberalism Will Spread

PRAGUE (AP)—A leading exponent of the new Czechoslovak Communist democratization drive predicted today that liberalization will spread to other Socialist countries. "Sooner or later any revolution will enter this process," said Prof. Eduard Goldstuecker, one of the experts who drafted the party's new program of action. He added, however, "whatever lessons our Socialist friends draw from this development (in Czechoslovakia) is their business . . . in no case do we want to exercise any influence (on other Communist countries)." At an international news conference, Goldstuecker said he was convinced that the new Czechoslovak course was "assured both domestically and in foreign policy." He added there was no intention to set up Western-style democracy in Czechoslovakia. Goldstuecker said the "greatest theoretical danger" to the democratization was a war or any other outside interference. He added that he "excluded such a possibility" and explained he also did not reckon with intervention by neighboring Communist East Germany, sharpest critic of the Czechoslovak campaign. "If only one tank of a German army would appear on the soil of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic you would see the reaction of the population," he declared.

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—Three 18-year-old University of North Carolina freshmen are free on $500 bond following their arrest on charges of violating state drug laws. Chapel Hill Police Chief W. D. Blake said Thursday the students were arrested March 12 on information supplied by the university's dean of men, but the charges were not revealed until after a laboratory analysis of the drugs. Miss Meredith Ann Mollins of Severna Park, Maryland, and Thomas S. Hohse of Durham were charged with possession and transfer of marijuana and LSD, an hallucinogenic drug. Kim Michael Delaney of Atlanta, Ga., was charged with possession of LSD.

Memphis Has Its Guard Up After Rioting

By BILL JOHNSON MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Troop-protected firetrucks and stringent police patrols kept guard on Memphis today, but fires flickered sporadically in the wreckage left by a riot which claimed one life. The violence began on historic Beale Street Thursday morning when a march by 6,000 Negroes led by Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in support of striking garbage collectors turned into a riot and continued through the day and night despite a tightly enforced curfew. The curfew was lifted at 5 a.m., and traffic began moving normally again. Guardsmen, troopers and police continued to be very much in evidence, as residents stepped gingerly from their homes and began heading for work. Officials said the curfew, in effect not only in Memphis but in suburban areas as well, will be reimposed tonight "if necessary." Another possible confrontation between marchers and police was expected today with Negro leaders saying they would stage another march—this one limited to sidewalks like those held almost daily since the city's sanitation workers struck Feb. 12. Only police, state trooper and National Guard vehicles moved on the major streets during the night, but the alleys and back streets were alive with youths darting forth to set fires and stone firetrucks. At midnight, a fire department spokesman said 148 fire alarms had been turned in from the downtown area. Later in the morning, a two-alarm blaze was reported at a feed mill, the second blaze there during the night. National Guardsmen, riding on the firetrucks, prevented serious interference, however, and firefighters had most of the blazes out in short order. A more serious threat was a sniping incident when five shots were fired at police officers stationed at the intersection of Beale Street and Hernando Avenue, the day's main trouble spot. Policemen put on bulletproof vests, and National Guardsmen with snipers moved into the areas. Police elected not to press the search for the sniper, and no further shots were reported. Thursday's march began as a peaceful demonstration, and both its leaders and police authorities said the violence was the work of a splinter group of Negro youths. Frank Holloman, Memphis police director, said the trouble started when 200 youths separated from the main group and went on a window breaking and looting binge. Police retaliated with clubs and riot gas. In the struggle that followed and continued through the night, a 16-year-old Negro, Larry Payne, was shot to death, more than 150 arrests were made, and at least 50 persons were injured—including five shot and one stabbed.

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli jets, screaming over Jordan for the second time in two weeks, dive-bombed artillery nests today while big gun and mortar battles spread 65 miles along the Jordan River from Galilee to ancient Jericho on the Dead Sea, an army spokesman said. Jordan claimed it shot down four French-made Israeli fighter-bombers and destroyed tanks, armored cars and artillery emplacement in four hours of fighting. Three of the planes crashed into Israeli territory, the Jordanian dispatch said. AP correspondent Stanley Bonnett reported from Jordan's capital that authorities said the attack was timed to underscore a new U.S.-Jordan arms agreement that will add 16 F104 Starfighters to King Hussein's air force. Army communiques broadcast by Amman radio made no mention of hand-to-hand fighting such as that eight days ago when Israeli troops, 15,000 strong by Arab estimate, invaded Jordan to wipe out terrorist staging bases. There was no immediate report of casualties from either side. A guerrilla mine blast that killed four Israelis and wounded an American volunteer preceded the Jordanian machine-gun and artillery attacks that led to the jet raid, the Israelis said. The Jordanian army claimed the Israelis opened fire first with mortars and field guns on the village of Um Kais, then later hit Karameh, the site of a main Al Fatah guerrilla staging center. A dispatch from Massada in Israeli territory about 50 miles from Tel Aviv, said the Jordanians had hit a farm there with about 50 artillery rounds and fire from 120mm and 81mm mortars. Newspapers throughout the Arab world had claimed for two days that another Israeli attack was in preparation. Amman reported heavy troop movements on Israel's side of the Jordan River truce line Thursday. Newsmen in the tense Beisan Valley said the French-made Israeli jets penetrated several miles into Jordan to strike at gun emplacements dug into the slopes of the Gilad Mountains, and raked riverfront machine-gun nests in a four-mile sweep. Reporting on the attacks, the Jordanian army said: "The enemy is keeping up continuous air activity over the northern area of the Nurdan Valley and is shelling our frontier positions. Our troops are fighting back." The Israelis, sensitive about the vulnerability of their low-lying farm communities in the fertile valley, said they went to their air power after Jordanian big guns hit settlements at Gesher, Beit Yosef and Yardenia.

Some 'Fence-Mending' In Brief Party Parley Humphrey Shrugs Off Anti-War Demonstrators In Visit To N.C.

RALEIGH (AP)—Vice President Hubert Humphrey's visit to North Carolina Thursday was marked by anti-Vietnam war demonstrators at each stop, but Humphrey shrugged them off and happily shook the hands of numerous spectators who turned out to greet him. An unidentified young man set fire to what appeared to be a draft card at Raleigh-Durham Airport as Humphrey passed him to board a plane for the return trip to Washington. The vice president turned to the youth who was standing with other demonstrators and said, "Well, aren't you a proud boy?" He told a crowd of about 400 persons at the airport, "I'm sure this country wasn't built by burning draft cards." Some Humphrey supporters also carried placards, one of which said, "Hubert, we love you." Humphrey pointed to the favorable signs and quipped, "One of the great things about American democracy is freedom of choice. I like your choice of signs." The vice president's visit was planned as a speaking engagement during which he was scheduled to address the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service convention. He had hoped, however, to have an hour-long meeting with state Democratic leaders behind closed doors to do some political fence-mending. He arrived behind schedule and had to restrict the meeting to about 15 minutes, but one official who attended the reception said Humphrey managed to do "considerable fence-mending" despite the shortage of time. Also during Humphrey's visit, Police said Robert Gonzalez, 30, of Brooklyn, apparently believed the elevator was at the sixth-floor level.

Not All Campus Crowds Like Bobby's Words

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAW
Associated Press Writer
IN THE WEST WITH KENNEDY (AP) — "Bobby" is what's happening on campus. The quadrangle and the basketball court are the forums Robert F. Kennedy has chosen for the launching of his campaign to snatch the Democratic presidential nomination from Lyndon B. Johnson.

By tonight he will have barnstormed through a dozen campuses west of the Mississippi since declaring himself a candidate two weeks ago. All but one of his formal appearances—as opposed to shopping center, airport and street corner rallies—have been before

Revival Series Begins Mar. 31

BLACK JACK—A native of New Zealand, the Rev. Philip T. List will be the guest speaker for a revival scheduled at the Black Jack Pentecostal F.W.B. Church March 31-April 7. Rev. List was born in New Zealand of American missionary parents and grew up in central Africa. After spending seven years in America, Rev. List returned to Africa in 1962 as enthusiastic thousands of students. They're demanding that he "tell it like it is," and he is responding vigorously, giving some answers they like and some they do not. Kennedy needs 1,312 delegates when the Democratic National Convention gathers five months hence to nominate a candidate. Few, if any of those delegates are likely to be a college student. Why the campus, then? There are several reasons, in the New York Democrat's case: —Since his days as attorney general, in the Cabinet of brother John, he has always had remarkable rapport with young people. He speaks best when he is with them. —With his candidacy announced out of the blue, it fell upon his staff to generate big crowds fast. The campus was a natural choice. —Kennedy believes the students, as the most vocal and emotional segment of American society, will play a major role in prodding delegates to break tradition and throw the nomination his way. —The students' boisterousness and enthusiasm are impressive on television and in the newspapers, helping Kennedy to reach an audience far beyond the ivied walls. And he needs all the publicity he can get. —Kennedy wanted to prove that Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who also is waging a youth-oriented campaign, hadn't captured all the young hearts. For a figure as controversial as Kennedy is, the response on campus has been decidedly one-sided in his favor. His campaign keynote—too throw out the Johnson policies in Vietnam, stop the bombing and get to the negotiating table—is what the students want to hear. But Robert Francis Kennedy is what they come out to see. To evaluate his effectiveness on campus, an observer does not listen closely to his speeches. He walks around the hall and watches the faces.

The dominant expression is one of hopeful attentiveness to every word and gesture. Their lips are parted, their eyes wide.

They have been waiting for something. Maybe this is it. They cheer when he says he understands those who conscientiously object to serving in Vietnam, and when he says, "If that's what your conscience tells you to do, then you have to do it."

But they become confused when he adds: "But you must be prepared to face the legal consequences."

They cheer when he says he would like to abolish the draft; but many jeer when he adds: "But not now, with a war going on. I think we should draft by lottery. And student deferments should be abolished."

Kennedy has encountered serious heckling on only one campus—at San Fernando Valley State College in conservative Southern California.

There he got heavy booing for his stand on the draft. "I come here and you say 'tell it like it is,' and I tell you the truth," he retorted. "Our views may not agree—but all should be heard."

But the least enthusiastic reception came at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, a deeply conservative school in Mormon country. Applause was scattered, and he didn't get the standing ovation that had marked appearances elsewhere.

The highlight of his appearances—for him and his audiences—is the inevitable questioning after the speech. The questions seldom vary from one campus to another. What does he think of the Pueblo incident? What about the draft? What will he do immediately upon taking office about Vietnam?

He fields them smoothly, usually answers to their satisfaction, and goes away with the plea: "I need your help if we are going to turn this convention and this country around."

And then the students swarm around him to touch him, shake his hand, shout his name. Their signs say "Camelot Aain."

'Time Not Ripe' For Arab Talks

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba sent a letter Thursday to king Hussein of Jordan saying the time was not ripe for an Arab summit meeting. Bourguiba has expressed the same opinion on several occasions, and has not attended recent meetings of Arab chiefs of state. The Tunisian president said, however, that he favored consultations at lower levels, such as between foreign ministers.

Proposes N.C. Students Learn Until Age 18

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP) — The chairman of the North Carolina Conservation and Development Board, J. W. York, says all high school students should be required to stay in school until they reach age 18, but they should be able to choose either academic or vocational courses for their diplomas.

York made the proposal Thursday in a speech opening Laurinburg's three-day "Industry on Parade."

Some students, he said, "cannot understand why they must take advanced math, sciences, history and so on to qualify for a diploma when they want to become carpenters, pipefitters, welders or mechanics."

York said the students' lack of interest in academic subjects causes many of them to drop out. They should be required to stay in school, he added, but vocational training courses should be available to increase their interest in school.

Held Nine Years In Mexican Jail

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Dykes Askev Simmons Jr., an American held in a Mexican prison under a death sentence for almost nine years is not "in a particularly bad situation," U.S. Ambassador to Mexico Fulton Freeman said Thursday.

Simmons, 38, has been jailed in Mexico since 1959 when he was arrested in connection with the slayings of three members of a Monterrey, Mexico, physician's family.

Freeman said there is no possibility that Simmons will be executed. He said he believes the death sentence will be commuted soon.

French Find No Allies On Hiking Gold Price

STOCKHOLM (AP) — France has failed to find support at a "rich men's club" conference of 10 nations for an increase in the price of gold and a broad discussion of the world's monetary problems, participants said today. The United States is opposed to both.

Michel Debre, President Charles de Gaulle's finance minister, was reported to have begun the closed-door session by making his bid. He said the present system, based on the U.S. dollar for the past quarter century, was in need of a change. It should, he added, be based on an increased price of gold.

One participant said that after Debre finished, there was a long pause. Then Karl Schiller, West Germany's minister of economics, disagreed, politely.

How much should the increase be, he asked, should it be 100 per cent? He suggested that so large a hike would cause disquiet in the world's financial system.

This difference between the two leading members of the European Common Market was the chief feature of the opening session.

Henry H. Fowler, U.S. secretary of the Treasury, pointed out that the purpose of the conference was to complete work on a new form of international money. Debre, Schiller and Emilio Colombo, Italy's treasury minister, had all said something must be done to bring U.S. international payments into balance. Fowler said the United States is making every effort to do so.

But he added that the new form of international money, sometimes called "paper gold," had nothing to do with this. The amount the United States would get would be a small part of its deficit.

According to participants, Debre said he was sorry to get no support and was ready to go ahead with the planned business of the meeting.

Just before it started, club wielding policemen drove back about 150 young demonstrators against the Vietnam war. Fowler was taken to the conference hotel by a back entrance to avoid them.

The demonstrators shouted "USA-Murderers" and other slogans, and burned a large placard in the form of a dollar bill. At least a dozen were arrested when they resisted police efforts to push them into a side street.

Book Presented To Library In Observance Of Doctors' Day

In observance of Doctor's Day, the Medical Auxiliary of Pitt County has donated a book to Sheppard Memorial Library honoring the Pitt County doctors.

The book is "Doctors Past and Present" by Lord Brain, F. R. S.

Mrs. Joseph L. Murad is the local Doctor's Day chairman and Mrs. Jack Wilkerson is president of the Pitt County Auxiliary.

Gov. Dan K. Moore has designated Saturday as Doctors' Day in North Carolina. He requests that attention be called to "the dedicated work of the outstanding men of medicine who devote their lives to the health and welfare of the citizens of North Carolina and yet find time to give attention to civic and governmental affairs."

Doctors' Day is always observed on March 30. This date was chosen for its medical significance because on this day in 1842, Dr. Crawford Long of Georgia first initiated the technique of anesthesia, considered to be one of the 10 greatest advances in the field of medicine to date.

The day was set aside in 1935 at the suggestion of Mrs. G. B. Almond of Winder, Ga., of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Southern Medical Association, medical profession.

The Southern Medical Association is composed of 16 southern states and the District of Columbia. Medical Societies and Auxiliaries across the nation have now begun to set aside this day to honor doctors.

Learn Conversational Phrases In Hindi And Keep Smiling

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is from Pakistan and I am from Sweden. We have been happily married for three years and are both in our late twenties. I am employed as a secretary, and am helping my husband complete his education. We intend to make the United States our home.

Our problem: we plan to go to Pakistan next year to visit my husband's family. His father is very well educated and speaks fluent English, but he wrote to us several months ago insisting that I learn Hindi!

My father-in-law wrote back saying that I should indeed learn the language of my husband's people, and if I could learn to speak five languages, (which I do) it would not be too difficult for me to learn a sixth! He informed us that Hindi study manuals were being sent to me.

Abby, a Far Eastern language is entirely different from a Germanic or Latin language, and I have neither the time nor the desire to learn Hindi. Now I don't even feel like going to Pakistan, but I hate to disappoint my husband. Have you any suggestions?

WEARY
DEAR WEARY: Have your husband teach you a few conversational phrases in Hindi. ("Hello, good-by, I am pleased to meet you," and "Sorry I do not speak your language very well.") Keep a Swedish smile on your face and listen a lot.

DEAR ABBY: The fellow I am going to marry hates my best girl friend. I won't go into details, but it is all my fault, because I told him something about her past that she told me in confidence.

I am sorry I told him now, but I never thought he would hold it against her and make such a big deal out of it.

This girl is the best friend I ever had, Abby, and I wanted her to be my maid of honor, but now my fiance says he doesn't even want her at our wedding. I am just sick over this. Worse yet, he says he doesn't want her in our home after we're married.

What am I suppose to do? I don't choose his friends.

My fiance says if I loved him, I'd listen to him, and end my friendship with this girl. I say, if he loved me, he wouldn't ask me to. I love them both and I want him to forgive and forget. Who's right and how would you handle it?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: If your fiance asks you to make a choice between your girl friend and him, that's a decision only you can make. I think his unforgiving and holier-than-thou attitude is less than admirable, but then I don't know what the girl did to provoke it. I hope you've learned a lesson. No fish ever got caught keeping his mouth shut.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, 41, going with a man of 58. He is a widower with three grown children. He's very attractive and represents the kind of security a woman my age rarely finds. He was happily married for 30 years and now he wants to marry me. The trouble is my mother. We have lived together since Dad died 12 years ago, and ever since I told her I want to marry this man she has cried and carried on like you wouldn't believe. She says he is too old for me and it will never work out. I told her she could live with us, but she refuses to.

move to the city where we would live. (She and I presently live in a suburb.)

When her friends try to tell her that she should be happy that I'll have someone to look after me when she's gone, she says HE is only 12 years younger than SHE is, and he won't last that much longer. Abby, I could be so happy with this man if it weren't for mother. What shall I do?

TORN
DEAR TORN: Marry the man. And ask him if he has a friend for your mother.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOOKING" You meet respectable people where respectable people gather. If you want to catch mountain trout, don't go fishing in a herring barrel.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

An Entirely New Listing Of Voters

Citizens of Pitt County should keep in mind that an entirely new registration for voting in primaries and elections begins tomorrow at the county's polling places.

In order to vote in the spring primaries and the November general election eligible citizens must register at their polling places. The registration books will be open for four consecutive Saturdays, and on other scheduled days.

Once the new registration is carried out, Pitt County will not only have an up-to-day set of polling books, but it will have also converted to the more efficient loose leaf system of registration.

The important thing for voters to remember, however, is that they will have to register during this period to be eligible to vote.

Greenville citizens should also bear in mind that a Greenville registrar will be present at each of the precinct polling places. Citizens of Greenville must register with the Greenville registrar to be eligible for municipal elections.

Even though there is no municipal election this year city officials felt it would be most convenient to local citizens if the city's new registration were conducted at the same time as the county's.

It takes so little effort to visit the polling place and register. The right to vote in a free nation is priceless. We urge every citizen to find time in the coming weeks to register. To us, voting is more than a duty; it is a privilege.

Yuri Gagarin -- A Brave Man In Any Country

The world, the United States included, must mourn the death of Soviet cosmonaut Yuri A. Gagarin.

Gagarin died in a training flight crash Wednesday, the Soviets reported.

The United States and the Soviet Union are engaged in competition in space. Gagarin, to the chagrin of American space planners, became the first earth man to fly a space mission in 1961.

The fact that America and Russia compete in the space field does not keep Americans from admiring the courage and recognizing the accomplishment of this first cosmonaut.

None of us, American or Russian, know now just where space exploration will lead. It is probable, however, that brave spacemen from both nations will unlock secrets of the universe which will be of unimaginable benefit to mankind.

If this comes about, it can be expected that the name Yuri A. Gagarin will rank with that of such great explorers as Marco Polo and Columbus.

As the world's first spaceman, Gagarin deserves to be remembered by all mankind.

Hot Races For Three Positions

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Three of the Democratic primary contests for seats on the Council of State suddenly have attracted prime political interest for the final few weeks before voting on May 4.

These three involve $20,000 a year positions as heads of departments administering state laws dealing with such important areas of public interest as finance, law and education.

venue Commissioner during the administration of former Gov. Terry Sanford.

Bruton's challenger is State Sen. Robert Morgan of Lillington who was state campaign manager in 1960 for Dr. I. Beverly Lake, who worked in 1964 for Lake and later for Gov. Dan Moore; chairman of the East Carolina University board of trustees and champion of this struggle for regional university status for East Carolina in the 1967 legislative session.

In campaigning thus far, both High and Morgan have subordinated their past experience to what they wish to accomplish if elected to the offices they seek.

Both have mounted aggressive campaigns. They are traveling across the state on tours, handshaking visits, for speeches are public appearances and — in effect — are carrying this primary contest to their opponents, Gill and Bruton.

A Different Situation

The primary contest for the state's highest administrative post in public education is somewhat different. The incumbent, Dr. Charles F. Carroll, is not seeking re-election and there are four contenders for nomination as his successor.

This campaign is quieter, more dignified as may befit the office of the state's top school administrator. But there is work on behalf of the candidates involved going on behind the scenes and through the strata both political figures, educators and the so-called "establishment."

This largely hidden struggle may be as strong and fierce as any going on, but it has an aura of politeness and serenity.

Incumbents Entrenched

Gill and Bruton are entrenched, rather solidly, with records of services in their respective offices. Both feel they can point to these and be secure in withstanding political attacks and criticism.

But these attacks are increasing. Criticism is being leveled and their opponents are coming forth with new political promises.

Links To Gold, Silver Broken

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—

In less than three years, the United States has almost completely broken the links between the nation's money and the two precious metals—silver and gold — mankind has used as money for thousands of years.

And a preliminary step has been taken under U. S. leadership toward decreasing the role of gold in international affairs despite France's opposition.

The intermediate and final the international field but steps must still be played in the next scene is scheduled this weekend in Stockholm among the non-Communist world's 10 richest nations, including France.

Crisis has marked the domestic demonetization of both silver and gold.

It included the removal of all silver from dimes and quarters and the elimination earlier this month of the gold backing for paper money. The silver content of half dollars was cut from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

Now the only backing for U. S. money is the strength of the economy, not the intrinsic value of the coinage or gold behind the paper money.

Silver was the first to be demonetized because of the burgeoning use of the metal in industry.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
BACK AND FORTH

Two boys are launching a small sailing craft on the west side of a lake. The wind is blowing a stiff breeze straight across. They cast the moorings and are off. The boat glides across the lake like a beautiful magic thing, ploughing along with the wind.

But once at the opposite shore the problem is how to get back. It was easy enough to sail with the wind. The question is, how will they sail against it?

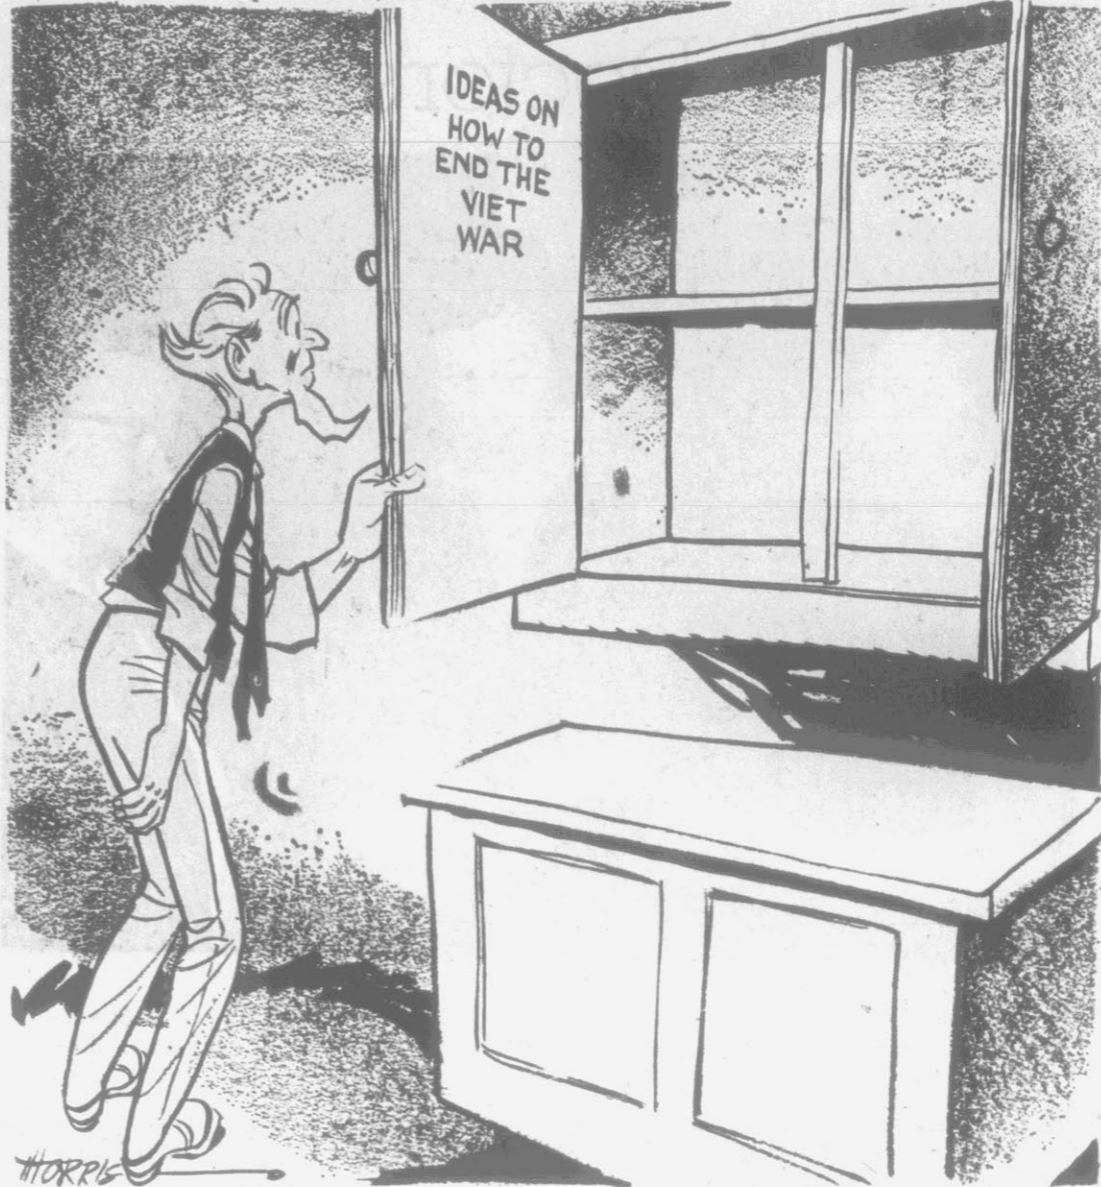

It can be done all right. It requires a great deal of patience. They must tack back and forth across the expanse of water over which they sailed so merrily a few moments before. It's not nearly so much fun to come back as it was to go over.

It's easy to sail with the wind. It's a severe trial to one's patience to sail against it. It is a very easy thing to follow the crowd — to drink deeply of life's delights, lawful and unlawful alike. But tacking back again to good reputation, quiet conscience and self-respect is another and much harder matter.

It is harder still to make it all up to the hearts that have been broken and the weak lives misled.

UNCLE HUBBARD!

LBJ Failed To Tell Him

WASHINGTON — The decision to bring Gen. William C. Westmoreland back to the United States caught Washington completely by surprise. Even Joseph Wallstop, the syndicated Hawk and widely read pundit, had been kept in the dark on the President's plans.

This didn't go down too well with Wallstop when I saw him a few days later at the Army-Navy Club.

"No one consulted me," Wallstop complained. "I had to read about Westmoreland's recall in the newspapers."

"It's typical of the President," I said, trying to placate my friend. "The people involved are the last to know."

"Even Westmoreland knew before I did," Wallstop said. "But not by much." I pointed out.

"Well, I think it's sheer idiocy," Wallstop said angrily. "Just when the tide has turned and we have the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese on the run, and the Hue offensive proved once and for all that we were fighting paper tigers, Johnson has given into political expediency. Doesn't the President know that I need Westmoreland in Vietnam?"

To The Editor:

I enjoy reading "The Family Weekly" and "Observations from Editorial Columns."

From Sunday's "Observations From Editorial Columns," I understand that in England a group has been organized for the purpose of training people not to work. No wonder there has to be so many handouts. Most people hate the little four letter word w-o-r-k. I never heard of anyone dying from being over-worked.

Certainly the Bible commands working. Exodus 20:9 "Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work." In Ecclesiastes 3:13 we read "And also that every man should eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labour, it is the gift of God." Also in Ecclesiastes 9:10 we read "whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave, whither thou goest."

The Bible tells us in Ecclesiastes 5:12 "The sleep of a labouring man is sweet."

We read in Luke 10:7 "The labourer is worthy of his hire." When a person is physically able to work he should not depend on handouts from the working people. The apostle Paul wrote to the church at Thessalonians in II Thessalonians 3:10 telling them if any would not work, neither should he eat. If we put this principal into practice we would see more people working and less depending on organizations to support them.

If King David had been out on the firing lines attending to his duties, instead of loafing, he would never have gotten involved in the gross sin that he committed with Uriah's wife and would never have had Uriah put on the front lines in battle so he would be killed.

According to your article "What's Your Mental Batting Average?", Dr. Fourace of Columbia University finds a person who is skilled in working with his hands is likely to rank appreciably higher in the I. Q. With this view in mind each person should desire the highest I. Q. for themselves.

Realizing that there is no premium put on laziness, I think a group needs to organize to teach people the value of working, and we would have less people rioting, fighting and less handouts.

Joseph and Daniel worked in the palaces of kings, yet were testimonies for God. The old saying "An idle mind is the devil's work shop" is definitely true. Everyone is working in one sense or another for the devil or God. Who are we working for?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lois Wagner
Greenville

"But there will be other generals, Joe, and I'm sure they'll work with you."

"That's not the point," Wallstop said. "Westmoreland understands my strategy. He's a 'search and destroy' man as I am; he understands my attribution policies. This is no time for me to break in a new commanding general."

"But Joe, there has been some criticism of those policies since the Tet offensive. There are even some military experts who say that they are not working."

"Well, those experts will soon have jam on their faces. Of course, I can't be responsible for every minor setback in Vietnam, particularly when the President won't give me the troops I've asked for."

"That's right," I said. "You did call up the reserves last month, didn't you?"

"I certainly did; not just in one column, but in three. Yet the President overruled me. I can't get it through to the Administration that if I'm going to be proven right in my column, I need at least 500,000 more men."

"Joe, do you think if we had a million American men in Vietnam we could win the war?"

"Maybe not at first, but we certainly could get the pacification program off the ground."

"And then win the hearts and minds of the Vietnamese people," I said.

"Exactly. But every time I make a suggestion and the Administration rejects it, they dance in the streets of Hanoi."

"That's not easy to do with all the bombing going on," I agreed. "Tell me, Joe, why

Jordan Is The Stake

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

AMMAN, Jordan — King Hussein of Jordan, one of the very few friends of the United States left in the Arab world, must be a very stupid king. He can't understand why Israel expects him to guarantee the security of Israeli soldiers occupying the heartland of his own country.

"We are in the ridiculous position of being blamed for not assuring Israel's safety," he told us on March 20, a few hours before Israel launched its third massive reprisal raid against Jordan in retaliation for guerrilla raids by Arab terrorists.

Stupid or not, King Hussein at 33 is old beyond his years. His is a perilous perch made more so by his unique position within the Arab world.

As the only friend of the U. S. among the Arab states that were humiliated by Israeli arms in the six-day war last June, the king is coming under dangerous pressure from Arab militants in his own kingdom. They don't like his efforts, however vain, to stop the raids of Fedayen terrorist and commando organizations like El Fatah which operate across the Jordan River in the Israeli-occupied West Bank.

If King Hussein did what Israel demands and employed his regular army to cut down the Fedayen terrorists, he would surely lose his throne. That may happen anyway, but it would be certain to happen instantly if he used his army as Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol is now insisting — as a defense force for Israel. And his replacement might be an Arab nationalist as shrill and Soviet-oriented as the government of neighboring Syria.

The funeral ceremony for 24 Jordanians killed last Thursday, for example, turned into a shouting, angry, armed demonstration by tens of thousands of Arabs in the old part of Amman Friday afternoon.

At the head of this seething, emotional crowd was a six-year-old boy in commando jacket, whose father was one of the dead, riding on the shoulders of a commando leader and holding a gleaming dagger in his outstretched hand. The Fedayen sword pointed straight out and they led the parade through narrow streets from the Al Hussein mosque to the Moslem cemetery.

For a Westerner, this funeral procession was a distinctly unhealthy place to be. For King Hussein, it foretells rising political tension as the militants demand action against Israel.

Or consider the scene at the battlefield the day after the Israeli reprisal here. There was open hostility between King Hussein's regular army and the tough, hardened, and embittered commandos whose base area had been savagely levelled by Israeli bombers.

Reporters who drove down to the El Karameh refugee camp to examine the battlefield were treated as unfriendly partisans by the Fedayen. Granted that these tough commandos had just ended a bloody battle; they nevertheless made the skin prickle.

Consumer Is Overly-Protected?

By ELMER ROESSNER

This may be the Year of the Monkey in China, but it is the Year of the Consumer in the United States.

The consumer organizations are at a new high. The President's girl for consumer affairs, Betty Furness, is doing an effective job. The Federal Trade Commission, the Attorney General's office and the new Department of Transportation are at new peaks of activity in protection of consumers.

Congress is bustling with consumer aids. It has enacted truth-in-packaging legislation, is considering truth-in-lending legislation, and is investigating life, loan and auto insurance. It is also deep in an investigation of medical claims and advertising.

Other Side Of The Big Coin However, some business spokesmen feel that protection of consumers is going too far. One such is Ernest A. Jones, chairman of MacManus, John and Adams, a big advertising agency.

"It is completely confusing to see at this most critical time — when a trillion dollar tax expenditure and two million new jobs are mentioned coyly for the first time — it is confusing to see advertising under fire and consumer confidence being undermined," he told the Los Angeles Rotary Club.

Jones did not defend misleading ads. "Bad advertising is bad business," he said.

He said that "consumerism" is "the in word. And the sudden fashionability of consumer protection is a little confusing to the many of us in advertising and industry who have been practicing consumerism for years, treating people right so they will come back again."

Some morsels from his address:

"We allow people to pick Presidents. But we don't trust them with toothpaste."

"We worry about packaging when our womenfolk continue to be the world's loveliest examples of deceptive packaging."

"Confusing is . . . the dethe United States each with 50,000 or more practitioners. Each member of each religion believes that his brand washes the soul whiter than the other 209 brands. So what's wrong with giving him a choice of 37 nationally advertised detergents?

"In self-protection, we have created a personal insulation zone and fortified it with suspicion, distrust and cynicism. If we reach a hand to each other, it is usually in the form of a fist. . . . We are becoming a society of closed doors, closed cars, closed minds."

"The people who smash ed Hitler should have no great difficulty in handling Ho Chi Minh if we march together. The people who survived the great depression together should be able to survive prosperity together. We should even be able to rid our cities of rats. Hell, aren't the people we exterminated the buffalo?"

McCarthy, Kennedy In Collision Course; Indiana Is Crossroads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy, so far traveling separate anti-Johnson routes in a semblance of cooperation, have at last chosen courses sure to bring a collision.

The crossroads will be Indiana's May 27 Democratic presidential primary. It will be the first head-to-head encounter between the two antiwar Democrats who want to deny President Johnson renomination.

Kennedy showed up in person Thursday to turn in 5,500 signatures to election officials in Indianapolis and thus put himself on the May 7 ballot. McCarthy supporters had filed earlier in the day, as had backers of Gov. Roger D. Branigin, who will be a stand-in for Johnson.

The Indiana confrontation puts Richard Goodwin, one of McCarthy's top lieutenants, in a ticklish spot. Despite his role in the McCarthy organization, Goodwin has long been associated with the political fortunes of the Kennedy family.

Asked which way he will jump when it comes down to a McCarthy vs. Kennedy situation, Goodwin said Thursday in Milwaukee: "I don't know what I'm going to do, but I can say this. I don't expect Lyndon Johnson to be the nominee. It's going to be either McCarthy or Kennedy."

McCarthy is in the thick of campaigning for Tuesday's Wisconsin primary. Kennedy is not in this one but is urging Wisconsin Democrats to vote for McCarthy and against Johnson.

In a speech in Superior, Wis., McCarthy said it's "really too kind" to criticize the South Vietnamese government as dictatorial and corrupt. There is no viable government in the wartorn nation, he said. Kennedy, whose voice threatens to give out from the punishment he's been giving it, planned to continue hitting the campus circuit today with rallies at both the University of New Mexico and University of Arizona.

dustries ranging from photography to jewelry and because of a coin shortage in the early 1960s.

Some paper money is still backed by silver but the deadline for redeeming silver certificates for silver is June 24. Silver certificates were made between 1929 and the early 1960s.

The domestic demonetization of gold came with removal earlier this month of the 25 per cent gold cover, a move made necessary by the gold crisis which followed devaluation of the British pound in November.

Until last week, each $1 in Federal Reserve notes—the only paper money now made—was backed by 25 cents in gold.

Removal of the gold cover came after the United States and its European gold partners fixed a two-price system for gold—one for private hoarders and speculators who must now pay the going market price and a $35-ounce price among governments.

One provision of the so-called Washington gold agreement was that governments no longer buy or sell gold in the open market, thus freezing the $40 billion now held in government money stocks.

The next step will be played out in Stockholm this weekend and involves the finishing touches on a program approved last September by the International Monetary Fund—the creation of new money when and as needed to keep world trade flowing smoothly.

The new money—which would move only among governments—would be a book-keeping entry by the IMF and would be linked in no way to gold.

Richard M. Nixon, only major contender for the Republican presidential nomination, was to confer today with a major backer of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who recently fooled the experts by deciding to stay out of the race.

Nixon had a date to meet Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland in New York City. Agnew said he has heard much of the former vice president's stance on Vietnam but "I want to get a better understanding of his position on domestic issues."

While campaigning in Wisconsin Thursday Nixon characterized the McCarthy-Kennedy position on the war as withdrawal "whatever the cost may be."

But Republicans, he said, want the war resolved in a way "that will discourage more wars rather than bring on another one four or five years from now."

Other political developments: Several Connecticut Democrats working for McCarthy reported receiving letters threatening them with assassination. Authorities were investigating to see if the letters, signed

"Peace candidate McCarthy received 42 percent of the Democratic vote, but Richard Nixon, who has been calling for an increase in our air attacks in Viet Nam, received nearly 80 percent of the Republican vote, and more votes than all the other candidates (McCarthy, Johnson, Rockefeller) combined."

"The real significance of that election, as it pertains to Viet Nam, emerges more clearly when we see that of the total votes cast, McCarthy received only 14 percent while Johnson rolled on 16 percent."

"This would seem to indicate that while Americans do not want to surrender to the Communists, they do want the war fought more on our terms instead of continuing a futile, murderous, and apparently endless struggle in hand-to-hand combat with an inexhaustible supply of Asian Communists."

Gardner made the remarks in a talk to the Kinston Junior Womens Club last night.

LBJ's Brother Expects Tough Campaign Ahead

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's brother, Sam, thinks there's a tough election campaign ahead and that Lyndon "will run rather than walk."

Sam Houston Johnson, 54, seldom seen or heard in public, has joined the Johnson family in the White House and aims to help the President "all the way I can"—and to "keep out of trouble myself."

He says he'd like to see the President "get out there and talk about the issues—and defend himself."

"Everybody enjoys a good, clean fight," said Sam in a rare interview during which he lamented that brother Lyndon is too busy with problems of his presidential office to devote as much time as he ordinarily would to a campaign.

Tall, lanky and possessor of a Texas twang much like his brother's, Sam Houston recalls many of Lyndon's campaigns.

He predicted this one "won't be as easy as '64" or as hard as 1948, when Lyndon first won a Senate seat by just 87 votes.

Sam, once privately described by his brother as "the smartest politician in the family," shrugged off questions about what role he might play in any Johnson bid for re-election.

But it was learned he has a desk at Democratic National Committee headquarters. And a longtime associate said it's safe to say that if campaign strategy is being mapped, Sam Houston is among those at the drawing board.

Despite his relative anonymity, Sam once was well known in Washington—as Capitol Hill aide to his brother and later as a Democratic Policy Committee staffer.

Sam has been living in the White House since attending Lynda Johnson's Robb's wedding last December. He said he's lived off and on with Lyndon two-thirds of his life.

Living in the White House is

"historically nice," he says. "But it's not the most convenient place to live in."

And brother Lyndon is likely "to come in and cut your light out."

"He's been doing that to me for 30 years," Sam said, recalling his brother's oft-repeated taunt: "Sam Houston, are you working for the power company or me?"

Sam, the President's only brother in a family of five children, studied law and says he went to four colleges—San Marcos, University of Houston, University of Texas and Cumberland Law School. He worked in Lyndon's Senate office until he broke his right leg in an accident. Osteomyelitis set in, Sam said, and four inches of bone had to be removed from the leg. That's when he retired.

Twice-married and twice-divorced, he has been living with a sister in Austin, Tex., in recent years. He has a son and daughter by his first marriage.

Sam said he came to the White House to work on gathering the President's private papers for the Johnson presidential library.

"Historically nice," he says. "But it's not the most convenient place to live in."

Swedish Hostility May Be Tied To Elections

By EDWIN A. SHANKE
Associated Press Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The strain in relations between the United States and Sweden runs counter to an unbroken friendship between the two countries going back 185 years.

Swedish officials cannot recall anything like the present deterioration in relations having happened before, although there was a period of ruffled feelings during the cold war. Sweden refused then to go along with an American-led embargo on trade in strategic goods with Communist countries.

Since the 1965 stepup in the Vietnam war, relations gradually have become more and more clouded. Sweden, a neutral country, officially took an ever sharper critical tone in opposition to U.S. policy in Southeast Asia. Broad sections of the press also reflected a hostile stance to the U.S. role in Vietnam.

The climax came when the Social Democratic government openly supported Hanoi policy by permitting a Cabinet minister to walk at the side of a North Vietnamese diplomat and denounce the United States in a pro-Viet Cong, anti-American demonstration.

Why is the Swedish government following such a line at the risk of seriously damaging traditionally amicable ties with the United States, first sealed by Benjamin Franklin in a treaty April 3, 1783?

"I am certain the present picture would be different if this weren't an election year in Sweden as it is in the United States," said a prominent Swedish official.

"The government, of course, denies it, but let's be explicit—this extreme criticism of the United States could not have happened if it weren't that our Social Democratic government is worried about the outcome of the parliamentary election in the autumn.

"Socialists fear that their far left and especially many of the young new voters will defect to the Communists unless they appease them on the Vietnam war issue. They also feel they will benefit among the electorate generally by championing the antiwar sentiment. And remember the Social Democrat share of the votes has been declining since 1962."

Swedish youth, unfettered by any memories of a time when Europe's freedom was threatened, are protesting more loudly, becoming politically more active and extreme and demanding more involvement in world affairs than any previous Swedish generation. Undoubtedly part of the reason is that Vietnam is being brought into their living rooms through television.

A worrying question in Sweden, raised recently by the conservative paper Sveska Dagbladet, is whether the young generation is prepared to step beyond the boundaries set by Sweden's 150-year-old policy of nonalignment in peacetime, which still finds general acceptance.

Many Swedes still feel guilty about not having spoken out critically against the Nazis as they do today against the United States. One student of foreign affairs recalls: "There was what amounted to almost an official conspiracy of silence for fear of offending the Nazis. There were no demonstrations, to seem anti-American and no rock or egg throwing, no flag burning. Had a paper then attacked Hitler as many attack President Johnson and his administration today, it would have been confiscated—as some indeed were for defying the government."

There is no evidence of any broad antagonism toward Americans in general, either in business or social contacts. One ringleader of demonstrations told newsmen: "We do not want we're not anti-American. We just want to see an end of the bombing of North Vietnam and an end of the war at the negotiating table."

Sweden has always had a wealth of good will in the United States as a result of the emigration of some two million Swedes to that country starting in the 1860s. They went to escape the poverty of a Sweden which has since developed into one of Europe's most prosperous nations.

N.C. Building Is Sharply Up

RALEIGH—Building permits totaling $45,104,346 were issued during February in 36 North Carolina cities of more than 10,000 population, the State Department of Labor reported today.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane said the February building figure was up 97.5 per cent over the $22,842,877 total reported for February, 1967. Crane added that permits totaling $75,689,462 during the first two months of 1968 were up 31.7 per cent over the $57,481,274 reported for the first two months of 1967.

Commissioner Crane said higher than usual building figures were reported by Chapel Hill, Greenville, Goldsboro and Gastonia. In Chapel Hill, two new University building permits swelled the February figure by more than $8 million. A public housing project in Greenville added more than $2.3 million. An office building in Goldsboro and a nursing home in Gastonia increased their totals by more than $1.2 million.

Chapel Hill was first with permits totaling $9,902,196. Charlotte was second with $8,560,213; Greenville third with $3,856,019, Greensboro fourth with $3,841,254, Raleigh fifth with $2,649,213, and Durham sixth with $2,301,955. Five other cities reported more than $1 million.

A Booklet For Businessmen

East Carolina University has published a handbook to guide small businessmen in accounting and other bookkeeping procedures.

The 66-page paperback is a joint project of the ECU Regional Development Institute and Bureau of Business Research. It's author is Kenneth C. James, a Certified Public Accountant on the ECU School of Business faculty. Funds for the project were provided by the Economic Development Administration.

According to Thomas W. Willis, director of the development institute, the book is an attempt not only to help new small businessmen get started properly but also to give those already in business an aid to understanding correct accounting procedures.

Willis says the book is an attempt to offer in simple terms "a guide to solving problems before they arise."

It is divided into three sections: "Forms of Business Organization and Their General Legal Aspects," "Simplified Accounting for a Small Commercial Operation" and "Taxation of Proprietorships, Partnerships and Corporations."

Copies of the booklet are available free on a first-come, first-served basis by contacting the Regional Development Institute at ECU.

A diamond opening by West would have assured the eventual defeat of South's four-heart contract for, after East cashes the queen and ace of diamonds, the defense can sit back and wait to score the top two trumps. When West made the perfectly normal lead of the ten of spades, however, South had his chance.

Also nine tricks are readily available at no trump, North and South can hardly avoid arriving at four hearts in the auction. There is no reasonable way for them to discover the extreme duplication of values present in the black suits. After North raised South's one-heart response to two, the latter invited a game by rebidding three hearts. Inasmuch as North had something to spare for his previous call, he carried on to four.

With the spade lead by West, declarer seized the opportunity to get rid of one of his losers by cashing three rounds of clubs and discarding a diamond from his hand. The three of hearts was led and when East followed with the eight, South covered with the nine—losing to West's Jack.

A diamond shift put East in, and the latter alertly led a fourth round of clubs, enabling West to overruff South with the king of hearts. East subsequently scored the setting trick with the ace of trumps.

Had declarer been aware of the danger in permitting the jack of clubs to remain outstanding, he could have taken steps to prevent the opposition from scoring their high trumps separately.

The solution was, in fact, quite simple. After South cashes the top clubs, he merely leads a fourth round of the suit himself and discards a second diamond from his hand—permitting East to win the trick. The potential overruff situation is eliminated and subsequent heart leads will limit the defenders to two trump tricks—plus the club already conceded.

Physical Aspects Of Dreaming Are Being Measured

By JANICE ELLIOTT
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — For 27 nights over an eight-month period George Zwilling brushed his teeth, donned his pajamas, plugged in his electrodes and settled down for a night's work. Zwilling, 23, was a dreamer in the interests of science, a human guinea pig in the Sleep and Dream Laboratory at Boston State Hospital.

Dr. Ernest Hartmann, 34, the psychiatrist in charge of the laboratory was interested in the physical, not the psychiatric of Zwilling's dreams.

"All psychiatrists are interested in dream content to some extent. Studying the contents of the dreams got me interested in studying the biology of dreaming—what the body and brain do during a dream," Hartmann says.

To find out when Zwilling dreamed, electrodes were taped to his body to measure pulse, eye movements, brain waves respiration and heart beat. The electrodes transmitted tiny electrical impulses to a monitoring machine, which amplified and recorded them on graph paper.

Changes in the patterns of lines indicated when Zwilling started a dream and how long it lasted.

Test subjects fall asleep naturally in the laboratory "bedroom," which doubles as an office for Hartmann's assistants. "The first night is unusual, but after two or three nights the subjects sleep comfortably," Hartmann says.

The subject is awakened in the morning and sent home without his breakfast—the hospital doesn't provide it.

Results of tests on volunteers are compared with results on patients in the hospital, a facility of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health.

Research indicates a normal two-week-old infant spends between 45 and 65 per cent of his total sleep time in dreaming; a teen-ager about 20 per cent; an adult 18 to 25 per cent and the elderly about 15 per cent.

The average eight-hour sleeper dreams about 14 minutes at a time in a 90-minute cycle.

Humans deprived of sufficient dream time may become psychotic, Hartmann says.

"We are wondering if perhaps this 90-minute dream cycle doesn't continue to a certain extent during the waking hours. A person in a daytime dream state might tend to be somewhat less attentive or alert than at other times," he adds.

Hartmann's current research is on people who sleep less than six or more than nine hours a night. He hopes to learn how their dream needs differ from the average sleeper.

He advertised for subjects in a Boston newspaper. The pay is between $7 and $10 a night. The advertisement called for men "over 20 who regularly sleep over nine or under six hours a night."

Hartmann, a resident of suburban Newton, established the dream laboratory three years ago. Zwilling, a graduate of the University of Miami in Florida, is now his assistant.

"People look peaceful when they sleep," Hartmann says.

"The eyes move during sleep and sometimes there are little movements of the lips and fingers."

He says that new material can be introduced into a dream—the ringing of a bell will be incorporated into the dream—but "nothing can induce a dream although lots of scientists have tried."

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has put up $540,000 to test ways of providing elderly persons with a better selection of food.

Nine grants to local groups to experiment with ways of combating the feeding problems of old people were announced Thursday by the Social and Rehabilitation Service of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

While most of the funds will be put to use in senior citizen centers and other group facilities, some of the testing will involve taking hot food directly to those confined to their homes. Failing sense of taste or smell, lost teeth and lack of money were cited by the agency as common causes of poor eating habits among the elderly.

The United States imposed an embargo on deliveries to the Middle Eastern nation after the flareup last June but announced in February Jordan was being restored to the list of eligible customers. The new pact succeeds one negotiated in 1966.

Old 'Radio Row' Is Wiped Out

NEW YORK (AP) — "Radio row," where more than 50 stores once handled all sorts of communications equipment, has been wiped out by the construction of the 110-story World Trade Center on the lower West side. This district was considered the East Coast center for ham radio and hi-fi addicts. The stores are now scattered, with a dozen of them located near Fulton and Nassau Streets.

Restoring The House Washington Slept In

LIGHT OF HISTORY
By Christopher Crittenden
State Department of Archives and History
Written for The AP

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — Washington slept here—not just once but twice. The piece was the John Wright Stanly house in New Bern; the year, 1791; the occasional, the southern tour of the father of his country.

The house was moved to the Tryon Palace vicinity recently and is being restored by the Tryon Palace Commission. The exterior is virtually complete, the interior well along.

Period furnishings are being acquired and Stanly family heirlooms have been promised. The entire expense is being borne from the bequest of the late Mrs. Maude Moore Latham, benefactress of Tryon Palace.

Suitable landscaping is planned. A feature will be two gazebos, or summer houses, shown in a Civil War photograph of the house.

Progress reports on the Stanly project will be a part of the business at the biannual meeting of the Tryon Palace Commission, April 1-2. Commission members will inspect the Stanly house, Tryon Palace, and other properties.

John Wright Stanly, leading merchant and supporter of the Revolution, is said to have lost 14 privates in that war. His son, state legislator and congressman, was also born in the house, as was his great-grandson, Brig. Gen. Lewis Addison Armistead, one of the leaders of the charge of Pickett's division at Gettysburg, where he was killed.

According to the late Thomas T. Waterman, authority on architectural history, the structure was "almost certainly designed" by John Hawks, architect of Tryon Palace. Appropriate it seems, therefore, for the house to be preserved near the Palace. It was also the first headquarters of Union General Burnside in New Bern.

An architectural showplace which resembles the famous Hudson River mansions and several historic houses in Delaware it was used for many years as the New Bern Public Library. When a new library was constructed, it was moved to its present location.

On the afternoon of April 1 the annual memorial service will be held for Mrs. Latham, whose daughter, Mrs. John A. Kellenberger of Greensboro, is chairman of the commission. Mr. Kellenberger is treasurer and finance officer. End ADV fir PMs Wed March 27—Moved March 21

Inflation Uses The Disguise Of Prosperity

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans this week got another discouraging report from their pickpocket, a term that President Johnson used some time ago to describe inflation.

Inflation is not just an unwelcome guest but is the unofficial tax collector for the nation. It has been called unjust, ruthless, greedy, villainous, irrational—

Bought Tickets To Wrong Game

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — Three New Mexico Junior College coeds, decided they would attend their school's basketball game in Odessa, Tex.

They drove to Odessa, arrived at the gymnasium, purchased tickets and walked inside. Then, they discovered they had purchased tickets to a wrestling match and not the basketball game.

WILL TRAVEL

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The 10 members of the Robinson Township police force placed a newspaper advertisement that read in part: "Police department for hire... have gun will travel." They said the town offered them a $25 a month raise to present salaries of $4,800 to $5,700 a year but they wanted at least $100 a month.

and all these derogatory descriptions and more apply to it.

It is also cowardly, for it picks on those who can do little about it, on elderly men and women and others on fixed incomes, for example; on people who can't go out and earn more to replace the money taken from them.

The pickpocket's report came in the form of the consumer price index, which rose to 119 in February, meaning that prices then were 19 per cent higher than in the 1958-1959 period. It was the 13th straight monthly rise.

This rising consumer price index is the tax of inflation—a tax in almost every sense of the word except that it has no basis in law. It ignores law completely.

Inflation is an insidious tax. It is tricky. Often it cannot be seen, for it disguises itself as prosperity. It would have you measure the economic engine, for example, by the heat it gives off rather than by the power it produces.

To put it another way: you're really not advancing if your pay increase is matched by increased prices. A lot of activity is generated, but you're just spinning your wheels. You're not moving ahead.

This is not quite the case at the moment. Living costs are increasing, but so is buying power. Wages might be increasing for corporations but so are corporate profits. Still, much of what looks like improvement is just motion.

People are making more money but their living standards cannot reflect this completely. A steady amount of the dollars they put in their pockets is fingered quickly and silently by the pickpocket.

So, if inflation is a tax, why not let it be? Why introduce formal taxes which might eliminate inflation but impose another penalty?

Well, as the President indicated, who wants a pickpocket as a tax collector. Among its other faults, pickpocket inflation is:

UNJUST. It often hurts the poor more than the rich. Food prices, for example, are becoming inflated again. The rich man might need to spend only 10 per cent of his pay on food. But the poor family may have to budget 25 per cent of take home pay for food.

RUTHLESS. Inflation doesn't present any arguments in its defense. It does not go through proper channels, such as Congress, where it can be examined before getting your money. It just takes it.

GREEDY. It literally feeds on itself. This is the spiral, in which a wage increase to offset higher prices becomes a reason for business to raise prices to offset higher wages. A spiral can spin out of control like a tornado.

IRRATIONAL. It really doesn't make much sense to raise wages only to see the increases wiped out by rising prices and so on. But what is utterly irrational about inflation is that it can be spotted and headed off—but usually isn't.

DANGEROUS. Inflation is like a racing engine that eventually burns up its own parts. The imbalances it causes actually set the stage for the mirror image—for deflation and even recession.

Theatre Ticket Sale Near Half-Way Mark

With opening night about three months away the East Carolina University Summer Theatre season ticket sale for 1968 is nearing the half-way mark.

Producer Edgar R. Loessin, now in the midst of auditions for the coming productions, reports that more than $20,000 is in the bank for the 1968 budget. He notes that ticket orders are coming in daily to raise the total toward the $45,000 needed from advance subscriptions. Loessin says most sales have come from a dozen or so eastern communities or directly with the ECU Summer Theatre box office, P. O. Box 2712, Greenville, 752-7565 or 758-3426, Ext. 200, Greenville.

The 1968 season will open Monday, July 1, with "Gigi," a non-musical comedy. Other productions are "The Boys from Syracuse," "The King and I," "Guys and Dolls," "The Desert Song" and "The Odd Couple."

Burke Hurls Fifth Win For Bucs

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor

The East Carolina Pirates spotted Dartmouth a one-run lead in the first inning, then came back to take a 7-2 victory over the Indians for their fifth straight victory after dropping their opener.

he became the first pitcher for the Bucs to go the route. The Bucs put together seven hits themselves, but didn't get a lot of hitting opportunities as they took advantage of Dartmouth walks to get on the sacks.

or reached on an error. Gene Ryzewicz singled, moving Saylor to third, and a wild pitch brought the run across. The Bucs got a threat going by putting two on via walks in the first, but couldn't get them across.

and Saylor got a single. A hit by Ryzewicz drove in Pickering, making it 4-2. For the next few innings, both teams had several threats, but none paid off until East Carolina came up in the eighth.

Kinston, Rose In Key NE Contest

After two weeks of play in the Northeastern Conference baseball race only two teams remain undefeated and pitching seems to be the strong point at this early stage of the campaign.

The New Bern Bears have wracked up the top run total in one game with 14 against Elizabeth City while the Yellow Jackets have been shut out twice in the opposite end of run production.

With one out, Jim Snyder singled. Wayne Vick slapped the ball to right, way over the fence, scoring Snyder ahead of him. It was the fourth Buhomer in two games. Two more Pirates reached base in the inning, but couldn't score.

Another Buc runner crossed home in the fourth. Carey Anderson reached on a fielder's choice, and then moved to second on a wild pitch. He was then replaced by Russ Edmondson as Snyder walked.

Junior righthander Lee Galt of the Rose High Phantoms has tossed the only no-hitter of the season so far as he mowed down the Pam Pack of Washington on March 23 as the Phantoms won 2-0.

The four Rose High wins have been sparked by great pitching and tight defense but little offense while the Red Devils have had three sguerkers and an 8-0 win over Elizabeth City.

After two weeks of play, the conference appears very evenly balanced with no team showing an overwhelming amount of strength which argues well for a good championship fight.

Clay Dalrymple and Mike Ryan, former Boston Red Sox, will share the catching on a platoon basis. Neither hit .200 last year but both are top grade receivers.

Standings table with columns W, L, Rose High, Kinston, New Bern, W. Carteret, E. Carteret, Havelock, Roanoke Rapids, Tarboro, Washington, Elizabeth City.

White's fine recovery eliminated all doubts about first base and Cookie Rojas is back to handle second again.

With Allen in left, Tony Gonzalez, a .339 hitter in 1967, goes into the center field competition with Don Lock and John Briggs.

Chris Short, who missed 14 starts last year due to a back ailment and a knee injury, figures to be the big man of the staff.

Phillies Having Rough Spring

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — This has been a rough spring for the Philadelphia Phillies, bouncing around the lower regions of the Grapefruit League, worrying about Richie Allen's hand and sweating out Bobby Wine's chronic back condition.

Bill White's remarkable comeback from a torn Achilles tendon has been the bright spot of the camp. White has looked his old self in the field and has been swinging a hot bat.

Apparently Allen still can swing a bat with his old tape measure power but his throwing, never too good, has been most erratic.

In the meantime the Phils are using the capable Tony Taylor at third base.

Shortstop is another problem. Wine's back acted up again and although he is working out, rookie Don Money has been getting the full trial at short.

Clay Dalrymple and Mike Ryan, former Boston Red Sox, will share the catching on a platoon basis. Neither hit .200 last year but both are top grade receivers.

Celtics Win To Even Series, 2-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The San Francisco Warriors and Los Angeles Lakers will be looking to stretch their National Basketball Association playoff advantage to 3-1 tonight. Meanwhile, the Minnesota Muskies will try to wrap up their semifinal victory over Kentucky in the American Basketball Association.

The Warriors, surprisingly a game up on the St. Louis Hawks in the NBA's Western Division playoffs, entertain the Hawks in Oakland.

The Lakers, not surprisingly ahead of the Chicago Bulls 2-1 in the West's other playoff, meet the Bulls in Chicago.

The Muskies can end their series with Kentucky in the ABA's Eastern Division with another victory. Minnesota is ahead 2-1 and the semifinals in the ABA are best-of-5. In the NBA, it's best-of-7.

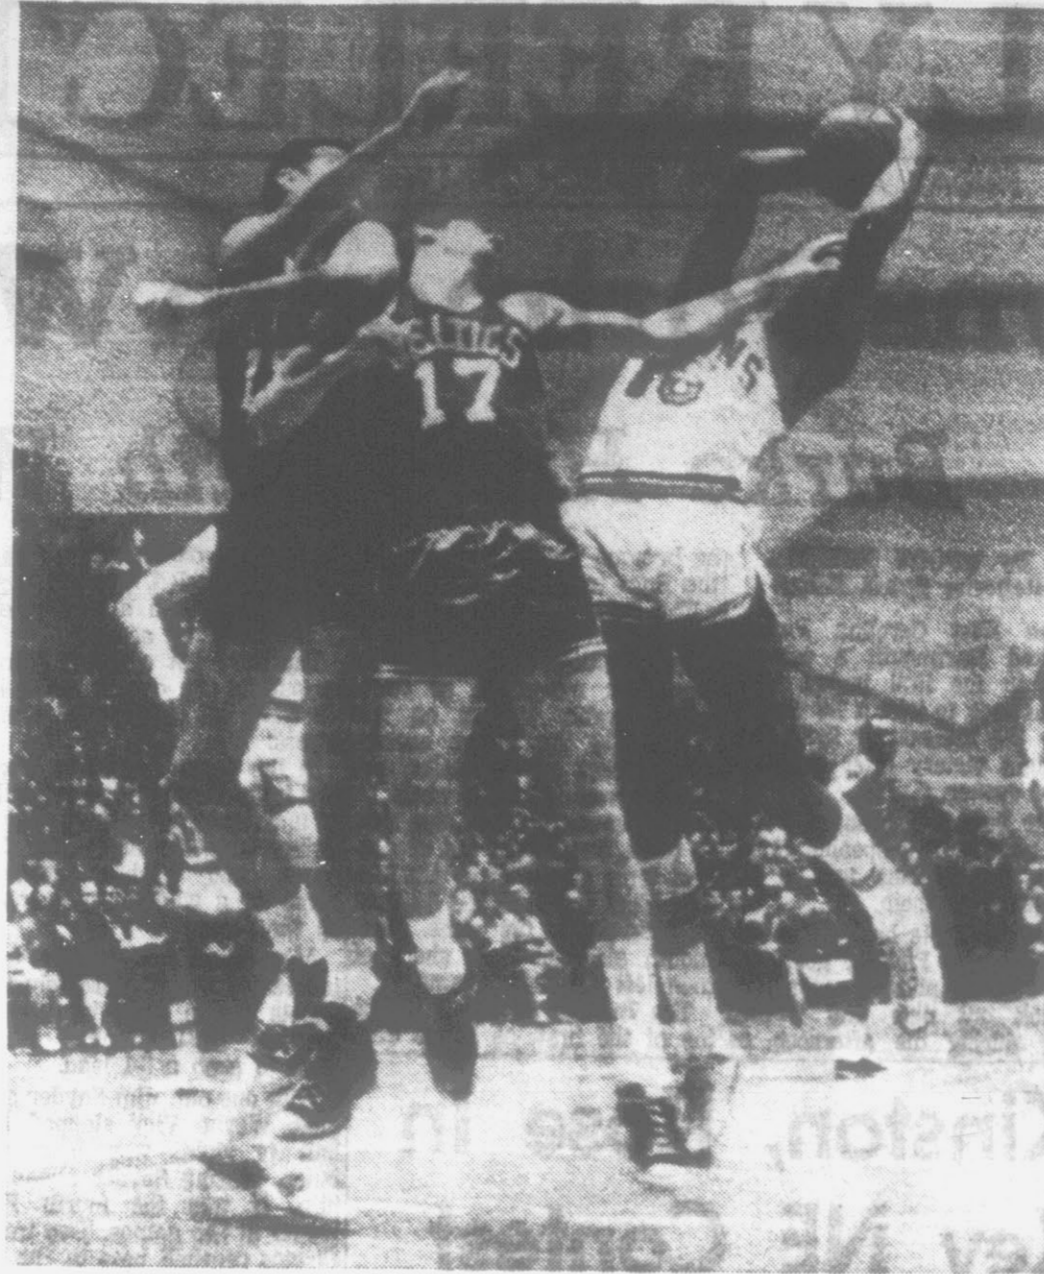

In the only pro basketball playoff action Thursday night, the Boston Celtics evened their series with the Detroit Pistons at two games each by winning 135-110 at Detroit.

The Warriors lead over the Hawks is even more surprising for the fact that it was gained without the services of Nate Thurmond, the big center who is out with injuries, and several other key players.

Paul Silas of the Hawks, admitting the Warriors are "better than we expected," says he is "confident the Hawks will come back." St. Louis beat San Francisco in seven of their eight meetings during the regular season.

Bill Russell sparked a third-quarter rally, bringing the Celtics past the Pistons, who were threatening to continue their newly found mastery over Boston. Detroit led 60-55 at the half, but Russell led the Celts to an 80-point second half.

John Havlicek had 35 points for Boston while Dave Bing led Detroit with 26. The series resumes Sunday in Boston.

HIGH HANDED ACTION — Detroit Pistons' Joe Strawder (16) faces some high-handed guarding by Boston Celtics' John Havlicek (17) and Bailey Howell. The Celtics won, 135-110, to even their best of seven series, 2-2. (AP Wirephoto)

Angels Get Halos Tilted By Giants; Kaat Is Out

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The California Angels and Baltimore Orioles have had their wings clipped but Jim Kaat's elbow trouble has thrown the Minnesota Twins for a bigger loss.

San Francisco unleashed a 22-hit barrage against four California pitchers Thursday and rolled to an 18-3 exhibition baseball triumph over the Angels at Phoenix, Ariz.

The Orioles were shut out for the second time in a row, bowing 2-0 to Washington at Miami, Fla., as Camilo Pascual and Bill Denehy combined for a five-hitter.

Kaat, Minnesota's southpaw pitching ace, flew from Orlando, Fla., to the Twin Cities Thursday night to being a series of X-ray treatments on his ailing left elbow, injured in the next-to-last game of the 1967 season.

Elsewhere on the exhibition schedule, St. Louis trimmed Oakland 3-1, Cincinnati nipped Detroit 4-3 in 14 innings, Pittsburgh topped Houston 3-1, Los Angeles drubbed the Chicago White Sox 11-4, the New York Yankees downed the New York Mets 5-1, the Chicago Cubs edged Cleveland 5-3 and Philadelphia shaded Atlanta 4-2.

Jim Davenport lashed four hits, including a triple, as the Giants cuffed Ricky Clark for eight runs and 14 hits in five innings and completed the assault against Minnie Rojas, Jack Hamilton and Jim Weaver.

Pascual, who allowed four hits in six innings, and Denehy hurled the Senators to their 12th victory in 17 spring starts. The Orioles have scored just one unearned run in the last 30 innings.

Kaat, who ruptured a muscle in his elbow at Boston last Sept. 30, could be sidelined for some time because of an irritated nerve. "We expect the X-ray treatments to be helpful," said Dr. Harvey O'Phelan, the Twins' team physician. "No one really knows."

"Our present plan is to put him on the disabled list at the start of the season."

Another ailing player, Atlanta outfielder Rico Caty, is undergoing tests in a Lantana, Fla., hospital to determine if he has tuberculosis. He was reported "feeling fine and walking around" Thursday but asked that details of his confinement not be released.

Lou Brock socked a run-scoring triple and tallied on a throwing error by shortstop Ted Kubiak, giving the Cardinals the edge at Bradenton, Fla. Nelson Briles stopped the A's on five hits over the first seven innings.

At Tampa, Fla., the Reds pushed over the winning run on Don Wert's bases-loaded error in the 14th and matched St. Louis' 13-6 exhibition mark.

Fireballer Bob Veale yielded four hits and struck out seven in a strong six-inning stint as the Pirates stopped the Astros at Cocoa, Fla.

Ron Fairly's three-run double keyed a 14-hit attack that carried the Dodgers past the White Sox in a night game at Vero Beach, Fla.

Frank Fernandez drove in two runs with a homer and single in the Yankees' victory over the Mets at St. Petersburg, Fla.

At Tucson, Ariz., the Cubs struck for three first inning runs and held off Cleveland behind right-hander Ferguson Jenkins, who scattered nine hits in seven innings.

John Callison's two-run homer and a pair of unearned runs in the seventh inning led the Phillies to victory under the lights at Clearwater, Fla.

Sanders Want A Big Win—Masters Or Open

By F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — If Doug Sanders doesn't win the Masters Golf Tournament in April, his next big goal will be the British Open in mid-July.

It's not that he isn't planning to press his one-stroke advantage over the field in today's second round of the Greater Jacksonville Open. But Sanders has won it before and he knows another prestige victory would establish him among the elite of the game.

"The British Open to me could excel the big American tournaments such as the Masters, U.S. Open and PGA," Sanders said. "I have business interests in the British Empire, and I figure the British Open would mean half a million dollars more to me than any of the three major tournaments in the United States."

Sanders headed the pack with a seven-under-par 65 into the second round of the $100,000 event.

He shot an easy eagle—two wood shots and a two-foot putt—and five birdies in Thursday's opening round.

Five challengers were one stroke behind him and 60 others broke par 72 on the 7,221-yard Deerwood Club course.

Steve Reid, Al Geiberger, Gardner Dickinson, Dewitt Weaver Jr. and Julius Boros were at 66. Don January, Richard Martinez, Chi-Chi Rodriguez and Bobby Nichols were at 67. Defending champ Dan Sikes was among a dozen at 68 after an erratic round including an eagle, three birdies and a bogey.

Gary Player at 69 and Arnold Palmer at 70 were in the running, but Jack Nicklaus at 74 faced the necessity of a good second round to make the cut for the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday.

Rojas Rallies To Win Bout

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Raul Rojas rallied in two violent rounds, the 12th and 15th, and won a unanimous decision over Enrique Higgins of Colombia Thursday night to win the World Boxing Association featherweight championship.

Rojas, 126, San Pedro, Calif., had Higgins, 125½, Bogota, Colombia, on the verge of a knockout in the two crucial rounds before a capacity crowd of 10,400 at the Olympic Auditorium—a crowd which paid $64.381.

The decision was widely acclaimed by the partisan Rojas following but there were those who felt that Higgins, a master at jabbing and boxing had earned the decision.

While the WBA, which includes California, sanctioned the fight, to fill the vacancy caused when Mexico's Vicente Saldivar retired last October, there are other areas in the world which did not extend the recognition.

Referee Dick Young scored it 11-6, judge John Thomas had it 10-5 and judge George Latka scored 10-6. California's scoring is one or more points to the winner of a round, none for the loser and none for an even round.

The Associated Press scored it 8-6 for Higgins.

The victory was the 34th for Rojas. His only defeat was a 15-round knockout by Saldivar in Los Angeles, May 7, 1965. It was the third defeat in 33 fights for Higgins.

Lorenzen Helps Allison To Mark

ATLANTA (AP) — An old pro was in the pits Thursday, and Bobby Allison's performance showed it.

Allison, a 30-year-old veteran from Hueytown, Ala., leaned on the advice of pit chief Fred Lorenzen and came out of qualifying runs Thursday for Sunday's $83,000 race with a pair of records.

He raced his 1968 Ford to a one-lap record of 157.154 miles an hour and averaged a record 155.805 for the six-mile qualifying run.

Lorenzen, who won the Atlanta 500 three times as a driver, now is working in the pits. His advice sent Allison to the ninth starting slot for the race at the Atlanta International Raceway.

The first eight positions were picked Wednesday with Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., winning the pole position in his 1968 Mercury.

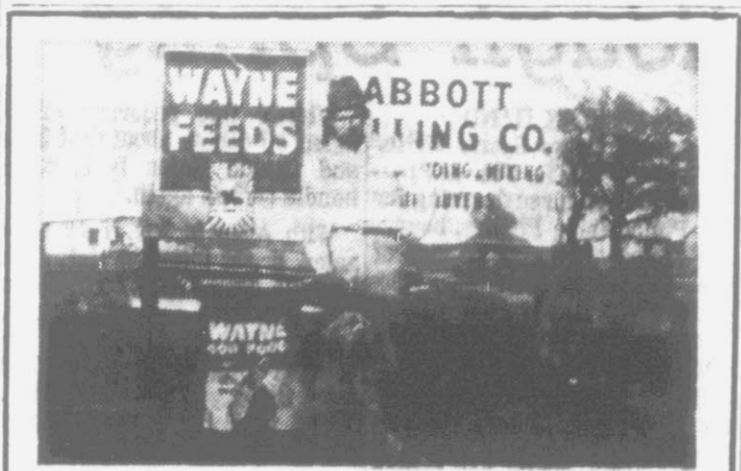

Behind Allison Thursday were seven drivers, all beating the 1967 track record of 155.646.

They were Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., in a 1968 Dodge, who averaged 154.181; Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., 1968 Plymouth, 152.462; Richard Petty, Randleman, N.C., 1968 Plymouth, 151.981; Jim Hurtubise, North Tonawanda, N.Y., 1968 Mercury, 151.503.

Also Darel Dieringer, Charlotte, 1968 Plymouth, 151.451; Butch Harman, Zanesville, Ohio, 1968 Dodge, 151.451, and Bud Moore of Charleston, S.C., 1968 Dodge, 150.805.

The only other driver in Thursday's runs was Sam McQuagg of Columbus, Ga., who drove his 1967 Dodge at 148.834, but failed to qualify.

Eight more starting slots will be picked today and the last 20 Saturday.

F111A Loss Is Enormous Coup For Communists

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The loss of an F111A, this country's most advanced fighter-bomber, may hand the Communists the benefits of $1 billion in U.S. research and development work. Officials said Thursday the fate of the Air Force F111A and its two crewmen, listed as "overdue on a mission in Southeast Asia," was uncertain, but their worst fear appeared to be confirmed today. The North Vietnamese reported the plane was shot down in Ha Tinh Province, North Vietnam. The revolutionary swing-wing plane was part of a group of six F111A fighter-bombers saw combat for the first time only this week. If the plane did indeed go down in Communist-held territory, it could mean an enormous coup for the Reds. Much, of course, would depend on the plane's condition. The Soviets are well along in swing-wing technology, sources said, so it appears they might not gain greatly in this respect from capture of a downed F111A by their North Vietnamese or Pathet Lao friends in Laos. But the F111A is packed with very sophisticated gear, novel engines and other devices developed by U.S. scientists and technicians after years of effort. Pentagon figures show nearly $1.1 billion has been spent on research, development, tests and engineering for the F111A through the end of 1967. Perhaps the most serious U.S. loss to the enemy—and a consequent bonanza for the North Vietnamese, Soviets, and Red Chinese—would be the F111A's secret "electronic countermeasures" equipment, designed to foil enemy warning radar and thus permit the planes to penetrate to target and return home safely. With samples of this gear,

Communist engineers might learn how to deal with it—and thus compromise the effectiveness of the devices in the F111s and other U.S. warplanes. Among other highly complex and sophisticated mechanisms aboard the F111A:

—A "terrain-following" radar which permits the plane to fly faster than sound only a few hundred feet above ground level, with automatic sensors keeping the plane clear of such obstacles as hills and mountains. —Automated navigation and bombing system, combining use of radar and computers to keep the plane on precise course and enabling bombing of targets with record accuracy in darkness or foul weather. —Unusual new jet engines which include turbofans or fuel-saving in long-range flight at subsonic speeds, and an afterburner with juice for supersonic dashes. One reason officials said they were reluctant to announce the loss of the F111A was that search and rescue operations were still going on. The F111A is fitted with a unique survival system. The cockpit containing pilot and co-pilot may be ejected from the fuselage with an explosive charge which the pilot fires by yanking a stick beside his seat. The cockpit then becomes a sort of capsule, thrown clear of the plane body. The capsule, with the pilot and co-pilot in pressurized safety, drifts to the ground by parachute.

Thousands Of Sorrowing Russians Pay Final Salute To Cosmonaut

Unrest Said Due Teaching Loads

By HENRY BRADSHER
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — The top three Soviet leaders stood under a gray Moscow sky today as an honor guard by the ashes of Russia's first hero of the space age, Yuri A. Gagarin.

Thousands of sorrowing Russians filed past the urns containing the ashes of Gagarin and Soviet Air Force Col. Vladimir S. Seryogin. The two cosmonauts were killed in the crash of a MIG trainer Thursday. Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and other Soviet leaders stood in silent tribute as the first honor guard.

Gagarin's widow, Valentina, 33, shook with sobs under her mourning veil as she approached the urns in the black-draped Central House of the Soviet Army. Gagarin's daughters, Lena, 9, and Galya, 7, were also crying.

After a funeral Saturday Gagarin's and Seryogin's ashes will be placed in the most honorable spot in the Soviet Union, the Kremlin Wall facing Red Square. From an obscure childhood on a collective farm, Gagarin rose to top graduate of an aviation cadet school and became the first man to orbit the earth in his historic Vostok flight April 12, 1961. Moscow newspapers published large portraits of the 34-year-old Gagarin on their front pages, and other portraits of him and Seryogin, who was 46, with obituaries on inside pages. Among condolences from around the world came messages from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and former astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and M. Scott Carpenter. Gagarin and Seryogin died when returning to an airfield near Moscow after a flight "to practice piloting techniques" in a two-seat jet training plane, an official announcement said. Unofficial sources said their MIG15 UTI "Midget" plane had a flameout—the engine stopping in flight—and crashed before they could restart it or eject. The sources described their flight as a routine one to maintain flying proficiency.

Fans Of 'Star Trek' Relieved

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Captain Kirk, the brave imperturbable commander of the space ship Enterprise, has some pretty hair-raising experiences on alien planets every week in "Star Trek."

But never, on any distant star visited by the ship and its crew during two years, going on three, has Captain Kirk been in danger of havin' his turtle-neck uniform torn off by welcoming natives.

That, however, was the experience of William Shatner, the former Shakespearean and Broadway actor who plays the lead in the series, when he tried to leave NBC's Manhattan headquarters earlier this week. Shatner, more nervous when confronted with eager earthlings than with the worst monsters dreamed up by a Hollywood studio special effects department, managed to escape with nothing more drastic than some ripped seams in his sports jacket.

The Enterprise and its galaxy-cruising crew have recently come through a rough ordeal.

Several months ago, the word got around that NBC would cancel the science-fiction series at the end of the season. NBC never said so, but the show's Nielsen ratings were not even close to those of "The Flying Nun" and "The Andy Griffith Show."

The show's fans set out to save it. The network alone received more than 80,000 letters. Fan magazines and columnists were flooded with anguishes appeals to help save the Enterprise. Network headquarters on both coasts were picketed.

"I honestly did not think we'd pull through to a third season," confessed Shatner. "I was, in fact, so sure we were to be canceled that I had a film script written from a book I'd bought. I was pretty certain that my future, if any, was in movies and in the theater."

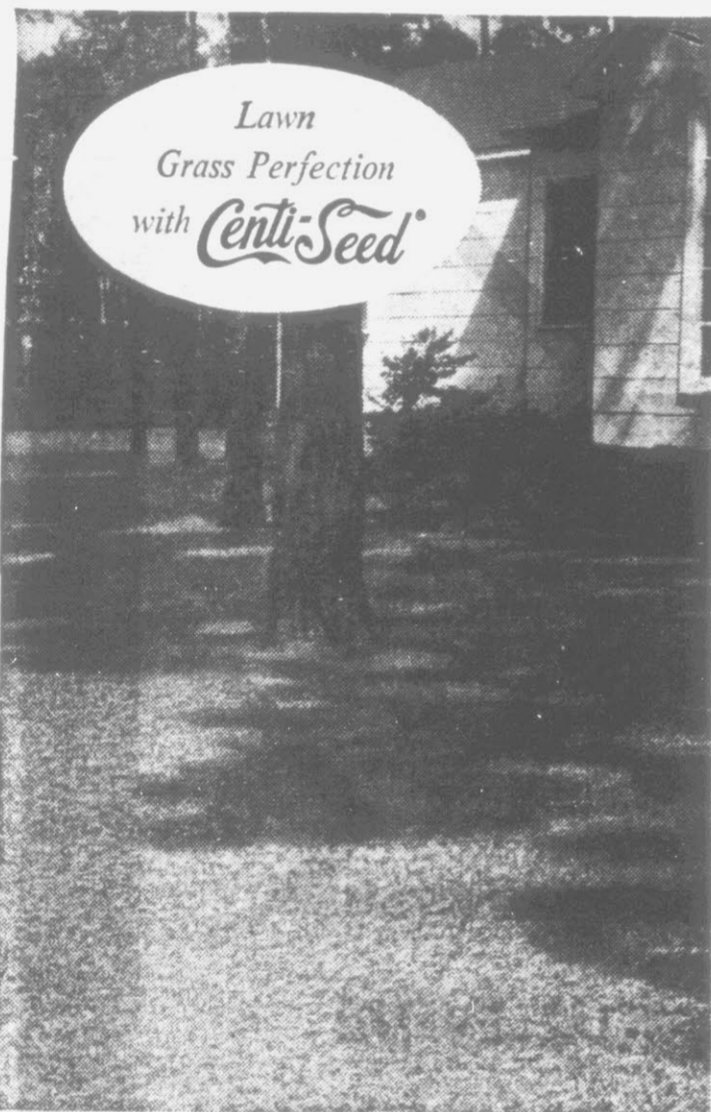

Shatner and other members of the cast learned along with the general public that NBC had decided to renew the series for the next season—"I heard it on the radio," said the star of the show.

"After a couple of seasons together, the casts of a lot of TV series get bored and restless," he said. "They take it out by complaining and fighting among themselves. The (Star Trek) cast has never become bored—we all are proud of the show and we liked our work. I know we were all glad it was renewed."

NBC, like the other two networks, is not likely to be swayed by viewer mail in making programming decisions. But "Star Trek" was special. Much of the mail came from doctors, scientists, teachers and other professional people, and was for the most part literate—and written on good stationery. And if there is anything a network wants almost as much as a high Nielsen rating it is the prestige of a show that appeals to the upper middle class and high brow audiences.

So Star Trek was saved and production for next season's shows starts up in May.

Southport Mayor Resigns After 'Disagreement'

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — The Mayor of Southport resigned Thursday night because, officials said, of a disagreement with the police chief.

Mayor Eugene B. Tomlinson Jr. tendered his resignation at a public hearing called to air alleged lack of support of the police department by the city administration.

Police chief Lewis Clark had threatened to resign because of what he called inadequate financial support and a shortage of manpower.

Clark said this "lack of support" had prevented the investigation of an alleged house of prostitution at Southport.

Aldermen passed Thursday night resolutions asking Clark to remain as chief of police until the matter is resolved and requesting the State Bureau of Investigation to look into the situation.

Missionaries' Role Opposed

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A shift in the winds today rocks the ship of Christian foreign missionaries. In some cases, it means a complete — and hard — turnabout in their troubles. Once burdened with the image of the white colonial status quo, they're now sometimes accused of inciting radical change.

"It's a most important and visibly dramatic shift," says the Rev. Dr. David Stowe, head of the Department of Overseas Ministries of the National Council of Churches.

"There's been a considerable sensitizing in the missionary movement to the revolutionary social-justice implications of the Gospel."

The strange reversal, with various twists and exceptions to it, has shown up recently in Portuguese Angola, in Rhodesia and South Africa, in areas of India and Latin America, and among native Baptists in the Soviet Union.

"Although missionaries have always sought to identify with the people among whom they worked, they formerly were often considered part of the ruling apparatus," Dr. Stowe said.

"That picture has changed."

What's odd about the recent difficulties is that instead of encountering resentments as assumed defenders of foreign paternalism, as in the past, they're now often linked by ruling regimes with insurgency.

That's the case in Angola in West Africa where the Portuguese government has blamed missionaries for instigating rebellion, although they insist that they teach nothing more subversive than the Bible.

Opposition pressure, however, has reduced the large-scale missionary forces there of more than 250 before the outbreak of uprisings in 1961 to less than 50 now, and some of them are scheduled for departure.

Angolan government policy "is apparently intended to extinguish Protestant missionary activity," said the Rev. Dr. Alford Carleton, head of the United Church Board for World Ministries.

In summoning 15 more missionaries home from Angola this month, the United Church and the United Church of Canada ousted some missionaries and will further reduce personnel there — numbering 45 until 1961 — to three. Methodist and other church forces there similarly have been decimated.

Although the government last week indicated some may be allowed to come back, recent practice has prevented it, and it remained a question.

Similar charges of fomenting revolution brought Guatemala's recent expulsion of three Catholic Maryknoll missionaries accused of involvement with a rebel guerrilla movement. Their order later suspended them for disobedience.

A succession of church leaders have been exiled from South Africa, accused of trying to undermine the government's policy of apartheid—racial separation.

The large missionary corps in Rhodesia also has been heavily crimped by expulsions and court trials, the white government alleging links between missionaries and African nationalists.

In India, the government has banned new ones from the northern zone bordering China and Burma, where Naga tribesmen — many of them Christians — have been in armed revolt demanding independence.

A scant remnant of Baptist missionary work in Burma apparently has ceased altogether under tightening pressure by the Buddhist government.

About 200 American Mormons in March were denied long-term missionary permits in Argentina. A government official said, "Anything that influences national thought is a matter for Argentines."

In Russia, a militantly conservative group of Baptists were in open opposition to Soviet restrictions on religion, with 200 of them imprisoned for it.

"They're in a 'fight for religious liberty,'" said the Rev. Dr. Edwin Espy, general secretary of the National Council, whose general board — in reference to the Russian situation — reiterated its position urging "all governments to grant full and free expression of religion."

Five Died

BLANCH, N.C. (AP)—Five children died in a fire that destroyed their two-story house Thursday night, the third multiple fatality fire in Caswell County this year.

The dead, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Watlington, were identified as Patricia, 8; Ronnie, 6; James, 4; Helen Jean, 3, and a one-year-old boy.

Caswell County Sheriff Bobby Poteat said Watlington was in nearby Danville, Va., when the fire broke out. Watlington's wife works in a Danville mill.

In January three children and a retired farmer died in a fire, one day after three other children perished in another Caswell County blaze.

Insurance Men Eye Riot Costs

RALEIGH (AP) — Two insurance industry spokesmen say another summer of riots in the nation's cities could create "a situation of critical proportions" for insurance companies, and one of the men predicts "a very rough summer indeed."

William F. Trawick of the Insurance Rating Board and David Kuizenga of the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau appeared before North Carolina Insurance Commissioner Edwin Lanier Thursday to request permission to drop riot liability coverage from governmental insurance policies.

Trawick told the commissioner serious disorders are anticipated this year, and the industry wants to sell separate riot insurance at "appropriate" cost to avert a financial crisis in the industry.

The spokesmen explained the revisions, including a surcharge on burglary and glass insurance sold to private businesses, are being requested in all states to protect companies writing policies in areas where riots occur.

Dr. King Plans Tour Of N.C.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, will tour North Carolina next Thursday in support of Dr. Reginald Hawkins, first known Negro candidate for state governor.

Hawkins, a Charlotte dentist, minister and civil rights leader, and Jesse Jackson of Chicago, head of the SCLC's "Operation Breadbasket" fair-employment-or-boycott program, will meet King's plane at Charlotte.

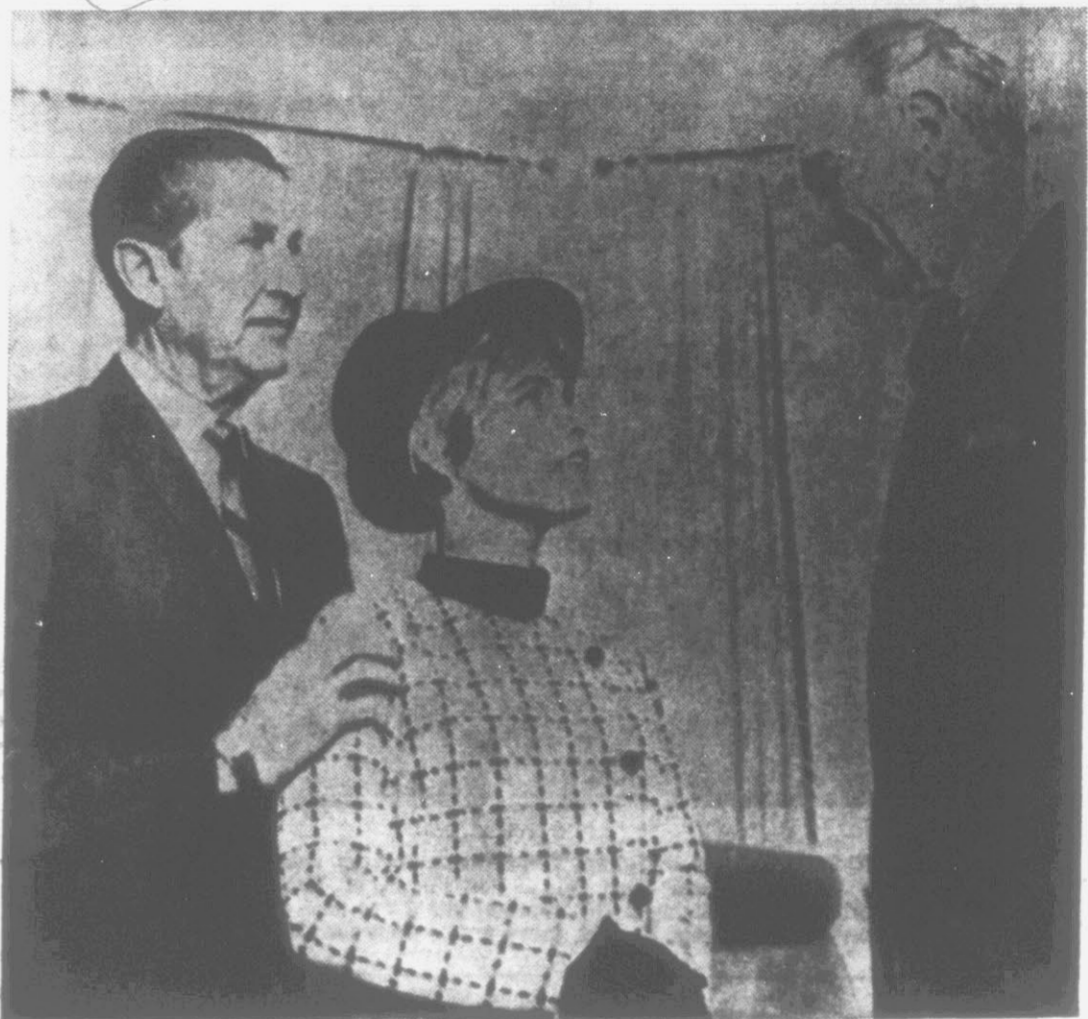

After a one-hour stay in Charlotte, commencing at 10 a.m., the agenda is:

- A ministers' meeting at the AME Zion Church at Greensboro.
- A "poor people's luncheon" and a mock trial demonstrating the plight of the poor at Durham.
- A voter registration march at Wilson.
- A "people-to-people" tour and a meal with a poor family at New Bern.
- An address by King in the Williamston High School gymnasium at Wilmington. King will leave the state from Wilmington.

Two Tar Heels Among Casualties

Johnson, visiting the paratroopers on the eve of their departure Feb. 17, promised that troopers with only a month of active duty remaining, and those who had been in the United States less than six months between combat assignments, would return to Ft. Bragg as soon as possible.

Another plane is scheduled to arrive at Pope Saturday. Others are planned, Ft. Bragg spokesmen said.

The Worry Clinic The Arithmetic Of Why Husbands Roam

Lois should shock wives into doing their erotic arithmetic! For when a wife's appeal, plus her husband's sexual urge fall below the combined total of 100 points, beware! For that's when he tries to find a more seductive partner! Wives, by all means discuss this case at your Women's Clubs!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-529: Lois L., aged 18, is a beautiful secretary of a man named Herbert.

"But, Dr. Crane," his wife protested, "Herbert has been chasing around with her.

"Although he is 45, he seems infatuated with Lois and even flaunts their 'affair' before our friends and neighbors.

"Yet I have tried to be a faithful and am considered to be an excellent housekeeper.

"So what makes a man desert his lifelong mate and pursue a younger woman not even half his age?"

Successful wives have subconsciously learned the vital sexual arithmetic necessary to combat outside sirens.

For example, on your wedding day, your feminine physical appeal to your husband is 100 per cent.

His ardor is likewise at the 100 percent level, making a sum total of 200.

That 200-mark thus represents the wild eroticism of the honeymoon!

But various factors soon begin to reduce that 200-mark.

For example, the novelty or mystery factor wanes. And most wives add extra poundage so they are not as sylph-like after a few years.

Moreover, when a baby arrives, they divert much of their attention to it. And are more fatigued because of its care, plus other household duties.

Thus, the wife's original 100 percent sexual appeal may drop rapidly.

Meanwhile, too, her husband's ardor becomes less, especially if he diverts much of his energy to his job and assumes the mature obligations of an executive at the office or factory.

For energy is the basis of production as well as reproduction!

Besides, many men dampen their erotic vigor by use of tobacco.

So that original 200 - mark wanes till it may barely total 100.

For the wife's physical stimulating charm may now be only 25 points.

And her husband's erotic energy may drop to 75.

Even at that sum total figure of 100 points, he may still become sufficiently ardent to function occasionally in the boudoir.

But suppose that 100-mark is the minimum level for eroticism. If his wife remains at only 25 percent (or less) in her physical appeal, and he happens to fall down to only 50 percent (or less) of his original amount of erotic ardor, then their combined total is not over 75.

At a 75-point total, he cannot function with his wife, so he becomes scared lest he will remain permanently platonic.

In this dilemma, the usual husband first attempts to revive his own courtship ardor. And he also tries to prod his wife into being more kittenish.

But the typical wife doesn't realize this dangerous stage in her marriage so she brushes him off with an irritability.

"Oh, Herbert, act your age! Roll over and go to sleep!"

Desperately, however, the husband is trying to act 25 instead of 45 years old!

That's when he sprouts the idea that if he had a more stimulating female partner, may be he could function as he did during his honeymoon.

So he picks a younger girl who adds the original female points to his own 25 to 50 points of ardor, and thus banishes his impotence.

Wives, send for the medical booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Grade A large whites: 41 to 42; medium, whites: 35 1/2 to 37 1/2; small, whites: 27 1/2 to 30.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied sharply today but trimmed its gains in early afternoon as traders took quick profits.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.01 at 838.13. It backed away from a 6-point gain earlier.
Advances outnumbered declines by about 2 to 1.
The market got a shot in the arm from a published report that a halt to the bombing in North Vietnam was being considered by the administration.
Earlier, the market derived some strength from comment that the release by the United States of some North Vietnamese sailors suggested the secret talks might have been taking place on other matters between the United States and the North Vietnamese.
Lockheed was boosted more than 3 points by news that it had received a $2.16-billion agreement to produce the big passenger plane known as the Airbus for TWA, Eastern Airlines and Airholdings Ltd. of Britain.
McDonnell Douglas, Lockheed's unsuccessful rival for the contract, sank about 2 1/2 points.
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.4 at 302.7 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .5 and utilities up .6.
American Airlines, up a fraction, was the volume leader. Also active, Polaroid and Schenley gained about 2.
As the Stockholm monetary conference got under way and trading in gold bullion showed a contradictory trend in European markets, gold mining shares fell on the New York Stock Exchange.
IBM gained 6, Xerox and Polaroid 2, and Lorillard nearly 3.
Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

VC Command Admits Failures

SAIGON (AP) — Two days after the start of the Tet offensive, Jan. 30, the Viet Cong high command told all Communist guerrilla units in South Vietnam they had won an important victory but failed to achieve their main objectives.
A captured Viet Cong circular warmly praised Communist forces at all levels for their simultaneous attack on cities and military installations throughout the country.
"We have beaten the enemy accurately and successfully," the circular said. "However, we still have the following shortcomings and weaknesses: We failed to seize a number of primary objectives and to destroy completely mobile and defensive units of the enemy."
"We also failed to hold the occupied areas."
"In the political field, we failed to motivate the people to stage uprisings and break the enemy's oppressive control."
The text of the circular, dated Feb. 1, was released by the U.S. mission today. There was no indication how it fell into American hands.
The circular outlined the Viet Cong's future plan of operations, including increasing attacks on allied forces, incitement to mass revolt in the South Vietnamese army and demonstrations by "millions of people."
The operational guidelines also included the distribution of arms to the civilian population in Viet Cong-held areas, the organization of an air defense system and plans to bring the rural population into the cities to build up a mass force designed to overthrow the Saigon government.

Wild Rioting In Panama City

PANAMA (AP) — Normality returned to this politically torn capital this morning following wild rioting Thursday night that left two dead and at least 16 persons injured.

Stores that shuttered down quickly at the first signs of trouble reopened and traffic throughout the city seemed normal. The opposition has been trying to get a general strike started against the government.

A national guardsman shot and killed a looter and the second victim died in still unclear circumstances. Guard patrols were out in large numbers in the business district.

The commander of the guard, Brig. Gen. Bolivar Vallarino, said in a communique today his troops would act vigorously, with "all means at their disposal," to put down any new disturbances. He blamed Thursday night's rioting on "unscrupulous politicians," without making any specific reference to persons or organizations.

The main elements in Panama's trouble are two claimants to the presidency, a restive national guard and a decisive Supreme Court session starting Monday. Thursday night's rioting followed a silent protest by 2,000 women.

Protest Alleged Border Attack

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodia has protested to the United States an alleged attack across the Cambodian frontier by "American-Vietnamese" forces.

The protest note, delivered to the French Embassy for transmittal to Washington, said that one Cambodian was killed and two wounded Feb. 28 by automatic fire 600 feet inside Cambodian territory in Svayrieng Province.

Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's chief economic adviser has cast a disapproving eye on the labor contracts tentatively agreed on with White House help to end an eight-month copper strike.

Arthur Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, also branded as inflationary Thursday a price hike announced by one of the four big copper producers involved in the prolonged dispute.

Okun said the wage increases for some 60,000 copper workers in 22 states were bigger than the public interest could justify.

BONN (AP) — The coalition government of West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger has lost its first minister: 53-year-old Paul Luecke, minister of the interior.

Luecke, a Christian Democrat, resigned Thursday because, he said, the Social Democrats would not go along with changes in election laws that would make it easier for major parties to get a clear majority in the Parliament.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York and New Jersey longshoremen—back to work after an 11-day strike—today began the big heave to move an estimated 500,000 tons of cargo piled on piers or in ships in the Port of New York.

Some 18,000 workers—about 2,000 more than normal—were called to the docks today to start clearing up the jam of cargo and enable a stream of ships to put out to sea.

Letter Suggests Lifetime Stay

TOKYO (AP) — John A. Shilling of Auburn Corners, Ohio, one of the 82 Pueblo crewmen held by North Korea, wrote his parents that unless President Johnson apologizes for the intelligence ship incident the crew "will spend the rest of our lives here," the North Korean radio said Thursday.

Shilling's was one of a new batch of letters purportedly written by the crewmen to their families, Johnson and other U.S. officials. North Korean Radio broadcast the letters.

"In my opinion," Shilling's letter said, "the U.S. government has not yet admitted and apologized for the Pueblo being in the territorial waters of the Democratic Republic of Korea. As I see it as soon as they do we will be allowed to return home."

It was the first reference in any letter so far to a possible immediate release following a U.S. apology. The United States says the U.S. intelligence ship was seized by the North Koreans in international waters—not inside the 12-mile limit as the Communists claim.

Conservatives Win 4 Elections

LONDON (AP) — The tottering structure of Britain's Labor government was shaken anew Thursday night as opposition Conservatives swept four out of four special elections.

The Conservatives took the districts of Dudley, Acton and Meriden and held the district of Warwick and Leamington. Labor voters deserted their party by the thousand.

Conservatives called for Prime Minister Harold Wilson to resign and the British press assayed the Conservative sweep as indicating a huge loss of confidence in Labor.
