Four Market Proposals

RALEIGH (AP) — A subcommittee of the industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketin Committee will consider four separate proposals aimed at opening some flue-cured markets earlier than in past year.

A majority of the 36-member committee indicated support of limited early openings at a meeting in Raleigh Wednesday, but the body sent the specific proposals to subcommittee for further study.

The proposals are designed to give growers in the Eastern North Carolina, Middle North Carolina and North Carolina-Virginia Old belts an opportunity to market their crops as soon as they are ready for sale.

William F. Marshall of Walnut Cove, president of the Old Belt Tobacco Farmers Association, suggested opening of all South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia markets simultaneously and on the same scale as Georgia-Florida markets close.

Other proposals recommended limiting the early sales to two weeks before normal opening dates with a third to a half of the normal buying force present.

'Unexploited' Tax Source

RALEIGH (AP) — The finance committee of Gov. Dan Moore's Public School Study Commission says property taxes in North Carolina are "an unexploited resource" for financing public education.

The committee, which reported Wednesday to heads of the commission's nine major subgroups, said the state's property taxes are lower than in 43 other states and could be raised to help raise North Carolina's per-pupil expenditure to the national average of $600 a year.

Spending for each pupil in the public schools currently falls $175 to $200 below the national average.

The committee also recommended increasing the sales tax and levying taxes on soft drinks and tobacco products to help finance education.

Also included in the committee proposal was a recommendation that the state establish incentive fund programs to encourage local school systems to raise their own taxes for education.

Arson Charged OSU Coed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A freshman coed was charged with arson Wednesday in the fire at an Ohio State University dormitory which took the lives of two other young women.

Harriet Frances Leeb, 18, of South Euclid, Ohio, was charged in the May 22 blaze at Lincoln Tower and held at the Franklin County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The chief of campus police, O. R. Starr, filed the charge. Miss Leeb lived on the 13th floor of the dorm.

The fire claimed its second victim Wednesday morning when Retta Foster, 22, of Colorado Springs, Colo., died in a hospital. Her roommate, Pamela Sue Patterson, 16, Ludlow Falls, Ohio, died in a few hours after the early morning fire that broke out in a lounge near their room on the 11th floor.

Unveil British Monument

NEW YORK (AP) — Roderick Turner Merritt, of Charleston, S. C., dedicated a monument to his father and another man who were killed in the crash of a World War II bomber in England.

Merritt, a senior at Baptist College in Charleston, was born three months after his father, Frank Turner Jr., was killed in the 1944 crash of the B17 near the border of Scotland and England.

The monument near Almwick, England, was unveiled Wednesday by a transatlantic electronic system. A switch from the plane's wreckage was pressed by Merritt, unveiling the monument's covering in England.

Seven surviving crewmen of the bomber, and Turner's mother, Mrs. James Turner Covington of Columbia, S. C., also attended the special ceremony.

The survivors — pilot George A. Kyle Jr. of Atlanta; copilot James H. Hardy of Snow Hill, N. C.; radioman Joel A. Berly Jr. of Clinton, N. C.; gunner George P. Smith of Louisville, Ky.; waist gunner William R. Kaufmann of Wheaton, Ill.; tail gunner Howard P. Delaney of Watertown, N. Y., and flight engineer Ernest G. Schieferstein of Baldwin, N. Y. — planned to take part in Memorial Day ceremonies in New York.

Sen. Morse Still Leads

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon hasn't claimed victory, but he appears today to have won re-nomination in the Democratic primary Tuesday.

Morse, 68, had 49 per cent of the vote with 97 per cent of the state's precincts reporting. His chief opponent, Robert B. Duncan, 48, had 47 per cent of the vote.

Duncan's only comment Wednesday on the close vote was "the ball game isn't over yet."

Morse refused to comment.

With 85 precincts still not reporting, Morse had 173,327 votes to Duncan's 166,506. A third candidate, Phil McAlmond, had 16,953.

Morse is a former law school dean who served two Senate terms as a Republican and is in his second term as a Democrat. This is the first time he has faced a serious challenge in a primary.

Duncan is a Portland lawyer who tried for the Senate two years ago against then-Gov. Mark O. Hatfield. Duncan blamed Morse's refusal to support him for his 1966 defeat.

Duncan took a strong position backing the administration's Vietnam policy. Morse is a bitter critic of that policy.

Plan 19-Story Inn For Raleigh

RALEIGH (AP) — Construction is expected to begin in about 10 days on a $3 million, 19-story Holiday Inn in Raleigh.

Ben Haigh, holder of the Holiday Inn franchise for Wake County and developer of the property, announced plans Wednesday at a groundbreaking ceremony.

Haigh said it will be Raleigh's tallest building in terms of feet above sea level and number of floors. He added yearly gross income of the inn will be $1.5 million with 100 employees and an annual payroll of more than $300,000.

Propose Airport Expansion Plan

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A 17-year, $45.8 million expansion and renovation program for Charlotte's Douglas Municipal Airport was proposed Wednesday to the City Council and Chamber of Commerce.

The recommendations include: construction of a new 8,400 foot runway, converting the present terminal into a cargo and service center, and construction of a new passenger terminal.

Dissolves Nat'l Assembly Pres. DeGaulle Not Resigning

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today he is not resigning and is keeping Premier Georges Pompidou. He said he is dissolving the National Assembly.

Speaking vigorously on the national radio network after a cabinet meeting on France's grave economic crisis, De Gaulle said he was putting back the date of the scheduled June 16 referendum on his proposed reforms in the economy and universities.

"France is menaced by a dictatorship," De Gaulle said.

He asserted that if the present showdown of strength continues with the striking workers and dissident students allied against the government, he would take other measures than an election.

De Gaulle's dissolution of the National Assembly means new elections. But he mentioned no date for them.

The afternoon newspaper Le Monde, which appeared before De Gaulle spoke, said the first round of voting would be June 23. Le Monde said the referendum on reform would be held at the same time.

De Gaulle said he would respect constitutional provisions for the elections of deputies. The French constitution provides that elections must be held between 20 and 40 days after the chamber is dissolved.

Because of widespread discontent among workers over wages, new elections may result in the loss of the Gaullist majority in parliament.

Nor is the call for elections expected to still the clamor among unions and students for the resignation of De Gaulle and Pompidou.

De Gaulle gave no hint of how he expects to get the estimated eight to 10 million striking workers back to the job. But he apparently expects the threat to disappear in the aftermath of a general election.

The president said that Pompidou would suggest changes in ministerial jobs.

Doubts have been growing as to whether the national referendum De Gaulle has set for June 16 could take place as scheduled, and calls for De Gaulle's ouster have become louder. On Wednesday an estimated 100,000 students and workers marched in an antigovernment parade called by the Communist-led Confederation of Labor, and they belted for the general to resign.

Most leftwing opposition leaders have already called for a change of government if not of regime.

Gaullist supporters in Parliament voted Wednesday to advise De Gaulle to appoint a new "government of French unity" to lead the country until national parliamentary elections can be held.

Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, 61, a leading leftwinger, told a news conference France needed a "transition government," solidly backed by students and strikers, to resolve the crisis touched off by student demonstrations and fired up by labor strikes. He said he was willing to head such a government if "all leftist forces" asked him to.

Radio Signal Spurred Search

Scorpion Hopes Flicker

NORFOLK, V. (AP) — Navy submarine warfare officers were reported today to "put very little faith in the radio transmission" that seemed to have come from the missing submarine Scorpion.

This was reported by a Pentagon source in Washington as hope of finding the sub and its 99 crewmen dimmed. More than 14 hours had lapsed after receipt of a radio message whose sender identified itself as the missing craft.

Six destroyers were sent to the area of the transmission but reported this morning finding no evidence of the missing sub nor any more broadcasts.

A naval source also said today, "It doesn't look good now." He said he thought Wednesday night "we had something."

The radio transmission was heard at 8:28 p.m. EDT Wednesday by a naval patrol plane about 110 miles east of here. Six ships also monitored the broadcast.

Navy officers acknowledged the possibility the lone message which identified the sender with the secret code name for the Scorpion, might have been a hoax.

But a spokesman for the Atlantic Submarine Force said, "We still maintain the possibility that Scorpion will be found."

That statement echoed words of Cmdr. T. L. Ingraham, force public affairs officer, who told a news conference earlier today: "The Navy still maintains hope."

The submarine and its 99 crewmen, missing since Monday, is the object of the greatest air-sea search ever mounted by the Navy—10,000 men, 55 ships and 30 planes.

The radio message was picked up when the patrol plane receiving it was 110 miles east of Norfolk. Search units were concentrated in an area stretching from 110 miles to more than 300 miles east of Norfolk. But in further radio transmissions were reported.

The sole message said: "Any station this network. This is (and then gave the code name for the Scorpion)."

The Navy said the code name has been repeated numerous times in communications among the search force ships and planes.

Ingraham said the Navy did not definitely believe the message came from the Scorpion. He added it could have come from a shore radio.

The Pentagon previously cautioned against overoptimism that a dramatic development had occurred. Like Ingraham, the Pentagon said the message could have been a hoax.

One of the Navy craft picking up the message took a bearing of 75 degrees on the signal. But because no other ship could get a second bearing, there was no fix—or point of transmission—available.

He said the Scorpion "certainly would know a search was in progress for her" and "she would be on the surface" transmitting.

BADGE ALSO TAKEN
CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A purse stolen from the desk of a second floor office of the post office and federal building Wednesday was the property of Mrs. Esther Duerksen, secretary to U.S. Marshal John Terrell. It contained credit cards—and Mrs. Duerksen's deputy U.S. marshal badge.

Platform Has Tentative OK Of Committee

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Democratic party's Platform and Resolutions Committee is expected to meet again Sunday to consider a proposal to make Gov. Dan Moore a favorite son candidate for President at the Democratic National Convention.

The favorite son resolution was expected to win committee approval Wednesday, but a last-minute delay caused a postponement.

The committee gave tentative approval to a platform which favors raising teachers' salaries to the national average and opposed any tax hikes. The platform is expected to win final approval and be submitted to the party's state convention next week.

State Democratic Chairman Tim Valentine Jr. said "a delay in draftsmanship" caused the postponement of the favorite son resolution, but other reports indicated there may have been some question about the strength of the measure.

The original proposal called for binding the North Carolina delegation to Moore on the first ballot at the convention and then freeing delegates to vote for one of the major contenders.

Reports indicated party leaders were attempting to decide whether to bind the delegates which would give the governor considerably more power than had originally been proposed.

The delay is not expected to scuttle the favorite son move, which was designed to keep the state's delegation free from open commitment and permit it to maneuver freely on the convention floor.

The platform tentatively approved Wednesday included, in addition to the teacher pay and tax proposals, planks calling for:

- The General Assembly to consider raising the state minimum wage from $1 an hour to an unspecified higher level.
- Creation of a state department of urban affairs.
- Provision of school bus service to pupils in cities on "an equal basis" with service provided in rural areas.
- Examination of the state constitution "in light of modern times to determine if reforms are needed."
- Year-round use of school facilities and establishment of public kindergartens.
- Strict enforcement of law and order, including apprehending and trial of rioters, looters and arsonists.
- The committee plans to give State Sen. Robert Morgan, D-Harnett, the Democratic nominee for state attorney general, an opportunity to review and criticize the law-and-order plank.

Collision Kills 2 From Farmville

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Three persons, including a star basketball player at Atlantic Christian College, were fatally injured Wednesday night in the head-on collision of two automobiles seven miles east of Wilson.

The dead were identified as Larry Jones, 21, of Olive Branch, who would have graduated Friday night from ACC; Magellan Chestnut, 36, of Farmville; and a 14-month old child, Jimmy L. Spruill Jr., of Farmville.

The wreck occurred on U.S. 264, east.

Another ACC basketball player, guard David Dunn Worthington, 19, of Ayden, was reported in critical condition at Wake Memorial Hospital in Raleigh.

Jones, who received honorable mention for all-American from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, established field goal and rebounding records at ACC.

The injured included baby Spruill's mother, Mrs. Joyce A. Spruill, and four of his brothers and sisters. Mrs. Spruill was treated and released at Wilson Memorial Hospital.

Grady Ray Mosely, 20, of Farmville, a freshman at ACC, was listed in critical condition at Wilson Memorial.

Senora Hardy Blount, 51, of Farmville was placed in the intensive care unit of the Wilson hospital.

State Trooper C. J. Cole said the ACC students were riding in the car driven by Jones and the other eight were in a car driven by Chestnut.

Cole said the Jones car rounded a curve on the wrong side of the roadway and struck the Chestnut vehicle almost head-on.

The deaths raised the Wilson County fatality count for 1968 to 18, one less than the total for all of 1967.

Suspend Buying French Francs

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss-based Bank for International Settlement announced today it has temporarily stopped buying French francs, suspending the operation designed to support the franc during the French crisis. A number of European banks also halted their purchase of francs.

Spokesman for the bank in Basel said the decision to stop buying francs conformed with a request by the Bank of France. No other explanation was offered but one top-level Swiss banking executive said developments indicated "far-reaching decisions in monetary policies" expectable in France.

The franc has been weakened by the French crisis and the Swiss bank, an international currency clearing house, bought francs for two days to prevent the rate from dropping below the price of 4.9740 to the dollar.

Foreigners and even the French were dumping francs out of fear it would decline further on international exchanges or that the franc would be devalued.

West German banks stopped buying French francs, halting a rush during the past few days to convert French currency to marks. Dutch banks also quit buying francs, but exchange offices at the borders continued to accept a maximum of about 130-336 from travelers entering the Netherlands.

The franc dropped as low as 5.04 to the U.S. dollar today in restricted transactions among French banks.

CANCELLED BY DRAFT
DETROIT (AP) — A scheduled performance Tuesday of an amateur antiwar, satirical opera, "Lysistrata and the War," was canceled. Sponsors said the U.S. Army drafted a leading male singer and they were forced to call off the production.

Sentenced For Refusing Draft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Victor Harris, 22, husband of folksinger Joan Baez, has been convicted of refusing to accept military induction and sentenced to three years imprisonment.

Although he will be eligible for parole at any time, Harris appeared shocked by the sentence Wednesday. He was freed on his own recognizance pending appeal.

Harris, who refused induction Jan. 17 at the Oakland Induction Center, was not allowed to raise a constitutional defense in the three-day trial.

He testified he refused induction because he was attempting to create a new world and believed one man has no right to kill another.

Deputy Director Of NYC Is Appointed

William A. Parrish, Jr., a teacher with the Greenville City Schools during the 1967-68 school year, has been appointed deputy director of the Pitt County Neighborhood Youth Corp.

The announcement of Parrish's selection was made today by Donovan Phillips, NYC Director, in reporting the action of a screening committee that had been appointed by the Pitt Action Committee.

Parrish, a 1967 graduate of East Carolina University, is a native of Jacksonville, but has been living in Greenville for the past five years while attending school and teaching at the Greenville Junior High School. His undergraduate majors were history and political science.

The new deputy director is married and has two children.

Phillips said, "I am pleased to have Parrish on the NYC staff. His educational background and his experience in working with boys and girls as a teacher will provide broad and varied experiences from which he can draw as he begins working in this new position."

Parrish will begin his duties with the NYC on June 6.

Do You Accept Jewelry Gracefully From Hubby?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—For several decades the well-decorated wife has just about been the only way a man has had to show off his success.

Therefore, the least a woman can do when her husband comes home bearing jewels is to be gracious about it.

Too often women are not, according to Erwin Pearl, Austrian-born engineer turned designer. In fact, European women have it all over American women in handling the man who wants to bedeck her with baubles.

Too many husbands in this country sheepishly return their dazzling selections because their wives whine that, "It doesn't go with what I have," says Pearl who nevertheless decorates a considerable number of husbands' wives with small fortunes in gems.

"In Europe men never take back a gift of jewelry. Their women are clever enough to take them window shopping many times before they come home with that gift. When they say, "Darling, I really love it," they mean it. They mean it when they saw it the first time, months before."

A dark-eyed continental charmer, Pearl reluctantly churns in the social whirl from time to time "because it is expected of me," though he and his shy wife prefer the comparative tranquility of his suburban life.

Council Gives Breakdown On The Costs Of Weddings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Here comes the bride and then come the bills. Who pays for what, in the matter of getting a couple married? The Jewelry Industry Council gives this breakdown:

The bride (or her family) pays for her trousseau, the wedding ring for the bridegroom, presents and accommodations for her attendants, personal stationery and calling cards, and her medical examination.

The bride's family assumes responsibility for wedding invitations and enclosure cards, announcements, engagement and wedding photographs, rental for the church or other wedding site, fees for the organist, soloist and sexton, aisle carpet, flowers for church, home, or other location, the bridesmaids' bouquets and flower heads, gratuity for traffic policemen, transportation for the bridal party from house to wedding site to the reception, the bridesmaids' luncheon, and entire cost of the reception.

The bridegroom pays for the bride's engagement and wedding rings, the marriage license, gift for the bride, his medical examination, bride's bouquet and going-away corsage, boutonnières for the men of the wedding party, flowers for the two mothers, gloves, ascots or ties for the men in the wedding, gifts and accommodations for his best man and ushers, fee for the clergyman, and the wedding trip.

The bridegroom's family pays for clothes they wear to the wedding, gifts and accommodations for the bride, and a wedding gift for the newlyweds. The dinner preceding or following the wedding rehearsal may be given by either the bride or bridegroom's family.

Wedding Cake Bride's Choice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My younger sister is being married soon, and she wants to have fruitcake for her wedding cake because it can be made earlier and will keep better.

Others we've asked say that the traditional wedding cake should be white.

Sis says that Luci Johnson had fruitcake at her wedding, so there can't be anything wrong with it. Who is right?

SIS: Having recently researched the history of wedding cakes for a "kooky wedding" article I wrote for the June issue of Ladies' Home Journal, if you'll excuse the plug, I can tell you that there is on such thing as a "traditional" wedding cake. Your sister may properly have anything she wants.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a very nice fellow from Italy. We have been dating for four years now. He came to this country when he was only 16 years old. He is now 28. He makes good money and he speaks very good English.

He never mentioned the possibility of his going back to Italy to live until a few months ago. I always thought he liked it here so much. Now he tells me he would like to live in Italy.

Do you think I should give up my family and my country for this man?

WONDERING: If you have to ask, the answer is no.

DEAR ABBY: After 10 years of a childless marriage, my husband and I adopted a beautiful baby girl. We were—and still are—on cloud nine. She was a gift from heaven because a year later we were blessed with our own little son! And the fol-

Cooking With Chilies Is Way Of Life For Natives

By JUDY JONES

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—Turning down a chili supper in New Mexico is like making a face at gumbo in Louisiana.

That's because the natives here have been cooking with chilies for almost 400 years, and it's a way of life.

The plants first were introduced by the Spaniards and then taken over by the Indians. Since then, chilies have been used in one form or another to add zip to native foods.

Mixed with meat it's chilli con carne. Add some to beans and it's chilli con frijoles. Chilli and cheese, often used as a dip, is called chilli con queso.

Always Hot
Regardless of the name, chilies are almost always red and hot, unless they're green, and then they're hotter. The tenderfoot to New Mexico says they're the nearest thing to rocket fuel.

Commonly called peppers, chilies actually are capsicums, or berries of tropical herbs or shrubs of the nightshade family.

Many native foods start with chilli sauce and a tortilla—a round, flat cake made of ground corn or a special type of corn meal called masa harina. The corn, incidentally, may be either blue or yellow.

An enchilada is concocted by arranging tortillas, red chilli sauce, onion and cheese in layers. Another type of enchilada is made by rolling the ingredients inside the tortilla and dumping more sauce on top.

Native Meal
A native meal in New Mexico may begin with guacamole, a dip or salad made with avocados, onions, tomatoes and red chilies.

Salsa picante is a hot chilli sauce that is poured over everything. It's recommended only for those with iron clad mouths and stomachs and has been known to cure colds and keep relatives away indefinitely.

3 Delicious Flavors JELLY BUNS Diener's Bakery
815 Dickinson Avenue

Salsa picante can turn a perfectly harmless dish like sopa de albondigas—a rich, stock soup with tender meatballs made of beef, blue cornmeal and spices—into an explosion.

A few of the dishes, however, are relatively mild. One is a Spanish favorite called arroz con pollo. It's made of chicken, rice and fresh herbs. Another is quesadilla, a pastry filled with cheese, eggs and milk.

When dessert time rolls around, the natives provide dishes to cool fiery tongues. The choice may range from tiny fried cakes called bunuelos to empanaditas—meat-filled turnovers. Bunuelos served plain—without spiced brown sugar syrup—are soapillas, which resemble miniature pillows and are served like dinner rolls.

Fieri New Mexico foods are an experience, and regardless of how the chilies are prepared, the outcome remains unique to the Southwest.

A Grasp Of Money Facts Of Life Helps Newlyweds

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—A grasp of the money facts of life helps newlyweds start their marriage on the right foot.

First, consider a joint checking account. The Foundation for Commercial Banks says this type is ideal for the husband and working wife who plan their financial expenses together.

With a joint account, the family earnings are deposited in one checking account. Financial responsibilities are shared and the system encourages husband and wife to think in terms of "their" money.

The family budget is easier to maintain when the couple uses a joint account. Usually the husband writes checks for major expenses such as mortgage or rent payments, phone and utilities, car and loan payments. The wife handles food and household expenses.

Cuts Spending
The foundation says the joint account also tends to cut extravagant spending.

The reason: The couple is more apt to discuss spending large amount before they write out a check. For example, if they are about to buy a new sofa both know how much they can afford to spend. The wife won't set her mind on something the budget won't allow.

In addition, the partnership arrangement allows husband and wife to draw on the account for personal money. The wife doesn't feel she must ask for pocket money and the husband needn't feel guilty about his purchase.

The monthly statement and canceled checks show exactly how the family earnings are being spent. It is easier for the couple to decide where to cut down on expenses if they feel their savings are not bridging properly.

Yes, Savings. When the couple has a joint savings account, it is a simple matter to authorize the bank to transfer a set monthly amount from the joint checking to joint savings.

Use Caution
All this joint financial planning is coupled with a caution. "It is best for couples to use one checkbook," the foundation's experts said. Both partners must keep daily track of the checkbook, entering all written checks, or they may find themselves overdrawn.

If the husband travels a great deal, for example, the wife may be paying out more of the monthly bills. She should know how much is in the account so the checks will be covered.

Some couples are able to operate using individual checkbooks for the joint account. But, each must be meticulous about reporting expenditures to the other. One of the two must be totally responsible for keeping a record of all deposits and withdrawals.

Separate checking accounts ought to be considered when the family has a high income or when the wife works and wants to handle her own money.

With the separate checking account, it is usual for the husband to pay the large bills from his account while the wife draws from her account to pay for food, household expenses, her personal clothing and spending.

Garden Club Has Annual Luncheon

The Home Pride Garden Club held its annual luncheon last week at the home of Mrs. Ledyard Ross. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bobby Boseman, Mrs. Jack Weeden, Mrs. Lyman Daughtrey and Mrs. Preston Cannon.

Members divided into groups of four and each group arranged a luncheon ensemble of coordinating china, crystal, silver, linens and flowers.

Franciscan's Desert Rose informal china, pink linens, rambling roses with Baker's fern were used for the table of Mrs. Thomas Moran, Mrs. Phil Moore, Mrs. Charles Grezbielski and Mrs. William Byrd, a guest.

Mrs. James Platts, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Gilmer Hulsey and Mrs. Daughtrey used a patriotic theme. Ironstone china, Hotnail crystal, Town's Country stainless on a blue cloth with red napkins carried out the theme. The centerholding red roses and small piece was a pewter bowl holding red roses and small American flags.

Golden daisies mixed with plum tree sprigs highlighted the casual table setting by Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. Robert Saleed, Mrs. Bruce Baker and Mrs. Patrick Duncan. China and crystal in shades of gold, beige and brown were used.

A formal motif for a table of eight using green linen mats and napkins held by sterling rings, individual salts and hand-cut antique crystal complimented the table by Mrs. William Jordan, Mrs. William Leitch, Mrs. Richard Monds, Mrs. T. H. Ransay, Mrs. Roseman, Mrs. Cannon, Mrs. Weedon and Mrs. Ross. A vase of mixed spring flowers was used as the centerpiece.

Cook lamb for stew the day before using. When cooked, separate lamb from liquid. Refrigerate both. The next day all the fat can be lifted off easily.

A Pay-Off For Months Of Effort

A new industrial plant which will employ some 300 people within the next year in the Williamston area is the kind of economic progress which will help boost the per capita income of Martin County, and other counties in this area.

The new plant represents a bright feather in the cap of our neighboring county and one which is certain to add significantly to the annual manufacturing payroll of that county. While the initial announcement of the new plant said 300 employees would be hired in the first year, there is good reason to believe that ultimately there may be considerably more people employed in the yarn processing operation.

Like many other counties in this eastern agricultural area, Martin ranks in the last half of the 100 counties of the state in per capita income. The most recent study by the Department of Tax Research ranks it in 65th place with a per capita income of $1,615 for the year 1966.

Obviously the leaders of Williamston and Martin County who have worked diligently for months bringing to fruition the location of this new industry in their county. They recognize the need for additional manufacturing jobs if the county is to improve its economic status. Those leaders are to be commended for their success in the location of the new industry. The new jobs and the new payroll will in turn help create other jobs and payrolls in the county.

For the counties of the East which have traditionally had little industry, the route to per capita incomes equal to those in more industrialized counties of the state is not easy, or quick. But with each new plant such as the one announced for Williamston, another step is taken in the right direction, not just for the community immediately involved, but for this entire section of the state.

Time Has Run Out On Taxes, Spending Cut

Within a short time after it reconvenes after its Memorial Day recess, Congress should take final action on the measure to enact an income tax surcharge and reduce federal spending.

The matter has dragged out much too long already. The delay has been costly to the nation in terms of balance of payments in terms of inflation which has continued at an unacceptable rate while Congress and the administration wrestled with the problem of taxes and spending.

Time has run out for debating the issue. It is past time for Congress to enact its measure and then leave it to the administration to respond. At the heart of the controversy is the insistence by the House that the administration effect a $6 billion reduction in federal spending in return for Congressional passage of the $10 billion surtax measure. The administration clings to its position that any spending reduction beyond $4 billion would be disastrous to the nation's domestic programs.

While there has been the possibility of Congress and the administration compromising the spending reduction in the neighborhood of $5 billion, this compromise has not been reached.

Perhaps Congress and the administration can afford the luxury of additional time to debate the matter and delay the decision. The nation, however, cannot afford further delay. Each additional day causes inflation to take a bigger bite out of the nation's economy and each additional day further weakens the position of the dollar in the world's economy.

Kennedy Family Finally Beaten

By JACK BELL
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Kennedys have finally lost an election in an Oregon Democratic presidential primary that rubbed the winning sheen off Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, an underdog, upset the New York senator in the first defeat ever handed to a member of the Kennedy family in more than a score of primaries and general elections in which they have been engaged.

The ultimate winner in Kennedy's Oregon setback could be Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He got only about 5 per cent of the vote by write-in.

But he was an indirect beneficiary of McCarthy's derailling of the bandwagon Kennedy hopes to ride triumphantly into the party's Chicago nominating convention.

McCarthy restored his status as a top contender for the

A Well-Deserved Rebuke

The United States Senate last week dealt the Supreme Court the strongest rebuke that has been officially hurled at the court in more than 30 years. Not since the days of Roosevelt's court-packing proposal has a co-equal branch of government spoken in such unmistakable terms.

Roosevelt's scheme failed of adoption, of course, but it had its effect nonetheless. Chief Justice Hughs got the word. Many Americans, deeply concerned at the trend of Supreme Court decisions over the past ten years, will pray that Chief Justice Warren and his majority bloc prove equally attentive this time around. The Senate has said bluntly that it wants to see a balance restored between the rights of a defendant and the rights of society. The step is long overdue.

Specifically, the Senate approved Section 3501 of the Crime Control Act of 1968. The section says that in Federal criminal prosecutions, a confession shall be admissible in evidence "if it is voluntarily given." Trial judges are to review the circumstances in the absence of a jury. If a judge determines that a confession was in fact voluntary, according to conditions laid down in the act, he is to admit the confession and instruct the jury to give it such weight "as the jury feels it deserves under all the circumstances." Under the Senate bill, the presence or absence of a lawyer would be merely one factor, and not necessarily a conclusive factor, in determining the issue of voluntariness. Manifestly, this provision of the act is intended to override the high court's 5-4 decision in the famed Miranda case two years ago. The court then laid down such sweeping requirements for the advice of counsel that the use of confessions in evidence was rendered almost impossible.

As you might expect, the Senate's refusal has evoked moans of anguish from knee-jerk liberals who bleed for the rights of rapists. The Washington Post, which goes into hysterics whenever Earl Warren sneezes, has been regaling its readers with horror stories of confessions obtained by the third-degree. You would suppose that police routinely exact confessions by thumbscrews and rubber hoses.

Sure enough, instances of coerced confessions have occurred. Too many of them. But there is not one line in the Senate bill that would condone the abhorrent practice. It is an insult to the whole of the Federal trial bench to imagine that such confessions would be received in the future.

The more applicable horror stories go in precisely the other direction. Two months after the Miranda decision, a Brooklyn housewife came on trial for the murder of her four-year-old son. She had taped his mouth and beaten him to death with a broomstick. She freely confessed. She had not had a lawyer. She went free. Miranda.

There was the case in New York of Jose Suarez, 22, a laundry worker. He killed his wife and five small children by stabbing them more than 100 times. Police arrested him. He confessed at once. No lawyer. Justice Michael Kern bitterly agreed that "even an animal such as this one, and I believe this is in-

Again Here In Spirit

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memorial Day is a resurrection. Millions of flowers, placed with loving hands, bloom upon a tidal wave of graves tenanted by gathering millions of ours honored dead—those fallen in war, those fallen in peace. Housewives and warriors, farmers and statesmen, orphans and overlords, girls and grandfathers—all sleep together in the tremendous democracy of death's common pasture. The earth itself is but a vast tomb and the living are but temporary wayfarers upon its surface. But on Memorial Day they walk in spirit again, hand in hand, heart to heart, with those who lie unforgotten beneath the headstones. Memory welds anew a vanished unity.

"The problem of loss and bereavement has stirred the sages of the ages, and these are a few of the thoughts they held: 'Grief is crowned with consolation.'—Shakespeare. # Electronics In Future Voting

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH—At some time in the future, voters may be able to cast ballots in an election simply by marking a punch card and placing it in a slot.

Then swiftly, almost instantly, the ballot would be recorded by computer and flashed into a statewide electronic counting system and a central headquarters.

And by pushing a button, officials would know the exact up-to-the-minute count and standing of various candidates at any given time during the period of voting. When the polls closed, statewide totals would be available instantly.

So-called "projections" of election results based on a few returns from certain key counties would no longer be needed.

Many Doubts
In most of North Carolina's 100 counties, voters continue to use paper ballots, marked by pencil and stuffed into a wooden box.

Only 19 of the counties use voting machines and in the most recent statewide election, May 4, there were complaints about these. In one county, Mecklenburg, it appeared that the machines tallied more votes than were cast. In another, Wayne County, the voting machines apparently wiped out and erased the votes cast by nearly half of the 10,000 persons who went to the polls.

There were difficulties in other counties using voting machines. But there were as many or more difficulties in other counties.

The State Board of Elections has now set up a bipartisan representative study group to try to find solutions to the unprecedented problems which occurred in the May 4 voting.

"We are not looking for excuses," says Alex K. Brock, executive secretary of the Board of Elections. "We're trying to find solutions. This is designed to be a working group—a task force—which will help us find and solve problems and difficulties which occurred May 4, and which perhaps will never occur again."

Slow Process
"We're not backward," says Brock. "But the election process is a precious, reverent tradition in North Carolina. No one wants to see radical changes overnight."

For one thing, Brock says, voter education in use of voting machines is desirable. In counties which have anti-single shot voting laws, voters must know that the machines are adjusted to wipe out any ballot which is not marked for a specified number of candidates in each race. Such single shot voting laws apply only to county-level offices—such as county commissioners and boards of education—yet the machines will void any ballot that does not show a vote for the required number of candidates, state as well as local.

Not Foreseeable
The day of rapid electronic election systems almost certainly will come some day—but probably not in the foreseeable future in North Carolina.

State election officials know about such systems. They have seen them in action. They have attended demonstrations and have received detailed plans for laying out a statewide election network connected to a central computer system.

The fact is, however, that there is a great deal of suspicion about and objection to this sort of sophisticated voting system. Movement toward its adoption will be

Strength For Today Victory Of The 'Little People'

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE DIVORCE PROBLEM
We are horrified today by the increase in divorce. There have been years when the number of divorces have equaled one-fourth the number of marriages for that year, or closely adjacent years.

Yet when we think about it the amazing fact would appear to be that there are not more divorces. Romance before marriage is an uncompleted experience involving nothing but satisfaction. What takes place is that after marriage certain responsibilities arise over which there is disagreement and frequently strife. Settled down in a home, the romantic couple have to decide endless questions every week involving their relationships with other persons, the way they will spend their own leisure time, the investments they will make, the time they will give to business, the extent to which relatives may enter into their lives and perhaps dominate their households. Premarital romance is something very lovely, uncomplicated, suffused with an atmosphere of joy. Marriage is different. Marriage primarily, and it is over the responsibility involves responsibility, and it is over the responsibilities of life that contracting couples often begin to wrangle. On their wedding day most couples are sure that they will accept "give and take" with joy and understanding, but within a few years many of them find that they are called upon to give and to take what they do not want to take.

When children arrive the responsibility increases. Do we wonder at divorce? Is it not amazing that we make as much of a success out of marriage as we do?

By ELMER ROESSNER
Passage of the truth-in-lending law is hailed by consumer groups as the greatest consumer victory since the Boston Tea Party. Even more significant is the fact that it is a victory of little people over one of the most powerful aggregations of lobbyists in Washington.

Arrayed against the bill were lobbyists representing banks, acceptance corporations, small loan companies, giant merchandising chains and mail order houses, borax houses and other credit sellers.

Banks, however, were divided in their opposition to the bill, although they did not flaunt their position in front of certain customers. Banks, who have been pretty frank in describing interest rates, will now have less competition from lenders who have been concealing higher rates with a lot of razzle-dazzle.

The Grass-Roots Lobby
The proponents of the law, which, incidentally, is officially the Consumer Credit Protection Act, were a motley array. They have been fighting for the legislation ever since former Senator Paul Douglas, D., Ill., introduced it nine years ago. Last year Douglas was defeated by Charles Percy.

Originally from farmers' workers' search for cheaper credit. They had the vigorous support of Sen. William Proxmire, D., Wis., who took over the fight in the Senate after Douglas's departure; Congressman Leonor Sullivan, D., Mo., who led the fight in the House for a stronger bill than the Senate passed; Congressman Henry Gonzalez, D., Tex.; Speaker John W. McCormack, D., Mass., who, using parliamentary law to the limit, got the conference report on the bill to a House vote in record time.

Other Pressure Sources
President Johnson gets a large share of credit because he made truth-in-lending his No. 1 issue in his consumer legislation program, and Betty Furness, his special assistant for consumer affairs, did a lot of drum beating.

Civil rights groups, too, helped. It has been alleged that much of the Negro rioting resulted from anger at ghetto credit retailers who imposed usurious charges on the poor and ignorant. Certainly some of the first targets for looting and arson were many of these retail establishments.

But the most powerful pressure of all came from the little people. All over the country people have been writing and talking to their Congressmen. Women's clubs have been resolving, PTAs have been passing resolutions, union members and their wives have been writing letters.

The truth-in-lending law is a demonstration of what the voters can do when they really turn the pressure on. The long-term effects of this lesson may be far greater than the reforms embodied in the new law.

East Indians Watching Us—And Archives Program

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Department of Archives and History
Written for Associated Press

RALEIGH (AP)—The Indians are watching us. The East Indians, that is.

Even in India North Carolina's archives program receives publicity. The current issue of the periodical Indian Archives carries an article, "The Archival - Records Management Programme of an American State: North Carolina." The article is written by H. G. Jones, Tar Heel State Archivist.

Until the present century, says Dr. Jones, "North Carolina had no central agency charged with the responsibility of managing the public records. Each agency went its own way. . . . The first effective step toward remedying this situation," continues the writer, "came with the establishment in 1903 of the North Carolina Historical Commission." Forty years later the name was changed to State Department of Archives and History, "the state's overall historical agency."

Step No. 2 was the passage of 1935 of a model public records act, giving control of the historical commission of all public records of the state and its subdivisions.

Today North Carolina has the largest archival - records management program of any of the 50 states. The annual budget (brought up to date) for this program alone is nearly $500,000 and the number of employees is 54.

The State Records Center now houses nearly 50,000 cubic feet of semi-current records (not "permanent records of research value which are kept in the state archives") of some 50 different state agencies.

A central microfilm unit is operated for all state agencies.

There is a comprehensive program of inventorying, micro-filming, and otherwise processing the permanent records of all the 100 counties. To date, of the counties have been brought under the program, all the others will be reached within a few years.

Essential to the program is the preservation of records of historical value. These are preserved in the state archives, where today are housed more than 20 million documents.

The present greatest need is for more space. This will be met in part by occupation later this year of the new $4 million Archives and History - State Library Building, now nearing completion. There, with specially designed space, the department will be challenged to go on to even greater accomplishments. Meanwhile, funds will be sought for an annex to the new building to permit further expansion of the records management program which serves both economy and preservation.

5,000 Calories Daily For Military Cadets

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer
WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — That trim, well-conditioned cadet at the U.S. Military Academy consumes more calories than a combat soldier—and almost twice as many as a civilian.

He and his 3,200, West Point classmates annually go through 135,000 loaves of bread, 80,000 pies and cakes, 800,000 cups of ice cream, tons of meat and vegetables, and more peanut butter than you'd care to count the calories for.

The academy's menu board does the calorie counting for the cadet, and each one averages between 4,500 and 5,000 calories per day.

"Five thousand calories seems like an awful lot but believe me these cadets run it off," says Maj. Jerry L. Hearn, officer in charge of the cadet mess.

When the day begins at 6 a.m. and includes a required athletic program in the afternoon, the calories go very fast. As the dietitians figure it, a cadet uses up 4 calories per pound of weight per hour of running; 4.5 calories, swimming; 1 calorie, typing and even .7 calories eating.

Cadets gain or lose as much as 20 pounds when they arrive as freshmen, but after about two months the weight-gaining evens out. They end up with an average gain of eight pounds for the entire four years.

"Nutritionally, with 5,000 calories, you can't miss," said Capt. Bonnie Moscatelli, the chief of food services division at the academy's hospital and a member of the menu board. The real problem, she said, is pleasing the individual tastes of 3,200 cadets who have "immature stomachs."

Pizza and steak are their favorites, with asparagus, brussel sprouts and liver at the opposite end of the popularity scale.

A big event for the cadets is the traditional Wednesday steak night.

"If I didn't have steak on Wednesday night," said Hearn, "I'd have a riot on my hands."

On a typical Wednesday the cadets begin the day with chilled apricot halves, assorted dry cereals with light cream, scrambled eggs, crisp bacon, hashed brown potatoes, hot raisin muffins, toast, butter, assorted jams and jellies, coffee and milk.

For lunch, they might be served pork chow mein with mushrooms and bean sprouts, steamed rice, fried noodles, cottage cheese, jubilee salad bread butter pineapple sheet cake with butter cream icing, iced orangeade and milk.

With their sirloin steak for dinner, they get french fried potatoes, buttered succotash, chef's salad bowl, garlic bread and better, blueberry pie a la mode, coffee, iced tea and milk.

Among Grads At Winston-Salem

WINSTON-SALEM — Three Greenville youths will be among the 130 eighth grade boys participating in graduation exercises at the North Carolina Advancement School here Friday.

The trio who will receive certificates include: Robert Alton Allen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Allen; Johnnie Ray Blount, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Blount; and Linwood Ray White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert White.

The program on the campus of the school will mark the close of the spring semester of the Advancement School, a state-sponsored school for underachievers.

Dr. Russell Montford, pastor of the Burkhead Methodist Church in Winston-Salem will deliver the 10 a.m. commencement address.

A banquet honoring the graduating students will be held Thursday evening preceding the graduation.

The Allens live at 119 Heritage St., the Whites at 603 Howell St., and the Blounts at 1915 Kennedy Circle.

Gold Mining Property To Be New Development

REAL ESTATE PROJECT
JOHANNESBURG (AP) — About 14,000 acres of gold mining property on the southern edge of Johannesburg is to be converted into a vast industrial, commercial and residential complex.

An estimated $140 million will be absorbed in the first 10 years to launch the project, Rand Mines Properties announced. Six gold mines which have either stopped production or are running down are included in what is described as the largest real estate project in South African history.

The complex includes 13 percent of the Johannesburg municipal area. Factories, warehouses, shopping centers and high rise apartment buildings are planned. Recreational areas are envisaged where the ground is too undermined by mine tunnels to permit building.

The irony of the situation, however, was that while Kennedy and McCarthy were struggling over Oregon's 35 convention votes, Humphrey won 53 of 63 Florida votes. A ticket headed by Sen. George Smathers, a Humphrey supporter, swamped a slate pledged to McCarthy.

Humphrey thus continued to pile up a delegate total he had enriched previously in states where conventions name the slates while his opponents battle each other in the primaries.

Kennedy's chief hope of overcoming this lead had been to sweep the primaries and thus storm into the convention as a demonstrated winner.

In Oregon the Kennedy name and touch failed to rouse the crowds to ecstatic heights as they had in Indiana, Nebraska and in California campaigning. McCarthy combined his soft sell approach with the best organization and the heaviest financing he has been able to mount in any of the primaries.

The results indicated that Kennedy would be handicapped in areas where the Negro and ethnic minority vote is small as it was in Oregon.

Hunting Buried Treasure On Pacific Island

HONOLULU (AP) — A former Honolulu man now living in Tahiti plans a second voyage to a South Pacific island to seek a buried treasure.

Ralph Varady will sail to a coral reef off the island of Mopelia, where Felix, Count von Luckner, hid gold bullion and jewels in August 1917.

The treasure is in a watertight ammunition box. In addition to the gold and jewels are important ship's papers and the ship logs which von Luckner stowed in the box. The papers are of value to collectors and may exceed the tangible treasure in monetary value.

Von Luckner, "the old sea pirate," pillaged the gold and jewels from eleven Allied vessels hit captured during World War I.

Chicago was incorporated in 1837. Its population at that time was 4,170.

Dozens of such fantastic miscarriages of justice have occurred by reason of the Supreme Court's excessive solicitude. As North Carolina's Senator Sam Ervin has noted, the number of confessions in criminal cases has fallen drastically. The State's Attorney of Baltimore remarks that "the confession as a law-enforcement instrument has been virtually eliminated." If the House accepts the Senate bill, the trend may be reversed. It will all depend on whether Chief Justice Warren gets the word.

Rockefeller Says Nixon Can't Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller claims his rival for the Republican presidential nomination—Richard M. Nixon—can't win in November, while Nixon opines that Robert F. Kennedy probably won't win the Democratic nomination.

The statements came as Rockefeller campaigned in the West and Nixon assessed Tuesday's Oregon primary, in which Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy beat Kennedy in the Democratic primary.

Nixon rolled up a big win in Oregon—about 75 per cent of the GOP vote—but Rockefeller, swinging through Wyoming, Utah and Nevada, contended Wednesday the former vice president lost the 1960 election because he ran poorly in the Northern cities.

Rockefeller said that pattern could be expected again. The governor added he has proved his own vote-getting prowess in New York City and said he appeals to various blocs of city voters.

But Nixon told a Phoenix, Ariz., audience he smelled "the spirit of victory. We're going to win this year."

As for public opinion polls showing some other prospective candidate running ahead of him, he said, "I don't think that's going to wash—I've run 1 per cent ahead of the polls all along."

Nixon, discussing Kennedy's defeat in Oregon, said that until that development, he thought "Bobby might win the nomination by a hair or two," but not any more.

Kennedy is in California campaigning for that state's primary next Tuesday in which he again will face McCarthy. He called this one the ultimate test of his presidential bid as he geared for a traditional whistle-stop tour in the Golden State today.

Kennedy also said for the first time that he will support the Democratic nominee, whoever it turns out to be, and that he will accept one or more of three network television offers to debate McCarthy. Such a debate is in the works for Sunday.

Kennedy also made clear he regards McCarthy, rather than Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, as his chief opponent just now—and it was evident the triumphant McCarthy agreed.

McCarthy, also hitting the California trail, told his audiences he is the strongest candidate the Democrats could nominate. And he was reaping the tangible laurels of a winner—he spoke at a San Francisco dinner attended by 8—although before Oregon only 350 persons had made reservations.

In addition, the McCarthy camp reported its campaign coffers were swelling with new contributions.

In Washington, Humphrey, while voicing confidence, declined to say he had the Democratic nomination in the bag as the result of the Oregon vote but added he has far more delegates than either Kennedy or McCarthy.

The Oregon primary also produced a dramatic race on the Democratic side for the U.S. Senate nomination, apparently won by incumbent Wayne Morse although Morse wasn't claiming victory. He had 49 per cent of the vote with 97 per cent of the precincts reporting, while his prime rival, Robert B. Duncan, had 47 per cent of the vote.

In the presidential voting, with 97 per cent of the ballots counted on the Democratic side these were the totals: President Johnson, 43,029; Kennedy, 133,482; McCarthy, 153,934; Humphrey, 10644.

On the GOP side it was Nixon 190,764; California Gov. Ronald Reagan, 59,549; Rockefeller, 11,991.

Young, But Very Aware Of Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even the small fry are more conscious these days of the tax collector.

Internal Revenue Service officials said a Virginia first grade teacher asked her pupils what each would do if he had 24 hours and all the money he needed.

One 7-year-old boy replied: "I'd take a trip around the world, buy two dogs and a parakeet, and I'd save some out for my income tax."

HOSPITAL TV SET
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Grootte Schuur Hospital, where the first human heart transplant was performed in December, is to install closed circuit color television this year. The system will be used in the main operating room and for diagnostic work. There is no public television in South Africa.

CONCERT BEFORE GRADUATION . . . The W. H. Robinson School band will present a concert Friday at 7:45 p.m. before High School graduation exercises. Numbers to be included on the program will include classical and popular selections as well as marches. The band and high school choral club will combine to present a special arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" during the commencement program. Guest speaker for the graduation exercises will be J. Niel Armstrong, director of summer school at A and T. State University, Greensboro.

Sen. Kennedy Agrees To Debate McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who will face each other in the California Democratic primary next Tuesday, have agreed to hold a live television debate this weekend.

The three major networks said in separate announcements Wednesday that they would make network time available for joint appearances by the two senators, both of whom are on the California ballot, and also by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, if he wished to participate.

Norman Sherman, Humphrey's press secretary, said in Washington today that prior commitments—in Arkansas Saturday and in Minnesota Saturday night and Sunday—make it impossible for Humphrey to participate in a debate. Sherman said he had not seen an official invitation from any network, but knew of the offers.

McCarthy's Los Angeles headquarters said Wednesday night that he had accepted debate offers from all three networks "rather than make a selection."

A spokesman for Kennedy said: "He'll definitely accept one if not all three." The spokesman gave no indication of when or where Kennedy would announce his decision.

The National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. had said they would go ahead with debate plans if two of the three presidential aspirants would participate. The networks offered one-hour debates, to be carried simultaneously on television and radio.

NBC said it was ready to televise a debate on Friday at 10 p.m., Saturday at 7:30 p.m. or Sunday at 6:30 p.m. (EDT).

CBS invited the candidates to debate Sunday at 7 p.m.

ABC said it had set aside time starting Saturday at 9:30 p.m.

Dr. Batten Will Address Grads

BELVOIR — Dr. James Batten of Greenville will be the keynote speaker at the commencement exercises of Belvoir-Falkland High School Friday night at 8 o'clock in the school gymnasium.

Dr. Batten, a Goldsboro native, is a professor of education and chairman of the Department of Secondary Education at East Carolina University. He received his A. B., M. A. and doctor's degrees from the University of North Carolina and has done further graduate work at the University of California at Berkeley and at Columbia University, New York.

Thirty-one seniors will receive diplomas during the graduation ceremonies. Jean Morris will serve as valedictorian and salutatorian is Frances Hammond.

Marshals are Lois James, chief; Edith Harris; Gloria Peaden, Buddy Teel; James Harris; Kenneth Bright; Teresa Harrell; Deloris Stancil; Judy Scott; Sandra Letchworth. Music will be furnished by the high school Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ann Peaden.

The Rev. Gerald Owens, pastor of Belvoir Free Will Baptist Church, presented the baccalaureate sermon Sunday night in the school gymnasium.

Hearing Friday On Constitution

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Constitution Study Commission will hold a hearing in Raleigh Friday to hear proposals for revamping the state's century-old constitution.

Commission secretary Bert M. Montague said Wednesday a list of speakers has been invited to attend Friday's hearing, and public hearings will be scheduled later to give others who wish to be heard an opportunity to appear before the commission.

IRON DEMAND DIPS

Touch And Go Rescue Mission By Georgian On Routine Check Flight

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Fire and smoke wreathed the Special Forces camp and the Viet Cong flag whipped from the old command bunker when the radio crackled that three Americans were still down there.

An old C123 twin-engine Provider lowered through the battle haze and gingerly touched down on the debris-strewn airstrip. The crew found no one but on the take off run spotted three men waving desperately. The plane was going too fast, however, and was too low on fuel for another run.

Circling at 8,000 feet, a ruddy-faced, 45-year-old pilot listened to the radio. He snapped on his intercom and told his crew: "We're going in."

So began the last hazardous flight into Kham Duc a mountain-ringed Green Berets' outpost some 45 miles southwest of Da Nang. Helicopters, four-engine Hercules turboprops and the smaller twin-engine Providers had already lifted out about 800 Americans, villagers and tribal irregulars. No one was supposed to be left.

The airstrip was littered with craters and the debris of destroyed helicopters. All day the evacuation transports had been taking hits. Enemy gunners shot down one Hercules. Now, in the afternoon, the fire grew heavier as two North Vietnamese regiments closed in on the jungle encampment.

Lt. Col. Joe Jackson, a one-time newspaper boy from Newnan, Ga., who recalls former Gov. Ellis Arnall as a customer, put the old transport plane in a near dive.

It should have been a routine check flight. As commander of the 113th Air Commando Squadron, Jackson normally doesn't fly much. This day he had arranged a flight with a check pilot, Maj. William Campbell, 37, Atascadero, Calif., as his copilot.

Jackson was taking a periodic flight check when his C123 was ordered over embattled Khan Duc.

The idea was to get down quickly to avoid anti-aircraft fire and at the same time to pull up and land slowly. He had to stop on the runway without having to reverse his engines. It is normally a technical point, but reversing the engines cuts off the auxiliary jet pods beneath the Provider's wings. Starting those pod engines would take 40 long seconds. Jackson knew they might not have 40 seconds and he wanted that extra power for the take off under fire.

"I knew things were bad on the ground. You could see it," Jackson says. "We didn't have any trouble finding the base, it was all on fire. From the time we came in range, they opened up, firing from the bunkers and from below us as we approached."

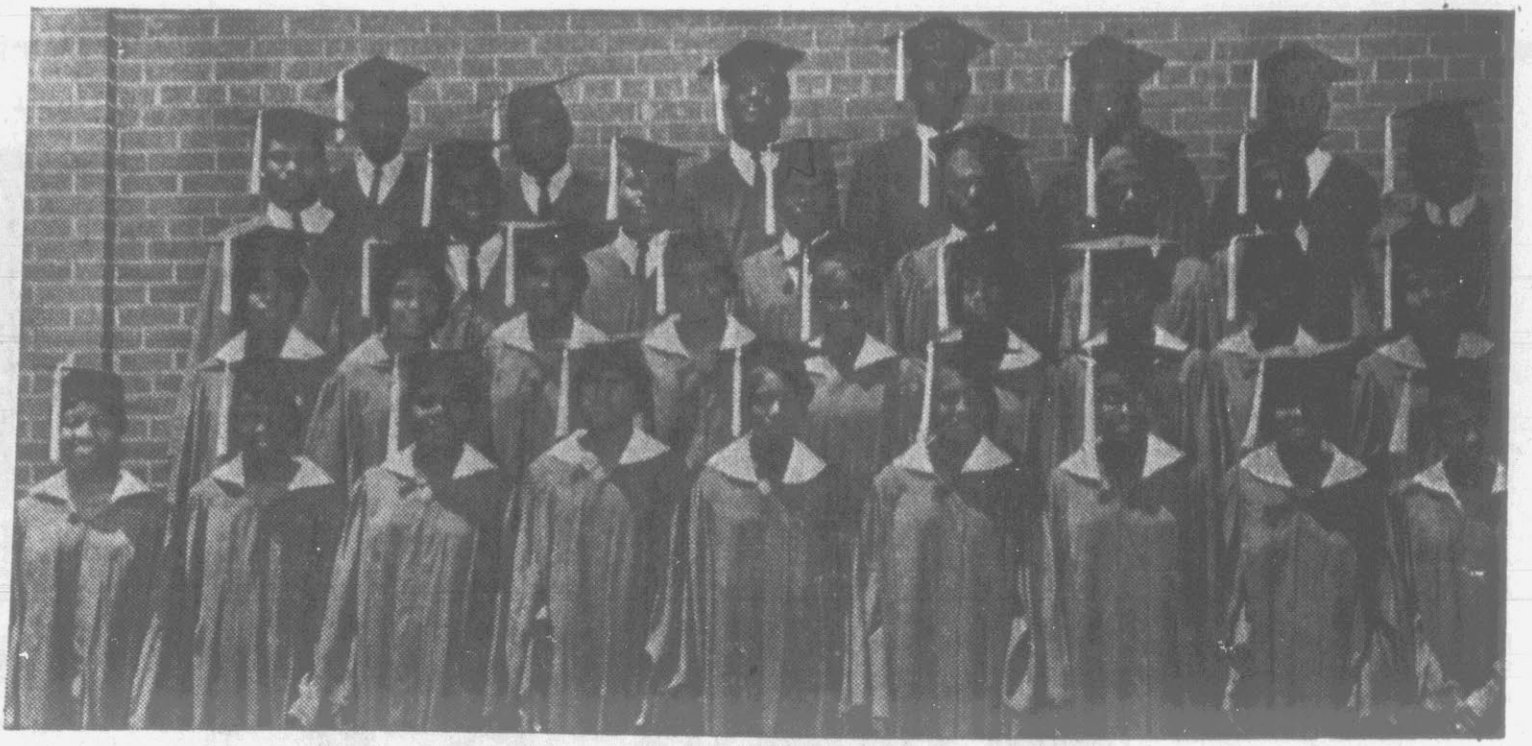

"God, look at all those machine guns," yelled copilot Campbell.

Jackson threaded the plane down the runway while Campbell and two crew members scanned the smoldering fortifications for the three Americans. Near the end of the airstrip, the three ran out — an Air Force officer in a blue flight suit and two enlisted men in camouflage fatigues. They were members of the Air Force combat control team that normally ran the control tower at the small post. How they got left behind, no one knew.

"As soon as they jumped on board, the loadmaster yelled 'on board, clear to go' and we sure went," Jackson recalls. "We got out of there without a hole in the plane. I'll never understand it." The official record shows that Jackson's plane was on the ground no more than 120 seconds.

"That was eternity," Jackson says.

GRADUATING SENIORS — at G. R. Whitfield School, Grimesland, will receive their diplomas during graduation commencement May 30. They are: (first row) Alice Daniels, Mary Smith, Mable Ruffins, Hattie Whichard, Monalisa Clark, Teresa Price, Deborah Thompson, Bertha Daniels, Betty Hardy. (Second row) Jo Ann Williams, Reatha Cobb, Linda Crandall, Linda Gatlin, Irish Williams, Pansy Hansley, Clementien Little, Phyllis Gatlin, and Jacqueline Hawkins. ## A Week Of Criticism By Pundits Of World Press

LONDON (AP) — The United States got a going over in the world press last week, with foreign pundits accusing Americans of lack of interest in events abroad and lack of knowledge about poverty at home.

John Pilger, roving reporter of the London Daily Mirror, came to the conclusion that "to be poor in America is to be un-American."

"To most middle-class Americans, the poor and their distress are unknown," said Pilger. "If an ordinary white family is not eating its fill, then the cause is obviously drink or lack of ambition..."

Louis Heren of the Times of London finds that the American presidency makes sense "only when it is seen to be a later-day version of a British medieval monarchy...as it existed for a century or more after the signing of the Magna Carta in 1215."

Dail Sketch writer Sarah Drummond decided after a visit to New York that "New York girls aren't a patch on London girls fashionwise."

"They dress to conventionally, and all too like momma," she said. "Who wants to look elegant at 18?"

West Germany's Frankfurter Rundschau denounced the recent rejection by the U.S. Senate of a proposal to ban mail order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Citing the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the paper charged that a powerful arms lobby sways legislators in Congress and manages to shelve attempts to place tighter control on the sale of firearms.

Japanese correspondent Shumon Miura, after a recent swing through the United States, declared that American newspapers were "shockingly indifferent to events outside their own shores."

Writing in Asahi Shimbun, Miura, said: "The moment I arrived in a small U.S. town for a two-months' visit, I became dissatisfied with local newspapers, principally their small attention to big international news."

Nominated For Club Offices

WINTERVILLE—Officers of the Winterville High School Science Club were nominated during the final meeting of the school year Tuesday.

Nominated for president were Denise Grimsley and Hilda Shivers, while Virginia Thompson and Sharon Shivers were nominated for vice president. Selected to run for the office of secretary were Deborah Hines and Mary Lee Paramore. Students seeking other positions included: treasurer, Robert Musselwhite and Anna Ruth Dail; program chairman, Rose Sullivan and Cathy McLawhorn; publicity chairman, Edgar Wall and Joyce Edwards.

The nominees were not voted on the meeting. A debate on evolution was presented by Robert Musselwhite and Hilda Shivers.

Retiring officers of 1967-68 include: Blanche Jones, president; Robert Musselwhite, vice president; Denise Grimsley, secretary; and Michael Hazelton, treasurer.

Two Chosen For NDEA Institute

Larger Cities In N. C. To Try Census By Mail

By OWEN BISHOP
Durham Sun Writer
Written For The AP

DURHAM (AP)—When the 1970 Census gets under way about two years hence, residents of North Carolina's largest cities will take part in the first U.S. population count involving no door-to-door enumerators.

They'll also be providing data in proper form for a computerized system which will make it available for instant retrieval according to geographical areas. It is a system capable of producing statistics for areas as small as a single city block.

In addition, a cooperative effort by cities in the Piedmont will make it possible for the system to report statistics for those cities by half-block areas—a function designed to aid in developing information on districts whose boundaries cut through regular city blocks.

The population count will make use of a questionnaire, which will be mailed to residents in the metropolitan areas from Raleigh to Charlotte.

The forms are to be filled out and returned by mail to the U.S. Census Bureau in lieu of a visit by an enumerator, according to Joseph R. Norwood, regional director of the agency.

All previous census counts have required enumerator visits to each household, a rule which also will apply in most nonurban areas in 1970.

A questionnaire was used on a limited scale in 1960, but only as an assist to the enumerator. They were filled out in advance and turned over to the enumerators on their visits, Norwood said.

In 1970 most urban areas in the nation will be counted solely through use of questionnaires. The method is being tested in a "dress rehearsal" in Dane County, Wis.

The Tar Heel cities of Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, High Point and Charlotte definitely will be targets for questionnaire counts, Norwood said. Other cities may be added to the list later.

With this in mind, census officials have called on the planning departments of these cities for help in preparing for the counts.

They are preparing an "address coding guide" for each city, providing computer forms for every possible address within the cities through 1969.

The guide is a collection of forms for each one-block segment of each street in a city.

Each form must be given the ultimate range of house numbers which could become active addresses on each street segment.

Thus, when data from the questionnaire count are returned from any address it will be assigned to the proper geographical area by the computer.

It is through the use of a special "optional" space on these forms that five of the cities are hoping to save time and effort in gathering statistics in the future.

In all the cities except Charlotte this space is being given a number which designates the North Carolina state grid coordinates for the midpoint on each side of a city block—or each "block face."

The coordinates are based on a grid system with horizontal and vertical lines across the state, each bearing a number indicating its distance from an adjacent line. The numbers will not overlap in any of the cities.

"This will give us tremendous flexibility in the retrieval of data by most any pattern a city might want to select," said Ronald Scott, director of the State Planning Task Force, an agency which helped develop the cooperative plan.

Use of the optional space for block face identification will make it much more "convenient and economical" to get data by districts, such as school districts and congressional districts.

The boundaries of such areas almost never coincide with city blocks.

Previously, when data were available by blocks, the results to be computed manually from census tracts.

Under the new computerized system, blocks will be the smallest unit on which separate data will be available under normal circumstances.

"We favor the block face approach because it allows you to get both sides of a given street," Scott said, noting that this is especially important in land-use planning.

He pointed out that census officials will not provide data on a single half-block because it might be possible to determine which statistics came from which homes in the area.

However, they will provide data on several half-blocks which are lumped together statistically.

Scott said the idea for the cities to use the optional space in a uniform manner originally came from the nearby Research Triangle Regional Planning Commission. The particular method for using it was a suggestion of census officials.

Norwood noted that the actual head count of the nation's population will begin April 1, 1970. Questionnaires for urban area residents will be mailed prior to that date.

Livestock Show On TV June 1

C. G. Goodman, Agricultural Extension Agent, today urged livestock producers to watch a TV Livestock Workshop that has been planned by the poultry, swine and beef cattle committees of the Coastal Plain Development Association for Saturday, June 1.

The program will be held from 7:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. on WNCT-TV.

Guests appearing on the show include: Doctor William Mills, Head of Poultry Ext.; J. Raymond West, Ext. Poultry Specialist; Dr. Ray Harris, Ext. Veterinarian; Charlie Brewer, Area Poultry Specialist; Dr. Charles Stainislaw, Area Swine Specialist; Jim Butler, Executive Sect. N. C. Pork Producers; Bill Au, N. C. Executive Sect. N. C. Livestock Producer Assoc.; A. V. Allen, Specialist in Charge of Animal Husbandry; Sam Dobson, Ext. Agronomy Specialist; Gregory Hayes, Farm Manager, Texas Gulf Sulphur Cattle Operations in Beaufort County, & Jim Stone-Street, Area Livestock Specialist.

Home Ec Extension Seeking Area Delegates To Sessions

The N. C. Home Economics Extension has announced plans for "University Days For Women" to be held in Raleigh July 8-11.

The theme for the three-day session will be "You and Your Expanding World." The meeting will be held at the Sheraton Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh. University Days is designed for representation by all womens organizations.

Because the Sheraton Sir Walter Hotel can only accommodate 525 women, Pitt County has been given a quota to represent them. Interested persons are asked to telephone the Pitt County Home Economics office, 758-1196, as soon as possible. Women will be accepted on a "first come, first served" basis. A small registration fee for each delegate must be sent from the local home economics office by June 1.

Each delegate is expected to attend the entire three-day session beginning at 6 p.m. on July 8 and ending at 3 p.m. on July 11.

The following plenary sessions will be held: July 9, "In Search of Self," with Dr. Bernice Moore as the speaker; July 10, "Women, the Teacher of Values," with Dr. Myrtle Reul as speaker; and July 11, "Where In The World Are You?" with four discussion groups.

Four discussion groups will discuss various topics each day. Dr. Miriam Moore, dean of the ECU Home Economics School, will lead one of these discussion groups on July 10.

Evening programs will include: fashions through the ages; an evening with Hugh Lefler, professor of history, UNC; and a smorgasbord of music (variety).

Participants may also tour one of the following places: Woman's Prison Chapel of the Nameless Woman; Capitol, Legislative Building; and governor's mansion; Art Museum; N. C. State University campus.

Life still thrives on Bikini, a Pacific atoll that has withstood more than 20 nuclear explosions.

Talk Of Peace In Paris Remote And Unreal To Mekong Delta GIs

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

CAI LAY, Vietnam (AP) — The day peace talks started in Paris, Capt. Mike Peck led 100 Americans on a daylong trek through the mucky paddyfields and steaming nipa palms of the Mekong Delta.

It was a frustrating search along the sluggish Bao Ba River for an enemy hideout that was never found. The sun was blistering and the company ran out of fresh water, drinking stinking canal water made worse tasting by bitter purification tablets. There was no time to eat.

The men were beat when they came back to their bunkered camp at sundown. They gulped down a hot meal and dropped off to sleep on dirty blankets, still grimy from the delta's mud.

"It was just another day, a typical dry-hole," the husky, 27-year-old company commander recalled. "Nobody even mentioned the peace talks. I don't think my 'hoodlums' gave it a thought."

Peck's "hoodlums"—he sometimes also calls them "my merry mob"—are almost all draftees, many of them teen-agers. A sergeant of 24 considers himself a father-figure.

For them, the diplomatic convolutions of Paris are remote and "unreal—as most of the world becomes unreal to an infantryman whose life depends on his rifle and immediate buddies.

Since the Americans and North Vietnamese began talking in Paris, the company has been on the march daily, seeking guerrillas who slip along canals and through villages they have known since childhood. At night the Americans put out ambushes and roaming, six-man "killer patrols."

With constant movement a part of his life, an infantryman in Vietnam has few benchmarks to judge time. Ask him what he has done since the peace talks started May 13 and he will reply, "How long ago was that?"

"Everything sort of blends in out here," says Peck, who is from Milford, Ohio, speaks French and English, served an exchange tour with the French army's paratroops and is on his second tour in Vietnam.

"You know," said Pfc. Dwight Shuey, a 20-year-old from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., "we're not as bad as we sound. We do try to follow things. We talk about the peace talks sometimes but the war still goes on. It's the war we think about mostly."

"I do believe in the cause of this war," Shuey said. "I think we should be here. A lot of times I don't agree with how it is, being fought but I think we should be here."

His platoon sergeant, William Gulden of Pennington, N.J., a husky 24-year-old who plans to go home to study psychology, agreed, with reservations.

"Most of the guys couldn't care less what happens in Paris," he shrugged. "They know it won't affect anybody here for a long, long time."

Good Grief! $40,000 For A Sopwith Camel

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Writer

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Good grief, Snoopy! That Sop with Camel is worth $40,000.

That's the price a real-life counterpart of the imaginary plane flown by cartoonist Charles Schulz's daydreaming canine character brought Wednesday at auction.

The World War I fighter drew the top bid at a sale of 30 antique planes which realized almost $300,000. Its original price was about $8,000.

Ten of the bids were in five figures, but by far the highest was that of J. W. Middendorf II, a private collector, of New York City. His telephoned-in-advance offer for the hump-backed little biplane, believed the last in repairable condition, beat out all competitors.

Three planes brought $20,000: A Maurice Farman MF11 two piece pusher biplane, a Fokker DVII biplane, and a Curtiss Gulfhawk biplane once owned by the late stunt flyer Al Williams.

More than 500 persons—Air Force officers, aircraft and auto designers, flying enthusiasts and private collectors—attended the auction in the movieland museum of the air at Orange County airport.

The planes were part of a collection assembled by two movie stunt pilots, Frank Tallman and the late Paul Mantz. They were sold last year to two Nebraska firms, Rosen-Novak Auto Co. of Omaha and Morrison-Quirk Grain Co. of Hastings.

Last Rites Held For John H. Kerr

WARRENTON, N. C. (AP) — Former House Speaker John H. Kerr Jr., who died Tuesday night at the age of 68, was buried today in Fairview Cemetery in Warrenton.

Kerr represented Warren County in the General Assembly for 20 years, was speaker of the House in 1943 and played a leading role in creation of the North Carolina Art Museum. He began his legislative career in 1929 as a representative from Edgecombe County.

A son of former U.S. Rep. John H. Kerr, D-N.C., he is survived by his widow, a son, a brother and two grandsons.

The first radio station in the United States was opened on Nov. 2, 1920.

Two Tar Heels Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two North Carolina soldiers were among 41 killed in action in the Vietnam war and identified Wednesday by the Defense Department.

Killed in action was Spec. 4 Mitchell L. McGuire, son of Mrs. Effie McGuire of Fayetteville.

Changed from missing to dead of hostile causes was Spec. 4 George R. Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Pope Jr. of Turkey.

CWO Junior W. Barr, husband of Mrs. Irene P. Barr of Piney Creek, was identified as having died not as a result of hostile action.

Pirates Set To Duel Florida State's Seminoles

Mays, Marichal Form Classy Combination

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The original M&M boys—Mantle and Maris—still are around but the San Francisco Giants' act of Mays and Marichal is upstaging them in the initial league—and doing all right in the National League, too.

Wonderful Willie and Juanderfel Juan combined their talents in Wednesday night and led the Giants to a 2-1 victory over the reeling St. Louis Cardinals.

The triumph gave the Giants a 1½-game lead over Atlanta, whose game against Houston was rained out in the third inning. The world champion Cardinals, now in fourth place, lost for the 11th time in their last 13 games and fell to within a half-game of the second division. Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago and Philadelphia split a two-night doubleheader, the Cubs taking the opener 9-2 and the Phillies winning the nightcap 8-3. Cincinnati spotted Los Angeles a five-run lead, then rallied to edge the Dodgers 6-5. The New York Mets and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

ATTACK FROM THE REAR — Atlanta right fielder Hank Aaron tries to slide past the tag of Houston catcher John Bateman in the first inning of Wednesday night's game in Atlanta. Aaron was out when he tried to score from third on a fly ball hit to the outfield by his brother Tommy. (AP Wirephoto)

St. James Gets 18-8 Decision

St. James clobbered Meadowbrook, 18-8, and Mt. Pleasant claimed a 12-5 triumph over Gum Swamp in last night's church softball action.

St. James used an eight-run third inning to put it out of reach in the first game, taking advantage of doubles by Brown and Vincent, a triple by Joyner and a homerun by second baseman Shuffler.

The winners scored in every inning but the fifth.

Shortstop Johnson led the losers at the plate, collecting four singles in as many trips.

Smith was the winning pitcher, while Roebuck was the loser.

Mt. Pleasant jumped off to a 4-0 advantage in the first inning, before James' triple sparked a two-run first for Gum Swamp.

The winners got three runs in the second, two in the third and three in the fourth—all on the strength of twelve hits.

Gum Swamp was limited to seven hits.

Spain got credit for the win, while James was the losing pitcher.

Horlen, McGaw Back On White Sox Beam

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago's Joe Horlen and Tom McCraw are keeping in step after a few false starts while Detroit's Denny McLain is stepping out on his own.

Horlen fired a five-hitter and McCraw tripled two runs home Wednesday night as the White Sox beat Baltimore 3-1, ending a six-game losing string as well as the Orioles' six-game victory skein.

The victory was Horlen's fourth in a row after five straight losses. McCraw, who contributed to one of the Horlen's setbacks by committing three errors in one inning, has driven in winning runs in three of the right-hander's victories.

McLain became the American League's first eight-game winner, stopping California on four hits and striking out 13 in the Tigers' 3-0 triumph over the Angels.

The Detroit ace, beaten only once in 11 starts, went the distance for the eighth time and kept pace with San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who won his eighth National League game Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, Dave Boswell pitched a three-hitter and drove in the winning run with a foul pop-up in Minnesota's 1-0 nod over Cleveland and Danny Cater's four RBI led Oakland past Boston 7-4. Washington and New York were not scheduled.

San Francisco edged St. Louis 2-1 behind Marichal, Cincinnati shaded Los Angeles 6-5 and Philadelphia split a two-night doubleheader with Chicago, winning 8-3 after a 9-2 loss to the Cubs, in National League action. Houston was rained out at Atlanta and the New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates were idle.

Horlen, who ran his scoreless innings streak to 37 before yielding a sixth inning run, needed only 100 pitches to subdue the Orioles and halt Chicago's tallspin.

McCraw tripled down the first base line for the first of Chicago's three hits in the game, giving the Sox a 2-0 first inning lead against Dave McNally. They added a run in the fourth when Buddy Bradford singled, stole second and tallied on a single by Ken Berry.

Paul Blair doubled in the Orioles' sixth and scored the first run off Horlen in five games on a single by Curt Blefary.

Dick McAuliffe's run-scoring single off Jim McGlothlin in the sixth gave McLain the only help he needed, but Willie Horton provided insurance with a two-run seventh inning homer. It was Horton's 13th homer—and fifth in six games against the Angels.

The East Carolina University Pirates will be seeking the NCAA Regional baseball title in Gastonia tonight when they open play against the top-ranked Florida State University Seminoles.

East Carolina won the Southern Conference crown two weeks ago by sweeping a two-game series with William & Mary. That gave them the right to represent the conference for the second time in three years in Gastonia.

The Bucs are actually making their third trip in five years to the regionals, having qualified in 1964 as the at-large team. The next year, the Bucs, as a probationary member of the Southern Conference, could not compete, and the following year, 1966, they were back, as Southern champs.

Last year, East Carolina tied with West Virginia for the title, but lost out in a one-game playoff for the NCAA berth.

The Bucs will be playing the series, a double-elimination tournament, without their regular third baseman, Dave Winchester, who was drafted into the army last week.

To make up for this, Coach Earl Smith plans to move centerfielder Jimmy Lanied into third base, a place where he has some experience. "It's a move that can't hurt us too bad," he said, "and might just help us."

Smith will probably move Stu Garrett or tri-captain Steve Fornash into center to fill the gap there.

Another problem spot may be shortstop. Dave Goings may also miss the trip and that would probably move Dick Corrada into the shortstop slot, where he played about half the season. He had been playing second base down the stretch.

At second, Smith would probably play Dennis Vick, who rates as a tough defender, but hasn't shown any hitting power. He picked up only three hits during the season, but all came at key points in the game.

"He's due to break out of his slump," Smith said. "He's always hit the ball, striking out very seldom. It's just a question of not hitting right at someone." First base, completing the infield, will likely go to Wayne Vick, who held down that spot most of the year. His hitting has improved over the last weeks of the season after a mid-year slump.

Behind the plate, Smith can almost toss a coin. There are three players who might draw the starting nod, Roy Taylor, Len Dowd and George Sweat. All three have the totals to play, and Smith has gone from one to the other all year, taking the best advantage of a good situation.

In the outfield, Carey Anderson will probably draw the starting assignment in left, with Jim Snyder in right. These two, along with Wayne Vick, have been the power hitters of the team, collecting the most extra base hits, Snyder, however, is the only Buc with better than a .300 batting average.

"While we don't hit well, we've usually come through when we need them," Smith said.

Leading the mound staff will be Vince Colbert, Dennis Burke and Ron Hastings. Colbert or Burke is likely to draw the starting assignment in the opener tonight, while the other will be held in reserve for tomorrow's game with either N.C. State or Alabama. Hastings, Mitchell Hughes, and several other pitchers may be used in reserve if needed, although Hastings might be saved for the third game, should Bucs continue in the playoffs.

All of the coaches involved in the playoffs admit that you throw the season out the window when you go to Gastonia. "It's a brand new year," Smith said. "Anything can happen and has happened at Gastonia."

Tradition will be against the Bucs, however, as a Southern Conference school hasn't won the tournament since realignment in 1963. The best finish came in 1965, when Furman went to the finals before bowing to the team that won Florida State.

Pepsi Cola, R.C. Cola Take One-Run Wins

Pepsi-Cola held off a three-run sixth inning by the Elks to claim an 8-7 victory in Wednesday's Tar Heel League contest.

R.C. Cola came from behind to dump the Optimists, 5-4, in the North State game yesterday.

Pepsi jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning, making the best of singles by Donald Cannon and Danny Norris.

Clifton's single in the third drove in Jerry Griffin and Cannon who had walked.

Two walks and a single by Gary Warren put two runs on the scoreboard for the Elks in the third.

The Elks tied it up in the fifth, but Pepsi roared back to score four runs in the sixth. Tommy Smith led off with a walk. Griffin and Clifton singled and Lonnie Smith was hit by a pitch. Waighty Scales clubbed a single and William Carraway followed with another to send Pepsi to an 8-4 advantage.

But the Elks rallied for three more runs in the sixth, cutting the final margin to 8-7. Cannon and Scales got three hits each to pace the winners, while Warren had three safeties for the Elks. Clifton was the winning hurler, while Billy Harrison was the loser.

Second baseman Jim Weaver doubled in the first inning for the Optimists to drive in Bill Vinson and Tony Skinner who had drawn free passes.

A fielder's choice, a walk and a single by Jeff Bailey evened the score for R.C. Cola in the second inning.

R.C. got another run in the fourth, but the Optimists rallied for two in the fifth, moving into a 4-3 lead.

Donald Speight walked to lead off for R.C. in the sixth. Ken Tolan followed with a single. Then Bailey socked a double to drive in the winning runs.

Bailey, Randy Lewis and Tolan got two safeties each to lead the winners.

Bobby Jones was the winning pitcher, while Billy Best was the loser.

Baseball Buffs Out For Pitcher Denny McLain

ANAHEIM (AP)—Denny McLain is winning his war against American League hitters but taking a drubbing in his vendetta with the baseball fans of Detroit.

The Tigers' ace right-hander revealed for the first time here Wednesday night that his wife and infant daughter recently averted possible serious injury after someone in Detroit placed a bomb in the family car.

The incident occurred 10 days ago, only a few days after McLain publicly accused Detroit fans of booing the team to such an extent last season that it cost the Tigers the American League pennant. They finished one game behind champion Boston.

McLain says his wife and daughter were driving from the Detroit stadium to their suburban home when they pulled off a highway to get gas.

"The attendant looked under the hood and discovered there was a smoke bomb wired to the ignition," McLain said here Wednesday night after he pitched a four-hitter and struck out 13 in a 3-0 victory over the California Angels.

"If the bomb had gone off when my wife was driving at high speed, she and the baby both could have been killed," he said.

"But the bomb wasn't wired properly. It was supposed to go off when she turned on the ignition.

"If anything had happened, I'd have spent the rest of my life finding out who was responsible."

McLain, 8-1, leads the American League in victories, has gone the route in eight of his first 11 starts and has reduced his earned run average to a microscopic 1.92.

Ironically, his lone defeat came the first time he pitched at home after publicly blasting Detroit fans for booing the players. Baltimore pounded him en route to a 10-8 victory.

"I've been booed before, but never like that," he said, "and hard."

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Ussery is looking for a mare to breed to Dancer's Image, but the most immediate thought on his mind is finding the finish line first aboard Jade Amicol.

Ussery was set to ride Dancer's Image in Saturday's 1 1/2-mile Belmont Stakes, but when owner Peter Fuller retired the hard-luck colt the veteran jockey got the mount on Jade Amicol.

If Ussery wins the Belmont with Jade Amicol, it would be the second of the three Triple Crown races in which he finished first.

However, his Derby victory was wiped out when Dancer's Image was disqualified after a post-race test revealed an illegal medication in his system.

Ussery's search for a broodmare stems from an offer Fuller made Tuesday when he announced Dancer's Image was being retired to stud. The Boston sportsman said that if Ussery has a mare he would get a chance at the services of Dancer's Image.

A victory by Watermill Farm's Jade Amicol, or any one of seven other possible starters, would keep Calumet Farm's Forward Pass from becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Calumet's Citation in 1948.

Forward Pass, who once again will be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, was placed first in the Derby after Dancer's Image's disqualification and then convincingly won the Preakness.

The son of On-and-On, the early favorite to win the Belmont, breezed five furlongs in 1:01 2/5 Wednesday morning.

Trainer Max Hirsch sent Mrs. Adele Rand's Call Me Prince six furlongs in 1:20 and out a mile in 1:50. Bill Boland is set to ride the colt, who likely will run as an entry with Robert J. Kleberg's Draft Card, who also is trained by Hirsch. John Rotz will ride Draft Card.

Another hopeful to work out was Gustave Ring's Ardoise, who will have Braulio Baeza aboard. Ardoise went a handy five furlongs in 1:01.

If nine horses go to the post at 5:30 p.m., EDT, the gross purse will be $161,450, with $117,700 to the winner, equaling the high for the race established in 1966 when Amberoid won.

CBS will televise the race nationally from 5 p.m.-5:45 p.m.

While the connections of the Belmont 3-year-olds are awaiting the big day, those of 11 others had a shot at big money today in the $100,000-added, 1 1/8-mile Jersey Derby.

Heading the field of 11 starters was Peter Kissel's Iron Ruler. Others entered included Alley Fighter, Nodouble, Captain's Gig, Salerno, Out of the Way and Bugged.

Older horses also went after big money today in the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap over one mile at Belmont Park.

With Dr. Fager withdrawn because of a severe attack of colic, the favorite's role went to Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality, who had top weight of 124 pounds.

Fans Hope For Good Weather

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — a horde of motor speed fans poured slowly into the water-logged Indianapolis Motor Speedway today, optimistic that the weather would relent long enough for running of the 52nd 500-mile race.

They were drawn by a showdown between turbine and conventional piston engines, started but unresolved last year.

Rain which had fallen almost daily during the four-week practice and qualification period had left some of the cars incompletely tested.

The limited running time may have added to the hazards of running at the venerable racing plant where 58 persons have been killed.

The rain certainly added to the hazards of the 300-acre infield, where 25,000 cars normally are parked during the race. It was a mixture of mud and puddles.

Meanwhile, the writers and broadcasters voted Graham Hill of London, 1962 world champion and 1966 Indianapolis winner, a 5-1 favorite to win the 500 again in his Lotus-Pratt & Whitney turbine.

In fact, the news media folk were so impressed by the Lotus turbines that they voted the three in the line-up to finish 1-2-3. The other two are driven by Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., who won the pole position at a record qualifying speed of 171.559 m.p.h., and Art Pollard, a sophomore at the speedway from Medford, Ore.

A possible crowd of 300,000, would not have showed up only for a turbine show-in. It was laced with long-time fans for such veterans as A.J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, shooting for an unprecedented fourth 500 victory; Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., who has broken the 10-mile qualifying record three times, an charger like the Unser brothers and international racer Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif.

The hottest 1968 drivers in the field were Hill, fresh from winning the Spanish and Monaco Grand Prix events, and Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., winner of the last three championship events on the U.S. Auto Club circuit.

Two Youths Shot To Death In Louisville Rioting

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police rushed reinforcements into the West End riot area early today to disperse crowds that gathered after two Negro youths were shot to death.

The police and National Guardsmen continued on alert after the streets were cleared of the crowds which had begun forming shortly after midnight. The fatalities Wednesday night were the first in the rioting which began Monday with a flurry of bottle tossing, burning and window smashing. Police said one of the victims, Matthias Browder, 18, was killed by a liquor store guard who told them he fired into a group of youths breaking a storefront window. James Groves, 14, was felled by a policeman who fired a shotgun blast in the direction of five persons from a cleaning shop which had been looted, the police said. Police rushed reinforcements in the West End to disperse crowds which began to form shortly after word of the shootings spread.

Lt. Col. Bert Hawkins, assistant police chief, said the early part of the evening Wednesday was "very threatening," but the violence was not as serious as the previous nights. The 2,000 National Guardsmen ordered to the city by Gov. Louie B. Nunn were used only occasionally Wednesday night as city officials tried to keep their part of a bargain with militant Negro youths. Mayor Kenneth Schmied met with the youths in a parking lot across from City Hall and promised to remove guardsmen from the streets if the Negro youths would act as marshals and try to cool tempers in the West End. The mayor also agreed to lift the curfew imposed at 11 p.m. Monday and again at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Judge William Colson of police court accompanied the mayor to the parking lot and promised to hold special court sessions to reconsider the cases of some 300 persons arrested Monday and Tuesday. The judge held a session Wednesday night and dismissed 49 charges of curfew violation. He scheduled another session today to review the $20,000 bond set for each of 18 persons charged with storehouse breaking.

Prior to the shootings Wednesday, Police Chief C. J. Hyde said the truce apparently was successful in keeping trouble down. "I know there are some minor incidents which look bad," Hyde said, "but, over-all-up to this point—I think it was a good idea." Hawkins said most of the 30 Negro youths who signed up to act as marshals were "trying to help. Some were successful. Others gave us some trouble." Guardsmen were ordered to withdraw from the streets to their camp in a schoolyard shortly after the meeting. But small guard detachments were called out twice during the twilight hours to help police disperse gathering crowds. Each time they were sent back to the camp as city leaders made an effort to live up to their part of the bargain. The rioting was touched off Monday night at the conclusion of a rally called by West End Negro leaders to urge the firing of a Louisville policeman. Patrolman Michael Clifford was dismissed from the force May 17 for allegedly using excessive force in arresting Manfred Reid, a Negro, on May 8.

Americans Honoring War Dead Today; Tradition Began In 1868

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Americans honored their war dead today, the 100th anniversary of Memorial Day, as President Johnson told the nation's armed forces "We yearn for an end to war, for a time when the guns will be silenced forever." The sound of taps, the fragrance of flowers and the measured tread to martial music will accompany the speeches, readings and memorial observances in cities from coast to coast. As the casualty lists continued to grow in Vietnam, many Americans gathered in sorrow before fresh graves to plant flags and flowers in the tradition that was begun on May 30, 1868. Then it was Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, who decreed that the day should be set aside "for the purpose of strewing flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of the country in the late rebellion." And through periods of peace and a succession of wars the practice continued. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford was to place the President's wreath on the Arlington National Cemetery tomb of three soldiers whose names are lost forever to history. Built to house an unknown soldier of World War I in honor of all these whose remains could not be identified, the tomb has since been made the final resting place of two more unknown soldiers, from World War II and the Korean War. Since their addition on Memorial Day 1958, the nation has lost one serviceman in Cuba, 27 in periodic skirmishes in Korea and more than 23,500 in Vietnam.

This afternoon the Washington National Symphony Orchestra will perform at the Lincoln Memorial, near the "shantytown" of the Poor People's Campaign, in a memorial concert honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the slain civil rights leader. King's widow, a onetime voice student, will narrate the "Lincoln Portrait" of composer Ar-

Chicod To Feature Student Speakers

SARAH ANNE BAILEY

CHICOD — Four outstanding senior students will be the speakers for the 40th annual Commencement Exercises of Chicod High School here Friday night at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Student addresses will be given by Sarah Anne Bailey, welcome address; Gaynelle Weatherly, challenge address, and Randy Dixon, farewell address. Miss Bailey and Miss Weatherly both are honor students. Dixon is president of his senior class and the FFA.

Miss Bailey is editor of the annual, president of the Beta Club and district secretary for the Pentecostal FWB Crusaders. She has been chief marshal, FFA Sweetheart and a bus driver, she has recently received a scholarship from ECU. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bailey of Rt. 3, Greenville.

Miss Weatherly is a member of the annual staff, the Beta Club, the Monogram Club, Glee Club, FHA and a marshal. She holds a letter and three stars in basketball and has received the conference All-County Award. A recipient of the State Degree Award in Home Economics, the Beta Club Scholarship and an ECU scholarship,

GAYNELLE WEATHERLY

Miss Weatherly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Thomas Weatherly of Chocowinity.

Coy Buck will be master of ceremonies for the commencement exercises. Buck is the president of the SGA and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Buck.

Included in the commencement exercises are four selections by the Glee Club; presentation of honors and awards by Robert D. Stokes, chairman of the local School Advisory Council; presentation of the diplomas by Principal Kelley Wallace, and presentation of personally engraved Senior Bibles by Mrs. Hugh Hardee Jr., president of the PTA. The Senior Bibles are presented by the PTA.

Senior scholastic honor students in order of academic averages are: Sarah Anne Bailey, Gaynelle Weatherly, Jean Cashion Fornes, Brenda Reed Haddock and Nell Ann Paramore.

Marshals serving are: Virginia Ann Bright, Robert Gary Stocks, David Franklin Haddock, Lois Marietta Elks, Paula Ruth Weatherly and Jesse Warren Lilley.

The graduating class consists of 39 seniors.

On Copland during the concert. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will be the principal speaker for services at Gettysburg, Pa., where many of those honored on the first Memorial Day gave their lives. In Gray, Maine, townspeople attending ceremonies for the union dead will also honor an unknown soldier of the Confederacy whose body was sent there by mistake 106 years ago. The mixup came when the parents of Lt. Charles Colley, killed at Cedar Mountain, Va., sent money to have their son's body shipped home. The body sent first was that of the Confederate. Eventually both Colley and the unknown man were buried in the same cemetery with the marking on the latter's grave: "Stranger. A soldier of the late war. Died 1862. Erected by the Ladies of Gray."

Veterinary Assn Convention Set

The 73rd annual convention of the North Carolina Veterinary Medical Association and its Women's Auxiliary will be held June 23-26 at the Carolinian Motor Hotel at Nags Head.

The program for this educational conference will include outstanding speakers from all parts of the country to bring to the N.C. veterinarians the most up-to-date methods of veterinary practices.

The N.C. Veterinary Examining Board will also be in session, offering state board examinations to those wishing to obtain North Carolina Veterinary licenses.

A program of entertainment has been planned for the wives and families.

Graduating From Bible College

The Rev. Bobby Glenn Smith of Greenville will be among the students to graduate from the Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tenn., June 6.

A 1963 Rose High School graduate, Smith was ordained at Grace Free Will Baptist Church in Greenville in 1966. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Peaden, 2817 Jefferson Drive.

He will enter Bob Jones University this summer to begin studies for a masters degree.

The Rev. Smith is married to the former Linda Ann Pollard of Greenville.

Hunting Suspect In Theft Of Cash

Police today are continuing their search for a Negro male that allegedly took a cigar box containing money from Nelson's Chuck Wagon at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Fifth Street last night.

Chief H. F. Lawson said the incident was reported at 9:20 p.m.

The chief reported that employees of the firm said a Negro man reached in the service window and took the box, containing money from the day's receipts, while employees were at the rear of the building. The amount of cash contained in the box could not be determined immediately, the chief noted.

Graduated From Durham College

Miss Ella Christine Grimes graduated from Durham College during commencement exercises last Sunday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grimes, Miss Grimes majored in home economics.

Pastor Elected Alumni Prexy

GREENVILLE, S. C. — The Rev. W. Harvey Morris, pastor of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville, N. C., has been elected president of the Holmes Theological Seminary Alumni Association. He began his administration during the 1968 commencement which has just ended.

A native of North Carolina, the Rev. Morris is a graduate of Holmes whose student body is composed of prospective ministers and missionaries from across the United States of America and many overseas countries.

Following his graduation from Holmes, the Rev. Morris returned to his home in Rocky Mount and began a ministry which included evangelistic and pastoral service. His pastorates include churches in Sanford, Fayetteville, Tarboro, Goldsboro and currently Greenville, N. C. He is nearing the second year of his ministry in Greenville, where he is launching a building program at the First P. H. Church.

Dear Friends:

Tobacco, education, and the welfare of our young people are of major concern to all our citizens in Pitt County.

Since graduating from East Carolina University in 1957, I have been continually engaged in teaching, raising tobacco, and working with delinquent youths. I have been a resident of Pitt County and the city of Greenville for 37 years, and feel that only through honest, intelligent representation in the North Carolina Legislature can our citizens be served, and our potential developed.

I respectfully request your vote, and active support in the June 1st Democratic Primary.

HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

After Hubert Horatio Humphrey graduated in 1929 as valedictorian of his high school class, he attended the University of Minnesota. Because of the Depression, he quit in his sophomore year to return to Wallace, S.D. (where he was born on May 27, 1911) and help in his father's drugstore.

Before returning in 1937 to complete his education, Humphrey married Muriel Buck on Sept. 3, 1936. By then he had obtained a license as a pharmacist from the Denver College of Pharmacy.

In 1939, he graduated magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa in political science, going on in 1940 to teach political science at Louisiana State University and obtain his Masters Degree.

Working in the WPA adult education field in Minneapolis in 1943, Humphrey ran for the office of Mayor and lost by 5,000 votes. Recognizing the splintered vote of two separate groups, he spent seven months putting together the Democrat-Farmer Labor Party which, in 1945, swept him into office and re-elected him in 1947.

At the 1948 Democratic National Convention, U.S. Senatorial candidate Humphrey led the successful fight for a strong civil rights plank which led to the Dixiecrat walk-out. Elected, he entered the Senate at the same time as Lyndon B. Johnson, who became a close friend.

Humphrey was Minnesota's favorite-son candidate for the presidency in 1952 and, four years later, was an active candidate for the vice-presidential nomination under Adlai Stevenson.

Announcing his candidacy for the presidency in 1960, Humphrey withdrew only after defeated by Sen. John Kennedy in the Wisconsin and West Virginia primaries. He then sought and won re-election to his Senate seat.

He was appointed Democratic assistant floor leader (party whip) in 1961 and, in 1964, President Lyndon Johnson selected him as vice-presidential running-mate on the Democratic ticket.

Since that success, he has represented the United States throughout the world while fulfilling the many duties assigned him by the President. The father of four children, Hubert Humphrey is now entered in a three-way race for the 1968 Democratic nomination for President of the United States.

A graduate in 1940 from the University of Louisiana.

With Lyndon Johnson, who selected him as Vice-President in 1964; and with John Kennedy, who defeated him for the Presidential nomination in 1960.

Still a licensed pharmacist, Humphrey mixes a prescription in 1949.

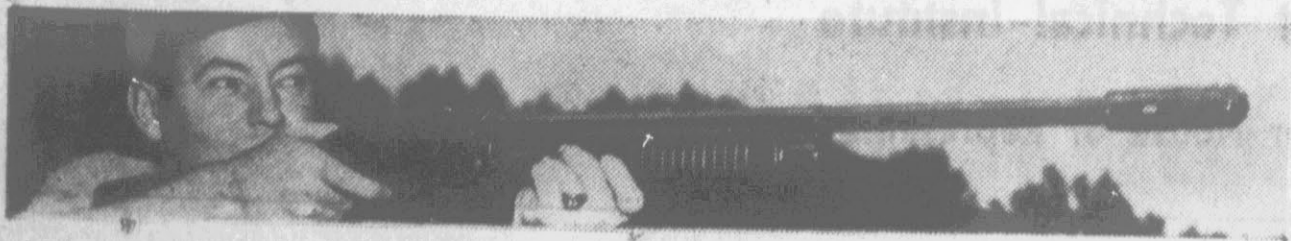

Mayor Humphrey with supporters after his 1948 nomination for the U. S. Senate.

With his wife, Humphrey accepts the Vice-Presidential nomination at Atlantic City, N. J., in 1964.

Explosion, Fire, Kill 9 Persons At Nursery

By HAL GULLIVER
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A flaming gas explosion wrecked a suburban day nursery Wednesday, killing nine persons, seven of them children, 16 months to 14 years old. Three other children were injured. Two women employees of the nursery in suburban Hapeville perished while trying to save the young children in their care. "When you're crawling around and you hear babies pleading, and you can't find them—it hurts," said L. F. Redwine, who works nearby and plunged into the shattered building to help rescue the children. Fire Chief J. P. Nunn said the explosion occurred after the operator of a bulldozer struck a gas line in front of the building. The escaping gas filled the basement of the nursery and was apparently ignited by a water heater flame or other spark, Nunn said.

Nunn was at his home in the same block as the nursery when he heard the explosion.

"The flames came right away, mostly in the center of the building. It's the worst thing I've seen in 20 years," Nunn said.

Police said the nursery manager, Mrs. J. M. Gardner, 50, of Hapeville, died in the flaming building after going back inside to try to evacuate the children.

Also killed was Mildred Reeves, about 30, of Atlanta, a nursery employee. The immediate efforts of nursery employees and nearby workers kept the death list from rising higher, witnesses said.

The children were taking their daily nap when the gas line was broken, a nursery employee, Mrs. Willie Lee Reeds, said. Employees started taking one group of children to an adjoining house, then the explosion came.

Police said about 45 children and adults were in the one-story wooden frame building when the explosion came at 2 p.m.

Frantic parents rushed to the scene as soon as they heard news of the explosion. Most were young, apparently working people.

About 300 people lined the street by the smoking ruins, as firemen and police sifted through the wreckage for five hours searching for bodies.

For more than an hour, a driving rain made the search more difficult.

A dozen or so persons, mostly children, were treated at hospital and three were admitted.

Police said the bulldozer operator, 41-year-old William Spearman of Forest Park, tried desperately to find a gas shutoff after his machine broke the gas line.

An observer said Spearman was digging frantically in the dirt with his bare hands seeking a cutoff when the explosion

Prepared To Pay Reds' Ransom

BOONE, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Albert L. Tester of Boone says she will buy a bulldozer herself if the government won't, to ransom her son from a Cambodian prison.

Her son, Pfc. Jerry Albert Tester, 20, and an unidentified companion were arrested May 20 when a Philippine tugboat on which they were serving in the Mekong Delta of Vietnam strayed into Cambodian waters.

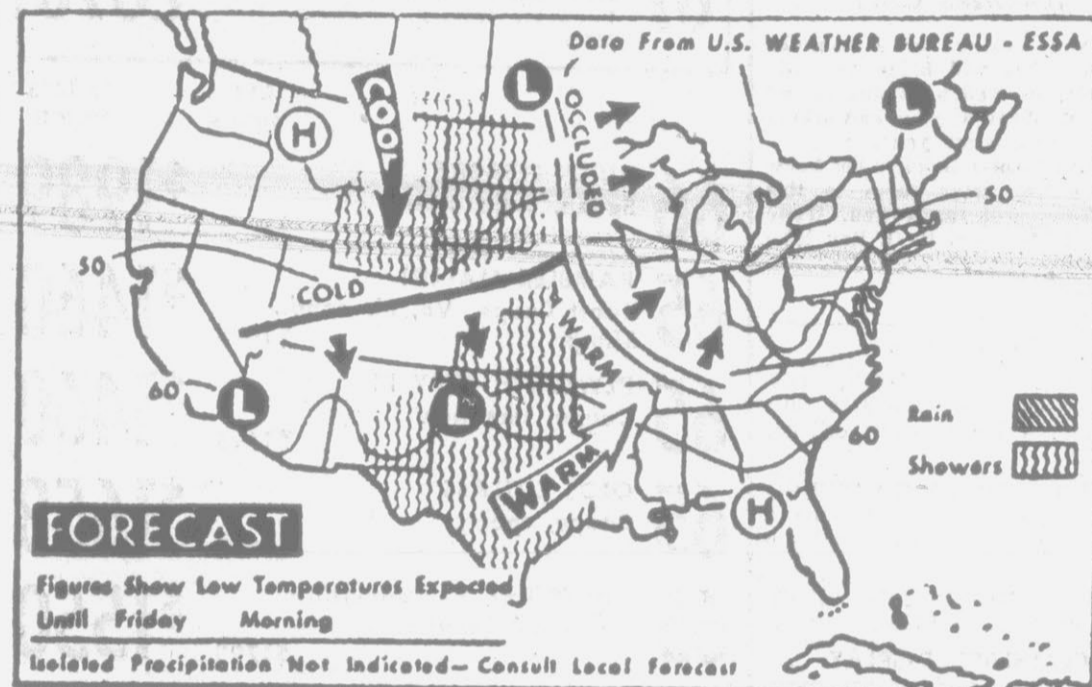

The Cambodian government announced it would swap the two military policemen for a pair of bulldozers.

"If the government won't trade a bulldozer for him, I'll borrow the money, buy one and make the swap myself," Mrs. Tester said. "I want him back."

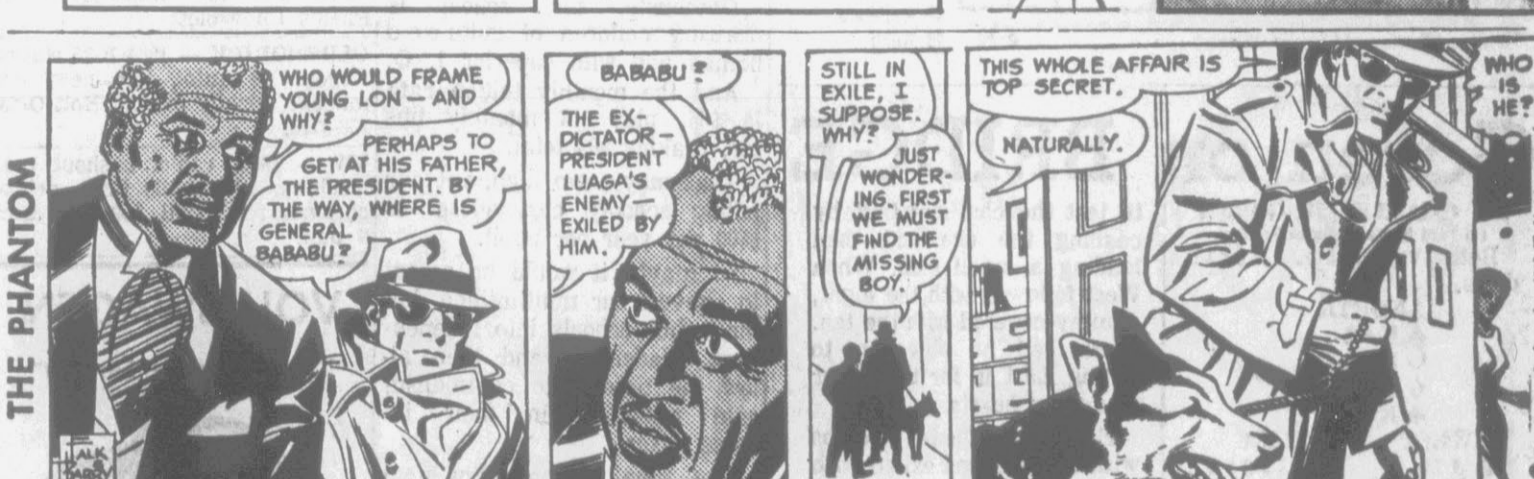

Tester is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Albert L. Tester. His wife, Barbara Anne, also lives in Boone.

He was due to return to the United States this summer and was to be discharged from active duty Sept. 1.

His brother, Billy H. Tester, recently returned from military service in Vietnam.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers and thundershowers are forecast tonight for the central plains. It will be warmer in the middle Mississippi Valley and the southern plains and cooler in the southwest. (AP Wirephoto Map)

True Confession
By 5 Juveniles

HONOLULU (AP) — Police-man William Jacinto noticed five juveniles on a downtown street at the unlikely hour of 3 a.m. recently. He asked them what they were doing. They told him they had just burglarized a nearby school. The five "honest" burglars were arrested.

The bidding: North East South West
Pass Pass 2NT Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Seven of ♠
South converted an apparent guess into a sure thing by obtaining a complete inventory of his opponents' distribution to uncover a ninth trick for his three no trump contract.
West opened the seven of hearts, and East put up the king which was permitted to hold the trick. He returned the nine and South covered with the ten in order to find out how the suit was distributed. West was in with the jack and he cleared declarer's ace of hearts on the next round as East discarded a spade.
South had eight top tricks—two spades, one heart, three diamonds, and two clubs—with the possibility of obtaining a ninth in either diamonds or clubs. He decided to test the club suit first by cashing the ace and then leading a small club. When West followed with the eight, dummy covered with the ten. South had no objection to letting East in for the latter was out of hearts.
East topped the ten of clubs with the jack and exited with a diamond. South played the ace and cashed the king of clubs—however, that suit did not split as East discarded a spade on the third round.
A diamond was led to the king and the ten fell from West's hand. This presented declarer with a choice of plays in the suit, and in order to obtain more information concerning his opponent's distribution, he cashed the ace and king of spades.
When West followed to both spades, his entire holding became an open book. He was already known to have five hearts and four clubs. The remainder of his hand then, consisted of two spades and, therefore, only two diamonds.
A diamond was led from dummy and when East played the six, declarer confidently covered with the nine—as West showed out. South then cashed the queen of diamonds for his ninth trick.
If West had turned up with a singleton spade, he would have become marked with three diamonds and declarer should then play for the drop in that suit.

Fishermen Need Good Hearing

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP) — All one needs to be a good fisherman in Kerala state is good hearing, according to local anglers.
They claim fish in Kerala backwaters make drumming sounds, grunts or squeaks. So Kerala fishermen use what they call the "listening-in" method of catching their fish.

Fighting In Monsoon And Blistering Heat

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Allied soldiers fought doggedly in monsoon rains and blistering 100-degree heat today against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces from Saigon to the marshlands just below the demilitarized zone.

Weary U.S. Marines reported killing 63 North Vietnamese troops in two days of fighting along South Vietnam's northern frontier. This raised the toll of enemy claimed killed by allied forces along the DMZ since last Saturday to more than 1,000.

The latest clash cost the Leathernecks nine killed and 43 wounded, the U.S. Command reported.

Elements of North Vietnam's crack 325C Division kept the pressure on allied forces deployed in the craggy central highlands, marshalling heavy firepower, grenades and mortar tars ahead of a troop charge aimed at overrunning a U.S. 4th Division position 11 miles west of Dak To.

The GIs dug in deeper, then replied to the enemy barrage with their own artillery, machine guns, mortars and small arms fire. Headquarters said the U.S. infantrymen repulsed the enemy attack after three hours of fighting.

Twenty-five North Vietnamese and eight Americans were reported killed and another 47 U.S. troops wounded.

In efforts to chop up massing North Vietnamese concentrations of up to 15,000 troops in the highlands, huge B52s saturated the jungled mountains with bombs.

Smaller Air Force, Navy and Marine tactical fighter-bombers streaked through moderate anti-aircraft fire farther north to pound North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 129 missions Wednesday and reported a big catch—54 trucks and five supply boats destroyed or damaged.

Fewer U.S. fighting men were killed in Vietnam last week than in each of the two previous weeks, but more were wounded than in those weeks.

The U.S. Command said in its weekly casualty summary that 426 Americans were killed in action in the week ending Saturday and 2,687 were wounded.

The two weeks bore ended with record numbers of Americans killed—562 killed in the week ending May 11 and 549 the following week.

The South Vietnamese command announced that 340 government troops were killed last week, 1,151 wounded and 24 missing.

The allied command said that last week's fighting took the lives of 2,550 enemy soldiers—less than half the number killed in action the week before.

NCTA Official To Address Graduates

FARMVILLE—E. B. Palmer, executive secretary of the North Carolina Teachers Association, will be the guest speaker at commencement exercises at H. B. Sugg High School here Friday at 8 p.m.

Sixty-seven seniors will receive their diplomas at the commencement program to be held in the school gym.

Palmer, a Durham native, is a graduate of North Carolina College in Durham, and served as principal of the Little River School near Durham and the Lakeview Elementary School in Durham before becoming an executive with the NCTA in 1964.

The educator is a member of the Durham Commission on Urban Improvement, chairman of the National Council of Officers for State Teachers Associations and chairman of the National Committee of Educators for Human Rights.

Palmer attended the National Education Association World Conference in Seoul, Korea, in 1966, and in Vancouver, B.C., Canada, in 1967, as an appointed delegate; and is scheduled to attend the conference set for Dublin, Ireland, this year.

The valedictory address at the exercises will be delivered by Ester Wooten and the salutatory address will be made by Deloris Johnson.

The school glee club will also take part in the program.

Outstanding Chicod High Students Are Recognized

CHICOD — Outstanding students were recognized at Chicod High School yesterday with awards, medals or scholarships at the annual Awards Day Program held at the school.

The majority of the awards were presented to non-senior members, as senior awards will be announced at Friday night's commencement exercises.

The school's traditional "I Dare You" Award, one of the highest awards given to a senior boy and girl, was presented to Randy Dixon and Gaynelle Weatherly.

The award, from the Danforth Foundation, is presented on the basis of character, outstanding leadership qualities and initiative.

Chaplain Denies Old Conspiracy

BOSTON (AP) — Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr. has told an all-male federal jury that he and Dr. Benjamin Spock were virtual strangers at a time the government says they began an antidraft conspiracy.

Coffin said Wednesday he "exchanged a few words" with the 65-year-old pediatrician during a 1965 rally at Madison Square Garden in New York of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy and did not see Spock again until August, 1967, purportedly the advent of the alleged conspiracy.

At the time, the 43-year-old university chaplain said, he had not met his other three co-defendants in the conspiracy indictments, Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student and Marcus Raskin, 34, a Washington research director.

The trial was in recess today for the holiday and scheduled to resume Friday. The jury has been locked up since the trial started May 20.

Coffin was the first defendant to take the witness stand in U. S. District Court.

Coffin said under direct examination that he became "particularly concerned" about the war in Vietnam and the draft in early 1965 when President Johnson committed more American forces to the war torn country.

Jail Student On Assault Counts

GREENSBORO (AP)—James Nimrod Prey Jr. of Raleigh, 21, a A&T State University student, was jailed Wednesday on two counts of felonious assault in connection with the wounding of two Greensboro police officers last month.

Prey was charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, inflicting serious injury in a true bill of indictment returned Monday by the Guilford County Grand Jury.

He is charged in connection with a shooting incident April 5 during civil disorders which occurred after the death of the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Police Det. L. F. Saul and Sgt. A. W. Lewis, both of the department's juvenile division, were shot with a shotgun near the Greensboro campus of North Carolina A&T State University where sporadic sniper fire had been reported.

Milk Hearing Is Set Next Week

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Milk Commission will hold a public hearing in Raleigh next week to re-open its recent action suspending price filing and fair trade practice regulations.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said Wednesday the state's dairy industry is uneasy "because of what could happen—such as the milk price wars that occurred in South Carolina"—without price controls.

J. V. Whitaker, executive secretary of the commission, said a special subcommittee named to study the effect of the suspension reported at Wednesday's commission meeting that enough interest exists to justify the hearing.

Some dairy processors in the Piedmont section of North Carolina have complained that the suspension action has caused them to lose money because they are forced to give discount and rebates to remain competitive.

The commission sets minimum prices which must be paid to farmers for milk and has authority to set wholesale and retail prices but never has invoked that power.

Will Ask Bill To Tax Cigarettes

GREENSBORO (AP) — Carson Bain, Greensboro mayor, says he will ask the next Guilford County legislative delegation to introduce a bill calling for a five-cent per pack tax on cigarettes.

The revenue, Bain said Wednesday, should go to local governments.

Bain, who said the tobacco tax has support in the Greensboro area, estimated that as much as $25 million could be realized annually from a cigarette tax.

He said Greensboro's share could amount to as much as $900,000.
