Crisis Address Slated Today By Pres. DeGaulle

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — Premier Georges Pompidou summoned labor and business leaders to meet with him Saturday to seek a solution to the crushing strike wave paralyzing most of France's economic life.

More and greater turmoil threatened, meanwhile, as workers, students and farmers called a new round of demonstrations today a few hours before President Charles de Gaulle's address to the nation.

DeGaulle was expected to give his analysis of the situation and propose broad outlines for a settlement. The government then would try to reach an agreement with business and labor within these guidelines.

The Communist-led General Confederation of Workers France's biggest union, immediately accepted Pompidou's invitation to meet but expressed that "24 hours are being lost." The French Confederation of Democratic Workers also accepted, but warned that the strikes would not stop.

French farmers were out by the thousands in protest against a possibility the six-nation Common Market will order the limiting of government subsidies on dairy products at a meeting in Brussels next week. That would mean lower prices for such items as milk, butter and cheese. West Germany wants to curb such outlays.

Tractors and barricades were used to halt traffic on many roads in Brittany and south and central France. The farmers moved from car to car to explain their economic difficulties to motorists, then allowed them to proceed.

Premier Pompidou told newsmen Agriculture Minister Edgar Faure has been instructed to establish a French position of "extreme firmness on the organization of the agricultural markets" when he and his colleagues in the Common Market open the Brussels meeting Monday.

Complicating the situation, Belgium, which has a crisis of its own, asked its Common Market partners to postpone the meeting. Belgians were reported to want to avoid more trouble for their premier-designate, Paul van dem Boeynants, who is trying to form a new government.

Students rioted in Paris Thursday for the second night in succession, and authorities feared the violence would increase. Interior Minister Christian Fouchet warned that "armed extremists" hoped to use the demonstrations today to set off violence which would not be controlled.

The National Students Union scheduled demonstrations at four points in northeastern Paris. The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Workers announced two marches across the southern half of the city.

In the provinces, organizations of farmers called demonstrations to show solidarity with the workers and students—and to demand that the government protect them in coming price negotiations with the other Common Market countries.

Sea Of Mud; Flu Epidemic Feared

Rains Force An Exodus At 'Resurrection City'

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heavy rains turned Resurrection City, U.S.A. into a sea of mud today and forced at least a temporary evacuation of most of the residents of the Poor People's Campaign shantytown.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, Resurrection City manager, said plans are being made to shift about 2,000 of the 2,400 residents to churches in metropolitan Washington.

Meanwhile the campaign sustained Thursday its first group arrests after a Capitol Hill demonstration the movement's leader called unplanned and unfortunate.

But it also received its first federal response as Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman promised to expand federal food programs and 30 senators and representatives set up an informal unofficial liaison committee between Congress and the campaign.

Jackson said there also is danger of a flu epidemic sweeping the campsite at Lincoln Memorial.

Campaign leaders issued a call for thousands of boots and raincoats for the campaign demonstrators. It has rained heavily for 24 hours and more rain is predicted today and Saturday.

Jackson also said there is a need for more temporary accommodations outside the camp area to house inhabitants until conditions improve.

Jackson described the conditions as "rather deplorable." The mud is four to five inches thick, he said.

The planned evacuation will not interrupt the campaign's efforts to convince Congress and the federal government that more help is needed for the poor, Jackson said.

"We will evacuate as many as possible today, particularly mothers with small children," he said. "and once we've done that we plan to send some welfare mothers back to the Capitol and have a prayer vigil at the Department of Agriculture."

The 12 adults and 6 juveniles arrested Thursday for singing and kneeling outside a House office building—banned as unlawful assembly on Capitol Hill—were released without bond in the custody of a campaign official.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and leader of the Poor People's Campaign, said no SCLC official was with the group but that this will be required in the future.

"We are not quite ready to up the movement to mass arrests," one of Abernathy's lieutenants, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, told newsmen.

Jackson, -"city manager" of the poor people's shantytown near the Lincoln Memorial, hustled to Capitol Hill after receiving word that arrests were being made.

Near Showdown On Demands To End Bombing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam are moving toward a showdown in the Paris peace talks on the issue of ending U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese territory, and there is no compromise in sight.

Each government is expected to increase its pressure on the other in the meetings ahead, with the threat of a breakdown in the talks, a weapon both are already using.

U.S. officials say they believe that North Vietnam's main aim is still to win the war by coordinated action on three fronts—trying to undermine the U.S.-supported government in Saigon, pressing the United States for concessions in the Paris talks, and striving for new military victories in South Vietnam.

A long-range secondary aim, they say, may be to negotiate a compromise settlement, for which their bargaining position would be strengthened by whatever gains they can make in South Vietnam.

President Johnson declared in Washington Thursday that "Hanoi is telling its forces in the South that they must continue their aggressive effort to support their negotiators."

At the same time Johnson said that the United States "will not be defeated on the battlefield while he talks go on" permitting the enemy "to achieve a victory that would make a mockery of the negoitations."

U.S. Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, also speaking in Washington, put the problem from the U.S. point of view in terms that North Vietnam has used to describe its own operations.

"The North Vietnamese have consistently stated," Clifford said, "that their intention was to fight and negotiate, and we must be prepared, both physically and psychologically, to do the same."

Johnson said, "It still is not clear that Hanoi is ready for an early and honorable peace."

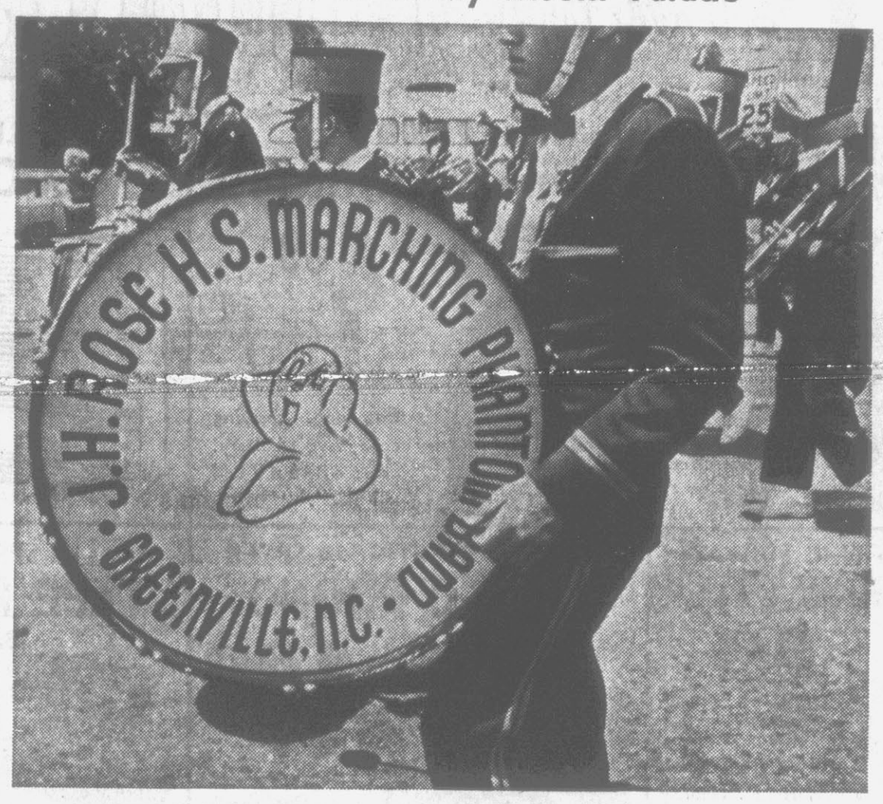

His statement seemed to reflect the frustration experienced by his negotiating team in Paris at failure to make any progress in opening secret talks with the North Vietnamese. This was proposed to Ambassador Xuan Thuy by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in their meeting Wednesday and Thuy rejected it.

Thuy's strategy, at least through the Wednesday session, has been to use the talks as a forum from which to present his case to world public opinion that the United States is guilty of aggression against North Vietnam and should end all its attacks against that country without getting any North Vietnamese de-escalation in return.

The Harriman-Thuy conference is coming to the end of its second week with four meetings held, including only one this week. The next meeting is scheduled for Monday. While the sessions have been held behind closed doors, U.S. and North Vietnamese spokesmen have made public reports of virtually everything important that was said.

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko supported Hanoi's demands for an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing but in talks with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart gave the impression he was not too pessimistic about the future of the Paris talks.

Big Bombers Saturate Red Route

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of America's biggest bombers kept up one of the most concentrated saturation attacks of the war today against North Vietnamese troops reported crossing from Laos into the center of South Vietnam. The intensified air campaign was aimed at stopping any major enemy thrust across the country.

In 10 missions Thursday and today, at least 30 Air Force B52 bombers rained nearly 1,000 tons of explosives along enemy areas near the junction of the borders of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

While the pressure mounted in the central highlands, U.S. Marines just below the demilitarized zone reported 203 North Vietnamese killed in a savage two-day battle. The Leathernecks said 23 of their men were killed and 86 wounded in the action Wednesday and Thursday two miles northeast of Con Thien.

Bombing of the central highlands was stepped up after North Vietnamese troops were reported crossing over the Laotian frontier in force. U.S. intelligence officers in the field said the Communist command might try to grab a large chunk of South Vietnam's central plateau to put more teeth into its demands at the Paris peace talks.

The first North Vietnamese divisions ever identified in South Vietnam tried to cut the country in half in 1965 but American troops drove them back during a fall of bloody fighting.

Flying at altitudes of more than 20,000 feet, the huge planes attacked staging areas, troop concentrations, bunkers, artillery positions and antiaircraft batteries between the Laotian border and Dak To.

U.S. outposts at the head of a valley that stretches from the Laotian border south to Dak To report heavy traffic nightly along the route which serves as the main north-south highway through the highlands.

Intelligence reports said two regiments from the North Vietnamese 325th Division have completed a 165-mile march south from near Khe Sanh to an area west of Kontum, possibly to reinforce another enemy division and four independent regiments along South Vietnam's western border.

Hawkins Cleared Of Old Elections Charge

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Dr. Reginald A. Hawkins, Charlotte dentist and unsuccessful Negro candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, was freed today of charges that he had violated state election laws.

Mecklenburg Superior Court Judge James Pou Bailey dismissed the charges because, he said, "There just wasn't the evidence."

The dismissal was granted on the motion of defense attorney J. Lavonne Chambers after the state had completed presentation of its case.

Hawkins was charged with illegally registering four unqualified Negroes to vote and with interfering with the registrar. Three of the Negroes have testified they can neither read nor write, and the fourth that he can read and write very little.

One of them, Mrs. Martha Gibson, Thursday recanted testimony she had given the previous day when she said she had not seen Hawkins in the school gymnasium where the registration took place.

Mrs. Gibson, insisting she was now telling "the truth, nothing but the truth," testified she had seen Hawkins and spoke with him at the registration session. She said Hawkins "asked me if I could read or write, and I said 'no.'"

She said she had first testified she had not seen him because a tall, thin Negro man she could not identify had come to her home three weeks ago and threatened to beat her if she testified against Hawkins.

Solicitor Elliott Schwartz said he would look into the alleged threat after the Hawkins case is finished.

The registrar in the school gymnasium on April 8, 1964, Mrs. A. M. Houston, has testified that Hawkins had given literacy tests and registration oaths to 45 or 50 persons that night.

Films Showing Spock In Action Shown Jury

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON

BOSTON (AP) — Television films of Dr. Benjamin Spock standing on the steps of the Justice Department building in Washington, exhorting young men to continue resisting the draft, have been shown to a federal jury trying the pediatrician and four others on antidraft charges.

"Remember, the greatest weapon the government has is division and we must not attack each other, we must stick together,' Spock was heard to say in the film of an antidraft rally last Oct. 20.

Also seen and heard in the films projected Thursday was another defendant, Yale Chaplain William Slone Coffin Jr., 43.

On trial with the 65-year-old baby doctor and Coffin are Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington research director; and Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard. All are charged with conspiring to counsel, aid and abet young Americans to evade and avoid the draft.

The government contends that during the rally, Coffin, Spock, Goodman, Raskin and others attempted to hand over a briefcase containing 185 draft cards and 172 classification cards to John McDonough, an assistant deputy U.S. attorney general, at a meeting inside the building in a deliberate violation of Selective Service laws.

The incident is one of several upon which the government based its indictments against the defendants, who face five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines if convicted.

Spock's remarks during the meeting, McDonough said, were confined to a condemnation of the Vietnam war and the claim that President Johnson was trying "to save face" by continuing the war.

McDonough did not accept the cards, but the government says the visitors left the briefcase on a table as they walked out.

Goldwater's Libel Suit Going To Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — A major point for the jury to decide in Barry Goldwater's libel suit is whether malice was involved in the issue of Fact magazine a month before the 1964 election which carried a headline reading: "1,189 psychiatrists say Goldwater is psychologically unfit to be president."

Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential candidate, has testified that the magazine, now defunct, maliciously libeled him. The defense has denied this and Fact publisher Ralph Ginzburg testified he meant no harm to Goldwater and denied calling him mentally ill or a homosexual. But Goldwater's lawyer said Ginzburg was motivated by "actual malice."

After almost three weeks of testimony, the case was expected to go to the jury of nine men and three women today following instructions by U.S. District Judge Harold R. Tyler Jr.

Goldwater originally sued for $2 million from Fact, Ginzburg and Warren Boroson, who was managing editor of the magazine.

But the former Arizona senator's counsel, Roger Robb of Washington, did not ask for any specific amount of compensatory damages in his summation Thursday. The amount "is up to you," he told the jurors. Then he asked: "How much is a man's reputation worth?"

Most LBJ Advisers See Little Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of President Johnson's top economic advisers now appear willing to accept $6 billion in spending cuts as the price for higher taxes if that's the best bargain they can strike.

Of the top four, only Budget Bureau Director Charles S. Zwick is still firmly committed to no more than $4 billion in spending cuts—a position taken by the President.

The first test vote on the compromise package worked out by Senate-House negotiators will come next week.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., plans to offer a resolution Wednesday instructing House negotiators to resume meeting with their Senate colleagues and to insist on spending cuts of $4 billion.

The negotiators have already worked up a formula calling for $6 billion in cuts—which Johnson contends is too much—and the 10 per cent income tax surcharge requested by the President.

'Achievement'

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock said Thursday night the greatest achievement of the peace movement in the United States has been the decision of President Johnson not to seek re-election.

But Spock added that a more important task-an end to the Vietnam war has yet to be achieved.

"It's incredible to realize that we've unhorsed Lyndon Johnson," he said.

Spock is currently on trial in Boston with four others on a federal charge of counseling young men to avoid the draft. He addressed a dinner audience of some 500 members of the New Jersey Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy as he received that group's third award for political courage.

The award cited Spock for his efforts in the peace movement.

$77,012 For Stickley's Campaign

RALEIGH (AP) —Jack Stickley's unsuccessful bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination cost him and his state campaign committee $77,012.96, a report showed today.

Stickley, in his final report of expenses filed in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure, said his contributions totaled $72,889.33. He said he spent $2,696 from his personal funds. that left a deficit of almost $1,500.

Today was the deadline for candidates to file final expense accounts after the May 4 primary.

Two candidates for governor, Democrat Mel Broughton and Republican Jim Gardner, had not filed reports at mid-day.

State Sen. Robert Morgan of Lillington said he spent $31,810 in his successful campaign for the Democratic nomination for state attorney general.

Pre-Primary Oregon Swarms With Politicos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sticking to his easy-does-it strategy, Richard M. Nixon moves into Oregon today to do some unhurried campaigning for next Tuesday's Republican presidential primary.

The state is already alive with candidates and their outriders, both Democratic and Republican.

Tuesday's Democratic primary will be the third test between Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy, but as usual there will be quirks in the makeup of the ballot.

One of the candidates listed on the Democratic side, for instance, is President Johnson, an avowed noncandidate. Backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who became a contender for the nomination too late to file for the Oregon race are spending heavily to spread the word that votes for Johnson will be interpreted by political observers as support for Humphrey.

Kennedy is taking the threat seriously. As he stumps the state he fires salvo after salvo at Humphrey, while his attacks on McCarthy have call but ceased.

On the Republican side, it will be the first time Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan have been on the same ballot. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York hovers in the background as a write-in hopeful.

Nixon is regarded as almost certain to draw the most votes but he wants to keep either of his opponents from making too good a showing, even in a losing cause. Still fresh in the former vice president's mind is the way Reagan drew 22 per cent of the vote in the Nebraska primary, all on write-ins.

Rockefeller lashed out at Kennedy today, criticizing him for sliding back and forth from libearl to conservative positions.

"The junior senator from New York, campaigning hard for the Democratic nomination, seems able to change his rhetoric as fast as he wants to change his residence," Rockefeller said.

He made the charge in speech prepared for delivery at Atlanta's Emory University while on a two-day swing through the South.

The Southern trip kept Rockefeller far from Oregon but he was represented there by Major John V. Lindsay of New York City. Repaying past favors, Lindsay planned appearances today in Portland, Eugene and Corvallis to boost the governor's write-in campaign.

McCarthy rubbed shoulders with Hollywood's beautiful people Thursday, attending a fund-raising party at the home of actor Paul Newman, one of his supporters.

In appearances earlier in the day at three California campuses, he restated his determination not to yield to either the Kennedy or Humphrey forces.

"I intend to goflg)'he way," "I intend to go all the way," he said. 'I don't have it in mind to surrender. I haven't made any deals."

Send A Gift Only If You Feel Close Enough

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised right here in this small town, so I know nearly everyone and they know me. My problem: I get an invitation to every graduation, wedding, baby shower, tea, and luncheon in town. Just name the occasion that calls for a gift, and I get my notice.

Abby, I am not cheap, and I don't mind sending gifts to my friends. But how about all these acquaintances?

Right now I am swamped with "invi ations." I have a good name in town and don't want to ruin it. But I refuse to be a sucker to people I hardly know. What is your advice?

SWAMPED

DEAR SWAMPED: Every announcement and invitation is no necessarily a big broad hint for a gift. The best rule to follow is: If you would derive real pleasure out of sending a gift, send one. If you don't feel "close" enough to send a gift, send a card. If you feel like a "sucker," forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Last Saturday night my husband and I went to the movies. Upon arriving home earlier than expected, we found our 15 - year-old daughter on the couch with her boyfriend. They were all wrapped up in each other in a most disgusting position.

We ordered the boy out of the house and forbade our daughter ever to see him again. She flew into an angry rage and screamed that when two people are "in love" anything they did was "beautiful." She threatened to leave home if we don't let her see her boyfriend again.

What's a mother to do?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Try to be more understanding. Your daughter obviously doesn't know the difference between "love" and a healthy, normal, adolescent physical attraction. If you do, try to explain it to her. (If you don't, ask her to write to me and I'll try.)

I think you made a big mistake in ordering her boyfriend out of the house and forbidding your daughter ever to see him again. You should have had a frank talk with both of them about the dangers of playing with fire. The boy should have been made to feel welcome in your home, but only on your terms. (You make the "rules" as to how often he may come, how late he may stay, etc.) If you drive them too meeting on the sneak elsewhere you will create worse problems.

DEAR ABBY: I have a bone to pick with you. Someone wrote and asked you if it was considered "proper" to use a toothpick in public and you said absolutely not.

Well, how come they sell fancy gold toothpicks in the finest stores?

SEEN THEM

DEAR SEEN: You will find toe - nail clippers and backscratchers in some of the "finest" stores, too, but that doesn't mean it's "proper" to use them in public.

DEAR ABBY: How well I understand that poor newlywed girl who wants some freedom and time to adjust before being "rushed" into pregnancy.

She is absolutely right. We waited 7 years before having a baby. We traveled, got solvent, entertained, and got to know and understand each other. Then we were relaxed and ready to care for a child.

Furthermore, we waited until our first child was 5 years old before we had another baby. They are 4 and 9 now, and they really "like" each other. They do many things together, but she has her friends and he has his. They do not compete as brothers and sisters who are "nearly the same age" do. Pushing one child aside for another is unfair. I cannot say enough for planned parenthood.

HAPPY PARENT

DEAR ABBY: We have three adopted children of mixed heritage whom we love very much.

You can't image the hurt these children have suffered at school when they have been asked to write the story of their "heritage" and ancestors. (The eldest is the illegitimate child of a Korean mother and an American father.)

There are other school children who are wards of the state, who must also find an assignment of this kind very embarrassing.

I have spoken to the school principal about this and was told that they had no control over how a teacher chooses to teach history or English.

It is too late after the child has come home with the assignment, but I am keeping up my campaign to prevent the suffering of other kids. Maybe if you print this, just one teacher will see it and think twice before she asks a child to write about a past his new mother and daddy have been working for years to make fade into the background, and with love, try to build his self - confidence. Please help me.

Teen Expert Gives Advice For Summer Fashions And Beauty

By JEANNE SAKOL

NEW YORK (WNS) —Want to be the belle of the beach ball? Make waves with the water buoys? Here's summer beauty and fashion advice from Enid Haupt, editor-in-chief of Seventeen magazine and author of "The Seventeen Book of Fashion and Beauty."

With the youthful, size - 8 figure of a teen - age girl and a soft, low-key voice and manner, Enid Haupt reflected on 24 years of publishing teen material since the first issue of her magazine in September, 1944.

"We've become more outspoken since then, about sex, drugs, contraception. We've also moved fast in other fields such as civil rights, space journeys and chemical psychiatry," she said.

The problems of summertime beauty, however, remain the same, although the remedies improve. As long as there are wind, sun, water and other elements, a girl must fight relentlessly to maintain her good looks.

Summer nights are often damp. If your hair is the kind that loses its set almost immediately, the problem is lack of body, according to Enid Haupt. Her solution: Use smaller rollers than usual for your set with setting lotion made for hard - to - hold hair. Use just enough hair spray to cover your hair with a holding "net" — but not enough to dampen it. A rich cream rinse adds luster as well as body. If your hairstyle is elaborate, convert to a simpler one for summer. Long hair may be preferable to short since it can be tied back in colorful scarves.

Hangs Lank

For straight hair that hangs lank, try a body permanent. For curly hair that shoots off in all directions, set it on large rollers very wet, dry it as quickly as possible under the dryer and unroll immediately so the set will "take."

Mrs. Haupt has the deepest compassion for the slightly pudgy girl and her choice of summer clothes. "First of all, no beating around the bush, if you're overweight, the big answer is lose weight. While slimming down, avoid clothes that are too tight, too shiny or too fragile. That means no sausage - skin bathing suits, no satin or vinyl bell -bottoms, no limp organza. Heavy knit and angora sweaters are out, too. They add too much extra bulk to what's there in the first place.

To face the sun with the best face shape possible, she offers subtle hints for shape control. "Obviously, gobs of makeup and shaders are no good for daytime activities but there are a few little bits of self - knowledge that can do wonders. If you have a round face, avoid highly arched brows. Pluck beneath the brows to make the brow line shorter and straighter.

For a square face, keep eyebrows and lipline rounded to give softness to the geometric lines of the face. For an oblong face, avoid peaked or droopy brows.

Top things off, literally, with a hat. The Aussie, sombrero and fedora styles tie under the chin, stay on whether you're in a speedboat or sidecar. Summer hats look great and protect your hair, eyes and complexion from the elements.

One Step In The Right Direction

Recommendation of an ordinance requiring subdividers to plan for recreation space may not be the answer to all the problems — but it is bound to be a step in the right direction.

The Planning and Zoning Commission this week took the action which can lead to the requirement of recreational areas when subdivision or apartment complexes are planned. The proposed ordinance, which now must be acted on by the City Council, spells out the amount of space that must be provided. The city will have a four-year option to purchase the property.

It has long been obvious that Greenville is woefully short on playground and recreational areas. It seems clear to us that the only way such areas can be provided in newly developing sections is to require their inclusion as housing areas are developed.

It is our hope that the City Council will adopt the proposed ordinance. It may later be found that some changes are needed but these can be made to make the plan work smoothly.

A start can be made now toward providing the recreational space that Greenville so badly needs. This is a problem that has long been pondered by city planners. Now something concrete has been proposed and we believe the ordinance can be made to work.

Now To Repeat That Bloodmobile Success

For the first time, perhaps, Pitt County has exceeded its blood quota for this fiscal year.

Joe Clark, chairman of the blood program, has reported that 1,927 pints were collected during the year, or 162 over the quota.

Much of the credit for this outstanding record must go to Clark who organized a pledge system whereby potential donors agreed to give blood during the year.

Clark, who was elected Red Cross president this year, paid tribute to the Service League, Women of the Moose and many others who worked or gave blood during the year to bring about the outstanding record.

Pitt County owes a debt to those people who have donated blood during the year and to those who have worked so hard on the program.

It has been said so often, but the blood program is vital to the welfare of our community. The fact that such an outstanding record was compiled during this fiscal year must now become history. Another year is beginning and every Pitt Countian should resolve to make it equally as successful.

Bruton Silent Over Dissension

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH—Almost certainly one of the factors which figured in the recent political defeat of State Atty. Gen. T. Wade Bruton was continuing turmoil and tension within the Justice Department, much of which was beyond Bruton's personal control.

A great deal more remains to be learned about this but it is safe to predict that it will become known eventually.

WILLIAM SHIRES

And regardless of the winner of the office of Attorney General in November there is likely to be a thorough shake-up of the department a year from now in an effort to rid it of elements of dissension.

Bruton chose to remain silent about the situation and said very little publicly. He attempted to deal with it within the department and at the same time maintain full efficiency and high departmental morale, but this proved an impossible task.

Roots Of Turmoil

From time to time, sources have reported unrest, dissension and anxiety within the Justice Department which includes Bruton's state legal staff and the State Bureau of Investigation. Bruton and his top assistants frequently denied, or refused to comment upon, such reports.

In his recent primary campaign, Bruton stressed that the prescribed duties of the department and of the Attorny General were clear and that they had been carried out according to the letter of the law.

He made no mention of and did not comment upon reports of internal dissension, professional jealousy on the staff and continuing morale problems in the SBI.

Anderson Case

Another thing which became involved quietly in the campaign was the still unexplained firing of former veteran SBI director Walter F. Anderson in December, 1966. At the time, Bruton assumed "sole responsibility" for the firing and, insofar as he was concerned, considered it a closed matter.

But rumors persisted. Burton persisted in saying only that he had "reluctantly reached the conclusion that a more effective and harmonious administration of the affairs of the bureau (SBI) required a change in its exe- that, flatly, was all Bruton would say.

Nevertheless, sources said an "internal situation" within the bureau had reached the point at which Bruton had to decide between wholesale firing of six or eight people including some top agents or replacing Anderson. He also decided to choose Anderson's successor from outside SBI ranks, and did so.

Other Troubles

There have been other troubles per-dating Bruton's appointment as Attorney General, Malcolm B. Seawell, bitterly criticized the state's handling of investigations of Ku Klux Klan violence and procesutics and in 1966 Seawell resigned as chairman of the governor's law and order committee and broke politically with the Moore administration.

This trouble too, while unavoidable, reflected badly on Bruton's department and the SBI.

In addition, there was criticism of a number of legal opinions emanating from the Attorney General's staff and of the activities to which some staff members were assigned while the state was forced to foot the bill, rather expensively, for outside legal aid in other cases.

Became A. Target

All this internal rumbling and criticism, mostly vague and intangible, nevertheless made the $20,000 a year Attorney General's post a fat political target.

Bruton's opponent, State Sen. Robert Morgan of Lillington, never hurled a personal criticim at Bruton. He pledged at the outset that he would not engage in personalities in seeking such a public office. But he called attention to the already well-known troubles and reports of dissension, dissatisfaction and promised to investigate and find the truth.

Business Will Readily Adjust

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the truth in lending bill has been passed by Congress, meaning that interest charges must be stated clearly, business will in all probability adjust readily to the new law and continue to thrive.

One never would have thought so a couple of years ago. The invective was torrid, the denunciations were loudly and angrily shouted, the forecasts were ominous.

Business just couldn't live with the bill, Congress was told. But business will live with it, just as it has lived with other "consumerism" measures for 60 years, beginning with the Pure Food and Drug Act.

Major changes in American business are resulting from recent consumer legislation. But the laws are having much broader effects also, as noted in the markedly changed attitude of some businesses.

Automobile manufacturers now are exceeding legal safety requirements in some instances, stock exchanges are keeping the public much better informed about securities, advertisers are far more aware of restraint.

The theme of self-regulation as the way to avoid government regulation is now well known to every industry. The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute, for example, publicizes the hazards of power mowers, although the mention of hazards by an industry once was considered taboo.

Various institutes and industrial associations now have special departments to serve the needs of consumers, among them the Nation Association of Manufacturers and the Association of Better Business Bureaus.

NAM has set up a consumer information service to help educate the public in the proper selection of purchases. The BBB association has worked up a program on better shopping procedures.

The nation's credit bureaus, whose credit investigations often determine whether you can buy on time, are now setting up guidelines for the protection of consumer privacy in reporting records. The threat of legislation is goading them.

Research in colleges and in some government agencies now has become oriented toward educating and protecting consumers, sometimes with the assistance of the industries involved.

Codes of ethics, standards and perforamnce criteria are being studied by several industries. And in almost all instances, the motivation is the realization that a failure of self-regulation might lead to rigid federal codes.

So important does the American Advertising Federation consider the consumerism movement that its president, Howard H. Bell, recently moved his office from Madison Avenue to Washington, where he can listen to congressional thinking.

Largely unnoticed at the moment, a rich reward comes to business because of this forced intensification of consumer concern.

Forced to examine the reasons for the spread of customer complaints, which increasingly were directed to Washington rather than to corporate offices, some companies found their business methods had become sloppy.

Forced change is often difficult for free enterprises to accept, but once accepted, it seems, legitimate businesses have been strengthened by measures undertaken for society as a whole.

In fact, most retailers now see little danger in buyers being better informed on interest rates.

Instead, many feel that with the rules of the game declared, unfair competition will be less a threat to them, just as unfair selling methods will be less a danger to the consumer.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

VALUES

What are the things of real value in life?

The first thing is religious faith — the conviction that there are higher powers than our own, and especially a Higher Power that created the world in the first place and to the smallest detail manages its affairs today.

The second matter of importance in modern life is sincerity — with self and others. The insincere person is—and ought to be — an outcast. If we do not operate our lives on the basis of unyielding principle, then the time comes when our contemporaries put us down as a dead loss. Nobody loves us and nobody should.

And don't let us forget generosity as a value in life. We are not only to love God but to love our neighbor as ourself. Slums must be cleared. We cannot have people living like animals in the midst of our civilized society. Strong nations must help weak. Above all, we must come to realize that lunging at one another's throats in war is the most amazing form of criminality humanity has ever succumbed to. To say this is not to endorse pacifism. We can no more give up our armed forces today than we can give up our police departments. If giving up armed forces would insure peace, then giving up police departments would solve the crime problem — which is of course absurd.

Love God. Love one's fellowmen. Be sincere in all relationships. Strive for the abolition of war and the regulation of military power as a step in that direction.

"Oh, For Goodness Sake, Ignore Them. They're Not Even Rioting Yet"

Senate Crime Curbs

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a crime-control bill that would undo controversial Supreme Court rulings that guarantee criminal suspects greater rights. The measure also would grant police new wiretapping and electronic "bugging" authority.

But while the Senate passed the bill Thursday night by a 72-4 vote, it was uncertain how much of it will become law.

It still faces House consideration, and contains provisions strongly opposed by President Johnson and Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the influential House Judiciary Committee. Already, there is speculation Johnson would veto such a measure.

The prime concern of Johnson, Celler and other opponents involves the proposed controls on the Supreme Court. And some opponents say constitutional questions are raised by sections authorizing police wiretapping and electronic surveillance or "bugging" of suspects.

As passed by the Senate, the bill's chief provisions would:

—Establish a two-year program of $400 million in federal grants to improve the training and equipment of state and local police and for research to develop new crime fighting techniques.

The grants could help finance the war on organized crime and control the prevention of riots.

—Undo Supreme Court decisions restricting the use of confessions and police lineup identification in federal crime trials. The sole test of the admissibility of a confession would be whether it was given voluntarily.

—Authorize wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping by law enforcement officers, acting under court orders, in the investigation of specified crimes. This would be permitted by state and local police, as well as federal officers, in states that pass implementing legislation.

—Prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state and otherwise tighten federal firearms controls.

The House last year passed the "Safe Streets" part of the bill providing for federal grants to strengthen local law enforcement. The Senate grafted on all the other provisions.

Celler, in line to head the conference committee that will attempt to resolve differences in the Senate and House versions, already has said he would rather see the bill ditched than accept the section to undo Supreme Court decisions on the admissibility of confessions and lineup identifications.

Some senators reported they expect President Johnson to veto the bill unless these provisions are stricken.

But Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who steered the bill through the Senate, said he was determined to keep them.

Passage of the bill followed more than three weeks of debate.

While The $$ Hold Out

WASHINGTON — It has been predicted that the peace talks in Paris will go on for a very, very long time. Both the North Vietnamese and the United States claim to have won the war, and it's very hard to get either side to give in on any points when the other believes he is talking to a loser.

The only thing that could speed up the talks and bring about some sort of a solution is the fact the discussions are being held in Paris. At the going rate for hotels and food, the real question is, which side can hold out the longest without going broke?

The State Department is optimistic that the United States, despite its gold crisis and balance-of -payments deficits, can still meet its financial obligations at the Hotel Crillon where the U. S. delegation is being housed.

A spokesman told me, "We had a setback the first week when Ambassador Cyrus Vance ordered breakfast in his room, and it almost wiped out the entire U. S. peace talk budget. But Vance is now taking his breakfast in the American Embassy mess and we should be on our feet in a couple of weeks."

ART BUCHWALD

"Isn't Ambassador Averell Harriman still eating breakfast at the Crillon?"

"Ambassador Harriman has a personal fortune of $50 million. If he eats breakfast at the Crillon, that's his own business. Of course, if the conference continues through the summer, there may not be much of the $50 million left, and then he'll have to eat breakfast at the embassy mess like everybody else."

"There have been rumors," I said, "that the United States may halt the bombing of North Vietnam unconditionally when the American delegation's first laundry bill comes in. Is there any truth to it?"

"None whatsoever. We have a special contingency fund for laundry as well as pressing, and we can always get a supplemental appropriation from Congress in case we run out. I would like to say there has been far too much emphasis on what this conference is costing the Americans. The North Vietnamese are hurting, too. They thought they could come to Paris and stay at the Hotel Lutetia on

The Che Cult

(Christian Science Monitor)

A hero's fame often lies more in what people think he did than what he actually accomplished. Evidence of this can be seen in the current widespread popularity of Che Guevara, the Argentinian-born Cuban Communist revolutionary.

As is now well known, there has grown up a powerful Che cult in the few short months since his death last October in Bolivia. He has become a leading hero of the radical (but not of the Moscow-led) left around the world. His name figures prominently in all kinds of protests, demonstrations and revolutionary movements. While this cult is being pushed by Fidel Castro's Cuba for obvious reasons, it is also clear that Che's undeniably romantic, protest - laden career touches a particular chord with many of today's dissatisfied young.

From one point of view, this is all quite paradoxical. For Che Guevara was not — even under the most generous of assessments — a success at his trade of revolutionizing. In Cuba it was not Che's theorizing but Fidel's hard-driving which overthrew the old regime. And in his attempt to sow revolution in South America, Che so seriously misread the situation that he was beaten (and eventually killed) before he ever got started.

Maybe what appeals most to many of Che's admirers around the world is the very thing which eventually defeated him. His recipe for arousing revolution in Latin America made the experienced Communist revolutionaries of Eastern Europe groan. But this flaming attitude, and the high-sounding words in which it was couched, clearly have a strong appeal for millions who have never actually ever found themselves in a revolutionary situation.

With his black beard, his piercing eyes, his jaunty beret, his mysterious slaying in a far - off, steaming jungle, Che Guevara is obviously far apter to stir the blood of the discontented young than are the dull, desk - bound revolutionary - executive types now in power in Eastern Europe.

As a symbol of revolution Che Guevarals patently a far greater success than he ever was as a practitioner of rebellion.

Steel Strike Fears To Be Felt

By ELMER ROESSNER

A business let-down, as of yet uncertain dimension, will occur this summer. While there may be contributing reasons, the big one will be the distortion of the economy by the threat of the steel strike.

Because of fears of a steel strike, steel users have been stockpiling steel. In consequence:

Steel production is greatly in excess of consumption.

Employment in steel and related industries has reduced unemployment to the lowest figure in years.

Borrowing to finance heavy inventories has tightened the money supply.

A sharp rise in steel imports as foreign producers take advantage of the situation has helped disturb our balance of payments.

Personal income has risen higher than it would have.

A "Pre-Strike Boom"

In short, we have been experiencing a pre-strike boom. In fear of the crippling effects of a long, tough strike, we have speeded up the economy. raised money by borrowing heavily and is spreading prosperity by reckless spending.

ELMER ROESSNER

Like that family, some day we will have to pay this all back. The money borrowed will have to be repaid; work done in advance will result in cutbacks in employment; there will be less transportation of steel; prices will have to be cut to meet foreign competition.

As pointed out here before, the preparations for a strike make a strike more likely. When the Steelworkers Union meets management, they will know that there will be a slump in demand when users chew up their inventory. They know that mills will cut their production from present high rates to even lower than average. They know there will be layoffs.

"Let's Have A Picnic"

With the current contract expiring July 31, and the camping, fishing and beer-drinking season at its height, the attitude of the rank and file may largely be, "Let's have a picnic." And the attitude of the leaders may be, "If the men are going to be laid off, let's have a strike that will win enough to make it a paid vacation."

And with a strike there will be a rise in unemployment, a decline in earnings, a drop in retail sales and a psychological depression of all business.

As some analysts have pointed out, we are developing a steel cycle in this country: a rise in business activity as contracts approach expiration dates (this time it started nine months in advance); a drop in activity when a strike is called, lasting until a settlement is reached; a slow climb back to normal levels, a brief period of normalcy, a sharp increase in production and stockpiling as contracts approach, and whee! Off on the roller coaster again!

Should Know After 40 Years

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Newlyweds could have gotten a lot of good advice when members of the Senior Citizens' Foundation's Hospitality House who have been married 40 or more years attended a "Tea for Two" meeting.

About 50 couples were present including Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dost, who had the longevity record with 60 years of marriage. "Keep your sense of humor. Stay away from the in-laws, and never go home to mother," said Blanche Dost. "Good common sense helps," added her husband.

Generation Gap Not So General

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Vern L. Bengston, a research psychologist, says a recent survey of 300 men and women undergraduates at the Uniersity of Southern California found 80 per cent of them felt they had close relationships with their parents. He says the general feeling among the students is that the generation gap "isn't true in my own family, but I believe it exists at large."

The Worry Clinic

Some Salesmen Will Try To Prevent Sale

Dr. Hulse told me this recent case, which shows how a salesman took the negative attitude and tried to prevent a sale. But all star salesmen and vital personalities think positively. They generate inner enthusiasm, which then becomes contagious. So send for the booklet below and become more dynamic!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-576: Dr. E. D. Hulse is a popular clergyman from Madison, Wisconsin.

He was selected as one of 37 pulpit orators to make a 15,000-mile tour of South America to help celebrate 100 years of work down there by his denomination.

The group met in Miami to receive a thorough briefing on the problems they would face.

But while there, Dr. Hulse saw a very attractive sports coat in the window of a Miami department store.

He decided to buy it, but not for his trip to South America.

Instead, he thought he'd have it sent back to Madison.

So he entered the store and picked out the coat.

"I have a problem," he told the clerk, "since I am leaving for South America for a month.

"So I'd like to pay for the coat with my personal check and have you mail it to my home in Wisconsin.

"If you have any doubt about my check, you can hold the coat till the check clears the bank and then ship my coat, for I will not need it till my return."

The clerk shook his head.

"We don't ship anything out of Florida," he replied. "Besides, we'd have to charge you for the mailing."

"That's quite O. K.," replied Dr. Hulse, "for I'd expect to pay the shipping costs."

"But we can't ship merchandise out of the state!" the clerk repeated.

"Why not?" countered Dr. Hulse. "Don't you want to sell merchandise?"

"Where's your credit department?" Dr. Hulse then persisted.

But still the clerk refused the deal.

When he arrived there, the girl in charge also recited the same objections which the clerk had made.

"But why don't you want to make a sale?" asked Dr. Hulse. "Besides, you don't need to ship the coat till long after my check has cleared the bank and proved to be valid."

"We-l-l-," the girl finally hedged, "it would cost you $2 to have us mail the coat."

"That's quite O. K. with me," replied Dr. Hulse.

So she reluctantly consented to the deal, and Dr. Hulse gave her the $2 for the postage. (Incidentally, on arrival at Madison, the package had only 60 cents in stamps on it, so the store got an extra $1.40 on this deferred deal).

The main point of this recent case is to show the reason why many salesmen and lower echelon employees don't get ahead.

They are either negative thinkers or else mere slaves to the letter of the law, without understanding the basic purpose of those regulations.

Star salesmen, however, think positively and exude enthusiasm.

"Enthusiasm Makes the Difference," is the title of Dr. Peale's recent book, which is a superb roadmap to a dynamic personality.

But you can deliberately assume an enthusiastic pose, even if you are tired and listless underneath. Soon that pose will infect your inner feelings!

So send for my booklet "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Preachers, doctors and teachers can benefit as much from it as sales people!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The bidding:

East	South	West	North

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♡

Altho 11 high card points are sufficient to warrant a game undertaking when partner opens the bidding with one no trump, a suit contract may provide a safer haven when the responder holds an unbalanced hand.

North and South can make five diamonds on the above deal, losing one spade and one club. The proper response by North is three diamonds, a game force, which affords the partnership an opportunity to probe for the best contract.

West opened the six of hearts and declarer was obliged to play North's ace. East followed with the seven, assuming that the size of his spot would serve as a come-on to partner.

South could count five diamond tricks, two clubs, and one heart—for a total of eight. In order to develop a ninth, he would have to let the opposition in with the ace of spades, at which point they would presumably cash out their hearts. In order to apply pressure against the defenders, declarer decided to run the diamonds first.

East discarded two spades while West gave up two clubs and two spades. Declarer led a spade and West was in with the ace. A heart was returned and East cashed the king and queen, however, this was as far as the defense could go, for East was unable to reach his partner to cash out the rest of the suit. South regained the lead and claimed 10 tricks.

East could have defeated the contract by unblocking his heart honors at trick one. If he drops the queen under North's ace, West can put him in with the king subsequently and when the seven is returned—West is able to regain the lead with the jack of hearts and run the suit.

The winning play can be made by East with complete assurance. By applying the rule of 11 [subtracting the card led from the number 11], it is readily determined that there are five hearts outstanding that are higher than the six. East is looking at four of them between his own hand and the dummy. Declarer, therefore, has only one card that can top the six. It cannot be the jack, for that would give West a holding in hearts headed by the 10-9-8, from which he would surely have opened the ten.

West is, therefore, marked with the jack of hearts and East has nothing to lose by unblocking. The gain—in the present instance—is quite apparent.

the Left Bank, but after only a week they had to move out. If this doesn't indicate a weakening of their position, I don't know what does."

"But isn't the French government picking up the Hanoi delegation's tab?"

"They were until De Gaulle discovered the North Vietnamese were eating in the hotel restaurant, a la carte. If the Communists hadn't moved out of the city to a house in the country, we might have had an agreement this week on the question of halting North Vietnamese troop infiltration to the south."

"Well, when do you see a break in the conference?"

"When Ho Chi Minh receives the first taxi bill from his delegation in Paris. It's one thing for them to save on the hotel, but they're still going to have to spend money getting to and from the conference hall."

"One of the news commentators said he thought that a great deal more progress could be made if talks were adjourned to the Crazy Horse Saloon in Paris where they have an excellent strip tease show."

"This was discussed," my informant said, "but it was rejected the first day when both parties agreed they couldn't afford the cover charge."

RALEIGH (AP) — The state plans to file a condemnation suit to acquire 950 acres of land on Core Banks, needed for inclusion in the Cape Lookout National Seashore.

The action was authorized Thursday by Gov. Dan Moore and the council of State. Attempts to purchase the land have been under way for a long time. The acreage belongs to a gun club which operates under the name of Core Banks Club Properties Inc.

Must Be Open

RALEIGH (AP)—Even precincts with no registered Republicans must remain open all day for the statewide GOP second primary election June 1, the state Board of Elections says.

Alex Brock, the board's executive secretary, said the ruling was made in response to inquiries from a number of counties such as Bladen and Pender which have only a few Republicans countywide and none at all in some precincts.

Brock said that closing polls early is illegal, even if election officials know that all registered voters have cast ballots.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the tight new rules governing sales of gold the U. S. stockpile of the precious metal stood at $10.547 billion at the end of April—lowest since 1936.

The Treasury Depaetment reported Thursday the total U. S. supply fell by $156 million during the month, substantially less than other recent months thanks to the restrictions imposed in mid-March.

The new rules bar sales to private buyers, permitting only governments of other nations as customers. As is their practice, Treasury officials refused to identify which nations made purchases from the U. S. stocks last month.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A voice of experience has warned the United Auto Workers it "will be the weaker" for having quit the AFL-CIO.

The advice was offered Thursday by the president of the International Association of Machinists in an editorial in the union's newspaper.

The Machinists quit the old American Federation of Labor in 1940, returned to the fold in 1945, and then cut loose again in a matter of months, this time until 1951.

"We went through the revolving door and we found it to be a mistake," P. L. Roy Siemiller, president of the IAM, said in the editorial.

"Unity is labor's only source of strength," the editorial said. "The entire labor movement is weaker because the United Auto Workers has left the AFL-CIO. The UAW will be the weaker for its own action."

Arrest Woman In Bootleg Raid

BETHEL — A 25-year-old Negro woman was arrested last night near here on charges of possession of distilling equipment and possession of non-tax paid whiskey for the purpose of sale.

ABC officers from Pitt and Craven County and federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax unit agents arrested Jessie Glen Shaw of Bethel as she walked with an unidentified man down a path leading from an illegal distillery.

Officers said the woman carried eight gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey with her. The man ran and escaped.

The enforcement officers said the still was a 60-gallon drum type outfit including four 55-gallon mash barrels, a 55 gallon cooker with copper condenser, and a five-gallon doubler.

Eleven gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey were found in the woods nearby.

The illegal unit, which had just been operated when the raid was made at 8 p.m., was located about 3½ miles southwest of Bethel.

Officers used axes to destroy the outfit.

The Shaw women was jailed in Pitt County Jail under a $300 bond.

Policeman Pays Traffic Fine

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A financially troubled father of seven who left El Paso County Court to come up with $5 for a traffic ticket returned to find that state Patrolman William C. Thiede, who gave him the ticket, had already paid it.

Thiede issued the ticket because the man was driving with an expired temporary permit. The fine was $20, but the judge suspended $5 and Thiede paid the rest explaining he thought the man should use the money to buy food for his children.

Henry Ford Not Backing Friend

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., said Thursday he was not backing the presidential nomination candidacy of a fellow who was his overnight guest Tuesday night—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

At the company's stockholders meeting, newsmen asked Ford: are you backing Rockefeller?

"No, I'm not," Ford said.

Did you discuss backing him with you when he was at your house?

"No, I didn't," he replied.

Kiwanis Edge By Jaycee Nine, 3-1

The Kiwanis stayed hot on the heels of Coca-Cola in the North State League with a 3-1 victory over the Jaycees yesterday.

Coke leads the league with a 5-0 record, while the Kiwanis are a half-game back at 5-1. They are followed by the Lions, 2-3, the Jaycees, 2-4, and the Optimists and R.C. Cola, both 1-4.

The game was actually a pitchers' duel between the Kiwanis' Al Heath and Dave Mathias of the Jaycees. Both gave up three hits each, while Heath struck out 14 and Mathias had 8 strikeouts. Both walked six batters.

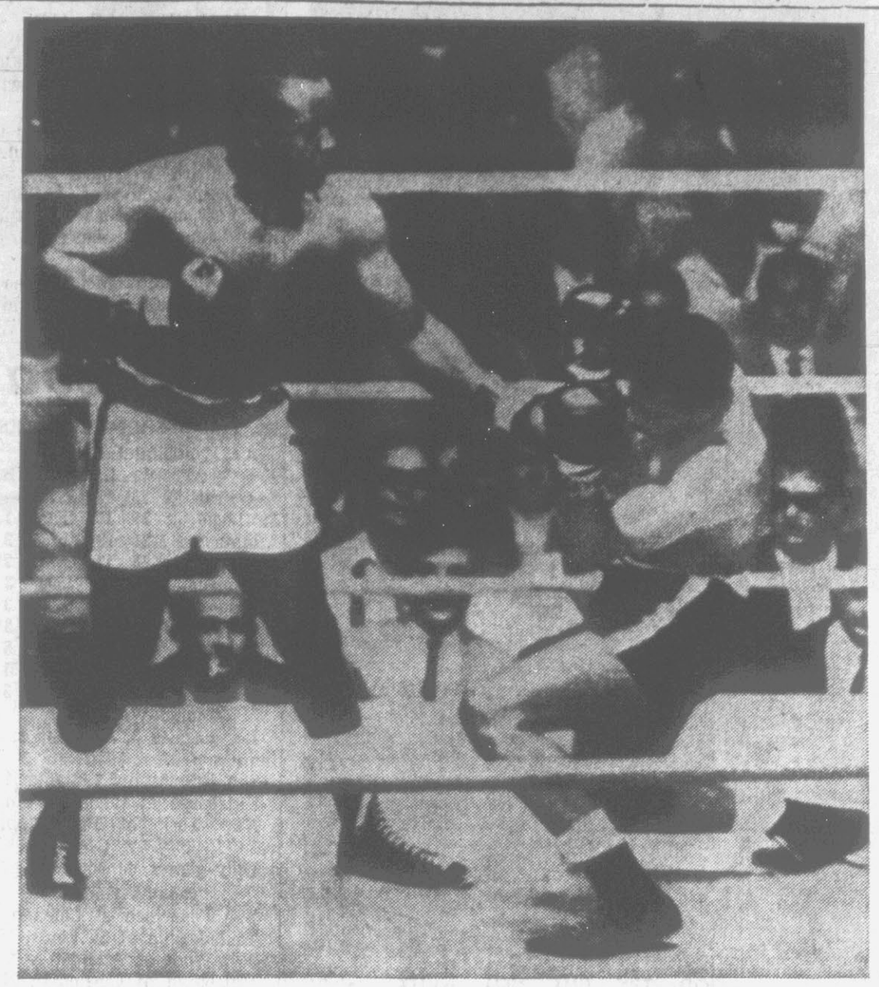

The Kiwanis finally got a run across in the fourth. Robert Boles reached on an error and moved up on a wild pitch and a sacrifice. But the next two batters walked, Chris Manning and Billy Brookshire, loading the bases. Ed Mayo then drew a walk, forcing in Boles with the first run for the Kiwanis.

In the fifth, the other two Kiwanis runs came across. Kelly Heath opened the inning with a double and moved to third on a wild pitch. Al Heath walked and Grif Garner reached on an error, scoring Kelly Heath. Al Heath scored on an out by Robert Boles, making it 3-0.

The Jaycees picked up their only run in the sixth. Kirk Riddle walked, and three straight walks, to Chris Garrett, Kyle Price and Wayne Miller brought Riddle around with the lone run.

Kelly Heath was the only hitter on either team to collect two hits, as he led the Kiwanis to the win.

Security Life Rolls To 14-0 Win Over Exchange

Security Life gained its second victory of the season yesterday, rolling over the Exchange, 14-0, in the Tar Heel Little League.

Pepsi-Cola leads the league with a 4-1 record, while the Elks and Greenville Tobacco are tied for second with 3-2 records. Next comes the Exchange, 3-3, Security Life, 2-4, and the Moose, 1-4.

Security started the scoring off in the first inning, picking up three runs. John Causey walked and Jack Jenkins singled. Wesley Puryear walked, loading the bases, and Phil Dash singled to drive in Causey. A walk to Morris Vicars brought in Jenkins, and Puryear scored on Bob Higgans' hit.

In the second, Security picked up two more runs. Puryear doubled and Dash brought both runs across with a home run.

Six more runs scored in the third, rushing the score to 11-0. Worth Albea walked and Max Glisson reached on an error. Causey doubled in both runners and Jenkins reached on an error. Puryear also was safe on an error, scoring Causey. Dash then slapped another homer, driving in three runs this time.

The final three runs scored in the fifth. Causey walked and advanced on Jenkins' single. Puryear singled in Causey, but Jenkins was out. After passed balls moved Puryear to third, Dash reached on an error, scoring him. Dash used more passed balls to move to third, and scored on Vicars' out.

The Exchange threatened three times, in the second, third and sixth innings, but were unable to get the hits when they needed them.

Dash had three hits to lead Security, while Billy Wilson had two for Exchange.

Club Owners To Present Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with a "no contract, no football" threat from their veteran players, National Football League clubowners were to present their side of the economic picture at a news conference today.

The NFL Players' Association broke off negotiations Thursday after a meeting in which the owners refused to budge on any of the players' economic demands.

Dan Shulman, the players' lawyer, said a policy of NFL clubs not signing veterans until the current negotiations are over was "in effect, a lockout.

"There are certain positions open to us," he said. "We have to go back to the membership and ask if they are ready to take action. If they continue not signing veterans there just won't be any football.

"If they do sign veterans, then we are in the position of going back to the players and having them tell us what to do. If we get no contracts we have no choice. No football!"

Shulman listed some of the players' alternatives—not showing up for training camp, showing up for camp and then leaving, not playing exhibition games, not playing regular season games.

A league spokesman said it was "not true that there is a concerted movement" not to sign veteran players. He said many veterans have already signed, including some of the 16 player representatives who met with the owners.

A player does not have to be under contract until the regular season begins but the club must notify each player by May 1 if they intend to pick up his option —that is, make him their property for another year.

The players are asking $500 a game for preseason contests, a $5 million annual payment to their pension fund and a $15,000 minimum salary.

Shulman and John Gordy of the Detroit Lions, president of the players' association, said the owners agreed to raise the minimum salary from $7,500 to $10,000 but added this would not cost the clubs any money since most players now get at least $10,000.

Giants Edge Atlanta, 5-4; Move Into National Lead

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's nothing like a nice little winning string to give a baseball team a lift in the standings. Except, perhaps, a nice little losing streak by the guys dings. Except, perhaps, a nice little losing streak by the guys directly in front of you.

San Francisco's ambitious Giants have won eight of their last 11 games and St. Louis' cooperative Cardinals have dropped eight of their last 11. Result: A five-game pickup for the Giants and a change at the top of the National League race.

San Francisco captured first place Thursday with a 5-4 victory over Atlanta while St. Louis was losing 3-2 in 11 innings to Los Angeles in the only NL games played. New York at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Chicago were rained out.

In the American League Cleveland battered California 9-2 and Chicago's game at Washington was rained out. The other teams were not scheduled.

The Giants beat the Braves for the third straight time when Marty Martinez, a substitute catcher, let one of Cecil Upshaw's pitches get away with Ron Hunt on third base in the ninth inning.

Hunt had opened the ninth with a single and reached third on a sacrifice and a ground out before scoring on the passed ball.

The Braves had rallied to tie the game in the eighth inning on Joe Torre's fourth hit of the game which drove in Hank Aaron. Aaron had tripled, scoring Tito Francona.

The Cardinals lost their seventh game in the last eight when Bob Bailey's 11th-inning single scored Willie Davis with the Dodgers' winning run.

Davis doubled opening the 11th and moved to third on a sacrifice. After Ron Fairly was intentionally walked, Tom Haller fouled out before Bailey singled.

Manager Walt Alston tempted fate in the bottom of the 11th when, with two out and the tying run on second, he ordered Orlando Cepeda intentionally walked, putting the winning run on base. The move paid off when reliever John Purdin retired Phil Gagliano on a fly ball, ending the game.

Jose Cardenal smacked two singles, a double and homer leading a 18-hit Cleveland attack that carried the Indians past California.

Max Alvis, Tommy Harper and Jose Vidal also homered for the Indians, who moved within 1½ games of first-place Detroit.

Sonny Siebert scattered seven hits and won his sixth game. He also had a two-run single that got the Indians started in the second inning.

Meadowbrook & Oakmont Win

Meadowbrook downed Pentecostal, 16-8, and Oakmont edged Mt. Pleasant, 5-3, in last night's Church League Action.

Immanuel continues to lead the loop with a 3-0 record, while St. James is next with a 3-1 record. Grace and Presbyterian are tied for third with 2-1 marks, followed by Meadowbrook, 2-2. Next come Mt. Pleasant, Pentecostal and Oakmont, all 1-2, Jarvis, 1-3, and Gum Swamp, 0-2.

In the opener, Meadowbrook moved into the lead in the first inning, pushing over three runs on a homer by Lloyd. In the fourth, Meadowbrook added three more for a 6-0 lead. In the fifth, three more crossed the plate, making it 9-0, enough to win.

Pentecostal came up with its first run in the fifth, but Meadowbrook picked up three more in th sixth, two on a homer by Lloyd.

In the bottom of the sixth. Pentecostal added three more, to trail, 12-4. Meadowbrook picked up four more in the seventh, as did Pentecostal. Pentecostal's runs came on a homer by Cannon.

In the second game, Oakmont picked up a run in the first inning, and then came up with three more in the second.

Mt. Pleasant got into the act with one in the third, but Oakmont offset that with one in the fourth, building its lead to 5-1.

Mt. Pleasant came up with two more in the fourth, but neither team could score after that, leaving Oakmont with a 5-3 victory.

Lucius Allen Jailed For Pot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lucius Allen, star guard for UCLA's national championship basketball team, was booked with four friends Thursday night on charges of possession of marijuana, police said.

Police Sgt. John Colella said officers detected the odor of marijuana after halting their speeding car in an alley in central Los Angeles.

It was one year to the day that Allen was arrested at his West Los Angeles apartment and charged with possession of mariuana, a charge which was later dropped.

Booked with Allen were Melanie Martin, Alla L. Bufien, Bonnie Jean Goss and John Woolery. Police said all were UCLA students in their early 20s. Allen, 20, is a junior.

On May 23, 1967, Allen was arrested when police said they found mariuana in a car owned by Allen. He was later released on $1,100 bail and the charge was dropped after a closed hearing in municipal court.

Winchester Is Lost To Bucs

Dave Winchester, regular third baseman on the East Carolina University team, will be missing next week when the Bucs open play in the NCAA Regionals in Gastonia.

Coach Earl Smith was informed yesterday that Winchester had been drafted into the service, and had reported for duty

A co-captain this year, Winchester had played third base for the Bucs for the last three seasons.

Smith said he would probably move center fielder Jimmy Lanier in to handle Winchester's position, a slot where he saw some relief duty this year. Stu Garrett or Steve Fornash will probably be moved into center field, where they also saw action this year.

The Bucs open play in the regionals next Thursday night at 8 p.m. at Legion Field in Gastonia. They play the number one ranked team in the nation, Florida State.

Foster Favored Over Tiger In Title Bout

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger spots towering Bob Foster age, height, weight and reach, but not in heart tonight when they clash in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden.

Foster's physical advantages and his punching power have combined to make the 29-year-old challenger from Washington, a 12-5 favorite over the 38-year-old defender from the Republic of Biafra. The odds could go down by fight time.

The bout is scheduled for 9:30 p.m., EDT. It will be telecast in some areas of the nation by Sports Network. New York will be blacked out of the telecast.

The Garden hopes for a crowd of 15,000 and a gate of $150,000 which would get both Foster and the promotion off the financial hook. Foster has taken 60 per cent of the net gate and television and guaranteed Tiger $100,000 out of his percentage. He may wind up fighting for nothing.

"It doesn't matter," said Foster. "The main thing is the title. It's make or break. If I blow this, I may never get another chance. I don't intend to blow it. He'll go in four or five rounds, or the first time I get him."

"The first four rounds will be the most dangerous," said Chickie Ferrara, Tiger's trainer. "If Dick gets by that he will come on. He has the biggest heart of any fighter I ever saw. He will chop Foster down with his body punches."

Foster has these advantages over Tiger: height—6-foot-3½ to 5-8; react—79 inches to 71, and weight—about 175 to 167.

The former Air Force champion and ex-bomb factory worker has a 29-4 record, including 23 knockouts.

Tiger, making the third defense of the title he won from Jose Torres on Dec. 16, 1966, has a 58-15-3 record, including 26 knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Lynchburg Gets Fast Game, 3-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PBESS

First-place Lynchburg defeated Greensboro 3-0 Thursday night in the fastest game in the Carolina League this season.

The game was reeled off in one hour and 29 minutes. Quick-working Tom Rowe held Greensboro to five hits, struck out six and walked one in scoring his fourth victory against one defeat. Only 177 persons turned out for the game at Lynchburg.

Righthander Jim Bibby pitcred a two-hitter as Raleigh-Durham defeated Burlington 4-0 at Burlington. Bibby, a native of Franklin, struck out 13 and walked six. Raleigh Durham got only five hits off Dick Such, who struck out 10.

Franklin, struck out 13 and walked six. Raleigh-Durham got only five hits off Dick Such, who struck out 10.

Portsmouth defeated Peninsula 4-0 at Hampton, Va., behind the five-hit pitching of righthander Dick Seminoff. Portsmouth, held to seven hits by Dave Sellars, scored single runs in the sixth and eighth and two in the ninth.

Winston-Salem pounded four pitchers for 16 hits and took a free-scoring 8-6 decision over Wilson at Winston-Salem. The Red Sox jumped off to a three run lead in the first inning, added one in the sixth and closed out with four in the seventh.

Rain caused postponement of the high Point-Thomasville at Salem game.

In the other league action, Kinston edged Rocky Mount 3-2 in 11 innings at Rocky Mount. Kinston loaded the bases in the 11th. Then Frank Baker bounced to second and Jerry Schultz scored from third as Rocky Mount barely missed pulling off a double play.

Memphis Leader Wasn't Overjoyed

By BOB GILBERT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The fans who saw L. R. McLendon sink a 20-foot eagle putt to share the first-round lead in the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament figured he was happy as a lark. But his wife, Joan, knew better.

'He didn't say anything to me, but when I saw him go to the practice tee after coming off the 18th, I knew he wasn't happy with his woods and long irons," the pretty blonde said.

McLendon, 22, who won the 1965-66-67 Southeastern Conference golf titles, came into the Memphis Open Thursday virtually unknown to the gallery.

Jm Lunn, 23, of Sacramento, Calif., shared the first-round lead with McLendon as both came in with five-under-par 65s Thursday. Lunn finished the round three hours ahead of McLendon, a late starter.

McLendon's wife is touring with him, but she didn't see his 67.

"I figure this is a day of work," he said. "A doctor doesn't take his wife to the office. But she hasn't seen guys like Arnold Palmer play. I'd like for her to come out and see him."

Only one stroke off the lead going into the second round were R. H. Sikes, Dick Mayer, Jack McGowan and Larry Mowry.

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner, shot a 69 in what he called an uninspiring round for Arny's Army to watch. Jack Nicklaus, playing with him, had a 71.

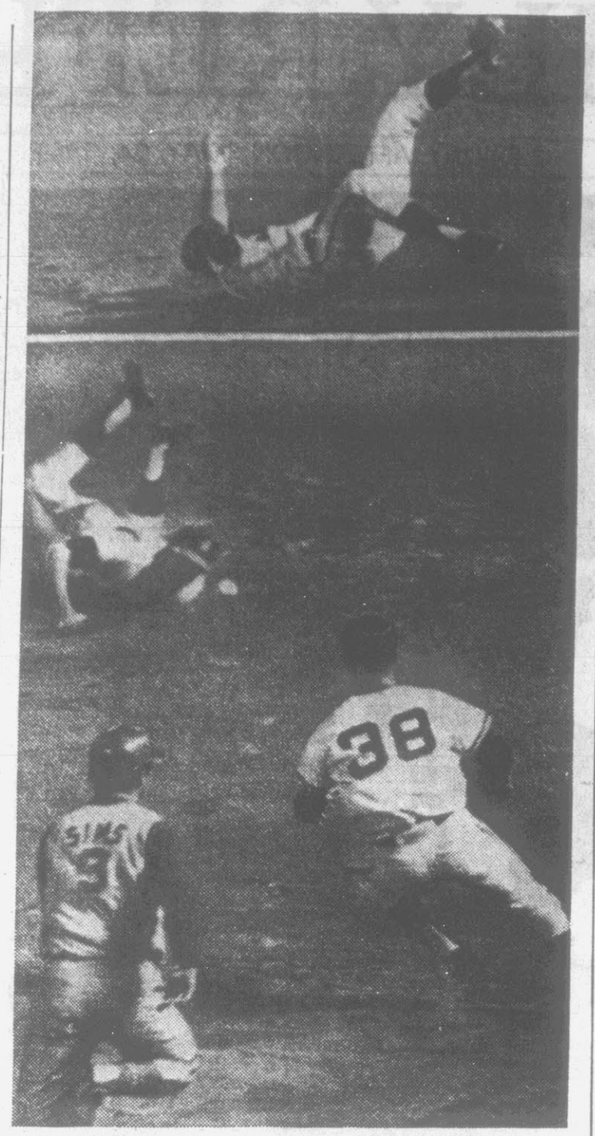

Rams Knocked Out Of NAIA

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Winston - Salem State's Rams have been knocked out of the double-elimination NAIA Area 7 baseball playoffs, and at least one of the other three teams will fall out today.

Winston-Salem lost two of Thursday's three games, 9-2 to Fairmont of West Virginia and then 7-5 to Pfeiffer.

Pfeiffer came back over the Rams after losing 4-0 to Carson-Newman of Tennessee, the first loss this season against 11 victories for Pfeiffer pitcher Vic Worry.

Fairmont and Carson - Newman met in a winners' bracket game at 2 p.m. today. The loser of that game will play Pfeiffer of North Carolina at 5 p.m., and this will eliminate a second team. If a game tonight does not decide the playoff winner, a deciding game will be held Saturday.

A GOOD TRY BUT NOT QUITE GOOD ENOUGH — Don Mincher (top), California Angels' first-baseman, rolls over as he stops a hot grounder off the bat of Duke Sims, Cleveland Indians catcher, then rolls over and tosses the ball to Angels' pitcher Clyde Wright covering first in the 7th inning of their game at Anaheim, Calif., last night. However, Sims beat the throw and was safe for a hit. Indians won 9-2. (AP Wirephoto)

Giants Thriving On Their Adversity

ATLANTA (AP)—Surging San Francisco seems to thrive on adversity.

The Giants, with their injury list climbing about as fast as their standing in the National League, bolted into first place this week despite wounds to a pair of key players.

San Francisco slipped ahead of St. Louis Thursday night with a 5-4 victory over Atlanta, which gave the Giants a 3-1 edge in their series with the Braves despite the absence of slugger Willie McCovey.

He was spiked last week and did not come to Atlanta, and third baseman Frank Johnson won't accompany the Giants to Chicago today.

Johnson suffered a fractured nose when he was hit by an infield bouncer which took a wild hop, and team officials said he probably would be out three or four weeks.

Manager Herman Franks credited Johnson's replacement, veteran Jim Davenport, with the key plays in the triumph.

Davenport moved Ron Hunt to third in the seventh inning with a single to left, starting a two-run uprising. And in the ninth, Davenport sacrificed Hunt to second and after an infield out Hunt scored the winning run on a passed ball.

Allison: Last 100 Is Race Among Survivors

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Donnie Allison, fastest qualifier for Sunday's $152,000 World 600-mile stock car race, says it will be "two races in one."

Allison, rookie of the year in 1967, says, "The first 500 miles is standard—we have six 500 mile races each year. But that extra 100 miles is a race within itself—among the survivors of the first 500-mile leg."

The Charlotte Motor Speedway event will be the world's longest stock car race.

Allison won the pole starting position Wednesday by driving his Ford at an average speed of 159.222 miles per hour for four laps of the mile and one-half track. He broke Cale Yarborough's qualifying record of 154.877 m.p.h.

Ten drivers qualified Wednesday, and 10 more Thursday. Forty-four cars will start. Ten will qualify in time trials today, eight Saturday, and the final six in a special 30-mile race Saturday afternoon.

The fastest qualifier Thursday was Paul Goldsmith, who won the 11th starting spot by averaging 155.655 m.p.h. in a Dodge Coronet.

Next was Buddy Baker, 155.192 m.p.h. in a Dodge Charger.

Jerry Grant won the 13th starting position at 155.005 in a Plymouth, then headed for Indianapolis where he will try to qualify one of Dan Gurney's rear-engined Ford Eagles for the Memorial Day 500.

The 14th through the 18th-place qualifiers:

Bobby Isaac, Dodge Charger 154.254 m.p.h.; Paul (Bud) Moore, Dodge Charger, 152.921; Sam McQuagg, Dodge Charger-147.798; G. C. Spencer, Plymouth, 146.188; Sonny Hutchins, Ford, 145.081; and Elmo Langley, Ford, 144.082.

Computers in the 21st Century . . .

We are using electronic equipment now. But we will never go so far with it that we and our customers become "faceless".

A computer is a "guide" to management, not an end in itself. If it gets to the point that computers help us at the price of inconvenience to the customer, we will just quit.

We believe CBS is wrong. In the 21st Century, we may indeed order our groceries by computer. We may even now have our illnesses diagnosed by computers. It may be that our electric meters someday will be read by far away computers.

We will be using computers more and more, as time goes by, to provide more services, but, personally, we'd rather Burt Aycock would come feel the appendix pain. We'd rather complain about the meter-reader wearing a sack over his face. We enjoy hearing the dog bark at the milk man. And if the time comes when we can't look a man in the face when he wants to borrow money, we will throw in the sponge.

Gold Prices Slightly Rise In Europe Today

LONDON (AP) — Gold prices rose slightly in Europe today but demand was modest. Dealers attributed the rise to some nervousness about currencies, especially the pound.

The price in London went up 35 cents to $41.75 an ounce. In Zurich the price opened unchanged after the Ascension Day holiday, then rose to the London level about an hour later.

London dealers said the rise was a normal market fluctuation and stressed that buying was at ordinary levels.

"But there was a bit of trouble on the selling side," one dealer said. "Some people wanted to cover themselves over the weekend, and whenever you get a little nervousness the sellers hold off."

There was no indication that today's rise would start a climb to another peak matching the one set at the outset of the French crisis a week ago.

The British pound was down to a new low in Britain and on the continent following a credit squeeze announced by the government. Thursday night. Such measures usually are interpreted in money markets as a sign of weakness, and they turn buyers away from currency.

The French crisis was still being discounted in the gold market. If anything, it could help send the price down eventually. Union demands in France are expected to put the French balance of payments into a deficit. The French would then have to dig into their gold stock, estimated at more than $5 billion to meet the deficit.

No Induction By 2 Draftees

BOSTON (AP) — Two draftees refused induction Thursday and an antidraft demonstration was held in the Boston Common where The Resistance, an antidraft organization, claimed 29 draft cards were turned in.

About 300 demonstrators paraded outside the Boston Army base as three youths who said they would refuse induction entered. The Army said that Harold Hector and Gary Quigley refused to take the symbolic step forward and that the third youth, Frank Poindexter, was not qualified for induction.

The demonstrators marched from the base to the Common—the number dwindled to about 100 on the way—and held a noon rally where more than a dozen youths came forward and handed in what they said were their draft cards. Between 200 and 300 spectators watched.

During the march, the demonstrators paused at the Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church where they heard a speech by Army Spec. 4 William Chase, 19, of Dennis, a Vietnam veteran who the Army says is absent without leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash. Chase urged other youths to refuse to serve.

Chase stayed in the church throughout the day. He is claiming "sanctuary" in the church, as did Robert A. Talmanson, 21, of Boston.

Talmanson was taken from the church Wednesday by federal marshals.

Bubble Has Burst On 'Death Of God' Furore

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a passing storm, the "death of God" furore seems to be dying out today in theological circles.

It's a "Bursting bubble," says Anglican Bishop John A. T. Robinson.

However, many church scholars say the temporary shock value of the approach may have served a useful purpose in religious thought.

They say it's spurring renewed efforts at understanding the divine in life, and purging easygoing, old assumptions.

A "special opportunity" is being offered current theology "in the aftermath of the 'death of God' episode," writes the Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Oden, of the graduate theological school of Philip's University, Enid, Okla.

"We are now being forced into much more primal theological territory. We are being confronted with the much more profound question of the reality of God."

Actually, the "death of God" speculations generally did not mean that divinity itself had ceased to exist, but rather that the modern scientific culture obscured it, and humanity seemed largely unaware and independent of it.

Christians must learn to live in a world "without God," the late German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer put it before he died, a firm believer, at Nazi hands. But his writings set the stage for the ensuing "death of God" ferment.

The catchphrase, actually a 1965 revival of a 19th century shibboleth by German philosopher Nietzsche, also was used to point to the demise of tradition-bound, manipulative, self-serving images of God current in Western society.

They were dead, the funeral announcers said.

But if the old, utilitarian definitions don't specify God, or have become meaningless idols in an age when He seems to many to be absent from the technological scene, then theologians must grapple anew with "basic issues" of reality, Dr. Oden says.

"We can rejoice that we have been stung and shocked out of our drowsiness and complacency by the God of history," he writes in the Christian student magazine, Motive.

In a way, he says, it appears to be a "tremendous regression, a giant step backward," by which theologians must start over again "with the ABCs."

How this is to be done, he adds, is the present challenge.

First, says Roman Catholic Cardinal Leo J. Suenens of Belgium, "we must take away the false images" and get rid of "simplistic ways" of thinking of God.

"With the false images stripped away," he told an Oakland, Calif., audience, "God is then realized as a hidden God who can never be expressed in all His essence."

As another Catholic theologian, the Rev. Gregory Baum, of Toronto, put it: "From the beginning, the biblical faith has demanded that men do not make for themselves images of God. Every image of God which en produce is to be rejected as idolatry.

"No image of God is adequate, and if men do regard it as adequate, they become idolatrous or superstitious."

This is why Judeo-Christianity, in affirming God's presence in human life, is "most cautious, hesitant and often uses a lanuage which is close to that of agnostics," he says.

"The critique overruling everything we say about God is called 'negative theology.' God is ineffable. God cannot be named. A Christian cannot say precisely what God is like. A Christian can only say precisely what God is not like. This is the inevitable situation of the biblical faith."

New Tomorrow

If I had time tonight, I might be a bit frightened. But just now, there's time to feel only excited and happy. It's funny . . . when you're a little kid, it seems as if you go to school forever. Then all of a sudden, it's graduation night, and you know that this is an end and a beginning all at once.

Mom and Dad will be out in the audience, and so will Dan. He sent me these roses. Our minister will be out there too, and I hope he'll notice that the smile I send in his direction will be a particularly grateful one. How often I've gone to him with my childish troubles, only to have him treat them as seriously as if they were of world-shaking consequence. It was he who really taught me how to pray.

He taught me so many of God's lessons. And I am sure that throughout my lifetime I'll be learning them anew and repeating them over and over again. How wonderful to realize that this commencement, this end of an era, is really the beginning of a new tomorrow.

THE CHURCH: FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The group, headed by the Rev. Hoyle Allred of Gastonia, called for citizen support of federal legislation to control the sale of guns and other firearms.

Britisher Sees Cash As Real Vote Factor

LONDON (AP) —A British correspondent says the American "dream-saying" that any little boy can grow up to be president should go on to say: "Always provided he happens to have about $5 million to spare."

Back in England from covering the American presidential campaign, John Edwards wrote in the London Daily Sketch: "Is cash more important than the candidate?

"With certain reservations, the answer is 'yes.'

"The sheer weight of a candidate's expense account can wipe out the opposition and win the party nomination."

Henry Brandon, Washingotn correspondent of the Sunday Times of London, wrote that "normally the American electorate would ask itself the simple question: 'Who would make the best president?'

"But this year there is much evidence that, consciously or unconsciously, it is trying to resolve a more complicated question: 'Do we need a conciliator or an innovator?'

"The answer," Brandon said, "is complicated by the fact that it is not only a matter of the policies a candidate advocates, but also his personality."

An Associated Press sampling of foreign commentary on the United States found the British newspaper Economist discussing crime.

"Many members of Congress came back after their Easter holiday convinced that what worried Americans most was the rise in crime," the Economist reported from Washington.

"To find this out it was not necessary to leave Washington," it added: "One of the capital's largest banks has recently abandoned its practice of staying open until 7:30 on Friday nights; too many of its staff were frightened of going home so late."

All of the wigs were recovered, the chief explained.
