Car Left Road And Eight Died; Two Survivors

ROCKY MOUNT (AP) — Two Puerto Rican migrant farm workers remained hospitalized today from injuries received in an auto accident in which eight of their friends and relatives were killed.

The station wagon in which the group was riding left U. S. 301 early Sunday and plunged into a creek near Whitakers, about 14 miles north of Rocky Mount.

The two survivors — Mrs. Juana Sanchez, 48, and Antonio Sanchez, 22, were pulled from the submerged car by members of the migrant party riding in another car that came upon the scene minutes later.

The dead were Confesor Sanchez, 45, of Lake Worth, Fla., and three of his children; Elberto Rosado, 24, and his wife, Santa, 23; and Francisco Sanchez, 3 and Soyna Sanchez, 1.

Mrs. Sanchez was listed in critical condition. Her son was said to be in satisfactory condition.

The Highway Patrol said the station wagon was driven by Antonio Sanchez when it plunged off the highway, rambled 180 feet and overturned on its top in Fishing Creek. The accident occurred about 4:30 a.m.

The patrol said the group was enroute from Florida to New Jersey.

Over $100,000 Loss Due To Fire At Robersonville

By R. W. GOLLOBIN
Reflector Staff Writer

ROBERSONVILLE—A fire of undetermined origin raced through the old Adkins and Bailey warehouse Saturday night in Robersonville leveling it in a matter of minutes.

The fire was discovered at 10 p.m. by a policeman making his rounds. He gave the alarm and fire units from Bethel and Williamston joined the Robersonville unit in a futile effort to stop the blaze. Adjacent buildings were wet down and the fire was prevented from spreading.

Ferrel Smith reported that he had approximately 60 boats stored inside the warehouse along with several trailers and motors. Smith said he had no idea where the fire was until he arrived on the spot. He said that the stored boats, trailers, and motors were not insured. "I've just worked the past 15 years for nothing," he said disgustedly.

The loss to warehouse and contents is estimated at $100,000. In addition to the boats, trailers, and motors, eight peanut trailers, a truck, an antique car, and $1,000 of Boy Scout camping equipment were lost in the flames.

The warehouse was the original marketing place for the Robersonville Tobacco Market and was built shortly after 1900. James Gray has been the owner and operator of the warehouse in recent times.

Arthur Bullock, chief of the Robersonville rural volunteer fire department, had two sons injured when a brick wall which firemen were attempting to push into the demolished building collapsed outwardly into the street, sending bricks clattering into firemen and spectators. Randy Bullock was hurled underneath a utility truck by the force of the falling bricks but escaped serious injury. He is expected to remain at the hospital for observation for two or three days. Bullock's other son, Phil also received injuries to his feet and was treated and released.

A newsman watching the operations received a blow to the back of his head from a piece of flying debris.

Marines Storm Red Positions

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Marines seized a hill northwest of Khe Sanh from its North Vietnamese defenders in an Easter Day battle. An American source said South Vietnamese troops soon will take on a bigger share of the fighting along the northern frontier.

The battle for Hill 881 north, five miles from the Khe Sanh combat base, was one of several sharp fights over Easter. AP correspondent John Lengel reported from Marine headquarters at Da Nang that 108 North Vietnamese were killed on 881 North—most of them by artillery and air strikes that preceded the Marine assault.

Six Marines were reported killed and 12 wounded.

Troops of the 26th Marine Regiment stormed up the slopes. Sporadic shooting continued after the hill was declared secure early in the afternoon.

The hill was the scene of hard fighting in the spring of 1967, and the North Vietnamese hung on to it after the siege of Khe Sanh was lifted this month.

The 26th Marine Regiment had been in Khe Sanh during the 77-day siege. After the encirclement was broken the regiment moved out to sweep the surrounding area.

The U.S. Command is preparing to replace American troops along the demilitarized zone with South Vietnamese forces an American source said today. It was considered possible that South Vietnamese troops will take over defense of the Marine outpost of Con Thien and of Khe Sanh, now defended by a battalion of air cavalrymen.

It was reliably learned that the move will be carried out as soon as the South Vietnamese 1st Division has completed refitting and retraining. The division suffered heavy casualties during the enemy's lunar new year offensive.

Courts Acting On Thousands Of Riot Cases

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Courts are engaged in processing thousands of arrests made during the looting, arson and violence that followed the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Hundreds are still in jail.

Hundreds have been fined, mostly for curfew violations. Many have received suspended sentences. Others remain free in bail pending trial on charges ranging from looting and arson to first-degree murder.

In Baltimore, about 5,800 persons were arrested. Of 3,466 cases tried, 2,193 convictions resulted, mostly for curfew violations. Fines ranged from $5 to $300. Probation cases totaled 389. Many cases involving looting and arson await grand jury action. Washington reported 5,500 arrests, including 4,400 curfew violations. Persons charged with curfew violations have been told they can avoid trial by posting $25 bond. The remaining cases deal with looting, arson, and other more serious charges.

Chicago arrest figures exceed 2,800, with an estimated 500 persons remaining in jail.

Bonds for 207 persons arrested in looting and arson cases were reduced Sunday in a special Easter session of circuit court. A total of 283 cases were heard.

Previously more than 2,000 were released on bond, plus some juveniles who were turned over to their parents. Most of the Chicago arrests were for disorderly conduct, curfew violations, burglary and looting.

Cases in other cities include: CINCINNATI — Total of 260 persons arrested, including 54 juveniles. Charges include curfew violations and possession of fire bombs. Three persons have been charged with first-degree murder, one for manslaughter, two for assault with a deadly weapon, and one for inciting to riot.

NEW YORK CITY — About 400 arrests, with disorders minor compared with those in other cities. All cases are being processed in courts of the city's five boroughs.

KANSAS CITY — About 160 in jail in lieu of bonds of $50,000 to $100,000 awaiting hearings on felony charges arising from riots. Courts also have 122 misdemeanor cases, such as curfew violations, on docket. About 20 persons pleaded guilty to curfew violations and were fined $15 to $25. Other cases have been continued.

FBI Hunts Galt From Va. To Fla.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — FBI agents from Virginia to Florida were making an intensive hunt today for the mystery man whose abandoned white Mustang fits descriptions of a car seen leaving the scene of the Martin Luther King Jr. assassination.

The object of the widening search was Eric Starvo Galt, 37, known only as an unemployed seaman from Birmingham, Ala. A car registered in that name was seized by the FBI in Atlanta last Friday, eight days after King was shot to death in Memphis.

The FBI refused to acknowledge the hunt or to say why Galt was wanted. "No comment," was the routine reply. But Associated Press checks disclosed that FBI agents had contacted persons named Galt in several states including Virginia, Alabama and Florida.

An FBI alert for Galt was sent over the Florida police communications network last Friday, but withdrawn four hours later.

FBI agents have continued to inquire about Galt at numerous places including dry cleaners and service stations in Birmingham, where a man named Eric Starvo Galt rented a room at a Southside boarding house within the past eight months.

Meanwhile, in Jacksonville, Fla., a man picked up for questioning about the assassination was cleared, police said.

Agents have exhibited composite drawings of a man's face, but no photographs, according to persons contacted in Birmingham.

At the same time, police sources in Memphis disclosed Sunday that the FBI was withholding nationwide distribution of a composite drawing of King's killer, who fired the death shot from a dingy second-floor bathroom in a rundown rooming house. King, leader of nonviolent civil rights forces, was struck in the neck as he stood on a second floor motel balcony facing the rear of the rooming house. The assassin's description given by the FBI: 30 to 32 years of age, 5-10, weighing 165, with a receding hairline and a long, thin nose.

Newsman's requests for prints of the FBI's drawing were turned down.

Neither has there been a hint that authorities possess a photograph of the missing Eric Starvo Galt, whose name fails to appear on any official records except those showing ownership of the white Mustang found in Atlanta.

The team will seek to focus on the best use of the department in crime prevention, apprehension and miscellaneous police services.

The team also will predict future department needs and possible problem areas by evaluating crime, sociological and population trends.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Will Publish Potential Spy Scandal

PARIS (AP)—A French satirical weekly says memoirs of a former French intelligence official, about to be published, tend to give real life to Leon Uris' novel about a Soviet spy in a French president's entourage.

The newspaper Le Canard Enchaîné said the memoirs will appear in Life magazine and the Sunday Times of London and will touch off "a horrible international scandal." Sources close to the Elysee Palace, the president's residence, called the report comic and added: "We await with serenity the revelations of this so-called espionage affair."

Le Canard Enchaîné said the memoirs will be those of a person it identified as Thorand de Vosjoly, described as a high-ranking French intelligence officer who "defected" to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Life magazine said it is considering publications of the memoirs in the edition that appears April 23. In a front-page advertisement, the Sunday Times—without naming the author—said it will start publication next week of the exclusive story of "one of the most sensational espionage affairs since the war."

The London paper said hints of the account had been contained in Uris' novel "Topaz," published last year by McGraw-Hill.

Le Canard Enchaîné notes that in Uris' novel, a French functionary in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—NATO—and "an immediate collaborator" of the president are Soviet spies. A Frenchman named Georges Paques now is in prison for passing secrets from NATO, where he worked, to the Soviet Union. He was arrested in 1963.

Link-Up By Unmanned Sputniks

MOSCOW (AP) — Two unmanned Soviet Sputniks automatically linked up in orbit today, circled together for 3 hours and 50 minutes and then separated.

The duplication of a Soviet feat first accomplished last Oct. 30 came amid indications that the Soviet Union soon will be ready to make its first manned space flight since cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov died in the crash of Soyuz 1 last April 24.

Cosmos 312, launched Sunday "to test new systems and elements of the design of spacecraft," docked in orbit with Cosmos 213, which was blasted aloft later.

This duplicated the feat of Cosmos 186 and 188 last Oct. 30.

The unmanned docking was believed by experienced observers here to be in preparation for manned linkups in space. The four cosmos satellites involved all followed the same orbital paths as the ill-fated Soyuz 1 spaceship, which crashed last April 24, killing cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov.

Komarov was believed then to have been testing a new spaceship designed for space docking. The Soviet Union has yet to accomplish this with manned vehicles, although the United States first did it 2½ years ago. Cosmos 186 and 188 stayed together in orbit for 3½ hours. Then they separated and came down to separate soft landings.

There was no immediate indication how long Cosmos 212 would stay linked up with 213.

Klan Attorney Is Found Wounded

RALEIGH (AP) — Lester V. Chalmers Jr., 44, defense attorney for Ku Klux Klansmen in recent court cases, is reported in fair condition from a bullet wound in the mouth.

Chalmers, a Raleigh lawyer and former Wake County Superior Court solicitor, was hospitalized after being found wounded in his home Saturday.

Police said he was struck in the roof of the mouth with a .22 caliber bullet and that an investigation is continuing. They quoted Mrs. Chalmers as saying she heard a shot and ran into her son's bedroom, where she found Chalmers lying across a bed. Police said she told them she was alone in the house with her husband at the time.

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) —Bob Curtis, a city councilman and owner of Curtis Jewelers, says the theft of $85,000 in jewelry and cash may force him out of business.

He told police he discovered the break-in when he stopped at the store Sunday as he was leaving for a trip to the beach with his family.

Police said he told them $1,300 of the loss was in cash, and the rest in diamonds, watches, other jewelry, and watches and jewelry left by customers.

Claim Vision In Ancient Church

CAIRO (AP) — More than 200 persons say they have seen a vision of the Virgin Mary during the past four nights in an old church in the Cairo suburb of Zeitoun.

Zeitoun is about a mile from Matariya, where the Virgin, the infant Jesus and St. Joseph are reputed to have rested during their flight to Egypt.

Sunday night about 2,000 people, including nuns and priests, packed the square and alleys leading to the church.

Two Americans Killed In N. Korean Ambush

Two other American soldiers were wounded. The U.N. Command called the ambush "a flagrant violation" of the Korean armistice and filed a protest note.

The ambush raised American casualties to four killed and 14 wounded since the North Korean raid on Seoul Jan. 21 in an attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park. North Korea seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo on Jan. 23, and one of its 83 crewmen was fatally wounded then.

The spokesman said a truck from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division was making a routine trip from an advance camp to Panmunjom when it was attacked. He said personnel aboard a second American vehicle heard about 200 rounds of automatic weapons fire and two explosions and rushed to the scene.

A 2nd Division force was dispatched to sweep the area but found no trace of the attackers. The spokesman said the ambush was well inside the South Korean half of the demilitarized zone. The two South Koreans killed were attached to the U.S. division.

U.S. Rear Adm. John V. Smith, the U.N. Command member of the Military Armistice Commission, demanded a joint investigation of the attack.

SITE OF AMBUSH — Cross locates area where North Koreans ambushed a truck and killed four United Nations Command soldiers, including two Americans Sunday night. Two other American soldiers were reported wounded. Truck was ambushed about 6 miles south of the Panmunjon armistice conference area while on a routine trip. Jewel Box Messenger Is Robbed Of Diamonds

GREENSBORO (AP)—Police disclosed today that a messenger for Jewel Box Inc., in Greensboro was robbed last Friday afternoon of three mail sacks containing about $10,000 in diamonds.

Police gave this account of the holdup:

The messenger, 21-year-old Fred Moore, left the firm's offices on the 12th floor of the Wachovia Building about 3:25 p.m.

He told officers he took a service elevator to the basement floor and placed the three bags in a pickup truck parked at a loading dock.

At this point, police said, Moore realized he had forgotten the keys to the truck and returned to the 12th floor office.

When Moore returned to the truck, a man who told him he had a gun approached and forced him to drive to the parking lot at Moses Cone Hospital.

The messenger said he parked the truck and was ordered to lie on the floor. A short time later, Moore said, he heard a second vehicle drive up and park beside the truck. Next, the gunman got out of the truck, entered the second vehicle and drove away.

Richard Backer of Winston-Salem, executive vice president of Jewel Box, Inc., told the Greensboro Record today that He said the rings were being shipped to Jewel Box stores in the state.

For Most Of Nation, Tax Filing Deadline Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing 1967 income tax returns and the government estimates 18 million Americans waited until the past weekend to do it.

(Internal Revenue Service authorities said an exception had been made in North Carolina and that the deadline for filing 1967 returns will be midnight Tuesday. This exception was made, the spokesman said, because Easter Monday is a holiday in North Carolina.)

To meet the legal deadline, returns must be postmarked by midnight but the rules have been stretched for persons affected by last week's racial violence, including police, firemen and National Guardsmen called to duty.

Persons whose records were lost or destroyed in the violence or were prevented from obtaining help in preparing their returns because of curfews or related conditions may file late returns.

But they must be filed as soon as possible and accompanied by letters explaining the circumstances and reasons for the delay.

The usual penalty for late filing—5 per cent monthly of the taxes due up to a maximum of 25 per cent—will not be assessed but the interest must be paid—one half of one per cent of the taxes due.

The Internal Revenue Service estimated that at least 5.2 million taxpayers will file returns today, the last contingent of 18 million who had not acted by Friday. But the IRS added that three out of four taxpayers sent their returns in earlier.

Son's Cleanliness Should Be Mandatory And Not Optional

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know that most small boys have a natural aversion to soap and water, but at what age is a boy supposed to start keeping himself reasonably clean?

I have a son, 13, and you wouldn't believe how he detests soap and water. And to top it off, he doesn't even want to wear socks. The answer I get is "If Huck Finn could go without shoes, I can go without socks."

When he comes home from school grimy and sweaty, and I tell him to shower before supper, he tells me he had a shower in gym, so he doesn't have to shower at home. And he climbs into bed at night, exhausted, with dirty hair and filthy feet. You should see the bed sheets: You would think he had been working in the coal mines. And he sleeps until the last minute in the morning so he can't shower then. O, please, Abby, how can I clean up this kid? I don't know how much longer I can take it.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Cleanliness should not be "optional." It should be mandatory, and if your son at age 13, does not keep himself reasonably clean, offer to give him a bath. You may have to start undressing him. I'll bet he moves!

DEAR ABBY: I went to a cocktail party where there were about 50 people just milling around making small talk.

A rather sexy looking gal spotted me from across the room and pretty soon she was beside me starting up a conversation. When I realized that she had more than a casual interest in me, I thought I'd better put her straight, so I told her I was a married man. She then asked, "Happily?" I think that was an extremely personal question for one stranger to ask another. What do you suppose she had in mind?

CARL

DEAR CARL: Some enchanting evening.

DEAR ABBY: A year ago I fell in love with a girl I'll call "Mary." We started to date, and I became serious about her. She was 18 and I was 24. She was beautiful and the nicest girl I had ever known. To me she was perfect. I was crazy over her and she never let me touch her. It was the first time in my life that a girl ever "tamed me down."

I finally told her I loved her and wanted to marry her. She refused saying she didn't love me, and we shouldn't see each other any more.

In anger I violated her and got so carried away I beat her up so badly she ended up in a hospital.

I still love her, Abby, and I think maybe she cares something for me because she never told on me. I have been trying and trying to apologize, but she won't even see me. Don't you think she should forgive and forget? I have learned a lot in the last year. She always reads your column. Maybe she'll see this and give me another chance.

TURNED DOWN

DEAR TURNED DOWN: Steer clear of the girl. Although you escaped punishment from the law, I advise you to turn yourself in and ask to tell your troubles to a doctor. You appear to be a very sick young man who needs treatment. The reason the girl never "told on you" was NOT because she "cares" for you, but probably to avoid possible unpleasant publicity, which was unfortunate because it left you free to "violate" others.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

Artichoke hearts make a delightful addition to a tossed green salad to serve when company is coming. You can use marinated hearts that come in a jar, adding the marinade as part of the dressing. Or you can add canned artichoke hearts that are waterpacked. In this case drain the hearts thoroughly, add them to the greens and toss with your own salad dressing.

Far-Reaching Effects From Survey

The State Highway Commission in cooperation with the city has begun a study of local traffic conditions which should have far reaching effects on street and highway planning here.

Interviews will begin Wednesday, according to a spokesman from the N.C. State Highway Commission, and for the motorists this means that many will be stopped and asked about their destination, origin and the purpose of their trip.

Spokesmen have offered their assurances that the information will be kept in strict confidence. There will also be comprehensive studies of the driving patterns of 60 families.

While the activities may be confusing to some motorists, it is important to keep in mind that the information obtained will eventually be used on a practical basis to actually determine what new roads will be built and what routes will be improved.

It will be the most thorough study of traffic ever conducted here and it will cost a total of $32,000. The city government will pay $4,850 of this.

Local citizens should cooperate with the interviewers as this traffic study progresses, not because it is just another government survey, but because it will have great meaning in the future as new city thoroughfares are planned.

Greenville has considerable traffic problems even today; and they can be expected to worsen as the city grows. Only through having adequate information on traffic movement available can a thoroughfare system be designed to solve these problems.

Something More Than Mere 'Wicked Weed'

A news picture last week of the first reported tobacco transplanting in Pitt County serves as a reminder that the tobacco growing cycle is underway once again.

Of course, as everyone who has lived in this area for any length of time knows, the cycle begins in the first months of the year when the first tobacco beds are sown and continues until the last of the crop is sold in November.

There are many months of hard work ahead for the tobacco farmer and there will be much anxiety, all of which could affect the quality of his crop.

Despite all of the attacks on tobacco as a wicked weed, it is something far more than that to those who grow it and work in it; it is a means of livelihood. Tobacco's prospects through the next few months determine how well the families of those who grow it will eat next year.

For Awhile, It Was Dry State

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The old struggle of wets-versus-drys which has marked liquor legislation again during the governor's for years was spotlighted six day statewide ban on sale of alcoholic beverages in North Carolina.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

It was pointed up in quite a different way. The ban, of course, was applauded widely by the dries but it was imposed for a reason other than the bedrock of their traditional argument, moral principle.

Also, both wets and dries deplored the situation — violence and rioting — which caused the governor's decision.

Nevertheless, it accomplished for a brief period what the dries have always urged, abolishing the legal sale of all alcoholic beverages. And it gave the state a glimpse of what might then result.

Drys Are Formidable
It should be remembered—and politicians do — that the dries are a large, formidable and persuasive political force in North Carolina.

To a large extent, they continue to dictate or strongly influence legislative policy on state alcoholic beverage control which, in North Carolina, is stricter than most. State law provides for strict supervision through rigidly controlled outlets, limits quantities and now, since the 1967 legislative session, requires ABC permits for "brown bagging" establishments.

The underlying principle of North Carolina's liquor legislation is control, and this was demonstrated vividly during the ban period.

More Permissive
Other nearby states and areas which experienced even more violence, rioting and burning than North Carolina have more lenient and less rigidly controlled liquor laws.

Liquor continued to flow in Baltimore, Richmond, and Washington, D. C., except for very brief periods last week. In South Carolina, the "red dot" roadside liquor stores remained open from sunrise to sunset selling unlimited quantities. A ban finally was imposed in three border counties of South Carolina because of the statewide ban clamped on North Carolina's ABC sales.

North Carolina meanwhile lost an estimated $500,000 more in state ABC revenue during the six day period and other retail businesses suffered many times over.

Curfews in a number of cities contributed to the business slowdown, but ABC store closing and halting of the sale of beer and wine put brakes on restaurant and tavern business all over the state. After a few days economic pressure rose and the test of wets-vs-drys really began.

Was Effective
To the credit of Governor Moore, a staunch advocate of strict control of alcoholic beverages, the ban was effective. The state was dry, really dry.

It proved that such a ban could be effective at least for brief periods. It also demonstrated possible effects, economic and otherwise.

Bootlegging became profitable — very lucrative, if you would get away with it. Reports were that hard liquor was being bootlegged at anywhere from $8 to $15 per pint and even a can of beer was bringing $1 during the ban. But bootleggers were caught by surprise and in short supply. Their supplies ran out after a few days, even at premium prices. And, unlike the Prohibition era, there was no bathtub gin and even "creek liquor" was scarce.

Babies Always Go 'Downhill'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments on modern parenthood by a pavement Plato:

As every parent knows, babies are wonderful creatures from birth until the day they take their first step. Then they start turning into human beings, and slowly glamor fading from the most tremendous adventure on earth — parenthood.

The other evening I was talking with a group of fathers and mothers about parenthood and the discussion turned to the question: At what age are children most satisfying?

"There is no doubt about it," said one veteran, who now has several grandchildren.

HAL BOYLE

"Babies are at their best while you still have to burp them. When they no longer have to be burped, they go downhill rapidly. They switch characters, something like Dr. Jekyll turning into Mr. Hyde. They are no longer the same people."

I had to agree with him. There is no greater thrill in life than in taking care of the needs of a baby when it is totally dependent on you for its safety, comfort and well-being.

When you hold it — wet or dry — in your arms, it gives you the power of a tiger. You feel that you could whip the whole world to protect it. It is more precious to you than gold or prestige or even life itself. You lose your own selfish sense of identity in the fierce desire to guard its welfare from danger. There is no sacrifice you wouldn't willingly make for it.

All this is before the tiny object of your affection can even say "thank you" for your concern.

Then the little monster begins to coo and crawl and get its fingers caught in things and throw food from its high chair onto the floor. The next thing you know it is pulling itself upright by the bars of its crib, and then it takes a hesitant step alone — that symbolic step that takes it away from you forever.

It cries now not to be comforted or consoled, but because it wants to have its own imperious way. It has become a human being, daily determined to see how far it can bend the world to its will.

Now you find yourself slapping the growing hands that once looked like pale flower petals but have developed the ability to clench into fists. Now and then the chubby bottom that used to seem so adorable must be spanked. And occasionally, if mother isn't looking, a vexed father may succumb to the temptation of booting his small son and side of his bottom with the heel of his foot, as if he were a soccer ball, and lifting him a couple of feet farther along the rug.

From the time the kids enter kindergarten until they emerge from college, parenthood, although it is cheered by many happy moments, consists of a deepening slavery and a continual self-questioning.

"What have I done wrong? Am I failing my children? Could I do more? Nothing I do for them seems to be quite right."

Now and then parents get weary of making sacrifices taken for granted by their offspring. "I'll be glad when they're finally grown up and married off," each tells the other. "Then our worries will be over."

But on the actual wedding day of a child, mother weeps. Dad is solemn. Neither feels as relieved as they thought they would. They feel lost and lonesome, turned out to unwelcome pasture. Their child has committed the unforgivable sin of growing up.

In their heart of hearts they'd like to have their baby back on their shoulders gain, taking turns burping it — and start the whole darned rigmarole all over again.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
FORMULA FOR POPULARITY

The word "tact" comes from a Latin word which means "touch." A tactful person is a person who has the gift of gentle and pleasing touch.

We wonder sometimes why certain people are popular and other people are unpopular. There are many reasons, of course, which help to explain each of these states. But usually the popular person is tactful and above all makes other people feel that they have some importance. Regardless of what else he is, the unpopular person is usually untactful and has a stupid disregard for the feelings of others.

ple like to believe that they are of some importance at least. And away down under, everyone likes to feel that he is an independent thinker — whether he is or not. So if you want to be popular, forget about yourself and try — to the extent you honestly can — to make other people feel that they have some real capacity for thought; in other words, that you respect their opinions.

The bigger you make a person appear in his own eyes, the bigger and better you will appear in his eyes. The more you make even a casual acquaintance feel that his ideas have worth, the more he will respect your opinions. We like the people who appear to appreciate us, and who make us feel that we're worthwhile.

WASHINGTON — It will be denied, but the chief advisers of Robert Kennedy, Gen. McCarthy and Richard Nixon met secretly in Washington, D. C., to discuss ways of finding a mutual opponent, now that President Lyndon Johnson has talked himself out of the race.

The Kennedy spokesman said, "Our entire campaign was based on going after the Johnson Administration. Now that he's pulled the rug from under us, my man has nothing left to say."

Nixon's man said, "If you think you're in trouble, we don't even have anybody to run against in the primaries. Dick is no good unless he's attacking somebody."

McCarthy's representative, a sophomore from Radcliffe, said tearfully, "With Johnson out and Hanoi willing to talk, McCarthy has nothing to do but read poetry, and we've got the poet vote already."

Kennedy's man said, "We knew the President hated Bobby, but we didn't think he'd

Nor did the sterling performance last weekend by the Blackstone Rangers soften the Daley organization's hostility. "All that Blackstone Ranger stuff is so much propaganda," one Daley lieutenant told us. "The truth about the Woodlawn Organization is nothing but bad."

Habitually more pragmatic than his lieutenants, Daley may permit a refunding of the project if the now vacant post of director is filled by somebody in the good graces of City Hall (though the ability of such a director to communicate with the likes of the Blackstone Rangers might be suspect).

Whatever Daley does, the TWO affair perfectly reflects the inability of the Daley system to cope with the greatest problem facing this city and the entire country — the turbulent Negro masses. Insisting on monolithic control over any Community Action programs in the ghetto, Daley ends up — like many of his fellow mayors — estranged from what is going on there.

What makes this a tragedy of major proportions is that Daley is no ordinary big city mayor. One of the nation's most talented politicians, Daley has woven this city's business, labor, and civic leaders into a monolithic establishment that has brought progress and good government. But the Daley system is inappropriate to the ghetto. Unlike Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, Daley has refused to deal with militant neighborhood Negro leaders as autonomous peers. Whenever an independent Negro leader rears his head, Daley immediately attempts to seduce him into joining the organization — and usually succeeds. "But that's dirty politics," the Radcliffe girl said. "Let's not quarrel," Nixon's man said. "We called this meeting to find someone to attack whom we'd all be comfortable with. What about Hubert Humphrey?"

"We've thought about him," the Kennedy man said. "But it's pretty hard to attack Hubert. He's always smiling." The Radcliffe girl agreed, "Besides, Hubert hasn't done anything for the last four years except be Vice President."

The Nixon man nodded his head. "Dick knows better than anybody how hard it is to prove a Vice President was responsible for any Administration decisions." The three people sat in silence.

Finally, Kennedy's man spoke up. "Why doesn't Nixon attack Bobby? Then we'll attack Dick and we'll have a real rough campaign." (Continued On Page 5)

Business across the country will soon consider lighter packaging for products and thinner paper for catalogs. The Post Office Department has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to increase parcel post rates 11.6 per cent and catalog rates by 20 per cent. The ICC is expected to grant the increase.

The Federal Communications Commission is also expected to grant Western Union permission to increase its rates effective May 5. The FCC will have in mind the fact that Britain is considering abolishing its government-owned telegraph service because it is losing so much.

Daley Lacks Links

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — The tragic estrangement between Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago establishment and the city's Negro masses is underlined by the fact that the most effective peace - keeping force inside the ghetto faces fiscal strangulation.

While the West Side burned amid looting and anarchy following Dr. Martin Luther King's murder, one Negro neighborhood — the Woodlawn section on the South Side — remained calm. The main reason: the Blackstone Rangers, a Negro youth gang, patrolled the streets admonishing black youths to keep cool.

That the Blackstone Rangers saved Woodlawn while similar gangs on the West Side were applying the torch was no accident. The Woodlawn Organization (TWO), a Community Action agency, has been working with teen-age gangs under a $927,000 Federal poverty grant.

But as of this writing, the project will not be renewed or refinanced come the new fiscal year June 1 thanks to unrelenting pressure from Daley's City Hall. With the Mayor never happy about direct dealings between the Federal government and neighborhood agencies that sidestep him, City Hall animosity is the real though unstated reason why TWO is not being funded.

Nor did the sterling performance last weekend by the Blackstone Rangers soften the Daley organization's hostility. "All that Blackstone Ranger stuff is so much propaganda," one Daley lieutenant told us. "The truth about the Woodlawn Organization is nothing but bad."

Habitually more pragmatic than his lieutenants, Daley may permit a refunding of the project if the now vacant post of director is filled by somebody in the good graces of City Hall (though the ability of such a director to communicate with the likes of the Blackstone Rangers might be suspect).

Unexpected Fields Await Veterinarian In Vietnam

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

PLEIKU, Vietnam (AP) — The young veterinarian just arrived from Kansas tilted back his chair and considered his patients—a platoon of dogs, a few monkeys, a couple of cats and one truculent bear.

It was, grinning 24-year-old Roy Braum, hardly what he had expected when he graduated from Kansas State University's veterinary school and headed for Vietnam as an Army captain.

Barely a month in Vietnam, the lanky farmboy from Denison rubbed his new red mustache and admitted his textbook education had been weak in such things as the treatment of bears.

He allowed, however, that it added excitement to his ordinary chores—the examination of meat and vegetables to make sure they are pure enough for GI stomachs, and the health of 30 sentry dogs.

Since the Army did away with the horse cavalry, veterinarians have largely been used to examine fresh foodstuffs.

The influx of combat dogs in recent years, however, has given them a new official task. And the American soldiers' penchant for picking up stray mascots will always make life interesting.

Sooner or later Braum will also get an elephant. Many are used as work animals by the tribesmen of the central highlands and the tribesmen have learned to turn to the U.S. Army when the beasts are off their feed.

For the moment, however, Braum concentrates on the health of the sentry dogs at his Pleiku base. The guard dogs get as much care from the vets as human soldiers get from their medics.

They are examined regularly, get a full range of shots and are evacuated to the big animal hospital in Saigon if they are wounded. They have medical histories, individual files and ear tattoos instead of dogtags.

Braum himself has a German shepherd as a pet. The dog is also a walking blood bank. Braum keeps him handy just in case a wounded dog comes in and needs a transfusion.

Dogs don't have blood types like humans, Braum explained. So his own pet could serve for any necessary transfusion, though the need hasn't yet arisen.

At sprawling Camp Schmidt just outside the highlands capital of Pleiku, Braum is the only veterinarian for many miles. He stays with a bunch of helicopter pilots from the nearby evacuation hospital and takes his daily, dusty rounds in a battered truck left by his predecessor.

His dispensary is a quonset hut with a tiny examining table hardly adequate for a lively bear. Fortunately, the bear is a cub, perhaps six months old and weighing about 50 pounds. It belonged to some helicopter pilots.

Much To Remember In The Awards Of Movie Honors

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Academy aftermath—

There is this about Oscar: He can spring surprises. That and the aura of a 40-year tradition continue to make the Motion Picture Academy Awards the most exciting—though sometimes exasperating—of all the awards.

Last week's ceremonies profited that 60 per cent, 25 per cent are retired or otherwise not working.

So it is easy to see why the vided much to remember. Most of the awards were predictable, except for best picture and best actress. Nearly all the seers had named "The Graduate" or "Bonnie and Clyde" as the likely winners. With the benefit of Monday morning quarterbacking, it is easy to see why the academy voters chose "In the Heat of the Night."

First, you must understand the nature of the electorate. Hollywood is now a mature community, and the academy reflects that. As one loser muttered after the awards: "The Academy is the geriatric set. Sixty per cent are over 50, and voters passed up the two somewhat avant-garde films for a traditional movie, "In the Heat of the Night."

Likewise it is understandable why the voters in an outpouring of sentiment chose Katharine Hepburn as best actress for "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner." There could be no other reason for the award. Miss Hepburn is unquestionably one of the towering figures of screen history. But in her award performance she did little but lend tearful support to Spencer Tracy, who had much the better role.

May Establish Overseas Teams

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — To overcome veterinary regulations on horse sickness which bar South African horses from overseas equestrian events, including the Olympics, South Africa may establish a team of horses at a permanent overseas base.

"The idea is to buy and train these horses overseas and to send a South African team of riders over each year to compete in major and international events," said Allan Goodman, a leading member of the South African National Equestrian Federation.

Phyllis Diller Has Gone Sleek

LONDON (AP) — American comedienne Phyllis Diller has abandoned her normal zany hair style for a bun in the film "The Adding Machine."

"Mine isn't a hairdo, it's a hair don't," Miss Diller said.

She has her first straight film part in the picture as a shrewish, dreary New York housewife. "The Adding Machine," being made at Shepperton Studios near London, is based on the Elmer Rice comedy first staged by the Theater Guild in New York.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Results are in on the first experiment using explosions to dig a canal and the Atomic Energy Commission says the technique looks promising.

The AEC set off five buried nuclear charges in Nevada March 12 and when the dust cleared, spokesmen say, there was a 300-foot wide "canal" running for 900 feet through the desert. The big ditch was 80 feet deep.

A canal to handle oceangoing ships would have to be considerably wider.

Use of nuclear energy to gouge a sea-level canal across the waistline of the Western Hemisphere as an alternative to the aging Panama Canal is being seriously considered by the government's Atlantic-Pacific Interoceanic Canal Study Commission.

Business inventories increased by only about $225 million in February, the Commerce Department reports. A $600 million increase was posted in January and even that was down from the billion-a-month pace of the final quarter of 1967.

"It's hardly worth asking him," Kennedy's man said.

"We've got to find someone we can all attack, someone with whom the public can identify, someone bigger than a life who is so feared that people would have to vote for us. We have to do this, even if we invent him."

"Yeh, but how?"

Kennedy's man said, "Let's turn the problem over to a computer to see if it can come up with such a person."

The other two were elated with the idea and they rushed off to IBM headquarters. They fed the computer all the facts about their candidates and asked the computer to suggest a candidate who would give them the opposition they all needed.

The computer digested all the material and then started tapping out the reply on a printer.

"The perfect opposition candidate for all of you should be 6-foot-2 inches tall. He should have a Texas accent, drive an open convertible, own a ranch near a river and, if possible, have an interest in the only television station in town."

prone militants. Although the violence last weekend was mostly the product of adolescents, well-armed adults were ominously on the fringes. Since Dr. King's civil rights campaign failed to organize the West Side in 1966, such would-be terrorists have been in de facto control.

It is, then, testimony to the Daley organization's alienation from the ghetto that last weekend's explosion, long expected by those familiar with the situation, was a complete surprise to City Hall. The Mayor, whose love for his city is unquestioned, was clearly amazed by what happened.

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Taos residents are seeking a way to honor one of the town's most famous citizens, Kit Carson, on the 100th anniversary of his death this May 23.

Since 1959, the 150th anniversary of the frontiersman's birth, Taos has sought a commemorative postage stamp in Carson's honor. But they have had no luck so far.

Jack Boyer, manager of the Kit Carson museum, said many of Carson's descendants live in the area. The pioneer trapper and guide is buried near his Taos home.

At Least 31 Die In N.C. Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eight members of Puerto Rican migrant farm families drowned when their station wagon plunged off a highway into a creek near Rocky Mount before dawn Sunday. Six persons were fatally injured in the head-on collision of two automobiles near Smithfield Saturday.

They were among the at least 31 persons who have died by violence over the Easter weekend in North Carolina.

The North Carolina Motor Club had predicted that 22 persons would die on the state's highways in the 78-hour holiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight tonight.

The state's toll for the year has risen to 461, or 54 more than at the similar time last year.

The Puerto Ricans were Confesor Sanchez, 45, and three of his children Elberto Rosado, 24, and his wife, Santa, 23; and Francisco Sanchez, 3, and Soynna Sanchez, 1. Confesor Sanchez' wife, Juana Sanchez, 48, and another of their children were injured.

William Gene Prince, 22, of Rt. 1, Clayton, died Sunday, the sixth victim of the collision near Smithfield. The others were Dominiks Kuznecious, 58; Dr. Lucky Bickson, about 55, and her mother, Mrs. Martha Buckson, about 75, all of Goldsboro; Zella Prince, about 60, of Rt. 1, Clayton, and Don H. Hughes, about 35, of Rt. 3, Raleigh.

Claude Eugene White, 30, a reporter for the Twin City Sentinel of Winston-Salem, and James M. Zimmerman, 24, of Winston-Salem, were fatally injured when their car overturned seven miles south of Union Grove. Trooper R. C. Mullis said he understood they were on their way back to Winston-Salem from the Fiddler's Convention Sunday at Union Grove in Iredell County.

Other victims: William Ray Howell, 18, and James C. Senter III, 17, both of Albemarle.

Russia Readies Manned Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is preparing to launch men into orbit around the earth in a resumption of its manned space program.

Informal sources said today a launching will come soon.

Despite the traditional Soviet secrecy about space plans, there are indications that the flight will include the linkup of two space ships in orbit which cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov "as apparently supposed" had made before his death during the last manned flight a year ago.

The Baikonur space center at Tyuratam, in Central Asia, launched an unmanned spacecraft Sunday of the kind expected to be used for the manned flight.

The flight, listed as No. 212 in the all-purpose Cosmos series of unmanned satellites, was officially described as intended to "test new systems and elements of the design of spacecraft." This is unusual wording for a Cosmos announcement, which usually speaks only of "space exploration."

The Green Jacket Fits

GREEN COAT FOR MASTERS CHAMPION — Bob Goalby gets the traditional green coat as champion of the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta from last year's winner, Gary Brewer. Goalby was declared champion although he finished in a 277 tie with Roberto de Vicenzo. De Vicenzo was pushed back to second after an error was discovered in his scorecard. (AP Wirephoto)

Goalby Charged Up To Win Masters' Tourney

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — There's an ink stain on the left breast of Bob Goalby's green Masters jacket. It doesn't show. But it's there. It always will be.

It was put there by the innocently errant pea of Tommy Aaron, who kept score for his playing partner, Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo in Sunday's near-incredible wind-up of the Masters Golf Tournament.

De Vicenzo, the balding, globetrotter who won last year's British Open Championship, was in the clubhouse with a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 for 277, 11 under par, when Goalby came charging up through the pack and tied him with a final round 66.

Preparations for a playoff today were in the making when it was discovered De Vicenzo had signed an incorrect card and Goalby was the champion, a declared champion on a bookkeeping error.

Hord Hardin, president of the U.S. Golf Association and chairman of the rules committee, made the bombshell announcement:

"Under the rules of golf, he (De Vicenzo) will be charged with a 66, which does not leave him in a tie with Bob Goalby, who is 11 under par."

"He is second, 10 under par."

De Vicenzo, playing a round that was just one shot off the Masters record, tapped in a two-foot birdie putt on the par-4, 400-yard 17th hole, just as Goalby was catching him with a 10-foot eagle putt on the 520-yard 15th.

Through a split-screen account of it shown by CBS-TV, a national television audience saw the two putts drop almost together.

But Aaron marked down a four on De Vicenzo's card, instead of three.

Roberto went on to bogey the last hole. Blinded by pressure and the frustration of the bogey, he signed his card. And he was stuck with it — stuck with a 66 instead of a 65.

"I look at it," said the gallant gauch. "I look at my card maybe four, five times. But I don't see anything. I can't see anything."

"It's my fault," he said over and over. "It is not Aaron's fault. It is my fault. We are professionals. We are supposed to know. I play golf for 30 years all over the world and I never do this before."

"I feel very sorry for me. There was so much pressure I lose my brains."

Goalby, an obscure player on the tour for 11 years, was equally upset.

"I'm very, very happy to win the Masters," he said. "I'd be a liar if I said anything else."

"But I deeply regret the way that it had to be won. It's unfortunate."

Goalby didn't know until about 15 minutes after finishing his round over the picturesque, 6,980-yard, par-72 Augusta National course that he had won the $20,000 first prize, plus the green jacket and the enormous prestige that goes with it.

Bert Yancey had a 65 for third at 279 and Australian Bruce Devlin was alone in fourth after a 69 for 280. Jack Nicklaus and Frank Beard followed at 281, Nicklaus after a 67 and Beard after a 70.

Gary Player, the third-round leader, went to a 72 and tied with Lionel Hebert, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pittman and Tommy Aaron at 282.

William and Mary's Indians, the only Southern Conference baseball team which has yet to face a league opponent, should find out this week just what their chances are in the Northern Division race.

The Indians make their circuit debut today in a doubleheader at Virginia Military, then play a conference twin bill at home Saturday against George Washington's tough-looking Colonials.

Another Northern Division doubleheader also is scheduled today with Richmond's Spiders entertaining West Virginia's defending champion Mountaineers, who lead the Northern Division with a 3-1 record.

Also on tap today are three nonconference scraps with Southern Division leader East Carolina at Wilmington, Furman at East Tennessee and Davidson at home against Belmont Abbey.

Saturday's only league action saw GW's Colonials play their first league games and again a split with West Virginia. The Colonials took the opener 5-3 behind freshman Hank Bunnell's three-hit pitching, the Mountaineers the nightcap 8-0 as Merle Taylor threw a four-hitter and John Simpson walloped a three-run homer.

William and Mary, meanwhile got in shape for this week's activity by outlasting Virginia Tech 10-6 as John Medlin hit two home runs and drove in four runs. His three-run shot featured the Indians' four-run fourth inning. John Dean and Tom Childress homered for the losing Techmen.

East Carolina, which had won

10 games and played one tie since an opening game defeat, saw its 11-game nonlosing streak come to an end when the Pirates were shellacked by Pembroke 11-4.

Another nonconference tussle saw Furman's Paladins battle to a 3-3 tie with Rhode Island in a game that was called by agreement at the end of seven innings.

Nat'l League To Talk Expansion At Friday Meet

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League will consider when it will expand from 10 to 12 baseball teams and set down guidelines for determining expansion procedure at a meeting in Chicago Friday.

But League President Warren Giles said here Saturday that he expects no major action to be taken on any subject or "final decisions, I am sure."

But Giles said the league expansion committee will present ground rules to six cities—two combined—seeking franchises and will also discuss player allocation.

Orioles Lumped Their Misplays

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, who found new ways to lose during a disastrous 1967 season, lumped a whole bunch of misplays into a single loss Sunday.

While dropping a 6-2 decision to the California Angels, for their first loss after two victories, the Orioles yielded runs when:

—Dave Johnson, playing out of position at shortstop, delayed his throw after "playing the ball wrong" on Paul Schaal's first-inning chopper, turning the third out into a scratch hit.

—Winning pitcher George Brunet, who batted .077 last year, tapped a single to left after weak-hitting Bobby Knoop was given a two-out intentional pass in the fourth.

—Jimmie Hall went to second on Chuck Hinton's single in the fifth, continued to third on center fielder Paul Blair's bobble, and scored as Hinton was trapped and run down near second base.

Roger Repoz beat out a bunt in the seventh, and moved around the bases on a steal, an infield out and a wild pitch by reliever Gene Brabender.

Six Turbine Racers Still Await Indianapolis Entry

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The field for the Indianapolis 500-mile race stands at 55, but six STP turbine cars remain unentered with entry deadline at midnight tonight.

Four cars were entered Sunday for the Memorial Day race, with veterans Ronnie Duman and Bud Tingelstad, both of Indianapolis, assigned to drive two of the cars.

The three cars have turbo-charged Offenhauser engines.

The fourth entry was a Ford-powered car entered by Ken Breen of Warren, N.J. No driver was assigned.

The status of the turbines hasn't changed since April 5 when a federal judge rejected a plea by Studebaker's STP Division to order the U.S. Auto Club to restore its 1967 rules on turbine-powered cars.

The STP turbine car driven by Parnelli Jones was running away with last year's 500 when a bearing failed less than 10 miles from the finish.

USAC later reduced the maximum effective air intake for a turbine engine, in effect banning the STP turbine. USAC said the move was to make the turbine more competitive with piston engine cars.

Mays, Hart Spark Giants' Wins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Willie Mays and Jim Hart thriving on an economy kick, the San Francisco Giants have gone from austerity to affluence in one lively afternoon.

Mays bunched a two-run homer and two-run single in one inning Sunday and Hart cracked three straight homers, good for six RBI, as the Giants swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies 13-2 and 3-1.

The Giants, who had scored just two runs in 24 innings while losing twice to Pittsburgh, erupted for 20 hits in the opener against the Phils and scored eight runs in the fifth inning. Mays accounting for half of them in his two trips to the plate.

Mays sat out the first seven innings of the nightcap while Hart, who had drilled a three-run homer in the first game, accounted for all three San Francisco runs with a pair of homers off left-hander Chris Short.

Ernie Banks' three-run homer led the Chicago Cubs past previously unbeaten St. Louis 7-6; Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0 on Jim Bunning's five-hitter and the New York Mets dealt Houston its first setback, 4-0, behind the five-hit pitching of rookies Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella. The Cincinnati-Atlanta game was rained out.

In American League play, Minnesota edged New York 4-3, California trimmed Baltimore 6-2, Cleveland outscored Boston 7-4, Detroit nipped Chicago 5-4 in 10 innings and Washington slammed Oakland 8-1.

The Cardinals, who had won their first three starts, jumped in the first game sent right-hander Juan Marichal breezing to his first victory since last Aug. 1. Marichal scattered six hits and contributed a run-scoring single to the fifth inning explosion.

Ron Hunt opened the fifth with a double. After being knocked down by a Rick Wise pitch, Mays hit the next one over the left center field fence for his first 1968 homer and the 565th of his career. Nine batters later, Willie's two-run single capped the rally.

The Mets ended the Astros' letaway winning string of four games as Ryan pitched hitless ball for five innings, struck out eight and yielded three hits in all before leaving in the seventh with a blister on his pitching hand.

Frisella fanned three more Astros in preserving Ryan's first major league victory and Art Shamsky delivered two runs with a double and single.

Clemson Hurler Has Won All 6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Hedgins of Fairfax, Va., is only a freshman, but he won all six games he has pitched for the Clemson varsity baseball team this season.

The latest was 4-0 over North Carolina Saturday on a four-hitter in the second game of a doubleheader.

North Carolina had taken the first game, 2-1, the first league defeat for Clemson, on another fine pitching performance, a two-hitter by sophomore left-hander Dave Lemonds. He is a former American Legion junior baseball star from Charlotte, N. C., and it was his third victory against one defeat.

Maryland may be called the Terrapins, but they have got away fast, winning eight of nine games, including four of five in the conference.

They whipped Duke 5-0 Saturday on three-hit pitching by junior righthander Mike Herson, who struck out 18 enroute to his second victory.

Duke freshman Leo Hart held Maryland scoreless for the first six innings, but four runs were scored off him in the seventh.

Duke, which had won a doubleheader from Virginia Friday, now is 2-3 in the conference and 7-3 in all games.

Wake Forest beat Virginia 7-5 Saturday on outfielder Bruce Bergman's two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning. Bergman's 400-foot clout, following a single by Jim Callison, climaxed a Wake Forest comeback from a 5-1 deficit after six innings. The Deacons scored a run in the seventh and tied it with three more in the eighth.

ACC teams play three nonconference games today. Clemson is home to Georgia Tech, Virginia to Old Dominion, and North Carolina is at Georgia Southern.

Opening Day In Carolina League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bases on balls were plentiful as Kinston, Portsmouth, Wilson and Lynchburg emerged the winners in the Carolina League's opening games Sunday.

Four of the league's 12 teams — Burlington, High Point, Thomasville, Greensboro and Winston-Salem — do not play until Tuesday night.

Kinston scored a run in the first inning and defeated the Raleigh-Durham Mets 1-0 at Kinston. A crowd of 1,663 saw Kinston get only three hits, but the Eagles were aided by 10 walks.

Frank Baker beat out a bunt to get things rolling for Kinston. Raleigh-Durham starter John Glass then issued two of his eight walks. Baker scored when Ron Blomberg grounded out.

Portsmouth scored two runs in the eighth to edge the Peninsula Grays 6-5 at Portsmouth. Righthander John Parker went the distance for the Tides, giving up 11 hits, seven in the first inning.

Bases on balls also figured in Wilson's 5-2 victory over Rocky Mount at Rocky Mount. Four walks and a throwing error gave the Tobs three runs in the first and two more runs in the seventh came off five walks. Six Rocky Mount pitchers gave up 13 walks.

A three-run homer in the ninth by Jim Procopio gave Lynchburg a 7-4 victory over Salem at Lynchburg. Four Lynchburg pitchers gave up 11 walks while two Salem pitchers issued seven.

Tonight's games: Portsmouth at Peninsula, Kinston at Raleigh, Lynchburg at Salem and Rocky Mount at Wilson.

Why is our top so way out?

The top of the Volkswagen Convertible is way out of the car for a very simple reason: We had no other practical place to put it.

Of course, we had other alternatives. We could have put the top in the back seat. It wouldn't have been out of the car, but 2 or 3 people would have been.

Or we could have made room for the top by making the bug a little longer. (But it would no longer have been the little bug.)

The way it worked out, our little Convertible has all the practical benefits of our little Sedan.

Seating for 4 adults, parking ease, and economy (up to 27 mpg).
But many people don't need practical benefits. They simply like our top.

They like it because it has a real glass window in the back. And because it's padded, and fitted by hand, so it's weatherproof and it actually cushions sound.

They like our top when it's up for its smooth custom-made look. And when it's down for its unusual way-out look.

To many people our top is so way-out, it's in.

Legion Post To Hear Official

Leroy Lakey, National Executive Committeeman of the American Legion, Department of North Carolina will be the guest speaker at the Post No. 39 meeting Tuesday evening at 7:00 p.m. Post Commander Joe Goodson has announced it will be "Past Commanders' Night" and all past commanders will be honored guests. He urged all members of the Post to attend.

needed for production of farm commodities has continued to increase steadily, the prices farmers receive for their products have increased but little. When production costs go up and prices received for products do not keep pace, there can be but one inevitable result — lower profits. This is the problem, but what can be done about it?

If one looks at the costs of the major farm production inputs; farm real estate, farm wages, farm machinery and fertilizer, over the past 10 years, it can be readily seen that of these inputs all have steadily increased in cost except one — fertilizer. "But", you say, "Fertilizer is higher than it was 5 or 10 years ago." The cost per ton is perhaps but it must be kept in mind that analysis of plant nutrient content has also increased, so you are getting more plant food per ton than before. And this is really what must be considered when buying fertilizer.

Since there is little a farmer can do to change the prices he receives, he must look toward reducing production costs if he is to increase his profits. The real estate, labor and machinery costs are about the same whether you produce 75 or 125 bushels of corn per acre. This means the cost of producing a bushel of corn is less if you are getting the higher yield. To get higher yields will probably require better management and more fertilizer. Crop responses to fertilizer suggest a return of $2-$3 for every dollar spent on fertilizer at present price - cost relationships.

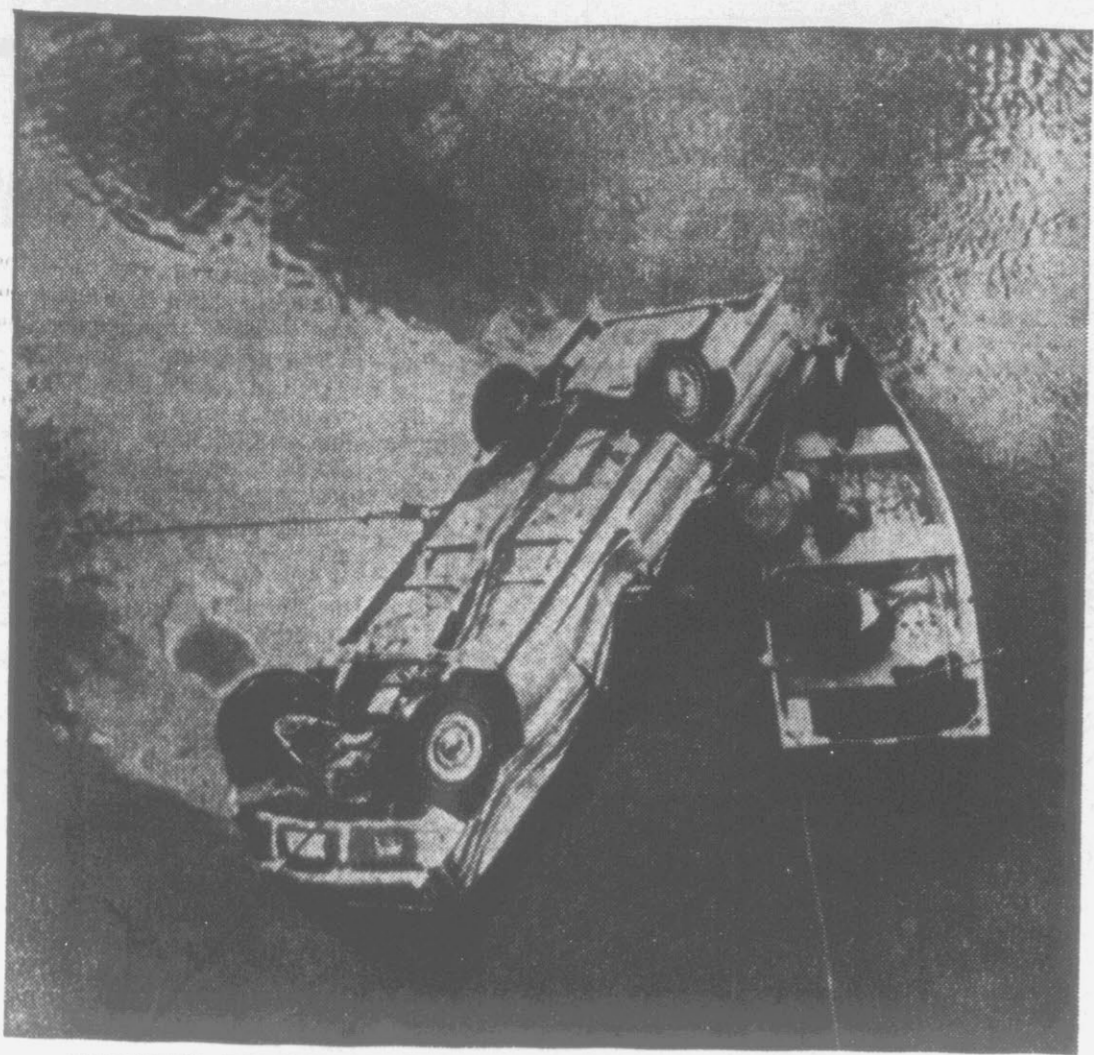

This does not mean fertilizer should be used indiscriminately even though it is less expensive today, relative to other production inputs, than it has been. It is more important than ever before to spend your fertilizer dollar wisely. Buy what you need. It is false economy to produce any crop and not have all the fertilizer nutrients available that the crop needs.

The best way to determine what you need is to have your soil tested. The soil test results can be used as a guide in determining the amounts and proper ratio of plant nutrients to apply. It will also tell you the amount of lime needed, an input too often overlooked and considered unimportant due to its relatively low cost.

Use your soil testing service, provided for you by the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. A good fertility program plus good management practices are necessary to obtain high yields and lower your per unit production costs. This is the best way to combat the big squeeze.

Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pvt. County Tobacco Agent

It is very important that good healthy plants be used when transplanting the tobacco crop. On many beds the quality of plants can be greatly improved by the use of irrigation during dry periods.

During the plant growing period about one-half inch of water (280 gallons) per 100 square yards, about twice a week will usually keep the plants growing. If toxicity symptoms, caused by fertilizer salts, begin to show on the plants and the stand begins to disappear, the bed may need an inch of water (560 gallons) per 100 square yards. This will help leach some of the toxic material from the root zone.

Before pulling the plants from the bed, the grower should be sure the soil is moist so that there will be a minimum of damage to the roots. Also, the beds should be watered after the plants have been pulled so the soil will be settled around the roots of the plants that are left. This will help them to straighten up and continue to grow.

Growers should examine their beds every few days for insect damage. When insects are damaging the plants, insecticides that will control the insects present should be applied. Be sure to apply insecticides as recommended. Make sure dusters or sprayers are applying materials evenly. Do not treat plants when they are wet. For recommendation of correct materials to use for insect control, contact the Agricultural Extension Office.

In order to have an abundance of plants free from blue mold at transplanting time, continue to treat beds with a recommended fungicide until transplanting is complete.

Army Studies Producing A Lighter Weight Helmet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is considering production of lighter but tougher helmets, the soldier's shade, shield, foot-tool and pillow.

Researchers believe titanium, a lightweight but expensive alloy used in some advanced aircraft, could provide the infantryman with better head protection than the helmets now made of manganese steel.

Sources say titanium helmets have stood up well in ballistics tests at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. Scientists there also are looking at several other materials which might be used to fashion combat bonnets.

It is part of a broad Army effort to provide durable but less cumbersome gear for the fighting man—to lighten his burden, make him more mobile and more effective.

Sources say studies have shown titanium helmets can be made as much as one pound lighter than the standard 3 1/2-pound helmet with plastic liner while giving the same amount of protection.

For an additional few ounces, titanium helmets offer substantially greater protection against head wounds, the most serious category of combat injuries.

The titanium helmet is still in the development stage but word about it has spread among some men in, or headed for, Vietnam.

Some soldiers, as well as parents of men in the war zone, have asked the Army whether they could buy titanium helmets out of their own pockets.

The Pentagon estimated that, compared with the $4.35 price tag on the conventional steel helmet, titanium headgear would cost $53 each. This estimate is based on a theoretical production run of 100,000 helmets, the Pentagon said.

North Carolina 1967 State Corn Growing Champion Used Low Fertilization Rate to Get Highest Yield

Clifton Owens, (right) Route 2, Stantonsburg, North Carolina, is shown receiving Treasure Fertilizer Awards Plaque from Ed Dennis of Kaiser Agricultural Chemicals.

TREASURE MIXED FERTILIZER WAS USED BY NORTH CAROLINA CORN GROWING CHAMPION, CLIFTON OWENS, TO MAKE WINNING YIELD OF 179.82 BUSHELS PER ACRE*

Clifton Owens' North Carolina State Contest winning yield should be of interest to all North Carolina farmers — not only because his yield was better than 103 bushels over the 1967 North Carolina average state yield, but because of the way he made it with the help of Treasure Fertilizer.

According to North Carolina State Corn

* Official yield as reported by the Plant Food Institute of North Carolina and Virginia, sponsors of the 1967 North Carolina State Corn Growing Contest.

Growing Contest officials, Owens used one of the lowest fertilization rates to make his crib-busting yield.

In making his record yield, Clifton Owens followed good cropping practices throughout. He prepared his 40 acre field in the usual way, applied 500 pounds of 5-10-10 Treasure mixed fertilizer at planting time, and 160 pounds of nitrogen as a side dresser. According to Owens his corn held up good and green all season long.

Here's proof positive that Treasure does

The Worry Clinic Sometimes Animals Seem To Sense Death

Mrs. Crane was doubly upset by Suzy's disaster and I felt blue, for Suzy had been a member of our family for 20 years. Read this case to your youngsters, for they may profit from it. For kiddies and animals seem to have such an affinity for each other that they understand each other's language!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-543: When Mrs. Crane and I were down at our Indiana farm recently, she took a hike by herself.

For she wanted to examine some apple trees that had grown up in the pasture field, probably from cores the children had discarded in previous years.

We have 3 horses on the farm and she noticed their shrill whinnying, but didn't see the horses for they were back in a wooded valley.

But they whinnied in a high-pitched, excited manner, not like the usual whinnying when they would greet us as we brought them food.

Being in a hurry, Mrs. Crane didn't investigate.

Two days later she and I were hiking back toward the wooded end of the same pasture field.

Again the horses were whinnying in a wild, excited manner. They sounded shrill and imperious, demanding and almost half scared.

Still we didn't see them, so we unduly excited by some stranger who might have crossed the pasture.

But when we reached a little creek, we were shocked to find Suzy, the sorrel, dead!

Mrs. Crane couldn't stand to look, for Suzy was the biggest pet of all 3 horses.

She was crouched on all fours much the way a dog does, and had been dead for several days. The other horses immediately stopped whinnying when they saw that we had found Suzy.

So they must have been trying to attract our attention and bring aid to Suzy by their shrill whinnying.

Now they stood quietly, about 100 feet away, with their heads down in the same dejected pose as that of the pony in the famous Indian painting called "The End of the Trail."

Suzy had snapped both bones in her back legs about 10 inches above her knees. The bones had punched through her skin and were stuck in the gravel creek bottom.

How she broke both thighs at the same spot, I can only surmise, for our veterinary medic said he had never seen such a case, either.

Her compound fractures must have caused terrific pain but shock probably rendered her unconscious swiftly.

Her two equine pals must have frantically tried to get help for her.

When our big Collie dog died, while Mrs. Crane and I were on a lecture trip, our fox terrier ran upstairs and barked at the bedside, as she pawed the covers, till she awakened my cousin Betty.

And when Mrs. Crane was a girl, the old family dog pestered Mrs. Crane's mother till she cleared away her knitting and let the dog jump into her lap. The dog then seemed content and quieted down at once. But within 5 minutes she was dead!

Do you think animals thus can sense their approach in death?

And how did this old dog surmise it was literally at the portal of canine heaven, but wanted the reassurance of a human contact as it said farewell to this Earth?

As an M. D., I have had patients that also predated their own death almost to the minute, yet they didn't seem sick enough to die.

So be kind to animals for they may help testify in your defense when you, too, are at the portals of heaven. For good human beings and our faithful domestic pets may go the same place in the Hereafter!

Columbia River Will Be Damned Tuesday

THE DALLES, Ore., (AP)—The flow of the mighty Columbia River will be shut off Tuesday morning as though a faucet valve were turned.

Massive gates in John Day Dam some 25 miles upriver from here will slide shut under hydraulic control and the waters racing downstream will pile up against the concrete and steel barrier that stretches more than a mile between Oregon and Washington.

Lake Umatilla, the reservoir behind the biggest dam ever built by the Army Corps of Engineers, will fill quickly.

Its level will rise more than a foot an hour. By Wednesday morning it will be at the bottom of the spillway gates. By Friday the lake will be 76 miles long running upstream from John Day Dam to McNary Dam.

Its level will be some 80 feet above the present river. And under it will be abandoned townships, abandoned railroads and highways and the mysterious rock carvings of long-vanished Indian tribes.

Navigation will be extended by the new lake, giving a continuous course of 325 miles from the sea to Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River.

John Day is the 10th dam completed or under construction across the Columbia below Grand Coulee. Its ultimate output will produce a constant supply of nearly 3 million kilowatts, making it one of the world's most powerful—more powerful than Grand Coulee. The power will go into the Bonneville system which markets to public and private utilities in the Pacific Northwest.

Brewer Claims Court Pressure

RALEIGH (AP)—Kidd Brewer, a Democratic candidate for judge on the State Court of Appeals, says incumbent judges are pressuring lawyers to support Appeals Court Judges Raymond Mallard and Naomi Morris.

Brewer, who is seeking to unseat Mallard, said in a recent letter to the State Bar Association's Ethics Committee that members of the bar are receiving letters from judges asking them for campaign contributions for judges Mallard and Morris.

He said the activity is "putting the system of judicial protection itself in shadows." He did not name any judges he said were involved.

Judges Mallard and Morris are the only appeals court judges with primary opposition.

Two Collisions Here Yesterday

An estimated $595 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police Sunday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 2:10 p.m. mishap on Fifth Street, 75 feet East of the Sheppard Street intersection.

That collision involved cars driven by John Henry Core, 64, of 1300 West Third St. and Willie Frank Langley, 42, of 420 Bonner's Lane.

Damage to the Corey auto was placed at $200 while damage to the Langley car was set at $160.

Both drivers were charged, Corey with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, and Langley with obstructing traffic.

Maude Harris Dement of Durham was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 6:15 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 10th Street and U. S. 264 Bypass.

Officers said the Dement auto collided with a car driven by Donald Wayne Leigh, 26, of Belhaven, causing an estimated $175 damage to the Leigh car and about $60 damage to the Dement vehicle.

No injuries were reported.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K943 ♥1052 ♠KQ96 ♠K2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. You have 11 points in high cards which justifies another forward move. The most likely game possibility seems to be in no trump and such a suggestion is in order for the responding hand even when he has a suit unprotected.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K74 ♥K6 ♠A1063 ♠Q1075
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠
Pass 5 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Six no trump. Your side obviously possesses sufficient values to take 12 tricks but, the spade suit appears to be partner's weak spot and an opening lead thru your king could prove fatal.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A1095 ♥AKJ3 ♠5 ♠KQ74
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ ?

What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Altho it does not suit our taste to remain silent on a hand of this strength any offensive maneuver is fraught with great danger. Furthermore, there is always the prospect that the enemy will go too far which is usually the best chance for a substantial profit on a holding of this type.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A942 ♥A865 ♠A43 ♠Q10
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Double. Partner is almost certainly marked with a singleton heart so that his distribution should prove good for your hand. In fact, if he has spades, a game may be contemplated. If his bid is in one of the minors and the opponents proceed to three hearts you should not double, however.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K943 ♥1052 ♠KQ96 ♠K2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. Take a great big demerit for a pass. Partner has more hearts than spades, otherwise he would have bid spades first. Furthermore, he must have a fine hand since you are forced to show a heart preference at the three level. Therefore, your bid shows no very great values.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠10975 ♥J5 ♠AQ5 ♠J953
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble. 1 ♠ ?

What do you bid?
A.—One spade. With nine points you have distinctly enough to offer a free bid even though your suit is very shabby. If you don't take action immediately it may be difficult to make up for it later and an opportunity to score might be missed.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K ♠A1097 ♥A96 ♠AKQ107
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. A slam try is in order at this point but, it should be made below the game level in the form of a cue bid. If partner returns to four hearts your duties will have been discharged.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠2 ♥KJ4 ♠AKJ10832 ♠86
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—We recommend the slightly fancy bid of three hearts at this point. It may induce partner to bid three no trump if he has clubs protected and, if worse comes to worse and he raises hearts, we can always go back to diamonds which was our alternative contract anyway.

German Leftist Students Threatening More Unrest

BERLIN (AP) — Leftist students ordered a blockade of publisher Axel Springer's newspapers today, raising the prospect of more trouble after four days of violent demonstrations in West Berlin.

The Socialist Students Association — or SDS — said it would set up blockades in West Berlin, Frankfurt, Esslingen and Hanover.

Springer, continental Europe's biggest publisher, has been a chief target of the German New Left because of his papers' antileft editorial stand.

Earlier blockades led to clashes with police and considerable damage to trucks and buildings.

In an effort to reconcile the dissidents and the authorities, other West Berlin political and youth groups announced plans for "make a new start" rally today.

Leftist demonstrations began Thursday when SDS leader Rudi Dutschke was shot and critically wounded by a gunman on West Berlin's main street, the Kurfuerstendamm.

A demonstration on that street Sunday erupted into a clash between thousands of Dutschke's supporters and hundreds of police, plunging the traditional Easter parade of strolling Berliners and tourists into chaos.

The demonstrators shouted "Nais" at the police and chanted, "Ho-Ho-Ho-Chi Minh" and "Rudi Dutschke." They huddled together rather than retreating when water cannon opened up at point-blank range.

In a three-hour melee, the leftists flung stones, pieces of metal, fruit, firecrackers and paint and tried to pile barriers across the street. At least three construction trucks were knocked over.

The students retreated only when police advanced with clubs swinging. At least one patrolman was knocked down and beaten when he moved too far in front.

Doctors reported that Dutschke, 28, was making satisfactory progress.

He was hit by three revolver shots. One lodged in his brain and was removed in a lengthy operation. The man accused of shooting Dutschke, a house painter named Josef Bachmann, 23, was wounded by police and also reported making satisfactory progress. Police said Bachmann told them the salving of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. inspired him to shoot Dutschke.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady to 75 cents higher. Tops of 18.00-18.75 Wilson; 18.75 Salisbury; 18.00 Siler City, Denton, Selma.

Most markets were closed because of the Easter Monday holiday.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined irregularly in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.89 at 902.80.

Wall Street sources more or less expected a slackening of the updrive that accompanied the first news and the following enthusiasm regarding peace moves in Vietnam. Brokers said investors were adopting a wait-and-see attitude, pending fresh developments.

Some of the higher-priced issues were down a handful of points, and Big Three motors were weak. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.6 at 320.8 with industrials off 2.9, rails off 1.0 and utilities off .1.

General Motors dropped a couple of points. GM's new car sales in the first third of April were 3.2 per cent below a year earlier. Civil disorders in major cities were believed largely responsible for the sales drop.

General Time said it had agreed in principle to acquire Seeburg, but the merger plan was attacked by Talley Industries which owns 12 per cent of General Time's stock. Seeburg fell more than 2 points. General Time eased.

Lorillard was off a point, and Schenley eased after word that Lorillard planned to proceed immediately with an exchange offer of previously announced financial terms to Schenley holders.

Polaroid dropped about 6 points, IBM 3, M-G-M 2 and Xerox 4.

Losses of about a point were taken by CIT Financial, Southern Railway, General Electric, General Foods and Zenith.

Du Pont advanced more than 2. Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Fifth-Graders Cool To Hippies

WESTERVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Pupils in the fifth grade at Huber Ridge School were asked to describe hippies.

Their descriptions included: "Hippies usually have dropped out of school and they're not very smart. They think they are but they really aren't or they wouldn't be doing such silly things."

"A girl wears beads, short skirts, long hair and she walks in the street with boys. They do look horrible and do horrible things as kiss and hug."

Host Of Local Issues Confront Steel Negotiators

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Millhands at U.S. Steel's Homestead Works want more parking space and a doctor on duty fulltime. Steelworkers at McKeesport want incentive pay for all workers at their plant.

These are some of the hundreds of local issues dropped onto the negotiating tables at steel plants around the country today. An Aug. 1 steel strike is in the balance.

But local officials of the 450,000 United Steelworkers affected by the talks are afraid the local issues will wind up on the national bargaining table come June, placing an added burden on industry negotiators already concerned about the possibility of White House intervention.

"These little things hurt a lot more than the big ones," says Anthony Tomko, president of 5,000-man Local 1408 at McKeesport.

"They shouldn't really be tough to settle, but the company may take the position they're economic issues and kick them up to the national level," Tomko adds.

Steel talks weren't scheduled to start until June. 1. Negotiators considered voluntary compulsory arbitration as one way to head off a repeat of President Johnson's 1965 intervention and traditional strike hedge stockpiling by users.

But the union members killed an arbitration plan. Negotiators switched instead to an early start at local issues, hoping to get them cleared away before industrywide talks start June 3, in New York.

When the Steelworkers drafted their contract objectives in Atlantic City last month, increased wages got top priority.

But local officials are nearly unanimous in describing in-cent pay for all workers as the issue most likely to get thrown from local talks into the national arena. The local negotiators have until May 15 to complete their talks. Tomko has over 100 items to bring up.

Local officials expect other sticky issues to be better pensions, a union voice in enforcing safety regulations and a guarantee that workers won't be downgraded after their jobs are eliminated by automation.

One industry source says he expects the union to ask nationally for a 9 per cent wage hike and refuse to go below the 6.1 per cent gained for can workers in January. The union figures steelworkers earn $3.83 per hour. The industry estimates wages and fringe benefits cost $4.88 an hour.

Four Injured In Car Accident

Four persons were injured in a 12:45 a.m. wreck Sunday three miles of Greenville on the old Tar Road.

Patrolman F. L. Owens identified the driver of the car as Phillip Shannon Blackwell, 18 of Ayden.

According to the officer, the car left the roadway in a curve and collided with two utility poles, causing heavy damage to the vehicle.

Injured in addition to Blackwell were James Ross, 18, Gene Smith, 18, and Hubert Worthington all of Ayden.

Investigation of the incident is continuing.

TUBERCULOSIS IS CURBED

LONDON—At the beginning of the 20th century, tuberculosis was responsible for one-ninth of the deaths in England and Wales. By mid-century the ratio had dropped to 1 in 20 and now it is about 1 in 200.

Impure Water Boosts Bottled Water Sales

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—With filth and pesticides befalling the nation's lakes and streams, and chemicals now mixed with tap water, the bottled water people foresee a growing thirst for their product.

It wouldn't be correct to say that business is booming—or even bubbling over, as the wags say—but certainly it is catching on. The industry now claims one in 600 American homes as customers, and one in seven in Southern California.

Industry sources estimate their income is $65 million gross and growing toward $100 million a year in 1970. Ten years ago 1,000 retailers carried the product. Now the industry claims 10,000 outlets, including door-to-door deliverers.

The reasons are obvious. Not only are conventional supplies getting dirty, but tastes are growing more discriminating. Low sodium diets more popular for heart and arthritic patients and people more affluent.

The White House has long been a customer, as have senators. Athletes use it. Martini makers claim it gives consistency to their recipes.

A rare claim is made by John Scott, president of Mountain Valley Water Co., which bottles water gurgling out of the Hot Springs, Ark., ground at the rate of 50 gallons a minute.

"Most of the recent Kentucky Derby winners and horses of the year have used our water," he boasts.

Other companies don't always depend on springs but take their water from wells and even from city taps, after which they break it down, demineralize or distill or cleanse it, and then re-manufacture it for distribution.

The more popular, and perhaps the oldest water companies both in the United States and Europe have been those which bottle spring waters that, it is claimed, last saw the light of day hundreds of thousands of years ago.

The spring water people claim that their supply seldom if ever is mixed with ground water. Some of it presumably is glacial water trapped many thousands of years ago and removed both by depth and time from today's pollution.

Many of the popular water are said to have medicinal values. Some medical authorities do claim the waters have diuretic properties and that they are able to pick up larger parts of the body's wastes. Many are low in salts.

The growing demand today, however, is mostly because of taste and purity, and in some instances because good reservoir water becomes scarce in periods of drought.

"The industry expects a lot of business around the Great Lakes cities because of water pollution," said Scott, whose waters are shipped in glass lined tank cars and in bottles to most states, selling at 4 cents to 10 cents a glass.

The biggest expansion, however, is expected to be among local spring owners, some of which can grow to rather large companies, as in Southern California.

"The fellow who can take the local spring and develop it, and who doesn't have to transport his product long distances can sell at the lowest price," says Scott. "The future is in the local springs."

Austia Hess, president of the American Bottled Water Association, is one such operator. Hess runs the Ephrata (Pa.) Diamond Spring Water Co. and distributes his product within a 60-mile radius of the plant.

If the spring water business is to grow up as a mostly local enterprise, then it would seem to offer great opportunities to enterprising small-business men. Just find a bubbling spring, bottle it and let the cup run over.

It isn't that simple. "Anyone who doesn't have $100,000 to $200,000 in capital is kidding himself," says Hess. "You need a good source, sterilization facilities, bottling equipment and a distribution setup."

President Departs For Honolulu And Postponed Pacific Parleys

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson ended a relaxed Easter weekend at his ranch and headed today for Honolulu for talks with South Korea's president and with U.S. military chiefs in the Pacific area.

The plane bearing the presidential party left Bergstrom Air Force Base at 9:22 a.m. (CST) for the flight of about eight hours to Hawaii.

A last-minute addition to the party was Cyrus R. Vance, a former deputy secretary of defense on whom Johnson frequently calls for special assignments.

It was Vance whom Johnson dispatched to South Korea following the Jan. 23 seizure by North Korea of the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo. President Chung Hee Park and other officials in Seoul protested that they were excluded from U.S. North Vietnam talks at Panmunjom over return of the vessel, and Vance sought to reassure them.

Park has been reported fearful the United States might not remain steadfast in its long-standing resolve to help protect his country against any incursions from Communist North Korea.

Besides offering reassurances of this score, Johnson will be urging Park to go ahead with plans to commit another South Korean division to the war in Vietnam, where about 50,000 Korean troops are fighting. The United States regards the extra division as vitally needed.

Should Park cancel the plan to dispatch the additional men, the gap might have to be filled with still more American manpower.

Johnson also will be talking with Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, retiring commander-in-chief, Pacific, and Sharp's top aides. The President and the admiral met at Camp David, Md., only last week.

Expected to join the military confab was Adm. John S. McCain, now commander of U.S. naval forces in Europe and slated to succeed Sharp in July.

Johnson planned to speak on his arrival at Honolulu International Airport. Then he was to go by motorcade to the Iolani Palace, where Democratic Gov. John Burns has his office.

Press secretary George Christian said today's schedule in Hawaii would be largely ceremonial. The meeting with Sharp and McCain comes Tuesday, and Johnson is due to meet with Park on Wednesday.

The chief executive also has been invited to address the 8th annual Interparliamentary Congress of the United States and Mexico Tuesday morning. About 50 Congress members from each country are exchanging views.

Hubert Counts On His 'Debts'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is counting on collecting political debts piled up in tireless party fund-raising activities in his expected bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It is widely assumed he will announce his candidacy this week.

Humphrey's associates believe his extensive traveling on the Democratic dinner circuit will help do for him what it has done for Richard M. Nixon among the Republicans—put him in the front rank of contenders.

Humphrey and Nixon are the men best known personally to local organization members of their parties who often turn up as convention delegates.

One of Humphrey's accomplishments has been to sell himself to Southern Democrats, who once looked upon him as the ogre who forced a strong civil-rights plank on the 1948 convention and triggered a Dixiecrat walkout.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., said he thinks Humphrey will be the choice of several Southern delegations. Gov. John J. McKeithen has indicated Louisiana's vote will go to the vice president.

Humphrey support also is apparent in North and South Carolina.

"It is probable that the vice president is the only candidate who is strong in every region," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a top Humphrey backer. He added in an interview he thinks Humphrey is ahead now in delegate strength over the two announced Democratic candidates, Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey is encountering reluctance on the part of President Johnson's supporters to switch to him after the President's statement that he would not accept renomination.

An Associated Press canvass disclosed 10 governors who had been counted on to support Johnson for renomination have now assumed an uncommitted stance.

They are Govs. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut, Charles L. Terry Jr., of Delaware, John A. Burns of Hawaii, Roger D. Branigan of Indiana, Otto Kerner of Illinois, Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Buford Ellington of Tennessee, John B. Connally of Texas, Calvin L. Rampton of Utah and Hulett C. Smith of West Virginia.

The 24-member Democratic National Governors Conference meets today in St. Louis to discuss politics but there was no sign the governors would take a united stand behind a presidential candidate.

Elsewhere on the political scene:

—President Robert S. McNamara of the World Bank has declined comment on a Republican's demand that he resign because he helped promote Kennedy's drive for the Democratic nomination.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said "it was indiscreet at best for a public official" to get involved in politics. McNamara made a television tape in which he praised Kennedy but did not endorse him outright. The program was for use in Indiana, where a Democratic primary will be held May 7.

There are no regulations barring McNamara from politics but presidents of the World Bank usually have not been involved in elections.

—J. Irwin Miller, the Indiana industrialist who heads a newly formed Rockefeller for President Committee, voiced hope New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will announce within a month he is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

He appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Threaten Extra Biafra Pressure

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigeria has threatened to increase military activity against secessionist Biafra, apparently in an effort to prevent other African countries from recognizing the breakaway eastern region.

Tanzania last week became the first African state to recognize the Biafran government of Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, and Nigeria promptly broke relations with Tanzania.

Okoi Arikpo, Nigeria's commissioner for foreign affairs, announced Sunday that it was "quite likely" the Lagos government would step up the war against Biafra. He added that "if the Tanzanians send a representative to Biafra and we meet him there we will treat him like a rebel."

Prisoners Lose Free Dentistry

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP)—The Tucumcari City Commission says it has paid its final dental bill for city jail prisoners.

The commission took the action after funds were approved for a $30.16 dental bill dated September 1966.

"It's great (for prisoners) to have a place to sleep and have their teeth taken care of too," said Commissioner Dr. Jesse Wallace, who led the fight against paying the bills.

Father Turns In Son To Police

RALEIGH (AP)—Police in Raleigh reported Sunday the arrest of a fourth Negro youth in connection with a fire which destroyed the Raleigh Rescue Mission warehouse during racial disorders April 4.

Police said that Ernest James McDowell Jr., 19, has been charged with car theft and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in addition to arson and breaking and entering charges. The breaking and entering charges resulted from the theft of $6,000 worth of clothing from Arthur's Men's Store in Pittsboro Feb. 15.

Police said McDowell was brought to the police station by his father. The boy had been in Washington several days.

Arrested last Friday were William Thurmond Washington, 20, Daniel Williams, 20, and Dennis O'Hara Davis, 18.

During investigation of the rescue mission fire, police said they discovered clothing stolen from the Pittsboro store.
