North Vietnamese And American Spokesmen Hold First Meeting

By STEPHENS BROENINE
PARIS (AP) — American and North Vietnamese officials arrived at peace conference headquarters today to discuss technical details for the opening of preliminary talks on ending the Vietnam war.

The first round of talks was slated to decide procedural questions. It had been expected earlier substantive talks would begin today.

The American delegation drove up first in three sedans and was followed within minutes by the Vietnamese in another trio of black sedans.

A crowd of 700 to 800 lined the broad Avenue Kleber, near the Arc de Triomphe, as the delegates arrived. Other curious hung out of balcony windows and windows of the International Conference Center itself. There was no applause or cheering.

The arrangement for a session on planning details was reported to have been a disappointment to American officials, who had hoped more substantial talks might begin today.

A U.S. spokesman was asked whether the North Vietnamese had requested this approach and whether they were stalling. "I don't want to characterize the meeting," he replied. "The meeting was suggested and we accepted it." About the same time the American announcement was being made of a 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) meeting time the North Vietnamese chief delegate Xuan Thuy said the meeting would be at 3:30 p.m.

The discrepancy in time was not immediately explained.

The procedural questions for discussion at this first session could include the matter of an agenda for the later opening talks between Thuy and the U.S. top negotiator, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

An argument over the agenda could delay substantial talks indefinitely, but U.S. officials said they had no word that the situation would develop in that manner.

William Jordan, an assistant to Harriman, told newsmen U.S. representatives at the mid-afternoon session would be Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance and Philip Habib, a State Department expert on Vietnam.

The session was set for the International Conference Center, the old Majestic Hotel, where the main talks are to be held.

Discount Fears Of Soviet Army Move On Czechs

By MARTIN ZUCKER

WARSAW (AP) — Western quarters discounted today the possibility that reports of heavy Soviet troop concentrations moving through Poland indicated an invasion of Czechoslovakia or moves to put pressure on the new liberal regime in Prague. The Czechoslovak capital was calm and taking a holiday.

Western military attaches said Thursday Soviet forces in Poland had advanced as close as 18 miles to the frontier with Czechoslovakia shortly after an emergency summit conference in Moscow of hard-line East European Communist leaders.

Prague radio made no mention of the report, but many Czechs were aware of the development through foreign broadcasts. They carried on with a three-day holiday marking the nation's liberation from Nazi Germany by the Red army 23 years ago.

Diplomatic sources in Moscow conceded that Soviet-Czechoslovak relations have been shaken by Prague's sweeping liberalization, including its unshackling of the press. But these sources said the Soviets showed no sign of being disturbed enough to stage a rerun of the bloody quashing of the 1956 Hungarian rebellion.

Seasoned observers in Vienna felt likewise and linked the reported troop movements to previously announced plans for maneuvers of the Warsaw Pact forces that are scheduled to extend into Czechoslovakia. Western military attaches were prevented from leaving Warsaw to check on the Soviet troop movements, but one witness was reported to have seen Russian troops near the town of Andrychow, 18 miles from the Czech border.

In the wake of their own conference in Moscow early this week, leaders of the new Prague regime continued to give public assurance of their loyalty to communism despite their liberal trend. Liberalization in Czechoslovakia has aroused the bitterest opposition among Polish and East German leaders, who fear it will prove an inspiration to restive Poles and East Germans and because Prague is showing signs of establishing relations with West Germany.

Glum View Of Nebraska By McCarthy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has made a glum assessment of his chances of besting Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Nebraska, battleground of the moment in the presidential primary circuit. "Nebraskans of both parties will vote Tuesday. McCarthy said in an interview Thursday that if it were just a Kennedy-McCarthy contest he could match the New Yorker. "If we were meeting head-on," he said, "if it were just two in the contest, I think the outcome would be 50-50. But these others who are in the race will hurt me more than him."

Besides the names of the two senators, the Democratic ballot will list President Johnson even though he announced March 31 he would neither seek nor accept nomination for another term. And a write-in campaign is building for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, whose decision to seek the nomination came too late for him to be listed on the ballot in Nebraska.

The amendment was added to a bill extending for two years a $1 billion allotment of programs that assist about 1.5 million of the 6 million students in U.S. colleges and universities. Sponsored by Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., the amendment would bar federal assistance funds from going to any student who refuses to obey a lawful order of the college authorities and is determined to those authorities to have taken part in activities that lead to a disruption of operations at the college.

The amendment would not affect participants in disorders occurring before final enactment. The proposal has not been voted on yet by the Senate.

Army Units Will Be Put On 'Alert'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of Army troops in the Washington area reportedly will go on alert Saturday to be ready for any violence accompanying this weekend's arrival of the vanguard of the Poor People's Campaign.

The Pentagon said the Army was taking certain "prudent actions" but declined to detail them.

Sources said these actions include alerting troops at posts and bases near Washington to be set to move, if necessary, in as little as one hour.

Elements of the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., also will be alerted but won't be flown to the capital area unless needed, sources said.

Units of the District of Columbia National Guard, most of them military policemen, will undergo weekend drills at the D.C. Armory and will be available for any riot duty. Other guardsmen will stand by at home or within easy reach.

It was reported that some Army agents were observing the progress of the Poor People's Campaign to determine the probable size of the crowds that will reach Washington, the mood of the marchers and those who are leading and influencing them.

Although leaders of the campaign maintain the will adhere to nonviolent means in seeking expanded social programs from Congress, fears have been expressed on Capitol Hill and elsewhere that violence could erupt.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures through Wednesday will average above normal with highs mostly in the 80s and lows in the lower 50s. Scattered showers in the west Saturday and Sunday, moving eastward Monday and Tuesday.

Opposition To Tax Hike Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rugged House opposition awaits a compromise measure combining President Johnson's proposed income tax hike with a mandatory $6 billion spending slash.

Senate-House conferees nailed down Thursday a version tacking the spending cut demand onto the 10 per cent income tax surcharge Johnson has sought since last August.

In most respects, the conferees agreed to the bill passed earlier by the Senate. There has been no test in the House.

Reversing earlier indications, handlers of the legislation said it probably won't be brought to a House vote next week. They cited the time required to prepare a report on the complicated bill.

But it was evident the delay also is planned for careful head counts and persuasion of undecided members.

Humphrey Finds His Own Slogan

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who in his speeches likes to link himself to such Democratic presidents as Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy and Johnson, has also found a slogan.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had the New Deal, Harry S. Truman had the Fair Deal, John F. Kennedy used the New Frontier and Lyndon Johnson has the Great Society.

Hubert H. Humphrey has the "New Democracy." In Denver, Colo., and in Atlantic City, N.J., before delegates of the United Auto Workers union, Humphrey trotted out the phrase, "New Democracy" and proposed that he would be able to deliver it if elected president.

Speaking to Colorado Democrats need delegates in precinct caucuses—the first step toward naming delegates to the Democratic National Convention in August—Humphrey promised Thursday night "to bring to America a New Democracy."

A major factor is Johnson's attitude. He faces the choice of blessing the measure because it contains the revenue he says is desperately needed, or fighting it—even with a veto if it is passed—because of the $6 billion cut.

That's $2 billion more than the figure he reluctantly agreed was acceptable and he has said a cut of this depth would be against the national interest.

Johnson himself has not commented on the conferees' decision. But a White House spokesman said he did not know whether the President would approve the bill if it is passed.

Observers noted a majority of senators who come up for reelection this year voted against the measure. All House seats are up for election this year.

Further complicating the dilemma of House members is the scheduled arrival during the next few days of the Poor People's Campaign in Washington. The administration has said a $6 billion budget cut will mean drastic slashes in education and other social programs—which campaign leaders are demanding be expanded.

The $6 billion actual spending cut under budget estimates for the year beginning July 1 fits into a $10 billion appropriations cut recommended by the conference. The President also would be directed to recommend savings of $8 billion to be made next January out of unspent previous appropriations.

The bill also calls for reducing the federal payroll by leaving one of every four vacancies unfilled until the mid-1968 level is restored. It was estimated this would mean a reduction of about 250,000. The payroll restriction would be a permanent provision.

MIG Shoots Down F4 Phantom

Viet Cong Being Driven From Saigon; Reinforcing Efforts Reported Crushed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen clashed repeatedly today along the southern fringes of Saigon with bands of snipers and rocket-firing Viet Cong, but generally the Vietnam war slowed down as American and North Vietnamese peace negotiators prepared to meet in Paris.

The Americans from the 9th Division appeared to be driving the enemy away from South Vietnam's capital on the sixth day of the Viet Cong's "peace talk" offensive. Intelligence sources said U.S. and South Vietnamese forces had virtually crushed at least for the time being, the waves of attacks on Saigon that began last Sunday.

They said one reason for the enemy setback was that U.S. troops sweeping the countryside around Saigon intercepted much of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces before they reached the capital.

Two major developments were reported in the air war against North Vietnam. U.S. Navy pilots said they blew up the biggest oil depot in the southern half of North Vietnam. And the U.S. Command confirmed a report earlier this week from Pentagon sources in Washington that Communist MIG fighters are operating in the North Vietnamese panhandle south of the 20th parallel for the first time in the war.

The command said a MIG21 shot down an American F4 Phantom Tuesday about 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The U.S. Command reported nearly 3,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in the last five days of fighting around Saigon. One U.S. source said elements of 19 enemy battalions pressing toward the city had been repulsed during the past week with heavy losses.

Most of the capital was calm today, with life back to normal. Reports from the field and U.S. communiques indicated the pattern was much the same up and down the country, except for harassing enemy shelling.

But there still was heavy enemy fire from both sides of the Kinh Doi Canal which forms the southern boundary of Saigon. An American helicopter gunship making a rocket pass south of the "Y" Bridge across the canal crashed and burned, possibly brought down by enemy fire.

Thousands Head Toward Washington

Poor People's Campaign March Gathering Support

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Poor People's Campaign continued collecting followers across the nation today, as separate groups in the massive march gathered strength and moved toward Washington.

The swollen Southern wave of the campaign planned to spend tonight in Macon, Ga., following a daylong pilgrimage Thursday in the native city of its assassinated leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Other march activities continued in Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Massachusetts and Mississippi.

Campaigners from Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia visited King's college, church and home in Atlanta Thursday and dedicated a plaque at the house where he was born.

The day ended with a musical benefit show to raise money for the campaign, where an audience of about 9,000 persons heard a white civil rights worker vow, "We'll convince Congress if it takes all summer in shanty town."

Father James Groppi, the white Catholic priest who led successful open housing demonstrations in Milwaukee, said, "The man is going to listen—we are preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ. We've got to teach white America that black is beautiful."

King's widow, Mrs. Coretta King, told the assemblage, "I'm sure my late husband is smiling on the enthusiastic and overwhelming welcome and support for the Poor People's Campaign."

About 1,000 marchers from Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and Indianapolis converged on Louisville, Ky., where they were joined by about 400 persons at a rally. They heard King's brother, the Rev. A. D.

Williams King, say the poor must press Congress for equal justice and opportunity for all the poor, both black and white.

Eight busloads of campaigners were to leave Boston today for Providence, R.I. They planned to go from there to New York to be joined Saturday by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's successor as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Abernathy spoke at a fund raising luncheon in Boston Thursday before flying to Atlanta for the benefit. The luncheon netted the campaign $15,000.

Leaders of the Tennessee segment of the campaign said their bus caravan would go from Knoxville to Raleigh, N.C., today to Danville, Va., Saturday and on to Washington Sunday.

An estimated 500 persons are in the Tennessee contingent.

Meanwhile, the Washington area readied itself to receive the throngs.

In Silver Springs, Md., students, housewives and professional people have been gathering daily at Xavier College to build shelters for the campaigners. An estimated 500 prefabricated units have been completed, a spokesman said, and "several hundred more" are partially built.

And in Washington itself, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., called for protection for the city's poor in case violence comes with the arrival of the campaigners. He said troops should be stationed in Washington's low-income neighborhoods.

"There are plans to protect the Capitol, the White House, the foreign embassies, but they have no immediate plans to protect the poor people of Washington," Curtis told the Senate.

Begin Building Post Office In Thirty Days

Redevelopment commissioners heard yesterday that construction will start on the new Post office in 30 days, according to reports issued by Fine and Salsburgh Construction Co.

In their monthly meeting the commissioners also voted to let the proposals for first acquisition appraisals go to Realtor Jack Wallace who was low bidder at $12,500. Wallace will do the appraisals of the Central Business District Project.

Barrus Construction Co. is reported to be 35 percent complete on the site improvements in the Shore Drive Project. This is just slightly behind schedule. Blythe Brothers Co. are reportedly 60 percent complete on the retaining wall and walk along the Tar River. They are ahead of schedule.

The commissioners voted to up the retainer fee for an attorney from $50 to $150 per month.

Negotiations with the Sycamore Hill Baptist Church are still in progress. The commissioners in the meantime agreed to write the church a letter informing them of intent to begin construction of Improvements on Greene St.

In the Shore Drive Redevelopment Project as of April 30, no families, individuals, or businesses remain on site. There remains 36 percent of the parcels to be disposed of by the commission.

A sample of the masonry for the retaining wall along the esplanade was constructed for the approval of the commissioners.

Chairman Billy Laughinghouse presided over the meeting.

Precinct Meetings

The Pitt County Democratic Party will hold its precinct meeting at the polling places tomorrow at noon.

Officers of the precincts will be elected and delegates to the county convention will be chosen. The county convention will be in the County Courthouse at 11 a.m. May 25. The precinct committees will now be composed of ten members—five men and five women—instead of five as in the past.

Each precinct will also elect a chairman and a vice chairman, one of whom will be a woman, and a secretary-treasurer.

A quorum of ten Democrats at each precinct is required.

Wachovia To Be Holding Company, National Bank

Directors of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company yesterday approved a plan to reorganize as a holding company and convert from a state bank to a national bank.

The holding company, which will be known as The Wachovia Corporation under the proposal, will be a one-bank holding company. The bank will be named Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, N. A. (for "National Association.") ial meeting of shareowners on Thursday, June 27, to vote on the proposal. The meeting will be held in the Wachovia Building in Winston-Salem.

The proposal is also subject to approval by the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency and the Internal Revenue Service.

R. W. Howard, Senior Vice President, said the proposed reorganization will give Wachovia increased flexibility to provide the widening range of financial services being demanded by today's customers, both individual and corporate.

Areas in which services could be added or expanded include sales and consumer finance, varied investment services, factoring, leasing and others, he said.

The reorganization will not change the organizational pattern of the bank, Howard said. Staff members will continue in their present positions and assignments. It is anticipated the directors called a special meeting of directors of Wachovia will be directors of the national bank.

If the reorganization proposal is approved, a new national bank, known as Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, N.A., will be formed. The present Wachovia Bank and Trust Company will transfer substantially all its assets to the national bank in exchange for the national bank's capital stock. The charter of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company will be amended, changing the company's name to The Wachovia Corporation and its principal activity from banking to general business.

Present shareowners of Wachovia will become shareowners of The Wachovia Corporation. The Corporation will own all the stock of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, N.A.,

except directors' qualifying shares.

At the beginning, an additional company will be established as a subsidiary of The Wachovia Corporation. This will be an incorporated insurance agency to continue the business of the Insurance Department of Wachovia, serving as general agent for leading insurance companies in the issuance of fire, marine, casualty, fidelity and disability insurance.

Mrs. Kennedy's Ex-Chef Tells How To Get A Man To Propose

By JEANNE SAKOL

NEW YORK (WNS)—Jacqueline Kennedy's former cook says there are two ways to get a man to propose. Annemarie Huste, the adventure-loving young German girl who came to America to seek her fortune over a hot stove, advises "pink satin and lots of chocolate."

At a conference to announce her plans after her dismissal from the Kennedy household, Annemarie said she was writing a personal cookbook to be published by Bartholomew House in time for Christmas. After two years of cooking for the former first lady and before her, the late Billy Rose, Annemarie looks more like someone's teen-age daughter than a sought-after cook and controversial figure of 25.

A firm believer of her mother's German proverb, "A man's love goes through his stomach," Fraulen Huste is dedicating her book to "Men who love to eat and women who love to cook for them. Men react with their eyes as well as their taste buds, she asserted. "Pink melts a man's heart. If you want him to pop the question, wear a long, pink satin hostess gown. The satin is important because it clings and reflects the warmth and glow of the candles—and whoever heard of a romantic dinner without candles?"

Whatever else you serve a man for dinner, the dessert must be chocolate, the gooiest the better! No man can resist chocolate, she assured her audience, offering a choice of cold chocolate soufflé, old-fashioned layer cake, brownies, cupcakes or dressed-up variations on ordinary chocolate pudding.

Whether Jackie Kennedy is slinking around in pink satin with a refrigerator full of chocolate goodies waiting for just the right moment to confront Lord Harlech, Annemarie Huste refused to say. Nor would she comment on John-John or Caroline since previous indiscretions of this nature resulted in her dismissal.

To make up for denying us a cook's-eye view of high places, she offered a preview of two man-pleasing recipes with which she tempts men while remaining, for the moment, single.

Gourmet Hamburger
Gourmet Hamburger starts with the chopped steak all men love. Annemarie dresses it up by dumping a "whole bunch of stuff" into the blender, including a small onion, an egg, ketchup, capers, parsley and a big dab of blue cheese. When all is blended, add the saucy mixture to the ground meat, mush it around and then form into patties and broil over charcoal. Can you hear those wedding bells?

For a Romantic Picnic, forget the peanut butter and deviled egg routine. Try a Chicken - in - Aspic you can make the day before. All you do is get your friendly butcher to bone a chicken, stuff it with ground - up chicken meat or veal with herbs and anything else you like for stuffing. Sew it up and poach slowly in chicken broth. Let it cook in this liquid. Then make an aspic and chill the chicken in it overnight. The day of the picnic, wrap the chicken in foil to keep it cool and make the picnic fancy with a silver tray and a bottle of champagne.

"Who cares how heavy the picnic basket is! You go to the picnic by car, don't you?"

If it rains, Annemarie suggests holding the picnic at home on the living room floor. "Turn on the sunlamp for atmosphere."

Annemarie Huste promises to bring a gay, vivacious flavor to the culinary scene. Her outlook on cooking is one of fearless good nature. "Why be afraid of a soufflé? It's the easiest thing in the world. Anyone can cook. If you can boil an egg, you can do anything!"

If you're having trouble screwing a wood screw into wood, coat the threads of the screw with soap.

Nothing Wrong With Their Arrangement

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: In our circle there is a widow past 65 who has a man living with her. He's a cousin (widower) about her age. She tells people that she is afraid to be alone in the house without a man. The home is hers and his cousin helps with the household chores. They share expenses, and seem to be enjoying the arrangement.

Most of her friends do not approve of this setup, but so far they haven't let her know how they feel. What do you think of such an arrangement?

DEAR TRUMPS: I think every widow over 65 should be so lucky as to have a male cousin about her age with whom to share her home, expenses, and to keep her company. And that goes double for widowers.

DEAR ABBY: I met a girl

four months ago and we were immediately attracted to one another. We saw a lot of each other, so our four months courtship is not really as brief as it sounds. (She's 22 and I am 26.)

We plan to marry soon, but she says we have to keep it a secret from everyone but our folks on account of her job. She says she promised her boss before he hired her that she would not get married for at least TWO YEARS. (She's been there almost a year.) She says they wouldn't have hired her otherwise as they don't hire girls who plan on getting married because after they marry they get pregnant right away, and then they either quit or take a long leave of absence, and they're never the same after that.

I say she should tell her boss she's taking "The Pill" and doesn't plan on getting pregnant for at least five years, and if he doesn't want to keep her, she can get another job.

She says she likes her job and doesn't want to risk losing it. Besides she gets a nice bonus and increases after each year.

I say, no wife of mine is going to work as a "miss" and leave her wedding ring in the drawer. Who is right?

JIMMY

DEAR JIMMY: I think you are. And if your girl doesn't see it your way, she obviously is more interested in her job than she is in you. Tell her to explain to her boss that she made the promise not to wed before she met you, also that she doesn't plan on having a family for several years, how she intends to go about it is strictly her business.

DEAR ABBY: I hope this doesn't sound dumb, coming from a 16-year-old girl, but I haven't dated much and I need to know. Should a girl ever kiss on their first date?

DEAR BRONX: The "act" itself is not as important as the motivation. A good-night kiss should communicate "affection," . . . never "thanks." If a boy has shown you a very nice evening, say "thank you"—don't kiss him out of obligation or gratitude.

If there is not "feeling" for the other person, the kiss is meaningless and cheap. A girl should kiss a boy because she WANTS to — not because HE wants to kiss her, or because she feels she owes him something.

Couple Speaks Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Debra Brooks Harris became the bride of Roy Lindsey Hardee on Sunday at 3:00 p.m. at the Immanuel Baptist Church.

The Rev. Irby Jackson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. David B. Harris and the late Mr. Harris. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Hardee of Greenville.

Three spiral nine branched brass candelabra were centered behind the altar of the church flanked on each side were baskets of white gladioli, white snapdragons and white peonies. Family pews were marked with white ribbon bows. A prie dieu was in the center of the altar where the bride and bridegroom knelt for the wedding prayer and benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Raymond H. Johnson, wore a silk faille skimmer style gown with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves bordered with venice lace. The bodice was accented with a small bow at the high bustline and the back was enhanced with a square neck finished with a big bow and a detachable chapel train edged with venice lace.

She wore a matching headpiece of petals embellished with seed pearls, attached to a bouffant silk illusion short veil. She carried a bouquet of miniature white carnations, white shasta daisies, lilies of the valley with a corsage of miniature carnations and lilies of the valley tied with white satin ribbon with streamers of miniature ivy and white tulle.

Her sister, Miss Julie Harris, was maid of honor and as soloist sang "Love Never Filleth" prior to the wedding ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the wedding prayer, accompanied by Mrs. Lib Bodkin, organist.

Her full length empire style gown of mint green silk faille was fashioned with small bows at a flowing back panel. She wore a headpiece of matching flower petals accented with white lilies of the valley and short veil. Her bouquet of mixed spring flowers of shasta daisies, blue iris, green cushion pom poms, yellow and white snapdragons, white lilies of the valley and coral carnations were tied with white satin ribbon which ended in streamers.

Mrs. Lois Johnson dressed in coral, served as her niece's matron of honor. Bridesmaids, dressed in blue, were Jane Healy, cousin of the bride, and Jo Anne Teel, sister of the bridegroom. The honor attendants wore identical style dresses with matching accessories and bouquets.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were C. Richard and Jimmie E. Hardee, brothers of the bridegroom, Ike F. Riddick, and John C. Holt.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harris wore a pale mint green dress of Italian silk with a matching coat. Her hat was of mint illusion with self-bows.

Mrs. Hardee chose a blue silk dress with matching coat and matching hat. The mothers wore corsages of pale cymbidium orchids.

Reception
A reception following the wedding ceremony, served by the order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The table was covered with a white organdy cloth over green and was centered with a floral arrangement of white gladioli and white peonies with greenery flanked by three branch silver candelabra with white tapers.

Punch was poured by Anne Jenkins of Edenton. Cutting the four-tiered wedding cake was Camelia Driver, aunt of the bride, from Edenton.

Inviting guests to the Fellowship Hall were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Robertson. Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. T. I. Moore introduced guests to the receiving line. Presiding at the register was Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gray of Hagerstown, Ind. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Healy of Jacksonville.

Tax Surcharge Is Now Essential

While the president has said that cutting the budget more than $4 billion would "injure the national interest", we feel that the time has come to work out some compromise so that Congress can act on the tax surcharge bill.

Senate-House conferees, after the president's statement, insisted on a $6 billion cut as a prerequisite to the 10 percent tax surcharge.

Now Congress and the president must find some way to compromise the relatively small difference between them so that the budget cuts and the tax increase can begin to do their work in halting inflation.

No one wants to pay more taxes, but it has become all too obvious that if some action is not taken the American public is still going to pay through inflation, increased interest rates and in other ways. Thus the tax surcharge may turn out to be the most inexpensive way for the American family to pay what is needed to cure the nation's financial ills.

Make no mistake about it, if the surcharge and spending cuts are not enacted the consumer will find more of his dollars going to buy less. He is going to find, as he already has, higher interest rates when he finances a home or an automobile. Even the most conservative in the business world have come to realize this and most financial observers now consider the tax increase essential.

This was an opportune time for responsible congressmen to trim back the ever growing federal budget. However, it is clear that the tax surcharge is necessary and that time may be running out for Congress to enact it.

Much as we dislike higher taxes, we hope Congress will soon enact the surcharge. We believe it is that essential to the nation's well being.

Broughton Acted In Interest Of His State

Mel Broughton acted in the best interest of his state, the Democratic party and his own political future by declining to challenge Lt. Gov. Bob Scott in a second primary.

A run-off battle between Scott and Broughton would have left deep scars and sharp factions within the Democratic party in this important political year. It would have left the party split probably worse than at any time in recent years, and facing its stiffest Republican challenge in modern history. More than that, the odds were heavily against Broughton being able to overtake in a second primary the 100,000 vote lead Scott built up in last Saturday's primary.

By calling for unity instead of pitching the Democratic party and North Carolina into a short, fiery campaign that would certainly have had strong racial overtones, Mel Broughton acted with wisdom and obviously with the interest of his state and his political party in mind.

The Democratic party of the state may now move toward the general election with vigor and with assurance of harmony so far as principals in the recent gubernatorial primary are concerned.

Broughton For A United Front

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — J. Melville Broughton stood tall, wearing a brown suit, before the bright lights and cameras, rows of reporters and more than 100 well-wishers and supporters, to bow out as a candidate for governor in 1968. He threw his support to first primary winner Bob Scott, saying "I will support him and all other Democratic nominees in the Fall election" and called on the 226,000 Democrats who voted for Broughton on May 4 to do likewise.

If successful — and Broughton's statement strengthened chances that it will be — it could form a solid phalanx of Democratic voters to withstand the challenge of Republicans led by newly nominated gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner.

In a brief question and answer period, Broughton said "I think the Democrats will win in November."

A former state party chairman and chairman of the State Highway Commission under a Democratic administration, Broughton said he felt the recent primary campaign served the party well. Of course, he added, the results "were disappointing to me."

All in all, Broughton's decision to forego a second primary apparently was in the interest of unifying and strengthening Democrats instead of furthering of Broughton's political ambition and the political position of his supporters.

Bay Be Advanced

Many observers feel, however, that Bob Scott — if victorious in November will not overlook either Mel Broughton nor Broughton's supporters in passing out patronage.

There were early, highly speculative predictions that Broughton might win appointment as a judge under a Scott administration. This would not be unprecedented.

Neither would be the possibility that Broughton could make a political comeback in later years. In the past certain prominent political figures who have stepped aside in the interest of party unity — such as the late Cameron Morrison — later won overwhelming party support.

Broughton is young. As for his political future, he said he had not given it much thought beyond bowing out at this time. But he added, "I'm not going to do like a candidate for governor in California some years ago and say this is my last press conference." This, of course, was a partism political jibe at GOP presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Although Broughton received only 33 per cent of the first primary vote, he felt that there was "hope left for victory" in a run-off.

He had decided not to call for one, saying "one has to look beyond individual desires and aspirations. . . . I know that my conclusion is best for the state of North Carolina."

Sends A Letter

A short time earlier, Broughton had sent a letter to Scott advising him of the decision and congratulating the lieutenant governor on the "splendid" vote, more than 48 per cent, Scott polled on Saturday.

The decision, Broughton said, was "difficult" but added "I am also mindful that this is a decision that has to be mine, and mine alone, not being influenced by those who have urged me to continue or those who have recommended otherwise."

May Prove Significant
Broughton's move to put his support behind Scott and other Democratic nominees in November may prove highly significant.

Barrier Hasn't Deterred Reds

By BOB MORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon declines to say whether the so-called "McNamara Wall" obstacle system is limiting infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam.

And the Defense Department — while acknowledging the barrier never underwent usual cost-effectiveness studies — won't say why.

The absence of cost-effectiveness studies along lines demanded by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, under whose auspices the barrier system was created, emerges from congressional testimony.

It comes at a time when reported heavy North Vietnamese infiltration has raised questions about the barrier's effectiveness.

The Pentagon has acknowledged that infiltration continues directly through the Demilitarized Zone, where the barrier system is located, as well as around the DMZ's western border with Laos.

No figures are available on how many enemy troops may have slipped through the obstacle system but the administration's own estimates are that 80,000 to 100,000 men have infiltrated toward and into South Vietnam so far this year.

The Pentagon also has withheld cost figures for the system, which was announced last Sept. 7 by McNamara. Some congressmen have expressed wonder why the project was never run through McNamara's vaunted systems analysis, a cost-effectiveness study branch which normally investigates the value of big defense projects. Responding to questions from Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., the Pentagon stated the only cost analysis of the project came as part of a study conducted by the Institute for Defense Analysis, a private "think tank."

The Pentagon provided Symington a breakdown of actual and projected system costs but censors deleted this data from a transcript released later. The scope of the spending, however, was indicated in several Symington remarks about the billion-dollar "Magnet Line concept."

The Pentagon declined to provide the cost figures, saying this might tip off the enemy to the scale of the effort.

McNamara would state publicly only that the system would include equipment ranging from barbed wire to "highly sophisticated devices."

These devices, one officer says, include air-dropped seismic units which send off signals whenever enemy troops or vehicles enter the area. Electronics planes receive the signals and dispatch bombers to meet the invaders.

The system also includes several manned strong points below the DMZ, along with cleared areas and minefields.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
FELLOWSHIP

The so-called "solitary" is a pathetic figure. His life (or hers) is withdrawn from the people of the world. There is a way in which we are all "solitaries," for life is a very personal and intimate thing and large areas of it are known only to the person who does the living. But the person who goes about all the time withdrawn from a cordial relationship with others is certainly on the abnormal side and may be a bit on the sick side.

For fellowship is one of life's great privileges. We never know how much knowledge or what fruitful ideas we may pick up from people who appear to have no unusual capacities whatsoever. Maybe they give us a hint that starts our thinking in a certain direction. They may say just one word which will drive an idea out of our mind and change our thinking altogether. Solitary confinement is the worst punishment a prisoner can have, yet some people voluntarily keep themselves in solitary confinement all their lives. They are not wise in so doing.

Robert Louis Stevenson once wrote, "The world is so full of a number of things, I think we should all be as happy as kings." And of course the most wonderful thing in the world is the fellowship we are permitted to have — within the family, among close friends, in the community, in nation and world.

"Be a good fellow." Don't be silly about it — just be.

Candidates And Mothers

WASHINGTON — With Mother's Day coming up on Sunday, it seemed a good time to find out what the presidential candidates' policies were on motherhood in the United States.

I first checked at Hubert Humphrey headquarters: "Vice President Hubert Humphrey supports the same motherhood policies of President Johnson," a Humphrey spokesman informed me. "Although there are no easy solutions to motherhood, he will remind the voters that President Johnson has done more for mothers in the last Administration than all the other 35 Presidents put together. Mothers now have better hospital benefits, educational facilities, welfare payments and Social Security advantages than ever before.

"Under the Johnson-Humphrey Administration, mothers are happier than ever and Humphrey believes that a happy mother is a good mother, a responsible mother and a mother who will thrive in a Great Society. He feels those candidates who would use the mother issue to divide America can only hurt the Democratic Party."

Public Forum

Dear Editors:

Since October three outstanding people have visited Greenville to speak to the educators — Mrs. Mary Nesbitt, State President of the Classroom Teachers Association; Mr. Claude Farrell, Coordinator of Lay Relations and Exhibit Manager and Advertising Manager of the North Carolina Education Association; Dr. W. Amos Abrams, editor of the North Carolina Education Association publications.

On each occasion I as Vice President of the Greenville Unit of the Classroom Teachers Association called the DAILY REFLECTOR asking for news coverage. When I called two weeks in advance, it was too early, and I was told to call later. When I called later, I was told the staff was too small for them to give personal coverage. I was asked to write the article and submit it for publication.

If these noted leaders in education do not deserve the attention of the REFLECTOR staff, whom must we as educators invite to our city?

Since we pride ourselves as being the educational center of Eastern North Carolina, I certainly believe that a professional journalist can relate more to the public than I as a full-time teacher and a part-time journalist can. I raise the question — should the paper inform the people or the people inform the paper?

Mrs. Rebecca J. Groome

Vice President

Association

Editors Note: During the week of April 28-May 3 The Daily Reflector carried more than 400 column inches of locally prepared material on education. This included, in addition to general news, two editorials and nine pictures. It did not include any of the wire service or syndicated material to which the newspaper devoted space. Nor did it include locally prepared sports stories concerning area schools. If all the 400 column inches carried during the six days were grouped together, it would amount to nearly two and a half address newspaper pages. It was no more than a normal week in the education field for The Daily Reflector and if it were not for our news sources being so helpful in assisting with the information, publishing such a vast outpouring of educational news would be impossible. The Daily Reflector's reporters do spend long hours covering educational meetings. The city and county boards of education, which meet at least monthly, are good examples. We might also point out that last year the North Carolina Education Association honored The Daily Reflector with the School Bell Award for "distinguished service in interpretation of education."

I thanked him very much and went over to Bobby Kennedy headquarters, where I was turned over to the chairman of the Mothers for Kennedy, a subdivision of the Parents for Kennedy, which is a subdivision of the Families for Kennedy for Kennedy department.

"I think Bobby Kennedy's record on motherhood speaks for itself," said the chairman. "At the same time, the senator believe that a lot more must be done for mothers, not only for the rich mothers, but the underprivileged mothers, and the mothers of twins and triplets as well as the mothers of farmers and factory workers and fruit pickers and college students. Did I leave anybody out?"

"You forgot the mothers of politicians."

"Yes, and mothers of businessmen, too. In order to give mothers everything they so richly deserve, it will take new, inspiring leadership. We cannot solve the problems of birth with the same old tired formulas of yesterday. If the senator is elected, he will give new dynamic leadership to the mother problem and close the gap between those mothers who have lots of children and those who have very few."

Reuther's Plan Costs Workers

By ELMER ROESSNER

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, showed considerable statesmanship in calling upon the government to close tax loopholes, since workers are among the major beneficiaries of the loopholes.

Reuther said that closing them could increase tax collections $21 billion, "enough to raise incomes of all poor families above the poverty level and to cure the sickness of our cities."

The labor leader said that $10 billion of this came from the split income tax provision, which allows husbands and wives to combine their income and each pay tax on half. This has also been called a bachelor's tax, since it penalizes those who are neither married nor the head of a family.

Boon To The Rich

This split income tax provision is a golden bonanza for millionaires with wives without income. Nelson Gotro, for example, with an income of $1 million a year and a wife with none, would save considerable money paying taxes on two $500,000 incomes instead of one $1 million income.

However, union members and the rest of the 75 million working people also benefit: if they are married and if their spouses do not earn exactly as much as they do. Most of the UAW's million-plus members are married and, while many have working wives, few wives make as much as the men do.

Abolishing the split income provision would not, of course, increase corporation taxes. Other Lost Billions Reuther also cited these loopholes: the $7.5 billion in taxes not collected annually because of low rates on capital gains $1.8 billion because of tax-free state and local bonds, and $1.5 billion because of oil and mineral depreciation allowances.

The depreciation loophole is more often estimated to lose 22.5 billion in taxes, and has been considerably exposed by Drew Pearson, Andrew Tully and other Washington writers. There is a general agreement that Congress will do nothing to close this loophole because the oil beneficiaries contribute so freely to political campaign funds, without which many Congressmen can not be re-elected.

There is another sort of loophole that Reuther failed to mention.

Fringes With Loopholes On Top

CORE Voices Doubts

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Deep undercover concern by Negro leaders that the Poor People's March on Washington may be a dangerous exercise in futility will surface in a dramatic proposal by the militant Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

The CORE proposal, developed over recent months, is scheduled to be released late this week. It is addressed, significantly, not merely to Federal officials but to the march's sponsor: the late Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). Indeed, the proposal represents a clear break by CORE from SCLC and its new leader, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy.

Although the CORE proposal avoids overt criticism of the march in the interests of black solidarity, it implicitly puts down Abernathy's demands for massive Federal spending as just more begging for handouts. Instead, it calls for the Negro community to develop its own commerce and industry. "We seek to harness the creative energy of private enterprise to achieve a solution to America's crisis," says the six-page CORE proposal.

Contained herein is the potential for a union between black power and the Republican party's traditional philosophy. CORE's proposal bears a striking resemblance to Richard M. Nixon's recent statements, a fact fully realized by CORE leaders.

In recent days, Nixon has been in contact with CORE leaders Floyd McKissick and Roy Ennis through intermediaries. Thus, their surprising agreement on economic black power could turn out to be Nixon's first real breakthrough into the Negro leadership.

What makes this all the more remarkable is the recent history of CORE. Less than three years ago, CORE was nearly prostrate, its treasury empty, and its influence low. McKissick was an uproariously disruptive force at the White House conference on civil rights in late 1965, demanding a $100 billion "freedom budget" by the Federal government and denouncing the "capitalistic system."

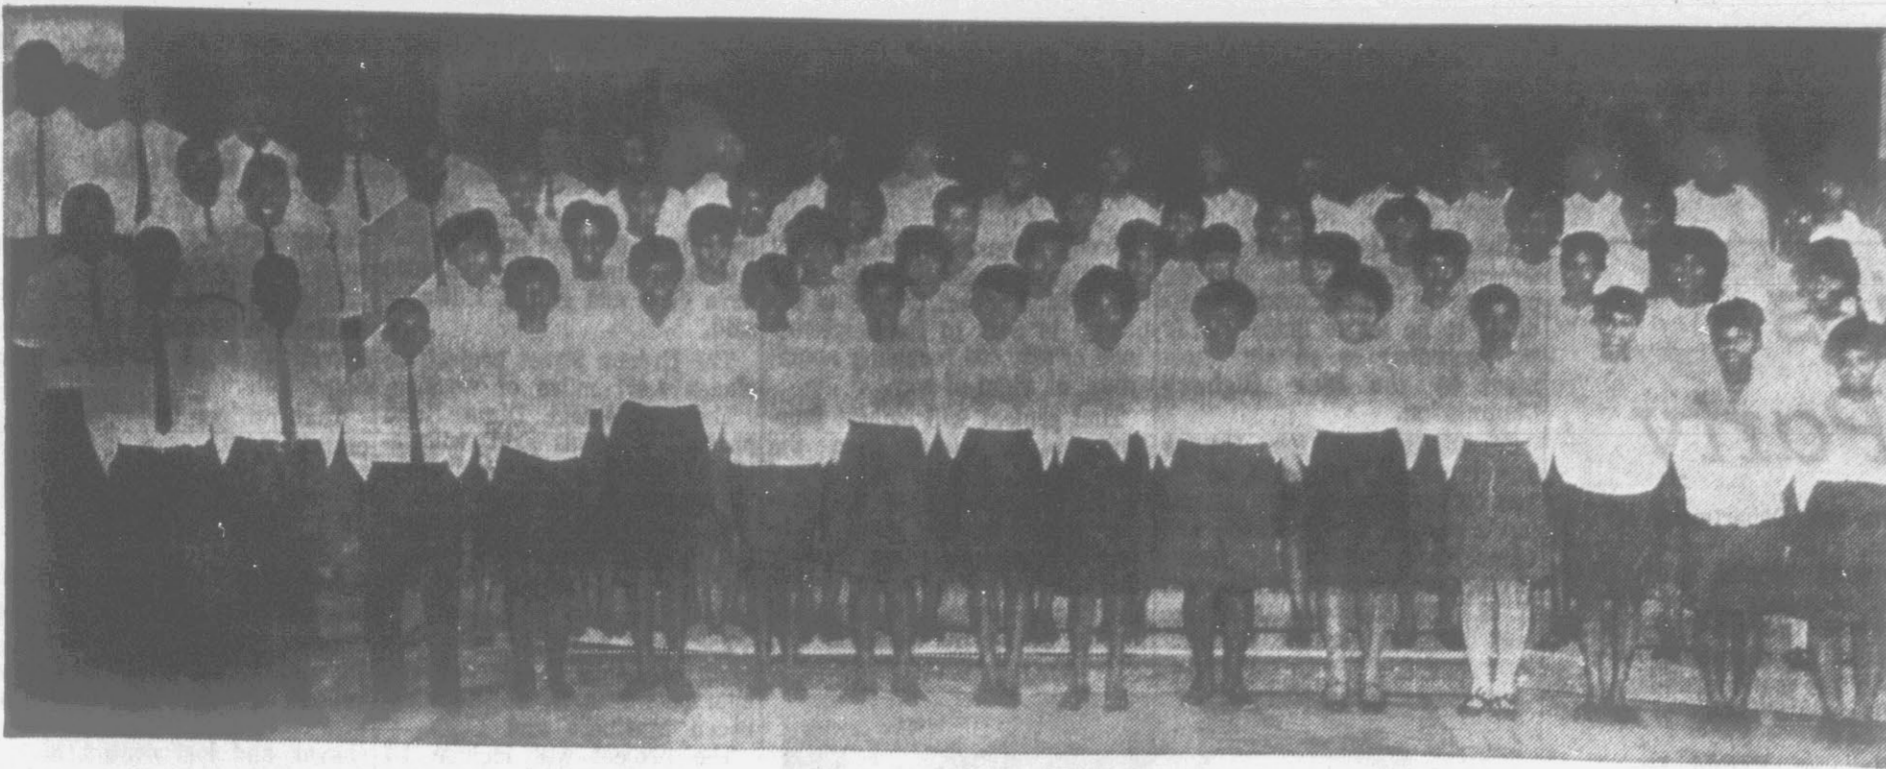

Since then, CORE has slowly regained prestige in the Negro movement. More important, although McKissick still occasionally demagogues for public consumption, its leaders privately have come around to the view that neither King-style demonstrations, massive Federal spending, nor Molotov cocktails is the answer.

Specifically, CORE leaders and other rational black power advocates have felt that Abernathy's demand for one million jobs, even if granted, would only produce annual pilgrimages for more Federal handouts. But since Abernathy's demands more likely will not be met, they have privately felt the fruits of the march would be frustration and violence.

Accordingly, Nixon's nationwide radio speech of April 25, surprisingly overlooked by both press and politicians, struck a highly responsive chord among CORE leaders with its call for "black capitalism." That set in motion the (Continued On Page 5)

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS changes in our structure."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new lease on life has been granted a House freedom-of-information subcommittee that was threatened with being eliminated.

The House voted $225,000 Thursday to keep alive the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations and Government Information headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif.

The subcommittee is a unit of the Government Operations Committee. The chairman of the parent committee, Rep. William L. Dawson, D-Ill., announced last month when his committee's budget was cut from $875,000 to $555,000 that to economize he would do some reorganizing and the Moss subcommittee would have to go.

There were reports that Dawson was taking the step at the request of the Johnson administration, often stung by the subcommittee's attacks on secrecy in government.

With opposition to his proposal rising, Dawson took a new tack Monday and asked the House to restore $250,000 of what had been cut from his committee's budget. When $225,000 was voted Thursday, he termed it "the amount we need to continue without substantial

ACTRESS IS DEAD

NEW YORK (AP) — Marion Lorne, 82, star of the London stage for 35 years and who became famous on American TV as a flustered, stuttering comedienne, died Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the Army's two paratrooper divisions will be changed over to a helicopter-mounted air cavalry outfit.

Ticketed for the conversion is the 101st Airborne Division now fighting in South Vietnam, where combat jumps by paratroopers are rare but maneuvers relying on helicopters are a daily occurrence.

The changeover, actually approved more than two years ago but delayed because of a helicopter shortage, will begin later this year. The 101st will emerge as the Army's second air-mobile division. The original is the 1st Air Cavalry Division, also in Vietnam.

Only one division of paratroopers, the 82nd are in Vietnam, some in the United States.

When McCarthy proved that President Johnson was vulnerable on the mother question, Bobby Kennedy tried to take the issue away from him. The Kennedy forces have been pouring in millions of dollars trying to win mothers away from McCarthy. But the college kids who have been supporting Sen. McCarthy are hep and they know it takes more than money to become a mother."

At Nixon headquarters, a Nixon volunteer said, "Richard Nixon believe there should be a moratorium declared by all candidates on motherhood at this time. The subject is too delicate to discuss while negotiations are going on."

"Before solving the problems of mothers, we have to get our financial house in order," he continued.

"We cannot make promises to mothers that we cannot keep. At the same time, Nixon believes more must be done for mothers, mainly through private enterprise."

At Gov. Rockefeller's headquarters, the receptionist and that Gov. Rockefeller was a still working on a paper outlining his views on motherhood. She refused to say where the governor stood at this time, but indicated that Rockefeller would take a moderate approach somewhere between Nixon's hard line on mothers and Bobby Kennedy's radical approach to the issue.

first indirect contact between Nixon and CORE, a contact that helped shape the details of the CORE proposal.

"Handouts are demeaning," says the CORE proposal. "They do violence to a man, strip him of dignity, and breed in him a hatred of the total system." CORE's answer is a community development program to "draw funds from many sources and promote self-generating growth with the aim in time of ending reliance upon the taxpayer." Its base would be non-profit, community-owned "community development and service corporations" to develop new and existing industry inside the Negro ghetto.

This is nothing less than black economic nationalism with an implied separatism that makes white liberals, still yearning for immediate racial integration, heartsick. But it strikes a responsive chord for Negro militants and has the indispensable virtue of attainability.

Golden Frinks Is Ordered Serve 60-Day Sentence

WINDSOR, N. C. (AP)—Civil rights leader Golden Frinks has been ordered to serve a 60-day jail sentence he received for disturbing a school in September 1966.

Frinks' petition for a writ of habeas corpus was denied Thursday in Bertie Superior Court.

Frinks, field secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Court found no error in his conviction. The high court refused to hear the appeal.

Frinks led a group of demonstrators protesting segregation at all-Negro Southwestern High School five miles north of Windsor in September 1966. Twenty-eight demonstrators, mostly students, and Frinks were arrested and charged with disturbing the school.

Labor Routed

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's hold on Britain's ruling Labor party was threatened today by an unprecedented electoral rout of his party from town halls from one end of Britain to the other.

Conservatives swept Labor out of strongholds that had not known a Tory mayor for generations. In England and Wales, the Laborites were left in control of only 43 town halls out of 368, and only seven were in big cities.

London went almost solidly Tory as Labor lost 16 of the 20 boroughs it held in the capital. In the provinces, Labor lost 560 seats in the Conservatives gained 570.

The voting did not affect the Labor party's 74-member majority in the House of Commons.

Humphrey Adds More Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is reported garnering delegate strength in at least three of five big Northern states that could hold the key to his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The reports come from sources not committed to Humphrey as well as from his campaign organization.

Humphrey is making inroads in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan, the sources say. But his status with the hefty Illinois and New Jersey delegations is tied closely to the as yet obscure preferences of Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago and New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes. Both were backing President Johnson for re-election before he bowed out.

These five states will have 541 votes at the Democratic National Convention, where 1,312 votes will be needed for the nomination.

Humphrey backers are counting on most of the 762 Southern and Border State delegates. They claim he already has 1,100 delegates, many of them not yet chosen.

Many delegates in the five big Northern states may stay nominally uncommitted until after the June 4 California primary. Meanwhile, a string of primary victories by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy could win him some of these votes.

Twenty-Eight Nationalities Represented At Dinner Party

Greenville citizens joined with representatives of 28 countries on the faculty and staff of East Carolina University Wednesday evening in an International Fellowship dinner, sponsored by the ECU Cosmopolitan Club and the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

For more than an hour preceding the dinner, the "Town and Gown" affair brought Greenville area people and East Carolina University faculty and students together in a small-scale United Nations type happening.

In the reception room of the Moose Lodge were displayed articles typical of many nations represented at the affair, and hosts and guests mingled in a happy mood with no apparent language barriers halting the communications in the delightful "person-to-person" contacts.

Following the dinner, Chairman Charles E. Woodall of the Chamber of Commerce ECU Committee presided as toastmaster, introduced entertainment features, presented four speakers whose remarks fitted into the pattern and mood of the evening.

President Leo W. Jenkins emphasized the role of the University as a center for learning about the world community and getting students involved in useful pursuits to help the peoples of the world, taking more serious the role of world citizenship.

The suggestion of Dr. K. L. Sindwani, ECU faculty member and spokesman for the Cosmopolitan Club of the program, that a Greenville-sponsored scholarship be provided an overseas student, brought from Dr. Jenkins approval of the idea.

Two other presidents spoke during the brief program—President Billy B. Laughinghouse of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, welcoming the guests and introducing special personalities in the audience, and Miss Nancy Zambrano of Oruro, Bolivia, president of the Cosmopolitan Club on the ECU campus.

Dr. Sindwani noted the presence of 18 foreign students on and voiced the hope that the enrollment of international students will continue to grow.

Musical numbers were provided by Miss Ryu Toshiko of Japan, a music major, and a vocal ensemble of professors from the Department of German.

Among special guests were staff members of the Voice of America broadcasting installations in the Greenville area.

First of the International Fellowship drew an attendance of near 140 persons.

Manager Harold Creech of the Chamber of Commerce and his staff Thursday spoke their appreciation of the co-operation from the membership for the successful setting up and production of this unusual event.

The four-laning of North Greene Street is one of two projects in Pitt County scheduled to be let to bidders May 28, according to an announcement by the State Highway Commission.

In addition to the Greene Street project, bids will be taken on resurfacing and relocating a portion of the Nickle and Dime Road, between Langs Crossroads near Farmville and U. S. 258, between Marlboro and Lizzie in Greene County.

Fred Edwards, state highway commission engineer here said the Greene Street project is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $280,000 including acquisition of right-of-way.

That project will include four-laning of the street from the Tar River Bridge northward to the intersection of the Belvoir Road, at the State Highway Commission shops. It will also include improving Mumford Road, from Greene Street to Pitt Street by widening and installing curb and gutter. Greene Street itself will also have curb and gutter, Edwards said.

The Greene Street project includes 1.487 miles of work. The Nickle and Dime Road project, Edwards said, will include widening the road from its present 18 feet to 24 feet.

The eastern end of the road, he explained, will be relocated and will intersect with U. S. 13-264.

The road presently runs just south of Langs Crossroads and intersects with U. S. 13-258 between Marlboro and Lizzie. The project will include 1.7 miles of new surface in Pitt County and 2.1 miles of road work in Greene County.

Edwards said the road is used as a shortcut by persons traveling from Greenville to Snow Hill.

That project is expected to cost $400,000.

Things Go Badly If Water Buffalo Stuck

By GEORGE MCARTHUR Associated Press Writer

CU CHI, Vietnam (AP) — Things were going badly for the United States in Vinh Loc village.

There were differing opinions about how that water buffalo got trapped in the well. The villagers seemed to be blaming the American troops.

The sidewalk engineers had begun to gather—mostly critical kibitzers in the range of 5 to 7 years old. The kid who was supposed to guard the water buffalo was bawling. His grandmother was wailing.

An interpreter was attempting to give the American side of things: two buffalo had gotten into a snorting and butting match and the unfortunate loser had backed into the well. Nobody seemed to be buying that explanation.

That was the critical summation when 1st Lt. Robert Dehlinger, a 23-year-old mechanized platoon leader from Staten Island, N.Y., arrived on the scene.

Dehlinger sent for the buffalo's owner and called up a tank recovery vehicle, a behemoth equipped to haul damaged tanks from the battlefield.

The crew wrapped a steel cable around the buffalo's neck. "Old papa-san nearly had a heart attack," Dehlinger recalled. "He thought we were going to strangle the thing."

A water buffalo is valuable property. That 700-pound snorter in the hole was worth about $300 as a farm animal. Dead, he was worth about one-third that for meat. Old papa-san could see his financial losses mounting.

Dehlinger admits that the buffalo "almost died of asphyxiation" while the tank recovery vehicle tugged away.

A new approach was obviously needed and it was decided to put the cable around the buffalo's horns.

Finally the cable began to lift the buffalo out, his neck stretched alarmingly and his owner alternately wailing and cheering. Clambering to safety from the shallow well, the buffalo snorted and went off peacefully behind the little boy who was his keeper.

"He wasn't feeling too kindly about Americans or Vietnamese or anybody," Dehlinger reported. "But he was alright."

Nearly $250,000 To Give Away

WINSTON - SALEM (AP) — The Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. has almost $250,000 in stocks and bonds to give away, but doesn't know to whom. It has asked the courts for help.

The money is part of the estate of John Levin Belo, a Moravian patriarch who died in 1899.

It was left in trust for his wife, who died in 1902. Then the income of the trust went to Miss Mary Matilda Stockton, a piano teacher in Old Salem—as Belo had specified in his will. She died last August.

Under the will, if Miss Stockton died childless, the money was to go to eight persons, all now dead.

Wachovia gave the court a gigantic family tree listing 75 potential heirs — all that could be tracked down by a law firm. If the court can't decide, the University of North Carolina may get the money, under state law.

The eight persons who were to succeed Miss Stockton as beneficiaries were Charles E. Belo, Annie B. Holeman, Mary B. Early, Henry Siddall, Ella Siddall, Thomas Siddall, Louie Siddall, and Mattie Belo.

Ports Authority Agrees Sponsor Channel Project

WILMINGTON (AP) — The North Carolina Ports Authority has agreed to serve as sponsoring agency of a project for deepening the barge channel in the Cape Fear River to 12 feet.

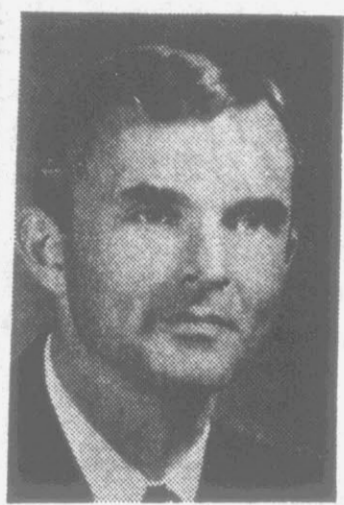

The action, requested by the North Carolina Board of Water and Air Resources, was taken at a meeting of the authority Thursday.

The authority rejected all bids and voted to readvertise in September a project for construction of covered boat slips at the Southport small boat harbor.

The low bid on the project amounted to $291,000—or $141,000 more than the $150,000 appropriated by the General Assembly.

The authority decided to explore the possibility of obtaining a grant for the project from the Federal Economic Development Administration.

The American Forestry Association was founded Sept. 10, 1875, in Chicago, largely due to the efforts of Dr. John A. Warder, an active conservationist.

Tobacco Firms Adding Millions

CHICAGO (AP)—Six tobacco companies say they will grant an additional $8 million to an inquiry into the relationship between smoking and health.

The same companies contributed a $10 million initial grant in 1964 to the American Medical Association Education and Research Foundation's study. The AMA said the new pledges will assure support of the research through 1973. It said reports on findings to date will be released at its annual convention in San Francisco June 19.

Pledges of new financial support came from Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co.; Liggett & Myers Inc.; P. Lorillard Corp.; Phillip Morris Inc.; R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and American Tobacco Co.

The initial grant was made after the surgeon general's report on smoking and health was issued, and Dr. Luther Terry, then surgeon general, urged further research into the problem.

The Worry Clinic Use The Medical Aids When It's Necessary

Milly would be shocked if you called her a drug addict but that's what she is. For she thinks she cannot go to sleep without a sleeping pill every night. Wipe up to the plain facts about tranquilizers and all such sedatives. Take a dose of God every night and you'll save money, while adding years to your lifespan!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-564: Milly C., aged 42, is a neurotic school teacher. "Dr. Crane," she began, "it seems to me as I ready your daily column that you oppose the widespread use of sleeping pills and tranquilizers."

"But when I spent a couple of weeks in the hospital recently, the interns and nurses routinely gave every patient something to make him sleep. "Why did they do that, if tranquilizers are not approved?"

Tranquilizers and sleeping pills are very valuable medical aids — when used discreetly.

And "discreetly," I mean when they are definitely indicated for medical reasons, rather than to keep elderly patients in Nursing Homes and hospitals from buzzing for nurses at all hours of the night.

Nowadays, millions of sleeping pills are administered to patients, not because they are medically indicated, but because they keep the patients quiet and thus don't disturb the routine of the night nurses.

Same goes for you neurotics who feel that you simply MUST have your sleeping pill or tranquilizer before you can go to sleep.

Get hep!

You don't die from insomnia, so why make such a fuss?

Instead, turn on the bed lamp and read an educational magazine like READER'S DIGEST or Dr. Peale's inspiring GUIDE-POSTS.

Better yet, open your Bible and find the answers to the 140 dramatic Bible episodes mentioned in the booklet below.

For you get almost all the medical effects of sleep, even if your eyes are wide open, if you meanwhile lie on your mattress.

For that horizontal posture reduces your height from maybe 6 feet to less than 12 inches!

Thus, your heart gets a double break.

For your blood pressure drops maybe 10 to 30 points.

Meanwhile, your heart slows down several beats per minute, and these extra pauses are a great vacation for that faithful human motor!

This modern hysteria about sleeping pills and sedatives is a disgrace to our stage of civilization.

And it is worldwide, for the doctors in England bemoan the barbiturate "binge" on which Britons are launching.

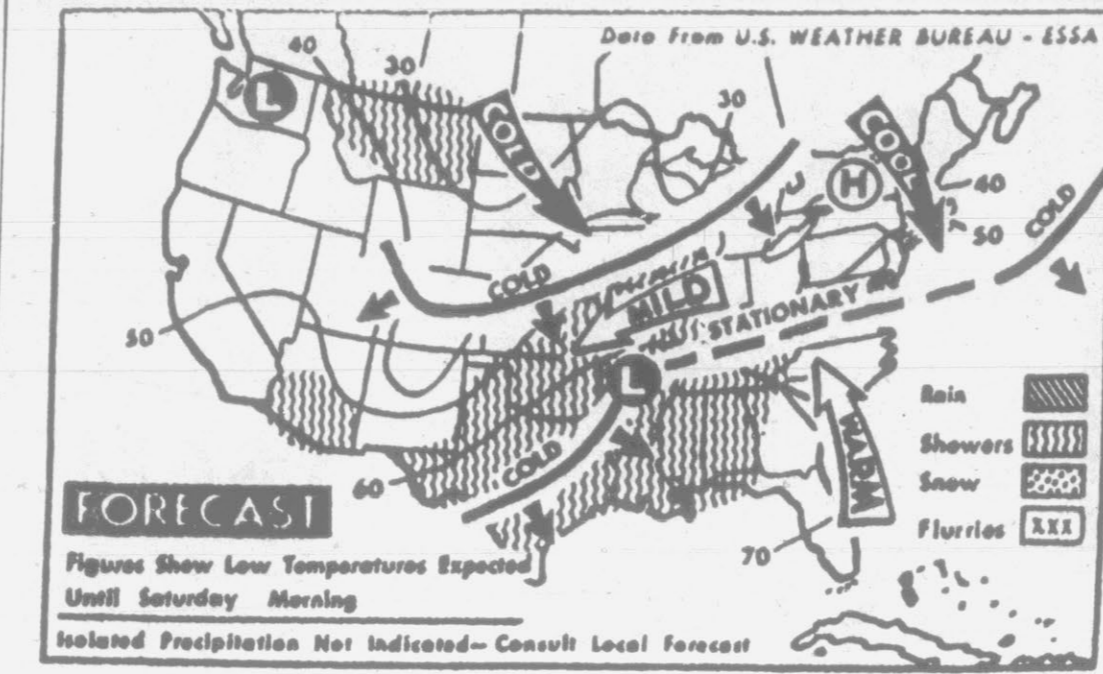

In fact, they report 7,000 cases per year of barbiturate poisoning!

If you are due to be operated upon tomorrow morning, then your doctor wisely prescribes a sedative the night before.

And for a couple of days thereafter, you may benefit from pain-killing drugs.

But don't develop the habit of demanding such drugs the rest of your life!

God is still our best medicine. So take a doze of God every

Two Collisions Here Yesterday

An estimated $525 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police yesterday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from an 8:52 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Evans Streets involving cars driven by Ely Wayne Loftin, 35, of Route 2, Ayden and S. Eugene West, 54, of 1101 East 10th St.

Await Vote On Sanctions Policy

RALEIGH (AP)— Amid indications of strong opposition, officers of the North Carolina Education Association are awaiting the counting of ballots on a proposed sanctions policy.

Ballots in the vote which was held Wednesday will not be counted until next Friday. A two-thirds majority is required to approve the policy.

The sanctions policy was referred to the entire membership by the NCEA convention in Charlotte last month. It includes guidelines for sanctions ranging from mild protests to mass resignations, applied either locally or statewide.

Lloyd Isaacs, NCEA assistant administrator, said Thursday, "I'm afraid too many members of the public—and teachers—have still got the idea that sanctions are the same thing as a strike, and many of them are unalterably opposed to strikes."

Mrs. Vera McKay, NCEA president, and others have proposed the adoption of the sanctions guidelines as a means of lessening the danger of actual strikes.

Ward's Homers Power Chicago To Victory Over Oakland; Nats Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox are back on the road to the pennant race, using a new way—for them—to travel. The Sox are winning with home runs.

Pete Ward, their newly discovered slugger, smacked two solo shots, his seventh and eighth of the season, and powered the Sox to a 4-2 victory over the Oakland A's Thursday night.

But Ward is not alone. Joining him have been Tommy Davis, Luis Aparicio, Tom McCraw and pitcher Gary Peters as Chicago has turned around from its 0-10 start to win eight of its last 13 games.

Peters went 8 2-3 innings, giving up only five hits, for the latest triumph which moved the still last-place Sox only 7½ games behind American League leading Baltimore.

Minnesota broke a third place tie with Oakland by coming from behind for a 4-3 10-inning triumph over California on Rod Carew's double and Cesar Tovar's single.

The Washington Senators

snapped a six-game losing streak in the only other AL game, beating Boston 3-1 behind the pitching of Phil Ortega and Dave Baldwin.

In the National League, Los Angeles blanked the Chicago Cubs 6-0 in the afternoon, and at night Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 7-3, Houston whipped San Francisco 5-3 and Atlanta downed Pittsburgh 4-2 in the only games scheduled.

Ward's first belt in the fifth inning tied the game at 2-2 and his second in the seventh off starter Lew Krausse put the White Sox ahead to stay.

Peters left after Rick Monday tripled with two out in the ninth, and Bob Locker got the last out as Chicago's always stingy pitchers continued to take advantage of the hitting windfall.

The victory was only the second against three losses for Peters, who won his last game by hitting a grand slam homer. Three days later, McCraw hit a slam for the normally light-hitting Sox and gave Joe Horlen his first victory.

Before that, it was homers by Ward, Davis and Aparicio that broke the Sox out of their horrible start and put some steam in their pennant hopes.

Carew, last year's Rookie-of-the-Year in the AL, took another step on the sophomore jinx by raising his average to .337 with three hits, scoring after each one.

He singled in the first inning, stole second and scored on Harmon Killebrew's single for a 1-0 Minnesota lead, but the Angels' Tom Satriano wiped that out with a three-run homer off Jim Merritt in the third.

After Ted Uhlaender's bunt single scored Tony Oliva, who had doubled, from second base in the seventh, Carew and Tovar singled in the eighth and Carew scored on Frank Kostro's pinch sacrifice fly for a 3-3 score.

With Ron Perranoski holding off the Angels for two innings for his first AL victory, Carew and Tovar teamed again in the 10th against Jim Weaver.

Ortega helped himself with his bat to his fourth victory, doubling in Washington's third run in the sixth. He scattered seven hits in seven innings before Baldwin came on.

Ed Stroud had singled and stole second before Ortega's hit and the outfielder scored the first Senators' run in the second when he beat out a bunt, stole second, took third on a balk and scored on a wild pitch.

The decisive run came in the fifth when Fred Valentine singled and moved around on Bill Bryan's hit and a ground out.

King Memorial Fund Swells; Undecided On Its Use

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Since the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., contributions have poured into Atlanta for the erection of a suitable memorial to the civil rights leader. But his widow suggests that perhaps the best memorial would not be of brick and stone and mortar.

"He'd rather have slums cleared in his memory," Mrs. King says.

"We are still considering what should be done," said Mrs. King. "Nothing has been decided yet."

The money for a memorial to King has come in many different ways.

Foundations have pledged large amounts. Churches have sent their Sunday collections. Pledges have come from individuals as well as businesses.

One woman wearing a scarf against the rain walked into the Southern Christian Leadership Conference offices recently. She carried a small envelope. Printed on it was: Lizzie Chapel Baptist church. And written in script, "$21.60. Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial."

A secretary gave her a receipt.

About $10,000 in small amounts has come in the thousands of letters delivered to the King home since his assassination in Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

"There's no way to figure all the amounts pledged for memorials thus far," an SCLC official said. "All the memorial funds we get, or Mrs. King receives, are being deposited in a separate account. I'm unable to comment on the total amount received to date."

The Rev. Andrew Young, executive vice president of SCLC and a close family friend of the Kings, said he has been thinking about some type of center for studies—rather like a center for continuing education, dealing with the issues of peace, race and poverty.

"The science of racial integration has to emerge," he said in an interview with The Associated Press. "Everything has been pretty much hit or miss, scattergun tactics, as opposed to studied, rational scientific methods of accomplishing objectives."

"We haven't really begun to get into race as a scientific study. I think I can see a whole area for people being trained.

Every city is looking for somebody trained in race relations. They usually end up getting somebody because he's a Negro. The truth is that most of them become damned ineffective, an establishment mascot."

Young spoke of religion being at the heart of King's philosophy. "I would like to see a chapel in the center of a 'world action center,' where we can deal with a revolution in values, non-violent."

"Our problem is we still have to be in the freedom business and can't give our time to the memorial business. The first memorial is to fulfill his Poor People's Campaign."

Morehouse College in Atlanta, King's alma mater, plans a $2-million Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Chapel. It will serve as a religious center for students as well as a memorial.

Dr. Hugh M. Gloster, Morehouse president, said a special memorial scholarship fund has been set up to provide financial assistance for talented students handicapped by poverty.

In addition, he said grants of $100,000 from the Field Foundation and $50,000 from philanthropist Charles Merrill have been received for antipoverty programs to be conducted by Morehouse teachers and students.

Mrs. King enthusiastically approved a fellowship fund for returning Negro veterans given by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. The Rockefeller Foundation has granted $200,000 to the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation as seed money to finance fellowships for Negro veterans of outstanding promise to enter graduate or professional schools.

Peter Fuller, a Boston businessman and sportsman, flew to Atlanta in April to turn over $62,000 won by his horse, Dancer's Image, in the Bowie Governor's Gold Cup Race in Baltimore. The horse later won the Kentucky Derby but was disqualified when a pain-killing drug was detected in his system.

The $62,000 was turned over to the American Foundation on Nonviolence, organized in New York largely to aid nonviolence, Young said.

In New York State, 50 Negro churches pledged $500 each and Central Presbyterian, in Rochester, which is predominantly white, contributed its Easter offering of more than $1,000. In Rochester, too, Eastman Kodak Co. pledged $150,000 to the Community Chest's Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Fund to build innercity housing, raising the total pledge to $515,825. A Colgate Rochester Divinity School, 14 Negro students began a campaign to raise $800,000 to establish a Martin Luther King Chair for Negro Church Studies.

TRULY BRIEF
DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — The announcement said the City Council would consider only a "brief agenda." Among ordinances approved was one banning topless women entertainers in night clubs.

Greenville People Think Broughton Acted Wisely

By LESTER E. NORRIS
A poll of a dozen Greenville citizens shows they overwhelmingly feel that Mel Broughton made the right decision in declining to call a run-off election.

In the poll ten of those who were asked the question thought the decision correct. Two thought Broughton should have called for a second primary. The poll was conducted at Fifth and Evans Thursday and the citizens were asked: "Do you feel Mel Broughton made the right decision in not calling a second primary?"

Here are the answers:
Norman Hopkins, 102 N. Warren Street, salesman: "100 per cent so, because Democrats will have a tough time beating Republicans and Broughton did not have a chance against Republicans."

Mrs. Eddie Chapman, 701 Johnston Street, School Administrator: "Yes, because he could not have won. The people that voted for Hawkins would have voted for Scott in a second primary."

Hubert Burden, 103B Meade Street, ECU teacher: "As far as the unity of the Democratic party, yes, but I was personally for Broughton."

Douglas Wilson, 603 Oak Street, banker: "Yes, for he would have been beaten and it would have just hurt Scott. But I am a Gardner man and I think we have a lot of Democrats that are going to vote Republican."

Frank Steinbeck Jr., Shady Knoll Trailer Park, businessman: "Yes, I most definitely feel that he made a wise choice because most of the Hawkins votes would go to Scott. It would also split the party because Broughton's views are similar to Gardner's."

Mrs. James A. Harris, 2507 E. Fourth Street, secretary: "No, for Scott did not win by a majority, so I feel Broughton should have another chance."

Ross Ramsey, Lawson's Trailer Park, ECU student: "Yes, because I do not believe he could have polled enough votes to beat Scott if five primaries were held."

Mrs. Lillian Garris, 101 N. Mead Street, saleslady: "No, I do not. I think Broughton was the best man for the Democratic party. If I had not thought so I would not have voted for him."

Bill Crane, 113 N. Summit Street, WPXY salesman: "I think Broughton would have been the better man but as the unity of the Democratic party goes he made a good choice."

Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, 125 A Street, Prep Shirt employee: "As far as I am concerned he did. I am a Scott man."

Mrs. Mary Ann Langley, Route 2, bookkeeper: "Yes, but mainly because I voted for Scott."

Malcolm Green, 108 Kimberley Drive, utilities management: "Yes, I think he did for the good of the Democratic party. It will serve to unify the party."

WET DOWN THEMSELVES

Downtown Area Crises Common

William Howell, a graduate of East Carolina University and at present with the Community Planning Division of North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development discussed "Advantages of Community Planning in North Carolina" before an East Carolina University municipal government class Wednesday.

Dr. Kaye Stokes introduced Howell.

"Every large city in the United States and many small ones are faced today with a serious crisis in their downtown areas," Howell declared.

"These problems can be solved through effective city planning," he said. He proposed several methods to bring this about: Adopting new zoning ordinances; land-use controls; and co-ordinating the plans of city officials, and private and commercial interests.

During a question and answer period Howell stressed the need for trained personnel in the field of community planning to make these programs successful.

Alaskan Natives Offer To Buy Back The Land

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The Alaska federation of natives has telegraphed President Johnson an offer to buy back Alaska for $180 million.

In proposing a new land claim settlement package to Congress last week, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall was quoted as saying some Indians in southeast Alaska had established through the Court of Claims Indian title valued at 43 cents an acre.

"It is possible," Udall reportedly said, "that the various groups could establish aboriginal title to practically all of the remaining area of Alaska, roughly 350 million acres."

Emil Notti, federation president, said it wouldn't ask compensation for the land but would pay the price Udall quoted.

"We feel the secretary has made a firm proposition and we hereby tender our firm offer of $180 million for the remaining lands," Notti said in his tongue-in-cheek wire to the President.

Financial reports were reviewed at a preliminary budget discussion for the coming fiscal year was held.

House Okays Moving Three U.S. Holidays

By JOHN W. BECKLER
Associated press writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a bill that would give the nation four long weekends a year by moving three national holidays to Monday and creating a new one—Columbus Day—also to be observed on Monday.

Rejecting the charge that it was uprooting the nation's historic past, the House voted 218 to 83 to scrap the existing dates for Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day.

Under the bill, which faces a questionable future in the Senate, Washington's Birthday would fall on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

The changes would take effect Jan. 1, 1971, in order to give the states time to enact conforming legislation and calendar-makers time to adjust.

Only the District of Columbia and federal employees would be affected by the bill, but the states are expected to go along if the new lineup becomes law.

Greater business efficiency and a lessening of absenteeism were the major reasons given by supporters for passage of the bill, which is strongly supported by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Opponents countered by declaring it violated history, tradition and patriotism and was an exercise in frivolity at a time of national crisis.

The strongest fight by opponents was directed at keeping George Washington's Birthday on Feb. 22. Only Christmas Day is more sacred to the nation, said Rep. Dan Kuykendall, R-Tenn.

A motion to keep the Washington's Birthday observance from being shifted permanently to Monday was defeated by a roll call vote of 153 to 141. Similar attempts to keep the other holidays on their present dates were defeated on nonrecord votes.

Young Churchmen To Hold Youth Sunday Observation

The Episcopal Young Churchmen of St. Paul's will present their annual Youth Sunday observance on May 12 at 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. This event concurs with Mother's Day.

Iverson Mackenzie is the president of the Young Churchmen at St. Paul's and will be the preacher for the two services for this Sunday. His fellow officers will take prominent portions of the service of Holy Communion. Miss Malinda Scott, UCYM representative, will read the Old Testament Lesson. Penny Harrison, secretary of the group, will read the Epistle. The Gospel will be read in the procession to the nave by Rick Chance, treasurer. Rebecca Ashby, vice president of St. Paul's Youth Churchmen will lead the prayer of Intercession.

The other members of the youth Sunday worshippers will be in the choir, for the musical setting for the Eucharists is the American Folk Mass as composed by the Rev. Ian Mitchell in 1960. The sursum corda, Gloria in excelsis, Lord's Prayer, Sanctus, and Nicene Creed will be sung to the folk tune accompanied by guitars. Rick Chance, Bill Drake, and Beth Horton are the guitarists for the service.

The Rector, Rev. John W. Drake, Jr., will be the celebrant for the Holy Communion and will intone introduction to sursum corda, and gloria in excelsis. He will be assisted in the Eucharist by the Episcopal College Chaplain, the Rev. Lawrence P. Houston, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howell are the counsellors for the St. Paul's Young Churchmen.

Dr. Robert Irwin, organist and choirmaster, will be at the console for this service. Later in the day, Dr. Irwin will travel to Christ Church, New Bern, at 3:00 for the dedication ritual of the new organ in that historical parish church.

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass Pass 4♠ Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
After two passes, South elected to open the bidding with four spades which was passed all around. The queen of hearts was opened and overtaken by East with the king, so that he might shift to the seven of diamonds. Declarer played low and West won with the queen, cashed the ace on which East dropped the six, and West continued with a third round.

Since East was unable to ruff, South won the trick, ruffed out his losing hearts and discarded his losing club on dummy's ten of diamonds. You can see that this performance would give rise to some discussion—particularly when it can be seen that East and West could easily have made five hearts on the deal.

West claims that East should have opened the bidding. East contends that West should have doubled four spades, whereupon East would have overridden the double with a call of five hearts. He charged further that West should have cashed the setting trick with the ace of clubs. West argues that East should not have led high-low in diamonds as if he wanted to ruff the third round. It's all very involved. What is your decision?

Despite the fact that the hand lacks the textbook requirements for an opening bid, I have no objection to an occasional opening bid with the East hand. It has great playing power if partner happens to have a preference and in order to find out if one exists, an early start must be made—otherwise the bidding might readily get out of hand before both suits can be shown. If East does elect to open, a heart bid should be preferred. A subsequent bid of five clubs, if found desirable, will not be surrounded with nearly as much danger in that sequence.

West might hazard a double of four spades, but I don't believe his pass is subject to the slightest criticism. And if he did double, it is by no means certain that East would have selected hearts. He might have chosen his six card suit which, in this case, would not have worked.

I agree that East's better return would be the six of diamonds instead of the seven, but West should still have saved the day by cashing the ace of clubs. The four spade bid surely was based on a six card suit and East would, therefore, have no trumps. That is a moral certainty, whereas the fact that South had no clubs was rather farfetched.

Airborne Unit Is Coming Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says the 4,000-man 82nd Airborne Division Brigade will gradually be returned to Ft. Bragg, N. C., from Vietnam by mid-August. It was flown to Vietnam on temporary emergency duty in February after the Communist winter offensive and serious threats to the Khe Sanh Marine position.

The brigade itself, as a unit, will remain as a permanent part of the U.S. Force in Vietnam. The men brought home will be replaced by other paratroopers who will serve the normal one year duty in Vietnam.

More than 700 men already have returned. They are soldiers who already had completed one full duty tour in Vietnam and had been in the United States less than a year at the time the brigade was rushed to Southeast Asia.

The Pentagon also said Thursday that members of the brigade returning from temporary duty will be eligible for rotation back to Vietnam or elsewhere if they have not previously finished a full one-year tour in the war zone.

The 82nd Airborne Brigade, the 3rd Brigade, and the Marine 27th Regiment were flown to Vietnam in mid-February. The Marine regiment of about 5,500 men will be coming back to the United States this summer. It will be replaced by a brigade of the Army 56th Mechanized Infantry Division from Ft. Carson, Colo.

A MOTHER'S SECRETS

Mothers have secrets that they keep for their children... like the present Rick plans to give Dad on his birthday.

But mothers also have secrets of their own... dreams of what they hope their children will become.

And woven into the fabric of every mother's dream are threads of character, morality, courage, faith. The threads are there, but unseen—simply part of the finished design; a son or daughter to be proud of.

But in such dreams we should study the threads and realize the loom on which they must be woven. The qualities that give strength and beauty to a life come from thorough religious training!

So a mother's dream should not remain a secret. It must be her husband's dream, too. For together, with the guidance and help of the Church, they can provide the Christian home so necessary to the fulfillment of their hopes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Campus Unrest Goes On At Several Institutions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Chicago police arrested 13 students Thursday night after they barricaded themselves in a Roosevelt University office in a continuing demonstration. The school suspended 24 others arrested earlier.

Elsewhere there were these developments in the disturbances which have hit the nation's campuses. About 800 Marquette University students marched through the campus to back demands for more school involvement in Milwaukee's racial problems. No incidents or arrests were reported.

The administration of Stanford University in California agreed to the two main demands of students who staged a three-day sit-in at the Old Student Union. President Wallace Sterling and provost Richard Lyman agreed to amnesty for the sit-in participants and to set aside proposed suspensions of seven students who demonstrated last fall against CIA recruiting.

Columbia University President Grayson Kirk said the school could not drop criminal trespass charges against students who occupied five campus buildings during a week-long sit-in.

A Columbia disciplinary committee had recommended that the militants be placed on probation for a year, that those guilty of vandalism or theft be expelled but that the criminal trespass charges be dropped.

The 17-day campus revolt continued to subside. "Every day shows an increasing return of classes being held in the usual way," said Dr. George W. Fraenkel, dean of graduate faculties at the 25,000-student university.

A show of force by 500 Philadelphia police Thursday night ended a rally by 150 student demonstrators at Temple University who had assembled to test a court order banning campus protest gatherings.

The injunction was granted earlier to end a sleep-in by 51 students at the campus social activities center. The protesters at the 35,000-student university were demanding a greater voice in policy making.

At Southern Illinois University in Carbondale student protesters called for co-eds to "sleep-out" from their dorms in support of anti-administration demonstrations.

Five students were charged with mob action and a warrant issued for the arrest of a sixth in connection with the abortive takeover of the president's office Wednesday night. Anti-Vietnam demonstrator at the State University of Buffalo in New York invaded the president's office briefly and used his stationery to send letters condemning the war to President Johnson and other officials.

In the Roosevelt University protest in Chicago the students are demanding that the president approve a full-time teaching appointment for Staughton Lynd controversial history instructor and Vietnam war critic.

About 100 of the university's 4,700 full-time students have been waging an increasing protest. There were 24 arrested Wednesday during a sit-in outside the president's office. They were suspended as of June 8.

The Marquette march took place after the Rev. John P. Raynor, president of the 12,000 student Roman Catholic institution, agreed to meet with student leaders to discuss demands.

These include demands for black history and culture courses, 100 additional scholarships for Negro students and the firing of the campus security director.

Raleigh Awaits Marching Group

RALEIGH (AP)—About 500 persons in a segment of the Poor People's campaign enroute to Washington are expected to arrive in Raleigh tonight from Knoxville, Tenn.

Heslip Lee, vice president for development at Shaw University in Raleigh, is coordinating the group's overnight stay and said the people will spend the night in churches and private homes.

The contingent was scheduled to leave Knoxville at 9 a. m. and proceed to Raleigh via Lake Junaluska, Spartanburg, S.C., and Charlotte arriving in the state capital about 7 p. m.

The group traveling by bus caravan, will leave Raleigh for Danville, Va., Saturday and is scheduled to arrive in Washington Sunday.

Lee said an additional 1,500 people joining the campaign next week are expected to stay overnight Wednesday in Durham.

First Lady Will Be In Charlotte

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will participate in Charlotte's celebration May 20 of the 193rd anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

The White House also announced Thursday that she will take part the same day in the dedication of the home of President James Polk in Pineville, 12 miles south of Charlotte, near the South Carolina line.

The First Lady will fly from Washington for the ceremonies.
