

H-Bomb Test Shock Is Felt Hundreds Of Miles

By MIKE DOAN Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — An experimental hydrogen bomb, most powerful tested in the United States today and sent earthquake — like shock waves rolling for hundreds of miles. There were no reports of damage or vented radiation from the underground blast, despite more than a week of protests from scientists and others that the shot was potentially dangerous. The effects of the detonation of the device 3,800 feet deep at the Nevada Test Site, 100 miles northwest of here, appeared to be just about what the Atomic Energy Commission anticipated — a rolling ground motion felt as far as 250 miles away, with no harm expected. The shot, delayed an hour until 7 a.m. due to fears that if there were radiation leaks wind might carry contaminants off the test site, was felt lightly if at all in major cities of the west. In Los Angeles, 300 miles away, some persons trying to detect it didn't... but others said they felt it, lightly. To an AEC observer in a bunker 13 miles from the blast point the shock was "a pretty good roll." In Las Vegas tall buildings swayed, as in an earthquake. Chandeliers in a hotel swung. Motion was clocked for 90 seconds. Police reported a storm of calls inquiring how serious the shock was. "We also," an officer said, "got calls after the blast asking when it was going to happen." Seismologists reckoned the shock had a magnitude of 6.5 on the Richter earthquake scale, which rates those at 7 or more as major. A 6.5 shock is strong enough to cause damage if it occurs close to populated areas. The blast was rated as having the force of about a million tons of TNT, slightly larger than any previous test here. Scientists, businessmen, labor unions and many citizens had urged the Atomic Energy Commission to delay the shot, expressing fear it might touch off earthquakes or leak radiation that would contaminate air and ground water. The AEC said it already had made such studies and determined the test was safe. In Salt Lake City, 330 miles northeast, the blast was barely perceptible. In San Francisco, 330 miles west, there were no immediate reports it was felt. In the desert hamlet of Beatty, at 40 miles from ground zero the town closest to the blast, the owner of the Exchange Club, Elaine Knight, said: "We felt waves and it was of a longer duration and stronger than any in the past. We noticed that on our liquor shelves some of the bottles moved to the right and some to the left. But none spilled." An AEC spokesman said, "All information indicates the test went as designed. We got the amount of motion expected and it was well within the safety range below the amount that would be unsafe."

B52s Aim At Massing Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers, flying some of the war's closest raids to Saigon, hit enemy targets within 26 miles of the capital today to break up Viet Cong forces believed massing for their second major offensive of 1968.

The raids came after South Vietnamese police ordered all boats and vehicles entering Saigon be searched for arms and explosives. The police had earlier thwarted a Viet Cong attempt to smuggle guns into the capital on a river junk.

Tons of explosives fell from the giant bombers on three sorties over enemy bunkers, weapons positions and troop concentrations, six to eight miles west-southwest of Ben Cat, headquarters of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division.

Raids in February had hit targets 10 miles north of Saigon.

As fear of another attack on the capital mounted, American infantrymen combing the provinces around Saigon fought a series of small battles Thursday. Meanwhile, U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese positions in the A Shau Valley, in the northern part of the country, again and again.

There were new reports from South Vietnam's national police that the Viet Cong were bringing arms into the capital to prepare for another "terrorist" campaign against the city similar to the Tet offensive.

Police said they found 10 Soviet AK47 automatic rifles aboard a junk at Saigon's riverfront dock. They did not say if any arrests were made.

Premier Nguyen Van Loc suggested Thursday that the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese might be planning another attack on Saigon to improve their military position before peace negotiations.

Rep. Jones Addresses Pitt's Demo Women

By RONALD GOLLOBIN Reflector Staff Writer

Congressman Walter B. Jones termed the Republican voter registration switchover drive as a "flopper" in a speech before the annual meeting of the Pitt County Democratic Women here last night.

Jones' remark drew wide applause and laughter from the approximately 200 assembled at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

"Since voter registration closed last Saturday," Jones said, "I've made a careful survey of the registration books throughout the First District and have come to the conclusion that the threatened 'great Republican switchover' developed into a great flopper."

Jones went on to predict that "candidates who are successful or unsuccessful on May 4 will band together on May 5 to insure an overwhelming Democratic victory in November." Jones spoke after a reception and dinner for the candidates, wives, members, and guests. His speech was the keynote one in a series of speeches plugging Democratic candidates.

After the speeches, Janice Hardison introduced candidates and their representatives and guests. Included were Sen. Tom White; Mrs. Mel Broughton, representing her husband, a candidate for governor; J.W.H. Roberts, a candidate for district judge, and Mrs. Roberts; Robert Wheeler, a candidate for district judge and Mrs. Wheeler; Charles H. Whedbee, a candidate for district judge, and Mrs. Whedbee; Robert Bowers, candidate for district judge, and Mrs. Bowers; Mrs. Herbert Phillips, representing her husband, a candidate for district judge; L. R. Morris, candidate for district judge, and Mr. Morris; Mark Owens, candidate for House of Representatives; W.A. Forbes, candidate for House of Representatives, and Mrs. Forbes; Vernon White, candidate for N.C. Senate, and Mrs. White; Vincent Bridgers, candidate for N.C. Senate, and Mrs. Bridgers; Julian Allsbrook, candidate for N.C. Senate; Horton Rountree, candidate for House of Representatives, and Mrs. Rountree; Wendell Smiley, candidate for N.C. Supt. of Public Instruction, and Mrs. Smiley; Everett Miller, candidate for N.C. Supt. of Public Instruction; Mrs. Robert Morgan, representing her husband, a candidate for attorney general; Walter B. Jones, candidate for U.S. House of Representatives, and Mrs. Jones; Clarence Leggett, candidate for U.S. House of Representatives, and Mrs. Leggett; Jack Spain, representing Sam Ervin, candidate for U.S. Senator, and Mrs. Spain; Phillip Redwine, executive secretary for the Democratic Executive Committee of N.C.

Mrs. Dave Speir of Bethel presided over the meeting. She cited Dr. Kaye Stokes, Miss Janice Hardison, Mrs. R.J. Whitehurst Sr., Mrs. John Lantares, Mrs. Brooks Beddingfield, Mrs. Walter Latham, and Mrs. Can Lanier for their "tireless devotion in making the annual event a success."

Gardner Says $48,159 Spent On Campaign

RALEIGH (AP) — Republican candidate for governor Jim Gardner says he has spent $48,159 so far in his campaign and has received contributions totaling $47,637.

Gardner filed his campaign expense report Thursday with Secretary of State Thad Eure. It showed a $6,000 donation from State Sen. C.U. Parrish, R-Rowan.

Also filing a campaign expense statement Thursday was a Democratic candidate for governor, Dr. Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte, who said he spent $6,094 and received contributions of $7,202. Hawkins listed a $1,215 contribution from himself.

Two other gubernatorial candidates have filed their preliminary expense reports Wednesday.

day—the actual deadline. Democrat Mel Broughton listed $93,623 in contributions and $108,127 in expenses while Republican Jack Stuckey reported $50,926 in contributions and $51,278 in expenses.

Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, the only gubernatorial candidate yet to file an expense report, was expected to do so today.

Reports from congressional candidates listed "D" or "R" according to party affiliation came in from these districts: 1st—Rep. Walter Jones (D) of Farmville, $1,450 received, $1,798 spent; Clarence Gene Leggett (D) of Greenville, $30 received and $7,155 spent.

3rd—S.A. Chalk Jr. (D) of Morehead City, no contributions, no expenses.

Expensive Litter At $5 Per Head

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Princess, a mixed collie, gave birth to one puppy at 5 a.m. Wednesday, and when she hadn't produced any more by that afternoon, her master, Carl Lynch, took her to a veterinarian.

Lynch agreed to pay the vet, Dr. B. J. Butler, $5 for each puppy he delivered. Princess had 16 more.

Ball Chosen To Succeed Goldberg In UN Office

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has chosen former State Department official George W. Ball, a strong advocate of a negotiated Vietnam war settlement, to succeed Arthur Goldberg as ambassador to the United Nations.

The sudden, surprise choice of Ball, 58, to succeed the retiring Goldberg was viewed in the capital as fresh evidence that Johnson had decided to make a determined effort during his last nine months in office to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war. Ball has made his criticisms of U.S. policy known particularly since resigning as undersecretary of state in October 1966. Thus his willingness to return to government surprised Washington circles as much as did Johnson's decision to ask him back. Reached Thursday evening by telephone in Montreal, Canada, where he is attending a conference of an independent group concerned with Atlantic community problems, Ball said: "The President has removed himself from the political arena so he can make decisions which would be much more difficult if he were a political candidate.

"Therefore the period that remains could be a very fruitful period."

Johnson announced Thursday at a hastily called news conference that Goldberg, 59, had resigned and would be replaced by Ball. The President said the change would probably become effective in early June after Goldberg handles "certain matters now under way" at the United Nations.

Goldberg will in fact handle the U.S. argument for U.N. acceptance of a treaty proposed by this country, the Soviet Union and Britain to outlaw the spread of nuclear weapons.

Goldberg indicated openly almost six months ago that he did not consider his U.N. position as a career. Johnson called him from the Supreme Court in mid-1965 to become ambassador to the world organization and recently he has privately expressed interest in returning to the practice of law.

At a New York news conference following the President's announcement, Goldberg said he had worked in the cause of Vietnam peace during his 33 months as U.N. ambassador. He added: "I have resigned in the belief that I can best further these objectives in private life," he said. While acknowledging there had been Vietnam policy differences within the administration, he said that had not motivated his decision to resign.

Ball, like Goldberg, entered the John F. Kennedy administration in January 1961. Goldberg was President Kennedy's first secretary of labor. Early this month Ball published a book on foreign policy in which he specified his disapproval of large-scale U.S. military action in Vietnam from the outset. But he said he also took the position that once the United States was so deeply involved in the war it should seek a moderate way out, neither withdrawing in abandonment nor trying to force victory through escalation.

Comprehensive Summer School Program Set Up

A comprehensive summer school program, encompassing kindergarten students through 12 graders, will be conducted for six weeks this summer by the Greenville City School system.

The summer classes will begin June 10 and run through July 19. Classes from kindergarten level through grade six will begin at 8:30 a.m. and run until 12:30 p.m., while classes from grades seven through 12 will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 1:30 p.m.

The kindergarten program will be made available, according to City School Superintendent Dr. C.C. Cleetwood, to children who will be in the first grade next year and have had no kindergarten experience. There will be no charge for the kindergarten program or for classes required to remove failures.

According to Dr. Cleetwood, in addition to remedial classes being offered to students who seek enhancement of their educational experiences through worthy use of vacation time.

All classes from the kindergarten level through the sixth grade will be held at Elmhurst School and all classes from the seventh through the 12th grade level will be conducted at Rose High School.

Dr. Cleetwood said high school level courses will follow the same scope and sequence as classes offered during the regular school term, thus permitting students to retire units during the summer... leaving a greater opportunity for electives during the regular school year.

He suggested that students who will be in the ninth grade next year will have a wonderful opportunity to strengthen, enrich and retire required courses, thus allowing them to accelerate their high school program.

For example, he outlined, ninth grade students may retire the required physical science course during the summer and take biology during the next school year. A rising ninth grader, weak in math, could take general mathematics during the summer session and thereby gain greater assurance of success in Algebra in the ninth grade.

The superintendent emphasized that acceleration of the high school program to complete high school work and graduate in three years will not be permitted. He noted, however, that the summer work will place a student in a more commanding position for successful work in education beyond high school. Dr. Cleetwood said there will be no conflict with the driver education or band programs. These programs, the official explained, will be scheduled for the afternoons so there will be no conflict of interest with the academic program.

A brunch break, from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. each school day, will enable students to take advantage of special food services to be offered during that break period.

Where transportation is a hardship, area pickup stations will be established and bus transportation will be provided, he said.

Professor Found Dead In Apartment

An East Carolina University chemistry professor was found dead in his Fifth Street apartment yesterday afternoon.

The death of the 31-year-old Chinese teacher, Dr. Jang Kuo, was ruled suicide by Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey. He said Dr. Kuo used a poison, believed to be cyanide, to poison himself.

The death was reported to Greenville police at 3:46 p.m. yesterday, according to Chief H. F. Lawson.

Police here reported that Dr. Kuo had locked himself in his Greensprings Apartments bedroom Monday. Mrs. Kuo said she heard him moving about the house before dawn Wednesday, but heard nothing from him afterwards.

She called a locksmith Thursday afternoon to open the bedroom door. They found Dr. Kuo's body then.

Investigators said he had been dead an estimated 24 to 30 hours at that time.

The Kuo's were married a week before Easter.

Dr. Kuo, a native of China, received his BS degree from the National Taiwan University and his Ph. D. Degree from Louisiana State University.

He was given a $5,000 petroleum research grant by the American Chemical Society in September, 1964. He was one of several scientists in the U. S. selected to receive one of the grant awards as faculty members who were "interested in teaching careers and at the same time recognized the importance of fundamental research as a personal obligation to continuing scientific growth."

The research project was scheduled for completion September, 1968.

'Monkey Wrenches' In DST Clockwork

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY Associated Press Writer

All but two of the 50 states will switch to Daylight Saving Time Sunday.

But, an Associated Press survey also shows, some minor monkey wrenches have been tossed into the clockwork in a few areas.

The Uniform Time Act, adopted by Congress in 1966, provided that — starting in 1967 — all states will observe DST from 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October — except that any state may exempt itself by adopting a state law.

Hawaii and Arizona have exempted themselves. In the other states clocks generally will be pushed ahead an hour.

The U.S. Department of Transportation, which oversees the act, gave Indiana permission to bring its timepieces into harmony in this way: all the state's counties, with the exception of six around Chicago and six around Evansville, Ind., on the western side of Indiana, can remain on Eastern Standard Time. The 12 exempted counties can move their clocks up from Central Standard to Central Daylight Time. This will place them on the same time as the rest of the state.

The U.S. Department of Transportation placed all of Michigan's Upper Peninsula in the Central time zone. But four counties in the eastern half of the peninsula — Luce, Mackinac, Chippewa and Alger — have remained on Eastern time. They will go on EDT Sunday. The other counties are on CST.

Eastern counties on the peninsula feel they have closer ties with the Lower Peninsula of Michigan, while the westernmost feel they are tied geographically to Wisconsin.

The Lower Peninsula of Michigan is in the Eastern zone. But the board of supervisors of Berrien County (Benton Harbor) in the southwestern corner of that peninsula has voted to stay on EST.

Greene Voters

SNOW HILL — More than 5,500 Greene County voters re-registered and will be eligible to vote in the May 4 primary election.

Greene County election officials said 5,515 persons registered during the new registration, between March 30 and April 20.

Included in the total registered were 5,006 Democrats, 440 Republicans, 14 independents and 55 persons who listed no party affiliation.

The registration included 3,948 white and 1,567 Negroes. Persons who failed to register will be ineligible to vote in the coming primary. Old registration lists will not be used.

Table with 5 columns: Precinct, Total, Dem., Rep., White Negro. Lists precincts like Arbor, Bullhead, Carrs, Hookerton, Jason, Snow Hill, etc.

Four independents registered in the Snow Hill, Speights and Sugg precincts, while one registered in the Hookerton and Shine precincts. Persons listing no affiliation included nine in Snow Hill and 6 in the Suggs precinct.

Hairpiece: Yes Or No

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I never cared much for wigs on men, but lately I have been changing my mind. Altho my husband is only in his early forties, he's been bald for some time. Not only that, but his head comes to a decided point on top. Lately his head has taken on a "polished" look, which makes the point on top all the more conspicuous.

I am so tired of people asking me, "What happened to your husband's head?"

Wouldn't a wig be less conspicuous? If I say to get one, he says he'll get one.

Another question: If my husband does decide to get a wig, will he have to have new passport pictures taken in the wig? And where it says "HAIR," should he put down "BALD" or the color of the wig? Thank you kindly.

MRS. F. IN LAS VEGAS

DEAR MRS. F.: If your husband would be happier with a "wig," he should certainly get one. And since the hairpiece will change his appearance considerably, if he plans to wear it constantly, he should update his passport pictures. And where it says "HAIR," he should put down the color of his "wig." (P. S. I hope your husband doesn't "flip his wig" abroad or he may have trouble getting back in the country.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow of less than one year. My income has dropped from $1,900 a month to $1,500 a month, so I have to watch my pennies now.

I have one son. He is married and goes to college. He and his wife have been coming to my home for Sunday dinner regularly, and they bring their laundry to do in my washing machine. About a month ago, I told them that due to my reduced circumstances I was going to charge them 25 cents a load for the use of my facilities. My son said, "Thank you, Mother, but we will do our laundry elsewhere."

Abby, where can they get their laundry done as cheap as here? And as long as they pay to get it done, why not give me the money? I am very

DEAR ABBY: I am sick over it because we had a wonderful relationship before this happened. They still come to me for Sunday dinners, but they refuse to bring their laundry. Was I right or wrong in asking for 25 cents a load?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Unless the few dollars involved would have worked a hardship on you, you'd have been wiser to have skipped it. Apologize for pinching pennies and hope that everything comes out in the wash.

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather well-to-do uncle who is in his late seventies now. About 12 years ago, this uncle asked me if I would be "executor" of his will. I told him I would and that was the end of the conversation. As such, I don't have the faintest idea what I am supposed to do. Should I write and ask him?

I don't want him to get the idea that I am waiting for him to die because I'm not, but shouldn't I know where to find his valuable papers and so on in case of his death? I didn't sign anything and am wondering if he has changed his mind

Mrs. Mel Broughton Honored At Coffee Hour On Thursday

"During the campaign, it has been very exciting to see the interest and enthusiasm mount all across the state," said Mrs. Melville Broughton Jr. during her visit to Greenville yesterday. Mrs. Broughton was entertained at a coffee at the home of Mrs. Leon Moore on the Ayden Highway. "Belles for Mel" joined in hosting Mrs. Broughton, who has been an avid worker on behalf of her husband's campaign for governor of North Carolina.

When asked why she enjoyed campaigning, Mrs. Broughton replied, "Because I like people and I have decided that North Carolina has the nicest people on earth."

Mrs. Broughton who has been campaigning since February has visited approximately 50 of North Carolina's 100 counties. "The campaign has grown like topsy — starting last week, I have been on the campaign trail everyday of the week, but one. On this one day, which I spend at home, I relax with my children, go to the grocery store and catch up with errands."

In commenting on the problems of campaigning which might affect her children, Mrs. Broughton remarked, "The lovely part is my mother has been visiting us for the past two weeks and is keeping the home fires burning and is caring for the children. My friends have also been so wonderful."

A native of Henderson, Mrs. Broughton attended the Henderson public schools and is a graduate of St. Mary's Junior College, Raleigh, and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The Broughtons have three children, a 16-year-old daughter, Harriet, two sons, Mel III, who is 12-years-old and Jimmy, who was born just a few weeks before his father became a candidate for governor.

The Broughtons are living in Raleigh in the same house they built 17 years ago. "We love the house, but we are crowded," added Mrs. Broughton.

Since the campaign started, the visit here yesterday was the second one for Mrs. Broughton. They were guests of Dr. Leo Jenkins to see the Harleem Gobretrotters. Mrs. Broughton visited her aunt and uncle here as a young girl.

Dinner-Dance On Saturday Night

Members of the Carpe Diem Book Club entertained their husbands and guests Saturday night at a buffet dinner and dance at the Winterville Community Center.

Mrs. Bill Holding and Mrs. H. E. Lowry were in charge of arrangements. A "hippie" theme was used for the decorations and costumes.

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Cleetwood received a prize for having the most original costumes. Mrs. Glenn Cox and Mrs. Charles Hollingsworth were presented awards for entries in the art exhibit.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Knowles and Dr. and Mrs. James Williamson.

Dr. J. W. Pou Is Pilot Club Speaker Monday

Dr. J. W. Pou, vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. and a recent recipient of the "Book of Golden Deeds" award, was guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Pilot Club of Greenville held Monday evening.

"Excellence in Service" was the subject of his address. The Coordinating Committee composed of chairman of all standing committees, with Miss Mildred Mallard as chairman, had charge of the program. Miss Mallard introduced Dr. Pou.

The invocation was given by Miss Annie Turner. Mrs. Daisy Rogers, president, gave the call to order and welcomed special guests, Mrs. Pou and Mrs. James Vick.

The Membership Committee in the traditional candlelight ceremony representing "friendship" and "service" initiated into membership, Mrs. Clifton Warren and Mrs. James Marlowe. Participating in the ritual were Miss Elizabeth Quinerly, chairman, Mrs. Leslie Jones, Mrs. James Butler, and the president, Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. T. W. Rouse read the Pilot Code of Ethics.

A business session followed. Reports of standing committees were given. It was announced that 12 members of local club will be attending the District Six Convention to be held in Greensboro May 3-5.

Mrs. Wynne Is Circle Speaker

BETHEL—Mrs. Jack Wynne spoke on "The Navaho Indians" at the meeting of the Mary Lambeth Circle held Monday at the home of Mrs. Sam Dewar.

Mrs. Clara Roberson, spiritual life leader, gave the devotional.

Mrs. L. G. Manning, circle leader, called the meeting to order and introduced the speaker.

Department Program By Mrs. McKeithan Tuesday

"Focus On Community Concern" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Roya A. McKeithan at a meeting of the Home Life Department of the Greenville Woman's Club held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. L. Andrews.

Mrs. Roseveare introduced Mrs. McKeithan, who is director of Volunteer Services of North Carolina Mental Health Association. She started her program by giving each member a list of questions concerning mental illness and the general mental health program.

Mrs. McKeithan stressed the importance of parents and teachers recognizing emotional disturbances in children and getting help for them as soon as possible. She says the general public should consider mental illness just as it does physical illness.

When a patient returns home their family and friends should be very kind and try to do all possible to help them adjust to a normal life in every way. How the public accepts a mentally ill person when they return home frequently means the difference as to whether or not the patient can adjust to a normal life or has to return to a hospital she added.

Refreshments were served to members upon arrival. Hostesses were Mrs. H. L. Andrews, Mrs. Hinton Best, Mrs. Milan Johnson, Mrs. C. A. Robertson

Winners in the Wednesday morning game were: Mrs. W. S. Stafford and Mrs. B. M. Reagan, first tied for second were Mrs. J. D. Mellon and Mrs. Henry Martin with Mrs. A. W. Harman and Mrs. George Snyder; Mrs. D. A. Schlenz and James Schlenz.

Dinner Party Given Couple

BETHEL — Mr. and Mrs. Felix B. Whitehurst were honored at a dinner party held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Johnson in Hamilton.

Mrs. Whitehurst was presented an orchid corsage and a gift of crystal in her chosen pattern. Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitehurst, Miss Cynthia Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Purvis, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Purvis and Capt. and Mrs. Stanley Purvis.

Miss Whitehurst Celebrates Birthday

BETHEL — Miss Lou Whitehurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst Jr., celebrated her 13th birthday at a party held at the Bethel Rotary Club last week.

Approximately 40 guests were present for the event.

Mrs. Beddingfield Named President Of Churchwomen

Mrs. Brooks Beddingfield was named president of the women of the First Presbyterian Church for 1968-70 at the general meeting held Monday night.

Other officers elected to serve with Mrs. Beddingfield were: Mrs. John Allen, vice president; Mrs. R. M. Helms, secretary; Mrs. J. Fred Webb, chairman of Personal Faith and Family Life; Mrs. Thomas L. Broadrick, chairman of Leadership and Resources; and Miss Christine Johnston, chairman of Ecumenical Missions and Relations.

The officers will be installed and take office at the September meeting.

Mrs. Bancroft Moseley presented a program on "Reconciliation Within The Congregation."

Mrs. John Grier, president, presided over the business meeting.

The women were urged to complete the blue jeans being made as a World Mission project. These will be sent to a mission school in Africa to be used as uniforms for the men students.

Other projects recently completed were "Share a Blanket" for Overseas Relief and rolling bandages to be sent to a mission hospital.

There was a roll call of circles and Circle 11, with Mrs. Guy V. Smith Jr. as chairman, won the attendance award.

A social hour followed in the church parlor.

Mrs. Young Gives Dilettante Program

BETHEL — Mrs. R. C. Young presented the program at the meeting of the Dilettante Club held last week at the home of Miss Mary Ann Manning.

Mrs. Young showed slides of her trip to Puerto Rico with her husband.

Following the business session, refreshments were served.

We've Every Reason To Feel Proud

We who live here in Greenville and Pitt County don't have to be shown that our young people are excelling in many fields. We feel the youngsters know that adults believe in them and recognize they are capable of superlative work.

Just in case there are those who have lost faith in the area's youth, however, we need only to refer to articles in recent editions of The Daily Reflector.

Tuesday's front page, for instance, told the story of the J. H. Rose High School newspaper The Green Lights winning All America honors in the 78th All-America Critical Service conducted by the National Scholastic Press Association.

This is an outstanding honor for the local high school journalists. The Green Lights, which this year is edited by Les Garner, has for many years been rated an outstanding publication in the competition and its present staff has added to the tradition.

Then yesterday the story was told of the Stokes-

Pactolus Beta Club winning first place in the 10-minute skit contest at the State Beta Club convention in Raleigh. These Stokes-Pactolus young people were, of course, competing against the best the state has to offer. In winning first place they have brought honor to their school and to the entire county.

Last week we were startled to read that one of Greenville's outstanding young men, who has gone on to Wake Forest University, was a leader of a march through downtown Winston-Salem. We need not have worried, however, and closer reading of the story revealed that Jimmy Wells and a group of 300 people were marching on City Hall, not in rebellion, but in a positive effort. They pledged their support of Winston-Salem's urban coalition and each pledged eight hours of labor for any constructive use the city could make of it.

The mayor of Winston-Salem said he expects to begin using the student labor in about two weeks.

Well, all of these young people have used their vast energies and talents in a very positive way. There are many more young people who are performing equally as well. They are not always recognized at this stage, but our society should know that they are going to be tomorrow's leaders. They are the ones who will truly build a better world. As long as there are still such young people around we will not despair of the nation's youth.

Payoff, After 3 Years On Job

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — The present-ly constituted 24 member State Board of Conservation and Development (C&D) has reached the payoff point in its nearly three years of work during the Dan Moore administration.

And, realizing this, it is time for C&D's members and appointed officials and executives to begin reviewing their accomplishments and do a bit of boasting.

chairman and chief executive officer. He personally has initiated and guided many of the new programs involving state advertising and promotion, travel, and now state parks and tourism development.

If there is any criticism it is that York has not given his personal attention and imaginative ideas to certain other fields with which C&D is concerned—such as fisheries, natural resources and some other divisions—except indirectly. But he has kept in touch with these through subordinates.

The subordinates, however, have awaited the word from York. Without his approval and signal for go-ahead, C&D officials and board members have been unwilling to move. They have waited. They have stalled and delayed. Action has been postponed for further study and for other reasons. In certain areas, nothing has been done.

Changes May Come

After a few more months, drastic changes may be coming in the present set-up of the far-flung, eight-division C&D department and in its powerful administrative and policy-making system.

A study commission named by the last General Assembly was meeting in Raleigh simultaneously with the Spring meeting of the C&D board and it was considering suggestions and recommendations to re-organize and reshape the present set-up.

Reporters covering the C&D board meeting made pointed reference to the fact that certain controversial issues were sidestepped and postponed until August — after the primary elections. The reports inferred that political considerations were taken into account in such actions.

Whether this was true or not could not be determined. There is a division of political sentiment and preference among C&D board members and presumably there is a political preference in C&D's hierarchy.

Also, of course, there is a strong feeling arising from C&D system is cumbersome and slow to act, and that it is shot through with favoritism and inter-agency politics.

W.F.L.I.A.M. SHIRES

Each successive C&D board — appointed by a different governor — does this. Each board makes some positive and substantial contributions and, in all fairness, the present board has done so too—in good measure.

It has, as pointed out by chairman J. W. (Willie) York, acquired more additional land for state parks and recreational facilities and obtained more money for reforestation and forestry conservation measures than any C&D board in history.

Conservation Versus Development

York made the claim—justifiably—at the final session of the C&D board's Spring meeting in Raleigh.

He said he felt that various reports, speeches by the governor and newspaper accounts of C&D activities tend to stress statistics and facts of economic development and growth over and above certain other areas of progress. "I just want to point this out as my observation," York said. "But I would say we have emphasized conservation along with development."

A Driving Force

York, a Raleigh developer and business executive, has been a driving force behind the present C&D board as

Rather Good Showing In Registered Voters

All things considered, Pitt Countians can take pride in the number of its citizens who registered during the new voter registration period that ended last week.

The 23,620 registered voters in Pitt County today obviously do not include all the citizens of the county who were eligible to register. Compared with the estimated 32,000 names which were on the old registration books of the county, the present registration of 23,600 may seem somewhat small. One must remember, however, that the old books represented an accumulation of names over a couple of decades, and many were names of people who have died or moved from this county. The present registration is far more realistic than the old figure.

With the new registration now completed, Pitt citizens should look toward a record vote in the forthcoming primaries a week from Saturday. Four years ago in the May primary, Pitt County cast approximately 12,000 votes. With the present registration of the county, it should not be difficult for Pitt to cast considerably more votes than that in the Democratic primary, in addition to the votes which will also be cast in the first state-wide Republican primary.

We trust that all those voters who have registered in recent weeks will make a diligent effort to participate in the forthcoming primaries next week. It would be a feather in Pitt County's hat for a record number of its newly registered voters to cast ballots May 4.

It's Difficult To Apply Power

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic governors have affirmed what their Republican counterparts had been proving for 18 months: Apparent political power and the ability to use it are two different things.

The 26 Republican governors and the 24 Democrats have been unable to create consensus among themselves on a presidential nominee for their respective parties.

The Democrats talked about it in St. Louis April 15 and got nowhere. Republicans chose more fashionable retreats for their disagreement — White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Jackson Hole, Wyo., Palm Beach, Fla.

There are individual commitments to candidates in each party, but no one has welded a governors' bloc of major benefit to a single candidate.

It's possible many governors can't exercise total control over their national convention delegates.

Democrat Harold Hughes of Iowa acknowledged this difficulty. Hughes, a Senate candidate, said people supporting his candidacy include Democrats backing all three top contenders for the presidential nomination, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

A McCarthy agent put it more succinctly: "If Hughes comes out for Bobby our kids in Iowa will go after him."

Hughes evidently is not alone in that situation. His Democratic gubernatorial colleagues, feeling the pressure for presidential commitments and hoping to ease it, were generally delighted to adopt a statement in St. Louis promising decisions of conscience on the White House contest—but not right now.

Similarly, Republican governors in June 1967 advocated that uncommitted delegations be sent to the GOP convention.

Texas Gov. John B. Connally and Calvin L. Rampton of Utah, both Johnson allies, were two of the men who asked that the Democratic governors meet in St. Louis earlier this month.

Behind their request it appeared, was a concern that

Strength For Today

IDOLATRY

One of the undoubted benefits of civilization would appear to be that we have outgrown idolatry. No longer do we bow before idols of wood and stone. We are too intelligent and sophisticated for that sort of degradation.

But we need to remind ourselves constantly that idolatry can exist without idols of wood and stone. We can, for instance, become our own idol and worship ourselves. We can worship expediency and wealth, pleasure and the right to do about as we want to do. And this is idolatry. The idols of wood and stone are not present, but our spirit is much the same as those who in past ages prostrated themselves before gross idols made with human hands. The idols which grow up as a result of our mistakes, our compromises, our wrong-doing, are just as debasing as huge idols before which multitudes prostrated themselves in the past. Let us not say that we have repudiated idolatry. We may have appeared to repudiate idolatry, but the fact remains that idolatry is still with us.

For an idol is anything we put before God. An idol is anything that disregards the spiritual aspects of life. An idol is anything which puts self first and disregards the interest of others. We have much to be proud of in modern life and should enter into its manifold advantages with gratitude. But the old vices keeps gnawing at us and will destroy us as certainly as they destroyed our predecessors unless we take drastic action against enemies of mind, soul, and body, which are very real.

WASHINGTON—"The trouble with small wars," said my friend, Finsterman, who is in charge of small wars at the State Department, "is that both sides think they have defeated us. Under these circumstances it's not only difficult to arrive at a peace settlement, it's impossible to agree on a site to even discuss it."

"But didn't we say we'd go anywhere, anytime to discuss peace with Hanoi?" "Ah, yes, but we didn't say we'd go to Cambodia or Warsaw."

"We have them there." "You must keep in mind that we've offered Hanoi the choice of 15 sites and they've only offered us the choice of two."

"It sounds like a body count to me."

"Their two sites have many drawbacks. Warsaw is in a Communist country, and Cambodia is a neutralist nation where, unfortunately, we have no diplomatic relations. In Warsaw, we know it would be much easier for them to bug us than for us to bug them. You can't have a peace conference without reciprocal bugging."

"What's wrong with Cambodia?"

"Besides the fact we have no diplomatic relations there, Cambodia was the first site the North Vietnamese selected, so naturally we had to reject or it would look as if we were going to the conference table from a position of weakness."

"Why did North Viet n a m turn down Geneva?"

"Because that's the first site we suggested. If they accepted our first suggestion I going to the conference table as the defeated party."

"But we must have known that before we suggested Geneva. Why did we suggest it?"

"We had to suggest someplace," Finsterman said. "You see, the trick of these negotiations is for both sides to suggest places because they are sure the other side won't go there. The on you want to go to you never mention and neither do they." "Paris hasn't been mentioned," I said.

"Exactly. If we offered to meet Hanoi in Paris they would be hard put to accept it as it would look as though we were bowing to them. Paris makes sense to both sides at the moment because neither one has suggested it as a meeting place."

ART BUCHWALD

"You'll have to admit," I said, "that the average person is very confused about the fact that we can't agree on a site to talk. Why couldn't we announce that under no conditions would the United States meet Hanoi in Paris? When they heard that we didn't want to go to Paris they might insist on meeting us in Paris and no place else. Wouldn't that resolve the problem?"

"Absolutely not. For one thing, if we announced that we didn't want to go to Paris and then we agreed to meet in Paris, it would be a diplomatic victory for the Communists. Besides, if we met De Gaulle look very good, which is something we would prefer to avoid if we possibly can."

"But if we never meet," I said, "then the chances for peace might run out on us and we'll have to continue the war, which is something I understand the United States doesn't want to do."

"It isn't a question of meeting. The real problem is to meet in good faith. Hanoi has shown bad faith by rejecting the sites we offered for a peace meeting."

"And they say we have shown bad faith by rejecting the sites they have suggested. Who is right?"

Argue Defense Needs

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force and civilian analysts differ sharply in a Pentagon intelligence dispute already casting a shadow over U.S. plans to defend against Soviet bombers of the 1970s.

Basically at issue is the soundness of a national-level assessment that the Soviets will not develop a supersonic strategic bomber with far-reaching missiles during the next six years.

Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, thinks they will and argues the United States should build some new 2,000 mile-per-hour interceptors able to shoot them down.

But Robert S. McNamara, just before he left office as secretary of defense, decided indications were that the Soviet bomber threat actually would decline. He rejected the Air Force's requested interceptor, the F12.

Instead, McNamara went along with his civilian planners who figured $1 billion could be saved if the Air Force put a new missile system in an existing fighter, the F106, part of the present air defense network.

Although this plane was developed in the 1950s, cost-effectiveness studies showed that a souped-up version known as the F106X would be just as good as the Mach 3 F12, if a few hundred miles an hour slower.

McNamara also based his thinking on the National Intelligence Estimate (NIE) of what the Soviets might be expected to do in the area of strategic bombers between now and 1976, the period in question.

This projection, drawn up about last October, was that the Soviet Union would stick generally with the strategic bomber force it already has. This includes 155 bombers capable of reaching the United States without refueling.

McConnell, testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee in February, said, "I don't agree with" and "I don't subscribe to" the NIE view.

The four-star general said he felt the Soviets would indeed put into operation a new supersonic bomber capable of "delivering an extremely long-range, high speed air-to-ground missile" against the United States by 1976.

The F106X would be inadequate to deal with this threat, McConnell declared.

The NIE is a super-secret report which annually sizes up, among other things, the military threat facing this country.

The CIA draws it up each year, using its own information as well as data from the Defense Intelligence Agency, the National Security Agency, the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research and other military and civilian agencies.

A few days ago, the Senate panel—having heard both sides in closed sessions on the defense budget—refused a Pentagon request for $28 million to get the F106X program rolling.

As a result of the committee's action, Air Force officials say they are in doubt about what air defense plan will be approved, but think a compromise may be in order.

It Doesn't Pay To Save Money

By ELMER ROESSNER

It doesn't pay to save money today.

A typical savings institution pays 5 per cent interest on deposits.

If you deposited $100 on last Jan. 2, you will have $105 next Jan 2 (and, if it was a new account, possibly an electric alarm clock).

Five per cent looks big. Back in the 1930s, your pappy could get only 2 per cent, if he had anything to save.

But in the first quarter of this year, the cost of living, as measured by the consumers price index, rose one per cent. At that rate, it will rise 4 per cent this year and the buying power of the $105 you will have next year will be only $100.80.

Only The Beginning
And if your taxable income is $10,000 a year—and you won't save much unless you net that much—there's a 22 per cent federal income tax on that $5 profit, or $1.10. So after a year, your $100 will have shrunk to $99.70. And state and city income taxes may clip it further.

ELMER ROESSNER

Some institutions pay more than 5 per cent. Some compound interest daily, which gives depositors two-bits more on $100 in a year, before taxes and inflation loss.

The Federal Reserve System, when it increased the rediscount rate from 5 to 5½ per cent last week, did not increase the rate that banks may pay depositors. But it did increase the rates banks may pay on certificates of deposits from 5½ per cent to up to 6¼ per cent. The 5½ per cent rate continues for certificates from 30 to 59 days, goes to 6 per cent on certificates for 90 to 179 days, and 6¼ per cent for certificates for 180 or more.

But when a saver rushes to buy a certificate of deposit, he will find that most banks sell them in multiples of $5,000. Few savers have that much to deposit at one time unless they are in at least the $44,000 - $52,000 - a - year bracket, where the tax is 50 per cent on married couples. Thus a couple in that bracket would net only 31 per cent interest after taxes, and there would be a 4 per cent decline in purchasing power. And purchasers in higher brackets will lose even more.

A Spending Binge?

As Americans become aware that savings shrink, not grow, some will become like the fabled grasshopper and spend all they can for pleasure. Others, anti-like, will try to protect their wealth by investing in real estate, jewelry and collectors' items. This will steam up inflation even more.

Others will try to hedge by buying real estate and common stocks. In fact, much of the recent activity on the stock exchanges has been caused by people who drew money out of savings accounts and bought shares.

And millions of others, seeing both their savings and the buying power of their wages dwindle, will demand still higher pay and will be increasingly willing to strike for it. Higher wages too, will be inflationary.

Six Women Among The Military Elite

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer
FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — On June 7 more than 1,200 elite officers will march across a stage on this venerable Army post and receive certificates denoting their graduation from one of the toughest schools in the military.

Six of them will be wearing skirts.
The six women—five WACs and one Army nurse—will be the first ever to complete the full 10-month course at the Army Command and General Staff College.

How does it feel to be a female surrounded by men who outnumber you by more than 200 to 1?
"It's great," grinned Maj. Marilyn J. Russell. "Odds like that are hard to come by."

The light remark by Maj. Russell, an exuberant WAC from Salt Lake City, Utah, typifies the attitude of the six women. They're all career soldiers with overseas experience, and they play it cool.

The fact some of the college courses deal with weapons and large-scale tactics—something with which none of them had any experience—doesn't rattle the ladies.
"In fact, I was told since we didn't have any background in tactics, it would be easier for us because we didn't have anything to unlearn," related Col. Thompson.

Col. Nease said male members of the class go out of their way to help them with their studies.
"The instructors are great, too," said Col. MacMichael.
"They even come back and check out their jokes with us before they tell them in class."

The women take the same studies as the men—concentrating on such complex topics as combat service support, joint planning, management leadership and logistics.
In addition each of them takes an elective course in a field in which she is interested.
Col. Thompson and Maj. Russell are tackling personnel management, Col. Hopfensperger military history, Col. MacMichael advanced logistics, Col. Nease French and Col. Frazier research and systems analysis.

Along with the men, they take their turn receiving "blue goose" assignments in which they command a class section on a tactical problem.
"The men work harder when they know we're the leader," joked Col. Hopfensperger, adding a wry smile.
"Me, I always draw a job like leading the airborne troops in some invasion."
Upon graduation the women officers will be assigned to higher echelon staff posts.
Col. Hopfensperger will go to the Army's Pacific Headquarters at Ft. Shafter, Hawaii; Col. Thompson to Ft. Belvoir, Va., and the other four to the Pentagon.

A Long, Hard Road Back For Nick Galifianakis

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — The road back to Congress is going to be a long one this year for Rep. Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C.

If he wins his bid for renomination in the May 4 primary — and two other Democrats are challenging him — he will face Republican opposition in the November general election.
The 5th District representative was placed in the new 4th District by last year's redrawing of Congressional lines.

til the Easter recess. Now he appears to have begun more than a token bid for renomination and is making speaking tours of the district and collecting organized support.
Holloman, hampered by recent surgery, has been unable to actively campaign until recent days and has had to depend on direct mail and telephone committee tactics to stress his opposition to presidential prerogative in drawing up the national budget and appointment of Supreme Court justices.

On the Republican side, Steele is already making plans to take on Galifianakis in the November general election, but Garabrant also expresses optimism about the primary race.
Steele, a soft-spoken, gray-haired businessman, says he expects to carry Durham by a wide margin and is criss-crossing the district's four other counties, all of which went for Republican Jim Gardner in the 1966 congressional race.

Steele, whose staff and prominent supporters are closely identified with Gardner, hopes to capitalize on Gardner's victory two years ago but says he doesn't want to look like "Jim's lackey."
He agrees with Gardner on most issues — but so does Garabrant, who says the primary is basically a "popularity contest" to determine who has the better chance to defeat the Democrats.

Gardner is a candidate for the GOP nomination for governor. Garabrant, 35, is counting on the strong support in Randolph County, where roughly half the Republicans of the district are registered, and in his home county of Wake.
Steele aides say their candidate should pick up 90 to 95 per cent of the vote in the other three counties by default, and they expect to carry Wake and Randolph by concentrating on leadership support and full-time campaigning in those areas in the final days before the primary.

Col. Hugh H. Johnson, who teaches larger unit operations, summed up by conferring upon the six women the highest accolade one soldier could give another.
"These girls," he said, "are professionals."

Durham, Galifianakis' home county, is now tied to four old 4th District counties: Chatham, Orange, Randolph and Wake.
Charles R. Holloman, who bills himself as "the conservative Democrat," and David W. Stith, Negro president of a Durham business college, are trying to unseat the freshman congressman in the May 4 Democratic primary.

He regards Galifianakis' recent vote against the Civil Rights Bill and the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King as "crucial" events in the campaign. Invitations to speak before white groups, Stith says, have increased since the open housing vote.
It is the congressman's voting record on civil rights that hurt him in the liberal community, it didn't among the conservatives. His support of appropriations bills, however, could sap support from fiscal conservatives who argue for balancing the budget and cutting federal spending.

Steele, a soft-spoken, gray-haired businessman, says he expects to carry Durham by a wide margin and is criss-crossing the district's four other counties, all of which went for Republican Jim Gardner in the 1966 congressional race.

with President Johnson out of the race, there might be a gubernatorial rush to the Kennedy camp. Administration loyalists wanted to slow things down and insure that Humphrey support was not foreclosed even before he announced his candidacy.
But there was no rush to Kennedy.
A small minority of the 26 Republican governor has been trying to line up presidential commitments among their colleagues almost since 1964, with an identical lack of success.
Like the Democrats, the Republican governors have consistently denied they are out to stop anybody in the presidential race. In their case, anybody means Richard M. Nixon.
So far, the governors have been true to their statement. They haven't slowed down the Nixon drive, and they haven't started one for anybody else.

None Of The Candidates Is About To Give Up

HAVING OPEN HOUSE — The Free Will Baptist Press of Ayden will hold an open house from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday. The building is located just north of Ayden on N.C. 11. Construction of the 21,000 square foot facility was completed in early winter and moving operations were completed in January. The $200,000 building replaces old quarters in Ayden that housed the Free Will Baptist Press for many years. The publishing house is part of the North Carolina State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists and does commercial printing as well as functioning as a publishing house for church literature.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ask either of the Republican candidates or any of the three Democrats in the race who their party's gubernatorial nominee will be after next week's primary and each says, "I will."

No one is about to give up. The May 4 primary is just days away and all five candidates for governor are bubbling over with confidence as they criss cross the state to meet voters.

It has become fashionable to play the "polling game."

Republican Jim Gardner's supporters Thursday released results of a private poll showing him holding 63 per cent of the GOP primary vote against Jack Sticklely.

Before the day was out, men in Sticklely's camp had told of a poll that shows him holding 56 per cent of the vote.

The statistics can be confusing even to a school child who knows that only one man can win the GOP nomination next Saturday.

On the Democratic side, the percentages bet even more complicated because there is a three-way race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Lt. Gov. Bob Scott's supporters also have had polls taken and the latest one reportedly shows him winning the nomination with 41 per cent of the vote against 21 per cent for Mel Broughton and 14 per cent for Dr. Reginald Hawkins. The other 24 per cent of the voters are undecided.

Broughton's campaign manager released results of a poll last week that showed the Raleigh attorney would get 55 per cent of the vote with Scott and Hawkins splitting the remaining 45 per cent after subtracting a heavy percentage of undecideds.

On March 31, Hawkins said in a news conference in Greensboro that unpublished private polls showed he was the No. 1 candidate.

None of the candidates seem content to slow down on the basis of their polls. Hawkins planned to take today off from campaigning, but only so he could catch up on his dental duties in Charlotte.

Gardner's campaign schedule was stepped up today as he visited four counties in the western part of the state. He has spent much of this week alternating between his duties in Congress during the day and vote seeking in North Carolina at night.

Sticklely, with visits to Lexington and Morganton Thursday, is keeping up with a heavy schedule. At almost every stop, he continues his attack on Gardner for not flatly renouncing all support from the Ku Klux Klan.

Meanwhile, Scott was applauded by more than 2,100 persons who attended his rally in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium Thursday night.

During his speech, Scott leveled his strongest attack yet against Broughton, although he did not name him.

"One of my opponents," Scott said, "sends his children to private schools. One of them even attends an out of state private school. Still, he talks knowingly of public school education."

The reference was to Broughton. Hawkins' children attend public schools in Charlotte.

While in Raleigh, Scott also released a statement in which he said the idea of a state zoo is "appealing," but he thinks it should be located on land other than at a state park. Scott was hitting at the action of the State Board of Conservation and Development which approved a resolution this week proposing that a state zoo be located at Umstead State Park.

During the day, Broughton issued a statement on the problems of the aging and said the state must continue to review its programs now available to senior citizens.

"Employment opportunities and adequate recreational activities must be stimulated for older people," he said.

At Morganton, Hawkins continued his theme that the "white establishment" is denying the poor man a living wage, a good education, a decent house to live in and a drink of liquor. He also asserted, "I don't represent the textile and furniture interests ... And when I become governor they are going to have to pay their way."

Doctor Denies Proof Of 'Harm'

GREENSBORO (AP) — A North Carolina physician who described himself as a "country doctor" said the experts haven't proven yet that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer.

Furthermore, said Dr. Mark Lindsay of Hamlet, directors of the state unit of the American Cancer Society have told the national society that more research is needed before a definite link can be supported.

Lindsay said Tar Heel directors of the Cancer Society sent a report to national society disagreeing with the surgeon general's report linking smoking with lung cancer. That was several weeks ago, said Dr. Lindsay, but the Tar Heel unit has heard nothing from ACS headquarters.

Dr. Lindsay told newsmen in Greensboro Friday the statistics prove that lung cancer is more prevalent among cigarette smokers than it is among non-smokers, but that this does not prove that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer.

"It may be that people inclined to have cancer are more inclined to smoke," he said. "They haven't proven it, at least not to me."

Saying he had made a study of cancer research for many years, Dr. Lindsay, a member of the staff of Hamlet General Hospital, hit at one of the methods researchers used in coming up with their report that linked smoking and cancer.

"Animals have been injected with strong solutions of tobacco," he said, "and they have produced changes in the animals, but not cancer. You could do it with tomato juice."

LITTERBUG FINED
BABYLON, N.Y. (AP) — A Long Island motorist, Herbert M. Fishman of Lindenhurst, learned that freedom of the press does not include throwing a newspaper in the face of the law.

Fishman was fined $10 in Nassau District Court for littering. The newspaper Fishman threw out his car window landed on the windshield of Patrolman Richard Russell's patrol car.

ECU Announces Launching Of Its Dare Program; Summer Courses

East Carolina University announced today the beginning of its instructional program on Roanoke Island in Dare County.

As a starter, the university will offer this summer through its Division of Continuing Education (DCE) courses in drama, music, art and community relations. Dates are June 17 - Aug. 2 and tuition is $27 a course.

Any high school graduate who is eligible to return to any college or university he may have attend is eligible to enroll for the undergraduate courses in art and music. The other two courses are at the senior-graduate level and are open only to college graduates or students with senior standing.

Dr. David J. Middleton, DCE, dean, said the Dare program "provides an opportunity for all eligible individuals to attend university courses while in the Dare County area during the summer. We hope to help the residents of Eastern North Carolina with their plans for continuing and broadening their general education. This program is particularly designed for those who find it impossible to attend East Carolina University as a regular day student on the campus at Greenville."

He added, "We expect a substantial number of teachers to earn credit toward renewal of teaching certificates through these courses this summer."

The first summer's program, to be coordinated by ECU's newly-appointed Dare County director, William C. Morrisette, will offer this schedule of three quarter hour courses:

June 17-28, "Contemporary Drama" (English 314G, senior-graduate); July 8-19, "Art Appreciation" (Art 217, undergraduate); July 22-Aug. 2, "Home-School-Community Relations"

WASHINGTON (AP) — When he finally cleans out his desk at the White House President Johnson may move to a new one at the University of Texas.

The President, who has made cryptic remarks from time to time about retiring to teaching, a career he sampled as a young man, did it again Thursday.

Speaking to a group of Democratic congressional aides, he noted that he had once written an article that was published in "a magazine of the University of Texas, where I hope to teach before long."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has called for strict bonding to curb fraudulent tactics on some American salesmen preying on servicemen in Vietnam.

Every salesman operating in Vietnam should be forced to post a surety bond of at least $100,000, Young told the Senate Thursday.

GIs are being victimized, he said, by "some oily American slicksters, unscrupulous salesmen and operators." Officers too often fail to look out for the welfare of their men in these situations and sometimes accept commissions on sales made in their commands, Young charged.

All-Electric Still In Georgia Home

FRANKLIN, Ga. (AP) — An all-electric, pushbutton still was uncovered Thursday night in a 75-by-75 foot room dug beneath a patio adjoining a $35,000 luxury home.

Federal revenue agents and other law enforcement officers estimated the setup must have cost more than $10,000. The gigantic distillery was capable of producing 484 gallons of illegal whisky a day.

Two men ran from the scene. No arrests were announced.

Repeats Arrest 20 Years Later

CHICAGO (AP) — Police Lt. Emmet J. McMorrow rushed to a currency exchange and arrested a man who later was charged with armed robbery.

"Everything seemed sort of familiar," McMorrow said. It should have. He arrested the same man on the same charge in the same currency exchange 20 years ago.

NOTICE

The Pitt County Board of Equalization and Review will meet in the Commissioner's Room in the Pitt County Courthouse, Monday, May 6 at 3:00 P.M. This is for the purpose of reviewing the assessed value placed on property for the first time in 1968 in the following townships within the county:

Arthur, Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, Greenville, Grifton, Grimesland, and Winterville.

The Board of Equalization expects to complete all hearings and adjourn June 3, 1968. In the event of a later adjournment, a notice to that effect will be published in this paper.

You may examine your appraisal on file in the Pitt County Tax Department prior to the meeting of the board. If, after your examination, you feel the value placed on your property is not comparable with similar property in the county, you may present your case before the Board of Equalization and Review.

DEMOLISHED CENTRE BRICK WAREHOUSE . . . will be replaced by parking lot for Imperial Tobacco Company employees after gravel and a chain link fence is erected

Warehouse Landmark Demolished

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

One of Greenville's old landmarks, the Centre Brick Warehouse, has been demolished, leaving nothing but a vacant lot on Dickinson Avenue where the brick and wood auction house stood for more than a half-century.

No one is sure just when the warehouse was built, but official of the Imperial Tobacco Company, which purchased the property recently, said the front portion of the building was erected in the 1890s.

At least two doors in the building bore painted signs advertising Greenville saloons—one Horton's Saloon and the other Nichols Saloon (formerly at Five Points).

Bar rooms in North Carolina were closed in 1908.

Additions had been made to the auction facility over the years until the warehouse covered an estimated 60,000 square feet when workmen began the job of tearing the building down last week.

The Imperial Tobacco Company, spokesmen said, will use the lot for an employee parking lot after gravel is installed and a chain link fence is erected. Main entrance to the old building was on Dickinson Avenue at the Atlantic Avenue intersection, although the major portion of the warehouse fronted on Atlantic Avenue. A small section also fronted on Clark Street.

Use of the warehouse for tobacco auctions was discontinued several years ago and firemen considered the building a fire hazard.

McMillan New Federal Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 51-year-old Charlotte lawyer, James B. McMillan, has been appointed by President Johnson to succeed Judge Wilson Warlick as a federal judge in western North Carolina.

McMillan, whose appointment was recommended by U.S. Sens. Sam J. Ervin and B. Everett Jordan, still must be confirmed by the Senate. If he gets past that hurdle, he'll probably take office in early summer.

Warlick, 74, announced earlier this year that he would step down as a regular federal jurist after his successor takes office. Warlick, appointed to the federal bench in 1955 after 16 years as a Superior Court judge, makes his home in Newton.

McMillan is a native of Goldsboro but has practiced law in Charlotte since 1946. A graduate of the University of North Carolina in 1937, he was admitted to the bar in 1941 after completing his law degree at Harvard. He was president of the North Carolina Bar Association in 1960-1961.

Pitt Rotarians Active In Setting Up District Meet

FAYETTEVILLE—Pitt county Rotarians have been active in setting up the 1968 annual conference of District 773 of Rotary International meeting in this historic Cumberland county seat on April 28 and 29.

George W. Worley, Clinton business man, governor of the district for the 1968-69 Rotary year, has been presiding over the conference planning with the assistance of Past District Governor Charles L. McCullers of Dunn, conference chairman.

Two past district governors are members of the district executive committee, J. Irvin Morgan Jr. of Farmville and Dr. James W. Butler of Greenville. Butler also is district officer of publicity and public relations. Other district committeemen are Lee Nance of Ayden, chairman of the committee on prizes and awards; Corey Stokes of Ayden, member of the committee to select a district governor.

Note About 250 Legal Abortions

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — About 250 legal abortions now have been performed in Colorado since Gov. John Love signed a liberalized abortion law a year ago Thursday, the State Health Department reported.

Before the law was passed, the department said, it was notified of 10 to 12 abortions a year.

Bethel, hospitality; Dr. Frank Longino of Greenville, registration; Walter Stroud of Ayden, decorations. Except for Wynn, a club secretary, the other members are club presidents this year.

Harold Creech of Greenville was assigned to lead a panel on Community Service on Monday and the memorial service was conducted by Dr. Butler, district chairman on memorials. In addition to the past district governors named, Dr. C. Sylvester Green and Dr. Howard J. McGinnis of Greenville have served as district governors.

Conference committee members include: Floyd Daughtry of Farmville and Jack Wynn of

Take Student Offices At Methodist College May 6

FAYETTEVILLE — Two Greenville residents will take student government offices May 6 at Methodist College.

Barbara Hardee, class of 1971, and Milton Hadley, class of 1970, were recently elected by their respective classes as Student Government Association (S.G.A.) Senators. Miss Hardee, an English major, will be serving her second term as an S.G.A. Senator. Barbara is a 1967 graduate of J. H. Rose High School and the daughter of Mrs. Anne Lee Hardee of 210 Longmeadow Rd.

Hadley will be serving his third term as a Senator, having held the post during both his freshman and sophomore years. Active on campus, he was recently elected lieutenant governor for the central division of the Carolina District of Circle K International. He also was selected this year as a delegate to the State Student Legislature in Raleigh.

Hadley is a 1966 graduate of J. H. Rose High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hadley of 905 Greenville Blvd.

Some Television Time Still Open

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had a ready answer Thursday for Indiana Democrats who have accused him of trying to "buy" the May 7 primary.

"I want to assure you," the New York Democrat said, "We haven't bought up all the television time in Indiana. We just yesterday leased back an hour to Ed Sullivan."

Would Bar Use For Marchers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., has asked Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall to reject any applications for camping facilities on government property during the proposed "poor peoples" march on Washington.

Taylor, who represents North Carolina's 11th District, is chairman of the House National Parks and Recreation subcommittee.

He was among several House members who protested Thursday a proposal to erect temporary housing facilities on the Mall for use during the march.

Taylor demanded in a telegram to Udall that he reject any applications for camping on any Park Service lands where camping is not normally permitted.

"These public lands were set aside for the use of all citizens in America and not by a self-appointed few," Taylor said.

He was joined in the protest by Rep. Basil Whitener, D-N.C., and Rep. Robert H. Michael, R-III.

Took Two Weeks To Find A Hill

CLEMONT, Fla. (AP) — Cape Kennedy scientists have a reputation for being able to solve stupendous problems in short times. But one cropped up recently that took two weeks to crack: find a hill in Florida.

The Army was ready to test a new truck developed to lug the Pershing missile from battlefield to battlefield and found that the government demanded a hill-climbing test.

Project officials, after more than two weeks of scanning the flat Florida peninsula, finally found Scott Street in the citrus town of Clermont. It just barely met the 20-degree slope specification.

As one bystander cracked, "In Florida that's a mountain," but the new truck climbed it all right.

Judge Orders Hospital Reopen

CHICAGO (AP) — A circuit court judge Thursday ordered the reopening of a hospital which was closed on order of Mayor Richard J. Daley on charges of refusing to treat two emergency maternity cases.

Judge Edward F. Healy said the Sheridan General Hospital's services are needed in the community and it would lose accreditation while the case is pending. Daley ordered the hospital closed after an investigation into the death of a newborn infant whose mother was turned away from the hospital Feb. 2.

The last patient had left the hospital Saturday.

Reviewer Sees Excellence In Operas

(Editor's Note: Dr. Adams is an English professor at East Carolina University who regularly reviews musical events for the University News Bureau.)

By FRANK ADAMS

The two operas presented by the East Carolina University Opera Theater in the School of Music's recital hall as part of the 7th annual Contemporary Music Festival are diametrically opposite in mood but alike in the musical excellence of their production.

The first, "Maurya," the work of the University's composer-in-residence, Gregory Kosteck, receiving its first performance anywhere, is adapted from John Millington Synge's somberly stark drama "Riders to the Sea," in which a woman, who has already made sacrifices to the sea, which also paradoxically gives her family its living, makes still another sacrifice. Virginia Linn sings the central role; Patricia Hiss and Jeanne Smith, that of her two daughters, and Paul Aliapoulos, that of her son. All sing well and act with restraint.

The work, performed on a set bare except for two chairs, a table, and effectively draped fish nets, lasts only half an hour and is unified by its mood of inevitable loss and suffering.

Gregory Kosteck's music is unsentimental, rich, and stirring. It is particularly fine in its introduction of both events and characters. "Maurya" operates in a region too deep for tears.

"Angelique," by Jacques Ibert (1890-1962), the second opera on the program, is a vivid contrast: a bright, satirical (even the title is satirical), and successfully funny work. Judy Hoell sings—and acts—the title role, that of a shrew who remains untamed, with great verve. Maurice Joyner and Paul Aliapoulos make the most of less juicy roles. Daniel Butts sings The Italian beautifully; Dick Stuckey is a sight-laugh Englishman; and Steven Davis is a stately Turk.

The funniest single part of "Angelique," however, is not dramatic but musical: a brilliant burlesque of a Mozart trio, and opening night it got the applause it richly deserved.

A few cans of paint and a little imagination would have enhanced the set's contribution to the mood of "Angelique," but otherwise both operas were presented impeccably, each abetted by good lighting and costumes and excellent orchestral accompaniment.

Clyde Hiss directed both operas and conducted the orchestra. He distinguished himself in both capacities.

This is what the Republicans will be saying this fall if Mel Broughton isn't nominated this spring.

The Republicans won't have a chance against Mel Broughton. Because the people know he is a North Carolina Democrat who stands for responsible, conservative government.

But if Mel Broughton isn't nominated, the Republicans will have plenty of campaign ammunition to use against the liberal Democratic candidate.

They'll be able to say he has a record of fence straddling on important issues such as open housing, taxes on tobacco and liquor by the drink.

The Republicans also will be able to say their opponent shifts his position depending on where and to whom he is speaking, and that the only consistent thing about him is his inconsistency.

It wouldn't really matter if the Republicans said all this next fall.

If it weren't true.

Pirates Down Wilmington; Pack Stops Phants

Bucs Get Revenge For Two Defeats

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
East Carolina University got its revenge yesterday as it took a 3-1 victory over a tough Wilmington College baseball team.

Winchester walked and George Sweat slapped his first hit of the year, scoring Snyder and moving Winchester to third.

Hughes got himself out of trouble in the fifth. Harold Flinchum singled and was sacrificed to second and then Hughes hit Sandy Dew.

Then the Bucs struck for the lead. Dick Corrada led off the fifth, reaching on an error.

From there, the game settled down until the seventh, when East Carolina scored its third run.

The Pirates will hit the road next week for three important Southern Division, Southern Conference games.

Wilmington used the win and a slip to bring in their only run in the top of the second.

In the third, Wilmington had another threat. Sam Askew reached on a fielder's choice, stole second and took third on a wild pitch with two out.

East Carolina got back in the game in the fourth inning. Snyder led it off, beating out a bunt down the third base line.

Table with 2 columns: Wilmington and East Carolina. Rows include player names and statistics like AB, R, H, RBI.

Phantoms Edge Patriots By Point In Track Meet

Rose High School's track team, reeling from the loss of its number one weight man to a knee injury, had to struggle to hold off West Carteret yesterday in a four-way meet.

The Phants, who lost shot put and discus leader Richard Tucker last week, caught the Patriots late in the meet and pulled ahead by as much as 10 points, before finally taking a 64 1/2 to 63 1/2 victory over West Carteret.

It was the final meet before the conference meet, to be held here next Thursday. Rose and New Bern both tied for the regular season title, both losing one, to each other.

The conference meet, however, is expected to be a three-way battle between New Bern, Rose and West Carteret for the title. Rose is the defending champion.

Rose pulled into the lead after the low hurdles, by a slim four points, and then moved out by 10 with the running of the 880.

But the Phants saw their lead cut back to eight in the discus and then to three in the 220 before the final mile relay event.

West Carteret won that event, but Rose managed a second over Havelock to hold a one-point edge in the meet.

Washington Surprises Rose, 7-0; Dulls Hopes

By SONNY McLAHWORN
Reflector Sports Writer
Sophomore Zeno Edwards flipped a one-hitter at Rose High here Thursday, and led Washington to a 7-0 win.

In denying the Phantoms a "must" conference win, Edwards struck out six batters and walked four.

The Pam Pack used a four-run seventh inning to build their big victory margin.

Catcher Russ Cayton got the only hit off Edwards, a slow dribbler down the third base line.

Washington collected two runs in the first inning. Edwards led off with an infield single. Then with two outs, Phil Fleming got another infield safety. Sidney Tetterton lifted a triple over the centerfielder's head to drive in two runs.

The Phants threatened in the bottom of the second, loading the bases with but one out. But a double play ended the frame—and the Rose threat.

Scott Hardy led off in the third for the Pac Pack, drawing a walk. Two more walks pushed the Washington second sacker to third, where he scored on a passed ball.

It looked as though Edwards' no-hitter might be cracked in the fourth, as third baseman Ken Beamon hit the ball in the hole behind second, but shortstop Chuck Warren came up with a fine play to nip Beamon at first.

The Pam Pack loaded the bases again in the fifth, but a strike-out and an easy grounder sent Washington back into the field.

In the sixth, Cayton got the lone hit off Edwards. But the Washington southpaw tamed the next two hitters.

The Pam Pack finally got to Rose reliever Mike Aldridge in the seventh inning. Fleming led off with an infield hit, his second of the day. Tetterton singled to drive in Fleming, who had stolen second. Herman Gaskins' single drove in Tetterton. Then Jim Buckman walked. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and scored on Edwards' Texas leaguer to right field.

Beamon started for the Phants. The righthander gave up three runs on four hits.

Aldridge entered in relief in the third. He pitched hitless baseball until the final frame, when the Pack reached him for four runs on three hits.

Aldridge struck out 12 batters, while walking five.

It was the third loss of the season for Rose.

Table with 2 columns: Washington and Rose. Rows include player names and statistics like AB, R, H, RBI.

Annual Purple-Gold Game Set For Saturday

Kinston Draws Close To Title

The Kinston Red Devils continue to roll merrily along atop the Northeastern Conference standings with just about three weeks left to play.

The Devils won three games since last week as they downed Washington on Thursday, April 18, 6-4 as Mike Edwards won his sixth straight game of the year. Following that the men of Paul Jones downed Elizabeth City last Friday 7-3 as Harvey Hill chalked up his third straight win and they won their 12th straight game with a 4-1 victory over East Carteret on Tuesday as Riggs also won his third straight game.

The only team with an outside chance of catching Kinston, the Rose High Phantoms kept pace but still trail the leaders by 2½ games.

Two sterling pitching performances for Coach Russ Cotton's club kept them in the race. Last Friday, sophomore southpaw Russ Smith hurled a one hitter as the Phantoms downed Tarboro 6-0. The only hit Smith allowed was on a batted ball that hit a base runner early in the game. Outside of that, Smith was invincible as he won his 2nd win of the year. On Tuesday, righthander Lee Galt won his fourth game of the season as he handcuffed Havelock 3-0 for his second shutout of the season.

The New Bern Bears finally broke a four game losing streak Tuesday as they upended Washington 5-1 as O. A. Adams remained undefeated with four victories. Last Friday the Bears had lost their fourth in a row as Roanoke Rapids shut them out 6-0 behind Danny Carpenter who evened his record at 2-2.

The Havelock Rams have moved into fourth place despite the fact they split their two games this week. The Rams nipped Washington 4-3 last Friday as Vaughan Strum won his first game of the year and Steve Melkonian cracked out his second homer to tie for the league lead with Dick Tuttle of New Bern. Billy Drake couldn't hold Rose on Tuesday as the Rams lost 3-0.

Everyone else split except East Carteret as the Mariners dropped down to ninth place in league standings. Gary Lewis lost two games this week as West Carteret beat him 7-2 and Kinston 4-1.

The Tarboro Tigers saw Bo Robinson split a pair of games. The southpaw lost to Rose High on Friday 6-0 but came back to win his fifth of the year over West Carteret on Tuesday 4-3.

John Turnage won his second game for West Carteret as they beat East Carteret 7-2 but Mike Bradshaw lost his third straight to Tarboro 4-3 on Tuesday.

Both the Yellow Jackets split as Roanoke Rapids downed New Bern behind Danny Carpenter and lost to Elizabeth City and David Brinson.

On Friday East Carteret visits Roanoke Rapids, Elizabeth City will be at New Bern, Havelock at West Carteret and Tarboro at Kinston. Washington played at Rose on Thursday.

Next Tuesday, April 30, Tarboro is at Roanoke Rapids, East Carteret at New Bern, Washington at Elizabeth City, Rose at West Carteret and Havelock at Kinston.

Slump Is Keeping Teams Square Off At 2 In Stanky In Shape

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The White Sox still haven't won any baseball games this season, and the slump is keeping Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky in terrific shape.

Stanky spent 20 minutes walking briskly from foul line to foul line in Minnesota's Metropolitan Stadium Thursday, swinging a leaded bat and mulling over his club's latest loss—a 3-2 tangle against the Twins.

He started his post-game stroll routine last Saturday when the Sox dropped their seventh straight. Now the streak is up to 10 for winless Chicago, and Stanky is still walking.

In Thursday's only other game, the Chicago Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-2 as Ron Santo poked a pair of home runs.

All other major league teams had the day off.

"How am I holding up?" Stanky said, repeating a newsman's question. "Great."

Then he strolled off to the trainer's room to lie down for several more minutes.

It was the kind of loss that required long meditation. Chicago ace Gary Peters allowed just three hits—but all of them in a row in the third inning when the Twins got all their runs. "The way we're going," Peters said, "you make one bad pitch, and it costs you."

And what made it even tougher for Stanky to swallow was that an old teammate from his New York Giant days was the hero for the Twins.

Rubber-armed Al Worthington came out of the bullpen and saved Jim Perry's victory. Worthington loaded the bases with none out in the seventh on two singles and a walk, then struck out Pete Ward, Tommy Davis and Russ Snyder, retiring the side.

The Twins' three-run rally started with two out when Perry walked on a 3-2 pitch. Cesar Tovar and Tony Oliva followed with doubles and Harmon Killebrew singled.

The White Sox scored twice in the fifth when Peters, Ken Berry and Ward singled and Davis delivered a sacrifice fly.

Chicago left 11 runners on base and one manager in the outfield.

Santo's two homers drove in three runs and supported Ferguson Jenkins' seven-hitter as the Cubs trimmed the Braves.

Atlanta's only runs came on homers by Bob Tillman and Felipe Alou.

Santo connected with the bases empty in the fourth against Ken Johnson and then sparked a three-run rally with his second shot in the eighth.

Teams Square Off At 2 In Ficklen; Expect Close Game

East Carolina University's footballers wind up their spring workouts Saturday with the annual Purple-Gold game. The contest is slated for Ficklen Stadium with game time at 2 p.m.

The contest will pit the first offensive and defense unit, the Gold Team, against the reserves, the Purple, but the coaches are not sure that all of those on the Purple are content to be subs.

"Right now, as of the end of spring drills, the Gold boys are the starters," Coach Clarence Stasavich said. "But there are some of last year's starters who are not playing in the game either because of injuries or because they are out for other sports."

"Every year, two or three will decide that they can beat out the starters, and they do it in the fall workouts, so a lot can happen between now and then. What they do in the game will also count on where they rank when fall drills start."

Stasavich feels that the team is ready for the game, and that both units will manage several scores. "I don't think it will be a runaway," he said.

A total of five lettermen will not see action in the game. Worth Springs is working on the books, Mike Bridges and Don Tyson are injured, and Bill Cothran and Stuart Garrett are out for spring sports.

Others on the injured list include Bernie Braak, Jim Brown, George Gay, Charles Swanner and Bryan McClure. Out for baseball is Dick Corrada, while Jim Flowe joins Springs in working on the books for the quarter.

"We have to replace seven offensive starters and five on the defensive team," Stasavich said. The offensive losses include center Jimmy Shuffler, guard John Schwarz, tackle Kevin Moran, end Paul Schnurr, tailback Neil Hughes, blocking back Nelson Gravatt and wingback Tom Grant.

"The big job is to replace the linemen," Stasavich said.

"They were very good blockers, and they make the holes for the backs to go through." Among these was Southern Conference Player of the Year Butch Colson, who will be at the fullback slot. The rising junior is pegged as an All-American candidate.

Moving into the vacant slots are Bill Tucker at center, senior reserve Dave Hamilton at guard, Walter Adams at tackle and senior reserve Bob Withrow at end.

Dennis Young has been looking good at the tailback slot, while Charlie Overton now has the backing assignment. But Stasavich notes that Jim Gudger, who'll be on the Purple, is pressing him. Tommy Bullock, who saw a little action last year, has the wingback slot.

In the backfield, Tood Hicks was replaced by moving Dwight Flanagan to the left side, moving rover Mike Boaz to right halfback, and putting Jeff Dudley in at rover.

The complete offensive lineup for the Gold has Jim Adkins and Bob Withrow at ends, David Brill and Walter Adams at tackles, Ben Grieb and Dave Hamilton at guards, Bill Tucker at center, Dennis Young at tailback, Tommy Bullock at wingback, Charlie Overton at blocking back and Butch Colson at fullback.

The Gold defensive unit will have Roger Bost and John Elrod at ends, Wayne Lineberry and David Roberts at tackles, Purple has Pete Ribbins and Danny Wilmer at ends, Tim Tyler and Jamie Louis at tackles, Earl Burton and Stuart Laney at guards, Terry Edmundson at center, Bill Wightman at tailback, George Whitley at wingback, Mike Guirk at fullback and Jim Gudger at blocking back.

The defensive unit for the Purple has Don Britton and Tom Pulley at ends, John Morris and Phil Bodeau at tackles, Alex Monroe and Wilbur Sasser at guards, Mike Baker at line-backer, Howard Rothrock at rover, Bill Wightman and Mike Mills at halfbacks and Dennis Hewston at safety.

Proceeds from the game will go to the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Putting Answer To Tough Course

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A tough course and difficult playing conditions don't worry the golf tour half as much as bumpy putters.

In fact, Gary Player, the man from South Africa who has gotten rich in American golf, says there's just no need to even talk about high winds that do things with your ball when your putting is on the beam.

He illustrated his point by the four-under-par 66 that showed he was leading the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic by one stroke going into the second round.

He got solid backing in giving putting the major emphasis by four fellows who were just behind him.

Miller Barber of Sherman, Tex.; Harold Henning of South Africa, and Jack Montgomery of Fort Worth, Tex., all shot 67 and each told about how their putters put them over.

Barber got his three birdies with putts of 18, 35 and 30 feet. Henning used only 28 putts to go around the 7,086-yard Preston Trail course that was swept by winds ranging up to 36 miles per hour.

Montgomery had two 50-footers in his birdie string.

Illness and injury took a bigger toll than the tough course and high wind as eight players dropped out, including such fellows as Julius Boros, Johnny Pott, Sam Snead, Art Wall and Steve Reid, who had just won the Azalea Open.

AL Expansion Slowing Down

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League, which made tracks over the National League in expanding to 12 teams for 1969, now is slowed down in those tracks.

The Nationals were miffed when the Americans voted last winter without mutual consultation to admit Seattle and re-treaded Kansas City to membership next season.

It forced the Nationals to advance their expansion plans, originally targeted for not later than 1971, to 1969 also. They now are pondering the selection of two new cities from among San Diego, Milwaukee, Dallas-Fort Worth, Buffalo and Montreal.

The Nationals will meet in mid-May presumably to vote on the two new franchises.

Until this is done, the Americans consider themselves stymied in their decision to split their league in two six-team divisions next year with playoffs to determine the circuit's pennant winner and World Series representative.

At an American League owners meeting Thursday, President Joe Cronin said that the brass wants divisional play in 1969 but scheduling action has

Goldsboro Nine Downs Rams

GOLDSBORO — Greene Central fell to Goldsboro, 6-2, here yesterday in a non-conference baseball game.

Goldsboro jumped into the lead in the first inning, pushing a lone run across, but Greene Central came back to tie it up in the top of the third.

But the Earthquakes set them down in the bottom of the third with two more runs for a 3-1 edge, which Greene Central could not overcome. Sugg led off the frame with a walk and Narron singled. Wolfskeil then doubled to drive in both runs.

Goldsboro went on to pick up one more in the fourth and two in the fifth. Greene Central got its other run in the fourth.

Narron led Goldsboro at the plate with three hits, including a double, while a double by Robert Speight was the big hit for the Rams.

Detroit Mayor Says Poverty Report Misleads

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit took issue Thursday with an April 10 Associated Press article about operations of the city's antipovertry program.

The article was written by Dick Barnes and Gaylord Shaw of Washington, members of the AP Special Assignment Team, who spent three weeks in Detroit studying the program.

Cavanagh said the article contained "false, misleading and distorted" criticisms and announced that a detailed report would be sent to congressmen and Michigan legislators to "clear up innuendos and half-truths" in the dispatch.

The mayor cited a report by the city's antipovertry director, Richard Simmons, which claimed that the AP article had contained "incorrect statements" about the program.

Mayor Cavanagh particularly disputed this statement in the AP report: "By the antipovertry agency's own admission, only 53,283 persons were participating in its programs at the end of last year."

Calling this "the most distorted criticism," Mayor Cavanagh said the 53,283 figure "actually represented the services provided during a three-month period—October, November and December, 1967—alone."

In addition to identifying the 53,283 as participants "at the end of last year," the AP article pointed out that the figure came from a quarterly report. It said: "The figures, contained in an unpublished quarterly report, represent barely 15 per cent of the 349,718 poor people in the agency's target area."

Antipovertry Director Simmons, in his report to the mayor, claimed that 80,000 people had been served by the program in 1967.

Asked by a newsmen to explain Simmons' report, Brian Hodges, spokesman for the antipovertry agency—the Mayor's Committee for Human Resources Development—said the 80,000 figure was an estimate.

He said the quarterly figure of 53,283 was obtained through a computerized method of assembling data on individuals that went into effect only during the last quarter of the year.

"This is the only three-month period that the computer system has been operative," Hodges said. "This is being done nationwide but information in Detroit is way ahead of any community action program.

"In the past there was no machinery set up for recording this kind of data." The 80,000 figure, Hodges said, was based "on estimates that were available prior to the computer system report."

He said the 53,283 figure cited by the AP represented "services" rendered during the last quarter of 1967, and that some persons received more than one service. He said Simmons reported that 31,564 individuals were recorded as having come into the program during that period.

The AP reporters said the agency's quarterly report—a standard "administration program progress report" to the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity—listed the 53,283 figure under a column headed "total No. CAP (Community Action Program) participants" with a parenthetical "Actual" and a footnote that reads: "Total number of individuals participating in one or more CAP program accounts in manpower, education, housing, health and community services. Each individual should be counted only once."

Antipovertry Director Simmons also disputed the AP report that "the figures represent barely 15 per cent of the 349,718 poor people in the agency's target areas."

Further, it is erroneous to state that the total population of the target areas are poor."

Simmons said only 30 per cent of the people in the areas, roughly 118,500, are poor enough to meet federal standards for the antipovertry program (i.e., an annual income of no more than $1,600 for individuals. The figure goes up on a sliding scale to a maximum of $7,800 a year for a family of 12).

As to the number of eligible poor in Detroit, the President's Commission on Civil Disorders contended that $12.6 million spent on four Community Action Programs in the city "averaged approximately $35 for each poor person." This would figure out to 360,000 poor.

Suggests DMZ As Parley Site

PLYMOUTH—Reece B. Gardner, Republican candidate for Congress from the First District, has suggested the Demilitarized Zone of Vietnam as a site for peace talks.

Gardner spoke at a Republican rally in the Washington County Courthouse here last night.

"It is my belief that the logical site for these talks is the Demilitarized Zone of Vietnam," Gardner said. "By using this area, we will have a location which should be agreeable to both sides. Also, it would turn this area into a peace zone rather than a war zone, and would by necessity greatly lessen the extent to which this war is now being waged. It would also test the good faith of those involved in the talks."

Gardner said he had sent telegrams to Pres. Johnson, Sec. Rusk and Pres. Ho Chi Minh urging consideration of the site.

No 'Do-Gooder' Role For Actor Greg Peck

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'm not a do-gooder," said Gregory Peck with emphasis. "It embarrasses me to be classified as a humanitarian. I simply take part in the activities that I am interested in."

The actor was commenting on his receipt of the Motion Picture Academy's Jean Hersholt Award for humanitarian service. While he felt honored, he sought to escape any do-good connotation. That is an image he does not seek.

Peck had just been interviewed on the set of his new Western, "The Stalking Moon," by an Argentine correspondent who asked him: "Why do so many of your pictures have a social message?" "I had to tell her," Peck reported afterward, "that of the 40 pictures I have made, only 'Gentleman's Agreement,' 'To Kill a Mockingbird' and possibly 'On the Beach' carried any kind of social message. The rest were Westerns, comedies, war pictures and straight adventure stories like 'The Guns of Navarone.'"

Despite his disclaimers, Peck in recent years has devoted an uncommon amount of time and energy to causes for which he feels concern.

Among them: The Motion Picture Relief Fund. He has been chairman of the drive to raise $15 million in 15 years to support the industry's ill and aged. Six million has been collected in the first two years.

The American Cancer Society. Two years ago he was chairman of the annual fund drive and spent four months touring 28 cities to raise $50 million.

The National Endowment for the Arts. Peck served a two-year term on the committee aimed at spreading culture through the nation.

The Inner City Repertory Theater. He has been a guiding force in the Los Angeles stage company which offers excellent productions to school children and adult patrons.

Peck also serves on the executive council of the Los Angeles

Music Center, as vice president of the San Diego County Theater Arts Council, and as an adviser to the new American Film Institute, which attempts to preserve the past and promote the future of film in this country. All this plus his presidency of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

A public conscience is nothing new to Greg Peck.

"In 1948, I stood up in Gilmore Stadium (in Los Angeles) and spoke out for Harry Truman at a time when nobody thought he had a chance to win," he recalled. He has since lent his support to other Democratic candidates and causes, but he admitted, "I don't think such support does a damn bit of good."

With a wry smile he pointed out that he supported Pierre Salinger in his unsuccessful bid for the Senate against George Murphy. "I will support the Democratic nominee for president," Peck said, "but I have decided that it is a mistake to get involved in primaries."

That led to the inevitable question: Will he follow Murphy and Ronald Reagan into active politics? Before the question could be posed, Peck replied with a firm: "No." His reason: "It has never interested me."

Speaks Sunday To Fellowship

The Rev. Manuel Robert Holland will speak to the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship at the Y-Hut on the East Carolina University campus Sunday at 8 p.m.

The executive secretary for the Thomas Jefferson District of the Unitarian Universalists Association, which includes some 44 churches, will speak on "Some Theses on High Priority Challenges for Our Movement."

Born in Hazleton, Penn., and reared in Western North Carolina, near Franklinton, Rev.

REV. MANUEL HOLLAND

Holland attended Boston University where he received his A.B. degree, then studied at B.D. Tufts University and Crane Theological School.

He has served as minister at Bald Creek Methodist Church, Bald Creek; Groton Unitarian Church, Groton, Mass.; and First Parish in Framingham, Unitarian Universalist, Framingham, Mass. He has also been director of public relations, Unitarian Church of the Larger Fellowship.

The minister has also served as a member of the Department of Research and Strategy of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, and has been chairman of the Southern New England Regional Council Social Relations Committee.

Preceding Rev. Holland's presentation will be a supper at 5:30 p.m. followed by election of officers for the 1968-69 school year.

Also at the 7:30 business session will be the presentation of a resolution calling for the establishment of a Martin Luther King Jr. Committee for Social Justice.

Class Sponsored Tea Wednesday

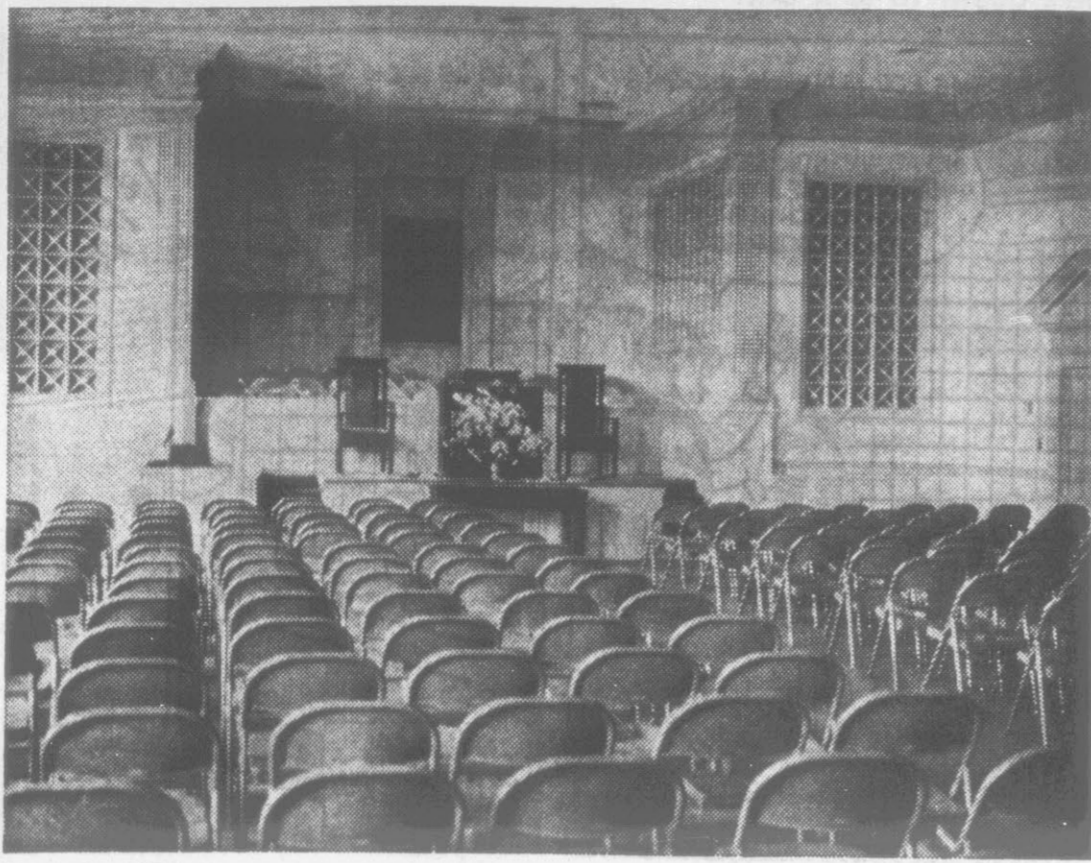

The Office Occupations Class of J. H. Rose High School sponsored a tea Wednesday in honor of National Secretaries Week, April 22-27.

Guests at the affair included the 1968-69 school year's Office Occupations class and the employers of the girls now holding public jobs as members of the class.

Theme of the week is "Better Secretaries Mean Better Business."

Office occupations class members, under the direction of Mrs. Clara Carr, do various jobs for teachers, and students at Rose High, and aid local organizations.

This working time provides the girls with an opportunity to be confronted with various types of situations that could occur in a business office and adds to their experience.

THE OAKMONT BAPTIST CHURCH . . . which was recently completed will be dedicated in services Sunday. Shown is the inside of the fellowship hall, which is being used as a temporary sanctuary.

Oakmont Baptist Church To Observe Fourth Anniversary

Oakmont Baptist Church will observe its fourth anniversary with a day of dedication Sunday. Speakers for the morning worship hour will be Dr. Perry Crouch, executive secretary of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and Marse Grant, editor of the Biblical Recorder.

On April 26, 1964, the Oakmont Baptist Church was organized with 39 members. It now has a membership of 291.

The new building, located on a seven-acre plot on Red Banks Road, was entered Oct. 15, 1967. It contains a fellowship hall serving as a temporary sanctuary, a kitchen, offices, a children's wing, and a youth-adult area. This first unit has 16,000 square feet. The entire building is of Williamsburg Colonial design.

Serving on the building committee during the construction of the building were E. E. Rawl, chairman, Billy Davis, Melvin Hathaway, A. B. Whitely Jr., Mrs. Vernon Tyson, Dr. Robert L. Holt, Dee W. Vinson, Kenneth Mercer, and Fred Daniel.

The general contractor for the church building was Chapin Construction Company, Greenville, and the architect was Haskins and Rice of Raleigh.

The Campbell College choir, directed by Dr. Paul Yoder, will conclude the day of dedication with a concert of sacred music at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Formal open house is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, May 19.

The pastor, Tommy J. Payne, and the congregation of Oakmont Baptist Church extend an invitation to the public to attend this day of dedication.

Press Meeting Begins Today

MURFREESBORO, N. C. (AP) — The Eastern North Carolina Press Association will begin a two-day meeting today in Murfreesboro.

Parker Brothers Inc., or Ashokie were hosts for today's events and the Chowan College School of Graphic Arts will be host for Saturday's meeting. The theme is "Today and Tomorrow in Newspaper Mechanical Production."

Newspaper publishers, editors, staff members, including mechanical production employees from the Carolinas, Georgia and Virginia were invited to two sessions.

Revival To Have Student Leaders

The high school students of Arlington Street Baptist Church will lead the revival service tonight at 7:30 in an effort to involve young people in a service of commitment to Christ.

The Rev. A. D. Frazier, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Grifton, is the guest speaker. He will be speaking especially to the young people.

A personal testimony of his life in Christ will be given by Stephen Moore, worship leader for the evening. He is the chairman of the Youth Council at Arlington Street. The Youth Council is sponsoring this special service.

The special music will be a duet by Pam Hinnant and Stephen Moore featuring a solo part by Pam Hinnant. The duet will be accompanied by Linda Shearin on the organ. Miss Hinnant is also the music leader of the evening.

Scripture will be read and prayer led by Marcia James and Sidney Shearin. The youth ushers will greet the people as they arrive. They will be led by Grover McGlohon.

Revival Services Begin April 28

WINTERVILLE — Revival services will be held at the Immanuel Free Will Baptist Church April 28 through May 4.

REV. GENE PARISHER

The Rev. Gene Parisher, pastor of the First Free Will Baptist Church, Washington, will conduct the services.

The Rev. Neil Hearn, pastor, and members of the local church invites the public to attend. Services will begin nightly at 7:45.

Dr. Humber To Be Forum Speaker

Dr. Robert L. Humber, a world-wide statesman, will be the speaker for the BTU Forum of Memorial Baptist Church Sunday night at 7:00.

Dr. Humber's subject will be "War, Is It Inevitable, Is It Justified?"

The public is invited to attend the evening worship at 6:00 p.m. and the fellowship at 6:30 p.m.

Memorial Baptist Church is located at Fourth and Greene Streets and the Rev. Percy B. Upchurch is pastor.

Charge Driver In Thursday Wreck

Judith Ann Feuerriegel, 21 of Alexandria, Va., was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 7:45 p.m. mishap yesterday.

Police reported the Feuerriegel vehicle collided with a car driven by Harry Finn Kelly, 43, of 1904A East 14th St.

Damage to the Kelly auto was set at $160 while damage to the Feuerriegel car was set at $100.

There have been eight English King Edwards since the Norman Conquest and three before that.

Ministers And Workers Meeting Under Way Here

The 47th annual Ministers and Workers Meeting of the Church of God in Christ of Greater North Carolina is being held at Wells Chapel Church of God in Christ here.

The state-wide meeting, which began Wednesday, will continue through May 1.

The session opened Wednesday with a musical program by local, and visiting choirs from various parts of the state, under the direction of elder Leroy Woolard, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, Plymouth.

Bishop Wyoming Wells, pastor of the local Wells Chapel Church is presiding bishop of the Church of God in Christ of Greater North Carolina and is general overseer of the meeting here.

Devotional services are being held during the week-long meeting and nightly radio programs are being broadcast over WNCN.

Officials of the meeting expect this to be the largest session ever held by the church in this state. One of the main highlights of the conference will be a state musical extravaganza Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Choirs from all over the state will be present to participate in the program.

Morning, afternoon and evening meetings are scheduled each day and sessions are open to the general public. Officials said Greenville area residents and persons in surrounding counties are invited to attend.

RE-ELECT VINSON BRIDGERS

STATE SENATE

(4th District — Pitt, Halifax, Warren & Edgecombe)

Vinson Bridgers is an experienced legislator, having served in the 1967 Session of the the General Assembly. He served on numerous Senate Committees including, Appropriations, Courts & Judicial Districts, Judiciary I, Higher Education, Public Utilities, Manufacturing, Salaries & Fees, Local Government, Wildlife, Propositions & Grievances & Federal & Interstate Relations. Vinson Bridgers fought for separate University status for East Carolina University. He was co-introducer of the bill. He opposed a tax on tobacco. With his legislative experience and ability, Vinson Bridgers is eminently qualified to represent the people of the Fourth District.

VINSON BRIDGERS WILL WORK FOR YOU

"Those three are always together," remarked Lisa's mother. She was referring to her little daughter, who is seldom seen without her beloved collie, and her well-worn rag doll. They are constant companions.

"Lisa is very sensitive about friends," her mother continued. "And this week she came home from Sunday School with a very important lesson. Her teacher told her about God's love, and how He never leaves us, Lisa came skipping into the house and announced, 'Now I have three good friends, and the best one of all is Jesus.'"

Little Lisa had indeed learned a wonderful truth. All of us need to discover it for our own lives. For every life needs the companionship of God. Let your church bring this hope and promise to you.

tiring after being buffeted this week by reports and rumors concerning selection of a site for the Vietnam peace talks. Also dampening sentiment were the U.S. foreign trade deficit in March and prospects of a drop in housing starts because of rising interest rates.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 323.3, with industrials off 1.6, rails off .2 and utilities up .3.

McDonnell Douglas ran into profit taking after its run up on news that United Air Lines had chosen its version of the air bus, expected to produce huge sums in contracts over the next decade.

Losses exceeding a point were taken by Du Pont, U.S. Gypsum, Texaco, Control Data and Raytheon.

M-G-M was up more than a point in response to further reports about the chances of another struggle for control.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in vigorous trading.

Big Jump Noted In Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent in March, the biggest jump in eight months, the government said today.

Some 43 million American workers thus suffered a loss of purchasing power despite record high wages.

Prices the past six months have been rising at an annual rate of four per cent, the highest in 17 years, said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

But he said he doubted there will be any government move toward price controls, such as were imposed during the Korean War when prices were rising even faster than now.

"It seems almost out of the question, with the prospects for peace in Vietnam, that price controls would be instituted at this time," Chase said.

John Adams and John Quincy Adams were the only father and son to become presidents.

Cox
Mr. Lester Cox died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Monday afternoon after a brief illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Good Hope F. W. B. Church Sunday at 4 p. m. by his pastor, Rev. W. H. Mitchell. Burial will be in the Corey Cemetery.

The remains will lie in state at the Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home. Mr. Cox, son of Lester Cox and the late Lena Cox, spent all of his life in Pitt County and was employed at Pitt Memorial Hospital. He was a deacon of Good Hope F. W. B. Church, a member of the Winterville Masonic Lodge No. 232, member of the Willing Worker's Club, and a member of the Senior Choir and the Male Chorus.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mamie Crimes Cox of the home; five daughters, Mrs. Barbara Burney, Deloris, Valley Mae, Camilla and Lena Mae Cox, all of the home; five sons, Lester Cox of New York, William Earl Cox of New Haven, Conn. Earnest Lee Cox of Winterville, Thomas Cox of New York City and Michiel Ray Cox of the home; 10 grandchildren; his grandmother, Mrs. Viola Brown of Bklyn, New York; eight aunts; and four uncles.

Wilson
Mr. John Thomas Wilson, 43,

died suddenly in Norfolk, Virginia, Thursday afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Sunday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. John R. Little, pastor of the Community Baptist Church near Ayden. Burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery.

Mr. Wilson, a native of Pitt County, was born and reared near Ayden and attended the Grifton and Vanceboro schools. He served in the United States Army during World War II and was in the European theatre. A mechanic, he was employed with the Civil Service at Cherry Point from 1948 to 1960 and for the past years had been living in Norfolk, Virginia.

Surviving are two daughters: Misses Dianne Lynn and Janice Marie Wilson, both of Greenville; his mother, Mrs. Cora L. Wilson of Ayden; and a brother, Bruce D. Wilson of Ayden.

Kuo
Dr. Jang Kuo, 31, assistant Professor of Chemistry at East Carolina University, died at his home, 2505 E. Fifth Street, Wednesday. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Dr. Kuo, a native of China, received a B. S. Degree from National Taiwan University in Formosa in 1958, a M. S. Degree from Louisiana State University in 1963 and a Ph. D. Degree from Louisiana State University in 1966. He had been assistant professor in Chemistry at East Carolina University since 1966.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Honita Sung Kuo; his parents: Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Kuo of Formosa; a brother, I. Tung Kuo of Formosa; and two sisters: Miss Yolanda Kuo of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Catherine Chang of New York City, New York.

Mobley
Funeral services for Sgt. Jenies I. Mobley, 24, will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Sunday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. Robert Johnson, pastor of Riverview Baptist Church near Washington. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park. Military honors will be accorded at the grave.

Sgt. Mobley spent all his life in the Grimesland Community and was graduated from the Grimesland High School in 1962. He entered the U. S. Army in October, 1966, and had been in Vietnam three months.

Surviving are his wife, the former Linda Kay Morgan of near Washington; and his parents: Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mobley of near Grimesland.

Thirty-one states now have mandatory motor vehicle inspection laws which require inspections at least once a year.
