Full Extent Of Loss Is Unknown

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—Damage resulting from what Fire Chief W. P. James calls Rocky Mount's worst fire in almost 40 years may not be determined for several days, the chief says.

The Wednesday blaze, fanned by brisk north winds, destroyed a tobacco warehouse and threatened a downtown block. There were no injuries.

Firemen remained on the scene throughout Wednesday night, long after the blaze had been controlled, wetting down small fires that continued to break out in the ruins.

Within minutes after the fire was reported it had enveloped the People's Warehouse. It spread to the old Thorpe-Rocks Warehouse being used by the Imperial Tobacco Co., Ltd.

Lost in the Peoples Warehouse were 160 hogsheads of processed tobacco worth about $140,000; four automobiles, a bus, a dump truck, a tractor and five boats.

Hanoi Demands

TOKYO (AP)—North Vietnam demanded today that the United States "agree without delay" to Phnom Penh or Warsaw as the site for preliminary peace talks and also stop all attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

The demand, in the official Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan, repeated the charge that the United States is insincere in its talk of peace efforts.

"Once again," it said, "we demand that the U.S. government give up its attitude that shows a lack of good will and agree without delay to either Phnom Penh or Warsaw for the site of contacts. We demand that the United States stop definitely and unconditionally its bombing and other acts of war on the whole territory of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may begin."

Youth Found Guilty Of False Fire Alarm; Planning Appeal

Richard Harrison Minor, 18, of 506 Cotanche St. was found guilty of turning in a false fire alarm today by Judge Charles H. Whedbee in Greenville Municipal Recorders Court.

A co-defendant, James Metz, 19, of 600 East 11th St. was adjudged not guilty. Both Minor and Metz, part-time employees of a weekly newspaper in Greenville, were arrested by officers who charged they turned in a false alarm from Box 157 at the intersection of Fifth and Nash Streets at 11:25 p.m. April 6.

Policeman B. F. Phillips told the court he saw Minor pull the alarm, then jump into a car driven by Metz and leave the scene.

Redrying machinery owned by Imperial was in the Thorpe-Hicks warehouse.

The Cobb-Carlton warehouse No. 2 and a grocery store suffered minor damage. Fire walls saved the building from extensive damage.

Chief James had high praise for the work of his men, volunteers and firemen from other areas who fought the late morning blaze.

President Returns From Honolulu

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson, stopping en route to his Texas ranch after two days of Pacific policy talks in Honolulu, conferred today with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower about war and peace in the Pacific.

Johnson arrived at this Strategic Air Command base in the middle of the night, slept aboard his plane and, not long after dawn, welcomed Eisenhower for a breakfast meeting aboard the presidential jet. Their talk followed a Hawaii summit meeting with South Korean President Chung Hee Park, who got Johnson's assurance that the Korean will have a voice in any Vietnam peace negotiations and that the United States will stand by its commitments to help defend South Korea against any Communist incursions from the north.

Johnson alighted from his jet at 7 a.m. PST, greeted a few score military families gathered nearby, and then strolled around the air base apron while awaiting Eisenhower, who flew in 15 minutes later from his winter home at Palm Desert.

The two dined aboard Air Force 1 while Johnson briefed Eisenhower on his Hawaii talks.

of court for 90 days and not operate a motor vehicle for 90 days.

Minor, through his attorney, gave notice of appeal to Pitt County Superior Court.

Minor, who took the stand in his own behalf, told the court he and Metz were in the vicinity of the Fifth and Nash Streets intersection, but denied turning in the alarm.

Minor said he stopped to talk with firemen who were at the intersection while on his way to the Holiday Inn to check on a news story.

Metz, who also took the stand, testified they stopped at the intersection after seeing a fire truck with lights flashing there but said neither he nor Minor turned the alarm in.

Inspection By Utilities Commission

Utilities commissioners yesterday afternoon visited projects which the commission has underway as they conducted their annual tour of utilities facilities.

The commission members saw the work underway in the Shore Drive area, where all electric lines are being placed underground as part of the renewal project.

They looked over a major sewer outfall line and pumping station under construction in North Greenville.

Commissioners visited the Club Pines and Brook Valley subdivisions where underground power lines have been installed and they looked at a new electric installation on Red Bank Road.

Also on the schedule were visits to the water pollution control plant and the power plant.

At their monthly meeting last night the commissioners instructed Director Leonard Bloxam and attorneys to proceed with drafting a franchise for a Community Antenna Television system. The City Council has awarded an exclusive franchise for operation of a CATV system here to the Utilities Commission.

Bloxam reported to the commission that Freeman Engineers are proceeding with work on plans for an addition to the water pollution control plant. The plans will be submitted with an application for a federal grant for a portion of the expansion cost.

Bloxam reported that the bulk of the damage caused by the ice storm early this year has been cleared up.

As a result of their afternoon tour, the commissioners commended Utilities employees for their "excellent work" and the superior conditions they found at the various facilities.

Worst Offenders Grouped At Raleigh Facility

Central Prison Policy Shifts Said Root Of Inmate Rioting

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina's top prison official says his efforts to build a progressive correction system were partially responsible for Wednesday's Central Prison riot in which six prisoners were killed.

But State Correction Commissioner Lee Bounds plans no change from his relatively new policy of collecting the worst offenders at the maximum security unit in Raleigh.

"We have to face up to the fact," he said, "that collecting trouble means trouble is going to occur."

The advantage of the regrouping, Bounds said, outweighs the risks.

He said that his system insures that the "bulls"—extortionists, racketeers, assaulters, sexual offenders and other prisoners who have been terrorizing their fellow inmates—are removed from medium security facilities throughout the state, allowing more rehabilitation in those units.

Five inmates were killed and 78 wounded early Wednesday when guards fired shotguns into a crowd of more than 400 rioting prisoners. One of eight critically injured prisoners died late Wednesday night in a hospital.

Five officers were hurt, none seriously, in the confrontation that Bounds said lasted 10 minutes.

Bounds said the "root cause" of the trouble was administrative take-over of the prison handicraft system. For years the system was operated by inmates as a revenue source by making wallets and other leather goods for outside markets.

Prison officials maintained the system bred extortion and racketeering and was a means for some prisoners to gain power and control within the inmate population.

Bounds said the handicraft production will continue, but only under control and supervision of prison officials.

For the past 18 months Bounds' department has been classifying the prison system's 10,000 inmates. The worst offenders and those with the least potential for rehabilitation are collected at Central Prison in Raleigh.

The big prison, designed century ago but not completed until the 1890s, was described as outmoded and obsolete by Bounds.

"But we will not change our policy," Bounds said. "We are achieving our objective of a graduated correctional program from total confinement to discharge. We would rather risk a concentration of trouble."

The six dead prisoners were identified as John Scurlock, 22, serving life for first degree burglary; Donald Fox, 26, sentenced to two life terms, one for first degree murder and one for first degree burglary, Andrew Branch, 40, sentenced to 14-15 years for assault with intent to commit rape; William Matthews, 28, sentenced to 8-10 years for breaking and entering and Jerry Walston, 22, sentenced to 5-7 years for breaking and entering and larceny.

Before the riot began some 500 prisoners staged a sit-down strike in the prison yard. Tempers became short with the chilly night and a small building was set afire.

Officials decided to lock up the prisoners and summoned Raleigh police and state highway patrol to assist.

The order to fire was given after the inmates "began throwing lighted torches at unarmed custodial officers," Bounds said.

FBI Issues Fugitive Warrant, Asks Public Help

Eric Galt Charged With Conspiracy, Murder

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The mysterious Eric Starvo Galt has been charged with conspiracy and murder in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The FBI said in a fugitive warrant issued Wednesday night in Birmingham, Ala., that Galt, 36, conspired with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother" to violate King's civil rights.

The state charge of first-degree murder was filed against Galt in Memphis where King, 39, Nobel Prize winning civil rights leader, was shot to death on a motel balcony April 4 by a sniper who fled from a nearby rooming house.

First-degree murder in Tennessee carries the death penalty although the electric chair has not been used in the state since 1960.

The maximum penalty under the federal charge of conspiracy to violate a person's civil rights is a $5,000 fine and 10-year prison sentence.

There was no further mention in the FBI statement about the alleged brother and no charge was filed against him.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced in Washington that the conspiracy to "injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate" King began "on or about March 30" in Birmingham.

The FBI statement said a .30.06 rifle equipped with a telescopic sight found near the rooming house shortly after King was slain, was purchased March 30 in Birmingham.

The statement did not connect Galt directly with the rifle.

The FBI released a photograph of Galt and solicited public aid in finding him. Whether this appeal meant the trail had become cold was unclear, but U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told a reporter in Washington that he felt this was not the situation.

The FBI started hunting Galt a week ago. Agents even contacted persons named Galt in several states in an attempt to find him.

The picture—which had too have the eyes "opened" by an artist—brought uncertain responses from witnesses who were acquainted with Galt or saw the fleeing sniper.

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had had a face lift or something; it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, who lives at the Main Street rooming house from which the fatal shot apparently was fired.

"The hair is too full and the face is too young," he said. But Stevens said he only got a side view of the fleeing figure.

A source in Birmingham said the photograph was taken within the past three months, although the FBI did not specify when it was made. The photo has sharp contrast, making hair and features very dark.

The FBI, relying on witnesses apparently, said the fugitive had been described as a white man, 5-8 to 5-11, weighing 160 to 175 pounds, with brown hair in a brush cut, blue eyes, straight nose.

ERIC STARVO GALT

Rockefeller Eyes $150 Billion Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said today the rebuilding of the nation's cities would cost a minimum $150 billion over the next 10 years. He proposed raising the money "through imaginative and responsible use of credit."

In the first of a projected series of speeches on major issues, Rockefeller examined the problems of American cities and concluded that their solution requires "a profound act of national commitment."

"It demands of us as honest a readiness for sacrifice as the waging of a war for survival," he told a Shoreham Hotel luncheon meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. "It entails a kind of Twentieth Century covenant with history."

The governor's remarks were prepared for delivery.

Rockefeller, who has said he is available for the Republican presidential nomination, said the terms of such a covenant must include the dedication of the individual citizen "especially the more favored and fortunate."

The individual citizen "simply must care enough to give of himself. He must care enough to shed bias, to deny self and to live with respect and honor for the dignity of his neighbor," he said.

Secondly he said, "A resolute national leadership must sharply define our goals and clearly assign their order of values. It must just as rigorously assess the means available. We cannot do all things for all men and all communities and all nations at all times."

While long term renewal is under way, Rockefeller said, cities and states must raise their annual revenues by $10 billion to meet the cost of essential services recognizing "that the assurance of their own rights relates critically to their assuming the rightful share of the responsibility."

At the same time, he said, the federal government should match that figure with an annual increase of $10 billion in direct aid to the states and cities "freed from the restriction and confusion of some 400 current aid programs."

Accuse Each Other Broke 'Armistice'

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The United States and North Korea accused each other of violating the Korean armistice at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission today a few hours after another clash in the demilitarized zone.

U.S. Rear Adm. John V. Smith, U.N. Command member of the commission, accused North Korea of a "vicious act"—the ambush of a truck Sunday night south of Panmunjom in which two American and two South Korean soldiers were killed and two Americans wounded. He said the Communists "stole two pistols from the dead and dying men."

Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kook, North Korean member of the commission, replied that the U.N. Command was "scheming to turn the DMZ into a hotbed for hostile actions." He denied North Korea had anything to do with the ambush.

A few hours before the meeting, the South Korean army announced that three South Korean soldiers were wounded Wednesday when their 11-man patrol was ambushed by North Korean soldiers inside the DMZ.

Bombers Blast Staging Area

SAIGON (AP)—Waves of American B52s hit South Vietnam's A Shau Valley with more than 1,500 tons of bombs Wednesday and today in the war's heaviest aerial blows for a 24-hour period.

At least 60 of the eight-engine Stratofortresses streaked over the valley from bases in Thailand and Guam to bomb North Vietnamese truck parks, storage areas and troop concentrations.

The 25-mile-long valley has become the No. 1 target for the B52 saturation bombing. Senior U.S. officers believe the North Vietnamese may be using the valley as a staging area for another major attack on Hue, 25 miles to the northeast.

The Communist command is believed to have 25 to 30 battalions in the Hue area, perhaps 15,000 to 18,000 men. The valley is used to funnel enemy troops and supplies from Laos eastward to the fringes of the old imperial capital on the coast where the enemy made his most determined stand during the lunar new year offensive in February.

Vietnamese sources report that the North Vietnamese 325C Division, once deployed around the Khe Sanh base 50 miles to the north, has moved into the Shau Valley.

Since April 1, the B52s have flown 55 separate missions over the area, with each mission averaging about six planes. An estimated 8,000 tons of explosives have been dropped.

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops battled enemy forces in the Mekong Delta and along the northern frontier Wednesday.

In the biggest battle, U. S. Infantrymen from the 9th Division reported killing 78 Viet Cong in day-long fighting in the delta 43 miles southwest of Saigon. Four Americans were reported killed and 15 wounded.

The U.S. infantrymen surrounded the enemy, and artillery and fighter-bombers blasted the enemy positions.

The Azalea Golf Tournament began today at Cape Fear Country Club and a variety show is scheduled tonight.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Police are closing their substation on the beach today. They will go back to five-day work weeks after working six days a week to deal with the crush of college students who flocked to Fort Lauderdale beaches for Easter vacation.

Re-Election Bid By Ayden Mayor Indicated

AYDEN — Ross Persinger, who announced earlier he would not seek re-election to the post of mayor of Ayden is expected to file this week as a candidate for the office.

A group of Ayden citizens met Tuesday night in the town hall with Persinger as an invited guest, in an effort to urge him to reconsider and run again for the office.

Following the meeting, Persinger indicated he would offer himself as a candidate. Members of the group agreed to pay the filing fee for Mayor Persinger and pledged to work for his candidacy as a gesture of their confidence in his qualifications to serve the town. It was pointed out that the town business is the largest business in Ayden and that a capable and qualified mayor is the need more than ever before.

Mayor Persinger, when asked to speak, said, "This group present tonight and the many contacts of other citizens have encouraged me and have brought about a change of mind. I know I am not the best for the job, but when people like you, and express this confidence in me, I feel it is only fair for me to reconsider and offer myself as a candidate again."

Persinger has been mayor of Ayden since 1964.

She Should Not Expect To Take Your Furniture

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My 21-year-old daughter is moving into her own apartment, and she claims that the furniture in her bedroom, the piano, and some other items are HERS to take along because I bought them for her—like her clothes.

I feel guilty not letting her take these things, because although I DID buy them for her, they were for her convenience and comfort only as long as she lived at home.

Abby, if all my other children decided to move out and take their bedroom furniture, desks, etc. with them, I would be left with an empty house, and I certainly can't afford to return it right now.

Have times changed so much in 25 years? When I left my mother's home, it never would have occurred to me to take anything but my clothing.

Please answer this in your column for other parents who must have been faced with this same problem.

B. B. J.: You have no reason to feel guilty. Any mother's "child" who is old enough to leave home, should not expect to take half of "home" with him.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my sister had the flu, so I went to her house to help her out. I did her laundry and when I went to put it in her linen closet, I couldn't help but notice an unusually large supply of soap and toothpaste. They were "free samples"—the kind I recently got in the mail, addressed to "occupant."

My sister's husband is a postman, so this might give you a clue. Another thing I noticed, they have every magazine under the sun and they all have little "holes" on the covers, where the names and addresses have been cut off.

If these magazines and all those free samples of soap and toothpaste are undeliverable, I'm sure there are plenty of institutions that could use them.

If my brother-in-law is typical of all postmen, they must be the cleanest, sweetest-smelling men in town.

DEAR NO NAME: I smile 32". With abdominal belt—44" brother-in-law. Ask your sister if she can explain the "free goods."

Hair: Natural color—Gray. Uses hair color. Also wears hair piece to cover baldness.

Aura Of Mismanagement Prevails

Troubles in North Carolina's prison system have finally erupted in Central Prison violence that took the lives of five inmates and left more than 75 people wounded or injured.

Whatever the reasons for the violence, it is the kind of thing that should not happen in a prison system; one which smacks of mismanagement on the part of officials and their failure to properly discharge their duties and responsibilities.

What happened Tuesday night at Central Prison in Raleigh must not be passed off as one of those unfortunate things which sometime occur in prisons. There should be a thorough investigation into the operations of the state's entire prison system under its present leadership. There should be a determined effort to find the underlying causes of events which led to this shocking climax of troubles in the state's prison system. Finally, there should be an accounting to the people of the state by the Moore administration for the circumstances which have brought what at one time was said to be an excellent prison system to this sort of explosion.

The slaying of five prisoners and the wounding of more than three-score others may have been unavoidable at the height of violence in the prison yard. But the circumstances which led up to that point could have and should have been better controlled by those responsible for the prison system of the state. The situation should never have come to the point where the order had to be given to fire on prisoners en masse in order to protect the lives of guards.

We do not find fault with bringing the outburst under control. The fault we find is that the situation was allowed to develop to the point that it was uncontrollable without the wholesale use of firearms turned on the prisoners.

There has appeared to be a steady deterioration of the state's prison operations under the administration of Gov. Moore. Crimes of violence among prisoners themselves have seemed to increase. There have been instances in which it appeared that the prisoners rather than those responsible for the prison system, were deciding what would go on within the prison system of this state.

As chief executive of North Carolina, Gov. Moore shares the responsibility for what happened at Central Prison Tuesday night. As the state's chief executive, he must shoulder the responsibility to see that swift and effective measures are taken to correct the state's prison problems at their source, not again with guns in the prison yard.

Scott Running Before Anybody

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH — Chronologically, J. Melville Broughton Jr. announced first as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor this year. He announced first, officially, on a day back in early December but knew even then that he was late and running behind.

tical observers agree almost unanimously that Broughton is running well and has made gains.

In some areas of the state it is believed that Broughton is ahead and is likely to lead the ticket in a number of counties on election night. But the worry in the Broughton camp is simply, will this be enough? There appears to be no thought at the moment to the idea of a second primary but this could change if it appears that conditions are right for such a move. It is recalled that Scott went into a second primary run-off in 1964 against H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen and Blue gained substantially during the second primary campaign.

At present, however, Broughton strategy appears confined almost entirely to winning on May 4 and looking no further. Broughton's strategists hope to win with a coalition of moderate and conservative Democrats similar to that which gave the present governor, Dan Moore, a landslide victory in a second primary in 1964. In the first primary, Moore ran second to L. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro and Dr. I. Beverly Lake was third. The Lake support went to Moore in the run-off.

Rotation Ignored
The word "rotation" is missing from conversations about this year's political campaigns in North Carolina. It used to be quite important. Now, most observers feel it is fading from the scene.

Geography apparently is no longer a factor. The present governor, Dan Moore, is from western North Carolina and he succeeded Terry Sanford of Fayetteville. The old rotation rule would dictate that the next governor be from the East but no one has made much reference to such a rule, nor tried to impose it. Two of the five major candidates contending for gubernatorial nomination on May 4 are Easterners, Mel Broughton of Raleigh and Republican Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount. Lt. Gov. Bob Scott is from Haw River, in Alamance County, which is as much East as West. Two others, Jack Stickle and Dr. Reginald Hawkins are from Mecklenburg County which is Piedmont, and neither East nor West. Politically, however, Mecklenburg would be considered "west".

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

It was and had been a well and widely known "open secret" that Lt. Gov. Robert W. (Bob) Scott would be a candidate for the governorship in 1968 and, although unannounced, was already running.

It may be recalled that a prime political question last Fall was whether Scott would be opposed in the primary in May.

Two opponents came forth — Broughton and Negro dentist Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte. Finally, in February and without altering his campaign schedule, Scott made his formal, official announcement.

Catching Up
The 1968 Spring primary campaign thus began on a rather strange, unusual turn of events.

Twenty years earlier, Scott's father, the late Sen. - Gov. W. Kerr Scott, announced late and somewhat surprisingly. He went on to win, defeating Charles M. Johnson in the primary of 1948, and was elected governor. Many political strategists feel that there is some psychological advantage in such late announcements. If so, the advantage this time may be Broughton's.

It is true Scott waited. But there was no element of suspense nor surprise. His intentions were known.

Broughton was the late comer, and since his decision his campaign has been based on catching up with Scott and hopefully forging ahead by primary election day, May 4.

Making Strides
Apparently he has made strides in this direction. Poli-

GOLIATH MAY BE IN FOR TROUBLE AGAIN!

By JAMES KILPATRICK

New Law Pleases Few

It may come as a terrible shock to white liberals and to anxious politicians, but the new Civil Rights Act of 1968 has won them no applause from important elements of the black community. Floyd McKissick, James Forman and Hosea Williams, all of whom stand high in the black power movement, appeared on a television program. Each of them denounced the law.

In a sense, that makes it unanimous, for sizable elements of the white community are equally critical, if for different reasons. McKissick, Forman and Williams were especially incensed by the anti-riot section of the act, but they seemed almost as furious as the "open housing" provisions. Their cry was for black power in wholly black communities; the prohibition upon discrimination in housing struck them as an insulting manifestation of the white liberal's belief that the way to make a Negro happy is to provide him a house next to a white man. That angry view needs to be understood.

McKissick, Forman and Williams are militants. Their antipathy to the new law may not be shared by moderate elements of the Negro community. Nevertheless, McKissick heads the Congress of Racial Equality; Forman is the leader of what remains of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee; and Williams is one of the top inheritors of Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference. When they join in a diatribe against the act, and warn that this "peanut" of a bill, in Williams' description, will not begin to satisfy black demands, they are voicing a passionate dissent. Let us keep it in mind.

Meanwhile, conservatives object on other grounds. This clumsy, ambiguous and overblown act is the paste-pot product of politics in the Senate and something close to panic in the House. The law gives the Constitution another twisting. The circumstances of the House vote will serve to encourage rioters. The refusal of the House to subject this long and complex bill to orderly committee study is a travesty upon the legislative process.

Title VIII of the act, a 21-page section patched together on the Senate floor, opens with this statement: "It is the policy of the United States to provide, within constitutional limitations, for fair housing throughout the United States." The phrase, "within constitutional limitations," is a curious phrase. Did the framers of the act have some doubt of their authority under the Constitution?

They certainly should have had such doubts. Title VIII is predicated, presumably, upon the commerce clause and the Fourteenth Amendment; but the commerce clause never on this earth was intended to convert the local sale of local real property into a form of "commerce among the several States." The Fourteenth Amendment prohibits acts of racial discrimination by States, their agencies and subdivisions. It never was intended to prohibit acts of racial discrimination by private citizens.

Put the constitutional questions to one side. That is where they seem to wind up anyhow. The House acted under the heat of emotions brought to a boil by the death of Martin Luther King. Such an event, however tragic, however deplorable, ought to play no part in the writing of statutory law. The House acted just four days after an outrageous orgy of looting and burning in the capital. Ten thousand pious disclaimers from congressional leaders will not overcome the impression of riotous thus kind in the rioters' minds. Was this what it too? to get a fair housing law? A little looting, a little burning? Well, Mr. Speaker, what shall we burn in May?

Airport Improvements Are Bringing Results

We are pleased to see that industrial aircraft are making use of the improved facilities at Pitt-Greenville Airport.

A Lear Jet set down at the airport Tuesday afternoon on a business call. Airport officials say aircraft traffic is building so that eight to 20 planes are landing each day.

There have been considerable improvements made at the airport in recent months. A new administration building is in use. Improvements are being made to the runway approaches, a new lighting system is being installed along with a new revolving beacon. Equipment is being installed which will make instrument approaches possible.

Someday, we are certain, Greenville will have scheduled air line service at Pitt-Greenville. In the meantime more and more use of aircraft is being made by business and industry and it is good that the airport is being improved to handle them.

Mergers Pose New Questions

By EDMOND LeBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. antitrust laws were based on the simple concept that competition is in the public interest.

So if there are two banks— or grocery stores, or newspapers, or whatever—in a town and one buys out the other, government—the theory ran—has a right to look over the deal and perhaps intervene.

The world is more complicated today. What should government do when confronted with the conglomerate merge now so characteristic of economic life?

Suppose a distillery, for example, buys a copper tubing plant, a chemical firm, a textile mill and finally a some raw, wooded land to hedge against inflation. Is competition diminished? Is a dangerous economic concentration created? Is it any of government's business?

Congress is moving, though not too rapidly, to consider these problems. Its concern came to the surface in the Senate - House Economic Committee's annual report.

The majority report urged the Federal Trade Commission and the President's Council of Economic Advisers to "probe deeply into the ramifications of the growing concentration of economic power flowing from the increasing conglomerate mergers."

The Economic Committee has no power to produce legislation but serves as a sort of front-runner for the legislative committees. Its job is to pinpoint issues on which they may decide to act.

The report noted that some of the provisions of present tax law actively encourage mergers.

For example, a company that has been running deep in the red may be an attractive buy for one that has been piling up profits and expects to continue to do so. Losses can be carried forward and offset against gains, significantly reducing taxes.

Then again, a string of subsidiaries, each enjoying the lower corporate tax rate on its first earnings, may pay a less tax than a single company earning the same total amount.

There is also the problem of family-owned enterprises. The principal owner dies and the government claims its estate taxes. Sometimes the heirs, pressed for cash, find the best solution is to sell out to a large firm.

In a supplementary report, an old enemy of mergers, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., went further than the majority. He urged that the Cabinet Committee on Price Stability join the Federal Trade Commission and Securities and (Continued On Page 5)

CLERGY AND LAITY

Nehemiah stands out as one of the great characters of the Old Testament. One of the books of the Old Testament bears his name. He was a layman who in a day of confusion and strife rebuilt the walls of Jerusalem which had been destroyed when the Babylonians carried the Jewish people into captivity.

In the seventy years which the Jews spent in their Babylonian exile many of them rose to positions of importance, first under Babylonian rulers and afterwards under those who succeeded the Babylonians. Nehemiah was cupbearer to King Artaxerxes. One day as he served the king the royal master noticed that his valued servant was sad to the point of melancholy. Upon inquiry he found that it was because his beloved Jerusalem lay unprotected to the assault of enemies who were determined to wipe it out of existence. Nehemiah therefore requested that he be allowed to return to his beloved city, rebuild the walls and establish the life of its people in safety.

The scribe Ezra had been there twelve years before Nehemiah arrived. Ezra doing the work of a priest, and Nehemiah the work of an energetic and far-sighted layman, put walls about the city and led the people into a knowledge of God's providence which they had previously not possessed.

They both constitute fine examples of how the clergy and the laity may work together in every age to uphold the Church, to protect the basic requirements of morality, to lead their fellowmen out of darkness and into the light of stability and progress.

Other Editors Saying Welfare Proposals

(Kinston Free Press)
Dr. Ellen Winston, former Commissioner of Welfare in North Carolina and the first U. S. Commissioner of Public Welfare who retired from that post last year, has offered a proposal for welfare legislation reform which merits a closer study by the Congress and the various states.

She wants to relax the restrictions on earning to the point that a more nearly adequate income can be assured for recipients of welfare. She is also on record as favoring measures which would encourage the recipients to earn their way out of the dole as rapidly as possible.

Her proposals are not drastic or new. The late Senator Robert Taft had similar ideas, and both of our most recent presidents have advocated similar legislation.

Beware Those Chinchilla Claims

By ELMER ROESSNER
Suddenly you're offered a chance to become rich. You answer an ad or a ring at your doorbell and are told that if you raise chinchillas in your spare time you can make a fortune. Chinchillas, of course! One of the most expensive furs in the world, the super-soft, super-luxury skin of the helpful little animal, the chinchilla! You can be chinchilla king or queen of your neighborhood and you'll have no more financial worries, except about paying taxes on your lush, lush income!

But when the "closer," the man assigned to get your name on the dotted line, comes around, you can tell him: It is not commercially feasible to raise chinchillas in your basement, garage or spare room. Unless special places have the necessary environmental conditions, it is not practical to breed chinchillas on a commercial basis. Breeding chinchillas requires specialized knowledge obtained through actual experience.

Faulty Multiplication Tables
An initial breeding stock of four females and four males will not produce 16 live offspring the first year, 64 the second, 208 the third, 640 the fourth and 1,836 the fifth year.

These progeny will not produce pelts selling for an average price of $25. Some won't sell at all; others will sell for substantially less than $20.

Chinchillas are not hardy animals and are susceptible to pneumonia and other diseases.

You can quote the Federal Trade Commission as your authority. The FTC made these findings in accepting a provisional consent order by which William N. Beesley Jr., of Springfield, Ill., agreed to stop using false claims in advertising his chinchilla breeding stock, although he did not concede he had broken the law.

Daley Favors Hubert

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — Behind a facade of neutrality, Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago Democratic organization and perhaps Daley himself would like nothing better than handing the Presidential nomination to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey at Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's expense.

Daley, who practices politics with oriental inscrutability, gives few public clues of his intentions and has ordered his lieutenants to maintain the same neutrality until the national convention here in August. But based on chance remarks by the Mayor to fellow Democrats, his attitude may be described in this way:

He still does not regard Sen. Eugene McCarthy as a serious contender and looks upon the nomination as a Humphrey-vs.-Kennedy struggle. By implication, he tends to favor Humphrey over Kennedy but would support him only if he looks strong enough not only to win Illinois against Richard M. Nixon but carry in a lackluster state Democratic ticket (whose weakness is partly Daley's responsibility).

That, in effect, requires Humphrey to keep up with Kennedy in the polls — which now seems a long shot. But even a long shot possibility that Kingmaker Dick Daley would throw to Humphrey his support and with it almost all of Illinois's 118 delegate votes is enough to chill Kennedy's national strategists.

These strategists, privately contemptuous of many party leaders presiding over decaying organizations, have maintained a wary respect for Daley. Realizing that Daley's choice could be the convention's nominee, Kennedy keeps in close contact with the Mayor. Moreover, he tells friends he believes Daley now regards his candidacy favorably.

But Bobby Kennedy would not be the first politician to be misled by Daley's old-fashioned courtesy and garbled syntax into thinking that he was city hall's beloved. Indeed, Daley's comments to colleagues in the organization indicate less than rapture for Kennedy.

Daley's involvement in the strange confrontation in early March between Kennedy and President Johnson over a proposed commission on Vietnam is a case in point. The Kennedy camp believes Daley, who first thought up the commission idea, is upset with the White House for leaking the story. That may be true, but Daley is even more upset with Kennedy.

In conversations with friends, the Mayor complains that Kennedy publicly represented the commission idea as Daley's and that Kennedy proposed possible commission members to the President — which, Daley protests, was not his plan at all.

To avoid offending the Mayor by seeming to pressure him, both the Kennedy and Humphrey camps have adopted a strategy of discouraging Illinois endorsements. One important Democrat here was contemplating an endorsement of Kennedy when Professor Richard Wade of the University of Chicago, a veteran political activist helping run Kennedy's Illinois campaign, asked him not to.

But the high pressure that always accompanies Kennedy politics somehow has smothered the state's support. Since Kennedy announced for President, (Continued On Page 5)

Young Men Don't Let Small City Go To Sleep

By MATT KRAMEK
Associated Press Writer
COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (AP) — This city of 5,100 at the head of the Willamette Valley is sleepy looking, which shows how appearances deceive. Cottage Grove is a city in ferment, caught up in a youth movement that makes other Oregon cities appear to be standing still.

"If we're doing something the way we did it five years ago, it's got to be wrong," says City Manager Larry Rice, 30.

He typifies those now running things in Cottage Grove.

Who would think a city this size could embark on a 20-year program to spend $750,000 to provide all the parks the city probably can ever use, even if the city's size increases 35 times? Cottage Grove has. The financing already is arranged.

Or that a city this size could treat its sewage so that the water emerges so pure it could be drunk?

Or that the Oregon city with the greatest ratio of residents with incomes less than $2,000 annually would build a $1 million housing project for the elderly?

Or that a way could be found to get the children to like police?

Or that it has a plan for private development of a two-story mall to revitalize a dilapidated downtown area?

And that it has such definite plans for the future that already the city is choosy about allowing industry in? Cottage Grove has its eyes on tourism instead.

Rice came to Cottage Grove three years ago. He was 27. The eldest city council member was 42. They got things moving. Fire Chief Tracy Arnold is 39, Police Chief Barney Isel 35, City Engineer Roger Sinclair 34. Patrolman Ivan Saunders is 32. He is the man who teaches children to like the cops. Officials concluded the average person's first contact with police came as a teen-ager or older, often in an arrest or warning. The result was resentment of police.

So a policeman was sent into grade schools for an earlier, more pleasant introduction. He became in effect a uniformed teacher, telling the children about bicycle safety, how to cross streets, what to do about friendly strangers and something about the law.

Cottage Grove has three industries, a lumber plant that makes laminated beams, a sawmill equipment factory and the Village Green. The latter is a motel that has a pitch-and-putt golf course, a restaurant and other facilities that have made it a convention and recreation center. At peak season 150 persons are employed there, mostly women.

Because of the village motel many families now have two breadwinners, and the standard of living has gone up. Rice thinks this is the future Cottage Grove wants.

"We have no serious air pollution. We may be the only city in the valley that doesn't. We want to keep it that way. So we will not accept any industry that does not conform. . . .

"We have two large dams here (Dorena and Cottage Grove), two rivers and a start on our parks. We have decided to emphasize recreation and tourism. We are told that some 60,000 cars a day are going by on the freeway, and we expect to begin getting a larger share of them to stop over," Rice says.

Daley Tempers Earlier Words

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley has clarified his order that police shoot arsonists and looters on sight, but he reiterated his position that such force as is necessary be used to prevent such crimes.

Daley read a statement to the city council Wednesday which tempered the language of his order Monday in connection with arsonists and looters. An aide said the statement was designed to remove the impression that the mayor had called for indiscriminate shootings.

"Certainly an officer should do everything in his power to make an arrest—to prevent a crime—by utilizing minimum force necessary," Daley told the council. "But I cannot believe that any citizen would hold that policemen should permit an arsonist to carry out his dangerous, murderous mission when minimum force necessary cannot prevent or deter him."

Emerging from the council meeting, Daley was asked if he was misunderstood in his "shoot on sight" orders Monday. "Yes I was," Daley replied.

Had he changed his position in the wake of heated controversy which followed his remarks on Monday? "No," Daley replied. "I said very distinctly that all I want is for people to obey the laws."

Daley's statement to the council Wednesday was in connection with a resolution he introduced designating May 1 as Law Day, a resolution which the council adopted unanimously.

Daley evidently was replying to criticism during the April 5-7 disturbances that police did little to stop looters and arsonists.

The mayor touched off a wave of controversy—in the city and the nation—Monday when he rebuked Police Supt. James B. Conlisk for not issuing "shoot on sight" orders during the disturbances. He told a press conference at the time that policemen should "shoot to kill" arsonists and shoot to "maim or cripple" looters.

An aide to the mayor called Daley's statement Wednesday "a clarification" of his earlier order.

Curb Disorder At Prison Camp

JACKSON, N. C. (AP)—A protest sympathizing with the Central Prison violence in Raleigh was staged in Odom Prison Camp Wednesday night.

Prison authorities used tear gas to restore order after 13 mattresses were set afire, a TV set destroyed, a water cooler toppled and windows broken before tear gas was fired into the cellblock.

Two convicts received cuts from flying glass and a third complained of a leg injury.

one Illinois party leader has been asked for support over the telephone three times by the Senator himself, once by brother Teddy (Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts) and once by a pro-Kennedy syndicated newspaper columnist. The incident is not isolated, and Daley resents it.

Nevertheless, Daley the pragmatist would surely pick Kennedy if the polls show him the strongest candidate were it not for mounting sentiment against Kennedy inside the organization. The anti-Bobby mood in the organization is pervasive — ranging from Daley lieutenants such as Rep. Daniel Rostenkowski and Cook County Commissioner George W. Dunne down to ward committeemen.

Some harbor grudges against Bobby dating back to 1960 when, at age 34, he was his brother's toe — stomping campaign manager. But most oppose him as too radical, too undependable, and an anti-organization man.

Exchange Commission in a prompt investigation of mergers.

The movement toward conglomeration, Patman wrote, "is far outrunning the merger movement of the 1920s which preceded the stock market crash and the Depression of the 1930s." And he expressed fear that some of the growing economic giants are "jerky - built and insecure."

No Special Session Call: Moore

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Dan Moore has decided against calling a special session of the General Assembly to study "special needs arising out of riot conditions" in North Carolina.

Mel Broughton, one of three

Democratic candidates for governor, had suggested the special session.

Moore said Wednesday he had given the matter "careful study."

Gov. Kirk To Be Duke Speaker

DURHAM (AP)—Florida Gov. Claude R. Kirk was to speak at the Duke University Law School this afternoon on the right of public employees to strike.

Kirk, a Republican, was graduated from Duke with a bachelor of science degree.

His Duke appearance followed a GOP meeting in Wilmington. From Durham he is to go to Siler City for a Republican fund-raising dinner.

He will speak at a GOP breakfast in Winston-Salem Friday.

because of the seriousness of the issues and out of deference to the suggestion" made by Broughton.

He advised Broughton by letter:

"The Law and Order Committee has been studying proposed changes in our criminal laws and at the proper time expects to make recommendations for strengthening some of these laws to the General Statutes Commission. I will make my recommendation at that time."

"In the meantime," the governor added, "I will be pleased to receive suggestions from all concerned, including, of course, all candidates for governor."

Broughton said last week he had sent a telegram to Moore, also a Democrat, requesting that he call a special legislative session "to deal with special needs arising out of riot conditions in our state." He asked that the governor meet with the gubernatorial candidates of both parties "to discuss the feasibility" of calling a special session.

The next regular session of the legislature begins in January, 1969.

Broughton said Wednesday night he hopes the Law and Order Committee will make its report soon. He added, "I hope the recommendations that I have made heretofore about strengthening laws against rioters will be included in the report."

In recent speeches, Broughton has proposed making participants in a riot, manufacture or possession of firebombs and attacks on law enforcement officers during a declared emergency statewide curfew and making gency felonies. He also advocated enactment of legislation authorizing a riot evidence of participation of an individual at a riot.

Rare Collection On Microfilm

NEW YORK (AP)—A collection of 10,000 rare, early printed books and manuscripts in the Jewish Theological Seminary library has been recorded on microfilm. Technicians using three cameras worked eight hours a day, five days a week for 22 months to photograph the collection. No figures were given but the project was termed "very costly."

West was highly critical of his partner's play to the first trick in defending against South's four spade contract.

West's own performance left something to be desired, however, for he had it in his power to provide East with a clear-cut picture of how to proceed.

West opened the three of clubs, the deuce was played from dummy, and East put in the jack—playing his partner to have led from a holding which included the queen. South won the trick with the queen, however, and proceeded on his merry way.

The jack of spades was led at trick two and West put up the ace. He returned the ten of clubs and declarer ruffed in his hand. A small spade was led to the king, leaving West with the only outstanding trump—the queen.

Another club was trumped by South and a diamond was returned. West discarded a heart, inasmuch as it would have done him no good to trump. North's king of clubs was ruffed with declarer's last spade, and he proceeded to lead the rest of his diamonds. West could ruff with the queen of spades whenever he liked but, after cashing the ace of hearts, he was thru. The defense was limited to two spades and one heart.

West contended that East should have played the ace of clubs at trick one and shifted to a heart, which would have permitted West to take two tricks in that suit. West asserted further that since he did not lead hearts originally, he must have a tenace in that suit rather than a sequence of honors; therefore, East should have been alerted to the necessity for obtaining the lead in order to make a heart play thru declarer.

While there is definite merit to West's contention, he could have facilitated matters greatly by opening the ten of clubs originally, instead of the three. Inasmuch as it was his desire to get East in for a heart play, rather than to cash a club trick, the lead of a high club was more apt to alert partner to his wishes.

If East plays the ace of clubs at trick one and returns a heart, the defense will have their book in immediately with two spade tricks still to be scored.

Traffic Survey Takes But Seconds

The signs read "Traffic Survey 1,500 feet." "Stop 1,000 feet," and finally "STOP." As the automobile stopped, a man stepped forward and asked, "Good afternoon, ma'am, traffic survey. Where are you coming from?" The lady in the car looked up and said, "Greenville."

"Where in Greenville, ma'am?"
"From Dr. . . . 's office."
"Where are you headed?"
"Washington."

"Is that you home?"
"Yes."
"Thank you very much."
Conversations like this will take place all over Greenville for the next two weeks as the traffic survey gathers data for the comprehensive study of the town's traffic patterns.

The conversation usually lasts 20 seconds and one man can question about 50 motorists in an hour.

Some of the stations will be run on a 24-hour basis while others on less traveled roads will be on a 16-hour basis.

When all the data has been gathered, the information will be coded on computer cards and analyzed by computer to project Greenville's traffic needs for the next 20 years.

All queries are confidential and lose their identity as they are translated into numbers, becoming statistics and not names.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has sent to President Johnson a bill authorizing a pilot plan for extending the school-lunch program.

If the President signs it, free lunches will be served at day-care centers and recreational facilities used by underprivileged children. The lunches also will be offered in the summer for the first time.

The Senate overturned its Agriculture Committee's attempt to kill the extension plan. The original school-lunch program was not involved in the legislation.

The bill authorizes a three-year, $96 million program. WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara discloses that when the North Koreans captured the intelligence ship Pueblo Jan. 23 they also seized intact some electronic equipment and classified documents.

McNamara testified Feb. 1 before the Senate Armed Services Committee and the testimony has just been released. He said messages from the Pueblo's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, referred to destruction of equipment and documents before the North Koreans boarded the vessel but McNamara added: "I do not have any idea exactly what was compromised."

The 82 surviving crewmen are still in captivity. One man died shortly after the incident.

Capital Footnots By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson took about 200 persons on a bus tour of Washington to show them improved playgrounds and the capital's flower gardens.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has called for a virtual halt on issuance of construction permits for nuclear power plants pending a two-year federal study of feasible, safe sites.

Capital Quote By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I think the burning days of April have made it clear that one of the great problems of our urban ghettos is that the poor are being swindled, or feel they're being swindled" by neighborhood merchants—Betty Furness, the President's adviser on consumer affairs.

Price On Head Of Farmer Adviser

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
DONG TAM, Vietnam (AP) — Running a two-acre farm and raising everything from black-eyed peas to pigs is hardly a dark enough deed to a price put on a farmer's head.

But the Viet Cong is offering the equivalent of $225 for Capt. Frank Smith, a soft-spoken farm boy from Abilene, Tex. Seems he is becoming too popular with the South Vietnamese.

Inside Smith's compound—known variously as the Forty Acre Follies or the Civic Affairs Ranch—are a farm, a burgeoning school, a thriving sewing room and a dispensary so popular the rush of patients recently collapsed the floor.

The ranch covers about two acres of sweltering delta paddy-land along the Mekong River and hard by the frequently shelled Dong Tam camp of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division.

It is run by Smith and four enlisted men, all Purple Heart Infantry veterans of the 9th Division. The enlisted men also have prices on their heads.

Some extended their 12-month Vietnamese tours to stay with the project. Lanky S.Sgt. Robert Rowan, 23, son of a poultry farmer from Jackson, Miss., extended in hopes of completing a demonstration project to raise local egg production.

The Dong Tam farm started barely a year ago as a civic action project of the adjoining base.

"Nobody had any preconceived notions," said the base commander, Lt. Col. Dwight Adams, former head of the ROTC unit at South Dakota State University at Brookings. "We just wanted to use some imagination."

Smith, a civic affairs specialist with a Ph. D. in educational psychology from the University of Texas, took over eight months ago after spending a month in the hospital as the result of a mine blast.

He wrote his wife in Abilene to send his seeds of almost every kind and also set about promoting livestock for the camp. He now has a noisy flock of ducks, chickens, turkeys, rabbits, goats, pigs and a magnificent boar named Big Jim is improving the delta's usually underdeveloped pig population.

"These people want to learn," Smith noted, waving at the crowded compound. The word and people come from 30 miles or more to see the vegetable plots, examine the livestock or get medical treatment. Patients come to the dispensary from Saigon, almost 50 miles away, because they have heard favorable reports on Vietnam's grapevine.

A two thirds majority of growers voting in a referendum would need to approve any marketing order issued by the USDA.

SEATTLE (AP) — Free medical treatment will be provided for war-injured South Vietnamese children under a project announced Wednesday by a group of Seattle physicians called the Doctors' Committee. Plans are to bring four to six children here initially, and more as space and funds allow. The doctors hope to bring them on returning military flights.

PENURIOUS PROSPERITY HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — What's in a name? Burglars who broke into the Prosperity Elementary school got only 38 cents for their efforts.

Basic Aviation Ground School

Pitt Technical Institute will conduct a 40-hour Basic Aviation Ground School beginning Monday night. The class will meet on Monday nights from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. The course will cost $4.00 plus the cost of textbook. This course is approved by FAA.

Interested persons should contact Joe Downing, Pitt Technical Institute at 756-3130.

WEATHER FORECAST — Widespread areas of showers and rain are forecast for Thursday night in the Pacific Northwest, in Texas and Oklahoma and throughout the Midwest. Snow flurries are expected in parts of Arizona and New Mexico. It will be colder in the Plains and New England states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Walkout Slated Start Today By Communications Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 200,000 AFL-CIO Communications Workers are on the verge of the first nationwide telephone strike in 21 years, but their possible walkout isn't expected to interfere much with service.

Although talks continued in Washington, New York and elsewhere as today's 3 p.m. EST strike deadline neared, "We have regretfully reached the point of no return," said union President Joseph A. Beirne.

"We will maintain service and it will be good service," said H. I. Romnes, chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent firm of the strike-threatened Bell Telephone System.

Heaviest impact of a strike would be on new telephone installations around the country because 23,000 installers who work for Bell's subsidiary Western Electric Co. are involved.

"Despite lengthy attempts by both sides, I am convinced it is now too late to avoid the strike," Beirne said in a statement issued from union headquarters in Washington.

"I don't think it is too late to avert a strike," responded Romnes, who was in Boston Wednesday for an annual AT&T board meeting.

Beirne, who described the nationwide Bell System as a "30 billion dollar computer," conceded a strike would have little immediate impact on the company or telephone users.

But he said without the skills of union members who repair and keep the vast telephone system running, "that computer will eventually become an enormous pile of junk."

The union said a strike would probably hamper some long-distance calls, information requests and other services requiring operators.

Romnes said there might be some initial confusion at the start of a strike, but that supervisors would quickly take over the tasks of telephone operators.

The installers, pattern wage setters for the union, now average $3.27 per hour. Other Bell System workers involved in the threatened strike in 14 states and the District of Columbia average $2.79.

Company wage offers of 7.5 per cent, rejected by the union, would give pay raises averaging about 24 cents per hour to installers and about 20 cents to the other workers over 18 months.

The Bell System said its offer was the equivalent of 5.6 per cent on an annual basis, but that the union was demanding increases of 10.5 per cent over 18 months—7.8 per cent when figured annually.

The union's demands would bring average increases of about 34 cents an hour for installers and about 29 cents for other employees.

ATLANTA (AP) — About 600 Communications workers in North Carolina and South Carolina planned to walk off their jobs at 3 p.m. today in conjunction with a nationwide strike against Western Electric Co.

Altogether, 3,500 communications workers in nine Southeastern states were expected to take part in the strike.

There also is a possibility the strike could affect some Southern Bell Telephone Co. employees who are members of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO.

A spokesman for the union said in Atlanta that striking Western Electric workers would set up picket lines, and fellow union members working for Southern Bell were not expected to cross them.

The spokesman said the pickets would be stationed only at buildings where Western Electric employees worked, and Southern Bell workers at other buildings likely would not be affected by the walkout.

A spokesman for Western Electric gave a breakdown by company districts of the number of persons who would be affected by this walkout. They are North Carolina and South Carolina 600, Florida 650, Louisiana and Mississippi 600, Kentucky and Tennessee 600 and Georgia and Alabama 1,000.

Western Electric is the manufacturing and supply company of the Bell system. A number of its workers are engaged in installing switching equipment in telephone central offices.

Also on the program will be the Rev. Raymond F. Harvey, pastor of the Greenwood Missionary Baptist Church, Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

A brief report from the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council will also be included on the program.

The series of interracial gatherings are designed to bring people together in an atmosphere of worship and Christian fellowship. People of all races and creeds are invited to attend the meeting.

In addition to the Greenville session, conferences will be held April 23 in Jacksonville, April 24 in Raleigh, April 25 in Goldsboro and April 26 in Kannapolis.

Burglars Took Only The Best

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Burglars who broke into a nickel and chromium plating firm here were particular. They took only the best material.

Harry Sica, owner of the factory, told police that only one dozen pieces of nickel were stolen. The burglars grabbed the new metal and left the older pieces behind.

Judge Remembers His Own Plight

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Magistrate E. A. Barbour dismissed a vagrancy charge Wednesday against Jesse Eugene Gonce, 31, of Harrison, Ark., and recalled he was financially "hard up" once.

"You can't arrest a man just for being broke," Barbour said. "I remember once in Jefferson City I was out of money and I hitchhiked to Lebanon."

"I was a state senator then, incidentally," the judge said.

Explaining The Movie Credits

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "We saw that parade of winners at the Academy Awards," writes a bewildered viewer. "What do they do?"

A fair question. The academy often takes for granted that the viewing public will know what an art director or cinematographer does. As a matter of cold fact, most movie-goers haven't the foggiest notion of the nature of the work contributed by the names that are thrown on the screen at the beginning and end of pictures.

Okay, then, here is a guide to movie credits:

Producer—The man who oversees the entire film. He acquires the story; hires the writer, director, actors, etc.; approves the sets and costumes; arranges for studio space and locations; oversees publicity and advertising. Nowadays he often raises the money for the film, and many of today's producers are deal-makers rather than creative film makers.

Trash Is Made 'Valuable' By The Litterbug

NEW YORK (AP) — The litterbug is the most accomplished alchemist of all time. He habitually makes worthless trash "valuable."

Out of the car window goes an empty cigarette pack an empty can or bottle, or other useless object. As they hit the pavement they miraculously have "value." Unhappily, it is nuisance value—the cost of picking them up again and disposing of them properly.

Keep America Beautiful, the national anti-litter organization, reports that the cost of picking up a single piece of litter along a highway runs from 10 to 60 cents, sometimes even higher. It costs $500 million annually to remove litter from U.S. streets, highways, beaches and other public property.

NEW PREMIER

OTTAWA (AP)—Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who will become Canada's prime minister Monday, says he won't announce his new Cabinet members until then.

Arlington National Cemetery is the site of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Director—The man who determines what goes on the film. He chooses the camera angles and tells the actors what to do. The best directors also work with the writer on the script and perform many of the functions of the producer. In fact, some are producer-directors.

Associate producer—He is the producer's aide, sometimes a creative contributor to the project, sometimes little more than a yes-man.

Assistant director—He does the preliminary work for the director in arranging crowds, summoning actors, calling for quiet and otherwise speeding production along.

Writer—He adapts books, plays or other works to script form, or works from his own story. Rarely does his script appear the way he wrote it; usually it reflects contributions by other writers, the director, producer or even the actors.

Cinematographer—A fancy word for cameraman. Actually the head cameraman seldom touches the camera; he approves camera angles and supervises the lighting.

Art director—He plans and designs the look of the picture drawing the sets, choosing colors, etc.

Set decorator—He carries out the art director's designs, providing the furniture and other props.

Film editor—He is responsible for putting the finished film together. He works under the supervision of the director, who determines how the scenes will play. But often the editor performs a creative role of adding pace and excitement to the film.

Composer—He writes the score, with consultation of the director or producer. Usually he conducts the orchestra for the recording.

Sound—One sound man is the "mixer," who supervised the recording and makes sure the dialogue is understandable and properly modulated. The "boom man" operates the boom which extends the microphone over the actors' heads.

Makeup—the artist who does the face makeup gets the screen credit. Body makeup is applied by another person.

Costume designer—The function is important in costume pictures, less so in modern stories. In most cases, actors supply their own modern wardrobe.

Orioles Spoil First Oakland Home Game

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's Boog Powell says the new Oakland Coliseum is a hitter's park, but his teammate Dave McNally made it something less than that for the new tenants.

"The ball seems to carry well here," said Powell after he socked a homer that helped the Orioles to a 4-1 victory over the Oakland Athletics in the first game played in the new edifice. "I'd like to play here all the time."

But McNally, who limited the Athletics to two hits, understandably noticed some advantages for the pitchers.

"I don't think there'll be any cheap home runs here," the young left-hander said. "You still have to hit the ball to get it out."

McNally held the Athletics hitless until Rick Monday homered leading off the sixth and after that the only Oakland hit was Tony La Russa's single in the ninth. He was promptly erased in a double play. A crowd of 50,764 watched the opener.

"We were lucky to get a run," said Athletics' Manager Bob Kennedy. "We only hit the ball hard about four times."

The Orioles hit the ball hard at least three times and they all ended up out of the park with Brooks Robinson and Mark Belanger homering along with Powell.

In other American League games, New York beat California 3-2, Minnesota crushed Washington 13-1, Detroit topped Cleveland 4-3 in 10 innings and Boston shut out Chicago 2-0.

In the National League, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 4-3 in 12 innings, Pittsburgh bombed Houston 13-4, Atlanta blanked Chicago 2-0, New York shut out San Francisco 3-0 and Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 3-2.

Mickey Mantle scored one run and drove in another and the Yankees survived Rick Reichardt's two-run homer in the ninth to beat the Angels before a home-opening crowd of 20,069. Rookie Stan Bahnsen, had blanked California on five hits until the ninth.

Harmon Killebrew's third homer of the young season highlighted the Twins' rout over the Senators before 22,926 in the first Minnesota game at home. Cesar Tovar and Jackie Hernandez also homered and Jim Merritt handcuffed Washington on six hits.

Willie Horton hit a two-run homer with two out in the 10th inning to give the Tigers the triumph after Cleveland had gone ahead in the top of the extra inning. Jim Price's two-out single in the ninth drove in the run that tied the game.

Dick Ellsworth's five-hitter sent the White Sox to their fifth straight loss of the season and Carl Yastrzemski homered in the first inning. The homer was Yast's fourth. It was Ellsworth's second straight victory and two-thirds of the entire Red Sox' victory total.

METS ROOKIE REPEATS SHUTOUT — Rookie Jerry Koozman of the New York Mets pitches against the San Francisco Giants in New York Wednesday during which he recorded his second straight shutout. Koozman pitched a three hit shutout. In his first appearance this season, last Thursday, he pitched a four hitter. He was first Met ever to pitch two consecutive shutouts. (AP Wirephoto)

Rojas' Homer Helps Phils Snap 6 Game Loss String

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the wind shifts his way, little Cookie Rojas can blow up a big storm.

"I hit home runs only in hurricanes," said the slender second baseman, who cracked a game-winning, two-run homer Wednesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies ended a six-game tailspin by edging Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Rojas' fifth inning shot off Drysdale enabled the struggling Phils to pull out their home opener and snap their longest losing streak since 1964, when a ten-game September skid cost them the National League pennant.

The New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates also captured their home openers in impressive fashion, the Mets trimming San Francisco 3-0 behind rookie left-hander Jerry Koozman and the Pirates smothering Houston 13-4 with a 17-hit barrage. Cincinnati nipped St. Louis 4-3 in 12 innings and Atlanta blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0 in other National League action.

Minnesota slugged Washington 13-1, Boston stymied the Chicago White Sox 2-0, Detroit shaded Cleveland 4-3 in 10 innings, Baltimore spoiled Oakland's home debut 4-1 and the New York Yankees topped California 3-2 in American League games.

The Phillies trailed 2-1 when Tony Taylor stroked a two-out single in the fifth and Rojas slammed a 3-2 pitch into the lower center field seats. "I was trying to punch the ball for a hit," said Rojas, whose first 1968 homer gave him a six-year career total of 17. "With a runner on first and Johnny Callison coming up I just wanted to keep it going."

FRIDAY'S SPORTS

Tarboro at Rose Bethel at Grifton Belvoir at Stokes Ayden at Winterville Bayboro at Robinston Greene Central at Four Oaks Cheed at Vanceboro

"He gave me a high fast ball and I punched at it. It got up in the air and the wind did the rest. We were lucky the wind shifted later or Jim Lefebvre's shot in the eighth would have gone out."

Manager Gene Mauch lifted southpaw Woody Fryman with two Dodgers on in the eighth after center fielder Tony Gonzalez raced to the wall and gloved Lefebvre's 400-foot drive. Reliever Dick Farrell then came on to preserve Fryman's first victory as a Phillie.

Koozman scattered seven hits and struck out 10 on the way to his second successive shutout, lowering the Met pitching staff's earned run average to 0.81 before 52,079 Shea Stadium supporters the largest crowd in the majors thus far.

Koozman stopped the Giants cold after escaping a bases-loaded none-out jam in the first inning by striking out Willie Mays, retiring Jim Hart on a foul pop and fanning Jack Hiatt.

Cleon Jones homered for the Mets.

A six-run uprising in the third inning keyed the Pirates' romp over Houston before a Forbes Field crowd of 30,779. Ex-reliever Al McBean, given a commanding early lead, went the distance for his second victory without a loss.

Maury Wills and Jerry May led the Pittsburgh attack with three hits apiece.

Lee May drilled a bases-loaded single in the 12th, breaking a 3-3 tie at Cincinnati and nullifying five hits—including a two-run homer—by the Cardinals' Lou Brock. May delivered the winning hit off reliever Ron Willis, who had filled the bases with a pair of intentional walks after Pete Rose led off with a double and took third on a ground out.

Phil Niekro, the Braves' knuckleball artist, stopped the Cubs on four hits for his second triumph in as many decisions. Felipe Alou's third inning single drove in the only run Niekro needed and Hank Aaron provided insurance with a seventh-inning homer.

Kinston Off To Flying Start With Four Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kinston Eagles are off to a flying start in the Carolina League with four straight victories.

Righthanders Bob Darrah and John Leavell combined to pitch a five-hitter Wednesday night. Kinston defeated Portsmouth 5-1 at Kinston. Darrah worked the first six innings, allowing three hits. Leavell gave up two hits in the final three innings.

A three-run homer by Joe Campbell with two out in the ninth gave Raleigh-Durham a 6-victory over Peninsula at Raleigh. Campbell's drive over the leftfield screen came off reliever Al Brown.

Pitcher Bucco Dominguez came on in relief to preserve a 6-5 victory for Lynchburg over Salem at Salem, Va. Starter Rowe got credit for the victory, but Dominguez recorded a save as he turned in some clutch pitching for 2 and 1-3 innings to give Lynchburg the season-opening series, three games to one.

Effective eight-hit pitching by Richard Such gave Burlington a 2-1 victory over Greensboro at Burlington. A pair of unearned runs in the first inning were all Such needed. He surrendered his only run in the second.

Rocky Mount shoved across a run in the bottom of the ninth to edge Wilson 5-4 at Rocky Mount and hand the Tobs their first loss of the season.

In the other league game, Winston-Salem defeated High Point-Thomasville 3-1 at Thomasville.

Connie Day Two Wins Away From North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Blonde Connie Day of Cleveland, Tenn., was two victories away today from achieving the championship she narrowly missed a year ago in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Her semifinals opponent over 18 holes today was Kaye Beard of Campbellsville, Ky. The winner will move to the finals Friday against the survivor of today's match between Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis and Maureen Crum of Lakeland, Fla.

Last spring Miss Day trimmed Mrs. Day in the semifinals, then lost the championship match to Phyllis "Tish" Preuss 1 up.

Miss Preuss, of Pompano Beach, Fla., two-time winner of the tournament and twice a runnerup, was one of three former champions who were eliminated, along with medalist Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., in Wednesday's two rounds.

Mrs. Nancy Roth Syms of Hollywood, Fla., and Mrs. Philip Cudone of Myrtle Beach, S.C., were other former winners who bit the dust in one of the roughest days on "name" players in recent years.

Miss Preuss was beaten by Mrs. Scott Probacko of Chattanooga, Tenn., 1 up; Lancy Smith of Snyder, N.Y., trimmed Mrs. Syms 2 and 1; Joyce Kazmierski of Detroit toppled Mrs. Cudone 4 and 2, all in the second round, and none survived the afternoon quarterfinals.

Miss Day advanced with a 2 up victory over Mrs. R. H. MacLaurin of Savannah, Ga., and a 2 and 1 triumph over Miss Kazmierski, who turned 2 up.

Miss Beard ousted Pat O'Brien of Pittsfield, Mass., 5 and 4, and turned back Lancy Smith 4 and 3.

Mrs. Dye followed a 3 and 2 victory over Marge Burns with an 8 and 7 rout of Mrs. H. S. Semple of Sewickley, Pa.

Miss Crum edged Dianne Dailey of Frankfort, Ky. in 19 holes, then ousted Mrs. Probacko 6,000-yard No. 2 course of the No. 2 up in their match over the Pinehurst Country Club.

Casper Favored At Champions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Billy Casper slammed a succession of tremendous drives off the practice tee. Fellow golfer Chi Chi Rodriguez asked amiably.

"Why don't you take the week off?" Rodriguez was referring, not so indirectly, to the fact that two other great golfers, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, are sitting out the Tournament of Champions, which got underway today.

Casper, although never a winner in the 15 previous tournaments of champions, is favored to haul in the $30,000 from the $150,000 purse over 24 rivals.

Gusty winds plagued the tournament site, the 6,625-yard, par 36-35-71 Stardust Country Club, the past two days. However, the weatherman promised winds of only eight to 10 miles an hour for the opening round.

Frank Beard, the 1967 winner. Boros, Tom Weiskopf and Masters champion Bob Goalby were generally regarded as leading threats to Casper.

Celts-76ers Go To Final Game

By LARRY ELDRIDGE

BOSTON (AP) — The annual National Basketball Association showdown between the rival Philadelphia 76ers and the Boston Celtics has come down to its final playoff game. You can take your pick of opinions on how much the home edge will mean.

"The home court doesn't mean much to these two teams, Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said after his Celtics evens the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals 3-3 with a 114-106 victory Wednesday night. "The team that has a good night wins; it's as simple as that."

Philadelphia's Alex Hannum sees it differently.

"If the Celtics can come in there and beat us they deserve all the credit in the world, because they're going to be up against a tough basketball team," Hannum said.

"We worked all season for the home court advantage," he added. "We've still got it. We're going to have that crowd yelling for us Friday night."

The Celtics had it Wednesday night, and they made the most of it before a wildly cheering crowd of 14,780 at Boston Garden, leading virtually all the way behind the sparkling all-round play of Russell and John Havlicek.

Russell scored 17 points, played a strong defensive game, and dominated the boards in his personal duel with Wilt Chamberlain, hauling in 31 rebounds. Havlicek led the Celtics with 28 points and was all over the court in a brilliant floor game.

National League Ready To Disclose New Sites

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — National League baseball club owners will meet Friday apparently intent on selecting two new franchises and deciding whether to play catch-up with the American League on the start of a 12-club circuit.

The American League last fall approved expansion to 12 clubs in 1969, reviving a Kansas City franchise to compensate for the A's switch to Oakland this season and adding Seattle as a second new member.

Warren Giles, National League president, earlier this week said the meeting was aimed only at setting down ground rules to five cities seeking the two new franchises for operation not later than 1970.

But one NL club executive said "there could be some definite action because time is getting short."

The franchise applicants include Dallas-Fort Worth, San Diego, Milwaukee, Montreal and Buffalo.

Although Giles said he expected no major action by the NL club owners, urgency could be prompted by the fact the American League has a special meeting scheduled in Chicago next Thursday. Approval may be given then to a proposed controversial divisional split of the 12-club line-up in 1969 with a championship playoff.

This would confront the National League with an overshadowing of its own pennant race by the AL playoffs and mess up of scheduling, particularly the World Series buildup, under the present 10-club NL line-up.

The National League previously voted to expand not later than 1970, but this could be reconsidered by the powerful three-man expansion committee which will report to the club owners Friday.

This trio includes Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Roy Hofheinz of the Houston Astros and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A unanimous vote is needed by the NL to field 12 teams next year.

Player, deVincenzo Picked In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Gary Player of South Africa and Roberto deVincenzo were the top names in a formidable foreign entry that hoped to make hay in the $35,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament opening today.

Most U.S. touring stars who qualified by winning a tournament in the last 12 months were competing in the Tournament of Champions, a $150,000 number at Las Vegas, Nev.

In their absence, about 140 players, most of them acknowledged lesser lights on the tour, and others with ability but a recent run of bad luck, gathered at the Cape Fear Country Club for the four-day, 20th annual Azalea in this port city.

DeVincenzo, who signed an incorrect scorecard and lost a chance to finish in a first place tie in the Masters last Sunday, was the sentimental favorite, but there was little room for sentiment among the tourists gathered here.

Howie Johnson, who gained a measure of fame 10 years ago when he defeated Arnold Palmer in an 18-hole playoff to win the Azalea, led the pro-amateur field Wednesday with a 64 round, worth $250.

He shot 32-32 over the par 36 course measuring 6,575 yards. Young Australian Bob Stanton was runnerup at 66 to win $210.

Joe Campbell, loser of a playoff to Randy Glover here last spring, and Player were among seven pros who shot 67 to win $130 each. South Africans Allen Henning and Cobey LeGrange were others at that figure.

Local Golfers Defeat Wilson

Brook Valley Country Club defeated Wilson yesterday 55-28 in the weekly Eastern Carolina Golf Association match.

The victory was the third straight for the local golfers, who won this one on their home course.

Brook Valley will also be the site of the weekly pro-am tournament on Monday. Some 100 pros and amateurs are expected to take part in the tournament. It is the first time the pro-am has been held at Brook Valley.

Tentative plans now call for the finals of the pro-am to be held at Brook Valley later in the year.

Stokes Defeats Williamston B

STOKES — Stokes - Pactolus defeated the Williamston B team yesterday, 6-1.

Ward Parker hurled a two-hitter in the victory for Stokes, striking out three and walking five.

Stokes got enough to win in the second inning, with two runs. Hudson led off with a double and Lee reached on an error. Conleton was also safe on an error, scoring Hudson. Lee then scored on Bullock's error.

Hudson was the leading Stokes hitter with two doubles. Williamston B 001 000 0-1 2 2 Stokes 020 004 x-6 4 3

Grifton Defeats Stokes, 14-3

GRIFTON—The Grifton Bulldogs rolled to a 14-3 victory over Stokes-Pactolus Tuesday.

Grifton put together 15 hits, including a homer by Irvin Gray, in rolling up the victory. They got additional help from six Stokes errors.

Getting hits for Grifton were Kenneth Owens, Jimmy Coles, Johnny Tayloe, Gray, Larry Simmons, Richard Little and Chuck Hooks, each with two.

Stokes picked up its three runs on six hits, and four Grifton errors.

Greene Central Beats N. Hope

GOLDSBORO — Greene Central rolled to an 8-0 victory over New Hope last night in an Eastern Plains Conference baseball game.

The victory evened up the conference record of the Rams at 3-3. They are 4-3 overall.

Greene Central pushed into the lead in the second inning when three runs came across.

Gilbert Cobb led off with a double, while Marion Hill drew a walk. Lee Quinn was then safe on an error, loading the bases. Sammy Barrow slapped a single, driving in all three runs.

Greene Central went on to add one in the third, three more in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Cobb hurled the shutout, allowing five hits. He was also the leading Ram hitter, getting three, including his double in the second.

Many Look For An Active Role By Coretta King

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An hour before the funeral of her husband, Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. reclined in her bedroom, alone, for the moment, with her grief.

It had been an exhausting morning for her already. Her parents had arrived from Alabama and she rose early to greet them. Then there were a raft of last-minute arrangements that required her attention. And there were the inevitable unforeseen minor crises such as when Bernice, her 5-year-old, spilled juice on her crisp white dress and it had to be washed and ironed all over again.

Finally everything was done and Mrs. King went to her room to relax. One final visitor arrived—Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

The former First Lady made her way to the bedroom and spent five minutes with Mrs. King. Afterward Mrs. King said the brief visit had been most comforting.

The obvious parallel in the manner of their husbands' deaths remained unspoken. Neither could have known then how many other parallels would be drawn between the two widows as the day wore on and millions watched on television.

Watching the majesty of Mrs. King's bearing, her unwavering composure during the long day of services, her motherly solicitude and the faultless behavior of her children, it was impossible not to recall the indomitable Jacqueline at the funeral of John F. Kennedy.

For most Americans it was perhaps their first glimpse of the wife of Martin Luther King Jr.

For those who followed her husband's crusades closely, however, she was a familiar figure. Slender and erect, she appeared with him at demonstrations throughout Dixie.

Coretta Scott King says that ever since she was a girl in Perry County, Ala., where she was born on April 27, 1927, she has been determined to do something positive in the cause of human rights.

The words she spoke when she brought her husband's body to the chapel where it would lay in repose came from deep conviction: "The day that the Negro people and others in bondage are truly free, the day hate is abolished, the day war is no more, on that day I know my husband will rest in a long deserved peace."

Many expect Mrs. King to take a more active role in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which her husband founded.

"In my heart I feel it is God's will for his work to go on," she said in an Easter Sunday talk at the Ebenezer Baptist church where her husband was copastor. "Our dedication and concern to the task of continuing

Knows The Law Of Progression

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Santiago Espinoza is well acquainted with the law of arithmetical progression. Seven years ago, she came home from the hospital with a daughter, Mary Magdalena. Five years ago, in the same hospital she gave birth to twins, Santiago and Sylvia. Recently, at the same hospital she had triplets, Juan, Jose and Jesus.

his unfinished work will be the greatest tribute to my husband."

Mrs. King met her husband while she was studying voice at the New England Conservatory of Music and he was working toward his Ph.D. at Boston University.

She recalls that on their first date he told her, "You know, you have everything I ever wanted in a woman. We ought to get married someday."

They moved to Montgomery, Ala., where he became pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist church and launched the Montgomery bus boycott.

During the boycott Coretta King had her first terrifying brush with violence. A bomb exploded on their front porch and smashed the living room. Nobody was hurt. She and the baby were in the rear of the house; her husband was not at home.

With that experience Mrs. King began to steel herself against the possibility of tragedy.

"We all realize that something could happen," she once said. "If it happens I think it will be the will of God. If it happens, it would be a great way to give oneself to a great cause. But I pray God nothing happen."

Mrs. King's main work with the SCLC, to which she has been named a director, was in organizing fund-raising concerts.

The concerts raised more than $55,000. They combined a lecture, poetry and music hat told the history of the right movement. Mrs. King narrated and sang.

Mrs. King has received a number of honors. The National Council of Negro Women gave her its brotherhood award in 1957. The American Jewish Congress cited her for her work for peace and human relations. In 1960 she was a delegate to the White House Conference on Children and Youth. In 1962 she was a member of the Women's Strike for Peace which went to the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, and in 1966 her name was on the Gallup Poll of most admired women.

She says one of her greatest thrills, however, was when her husband won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964.

With her husband's death, Mrs. King finds special comfort in her children, Yolanda, 12, Martin, 10, Dexter, 7 and Bernice, 5.

Now, of course, come the childlike questions about death. "Should I hate the man who killed Daddy?" asked Yolanda. "No," replied Mrs. King. "You shouldn't. It's not the Christian way."

Bikini Models Tied Up Traffic

TOKYO (AP) — Police ordered cancellation of an outdoor exhibition of swimsuits on the Ginza after bikini-clad models caused a traffic jam.

A department store had scheduled two exhibitions for the day to promote this year's beachwear. Police ordered the second show canceled after the crowd at the first exhibition blocked the street and ignored police orders to move.

Award Contract By Toss Of Coin

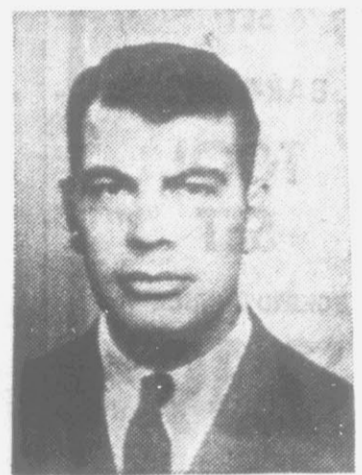

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Toss of a coin determined a $1,033,000 contract to build a regional library in the Norwalk Civic Center. When bids were opened, it turned out that the R. J. Daum Construction Co. and the W. E. Lyons Co. submitted identical bids for $1,033,000. A clerk tossed a coin into the air. A call of "heads" by the Lyons Co. representative won the toss and the contract.

Call For Solving Of Urban Ills

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Mayor M. C. Benton was presented with petitions asking responsible action in correcting Winston-Salem's urban ills Wednesday at the end of an orderly march by some 300 persons.

The crowd, most of them Wake Forest students and faculty, marched from the campus to City Hall. One petition carried the names of students who pledged at least eight hours of their time for any constructive use the city could make of them.

Mayor Benton said the city would use the student labor in recreation and tutoring as well as in clean up of urban areas.

Great new weed killer for cotton and soybeans

Planavin* Herbicide does a beautiful job of weed and grass control. Does not require immediate incorporation. You can incorporate hours later if you want to. Or as you spray.

New Planavin is effective. A pre-emergence weed killer that works in wet or dry soil. Long-term weed control for cotton and soybeans. Planavin kills over 20 annual grasses and broadleaf weeds as they sprout. But cotton and soybeans grow right through it. Planavin doesn't break down rapidly when exposed to air and sunlight. So you can incorporate hours after spraying, or as you apply it.

Planavin lets you go ahead and spray—by air or wide-boom ground equipment if you want to. There's no need to slow down or wait for incorporation to catch up.

Call us right now—for new Planavin Herbicide and a beautiful job of weed control this season.

Opine Universe Closed System

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy researchers report they've obtained evidence the universe is a curved, closed system—and therefore inexorably doomed to fiery destruction some 10 billion years from now.

They said the new findings—gleaned from the flight of an Aerobee rocket—appear to provide a possibly definite answer to a great cosmological question that has plagued scientists for generations:

Will the now-expanding universe, with its millions of star-filled galaxies, grow forever—or is it a closed system whose expansion will gradually slow to a stop, with catastrophic results?

Dr. Richard C. Henry of the Naval Research Laboratory, who reported the findings Wednesday on behalf of a five-man research team, said the rocket-gathered evidence "indicates strongly that the universe is closed."

He said such a system, would "fall inward until all the galaxies condense again to one great fireball of matter and radiation."

Henry, 28, a research fellow supported by the National Science Foundation, reported to a special symposium marking the dedication of NRL's new Hubert Center for Space Research.

He amplified in an interview: The Aerobee rocket, in a 100-mile-high flight above the White Sands, N.M., missile range last September, detected and measured certain cosmic X-rays coming from galaxies beyond the Milky Way.

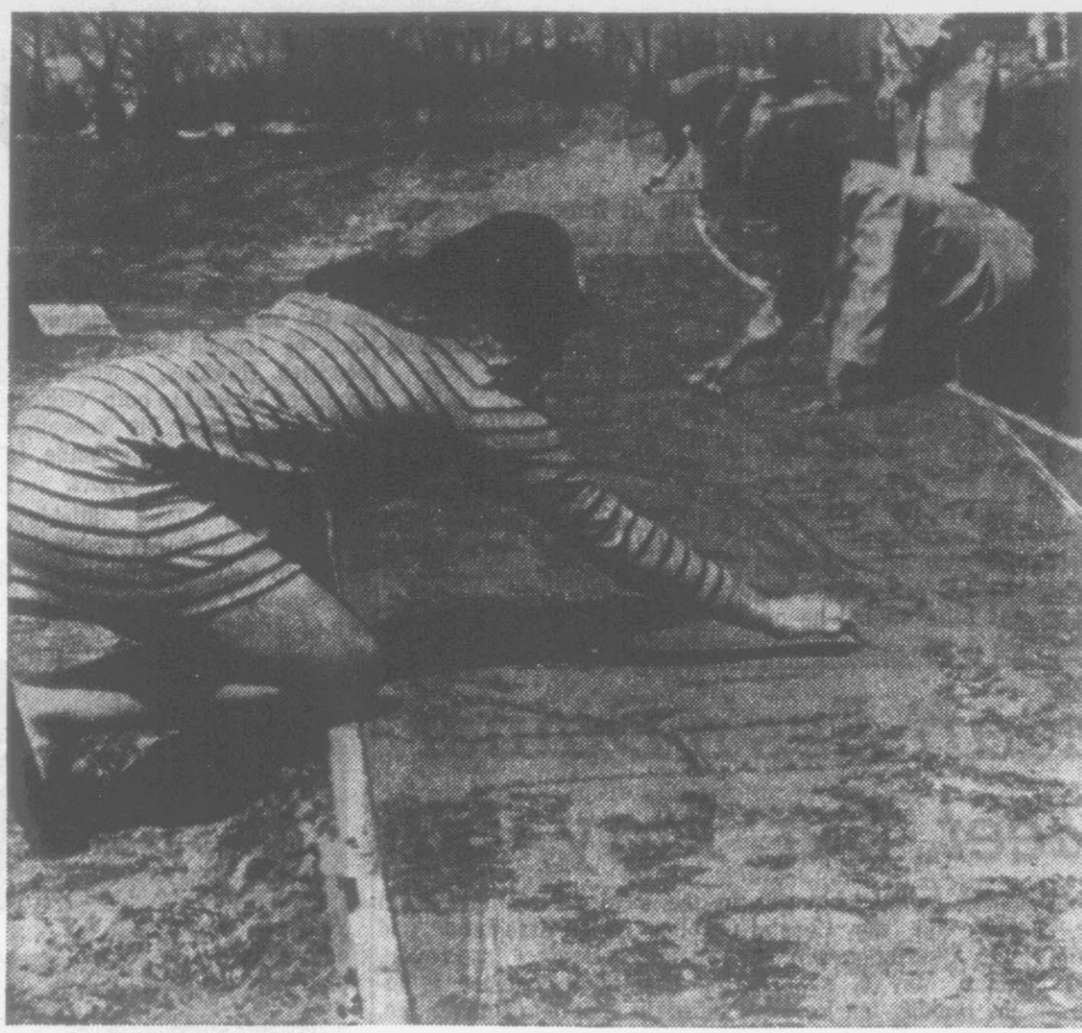

That evidence indicated there may be 100 times as much matter dispersed in the vast reaches of space between galaxies as there is in all the mass of all the galaxies combined.

Henry explained that a closed universe—with a curved-space boundary—contains a certain amount of material within it. The amount is vastly greater than that of an open or ever-expanding universe.

"These observations of the Aerobee," he said, "indicate that there's enough matter in the universe to produce the complete curvature required for a closed universe."

Hire Consultants For Road Study

RALEIGH (AP)—A New York consulting firm will help a special "blue ribbon" commission studying North Carolina's highway needs and programs.

LEAVING THEIR MARK ON CAMPUS — The cement finisher in the background must surely feel a little frustrated that his smooth job was so riddled up by students at Monticello College (Godfrey, Ill.). Kenneth Wooten, a Raleigh attorney and commission member, said Wednesday the consultants, Coverdale and Colpitts, will be paid for their services on a per diem basis.

He said the firm will not undertake a comprehensive or exhaustive study but an "audit type study" of road financing, needs and management.

The Worry Clinic It's Smarter To Play The Batting Averages

Amy's case rates among the 3 most common domestic tragedies in America nowadays. So send for the booklet below. And get it circulating among the teen-agers at high school and Sunday School. Girls, don't try to obtain your moral rules from TV or the movies!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-546: Amy G., aged 18, is due to have a baby soon.

"But, Dr. Crane," her school teacher aunt telephoned me, "she is not married."

"The baby's father is a nice young man but in college and unable to finance a home at present."

"Besides, I don't even know if he would marry Amy."

"So our problem is what to do in this matter. Should Amy try to keep the baby or let it be adopted?"

The basis of our moral laws is this:

"Whatever does the most good for the most people over the longest period of time, is right and just!"

By using that yardstick, will more people benefit by letting this baby be adopted, or by having Amy try to keep it?

Alas, thousands of girls are in the same boat with Amy.

Because the female personality is destined primarily to be a mother, these girls then are distraught as they try to decide.

At the outset, it seems painful and almost cruel to them to give up their baby for adoption.

But that is usually the best decision, if marriage between the unwed parents is neither possible nor desirable.

For thousands of cultured, moral couples are now childless but eager to have a baby.

By letting her baby go into such a home, Amy would obviously cause great delight to the new adopting father and mother.

The baby, too, would be much happier, for it would thus grow up in a happy, 2-parent home, without the stigma of being a shunned "brat" of an unwed mother.

It would thus enjoy the emotional stability of being a "wanted" child by BOTH parents!

And it would also benefit from the social status of two devoted and "legal" parents.

"But what about Amy?" you may ask.

"Wouldn't she be more miserable and unhappy?"

Well, stop to analyze the situation.

Would Amy be less happy in the long run?

For if she tries to keep the child, it will be stigmatized and socially ostracized, thus causing Amy continual heartache.

For it will lack legal status. And not have two devoted parents.

Nor will it enjoy even the food and educational advantages so Amy will grieve and weep many times if she tries to keep the baby.

Besides, her own future will also be hampered if she does try to hold on to her child, for she can't go on to school for training by which to obtain a good job.

And her chances of a future marriage will be much less.

Even if she is moderately unhappy, isn't it mathematically true that 3 happier people will offset one unhappy person?

"Oh, but Dr. Crane," somebody may occasionally exclaim, "I was in Amy's position but the baby's father finally married me and we've been happy."

That's fortunate but unusual so in life it is smart to play the batting averages and they prove that adoption is generally far better for all concerned.

To avoid such unwed pregnancies, send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Circulate it among teen-agers in high school and Sunday School, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Funds Approved For Guard Cost

RALEIGH (AP) — Emergency funds totaling $400,000 were made available Wednesday to help pay the bill for National Guard services during recent disorders in North Carolina.

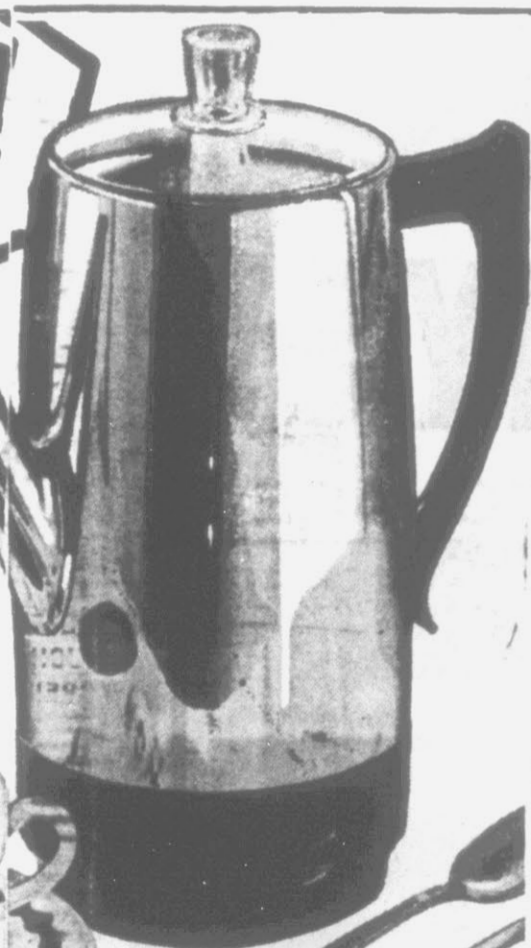

Gov. Dan Moore and the Council of State approved allocations of $200,000 from the State Contingency and Emergency Fund and $200,000 from the Highway Fund reserve for contingencies.

The council said National Guard expenses are expected to total $800,000. The remaining $400,000 is expected to come from funds budgeted for the Departments of Administration and Motor Vehicles.

Gubernatorial Candidates Crisscrossing State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Be ye a millworker, tobacco farmer, officeworker or housewife on a downtown shopping trip, chances are you may be face to face with at least one of the five candidates for governor before North Carolina's May 4 primary.

With the election less than three weeks away, the candidates are crisscrossing the state on handshaking tours. The goal of many candidates during the campaign has been to visit at least one town or city in each of the state's 100 counties.

They use private planes to hop from one side of the state to the other and cover three or more counties by car during each 12-16-hour campaign day. Mel Broughton, one of three candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, toured Greene, Lenoir and Martin counties in the East Wednesday and was in Buncombe, Transylvania and Henderson counties in the far western part of the state today.

At Williamston Wednesday night, Broughton renewed his criticism of Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, saying he was absent from "about 70 per cent" of the State Board of Education meetings during the past three years "not because he was too busy working, but he was too busy campaigning for another office."

While in Robeson and Anson counties Wednesday, Scott repeated that he opposes a tobacco tax "at this time." But he said "pressures for additional sources of revenue may necessitate such a tax."

While in Wadesboro, the lieutenant governor said he would deplore "the day when students will dictate to school administrators and elected school officials what policies shall be followed." He made the comment in taking note of a pupil walk-out begun last week in Anson.

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, the third Democratic candidate for governor, received a cordial welcome from people he met on the streets in a handshaking tour of Lincoln and Cleveland counties. Hawkins, a Negro, introduced himself to both Negroes and whites and his reception ranged from a polite smile to pledges of active support.

In Pinehurst Wednesday, Stickle said he stands by his earlier charge that Gardner has spoken in favor of some labor union goals in conflict with the state's right to work laws. In reply, Gardner said Wednesday in Bakersville that he favors the right to work law and accused Stickle of "fuzzy thinking."

At issue is a report that Gardner said he favored non-union workers having to pay a pro-rata contribution for union representation in plants where a majority of the workers voted to

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets mediums advanced one cent. balance unchanged. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 33 1/4-34 1/4; medium, whites: 29-29 1/2 small, whites: 23-24 1/4.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady to 25 cents higher. Tops of 18.00-18.50 at Rocky Mount; 17.75-18.50 at Wilson; 17.25-18.50 at Tarboro; 17.25-18.25 at Bethel; 17.00-18.00 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mt. Olive, Newton Grove, Albemarle and Lumberton; 18.25 at Salisbury; 18.00 at Greensboro; 17.50 at Siler City and Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed an irregular advance in active trading this afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 300 issues on the New York Stock Exchange, while industrial averages were depressed by softness in component blue chips. This continued a pattern shown in the past couple of days.

Analysts saw profit taking on blue-chip strength that followed the first news of possible peace talks nearly three weeks ago. While fundamental optimism continued, there was wide recognition in Wall Street that after six straight daily advances the market was headed for some kind of correction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up at 325.8 with industrials off .4, rails up 1.7 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average was lower all morning but by noon showed a slight gain of .52 at 908.69.

A rise of nearly 3 points by International Nickel followed news of its 2 1/2-for-1 stock split proposal, a boost in its dividend and a rise in earnings.

Du Pont, influential in the averages, continued weak, dropping about 1 1/2 in continued profit taking.

Another key stock, Johnsonville, dropped about 2 points. The building materials concern and others in its group were affected by news that housing starts dropped 3.5 percent in March. U.S. Gypsum lost more than a point.

Big Three auto stocks took fractional losses. Steels continued to edge higher on balance.

Sunaco, up about a point, continued its spurt, adding another large percentage gain for this relatively low priced issue. IBM lost 2 and Polaroid gained 2. Southern Railway, Merck and Zenith were off about a point each.

McDonnell Douglas lost 2 1/4 at 439 1/2 on a block of 155,800 shares after opening at 45 on a block of 116,400 shares.

The American Stock Exchange index was higher despite a slight preponderance of losers.

Sneed High Claims 3 N.C. Banks 'Favored'

"Only 13 percent of the state's $55 million in checking accounts is deposited in 267 banks and eligible depositories, while three banks enjoy the interest free use of fully 87 percent of the state's checking accounts," Sneed High, candidate for State treasurer, claimed this week.

High in challenging incumbent Edwin Gill for the Democratic nomination.

"It is apparent," the 52-year-old veteran legislator said, "that the present state treasurer has favored Wachovia, North Carolina National and First Citizens, while the smaller banks, scattered all over the state receive just a token share in these checking account deposits as directed by the treasurer."

High gave the following deposits on the checking account of the State of North Carolina in banks of this area as of June 30, 1966:

The Planters National Bank, Greenville, $28,337.74; State Bank and Trust Co., Greenville, $26,694.31; Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., Greenville, $196,823.75; The Bank of Farmville, $24,060.93; The Bank of Winterville, $27,225.82.

He said the figures were from the last published treasurer's report on Jan. 15, 1967 on pages 12 through 17.

The total amount on checking accounts on June 30, 1966, was $55,086,305.44, including almost $6 million in two New York Banks on "interest reserve account," High said.
