Mysteries Behind Mystery Of Assassination

False Leads Multiply In Hunting Eric Starvo Galt

By DON MCKEE

Associated Press Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Deadend clues to a man who vanished without a trace apparently confronted FBI agents today in their investigation of the sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

False leads multiplied in the hunt for Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious quiet-talking man whose last known address was a Birmingham rooming house. His former landlord said Monday he had identified drawings shown by FBI agents as resembling Eric Galt.

"It's him," said Peter Cherpes, 72, who runs a two-story Southside boarding house where an Eric Galt lived for six weeks last fall.

Galt's abandoned white Mustang was impounded last Thursday by the FBI in Atlanta. It fit the description of a car seen leaving the scene after King was killed April 4 by a sniper firing from a rooming house in Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis witnesses described the suspected assassin, who registered as John Willard at a rooming house opposite King's motel, as about six feet and sandy-haired and "a clean, neat man."

No trace of Willard has apparently been found.

An FBI alert for Eric Starvo Galt in a white Mustang was issued in Florida last Thursday, but was canceled. However, the FBI has continued a search for Galt's whereabouts occupies to his past.

After Cherpes disclosed what his boarder said of his work and background, Associated Press inquiries turned up blanks.

Is there a real Eric Starvo Galt? The FBI was asked, but declined comment. Neither would the FBI say why Galt was wanted, though the Florida alert had sought only to spot the man, not arrest him. No warrant had been issued then.

The man known as Eric Galt had said he was employed at a Mississippi shipyard, but there was no record of him. He claimed he held Louisiana driver's license six years ago, but no record was found in the files. There are mysteries within the mystery: Galt left the Birmingham boarding house last Oct. 7, saying he had a ship job in Mobile, Ala. but in December, he turned in the keys to his safety deposit box at the Birmingham Trust National Bank.

In addition, a duplicate driver's license for Eric Starvo Galt was mailed to the Birmingham address March 1, nearly seven months after he left, and it apparently vanished. The Birmingham post office indicated no forwarding address was left for Galt.

"The papers said he went down March 1 to ask for a duplicate license and he put the same address, which was wrong. He wasn't here," said Cherpes, who recalls Galt as "nice and friendly, quiet."

Russians Nearing Space Platform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western space experts believe the latest linkup of two Russian satellites has provided the Soviets with technical knowledge to move forward with two programs: to send men to the moon and to build a manned space station.

The next step, expected soon, should be space dockings involving manned ships—a feat accomplished by America's Gemini astronauts as early as March 1967.

It is believed the Soyuz 1 flight last April was to have been the first Soviet space linkup. But the plans were upset when the spacecraft de-orbited.

Students Aid 'Intimidated' Employees

DURHAM (AP)—Some Duke students, serving as volunteers in the university dining hall during a current strike, are donating their pay to aid non-union employees "who have been intimidated."

Students have been working in the dining hall to take up the slack resulting from the strike by non-academic employees, a Duke spokesman said.

Today, 112 students who are filling in at the dining hall, sent a letter to Duke President Douglas M. Knight endorsing his policies and stating:

"We are deeply concerned that Duke University non-academic employees have a right to work and to support their families during what for them is a serious social and financial crisis."

A number of the volunteer student workers decided to turn over their pay to a fund "for relief of non-union employees who have been intimidated."

"We do not support any employees being threatened or forced to refrain from working," the students said, adding: "Yours is a highly respected voice within the university community as a whole, and we hope that you will soon return to facilitate the accomplishment of (our) goal."

Livestock Show, Sale Program Set

The annual Pitt County Livestock Show and Sale will be held Thursday and Friday at the Pitt County Fairgrounds.

The program, sponsored by the Pitt County Farm Bureau and the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, will include weighing and showing the steers and swine and the sale of steers and swine.

According to Claude Goodman of the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service, the beef division is open to any boy or girl at least 10 years of age who is a student at any elementary or high school in Pitt County, while the swine division is open to any persons 10 years of age or older who are residents of Pitt County.

Goodman said all steers must be checked in for weighing between 2 and 5 p.m. Thursday while the swine will be weighed Friday morning from 8 o'clock until 12 noon.

All steers must be owned by the exhibitor for at least four months prior to the show and each exhibitor is limited to two entries. All hogs must have been owned by the exhibitor for three months before the sale.

Goodman said all hogs entered must be barrows or gilts weighing not less than 180 pounds and not more than 240 pounds. Each hog is eligible for competition in only one class.

The sale of the steers and swine will begin Friday night at 7:30 at the Pitt County Livestock Barn at the Fair Grounds.

Beef cattle classes include: Class I, individual market steers; Class II, grand champion and reserve champion; Class III, fitting and showmanship division.

Swine classes include: Class I, pen of three market hogs; Class II, individual market hog; Class III, pen of three market hogs for junior swine producers; Class V, individual market hog for junior swine producers; Class V, grand champion pen of three, reserve champion pen, grand champion individual, reserve champion individual, junior grand champion individual.

Assembly Will Be Asked Add To Sales Tax

RALEIGH (AP) — The 1969 North Carolina General Assembly will be asked to enact a proposal for an additional one-cent sales tax statewide — with the money going to local governments.

Mecklenburg County currently is the only county receiving the additional income. A one-cent tax was approved in a referendum by voters and went into effect March 1.

North Carolina has a statewide sales tax of three cents, with all revenues going to the state.

John Morrissey, executive director and general counsel of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, said Monday "almost 75" of the state's 100 boards of county commissioners have endorsed the additional statewide tax.

Morrissey said commissioners in the other 25 counties in western and southwestern North Carolina will be asked at district meetings this week to take a stand on the tax proposal.

County commissioners have agreed they favor a local option tax if the General Assembly fails to enact the additional one-cent tax statewide.

Morrissey said the additional assessment would bring in about $60 million annually to county and municipal governments. Proceeds would be distributed to cities and counties on a per capita basis.

A bill calling for an extra one-cent sales tax statewide was defeated in the 1967 General Assembly.

Four Aircraft Lost In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States four more planes Monday, two shot down over the southern panhandle and two lost when they collided in the air, military sources said today. Five of the fliers were rescued and one was lost.

A U.S. spokesman suggested the North Vietnamese may be moving more anti-aircraft guns south to counter the increase in American bombing of the panhandle since President Johnson banned raids farther north.

The two planes shot down were Air Force F105s and both were hit near Dong Hoi, about 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone. The U.S. spokesman said anti-aircraft fire around Dong Hoi was extremely heavy and possibly the enemy had been installing new weapons positions in the panhandle area.

Since President Johnson halted U.S. bombing north of the 20th Parallel on April 1 in an attempt to open peace discussions with Hanoi, U.S. pilots have more than doubled their usual number of daily raids on the panhandle.

One of the F105 pilots, Col. David W. Winn, 44, of Minneapolis, Minn., maneuvered his crippled Thunderchief 100 miles south over the South China Sea, bailed out at 18,000 feet, and was picked up by a "jolly green giant" helicopter.

The pilot of the second F105 is listed as missing in action.

Military sources said two Navy F4 Phantoms from carriers in the Tonkin Gulf collided southeast of Vinh, a North Vietnamese city about 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone, but all four crewmen parachuted into the gulf out of reach of enemy ground troops. Navy helicopters quickly rescued them.

The four planes raised the total number lost in the air war against North Vietnam to 825. They were the first planes reported down in the North in two weeks, since an Air Force F4 was downed April 2 the day after Johnson's curtailment order.

President Pressing Hanoi For Early, Serious Reply

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson, pressing Hanoi for an early and serious response to Vietnam peace efforts, is also bearing down on military problems in conference at the U.S. Pacific command post.

Johnson's schedule today centered on a visit to the hilltop headquarters of Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, the Pacific commander in chief who will retire in July. The President said he wanted to talk about the military situation in Vietnam with Sharp and his designated successor, Adm. John S. McCain.

The President gave North Vietnam a new peace prod Monday, soon after arriving in Honolulu.

As friends and critics vied for attention with shouts, chants and placards—the friends clearly were more numerous—Johnson reviewed peace efforts in an address from the steps of Iolani Palace, seat of the Hawaiian government. These efforts focus at this stage on finding a mutually acceptable preliminary meeting site.

Declaring "precious time is being lost," Johnson said: "For us, this is not a propaganda exercise. We have sent serious and considered messages aimed at bringing about the earliest possible contact."

"What is needed today is an equally serious reply, reacting to our proposals for neutral sites or offering additional suggestions of neutral capitals where both of us have representatives and communications."

Several hours after Johnson spoke the official North Vietnamese Communist newspaper Nhan Dan said the United States showed "lack of good will" in turning down two sites Hanoi has proposed, Warsaw and Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

A Nhan Dan article broadcast from Hanoi flung back in the President's face his offer in the past to send U.S. negotiators anywhere at any time for talks.

"This statement is big-sounding and allows no misunderstanding," the article said. "Yet, after making many such statements the Johnson administration now changes tune."

While here, Johnson said, he would discuss what he termed the twins paths to peace with the top military command and, on Wednesday, with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea, a somewhat restive ally concerned about American steadfastness in the Pacific area.

Park was flying in from Seoul tonight.

Johnson is expected to remain in Hawaii until Thursday. He is living about 10 miles outside the city at the seaside estate of the widow of the late millionaire industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

Sheltered Workshop Bids Due On May 16

Bids for the East Carolina Sheltered Workshop will be received May 16.

Architects for the project, Dudley and Shoe of Greenville, said the North Carolina Medical Care Commission authorized the May 16 bid-letting this morning.

Construction costs for the building have been estimated at $250,000 while cost of equipment has been estimated at $13,000. The remaining portion of the $263,000 projects includes a $4,995 contingency fund and architects fees, according to architect Cameron Dudley.

A federal grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare totaling $179,364 has been approved to defray a portion of the cost. Other financial support includes a $50,000 grant from the state Medical Care Commission, and more than $55,000 of local capital raised through contributions.

Facilities to be included in the 12,000 square foot workshop include an administrative area, classrooms for shoe and motor repair, sewing and ceramics, janitorial training and shop foreman training and others; and kitchen and dining facilities.

Construction will include a brick and cast-stone exterior with masonry block interior partitions.

The one-story building will be constructed on a 20-acre site on the Dail Farm, north of Greenville.

City School Board Reviews Student Assignments, Budget

By STUART SAVAGE

Members of the Greenville City Board of Education last night reviewed student assignments to schools under the freedom of choice plan, and looked over a possible budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year, but took no action on either item.

A special meeting was set for Thursday night at which to again work on the budget. The board has been requested to submit a proposed budget to the Pitt County Commissioners by May 1.

The fiscal expenditure list reviewed last night might total as much as $604,807.50 for current expenses. This year's current expense figure is $561,500.

Anything much less than the $604,000 figure, according to superintendent Dr. C. C. Cleetwood, would be considered an "austerity" budget and include cuts in maintenance funds and reduction by two or more of the 13 full time teachers paid entirely by the local school district, as well as trimming the number of part-time teachers.

* The largest increase in the budget reviewed last night, according to Dr. Cleetwood, was in the area of instructional services. A state teacher pay hike of 10 per cent, which must be met by the local board for teachers paid locally, accounts for much of this, he explained.

Although expenditures for capital outlay were not reviewed by the board last night, information presented to them indicated a proposed $278,000 request for the capital outlay budget for the coming fiscal year.

If such a request were made, it would mean a decrease of $10,000 over the $287,000 budgeted for the current school year. Dr. Cleetwood emphasized that the city school system has this year been operating in a "deficit spending" situation — spending some $34,000 the board had been holding in surplus from prior years in order to help fund the $561,000 budget that was approved.

Under the free choice student assignment plan, 161 Negroes requested transfers to predominantly white schools this year. School officials said at this time last year, 123 Negro students had made requests to move to predominantly white facilities. In all, 130 Negroes entered predominantly white units last fall.

According to the Superintendent, crowded conditions will result at some of the city's schools as indicated by tabulation of the freedom-of-choice requests. The board instructed Dr. Cleetwood to study the situations and recommend to the board action that will alleviate any crowded conditions.

Board members last night voted to have the firm of Dudley and Shoe Architects make recommendations and outline specifications for a prefabricated metal building to be erected at Rose High School. The proposed building would alleviate crowded conditions at that school.

The architectural firm, in a preliminary written report to the board last night estimated cost of such a building — that would house five class rooms — at about $40,000.

The structure would be erected on a cement slab already in existence at the school and could be converted into a vocational teaching shop when additions are made to the main Rose High building in the future.

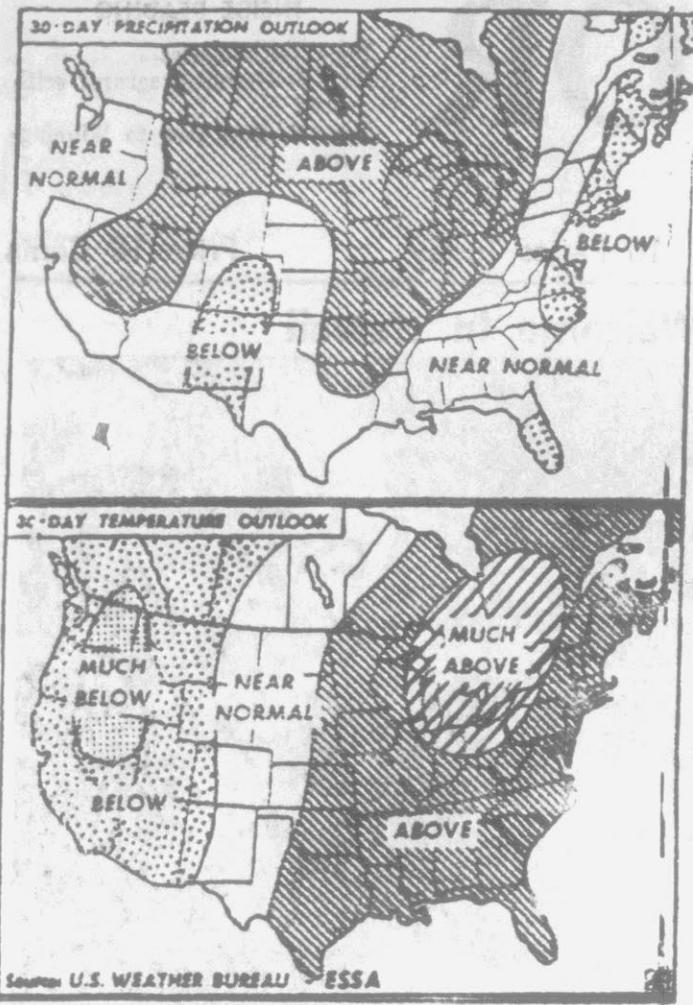

The 1968-69 school calendar was given approval by the board last night.

Classes, under the new calendar, are scheduled to begin August 28, with teachers scheduled to report for work and planning two days earlier, on August 26.

Holidays included are: September 2, Labor Day; October 18, North Carolina Education Association meet; November 8, North Carolina Teachers Association meet; November 28-29, Thanksgiving; December 23 through January 1, Christmas-New Year; April 3-8, Easter.

The final day for students in the 180-day school program was set at May 29. Teachers will end their term two work-days later, on June 2.

Board members were also told that the purchase of the Florence Bailey property, adjacent to the Eppes High School property has been completed. The board paid $14,500 for the house and lot which it has been leasing for several years. The house has been used to house the school's home economics department.

Demo Governors 'Wait And See'

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Democratic governors have decided not to tamper with "the events of history" in this explosive political year, agreeing instead to wait and see what happens before announcing preferences in the race for the White House. They didn't even reach an accord that would have declared advance support for the man their party eventually nominates to run for president. Even before their 2½ hour political talk Monday, the governors meeting in St. Louis acknowledged they could not possibly agree on a consensus candidate for the Democratic nomination that President Johnson said he would neither seek nor accept.

They matched their forecast. A handful of Democratic governors declared their choices in advance of the conference which drew 17 of the 24 Democratic state executives. There were no new public commitments at that meeting.

Its major product: A statement rejecting any mass attempt by governors to step into the developing race between Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the latter still undeclared. Instead, the governors agreed to wait and watch. Even that wasn't unanimous.

Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi abstained from the decision and Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia wasn't present when it was made. Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey raised the question of an advance endorsement of the 1968 Democratic ticket, but dropped it when Southern governors objected.

"It appeared that there was no opportunity for unanimity of opinion," Hughes explained. Without unanimity, he said, a governors' pledge to support a party nominee would have been pointless.

Williams raised an instant objection when Hughes talked of a statement of loyalty to the major product of the St. Louis meeting was a statement declaring: "We are mindful of the example of a President who places the unity and security of the country above every other consideration. Each Democratic governor with the same concern for the well-being of the country is determined to observe the events of history as they develop in the next few months and as the issues are discussed, and then reach a decision of conscience as to the man who should be nominated by the Democratic party and elected president of the United States to lead our country in these difficult times."

Sees Peace, If No Extremists
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — "If we can keep the extremists out on both sides," says Winston-Salem Mayor M. C. Benton, "prospects are good that we can avoid racial disorders in our city this summer."

Benton made his remarks Monday night in an appearance on North Carolina News Conference, an interview feature on the state's Educational Television Network.

Benton said that while Winston-Salem was not immune from having another outbreak of disorder like the one that occurred last November, "a touch of trouble often serves as a vaccine."

The mayor said he believes that his city is beginning to reach those "who are potential troublemakers" through a series of moves instituted recently.

He noted that the city recently hired Carl Eller, a professional football player, as a special assistant to the mayor for race relations. The city is seeking more Negro policemen, he added, and plans to expand Negro employment in city government.

Merry Chase For Johnson Aides
HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson's zest for ice cream led two aides on a merry chase during his Honolulu motorcade.

As Johnson drove through the Waikiki Beach area Monday, he spied a dairy bar and dispatched a Secret Service agent and the presidential valet to fetch cones for him and Gov. John A. Burns.

The familiar bubbletop limousine, flown here from Washington, came to a stop and the aides set out. But Johnson's bodyguard apparently decided it wasn't a good idea to keep the President stalled in the middle of the street while beach crowds converged on him. His car moved on.

So, 20 blocks later, the ice cream bearers caught up with Johnson—their wares dripping freely at that point.

A 'Happening' Planned May 4

'Bonnie And Clyde' A Popular Winner

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Except with voters of the Motion Picture Academy, "Bonnie and Clyde" continues to be a winning film.

The movie has amazed everyone in the movie world, including those who made it. "We knew we were working on something special," says costar Faye Dunaway, "but we never dreamed that 'Bonnie and Clyde' would take off the way it did."

Indeed, film observers cannot recall when a single film has had such an impact on so many facets of society—fashion, music, film technique, fads, humor, and even crime.

In recent weeks, banks were held up in Atlantic City, N.J., and the Bronx, N.Y., with women involved in the robberies; both crimes were headlined as "Bonnie and Clyde-style holdups." When the FBI reported a 50 per cent rise in bank robberies during 1967, the Wall Street Journal mused in its lead: "Maybe it's all due to Bonnie and Clyde."

The world of fashion has been profoundly affected by the Bonnie Look created by designer Theodora Van Runkle. Millions of dollars have been spent on Maxiskirts, thick-seamed stockings, and 1930-style berets.

The Clyde Look has not caught on as fast with the males, traditionally resistant to change. But in London, Paris, San Francisco and Greenwich Village of New York, men have been sighted in wide-lapelled pin stripes and "Clyde fedoras."

Women have also adopted the floppy, wide-brimmed fedora for their own uses. "Bonnie and Clyde" has brought a flood of record albums and singles in the United States and abroad. Warner Bros.-Seven Arts was caught by surprise, not supplying the title tune that often goes with film hits; the company had released only the sound track music: by Platt and Scruggs. It has been a consistent seller, but it didn't fulfill the need.

That was supplied by a pair of English song writers, Mitch Murray and Peter Callender, who whipped up a "Ballad of Bonnie and Clyde" and had it recorded by 24-year-old Lancashireman George Fame. The record was a big hit in England, but was banned in France because of its siren and gunshots.

France supplied its own Bonnie and Clyde songs—seven versions on 11 records. One of them is a lampoon sung by Brigitte Bardot, who enacted a parody of the film on her television special in France last December.

Numerous records have sprung up in this country, including a curiosity from RCA-Victor: a recital by Bonnie's sister, Billie Jean Parker, about the "real story" of the Midwest desperadoes. More humbly versions of the saga have been turned out by Mel Torme and Merle Haggard.

Durham Club Is Bombing Target

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — An explosion, which police said probably was deliberately set, severely damaged the Stallion Club near Durham early today.

Sheriff's deputies said the blast, which occurred about 6:30 a.m., ripped a large hole in the concrete flooring under the club's dance floor, blew a big hole in the roof and shattered the inside of the club.

Officers said they detected an odor of gunpowder, although they had not determined the cause. They said entry to the club apparently was made through a window. Concrete blocks had been stacked outside the window, and smears of blood were found on the broken window and inside the building, officers said.

The club, which integrated several months ago but whose patronage is predominantly Negro, is on N.C. 55 about 3 miles south of Durham. It books widely known entertainers. It is owned by Bobby R. Roberts. Officers said the club serves no food, ruling out gas or other reasons for the explosion.

Clergymen Give Their Views On Saying Grace

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A housewife recently asked who should say the grace when a clergyman is a guest at the table. She wondered if a clergyman would feel "put to work" if he were asked, or would he feel slighted if he weren't. Count me as one Presbyterian minister who would prefer to pray along, while my host recites the blessing. I sometimes suspect that the family is not accustomed to saying grace (some may not even know how) but they feel it should be said because I am present. In that case, if I am asked to "lead the prayer," I proceed without delay to save embarrassment.

CHICAGO MINISTER
DEAR ABBY: I certainly do not feel slighted if this honor does not come to me. A clergyman has no more influence with the Lord than the business man - host who sits across the table from him.

H. C. W., D. D. (Associate

Minister Emeritus) host offers the benediction (blessing before the meal) regardless of who else is present. However, the blessing at the end of the meal should preferably be led by a guest, since it gives him the opportunity to bless the host in his prayer.

L. M. K. (DOVER, N. J.)
DEAR ABBY: For a host to ask a clergyman to say grace at a meal when the host normally does not, is hypocrisy, not courtesy.

REV. D. N., FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF WESTERLO, N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: I say the minister should always be asked to say the grace. As a minister, I have been humiliated on more than one occasion by being treated as an ordinary guest. Very truly yours, P. E. I. (MARTINSVILLE, VA.)

DEAR ABBY: I don't care who says "grace" before a but, whoever says it should say it with sincerity. I have heard people race thru the grace with such speed that it means nothing.

Miss Mary Ann Keel accompanied her father, Irvin Keel, to South Carolina to spend a few days last week.

Mrs. Elmer Lee Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Farmer of Robersonville, made her debut on television last week on Channel 5 in Raleigh. The show was western called "Daybreak". She will sing next Friday on Channel 5. She has a record "Sleepless Nights" and "Take My Heart" now on sale under the name of Suzi Farmer.

Mrs. Tessie Mae Keel returned from Greensboro Thursday following a four-day visit with her daughter, Mrs. Sharon Munich and Lisa.

Mrs. Robert Reid and daughters, Krista and Karen, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., spent more than a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dowell Taylor, and family, Miss Mary Dowell Taylor and Bob of Norlina were their Saturday dinner guests. Miss Jeanine Taylor, a member of the Lawinburg school system, was home for the Easter holidays.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell Roberson, David, Michael and Mary Russell Roberson of Durham were the guests of the children's grandmother, Mrs. Nathan R. Roberson, during Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Budacz and Mr. and Mrs. George McRorie spent a few days in Greensboro recently.

Miss Katherine Moore arrived here Friday for a weekend visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wynn. Her two brothers, Eddie and Danny, accompanied by their mother Mrs. Muriel Moore, followed Saturday.

Use Leftover Easter Eggs In A Salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

What do you do with the leftover hard-cooked Easter Eggs? Here's an easy solution.

Fresh tomatoes should be flared these days, so why not a springtime salad of tomatoes stuffed with egg-and-ham salad. Chances are that ham may be leftover from an Easter meal.

Try this way of preparing the salad. It calls for no scooping out the tomato centers; no inverting the tomatoes to drain; no fumbling while you try to stuff the filling into the tomato shell.

Cut each tomato into six wedges, but not all the way through. Then press down the wedges for an open-petal flower effect. The ham-and-egg salad gets piled on top. When we served this salad for lunch at our house, we were stuffed. It's that generous. The easy main dish is enough to offer to friendly guests at noon-time. Nothing else is needed on the menu except hot rolls, biscuit or melba toast and a pleasant dessert.

EASTER TOMATO SALAD

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon minced onion
4 teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
3/4 cup finely diced cooked ham
1/2 cup finely diced celery
4 medium-large tomatoes
Lettuce or other salad greens
In a medium-sized mixing bowl, thoroughly stir together the mayonnaise, mustard, onion, salt and pepper. Add eggs, ham and celery; toss lightly. Remove stem end from tomatoes. Cut each tomato down almost to the bottom to make six wedges. Spread wedges slightly to form a flower effect. Pile egg salad in each tomato; arrange tomatoes on lettuce. Makes four large servings.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Betty Lee Carr was hosted at coffee on Saturday morning by Mrs. W. Vernon Tyson at her home.

Guests were welcomed by the hostess and presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Harrold Weaver.

Pouring coffee was Mrs. Le-one Mercer of Columbia, S. C., and serving coffee cake was Mrs. Ted Steig.

Arrangements of spring flowers and greenery were used throughout the house.

The honoree was remembered with a gift of silver by the hostess. Miss Carr will wed Michael Norman Trahos on June 8.

College Alumnae To Meet Friday

The Eastern Carolina Chapter, St. Mary's Junior College Alumnae, will hold its annual luncheon - meeting on Friday. The meeting will be held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, beginning with a social hour at 12 o'clock.

Alumnae from 18 Eastern North Carolina towns are expected for the event.

Dr. Mabel M. Morrison, teacher of European history and psychology, at St. Mary's, and chairman of the Social Studies Department will be guest speaker.

Dr. Morrison, a native of Halifax, Nova Scotia, received both A. B. and M. A. degrees from Dalhousie University, and a Ph. D. from the University of Toronto. She is current chairman of the self-study for reaccreditation of the college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Miss Jane Augustine, executive secretary, Alumnae Association, and Mrs. Grady T. Stevens of Shiloh, Alumnae Council president, will be guests for the meeting.

Missouri Wife Says "Truly A Blessing To Relieve Piles"

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Springfield, Mo. Mrs. H. Meyers of this city says: "Preparation H has helped me so much. I used to use another product. Then friends told me about Preparation H and it's truly been a blessing!" (Note: Doctors have proved in most cases - Preparation H actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the guinea first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced. There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Voter-Registration Time Is Short

Pitt County citizens still have a long way to go this week if the number of registered voters for this year's primaries is going to come close to the number of registered voters in the county in previous years.

It is expected, of course, that the number of people on the voting rolls in this new registration will be less than the number on the old voting books. There were on the old books the names of many people who have died or moved away from Pitt County.

Even so, with the registration period now in its final week, Pitt still is far from having as many registered voters as it should have. This is important to the county as a whole and it should be important to individual citizens . . . particularly to those who have not yet registered.

Pitt's population is one of the largest of any county in this section of the state. As such it should have one of the largest number eligible voters of any county in this part of the state, and cast one of the largest votes in the primaries. That situation has prevailed in past years, but it will not this year unless local citizens make a determined effort to get their names on the registration books during this final week of the registration period. Otherwise Pitt may expect to have a number of registrated voters comparable to a county half to two-thirds its size. And when election day comes, its voting strength will be about that also.

Registrars in most of the county's voting precincts will be at the polling places several days this week in order to register citizens. Those people of the county who have not registered during this period — and there are literally thousands who have not yet gotten their names on the books — should be sure to do so before the end of this week. After Saturday it will be too late.

Individual citizens have the responsibility to participate in the affairs of their government and the most important way of doing this is through the election of officials. Seeing that one is properly registered in order to be eligible to vote is part of that individual citizenship responsibility.

Race For Nomination Is Really Wide Open

It was a relatively few weeks ago that the Democrats assumed the nomination of their presidential candidate would be mere formality and the Republicans were anticipating a genuine contest for the GOP nomination.

Now the situation is almost exactly reversed. Richard Nixon is generally conceded the Republican nomination in spite of the fact there is still talk of a challenge by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. In the Democratic camp Vice President Humphrey, as yet unannounced, is seen as the man who will make it a three-way battle with Robert Kennedy and Sen. McCarthy. The 1968 nomination scrap in the Democratic party is obviously the most wide-open race for the honor since the bid of John F. Kennedy in 1960.

While the Republicans now concentrate on building unity behind their sure candidate, the Democrats are building a family fight there is certain to leave wounds after the nomination is made.

'Commitment' Is Logical Cure

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The enthusiastic political plunge taken by growing numbers of college students may have a beneficial side effect — a decline in the use of LSD and other drugs on campus, says a Cornell University medical professor.

Dr. Donald B. Louria, says this is a "Charming fallout" of the eruption of campus political activity touched off by the presidential bids of Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy.

"If you want to cure the drug problem," says Louria, who heads the New York State Council on Drug Addiction, "the name of the game is commitment."

In more scientific terms, Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, is saying much the same thing when he urges researchers into drug addiction to look beyond the specific problems of LSD, marijuana, amphetamines and barbiturates to the underlying causes of drug abuse.

"We live in a drug-oriented culture," Yolles told Congress recently. "From aspirin to sleeping pills, from tranquilizers to 'the pill,' Americans of all ages are ingesting drugs in greater number and variety than ever before."

As a starting point for research into drug abuse, Yolles suggests looking into the causes of alienation — that withdrawal from the world that has been characterized as "a refusal of what is, without a vision of what should be."

As a disease of the young, alienation has probably existed since the first gap opened between the generations, but Yolles believes it is now "wider, deeper and more diffuse than at any previous time in our history."

"It affects the rich and the poor," he says, "the college student and the school dropout, the urban and rural youngster." Their common complaint: "Life is a drag."

Since they can't change the world, they are to change their state of consciousness. Rejecting the beliefs, values and leaders of the "square" world, they create their own dream world through drugs.

Yolles says there are estimates that two million college and high school youngsters have tried marijuana and that its use is increasing.

He believes it is urgent that new approaches be found to bridge the generation gap, to wipe out the mistrust of the old by the young, to restore a belief in the world as it is. (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
DETERIORATION IS GRADUAL

Soil erosion is one of the desperate problems with which our country is now faced. Millions of tons of fertile soil are floating down the rivers of this country and going out to sea. Many years ago Professor Simkhovich of Columbia University wrote two essays, one entitled, "Hay and History," and the other, "Rome's Fall Reconsidered." He attributed the fall of the Empire to the depletion of the soil.

Soil erosion is a slow process but an incessant one. Little by little, unless care is taken, the fertility of the soil departs. Much of the ancient world which blossomed as the rose is arid desert today.

Transfer this concept of soil erosion over into the things of the spirit and observe what takes place. Our ideals seldom depart all at once. Little by little they are worn away by the company we keep, the habits we fall into. Most of all, a decline in religious faith or the neglect of religious duties causes erosion in the spiritual and moral realm to accelerate at an alarming speed.

Watch out for that slow wearing away of right habits and high ideals against which an unquiet conscience often warns you.

The World Awakens

The spring came late to Scrabble, Va., this year. It was not until a day or so ago that the spading fork, turning up a garden for pansies, turned up the earth smell also. The scent rose from the good red Rappahannock dirt as unmistakably as the smell of open fires in fall: a warm smell, pregnant as the swelling buds, the smell of spring at last.

It has been a long winter for the Rappahannockers — long, and nothing really to be said for it. We had some snows, but these were ordinary, average snows, sort of used — car snows, not bad, but not exciting either. They were not the kind of snows you mark a birth or death by. The worst of it was that the snow kept hanging around; it wore its welcome out; you could not make it go home. It lingered in patches in shady spots; it slept under the eaves like old dalmatians.

Ordinarily Virginia succours her country people with a warm spell in February, with a few days of temperatures in the 70's, just enough to melt the snow and nourish the spirit till March. This year was an exception. The ground stayed frozen for weeks on end. Nothing stirred. The black Angus cattle were somnolent black shadows on the dun fields. Men stayed at home and puttered. Mr. Johns on built some wren houses. Old-timers sat around the stove at the Woodville Post Office. This was the waiting time.

Now the dogwoods slowly open. A week ago the tiny buds were still tightly furled, fairy chalices of green and lavender, the seeds of summer clustered in a sturdy cup. Now the willows come alive, jade fountains by the brooks.

White Walnut Run is running bank to bank, the rapids tumbling like puppies. And all along our winding country road, the redbud trumpets April.

It had been too cold for flying kites. Now one walks with a boy to the high meadow, tearing an old pillow case in strips to make a tail. The boy runs with the kite — a kite with a clown's face — and a breeze catches the fragile craft. It climbs up, and up, and staggers for an instant, then up again; and we sit for half an hour, seldom speaking, knowing the tug of the string and the force of invisible winds, while the clown smiles incessantly above.

Our wildflowers usually appear by the middle of March. They were as late as everything else. Now one takes the road that hugs the side of Besse Bell Mountain, searching for blood root and hepatica, and there they are, where they always are, white and blue and pure gold inside. It is the time of columbine, wild iris, bird's foot violets. Year by year we learn where they hide, on Turkey Ridge and Fodder Stock Road, flowering when the earth stirs and the streams run dappled green. Where does the stream go, asks the boy? To the Thornton. And where does the Thornton go? To the Rappahannock. And the Rappahannock — where does it go? It goes to the sea. In a pool the tiny trout dart and tremble, and pause, and dart again.

Late afternoon, now, and one goes on impulse to the top of Red Oak Mountain. Only a week ago, or so it seems, the earth was drab, the mountains gray. Look, one cries, look! It is a prayer, an invocation; for a miracle has passed, and the fields are green, the mountains hazy lavender, the peaches budding, the earth smell rising.

Other Editors Saying There Goes KP

(Chicago Daily News)

The Army is going to pieces, slowly but inevitably. First it got rid of its horses, saying motorized transport was better. Now it's going to get rid of KP, feeling trained soldiers can be used to better advantages.

But this misses the point: It's the tradition that counts, the common bond of unity-through adversity that KP has bred through the years.

No soldier can believe the Army really cares about its food; it gives as many points in mess-hall inspections for the way the cupboards look as for the way the food tastes. But it is embedded in Army creed that all soldiers must suffer together, in eating the chow (not inappropriately named for a species of tough dog) and in cleaning up after it. And what builds character as much as peeling potatoes? What teaches steadfastness as much as a greasy, burned pan? What trains a soldier to outgun his foe like cleaning up around the coal ovens? Quod erat demonstrandum, as the sarge used to say.

The Army is leaving itself a loophole: KP still can be assigned as punishment (which should make the new civilian cooks proud of their jobs). But it won't be the same. Soldiers may have to be content with spit-shining boots and fire extinguishers, arranging full field layouts and marching around and around in square circles.

Whether they can still be turned into fighting men on this stunted regimen is anybody's guess.

Society Will Always Have Poor

By ELMER ROESSNER

The death of Martin Luther King has given impetus to one of his major proposals: the abolition of poverty. This is in spite of the fact that Jesus, in the house of Simon the leper, said, "For ye have the poor always with you" (Matt XXVI: 11) and despite conclusions of modern psychology.

Almost any psychologist will agree that there are compulsive poor people, just like there are compulsive gamblers. For a variety of psychological reasons, there are many people who think they are destined to remain poor or that they deserve to be poor, and not only refuse to try to emerge from poverty but actually dissipate wealth when it is thrust upon them.

There are also many who struggle courageously against poverty but who, for a variety of reasons, can never emerge from economic quicksands. Many of these can be helped with training, adjustment and medical care, and it is perhaps these whom Dr. King had in mind.

And in addition to those who remain poor because they are slaves to their own complexes, there are others who remain poor because of physical disabilities, chronic illness including alcoholism, and mental instability.

There are thousands more who are economically trapped: abandoned wives with young children unmarried women who can't resist having babies; those with unmanageable financial obligations, and those who always throw snake eyes in every economic gamble.

Many of these can and are being assisted. There are counseling services, clinics, slavery, slavery to families, relatives, parents, wives or husbands, pimps and drugs.

In very much the same way, thousands have thrust themselves into poverty.

Labor Ready, Willing

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Organized labor's all-out commitment to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic nomination was hammered home by Al Barkan, the AFL-CIO's political action chief, in a secret strategy session Tuesday (April 9) at San Francisco.

Barkan, director of the Committee on Political Education (COPE), made it clear that labor is ready and willing to provide men and money for a drive to stop Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. One participant claims that Barkan talked of a $5 million national labor fund for the Vice President.

Barkan travelled to San Francisco with William Connell, Humphrey's chief aide, to meet with a select group of the Vice President's California supporters at the suburban San Francisco home of Tom Pitts, president of the state AFL-CIO.

Present were three of the state's top Democratic fund-raisers: Walter Shorenstein of San Francisco (who had been raising money for the aborted Johnson campaign in California), National Democratic Committeeman Eugene Wyman, and Cyril Magnin of Los Angeles. Also on hand were State Senator George Miller, a respected legislator; former State Chairman Roger Kent, a strong 1960 Kennedy man; and two professional campaign organizers, Don Bradley and Tom Saunders.

Connell's briefing gave the Californians a rosy picture of Humphrey's prospects based on a labor-Southern coalition. He estimated Humphrey's current strength at around 800 delegates, including some 600 from Southern and Border states (many of them pledged to nominal favorite sons ready to back Humphrey at the Chicago convention).

With Humphrey avoiding primaries against Kennedy, the 500 additional delegates needed for nomination depend on labor's efforts in Northern industrial states, according to Connell.

Discussed at some length was whether the regular California delegation, headed by State Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch as a stand-in for President Johnson in the June 4 primary, should be turned over to Humphrey. Despite bountiful pledges of financial help, it was decided the Lynch delegation had little chance against Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy. Thus, the Humphrey forces will ignore the primary.

Clifford on Vietnam
Defense Secretary Clark Clifford's ruthlessly clinical diagnosis of the Vietnam war at President Johnson's March 13 Cabinet meeting was the backdrop for the President's March 31 peace proposal to Hanoi.

In laying out the grim options confronting the U.S., Clifford informed the Cabinet that the military request for 206,000 U.S. reinforcements would require mobilizing 250,000 reservists and raising the war budget (now running close to $30 billion) by at least $10 billion.

The President had specifically asked Clifford, who took over from Robert McNamara with no axes to grind and no past positions to defend, to give the Cabinet a full review of the war at that session. Other Cabinet members (Continued On Page 5)

GAO Blasts Detroit Anti-Poverty Reporting

WASHINGTON (AP) — A General Accounting Office report says the Detroit anti-poverty administration has given the government an inaccurate and misleading information on participants and tried to get financial credit for facilities that weren't used.

The report to Congress on a GAO audit also found "duplication of administrative effort and cost" in the Detroit program which it said the U.S. office of Economic Opportunity has been unable to correct. In this connection, the GAO, which is an arm of Congress, criticized use of a Catholic church agency.

The 86-page report was released shortly after The Associated Press reported that the AO, the Detroit city auditor's office and a state legislative committee all were looking into operations of the anti-poverty agency—the Mayor's Committee for Human Resources Development, headed by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

The GAO already is at work on a new audit of the Detroit program. Its published report covered the 1965 and 1966 fiscal years.

Detroit has received about $50 million in federal anti-poverty funds. Only New York and Chicago have gotten more. Detroit also is one of only two cities whose major anti-poverty agency is an arm of city government rather than an independent non-profit corporation. The other is Chicago.

The GAO said some participation figures provided by the Detroit agency—and on which the Office of Economic Opportunity had to rely for future planning—were inflated.

One report for a particular school program listed 7,539 participants. But in checking school-by-school enrollment figures, the GAO said it found 4,000 fewer participants.

The GAO said the Detroit Board of Education—to whom the mayor's committee contracted some anti-poverty education programs—tried to get too much financial credit for class-room space it provided.

The city was required to contribute 10 per cent of the cost of anti-poverty programs. Value of the space provided was allowed to count toward this contribution. The GAO said it checked $342,160 in claims and found only $71,855 was justified.

It said at one school the city claimed rent on a basis of 2,184 room-days of use, but that the rooms were reserved for anti-poverty programs only 319 of those days—and may have been used even less than that.

The report said rent was charged to the anti-poverty program even for some days on which other organizations used the rooms.

The GAO said it rechecked the rental situation after bringing the matter to OEO's attention and found it still was unsatisfactory. It recommended that "all past and present claims of the Board of Education be revalued."

Sentenced On Bogus Bill Count

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — Steve Lee Howard Jr., 24, of Greer, S.C., was sentenced to two consecutive seven-year prison terms Monday after he was convicted of passing counterfeit $20 bills.

Howard and his wife, Doris, were arrested Jan. 19. Mrs. Howard's trial was continued.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of the U.S. foreign aid effort says he sees no reason why chronically food-short nations such as India and Pakistan cannot become self-sufficient in food production.

William S. Gaud, administrator of the Agency for International Development, said Monday good weather and widespread planting of new, quick-maturing varieties of grains raised yields substantially last year in both India and Pakistan.

Gaud told editors and publishers gathered at the State Department for briefings by top government officials the results raise this question: "Was this a single-year phenomenon or the beginning of a new trend?"

Gaud said fertilizer plays a critical role in making the new grain varieties live up to their promise. India and the U.S. assistance to India and Pakistan is for fertilizers, he said.

New Twist: Gardner Supporters Switching Allegiance To Stickley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rivalry between the Republican gubernatorial campaign camps of Jack Stickley and Jim Gardner has a new twist — three former Gardner supporters have switched over to Stickley.

Back in mid-February, Gardner forces announced that 11 county chairmen for Stickley had moved into the Gardner fold. The announcement was followed by charges that some of the men named were not really Stickley backers.

The latest switch in allegiance came Monday as Stickley visited Granite Quarry's Springtime Celebration. Joining the Stickley camp were State Reps. Sam Troxell and Austin Michess and State Sen. Claude Parrish.

All three state legislators had publicly endorsed Gardner in January. They met privately with Stickley Monday. Later Parrish said he is convinced that the Charlotte yarn broker is "far and away the most capable of the gubernatorial candidates, Republican or Democrat."

Gardner spent Monday at home with his family in Rocky Mount. He planned to take advantage of the Easter recess in Congress to step up his campaign this week and was scheduled to visit the Hickory area today, ending up tonight in Winston-Salem.

Stickley was to tour Stanly County today.

Campaigning among the three candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination also was due to pick up today after the holiday break.

Lt. Gov. Bob Scott made a "non political" appearance with his family Monday at the Oak Ridge Horse Show. He was due to campaign today in the Hickory - Newton - Conover area and Salisbury.

Mel Broughton, one of Scott's two opponents, also was at the horse show and planned to be in High Point and Greensboro today before visits to Tarboro and Rocky Mount.

Broughton's headquarters issued a statement Monday in which the candidate said if elected governor he would seek to increase the appropriations for promoting North Carolina outside its borders to boost tourist trade.

On Monday, Broughton also learned of a second newspaper endorsement of his candidacy when the Shelby Daily Star announced it was supporting him. Earlier, the Raleigh Times made a similar endorsement.

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, the third Democratic candidate, was in New York Monday to discuss the nation's racial problems at a church meeting but returned to the state in time to address a dinner in Durham.

In his dinner speech, Hawkins said racial problems can be solved with what he called open "denigration . . . the unbrainwashing of black people until they realize their political power and their dignity."

Hawkins also said that the state of North Carolina is the "biggest discriminator in the state" because he said Negroes make up less than 3 per cent of the total number of state employees and most of them hold menial jobs.

Six Tar Heels Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six more North Carolinians have been killed in the Vietnam war, the Pentagon reported Monday.

Two other Tar Heels died in Vietnam not as a result of hostile action while two more were listed as dead of hostile action instead of missing.

Killed in action were: 1st Lt. Robert C. Peda, husband of Mrs. Barbara F. Peda of Fayetteville; Staff Sgt. John F. Van Duyn, husband of Pfc. Margaret A. Van Duyn, WAC Garrison Detachment, Ft. Bragg.

Also: Spec. 4 Robert L. Melton Jr., son of Mrs. Dorothy G. Melton of Rocky Mount; Pfc. Jimmy R. Spach, husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Spach of Rural Hall; and Pfc. Douglas G. Thompson, nephew of Mrs. Emma S. Thompson of Marietta.

Died not as a result of hostile action: Sgt. I.C. Aubrey A. Bryan, husband of Mrs. Ingeborg S. Bryan of Fayetteville; and Sgt. 1 C. Charles E. Wilcox Jr., husband of Mrs. Lora M. Wilcox of Hope Mills.

Changed from missing to dead of hostile causes were: Spec. 4 Luther T. Wilder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther J. Wilder of Spring Hope; and Pfc. Donald B. Payson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Payson of Dallas.

The groundwork for Clifford's exhaustive statement was done by high-level civilians in the Pentagon, notably Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Nitze and Assistant Secretary Alain Enthoven.

One result of Clifford's blunt appraisal was President Johnson's peace bid two weeks later. A second result was to establish the immensely shrewd and debonair Clifford as by all odds the second most important man in the U. S. government — next to LBJ himself.

Great new weed killer for cotton and soybeans

Planavin® Herbicide does a beautiful job of weed and grass control. Does not require immediate incorporation. You can incorporate hours later if you want to. Or as you spray.

New Planavin is effective. A pre-emergence weed killer that works in wet or dry soil. Long-term weed control for cotton and soybeans.

Planavin kills over 20 annual grasses and broadleaf weeds as they sprout. But cotton and soybeans grow right through it.

Planavin doesn't break down rapidly when exposed to air and sunlight. So you can incorporate hours after spraying, or as you apply it.

Planavin lets you go ahead and spray—by air or wide-boom ground equipment if you want to. There's no need to slow down or wait for incorporation to catch up.

Call us right now—for new Planavin Herbicide and a beautiful job of weed control this season.

Bucs Drop Second In Row As Wilmington Wins

Twins Down Birds For Fifth In Row

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Spring has been a little late this year in Minnesota, but a heat wave is on the way.

Big Bob Allison and the torrid Twins are coming home.

While temperatures hovered around the freezing mark in Minneapolis-St. Paul Monday night, Allison continued his early-season hitting binge with two doubles and a triple at Baltimore as the unbeaten Twins whipped the Orioles 6-3 for their fifth straight road victory.

Allison led American League hitters with a .550 average and the Twins topped the AL standings as they headed back to Minnesota for Wednesday's home opener against Washington.

The Senators blanked California 7-0 behind Camilo Pascual's six-hit, nine-strikeout pitching and the Oakland A's downed the New York Yankees 6-3 in American League day games. Detroit and Boston were rained out and Cleveland and Chicago were not scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis edged Atlanta 4-3 in 10 innings. Los Angeles shaded Pittsburgh 3-2 and Houston outlasted the New York Mets 1-0 in a 24-inning marathon.

Allison doubled in the second inning, tripled in the fourth and doubled again in the sixth—giving him eight hits in nine at-bats.

—before going out in his last two trips to the plate. The former Kansas fullback, who drove in one run and scored two, has gone 11-for-20 over-all, with four doubles, one triple and one homer.

Right-hander Dave Boswell overcame a shaky start and held the Orioles to four hits. Tony Oliva's seventh inning single broke a 3-3 tie and Harmon Killebrew singled home two insurance runs in the ninth.

At Washington, Pascual became the only active American League pitcher to reach the 2,000 strikeout mark when he fanned the Angels' Chuck Hinton in the fourth inning.

The 34-year-old right-hander, who missed the last three weeks of the 1967 season after breaking his left ankle in a game to California, finished the day with a total of 2,007 strikeouts and the 33rd shutout of his career.

Ken McMullen and Sam Bowens homered for the Senators who wrapped up the victory with a five-run burst in the fifth. Ramon Webster drilled a triple and homer, driving in three runs, and rookie Reggie Jackson delivered two more with a double and homer as the A's pounded Yankee ace Mel Stottlemyre.

John "Blue Moon" Odom checked New York on five hits until the ninth, when Tom Tresh clipped him for a two-run homer.

Met Boo-Boo Brings To End Long Scoreless Game

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rusty Staub said things started getting pretty funny around the 17th inning. Roy Hofheinz officially sanctioned the humor of the situation five innings later.

Two innings before the longest night game in major league history ended in the Astrodome Monday night with Houston a 1-0 victor over the New York Mets — who else? — the following legend appeared on Astros' owner Hofheinz' psychedelic scoreboard:

"The judge says he's ready to go to bed... let's score a run." "After about the 17th inning, everything sort of got funny," said Staub, who batted nine times in the six-hour, six-minute contest. The game outlasted by two innings the longest night game played previously, a 6-5 American League victory for Washington over Chicago last year.

"That was a three-package-of-tobacco game, and I've just got one chew left," said catcher-coach Buddy Hancken of the Astros.

The game mercifully came to an end in typical Metsian fashion, with an error letting in the run after eight pitchers had battled valiantly to preserve the scoreless deadlock.

In the only other National League games played, Los Angeles rallied heroically to beat Pittsburgh 3-2 and St. Louis topped Atlanta 4-3 in 10 innings.

Shortstop Al Weis let a grounder off the bat of Bob Aspromonte go through his legs and that sent in Norm Miller, who led off with a single and advanced on a balk by Les Rohr and an infield out.

"No, it didn't take a bad hop," said Weis afterwards. "I just blew it. It went right through my legs."

Tom Seaver was the first of the Met hurlers, giving up just two hits in 10 innings and retiring 22 batters in a row after the third inning.

Don Wilson did almost as well in the first nine innings for Houston, but was long gone by the time Wade Blasingame, the fifth Houston pitcher, was officially declared the winner.

The Dodgers won in a finish that would have made a writer of juvenile sports fiction blush. Bob Beale was breezing along on a one-hitter into the ninth but Jim Lefebvre's two-out, two-run homer beat him.

The first Los Angeles run of the inning, scoring on an infield out, was only the second scored in 44 innings this season. Until then, the Dodgers seemed likely to absorb their fourth shutout defeat in the five-game-old season.

Bill Singer, who gave up only six hits himself, and retired 19 batters in a row at one stretch, was the winner. Veale didn't allow a hit until the fifth when Rocky Colavito singled.

And in yet another last-inning finish, Johnny Edwards came up with a pinch single that drove in the winning run for the Cards. Pat Jarvis and Bog Gibson had duelled 1-1 into the seventh when Hank Aaron's homer gave Atlanta a one-run bulge.

But Roger Maris drove in two runs in the eighth for the Cards with a double and not till Dal Maxvill singled in the 10th and rode home on Edwards' single was the game decided.

Lanier's Homer Is Only Tally In 5-1 Buc Loss

WILMINGTON — East Carolina University's Pirates were handed their second straight defeat last night as they fell to the Wilmington Seahawks, 5-1.

For the Bucs, it was their third defeat against 10 wins and a tie. The Pirates dropped their opener to Ithaca, and then lost Saturday to Pembroke.

East Carolina managed only four hits off a pair of Wilmington pitchers yesterday, one of them a homer to account for the lone Pirate run.

The Bucs, after threatening in the first and second, finally got the lead in the third when Jimmy Lanier cracked the ball out of the park. But it was to be the last score of the night for the Pirates.

From there on out, the Pirates were nearly handcuffed, getting only six more men on base, and only two as far as second.

Wilmington, meanwhile, went to work to get some runs of their own. A double play erased a first inning threat, but starter Ron Hastings found himself threatened again in the second, when men reached second and third with none out. But two strikeouts and a fly ball got the Bucs out of the hole.

Leading 1-0, the Pirates went into the bottom of the third to see their lead vanish. With one out, Askew singled and moved to third on Hall's hit. Atkins grounded back to first, and Askew scored the tying run on the out, as Hall moved around to third. A passed ball let in the second run as Hall came across.

For the next three innings, Hastings retired the side in order, keeping the Pirates within striking range. But in the seventh, Wilmington came up with another run.

Winsant led off, reaching on an error. He was safe at second as the play on Dunn's grounder there was late. Dew got a hit to load the bases and Martin singled into right, scoring Winsant. Dunn also tried to come around, but Jim Snyder made a perfect throw from right to get Dunn at the plate.

Wilmington came back in the eighth to pick up two more runs. Hall walked, but was out at second on a fielder's choice as Atkins reached. Johnson slapped a single, and with two away, Dunn doubled to score both runners and make it 5-1.

Hastings threw a fine game in his losing effort, striking out five and walking two in seven and a third innings. Dennis Burke came on in relief in the eighth, allowing one hit and striking out one.

East Carolina will try for revenge tonight, meeting the Seahawks in another game. The Bucs return home to meet North Carolina State University on Saturday afternoon.

Never Asked To Be Yank

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe DiMaggio's old No. 5 has been retired for all time at Yankee Stadium. A chunk of the Yankee Clipper's pinstriped uniform hangs in a place of honor with Babe Ruth's No. 3 and Lou Gehrig's No. 4.

But DiMaggio was back in action at the big Stadium Monday afternoon, wearing the Kelly green and Fort Knox gold uniform of the Oakland Athletics. He had the white kangaroo shoes, too, and the familiar No. 5 on his back.

It wasn't exactly a fit day for a homecoming for an old hero. A Monday afternoon, clouds hanging low and only a few fans (8,579) in the stands.

Joe D. stood near the batting cage, shaking hands with old friends and talking about his (new job as executive vice president and coach for the transplanted A's.

"The most heartwarming thing that happened to me," DiMaggio said, "was the way all the old employees come up to me and wished me luck."

How did DiMaggio feel, pulling against the Yanks after all those years on the other side? "Look, I know all these kids or 90 per cent of them. Mickey is a great guy. He's an old friend, and I hope he plays for years and hits plenty—but not against our club."

If it seems strange to old Yankee fans that a folk hero comes back to town in an enemy uniform, don't blame Joe D. When a fellow asked Joe how close he had been to returning to the Yanks, he shook his head and said: "Nobody ever asked me."

Kinston Grabs Top In Carolina Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kinston Eagles were atop the Carolina League today with two victories in a row after routing the Raleigh-Durham Mets 12-1 Monday night at Raleigh.

Larry Shown held Raleigh-Durham to four hits as the Eagles collected 15. Shown, a tall righthander who pitched for Greensboro last season, gave up a run in the eighth on two walks and a single.

Meanwhile, Peninsula capitalized on four walks and two hits in the fourth to score three runs, going on to defeat Portsmouth 7-0 at Hampton, Va.

Righthander Dave Sallars went the route for Peninsula, giving up four hits. Rightfielder Bobby Brooks hit a home run and a triple for the winners.

Wilson and Rocky Mount battled to a scoreless tie at Wilson in a game called at the end of the fifth due to rain. The game will be replayed tonight as part of a doubleheader.

Salem defeated Lynchburg 7-6 Philadelphia leads best-of-7 series in 10 innings at Salem, evening rises, 3-2 their series at one game each. Salem scored five runs in the seventh, highlighted by three home runs, to send the game into an extra inning.

The homers were by Willie Hammond, pinch-hitter Canard Brown and John Jeter. A walk, a hit by Hammond and a fielder's choice scored the winning run in the 10th.

Catcher Wayne McGee's base hit in the ninth with two out scored the winning run Monday night as the Winston-Salem Red Sox downed Wake Forest 5-4 in an exhibition game.

'Miracle' Said Required To Avoid Union Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a miracle can avert a nationwide strike of some 200,000 telephone workers next Thursday, says President Joseph A. Beirne of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers.

After a seven-hour meeting with the union's executive board Monday, Beirne said:

"The board is in full agreement that the strike appears inevitable at this point and that our position must be to press hard and unceasingly for the substantial general (wage) increase that our members both need and deserve."

Some 8,000 members of another union, the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, are already on strike against the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. and 14,000 members of Beirne's union are respecting the picket lines and refusing to work.

The New Jersey telephone company said supervisory personnel stayed on the job and there was no interruption of service to its 2.2 million customers when the strike began Monday.

Beirne conceded that a strike by his members would also have little immediate impact on most customers, except for long distance calls and other service requiring an operator, because of the highly automated nature of the nation's telephone system.

A 3 p.m. Thursday deadline for the strike would involve 23,000 telephone installers, whom the union is using to try to set a new wage pattern. They are the highest paid, averaging $3.27 an hour compared with an average of $2.79 for all telephone workers.

A strike by the installers would halt work on putting in new telephone equipment around the nation. They are employees of the Western Electric Co., the manufacturing subsidiary of Bell.

Also involved would be Bell System workers in Ohio, Illinois, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Michigan, Idaho, Indiana, Northern California, Nevada, Washington State and Washington, D.C.

Other Bell System contracts around the nation expire later in April and May, and the strike eventually could embrace all states except Hawaii and Alaska. The executive board of the Communications Workers has already authorized approval of any later strike votes by Bell System units of the union.

German Police Again Battle Leftist Rioters

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Police battled leftist demonstrators in the streets around the Axel Springer publishing plants in Frankfurt and Munich Monday night as thousands of students tried to prevent distribution of today's newspapers.

More than 150 demonstrators were arrested as student rioting spread to West Germany. Thirty demonstrators were reported seriously injured.

West Berlin was free of student violence Monday for the first time since the attempted assassination there last Thursday of Rudi Dutschke, 28-year-old leader of the Socialist Student Federation, Jr. SDS. But more than 2,000 West Berlin students held a nonviolent demonstration under the watchful eyes of police with water cannon.

Dutschke, hospitalized with three bullet wounds, was reported out of immediate danger. A house painter accused of shooting him, 23-year-old Josef Bachmann, was wounded by the police who captured him and was reported in good condition at the same hospital.

Springer, the biggest newspaper and magazine publisher in continental Europe, has long been a target of leftist students because of his conservative editorial policy. The SDS claims attacks in the Springer papers on Germany's dissatisfied leftist students were an indirect incitement to the attack on Dutschke.

A casualty of Monday's fight at the Springer plant in Munich was Associated Press photographer Klaus Frings. He was in serious condition after being struck on the head by a stone during the fighting.

Four other persons were seriously injured and more than 100 arrested in Munich. Police said the found an incendiary device in a courtyard of the printing plant.

The battle in Frankfurt was joined after police moved from behind barbed wire barricades and tried to convey about a dozen delivery trucks through a crowd of 5,000 blocking the printing plant.

Three Scouting Sessions Slated This Evening

Three Scouting sessions are slated for tonight at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville.

The Pitt District Committee, chairmanned by Fred Bowman, will gather at 7:30.

The Boy Scout Leaders Roundtable, chairmanned by Herber Adams, will also meet at 7:30.

At 8:00 p.m., the Cub Scout Leaders Roundtable, chairmanned by Dr. Tom Patterson, will begin.

The "bunching" of the meetings was attributed to postponement of earlier meeting dates.

Hold Suspect In Pactolus Theft

PACTOLUS — A quantity of merchandise and some cash were taken from Daveport's Store here in a Sunday night break-in.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said Willie Junior Williams, 31 year old Negro of Pactolus, has been charged with breaking, entering and larceny in the case. He is in Pitt County Jail under $200 bond.

The sheriff said $16.52 in cash was taken from the store.

Charge Driver In Local Collision

Farley Odell Williams, 49-year-old Negro of Rocky Mount was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 12:55 p.m. collision on U.S. 264 one-tenth of a mile east of the Evans Street intersection yesterday.

Greenville police said the truck driven by Williams collided with a car operated by Luther Robert Collins, 18, of Rocky Mount.

Damage to the Collins vehicle was set at $350. No damage resulted to the truck.

Engineers From India Welcomed To Aurora For Texas Gulf Study

Two engineers from the fertilizer industry of India were greeted by Mayor Frank T. Bonner as they arrived in Aurora today to begin a two month study of Texas Gulf's phosphate fertilizer facilities.

Sebastian Jacob and Thelakkar Nandakumar are beginning a two months' on-the-job observation and training program being sponsored by the International Cooperative Development Association and the Agency for International Development (Department of State). Both engineers received their degrees from universities in India and are currently holding responsible positions in India's fertilizer industry. Both speak English.

The purpose of the program is to help India increase its supply of food through the increased production and use of fertilizer.

At Texas Gulf, they will observe and learn firsthand how daily production and maintenance problems are solved by an American industry in order that they may apply this knowledge toward improving their own operations. The program is being conducted through voluntary cooperation without monetary reimbursement.

Their training at Texas Gulf will be under the guidance of Dave Edmiston, Assistant General Manager of the Phosphate Division. Edmiston stated that he was looking forward to the experience of having Jacob and Nandakumar and that Texas Gulf was delighted to have been selected to assist India in filling its food gap.

Mayor Bonner said that the engineers had obtained living quarters in Aurora and that the citizens of the community would do everything possible to make their visit comfortable and enjoyable.

AT TEXAS GULF . . . engineers from India, Nandakumar and Jacob with Aurora Mayor Frank Bonner.

South Africa's Political Life Is Led By Afrikaners

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A politician's name in South Africa is more likely to be Van der Merwe than Smith. English-speaking South Africans are outnumbered 5 to 1 in Parliament by Afrikaans-speakers.

English-speaking whites here show little taste for the political game. The descendants of the English pioneers don't have a single national organization of note, political or otherwise, exclusively representing their interests.

In its 51 years as a union and seven years as a republic, South Africa has had seven prime ministers, all Afrikaners.

The terms English-speaking and Afrikaans-speaking are generally used to define a person's ancestry or the language he uses at home. Most South Africans can carry on a conversation in both languages.

South Africa's 3,563,000 whites, the only people in the total population of 18,733,000 who have an active voice in politics, are roughly divided into 60 per cent Afrikaans-speaking and 40 per cent English-speaking. But political representation is nothing like 60-40. The ruling Nationalist party made up almost wholly of Afrikaners, has 126 of 166 seats in the House of Assembly. Two of the 18 Cabinet ministers, Alf Trollop and Frank Waring, are English-speakers.

English-speaking South Africans who venture into politics belong mainly to the United party, an amalgamation of the two language groups which has been out of power 20 years and is steadily losing ground. Of its 39 seats in Parliament 29 are held by English-descended members but it is led by an Afrikaner, Sir De Villiers Graaff.

Even the tiny liberally inclined Progressive party is led by an Afrikaner, Dr. Jan Steytler, although its sole member of Parliament is English-speaking Helen Sezman. The even smaller multiracial Liberal party, led by author Alan Paton is about to go out of existence because of impending legislation outlawing multiracialism in politics.

English-speaking South Africans have long held the country's pursestrings and until recent years overwhelmingly dominated finance, commerce and industry. The Afrikaner has his traditions deep in farming but in the last few decades has made a vigorous entry into the business world.

Afrikaners have always shown a strong interest in politics and an aggressive determination to keep alive their culture and language. This contrasts with the laissez-faire attitude of most English speakers.

Lebason was formed from five former Turkish Empire districts.

The Worry Clinic Too Often Parent Will Deflate A Child's Ego

Willie's case is duplicated thousands of times, even in our so-called educated homes! For many parents aren't aware of the bias they demonstrate in their own homes. Play the parent-child game according to psychological "Hoyle," so send for the "Tests for Parents" and then USE THEM DILIGENTLY!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE F-544: Willie, aged 11, is unhappy.

"Dr. Crane," his grandmother began, "my grandson is growing moody and dropping in his school marks."

"And it isn't because he lacks ability, for his I.Q. is 125."

"But his parents ignore him too much or else criticize him unduly."

"Maybe it isn't intentional but they shower most of their attention on his sister Janice, who is 8 years old."

"Willie used to be a very happy little fellow with a keen zest for life."

"But his daddy refuses to let him play baseball with the 'Little Leaguers.'"

"And he has vetoed Willie's joining the school band, saying that Willie is too careless and irresponsible to be entrusted with an expensive musical instrument."

"Dr. Crane, please try to wake up such parents by describing Willie's case in your daily column!"

Despite the widespread stress nowadays on eliminating racial and religious bias, we still find a lot of it right in the American home!

But such bias pertains to sibling partiality, such as Willie's parents are showing.

Too often parents deflate the ego of one of their children and shower excessive praise or attention on another.

This may be due to their expecting too much of the oldest youngster.

Sometimes, too, that oldest child is at the awkward stage where he or she is "all thumbs."

The cute little sister, who is dressed like a show-off doll, may then monopolize parental attention.

So the ignored youngster feels unwanted and unloved.

The "hippies" and beatniks often have reported that their parents were divorced or showed no affection for the children.

Lack of assurance that your parents love you deeply, is thus one of the greatest causes of emotional insecurity.

Anybody who feels "unloved," may thus succumb to a dangerous mental condition, ranging from sadism, murder and crime, to suicide or the Beatle, beatnik and "hippie" craze.

You parents often unintentionally "chew out" that awkward oldest child and devote more time to the "baby."

By all means be careful about the "middle" youngster in your family! For he lacks the special spotlighting of the oldest and also misses the extra attention showered on the baby.

So play the parent-child game according to psychological Hoyle!

Though most of you may have been taught the rules of baseball or basketball, golf and tennis or even know Hoyle's rules for card playing by heart, you may actually rate only a "D" grade as a parent!

Alas, many college graduates still flunk my "Tests for Parents," so send a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and get those 200-point Rating Scales!

Then use them diligently! Let daddy and mother test each other once per month.

And if you have kiddies old enough to read, let them rate you parents, too.

Avers 23rd Baby Will Be 'Last'

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Mrs. Maria Beckham had her 23rd baby, and declared stoutly, "This is my last."

Baby Rosie, 7 pounds, 12 ounces, made Mrs. Beckham undisputed winner of the New Zealand baby stakes. A few weeks ago Mrs. Tina Tengu had her 21st child which was thought to be the New Zealand record.

At 45 Mrs. Beckham has amassed a family ranging in age from Robert, 27, down to Rosie. There are 21 grandchildren, but seven of her children have died.

Mrs. Beckham and her husband, who is unemployed and partly crippled with arthritis, live in the far north of the North Island. Their only income is from government family and other benefits, a total of 142 New Zealand dollars ($159 U.S.) a month.

For partiality in the home destroys harmony and produces the sort of filial feuding that led Absalom to kill his brother Amnon and Cain to slay Abel!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets weaker Monday. Supplies fully adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 36½; medium whites 30 to 30½; small whites 23 to 24½.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly 50 to 75 cents lower. Tops of 18.00-18.50 Rocky Mount; 17.50-18.25 Wilson; 17.25-18.25 Tarboro, Bethel; 16.75-17.75 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mt. Olive, Newton Grove, Albemarle, Lumberton; 18.25 Salisbury, Greensboro, Rich Square; 18.00 Selma; 17.75 Goldsboro; 17.50 Siler City, Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved toward its fifth straight daily rise in brisk trading this afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 300 issues on the New York Stock Exchange, but an irregular performance by some of the pivotal blue chips kept the gains small in popular averages.

Du Pont fell more than 4 point as profits were taken on its 7-point leap of Monday on news of climbing profits. IBM slipped 4 points.

Nevertheless, the market was higher on balance from the start.

Steels edged higher as a group after news of continuing records in weekly steel production.

Some airlines advanced on a published report that a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) examiner had recommended that some air carriers that aren't currently serving the Pacific be allowed to do so.

Those carriers included Eastern Airlines and Western Airlines, each of which advanced more than a point, and TWA and Northwest Airlines which edged fractionally higher.

Pan American World Airways lost a fraction and United Airlines about a point, even though it was reported they would receive "new or improved authority" for transpacific service.

A block of 68,300 shares of American Airlines was down 1 at 25½.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 323.9 with industrials off .7, rails up 2.0 and utilities off .5.

The New York Stock Exchange index held a slight gain from the start, but Du Pont's loss upset the Dow Jones industrial average which dipped a minor .63 to 909.56.

The session was earmarked by big blocks. Pittston traded on 115,600 shares, off 1¼ at 48. Occidental Petroleum rose to 40 on a block of 100,100 shares.

Big Three auto stocks were lower in early trading following a report of a drop in new car sales in early April but later turned mixed. Ford rose about a point, General Motors was un-

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Blanche Brown of the home; one daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Brown Joyner of Baltimore, Md.; three sons, Herbert, Alex Jr. and Wilbert Brown, all of Baltimore, Md.; 15 grandchildren;

Four sisters, Mrs. Martha Cannon of Ayden, Mrs. Edna Sanders of Greenville, Mrs. Rosa Hodnett, Mrs. Mary Jenkins, both of New York City; four brothers, Rev. Heber Brown of Newark, N.J., Jobac Jr., Louis Henry and Freddie Brown, all of Rochester, N.Y.

The body will remain at Flanagan and Parker Wednesday until one hour of the funeral.

Hunger Strike At N.C. Prison

RALEIGH (AP) — A group of 16 convicts at Central Prison continued a hunger strike today.

Assistant Correction Commissioner K. B. Bailey said the 16 men, confined to a cellblock along with 22 other prisoners for assaults on prisoners or prison personnel, refused breakfast today. They began their strike Monday.

Commissioner of Correction Lee Bounds did not identify the inmates who refused to eat. He said, "We've had hunger strikes before, some lasting 15 days. These strikes are not unusual in a prison system."

Scott Resumes Highway Attack Wachovia Bank Board Announces Promotions

HICKORY, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, campaigning for the Democratic nomination for governor, renewed today his attack in the North Carolina Highway Commission.

Scott said too much road building authority has been taken from local governments and highway department officials in the field and vested in higher echelons in Raleigh.

The lieutenant governor spoke at a news conference after touring several mills and public offices in the Hickory area and breakfasting with his Catawba Blake Watts.

Several other Scott backers also attended the breakfast.

At his news conference, Scott also reiterated his proposals for public kindergartens to be operated during summer months in the public schools, employing public school teachers.

Scott was to speak later today to the Conover Rotary Club. More handshaking in Catawba County was on his afternoon schedule, and he will wind up the day's campaigning with a speech to a rally at Salisbury tonight. 7

Two Pitt County natives were among four persons promoted today by the directors of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company at the group's regular quarterly meeting here this morning.

HILMA L. AVERY

James W. Joyner of Belhaven, a Greenville native, was promoted from assistant vice-president to vice-president. Mrs. Hilma L. Avery of Greenville, an Ayden native, was elected an assistant secretary.

The board also elected Clarence W. Griffin, a Williamston attorney, to the Williamston board.

J. Russell Lee of Bayboro and T. Spencer Hill Jr. of Williamston were the other two employees promoted. Lee was promoted to vice-president while Hill was elected an assistant cashier.

Joyner is manager of Wachovia's Belhaven office. He joined the bank in 1960 in Greenville and moved to Belhaven in 1963. He was elected assistant cashier in 1963 and was promoted to assistant vice-president in 1964.

He attended East Carolina University and is president of the Belhaven-Pantego Rotary Club and the Belhaven Community Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Avery is a personnel assistant. She joined the bank in 197 as a bookkeeper.

She is a member of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club and has held numerous posts in the Greenville chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

Griffin has been a member of the board of trustees of Elizabeth City State College for the past seven years. He is a former North Carolina Congressman and is a director of the Martin County Savings and Loan Association.

A graduate of the University of North Carolina (1935) and the UNC Law School (1938), Griffin is active in community activities. He is a native of Williamston.

Lee is manager of the Bayboro office. He joined the bank in 1956 in Goldsboro and moved to Bayboro in 1965. Born in Four Oaks, Lee was graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1956.

JAMES W. JOYNER

Hill, a lending officer, joined the bank in 1962 in Raleigh and moved to Williamston in 1967.

His hometown is Charlotte, and he was graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1962. Hill has worked for charitable fund-raising drives and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Teachers Insist On Protection

BOSTON (AP) — Some 70 teachers at the city's Jeremiah E. Burke High School for girls are threatening not to return to school next Monday unless they are afforded police protection.

The school is in the predominantly Negro section of Roxbury. A spokesman for the teachers said a gang of young toughs invaded the school the day after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated and roamed corridors, smashed typewriters and business machines, squirted fire extinguishers and harassed teachers and students for two hours.

The school has been closed since for repairs and the Easter week school holiday.
