About 10,000 Men Slated For Vietnam

Pentagon Calling Up 24,000 Reservists Into Active Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford today announced he is calling to active duty about 24,500 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists. About 10,000 will go to South Vietnam.

In his first full-dress news conference, the new defense secretary said that President Johnson intends at this time to limit U.S. forces in Vietnam to 549,500—representing an increase of 24,500 over the present ceiling.

Clifford linked this presidential decision to limit further U.S. deployment to another major decision "to turn over the major effort gradually to the South Vietnamese."

The new secretary, in office only six weeks, said the decision to move toward turning over the biggest part of the war effort to Vietnam has been made after months of consultations with the Vietnamese and took into account the Saigon government's decision to boost its forces by 135,000 men.

Clifford, who has played a major role in high-level government discussions leading to the peace moves, said that "after a halting start" messages are now going back and forth between the United States and the North Vietnamese. He described them as formal in tone.

The new Pentagon chief said the 24,500 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists being called to the 10,000 newly called reservists will go to Vietnam.

He indicated that some of the other 14,500 who will be placed in the strategic reserve may be sent to Vietnam ultimately as individual replacements.

The shipment of the 10,000 will represent the first commitment of reservists to the Vietnam war.

Of the total, 20,000 men are in 76 units of the Army Guard and Army Reserve.

The Navy is calling about 1,000 men in two reserve units and these, Clifford said, will be available for rotation between Southeast Asia and the United States.

The Air Force will muster about 3,500 men in 10 units of the Air Guard and Air Reserve, with about one-third of them to be sent to Southeast Asia under current plans.

"In accordance with our policy," Clifford said, "the units earmarked for deployment in Southeast Asia will not be identified until they have arrived there."

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was one North Carolina unit in the Reserve call unannounced today. It is the 312th Medical Hospital Evacuation, with headquarters in Winston-Salem, an Army Reserve unit.

No South Carolina units were called up.

Civil Rights Leaders Urge Further Action

House Passes New Civil Rights Legislation

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of landmark open-housing legislation has won applause from civil rights leaders along with renewed demands for massive federal attacks on shabby housing and unemployment in riot-prone slums.

A 250-171 House vote Wednesday sent to the White House a civil rights bill to outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the nation's housing by 1970.

President Johnson said he would sign it into law as soon as possible.

The House action followed by a day the funeral of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, whose numerous campaigns often focused on open housing.

It also came after a week of widespread racial violence following King's assassination—and it was in that atmosphere that one Southerner exxplained why he voted for the bill.

"I think this bill is symbolic," explained Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La. "Either we move ahead as one people or we move toward a police state."

Johnson hailed passage of the bill but also urged Congress to enact the rest of his program, including housing and job programs.

After King's slaying, the President said he would address Congress to outline an expanded social program. But he postponed a scheduled appearance last Monday and has not set a new date.

The President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, which recommended a massive social program aimed at eradicating slum problems, schedule an emergency session.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, commission vice chairman, said it's too late to help the people killed and wounded in the week of rioting but added: "It is not too late, however, for the nation to move against this crisis with the urgency and enterprise that the commission sought to generate."

Lindsay didn't specify when the meeting would be held, nor did he say what further moves would be made to win acceptance for its recommendations. But he said that as a beginning, the Senate should restore funds for summer programs in slums.

The Senate moved in that direction Wednesday, rejecting a money bill from which the House had stripped $9 million for the job program and $25 million for the Head Start preschool program.

Traffic Study

A city-wide study of Greenville traffic conditions will move into the interviewing stage here Wednesday, city officials were told yesterday.

Max R. Sproles of the N. C. State Highway Commission told the group that motorists will be stopped at strategic roadside points in the Greenville area and questioned as to destination origin, and purpose of their trip. Sproles explained that the interviews are an integral part of a comprehensive study to determine existing and future street and highway needs.

All motorists were asked to cooperate with the program as it will ultimately benefit them. All answers to questions will be coded to numbers and will be kept strictly confidential, Sproles said.

In addition to the roadside interviews, comprehensive home studies of the driving patterns of 650 families will be conducted.

Sproles emphasized that the studies are necessary to project data for the future so that adequate planning can be provided.

Sproles pointed out that the information obtained in the survey will be particularly valuable to merchants in Greenville.

The program requires that 11 people be hired locally.

The study is a joint effort by city, state, and federal governments costing $32,000. Of this amount, $4,850 will be financed by the city over a two-year period, and the balance will be divided nearly equally between state and federal agencies.

Now 11,482 Pitt Voters Registered

A total of 11,482 voters in Pitt County had registered through Tuesday night, according to I. Bruce Koonce, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections.

Included in the number registered, Koonce said, are 10,396 Democrats and 931 Republicans. The remainder are either registered as independents or listed no party affiliation.

Koonce said eligible voters are still not taking advantage of the days during the week that registration books are opened at the various precincts.

He urged voters to register early. Schedules of the week day registration times have been posted in all public buildings and at other places throughout the county, including the polling places.

The Elections chairman emphasized that in order to be eligible to vote in the May 4 primary, voters must register during this registration period. This is a new registration, Koonce said, and old voter lists will not be used.

Five Die In KC Racial Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five Negroes died during a second night of racial violence in Kansas City but elsewhere there were only scattered and sporadic incidents as the nation's troubled cities edged back toward normalcy.

The deaths raised to 39 the national toll in the wave of rioting and disorders that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. one week ago today.

All of the Kansas City victims were shot to death. Some apparently were caught in the crossfire that flared at times between snipers and police supported by National Guardsmen.

More than 75 fires of incendiary origin were reported.

At least 20 persons, including two guardsmen, were injured, and police and guard troops battled snipers shooting from rooftop vantage points and from moving cars. Sixty persons were arrested.

In Newark city officials imposed a limited curfew for the early morning hours in a small section of the city. There were scattered reports of looting but otherwise the city remained calm.

The officials said the midnight to 6 a.m. curfew was ordered after several hundred Negro youths gathered on blocks near where a row of stores had gone up in flames earlier in the evening.

A total of 47,000 National Guardsmen remained committed to riot control duty in 15 states and the District of Columbia. There were also 20,000 federal troops in Washington, Chicago and Baltimore.

The nation's capital passed its first business day without major incident. It was expected the 14,000 troops would be released soon from their patrol duties which already have been reduced.

Reds Paid Dearly For Futile Siege

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. government sources say American military patrols probing out from the once-besieged Khe Sanh base have found more than 800 North Vietnamese bodies, most of them unburied.

The sources cited this as an indicator of how badly the Communist troops who once surrounded the outpost suffered from U.S. artillery and air bombing.

They said the 829 bodies found since April 1 represent a preliminary count and that they expect a much higher total after U.S. forces comb the mountainous area.

Many bodies were in mass graves but most were unburied.

This was interpreted by the government sources as a sign the Communists suffered a command breakdown and possibly morale problems toward the end of the more than two-month siege, which was lifted last week.

Military officials disputed the view, expressed in some diplomatic quarters, that the North Vietnamese voluntarily lifted the siege to emphasize Hanoi's willingness to talk peace.

"He was hurt," said one senior military officer of the enemy. The officer contended the Communists were forced by heavy U.S. firepower to give up the siege.

Officials estimate there are up to 7,000 Communist troops in the Khe Sanh area, compared with an estimated high of 20,000 at the height of the siege.

Authorities said U.S. loss statistics disprove the claims of some critics who contend Khe Sanh was too costly in men and materials for the United States to hold.

Bethel Grant

Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced approval of a $37,800 grant to the town of Bethel. Jones said the Federal funds are part of a budget of $136,000 for construction of a new waste stabilization lagoon at Bethel.

The funds, he said, come from the Federal Water Pollution Administration of the Department of the Interior.

New Vietnam CG And Postmaster General

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has moved quickly to replace Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, first Cabinet casualty of his "lame duck" administration, while making official the expected appointment of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams as U. S. commander in Vietnam.

The President told White House newsmen Wednesday he had accepted O'Brien's resignation and had nominated W. Marvin Watson, now presidential appointments secretary, to fill the Cabinet post.

In addition to naming Abrams, 53, to take over for Gen. William C. Westmoreland when he becomes Army chief of staff in July, Johnson picked Adm. John S. McCain, 57, now commander of U.S. naval forces in Europe, to succeed retiring Adm. U.S.Grant Sharp as commander in chief, Pacific.

The military reshuffle also involved Johnson's naming of Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, now commandant of the National War College in Washington and staff secretary to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, to succeed Abrams as deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Johnson, who has said he won't seek or accept nomination for another term, took note of his "lame duck" status in announcing O'Brien's resignation. He said that when the Postmater General spoke to him earlier in the day about resigning, he told O'Brien "that since I was not going to be a candidate for re-election, I realize the Cabinet had made many sacrifices . . . and that now was the time for any of them to make decisions concerning their families and their future."

The President wouldn't discuss O'Brien's future plans but aides of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said the postmaster general would soon join the New Yorker's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

ALL WERE OPPOSED

WASHINGTON (AP) — All 11 members of the North Carolina delegation voted against Wednesday as the House approved 229-195 a motion to clear the way for final passage of the Civil Rights Bill.

Steiger, Katherine Hepburn Win Oscars

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "In the Heat of the Night" won five Oscars, including best-picture acclaim and best-actor honors for Rod Steiger, at the 40th Academy Awards ceremony.

Katharine Hepburn, 58, was named 1967's best motion picture actress as perplexed mother whose daughter plans to marry a Negro in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

The accolades of movieland were scattered, and there were a few surprises Wednesday night. Considered hotter contenders than Hepburn were Faye Dunaway of the explosive "Bonnie and Clyde" and Anne Bancroft the neurotic who seduces a youth half her age in "The Graduate."

Steiger was acclaimed by Sidney Poitier, the boyfriend taken home to "Dinner" and the Negro costar of Steiger in "Heat" this way:

"He's probabily the greatest actor in the world."

In accepting his award, Steiger thanked Poitier for giving him understanding of racial prejudice.

Both "In the Heat of the Night" and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" dealt with the racial problem.

Mike Nichols, 37, nominated a year ago for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?", won this time among directors for his second film, "The Graduate."

Supporting honors went to George Kennedy, the chain gang convict of "Cool Hand Luke" and to Broadway's Estelle Parsons in "Bonnie and Clyde," her second movie and first important film role.

Find 46 Bodies In Ferry Disaster

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Searchers in patrol boats and mountaineers scouring Wellington harbor's rocky shoreline have found 46 bodies from the ferry Wahine which sank Wednesday in a wild storm, officials reported. Thirteen persons were listed as missing.

This sharply reduced earlier polie estimates that the dead might read 100 or more.

'CARE ENOUGH'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This note was scribbled on a blackboard in a classroom at Ohio State University: "Draft Graduate Students. Care Enough to Send the Best."

Main Provisions Of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following are the main provisions of the civil rights bill passed by the House Wednesday:

Open Housing: Makes it unlawful to discriminate in the sale or rental of housing on the basis of race, color or religion. Upon enactment, the ban would apply to housing built with the aid of federal funds, including FHA and Veteran Administration mortgages, public housing and urban renewal housing. Such housing is already covered by an executive order issued in 1962.

After Dec. 31, 1968, the law would apply to other housing, except for single-family houses if the owner doesn't own more than three houses, dwellings of four units or less if the owner occupies one of them, and housing provided by religious organizations and private clubs for members.

After Dec. 31, 1969, the single-family exemption would apply only to owners who sell or rent their houses themselves without using the services or facilities of a real estate broker. At that point it is estimated the law would cover 80 per cent of the nation's housing units.

Enforcement would be through private court action brought by the person claiming he was discriminated against, by conciliation through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or by suits filed by the attorney general where a wide pattern of discrimination is alleged. A plaintiff proving discrimination could collect $1,000 in damages.

State laws granting the same protection would not be invalidated by the federal law.

Interference with Protected Activities: Makes it unlawful to interfere by threats or violence with anyone engaged in activities protected by the Constitution or federal law. It covers threats or violence by private persons as well as by officials.

Penalties would vary according to the seriousness of the offense, up to life imprisonment in the event of death of the victim.

Antiriot: Makes it unlawful to travel in interstate commerce with the intention of inciting, organizing, or participating in a riot, or to help anyone else do so. Also makes it a crime to teach or demonstrate the use or making of firearms or explosives, or transporting such weapons, with knowledge that they will be used in a riot.

Indian Rights: Creates a Bill of Rights similar to the first 10 amendments to the Constitution for American Indians in relation to their tribes. Also permits tribes, by special elections, to determine whether they want to be placed under state criminal and civil jurisdiction.

Ban On Sale Of Alcoholic Beverages Lifted By Governor Moore

RALEIGH (AP) — Sale of alcoholic beverages was resumed today in North Carolina as tensions continued to subside after nearly a week of sporadic racial violence.

Re-opening of the liquor stores and resumption of beer and wine sales was announced Wednesday by Gov. Dan Moore at a news conference in Raleigh. The governor also said nearly 5,000 National Guardsmen activated in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King in Memphis, Tenn., will be gradually demobilized

Sixteen cities which had imposed nightly curfews as vandalism, arson, looting and some sniping spread across the state also have begun to relax restrictions. Only Charlotte, Concord, Durham, Franklinton and Wilson still were under curfew Wednesday night.

At Wilson, City Manager N. Jack Maynard announced today his city's curfew will be in effect again tonight, but not until 11 p.m. Previously it had been in effect at 7 p.m.

Meanwhile, threee Negroes were sentenced to long prison terms in City Recorder's Court at Wilson Wednesday on charges on malicious damage to personal property.

Bobby Dawson, 18, of Wilson and James Curtis Moore, 18, of Wilson, were sentenced to two five-year terms each, the terms to run consecutively. Carl Patrick Speight, 25, of Elm City was sentenced to six years. They appealed to Judge Allen W. Harrell set bond at $25,000 each.

At Durham, Mayor Wense Grabarek today lifted the "state of emergency" Durham has been operating under since Sunday, and called an end to the nightly curfews.

Durham was under a midnight to 5 a.m. curfew last night. For the first time since Saturday no fire-bombings or other acts of violence were reported to police.

However, 13 persons were arrested during the early morning hours today for being on the streets in violation of the curfew.

North Carolina, Moore announced, "is coming out of a long midnight of violence and destruction.

"We cannot live in fear—and we will not."

Guardsmen, who were ordered into some cities as early as Thursday night — only hours after the slaying of King — will be permitted to return to their homes and jobs "as conditions permit," Moore told newsmen.

He said he recognized that "there are those in North Carolina who are understandably frustrated by their inability to fully share in the growing prosperity. We will seek for them a more productive and satisfying life.

"We must continue to build a better North Carolina for all races and all people."

"We must, and we can, and we will."

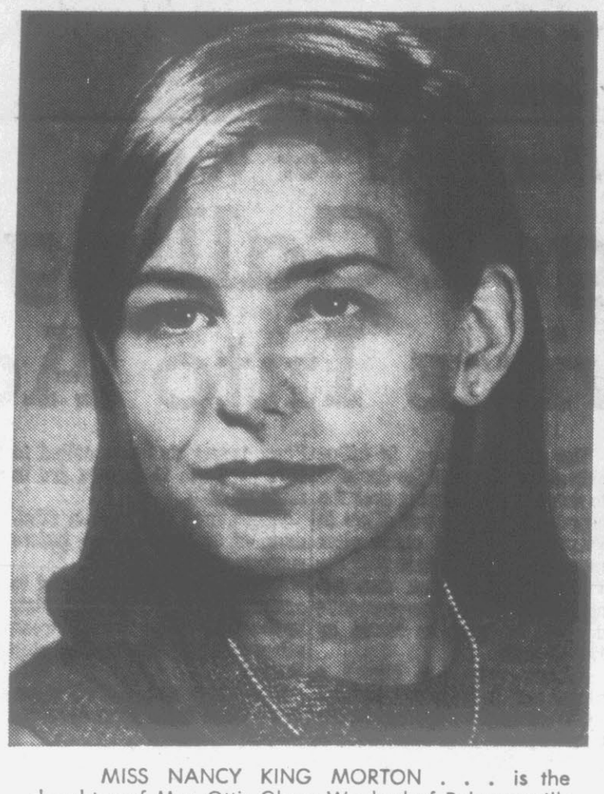

Riot damage is expected to be counted in hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars, but no lives were lost during the six days of disturbances.

About 1,000 persons were arrested, most of them on curfew violation charges which may not be pressed in several cities.

Will His Story Help Others?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I teach a class in our high school called "Preparation For Living."

Four years ago, a student brought an item from your column to class. We discussed it, and later it was posted on the bulletin board. Many students copied it.

Abby, teachers and mothers can talk themselves blue in the face, but no one can get thru to young people like "one of their own" who has lived thru the experience and learned from it.

The letter I refer to was signed "A SORRY SAILOR" and told the sad story of what can happen when teen-agers indulge in sex. I am enclosing that letter with the hope that you will run it again. Thank you.

M. J. E.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years I have often wanted to give you a piece of my mind about your old - fashioned attitude towards sex and teen - agers. However, I now know that you were right and I only wish I had listened to you.

A year ago, while still in high school, I started dating a girl two years younger than I. We fell head over heels in love. Our parents were friends and were overjoyed. They gave us complete freedom. When I would go to her house, her folks would go to bed early so we could be alone. At first we just cuddled on the couch and watched TV. It was wonderful.

We were together, alone, sometimes as often as six nights a week. We started necking a little, and then all the time. I started getting a little fresh, and she resisted, but she finally gave in from fear of losing me.

Anyway, one thing led to another, and before we knew it, we had gone too far.

We started feeling guilty about what we were doing, but we consoled ourselves that we were "in love." that as soon as she was out of school we'd be married — so what difference did it make? One night we had a terrible argument, and although thought it had nothing to do with sex, I know it would never have happened if we had behaved ourselves.

Anyway, she hit me and I hit her back. I have never forgiven myself for that and I don't believe I ever will. She went running home, and told her mother EVERYTHING that had happened between us. You can imagine what happened after that.

I was going to college at the time. I couldn't keep my mind on my studies. I just wanted to lie down and die. Finally, I knew I was flunking out, so I quit college and joined the Navy.

I saw her on the street just once before I left for basic training. She cried and told me she still felt the same about me and was sorry for what she had done, but it was too late then. Her parents have refused to let her see me. Four months ago I was in college and I had the girl I loved. We had our whole lives mapped out.

Now I am on an island in the Pacific, thousands of miles from home.

I'd give anything in the world if my girl had stuck by her guns and I hadn't been so persistent. Any girl who thinks she has to put out to keep a guy is crazy. I would have stayed with her if she'd only have let me hold her hand.

But I guess I was like every other boy. Selfish.

I am sorry now, and would give anything for a second chance, but I'll never get it. I love that girl with all my heart and I will love her for the rest of my life.

Please keep telling teens and parents what you have in the past. Parents don't know what can happen when they push their kids into being adults. And kids don't realize they are playing with dynamite when they experiment with sex.

You may use all of this letter, or any part of it, Abby, to help get the point across to young people. It is something that can't be stressed too strongly because the stakes are so high. Just sign me. . .

A SORRY SAILOR

Wishing Visitors A Pleasant Stay

This week should not pass without a hearty welcome to the outstanding diving and swimming participants who have come to Greenville for the National AAU Men's Indoor Swimming and Diving Championship.

Greenville is honored that these young men — the best in the swimming and diving field — have come here for the competition in East Carolina University's impressive new Minges Colesium natatorium.

We are also humbly proud that the AAU chose East Carolina for this year's championship competition. We believe that East Carolina University offers facilities in its new natatorium which are among the finest to be found.

It is regrettable that the event came at a turbulant time, both locally and nationally. There can be no doubt that the necessity of a curfew here early in the week affected attendance at the diving events.

The curfew is lifted now, however, and it is our hope that local citizens will show full support of this important championship event by attending today, Friday and Saturday. The AAU championship is certainly one of the most important athletic events ever held in Greenville and it is taking place in one of the outstanding swimming and diving facilities in the nation today.

We wish for the visiting swimmers a pleasant visit in Greenville and we feel that local citizens will extend them every courtesy while they are here.

Glimmer Of Hope For Man's Better Side

In times of crisis it is often hard to find a glimmer of hope for the better side of man. That's why goodness, when it is seen, casts a healthy light over the pall of violence and tension — even though it might not attract much attention.

A sample of that light was seen in Goldsboro Monday night. Some Negro women, the story goes, were stopped by National Guardsmen on a dark sidewalk after curfew. The women were taking food and desert to a policeman and a guardsman standing sentry near their homes in the Negro community.

And later, many residents took coffee and cake to the sentries and some even sent food to police headquarters.

The story didn't take up much space. It didn't draw a banner headline. But think of it this way: the day such incidents become as newsworthy as the violence around which they are now set, then that day will dawn on a state of utter anarchy in a country which will have ceased to exist. May that day never come.

Uproar Further Slowed Politics

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Civil commotion, violence in the cities and the clamping of curfew may further slow the pace of this Spring's state political campaigns.

It's entirely possible according to the campaign managers and top lieutenants of the major candidates. Certainly there will be some adjustment of plans and perhaps the cancelling of campaign appearances.

But the extent of changes in plans depends largely on how long nightly curfews remain in effect, whether racial trouble outbreaks can be stopped and tension eased. As long as situations such as those of last weekend exist there can be no "politicking as usual" and the primary date of May 4 is fast approaching.

Final Flourish

Thus far the various campaigns have been marked by a strange, quiet lethargy and voter apathy. Few have generated much enthusiasm and excitement.

Most political observers believed the tempo would pick up quickly after the Easter holidays — next weekend —and apparently the campaigns have been planned to finish with a flourish during the remaining few weeks.

Whether this will be possible — at least as effectively as planned — remains to be seen. The question is causing concern.

Direct Effect

One apparent immediate effect of the Dr. Martin Luther King assassination and wave of protests across the state and nation was to shove the political campaigns further into the background.

"This overshadows everything else," says one veteran political campaigner. "Right now, people aren't excited about politics — they have other things on their mind.

"Until the racial situation calms and things cool off, I don't imagine there will be much else on the front pages.

Judges Opposed

Among the very quietest of the political campaigners, being conducted with befitting dignity and decorum, are those by the only two members of the state's new Court of Appeals who have primary opposition.

These are Chief Judge Raymond B. Mallard and Judge Naomi Morris.

All six of the judges of the new court created by the 1967 General Assembly are standing for election this year having been appointed initially by Gov. Dan Moore. But only Judges Mallard and Morris are opposed.

Mallard, of Tabor City, was a superior court judge from 1955-1967 and is a past chairman of the state conference of superior court judges. Judge Morris, of Wilson, is only the second woman in North Carolina to hold such a high judicial post.

Trouble Began With Vietnam

By WILLARD SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) —The boom of the first American bomb on North Vietnam in August 1964 signaled the mushrooming troubles at home and abroad that finally drove Lyndon B. Johnson out of the political arena.

One way or another the divisions within the nation, which the President gave as the reason for his decision not to run again, represent swelling reverberations from that blast.

The list is nearly endless—accusations of fraud following the administration's stated reasons for the first bombing, complaints of a credibility gap in administration reports of war progress and prospects, immorality charges over U.S. participation in the war, trouble in the streets and protests that war money should be used instead to solve problems at home.

The first bombs fell on Communist shore installations in retaliation for a reported attack by North Vietnamese torpedo boats on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The national split showed up — just a small crack initially — in the first event that followed. That was Senate adoption of the Tonkin Resolution.

Only Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, opposed that measure. They argued the United States had no right to make war in Vietnam and had no national interest to serve there.

That and similar points of view have been gaining backers ever since.

But the Johnson administration has cited the Tonkin Resolution as its commission for whatever measures it felt necessary to meet the stated goal of deterrence for the Communists.

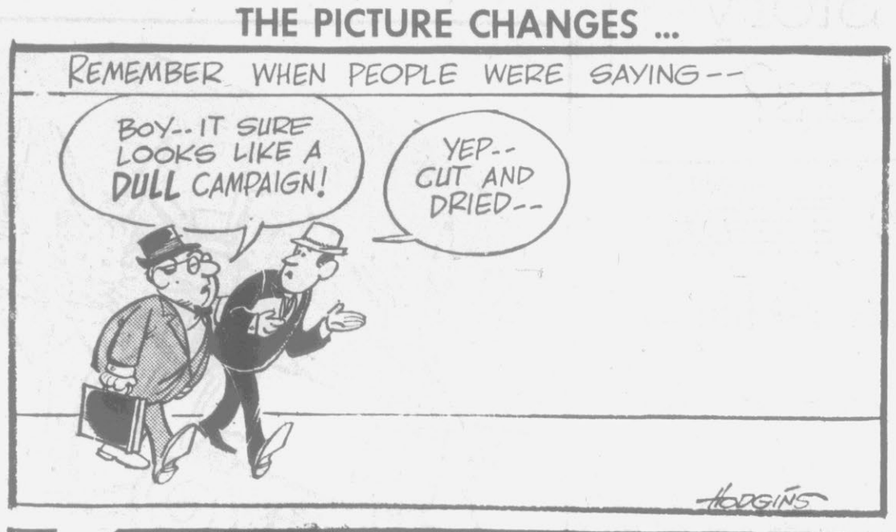

And the ballooning of the war effort on that basis has been matched, almost step by step, by the rising din of protest.

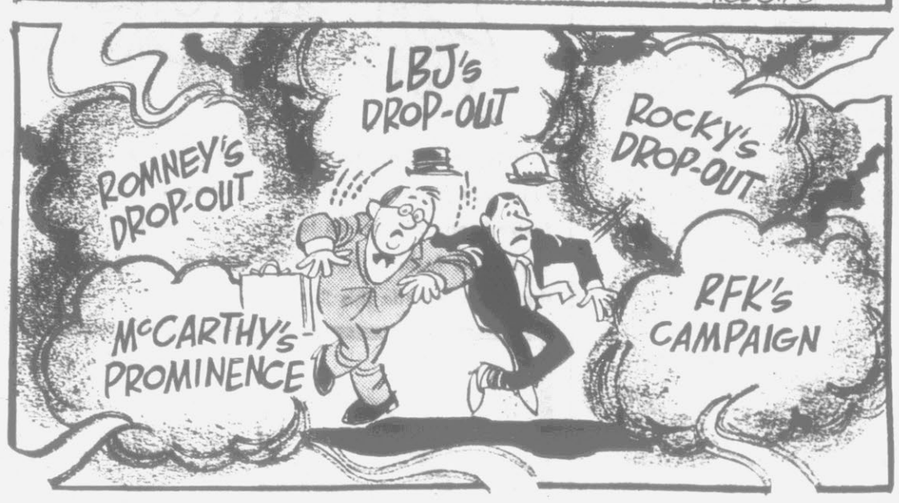

Leadership in that movement has been taken over by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He shepherded the esolution through to adoption in 1964 but now contends it was never intended for the uses to which it was put.

The issue moved into the even broader forum of national politics when Sen. Eugene

THE PICTURE CHANGES ...

Unreasoning Pressures

Now that the shockwaves have begun to subside, it may be possible to suggest that the Congress keep the death of Martin Luther King and the enactment of a civil rights bill in careful perspective. The slaying of Dr. King was a tragic event, as violent death is always tragic, but the assassination provided no more justification for passing a bad law than it provides for looting a liquor store.

Within hours after the shooting, it was being urged that the pending bill be adopted "as a memorial" to Dr. King. Whitney Young, of the Urban League, wanted the bill passed and sent to the White House by Friday night. Other spokesmen quickly transformed the tragedy into a general club to beat the Congress with.

The same unreasoning pressures were applied following the death of John F. Kennedy. At a time when boulevards, schools, airports and satellite bases were being named in his honor, it was widely urged that the greatest tribute to Kennedy would come with adoption of a particular civil rights bill. This was a specious argument then, and it remains a specious argument now. The bill before the House is far too serious a matter to be debated in an hour of hot emotion.

It may be possible to suggest, also, that the death of Martin Luther King is of far greater significance than the manner of his death. As this is written, the strong presumption is that Dr. King was shot by a white sniper. If so, whites especially will mourn the fact. But the assassin's race is irrelevant. The violence in Memphis proves nothing about "white racism" that was unknown before. In Newark last summer, a white fire captain named Michael Moran, 38, father of six, was slain by a Negro sniper. That tragedy proved nothing either.

The keenly regrettable fact is the death itself, for Dr. King embraced within his stoic, enigmatic presence the nation's best hope for racial peace. He alone, among all the Negro leaders, had the stature and the personality to cope with black militants and to treat with Presidents as well. Even Dr. King might not have been able to prevent combusion this summer but with his death, no respectable substitute comes to mind.

He was a strange man, the hardest of all the Negro leaders for a reporter to get to know. It was possible to joke with Thurgood Marshall, philosophize with Roy Wilkins, reminisce with James Farmer, but Martin Luther King remained an impenetrable figure. His faintly Oriental face was a calm mask for the tensions that surged unceasingly within him. Perhaps all messiahs are uncomfortable men.

He had his faults, expecially in his arrogant view of the law. Less than 24 hours before his death, he was proposing once again, in Memphis, to defy an injunction — and this in the teeth of the Supreme Court's verdict of last June that rebuked him for the same offense in Birmingham. It is also a fair criticism of Dr. King that he remained painfully naive in his indifference to the Communist influences about him. His olympian majesty alienated less godly men. Many Negroes referred to him contemptuously as "de Lawd."

Yet he was the bravest man I ever knew in public life. During the terrible days that followed upon the school desegregation ruling, no white Southerner ever matched a fraction of his courage. In his denim clothes — his go - to-jail clothes — he led his unflinching marchers into violence and danger. To watch one of his marches was to sense the awesome power of strong character combined with high purpose. This is the way it must have been, one reflected, when the early Christians braved the hate and ridicule of Rome. Like Paul, Dr. King was "in perils often." He took the martyr's road, deliberately and knowingly; and it led him to Memphis.

ECU In 'Poker Pot'

(Raleigh Times)

Dr. Leo Jenkins, the president of East Carolina University, has tossed that campus into the political poker game of the Democratic primary. The doctor, Bob Scott headquarters announced yesterday, will be master of ceremonies at a big Scott for governor rally Wednesday in Washington, N. C.

This puts East Carolina squarely in Scott's corner in the primary. Dr. Jenkins may say he is speaking as Voter Jenkins, but he can never disassociate himself from East Carolina, and East Carolina can never disassociate itself from Dr. Jenkins. So, this campus is now a part of the Scott campaign for governor.

This isn't good. What happens if Scott is our next Governor? Will he feel obligated to favor East Carolina over every other campus in North Carolina because of this campaign support from East Carolina? What happens if some other man is Governor of North Carolina during the next four years? Should he feel that East Carolina should be put on starvation rations because East Carolina's president backed the losing candidate for Governor?

The best place for education is outside the partisan political arena. Every institution of higher education is entitled to its full share of the State's higher education dollars, and not one penny more and not one penny less.

Dr Jenkins serves all of higher education badly when he drags his institution into the political campaign.

Living At Its Best

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

Children skipping rope to a chant their grandmothers knew when young. The healing of a wound and the falling off of an ugly scab. New hopes in a new spring. A line of daffodills making a yellow bonfire along a green hedge.

The sound of gospel singing in a weathered rural church. Old ladies with fat arms leaning on pillows in tenement windows to get a breath of April air and see what's stirring on the streets below. Colts frolicking before a wind rippling across an emerald pasture. The twilight sound of bells, ringing from far away.

HAL BOYLE

Tossing a stone into a small lake at dusk and wondering if the spreading ripples will undulate forever. Consoling a sobbing baby after it falls down and hurts itself, or gets soapsuds in its eyes while taking a bath. Finding the paycheck unexpectedly larger by a few dollars, and deciding that maybe the boss isn't such a forgetful ogre after all.

Painting an old boat and planning on all the fish you'll catch from it come summer. The delirious ecstasy of taking a hot shower after a day-long hike through the woods.

The red thrill of the first strawberries of the season upon the breakfast plate. Hitting a 200-yard drive over a golf course water hazard, or seeing Mickey Mantle or Willie Mays jog around the base paths after lofting a long ball into the stands. Telling ghost stories to Boy Scouts making their first overnight hike. Putting in a garden and counting how many long weeks it will be until the tomatoes ripen. God and the bugs being willing.

Assuring a middle-aged wife you couldn't possibly love her any more, even if she dieted off 10 pounds instead of five. Listening to the kids laugh as they go through an old family album and see how funny Dad and Mom looked when they were teen-agers.

Picking up a forgotten poetry anthology and finding the words now have a deeper, richer meaning to you than they did in high school or college. Watching robins collect worms for their young after a rain.

Winning the one-legged hopping race at the annual PTA picnic. Discussing gravely with two precocious sales ladies from the Girl Scouts whether your family needs two or three boxes of cookies, price no object. Calling a family debate on how the budget should be stretched this year—to buy a new car you can't afford, or a color television set the kids say they can't do without.

Sitting alone on the front porch in the evening, hearing a whippoorwill's timeless plaint, remembering the past, wondering what the bewildering times ahead will bring.

No scream of bugles—just the steady hum of daily living.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHEN WINTER WINDS BLOW

We always see farther when winter takes the leaves off the trees. Spring is lovely, and gorgeous foliage of summer lovelier still. We may not like the bleak trees of winter, but the fact still remains that we see farther when the leaves are taken away than we did when the leaves were there.

"The winter of our discontent," the winter of sorrow, disappointment and failure has a terrible way of stripping the landscape of its beauty. The winds of adversity soon sweep all the leaves off the trees of life. And when the leaves are gone we figure that all beauty is gone and that we are left dead, standing in a dead world.

But it is when the leaves are gone that we see farthest. Hard as it is to bear the death of a loved one, such a sorrowful circumstance very often awakes us to a new and more vital conception of life. Many people who had everything swept away by the depression or experienced deep loss as the result of the war, found their lives taking on new significance when all the leaves had been blown off the trees. We seek after happiness and rightfully so, but very often we learn the best lessons of life in the winter of sorrow and defeat.

We may not like bare trees, but bare trees with vision are better than beautiful trees without vision.

Little Peace On The Homefront

By ELMER ROESSNER

Peace in Vietnam will not bring peace in the United States, no matter what President Johnson seems to think.

The probable rise in employment will add to unrest. The thousands of young men and women who have defied the draft, demonstrated aginst Dow Chemical and who have made many universities a bedlam will feel that they have won a victory and will be looking for more.

A friend of mine, a Jew, recently had a long talk with Stokely Carmichael. My friend remarked that Negroes were among the finest fighting Americans in Vietnam.

Carmichael chuckled. "Whitey has been teaching us how to use guns."

My friend protested, "I don't think these men will want to destroy the nation in which they are heroes."

Carmichael laughted again. "Some of your people thought they could get along with Hitler. But when the chips were down, they found out that they were Jews. And when the chips are down in America, those heroes will discover that they are black."

ELMER ROESSNER

Spend, Spend, Spend

Because of fears or unrest by both blacks and whites, there will be tremendous campaigns in and out of Congress to intensify spending for the Great Society.

There will be proposals to rebuild the slums into miniature Beverly Hillses, to create jobs for everybody, to adopt the "negative income taxes" whereby families with less than minimum incomes would get payments from the government instead of paying taxes.

All manner of spending proposals will be made, for dams, canals, power plants, land reclamation, public housing, water purification, elimination of air pollution, carpeting for schoolrooms, nylon hairpieces for stone figures on Mount Rushmore.

The argument will be heard: "If we could spend $30 billion a year to fight a war in Southeast Asia, we can spend $50 billion in making America a better nation."

There is a lot of truth in that argument. With out great industrial capacity, surely vast improvements in life and living can be made. But if we rush into reckless spending with half - baked plans to achieve it, there can only be more inflation, enough to impoverish everyone.

The Johnson administration is understood to have developed plans for an even Greater Society for unveiling once peace is established.

No Historic Guidelines

Conditions after World War II and the Korean War will be no guides for what may be expected after a Vietnam peace.

After both wars, there were tremendous shortages of consumer goods. This created fantastic demands, which kept employment high, factories busy and the psychology bouyant.

But there are no shortages today. While income continues to rise, there still remains the choice between higher taxes and more inflation.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast in three areas Thursday night, in the Pacific Northwest inland to Montana, in southwestern Texas and in southern Florida. It will be warmer in the Midwest and colder along the Pacific coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

J. McCarthy and then Sen. Robert F. Kennedy opened presidential drives with the war their overriding platform issue.

Johnson coupled his political pull - out with a new bombing pause offer as a bid for talks, and right up to the time when the Communists made some movement toward acceptance last week, the administration was insisting there had been no sign of willingness on the other side.

Despite such contentions, the ranks of opposition continued to swell in almost precise proportion to the degree of American involvement in the war.

The time when the widening break became a chasm can almost be pinpointed as last August when U. S. forces in Vietnam went past half a million.

On Dean's List At Duke Univ.

DURHAM — Four students from Greenville have been named to the Dean's List at Duke University for the fall semester on the basis of high academic standing, having achieved an overall academic average of at least a 3.0 of a possible 4.0.

The students are: Martha Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henderson of 203 N. Harding St.; Richard C. Taft Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taft of 1707 E. Fifth St.; Thomas Taft, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hoover Taft Jr. of 426 Longmeadow Rd.; and Nancy Tribley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Tribley of 213 Lewis St.

Suggests 'Copter For Fire Dept.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Fire Commissioner Robert B. Howard Jr. has suggested to the City Council that a helicopter might be useful for fighting fires in high-rise buildings.

The commissioner asked the council to purchase or lease one of the copters since aerial ladders can not extend more than seven stories. He said it could be used for rescuing people or for airlifting firemen and lightweight hoses.

R. J. Reynolds Co. Donates $1 Million

WINSTON - SALEM (AP) — The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. has donated $1 million to help Winston - Salem's campaign against poverty problems.

Mayor M. C. Benton made the announcement Wednesday night and said the money would be channeled into housing, job training and education programs.

The money will be given over a three-year period. The mayor said that while it is not a matching grant, he hoped other corporations, foundations and private individuals would contribute double that amount during the three years.

The Winston - Salem Urban Coalition will be established, "composed of the best leadership, white and Negro, that we can muster in this community," to guide the program, the mayor said. He will be chairman of the coalition.

It will be patterned after a national urban coalition headed by John W. Gardner, former secretary of health, education and welfare. The national movement began last August when 750 mayors, businessmen, churchmen, labor leaders and civil rights leaders met in Washington. The movement is intended to forge a national coalition of those with a stake in cities and their people.

Benton said he would act immediately in certain other areas which, with the coalition program, would represent a willingness to "move on, to plow some new ground."

Thirty-three cities have urban coalition programs, but only three were in the South before Winston-Salem's. They were in Atlanta, Ga.; Norfolk, Va.; and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Hunting Driver In Traffic Wreck

Investigation is continuing into a 7 p.m. collision yesterday on the Airport Road, a quarter-mile east of the N.C. 11 intersection.

Officers said a car driven by James Ray Stancill Jr., 16, of Route 4, Greenville was struck by a car pulling from a side road as the Stancill vehicle was traveling down the Airport Road.

Damage to the Stancill auto was set at $200.

Police are searching for the other car and driver which left the accident scene.

Birth defects account for almost 3 million mentally damaged individuals in the United States, says the March of Dimes.

Demo Leaders Try Avoid Commitments

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high federal official says he doesn't know of any plans to impose wage and price controls.

Price Daniel, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, told the House Banking Committee Wednesday one of OEP's duties is to keep standby drafts of such controls up to date.

"No one has told us to get the file ready for use," Daniel said.

There has been speculation wage and price controls might be imposed if inflation could not be checked by a tax increase, monetary policy or other indirect methods.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says it has begun rotating 1,350 paratroopers sent to Vietnam on an emergency basis last February back to the United States.

Coming home are members of the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd brigade task force who had been home from Vietnam less than a year before they were sent back.

The Pentagon said it plans to have men who had been home less than six months back in the United States by May 31.

The 82nd Airborne Division is based at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Surveyor 7, which settled on the moon and scratched its surface, found evidence there may be enough iron there to mine. Jet Propulsion Laboratory officials made that report Wednesday at a meeting of the American Geophysical Union.

Stopgap extension of a 7 per cent excise tax on automobiles and a 10 per cent tax on telephone service was approved by voice votes in both the House and Senate Wednesday and sent to President Johnson. Now Congress has more time to decide whether to add an income tax increase and federal spending cut proposal to an excise tax bill.

Broughton For Special Session

RALEIGH (AP) — Gibernatorial candidate Mel Broughton wants Gov. Dan Moore to call a special session of the General Assembly to consider anti-riot legislation.

Broughton, in a statement released from his campaign headquarters Wednesday after the candidate cancelled a news conference due to illness, said he had sent a telegram to Moore requesting a meeting of the governor and all five gubernatorial candidates to "discuss the feasibility" of a special session.

Moore had no comment on the proposal Wednesday.

Broughton, a Democrat, said "The needs of our state must be placed above personal desires or partisan politics."

He said existing laws are not designed to cope with racial outbreaks such as those which struck North Carolina and the nation in recent days.

The extraordinary legislative session, he said, should make participation in a riot a felony and set a "stiff punishment" for the offense.

"Presence of an individual at the scene of a riot" without a reasonable excuse should be evidence of participation in the riot, Broughton added.

He also proposed increased penalties for inciting or conspiring to riot and passage of felony statutes to cover manufacture or possession of fire bombs or assaulting an officer during a declared state of emergency.

The candidate said programs to reduce racial tension and prevent riots should be enacted by the legislature if a special session is convened.

Such measures, he said, should include expansion of vocational training and adult education programs and creation of a program to provide transportation for poor persons attending training classes or applying for jobs.

Earned Rating In Piano Contest

GREENSBORO— Diane Gardner of Bethel received a rating of good in the State Piano Contest held recently at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Miss Gardner is a student of Dr. Robert Carter of East Carolina University at Greenville.

Twenty-nine North Carolina high school pianists appeared in the contest after receiving superior ratings in the district competition last month. More than 600 students were involved in the district contests.

AZALEAS WILL BE READY

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — B.E. Huffine, president of the N.C. Azalea Festival is "expecting the azaleas to be in bloom" in time for the four-day event which begins next Thursday.

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Chairman John M. Bailey is taking the lead in a strong movement among Democratic organization members to avoid pre-convention commitments to potential presidential nominees.

If the movement spreads as indicated the Democrats could wind up in August with the kind of a wide-open convention politicans talk about but which seldom materializes.

Bailey said in a telephone interview that since President Johnson took himself out of consideration he intends to remain "absolutely neutral" in the nomination contest.

"I have a convention to run," "I have a convention to run," take sides." Bailey indicated he expects to remain national chairman through the convention, after which the nominee usually picks his own man.

It is Bailey's stated intent to have the 44-vote Connecticut delegation, which presumably would have been behind Johnson, go to the Chicago convention uncommitted. He is state chairman as well as national chairman.

Indications are that Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, and Eugene J. McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey all will have strength in the delegation and it can be expected to break wide open at the convention.

Only Kennedy and McCarthy have announced as candidates but Humphrey is poised to enter the race after Easter.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., expects to lead a 130-vote Pennsylvania delegation to Chicago under an uncommitted banner. Clark, a candidate for re-election, previously had said he would support Johnson.

Clark is keeping himself neutral in a contest in which the state Democratic organization leaders can be expected to urge delegate candidates previously backing Johnson to swing to Humphrey.

Delegate candidates supporting McCarthy and Kennedy are running in the April 23 Pennsylvania primary and some probably will be elected. McCarthy's name is alone on the preferential ballot, which is not binding on the delegation.

Lawmakers Removing Obstacles To Future Surgical Transplants

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Lawmakers in a half-dozen states have acted to clear away the legal obstacles that could block transplants of hearts and other organs, a nationwide survey by The Associated Press shows.

Bar associations and medical societies in some other states are studying the subject.

However, the National Academy of Science's new Board of Medicine has urged the nation's surgeons to take a cautious approach in developing heart transplantation techniques.

"The procedure cannot as yet be regarded as an accepted form of therapy, even a heroic one," the board said. "It must be viewed for what it is, a scientific exploration of the unknown."

The board proposed guidelines that would restrict heart transplants to a "relatively small number" of minutely controlled operations performed at only the best qualified institutions and overseen by numerous independent experts.

Some clergymen and other groups, in studying the complex ethical problems of heart transplants, have raised such questions as to the time of the donor's death—the cessation of heart or brain action?

—Who will determine among the many persons who need a new healthy heart which ones will receive the relatively few available?

The legislatures have not gone into these questions and the laws passed or under consideration apply to the transplantation of all internal organs.

Organ transplant bills were taken up by lawmakers this year in Virginia, California, Kansas, South Carolina, Maryland and Oklahoma.

The Virginia General Assembly passed a sweeping law, backed by the Medical Society of Virginia, that would make vital organs of the recently dead available for surgical transplant.

The law, which becomes effective at the end of June, provides that the chief medical examiner or his deputies may release a vital organ from a dead person under their jurisdiction provided:

—A patient is in immediate need for an internal organ as a transplant.

—There is insufficient time to contact the next of kin in order to maintain the health of the organ to be transplanted and no known objection is foreseen from the next of kin.

—The organ removed from the dead person will not interfere with the medical examiner's investigation or autopsy.

The dead persons under the medical examiner's jurisdiction would include those killed by accident, suicide or homicide, or those who died suddenly when in apparent good health, or when in prison, or when the body is to be cremated.

The Kansas Legislature adopted a bill providing that any competent person may donate body organs to another person. Upon death, the person's spouse, adult child or parent—in that order—may donate the dead person's heart or any other body organ if this has been requested by the person before death.

"I am proud that Kansas had the foresight to see the need for this law and acted positively," Gov. Robert Docking said in signing it. "It is the first attempt to clarify the legal implications involved in transplants of human organs—a controversy that began with the first transplant operation of a human heart."

Three bills dealing with organ transplants are before lawmakers in California. Several assemblymen have urged that a joint Assembly-Senate committee be appointed to go into such questions as when is a person considered legally dead, or who has the right to authorize the transplant, or what problems will arise if the transplanted organ harms the recipient?

In Los Angeles, Evelle Younger, district attorney, has formed a 15-member committee of doctors, clergymen, lawyers and laymen headed by president of California Institute of Technology, Lee Dubridge. The committee may recommend statutes to the legislature.

"There probably will be legal complaints in the future if a person dies or is seriously injured in a transplant, and we are not prepared legally at present for such complaints," Younger said.

"Also, let's say two people are in need of a transplant when a vital organ becomes available," Younger added. "How are we to decide who should get the organ? And who should make the decision? Should the state become involved or just the medical profession?"

The Maryland Legislature passed a bill which would give the proposed donor of tissues and organs the exclusive right to revoke the decision. Present law gives the next of kin 72 hours after the proposed donor's death to revoke—too late for useful transplants in most cases.

The South Carolina Senate and the Oklahoma House passed bills designed to remove any implied warranty that blood used in transfusions of organs used in transplants are without defect.

The legislation would protect surgeons from legal responsibility in the event of failure of transplanted organs or hepatitis after a blood transfusion. Surgeons still would be liable for damage suits for negligence or faulty procedures.

Stickley Assails CongressAction

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Calling the U.S. Congress "impetuous and reckless" and "cowardly," John L. Stickley of Charlotte Wednesday condemned the passage of civil rights legislation.

Stickley, a Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina, made the comments while campaigning in the Asheville and Hendersonville areas. A short time earlier Congress had passed and sent to President Johnson for his signature a civil rights bill which included a liberal open housing clause.

"Today I saw the flag of glory not lowered to half-mast, but lowered to the ground when a cowardly Congress yielded to blackmail," Stockley told a Young Republicans group at Hendersonville.

Earlier in the day, before Congress voted on the bill, Stickley said he was "appalled and recklessly intends to ram through the civil rights bill with all its inequities and palpable violations of our Constitution and Bill of Rights ...

Stickley said President Johnson should go on television and "announce that this nation will not tolerate looting, burning and rioting any longer," and the government will "meet force with force wherever and whenever necessary."

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	1 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Nine of ♡ South failed to avail himself of the clews provided by the auction and went down to an unnecessary defeat in his three no trump contract.

East opened the bidding with one heart and South—holding 16 well distributed points including two stoppers in his opponent's suit—overcalled with one no trump. North, with 10 points himself, saw no reason to dally, so he proceeded directly to three no trump.

West opened the nine of hearts and East put up the queen—forcing out declarer's ace. A club was led to dummy's jack and East was in with the ace. He cashed the king of hearts and returned a small heart to drive out South's remaining stopper.

On the next club lead, West showed out, revealing that East held a second stopper in the suit. Declarer's only chance now was the diamond finesse, so he returned to his hand with the king of clubs in order to put the queen of diamonds thru. East won the trick with the king, cashed the ten of clubs and his two established hearts to set declarer down by two.

South did not take adequate measures to protect himself against the unfavorable break in clubs. Inasmuch as East is marked with the club ace by virtue of his opening bid, declarer should arrange to make his initial play in that suit toward the closed hand in order to protect his high cards.

Observe the effect if South crosses over to dummy with the king of spades at trick two and leads the nine of clubs. If East puts up the ace, he will establish four tricks in the suit for declarer—sufficient for his contract [four clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and two spades]. If East ducks the club lead, South now has a club trick in and can afford to shift his attentions to the diamond suit. Altho that finesse loses, declarer has nine tricks established—two spades, two hearts, one club, and four diamonds — before he surrenders control of the proceedings.

Track Meets Are Rained Out

Two track meets scheduled yesterday were postponed because of weather conditions.

Rose High's meet with West Carteret, Tarboro and Elizabeth City was washed out by the weather, but another meet is planned for today, between the Phants, New Bern, Kinston and West Carteret. These four teams are expected to battle for the conference title in the season's finale later this year.

Eppes High School's meet at Windsor was also cancelled because of the weather. Eppes, with a 3-1 record, meets Elizabeth City next Thursday and Kinston on Friday.

TO DEFEND TITLE — Bill Utley of the University of Indiana, will be defending his AAU 400 and 200 yard individual medleys in this week's AAU meet at East Carolina. The meet got underway this afternoon with three preliminaries. Finals in those events are tonight at 8 p.m. Friday preliminaries are at 1 p.m. with finals at 8. Saturday, preliminaries get underway at 9:30 a.m., with finals at 3 p.m.

Seaver Thought He Had Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — At 1:10 p.m., Tom Seaver, National League rookie pitcher-of-the-year in 1967, faced San Francisco Giant second baseman Ron Hunt in the first inning of the new baseball season.

"I was confident," the New York Mets' 23-year-old right-hander calmly but dejectedly told newsmen later. "I wanted to win that game more than any I ever pitched. We never had won an opener."

At 3:15 p.m., Seaver walked slowly off the mound while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seaver, watched in disappointment from behind the Mets' dugout.

He still had been confident starting the ninth Wednesday. "Only three outs and we'd win our first opener," he thought as he took the mound.

But Jim Hart's single drove home Willie Mays, who had singled, cutting the Mets' lead to 4-3. Hart was the potential tying run.

"I was tired. My legs were wobbly," said Seaver. "I didn't have many pitches left, but I felt I could stay out there if Hodges wanted me to."

Manager Gil Hodges called in Danny Frisella. Nate Oliver greeted him with a blazing single past shortstop Bud Harrelson's glove. Jesus Alou's double to left center scored Hart and Oliver for a 5-4 Giant victory.

Three Events Set Today; Finals At 8 P.M.

Action gets underway today in the 1968 National AA Men's Short Course Swimming Championships at East Carolina University's Minges Coliseum Natatorium.

Records are expected to tumble in just about every event as swimmers and coaches feel that the EC pool is one of the fastest in the country.

And the swimmers participating are among the fastest in the country also. To even enter this year's event, a swimmer must post a qualifying time equal to or better than last year's sixth place finishing time. The field in the various events varies from a low of 22 for the 200 yard butterfly, to a high of 49 in the 200 freestyle.

The latter race is the only one where the defending champion will not try to protect his crown. The current titleholder is Don Schollander of Yale University, but he has decided not to compete in this year's event.

In today's activities, which got underway at 1 p.m. with the preliminaries, three events are scheduled, the 500 yard freestyle, the 200-yard individual medley and the 400-yard medlay relay. Finals in today's events get underway at 8 p.m.

In the opening event, the 500 freestyle, Mike Burton of Arden Hills in California is the defending champion, and has posted the fastest qualfying time, 4:37.-00, tieing the American record. He will be challenged by Greg Charlton of U.S.C., who had a 4:30.8; Charles Southward of Indiana with a 4:39.26, and John Nelson of Yale with a 4:39.70. A total of 42 people have entered the event.

The defending champion in the 200 individual medley is seeded only third as Bill Utley has posted a 1:55.9 as his entry time. Top seeded is Charles Hickcox of Indiana, who holds the official American record of 1:52.56. Next comes last season's Swimmer of the Year Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., who holds the official record of 1:54.6, his listed time for the event. (Hickcox's record has not yet been accepted as the new mark.) Following Utley are Greg Buckingham and Dick Roth, both of Santa Clara with similar times of 1:56.-6, and all five are expected to press for the title. Thirty contestants have entered this event.

Rounding out today's activities is the 400-yard medley relay, where Santa Clara Swim Club is the defending champion, and top seeded. They have turned in a time of 3:29.40, again a new unofficial record. The official record to date is 3:29.5 held by UCLA. Following them will be Indiana, 3:30.16; Arden Hills, 3:31.00; Santa Clara B team, 3:31.00; and Yale 3:31.9. Eighteen teams are entered in this relay event.

Friday's events are slated for the same times, preliminaries at 1 p.m. with finals at 8.

Defending champion Spitz will be the man to beat in the 200 butterfly. He posts a time of 1:50.5, again a new unofficial record. He holds the official mark, a tenth of a second slower. Challenging him will be John Ferris and Burton, both of Arden Hills, Phil Houser of U.S.C. and Ross Wales of Princeton. A total of 22 compete in this event.

Spitz is also the top qualifier in the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:41.4, just two-tenths of a second off Schollander's record. Buckingham, William Johnson and Grey Charlton, both of U.S.C. will be the top contenders in the field of 9.

Ken Merten of Los Angeles Athletic Club is the top candidate in the 100-yard breaststroke, and the defending champion. His entered time of :58.4, equal to his American record. Mick Buckley of Yale, Phil Long of Yale, Don McKenzie of Indiana, Allen Richardson of Yale; Brian Job, unattached; David Perkowski of Indiana and Kip Pope of Santa Clara have all posted a minute. They lead a field of 38 swimmers in this race.

Defending champ Fred Haywood is second seeded in the 100 backstroke as Hickcox again takes top billing. Hickcox has a time of :52.18, while Haywood has a mark of :52.60. Mitch Ivey and Jim Malley of Santa Clara, Larry Barbiere of Vesper, Ed Bettendorf of Yale, Mark Maden of U.S.C. and Jack Horsley of Red Shield Triton are also top contenders. Twenty-four swimmers are entered in this event.

In the 400 individual medley, Utley draws top seeding with a time of 4:10.8, while the defending champ, Dick Roth posts only a 4:13.60. Joining them in top competition are Houser, Ralph Hutton of Foothills College, and John Calvert of N. C. State. There are 28 entered in this event.

Yale again will defend its 400 freestyle relay title. It has an entered time of 3:04.10. Southern Cal, Indiana and Santa Clara will all challenge in the field of 1.

Don Havens, the 100 freestyle champ, finds himself seeded third as Zac Zorn of Phillips 66 Long Beach and Ken Walsh both surpass his :45.8 time. Zorn had a :45.3 while Walsh is :45.-6. Dennis O'Conner of Foothills posts a time of :45.90 to round out the top four. Fourty are entered in the event.

Maden defends his title in the 200 backstroke entering a time of 15:.0. His top competition will be Hickcox Jack Horsley, Mitch Ivey, Jim Halley, Ray Rivero and Haywood. A field of 23 are entered.

Ken Merten is top seeded in the 200 breaststroke with a time of 2:07.9. His top competition will come from Brian, Job, Bob Monsen, Wayne Anderson, Phil Long and Don McKenize. There are 44 entered for the event.

Spitz is again the man to beat in the 100 butterfly, entered in a time of :49.1, the only one under 50 seconds. Top competition should come from Ross Wales, John Frerris, Hickcox and Roger Lyon. There will be 3 swimmers challenging.

Yale again top the 800 yard relay event, turning in a time of 6:50.7. Southern Cal, Indiana and Santa Clara again are the top challengers.

One of the top events to be seen during the meet will be the 1,650 freestyle. Here Burton is the defending champ and has turned in a fantastic 15:59.-0, a new American record. He is the only man ever to have cracked the 16-minute barrier, and it is felt that he can easily break this again. Coaches compare this time to a 3:50 in the mile. Joh Kinsella, Echevarria Guillerno, George Watson, Ralph Hutton and Jeff Schufreider will be the top contenders should Burton fail. There is a field of 5 for this race.

Saturday's prelimaries get underway at 9:30 a.m., with the finals at 3 p.m.

Astros Open Year With Big Victory

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Aspromonte is an original Astro—the only player still left from the expansion pool that stocked Houston's National League team back in November, 1961.

He's lived through 568 losses in six seasons and he just wasn't prepared to start the new season with another setback.

So, he did something about it.

It was Astro's two-out triple in the bottom of the ninth inning that gave the Astros a 5-4 opening night victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

Elsewhere as the National League started its 93rd season, St. Louis' world champions pulled out a 2-1 victory over Atlanta, San Francisco pushed across three ninth inning runs and beat New York 5-4, Cincinnati battered Chicago 9-4 and Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

In the American League, New York shut out California 1-0, Boston whipped Detroit 7-3, Minnesota blanked Washington 2-0, Cleveland battered Chicago 9-0, and Baltimore stopped Oakland 3-1.

Aspromonte, who's been with Houston so long he predates the Astrodome and goes back to the days when the Astros were called the Colts, climaxed a three-run rally in the ninth with his triple.

Maury Wills' two-run single had moved Pittsburgh into a 4-2 lead in the top of the ninth.

Pat Jarvis had St. Louis shut out for seven innings but the Cards pulled out their opener with single runs in the eighth and ninth innings against the Braves.

Chris Short pitched a four-hitter with 10 strikeouts and rookie Don Money drove in both Philadelphia runs as the Phillies blanked the Dodgers.

Jesus Alou drove in San Francisco's winning runs with a ninth inning double that climaxed a three-run rally against the Mets. Ron Swoboda drove in all four New York runs with a single and a homer.

Tony Perez smacked a three-run homer and Tommy Helms had a two-run shot as Cincinnati battered Chicago. Perez' shot keyed a five-run Reds' rally in the fifth inning and Helms' homer wrapped it up in the eighth.

Casper Feels Playing Best Golf Of His Life

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Casper, one of the world's great golfers but a long-time also-ran at Augusta, set out today with his confidence bubbling, his game in harness and his sights trained on the green jacket of a Masters champion.

"I'm playing some of the best golf of my life," the two-time U.S. Open champion said before today's opening round of the 32nd Masters, the first of the world's four major golf tournaments.

"I feel very good, probably the best I've ever felt for the Masters," he said. "I think my chances are very good, excellent."

Casper fired a final practice round of 67, five under part for the Augusta National course, a course that, over the years, has given the one-time fat man nothing but trouble. He had five birdies, no bogeys.

Casper, a master putter who slimmed down on an exotic diet of buffalo steaks, blueberries and bear meat, is competing in his 11th Masters. Although generally considered one of the finest players in the world, he never has been a factor here.

"It's strange," the quiet, composed Casper said. "My performance—or lack of it—in the Masters is really very strange.

"This year I have a new formula going in. I think it's the right one. Before, I'd always taken the week off before the Masters. And I never really felt well when the tournament started.

"This year I took a week off two weeks ago, just to rest up. Then I played in Greensboro to get ready. I played very well there (he won it) and I feel the momentum is still with me."

Casper, second only to Arnold Palmer on the all-time list of money winners, was paired with young Tony Jacklin of England for the first round and, surprisingly, was one of the favorites.

Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his fourth Masters title, was the top choice, with Casper, four-time winner Palmer and young Tom Weiskopf, the year's leading money-winner, in the next group.

Anti-Spit Rule Causes An Uproar

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The new anti-spit rule almost made Mel Stottlemyre blow his cool in the New York Yankees' opener with the California Angeles.

Stot was working on a 1-0 shutout in the eighth. Roger Repoz was on first with one out and Jay Johnstone, a pinch hitter, was up.

After throwing a strike to Johnstone, the Yankee pitcher walked off the mound and went to the mouth with his fingers. The first base umpire, Al Salerno, called an automatic ball under the new anti-spitter rule.

Stottlemyre started to argue. Manager Ralph Houk rushed out of the dugout and there was a merry scene for a couple of minutes. The Yanks announced they were finishing the game under protest. It didn't matter because they won 1-0.

"The rule says you can go to your mouth on the grass," said Houk. "Salerno claimed Mel went to his mouth while on the ground (skinned area around mound). Mel did it deliberately. They've got things so mixed up by changing this rule back and forth nobody knows what is going on."

Actually, the rule says a pitcher can not go to his mouth within an area included in an 18-foot circle around the mound.

'It shook me up for a minute," said Stottlemyre, who went to 3-1 on Johnstone before he got him out. "Mickey (Mantle) came over to me and said, 'Forget it.' Otherwise I might have blown right there. I was completely disgusted. I walked off the mound just to go to my mouth because I thought it was allowed.

"I do have a bad habit of going to my mouth which I am trying to cure. The moisture gives me a better feel of the ball when my fingers get slick.

"No spitter is involved. I use the resin bag after I do it."

Chance Gets Off To Good Start

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Call it a game of Chance.

Minnesota ace Dean Chance gives luck a little pat for his superb pitching performance in shutting out Washington 2-0 on four hits in baseball's annual inaugural game Wednesday.

It was satisfying start for the Twins and Chance, who had to wait six months to win another game after blowing the American League pennant to Boston on the final day of the 1967 season. The big right-hander credits the difference between the two games to Lady Luck.

"This was just one of those days when Lady Luck was with me," he said. "It's funny. On the last game of last year I was ready and geared to go and I lost.

"Here it is the first game of the year and who knows what kind of shape I'm in, and I win."

The happy-go-lucky hurler taking over after Twins' fan Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey tossed out the traditional first ball, held the Senators to a mere bunt single for the first seven innings.

He retired the first nine batters before rookie Del Unser beat out the dribbler, then cut down 12 more in a row before nicked for two sharp singles as he tired in the eighth. Chance wound up with eight strikeouts and didn't walk a man.

Rifle-carrying troops patrolled outside D. C. Stadium during the game as a reminder of a weekend of racial violence in the nation's capital. But the crowd of 32,063—smallest in seven years—was peaceful. So were the Senators.

Yaz Opens Year With Two Homers, One Inside Park

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They yawned when Carl Yastrzemski hit his first home run of the 1968 season. But they could hardly believe the second one.

The first homer for the 1967 Triple Crown winner came in the seventh inning of Boston's 7-3 opening day victory over Detroit Wednesday. It was the routine kind for Carl: over the wall and into the seats.

But in the ninth, Yaz blasted one off the centerfield wall 420 feet away and while it bounced around in the outfield, he legged out an inside-the-park homer, the first one of his life.

In other American League openers, Minnesota beat Washington 2-0, Cleveland crushed Chicago 9-0, New York edged California 1-0 and Baltimore took Oakland 3-1.

In the National League, Cincinnati beat Chicago 9-4, San Francisco edged Pittsburg 5-4, Houston nipped Pittsburgh 5-4, St. Louis squeezed past Atlanta 2-1 and Philadelphia shut out Los Angeles 2-0.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey watched happily as his Minnesota Twins beat Washington with Dean Chance hurling a four-hitter. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison hit homers for the Twins.

Sonny Siebert stopped the White Sox on just two hits while Duke Sims lead a lusty Indian hitting attack with two homers. Singles by Duane Josephson and Ken Boyer were the only hits off Siebert.

Mel Stottlemyre also turned in a fine pitching performance, setting down the Angels on four hits. The Yankees only had three themselves off George Brunet, but one of them was a homer by Frank Fernandez in the second inning.

Don Buford's two hits, one run scored and run-saving fielding play highlighted the Orioles' victory. Brooks Robinson homered for the Birds and Tom Phoebus was the winning pitcher.

St. Paul's Church Services Readied

The events of Jesus last week until his death and resurrection are being observed at St. Paul's Church. On Maundy Thursday the institution of the Lord's Supper is commemorated. The parish family will gather for the traditional celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. in the church. Earlier the children will worship at 5:00 p.m. for the last of the six weeks services. They will assemble again on Easter morning for the children's festival for the church school at 9:30 a.m.

The Rector, the Rev. John W. Drake Jr., will be the celebrant for the evening's reenactment of that last meal of Jesus with His disciples. The rite to be used is the revised liturgy presently being used on a trial basis in the Episcopal Church. The Episcopal College Chaplain, Rev. Pat Houston, will assist at all services.

Good Friday will see the observance of the three-hour passion of Jesus on the Cross with the service beginning at noon. The Rector will officiate with prayers and hymns while eight local members of the Greenville Minister's Association will offer meditations on the seven words from the Cross. The Rev. Drake is currently president of the Greenville Minister's Association.

He will be joined by Capt. Wayne MacHargue, Salvation Army, who is secretary of the group. Subsequent speakers on the afternoon devotional period are the Rev. Harvey Morris of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church, the Rev. Robert Hufford of the Hooker Memorial Christian, the Rev. Charles Edwards, Arlington St. Baptist (vice president of the association), the Rev. Tom Loftis of Jarvis Memorial Methodist, the Rev. Charles Michael Smith of Holy Trinity Methodist, the Rev. Ralph Tedder of the Church of God, and the Rev. Tom Davis of Albemarle Presbytery.

Easter even is the traditional period for baptisms. The Rector will baptise infants at 4:00 p.m. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacobs will be baptised.

On the dawn of Easter Day, the youth of the UCYM will present a sunrise service at 6:00 a.m. The Episcopalians will begin this feast of the resurrection with celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7:30, 11:15, and 12:15. The children's festival will occur at 9:30 a.m. at which time the young people bring their missionary offering boxes and their flowers which are placed on a flower cross. Guilford Worsley is superintendent of the Church School.

The music for the Easter services will feature Dr. Robert Irwin as the organist complemented by the junior and senior choirs. A brass quartet: James Searl, Wayne Amick, Barry Shank, and Rufus Dickey will play Bach Easter Chorales preludes. Mrs. Charles Bath will be violinist at the 11:15 services. "Instruments waken and publish your gladness."

Lay people will play a prominent part in the liturgy. The Wardens, Dr. John Wooten and Robert Messner will real the lessons at early service. Bill Pearson will be the reader at 9:30; Dr. Robert Irwin and Ed Waldrop at 11:15. Edward S. Flanagan is chairman of the eight ushers to be present on the festal day.

The New Liturgy, under experiment used in the Episcopal Church, will be used at two services of 7:30 and 11:15 with the communicants kneeling in the front pews. At 12:15 the Prayer Book rite will be practised at the altar. Private communions will be taken to shutins during Easter week.

Charge Driver In Collision Here

Richard Harrison Miner, 20, of 560 Cotanche St. was charged with failing to obey a stop signal following investigation of an 8:42 p.m. collision yesterday at the intersection of Fifth and Elm Streets.

Investigators said the Miner auto collided with a car driven by Louise Grant Godwin of Route 1, Stokes, causing an estimated $100 damage to the Godwin car.

Damage to the Miner vehicle was placed at $75.

Senate Serves Notice It Wants Summer Job Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has served emphatic notice it wants money to provide summer jobs for needy youths and preschool aid for slum children.

Acting in the wake of civil disorders that lashed many cities —and heeding a member's call for a memorial to Dr. Martin Luther King—the Senate rejected 54 to 24 Wednesday a supplemental money bill from which the House had stripped funds for these programs.

The bipartisan vote, which found 34 Democrats and 20 Republicans aligned to send the bill back to conference with the House, represented a rare revolt against the recommendations of veteran Senate Appropriations Committee members.

Key items in the Senate-House dispute are $75 million for the summer jobs, $25 million for the preschool Head Start program and $91 million for a program of federal aid to school districts with enrollments swollen by children of military personnel and federal employes.

The House had allowed nothing for the jobs or for Head Start and only $21 million for the so-called impacted areas program.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., noted the House acted on the measure a week before last week's slaying of King in Memphis, which touched off urban violence only now subsiding in many cities.

Javits, predicting the House might change its mind in view of those developments, added:

"I can't think of a finer memorial to Martin Luther King than for Congress to show that it intends to act against violence by supporting these programs."

Voting against sending the bill back to conference were 15 Democrats and 9 Republicans. No new Senate-House conference on the measure is expected until after the 10-day Easter recess beginning Thursday.

Lutheran Church Services Planned

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church will have several special services of worship to aid in the observance of Good Friday and Easter.

On Good Friday at 7:30 p.m., the Tenebrae Service will be held. Tenebrae is the Latin word meaning shadows and the service will consist of the reading of the Passion and several numbers of music by the choir. The congregation will participate in the service by the singing of hymns.

On Easter morning an Easter sunrise service will be held at 6:00 a.m. The service will consist of Easter hymns, the reading of the Easter story from the Gospel of John, responsive readings, and a meditation by Pastor Robert Dasher. Breakfast at the church will follow the service. The public is invited to attend these services.

Maintenance Roadway Mowed

The maintenance roadway on the Cannon - Baldwin Canal is being mowed this month, according to Roy R. Beck of the Soil Conservation Service.

Davenport Farms, Inc., has been awarded the contract for mowing the Pitt County Drainage District Number Eight canal roadway.

The canal channel was first dug in 1948 and improved in 1962. When the canal was improved, 38 acres of land that was cleared in 1948 to provide access to the canal had to be recleared.

Drainage district commissioners, according to Beck, are now maintaining both the channels and rights - of - way by carrying out annual maintenance work.

Decides Against 1968 Candidacy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Ben J. Crumpton of Tampa has decided he will not be a candidate for president this year.

Crumpton announced his withdrawal through a classified advertisement in the Tampa Tribune. It gave no reasons.

"I thought I'd get in the swing of things with everybody else," the Navy veteran told a reporter.

Crumpton, who is studying accounting at the University of South Florida, said his decision is "irrevocable—maybe."

Shavuoth Celebrates Giving Of Law To Moses

EDITORS NOTE — Moses went up on Mt. Sinai and when he came back he had the most important law of the Jewish people —the 10 Commandments. The celebration of the giving of the 10 Commandments, call Shavuoth, is discussed in the fourth of five articles about the religious festivals of spring.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

On a peak of history, near noon, the world got its canons for character—its keys to civilization.

The instructions came, like lightning, in a desolate environment.

They pointed "a way in the wilderness" of uncertainties, let loose "rivers in the desert" of distress, and amid confusion, as traced in prophetic imagery, lifted up "an ensign for the nations."

"Then let us rejoice!" goes a Jewish hymn celebrating the occasion.

It happened far back in antiquity, and ever since, it has provided the basic pattern of public order, laid down the principles of human integrity and set the universal standards for organized society.

That landmark event is celebrated on Shavuoth, the Feast of the Weeks, the season of the giving of the decalogue—the 10 Commandments.

"Almighty God, o'er all supreme," the congregations chant from a prayer of praise, the Akdamuth. "Thrice holy He whose majesty fills earth from end to end . . . Day and night shall be His light, a canopy of splendor."

As an old rabbinic allegory tells it, the divine voice in declaring the great statutes was divided into the 70 tongues then spoken on the earth so that all mankind could receive and understand them.

The observance comes late in the springtime sequence of joyful religious holidays, on the eve of summer, seven weeks after the Passover, and by the Hebrew calendar, on the 6th of Sivan, beginning this year at sundown June 2, and extending through the next day.

It also is known as the Feast of the Harvest, since it comes at the time the grain reaping is finished in Palestine, and when the first fruits ripen.

The celebration coincides, both in origin and observance, with the Christian Pentecost, marking the divine outpouring of spiritual understanding that revitalized Christ's apostles and started the church.

The two occasions correspond vividly in significance—both commemorate God's gift of guidance.

There's also another general resemblance in that just as followers of Christ were aroused on Pentecost too their obligation to carry on his mission, so the giving of the Commandments bound Israel to raise God's standards among men.

"If you will obey My voice and keep My covenant," came the divine promise to the Israelites, "you shall be My own possession among all peoples . . . and you shall be to Me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation."

As that Biblical covenant unfolds, God first had bestowed His grace freely in the deliverance from Egyptian slavery, making clear His redemptive support and asking nothing in return. Afterward, the Commandments set man's part in the pact.

The mighty, illuminating code came in a dim era, more than 3,250 years ago, about 1,300 B.C., long before such advanced ideals had even been hinted in the predominant pagan empires of Egypt and Persia.

Historians have puzzled over how such elevated thought could have emanated so early from such a comparatively meager, obscure community.

Even when the Biblical record was compiled in its present form, about 900-600 B.C., Israel remained a rustic, remote spot, totally overshadowed by the showy panoplies of Greece and Rome.

Yet strangely, as subsequent centuries unrolled, the old covenant worked its way, and the Commandments infiltrated the maturing governments and courts of men. Theologians call it one of the mysteries of Israel.

Her people, when the decalogue was first given, were a wandering, homeless lot. They had fled only seven weeks before from slavery under Pharoah Ramses II, and were encamped in the wilderness of Sinai, beside a mountain of that name.

Their leader, Moses, in solitude on that height as the morning sun neared noon, in an intense experience depicted by Scripture's graphic Hebrew literary style as thunder, churning clouds, smoke, lightning and a crescendo of trumpets, received the law.

A "Crown of glory," the holiday ritual calls it. It is read in synagogue services for the day:

"You shall have no other gods before Me . . . You shall not make yourselves graven images or . . . bow down to them . . . You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain . . . Remember the sabbath . . . Honor your father and mother . . .

"You shall not kill. You shall not commit adultery. You shall not steal. You shall not bear false witness . . . You shall not covet . . . "

Curiously, while some casual notions quibble at the prohibitive nature of some of the laws, legal authorities recognize that specific prohibitions are the most liberating judicial approach, since it restricts only at limited points, leaving the broader areas free.

The meaning of the principles also take on continuing application in every age, warning against narrow gods of race, state, wealth or fame, and against reducing the infinite to some small-size image of a benign grandfather, a kind of deity the great statutes long ago called dead.

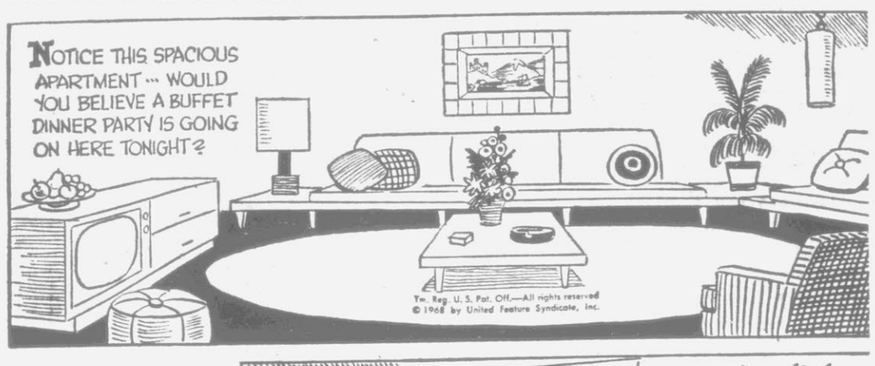

The classic code, in regard to God's name, doesn't simply refer to cusswords, but insists that the divine relationship be taken seriously. The sabbath injunction points to the rhythm of life, to man's need for rest and renwal, as recognized in enlightened labor practices.

Respecting parents brings out the interdependent fabric of living, that a person's development is not in isolation, but involves obligations to teachers, home and others. Not coveting means not begrudging achievement by others, but mutually encouraging it.

Regarding adultery, the Bible is not prudish about sex, but sees its misuse as personally harmful, and maintains that love includes fidelity. This, however much violated, is the foundation of family life in all stable cultures, including polygamous ones.

The laws against lying, stealing and killing are the bedrock of civic order, with much wider moral implication. when such modern evils as starvation deaths are seen as indirectly attributable to the hoarding of the affluent.

Fifteen Or Twenty Hospitals In North Carolina Said 'Obsolete'

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — William F. Henderson of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission says 15 or 20 of the state's hospitals are obsolete, but are permitted to operate because they meet minimum standards and are needed in the areas they serve.

Henderson, executive secretary of the commission, declined to say where the hospitals are, but he said most of them are in economically deprived counties.

"Only a negligible few, if any, of the hospitals would merit condemnation," Henderson said in an interview. "They are not that inadequate."

"There is a definite bridge gap between the old hospitals and the new ones in North Carolina," he said. "These 15 to 20 obsolete hospitals are doing everything they can with their physical facilities to meet minimum state standards. We have to use our judgment in inspecting and licensing them."

He added, "The law does not give us leeway to place the public's interest and safety at stake in permitting an obsolete hospital to operate. The hospitals must provide basic improvements."

Henderson said, "It would be better to replace these obsolete hospitals than to spend money to renovate them."

Since 1947, when North Carolina's hospital building program began under the federal Hill-Burton Act, $350 million has been spent in the state on hospital or medical projects. Henderson said this includes 450 projects, most of them hospital projects.

"We've built hospitals at a faster rate than any other state in the nation," he said.

"Our present building program," he added, "is the biggest we've ever undertaken. A total of $114 million worth of building is going on right now."

Sometimes when an old hospital gives way to a new structure, efforts are made to turn the old hospital building into a nursing home for the aging. This was proposed in Catawba County, where a new $5.7 million hospital was opened last fall.

Catawba officials were informed the old hospital building would have to be brought up to more rigid standards before it could pass the state's present-day safety codes. A consulting firm told the county it would take a large sum of money to renovate the old building for a nursing home.

"The standards for nursing homes," Henderson said, "should be as rigid as those for hospitals because the patients are older people, many of them disabled.

"The process of hospital modernization is a continuing one," Henderson stated. "Some of the hospitals built after our program started in 1947 are becoming obsolete in some respects because of the rapid advancement of hospital standards.

"The time has come," he added, "when the number of hospitals is not the problem in North Carolina. The problem is to display our hospitals to the best advantage. We are very sensitive to the responsibility the public places upon us in trying to provide optimum adequacy in hospitals and other medical facilities. It is a continuing battle for us."

Encouragement For Serenaders

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The capital's amateur troubadours are free to serenade their senorites—ad lib, a capella or with strumming and without city sanction. With a stroke of his pen in defense of tender tradition, Mayor Alfonso Corona del Rosal struck down a proposal that would have required a detour to the city permit office by a serenader bound for a balcony on a romance bent. The mayor held neighbor complaints could be coped with otherwise.

Highway Dept. Shakeup Urged

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott says the North Carolina Highway Department is being supervised "in a cloak of scholarly secrecy," and the situation will not get better "until we shake up the top echelon."

Scott, campaigning for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at a 1st Congressional District rally Wednesday night, launched his strongest attack against a state agency since formally opening his campaign in mid-January.

"For several years," he charged, "the Highway Department has been controlled and supervised in a cloak of scholary secrecy — open only to a chosen few. The control over roads has been removed further from the people and placed somewhere behind the multitude of closed doors in the highway building in Raleigh.

"The time has come for these doors to be opened and let some fresh air into the carpeted, paneled offices in the ivory tower of the highway building."

The lieutenant governor said, "North Carolina once had the reputation of a 'good road state,' but I doubt if it does now—not with 47 per cent of our rural roads still unpaved — not with many regions of our state still unserved by four lane highways —not with so many roads that simply need resurfacing."

"And I don't believe the situation will really get any better," he continued, "until we shake the top echelon in the Highway Department.

"When we make our highway program a people's program and when we bring once again some common sense thinking into highway matters—that's progress."

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets mostly steady. Tops of 18.00-18.50 Rocky Mount; 17.50-18.50 Wilson; 17.25-18.25 Bethel, Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove Albertson, Lumberton; 18.00 Greensboro, Selma, Salisbury; 17.75 Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady to 1 cent lower Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand generally fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 42 to 42½; medium, whites: 34 to 36½ small, whites: 24 to 27.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market simmered down considerably today. Blue chips made selective gains.

Gains and losses for the entire list were about even.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.71 at 895.34.

Trading proceeded at roughly half the turbulent pace of Wednesday when a new record of 20.41 million shares was posted. The approach of the three-day Easter weekend caused normal caution and evening-up of positions. The exchanges will close Good Friday.

Brokers expressed themselves as satisfied with the firm way in which the market was performing, despite the potentially depressing news that the secretary of defense is calling to active duty about 24,500 reservists about 10,000 of whom will go to Vietnam.

This was interpreted more as an attempt to strengthen the hand of the United States in peace negotiations than as another escalation of the conflict.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 319.1 with industrials up 1., rails off .8 and utilities up .4.

Gains of a point or so were scored by such key stocks as United Aircraft, Alcoa, Lorillard and Johns-Manville.

Du Pont, whose climb of 7½ Wednesday helped boost the averages, weathered an early loss of 1½ and cut it to a small fraction.

IBM, which dropped a point in Wednesday's late selling, snapped back 4 points.

AVCO spured 3 points amid a published report that its president believes some of AVCO's defense-oriented business may become more profitable if peace is established.

Some of the insurance companies weakened as investors took another look at the prospect of damage claims resulting from the racial riots. Transamerica dropped more than a point, Continental Insurance nearly a point and Insurance Co. of North America a fraction.

Ford, Sears Roebuck and U.S. Gypsum were off about a point.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange as trading slackened from Wednesday's rate.

Area School Holidays Scheduled

Easter holidays scheduled for the Greenville City Schools and the schools in Pitt, Greene and Martin counties have been announced by the school superintendents.

The Greenville City Schools and the schools in Greene County will observe Friday and Monday as Easter holidays. Normal operations will resume on Tuesday.

All Pitt County schools, with the exception of Bethel Union, Sallie Branch, Pactolus Elementary, Belvoir - Falkland and Falkland Elementary, will have Friday and Monday as holidays. The five schools named above will have school on Friday and a full day of instruction will be taught. Pitt County schools will reopen on Tuesday.

Martin County schools will remain open on Friday and Easter Monday will be the only holiday for the students. Saturday, April 20, will also be a make-up day for Martin County students and two make - up days have been added to the end of the school year.

The Communion Service opens with the consecration of the sacramental elements and members of the Lenten Membership Class who were confirmed on Palm Sunday will receive the Communion first.

Families within the church may come at any time between the hours of 7:30-8:45 p.m. to receive the communion.

Set Good Friday Services Here

With a black-draped altar centered with a crown of thorns as the focal point, the traditional three-hour Good Friday Service will be held tomorrow at Saint James Methodist Church.

Set between the hours of 12 noon and 3 p.m., the minister of St. James, the Rev. William K. Quick, will preside. Organist will be Carl Amt.

The participants and time of the various segments are First Word: "Forgiveness," 12 noon, the Rev. Charles Michael Smith, Holy Trinity Methodist Church; Second Word: "Salvation," 12:25 p.m., the Rev. King E. White, St. Paul Pentecostal Holiness Church; Third Word: "Love," 12:50 p.m., Col. Douglas Carty, Salem Methodist Church; Fourth Word: "Loneliness," 1:15 p.m., the Rev. Percy Upchurch, Memorial Baptist Church.

Worshippers have been asked to come as they can at any time during the three hours and when they must leave to do so quietly.

"This service is open to the entire community," the host pastor stated. It commemorates the three hours that Jesus hung on the cross. The church will be devoid of paraments. Following the seventh word and hymn, the people will be asked to leave without a benediction, though they will have the opportunity to pray individually at the altar.

Urged Governor Not To Lift Ban On Alcohol

Dr. Andrew Best and the Rev. William K. Quick sent a telegram to the governor yesterday urging him not to lift the ban on alcoholic beverages until after the weekend.

The wire said in part, "The Easter holidays will see an influx of visitors from the urban areas of the North, particularly those cities in which there has been widespread violence. And we do not deem it wise that the ban be lifted due to the potential trouble which may be ahead.

"We request compensation be made to the rabbis within the state and a special permit issued for members of their religious faith. Consider this request as urgent."

Dr. Best and the Rev. Quick are both members of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council.
