

Decision Is Irrevocable, Says President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says his bombshell announcement that "I shall not seek and I will not accept" nomination for another term is "completely irrevocable."

Johnson voiced his emotion-packed pronouncement in a television-radio address to the nation Sunday night. Then he met with newsmen in the White House living quarters and sought to dispel any suspicion that he might change his mind or succumb to a draft.

To do this, he used the phrase "completely irrevocable."

might try to influence the choice of his successor as democratic standard-bearer. But his words, taken at face value, suggested a hands-off attitude.

Also up in the air were the plans of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who might join Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota in the 1968 Democratic sweepstakes.

A man of many surprises, Johnson's announcement was his most stunning move in a 37-year career in politics. No president eligible to succeed himself has spurred a fight for the office since Harry S. Truman bowed out during the controversial Korean War 20 years ago.

Johnson attributed his decision—which aides said was a year in the making—to controversies rending the nation at this time, including the Vietnam war.

"There is division in the American house now," he said in solemn tones. "There is divisiveness among us all tonight."

Then, after appealing to all Americans "to guard against divisiveness and all its ugly consequences," he came to the key passages:

"... I have concluded that I should not permit the presidency to become involved in the partisan divisions that are developing in this political year.

"With America's sons in the fields far away, with America's future under challenge right here at home, with our hopes and the world's hopes for peace in the balance every day, I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office—the Presidency of our country.

"Accordingly, I shall not seek, and I will not accept, the nomination of my party for another term as your President."

Johnson tacked the disclosure of his very personal decision onto a major Vietnam policy speech in which he announced his broadest yet peace move: An immediate and indefinite halt in most air and sea bombardment of North Vietnam as "the first step to de-escalate the conflict."

This military decision, momentous as it was, quickly was overshadowed by the postscript to his speech, which was not included in the prepared text distributed to newsmen in advance.

Candidates, politicians of all stripes and ordinary citizens appeared alike in reacting to Johnson's announcement with astonishment.

"I was surprised," said Richard M. Nixon.

McCarthy echoed that sentiment but added that Johnson had made a "generous judgment" clearing the way for national reconciliation.

Kennedy withheld immediate comment.

Humphrey, in Mexico City for a treaty-signing ceremony, said he was saddened.

"I can't believe it," said a GI on the street in Saigon.

Within half an hour after Johnson finished speaking, small knots of young people turned out to cheer in a light drizzle in front of the White House. One group from George Washington University carried a bedsheet on which they had hastily lettered the legend, "Thanks L.B.J."

When the President met with newsmen just before midnight, the questions came quickly:

Was Kennedy's entry into the Democratic primary campaign a factor?

"It added to the general situation I talked about that existed in the country."

Did he have a personal choice (Continued On Page 12)

One-Man One-Vote Extended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today put local government under its one-man, one-vote rule.

The historic 5-3 decision extends the rule to an estimated 80,000 units of local government throughout the land.

One of the dissenters, John M. Harlan, said the decision was "both unjustifiable and ill-advised."

Justice Byron R. White gave the decision in a case from Midland County, Tex., where Mayor Hank Avery of Midland City asked that the county governing body be apportioned on a population basis.

The landmark finding came in these words by White: "We hold that petitioner Avery as a resident of Midland County has a right to vote for the Commissioners Court of substantial equal weight to the vote of every other resident."

The ruling extends a step taken by the court four years ago in interpreting the mandate of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

It is that in elections for Congress and for state legislatures districts must be drawn so that the vote of citizens is substantially equal in weight.

"The question now before us," said White, "is whether the 14th Amendment likewise forbids the election of local government officials from districts of disparate size. As has almost every court which has addressed itself to this question we hold that it does."

Again, White wrote: "It is now beyond question that a state's political subdivisions must comply with the 14th Amendment. The actions of local government are the actions of the state."

"A city, town, or county may no more deny the equal protection of the laws than it may abridge freedom of speech, establish an official religion, arrest without probable cause or deny due process of the law."

The majority with White comprised Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.

The dissenters were Associate Justices Harlan Potter Stewart and Abe Fortas. Justice Thurgood Marshall did not participate in the case.

Military Leaders' Opinion At Odds With Bombing Halt

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's order halting most bombing and naval shelling of North Vietnam clashes with the expressed convictions of key military leaders that it is vital to hit harder.

Johnson ordered Sunday night U.S. planes and warships "to make no attacks on North Vietnam, except in the area north of the Demilitarized Zone. Presumably, the order was effective at once.

He permitted strikes only in a sector "where the continuing enemy build-up directly threatens allied forward positions and where the movements of their troops and supplies are

First Moscow Reaction To Peace Bid: Negative

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—Britain began sounding out the Soviet Union today on President Johnson's new call for a peace conference on Vietnam but the first reaction from Moscow appeared negative.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart conferred with Soviet Ambassador Mikhail N. Smirnovsky on the President's initiative.

Later Stewart told the House of Commons: "We are ready as always to cooperate with the Soviet government in many measures which, in our judgment, could advance the prospects of a just and lasting settlement."

There was no report on Stewart's talk with Smirnovsky, but a dispatch of the Soviet news agency Tass called Johnson's overture for peace a maneuver that ignores North Vietnam's demand for an unconditional halt to bombing raids.

Johnson called a halt to attacks on all of North Vietnam except for areas around the de-

RFK Asks President For Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said today he has asked President Johnson for a meeting soon in the light of the chief executive's withdrawal from the presidential race.

In his first comment since Sunday night's announcement by Johnson, Kennedy said he had praised the President for "subordinating self to country."

Kennedy told a crowded news conference that "I everently hope," Johnson's new move for peace in Vietnam will succeed.

The junior senator from New York said he had dispatched his telegram asking for a meeting with the President shortly after Johnson's withdrawal announcement Sunday night.

"I will continue my campaign for the presidency of the United States," Kennedy said in concluding his news conference statement.

militarized zone.

The President's actions on Vietnam were welcomed across Europe and by some U.S. allies in Asia.

Diplomats in London expressed a belief Hanoi will reject Johnson's peace offer because of his companion announcement not to run for re-election. They said Johnson's decision may tempt the Vietnamese Communists—with Red Chinese encouragement—to battle on in the hopes a "peace candidate" will win the presidency and give them better terms.

But the emergence of a "win the war" candidate with a strong chance of being elected probably would convince Hanoi it should negotiate now, these informants said.

Some Southeast Asian leaders expressed anxiety that the President's action may increase the threat to their countries.

The Soviet view came in a Tass dispatch.

President Johnson "did not mention any period for the cut-back in the attacks," Tass said in a Washington dispatch.

"Refusing to stop fully the barbaric bombings of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam," Tass said, "the United States, as before, ignores the lawful demands of the DRV government and all the world public to stop fully and unconditionally the bombings and all acts of war against the Vietnamese people."

Viet Cong Free 2 U.S. Women

SAIGON (AP)—Two American women captured by the Viet Cong during the lunar new year offensive in Hue have been freed and now are in U.S. hands, an American spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the two are Sandra Johnson and Dr. Marjorie Nelson. He said they were released in the Hue area and now are under medical examination there.

peace talks.

"I pray," he said, "that the message of peace I conveyed last night will be accepted in good faith by the leaders of North Vietnam."

"I pray that one night soon, the evening news will show—not another battle in the scarred hills of Vietnam—but men entering a room to talk about peace in Vietnam," he said.

"That is the event the American people are longing to see," the President declared.

The President concluded his text by saying he prayed that every American "will take to heart my plea that we guard against divisiveness."

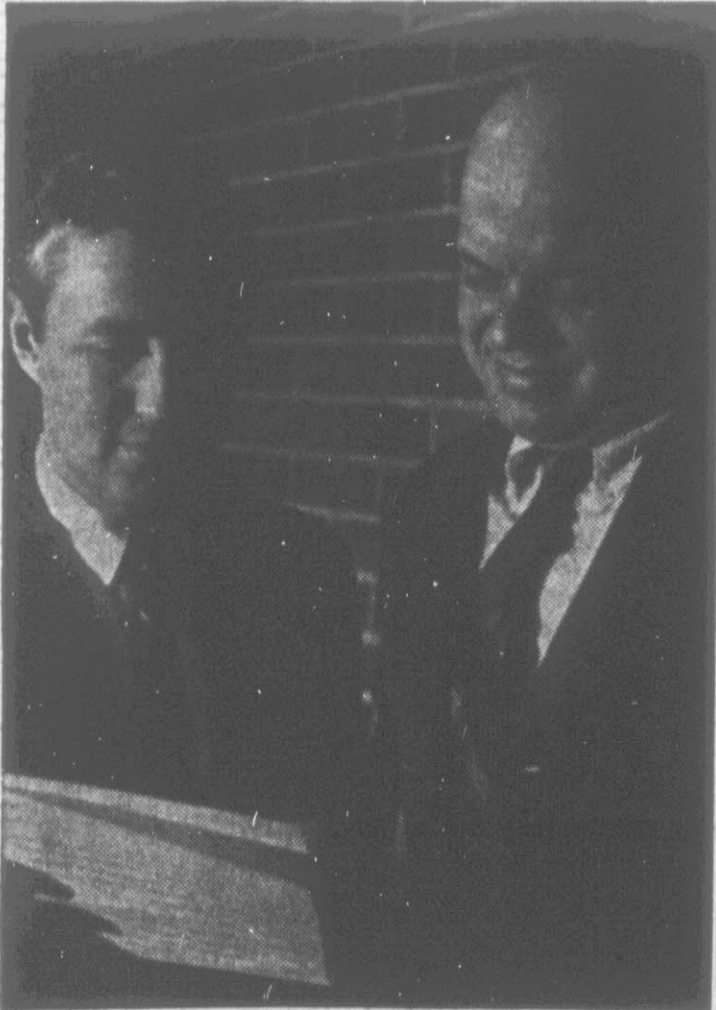

Among those greeting Johnson at O'Hare International Airport was Chicago's Democrat mayor, Richard J. Daley, who had ranked among the chief executive's most prominent backers for the 1968 Democratic presidential nomination.

Commissioners Hear Reports From Pitt Agencies

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County commissioners spent their morning session today hearing reports from various county departments and agencies.

C. D. Ward, Pitt County Memorial Hospital administrator, told commissioners that so far the county-operated ambulance service has responded to a total of 153 calls including 51 calls answered through March 28. Of those calls, Wards report indicated, more than 103 have been paid for.

Ward said that a total of $2,693 in fees have been collected, including the $1,069.50 collected in the first 28 days of March.

He said that 28 calls originated in the city of Greenville, 19 in Pitt County, one from Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill and three from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Durham.

Ward also told commissioners that the hospital has ordered $92,000 worth of x-ray equipment with which the medical facility will expand its x-ray department.

The administrator also told commissioners that a neurosurgeon will be establishing a practice here.

Board Chairman R. W. Martin appointed a committee to look for a suitable site for relocation of the Eastern Area Tuberculosis Association office here, following a report by the association's executive director Mrs. Temp Clark.

Mrs. Clark told commissioners that as of today, the Eastern Area TB group has been expanded to include 12 additional counties, and renamed the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. The new area will include 22 counties, she said.

Offices in Kinston, Washington and Elizabeth City, formerly in other areas, will be closed and one central office in Greenville will serve the new areas. This, Mrs. Clark noted, will require additional office space, as new full-time people will be employed.

At present the TB office is located in the Edwards Building.

Forest Service Ranger Joe Allen told commissioners several tracts of land in Pitt have been found to be infested with the Southern Pine beetles.

He said at present there are 260 known spots in the county where the beetle has been located.

Allen said 225,000 feet of saw timber and several thousand feet of pulpwood has been marked for cutting in connection with the Southern Pine beetle operation. He explained that the only way to rid areas of the beetle is to cut and remove the affected trees, and clear a buffer zone around the infested area.

Allen said the site of the heaviest infestation is on the Garris Estate near Ayden where 10 acres of pine have been killed and other acres are infested.

He noted the Forest Service had 51 fires involving 918 acres reported during March.

Approved at the session was a certificate of deposit of $100,000 for three months with First National Bank of Eastern North Carolina at five per cent interest.

The commissioners also approved a $10,000 bond for Pitt County Superior Court H. L. Lewis from April 1 to November 30, 1968 with the National Surety Corp.

Lewis took the oath of office as clerk of Superior Court at ceremonies presided over this morning by Superior Court Judge Elbert S. Peel Jr.

He replaces D. T. House Jr. in the clerk's post. House retired from the office Sunday after serving in the post since July 1, 1945.

Methodist Bishop Addresses Youth

The second of three classes of children to meet with Bishop Paul Neff Garber prior to reception into church membership was held Saturday at the Saint James Methodist Church here.

A total of 201 boys and girls from the Greenville, New Bern and Elizabeth City districts heard their Bishop declare: "You are joining a worldwide church... a church that cares for needy people... a young people's church... a missionary church... a church that believes in colleges and Christian Higher Education... and a Christ-centered church."

The Bishop told the youth that on a recent world trip for the Methodist Church he visited only one country in which he didn't find a Methodist congregation. He emphasized that Methodism has historically been a Christ-centered church and related the story of John Wesley's Aldersgate experience when he "felt that he did trust Christ alone for his salvation." From that conversion experience the Bishop said, "Wesley went out and preached an average of fifteen sermons a week for 52 years." He concluded his sermon by leading the group in a Litany of Commitment.

The Bishop then met with the Confirmation class in smaller groups, answering questions and sharing in some of the work of Methodism around the world. Questions regarding missions, architecture, Methodist relations with Roman Catholics were raised by the young churchmen. He then presented each of the children with a gift.

The "Meeting with Young Methodists" was sponsored by the Conference Commission on Worship. The Rev. Jim Lawrence, a student in the Duke Divinity School, led the class in a "Celebration Sing-Along", using the guitar as accompaniment. The Rev. Robert L. Bame of Hertford presented the Bishop.

The Rev. William K. Quick, host pastor at Greenville, explained the symbolism of the Saint James Sanctuary and Chapel.

The section meeting at Saint James involved the three coastal districts. The first section met in Raleigh March 22. Bishop Garber will meet with the final group in Fayetteville on April 6. A total of 671 children attended the Raleigh class.

The chairman of the sponsoring commission is the Rev. R. T. Commander of Fayetteville. Dr. John J. Rudin II, professor at the Duke Divinity School and a member of the Commission, also lent invaluable assistance in setting up the sections.

The 1968 sessions marked the third consecutive year of Garber meeting with the Confirmation Classes.

'Disappointed' By Scott's Absence

RALEIGH (AP)—Mel Broughton, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, says he was "somewhat disappointed... but not surprised" that Lt. Gov. Bob Scott did not appear at meetings for all gubernatorial candidates in Salisbury and Winston-Salem last week.

"These meetings marked the third and fourth times he has failed to show up for confrontations with the other candidates," Broughton said in a weekend statement.

Scott had said earlier that prior commitments prevented him from attending the meetings.

The nine fellows were selected last September to represent nine different nations in the Stevenson Memorial Fellowship Program, sponsored by the U. S. Congress. The fellows participate in various United Nations programs and usually spend their time near UN headquarters in New York.

Resigning Over Violent Election

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Three cabinet ministers are reported to have submitted their resignations protesting violence in general elections Sunday in which three persons were killed and many injured.

Sources close to Interior Minister Soleiman Frazjeh and Minister of State Henri Pharaon said both men submitted their resignations to President Charles Helou, charging official interference in the balloting.

Edouard Henein, minister of social affairs, also reportedly resigned.

Informed sources said Helou had the resignations "under review."

Brown offered a prayer for the new officers in the coming year, following which the service was closed with the hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the Mizpah Benediction.

Upon retirement of the new officers, guests were invited into a reception in the Sugg-Whitchard dining room. In the receiving line, in addition to the newly installed officers, were members of the families of the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, as well as the District Deputy, Mrs. Mooney, and the Installing Officer, Mrs. Grable.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sara Shannonhouse, Mrs. Grace Hill, Mrs. Louise Jackson, and Mrs. Ethel M. Smith, P. M., from a table covered with a white organdy cloth centered with an arrangement of flowers of the Worthy Matron's colors, flanked by silver candelabra with white candles set in blue and purple net. Nougats of lavender and purple violets with blue ribbons adorned the corners of the refreshment table. Mrs. Rebecca S. Clark, Brookside Chapter No. 481, of Indianapolis, Ind., provided music during the reception.

Good byes were said by Mrs. Byrdie Williams and Mrs. Eva Corbette.

Other officers of Greenville Chapter No. 149 to be installed at a later date are: Miss Alya Ray Taylor, Secretary; and Mrs. Margaret C. Gray, Ruth.

Valenti Answers Dirty Film Critic

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A while back someone wrote to you complaining because motion pictures were getting dirtier and dirtier. And you replied, "Now that Mr. Jack Valenti is president of the Motion Picture Association we can all sleep a little better."

I don't know about you, Abby, but I haven't been sleeping any better since Mr. Valenti took over. Could Mr. Valenti be the one who is sleeping? So far I haven't noticed any improvement. If anything, I think movies are dirtier than ever. Why doesn't your Mr. Valenti do something?

I don't expect to see this in print. You'll probably just toss it into the wastebasket, but I had to write anyway. Sincerely,

"SOLD OUT"
DEAR SOLD OUT: I didn't toss your letter into the wastebasket. Instead I tossed it into an envelope and sent it to Mr. Valenti. His reply:

"DEAR SOLD OUT: I wish I had all the power you credit me with. If I did, I would change things a mite. When it comes to passing judgment on a film, even the experts can't agree on what is "dirty." What the motion picture code attempts to do in this democratic society—where there is NO public honesty about the censorship—is to inform the public honestly about the content of the film, then let parents make the judgments. That is the only democratic way. The alternative is despotism, where a small group decides for all. If parents cannot control and guide their children, are we to deliver that responsibility to the state? And remember, Sold Out, the state is people, "and thus a handful of mortals will be gathering unto themselves one enormous amount of power." Then who would watch the watchers? And who would guard the guardians? Sincerely, Jack Valenti."

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is in a home for unwed mothers now. She has decided to give her baby up for adoption. I won't go into the reasons for her decision, but I think she's doing the right thing. She's only 15. She doesn't even want to see the baby. She says it will be easier to forget if she doesn't.

Abby, even tho it would be a lie, what harm would there be if I were to tell her that her baby died? I am not asking her doctor to tell the lie—I will take all the responsibility myself. I just want the doctor and the people at the home where she will deliver the baby to back me up on my story.

My daughter has suffered enough already, and I only want to make it easier for her by telling her that her baby died. She won't have to go thru life wondering where her child is. I can see only good in this lie, but if you think I'm wrong, please tell me why, and I'll do as you say. Thank you.

HER MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Your motives are "good"—but one cannot accomplish good with evil acts. I advise you to forget this scheme. It is morally wrong.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were discussing a letter we had read in your column. It was from a woman who complained because when she and her children said "grace" at the table and thanked God for their food, her husband said, "Don't thank God—thank me. I'm the one who earned the money to put the food on this table!" We joked about it and forgot the incident. But our 5-year-old son didn't forget. At dinner when he said the

Need For More Nurses Is Evident

Although Pitt County is far better off than a good many counties of the state when it comes to the shortage of nurses, statistics in a recent study by the Board of Higher Education show that Pitt is lagging behind the state as a whole and behind some of its neighboring counties in the ratio of nurses to population.

It is a situation which should not go unnoticed by local citizens. It is one toward which active effort must be directed in order to effect a change.

The report said North Carolina will face an acute shortage of nurses by 1975 unless action is taken to improve the quality of nursing education in the state. It also pointed out that although North Carolina's number of active registered nurses per 100,000 population rose from 236 in 1963 to 260 in 1966, it was still considerably below the 1964 national average of 306 registered nurses per 100,000 population.

Real Growth In N. C. Economy

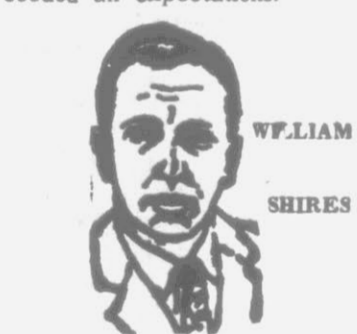

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — There was a bright note in a statewide economic report issued last week citing "evidence of real growth in the economy" during last month.

The report is that issued each month by Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., based on the analysis and views of its economists and measured on an index which includes numerous factors bearing on overall economic activity.

In February, this index rose to an all-time high of 177.1. The base figure, 100, is for a period of 10 years ago, 1957-59. In January, a month during which the state's economy was affected by severe wintry weather, the index was 173.4 and this, according to the economists, indicated a lull.

Last month, however, the economy spurred again. Indicators showed a pickup in the rate of business and personal spending. Non-farm employment rose again. Unemployment was as low as in any February since 1948.

Exceeds Expectations
Coffers of the state Democratic party are overflowing with proceeds from the recent Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner which chairman I. T. (Tim) Valentine Jr. says exceeded all expectations.

WILLIAM SHIRES

Final tabulations apparently will exceed $60,000 for the $50 a plate event. Officials earlier estimated from $50,000 to $55,000.

At least 12 county organizations exceeded quotas set by state party officials in sale of J-J tickets. Forty-six at least met their quotas.

In his report, Valentine said $54,000 already has been turned in with more than a dozen counties yet to be heard from. He said J-J attendance was "far in excess" of that of previous years.

Freeman Running
An ocean fishing pier owned er and operator, Shelby Freeman of Atlantic Beach, has filed as a legislative candidate from Carteret County with a platform of beach beautification and conservation of fisheries resources.

Freeman owns and operates the Iron Steamer pier on Bogue Banks.

He is a Republican and is opposed, but Carteret County has sent Republican representatives to the legislature in recent years.

He says he would "hope to be instrumental in shaping needed legislation that would be of substantial benefit to our county, such as more effective laws leading with those who litter our roadsides and beaches. . . ."

"More attention should be given to the economic aspects of recreational and marine resources.

"We need more emphasis placed on fish farming, protection of nursery and spawning areas, clarification of seasons and size limits in order that our small commercial fishermen might prosper again. This would also help in attracting the recreational fisherman to our area," Freeman said.

Freeman is an officer and director of the N. C. Salt Water Sports Fishing Association which is now suing the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development on the issue of C&D's arbitrary suspending of regulations limiting catch and landing of small, ungraded food fish during the trawling season, Nov. 1-April 1.

Loses License
Sen. Hector McGeachy of Fayetteville, a leading contender for president pro tem of the Senate in 1968, is walking these days but had a keen appreciation of Highway Patrol enforcement.

McGeachy surrendered his drivers license for 30 days after being arrested for speeding in the Fayetteville area. He is a lawyer. Instead of contesting the citation, McGeachy surrendered his license and wrote a letter of commendation to the Department of Motor Vehicle praising the trooper who clocked him exceeding the posted speed limit.

"I just wasn't looking at the speedometer," McGeachy says.

The disturbing fact so far as Pitt County is concerned is that this county's ratio of nurses to population is still below what the state-wide figure was in 1963, further below the state-wide figure last year and even further below the nation's ratio of four years ago.

According to statistics included in the report, Pitt County had 144 active registered nurses which was the equivalent of 203 per 100,000 population. This was 57 below the state-wide ratio of 260 nurses per 100,000 population.

Perhaps more disturbing is the fact that Pitt ranked below all of the comparable neighboring counties in this vital ratio. Wilson County, for example, had a ratio of 343 active registered nurses per 100,000 population, comfortably above both the state and national averages; Nash County showed a ratio of 300 active registered nurses per 100,000 population; Wayne County 252, and Lenoir County 236.

Of the 100 counties in North Carolina, 32 have a higher ratio of active registered nurses to population than does Pitt. And of the 14 counties in the state with larger populations than Pitt, only four have a lower ratio of nurses to population.

The state-wide need for nurses in the next decade should be a matter of concern for Pitt County citizens. Of more urgent local public concern, however, must be the relative position of Pitt County now, compared with other counties in the state and in this area.

If Pitt is to achieve its goal of becoming a medical center for a broad section of North Carolina, it must have sufficient nurses and other paramedical people as well as physicians.

Quiet About-Face By The N. C. Governor

For a governor who came into office less than four years ago saying the state didn't need an airplane to carry out its normal functions, Gov. Moore is singing quite a different tune these days.

Just last week at Ahoskie, Gov. Moore told a crowd at the dedication of the new Tri-County airport that airports, once considered a luxury, are now an important factor in determining the location of future industries in North Carolina.

Reading between the lines, we'd guess Gov. Moore has come to the same conclusion about state-owned planes which might fly industrial executives into those airports.

East Germany Put On A Spot

By HUBERT J. ERB
BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communist government stands to lose more than any other East bloc regime in the liberalization drive sweeping Czechoslovakia.

East Germany's awareness of its dilemma is reflected in the open discord that has erupted between it and the Czech government, unprecedented in Communist bloc relations.

Czech Foreign Minister Vaclav David summoned East Germany's ambassador to relay Prague's objections to a speech by Kurt Hager, a member of the East German party's politburo.

Hager had publicly criticized Prague's drive for "socialistic democratization" as playing into the hands of West German attempts to split the Communist camp.

When Romania took up relations with the East Germans, there had been a similar East German outburst, but nothing like this.

In 20 years in power, the East German government, headed by Walter Ulbricht, has developed full diplomatic relations only with fellow Communist governments. Since the Berlin wall went up in 1961, east Germans have been able to go to the West only by risking the gunfire of border guards.

The East German Communists have staked their political life on absolute solidarity with the Soviet Union. Their economy remains rigidly tied to the Soviet scheme of things. Czechoslovakia, as East Germany's immediate southern German system much more than Romania, which is much further away.

Should the Czechs for example, gain a real measure of economic independence that would speed their development, the contrast between Eastern and Western orientation for the East German population would become sharper than ever.

Although the East Germans have the highest living standard in the bloc, they are continually reminded of their shortcomings by comparison to their fellow Germans to the west.

Should the Czechs allow their people liberal travel in the West, East Germans—especially the young—inevitably would ask, "Why can't we go, too?"

If the Czechs were to establish diplomatic relations with West Germany, following the lead of Romania and would find itself directly flanked. The road to Hungary and Bulgaria would be made considerably easier for West Germany.

East Berlin informants say the East German - Czech found, dramatic as it is, apparently is the top of an iceberg of difficult inner bloc relations that has been there for some time.

An example is what is called the East German "300 per cent" attitude: militantly pro-Soviet and violently anti-Western at a time when

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
REASONS FOR PRAYER
Why do we pray?

There are probably as many different reasons for prayer as there are people in the world. Usually we think of prayer as petition, asking God for something, and certainly petition is a valid element in prayer. In fact, the Bible seems to indicate that God is often disappointed with us not because we ask Him for so many things but because we do not ask Him for many more. He is more willing to give than we are to ask or to receive.

Prayer is also praise. Prayer is thanksgiving, and we should never end a prayer without an earnest expression of thanks to God for his mercy and blessing. Prayer involves confession of sin and the request for forgiveness.

In prayer we open our hearts to God and ask Him to possess us.

But the element of refreshment is often overlooked as we consider the matter of prayer. Just to spend some time every day looking up to God, talking to Him, having Him lay his hand upon us, is an experience that carries with it full and ample reward. We go into a season of prayer and when we emerge from it we feel better—or at least we should feel better. We are uplifted. We feel a sense of having been rescued from something, particularly from ourselves. The encumbrance of sin is not so strong as it has been.

Life fully lived means the triumph of spirit over flesh, of eternity over time. Prayer is a divinely-given opportunity for bigger and better living.

Wife-Spanking Grounds

WASHINGTON — I rarely take an interest in a divorce story, but last week I was intrigued by Actress Dyan Cannon's divorce suit against movie actor Cary Grant. In the course of the testimony, Mrs. Grant charged that her husband spanked her. But Mr. Grant's lawyer defended the actor by stating his client had only spanked his wife for "reasonable and adequate causes."

My mind boggled when I read this and I immediately called my lawyer and asked him what was legally considered a "reasonable and adequate cause" for spanking one's wife.

My lawyer, one of the great legal minds of this country, said: "This is the seventh call I've gotten today. I didn't realize Cary Grant had such an ardent following."

"Well, each state provides 'reasonable and adequate' causes for spanking a wife but there are also general standards which are accepted in all 50 states."

"Could you give me some examples?"

"First, you must prove provocation beyond a shadow of a doubt. For example, if your wife interrupts you while you're telling a joke in mixed company, you, of course, have a right to spank her."

"Is nagging sufficient cause?"

"Not nagging per se, but if she keeps repeating herself over and over again, you can swat her."

"What if she's constantly late?"

"That goes under the heading of chronic tardiness. Tardiness was upheld in the Conrad vs. Conrad divorce case of 1954. If you recall, Mrs. Conrad was always late when they were going out to dinner. So one night Conrad let her have it."

"Mrs. Conrad sued for cruelty, but lost."

"Because the judge said it was okay for Mr. Conrad to have spanked her?" I asked.

"No, because Mrs. Conrad showed up too late for the trial."

My lawyer said there were many mitigating circumstances for padding your wife. One of the most serious was if she showed willful disregard for times when you were trying to sleep and she wanted to talk.

He added: "When you discuss spanking your wife, you must always keep in mind three guidelines: one is motive, two is intent, and three is desire. What was her motive in bugging you? How long did she intend to pursue it? And when did you desire to strike back?"

"Another thing to keep in mind is how you commit the assault. In the case of Cary Grant, the testimony related he grinned when he spanked his wife. Now this was a wise thing. If you always grin when you strike your wife,

Urgent Policy Plight

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

AMMAN, Jordan — Nothing shows up the desperate condition of U. S. policy in the Middle East so well as Washington's utter inability to control or even influence the policy of Israel, its number one ally here.

The fact that Israel was mobilizing for a strike across the Jordan River on March 21 was clearly established as early as March 17. U. S. diplomacy swung into action in Washington, at the United Nations, and from the U. S. Embassy in Tel Aviv. The U. S. message: an attack into Jordan would tighten the noose on the UN's already failing peace mission; it would infuriate and further arouse hatred of Israel throughout the Arab world; it would be counter-productive; instead of stopping the raids into Israeli-occupied Jordan by Arab guerrillas and terrorists, it would predictably increase both their numbers and their violence.

The net result of this secret U. S. campaign to influence its closest friend in the Middle East was zero.

In effect, the Israeli government, pleading the right to protect its interests, thumbed its nose at Washington and the March 21 attack was launched as planned. And now one ironical result of the raid is an immediate, intense increase in anti-American passions here in Jordan, particularly among the rapidly growing zealots who make up the terrorist groups, or Fedayen.

The day after the Israeli assault we were able to make contact with one leader of the Fedayen in the now smashed and abandoned refugee camp of Al Karameh, the target of the Israeli attack. In a quiet voice that trembled with emotion, he pointed to the devastation all around him and said that Israel had done this and that behind Israel stood the United States.

Again and again in conversations with lesser members of various Fedayen outfits this anti-U. S. note was struck. And when the question was asked—but isn't President Johnson about to send Jordan tanks, super-sonic aircraft, and other arms to defend against future Israeli reprisals?—the answer invariably was scornful. Said one, "Johnson sends us the dregs," and another, spitting on the ground, said, "Tell Johnson I do not learn English for him."

A handful of Fedayen terrorists don't make Arab world opinion. Nevertheless, it is a sad fact of U. S. diplomacy that even here in Jordan an intense emotion is now building up that makes President Johnson's Middle East dilemma ever more difficult and insoluble.

But while Israel's refusal to heed U. S. appeals, progressively reduces U. S. bargaining counters in the Middle East, closing off possible avenues of political settlement, the bargaining counters in Moscow's pile progressively grow larger and more potent.

No where is this so true as in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egypt where Moscow's soft diplomacy is making spectacular headway and helping to give the Soviets an influence in the Middle East.

Other Editors Saying Cooperation Needed

(Galveston, Tex. News)
Some churches and other groups expect newspaper reporters to write their news and handle their public relations for them.

"Texas Methodist," a statewide publication, has just come out with an article entitled "Churches Can Use Newspaper To Tell Stories" we wish everyone connected with church public relations — and other organizations seeking publicity — would read. We can't resist reprinting some of the main points of the article here:

"A news story is just the opposite from a sermon. A sermon begins with many details, moves to a secondary interest and finally builds to a climax. News stories start with the climax, proceed to the secondary and finally unravel with the details. Any news story must include the six essential questions: Who, what, when, where, why and how. This simple six question detail will answer all the questions and give all the facts.

"The first two paragraphs are the most important of the whole release. Get the main idea of the story in the first two paragraphs. Bring in new ideas and facts in succeeding paragraphs. Avoid wordiness and excessive length. Limit story to one page or less if possible and never over two pages.

Dollar's Status To Affect Role

By ELMER ROESSNER
The long shadow of Charles de Gaulle will spread over American business and politics in April. De Gaulle's attempt to bleed the dollar will influence most actions in Congress and most decisions in the market place.

Nothing will be done about the taxes, the budget, investments abroad or even proposed restrictions on travel without sidelong glances at how any action will affect the stability of the dollar or, for that matter, whether it will uncork more disturbing bubbles by Le Grande Charles.

For instance, Congress is reluctant to raise taxes this election year. Yet if it does not, the dollar may be weakened still further, De Gaulle may step up his attacks, and we may be one step nearer devaluation.

Congress may have to insist on cuts in domestic spending to prevent the weakening of the dollar; it may have to apply brakes on spending for the Great Society, and it may be persuaded to de-escalate the war in Vietnam. In fact, that last objective may be the basic driving force behind De Gaulle's sourness toward the United States. Ho Chi Minh drove De Gaulle out of Indo-China; De Gaulle may partly save face—and what a face! — if the Americans are also driven out.

ELMER ROESSNER

Back in the 1940s this column warned that the auto industry should consider producing small cars because if they didn't, small foreign cars would flood the country. Many Americans require small cars, it warned. It wasn't until imports became a flood that U. S. auto makers acted.

Small American autos have been getting larger and the imports are again pouring in. Last year 773,000 were imported; so far this year imports are selling at an annual rate of a million.

So in the month ahead, look for the auto industry to demand protection and to shout from the housetops that foreign cars can be responsible for $1 billion of the gold drain. Some makers may shave prices on their own small cars and may even consider producing smaller ones.

Sweden, which has denounced American policy in Vietnam and offered haven for American deserters, as now released practically all Swedish products for export to communist countries. This may rev up the unorganized, voluntary boycott of Swedish products in the U. S.

Common Market farmers, no less than ours, are unhappy about milk prices and are demonstrating for government action. This may take the form of restricting U. S. imports of soybean oil, which is used in margarine and milk substitutes.

Expect the railroads to step up their campaign for higher freight rates in April. The last rise was in August, eight months ago. Since then, railroads say, wages have gone up and other costs are higher.

You'll hear a lot next month about still another method of desalting water. It was developed by Aluminum Co. of America and is claimed to cost only a third or half as much as other desalting systems, and to utilize waste industrial heat. The system is largely of aluminum construction.

ACTIVITIES DURING TWIRP WEEK . . . at Winterville High School included Blue Monday, Turnabout Tuesday, Wild Wednesday, and Fabulous Friday.

The State Of Affairs At Winterville High

By TED A. MINTON

The happenings of the past week will surely be remembered by everyone here at Winterville High School for a long time to come. The week gave everyone a chance to break the monotony of the everyday procedure and turn topsy-turvy the conventional methods of normal school proceedings. The Student Council sponsored the event and labeled it "Twirp Week." There was nothing to celebrate; the idea was invented to give the students a break. Each day the student body was allowed certain privileges.

Twirp Week

Monday was known as "Blue Monday." On this day the students wore old worn-out clothes and were quite a sloppy looking bunch. Then came "Turnabout Tuesday." The students taught class and the teachers became victims of their own medicine.

On "Wild Wednesday," mod clothes and crazy hats made the scene. Each person wore hi, or her own version of hat. Most were homemade and were quite outstanding. On Thursday things looked a little better. The boys wore suits and ties and the girls wore their Sunday best. This sure was a drastic change from the rags of "Blue Monday." Then there was "Fabulous Friday." On this day a picnic lunch was held on the lawn in front of the school and everyone was allowed to wear Bermuda shorts. Friday night brought the end to "Twirp Week" with a dance in the gym. The music was furnished by "The Wreck of the Old 97." This sounds like there was nothing but fun and games at Winterville High last week but despite "Twirp Week" things went as usual, as far as class work was concerned.

Dedication

The long-awaited 1968 year-books have arrived and were given out today. The many months of work spent on them by the Searchlight staff has paid off because many have agreed that this year's book is the best one in the history of the school.

To have such a worthy book bear the school's name there must be a worthy person who deserves its dedication. Someone whose deeds have had lasting effect upon the school.

This person is Tom Tyson, the janitor. Tyson has held this position since 1946 and has missed very few days during this period of twenty-two years. The annual staff, faculty, and student body commend you, Tom, on a job well done.

CAP Cadets To Meet Tuesday

The cadets of the Greenville Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in New Austin Building ROTC section.

AFROTC Cadet Capt. Don Holloman will conduct the class program.

USAF Lt. Ira Witham, commandant of cadets, urged all cadets to be present.

"Are there any other legal reasons for spanking your wife?"

"Failure to report telephone messages could be one. If she relates a confidence to a friend, you have just cause. The most serious, though, and one no judge in the land would rule against is if she forgets to put gas in the car."

"If you're in doubt," I asked, "is it better to strike her or to check first to see if you have legitimate grounds?"

"This question comes up all the time. We usually go by the Linseed vs. Linseed ruling of 1949 in which the judge ruled that the reason for spanking your wife is not as important as when you do it."

"I don't understand."

"The judge, in his historic Linseed decision, said that a wife must only be spanked reasonably close to the act of disobedience. Otherwise, she will not relate the spanking to the disobedient act. Also, the spanking must be swift, but not harsh, and you may never leave any marks. Above all else, you must smile while you're doing it."

The Soviets are penetrating Egypt without public announcement. The ports of Alexandria and Port Said are fully equipped as bases for the Soviet Mediterranean fleet of 53 warships (including 10 submarines). But they aren't called Soviet bases and they fly no Soviet flag.

Almost all the Egyptian equipment lost in the six-day war with Israel has now been replaced, and Soviet military officers (an estimated 1,000 military advisers are in Egypt) have tremendous influence over Egypt's army and air force, sometimes—so Western experts claim—even countersigning orders.

Hasn't Answers To All Problems

SPINDALE, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott says he does not have answers to all of North Carolina's problems, but if he is elected governor he will work hard to give strong leadership in seeking solutions.

The Democratic candidate also said in a weekend campaign trip through Rutherford County, "I will cater to a special interest group—the people of North Carolina."

Powell Speaking At Duke Univ.

DURHAM (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell, deposed Harlem congressman, will speak at Duke University tonight.

The Duke Student Union Committee had no problem getting permission for the appearance of Powell, who recently has called upon Negroes to become more militant. The university trustees executive committee reaffirmed the long-standing practice of permitting legitimate student organizations to invite speakers of their choice.

The ones who are most concerned with the German problem, however, are the Germans here in East Berlin."

Agent Slain In Bootleg Raid

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—State liquor agent Garnett E. Dabney, 48, was shot to death in a raid on a country grocery store whose proprietor was suspected of illegally selling beer on Sunday.

York County Sheriff Grover Noe said he is placing a murder charge against Walker Hinson, about 50, proprietor of the Farmer Market about five miles north of Rock Hill on the Indian Head Road.

Agent Audrey Bodyford of Columbia was hospitalized with two pistol wounds. Chief Agent L. J. Armstrong of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and agent Furman Shorter, from Columbia, also were on the raid.

Noe gave this account: The agents said they found Hinson making Sunday sales of beer. When he declined to post $148 bond, they began taking out 26 cases of beer for confiscation.

After about six cases were removed, pistol fire broke out while only Dabney and Bodyford were in the store. Dabney was hit three times.

Armstrong said Hinson then ordered him and Shorter to return the beer that had been carried out. Armstrong said he pleaded with Hinson to let them get the wounded men to a hospital as they began carrying the beer back in, and Hinson finally agreed.

Noe said he and his officers later arrested Hinson.

Sees Increasing Risk With China

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — China expert Edgar Snow says as long as the United States protects Taiwan and American troops remain in Vietnam and South Korea there will be increasing danger of war with Red China.

He spoke Sunday night to the Carolina Symposium at the University of North Carolina.

So far, Snow added, no U.S. administration "has made a serious effort to rectify the grandiose miscalculated strategy which led the United States into a dead end in our relations with China and then led on to fateful Vietnam disaster."

At Least 13 Die On N.C. Highways During Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 13 persons died in North Carolina traffic accidents over the weekend, including a co-ed at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Dianne Joyce Newman, 22, of Greensboro.

The toll for the year rose to 583, or 43 more than in the first three months of last year.

Miss Newman's car ran off N.C. 54 about 10 miles west of Chapel Hill and hit a bridge abutment.

Two young men were killed when their car skidded 566 feet, missed a bridge over Interstate 85, and plunged 20 feet down a bank onto the northbound lane of the superhighway near Norlina. They were Willie Baker Hall, 19, of Norlina and Stanley Lee Durham, 22, of Manson. Norlina and Manson are near Henderson.

Joyce Ann Miller, 17, of Fleetwood in Ashe County was fatally injured when her car overturned down a bank on U.S. 221 about 11 miles south of West Jefferson.

Wilbert Lee Richmond, 39, of Windsor in Bertie County died in an accident on U.S. 17 two miles north of Windsor. The Highway Patrol reported his car struck another vehicle in the rear and sideswiped a third.

Willie Brown Spillman of Yadkinville was fatally injured in Winston-Salem. Her car hit a concrete sign post on a median strip.

Richard Locklear Jr., 18, perished when a car in which he was riding overturned eight miles east of Maxton in Robeson County.

A similar accident two miles north of Reidsville was fatal to Nannie Reece, 26, of Rt. 1, Reidsville.

Mark Christopher Owens, 8, was killed when an auto hit his bicycle near his home at Rutherfordton.

Lawrence Roy Donahue, 29, of Indian Trail in Union County died after his car overturned a mile north of Monroe.

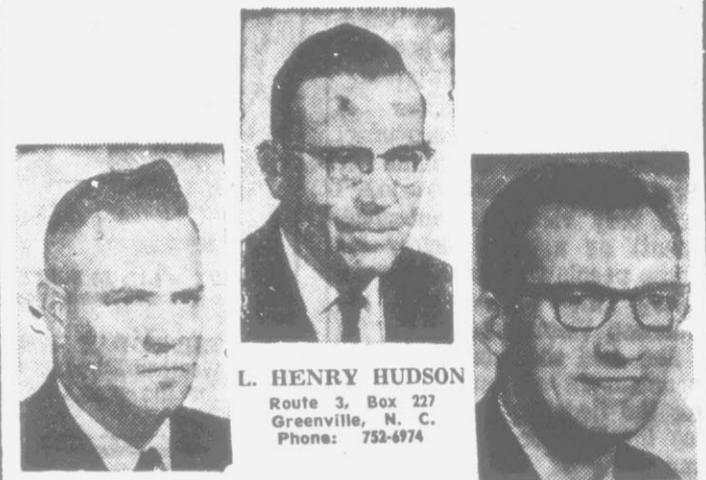

Alexander Kelly, 53, of Hamlet, died when his car stalled on a railroad crossing and was hit by a train. The accident happened a mile north of Hoffman in Richmond County.

Three-year-old Cloteus James Lowe was struck and killed by a car near his home a mile east of Carthage.

James E. Phillips Jr., 41, of Denver, Colo., was killed on Interstate 85 near Lexington. His car hit a bridge railing.

April Fool's Day---From Noah, Or Charles IX?

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMAS
AP Newsfeatures
"The first of April, some do say
"Is Set Apart for All Fools' Day;
"But why the people want it so
"Nor I, nor they themselves do know;

"But on this day are people sent
"On purposes for pure merriment."
Poor Richard's Almanac
For unknown centuries, the first of April, until noon, has been consecrated to practical jokers.

Explanations of the day's origin and real purpose are much disputed.
Some people claim it's all Noah's fault. They reason that, having spent much time in the Ark, he was anxiously waiting for the flood to subside. When he thought that had finally happened, he opened the window and sent out the dove. But it was a fool's errand. Unable to find any land, the bird returned to the boat.
The trip took place on a Hebrew date which is said to correspond to April 1. Ever since, this day has been appointed as All Fools' Day, the all being a corruption of the word "auld." Some fundamentalists believe that the day is a reminder of the unfortunate circumstances of Noah's time and that it perpetuates the memory of man's deliverance from the flood.

Other historians state that April Fools' Day is a relic of the festivities associated with the vernal equinox, the time when the sun moving northward crosses the celestial equator. The date, which occurs on or about March 21, signals the beginning of spring and the rebirth of nature. Laughter and joy marked the universal celebrations held from March 25, Old New Year's Day, until April 1. In ancient India, on the last day of the feast of Huli (March 31) held to cement the spring solstice, unsuspecting persons were sent on silly errands.
The most popular attribution for April 1 dates back to 16th century France and involves a combination of New Year's festivities, a change of calendars, and some people's forgetfulness. It had been an old Roman custom, later adopted by other European nations, to visit friends on the New Year and take them gifts. New Year's then fell on March 25, but the fact that this date frequently coincided with Easter Week caused the merriment to be postponed until April 1.

In 1564, Charles IX of France adopted the Gregorian calendar, which set January 1 as New Year's Day instead of April 1. Since news of the calendar change traveled slowly, many Frenchmen continued to observe the holiday in the spring. Eventually this evolved into a joke.
The French had a name for the dullards who hadn't noticed times had changed—an poisson d'Avril, or April Fish. The name referred to the old French legend which claimed that in the spring there is an increase in the number of young fish in the streams, who were more easily hooked than the wiser, older fish.
Because April Fools' Day in France was a well-known joke, many Frenchmen hesitated to begin anything on that day. This didn't faze Napoleon, who married his second wife on April 1, 1810.
The holiday was also used to advantage by the Duke and Duchess of Lorraine. Prisoners at Nantez, they dressed up as peasants and passed through the prison gates. When informers told the guards their prisoners were escaping, the guards laughed it off as an April Fools' joke. By the time the superintendent of the guards decided to investigate, the prisoners had made good their escape.

April Fools' Day didn't come to the conservative English and to the conservative English and ultimately to America until the middle of the 18th century, when the English adopted the new calendar and with it All Fools' Day. The holiday went over particularly well with the Scottish people, who call April fools "April gowks" or "cuckoos."
Appopular joke in Scotland involved sending a victim with a message to another jester, who dispatched the messenger still further. Each prankster denied he is the person being sought until the rube caught on to the scheme or was informed of the wild goose chase.

Although the English were "Johnny Come Lately" to April 1 pranks, they are credited with falling for the most notorious joke in April Fools' Day history. In 1860, many Londoners received a formal invitation to the Tower of London. The invitation read in part: "Admit Bear and Friend to the Yearly Washing of the White Lions. Admitted only at White Gate. It is particularly requested that no gratuities be given to the Warders." Hundreds turned out and carriages drove round and round futilely looking for the ceremony.

LBJ Action Shocks N.C. Political Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Surprise and shock was the first reaction of North Carolina political leaders to President Johnson's announcement that he would not seek reelection.

Gov. Dan Moore said: "I think the President showed that the United States is sincere in its desire for peace and showed his patriotism and his desire to unite the Democratic party. The announcement that he would not seek reelection was a surprise to many. I would rather wait before commenting on the political situation."

"I'm flabbergasted," said State Democratic Chairman Tim Valentine Jr. "Beyond that, I don't have any comment. Perhaps I will have some later."

"I'm so surprised that I haven't been able to collect my wits," said Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. "It was a bolt out of the blue."

"I had no inkling," said Sen. B. Everett Jordan, also a Democrat. "I am surprised, about as bad as you can be surprised."

Mrs. Richard Glasser of Chapel Hill, a co-chairman of a North Carolina committee for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, said, "I can only view (the announcement) as a great victory for those people who have been denying the efficacy of the Johnson Vietnam policy."

She said she thought the announcement will make it easier for the fledgling group supporting the Democratic presidential candidacy of McCarthy to establish chapters throughout the state.

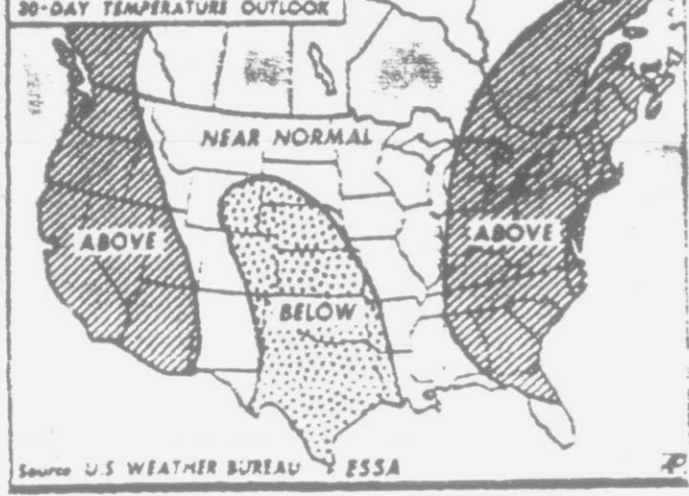

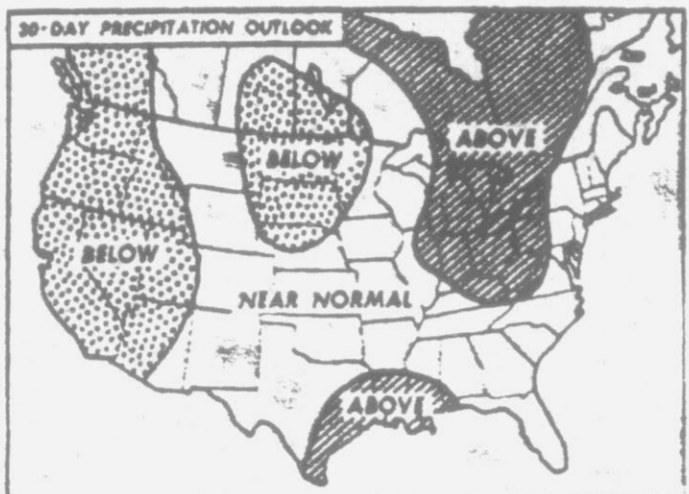

James G. White, a 5th District candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, said, "It's a complete surprise. I take it he made the decision for personal reasons. He may have realized that possibly by not running he can accomplish some things in this term that he might not otherwise have achieved."

Another Democratic candidate for Congress in the 5th District, Smith Bagley, said, "It's a shocker. It throws a completely new perspective on the 1968 election, and I have not had time to analyze the meaning of the President's decision."

Prof. Alden Lind, chairman of the North Carolina Citizens for McCarthy Committee, said it was possible the President's announcement was a maneuver to

Senators Rack Up 11-Game Exhibition Sweep

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer The National League has parted company with the Washington Senators. It's the best thing that's happened to the National League all spring. Washington pushed over an unearned run in the eighth inning Sunday and edged the Houston Astros 3-2, completing an 11-game exhibition sweep over National League opposition.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's All-star third baseman, was hit below the left ear by a Steve Blass pitch in the fifth inning of Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over the Orioles. Robinson, who was wearing an ear flap on his batting helmet, escaped serious injury but will miss tonight's game against the Senators. Cincinnati pounded the New York Yankees 8-2, scoring seven runs off Mel Stottlemyre in the first three innings. Mel Queen, who blanked New York on two hits through five frames, was the winner.

Tommy Davis' three-run homer and the shutout pitching of Bob Priddy, Bob Locker, Wilbur Wood and Don McMahon led the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia, ending the Phils' winning streak at five games. Detroit, Minnesota and California won extra innings struggles. The Tigers nipped St. Louis 6-5 in 12 innings, Wayne Comer delivering the tie-breaking run with a pinch double. Mickey Stanley hit a three-run homer and Willie Horton a solo blast for the winners. Rod Carew's 12th-inning homer gave the Twins a 3-2 nod over Boston. Elston Howard drove in the Red Sox runs with a single and homer.

The Angels spotted Cleveland two runs in the top of the 11th, then rallied in the bottom of the inning for a 6-5 victory on runner-scoring singles by Jay Johnstone, Rick Reichardt and Chuck Hinton. Los Angeles clipped Ron Herbel for six runs in the first three innings and held off San Francisco 9-7 despite homers by the Giants' Willie McCovey and Jackie Hiatt. Atlanta rookie Ron Reed scattered four hits through seven innings and reliever Claude Raymond completed a seven-hit, 2-0 victory for the Braves over the New York Mets, who have been blanked twice in a row and six times.

The Indians' B squad peppered Ken Holtzman for six runs in five innings and ripped the Chicago Cubs 9-2 while the White Sox Bs edged Oakland 4-3 on Rich Severson's RBI single in the 10th inning.

Wants All Of Indiana Swimmers In Olympics

By LARRY ELDRIDGE Associated Press Sports Writer HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Indiana coach Doc Counsilman knows his newly-crowned NCAA swimming champions can't make the Olympics en masse, but he wants them all to try. "I'm not going to single out Olympic prospects," Counsilman said after his charged-up Hoosiers ended long years of frustration by making a run-away of the 1968 NCAA meet. "We want every boy to train for the trials as long as he has the slightest ghost of a chance — and we think everyone on the team has that," added the veteran mentor who coached the U.S. Olympic team to its smashing success in 1964. One Hoosier ace whose chances seem more corporeal than spectral has to be Charlie Hickcox, the meet's individual star with three record-breaking victories. The 21-year-old junior from Phoenix, Ariz., lowered American standards with a 1:52.5 clocking in the 200-yard individual medley and a .52.1 in defending his 100-yard backstroke crown, then erased his own NCAA and meet marks with a 1:54.6 effort to retain the 200-yard backstroke title.

The feats of Hickcox and his teammates dominated over-all competition in the three-day meet at Dartmouth college, but UCLA's Mike Burton turned in the biggest single highlight with a historic smashing of the 16-minute barrier in the 1,650-yard freestyle. The 5-foot-9 "Mighty Mite" churned to a 15:59.4 clocking on Saturday's closing night. The feat, comparable to the sub four minute mile in track eased his own record of 16:06 set a year ago. The big story of the meet, though, had to be the victory of the long-thwarted Hoosiers, who had won just about every other honor in Counsilman's 10 years at the helm only to miss out on the top prize. For three years (1961-63) a football probation prevented Indiana from competing, then the Hoosiers finished second by heartbreaking margins the next three years and third in 1967. This year, however, they left no doubts. Led by Hickcox, Captain Bill Utley and a group of divers, the Hoosiers piled up 346 points. Yale had 253, Southern California 231 and defending champion Stanford 205, with the rest of the field far behind.

Quiet Britisher Defeats Palmer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Not since Ted Ray took the U.S. Open in 1920 had an English golfer won a major American tournament. Then along came Tony Jacklin, quietly happy Tony Jacklin. A golfer with ice water in the veins—the kind that wins and wins and becomes great. At the age of 23, Jacklin is a winner with every promise of joining the ranks of the great—Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Ben Hogan, but with no idea of patterning himself after any one of them. He said he was nervous, but he never showed it as he faced down Palmer in the final round of the greater Jacksonville Open Sunday. He admitted he utilized "Arnie's Army" as his own battery-charger to a 15-under-par 273 and the $20,000 first money. It was the first time a golfer from England had ever won on the Professional Golfers Association tour. Even before Jacklin hit the jackpot, Player was calling him potentially the greatest English golfer since Henry Cotton and the man most likely to be his nation's next sports hero. Palmer had dropped out of contention early after starting the day one stroke back of Jacklin. Doug Sanders, who couldn't match his golf strokes to his fire-engine-red wardrobe, faded after holding at least a share of the lead through three rounds. Sanders' 73, with the help of a 40-foot finishing putt, tied him for second at 275 with Don January, Gardner Dickinson, Chi Chi Rodriguez and DeWitt Weaver Jr. Each collected $6,520. Palmer was at 276 and Jack Nicklaus, never a contender throughout the 72-hole event, finished 23rd at 280.

C. Yarborough Wins In Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Cale Yarborough is on top of the racing world right now with two big victories and $70,000 in winnings this year. But the onetime Soapbox Derby kid says his fight to get to the top hasn't been easy. "Lots of times I felt it wasn't worth it and decided to quit," the 29-year-old racing veteran from Timmonsville, S.C., said after winning the Atlanta 500 Sunday. "But then I'd sleep on it and decide I was just as good as those other guys, and go back at it." Yarborough's perseverance has paid off and the hard-driving blond is in position to become the biggest money winner ever in one year. He needs about $60,000 to break the record set by Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C. "I don't know if I can break it, but I've got a real good start," said Yarborough, who averaged 125 miles an hour in winning the 500-mile Atlanta race worth $20,050. It was his second straight Atlanta title. Yarborough won a duel with another 1968 Mercury driver, Lee Roy Yarborough of Columbia, S.C. They also finished 1-2 at the Daytona 500 a month ago.

International Basketball Rules A Hurdle For U.S.

By PAUL PETROTTA Associated Press Sports Writer INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Adapting to international rules remains the biggest hurdle U.S. Olympic basketball candidates must overcome, according to Coach Henry Iba. "They have to be more aggressive on that board play," Iba said, "and they don't know how to foul for profit yet." Iba made his remarks Saturday after the West beat the East 95-88 in the annual college all-star game held this year in conjunction with the Olympic preliminaries. Both teams, along with the Central and College Division teams of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which also worked out here last week, went to Albuquerque, N.M., Sunday. The four squads, plus teams from the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the National Junior College Athletic Association and the Armed Forces, will practice today through Wednesday. They will play three games each in a round-robin competition in the Olympic selection tournament Thursday through Saturday. The Olympic team of 12 and six alternates is expected to be announced Sunday. Iba, who is supervising the Olympic workouts, said fouling for profit meant that if a guard saw a player ready to shoot, he should foul him before the shot. Under international rules, when a player is fouled before the shot, the ball is taken out of bounds. When the foul occurs in the act of shooting, two shots are awarded. In the all-star encounter, Purdue's Rick Mount teamed with Jo Jo White of Kansas late in the second half to lead the West to victory. Mount topped all scorers with 24 points. Pete Maravich of Louisiana State had 16 points and played an alert floor game for the East. He was named the game's top player.

NCEA Prepares For Convention

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Money, merger and methods of militancy will be considered by directors of the North Carolina Education Association (NCEA) at its 84th state convention Thursday through Saturday.

Major attention will be on a proposed statement on sanctions which NCEA president, Miss Helen Wells of Asheville says has been revised in the light of 36 area conferences. Sanctions are actions intended to rectify grievances.

Another primary item on the agenda will be the discussion of the timing of a merger of the NCEA with its Negro counterpart, the North Carolina Teachers Association (NCTA). NCEA is composed of 39,000 white teachers. A mandatory deadline of September 1969 has been set for the merger by the National Education Association.

Directors of the NCTA have voted to postpone the merger until the deadline, according to NCTA President Dr. Rudolph Jones of Fayetteville. Miss Wells says the NCEA is ready to merge now.

The NCEA delegates will hear proposals by the United Forces for Education (UFE) for a $6,000 - $12,000 salary range for teachers.

Harriman Again Tapped For Key Role, Finding Peace For Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, the sophisticated millionaire who held seven jobs under President Harry S. Truman and three under President John F. Kennedy, has been tapped for another presidential mission with a familiar goal: Peace.

Harriman is 76 years old and if North Vietnam's representatives show up at the negotiating table, as President Johnson expressed hope Sunday night they will, they are destined to deal with a U.S. diplomat of almost unparalleled experience.

Johnson said in his nationwide address that Harriman and Soviet Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be ready to go to Geneva "or any other suitable place—just as soon as Hanoi agrees to a conference."

Harriman currently is ambassador at large and has for some time been active in U.S. efforts to secure peace talks.

Harriman has journeyed around the world on similar missions since the Cold War began at the close of World War II.

The scion of one of America's great railroad families—he once ran the Union Pacific Railroad—Harriman first came to Washington when Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the White House, working in key domestic agencies.

But diplomacy seemed his real love and Roosevelt gave him some challenging posts—work on the Lend Lease program just before the war which often meant European flights through air combat zones, and ambassador to Moscow in 1943.

He held the Moscow job for three years, dealing with Premier Josef Stalin through the end of the war and the dawn of a new era—a world divided between Communism and non-Communism.

In April 1946, Truman named him ambassador to Great Britain but Harriman held that job only six months before the President called him home to be secretary of commerce in a nation undergoing postwar economic convulsions.

Two years later Harriman was back in Europe with the rank of ambassador, working to revitalize Europe through the Marshall Plan. Other missions under Truman included working with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and heading the Mutual Security Administration.

Proving himself more than a successful appointee, he later took advantage of the enforced idleness of the presidential years of Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower to run for and win the governorship of New York, serving a four-year term.

When Kennedy was elected, he quickly summoned Harriman to Washington as an ambassador-at-large and later in 1961 named him assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. In this post he did crucial work in Laos successfully aimed at preventing a major outbreak of hostilities there.

Eight months before his death, Kennedy made Harriman under secretary of state for political affairs.

Chased, Caught Suspect In Theft

Sheriff deputies arrested a New Jersey man Saturday night after a foot race across a field which ended with the participants in a water filled ditch. Sheriff Ralph Tyson said the deputies arrested Phillip Ray Austin, 24 year old Negro of 205 Magnolia Ave., Elizabeth, N. J. He was charged with speeding 70 miles per hour and presenting a fictitious drivers license. The sheriff said Austin will also be turned over to the FBI for interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

The deputies attempted to stop the car near Helens Cross Roads around 11:30 Saturday night. After a chase Austin jumped and ran across a field, officers reported. He fell into a ditch which contained about five feet of water and the deputies came in behind him. The officers then took Austin into custody.

Austin is being held in Pitt County Jail. The car reported stolen in Trenton, N. J. Feb. 25. Its owner was identified as N. E. Carney of Ralway, N. J.

Study Course In Pesticides

Pesticide use and application has become such a broad field that growers and pesticide applicator operators need to have a broad knowledge of their use, adaptation, purpose and precautions for safe use.

The Pitt Technical Institute has arranged a series of five night meetings to discuss with growers and users of pesticides that part of pesticide use for tobacco, corn, soybeans, and peanuts. This discussion will cover the use of herbicides, and insecticides designed to aid growers in controlling pests such as weeds, grasses, and insects affecting these crops.

The five meetings will be held in the new court room on the second floor of the Pitt County Courthouse Annex, on Tuesday and Thursday nights, at 7:30 - 9:30. Dates are April 18, 23, 25, and May 2.

Growers and operators interested in this series of meetings should contact the Pitt Technical Institute, Mr. Edgar Boyd, at telephone 756-3130, or the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Office, telephone 758-1196.

Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

Fertilizer injury to tobacco plant roots affects yield, value, stand, uniformity, earliness of growth, and cost of replanting. It is one of the most troublesome problems encountered in obtaining a stand of uniform plants in the field.

Nitrogen, potash and chlorine salts frequently "burn" the roots of the young tobacco plants when they are set to near fertilizer. As a result of this, irregular growth and maturity results causing cultivation, harvesting and curing to be more difficult.

To avoid fertilizer injury at transplanting time, be sure the roots of the tobacco plants are placed three or five inches from the fertilizer in the prepared bed.

Experiments and 'on-the-farm' tests have shown that this can be obtained by using hand placement in two bands seven to eight inches apart about two inches below the root of the plant, or by applying the fertilizer in one band deep. When the deep application is used the fertilizer should be applied three to five inches below the plant roots.

If you desire to use a split application of mixed fertilizer, be sure to apply the second application as soon as possible after transplanting. At the latest the second application should be applied within two weeks after transplanting.

Powell Calls For Youth Revolution

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Ousted Harlem congressman Adam Clayton Powell, says his No. 1 suggestion for curing national ills is "immediate and total withdrawal of all troops from Vietnam."

Beginning what he calls a series of national "saturation speeches," the Negro minister-politician also said the day of nonviolence in civil rights is over and that young whites and Negroes must join in a revolution.

Powell, in a speech here Sunday night, said, "I'm calling this evening for total revolution of the young people—black and white—against the sick society of America." He speaks this afternoon and tonight at Duke University in Durham, N.C.

Powell, mentioning racial deaths in the Watts area of Los Angeles, Detroit, Newark, and other cities, said, "Maybe these deaths are necessary for the beginning of the second Civil War—not white versus black, but the young people versus the establishment."

"ONE VARIETY OF CORN BEATS ALL OTHERS"

Mr. L. P. Stallings of Elizabeth City, N. C., said that he planted three different varieties of corn in 1967.

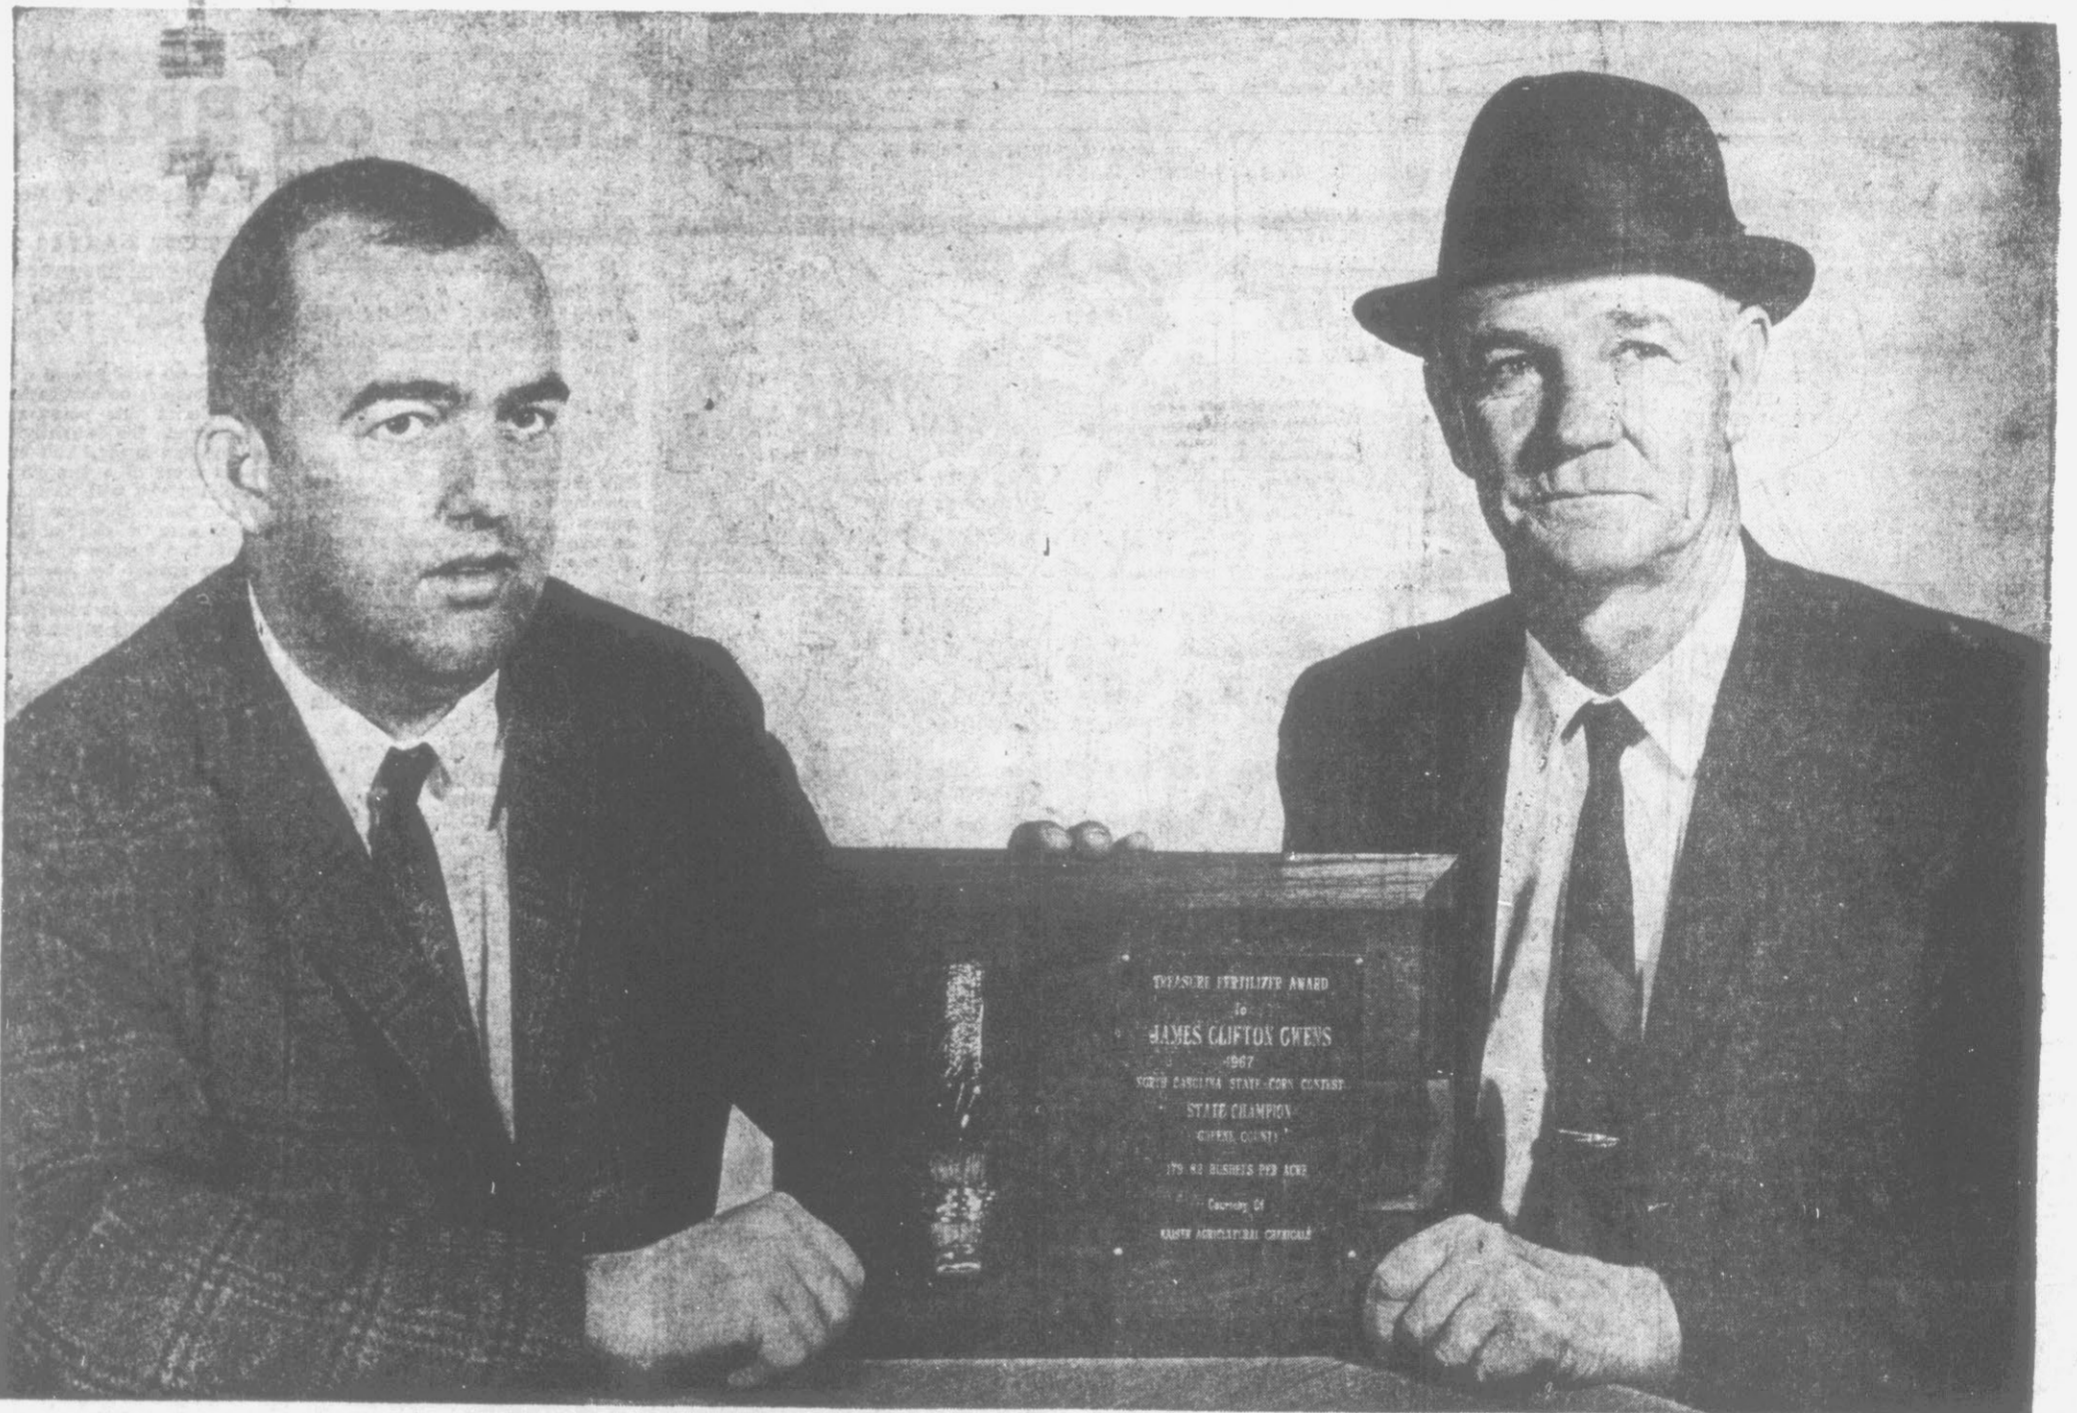

"I planted McNair X-202 right between two other varieties, and it out-yielded the others by a wide margin," Stallings said. "It picked mighty good," he continued, "and it was the only one of the three that was standing perfectly. I intend to plant more of my crop in McNair X-202 next year."

The most important decision you have to make in your corn program is which corn to plant. Be sure with McNair Hybrids. Ask your dealer for a catalog or write: McNair Seed Company, P. O. Box 706, Laurinburg, N. C. 28352.

North Carolina 1967 State Corn Growing Champion Used Low Fertilization Rate to Get Highest Yield

Clifton Owens, (right) Route 2, Stantonsburg, North Carolina, is shown receiving Treasure Fertilizer Awards Plaque from Ed Dennis of Kaiser Agricultural Chemicals.

TREASURE MIXED FERTILIZER WAS USED BY NORTH CAROLINA CORN GROWING CHAMPION, CLIFTON OWENS, TO MAKE WINNING YIELD OF 179.82 BUSHELS PER ACRE*

Clifton Owens' North Carolina State Contest winning yield should be of interest to all North Carolina farmers — not only because his yield was better than 103 bushels over the 1967 North Carolina average state yield, but because of the way he made it with the help of Treasure Fertilizer.

According to North Carolina State Corn

* Official yield as reported by the Plant Food Institute of North Carolina and Virginia, sponsors of the 1967 North Carolina State Corn Growing Contest.

Growing Contest officials, Owens used one of the lowest fertilization rates to make his crib-busting yield.

In making his record yield, Clifton Owens followed good cropping practices throughout. He prepared his 40 acre field in the usual way, applied 500 pounds of 5-10-10 Treasure mixed fertilizer at planting time, and 160 pounds of nitrogen as a side dresser. According to Owens his corn held up good and green all season long.

Here's proof positive that Treasure does make a difference. A difference in yield, and in the dollars and cents it takes to make a winning yield.

The Worry Clinic Peptic Ulcer Marks The Real Spark Plug

Bob's problem is shared by millions. Bosses and the people who shoulder responsibilities, are prone to develop Bob's complaint. But they are the real spark plugs of civilization, so society would benefit greatly if such victims were twice as numerous.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-531: Bob M., aged 24, is a worry wart. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I've been diagnosed as having a peptic ulcer."

"What causes such ulcers? Is it emotion? And thus psychological?"

"Or is it something such victims eat?"

"And does surgery cure stomach ulcers?"

Perhaps you are familiar with the psychological maxim: "It's not what you eat but what's eating you that causes ulcers!"

A peptic ulcer is an eroded spot on the wall of the stomach.

Ordinarily, our stomach secretes a mucus coating that protects the stomach's wall. Anything which will reduce the acid in the stomach will thus help relieve the symptoms of a peptic ulcer.

Tense, executive types of personality who remain in fairly constant turmoil, simply cause a heavier secretion of stomach acid.

The person who flares up and expresses his emotions, as in words or actions or even in tears, seems to relieve his inner emotional tension.

In addition, alkaline tablets help neutralize the acid. So does a glass of milk or a glass of hot jelly before bedtime.

Caffeine, on the contrary, increases gastric secretion so the typical coffee break tends to produce more peptic ulcers.

In bad cases of peptic ulcer, surgery is recommended to cut out part of the stomach. Alas, such surgery is not 100 percent effective, for the same tense office and home environment that produced your first ulcer may start another on later.

Dr. Walter Alvarez wrote a discerning article for one of our medical journals while he was burning a hole in the stomach itself.

And it is this resulting burn (which simulates hunger) that makes ulcer patients irritable and snarlish.

For the stomach secretes about a pint of acid during the night, which has no protein or alkaline tablets to neutralize it, unless we purposely eat before going to bed or take a tablet in the night.

still at the Mayo Clinic, and mentioned that the usual perforation of a peptic ulcer occurs between 2 a.m., and 5 a.m.

So he suggested that everybody who has a crucial problem next day, could profit by setting his alarm clock and walking at 2 o'clock to drink a glass of milk and nibble on a few crackers.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has ordered stepped-up production of lightweight M16s rifles for South Vietnamese, South Koreans and rear-echelon GIs in the Vietnam war zone.

The increased production to speed modernization of the South Vietnamese army was announced before President Johnson's Sunday night address in which he referred to re-equipping South Vietnamese forces.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has announced plans to trim overseas U.S. government employes 12 percent—and administration officials say the cuts eventually could be 24 percent.

Johnson announced approval over the weekend of a plan to top 2,779 U.S. employes off the roster of 22,757 at embassies and other posts around the world.

He said further cuts will be made later this year.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K753 ♠J1083 ♣Q1064 ♣K
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble. 1 ♥ 1 ♠
Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Partner has shown the equivalent of an opening no trump bid. Your nine points plus the two tens give you enough to take further pressure off him.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ63 ♠982 ♣A6 ♣6542
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Another bid by you can only serve to land your side in a game contract which will have very dubious prospects. Ten point holdings are border line holdings where a second constructive bid should be taken only when a good fit is present or partner has not yet marked himself with a minimum opening.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ84 ♠A43 ♠98 ♠AJ105
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. A bid of two no trump would be grossly improper in this situation. Partner has bid two spades requesting a preference and you have a clear-cut choice in favor of hearts. If no trump is the correct contract, partner will be in position to make the suggestion himself.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ5 ♠K8 ♠109542 ♠K83
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♠ 1 ♠
Pass 1 NT Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. Partner appears to have slim aspirations in spite of our modest bidding. However, too much of our values are concentrated in spades and a serious duplication of values appears to be present. Therefore, another mild call is indicated to slow partner down.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ6 ♠985 ♠A ♠K542
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass Pass Pass 1 ♠
Pass 1 NT Pass 2 ♠
Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. The fact that partner was willing to try again after you rebid just two clubs should induce you to carry on despite his previous negative activity. A rebid of your excellent spade holding may now enable partner to offer a raise with a doubler honor or three small.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ1064 ♠983 ♠K74 ♠J5
The bidding has proceeded:

1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two spades. The opponents have no speed edge in high cards since both East and West have limited their hands. Competition is, therefore, indicated and appears to be reasonably safe as partner is probably short in hearts.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠Q97543 ♠8 ♠J109 ♠A74
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♥ 2 ♠ ?

What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Two spades would not be a sound speculation. Partner's failure to make a take-out double makes it unlikely that he possesses any good spade fit and you are not prepared for him to persist in hearts.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — from a rise of 17.98 at the end of the first hour.

Volume for the first two hours was 10.18 million shares — a mighty total. If trading were to continue at the same pace it would beat the 16-million-share record set back in 1929.

The ticker tape ran as much as 15 minutes late.

The rush to buy resulted in delayed openings and large opening blocks for many stocks, both blue chips and glamor issues.

The President's announcement of Vietnam de-escalation was regarded as undoubtedly bullish, but his decision not to run left some commentators with a feeling of uncertainty.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 4.7 at 307.4 with industrials up 8.3, rails up 1.5 and utilities up 1.9.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 5 to 1 in early afternoon, cutting back greatly an early margin of about 12 to 1 on the outside.

The report that North Vietnam might ignore the President's peace move came from a Japanese source.

A 5-point leap by General Motors, frequently a pacemaker in the market, was pared to about 3 points, but even this was an exceptionally wide move by the biggest blue chip of them all.

Another heavyweight, Du Pont, opened late and held a 5-point gain. Each of these moves boomed averages.

Gold mining issues sank, apparently in reaction to the "paper gold" adopted by the Stockholm monetary conference.

Prices also were strong on the American Stock Exchange.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina poultry market today was steady. Price of live poultry at the farms was 14 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — A great stock market rally on President Johnson's surprise announcement was pared early this afternoon after a report that North Vietnam hinted it would ignore or reject the chief executive's peace proposal.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 11.91 at 852.58, having backed away

Briefs

RALEIGH (AP) — The industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee will meet here Wednesday and presumably will announce its membership for the 1968 tobacco auction season.

The committee last year was made up of seven warehousemen, eight buyers, 20 growers and the manager of the Flue-Cured Stabilization Corp., Lloyd T. Weeks.

The same ratio of members will be retained in 1968, but there will be some changes in individual representatives from the various segments of the industry.

CHARLOTTE (AP) — John D. Mellott of Greensboro is the new chairman of the North Carolina Federation of Young Republicans. The 29-year-old research engineer was elected without opposition at Saturday's convention.

The 200 delegates called for a state referendum on lowering the voting age to 18.

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Ceylon's ports were tied up today by a strike of 23,000 dock workers continuing a dispute over a fifth column in the union.

The workers struck recently over the employment of 25 persons the Ceylon Mercantile Union considers plants by political parties to weaken union strength. The government dock authority agreed to dismiss them but gave the men 30 days notice.

RALEIGH (AP) — John Hutchens, campaign manager for congressman Jim Gardner in the Republican gubernatorial primary, has criticized opponent Jack Stickle's voting record.

Hutchens commented Sunday on a recent story in the Charlotte Observer that Stickle had voted in only 17 of the 58 elections since 1954.

LBJ Decision . . .

for the Democratic presidential nomination?

"I made that clear in the speech," an apparent allusion to his statement that he had no time for partisan causes.

Would he support any Democratic ticket nominated at the party's August convention?

"When the time comes I'll make my announcements."

Would his decision strengthen his hand in efforts to end the Vietnam war?

"I would hope what I did tonight will let me concentrate more effectively on bringing about peace in the world."

Besides announcing a partial halt in bombing of North Vietnam, Johnson revealed these other steps related to the war:

—The present authorized U.S. troop level there of 525,000 men will be lifted to about 550,000. By August a total of 13,500 support troops will be sent to the combat zone. Some of these will come from Reserve units called to active duty.

—War spending is exceeding expectations. Tentative estimates now put the additional amount for the 24 months that began last July 1 at $5.1 billion — money Johnson will have to seek from Congress.

—Equipping the growing South Vietnamese army with more modern weapons.

—Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman will be the President's personal representative at any peace talks that develop with North Vietnam — "at Geneva or any other suitable place."

Johnson also appealed anew for higher taxes and budget cuts to pare a deficit he said would otherwise be about $20 billion. He said these actions are vital because "we face the sharpest financial threat in the post war era—a threat to the American dollar's role as the keystone of international trade and finance."

The chief executive's disclosure that he will not seek reelection was coupled with a series of appeals for national unity.

He said: "The ultimate strength of our country and our cause will lie not in powerful weapons or infinite resources or boundless wealth but will lie in the unity of our people."

"This I believe very deeply."

Throughout his 37-year public career, Johnson said, "I have put the unity of the people first; I have put it ahead of any divisive partisanship."

Declaring that, indeed, a house divided against itself "by the spirit of faction, of party, of region, of religion, of race, is a house that cannot stand," Johnson went on:

"There is division in the American house now. There is division among us all tonight. And holding the position that is mine, as president of all the people, I cannot disregard the peril to the progress of the American people and the hope and the prospect of peace for all peoples."

"So, I would ask all Americans, whatever their personal interests or concerns, to guard against divisiveness and all its ugly consequences."

Much has been gained through unity in the past four years, he said, and this "just must not now be lost in suspicion, distrust, selfishness and politics among any of our people."

Then he removed himself from the 1968 campaign, adding:

But let men everywhere know, however that a strong, a confident and a vigilant America stands ready tonight to seek an honorable peace—and stands ready tonight to defend an honored cause—whatever the price, whatever the burden, whatever the sacrifices that duty may require."

Johnson concluded with these words:

"Thank you for listening. Good night and God bless all of you."

Bombers, Warships End Pounding North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers and warships halted their attacks on most of North Vietnam today, one day after strikes close to Hanoi, Haiphong and the Chinese border.

The cutback in the bombing ordered by President Johnson was the 10th curtailment in the air war against the Communist North since it began on Feb. 7, 1965.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters said the reduction in the bombing was in effect by the time the President began his television statement announcing it, at 10 a.m. Saigon time.

The U.S. Command said American fighter-bombers confined their attacks on North Vietnam today to the area just above the demilitarized zone, hitting enemy storage complexes, truck convoys and gun positions.

Only a few hours before, the U.S. Command announced that American planes on Sunday attacked the Cat Bi airfield four miles southeast of the center of Haiphong, the radio communications station 10 miles southeast of Hanoi, a chemical plant 19 miles northeast of Haiphong, the Cam Pha coal area, 44 miles east-northeast of Haiphong, and the Lang Gai railway, 18 miles below the Chinese border.

Johnson said his de-escalation order applied to "most" of North Vietnam's territory and an area containing almost 90 per cent of its population. This includes the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial heartland and the vital northeast and northwest railroad lines between Hanoi and Communist China.

The President said the bombing would continue "in the area north of the demilitarized zone where the continuing enemy buildup directly threatens Allied forward positions and where movements of troops and supplies are clearly related to that threat."

Westmoreland's headquarters and the U.S. 7th Air Force refused to outline this area still subject to attack, but it probably extends north to the city of Vinh, about 130 miles above the demilitarized zone.

Most of the air strikes in this area have been against truck convoys believed headed southward with war materials for the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops who are believed menacing the U.S. Marines at Khe Sanh, Con Thien, Gio Linh, Dong Ha and other Allied posts just below the DMZ.

The area from the DMZ to Vinh was excluded from the last bombing pause, at the end of January for Tet, the lunar new year festival.

It was learned that U.S. planes also will continue reconnaissance and aerial photographic missions all over North Vietnam, including the Red River Valley area from Hanoi to the Chinese border.

The President made no reference to the bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos, over which thousands of tons of war material and thousands of troops move into South Vietnam. Presumably, this air campaign will continue, with more warplanes available to strike the North Vietnamese supply routes and buildup areas in that country.

As expected, Westmoreland, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and all other ranking U.S. military and embassy officials refused to comment on the President's orders. But military commanders in Vietnam have long opposed any curtailment of the bombing.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Suttie B. Harris; three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Horne and Mrs. Laura Wooten, both of Rt. 1, Fountain, and Mrs. Olivia Tyson of Washington, D. Czech Judge Is Said 'Missing'

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — The Supreme Court judge heading an investigation of persecution during Czechoslovakia's Stalinist era has been missing since Thursday, and police say they still have no clues.

Authorities do not rule out foul play or suicide in the case of Dr. Jozef Brestansky, the nation's second-ranking judge, who was reported Sunday to have vanished after leaving his office for the Justice Ministry half a mile away.

Responsible sources said Brestansky had access to all secret records of the Stalinist purges and on a half-hearted rehabilitation in 1963 of some of the victims. They said he was certain to know who played behind-the-scenes roles in the purges and at whose orders the earlier rehabilitation was kept almost completely secret.

"We have no theory," a police spokesman said. "He may even have traveled with his brother in Slovakia."

But Brestansky's family said he had not mentioned such a trip. Several papers were left unfinished on his desk.

The case evoked memories of the death of Charles H. Jordan, an American aid executive who disappeared in Prague last August. His body was retrieved from the Vltava River four days later. That case is still open.

Firemen said the boys were found in a hall bathroom when they arrived. The parents were rescued from a bedroom. Efforts to revive the children failed. The cause of death was listed as asphyxiation.

Correction

Greenville police said today that a car driven by Ronald Lee Keel, 25 of Route 5, Greenville, involved in a Saturday afternoon collision at the intersection of Van Dyke Street and Gum Avenue, was the vehicle that struck a four-year-old child playing in a yard at the intersection.

It had been reported earlier that the second auto involved in the collision, driven by Mrs. Mildred Jackson, had struck the child, Bobby Lee Steinback of 304 Manhattan Ave.

Mrs. Jackson was charged with failing to yield the right of way at the intersection.

Tar Heels In Wisconsin For LBJ

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — President Johnson's name is still on the ballot in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary, and a group of North Carolina Young Democrats will continue campaigning for him.

They are doing so on their own, not as representatives of the Young Democrats.

North Carolinians here include Graham Bell of Dallas, Young Democrats national committeeman; Pete Ellington of Charlotte, Jesse Davis of Winston-Salem, Bill Davis of Roanoke Rapids, and Sonny McLawhorn of Greenville.

They came to Milwaukee following a weekend meeting in Washington at which the Young Democrats kicked off the presidential campaign and voted to support the Johnson administration programs.

They arrived Sunday night just as the President announced his withdrawal from the race, but they said they would continue to seek support for him in the primary.

Concerned Over Possibility Of New Violence

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Police expressed concern over the prospects of throngs of Negroes, passing through lines of National Guardsmen to attend the funeral of a teen-age boy killed during last week's racial disorders here.

A wake for Larry Payne, 16, was scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. today and continue until 8 p.m., one hour after the city's nightly curfew begins.

The curfew was clamped on Memphis by Mayor Henry Loeb Thursday after a march led by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., in support of striking garbage collectors turned into a riot.

The disquiet, chiefly in the form of nightly vandalism, continued into the early morning hours today. Police reported youths plundering stores, minor fire bombings, disturbances and curfew violations. The arrest total, already several hundred, continued to mount.
