

Tornadoes Reap Toll Of Death And Destruction

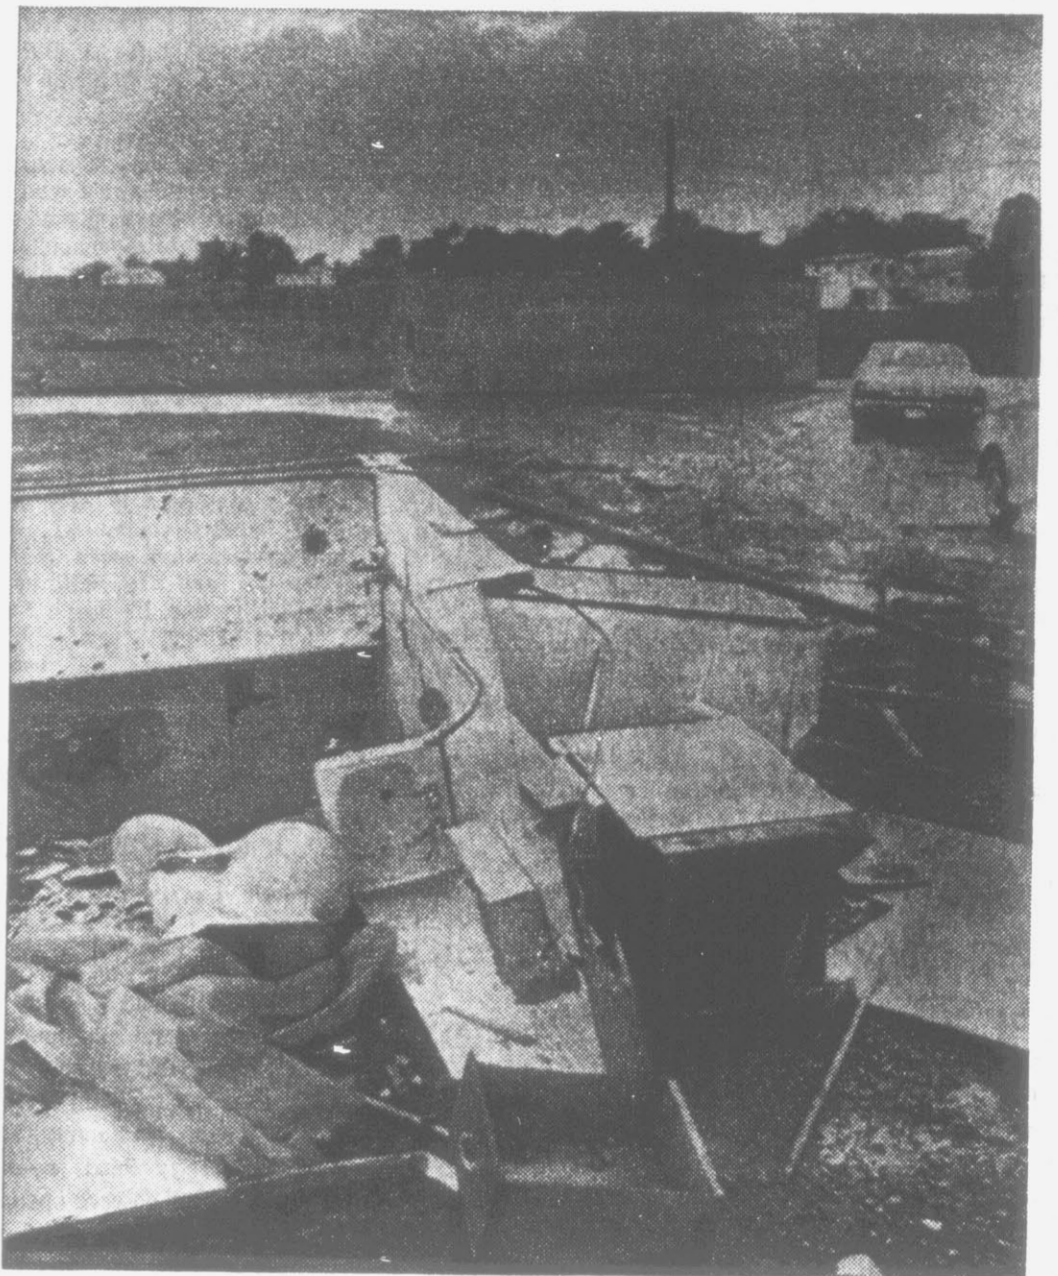

FOUR HOMES LEVELED — A tornado hit Falmouth, Ky. Tuesday afternoon spreading death and destruction over a crazy quilt 400-foot wide path. Four houses were standing back of the trees when the storm struck and a section of roofing from one of them lodged in the work of a tree. (AP Wirephoto)

Tornadoes ripped into small communities in Kentucky and Ohio Tuesday, spreading death and destruction. Twisters also struck two towns in Michigan, causing damage but no deaths. The count of dead rose to 13. Included were 4 in Falmouth, Ky., 1 near Augusta, Ky., 6 in Wheelersburg, Ohio, 1 in Clermont County, Ohio, and 1 in Brown County, Ohio. The storms injured 207 persons, left more than 700 homeless and wrought damage in excess of $2 million. "We were going through a taste of death right there," reported Henry Dance, 77, a Falmouth resident who was at home with his wife. "It sounded like a clap of thunder," he said, "and then the roof began to fall. Holding on to each other, we fell down by the divan and part of the floor fell on us. The Lord saved us, that's all." A residential area of about six square blocks bore the brunt of the storm in Falmouth, a community of 2,600 in northern Kentucky. The business section of town was largely spared. The twister, swirling out of thunderstorms Tuesday, struck at midafternoon at points near the Ohio river. "We saw the funnel coming," reported Mrs. William Clinger, who works at the Falmouth Outlook, a weekly newspaper. "All of us ran into the basement. There was a horrible noise, like a train coming. Then it hit." Mrs. Lewis Mockbee, 72, said, "It just began to blow, then the hail came, breaking out windows. I got down into a corner and prayed." The Mockbee home was spared, but a garage was destroyed. Falmouth Mayor Max Goldberg said about one-third of the small farming community was destroyed. He said property damage would run between $2 and $3 million. Gov. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky rushed to the scene of devastation. He said quick preliminary estimates show that at least 75 homes "were damaged to the extent of $15,000 each." The victims were an elderly couple and two small children. More than 100 injuries were reported. At one point Pendleton County Hospital reported it handled so many patients that officials were not even sure of how many had been admitted. To the east some 125 miles, Wheelersburg reeled under the vicious eye of another twister. The count of injured stood at 75 while rescue workers still crawled over the wreckage of more than 40 homes searching for other victims. The tornado cut a swath through several subdivisions, leveling or damaging houses and business places in its path. Wheelersburg is an unincorporated community eight miles east of Portsmouth, Ohio. Near Cincinnati, tornadoes hit western Clermont County and then dipped again at Ripley in Brown County. The storm occurred shortly after the twister hit Falmouth, 35 miles south of Cincinnati.

Conservationists Hit Recreation Area Plan

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina conservation groups are lining up to battle a proposal by the State Board of Conservation and Development that the William B. Umstead State Park be transformed into a recreational complex. Dr. Fred Barkalow, a North Carolina State University professor, said Tuesday, "this is a national problem and probably can be fought at that level ... Congress is the only place we can fight." The C&D Board approved a recommendation Tuesday that Umstead Park, 11 miles west of Raleigh, be turned into a recreational complex. It also approved a resolution that 300 acres in the park be set aside as a possible site for the proposed state zoo. Barkalow told the State Wildlife Resources Commission that the park site was donated to the state by the U.S. Parks Service in 1943 on the condition that it would revert to the federal agency if it were not used as a park. T.N. Massie of Sylva, chairman of the Wildlife Commission, told Barkalow: "I'm sure that the commission as a whole is in sympathy with you. I feel we should remain status quo right now. But come back and we'll start working with you."

Turner W. Battle of Rocky Mount, executive secretary of the N.C. Wildlife Federation, also cited the reversionary clause in the park's deed. He predicted five additional conservation organizations "will take a strong stand against the (recreational complex) proposal." Dr. Arthur Cooper of N.C. State University, chairman of the Conservation Committee of the N.C. Academy of Science, indicated in an interview the 800-member academy would take a dim view of the proposed plan for Umstead Park. Rep. Elton Edwards of Greensboro, a member of the Zoological Gardens Study Commission, criticized the board for its recommendation offering land in the park as a site for the proposed state zoo. "It seems to me to be out of place," he said, "for a state agency or board to recommend the zoo should be located at a particular place. That ignores the work of the commission... It is going to cause hard feelings in all area of the state which are trying to get the zoo."

Plans for the 5,200-acre park call for the construction of botanical gardens, an arboretum, a band shell, an outdoor theater, a golf course, historical exhibits, several man-made lakes, horse stables and swimming.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Harlem Congressman Adam Clayton Powell underwent surgery Tuesday at Jackson Memorial Hospital and was immediately taken to a secluded room with a "no visitors" sign on the door.

Grimesland Native Dies In Vietnam

Sgt. Jenies I. Mobley, 24, was killed in combat in Vietnam on April 19, 1968. The funeral will be in Greenville at a time to be announced later. Sgt. Mobley spent all his life in the Grimesland Community and was graduated from the Grimesland High School in 1962. He entered the U. S. Army in October, 1966, and had been in Viet Nam three months. Surviving are his wife, the former Linda Kay Morgan of near Washington to whom he was married in 1965; and his parents: Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mobley of near Grimesland.

Sgt. J. I. Mobley

Draft Quota For May Increased

RALEIGH (AP) — State Selective Service Headquarters says North Carolina's draft quota for May has been increased from 1,639 to 1,709. Maj. Harvey Waller Jr. of the state office said Tuesday no word of an increase has been received on the Tar Heel quota of 1,066 for June.

Federal Food For 18 N.C. Counties Seen

RALEIGH (AP) — Poor persons in 18 North Carolina counties will be fed, beginning in May, under an emergency federal program. The counties are among 27 eastern North Carolina counties singled out as "hunger counties" by a committee of the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty. Officials of the state planning task force announced Wednesday that more than $500,000 will be made available to participating counties during the remaining two months of this fiscal year. The 18 counties included in the emergency food program are Anson, Bertie, Bladen, Columbus, Duplin, Gates, Greene, Halifax, Hoke, Jones, Martin, Northampton, Pender, Robeson, Sampson, Tyrrell, Franklin and Scotland. Counties named by the Citizens Crusade which will not be included in the emergency program are Beaufort, Brunswick, Harnett, Hertford, Hyde, Pamlico, Perquimans, Washington and Wayne.

No Proposal For Paris Talk Site

PARIS (AP) — Information minister Georges Gorse said today the government has received no proposal that Paris be the site for preliminary talks between the United States and North Vietnam. "The possibility that Paris might be a site was raised by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant as he passed through the French capital Tuesday.

President Sees Question Of Hanoi Wanting Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told diplomats the United States is in frequent touch with North Vietnam on the subject of choosing the site for a Vietnam peace talk. Johnson said he and his advisers do not know whether the North Vietnamese leadership is seriously interested in solving the site problem or whether it has some other purpose in mind. Some officials have suggested Hanoi may be mainly making propaganda. Johnson discussed the situation as he sees it in an informal talk with diplomats and others at a White House reception Tuesday night. Various versions of what he said were reported. "We are in contact with them," he was quoted as having said. "We spoke to them yesterday and today, and we will be in contact with them tomorrow. We don't know whether it's a ploy or not." Diplomatic authorities confirmed today the sense of what Johnson was saying, without stating his views in precise and quotable language. The President's points, they said, are that the U.S. government is working persistently to try to solve the site problem. Johnson and his advisers do not know whether the North Vietnamese are serious about solving it, but they will find out.

Diplomatic contacts are reported to have occurred in Vientiane, Laos, where U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan has been in direct touch with North Vietnamese Ambassador Le Van Hien repeatedly since early this month. The exchange began after Johnson limited the bombing of North Vietnam on March 31 and called for talks on ending the war. The Washington Post, in its account, quoted Johnson as saying: "We talked today and we talked yesterday. There are some who think that if they were serious they wouldn't have suggested Warsaw" as a site for the initial peace talks. The Post, in reporting Johnson said he wasn't positive whether North Vietnam wanted talks, said the President then shrugged "as if he didn't know whether or not to agree."

Army Restricts Data On Nationwide Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has prevented publication of results of a $60,000 survey aimed at determining the attitudes of young Negroes toward military service and the National Guard. National Guard officials, who commissioned the nationwide survey last year after criticism that the Guard had too few Negroes in its ranks, were ready to release its findings more than a week ago. But Army authorities ordered them not to do so and directed that the report be stamped "for official use only."

but indicated a lack of awareness of it. Asked for a copy of the report or a summary of its findings, the Army said: "The Army staff presently is studying a paper prepared by the National Guard Bureau with the assistance of a nongovernment research organization addressing public attitudes toward military service and the Guard. "The paper is for official use only and not releasable to the public at this time because it is an internal communication." The National Guard was strongly criticized on the question of Negro participation by both the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders and a report by the National Academy of Sciences during the riot there last summer. Both urged immediate steps to increase recruitment of Negroes.

McCarthy Wins Big Over Write-In Rivals

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, alone or Pennsylvania's presidential preference ballot, was an easy winner in Tuesday's primary over Democratic rivals whose names had to be written in by the voters. Only about one-third of the 5.2 million eligible voters went to the polls. McCarthy racked up a 8-1 edge over his chief announced rival, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, and he was 10 to 1 over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has not announced his candidacy. In write-ins on the Republican side Richard M. Nixon forged nearly 5 to 1 ahead of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Only McCarthy and Kennedy did any active campaigning for the primary. With 7,591 precincts of 9,600 reported McCarthy had 325,907. Kennedy 41,647, Humphrey 32,030, President Johnson 12,971 and ex-Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama 10,315. It is expected McCarthy will get around 350,000, or about 40 per cent of the Democratic turnout estimated at near 900,000. On the Republican side, with 7,291 precincts counted, Nixon had 104,658, Rockefeller 20,975, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California 4,552, Wallace 5,101, Johnson 1,173 and Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania 792. The presidential vote is not binding on party convention delegates.

ECU Names Director For New Program Planned In Dare

East Carolina University announced today the appointment of Dean William C. Morrisette of Chowan College as director of its new program in Dare County. He will coordinate the development of a program on property given the ECU Foundation by the people of Dare County last fall. The property, consisting of about 90 acres of Manteo airport and two school buildings in Manteo, is valued at more than $500,000. Morrisette will also guide a $50,000 utilization study, financed by a grant from the Economic Development Administration. His appointment was announced by Dr. David J. Middleton, dean of ECU's big Division of Continuing Education which is handling the development of the Dare campus. He said Morrisette will go to work May 13 and move his family from Murfreesboro to Dare County in early June. He added: "We are fortunate to obtain a person with the administrative experience Mr. Morrisette has gained in his seven years as dean of Chowan College. "It is also fortunate that he is a native of Northeastern North Carolina and, therefore, has a full understanding of the nature and problems of the region. We feel he will be an unusually valuable asset to the University and Dare County as we work with the people of the area in developing this program." Morrisette, 45, is a native of Shiloh in Camden County. He has BS and MA degrees from ECU and has done further graduate work at Duke University and Michigan State University. After college he coached at Lucama for 3 years, then was principal at Weeksville for 6 years. He joined the Chowan staff in 1960 as professor of history and was promoted to dean the next year.

Contemporary Music Festival Opens

A series of 11 musical programs begins at East Carolina University today as the School of Music presents its 7th annual Contemporary Music Festival. All 11 events, scheduled today through Sunday night, are free and open to the public. The fare includes the world's greatest woman organist, Marilyn Mason; lectures by a leading woman composer, Louise Talma of Hunter College, New York City; a double-feature opera program Thursday and Friday; the season finale by the ECU Symphony Orchestra; and other events.

Dean Earl E. Beach, noting that his music school has sought to improve the festival each year since Dr. Martin Mailman guided its establishment seven years ago, said: "Again this year we hope we are making a contribution toward building a greater awareness, understanding and appreciation of contemporary music literature." Dr. Gregory Kostek, festival chairman, listed this schedule of events: Lectures by Miss Talma, "The Nature of Art" 3:15 p.m. today and "The Responsibility of the Composer" at 3:15 p.m. Thursday; "Maurya" and "Angelique," double feature opera program, 8:15 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday; Pi Kappa Lambda Faculty Recital, 3:15 p.m. Friday; demonstration rehearsal of ECU Symphony Orchestra, 1 p.m. Saturday; lecture-demonstration by Miss Mason, 1:30 p.m. Saturday; Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia American Music Recital, 4:30 p.m. Saturday; Marilyn Mason Recital, 8:15 p.m. Saturday; ECU Symphony Orchestra concert, Robert Hause conducting, 3:15 p.m. Sunday; ECU choral concert, Dr. Charles Moore conducting, 8:15 p.m. Sunday.

All programs will be held in the 400-seat Recital Hall of the new School of Music building except the orchestra rehearsal and concert which will be held in Wright Auditorium. Miss Talma, who takes her place with a list of distinguished musicians who have served the festival from year to year as guest composer, is professor of music at Hunter College in New York City. She has won many major musical awards, among them the Marjorie Peabody Waite Award from the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the Bearn's Prize for Composition. Miss Mason is chairman of the organ department at the University of Michigan. She has played concerts and recitals throughout North America and Europe and was the woman organist to perform in Latin America. She was also the first American woman to play in Westminster Abbey. Assisting Dr. Kostek on the faculty festival committee are Herbert L. Carter, Robert Hause, James Houlik, Dr. Robert Irwin, Dr. Charles Moore, Brett Watson and Mrs. Gladys White.

Woman's Club Plans Open House Sunday

The Woman's Club of Greenville, whose 51st anniversary is Saturday, will hold open house at its recently completed building on Sunday from 4-6 p.m.

The building, which was constructed by Chapin Construction Co., is located on Park Drive next to the Village Green Apartments.

The $39,500 building features a colonial porch and entrance, foyer, powder rooms and a kitchen. The banquet hall and meeting room, which is on the lower level, is 38 by 52 feet.

This is the second Woman's Club building for Greenville. The old building served as a meeting place for the Kiwanis, Lions, Exchange and BPW Clubs, Senior Citizens, Newcomers and teenage groups. During World War II, the building was loaned to the USO for a home for the servicemen who came to Greenville.

Many parties, receptions and banquets have also been served at a minimum cost to Greenville and Pitt County groups.

The new club building is being used by the Woman's Club and the Junior Woman's Club for meetings and activities. The building is also available to other civic groups.

The Woman's Club is the oldest civic club for women in Greenville. The club celebrated its 50th anniversary on April 6, 1967. The club has three departments and approximately 120 members. A Junior Woman's Club was organized last year with a membership of about 30.

The Woman's Club has been active in civic activities and city beautification for the past 50 years.

Members of the building committee for the club were: Mrs. J. Vance Perkins; Mrs. W. E. Roseveare; Mrs. George Snyder; Mrs. J. C. Galloway; Mrs. C. M. Respass; Mrs. J. C. Lanier Sr.; Mrs. J. L. Savage; Mrs. Dink James; Mrs. J. O. Bond and Mrs. Harold Creech.

Club officers are: Mrs. Savage, president; Mrs. Snyder, first vice president; Mrs. T. I. Moore, second vice president; Mrs. Galloway, recording secretary; Mrs. C. T. Fleming Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. M. Respass, treasurer; Mrs. George Fleming, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Paul Ric's, historian; Mrs. James, reporter; and Mrs. J. A. Piver, assistant reporter.

Let Her Make Choice Of What She Wears Outside Of School

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter and I have been going around and around over the length of her skirts.

She has been told many times that she has nice legs and she has, but I say it doesn't matter how "nice" her legs are, there is a difference between what is decent and what is not, and I say a skirt that shows the leg right up to the top of the thigh is indecent.

Of course she can't wear dresses like that to school because the authorities won't permit it, but she thinks what she wears outside of school should be up to her. I would like your opinion.

MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: What she wears outside of school should be "up to her," providing it isn't "up to here."

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is well thought of in this community. He is very generous when it comes to me and the children, but listen to this. He has a "thing" about tipping which embarrasses me to tears. He absolutely refuses to tip. And I mean he will not leave one thin dime anywhere. He says, "I run a business, and I don't expect the public to pay my help, so why should I go somewhere and pay somebody else's?" This goes for bellboy, taxi drivers, waitresses, etc.

I once slipped a dollar bill under my plate as we were leaving a fine restaurant, and my husband saw me and made me take it back. I walked out there red-faced, but there was nothing I could do about it.

My husband says it's not the money, it's the principle of the thing. If I were to tell you what his income was last year, you would faint. What's the answer?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: When people say, "it's not the money, it's the principle of the thing"—it's usually the money. Someone should tell your husband that most people who serve the public depend on tips to make ends meet.

Ideally, no one should have to rely on tips to make a decent living, and I for one would like to see all tipping abolished with the system as it is—not as we'd like it to be.

DEAR ABBY: As a happily married, faithful husband of 16 years who has been strongly attracted to other women from time to time, I have a suggestion for "BEWILDERED," who loves her husband, but is attracted to other men.

Stop battling your emotions. Enjoy your daydreams. Then when your husband comes home from work, hug him and kiss him as if he just got back from the moon. You married each other to have loving affection when you need it. You need it now.

If he questions your sudden passion, tell him you've been reading ABBY'S column, and realize how lucky you are to have him. Do this every day for a year (he won't question it after a week) and let me know the results.

HAPPY PAPPY
Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOK-LET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

Open House Set For Two Girl Scout Camps

The Girl Scout Council of Coastal Carolina will hold open house at Camp Trillie, near Goldsboro, on Sunday from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. On Sunday, May 5, Camp Pretty Pond, near Wilmington, will observe open house during the same hours.

All leaders, girls and their families and interested persons are invited to visit the camps for a tour of the sites and a chance to discuss the camping program.

An information sheet with directions for reaching the camps has been sent to all troop leaders for distribution to girls.

Sessions at both camps will be from June 23 - July 6, and July 7 - July 20. The program at both camps features cookouts, hikes, creative crafts related to the site, ceremonies and camp craft activities.

Pretty Pond features waterfront activities with emphasis on swimming, canoeing and sailing. For Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts, Trillie will offer special units with emphasis on folk arts and on primitive camping skills.

Camp folders have been mailed to all troop leaders for distribution to girls and registration opened April 1. After May 1 registrations will be accepted from out of council Girl Scouts and non Scouts.

She's An Old-Fashioned Dream In A Sweet Way

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Men can sleep in their pajamas this summer, if they want to. Their wives or their sisters won't be stealing them.

It used to be so cute for the female figure to be swallowed up in outsized men's pajama tops, especially after a few naughty movie heroines found refuge in these. Now that's out of style.

The whole little-boy, big-boy look in sleepwear—stripes, piping, buttons and all—has gone by the board in favor of femininity. Nor will ordinary 20th century femininity do. It has to be antebellum romantic, or at the very latest Victorian.

Today's fashion pendulum is swooping backward past the 30s, past the 20s, hesitating along the way, trifling with the turn-of-the-century romanticism, and flirting outrageously with the bellies of the Civil War and before.

Today no summer dress or sportswear collection is complete without the so-called lingerie look. Some designers see it as bouffant-skirted dresses in fragile fabrics with petticoats frankly meant to be seen. Others go so far as fussy baby dolls that turn out to be swim ensembles. Pretty young things have been haunting thrift shops for Victorian nightgowns to wear to parties.

So is it surprising that ladies are wearing lots of lace to bed, instead of their menfolk's pajamas? Doesn't it figure that eyelet embroidered pantaloons suddenly seem prettier than pants, and that the romantic old cambric top should inspire bare midriff shorties to be worn when the nights are short?

Today's sleepwear is old-fashioned in a sweet way, but it is not essentially for the boudoir. Just as lingerie fashions go to the best parties, so do eyelet pajamas go to the beach. The airy eyelet bikini goes swimming and sunning but it also turns out to be the most comfortable thing to sleep in on hot nights.

And men can keep their old pajamas.

Springtime Desserts Are Here

These tart shells live up to their name: Remarkable. They can be kept in a tightly covered tin container at room temperature for a couple of weeks and they stay flaky and delectable.

If you like the best in pastry, this is your recipe. No tart pans are needed! By an ingenious method, heavy-duty foil substitutes for the pans. The foil shapes the pastry rounds and holds them while they bake. We tried this recipe twice in my test kitchen, and each time we had a batch of tart shells we were proud to serve. Didn't I say they were remarkable?

FRUIT TARTS

1 package (4 serving size) instant vanilla pudding
1 container (pint) heavy cream
Remarkable Tart Shells—see recipe below
1 can (8 ounces) apricot halves, well drained
1 pint (or more) fresh strawberries, caps removed
2 ripe bananas
Red currant jelly

In a medium mixing bowl, prepare the vanilla pudding according to package directions. Seal surface of pudding with transparent plastic wrap, being carefully to press it down very lightly so it can be cleanly removed. Cover top of bowl. Chill.

At serving time, whip the cream; fold into chilled pudding. Fill tart shells with as much pudding as they will hold. (Any extra pudding may be used as is.)

Top some of the tarts with apricots, some with strawberries and some with banana slices.

Turn some red currant jelly into a small skillet or saucepan. Over low heat, stirring constantly, warm the jelly until it flows; spoon over the fruit. There will be enough filling and topping for the 20 Remarkable Tart Shells.

REMARKABLE TART SHELLS

3 cups sifted regular flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
6 to 8 tablespoons water
4 tablespoons firm butter
Heavy-duty aluminum foil

Into a large mixing bowl, sift together the flour and salt. With a pastry blender, cut in the shortening until it is in pieces about the size of small peas.

Add the water, a tablespoon at a time, stirring lightly with a fork until the mixture is moistened.

With your fingers, gather up the dough; shape into two balls. On a prepared pastry cloth, using a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out one of the balls of dough into a rectangle about 1/4-inch thick.

Pub Pet Is Used To Begging

EWING BRIDGE, England (WNS) — Hilda Bridge made her husband sell their pub at Rawtenstall and buy a village store seven miles away. Richard Bridge was able to adapt to the new life easily, but Shandy, the family cat, ran away and turned up at the old pub four days later. Mrs. Bridge has now agreed to give the cat to the new owner, John Davies. "Shandy was born at the pub and had got used to begging a saucer of ale or a drop of whiskey," she explained. "We haven't got the heart to take him away from the old crowd where he is happy."

Warm the baby's food in an egg poacher. Fill the bottom with warm water and put baby's foods in the separate compartments. This saves dirty dishes and the aluminum heats faster than regular china baby plates.

With the blunt edge of a knife, mark into thirds. Dot center third with butter. Fold one side over on the butter and dot this with butter. Fold other side over. With the edge of the rolling pin, press on all sides to seal in butter and air.

Wrap in foil and chill for 10 to 20 minutes. Repeat process with second ball of dough. Using a 5-inch saucer as a guide, cut out 20 rounds of foil.

Remove one pat of dough from the refrigerator. Roll out so that it is between 1/4- and 1/4-inch thick.

Using the 5-inch saucer as a guide, cut out rounds of pastry to match foil rounds. Reroll leavings of dough to make another round. You should get 10 rounds from one pat of dough.

Place each pastry round on a foil round; prick pastry all over with a floured fork. Placing your right index finger on the inside of a pastry round and the left thumb and index finger on the outside of the foil, pinch at intervals to turn up pastry and foil at the same time to form a fluted upstanding edge.

Place tart shells on a large cookie sheet. Bake in a 450-degree oven until delicately browned—about 15 minutes. Repeat process with second pat of dough.

After tarts are baked, remove to wire racks to cool. Store in a tightly covered tin container and they will stay flaky and delectable for as long as several weeks.

Fill as suggested in the Fruit Tart recipe or any other way you like.

Makes 20 tart shells.

Mrs. Bryant Named President Of Presbyterian Women

GOLDSBORO — At the 70th annual meeting of the Women of the Church of the Albemarle Presbytery, Mrs. H. H. Bryant of Greenville was installed as president for 1968-70.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Bryant has served two terms as local president of the women of the church. In addition, she has been a Sunday school teacher and has served on many committees on the local, Presbyterial and Synodical levels.

She is presently serving as assistant Sunday school superintendent. Mrs. Bryant is past director of the synodical Training School and has served on the staff as a teacher.

Mrs. Gail D. Jones, a member of the First Presbyterian Church, was installed as chairman of Christian Community Action.

Mrs. O. J. Barnes of Rocky Mount, outgoing president, presided at the meeting.

The theme for the meeting was "Agents of Reconciliation—Who Me?" The evening and morning messages were delivered by the Rev. Baxter M. Walker of Fayetteville.

NEW PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIES
2 Envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
1 1/2 cups milk
6 large eggs, separated
1 can (1 pound and 14 ounces) pumpkin
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 nine-inch graham cracker pie shells
Sweetened whipped cream
In a three-quart metal mixing bowl, thoroughly stir together the gelatin, brown sugar, salt and pumpkin pie spice. Stir in milk. With a whisk, beat in the egg yolks, then the pumpkin. Place the bowl over a saucepan of boiling water; cook, stirring often, until heated through and gelatin and sugar have dissolved—about 10 minutes.

Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until they hold soft slightly bent peaks. Gradually beat in granulated sugar; fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into pie shells; chill until firm. Before serving, cover each pie with whipped cream. Makes nine-inch pies.

The foil insulating bag that ice cream comes in makes a great container in which to warm rolls.

International Understanding
 INNSBRUCK, Austria (WNS)—Rosemarie Keil, 21, discovered that many international students here do not go to the movies because they have difficulty understanding the dialogue. She has set up a translator's service of Tyrolean co-eds who accompany foreigners to theatres and charge one dollar for translating. "We suspect that some students simply want company at the theater because they hire translators even when the film is in their own language," confessed Miss Keil.

Prepare 'The Girls' Always Welcome Salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor
 Take your choice.
 We suggest that you serve a crab salad in artichoke shells. But there's no rule about this. If it suits your fancy, serve the salad in avocado halves or in tomato shells.
 Whichever holder you choose, this is a good salad to offer when "the girls" come to lunch. Something crisp is needed to accompany the main luncheon dish. We prefer sesame toast. To make it, butter thinly sliced bread copiously, then cut each slice into four triangles. Sprinkle generously with sesame seed and place on a cookie sheet. Bake in a 325-degree oven until crisp and brown—usually about 25 minutes.

CRAB AND ARTICHOKE SALAD
 2 cans (each 7½ ounces) king crab
 Sour Cream Dressing—see recipe below
 4 artichokes, cooked and chilled
 Drain the crab. Mix the small pieces of crab with ½ cup of dressing; cut the large pieces of crab into small pieces and fold in.
 Pull out the center leaves from the cooked artichokes. With a sturdy spoon, remove the choke from each and discard.
 Divide the crab mixture among the artichoke shells.
 The remaining Sour Cream Dressing served in individual containers makes a delightful dip for the artichoke leaves. Makes four servings.

SOUR CREAM DRESSING
 1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream
 ¼ cup catchup
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 tablespoon minced onion
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon dry mustard
 In a mixing bowl, stir together the sour cream, catchup, Worcestershire sauce, onion, lemon juice, salt and mustard. Makes 1½ cups. Use as suggested in the Crab and Artichoke Salad recipe.

Personal Appearance:

Self Analysis Correspondence Course for Women
 Something new and different is available for you if you are interested in yourself and would like to continue an educational experience. This Self Analysis Personal Correspondence Course is primarily for young mothers and employed homemakers who find it impractical to join Extension Homemaker Clubs or attend Extension special interest meetings. You can undertake this course without having to leave your home.

The Self Analysis Personal Correspondence Course has been planned for you free of charge, and designed to be one of the most unique courses of study you will ever undertake. It is hoped that you will learn much about yourself and how you can make that most of your physical, mental and spiritual attributes.

Following is the description of the course and References that will be furnished by the Extension Office:

It is agreed that every human has two selves - the outer self and the inner self. The outward appearance is an important means toward developing first impressions and gaining acceptance by the group. Well-dressed and beautifully groomed people create favorable first impressions and we must remember for lasting and rewarding relationships both the inner and outer self be well groomed.

This series of lessons includes seven topics relating to personal appearance. They are as follows:

- I. No number 1.
- II. Mirror, Mirror Tell Me True — Good grooming is the foundation on which you must build if you wish to look well-dressed.

Reading material partially included in Analysis sheet.
 III. Figure The Facts Ma'am — A study of line dress as it relates to the individual figure. Everyone can be attractive no matter what figure. The trick is to select clothes that flatter, clothes that still complement and camouflage.

A Question Of Sufficient Concern

It is not surprising that 27 North Carolina counties were placed on the "hunger list" by the private organization which recently completed its survey of malnutrition and hunger in the United States.

The surprising thing is that more of the state's 100 counties were not on the list.

Pockets of hunger exist almost everywhere in the American society, wealthy as it is. Hunger and malnutrition afflict individuals in the wealthy, progressive cities of the north and midwest just as people in rural areas of the south suffer from those afflictions. There is hunger in wealthy, sunny California just as there is hunger in green, gaudy Florida. It is rather amazing that the organization known as the Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States, listed only 256 "hunger counties" in 20 states in its nation-wide survey.

Although Pitt was not one of the 27 North Carolina counties designated in the survey, there are those right here in this county who suffer from chronic malnutrition. There are children and adults in every community of this county who go to bed and get up hungry more days than they eat their fill.

The survey may serve to single out particular states and counties for special emphasis, but the problem of poverty, hunger and need exists in every community across the nation. The survey may stimulate some national effort to cope with this problem, but in the final analysis the problem must be dealt with at the local level if the hunger and malnutrition are to be eliminated.

Certainly those counties in North Carolina not listed in the survey would be foolish to think they do not have some citizens who go hungry day after day. They would be short-sighted indeed if on a local level they did not seek out these people and give them assistance to overcome their present plight.

This applies to Pitt, which was not listed as a "hunger county," just as it applies to its neighbors Greene, Martin, Beaufort and Wayne which were included in the list.

To adopt the attitude that this is not a problem is to ignore facts which exist almost universally across the nation. The real question is whether, on a local basis, citizens will be sufficiently concerned to do something to alleviate the problem.

Disputes Drawn Nearer Accord

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — It appears from all available indications that wide ranging disputes between the state's commercial and sports fishermen, marine industrialists and ocean conservationists are being drawn nearer solution and agreement.

Acceptable compromise may be worked out sometime this summer on the highly controversial issue of regulating and restricting so-called "trash fishing."

trial fish processing plants. These are the plants which process "trash fish"—90 per cent of them undersized food fish—into fish meal, fertilizer, cat food and other products for non-human consumption.

Landings Listed

So-called "unclassified" fish landings—the quantity used in industrial processing—is estimated from six to 12 million pounds annually. In 1967, 5.5 million pounds was landed in Carteret County alone.

U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service figures show that for all of 1967, landings of fish and shellfish at North Carolina were valued at $8.8 million. Ninety-five per cent of the volume of 219.6 million pounds of reported landings was menhaden, meaning that approximately 26 million pounds was edible food fish. Apparently more than 20 per cent of this was so-called "trash fish."

In the meantime, total fish landings were down by 11 per cent from 1966. Most of this, of course, was a decline in menhaden. Officials are blaming the decline in menhaden catch on "overfishing."

Only three fish dehydrating (processing) plants were listed as licensed in 1967 in Carteret County. One of these, Seashore Packing Co., Beaufort, was licensed as a menhaden plant. The others were Clayton Fulcher Seafood Co., Atlantic, and John Wesley Smith, Sea Level.

Apparently these two plants received the bulk of nearly six million pounds of "trash fish" delivered to the Carteret industrial fishery.

Fulcher Is Opposed

Clayton Fulcher of Atlantic has been and remains one of the most outspoken opponents of regulation and restriction on the catching of undersized food fish. He and other Carteret County commercial fishermen and dealers spoke at length during a meeting of the C&D fisheries committee this week in Raleigh, urging that no restrictions nor regulations be imposed pending "further study."

J. C. White of Fayetteville, president of the N. C. Salt Water Sports Fishermen's Assn., cited a report indicating that scientific studies on the question of ultimate effect might require 20 years.

"Can we wait 20 years?" White asked.

Greenville Gathering Is A Special Occasion

It is a rather unusual occasion for Greenville to be the site for a meeting of the national sales force of a major manufacturing concern. That is happening here this week, however, and it should not go unnoticed.

Members of the sales division of Empire Brushes, Inc. gathering in Greenville the next couple of days for a sales meeting and conferences at the local plant of the company. For many of these people, it is their first visit to Greenville although they are familiar with the Greenville products they have been selling for several years.

Empire Brushes has been a corporate citizen of Greenville for some time. Since the plant was constructed here a few years ago, the number of Empire employees and the size of its payroll in Pitt County has constantly increased. So too has the number of product line items of Empire Brushes which are being produced in the local plant. In recent months a major expansion program has been undertaken at the Greenville plant.

It is a pleasure for us to join with others in welcoming to Greenville officials and personnel of the marketing division of Empire Brushes, Inc.

Parental Role Assigned States

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just last May the Supreme Court made chopmeat of the idea that juvenile court judges are a sort of substitute parent, entitled to punish or condone as they see fit.

Juveniles accused of crime, the court said, are entitled to be judged by the same constitutional ground rules as adults are.

"Neither the Bill of Rights nor the U. S. Constitution is for adults only," Justice Abe Fortas said then.

On Monday, however, the court turned around and assigned a parental role to the states in deciding what juveniles may read or see.

The 6-3 decision, written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., amounts to a clear victory for the censors and an utter rout for civil libertarians. It puts government in the business of deciding what is moral and gives government the right to declare illegal what it finds immoral.

Brennan's pronouncement for the court reaches this end by building on the proposition that "the well-being of its children is of course a subject within the state's constitutional power to regulate."

Since society and "constitutional interpretation" have recognized the authority of parents to direct the rearing of their children, the next step was that parents and teachers "are entitled to the support of laws" designed to help them do the job.

All this means that states have a green light from the Supreme Court to suppress sales to minors of whatever books and magazines a majority of the legislators decide are too rich for young blood. The same probably holds true for movies, though the decision in a New York case—wasn't explicit.

Since the same Supreme Court decided last term that "girlie" magazines can't be kept from adults, the result is two sets of rules, or what is called variably obscenity. The reach of the First Amendment depends on the age of the reader.

Once again, the subject of censorship fragmented the court, and the frayed nerves showed.

Justice Potter Stewart, who in some recent instances has taken a strong free-speech stand, voted with the majority, saying there was no need for "a doctrinaire, knee-jerk application of the First Amendment."

Some 35 states now have laws or provisions of laws designed to shield juveniles from sexy or violent reading matter or movies. Though the decision dealt only with New York's special law, apparently all the states have to do to pass the court's censorship test is to take a leaf out of New York's law books.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SELF-RESPECT

There is no attitude more necessary to the upbuilding of a satisfactory life than self-respect. One may be praised by community and nation, but if down in his heart he does not believe that he is worthy of at least some portion of that praise, then he is in a bad state of mind, capable of attracting to himself every conceivable form of calamity.

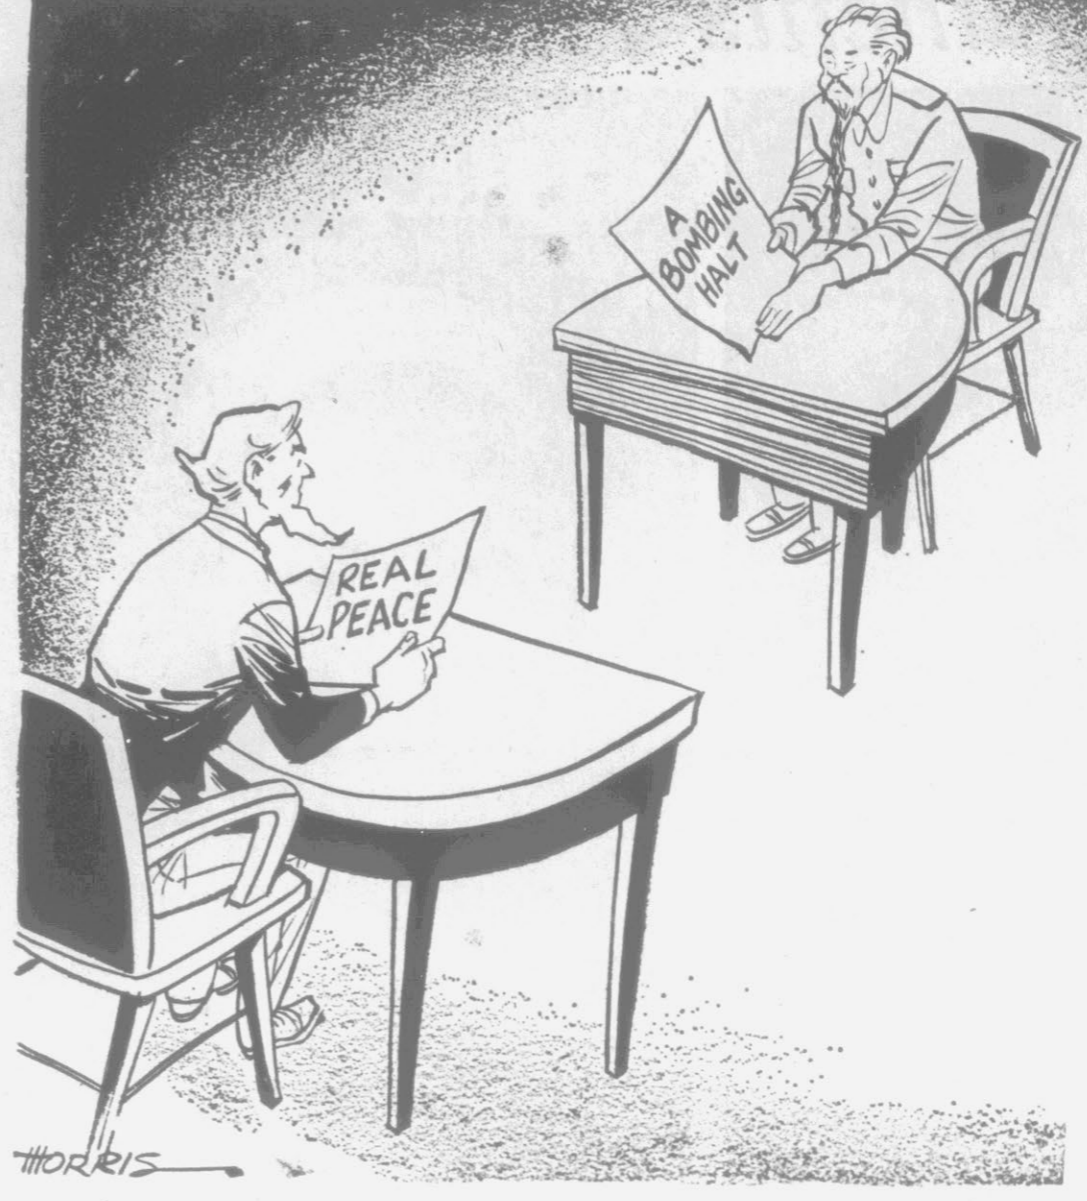

The basis of self-respect is honesty, and especially honesty with ourselves. Do we have ourselves figured out, and if so, is the estimate at which we arrive fairly accurate? Are we sincere? Do people take us at our word and do we speak and act with the conviction that we are definitely on the square with ourselves and the whole world? We do not have to be decorated heroes to be courageous. Many a humble woman and many a teenager and many an old person trying to rise above weaknesses of advancing age are just as great heroes as the armed soldiers who lunge across a piece of terrain which some enemy has rendered indescribably dangerous.

We all need to become aware of the heroism by which we are surrounded every day. Think of the people who have to fight back tears every waking hour as they remember the passing of a loved one. Think of the men who are uncompromisingly honest when all the time compromise beckons them from afar.

If we can't respect ourselves, we can be pretty sure that we are not too widely respected by others.

Nelson And The Draft

WASHINGTON—"The Republican Draft Board is now in session. Whose case are we hearing today?"

"We have a fellow by the name of Nelson Rockefeller."

"Send him in."

"Mr. Rockefeller, I see by our records that you are requesting your draft status be reclassified from 4-F to 1-A. We're curious about why you want to be classified 1-A at this stage."

"I've always wanted to serve my country, sir, but when I asked to be 4-F, I did it because I didn't want to split the Republican Army. But I've decided now that with all my friends going in, I would be considered a draft dodger."

"That's very interesting, and we certainly admire your change of heart, but we see in your folder that you have said that you don't want to fight in the primaries. How could you be a good Repu-can soldier if you don't want to fight?"

"I do want to fight, but I believe in just wars against the Democrats. If I fought in the primaries I would be trying to kill my brothers, and this is a matter of conscience with me."

"Nelson, we had classified you 4-F because you had been married twice, you were a member of the Eastern Establishment and you refused to campaign for our dear beloved Gen. Barry Goldwater in the Battle of '64. We still consider you a security risk."

"I'm a loyal Republican and I would do anything to be drafted. Give me a chance. We've got a tough battle ahead, and you know the Republican Army can't win it with Richard Nixon."

"Nixon is an experienced soldier. He's fought in many campaigns. It's true he's lost a few of them, but I would like to remind you that 'old soldiers never die,' at least not as far as the Republicans are concerned."

"I didn't come here to beg, but if you don't draft me, I'll never be able to face my grandchildren. I'm a poor man, but I'll sacrifice everything if you give me this one chance."

A handful of Republican Congressmen who balked at this voting discipline (mostly, but not exclusively, liberals) formed the Wednesday Group. But most ambitious young members, like Al Quie and Charley Goodell, played the game. While maintaining voting records of party regularity, they helped engineer the coup that gave Ford the leadership.

However, Ford's brand of leadership, while sufficiently partisan and aggressive to forestall any coups, had quietly grown less satisfying to Congressmen desiring a new national Republican image—including Quie and Goodell. Over the past year, they have been producing their own alternatives to Democratic proposals—ideas that became labelled collectively in the House Republican cloakroom as the "Quie-Dell" approach.

That approach collided head-on with Ford last December on the poverty bill when the Quie-Goodell poverty package was scrapped in favor of a bare bones approach. But the point of revolt was not reached until this year when Ford decided against accepting the Senate-passed open housing scheme.

Ford was backed by the entire leadership, including the powerful Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin—except for Goodell. Their support was overwhelming among rank-and-file Republican Congressmen, reflecting their own lily-white small-town and rural constituencies.

With this backdrop, Quie and Goodell quietly put together a team of Republican Congressmen to fight the leadership. Rep. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts, driving force of the Wednesday Group, was the only member of the original "Quie-Dell" cadre with a conservative voting record less than 50 per cent.

Other Editors Saying A Ship To Remember

(Durham Morning Herald)

The end of the Liberty ship era draws nearer with sale of 22 more of the old freighters for scrap, and since all the vessels in the latest transaction lie at anchor in the layup basin across the Cape Fear River from Wilmington the announcement carries special interest for North Carolinians with a bent for nautical history.

Although the sale does not close out the Liberty era, which in a recent Maritime Administration report still had 187 vessels to go during the next three years, it does mark the end of the line insofar as North Carolina is concerned. The 22 are the last of the many that figured so prominently in the forest of masts at one time so numerous in the mothball fleet on the Cape Fear.

A few at a time they will go under tow to the Port of New York for scrapping at Kearny, N. J., until the last has departed at an unannounced date. Their consignment to the scrap heap, with a price tag of approximately $45,000 each, also will remove some famous names they bear among them: Confederate Gens. Joseph E. Johnston and George E. Pickett; Adolph S. Ochs, late publisher of The New York Times; Button Gwinnett, a signer of the Declaration of Independence; Thomas Hart Benton, the artist; Robert Fulton, the ship-builder; Dwight W. Morrow, financier and diplomat; and Henry Ward Beecher, the Brooklyn clergyman and reformer.

The Liberty ship (2,684 were constructed) won her claim to fame in the World War II emergency. Simple in construction for mass production, she was slow in speed but good in capacity and served well. The free world will long remember her. Some of her sisters sold to other nations to help replenish their merchant fleets still sail the seas, even as the U. S. government's last old Liberty ships await their fate. An era may be drawing near an end, but the Liberty ship role in keeping the free world's supply lines open in a perilous age will be long remembered.

Flower Mothers Like Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

While everybody was watching hippies put flowers in their hair, a different kind of flower thing has grown into a multi-million dollar business. It's the making of artificial flowers at home.

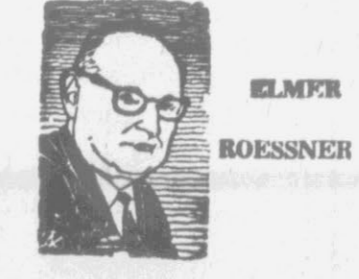

These flowers are not made by unwashed teens, but by grown women. They are not psychedelic, but made in imitation of, or more lustrous than, real flowers.

They are made of paper, tissue - thin metal, yarns, velvets, feathers, beads, wire and rhinestones.

Demonstrations Draw Crowds

The Hobby Industry Association of America points out that a flower-making demonstration school, now on a tour of 37 cities, is drawing great crowds. In its first 18 stops it attracted more than 150,000 women. In Pasadena, Calif., more than 10,000 came to the five-day sessions; in St. Louis 10,000 and in Dallas, 4,000; all to see how they could easily make flowers out this hobby suddenly took hold, although there may be a press agent in the woodpile.

Psychological Explanation

Dr. Alber Freeman, a Beverly Hills psychologist, quipped, "Mothers were literally the necessity for this invention."

He observed that women are basically productive creatures, with a constant inner need to be doing. This is especially true of mothers.

Now with "instant" this and "instant" that, with home-baked pies like mother used to make stacked at the supermarket - markets; with kitchens as efficient as jet airplane galleys, mother has time on her hands, too much time, according to the psychologist.

"For a woman to feel fulfilled," said Dr. Freeman, "this time must be put to produc-

Revolt Saved A Party

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A hidden, deeply significant political by-product of the open housing fight was the first effective left-of-center Republican revolt against Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan since he became his party's floor leader in January, 1965.

Had that revolt not succeeded, the civil rights bill and its open housing provision would not be law today. It picked up 77 badly-needed House Republican votes in the key vote April 10 (against 106 who stuck with Ford's leadership).

Apart from civil rights, the revolt was a landmark in the murky Republican politics of the House. It was led not by badly out-numbered liberal Republican Congressmen, consistently though not effectively in revolt against the Ford leadership, but by Ford's own kind of pragmatic conservatives. The ringleaders were two erstwhile Ford lieutenants: Reps. Charles Goodell, 42, of New York (himself a member of the party's regular House leadership) and Albert Quie, 44, of Minnesota.

Their open defection broke the pattern of the past decade. The House Republicans have been the Arabs of Capitol Hill, depositing leaders from time to time in lightning coups but maintaining a facade of unity. Under these ground rules, it has been acceptable to plot against the current leadership by night but the most heinous crime to vote against it by day.

A handful of Republican Congressmen who balked at this voting discipline (mostly, but not exclusively, liberals) formed the Wednesday Group. But most ambitious young members, like Al Quie and Charley Goodell, played the game. While maintaining voting records of party regularity, they helped engineer the coup that gave Ford the leadership.

However, Ford's brand of leadership, while sufficiently partisan and aggressive to forestall any coups, had quietly grown less satisfying to Congressmen desiring a new national Republican image—including Quie and Goodell. ## London Dock Workers On Strike Over Immigrants

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of London dock workers struck again today to demand restrictions on the immigration of colored workers to Britain.

The walkouts were in support of Conservative politician Enoch Powell, who was purged from the opposition party's high command for opposing the Labor government's proposed new anti-discrimination law with an inflammatory speech.

Thirteen ships were left idle when about 550 longshoremen refused to go to work at one group of docks. Another 150 walked off the docks at Deptford in a 24-hour strike.

In London's Smithfield Market workers put more than 3,000 signatures on a petition supporting Powell, and 600 men said they would march to the House of Commons to present it.

More than 1,500 longshoremen marched to Commons Tuesday to express support for Powell when the house began debate on the bill. But unless the protests from the workers gave Prime Minister Harold Wilson cold feet, the government's bill to ban racial discrimination in jobs and housing appears certain to become law this summer.

Commons approved the bill in principle Tuesday night, voting 313-209, and sent it to committee.

Scott Would Aid Nursing Schools

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott today called for legislative appropriations to aid North Carolina nursing schools in an effort to relieve the state's shortage of registered nurses.

In a statement released at Asheville as Scott prepared to resume his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the mountains, he said the nursing shortage "has really become critical in the past five years."

"As governor," Scott said, "I will meet this statewide problem head-on and recommend that additional funds be appropriated to provide financial assistance to accredited hospital programs of nursing education."

Scott noted that the 1967 General Assembly enacted legislation to provide state funds for nursing scholarships at hospital schools of nursing, but he said the legislation "was not enough."

The lieutenant governor did not specify how much money would be needed to finance his proposal, but he noted a recent joint report from the state boards of education and higher education warned that the nursing shortage is getting worse.

The board's report predicted that only 15,000 registered nurses will be available when 21,000 are needed in 1975 if the current trend continues.

"In 1949," Scott said, "we had 43 hospital schools of nursing; in 1967 there were 26 such schools in North Carolina. Several more are contemplating closing in the next 18 months."

MASONIC NOTICE

Crown Point Lodge No. 708 A.F. & A.M. will have a stated communication Thursday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. Work, business and Second Degree. All Master Masons are cordially invited.

Richard E. Squires, Master
Fred H. Rogers, Sec'y

for additional study before it is presented for final passage. Twenty-five Conservatives abstained rather than follow the party line and vote against the bill. It was another setback for the party's leader, Edward Heath.

Heath fired Powell from the Conservative shadow Cabinet, calling the speech "racist in tone and liable to exacerbate racial tensions." Powell, a leader of the opposition party's right wing, had called for a ban on further colored immigration and payments to induce the one million nonwhites in Britain to return to their native lands. He called colored immigration "a match on gunpowder" and said "rivers of blood will eventually flow."

Powell listened from a back bench seat in Commons Tuesday as Conservative leaders rebuked him in their speeches. But workers in half a dozen plants walked off their jobs in token support of Powell, and more than 1,500 London longshoremen marched to the House of Commons to shout their agreement with him.

Along with criticism of Powell, his party's spokesman on race relations, Quintin Hogg said the party opposed the anti-discrimination bill because it felt it was too sweeping. He said the Tories want more exemptions for "the small man."

The government countered with an offer to set up an all-party committee to study the working of the legislation after it becomes law and recommend changes.

The bill would bar discrimination in jobs, housing, public places, businesses, schools and colleges. It also would outlaw discrimination in the granting of loans and the selling of insurance.

Trinity College Sit-In Is Ended

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — About 200 Trinity College students left the college administration building they had held for 30 hours following agreement today with the administration on increased scholarship aid for Negro students at the school.

The agreement was reached between Trinity President Albert C. Jacobs, a committee representing the trustees and spokesmen for the demonstrators.

The administration offered in the agreement to match the $15,000 contribution which the student senate approved unanimously April 7, three days after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Jacobs announced after the three-hour meeting that the combined addition of $30,000 to the Negro scholarship fund annually would provide full tuition assistance to at least 15 "disadvantaged" students.

The students had called for addition of a $150,000 Negro scholarship fund over four or five years to the current $75,000 annual fund for needy Negro students.

Slowly, they increased the number to 57, then to 65. It slipped to 60 during the riots following the King assassination but soared to the final 77, marking a successful anti-leadership effort without precedent. The Republicans had been saved from the ignominy of defeating a civil rights bill.

N.C. Candidates Bring In Names On National Level

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Moore as a favorite son candidate. The delegation had been expected to support President Johnson for renomination.

On the Republican side, Jim Gardner is a solid supporter of former Vice President Richard Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination. Stickley reportedly also supports Nixon.

Gardner injected McCarthy's name into the North Carolina campaign this week when he sharply criticized the Minnesota senator for suggesting that FBI director J. Edgar Hoover be retired.

Meanwhile, Newsmen asked Gardner and Broughton Tuesday to comment on a Ku Klux Klan newsletter endorsement of their candidacies. Both said they did not solicit the klan support and have addressed their campaigns to individuals and not to any groups or bloc.

At Mount Airy Stickley kept up his attack on Gardner, pledging to "keep the pot boiling" in an attempt to get the congressmen to take more decisive stands on state issues, such as how he would deal with the klan.

The familiar names of Kennedy, McCarthy, Humphrey and Nixon are popping up in North Carolina's primary campaigning for the two gubernatorial nominations.

Democrat Mel Broughton went on record Tuesday as "unequivocally opposed" to Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York as the party's presidential nominee.

One of Broughton's opponents, Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, has shied away from opposing or endorsing any of the possible presidential contenders, arguing that it is too early to enter in such speculation.

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, the third candidate in the Democratic gubernatorial race, has yet to comment on the scramble between Kennedy, Sen. Eugene McCarthy and possibly Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Leaders of the Democratic party in North Carolina have encouraged a "wait and see" attitude and proposed that the state delegates to the national convention support Gov. Dan

Reconsidering Anti-Crime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, some of its members unsure what decision it made on control of firearms sales, is reconsidering President Johnson's anti-crime bill.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called a closed session of the committee for today in an effort to resolve the wrangle that flared after the committee had approved the measure April 4.

Earlier that same day—and just hours before Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated by a sniper using a rifle—the panel voted down administration measures to clamp controls on sales of rifles and shot guns.

Still at issue is whether the committee voted to prohibit or merely regulate interstate mail-order sales of handguns.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., contends that under the committee's action April 4, such sales would be banned. But Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., challenged Dodd's interpretation.

The same section also would prohibit importation of military surplus handguns, restrict imports of other weapons and regulate sales of bazookas, mortars and similar devices.

Hruska said Tuesday the draft of the firearms-control section prepared by Dodd after the April 4 meeting "is not what we agreed on in committee." Dodd, who had offered the measure orally and written it out after the vote, maintained the two versions were identical.

Guerrillas Ambush Thailand Patrol

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Guerrillas killed 14 members of a Thai police patrol in the worst ambush government forces have suffered in the three-year battle against growing Communist forces, the interior minister reported today.

Gen. Praphas Charusathien said an estimated 100 Communists ambushed the border patrol in northern Chiang Rai Province last Wednesday and only two of the 20 policemen escaped uninjured in the 12-hour battle. Three policemen were wounded and one is missing.

He said government casualties for the week were 16 killed, 13 wounded and three missing, while one terrorist was killed, nine were captured and four surrendered.

Found 38-Year Bill, He Pays

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — "Not paying my bills worries me," said Carl A. Collins, 83, of Garland, Tex.

So he sent Chevron Oil Co.'s Western Division a check, attached to a statement from Pasotex Petroleum Co., reading "November balance—$9.53" and dated Feb. 10, 1930.

Collins wrote on the statement, "This lost for years, was found a short time ago among my papers."

Chevron, which absorbed Pasotex in 1934, returned Collins' check and told him the bill was taken care of when Pasotex passed from the scene.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission scientist says special U.S. military satellites have proved capable of detecting nuclear tests more than twice the distance of the sun into space.

Dr. R. F. Taschek of AEC's Los Alamos, N.M., laboratory, reported Tuesday the four pairs of Vela satellites are deployed in widely separated positions about 70,000 miles above the earth.

Taschek, who indicated the Soviet Union may have similar satellites aloft, said the U.S. spacecraft can detect nuclear tests as far as 200 million miles out in space.

He said a fifth pair of Vela satellites is to be launched sometime this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A retired Army colonel's battle to have two portable toilets in Arlington National Cemetery removed from public view has ended in swift, decisive victory.

Retired Col. Zebulon L. Strickland Jr. called a cemetery news conference Monday to publicize what he called the desecration of graves because other efforts to have the toilets removed had failed.

"I'm just going around in a bureaucratic swirl," he said.

An Army spokesman announced late Tuesday one of the toilets has been removed forever and the other would be placed in a warehouse away from public view.

"I tell these people who are buying their wives pistols that they'd better be singing a familiar tune when they got home at night."—Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., an opponent of proposed federal firearms controls, commenting on increasing firearms purchases.

Missed Goals Due To Strife

TOKYO (AP) — Armed fights, equipment damage and work stoppages resulting from Mao Tse-tung's purge campaign caused Red China to miss its industrial and communications goals last year, Premier Chou En-lai has said.

A Canton publication seen in translation in Tokyo today said Chou told 10,000 persons on Peking Feb. 2 that Mao's purge "will perhaps last three years" but might end in 1969.

Bids Opened On Highway Work

RALEIGH (AP) — State highway engineers received apparent low bids totaling $10.9 million Tuesday on 26 road-building projects in North Carolina.

One of the projects calls for grading, paving and structures on 4,008 miles of U.S. 21 and Interstate 77 in Charlotte. Crowder Construction Co. and Blythe Brothers Co., both of Charlotte, jointly entered the low bid of $6,967,733.22.

Silver Star For Navy Chaplain

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Richard M. Lyons, a Roman Catholic priest, Tuesday became the first Navy chaplain awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in Vietnam.

The Jesuit priest was awarded the nation's third highest decoration for heroism for repeatedly braving enemy fire to administer the last rites to Marines wounded in the battle for Hue in January.

Although wounded in the leg and hand, Father Lyons refused to be evacuated until his work was finished.

The citation said he "unhesitatingly left his covered position to move to the aid of the wounded Marines, displaying exceptional courage and resolute determination."

Father Lyons was decorated by Brig. Gen. John W. Williams, commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, in ceremonies at Camp Lejeune.

The 37-year-old priest is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lyons of New Brunswick, N.J.

F111 Not Grounded, But No Missions Tuesday

By LEWIS M. SIMONS
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — No F111s flew against North Vietnam Tuesday, but a U.S. military spokesman in Saigon implied tonight that the $6-million, swing-wing fighter-bomber has not been grounded again after its third crash in a month.

"There has been no change in the status of the F111," said the spokesman after a day of rumors and inquiries. He would not elaborate.

In Washington, the Pentagon refused to comment and said any information would have to come from Saigon.

There was no indication whether any F111s were used in the raids on North Vietnam today. Normally reports on the day's air operations would not be given until Thursday.

The third F111 lost on Vietnam duty disappeared Monday night, and North Vietnam claimed today its forces had shot down the plane over Quang Binh, the province just north of the demilitarized zone. It said nothing about the two crewmen.

The U.S. Command said the plane was believed to have crashed in Thailand, but it gave no further information on the plane or the fate of the crew.

The North Vietnamese also claimed to have shot down the F111s which were lost March 28 and March 30. U.S. officers believe the first plane crashed in a remote area of Thailand or Laos, and the wreckage of the second was found in northern Thailand. Its crash was attributed to a capsule of sealing material, mistakenly left by mechanics, that became lodged in the flight controls. The two crew members bailed out and were rescued.

Six F111s arrived at Ta Khli

air base in Thailand March 17 and went into combat March 25. They were grounded for 11 days after the crash March 30 and have flown combat missions on about 17 days in all. Two additional F111s were brought in to replace the first two losses.

Other Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps planes were out in force Tuesday to continue bombing highways, barges, gun positions and other targets in the section of North Vietnam left open to air raids by President Johnson's curtailment orders.

U.S. pilots flew 111 missions south of the 19th parallel—44 less than the day before—with the deepest penetration a strike against a railroad spur 168 miles north of the demilitarized zone. The panhandle area was covered by clouds which prevented damage assessments.

In South Vietnam, the B52s kept up their round-the-clock campaign against the A Shau Valley, an enemy stronghold for two years where intelligence reports indicate preparations may be under way for another big drive.

The eight-engine Stratofortresses flew six missions Tuesday and today against the valley, near the Laotian border, and also attacked targets 25 miles northwest of Kontum City in the central highlands. Comparatively little ground activity was reported.

Committee OKs Construction Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee approved Tuesday a military construction bill authorizing $4.7 million for North Carolina projects.

They are: New Marine Corps Air Facility, $1,604,000; and Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station, $3,413,000.

Congressional appropriations for the projects must be approved in a subsequent bill.

Funds For Land Stabilization

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina will receive a $202,000 federal grant for use in its land stabilization program this year.

Gov. Dan Moore said Tuesday the grant had been approved by the Appalachian Regional Commission. The funds will be used in four watershed projects: $35,000 for Dutchman's Creek in Davie and Yadkin counties $38,000 for Stewarts-Lovills Creek in Surry County; $39,000 for Town Fork Creek in Forsyth and Stokes counties; and $90,000 for second broad watershed in McDowell and Rutherford counties.

It was said that England's Queen Elizabeth I had 3000 dresses when she died.

Humphrey Building Up Farm-Labor Coalition

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is trying in his still-unannounced bid for the Democratic presidential nomination to forge on a national scale the kind of farm-labor coalition he helped create in Minnesota.

To the surprise of no one Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman came out for Humphrey Tuesday. He said he had told President Johnson in advance of his intentions and added that he thinks Johnson is going to remain neutral.

Humphrey, who has made it clear he will run on the administration's record, already has the backing of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Humphrey and Freeman—once a political protege of the vice president—and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a candidate for the presidential nomination, all worked together to build the Democrat-Farmer-Labor party of Minnesota out of the wreckage of what had been the regular Democratic organization.

In other political developments: —McCarthy, alone on Pennsylvania's presidential primary ballot, "outpolled" write-in Sen. Robert F. Kennedy 10 to 1 and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey even more. On the Republican side, Richard M. Nixon outpolled New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller 3 to 1, both with write-in votes.

New Powers Said Needed For Food Aid Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman says his department would need new power from Congress and billions of dollars to provide the food aid envisioned by a citizen group which reports some 10 million Americans are constantly hungry.

Freeman commented Tuesday following issuance of a report by a 25-member Citizens Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Nutrition.

The group recommended the Agriculture Department be stripped of responsibility for administering the food-stamp program, contending it is more concerned with assuring profits for farmers than with the plight of the poverty-stricken.

Freeman said he welcomed the citizens' group to what "has often been a lonely battle to eradicate hunger," adding that support for his department's efforts in this has been "in short supply over the past seven years." He became secretary in 1961.

"We would do even more if we had more money to do it with," Freeman said in a statement. He said the department reached its budget limit in the current fiscal year on extending food stamps. Persons in the program buy the food stamps and use them in grocery stores to buy food, paying a lower price with the difference made up by the government.

The citizens' group recommended use of free food stamps rather than the discount stamps.

The unofficial count: Democrats (5,337 of 9,460 precincts) —McCarthy 219,802, Kennedy 22,848, Humphrey 18,040, President Johnson 6,557 former Alabama Gov. George Wallace 1,574; Republicans (5,115 precincts) —Nixon 49,689, Rockefeller 18,589, California Gov. Ronald Reagan 2,631, Wallace, 2,428, Johnson 699, Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer 365.

—Nixon carried his campaign to Oregon today, still not knowing whether he will have an active opponent in the May 28 primary there. Reagan is on the ballot but his Oregon manager says there is no indication whether Reagan will campaign.

—Kennedy, pledging "I'm going to help the elderly," told a Huntington, Ind., audience minimum Social Security payments should be $150 for couples and $100 for individuals.

Along with Freeman into the Humphrey camp went Asst. Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker, a former official of the National Farmers Union.

The vote of the farmers and the small town residents they help support could be valuable to Humphrey in his efforts to gather convention delegates in the midlands.

The vice president recognizes that he needs help in that area as well as from the unions in the big industrial states and from party regulars in the South to offset the strength that Kennedy confidently expects to gain from New York and California and in the presidential primaries.

Farmers have a way of blaming secretaries of agriculture for low prices on their products and high prices on what they buy.

While Freeman's support provides Humphrey an official linkage of sorts for a national farm-labor coalition, the political value of the secretary's backing remains to be demonstrated.

Fighting Inflation With A Much-Disliked Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is battling inflation with the one weapon it most wanted to avoid—tight money.

But there are increasing signs in Congress that two big guns—a tax hike and cuts in federal spending—may soon be added to the arsenal of weapons against rising prices.

Some government officials are convinced Congress is now in a mood to act on taxes although the details—including the spending cuts on which congressmen have insisted—still must be worked out.

Columbia Dean Under Siege

NEW YORK (AP) — About 300 students sat-in through the night after barricading the dean of Columbia College in his office to protest the construction of a gymnasium in a public park and the university's participation in a defense-related program.

It's doubtful, however, that Uncle Sam will begin collecting higher taxes from individual Americans—even if Congress finally approves—before July 1, nine months after President Johnson wanted them to take effect.

Interest rates in some areas now surpass even their 1966 levels and the trend is still upward. There's no guarantee that credit would ease immediately if taxes were raised, although this is assumed in some quarters. But with inflation running at a 4 per cent rate, it may take all the weapons in the arsenal to reverse the trend.

Dr. Henry S. Coleman spent the night in his office in Hamilton Hall, the administration building for Columbia College along with at least two other Columbia faculty members. The students slept in the hall outside on blankets, pillows and newspapers.

In proposing the 10 per cent income tax surcharge last Aug. 3, Johnson indicated a desire to avoid a recurrence of the tight-money policies which marked 1966 and sent interest rates to what then were record highs.

The government reported Tuesday the latest inflation index—of the $63 gain in average after-tax income during the first three months of the year, all but $29 was erased by inflation. This is per capita after-tax income at an annual rate.

The protest, organized by the Students for a Democratic Society, began around noon Tuesday when some 500 demonstrators gathered in front of Low Memorial Library, the main administrative building.

He asked for the surcharge to take effect for individuals last Oct. 1 and for corporations retroactive to last July 1.

The government reported Tuesday the latest inflation index—of the $63 gain in average after-tax income during the first three months of the year, all but $29 was erased by inflation. This is per capita after-tax income at an annual rate.

Representatives of some Negro organizations unrelated to Columbia joined the demonstration.

But when Congress refused to act last year, the independent Federal Reserve Board did.

Its hand was forced by devaluation of the British pound last November. It raised the borrowing rate to 4.5 per cent to keep money on this side of the Atlantic. Still, the nation's money policy was relatively easy even then.

The organizers charged that construction of the gymnasium in Morningside Park would be "racist" and deprive Negroes in the area of recreation facilities. They asserted the defense program, the Institute for Defense Analysis, was supporting the Vietnam war effort.

Last week's increase in the discount rate to 5.5 per cent was another step in that maneuvering to control inflation. This is the rate banks must pay when they borrow money from the Federal Reserve. Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

Questions Cost Of Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., questions the spending of $4 million a year to investigate more than 8,000 Peace Corps trainees when only 10 to 15 are let go on the basis of information gleaned from such probes.

CANADA DRY VODKA $1.95 PINT

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn at a hearing Tuesday: "It costs you $400,000 each to find out about them. If it's so minimal, it seems you could take a chance. It's not going to destroy the Peace Corps."

Side from this, however, Fulbright praised the Peace Corps and suggested it should have sought more than the $12.8 million requested in the fiscal 1969 budget.

Self-Inflicted Shot Was Fatal

LANGLEY AFB, Va. (AP) — The Air Force identified Tuesday S. Sgt. Haywood G. Davenport, 31, of Plymouth, N.C., as the victim of a fatal self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Davenport was found dead in his quarters Monday with an M-1 rifle wound in his head. He was an administrative supervisor in the deputy chief of staff for war plans' office of the Tactical Air Command at Langley.

Big Cities' Problem: Hiring Negro Policemen

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American cities with large nonwhite populations are making slow progress in their efforts to increase the number of Negro policemen.

In many places where racial tensions are significant, determined recruiting campaigns have been carried on for years.

But except for Chicago, where one policeman in four is a Negro, and Philadelphia, where Negroes comprise a fifth of the uniformed force, results have been largely disappointing, an Associated Press survey shows.

Washington, with a population 64 per cent Negro, is seeking to achieve the same proportion on its police department, and so far has 612 Negroes on a force of 2,924—just over 21 per cent. There are two Negro inspectors and one captain.

"Our biggest obstacle," said Inspector Boyd T. Willard, personnel director of the Washington department, "is that those who qualify in age and background can also qualify for many jobs with the federal government. You offer a man a job as a starting policeman or a job at about the same pay with the government, with Saturdays and Sundays off for sure and that sort of thing—well, you can see the sort of competition we have."

President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders declared in a report made public Feb. 29 that, "The abrasive relationship between the police and the ghetto community has been a major—and explosive—source of grievance, tension and disorder."

As a partial remedy, the commission urged the widespread recruitment of Negroes to police densely populated Negro districts in urban communities.

But police departments in general say they have found hiring Negroes to be easier said than done.

The New York City police department has been trying for a long time to increase the proportion of uniformed Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

Recruiting teams including Negroes and whites have combed the Negro areas for prospects. High school dropouts have been encouraged to take special courses offered by the public schools so they can meet the required educational minimums.

Police department instructors have provided coaching courses to help recruits pass the civil service examinations.

Even so, the Guardian Society, an organization of New York

Negro police officers, reports a current membership of only 1,365. Total strength of the city police department is 28,788.

The two highest-ranking Negroes in the department are assistant chief inspectors, receiving $19,231 a year.

The New York police department is reticent about why Negroes and Puerto Ricans are reluctant to join up.

But Lt. Edwin Nagorski of the Cleveland, Ohio, police community relations department said, with reference to his city:

"The policeman has a negative image among Negroes and this still has to be overcome."

Cleveland began active recruitment of Negro policemen in 1965. It still has only 160 of them in a force of 2,200, up a mere 40 in the past two years.

The community relations unit of the Seattle, Wash., police department, which has only nine Negroes on a uniformed force of approximately 1,000, has been recruiting for months, with virtually no success.

"I had three Negroes ready to come to work," comments Police Chief Frank Ramon. "When it became known in their neighborhoods, they were called 'Uncle Toms' and they backed off."

The police department in Newark, N.J., scene of major rioting last summer, has been campaigning for Negro recruits through its community relations bureau since 1966.

As of now, Newark has 150 Negro policemen on a force of 1,143, although 55 per cent of the city's 410,000 residents are black.

A department spokesman says most Newark Negroes, including those who could qualify for uniforms, simply don't like policemen.

"The cop is 'Whitey' and all that means to the Negro community," the spokesman says.

Detroit, another 1967 riot scene, has been recruiting Negroes for the past five years, yet has only 244 on a force totaling 4,460.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh says, "We will mount within the next month a massive recruiting campaign to increase the percentage of Negro officers in the department.

Special teams will be organized to recruit at Detroit factory gates, at neighborhood centers, military bases, and the campuses of small Negro colleges throughout the country.

In 1965, before the riots in the Watts district, Los Angeles had 165 Negro officers. Today there are 228 on a force of 5,485.

Negroes who want to join the Los Angeles force are encouraged to file their applications at neighborhood precinct stations, which saves them the trip to downtown headquarters. Negro applicants are given every encouragement. In a single week early in April, there were 10 Negro applicants and all were accepted.

No Negro in the Los Angeles department holds a rank higher than lieutenant.

Boston, with a police force of 2,500, has only 53 Negroes. The highest rank held by any of them is sergeant. Mayor Kevin H. White, elected last autumn, has asked the state legislature to set up a police cadet program designed to attract more black applicants.

The Baltimore police department has been seeking qualified Negroes since 1966, sending recruitment vans into Negro areas, advertising in newspapers and using billboards and spot radio announcements.

At present the department has only 288 Negroes in a uniformed force of 3,025.

Capt. Marvin Leonard, information officer for the New Orleans police force, says Negroes in that city "either don't want to become policemen or they are not qualified."

New Orleans began hiring Negro policemen 10 years ago, and has about 80 on a force of 1,400.

Leonard says, "We have sent people into Negro areas trying to encourage them to apply. We have visited Army posts. We go to the universities."

The Dallas, Tex., police department has a Negro recruiting officer who spends most of his time in Black communities and schools. Each Sunday he gives a civil service examination to applicants who are busy at work on week days.

Dallas hired its first Negro policeman in 1948. Today it has 15 Negroes on a force of 1,472.

Buffalo, N.Y., which has experienced a number of racial disorders in recent years, has 34 Negro patrolmen on a force of 886. A police department administrator said few Negro applicants could meet civil service standards, including a high school diploma.

The Philadelphia police department, whose Negro recruiting program has been a big success, sends teams into minority neighborhoods to hold on-the-spot interviews and conduct preliminary examinations without prior arrangements.

Within the past three years the number of Negroes on the Philadelphia force has jumped 40 per cent. It stands at 1,426 out of a force of 6,911.

Chicago—which has a Negro Deputy Chief, Sam Nolan of the human relations division—has long had many Negroes on the force, partly because of liberal fringe benefits and a starting salary of $7,300.

In an effort to speed up the recruitment of still more Negroes, Chicago recently began holding police examinations every week.

The personnel division said its records do not provide a breakdown by race, but estimated that 25 per cent, or 2,875, of the Chicago force of 11,495 are black.

Big Earnings By Natural Gas Co.

FAYETTEVILLE — Another period of record-breaking earnings has been reported by N. C. Natural Gas Corporation. The company's interim report for the six months ending March 31, 1968 shows a net income before income taxes of $1,647,947, which represents an increase of $427,947 or 36 per cent over the same period a year ago.

For the twelve months ending March 31, net income before income taxes was up 43 per cent over the prior 12-month period—increasing from $1,406,587 to $2,013,282.

In his letter to stockholders, which accompanied the report, Frank Barragan Jr., president of NCGN, said the utility firm "has maintained its earnings well and is in a good position to begin its expansion program."

Barragan disclosed that $8 million of financing had been secured for the initial phases of major expansion programs, including pipeline extension to Roanoke Rapids, and to Pleasant Hill, for the second interconnection with Transcontinental Pipeline Corporation.

UNUSUAL INJURY
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson man filed a $37,000 damage suit in Superior Court against a bus company, stating he suffered "grievous injuries" when deer horns fell from a luggage rack and hit him on the head while he was a passenger.

See 'Deception' In Any Sympathy

TOKYO (AP) — "I can only conclude that race relations in America are at a critical turning point," a Japanese sociologist studying in Illinois has reported to Tokyo readers.

In a story in the Tokyo newspaper Asahi, Kenichi Tominaga asked: "Is there anything to do to temper the tension that exists between white liberals who with good will try to understand black people who assert that good will is deception?"

Tominaga, an assistant professor of sociology at Tokyo University, is doing research on management-labor relations at the University of Illinois. He reported on a memorial assembly at the university for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

After the assembly, he wrote, Negro students "jumped on the platform and started shouting and making speeches to the effect that the assembly was an epitome of deception and that the rapport between blacks and whites is, after all, a dream.

"There is no question," Tominaga added, "that white mourners detested the terrorist act of a killer—or killers—and admired the act and thought of the late civil rights leader. There was no deception in the sorrow and sympathy expressed by the whites . . ."

"But the black students could in no way appreciate the sympathy, sorrow and shattered sentiments equally felt by the whites . . ."

"There is in the psychological makeup of the Negro students a belief that whatever the white students and professors say and feel and think is simply a gesture of guilt-ridden sympathy and therefore a deception."

"I learned that although the blacks and whites seem to be integrated and seem to have established a line of communication on the campus, they are poles apart if, agitated by a tragic stroke of events, they meet as a group," Tominaga said.

"HOW TO TEACH YOUR BOY THE VALUE OF A DOLLAR"

If interested in a newspaper route for your son, call or write the circulation manager
752-6166

This newspaperboy has learned an important lesson through his part-time business. He already knows that a dollar isn't something that comes free every week under that loose term "allowance." He knows how many papers he has to deliver and how he has to hustle for a dollar. It's one of the many lessons he'll learn on his route.

When a boy takes charge of a newspaper route he's going into business for himself. He learns to budget his time, to keep accurate records; he learns all-around responsibility. And his profits give him a head start on saving while he has the chance to get ahead.

If your son comes up to you someday and asks if he can have a paper route, don't give him the brush-off. He's showing a little initiative. And after all, that's how Ed Sullivan started out . . . he was a newspaperboy, too.

Pirates Take Pair From Davidson; Rose Wins

Galt Hurls Phants To 3-0 Victory

By SONNY McLAUGHORN Reflector Sports Writer

HAVELOCK — Lee Galt pitched Rose High to a 3-0 triumph over Havelock's Rams here Tuesday.

Galt allowed but three hits, while striking out 11. Only one Havelock batter got as far as third base, and he was stranded in the fifth inning.

The Phantoms gave their hurler good support at the plate, with nine safeties. However nine Rose baserunners reached scoring position and did not cross the plate.

Second baseman Ron Leggett led off in the first as he reaches base on an error by the shortstop. Russ Cayton and Mike Aldridge reached on errors.

Then Ken Beamon stroked a single to score Leggett, who was at third. Cayton was thrown out trying to score from second.

Russ Smith singled to open the second inning. Pitcher Galt helped his own cause with a healthy double down the left field line, scoring Smith.

Al Gurganus, who had reached base on a single, did not touch third base as he tried to score behind Smith.

Firstbaseman Vaughn Strum cracked a single in the second for the initial hit off Galt, but he was left standing on the base.

Strum's double in the fourth put men on second and third, but righthander Galt struck out the next batter.

The Rose hurler opened the fifth by reaching base on a Ram miscue. Leggett offered a sacrifice bunt. Then shortstop David Hahn drove the ball clearly through the Havelock for another run, making the count 3-0. The Phants got the bases loaded in the sixth, but a fine double play got Ram pitcher Allen Sanders out of trouble.

Leggett made a terrific play on a foul fly ball in the sixth. Steve Melkonian lifted a foul toward the stands and Leggett gave chase. The Phantom second baseman ran into the fence, reached over and stabbed the ball.

Of the nine Rose safeties, Hahn, Beamon and Smith had two each.

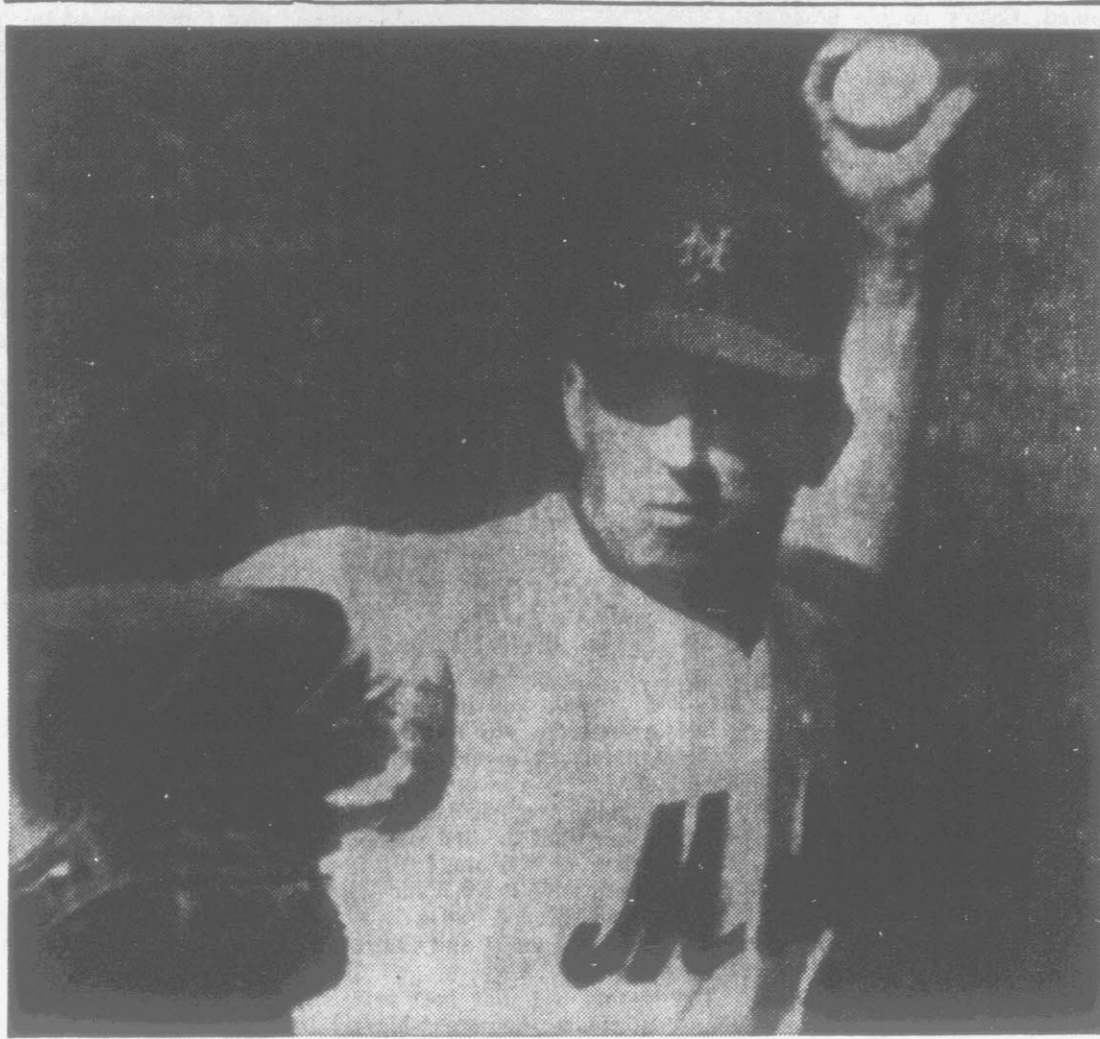

Strum had two of the three Ram safeties.

After the fourth inning, Havelock never managed a real threat. Rose stickmen kept the Rams in trouble in nearly every inning, but in all but the fourth—when a double play erased the sacks—runners were left on the basepaths.

The Phantoms, retaining the second position in the North-eastern race, play host to Washington's Pam Pack Thursday afternoon.

STRONG ARM OF THE METS — Rookie Jerry Koozman goes to work on the mound in the first inning against the Houston Astros at New York's Shea stadium yesterday. Koozman, whose string of 21 scoreless innings ended when Bob Aspromonte doubled Rusty Staub home in the fourth inning, held the Astros to one run to gain a 3-1 victory for the New York Mets. Marichal Gains Third Victory; Dislikes Cold

By RON RAPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

Juan Marichal moaned, and Jim Davenport groaned, but nobody in the San Francisco locker room took them very seriously.

"I don't like to pitch in this cold weather," said Marichal of the 46-degree Philadelphia temperature as if the Giants had lost instead of beating the Phillies 7-1 Tuesday night. "It's tough to get loose and you can't sweat very good."

"I didn't figure I hit the grand-slam homer too good," said Davenport. But those four of his five runs batted in for the evening were not quite that easy to shrug off. At least not to the Phips.

Marichal's victory was his third of the season without a defeat. Of his last 80 victories, 79 have been complete games. Philadelphia had 10 hits off Marichal but couldn't do much with them.

In other National League games, St. Louis beat Cincinnati 4-2 in 10 innings, Chicago crushed Atlanta 10-4 and New York stopped Houston 3-1. Los Angeles and Pittsburgh were rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped Oakland 6-3 and Washington downed California 3-1. Baltimore at Minnesota, Detroit at Cleveland and Boston at Chicago all were postponed because of bad weather.

Davenport's homer was his first of the season and the third with the bases full of his career. Lou Brock's two-run homer in the 10th won for the Cardinals, who were trailing 2-0 going into the ninth. George Culver was hurling a four-hitter but was lifted after a walk and a single. Tony Perez' throwing error opened the gates for the tying runs.

The Cubs erupted for six runs in the fourth inning in a battle between Joe Niekro, the Chicago pitcher, and his brother Phil, who threw for the Braves.

"I didn't exactly outpitch him," said Joe of Phil. "I didn't have great stuff. He struck me out on four good knucklers and he shouldn't do that. He should give his little brother nothing but fastballs down the middle."

The Mets got another fine pitching performance from Jerry Koozman, even though his shutout streak ended at 21 innings. The rookie gave up only four hits and struck out 11. The Mets took advantage of four Astros' errors to score the winning runs.

Sigel Shines In North-South

By KEN ALYTA ASSOCIATED Press Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jay Sigel, whose golfing future was threatened four years ago by a severely cut left hand, was the newest "player to watch" as the North and South Amateur tournament moved into its fourth round today.

The 24-year-old former Wake Forest University player from Narberth, Pa., vaulted into the spotlight with a 19 hole upset of defending champion Bill Campbell in Tuesday's play.

Today, Sigel was paired against Jerry Courville of South Norwalk, Conn., winner of New York's Metropolitan Open last year.

Sigel received severe nerve and tendon injuries when he accidentally pushed his left hand through a glass door in the summer of 1964. He has little feeling in the hand and it presents problems with putts, particularly in cold weather.

When he and Campbell, the four-time North and South champion from Huntington, W. Va., began their match Tuesday the temperature was a chilly 50 degrees and skies were cloudy after a morning shower.

The sun finally broke through and with it came Sigel's putting touch, just in time to beat the erratic Campbell. Sigel saved pars with putts of 12 feet on the 17th and 18th holes to send the match to the 19th. He won it with a par four as Campbell three-putted from about 40 feet after his tee shot landed on the side of a mound in the fairway.

"When you play badly you can't expect to win," said Campbell, who repeatedly sprayed shots on the back nine. "My timing was completely gone."

Sigel shot 76, four over par for the 7,000-yard No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Along with him in the top quarter of the draw as play resumed today were two North Carolina threats, Bill Harvey of Greensboro and Pat Foy Brady of Reidsville.

Chief contenders in the second quarter were Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., a Walker Cup veteran at 20, and Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., another former Waker Cup player and 1964 North-South champion.

Billy Hyndman of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., Morris Beecroft of Newport News, Va., Jim Gabrielsen of Atlanta and Leonard Thompson of Laurinburg, N.C., looked like the class of the third quarter.

Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., Dick Sideroff of Westport, Conn., and Charlie Harrison of Atlanta were the fourth quarter standouts.

Campbell was the biggest name wiped out Tuesday although many favorites barely escaped a similar fate. Ten of the 32 matches went to the 18th hole and three were decided on the 19th.

Burlington On Carolina Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Burlington moved back into first place in the Carolina League by defeating Kinston 6-4 in 12 innings while Lynchburg was losing to Rocky Mount 3-2.

Ron Robinson cracked a two-out double to score two runs and give Burlington its victory over Kinston at Kinston. Robinson drove in Jim Martin and Larry Davis who had singled.

Pinch hitter Bob Heumann singled home Mike Martin with the winning run in the eighth as Rocky Mount edged Lynchburg at Rocky Mount. Only 257 persons turned out for the game.

Righthanders Dick Mills and Bruce Pfeifer held Raleigh-Durham to four hits as Winston-Salem defeated the Mets 2-1 at Raleigh before a crowd of 335. The Red Sox collected nine hits.

The Portsmouth Tides blanked Greensboro 4-0 at Greensboro behind the four-hit pitching of righthander Billy Champion. Champion struck out 10 and walked three.

Rain forced postponement of the Wilson at Salem game.

At Thomasville, rain twice halted the High Point-Thomasville - Peninsula game and finally forced its postponement in the bottom of the eighth with the score tied at 10-10. The game will be replayed at a later date.

Garrett Slams 3 Homers, Burke, Colbert Sparkle

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor

The East Carolina University Pirates broke their four-game losing streak yesterday, humbling the Davidson Wildcats, 8-0 and 12-4, behind strong hitting and superb pitching.

The Pirates banged out 21 hits in the doubleheader, including five home runs, three by Stu Garrett. At the same time, hurlers Vince Colbert and Dennis Burke hurled four and five hitters, respectively.

The pair of wins boosted the Buc record in the Southern Conference to 4-0, and moved them nearly halfway to the Southern Division championship. They have five games remaining in the circuit, a single game with Davidson and a pair with The Citadel on the road, both next week, and a pair with Furman at home, ending the regular season.

Colbert was the star of the opening game, tossing his four-hitter at Davidson. He struck out eight and walked none, although he did hit one batter.

Only twice did Davidson runners reach second. In the third inning, with two outs and two on, and a full count on the batter, Colbert surprised Davidson by whirling and picking off the runner at second to retire the side. In the fourth, a hit and an error, along with a passed ball put runners on second and third with one out, but short files ended that threat.

East Carolina, meanwhile, went to work in the first inning, getting a pair of runs. With two out, Carey Anderson singled, and then was safe stealing on an error. Jim Snyder walked and Dave Goings hit through the shortstop's legs to score Anderson. Dave Winchester singled to drive in Snyder for a 2-0 advantage.

Dick Corrada provided another run in the second, homering to left with two out.

But the big Pirate inning came in the fifth, when the Bucs pushed five runs across. Jimmy Lanier led off with frame with a homer to push the score to 4-0.

Anderson walked and moved up on a wild pitch, and scored when Snyder doubled down the left field line. Dave Goings singled to put two on and then Garrett started his personal home run derby.

Garrett's blast cleared the left field fence and ended the scoring for the first game, making it 8-0.

In the first contest, Corrada turned out as the leading hitter having three, including his homer. Goings ended up with two, including a double.

In the second contest, it looked like East Carolina's Dennis Burke and Davidson's Mack Reavis were going to tie up in a pitching duel. That is, until Garrett got back up again. The Bucs were retired in order in the first two frames, but Garrett ended that string.

Leading off the third inning, Garrett dropped another one over the fence at almost the same place, making it one to nothing.

In the fourth, East Carolina pushed across three more for a 4-0 lead. Snyder led off with a single and went to second when the ball was misplayed in the outfield. Goings then slapped a triple to deep center, scoring Snyder.

And that brought Garrett back to the plate. This time, the ball again sailed to left, and barely cleared the fence for his third consecutive homer, scoring Goings ahead of him for a 4-0 lead.

In the top of the fifth, Davidson finally broke the scoring ice for the day, scoring a run. Jack Caldwell reached on an error, and then was safe at second when Jim Long's grounder to short was overthrown at second. Cliff Patterson sacrificed the runners up, and Caldwell scored on Reavis' grounder to third.

Having their shutout lost must have done something to the Bucs, as they came back to score eight runs in the bottom of the inning.

Burke led off with a slow dribbler to third which he beat out. Corrada then fooled the infield by faking a bunt, then dropping the ball over second for a hit. Lanier beat out a bunt down the third base line, loading them up. Anderson singled in Burke, but he was out on a fielder's choice as Goings reached and Corrada scored.

Winchester walked to reload the sacks and that brought a grinning Garrett back to the plate. Needless to say, he was walked on four straight balls, driving in Lanier. George Sweat singled to score Goings and Winchester and Burke singled in Garrett and moved Sweat to third.

Burke and Sweat then went into the double steal, with Sweat scoring safely. Burke was then awarded second on interference by a Davidson defender. Corrada, back up again, singled to score Burke with the final run, giving the Bucs a 12-1 lead.

Davidson got three more in the top of the sixth, all unearned. Pat Reid led off with a single and moved to second on a wild pitch. Stew Brown singled, but when the ball got away from the first baseman, Reid scored on the error Caldwell reached on an error and Bob Meadows' double drove in both runners.

Burke, in hurling his five-hitter, gave up one walk and struck out eight.

Besides Garrett's homers, Corrada and Burke each had two hits.

Chips and Putts from area golf courses:

GREENVILLE C.C.

Play got underway this past weekend in the men's, women's and junior's club championships at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. Pro Boyd Huff urges players in the tournament to play their matches within the proper times, so that the tourney can continue as scheduled.

Huff also notes that a Scotch Foursome tournament is being planned for Sunday, May 5, at the club.

Winners in last week's Ladies Day events were Irene Bircher, Clara Mae Shockwell, Louise Carter and Jo Saunders.

A number of Greenville people attended the Azalea Festival Golf Tournament last week. These included: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Ford McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Huff, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Ward, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Collie, Dr. and Mrs. Ledyan Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Al Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudson, Dan Wooten and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Batts of Williamston.

FARMVILLE C. C.

Arthur Joyner Jr. has joined the list of hole-in-one makers at the Farmville Golf and Country Club. Joyner's ace came on the 140-yard sixth hole. He used a six iron to make the shot. Playing with him were Roy Mewborn and Budd Dail.

BROOK VALLEY

A team headed by pro O. A. Barnes of Rocky Mount's Benvenue Country Club led the list of winners in the Pro-Am Weekly held at Brook Valley Country Club Monday. His team fired a net of 57 to take top honors. Phil Hatley led a team with 59, while two teams, led by Horace Ervin and Red Sapp had 60's.

Jerry Jarrett and Horace Erwin won the pro-pro with a 64, while Kinston's Ken Folkes had a 67 as low pro.

Harold Thomas, the Brook Valley pro, took a team to the pro-lady tourney in Dunn last week. Along with Doris Harbin, Helen Boyd, Jeanette Thomas and Jane Sauve, the team had a low ball of 61, to take second place.

Robersonville Downs Oak City

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Rams gained a 6-1 victory over Oak City yesterday as Howard Whitehurst tossed a no-hitter.

The Rams are leading the Martin County Conference with a 2-0 record. They are 4-0 overall.

Whitehurst, in tossing the victory, struck out six and walked one. Whitehurst was also the leading hitter, getting three, while Alonza McRorie added two.

Robersonville got all the runs it needed in the third, with three. McRorie led off with a double and Blaine Cargile reached on a fielder's choice. Jim Taylor singled in McRorie and Joe Pilgreen doubled to score Cargile and Taylor.

Robersonville later added one in the fourth and two in the sixth. Oak City picked up its only run in the third.

Rams Defeat Farmville, 9-0

FARMVILLE — Greene Central's Marlon Hill hurled a no-hitter at Farmville High School yesterday as the Rams took a 9-0 victory.

Hill struck out nine and walked four on the way to his no-hitter. He also led the hitting for the Rams, letting two, a homer and a double.

Monk Hill had two singles, Gilbert Cobb had a double and a triple and Felton Ormond had a single and a triple to aid in the Greene Central cause.

The Rams took the lead in the third inning with three runs. Ron Skinner reached on a fielder's choice and Ormond singled. Marlon Hill doubled in two runs and after Monk Hill walked, Cobb's double brought in the third run.

The Rams went on to score three more in the fifth and three in the sixth, when Hill hit his homer with one on.

Stokes Upsets Ayden No-Hitter

STOKES — Stokes-Pactolus watched as the Ayden Tornadoes hurled a no-hitter at them, but decided to win it anyway, taking a 2-0 victory over the league-leading Tornadoes.

It was the second loss for Ayden this year in conference play and dropped them back into a tie for first with Winterville.

Ayden's David McGlohon and Paul Miller combined for the no-hitter, but walks and a wild pitch got them into trouble.

The game was a scoreless deadlock in the fifth when Stokes came to bat. But Stokes waited as Ayden walked Carter Crandall, Joe Bullock and Keith Congleton to load the bases. Gus James was then walked, driving in Crandall with the first run.

After an attempted squeeze nailed Bullock, Congleton scored on a wild pitch, for the 2-0 edge.

Ayden was limited to just four hits by Crandall. The top hit of the day was a double by Alan Wilson.

Chicod Wins Over Bethel

CHICOD — Chicod High School rallied in the seventh inning for three runs yesterday to take a 6-5 victory over Bethel.

It was the first conference victory for the Hornets this year.

Bethel moved out into the lead in the second inning, getting three runs. Chicod came back with one in the third, and the two each got a pair in the fifth, making it 5-3.

Then in the bottom of the seventh, Chicod turned on its victory rally. Peele led off with a walk and Edwards singled to score him. Dixon walked and Landreth singled to drive him in, tying the score. A single by Hudson drove Landreth across with the winning run.

Manning led Bethel's hitting with two, while Shivers, Edwards, Landreth and Hudson each had two for Chicod.

Koosman Hurling Mets To Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The folks out in Appleton, Minn. must be very proud of young Jerry Koosman these days. The big farm boy ranks among the pitching leaders with a perfect 3-0 record for the New York Mets.

The young left-hander's string of scoreless innings was broken at 21 Tuesday but he went all the way with a four-hitter against Houston and won 3-1 with the help of four errors by the Astros.

It was a chilly day and only 3,581 (third smallest crowd in Shea Stadium history) turned out for the afternoon game. It seemed as though there were that many newsmen in the home clubhouse, crowding around Koosman after the game.

In case you haven't heard,

Koosman is the young man who was recommended to the Mets through an usher at the old Polo Grounds. Jerry's catcher at Fort Bliss, Tex., tipped off his father, the usher, and the Mets eventually grabbed a prize for $1,200.

Koosman is 24 and married now. He lives in Morris Minn. during the off season but his father still runs a 600-acre farm 11 miles north of Appleton.

Although Koosman pitched semi-pro ball in Minnesota, he learned the trade at Fort Bliss where he had a 20-3 service record.

"Most of the clubs, except the (New York) Yankees and Washington were interested in me but only Minnesota and the Mets talked money," he said. "I finally signed with Red Murff (Met scout) for $1,200."

Monbouquette Hurls Yankees To Fifth Win In Last Six Contests

By DICK COUCE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Monbouquette's smooth finishing touch has gotten the New York Yankees past the next-to-last rough spot on their high road home.

Monbouquette, a wily, 31-year-old craftsman, pitched eight innings of scoreless, two-hit relief Tuesday night as the Yankees cuffed the Oakland Athletics 6-3.

The victory was the fifth in six games on the road for the Yankees, who meet the A's again tonight before returning home for a four-game series against the torrid Detroit Tigers.

In the only other AL game played Tuesday night, Ken McMullen's three-run homer in the first inning powered the Washington Senators to a 3-1 victory over the California Angels. Three other games were postponed due to bad weather.

San Francisco whipped Philadelphia 7-1, the Chicago Cubs slugged Atlanta 10-4, St. Louis slipped past Cincinnati 4-2 in 10 innings and the New York Mets beat Houston 3-1 in National League games.

Monbouquette replaced Yankee starter Al Downing, who was making his first appearance of the year, in the second inning.

The Yankees had tagged right-hander Chuck Dobson for four unearned runs in the first inning. The A's countered with three off Downing in the bottom of the first.

Monbouquette, who lost his first start and then beat California 6-1 last Thursday with a route-going five-hitter, retired the first 11 and last 12 A's he faced. He struck out three, walked none and lowered his earned run average to 0.87 in 23 innings' work.

Two walks around an error by shortstop Ted Kubiak set the stage for New York's first inning burst. One run scored on Roy White's sacrifice fly, two more on a double by Bill Robinson and the fourth on a single by Jake Gibbs.

Gibbs and Monbouquette rapped run-scoring singles in the sixth, completing the Yankees' attack.

Bert Campaneris' single, doubles by Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando and a sacrifice fly by Mike Hershberger produced the three first inning runs for the A's, who have dropped five straight games.

McMullen's second homer of the season followed first inning singles by Del Unser and Hank Allen and pinned the loss on California southpaw George Brunet. Phil Ortega was the winner for the Senators with third inning relief help from Darold Knowles.

The Senators have won five of their last six—all on the road—while the Angels have lost six of eight.

Belvoir Gains Comeback Win

BELVOIR — Belvoir-Falkland defeated Grifton yesterday, 6-3, in a Pitt County Conference baseball game.

Grifton pushed out into the lead in the first inning, getting two runs. Coles walked and Simmons also got a free trip. Gray then tripled to give the Bulldogs a 2-0 lead.

In the second, Grifton upped its lead to 3-0. Burton and Owens both walked and Whaley singled to load them up. Burton then scored on Owens' infield out.

In the bottom of the second, Belvoir got into the act, scoring a run. Corbett walked, and stole both second and third, scoring on Coburn's single.

Belvoir then tied it up in the bottom of the third. Brown was hit by a pitch and Corbett reached on an error. Tyler then singled to score both runners, making it a 3-3 tie.

In the fourth, the Eagles pushed over two more to take the lead, and eventually the game. Coburn reached on an error and Wooten walked. Witherington also walked, loading the bases and a single by Coby drove in two runs for a 5-3 Belvoir edge.

The Eagles picked up another insurance run in the fifth. Grifton 210 000 0-3 2 2
Belvoir 012 210 x-6 6 0

Rose Golfers End Season

Rose High School completed its 1968 regular season golf schedule yesterday with its ninth straight victory as Havelock fell, 320-333.

The Phants, regular season champs, were led by Ben Harrison, with a 76 over the 7,000-yard championship Brook Valley course. Cleve Branch had a 79, Carl Pierce had an 82 and Phil Harvey, an 83.

The Phants will play host to the conference championship tournament next Monday, as the eight conference teams vie for the title. Rose will be seeking its third straight Northeastern title in the meet.

Deputy's Star Being Pinned On Many Civilians

An AP Special Report
By HENRIETTA LEITH
Associated Press Writer

In the old Wild West days, the sheriff pinned the star on a bystander and made him a deputy. Since the bystander already was equipped with gun and horse, he could easily fit into the new role and take off after the cattle rustlers.

Today, many large city police forces are coming full circle. They figuratively are pinning the deputy's star on thousands of civilians—men and women, young and old, from corporation executives to college boys—to do police work full-time or part-time.

The object is to free more trained policemen to patrol the crime-ridden, often riot-troubled city streets.

Los Angeles has more than 30 gray-uniformed civilians directing traffic at street corners and hopes to replace eventually all "fixed post" policemen with civilians. Already more than 22 per cent of the police department in the California city is civilians.

Columbus, Ohio, has civilians driving the wreckers that tow away illegally parked cars and uses persons who couldn't physically qualify as policemen—including the handicapped—to check parking meters and write tickets.

New York City's 28,000-man police force is augmented by nearly 4,900 paid civilian employees, including 223 "meter maids," and another 2,200 auxiliary policemen who are unsalaried.

The 12,000 regular policemen of Chicago are freed for crime-fighting by more than 1,200 civilian clerical workers, 1,000 women crossing guards, and 264 teen-aged police cadets.

Across the nation, civilians, in uniform or mufti, paid or unpaid, are doing fingerprinting, cooking, working as mechanics in motor pools, keeping records, serving as desk officers, handling traffic at parades, athletic events and conventions, skin diving for bodies, manning radio networks and telephone switchboards, working in laboratories, chauffeuring officials, even acting as technicians at the scene of the crime.

The posse concept, revived in many cities as a reaction to riots or rashes of burglaries and rapes, is frequently more popular with the civilian population than with police officials. But officials in Maricopa County, Ariz., in which the city of Phoenix rises out of the desert where mounted posses kicked up clouds of dust in the old days, still love posses.

In addition to six mounted posses—which now do only such work as search and rescue and crowd control—the county has a jeep posse, a range posse, a water safety posse, an air posse, a divers' posse and a parachute posse.

Most of the posse members are businessmen, some retired. The parachute posse is composed of a half-dozen doctors with parachute training.

One police chief who admits to "mixed emotions" about civilian posses is Bob Chewing of Orlando, Fla. When a newspaper sponsored a "Pistol-Packing Posse" of women frightened by a series of rape cases, thousands of women brought their guns to the police for instruction in how to use them. Chewing said not only did this take up the precious time of police officers, but many of the guns, brought in by women from 18 to 80, would have exploded if they had tried to fire them.

Another who is leery of the posse is Denver's new police chief, George Seaton. He thinks his city, in spite of its cattle rustling and posse-riding history, can do without such civilian aid. But he makes a clear distinction between posses and the 75-man police auxiliary, serving without pay on traffic and crowd control duties, with its own radio network tied in with that of the police.

These men, he said, are just good citizens, and "the mayor and I are hopeful we can do something for them financially before too long."

Members of the mounted posse of Franklin County, Ohio, furnish their own horses, the dress uniforms they wear in parades, and the work uniforms they wear when helping police handle riots, strikes and man hunts.

The Concerned Citizens of Harrisburg, Pa., patrolled their streets nightly with notepads and pencils, jotting down notes on suspicious persons and license numbers of suspicious cars, for several weeks last December, and there was a noticeable drop in crime.

Kansas City gives awards to citizens who report suspicious incidents or come to the aid of the police in catching criminals and San Francisco enlists the aid of amateur detectives by distributing thousands of leaflets on which to write down descriptions of suspicious persons or autos to be passed on to the police.

Police officials are almost universally grateful for aid from the civilian population, so long as it doesn't take the law into its own hands. Quinn Tamm, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, thinks there is "a definite place for civilians in police forces." He says the association advises police departments to get their officers "out from behind the desks and onto the streets."

Kansas City's police chief, Clarence M. Kelley, applauds citizen cooperation, saying there are just not enough policemen "to do the job alone."

But Police Chief Harold Breier of Milwaukee maintains a "no help wanted" policy. He doesn't even want meter maids. "Only a fully and completely trained police officer," he says, "can do the job."

And Drom Braman, mayor of Seattle, agrees.

"It is difficult enough," he says, "to get trained, mature police officers to use calm judgment in emergencies, much less inexperienced civilians."

Rod Steiger Can Now Pick, Choose Scripts

OSCAR WINNER AT WORK — Actor Rod Steiger is currently at work in "The Illustrated Man," appearing in his makeup. The strenuous role requires 8-hour sessions in the makeup department. (AP Wirephoto)

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Sure, I wanted to win. But you don't go to the Academy Awards expecting to win. If you did, then you should take a pistol in your pocket so you can shoot your brains out if you lose."

Now that the Oscar fever has died down, Rod Steiger was able to achieve some perspective on the movie world's top prize. His award as best actor of 1967 for "In the Heat of the Night" brought him unmistakable joy, but it hasn't overwhelmed him.

"Maybe that's because of a mature judgment that comes with age," said Steiger, who turned 43 on Easter Sunday. "Maybe I was still thinking that I should have gotten the Oscar for 'The Pawnbroker.'"

Grateful as he is for "In the Heat of the Night," he still considers "The Pawnbroker" a greater challenge.

"It was the toughest role I ever attempted," said the actor. "After all, here was a man who spent most of his time trying to avoid communication with other people. He replied in monosyllables and wouldn't look at the person he was talking to. It was a real challenge to make the character interesting, not boring."

Steiger had to wait a year for his triumph; his role as the embittered victim of Nazi brutality was passed up by the academy for Paul Scofield's Sir Thomas More in "A Man for All Seasons."

The Oscar has its distinct advantages, aside from ego satisfaction, Steiger admitted. "The main thing is the selection of scripts," he said. "I'm now getting first chance at scripts that never would have been offered to me a year or two ago."

His current film is an example. He plays the title role in Warner Brothers-7 Arts' spectacle of Ray Bradbury's, "The Illustrated Man." It is Steiger's most strenuous role, requiring eight-hour sessions in the makeup department while his entire body is painted with tattoo-like figures.

Success stories are written when talent and opportunity converge. Steiger figures that happened for him when he played the television version of "Marty." Because of his performance, Elia Kazan selected him for "On the Waterfront," which won Steiger an academy nomination and launched his film career.

But for his own stubborn independence, Steiger might have received his Oscar earlier. He was sought for the film version of "Marty," but lost it because he refused to sign an exclusive contract with the producers. Ernest Borgnine won the role and an Oscar—and then spent a half-million dollars to extricate himself from his contract.

Lawyers Protest Hymn-Singing

LONDON (AP) — A group of Seventh Day Adventists, who have been holding regular lunchtime services in an alcove near the Lord Chancellor's court in London's High Court building, have been threatened with eviction. Lawyers claim the hymns, accompanied by a harmonica, disturb their study of briefs.

Got His Stripes And Eagle Badge

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Bernard T. Park, 20, Mansfield, worked for his military stripes and Boy Scout merit badges at the same time.

While serving in the U.S. Air Force at Formosa, the airman first class completed requirements for his Eagle award in Boy Scouts. He came home on leave to receive the Eagle award at a special Boy Scout Court of Honor.

ROOT- PICKING DAYS

Blacksmith Lloyd Heller cuts a slice of beef for a visitor.

Firing for accuracy during the Civil War cannon shoot.

Leslie Fleanor, the 1965-66 Miss Missouri, tries her hand at driving nails.

When folks in the southern Ozark lakes region of Missouri start looking for roots and herbs to make their home remedies, that means spring is in the air.

Down past Springfield 40 miles, by U.S. Route 65, Silver Dollar City spends two weekends celebrating this time of year with their annual Root Digging Days.

The small frontier-style village, sitting in Marvel Cave Park, is a reconstruction of a pioneer settlement, complete with general store, mill, blacksmith shop, log church and newspaper printing office.

The festivities, to be held this year on April 27-28 and May 4-5, have brought in some 12,000 visitors, on a single day, to join the fun and participate in the events scheduled.

There is accuracy firing with muzzle-loaded Civil War cannons; fire-hose line laying (the winners getting to spray the losers); straw-bale mazes; rides on donkeys and stagecoaches; a tug of war between youngsters and an old steam engine while, through it all, wandering music-makers entertain.

For everyone there is the "world's biggest dinner," coming from whole steers cooked on the grounds over barbecue fires and sold at the 1880 price of 46¢ a serving. Pink lemonade, hand-churned ice cream and free sassafras tea are available at fancy-trimmed booths along the main street.

It's a short walk over the 180-foot long swinging bridge to join the celebration, but when over it'll be a long time before one forgets the fun had at Root Digging Days.

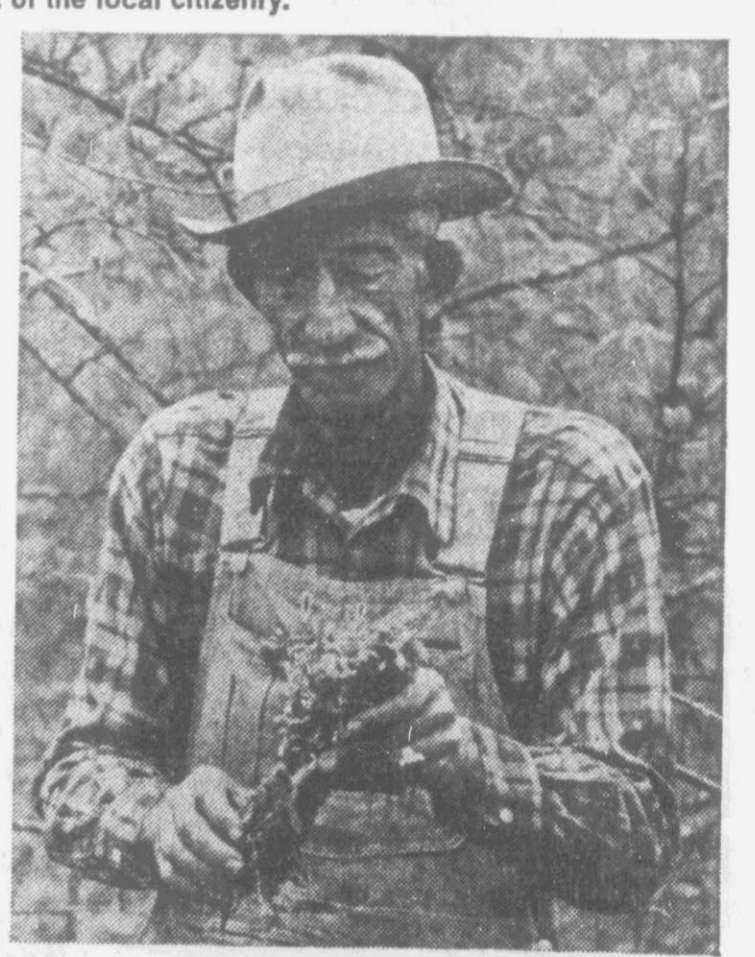

Part of the local citizenry.

A young visitor makes a purchase in the blacksmith shop.

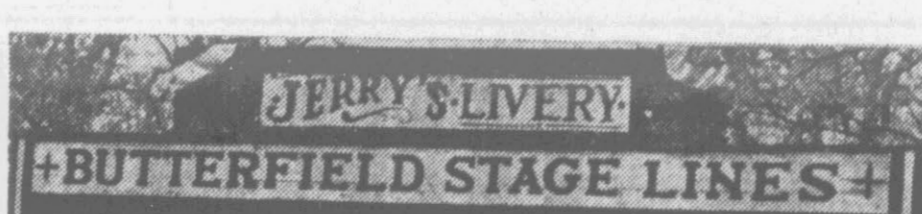

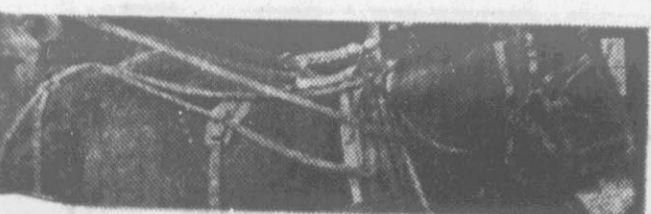

The youngsters give their all against the steam engine.

Root digger Chick Allen studies "greens" just pulled that are good for eating.

Where War Was Ended By Sherman

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Department of Archives and History
Written for The AP

RALEIGH (AP)—One hundred three years ago, April 26. That was for all practical purposes the end of the Civil War.

The place was the farmhouse of James Bennett and his family, near what was then known as Durham's Station. That was where Confederate Gen. Joseph E. Johnston surrendered to Union Gen. William T. Sherman.

Today Durham's Station has grown into the City of Durham, which has expanded until the western city limits have almost reached the place of the surrender. And that site has become Bennett Place State Historic Site, developed and maintained for the public by the State.

The home of farmer Bennett has been restored and furnished. The restoration could be authentically done because workers had a photograph, taken a few years after the event, to go by. Also several outhouses have been restored. The site is only a few hundred yards south of Interstate 85.

Gen. Sherman is credited with saying, "War is hell." Whether he made that statement or not, many people have thought he himself made war that way.

The previous September, after his capture of Atlanta, Sherman had made his march to the sea, living off the country, his burners burning and pillaging. He had the port of Savannah, and thus had a new supply route, by Christmas day, 1864.

In January Sherman and his veteran army started his march northward, traveling in the dead of winter through swampy country, over swollen rivers. Nothing could stop them.

They captured Columbia, S.C., and pretty soon fire broke out. Who started the fire has been a matter of dispute ever since, but in any event the City of Columbia was largely destroyed.

On came Sherman. He entered the Old North State early in March and occupied Fayetteville without serious resistance.

Now, under Lee's orders, Confederate Gen. Joseph E. Johnston made a last effort to stop Sherman. The battle was fought at Bentonville, a few miles south of Smithfield. But there were just too many Yankees and not nearly enough Confederates — three to one. Johnston was forced to retreat.

On marched Sherman. On April 13 he occupied the capital of North Carolina, where his men were less careless with fire than they had been farther south. The City of Raleigh was not burned.

Meanwhile, Lee had capitulated and the jig was up. Johnston took a little train from Raleigh to Durham's Station. Nearby he met Sherman and surrendered all remaining Confederate armies east of the Mississippi River. The war was over.

Shock Smokers To Halt Habit

DENVER (AP) — Another method of shocking smokers into giving up the habit has been outlined here.

This method uses electricity. The device is a pocket-size electronic cigarette case developed at a Veterans Administration Hospital in Coral Gables, Fla.

Each time the smoker reaches for a cigarette, he gets hit with an electrical shock, Dr. Malcolm Kushner explained. Eventually, he said, this builds a conditioned response against smoking.

The shock can last from 30 seconds to three minutes, depending on how long the top of the case stays open, Dr. Kushner said.

He said that pilot studies produced promising results. Tests on 20 persons showed five gave up smoking for 16 to 21 months, and nine others cut down on the number of cigarettes smoked.

The device was described at a Veterans Administration Cooperative Studies in Psychiatry Conference here.

Soprano Slated Open 2 Seasons

NEW YORK (AP) — Soprano Leontyne Price will open two opera seasons in 1968. The San Francisco Opera, in September, and La Scala in Milan, in December. Both opening nights will be Verdi's "Ernani."

From Oct. 18-Oct. 30 Miss Price has scheduled recitals and appearances with symphony orchestras in the United States.

The Worry Clinic A Dedicated Teacher Goes A 'Second Mile'

Glenna represents the truly dedicated teacher who goes that Biblical "second mile." And her advice is superb so scrapbook this case. Use the quotations to add luster to your speeches. And if you wish 200 more, consult my college psychology textbook at your local library, for such gems are a tonic for the soul!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-551: Glenna S., aged 37, is a double teacher.

For she spends 5 days per week heading the English department in a city high school. But she also generously donates her time to handle a live wire class of teen-agers at Sunday School.

"Dr. Crane," she added, "I was very pleased to read one of your columns in which you urged young people to memorize choice gems from the Bible, as well as English literature.

"Recently I came across the current edition of your collect psychology textbook wherein you placed 200 of such quotations at the foot of various pages.

"Urge your readers to assign some of them as weekly homework lessons in Sunday School. I also do so with my high schoolers."

All throughout life, but especially in our old age, it is wise to have a rich storehouse in our memory of such cultural gems.

For soul tonics are vital to a healthy brain!

Urge your youngsters to memorize Bible verses while they are young and thus have an almost photographic memory.

Reward them for being able to recite the proper quotations and match them with the men or women who uttered them.

In fact, this is an ideal way to let your children earn spending money.

If you want the full 200 choice quotations, go to your local library and consult my textbook, "Psychology Applied."

"If you educate a man, you educate an individual; if you educate a woman, you educate a family" — Dr. C. D. McIv'er.

"There are no gains without pains." — Benjamin Franklin.

"The mind grows by what it feeds upon." — Shakespeare.

"It is a socialistic idea that making profits is a vice. I consider that the real vice is making losses." — Winston Churchill.

"A gentleman is one who expects much from himself but little from others." — Confucius.

"A man without a purpose is like a ship without a rudder." — Carlyle.

"Choose the best life, for habit will make it pleasant." — Epictetus.

"When you have accomplished your daily task, go to sleep in peace; God is awake." — Victor Hugo.

"Sizes are often deceiving. Sometimes a woman's thumb has a man under it." — Erna Freesman.

"Trifles make perfection but perfection is no trifle." — Michelangelo.

"All words are pegs to hang ideas on." — H. W. Beecher.

"Men do not fail; they give up trying." — Elihu Root.

"Don't brag it isn't the whistle that pulls the train." — J. H. Thompson.

"Flowers are the sweetest things God ever made and forgot to put a soul into." — H. W. Beecher.

"Don't make excuses—Make good." — Elbert Hubbard.

"Do not mistake activity for achievement." — Mable Newcomer.

"Music is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing." — John Erskine.

"Where the press is free, and every man able to read, all is safe." — Jefferson.

"Architecture is frozen music." — Goethe.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady Tuesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites: 34-35; medium, whites: 30-31½; small, whites: 23-24½.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady. Tops of—17.25-18.75 Tarboro; 18.00-18.50 Rocky Mount; 17.75-18.50 Wilson; 17.25-18.25 Bethel, Kingston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove, Albertson, Lumberton 18.25 Selma; 18.00 Salisbury; 17.75 Greensboro; 17.50 Siler City, Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed a hesitant gain this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains outnumbered losses by a ratio of 7 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange, but weakness in selected blue chips dampened some averages.

Chrysler and United Aircraft dropped more than a point each, and Du Pont was down about 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.33 at 896.15.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 323.5; with industrials off .8, rails up .7, and utilities up .6.

The ticker tape lagged for a few minutes in the morning, but it caught abreast as prices softened.

The market still seemed to be responding mainly to various reports and rumors concerning possible selection of a site for the Vietnam peace talks. The apparent lack of progress was discouraging some investors, brokers said.

Comsat opened on a delayed block of 16,200 shares, up 3 at $7½. The company reported first-quarter net operating income of $372,000 in contrast with a net operating loss of $234,000 for the like period a year ago.

Smith, Kline & French was boosted among the volume leaders by a block of 51,000 shares, selling off ¼ at 46½. The issue erased the loss and edged rationally into plus territory.

Occidental Petroleum continued the trading favorite and seemed likely to be the most active stock for the third straight day as it posted a small fractional gain.

Among other active stocks, McDonnell Douglas gained 2 and Copperweld Steel 1 while Polaroid lost 3 and Beneficial Finance and Chrysler dropped about a point each.

IBM tacked on 3 points while Control Data dropped 2 or more and Xerox slipped more than a point. United Air Lines, Anaconda and M-G-M advanced 1 each.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Pitt Club Won Top Prize In State Beta Skit Contest

The Stokes-Pactolus Beta Club won first prize in the 10 minute skit contest at the State Beta Club Convention held in Raleigh.

The Stokes-Pactolus club presented their original skit Saturday night to the convention at Memorial Auditorium. The skit was titled, "War or Peace?"

The skit utilized three settings, a drugstore, battleground, and Symbol of Peace. It was written by Marsha Perkins, Jimmy Congleton, Mrs. Gail Crisp, and Mrs. E. F. Switzer.

The 20 members who participated were Jeff Rawls, Jimmy Congleton, David Nobles, Mar-

ECU Students Join In President Poll

East Carolina University students today were participating in Choice '68, a national polling of student preferences for presidential candidates.

Steven L. Sharpe, a freshman from Statesville, is chairman of the project for ECU.

Students were voting today in the lobby of the University Union. They were given a computer card upon presentation of their university identification cards.

Results from 1,500 colleges across the nation will be analyzed by a UNIVAC computer and the nation's results will be announced May 6.

Student voters named first, second and third choices from the following presidential possibilities:

There was also a choice of one of four answers to the question "What course of military action should the U. S. pursue in Vietnam." The choices were: immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces; maintain current level of action; increase current level, all-out U. S. military effort.

The students had a choice of one of three answers to the question concerning the bombing of North Vietnam. They could choose: maintain current level; intensify bombing, use nuclear weapons.

Students were also asked to choose which of the following should have highest priority in government spending: education, housing, income subsidy, job training and employment opportunity, riot control and stricter law enforcement.

Talk Mission To South America

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development will look into the possibility of a travel mission to South America, to promote the Tar Heel State.

Bill Hensley, C&D travel promotion director, told the Parks and Tourism Committee of the C&D Board Tuesday that the U.S. Travel Service has singled out South America as "an area with unlimited travel potential."

He said the travel service had asked the state to give serious consideration to South America for a future travel mission.

The committee asked Hensley and C&D Chairman J.W. York to look into the possibility of a mission and to invite Gov. and Mrs. Dan Moore to head the group if the mission should prove feasible.

Canada Will See New Elections

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's swinging new prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, betting that his charisma will win his Liberal party a majority, has called a general election after four days in office.

Parliament returned from a 25-day recess Tuesday to hear Trudeau tell it, it was dissolved and elections would be held June 25. The House of Commons responded with prolonged applause.

Trudeau told newsmen there is an atmosphere of uncertainty in Canada that an early election would dispel. He said he and his Liberal party are seeking the support of the people for a "comprehensive program of reform."

The Liberals have been the largest party in Commons since they won the April, 1963, general election, but they have never had a majority and have been forced to depend on the support of the smaller parties. At dissolution, the Liberals held 128 of the 265 seats in Commons.

Trudeau, a dynamic 48-year-old bachelor whose appeal to younger voters has been compared to the late President Kennedy's, apparently hopes to capitalize on the considerable publicity he has generated since the Liberals chose him to succeed Lester B. Pearson on April 6. By law he did not have to call an election until 1970.

In choosing Trudeau, the Liberal convention passed over a field of experienced and familiar political figures and picked a handsome French-Canadian better known for his misadventured girl friends and sports cars than for political activities.
