Miners' Rescue Is Near

HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) —After a frantic nig' of rumors and false alarms that rescue of 15 of 25 trapped miners was imminent, rescue workers reported today that they were within about 600 feet of the miners.

H. E. Sundstrom, director of the rescue operations, said the water level in the mine had receded enough to enable foreman Frank Davis and Bob Rudd —who had been marooned at another location—to rejoin a group of 13 other miners one-half mile closer to the entrance if they wished. A group of 10, deeper in the mine, is presumed dead.

The group of 13 men was located about a mile inside the tunnel, where they were trapped Monday noon when water cascaded through the entire mine after a wall to an adjacent abandoned, and flooded, mine was pierced.

Center's Plans Progress

Pre-construction planning is moving ahead for a new developmental Evaluation Center at East Carolina University.

Congressman Walter Jones announced Wednesday the appropriation of $148,360 to help with the $250,000 project.

Dr. Malene Irons, director of the university's Developmental Evaluation Clinic which will occupy the center, said plans are already 50 per-cent approved.

She added that the university will advertise for construction bids around October 1. Actual construction, she said, should take about six months.

The center will be built on a two-acre site on university property West of Stratford Arms apartments. It will be the first university building on the property west of Charles Street.

The federal grant supplements a special appropriation of $100,000 by the 1967 General Assembly to build the facility.

The new center will enable the clinic to expand its program of diagnostic and related services to mentally retarded and other exceptional children.

2nd Transplant In France

MONTPELLIER, France (AP) — France's second heart transplant was performed by doctors in Montpellier Wednesday, and the patient—a 65-year-old man—was reported in satisfactory condition today.

The patient's name was withheld but the donor wa' reported to be Jean-Claude Amarger, 35, who was fatally injured last Friday. Married and father of three, he was hurt when a tire burst at the service station he operated.

France's first transplant patient was Clovis Roblin, 66, who died in Paris on April 30. He lived for 51½ hours after the operation.

The latest French heart transplant was the 13th in the world.

Arrest One In Still Raid

One man arrested last night as Pitt and Craven County ABC officers raided and destroyed a 60-gallon drum type still in the Clay Root Section of Pitt County.

Officers said Sam Jackson 63-year-old Negro of Route 3, Ayden, was taken into custody at the still site and charged with operating the illegal unit.

The distillery was in operation at the time of the raid, officers said.

Included at the site was 40 gallons of mash, three 55-gallon barrel fermenters, a five-gallon lard-stand doubler and a 60-gallon cooler with copper coil.

There were also two and one-half gallons of freshly made non-tax-paid whiskey at the site.

Jackson's trial was set for May 28 in Pitt County Recorders Court.

'Lawless Society' Steps

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, saying the United States has become a "lawless society," has endorsed legislative proposals that would authorize some forms of wiretapping in major crime and national security cases.

The former vice president charged Wednesday that the Johnson administration had been "lame and ineffectual" in dealing with "a staggering 88 per cent" rise in crime over the past seven years.

Nixon, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, also charged that the Supreme Court is "seriously hamstringing the peace forces in our society and strengthening the criminal forces."

He said in a 6,000-word statement issued by his New York office that "If the present rate of new crime continues, the number of rapes and robberies and assaults and thefts in the United States today will double by the end of 1972.

"This is a prospect America cannot accept. If we allow it to happen then the city jungle will cease to be a metaphor . . . This nation will then be what it is fast becoming—an armed camp of 200 million Americans liivng in fear'.'

Insist On $6 Billion Cut In Spending

Senate-House Group Accepts Tax Surcharge

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have agreed to President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge but tied it to a $6 billion spending cut he has said is against the national interest.

The conferees said Wednesday they had accepted these two key points which the Senate approved more than a month ago.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the conferees as well as of the House Ways and Means Committee, voiced hope the group could complete work on many other amendments to the bill at a final session today.

The income-tax increase is the 10 per cent surcharge proposal applying to both individuals and corporations which the administration has been pushing since last August.

It would yield $10 billion on a yearly basis. It would last 15 months for individuals, from April 1 this year to June 30. 1969, and 18 months for corporations, retroactive from Jan. 1 this year to mid-1969.

About 17 million low-income taxpayers would be exempt.

The $6 billion spending reduction proposal has drawn heavy fire from Johnson and other administration officials.

The President told a news conference last Thursday that to go beyond a $4 billion cut in expenditures for the next year "would injure the national interest."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a principal author of the package Senate amendment which included the tax boost and spending cut, said the conference action was "a fine victory."

Exempted from the spending cut would be funds for the Vietnam war, Social Security, veterans' payments and interest on the national debt.

It was understood the conferees also had agreed tentatively to Senate provisions for a rollback of about 150,000 in the number of federal employes and cuts of $10 billion in new appropriations for fiscal 1969.

They added to the measure a provision sought by the House delegation calling for cancellation of $8 billion in past, unspent appropriations.

The House did some slashing Wednesday when it passed and sent to the Senate a $13.67 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Housing and Urban Development and 20 independent agencies.

This was $2.89 billion less than the President had requested, boosting to about $4.5 billion the total cuts voted this year by the House in three bills. None has passed the Senate.

Reds Hit Saigon On Three Sides

SAIGON (AP) — The enemy struck hard at Saigon from there sides today but a U.S. spokesman said American forces had smashed a Viet Cong drove closer to the center of Saifrom the south and east.

On the eve of Paris peace talks, however, the enemy drove closer to the center of Sa gon than at any time since the new offensive was launched Sunday.

U.S. military spokesmen said 2,000 American infantrymen from the 9th Division, armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and dive bombers had broken up—at least for the time being—the drive from the south and east.

Helicopter gunships also wrecked two launching pads loaded with rockets less than a mile from the city.

A third enemy drive rolled up northwest of Saigon, sweeping aside two U.S. companies in the big push which officials believe is designed to bolster North Vietnam's hand at Paris.

The 9th Division infantrymen, known as the "Old Reliables," reported killing 131 enemy in a day-long battle that was still going on at nightfall.

"For the third consecutive day, the enemy was repulsed trying to enter Saigon from the south," an officer said. "More than 456 enemy have been killed in the last three days."

Ninth Division casualties were said to be seven killed in the latset fighting, with several more wounded.

The U.S. Command announced 2,540 enemy soldiers had been killed by allied forces in fighting around Saigon since the Communist command's new offensive began. Against this, U.S. casualties were put at 53 killed and 487 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were reported as 202 killed and 719 wounded.

The heavy fighting drove countless thousands of fear-stricken civilians streaming across two bridges into the center of the city, and s relled the ranks of the homeless to more than 50,000. Some didn't make it as the toll of civilian dead and wounded mounted to more than 2,000.

President Nguyen Van Thieu went on nationwide television in efforts to calm the populace. He urged South Vietnam's people not to be misled by what he termed Communist propaganda and not to participate in nationwide demonstrations he said the Communists were planning. He warned that the national police were under orders to fire into crowds if Communist-directed demonstration threatened government installations.

Abernathy Says Time Runs Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Poor People's Campaign continued gathering momentum across the country today, as its chief spokesman declared this may be the nation's last chance to deal peacefully with racism and poverty.

"We're going to turn this nation upside down and rightside up," said the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, the head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Abernathy, who succeeded the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as SCLC head, told about 1,000 Negroes in Birmingham Wednesday night that he will not permit violence when he leads the Poor People's Campaign into Washington.

"I won't be violent—but I'm going to tell them that time has run out," he said.

In an Atlanta speech earlier, Abernathy said the Poor People's Campaig may be the last attempt to deal peacefully with the problems of racism and poverty.

Abernathy said he plans flying to Boston, Mass., today to begin that part of the campaign. Boston workers in the campaign have scheduled a march from the Negro area of the city to Boston Common, beginning at noon.

The first campaign contingent from the Midwest, including people from Milwaukee and St. Paul, arrived in Indianapolis by bus late Wednesday night after a rally in Chicago. Their plans called for a downtown rally in Indianapolis today.

About 400 travelers, most of them Negroes, spent the night in Nashville, Tenn. about 300 of them rode air-conditioned buses from Marks, Miss., to Nashville Wednesday.

Another group leaves from Marks today in a mule train, led by the Rev. Andrew Young, an SCLC leader and longtime associate of Dr. King.

Prison Term For Child Negligence

WINDSOR, N. C. (AP) — A man who left his five children alone in a chilly house shortly before the house burned, killing the children, received a one-year prison term in Bertie Superior Court Wednesday.

Judge J. William Copeland sentenced Ernest Lee Freeman, 27, after Freeman's wife, Gladys, 24, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of leaving their children alone without someone in charge. Originally they were charged with five counts of manslaughter.

Raymond Stone Awaits Canvass

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP)—Raymond Stone, runner-up in the five-man race for Democratic nomination for state superintendent of public instruction, says he will wait until after the official canvass next Wednesday before deciding whether to call for a second primary.

Stone, president of Sandhills Community College at Southern Pines, got about 165,000 votes last Saturday. The top man, Craig Phillips of Greensboro, former superintendent of schools in Winston-Salem and Charlotte, got about 205,000, but fell short of a majority.

LONDON (AP)—Qualified informants say Britain will replace most of the 20 Hawker Hunter jet fighters that Jordan lost in the six-day war with Israel last June.

Pitt GOP Maps Campaign Plans

The Pitt County Republican Executive Committee met last night to organize campaign strategy at the grass-roots level.

Chairman Frank Steinbeck said that the "switch-over" was a great success. Steinbeck said that Republicans had picked up nearly 2,000 registered voters in Pitt County.

An estimated 22 persons attended the meeting.

Results Of Canvass

"It was the largest turnout that I can remember," said Bruce Koonce, Pitt Elections Chairman, in reference to Saturday's primary. Koonce said that 17,471 people voted, which is 73.9 per cent of the total registered voters.

At the official election canvass on Tuesday Mrs. Jarvis Tripp reported that she had found a number of sample ballots in her precinct box. Mrs. Tripp is registrar for Greenville Number 4.

The elections canvass disclosed several differences between the official and unofficial returns; however, in no case were the results affected.

The largest difference occurred in the race for appeals court judge. Morris was reported as having received a total of 6,611 votes. The official returns however give him 69,11.

In the race for Commissioner of Labor, Wardell received 4,602 in the unofficial totals and 4,502 officially.

In the race for State Senator, White was given a total of 10,262 votes but the official tally was 10,313.

All Republican candidates actually received more votes than was reported in Monday's Daily Reflector due to the fact that Winterville's Republican totals had not been turned in.

In the governor's race, Republican official totals were Stickley: 108 and Gardner: 1415. For Lt. governor, official totals were Garren: 904 and Combs: 357. Republican candidates for Commissioner of Insurance received official totals of 737 for Peterson and 508 for Rice. In the State Senator's race Zimmerman captured an official total of 432, Tenney got 344 and Somers received 508.

Three Youths Injured As Car Rammed Train

GRIMESLAND— Three Grimesland youths were injured last night when their car smashed into the engine of a Norfolk and Southern train just east of Grimesland.

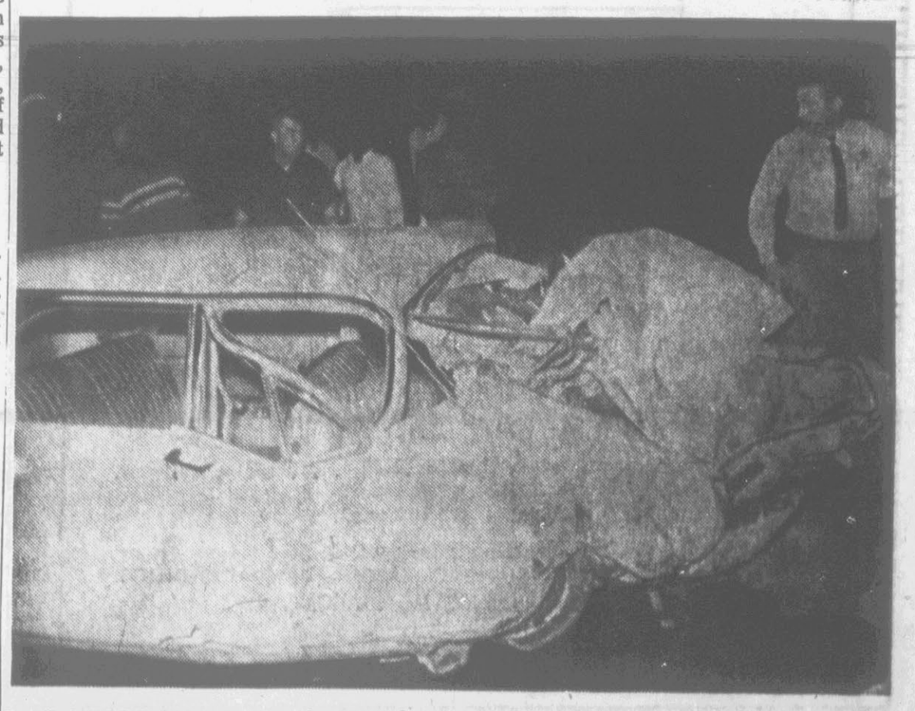

"I had just given the third blast on the whistle when I saw their lights," said engineer Charles H. Jones, "when it looked like they might not stop, I threw the brakes on and started chopping the whistle".

Jones said that the car traveling west on the old 264 road blinked its lights and slowed to an estimated 20-25 mph at the time of impact. He estimated the speed of the train also at 20-25 mph.

Don't 'Command' Hubby To Wear Wedding Ring

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How important is a wedding ring? After many years of happy married life, I notice my husband stopped wearing his wedding ring. I let it go for several weeks, hoping he would start wearing it again, but he didn't. I finally asked him why.

He said he didn't like to wear it to work. Even if that were the reason, shouldn't he afford me the courtesy of wearing it on week - ends when we are with friends, and relatives? I've reminded him several times, but it hasn't done any good.

I thought of leaving my wedding ring off, too, thinking, "What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," and vice versa, but then I decided, "What's rotten for one is also rotten for the other." Got any suggestions?

DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: You don't say what kind of work your husband does, but if he works around machinery he has a legitimate reason to leave his ring at home. And as for his doing you the "courtesy" of wearing a wedding ring at other times, if you have to remind him repeatedly, it's not so much a "courtesy" as a "command." If I were you, I'd wear mine, and skip it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been receiving financial help from a married man who happens to be my boss. He is also my Number One boy friend. He says he loves me, and the only difference between our relationship and marriage is that he has to get up and go home.

I love him in a way, but a girl gets awfully tired hiding all the time. I would like to be able to get dressed up and go out with my man where I can see people and they can see me. And I would eventually like to be married.

Other men have asked me out, but I don't dare accept because it might get back to my boss. What can I do?

Am I destined to be stuck with this man behind closed doors for the rest of my life because I have accepted financial help from him? How does a woman get off this kind of merry-go-round?

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: She walks out of his office and out of his life and finds another job. Then she supports herself without "help" like millions of other self - respecting women do. And if she's wise, she moves out of the city and leaves no forwarding address. All a girl gets from the kind of merry - go - round you're on is a brass ring. Try for a gold one.

DEAR ABBY: I am a junior in college and my parents have been divorced for over a year. I am an only child and I live with my father. We get along fairly well with one minor exception.

My father used to come home from work at 5:30 p.m. Now he doesn't get home until 10 p.m. or even later. I am glad he is going out socially, but I think he should tell me how late he intends to be and where I can locate him in case he gets a business call.

Dad says he is a big boy now and can take care of himself. I realize that, but I still think he should let me know where I can reach him at all times. Dad says it isn't necessary, and I want to know his whereabouts more out of nosiness than anything else. This is not true, Abby. Don't you think I'm right?

WORRIED DAUGHTER

DEAR WORRIED: No. Obviously your father prefers his privacy to any possible advantages of being located during the evening for business reasons. It's his privilege, so don't press too hard.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Symphonic Band Said 'Fluent, Expressive'

The East Carolina Symphonic Band is a glorious instrument, responsive, fluent, and infinitely expressive. Thursday evening in Wright auditorium, under the direction of Herb Carter, it gave a program of ten works that brilliantly displayed its fantastic capabilities.

Gustav Holst's twentieth-century "First Suite" was followed by eighteenth-century Vivaldi's "Concerto for Two Trumpets," the trumpets played by School of Music faculty members Barry Shank and James Searl. This Baroque work brought an immediate encore, the 1908 "Ida and Dottie," which may, at least for current tastes, be the funniest piece of music in the whole literature of art.

Next was "Concert Music for Band" by ECU's composer in in residence, Greogry Kosteck. The titles of its three movements, Shadows, Patterns, and Reflections, give a good idea of its delicacy and moodiness.

Malcolm Arnold's "Four Scottish Dances" differed widely among themselves, yet all seemed characteristically Scottish.

Nelhyble's "Symphonic Movement" was perhaps the most difficult work technically, but its melody, carried to an extraordinary degree by the basses, was delightful.

Percy Grainger's "Colonial Song" was simple and charming.

Next was the premier performance of "Fantasy for Band" by Brett Watson, faculty member in the School of Music. In three fovements, Andante con Moto, Moderato, and Allegro con Brio, it is modern in idiom but still comprehensible, even on first hearing. Particularly imaginative in orchestration, it was a pleasure to listen to.

The program concluded with two marches, Boccalari's 1912 "Il Bersagliere," old fashioned and, for a march, rather slow, and Bowles's 1967 "The Show Piece," crisp, brisk, and flashy.

The audience showed throughout the evening its enthusiastic appreciation for a program of the highest caliber delivered with superb musicianship.

Outstanding Students Are Guests Of Phi Beta Kappa

The Eastern Carolina Alumni Association of Phi Beta Kappa honored outstanding students in the School of Arts and Sciences of East Carolina University at a banquet at Candlewick Inn Wednesday night.

Honored were Mrs. Helen S. Cleveland and Jane E. Marston of Greenville; Rufus H. Temple, Jr., Kinston; Audrey I. Cavenaugh, Williamston; Marcia L. Bellman, Richmond, Va.; Robert Allen Koehler, Kinston; Mrs. Bertie E. Feezing, Manteo; John Perry Monds, Goldsboro; and Mary Bowles Bridges, Macclesfield.

Dr. Richard L. Capwell, president of the Association, welcomed members and guests and presented Dean Robert W. Williams. Dean Williams congratulated the students upon their success in scholarship and for their right direction in higher education. He said that the right direction is emphasis on scholarship as the real purpose in attending the University. Dean Williams presented each student with an engraved silver letter opener, a gift of the Association.

As there is no chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at East Carolina University, the Alumni Association of the fraternity in this area uses this method of recognizing students who have attained high scholastic rank.

High Time For Voting Machines

If any convincing was needed that Pitt County should run its elections with voting machines, then last Saturday's primary should have been the clincher.

Voters were faced with one of the longest ballots ever and poll holders at the end of the voting day were faced with the awesome task of counting the huge number of ballots.

It was far into the night before any significant trends were established in Pitt County, simply because so few precincts had reported. In some cases the poll holders saw the crack of dawn before the final count was completed.

In the election bureau headquarters at Raleigh where state wide races are compiled, there were only sparse results from Pitt, at the time when more populous counties were nearly complete. The very obvious reason for this was that these counties had been preparing for such an election by installing voting machines over the years.

It is time for Pitt's county commissioners to do what they should have done some years ago — and that is to begin equipping the polling places with voting machines. It could be done by installing them in the precincts with heavy voting first and later equipping the smaller precincts.

Modern voting and tabulation methods demand this. The public has come to expect quick returns following an election and there is no method more rapid that voting machines. All the poll holder has to do is unlock the machine at the end of the day and read the totals.

The county will also find it is less difficult to find competent people to man the polling places, once the poll holders do not have to spend the night counting paper ballots.

The county commissioners should begin immediately acquiring voting machines. This matter has been shunted aside for too long. Pitt needs to adopt modern voting methods and now is the time to begin.

Hurdle Already Faces The Next School Term

A practical as well as an emotional hurdle already looms for the county school system next term.

In brief, only 134 Negro students have requested assignment to predominately white schools for the coming year . . . about the same number as last year.

It wasn't enough last year . . . so officials assigned an additional 345 Negroes to the predominately white units. Judging from the number of requested assignments for next term, the 1967-68 assignees took a generally dim view of the school board's action.

As we are all aware, however, the powers-that-be have ruled desegregation of schools must grow progressively; and they have the financial lever that makes heeding their wishes mandatory.

To accomodate these wishes it is expectable school boards will have to assign considerably more than the 345 pupils than was done last year.

This is most ironic.

While Pitt County has never been a hotbed of forces demanding instant change in its school racial patterns, one would anticipate a much more widespread interest in the doors opened by the "freedom of choice" plan.

It has been long presumed the greatest stumbling block to desegregating schools would be posed by white patrons. Now we're beginning to wonder.

Rough Decision For Broughton

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — J. Melville Broughton's decision about whether to call for a second primary June 1, whatever it is, was not an easy nor simple one.

But by the nature of Mel Broughton himself and of his organization it was his alone to make. In a sense, although he was surrounded by aides and advisors and in touch with hundreds of others, it was a lonely task.

WILLIAM SHIRES

The process of making such a decision with all its implications, and in light of last Saturday's statewide Democratic primary results, posed a dilemma.

On one hand there was encouragement and urging by still confident campaign workers and supporters. Stacks of telegrams and telephone messages, postcards and letters poured into Broughton headquarters, mostly favorable about a run-off. On the other were problems and difficulties which to many appeared insurmountable.

Careful Thought

Whatever the decision, Broughton gave it careful thought. He sought advice. He and his campaign lieutenants talked personally with his organization's county managers, the people campaign manager Jim Mason called "the troops in the field."

On Tuesday afternoon, Broughton's top aides were saying frankly, "I don't know what the decision will be." But knowing and having been associated with the candidate they felt it would not be a snap judgment.

Organization Contacted

Mason and other Broughton aides, weary from long hours of post election work, indicated they felt there was a strong possibility that a run-off would be called. But they emphasized that Broughton himself would make the final decision.

The feeling that Broughton himself would demand a second primary and stand a good chance of winning was dampened however by several factors.

One was illustrated by a map of North Carolina on the wall of the headquarters with only nine of the 100 counties—those Broughton carried May 4—marked in red. Another was the columns of vote totals which gave Lt. Gov. Bob Scott 48 per cent of the vote against Broughton's 33 per cent. The difference obviously was in the vote which went to Dr. Reginald Hawkins, a Negro—but in addition there were factors such as geogrpahy, rural-urban vote, the relatively light turnout on Saturday as against what had been expected, and possibly new issues which might be rised before June 1. And another highly important factor was necessary financing.

Mason Is Proud

"We are proud of our organization," said Mason. "It was put together in a comparatively short time, but it was loyal, enthusiastic and hard working.

"We wanted this organization to take part in and share in considering everything that has to go into making a decision like this," Mason said. He added that the "sheer mechanics" of this would delay Broughton's making up his mind.

"All I can say is that it will be made as rapidly as possible," Mason said. It was pointed out that historically some successful run-off candidates in past years waited longer—some to almost the last minute—before calling for a second primary.

Kennedy Rolled A Juggernaut

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Kennedy men, money and mystique were simply too much for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Gov. Roger D. Branigin in the Indiana Democratic presidential primary Tuesday.

While he didn't get a majority, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy emerged as the winner of the three-man joust with 42 per cent of the vote.

But McCarthy remained politically alive in defeat to fight another day and perhaps on more favorable ground, although his New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries victories were dimmed by his third-place finish. He got 27 per cent of the vote.

For Branigin, an uncommitted favorite son who ran second, there was the consolation that he might yet save some of the state's 63 convention nominating votes. If he did, it was presumed that they eventually might find their way into the roll call column of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Branigin got 31 per cent of the total Democratic vote and won in two congressional districts. McCarthy's percentage was 27. He led in no congressional districts.

It was something ofa juggernaut that Kennedy mounted in Indiana. He saturated the state with advance men, organizers and follow-up operatives. He spent money liberally to transport himself, his retinue, his relatives and corners of the state. He his big name friends to all overwhelmed his opponents with television time.

Against this McCarthy's largely volunteer organization, which had worked so well in previous primaries, couldn't muster crowds or stir up interest to rival that of the Kennedy road show. Branigin didn't even try. depending primarily on the state patronage organization to deliver for him.

The boyish-looking millionaire with the shaggy hair whose shoes and cufflinks were snatched joyously for souveniers in milling crowds, had a message for Negro and blue collar workers that they seemed to understand.

They apparently formed the solid backbone of his support at the polls. These voters helped him to win the larger cities, such as Indiana polis, Gary, Fort Wayne, Richmond and Terre Haute.

But that didn't explain it all. He carried the majority of Indiana farm counties, although McCarthy said he was the only real farmer in the race and Branigin's basic strength had been in those areas in the past.

If all of this began to make Kennedy look somewhat invincible as a candidate for the nomination, there were ahead primaries in Nebraska, Oregon, California and South Dakota where he would be called upon to duplicate his performance without a loss that would dim his winning luster.

Beyond that there stood Humphrey, risking nothing in the primaries but busy harvesting delegate votes in the states where they are chosen by conventions.

DEMOCRACY AT WORK ?

By JAMES KILPATRICK

Obscurity On Obscenity

The Supreme Court of the United States, doomed to grapple with obscenity law, wrestled once more on April 22 with its own unhappy confusion. Confusion, as usual, won.

Nearly 11 years have passed since the court's landmark decision of June, 1957, in the famous Roth case. Since that time, as Mr. Justice Harlan has observed, the court has undertaken a full - scale review in 13 major cases of obscenity law. In those 13 cases, members of the court have turned out no fewer than 55 separate opinions. "The subject of obscenity," said Harlan, "has produced a variety of views among the members of the court unmatched in any other course of constitutional ajjudication."

The two cases decided last month offer little to improve the chaotic record. In the first of them, Ginsberg v. New York, the court voted 6 3 to sustain a New York law prohibiting the sale of "girlie" magazines to minors. But in the second, Interstate Circuit v. Dallas, the court voted 8-1 to void a Dallas ordinance prohibiting the exhibition of "unsuitable" movies to children.

The two opinions cannot be reconciled by any rational view of the law — but there is nothing rational in the court's treatment of obscenity cases. About all that emerges from the most recent obfuscation is that the States and localities validly may enforce a double standard in the field of "obscene" magazines and movies — one standard for adults, another for minors. By sheer luck, or by divine inspiration, New York managed to draft a law that met the high court's approval.

Dallas was not so fortunate. The Dallas ordinance was drafted to meet every imaginable rule of the Supreme Court in the field of motion picture censorship. The law provided for prompt judicial review of any "unsuitable" classification imposed by the nine - man Dallas board. Yet the ordinance failed to define "sexual promiscuity." It contained such words as "profitable, desirable, acceptable, respectable, praiseworthy, or commonly accepted." The Supreme Court professed not to understand what these terms could mean. The ordinance was therefore too "vague." Out to the scrap heap with it.

The Supreme Court is wasting entirely too much time on these petty cases. In any tolerant view of our federal system, there was nothing wrong with the Dallas ordinance. On the same day that the court held the Dallas law void for vagueness, the court sustained a Mississippi statute forbidding pickets from "unreasonably" interfering with access to a courthouse. In still another case that day, the court sustained a Federal law saying that a valuable mineral deposit must be of such a character that "a person of ordinary prudence would be

Other Editors Saying Pretty Words Mislead

(Washington Daily News)

When a group of students was asked to approve or disapprove a statement and comment upon it, some amazing answers came forth.

The question in general was "each should contribute according to his own ability and each should share according to his own need." While these might not be the exact words, the fact is that about two-thirds of the students approved the statement. And in the comments it was general for the youngsters to point out how well phrased the thought was and how appealing it seemed to be.

But the fact is that it was taken directly from the Marx doctrine of communism. It is a cornerstone of communism. That statement alone just about covers the communist concept of government.

The words do not say so, but when we analyze the statement we find that if "one shares according to his own needs," then this would imply a division of the wealth.

Suppose that in America today the wealth were divided up and that each individual in this land should be given the same share! What would happe?

Unless there should be a continuing division or unless there should be some method devised to keep it equal, then within a short time we suspect that the same crowd owning the wealth of this nation now would have it back. Of course, if this nation should turn to pure communism, it might keep the division to the extent that it exists in communistic nations today.

One might express great surprise at what the students said and how they approved of the statement. Yet, it is not so surprising in some respects. In fairness to them, they did not associate the statement with communism. They read it, and it sounded good.

Now had they been told it was a communistic doctrine, their reactions would have been much different. We believe that even in a day when so often riots and demonstrations are said to be communist inspired.

We agree that every individual American should contribute to the American picture to the fullest of his ability to do so. Every American should share in the responsbility of keeping this nation free and strong to the fullest of his ability so to do. Both democracy and communism or any other form of government would have the right to expect that. But when it comes to sharing equally in the weath, then and there such factors as inspiration, ambition, and individual success go down the drain.

Pretty words never made an ugly doctrine more palatable.

Hope's Goal Is 100

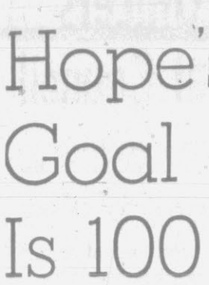

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope, who is only a short putt from being 65, has already set a goal for his 100th birthday.

"I'd still like to be around then," he said, "and playing in a show on the moon."

That isn't just one of the blithe-spirited comedian's five million catalogued jokes. He has a good chance of making history as the first professional laughman to become a centenarian.

"My grandfather lived to be a month short of 100," he remarked, "and I have a couple of uncles who are about 90 and still hale."

HAL BOYLE

Keeping physically fit has also been a lifelong part of his philosophy. He holds his weight around a trim 175 pounds by regular golf sessions, long walks, and daily stretching exercises.

Over a luncheon of scrambled eggs, apple pie and black coffee, Hope complained mildly that recent reports of his wealth had been greatly exaggerated.

"Lord, I got rich all of a sudden," he said. "One magazine hinted I was worth about half a billion dollars, and then Fortune Magazine lists me in the $150-to-$200-million bracket. Now I'm waiting for Reader's Digest to come out and tell me how much I really have.

"Then, I suppose, I'll have to get in touch with that lady astrologer in Washington and find out where it all is. Everybody thinks you've got it in your golf pants. It's murder."

Bob paused reflectively. Then, referring again to the $150-to-$200-million estimate of his fortune, he said:

"If I could sell all the property I have at the value I place on it myself, it would come to about a third of that."

Hope, who rarely carries more than $50 in cash, owns a piece of the Cleveland Indians, an Ohio dairy, and has extensive other financial and real estate interests, including a 5,000-acre property in Southern California where he plans to produce his own pictures.

But the restless actor thrives on activity. He recently completed his 57th film, "The Private Navy of Sgt. O'Farrell," in which he plays an Army topkick who captures a Japanese submarine singlehanded. Next he'll team with Jackie Gleason in "How to Commit Marriage."

The chores of film making rest lightly on him.

"I'm geared to it, and I still enjoy performing," he said. "If I didn't, I'd quit. The only real labor is in having to get out of bed so early. After that, somebody just has to point you toward the studio."

Bob, who is as self-made as a man can be, came to Cleveland from his native England at the age of four. As a boy he sold newspapers and worked in a shoe store, a drug store and a meat market before starting a career in show business that has won him some 750 awards for his performing skill and philanthropic zeal.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

RIGHT USE OF ANGER

Anger is not necessarily a vice. There is such a thing as righteous indignation. Anger would seem to be the emotion with which the Creator endowed his creatures so that they react vehemently against evil and injustice, against selfishness in themselves and others, against insincerity and dishonestly, against thoughtlessness. We can be — and often ought to be — thoroughly angry over certain things that take place. If we allow evil to go unchallenged and injustice unrebuked then we are fast becoming a degenerate people. The person of keen conscience is capable of anger. The normal person frequently spills over into a high emotion of anger and makes no apology for so doing.

It is only when anger becomes selfish that it becomes evil. As long as anger is protecting against wrongdoing in ourselves or others, crying out against injustice, pointing the accusing finger at individuals who attempt to corrupt or mislead their contemporaries, then anger is a good thing. Jesus was frequently angry. On one occasion he overturned the tables of the money-changers, many of whom were just plain crooks, scraping a little silver or gold from every coin that went through their hands. Jesus was also vehemently angry at the lack of love and sincerity he encountered in the religious leaders of his day.

So don't condemn anger. Use it to the betterment of your own life and the correction of evils round about you. Anger is a divine endowment and is expected to be used for high purpose.

And, If Peace Should Break Out

By ELMER ROESSNER

The big question on Main Street and Wall Street today is: "What will happen if peace breaks out?"

It breaks down into these parts: "Will the end of government war orders result in unemployment and a recession? Will the end of military waste lead to greater prosperity than ever?"

Most opinion is fairly optimistic. Observers poin' out:

1. The cost of the war in Vietnam is smaller in terms of the gross national product than either the Korean War or World War II.

2. The displacement of manpower has been far smaller. The number of men involved is fewer and the length of service is shorter.

3. There has been far less dislocation of the economy. There has been no curtailment of production of civilian goods; in fact there have been notable increases in many lines.

But No Pent-Up Demand

The third factor will have a double effect. On one hand, we will have a smooth-running civilian economy when peace comes. On the other, there will be no enormous civilian demand for scarce products as there was after World War II and, to a lesser extent, after the Korean to-do.

ELMER ROESSNER

During World War II it was freely predicted that peace would bring a depression, with eight million or more unemployed. Instead, the demand for cars, homes, appliances and other goods carried the economy to a higher peak than it had been in the past.

Another factor will have an effect low. The return of a half million men to civilian life will intensify current demands for more government paternalism.

The United States is now on the world's greatest welfare kick. Never before in history has a central government done so much for the lesser of its people. Never before in history have demands for government largesse been so high.

Getting Begets Gimme

It may be observed that the more the government increases aid to the poor, the distressed, the unemployed and the victims of prejudice, the greater are the demands for more aid. At times it seems as if a democracy is competing with communism by giving its people more communism than the communists. It may even be argued that in the U. S. more is being taken "from each according to his abilities," and given "to each according to his needs" than is done in Soviet Russia.

When peace comes, there will surely be a surge in demands that the government take the money and energies it has been using to fight the war and use them for welfare. In fact, it is reported that the government has such plans already drawn up.

This program will probably involve made work, which will reduce unemployment, job training, more paid schooling and other projects. All of this will mean pouring more money into the civilian economy. The money, of course, will come from taxes and borrowing, which will mean more inflation.

And that will heighten the biggest postwar problem of them all: the straightening out of the American financial mess, ending inflation and restoring the dollar in world markets.

justified in a further expenditure of his labor and means, with a reasonable prospect of success, in developing a valuable mine."

The judicial mind at work is not to be fathomed. If juries are competent to decide what is "unreasonable" picketing in Mississippi, and if juries are capable of recognizing a "person of ordinary prudence" in California, juries certainly are able to return a verdict on "sexual promiscuity" in Dallas.

Why not leave this whole difficult business of obscenity prosecution largely to the States? That is Justice Harlan's approach. It is quite scund. Harlan opposes most Federal efforts to cope with obscenity, because he rejects the prospect of nationwide censorship under customs or postal law. But he sees no intolerable blow to freedom of expression if a 15-year-old child is prevented from seeing a movie called "Viva Maria" in Dallas. Let him look at Batman instead.

State's Third Honor Society Chapter For Business School

North Carolina's third chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, business administration honor society, has been installed at East Carolina University with 36 students initiated as charter members.

Dean Gaines N. Rogers of the School of Business Administration at Wake Forest University was the installing officer for the Gamma Chapter. He is a member of the Beta Chapter at Wake Forest. The only other North Carolina unit is the Alpha Chapter at the University of North Carolina.

Senior business students in the upper 10 per cent of their class and third-quarter juniors in the upper 4 per cent of their class are eligible for membership if they have a quality point average of at least a B.

The national organization of Beta Gamma Sigma had its origin at the University of Wisconsin in 1907. Election of Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest scholastic honor for a student in business administration. This is the only scholastic honor society recognized by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

James A. Walker of Oxford is president of the new chapter and Peter J. Moe of Kristiansand, Norway, is vice president.

ECU faculty members who are members of the local chapter are Dr. Elmer R. Browning, dean Dr. James H. Bearden, assistant dean; Dr. Paul T. Hendershot, assistant dean Miss Dorothy M. Wake Members Drop Color Bar

RALEIGH (AP) — Membership in the Wake County Bar Association has been opened to Negroes.

By a margin of about three to one, members approved a change in the association's constitution. The change strikes the word "white" from the association's membership requirements.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣ West was influenced more by an emotional state than a soundly reasoned plan of campaign in conducting the defense against South's four spade contract.

Altho the opening demand bid may not meet with the approval of some purists, it conforms to our own standards. South's holding rates to win approximately nine tricks—in other words, within one trick of game, and he has the required four defensive winners.

In terms of points, South has 22 in high cards and distribution, which is sufficient with a good seven card suit. North dutifully kept the auction alive until game was reached.

West opened the deuce of clubs, dummy played the three and East put up the queen which was taken by declarer's ace. South returned the ten immediately and West played the king.

Fearful that his opponent was on the verge of obtaining discards on dummy's clubs, West shifted to the ace of diamonds — thereby signing the deathknell for the defense. Declarer lost only one more trick in hearts and forthwith claimed his contract.

West's impulsive diamond shift was the product of panic. His concern that South would utilize North's clubs for discards was not well founded. The only apparent entry to the dummy was the queen of spades, and unless South has an eight card suit—East can kill any sluffs by trumping in when the jack of clubs is led.

If West shifts to a trump at trick three, declarer is helpless. No matter how he twists, and turns, he cannot avoid the loss of two diamonds and one heart in addition to the club trick already conceded.

Errors Again Hurt Pirates As Clemson Wins

WHAT ABOUT IT UMP? — East Carolina's Wayne Vick looks up at the first base umpire to see his decision on a possible double play against the Bucs. Steve Fornash had lined sharply to short, and Vick drove back into first, in time, avoiding the twin killing. Clemson's Ron Zupa attempts to make the play. Clemson won, 7-0. Clemson University used a big first inning, complete with East Carolina errors yesterday to down the Pirates, 7-0.

It was the first time in 30 games that the Bucs have been shut out. The last team to do it was Furman, who beat the Bucs 1-0 in the second game of a doubleheader last year. That loss cost East Carolina the Southern Conference championship.

The first inning of yesterday's game looked like a continuation of Tuesday's game with N. C. State. Clemson pushed across six runs in that inning, and four of them were unearned.

And throughout the game, the Bucs were unable to put together a scoring threat, despite the fact that they got seven hits and left 10 men on base during the game.

Actually, if the first inning were dropped off the game, it would have been an excellent ball game.

In the first, Don Russell led off with a single back to deep short. Randy Bray then singled into center, moving Russell around to third. Keith Waters banged sharply back to third for a hit, driving in Russell with the first run.

After an out, Jerry Easkew hit back to third, where the ball was bobbled, and all hands were safe, loading the bases. Then came the play that set the Bucs down mentally. Starting pitcher Johnny Weaver uncorked a wild pitch, scoring Bray from third and moving the others up. But on the attempt to get Brey, the ball was errored at the plate and rolled back towards the mound. Waters, who had moved to third on the wild pitch, then broke for home, scoring on the miscue.

Johnny Johnson walked to continue the inning and Steve Kuester singled in Eskew. Alan Demarest doubled to drive in Johnson and Kuester and give the Tigers a 6-0 lead before the Bucs had even got a chance at the plate.

Later, in the third inning, Clemson got its other run. That came on a homer to left by Johnson, with no one on board.

Aside from that, the Tigers had few scoring opportunities. They were set down in order in the second, fourth, fifth, sixth, and eighth, although double plays helped out in the fifth and sixth.

Only in the third, after Johnson's homer did a man reach second.

Meanwhile, East Carolina suffered through a scoreless afternoon.

They put men on base in every inning but two, the first and eighth. In the second, Wayne Vick doubled with one out and Roy Taylor walked, but no action could get them in. Dick Corrada reached on a single, in the fourth.

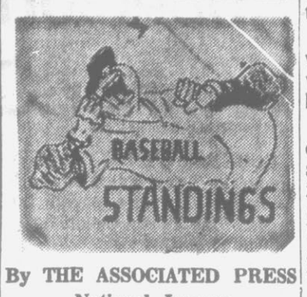

Stu Garrett singled in the fifth, and Jim Snyder walked and Vick again hit in the sixth, moving a man to third for the first time.

The best opportunity came in the seventh. With one out, Garrett walked, Corrada singled and Dennis Vick was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Lanier, however, hit back to the pitcher, who relayed for the force at the plate, and then got Lanier going to first for a doubleplay, getting out of the inning unharmed.

The two teams were to meet again today in another game, and then the Bucs will take Friday off to prepare for Saturday's doubleheader with Furman University. The Bucs must win one of these two games to win the Southern Divisional championship in the Southern Conference. If the Bucs win, they will play host to the Northern champ, probably William and Mary in a best of three series on next Friday and Saturday. The winner of that will advance into the NCAA Regionals at Gastonia later this month.

Alford Drafted By Los Angeles

Charlie Alford, drafted earlier this week by the New Orleans Buccaneers of the American Basketball Association, yesterday was also drafted by an NBA team.

Alford, center for East Carolina University last year, was picked by the Los Angeles Lakers in the 10th round of drafting.

He is the first ECU player to be drafted by either league.

Unusual History Part Of Rose Swim Heritage

Dr. Ray Martinez, swimming coach at East Carolina University, told the Rose High School swimming team last night that it had an unusual history, but one in which the team could have pride.

Martinez spoke at the annual Rose High Swimming Team Banquet, held annually by the pool parents organization. Last night's affair was held at the Candlewick IInn.

Dr. Martinez pointed out that the team originated while former school superintendent J. H. Rose and East Carolina president Dr. Leo Jenkins were riding in a car, and Dr. Jenkins proposed such a team.

From there, the team was started, with Reggie Edgerton, a junior at East Carolina, as its "manager," as there was no coach.

"You were guinea pigs, "Martinez said. "We wanted to experiment on you." He noted that the first group of boys were not the usual athletic type. "Most of them were actually in very poor condition."

"But we noticed a great chance in most of the boys. Swimming is not just for the body, it helps the mind too. At the start of the season, we measured the boys physcially. By the end of the year, we could see how they had changed physically. But we also noted that their grades had improved, and that they had developed leadership qualities in other extracuricullar activities."

Martinez said that the team is still carrying out some experiments, and probably would continue to do so.

He also noted that some of the part-time coaches of the past have gone on to fame. One is the coach of the Vesper Boat Club team in Philadelphia, one of the top private clubs in the country. Another is seeking his PhD, and may return to this area, while another is in line for a top-flight college position.

Martinez also pointed out that Greenville teams have developed a definite type of aggressiveness, which can be seen by other teams. "They know that we are out to chatch them, and I think it can be done," he said.

He urged the team to set its goals high and then when achieved, to set them even higher. "You have some boys who have the potential to become nationally ranked swimmers, but it will take a lot of hard work to attain this. You have to think beyond your local level, and go on toward national thinking."

Martinez urged the team to have pride in its past and use this to help develop the future. "I'm willing to bet that this team can be the state champion within two or three years," he said.

Coach Joel Shockley honored the seniors with trophies. They were presented to co-captains Bob Brown and Chris Dixon, and to John Canning, Fred Derrick, Bill Drake, Jim Winslow and manager Tommy Clay.

Bucs Second In SC Golf

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) —Davidson has won the Southern Conference golf title for the third straight year after stern competition from East Carolina and Furman.

Davidson had a teamscore of 633 based on the lowest totals of its first four men in the two rounds. East Carolina had 636 and Furman 637.

The individual leader was David Joesberry of The Citadel, who won by three strokes. He shot 75 Wednesday and 76 Tuesday for a 36-hole total of 151 on the par-72 course of the Dunes Golf and Beach Club.

Fourtt through ninth teams were The Citadel 644, William and Mary 646, Richmond 649, West Virginia 681, George Washington 684, VMI 686.

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — Victories in three of the six singles encounters have carried Davidson's Wildcats to their fourth consecutive Southern Conference tennis championship.

The singles triumphs enabled Davidson to withstand a stiff challenge by The Citadel and George Washington, which tied for second. The Wildcats stacked up 17 points in the three-day meet to 16 for The Citadel and GW.

Top-seeded George Berner of Davidson, a member of his native Finland's Davis Cup team, took the No. 1 singles title with a 4-6, 6-2, 7-5 victory over defending champion Tee Hooper of The Citadel.

But Hooper and Sam Hatcher of the Bulldogs retained their No. 1 doubles crown with a 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 triumph over the Davidson team of Berner and Randy Hoffron.

Behind the leaders in the team scoring were William and Mary 6, East Carolina 5, Furman 2 and Richmond 1. Host VMI afiled to score.

Catfish Hunter Weaves Perfect Game In Oakland

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It has been an adventuresome 22 years for Jim "Catfish" Hunter of the Oakland A's who pitched his way out of Hertford, N.C., and into the record book with the ninth perfect game in modern baseball history Wednesday night.

Hunter drove in three runs with a pair of singles and mowed down 27 straight Minnesota hitters for the second no-hitter of the young baseball season, beating the Twins 4-0.

It was the first regular season perfect game in 46 years in the American League and it's a cinch it was the first masterpiece hurled by a pitcher with only nine toes.

Hunter, who pocketed $75,000 of Charlie Finley bonus money in 1964, lost the big toe on his right foot in a hunting accident in November, 1963. Shortly after signing with the A's, who still were in Kansas City then, Hunter was hospitalized to have shotgun pellets removed from his foot.

The operation slowed his progress and at one point the A's considered dropping the young right-hander but the big bonus investment convinced them to stick with him and he came through handsomely.

Wednesday's masterpiece against the Twins might have shaken most young pitchers. But not Catfish. He'd been this route before.

In 1963, Hunter threw another perfect game—for Perquimans County High School back in Hertford, N.C. Wednesday's gem came in the Oakland Coliseum, 2,580 miles from Perquimans County. It's understandable why Catfish had to spell the name of the school five times to newsmen. After all, they must have been nervous. Few had seen any perfect games before.

In other American League games Wednesday, Detroit dropped Baltimore 3-1, Boston took Washington 3-1, California nipped Chicago 3-2 and New York edged Cleveland 2-1.

Hunter, who got his nickname from his parents after he ran away from home when he was a youngster and returned with two catfish, earned an immediate $5,000 raise from Finley for his perfect game.

The last American League pitcher to hurl a perfect game was Don Larsen, who did it for the New York Yankees against Brooklyn in the 1956 World Series. Before that in the American League, you have to go back to Charlie Robertson, who did it for the Chicago White Sox against Detroit April 30, 1922.

More recently there have been Jim Bunning for Philadelphia in 1964 and Sandy Koufax for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1965.

Catfish was also the batting star for the A's, driving in three of their four runs. He struck out 11 and finished with a flourish, fanning Rich Reese after the pinch hitter had fouled off five straight pitches.

Jim Northrup hammered his fifth home run of the year and made a clutch catch shutting off a Baltimore rally in the eighth inning as the Tigers beat the Orioles.

Northrup's diving catch of Brooks Robinson's liner ended a bases-loaded threat in the Orioles' eighth. Jon Warden pitched out of a tight ninth inning jam to nail down that victory for Earl Wilson.

Washington dropped its sixth straight when Boston pushed over a pair of eighth-inning runs on a pinch single by Jerry Adair and Carl Yastrzemski's sacrifice fly.

Don Mincher's sixth inning homer carried California past Chicago as Clyde Wright won his second game. Luis Aparicio had a two-run homer for the White Sox.

In the National League, Chicago topped Los Angeles 7-6, Pittsburgh edged Atlanta 4-3 in 14 innings, Philadelphia rapped Cincinnati 6-2, San Francisco got by Houston 3-1 and St. Louis blanked New York 2-0.

Exchange Nips Security, 9-8

The Exchange edged past Security Life, 9-8, yesterday in the Tar Heel League.

The win tied the Exchange with the Elks and Greenville Tobacco with 1-0 records. Security, the Moose and Pepsi-Cola are all 0-1.

Security opened the scoring in the first inning getting four runs. John Causey singled and advanced on an error. Jack Jenkins singled, and Westley Puryear's single brought in Causey. Puryear stole second and Jenkins scored on Robert Dash's hit. An error on the play brought Puryear in, and Dash scored when Robert Higgans' outfield fly was dropped.

The Exchange came up with a run in the second. Robert Brinkley singled, advanced on Rickie Puryear's hit and reached third as Billy Wilson singled. Jack Richardson walked to force in Brinkley with the first Exchange run.

In the third, the Exchange got another to cut the lead to 4-2. Brinkley again singled and moved up on a wild pitch. He scored as Puryear's grounder was errored.

In the fifth, the Exchange exploded for seven runs to take a 9-4 lead. Dean Nunn led off with a single and Randy Alford reached on an error. Doug Paschal was also safe on an error, scoring Nunn. Brinkley walked loading them up, and Puryear singled to drive in Alford and Paschal. Wilson hit into a fielder's choice, nailing Puryear, and Ed Clark singled in Brinkley. An error allowed both runners to advance, and Louis Clark reached on an error, scoring Wilson. Another error let Ed and Lewis Clark both score.

Security then put on a rally that almost carried them into the lead. Puryear reached on a fielder's choice, stole second and used a wild pitch to gain third. Dash walked and stole second. Danny Harrington walked, loading them up, and Mack Glisson also walked, forcing in Puryear. Higgans hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Dash, and Tony Nichols reached on an error, allowing Harrington to score, making it 9-7.

In the sixth, Security closed the gap to one, at 9-8. Puryear singled and came around when Dash's fly was dropped. But the rally ended there and the Exchange took the win.

Pittsburgh Battles Back To Get Victory

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luman Harris watched four right arms overpower the Atlanta Braves... and couldn't believe his eyes.

"Everybody looks like Lefty Grove against us," the Braves' skipper said Wednesday night after his club dropped a 4-3, 14-inning decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates. "We get three runs in the first inning and I don't see us get anybody else o. base for the next three hours."

Right-handers Steve Blass, Dave Wickersham, Ron Kline ad Elroy Face threw blanks at Atlanta after the Braves pushed over three unearned first inning runs. Roberto Clemente's sacrifice fly in the 14th finally won it for the Pirates, who have played six one-run be'' games in their last seven starts.

Elsewhere, San Francisco trimmed Houston 3-1, St. Louis topped the New York Mets 2-0, Philadelphia downed Cincinnati 6-2 and the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 7-6.

Oakland's Jim "Catfish" Hunter pitched a perfect game as the Athletics shackled Minnesota 4-0, Detroit nipped Baltimore 2-1, the New York Yankees shaded Cleveland 2-1, California got by the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and Boston beat Washington 3-1 in American League play.

Pinch hitter Gary Kolb opened the Pirates' 14th by drawing a walk from Atlanta reliever Cecil Upshaw. Maury Wills forced Kolb, Matty Alou beat out an infield hit and the pair pulled off a double steal before Wills scored the tie-breaking run on Clemente's fly to right.

The Pirates had tied it with two runs in the eighth, capitalizing on two wild pitches by Atlanta starter Phil Niekro and a throwing error by catcher Marty Martinez.

Kline limited the Braves to one hit from the ninth through the 13th and earned the victory, with Face pitching the final inning. Blass allowed three hits before going out for a pinch hitter in the sixth and Wickersham followed up with two scoreless innings.

San Francisco's Ray Sadecki held the Astros hitless until Jim Wynn homered with two out in the seventh, then doubled to start a two- run ninth inning burst that broke a 1-' deadlock.

Willie Mays' single delivered the go-ahead run and another scored on Willie McCovey's sacrifice fly.

The Cardinals blanked the Mets behind the four-hit pitching of Steve Carlton, who drove in the only run he needed with a third inning single.

Greg Goosen's single and Jerry Grote's double got Carlton in trouble in the seventh, but third baseman Mike Shannon speared Jerry Buchek's liner and stepped on the bag, completing an unassisted, inning-ending double play.

Bobby Wine drilled a three-run homer, capping a five-run ninth inning uprising that carried the Phillies past Cincinnati. The Reds' Pete Rose went hitless for the first time in 23 games.

Homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo and a two-run double by Adolfo Phillips gave Cubs right-hander Joe Niekro his fifth victory in six decisions. Rocky Colavito hammered a pair of homers for the Dodgers.

Robersonville Is Winner Over 'Cats

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Rams rolled to an 11-3 victory yesterday to gain the finals of the Martin County baseball tournament.

The Rams tied with Oak City and Jamesville for the regular season title, and Jamesville won the toss to be top seeded. Robersonville and Jamesville were to play today for the title. The winner will represent the conference in the state playoffs starting next week, meeting the Pitt County winner.

Robersonville pushed into the lead in the first inning with a lone run. Don Hardison reached on an error, stole second and scored on William Wynn's single.

In the third, Oak City came up with two runs to take the lead. Jeff Crisp reached on an error and J.C. Whitfield walked. Jeff Whitfield banged a double to drive in both runners.

Robersonville came back in their half of the inning with two for a 3-2 edge. Alonza McRorie and Jimmy Roebuck both singled and were sacrificed up. Jimmy Jones dropped in a single to score both of them for the lead.

In the fourth, Robersonville picked up another, and that proved to be the winning run. Don Hardison walked, moved up on a fielder's choice and scored on McRorie's single.

Robersonville went on to add three in the fifth and four in the sixth, while Oak City picked up another run in the seventh.

The fifth was highlighted by a solo homer by Hardison.

Kiwanis Storm By Jaycees By 11-5

The Kiwanis rolled to an 11-5 victory over the Jaycees yesterday as the two teams opened their season in the North State League.

The Kiwanis, with their win, pulled into a three-way deadlock for first place. The Kiwanis, Lions and Coca-Cola are each 1-0, while the Optimists, R. C. Cola and Jaycees are 0-1.

The Kiwanis started things off in the first with two runs. Kelly Heath led off with a single and advanced on Griff Garner's double. Both then used passed balls to come across for a 2-0 lead.

In the second, the Kiwanis added two more runs. Jimmy Rogers walked and Ed Mayo also got a free trip. Bill Brookshire reached on an error, scoring Rogers, but Mayo was caught at third. Brookshire stole second, scoring in Al Heath's single.

The third saw the Kiwanis push four more across, upping their lead to 8-0. Chris Manning walked and Mayo also walked. They moved up on a passed ball and Brookshire's single scored Manning and Mayo. A series of passed balls let Brookshire score. Heath drew a walk and stole second, scoring on Garner's single.

The Jaycees came storming back in the fourth inning, cutting the lead in half, at 8-4. Howard Corey reached on a fielder's choice, and Bill Ellington singled. Kirk Riddle walked, loading the bases and Kyle Price reached on an error, scoring Corey. Ellington came in on a passed ball, and after Curtis Creech walked, reloading them, Mike Stephenson singled in Riddle and Price.

In the top of the fifth, the Jaycees added another, cutting the lead to 8-5. David Duckett walked, advanced on Howard Corey's single, and scored on a hit by Kyle Price.

But the Kiwanis came back with three more runs in the bottom of the fifth to close it out. Heath singled, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Garner walked and Robert Boles doubled them in. Boles took third on a passed ball and scored on John West's hit.

Boles led the Kiwanis hitting with thre, while Heath, Garner and West each had two.

Summer Job Search By N.C. Is Most Ambitious

Lloyd Nooe, manager of the local Employment Security Commission office, reports that Governor Dan Moore's recent announcement of a statewide search for 100,000 summer jobs for students is the most ambitious youth employment task ever undertaken in North Carolina.

Nooe said today that employment service officials are delighted that the Governor has taken the leadership in this drive for summer work for students. "Each summer we have had special job campaigns for young people," Nooe said, "but never one to this extent. Our work with youngsters has been successful, but with more and more entering the labor market each summer, it has become essential that we have a statewide employment program such as the Governor has asked for."

The program, which was announced by Governor Moore at a special news conference in Raleigh April 26, was developed in conjunction with the Council on Economic Development, several participating state agencies and representatives of business and industry. The Governor said that numerous state and private agencies will be contacted to help with this special employment effort, including trade and business associations, development groups and others.

Nooe said all colleges and schools will be notified of the program. "In Pitt County," the manager said, "approximately 1,968 students will be looking for jobs this summer."

"We don't know precisely what unemployment here is among the student-age group," he explained, "but last summer the national average was over 12 per cent, or more than twice the adult employment rate."

Nooe said that ESC offices all across the state are taking student applications and calling for job orders from employers. The ESC office will attempt to match the student with a job most compatible with his abilities.

Nooe also pointed out that the job campaign will succeed if enough employers participate. He added, "There is no scarcity of youth seeking work."

"We hope local employers can develop summer jobs for these youngsters, and maybe even make part-time student work a regular part of their summer business operations," he continued.

Employers having job openings for students or desiring more information about the program can contact the State Employment office located at 1002 South Evans St., Greenville.

Changes In East Told Orange County GOP

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.—Dr. John East, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, addressed the Orange County Republicans in Chapel Hill on Wednesday night. East, an East Carolina University political science professor, analyzed the crucial role that eastern North Carolina will play in the November general elections.

Referring to his home county of Pitt, the candidate noted that during the recent registration period there was an increase from 800 to 2400 registered Republicans in the county for a net gain of 300 per cent.

East said, "This is a particularly remarkable change when it is realized that Pitt County has been one of the great bastions of Democratic Party strength, not only in eastern North Carolina, but through out the state of North Carolina.

East stated that this change in his home county was "indicative of the transformation of voter sentiment taking place throughout eastern North Carolina, and that this changing sentiment will play a decisive role in the general elections in November."

The candidate stated: "In the past Republicans in statewide election races have traditionally been ahead in the western and Piedmont sections of the state, but have suffered ultimate defeat in the solidly Democratic east. However, no longer can one speak of the 'solidly Democratic east', and this transformation will be the key to Republican victories in November."

East concluded, "This substatial change in voter sentiment in eastern North Carolina stems from a deep dissatisfaction of eastern voters with the national and state Democratic leadership, and a realization that the Republican party now offers a meaningful alternative.

Johnston Coed Military Queen

A 20-year-old rising junior history major, green-eyed brownette Mary Jane Burgess of Wilson Mills in Johnston County, is the new Military Queen of East Carolina University.

She was chosen from three finalists as 1968-'69 queen of the university's Air Force ROTC detachment. Her runners-up are Jere Dee Gallagher of Fort Bragg and Mary Elaine Harris of Ayden. All three are members of the Angel Flight, auxiliary to the AFROTC's Arnold Air Society.

The honor for Queen Jane added to her birthday celebration. She turned 20 two days before her coronation at the annual ECU Military Ball.

A 1966 graduate of Wilson Mills High School, she stands 5-foot-5 and weighs 166. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Burgess of Wilson Mills.

Wake Lawyers Hear Jenkins

RALEIGH — East Carolina University President Leo W. Jenkins Wednesday called on Wake County lawyers to help with the task of inspiring young people of today to be effective leaders of tomorrow.

In an address to a luncheon meeting of the Wake County Bar Association, he appealed to the attorneys "to lend a hand in getting America back on the course toward greatness and not one of negativeness that now blankets our land."

He said, "Let us start a campaign we might label 'Operation Inspiration.' Let us show our young people the illimitable opportunities in America. Let us acquaint them with biographies of people who succeeded because of perseverance and drive.

"Let us establish local awards for people who are willing to struggle to overcome almost insurmountable odds in order to become successful.

"Let us make as much fuss over the ambitious boy or girl as we do over the athletic hero.

"Let us point out to our young people the great opportunities of finding diamonds in our own backyards right here in North Carolina."

Older Problems Nearer Solving?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some critics of public affairs believe that the stagnant problems that brought deep discontent to America, and which were recognized by President Johnson in foregoing another term, are now nearer solution.

This is not to say that the problems will be solved. But in several areas the impasse has ended.

As Walter Hoadley, chief economist of the Bank of America, states it: "We may not be moving forward yet but at least the wheels are beginning to dig some dirt now."

Here are some of the problems that have frustrated Americans, and some of the attempts now being made to resolve them:

—The Vietnam war. Preliminary talks between North Vietnamese and United States representatives are about to begin in Paris.

—Inflation and spending. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee has now endorsed a $10-billion tax increase, together with spending cuts, and President Johnson has indicated his acceptance.

—Balance of payments. Sixteen of the world's industrialized nations have offered to speed tariff cuts on American exports to help the United States bring exports into balance with imports.

—Foreign and domestic commitments. Americans now seem to have developed a realization that one nation, no matter how rich, can't do everything that needs to be done in the world.

—Racial tensions. Business and individuals, knowing that the issues are unavoidable, seem more eager to tackle the problems of race and discrimination and urban decay.

—Presidential position. On various issues—taxes, spending, the war, balance of payments—the President has clarified his position since his decision not to campaign for re-election.

In the view of optimists, the appearance of potential solutions in recent weeks, coupled with the beginnings of postive action toward solutions, already have greatly relieved the tensions and frustrations of Americans.

In the view of many others, some of the changes that have occurred in recent weeks could lead to deadends or else could meander indecisively for month after month.

The United States balance of payments problem, for example, is something that may take years to cure, just as it took years to develop. There are no miracle drugs for financial ailments.

There is also some question that an increase in taxes will stop the rising fever of inflation in its tracks, for pressures have built up in the past two years that will be influencing prices for many months to come.

And a more reflective view of what the end of the war would mean to the economy is now circulating. It reminds us that peace in Vietnam isn't complete assurance that military spending will be cut.

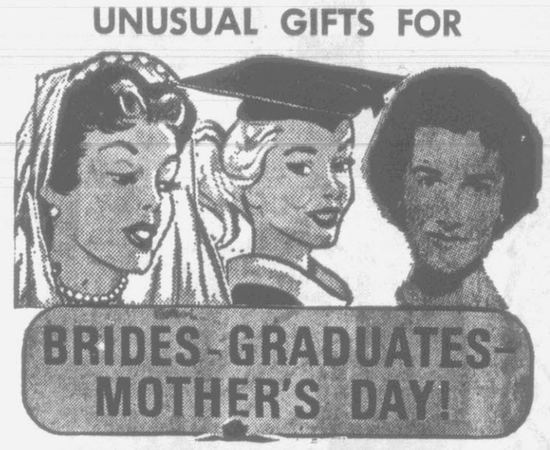

But the fact that some economists are risking a smile now and then, in itself is doing something to improve the picture.

Why Farm Income Is Down And Food Prices Up

EDITOR'S NOTE—A survey conducted by the Associated Press Managing Editors Association found an apparent contradiction— complaints that food prices are going up and complaints that farmers' income is going down. This article examines the reasons for the situation. It is the last in a series of Editor-to-People Survey stories moved for afternoon papers.

By EDMUND R. DE MOCH
AP Business Writer

CHICAGO (AP) —If happiness is low food prices for the housewife and high crop prices for the farmer, there are plenty of unhappy people around.

The homemaker's complaint about high food prices and the farmer's lament over low income beat a melancholy tune.

How can both be true?

The answer is both simple and complex—simple in that the reason are easy enough to pinpoint and complex in that the riddle has so far defied solution.

Here are the basic factors:

The farmer normally cannot choose the time when he will sell. He usually has to sell at harvest—and pretty much at the offered price—or his crops spoil.

The cost of the middleman has risen sharply. This covers all the processing, packaging, and distribution that makes wheat into a loaf of bread on your table. The farmer and the purchaser pay these increased costs.

Buyers have become more selective. They want better foods prepared better. And this costs more.

Federal farm policy has, at times, created problems for the farmer.

Take the grain situation in 1967, for example.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, saying he feared a world shortage, asked farmers to produce more grain. So they bought more seed and more fertilizer and used more machinery and labor for harvesting. The farmers' costs thus went up.

They produced record yields: 4.7 billion bushels of corn, 1.5 billion bushels of wheat and about 1 billion bushels of soybeans.

But while the crops were still in the ground U.S. exports started slowing as countries in Europe, Africa and South America also harvested record or near-record crops.

And that wasn't all. Much rain and snow in this nation's corn belt delayed the harvest and much high moisture corn and soybeans resulted. These bring lower prices because they have to be commercially dried.

For instance, Illinois farmers figured they would have to get 75 to 85 cents a bushel for corn to break even at the end of the 1967 crop year. Mainly because of the high moisture content, some sold for as low as 69 cents. A year earlier, when less was produced, corn brought $1.10 to $1.20 a bushel.

Now comes the middleman. His costs for labor and other things were climbing and so he bargained hard with the farmer. Then since he could not make up all of his increasing costs just by paying low prices to the farmer, he had to pass on some higher food costs to the consumer—you.

Also a factor in prices at the consumer end is the housewife's desire for better meats with less fat, special diet foods, improved grains and fruit and vegetable strains. It costs more to produce these foods and they cost more to buy.

Frozen foods, too, are big sellers because of their convenience. They cost more to produce and more to buy.

The federal government's cost of living index—of which food is a part—has risen over the past six months at a rate of 4 per cent a year.

In 1967, the rise was 3.1 per cent. This meant that in 1967 it cost $11.82 to buy the goods and services one could get for $10 in 195759.

Figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that the food a housewife bought in 1957-59 for herself, her husband and two small children cost $25 a week. The bureau's weekly figure for now: $29.55.

The farmer's problems are revealed in another set of statistics which show steadily increasing gross expenses for farmers and net income that has not kept pace with these increases. All figures in billions.

Year	Net income	Expenses
1967	$15.0	$34.4
1966	$16.5	$33.2
1962	$12.5	$27.0
1960	$11.7	$26.2

Going back even further, the Department of Agriculture reports that prices paid by farmers are now 3½ times what they were in 1910-1914. But the prices received by farmers are only 2½ times what they were then.

Freeman, speaking at a farmers' convention in St. Paul, Minn., late last year, shouldered some of the blame for federal policies that aggravated farmers' problems.

"If there is anybody to blame about low prices to the farmer, it's me," he said.

Waste Treatment Facilities Are Clearing Streams

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — After 16 years of work and the spending of $264 million to construct waste treatment facilities in North Carolina, the state's streams are running cleaner water.

"The quality of our water has gradually improved and, in most instances, the required waste treatment has been provided to the extent o improving water quality," said E. C. Hubbard, assistant director of the state Department of Water and Air Resources. Hubbard has headed the state's stream pollution abatement program since its inception.

He estimated that another $100 to $150 million will be needed during the next five years to treat wastes that are not being adequately treated now and "to provide adequate water collection and treatment facilities to keep up with municipal and industrial growth that we anticipate in the state."

The cost of providing waste treatment facilities in teh state so far has been borne by industries and by municipalities with the help of the federal government, which has been paying up to 30 per cent of the cost of municipal waste treatment facilities.

Hubbard said he feels it's time the state entered the program because many municipalities are unable to finance their 70 per cent of the cost.

Hubbard said one c the major problems encountered as industries and municipalities build waste treatment facilities is finding personnel to man them. He noted there "is a shortage of trained people and there is a deficiency in salaries offered." He said it appeared foolish to "build a $1.5 million plant and then hire a $50 a week man tc operate it.

"These plants require personnel with sufficient training to understand waste treatment processes and plant maintenance," he said.

He added, "The attitude of municipalities and industries of North Carolina has not been one of shirking their responsibilities, but in practically every case of delay it has been lack of financing rather than a failure to recognize the need of improving water quality."

has been changed so the federal government will put up 50 per cent of the costs in states which help municipalities by paying 25 per cent.

"This means that if municipalities in the state are going to be eligible for 50 per cent federal grants, then the state must make funds available for 25 per cent of the costs for each project for which federal funds are approved," Hubbard said.

So, Hubbard and members of the Board of Water and Air Resources appeared befo e a subcommittee of the Legislative Research Commission and said they intended to ask the next General Assembly to appropriate $2 million a year for the next biennium for state grants to help municipalities.

Asked how North Carolina ranks with other states in its program, Hubbard said it "is considered one of the advanced states in efforts to protect water resources and maintain water quality."

He pointed out, however, that some 13 states, including New York, Mary' nd and Pennsylvania, are now providing state grants which will enable them to move forward rapidly.

He noted that the federal law
