

Broughton Decides Against Run-Off Bid

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Mel Broughton announced today he has decided not to seek a runoff in the Democratic gubernatorial race, and that he will support Lt. Gov. Bob Scott in the November general election against Republican nominee Jim Gardner.

Broughton, looking sombre but calm, made his announcement at a news conference in Raleigh. It was understood that a meeting would be held later today among Scott, Broughton and Gov. Dan Moore as a show of unity in the Democratic ranks.

Moore had reportedly urged Broughton not to seek a runoff. Broughton said he had advised Scott of his decision and had congratulated him "on the splendid vote" he received in Saturday's primary.

"I will support him and all other Democratic nominees in the fall election, and hope that those who voted for me this past Saturday will do likewise," Broughton said.

Scott led Broughton by nearly 100,000 votes in last Saturday's primary but fell short of a majority.

"This is a difficult decision—no one who has fought hard and has had thousands fighting with him enjoys a termination of the fight, particularly when there is hope left for victory," he said. "Nevertheless, one has to look beyond individual desires and aspirations, and having done this I know that my conclusion is best for the state of North Carolina," Broughton added.

The Raleigh lawyer said he reached his decision "after much careful and prayerful consideration."

He said he concluded that it would not serve the best interests of the state "or the Democratic Party" to call a second primary.

Earlier, Gov. Moore had described as "absolutely false" a published report that he had sent Broughton a telegram urging him not to ask for a runoff with Scott.

Asked about the report at today's news conference, Broughton said: "I have heard absolutely nothing from Gov. Moore."

"I haven't sent a telegram to anyone," said Moore when asked for comment on the report carried by the Raleigh News and Observer.

Scott led Broughton by nearly 100,000 votes in last Saturday's primary but fell short of a majority.

The News and Observer noted that a request from the governor would carry much weight with Broughton, who has been politically close to the governor and who served as state Democratic chairman under appointment by Moore.

Jim Mason, Broughton's campaign manager, said Tuesday afternoon: "We're receiving great encouragement from our county managers and have innumerable calls from friends and supporters."

Scott, meanwhile, stuck close to his campaign office Tuesday. He returned telephone calls, answered correspondence and awaited word from Broughton.

Pupil Assignments Get Tentative Approval By Pitt School Board

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pupil assignment for the 1968-69 school year was given tentative approval by the Pitt County Board of Education yesterday although students will not be notified until the availability of space at the schools is finally determined.

Tentative approval was given to the students' choices under the Free Choice Plan. In all 134 Negro students have requested assignment to predominantly white schools for the coming year.

About the same number of Negroes requested assignment to predominantly white schools last year but officials assigned an additional 345 Negroes to predominately white units making a total of 479 at the beginning of the 1967-68 school term.

The board agreed to check with Chicod residents in order to determine whether to construct a lobby on the present gymnasium or expand the gymnasium playing area at the school.

Last month board members approved adding to the high school gymnasium providing a cost of the playing area addition had been approved earlier and funds are on hand.

Final figures on the proposed completion of the two projects total more than $27,000 and officials are seeking to determine whether an expanded playing area or a lobby would be of more benefit to the school. The lobby addition had been bid at $10,498. Earlier estimates had placed the cost of the gym extension between $6,000 and $10,000 although final figures showed the 20-foot extension to the playing area would cost $13,829, plus cost of plumbing, heating, painting and floor finishing.

School board members voted to readvertise the Haddock and Nichols school property for sale. Nichols School, a wooden building, is located on Bell Avenue, while the Haddock School, also a wooden structure, is located near Haddocks Crossroads.

A resolution was approved requesting an access road to the North Pitt School site. The request will be forwarded to the Pitt County Commissioners for their approval and then on to the State Highway Commission. Plans for the new school are now being drawn.

The board awarded a contract for auditing the schools' books for the 1968-69 school term to John C. Protor of Greenville. The contract includes $2,250 for the county schools books, $800 for the Elementary and Secondary Education Act Title I funds and $200 for the Title II money.

The resignation of two school officials was approved by the board.

The resignations included Vocational Coordinator Nurham Warwick who has accepted a position with the N. C. State Vocational Department and Delano Wilson, principal of Ayden High School, who has accepted a position at East Carolina University as assistant professor in the history department working with student teachers.

The board approved Bobby Dixon, who is heading the Fountain Vocational Center, as a replacement for Warwick. No successor has been named for Wilson.

The Fountain Vocational Program will be discontinued next year. Alford told the board that ESEA officials had recommended the center be closed because full use of funds was not being obtained. Equipment at the Fountain Center will be distributed to schools throughout the county.

School Superintendent Arthur S. Alford reported to the board that Superior Court Judge William J. Bundy will hear the question of the condemnation of the Tyson property in the next several weeks ago in an attempt to secure the site on N. C. 43, between Greenville and Chicod for the location of a consolidated high school. Alford also said the Hart-Garris property, between Ayden and Grifton, is being appraised and condemnation proceedings will probably be started in the not-too-distant future.

The board also approved a $46,570.15 budget for the summer driver training program. The proposed budget, which includes car expense, insurance, salaries and materials, will be forwarded to the state for final approval. The cost of the summer program is funded entirely from state money.

Father Of ECU Student Killed In 'Copter Crash

WORMS, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army today identified the three crewmen and two passengers killed Monday in the crash of an Army helicopter in England.

The dead included Col. William S. Grabowski, 45, commanding officer of the U. S. Army Communications Depot at Burtonwood, England.

Grabowski, a passenger on the helicopter, is survived by his widow of Burtonwood, a son William who is a cadet at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and a son Michael, who is a student at East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C.

The other passenger was Spec. 4 James E. De Groot, 21, whose wife, Patricia Joan, lives in Racine, Wis.

Six-Member Team Leaves Thursday

U.S. Delegation Ready To Depart For Parleys

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. delegation is set for Paris peace contacts with Hanoi negotiators but in Washington officials expressed concern that what they termed accelerated North Vietnamese military activity could force American re-education.

The six-member American diplomatic team, headed by Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman, is to leave for Paris Thursday. North Vietnam's delegation began arriving there Tuesday.

Ha Van Lao, adviser to chief Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy, said he is optimistic about prospects but did not elaborate.

Despite the approach of preliminary talks, U.S. officials said, record levels of troop infiltration from the North into South Vietnam have been noted.

Those officials also said they are concerned about a new wave of enemy attacks on Saigon and other South Vietnamese cities.

Accompanying Harriman to Paris will be: Cyrus R. Vance, former deputy secretary of defense; Lt. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, under assignment as deputy U.S. military commander in Vietnam; Philip C. Mabib, Asian expert in the State Department; William Jordan, aide to presidential adviser Walt W.

Rostow; and Daniel I. Davidson, special assistant to Harriman.

Sargent Shriver, just sworn in as American ambassador to Paris, is hurrying to his new post a few days ahead of schedule in order to be on hand for the peace contracts.

Up to last Sunday, according to reports from Saigon, an estimated 100,000 Communist troops have entered South Vietnam since late January—more than 6,500 of them in the first five days of this month. Meanwhile, there have been no U.S. reinforcements, officials said.

One Of Houston Heart Transplants Is Dead

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One of the three men who underwent heart transplants within five days of each other died today.

A St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital announcement said James B. Cobb, Alexandria, La., died eight hours after unexpected complications developed.

"The transplanted heart was not rejected and functioned well until the unforeseen complications occurred," the announcement said.

The cause of death was not known but the hospital said Cobb, who received the heart of a 15-year-old boy Sunday, was believed to have died because of liver and kidney failure.

Meanwhile, the other two patients remained in satisfactory condition.

They were J. M. Stuckwisch, 62, Alpine, Tex., and Everett Claire Thomas, 47, Phoenix, Ariz.

The condition of Cobb, 48, had been excellent Tuesday but doctors remained at his bedside constantly once the complications developed.

"It is believed Cobb's response to immune suppressive drugs (that combat rejection) was at fault since the white blood cell count fell to precariously low levels just prior to death, lowering his body resistance and exposing him to liver and kidney failure," the hospital said.

The latest heart recipient, J. M. Stuckwisch, 62, of Alpine, Tex., was either "dead or dying" when the heart of a 36-year-old man was implanted in his chest Tuesday, a hospital official said. The heart of Clarence A. Nicks of Houston, Tex., who was beaten in a tavern April 23, was transplanted in Stuckwisch's chest in 30 minutes.

Everett Claire Thomas, 47, of Phoenix, Ariz., stood up for the first time since he received a new heart Friday. Thomas ate his first soft food at lunch—a broiled egg, toast and orange juice.

The question of when the donor was medically and legally dead arose as Dr. Denton A. Cooley prepared to lead the surgical team in the Stuckwisch operation.

Harris County Medical Examiner Joseph Jachimczyk said Nicks was pronounced dead at 10:30 a.m. by Dr. Pedro Caram of St. Luke's Hospital.

Caram said an electroencephalograph showed absence of any brain waves. A respirator was used to keep the donor's heart viable before it ceased to function at 1:58 p.m., a hospital spokesman said.

The implant to Stuckwisch began six minutes later.

Cooley called about noon and asked permission to proceed with the operation, Dr. Jachimczyk said.

"I couldn't give legal approval, but I told him I would neither file nor press charges," the medical examiner said.

"I suppose I gave him my tacit approval," Jachimczyk said. He could not give his legal approval because an autopsy had not been performed, Jachimczyk said.

Most Of Welfare Budget Approved By Greene Board

SNOW HILL—Greene County Commissioners Monday approved a Welfare Department public assistance budget request of $27,799 for the coming fiscal year, but took a $34,355 administration item request from the department for consideration.

The $27,799 is the county share of a $247,527 public assistance budget that includes $219,728 in federal funds and state participation. The budget which encompasses old age assistance, aid to the permanently and totally disabled, medical assistance for the aged, and aid to families of dependent children, will be forwarded to the State Board of Allotments and Appeals for their review and final determination.

The welfare administration budget, presented by Welfare Board chairman Harold Bailey, totaled 195,976 and included a request for $34,355 in county money and $611,621 in state and federal funds, for further consideration.

The administration budget included proposed expenditures for personnel, office expense and other administration costs.

The county commissioners also accepted for study a request from the county library for a budget of $7,200 for the 1968-69 fiscal year. That request was made by Snow Hill Mayor Melvin Oliver and

Mrs. Hollis Haney, Neuse Regional Librarian.

The $7,200 in approved, would be the major part of the library's total budget of approximately $9,500 for the next year.

In other action, the board approved a contract with the A. M. Pullen Co., Certified Public Accountants, of Raleigh, for the audit of the county's fiscal records for the year ending June 30, and heard a request from representatives of the North Carolina Council of Churches for assistance in finding a building to be used as a day care center.

W. H. Shipe of Raleigh and Hugh Hill of Greene

County told the commissioners the proposed center would provide care for children two to five years old whose parents are engaged in farming and earn at least 50 per cent of their income from agriculture.

The men were referred to the Greene County Board of Education after expressing an interest in a vacated school building.

Robert S. Nimmo, secretary-treasurer of the Greene Soil and Water Conservation District presented the district's annual report to the board.

Nimmo reported that soil mapping is being completed on 125,732 acres of land in the county. He noted too, that there has been 39,286 feet of drain tile installed during the past year and 6,430 feet of open ditch drainage completed, as well as about three acres of grass waterways and 15 acres of land for strip cropping established during the period.

Commissioners declined to take further action on a request from R. B. Nelson of Robersonville who asked the board to recommend to the State Highway Commission that N. C. 908 be extended along U. S. 13.

Greene County commissioners adopted a resolution in July 1967 asking the highway commission to study the matter. A study was made and the highway department reported such an extension did not appear to be desirable.

Joy In The Kennedy Camp

Sen. Kennedy And Nixon Rack Up Impressive Vote Showing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two victories by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, an impressive showing by Richard M. Nixon and the defeat of veteran Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, highlighted five primaries across the nation.

Kennedy defeated Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in Indiana's Democratic presidential primary and his national convention delegate slate beat Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's in the District of Columbia.

Republican candidate Nixon was unopposed and got an even bigger Indiana vote than in the 1960 primary. He carried the state in the 1960 general presidential election.

Lausche was defeated by Cincinnati City Councilman John J. Gilligan, a former congressman who had labor support and the Ohio Democratic organization endorsement.

In Tuesday's primary voting: —Kennedy got about 42 per cent of the Indiana vote to about 31 per cent for favorite-son candidate Gov. Roger D. Branigan and about 27 per cent for McCarthy.

But it appeared possible Kennedy might have to share with Branigan some of Indiana's 63 Democratic National Convention delegates. Nixon garnered all 26 Republican convention votes.

—All 21 candidates on Kennedy's delegate slate in the District of Columbia were far outdistancing their Humphrey rivals. By unit rule Kennedy gets all 23 of Washington's convention votes.

Also in the D.C. voting, a GOP slate composed of both Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller supporters easily defeated a slate weighted toward California Gov. Ronald Reagan, a favorite-son candidate.

—Gilligan's Ohio GOP Senate opponent apparently will be Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe who issued a victory statement after outdistancing two opponents.

—In Alabama, third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace apparently won the right to run on his state's Democratic party ticket he appeared to have picked up at least 25 of 34 Alabama delegates to the Democratic convention.

—Florida Rep. Edward Gurney won the Republican senatorial nomination by a landslide but the Democratic race between former Gov. LeRoy Col-ins and Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth appeared headed for a runoff.

Kennedy was making no claims for the future after his Indiana victory, including his prospects in the Nebraska primary next Tuesday.

"Vice President Humphrey says he's the front runner, Sen. McCarthy says he's the front runner," Kennedy said. "I'm not making any predictions where I am because the only way I can do well is to take my campaign to the people."

He said the combination of results in the District of Columbia and Indiana "indicated broad base of support for my candidacy."

But McCarthy and Branigan forces — and protesters of the Humphrey campaign—noted Kennedy was a minority inner.

McCarthy said he would have gotten many of Branigan's votes in a two-man contest.

"No one deserves any prizes in this contest," McCarthy said. "We will carry the fight to Nebraska. I think the direct confrontation that was denied us here in Indiana will be given us in Nebraska."

Sens. Walter F. Mondale and Fred R. Harris, co-chairmen of United Democrats for Humphrey said: "In the only primary in which Sen. Kennedy was opposed by other candidates nearly two out of three Democrats preferred someone else."

Nixon, campaigning in Nebraska, said he thinks McCarthy remains a strong Democratic contender because of his enthusiastic volunteer support — but will not win his party's nomination.

"He'll have the enthusiasm but he will not have the money or the organization," Nixon said. "Herbert Humphrey will have the organization; Bobby's got the money."

Nixon also predicted Kennedy will be the Democratic winner in Nebraska next week and Humphrey will be second on write-in votes.

Bus Fare Hike 'Under Advisement'

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission has taken under advisement a proposed 10 per cent hike in city-to-city bus fares.

No opposition appeared Tuesday when the commission held a public hearing on the increase. Several bus company witnesses were heard in support of the raise.

The Unshatterable Mr. Glass Says: Adults Play With Toys

By ARLEEN ABRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

"Who says adults don't play with toys?" asks Marvin Glass, millionaire designing king of the Nation's $2 billion toy industry. "Adults just buy bigger and more expensive toys than those for sale on the children's market," says the small, dour-looking designer and consultant to top toy manufacturing concerns. "What do you think an expensive model car is? It's just another aspect of wish fulfillment—an escape from reality."

If utility were the thing a consumer considered, Glass goes on, the expensive cars and homes and the majority of clothes and accessories wouldn't find a market. "They're all part of the adult's fantasy world." That's why war toys are no longer "in," reasons the 55-year-old Glass, noting that at the New York Toy Fair in March very few new war toys were introduced. "People are sick of the war... it's become a reality rather than fantasy. When anything becomes a reality it's no longer fun."

But the way-way-out won't attract a child either, he claims. As he puts it, "Children are ultraconservative. They're too insecure to be innovators. They're imitators. They prefer scaled-down versions of adult life to play with something which is recognizable."

"Most important, a toy should entertain. Children prefer to play with other children. A toy is only a substitute playmate, therefore the best toy is one that can play back."

Television, he says, has changed the entire toy industry. "B.T. (Before Television), a child's toys mirrored his parent's interests. Adults selected toys on the basis of what they considered educational, what they liked as a child, or what they would have liked but didn't have when they were children. Today children are the prime consumers. They see something on television and tell their parents that's what they want...and a substitute just won't do."

Glass must know what he's talking about. In the turbulent atmosphere of the toy industry where each new idea is a secret guarded behind locked doors and the mortality rate is more than 50 per cent, the 30-year-old Chicago genius has consistently produced the spectacular toy for more than 20 years. (Mr. Machine, Robot Commando, Kissy Doll). His success is even more amazing because he never pretests his products to get children's reactions. He theorizes that their reactions under test conditions are unreliable.

Glass claims he never had a favorite plaything in his youth. Instead he made his own toys—which brought him friends but didn't relieve his basic feelings of insecurity. At age 4 he turned out a cardboard dog—"I couldn't understand why the tail didn't move," and at 8 he equipped his friends with homemade Roman swords and helmets. "I always played Caesar and I never got assassinated."

Physically Glass is an absolute contrast to the Santa Claus figure one might imagine a toy designer to be. Barely 5 foot 5, about 130 pounds ("My father always wondered aloud why I turned out so puny") he is definitely an intellectual. A prodigious reader and the holder of a master's degree in psychology from the university of Chicago, he delves into philosophy, psychology, theater and paints. Art, books, conversations—all of life inspire his new toy designs.

Last year, for example, he attended an exhibit of sculpture and lighting effects. It impressed him so much he designed a shadow-box light toy, Lightbright.

That toy turned out to be one of the hits of the Toy Fair and Glass believes it is a forerunner of similar toys to come. But no matter how fast his toys are grabbed up by the manufacturing companies, he's not satisfied.

"I wish I could have been a teacher, a philosopher, a Moses," he muses. "As it is, the only thing I can look forward to is another toy. I simply can't stop. I'm always trying to create the perennial toy favorite... an impossible task."

Twelve-Month School Year Is Predicted By Camp Owner

By RUTH WINTER
SHORT HILLS, N.J. (WNS)

—Within 10 to 15 years, children in America will be going to school 12 months a year.

This is the prediction of Andrew Friedman, a man who has been taking care of children during the summer for 51 years.

Owner of Camp Robinhood for boys in New Hampshire and Camp Hiawatha for girls in Maine, Mr. Friedman said many summer camps today, with their specialized programs of tutoring or music are really an extension of the school year.

"A number of school systems in the United States are now going into the summer camp field," he pointed out. "Has camping changed in a half century?"

"In the old days, the emphasis was outdoor life and living in the woods. Children were content with so much less. Now they have to have all sorts of activities. They are easily bored."

Are children any happier today?

Less Happy

"No, I think they are less happy. The Hippies and the of this. Part of it, I think, is the breakdown in discipline."

How does Friedman, whose camp used to cost $250 per child and now costs more than $1,000, choose a counselor?

"You can't make hard and fast rules. Sometimes a youngster is a much better counselor than a more mature person and sometimes just the reverse."

"Occupation is not criteria either," he said. "I have found many teachers through the years that hated it when they had to live with children 24 hours a day."

"If there is one thing that is most important, it is a love of children. A counselor doesn't have to be athletic or talented in the arts. If they love children, they will be successful."

Outdoor Life

Must all children be pushed into athletics and outdoor life at camp?

"I often have parents insisting that their child be pushed into some activity. I remember one boy in particular. His parents wanted him to participate in athletics and outdoor activities. He was drug-taking are manifestations very unhappy at camp until he discovered dramatics. He loved every phase of it, yet his parents were not pleased. Still, we allowed him to take part in the dramatics."

"Today, he is Robert Brustein, chairman of the department of dramatics at Yale, one of the outstanding schools of theater arts," Friedman said.

Another boy, whom Friedman thought was going to be an Olympic champion, discovered the drums at camp and then the piano. Today, he is Burt Bacharach, an outstanding concert pianist and husband of movie star Angie Dickinson.

"I always try to encourage the children to pursue what they are interested in, not what their parents want them to be interested in," Friedman said.

As a result, a large percentage of his campers today are the children of his former campers.

COOKING IS FUN!

FAMILY LUNCH

Cook snap beans so that they are at their best.

Creamed Eggs on Toast
Basic Green Beans Salad Bowl Cookies Beverage

BASIC GREEN BEANS
1 pound green snap beans
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
Pepper (white or black) to taste
Cut tips from beans; wash in cold water; drain. Slice crosswise into 1 to 1½ inch pieces. In a 1½-quart saucepan bring the water and salt to a boil. Add the beans, bring again to a boil. Cover and boil just until tender—crisp—about 10 minutes. Lift cover a few times during boiling to help keep beans green. Drain. Add butter and pepper. Mix well. Makes four to six servings. Note: Choose slender beans of good green color.

DIFFERENT LEMON PIE

Pastry for double-crust 8-inch pie
1¼ cups sugar
2 tablespoons flour
3 large eggs
2 tablespoons butter or regular margarine, melted and cooled
1-3rd cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons water

Roll out half the pastry and use to line an 8-inch glass pie plate. Roll out remaining pastry for top crust; cut vents in it; cover with transparent plastic wrapping and refrigerate. In a small bowl thoroughly stir together the sugar and flour. In a medium mixing bowl beat the eggs until they are foamy and begin to thicken. Add sugar-flour mixture and stir until smooth. Add butter, lemon juice and water; mix well, pour into uncooked pastry shell. Place pastry for top crust over filling; trim if necessary. Fold edges of both crusts under; seal and flute. Bake in a 400-degree oven until pastry is golden—35 minutes. Cool before cutting. Refrigerate any left-over pie and reheat before serving.

One-Sided Love Doesn't Last Long

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a 19-year-old man for the last eight months. I am 22. He's nice looking, well-mannered and can afford to show a girl a good time. He has bought me some rather expensive gifts (a stereo for Christmas and a color TV for my birthday.) He tried to give me a diamond for St. Valentine's day, but I wouldn't accept it.

I just don't love him and he knows it, but he says he's desperately in love with me. I never tried to lead him on. I told him from the beginning that I didn't love him and didn't think I ever could. I've even asked him to quit calling me, but he calls anyway, and if I have nothing better to do, I go out with him.

I have acted bored in his company, and been rude to him, but he can't be discouraged. Any suggestions?

to lose any weight it would show in my face and neck, and I would rather be a little on the plump side than haggard and wrinkled.

This letter is a plea for more consideration on the part of those who make fat women the butt of their jokes. We have feelings, too, and altho we are good sports on the surface, we are crying on the inside. I want love and companionship like any other normal women, but it's hopeless. Men don't want fat women. Yet, no woman ever turned a man down because he was fat.

Don't tell me to go on a diet. No matter how much weight I lost, I would still be BIG, AND HATING IT

TOO HONEST

DEAR TOO: If you really don't see any future with this man, don't go out with him again because the more you see of him, and the more you accept from him, the harder it will be to get rid of him. He plans to "wear you down." And if he succeeds, you'll both be sorry. A one-sided "love" doesn't last long.

DEAR ABBY: I am 31, have been self-supporting since I was 18, am well-groomed and have lots of friends. But in spite of my jolly disposition and happy smile, I am very unhappy. You see, I am one of those big-boned women who could diet herself down to nothing, but I would still be big.

I know I am fat, but I am naturally so large that if I were Mrs. Donald Sexauer, program chairman, and Mrs. Walter Calhoun, social chairman, were the hostesses.

Following the luncheon, the following officers for the coming year were elected and installed: Mrs. Robert Gantt, president; Mrs. Donald Durand, vice president; Mrs. Don Jeffries, secretary; Mrs. Harold Bullard, treasurer; Mrs. John B. Davis, librarian; Mrs. Lionel Kendrick, historian; Mrs. William Byrd, social chairman; Mrs. Odell Welborn, year book chairman.

Mrs. Charles Brown was a guest for the meeting.

A tour of the Sidewalk Art Show followed the luncheon.

DEAR BIG: Alas, all men could be done and what I was (and women) were not created equal. And that goes for the oversized as well as the oversized. Don't try to rationalize your excess poundage by saying you "need" it to go with your "big-boned" frame. A "big-boned" woman only accentuates her size by being fat as well.

Get a sensible diet from a doctor and stick with it. Plenty of "big" women are enjoying the love and companionship of big men. And some "little" men have shown their true "bigness" by marrying a bigger woman.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Lonely in Atlanta," there is an answer to loneliness. I know, because four years ago I was in the same boat. I sat around feeling sorry for myself. I did my share of grumbling, too, then it dawned on me, nobody cared to be around a dripping faucet. So, I dried my tears, washed my hair, polished my nails, dressed in my prettiest dress and went out into the world to see who needed me.

Well, to make a long story short, there were plenty of less fortunate people than I, who needed ME. First I contacted the local Red Cross to find what

Swiss Answer Lady Runs Unique Service

By LAURA PILARSKI
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (WNS) — Every question gets an answer from Miss Kay Yvonne Trub, no matter how outlandish. For the slim, vivacious, Swiss career woman, finding answers is a daily job at her office in suburban Lausanne.

Occasionally, there are some real stoppers like this one: "My husband raises buffalo as a hobby. How do you recommend he follow up this interest in Switzerland?" (Miss Trub arranged for a visit with a cattle breeder.) Another recent request: "We want to hire a private gondolier during our stay in Venice; please send us a name." (Miss Trub had a name at her fingertips — a gondolier who had been a guide at a special festival she had attended.)

Whether inquiries have to do with travel plans, selling paintings, finding chalets, settling youngsters in Swiss schools or even setting up a business, the tireless Miss Trub graciously obliges. She made the job for herself three years ago by establishing an unusual service called "International Trade and Travel Club."

Personal Attention
Under the scheme, Miss Trub gives personal attention to requests from individuals, companies and institutions who pay a yearly fee to become members of the club. The basic fee for an individual is $300; it is higher for firms and enterprises, varying according to the kind and frequency of service expected. The club now has members on five continents.

The service was the result of a conversation between the alert Swiss woman and a Lausanne bank president who moaned the flood of requests thrust upon his bank by its international clientele. Most of the requests, he complained, had nothing to do with the bank's real business. Miss Trub began reflecting on how to handle such requests on an organized and businesslike basis. The club idea emerged.

She explains that services are offered in these areas: industry and commerce, real estate, travel, education, medicine and culture. Since she works on a fee basis she is freed from any need to accept percentages ordinarily paid by hotels and schools and can give impartial recommendations. The club operates throughout Europe and in seven languages.

Any Emergency
Miss Trub tries to give every request special attention. When, for example, she places a child in a Swiss school, she makes it a point to follow up with regular visits and occasional reports to parents. In the case of visitors undergoing medical treatment in Switzerland she becomes available to assist in any emergency.

Before Miss Trub settled near Lausanne in 1960 and cast about for a new career, she had traveled as a freelance writer and photographer to most corners of the world. She made long trips to the Far East and came to know countries and cultures there almost as well as those in Europe. She wrote articles for highly respected Swiss publications on a wide variety of subjects, including roof squatters in Hong Kong, a death house in Singapore and a leper colony in Thailand.

Born in Zurich, Miss Trub attended the Sorbonne in Paris and the University of Heidelberg in Germany. She did volunteer work for the International Red Cross in its prisoner-of-war program and, after World War II, lived in Italy and wrote three books on that country. Among the long string of languages she speaks, a most unusual one is Malay, which she decided she should know in preparation for a Far East assignment. To her, nothing seems impossible.

Does Honesty Pay Or Cost Too Much?
HUCKNALL, England (WNS) — Grace Hind, 48, wonders if honesty pays or just costs too much. When she discovered that the family gas meter was supplying gas, but not registering the payment due, she told the gas board. They failed to send an inspector until she had reported the matter several times. Then they charged her $46, refused her offer to pay $2.40 a week, and cut off the gas for two months. "My husband and three youngsters didn't like it at all," commented Mrs. Hind, who got her gas turned on only by taking the matter to top authorities.

Old-Fashioned Potato Salad Prepared Without Mayonnaise

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
It's an old-fashioned potato salad and it's great. Knowing cooks have prepared it over the years. Maybe your grandmother made it.

This potato salad is different from the kind usually served nowadays because it's offered hot. And its dressing is different, too. No mayonnaise is called for. Not a speck of oil goes into it. Instead bacon and bacon fat along with bouillon, vinegar and seasonings help to make it savory. The dressing is thickened with flour.

Add bacon pieces; save some.

This hot potato salad is an offspring of the German cuisine. It's a great accompaniment for German sausage—Knockwurst, bockwurst or bratwurst. If you're planning to serve the combination at an informal company supper, you might like to have all three varieties of sausage on hand.

As a crisp accompaniment for the salad and sausage, offer a "finger" salad. What's that? Celery, carrot sticks, scallions. An attractive way to offer these raw vegetables is to put them in a low pitcher, a beer stein or an old-time celery vase.

HOT POTATO SALAD
6 medium-large potatoes (about

3 pounds)
6 slices bacon
1 medium onion, finely diced
1 tablespoon flour
1½ tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 beef bouillon cube
¾ cup boiling water
½ cup cider vinegar

Boil potatoes in their skins until tender. Peel and slice into a large bowl.

Meanwhile in a 10-inch skillet fry the bacon until crispy. Remove bacon (leaving fat in skillet), drain on paper toweling and break into pieces.

To the bacon fat in the skillet, add onion and cook gently until transparent. Stir in flour, sugar, salt, pepper and celery seed.

Remove from heat. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water and add vinegar; gradually stir into flour mixture, keeping smooth.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened.

Add bacon pieces; save some for garnish; to potato slices. Pour dressing over potatoes and toss gently. Garnish with reserved bacon pieces.

Serve hot or reheat over boiling water.

Makes eight servings.

Mayor West Proclaims ESA Week In Greenville

Mayor S. Eugene West has signed a proclamation declaring this week as Epsilon Sigma Alpha Week in Greenville.

Witnessing the ceremony, held in the mayor's office, were Mrs. Bill Goin, Mrs. LaVerne Green and Mrs. Ernestine Sermons.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha is an international woman's organization devoted to philanthropic, educational and social endeavors. The organization is beginning its 39th year of service to communities, states and nations.

Mrs. Goin, president of the Gamma Delta Chapter, explains why this international women's service organization observes this as "E. S. A. Week."

Epsilon Sigma Alpha is one of the oldest and largest sororities of its kind in the world. It was founded in 1929 by 10 energetic women and has grown to 1,570 chapters and more than 40,000 members.

The sorority developed into an international organization soon after E. Robert Palmer—widely known educator, philosopher, author and lecturer, assumed leadership in 1941. The first chapter to be organized outside this country was in Holland. Since then, chapters have been organized in Germany, Guam, Denmark, Peru and Australia. There were chapters in Hawaii and Alaska before they became states.

There are two chapters here

In Greenville—Gamma Delta is 10 years old and Alpha Omega has just observed its first birthday.

THE BRIDE COOKS SUPPER

Vary that salad—and here's how!

Baked Chicken Potatoes
Green Peas
Tossed Zucchini Salad
Tapioca Cream Beverage
TOSSED ZUCCHINI SALAD
1 8-inch zucchini (about ¼ pound)
Boiling water
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 teaspoons red wine vinegar
one-eighth teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
2 cups torn romaine, slightly packed down

With a brush, scrub zucchini in cold water; do not peel; remove ends and slice into ½-inch thick rounds. Turn into a small saucepan; cover with boiling water. Bring to a boil; boil two minutes. Drain, cover and chill. Just before serving, into a salad bowl turn the oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and mustard; with a fork beat well. Add chilled zucchini and romaine; toss well. Serve at once. Makes two to three servings. This salad has the good flavor of olive oil—it uses the minimum amount of vinegar.

Exemplary Turnout By Pitt Voters

Although there may have been some disappointment in the turnout of voters in North Carolina as a whole, Pitt County citizens can take pride in the record primary vote here last Saturday.

A total of 16,836 votes were counted in the two gubernatorial primaries, a record number of voters for a primary election in Pitt. As a matter of fact, the vote last Saturday missed by only a handful — 19 to be exact — the largest vote in any election in this county in recent years.

Last Saturday's total vote for governor in the Republican and Democratic primaries is topped only by the county's total vote for president four years ago. Moreover, the vote in the gubernatorial primaries this year was several hundred more than the number cast in the presidential election eight years ago.

So far as the Democratic primary is concerned — and most of the votes were in that primary — it was a whooping turn-out. There were 15,397 votes for the three Democratic gubernatorial candidates. By way of comparison, there were only 11,968 votes cast in Pitt in the three-way first primary for governor in 1964 and 12,501 in the four-way gubernatorial primary in 1960.

If one looks at Saturday's vote in terms of percentage of registration, Pitt established for itself what is certainly a record. More than 71 per cent of the total registered voters in the county cast ballots in the gubernatorial contests. As a percentage of registration, the Democrats did better than the Republicans by turning out 73.6 per cent of their registration while approximately 60 per cent of the registered Republicans went to the polls.

The large turn-out of voters speaks well for both political parties in this county. The very fact that more than 70 per cent of the registered voters cast their ballots indicates an unprecedented active interest in political affairs of the county and the state. It suggests that citizens of Pitt have gained a new awareness of their citizenship responsibility to participate actively in politics and in those decisions which are made at the ballot boxes.

Pitt citizens should resolve now to have an even higher percentage of the registered voters cast ballots in the general election in November.

Only Compassion For Gov. Lurleen Wallace

Regardless of one's political philosophy or his attitude toward state policies generally ascribed to Alabama, one can hardly feel other than compassion for the gallant fight for life made by the late Gov. Lurleen Wallace.

During the 16 months since she succeeded her husband as chief executive of Alabama, Gov. Lurleen Wallace waged a personal battle for her life against a deadly malignancy. That battle ended quietly with her death early Tuesday.

Although she lived in the shadow of her husband while she held the title as state governor, she nevertheless made her influence felt particularly in the fields of public health and care for her state's mentally ill.

Lurleen Wallace probably would never have been governor of Alabama had it not been for her husband's popularity. She never claimed to make all the decisions or shape all the policies her state followed during her administration. Even so, this woman made a significant contribution to her state and its people during the months she served in that state's highest office. And she obviously did so out of dedication and at the cost of considerable personal sacrifice.

Credit Bureaus Seek Guidelines

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Produced by public criticism and the prospect of legislation, the nation's credit bureaus are working on guidelines to protect the privacy of those whose financial histories they compile.

Within a few days, industry sources say, an advisory committee will be named to hammer out standards for the larger credit bureaus, most of which are members of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America.

These bureaus maintain files on a person's economic status and credit history for use by members in deciding whether to sell him goods or services on terms.

Among the questions to be considered by the bureaus: —Should an individual be allowed to see his own credit report? —Should information in the files be given on request to government agencies? —What information should be put in files? —How long should derogatory information be maintained?

The action follows hearings by a special House subcommittee headed by Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N. J. Following an agreement on guidelines, the credit bureaus then will submit their thinking to the subcommittee.

Some of the industry's stand apparently has already been agreed upon following a meeting just concluded in Chicago. Many of those attending, it was learned, feel an individual should be permitted to see his file on request.

This already is standard procedure for some credit bureaus. Others decline to show a person the information in his file but will discuss specific information contained in it. Less agreement was reached on some other areas in which guidelines will be sought. One of the most controversial areas concerns the release of information to other than credit grantors.

Some bureaus believe they have a patriotic obligation to work with government agencies, such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation. An industry source, who asked to remain unidentified, put it this way:

"It is a serious philosophical question that is not completely resolved. Do we have a moral obligation to the country? Well, we're trying to face this question now and it's a damn serious one."

Another guideline will establish specific standards for the type of information to be placed in files. Data concerning a person's moral character generally is not now included in files. But beyond this point, the issues are less clear.

For example, if a credit bureau places the filing of a suit in a person's file, does it obligate itself to place the disposition in the file also? In current practice this is not always done, posing dangers to both the credit bureau and the credit seeker.

Here is an extreme case: An individual denied credit in a large Eastern city inquired at the credit bureau for the reason why. He was told that a court suit was recorded against him.

"But this was a technicality involving health insurance," he answered, "and it was settled long ago."

"Then bring in the information and we'll correct the file," (Continued On Page 5)

Lo, The Establishment

WASHINGTON — Woe to the person in this country who attacks the Establishment. It isn't jail, nor even physical harm, that he must fear. His main problem is that by attacking the Establishment, he automatically becomes a member of it, and there is no greater punishment in the world.

Let us take the case of Samuel Suchard, a pro-Maoist, antiwar, antidraft Leninist-anarchist. Having led demonstrations against the White House, the Pentagon, the U. S. aircraft carrier Enterprise and the YWCA, Suchard was finally caught by the Establishment and dragged down to the Metropolitan Club for lunch.

There he faced a table of smiling, friendly faces. "Suchard," one of the Establishment members said, "We've had our eye on you for some time and we think you have what it takes to be one of us."

"A pox on you," Suchard said. "I'm against the Establishment with its stinking rules and fancy clothes and bloated imbeciles. I despise you all." To make his point, Suchard threw his soup on the floor.

Instead of getting angry, the rest of the people at the table applauded.

Other Editors Saying UFO's Rate A Look-See

(The Wilson Firm's)

It is interesting how interesting is created. UFO's meant very little until we heard an interesting talk on the subject while attending the annual meetings of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, held at Colorado Springs last October. Since then we have found many who are interested in the flying saucers and there are many who believe they exist or that there is something to the numerous reports of having seen the flying saucers.

Now there has been a call for a Congressional investigation. This will bring the flying saucer fable to earth. For if there is anything which can disillusion it is a congressional investigation.

Congressman J. Edward Roush is not satisfied with a study of unidentified flying objects conducted by the University of Colorado under the Air Force auspices. The one we heard speak was from the Air Force Academy, and considered an authority on the flying them, for to date those tifying them, for to date those who are investigating or identifying find that the mystery vanishes under the hard light of science and fact.

Now what more can a Congressional investigation do? Very little we will say. For the University of Colorado, under Air Force auspices does not neglect any clue, or report of someone having seen a flying saucer or an object which could be so described. For after all it is up to the Air Force to establish the identity of the many strange and weird objects which have been seen flying through the air. And you hear many described, and so vividly that you wonder if there is anything to the little green man, or the bright balls which sound so interesting until they are identified as some normal gas accumulation or explainable condition.

The UFO's are interesting and they make good copy. We will be able to do more than doubt a congressional hearing the Air Force or that the members on the committee are as interested as is the Air Force in shedding light on this subject.

"Of course, you do," said a second member of the party. "And you have every right to hate us. It's for this reason that we think you would make a marvelous member of the power structure. How would you like a grant from the Ford Foundation so when you attack the Establishment, you won't have to worry about financial problems?"

"To hell with a grant from the Ford Foundation, man. I'm not selling out for any lousy grant. I'm a revolutionist."

Suchard picked up his steak and started to eat it with his fingers.

A third member at the table spoke up. "You don't have to take the Ford grant if you don't want to. Could you consider a lecture tour under our sponsorship? You could go around the country speaking before Rotary and Kiwanis luncheons explaining why we're disenchanted with society, and what we have done wrong. There's a big demand for such speakers now."

Found In The Mail

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The high cost of keeping up with the Joneses is creating more moonlighters in America. Some 3.6 million workers — about five per cent of the labor force — now hold down two or more jobs.

Modern war has eliminated at least one combat hazard — the mule. After the Civil War, a thousand Union veterans received disability pensions from injuries suffered from the bites and kicks of Army mules.

A German doctor has given medical approval of the feminine custom of wearing boots with miniskirts. He says the boots help keep the girls from catching colds.

You have a right to take umbrage if anyone calls you bird-brained. A bird's brain is pretty small. Often it is outweighed by the bird's two eyes. And an ostrich is such a mental lightweight that either of its eyes weighs more than its brain.

Quotable notables: "I think it's very dangerous for an actor to get into politics," says Jackie Gleason, the fat man's fat man. "An actor spends his career learning how to fool people, and I think it becomes an unfair advantage if he uses his knack to get elected to public office."

How they got started: David Niven reveals in Saga magazine that he once worked as a liquor salesman. He got bounced when he blithely spent a salary advance on gambling instead of trying to make sales.

After exhaustive engineering studies, it has been found that it takes less effort to pick a paper clip off the floor and put it on a desk than it does to take a paper clip off the desk and lower it to the floor. There doesn't seem much left for science to find out, does there?

One reason they have to sell popcorn in motion picture houses to break even is the high cost of making films. For example, Julia Andrews, in her latest production, "Star!" wears 95 gowns created for her at a cost of more than $300,000. Think of all the money they might have saved if someone had taught Julie how to sew!

Despite a falling birth rate, the U.S. population explosion is still going boom, boom, boom if you love people, be sure to stick around until the year 2030. There'll be twice as many of your fellow Americans to love then — 400 million.

Worth remembering: "The middle-aged woman with a nice figure may be only a bulge in a gridled cage."

History lesson: Can you name the first U.S. president who was born an American citizen? He was Martin Van Buren, whose birth date was Dec. 5, 1782. The seven presidents who preceded him in office were all born British subjects.

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Without question, two party politics has come to be in North Carolina. It is a fact which strangely affected the recent Spring primaries and one which will be more evident and forceful between now and November.

WILLIAM SHIRES

ington, William Osteen of Greensboro, Dr. Earl Ruth of Salisbury and W. Scott Harvey of Asheville all for Congress.

Broyhill and JJonas No one should overlook the state's other two, longer-tenured Republican members of Congress, Reps. Charles Raper Jonas and James T. Broyhill.

Broyhill will be engaged in a 10th District election contest against Democratic Rep. Basil M. Whitener in what promises to be among the most interesting and closest of the congressional races. Jonas has no opposition.

Although he was a backer of Gardner's primary opponent, John L. (Jack) Stickle, Jonas nevertheless is regarded as "Mr. Republican" of North Carolina and among the most influential members of the state's delegation in Washington. He was first elected to Congress in 1952 and holds some ranking important committee posts.

Adding to the magnitude of the challenge will be the presidential election picture — the fact that state Democrats may find it difficult to hold their usual numbers in the Democratic column unless there is an acceptable presidential candidate on the ticket.

Until the final days of the Spring primary campaigns, the majority were quiet, almost calm with few if any personal attacks, name calling or hard differences on issues.

This was especially true among the major contests by Democrats — in strange contrast to past years when the primary was in effect the real election. Of course, observers felt this would change swiftly in the event that runner-up Mel Broughton called for a second primary against Lt. Gov. Bob Scott.

But the absence of political clamor, thunder and lightning will change anyway very shortly — whether this month or later in the summer. It is a case of whether it will be Democrats versus Democrats or the even bigger bottle of Democrats versus Republicans.

The Republicans, once woefully weak except in small, localized pockets, have just concluded their first full-scale statewide primary to pick a candidate for governor. The result is that 35 year old Rep. Jim Gardner has emerged as the leader and standard bearer that many younger Republicans — and conservatives — have been looking for.

And the prospect of facing Gardner in the Fall, in a general election in which party lines may be crossed, is not a pleasant one for the state's Democrats. Probably Gardner is the man most feared by present Democratic party officeholders and political hopefuls.

Not Alone Neither will Gardner be running alone nor as so ne man ticket followed simply by a number of unknowns seeking to ride his coattails.

The Republican ticket for state offices is a full and formidable one, including names of some of the party's best known and popular figures in North Carolina.

Among the better known GOP names will be Rep. Don H. Garren of Hendersonville for lieutenant governor, Dr. John P. East of Greenville for Secretary of State and Reece Gardner of Kinston, Fred Steele of Durham, Wilmore (Vinegar Bend) Mizell of Lex-

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
JEOPARDY

Unless the country comes to realize quickly and poignantly that we are in the midst of a season of moral decline we may find ourselves facing conditions that will jeopardize the stability of our nation and endanger the lives of our loved ones.

Crime is increasing at a rate — six times faster percentage-wise than the growth of population. The casting-off of restraints which once guarded conduct, the freedom given to children, the praise of sensuality set forth in publications and condoned by authors, dramatists and public speakers, is doing a lot to encourage evil and laugh good and restrained living out of court.

Periods of moral depression appear about every two hundred years. The Elizabethan period of the sixteenth century was an immoral period. The eighteenth century saw such a decline in morals that John Wesley arose to try to stem that tide in England and Jonathan Edwards in the United States.

Now, a few years after the middle of the twentieth century, we are in a moral decline again. Some of our immorality today is more sophisticated than in former ages and some of it is more brutal. Law enforcement agencies are shrieking to the skies about what is taking place, and self-satisfied nation is paying little attention.

"Oh, this will pass." Yes, and the nation may pass with it. The wholesome customs that have made our country distinctive throughout the world may be swept away. We are in a period of jeopardy and should realize it.

Who Now Buys At List Prices?

By ELMER ROESSNER

You and I may be the only two people in America who pay list price for food, clothing and durables. Oh, of course we drop into a discount house once in a while, we both have a cousin who can get us appliances close to wholesale prices and, while I don't know about you, I can buy liquor at 10 per cent below the legal minimum. But everybody else, I guess, never pays the price on the nox.

We are a nation of discount-hunters, and it is only the squares who can't find a deal. In fact, it is the regular price that nobody but you and I pay.

Let's ring the changes: Many people are shareholders in co-ops. They buy supplies at less than list prices and, in addition, get dividends from the profits. Our children eat school lunches, which are free or sold at less than costs. And who makes up the difference? We, their daddies, who therefore pay higher taxes.

The Coffee-Break Capital Government cafeterias often supply meals at less than cost. In Washington, once a city of lovely cafeterias, only a few survive on tourist trade; many others have closed because they couldn't stand competition from government cafeterias, whose losses are subsidized.

Incidentally: Next time you are in the capital, look in on the cafeterias in government buildings. At almost any hour of the day you will see them full of people on coffee-and-Danish breaks. And laugh, because you are paying their salaries. Then wander through any large government building and peek into any work-in-progress area (most doors are unlocked) and see how many workers, that's what they call them, are sitting around drinking coffee or just chatting with others.

In-plant feeding is another way to get cut-rate food. Many plants operate cafeterias or vending banks that deliver food at less than cost. The corporations say that the losses on these meals are investments in good will. Actually, because they reduce corporation profits and because they give the workers tax-free income, they force your taxes and mine up. Where Do You Work Most stores give hefty discounts to employees. These amount to extra income, exempt from taxes. Similar discounts are offered to federal, state and city employees. Ask any cop you think will tell you the truth. Start with: "When was the last time you paid the full price for a shot of whiskey?"

There are about 10 million servicemen and their families who have access to PXs and Ships Stores, where they can buy all kinds of goods at deep cut prices, escaping many taxes.

Several million union men are getting into the game and insisting that employers arrange to get them life and auto, as well as health insurance, at group rates. Some unions are suggesting that employers set up plans for purchases of new cars at fleet rates, with payroll deductions for the monthly payments. Dealers like the idea because collections automatic, hence could shave prices.

North Vietnamese Pay Heavily In Saigon Attack

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 2,002 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in the past three days of heavy fighting in and around Saigon. But despite his heavy losses, the enemy battled on for the fourth day in streets on the capital's western edge.

wounded, 181 South Vietnamese killed and 608 wounded. "There isn't much going on today," a senior U.S. officer said. "The key is whether the enemy will be able to reinforce and they don't seem to be able to. As far as the major threat from the west, it doesn't seem to be developing. It looks as if it is petering out, but it's a little early to say officially."

While eastern Saigon remained under a 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew, the government said it ordered the round-the-clock curfew in the western section "to prevent Viet Cong infiltration." One enemy 100-pound rocket hit the heart of Saigon, killing civilian and wounding five, while 14 landed at Tan Son Nhut air base, on the northwest edge of the city.

U.S. helicopter gunships slammed rockets into the enemy positions on the western edge of the city, while farther to the west fighter-bombers pounded enemy infiltration routes. "Contacts throughout the Saigon area have been light and scattered today, with minimal contact in Saigon itself," the U.S. Command reported.

DeGaulle And Cabinet Discuss Student Rioting

By BERNARD LAVALLEE
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle discussed student rioting today with his Cabinet after police battled through the early morning hours to block a student march on the Sorbonne. The new fighting grew out of a five-hour demonstration by 10,000 to 20,000 persons.

for a fourth time after breaking up at dawn. They threw up barricades and heaved paving stones in the early morning fighting against club-swinging police. Information Minister Georges Gorse said the government is prepared to take decisions adapting university education to furnished no details.

ized by the French National Students' Union, from the southern part of the city, across the Left Bank and the Seine, up the Champs Elysees and back to the Left Bank. Estimates of the marching throng ranged from 10,000 to 20,000. The students sang the Communist Internationale, shouted such slogans as "The Sorbonne belongs to the students," waved red flags and called to onlookers to join them as they marched up the Champs Elysees, chasing all traffic before them. Many came from the sidewalks to march along the 15-mile route.

U.S. pilots reported destroying or damaging 100 trucks in the southern part of North Vietnam Monday, underlining reports from U.S. officials in Saigon and Washington that the movement of troops and supplies from North Vietnam south has greatly intensified since President Johnson on March 31 restricted U.S. bombing to the area south of the 19th parallel.

Concerned about France's image with hundreds of correspondents here for the start of preliminary peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam, De Gaulle was reported to have said that more work is needed to increase educational facilities. This is one of the prime demands of the New Left students who are protesting overcrowding in France's universities and courses of study they say are out of date in the age of space and electronics.

The rioting began last Friday, after suburban Nanterre University and the Sorbonne—the University of Paris—were closed because of student demonstrations. On Monday, the battle between students and police in the Paris streets was the worst in recent memory. By comparison, the trouble Tuesday night was minor.

Police said they took 69 demonstrators into custody but later released 52 of them. Red Cross first aid stations estimated that about 60 demonstrators and bystanders were treated. Police said 22 of their number were injured, one with a broken leg.

U.S. sources say 17,000 enemy supply trucks were seen moving through North Vietnam's southern parishes in the last 100 miles train in April. And the sources estimated that 100,000 men had infiltrated south since the lunar new year began in February.

Not Fishing If There's No Hook

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — If there's no hook on the line, you're not fishing, a judge ruled in Superior Court Tuesday. The case was the appeal of Army Capt. Michael Harbin, of Ft. Gambling Junkets Draw Many To Caribbean

By EUGENE J. BROWN
The Danbury (Conn.) News-Times

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — If gambling is an evil, thousands of North American tourists are willing to jet several thousand miles across the water to meet that evil head on among the Caribbean islands.

The gambling fraternity does have the choice of flying to Las Vegas, Nev., where you don't need an up-to-date smallpox vaccination but where you do meet the ever present Internal Revenue Service agents who may side up to you in the midst of a winning streak and whisper in your ear: "Don't forget to declare your winnings on your Form 1040."

And if you lose, what glamor is there losing in just another of the 50 states when you could say: "They took me in Curacao; they busted me in Antigua; look at my tropical tan."

But without junkets gambling would be a minor enterprise. Briefly the junket is a chartered plane or a group of tourists who pay $300 and get everything else free including the free chips.

A junket requires a junketeer or an agent, or a tourguide as he may be called. It's his job to develop tours from his particular city for a particular Las Vegas casino. So successful is this system that the plane traffic at Las Vegas looks like Kennedy Airport.

The small islands of the Caribbean, short of income to meet the needs of their poverty-stricken population, have not been blind to the "Vegas junket syndrome."

With their tropical beaches, low-salaried help and cooperative governments, the gambling syndicates have set up shop on the islands by simply taking over the junket format.

In a manner these gambling junkets have an "almost-free" hooker attached. For instance, if a person wanted to go to Antigua or practically any other island in the Caribbean for the purpose of trying his luck against the casino odds, his fare plus four or five days at a luxurious hotel including most of the extras would be $500. He could take his wife along too (and many do) for only $225 extra. And in addition he would receive $500 free in nonnegotiable gambling chips.

The term "nonnegotiable" designates the chips that are to be used for gambling only and can't be cashed immediately upon arrival at your destination.

These special chips are "seed" to start your streak of luck. It would be indeed a rare bird who failed to succumb to the gaming tables when he or she is sure that he can win on his free chips. So sure is the house that you will gamble and lose, that if you show a sincere desire to play the games, they will even give you the cash for your free chips. All you've got to do is play a little and pray a lot.

Gambling with free "junket" chips is much the same as eating peanuts. There is obviously something wrong with the logic of those who go on an ambling junket.

For the casino to give you $500 of free chips which reimburses you for the $500 junket expenses, they must expect you to lose. To break even the house must figure on your losing your $500 free chip money plus an average of $500 in hard cash. Thus the average player is out his

Stylus Cutting New City Map

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's first completely new official planning map in 30 years is being cut by stylus.

The lines showing New York's more than 6,000 miles of streets will be drawn by a process known as scribing.

Traditionally, maps are drawn with ink on tracing cloth. A line representing a street is drawn by a skilled draftsman, and it appears uniform in width to the naked eye. However, inconsistencies in width appear when the drawn maps are enlarged, and when the maps are reduced, the lines of streets near each other often run together.

In the new technique, a metal stylus is used instead of a pen. On a light table is laid a sheet of translucent plastic. The sheet is coated with a soft opaque material on which the rough layout of the new map has been printed photographically. The stylus is used to cut lines through the coating. These lines are consistent within 1-1,000th of an inch because they depend primarily upon the precise thickness of the stylus and not on the penmanship of a draftsman.

Despite all of this care, the new official map cannot be 100 per cent officially correct. Philip Wallick, deputy director of planning, says, "A map is out of date the moment it is printed."

Blame Poor Fishing On Jets

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Jet aircraft have been blamed for all sorts of things in the past, from broken windows and jammed eardrums caused when they break the sound barrier to cows put off calving and tomatoes prevented from ripening by sound vibrations.

Now a group of young spearfishermen have accused the jets of chasing fish from Algoa Bay.

The noise of a passing jet and the vibrations set up by it are "terrific" underwater, they said.

Even a prop-jet can be felt and heard underwater—making more noise than in the open air, one of them noted.

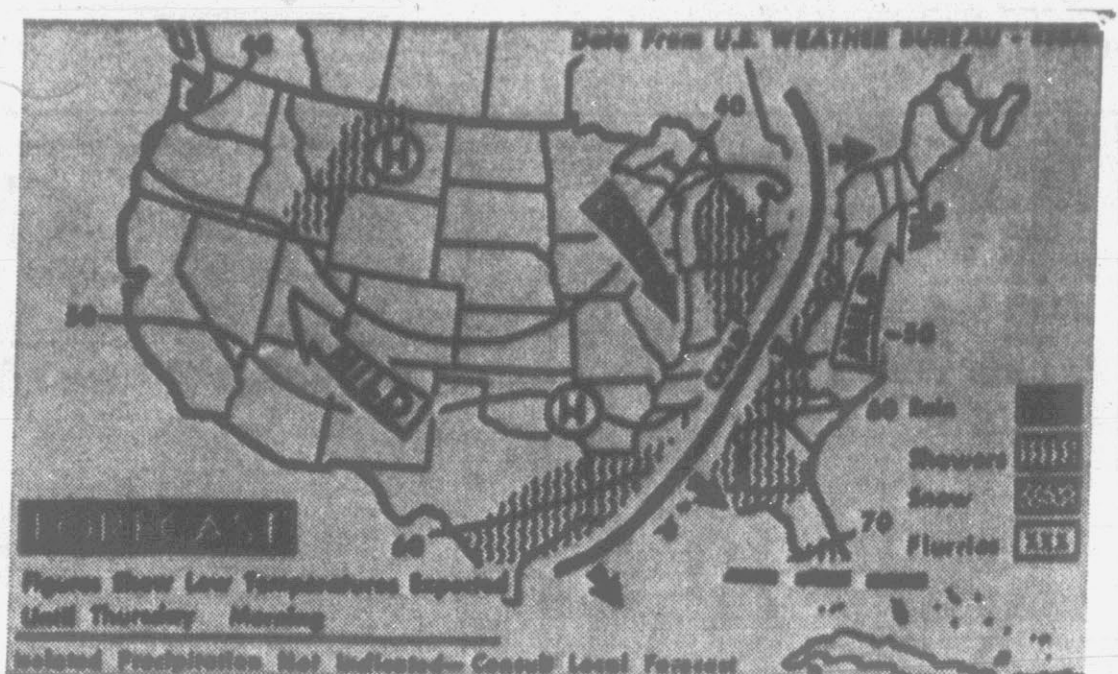

They pointed out the planes arriving and departing from the H. F. Verwoerd Airport often swoop low over Algoa Bay.

And fish are known to be very sensitive to vibrations and shock waves.

So, the theory goes, jets are partly responsible for the diminishing number of fish in the bay.

It's not the first time vibrations have been blamed for fishermen's troubles.

Dr. John Grindley, director of the Port Elizabeth museum and a marine expert, said in the last century vibrations were blamed for chasing fish away from certain fishing grounds. But these vibrations were caused by the firing of cannon.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers and thundershowers are forecast for Wednesday along the Appalachian Mountains, from the Gulf Coast to Canada. Rain and showers will also occur in Montana. Temperatures will moderate in the east and in the Rocky Mountain plateaus. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Brooke Asks Senate Play Down Talk Of Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's only Negro member has asked his Capitol Hill colleagues to downplay talk of potential violence during the Poor People's Campaign in Washington.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., spoke after Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., told the Senate Tuesday that his investigations subcommittee has evidence "two radical and very extremist leaders" plan to grab control of the campaign and turn it to rioting.

Despite a request from Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., McClellan refused to name the two. Brooke said Congress "should presume the march on Washington is going to be a peaceful, nonviolent demonstration. There is no basis for the assumption that this march on Washington will be violent."

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, successor to Dr. Martin Luther King as head of the sponsoring Southern Christian Leadership Conference, has vowed the protest will be nonviolent.

He also has said it might involve civil disobedience if Congress didn't respond to the campaign's pleas for better housing and education and jobs for the poor.

Estimates on the number of people involved in the campaign—to get under way next week in the capital—have ranged from several thousand to hundreds of thousands.

McClellan said his subcommittee learned of an Alabama meeting where statements were made that Abernathy "will be pushed aside and that two very radical and extremist leaders whom I will not name now, are to take his place and lead the demonstration and take over."

McClellan said his subcommittee has evidence the militants will seek to build a "shantytown" on the Capitol Mall—between the Capitol and the Washington Monument—whether or not they have a permit and "prevent senators and congressmen from reaching their offices by accosting them on the streets of Capitol Hill."

He said "they will place children in the forefront of demonstrations in order to gain publicity about 'police brutality'" when police or any soldiers try to control crowds or halt law violations.

"They will obtain new clothing and other merchandise when the looting starts," McClellan said. "They will carry weapons" and "will incite demonstrators to violence and rioting."

He urged President Johnson to issue a firm, unequivocal warning to the marchers that violence will not be tolerated.

The House Public Workers Committee meanwhile approved a measure designed to prevent demonstrators from living in tents or shacks in downtown Washington.

The measure would ban issues of permits for a camp-in on property near the Capitol, White House or the Mall.

The Front Page Is For Soldier's Special Message

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Gregory Bockh, an infantryman in Vietnam, wanted to do something special for his mother, Mrs. Andrew Bockh.

In a letter to the Denver Post, Spec. 4 Bockh said: "On Mother's Day I'd like to run a full page ad in your paper saying, 'Dear Mom, I love you and miss you much. Happy Mother's Day—Greg.'"

The soldier said he would pay something each month toward the bill.

The Post did better than that. After the regular press run of Tuesday's home edition, it set a special front page with a five-column headline reading: "Mother's Day Greeting to Mrs. Andrew Bockh." Beneath the headline was Bockh's letter.

Post officials said just a few copies of the special edition were made for Mrs. Bockh and relatives.

Abnormalcies Are Laid to X-Rays From TV Tubes

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Dr. John Ott, head of the Environmental and Light Institute, said Tuesday soft X-rays from television sets produce abnormal growth and behavior in rats and bean plants.

Ott, speaking at a special session of the North Carolina Dental Society during its annual meeting at Pinehurst, added: "I feel there is a direct relationship between . . . watching TV too much and the tremendous increase in emotional problems among our youngsters."

The Sarasota, Fla., scientist believes that plants and animals require a balanced diet of natural sunlight, the same as they need a balanced diet of food.

He said studies also show abnormal growth develops when any part of the natural sunlight spectral energy is blocked from entering the eye.

Disciplinary Action Threat By Columbia U.

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University has threatened legal and disciplinary action against anyone who repeats or publishes the contents of documents it says were stolen from the president's office in the recent student uprising.

A telegram signed by President Grayson Kirk and David B. Truman, university vice president and provost, was delivered Tuesday night to leaders of the student strike. It demanded immediate return of the documents.

Cries of "tear it up!" greeted the reading of the telegram at an assembly of about 600 students. During the meeting papers purporting to be copies of Kirk's documents were circulated.

The strikers continued their activities all over the Ivy League campus Tuesday. Picket agency C T K reported. In 1963 a total of 57.3 persons out of 100,000 committed suicide, while in 1966 the number increased to 66.9.

ets forced classes to meet in off-campus apartments, on the tree-shaded lawns and in at least one nearby bar.

Red balloons with the word "Strike" blossomed over the upper Manhattan campus as the activists continued to protest last week's removal by 1,000 police of students from five occupied buildings.

A member fact-finding committee opened an inquiry into the causes of the student unrest which has shaken the campus since April 23 but at least two prime witnesses failed to appear.

Representatives of the radical Students for a Democratic Society and the Student Afro American Society did not respond to the invitations of panel chairman Archibald Cox, a former U.S. solicitor general.

Hanoi Sending 15-Year-Olds To Fight With VC

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

DONG TAM, Vietnam (AP)—The 15-year-old boy lay tucked like an infant in the hospital bed, a smiling kid with wondering eyes whose medical tag inconspicuously read "prisoner of war."

Military accounts of tough North Vietnamese soldiers and grueling jungle marches somehow seemed ridiculously remote from the smooth-cheeked boy with the bandage on his right arm.

Superseded By So Much Delay

CUTTACK, India (AP)—A prominent Indian doctor complained that government red tape delays introduction of new medicines so long that they have been superseded by new drugs before they reach the Indian market.

Dr. S. J. Shah, president of the Cardiological Society of India, said to introduce a new drug one starts with the Drug Controller, then has to approach six different state ministries, then the various state governments. He said it "takes about three years to complete this process."

In the past three months, however, Nguyen Van Qui was uprooted from his North Vietnamese village, hastily trained to fight and marched 1,000 miles to a war he understands hardly at all.

American intelligence men say the youngster is typical of replacements Hanoi is feeding into the Viet Cong, which already is composed mainly of Northerners.

In the hospital of the U.S. 9th Division at Dong Tam, young soldier Qui is a minor celebrity. Generals and colonels ask about his progress. His nominal guards keep him well supplied with the menthol cigarettes for which he acquired a taste.

"I am lucky," the young man said through an interpreter. "If I had not been captured by the Americans I would surely have lost my arm."

An American bullet slashed down the arm and lodged in his wrist. Operations have restored some movement in Qui's fingers and doctors are confident the arm will soon be almost normal.

Until he was captured, Qui had never seen an American. Until he was drafted last January he had never even seen a foreigner. Never been outside his district and knew only vaguely that a war was going on.

He recalls that on Jan. 15 of this year the soldiers came to his village of An Thanh, about 50 miles below Hanoi.

"My mother cried and tried to stop them," he said. "But they said that 15-year-olds now have to serve."

A bemused young "chien sip," or ordinary soldier, Qui got a month's training and political indoctrination and after a short leave started for Nam Dinh by truck on Feb. 13.

The indoctrination left little marks on the 15-year-old peasant boy with only five years'

Sticky Problem In Kite-Chasing

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—Chasing a kite can lead a guy into all sorts of problems. Like getting stuck knee-deep in mud.

That's where police found 14-year-old Joe Kowalski. He was chasing his kite and decided to take a short cut through shallow waters of the Smoky Hill River in Kenwood Park.

The water was shallow, the mud was not and Joe got stuck. Police Sgt. Herb Reese and a patrolman tossed Joe a rope and pulled him free. "I don't think he was frightened," said Sgt. Reese, "just embarrassed."

schooling and a hankering to be a carpenter. He knew that Ho Chi Minh was the "leader" of North Vietnam but the name of Vo Nguyen Giap, the Hanoi military boss, means nothing to him.

He does recall most vividly that he was told the cities of South Vietnam were under Viet Cong control and the people would welcome him.

"They lied to me," he shrugged.

He doesn't regard his 1,000-mile march as any great hardship. He was never bombed, though nearby units were. He recalls marching through Cambodia where the people were kind and young girls served as their guides.

Once in South Vietnam, however, things changed. He was assigned to the 261st Main Force Battalion which was always on the move.

When the first battle came and he was wounded, he was left behind, which made him angry. Now he says he is glad he was left behind.

After more than two weeks in the American hospital, Qui claims to like the Americans and says he is willing to fight for South Vietnam.

That, however, is put down by his interrogators as just "prisoner talks."

"He's just a kid," said a ranking American officer. "When he gets well he will go into the prisoner cages with the hardened types. You know what will happen then."

OUTSIDE THE LAW
VIENNA (AP)—Driving without a driver's license is on the increase in Austria, police reported, adding that nearly 12 per cent of all motorists used their cars without a proper driver's license.

YOUNG PRISONER OF WAR—Nguyen Van Qui, a North Vietnamese soldier who was wounded in his first battle, rests in a hospital in South Vietnam. Drafted at the age of 15, Qui marched 1,000 miles from his village into the Meong Delta. He was wounded April 17, abandoned by his comrades and captured by U.S. troops. (AP Wirephoto)

Who's That Monkey Working Next To You?

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Monkeys may join the industrial labor force within the next decade, says Don Smith, an animal psychologist.

What will the monkeys get for developing their skills? "Money," says Smith. "They love it."

Smith isn't trying to cause a human economic depression. But he says that monkeys can do many things as well as—or better than—man, who thus could be freed for work on a higher intellectual level.

Birds, too, have a similar potential for taking over certain human functions, Smith said in an interview.

"But monkeys probably are the most promising. They're strong, they're tough enough to work steadily, and they're faster than man," he said.

"In 10 years or so, I intend to condition various monkeys and apes for use in industrial settings. They can easily be taught assembly techniques and inspection tasks. They also could be trained to harvest crops.

"Just look at the amount of fruit that rots each year because there is no one around to pick it. Applications of this training are virtually unlimited."

Smith hopes to start experiments soon in nearby strawberry patches.

Wouldn't monkey harvesters eat up all the profits? "Of course they would—if you let them," he replied. "The answer to that is operant conditioning—the use of rewards instead of punishment."

"This works in reverse, too. If you feed strawberries to monkeys, all they can eat, for four or five days before sending them into the berry patches, they won't eat another strawberry as long as they live." Since monkeys won't eat nuts and bolts, how do you precondition them for assembly line operations?

"That's where money comes in," Smith said. "More than 30 years ago scientists discovered that monkeys can evaluate. You reward them with coins for doing what you want them to do. They learn to spend the coins for something they want in turn—food and knick-knacks that attract them."

Pigeons already have been used in pilot programs for inspecting pills in a pharmaceutical laboratory, Smith said. By rewarding them with mash, pigeons can be taught to distinguish between perfect and imperfect pills.

As the pills passed along on a conveyor, pigeons viewed them through glass windows. Each pigeon tapped the glass once for a good pill, twice for a bad one, he said.

"They proved to be highly efficient inspectors with their keen eyesight, making far fewer errors than their human counterparts," Smith said. "And they can keep on working 20 hours a day if needed."

"But the president of the pharmaceutical company stopped the program because he was afraid of the way customers would react." Smith, 31, earned his BA degree in psychology at the University of Texas. Thereafter he lectured on psychology and spent two years of graduate work in the subject there.

Until he can put some of his industrial ideas into practice he and his wife are using their IQ Zoo to train animals and birds for entertainment purposes.

They have macaws and cockatoos that lift the phone and say "Hello," ride a little bicycle on a high wire, and roller-skate. They trained a pig to turn on a television set and taught a chicken to play the piano for a TV show.

The IQ Zoo houses 90 birds, two baby llamas, 10 monkeys and two chimps.

Smith said he anticipates some opposition from those who believe it is cruel to teach animals to work.

"But," he said, "many of these are the same people who would keep a pet monkey in a cage, which would be one of the worst punishments in the world for the monkey.

"A monkey will work—just to get out of a cage."

Man With Ten Children May Have Wrong Image

NEW YORK (AP)—An expert on natural resources and population trends declared today a man with 10 children has the wrong image to be president of the United States.

And that, said William Vogt, a former director of the Planned Parenthood Federation, is why

"The last thing this country needs is more people. And the next to last, in my opinion, is a president of the United States who sets such a bad example." Vogt earlier stated his views in a letter printed in the Baltimore Evening Sun.

A spokesman for the Planned Parenthood Federation tut-tutted Vogt's criticism.

"One of our most cherished tenets is that it's up to the parents to decide how many children they should have—this is the heritage of free people," the spokesman said. And at any rate, the spokesman added, voluntary birth control is working well in the United States despite such families as the Bobby Kennedys. In 1967 the birth rate dropped to a record low of 17.9 per 1,000 population, compared with a previous low of 18.4 during the depression of the 1930s.

Vogt, who headed the federation from 1951 to 1961, said its members seem to think "it's all right for the rich to have so many kids because the rich can give their children so many advantages." He disagrees.

For one thing, Vogt said, rich people with large families add more than their share to the nation's air and water pollution, housing shortage and other environmental problems.

"A rich child is likely to place more of a strain on the environment simply because he has more money to spend," Vogt explained.

Just Send Bill To Medicare

LIBERTY, Ky. (AP)—Sam Sims, the local barber, was called to the hospital to shave an elderly man recently.

After Sims finished, his customer rubbed his chin approvingly and told the barber: "Good job. Just charge it to Medicare."

he probably won't vote for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., if the Democrats nominate him to succeed Lyndon Johnson.

Vogt, author of "Road to Surinam's election" would set back the attempt to achieve a rational population policy for years."

rate? "How could the United States, presided over by a man with 10 or more children, got to the exploding populations of the world and urge a cut in their birth rate?"

Peace Outlook 'Remote' To Observers Abroad

LONDON (AP) — While applauding the Hanoi-Washington agreement to open Vietnam talks in Paris, some foreign commentators say it is too early for optimism and an "appalling" intractable task of peacemaking lies ahead.

"It is hard to recall any negotiation in which the prospects for a settled peace seemed, at least at the outset, to be more remote, or the respective concessions harder to envisage," said the Sunday Times of London.

"Optimism for a successful outcome to the negotiations is still unwarranted," said the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri.

"Once the two sides are at the same table the pressure of public opinion at home will tend to keep them there. No amount of public pressure, however, can diminish the appalling intractable task of peacemaking that lies ahead," said the British newspaper Guardian.

"The first task," the Guardian said, "will be to stop what has become an international war between America and North Vietnam. The second, and harder task, will be to prevent the civil war continuing" between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong.

"The United States has obligations now to South Vietnam, obligations to those who would be the innocent victims of an unabated civil war as well as obligations to the South Vietnamese government," the paper added.

"Since the talks in Paris are expected to be protracted and difficult, there might be further intensification of military operations in South Vietnam," said the Japan Times.

It added: "We must accept the cold fact that neither side can afford to lose its military foothold unless in a highly unlikely event firm guarantees can be quickly reached on the negotiating table."

Yomiuri called on the United States to halt completely the bombing of North Vietnam to enhance chances for peace.

"As the mightiest nation in the world, the United States can afford to show greater tolerance and such an initiative would make it easier for Hanoi to take a more flexible attitude in the sensitive negotiations," Yomiuri said.

GIANT GATOR — This giant alligator measuring 11 feet 3 inches with a tangled steel pipe around his snout, is pulled from a hole deep in the Florida Everglades by a team of Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission officers. They wanted to tag it for study of growth and habits. While still deep in the hole the alligator grabbed a steel prodding pipe from one of the officers and turned over several times, wrapping the pipe around its mouth. (AP Wirephoto)

Cuba Is Betting On Artificial Insemination

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

SAN JOSE DE LAS LAJAS, Cuba (AP) — Cuba is betting thousands of dollars on breeding cattle by artificial insemination, and most experts agree the odds are in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's favor.

Although the real payoff is not expected to begin for another two years, some knowledgeable agriculturists already are suggesting the industry has the potential to rival sugar some day as the country's No. 1 foreign exchange earner.

The showcase for Castro's ambitious program is a spic-and-span bull ranch near this town 25 miles southeast of Havana.

The ranch is called Rosafe Signet after the first purebred bull in Castro's artificial insemination program, which began in 1962.

Here 123 thunderously big animals, many of them imported from Canada and England, snort and paw their immaculate pens while they wait to fill the test tubes.

A modern laboratory with French and Japanese equipment adjoins the bull pens where the big Shorthorns, Devons, Holsteins, Cebus and Cuban Criollos are kept.

The star of them all is a handsome Canadian Holstein with a gentle face and a long pedigree. His name is International Black Velvet and he cost the Cuban government $100,000. Castro keeps this 3,100-pound specimen of reproductive power in an air-conditioned room with other top breeders.

Technicians stop their work and school girls doing voluntary labor nearby look out when Black Velvet is led out to do his work.

The Rosafe Signet station is only for the extraction of semen. Injections into cows are made elsewhere. In Havana province, for example, there are 54 injection locations.

Dr. Omar Duverger of Rosafe Signet says more than 10,000 bulls are now incorporated in the artificial insemination program. About 2,000 of them are purebred, working at 13 other artificial insemination centers around the island. Since the program's inception, an estimated 85,000 cattle have calved through artificial insemination.

The injections are given by technicians who get practical training with cows at Cuba's slaughterhouses. By breeding the same bull to a cow and successive calves, Cubans produced a purebred after five generations. Holsteins are favored at the moment because of their badly needed milk production.

'Hire The Older Worker Week' Designated In N.C.

As part of a statewide campaign to promote employment of older workers in North Carolina, the Employment Security Commission has designated this week as "Hire the Older Worker Week."

May was earlier designated "Senior Citizen Month" by President Johnson, and the week beginning May 5 was set aside for the state campaign.

Explaining the emphasis on older worker employment, ESC office manager Lloyd Nooe said that unemployment among workers over 45 years old is relatively less than that among other age groups.

"If an older worker does lose his job and stays unemployed for a period of time," Nooe said, "it's very difficult placing him back on the job."

Nooe noted that about one-third of North Carolina's labor force is composed of workers 45 and older. Last month, he said, an estimated 20,000 persons in this age group were unemployed.

Many employers, Nooe explained, have the mistaken idea that a person who has reached 45 will not produce as much on the job as a younger person. Nooe cited tests which indicate that an older person proves in general more adaptable on the job, learn readily and have past work experiences. "Older workers are more aware of their responsibilities to the employer and they have fewer absences."

"We have 492 active applications on file from workers 45 years old or older, of which 309 are females and 25 are veterans. We hope we can convince employers to consider these experienced applicants when they seek employees."

Nooe said that any employer wishing to interview an older worker is urged to contact the State Employment Office at 10-02 S. Evans Street.

Pirate Errors Hand Win To State; Rose Edged Ten Unearned Runs Cross For State On Buc Bobbles

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor

RALEIGH — East Carolina University defeated East Carolina University here yesterday, 15-8.

In the scorebook, it goes down as a victory for North Carolina State University over the Pirates, but the Bucs had more to do with their own loss than the Wolfpack did.

Ten of the State runs were unearned as East Carolina's fumbling Bucs committed eight errors, plus a lot more mental mistakes which don't show up on the linescore.

They broke out of their own hitting doldrums with 15 hits, including five for extra bases. Seven of their own runs were earned, but their continued mistakes, especially in State's seventh run, eventually did the trick.

The Wolfpack went right to work on the Pirates in the first inning, dumping leading pitcher Mitchell Hughes on four straight hits that developed into a 4-0 lead. Clem Huffman led off with a single to center and then he stole second. Chris Cammack followed with a hit to the same place, scoring Huffman. Cammack moved on to second as the throw went home.

Steve Martin dropped another hit into center, scoring Cammack and he took second on the first Buc error. Dennis Punch capped things off with a triple, sending Martin home, and then after Sonny Robinson came in to relieve Hughes, Darrell Moody singled Punch home.

But the Pirates were far from feeling they were out of the game. Jim Snyder led off the second with a single. He moved on to second when an attempted pickoff at first was errored. Wayne Vick cut the State lead in half by banging a home run to right, making it 4-2.

In the third, the Bucs picked up another run. Carey Anderson was hit by a pitch, and Snyder promptly drove him in with a triple to center past the fielders.

And finally, in the fourth, the Bucs tied it up with their only unearned run. Dave Winchester reached on an error, advanced on a ground out, and then scored when Len Dowd hit sharply to left, making it 4-4.

The Bucs continued to hold State scoreless, and pushed it into the lead themselves in the fifth with another run. With two outs, Snyder doubled with a high fly which dropped into center between three fielders. Jimmy Lanier hit between first and second to score Snyder giving East Carolina a 5-4 lead.

It didn't stand up, however, as State rallied in the sixth for two unearned runs to take the lead at 6-5. Moody reached on an error and stole second. Gary Yount doubled down the left field line to score him with the tying run, and then Tom Smith hit into center to put State back ahead as Yount came in.

The Pirates put on their own rally, getting three in top of the seventh for an 8-6 margin. Dave Goings singled and Dennis Vick dropped a single into right. Carey Anderson singled to drive in Goings, tying it up, and Vick moved to third. Snyder hit a sacrifice fly to drive in Vick, and Lanier doubled, moving Anderson to third. Anderson was nailed on an attempted squeeze bunt that was missed, but after Dave Winchester walked, Wayne Vick singled in Lanier with the eighth Buc run.

Then came the disastrous bottom of the seventh. Huffman led off with a single. Cammack bounced back to the mound, but the ball was overthrown, and both runners advanced. Martin's routine pop fly to third was dropped, loading the bases. Punch then walked, forcing in Huffman. Fred Combs singled to drive in Cammack and Martin, and Darrell Moody hit back to short, but the attempt to get Punch at third was errored, leaving everyone safe. Dave Boyer then hit what looked like a routine single to center, which would have scored no more than one, but the ball got past the Buc defender and rolled all the way around, as all four runners sped around, clearing the bases with a grand-slam homer for a 13-8 lead.

In the eighth, two more State runs crossed, both also unearned. Punch reached on an error, and Robert Andrews went in to run for him. Fred Combs walked and a witch pitch moved them up. With two outs, Yount singled to drive in both runs, and make it 15-8, the final margin.

The Pirates were to return home today to face Clemson University. The same two teams will meet Thursday, and the Bucs will meet Furman in the Southern Division, Southern Conference title doubleheader on Saturday.

Turbine Crash Kills Driver

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — British Grand Prix Driver Mike Spence died Tuesday after his turbine-powered Lotus crashed against a wall at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Spence, 31, of Maidenhead, England, was injured in a practice run for the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30 and died in a hospital 4 1/2 hours after the crash.

He was a member of the Lotus team which drives cars built by Colin Chapman of England. Spence was driving a car assigned to another driver when it slammed into the wall on the Speedway's No. 1 turn. He suffered multiple head injuries and never regained consciousness.

Walter Myers, Speedway chief observer, witnessed the crash. He said Spence was driving higher and higher on the track each time he neared the first turn.

He said just before the crash the car went above the normal groove into loose sand and other material that accumulates outside the normal running surfaces.

Tobs Defeat Pepsi By 8-4

Greenville Tobacco Company held off a Pepsi-Cola rally yesterday to take an 8-4 victory over the defending North State champions.

The Tobs join the Elks in the early season lead with a 1-0 mark. Pepsi-Cola and the Moose are both 0-1, with Security Life and the Exchange joining the action today.

Greenville Tobacco pushed in to the lead in the third inning with four runs. Pat Hagan led off with a walk and was safe at second on an error. Macon Moye doubled to drive in Hagan. Gil Whitford reached on an error, and another error on the play scored Moye and moved Whitford to second. Jeff Beamon singled in Whitford, and after moving to third on a walk and an error, he scored on a wild pitch for a 4-0 lead.

Pepsi came up with one run in the bottom of the fifth. Jerry Griffith singled and stole second. Donald Cannon doubled to drive him in, cutting the lead to 4-1. But in the top of the sixth, the Tobs pushed in four more runs for an 8-1 advantage. Hagan singled and Julian Vainright reached on a fielder's choice. Moye singled, and an error on the play brought Hagan in. Whitford got a hit, scoring Vainright, and a single by Beamon brought in Moye. A walk to Mike Reilly loaded the bases and another free trip to Westley Deal brought Whitford over with the final run.

Pepsi tried to rally in the final inning, picking up three runs. Waighy Seales singled and Lee Shearin walked. Jerry Griffin was hit by a pitch, loading them up. Donald Cannon reached on an error, scoring Seales and Shearin, and David Clifton singled to drive in Griffin. But the rally was stopped there, leaving the Tobs with the win.

Coca-Cola Romps Over R.C., 11-2

Coca-Cola romped to an 11-2 victory over R. C. Cola yesterday in the North State Little League.

The victory sends Coca-Cola into a tie with the Lions for the early lead in the league with 1-0 records. The Optimists and R. C. are both 0-1, while the Kiwanis and Jaycees join in the action today.

The action got underway in the first inning, as Coca-Cola picked up its first run. Bobb Kittrell doubled and Prince Bunting singled to drive him in for a 1-0 lead.

R. C. came back in its half of the first to tie it up. Randy Lewis singled and advanced to second on a passed ball. Randy Cates then reached on an error, allowing Lewis to score and tie it up.

Coke then put together a big six-run second inning to move into the lead for good. Dillon

Forbes led off with a walk and Connie Cannon reached on an error. Billy Pittman singled and a passed ball scored Forbes and moved the others up. Pudge Diket was hit by a pitch, loading the bases and Pat Clark singled, driving in Cannon. Kittrell singled in Pittman, and Prince Bunting got a hit to drive in Diket and Clark. Kittrell then scored on a passed ball.

In the third, Coke added two more runs. Bobby Gadow walked and Cannon singled. Pittman got a hit, scoring Gadow, and a hit by Bobby Griffith scored Cannon.

The final two Coke runs scored in the sixth. Kittrell doubled and scored on Bunting's single. Bunting moved around to third on an error and scored on a passed ball.

Jackets Down Phants 5-4 To Virtually End Hopes

By SONNY McLAWHORN Reflector Sports Writer

ROANOKE RAPIDS — Four unearned runs, a fatal error and an inability to hit Roanoke Rapids' Chuck Draughn: That was the story of Rose High's 5-4 loss to the Yellow Jackets in 10 innings Tuesday.

It virtually eliminated the Phantoms from the Northeastern race. Rose had a couple of chances to pull it out, but the Phants couldn't put it all together Tuesday.

Mike Aldridge bounced a single over the third baseman's head to drive in a run in the seventh, breaking a 3-3 deadlock and apparently giving the Phants another victory.

But the Yellow Jackets roared back to tie it up. With one out, second baseman Johnny Cox walked, moved to third on an error and scored on Carey Foster's single to right field. Rose pushed a runner around to third in the eighth. Al Gurganus reached base on a fielder's choice, then went to second and third on two separate errors. The next batter struck out, leaving Gurganus stranded.

The Phantoms went down in order in the ninth and tenth frames.

Leftfielder Larry Smith singled to lead off for the Yellow Jackets in the bottom of the tenth. Then with one out, Jimmy Watson pounded a hopper to the Rose infield. The third baseman fielded the ball and made a wild throw to second base, allowing Smith to come in from second with the winning run.

After loading the bases in the first frame, the Phants rallied for three runs in the second inning. Russ Smith led off with a base on balls. David Hahn stroked an infield single. Al Gurganus laid a bunt in the direction of the pitcher and Smith came around to score when the pitcher threw the ball past the third baseman. Stuart Jones got to base on another error, as two more runs scored when the Yellow Jacket second baseman made a wild throw to first.

The Jackets came back in the bottom of the third. Roland Hedgepeth walked. The next two batters struck out, but Cox singled to drive in Hedgepeth. Smith followed with a single and stole second, but the inning ended with runners on second and third.

The Phants got another chance in the fourth. With two out, Stuart Jones boomed a triple to right field. Two walks loaded the bases, but Rose failed to capitalize.

Hahn robbed Roanoke Rapids' Billy Faucette of a base hit with a fine catch of a liner in the fourth.

With two out in the fifth, Roanoke Rapids got two more runs. Cotton Nicholson walked and Cox singled. Smith's one-bagger sent in Nicholson. When the throw came in from left field in plenty of time to trap Cox who was also trying to score, the ball got by the catcher and the Jackets had tied it up at 3-3.

Gurganus' diving catch of Foster's bloopier to right ended the inning.

The Jackets got runners on first and second with one out in the sixth, but Rose pitcher Smith tamed the next two hitters. Joe West reached on the shortstop's error to open the seventh for the Phants Clayton's sacrifice bunt moved West to second, where he scored on Aldridge's single.

That set the stage for the game-tying run in the last of the seventh.

Draughn shackled the Phants, limiting them to three safeties in six innings. The righthander struck out eighth and didn't walk a batter.

Smith didn't get the usual help from his teammates. The Phants committed four miscues, three of them leading directly to runs for Roanoke Rapids.

Santiago Hurls Boston To Victory; McGraw's Grand Slam Powers Chisox

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Santiago's luck is holding up. Joe Horlen's fortunes finally have taken a turn for the better and the Sox are on the run again.

Santiago hurled the Boston Red Sox to a 3-2 victory over Washington Tuesday night, extending his regular season winning streak—began last year—to 12 games.

Horlen, meanwhile, earned his first triumph of the season after a run of five setbacks as the Chicago White Sox trimmed California 6-4 with the help of a grand slam homer by Tom McCraw.

Their respective victories ended a three-game tailspin for Boston and moved last place Chicago within one game of the struggling New York Yankees.

Cleveland's streaking Indians buried the Yankees 8-0, Detroit edged Baltimore 2-1 and Minnesota shamed Oakland 2-1 in other games.

Santiago, who had strung together eight straight 1967 victories beginning last July, got help from his mound opponent, Joe Coleman, and Red Sox reliever Lee Stange in posting victory No. 4 this spring.

A balk by Coleman in the third inning sent home Boston's third run and Stange came out of the bullpen to get the last four outs after the Senators closed the gap with a run in the seventh and another in the eighth.

Joe Foy's first inning double and Carl Yastrzemski's third inning single drove in the Red Sox' first two runs, starting Washington on the way to its fifth loss in a row.

Horlen, whose early troubles paralleled the White Sox' sorry sendoff this year, blanked the slumping Angels until the seventh inning, when he needed relief help to nail his first victory.

McCraw helped put Horlen over the top with his grand slam off loser Sammv Ellis in the White Sox' five-run third, then hastened the pitcher's seventeenth inning exit with an error.

The Chicago first baseman said he's developed a "thing" about making bad fielding plays when Horlen is pitching. "I've been doing it for over a year now and I think now that I tight-en up and try too hard when Horlen is on the mound," Mc-

Craw said.

The Sox led 6-0 when McCraw's boot and singles by Tom Satriono and Jimmie Hall filled the bases for Jim Fregosi, who stroked a two-run single that knocked out Horlen.

Luis Tiant scattered five hits and struck out 10 on the way to his third consecutive shutout as the Indians rolled past New York for their sixth straight victory.

Tiant contributed a two-run single, Tony Horton a two-run double and Jose Cardenal a two-run inside-the-park homer to the Indians' attack on loser Jim Bouton and two successors.

Cleveland pitchers have allowed just four runs during the winning streak.

Tom Matchick's two-run pinch hit double in the ninth gave Detroit a 2-0 lead and the Tigers withstood Boog Powell's homer to snap the Orioles' winning string at eight.

Winning pitcher Mickete Lohich and Baltimore's Tom Phoebus hooked up in a scoreless duel until the ninth, when two walks and a grand out set the stage for Matchick's decisive double to right center.

The Twins, who had dropped four straight, ended a four-game Oakland victory skein by pushing over two early runs and holding off a late rally by the A's, whose hopes for an eighth inning blitz died in a freak double play.

After yielding singles by Rick Monday and Danny Cater, winning pitcher Jim Perry grabbed Bert Campaneris' tap to the mound and trapped Monday off third. The relay to first caught Campaneris making a wide turn and he was run down for the second out.

Two more hits accounted for just one run before reliever Al Worthington pitched out of the jam.

Ryan Hurls 3-Hitter To Pickle Cardinals For Mets In 4-1 Win

Nolan Ryan might soak his pitching hand in pickle juice, but after several whiffs, the St. Louis Cardinals were comparing him to Sandy Koufax and his odorless ice water.

The 21-year-old hurler zipped his fast ball by the National League leading Cardinals for eight strikeouts and a three-hitter Tuesday night and the New York Mets had themselves a 4-1 victory.

"He's faster than Koufax and he's the fastest I've seen in the major leagues," marveled the Cardinals' Mike Shannon, although he'd rather face Ryan than Koufax "because Koufax had the tougher curve."

Right-hander Ryan, you see, soaks his pitching hand in pickle juice between innings to toughen the skin because of blisters, while lefty Koufax used ice water to keep down the swelling on his arthritic left elbow.

Mike Ryan, who is trying to make a name for himself in the majors as a catcher, might need some pickle juice for blisters himself after extra hitting practice paid off with a game-winning hit in Philadelphia's 5-2 victory over Cincinnati.

In other NL games, the Atlanta Braves edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and Houston bombed Juan Marichal and San Francisco 7-1 at night and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in the afternoon.

Ryan, who shut out Philadelphia and struck out 10 in his last outing, was not even at his best against the Cardinals as he raised his record to 3-2.

"I didn't have my best fast ball, but I had pretty good control," the young rookie said.

Ryan fell behind in the third St. Louis run, but he was in command the rest of the way.

Art Shamsky gave him runs he needed in the seventh against Nelson Briles, 4-2, when he followed Dave Boswell's single with his first home run of the season for a 2-1 lead.

Mike Ryan, who hasn't hit better than .214 in 2½ seasons in the majors, lined a tie-breaking when Bobby Tolán singled in the two-run triple out of the reach of diving outfielder Pete Rose in the seventh inning in Philadelphia's triumph.

"I have been out at this ballpark since noon today," a tired Ryan said after the game.

Manager Gene Mauch was throwing to me to help me improve my batting. I hope to see more action if I can do better at the plate."

He currently is hitting an embarrassing .172.

In contrast, Rose extended his hitting streak to 22 games with a single.

Felix Milan singled home the winning run in the ninth inning for Atlanta, beating the Pirates' Al McBean, who had a no-hitter for 6 2/3 innings and only wound up with his second loss against four victories.

Don Wilson scattered seven hits and stroked a two-run single to cap a four-run seventh inning that knocked out Juan Marichal in Houston's victory. Wilson evened his record at 2-2, although Mike Cuellar had to get the last two outs.

Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, with relief help from John Billingham, outdueled Richie Nye of the Cubs as Ron Fairly drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and Rocky Colavito singled in the winner in the fifth.

Winterville Takes Win Over Stokes

WINTERVILLE—Winterville's Wolves pounded out a 14-6 victory over Stokes-Pactolus Tuesday and clinched at least second place for the final conference standings.

For the Wolves it was revenge for a 10-3 loss at the hands of Stokes last week.

Winterville got nine hits and took advantage of eight Stokes errors.

Meanwhile, Philip Haddock fired a one-hitter for the Wolves.

Winterville got five runs in the first inning. Manning was hit by a pitch. Godley singled and Haddock tripled to score two runs. O'Mary reached base on an error as Haddock scored.

Then Langston and Dewis hit singles back-to-back to bring in two more runs.

In the second inning, the Wolves got what turned out to be the winning margin. Godley reached via an error, stole second and third and scored on another error. Haddock got to base on a fielder's choice and later scored on a Stokes miscue.

In the sixth, the Blue Jays put together two walks, a single and an error to get three runs on the scoreboard.

Two walks, a hit batsman and an error accounted for three more runs in the seventh.

The Wolves rolled up five runs in the fifth inning to put it out of reach for Stokes.

Carter Crandall was the losing pitcher.

Friday marks the regular season finale for both teams.

Stokes is host to Grifton, while the Wolves take on Chico's Hornets in Winterville.

Eppes Closes Year With Win

Eppes High School defeated Tarboro here yesterday, 8-0, to wind up the 1968 season.

Raymond Clemmons allowed only two hits for Tarboro in going the distance. He struck out 10 while walking two.

The Bulldogs broke the scoreless tie in the third as Ernest Hymond and Don Ebron scored on a double by Johnny Smith.

In the fourth, Robert Little singled to right and stole his way to third. He scored on a sacrifice by Billy Savage.

Eppes finished its year with a 6-8 record. It is the first year Eppes has played baseball.

Alford Drafted By New Orleans

Charlie Alford, center of the East Carolina University basketball team last season, has been drafted by the New Orleans Buccaneers of the American Basketball Association.

Alford was the sixth round choice of the Bucs. His senior year, Alford averaged around 16 points and pulled down around 10 rebounds per game for East Carolina.

Coach Tom Quinn of East Carolina said today of Alford, "We feel that any success our players have in the pro ranks will cast a nice reflection on our school. Charlie has been given a wonderful opportunity to bring credit to East Carolina and to continue his basketball career. I have felt all along that Charlie had the potential to become a good pivot player. With concentrated work in some of his weaker areas, I feel certain that he could give an ABA team help. I wish him well in this endeavor."

Swim Team Feted By Dr. Jenkins

Dr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins entertained the East Carolina University swimming team last night at a dinner at their home.

The Pirates recently captured another Southern Conference Swimming title. At the banquet, the team co-captains, Owen Paris and Mike Tomberlin, presented Dr. Jenkins with the championship trophy.

The Worry Clinic Health Damaged By Dulling One's Senses

Dr. Ajax raises a query that should intrigue all you wives whose husbands are too ardent! And you oldsters who rely routinely on sedatives and tranquilizers better stop dulling your senses by chemicals, for the dulling effect on the stomach may curb your proper intake of food and vitamins!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-563: Dr. Ajax is an officer in his state Dental Association.

He met me at the airport when I was recently scheduled for a full day of speeches before his group.

As we had dinner that evening, he suggested that I detour in my banquet address the next night so I could include some sex advice to wives.

"For our wives and Dental Assistants have all been invited," he said.

"And they will be disappointed unless you talk about marriage problems."

Then he also mentioned a middle-aged colleague who was moody and had even threatened suicide, because he had become platonic.

So he asked me what psychiatric suggestions I could offer to aid this dental surgeon.

"Does he smoke?" was my first query.

And Dr. Ajax informed me that his impotent friend was a chain cigarette addict.

Lest some of you readers think I "pick on tobacco" unduly, let me cite some corroborative data on de-sexing influence of tobacco.

Recently a prominent American medic, Dr. Frank Rosen, who is expert in the field of allergy, made a startling sexual comment.

He showed that animals exposed to auto fumes have diminished sexual powers. But the essential element in auto fumes, as well as in tobacco smoke, is carbon monoxide.

So the cigarette addict is not only "fixing" the hemoglobin in his red blood corpuscles and thus producing a functional type of anemia.

But he apparently curbs his sexual appetite much as he also reduces his gastric hunger.

And within the past year, a famous Russian scientist reported on the reduced sexual vigor and greater incidence of impotence among smokers.

For 20 years I have been giving you this same warning, based on the empirical observation of American medics.

For we routinely find that the heavy smoker is more likely to become a platonic mate than is his older married brother, if they don't use cigarettes.

If you wives who have too ardent husbands, want to reduce their eroticism and push them into a premature platonic state, then you might urge them to become chain smokers!

For then they will not only be less affectionate but they will die on an average 5 to 7 years early, so you will not be bothered with them as long as otherwise would be true!

Cigarettes exert a soothing influence on jittery, frightened men and women.

That's why they are foisted on soldiers and sailors.

For anything that soothes one's nerves, likewise reduces one's hungers, both gastric as well as erotic.

Many elderly folks in hospitals are routinely given tranquilizers to keep them quiet at night so they will not bother the nurses unduly.

But those same tranquilizers also curb their stomach hunger and thus can help produce earlier death via inadequate intake of vitamins and minerals.

So send for my booklet "How to Stop the Tobacco - 1 Liquor Habits," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

GAL EXCELS
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The fair sex is moving into another formerly male-dominated field. The top scholar in the well-known College of Fisheries at the University of Washington is a pretty 19-year-old co-ed, Mimi Schmidt of Seattle.

The pressure of an avalanche against a flat surface has been measured at 100 tons per square meter.

STILL SOUGHT — The Federal Bureau of Investigation released these two photographs Tuesday in Washington, identified as two additional pictures of James Earl Ray who is being sought in connection with the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. The FBI said the picture of Ray wearing dark glasses was taken in Mexico in 1967, while the one of Ray in a business suit was made in California during the last part of January or the early part of February, 1968. UAW May Be Kicked Out Of AFL-CIO Over Dues

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers union, currently renewing threats to quit the 14-million-member AFL-CIO, faces the possibility of being kicked out next week for nonpayment of dues.

The Auto Workers, issuing new attacks on AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership from its convention in Atlantic City, will be three months and about $250,000 behind in dues May 15 and face automatic expulsion, informed sources said.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, meeting next week, may take up the matter and some sources predict a majority of its members may be angered enough to oust Reuther's union if it doesn't pay up.

Sources say AFL-CIO leaders are miffed at Reuther's announcement the Auto Workers may put its per capita AFL-CIO dues in escrow pending settlement of its demands for internal reform of the federation.

The Auto Workers, largest of the AFL-CIO's 128 unions, pays about $1 million a year into its treasury.

This is the second time in its long feud with the AFL-CIO that the Auto Workers has withheld dues almost up to the suspension deadline.

Meany previously ignored most of Reuther's actions. But there are new elements in the deepening split between the two men who founded the AFL-CIO 13 years ago by merging Meany's American Federation of Labor with the Reuther-led Congress of Industrial Organizations.

There were 1,076,245 casualties in World War II.

Officer Claims It Was Mutiny

By MALCOLM G. BARR
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, stripped of a ship's command after junior officers' complaints, has told a special congressional committee there was mutiny on the vessel.

Arnheiter, a 42-year-old career Navy officer, was relieved as captain of the destroyer escort Vance in 1966 after the Navy ruled he showed "a serious lack of judgment" and "knowingly and deliberately committed many derelictions."

Capt. Richard G. Alexander, 45, who lost command of the battleship New Jersey after interceding with Defense Department authorities on Arnheiter's behalf, is to testify today.

Appearing Tuesday before a committee called together by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y.—who vows to get the case "before Congress or to the White House if needs be"—Arnheiter said that when he assumed command of the Vance, "complete bedlam" existed.

He contended morale was low, the vessel was rusty and infested with cockroaches "and I began to wonder what I had inherited."

He testified throughout the first day of the scheduled three day hearing, saying he wanted his "day in court under proper naval proceedings" and that this had been denied him. His wife sat two rows behind him in the crowded committee room.

There are no official Navy witnesses at the hearing. Resnick said the Navy has refused to cooperate or participate in the inquiry.

Arnheiter, a decorated Naval Academy graduate with seven years of sea duty aboard destroyers, said his intention aboard the Vance was to "take a lax ship and make it into a fighting ship."

Denying any improper conduct, he said, "My major intent was . . . to take this ship into a war zone with a shinscape crew who would be proud of the ship and of whom the U.S. Navy could be proud."

Arnheiter said he met resistance in his efforts. "Did you feel there was actual mutiny aboard the Vance?" attorney Marvin Lewis asked Arnheiter.

"Yes," Arnheiter replied, puffing on a cigar.

The Youth Temperance Council of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet at the home of Lois and Nancy Brown on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The following newly elected officers and directors will be presiding at the meeting: Curtis Teel, president; Don Simpkins, vice president; Nancy Brown, recording secretary; Lois Brown, promotion secretary; Lois Brown, promotions secretary; Ronnie Brown, treasurer; Kenneth Bright, Christian Living director; Larry Parker, Educational director; Jimmy Peaden, Public Relations director; Tony Clark, social director; Mrs. Viola Brown, general secretary.

All teenage boys and girls are invited to attend the meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. S. W. Brown.

While the cost of living has been leaping upward, the cost of electricity has been creeping downward.

You know what's happened to the price of nearly everything. The cost of living has risen 126% since 1941.

But do you know what's happened to the price of electricity? While the cost of living has risen 126%, the average annual unit cost of electricity has gone down 44%.

Right now, you probably think we are pulling your leg. Because your electric bill is higher, right?

Your electric bill is higher because you are using a lot more electricity. The average family uses about five times as much as it used in 1941.

And there are some mighty good reasons why they use more today: Electric dishwashers, electric dryers, electric air conditioners, electric water heaters, electric vacuum cleaners, electric knives, electric can openers, electric tooth brushes. Electric everything. Almost.

Just think what it would cost you to live if you used five times as much of everything as you used in 1941.

Isn't it a good thing that electric rates ran the wrong way in the price race?

we care

What is A Mother?

To her family, she's special.
 She's understanding,
 a banquet chef, a short order cook,
 a fountain of love, a chauffeur,
 warmth and security.
 She's clean socks, starched dresses,
 a mender of hurts.
 She's scrubbed ears,
 a tender nurse, a maid, a queen.
 She deserves a day of honor and tribute.
 She deserves the love of those she loves.
 Yes, she's very, very special.
 This Sunday, you'll tell your mother
 how much you care.
 We'd like to tell all mothers,
 "We Care, too."

Confederate Memorial Day In N.C.

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Department of Archives and History
Written for The AP

RALEIGH (AP)—Friday will be Confederate Memorial Day in the Tar Heel State. Also in South Carolina. These are the only two states that commemorate that particular day. The nine other former Confederate states observe different days.

Why May 10? Because that's the anniversary of Stonewall Jackson's death, 105 years ago. Had Jackson lived, there's no telling what might have happened. The Confederacy might even have won its independence.

It has been said that with Jackson Lee never lost a great battle. But without him Lee never won one—not a smashing, overwhelming victory, that is.

It all happened very suddenly. The South had won victory after victory—First Manassas, the Valley campaign, Second Manassas, Fredericksburg—these and many others. The southern flood seemed to be reaching high tide. One Union commander after another had been humiliated, driven back.

And now in the spring of 1863 a few Federal Generals, "Fighting Joe" Hooker, with an army of 138,000 men, was camped above the Rappahannock in northern Virginia, ready to launch a new drive on Richmond. Lee had only 62,000 men to oppose him.

Then, after some preliminary maneuvering, Lee and Jackson hit upon the same brilliant tactic they had used before. With hardly more than a handful of men, Lee was to hold the front. And Jackson, taking a much larger force, was to march secretly around the left flank and hit them in the rear.

Never did a plan work out more beautifully. Setting out very early in the morning, quietly and steadily, hour after hour Jackson's men marched on following little-traveled roads through trees and underbrush.

Then, just at sunset, with a piercing rebel yell they burst upon the astonished Federals, sweeping all before them. It was a complete rout, a crushing Confederate victory.

A victory except for one thing. But that may have been most important of all. Going forward to reconnoiter in the twilight, Jackson ran into a hail of bullets fired by his own men. It has been said that a certain Tar Heel unit fired the shots, but no one will ever know for sure.

Jackson fell, gravely wounded. For a few days he lingered on, but on May 10 he breathed his last. Today you can see the house just east of the main line railroad, a few miles south of Fredericksburg.

Lee and his cohorts kept on. The surrender at Appomattox was nearly two years in the future. But with Jackson gone, the southern star never shone as brightly again.

Board Approves ECU Awards Contracts To Demolish Old Dorms

WILLIAMSTON — The Williams town board approved payment of $17,890 at the city's part of the cost of a Martin County Airport at its meeting Monday night.

The payment came after representatives of the Martin County Airport Commission appeared and told the officials the commission is ready to start purchasing and clearing land for the facility.

The airport, which will cost an estimated $172,000 will be located between Hamilton and Everettes. In addition to money secured from Martin County governing boards, federal and state funds have also been approved for the project.

The board also heard a request from the Rev. Paul Mears requesting the re-establishment of a community human relations committee.

The minister was asked to submit a list of names for the consideration of the board. Such a committee would probably contain 10 to 12 members.

Also approved at the meeting was a public hearing June 3 for consideration of the city's new subdivision ordinance.

The hearing was set for 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

East Carolina University announced today the award of contracts for the demolition of two of its original buildings, Old Austin Building and Wilson Dormitory for women.

Both buildings, located side by side on the west end of the original campus, were erected in the school's first construction program, 1907-'09. Inspectors have advised against trying to save the buildings, mainly because of a lack of structural steel in their framework. Old Austin has already been replaced with a three-story masonry-and-steel building.

A Greensboro firm, D. H. Griffin Wrecking Company, will take Old Austin down for $11,380 and salvage. The work will be completed by Aug. 15.

The university will retain the Old Austin cupola for preservation as a campus landmark. Movable furniture and other equipment will also be retained. Offices and classrooms in Old Austin will be relocated in various buildings on the campus.

Wilson Dorm will be demolished by the Carolina Wrecking Company of Durham for $2,345 and salvage. The work will begin May 31 and be completed by Aug. 15. Movable furniture and equipment will be retained by the university for reuse or disposal.

Wilson now provides accommodations for 189 coeds. Loss of that capacity will be more than offset with the opening of a new 400-bed girls dorm in time for next fall.

The Wilson and Old Austin sites have been chosen for two high-rise women's dorms already authorized for construction. Plans are now being drawn.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Auxiliary Bishop Charles McLaughlin of Raleigh, N.C., today was named bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Diocese of Miami, Fla., has been elevated to an archdiocese to include the present Diocese of St. Augustine and two new dioceses at St. Petersburg and Orlando.

This action of Pope Paul VI was announced in Washington today by the Most Rev. Luigi Raimondi, apostolic delegate to the United States.

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore will go to Montgomery, Ala., Thursday as chairman of the Southern Governors Conference to attend the funeral of Gov. Lurleen Wallace.

Moore said in a statement that he and Mrs. Moore "have extended our personal condolences to the people of Alabama through a message to the Honorable Albert Brewer, who has assumed the office of governor of his state."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission has ordered the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad to do some fast repair work on its tracks between Wilmington and Chadbourne.

The commission said in an order that the track's "overall condition is poor" and that an 11-mile stretch between Leland and Delco "is in the worst condition in certain places appears hazardous."

The order pointed out that ammunition and "other hazardous materials" are moved over the line.

The commission's inspectors checked the track after getting a report from a private citizen, said Thomas Killian, director of traffic for the commission.

HILLSBOROUGH, N.C. (AP) — The Orange County Board of Elections has ruled there were "no voting irregularities" during Saturday's primary in the Eno Precinct.

Elections Board Chairman Marshall Cates said the Eno Precinct's election results have been canvassed and the results sent to Raleigh.

Cates' comments came after the board had considered a complaint brought by Mrs. Nellie Andrews, who told the board that although she was appointed precinct judge by the board, she found she had been replaced when she arrived to be sworn in.

Cates said this should have been done only if Mrs. Andrews had been late in arriving and that she was not late.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The New York State Legislature decided early today to raise taxes on incomes, gasoline and cigarettes, thus giving Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller a substantial victory in his revenue demands.

The Republican governor, who is seeking the GOP presidential nomination, had requested more in taxes to balance his budget of more than $5 billion. Faced with a rebuff by the politically divided legislature in its election year, he threatened to veto other budget-balancing devices.

The compromise provides for increasing taxes on income of $17,000 or more, raising the cigarette tax by 2 cents, to 12 cents a package, and the gasoline tax by a penny, to 7 cents a gallon.

Communists Will Have Candidates

NEW YORK (AP) — The Communist party of the United States announced Tuesday that it would elect candidates for president and vice president this November for the first time since 1940.

Henry Winston, national party chairman, said the party's candidates would be selected at a special convention during the July 4 weekend.

Winston said the party would seek ballot status wherever possible and would try to get write-in votes in those states where it could not get on the ballot.

School Board Reviews Budget
WILLIAMSTON — Martin County school board members took little action at their Monday meeting.

Officials spent most of their time reviewing items to be included in their 1968-69 budget to be presented to Martin County Commissioners this month.

Another budget work session was set for May 9.

Patient Walked 3 Days Later
LONDON (AP) — Frederick West who surprised doctors by walking only three days after his heart transplant operation, was reported "tired and resting" at London's National Heart Hospital today.

West, 45, Britain's first heart transplant patient, had been feeling well when he met his wife and heart transplant pioneer Dr. Christiana Barnard of South Africa in his hospital room Tuesday.

Jenkinses Host Swimming Team
Jenkinses—M.M.
Dr. and Mrs. Leo W. Jenkins Tuesday night entertained the East Carolina University swimming team which recently won the 1968 Southern Conference championship.

A highlight of the evening was presentation by Coach Ray Martinez of the championship plaque to Dr. Jenkins as president of the university.

Ray Scharf, assistant coach, also presented to Dr. Jenkins a Red Cross certificate designating the university president as a 10-mile swimmer.

The Jenkins home was decorated with roses and other spring flowers.

Assisting Mrs. Jenkins were Mrs. Martinez, Mrs. Scharf, Mrs. Doug Jones, Mrs. Chuck Thompson, Mrs. Clarence Stavich and Mrs. N.M. Jorgensen.

Receiving the 75 guests at the front door were Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins and Dr. and Mrs. Martinez.

Nine Inducted By Kappa Alphas
The East Carolina University chapter of Kappa Alpha Order, national social fraternity, has inducted nine new brothers.

The new members, before their initiation, visited KA brothers, performed daily duties at the fraternity house and passed required fraternity tests.

A scholastic average of C is required.

Groups Sponsor Fellowship

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association and the Cosmopolitan Club of East Carolina University will sponsor an International Fellowship Evening tonight at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

The event will include a hospitality get acquainted hour at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m.

International students and faculty members at East Carolina University have been invited to attend as special guests. Arrangements for the event are being handled by the Cosmopolitan Club of ECU and the Committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Charles E. Woodall, chairman of the Chamber Committee, said more than 125 persons are expected to attend. Reservations for non-Chamber members should be made by calling the Chamber office, 752-4101.

The meal will include international desserts, prepared by a number of persons from other countries. International exhibits and entertainment will also be featured at the meeting.

Led Group On A Bird Hike

Dr. Stanley Riggs, of the Geology Department at East Carolina University, led the Unitarian Fellowship Sunday School and their parents on a bird hike along the Tar River near Grimesland early Sunday morning.

Dr. Vincent Bellis of the Biology Department and a friend, Dr. Bryce Kendrick, a mycologist from Ontario, Canada, helped in identifying plants.

A breakfast followed the hike at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bellis.

The Unitarian fellowship meets every Sunday at the Y-Hut on the ECU campus.

Advance $10,000 To Petitioners

WILLIAMSTON — The Martin County commissioners Monday voted to advance Martin County petitioners $10,000 for organizing the Tranters Creek Drainage District.

The proposed drainage district, to be established in cooperation with petitioners from Pitt and Beaufort counties, will construct an outfall line through grants by the federal government.

Financial support of the district will be in proportion to the benefits derived by each county.

Cost to Martin County residents will be 50 per cent of the total, while Pitt and Beaufort will finance 25 per cent each.

The advance approved by the commissioners is to be repaid within two years.

The board also heard estimates of the cost of a county-wide fire alarm and communications system, similar to one recently put into operation in Pitt County.

Equipment for such a system for Martin County would cost $18,000, with an annual cost of $200 to $250 per year for maintenance.

No action was taken by the board.

Commissioners also called for a budget meeting with county school officials and the welfare department May 30.

Pope Paul Will Visit Colombia

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today he will make a two- or three-day visit to Colombia in August to attend the 38th International Eucharistic Congress in Bogota and to open a Latin-American bishops conference in Medellin.

It will be the longest trip in the 70-year-old pontiff's reign and the first by a pope to Latin America.

He made no mention of visiting other Latin-American countries that have invited him but there was a possibility of airport stopovers.

KILLED IN ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense said Tuesday Gunnery Sgt. Donald L. Carnes, husband of Mrs. Donald L. Carnes of Jacksonville, N.C., has been killed in action in the Vietnam war.

Study Reviewed By Winterville Board

WINTERVILLE — A preliminary engineering study of water and sewer lines to Pitt Technical Institute was reviewed by the Winterville town board Monday night.

The study has been forwarded to the proper Pitt County officials for further study.

The board heard a request from R. E. Boyd, a representative of the Winterville Chamber of Commerce, for securing street lights and sidewalk improvement for West Railroad St. The board approved the installation of the street lights and if Boyd would get the property owners to sign a petition, the sidewalk project would be handled as a street project. The town would pay one-third of the cost for the improvement, while property owners would pay the remaining two-thirds of the project.

The board declared A Franklin Branch as winner of a three-year term as alderman on the Winterville board.

Board members voted to make no charge for the tapping of the new boy scout building onto the city water and electrical lines and that no charge would be made monthly for use of the building.

The zoning of three and one half acres of land for a trailer park was approved by the board. The park, located adjacent to the only two trailer parks now in Winterville, will be large enough for 26 trailer spaces.

Rule No Voting Irregularities In Orange County

Officers Elected By Civitan Club

Louis Jones was elected president of the Greenville Civitan Club at the groups meeting last month.

Other officers named at the groups regular meeting include Al Tetterton, vice-president; Fred Wilson, secretary and Larry Wall, treasurer.

Members named to the board of directors were Leon Singleton, Jim Rodgers, Ken Quiggins and Delbert Roscoe.

The Civitan's major money raising project is the annual sale of fruit cakes. Funds raised through this project are used to help support the Rose High School Band and programs for the mentally retarded.

Fast Repairs To Tracks Ordered; Condition 'Poor'

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission has ordered the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad to do some fast repair work on its tracks between Wilmington and Chadbourne.

The commission said in an order that the track's "overall condition is poor" and that an 11-mile stretch between Leland and Delco "is in the worst condition in certain places appears hazardous."

The order pointed out that ammunition and "other hazardous materials" are moved over the line.

The commission's inspectors checked the track after getting a report from a private citizen, said Thomas Killian, director of traffic for the commission.
