Serious Paris Disagreement Is Shaping Up

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — A serious disagreement appears to be developing in the Paris peace talks over re-establishing an effective buffer zone between North and South Vietnam as an important step toward scaling down the war.

U.S. authorities analyzing the problem are reported to believe that the discussions so far show it to be a real issue.

North Vietnamese representative Xuan Thuy, demanded Wednesday that the United States halt all military actions against North Vietnam, including "the bombardment of artillery based in the southern part of the DMZ" as well as air strikes there and elsewhere.

He also demanded that the United States withdraw from the zone, but U.S. officials said neither the United States nor its allies had established bases or sent troops into the zone for other than brief sweep operations.

The North Vietnamese have been reported to have entire divisions in that area, operating freely between their own and South Vietnamese territory.

In another area, the United States is working on proposals to support any Vietnam settlement with a peacekeeping system run by neutral Asian nations.

Asian nations.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this today, said the idea is to provide more effective supervision than has been provided by the powerless Indochina Control Commission made up of India, Poland and Canada.

If the exchanges between Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Minister of State Xuan Thuy bear fruit, the Americans would like to see the machinery to police any peace arrangements in the hands of such neutral Asian states as Burma, India and Indonesia.

Harriman signaled American thinking on the subject in presenting his government's first policy statement in the peace talks. He said any new agreement would need international supervision but on a stronger, wider basis that the Communist-Western-neutral commission set up by the 1954 Geneva accords that ended France's war in Indochina.

"Experience has demonstrated the shortcomings of the existing procedures," said Harriman. "We believe one of our major tasks will be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and insuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints."

He added that "the nations of Asia, with their crucial interests in the stability of the area," should be "associated with the monitoring" of any agreements reached.

Funds Shrinking For 'Poor People'

By AUSTIN SCOTT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some organizers of the Poor People's Campaign say it is as penniless as the thousands of destitute people it is bringing to Washington.

"If we don't get more money, we'll have to stop construction," said The Rev. Bernard Lafayette, campaign coordinator. But he didn't say when.

Lafayette placed the cost of building "Resurrection City U. S. A.," now about one-third completed on the Mall near the Lincoln Memorial, at about $3 million. He wouldn't say how much had been spent, but claimed a $100,000 reserve fund is "just about exhausted."

But construction of the shanties seemed to continue at a rapid pace with no evident shortage of building materials. Some staff members said privately they were not aware money was a serious problem.

"The Southern Christian Leadership Conference has been on the verge of going broke since it was founded," one said. Lafayette himself predicted that despite financial problems, the city would be finished.

"We have faith in the American people to help us fulfill this dream," he said.

About 70 senators and House members held a 90-minute meeting Wednesday with the SCLC leader, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, and his top aides. Participants who commented called it very helpful.

Afterward Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., drew up the framework for a 15 to 17-man House-Senate committee to meet with the protest leaders and mold specific programs.

Abernathy set no price on his broad goals of more jobs, better housing and an end to poverty. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said private speculation ranged as high as $30 billion.

Abernathy said he was encouraged and added Congress should not delay action.

"We hope that Congress would see fit to move even before all of our poor people are here in Washington," he said.

The Rev. James Bevel told a news conference demonstrations would begin "probably within five to seven days," but gave no details.

Busloads of more protestors continued rolling toward the capital from Cleveland, Charlotte, N.C., and Wilmington, Del.

Japan Jolted By Massive Earthquakes

TOKYO (AP) — Two massive earthquakes, striking 10 hours apart, roiled the western Pacific and jolted 600 miles of Japan's eastern seaboard today.

The first quake, in midmorning, killed at least 25 persons and caused tidal waves and widespread damage.

The second, of similar size and from the same direction at sea, was recorded in Tokyo at 7:42 p.m.

There was no immediate report of casualties from the second shock, but the Central Meteorological Agency warned in radio and television broadcasts that tides from the Pacific would rise about six feet.

The affected areas were the eastern seaboards of the northern islands of Honshu and Hokkaido.

Police said in addition to the 25 known dead, eight persons were missing and at least 50 injured. Seven Americans at Misawa Air Force Base, in northern Honshu, suffered minor injuries, but no planes were damaged.

Outbreak Of Tornadoes Slams Nine-State Area; Seventy Die

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive outbreak of tornadoes slammed at the nation's midsection late Wednesday, killing more than 70 persons, injuring several hundred and leaving a trail of damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

The toll of deaths in the twisters and severe thunderstorms climbed to 72 today, with 48 dead in Arkansas alone. Iowa counted 14 dead, Illinois 8, Missouri and Indiana 1 each.

As expected, the reported toll climbed sharply as daylight broke over the stricken region. Darkness and flash flooding had hampered search operations.

Hardest hit was the northeastern Arkansas university city of Jonesboro which counted 33 dead and more than 350 injured. A twister slammed into the southeastern section of the city at dusk scattering homes like dominoes.

Arkansas State Police reported 10 dead at the little town of Oil Trough, a community of 235 residents which eyewitnesses said was virtually destroyed. Three died at Mountain Home and two were killed at Tuckerman, all within 100 miles of Jonesboro.

The rash of tornadoes — the Weather Bureau reported more than 30 in a nine-state area from Kansas to Ohio —erupted as a strong cold front clashed with warm, humid temperatures in the mid 80s.

Shortly before striking in Arkansas, the wave of twisters raked northeastern Iowa. A funnel cloud roared through downtown Charles City around 4 p.m. Eleven were dead when the storm was over and, police reported, most buildings in an eight-block area were demolished.

Only an hour later a twister whipped into Oelwein, 50 miles from Charles City, striking first at the south edge of the community and then blasting a path through the business district. The highway patrol said two persons were killed in the city, two were missing and a child was killed just north of Oelwein.

National Guard troops were called out both in Arkansas and Iowa. Additional doctors, nurses and blood were flown to stricken parts of Iowa from as far away as Minneapolis.

The storms in Arkansas poured more heavy rain on sections of that state still flooded from heavy downpours earlier in the week.

Tornadoes or severe thunderstorms swept almost the entire length of Illinois, starting before noon Wednesday and continuing into the night.

Hardest hit in Illinois was Freeburg, near East St. Louis, where four died and scores were reported injured.

Two died at Wapella, in central Illinois. Communication was lacking with Wapella, and authorities feared the toll there would go higher. An elderly woman died of a heart attack after a tornado swooped across Natrona, also in central Illinois. A University of Illinoisis student was electrocuted by a shorted traffic signal in a flooded Champaign street intersection.

Severe thunderstorms sweeping western Kansas and Missouri unleashed several tornadoes in that region as well. One man was killed near Joplin, Mo., when a bolt of lightning struck a tree and jumped to a tractor he was driving.

Arrest Two At Scene Of Theft

Two East Carolina University students were taken into custody by Greenville police this morning on charges stemming from the theft of an estimated $452 worth of merchandise from Hollowells Drugs Store at Memorial Drive and West Sixth Street.

The two, according to Chief H. F. Lawson were taken into custody as a quantity of merchandise was taken from the front of the store, about 6:45 a.m.

Arrested were Robert Barry Malpass, 24, of Clinton, who was charged with larceny, and Stephen M. Mooker, 23, of Reidsville, charged with aiding and abetting in larceny.

Chief Lawson said the arrests were made after Malpass allegedly loaded several boxes of merchandise onto a car parked in the Hollowell parking lot.

The packages had been delivered to the store a short time before and had been left outside the building.

The boxes contained drugs as well as other merchandise.

Fresh Flowers For Year Ahead

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Fresh flowers will be placed on the grave of the late Gov. Lurleen Wallace twice a week for the next year.

A Montgomery florist said the flood of orders for floral arrangements became so heavy that, at the request of the family, he stopped filling them last Thursday morning—the day of Mrs. Wallace's funeral.

Two of the unfilled orders will be delivered to the grave each week, the florist said, and there are enough of them to last a year.

Bloodmobile Fell Far Short Of 2-Day Goal

The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected only 39 pints of blood here Wednesday in the second of a two-day visit at the Greenville Moose Lodge, falling far short of the day's 113 pint quota.

According to Joe Clark, chairman of the Pitt County Blood Program, a total of 120 pints of blood was collected for the two-day visit, with a total of 106 pints short of the two-day goal of 226 pints.

Clark said seven people were rejected Wednesday for medical reasons, while nine people were turned down Tuesday.

Clark said, "This visit was one of the poorest and most disappointing visits of the bloodmobile this year." Even though this was a poor turnout, Clark explained, it was not the worst showing we have had this year. During a visit in November and one in December, less blood was collected than the 120 pints collected Tuesday and Wednesday.

"I am very disappointed that we ended the fiscal year with such poor results, but the overall results for the year, presents a much brighter picture for Pitt County," Clark said.

According to Clark, Pitt County had the most successful year in its history when the total collected is compared to the annual quota of 1765 pints for the year.

The final amount collected for the fiscal year will be determined next week after comparing figures with the Norfolk Blood Center.

"Even though Pitt County, for the last several years, has had one of the best records of collections in the Tidewater Region of the American Red Cross," Clark noted, "several steps are being taken to improve the overall blood program for Pitt next year."

Clark added, "We are trying to come up with ways of greatly enhancing chances for a more even and steady flow of blood out of Pitt, which is the most important and ideal type of program."

Zimmerman, Stone Reveal Plans Friday

RALEIGH (AP)—Durham attorney Larry Zimmerman says he will announce Friday whether he will request a runoff primary in his bid for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Zimmerman was runner-up to Robert V. Somers of Salisbury in the three-man race in the May 4 primary. Somers received 48,351 votes, Zimmerman 43,644 and Ed Tenney Jr., 40,023.

Zimmerman is eligible to request a second primary since Somers did not receive more than 50 per cent of the total vote. He must notify the state Board of Elections by noon Saturday whether he wants a second primary.

Meanwhile, Dr. Raymond Stone of Southern Pines said he will announce Friday or Saturday whether he will call for a runoff against Craig Phillips of Greensboro for the Democratic nomination for state superintendent of public instruction.

Stone acknowledged that Zimmerman's announcement "would "have some bearing" on his decision.

Phillips led the five-man race in the May 4 Democratic primary, receiving 37.9 per cent of the total vote. Stone received 32.1 per cent.

Alex Brock, secretary of the state Board of Elections, estimates a statewide runoff would cost about $415,000.

Six Entombed Miners, Thought Dead, Rescued

HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) —Six coal miners, isolated deeply in a flooded mine shaft and presumed dead for nearly 10 days, were rescued today. All were termed in "good shape."

"Thank you, God," said Larry Lynch, the first to reach the mine entrance in pre-dawn darkness this morning. "You have delivered us from this living death...I made a vow all six of us would be out here together to thank the Lord."

Four other men trapped in the same area were found dead and their bodies were brought to the mine opening about 8 a.m. (EDT), about four hours after the six reached safety.

One report yet to be confirmed was that two of the dead men drowned while trying to run from the wall of water as it broke into the mine. There was no report on how the other two died but officials said they presumed they drowned. Autopsies will be performed later today.

Another 15, who were trapped just before noon on May 6 when water poured in from an adjoining and abandoned mine, were rescued last Saturday.

The six paused for prayer at the mine entrance, received quick medical checkups and were sped by ambulances to Sacred Heart hospital in Richwood, 15 miles away.

"Who said miracles don't happen?" shouted one miner as he alighted from an ambulance at the hospital's entrance. "People say God is dead but he's alive and here with us."

The men sipped hot chocolate in their hospital beds. All appeared cheerful and unharmed but hospital authorities barred newsmen from talking to the men while they chatted with their families.

There had been no contact with the men since the water rushed in from the abandoned mine just before noon on May 6. A hole was drilled through the mountain to a point where the men were thought to be and touched water. Officials presumed they had drowned.

One of the rescued men told officers of the Gauley Coal and Coke Co., operator of the mine, they had rationed the sandwiches with them.

They said they also drank the murky water which flooded the passageway. A doctor at the hospital said the water had to be considered contaminated. He said the danger of typhoid and dysentery exists.

A search team spotted tracks this morning on the other side of receding water in the passageway and followed them to the men. The trapped men had left their underground prison and walked to the edge of the water as it receded.

The six then followed the search team on their hands and knees for 800 yards to a mine cart. The cart took them to a conveyor belt which they rode to the mine entrance. The cart skipped the track but one official said the three men in it "were in good enough shape to put it back on the track."

Bloody Week

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in action last week in the Vietnam war jumped to a record high of 562, the U. S. Command reported today.

The previous record for a seven-day period was 543, Americans killed during the week of Feb. 11-17, at the height of the Communists' lunar new year offensive against cities and towns throughout the country.

Last week the enemy waged a second offensive, with only Saigon as the major target. While the U. S. Command said it was of much less intensity than the assault on the capital in February, it reported that much of the enemy force assigned to attack Saigon was intercepted by American and allied forces outside the city.

Three Tar Heels Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of three more North Carolina soldiers who have been killed in action in Vietnam were announced Wednesday by the Defense Department.

They were Army S. Sgt. Sanford T. Allen of Selma, Army S. Sgt. Everett S. Jones of Durham, and Army Spec. 5 Johnnie W. Davis of Lumber Bridge.

Rescue Infant On Busy Highway

SOUTH CHARLESTON W.Va. (AP) — Taxi driver Donnie Beckett saw a 15-month-old baby crawling down the median strip of heavily traveled U.S. 60. He pulled his cab across the highway, blocked rush-hour traffic and rushed the child to the sidewalk. After knocking on several doors he returned the baby to the mother.

Job Of Enriching ECU Faculty Moves Ahead

By HENRY HOWARD

The job of enriching the faculty of East Carolina University moves steadily ahead as the administration continues to strive for excellence.

A spot-check this month shows that year-end vacancies are being refilled with substantial net gain in PhD's and other terminal degrees.

Dr. Robert L. Holt, vice president and dean, points out that only 39 vacancies have occurred this year in the total of about 550 faculty positions. Eighteen of those leaving held doctorates, 21 had no terminal degrees.

So far, 29 of the posts have been filled for next year and all 29 have either a PhD or some other terminal degree (26 have doctorates).

Dean Holt sees this as a "remarkable advance which is another benefit of our advance to university status and to the accompanying broadening of our function."

Deans and department chairmen are at various stages of negotiation with prospects for the remaining 10 vacancies. As more contracts are signed, Dr. Holt believes, still greater gains in terminal degrees will be made.

"We are assured," he says, "that when the university opens next fall we will have again made sizeable gains in upgrading and enriching our faculty.

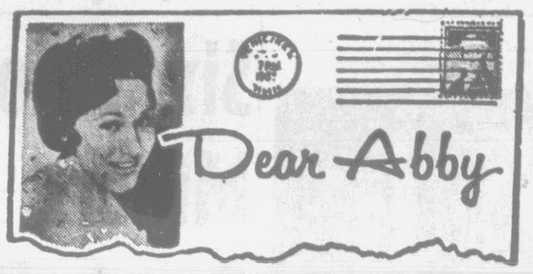
"Since the academic program is the very heart of a university, these gains are of special significance to us at East Carolina as new programs are being developed and the total academic strength grows greater.

"Our deans and department chairmen are to be commended for their successful efforts to bring more and more scholars to the campus."

An analysis of this year's 39 faculty vacanies: 14 resigned to teach elsewhere or return to school for advanced degree work, 12 completed temporary one-year appointments, 7 contracts were not renewed, 3 died, 3 retired.

Vote On The Method Of Providing A Substitute

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN



DEAR ABBY: The gals in our bridge club invite your opinion or comments about a person who sends a strange substitute in her place when she cannot attend without mentioning it to the hostess.

We have one member in our group who always does this. Afterwards she says that she owed "so and so" an invitation, and this is how she pays back her social obligation. We have never heard of this, and we all feel that if one of our members cannot come, we would prefer inviting our own substitute. (We all have friends to whom we "owe" an invitation.)

Several of us have gone to the door when we entertain the bridge club to meet a complete stranger who announces that she has come to substitute for "Frannie."

What do you suggest?

BRIDGE GALS

DEAR GALS: I suggest that you "gals" get together and vote on the method for providing a substitute should a member be unable to attend. Then give Frannie the word, and if she doesn't observe the rules, give her the gate.

DEAR ABBY: I go to a private school and share a room with a girl I'll call Mary. She is a lovely girl from a very good family. She started going with a boy who goes to a prep school near here. I guess you could call it "love at first sight." They saw an awful lot of each other. Too much, really.

Well, Mary finally broke down and told me she was "worried." She thinks she's pregnant. She hasn't gone to a doctor and won't go to one because she's afraid her folks will find out.

She won't tell her boy friend. I'm the only person she has told, and I promised her on my life I wouldn't say a word to anyone.

Abby, she is starving herself to keep thin and she cries all the time. What can I do to help her?

MARY'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Implore Mary to tell her mother at once. If you do nothing more in your young life than to persuade Mary that in time of trouble her parents are her best friends and stand ready to help her, no matter what her problem is, you will have earned a star in your crown. If you fail, please ask her to write to me.

DEAR ABBY: There is a new assistant clergyman at our church who seems to be very well liked by everyone—especially the young people. I was shocked and disappointed last Sunday to see him standing out in front of the church right after services smoking a cigaret.

This bothered me so much that I wrote him a note telling him I thought he was setting a bad example for the young people, and if he had to have a smoke he should at least wait until he could do it behind closed doors. He telephoned me and told me that he wasn't "proud" of his smoking habit, but he had it bad, and he would be more ashamed sneaking a smoke in private than smoking in public. What is your opinion?

CHURCHGOER

DEAR CHURCHGOER: I admire the young clergyman's honesty, but I deplore his weakness.

DEAR ABBY: I did what you advised the mother of a teenaged daughter to do. I gave up nagging at her about her messy room and simply closed her bedroom door.

Today, my once-cloppy teenaged daughter is a married woman, and I can't believe what a terrific little housekeeper she has turned out to be.

When I visited her one day last week, I dropped my sweater over a chair. She very indignantly said, "Mu-thurrrr, please let me hang up your sweater—you are messing up my whole house!"

AMAZED MOM

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

Training Programs Already Exist

The fact that eight new in-service training programs are being instituted across the state under the auspices of the governor's office should not lead the public to the conclusion that this is a new kind of thing.

While the governor's program is commendable, it is in many ways a duplication of what has been done in this section of the state for several years.

Hopefully, it will supplement the program that already is operating; but it is highly doubtful that it will replace the program that has been in operation for some time.

Several years ago law enforcement agencies of various municipalities in this section recognized the need for training programs to keep their officers abreast of developments in their field. This recognition resulted in establishment of the Coastal Plains Law Enforcement Academy which had its beginning in Greenville and now has permanent quarters in Wilson. It regularly conducts training programs of various kinds for law enforcement officers.

In addition to this, several Technical Institutes in this part of the state have cooperated in providing special courses for law enforcement personnel in order to better equip them for their duties.

With the governor's office lending its sponsorship and support to this new training program, it is quite possible there will be a better response to the such program from some of the smaller towns and counties.

Unless this new governor's program is going to become a permanent part of state operations, it is important that it not replace the program that already has been successfully established for training law enforcement people.

The established program has done and is doing an excellent job. We'd hate to see it pushed aside by a temporary program under state sponsorship that might fade as quickly as it has appeared.

Not Only Billboards Can Spoil The Beauty

When the same administration which has raised such a fuss about billboards ruining the beauty of the American countryside consents to the building of a shanty-town at one of the most beautiful and historic shrines of the nation, it is time for some sort of re-evaluation.

Certainly the nation's efforts to preserve its beauty spots and the Poor Peoples March are completely unrelated matters. One would not be thought of in terms of conflicting with the other. And yet the conflict of programs is there, as the conflict of individual rights is there.

Those taking part in the Poor Peoples March, presumably, have the right to build a tent city on the beautiful grounds of Lincoln Memorial and completely obliterate the beauty of the tree-lined Mall that attracts literally millions of tourists.

But somewhere along the line it also seems that those citizen tourists should likewise have the right to see this memorial and its grounds without its being defaced for an indeterminante period by other citizens "exercising their rights."

Locating Jobs For 100,000

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The governor's special program to help find jobs and gainful employment for 100,000 high school and college students this summer is going well.

The goal may already be in sight. Response thus far is highly encouraging and a progress report will be made public soon, according to sources close to the governor's office.

Some extra effort may be needed, but already there are plans for a companion, statewide program to offer not only employment but additional recreational facilities to give young people "something to do" this summer. It is designed of course to help keep young people of this age group—16 to 19 or 20—off the streets and out of trouble.

Industry Aids

The state's industries, large and small, responded almost immediately to the governor's call several weeks ago to see if there were openings for extra and regular employment which might be filled by young people.

WILLIAM SHIRES

Textiles and certain other industries made many thousands of such jobs available and notified the governor and his task force planners. These are now being filled.

But schools will be closing for the summer in about three or four weeks, so signing up for these employment opportunities must be done rapidly.

Reservoir Of Manpower

In designing the summer student employment plan, the state's planners recognized that young people constituted a huge reservoir of available energy, manpower and potential skills and ideas which could be tapped.

Hopefully, most of those taking summer jobs will return to school or to colleges or technical institutes in September. In the meantime, if they find their jobs, they will be earning money and adding to the state's labor force and economy. Many top industrialists are enthusiastic about the idea.

Schools Are Cooperating

In addition, the state's professional educators have endorsed the program. The public schools themselves may be able to employ 5,000 or more young people in maintenance, recreation and clerical work according to Dr. A. C. Dawson, executive secretary of the N. C. Education Asssm.

"Any aid to students which will help them further their education is exactly what the profession should encourage and for which it should provide leadership," Dr. Dawson said.

He called the governor's program "an ambitious one, but very realistic."

Saving of human resources by employment "should be of the highest priority to all business and industry in the state," Dr. Dawson said.

Adjunct Program

Details have not been completed, but it is expected that an adjunct program will be announced shortly also involving the state's public schools.

This is to involve recreational facilities in school plants such as gymnasiums, playgrounds, track and football fields and possible other things which normally are closed for summer vacation months.

A result could be the biggest youth recreation program ever attained in North Carolina during this summer. The chief problem of course is organizing such an undertaking and finding the funds necessary to pay for lighting, maintenance, recreational leaders and supervisors.

McCarthy Now A Poor Third

By JACK BELL

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) —The appeal to voters of the Kennedy name—and a drawing account on the millions behind it—have helped speed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy further along the road toward the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Kennedy organization sideswiped Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., in Nebraska's primary Tuesday, sending the first-out opponent of President Johnson's policies bumping to the brink of disaster.

McCarthy's casual acceptance of the short end of a 53-31 percentage of the Democratic vote did little to support his optimistic post-balloting prediction that he will run even with Kennedy in the May 28 Oregon primary and may win the June 4 California test.

The truth of the matter, as most politicians see it, is that McCarthy is now a poor third in the Democratic race. It would take a brace of victories to boost him back into a top running position.

Kennedy said as much by naming Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as his chief target in future campaigning and inviting McCarthy to join him in combatting Humphrey as the apostle of what Kennedy calls the Johnson administration's unsatisfactory policies.

Kennedy demonstrated in just about every category of Nebraska voter — city dwellers, farm voters, blue collar workers, Negroes and ethnic groups — the immense appeal he can project.

But his victory was not left to chance. It was wrapped up and delivered in an intensive and expensive campaign that followed the pattern he laid down in Indiana.

The Kennedys simply smothered McCarthy. Those who hoped that Johnson, with his name on the ballot despite his withdrawal, and a Humphrey write-in would deny Kennedy the majority he couldn't get a week earlier also were

Sunday Again Heard By Big Crowds Here

Billy Sunday delivered the most powerful sermon of his campaign in this city last night. . .He spoke on the "Second Coming of Christ." It was a brilliantly worded discourse dealing with the millennium. Varying considerably from the usual interpretation of this particular era spoken of in the Bible, the evangelist presented his four thousand hearers with more food for thought than any other single service of the series. . ."There can be no millennium until Jesus comes," Mr. Sunday declared. "It is his presence that makes the millennium. You might as well talk of daylight not coming until the sun goes down. . ." Combining his powers of oratory and drama, the evangelist painted glowing word pictures of the return of Christ. At times he became so incensed against the operations of Satan that he would lift a chair from the platform and make a pretense of hurling it at some Satanic majesty seated out in the congregation. . .The choir loft was again packed to capacity last night, and Homer Hammondtree and his three hundred songsters sang as they probably never sang before. This is one of the most inspirational parts of the services, and each week witnesses more members of the choir. . .A quartet from the Memorial Baptist Church rendered a selection, "He Is Risen," during the later part of the musical program. . . .

John Andrews of Ayden was a Greenville visitor today.

Jack Tripp left this morning for Poughkeepsie, N.Y. where he will take a business-course.

Miss Lil Wilson left yesterday for Dunn to assist Rev. John Cowel in a revival meeting.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE PERENNIAL QUERY

"If a man die shall he live again?"

This question has been asked through the ages. It has haunted the human mind. Long before the Christian religion got started, high-minded men in all parts of the world were making this query. The Egyptians had a very confident belief about immortality. The Greek philosophers, several centuries before Christ was born, dilated much on this theme. Through the centuries men of much learning and little have reflected at length on this vital matter.

Common sense tells us that God would hardly go to the pains He has to create human life only to wipe it out after a few brief years. Also, the whole of human life and institution appears to be characterized by incompleteness. Something is needed beyond the reaches of our restricted world to finish what is here begun. Man hungers for immortality, and since there is a natural hunger there must be something provided somewhere in the universe to satisfy that hunger.

But religion goes beyond philosophy. Reason makes immortality plausible, but it does not prove it. In fact, such a belief cannot be proved in the mathematical sense. It must be accepted on faith, and when it is so accepted, it proves itself amid the experiences of life. For the philosopher, immortality is a hope; for the man of faith, it is a living reality.

Dream Room Failed

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — My bathroom has many advantages. It is cozy, well-heated, has comfortable seating and a ready reference library that will at least measure up to that found in the average dentist's office.

But for 20 years I have tried to find peace in that bathroom —and it simply can't be done.

Every American boy is inspired by the fact he has a chance to grow up and become president of the United States—or at least earn enough money to have a bathroom of his very own.

This is unlikely, particularly in the case of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who has an 11th child on the way. If he yearns for a bathroom of his own, he'd do better to forget the White House and set his sights on taking over the Pentagon.

HAL BOYLE

When I graduated to a two-bathroom apartment two decades ago, I patted the tiled walls in joy. I thought that at least I had achieved one of my lifelong dreams—a stall shower of my own, a place where I could come ad sit and brood and fill out my income tax returns undisturbed.

It was to be my private ivory tower, my monk's cell, my hermitage, my retreat from the world that seems always too much with us.

What a delusion!

It started with a simple question from Frances, my wife: "You don't mind if I hang a few stockings to dry in your stall shower, do you?"

"No, of course not," I answered.

I was like the kindly Arab who let the camel stick its nose into his tent to get warm and soon found himself crowded out by the animal.

My bathroom is now a forest of bottled lady lotions and dripping feminine finery. It has become a laundry for Frances and our teen-age daughter, Tracy Ann.

They wash their hair there, too, do their fingernails there, and use it as a conference room to cook up family plots against me.

Our cat, Lady Dottie, now also has her box in my bathroom. Where else? Believe me, friend, you may have had trouble in your life, but you don't know what trouble is until, on a harried Monday morning, you rush into a stall showever and stub your toe on a steel pan full of moist cat gravel.

Now, when someone knocks on my bathroom door, I never know whether it'll be a member of the family, a visiting Elk, the neighborhood scissors grinder, or a kid selling Girl Scout cookies.

But whoever it is, each asks the same thing in a tone of complaint and accusation:

"What are you doing in there?"

What am I doing in there? I'm doing what those diplomats are doing in Paris. Just trying to find a little peace.

Arnheiter Day In Court

Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter, the naval officer who was summarily dumped two years ago as commanding officer of a U. S. destroyer serving off Vietnam, finally got a kind of "day in court" on Capitol Hill last week. It was a bad time for the Navy brass. They were conspicuous by their absence.

The hearings arranged by New York's Congressman Joe Resnick were entirely one-sided hearings. All the witnesses were sympathetic both to Arnheiter and to Richard Alexander, the brilliant young naval captain whose career was destroyed when he publicly took Arnheiter's side. This was not Resnick's idea. He repeatedly invited high Navy officials to appear in defense of the Navy's position. No one turned up.

This stone-cold silence was understandable — from the Navy's point of view. The more one studies this distressing affair, the more one is driven to the conclusion that the Navy bungled the Arnheiter case from the very beginning. At half a dozen points along the line, something might have been salvaged by granting Arnheiter the one privilege he has been begging — a Court of Inquiry, or as an alternative, a full-dress court-martial. He was still begging for this last week; and the Navy was still deaf to his pleas.

For those who may have just come in, it should be said that the case arose in December of 1965, when Arnheiter took command of USS Vance at Pearl Harbor. It was his first — and his last—command. Ninety-nine days later, after a slam-bang tour of duty off Vietnam, Arnheiter was summarily detached. He was given one weekend to prepare himself against a bewildering array of malicious charges, cooked up by rebellious junior officers. Then he was subjected to a one-man invetigatory hearing, without benefit of witnesses in his own behalf. And professionally speaking, that was the end of Marc Arnheiter.

As last week's hearing made clear, every safeguard provided in the Navy's own regulations inexplicably was ignored. The Navy does not award wartime commands lightly, but neither are such commands lightly revoked. The rules provide explicitly that before so drastic a step is taken, an officer must be fully informed of all charges against him; he must be given counsel and advice toward the correction of his defects. The rules are specially designed, among other things, to protect a commanding officer from the very sort of wardroom conspiracy that was hatched against Arnheiter.

The [illegible]nce in this case indi[illegible]hat Arnheiter inherite[illegible] sloppy ship manned by an undisciplined crew. He himself is a spit-and-polish Dutchman, a Naval Academy graduate with an obsessive love of fighting naval traditions. He threw his entire energies into a crash program to revitalize his ship. Doubtless he made mistakes of judgment—mistakes of zeal—but his purpose was high and his methods were succeeding.

Then the axe fell. Since then his principal accusers have dropped out of the Navy. Arnheiter's strenuous efforts to clear his name have branded him a troublemaker; he is beached in San Francisco. Captain Alexander, convinced that Arnheiter had been shabbily treated, came recklessly streaming to his rescue; Alexander too has been beached.

The top brass keep compounding their errors. One burly captain in the Bureau of Personnel has dropped the snide rumor that Columnist Drew Pearson has aided with Arnheiter because Mrs. Arnheiter is Pearson's niece. They are not related in any way. Another charge emanating from the top brass is that Arnheiter ordered Vance's guns to fire on a "Buddhist pagoda." Evidence offered at Resnick's hearings totally disproves the charge. A third rumor is that Arnheiter had a "pitcher of martinis" aboard. Utterly false.

Other Editors Saying Two Charlotte 'Firsts'

(Sanford Herald)

A news release from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte contains two topics certain to be of interest to school planners and builders, as well as patrons, throughout the state.

Contracts have been let for the first two air-conditioned dormitories to be built on a state - supported campus in Tar Heelia. They will be 12-story structures—to provide housing for 500 men in one, and 500 women in the other. While UNC-C has all its classrooms, laboratories, library areas and offices air conditioned as they were recently built, it's the first time our school dormitories have been air - conditioned. This was planned to stimulate more use of the buildings during the summer.

Also, architect Leslie Boney says the dormitories, with the women's residence hall to be erected first, will reflect a new philosophy in college housing. "As student population has increased the problem of anonymity in large groups has developed," he notes. "In many instances, a general facelessness of the dormitory dweller has intruded." To combat this, Dr. Bonnie Cone, vice-chancellor for student affairs and community relations at UNC-C, and a committee of faculty and students, have worked to develop a plan for making each of 10 floor limited to 50 students, organized in suites of eight to 16 students each. Thus will be left two floors for lounge space, including group study areas, typing rooms, and space for teaching in the dormitories.

The proposed buildings will be the state's tallest and largest college residence halls using poured-in-place architectural concrete. It seems also that effort has been made to "build in" some warmth and friendliness for those who occupy them.

Optional Spending May Be Cut

By ELMER ROESSNER

The income tax increase may knock off a lot of pop-

The substantial rise in tax-

he substantial rise in taxes is certain to reduce consumer spending. Rents, autos, fares, furniture, food and services are not likely to go down in price—at least not for a while. If consumers are forced to cut spending, they cannot readily cut outlays for these stable items.

Furthermore, if they must cut spending by 10 per cent, and can't cut spending for necessities, consumers will have to cut spending for optional things 20 per cent or more. In some instances, they may have to cut them 100 per cent.

Now most economists agree that there is lot of spending for fairly superficial products: spending to impress neighbors and business associates, spending to impress strangers, and spending to please personal vanity and other emotional needs.

What Comes Off First

It must be that extravagances of fashion may be first hit. The current trend for more color in men's clothes may be reversed; how many days a year can you wear a Kelly green suit besides St. Patrick's Day? If a man has to tighten his budget, will he pass up a new shirt or a medallion on a chain for his neck?

The whole pop-op picture may be dimmed. Much of the spending for beads, psychedelic costumes, serapes and other junk comes from allowances, and that may be the first place parents cut.

Have you priced "formal" turtleneck sweaters lately? The tax boost may swing the men back to white shirts. And instead of Nehru jackets, expensive to keep clean, men may swing to Amish jackets and hats which are said to last twenty years.

ELMER ROESSNER

Will Americans Balk?

But we are a spoiled people. Will the ambitious women, the show - off men and the moon - struck kids give up their toys? Or will they cut spending for food and furnishings, flypaper and funerals so they can keep on buying chips in this mad-mod, op-pop game we are all playing?

Note: Here's a swipe of a snickersnee in the tax rise: If it cuts consumer spending sharply, it will hit those cities and states that depend heavily on sales taxes. These communities will then be forced to raise sales tax rates or increase other taxes.

High Income States

Businesses seeking sales increase may profit by concentrating in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Illinois, Nevada, California, Alaska and the District of Columbia. All had per capita incomes of more than $3,500 last year, the Department of Commerce calculates. That's $14,000 a year per family of four.

Biggest average of all was in the District of Columbia, with $4,288. Government salaries and lobbyists fees apparently offset the low incomes of the mass of impoverished Negroes there.

Working Hard To Make It Softer For Housewives

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is working hard to make it soft for the nation's housewives.

Take disposable pans, for instance. Take 'em quick, before they overflow the kitchen and go clattering down the hall.

Somehow, they end up in the dish pan instead of the garbage pail and they come out so shiny and sturdy looking that my thrifty nature rebels at discarding such useful objects.

Useful for what, I have yet to discover. But still, I have the storage shelves of the stove stacked with them and the cabinets are so packed with aluminum foil dishes of every size and description that the whole pile comes crashing to the floor every time I open the door.

I'd have a little more room for the disposable pans, except that the drawers and closets in the house are all jammed with those lovely plastic bags clothes come back in from the cleaners. No telling when I'll need 250 or so garment covers, so I carefully fold them up and stuff them into any space not already occupied by little plastic strawberry baskets or slightly used disposable dustcloths.

When plastic straws and plastic toothpicks made their debut my life took a turn for the worse. I know they're meant to be dumped instead of dunked after use, but I'm determined to revitalize them with detergent.

Then along came the neat little coffee cans, complete with a tight cover and beautiful designs that turned them into perfect canisters when empty. I couldn't manage to utilize them all with just flour and sugar and tea, so I started tossing beans and rice and pancake flour and black-eyed peas and hard candy and even oatmeal into them. But they are still multiplying faster than I can think up uses for them.

I never minded throwing out paper plates in the old days, when their rough surface absorbed the juice from the pickles and the grease from the spare ribs. But now that they're as smooth as china and seem almost as durable, I have to look the other way when I consign them to the garbage can.

Well, there's one bright side to the aluminum avalanche. I just baked a frozen pie in its own foil dish and I find that the container was perforated with tiny holes in order to make the crust brown right. I won't mind throwing that one out.

On second thought, perhaps I'd better keep it after all. It would make a dandy sieve.

losers.

The Kennedys are nothing if not thorough.

The New York senator has as many as 26 advance men available to fan out over a primary state. They make the arrangements for the candidate's appearances, fit them in a time schedule, arrange for cars, buses and even trains.

They scour the towns and cities for supporters willing to turn out for rallies.

They talk school officials into letting students out of classes to provide an automatic cheering section. They distribute bunting, banners, placards, streamers and buttons.

Whether this sort of campaigning in the smaller towns and street and park rallies in the cities really harvests any substantial vote support is considered doubtful even by the candidates themselves.

McCarthy, who depends primarily on volunteers and who is lucky to be able to field three or four advance men in any primary state, discounts its value.

He roams around, seemingly haphazardly, talking quietly about issues such as Vietnam that have lost their zing since the Paris peace talks.

There are, in fact, no real issues between Kennedy and McCarthy. They are hard put to whip up much of an argument with Humphrey, whose record of supporting social change parallels their own.

Oakmont Church Sets 'Open House'

Oakmont Baptist Church, Greenville's newest Baptist Church which was dedicated last month, will observe its first "open house" for the general public Sunday afternoon, May 19.

The public is invited to inspect this new and modern church facility between the hours of 4:00 and 6:00 p.m. Approximately 80 church members will be involved as hosts and will provide each guest a personal opportunity of seeing the new church building.

The Hospitality Committee of the church has correlated the special plans for the "open house." Mrs. Ed E. Rawl Jr. is chairman of this committee which also includes Mrs. Ken Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dixon, Mrs. Ann Phillips, Mrs. E. E. Rawl Sr., Mrs. Joe Downing and Mrs. Harroll Weaver.

During the open house, Miss Ernelle Brooks, of Greenville and a Southern Baptist Missionary to Nigeria, will receive special recognition for her stewardship toward Oakmont Baptist Church.

The church, located on Red Banks Drive, held its first service in the new facility on Oct. 15, 1967. The building represents an expenditure in excess of $300,000.

Pupils Continue Boycott Classes

HILLSBOROUGH, N. C. (AP) —Some 500 students at all-Negro Central High School planned to continue their boycott of classes today in protest against the Orange County Board of Education's delayed segregation plan.

The students walked out of a meeting with the board Wednesday after saying they felt they were not getting satisfactory answers to their questions.

The student body bombarded the board with questions at a meeting in the Central High gym.

The boycott began Tuesday in protest to the board's decision to desegregate the 10th grade in September and the remaining grades in September, 1969. The students have called for immediate integration of junior and senior high school grades.

Each school board member was asked Wednesday by the student body how he felt about integration. The members expressed the feelings that integration was in the best interest of better education for the entire community.

One of the questions asked was why Central 10th graders will be transferred to predominantly white Orange High School next fall and no white students will be transferred to Central.

After the students walked out of the meeting, the board later met with a 12-member committee from the white community.

Neighbor's Bees Are Now Banned

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — In case the bees haven't heard—no longer can they buzz in Charles Caballero's backyard. An order to this effect was signed Wednesday by Superior Court Commissioner James P. Natoli. Caballero, 77, complained the bees living in the yard of his neighbor crossed over property lines.

Perhaps the saddest testimony last week came from a 22-year-old Texas seaman, John M. Cicerich, Jr., who served on Vance after Arnheiter had been banished. Once Arnheiter left, he said, everything reverted to the old undisciplined patterns. Life on the ship once again was "like living in a prison with convicted toughs."

It is too late for Arnheiter, too late for Alexander. It is not too late, however, for the Navy to make certain that the next time a gung-ho skipper is victimized by junior officers, the skipper is accorded the consideration Marc Arnheiter never had.

The Worry Clinic

By Thinking Big, You Can Control Emotion

Heather is like millions of others in this jittery modern world. Since we can't "cerebrate" and also "emote," one secret of controlling our emotions is to "think big." Or even count to 10, or take the "cancer" viewpoint mentioned herein. Use the booklet below with your children, too. It beats chemical tranquilizers!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE - 568: Heather J., aged 25, is a nervous housewife.

"Dr. Crane," she moaned, "I am always getting upset over some little irritation.

"So my life is not happy. I am afraid or angry or worried all the time.

"How can a person learn to control her emotions and lead a placid, happy-go-lucky existence?"

Control of our emotions is largely a matter of controlling our environment.

And that "environment" refers not only to external reality but also to our thoughts.

"Look not on the wine while it is red," states the Bible.

This pertains to the external world, and is superb advice.

Often it will also help to "think big," for then your apparent "mountains" become dwarfed to molehill size.

If a petty domestic problem intervenes and you feel like chewing out your mate or your child, make it a rule to say to yourself:

"Suppose my doctor told me I had cancer and would not live another 6 weeks!

"Would I become so disturbed over a spilled glass of milk or muddy footsteps on the cleaned kitchen floor?"

Even a broken window or a dented fender of your car will then be taken gracefully in stride.

When Thomas Edison was a young man, working for $150 a month, which was then a huge salary, he invented an improvement on the stock ticker at Wall Street.

The Board wanted to buy his patented invention and asked him to meet them.

He debated as to what price he should ask them.

He says he figured he should demand at least the equivalent of his year's earnings, namely, $1,800.

But then he grew more reckless and decided he would even ask $5,000.

When they met with him, they said they had appreciated his work in keeping the stock ticker in shape and knew of his invention, so they wondered what price he wanted for the patent.

Edison wet his lips and tried to say $5,000, but he couldn't get that figure verbalized, for he decided it was such a big amount that they'd think he was Jesse James, putting a gun to their heads.

In desperation, he stalled for time by saying he hadn't thought about the matter, so what did they consider it would be worth to them?

Please notice that this was the "Reversible Why" strategy which I have often urged upon you salesmen, teachers and parents who are barraged with questions by your youngsters.

The members of the Board replied:

"Well, Mr. Edison, we couldn't afford to pay a cent more than $50,000 for your patent."

Edison says he was dazed and hoped his pause was construed as inner deliberation. Then he told them he'd rather do business with them than anybody else, so he would accept.

The next two days he states that he walked the streets, pinching himself to be sure he was real! And he learned to think big thereafter!

Send for my booklet "How to Control the Emotions," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Let your children use it, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Offer Recital At Rose High

The J. H. Rose High School Music Department will present its solo and ensemble recital program tonight at 8 o'clock.

The program will consist of solo and ensemble presentations by members of both the band and chorus.

Highlighting the musical program will be the premiere of "Ship of State." Music for "Ship of State" was composed by Robert E. Jager, with the text from works by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

The work was commissioned by band director James E. Rogers and chorus director Mrs. Bette Jo Barbre for the Rose High Band and Chorus.

ROBERT JAGER

Composer Jager, born in Binghamton, N.Y., in 1939, attended Wheaton College and the University of Michigan, and has played trumpet in the Knoxville, Tenn., Symphony.

While serving in the U. S. Navy, Jager taught theory at the Armed Forces School of Music and was appointed staff arranger-composer at the school in 1964.

He has won several awards for his compositions, and his works have been performed throughout the United States as well as in Canada, South America and Japan.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased from any member of the band or chorus or at the door.

Jager, presently on the staff of the music department of the University of Michigan, is expected to attend the concert.

$100,000 Suit In Cole's Death

GREENSBORO (AP) — The widow of Jim "Catfish" cole, one-time North Carolina Ku Klux Klan leader, has filed a $100,000 damage suit growing out of his death in an auto accident last July 27.

Mrs. Carolyn Smith Cole of Lenoir County charged in the suit filed in Guilford Superior Court Wednesday that Paul Louis Leclair, driver of the car in which Cole was riding, was negligent in the accident.

The suit was filed against Mrs. Doris J. Leclair, whose husband also died in the wreck on a rural road 11 miles south of Greensboro.

Exams Coming Up, Duke Students Suspend 'Vigil'

DURHAM (AP) — With final exams coming up, Duke University students have ended temporarily their vigil aimed at obtaining full collective bargaining rights for the school's non-academic employes.

Their leaders promised, however, that a massive campaign would be staged this fall unless an acceptable formula to meet their demands is agreed upon in the meantime.

Their action came after a meeting on the campus of a special trustee-administration committee that has been wrestling with the problem for weeks.

The committee, which includes Wright Tisdale, chairman of the Duke trustees, released a statement saying it would continue working toward a program that includes representation of the non-academic workers through an employe council and an employe relations advisory committee.

The committee said it would continue to consult with interested groups and would meet again on May 25.

Attending the committee session Wednesday were representatives of the faculty, students and the non-academic workers.

After the committee's statement was read to the student demonstrators gathered in the university's quadrangle, leaders of the vigil expressed "extreme disappointment" that no concessions had been made.

Student leader Jack Boger told the students: "The trustee statement seems to indicate little progress is being made toward some substantive agreement on collective bargaining. The vigil will continue to press for action on the question, both this spring and if necessary next fall."

Boger said the students had decided that because of pending final examinations, "more aggressive action" was inadvisable at the present.

But he said the vigil "definitely is not over," and he promised that student leaders will work during the summer to begin massive campaigns this fall.

The students began their vigil in support of cafeteria and campus workers in early spring. It was called off temporarily when the trustee-administration committee was set up to work out a solution. Workers who had struck the main dining halls for about two weeks went back to work. Last week they were promised an increase in pay, but in an amount apparently not acceptable to the students.

During the massive sitdown in the quadrangle earlier this year, the student leaders announced they had received telegrams of support from several national figures, including presidential candidates Robert Kennedy and Nelson Rockefeller.

Wednesday, Rockefeller's aides denied the New York governor or any of his staff had sent such a telegram to the students.

Two Accidents Here Yesterday

Greenivlle police said an estimated $800 property damage resulted from two traffic mishaps investigated here yesterday.

Heaviest damage resulted from a three-vehicle collision at 2:22 p.m. at the intersection of U. S. 264 and Evans Street, investigators reported.

Involved in that collision were cars driven by Ira Messick Edwards of 1104 East 10th St., Edward Charles Pilgreen, 19, of Route 3, Greenville and Alice Winfield Hurst, Ayden Highway, Greenville.

Police charged Mrs. Hurst with following too closely.

Damage was set at $125 to the Edwards car, $300 to the Pilgreen auto and $75 to the Hurst car.

Douglas Williams Champion, 18, of Wilson was charged with failing to hee his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 10:02 p.m. collision on 10th Street, 200 feet east of the Anderson Street intersection.

Police said the Champion car collided with an auto operated by Johnnie Wayne Lee, 19, of Route 5, Greenville.

Damage was estimated at $250 to the Lee car and about $50 to the Champion auto.

Hippie 'Government In Exile' Hits Hard Times

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The president of the Free U.S. Government in Exile is down to his last $100.

President Sheldon Cholst hasn't paid his electricity bill, so there's no electric light in his "White House."

His two-man cabinet went on an unauthorized hitchhiking trip and never came back.

The worst of it is that the long-haired "hip people" who crowd Vientiane's psychedelic scene have turned out to be fair-weather friends. When his money ran out, they lost interest in him.

Cholst is a sun-tanned, 44-year-old ex-psychiatrist from Brooklyn who ran through much of a small fortune left by his realtor father in a search for what the hip people call "the ultimate freedom."

The search led him through a drug conviction in England to Thailand and finally to Laos.

In Vientiane, the new mecca of long-haired "travelers" tired of a square world, Cholst settled into a palm-shaded white bungalow a stone's throw from the embassy of the real U.S. government.

He blames secret American pressure for the fact that no foreign government—not even the Laos government—has taken any notice of his exile regime. But he was greatly heartened recently when two reporters of the Soviet news agency Tass came to interview him and Radio Moscow carried a story about him.

Yesterday, a Laotian immigration official said all foreign hippies have been asked to leave Laos immediately, and embassies abroad have been instructed to refuse entry visas for others of their type.

On Vientiane's Junky Strip, a shabby collection of bars, brothels and opium dens, Cholst opened a night club called the Third Eye, which quickly became a favorite gathering place of the hip group. Home made marijauna cigarettes are on sale there for 8 cents each.

Until recently, there was also a small back room known as the Den, where young guests reclining on comfortable cushions were served opium at 25 cents a pipe.

Most of the hip customers were low on cash and Laotians hardly frequent the establishments along the strip. The Third Eye consistently lost money, and the Den has now been enlarged into a discotheque respectable enough to attract some of the 1,700 American officials and dependents living in Vientiane.

A projector plays wild colors on a screen, scores of tattered umbrellas hang from the ceiling and a loudspeaker blares "total music." Cholst has lost financial control but he is still a regular guest.

He blames American harassment for his difficulties with the Third Eye. He first set up his "exile government" because he wanted to "show the Laotian authorities that the U.S. Embassy has no jurisdiction over me."

"After that, the idea just crew," he said.

"After that the idea just grew," he said.

His program includes the abolition of all laws against narcotics, birth control, abortion and polygamy. The first article of the "Free U.S." constitution says "Man's longings must be satisfied as much as possible so that he can become a happy creature and not a suffering one." The constitution abolishes all taxation and provides for a "giant mutual fund" operated by the government to pay all government expenditure including regular dividend payments to every citizen.

Cholst says the bulk of a $250,000 fortune left by his father is still intact but is withheld from him by "legal complications." He claims his New York lawyer angrily withdrew from the case after learning of the "exile government."

Forming Rumor Control Center

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is forming a rumor control center, aimed at curbing inflammatory reports and giving out facts on explosive situations. Celes King III, branch president, said the center will be located in south-central Los Angeles, operating around the clock.

Fallout Shelter In Hoover Dam

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Clark County civil defense agency suggests to those worried about nuclear attack: Try the inside of Hoover Dam.

The 660-foot-thick dam "would be awfully hard to knock down," an agency spokesman said Monday. It could hold at least 7,000 persons.

The dam, 31 miles southeast of Las Vegas, isn't considered a likely target because it's primarily used for storing water, not producing power.

TV SPECIAL

Dr. Frank Fuller, Chairman of counselor education in the School of Education at East Carolina University, presented a special program on elementary school guidance recently on WUNB-TV, Channel 2, Columbia. Channel 2 is the eastern region's state-supported educational TV station.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

West's indecision at the opening gun cost the defense heavily, for South, the declarer at five hearts, was quick to seize the initiative and once he assumed control, West was not given a second chance.

East's preemptive jump overcall of three spades was designed to inhibit the opposition from finding their best spot. When South bid four hearts, West carried on to four spades. South raised North's diamonds on the next round, and West's double was not sound strategy, despite the fact that he can expect to win two tricks in that suit.

There is no assurance, for one thing, that the contract can be defeated inasmuch as East has guaranteed no defensive strength by his bid. Furthermore, the enemy may escape to a better haven. When North did in fact run to five hearts, West felt obliged to double again.

He was tempted to open the ace of diamonds, for the bidding had strongly suggested that East could trump the second round. On the other hand, it appeared to West that he held two natural tricks in the diamond suit, so that it might not be necessary to give partner the ruff. He, therefore, decided to temporize by leading the jack of spades.

Declarer was not disposed to give his opponent a second opportunity, and he put up the king of spades from dummy in order to keep West out of the lead. East played the ace and continued with the queen which South ruffed.

Trumps were drawn in three rounds and the king of clubs cashed. Declarer now led the queen of diamonds which was permitted to hold the trick. Observe that; if West goes in with the ace, he is hopelessly endplayed. A club return for example, will present South with a free finesse of dummy's jack. If West exits with the ten of diamonds, however, declarer can win with the jack in his hand and pick up West's nine on the return.

When East showed out on the first round of diamonds, South abandoned the suit and proceeded to lead two more rounds of trumps. West's first discard was the eight of clubs, but on the next heart the pressure became unbearable. He could not spare another club without giving up his protection in that suit, so he parted with the nine of diamonds. North discarded the jack of clubs. A diamond was led toward dummy, and West could do no more than take the ace. The defense was restricted to one spade and one diamond.

R. C. Hands First Loss To Lions, 6-3

R. C. Cola picked up its first victory of the season yesterday, and handed the Lions their first loss with a 6-3 victory in North State League play.

That left Coca-Cola as the only unbeaten team in the league with a 3-0 record. They hold a full game lead over the Lions and the Kiwanis, both 2-1, while R. C. and the Optimists are 1-2. The Jaycees are in the cellar with an 0-3 mark.

The Lions took the initial lead in the game, moving out into a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the third. That came on a home run by Danny Allen.

In the fourth, R. C. came back to take the lead with two runs. Tommy Payne singled and moved up on a couple of wild pitches, scoring on a hit by Randy Lewis. Lewis also advanced on wild pitches, eventually coming around to score.

In the bottom of the fourth, however, the Lions came back again to take a 3-2 lead. Lee Moore singled and Donald Moore slapped the second home run of the game.

But R. C. Cola was after the win and rebounded for four more runs in the top of the fifth. Ken Nichols led off with a walk and Ken Tolen and Don Speight also drew free trips, loading the bases. Jeff Bailey walked, forcing in Nichols with the tieing run. A single by Payne brought in Tolen, while a walk to Lewis scored Speight. Bailey was caught in a fielder's choice, but Payne came across with a wild pitch for the final run.

Payne and Lewis each had two hits to lead R. C., while Allen had two hits to pace the losing Lions.

Pepsi Wins To Gain First Tie

Pepsi-Cola defeated winless Security Life, 8-3, yesterday to turn first place in the Tar Heel League into a traffic jam.

Pepsi, the Elks, Greenville Tobacco and the Exchagne are all crowded into first place with 2-1 records. Next comes the Moose with a 1-2 record and Security, 0-3.

Pepsi started the scoring in the first inning, getting a lone run. David Clifton reached on a fielder's choice, advanced on another by Lonnie Smith and scored when Danny Norris' grounder was errored.

In the second, Pepsi broke it open with seven more runs, running up an 8-0 lead. Ricky Avery walked as did David Davis. Jerry Griffin reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Donald Cannon singled in Avery and Clifton launched a grand-slam homer to drive in four more. Smith singled and moved up on a wild pitch. Norris doubled to drive in Smith and Norris moved to third on an error. Waighty Scales singled to score Norris with the last Pepsi run.

Security tried to put on a slim rally in the second, getting two runs. Max Glisson walked and Bob Higgans also walked. Morris Vicard singled, and walks to Danny Harrington and Worth Albea brought in Glisson and Higgans with the first two Security runs.

The final Security run came in the fifth. Wesley Puryear walked, advanced on a double by Phil Dash and scored on an out by Glisson.

Cannon, Smith and Norris each had two hits for Pepsi, while, no one had more than one for Security.

Tribe Has Good Hitting, Pitching; Feels Pirates Should Be Favored

East Carolina University goes into battle with the William & Mary Indians Friday night at 7:30 p.m. at Ft. Eustis, Va., seeking their third straight Southern Conference title.

The Pirates won the title outright in 1966, tied with West Virginia last year, and this year, under the split conference division, will meet the Indians in a best-of-three series for the title.

William & Mary is the most experienced team in the conference. They played 32 games, more than any other in the league, coming away with a 20-12 record.

John Medlin, the left fielder for the Indians, has been the sparkplug at the plate, hitting a solid .330. He has 36 hits in 109 trips, which resulted in 26 runs, 32 runs batted in and eight home runs.

Two other Indians also are hitting over .300, John Richardson, the centerfielder, has a .325 mark, while Kevin Davenport, the first baseman, is hitting .301.

Overall, the Tribe has a .263 average going into the series, somewhat better than the Bucs' .231. Outside of the three .300 batters, the rest are bunched pretty well together. Rounding out the starters, Ron Paxton has a .236 mark; Jim Rama, .255; Jim Purtill, .224; Jack Driscoll, 256; and Ricky Allen, .262.

In the area of fielding, the Indians put up a pretty solid front. There was some trouble in the early season as Driscoll collected 16 errors, but midway through the year, he was switched to third base from shortstop and Paxton was installed at short. Since then, the Indian fielding percentage turned upward. Driscoll has made only three misplays at third, while Paxton has made few at short. 'He's not a great shortstop," one William & Mary observer said of Paxton, "but he really gets the job done."

Turning to the pitching chores, Jay Newton has been the workhorse for the Indians, and will probably draw the starting assignment in the opening game with the Pirates. Newton has a 7-2 record for the season and a 1.48 earned run average. He has struck out 62 batters in 67 innings.

John King is the man most likely to get the call should Newton run into trouble. He has a 3-2 record and a 1.26 ERA, mostly in relief.

Other pitchers who could see action include Jim Supplee, a lefthander with a 3.41 ERA; another lefty, Jim Worthington, with a 4.50 ERA, and righthander Eddie Allen, 2.82.

"We know (Dennis) Burke and (Mitchell) Hughes are good, because they've beaten us," Coach Les Hooker said. "The Pirates best us early in the season, 11-7, but we've changed since then and are better."

Still, Hooker feels that the Indians are the underdogs in the series. "East Carolina has the tradition behind them, and are overall a better team, although I'm surprised they haven't hit any better."

The probable starting lineup for William & Mary will have Richardson in center, Paxton at short, Davenport at first, Medlin in left, Rama behind the plate, Purtill in right, Driscoll at third and Allen at second. Newton will probably draw the pitching assignment.

The two teams meet again Saturday afternoon in the second game of the series, and again Saturday night, if necessary to decide the title. The winner will represent the conference in the NCAA Regionals in Gastonia, later this month.

Tide Tables

Tides for the 24-hour period beginning at midnight at the Beaufort Bar:

High: 1:48 p.m.

Lows: 7:24 a.m., 7:36 p.m.

Sal Bando of the Oakland Athletics hit nine home runs in 116 games for Vancouver last season. He hit none in 47 games for Kansas City. This spring he hit 10 homers in Oakland's exhibition games.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

FARMVILLE C. C.

John Barefoot and Dr. Bert Warren will battle for the championship in the annual President's Cup Tournament at the Farmville Golf and Country Club.

Barefoot made it to the finals by defeating the defending champion Jimmy Hillard in the semi-finals.

Hilliard made some fine scores recently, chipping in three birdies in the last three weeks. He picked them up on nine, seven and three. The first two are par fours, while the latter is a par five. All three final shots were chip shots.

BROOK VALLEY

Jeanette Thomas has won the Eastern North Carolina Ladies Golf Association for the third straight year. She took the honor recently in Smithfield.

Doris Harbin, Evelyn Warner and Helen Boys all won prizes in their division.

In the ladies club championship, Jane Sauve defeated Jeanette Thomas and Mildred Coleman downed Harriette White in the semi-finals of the tournament. The two will now meet for the title. It was the first time either of the winners had defeated their opponents.

In the first flight, Barnie Rawl will meet the winner of the Cynthia Mendenhall—Dot Aldridge match, while Mary Meade Powell takes on the Jane Worsley—Mrs. M. Hawley winner in the second flight.

In the men's championship flight, defending champ "Big Daddy" Moore meets Marvin Blount Jr., Ben Harrison Sr. takes on the Box Farley—Jay Collie winner; Bernie Warren Jr. meets Ercell Webb and Gene Ward will meet Ben Harrison Jr.

Pro Harold Thomas recently turned in his best round. After playing the first 16 holes, he had recorded seven birdies and no bogies, but then on the last two holes, he recorded two double bogies.

GRIFTON GOLF CLUB

The Bright Belt Ladies Golf Association will hold their weekly tournament at the Grifton Golf and Country Club this week, according to pro Joe Bullins.

The Grifton men's and women's club championship tournaments are underway, but are still in first round matches.

ROBERSONVILLE C. C.

Qualifying is currently going on at the Robersonville Golf and Country Club, for the 1968 club championships.

Boby Mobley is the defending champion in the men's tournament, while Harriett Forbes is defending her women's title.

Qualifying continues through May 26, with first round play starting on the 27th.

Javier Homers; Perry Gets Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Julian Javier will never be mistaken for Babe Ruth . . . but the slender St. Louis Cardinal is the Sultan of Swat today in the starry eyes of a McKeesport, Pa., youngster.

Javier borrowed a page from the Ruth legend Wednesday night after a hospital visit to 6-year-old Mark Sandusky, whose legs were crushed in a recent automobile accident.

The boy, who might never walk normally again according to his doctors, asked Javier to hit a home run for him in the Cards' game at Pittsburgh.

Javier obliged in the fourth inning, slamming his first homer of the season to back Steve Carlton's four-hit pitching and give the Cardinals their second successive 1-0 victory over the Pirates.

"I wasn't thinking about it," Javier said afterward. "But when I was running around the bases, I thought, 'Look what I did!' "

The Chicago Cubs caught Los Angeles from behind 5-3, Cincinnati trimmed the New York Mets 3-0 and San Francisco topped Houston 7-3 in other National League action. The Atlanta-Philadelphia game was rained out.

In the American League, Baltimore slugged Detroit 10-8, California beat the Chicago White Sox 4-2 at Milwaukee, Boston downed Washington 6-4 and the New York Yankees played Cleveland to a 2-2, rain-curtailed standoff. The Oakland-Minnesota game was washed out by rain.

Javier, the Cardinals' slick-fielding second baseman, hit Steve Blass' first pitch in the fourth inning into the light tower next to the left field scoreboard at Forbes Field.

Carlton held Pittsburgh hitless until the fifth and nursed the one-run edge all the way for his fourth victory against one loss. The tall southpaw struck out six and allowed only one runner to reach second base.

Dick Nen, a former Dodger, beat his old teammates with a two-run pinch hit single in the ninth, capping a three-run Chicago rally. Nen delivered the winning hit after Randy Hundley's run-scoring single tied the game.

Losing pitcher Jim Grant checked the Cubs on five hits until the ninth and slugged his first National League homer, a two-run shot in the third. Ernie Banks tied it with a two-run double in the fourth, but committed a seventh inning throwing error before Wes Parker's sacrifice fly sent the Dodgers in front 3-2.

George Culver blanked the Mets on seven hits and the Reds, who had dropped six of their previous seven starts, pounded loser Jerry Koosman and two relievers for 13.

The first of Tommy Helms' three singles drove in the only run Culver needed in the Reds' two-run second inning. Vada Pinson scored the second run on a single by Leo Cardenas and doubled another run home in the eighth.

Willie Mays' 571st career homer—a two-run blast in the first inning—triggered San Francisco's victory over the Astros. With Ollie Brown's two-run single keying a four-run burst in the sixth, the Giants built the lead to 7-0 before Doug Rader hit a three-run homer for Houston in the seventh.

Gaylord Perry picked up his fourth victory against two setbacks, but needed ninth inning help from Frank Linzy as the Giants beat the Astros for the 31st time in their last 34 meetings at Candlestick Park.

Stewards Bar Cavalaris

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thoroughbred racing's tarnished Triple Crown could get some polishing today, depending on the mood of Peter Fuller, the owner of Dancer's Image.

Lou Cavalaris, the colt's trainer, and his assistant, Robert Barnard, were suspended by Churchill Downs stewards late Wednesday night as a result of an illegal pain-relieving drug that led to Dancer's Image's disqualification from the May 4 Kentucky Derby.

Fuller who had left Louisville with Cavalaris en route back to Baltimore about an hour before the suspension was announced, told The Associated Press during a stopover in Chicago early today he had not decided whether to enter his colt in Saturday's Preakness.

Entries for the race were due today.

Before the hearing began earlier this week, Fuller had said Dancer's Image would not run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown at Pimlico if Cavalaris was suspended. But Cavalaris has urged all the while that the colt run, no matter what his status as a trainer.

The three stewards indicated further investigation was merited and referred the matter to the Kentucky Racing Commission.

Fuller said he would appeal the decision to the commission in hope that Cavalaris would be able to train Dancer's Image during the course of his suspension.

After meeting nearly 48 hours behind locked doors, the stewards announced that Cavalaris and Barnard were forbidden to enter any race track through June 13.

They also officially announced that Dancer's Image, who finished first in the Derby by 1½ lengths over Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, was disqualified and placed last.

This made Forward Pass the Derby winner, gave the first money of $122,600 to Calumet Farm, and gave the colt a shot at becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation added a Belmont Stakes triumph to Derby and Preakness victories.

Largest 'Home' Crowd Greets Sox As They Play In Milwaukee; Lose

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox brought major league baseball back to Milwaukee and got a wet reception from the weatherman, an impartial one from the fans and a beating from the California Angels. Only the size of the crowd—23,510—made the trip worthwhile.

After all, it was the size of the crowds in Chicago—the largest has been 11,546 this season—that prompted the Sox to schedule nine regular season games in Milwaukee, the first there since the Braves moved in 1965.

The White Sox themselves, however, failed to impress. Most of the fans sat through the rain that began in the early innings and the 29-minute delay in the eighth to see Paul Schaul single home two runs in that inning and give the Angels a 4-2 victory over Chicago.

The weather played a part in reducing the rest of the American League schedule as only two other games were completed—Baltimore outslugged Detroit 10-8 and Boston held off Washington 6-4.

The Oakland game at Minnesota was rained out as was the New York game at Cleveland where the Yankees and Indians were tied 2-2 after 7¼ innings.

In the National League, Atlanta was rained out at Philadelphia, but St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 1-0, San Francisco downed Houston 7-3, Cincinnati blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and the Chicago Cubs overcame Los Angeles 5-3.

The crowd at Milwaukee, quiet compared to the howling followers of the Braves, watched curiously as the Sox and Angels battled through seven innings tied 1-1.

Only Rick Reichardt, a college star at the University of Wisconsin, got a big hand from the fans, 45 of them his relatives and friends.

The players couldn't tell either from the crowd reaction who was the home team, and the Angels aroused some enthusiasm when they loaded the bases with none out against Bob Locker on Bob Rodgers' single, a double by Bobby Knoop and an intentional walk. Then came the delay, then came reliever Wilbur Wood then came Schaul and there went Chicago's hopes for a victory.

Chuck Hinton of California and Tom McCraw of the Sox traded homers in the ninth inning for the final score.

The backers of the game were delighted at the turnout, considering the tornado warnings in the area until 6 p.m., the rain and local television of the game.

The crowd in Detroit had plenty to keep it excited until the last out despite three-run homers by Boog Powell and pinch hitter Curt Motton of the Orioles and solo shots by teammates Elrod Hendricks and Dave Johnson.

A two-run homer by Mickey Stanley, a solo blast by Norm Cash, two triples by Dick McAuliffe and one by Al Kaline kept the Tigers in the game until Motton unloaded in the eighth for a 10-6 lead.

Detroit loaded the bases in the ninth with none out, but got only two runs in a vain attempt to save Denny McLain his first loss after five complete game victories. Baltimore instead ended its seven-game losing streak.

Jose Santiago gave up a two-run homer to Frank Howard, his 12th, and a solo clout by Ken McMullen in the first inning, but settled down and stopped Washington until the ninth while his Boston teammates overtook the Senators.

When Frank Coggins' double and a single by Bernie Allen scored a Washington run in the ninth, Sparky Lyle came on to get the last out and raise Santiago's record to 5-1.

The Yankees tied their game when Joe Pepitone doubled and Dick Howser hit a pinch single in the seventh inning before rain washed out their game with Cleveland. The records count, but the entire game will be replayed.

Ayden To Meet Creswell Friday

Ayden High School will meet Creswell Friday at 4 p.m. at East Carolina University's baseball field in the second round of the State Class A tournament.

The Tornadoes gained the second round with an 8-1 win over Robersonville, the defending state champion while Creswell downed Belhaven, 10-1.

The winner advances into the third round of play.

Ali Wants To Fight 'Em Both

CHICAGO (AP) — Cassius Clay, known as Muhammad Ali to his Muslim followers, proposed todya a three-man, multi-million-dollar fight off for charity to decide the real heavy weight boxing champion beofre he goes to jail.

"I expect to go to jail," the 25-year-old deposed but undefeated titleholder said. "Maybe in two months, maybe more — it's in the hands of the Supreme Court. But before I go, I'd like to see this heavyweight problem settled once and for all.

"I would be willing to fight Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis with 15 minutes rest between bouts, but I know the commissions wouldn't allow that.

"So we could stage one fight on Saturday night and the other one on Monday night — or maybe a week apart.

"We should hold it in the biggest outdoor stadium in the world. It would bring in millions of dollars. Half of the proceed could go to a poverty fund. The other half could be distributed equally among the fighters."

Clay returned home Wednesday from an Eastern speaking tour. He has addressed several campus college groups and says he has bookings for more tha 30 others.

"I am more famous as a speaker than I ever was as a boxer," Muhammad said.

A convert to the Muslim faith and a professed minister, the sleek Louisville Negro was given a maximum five-year sentence and fined $5,000 for refusing to enter the armed forces. His case is now being appealed to the Supreme Court.

After refusing to take the step for induction, Muhammad was stripped of his title by both the New York Athletic Commission and the World Boxing Association.

Ellis, former sparmate of the champion, recently won the WBA title tournament. Frazier, by beating Buster Mathis, gained the recognition of the New York Athletic Commission and a handful of other states.

"But nobody recognizes anybody but me as champion," Ali said. "A lot of people are protesting. They will call whoever wins 'the white man's champion' unless he beats me."

Oceanography Vessel Set For New Discoveries

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The world's most scientific drilling ship sails June 15 on an 18-month voyage across two oceans seeking long-buried treasures of vast potential to man's mind and purse.

The 400-foot Scripps Institution of Oceanography vessel will draw on craft orbiting in space for navigational guidance and warning of storms as it probes in record depths in the primordial ooze that covers seven-tenths of the planet.

Dr. Melvin N. A. Peterson, chief scientist for the National Science Foundation's Deep Sea Drilling Project, says the goals are both academic and practical.

The ship could find:

1. Clues to new oil fields believed bigger than any yet tapped from the continents and their fringes.

2. Precious metals—gold, silver and manganese—strewn in nodules, possibly layer upon layer for miles on either side of giant cracks in the earth's crust.

3. A history of earth, recorded in the sediments built up through the ages by the "snowfall" of plant and animal matter from the surface to the ocean floor.

Although the $12.5-million project is primarily scientific, he says, it is frankly aimed also at proving the economic benefits to be gained from exploring the ocean and its floor.

Although the ship is rigged much like those that drill for oil in the comparatively shallow waters of continental shelves, officials are hoping fervently they will not actually find oil.

Striking oil—and the gases captive in underground pools—could release a gigantic bubble to rise up through the ocean and burst at the surface, tossing the 10,500-ton ship like a raft caught in a hurricane.

"Chances are the ship would capsize," says Peterson.

'We are taking every possible precaution against finding it, even though locating possible oil-bearing areas is one of our major goals. If our core drill bites into anything that looks like oil sands we'll pull out and move off in a hurry."

The Scripps project calls for drilling 40 to 60 holes as deep as 2,500 feet in depths as great as 20,000 feet in the Atlantic and Pacific. Aboard the ship will be 75 scientists, engineers and crewmen—including expert geologists and drillers.

Peterson believes rich deposits of minerals may lie on the slopes of the great rises—much like mountain ranges—jutting up from the floors of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

One of the goals of the project is to take samples of the sediment on the slopes.

The ship that will make this possible is the Glomar Challenger, due to sail June 15 from Orange, Tex., on its maiden voyage. The latest thing in drilling ships, it has a 142-foot-tall derrick over a 20-22-foot center well through which as much as 23,000 feet of five-inch pipe can be lowered to core into the ocean floor.

Peterson says this will be the longest drill string ever suspended from a ship or floating platform.

Cores from the rotary-drilled holes will be pulled up continuously through the drill pipe.

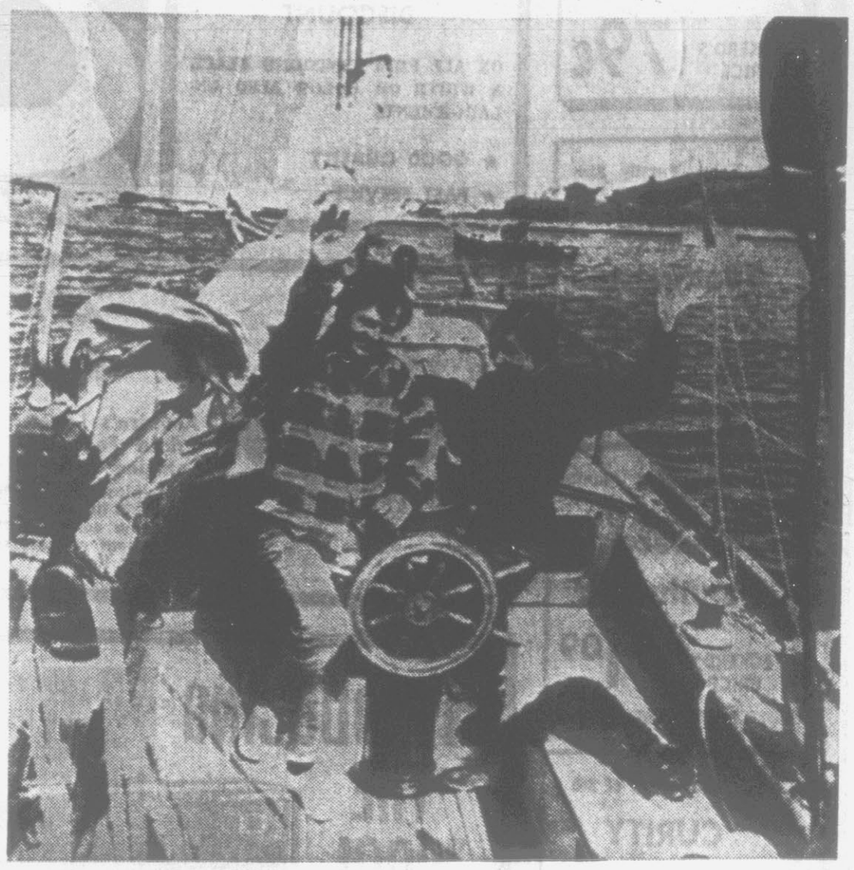
These cores will be the real prizes of the expedition. From the layers of sediment scientists hope to be able to reconstruct the history of the planet by dating the fossil remains of plants and animals which have died and fallen to the ocean bottom.

When evidences of oil or mineral wealth are found, the locations will be marked and the information released to industry.

The ship's first drilling test will come about July 1, when it will start coring into some mysterious humps dead center in the Gulf of Mexico. The humps, 10,000 feet below the surface of the ocean, are known to oceanographers as the Sigsbee Knolls and are believed to be salt domes formed by the pressure of sediment slowly sliding down the slopes of the Gulf basin.

Later the ship will move out into the Atlantic and on to the Pacific to test a spectacular new concept that the ocean floors are expanding outward from the great undersea rises and spreading the continents apart at a rate of an inch or so a year.

The theory is that all the continents once were a single land mass and split up and began to drift apart some 200 million years ago. It is based on the way the opposite coastlines of the Atlantic Ocean seem to match, like the opposite shores of a river. The fact that the opposite coastlines of the Pacific do not match is sometimes explained as being due to an ancient land collapse in the middle of that much wider ocean.



WHY RUSH? THE JOB IS A YEAR AWAY... Aaron and Bernice Jasper, both 26, wave from their 42-foot yawl Dryad in Scituate, Mass., before embarking on 15,000-mile voyage to San Francisco. Aaron is fresh out of four years in the Coast Guard with much of the time on an icebreaker off Antarctica. Mrs. Jasper, just out of Boston University graduate school, has a job as social director awaiting her in San Francisco in June — 1969, that is. (AP Wirephoto)

Retailer Said On Front Line Of Urban Solutions

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's retailers "can't stay at the same old stand and wait for the next eruption" of violence in the streets but must become active in leading the hard-core unemployed to jobs.

If they don't, says James J. Bliss, "they stand to lose the most. The retailer is right in the front line."

Bliss is the executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, a trade group for the department chain and specialty store industry. It's 2,000 members operate about 17,000 stores and annually account for about $30 billion of retail sales.

"We first started taking an actively increased interest in the hard-core unemployed last summer when the riots began, Bliss said in an interview.

Since the retailer stands "to lose the most among all of the business community," Bliss said, "he should be the most involved in trying to find solutions" to urban violence.

"The important thing," he said, "is that the retailer has to accept as a moral principle that the root causes of racial tension are basically wrong, and he has to do something about it. Unless that moral commitment is made the outlook is going to be bleak."

In an effort to get this message to its members, the association has begun issuing a newsletter devoted to the retailer's role in the interracial climate of his community.

Much of the newsletter, called "Crisis '68!", details examples of how retailers around the nation are handling the problem of recruiting the hard-core unemployed and training them to hold jobs in their stores.

"Many of the hard core are not educated," Bliss said. "Many of them live in a welfare environment and in a home where they never saw a person gainfully employed and where the idea of working for a living and standing on their own two feet is an alien one. To many of them having to work is an entirely new concept."

Much of the work in preparing the hard core for jobs is being done by government agencies, Bliss said, but some also is being handled by the merchants themselves.

"A number of New York stores, for example, have banded together to develop the facilities needed to give this feeder training to these people," Bliss said. "It aims at getting them to overcome their distrust as well as teaching them how to behave in the business world and the white world."

An example of how bridge building can pay off happened recently in an Eastern city where two stores of similar size and clientele hired about 100 slum dwellers who had been trained in the same job opportunities program.

One store lost about 90 per cent of these employes in about three weeks. The other store managed to keep most of them on the payroll.

"The reason the one store lost out was that it just decided to start recruiting Negroes without deciding how to accomplish this," Bliss said. "The other store went about it in a well organized way. It knew it had to make the Negro himself as well as the people already in the store aware that the management was serious."

"Many retailers are successful in keeping their hard-core recruits," he said. "But more has to be done, a lot more. It's going to take time. You are not going to see immediate results."

Pitt Bar Ass'n Honors House, Elects Officers

Fred Mattox was elected president of the Pitt County Bar Association at the groups meeting Tuesday night.

The dinner program at the Greenville Golf and Country Club honored D. T. House, retired clerk of superior court in Pitt County.

The attorneys presented House who served as clerk of superior court for more than 20 years with a silver bowl and silver candlesticks.

He retired from the clerk's post March 30.

Guests at the meeting included Mrs. House, Judge and Mrs. Elbert Peel Jr. of Williamston, district solicitor Luther Hamilton of Morehead City and wives of the Pitt lawyers.

Named as officers of the association in addition to Mattox were Horton Roundtree, vice-president, and Robert Browning, secretary-treasurer.

The Tuesday meeting, with 72 persons attending including lawyers and guests, was the largest Pitt Bar meeting ever held.

Uncovers Supply Of Old Chairs

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — If ice cream parlor chairs are of value to antique collectors, then Milwaukee County has found a bonanza in an attic. Howard A. McMillan, the county's purchasing agent, said Tuesday 326 wire-back chairs were found stored in an attic of a county-owned building. McMillan said officials don't know how or when the county acquired the chairs.

Four Alumni In OYMA Volume

Four East Carolina University graduates are listed in the 1968 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America" published this week.

The honored ECU alumni are James W. Chesnutt of Durham Henry James Hankins Jr. of Fayetteville, C. Eugene Prescott of Greenville and Julian R. Vainright of Greenville.

A 14-man national board of editors made selections for the OYMA volume and the chairman of the board said each young man listed "has distinguished himself in one or more fields of endeavor to the point of being outstanding."

All men chosen for the book are between the ages of 21 and 35.

New Medicare Handbook Soon

Within the coming weeks, older people in Pitt County will be receiving a new copy of "Your Medicare Handbook," a new up-to-date guidebook on their Medicare benefits, how the program works, and how payments are made.

Jack Tatem, social security district manager, Greenville, N. C., said the new Handbook highlights the changes enacted in the 1967 social security amendments improving protection and simplifying Medicare procedures. It has also been made easier for older people to read and understand.

In developing the new edition of "Your Medicare Handbook," Mr. Tatem said, the Social Security Administration sought the suggestions of elderly readers as well as experts in the field of communications and representatives of professional organizations.

Delivery of the new red, white, and blue edition to the 9.6 million Americans 65 and over will be cycled over the next 6 weeks, Mr. Tatem said.

In an introductory letter on the inside front cover of the new Handbook, Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, reminds older people: "If you need further information or want help concerning your Medicare protection or any other social security matters, pease get in touch with your social security office. The people there are always glad to help you."

Read Papers At History Meet

Two students and one faculty member of East Carolina University read papers at the recent Carolinas conference of Phi Alpha Theta honorary society in history.

Dr. Fred Ragan presented one of three faculty papers given at the meeting.

Paul Allen, a junior from Farmville, read "The Russian Icon," one of four student papers on non-Western history.

Norman Tharrington, a senior from Louisburg, gave one of four student papers on American history, a study of North Carolina's tax program for the years 1876-'94.

Only East Carolina and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill had both students and faculty to read papers at the conference.

Honolulu Eases Its Traffic Code

HONOLULU (AP) — Minor traffic violators in Honolulu no longer face the possibility of a jail sentence.

The Honolulu City Council recently approved an amendment to the city traffic code which reduced the maximum fine from $1,000 to $200.

City Councilman Ben F. Kaito said major traffic offenders still will face a possible jail sentence under state law.

Offer Apathy As A Compromise

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A group of Marquette University students announced Tuesday a campaign of apathy as a compromise between two other groups which have differed this month over tactics involved in campus protest demonstrations.

The new group calls itself STOP. The two other groups are Respond and Reply.

STOP circulated pamphlets Tuesday advocating "the propagation of listlessness, de-escalation of involvement, and pursuit of nothing in particular."

Hawkins Goes On Trial Next Week

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Dr. Reginald Hawkins, the first Negro ever to run for North Carolina governor, is scheduled to go on trial next week on voter registration charges.

Hawkins, a Charlotte dentist, minister and civil rights activist, ran third in the Democratic gubernatorial primary.

He is charged with interfering with a voter registrar in 1965. The trial has been delayed for various reasons, including an unsuccessful attempt by Hawkins to have the trial transferred to federal court.

Opinion-Spouting Prof Stirs Students And Administrators

By DAN SELLARD

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — When Art Pearl speaks, people listen.

Pearl is a stocky, cigar chewing University of Oregon education professor with opinions on just about everything and the kid of approach that gets his opinions heard.

"First you've got to get their attention," he explains Some sample Pearl attention-getters:

—On education: "Just about 90 per cent of the kids in Oregon are being shortchanged because teachers are doing a lousy job."

—On the war on poverty: "We ought to create jobs first, then get them (the poor) an education."

—On the war in Vietnam: "When the President tells us we can have guns and butter both, he lies."

—On student drug use: "The deans of students, more than anybody else, promote drug use on campus by limiting other outlets for students."

This kind of approach has had Pearl embroiled in controversy ever since he hit the U of O campus from Howard University in 1965. In no time after he got here he was raising the hackles on the backs of many educators' necks.

In speech after speech he has derided educators for failing to educate. Some educators, he said, "put youngsters on a shelf for 20 years. When they come down, they're not prepared to enter the civilization waiting for them."

He is critical of teachers, administrators, school boards and schools of education. And the fact that he teaches in one of the latter doesn't faze his attack.

"We have no right to victimize kids beacuse teachers can't teach," he says. "Schools of education do not challenge their students. We don't really have enough interesting, challenging courses in our schools."

Among students at the U of O School of Education there is no question about whether Art Pearl's courses are interesting or challenging. Each one he teaches is jammed.

But there's some disagreement among his colleagues on Pearl's approaches to matters educational.

Many regard him as a bona fide innovator, one who thinks up new projects, new ways to teach. These people say Pearl's criticisms are not the shoot-from-the-hip variety, but well-prepared and documented.

But a fellow U of O Education School faculty member thinks Pearl "sometimes goes too far."

New York born Pearl is 44, holds a Ph. D. from the University of California. In his youth he did some semi-pro boxing, but quit. His reasons, "I didn't like getting hit." He gets hit plenty in his present role, but he seems to enjoy it.

Pearl is in demand all over the country. He packs in about 50h ours of teaching and counseling at the U of O during the first four days of each week and then takes off for a speaking engagement or school consultant job.

The work may be helping a school district establish a curriculum, helping plug for advancement of the war on poverty, or speaking about professionalism in teaching.

Entire Indian Families Given A New Chance

By NEIL BIBLER
Associated Press Writer

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Montana's hard-core jobless Indian has a "cry in his heart to become one of the other people." A program at the University of Montana here is giving whole families that chance.

The $850,000 federal-state project takes the families off the reservation and places them on campus for study in basic education.

With the reading, language skills and arithmetic go health and home economics for the Indian housewives, public school for their older children and nursery care for the little ones.

The project is taking place near the Bitterroot Valley, which was once the home ground of the Salish Indians. To the north lies the reservation of Kootenai and Kalispells to which the Salish were moved in 1891.

May 17 is graduation day for 76 heads of families from Montana's seven Indian reservations. Most of the trainees had less than a high school education and were without jobs or locked in low paying ones.

They represent 60 per cent of the total who began the 24- to 36-week program. One project leader, Dr. James Hall, calls the drop-out rate "quite minimal.

"These people were school drop-outs before they entered the program," Hall says. "I would have been happy with 40 per cent remaining in." Hall is coordinator of extension and continuing education for the universit; He drew the plans and got the money for the project.

The federal agencies involved —the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Manpower Development and Training Administration, and the Office of Economic Opportunity—consider the trainees for the most part the hard-core unemployed.

The project provides basic skills and prevocational orientation; the BIA then places the graduates in appropriate work, knowing the individual is ready for the higher step and has some idea of where he wants to go.

Statistically, the gro·· in the basic education course started with a grade-level average of 7.4 on the California Achievement Test. After 20 weeks of study, the average was 9.1. Twenty-two persons have passed tests to earn the equivalent of a high school education.

Less than one-quarter of the Indians was employed before the project. Those who held jobs earned $300-$2,500 a year.

Under the program, heads of family get $32 per week for subsistence, plus $5 for each dependent. They also get $70-$114 per month from the BIA. A family of five children gets $360 a month and pays its own rent and utilities for campus housing. They are given a BIA grant for furniture at the start.

Those in the family life program study such subjects as birth control, preparation of budgets, and how to cook nutritious and varied menus. They make field trips to supermarkets for shopping study and to banks for training in handling checking accounts.

Among the children, preschoolers who are old enough go to head start programs, then return to the nursery. Toddlers and slightly older children spend the day there, but all eat with their families. School-age youngsters attend Missoula public schools.

Hall feels the program's success lies in working with the whole family. "It's with the singal individual where you have the drop-out problem," he says.

TV Set Named 'Thelma' Tattles On Repair Gyps

By JACK KNEECE
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Somewhere in Baltimore—in a secret location—a television set named Thelma is helping to ease racial tension.

Maryland's Consumer Protection Division is using the television set, dubbed Thelma by the director of the division, Norman Polovoy, to help eliminate the TV repair shops which prey on ghetto dwellers.

"It is a set," says Polovoy, "that we have inspected and examined from top to bottom. There is just one minor thing wrong with that set.

"So when we turn that set over to a TV repairman he had better not tell us we need a new tube for $40 or $50, or a new transformer."

Polovoy, a 39-year-old attorney, says he could make much more money devoting all of his time to his private law practice but adds that he gets a kick out of putting the skids under unscrupulous merchants and salesmen.

Polovoy and his boss, Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch, see the division, which is only seven months old, as a vital means of protecting the poor.

"I remember during the riots last summer," said Polovoy, "that some merchants who had dealt justly with the poor had been protected by them. I even saw some armed guards—slumdwellers—who had stationed themselves in front of one man's store. And he was a white man."

Polovoy said constantly being preyed upon has built up such terrible frustrations and quiet rage that rioting and other less violent forms of protest are almost the inevitable result.

"We want to act as a safety valve and at the same time show that state government is not some vague entity in some shiny building far away," said Polovoy.

"That's one of the reasons we have begun opening our offices on Saturdays. What could be more frustrating than to have a complaint on a busy day and find that the branch of state government to help you was closed?"

Though Maryland's Consumer Protection Division is relatively small with five staffers, and relatively late, with 26 other states having started such divisions first, Polovoy says "We are probably the most hyperactive."

He explains that he has even succeeded in interesting several law students who help on a voluntary basis without pay — "our own VISTA program."

Though a primary aim is the protection of the poor, the division also has some more impressive trophies. These include an outfit who collected money door-to-door and from churches and church organizations to send cigarettes to Vietnam.

"They collected $4,000 during one period and sent $278 worth of cigarettes to Vietnam," said Polovoy. "Then they used a letter of thanks from a colonel in Vietnam to give the racket what looked, at first, like a respectable cover."

Polovoy's office sought two additional weapons for its legal arsenal in the just-ended session of the General Assembly, but both measures died a quiet death in the House Economic Matters Committee.

He said he plans to try to get them passed next session. One would permit homeowners a 72-hour cooling off period as a guard against high pressure salesman. Another would eliminate referral sales in Maryland.

Meanwhile, said Polovoy, "we're still using Thelma and soon we'll be able to step in and get rid of a lot of these so-called TV repairmen.

"If we've learned anything," he said, "it is how tragic it is when a poverty-stricken person, whose life may revolve around the TV set as a means of inexpensive entertainment, is suddenly deprived of that set by a phony repairman."

NOTICE

The Pitt County Board of Equalization and Review will meet in the Commissioner's Room in the Pitt County Courthouse, Monday, May 27th at 3:00 p.m. This is for the purpose of reviewing the assessed value placed on property for the first time in 1968 in the following townships within the county:

Belvoir, Carolina, Chicod, Falkland, Pactolus and Swift Creek.

.....The Board of Equalization expects to complete all hearings and adjourn June 3, 1968. In the event of a later adjournment, a notice to that effect will be published in this paper.

You may examine your appraisal on file in the Pitt County Tax Department prior to the meeting of the board. If, after your examination, you feel the value placed on your property is not comparable with similar property in the county, you may present your case before the Board of Equalization and Review.

R. S. Moye
Pitt County Tax Supervisor

Court Martial Clears Marine

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — Sgt. Shelly Harden was cleared of all charges of mistreating Marine recruits Wednesday.

The 26-year-old Vietnam veteran is expecting orders for his second tour of duty in Vietnam this July.

The special court martial panel deliberated one hour and 40 minutes before returning its verdict of innocent for the Negro Marine from Akron, Ohio.

Harden took the stand to deny charges that he had mistreated recruits. Among defense witnesses was a former fellow drill instructor of Hardens' S. Sgt. Joseph Johnson of Wayne, N.C., who was cleared of similar charges last week.

During defense summation, Hardens' civilian attorney, state Sen. James P. Harrelson of Coleton, told the court if it "found this man guilty, every battle this corps has ever fought would be a hollow mockery and empty victory."

The charges against Harden and Johnson had grown out of a complaint by a mother of a recruit, who claimed her son and other recruits had been mistreated.

Profits In Ugly Legs Contest

PALISADE, Colo. (AP) — Boys at Palisade High School showed their legs in a good cause. Photos in the school's "ugly legs" contest were displayed in the school office. Each penny dropped into a canister beneath each photo counted as one vote. The winner received a prize and the voting pennies went into the Student Council fund to buy glass backboards for the basketball court.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

SUGAR CITY, Colo. (AP) — Sugar City lost the chief reason for its name. The National Sugar Manufacturing Co. closed its factory here.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets weaker Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand slow. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 33-35 medium, whites: 28½-31; small, whites: 25.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog market was mostly steady today. Tops 18.25-19.25 Rocky Mount; 18.25-19.00 Wilson; 18.00-19.00 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Kount Olive, Newton Grove, Albertson, Lumberton 18.25-18.75 Bethel 17.75-18.75 Tarboro; 18.75 Rich Square; 18.50 Greensboro, Salisbury; 18.00 Siler City, Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gold-mining stocks continued to rise this afternoon as the over-all stock market moved irregularly lower. Trading was active.

Prices were mixed at the start as the list resumed its irresolute pattern of recent sessions.

There was some concern over the renewed advance in the price of gold bullion in world markets. Scarcity of the metal and worry over the U.S. balance of payments situation were cited by Wall Streeters as among reasons for the gold-price rise further above $40 an ounce.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 329.7 with industrials up .1, rails off .7, and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.27 at 906.55.

Losses outnumbered gains by well over 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

As the gold-mining stocks advanced, American-South African and Dome Mines added a couple of points each, Homestake about 1½, McIntyre-Porcupine 1, and Campbell Red Lake a fraction.

The top steels and motors showed very little change.

Eastern Air Lines was ahead more than a point after selling on a block of 25,000 snares.

Berman Leasing, a big gainer recently on various corporate developments, fell afoul of profit taking and sank 3 points. National Sugar Refining, another outsize gainer in the last couple of sessions, toppled about 2½.

The computer stocks continued under pressure, Control Data losing 4 and IBM 2.

Losses of a point or more were taken also by Eastman Kodak, U.S. Gypsum and M-G-M.

Mapco Inc., whose name was recently changed from Mid-America Pipe Line, was off ½ at 30½ on a block of 150,000 shares, boosting it to the top of the most-active list.

Airmen Injured In Ejection

POMONA, Kan. (AP) — Two Cherry Point Marine airmen were injured after they ejected from their jet attack bomber Wednesday during a cross-country flight.

Maj. Donald Crowe, 33, the pilot, suffered a broken leg and Capt James Klingerman, the navigator, was under treatment for back injuries.

Obituaries

Blount

Mrs. Clyde Stancill Blount, 78, wife of Judson H. Blount, died Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock in a Raleigh Nursing Home following sever a l years of illness. Funeral services will be conducted at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Friday morning at 11 o'clock by her pastor, Dr. Joyce V. Early. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. New Apartment Bldg. Collapses

LONDON (AP) — The side of a brand-new 23-floor apartment building in London's East End collapsed after an explosion at dawn today. Ten persons perished or are missing.

Police said three bodies had been recovered from the wreckage.

Seven occupants of the building were taken to a hospital and police said there was little hope of finding any more survivors in the rubble.

Firemen pulled tons of debris from the crumpled side of the building but rescue teams were called off because of the danger of falling walls.

Authorities said evidence of an explosion was found near a gas stove on the 18th floor of the building, which was completed only two months ago.

Most of the collapsed rooms were dining areas or small lounges. And since the explosion occurred at 5:30 a.m., most of the building's tenants were asleep elsewhere in their apartments.

One man on the 21th floor slept through the whole thing.

"We smashed his door down and he came out in his pajamas and said, What the hell's going on? Then he saw his living room had disappeared," a fireman said.

Grant Charters To 3 Chapters

The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, honorary professional organization for women educators, recently granted charters to three new chapters in North Carolina.

Mrs. Rosalie M. Pruette, state president, and Mrs. Antoinette S. Jenkins, state chairman of the Committee of Expansion, officated at the ceremonies.

Mrs. Jenkins is a faculty member emeritus of the English Department of East Carolina University, a charter member of Beta Alpha Chapter in the Greenville-Pitt County area, and a member of the International Committee on Professional Affairs during the present biennium.

The three chapters formed were: Beta Lambda Chapter in Goldsboro-Wayne County area; Beta Mu and Beta Nu Chapters in the Winston-Salem-Forsyth County area.

'Tight Money Is Coming' Says Speaker At Seminar

"Tight money is coming," predicted Robert B. Gelbert at a Grain Hedging Seminar at the Greenville Moose Lodge last night.

Approximately 210 farmers, bankers, and grain dealers gathered to hear the PhD in marketing and economics speak on the strategy of hedging.

Gelbert spoke of hedging as a tool, that if improperly used could "result in a bungling job with injuries to the user."

Gelbert explained that it was not enough to buy grain in hopes that the price would go up due to problems in other parts of the country. He hammered on the theme of locking in profits by smart dealing and utilizing price predictions made on a "cost basis."

Gelbert is in charge of the Bache and Company Chicago Commodity Operations and is an internationally known authority on grain.

Commissioner of Agriculture James A. Graham attended the seminar and read telegrams from Congressmen Walter B. Jones and L. H. Fountain expressing regret that due to legislative commitments they would be unable to attend.

Bob Scott, Lieutenant Governor, and Democratic candidate for Governor, was also on the guest list but did not attend.

Support Rising For FSU Prexy

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — As support surged today for President John Champion to reconsider his resignation, Florida State University students discussed whether they should call off their week-long sit-in to relieve tension at the school.

The protesters scheduled a mass meeting and Mrs. Laurel Akers, editor of the school literary magazine, said they would vote on whether to declare at least a temporary truce in their the administration building.

The faculty senate voted by a large margin to request Champion to stay on as president.

The 46-year-old president announced Tuesday that he was stepping down Tuesday after faculty members of the College of Arts and Sciences voted 175 165 to table a motion asking for his resignation.

From 20 to 1,500 of FSU's 15,-200 students have staged a vigil since last Thursday to protest Champion's banning of a story containing "four letter words" from the literary magazine.

Offer Two-Act Operetta Tonight

WINTERVILLE — "The Sunbonnet Girl," an operetta in two acts, will be presented at the W. H. Robinson High School here tonight beginning at 8 o'clock.

"The Sunbonnet Girl" will feature all grades at the W. H. Robinson School.

Included on the program will be a modern dance, "Creation," done by a group from the high school. The "good old days of the early 1900's" will be featured by grades one through five in dances and grades six through eight will present the monologue.

WHAT MILK CAN DO

LUDLOW P,a. (AP) — Volunteer firemen responded quickly when the engine of Leroy Harlan's milk truck caught on fire. They needn't have bothered. Harlan put the fire out with six quarts of milk.

Artists' Work In Three States

Peter Jones, East Carolina University faculty artist, and his wife Gwen placed six works in three recent shows.

Jones placed a print titled "Juniper Variation" in the 3rd National Print and Drawing Exhition at Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo and a painting by the same name in the 19th Irene Leach Memorial Biennial Exhibition at Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Jones placed a drawing, "IM Series 1," in the Kalamazoo show, paintings titled "Self-Portrait in a Bird House" and "Creeping Ferstman" in the Norfolk Show.

She placed a drawing called "Frolicking 2" in the 12th annual North Dakota National Print and Drawing Exhibition."

Giving Program Friday Night

The South Ayden School faculty and parents will present "Fashion and Sounds of Music" Friday night at 8 p.m. in the South Ayden gymtorium.

A special attraction will be "Little Caesar and the Romans," a group from Elizabeth City State College.

Mrs. Helen Gay New Head Of State Ass'n

Mrs. Helen Kemp Gay, a Greenville native and East Carolina University graduate, was installed as president of the North Carolina Speech and Hearing Association last weekend.

Mrs. Gay, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Kemp, received her B.S. degree and M.A. degree from East Carolina University.

Mrs. Gay currently is supervising speech and hearing therapist in the Raleigh Schools and summer school instructor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Education, was installed during the organization's annual meeting held at the Statler Hilton Inn in Winston-Salem May 10-11.

CP&L Plans Rate Hike To Meet Taxes

RALEIGH (AP) — Carolina Power & Light Co. plans to seek a rate increase if the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge is approved by Congress

Shearon Harris, company president, told a stockholder's meeting Wednesday that the proposed tax surcharge would reduce the company's earnings substantially.

"For example, had it been in effect in 1967, it would have reduced per share earnings by 14 cents a share (from $1.91)," he said.

Harris commented on the tax bill in answering a stockholder's question at the meeting. He said that if the tax bill is approved in its present form, the proposed rate changes would mean a 2.7 per cent increase in the average customer's elctric bill.

He said CP&L faces a "tremendous challenge" in raising the money it needs for future expansion.

"If the surtax becomes law," Harris said, "we plan to file a tax clause applicable to all rate schedules to pass directly to all our customers the effects of the tax change."

Financing New Egypt Project

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union pledged to supply Egypt with equipment for construction of an iron and steel complex under an agreement signed here Wednesday.

The new project is rated as the second biggest in Egypt, after the Aswan High Dam, which also was financed by Moscow.
