Itemize Demands For Poor People

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Poor People's Campaign got off to a late start today as organizers outlined a series of strong demands for the Department of Agriculture.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy and his "Committee of 100" advance scouts for the campaign were more than an hour and a half late for their first activity, a 9 a.m. meeting with Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Their four-page list of agriculture demands included abolition of subsidies to large farmers for not growing crops, support of farm workers' rights to collective bargaining, and revision of the food stamp program so that persons too poor to buy stamps can get them free.

"The existence of hunger and malnutrition in this country is an incontestable fact," said a committee statement.

"That hunger exists is a national disgrace. That so little has been done in the past year by the Department of Agriculture to alleviate the known conditions is shocking."

The statement said that of 800 counties identified the department as among the nation's poorest, about 300 have no food stamp program.

It called such conditions "inexcusable," and criticized the department for returning $220 million of unspent appropriations to the Treasury Department.

The Poor People's Campaign could become the nation's largest and longest camp-in.

It would have to get a lot larger than originally planned to beat the estimated 15,000 veterans who camped on Capitol Hill in 1932, demanding their veterans bonuses be paid 13 years ahead of schedule. But campaign organizers, here for three days of preliminary negotiating with government leaders, said Sunday they think it might be bigger.

Support among the poor has proven so strong, they said, that they've turned from their original goal of 3,000 tent dwellers to talk of "hundreds of thousands" of demonstrators camped all over Washington.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, who took over as president of the sponsoring Southern Christian Leadership Conference after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated April 4, has scheduled talks today through Wednesday with federal department heads, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The thought of hundreds of thousands of people, mostly Negroes, streaming into tent cities before the nation's capital has had time to recover from its take pains to emphasize their belief in nonviolence.

Almost nobody is neutral about the idea. Some Senate leaders have denounced it, while others say the poor should be welcomed. Businessmen are reducing inventories and duplicating vital records.

Police have laid plans for possible disturbances. And in the storefront headquarters of SCLC, a small army of volunteers works hard at sorting out last-minute details.

Nothing much is expected to happen until May 13. That's when Abernathy, convinced that his pleas for a guaranteed annual income and housing, job and education guarantees will fall on deaf ears, expects to lead the first wave of his thousands of marchers into Washington. And then?

Final Hectic Week Is Begun By Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three Democrats and two Republicans, each hoping to gain the highest political office in North Carolina, enter the last week of campaigning today before the May 4 gubernatorial primary.

As a prelude to the final hectic week, three of the candidates held mass rallies Saturday night.

An estimated 4,000 persons piled onto the grounds of Lt. Gov. Bob Scott's Haw River farm to eat free barbecue and meet the Democratic candidate. Scott delivered his "Program of Progress" speech, interspersed with homey reminiscences about his family home, Melville Farms.

"My roots grow deep in this land," Scott said. "This is where I draw my strength, as North Carolina draws her strength from her people."

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, the state's first Negro candidate for governor, held a rally in Raleigh Saturday featuring the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, who took over the reins of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Abernathy told the crowd of 1,100 they have the opportunity to make a memorial to King by voting for Hawkins in the upcoming Democratic primary.

"The greatest tribute you can pay—it's not enough to build statues and monuments to Martin Luther King—is to prove to his assassins or assassins that they are not going to stop us from our goals," he said.

Republican Jack Stickley, hosting at an outside barbecue at Jamestown, told his audience he would, if elected, create a state department of urban affairs, "a voice of the cities and of the people."

Stickley's proposal included legislation to allow consolidation of cities with counties and local option sales taxes.

The other Republican hopeful, Jim Gardner, swung through five Tar Heel counties Saturday, urging his supporters to "rise above mudslinging and stick with the issues."

Touring Alamance, Rockingham, Guilford, Stokes and Surry counties, Gardner repeatedly stressed the theme of party unity.

Democrat Mel Broughton wound up the next-to-last week with an address before 250 supporters in Monroe. During the program one of Broughton's campaign officials accused Bob Scott of spending money too freely as lieutenant governor.

Ed Knox of Charlotte, Broughton's Mecklenburg County manager, said Scott's expenses for his first year in office totaled $12,450. He said this was $8,000 more than Scott's predecessor had spent. Broughton, who spoke after Knox, did not refer to the statement.

Columbia U. Protestors Blocked

NEW YORK (AP) — An impatient faction of the Columbia University student body tightened today a blockade to squeeze off a protest by fellow students that has disrupted the Ivy League school for a week.

Columbia called off classes again as efforts continued to end the student sit-in at five buildings.

But some students eager for the school to return to normal formed what they called the Majority Coalition to end the protest and threw up a blockade around Low Memorial Library Sunday night.

They tightened it this morning, saying they were cutting off all food and medical supplies for about 100 protesters inside. About 200 students manned the blockade.

As the sky lightened over Columbia on the seventh morning of the protest, the campus was in a state of disarray. Red flags flew from the roofs of two of the five occupied buildings. Several spots on campus had turned into a bivouac area.

A group of students awakened from spending a night in the open on the campus and began to brew coffee opposite the sundial near the library. Others did calisthenics in groups.

Many Sign Wallace Petitions

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Leaders of George Wallace's American Independent party say the drive to obtain signatures to get him on the North Carolina presidential ballot was highly successful.

"We'll have upwards of 200,000 names of registered voters in Montgomery by the end of the week," said Reid Stubbs of Charlotte, Wallace's campaign manager in North Carolina.

Stubbs said petitions containing the signatures of Tar Heel voters are being sent to Wallace headquarters in Montgomery "for processing." The former Alabama governor needs only 10,000 certified signatures to put him on the November ballot in the state.

Wallace workers set up booths and tables in courthouses across the state Saturday and ran newspaper and radio advertisements urging people to come in and sign them.

Stubbs said reports were in Sunday from 39 counties. "We obtained in excess of 40,000 signatures in these 39 counties," he said, adding that the total from Saturday's "courthouse sign-up" may reach 60,000 to 70,000.

Counting signatures obtained earlier, Stubbs said, the total "could reach 200,000 names."

He said Wallace workers had been canvassing the voters with Wallace petitions prior to Saturday, and that many of these petitions already had been sent to Montgomery.

Observers in some towns and cities Saturday said activity was brisk at the Wallace tables and booths throughout the day. Some persons also picked up lapel buttons, bumper stickers and campaign literature. A few made on-the-spot contributions.

Stubbs said about 1,000 signatures were obtained in Guilford Saturday, 1,200 in Mecklenburg, 1,000 in Buncombe, 800 in Wake, 700 in Catawba, 400 to 500 in Cabarrus, 600 to 800 in Forsyth, and about 500 in Wayne.

At Fayetteville, advertisements in newspapers urged people to sign the petitions at the courthouse. Many showed up, but found the courthouse closed and nobody around to take the signatures.

"That was one of the few fouls we had," said Stubbs. "Generally things went off very well."

The 10-day-old offensive, not announced until Sunday night, continues under a security blackout. Correspondents with the troops were permitted to report only actions in the first three days of the assault.

The helicopters swarmed in April 19 carrying thousands of U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops and equipment into what has been a North Vietnamese stronghold for two years. Enemy guns brought down or damaged 30 of the choppers.

"Hell, I've never lost that many in weeks and weeks," said Maj. Gen. John J. Tolson, commander of the Flying Horsemen. "By far it's the hottest place we've ever gone into. The old opponent gave me a big bad day."

The U.S. Command said the operation, called Delaware, was a "reconnaissance in force," indicating that the American force would smash the staging areas and supply lines and then pull out. South Vietnamese paratroopers formed a blocking force at the valley's exit toward Hue.

Despite the heavy antiaircraft fire, casualties on both sides were reported relatively light in the first three days, with fewer than 50 North Vietnamese and 20 Americans killed. Sixteen U.S. helicopter crewmen were wounded.

After the landing, Pfc. Jimmy R. Rose of Smithfield, N.C., and Sgt. Hillary Craig of Winter Park, Fla., followed a communications wire to a 30-building enemy camp evacuated so quickly that laundry still was hanging on lines.

The American troops found dozens of 50-gallon drums of gasoline, four Russian trucks, 300 Chinese automatic rifles still in crates, hundreds of artillery and antiaircraft rounds, a ton of rice and 100 Russian mine detectors.

The 25-mile-long valley near the Laotian border and southwest of Hue, has been a staging point for North Vietnamese troops since they overran a U.S. Special Forces camp in it two years ago.

"This is one of the most important pieces of real estate the enemy has," said Gen. Tolson. He said he believes some of the enemy antiaircraft guns—37mms that can hit aircraft at 10,000 feet—are radar-guided. Some of the American helicopters were hit at 6,000 feet.

Despite the losses, "the operation so far has been highly successful," Tolson said. "We hold the key terrain."

Enemy troops in the valley are believed to be mostly support units such as transportation and engineer companies, and ground fighting was reported light in the early stages.

Complications In Patient, Aged 66

French Surgeons Dubious In Heart Transplant Case

PARIS (AP) — The first French heart transplant operation was performed this weekend but doctors today expressed concern for the patient's recovery.

Speaking with newsmen 30 hours after the operation, the doctors reported the patient suffered a circulation failure during surgery and since then nerve complications have set in.

The patient is Clovis Roblain, 66, a truck driver from central France, who had suffered for years with a heart ailment.

This was the world's seventh human heart transplant operation, but only one of the other patients survived. He is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 58, a South African dentist who was operated on Jan. 2 at Cape Town. He went home from the hospital March 16.

Dr. Maurice Merlatier, chief of surgery at La Pitie Hospital, told a news conference "the condition of the patient is causing anxiety among us."

Mercadier said Roblain had not yet recovered lucidity, but did not explain further. He added that there had been no difficulty in the operation itself.

The heart transplanted to Roblain was taken from a 23-year-old man who had undergone an operation for a head injury. His death had been certified after tests with electroencephalograms.

The man from whom the heart was taken was reported to be Michel Gypay, injured in a traffic accident last Thursday.

The operation was performed by a team led by heart surgeons Christian Cabrol and Gerard Guiraudon. It began Saturday at 10 p.m. at La Pitie Hospital and ended nine hours later.

The complications which followed were of the nerve system, it was reported.

Dr. Mercadier said Roblain suffered from a heart ailment which would have soon been fatal.

The first human heart transplant was performed on Dec. 3 in Cape Town by a team headed by Dr. Christiaan Barnard. The same team also performed the successful operation on Blaiberg.

Demonstrate At Induction Office

RALEIGH (AP) — A group of 15 demonstrators picketed the Raleigh Armed Forces Induction Center today in support of a man who said he would refuse to be inducted.

The demonstrators, led by draft protester George Vlasits, marched in support of Jerry Paul Pritchard, 25, a former Fayetteville resident who now lives in Durham.

New Moose Board Of Officers Is Installed

New officers of Greenville Lodge 885, Loyal Order of Moose, were installed Saturday night as the high point of a dinner-dance party.

Cecil D. Webster, Supreme Junior Governor of the Order, served as the installing officer.

Lacey Harrell was formally seated as the new Governor of the Greenville lodge. Other officers installed with him, were: Henry Flake as Junior Governor, Ralph Heidenreich as Prelate, James Harris as Treasurer, and Eli Bloom as Trustee.

The remainder of the board consists of Trustees Merrill Bynum and J. G. Proctor, Secretary Edwin Baldree, and Past Governor Sam Brooks.

Appointive officers and committee chairmen will be announced at tonight's regular meeting.

Outgoing Governor Brooks was presented a plaque from his fellow officers and members in recognition of his work in behalf of the lodge and the fraternity. He was also present.

Phillips Named New Director Neighborhood Youth Corps

Donovan Phillips Jr. has been named director of the Pitt County Neighborhood Youth Corps, it was announced today. Phillips will succeed Clyde Matthews who resigned to accept a position with the Health, Education and Welfare Office in Charlottesville, Virginia.

Phillips has served as deputy director of the Youth Corps for the two years it has been in operation.

D. D. Garrett, chairman of the Pitt Action Committee, the sponsoring agency for the Youth Corps, made the announcement. Garrett said, "His (Phillips) experience over the last two years as deputy director will be invaluable in the continued growth of the Pitt County Neighborhood Youth Program. The selection committee felt that the continuity of the program would be greatly enhanced by Mr. Phillips' promotion, and he certainly has exhibited the necessary abilities to carry out the demands of the position."

As deputy director of the program, Phillips was involved in recruiting, enrolling, and counseling. As director, his duties will be similar.

The program takes youngsters between the ages 16 to 21 from homes that meet the poverty criteria established by the government. Presently there are 81 enrolled. The enrollees are taught job responsibility, according to Phillips.

Phillips stated, "The Youth Corps is one of the anti-poverty programs designed to prevent people from dropping out of school because of economic reasons, and to make them more employable after they graduate from school."

Illustrating the success the program has had, Phillips pointed out that of the past year's 33 graduates, over 85 per cent are enrolled in colleges, technical schools, or business colleges. The other 15 per cent are working. Phillips stated that one of last year's enrollees was awarded a National Merit Scholarship and is now attending the University of North Carolina, majoring in Political Science.

Phillips said the present

Brooks expressed his appreciation for the work of officers and committee chairmen during the past year, and the co-operation and efforts of lodge members who "combined to make it a pleasant and productive year". He particularly cited, with gratitude, the close relationship existing between the lodge and the Greenville Chapter of the Women of the Moose. "Without them", he remarked, "we really wouldn't have very much here".

The Installing Officer, Webster, is in line to become the Supreme Governor of the fraternity later this year. The Burlington resident will be the first North Carolinian to hold the top elective office of the Moose. A frequent Greenville visitor, he praised the local lodge as a pace-setter for Tar Heel Moosehood, and his pleasure at being invited to have a part in the installing of its officers.

New members, their sponsors, officers and special guests of the lodge were entertained at the dinner by a mixed chorus of lodge and chapter members directed by James Rodgers.

A class of 45 candidates was enrolled into the Moose at a Sunday morning Candlelight Breakfast Ceremony.

The class consisted of: Gary J. Ambert, William D. Adams, William E. Adams, Robert Lee Baker, Leon Boone, Jason Bowen, W. J. Burden Jr., William L. Cohn, Ed Stanley Davis, Russell W. Davis, Julian N. Rioters Slip In, Out Of Crowds

TOKYO (AP) — About 450 left-wing students slipped in and out of large crowds of shoppers to evade police and pelted officers with rocks in sporadic clashes for about an hour Sunday on Tokyo's Ginza.

More than 2,000 riot police were sent to the shopping and entertainment district after the students chanted "Return Okinawa" and anti-Vietnam war slogans in an unauthorized demonstration. Then they stoned a police box at a major intersection. Four policemen were reported injured slightly.

Guest Critic Finds Much To Praise In Music Festival

(Editor's Note: Miss Wolter, one of North Carolina's leading arts critics, is arts reporter on the Winston-Salem Journal & Sentinel. She served as guest critic for the Contemporary Music Festival at the request of the East Carolina University News Bureau.)

By BEVERLY WOLTER

The saturation point in the appreciation of music had been reached by the time the seventh annual Contemporary Music Festival of East Carolina University ended Sunday night.

The participants, the faculty of the ECU School of Music, and the listeners had been bathed in music since Wednesday afternoon when Louise Talma opened the program with a lecture on "The Nature of Art." From then on, the festival became a matter of two and three concerts daily, plus some lectures.

I heard only the Saturday and Sunday programs, and in these was struck by three things:

—The excellence of the performances, which were done by student groups occasionally augmented by faculty members and townspeople.

—The fact that most of the music was not very far out in terms of today's avant-garde composers.

—The willingness of the guest performer, the organist, Marilyn Mason of the University of Michigan, and the guest composer, Miss Talma, of Hunter College, to enter wholeheartedly into the event.

Miss Mason lectured and played. Miss Talma also lectured and was constantly involved in discussions with faculty and students.

Miss Mason is one of the nation's leading organists. Her range in repertoire could be said to run from Bach to Bruckner. Every year for 20 years she has been commissioned a composer to do a work for her. She has turned to some of the country's most distinguished composers and to unknowns.

Miss Talma is a distinguished composer and teacher. She spent 16 summers at the Fontainebleau School of Music in France, studying with Nadia Boulanger and Isidor Philipp. She has received more than a dozen major musical awards, and currently is engaged in executing several commissions.

Miss Talma, who also lectured on "The Responsibility of the Composer," heard several of her works performed. She seemed thrilled and excited over the performance given Sunday afternoon to her Tocatta for Orchestra. She had every reason to be.

The work is bold and colorful, and exploits every section of the orchestra from top to bottom.

The orchestra, conducted by Robert L. Hause, did a splendid job of carrying out the composer's intentions. The orchestra was equally able in performing Gregory Kostek's tough, demanding Concert Fantasy for Violin, Piano and Orchestra. Kostek is composer-in-residence at ECU.

The soloists were two students, Rodney Schmidt, violin, and Charles Bath, piano.

Another view of the compositional talents of the ECU faculty was heard in the performance of Mervin Whitcomb's brassy, martial, band-like Symphonic Prelude.

A choral concert Sunday night was again enlivened by Miss Talma through the presentation of the first five positions of "La Carona," a setting of an expression of worship by John Donne. The work, a compelling piece in which insistent demands in rhythms and harmonics are made, unfortunately was not presented in its entirety, but stopped short of the Resurrection and Ascension portions.

Charles Moore conducted the concert. The choir was well-balanced, had excellent diction, and displayed a pleasing sensitivity to dynamics.

A program of all-American music was presented Saturday afternoon by the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. Leon Stein's Saxophone Quartet and Alan Hovhaness' "October Mountain" (for percussion Ensemble) were well-played and showed that the sax, in its various forms of alto, tenor and baritone, has a greater range and expressive capacity than one usually thinks, and also that percussion can do a multitude of things.

Two works by Randall Thompson, "The Last Words of David" and "The Peaceable Kingdom," were presented on Saturday and Sunday, respectively.

Open House Held At New Woman's Club Building

The Woman's Club of Greenville held open house yesterday afternoon at its new building on Park Dr.

Mrs. J. L. Savage, president of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. Robert Lee West, first vice president of the Junior Woman's Club, received members and guests in the foyer of the club.

In the main auditorium of the club, two refreshment tables were covered with white embroidered linen cloths and centered with five branch candelabra holding pergeses of American beauty roses, lilies of the valley and Baker's fern.

At each table, punch was poured by Mrs. Sylvester Green, Mrs. W. E. Avery, Mrs. C. W. Willard and Mrs. Dink James.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. H. L. Andrews, Mrs. W. E. Roseveare, Mrs. George Fleming, Mrs. Argent Smith, Mrs. C. M. Respress and Miss Nettie Brogren.

Club colors of red and white were carried out in refreshments.

Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell presided at the guest register.

Throughout the reception hall, massive arrangements of roses, lilies of the valley, iris and azaleas were placed at focal points.

Mrs. George Snyder rendered a program of popular music during the afternoon. Mrs. Vance Perkins said good-byes.

Many Greenville people attended the open house including city and county officials.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Fred Bunch, former presi-

A Broken Heart Really Cares

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Ted) is a salesman. We've been married for 20 years. Last month, while Ted was on the road, he had a severe heart attack. His brother called me and said that Ted was extending his business trip a "few extra days" and for me not to worry, but I knew something was wrong and I finally got his brother to tell me that Ted was in the hospital with a heart attack. Naturally I immediately went to be with Ted.

I stayed for three weeks and when I asked the hospital cashier for Ted's bill, I saw his admittance form, revealing that he had had the heart attack at 2 a.m. in the apartment of a woman.

She called the ambulance and he was hospitalized, using her ADDRESS. Also, instructions were left that his bill should be sent to HER house.

When I asked Ted to explain it, he said he didn't know the woman, that she was just the AMBULANCE DRIVER!

I have since found a number of cancelled checks in my husband's desk made out to this woman, going back over a year. Now Ted says he owed her money and was just paying her back, and he refuses to talk about it further.

I spoke with this woman on the phone and found out that she is a divorcee. She says she and Ted are "good friends."

Ted will be discharged next week. His doctor gave me instructions on how to care for him during his convalescence. The doctor assumes that my husband will be coming home for a three month bed rest. Under the circumstances, I'm not so sure I want him.

Whereas his heart has been damaged, mine has been broken. What should I do?

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: If you say your heart has been "broken"—you must still care something for Ted. In which case, let him come home, and talk things over when his heart is stronger—and yours is lighter.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from SECOND FIDDLE. She is filled with resentment because her husband has pictures of his first wife all over the house and asked that he be buried beside her when he died.

I married my husband two years after his first wife died. He also had pictures of "her" all over the house. Before we were married, he told me that he had loved his first wife very much but he said he loved ME, too.

He passed away recently, and altho our years together were few in number, they were happy. And during our marriage I felt no resentment whatsoever toward his first wife. In fact, I would have thought something was terribly wrong had he not cherished loving memories of her, as they were married for many years. Their marriage was right before God and man. And so was ours.

SECOND WIFE BUT NOT second fiddle
DEAR ABBY: Your "Confidential to Fort Worth Willy" was good. You said, "No man works as hard for his money as the man who marries for it."

However, I happen to be a living example of a man who married more dough in 15 minutes than I could have earned in a lifetime. Besides, it's just as easy to love a rich woman as a poor one. Sign me,

INDOOR GREEN THUMB

Blessed is the indoor gardner, for summer winters over in his home! When the snow is deep, there isn't anything more full of promise than a window row of miniature flowers. There has been such a revolution in indoor plants and plantings in recent years. Not that Americans haven't always been indoor gardeners. Undoubtedly the Mayflower carried cherished household plant seeds among the "garden seeds" we know she had. And potted herbs on kitchen ledges are very early American indeed.

There isn't anything more full of promise for your windows than custom draperies. Make your fabric selections now. Tommie Willis Interiors, 425 Greenville Blvd., Greenville. 756-1336.

Despite Gains, Still Near Bottom

North Carolina may take pride in the fact that its per capita income rose to a new record high in 1967. In doing so, however, it must not lose sight of the fact it still ranks near the bottom in per capita income among the 50 states.

For 1967 the per capita income of North Carolina rose to $2,396, the highest in history. That figure represented a gain of 6.4 per cent over the previous year. But during the same period the per capita income of the nation as a whole rose 6.7 per cent. So while North Carolina gained a place in the ranking of states, its per capita income still fell further behind that of the nation as a whole.

Like several other states, North Carolina has long watched its per capita income lag behind that of the nation as a whole. It has contented itself with a place near the bottom of the economic ladder so far as the per capita income in various states is concerned.

To be sure there have been efforts to lift North Carolina to a higher rung on that ladder. These have been constant over the years. The fact that they have been at least partially successful is attested to by the gain of 53 per cent in per capita income in this state since 1960. For the nation as a whole per capita income has gone up 42 per cent during the same period.

So while North Carolina has been closing the gap, it has been doing so very slowly. In spite of the effort that is being made to life the economic level of the people of North Carolina, greater efforts obviously are needed. In spite of the rate of progress that is being achieved in creating more and better jobs for the people in this state, an accelerated pace must be achieved if North Carolina is to gain the per capita income its people should have.

North Carolina's economic problem is not so much unemployment among its people as it is underemployment. It needs more jobs, to be sure, but it likewise needs better jobs for its people who are now employed in marginal jobs. The state must increase its efforts to attract more and better jobs and it must likewise increase its efforts to train those of its people who are not now capable of meeting the requirements for better industrial jobs.

The gain in per capita income by North Carolina in 1967 should not cause citizens of the state to sit back and enjoy a new level of prosperity. To the contrary, it should impress upon North Carolinians the fact that this state still has a long way to go before it achieves the economic level it seeks.

The Forgotten Races Of State

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — There are 10 congressional district primary contests in North Carolina on May 4 which except for those immediately concerned could be called the "forgotten" races.

Beyond certain local groups, they have stirred and stimulated little interest and not a great deal of statewide attention.

In other election years, this might be different and a bright spotlight might have been turned on some of these contests — five among Democrats and five among Republicans. Generally, however, there has been inertia among political groups across the state insofar as coordinating various political campaigns or taking sides in the primaries for Congress.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Incumbents Opposed
Four incumbent Democrats have primary opposition next week. None of the three Republican incumbents is opposed — although one of the three, Rep. Jim Gardner, isn't running for re-nomination and re-election.

The Democrats facing opposition are Reps. Walter B. Jones, L. H. Fountain, David N. Henderson and Nick Galtianakis. And if these should win, they still face opposition next November by Republican challengers.

Two GOP incumbents, Reps. Charles R. Jones of Lincoln and James T. Broyhill of Lenoir, have no primary opposition. Jones assured of election because he has no Democratic foe next Fall in the Ninth District.

In contrast, Broyhill will be engaged in one of the most difficult and spirited district campaigns in years in opposing the Democratic incumbent, Basil Whitener of Gastonia. Whitener has no primary opposition and is marshaling his forces for the challenge by Broyhill in the Fall.

Possibly Formidable
Although several congressional primary contests have been quiet, there is indication that incumbents and favorites will encounter formidable opposition and some may be uncertain about the outcome.

Observers believe First District Rep. Walter Jones should win easily over three challengers in the May 4 voting — L. C. Nixon of New Bern, B. B. Fleder of Greenville and Clarence Gene Leggett of Greenville. Nevertheless, Jones has been campaigning diligently. Mrs. Eva M. Clayton of Warrenton, a Negro, is opposing incumbent L. H. Fountain of Tarboro in the second District and Mrs. Clayton is likely to get a substantial protest and racial vote against the man regarded as the most solidly entrenched of all of North Carolina's members of Congress — Fountain. But Fountain's previous victories have been overwhelming and no one foresees that his margin will be diminished this time. Rep. Dave Henderson of Wallace also has two primary opponents, Don Howell of Goldsboro and S. A. Chalk of Morehead City, and observers think this might be closer than most. Howell and Chalk could cut into Henderson's usual plurality and the incumbent could find himself in trouble.

Other Opposition
Incumbent Nick Galtianakis of Durham has two opponents in the primary but is favored over David W. Smith of Durham and Charles R. Holloman of Raleigh. In this district, the Republicans have a primary contest between Fred Steele of Durham and Bill Garaband of Raleigh and both have cause for optimism — the Fourth District seat really is that which was vacated by Rep. Jim Gardner who defeated Rep. Harold Cooley in 1966. Until it was revised, the Fourth District was predominately Republican and the GOP feels its partisan margin still exists in this district.

Galtianakis and other Democratic challengers dispute this. They hope to disprove it both in the primary and in the November election. Nevertheless, no one knows at this point and this will be one of the more interesting contests from a partisan political standpoint.

Feud Disclosed On Hanoi Talks

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The festering conflict between White House aides and the State Department over selection of a site for preliminary talks with North Vietnam is merely the facade of a more basic and extremely bitter disagreement.

The State Department is more enthusiastic about early talks than Walt W. Rostow, chief White House foreign policy advisor. The Rostow group views Hanoi's acceptance of President Johnson's bid for talks as merely an extension of the war. In the opinion of some State Department officials, it wants to delay the talks while the U. S. position in Vietnam improves. White House aides, on the other hand, say privately that Under Secretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach unwittingly helped Hanoi by referring publicly to the Communist peace feelers as "sincere," despite disagreement on a site.

The result is a classic feud along the Potomac with both sides angrily but privately saying derogatory things about the other.

The feud surfaced as a result of President Johnson's tactical decision, taken at Rostow's strong urging, to counter Hanoi's foot-dragging by proposing ten possible new sites for the first meetings.

State Department officials were caught off balance when this proposal arrived from Honolulu, where President Johnson and Rostow were conferring with South Korean President Chung Hee Park.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk dutifully but unhappily announced the new list of ten possible sites, even though North Vietnam had diplomatic representation in only one (Ceylon, where Hanoi's top diplomatic office is only a consulate). Thus, the list seemed to contradict the basic conditions of the U. S. itself for a meeting site in which both countries have full diplomatic representation and secure communications.

Rusk, distinctly unhappy, felt privately that this would indicate the U. S. had decided to play the same kind of propaganda game going on in Hanoi. If the U. S. started making proposals that Hanoi would obviously have to reject, Rusk worried, the President's good faith would be challenged.

High State Department officials believe that, if Rusk had been with the President or if Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford (the Administration's new strong man) had not been in Europe, Rostow's propaganda play would have been overruled.

But Rostow persuaded Mr. Johnson that Hanoi's propaganda on site selection was making the U. S. look bad and that the U. S. should fight fire with fire. Thus, on the surface, the split was purely tactical.

Beneath the surface, however, the dispute is more basic. State Department officials are convinced that Rostow, backed by Administration hard-liners, wants to stretch out the start of negotiations to take advantage of the improving U. S. position in South Vietnam.

This improvement over the black days of the Tet offensive is both political and military. On the political front, President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky have now resolved their differences and are working better together than at any time since last fall's Presidential election.

On the military front, the U. S. is convinced that the Communists were forced to break off their siege of Khe Sanh under the deadly pounding of U. S. air attacks. Furthermore, the Thieu-Ky regime backed by new and far more aggressive military commanders and province chiefs, is finally starting to build up its own army.

Led by Rostow, Administration hawks see no reason to rush into talks now. They are distinctly uneasy about the possibility (that may lie just ahead) of the U. S. agreeing to stop all bombing in the North, as contrasted to the limited restrictions of today. Without similar de-escalation by the North.

Strength For Today

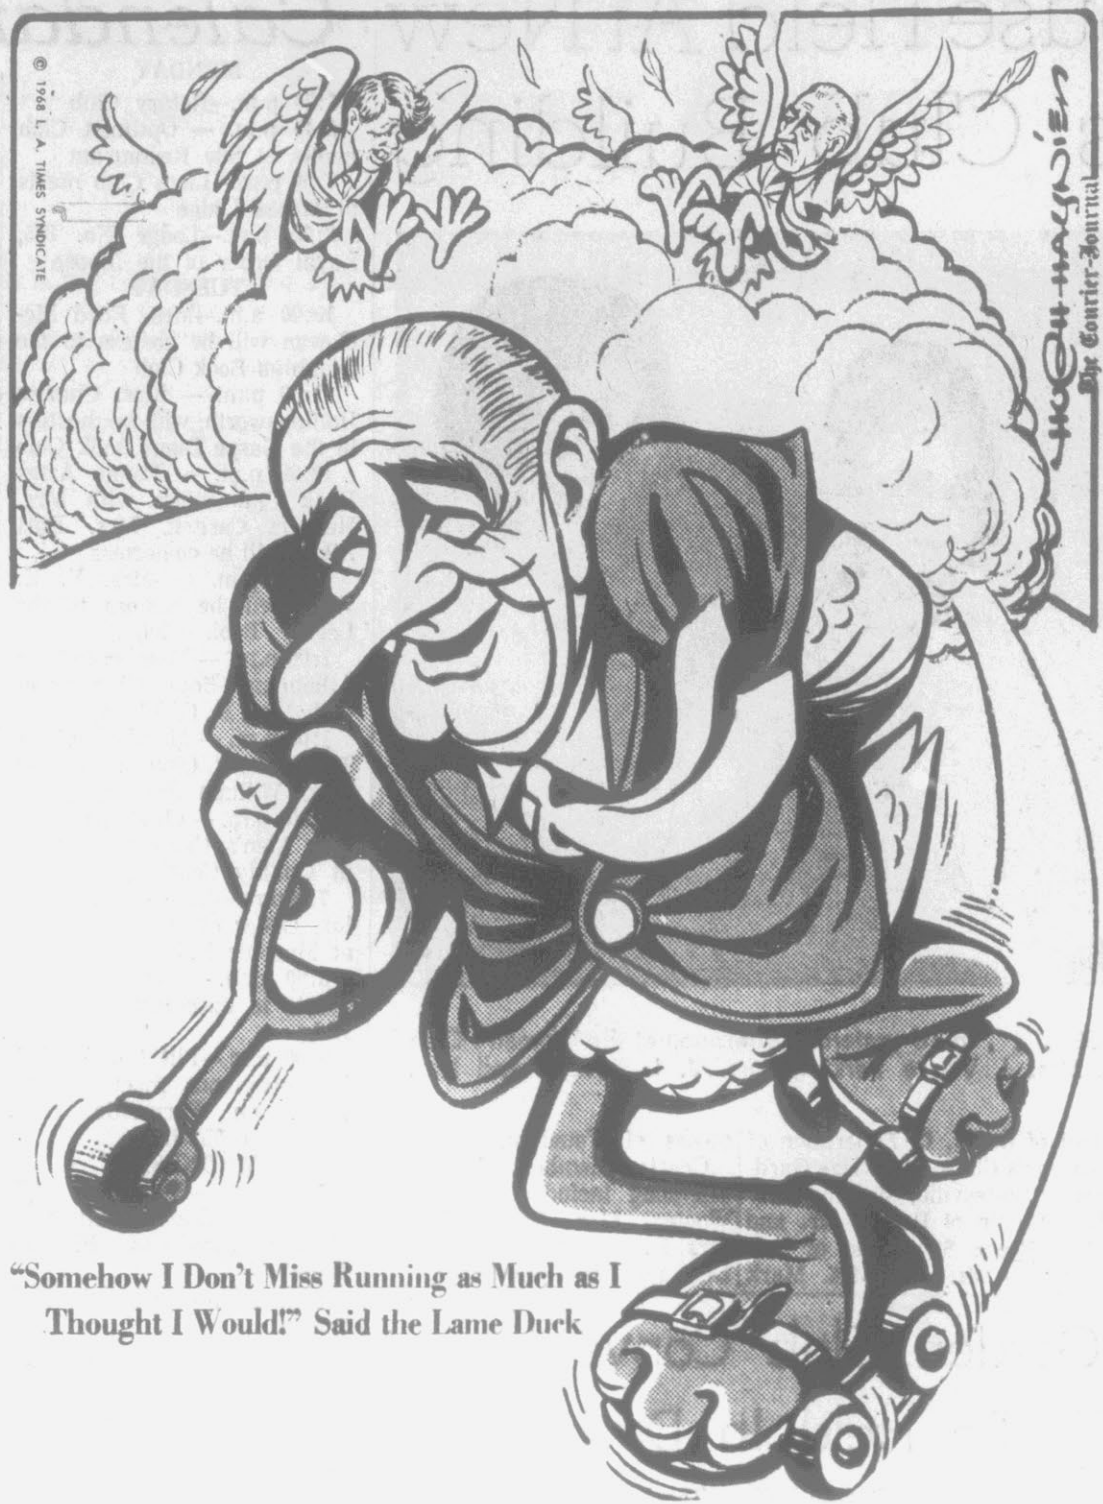

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
BE READY

What is the world going to be like in the year AD 2000? Many believe that we are entering one of the great periods of opportunity, that we stand at the threshold of scientific discoveries which will make this one of the great periods of history. There are others who believe that things are going from bad to worse. The famous Jeane Dixon, a psychic who has foretold many of the great events of recent decades, believes this to be true. It is her opinion that the period after 1980 will be characterized by chaos and violence. It is the opinion of the present writer that she is correct. It is not a pleasant prospect to confront, but world affairs are in a turmoil today, and Communist China is not helping the situation.

In addition to military disaster there is the possibility that geological events will take place that may alter the life of the world. The poles have shifted before and they may shift again, and if they do the surface of the earth may be drastically altered in an amazingly brief period of time.

But the prospect is by no means hopeless, for nothing is hopeless unless a considerable number of people lie down on the job and admit they are beaten. Events may take place over which we do not have the slightest control, but our attitude toward these events and the reactions we will have as the result of them are largely within our own powers to control.

Wisdom will undoubtedly consist in being ready for whatever happens.

No War Song This Time

WASHINGTON — One of the troubles with the Vietnamese war is that no one has been able to write a war song to go with it. Everyone knows you can't have a really good war without a socko song that people can sing and whistle back in the United States.

For four years, Tin-Pan-Alley has been working day and night on a war song, without success. The other day I looked in on two friends of mine, Al and Leo, who, despite the rumors of peace talks, are still determined to come up with a war song this country can be proud of.

When I walked in, Al was singing, "It's a long way to the Mekong Delta-It's a long way to go. - Keep your eye out for the Viet Cong - They're a sneaky bunch you know."

Al tore up the manuscript in disgust. "I just can't seem to get it."

Leo said, "I don't know what's the matter with us. How do you like this one: 'Pack up your napalm in your old kit bag - And smile, smile, smile!'"

"It doesn't send me," I had to admit.

"The trouble with this damn war," Al said, "is that it's got too many sociological aspects. It's so complicated."

"That's right," Leo agreed. "Have you ever tried to write lyrics about a pacification program? I tell you, it's downright discouraging. Do you know at one time we were the best war-song writers in the business?"

"We wrote 'Shut Your Trap You Dirty Jap or Uncle Sam will Shut It for You' in 12 minutes in 1942," Al said.

"And don't forget the 'Adolph Hitler Polka,'" Leo added.

"Those were the good old days," Al said, "when you could really get your teeth into the enemy. We had yellow-belly Nips and goose-stepping Krauts."

"And fat-lipped Mussolini hanging over the balcony," Leo said.

"And Tokyo Rose and Lord Haw-Haw and fat-faced Goering, and shorty Goebbels. Man, they were enemies!"

"Look what we got now," Leo said. "Ho Chi Minh looks like a starving Santa Claus, and no one in North Vietnam weighs more than 87 pounds." (Continued On Page 5)

Prosperity Both Real And False

By ELMER ROESSNER
Some economists are saying that we are enjoying a false prosperity.

Well, we are and we aren't. Our prosperity is real in that the gross national product, even after discounting the dollar total by the amount of inflation, is greater than it ever has been. We are producing more goods than we did even under the forced-draft production of World War II. Despite taxes and inflation, consumers are getting more food, apparel, furniture and services than ever before, and almost as many autos. Truly, we never had it so good.

Our prosperity is false in that we are paying for it with borrowed and stolen money. Never before in history have consumers, business and governments owed so much money. We are enjoying the lush life and sending the bills to our children. And never before in American history has the government stolen so much from the people by clipping the currency, that is by inflation. Inflation has robbed the savers, the insured, the pensioners and others with fixed incomes of billions of dollars. What Will Happen?

Will some new Congress halt the watering down of the dollar? Will some new President restore America to international competence? Will some white knight save Horstense the Consumer from the dragon of inflation? Read tomorrow's and tomorrow's and tomorrow's paper and see!

We are living in reckless times. But you'll have to admit they are exciting as long as you can afford them.

And here are more glimpses into that exciting future:

Union membership will grow fast. Pinched by inflation, hundreds of thousands of white collar workers, some of whom never even thought of joining a union, will be susceptible to organizers' promises to win pay rises as the dollar goes down.

Cassette manufacturers will threaten to take over the recorded music industry. They are offering almost everything for the disc-makers and are working two-speaker cassettes players for stereophonic effects.

Furthermore, cassettes make it easier for users to swipe music and comedy from television and radio and —

Fence-Sitters Needed

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's toughest assignment as an active candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination apparently will be to entice party leaders off the political fence.

Humphrey picked up some fresh endorsements with his formal entry Saturday into the contest against Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

But party leaders in swing states whose support he needs to assemble the 1,312 convention votes required for the nomination didn't budge from the neutral position they have taken since President Johnson announced March 31 he would not accept renomination.

In Michigan, for example, Sen. Philip A. Hart said in an interview he hasn't been able to make up his mind as between Kennedy, McCarthy and Humphrey.

Hart said he thinks sentiment is split in Michigan where the bulk of the 96-vote delegation is chosen in district contests and the remainder at a state convention in June.

He said he thinks about one-fourth of the delegates will represent organized labor. AFL-CIO President George Meany is supporting Humphrey. Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, has remained silent. Hart said he knows one close Reuther adviser who is for Kennedy and another who is for McCarthy.

In Humphrey's native state of South Dakota, Sen. George McGovern has welcomed the vice president into the race but has declared his own neutrality.

Similarly, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington are avoiding taking sides. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, is taking the favorite-son route to stay uncommitted.

In Iowa, Gov. Harold Hughes, who is believed to lean toward Kennedy, said Humphrey has "strong, broad-based support" among labor, farm and business groups. But he said he will wait until after the May 24-25 state convention before backing a candidate.

The Humphrey announcement didn't bring Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago openly into the vice president's camp with the 118-vote Illinois delegation. Neither did it seem to alter the favorite-son plans of Gov. Richard J. Hughes as head of New Jersey's 82-vote delegation.

Neither were there outward stirrings in Ohio, with 115 votes, or Pennsylvania, with 130.

Humphrey's official announcement Saturday, before a crowd of about 2,000 supporters who cheered him to the chandeliers, was counted by all concerned as a social, political and television success.

The 56-year-old vice president spoke vigorously of maturity of judgment, national unity and priorities for peace he left no doubt he felt he was best qualified to achieve.

Art Center's Drawing Room Is Redecorated

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

A project to re-decorate the drawing room at the Greenville Art Center has been completed. The room will now be used to house a good portion of the center's permanent collection of art.

The room, which makes up the right-front corner of the building, has been painted in the Colonial style, with walls of white and moulding in the room being finished in dark blue.

The large antique oriental rug in the room is a gift from Mr. and Mrs. E. Graham Flanagan, former owners of the house which now serves as the focal point for art in this area.

Mrs. A. C. Ruffin, chairman of the house and galleries committee has been in charge of the redecorating. Assisting in the project were Mrs. Allen Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas.

The renovation project was financed through donations and in part by money raised through the gallery shop.

Two portraits are hanging in the parlor, one a large painting of Rachel Maxwell Moore, one of the founders of the art center, and the other an oil portrait of Dr. Robert Lee Humber, chairman of the board of trustees of the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh and a member of the board of trustees of the Greenville Art Center.

The portrait of Mrs. Moore is by William Fields of Fayetteville and a gift from the artist who has been a prime supporter of the center. Dr. Humber's portrait is by Mrs. Georgia P. Hearne of Greenville.

On the mantle over the fireplace is a pair of East Indian vases made of solid brass with carved overlay. Also in the center is a four-panel Chinese silk screen and a collection of Juetown pottery. The pottery, from the Juetown kilns in Moore County, was donated by Mrs. Lindsay Savage.

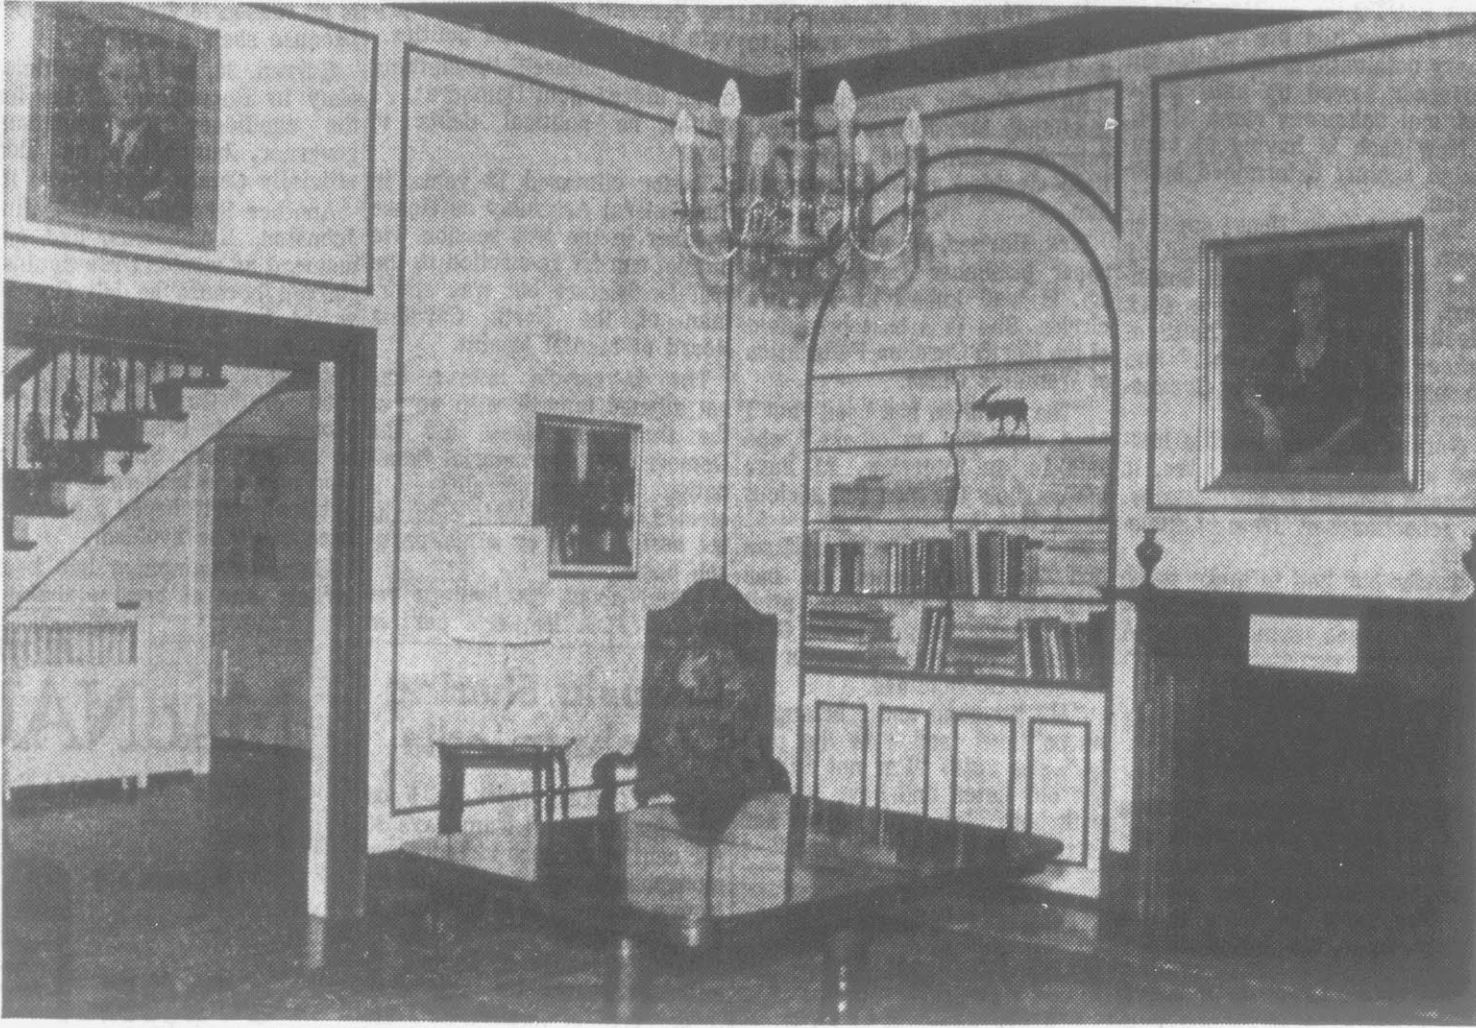

Hanging in the drawing room is an intaglio painting "Gathering." The work was both painted and donated by Don Seaxur, an East Carolina University School of Art faculty member.

Another painting, by Phillip Mousse, also hangs in the room. This work, which won a Pulitzer Prize in 1948, was given in part by the artist and half was purchased from art center funds.

The room also houses the center's library, including many books given by Mrs. Moore and about two dozen foreign volumes—Italian books on art—a recent gift from the family of the late Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. Humbert of Greenville.

"Woodland," a painting by Jimmy Walker, a former Greenville City School art instructor, also is on display. That work is a gift of Dr. and Mrs. Humber. A carved ebony Eland, from Kenya, a gift from St. James Methodist Church Wesleyan Service Guild, an antique oriental rug, donated by Mrs. Sam White, and sculpture by Victor Pickett and Wes Crawley are also on display.

"It could be a problem," I had to admit to the boys. "Washington has begged us for four years to write something. They said the war would never catch on unless people were singing about it. And they were right." Leo said.

Al said, "We're not copping a plea, but this war just doesn't have the old drive, the old caissons, the old Patton, the old MacArthur, the old 'Praise - the - Lord - and - Pass - the - Ammunition' feeling."

Leo said, "The fun's gone out of war - song writing."

I said, "I can't believe it, men. You can't tell me that after all these years you guys can't come up with an inspirational song about the Vietnamese war. Surely you can come up with something that would make this country believe we're doing the right thing."

Al sat down at the piano and started to sing: "Over there - Over there - Send the word - Send the word - To beware - Without negotiation - There'll be escalation - And we won't stop bombing till it's over, over there."

Leo said, "It's no 'Let's Remember Pearl Harbor'."

"It isn't even 'Roll Me Over in the Clover,'" I said.

Al continued singing: "We'll be over - We're coming over - And we won't come back until it's been clearly established that the South Vietnamese will be free to decide their own destinies under the full Geneva agreements and aggression from the north will be discontinued and the bases in Cambodia and Laos will be dismantled, so help us God."

"It's got a good feeling to it," I told Al, "But it doesn't rhyme."

Plan Ahead For U. S. Anti-Missile Shield

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's chief scientist has provided the first official acknowledgment that the $5 billion U.S. defense plan against any Red Chinese missiles also is a first step toward an anti-Soviet shield.

Dr. John S. Foster, director of Defense Research and Engineering, told the Senate Armed Services Committee the proposed antiballistic missile (ABM) system, called Sentinel, could be the foundation for an expanded defense against the Soviets.

Foster made clear, however, that current U.S. plans and capabilities are only to try to handle the rather rudimentary missiles Red China is expected to have in the early 1970s.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the same group the Sentinel system was technically capable of intercepting Soviet missiles but only in small numbers.

As he had repeatedly since last fall's announcement on the ABM decision, McNamara emphasized the anti-Chinese character of the system.

Testimony by both men came in early February but was publicly released only recently.

The issue came up when Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., asked Foster to explain why the administration seemed to be ignoring the Soviet missile threat while tackling a lesser Chinese threat.

Foster replied: "I believe that the action the United States is now taking is all the action the United States can take, whether in an attempt to stop an all-out Soviet attack, or whether to provide damage denial against a Chinese ICBM . . ."

Symington: "But if I may say so, the Department of Defense specifically stated it was to protect us from China."

Foster: "That is correct, sir."

Symington: " . . . Are you saying that actually it is the first step that we could take in protection against the Soviets?"

Foster: "The statement that was made by Mr. McNamara, and concurred in by Gen. (Earle G.) Wheeler was that this deployment is consistent with the first phase of a deployment against the Soviet Union."

Foster said he didn't recommend "thickening" the antimissile defense because the U.S.

does not now possess the means of intercepting huge numbers of ICBMs nor an adequate ability to sort electronically among clouds of chaff and dummy warheads which might surround Soviet missiles.

But he said Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recommends going from the $5 billion system to an eventual shield that would provide specific protection for 50 major U.S. cities.

Mothers Not Hip To Hippie Fad

NELSONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The Nelsonville Mothers Association apparently isn't hip to the hippie movement.

It sponsored a billboard alongside U.S. Highway 33 on which is pictured a young man with long flowing hair. A caption reads:

"Beautify America. Cut Your Hair."

Vandals Removed His Tombstone

CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Ruby's tombstone rested in the lost and found property division of a police station Sunday after vandals carried it away and dumped it in a street two miles from the cemetery.

Two teen-age brothers found the 150-pound marker in the street Saturday night. Police said it would be returned to Westlawn Cemetery, where Ruby is buried.

Ruby died of cancer in a Dallas hospital Jan. 3, 1967, before he could be retried in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy. Ruby's conviction at his first trial was set aside.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Rutgers University professor says the new Wholesome Meat Act is a fraud that will cost taxpayers nearly $200 million a year and add nothing to consumer protection.

Dr. Oscar Sussman, in a Nation's Business magazine article, said U.S. meat products properly handled and cooked in the home have never caused disease. He said the new law could lull housewives into neglecting such proper practices.

Sussman is vice president of the New Jersey Public Health Association and a senior instructor in meat inspection at Rutgers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Commerce Department economist William H. Chartener predicts for the elderly, plus a White balance of payments deficit than last year's—despite the $157.7 million deficit in March.

Chartener, assistant secretary for economic affairs, told newsmen there have been strong offsets to the March deficit, including a U.S. stock market rise "which has brought in European investors."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Special Committee on Aging has urged federal re-examination of programs and policies for the elderly, plus a White House Conference on Aging in 1970.

The recommendations came in a report released Sunday night. It cited studies indicating that by 1980 about half the retired couples and four-fifths the individuals will receive $3,000 or less in annual pension income.

Scranton Woman Better Next Day . . . Pain Of Piles Relieved

Treatment Promptly Relieves Pain, Itching In Most Cases

Scranton, Pa. Mrs. J. Straniere, Jr. of this city writes: "When I had our son, I got hemorrhoids and how painful. My husband bought Preparation H for me. The next day, I was much better — just after using it once."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H* actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.)

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Preyer Eyes Republican Race In 6th

GREENSBORO (AP)—A man who describes himself as an ultra conservative and one who calls himself a moderate are waging a quiet campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 6th District.

With L. Richardson Preyer unopposed for the Democratic nomination, all attention is centered on the GOP battle, pitting attorneys Walter Green of Burlington and William Osteen of Greensboro.

The contest hasn't stirred unusual attention.

Neither candidate has gone in for the holding of big rallies. Green even contends he has been shut out of the civic club circuit, a source of major exposure for candidates operating on limited budgets.

The 60-year-old Green, who has lost several previous bids for office, says he has been invited to speak by only one civic club during the campaign.

"And that was to a meeting at which all congressional candidates spoke," he says.

The 37-year-old Osteen, on the other hand, has spoken time after time to civic clubs—42 times since mid-February, by Osteen's count.

Green is soft spoken and retiring and says he is known as an ultra conservative.

Osteen is square-jawed and gregarious and says he feels it's difficult to categorize his political views but that if anything, he's a moderate.

Both list Vietnam, government spending and racial disorders as leading issues.

Green says the United States should "either winnow get out" of Vietnam. Osteen favors a phased withdrawal.

On racial disorders, Green says, "To tolerate mob action is to encourage it." Osteen says, "Very firm action is needed" to put down disorders and that "the federal government should return funds to local units to give police forces necessary training."

Both say the government should operate on a balanced budget.

Osteen served two terms in the North Carolina General Assembly, in 1961 and 1963, and was minority leader in both sessions.

Green ran unsuccessfully for Congress in 1962 and 1964 and lost a bid for a seat in the State Senate in 1966.

Preyer, the lone Democratic candidate, was a candidate for governor in 1964. Gov. Dan Moore defeated him in a runoff for the Democratic nomination.

Assessment Tax On Films Really Hurts

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The film industry received a ray of hope for its economic woes last week when the California Senate passed a bill that might end the first-of-the-year slowdown that has plagued production for many years.

The Senate bill, which still faces the hurdle of the assembly, would eliminate the copy-right and exhibition value from film inventories. That would mean that when the state levies its inventory tax on corporations each March 1, movies would be assessed on the value of the film stock only, not on their potential returns at the box-office.

The assessment tax has long been a bugaboo to the studios. Traditionally production slows down at the end of the year and comes to a virtual standstill in January and February. Studios race to complete films and ship them out of the state before March 1, lest they fall prey to the state tax collector.

The hazards involved were illustrated last year when "Camelot" remained unfinished at the tax deadline. The assessment to Warner Brothers-Seven Arts was reportedly around $400,000.

Film companies and unions have petitioned the state for relief. Such a bill passed the legislature in 1963 but was vetoed by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown. The new bill, sponsored by Sen. Ralph Dills of Gardena, has been opposed by school districts, which predict a loss of $2.2 million in taxes. Union leaders argue that their members suffer a $1.3 million monthly payroll loss because of slowdown of filming and the state is subject to $400,000 outgo in unemployment payments.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, as former president of the Screen Actors Guild, is familiar with the effects of the assessment tax. But he has not yet revealed how he stands on the legislation.

At least one actor, Joseph Cotten, remarked that the tax relief might bring some stimulus to film production but won't solve the industry's real ill: the flight of filming to foreign countries. Cotten is expert in the matter; most of his pictures in recent years have been made abroad.

Why do so many American film companies shoot movies abroad?

"It's not because of the authentic locales, as some people claim," Cotten remarked. "You can't tell me that the hills of Spain look more like Arizona than the country around Tucson."

"No, the filming abroad has nothing to do with colorful backgrounds. The real reason concerns lire and pesetas and the pound sterling."

He was referring to the advantages of subsidies and lower labor costs in Italy, Spain and England, the countries where he has done most of his recent work.

"Sure, it will help to get the assessment tax lifted," said the actor, "but until the economics of Hollywood production are solved, I'll still be working abroad, dammit."

By MARGARET WILSON
Associated Press Writer

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Democrat Pat Taylor and Republican Don Garren had the May 4 primary nominations for lieutenant governor sewed up until some political unknowns came along. Now each is having to campaign against determined opposition.

Taylor, former House speaker from Wadesboro, is opposed by Mrs. Margaret Harper of Southport, the first woman to seek election to a statewide political office in North Carolina, and Frank Matlock, a young Greensboro lawyer.

Garren, a Hendersonville lawyer and state representative, is running against Trosper Combs, a schoolteacher from Laurinburg.

Taylor has had to make some changes in his campaign since the opposition came along. A highway billboard campaign likely will be supplemented by radio, television and newspaper advertising.

Mrs. Harper and Matlock both say they entered the race to give voters "a choice."

After Taylor announced his candidacy last July two political veterans—Cliff Blue and Irvin Belk—decided not to challenge him.

Mrs. Harper, 51, wife of newspaper publisher James Harper Jr., is well known in women's circles. She is a past president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The problem has been that I need exposure to others," she said in an interview. "I have had to show the men I'm serious about this."

Her father was a Republican and she is convinced she can help unify the Democrats after the primary and gain some GOP votes in November if she is the Democratic nominee.

"My husband and I belong to no political faction in the party," she said. "I'm not full of the old hates and have worked with both Gov. Dan Moore and former Gov. Terry Sanford."

Presidencies Run In Family

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Presidencies run in the family of the Melvin Irvins.

One daughter heads the Kenwood Hill Homemakers; another is president of the Kentucky Southern College Literary Club; and a son is president of the student council at De Sales High School.

Matlock, a graduate of the University of North Carolina Law School, recently resigned from the staff of the state attorney general's office to enter private law practice and politics.

He calls himself "something of an independent Democrat... (with) no political debts to pay."

Taylor climaxed 12 years in the General Assembly as House Speaker in the 1965 session. He did not run for re-election to the 1967 Legislature but was chairman of the North Carolina Board of Mental Health.

The 43-year-old lawyer has not aligned himself with any of the three candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. He also has pledged if elected to make Senate committee assignments on a non-partisan basis.

Asked about his feelings regarding Mrs. Harper's part in the campaign, Taylor said: "I commend her for running. I see no reason to vote against her because she's a lady but there is no reason to vote for her just because she's a lady."

Garren, 34, had the unofficial okay in Republican circles for the candidacy for lieutenant governor, but before he filed officially Combs beat him to it.

Another Republican Rep. Jim Johnston, R-Cabarrus, had announced he wouldn't run against Garren because he felt Garren would be more acceptable to both candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, Congressman Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount and Charlotte textile executive Jack Stickley. Johnston also said leaders of the Republican party hoped a primary race could be avoided.

Garren's campaign has been largely one of hand-shaking speaking engagements at civic clubs.

Combs, 50, while not as well known, has an attention-getting gimmick. He passes out pocket combs inscribed "Combs for Lt. Governor." Among the recipients of the combs have been Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Gov. Dan Moore.

Checking The Score

Carol Mann Is Leading Lady Money-Winners

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Carol Mann leads the 1968 money winners on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour after capturing the $15,000 Raleigh Ladies Invitational tournament with a 54-hole total of 214.

Miss Mann carded an even par 72 on her final round Sunday to win the Raleigh tournament for the second time in three years. First place money of $2,250 boosted her winnings for the year to $7,825.

Kathy Whitworth, who carded a final round 70 for 217 and second place, has won $7,337 this year.

Donna Caponi finished third here with a 71 for 218. Tied at 219 were Clifford Ann Creed and Mary Mills. Next came Jo Ann Prentice and Althea Gibson with 220. Betsy Rawls, first round leader flew to a 78 Sunday and finished at 221.

Miss Mann, who won the recent Carling Open at Atlanta, had two bogeys and two birdies in her final round. She had only five bogeys in her last 108 holes.

Miss Whitworth, who won the Raleigh tournament last year, had an eagle and three birdies within five holes, but bogeyed the 13th and 14th to end her chances of overtaking Miss Mann.

Miss Caponi, who has never won a tournament, hit 17 greens in regulation and carded three birdies in her final 71. She said, "I hit it super, better than in a long time."

Lewis Star Of Pinehurst Play

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — The 68th North and South Amateur Golf Tournament will be remembered as the "Jack Lewis tournament."

The 20-year-old Wake Forest University junior from Florence, S.C., played some of the finest golf in the long history of the event.

When he trimmed Bill Hyndman, 52-year-old Huntington Valley, Pa., insurance executive, 7 and 6 in Saturday's 36-hole final, Lewis was three under par. It brought his total for seven matches and eight rounds to seven under par over a long playing, 7,000-yard No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club, one of the best tests of golf in the country.

Hyndman, champion in 1961 and three times a runnerup, was most impressed. "I've played many times with Jack and have never seen him play so well," he enthused.

Jimmy Steed, who has caddied for more than a half century at Pinehurst and finally brought home a winner in Lewis, is after two losing trips to the finals, calls him "the best amateur I ever caddied for."

Lewis hit many big tee shots and his iron play against Hyndman was outstanding. It played a prominent role in a superb display of putting skill in which he one-putted 16 of the 30 greens in the finals. Only three putts were in the 25-20-foot class.

From four to eight feet he rarely missed.

"It's great to be able to putt again," he remarked after his victory. "I used to putt that well all the time when I was little, but last year I putted badly."

Lewis went through a ritual on every hole. He'd line up his shot, judge the distance with his eye - glasses, then remove them and place them in his pocket while executing the shot. He'd experimented with the contact lenses last year but wasn't happy with the results.

Hyndman strung together three one-over par 37s for the first 27 holes. Lewis shot a morning 33-36 and an afternoon front nine 36.

The Pennsylvania grandfather who has three children older than Lewis, played well enough to win most matches. He missed only one fairway, but his short irons and his putter cost him holes several times when he had a chance to win them.

Lewis let 8 up after 14 holes in the morning round before losing a hole. Hyndman birdied 16 and 17, the latter by holing out from a trap, and took No. 18 when Lewis made his first bogey. That sent them to lunch with Lewis 5 up, but Hyndman never got any closer and Lewis never lost control.

Now he plans to catch up on his studies. With a summer session at Wake Forest to make up for time lost in recent tournaments.

"I hope my professors will continue to be lenient since I won" he said with a grin.

Paladins' Coach Opines Defeats Helped Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Not every coach can find solace in defeat, but one who has is Furman baseball coach Bob Reising, whose Paladins suddenly are in the thick of the scrap for the Southern Conference's Southern Division championship.

Week before last, the Paladins made a six-game road trip into Tennessee and wound up with four lickings for their trouble.

Bob Reising says he thinks the trip "helped jell the team." Whatever happened, the Paladins climbed into second place in the division Saturday by sweeping a doubleheader with the Citadel, 5-4 and 8-5. That boosted Furman to 2-1 behind frontrunning East Carolina at 4-0.

pletely up in the air. Virginia Military turned back George Washington twice, 3-2 and 7-4, while West Virginia and William and Mary split — the Mountaineers taking the opener 9-0, the Indians the nightcap 5-0.

Richmond and nonleague Virginia Tech battled to a 2-2 tie in a game halted after 10 innings by darkness. Davidson ended a 12-game losing streak and won for only the second time in 20 games over-all by defeating non-league High Point 4-2.

The sixth inning produced the winning runs in both Furman victories as the Paladins came from behind twice. Fulton Ellington's sacrifice fly won the opener. John Campbell's homer touched off a three-run outburst that proved decisive in the second game.

VMI won its first game in the eighth inning on a long drive by Rod Shu with two men on base. The Keydets scored five unearned runs in the second inning of the nightcap to put that one away.

A big first inning and brilliant pitching featured both WVU-W&M encounters. Danny Taylor hurled a three-hitter in the first game for West Virginia, which scored six times in the first inning. Jay Newton pitched a four-hitter in the second game, the Indians scoring all their runs in the opening inning.

William and Mary at 4-2 and Richmond at 2-1 lead the Northern Division with defending conference champion West Virginia all through at 4-4, VMI at 3-4 and George Washington at 2-4. The five remaining games could result in a five-way deadlock.

Heavy Schedules Resume For ACC Teams Tuesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — With Clemson and Maryland into the final two weeks of play, Atlantic Coast Conference baseball teams mark time today before opening heavy schedules Tuesday.

The Tigers, who were idle last week, and the Terps each have won seven games and lost two, but Maryland has the better overall record, 12-2. Clemson has won 20 games and lost seven over the season.

North Carolina State moved squarely into the title picture during the past weekend, beating tail-ender Wake Forest 6-0 and 2-1 in a doubleheader at Winston-Salem. State now has a 6-2 conference record and is 12-4 overall.

Maryland missed a chance to take sole possession of the lead when its doubleheader with South Carolina at College Park was rained out Saturday.

South Carolina and the North Carolina Tar Heels still are in the title picture. North Carolina has a 4-2 record after beating Duke, 6-4, at Durham Saturday, and is 13-7 overall. South Carolina, which beat Virginia last week, is 3-5 in the ACC and 8-7 overall.

Duke is 2-7 in ACC play and 9-12 in all games, while Wake Forest has won only two conference games and lost nine. The Deacons are 7-18 on the season.

The schedule for the week: Tuesday — North Carolina at North Carolina State (2), Duke at Wake Forest, Georgia at South Carolina.

Thursday — Clemson at North Carolina (2), Maryland at Wake Forest, Clemson at N.C. State (2), Virginia at Duke.

Saturday — Virginia at Wake Forest (2), South Carolina at N.C. State, Maryland at Duke (2), Clemson at Georgia Tech.

Net Tourney

The Northeastern Conference tennis tournament will be held here Tuesday instead of today as originally scheduled.

Competing teams will be from Kingston and West Carteret (the co-favorites), New Bern, Elizabeth City, Rose High School, Tarboro and Washington.

The Rose High team will be going into the tourney with two consecutive wins to their credit. Local team members are Bryant Kittrell, Fred Derrick, Bowdrie Winn, Bob Hodgins, Mark Petterson, and Bill Tyson.

Sharman May Go To LA Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Sharman has indicated he will sign a contract to coach the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association.

Sharman, who quit Friday as coach of the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association, reportedly has been offered several coaching jobs, his attorney said Sunday night.

Ed Kookstratten said that the former Boston Celtics' star had decided to take the post with the Stars.

Terps Dominate Carolina Relays

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — No team score was kept, but if it had been, Maryland's track squad would have been way out in front in the 9th annual Carolina Relays.

The Terps broke six records while winning 10 events Saturday. Host North Carolina was second in individual winners with three.

Five other records were set in addition to Maryland's six. They included two by William and Mary runners and one each by athletes from North Carolina, Virginia and Duke.

A highlight of the meet was the 9.5 meet record set by Maryland's Roland Merritt in the 100-yard dash. He easily outran William and Mary's Mike Frattkin, who came in second.

Other Maryland records were by Ed Marks in the triple jump (49-7), Joe David in the high jump (6-7½), the 440-yard relay team (41.0), the sprint medley relay team (3:22.5), and the mile relay team (3:14.4).

White Sox Break The Ice, But Stanky Runs On

That Mantle Effort

MANTLE SCORES WINNING RUN — New York Yankee Mickey Mantle slides under Detroit Tiger catcher Bill Brehnan to score the winning run in the 8th inning of the first game of a doubleheader at Yankee Stadium in New York yesterday. Mantle hit a double with two out, then scored on a single by Roy White. The Yanks won the opener, 2-1; and lost the second game, 2-2. (AP Wirephoto)

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox have won two of their last three games and Manager Eddie Stanky still is running in the outfield.

Stanky continued his post-game physical fitness program Sunday after Pete Ward's ninth inning homer gave the Sox a 3-2 decision over the Minnesota Twins.

The routine, which started in the middle of Chicago's season-opening 10 game losing streak, sends Stanky jogging across the outfield swinging a lead bat after each game. Then the little skipper retires to the trainer's room for meditation.

He could have had nothing but good thoughts Sunday after Ward's poke beat Dean Chance. In other American League games, California nipped Oakland 4-3, Washington traded shutouts with Cleveland, winning 1-0 and then losing 2-0, New York split with Detroit, winning 2-1 and losing 3-2, and Boston blanked Baltimore 3-0 before the Orioles won the second game, 6-1.

In the National League, Chicago swept a doubleheader from Houston 8-4 and 5-2, Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 4-3, New York edged Cincinnati 6-5, St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh 4-2 and San Francisco rapped Los Angeles 6-1.

Chance was nursing a 2-1 lead on homers by Harmon Killebrew and Ted Uhlaender going into the ninth but Luis Aparicio opened with a single and after Russ Snyder lined out, Ward connected.

The homer was Ward's fourth of the season and boosted his batting average to .340.

"We've been in every game but we've just been failing one hit short," said Ward, who made sure the Sox weren't one hit short this time.

And Stanky simply ran and swung his lead bat. He continued the post-game program even though he was ejected from the game in the sixth inning for protesting a third strike call.

Roger Repoz took over the American League home run lead with his sixth of the year helping the Angels beat the Athletics. Rick Reichardt also homered for California.

Sammy Ellis, with late inning relief help from Minnie Rojas, won the game—his first victory in the American League.

Mickey Mantle doubled home the tying run and then carried in the winner on Roy White's single as the Yankees rallied for two eighth inning runs and a 2-1 victory over the Tigers in the first game.

In the nightcap, New York rallied, taking a 2-1 lead in the eighth but Bill Freehan and Jim Northrup hammered ninth inning homers that won it for the Tigers.

Jim Hardin's six-hitter beat Boston in the second game and earned a split for the Orioles after Jose Santiago pitched a four-hitter for the Red Sox in the opener.

Consecutive doubles by Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell set up at three-run Oriole rally in the fourth inning of the nightcap and Hardin held the

Jerry West's Ankle Is The Key

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers head East again all square in their National Basketball Association playoff series with the condition of Jerry West's injured ankle the big question.

"I don't think it's badly hurt," said the Lakers' superstar of the sprained left ankle he suffered in the final minute of his club's 118-105 victory over Boston which put the set at 2-2.

Dr. Robert Kerlan said more would be known today about the injury. It occurred in a collision with John Havlicek after West had scored 38 points in the Lakers' coachless triumph.

Los Angeles mentor Bill van Breda Kolff was thumbed from the premises by referee Mendy Rudolph after collecting two technical fouls with 10 minutes left and the score tied 55-55 in the third period.

The teams play in Boston on Tuesday night and then return the Forum on Thursday. The crowd of 17,147 on Sunday set a Forum playoff attendance record.

In the ABA final playoffs, New Orleans took a 3-2 lead over Pittsburgh in their best-of-7 series with a 111-108 victory Saturday night. The sixth game will be played Wednesday night in New Orleans.

NCAA Gathers For 3-Day Meet

DENVER (AP) — The running feud with the AAU over track and field meets was the top item as the 18-member council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association opened its three-day meeting today.

The NCAA president, Marcus L. Plant of the University of Michigan, said the association intends to make sure the controversy does not hamper the U.S. Olympic team in preparing for the Summer Games at Mexico City.

Plant said in an interview that a moratorium would be continued until after the games on NCAA enforcement of its rule requiring certification of any noncollegiate meet in which college athletes are entered.

The U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the NCAA, has rejected proposals made by a sports arbitration board appointed by Vice President Humphrey in an effort to settle the controversy.

College Mourns Crash Victims

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — A fiery plane crash that killed the coach and five members of the Lamar Tech track team has sent the campus of the south-east Texas college into shocked mourning.

Seven persons, including the pilot, were killed when the private plane, returning from the Drake Relays in Des Moines, crashed in a rice field a mile short of the airport here early Sunday.

The plane, which exploded after impact, burned with heat so intense firemen had difficulty approaching it.

Members of the board of regents join school officials on the platform for the memorial services today in McDonald Gymnasium.

Classes were dismissed at the 7,000-student school for the memorial service for Coach Tyrus "Ty" Terrell and the five team members—Randy Clewis of Palestine, DON DeLaune of Lamarque, Mike Favazza of Beaumont, John Richardson of Beaumont and Waverly Thomas of Galveston.

The Lamar Tech mile relay team—DeLaune, Favazza, Thomas and Richardson—broke the Drake record with a 3:07.3, one-tenth second under the old mark, but placed second to Texas whose team ran it two seconds faster.

The twin-engine plane, piloted by E. W. McCall of Beaumont, left Des Moines at 7:02 p.m. Saturday and crashed at 12:24 a.m. Sunday.

S.C., driver upped his earnings to $76,206 for the still young NASCAR racing season, with a $5,476 first-place finish in his 1968 Mercury.

Following him were David Pearson, Donnie Allison, Lee Roy Yarborough — all in fords — and Tom Pistone of Charlotte, N.C., in a Mercury before Bud Moore of Charlotte in a 1968 Dodge could bring in Chrysler's highest finisher.

But the Ford people still weren't entirely satisfied. John Holman, boss of the Holman-Moody engineering firm that quarter-back's Ford racing interests, lodged a protest against Plymouth star Richard Petty. Petty had led the race four times for a total of 248 laps before pitting for good with differential problems.

Petty's 1968 Plymouth was torn down by NASCAR officials in a two-hour post-race inspection session, but nothing illegal was found, and Holman remained mum on his reasons for the protest. It was the first time newsmen could remember anyone protesting a car that failed to finish a NASCAR race.

Yarborough's victory speed was an average 66.686 miles an hour, hardly a record for the banked asphalt oval at Martinsville Speedway. Ten caution flags slowed the race.

His run for the money was a close affair, however. He edged past Pearson after a spinout forced the Spartanburg, S.C., driver from the lead. Pearson had led 97 of the 500 laps and finished just 50 yards behind the leader.

A field of 40 started the race and only 16 were running at the end.

Making Peanuts Goal

Would you like to make 2000 lbs. of peanuts this year? The following suggestions will help you accomplish this goal:

1. Select properly drained fields of good fertility that, preferably, have been in cotton or corn the year before.
2. Your soil should have been tested in January or February. Follow recommendations of the soil test laboratory.
3. If lime or potash was recommended, work into the soil as soon as possible.
4. Have a nematode assay made on all fields where peanuts will be planted. Your county agent will assist you in taking the soil sample and in interpreting the results of the assay.

5. Break land deep with bottom play, turning all stubble out of sight. Trash turners or coulters will insure a good job.
6. Use only tested seed, preferably certified seed, that have been treated with Thiram 75, Difolatan, a 1:1 ratio of Ceresan and Captan, or a difolatan-Botran mixture.
7. Inoculate seed in the shade with a peanut inoculum just before you plant.
8. Plant more than one variety. Use varieties with different maturity dates to reduce weather risk and to make maximum use of harvesting equipment. Early varieties—Florigiant, VA 56R, and VA 61R. Intermediate varieties—NC-2, Ga 119-20. Late variety—NC-5.
9. Plant as early as possible. May 1 should be your target date.
10. Plant 75-90 pounds of seed per acre in 30-36 inch rows. Space seed 4-6 inches in the row.
11. Plant peanut flat or on a slight ridge, not in furrow. Wide press wheels and extra sweeps in front of the planter will help.
12. Control grass and weeds. Cultivate early, often and flat OR use herbicides and cultivation. The following herbicides are suggested: (1) Vernam—2 1/2 lbs. per acre incorporated into the soil just prior to planting; (2) Diphenamid—2.3 lbs. plus DNB—1 1/2 lbs. per acre applied at cracking stage; (3) Dyanap—1 1/2 gallons per acre applied at cracking stage; (4) Balan—1.12 lbs. (3 quarts) incorporated just prior to planting; (5) Balan plus Vernam—75 plus 1.5 lbs./acre incorporated just prior to planting; and (6) DNB—3 lbs./acre applied as an early postemergence.
13. In cultivating, never throw dirt on the peanut plant.
14. For seasonal control of thrips, leafhoppers, and aphids, use Thimet or Di-Syston as follows: On heavy and medium soils—apply 10 pounds of 10% material per acre in the row at planting time; on light soils—apply 7 1/2 pounds of 10% materials in the row at planting time. For Southern corn rootworm control, apply 14 pounds of 14% Diazinon or 20 lbs. of 10% Thimet per acre in a 16-inch band centered over the row. Work into the soil immediately after application with cultivation tools. Apply around July 15.
15. Apply at least 600 pounds of landplaster at the early bloom stage directly over the row in a 16-inch band. On light sandy soils, make a split application—400 pounds 2-3 weeks later.
16. Control leafspot with one of the following programs (begin between June 25-July 10):
 - a. Copper-sulfur dust—apply 15-20 pounds per acre. Repeat every 12-14 days for 4 or 5 applications.
 - b. Liquid copper—apply 1 1/2-2 gallons per acre in 12-25 gallons of water. Repeat every 12-14 days for 4 or 5 applications.
 - c. If a spray material is used, check for red spider build-up. If found, control by using Ethion at the rate of 1/2 lb. actual per acre.
 - d. Polaram 5% dust—same rate and schedule as copper-sulfur dust.
 - e. To reduce concealed damage, apply 1/2 lb. of actual boron per acre between July 15 and August 15. Apply as a foliar spray, as a dust mixed with copper-sulfur dust, or by using 600 lbs. of borated landplaster per acre.
18. If Southern stem rot has been a problem in the field, apply 12-15 pounds of actual Terraclor per acre during the early bloom stage. Check other fields for stem rot in July. If 5% of the plants show stem rot, apply the above treatment.
19. Digging—Begin checking fields in mid-September. Dig only when the largest number of pods are mature.
20. Keep abreast of current developments. Attend meetings, demonstrations, field days, and read articles and books on Peanut Production.

Tobacco
By S. J. WEEKS
Pvt. County Tobacco Agent

The stored tobacco moth is a common pest on many farms and often causes serious damage to stored tobacco. Most damage caused by this insect occurs between the time the tobacco is cured and the time it is sold. This insect generally prefers to feed on the lug and cutter grades of the tobacco, those high in sugar content.

The life history of the tobacco moth is similar to most other insects. The moth lays eggs in or near the piles of stored tobacco. The larvae are tiny when first hatched, but grow to about one-half inch in length. They are pinkish-white in color with a reddish head. When the larvae are full grown, it spins a weblike cocoon in which it transforms into a pupa and then emerges as an adult moth. Usually the tobacco moth passes the winter and migrates to cracks and crevices about the building, where they spin loose cocoons of silk in which to hibernate.

If you have not already cleaned the scrap tobacco from your packhouse, it should be removed and burned as soon as possible. Or, if corn or other grain has been stored through the winter in the packhouse, or has been moved from the building this spring, it is time to give the packhouse a thorough cleaning. When cleaning all slats should be removed from the walls, then the walls brushed down. After thoroughly cleaning the packhouse, and grading room, they should be sprayed with a five per cent DDT solution.

Do not apply DDT to the cured tobacco. This DDT solution can be prepared by mixing two quarts of 50 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate with five gallons of water. The walls, ceiling, and floor of the packhouse should be sprayed now even if they were sprayed when cleaned last fall. At the latest the DDT solution should be sprayed at least one month prior to harvesting the tobacco.

Adrift With His Wife's Body

SALTON CITY, Calif. (AP) — Adrift in a wrecked boat on the Salton Sea, his wife's body at his side, John D. Lairazolo waved frantically at other boats for 24 hours before being rescued.

Lairazolo and his wife Margaret were boating on the inland sea Friday when their 18-foot outboard craft struck a drifting plank. Lairazolo told authorities he was thrown into the water and knocked unconscious, but was kept afloat by a life jacket. Swimming back to the boat, he found his wife's body caught beneath the craft. She apparently had fallen overboard and been struck in the back of the head by the boat's propeller.

Lairazolo tugged her back into the boat. He attracted help from other boaters late Saturday.

Mississippi Town's Merchants Feel Effects Of Boycott Drive

By JOHN PEARCE
Associated Press Writer
GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) —

A tight boycott here has taken almost all Negroes away from the downtown business area and a shopping center. It has forced one group of white merchants to reach its own agreement with the boycott leaders.

In two weeks of "selective buying," the Greenwood Movement has withdrawn almost all Negro business, leaving only essentials such as drugs and banking untouched.

One white merchant, manager of a downtown department store, said "As far as I can tell, it's 100 per cent effective. I don't mind telling you I'm down this month when I should be up because of Easter buying."

The boycott grew out of indignation at the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Picketing began April 11, two days after he was buried, and has continued since.

The heavy Negro population of Leflore County, in the prosperous Delta farming region of northwest Mississippi, makes many Greenwood merchants dependent on Negro trade. Greenwood, a town of 20,000 persons, is 45 per cent Negro and the county is about 65 per cent Negro.

Mail Supporting Income Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says letters from his Montana constituents show they're switching from opposition to support of an income tax boost.

A majority of these letters, Mansfield said, now favor President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge—along with a healthy cut in federal spending.

Mansfield, who has long supported the tax proposal—bottled up for many months in Congress—said public works projects appear prime targets for any budget slashing. Space projects and military research also could be cut back, he said.

Senate and House conferees meanwhile were reported pushing slowly toward possible agreement on a bill that would boost income taxes $10 billion while reducing authority for long-range government spending by some $20 billion.

At issue is a Senate-passed measure to impose the 10 per cent surcharge and cut spending $6 billion.

The conferees reportedly are considering eliminating the surcharge plan in favor of revising tax rates upward. But sources indicated that if this were done the increased tax rate for individuals and corporations would remain about the same as under a surcharge.

Broom Sale Will Begin On May 6

Greenville Lions Club members will conduct their door-to-door broom sale Monday and Tuesday nights, May 6 and 7.

This annual blind project will be carried out during the week of May 6-10. Business firms will be contacted during the week prior to that.

Persons who are not contacted may call 758-1165 and a broom will be delivered at the regular price of $1.50.

The Broom Sale project and the Lions Club ball machines are the major projects for financing the Lions aid to the blind in Pitt County.

Lions president Reid Hooper said special emphasis during the week will be on citizens having an opportunity to fill out an eye will so that others might see. A special program will be presented on WNCT, Channel 9, Monday, May 6 at 8 a.m.

Fred Washington Jr., Negro, 217 Boyd Ave., drunk, 20 days jail and roads, suspended on payment of $20 cost deducted; Doris Dixon, 209 Center St., drunk and disorderly, prayer for judgment continued to; Brenda G. Nothing increases the quality of tobacco like a fertilizer that's high in nitrate nitrogen and low in chlorine. High-K Potassium Nitrate (13-0-44) contains all nitrate nitrogen and no chlorine.

It's all plant food. The nitrate nitrogen and potash are immediately available to the plant after it is set in the field. And nothing in High-K is harmful to either the soil or the plant.

If you are unable to locate a supply of potassium nitrate or wish more information, please write to Southwest Potash Corporation, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10020.

Use a pre-plant fertilizer containing Potassium Nitrate

Only one supermarket and Johnson Street, a five-block row of bargain stores, furniture stores and pawn shops, is exempt. Last week Johnson Street merchants approached movement leaders and worked out an agreement.

They would hire Negroes, use courteous titles and try to pressure the city's leadership into meeting with the Negroes in exchange for the boycott's being called off. The Negroes agreed, and the merchants mailed a petition to the City Council, asking it to meet.

Communication between the races—or between the Greenwood Movement and city government—is the ultimate goal of the boycott.

At Least Eight Fatal Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three young people were fatally injured when their car wrecked near Boone after the highway patrol said it had been clocked at 115 miles per hour.

They were among the eight persons who died on North Carolina highways over the weekend.

The toll for the year rose to 522, or 59 more than at the corresponding time last year.

Killed in the wreck on U.S. 421 about three miles west of Boone were Brook Shelton Greer, 23, of Boone, Rt. 1; Miss Cary Jane Hampton, 15, of Blowing Rock, and Bobby Miller, 19, of Boone, Rt. 2.

Ricky Charles Deal, 19, of Rt. 2, Newton, was killed when his car overturned and hit a tree three miles east of Newton.

Ernest Covington Jr., 18, of Troy, perished in a collision two miles west of Asheboro. The Highway Patrol said his vehicle crossed the median line.

Mrs. Virginia Basing Kerley, 39, was fatally injured when her car overturned on a rural road a mile west of Kannapolis, her home town.

James Darius Morgan, 52, was struck and killed by a car at Zebulon. He was from Zebulon.

Glenn Allen Toffie, 18, of Boone, lost his life when his car hit a tree on N.C. 1949, six miles north of Boone.

Except for the Johnson Street merchants, Negro leaders say no white merchants have contacted them, although the merchants have been meeting among themselves.

Mayor Charles E. Sampson is adamant in his refusal to meet with the movement's leaders.

"We haven't paid much attention to it," he said. "It's just a group of Catholic priests out there trying to run the whole county."

"We're not going to discuss it with them. They're just agitators sent in here. They've been sent in just for this purpose."

The boycott has been maintained by daily picketing and by reading in public meetings the names of Negroes who cross picket lines. It is the movement's second attempt. The first was last November, and it died after three weeks.

Although membership of the movement is almost entirely black, a key leader is a white Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Nathaniel R. Machesky, 48, pastor of St. Francis Church. He has been a staff member at the Negro church 18 years.

The other co-chairmen are two Negro ministers, the Rev. M. J. Black, pastor of Turner's Street African Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. William Wallace, pastor of Jennings Temple Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

100-Foot Fall By Octogenarian

NORFOLK, England (AP) — Mrs. Rosamond Bizzarr, an 80-year-old widow, fell down a 100-foot cliff Sunday. A spokesman at Cromer Hospital said she was "fairly comfortable" today.

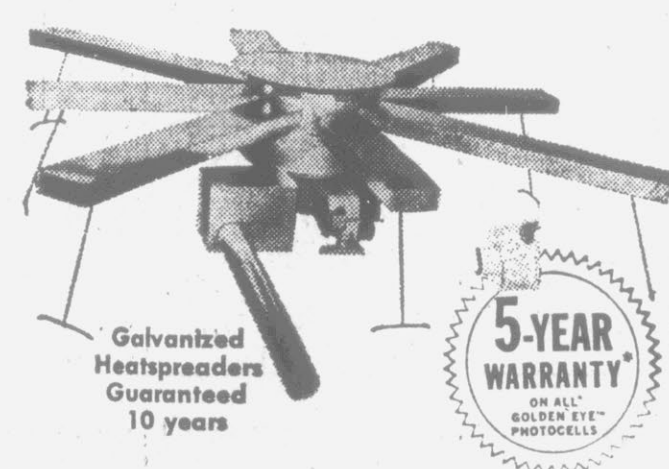

Her fall was broken by a roll of old wire that prevented her from landing on concrete steps.

Draft Test For Blind Student

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A blind Harvard Law School student who has been reclassified 1A by his draft board and ordered to take a pre-induction physical says he is looking forward to it.

"I'm particularly anxious to take the eye test," Harold Krentz, 23, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., said. "If I go, my ambition is to be a bombardier."

Krentz said his 2S deferment was canceled and his draft board gave him 30 days to appeal.

A SHORTEN SAD STORY (LAS VEGAS BRANCH)

SO HE FINALLY THREW IN THE SPONGE— AND NO SOONER DOES HE WALK AWAY—

The Worry Clinic Poor English Shows Status Of Education

Mike's remarks should wake up all parents, as well as you folks who never got to attend college. For it is the language you employ that causes your companions to rate you as college caliber. Parents, please play ball with the school teachers and thus help your kids use correct English!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-555: Mike J., aged 36, is a Personnel Director.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I grow disgusted at the poor English used by men and women who apply for jobs with our corporation."

"Not only do high school graduates fail to spell correctly and employ the simple rules of grammar."

"But even college graduates write as poorly as 5th graders in grammar school!"

"After they've spent 16 years in grammar, high school and college, wouldn't you think they could at least use the basic tools of their native language with reasonable skill?"

"By analogy, if a carpenter had put in 16 years learning his trade, wouldn't he be expected to handle a saw, hammer, miter box or plane at the right places?"

"What's the use of taxing our citizens to offer free public schooling to kids for 12 years if they still can't demonstrate the elementary tools of education?"

Parents, Beware!

Parents, you can't blame the dedicated school teachers unduly, for education is a teamwork affair.

By the time your kiddies reach the age of 5 years, you parents have often indelibly impressed them with incorrect grammar and improper vocabulary, often studied with a long and even profanity.

Besides, if the schools belatedly try to teach your children correct speech, do you parents then neutralize that superb free education as soon as the youngsters get home and hear you mutilate the English language? Do you exclaim before your grammar school kiddies, "Am't that TV show real good?"

How many of you parents can detect the errors in the following:

- (1) I don't have none.
- (2) Everybody did their work well.
- (3) Neither of us are going.
- (4) Him and I are going.
- (5) They invited she and I.
- (6) Who did they send.
- (7) She was dark complected.
- (8) His naughtiness aggravated the teacher.
- (9) She is laying down for a nap.
- (10) She raised six children.
- (11) He learned me to swim.
- (12) Raise up the window.
- (13) We'll wait on you at the corner.
- (14) I am anxious to go.
- (15) It made me mad.

When you apply for a job or converse at a social party, you are quickly rated concerning your educational status.

And it is your language that makes people think you are either a college person vs. a grammar school dropout.

Send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, for it contains an entire section on how to avoid the most common errors in English.

If you speak correctly, people will consider you a college man or woman, even though you may never have finished high school.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 6 ♥ KJ84 ♣ K10873 ♦ QJ6

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠

What do you bid now?

A—Three hearts. No temporary bid is available to you since a three diamond call, in view of your previous pass, would not be forcing. This is a powerful hand and we would not look askance at a raise to four hearts.

Q. 2—You are South, vulnerable, and you hold:

♠ AQJ9874 ♥ K ♦ K1084 ♣ 6

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

1 ♥ 2 ♦ 4 ♥ 4 ♠

Pass 5 ♠ 5 ♥ ?

What do you bid now?

A—Six diamonds. This is admittedly a stab but, unfortunately, there is no sure way of ascertaining whether partner possesses the right cards. There is the further prospect that the vulnerability status may induce the opponents to take out insurance with a save at six hearts which will, at least, add 300 additional points to your exchequer.

Q. 3—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 65 ♥ 1053 ♦ QJ8 ♣ KQ872

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

Pass 1 ♥ 3 ♠ Pass

Pass Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Four hearts. This is an awkward situation and the prospect of raising partner at the four level on three trumps is not an appealing one but, a bid of four hearts is too likely to be passed, since it is in the nature of a forced response and we would hesitate to advise a jump to five.

Q. 4—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ K94 ♥ 83 ♦ 109653 ♣ 874

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass

3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Four spades. Your initial response limited your hand so partner could hardly expect much more than this, return to the spades will bring a quick end to the bidding at a mere game contract, and since your hand presents potential ruffing values in the heart suit, in addition to solidifying trump, slam prospects should not be lightly dismissed.

Q. 5—North-South vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ K4 ♥ 6432 ♦ KQJ95 ♣ 47

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass 1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Two spades. Opposite a partner who could venture a vulnerable overall, you have a hand of distinct merit and you offer partner an opportunity to contract for game. Bidding two of one of your red suits is not calculated to get you to game for, if partner rebids spades, you will hardly be in position to act again. Your trumps are adequate to support a vulnerable overall.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 97 ♥ 8 ♦ KJ97643 ♣ 1098

Partner opens with one heart. What is your response?

A—Pass. To respond in any fashion with this hand might lead to serious complications. If you acknowledge your suit by passing, you may find it expedient to enter the auction on the next round.

Q. 7—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ K7653 ♥ 10 ♦ 72 ♣ K864

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♠ 2 ♥ 4 ♠ Pass

5 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Six spades. The bid above game in this sequence is conventionally regarded as an inquiry as to partner's holding in the adverse suit. If responder can promise that he will lose no more than one trick in that suit, he should accept the invitation. Observe that, if your heart and diamond holdings were reversed, your proper call would be a pass.

Q. 8—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ K10854 ♥ A10654 ♦ 2 ♣ A2

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

2 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. Partner's nonjump bid of two no trump is not forcing and, though we have a disinclination to stop short on constructive grounds, we cannot lose sight of the fact that we have a hand which contains only 11 high card points and has some of the earmarks of a misfit.

Parents, the best way to insure your child's college education is to teach him how to use correct English, for language is the "motor" of the educational machine!

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina poultry market steady. Live at farm 12½ cents per pound for broilers and fryers.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was a little ahead on balance this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains outnumbered losses by some 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.27 at 907.30.

The pace of trading was somewhat slower than Friday when 13.5 million shares changed hands. Hesitancy was apparent among some of the outstanding blue chips, depressing the Dow industrials in early dealings. Later these key stocks made a firmer showing.

Failure to make any apparent progress in selection of a site for the Vietnam peace talks was having a dampening effect, brokers said.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 323.9 with industrials up .1, rails up .2 and utilities unchanged.

IBM and Control Data moved up 2 each in routine moves. Phelps Dodge, Du Pont and Pfizer rose about a point each. M-G-M dropped about a point.

Stunned Over Mauling By Lion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Keepers at the San Francisco Zoo were still stunned today over an African lion, born in captivity, that mauled a man who was saved only by a quick rifle shot.

Some two dozen children and adults watched Saturday as Amos Watson, 59, of Milpitas, climbed a low fence into the lion grove and fell into a surrounding moat.

The witnesses said Watson shouted, waved a wine bottle, and struck a boxer's pose. A 5-year-old, 450-pound male lion, Tommy, made for the man after first ignoring him.

Zoo keeper Don Farrington was in the lion house at the rear of the grove and heard a bystander's cry that a man had fallen into the moat.

"When I looked," Farrington said, "the cat had him by the neck. His mouth was on the neck..."

Farrington raised his .30-06 rifle and fired a shot between the lion's eyes, killing him instantly.

Watson was taken to San Francisco General Hospital with face, neck and body gashes and a broken leg which was suffered in the fall.

Band Directors In Annual Clinic Here Saturday

Area and state band directors met at Eppes High School Saturday for the annual Marching Clinic of the North Carolina Band and Orchestra Directors Association.

Directors attending the session included: William E. Myers of Wilson (a Greenville native), director of the Frederick Douglas High School in Elm City; Frank Norris of Greenville, director of the E. J. Hayes High School band, Williamston; Marvin L. Davenport of Washington, director of the Johnson C. Smith University band, Charlotte, the president of the band director groups; clinician C. USAF ROTC Capt. Don Holloman will conduct the class program.

Cadet Commander, USAF, Ira Witham urged all cadets to be present.

Probably Two U.S. Billionaires

NEW YORK (AP) — A Fortune magazine survey report says the two richest Americans—the only ones who probably can be listed as billionaires—are oilman J. Paul Getty and financier Howard Hughes.

The May issue of the magazine says Getty, 75, and Hughes, 62, are followed by six other Americans who are half-billionaires and 153 who have a net worth of more than $100 million each.

The Fortune article estimates Getty's visible assets at $957,404,289 conservatively and $1,338,417,316 liberally.

Rockefeller
To Make A Statement

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will make "an announcement concerning his political plans" at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Leslie S. Slot, the governor's press secretary, said today.

Slot's announcement came as reports circulated in the Capitol that Rockefeller would declare his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller has arranged to fly a full complement of newsmen with him when he travels to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Thursday—on a trip that had not been previously announced.

In making known Rockefeller's intention of holding a news conference Tuesday, Slot refused to go beyond his brief statement which said:

"Gov. Rockefeller will have an announcement concerning his political plans at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Red Room."

Rockefeller surprised political leaders nationwide on March 21 when he said that he would not actively seek the nomination this year.

Heavy Casualties By Navy Medics In War

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's medical chief says Navy medical corpsmen serving with the Marines in South Vietnam have been awarded more than 2,500 Purple Heart medals for death or wounds in action.

Vice Adm. Robert B. Brown, Navy surgeon general, cited that figure when asked in an interview about reports Navy corpsmen had suffered unusually heavy casualties.

Brown said it is not possible to relate the number of corpsmen casualties to the over-all total of Navy medics who have served in Vietnam.

But he mentioned the 2,562 Purple Hearts and more than 300 decorations for bravery as awarded Navy corpsmen to indicate the degree to which the medics had been exposed in combat against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

Latest figures show there are some 4,000 Navy enlisted corpsmen in the war zone. Many of them see combat with the Marines while others are stationed on two hospital ships.

Some other sources said the Navy had become so strapped for enlisted medics that conscription was given recently to calling some Navy Reserve specialists to active duty.

Brown did not comment directly, but did say, "We have never been given the privilege of calling up Naval Reservists."

Navy authorities estimated that some 95 per cent of the sailors who become medical corpsmen volunteer for duty in which they accompany Marine rifle-men into battle.

In addition to their basic school, corpsmen receive some specialized training and undergo 4½ weeks of field service school before going out with the Marines.

Eight Navy medics are assigned to each 250-man Marine company. The Marines have no medics of their own.

In the field, the Navy corpsmen dress like Marines. They wear no identifying marks, such as a red cross on their helmets or a red cross arm band.
