No Republican Opposition

White, Allsbrook Win Senate Race

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

Vernon E. White of Winterville was named to one of two seats in the North Carolina Senate from District IV in Saturday's primary election.

White and incumbent Julian Allsbrook of Edgecombe County were high men in the race that included another incumbent Vinson Bridgers of Tarboro. There is no Republican opposition for the positions.

Allsbrook was the high man in the race for the two seats, with a total vote of 20,162, while White was second with 17,189 district votes. Bridgers received 15,227 votes.

It was White's Pitt County vote that put him above Bridgers in the race. He received 10,262 votes from Pitt while Bridgers received 3,692 Pitt votes. Pitt voters gave Allsbrook 5,461 votes.

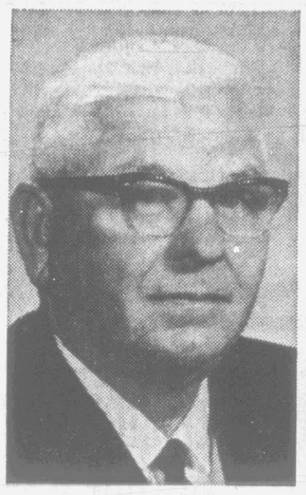
Allsbrook led in the number of votes in his home county Halifax, as well as leading in Warren County. He received a total vote of 7,468 in Halifax County while Warren County voters gave him 2,863 votes. White received 3,554 votes in Halifax County while Bridgers received a total of 3,820.

Warren County voters gave White a total of 1,613 votes and Bridgers received 1,428 in that county.

Bridgers led Edgecombe County with a total of 6,287, while White received 1,760 and Allsbrook had 4,370 in that county.

All precincts in the fourth senatorial district have reported their returns except for one precinct in Warren County, which has 55 voters registered.

White ran unsuccessfully against Bridgers and Allsbrook in 1966, the first race in the newly - created four-county district.



VERNON WHITE

JULIAN R. ALLSBROOK

White, a prominent Pitt County farmer and business man, has been active in agricultural, civic, educational and religious affairs of the county for the past 39 years.

He served as chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners 1965-66 and is currently vice - chairman of the Board of Trustees of Pitt Technical Institute.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Bank of Winterville and Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Greenville.

White is a member of the Missionary Baptist Church where he is currently serving as superintendent of the church school. Civic affiliations include the Ruritan, Kiwanis and Moose Clubs.

White is married to the former Louise Ange and they have one son, Charles Vernon, a student at Hargrove Military Academy, Chatham, Va.

Veteran Legislator Allsbrook, a native of Halifax County and a lifelong resident of Roanoke Rapids, was first elected to the Senate in 1934. He has served one term in the House and has served six terms in the Senate since that time.

Sen. Allsbrook attended the University of North Carolina where he served as president of the Student Body. He is the permanent vice president of his graduating class. At Carolina, he was also a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail.

In the 1965 and 1967 sessions of the General Assembly, he served as chairman of Senate Judiciary I Committee and is now serving as chairman of the Legislative Study Commission on Rules of Civil Procedure.

Bridgers, a member of the Senate in the 1967 General Assembly, is a veteran of World War II. He was graduated from the University of North Carolina and the University of North Carolina Law School. He is a member of Calvary Episcopal Church.

Three Incumbents On Pitt Board Returned To Their Seats In Saturday Vote

Three incumbent members of the Board of Pitt County Commissioners were returned to their seats in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Charles Gaskins of Greenville won handily over Negro opponent the Rev. O. James Rooks, with a vote of 9,666 to 3,549, for the District 1, seat on the board.

Long-time commissioner R. W. "Bob" Martin of Bethel defeated two opponents for the District two seat. Martin received 6,752 votes while Edgar Warren of Belvoir received 4,097 tallies. Negro minister J. H. Hyman of Pactolus, received 2,151 votes. District two includes Bethel, Belvoir, Pactolus and Carolina Townships.

Bruce Strickland of Bell Arthur won by the greatest margin. He polled 9,160 votes to opponent D. E .Baker's 2,867.

Strickland and Baker were competing for the District three seat. That district includes Falkland, Fountain, Farmville and Arthur townships.

Martin was first elected to the board in 1956 while Strickland has served on the county governing body since 1960.

Gaskins, the newest member of the six-man commission, was named to the board a year ago after the North Carolina Legislature expanded the board from five to six members — giving an additional seat and more equal representation to Greenville township.

Broughton Weighing His Chances

RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott is continuing his campaign for North Carolina's governorship while awaiting Mel Broughton's decision on whether there will be a runoff for the Democratic nomination.

Rep. Jim Gardner, R-N.C., who won an overwhelming victory over Jack Stickley for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, planned to fly to Washington today to attend to his congressional duties for the first time in more than a week. He had remained in North Carolina to campaign full time during the final days of the primary race.

Broughton said Sunday, "Many people from throughout the state are urging me to call for a second primary."

"This is being given serious consideration," he added.

Unofficial returns from 2,153 of the state's 2,191 precincts in Saturday's primary showed:

Scott 326,610 (48.1 per cent), Broughton 226,683 (33.4 per cent) and Dr. Reginald Hawkins 124,558 (18.3 per cent).

It appeared impossible that the final returns from the 38 late precincts could give the lieutenant governor a majority and eliminate the possibility of a runoff.

The second balloting for the Democratic nomination, if called for by Broughton, will be held June 1.

Mallard, Morris Win Nomination

RALEIGH (AP)—Chief Judge Raymond Mallard and Judge Naomi Morris won the Democratic nomination for re-election in Saturday's primary and face no Republican opposition in the general election.

Mallard routed Kidd Brewer, a flamboyant campaigner, who had campaigned on a motor grader against the judge who once sentenced him to prison.

EXPECTS TROUBLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss.) said today the nation's capital can expect nothing but trouble if the proposed Poor People's Campaign in Washington materializes.

Something Over 16,800 Votes Cast In County

Both Scott And Gardner Led Pitt Vote Tickets

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

Both Democrat Robert Scott and Republiccan Jim Gardner led Pitt County's primary tickets.

Gardner won the nomination as Republican gubernatorial candidate for governor and Scott was far ahead in the state-wide race for Democratic nominee, although the possibility of a second primary existed.

In Pitt County with all 26 precincts reported, Scott had 6,868 votes, Melville Broughton, 5,175 and Reginald Hawkins 3,354.

All the totals are unofficial as compiled by The Daily Reflector. An official canvass will be conducted Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Gardner swamped Jack Stickley in Pitt for the Republican nomination as he did in the state. With 25 of 26 precincts reported, Gardner had 1,336 votes and Stickley had 103. Gardner easily carried all of the reported precincts.

A record number of Pitt Countians may have turned out for the two primaries. Based on the gubernatorial totals in the Democratic and Republican primaries there were 16,836 votes cast.

The long ballots complicated the counting and it was far in to the night before significant totals were available. Poll holders worked until daybreak in some precincts to complete the count.

Scott carried 20 of Pitt County's 26 precincts. Hawkins, a Negro dentist from Charlotte, carried four precincts and Broughton carried only two. Broughton's precincts were Bethel, home of D. T. House, his county campaign manager, and Greenville 5, which votes at the American Legion building and embraces the area from the SCL railroad west to Dickinson Avenue and U.S. 264.

Hawkins precincts were Chicod 3, Greenville 3, Greenville 4 and Grimesland 2.

In Greenville 3, Hawkins received 372 votes compared with Broughton's 71 and Scott's 119. The polling place is Third Street School and the boundaries are Greene Street, Fifth Street and the river on the north. It extends west beyond the city limits. It includes Negro and racially mixed areas.

In Greenville 4 Hawkins received 459 votes, Scott 260 and Broughton, 140. Greenville 4 votes at West End Fire Station. The area is bounded by Dickinson Avenue on the southeast, W. Fifth Street on the north and SCL railroad on the east.

In Grimesland 2, Hawkins received 140 votes, Broughton 92 and Scott 143.

Pitt County gave a huge majority to Congressman Walter B. Jones who easily won the renomination in the first district.

In Pitt Jones received 11,670 votes. His opponents' votes were: Clarence Leggett, 535; B. B. Felder, 2,119; L. C. Nixon, 768.

Sen. Sam Ervin was another heavy winner in his race for renominatin. He received 11,188 while, John Gathings vote was 657; Fred Brumitt, 393 and Charles Pratt's, 1,045.

Pitt Countians gave solid support to Robert Morgan in his bid for the nomination as candidate for attorney general. Morgan received 10,859 votes here compared with Wade Bruton's, 2,419. Bruton, the incombant, was defeated in the state race. Morgan is popular here as chairman of the ECU board of trustees and leader of the legislative drive to university status.

In the race for superintendent of public instruction Wendell Smiley of Greenville, ECU librarian, ran third in Pitt with 2,679 votes. Raymond Stone was first with 3,586, Craig Phillips second with 2, 768; Everett Miller fourth with 2,175 and William Harrill fifth with 970.

Pat Taylor, Jr. was high in the county's balloting for lieutenant governor with 7,894 votes. Mrs. James Harper received 3,261 and Frank Mat-

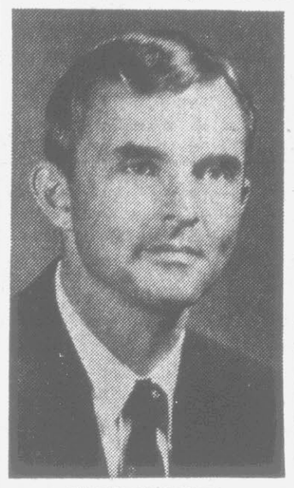
Forbes Defers Decision Over House Run-Off

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Harvey Ward of Greenville was high man among three candidates in the race for Pitt County Seat number one in the State House of Representatives but did not receive a clear majority in the race over opponents W. A. "Red" Forbes of Winterville and Mark Owens of Fountain.



HARVEY WARD

Forbes, who presently holds the seat, said this morning he had not decided whether to call for a second primary.

Ward received 5,122 votes, while Forbes was named on 4,547 ballots. Owens, who ran third in the race, received 4,051 votes.

Forbes said the race was "a nice, clean race, and I have the most respect for both of the men who ran against me."

"I am going to wait, and make up my mind in a few days," he said of calling for a second chance at the seat he has held for the past six years. The deadline for requesting a second primary in the race is May 13 at 12 noon.

Ward, or the winner of a second primary, will have to face Republican Frank Steinbeck in the November general election.

Ward, a Greenville man, is a graduate of Greenville High School and East Carolina University. He served in the U.S. Navy during the Korean war and for the past 10 years has been engaged in teaching and farming. Presently he is an instructor on the staff at the East Carolina Training School at Rocky Mount.

He is married to the former Barbara Ann Larkins and they have three children.

When filing, Ward said, "I feel that it is high time that the Democratic party realized it has a real obligation to the people of Eastern North Carolina." He said he would work "to bring good government back to the people where it belongs."

Ward was the first candidate to file for the seat.

Owens, who was the last to file, is a practicing attorney and a member of the Pitt County Board of Education.

He graduated from Farmville High School in 1956 and attended the University of North Carolina where he majored in political science. He received his law degree from Wake Forest University.

Forbes is a Pitt County farmer and businessman and attended Winterville High School and East Carolina University.

Forbes received his greatest support from the Winterville precinct, where he took 613 votes. Ward placed second in that box with 271 votes, while Owens received 156.

Judgeships For Three From Pitt And Carteret Attorney

Three Pitt County lawyers and a Morehead City attorney won the four District Court judgeship posts in Saturday's primary election.

Greenville Recorders Court Judge Charles H. Whedbee led the balloting with 118,168 votes. Herbert O. Phillips of Morehead was second with 14,209 ballots.

Following third and fourth in line were Robert Wheeler of Grifton with 12,493 votes, and J. W. H. Roberts of Greenvlile, with 12,364 votes.

Totals for the other four men in the race for the four judgeships were: L. R. Morris of Carteret County, 7,887; Robert G. Bowers of New Bern, 7,418; Preston Robinson of New Bern, 7,496, and Negro John R. Harmon of New Bern, 5,766.

The district court area includes Pitt, Craven, Pamlico and Carteret Counties.

Pitt Voters went with the four top men, although not in the same order as they ended up when the votes from the rest of the district were added.

Whedbee took 11,074 votes in his home county to lead the ticket. He was followed by Roberts with 8,091 and by Wheeler, who received 7,550 tallies. Phillips, fourth man in Pitt, received 6,045.

Phillips was high-man in Carteret County, receiving 3,886 votes, while Whedbee ran third, polling 2,602 tallies. Morris was second man in Carteret with 3,252 votes.

The new judgeships will take effect at the end of the year.

The new judges and new District Courts will replace the system of recorders courts in the district at that time.

Harris-Whitley Vows Exchanged On Sunday

COMO — Miss Margaret Elaine Whitley became the bride of Willie Thomas Harris Jr. on Sunday at 3:00 p.m. in the Buckhorn Baptist Church here.

The Rev. N. J. McManus of Como officiated at the ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Howard K. Taylor Sr. of Como, organist, and Mrs. H. K. Taylor Jr. of Hampton, Va., soloist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and the "Wedding Prayer."

MRS. WILLIE THOMAS HARRIS JR.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilbert Whitley of Como and Mrs. W. T. Harris Sr. of Greenville and the late Mr. Harris.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie and French silk lace. The empire bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline and long tapered sleeves ended over the wrist with self-covered buttons. The A-line skirt was highlighted with appliques of French lace with a chapel length train of French lace attached at the empire line. The gown was made by the bride and her mother.

He elbow length veil of silk illusion was attached to an open pillbox crown studded with seed pearls. She carried a Bible centered with a white orchid, roses, carnations and lily of the Valley tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Richard O. Whitley, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of maise dotted Swiss over taffeta accented by daisy appliques at the empire waistline. She carried a cascade of yellow mums with nile green satin ribbon. Her headpiece was made of daisy appliques and maise illusion.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Moseley of Greenville and Mrs. Arron Keene of Tarboro, both sisters of the bridegroom. Mrs. I. J. Mozingo of Goldsboro and Mrs. Stuart Nelson of Chapel Hill. Their gowns and headpieces were identical to the honor attendant's. They carried cascades of yellow mums tied with yellow ribbon.

Miss Sharon Whitley and Miss Sandra Whitley, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore long A-line white dresses of scalloped French lace over peau de soie. Their dresses and headpieces were styled similar to the bride's gown. They carried white baskets with rose petals.

Honorary junior bridesmaids were Miss Denise Keene of Tarboro, Miss Deborah Moseley and Miss Genelle Silverthorne, both of Greenville, Tammy Jones of Cary and Judy Harris of Hampton, Va., all nieces of the bridegroom. They wore corsages of white carnations.

Horace R. Harris of Hampton, Va., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Raleigh and Andreas Korones the bride, Daniel W. Jones of Raeigh and Andreas Korones of Richmond, Va., both brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, and I. J. Mozingo of Goldsboro.

Richard Harris of Hampton, Va., nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white pillow.

Mrs. Beamon Davis of Courtland, Va., aunt of the bride, was mistress of ceremonies.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of rose lace and silk with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a two-piece dress ensemble of blue lace with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

For a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, Va., the bride changed into a navy blue crepe shift with beige and navy accessories. She wore the orchid lifed from her Bible.

The bride is home economics teacher at Elm City High School. The bridegroom is employed by Carolina Leaf Tobaco Co., Greenville.

The couple will reside in Elm City.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. A white and yellow color scheme was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Foushel Railey greeted guests. Miss Gayle Whitley and Miss Ann Cobb presided at the birde's book.

Mrs. N. J. McManus and Miss Connie Railey invited guests into the gift room where Miss Lora Sue Tinsley and Miss Winnie Whitley presided.

Mrs. Beamon Davis invited guests to the receiving line. Miss Hannah Picot invited guests into the dining room where Mr. Glenn Bittle assisted by Mrs. Joe Walker served the traditional four-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Randolph Whitley and Mrs. Walter Gray poured punch.

Mrs. Oscar Spruill, Mrs. Elvin Curle, Mrs. John Stephenson, Mrs. Linwood Whitley, Mrs. Guy C. Hite, Mrs. George Watson and Miss Carolyn Davis were floating hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison Parker and Mr. and Mrs. James Rose said good-byes.

After-Rehearsal Party

The Harris-Whitley wedding party was entertained at an after-rehearsal party at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sadie J. Burbage, by Mrs. Randolph Whitley and Mrs. Beamon Davis.

The dining table was covered with a lace cloth. Arrangements of spring flowers were used throughout the house.

Pre-Rehearsal Dinner

On Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Whitley and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spruill honored the Harris-Whitley wedding party at a pre-rehearsal dinner.

The house was decorated with spring flowers.

Chapter Installs Officers Thursday

Mrs. Irma Worthington was installed as president of the Beta Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma during a dinner meeting at Hooker Memorial Christian Church on Thursday night.

Other officers installed were: Vice President, Mrs. Ivy Snyder; second Vice President, Mrs. Phoebe Owens; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Anna Cartner; and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Edith Worthington.

Three chapter members retiring from the teaching profession this spring were honored. They were Mrs. Myrtle Clark, a member of the Wahl-Coates School faculty, Miss Alice Strawn, of the Department of Home Economics of East Carolina University, and Mrs. Ellen Carroll, of the Department of Continuing Education of East Carolina University.

The committee on Personal Growth and Service, Miss Elizabeth Walker, chairman, presented the program for the evening.

Miss Laura Bell, Mrs. Wotrhington, Miss Eunice McGee, Miss Agnes Fullilove, and Mrs. Sally Klingenschmitt gave highlights of the recent state convention in Asheville.

On The Young Side

By BECKY WHITE

Excitement filled the foyer Thursday afternoon as seniors stood in line to receive graduation invitations and pay for those precious caps and gowns.

It is hard to realize that three weeks from today Rose High's class of '68 will be participating in their very own baccalaureate sermon and on Friday, May 31, they will kiss the walls of Rose High School as they branch out to achieve even higher goals.

To the juniors and underclassmen the "seniorites" atmosphere has been rather obvious for the past week.

A senior reception is being planned for Sunday night May 26, immediately following the baccalaureate sermon. It is to be sponsored by the Greenville Teen-Age Club and headed by junior chairman, Jo Ramsay. All seniors, their parents and guests are invited to attend the reception at the Elm Street gym.

Students at Rose High School have been participating in Twirp Week this past week. Boys and girls came to school on Monday in a conglomeration of stripes, plaids, polka dots, mini-sirts and "hippie" clothes for Mod or Mix-match day.

Any visitor who attended classes on Tuesday would have been confused since the teachers sat back while their students taught class. Many teachers really enjoyed this turnabout.

It would have been easy for Rose to have gone into the hat business as students advertised the latest styles on Wear - a - hat Wednesday.

Many students donned their Sunday best for dress - up Thursday but the day they enjoyed the most was Friday, bermuda day. Friday was also called Freedom senior day. All students paid a quarter to wear bermudase xcept seniors who also had reserved tables by the cafeteria windown. They were also allowed to take snack foods in the foyer.

Twirp Dance

Climaxing the week was the dance which was held in the school cafeteria Friday night from 8:30 - 11:30. The Rose High dance band provided the the entertainment for the occasion.

Under the direction of James Rodgers, the Rose High Band presented their annual concert Thursday night in the gymnasium. They have recently returned from a trip to Chesapeake, Va., where they played for Indian River High School on Friday night. Saturday they toured the Norfolk Naval Base and tne MacArthur Memorial. They then traveled to Virginia Beach where they stayed until Sunday. The entire trip was on an exchange basis. The Indian River High School band performed here Friday night.

An assembly was held this past Monday during second period as students were entertained by the Patrick Henry High School chorus from Roanoke, Va.

The chorus was on a tour at the time and sang a wide variety of numbers such as, "Have Mercy On Me", "Canticli Praise," "Mariah", "On the Street where you Live," "People". Individuals in the group also performed.

Senior Scholarships

Five Rose high seniors have received scholarships to various colleges and universities in addition to Les Garner's Morehead scholarship. Tommy Clay and Sonya Boyd received grants to East Carolina University valued at $1,000 a year for four years. Tommy plans to major in physics and Sonya in math.

Sports editor for The Green Lights, Ed Welch has received the Whitaker Scholarship to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The plans to major in zoology.

Having planned to attend Methodist Collegei n Fayetteville, Elaine Berry has received a scholarship which pays half of her ttuition plus $325 a year. She is planning to major in history.

National Honor Society President Beth Moore received an unusually large honor as she was chosen to receive a National Merit Scholarshilp. Beth will attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and had already received a tuition scholarship worth $175 a year.

Congratulations to these fi deserving seniors!

Miss Edith Tripp Weds Sunday

MRS. GEORGE WHITFIELD DARDEN III

Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church was the scene for the wedding of Miss Edith Willette Tripp and George Whitfield Darden III Sunday at 4:00 p. m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. annd Mrs. William J. Tripp and Mr. ad Mrs. George W. Darden Jr. all of Greenville.

The Rev. Edmund G. Gonzalez, pastor of the couple, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Hal Martin, organist, and Miss Jonnie Cassick, who sang "O Promise Me," Whither Thou Goest", and the "Wedding Prayer." Miss Katherine Williams cousin of the bride, presided at the register.

In the background candlelight reflected throughout the church from three, nine and fifteen branched brass standard candelabra flanked with emerald greenery, bouquets of white mums and gladiola were interspersed in nine branched candelabra. At the altar was a prie dieu where the bride and bridegroom knelt for the wedding prayer and venediction. Pews were marked with ribbon and bows of white satin and bridal greenry.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditiomal floor length gown of white peau de soie, empire style, with jewel neckline and calla point sleeves. The circular chapel train was fastened to the waistline with a peau bow trimmed with pearls. Scattered appliques of alencon lace re-embroidered with brilliants, accented the train, bodice and skirt.

Her headdress was a bouffant of three-tiered silk illusion attached to a half-hat of peau encrusted with beaded pearls. She carried a formal full cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis, English ivy and white cattelya orchids tied with bridal satin.

Miss Charlotte Ruth Tripp, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length dress of yellow nylon accented with a sheer organza bow in the back.

In her hair, she wore a matching bow highlighted with streamers and daisies. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white Marguerite daisies tied with golden yellow velvet bows with long streamers.

Mrs. Redding Elks, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore a dress and headpiece fashioned after the honor attendant's and carried a colonial bouquet with white Marguerite daisies with yellow centers, tied with yellow velvet.

Honary attendants were Miss Gene Brister, Miss Rhonda Clark, and Miss Jackie Holloway, cousins of the bride. They wore pastel dresses and carried nosegays of white daisies with narrow white streamers.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Mark Sidney Posey, Louis Flake, and Redding Elks, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Raymond Tripp, brother of the bride, served as junior usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tripp selected a pink linen dress with matching lace coat. Her hat was of matching material and handclipped lace appliques with a lace viel. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue silk dress with matching lace coat and matching accessories. Both mothers wore white cattelya orchid corsages.

Mrs. Myrtie Tyson the bride's maternal grandmother, wore a dress of embroidered blue linen and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Ethel Tripp, her paternal grandmother, wore a dress of yellow jersey with a white carnation corsage.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into an A-line skimmer of blue linen, with navy accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside near Greenville in the Red Oak Community.

The bride is a graduate of Winterville High School and Mitchell's Hair Styling Academy. She is presently employed by Nan-Jo's Hair Styling of Greenville.

The bridegroom received his education at Rose High School and is employed by Hendrix-Dail, Inc. of Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party

The parents of the couple entertained the bridal party at an after-rehearsal party Saturday night in the education building of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Holloway welcomed the guests and Mrs. Myrtie Tyson invited guests to the refreshment table. Mrs. Louis Flake presided at the register.

An arrangement of white snapdragons and pom pons flanked by three-branched candelabra centered the refreshment table. After the bridal couple cut the first slice from the three-tiered wedding cake, the bride's attendants assembled around the cake in May-pole fashion and pulled tokens from the cake which were fastened to white satin streamers.

Mrs. Daren presided at the punch bowl and cake was served by Mrs. Trip.

Concerned Friend Comes To The Rescue

DEAR ABBY: One of the evils of living in a big city is the hesitancy of people to "get involved," as was tragically illustrated in the case of Kitty Genovese, who was killed in full view of 13 neighbors—none of whom wanted to get involved.

In the apartment building next to mine is a woman I have never seen, much less met. She has two pre-school children. Abby, I can hear this woman screaming at those children from morning 'til night. The children sometimes cry and sob for long periods. Altho this is disturbing, the situation itself is what disturbs me more. As far as I know, the woman hasn't broken any law, but when she shouts like a mad woman, "I JUST CAN'T STAND THIS ANYMORE," I fear for what she might do to those children. None of the neighbors or I have ever seen them outside — not once — and children need fresh air.

I admit I, too, don't want to "get involved," but I feel that something should be done. I never hear a man's voice, so I assume there is no father at home.

Is there anything I, an outsider, can or should do? Thank you.

"A MOTHER, TOO"

DEAR MOTHER: Yes. You can knock on her door, and tell her in a friendly way that you have heard her — that you are a mother, too, and realize how unnerving little ones can be, so if she would like a few hours away from her children, she may leave them with you. Begin by offering your friendship, and if she accepts, you can then encourage her to get professional help.

If the woman slams the door in your friendly face, report her to the authorities for "disturbing the peace." In this way they will be able legally to look in on her and determine whether she is competent to raise her children.

DEAR ABBY: Re changing one's name to something easier to spell and pronounce: If MR. GRZEKOWIAK had to actually change his name in order to get a woman to marry him — well.

My name happens to be WILHELM KURT KLEINSTEIN-BUERGERMEISTER, a proud old German name, meaning "Little Stone Mayor" in English.

So far, it has not presented any problem because I have never asked a girl to assume it.

Signed,
WILHELM KURT KLEINSTEINBUERGERMEISTER

DEAR MR. KLEINSTEIN-BUERGERMEISTER: With all due respect to your "proud old German name," should you ever ask an American girl to assume it, chances are you will become "BILL KLEIN."

DEAR ABBY: A commendation is in order to the young man who didn't want to kiss his bride with an "audience" gawking on. His taste has risen above the vulgarities of an uncultured public. Occasionally we have a couple who insist on putting on a show for their friends, and from where I stand, I can see what happens when it's done.

A church wedding is a most solemn occasion. The couple have come to God's altar to seek His blessing, and their friends have come to join in prayer for the new family and share their joy. Kneeling and with bowed heads, the couple have received the benediction of the Lord.

When this solemnity is broken by such theatrics as a Hollywood-style kiss, the audience invariably snickers. Real cute, but if the couple want to put on a show, why use God's altar for a backdrop?

Sincerely,
A LUTHERAN PASTOR

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Long, Tedious Sessions Expectable

While acceptance of Paris as the site for preliminary talks by the United States and North Vietnam breaks a long deadlock in the effort to begin negotiations, it would be a mistake to assume the subsequent efforts to bring about peace in Southeast Asia will move along either rapidly or smoothly.

It was more than a month ago that President Johnson announced sharp reduction of American bombing of North Vietnam and invited the North Vietnamese to meet with U.S. representatives in a mutually acceptable place to begin negotiations. The very fact that it has taken more than a month even to find a site agreeable to both sides is evident of the difficulties which may lie ahead in the negotiations themselves.

Obviously the agreement on a site stimulates optimism and hope that the conflict in Vietnam may soon be brought to an end It is natural that even this first step in bringing the parties to a conference table is looked upon as a major breakthrough, which it is. But it is no guarantee that negotiations will be swift or fruitful.

If the United States is to take a realistic view of the prospective negotiations, it must expect long and tedious sessions with the communist representative. It must expect the talks to bog down more than once before any genuine solution is achieved. It should not come as a surprise — although it might come as a disappointment — if the negotiations break off entirely at some point without the matter of the conflict having been resolved.

We do not mean to be pessimistic about the negotiations to end the war in South Vietnam. But if history has taught the free world anything in recent decades, it should have taught it that negotiations with communist nations are slow and tedious processes which lead up many blind alleys and frequent dead ends. Hoped for results, even when they are obtained, are a long time coming.

One has only to recall the negotiations in Korea to understand that agreement to meet at the conference table does not automatically indicate a genuine desire to conculde a reasonable settlement of the issue at hand.

We welcome the first step toward negotiations concerning South Vietnam; but it must be recognized as only a first step.

That Last Day Is Most Trying

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Political candidates arise bright and early on election day, facing the longest, hardest and most emotionally trying day of the campaign.

They usually will stay up late that night—awaiting results and the verdict of the voters. Whatever the outcome, whether happy or sad, the candidate will end the day emotionally and physically spent.

The pace of travel, handshaking, speechmaking and hard work during the long months of campaigning has been a sort of strenous training. But most political figures admit that nothing really prepares a person — a political candidate — for the strain of election day and election night. The pressure of all the months of work and preparation finally comes to bear. By nightfall, still a few hours before the polls close, the suspense begins to build.

A Typical Candidate

In the case of a typical candidate, there is a light supper — barely eaten. He has an eye on the clock because there are more appointments and he must be at certain places at a certain time.

His supporters, campaign workers and friends will be waiting — some of them as anxiously as he — for the first returns.

He hurries out, with arrangements to meet his wife and children later in the evening — whatever the outcome. But now, as the sun goes down, politics takes first place in the life of the typical candidate.

No Time To Relax

It already has been a long day. The typical candidates was up early, dressed and out at the mill gates or visiting the precincts where early voters were in line by 6:30 a.m.

He had a quick breakfast with some campaign supporters and talked about arrangements for transportation to the polls in various areas. Then more touring of various polling places, more handshaking and asking for support. Reporters and photographers catch up with the candidate on his rounds and begin asking questions and making pictures. They want a picture when he goes to cast his own ballot, and there is something of a cermony about it.

Lunch also is a hurried thing, with more conferences and talks with campaign supporters.

The afternoon drags, but the candidates keeps going. He keeps meeting people, shaking hands, making appearances. Finally, the last few hours are at hand. All of the suspense of a political career and a long, hard campaign comes to bear.

Financial Aid Study

Preliminary plans and surveys for a comprehensive study of financial aid programs in North Carolina's public institutions of higher education were begun last month. The study is now being launched and will continue through the next five months.

A report will be made Oct 31 by [illegible] and research team of the College Entrance Examination Board under general direction of Dr. Kingston Johns Jr., assistant director of the Southern regional office of the board. Board experts recently completed similar financial aid studies in New York, California, Massachusetts and Texas.

Dr. Howard Boozer, director of the State Board of Higher Education in North Carolina, says the study is being conducted to provide information and data on the question of paying costs of higher education in North Carolina during the next 10 years.

Newspaper Advertising

The chairman of the executive committee of the Bureau of Advertising, Charles T. Lipscomb Jr., predicts that 1968 newspaper advertising will top 1967's record and reach $5.5 billion for the year.

Lipscomb says he feels "many advertisers are reappraising their heavy investments in television" and cities a "growing uneasiness about the size of TV's audiences.

"Newspapers will always be the basic retail selling medium, as retailers who have experienced with TV are the first to say," Lipscomb says.

Suppose Passengers Flew Their Airliner

Old fashioned as it may seem, the idea that university policies are set by trustees, administration and faculty and adhered to by students is neither antiqated nor outmoded.

Certainly that old idea is not as universally accepted now in academic circles as it once was, but it still has merit which far overshadows the arguments and demonstrations of those who think students should run the schools.

If patients ran the hospitals or passengers piloted the airplanes there would be fewer people restored to health and fewer safe landings by the airliners. If the students are handed over the colleges and universities to run according to their own whims, there will be considerably less educational opportunity for those who genuinely seek to advance their formal education.

In recent weeks the nation has seen far too many incidents in which students have virtually paralyzed large colleges and universities with their demands that they be given major voice in setting policies for the institutions. Usually, students who stage demonstrations or make such demands make up only a small minority of the enrollment of the institution. The administration of an educational institution has the obligation to hear requests from groups of its students. It nevertheless has as its major obligation providing educational opportunities for those who attend the university in quest of learning.

Battleground In Indiana Vote

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

INDIANAPOLIS — Both President Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey gave their personal blessing to the effort to build up Governor Roger Branigin's favorite son campaign by glamorizing him as a strong prospect for the Vice Presidential nomination on a Humphrey ticket.

Branigin leaders here, backed by the President and Humphrey (an announced Presidential candidate but not running in the May 7 Presidential primary) knew that above all Democratic voters must be given a solid reason to vote for Branigin instead of front-running Senator Robert F. Kennedy or Senator Eugene McCarthy, the two bona fide Presidential candidates in the primary. Branigin's favorite son campaign was simply going nowhere fast.

And so they hit on the Vice Presidential gambit. Indiana newspapers have picked up this theme and played it in almost daily headlines. Some Democratic politicians here believe it may have given Branigin a boost among voters gullible enough to think that even under the most extraordinary circumstances the 65 - year - old Branigin would even become the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee.

But that is just one of the the strong Kennedy tide running here. With almost all top-level Democratic politicians in Washington looking to Indiana as the easiest way to stop Bobby Kennedy's Presidential bid, Kennedy is the clear favorite. Confidential polls now give him 36 percent of the vote, well more than Branigin, with 19 percent still undecided. McCarthy lags far behind.

Other tactics now being used in a desperate effort to cut down Kennedy's lead are more traditional, and could be more effective.

The most important of these is an all-out attempt to entice up to 100,000 Republicans to cross over and vote for Branigin in the Democratic primary.

Thus the influential Indianapolis News, a strong editorial backer of the Governor's favorite son bid, ran a large paid political ad signed by "Republicans for Branigin Committee" telling Republican voters how easy it is to vote in the Democratic primary. All a Republican has to do is sign a statement that

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PUBLIC AFFAIRS

One of the most important things in a democracy is that people take interest in public affairs. Parents are wise if they encourage their children to keep up on national and world trends and be able to give an intelligent appraisal of what is going on. We can be sure that the minute we lose interest in public affairs people with selfish interest will take over many aspects of government to which we should be giving our attention.

The two-party system is good. If we had only one party in the country our thinking would soon become sterile and moribund. We need the clash of different points of view not only to keep life interesting but to keep public affairs wholesome.

And let us never for a moment critize the way the government is run if all we do is to sit on the sidelines and complain. A person does not need to hold public office in order to take a wholesome interest in public affairs. It is both the right and privilege of any citizen to be interested in the way his government is managing the national household. Some policies will cause taxes to go up, and while the rise in taxes is not always bad it is frequently associated with a waste of public funds. It's your money and mine. Let us be careful to see that after we turn it into the public coffer the caretakers thereof use their minds and follow a good conscience in their expenditures.

Hospital Status Symbol

WASHINGTON — Hospital rates are rising at such a phenomenal rate that some experts predict it is conceivable in 15 or 20 years that a room at a good hospital will cost $700 a day.

If this is true, and it's hard to imagine it isn't, going to a hospital will become a status symbol for the very rich only. Just as owning a yacht and a stable of horses has been in the past.

Society editors will be assigned to cover hospitals, and this is how a society column might read in the future:

"Mrs. William Vanderwhelp of Newport and Sag Point has checked into Doctors' Hospital before going to her winter home in Palm Beach wearing a Corrreges hospital gown especially made for her. Mrs. Vanderwhelp said, 'They may criticize me for going to the hospital, but I think if you've got the money and the time you might as well have the fun that goes with it.'

"At the same hospital was Reginald Winthrop Clover, heir to the Beanie Breakfast Cereal fortune who just had his appendix out. Asked what the operation cost, Reggie replied, 'To paraphrase J. P. Morgan, if we have to ask what it costs to have an operation, you can't afford one.'

ART BUCHWALD

"Meanwhile up at Rose Hill Hospital, Mary Lou Astorwood gave birth to a baby boy. Since it was their first child the Astorwoods took a private room which cost them $10,000 for the week. The proud father, Clyde Astorwood said, 'The Astorwoods ave always had their babies in hospitals, delivered by a doctor, and there is no reason for the press to make an issue over it. I think you should be able to spend your inheritance as you darn well please.'

"There is still a battle raging at the Maple Flower Hospital. It started when the board of directors decided to admit charity patients, who could afford to pay $500 a day, for a bed in the ward, Bart Clogswell, the oil trillionaire, said that by changing their admittance policies Maple Flower was opening the floodgates to 'riffraff' and the peace and harmony of the hospital would be endangered.

"Ellen Maloney McMahan, another member of the board on the other side, said the ward patients would not be permitted to mingle with the other patients because the private and semiprivate rooms had been designated as the 'clubhouse,' and the wards have been designated as the 'grandstands.'

"Liz White Whimple had a gall stone removed at the Lincoln Memorial Hospital Saturday. The operation was performed in the Palladium Room, which had been decorated especially for the occassion. Peter Duchin and his orchestra played during the postoperative surgery while Meyer Davis' orchestra was

Other Editors Saying
Nasser Making Noises

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Once again President Gamel Abdel Nasser of Egypt is making war-like threats against Israel. It will be recalled that prior to the outbreak of war between Israel and the Communist - backed Arab bloc last June, Nasser went around bragging about how he was going to eliminate Israel as a nation.

Well, we all know the results of that short war. The Arab military machine was so completely crushed by tiny Israel that it took the next six months of feverish activity by Moscow to restore it to anything resembling its former strength.

Even after the one-sided victory, however, the Arab bloc never did cease its harassment of the Israel borders. Finally, the Israeli army sent excursions across the Jordan to take remedial action, eliminating nests of terrorists who kept making sabatage raids in Israeli territory.

In spite of such provocations by the Arabs, the United Nations has dutifully demanded that Israel stops its "hostile" actions and accept a "settlement" of the Middle East differences. Such a settlement would include stripping little Israel of its military positions gained during last year's war, positions which it needs to fend off future Arab depredations.

Israel, quite predictably, spurned such unrealistic proposals, declaring that its very existence would be threatened. Now the United Nations, spurred on by the Nasser clique, is demanding that Israel call off its Independence Day parade in Jerusalem, on the grounds that "it would threaten Middle East peace efforts."

Note that the U.S. has not called upon Nasser to order harassing tactics against Israel stopped on the grounds that "it would threaten Middle East peace efforts." But it feels a domestic Israeli parade does pose such a threat!

As a consequence of Israel's refusal, Nasser is now saying that Israel is defying world opinion by going ahead with its parade plans. That's typical Communist propaganda. And so Nasser has told his troops to be ready for war. Nasser told his army leaders that "UN efforts to settle the conflict have failed and the consequence of events indicates the battle is inevitable.

If Nasser starts still another war in the Middle East, what will be the position of the United Nations? Will it pin the blame where it belongs, or will it continue to play the stooge for the massive Communist bloc which dominates the world organization?

Candid Fiscal Talk

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The financial rhetoric is becoming richer and more imaginatitive as the debate over higher taxes-less spending drags on toward what, we are told, could eventually be a crisis.

President John's frustration has been obvious and painful. But the effect has been some of the most colorfully direct talk on fiscal matters that ever came out of Washington.

"Don't hold up a tax bill until you can blackmail someone," he told Congress, 'stand up like men and vote," he said.

Shortly before, the President's chief economic adviser, Arthur Okun, compared the U.S. economy to "a fat lady munching candy."

To those Americans who have loved and admired the symbol of Uncle Sam as a stern authoritarian, grim battler, gracious host or kindly uncle, this indeed was a shock.

Few Americans would fail to get disturbed about being compared to a flatulent, self-indulgent, broad-beamed female who is unable to forego the satisfaction of nibbling now at the expense of an even fatter figure tomorrow, plus the usual gastrointestinal ailments that often go with such living.

Okun, in drawing this analogy, was calling attention to the inflated condition of the American economy and the procrastination of Congress is not acting on the issue of higher taxes and less spending.

There is little question about it, the talk in recent weeks has been more direct. It has more bite. It is hotter. Steam has been coming from the phrases of frosty bankers.

Could anybody have failed to understand William McChesney Martin, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, when he described the nation as being in the midst of the "worst financial crisis since 1931?"

And in an address called "On The Brink," J. Howard Laeri, president of the American Bankers Association, came out a few days ago and told an Ohio audience:

"Not for generations has the nation's political leadership exhibited so stunning a compulsion to catastrophe. For over two years the political powers that be have mumbled and stumbled into a chaos that has been accumulating steadily."

That's language meant for presidential advisers and Cabinet officers and congressmen. You are, he told government leaders, "fiddling while the economy fumes."

An equally reserved banker, Alfred Hayes, president of the Federal Reserve of New York, told the New York Chamber of Commerce, "The dollar is—and for some time will be—in a condition of crisis."

The word "crisis," it should be remembered, is used infrequently by bankers, especially in front of businessmen.

Hayes told his audience that domestic inflation as a result of heavy government spending without higher taxes was "sowing the seeds of future recession" and damaging the balance of payments "by sucking in imports..."

Some explanation of the sharper words was given by Walter Hoadley, chief economist of the Bank of America, the nation's largest commercial bank. Said Hoadley in an interview:

"We've reached a stage where semantics is taking over. After working for months and years what do you say except to pull out all the stops."

Government By 'Sock It To 'em'

By ELMER ROESSNER

The big cloud on the business horizon continues to be inflation. Worry about it is spreading and influencing all business decisions.

The First National Bank of Boston, not usually alarmist, said in its May New England newsletter that production of goods and services, income, retail sales and prices have surged ahead at "unsustainable, inflationary rates of growth. . .There has been a continued lack of urgently needed financial restraint. . . The inflationary trend seems to be gathering strength as it runs on."

It added, "It makes anticipatory buying more logical and attractive for those who can afford to do so. It adds to the pressure for larger wage increases than justified by productivity gains. . .This is a game which cannot be won without further damage through the vicious spiral process."

TESTING THE MARKET

Meanwhile, many manufacturers and merchants are conducting continuing tests of their markets. The common technique is to increase the price of one product or one line to see how the market takes it.

The usual reaction is, first, a slowdown of sales as buyers try out alternate products, then a reluctant acceptance of the higher price. After that, the seller raises prices on the rest of his wares.

Other sellers use gradualism. A neighborhood bakery may increase the price of cheese cake from 80 cents to 90 cents, then to $1.05, then to $1.25. May? I can lead you to one by the hand!

Note that in these rises, sellers usually avoid even dollar prices. A $1.05 price seems to meet less resistance than a $1 price. Perhaps consumer thinking is: "Well, they would have stopped at $1 if they could, so I guess they were forced to make the increase."

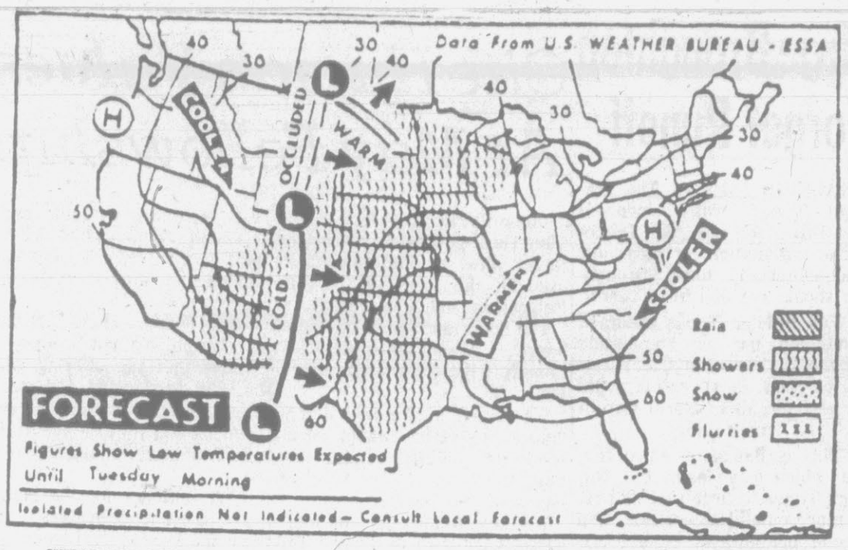
This Sunday Humble Oil launches a new campaign for its tiger, thus disproving reports that it was abandoning the beast. Humble couldn't have picked a better time, now that America's inflation pussy is becoming a tiger, roaring and showing some pretty big teeth.

OTHER LOOK-AHEADS

There will be another snarl out of the tiger with the end of the telephone strike. It will increase the buying power of 400,000 Bell employees. It will be followed by rate rises, which will effect every business in the country. It will influence the pay rates of another half million workers, starting with private switchboard operators and spreading through offices.

All-silver dimes and quarters have all but disappeared, as forecast here. The government has arrested three men on charges of melting down coins, and seized two tons of coins and a small smelter. How's that for stable locking!



WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast for Monday night from the Great Lakes to the Southwest. Snow flurries are expected in Montana, with cooler weather due in the Rocky Mountains region and in the east. Warmer temperatures are slated for the Mississippi Valley area. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Indiana Moves Near Climax

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's presidential primary campaign churned toward a climax Tuesday—and White House contender Hubert H. Humphrey suddenly became a campaign target.

The Indiana contestants, rival Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, and favorite son candidate Gov. Roger D. Branigin, were winding up the most hectic primary campaign the state has seen.

Kennedy and McCarthy used last-minute tours, a television barrage and armies of volunteer collegiate campaigners to hunt votes in their first primary confrontation.

The New York senator, brother of the late President John F. Kennedy, drew the biggest crowds and the favorite's role in opinion polls.

While McCarthy said there were signs he was going to win, he said he had already discounted Indiana as a decisive state, saying the real tests between him and Kennedy would come later, in Oregon May 28 and California June 4.

"I think we'll win in Indiana," he told 300 persons in a Lafayette park Sunday. "At least we'll call it a victory."

The Minnesota senator planned a campaign trip to Richmond today, then handshaking tours in Indianapolis.

Branigin men were counting on a hefty transfusion of Republican voters into the Democratic primary.

Richard M. Nixon, who is uncontested on the Republican primary ballot and will receive the 26 convention votes, was striving to curb the crossover vote. A Republican may cross over by requesting a Democratic ballot. He may be challenged, but only by a Democratic precinct official. To cast his ballot, the voter need only sign an affidavit that he will support a nomajority of the party's candidates in the general election. State election laws prohibit writing in candidates.

Branigin, who has campaigned heavily in smaller cities and rural areas, said voters should pick their owr governor as the man who can best represent them at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Sixty-three Democratic convention votes are at stake, but the manner in which they will be apportioned will not be decided until after the primary. They could go to the statewide primary victor, or could be distributed among congressional districts.

Three Divisions Suffer Shortages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate preparedness investigating subcommittee reports three of six Army and Marine divisions stationed in the United States have serious personnel and equipment shortages.

The panel has asserted previously that U.S.-based military units—counted on for emergency defense—were being hamstrung by the calling of their troops and equipment for Vietnam war duty.

In its heavily censored report issued Sunday, the committee headed by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., indicated serious shortages were uncovered in the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions, Ft. Hood, Tex., and the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) of Ft. Carson, Colo.

Reported in a far better shape were the 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C.; the 5th Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif., and the 82nd Airborne Division, Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The report said the 82nd Airborne's equipment situation "was the best ever seen by the subcommittee staff for any Army division," but said even it lacked sufficient helicopters.

The subcommittee said of the 2nd Armored Division that "heavy personnel turbulence resulting from levies for high priorities, expirations of terms of service, transfers into and out of the division, and other personnel turnovers had adversely affected training, resulted in overall personnel shortages" and in officer shortages.

It said the 2nd Armored "is also beset with significant equipment deficiencies" including helicopters, radios, radar and tracked and wheeled vehicles.

The 1st Armored Division was said to suffer from many of the same shortages. Although it would appear to have an adequate number of officers, said the report, many are newly commissioned graduates of officer candidate schools and the reserves.

Although these officers have had little experience, they're usually sent to Vietnam within six months, said the subcommittee.

Firemen Respond To False Alarm

Greenville firemen were called to a false alarm at the intersection of Pitt and Brown Streets Sunday at 2:16 a.m.

Fire officers said the alarm came from Box 226 at that intersection.

The Greenville City Code provides for a $25 reward to be paid to anyone giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone turning in a false report of fire.

Three Collisions Here Yesterday

Three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Sunday resulted in an estimated $900 property damage.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 3:30 p.m. collision on U.S. 264 300 feet west of Brimley Street and involved cars driven by James Harold Riggs, 23, of Route 3, Greenville and Donnie Lee Williams, 17, of Route 3, Greenville.

Williams was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Officers set damage to the Riggs auto at $200 and estimated damage to the Williams car at $250.

No charges were made when a car operated by Willie James Hester, 54-year-old Negro went out of control on Memorial Drive and struck a large sign about one-tenth of a mile south of the Village Drive intersection.

Damage to the Hester auto was set at $150 while no damage resulted to the sign in the 3:10 p.m. incident.

Kenneth Therman Kelly, 33, of Route 1, Ayden was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 12:45 a.m. mishap on U.S. 264 100 feet east of the N. C. 11 intersection.

Police reported the Kelly auto collided with a car driven by Kenneth Calvin Martin, 20, of New Castlee, Del.

Damage to the Martin car was set at $200 while damage to the Kelly auto was placed at $100.

Malaya Physician Questions U.S. Role

ST. JAMES SPEAKER . . . Dr. Chee-Koom Tan is shown with Rev. Bill Quick.

"Asians feel that if Asians want to kill each other, why should the Americans intervene?" Dr. Chee-Khoom Tan said last night at Saint James Methodist Church.

Dr. Tan, a Malaya physician and member of Parliament, spoke to a capacity - filled chapel at St. James on the recent Methodist uniting conference in Dallas.

"Americans have confused Asian nationalism with communism," he declared, and added, "the war in Vietnam is basically Asian nationalism.

Dr. Tan, who admitted that he was a "blatant dove", said he is against any outside interference in Asian problems and "the U. S. military presence in Asia is out of date."

During a question and answer session which followed his talk, he quizzed the Methodists, "Who appointed America to fulfill a Messianic role in the world?"

A member of the "loyal opposition" in the Malaysian Parliament, Dr. Tan reported that "being a Christian is not a decided advantage in Asian politics." He noted that he often quoted the Old and New Testaments to "let the Muslims know that there are other religions represented in the Parliament as well as to witness to his Christian faith." He noted that one of the Cabinet members is a longtime Methodist Christian.

Dr. Tan was one of seven delegates from Southeast Asia's four Methodist conferences. He told the group that there were over 40,000 Methodists in the Malaya - Singapore area. "Within the church itself, there are not racial tensions," he asserted.

A Greenville guest of Dr. Hans Indorf of ECU, he was introduced by Rev. Bill Quick, the church's pastor. Also on hand was Roy L. Turnage, Ayden delegate and conference lay leader of the Methodists. During the morning services at St. James Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, a delegate to the Uniting Conference, spoke on the historic session and the legislation passed.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gene Austin, 67, who crooned "My Blue Heaven" to fame, announced his engagement Sunday to a 25-year-old Greek socialite, Dora Arvan.

The engagement was announced at a party at the Miami Beach home of Miss Arvan's mother, Mrs. Vivian Cherones.

Urge Broughton Forget Runoff

RALEIGH (AP) — The Raleigh Times, which endorsed Mel Broughton for the Democratic nomination for governor, said editorially today Broughton should not call for a runoff.

"The Raleigh Times endorsed Broughton for the nomination for the basic reason that it felt his election as governor would be best for all of North Carolina," the Times said.

"This is the same basic reason which now leads the Raleigh Times to urge that its first primary candidate not call for a second primary. A second primary in the Democratic gubernatorial contest now would hurt all of North Carolina."

The Times said an effort by Broughton to defeat the first primary leader, Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, would be "a futile thing" and that a runoff "would be a terribly divisive thing."

"Both Broughton and Scott played hard on the racist angles during the first primary," the Times said. "A second primary would be even worse, if possible, along that line as each of them would be seeking to keep the voters from thinking that there would be any tie between them and (Dr. Reginald) Hawkins," Charlotte Negro dentist who placed third in Saturday's primary.

Cite Human Values At May Fellowship

"Identifying Yourself With Man Through Christ" waas the theme Mrs. William Corbitt Jr. used as she spoke at the May Fellowship luncheon Friday.

The noon luncheon was held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church with 75 women attending.

We are interested in human values, we cannot adopt an attitude of indifference to anything going on in the world today said the speaker.

We have to step out and make ourselves known to others. This is our world and our mission is to help others, states Mrs. Corbitt.

Following the invocation by Mrs. William H. Taft Jr., a buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. Taft gave the welcome and a roll call of churches followed with Jarvis Memorial Methodist having the largest number of women present.

Mrs. Thomas Davis, president of Church Women United, explained that the offering would be used to develop and strengthen the work of local and state councils and that the health kits would be used for migrant workers.

CWU officers for the coming year announced by Mrs. Davis include: Mrs. C. L. Lupton, president; Mrs. Sam Price, vice president; Mrs. Frank Hobbs, secretary; Mrs. Frank Steinbeck, treasurer; Mrs. Dink James, historian; Mrs. John Shannonhouse, Christian World Mission; Mrs. Jack Wilkerson, Social Relations and May Fellowship Day; Mrs. Dixie Green, Christian World Relations and World Community Day; chairman; Mrs. Harold Forbes, Migrant Work; Mrs. Ralph Verrastio, publicity; Mrs. James Patty, clothing chairman.

The offeratory prayer was given by Mrs. Taft. Mrs. Moulton B. Massey Jr. gave the devotional. Mrs. Green gave the closing prayer.

Mrs. Taft and Mrs. David Evans Jr. were co - chairmen for the May Fellowship luncheon.

Homers End Pitching Duel

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Brabender, Sonny Siebert and Gary Peters turned the enemy's weapons against him . . . and divided the spoils in a slam-bang pitchers' duel.

Brabender smacked the first home run of his six-year pro career—touching off a seventh inning salvo of three Baltimore homers—and pitched the American League leading Orioles to an 8-0 triumph over Washington Sunday.

Siebert poked two singles, drove in one run and scored the other while limiting Minnesota to one hit for seven innings in the Cleveland Indians' 2-1 victory over the Twins.

Peters flipped a six-hitter and hit a grand slam homer, carrying the Chicago White Sox past the New York Yankees 5-1 in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Yanks bounced back behind rookie right-hander Stan Bahnsen for a 4-1 decision in the nightcap at Chicago while Oakland edged Boston 3-2 and Detroit trimmed California 5-2 in other single games.

In the National League, Chicago swept a twin bill from New York 3-2 and 1-0, Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 16 innings, San Francisco slugged St. Louis 8-4, Atlanta blanked Houston 2-0 and Pittsburgh whipped Philadelphia 5-2.

Brabender, making his first start this year, hurled the Orioles to their seventh consecutive victory, checking the Senators on six hits.

The 26-year-old right-hander said he never saw his 390-foot drive sail into the left center field bullpen to open the seventh. "I was afraid to look up," he said. "I just kept running. I didn't know it until the umpire waved me around."

Curt Blefary followed with another bases-empty blast and Boog Powell capped the burst with a two-run homer. All three homers came off reliever Dennis Higgins.

Siebert held the Twins hitless until the seventh, when two walks and Ron Clark's single tied the game 1-1. The Cleveland fireballer, who had delivered one run with a fifth inning single, connected for a broken bat single in the bottom of the seventh and tallied the go-ahead run on singles by Jose Cardenal and pinch hitter Leon Wagner.

Manager Alvin Dark lifted Siebert at the start of the eighth because of the 47 degree weather at Cleveland and Stan Williams completed a two-hitter for the Indians, who had won their three previous games on successive three-hitters by Sam McDowell, Luis Tiant and Steve Hargan.

Peters, who hit two homers last season but never before had connected with the bases filled, shrugged off his fourth inning grand slam of Yankee southpaw Al Downing. "Hitting a homer now and then doesn't surprise me," he said. "After all, I take batting practice every day."

The Chicago left-hander struck out nine on the way to his first victory after three setbacks.

Bahnsen stopped the White Sox on two hits — including Pete Ward's sixth homer — until the ninth inning of the night-cap, when he needed relief help from Joe Verbanic after yielding a pair of singles. The Yanks gave Bahnsen a two-run lead in the first inning and Steve Whitaker blooped a two-run double in the seventh.

Bert Campaneris rapped a two-run homer and scored the deciding run on Ramon Webster's fifth inning double after drawing a leadoff walk and stealing his ninth base of the season as the A's shaded the slumping Red Sox, who have dropped six of their last seven starts.

Ken Harrelson's ninth inning homer was one of seven Boston hits off winner Chuck Dobson.

Mickey Stanley hit a two-run homer and Bill Freehan knocked in two runs with a homer and single, helping Detroit right-hander Denny McLain breeze to his fourth victory without a loss. McLain scattered seven hits and struck out seven in going the distance for the fourth time in succession.

McLain Blasts Detroit Fans

By BILL HALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Right-hander Denny McLain blasted Detroit Tigers' fans Sunday as "the biggest front-running fans in the world," and said they helped lose the pennant in 1967.

The 24 year-old Tiger pitcher cut loose in an interview after beating the California Angels 5-2 for his fourth straight complete game victory this year.

"Norm Cash and I were going bad last year and they got on us real bad," said McLain. "How do they think a guy's wife feels after he goes 0-for-8 or 0-for-16 and the fans cut loose while she's in the stands?

"If they think we're stupid for playing this game, how stupid are they for watching us?"

Asked if he thought the fans' attitude had an effect on the Tigers losing the pennant by one game last year, McLain said: "I think it did. There were certain guys on this club who didn't want to go out and play last year because of fan abuse."

McLain, who posted a 17-16 record last year but didn't win a game in the September stretch drive because of a freak foot injury, singled out All-Star outfielder Al Kaline as an example of fan abuse. Kaline, off to a slow start, is batting .241 with just two runs batted in 22 games.

"Now the fans are on Kaline," said McLain. "He's produced for 15 years and he'll produce again this year. They don't realize how good a ballplayer he is."

"I don't care if I get booed here the rest of my life," added McLain. "Detroit is a great town. I like it. I've bought a home here and have roots. But the fans in this town are the worst in the league."

Gandhi Film Set For October

NEW DELHI (AP) — The world-wide Gandhi centenary celebrations in 1969 will be heralded by the release of a 25,000-foot biographical film on the Indian freedom fighter. The film is under preparation and will be released in October 1968 on Gandhi's 99th birth anniversary.

One hundred and twenty-two countries have decided to participate in the celebrations, a spokesman for the organizers said. Exhibition, seminars and symposia will be held in India and abroad. Some of the functions will be held under the auspices of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Juniors' Track Meet Saturday

On Saturday, Greenville added to its expanding sports program by hosting the Eastern North Carolina Invitational Track Meet. This meet is designed for seventh and eighth grade boys, but the age and grade limitations may expand as the interest grows.

Junior High boys have no existing methods of comparing their track and field abilities with other boys of their same age group. High schools have a conference and sectional meets, yet the lower grades have not developed to this stage. One reason for the track meet Saturday was an effort to generate interest in a possible junior high school conference in the eastern part of North Carolina, with regularly scheduled track meetings.

"This was a very fine meet, with nine schools participating," said Greenville Junior High track coach, and host of the meet, Bill Parrish. "Next year we are led to believe there will be as many as twenty schools represented here."

The meet Saturday was a race to the wire, and was decided by the last event, a mile relay. Jacksonville edged Greenville by a slim 3½ point margin.

Pearson Led In All But One Lap

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Ford's David Pearson started at the pole position and led all but one lap as he won the third annual Fireball 300 stock car race Sunday at Asheville-Weaverville Speedway.

The Spartanburg, S.C., driver had qualified at an average speed of 89.731 miles per hour to edge Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., for the pole position. Petty, winner of the former two Fireball 300s, finished third in a 1968 Plymouth.

Second was Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., in a 1967 Dodge Charger. He had won a race at Augusta, Ga., Friday night and is NASCAR's championship point leader.

Pearson lost the lead only on the 87th lap when he made his first pits top on a caution flag. Buddy Baker of Chralotte, in a 1967 Dodge Charger, took the lead for the one lap and later spun out of the race after hitting the wall on the third turn.

Two other cars were eliminated in a later wreck on the third turn. Bill Seifert of Skyland, N.C., spun out and Neil Castles of Charlotte smashed Seifert's Ford broadside. Neither man was seriously hurt.

The Fireball 300, considered a warm-up for this Saturday's Rebel 400 at Darlington, S.C., was run at an average speed of 75.167 m.p.h. with six caution flags.

age 18 and over. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.
Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.
But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.
Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion:
Cut down on the high cost of getting around.
And buy a Volkswagen. It's only $1,699
That's around $1200 less than the average amount paid for a new car today. (Leave it in the bank. More's coming.)
A VW saves you hundreds of dollars on upkeep over the years.
It takes pints, not quarts, of oil.
Not one iota of antifreeze.
And it gets about 27 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14.
So the more you drive, the more you save.
And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)
Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face.
Try putting that in the bank.

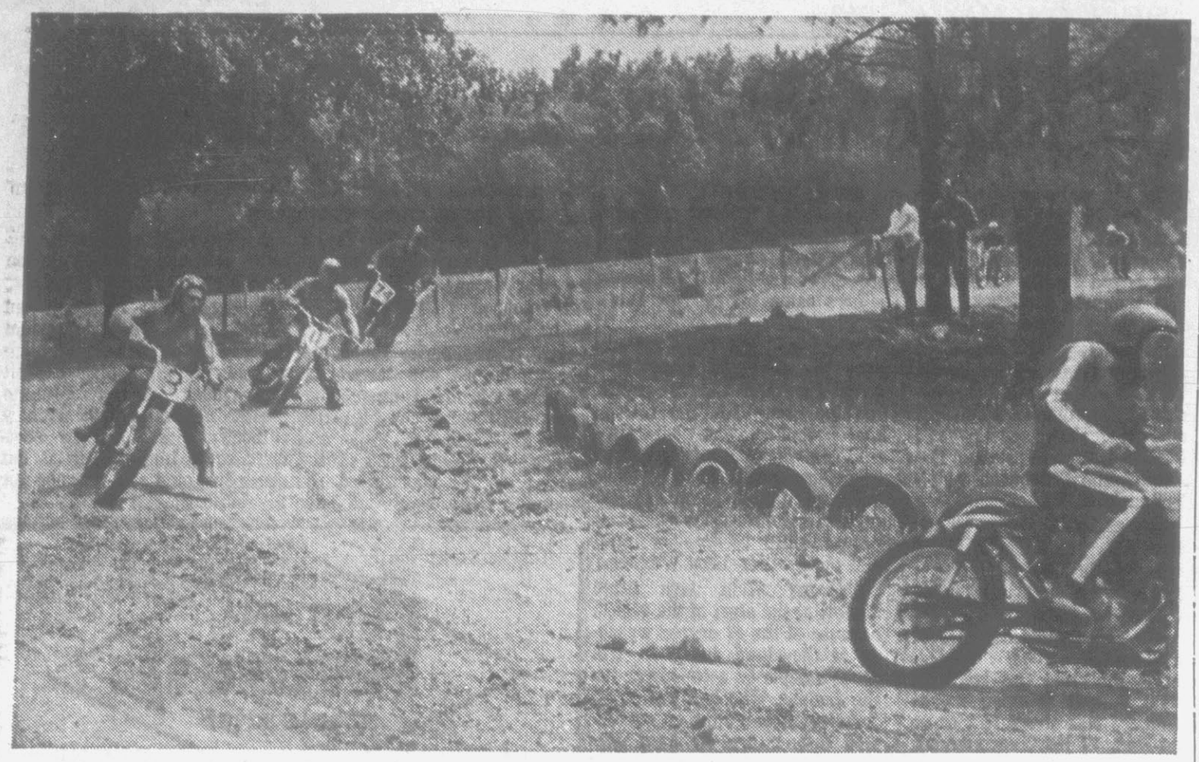
Weather Didn't Stop Cyclists



RIDERS SET FOR TURN . . . Riders battle for positio n in the hairpin turn at yesterday's cycle races at the Play Meadows Race Track.

MOTORCYCLE — MOTORCYCly challenged.

Despite a threatened rainstorm and a shower that did appear, the motorcycle races went on as scheduled yesterday at the Play Meadows Race Track.

In the 100 c.c. class, Robert Sharp and Alvin Hathaway battled for first place. The lead changed at least eight times in the fierce race for first place with Sharp finally crossing the finish line first.

In the 175 class, Troy Wheeler took the lead and fought off challenger Parris Blair for the first place. Blair passed Wheeler several times, but was unable to stay in front.

In the 250 and open class, Ed Sutton roared to an easy victory over a field of seven bikes. Sutton was never seriously challenged.

In the 100 c.c. class winners were Robert Sharp of Raleigh driving a Yamaha, Alvin Hathaway of Greenville driving a Bultaco, and Bobby Holland of Mt. Olive, driving a Bultaco. There were 12 cycles entered.

In the 175 c.c. class winners were Troy Wheeler of Raleigh driving a Honda, Parris Blair of Goldsboro driving a Bultaco, and Charlie Vaughn of Greenville driving a Bultaco. There were 10 cycles entered.

In the 250 and open class, Ed Sutton of Goldsboro driving a Yamaha, Robert Sharp of Raleigh driving a Yamaha, and Troy Wheeler of Raleigh driving a Honda. There were 7 cycles entered.

Approximately 250 people watched the races.

Temper Display By Schoendienst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — St. Louis Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst showed a temper to go with that red hair.

His National League champs had just lost an 3-4 game, played under protest, to the San Francisco Giants on a windy Sunday in Candlestick Park.

"If the league goes about its business properly," said Red, "we should win the protest. If we don't win, they should throw all the rules out of the books."

The protest came after a rhubarb in the fourth inning when the Giants' Willie Mays was awarded a stolen base after Willie McCovey's strikeout.

After McCovey's strikeout, Card catcher Tim McCarver tried to throw to second to catch the stealing Mays. The throw hit McCovey's bat and plate umpire Bill Jackowski called McCovey out and, ruling interference on McCovey's part, also called Mays out.

Giants Manager Herman Franks stormed out in protest.

The call on Mays was reversed and he was allowed to stay on second, from where he scored on Dave Marshall's homer for a 2-0 lead.

The Giants claimed McCovey's interference was unintentional.

The Cardinals insisted intent makes no difference.

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Speeding to a track record of 107.2 m.p.h., Mark Donohue of Stony Brook, N.Y., won the Laguna Sega auto race Sunday by less than two car lengths ahead of Lothar Motschenbacher, Beverly Hills, Calif., both driving McLarens.

Davis Cuppers Sweep Series

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — "Maybe we're not just paper lions after all," said Donald Dell, U.S. Davis Cup captain, as he made an obvious effort to bridle his enthusiasm. The U.S. team had just completed a 5-0 sweep over the British Caribbean tennis team in the American zone first-round matches.

"A lot of people have said we're a great team on paper," the 30-year-old Marylander said, "but if these fellows want the cup bad enough, we can win it."

The fellows Dell was referring to with unconcealed pride and paternalism were team members Arthur Ashe, Clark Graebner, Bob Lutz and Stan Smith.

Dell's all-out effort to restore international prestige t the image of U.S. amateur tennis got off to an auspicious start. The U.S. squad took command of the British Caribbean Friday with easy singles victories by Ashe and Graebner. The Americans clinched the match with an imposing doubles win by Lutz and Smith Saturday. They cleaned the slate by drubbing their Jamaican foes in the final two singles matches Sunday behind the booming racquets of Ashe, a native Richmonder, and Lutz.

The next stop on the Davis Cup circuit will be in Berkeley, Calif., May 24-26, where the U.S. teams, will play either Mexico or Canada.

Graebner set the pattern in the initial match Friday by storming over the British Caribbean's 22-year-old player captain Richard Russell' 6-1, 7-5, 6-0. Ashe, easily the most impressive performer of the match, breezed past the Caribbean's No. 2 player, Lance Lumsden, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

Lutz and Smith, fellow undergraduates at the University of Southern California, displayed formidable court savvy in posting their key 6-2, 6-3, 6-3 doubles win Saturday over Russell and Lumsden.

Ashe, the No. 2 ranked U.S. amateur and now an Army lieutenant at West Point, aced and placed his way too an easy 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Russell in the first of Sunday's largely academic singles events.

But it was Lutz, a chunky, 20-year-old strategist, who proved to be the Sunday surprise as he completely overpowered Lumsden, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1 in his Davis Cup singles debut.

CONTINUES TO PROGRESS

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A week after suffering a mild heart attack, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower continues to progress satisfactorily, hospital spokesman say.

Wanted Lawyer Before Signing

HOUSTON (AP)—Roberto De Vicenzo, the veteran Argentine golf pro who lost a tie for the Masters crown by signing an incorrect card, didn't take any chances Sunday at the $100,000 Houston Champions International.

As he looked over his card at the 18th green, De Vicenzo was the apparent winner by one stroke. He added the card and then glanced around. "Before I sign," he said, "I want my lawyer."

The 46-year-old pro was kidding, but he was careful. He had an official add up the score and then he signed it with a flourish.

The $20,000 win was the 141st tournament victory for De Vicenzo, who plays all over the world, and the third time he had won a tournament in Texas.

He won here with four rounds of consistent golf and with a little psychology.

On the final hole Sunday, De Vicenzo and Lee Trevino, 28-year-old Horizon City, Tex. pro looking for his first tournament win, were tied at 10 under par. They each needed to sink four-foot putts to finish. It was De Vicenzo's option and he chose to putt first. The ball dropped, throwing the pressure on Trevino. The Texan missed and De Vicenzo was the winner.

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP)—David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., drove his 1968 Ford to victory Sunday in the third annual Fireball 300 stock car race on the Asheville-Weaverville Speedway at an average speed of 76.167 m.p.h.

A Medal For Coach Hooker?

Doormat Is Contender

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

William and Mary's Indians may or may not win the Southern Conference baseball championship this year, but even if they don't, somebody ought to strike off a medal for coach Les Hooker.

From 30-game loser and conference doormat to potential 20-game winner and conference champion in three seasons, that's been the story of W&M under Hooker, and the best chapters may still be unwritten.

Hooker took over the Indians after their 4-30 season of 1965. The next year W&M had a 12-15 record. In 1966, the Tribe was 17-13. And this year, W&M is 18-11 and has the inside track on the SC's Northern Division championship with a 4-2 record.

The payoff for the Indians in divisional play comes Saturday when in their final regular-season games they play a conference twin bill at Richmond, 2-2 in SC play and still a title contender. An even break in the twin bill will give W&M the Northern Division crown and send the Indians into the post-season playoff against the Southern Division king.

East Carolina, 6-1 in the league, seems pretty sure to capture the Southern Division laurels, but Furman, 4-2, is giving the Pirates a run for their money.

It will all be decided Saturday when Furman pays a visit to ECU for a season - closing doubleheader. Furman must win both games to have a chance at the divisional pennant or a tie for it.

Nearly all the action last week matching conference teams was in the Southern Division. East Carolina, after splitting two with The Citadel Tuesday, edged Davidson 5-4 Saturday on Wayne Vick's homer. Furman edged The Citadel 3-2 in 10 innings to keep pace with the Pirates.

The lone Northern Division league game last week found George Washington blanking Richmond, 2-0, on Friday.

N.C. State Has Displaced Maryland In ACC Race; They Clash Next Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only two weeks remaining in the Atlantic Coast Conference baseball season, streaking North Carolina State has displaced Maryland in first place.

And the two teams play each other at Maryland on Friday.

Before then, Clemson has a chance to edge into the picture if the Tigers can defeat South Carolina in an away game Tuesday, one of the four conference games the Tigers are to play this week. Clemson is in third place at 8-4.

The State Wolfpack, 10-3 in the conference and 16-5 in all games, walloped South Carolina 18-2 Saturday.

Maryland dropped a notch to an 8-3 league record by dividing a doubleheader with Duke at Durham. The Terps won the opener 4-0, but then lost 2-1 to the three hit pitching of Duke sophomore Carle Felton.

Clemson lost 7-0 to Georgia Tech Saturday, and played at Georgia today.

South Carolina and North Carolina are tied for fourth place at 5-6. Then in order come Virginia 5-8, Duke 5-10, and Wake Forest 4-10.

Of the 19 games this week, heaviest schedule of the season, all but five are conference games. All teams play conference doubleheaders Saturday.

The schedule:

Today—Duke at East Carolina, Clemson at Georgia.

Tuesday, East Carolina at N. C. State, Wake Forest at North Carolina, Clemson at South Carolina.

Wednesday—Clemson at East Carolina.

Thursday—Clemson at East Carolina.

Friday—N. C. State at Maryland, North Carolina at Virginia, Clemson at Wake Forest, South Carolina at Duke.

Saturday—North Carolina at Maryland (2), South Carolina at Wake Forest (2), N. C. State at Virginia (2), Clemson at Duke (2).

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Carol Mann fired a final-round 73 for a 217 total and beat Mickey Wright by a stroke Sunday in the $11,500 Shreveport Kowanis Club Golf tourney for her third straight LPGA tourney victory.

Miller Is Signed By Los Angeles

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — All-American Larry Miller of North Carolina, a 6-foot-4 forward, signed with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association Sunday.

Another West Coast team, the Oakland Oaks, picked up Little All-America Henry Logan, a 6-foot guard from Western Carolina.

Other signings announced during Sunday's completion of the 1968 ABA player draft included Mike Lewis, 6-foot-7 second team All-American from Duke, who was signed by Indiana.

Each ABA club completed the drafting of 15 players Sunday in a session closed to news media.

Some of the ABA draftees already have signed contracts with National Basketball Association teams. They included two drafted by Oakland — Bob Kauffman of Guilford, who has signed with Seattle, and Skip Harlicka of South Carolina, who was signed by St. Louis (Atlanta).

Here is the list of North Carolina and South Carolina players who were choices in Sunday's ABA draft as announced by the teams:

Dallas—Bob Lewis, 5-11, South Carolina State; Gene Little, 6-1, High Point, N. C., College.

Denver — Oscar Smith, 6-8, Elizabeth City, N. C., State.

Houston — Warren Chapman, 6-9, Duke; Frank Standard, 6-4, South Carolina.

Indiana — Mike Lewis, 6-7, Duke; Jack Thompson, 6-0, South Carolina.

Kentucky—Joe Gallagher, 6-6, Pembroke; Joe Kennedy, 6-6, Duke.

Los Angeles — Larry Miller, 6-4, North Carolina.

Minnesota—None.

New Jersey—Rodney Knowles, 6-9, Davidson; Eddie Biedenbach, 6-2, North Carolina State.

New Orleans — Mark Lamoreaux, 6-8, Lenoir - Rhyne; Charles Alford, 6-9, East Carolina; Ted Campbell, 6-6, North Carolina A&T: Lee Davis, 6-8, North Carolina College.

Oakland — Skip Harlicka, 6-1, South Carolina; Bob Kauffman, 6-8, Guilford; Henry Logan, 6-0, Western Carolina.

Pittsburgh—None.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Texan A.J. Foyt Jr., in a Torino, won the Yankee 250-mile stock car event over the Indianapolis RACEWAY Park Road course Sunday, crossing the finish line two miles ahead of Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., and set a record of 80.715 m.p.h. for stock cars.

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Byron Dyce of New York University ran the last one-half mile in 1:47.6 Sunday to lead the Violets to a 7:27 victory in the two-mile relay over Villanova at the 12th annual Quantico Relays, and Olympic 100-meter champion Wyomia Tyus of Tennessee State set a meet mark of 10.5i the 100-yard dash, missing her own world record by two-tenths of a second.

The Daily Reflector

This book is our baby. And it's free.

"The Modern Baby" is no ordinary baby book. It was written by authorities who have modern insights into an age-old miracle. They tell you what it's like to be a baby. Being born, from his point of view. How he experiences nursing, and toilet training. What he sees and how soon. What he needs from you. And what you should expect of him.

"The Modern Baby" is a 100-page booklet with 49 photos, most of them in full color. And it's absolutely free, with no obligation. All you do is mail in the coupon below.

We think you should have it. Because, next to love, knowledge is the most important thing a parent can have.

Tobacco Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pnt County Tobacco Agent

Some farmers will soon be through transplanting their tobacco crop and will begin cultivating. Most farmers usually apply their fertilizer topdressing at the first cultivation.

In recent years the use of nitrate of soda as a topdressing has been on the increase. The use of nitrate of soda as topdressing for tobacco is a good practice provided the amount used does not biuld up the total amount of nitrogen too high. The total amount of nitrogen used should not exceed the amount required for the proper growth and development of the tobacco plant.

The information obtained from soil tests can be very helpful in determining the rate and analysis of fertilizer to use on a specific field for tobacco production. Observations that you have made when different rates of plant nutrients were used on a specific field are also important.

Several farmers have been pleased with the results they have obtained when using a topdressing mixture of 100 pounds of nitrate of soda and 100 to 200 pounds of sulfate of potash-magnesia.

Before applying topdressing either in the form of nitrate of soda, a mixture of nitrate of soda plus sulfate of potash-magnesia, 15-0-14, or 8-0-24, first determine the amount of nitrogen that has been applied in the form of mixed fertilizer such as 4-8-12 or 3-9-9. For example, if you want to apply a total of 64 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre where 1200 pounds of 4-8-12 fertilizer has already been applied per acre, you would need only to apply 100 pounds of nitrate of soda or 200 pounds of 8-0-24 as a top dressing. In some fields it might also be advisable to topdress with sulfate of potash-magnesium, especially where tobacco is being grown following peanuts.

The amount and form of organic matter, texture of the soil, and depth to the subsoil, are important characteristics influencing the quantity of nitrogen required for best tobacco production. For sandy leam soils of average fertility, the following quantities of nitrogen have generally been found adequate: In field with topsoil 12 inches or less in depth (depth of soil to clay) 40 to 50 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre; when top soil is 12 to 18 inches in depth 50 to 60 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre; when top soil is 18 to 24 inches in depth 60 to 70 pounds of actual nitrogen may be necessary.

When tobacco is grown on sandy soil with less water-holding capacity, more total nitrogen will be required. The rates suggested above only include the amount of nitrogen needed to mature the crop. These rates will not take care of nitrogen that is often leached by excess rainfall. If nitrogen is lost by leacing, additional nitrogen should be applied to replace this loss.

Soils differ in their productive capacity and in their fertility level. When determining the amount of nitrogen to use, careful attention should be given to the physical and chemical characteristics of the soil.

Know Someone Wrecked Train

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (AP) — Officials know what caused 27 railroad cars to careen from the rails and release dangerous sulphur dioxide gas, but they don't know who caused it.

Southern Pacific Railroad spokesmen said someone apparently broke a lock to move a siding switch. Three boys, 8, 9 and 10, were taken into custody but released.

The derailment Saturday caused $500,000 damage to the freight cars, officials said, plus damage to a train overpass. A 62-year-old man riding the rails, the only person injured, was treated for lung irritation and abrasions.

No Uniform For Women Inmates

LONDON (AP) — Women prisoners in British jails can start discarding their drab uniforms for miniskirts.

A government circular to prison governors says female prisoners will be issued 20 pounds—$48—each to buy clothes, and they can buy anything that isn't too eccentric.

Those who aren't interested in fashion can keep wearing the uniforms, the circular said.

Controlling Mange In Swine

We have recently noticed several cases of severe mange condictions in herds of swine. In discussing mange and its control with the herd owners, the question always arises about differentiating between mange and a similar appearing skin condition, parakeratosis, caused by dietary zinc deficiency.

The typical mange skin condition is the result of activity in the skin tissue of either of two microscopic mites. The sarcoptic, or common, nange mite makes burrows in the skin of infected animals. The mite feeds and multiplies in these burrows. The other mite, demodectic, infests the hair follicles. The mange produced by either mite causes costly growth retardation and unthriftiness. In addition, severe mange conditions cause the skin to thicken and wrinkle so badly that the value of the carcass is reduced materially. Mange also causes very intense itching, even more than with lice, and infected animals rub and scratch furiously and persistently.

Mange can be easily controlled with two sprayings spaced about two weeks apart. Any of several chemicals, such as carbaryl (Sevin), ronnel, malathion, and methoxychlor, when used strictly according to manufacturers' directions are effective. Ideally, a pressure sprayer should be used so that crusty skin can be loosened, thus permitting the insecticide to penetrate deeper.

Parakeratosis, the skin condition caused by zinc deficiency, can be confused in the field with that caused by the mange mites. A rule of thumb to follow is that parakeratosis does not cause the animals to rub and scratch, but mange does. However, for a more specific diagnosis have a veterinarian examine some skin scrapings under the microscope for the presence or absence of mites. If parakeratosis is diagnosed, the first move is to examine the feed ration for mineral imbalances. Zinc and copper, for example, and zinc and calcium are interrelated. That is, an excess of calcium can decrease the absorption of zinc. Also, an excess of copper can deplete the pig's store of zinc in the liver. Ordinarily 50 ppm. of zinc is adequate in the ration and will prevent parakeratosis. Under conditions of excessive calcium (over 1.5 percent in the ration) or where additional copper is being added to the feed, zinc levels may have to be increased to 100 ppm. or even 150 ppm. in the complete feed. Because of these mineral interrelationships swine producers not familiar with specific mineral requirements under varying situations should consult their feed company, County Livestock Agent, or Area or State Livestock Specialist before altering their feed ration formulas.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's Washington pastor says the chief executive's "great leadership has brought us to the point where we may have war no more.

The Rev. George R. Davis said the President's peace efforts are described by the biblical passage from the Book of Timothy:

"I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith."

"He hasn't finished the course," Dr. Davis said, "but he's kept the faith."

The President, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Lynda, attended 11 o'clock services at National City Christian Church.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "massive upsurge" in private contributions to predominantly Negro public colleges is being urged by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

"Despite their many contributions to society," an association spokesman said, "these institutions are the forgotten colleges when it comes to private support."

Appealing specifically to corporations and other sources of philanthropy, an association statement said private contributions constitute less than one per cent of public Negro colleges' income.

The Internal Revenue Service says its computers traced $86 million in taxes that wouldn't have been collected otherwise last year—and should do even better this year. The IRS credits the machines with tracing $166 million since they went into operation in 1962.

Systems analysis for maintaining efficient government operations may have been oversold but remains a useful tool, concludes a report prepared for a Senate Government Operations subcommittee. Says the report: "With it our batting average has been far higher than without it."

Rent-A-Wife?

LONDON (AP) — Peter Fovargue wants to rent out his wife for three months as a housekeeper and companion. The price is 50 pounds—$120.

"Christine is a bargain for anyone," said the 28-year-old crane driver. "I shall make out a proper receipt and it will all be legal and above board."

Fovargue needs the money to pay a fine for shopbreaking and stealing cigarettes.

He said he was selling—or renting his wife for three months as a housekeeper and companion.

'Anything is better than having Peter in jail," said Mrs. Fovargue, a 21-year-old brunette.

Control Program For House Flies

By CHARLES E. BREWER

April and May are the months when the common house fly becomes a serious problem on caged - layer farms. These are the months when a control program should be initiated. This control program should be a regularly scheduled part of your management program.

Several methods of manure management currently are being used in controlling fly populations. The one most commonly employed on Coastal Plains poultry farms is the dry system — infrequent clean-out. With this system, the manure is removed twice annually. The manure should be removed in late March or early April. This will allow time for a pad of manure to accumulate and some coning to occur before the fly season arrives. Coning of the droppings is necessary to air dry the manure sufficiently to prevent maggot development.

Other factors which will reduce moisture content of the droppings are:

(1) Proper grading around houses so that water flows away from the house.

(2) Use of four or six inch drain pipes from the water trough.

(3) Controlled (intermittant) water supply.

(4) Removal of weeds to increase air flow and sun penetration.

Insecticides

Insecticides are a necessary part of a good fly control program, particularly when droppings are allowed to accumulate for several months.

The chemicals and methods of application which have proven successful in our area are as follows:

(1) Space sprays — applied as fogs or mists with birds in the house. This treatment should be applied in late evening when flys are resting. The two chemicals most commonly used are Naled (Dibrom) and Dichlorvos (Vapona).

(2) Baits — several effective chemicals are available in bait form. However, you can reduce fly control costs by preparing your own baits. Suggested chemicals are: Dimethoate (Cygon), Naled (Dibrom) and Dichlorvos (Vapona). Mixed with sugar and sprinkled on walkways and around buildings, these chemicals will assist in reducing the fly population.

(3) Larvicides — should be used only as spot treatment on wet areas where larvae have developed. General treatment with larvicides is not recommended because beneficial mites and insects in the manure are destroyed.

Chemical sprays, baits, and larvicides alone do not constitute an adequate fly control program. Sound manure management, sanitation, and chemicals do constitute an adequate fly control program.

At Least 10 Die In N.C. Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents during the North Carolina election weekend killed at least 10 persons, the Highway Patrol reported.

The deaths brought the state's total for the year to 555, compared to 487 for the same period in 1967.

A headon collision between a car and a pickup truck near Albemarle killed three persons. They were Freddie Martin Karkey, 22, of Rt. 1, Stanfield; and Harmon Boyd Cox, and his wife, Zula Parker Cox, 48, both of Albemarle. The accident occurred Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gamble Crowe, 67, of Rt. 1, Ellenboro, was killed Sunday in a two-car accident at a highway intersection eight miles northeast of Forest City.

Ralph Lee Poindexter, 58, of Rt. 1, Warsaw, was killed when the car in which he was a passenger ran off a rural paved road near Warsaw and overturned.

G. T. Glovanni, 23, a Ft. Bragg paratrooper, died when his car left I-95 near Dunn and overturned. The patrol said the soldier apparently went to sleep at the wheel.

Robert Lee Oxner, 19, of Rt. 8, Monroe, was killed when the car he was driving left a curve and overturned on N.C. 200 about five miles south of Stanfield.

Elizabeth Britt Smythe, 26, of Raleigh, died in a two-car wreck on a rural paved road near Raleigh.

A 48-year-old Rockwell man, James Galdden, was killed when struck by a car while crossing U.S. 29 near Kannapolis.

Radford Barnhill, 17, of St. Pauls, was killed when he lost control of his car and it crashed into trees off a rural road near St. Pauls.

See Start Of Nearby Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When investigators sought the causes of the Watts rioting of 1965, they reported among residents' complaints lack of nearby hospital care.

Three thousand persons attended ground-breaking ceremonies Saturday for the $23.5-million Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. General Hospital in the predominantly Negro south-central area. The 400-bed county hospital named after the slain civil rights leader will be open in about three years.

The Worry Clinic

Working Formula To Hold Audiences

Laura is smart in wanting to know how to make an interesting speech. For the population explosion means it is becoming essential for all types of leaders to become adept at public platform strategy. Whether you are a singer, magician or speaker, there are several basic rules to keep in mind.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

CASE F-561: Laura M., aged 16, is taking Public Speaking.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "you spoke for 50 minutes before our high school assembly, but it didn't seem like 10 minutes.

"So what is your formula for holding an audience?"

Well, if Laura had taken notes, she'd have discovered the formula.

But whenever we hear a speech that grips us and captivates our attention, we usually find it irritating to take notes.

Maybe that is why so many younger clerics (and some past 40) haven't yet learned the simple recipe for thrilling an audience.

If you teen-agers wish to obtain the best public speaking laboratory experience (and at no tuition cost), volunteer to teach a Sunday School class.

I'm not joking, for most of us professional orators have served an internship in that matter.

Then go out for the high school, as well as your college, debating team.

I did that in high school and was captain of one of Northwestern University's debate teams when debating was a fine art.

But I also took several courses in our School of Speech under as uperb public platform psychologist, namely, Lew Sarett.

Prof. Sarett was a famous chautauqua orator and the best applied psychologist at Northwestern, barring none.

He always urged speakers to select a theme or text about which they were well informed.

"Be so full of knowledge that you can speak for an hour on your topic," he would advise, "but them compress your material into 20 minutes.

That compression will immediately speed up the speaker's rate of delivery and a fast flow of language helps captivate an audience.

But some members of our speech class would be so "steamed up" about their topic and so intent on persuading everybody to their viewpoint, that they sounded like a high-pressure salesman.

"Wait a minute," Prof. Sarett would smilingly break in upon such a pile-driving orator.

"Wander around a little en route to your destination and pick a few daisies along the roadside."

"Picking daisies" meant injecting a little humor and using some local cases that would help illustrate the major theme.

Since I have delivered literally thousands of professional speeches, I can also add these further relevant points:

(1) Save your jokes or humor till later in your speech, for the crowd will follow you for the first 3 minutes, anyway, just out of curiosity and to size you up;

(2) Use the rebound phenomena, in which you deftly alternate humor with pathos, thereby getting greater response to both;

(3) "Key" your opening, like the A Capella choir, with a relevant quotation from some famous person of the past;

(4) Be animated and vivacious, even if you must turn this on by deliberate effort;

(5) Have a punchy terminal sentence or fade out with a famous quotation.

For further advice, send for my booklet on "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Actor's Home Is Being Auctioned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $55,000 bid for actor George Raft's home was rejected at an auction Sunday by a Chicago concern which recently took possession for a $73,000 debt.

A collection of Raft's personal belongings, including a Foreign Legion uniform left over from a movie, cigaret lighters and comb and brush sets, were auctioned for $300.

Overstayed The Allotted Time

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Officials said St. Louis County Democrats found much to talk about in a weekend meeting to pick delegates for the party's state convention. The meeting started in a hotel ballroom but the party members overstayed their alloted time and were forced to conclude their business on a nearby parking lot.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures through Saturday will average near normal with daytime highs from 77 to 85 and lows near 60. Warmer Tuesday and Wednesday, cooler by end of week. Scattered showers about Wednesday and Thursday.

A More Sedate Life For London Playgirl

TEL AVIV (AP) — Mandy Rice-Davies, one of the leading figures of London's Profumo scandal five years ago, now waters her garden, models, makes movies, runs a discotheque, keeps house and waits impatiently for her baby to be born.

"Boy or girl, it doesn't matter," she says, "as long as it's sound in mind and limb."

The blonde former call girl married an Israeli air steward-turned-businessman named Rafi Shauli—pronounced Sha-ooly—and settled in Israel two years ago. The 22-year-old Londoner has become one of the most popular and best-known celebrities in Tel Aviv's noisy, arty nightlife.

She and her husband run one of the most sophisticated night clubs in town. Mandy's Discotheque setst he pace and dictates the fashion for the humming mile-long strip of bright lights, coffee houses, steak bars and discotheques in central Tel Aviv.

She has cut her cascading hair short and pert.

"The pregnancy made it fall out," she giggles.

Mandy hasn't cut herself off from Britain. She flies there twice a year.

"Not that I'm crazy about England, but I visit people and buy clothes. You can't get anything here," she says.

She doesn't talk about the 1963 affair that shook the British government.

John D. Profumo, Britain's war minister, resigned after admitting that he lied to the House of Commons about his affair with Christine Keeler, another call girl who shared her affections with a Soviet Embassy attache. Christine and Mandy had shared an apartment and were the chief witnesses in the trial of Stephen Ward, who committed suicide on being found guilty of keeping a brothel.

Mandy has just finished filming a locally made movie called "Iris," to be premiered in June, in which she plays a seductive English model having an affair with a disillusioned Israeli journalist.

She speaks English in the film, but off the screen chatters away in fairly fluent Hebrew, laughs at her own mistakes and calls herself a shiksen—Yiddish for a non-Jewish girl.

She intends to convert to Judaism before her baby is born.

"Life here used to be a terrible rush," she says, "modeling, filming, traveling, keeping house, running the discotheque."

Her husband bursts into the house, yelling he is "starving to death."

And Mandy disappears into the kitchen.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠106 ♡Q9654 ◇6 ♣AJ952
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ◇	Pass	Pass
2 ♡	3 ◇	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. A single raise would not do justice to the hand and, even if partner has a mild rebid, you should have a good play for 10 tricks.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one spade, and you hold:
♠QJ753 ♡62 ◇K95 ♣A102
What is your response?

A.—There is no satisfactory bid with this hand. It is too good for two spades and not good enough for a jump to three, which guarantees game. Nor is it the proper type for a jump to four. The best bet is to make a temporary bid of two clubs, intending to give a spade raise on the next round.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J82 ♡A2 ◇K753 ♣Q962
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♠	4 ♡	?

What do you bid?

A.—With a likelihood that you can win two tricks defensively, the indicated procedure is a penalty double. There would be no justification for a bid of four spades, which would be a shot in the dark. If partner's hand is unbalanced and contains a long spade suit, he need not stand for the double. He can decide to go on to game in spades.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K86 ♡Q1054 ◇K832 ♣42
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—One no trump. While partner's rebid is by no means forcing, another bid is recommended just in case he has a pretty good hand. Game is still possible if he has about 18 points. The one no trump rebid in this case does not show substantial values and can be made with as little as eight or nine high card points.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ10 ♡AKJ1062 ◇52 ♣QJ
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	6 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—A grand slam bid is clearly indicated. Partner has contracted for a small slam on the basis of a mere opening bid from you with only the added information that you have a rebiddable heart suit. As far as high cards are concerned, he could not count on you for more than 13 points. He, therefore, must have 20. Inasmuch as you have 17, you know that you have the necessary 37, together with a good six card suit.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠872 ♡J86 ◇A10654 ♣85
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ◇	Pass
2 NT	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You fully exhausted your values when you responded with one diamond. If this were all partner needed to produce a game, he would have been in position to jump to three no trump instead of only two.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ5 ♡AJ762 ◇962 ♣53
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—A return to two diamonds is clearly indicated. There is no justification for a bid of two no trump merely to describe a spade stopper. Such a rebid by responder should be based on a stronger holding. If opener is unable to take further action after your return to two diamonds, you may be sure you are not missing a game.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠K9 ♡AQ7 ◇AJ84 ♣A976
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	1 NT	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—That East has dragged a red herring across the scene has just become apparent. In view of the fact that North has sufficient high card strength to justify a jump shift, it is barely possible that East may have stretched the truth. In an effort to shed more light on the situation and to express the gay deceiver, a cue bid of three hearts is recommended with the intention of supporting clubs vigorously on the next round.

This Spring Red Paint For Famed Eiffel Tower

By SANFORD J. UNGAR

PARIS (UPI)—Parisians will wake up one day soon and find the dark-brown Eiffel Tower has turned red. It happens once in every seven years.

The tower's red coat is—unfortunately in the opinion of some—only a brief springtime fling. As summer comes, so will the red begin to disappear and the brown to take over again.

The color change is part of a months-long process of giving the Eiffel Tower a new, $100,000 paint job. After the first coat of rust-resistant red will come two coats of the usual brown.

Custom-Made

Paint for the tower that has loomed over the French capital since 1889 is custom-made. Jean Dieny, the Eiffel's technical director, spent many hours looking over different shades of brown before making his recommendations to Maurice Doublet, Prefect of Paris and the man with the final word.

The goal of Doublet and Dieny is to settle on a brown that will look best throughout the year-round variations of climate as well as under the powerful floodlights that brighten the Eiffel every night. The color must also blend well with the tower's surroundings — classic Parisian buildings, tall trees and manicured lawns.

Apart from color specifications, Dieny explained, the paint must have an acceptable oil base and be "supple enough to follow the movements of the iron in the tower (which sways as much as 6.3 inches in an 87-mile-an-hour wind)."

About 30 painters will splash more than 77,000 pounds of paint on the structure before the job is done. Workmen assigned to the task must be found to have no fear of heights, the director noted. No special scaffolding is erected for the job and the men must dangle from ropes to dab into every corner of the 1,050-feet-high tower's metal lacework.

In order to accommodate the 2½ million people who annually visit the tower, it remains open throughout the painting

In Good Shape

Despite its slight sway the Eiffel Tower, according to Dieny, "is in just as good shape today as the day it opened in 1889." It was designed by French engineer Gustave Eiffel for the Champs de Mars World's Fair that year on the city's Left Bank.

Nowadays the tower is used to transmit television signals, and it contains two swanky restaurants and a private apartment. But its main purpose is still as a tourist attraction. Dieny estimates that more than 60 million people have visited the Eiggel in its 79-year history. It is owned by the city of Paris and in recent years has made a profit of about $300,000 a year.

Dieny displayed eight shades of brown paint that were examined. To the unpracticed eye they seemed all to be just about alike. But the UPI reporter did get an advance tip: The Eiffel Tower will be just the tiniest bit lighter in color for the next seven years.

he intends to vote for a majority of the Democratic candidates on the ballot in the November election.

But even this formality can be dispensed with if the voter who asks for a Democratic ballot isn't challenged by eelction officials. Moreover most precincts are being supplied with only four or five affidavit forms, which means that after they've been exhausted other Republi c a n crossovers cannot be challenged at all.

There is, of course, a risk in this crossover strategy by the Governor's highly efficient Democratic state organization, headed by one of the brightest young politicians in the country, Gordon St. Angelo. The risk is that Republican crossovers will vote for McCarthy, who is extremely popular with moderate Republicans in suburban areas. But this risk is worth taking.

A confidential poll here in Indianapolis indicates that, for every ten Republican crossovers, seven would vote for Branigin. The percentage would be even higher in rural counties.

But wooing crossovers to win primary elections is extremely chancey. Moreover, the Republican organization, backing Richard M. Nixon wants Nixon to run up a maximum vote total to buttress his position against Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Thus, the most practical stop - Kennedy tactic may turn out to be neither of these, but a last-minute effort by the Democratic state committee to galvanize the party's organizations in all 92 counties.

hired to play for her after she got back to her room. Liz had special gowns designed for the surgeons and nurses. It was probably the most lavish gall stone operation of the year, and could only be compared with Truman Capote's tonsillectomy of last spring, when Truman rebuilt the operation room amphitheater to look like the Madid bullfight ring.

"Odds and ends: What doctor is thinking of setting the broken arm on what former debutante who has been married four times? . . . .Did Lily Fitzwhistle, the spark plug heiress, check in secretly at Bonnie University Hospital for slipped disc? . . . . The Duchess of Amblemeyer claims she is tired of going to Queen Mother's Hospital in London for her ulcer, and said she would have all her ulcer-work done in the future at Arthur's Sanitarium in New York where most of the beautiful people go . . . . Frank Sinatra was turned away for treatment from Boswell Hospital after a fight the other night because he wasn't wearing a tie. When told by a reporter whom he had turned away, the chief surgeon said, 'I don't care if it was Richard Burton himself, the hospital has to maintain a decorum, or we'll lose all our clientele.'

"Next week I'll tell you about two hernia operations that were planned months in advance in the same day without either playboy knowing it."

Greenville Man In Honor Society

RALEIGH — Patrick G. Hatcher of Greenville was one of 11 students initiated in the North Carolina State University's Order of Thirty and Three Friday night here.

Two coeds and nine men were chosen from a sophomore class of 2,000 members to join the sophomore honor society.

Hatcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Hatcher of 1905 E. Third St., Greenville, where he graduated from J. H. Rose High School in 1966. He has compiled a scholastic record approaching straight A's since starting his work in the field of chemistry. He is a member of the student governing unit for the School of Physical Science and Applied Mathematics. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honor society for freshmen.

Gives Program At 4-H Meeting

Thomas Bowen presented the program at the meeting of the Pinewoods 4-H Club Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Little.

Bowen's program topic was "Dogs."

The meeting was presided over by Bonnie Bright.

Glen Smith was welcomed as a new member.

This was the last meeting until September.

Named President Of Fraternity

WILSON—Ashley T. Hooks of Winterville has been elected president of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity at Atlantic Christian College for the coming year.

Alpha Sigma Phi is a national social fraternity recognized for its high scholastic standards, athletics and community leadership.

Hooks, a rising senior majoring in Business Administration, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Hooks of Winterville. He has also served the fraternity as secretary, vice president, and treasurer to the Interfraternity Council of Atlantic Christian College.

TURN FOR WORSE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. Lurleen Wallace's condition apparently has taken a turn for the worse.

There were no immediate details but an aide said today a report on her condition would be issued later in the day.

REPORT LOSS

DETROIT (AP) — Directors of American Motors Corp. voted today to omit, for the 11th consecutive quarter payment of a dividende to stockholders, and reported a loss of nearly $3.5 million for the quarter ended March 31.

The first United States bank was established on March 1, 1780.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.
