Reply By North Vietnam

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — North Vietnam replied today to the latest U.S. proposals on the site for preliminary peace talks but the nature of the reply was not disclosed.

U.S. Ambassador William H. Sullivan was called to the North Vietnamese Embassy here to receive a formal note from the Hanoi government.

There were widespread rumors that both sides are approaching a compromise on Paris as the site for talks.

Sullivan spent 30 minutes with North Vietnamese Charge d'Affaires Nguyen Chan in Chan's gray stone villa residence on the outskirts of the Laotian capital.

It was their longest meeting in a series of contacts following President Johnson's March 31 speech. Sullivan refused all comment on the message from Hanoi.

Campus Being Sealed Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University canceled evening classes Wednesday and virtually sealed off its campus militant student demonstrators occupied more buildings in a continuing tumultuous protest.

Tension continued high despite the release of an acting dean and two other administrators from a Hamilton Hall office where they had been held hostage for 24 hours but there were no plans to cancel today's classes.

Boy Admits Setting Fire

NEWARK (AP) — A 13-year-old Negro boy was held today in a youth shelter for his own protection after arson investigators said he admitted setting a fire that left 600 persons homeless in Newark's predominantly Negro Central Ward.

The boy, arrested at his home Wednesday, set the fire with matches and then watched from a rooftop as it quickly spread over a two-block tenement area. Fire Director John Caulfield said.

Caulfield said the boy, who was charged with juvenile delinquency, was "held for his own protection because of feelings in the community" after the weekend fire. It was also feared the boy might set another blaze, Caulfield said.

The boy, Caulfield said, is not presently attending school and lives near the scene of the fire, which raged over two square blocks.

Closing Off A Shau Valley

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers have moved close to A Shau Valley to cut off North Vietnamese building up manpower and supplies there for a possible blow at Hue or other northern cities, military spokesmen said today.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry Division, in a directive, warned its officers to expect a high level of enemy action, possibly an offensive in late April or early May in the Hue area.

In Saigon, the National Police Directorate told the people the enemy was planning another big attack on the capital.

The south Vietnamese move to positions east of A Shau Valley could be the start of a major allied drive against that North Vietnamese stronghold stretching 25 miles along the border of Laos in the far north.

Friday Sees Start Of Boy Scout Camporee

The East Carolina Council's annual camporee will open Friday at the Oak Grove Airfield, near Pollocksville.

Council spokesmen say 4,000 reservations have already been received from Boy Scouts throughout the 20-county area.

Troops from Pitt County will be well represented with Scouts from twenty troops. Eleven of the troops are from Greenville, with one each from Farmville, Bethel, Grifton, Fountain, Belvoir-Falkland, Grimesland, Black Jack, Stokes and Winterville.

Dr. Harry Billica, of Greenville, is serving as Camporee Chief this year. Dr. Herbert Hadley is serving as health and safety chairman for the event; and Heber Adams, assisted by members of Alpha Phi Omega (scouting fraternity at East Carolina University) is directing the camporee's signaling event.

Other competition will include first aid, knot-tying and flagpole-raising.

One featured event on the weekend program will be the dropping of paratroopers in the center of the camporee site on Saturday morning.

Campfires are scheduled for Saturday night and religious services on the grounds Sunday morning.

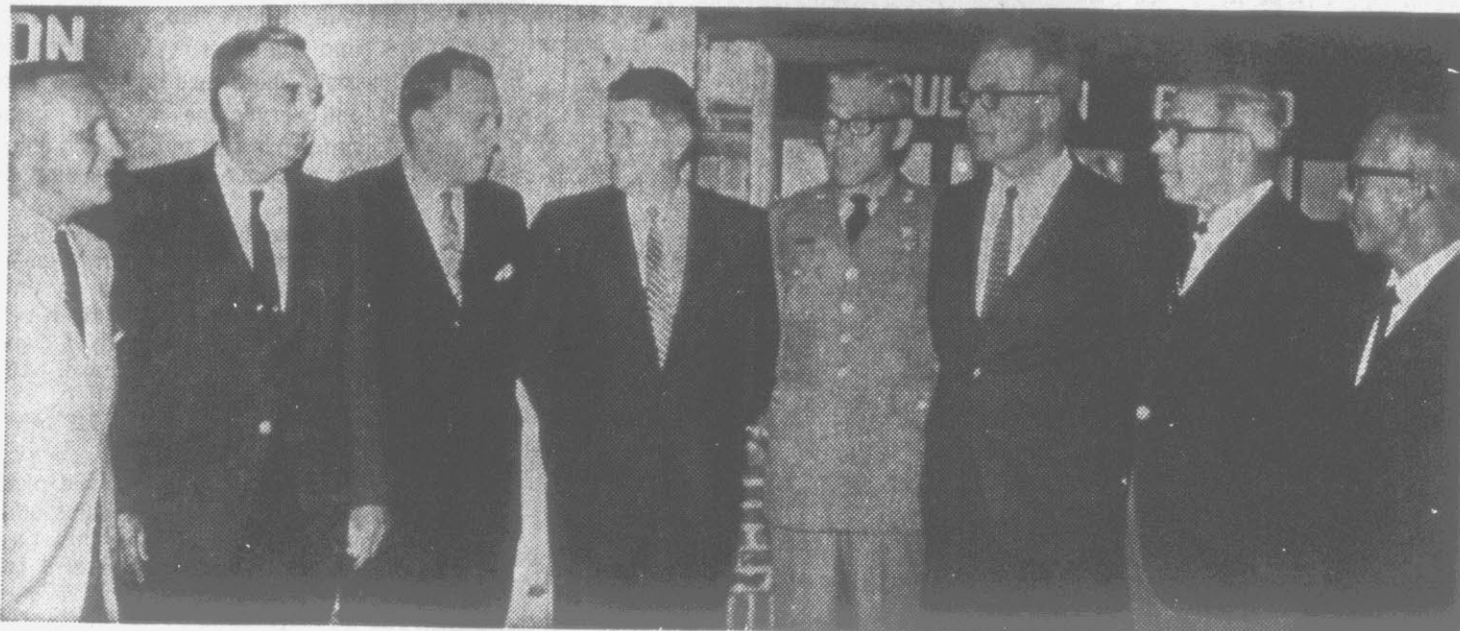

The public is invited to visit the site Saturday.

E. E. Rawls Jr., of Greenville, is serving as president of the East Carolina Council.

Two children were hurt and more than a dozen others escaped injury when a Pitt County school bus ran off the Old River Road and landed on its side in a roadside ditch yesterday afternoon.

The driver of the bus, 18-year-old Negro Harrison Harkley Jr. of Route 4, Greenville, was charged with reckless driving.

Investigating Patrolman C. H. Ennis said the bus left the roadway and crashed into the ditch when Harkley turned to look at two students fighting at the rear of the bus. Harkley said one of the students, a girl, pulled a straight razor on a 10-year-old boy.

The site of the accident was about six miles West of Greenville on the Old River Road. The mishap occurred, Trooper

Reorganization Of Nat'l Guard Here Described

The reorganization of the Greenville unit of the North Carolina National Guard was outlined for Greenville and County officials Tuesday night by Capt. Ralph Heidenrich, company commander of Company B, 167th Military Police Battalion in Greenville.

The official guests were first treated to a fish stew and barbecue supper, then were told of the reorganization.

The unit was changed from an artillery outfit to the 167th MP Battalion January 1.

Included in the battalion, as outlined by Capt. Heidenrich, is the Headquarters company and a portion of Company A, in Washington; a part of Company A in Farmville; Company B, Greenville; and Company C, New Bern.

Total strength of the battalion is 553 officers and men.

Greenville's Company B includes 167 officers and men. Their equipment includes, the officer said, 36 one-quarter ton jeeps, a ¾ ton truck, three 2½-ton trucks, a water trailer and one 1½-ton trailer.

The vehicles, according to the captain, make the Company 61-per-cent mobile.

In addition, the unit has 37 radios and can equip 147 military policemen with individual equipment.

Income brought to Greenville by the presence of the unit, Capt. Heidenrich said, totals $112,388.44, annually.

The briefing was sponsored by the officers and non-commissioned officers of Company B.

Recreation Area Plan Loses In First Round

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

Planning-Zoning commissioners last night defeated a proposed ordinance requiring subdividers to set aside land for recreational areas, but turned the ordinance over to a committee for further study.

Louis Singleton and Jerry Southerland offered to take the ordinance which the commission was considering and rework it. The two commissioners will make recommendations at a future commission meeting.

The ordinance under consideration last night would have required subdividers to provide a minimum of one acre of land for recreational use. For larger subdivisions requirement would have been an acre plus four percent of the area over 25 acres. There was also a provision for minimum recreational areas in high density developments, such as high rise apartments.

The land would have to be purchased by the city at "an agreed raw land value before development."

Chairman Frank Little described the recreational area requirements as "the most difficult matter to come before this board."

"We've been working on it for 15 years," he said. "I know because I have been on the board almost that long."

Commissioners studied a preliminary plat of Red Oak subdivision and considered revisions in the street pattern proposed by City Engineer C. A. Holiday.

The commission asked Holiday and the project engineer to work on the street pattern which the commission said it would consider at a special meeting.

Commissioners recommended that two areas be annexed into the city. One was a shopping center to be developed just west of Pitt Plaza. It is known as East Carolina Properties. A large showed areas for two large stores, a bank, super market and shops with parking.

Also recommended for annexation was the Mayo Heirs land on the north side of Greenville Blvd. Plans for developing this area are being made by Cauthen-Parker, Inc. of Raleigh.

The commission discussed changes required in the Neighborhood Analysis plan which was not accepted by federal agencies.

The numbers are more equally divided on the west side of the city, however. There are 1,711 whites registered on the west side and 1,955 Negroes. Total registration on the west side of Greenville is 3,666, while 4,797 are registered in the eastern section.

The city conducted a new registration along with the county's new registration and at the same time the city is converting to the loose leaf system. City registrars were present at each of the nine polling places. How-

Mental Health Work Outlined

PSYCHIATRIST GIVE SPEECH . . . Dr. Assad Meymandi makes a point during a speech given to the Pitt County Mental Health Association last night.

By RONALD GOLLOBIN
Reflector Staff Writer

From a one-man operation to a professional staff of 33, is the story of the birth and fulfillment of the Cumberland County Mental Health Center, outlined by its founding father, Dr. Assad Meymandi last night at the annual meeting of the Pitt County Mental Health Association.

Dr. Meymandi was the guest speaker at the meeting which was held in the auditorium of old Austin on the ECU campus.

"Community Psychiatry—The Third Revolution" was the topic of Dr. Meymandi's speech. In it he told the story of how a community with a need worked to fill that need. With 50 per cent of our hospital beds being occupied by patients with mental problems, Dr. Meymandi said, the need for community psychiatry certainly exists.

Greenville Has 8,473 Voters On The Books

Greenville city registrars placed 8,473 qualified voters on the city books during the registration period.

The number is nearly twice the number of votes the city has cast in municipal elections. Of the totals 6,480 are listed as white and 1,983 are Negro.

An analysis of the registration showed that 4,794 of these living on the east side of the city are white while only three in that section are Negro. Evans Street was used as the dividing line.

The numbers are more equally divided on the west side of the city, however. There are 1,711 whites registered on the west side and 1,955 Negroes. Total registration on the west side of Greenville is 3,666, while 4,797 are registered in the eastern section.

The city conducted a new registration along with the county's new registration and at the same time the city is converting to the loose leaf system. City registrars were present at each of the nine polling places. However, the city will not use the same places for its elections. The registrations will be rearranged probably to provide for two municipal polling places.

There is no municipal election in Greenville this year. The next election will be for mayor and city councilmen in May, 1969.

Following is a tabulation of the municipal registrations by precincts. Totals are given in the first three columns, while an analysis of the west and east sides of the city follow:

New Runway Lights At Airport Are Tested

Pitt - Greenville Airport's newly installed runway lights were turned on for the first time last night and according to airport manager Jim Darden, "worked real fine."

Darden said R. W. Howard, chairman of the Airport Authority, took off and landed his twin-engine airplane using the new medium intensity lights as part of the turning-on ceremony.

The new lights, installed on the airport's main North-South runway, were part of a $21,000 airport improvement project that has included installation of a new 36-inch rotary beacon and lighted wind-cone, as well as lighted taxi-way direction signs.

All of the lighting automatically comes on at nightfall and is automatically shut off at dawn.

According to Darden, lights on a second runway may be turned on when winds favor that runway — a 5,000-foot northeast-southwest strip — when a pilot may wish to use that runway in preference to the newly lighted one.

The airport manager said the lighting work at the airport is about 98 per cent complete.

The newly installed lighting is more intense than the lighting previously installed on the other runway and "there are more lights," Darden noted.

Darden also said a non-directional radio beacon has been installed and is in operation. The navigational aid is located 4.8 miles north of the airport.

Cost of the beacon, Darden said, was between $3,000 and $3,500.

More than a score of planes are based at the local air facility, constructed during World War II by the U.S. Marine Corps as an auxiliary airfield.

Tell Your Wife To Turn Over A New Leaf, Picnic Is Finished

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for over one year, and I can't remember the last time Eve cooked a hot meal for me. She is so busy with her bridge club, garden club, and book club that she doesn't have time to cook. She comes home at 6 p.m. and serves me a cold meat sandwich with some potato chips on a paper plate, and that is supper!

I give her a generous allowance for groceries, but there is never anything to eat in the house. We have no children yet, so if I get mad enough, I could just pick up and leave. Any suggestions?

EVE'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUBAND: The next time you're served a cold meat sandwich and potato chips on a paper plate, tell Eve that the "picnic" is over. And also tell her that at one time EVE was the only woman in the world, but times have changed, so she'd better turn over a new leaf.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 23 years old, already has his years in the service behind him, and is now making a good living in a body and fender business in partnership with his brother. I should add that my son has supported himself since the age of 15 and is a very good boy who never gave me any trouble.

He has a girl I'll call Jane. They have gone together for three years and want to get married soon. Jane has just turned 21. The problem is Jane's mother. She won't let Jane get married until my son OWNS a home of his own and has $2,000 in the bank. Abby, my son has a real nice apartment completely furnished and ready for Jane to move into. He has a good car (paid for) and he doesn't owe a cent. They love each other, and I can't see where Jane's mother has any right to put such a big stumbling block in their road. I would like your opinion.

THE BOY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A 21-year-old girl doesn't need her mother's legal consent to marry, so if Jane is willing to wait until the man she marries meets her mother's qualifications, perhaps Jane isn't mature enough to marry anyone yet.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column on who should say "I do" when a clergyman is a guest will be a great help to hosts who may be faced with that dilemma. But your would do the clergy a tremendous service if you were to print this, which is also related to the saying of "grace":

To whoever is in charge of the programs for civic groups and service organizations. Any lay person can offer the invocations and benedictions at such meetings, so please don't feel that you must ask a clergyman. We are frequently "invited" to break into our busy days to rush downtown to some hotel just to say a short prayer that could have easily been said by anyone. Thank you.

Respectfully,
INDIANA PASTOR

Best Qualified For Important Role

North Carolina voters will make important decisions a week from Saturday when they go to the polls to choose party nominees, and in some cases officials who will hold top state and local offices for the next several years.

In the field of candidates of both parties for the state's top office, there is one man who seems best qualified to lead the state during the four years which lie ahead. He is a man of youth, yet a man of experience in government. He is a man who has dealt first-hand with many of the state's most weighty and difficult problems, and yet he is a man in close touch with the rank and file citizens all across North Carolina.

Of the candidates for the post of governor, Bob Scott is by far the better qualified to lead North Carolina in the next four years. Under the guidance of Bob Scott as its chief executive, North Carolina stands the best chance of reaching its potential of achievement from 1969 through 1972.

In this quiet gubernatorial campaign, there have been few heated words and even fewer head-on clashes between the principal candidates. The primary issue in the campaign has resolved itself simply into a question of which of the candidates will offer North Carolina the most positive, forceful and effective leadership as its next governor. It boils down to a question of which of the candidates at this moment appears best equipped to help North Carolina cope with the difficult problems that confront it: which of the candidates is best able to unite all the citizens of the state in an effort to meet pressing needs; and which of the candidates has the best understanding of those needs and the most practical means of meeting them.

In each of these areas of consideration, Bob Scott stands at the forefront of the field of gubernatorial candidates.

As Lieutenant Governor for the past four years, Bob Scott has brought that office to new prominence. Far more than any other lieutenant governor before him, he has made the office one of full time concern for the people of this state. During his time in the state's second highest office, he has evidenced a genuine understanding of the diverse problems which confront our people. As the presiding officer of the Senate of this state, he clearly showed sound leadership in the handling of difficult matters and a thorough knowledge of the workings of the government of this state.

Bob Scott will also bring to the governor's office a sound knowledge of the goals and aspirations of the citizens of the state gathered during two decades of active interest in the public affairs of the people of North Carolina.

North Carolina needs in the governor's office in the next four years the best qualified candidate for that high office and great responsibility.

That man is Bob Scott.

Neutrality Has Had Its Effects

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Quiet, firm neutrality observed by Gov. Dan K. Moore and his administration leaders has had a marked effect upon the tone of primary political campaigning this Spring.

Undoubtedly it has been a contributing factor in keeping down the usual clamor and cry, the hurrying and charges and countercharges by candidates and bitter feuding between Democratic party factions in the state.

be because there is little to choose between the candidates and that the rank and file voter really doesn't have a strong feeling about who gets the nomination.

More likely, the fact is that most voters have a preference and have made their choice by now — and know who they will vote for on May 4 — but are keeping it to themselves. Almost certainly this is true in Raleigh which is a city which thrives, lives and breathes on state politics day by day. There is no evidence that political interest has diminished along Fayetteville Street nor in the neighborhoods, only that expression of it has changed.

Bumper Sticker Rare

"Where are the buttons? Where are the bumper stickers? Where are the banners?" These are questions asked by visitors to Raleigh these days, incredulous that the state's capital city has so few of the trappings and decorations which were everywhere in 1960 and 1964.

There are some big billboards in Raleigh and on its highway approaches. There are a few posters here and there. But lapel buttons and bumper stickers are relatively rare on cars with Raleigh city tags. There is a little game of guessing that any car seen with a political bumper tag will prove to be from a city other than Raleigh — and the guesser usually is right.

Governor's Joke

The governor himself has told friends jokingly that "neither of the candidates wants me to come out for him."

Joking aside, the governor stated his position of neutrality — in his official — several months ago, and issued what amounted to an edict to his administration and officials of state agencies to refrain from public political activity which might reflect upon the administration or indicate that it was favoring one or other of the candidates.

The only exception, Moore said, would be when it was necessary to answer criticism or charges against his administration. This has occurred on only one or two occasions — the latest involving the State Highway department, and a reply to charges was given by the Highway Chairman, Joseph M. Hunt Jr.

Great Potential For Dare County Program

East Carolina University has shown that it plans to move along with an extension program at Manteo with the appointment of William C. Morrisette as director.

Mr. Morrisette is obviously well qualified to begin building the new campus, having served as dean of Chowan College.

East Carolina University already has a campus at Manteo in the form of a 90 acre tract of land given to the ECU Foundation by the people of Dare County.

In addition, the Economic Development Administration has granted $50,000 for a utilization study.

There should be great potential for the Dare County program. The area is rich in history and unique from a recreational standpoint. The Dare campus will be able to draw from strong drama, music, art, history, physical education and other programs which have already been developed here at ECU.

We expect to see a rapid development of the Dare campus and we believe that all North Carolina will share in the benefits.

Delay Adds To One's Problems

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York are employing the same political tactic in delaying formal declarations of candidacy. But the effect on their presidential chances is notably different.

For Humphrey, the delay has been beneficial; for Rockefeller, it has complicated his already considerable problems.

Humphrey supporters are pleased with the way things have gone since President Johnson withdrew from the race and it became evident the vice president would challenge Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy for the Democratic nomination.

Since there is no doubt Humphrey intends to run — he's expected to announce that Saturday — his backers have been setting up a national campaign organization and rounding up convention support. Meanwhile, their candidate goes about his business as vice president, making appearances around the country.

Their situation has been greatly simplified because filing deadlines for most presidential primaries had passed by the time Johnson withdrew, freeing them to concentrate on nonprimary states which elect most convention delegates.

Rockefeller's supporters are not entirely satisfied with the way things are going despite their optimistic statements about the support the draft-Rockefeller movement is getting around the country.

Although it's known Rockefeller wants the GOP presidential nomination and intends to fight former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for it, many politicians have told the Rockefeller camp they cannot support the New Yorker unless he makes his candidacy publicly clear.

This was the dominant theme of a strategy session last week between key leaders in the Rockefeller camp and such uncommitted GOP leaders as Gov. George Romney of Michigan. To a man, they felt Rockefeller must make a formal statement soon.

Strength For Today

WE NEED TO FACE IT. It has been said that gas kills lots of people every year. A few inhale it. Some light it, but most just step on it. It seems to be the determination of such people that if they can't win themselves, they will make the fellow ahead break a record.

More than a hundred and fifty persons die on the highways of the United States every day because of automobile accidents. Some of these are unavoidable and due in no way to the neglect or fault of the person or persons who suffer. But this fearful daily tragedy could be greatly reduced if people would not try to mix gas and alcohol, would not try to make the brief run of a few miles an attempt to see how fast they could make the car go and get away with it. We need always bear in mind that we can get away with things just so long. The day of reckoning comes at last. It is a matter of incredible tragedy when lives are lost under these conditions of folly and recklessness. The few minutes saved in a dash of speed may be lengthened out to weeks and months spent in a hospital bed. We do not need to crawl along at a snail's pace, but we should always be very sure that we are in command of our own powers and definitely in command of the huge and dangerous machine we are driving.

Certainly we have brains enough to change this horrifying situation if we will only do so.

Aviary of Doves, Hawks, a Lame Duck and, of Course, a Hu-Bird

But What About Pandit?

It was Thursday afternoon that the ladies went out to Hickory Hill, home of the Robert F. Kennedys. Most of the wives didn't really want to go, which was why a thousand of them lined up 35 minutes early, dressed to the teeth and fighting to get on the first bus. Their husbands, in town to attend sessions of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, heard a report that night.

"Well, we got out there about 4 o'clock. I guess it was, and everybody had high heels on in the driveway, and Chris Kennedy was hustling around. He's four, you know, and had on blue pants. So we came up the walk, and they had name tags all ready for us, but it took too long, finding our names and all and there was Ethel waiting on the steps with Pandit."

"With who?"

"Pandit, stupid. He's the dog. She was wearing a green sheath, sort of on the shifty side, and looked real good. I mean real good. Anyhow, she said scrub the name tag bit, and some of the girls were a little sore because they wanted Ethel to know who they were, see, but anyhow, we all streamed in. Well, the house was just beautiful. You never saw so many flowers—roses, daisies, lilies, irises, and silver frames. On the tables, I mean. Photographs, that is. Autographed. It must take 85 maids to keep them polished."

"What did Pandit say?"

"Who? Oh, I forgot. How could I forget? Pierre was in the main hallway, right in the main hallway with a big Kennedy button on, and he shook hands with everyone.

He's lost weight. Besides, he's wearing his sideburns very long. I thought he was a little too hale and hearty, but Millie thought he was darling. He kept saying, 'Oh, how's your husband?'

"What kind of a dog is Pandit, anyhow?"

"He's a sheepdog, silly. Don't you know anything about the Kennedys? So we stood around inside for a while, and people were snitching matches like mad. They were pale blue. Millie snatched four. I saw her I didn't snitch but one. They're going to have to replace the tiles around the swimming pool. It's in the middle of boxwood. So is the wading pond. Millie says 'they're going to have trouble with scale, but it looked pretty healthy to me.'"

"Pandit looked healthy?"

"The boxwood, idiot. I tell you, she had really gone to a lot of trouble for us. And clean! You never saw a cleaner house in your life. I saw one of the girls—she didn't know I saw her, but I did—running her glove across the top of a framed proclamation, and there wasn't a speck of dust. Not a speck. And there were two butlers and a couple of bartenders and I forget how many maids, and tennis courts and stables, and a rooster in a tree. The booze was on the big porch. Did I mention the juke box?"

"You were telling me about the sheepdog."

"Oh, him. The thing was, there was nothing tacky anywhere. I went in the laundry room. They have contemporary paintings in the laundry room! Did you ever? There were five white fluffy rugs on top of the dryer, and about 30 wet bathing suits. Every room has two white phones, with about six tubs.

Other Editors Saying Curfew Kept Peace

(East Carolinian April 18)

An ability to react to danger swiftly is a primary requirement of those holding important positions in society.

The president of East Carolina University and the mayor of the city of Greenville found themselves in such a position last weekend, and moved with the utmost haste to divert trouble before it could strike.

The mayor of the city imposed a curfew on the citizens of Greenville in an effort to keep people off the streets in the wake of disturbances occurring all over the nation after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King a little more than a week ago.

Dr. Leo Jenkins followed up the curfew announcement with a statement early Monday morning that all classes would end at eleven Monday.

allowing students to leave the campus for the Easter break early.

Several incidents broke the peace in Greenville during the three days of trouble that marred most of the major cities in the state and nation, but all in all things were reasonably quiet in the immediate area.

The prompt action taken by the city and college administrations must be one of the keys to the relative peace of Greenville during the crisis. People were kept off the streets, and most of the students on campus took advantage of the unexpected holiday to head for home ahead of time.

It is true that the curfew made hardships on most of the people in the area, but such hardships are much easier to bear than the damages of racial strife.

A Subsidy In 'Tax-Forgiveness'

By ELMER ROESSNER

Roy M. Goodman, who resigned his $35,000-a-year position as New York City finance commissioner to run for state Senator at $15,000 a year, told city officials at the Municipal Forum in Washington last week that tax forgiveness practices of cities were subsidies to the benefitted organizations, including the federal government.

It's amazing that Mr. Goodman thought it necessary to tell those facts of life to other municipal officials, and that those officials had to be told those facts.

They should be taught to every school child in the sixth grade.

If You Went Fishing

In case you played hookey the day that lesson was taught, or in case your city fathers excised it from the curriculum so you wouldn't be aware of what they were doing with your parents' money, here is the lesson in capsule form:

Tax forgiveness is a subsidy for the beneficiaries.

The subsidy comes out of the pockets and sox of other taxpayers.

When a city, county or state grants tax exemptions to new industries, other taxpayers must pay the costs of police, fire and health protection and the hundreds of other services the industry gets from the government.

So the ordinary taxpayer is helping to support churches of many conflicting orthodoxies, even if he is an atheist; supporting tax-exempt housing, colleges and museums, many of which he is barred from entering, and paying a hidden tribute to the federal government.

He pays heavily. Mr. Goodman declared that approximately one-third of New York City really was tax exempt. Therefore, New York City property taxes could be cut by a third if all the exempt er do-good organizations, it subsidizes them, and requires other taxpayers to pay for the services they enjoy.

We're All Ecumenical Taxpayers

Because the law prohibits local governments from taxing the federal government, these local governments pay for services given all federal establishments. Cities also pay for services given by state governments.

So the ordinary taxpayer is helping to support churches of many conflicting orthodoxies, even if he is an atheist; supporting tax-exempt housing, colleges and museums, many of which he is barred from entering, and paying a hidden tribute to the federal government.

He pays heavily. Mr. Goodman declared that approximately one-third of New York City really was tax exempt. Therefore, New York City property taxes could be cut by a third if all the exempt

Hubert Rolling In Cash

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A coalition of millionaire businessmen led by card-carrying members of Lyndon B. Johnson's $1,000-a-head President's Club plans to raise a minimum $4 million kitty for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's Presidential bid.

The $4 million target will undoubtedly reach far higher before the Democratic convention in Chicago next August. But the remarkable fact is that, for the first time in his long political career, poor boy Hubert Humphrey is guaranteed virtually unlimited financing. His threadbare primary election campaign of 1960 against John F. Kennedy will not be repeated.

The major factor behind this sudden beneficence of big money on behalf of the Vice President, which may include such prominent Republicans as Henry Ford Jr., and U. S. Steel's Roger Blough, is the absolute determination to stop Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's drive for the Presidency.

"Hubert's been promised the last farthing in one of Manhattan's largest fortunes to stop Bobby," a New York financier with impeccable Republican credentials told us.

The root of this intense desire to stop Kennedy is fear and distrust of the Senator in the business community not felt about any major party politician since New Deal days. Humphrey, no longer regarded by business as the ADA bomb-thrower of years past, is the logical Democratic alternative.

The story begins on the evening of April 2, when some 250 well-heeled businessmen, many of them advertisers in Look Magazine, dined in Manhattan's Waldorf-Astoria as guest of publisher Gardner (Mike) Cowles' annual off-the-record dinner party. Featured speaker was Humphrey, who the past three years often faced these same men in private meetings to explain Johnson administration policies.

On that evening Humphrey had far from decided to run. He was uncertain and uneasy about his future. President Johnson's no-second-term announcement had come only two days earlier. But in private huddles around the room, Humphrey learned that many of the businessmen present wanted him to run and were willing to stake him to the race.

Cowles himself, in introducing Humphrey for his off-the-record talk, said he regarded Humphrey as the best qualified politician in the country to be President. The affinity between Humphrey and Cowles' other dinner guests, one participant told us, was the same as though the party had been given for labor leaders — Humphrey's patrons in politics — instead of business moguls.

Afterwards, Humphrey and several money-men, including Sidney J. Weinberg, the Wall Street financier and one-time Republican kingmaker, discussed the campaign and how to finance it until 2 a.m. in an upstairs suite.

The events that evening confirmed the judgment of Humphrey advisers that he must run for the nomination. Humphrey himself, who had been brooding over the President's

Tempers Fray In N.C. Gubernatorial Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A "political conspiracy," said one side.

"Gutter politics" and a "vicious smear campaign," said the other.

What had been a more or less subdued campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination had enflamed tempers North Carolina's May 4 primary just 10 days away.

A spray of charges and countercharges flew between the campaign camps of Jack Stickley and Jim Gardner Wednesday after a report that a Ku Klux Klan newsletter said Gardner was the more conservative candidate. The report was interpreted as a KKK endorsement of the 4th District congressman.

Stickley immediately again stated his opposition to the Klan and was quoted as saying the KKK "endorsement" of Gardner was "an expansion of the political alliance." He later said the word was "allies" — not alliance.

In reply, Gardner said he sought the support of no groups, only individuals and refused to be drawn into a battle over the KKK newsletter. "I will campaign against the Democrats and try to build support for the Republican party," he said.

But Gardner's supporters did not remain silent.

John Shallcross, a delegate to the National Republican Convention and an unsuccessful GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate last year, called a news conference in Greenville to express his "shock and anger" at Stickley's comments. He accused Stickley of engaging in "gutter politics."

In Raleigh, Gardner's campaign headquarters called in newsmen to hear Gardner supporter Jim Cresimore of Raleigh accuse Stickley of using "vicious smear tactics."

Cresimore said Gardner "has never been in any way associated with the Klan" and said Stickley was "trying desperately" to prove such a link.

Stickley, in turn, then moderated his earlier statements on the entire matter. Speaking in Winston-Salem, he denied using the word "alliance" and said he used the word "allies" in commenting on the Klan's support for Gardner.

"I detect a political conspiracy to divide the Republican party at this late date," Stickley added. "I feel that my opponent has been maligned by forces antagonistic to the Republican party."

"The time has come," Stickley continued, "for him to disavow that support."

It marked yet another instance in which Stickley has called on Gardner to disassociate himself from all Klan support.

Meanwhile, the three Democratic candidates for governor campaigned in three different sections of the state Wednesday.

While meeting voters in Raleigh and rural Wake County, Mel Broughton issued a statement applauding Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing states to pass laws preventing the sale of obscene materials to juveniles. Broughton said if elected he would seek such a law for North Carolina.

Lt. Gov. Bob Scott's visit to Alleghany County in western North Carolina took his campaign into the 100th county he has visited since announcing his candidacy in January. In a speech at Asheville earlier, he called for legislative appropriations to aid North Carolina nursing schools and thereby help relieve the state's shortage of registered nurses.

At Jacksonville, Dr. Reginald Hawkins said the State Department of Conservation and Development is selling "slave labor" by attracting low wage industries to North Carolina. He called for repeal of the state right to work law "so the poor man of North Carolina can earn a living wage."

Two Premieres Mark Sunday ECU Concert

The 70-piece East Carolina University Symphony Orchestra will give its final concert of the year Sunday afternoon, April 28. Two world premieres are on the program.

A feature of the 1968 Contemporary Music Festival of the ECU School of Music, Sunday's concert is scheduled at 3:15 p. m. in Wright Auditorium. It is free and open to the public.

Works of living composers will be conducted by Robert L. Hause, ECU faculty member who will be completing his first season as conductor of the symphony. Sunday's program will consist of a new work by Dr. Gregory Kostek, composer-in-residence at ECU, "Concert Fantasy for Violin, Piano, and Orchestra." Soloists in this world premiere will be Rodney Schmidt, violin, and Dr. Charles Bath, piano. Both Schmidt and Dr. Bath are members of the faculty of the ECU School of Music.

Another new work receiving its world premiere is "Symphonic Prelude" by Dr. Mervin Whitcomb, who is currently serving as visiting professor of composition and strings at ECU.

Dr. Whitcomb is on leave from Western Connecticut State College.

The third work on the program will be "Shakespearean Concerto" by David Amram. This work will feature as soloists Eugene Isabelle, oboist and faculty member, and two ECU students, Wayne Amick and Mary Bradley, playing the French horn.

Concluding the program will be a work by Louise Talma, "Toccata for Orchestra." Miss Talma is this year's guest composer. She is professor of music at Hunter College in New York City, and her compositions have received numerous awards and prizes.

The public is invited to attend the concert at no charge.

Marching Festival At Eppes High Saturday

The annual Marching Festival of the North Carolina Band and Orchestra Directors' Association will be held Saturday at the C. M. Eppes High School.

Johnny A. Wooten, Eppes Band Director and Frank J. Norris of E. J. Hayes High School in Williamston will serve as hosts while Miss Shirley Reed will be the official hostess for the event.

C. Lawler Rogers of Shaw University, Raleigh, will serve as clinician for the event. A Charlottesville, Va., native, Rogers attended Virginia State College and received his master of music degree from the University of Michigan. He has also studied at the East Carolina University. Rogers has served as president of the Western Music Conference of Virginia, secretary-treasurer of the Music Conference of the Virginia Teachers Association and has been a member of the executive board of the Virginia Music Educators Association.

Before accepting a position at Shaw University, Rogers taught instrumental music in the public schools of Virginia and was instrumental director of the Albert Harris Schools in Martinsville, Va., for seven years.

First Of Public Meetings Saturday By FGBMFI

First of a series of public meetings of the Greenville Chapter of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the South Cafeteria on the campus of East Carolina University.

A spokesman for the newly organized chapter, which will be chartered from FGBMFI headquarters in Los Angeles when organizational matters have been completed, announced that first speaker for this Fellowship group will be James R. Coates, assistant secretary of the Norfolk Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation.

Coates is known throughout the Tidewater Virginia area as an active Christian layman with a wide experience in FGBMFI affairs.

The sponsors of this meeting have emphasized that the "dutch" dinner is an open meeting and "whole families and particularly young people" are encouraged to attend.

The Greenville chapter members have emphasized that the founding of the chapter is intended "to satisfy the need for expansion of Christian activity into all facets of daily living, to utilize the powerful channel of business life to the glory of our Lord, and for communication of his good news," said the spokesman.

The plans of the Greenville chapter are to have open meetings on each fourth Saturday evening monthly for Christian fellowship and to be edified by the witness and testimony of great workers for Christ.

The FGBMFI, by its very nature and dedication, is a service arm of the entire church, serving all churches which can profit by having their men stirred and inspired for greater Christian service and enriched by Christian fellowship, said the chapter spokesman.

Local Women At Atlanta Meeting

Two local women last week attended the Southeastern regional conference of the National Association for Retarded Children held in Atlanta.

Mrs. Pennie Dunn of the Pitt County Association for Retarded Children, and Mrs. Sarah Allen, local co-ordinator of the North Carolina Council on Mental Retardation were present for the three-day meet that ended Saturday.

Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller, wife of the Governor of Arkansas spoke at the conference.

According to Mrs. Rockefeller, three out of every four victims of mental retardation are born in poverty areas and it is estimated that up to 50 per cent of mental retardation could be prevented if known knowledge were applied.

The governor's wife said sociocultural and economic factors relating to poverty are considered leading causes of retardation. Countless children, she said, are needlessly handicapped because portions of the population do not get the benefits of new medical knowledge.

Shallcross Says Stickley Using 'Gutter Tactics'

John Shallcross blasted Republican candidate Jack Stickley yesterday at a news conference held at the Holiday Inn.

In a prepared statement, Shallcross said that Stickley was using "gutter tactics" and involved in "mud-slinging."

Shallcross is a delegate to the Republican National Convention and was an unsuccessful candidate for U.S. Senator in 1966.

"I am both shocked and angered by the recent accusations made by the Stickley committee against Jim Gardner in the Republican primary."

"Gardner's record as a Republican leader from precinct chairman to Nash County chairman to State Republican chairman and now as Republican U. S. Congressman is a record of dedication and leadership unmatched in the Republican party."

"It is said and tragic indeed that Stickley realizes he is losing the Republican primary by a wide margin and it seems that for the rest of the primary campaign he will become involved in gutter politics and mud-slinging."

"I am personally bitterly disappointed in Jack Stickley. I had at one time said he was a man of high integrity, but his accusations of last week are a black mark on the Republican party."

"I think Jack Stickley owes an apology, not only to Jim Gardner, but to each and every Republican in the state of N.C."

"If Stickley can not lose gracefully, I would rather see him withdraw than use gutter tactics that he is now so desperately employing."

East Carolina Tracksters Speed To Victory Over Richmond Spiders

East Carolina University's track team rolled to an 87-58 victory over Richmond University yesterday in another surprise victory.

The Pirates, according to Coach Bill Carson, felt they had a chance to take the Spiders, but were surprised at the ease in which they won. By the end of the first seven events, all of which the Bucs won, East Carolina held a commanding 46-13 lead. After that it was only a matter of determining the final score.

After the victory, East Carolina chances of scoring high in the Southern Conference meet a week and a half away, soared. Richmond had been rated as the number two in the conference, behind powerhouse William & Mary. Now, Carson believes that the Bucs and Furman will fight it out for that position. "I think you could say our chances for third are excellent, while we have a good shot at second," he said.

One new record was established during the meet, which was run on a wet track in a light rain. The 440 relay team of Bill Frisbey, Al Peebles, Paige Davis and Ed Whyte set a new mark of 42.4 seconds in beating Richmond handily to start the Bucs on their way to the win.

The Bucs will compete on an individual basis Saturday in the North Carolina Relays, then participate in the State Track Meet the following Friday and Saturday. The conference meet is May 10 and 11 at Fort Eustice, Va.

Pirates Wind Up Spring Drills; Purple-Gold Game Is Set Saturday

The Seventh Annual East Carolina University Purple and Gold football game will be played Saturday and if previous outings are any indication, it's a toss-up.

Although Head Coach Clarence Stasavich placed the first offensive unit and first defensive unit on the Gold squad, the Purple coaching staff feels it has a good chance to win.

The Gold starting backfield will be composed of Dennis

Young at tailback, Butch Colson at fullback, Charlie Overton at blocking back and Tommy Bullock at wingback.

For the Purple, the starters will be Billy Wightman at tailback, Mike McQuick at fullback, Jim Gudge at blocking back and George Whitley at wingback.

Bob Gantt and Henry Vansant are in charge of the Purple team with Odell Welborn and Harold Bullard in charge of the Gold Welborn and Bullard have been assistants seniors off last year's team, Neal Hughes, Paul Hutchins and Bill Prince.

Claude Brewer and Pete Crane, who assisted freshman coach John Little last season, Bill Cline, former tailback who is in Canadian football now and has been working with the team this spring, and Nelson Gravatt are assistants to Gantt and Vansant.

The game is scheduled for 2 p.m. at Ficklen Stadium with students being admitted on identification cards and the general public for $1, which will be a donation to the local chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Since the first Purple-Gold game was held in 1962, there have been three Gold victories, two Purple victories and one tie. Last year, the Gold won 14-13 and the only one-sided game in the history of the series was a 27-7 Gold win in 1966.

Coach Stasavich has expressed satisfaction with the spring practice and has been particularly impressed with a number of rising sophomores who have shouldered their way into the picture.

Among the youngsters who have looked good on the Gold squad are Steve Davis at defensive guard, Walter Adams at tackle, John Elrod at defensive end, David Roberts, who has played both tackle and guard and Ed Summerlin at fullback.

Mike Baker at linebacker, Terry Edmondson at center, Dennis Hewston at blocking back, Tom Pulley at end, Pete Ribbins at end, Howard Rothrock at fullback, Tim Tyler at tackle and George Whitley at wingback are the Purple sophomores who have been most impressive.

The underdog Purple team will be out to snap a two-game Gold winning streak. The last time the Purple won was in 1965 when the Gold was highly favored. In this one, the Purple won, 36-20, the highest scoring game in the series.

Little League Star An Astro

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When Hector Torres pitched the Monterrey team to the Little League World Series title at Williamsport, Pa. in 1958 he won instant fame in two nations.

Mexico was astir with excitement about the feats of the 12-year-old pitcher and the kids from Monterrey. The New York Yankees hosted the team at Yankee Stadium, President Eisenhower congratulated them and television spread their fame far and wide.

Few people realize that this same Hector Torres now is the rookie shortstop of the Houston Astros, scrapping to establish a foot hold in the major leagues. In the intervening years, Hector has been the property of the San Francisco Giants, the California Angels and now the Astros.

Houston traded Sonny Jackson, its regular shortstop, to Atlanta last winter and decided to go the route with Torres, despite a good-field-no hit label.

In the first few games, Torres led the Astros at bat but the pitchers have begun to catch up with him and he is down to .268, still considerably above his lifetime .216 for six years in the minors.

"I feel more pressure now than I did 10 years ago," said Torres on a visit to Shea Stadium. "After all, I was only 12 then and didn't know how much it all meant."

Hector is the son of Epitacio Torres, one of the celebrated great hitters of Mexican baseball. He played in Mexico and Cuba but didn't want to leave home to try it in the majors.

It was the elder Torres who converted Hector from a pitcher to a shortstop after he returned from the Little League series.

Harry Walker, former Pittsburgh manager now a batting instructor with the Astros, said "He has a chance to be a great one. He gets rid of the ball quickly with an easy, fluid motion. He has good range and we think he can hit better than his record shows."

Hargan's One-Hitter Ends Detroit's Win String

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Steve Hargan was twice as good as Clyde Wright and neither was very good for the batting averages of the Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators. Hargan hurled a brilliant one-hitter Wednesday night asup two hits, pitching California to a 6-1 victory over Washington.

In other American League games, Baltimore ripped Minnesota 7-3 and Oakland tripped New York 4-3 in 11 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh shaded Los Angeles 4-3 and St. Louis tagged Cincinnati 7-0. San Francisco at Philadelphia, Houston at New York and Atlanta at Chicago all were postponed by rain.

Hargan faced only 28 batters, permitting just two walks and Jim Northrup's leadoff single in the third. He struck out seven Tigers, who hadn't lost since opening day. He also scored Cleveland's second run of the game when left fielder Willie Horton and shortstop Ray Oyler collided under his pop fly in the seventh inning and the ball fell for a triple. Leon Wagner's pinch single drove in the run.

Horton was carried off the field on a stretcher and preliminary examination showed he had suffered a concussion. He was taken to Shaker Medical Center for further examinations.

Wright didn't look like he'd survive the first inning against the Senators. He walked the leadoff batter, surrendered a single to Hank Allen and then walked the next two hitters, forcing in a run.

But then, with the bases still loaded and none out, he struck out the side and then allowed just two more runners the rest of the way.

Home runs by Roger Repoz and Paul Schaaf gave the Angels the lead and then Schaaf and Bob Rodgers each singled home two more runs in the late innings to wrap it up.

Baltimore pitcher Jim Hardin unloaded a two-run triple tying the game and then Dave May's double drove him in with the lead run as the Orioles battered Dean Chance and beat the Twins.

But Baltimore needed a lucky bounce to escape a sixth inning jam. The bases were loaded with two out when reliever Eddie Watt uncorked a pitch that sailed over the head of Cesar Tovar, the Minnesota batter.

Ted Uhlaender, the runner at third, started jogging home. But the ball took a hard carom off the concrete backstop and bounced right back to catcher

Elrod Hendricks, who tagged Uhlender out, ending the threat.

The Athletics nipped the Yankees in the 11th inning when John Donaldson's two-out single delivered Bert Campaneris.

Oakland had tied the game in the sixth when Sal Bando drew a bases-loaded walk, wiping out a 3-2 Yankee lead built on Mickey Mantle's second home run of the season and Roy White's two-run single.

Campaneris walked opening the 11th and came around on a walk to Reggie Jackson, a stolen base and Donaldson's hit.

Bunning Hurls First Home Victory For Pittsburgh

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bunning made it home safely after a cold night in Pittsburgh but Curt Flood was turned away at the gate after a hot time in St. Louis.

Bunning posted his first pitching victory at home as a Pirate Wednesday night, subduing the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-3 in frigid Forbes Field with late-inning relief help from Elroy Face.

Flood, the National League's hottest hitter, drove in five runs with two singles and a triple as the Cardinals slugged the Cincinnati Reds 7-0 — but failed to score for the first time in 13 games this year.

Three other scheduled NL

games were postponed because of bad weather.

Cleveland upended Detroit 2-0, Baltimore beat Minnesota 7-3, Oakland tripped New York 4-3 in 11 innings and California trimmed Washington 6-1 in American League games.

Bunning, obtained by the Pirates in a winter trade with Philadelphia, yielded a three-run homer by Jim Lefebvre in the first inning and then blanked the Dodgers until the eighth, when he aggravated a pulled groin muscle and left the game.

The victory was Bunning's second of the young season against one set-back. He beat the Dodgers 3-0 at Los Angeles, then lost to San Francisco 5-2 at home last Saturday before Wednesday night's struggle, which began in 43 degree weather and ended with the thermometer at 38.

Gene Alley reached first on an error by Dodgers shortstop Zoilo Versalles in the sixth inning, moved around on Roberto Clemente's single and a ground out and scored the tie-breaking run on Bill Mazeroski's second sacrifice fly of the game.

The Pirates had pushed over three runs in the fourth, tying it 3-3. Alley tripled and scored on an infield out. Center fielder Willie Davis dropped Willie Stargell's long fly for a three-base error; Donn Clendenon walked and Mazeroski's first sacrifice fly sent home Stargell before Manny Mota's run-scoring single capped the rally.

Flood stroked a two-run single in the second inning, singled another run across in the sixth and lashed a two-run triple in the eighth as the Cardinals breezed to their third straight victory behind the five-hit pitching of Ray Washburn.

The St. Louis center fielder's run-scoring streak ended five games short of the National League record, set by Ted Kluszewski in 1954, when he was cut down at the plate trying to stretch his triple into an inside-the-park homer.

Flood had some consolation. The 3-for-5 night raised his league-leading batting average to .414.

Hard To Pick Golf Favorite

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The fact that 13 players have won the 15 tournaments this year on the PGA tour indicates why it is so difficult to establish a favorite in the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic starting today over the 7,086-yard Preston Trail course.

Ten of those fellows are here but they are looked upon as about 20 others. Don January, the Dallas native who won the Tournament of Champions last week and is playing well, is considered little more than another in the pack. This despite the fact that he has played the course quite often.

The uncertainty of golf at this time, plus the fact that the field for the Nelson Classic is among the best ever gotten together, makes this tournament pretty wide open. Except that it has Jack Nicklaus, who hasn't won a tournament this year and which is quite out of character, championing at the bit.

Nicklaus has the big game necessary for tough Preston Trail.

Players who have won tournaments on the tour this year and are trying here are Johnny Pott, Kermit Zarley, Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Tom Weiskopf, Gardner Dickinson, Tony Jacklin, Bob Goalby, Steve Reid and January.

There also are nine former champions of the Dallas tournament, these including January and Pott. Others are Sam Snead, who won it three times before he started fading; Julius Boros.

Earl Stewart, Billy Maxwell, Charles Coody, Roberto De Vincenzo and defending champion Bert Yancey.

Arnold Palmer is an attraction as usual but Arnie doesn't give the impression of one who's going to take the course in tow. He showed up with a hip ailment and said he was playing only because of Nelson, the great Texas golfer of the forties for whom the tournament was named.

American League Studies New Plan

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League will study a two-division, six-club schedule for 1969 at a meeting today but at least one official does not see a definite vote on such a plan at this time.

The junior circuit will add Seattle and Kansas City in expanding to 12 teams next season. Last week the National League also approved expansion to 12 teams for 1969 with two new members yet to be chosen among five bidders—San Diego, Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, Montreal and Milwaukee.

General Manager Ed Short of the Chicago White Sox indicated that there still is uncertainty that the National League will match the American League's 12-club setup in 1969.

Short said if the National fails to expand to 12 clubs next year, the American probably will delay its two-division plan.

The plan reportedly favors this divisional split guided by geographical lines:

Western Division—Chicago, Minnesota, California Angels, Oakland, Seattle and Kansas City.

Eastern Division—Washington, Baltimore, New York, Boston Cleveland and Detroit.

There would be division playoffs with the over-all winner entering the World Series.

West, Baylor Lead Lakers

By LARRY ELDRIDGE

BOSTON (AP) — Jerry West and Elgin Baylor led the Los Angeles Lakers to their equalizing victory over the Boston Celtics, but both coaches agree the key to the game came when these two old pros were on the bench.

"Those 'red shirts' did a hell of a job," Laker Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff said of the make-shift quintet which kept Boston at bay late in the third period and early in the fourth.

Los Angeles led 80-69 when Baylor went to the bench after drawing his fifth personal foul with 4:02 remaining in the third period. A few minutes later West also sat down for a needed rest, but the Lakers held on for a 123-113 victory to square their best-of-7 National Basketball Association championship series at one win apiece.

"It was a calculated risk, keeping them both on the bench," Van Breda Kolff said, "but Elgin was in foul trouble and Jerry was dragging."

Tom Hawkins and Archie Clark were the only starters in the five-man group which did the job. Joining them were reserves Erwin Mueller, Mel Counts and Fred Crawford.

The scene now shifts to Los Angeles for the third game Friday night and the fourth Sunday night.

In the American Basketball Association, New Orleans, the Western Division winner, took a 2-1 lead over Eastern Division champion Pittsburgh with a 109-101 victory at home.

Red Robbins sparked New Orleans with 30 points while Chico Vaughn topped Pittsburgh with 27 points.

New Orleans will try to take its third straight tonight on home grounds before going to Pittsburgh Saturday night for the fifth game.

Price Of Stock Keyed To That Rate Of Growth

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — If you were to purchase all the shares of American Telephone, which has assets of $46.8 billion, and International Business Machines, which has assets of $5.6 billion, for which would you pay the most?

Since you suspect the answer isn't the seemingly obvious one, here are the straight facts, based on prices early this week: for IBM you would pay $36.7 billion, for AT&T $27.06 billion.

Stated another way, for a company with one-eighth the assets of AT&T you would pay between $9 billion and $10 billion more, an amount that would help solve the U.S. Treasury's problems.

The point is this: in the stock market it isn't how big you are that counts; it's how fast you're growing.

Naturally the situation is completely hypothetical. Even if you had that kind of cash you wouldn't be able to make such huge purchases. When word got out that you were in the market those prices would soar.

But this paradox in prices points up some of the psychology involved in today's stock market. What seems all important in the market, especially in the past few years, is a company's growth possibilities.

IBM is a swiftly growing outfit. Its earnings growth is at a rate of more than 14 per cent a year. Last year its profits rose $125 million to $651.5 million. With such a swift growth rate, buyers fight for a piece of the action.

As a result, a price-earnings ratio of about 50 is commonly placed on IBM shares. That means it sells for 40, 50 or 60 times its per share earnings, which in 1967 were $11.61. Its price at the opening Tuesday was $655.

AT&T once was in enormous demand also, but now it is a huge operation and growing steadily but slowly in comparison with some of the glamor companies. Its price-earnings ratio, therefore, is around 12 or 13. It sold for $50 this week.

Although in theory the purchasers of stock always are taking risks with their futures, this attitude becomes more pronounced during periods of sustained economic expansion, such as this nation has had for seven years.

During this time there also has been an outburst of new technology, the result of billions poured into research and development in the 1950s. Taking commercial advantage of these new products and methods, some companies have been transformed from small private enterprises into enormous, publicly held corporations.

Polaroid Corp. is often cited as an example of this. In 1955, when it already was well on its way, the photography products company reported profits of $2.4 million. In 1967 profits were 24 times greater at $57.4 million.

Nevertheless, scores of very successful companies are larger than Polaroid by almost any measure — sales, number of employees, assets.

Based on share value, the most valuable firms today are IBM, AT&T, General Motors, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Eastman Kodak, Texaco, Sears, General Electric, Gulf and Du Pont.

Farm Tractor Is Hard On Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The farm tractor may produce more crops but can also produce permanent hearing loss for its operator, says a University of Nebraska health and safety expert.

A person exposed to sound pressure levels greater than 85 decibels over an extended time may suffer an appreciable loss of hearing, E. W. Simpson Jr., chief of the university's division of environmental health and safety, said.

He told the Industrial Medical Association's annual meeting Tuesday that tests of 55 tractors showed 97 decibels was the lowest over-all sound pressure level and 114 the highest.

Found Hanging In His Jail Cell

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Police said Wayne Ball, 29, was found dead in his Burke County jail cell Wednesday, hanged by his own belt. Officers said Ball apparently hanged himself.

Ball was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Ruby Louise Hood Tuesday. Police said there was no apparent motive for the shooting.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are due Thursday night for the north Pacific states and the north and central Rockies. There is a chance of scattered showers in the eastern portions of the central Plains. It will be cool in the northeast quadrant of the nation. (AP Wirephoto Map)

SGA Officers Installed, Key Stalwarts Honored

The Student Government Association of East Carolina University Tuesday night presented annual awards to its outstanding members and installed David R. Lloyd of Raleigh as president for the 1968-69 school year.

Lloyd's fellow executive officers also took the oath of office and outgoing President Steve Moore awarded engraved gold watches to University President Leo W. Jenkins and Trustees Chairman Sen. Robert B. Morgan. The inscription on each timepiece expresses SGA appreciation for efforts by the two men which led to university status for East Carolina last summer.

President Lloyd, who won his office in the annual SGA elections held recently, also received one of the top annual awards, the plaque for the "Outstanding SGA Executive Council Member."

Installed to serve with Lloyd were Rex L. Meade of Riverdale, Md., vice president; Buford L. Davis of Raleigh, treasurer; Dianne Marie Holland of Fairfax, Va., secretary; and Catherine Charles Webb, also of Fairfax, Va., historian.

Moore, the retiring president, was named "Outstanding SGA Member." Other awards went to Jean Harvey of Greenville,

DAVID R. LLOYD

"Outstanding Committee Chairman"; Jim H. Young of Aboskie, "Outstanding Legislator"; Howard Salenius of Greenville and Chicago, Ill., "Outstanding Men's Honor Council Member"; Anitra Todd of Wendell, "Outstanding Women's Honor Council Member"; Ray Owen of Newport News, Va., "Outstanding Men's Judiciary Council Member"; and Johann Vaughan of Rocky Mount, "Outstanding Women's Judiciary Council Member."

Four other SGA stalwarts were honored for their efforts by the presentation of class rings. Receiving the rings were Steve Marrisette of Elizabeth City, speaker of the legislature; Sue Yow of Durham, elections chairman; Layton Getsinger of Goldsboro, SGA treasurer; and Bill Richardson of Elizabeth City, legislator.

Various officers of the university administration, and outgoing and incoming SGA presidents, made the presentations at the annual SGA banquet, held at the Candlewick Inn. Salenius, as chairman of the Honor Council, installed Lloyd who in turn administered the oath of office to Meade, Davis, Miss Holland and Miss Webb.

Lloyd, in his first official address, called for a vigorous SGA year in 1968-69 after Moore had reviewed accomplishments of this year in his farewell address. Lloyd served as Moore's vice president.

Shaw University President Cites Productive Meet

RALEIGH (AP) — Shaw University President James Cheek says the five-day Congress for the Unity of Black Students which ended Wednesday was "very productive."

Cheek said a speech Saturday night by Julian Bond, Georgia's first Negro legislator, "helped to wake the students up. He used statistics to point out that, instead of progress, the Negro is going downhill."

Cheek would not say what resolutions were passed or whether a national organization had been formed at the closing session. Newsmen were excluded from the meeting.

He issued a statement which said, in part, "Statements on forming a national organization and resolutions concerning several major issues are now being prepared and will be issued at a later date."

Police Recruited Some Of Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — When federal troops rolled into Washington during the early April riots the Metropolitan Police Department dispatched its recruiting van to bivouac areas in search of potential police officers.

Among the soldiers of the 82nd Airborne Division and the 503rd Military Police Battalion, 74 were persuaded to take the police examination and 65 of these achieved a passing grade and are being processed for jobs, officials reported.

Big selling points, police officials said, were the prospect of release from military service 90 days early for police work and legislation now before Congress which would set an $8,000 starting salary.

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — Strawberries from this salad bowl district will go to market this year in a different atmosphere. Polyethylene bags will be put over each carton and then pumped full of air with a low oxygen content but high in carbon dioxide, says the Council of California Growers. Tests last year showed the low oxygen level virtually ends tissue breakdown through oxidation, and prevents mold.

How To Sell Your House
Are you planning to sell your house? Spring is just around the corner and many people will begin to start looking for homes. The cold weather has kept them in, but as the weather warms up home buyers will be more interested.

Yards should be cleaned, flower beds should be spaded and easy-to-grow annual flowers should be planted to make your home more attractive. Arrange yard furniture attractively to suggest relaxing summer evenings.

The interior is most important. Needless to say the house should always be kept clean and orderly. To give a look of spaciousness open blinds, curtains, and windows. A vase of flowers can make a definite difference in the total appearance of a room.

If You Plan To Sell Your Home, Contact D. G. NICHOLS —REALTOR
There are three sales people to serve you:
Call Mrs. Roper 758-4316, Mrs. Fleming 752-4445 or the office 752-4012.

These are general suggestions for everyone. Ask your Realtor to point out specific things to help make your home look its best to prospective buyers.

All it takes is a telephone call to CLASSIFIED to sell unwanted items

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was higher today as it rallied on warmer hopes for peace and amid activity in some specially situated issues.

Gains outnumbered losses about 2 to 1 and all averages and indicators advanced. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.53 at 904.99.

The new note sent by the United States to Hanoi in an effort to end the deadlock on selection of a site for peace talks was credited with renewed optimism.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were liberally sprinkled throughout the list of key stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 324.7 with industrials up 2.5, rails unchanged and utilities up .4.

Newport News Shipbuilding trimmed a point from an early 6-point rise. It was reported discussing merger with Tenneco, which edged higher.

McGraw gained 3 after news it was involved in a new struggle for control.

Schenley dropped the list on activity and paced about 3 points on word that Lorillard has withdrawn from its contest with Glen Alden to acquire control of Schenley. A pile up of orders delayed the opening trade in Glen Alden.

Mental Health . . .

Research has proven that during the first three months of pregnancy, Dr. Meymandi pointed out, that if the mother is tense and anxious, adrenalin is secreted into the bloodstream and will have the effect of making the baby "colicky". This explains why some babies are happy and smiling and others are not. Dr. Meymandi explained. Therefore, Dr. Meymandi proposed, why not have a program of prenatal psychiatric care to prevent babies being born with a psychological handicap?

These are some of the problems that must be overcome by the community mental health association, according to Dr. Meymandi, since preventive medicine is always better than corrective medicine.

Dr. Meymandi went on to trace the steps in the development of the Cumberland County Mental Health Center and told how various problems were overcome. The center is now a full range unit, treating the spectrum of mental problems from simple neuroses to the hard-core psychoses such as schizophrenia.

The novel part of the Fayetteville center is that much of the actual counseling is done, not by psychiatrists, but by people that Dr. Meymandi trained. This allows more people to be treated, and lowers the cost of treatment, making it generally available to all in the community.

Dr. Meymandi is a native of Kerman, Iran and is the author of a book, "The First Two Hundred Days", the story of the Fayetteville center. He was also resident psychiatrist at Dorothea Dix Hospital in Raleigh from 1963 - 66. He presently has a 10 minute radio program every day, and has a column, "You and Your Mental Health," which appears every week in the Fayetteville Observer and is scheduled for national syndication this spring.

Dr. Meymandi was introduced by Mrs. Eva Warren, Dean, School of Nursing.

Dr. J. W. Pou, president, presided over the meeting, and induced the guests.

Dr. E. B. Aycock, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the newly elected board members for the class of 1970. The newly elected members are Dr. E. B. Aycock, William C. Brewer, Jr., Dr. Amos Ray Evans, Rev. Richard R. Gammon, H. Reginald Gray, Rev. Arthur Herron, Dr. Thomas H. Patterson, Mrs. F. Harding Sugg, and Mrs. Inez Sumrell.

An award was presented to the Pitt County Alcohol Information and Service Center and Mrs. Helen J. Barrett, Founder-Director for her outstanding service. Dr. Charles P. Adams presented the award.

Expect To Find Paving By Herod

JERUSALEM (AP) — Archaeologists digging below the western and southern walls of the ancient Temple Mount in Arab East Jerusalem expect to uncover a marble pavement laid by King Herod nearly 2,500 years ago.

Prof. Benyamin Mazar, leading the dig around the sacred mount where the Jews' second temple stood until its destruction in 70 A.D., said the pavement is about 24 feet underground.

After the marble is unearthed, the dig will trace the walls of Ophel, the biblical city of David, he said.
