Large Sympathy Vote For Johnson Predicted

McCarthy, Nixon Checking White House Appeal In Wisconsin Today

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) - Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy his real rival looming in elections to come—and Republican Richard M. Nixon checked their White House credentials today in a Wisconsin presidential primary that offered only shadow contests.

some minor changes in the results, but I don't think they'll be measurable," he said. But the primary was the first test of voter sentiment toward a president who has decided to stand aside.

Indiana holds the beginning of the real Democratic contest. For there, on May 7, New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will run against McCarthy in a Democratic primary matching the two dissenters who have suddenly become the top contenders.

support him," he said. McCarthy looked beyond Wisconsin, too, in an election eve address to the nation, a televised speech which began with kind words for Johnson.

Chief among the shadows: Lyndon B. Johnson, the President whose announcement that he will not run again turned Wisconsin and Democratic politics from a battleground into a maze.

Should that Johnson vote be large, McCarthy said, he would have to "go on to Indiana and say this was not a real political test, I suppose."

That rivalry led McCarthy to program an election-day campaign mission to Omaha, Neb. He and Kennedy will meet on May 14 in the Nebraska presidential primary.

"It would very well have been his most direct and positive action in the interest of the United States of America," McCarthy said.

Sale price of the Edwards Building, which houses several law offices, the Veterans Service Office and the Eastern Area Tuberculosis Association office was set at $40,000, while the price of the house, used currently as storage space for the Pitt County Board of Education, was approved at $10,000.

Adam Powell In Hospital; 'Exhaustion'

DURHAM (AP) - Former Harlem Congressman Adams Clayton Powell will be kept in Duke Hospital under observation for several days, but the hospital, said today tests indicated he is suffering only from exhaustion.

Commissioners emphasized the sale was conditional on the approval by the City Council of the repurchase agreement at the same time they approve the purchase. The purchase of the property is expected to be presented to the council at its Thursday night meeting.

Powell was admitted to the hospital Monday night about 30 minutes after he was to have made his second appearance of the day on the Duke University campus.

Approval was also given by commissioners for entering into an agreement with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to effect Social Security coverage for all paid board members in the county. Included in the plan would be the Welfare Board and Board of Health, as well as the commissioners and the Board of Elections.

He also said Powell "is experiencing symptoms of exhaustion, precipitated by his very busy schedule of recent weeks."

Books Are Open During Week

Pitt County Elections Chairman I. Bruce Koonce today urged county voters to "avail themselves of the days during the week" when they can register to vote in the May 4 primary.

The county would pay the 4.4 per cent employer portion of the tax to the Social Security Administration, while the other 4.4 per cent would be deducted from the board members pay.

Registration books will be opened several week days to make it easier for prospective voters to register, Koonce said, adding that schedules of the days books will be open have been posted at various places throughout the county and at polling places.

A resolution was approved by the commissioners that called for Highway Commission resurfacing of U.S. 258 from Farmville to Fountain and surfacing of rural unpaved roads 1241, 1232 and 1233 (from Toddy to the Wilson County line). In addition, commissioners approved a resolution which called for widening and improving N.C. 903 from the N.C. 125 intersection (Gold Point) in Martin County to the N.C. 33 intersection in Stokes.

In the motor vehicle law violation cases, Manning was given 30 days road sentence to be suspended on payment of costs and not operate a motor vehicle for 12 months and surrender his drivers license to the clerk of court.

'Derby Day' Ended Week Of Activity

"Derby Day" Saturday at East Carolina University concluded a week of activities for Sigma Chi Delta fraternity and sorority groups on campus.

The activities, sponsored by Sigma Chi Delta to promote interest in Greek systems on campus, included parades, serenades from different sororities, having sororities bring champagne and feeding the boys breakfast and one sorority hired an airplane to drop leaflets advertising "Derby Day."

Friday was highlighted by a "Derby Chase" on the mall. Fraternity men got out on the mall and donned derbys. An estimated 340 sorority sisters gave chase trying to get the hats.

According to Sigma Chi Delta president, Bill Hicks, "every time a guy puts on a hat, a girl can take it away from him. He tries to run to keep the girls from getting it."

The sorority that takes the most hats to the judges stand wins the race. Judges included ECU president Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, and other university notables.

"Derby Day" began Saturday with a parade on campus with between 75 and 85 cars participating.

The "Derby Daddy" Rich Dell Arena signaled the start of the activities, which included 15 events, including a tug of war across a mud hole with the losers falling in; and a Miss Venus Contest where the contestants wore sacks over their heads.

A "wipeout" ended the events. That included fraternity brothers and sorority members throwing eggs, shaving cream, flour and the like at each other.

A dance, featuring the Prophets, ended the day's activities.

Awards given at the Saturday night prom included the presentation of the overall winner award to Kappa Delta sorority; the Miss Derby Day for 1968-69 prize to Miss Virginia Lanam from Alpha Delta Pi sorority; and the decorations event award to Alpha Delta Pi. The spirit award, probably the most coveted prize for the day was given to Alpha Zeta Delta and Alpha Omicron Pi sororities jointly with the second place award in that category going to Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

The local Sigma Chi chapter's goal is to become affiliated with Sigma Chi Delta International. Special guest for the festivities was Derry Doarty of Washington, D. C., founder and first president of Sigma Chi Delta.

Send Husband Home To Mom On Fulltime Basis

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old Catholic girl secretly married to a 27-year-old Jewish boy, Sheldon (made up name) and I were married by a justice of the peace, intending to announce it later on. Now it seems that Sheldon doesn't want to announce it at all.

You see, Sheldon is a mama's boy and his mother hates me. When we were married Sheldon promised he would marry me later in my church. Now he refuses. He wants to rent a furnished room and put me there and come to see me whenever he wants to, and then go home to mama without anyone knowing we are married. I've talked to a lawyer and I've also talked to my priest. The lawyer says I should file for divorce. The priest says I am not married in the eyes of the church. I still love Sheldon and don't want to break up with him, but if we can't live out in the open like decent married people, I don't want to go on like this. What should I do?

KATHY

DEAR KATHY: It would appear that Sheldon is not a "keeper." So unless he agrees to marry you in your church and accept the responsibilities of marriage, send him home to mama—permanently.

DEAR ABBY: My wife died a year ago and this lady I'm interested in has been a widow for two years. We knew each other way back "when."

Before I renew our friendship I'd like to ask you a few questions. Since her husband died, this lady has had several men staying with her (one at a time) in her two-bedroom trailer. I also heard that she visited an old farmer at his farmhouse (just the two of them) for days at a time.

Last week she headed for Arizona with another old buddy in his camper truck. She said she planned to sleep in motels on the way, and he would sleep in the truck, but she didn't say where they would sleep once they got to Arizona.

Now, Abby, a man doesn't want to marry a woman who has a bad reputation. She's the talk of this little town, but she is really a very high-class lady and everybody likes her. What is your advice?

WAITING TO HEAR

DEAR WAITING: It seems almost a disservice to the community to take this aging swinger out of circulation — if indeed you could. But if you regard this woman as a "high-class lady," any advice I could give you would fall on deaf ears. And your vision isn't too good, either.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice is sound. Keep telling married people that they can resist the temptation of an "affair" if they try. After 16 years of marriage I, too, "fell in love" unexpectedly with a friend. The physical tumult that sprang from my being when I just saw his car was unbelievable. My struggle with temptation lasted three years! But I was blessed—somehow. I never told him how I felt about him, altho I had many opportunities. This thought helped me: "If I betray my husband, and he betrays his wife, could I ever trust myself—or him—again?"

I won, for my emotional reactions are gone now, and the man I thought I couldn't live without remains our friend.

BEEN THERE

DEAR ABBY: Is "The Pill" 100 per cent foolproof?

MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST: Nothing is 100 per cent "fool proof" in the hands of a fool.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOK-LET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

Service League Hears Pathologist

Dr. Charles Gilbert, one of the two pathologists at Pitt Memorial Hospital, gave the program at the April meeting of the Greenville Service League.

He was introduced by program Chairman, Mrs. Morris Brody, at the Elm Street Recreation Center where the meeting was held.

Dr. Gilbert first defined pathology. He described it as a specialty in the practice of medicine that deals with the diagnosis, treatment and observation of disease.

"The scope of pathology is divided into two phases—anatomic and clinical," Dr. Gilbert said. "Under the anatomic phase, we have the surgical specimens (including frozen sections of tissues) cytology (paps smears), and the autopsy," he continued.

Dr. Gilbert concluded his talk by showing slides to the League of the Clinical Laboratory at Pitt Memorial Hospital. A brief question and answer period followed.

Committee Chairman were then called upon by Mrs. J. Knott Proctor Jr., President, for their monthly reports.

Emergency Charity head, Mrs. Bill Watson, announced she had answered two calls during March. Mrs. Charles Pope reported that on March 19, 48 volunteers worked 114 hours at the Bloodmobile and collected 191 pints of blood. The Bloodmobile will return on May 14 and 15 to the Moose Lodge.

Mrs. W. S. Bost said seven memorials had been received for the Laughinghouse Hospital Fund, and Mrs. Tom Haigwood answered one call for a layette.

Mrs. Thelma Lanier, mental health chairman urged everyone to save their old clothes for Cherry Hospital. It was reported that 19 bundles of coat hangers had been sold and that the coffee shop at the hospital will be closed on April 12 and April 15 for Easter vacation.

Mrs. Bill Fore, newly appointed Art Center Chairman, secured two hostesses for an Art Center opening on April 21 and May 5. Mrs. John East urged everyone to support the Thomas Hoving Lecture to be held at McGinnis Auditorium on April 19 at 8:00 p.m.

The League voted to again continue having the Charity Ball as their only fund raising project for next year. They also voted to provide one Girl Scout Campership for two weeks, two Boy Scout Camperships for one week each and one campership to Camp Hardee for day camp for a week.

In conclusion, several announcements were made: Mrs. Brody announced that the May luncheon meeting would be held May 22 at 11:00 a.m. at the Greenville Country Club. Mrs. Proctor announced that Mrs. E. E. Rawl would be chairman of the nominating committee with Mrs. P. R. Andersen and Mrs. Ed Harris assisting her. She then urged everyone to be sure to re-register in order to vote in the coming elections.

White Shrine Installation

An open installation of officers of Greenville White Shrine No. 7 will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Masconic Temple. The public is invited.

Sacrifice For The Sake Of Unity

President Johnson's announcement that he will not seek another term in office is one of those rare and unexpected developments in the political life of a nation which leaves in its wake confusion, uncertainty, and the necessity for a period of settling before the pieces of a new emerging picture are put together.

For the President and for the nation, his decision not to seek re-election is a momentous one.

Beset by seemingly insoluble problems abroad, divisiveness at home and growing unrest among the people of the nation, Lyndon Baines Johnson has elected to set aside his own political future in the hope that in the next nine months he may be able to bring order out of growing chaos.

Neither friend nor foe of President Johnson can doubt that his decision was made in complete sincerity and unselfishness with the hope that by stepping aside himself at the end of this term he would be able to do more effectively in his remaining months in office what he could not accomplish were he seeking re-election.

During the 37 years of his active political life, President Johnson has become the foremost student of the philosophy that politics and government in a democracy is the art of the possible. His place in history may well be determined by how effectively he is able to practice this art of the possible during his remaining nine months in the most powerful office in the world.

Whether he has strengthened his position for bringing about negotiations to end the Vietnam conflict is a matter of conjecture. His order to sharply reduce bombing of North Vietnam should open the door to the conference table. But the communists may prefer to deal with someone else nine months from now than to negotiate with President Johnson.

And how effective will Lyndon Johnson, as a lame duck president, be able to deal with Congress in effecting solutions to critical domestic problems? Although a lame duck official usually is expected to be less rather than more effective, it is our guess that President Johnson will now find himself and Congress working more closely together than at any time since the beginning of his administration.

President Johnson has sacrificed himself for the sake of unity of purpose among the people of this nation. Even in the confusion that followed his announcement, there is already the appearance of that unity being forged.

By his own action he has set an example of self-sacrifice which will be necessary for the United States and its people to successfully cope in the months ahead with the grave problem that face it at home and abroad.

Computerizing The Legislature

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — A year from now legislative reporters working in Raleigh can throw away the stacks and stacks of paper, copies of bills, daily legislative bulletins and other records which pile up on their desks and fill thick notebooks.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Things are becoming streamlined, modernized and computerized.

If a reporter gets a call from an editor anywhere in the state asking about the status of a particular bill, or what Rep. John Doe has been doing, or what laws have been enacted on a certain subject, it will be quite simple and easy.

The reporter can take the call in the press room of the legislative building. Within seconds he can walk a few steps to a newly-installed machine and press a button, then type a few letters on a standard typewriter-sized keyboard. Presto!

Flashes Information
The information needed will be flashed instantly on a video terminal—similar to a 12-inch television screen—atop the typing unit.

If a written copy of the information is needed, simply push another button. The computer system will type an exact copy at 150 words per minute at another terminal which will be located in offices of the legislative clerks.

Wiring is being installed for seven terminals of the new computerized information system in the legislative building. These will be placed in the clerk's offices, in the press room, in the office of the governor's legislative liaison officer, the office of the sergeant at arms and in the basement offices of the Institute of Government.

Information Categories
Raw data for the computer information service will be entered into the system by the Institute of Government.

This will include a short title of the bill, name of the introducer and a cumulative history plus related pertinent data.

By typing the name of a legislator at a computer terminal, the system will flash back titles and the current status of all bills introduced by that particular lawmaker.

Type in the name of a committee and the system will furnish a list of all bills under consideration in that committee along with dates they were referred.

The word "ratified" will prod the computer to furnish a full list of all bills which have been enacted and ratified and give their session law and chapter number. The word "failed" will produce a listing of all bills which have been defeated plus information on the final action.

Even the name of a certain county will trigger the computer into furnishing a list of all bills affecting that particular county and the status of each.

Feed the computer a certain chapter number of the general statutes and it will flash back a list of all bills relating to the subject matter of the requested chapter.

Capability Explained
As complex and sophisticated as this system is, it does not go as far as the computer information service installed for the legislature in Pennsylvania.

The capability of the Pennsylvania system is such that it can deliver much more material—including biographical information on each legislator—but North Carolina officials felt that much of this sort of data would be irrelevant.

Nevertheless, North Carolina's system is expected to have plenty of capability.

Central Office Here Is A Logical Move

We are pleased that the Eastern Area Tuberculosis Association's expanded office will be located in Greenville.

Mrs. Temp Clarke reported to the county commissioners Monday that the office will now include an additional 12 counties. It will be renamed the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, embracing 22 counties.

Mrs. Clarke said additional office space will be needed for more full time employees.

We feel it is logical that Greenville should be selected as the location of the TB Association office to serve this vast area. Much is being done in the health field here and we expect that the TB Association will benefit from the resources and developments in health service which are ahead.

We welcome this new area office and urge local citizens and organizations to extend it all possible support.

Gag Rule Has Its Advantages

By EDMOND LeBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—The "gag rule" which the House of Representatives often invokes on the consideration of legislation is regularly denounced by opponents as an unconscionable handicap to congressional discussion and action.

But the Senate, which has no such rule, has just spent a week demonstrating that there may be a lot to be said for the procedure.

The device, known more formally as a closed rule, amounts to this: The House Rules Committee—with the approval of a majority of the membership at large—can decree that the House vote yes or no on a measure before it, without any opportunity to alter it by offering amendments on the floor.

The Senate received from the House a simple bill to postpone reductions in the excise taxes on automobiles and telephone service and speed up corporate tax collections. It is part — the lesser part — of President Johnson's program to raise some $12 billion extra revenue to reduce the big budget deficits now impending. The major, and far more controversial part, is an income tax increase which neither chamber has approved.

The Senate, true to its tradition of unlimited debate and amendment, went to work with a will on the House-passed measure. By the time it (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
CALL OF THE HIGHEST

David Livingstone, returned from eighteen years in the African jungle, consented to appear in Edinburgh to receive an honorary degree. From time immemorial it had been the custom of the undergraduates — indolently permitted by the university authorities — to jeer and make derogatory remarks as the distinguished guests received their degrees. But when Livingstone arose a hush fell upon the assembly, and for a half hour the students listened respectfully as he related his experiences in Africa as a Christian missionary. The burden of his message was that he ordered his life on the basis of a divine commission. "In the silence of the jungle," he said, "I seem to hear a voice saying to me, 'Lo I am with you always even unto the end of the world.'"

People always respect those who give themselves wholeheartedly to the doing of the right. They may seem to admire the sport and the jolly good fellow, but down in their hearts they never do. Their respect and admiration are reserved for those who hear the call of the highest and respond.

WHAT DO YOU HAVE TO DO ?

By JAMES KILPATRICK

Patriots---Stand Fast!

With every week that passes, evidence accumulates that the American people increasingly are fed up with the war in Vietnam. One poll finds only 54 per cent still in support of U. S. involvement. Another poll, among Democrats on Long Island, turns up barely 9 per cent in support of the President's policies. The polls are confirmed by discontent in Congress, by Kennedy's crowds in California, by editorials, speeches and letters across the land.

Under these melancholy circumstances, perhaps little is to be gained by renewing an old appeal: Stand fast. Yet the plea must be voiced once more. To urge patience is to urge an unpopular course. Patience is no large part of the national character. We are geared to instant achievement — instant potatoes, instant tea, the infra-red oven that heats the TV dinner. Suffering a headache, we want instant relief. Nothing frets us like a traffic jam. Caught in a bank, a store or a super-market, we scurry like ants, seeking the shortest line, the fastest way out. Perhaps there was a time, in Vietnam, when instant victory might have been achieved. It is tempting to speculate on what might have happened, two years ago, if the U. S. had joined in a sudden, massive acceleration — if we had gambled at that time on the interdiction of Haiphong, the capture of Hanoi, the lightning thrusts that could have been attempted.

Such speculation is futile. For reasons that seemed plausible, a less dramatic course was set: Russia and China would not be provoked; the enemy would be ground down by slow attrition; for the winning of limited objectives, a limited war would do. Twenty thousand lives and fifty billion dollars later, we emerge from a winter of profound discontent to a spring of proposed disengagement.

Whatever the mistakes of grand strategy may have been, we cannot wisely quit the contest now. The present situation and the future prospect alike urge us to pursue the struggle with unrelenting dedication.

Many of us are cast in the mold of George Greenville. "Nothing was more remarkable in him," said Macaulay, "than his inclination always to look on the dark side of things." Viewing the present situation in Vietnam, one finds a bright side emerging. The Communists' Tet offensive may have been a shock to the allies, but it was disaster to the enemy. The South Vietnamese did not rise up to embrace their Communist brothers; the government at Saigon did not topple. On the contrary, the fearful ordeal seems to have strengthened the south's will to resist.

Meanwhile, in Hanoi, signs multiply that the enemy is hurting at home. Ho Chi Minh decrees death for such crimes as "undermining the solidarity" of the people or engaging in anti-government "propaganda." The decrees reflect not strength, but weakness. It would be foolish — it would be contrary to all human behavior — for us to suppose of their recent offensive. They, too, must be suffering a profound disillusion: So (Continued On Page 5)

ken a blood oath not to say anything thoughtful or thought-provoking. Those stands that have been taken — as frequent as rain in the Gobi — have been shot with hypocrisy and-or cynicism. Take the tobacco tax, for one instance. Bob Scott, Mel Broughton and Jim Gardner all are against a tobacco tax. They are against it because they know full well that a stand for a tobacco tax would cost them Down East votes. Jack Sticklely seemed to be in favor of a tobacco tax at first, then let his position sort of disappear. Not one has been anywhere near honest about the matter. Only Reginald Hawkins, who has nothing to lose anyway, favors a tobacco tax. For that matter, he is the only one of the gubernatorial candidates who has seen fit to address himself to the State's major concerns. Hawkins, of course, is a Negro and cannot be expected to force the other candidates into a genuine confrontation.

We don't know which is more appalling — a cluster of candidates afraid to stir what ought to be the issues in the campaign, or an electorate too apathetic and lethargic to demand anything more than meaningless maunderings. Probably we are getting exactly what we deserve.

Meanwhile, in Hanoi, signs multiply that the enemy is hurting at home. # Once Upon A Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Nostalgia has always been one of man's favorite pastimes—at any age, in all eras.

The growing child reads a fairy tale that begins with the immortal words, "Once upon a time." He is very curious about his own brief past, and is vastly entertained when his parents tell him anecdotes about his infancy.

Adults, of course, tend to spend more time recalling yesterday than they do in planning for tomorrow. After all, no matter how rough it may have been, yesterday is safer. We are more comfortable with yesterday than we are with tomorrow because we have endured its threats and survived its perils. It consoles us more than it hurts us.

The past is so popular today that there now is even a Nostalgia Book Club which each month recommends to its members new books about bygone days and historic figures.

Your own stock of nostalgia is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when—

A dollar bill was as good as gold.

A modern mother was one who insisted that her children take daily doses of cod liver oil in winter to be sure they got plenty of Vitamin D.

The usual reason a fellow grew a mustache was to hide the fact he had a hare lip.

The idea of putting radios in cars was opposed on the grounds that they would distract drivers and cause more accidents.

A proud wife never was defeated by family poverty as long as she was able to keep clean white lace curtains hanging in the front windows of her home.

Only the very, very idle rich had French poodles as pets. You knew you were in a house of gentility and pretensions to culture if the parlor contained two goldfish and at least one canary. But the dream of every little boy was to own a brightly colored parrot that would startle starched ladies with its terrible swearing.

During a small town Fourth of July parade, it touched your heart with awe to see the few time-bent veterans of the Civil War go by, and to think that these same men had once been young and eager and had shook the land in their glory.

Most butchers wore straw hats on the job and had a pencil stuck behind an ear. They wrapped the meat in rough "sticker paper" instead of butcher plastic.

Weep, If Taxes Aren't Boosted

By ELMER ROESSNER

If Congress balks at raising tax rates in this election year, you, I and Satchel Paige will pay more taxes sooner or later.

The government is spending more money than it is taking in and, under the laws of supply and demand, Monopoly and gravity, somebody pays the difference.

Suppose that the difference between what Congress appropriates for the coming fiscal year and what it votes to suck up in taxes is $10 billion more or less, a likely figure.

That $10 billion won't disappear, regardless of what hanky-panky, legerdemain and double-talk is engaged in by the White House, the Budget Bureau, the Treasury and the Federal Reserve. Here's the secret answer, buddy: you, I, Paige and 200 million other Americans will be stuck with the check.

We'll Pay, Pay, Pay

In fact, it will be paid many times over. To wit:

1. Our children will pay it, because the government will issue bonds to cover the deficit and when the bonds come due 20, 30 or more years from

2. Meanwhile, we will pay it ourselves. The last government, in addition, we will have to pay the $10 billion a third time in highest interest rates on mortgages, consumer credit loans, business loans and other borrowings. Because the Treasury will have to pay higher interest rates to attract money to meet the deficit, all other interest rates will be forced up. In fact, other borrowers may have to pay $20 billion, $30 billion or even more in higher interest.

4. Furthermore, we will pay the $10 billion once more in higher prices and higher wages. The deficit will depreciate the buying power of the dollar once more, pushing up prices; higher prices will force workers to demand higher wages, and we will be off on another push-pull hotstotsy spiral of wage and price increases.

5. And we will pay the deficit one more time in higher state and local taxes. If Congress refuses to increase federal taxes, it will have to cut some federal aid to states and cities. This will require higher local taxes for welfare, Medicaid, riot prevention, low-income housing and other projects federal Big Brotherism has pushed us into.

So if Congress declines to increase taxes to meet expenditures, we slobos may have to pay the deficit once in local taxes, once in inflated prices, once in higher wages, several times in higher interest rates, once in interest on government bonds. And our children will pay it all once again when it pays off the borrowed money.

So if Congress increases taxes; don't weep. Estimated rates of 6.30 to 6.45 per cent, which means that every 16 years we have to pay interest equal to the total borrowed all over again: ment borrowing was at inter-

Johnson Makes 'Lame Duck' Role Look Easy

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson has served his first day as a "lame duck" President—and managed to make it look easy.

If Johnson entertained any private misgivings Monday about his "completely irrevocable" decision to shun another race for the country's highest office, they were totally camouflaged.

In fact, the Chief Executive looked and acted like a man who had just invented peace of mind, peace of soul, or both. He seemed relaxed, confident and happy.

Often labeled an impatient man, quick to anger when discomfited, he remained unruffled even when a mishap involving the White House press corps—a traditional adversary of all presidents—kept him an immobile prisoner in his own airplane for more than half an hour.

Although it usually is assumed there is little brotherly love between Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, who covets his job, even mention of Kennedy's name failed to draw sparks.

Johnson, when asked if he would honor the senator's request for an early face-to-face meeting, simply replied, "Surely."

When a reporter then inquired if the President had any particular meeting time in mind, Johnson appeared the soul of magnanimity and accommodation.

"Whenever it is convenient for him," he said.

Observers have noted in the past that Johnson has seemed to find new zest for life—and greater equanimity—after resolving, to his satisfaction, major problems. That would seem to be the case now.

He has "crossed that bridge"—a phrase he repeatedly used to describe his possible 1968 candidacy—and he gives every sign of being very relieved that he reached the farther shore safely.

For many reasons, Monday wasn't a typical day in Johnson's life as President. But neither was it unusual. He flew to Chicago on short notice—par for the recent course—and addressed the National Association of Broadcasters.

Even with the scant notice, one might have expected the President to be greeted at some point by sign-carrying antiwar pickets.

In truth, he got a catcall or two when he walked through the packed lobby of the Conrad Hilton Hotel—but he also got a lot of cheers that somehow sounded more sincere and enthusiastic than many in the recent past.

It was easy to imagine that a lot of Americans had been personally touched by Johnson's surprise disavowal of politics—and that these cheering people either were sorry about his decision or, for one reason or another, felt he had grown a few inches in the process, earning an extra measure of respect.

Johnson then proceeded up the stairs to lecture the broadcasters. Although he made clear that he thinks wars abroad and riots at home, through some inherently unfair quirk of human nature, make more compelling television news fare than accounts of conciliation and consensus, his audience seemed grateful that he had come to share these presumably disquieting thoughts with them.

Then came the delayed flight back to Washington. Two chartered buses carrying the White House press corps to the airport collided on a crowded expressway. Although there were no serious injuries, each vehicle had to be hauled away. Replacements were sent—and that took time.

Johnson had to wait aboard his plane while this superhighway transfer was accomplished because all the reporters and photographers from Washington were flying with him aboard Air Force One.

If the delay disturbed him, he didn't show it. As soon as the survivors climbed aboard, he quickly began a good-humored razzing of one newsman who hadn't been ready with a quick question when the President abruptly had called on him by name at last Saturday's quickie news conference.

This was no cruel hazing, however. The President sat back in his cushioned swivel chair and beamed like Santa Claus.

Composer Racking Up Series Of Hits

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When he begins to rattle off the names of songs he's written—"Alfie," "The Look of Love," "What the World Needs Now is Love," "What's New Pussycat," "I Say a Little Prayer"—Burt Bacharach's humility gets the best of him and he refuses to continue.

"I've stopped counting the hits," says the handsome young composer. "There are more important things."

Three times nominated for Academy Awards, Bacharach and his collaborator, Hal David, are up this year for "The Look of Love."

Burt admits he'd like to win, "but it's such an honor to be nominated three years in a row. And one realizes, after all, that the Oscar is just a possession."

Last year Bacharach was nominated for "Alfie" and the year before for "What's New Pussycat."

Now, with disc jockeys announcing his name along with each record, Bacharach, 38, lean and blue-eyed with salt-and-pepper hair, is riding the wave of success like an experienced surfer—careful to keep from toppling.

The cornerstone of his creativity is the belief that he must write songs that please Burt

Stickley Calls For Veto Power

GREENSBORO (AP) — Jack Stickley, a Republican candidate for governor, said today North Carolina's chief executive should have the power of veto.

The people, Stickley added, also should vote on an amendment to the state constitution allowing the governor to run for election to a second term.

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Greensboro Board of Realtors, the Charlotte textile broker said North Carolina "is the only state among the 50 whose governor is partially immobilized for lack of the legislative veto."

He said North Carolina's governor should have the veto power, "but only with the provision that a veto may be over-ruled by a two-thirds majority of both houses of the legislature, as is the case in the federal government and in all other states."

"Since he cannot run for reelection, the governor can, if he wishes, play a very passive role, doing the minimum required by the constitution and the laws, unless he plans to seek another office later," Stickley said. "The possibility of reelection to a second term might have a healthy effect on a governor tempted to do as little as possible during his four years in Raleigh."

Government, like business, needs a constant infusion of fresh blood and new ideas, Stickley said. "If we could ever get a new," he added, "we could move a long way toward keeping those new ideas and that new blood flowing, thus benefitting government, business, and all the people as well."

Stickley also proposed that a branch of the governor's office be established in every major population center in the state as a clearing house for "problems the average citizen may have with his government."

warily quit for the weekend Friday it had debated 23 amendments — almost none of which related directly to the basic bill — and adopted 11. Still to be taken up were an undetermined number, including one block - buster — an effort to graft onto the bill an income - tax increase accompanied by a whopping cut in spending.

Meanwhile time ran out on the excise tax extension. As of today, by existing law, the rate on automobiles drops five percentage points and on telephone service, seven.

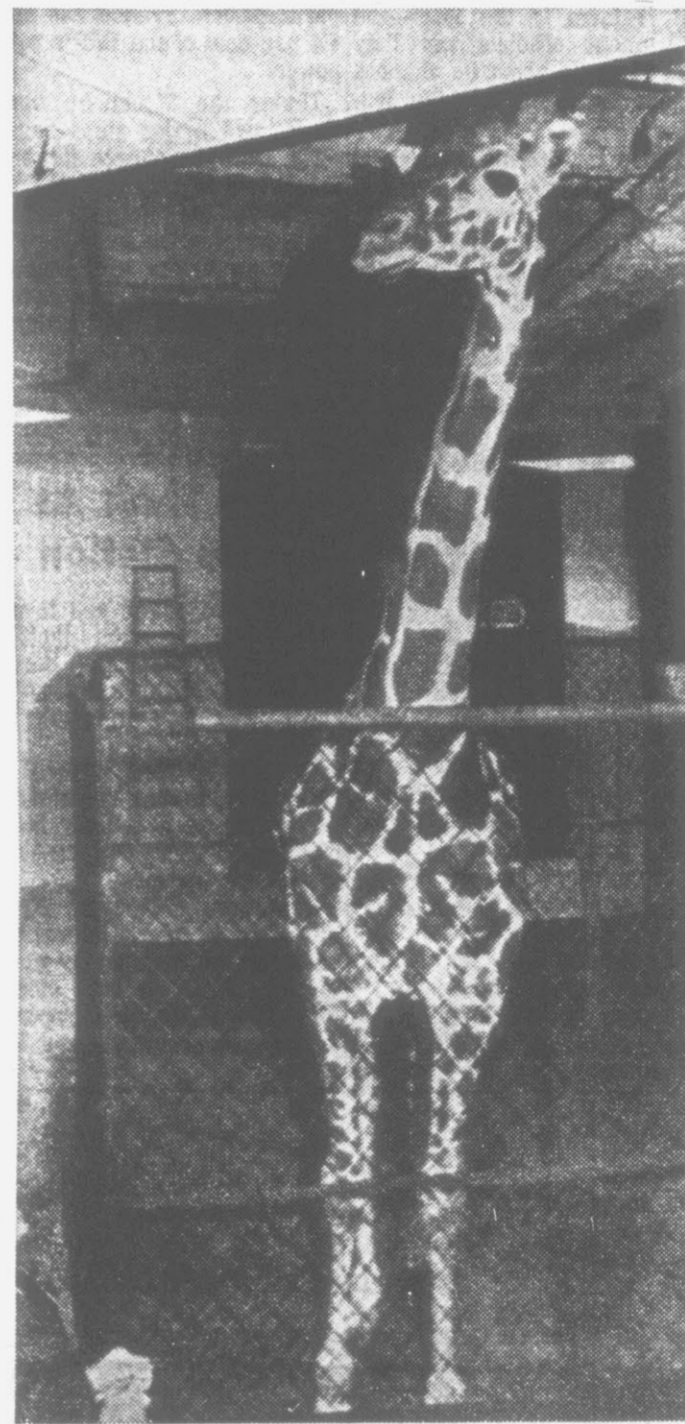

If the controversy does not drag on too long, the practical effect may not be too severe — automobile manufacturers and telephone companies were reported planning to continue paying the taxes, since the basic extension bill is not in dispute and would be retroactive to April 1 when passed.

Even so, legal questions may arise, especially if, for example, many telephone bills go out to customers while the issue is still at least technically unsettled.

The House invariably brings up tax bills under closed rules and with debate time limits set in advance, averting the possibility of such tieups.

The argument against the closed rule is obvious: A House majority controlling the Rules Committee could jam prefabricated legislation through.

It could present a conscientious member with an unhappy choice — voting for a bill whose general purpose he approves but which contains some elements he considers unwise, or voting against it and probably killing for a session any chance of dealing with a pressing problem.

Supreme Court Decided Logic Was Inexorable

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Propelled by logic and an extraordinary dosage of judicial activism, the Supreme Court has spun out the revolution it began in March 1962 when it gave federal courts jurisdiction over malapportioned legislatures.

If state legislatures must be based on districts that are substantially equal in population, as the court said in June 1964 they must be, shouldn't city, town and county governing bodies that are creatures of these legislatures be bound by the same rule?

It took almost four years and a few false starts, but Monday five justices decided the logic was inexorable.

"The actions of local government are the actions of the state," Justice Byron R. White reasoned. Logically he found little difference between the exercise of state power through legislatures and its exercise by election officials in the cities, towns and counties.

The logical simplicity was what appeared to irk most of the three dissenters. Thurgood Marshall, the ninth justice, did not participate.

Potter Stewart scorned the use of "sixth-grade arithmetic" to resolve subtle problems of constitutional law.

Abe Fortas said his colleagues had passed over a complex of values and factors with "the arithmetic simplicity of one equals one."

And John M. Harlan described himself as "frankly astonished at the ease" with which the court brought one man-one vote to grassroots government.

But these were the complaints of dissenters. The die is cast. The remaining question is how cities, towns and counties will get in line with Supreme Court-made law.

At the beginning of 1967 there were 81,253 units of local government in the United States. This includes 3,049 county governments, 18,051 municipal governments, 17,107 township governments, 21,782 school districts and 21,264 other special districts.

The number and variations are staggering. Some 20,000 to 23,000 elect officials by district. It is these that are most directly affected by Monday's decision.

Many already are in line with one man-one vote. Additionally, the state supreme courts of California, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, New York, South Dakota and Wisconsin have applied the principle to local government.

Those that are not in line and that exercise what White called "general governmental powers" will have to get in line.

Some will do so voluntarily, others will be directed to do so by their state legislatures and a third group, probably a minority, will hold off until they are ordered to comply by courts.

As for the remaining 60,000 local bodies, the ruling serves largely as an admonition that if they ever adopt the election-by-district system they cannot draw districts substantially unequal in population.

Some of those 60,000 may be exempt. White's decision hinted there may be exceptions in the case of the "special purpose unit of government." The decision is not explicit, however, and the question of application awaits future court actions. Among the school districts, the impact of the ruling appears limited. Most school board members are elected at large.

U.S. Grants Some Concessions For New International Currency

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States granted some sweetening concessions to continental Europe in winning agreement this past weekend on a plan to create new international money.

The big sweetener is a veto over some basic operations of the International Monetary Fund by the six Common Market countries.

This was revealed by U.S. officials who said the new plan for paper gold adopted at Stockholm this past weekend can work without French participation but it will be a year at the earliest, and undoubtedly longer, before any paper gold will change hands.

"They can't wreck it," one official said of French reluctance to go along with the plan approved by the other nine richest nations of the non-Communist world—including France's five common market partners.

Congress will be asked to approve this year the new arrangement—together with the basic reform in the IMF—and government officials say they are optimistic about its chances in both the House and the Senate.

The IMF reforms consist of changes in voting requirements on three specific issues to give veto to the Common Market—France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Common Market members have 16 per cent of the weighted votes which are based on the amount of money each country has contributed to the IMF.

The United States already has a veto over the affected operations and would retain it.

Basic reforms now planned would require an 85 per cent weighted vote to carry out these operations:

- An increase in fund quotas. This now requires an 80 per cent vote and the United States, with about 25 per cent of the fund's entire subscription of $21 billion, has the only veto now.
- Increasing or decreasing the price of gold. This now requires a majority vote with the United States and the United Kingdom each having a veto.
- A new procedure for interpreting the IMF's Articles of Agreement. Any top-level interpretation could be overturned by an 85 per cent weighted vote of member nations.

It would also require an 85 per cent vote to actually create the new money which would supplement the money now used by nations—gold, dollars and British pounds—to carry on trade.

U.S. officials would be a lot happier if France finally decided to go along with the new plan but one said "it's a workable, viable plan" without French participation. France has about 4 1/2 per cent of the IMF's voting power.

Under the Stockholm agreement, two major steps remain—the first to approve the basic money machinery and the second to put the plan into action.

Approval of the machinery requires an 80 per cent weighted vote of the IMF membership with at least 65 countries agreeing.

U.S. officials foresee the necessary 65 governments approving the plan by early 1969 but

Albinos Emerge

GREENWOOD, S. C. (AP) — Greenwood's rare white squirrels have come out of hiding with the return of spring.

Greenwood and Olney, Ill., reportedly are the only U. S. cities with colonies of albino squirrels.

The pure white squirrels with pink eyes and large, bushy tails, have been observed this year in at least four locations in Greenwood.

Naturalist Ernest T. Seton wrote in his book, "Lives of Game Animals," about a colony of 100 albino squirrels in Greenwood in 1919. At that time they had been in the city for more than 20 years.

It is not known how many are in Greenwood, but the Olney colony is probably the larger. National Wildlife Magazine reported in February that about 800 white squirrels live in Olney. There, they are given the right-of-way on every street by a city ordinance passed in 1925.

Probe Theft At Service Station

Greenville police are investigating the reported theft of $37.35 from the Etna Service Station on Fifth Street at the Davis Street intersection last night.

The money taken, Chief H. F. Lawson said, was contained in a box left on a counter in the building. The money consisted mostly of quarters.

Detectives quoted the station attendant as saying he was called from the building by a customer. While he was outside, the box was taken, he reported.

The theft occurred about 10:26 p.m.

Offer New Fire Protection Rule

HIGH RIDGE, Mo. (AP) — A resolution introduced Monday at a tag-holders meeting would allow the High Ridge fire department to put out a fire in an untagged house "at least once."

A fee of from $150 to $200 would be charged at the time such service is rendered. The resolution also provides that at least 0 per cent of the homes or rental units in the district must have tags for the department to continue operations.

Volunteer firemen in the district, about 20 miles southwest of St. Louis, were criticized and threatened during a 10-day period in March when they adhered to district bylaws to stand by while two untagged homes burned. Once they were forced by an angry mob to put out a fire.

The tag-holders will vote on the resolution June 3.

Sees Favoritism By Edwin Gill

DURHAM (AP) — State Rep. Sneed High, a Democratic candidate for North Carolina treasurer, has accused the incumbent, Edwin Gill, of favoring large financial and vested interests in recommending legislation to the General Assembly.

High's charges came in a written statement which he released Monday in conjunction with an essentially non-political speech before the Tobaccoland Kiwanis Club in Durham.

Asked for comment, Gill said in Raleigh he would wait to study the statement before making a reply.

High cited three bills introduced in the 1967 General Assembly which he said illustrated his point. He listed the industrial revenue bond bill; the original bill revising state banking laws, which was overhauled by the legislature before passage and an unsuccessful measure to allow an increase of interest rates on state highway bonds.

High noted that the state Supreme Court had declared the "tax gimmick" revenue bond legislation unconstitutional, and he added, "I fought this proposal from the beginning."

High also said Gill did nothing to discourage the practice of closed sessions on certain matters in his capacity as chairman of the State Banking Commission.

"It is high time the present state treasurer be called on to explain his continued special treatment to special interests to the detriment of the people," High said. "My record for open sessions and support of measures for the benefit of the people is widely known."

East Carolina, Brown Play To 5-5 Deadlock

Brown Rallies For Three In Ninth

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina University blew a three-run lead in the top of the ninth inning yesterday, then battled three more scoreless frames before ending up in a 5-5 tie with Brown University.

The Bucs had pushed across an insurance run in the bottom of the eighth for a 5-2 lead and appeared in perfect command. But a new unit took the field behind pitcher Vince Colbert, and an error resulted in two unearned runs and another earned run, tying it up and forcing the extra innings.

Only the setting of the sun on the Bucs; as yet unlighter field stopped the marathon. Both teams had opportunities to win it. Starting East Carolina hurler Rick Glover was in trouble in every inning, but managed to get out of it every time but once, in the third. Only three times in the entire 12 innings were the Bucs shut out without a baserunner.

After a Brown threat was stopped in the first, East Carolina powered into the lead as its home run brigade continued to attack opposing pitchers. With one out, Jimmy Lanier unloaded on the first of the day's roundtrippers, giving East Carolina a temporary 1-0 lead.

In the third, however, Brown rallied to take the lead. John Heffron led off with a walk and was sacrificed to second. Mike Maznicki also walked and another sacrifice put runners on second and third. Dan Stewart was intentionally walked to set up a force, but John Rawls singled through the middle, scoring Heffron and Maznicki, giving Brown a 2-1 edge.

The Bucs threatened again in the bottom of the third, loading the sacks on two walks and a hit batter with two outs, but a force play ended the threat. Brown came back to put a man as far as third base in the fourth before being retired.

The Bucs tied it up in their half of the fourth. Dave Winchester singled and advanced on a ground out. Roy Taylor slapped a single to center, driving in the tying run, 2-2.

Brown got one man on in the fifth, and had two on in the sixth, when Colbert came on in relief, retiring the last man to end it.

The Bucs shot back ahead in their part of the frame. Winchester reached on a fielder's choice and Stu Garrett was safe on an error. Taylor slammed a double to left center, driving in both runners for a 4-2 lead.

Colbert put on a display of his ability in the seventh. After a single, a fielder's choice-error and a hit batter loaded the bases, the senior fireballer mowed down the next three men on nine straight strikes to the joy of the Buc fans.

The final Pirate crossed the plate in the eighth. That came as Jim Snyder slammed his third homer of the year, running the margin to 5-2. Two more Bucs reached before the frame ended.

At that point, the Bucs went to their bench and changed seven of the nine men in the field. And that apparently made Brown mad, mad enough to come back and tie it up.

Maznicki led off the ninth with a double and Clayton Dobby reached on an error. John Rallis singled in Maznicki and a hit by Ron Kreidman scored Dobby. Harold Phillips then singled to score Rallis with the tying run. The rest of the way saw only one Brown runner reach, on a hit in the 12th, but he was cut down trying to steal.

East Carolina, meanwhile, threatened several times. In the 10th, the Bucs put a man on third as Russ Edmondson walked, stole second and moved on when the ball was thrown into center. In the 11th, Richard Corrada made it as far as second.

But the best chance the Bucs had was in the twilight hours of the 12th frame. Carey Anderson led off, reaching on an error. Edmondson was intentionally walked, and a wild pitch moved Anderson to third. The Bucs then tried to squeeze him in, but the bunt was missed and Anderson was caught in the rundown which resulted, killing the final Buc hope.

Taylor led the Pirate effort, getting three of their six hits. Maznicki, Rallis and Phillips led Brown with two each.

The Bucs, now 6-1-1, travel to Furman on Wednesday for their first conference contest.

Table with columns for player names and statistics (ab, r, h, rbi) for both Brown and E. Carolina teams.

Pirate Golfers Defeat Indians

East Carolina University's golfers picked up their second straight victory after an opening loss as they downed William & Mary, 15-9, yesterday. It was the first Buc Southern Conference match of the year.

Mike Schlueter was the day's medalist, turning in a 73. Marshall Utterson had a 74 for the Bucs, while Wally Howard recorded a 75.

Summary: Mike Schlueter (ECU) defeated Dan Rizzo, 3-0. Mike O'Brian (ECU) defeated Leslie Watson, 2-1. Howard Parmar (ECU) defeated Carl Christensen, 2-1. Marshall Utterson (ECU) defeated Worth Banner, 3-0. Wally Howard (ECU) defeated Steve Demchuk, 3-0. Vernon Tyson (ECU) defeated Mike Eberhardt, 2-1. Mike Parker (W&M) defeated Joe Tyson, 3-0. Netters Sign Pro Contracts

By JACK STEVENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "I don't think people look on a sport these days unless money is involved," says Billie Jean King, the tennis queen who could make $70,000 playing the game during the next year.

Mrs. King, Ann Hayon Jones of England, Francoise Durr of France and little Rosemary Casals of San Francisco signed contracts Monday to play with the new National Tennis League.

Also joining the pros was Australian Roy Emerson who could earn up to $100,000 for each of the next two years.

Contracts for the five were announced by George MacCall, former United States Davis Cup captain who is now president of the pro group.

Five players previously under contract are Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Fred Stolle, all of Australia, Andres Gimeno of Spain and former U.S. champion Pancho Gonzales.

The NTL makes its United States debut in a tournament at the Forum here, April 7, 9 and 10 with much of the interest centered on the gals. Billie Jean believes the entry of the women will bring more interest in tennis among younger girls.

"It should create motivation and more purpose," she declared. "In this country, if you're a pro, you're somebody. If you're an amateur, you're nobody."

She also looks forward to open tournaments such as those in England this year... at Bournemouth later this month and at Wimbledon in July.

MacCall did not divulge the exact money involved in the contracts and the earnings ultimately will reflect how the players do in the tournaments.

He did say Mrs. King was guaranteed between $40,000 and $50,000 with the opportunity to earn up to $70,000. The other women are expected to earn in the $25,000 vicinity and Emerson, with a guarantee of about $75,000, could earn up to $100,000 for each year of his two-year pact.

Pirates Host Track Meet

The East Carolina University track team will entertain Williams College, Pembroke and Atlantic Christian here Wednesday at 3 p.m.

It will be the first full home meet for the Bucs, who earlier hosted Colgate in a practice meet.

The Pirates come into the meet after competing in the Florida Relays, where two more school records fell. The 440 relay team of Bill Brisbey, Al Peoples, Paige Davis and Ed Whyte set a mark of :42.6, while the mile relay team, which had Lee Mauney replacing Peoples, finished in 3:19.9.

Dennis Moody, having an off day, finished fourth in the freshman division of the shot, with a toss of 49-4 1/2.

Celtics, 76ers Win To Advance In NBA Playoffs

By MIKE RECHT Associated Press Sports Writer

Experience is the best teacher and the New York Knicks and Detroit Pistons received a lesson Monday night from the aging Philadelphia 76ers and Boston Celtics.

Of course, the lesson was poorly taken because the 76ers eliminated the Knicks from the National Basketball Association playoffs and the Celtics did the same to the Pistons.

Philadelphia's crippled veterans ousted the Knicks 113-97 and Boston's oldsters sent the Pistons packing 111-103 as both closed out their best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinal series on the road, four games to two.

And now, it's the defending world champion 76ers again facing the once dynastic Celtics in another best-of-7 set starting Sunday in Philadelphia.

The Western Division semifinals resume tonight when division winner St. Louis tries to take another step away from elimination by squaring its series against San Francisco on the West Coast. The Warriors, who finished 13 games behind the Hawks in regular season play, blew one chance Sunday to eliminate the Hawks, but still hold a 3-2 lead.

The winner of that series will oppose Los Angeles, which won its semifinal against Chicago

Sunday night. Everyone expected the 76ers and Celtics to clash again, but there were some doubts when the upstart Knicks and Pistons held their own early and stood 2-2 in games. Then age—and talent—began to come across.

"From my experience, the older veterans, tried and true, are the ones that perform best in the crucial games," said 76er Coach Alex Hannum after watching nine-year veteran Wilt Chamberlain and 10-year veteran Hal Greer take apart the Knicks in the second half Monday night.

"Wilt was sick as a dog the other day and Greer had a bad foot, but when it came right to it, they were ready," said Hannum.

Greer hammered home 35 points, including 22 in the second half when the 76ers blew open a tight contest. He had 13 in the third quarter which began with Philadelphia behind 57-56 and ended with the 76ers ahead 86-76.

Wilt dominated the middle in the final half, blocking shots and grabbing rebounds, and finished with 25 points and 27 rebounds.

The Knicks, as in earlier games, jumped to a big early lead, 17-4 and 31-17, but in the end, their own pressing defense wore them down in only their second playoff appearance in nine years.

"They put pressure on the guards, the same way Boston does, but the Celtics are more successful because they have Bill Russell to back them up. Walt Bellamy did a great job for New York, but he's no Russell on defense," Hannum said.

"People say Boston is getting older, but the older veterans get new life in the playoffs."

Russell did against Detroit, scoring 15 points and hauling in 23 rebounds. And John Havlicek, another playoff-wise veteran, hit 31 points to help offset 44 points by Dave Bing of the Pistons, who made the playoffs for the first time in five years.

Boston, in the division finals for the 11th straight year, took a 57-49 halftime lead, but had some anxious moments in the second half when Bing hit a club record 37 points. His 16 straight points got the Pistons within six but no closer.

Orioles Could Be Back In Thick Of AL Battle

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Our problem," said Baltimore's Hank Bauer last month, "is to get out of spring training healthy."

"If we stay sound," added Orioles' superstar Frank Robinson, "I think we're going to win it." A few days later, the Orioles' plane lost an engine on the way to an exhibition game in Sarasota. Then Jim Palmer's pitching shoulder went lame—and Manager Bauer's suntan began to fade.

When spring training began, it was generally agreed that if the Orioles remained healthy they would be back in the thick of the 1968 American League race after a nightmarish fall. Everything happened to Baltimore in 1967—and none of it was good.

Palmer, Dave McNally and Wally Bunker, who each had pitched a World Series shutout over Los Angeles in 1966, were shelved by sore arms.

Triple Crown winner Robinson suffered a concussion in a baseline collision, sat out a month and played the last two with double vision.

Boog Powell, winner of the AL Comeback of the Year award the previous year, topped from a .287 average, 34 home runs and 109 runs batted in to .234, 13 homers and 55 RBI.

The Orioles crawled home in a sixth place tie with Washington, 15½ games off the pace. But their troubles weren't over. Center fielder Paul Blair, the league's No. 5 hitter, went to Puerto Rico to play winter ball—and broke his ankle.

Bauer, beginning his fifth year as the Orioles' pilot, came to camp with fingers crossed. The three sore-armed pitchers were throwing without pain, Robinson's vision was normal, Powell was determined and Blair was itching to play after bouncing back from an operation.

The Orioles, still young and strengthened during the winter by a multi-player trade with Chicago, could go all the way if Palmer's arm trouble isn't serious—or contagious—and if Powell bounces back to help Frank Robinson and Brooks Robinson carry the offensive load.

The lineup probably will be the same as last year, with the exception of shortstop, where slick-fielding Mark Belanger takes over for Luis Aparicio. Aparicio was traded to the White Sox, with outfielder Russ Snyder and pitcher John Matias, for infielder Don Buford and pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson.

Powell will be back at first base, Dave Johnson, .247, at second and Brooks Robinson, .29, at third.

Rookies Dave May and Marv Rettermund are pressing for outfield jobs. But Frank Robinson, .311, and Blair, .293, are established in right and center while Curt Blefary, .242, figures to be back in left.

Andy Etchebarren, .215, likely will handle most of the catching.

Baltimore pitchers had many problems in 1967. One of them, according to Bauer, was non-support. "We lost 33 one-run games and a total of 56 by one and two runs," he said.

Tom Phoebus, 14-9, Jim Hardin, 8-3, and Howard, 3-10 with Chicago, are starting candidates along with Palmer, McNally and Bunker. Pete Richert, 9-16, moves to the bullpen, joining Gene Brabender, Moe Drabowsky, Eddie Watt and Stu Miller. Richert and Brabender are available as starters if some of the other arms don't hold up.

Belanger's glove will help at shortstop but his hitting potential is suspect.

"I don't know how much he'll hit, but that's beside the point," Bauer said. "He's not going to carry the team. If the Robinsons don't hit and Powell and Blefary don't either, we're gone anyway."

If they all hit, Belanger does too and the pitchers stay off the disabled list, the rest of the league might be gone.

Boston Upset By AAU Action

BOSTON (AP) — Entries are pouring in for the 72nd annual Boston A.A. Marathon April 19. But race officials are disturbed by the AAU action in scheduling an Olympic trial in San Francisco just two days after the Patriot's Day Hopkinton-to-Boston run.

"At best the decision was inconsiderate; at worst, a deliberate effort to scuttle Eastern prominence in long distance running," BAA President Will Cloney told a news conference Monday.

"The Boston race is famous the world over and is the oldest outside of the Olympic Marathon itself," Cloney said.

"Scheduling a tryout on that date (April 21) on the Coast robs a few Western runners of the chance to compete in a race that carries tremendous prestige."

Cloney, who also directs the annual BAA indoor track meet, which like the Marathon is sanctioned by the AAU, also was disturbed that the AAU long distance running committee ignored the Boston run as a trial for the Olympics.

The AAU has set regional trials for San Francisco, Culver City, Calif., Minneapolis, Atlantic City, N.J., Detroit, and Holyoke, Mass. The final will be held Aug. 18 in Alamosa, Colo.

Lonborg, who plays 27 holes of golf daily, gets in plenty of swimming and works with weights as part of his rehabilitation, plans to throw from the mound Wednesday for the first time this spring.

The big right-hander, who suffered a serious left knee injury in a skiing accident last December, will pitch lightly before the Red Sox wind up their Winter Haven exhibition schedule against the Oakland Athletics.

When the Red Sox break camp Friday, Lonborg will head for the Louisville training site at Deland, Fla., to continue his special therapy program and workouts until the club reaches Boston in mid-April.

Gibson Feels Ready To Start The New Season

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
You can start the baseball season any time, Mr. Commissioner. Bob Gibson's ready.

The Old St. Louis Cardinals' World Series hero of last year pitched seven overpowering innings against the Chicago White Sox in an exhibition game Monday. His only regret was that Manager Red Schoendienst didn't let him finish.

"I felt fine and could have gone nine innings," the big right-hander said after the Cardinals' 3-1 victory. Gibson gave up only five hits and one walk while striking out four. In addition, he retired the last 13 batters he faced.

In other games Monday, Boston beat Atlanta 1-0, Houston edged Oakland 2-1, the New York Yankees shaded Detroit 6-5, Pittsburgh nipped the New York Mets 4-3, Philadelphia crushed Minnesota 8-1, Baltimore took Washington 5-2, the Chicago Cubs outslugged Los Angeles 9-8 and California nosed out Cleveland 10-9.

Gibson, who won three World Series games over the Red Sox last year, has been named by Schoendienst to open the season for the Cardinals next week against Atlanta.

Mike Shannon provided the muscle in the St. Louis attack, with a homer and a double among his four hits, raising his spring batting average to .390. The Red Sox also got a strong pitching performance from Gary Waslewski, who set down the Braves on seven hits in the seven innings he worked. Reggie Smith, who had three hits for Boston, drove in the only run of the game in the first inning with a single.

Bob Aspromonte scored the winning run for Houston, counting in on Hector Torres' squeeze bunt with one out in the ninth after he had doubled and moved to third on the throw to second. Steve Witaker's two solo home runs off Denny McLain beat the Tigers for the Yankees. Fritz Peterson was the winning pitcher despite giving up homers to Ray Oyler and Jim Price.

Jose Pagan's run-scoring single in the eighth, his third hit of the game, drove in Pittsburgh's winning run. Manny Jimenez had a two-run homer for the Pirates.

Richie Allen had a homer and two doubles while adding Hise had two homers and a double in the Phillies' slugfest triumph over the Twins. Hise had five runs batted in, all told.

Curt Blefary hit a homer and Boog Powell had a two-run double for the Orioles. Frank Coggins had two triples for the Senators in their losing cause.

The Cubs scored five runs in the ninth, then survived a four-run Dodger ninth to win by a run. Don Kessinger's homer snapped a 4-4 tie, then an error by Rocky Colavito let in the final two runs of the inning.

Rick Reichardt had three runs batted in during the last two innings to lead California to a comeback win over the Indians. The Angels pounded out 17 hits, 14 off starter Sam McDowell.

Burleson Hopes To Make Team

By WAYNE FALIGOWSKI
Albany Democrat-Herald
Written for Associated Press

ALBANY, Ore. (AP) — Dyrrol Burleson hopes to make the American Olympic team this year for the third time but he says, "we'll lose, with the Russians again dominating the games."

"In the track and field portion of it we'll probably score well," he said. "But the Russians concentrate on sports that are held in the Olympics. They don't play football or baseball, something the U.S. would surely dominate if such sports were held. As for the Russian athlete himself, an athlete is an athlete."

Burleson, now 27, ran his first mile under four minutes in 1960 at Eugene, Ore., when he was a sophomore at the University of Oregon.

Burleson has gone under 4 minutes 12 times.

He ran sixth in the 1,500 meters in Rome and fifth in the Tokyo Olympics four years ago.

Burleson says that on the threatened Negro boycott of the Olympics, "I have to sympathize somewhat with them. But Bob Hayes (world record sprinter and pro football player) put it quite nicely when he said that athletics have given Negroes an opportunity to excel. They have gotten economic benefits... the decision to boycott the games should be an individual judgment alone."

Thieu Opines U.S. Might Begin Pullout In '68

WHERE THE BOMBING STOPPED — Arcs measure area north of the DMZ zone in Vietnam where the U.S. halted bombing under President Johnson's peace proposal. Only that section about 35 miles north of the DMZ, south of Dong Hoi, will continue to be bombed, military sources said. (AP Wire-photo Map)

By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today

his government could agree to a gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops beginning by the end of this year, but he made clear he would hate to see them go.

In his first comments on President Johnson's de-escalation speech Sunday night, Thieu told a news conference that only more troops can hasten the end of the war. He also said if the United States withdraws from Vietnam, "they will be avoiding their responsibility and deserting the free world."

But when asked by what date he thought the United States could begin to withdraw, Thieu replied: "If the United States requests a withdrawal of its troops, we can agree to a gradual withdrawal beginning by the end of 1968. Of course, we will never ask the United States to go home, but if the U.S. government wants it, we can begin to relieve some American troops with our new effort to mobilization."

Thieu recently announced the South Vietnamese armed forces would be increased 135,000 men by the middle of the year and said general mobilization would be necessary after that.

Although an aide said earlier that Thieu had accepted President Johnson's invitation to visit the United States, Thieu said the invitation was still under consideration. He said the formal invitation had been received "only this morning," some hours after Johnson revealed it in a speech in Chicago.

A spokesman for the South Vietnamese government said earlier that the date of the visit would depend on Thieu's schedule and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky would not accompany him.

Thieu told the news conference the South Vietnamese government had agreed to the curtailment in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, but "This is the last time we want to show our good will."

He said if there is no satisfactory response from Hanoi his general mobilization order "We will do it now."

Like President Johnson in his announcement of the bombing curtailment, Thieu set no deadline for Hanoi's response. But the South Vietnamese leader said: "It is a matter of weeks, not a matter of months."

Thieu made these other points: —His government will never agree to a coalition government with the Viet Cong. The Viet Cong can participate in peace negotiations, but only as part of the North Vietnamese delegation. Thieu and Ky have insisted on both points repeatedly.

—He does not think President Johnson's speech Sunday was the first step in a face-saving American withdrawal from Vietnam. "I have no suspicion of that because of the decisive stand of the United States . . . concerning peace in all of Southeast Asia," Thieu said.

—U.S. pressure could never force a coalition government in cluding the Viet Cong on South Vietnam. "This is a Vietnamese war," Thieu said. "The American government and policies can change but the ideals and policies of the government of Vietnam will never change . . . We will not accept any policy that runs against the Vietnamese people."

—Differences between Thieu and Vice President Ky are over-emphasized. "We may differ on individual points, but we are working together for the highest interests of Vietnam," Thieu said. He appealed to the news-men not to look "with a microscope for small differences which are sometimes imaginary between the vice president and myself."

Thieu added that he had asked Ky to take on the supervi-

Predicts Better Artificial Heart

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-ranking government heart researcher forecasts development by 1973 of a totally implantable artificial heart based on a new concept of energy-supply: Use of the body's own digested food and inhaled oxygen.

Electrical energy to pump the robot heart would come from a fuel cell that would burn oxygen from the blood stream and also glucose, a form of sugar produced by food digested in the normal fashion.

Dr. Frank Hastings, chief of the artificial heart research program of the National Heart Institute, told The Associated Press that promising results have been achieved at the laboratory level in developing the fuel-cell concept.

He said it looks like the best prospect yet for ultimately making completely implantable artificial hearts available to hundreds of thousands of cardiac patients newly stricken each year. He indicated it would eliminate the need for human heart transplants.

The idea would be to graft the fuel-cell—consisting of a porous but tough, jelly-like plastic material—into the aorta, the body's major artery, beginning at the point where the blood vessel normally connects with the natural heart. The cell would employ a thin sheet of gold-alloy fibers which would act as a catalyst in promoting energy-producing chemical reactions.

Electrical energy, produced by the fuel-cell, would flow to the "muscles" of the nearby implanted artificial heart, enabling it to pump blood in and out of itself.

The robot heart itself would consist of a tough but flexible rubbery material, which would be covered with a thin envelope of living tissue fashioned from a vein in the patient's leg.

Indicating that energy-supply is the major problem in the quest for perfecting artificial hearts, Dr. Hastings said the fuel-cell concept has certain theoretical advantages—including potentially greater safety—over a system that envisions using radioactive plutonium as the power source. A version of the latter system is also being developed by the National Heart Institute in cooperation with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Hastings said the fuel-cell is being developed under a $325,000 NHI contract by the Monsanto Research Corp. of Everett, Mass., one of many firms cooperating in the institute's many-faceted, $8.5 million - a year program aimed at developing improved "circulatory assist devices," including artificial hearts.

He said that while certain problems remain to be solved, the first robot heart employing the system should be ready for human use "in four to five years."

Higher Salaries, Less Clerical Work Supported

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Raymond Stone, a candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, has called for higher salaries, less clerical work and more incentive pay for North Carolina school teachers.

The 41-year-old president of Sandhills Community College at Southern Pines said Monday, "A teacher with an 'A' type certificate and a year's experience should be paid a minimum of $6,500."

He also said he advocates paying teachers for training beyond the master's degree.

Stone's remarks came in an address before the four-county Schoolmasters Club as he launched a statewide speaking tour in his bid for the state's top education post.

Manpower Shortage In Siberia; Harsh Living

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Siberia is suffering from a critical labor shortage.

This sprawling, rich expanse of the Soviet Union once had plenty of workers—men sent during the Stalin years to forced labor camps.

With the partial relaxation of police state controls since Stalin's death in 1953, many forced laborers and ethnic groups which had been deported to Siberia have been allowed to return home.

The Soviet state has tried to encourage other workers to move to Siberia to fill the gap.

Harsh living conditions and other problems have discouraged some would-be settlers from making the move and prompted others already there to leave.

One recent survey at the big industrial site of the Sorsk molybdenum plant in central Siberia's Krasnoyarsk region showed that 201 persons were leaving for every 100 who arrived.

The labor shortage comes at the wrong time for Soviet planners—when they are hoping to rapidly exploit Siberia's rich material deposits, oil, timber and power resources as the future backbone of national industrial growth.

The labor situation is believed to be one of several factors prompting the Soviet government to seek Japanese help in jointly developing parts of Siberia. Negotiations with Japanese businessmen have not yet been completed for the long-term projects.

Premier Alexei N. Kosygin recently visited two Siberian areas known to suffer from the labor shortage. One was the remote city of Norilsk, north of the Arctic Circle and some 2,000 miles northeast of Moscow. Founded in 1935, it was built entirely by inmates of a prison camp in a frozen area rich with uranium, copper and platinum. Norilsk is the Soviet Union's northernmost industrial center.

Living conditions, one diplomat says, are "hellishly harsh." The average January temperature in the area is -22.

The town's remoteness—850 miles north of the nearest major city—makes transportation costs for consumer goods prohibitively high.

Studies by Soviet scientists have shown that cities like Norilsk have to spend much more than other cities to make living conditions adequate enough to attract settlers. The cost of constructing housing in Norilsk is four times higher than in central European Russia, one study showed.

The other city Kosygin visited—Tyumen—is the oldest Russian settlement in Siberia, almost 400 years old. Located about 1,000 miles east of Moscow near the big industrial city of Sverdlovsk, Tyumen is a fast-growing, important area of natural gas and oil.

It was industrialized during the 1930s by forced laborers. In addition to workers in labor camps, Tyumen was developed by citizens placed in Siberian banishment—political exile permitting them some freedoms within a big closed zone.

The key industry—oil—is most seriously affected, because it needs the very kind of better-educated specialists who are least interested in spending the rest of their lives in Siberia.

RALEIGH—If a professional car thief decides he wants your car, he'll probably get it! Gonzalie Rivers, head of the Car Theft section of the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles License and Safety Inspection says that the real pro car thief knows all the tricks when it comes to getting away with a car. But, he hastens to add, "chances are very good that you'll get your car back and in good condition, too!" Rivers' optimism is based on two factors, the professional thief's need to turn the stolen car into cash by a quick sale, and the extensive auto identification records kept by the Registration Division of the Department of Motor Vehicles and other out-of-state Registration Divisions. "Should an amateur car thief grab your car, however, chances of getting it back intact, are not so good," Rivers says. "Most of your amateurs," he continued, "take cars just for joy rides" or to use for getaway cars. When they're finished with finished with the stolen cars, they either abandon or deliberately wreck them so they can't be traced." According to Rivers, a car owner can usually protect himself from these malicious tactics by taking simple precautions. Locking the car when leaving, or just being certain to remove the car keys, is usually enough to discourage the unskilled thief, says Rivers. "And never," he cautions, "leave your credit cards in the car." "That's just an open invitation to trouble." Most cars stolen by professionals are taken to another state for resale, so identification records are exchanged by states and also kept in central agencies like the National Auto Theft Bureau, with offices in Atlanta, Chicago, and New York.

High Interest Rates Illustrate Frustration

By JOHN CUNIFF
A Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — As a symbol of President Johnson's fiscal frustrations, nothing stands out more clearly than the fact that while advocating low interest rates he has presided over some of the highest rates of the century. Much of his economic program has been filled with these needling ironies and great frustrations. And although the economy has prospered under Johnson, it has taken on an unhealthy, inflationary glow also. There have always been problems, imbalances, stalemates. A man of power—he was elected with the biggest vote in history—and a man with a reputation for making decisions, Johnson has found himself either unable to time his courses of fiscal action or else has had his ideas blocked. Some of his advisers urged him to seek a tax increase during 1966, but he postponed the decision month by month. Inflation crept into the economy and it grew and that was the start of many of today's money problems. Finally in that year, the Federal Reserve Board, thinking the economy too hot, literally challenged the President's expansion policies. The Fed cut the money supply sharply, just at the time that Johnson's policies demanded money. He argued, but he had to give in. In 1967 he attempted to raise income taxes but was blocked by Congress, which wanted also a cutback in expenditures. As this stalemate continued, the value of the dollar became suspect overseas.

these fiscal and monetary crises? It is far too early to guess how history will assess his handling of these issues. It is safe to say that he inherited a healthy economy. But he also inherited a long-standing balance of payments problem. He didn't create it.

TAEJON, Korea (AP) — The South Korean government activated a 2.5-million-man reserve corps today as part of its military buildup triggered by the North Korean commando raid on Seoul in January. The veterans' force was established by President Chung Hee Park's presentation of new colors to Gen. Moon Hyung-tai, whose 2nd Army will have operational control over the new organization.

diamonds and East signaled encouragingly with the eight. West continued with the ace of diamonds and declarer trumped in his hand. The ace of clubs followed by a club ruff provided South with access to the dummy, so that he could discard two more clubs on the ace and king of hearts. The closed hand was reentered by ruffing a diamond, and declarer proceeded to drive out the ace and queen of spades — eventually drawing West's last trump with the ten. Inasmuch as West's king-queen of clubs had made their appearance on the first two rounds of that suit, South was able to cash the game-fulfilling trick with the jack of clubs. West's diamond continuation at trick two cost the defense three tricks, for it not only permitted declarer to trump a club loser but enabled him also to utilize dummy's ace-king of hearts which would otherwise have gone to waste inasmuch as South had no other entry to the North hand. West should have been aware of the threat presented by North's singleton club. He could easily have countered this menace by switching to the ace of spades at trick two, to remove the dummy's trump. Observe that he surrenders nothing in the process, for his queen of spades is still guarded. West may now switch back to diamonds, if he chooses, and declarer is obliged to play the remainder of the deal from his own hand. He must lose — in all — two spades, one diamond, and three clubs for a 800-point deficit.

Without the power to raise or lower taxes, to manipulate fiscal affairs, the economy couldn't be tuned. And, regardless of aims, defense costs made a mockery of fiscal balance. Obstacles always have been in the way of Johnson's fiscal policies. French President Charles de Gaulle and his challenge to the dollar, Congress, the Fed, party members, youth, Negroes, intellectuals. All have been critical and demanding. Is Johnson responsible for

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady Monday. Supplies adequate demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 41½ to 42½; medium, whites: 35½ to 37½; small, whites: 27½ to 30.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets today are steady. Tops of 18.00-18.50 at Rocky Mount; 17.50-18.50 at Wilson; 17.25-18.00 at Statesville; 17.00-18.00 at Bethel; 18.25 at Salisbury; 18.00 at Greensboro; 17.50 at Siler City and Denton.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was a little lower early Tuesday afternoon as profits were taken on Monday's advance, one of the greatest in market history.

The volume of trading slackened considerably from Monday's 17.73-million-share pace but it was still a fairly active day and the ticker tape was late for a while.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .99 at 860.26, slicing its worst drop in the morning, 3.18.

Losses outnumbered gains by about 6 to 5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers expressed themselves as content with the way the market handled profit taking after the 20-point upsurge in the Dow industrials Monday on news of President Johnson's peace move and his withdrawal from presidential contention.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 307.8 with industrials off 1.3, rails unchanged and utilities up .2.

Market sentiment also was rendered more cautious by a Soviet news agency dispatch quoting the North Vietnamese army newspaper as saying that President Johnson was trying to mislead public opinion with his order limiting the bombing of North Vietnam. Many of Monday's high flyers took losses as they subsided from big gains. Among very active issues, Polaroid lost 3, Bell & Howell, Fairchild Camera and "Automatic" Sprinkler more than a point each.

Chrysler, ahead fractionally, paced the list on volume but General Motors dipped a fraction and Du Pont dropped a couple of points.

Prices declined irregularly on the American Stock Exchange although some computer, electronics and other glamour stocks moved higher.

Humphrey And Johnson Confer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today he does not expect President Johnson to take sides in the contest for the Democratic nomination for president.

"I think he will keep hands off and let the Democratic convention decide," Mansfield told newsmen shortly after a White House meeting with Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and other Democratic congressional leaders.

"Whoever the Democratic convention selects will have his support," Mansfield said of Johnson.

It was Humphrey's first meeting with Johnson since the President announced Sunday night he will not accept a second term. Humphrey, who arrived here late Monday from a diplomatic mission to Mexico City, told a crowd of supporters meeting his plane he will say "later on" whether he will be a candidate for the presidency.

The average weight of the St. Bernard dog may be anywhere between 165 and 180 pounds.

Gardner ...

(Continued From Page 1) and staking out roads they have been building for 67 years. You just try to ride down them," he emphasized.

"How fortunate we are ... Republicans working for a party and candidates we believe in. We have the opportunity this year to get the state really moving."

Some 750 persons attended a barbecue supper prior to Gardner's talk last night in the Greenville Tobacco Co. factory on 10th Street.

Present for the rally in addition to Gardner, were candidates for the council of state posts and other Republican candidates for office.

Introduced to the crowd were Dr. John East of Greenville, candidate for Secretary of State; commissioner of agriculture candidate Claude Greene of Robersonville; Everett Peterson of Clinton, Republican candidate for the insurance commissioners post; and Prosper Combs, Republican hopeful for the lieutenant governor's post.

Canada Proposes Satellite System

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government proposed Monday development of a $100 million space satellite system to relay television, telephone and data communications coast to coast and into Canada's far northern regions.

Industry Minister Charles Drury released a policy paper calling for use of both government and private funds to develop by 1971 or 1972 a system with at least four channels, each capable of carrying one television transmission or 600 two-way telephone conversations.

The only country now using satellites for domestic communications is the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Lupton is a member of Immanuel Baptist Church where she is vice president of the Women of the United Church Council.

She is married to C. L. Lupton of Hyde County and they have two sons, Leon Parker, 12 and Carl, 14. The Luptons reside at 1800 East Fifth Street.

"I feel that the warmth and reception of the people of Pitt County for gubernatorial candidate Bob Scott have been very gratifying," Mrs. Lupton said. "Scott definitely is for the improvement and betterment of eastern North Carolina."

Funds Approved For New Greene Garage Facility

SNOW HILL — The Greene County Commissioners yesterday approved a request from the Greene County Board of Education for appropriation of funds for the construction of the garage facility in the amount of $47,000.

The construction funds will include $40,000 from the sale of the Hookerton School, $4,000 from the sale of the Walstonburg teaching and $3,000 from previously unappropriated surplus.

H. K. Cobb of Snow Hill, whose term on the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board expires this year, was reappointed to serve another three year term and was appointed chairman of the three-man board. Other members of the board are S. G. Fields of Walstonburg and L. H. Stocks of Hookerton. Cobb's reappointment was made by a composite board composed of the Greene County Commissioners, the Greene County Board of Education and the Greene County Board of Health.

The board reappointed the following men to two-year terms on the Greene County Planning Board: Ben Rayford, Carl T. Hicks, Roy T. Forrest, L. A. Moye Sr., R. H. Jones, W. R. Price, W. W. Exum and George M. Harris and Robert Hill. Hill was also appointed to replace the late A. C. Edwards on the Greene County Economic Development Commission.

Board members approved a program of the Wildlife Resource Commission for clearing the Contentnea Creek channel of fallen logs and debris.

The commission passed a motion requesting the State Highway Commission to erect a caution light at the intersection of Highways 58 and 13, about three miles northwest of Snow Hill.

Greene County Welfare Director Rachel P. Sugg gave the board a report on the food stamp program. The program, scheduled to begin April 1 in Greene County, was reported in readiness and a formal ceremony was held in Snow Hill this morning to open the program.

Speaker Sees Alcoholism As Major Public Health Problem

By GEORGE BRYANT

"The last few years have been a growing political and community awareness of the problem of alcoholism" and "we are on the threshold of a major breakthrough."

The speaker was Dr. David J. Pittman, internationally known authority on alcoholism and the problems it poses, concern not just to the victim, he said, but the community and the nation. Dr. Pittman was addressing a luncheon sponsored here by the local Pitt County Alcoholic Information Center which is headed by Mrs. Helen Barrett.

Dr. Pittman described alcoholism as "a massive public health problem that has been ignored for years." He estimated there are six million alcoholics in this country and that new cases are coming in at the rate of 200,000 a year.

"The United States remains one of the few countries in the Western World without an enacted legislative program of alcoholism control," Dr. Pittman told his audience. This is true despite the fact that alcoholism ranks fourth among the serious diseases which plague the nation, and the U. S. ranks second among the nations of the world in drinking.

"State and local programs have run far ahead of anything along the banks of the Potomac," Dr. Pittman said. He feels that alcoholism is a problem which must be dealt with on a local basis. But he sees a need for extensive research at the Federal level and help to localities in financing facilities for the treatment of alcoholism. He added that progress today has demonstrated that many victims of alcoholism can return to useful and productive lives after proper treatment.

Dr. Pittman pointed out that while the Federal Government collects approximately $4 billion a year from taxes on alcoholic beverages, it spends on ly about 11 million on research in the field of alcoholism.

"I am impressed by the effort in Pitt County and Greenville to create an intellectual and social climate helpful to the problem of alcoholism," Dr. Pittman said. He noted

Forming Martin Citizens' Group

WILLIAMSTON — The Martin County Board of Education yesterday agreed to form a county-wide committee of interested citizens to aid them in promoting improved educational facilities in the county.

The committee will be made up originally of the members of the local advisory committees. First meeting of the group has been set for April 11 at the Martin County Court House, at 7:30 p.m.

The board of education, in a prepared statement, said they would seek the cooperation of the citizens group in seeing that plans for improved education in the county are made a reality, seek the views of the committee on building sites and overall financial support, consolidation of high schools, and the desegregation of schools.

The board yesterday also met with a group of citizens that urged the board to proceed as soon as possible with the school building program and integration of the county schools.

Also discussed at the session yesterday were parts of the school budget for 1968-69 school year, involving the local school committees in the selection and hiring of the school principals, and the Governor's Study Commission public hearing scheduled for tonight at 7:30 at the Williamston High School auditorium.
