

Five Central Prison Inmates Killed In Riot

By MIKE PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Guards opened fire on 500 demonstrating inmates at North Carolina Central Prison today, killing five and injuring 75.
Five guards suffered minor injuries in the clash with prisoners.
State Correction Commissioner V. Lee Bounds said the riot erupted shortly after 1:30 a.m. when the inmates set fire to a small building in a yard of the maximum security facility and "began throwing lighted torches at unarmed custodial officers." About 45 state highway patrolmen and 50 Raleigh policemen responded to the prison's emergency call for support for prison guards.

Prisoners had staged a sit-down strike in the yard Tuesday and presented a list of grievances to Commissioner Bounds, who said he refused to negotiate with the inmates.

The grievance list included demands for implementation of an incentive pay plan for prison laborers, better food and creation of a five-man grievance committee to meet with prison officials monthly.
"I talk to inmates daily, but I do not yield to inmate demands that I do anything," Bounds said afterward.
He said the demonstrators were confined to an open yard by custodial officers armed with chemical mace and nightsticks. After the building was set afire, Bounds reported, the prisoners—many of them armed with homemade weapons and torches—began to advance on the guards on the grounds.

"They began throwing lighted torches on the unarmed custodial officers, and the armed custodial officers began opening fire," Bounds said.
Armed guards stationed on the walls of the 75-year-old structure in Raleigh fired down on the crowd with shotguns.
Bounds said the five officers injured in the brief battle received minor wounds from ricocheting shot and prisoners' weapons. Some of the injured inmates, he said, were reported in critical condition at the prison hospital, and three men were taken to a Raleigh hospital when the prison hospital was filled to capacity.
"The order to fire was given by the major at the yard," Bounds said, "but instructions on when to fire had been issued by me. The officers were told to fire at any time the inmates offered a show of deadly force to our personnel in the yard."
"Had they broken through the guards," Bounds added, "they could have gone to other areas of the prison. They had access only to the clothing house (which was burned) and the 'chapel' in the yard.
When the guards opened fire, Bounds said, "it effectively broke up the demonstration. The inmates are now confined to their cells, and we have complete control of the prison."

The 1,000-inmate prison is the only maximum security unit in North Carolina, which has other facilities for confinement of about 9,000 prisoners.
Three of the prisoners killed in the outbreak were serving sentences for crimes of violence.
The five dead were identified as: Donald Fox, 26, sentenced from Buncombe County to two life terms, one for first degree murder and one for first degree burglary; Andrew Branch 40, sentenced from Davidson County to 14-15 years for assault with intent to commit rape; Nathaniel Latta, 33, sentenced from Mecklenburg County to 15 years for assault with intent to commit rape; William Matthews, 28, sentenced from Halifax County to eight-10 years for breaking and entering; and Jerry Walston, 22, sentenced from Lee

Downtown Rocky Mount Fire Out Of Control; Block Is Threatened

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — A huge fire raged out of control in downtown Rocky Mount today, destroying two tobacco warehouses and threatening an entire city block.
The Peoples Tobacco Warehouse and the Thorpe - Ricks Warehouse next door were destroyed within an hour after the blaze was discovered.

The fire, fanned by a strong north-to-south wind, spread to the American Leaf Organization of Imperial Tobacco Ltd., and was out of control early this afternoon.
Another warehouse, Cobb & Carlton, was threatened, as was the Daniel Grocery store.
No injuries were reported immediately.
Nearly all fire-fighting equipment in Rocky Mount and units from several volunteer fire departments in surrounding communities were pressed into service.
The cause of the fire was not known immediately, but authorities said it apparently started in the rear of the Peoples warehouse.

Bill Phillips, a long-time employee of the warehouse, went to an office inside after the blaze was reported and warned a secretary working alone to get out. The roof caved in less than a minute later.

Smoke could be seen 10 miles away.
The old warehouse buildings were constructed of brick, with tar-paper and tin roofs.
A spokesman for Peoples warehouse said the building contained 160 hogsheads of tobacco, a car, a truck and two fork-lift trucks.

The Imperial Tobacco plant is a tobacco processing concern situated in the tobacco warehouse district of north Rocky Mount.

Injuries Killed Two In Tractor-Trailer Crash

FALKLAND — Two men died yesterday of injuries received here when a tractor-trailer truck, went out of control and struck two cars and a truck, a utility pole and two buildings before coming to rest.

The dead were identified by Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey as David Harris, 42-year-old Negro of Route 6, Greenville, who died at the scene of the 3:05 collision. Clarence Evans, 40-year-old Negro of 1301 Clark St. died three and one-half hours later in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Harris, according to Patrolman S. F. Padgett, was the driver of the tractor-trailer. He was thrown from the vehicle near the end of its 320 feet path of destruction. Evans, the officer said, was seated in a parked pickup truck that was struck by the larger vehicle, and was thrown from the vehicle by the force of the collision.
Trooper Padgett reconstructed the series of events.
According to the officer, the truck driven by Harris was headed East in N. C. 43 inside the Falkland municipal limits. "A fire may have blown out," Padgett said, and the truck went out of control.

On its 320 feet rampage, the vehicle struck the front of the W. W. Wooten store, a parked pickup truck owned by Olin Matheson Chemical Co., Williamston in which Evans was seated; and two parked cars, one owned by Linwood Earl Peaden of Falkland and the other owned by Allison Douglas Leonard of Falkland. The tractor-trailer also struck a utility pole, breaking it down, then overturned and came to rest against the front of the R. R. Stokes store.

The Wooten Store and the Stokes business are on opposite sides of N. C. 222 at its intersection with N. C. 43.
Damage was estimated at $2,000 to the Harris truck, $1,500 to the Olin-Matheson Co. vehicle, $300 to the Peaden car and $400 to the Leonard auto. Damage to the utility pole and two stores was set at $500.
Firemen spread the area with foam to prevent fire from breaking out.
Janice Drew, working in a garden near the highway, 400 yards from the crash, stated that she heard the driver of the tractor-trailer scream, "Oh God, no!" as the vehicle went past.

Ernest Wooten was inside his service station at the time of the accident, reported that he heard the Harris hit the pick-up and looked up to see the tractor-trailer rolling over and over towards his store. When he came out, Wooten said, the driver was lying near the cab of the truck, "with that big tire right on top of him."
The tractor-trailer was owned by Imperial Tobacco Co. and was loaded with hogshead material. It was on its way back to Greenville from Rocky Mount.
The fatalities were the eighth and ninth traffic deaths in Pitt County so far this year. In 1967, only seven persons met death on the county's roads.
Coroner Harvey said both Harris and Evans died of internal injuries. Harris, he said, suffered a crushed chest, while Evans suffered from hip and leg fractures.

Jackie Fires An Ambitious Cook

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's German cook, a 24-year-old blonde, says she was fired Tuesday after word of her cook book and television career ambitions got into print.

Annemarie Huste, the cook, said Mrs. Kennedy apparently believed that Annemarie was going to expose the former first lady's private life to public scrutiny.
"I would never allow anything to be printed about her private life," Miss Huste told an interviewer.

Dr. Carroll To Address ECU Grads

Dr. Charles F. Carroll, retiring state superintendent of public instruction, will be this year's commencement speaker at East Carolina University. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, ECU president, made the announcement today.
Dr. Carroll, who is not seeking re-election this year after serving as state superintendent for some 16 years, will address the Class of '68 in Ficklen Stadium at 5 p.m. Sunday, May 26.

Sixteen years ago most of the same students who graduate this year were entering the first grades of North Carolina public schools as Dr. Carroll was beginning his tenure as state superintendent.
In announcing Dr. Carroll's acceptance of the speech engagement, President Jenkins said: "We are happy that this able and dedicated servant of education in North Carolina will address our graduates. It is es-

Nichola Is Farmville's Man-of-Year

FARMVILLE — Habib "Hap" Nichola was presented the man-of-the-year award last night in Farmville by the Chamber of Commerce.
Describing Nichola, John Lewis, who presented the award said, "He's a little man with a big heart and a big smile. He's appropriately called 'Hap'. He takes a lot of time to give young boys advice with their problems."

Nichola is a past president of the Lion's Club for the years 1965-67, and was zone chairman for that organization. He is one of the directors for the Association for the Blind, and is a member of the Farmville Rescue Squad.
Though he was born in Lawrence, Mass. on Sept. 16, 1916, he has spent most of his life in Farmville. He graduated from Farmville High School.
Nichola was stationed in Hawaii with the Engineer Corps. on Dec. 7, 1941 and witnessed the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

The Farmville Chamber of Commerce award is an annual one and is based on outstanding events a person has participated in during the past year.
The principal speaker last night was Archie W. McLean, president of Planter's National Bank in Rocky Mount. McLean was introduced by W.A. Allen, president of the Bank of Farmville.

The meeting drew a crowd of over 120 persons which was the largest attendance in many years.
President of the Farmville Chamber of Commerce, Joe Kue, presided over the meeting.

Warehouse Burns In Fuquay-Varina

FUQUAY-VARINA, N.C. (AP) — The Big Top Tobacco Warehouse just north of Fuquay-Varina on U.S. 401 burned to the ground today with loss estimated by its owner at $234,000.
Fire Chief Edward Schmelzer said the fire was discovered by neighbors about 3:15 a.m.
"Just about the whole building was engulfed in flames when we arrived," he said, "It must have been burning for some time."

100-Bed Addition?

Pitt Memorial Hospital should begin immediately to plan for a 100-bed addition to the present facility, the hospital's board of trustees was told last night.
In a written preliminary report Charles B. Cardwell, a consultant doing long-range plans for the hospital, told trustees that they should begin planning for an addition and also acquire land adjacent to the present property.
Cardwell is vice-president of the Medical College of Virginia and has been working on a long-range plan for Pitt Memorial for several months.
The consultant said that if the hospital were to move immediately, it would require two-to-two-and-one-half years to complete work on a new wing.
He suggested the trustees "begin immediately to look for an architectural firm" to begin planning for an addition.
According to Cardwell, the facility is "no longer a county hospital" but is fast becoming a regional hospital with the many services and specialists available.

Price - Setting Ended On Milk

RALEIGH (AP) — Effective next Sunday, milk distributors in North Carolina will be allowed to sell their products to retailers at any price.
A milk price war may be one result although distributors will still have to pay dairy farmers a fixed price for milk.
The North Carolina Milk Commission announced Tuesday it was suspending its price filing system and other trade practice regulations for milk distributors, effective next Sunday.
A commission spokesman said the action could result in a milk price war.
The decision to suspend the price filing system was felt necessary because of recent developments in the milk industry, he said, because of volume discount plans, private label milk, and other proposed methods of distribution.
O. A. Swaringen of Concord, commission chairman, said: "It's gotten to the stage where each distributor wants to outdo the other to try to secure retail accounts."
He added, "For years we have said they can't do that because they have wholesale prices and retail prices filed with the Milk Commission. As long as they have that price filed they have to adhere to it."
Swaringen noted that fair trade regulations, including price filing, have been in effect for the past 12 years. The commission has authority to establish wholesale and retail prices in an emergency situation, but "we have tried to stay away from that," he said.
Swaringen said it probably will be necessary for the Milk Commission to schedule a hearing in the near future to review general conditions and attempt to maintain a stabilized milk industry.

$54,000 For Pitt Tech Expansion

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones announced Tuesday the approval of a $54,000 grant to pay part of the cost of a construction project at Pitt Technical Institute.
He said the funds will go into a budget of $644,000 for construction of a new classroom-laboratory building and minor renovations in an existing building at Pitt Tech.
The institute announced plans for the construction project recently.
Jones said the federal share will come from the U. S. Office of Education under Title I of Public Law 88-204.
He added, "I am happy that these funds can be made available because this expansion project will mean still more of the very fine services by Pitt Tech for the young people of this area."

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.
Temperatures through Monday will average above normal with highs expected of over 75 and lows in the upper 50s. Less than a quarter inch of precipitation is expected in early part of next week.

Teaching Spanish Is A Natural For Mrs. Ucros

By BLANCHE HARDEE

Reflector Staff Writer

Teaching Spanish is "second nature" to J. H. Rose High School Spanish instructor Mrs. Josephine Ucros.

Mrs. Ucros is a Bogota, Colombia, South America native—a natural Spanish-speaker.

The English used in the United States is "very different from what was taught" in Colombian schools, she explains.

"After coming to the United States," Mrs. Ucros said, "I was discouraged at first. . . I thought people would laugh at the way I talked and I tried to avoid speaking English." Now, two and one-half years later, she helps instruct Rose High students in Spanish grammar, pronunciation drills, conversational Spanish and Spanish literature. The language problem is no more.

Mrs. Ucros and her husband, German Ucros, have been in Greenville for about 18 months. Ucros is service manager for Sunnyside Eggs, Inc.

Both are natives of Bogota, they grew up together and attended the same university—Los Andes University—and have a son, German Andes, two and one-half years old. Mrs. Ucros attended Colegio Refugio School, a combination high school and junior college for six years before entering the university.

According to Mrs. Ucros, her husband, who attended Junior High School in San Antonio, Texas, speaks much better English than she does.

Mrs. Ucros has an AB degree in chemistry and studied French for 12 years. She began her college career when she was 16 years old.

"I love teaching," she said. She taught in South America to receive her degree and in addition to her duties at Rose High, does tutorial work after school and enjoys teaching groups everyday Spanish conversations.

Until recently, going to school in her country was a privilege, she explained. "We have private schools," Mrs. Ucros said, "where students take 14 subjects each year and have a six-day school week—from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day."

"The subjects taken are similar to college," Mrs. Ucros noted. "After six years of education in the private schools, students may receive a degree."

Use of slang in South America and in Spain vary greatly, the instructor reported. "Colombian people speak the very best Spanish of anyone," she emphasized.

In South American schools, English, American History, math and Latin, along with psychology and sociology, are among major subject areas studied.

"Much more social science is studied in Colombia than here. Here we study our own country, while in South America, we study the whole world," Mrs. Ucros stated.

Comparing the United States with her South American home, Mrs. Ucros said there are more modern conveniences in the United States. In Colombia, conveniences require a certain level of income, while almost everyone can have them here.

"People cannot get credit as easily in Colombia as here," Mrs. Ucros explained, "because people have poor incomes and do not know how to spend their money."

Chief occupations in Colombia include city employment and some agriculture, while most people work in coffee.

According to Mrs. Ucros, parents are more strict in Colombia than here. "In Colombia, you go to the movies in couples—two or three in a group—and daddy is your group—as long as you live, even if you are married. A girl has to live at home until she marries."

There are advantages to this, Mrs. Ucros noted. "There is not as much divorce and children without care. Families are much closer there than here."

In South America, women and girls do not wear slacks and shorts downtown. They are always very formal, they always wear hose, and do not wear slacks to parties or restaurants.

Mrs. Ucros' parents, her sister and three brothers, still live in Colombia, as do her husband's family, including one sister and a brother, who may study at East Carolina University next year.

Two Are Selected To Attend NDEA Institute This Summer

Bob Tate and Thomas Latimer, assistant professors in the Department of Industrial and Technical Education of East Carolina University, have been selected to participate in an NDEA Institute in advanced wood technology for teacher educators this summer.

The institute being held at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Kentucky, is under the direction of Dr. Jack Luy, Associate Dean, College of Applied Arts and Technology. Tate and Latimer will be two of 25 participants from throughout the United States.

The primary purpose of this institute is to provide the information and skills necessary to enable the participants to broaden the scope and content of industrial arts woodworking programs. Emphasis will be given to the development and use of instructional materials which may be used by the participants to improve the quality of instruction in their respective teaching assignments.

Major topics to be covered during the institute include wood - properties and kinds; wood-products and uses; wood-laminating and bending; wood-substitutes-materials and processes; and adhesives and gluing.

Tate received his B.S. and M.A. from Appalachian State University and is currently enrolled part time in the Graduate School at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. Tate has taught Industrial Arts at Boyden High School, and Drafting and Design at Rowan Technical Institute, Salisbury.

Latimer received his B.S. and M.Ed. from Georgia Southern College, Statesboro, Ga. and is a past president of the Georgia Industrial Arts Association as well as being the Outstanding Industrial Arts Teacher in Georgia 1966-67.

Latimer taught industrial arts at Cairo High School, Cairo, Ga., and LaGrange High School, LaGrange, Ga.

Medical Auxiliary Offices Named At Luncheon On Tuesday

The Auxiliary to the Pitt County Medical Society met yesterday to review and evaluate the year's work.

Auxiliary president, Mrs. Jack Wilkerson, presented the annual report which she will take to the Medical Society. She asked for latest reports from committee chairmen and comments on her report.

Mrs. Allen Taylor, new president of the Auxiliary, took over the meeting, briefly mentioned some work that will need to be done in the community during the coming year, and introduced her new officers and committee chairmen. New officers in addition to Mrs. Taylor are: Mrs. Bob Davton, president - elect; Mrs. Bill Fore, secretary; Mrs. Charles Gilbert, treasurer; and Mrs. John Fletcher, parliamentarian.

Three committees were given special recognition for outstanding effort by Mrs. Wilkerson: Mrs. Harold Hoke was recognized for her work as chairman of Mental Health Committee; Mrs. Bill Fore for her efforts as head of the Community Services Committee, especially in the area of evaluating venereal disease education in the city and county schools; and Mrs. D. L. Moore for the results of her drive to get needed supplies for shipment to hospitals in impoverished areas around the world.

A special vote of thanks went to Mrs. Elliott Dixon for her intensive work on the revision and enlargement of the Auxiliary constitution and by-laws and on the compiling of yearbooks for the 1967-68 year.

It was also announced that Mrs. Dixon will serve the N. C. Auxiliary as scrapbook chairman for the coming year, in addition to her duties with the Pitt County group.

addition to her duties with the Pitt County group.

Mrs. Wilkerson, as out-going president, expressed her appreciation for the cooperative efforts of the Medical Auxiliary officers, committee chairmen, and the Auxiliary membership as a whole.

Couple Speaks Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony on April 6, Miss Janice Faye Steiner became the bride of Jacky Everette in the Belvoir Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. Gerald Owens officiated at the ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. George W. Garris, organist, and George W.

Garris, soloist. Parents of the couple are SSG and Mrs. Rene Steiner of Rt. 4, Greenville, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Everette of Rt. 6, Greenville.

The bride wore a formal gown of white silk brocade designed with a sweetheart neckline, empire waistline and long sleeves which extended to her finger tips. The A-line skirt extended into a detachable train.

Her shoulder length veil was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a prayer book centered with white pom poms and an orchid tied with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Winfield Hinkley of Grand Gorge, N. Y., was matron of honor. Miss Dee Marie Hinkley, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Rene Steiner Jr. of Rt. 4, Greenville, brother of the bride, and Donnie Everette of Rt. 6, Greenville, brother of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside on Rt. 6, Greenville.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Belvoir-Falkland High School. The bride is employed by Garner, Wynne and Manning, Inc. and the bridegroom is employed by Vermont American Corp.

Share-Expenses Riders Are Covered

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: This is for that person who wrote in to say that anyone who gives others free rides to and from work on a regular basis is a "sucker" if he doesn't charge for the service.

According to my insurance man, a person who drives a car and carries regular type insurance should never accept any money from his riders for transportation, because then he can be considered a "commercial carrier," and in case of an accident the driver's liability is increased greatly.

WISER
DEAR WISER: My insurance experts tell me that if a driver accepts money from his riders on a "share-expenses" basis, and NOT for profit, his liability to his riders is not increased. However, policies differ in different states, so better check yours out with your insurance man, and be sure you understand it. And if you're not satisfied, ask your lawyer to look at it to be sure you are adequately covered.

DEAR ABBY: Should a gentleman walk his date to the ladies' room? And if so, should he wait for her and escort her back to the table?

I have had dates who did, and dates who didn't and I must say I felt "pleasantly pampered" by those who did.

The reason I am asking is this. A friend of mine said if a date ever started to walk her to the ladies' room she would tell him she knew the way, and to please stay put. Who is right?

DEAR CYNTHIA: It all depends on where you are. If the place is crawling with creepy-looking characters, I can understand why you would appreciate the escort service. But in most respectable places, a lady can usually make it to the ladies' room and back on her own.

DEAR ABBY: I howled when I read your column about padded fannies. Women of today who use the various artifices are lucky they weren't born 200 years ago. The following is an excerpt of an Act of Parliament, passed in 1770:

"That all women of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgins, maids or widows, that shall from and after such Act, impose upon, seduce, and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects by the scents, paints, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays hoops high-heeled shoes, bolstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the law in force against witchcraft and like misdemeanors and that the marriage, upon conviction shall stand null and void."

So you see, Dear Abby, there is nothing new under the sun; it pays to be a "researcher."

RESEARCHER
CONFIDENTIAL TO B. L. OF B. B. H.: The answer is yes. And who said it better than Max Nordau?

"It may sound shocking, yet I must say it, we can love several individuals at one time with nearly equal tenderness, and we need not lie when we assure each of our passion."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Year-Round School Moving Closer

Public school operations in Pitt and other counties are moving closer to year-round operations than most people may realize.

A report to the Pitt County Board of Education last week indicated more than 2,400 youngsters are expected to enroll in the six-week summer session planned this year for the county schools. Of these, more than 2,000 will be high school and elementary school students and the remainder will be pre-school children preparing to enter the first grade next fall.

Compared with the county's system's total enrollment of 13,500, the anticipated summer enrollment represents almost 20 per cent. It must be recognized, however, that summer enrollment in summer programs of public schools is continuing its upward trend. It was only a few years ago that just a handful of students were included in the summer programs in public schools. Now, in addition to those who are making up work, there are as many or more students who are seeking advanced work during the summer sessions.

As North Carolina looks to the day when it will have fuller utilization of its public school facilities, it must recognize the pilot program already in existence in many of its school systems. And the public too, as it ponders a 12-month school operation, must recognize that in many respects it already exists in many North Carolina counties.

What is needed is not a completely new system to move into a 12-month operation, but rather an orderly expansion of the programs which already exist in a number of school administrative units. That expansion could take place as rapidly as people of the state desire.

Changing Of The Leadership

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Within a few weeks leadership of the Democratic party in North Carolina will change hands.

It will not be a sudden, abrupt thing bringing about a top-to-bottom overhaul and reorganization overnight. But it will be the beginning of what is called "changing of the guard" which occurs every four years with a new incoming state administration.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

This will happen immediately upon nomination of the party's candidate for governor — either on May 4 or, if necessary, in a second primary in June. In any case, the officially certified nominee for governor automatically assumes titular leadership of the party.

For many reasons, party leadership is more important and carries a heavier responsibility in 1968 than perhaps in any political year since 1960. It can be foreseen now, and will be pointed out in coming weeks and months.

Dual Leadership

For some months — very important politically — there will be a sort of dual party leadership, an overlapping of the present administration and that which expects to take over next January.

In the interim, of course, both must reckon with and contend with the strongest Republican challenge to Democrats in the state in 60 years.

This will not be easy — and most Democratic party leaders are apprehensive.

They feel that factional clashes and disputes could and would hurt the Democrats and serve to aid and abet the GOP's push next fall.

Few Attacks

This is why, with few exceptions, there have been relatively few harsh attacks by Democrats on Democrats this Spring.

The most open and direct, perhaps, was Lt. Gov. Bob Scott's call for a shakeup in higher echelons of the State Highway Department. But even en this was not nearly so strong and cutting as the attacks on the state highway set-up levelled in 1964 by the present highway chairman, Joseph M. Hunt Jr., who was a top political lieutenant for Dan K. Moore during that campaign. Hunt and Moore made the Highway Commission a prime political target. Now Scott is doing the same, in a lower key. One reason may be that Scott's primary opponent, J. Melville Broughton Jr., himself is a former state highway commission chairman. Broughton's political advertising points this out and adds that, by experience, Broughton knows the state's highway needs and problems.

There have been other — sometimes oblique — attacks by Democratic challengers. Examples — Rep. Sneed High's criticism of administration of the State Treasurer's office and Sen. Robert Morgan's criticism of the operations of the Attorney General's office. But personal attacks have been avoided in almost every case.

New Leader

Selecting new state party leadership is also especially significant at this time because it will occur prior to the party's state convention and also the national convention in Chicago in August.

Because of recent developments, the national convention and its choice of a presidential ticket is commanding an increasing amount of political attention and interest. This could be decisive in November on all levels of the ballot.

North Carolina's role in choosing a Democratic presidential candidate almost certainly will be guided to a large extent by the new party leader and his key supporters. The present administration — that of Dan Moore — may also be influential, but whether the party leaders can and will work together remains to be seen.

It is possible that there will be a new state party chairman, a new national committeeman, and other changes in party posts by August. Also, it may develop that North Carolina's delegation will go to Chicago pledged to a "favorite son" candidate who could be Dan Moore. It may also go with agreements to support a certain candidate — probably Hubert Humphrey — provided Humphrey would select former North Carolina governor Terry Sanford as his running mate if nominated.

Daley Determined To Keep Law And Order

It is not surprising that the new "get tough" order of Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley has brought sharp, mixed reaction from around the nation. The same kind of reaction was evident in the wake of a similar "get tough" order to police of Miami a number of weeks ago.

Mayor Daley's order to police of his city to "shoot to kill" to stop arsonists, and to "shoot to maim or cripple" to stop looters are extreme to be sure. But his city faces extreme difficulties in preserving civil order and protecting the lives and property of its people. Obviously the mayor hopes his new orders will prevent a repeat of the recent riots which cost 11 people their lives in Chicago and also left more than $10 million in fire losses in their wake.

That Mayor Daley is determined to uphold law and order in Chicago, there can be no doubt. And the preservation of law and order in any community is not a racial issue. A breakdown of law and order threatens the lives and property of all citizens of a community regardless of race or color.

We join with those who hope Chicago police will not find it necessary to shoot to kill or maim arsonists or looters in that city. Yet Mayor Daley is more to be commended than condemned for moving with the full authority of his office in an effort to preserve law and order in Chicago and to protect the lives and property of its citizens.

North Carolina Rep. Nick Galifianakis, who along with the rest of the North Carolina delegation opposed the open housing bill, warned that "passage . . . is no panacea for this nation's problem." He added that its passage will "give false hopes to our people."

He pointed out that individuals may still sell their homes to any individual of their choosing. It is only when the houses are placed on the open market that the provision can be enforced.

We certainly agree that this is no time for a hoax. We are on record as believing the right to sell to whomsoever one chooses is the bedrock of property rights under the Constitution. After all, the right does apply to minority groups as well as to the majority group. But we are as opposed to discrimination under pressure by community groups. The critical point is now, however, whether the federal government is promising something it can't in practicality deliver. It is certainly no time to use semantics in America.

Congress Isn't Ready To Rush

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's decision to delay indefinitely his address to Congress on a program dealing with the racial crisis is largely a reaction to political realities.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has made clear that Johnson would have trouble winning approval of massive new spending programs when budget cutbacks are being pushed in line with efforts to raise taxes.

But some Congress members, including Republican Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Charles H. Percy of Illinois, as well as GOP Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, have criticized the "business as usual" attitude that sees Congress taking its regular Easter recess.

Actually, the House is taking much more of a holiday than the Senate, which returns to work today with major measures on the agenda such as the school breakfast program, military procurement and the anti-racket bill.

While House leaders insist they can only schedule business as fast as committees approve bills, the fact is that three- and four-day-a-week sessions cut down the time committees can have enough members present to meet.

In this atmosphere, the major effect of a Johnson speech to Congress would probably have been a psychological one, to get action on parts of his program pending in committees.

But there are signs that Congress is becoming more receptive to the need for programs aimed at helping the poor in urban slums and rural areas.

One is the House vote on the open housing bill, particularly the surprisingly large amount of support from younger Republican congressmen who represent predominantly white suburban districts.

It is this group which has frequently in the past year determined the outcome of fights over urban measures, helping for example to put over funds for the model cities program while sharply cutting back on rent supplements.

In the Senate, meanwhile, a bipartisan coalition handed the "establishment" a rare setback in rejecting a compromise money bill that cut funds for the impacted areas school aid program, summer jobs and the preschool Head Start program.

While some rural oriented members joined in providing the 54-24 majority because of opposition to the impacted areas cuts the vote is significant as the first since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the resulting riots.

Even if the House wins the fight and the extra money is eventually eliminated, it will have been put on notice that the Senate is not going to follow demands for economy to the point of neglecting critical areas.

The mechanism of the electric clock has suggestions that we can transfer over into the moral and spiritual life.

If the electric clock is set right in the beginning, it will always keep accurate time. In fact, the electric light company is said to speed up its dynamos or reduce their speed once every twenty-four hours in order to make the time of all electric clocks second perfect. The only circumstance under which the electric clock ceases to function accurately is power failure.

Now take these circumstances and apply them to the moral and spiritual life. In the first place, the electric clock has to be set accurately. Our lives have to have what might be called proper orientation if they are to function in a satisfactory manner. We have to have faith which looks up to God. We have to have humanity which extends helpful thoughts and a helping hand, if necessary, to a needy world.

Every one of us has a philosophy of life whether he or she is conscious of the fact or not. Our lives have a set to them.

The second thing of interest about the electric clock is that it is regulated from the source of power once every twenty-four hours. God will keep regulating our lives if we have a power hook — up with the divine. We shall be guided, restrained, impelled toward righteous and helpful living. But if all depends on whether or not we are kept in constant contact with God, the source of all spiritual power.

A DISCONCERTING GAUNTLET!

ART BUCHWALD

Bobby Grabbed O'Brien

WASHINGTON — When the looting in Washington started last week, the first thing Bobby Kennedy did was throw a brick through a White House window and steal Postmaster General Larry O'Brien.

This left President Johnson without a postmaster general for the rest of his term.

It is not generally known, but President Johnson's one ambition before leaving the Executive Mansion is to save the United States post office. And so when O'Brien was looted Mr. Johnson called in Marvin Watson, his loyal White House aide.

"Marvin, I've been watching you lately and the thing I admire most about you is the way you handle the mail."

"Thank you, sir. I was a four-letter man at college."

"No jokes, Marvin. You heard, of course, that Larry O'Brien is no longer with us."

"Yes, sir. I saw him going over the fence during the riots, but I decided not to stop him."

"Why not, Marvin?"

"Well, you said to stop people trying to get into the White house, but you didn't mention anything about stopping people trying to get out."

"I see. Well, Marvin, O'Brien's departure has left us with a big hole in the post office. We have a billion-dollar deficit, and I was hoping Larry could make it up by January."

"I thought he was going to sell the post office," Marvin said.

"The only one who made a bid on it was Howard Hughes, but he said he wouldn't take it unless we sold him Arizona and California at the same time. He figured the two would go nicely with Nevada."

"I feel sorry for the poor sucker who would have to take over the post office at this time."

The President didn't say anything.

"Mr. President," Watson said, "what are you looking at me that way for?"

"Marvin, when I leave this place I want to go down in history as the President who saved the United States post office. I want people to say Lyndon Johnson was willing to sacrifice his political career to give every man, woman and child in this country a ZIP code. I want them to say that neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night kept the President from making his appointed rounds."

"That's beautiful, Mr. President," Watson said writing it down for his future book.

"I have selected you, Marvin," vin. to be the new postmaster general. By appointing you, the country will realize that I consider the postmaster general's office above politics and that I am truly searching for a just solution to our junk mail crisis."

Watson was terribly moved. "Mr. President, you know I'm willing to serve you in any capacity you ask. I shall take on the job, and if I can't save the country a billion dollars in the next seven months, I'll resign in January."

"I knew you'd do it, Marvin. The country will never realize the debt they owe to you. If you can do nothing more than keep the hippies from delivering mail in San Francisco, it will be a step in the right direction."

"Don't worry, sir, I've got some definite ideas on what to do. For a start we could put in a mail cover on Kennedy headquarters, then we could . . ."

"Marvin," the President said, "we've got to stay out of politics. A postmaster general must remain neutral in word, thought and deed."

"I guess you're right, Mr. President," Marvin said sadly. "Well, could I at least jam their postage meter machine?"

We certainly agree that this is no time for a hoax. We are on record as believing the right to sell to whomsoever one chooses is the bedrock of property rights under the Constitution. After all, the right does apply to minority groups as well as to the majority group. But we are as opposed to discrimination under pressure by community groups. The critical point is now, however, whether the federal government is promising something it can't in practicality deliver. It is certainly no time to use semantics in America.

Congress most assuredly has moved quickly in behalf of Negro interests following the cruel death of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The House passed and sent to the President Wednesday a civil rights bill that promises, surface-wise at least, to remove racial barriers in 80 percent of United States housing. The Senate, meanwhile, refused to back down on its demands for $75 million for summer jobs for the poor and $25 million for Head Start, a pre-school program for poor children.

The real test is the application of such relief.

North Carolina Rep. Nick Galifianakis, who along with the rest of the North Carolina delegation opposed the open housing bill, warned that "passage . . . is no panacea for this nation's problem." He added that its passage will "give false hopes to our people."

He pointed out that individuals may still sell their homes to any individual of their choosing. It is only when the houses are placed on the open market that the provision can be enforced.

Hawkins Cites Tobacco Tax Basis To Growers

Washington Students Give Their Reaction To Rioting

WASHINGTON (AP) — "How many people are going to die before the world is quiet?" wrote a Negro youngster in a Washington school shortly after the slaying of Martin Luther King and the wave of slum violence that followed.

"The riots helped me because I could go downtown and get clothes and precious rings and toys," wrote another, recounting the three days of burning and looting that broke out in Washington two weeks ago.

"Will there be another leader?" asked another.

Their themes and thousands of others assigned by public school teachers here, where 9 to 10 pupils are Negroes, mirrored frustration at King's assassination, frustration mixed with satisfaction concerning the riots.

The youngsters put their thoughts on paper after Mayor Walter E. Washington expressed the hope that the schools not let an event of such significance to the city slip by without somehow relating it to life in the classroom.

Mary Lea Sherburne, a teacher who led the writing project after the capital rioting ended, said the themes were assigned to youngsters in grades 3 through 8.

"If I had to generalize on everything I read, it really is that this has been quite an emotional experience for all these children and it has brought them face to face with a lot of issues that they are just as unprepared to meet as our society is," she said.

A child's view of a home in flames might be expected to reflect horror in more peaceful communities. In Washington the reaction the hundreds of slum fires ignited earlier this month included these comments from the pupils:

"Would you like to live in a house that's old and ugly?"

"The paint can be peeling on your house for years and no matter what you say the landlord won't do anything about it."

"Rats and roaches were burned up with those old buildings."

But other children said the violence accomplished nothing.

"My ma told me they think they're hurting whites by rioting but they're really hurting colored because it's colored people who are out of jobs when they burn the stores," one pupil wrote.

Another said: "Now they have burned people out of their homes and they have burned our closest means of getting clothing and food. And now some of the same people who were looting and robbing have to go right back to the white man for food, shelter and clothing."

Another youngster expressed a different view: "It isn't true that the whole world loved Martin Luther King. A white man shot him and they haven't caught him yet."

Two Tar Heels Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Tuesday released the names of 44 more servicemen who have been killed in action in Vietnam, two of whom were from North Carolina.

Sgt. Rodney H. Koehne, whose wife Jackie lives at 4906 Cumberland Road, Fayetteville, was listed as killed in action.

The status of Pfc. Lawrence W. Eller, previously listed as missing, was changed to that of killed in action. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Eller of Rt. 1, Ferguson.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

His audience was mostly tobacco growers, but Dr. Reginald Hawkins reiterated Tuesday night that if elected governor of North Carolina he would seek a state tax on tobacco products.

"If we can put a tax on necessities, we can put a tax on luxuries," Hawkins told a dinner meeting of the Rockingham Farm Bureau at Reidsville.

Farm leaders generally have opposed proposals that cigarettes and other tobacco products be taxed by the state.

The Negro candidate was the only one of the five candidates for governor who accepted invitations to the Reidsville meeting. Hawkins' two opponents for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Mel Broughton and Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, were represented by campaign workers.

Hawkins has advocated a tobacco tax and whisky by the drink as two measures to increase revenue which he would earmark for education. He also proposed Tuesday night some reorganization of the State Department of Agriculture to further aid in the education of farmers. Scott, meanwhile, campaigned in the Salisbury area Tuesday night and closed a 12-hour campaign day by attending a bar-becue-dance that attracted people from 15 counties.

In a speech at Catawba College earlier, he reiterated his plea for a shakeup in the top echelon of the State Highway Department, saying control over roads has been removed from the counties and highway districts.

Scott also renewed his pledges to raise teacher salaries and initiate a public school kinder-garden program if elected. The third Democratic candidate, Broughton, visited Greensboro and proposed a program of strengthened laws against rioters and increased job opportunities by additional education for unemployed and underemployed persons.

Broughton's campaign day also took him to a farm machinery firm in Tarboro where he greeted some 500 workers. He also visited with department heads of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Rep. Jim Gardner, one of the two Republican candidates for governor, said Tuesday that the governor should have the veto power and the right to succeed himself in office.

During a campaign swing through Catawba and Caldwell counties, Gardner also said that a special session of the legislature to consider emergency anti-riot measures was not necessary because "we have the laws, let's enforce them," Broughton had suggested such a session.

Gardner's opponent in the May 4 GOP primary, Jack

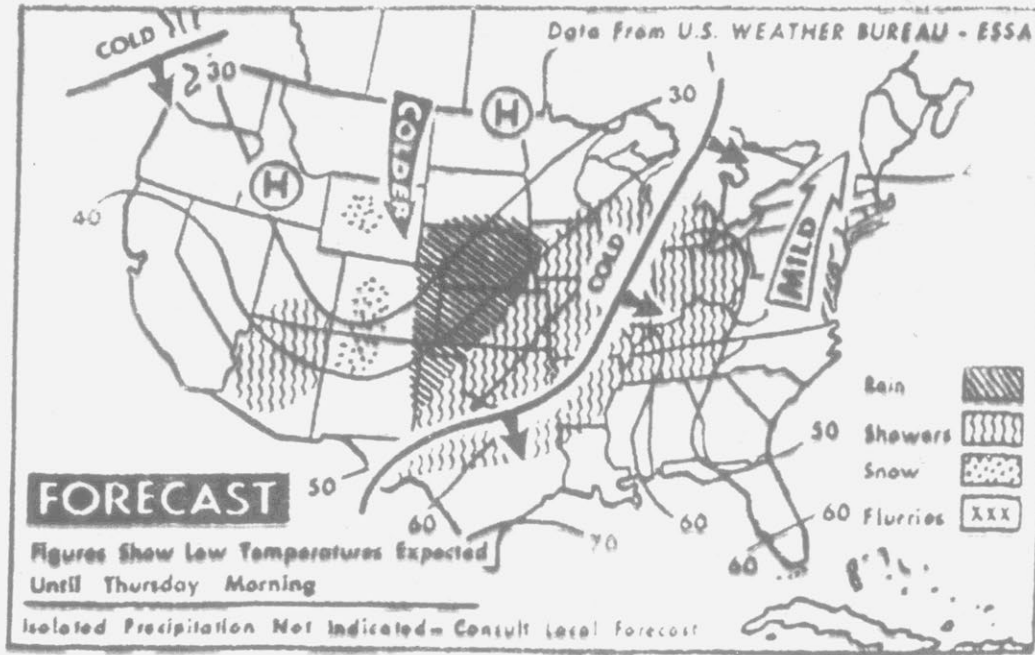

Stickley of Charlotte, was to visit Southern Pines today and give a policy statement on his proposals for the economic development of the state.

Stickley said the state's per capita income must be raised and "to do this we must first increase our low-average factory wages" through diversified industry.

"Over the past years," he said, "the state has succeeded in bringing in new industrial jobs ... partly by picturing North Carolina as a low-wage state and they have attracted additional low-wage industry," Stickley said.

He advocated establishment of a "more diverse, more progressive industrial system" based on quality rather than quantity plus improved vocational education programs and expansion of community colleges.

Stickley also suggested that the State Conservation and Development Board be split into three separate and distinct entities — an economic development commission and a department of tourism.

Navy Is Rushing ZAP Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is moving swiftly toward production of a new weapon nicknamed the Zap missile to bolster U.S. capabilities for beating down North Vietnamese antiaircraft guns.

Zap is an acronym for zero antiaircraft potential. Details of the missile's planned capabilities are closely guarded but work is far enough along that officials are being allowed to discuss generally its mission.

The Zap, sources said, will be a solid-fueled "hypervelocity" rocket that will fly at speeds around 2,000 miles per hour and detonate with shattering effect over enemy flak sites.

Within two years the missile is expected to go aboard Navy fighter-bombers and may also be used by the Air Force.

Industry expectations are that production of the Zap will soar to several hundred thousand per year by about 1972 with annual spending of about $50 million.

"We will be able to just plaster the ground with this thing," one officer said.

Zap will have a conventional explosive warhead of unspecified size designed to go off just before it hits the ground with a special high-fragmentation effect.

The weapon's fantastic speed is critical to the mission.

With Zap the pilot of a 1,400-m.p.h. Phantom jet, for example, will be able to launch his weapon almost point-blank at an enemy target while zooming at supersonic speeds.

With what sources called the missile's "instantaneous acceleration" there will be no danger the pilot might overtake his own weapon in flight. Instances of planes being shot down by their own missiles have occurred.

At the same time, with Zap's new dispersing warhead the pilot won't have to be too concerned with precise targeting.

Looking at it from the standpoint of a Navy pilot assigned to knock out antiaircraft sites in advance of a bombing raid, the officer explained:

"You'll be beating down the flak not only for the boys behind you, but for yourself."

Sea Trials End For Nuclear Sub

MIEGLER ADDRESS
Dr. Elizabeth H. Miegler of the East Carolina University German faculty is scheduled to speak to the Farmville Junior Woman's Club Thursday night. Dr. Miegler, a native of East Germany who joined the ECU faculty last fall, will show slides and discuss various aspects of her homeland. Her visit is part of the club's observance of International Relations Month.

They Take A Dim View Abroad Of America's Violence, Lawlessness

LONDON (AP) — The Americans' greatest fault is "an undue tolerance of violence," a Briton declares, and a Japanese man says he is puzzled as to why the United States does not outlaw possession of firearms.

After the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the widespread disturbances that followed, an Associated Press survey showed a number of foreign commentators upset by violence in the United States and its possible repercussions overseas.

Paul Johnson wrote in the British left-wing weekly New Statesman: "The Americans are themselves to blame for their predicament."

"The motiveless brawl—I can beat any man in this bar—is the basic national joke and is played, with variations, at a thousand cocktail parties in respectable suburbs."

"Only in America will you see two middle-aged, $50,000-a-year executives taking off their coats and rimless specs and squaring up for a bout of fisticuffs."

"Only America would tolerate an organization like the National Rifle Association—perhaps the most powerful lobbying agency in the world—whose chief function is to frustrate firearms control legislation, which it does with brilliant success."

Writing to the Tokyo newspaper Asahi, Rokusuke Arai, 58, an office worker, said, "American leaders certainly are aware of the fact that civilized society cannot condone a situation that permits the use of lethal weapons to kill in broad daylight."

He mentioned the assassinations of King and President John F. Kennedy.

L'Humanite, the Communist newspaper in Paris, said "the tanks, the machine guns, the paratroops thrown into operations of civil war in Washington, Chicago and a dozen other cities can restore the racist order for a time, but they are impotent to resolve the real problems."

The Gaullist newspaper La Nation said that if someone had "wished to weaken America from inside at the instant when the chief executive had just made a decision with important international consequences, he could not have done better than to assassinate Dr. Martin Luther King."

In Britain, the conservative Evening Standard said: "The whole world is involved... If this (United States), one of the twin pillars of the world power structure, should collapse, severing its alliances, leaving a sinister vacuum in Europe and Asia, the consequences are terrible to contemplate."

Concern also arose about negotiations for preliminary talks between Washington and Hanoi. The Daily Express of London said: "The Americans make a mistake when theyicker too long over where the first meeting with the North Vietnamese is to be held."

"It is hard to square the lengthy maneuverings over the preliminary Vietnam peace talks with President Johnson's offer last year to meet Hanoi's representatives 'any time, anywhere,'" said the Guardian, also British.

The West German news magazine Der Spiegel featured a story this week on Johnson's efforts to unite the American people and create a "great society" of equal and happy Americans. But, it said, "for the Americans and for the world, Lyndon B. Johnson embodies the decay of the world power America... His policy disrupted the people as never since the Civil War a 100 years ago."

It added: "The chief of state cannot any more move freely in his own country. Johnson has to slip through back doors into the curtained car because everywhere the Vietnams are 'slaughterers of children' and 'war criminals'."

Columbus-Day Caper Struggling In House

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around the House Judiciary Committee they call it the Columbus Day caper and if it succeeds, four national holidays will provide three-day weekends each year.

A bill calling for the observance of Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Veterans Day and Columbus Day on Mondays has been approved by the committee. But don't pack that weekend bag yet.

A favorite of the business community, which thinks it would make for more efficient work and production schedules and less absenteeism—and strongly backed by the travel agencies and airlines—the bill hasn't stirred much enthusiasm among the general public.

And it has aroused surprisingly strong opposition from patriotic societies and veterans organizations with an interest in a specific holiday, and church groups with an interest in Sunday church attendance.

They've expressed fears that regular three-day holidays would lure people into unpatriotic and impious endeavors on those occasions.

Such opposition pretty well scuttled the original Monday holiday bill before the committee last year. When the first session of Congress ended, only Memorial Day remained in a bill that would have also moved Washington's Birthday, Independence Day, Veterans Day and Thanksgiving to Monday.

It was then that Rep. Robert McClellan, R-Ill., chief sponsor of the bill, discovered Christopher Columbus.

For years Americans of Italian descent have cherished the idea of a national holiday commemorating Columbus. And for years Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., a senior judiciary committee member, has introduced bills establishing such a holiday.

Many states observe Oct. 12 as Columbus Day but the bills for a national holiday never got anywhere. They served mainly to stir counter campaigns by Americans of Scandinavian stock for a Leif Ericson Day in honor of the man they are convinced discovered America.

Rather than try to legislate history and reluctant to impose two new holidays on the nation, Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., kept the Columbus Day bills well bottled up.

Then one day McClellan looked at Rodino. Rodino looked at McClellan. And a new bill was born.

With Rodino delivering the Democrats who have large Italian blocs in their districts and McClellan lining up the Republicans, Celler was outmaneuvered and the bill was approved last month.

It would fix Washington's Birthday on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October. It would apply only to federal employees unless states enacted similar legislation.

But chances are that without strenuous lobbying by its backers, the bill man not get much further. And if it should get to the floor, Leif Ericson's friends are sure to be waiting.

PTA Election Slated Thursday

The Parent-Teacher Association of Wahl-Coates School will hear a music program by the school's fifth and sixth graders and will elect officers for next year at the final meeting of the current school year this week.

Retiring president Dr. Donald Tucker said the meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 18, in the cafeteria of the school, located in the basement of McGinnis Auditorium.

The program of music, under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Beach, will feature the Sixth Grade Chorus and the Fifth Grade Recorders.

Dr. Tucker said full slate of officers for 1968-69 will be presented to the membership by the nominating committee.

Would Permit Routine Removal

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A law professor suggests amending statutes to permit the routine removal of vital organs after death for transplant into living persons. Jesse Dunkeminier of the University of California at Los Angeles told a news conference that such removal should be automatic unless the patient objects before death or if family objects afterward. He is a member of a committee named by the Los Angeles County district attorney to draft laws regulating organ transplants.

Modern Center 'Down Under'

SYDNEY (AP) — Plans have been drawn up for a $28 million (U.S.) shopping complex, with an 850-foot tower, in the heart of Sydney.

Work on the project, now before the Sydney city commissioners for approval is scheduled to begin in 1970. It should take four years to complete.

Announcement of the scheme by the Australian Mutual Provident Society, an insurance company, was received with great enthusiasm by citizens, newspapers and government officials.

AMP, which said it would have a majority interest, announced the plans which, in addition to the tower, provide for a 15-story building with four floors for 220 retail shops and 11 floors of offices. The slender tower will have a four-floor "knob" at the top containing a revolving restaurant and other tourist facilities, a communications center, TV, radio and other electronic equipment.

The scheme, planned for a 70,000 square foot site, provides for overhead and underground pedestrian-crossings.

At 850 feet the tower would be 134 feet shorter than the Eiffel Tower in Paris. The world's highest tower in Moscow is 1,680 feet.

Newspapers said the development should lure shoppers back to downtown Sydney.

A Snake Makes The Social Scene

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Peter the Python, missing for four days in Newspaper House, Port Elizabeth has been found!

Eastern Province Herald sub-editor Ian Harvey brought the python with him to work one night. "He's only a baby—he won't harm anyone," he assured dubious staff members.

When it was time for Harvey to take Peter home, Peter was missing. Every drawer and cupboard was turned out without success.

For four days social editor Mrs. Elizabeth Foster sat interviewing the city's socialites in her newly painted office. She, like every other journalist on the second floor of Newspaper House, wondered whether Peter the Python was watching her from a dark corner.

One day she returned late with a friend, Mrs. H. Toon.

"What a beautiful creeper plant," said Mrs. Toon.

Then she added in a startled voice: "Good heavens, is that a snake?"

It was Peter, clinging happily to the creeper and obviously quite at home. A telephone call brought owner Harvey to the office within three minutes.

"Poor Peter," he said, curling the two-foot python around his arm. "What have they done to your skin?"

"Poor Peter" was splashed with blobs of white paint.

Improved Educational TV Fare Set This Fall

By GARVEN HUDGINS
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Educational television has been around for 15 years. But examples of fare offered so far have been marred by a lack of professionalism and by restrictions in time allotted to such programming.

All that may change this fall with the introduction of a new, multimillion dollar television schedule for preschool youngsters designed to run five days weekly for 26 weeks.

Politicians Taking Television Lessons

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — "Television is a basic tool of today's politician," says John Shepherd, a speech professor at the University of Oregon. "Practically every candidate—from dog catcher on up—will find that television is going to play some part in his campaign."

One recent weekend, 20 Oregon politicians gathered in the University's television studio to watch Shepherd and his staff present a two-day cram course in the things candidates should know before they go on TV.

There were Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives, men and women, old-timers and political newcomers, incumbents and challengers.

They made spot announcements and political talks and participated in discussion programs. Later they watched and criticized each other's performances on video tape.

The camera was revealing. The candidates quickly spotted flaws in their own and in the others' presentations.

"Your voice dropped off at the end."

"You're too nervous. Relax."

"You forgot to give your name."

"You talked too softly," a colleague said after watching the replay of a spot announcement made by State Sen. Harry Boivin, D-Klamath Falls. "That's not the way you sound in Salem."

"Is that me?" asked one lady lawmaker after watching her tape. "That sounded stupid. I wouldn't vote for anybody who sounded like that."

"The camera won't show anything that wasn't there to start with," Shepherd explained. "The camera doesn't lie but it does enlarge what it sees."

"For example, if you pick your ear at a public meeting, not many people will notice it," he said. "But try that on a closeup TV lens and that action will be magnified and misinterpreted far beyond its true importance."

"On the other hand," Shepherd explained, "the camera will enlarge any good aspect of your delivery. It works both ways."

He offered other practical advice:

"Look right into the lens and talk to it as an individual. There's really no such thing as a mass audience. When you're on TV it's a one-to-one relationship."

The candidates not only appeared in front of the camera, they worked behind them, too in order to get a feel of the equipment.

"We know you never will have to be an audio man," Shepherd said, "but as a politician who is paying for his own TV time, you should know what each piece of equipment can and cannot do."

"That way, when you go to a station to tape a spot, you can get exactly what you want."

be in color, on some 140 non-commercial television stations throughout the country. Selected commercial stations may also be involved.

Each show, which will be designed to present sound educational material in a lively manner for preschoolers, will cost about $30,000. The project, backed by the U.S. Office of Education, the Carnegie Corporation and the Ford Foundation, is expected to cost between $6 million and $8 million.

"The object," says R. Louis Bright, associate commissioner for research in the U.S. Office of Education, "is to make these programs as professional as possible with the best curriculum we can obtain."

The end result, hopefully, will be to stimulate the intellectual and cultural growth of young children, particularly those from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Television professionals will work in partnership with educators, psychologists and child development specialists to produce the programs, Bright said.

The new educational experiment is only one of many innovations developed by the Office of Education's Bureau of Research.

Once a repository for hard-to-remember statistics, the U.S. Office of Education today gives enthusiastic support to research and experimentation for the future.

Bright, 43 year-old electrical engineer and specialist in educational technology, believes there are fascinating new vistas ahead for education through

Five Schools Built In Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Los Angeles County report on construction in the Watts section of Los Angeles since the 1965 riots says that five schools have been built at a cost of $24 million, additions to 15 other schools schools have been completed at a cost of $13.6 million and additions to 74 more schools are under way or assured of funds at a cost of $55.6 million.

technology.

For example, Bright points to a high school computer vocational program to train students to take advantage of the numerous job openings in computer technology.

"We have found through studies," Bright says, "that every high school student can have a chance to avail himself of computer training services."

This year, the Bureau of Research in the Office of Education has launched a demonstration system for the establishment of computer training services which will involve 100,000 students by 1970.

"Present studies indicate schools will be able to incorporate this system for approximately two per cent of the school budget," Bright says.

Under the program, computers will be used by students as a tool in problem solving—and by schools to keep track of student

"A student will be able to and paper," Bright says. "For example, calculating interest payments on items bought on time is very complex when you work it out on paper. But a computer enables a student to solve much more realistic problems than he could with a pencil. He can also deal realistically with complex problems in business administration, mathematics—even literature."

Other innovations developed through Bureau of Research are:

—Individually Prescribed Instruction (IPI) programs, worked out through researchers at the University of Pittsburgh's Learning Research and Development Center, to enable each student to work in his own track. The system involves a detailed diagnosis of the pupil's skill based on constant monitoring of progress. On the basis of student performances written "Prescriptions" are prepared for each student. The teacher serves more as tutor than lecturer.

—Vocational educational training of medical assistants in Phoenix, Ariz., computer assisted instruction in the McComb, Miss., public school district, whereby 21 computer terminals in 13 McComb schools are connected to a computer 1,829 miles away at Stanford University in California for teaching in elementary mathematics, remedial mathematics, modern algebra and symbolic logic, the latter for gifted ninth grade pupils.

—Mexican-American educational programs designed to improve education of the Mexican-American through cooperation of the Migrant Education Center in McAllen, Tex.

—Early childhood education research at the George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn., to discover and apply new knowledge for the improvement of the education of young deprived children.

In education, Bright says, it takes a new idea from five to eight years to go through research and development stages before it is ready to be introduced into the educational system. It takes additional years for the idea to become widely used. This means, says Bright, that programs and facilities needed 15 to 20 years from now should be under active consideration today.

A report to Vepco customers

by John M. McGurn, President, Virginia Electric and Power Company

John M. McGurn

As I report to our stockholders at their Annual Meeting on April 17, 1968, I would like to take this opportunity to make a similar report to you about some of Vepco's plans for the future.

First, let me say that all of us at Vepco are earnestly trying to provide you with the best utility service possible at the lowest cost practical. And we realize that we have important additional roles in the cultural, economic and social affairs of the areas we serve.

Many of our programs are quite exciting. Some are simply straightforward attempts to solve the nagging problems of the past.

Customer Inquiry Service

One of our major problems is to more promptly and effectively solve "your problem." Too often in the past, when you have had a problem or a question regarding your account or your service, it has taken us too long to give you an answer. To correct this, we are installing a system using computers and Electronic Data Processing, called Teleprocessing, which will give instant information on your record and account.

A pilot operation has been installed at Fredericksburg, which has speeded up the handling of customer inquiries there. Basically, the system allows the Vepco service operator, at the flick of a switch, to have the entire history of your account projected on a small television screen in front of her. This will give her an up-to-date status of any request for new service, change of service, billing information, etc., and hopefully answer your question or solve your problem quickly, courteously and efficiently. We plan to extend the Teleprocessing System to the entire Vepco service area.

Don't be timid about calling us.

In the meantime we have added additional telephones and customer service representatives so that it will be easier for you to reach us. In Norfolk and Richmond, for example, we can handle up to 2,500 calls a day. That is 30% more than a year ago.

We know that the object is for you to have to make fewer calls. And we are working on that. But in our rapidly growing area, even with the use of complex computers, mistakes are possible. So, don't be timid about calling us if you think a mistake has been made in your bill. We want to look into it and straighten it out promptly. That's why we recently established a separate group in our Sales Department just to help solve customer problems.

Lower Rates

In these times of increasing prices for practically everything we buy, it is hard to believe that the cost of anything has gone down, particularly anything as essential as electric service. Yet that is exactly what has happened. Despite continuing inflation, we have, under the regulation of the State Corporation Commission, been able to make rate reductions in seven of the last eight years. On a cumulative basis, these rate decreases have amounted to over $41 million based on the use by our customers at the time of the reductions.

We like to make rate reductions and hope to make more of them in the future to encourage increased use of our basic product—electricity. But we are not immune from the forces of inflation which have spiraled at an unprecedented rate in recent months.

We are particularly concerned about the effects of the proposed Federal corporate surtax. In 1964 and 1965 when corporate taxes were reduced from 52% to 48%, we passed on to our customers the entire amount of these tax savings.

Only the future can determine if higher taxes and other price increases will require some adjustment in our basic rates. At this time we can only pledge to you that we will continue to fight inflationary forces on your behalf.

Take a minute and look at the chart below which shows that the average annual unit cost for residential use of electricity has been cut almost in half since 1941 while the cost of everything else (as measured by the official Consumer Price Index) has gone up 126%.

Better Appearance

We realize that efficiency and low rates without respect for aesthetic values would not be enough. In this field, we are actively pursuing a program of blending appearance, function and economics to serve the unique beauty of our service area. We strive constantly to meet the challenge of striking a balance between low-cost, reliable electric service and planning our facilities to harmonize with the local environment. We believe we have made substantial progress, but we know there is still much to be done.

For example, we are one of the leaders in underground distribution in new residential areas; and we support and actively participate in industry research to improve the aesthetic design of utility facilities and to achieve a much-needed technological breakthrough in underground transmission lines. Because we believe that our best appearance is disappearance, we look forward to the day when it is economically feasible for all transmission lines to be buried underground.

The best appearance is disappearance ground. At this time, however, underground installation ranges from 10 to 40 times the cost of conventional lines.

New Power Sources

We continually seek innovations in the generation and transmission of electricity to supply increasing demands and do it more efficiently. With this objective in mind we have undertaken a number of major projects.

In 1966, we completed our Mt. Storm Station (with a generating capacity of over 1,000,000 kilowatts) near the coal mines of West Virginia. A 390-mile, 500,000-volt loop transmission system brings this power to our load centers. This imaginative project enabled our Company to win the industry's Edison Electric Award in 1965.

In 1967, a power pool became operative which links the Vepco system to two large power companies in North Carolina and one in South Carolina. In addition to providing more efficient operation and use of facilities, this pool (called the CARVA Pool) will improve the reliability of our service.

In 1969, the new 694,000 kilowatt addition to our Chesterfield Power Station near Richmond will go in service. This will be our largest coal-fired unit and will supply power to the central Virginia area as well as contribute to the CARVA Power Pool.

In 1971 and 1972 our nuclear power station in Surry County near Jamestown will become operative. One 800,000 kilowatt unit will begin operation in each year at a total cost of over $255 million. The station will generate more than enough power to supply the present peak load of the Tidewater area.

Information Center, Nuclear Power Station at Surry

To inform our customers fully of the great potential of nuclear power, we have built an Information Center near the construction site. The Center is also used to train personnel who will operate the nuclear station. All interested persons and groups are cordially invited to visit the Center and see interesting exhibits and models and get a first-hand look at the most exciting construction going on in Virginia today. Call your nearest Vepco office for directions to the Surry Information Center.

Our plans for additional generating capacity in 1974 were just announced this month. This announcement disclosed our intentions to build a second nuclear generating station. The new station, to be built in Louisa County and called the North Anna Power Station, will have an ultimate capacity of some 4 million kilowatts. The initial unit of the project, which will become operative in 1974, will have a capability of 800,000 kilowatts and will cost approximately 180 million dollars. This includes the entire cost of site development for dam and reservoir facilities which will supply future additional generating units.

That's quite a vote of confidence in the future of Virginia.

Area Development

We work actively and productively in the field of area and industrial development, and the results of our coordinated effort with local and state development agencies are demonstrated by the location, within the past several months, of three new major manufacturing plants with an anticipated investment of some $35 million.

These installations are in addition to the 115 new plants and 96 major plant expansions announced in Virginia in 1967. These industries, like many others before them, were impressed with the natural and geographic features of our service area, as well as the atmosphere of mutual confidence and trust between state government and business that has long characterized Virginia.

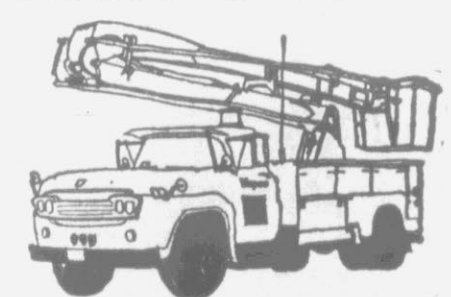

Sales Program

An electric or gas utility is unique in that it requires far greater investment in facilities to provide its service than any other business or industry. The more efficiently and continuously we can use these facilities, then the lower the cost of providing electric and gas service thus keeping our rates at a low level. This is the reason we advertise our products—electricity and, in the Tidewater area, gas, because as you see, in our business, there is no business like more business.

We hold the satisfactory record of having had only one electric rate increase in the last 46 years while rates have been reduced numerous times. This has been possible because, in addition to operating efficiency and improving productivity, we have increased the sale of our products through advertising the benefits of their greater use. Incidentally, if you are an average customer, you use five times as much electricity as you used in 1941.

The Beginning

We will continue to work hard to improve our operating record and our relationship with stockholders and customers. We will continue to make Vepco a solid citizen in every area it serves. We know we haven't solved all our problems. Some sticky ones like inflation, air pollution and overhead lines remain. But we are working on them.

Watch for the white trucks

And we'll improve in little ways that you will hardly notice, like painting Vepco trucks a more pleasing color. We hope the new color will remind you, as it will us, of the changes we are making and the responsibility we have to provide you with the best utility service in the world at the lowest cost possible.

Bucs Bow In 12; Phantoms Roll Over E. City

Wild Pitch Gives Wilmington Victory

Phants Rally For Seven In Sixth Frame To Win

WILMINGTON — Wilmington College completed a two-game sweep with East Carolina University last night, handing the Bucs a 2-1 loss in 12 innings.

It was the third straight loss for the Pirates in a four-game road trip with Pembroke and Wilmington, and left them with a 10-4-1 record overall.

The game developed into a pitching duel between Wilmington's Sanders and East Carolina's Vince Colbert. Sanders went all but the last inning, allowing six hits by the Pirates, while he struck out 10 and walked four.

Colbert, who gave up eight hits, struck out 11 and walked just two. Ironically, he was charged with the loss in the wild and frantic final inning, although it was a wild pitch by his successor, Dennis Burke that allowed the winning run, an unearned one, to cross.

East Carolina, after a brief threat in the first, picked up its only run of the game in the second. Jimmy Lanier led off the inning with a double and was safe at third on an error when he tried to stretch it into a triple. A wild pitch then allowed him to score.

The game was knotted up in the bottom of the third as Askew slammed a homer for the Seahawks for a 1-1 tie. From there on out, it was a game of nerves between the two pitchers, who checked off several attempts at choking out the fateful 12th.

East Carolina had threats in the fifth, sixth, seventh, and 11th but all failed. In all four instances, the Bucs got men as far as second, but never beyond there.

Wilmington, meanwhile, came up with a threat in the fifth, seventh, eighth and tenth before finally scoring in the 12th. Here again, no one managed to reach third base.

But in the 12th, Cuppett, Sanders' relief off with a single and moved to second on a passed ball. Askew singled, moving Cuppett to third, and Colbert came out of the game in the two-game series.

But as Burke faced the first batter, he unleashed a wild pitch and Cuppett scampered home with the winning run, sending the Bucs home winless in the two-game series.

The Pirates now take three days off before returning to action. Their next game is Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. against N.C. State University on the Bucs' home field.

Winterville Routs Chicod

By SONNY McLAHWORN
Reflector Sports Writer

CHICOD—Winterville used a big third inning rally to roll to a 12-2 victory over Chicod's Hornets Tuesday.

The Wolves had to come from behind to win, as Chicod had jumped off to a 1-0 edge in the first inning.

But Winterville collected seven runs in the third and pushed across four more in the fourth to insure a comfortable margin.

The Wolves got only seven hits, but managed to take advantage of six Chicod errors.

Winterville starter Philip Haddock started off in fine style, striking out the first two batters in the Chicod order. But the next batter, Steve Peele walked, stole second and scored on Bobby Edwards' single through the middle. Then the Hornets loaded the bases, but the next man filed out.

The visiting Wolves really got going in the third. Ronnie Potter led off, reaching base via an error. William Manning singled and James Langston walked, loading the bases. Lindsey Godley drilled a single to score Potter and Manning.

Haddock then singled and went to second on the throw in, as two more runs scored. He moved to third on a passed ball and scored when John O'Mary was out on a fielder's choice.

First baseman Karl Sutton and Mark Webb drew free passes. Sutton scored on Kenny Dews' hit and Webb reached the plate. Potter got on by an error.

Potter scored on Manning's fielder's choice, making the count 7-1.

Peele led off in the bottom of the third for Chicod, clubbing a base hit. Edwards' safety advanced Peele to third, where he scored on a wild pitch.

Godley walked to open the fourth inning for the Wolves. Haddock reached base on a miscue. Then Sutton lofted a double to score two runs. Later Sutton scored on Webb's infield out. Dews added another, as he reached base on an error and circled the bases on another miscue.

Godley scored the final Winterville run in the seventh, as Haddock cracked a double.

While the Wolves lacked a solid hitting punch in Tuesday's game, their fielding was good. Winterville committed but two errors, and they were of little consequence.

Meanwhile the Hornets were having their defensive troubles, committing six errors, several of them costing runs.

Buc Golfers Trim Seahawks

East Carolina University's golfers picked up another win as they downed Wilmington College yesterday, 23½-2½.

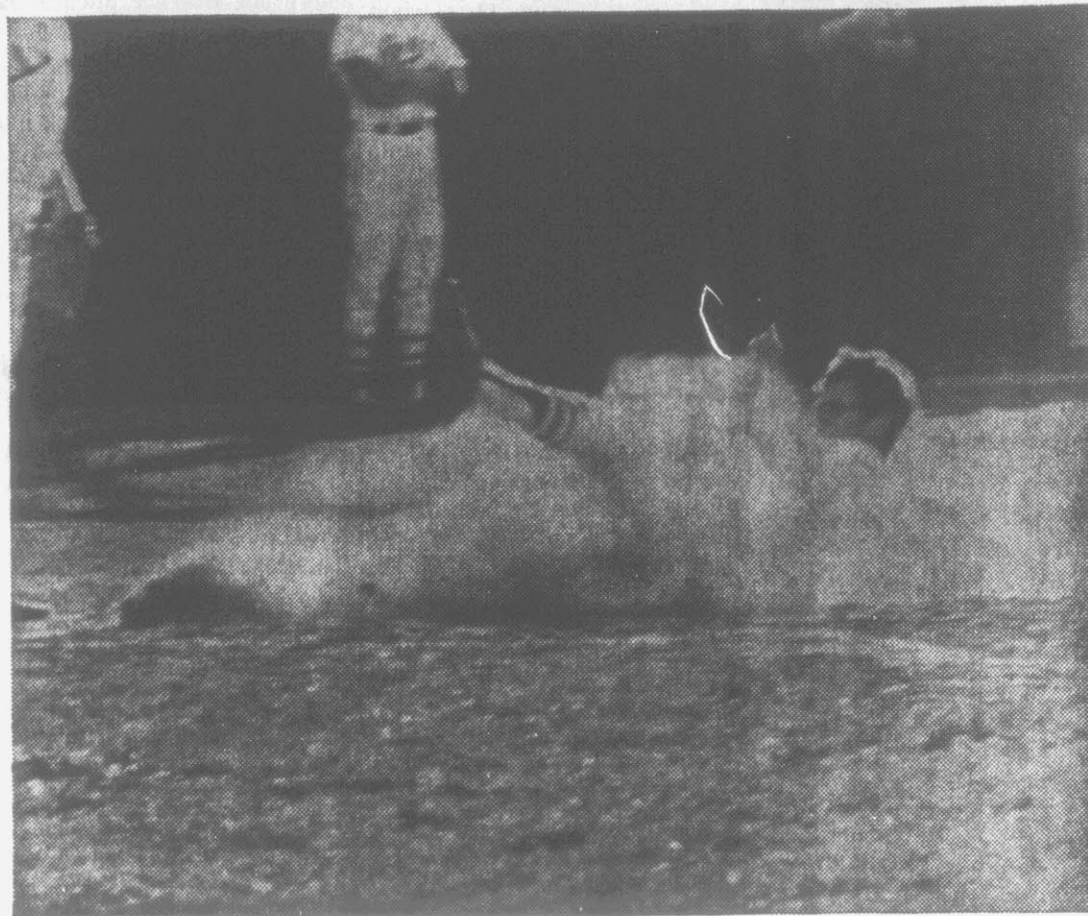

The victory was the sixth in a row for the Pirates since they dropped their opening match.

Medalist for the day was ECU's Marshall Utterson, who fired a one-under par 71.

Summary: Mike Schlueter (ECU) defeated Mike Bergen, 3-0; Mike Allen (W) defeated Mike O'Brian, 3-0; Schlueter-O'Brian defeated Bergen-Allen, 3-0.

Marshall Utterson (ECU) defeated Allen Murray, 3-0; Howard Permar (ECU) defeated Mike Frimenko, 2½-½; Utterson-Permar defeated Murray-Frimenko, 3-0.

Vance Whitaker (ECU) defeated Allen McCracken, 3-0; Vernon Tyson (ECU) defeated Jim Paschal, 3-0; Whitaker-Tyson beat McCracken-Paschal, 3-0.

PHANTOM RUN — Russ Smith slides in safely at home plate with the first Rose High School run yesterday against Elizabeth City. The Phants held a 2-0 lead, only to lose it, but they rallied for seven runs in the sixth to win handily, 9-2. (Reflector Photo)

Pirate Track Team Is Victor Over N.C. State

The East Carolina University track team put together another fine effort yesterday and defeated North Carolina State University, 84-61.

The win was the second straight on the home track for the Pirates. The Bucs took first place in 13 events, while allowing State to take just four.

The Bucs are now 5-1 in dual meets.

The star of the day for the Bucs was Ed Whyte, who won two events, aided in two winning relays, and finished third in another with his career best. One of the events, the long jump, saw another new school record as Whyte hit 23 feet, five inches. He also won the 440 in :49.6, and anchored the 440 and mile relay teams. In the triple jump he finished third, but had his best effort ever, 45 feet, three-quarter inch.

One other school record was set in the event, as Peter Moe surpassed the present mark with a leap of 46 feet, 5 inches.

Summary:

440 relay: East Carolina (Bill Frisbey, Al Peebles, Paige Davis, Ed Whyte), :43.5.

Shot put: Dennis Moody (ECU), Clement (NCS), Dalton (ECU), 49-1.

Long jump: Ed Whyte (ECU), Moe (ECU), Williams (ECU), 23-5.

Mile: Ken Voss (ECU), MacManes (NCS), Carson (NCS), 4:17.0.

Javelin: Harrison (NCS), Holden (NCS), Glover (NCS), 170-11.

120 high hurdles: Jim Cargill (ECU), Curtis (NCS), Yarbrough (NCS), :14.3.

440: Ed Whyte (ECU), Prather (NCS), Davis (ECU), :49.6.

100: Bill Frisbey (ECU), Bell (NCS), Williams (ECU), :09.8.

Discuss: Dennis Moody (ECU) Harrison (NCS), Clement (NCS), 135-0.

880: Gus Thompson (NCS), MacManes (NCS), Hayes (NCS), 1:57.4.

High jump: Dwight Green (NCS), Whitted (NCS), Moe (ECU), 6-4.

Rose High School put together a seven-run rally in the sixth inning yesterday to roll to a 9-2 victory over Elizabeth City.

The Phantoms got standout pitching from Ken Beaman in the contest. Beaman gave up just two hits, walked four and struck out 16. In the first two innings, he struck out the first five men he faced, and after walking two, struck out the next to handle the first six outs himself. In the fourth inning, he managed to strike out four, after one victim reached first after the third strike was missed by the catcher.

But for a while, the Phants had their own troubles in getting hits, and by the end of the first half of the sixth, found themselves in a 2-2 tie.

Rose started the action off in the first inning. Russ Smith walked, and moved to second when a pickoff attempt at first was errored. Russ Cayton singled to left, scoring Smith with the go-ahead run. The Phants threatened to score more in the inning, but were effectively stopped.

After threats in the next three innings were stopped, Rose moved out to a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the fifth. With two out, Cayton singled and advanced to third on Beaman's single. Beaman moved into second when the throw was made in to stop Cayton from scoring.

Ron Leggett hit back to third and the Elizabeth City player elected to try and get Beaman in a rundown, allowing the run to score. Beaman made it to third, but was later cut down in a double steal.

Elizabeth City then got its first hits off Beaman in the top of the sixth. With one out, James Sawyer walked and H. P. Williams singled. Bobby Goodwin singled to score Sawyer and Williams moved to third.

Goodwin then broke for second and allowed himself to be caught in a rundown, allowing Williams to score the tying run.

That apparently made the Phantoms mad as they came storming back in the bottom of the inning. Joe West led off, getting a single and Jimmy Bond walked. Stuart Jones, bunting for a sacrifice, reached safely, loading the bases.

Smith was then hit by a pitch, forcing in West with the go-ahead run. But the Phants wanted insurance and poured it on. David Hahn cracked a single to score Bond and Jones. Cayton got his third hit of the day, driving in Smith. Beaman then collected his second hit, scoring both Hahn and Cayton. West got his second hit of the inning to drive in Beaman and make it 9-2, the final margin.

The victory left the Phants with a 7-2 record. They will play host to Tarboro on Friday in their next outing.

Chips and putts from area golf courses;

BROOK VALLEY

Play is ready to get underway in the Brook Valley Club championships this week.

Pro Harold Thomas announced that 82 women would be competing for the women's title, while a total of 93 men are set for the men's title.

At the same time, the junior championship will also be played.

Ralph Brown of Washington fired a 41 on the front side at Brook Valley this past weekend, then came back with a great 81 on the back side for a par 72.

FARMVILLE C. C.

Play is ready to begin at Farmville in the annual President's Cup Tournament. Jimmy Hillard is the defending champion in the match play tournament.

Pairings for the first round, to be completed by Sunday are: Hillard vs. Allen Benfield, Joby Griffith vs. Emile LaCoste, Jack Connell vs. Richard Harris, Roy Memborn vs. Bert Watkins, Chester Outland Jr. vs. Lamar Oxford, Bud Dail vs. E.R. Allen, John Barefoot vs. M. V. Jones, Gordon Lee vs. P. K. Ewell, J. C. Hillard vs. L. J. Engelhart, Bob Fiser vs. Moses Moye, Adam Corbett vs. H. D. Jefferson, Burt Warren vs. Allen Darden, Frank Allen vs. Joe Joyner, Chester Outland Sr. vs. Alex Corbett, Don Langston vs. John Lewis, and John Taylor vs. Arthur Joyner.

While practicing for the tournament, Roy Memborn dropped in a hole-in-one on the 140-yard sixth hole. He used a four iron for the shot.

GRIFTON GOLF CLUB

George Saleeby knocked in a hole-in-one at the Grifton Golf and Country Club this past weekend. The ace came on the 164-yard second hole as Saleeby used a three-iron. He also got an eagle on the ninth hole.

He was playing with Tom Reiley, John Conley and Herbert Purser.

GREENVILLE C.C.

The Greenville Golf and Country Club is preparing for its annual club championship. Signup date for the tournament will close on Sunday.

Pro Boyd Huff said that matches would be held weekly to determine the new champion, Joe Harvey, the defending champion, has moved from the area, and will not defend his crown this year.

The junior tournament will be played at the same time, and the ladies is also expected to be held during the same dates.

Two other tournaments are planned for the club. On May 5, a Scotch foursome tournament will be held, while on May 14, a Ladies Invitational will be held. In the latter tournament, handicaps will be used, and the field is limited to the first 120 entries. Deadline for the entries is April 23.

Duke Has Pair Of Big Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Duke's baseball team has a pair of important Atlantic Coast Conference doubleheaders this week.

The Blue Devils were to play North Carolina State in two games today and will host a doubleheader in Durham against Wake Forest on Saturday.

Duke was 7-3 over-all and 2-3 in the conference going into today's game. The Blue Devils swept both games of a doubleheader with Virginia last weekend before losing one game in Maryland.

In addition to today's Duke-State doubleheader, the ACC schedule had North Carolina at Florida.

Clemson Coach Bill Wilhelm, now in his 11th season with the Tigers, got his 200th victory with Clemson's 6-5 decision over South Carolina Tuesday. Clemson built up a five-run lead in the first five innings and then held off repeated Gamecock threats.

UMP WITH A CHEST PROTECTOR PROBLEM — Bernice Gera, a housewife and a would-be baseball umpire, dons a chest protector in her Jackson Heights home in New York yesterday, which she says doesn't fit very well. "These things aren't made for women," Mrs. Gera, who graduated from an Umpires School in Florida last year, said she is going organized baseball for the right to be a lady umpire. (AP Wirephoto)

Lady Ump Meets Discrimination

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernice Gera, the Long Island housewife who wants to add a little sex to the national pastime, said today: "The commissioner (Gen. William D. Eckert) refuses even to let me make out an application."

Bernice's lawyer is Mario Biaggi of New York, who said he intends to bring the case first before the State Commission on Human Rights.

"Mrs. Gera has been thwarted and wronged at every turn. She has written to all the proper authorities, taken the necessary steps and received nothing but rebuffs."

Mrs. Gera, wife of a freelance photographer, graduated magna cum laude from an Umpires School last year in West Palm Beach, Fla., the only woman enrolled, and later umpired the National Baseball Congress in Wichita, Kan.

"I didn't have too much trouble," Bernice explained. "The chest protector didn't fit very well—those things aren't made for women. And the players tried to give me a hard time."

Eckert's office acknowledged that correspondence had been received from Mrs. Gera but a spokesman said: "It is a matter up to the league presidents and Ed Doherty in Columbus, who is in charge of umpires' development."

"I'll take it too the Supreme Court if necessary," Bernice said. "It's a violation of the Constitution."

Mrs. Gera said that umpiring is strictly a matter of judgment—not of strength or physical prowess—and a woman can exercise this judgment as well as a man.

Winston-Salem's Dick Jackson came up with a big hit in the Carolina League Tuesday night.

Jackson, who hit only three home runs last season, slammed a pinch-hit home run in the 10th inning to give the Red Sox a 3-2 victory over High Point-Thomasville.

Wilson won a pair of 2-1 decisions from Rocky Mount as Jerry Crame and Butch Heger pitched three hitters at Wilson. Crame struck out six and walked one to win the opener. The Tobs scored their two runs in the third.

In the nightcap, Heger fanned 10 and walked one. The winning run came in the seventh on singles by Herman Hill and Bill Boyce.

Kinston, tied with Wilson for the league lead, won its third straight by defeating Portsmouth's Tides 7-4 at Kinston. Catcher Charlie Sands paced the attack by driving in four runs. He hit a three-run homer in the Burlington exploded for four runs in the sixth and five in the eighth in scoring a 9-3 victory over Greensboro in their season opener at Greensboro.

Two In A Row, Not 12, Briles Says After Hurling Cards Past Braves

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two plus 10 equals 12 to mathematicians and baseball statisticians, but not to Nelson Briles. Not when money is involved, he says.

"I haven't won 12 straight games," insisted the St. Louis hurler, who captured his last 10 decisions in 1967 and ran his record to 2-0 this year by pitching the Cardinals past Atlanta

"It's just two in a row. I already got paid for last season."

Two or 12, Briles' logic failed to impress the Braves as much as his fast ball that stopped the home club with only two unearned runs for eight innings before Joe Hoerner pitched the ninth.

His victory continued the fast getaway of the world champion Cardinals, who moved back into 6-2 Tuesday night.

a tie for first place with idle Houston at 5-1.

Lower in the standings, Los Angeles did some hitting for a change and powered past Philadelphia 5-3 in a night game after Cincinnati outlasted the Chicago Cubs 9-8 in the afternoon in the only National League games scheduled.

In the only American League games, Detroit hammered Boston 9-2, Cleveland judged the Chicago White Sox 3-1 and Oakland tripped the New York Yankees 4-3.

Briles, who received a big pay raise after recording a 14-5 record and one World Series victory last season, appears to have his mind and arm attuned to more victories that add up to more money this year.

The right-hander, who came out of the bullpen and performed sensationally as a starting replacement for injured Bob Gibson in 1967, scattered nine hits against the Braves, who broke through only with the aid of an error.

Briles held a 6-0 lead for 6 2-3 innings before catcher Tim McCarver dropped a foul pop and Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou followed with run-scoring singles. It was not enough to overcome Orlando Cepeda's four hits and three runs batted in and a homer by Mike Shannon off loser Tony Cloninger.

Only a blister on his index finger, the result of throwing his fast ball, kept Briles from finishing.

"I don't like to think about losing at all," Briles said. "All I think about is winning 20 games like any other pitcher."

Mike Kekich, who just turned 23, might also be dreaming of 20 some day, but right now his mind is one No. 1, his first major league victory.

The left-handed rookie pitcher, who lost to Philadelphia in his only other big league start in June 1965, had the Phillies blanked for seven innings before two singles knocked him out at the start of the eighth. Richie Allen singled in two runs off Phil Regan before Hank Aguirre put out the fire after a sacrifice fly by Tony Gonzales.

However, the Dodgers, who have been shut out three times this season and scored only four runs in five games, had broken loose earlier for a 5-0 lead as Wes Parker, Zoilo Versalles and Willie Davis doubled in runs.

Cincinnati had to come from behind after the Cubs scored seven times in the third inning for a 7-5 lead. Lee May climaxed the comeback with his fourth hit, a single that drove in the winning run in the ninth inning. He knocked in two other runs earlier with a homer and a single, offsetting three RBI by the Cubs' Ernie Banks, who double and homered.

Ayden Gets Win Over Bethel Nine

AYDEN — The Ayden Tournament remained in first place in the Pitt County Conference yesterday with a 12-2 rout of Bethel.

Ayden pushed across seven runs in the second inning to insure the victory.

In that inning, Paul Miller led off with a walk, and Curtis McLawhorn reached by interference. Steve Bright walked, loading the bases, Robert Twilley doubled in Miller and McLawhorn and Worth Kinlaw's single scored Bright. Bobby Wilson walked and Alan Wilson hit into a fielder's choice which got Twilley trying to score.

Jerry Gibson's fly ball was error, scoring all three baserunners, and sending Gibson to third. Miller then singled to score him.

Ayden added three more in the third and two in the fourth. Bethel got its two in the seventh.

Miller and David McGlohan combined to hurl a no-hitter at Bethel. Miller struck out eight in five innings and walked none. McGlohan, in the final two innings, struck out five and walked two.

Kinlaw led the Ayden hitting with three. Alan Wilson had a two-run triple in the third.

"NERVE CENTER'S TUNNEL" — Mrs. Joseph Dalton and Mrs. William Coke walk in an underground connecting tunnel of the federal regional center of the office of Civil Defense's "nerve center" in Maynard, Mass. The two-story underground facility is the second of eight such centers to open in the U. The center, 25 miles from Boston, would provide fallout shelter for some 317 government specialists in the event of nuclear attack. (AP Wirephoto)

Civilian Science Studies Are Given Lift By NATO

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
BRUSSELS (AP)

You might not expect to find the Atlantic Alliance fostering scientific investigation of why some girls have hairy legs or how eels migrate from the Sargasso Sea. But the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) has helped these and hundreds of other civilian projects over the past decade, in one of the world's largest international programs.

NATO's Science Committee has $4.3 million to spend this year. Some of its work has a military side; some does not. One of its objects is "to increase common understanding and to forge bonds between the scientific communities in the different countries."

The study on eels is part of a plan for exploring the ocean, which is of great interest to the NATO navies. The study that threw some light on leg hair was conducted on a grant to Prof. Carlo Conti of the University of Rome. It showed that the hair has something to do with the hormones in the outer layer of skin.

There is no ideological prejudice: The universities of Cracow in Poland and Belgrade in Yugoslavia, both Communist-ruled countries, cooperated on a study of cosmic rays with universities in NATO countries. Scientists from Eastern Europe are occasionally seen at NATO technical conferences.

On the strictly military side, a technical center in Holland investigates air, land and sea weapons, offensive and defensive. That costs as much as the Science Committee spends on all its projects put together. Another military center, in Italy, works on warding off submarines. A third studies aerodynamics, which like so many branches of science has both military and civilian applications.

Mapping Mediterranean
So does the oceanography program, under the direction of Prof. Andre Capart, head of Belgium's Royal Institute of Natural Sciences.

It is mapping currents and underwater features of the Mediterranean Sea. The Mediterranean is worrying NATO more and more because the Soviet fleet there is growing.

Capart says the cooperation of NATO countries in oceanography brings much more important results than countries could obtain separately.

"Currents don't stand still," he explains. "You find out more about them when you have seven ships working together at the same time, the way we do."

France is active in this work, despite Charles de Gaulle's coolness to NATO. Sometimes France supplies two research ships where other countries supply only one each. The French also work hard on developing NATO's radar defenses, a job run by a French general.

Spin-Off Discoveries
The oceanographic work produces some incidental discoveries and inventions of value in themselves.

Capart is convinced, for example, that ships using the Mediterranean can save large amounts of time and money by taking advantage of the currents he has mapped. Shoals of fish were detected off Sardinia and southern Spain which could be commercially exploited. Studies of how the currents flow furnished valuable information on where oil refineries should be located to minimize water pollution.

Tracing the eel migration brought a new method of photographing eel larvae—a tricky business since the larvae are mostly transparent. It's done with infrared rays.

Research money is granted for projects in all the branches of science. One project studied how stars are formed. Another collected 50,000 scorpions to examine their venom. A third went into the love life of dolphins.

A French and a Danish scientist observed that the female dolphin takes the initiative in courtship and that at least some dolphins have homosexual tendencies.

Computer Makes Teaching Easier

FREEPORT, Ill. (AP) — Highland Community College here has a computer that prints report cards complete with choice teacher comments.

Dr. Kenneth Borland, president of the two-year college, said the specially-programmed Honeywell 200 computer offers teachers a choice of 28 comments, in any combination of four phrases, such as:

"Doing poorly," "needs extra work in math," "needs to spend more time on homework," "parents are asked to visit teacher."

The computer prints the report cards for Highland's 900 students and for 3,000 local high school students. It also handles scheduling and various administrative tasks.

Insurance Business Requires Stable Society

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The troubled state of American urban society, and the fears of the $200-billion insurance industry, were both expressed in one cogent statement a few days ago by the president of the American Insurance Association.

"No business, including the property insurance business," said T. Lawrence Jones, "can continue to operate in a society where order, reason and confidence do not prevail."

It takes a shocked moment to realize at the statement applies to American society, whose disorders of recent days and months have cost the insurance industry $45 million.

But just as disturbing is the insinuation in Jones' next few words.

"The insurance business alone cannot continue to offer security to property owners," Jones continued, "when these spasms of lawlessness which at times seem to approach insurrection become so widespread and frequent..."

Underline "insurrection," for most insurance policies have clauses that release insurers from liability in the case of insurrections.

Is the industry now flirting with the idea of calling these massive urban riots insurrections? The dictionary would seem to support the industry: "a rising up against civil or political authority."

The question arises, however, as to the consequences of doing so. Someday America will solve its present social problems. The insurance industry then would be badly tarnished if it were written that it failed the challenge.

The history of the industry already is far from perfect. In earlier years it was accused of hiding the facts in fine policy print. It has been accused also of not having used its enormous wealth for social progress.

More recently the auto insurance segment of the industry has been found to be cavalier in cancelling policies. It has denied insurance to servicemen or has placed them in exceptional categories. It has been accused of laxity on safety.

But the evidence now indicates that this powerful industry is truly faced with a dilemma.

The rules of common sense dictate that no industry should suffer big losses on a regular basis. But the American way says also that a free enterprise should adjust to conditions.

Can the industry adjust? The answer isn't clear-cut, but it is obvious that no company can continue to throw its money into the flaming cities without itself coming quickly to a day of financial reckoning.

But if businesses in the inner cities are not offered protection it is obvious that they cannot continue to function, that they may move, and that the core will rot all the more.

WAKE UP RARIN' TO GO

Without Napping Backache
Napping backache, headache and muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets, or everyday stress and strain. If this nagging backache, with restless, sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills — an analgesic, a pain reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache is often the answer. Get Doan's Pills — not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size.

It is equally clear that it would be unfair to spread the costs by raising rates for all insurance purchasers, including those who have a low accident record and prospects of it remaining so.

It doesn't take much imagination either to understand that accidental fires, burglaries, earthquakes, storms and even incidental riots are statistically predictable, based on past records. There is a base for rates.

But, since wholesale riots are not a recurring part of our history, statistics are lacking on which to base future rates. Rates based on the experience of the past two or three years would be extremely high. Rates based on anything earlier than that would be too low.

One answer seems to be in recent efforts.

Legislation now is pending in Congress for the federal government to provide reinsurance, thus giving the industry the confidence to offer policies to those in the very high risk areas. The industry, of course, supports the measure.

Perhaps it is an indication of the enormous problems the nation faces that this industry, which fought government interference of any sort for a long time, now seeks federal aid.

Czech Film Winner Prefers The Stage

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At the Academy Awards last week, a young-looking man accepted the foreign-language award with the faltering words: "I am very happy that Americans like Czech films."

The Oscar winner was Jiri Menzel, and there was good reason for his hesitant delivery: He doesn't speak English. He had learned the single sentence phonetically.

Menzel is 30 and looks younger. Slim and full of boyish energy, he symbolized the amazing vitality that has marked the films of Czechoslovakia in the past two years. His award-winning film "Closely Watched Trains" was a highly personal work; he directed it, wrote the script and played a role.

With such success, you might expect him to be an apostle of film as today's prime medium of expression. Not so.

"I make films so I can make my name and I will be able to work in the theater," he explained. "The theater interests me much more."

Interviewing Menzel is not easy, because of his lack of English. But he expresses himself well in Czech, somewhat less so in French. With the help of an Englishman who knew both, communication was made. The interview was conducted as Menzel was packing his bag at the Beverly Hills Hotel before returning to Prague.

The director admitted that he had seen few films as a boy in the Czech capital. His love even then was the theater, and he aimed for a career as a stage director.

"Happily or unhappily, I was not accepted in the school for stage directors," he remarked. "But I did have a chance to enter the school of film, so I took it."

Menzel studied for four years in the state-operated film institute. "It is not so much a school as it is a group of students who learn and work together," he explained. "There is no student-teacher relationship; we have directors visit us and we talk to them and exchange ideas. We pay nothing to attend the school and we are given an allowance for living expenses."

After graduation, Menzel entered the Czech movie industry, also state controlled. His first assignment was directing one segment of a trilogy. Then he proposed his story of a teen-age boy's coming of age. The film collective allowed him to go ahead with "Closely Watched Trains," and Menzel's reputation was established.

Then he was able to pursue his real love. He has directed three stage plays, including a version of "Mandrill" that has been running in Prague two years. He has also directed another film, "Capricious Summer."

Would he like to direct films in other countries? "No, I don't think so," he replied thoughtfully. "I would rather make the picture in Prague and have it make the money in America."

EUGENE J. McCARTHY

At his New Hampshire campaign headquarters after primary returns gave him 42% of the vote.

Senator Eugene Joseph McCarthy's showing in the first 1968 presidential primary startled members of both political parties and showed strong support from young Americans reacting to the situation in Vietnam.

The soft-spoken senior senator from Minnesota, who was born in Watkins 52 years ago on March 29, 1916, received his BA at St. John's University in Collegeville and became a social science high school teacher for five years.

Receiving his MA at the University of Minnesota, he returned to St. John's to become a professor of economics and education for two years.

He married former high school teacher Abigail Quigley in 1945. One year later, he assumed the position of acting chairman, St. Thomas College Sociology Dept., St. Paul, where he also served as departmental instructor for three years.

In 1948, McCarthy ran for, and won, a seat in the 4th

Congressional District of Minnesota, where he remained for ten years.

He defeated a two-term incumbent in 1958 to win his current seat in the United States Senate.

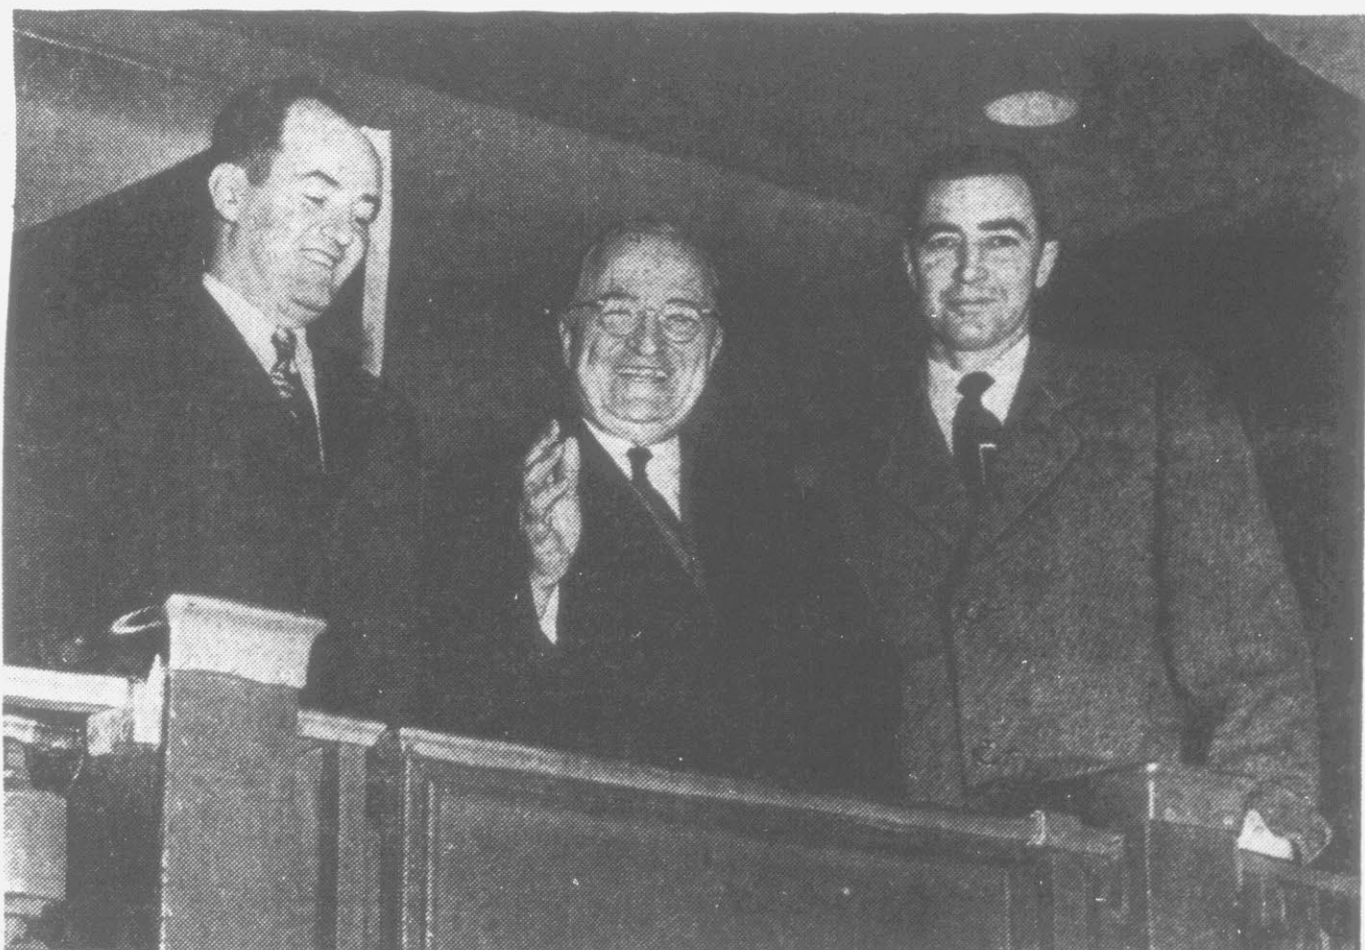

At the Democratic convention in 1960, where fellow Catholic and Senator John F. Kennedy was nominated, McCarthy gave an impassioned speech for Adlai Stevenson. Four years later, having supported the Kennedy-Johnson programs, he watched fellow Minnesotan Hubert H. Humphrey selected as vice-presidential nominee.

In January, 1966, he joined 16 Senate Democrats in advocating a prolonging of the bombing lull in Vietnam. By August, 1967, his dissent had escalated in proportion to the war's escalation.

Now, as an alternative to present administration policies, Senator Eugene McCarthy is offering a challenge, within his own party, to an incumbent President.

Duke University Strikers Say 'No' To Administration Offer

DURHAM (AP) — Striking non-academic employees of Duke University have rejected a four-point proposal offered by the administration and say they will continue their work stoppage at least until 7 p.m. Sunday.

The workers' "vigil" now appears to be centered on demands for recognition of a union to represent them.

The school proposal made public Tuesday in an effort to settle the dispute did not mention union recognition.

The Board of Trustees passed resolutions proposing:

1. An administration committee be instituted to investigate and report promptly on the adequacy of the relationship between the school and the striking workers. A liaison committee also would be formed.

2. Striking employees were invited to return to their jobs with full standing.

3. A pay raise promised effective by July 1, 1968, would be spelled out as soon "as information is available to do so."

4. University resources would be given priority in meeting the requirements of establishing the $1.60 minimum wage rate by July 1, 1969.

The striking workers and their student supporters were to present a detailed reply to the trustees' proposal this afternoon at a rally featuring folk singer Pete Seeger.

Edward McNeill, a leader of the striking workers, said Tuesday night: "We cannot, we have not and we will not accept the trustee vote."

McNeill said the workers will continue to strike until at least Sunday night and want union recognition by the Duke administration.

Student Jack Boger said the trustees' action was "in-

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠ East went all out to uncover the only line of defense to upset South's four spade contract. South opened the bidding with one club and North responded with one diamond. East came in with a vulnerable overall of one heart. Although the opening bidding held no additional values, he decided to avail himself of the economical opportunity available to freely show his spade suit.

With a satisfactory fit now uncovered, the partnership wasted little time in getting to game.

West opened the deuce of hearts and East played the ace. He shifted to the king of clubs in the hope that partner held the ace, in which case East would be in position to overruff dummy on the third round. South turned up with the ace of clubs, however, and he proceeded to ruff out his small heart in order to lead a spade from the North hand.

Altho West had failed to turn up with a high club honor, East had one remaining string to his bow—the possibility that partner held the ace of spades. On the trump lead from dummy, East rose with the king and when it held the trick, he returned the six of clubs.

South was in again and he led the ten of spades. West put up the ace and returned a third round of clubs. East overruffed North's seven of spades with the nine to score the setting trick.

Observe that East ran little risk in putting up the king of spades when that suit is led from dummy—for, after West shows up with nothing in clubs, the only chance to defeat the contract hinges on finding partner with the ace of trumps. If East's play results in declarer's making an extra trick, the cost is slight.

Memphis Sanitation Workers Back On Job

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The city's 1,300 garbage collectors return to their jobs today after settlement of a labor dispute that brought Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to the city where he was killed.

Reagan Studies Rising Support

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says "Obviously, I'm going to try and make an assessment" after hearing a report by a Republican political strategist that there is growing grassroots support across the country for a Reagan presidential bid.

"I'm certainly not going to run away and pretend it isn't happening," Reagan told a news conference Tuesday. He outlined a new speaking tour to the Midwest, South and Hawaii, starting April 26.

A report prepared by F. Clifton White, a former Barry Goldwater aide now advising Republican convention delegates in California, was discussed by Reagan.

"There seems to be an increase in the grassroots movement in my behalf," Reagan said. He said he still considers himself only a favorite son candidate but acknowledged that an approaching tour will make it more difficult to convince people that he is not a presidential candidate.

Reagan said, however, he refuses to "get frightened into staying home and not doing what I can for a cause that I believe is very important because, frankly, I don't believe this country can afford four more years of the lack of leadership that we have had under the other party."

The former actor, in his first term as California's governor, said he would meet with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and three other Republican governors to discuss the party platform.

Reagan will act as host to Rockefeller and Govs. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, John Love of Colorado and John Chafee of Rhode Island at a meeting May 8 in San Francisco.

Grant For Good Neighbor Council

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Good Neighbor Council has received a $15,000 grant from the Richardson Foundation to supplement local funds used to employ human relations directors.

Gov. Dan Moore said Tuesday the money will help hire human relations officials for cities that do not presently have them. Raleigh, Charlotte, Greensboro and Asheville already have directors.

Rocky Mount and Fayetteville have set up director jobs to be filled, Moore said. He added that other towns are considering creating such positions.

The governor also announced that the Appalachian Regional Commission had approved a $231,000 federal grant to help finance the rebuilding of an access road to Wiseman's View, a scenic attraction and recreation area near Linville.

Mourn Death Of Hotel Bellhop

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The South Carolina House of Representatives has unanimously adopted a resolution expressing regret at the death of Ernest T. Redd Sr., a Negro bellboy at a Columbia motel for many years.

State Rep. Isadore Louire of Richland County, author of the resolution, referred to Redd as an "institution... a medium of understanding between the races" who was known by most state legislators.

At 107, He Gives Up On Marriage

CHICAGO (AP) — Cornelius Jones has given up on marriage, but not because he has outlived seven wives and not because he's nearly 107 years old. "I don't think I'm too old to get married," Jones said. "But I just decided I'm not going to ask anyone to marry me."

Jones, an ex-slave, will be 107 Sunday but is being treated by an oldtimers' club to an early birthday party today.

cent of them Negroes, was the mammoth job of clearing streets and vacant lots of refuse accumulated during the 65-day walkout.

All sides cheered Tuesday's agreement, described as a "memorandum of understanding" rather than a formal contract, although some Negro leaders suggested that it came far too late. Others pledged that a battle here for "equality and justice" had just begun.

Under the pact, sanitation workers, now making from $1.65 to $2.10 an hour, will get a 10-cent hourly pay increase May 1 and another 5 cents an hour Sept. 1, along with union recognition and dues checkoffs.

Negro Councilman J. O. Patterson Jr. said this was substantially the same formula approved by the City Council only two weeks after the strike be-

ATTENDS ACU-I MEET

Cynthia Mendenhall, director of the East Carolina University Union, was a delegate to the 45th annual conference of the Association of College Unions-International in Chicago last week. She was chairman for a discussion titled, "Dialogue: Small College Unions."

Abernathy said the settlement marked a step forward, but did not compensate the poor for their financial losses, "nor is it compensation for the loss of our brother and leader, Martin Luther King Jr."

"The city of Memphis has made one step down the long road of economic and racial justice," he said. "This step is not much more than one tiny step because there are still hundreds of poor people here."

Undersecretary of Labor James Reynolds, who joined the negotiations two days after King's death, said the solution was "honorable and proper under the circumstances."

The Rev. James Lawson, who was the chief strategist for the strikers and their sympathizers, declared after the agreement that a new campaign would be directed toward better housing, more jobs and an end to what he said was police brutality.

The Worry Clinic Some Hold Off Death Until Dream Realized

Martha's experience is still a puzzle to psychologists so scrapbook this case. Use it for discussion at Sunday School. And send for the booklet below, for death is always a very lonely thing without God! Though friends may surround you, your final exit is always a solo event, unless you are holding God's hand meanwhile!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-545: Martha D., aged 44, was dying of cancer. Her doctors gave her all the usual hospital treatments but to no avail.

They realized that she was near the end.

She surmised their grave prognosis and demanded to be told exactly how long they felt she would live.

"Maybe one month," was their most optimistic reply.

But Martha's son was in Viet Nam and due to come home in exactly ninety days.

So Martha said she was determined to live till he arrived.

Despite her intense terminal cancer pain (which morphine and other sedatives often will not abolish), and though she became more and more emaciated ever day, Martha still clung to the tenuous thread of life.

On her calendar, which she had the nurse place beside her bed, she faithfully marked off each day with a big red pencil.

She had counted ahead the 90 days till her son was due home and had encircled that date.

Despite all medical evidence to the contrary, Martha did not die at the end of the month nor even after 60 days.

She hung on to life by sheer determination or will power, probably aided by her religious faith and daily prayers.

And she greeted her son on that 90th day!

She cried and thanked God as she patted the boy's head. Then, even as she stroked his hair, she graduated from this earthly classroom in God's Cosmic School System!

"Dr. Crane," you may ask, "how is it possible for a person to let go of life and suddenly die?"

Well, it is difficult to answer that query. But many people have such a powerful will that they can cling to life, as hanging to a rope that dangles over a precipice.

But when they finally decide to let go, they can relinquish their grasp on that tenuous thread of life.

In a previous Case Record, I told you of a friend of my wife's who had vowed she didn't want any of her family to see her when she died.

Her husband routinely stopped at the hospital to visit her each morning on his way to the office, for she was hospitalized with cancer.

He would read the newspaper while at her bedside, but on this special morning she made him lay aside the paper and talk.

Then she reminded him that he was supposed to call a married couple who lived in their block.

He demurred, saying he could phone them after he reached his office.

But she insisted until he finally got up and went out into the hall to a pay telephone.

He briefly delivered her message and wasn't gone more than 2 or 3 minutes.

Yet on his return, his wife was dead!

You may wonder how she knew she was so near the end, for her husband said she seemed as cheerful as ever and no more ill than a week or a month before.

But she sensed that she could die in a minute or two, if only she could get her husband out of the room.

In childhood, she had watched a sister die in agony and thus didn't want to leave that visual image with any of her family.

So she was determined to die alone. And she did!

So send for my booklet "The Logical Proof of God," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents for death is a lonely solo flight without God!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Linking Every Train To Office Of President

HARRISON, N. J. (AP) — If you pick up the telephone some day and hear, "This is the president . . .", you're most likely an employee on one of America's modern railroads.

According to a study of rail roading by the locomotive manufacturing unit of Studebaker-Worthington, Inc., the president—or anyone else—can talk to any locomotive or caboose on the line through microwave transmission.

More than 22,000 route-miles of microwave transmission now exist. This may double in 10 years because the need for rail communication is rising at an estimated 40 per cent a year, says the study.

Microwave transmission, evidenced by the tall towers with dish-like antennas that follow the rail lines, are becoming the new symbol of railroading. These transmitters carry very high frequency radio waves focused in narrow beams that carry conversations from phone to tower to tower to phone again.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets two to three cents lower on large and medium with smalls unchanged Tuesday. Supplies adequate, demand slow to fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 33½¢; medium, whites: 28-28½¢; small, whites: 23-24¢.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued an irregular performance this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

While losses outnumbered gains, the margin to the plus side dwindled from early morning. Meanwhile, weakness in blue chips dragged at the popular averages.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .1 at $23.5, with industrials off .8, rails up .5 and utilities unchanged.

It was a similar performance to Tuesday's, when gains far outnumbered losses but many key stocks were weak.

A drop of about 4 points in Du Pont was a continued reaction to its seven-point spurt of Monday when it responded bullishly to higher earnings.

The list was brightened by a rally in steels. A jump of more than 38 per cent in Republic Steel's first-quarter earnings over the like period a year ago was encouraging to the entire group. The other major steelmakers report later, and investors believed Republic's report a harbinger of future news.

Republic and Jones & Laughlin advanced more than a point each while Bethlehem and U.S. Steel advanced about a point each. Most leading auto stocks were lower, however. Chrysler recovered fractionally from its loss of 1½ Tuesday but Ford was down about a point, General Motors and American Motors fractions.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 3.58 at 903.20.

Another bright spot was Phelps Dodge, which advanced more than a point in response to the surprising news that it made a profit in the first quarter. Investors had expected red ink because of the prolonged copper industry strike. Kennecott and Anaconda gained fractions.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, off a fraction, was prominent in volume because of a block of 122,500 shares.

Xerox sagged about 3 points. IBM lost 1 and Penn Central 2. Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Two File For Alderman Posts

WINTERVILLE — Two men have filed for the position as alderman for the town of Winterville.

The two who have filed are A. Franklin Branch and Clinton R. Anderson.

Incumbent W. Jack Thompson did not seek re-election this year.

Deadline for filing for the May 6 election was Saturday. According to Town Clerk Elwood Nobles, only two more registration dates are left before the May 6 primary election. They are April 19 and April 20.

Nobles said 514 persons had registered by Tuesday noon.

Three Traffic Accidents Here Yesterday

Three traffic mishaps yesterday resulted in an estimated $1,250 property damage and injuries to two persons, Greenville police reported.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 5:55 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and Hudson Streets which involved cars driven by Clint Hardee, 71, of 422 Cadillac St. and Judy Windham Cobb, 20, of Route 4, Greenville.

Police charged Hardee with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety. Damage to the Hardee auto was set at $150 while damage to the Cobb car was placed at $500.

Mrs. Cobb was reported injured in the collision.

Allie Odell Knox, 16, of 409 Cadillac St., was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety and operating without a license following investigation of a 5:50 p.m. mishap on N.C. 11 at the Airport Road intersection.

Investigators said the Knox car was involved in the collision with vehicles driven by Robert Bellamy, of 608 Bonner's Lane and Kester Lane Carrow, 20, of Route 1, Pine-town.

Damage to the Carrow car was set at $40 while damage to the truck driven by Bellamy was set at $300. Damage to the Knox car was estimated to be $100.

Bellamy was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries he received in the mishap.

Mamie Smith Knox of 409 Cadillac St. was charged with allowing a non-licensed person to drive, following the investigation.

Nancy Carol Garrett Dickens, 21, of Memorial Drive, was charged with improper passing and having improper registration plates, following investigation of an 8:15 a.m. collision on Evans Street, 400 feet north of the U.S. 264 intersection.

Police said the Dickens auto collided with a car operated by Garland Jordan Johnston, 39, of Route 6, Greenville.

Damage to the Garrett auto was placed at $250 while damage to the Johnston car was set at $10.

EXTRA ADMISSIONS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard College has mailed out 1,373 acceptance notices for 1,300 admissions for the Class of 1972. David K. Smith, director of admissions, said the extra admissions were intentional because most prospective students applied to several colleges.

Contracts Awarded For Plaza Cinema

Contracts were awarded last week for the construction of the Plaza Cinema, a new theater to be constructed at Pitt Plaza Shopping Center.

E. H. Watson, manager of the State Theater here, said construction of the $200,000 facility is to begin immediately. The theater is scheduled to open Sept. 1. Stewart - Everette Theatres, Inc., who own the present State Theater, will run the new Plaza Cinema. Watson has been named the new theater's manager.

Stewart - Everette officials said George W. Kane, one of the owners of the shopping center, met here Friday to award the contracts. The modern 560-seat theater will be located south of the N. C. 43-Greenville Boulevard intersection and east of the present complex of stores.

Plans for the theater have been under way for several months.

According to Watson, there will be access to the theater from all directions and there should be no parking difficulties.

The screen will be 40 feet wide and, according to the manager is considered a very large screen for this kind of theater.

To Offer Course In Life-Saving

A Red Cross Senior Life Savings Course will be taught in the Memorial Gymnasium, East Carolina University, beginning Tuesday, April 23.

According to Miss Nell Stallings, chairman of the Pitt County Water Safety Program, classes will be held from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. and the class will be limited to 20 participants.

Registration for the classes will be held Monday from 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The students must furnish their swim suits and towels and the girls must wear caps.

pecially fitting that he speak to them on this occasion because he became state superintendent the same year many of them began their education."

Dr. Carroll has had a close association with the university over the years. He has spoken on the campus frequently and he served on the board of trustees from 1949 to 1957, the latter four years as ex-officio member and chairman.

A native of Warsaw and a Duke University graduate, Dr. Carroll has had a long career in the field of public education in the state. After serving as teacher, coach and principal in several places he was superintendent of the Swain County Schools and the High Point City Schools. He was appointed state superintendent in August 1952 to fill the vacancy left by the death of Dr. Clyde A. Erwin.

During his career, Dr. Carroll has served many professional organizations in his field in addition to carrying out his official duties. He was president of the Council of Chief State School Officers in 1960-61. Now 68, the superintendent and his wife, the former Nellie Jane Wynne of Williamston, make their home in Raleigh. They have one son, Charles Jr., who is a physician in Concord.

County to five-seven years for breaking and entering and larceny.

Leaders of the sit-down strike gave their list of demands to prison officials Tuesday and they would not leave the yard until they could discuss the issues with Bounds, who was out of the state at the time.

Their list included demands for implementation of an incentive pay plan approved by the 1967 Legislature which would permit inmates working in prison industries to receive up to $1 a day.

The inmates said they wanted a grievance committee composed of five prisoners to be established and permitted to meet with prison officials at least once a month, and they wanted all men in single-cell confinement returned to the general prison population.

Open House For Lady Candidate

Mrs. Margaret Harper of Southport, Democrat candidate for lieutenant governor, will visit Greenville Thursday from 3 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Harper will be entertained at an open house at the home of Mrs. Percy L. Pair, 102 Lord Ashley Rd., during her visit here.

A graduate of Greensboro College, Mrs. Harper is married to James M. Harper Jr., editor of the State Port Pilot, and they have two sons.

She has been PTA president and has been active in the March of Dimes and the American Red Cross.

Her special interests while she was president of the N. C. Federation of Women's Club and president of the Council of Women's Organizations were traffic safety, the preservation of historic sites, the expansion of public library facilities and continuing education.

WALL PLAQUE PRESENTED — American Legion Commander Joe Goodson and National Executive Committeeman Leroy Lakey of Charlotte look over wall plaque which includes all the names of past Post 39 commanders from the year 1919 to 1968. The post last night honored its past commanders in a meeting at the American Legion building. Sam Bridges was cited as the oldest living past commander of Post 39. D. J. Whichard was cited as the North Carolina delegate to the Minneapolis meeting in 1919 when the American Legion was formally organized. He was also the first state national committee man. Obituaries

Worthington

Mrs. Alta Jenkins Worthington, 62, wife of Clifton O. Worthington, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning at 10:45. She had been in failing health for six months and critically ill for the past two weeks. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Thursday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. Kenneth Moore, Christian Minister of Grimesland and the Rev. Howard James, Christian Minister of Greenville. Burial will be in the Winterville Cemetery.

Mrs. Worthington, a native of Pitt County, was born and reared in Ayden and attended the Ayden Schools. Since her marriage to Mr. Worthington in 1923 she had made her home at Worthington's Crossroads near Winterville. She was a member and a deaconess of the Winterville Christian Church and a past president of the Christian Women's Fellowship.

Surviving are her husband, Clifton O. Worthington; two daughters: Mrs. Joseph B. Tyson of Henderson and Mrs. Richard E. Worthington of Winterville; two sons: John T. and Charles O. Worthington, both of Greenville; seven grandchildren; a brother, W. I. "Chick" Jenkins of Ayden; and a sister, Mrs. R. B. Hawkins of Raleigh.

Boyd

Mrs. Aurie H. Boyd, 75, widow of Jesse Mayhew Boyd, died Tuesday afternoon at 5:40 in the DePaul Hospital in Norfolk, Virginia, following several weeks of critical illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Friday afternoon at two o'clock by her pastor, the Rev. E. L. Trueblood, assisted by the Rev. E. D. Beale, Church of God Minister of Norfolk, Va., and the Rev. R. W. Tedder, pastor of the Greenville Church of God. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Boyd, daughter of the late George and Betty Hunnings, lived in Greenville prior to moving to Norfolk in 1959. She was a member of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Norfolk, Virginia.

Surviving are two daughters: Mrs. Ina B. Briley of Norfolk, Virginia, with whom she lived, and Mrs. Milan Boyd of New Bern; four sisters: Mrs. J. D. Davenport of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. C. S. Harris of Suffolk, Virginia, Mrs. C. B. Spain of Tarboro, and Mrs. G. L. Respass of Leland; two brothers: Howard Hunnings of Roanoke Rapids, and Clyde Hunnings of Mt. Vernon, New York; seven grandchildren; and 14 great grandchildren.

The family will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Joyner, 1708 Spruce St. in Greenville.

Harris

David Harris, husband of Mrs. Earline Harris of Rt. 6, Greenville, died Tuesday afternoon as the result of a truck accident. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Evans

Clarence Evans, husband of Mrs. Ollie Evans of 1615-A S. Pitt St., died Tuesday afternoon as the result of a truck accident. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Improved Local Airport Accommodates Visiting Jet

SLEEK LEAR JET landed on improved Pitt-Greenville airport yesterday. (Reflector Photo by R.W. Gollobin)

At 4:40 yesterday, a Lear Jet touched down at the Greenville airport and rolled to a stop in front of spectators.

The sleek, silver colored jet was here as part of a promotion program for the Lear Jet company which also makes Lear Jet Stereo. According to James Little, vice president of Carolina Sales Corp., distributors of Lear Jet Stereo in North and South Carolina, the plane came here from Knoxville, Tenn. and took off for Philadelphia after leaving Greenville at 9:15 p.m.

Little said that the recent improvements at the airport made it possible for the jet to land.

"We are glad," Little stated, "that the authorities in Greenville recognized the need for such a facility. It will be valuable to the growth of this area." Little continued to say that as one of the business firms in the area that had need of airport facilities, he was pleased that Greenville would now be brought into closer contact with other cities by way of air.

Jim Darden, airport manager, said that the improvement of the approaches to the runways, the addition of a new lighting system, and the new revolving beacon, would all help to make the Greenville air terminal one of the finest in the area.

Darden pointed out that the new modern air terminal building had been completed, four T-hangers were finished, and an instrument approach has been readied, awaiting only the approval of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Illustrating the growth in the use of the airport, Darden recalled, "When I started here four years ago, if we had three planes a week, we thought we had some traffic. Now we get at least eight a day, and some days we have 20."

Darden said that 21 planes are based at the airport compared to the three or four three years ago. He added that there are no "junks" here which is unusual for an airport of this size.
