Warrant Issued For Kidnapping Of Young Girls

PEGGY ANN HARRINGTON LORRIE ANN HARRINGTON

A man has been charged with kidnapping two young girls, who have been missing from their home near Pactolus since last Tuesday. Sheriff Ralph Tyson said a warrant has been issued for Alton Stocks, 47, whose home address is listed as Grimesland. Stocks is reportedly a step-grandfather of the two children. The girls were identified as Peggy Ann and Lorrie Ann Harrington, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Harrington of Rt. 5, Greenville. The family lives on the Sunnyside Egg farm, where Harrington is employed. Peggy is 11 years old with blond hair and blue eyes. She weighs 90 pounds. Lorrie is six years old and has brown hair and blue eyes. Her hair is short. She weighs 50 pounds. The girls were last seen at home around 8:30 last Tuesday morning. The sheriff said Stocks drives a 1956 Chevrolet Station wagon with a white top and green bottom. He was reportedly last seen in Wilmington with two little girls Thursday. That same day he was reportedly seen in Greensboro around 3 p.m., the sheriff said.

No Bail Permitted By British Court

Jas. E. Ray Quickly Arraigned

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray made a two-minute appearance in Bow Street Court today and was ordered held without bail until June 18. There was no mention in court of U.S. plans to seek his extradition in connection with the charge that he killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The 40-year-old escaped convict, who had been on the run since the Negro civil rights leader was killed April 4 in Memphis, Tenn., was arraigned under the alias of Ramon George Sneyd and was charged with carrying a false passport and a loaded revolver without a license. A heavy police escort brought Ray secretly to the court three hours before the preliminary hearing was to begin. A crowd of about 300 laid siege to the courtroom later, and everyone entering it was searched for weapons. Ray had been under heavy guard since his arrest Saturday. Ray's dark hair was flecked with gray at the temples, and his face was tanned. A government prosecutor asked that Ray be held in custody, and the judge granted Ray's application request that the court appoint a lawyer for him. Then he was taken away by a large force of plain clothesmen and uniformed police. Ray had been in Canada, Portugal and Britain before the two-month hunt ended with his arrest at London airport. Informed sources gave credence to reports that he had been hiding out in London since mid-May. One report was that when picked up he was bound for Brussels, hoping to contact recruiters for mercenary forces in Africa. Few leads on people who might have had contact with Ray or helped him were turning up, but the police in Toronto, where he spent a month, were checking a lead from the owner of a boarding house where he stayed. Mrs. Sun Loo said she saw a "fat man" pass a small envelope to Ray about four days before he flew to London May 6. She said she could not give a detailed description of the man and did not know what was in the envelope. Ray got the envelope on the day his rent was due and the day he paid $345 for an excursion flight ticket to London. Ray arrived in Portugal May 8 where he stayed in the Hotel Portugal until May 17 paying just over $2 a day for his room on the first floor. Staff at the hotel recall that he was generally out of his room 15 or 16 hours a day. Ray was wanted on a Tennessee charge of murder, a federal charge of conspiring to deny King his civil rights, and a Missouri charge that he escaped from prison there on April 23, 1967. U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. flew to London and spoke with Ray in his cell Sunday, but in Washington Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said Ray had made no statement. Clark said he could not estimate how soon Ray might be returned to the United States. It is possible, he said, that Ray might waive extradition or that he might be deported. If extradition is necessary, legal sources in London said, the Bow Street Court would require material evidence showing a case against Ray. The procedure normally would take two or three weeks, but if Ray fought the case, it could take much longer. Scotland Yard said Ray was apprehended as he was about to board a plane for Brussels and was found to be carrying a loaded revolver. He was arrested under the name of Ramon George Sneyd, the name on his Canadian passport, but the Justice Department in Washington said the man definitely was Ray. He was held in an 8-by-10-foot cell under constant watch by two Scotland Yard men at Cannon Row police station, about 200 yards from the Houses of Parliament. Newsmen were kept out of the station by two tall London bobbies at the gate. Gradually, the story began to come out of where Ray was during the manhunt that followed the slaying of the Negro civil rights leader and Nobel prize winner who had gone to Memphis in support of 1,300 striking city sanitation workers, 98 percent of them Negro. Four days after the slaying, Ray went to a Toronto rooming house and rented a $10-a-week room under the name of Paul Bridgman, said the landlady, Mrs. Adam Szpakowski.

Sees No Quick Victory, But 'Far From Stalemate'

Westmoreland Leaving Vietnam On A Confident Note

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, departing after four years in command of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said today American strength was greater than ever "but it is unrealistic to expect a quick and easy defeat of the Hanoi-led enemy." "If he feels time is on his side, he can go on a long time," Westmoreland said of the enemy in a farewell news conference on the eve of his departure to become Army chief of staff in Washington. The general repeated an assertion he made in Washington late last year that it might be possible to begin a token phase-out of U.S. forces in Vietnam within two years, adding: "I have no reason to change that estimate." Westmoreland said the phase-out might begin late in 1969, but added that this statement was based on "trends" that might change. He added that he could not predict what would happen at the peace talks in Paris, but from his view the enemy appeared to still be in search of major military victory. Westmoreland said he felt that a classical military victory was not possible in South Vietnam in view of U.S. policy decisions not to escalate the war or to enlarge its geographic boundaries. He added: "But the enemy can be attrited, the price can be raised. It is being raised to the point that it could be intolerable for the enemy. It may reach the point of the question of the destruction of his country, and jeopardizing the future of his country, if he continues to pay the price he is now paying and destined to pay in the future." Westmoreland said the enemy had lost 113,000 men since the first of the year and added "he doesn't have the manpower or resources to take these losses in stride." Westmoreland noted recent defection of several high-ranking enemy officers, enemy losses on the battlefield, the decrease in local recruiting, sky-

No Entry For Beauty Pageant

Greenville and Pitt County will not be represented in the North Carolina Pageant held in Charlotte this week. It is all because the Greenville Jaycees, who have sponsored the local pageant to name Miss Greenville or Miss Pitt County in the past, want the local representative to have a better chance in the state pageant. According to Jaycee president Gene Prescott, the local group plans to sponsor a beauty pageant this fall. The winner of that contest will be eligible to compete in the 1969 Miss North Carolina contest as the local representative. Prescott said a fall contest winner will have a better chance competing at the state level with a year's experience in meeting people and appearing before various groups as the queen.

According to the Jaycee president, no pageant was held this spring as in the past in order to make possible the fall pageant. He noted that under the rules governing the Miss America preliminary pageants, two contestants cannot be selected in the same year. The fall pageant, Prescott said, will probably be held in October. A date will be announced later. At present, Miss Sherry Robertson holds the title of Miss Pitt County. She was chosen in the last pageant sponsored locally in May, 1967. The Petersburg, Va., girl, a student at East Carolina University, was named Miss Waves at the Sun Fun Festival held this past weekend at Myrtle Beach, S.C. Miss Robertson will retain her title as Miss Pitt County until the fall pageant, Prescott said, but will not compete in the state pageant being held this week, since she competed last year.

Lone Yachtsman Seen Saturday

LONDON (AP) — Lone yachtsman Alex Ross has been spotted about 1,500 miles from home on the return leg of his round-the-world trip, it was announced Sunday. Rose's vessel, Lively Lady, was spotted Saturday by the Norwegian ship Sunseahorse about 400 miles southwest of the Azores. Rose is expected to arrive in Portsmouth about June 23.

Bulletin

HIGHLANDS, N. C. (AP)—The body of a four-year-old girl who had been missing since Wednesday was found this afternoon in Monroe Lake, about five miles from Highlands. Authorities said the body was spotted by helicopter. The lake is in the Whitesides Cove area of Macon County. The child, Vencencia Schweers, wandered from a house in the Osage Mountain section about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. She had been playing with other children.

North Carolina's Overall Economy Moved Upward Again During April

By NOEL YANCEY Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's overall economy moved upward again during April. Total employment, bank deposits, building activity, car and truck sales and housing loans all showed gains. The Wachovia North Carolina business index climbed to an all-time high of 179.3, up 0.5 percent from March and 7.5 percent above April of last year. Bank deposits were up 0.3 percent in April over March, indicating an increase in personal and business spending. As compared with April of 1967, bank deposits were up 29.2 percent. Nonagricultural employment was up 1.8 percent, or 7,000 persons, over March and up 1.8 percent, or 27,400 persons, over April of last year. Manufacturing employment was down by 300 from March but was 9,900 ahead of April of last year. The average workweek in manufacturing declined to 39.3 hours from 40.5 hours in March and 39.6 in April of last year.

This resulted in a $2.59 decline in weekly earnings which averaged $84.89 in April. The North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association reported that 16,675 new cars and 3,932 new trucks were sold in the state during April as compared with 13,442 new cars and 3,502 new trucks in April of last year. The North Carolina Department of Labor reported that building permits totaling $45.3 million were issued during April in 36 cities of more than 10,000 population. This was 19.8 percent above the $37.8 million total for April of last year. The state's sales tax collections in May, which reflected April business, totaled $18.5 million. This represented a gain of $2.1 million from the same month from last year. According to the Federal Home Loan Bank of Greensboro, North Carolina savings and loan associations closed $41.3 million in mortgage loans during the month. This compared with $33.1 million in April of last year.

Saigon Civilian Casualties Up

SAIGON (AP) — The civilian casualty toll from 22 days of Viet Cong rocket and mortar attacks on Saigon soared past the 500 mark today with another shelling on the densely populated central districts of the capital. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, outgoing commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, told a farewell news conference; "it's virtually impossible to stop this indiscriminate firing of rockets." Westmoreland leaves Tuesday for Washington to become Army chief of staff. At least 15 of the 100-pound, Russian-made rockets tore into the city early today in the Viet Cong's terror campaign, setting several houses afire. Ten Vietnamese civilians were killed and 33 wounded. Since the start of the Viet Cong's May 5 "peace talks" offensive against Saigon, 109 civilians have been killed and 413 wounded from enemy shelling alone, based on an unofficial tabulation of reports of the South Vietnamese military headquarters and the U.S. mission. South Vietnamese military headquarters announced that over-all, 433 civilians have been killed and 3,660 wounded in the last 37 days from both enemy rocket and mortar attacks and street fighting in the capital military district that includes Saigon and surrounding Gia Dinh Province. Headquarters said 16,269 houses were set afire and destroyed or damaged. It was considered reasonable assumption that most of the property destruction was caused by the massive fire power of allied troops. They used bombers, artillery, tanks and helicopter gunships to root out Viet Cong guerrillas in abandoned houses. The U.S. mission reported that street fighting and shelling in the capital military district since May 5 have left 161,000 persons homeless. On the military side, government headquarters reported that allied troops have killed 5,316 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops in and around Saigon since the enemy command launched its May 5 attacks. Another 433 enemy and 1,750 weapons were reported captured. South Vietnamese losses were put at 261 killed, 1,032 wounded and 40 missions for the same period. A breakdown on U.S. and other allied casualties was not immediately available. Westmoreland said that "to stop the indiscriminate firing of a few mortar rounds, a few rocket rounds, in consideration of the wide open and very chopped up and difficult country around Saigon, is almost an impossibility." "Civilians are getting killed and some houses are being damaged. But it's of really no military consequence. It does make headlines, I must say.

Summer School Program To Involve 2,500 Children

By BLANCHE HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer A total of 387 preschoolers and 2,209 students in grades one through 12 will participate in the summer school program sponsored by the Pitt County Schools. The pre-school readiness program, scheduled to begin June 13, will give in-coming first graders an opportunity to develop social competencies needed, as well as develop a sense of responsibility whether working with a group or independently. Preschoolers will also be given an opportunity to develop the ability to distinguish between personal possessions and those of others. The pre-school program will be taught in the following schools: Ayden Elementary, Grifton Consolidated, Chicod High School, Grimesland Elementary, Pactolus Elementary, Stokes-Pactolus, Bethel Elementary, Sallie Branch, Falkland Elementary, Sam D. Bundy and Winterville High School. Bus transportation will be provided by the county for preschoolers and students in grades one through eight. Students in grades nine through 12 will be responsible for providing their own transportation. Enrichment courses for students in grades one through eight will be taught at the following schools: Ayden Elementary, Grifton Consolidated, Chicod High School, Grimesland Elementary, Pactolus Elementary, Stokes-Pactolus, Bethel Elementary, Sallie Branch, Falkland Elementary, Sam D. Bundy, Farmville High School, and Winterville High School. Students in grades nine through 12 will attend classes at Farmville High School and Winterville High School. Elementary courses to be taught include Language Arts and Modern Math. Courses for each area of the secondary curriculum will be offered when as many as 10 students enroll. The lunch program will provide an early morning snack, consisting of juice and cookies, for students in Readiness through the third grade. Students, preschool through the 12th grade, will be eligible to participate in the free lunch program. An orientation for principals, head teachers, teachers, librarians and general aides will be held at Winterville High School June 11 at 9 a.m. A $30 tuition fee will be charged to all students who do not attend Pitt County Schools during the regular school term. Students who attend Pitt County Schools during the regular school session will not be required to pay a tuition. The summer school will begin for teachers on June 12 and for students on June 13. The program will conclude on July 26. Schools will be closed on July 4 and 5 in observance of Independence Day. Audiovisual equipment and library facilities will be made available to the teachers. Activity buses will be provided for field trips.

Local Women Achieve ESA Honor

Mrs. Rubelle Goin and Mrs. Frances Cassick have received the First Degree in the Pallas Athene awards program of their sorority, Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

FIRST DEGREE IN THE . . . Pallas Athene awards program of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was presented to, left to right, Mrs. Rubelle Goin and Mrs. Frances Cassick by Mrs. Mabel Greene, far left.

The awards were presented at a chapter meeting at the home of Mrs. Edna Branch. The presentations were made by Mrs. Mabel Greene, immediate past president. These women are among the first members of the international women's service organization to win the special award which was initiated last year. Mrs. Goin is currently serving as president of the local chapter and Mrs. Cassick is educational director for the current year. During the business session of the chapter meeting, Mrs. Goin announced her committee appointments for the year. Mrs. Helen Sermons, outgoing educational director, presented a program on parliamentary law.

Widow's Unusual Hobby: Motorcycling

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My brother's widow has taken up driving a motorcycle—at age 61! She was married to my brother for 30 years and has always been a sensible woman, so naturally when she started with this motorcycle business I became concerned. She says it's great fun, much safer than riding a horse, and she has met a lot of interesting young people thru her new hobby. Have you or any of your readers ever heard of a 61-year-old woman taking up the motorcycle just for the fun of it? If this woman is getting a little nutty, her lawyer ought to be advised because my brother left a sizable fortune to which she is the sole heir. Please advise me.

CONCERNED DEAR CONCERNED: If you suspect that your brother's widow is getting "a little nutty," watch for other evidence. Are you sure you aren't more interested in the rocks in her safety deposit box than those in her head?

DEAR ABBY: I take issue with your advice to "DISTRESSED," who wanted her husband to leave graduate school and take a job so she could enjoy their "dreams" of color TV, two new cars, a family, and a home of their own right now. These girls don't realize that their husband's potential income is immediately reduced as is his ability to advance in his profession. He is apt to be frustrated professionally in middle age, and if he is unhappy in his work, his home life will also suffer. The couples who are willing to scrimp and work hard for a few additional years in order to complete the husband's education to the fullest will reap benefits many times over in terms of income, professional and general satisfaction for the remainder of their lives.

dom, and if I were to burn it, I would no longer be free.

Sincerely yours, BILL HUMLEKER. Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a person I reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Champion's Winning Aid Aids Bachelors

BRUSSELS, Belgium (WNS) —Camille Champion, 34, a lonely bachelor who did not know how to make friends, advertised in local newspapers that he could teach women how to catch a man. When the first lady who answered the ad asked for instruction, he said, "You don't need it. You've already caught a man—me!" Champion had so many answers to his ad that he is fully dated himself and sharing the overflow with other lonely bachelors.

Sincerely yours, I. E. DAYTON Vice President for Academic Affairs, Montana State U., Bozeman, Montana

DEAR DR. DAYTON: Thank you for your fine letter. What you say is true, but my correspondent complained that her husband was a "professional student," who preferred the security of remaining in school indefinitely to getting out and supporting his wife and starting a family. In other words, her man was losing his ambition by "degrees."

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior at Shattuck school in Faribault, Minn., and I would like to get something off my chest.

Sometimes I get very angry with a few of your generation for leaving the world in such a mess for my generation to clean up. I also get mad at some of my own friends at times for being so childlike and cowardly. When I see "hippies" I think the Lord there aren't more of them. I mean, who would mind the store while we were freaking out somewhere if we were all like that?

I also get frustrated with draft - card burners. Imagine what our men in Viet Nam who are fighting and dying must think of that? If a man isn't willing to fight for his freedom, he doesn't deserve to be free. As far as I'm concerned, my draft card is my deed to free-

If the Shoe Fits-

BY LARRY AVERETTE

Is it possible for a child to outgrow a pair of shoes within three weeks?

Yes, it is possible and it happens frequently, but the "growth" is not true growth during that short period.

When a child's old shoes are too short, the child will unconsciously draw up his arch to keep his toes from bumping the ends of the shoes. Drawing up the arch shortens the foot. Try it.

Suppose the old shoes were size 7 and he now measures for size 8. An 8 shoe in the proper width will permit him to relax his foot and when the foot settles back to normal, it may measure 8 1/2 to 9. The new 8's are outgrown and the shoeman catches a headache because the parents allowed the child to wear 7's when he needed 8's. If the shoeman attempts to anticipate this settling process and fits the shoes a half size too long, it invariably turns out that this child has a natural "bitch" foot that doesn't care to settle. The shoes turn up in front lie skis, they look like some neighbor gave you, and they are worn out before the child grows into them. You can't win.

Authorities Rule On Male Mail

STRASBOURG, France (WNS) —The new fad with local coeds is to paste tiny snapshots of themselves right next to the postage stamp on envelopes that they mail to favorite boyfriends. Several mothers have complained to postal authorities, but the French authorities have ruled, "There is nothing in the French postal code to prevent this practice." They also point out that in England, coeds can go French girls one better by buying special postmarks for their letters with their own messages printed on them.

Fictitious Names Does The Trick

TARRAGONA, Spain (WNS) —Conchita Alvarez, 31, had been engaged for twelve years but could not get her fiancé to set the wedding date until she made him jealous by sending herself a series of sweetheart cards signed with fictitious male names. "First he slapped me until I proved that I had signed the cards myself," said Conchita. "Then he spanked me for fooling him. When I broke into tears, he asked me to marry him right away."

Apple Of This Eve's Eye Is Producer Carl Foreman

By JEANNE SAKOL

LONDON (WNS) — Her name is Eve and she gives the impression of all that's feminine since the first woman. The apple of her eye is film producer, Carl Foreman, who also happens to be her husband. Paradise to her is their four-year marriage, two-year-old son Jonathan, and keeping both gentlemen content whatever the circumstances.

These circumstances can range from film locations in Sweden, Italy or France to the 110-degree heat of the Arizona desert during Carl Foreman's current production, "Mackenna's Gold." Slim and bouncy with sandy curls and a broad, generous smile, Eve Foreman was born in London just before World War II and grew up during the Blitz. She met her future husband during the filming of "The Guns of Navarone" in Greece. He was the boss, she the efficient production person whose job included rounding up 2,000 Greek soldiers and six Navy destroyers.

Her efficiency must have impressed him because today she's still in charge of the paper work and myriad details that are part of a film producer's life. "Wherever Carl goes, we go," Eve said. During a rare quiet moment at their 12-room Georgian house in the heart of London, Baby Jonathan has been traveling since he was five months old and appears to thrive on it. Eve organized each trip down to the last detail with none of the home comforts neglected. Passion For Salami Described by Eve as "a tall, dark, thinking man, very quiet, very hard-working," Carl Foreman has a passion for New York salami. Eve makes sure there's always a supply on hand or enroute. On location, she prepares "precious lunches" for her husband.

They have it specially when we go to dinner. It's very embarrassing. Carl hates it but he is a polite man and never complains." The Foremans put guests into two categories: those you should see, those you want to see. A London dinner party for 16 to 20 people is served buffet style. Typical dishes may be a giant paella with an even bigger salad and crisp French bread or Cornish game hens stuffed with grapes and rice. There's a house rule of "No Desserts," so meals always end with "beautiful cheese and fresh fruits."

Never an actress, Eve Foreman obviously takes great delight in her roles as wife and mother. "Husband Comes First" "A woman has to work harder at a happy marriage than a man. He's in the jungle, his responsibility is bigger than mine. My husband comes first, always, even before me! "If a man travels, his wife should go along if she can. In our case, there may be problems and discomforts but that's when a man needs his wife, to smooth things over and make him comfortable. If Jonathan and I weren't with him, we would lose our daily contact. He wouldn't see his son growing up. We would both be doing things the other wouldn't share."

"Turbans save a woman's life. If you can't get your hair done and you're as bad at hairpieces as I am, a turban makes you look neat and well-groomed when you step from a plane or a car." That Carl Foreman is king is evident from almost everything Eve says. "Carl chooses my clothes. About twice a year, early on and buy my wardrobe for the Saturday morning, we go next six months. He is a traditionalist who thinks women should dress simply and tastefully. He loathes micro skirts. To him, the little black dress is marvelous at night and he likes a sparkling white dress in the middle of winter."

Mrs. Mary Sue P. Jarrett of Shelby, president of the North Carolina Federation, presided throughout the convention.

At the banquet on Saturday night, Miss Marlene Plyler of Statesville was installed as State President for the coming year.

He Wins Bride Through Lottery

HAMBURG, Germany (WNS)—Irma Rosenauer, 52, received word by mail that she had won the Otto Wilde lottery of numbers taken at random from the telephone directory and that tickets for her free, two-weeks' vacation in Portugal were enclosed. When Mrs. Rosenauer returned from vacation, she discovered that her daughter is now engaged to Wilde. The future groom explained, "I never could get to meet and date Dora because her mother never left her alone. So I invented my lottery, and had the good luck to win a bride."

emerald greenery, two pyramidal candelabra with bouquets of white gladioli and white mums. At the altar was a prie dieu where the bride and bridegroom took their wedding vows and knelt for the prayer and benediction. Preceding to the altar were single candleholders entwined with bridal greenery. Pews were marked with white satin bows and fern.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Romita of Greenville. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Emory M. Hiers of Moultrie, Ga.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Swiss embroidered silk organza edged with alencon lace at the neckline and at the wrists of the long, full sleeves.

She wore a mantilla veil of silk illusion attached to a crown of alencon lace and sweeping into a chapel length train bordered with alencon lace. She carried a classic formal bouquet of stephanotis, daisies and green bymbidium orchids accented with tips of jungle fern, tied with bridal satin.

It's Carrot Cake From S. Carolina

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When a man waxes positively lyrical about a recipe and says his guests "wolf it down," it's time to look into it.

When our man went on to say that he had discovered his recipe in South Carolina, we weren't surprised to find it was for Carrot Cake. All good cakes of this kind seem to come from the Carolinas.

This cake is delicious served as is—no frosting is needed. It's just the fare to hit the spot at snacktime with tea or coffee, iced or hot.

What makes carrot cake so popular? For one thing, the carrots add moisture. Second, carrot cakes are usually made with corn oil and that, too, adds moisture and produces a favorite kind of texture. Third, the carrots seem to supply an interesting indefinable flavor.

CARROT NUT CAKE
1 1/2 cups unsifted regular flour—stir to aerate before measuring
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup corn oil
2 eggs

1 cup grated medium fine carrot—about 2 medium carrots
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
Grease a square baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches); line bottom with wax paper.

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon.

In a medium bowl beat together the sugar and corn oil. Thoroughly beat in the eggs, one at a time.

Stir in the dry flour mixture in four additions, alternately with the carrots, blending just until the batter is smooth after each addition. Begin and end with the dry flour mixture. Stir in the nuts. Turn into the prepared pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until the cake springs back when touched lightly with the finger—about 40 minutes.

With a spatula, loosen the sides. Turn out on wire rack; sides. Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Store in a tightly covered tin box.

Look Beyond Political Promises

Somehow it is both disturbing and reassuring that the Democratic platform committee maintained the image of proverbial political promises as it put into writing a proposed program for the Democratic party in North Carolina.

Among other things, the platform called for a boost in pay for teachers and other professional school personnel to bring their pay to the national average. It called for a hike in expenditures per pupil in North Carolina's public schools to bring this figure to the national average. It also called for a number of other admirable and worthwhile things,

Achieved Goal Of Enthusiasm

Party officials countered with the argument that the selection of delegates has never been on a percentage basis nor should goal planned for it by party leaders — instilling of new enthusiasm and greater confidence. These are powerful factors and forces in politics, and often are difficult to maintain at maximum level. This year, the Democrats in North Carolina staged their convention at a time when party battered needed recharging.

It was planned for such a purpose, and party officials believe it was a success despite some unforeseen and unfortunate circumstances.

Some sag in spirits, a predictable let-down, occurred in Democratic party ranks following the May 4 primaries and the climax of the Spring campaigns.

More Confident

But the more than 2,000 delegates and party officials left Raleigh last week with renewed zeal and fresh confidence.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

The party's nominee for governor, Robert W. (Bob) Scott, had promised a "vigorous campaign, a hard-hitting campaign" in which he said all elements would have a part, in which he would use both "experience and new ideas". And Scott predicted, "we will win, and win big" next November.

Some speakers predicted the biggest Democratic victory in modern North Carolina political history.

More Unity Noted

An unusual degree of post-primary unity was noted among the delegates, among those who supported opposing candidates Rep. Basil L. Whitener of the primary and in the convention's caucuses.

This extended to the convention floor where there was little dissent in almost unanimous adoption of the platform and election of committees and national convention delegates.

A brief flurry of disruption by about 100 racially-minded delegates, mostly Negroes, captured headlines. But the Negro group belatedly denied that it intended to "walkout" or bolt the Democratic party, and insisted it was "just a demonstration" to support a request for greater Negro representation on the national convention delegation.

many of which obviously would require a considerable increase in state expenditures over the present level.

True to the form of American politics, however, there was also a plank opposing any increase in taxes.

Platform writers may have a clear understanding how a state may be able to do all the things they propose in the way of better pay, new or expanded programs, greater services to citizens (voters) without finding new sources of revenue or increasing appreciably the revenue from existing sources. In the case of North Carolina, it is hardly likely present tax schedules will provide nearly enough revenue to do what the state is doing now and in addition provide the things called for in the platform.

On paper in a political year a platform which calls for expanded programs, better pay for teachers and other, better schools, hospitals and other things — and opposes increasing taxes — may form a sound base for launching a political campaign. As a sound and realistic program for operating the state's government, however, it leaves something to be desired.

A Beautiful City Is Plagued By Big Crime

It is disheartening to learn that crime in Washington, D. C. has increased 24 percent in 12 months. As a consequence tourism to the nation's capital has declined.

The report is that tourism was off 20 percent in May, which is normally one of the busy months for visitors to the nation's capital.

To combat this drastic rise in crime — there has been no night city bus service since May 17 — Pres. Johnson has asked Congress to authorize 1,000 additional policemen for Washington, D. C.

This strikes us as the best way to attack the problem for the present. No matter how much we may blame poverty and wretched living conditions for the crime rate, nothing can be done to change the hearts of those who break the law overnight. Indeed this may take a generation of much patient work and education.

In the meantime we hope that effective law enforcement will make it possible for Americans to feel safe in visiting their nation's capital. It is a beautiful city and every American should have the right to visit there with peace of mind concerning his safety.

McCarthy Plans Continue Drive

Back in snow-covered New Hampshire last winter, McCarthy feels, the campaign was squarely on the issues—President Johnson's leadership. Lacking any reputation there, McCarthy nevertheless scored a moral victory.

But McCarthy feels, this issue-oriented victory disappeared into the politics of personality when Kennedy entered the contest after New Hampshire. Although McCarthy believes he trounced Mr. Johnson in the Wisconsin primary largely on the issues, he feels that the President's dropping out of the race obscured that outcome and further personalized the campaign.

Since then, in McCarthy's view, there has been endless talk among press and politicians of delegate counts, media spending, and organizational structure. What is worst to McCarthy is that, after losing to Kennedy in Indiana and Nebraska, he also joined the game.

Though still amorphous by conventional standards, McCarthy's campaign took on a more professional gloss (including a new strong man, the shrewd and competent Washington lawyer, Tom Finney). McCarthy dealt for more in personality, using his stinging wit freely against Kennedy. Thus, in McCarthy's mind, he now shared in the general culpability for the insane state of American politics.

The effort succeeded brilliantly with a win in Oregon and a close second in California, more than 15 percentage points higher than his showing in mid-May polls. But to McCarthy, the result was escalation of the superheated, irrational atmosphere conducive to a mad young man in Los Angeles firing point-blank at Robert Kennedy.

But nobody close to him believes he will quit. McCarthy may be a philosopher-poet preferring contemplation to action, but he is not guilt-ridden, self-doubting Hamlet. Rather, based on his conversations with his inner circle in the 24 hours after Kennedy was shot, this seems the nature of McCarthy's thinking:

In fact, since the shooting, McCarthy has not told anybody he definitely will stay in the race. The day that Kennedy died, McCarthy retired with a close associate to a retreat in the Maryland countryside just outside Washington to talk a little and think a lot.

But nobody close to him believes he will quit. McCarthy may be a philosopher-poet preferring contemplation to action, but he is not guilt-ridden, self-doubting Hamlet. Rather, based on his conversations with his inner circle in the 24 hours after Kennedy was shot, this seems the nature of McCarthy's thinking:

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

Sour saints are sinners. That is to say, the Christian who disobeys the oft-repeated commandment to "rejoice in the Lord," and to let the joy of the Lord be his strength, has sinned against light and law.

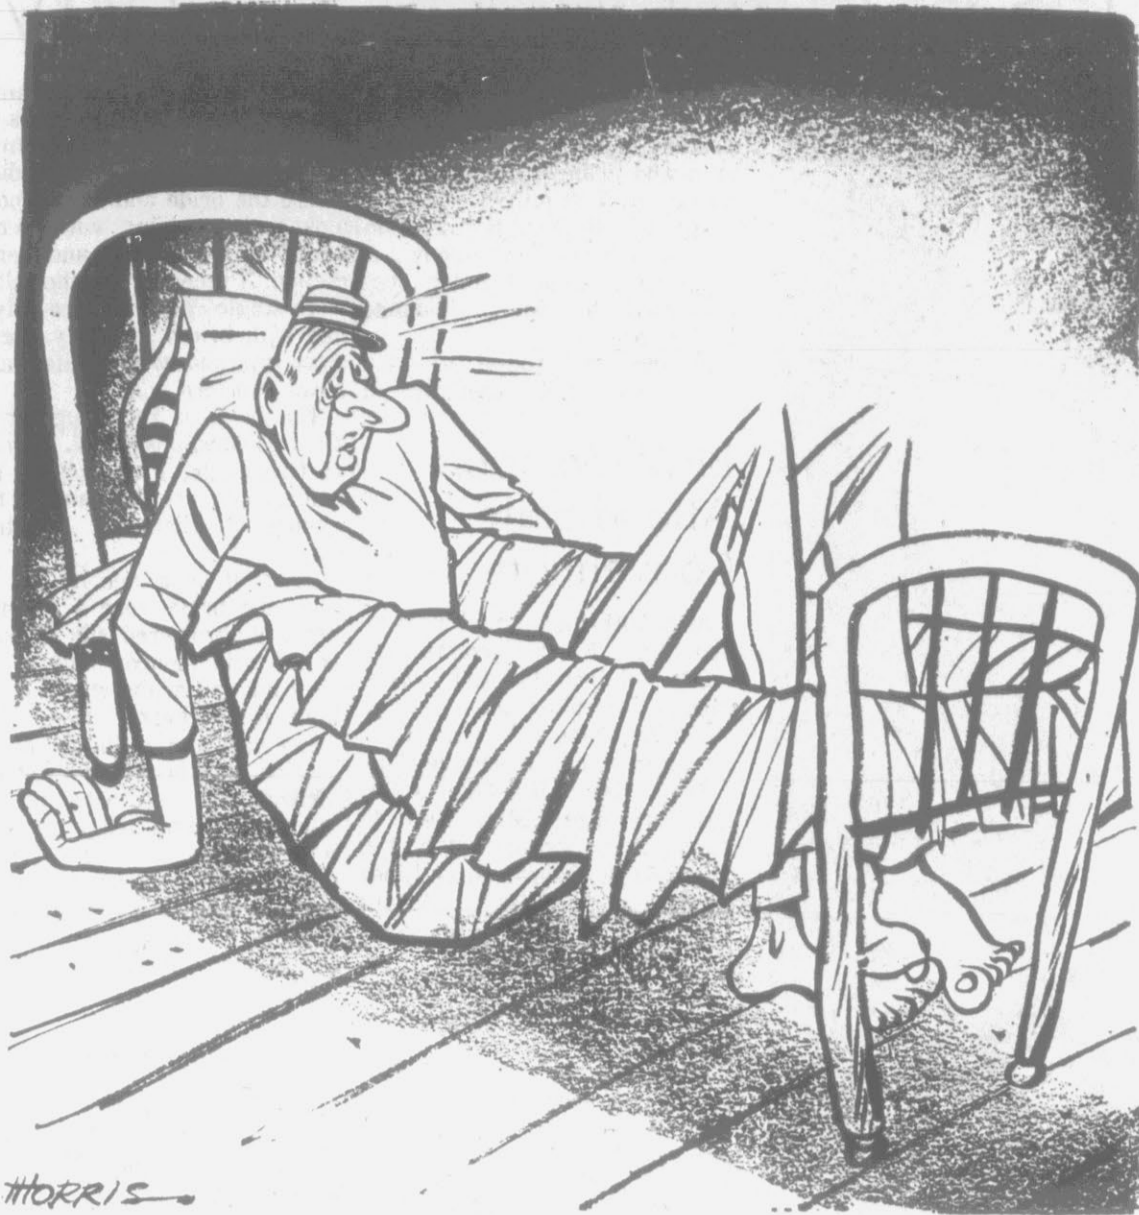

Glum and gloomy disciples reflect discredit upon their Master. They are misbranded goods, not as advertised. Do not the specifications for a Christian call for radiant peace and joy?

Thomas Curtis Clark has put the truth into simple verse:

"Who would a true saint be? Let him live joyously And not too soberly, The world's best saint is he Who makes good company!"

God forbid that we should do Him the dishonor of failing to show peace and cheer in our personalities. The joy of the Lord is our strength. Our prayer is that He will help us to live accordingly.

When A Friend Is Dead

WASHINGTON — When a friend dies, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was a friend, thoughts come to you in hazy film sequences, not in any particular order.

The camera pans across the sweeping lawn at Hickory Hill and Bobby Kennedy is walking alone in deep thought. Suddenly he picks up a football and tosses it to his 12-year-old son, David. Two minutes later all the guests are in a fierce touch football game with the Kennedys, including Ethel, playing as if it were the most important match in the world. Fadeout.

Closeup. Bobby in black tie at a party talking intensely about the future of the country. Pointing his finger and saying, "We've got to find an answer to the problems of the nation, not only for us but for our children and our grandchildren. We can't go on the way we're going." Fadeout. Bobby, sitting on the lawn during a pet show at Hickory Hill. Brumus, his large Newfoundland dog, lifts his leg and while Bobby watches in horror, Brumus relieves himself on a woman eating her lunch. Bobby runs into the house before the woman realizes what's happened to her.

Wide angle shot of the library. It's the night before Bobby is going to announce he's getting into the presidential race. Ted Sorensen reads a draft of the announcement which starts, "I have decided to run for President of the United States." Bobby, laughing, "Aw Ted, do I really have to say that?"

Cut to the Colorado River. Bobby is on a rubber mattress riding the rapids. The rest of the party is in the rafts. The boatman yells, "Sen. Kennedy, don't take the next rapids. They're too dangerous." Bobby won't get back in the boat. The people on the raft yell, "Don't do it, Bobby." Bobby, a glint in his eye, takes the rapids. He makes it, and everyone cheers.

Cut to campfire in the Grand Canyon. Bobby talking about the plight of the Indians that live in the area and how ignored they are by the rest of the country. He speaks with deep feeling.

Pan to Hyannis Port. A sailboat race. Bobby is the skipper of a two-man crew. Two 14-year-olds in another sailboat slice across the bow and Bobby in a fury yells, "I've got the right of the way." They yell back, "Touch luck," and Bobby shouts, "I'm protesting to the judges." A crew member says, "That should take the wind out their sails." Bobby says, "You don't joke when you race." Silence for the rest of the trip.

Closeup shot of Bobby wrestling with his children, on the rug; long shot of Bobby walking along the beach alone at dusk.

Fade in on Bobby sitting on the dining room floor with the phone to his ear, chewing out one of his staff for something they shouldn't have said. "I'm the only one in American politics who ever had both labor and business against me."

Bobby at the funeral of a television producer killed in Jordan, comforting the widow.

Tight shot of Bobby discussing jokes for a gridiron speech. "You know I can't say that about Lyndon."

Bobby and Ethel. Ethel and Bobby, Bobby and Ethel, Ethel and Bobby. The images go so fast, it's hard to fix them in your mind.

And finally, the last scene, only this time the camera is on a small television screen and you stare in disbelief as your friend is lying on the floor of a hotel kitchen corridor in Los Angeles. Somehow you know without seeing the printed titles that it is THE END.

Are you looking for a new status symbol? Well, to keep the conversation going, why not serve your guests tea blossoms? It is reported to have mild tonic qualities.

Other Editors Saying 'Hanging Juries' Out

(Christian Science Monitor)

The Supreme Court of the United States has again entered a contentious field, in ruling that a man may not be sentenced to death by a jury from which persons having conscientious scruples against capital punishment have been excluded.

Jurors have often been challenged and removed from cases because they were basically and generally opposed to capital punishment. The court's decision will, it is estimated, open the way for appeals in the cases of most of the 435 persons now under death sentence all across the nation.

In a sense, the court is quietly inveighing against the death penalty. So doing, it is moving with what is apparently the tide of public opinion, both in the United States and in Britain. The high tribunal has not ruled that capital punishment is unconstitutional, of course, but it is saying that juries must not be shorn of people opposed to the death penalty.

Justice Hugo Black, delivering a vigorous dissent to the court's 6-to-3 ruling, said the court again was "making law," which, he would say, is not its primary function.

The majority court view, to quote from Justice Potter Stewart's opinion, is that a state cannot entrust the decision as to whether a man may live or die "to a tribunal organized to return a verdict of death."

The question raised by Justice Black, is whether juries, after this ruling, now will not be automatically biased against capital punishment. The view of one juror can forestall a verdict.

There is ventilated also a second complaint against the court, again made by Justice Black: that it is overturning a batch of convictions of guilty persons on technical grounds. And that it is thereby weakening law enforcement at a time when the United States is battling a serious increase in crime.

Quite probably, capital punishment is on its way out in Anglo-American practice. But should it not be eliminated by the action of Congress or Parliament — as is happening in Britain — rather than by court decision?

By ELMER ROESSNER

It is a nerve-wracking experience to appear in court, whether as a defendant, plaintiff or just a witness.

Official attendance by a corporate entity or an individual can mean, at worst, a fine or a sentence. At best, it involves loss of valuable time which could well be spent elsewhere.

Even the winner of a judgment goes through an emotional wringer, not to mention hefty lawyers' fees which may be involved.

But there are lighter moments, as the National Short-hand Reporters Association can verify. Its members transcribe the proceedings, usually dull, tedious, sometimes heartbreaking but, occasionally, funny.

For example, one court reporter recorded a lawyer's question, "What did the decedent die possessed of?" and then noted the witness's reply, "Ulcers of the stomach."

On The Other Foot

But lawyers also get confused, as indicated by this exchange:

Lawyer: How many children did you have as a result of this marriage?

Witness: Five.

Lawyer: How many of these were boys?

Witness: Three.

Lawyers: Were the other two girls?

And there is the lawyer who asked: "Now isn't it true that when a person dies in his sleep, in most cases he just passes quietly away and doesn't know anything about it until the next morning?"

Much of courtroom drama is created by the contest between opposing lawyers. And, as legal opponents, lawyers frequently snipe at each other. In one case, the lawyer asked a psychiatrist witness how much income he derived from testifying in personal injury cases.

Psychiatrist: I never figured it out but I can tell you about the percentage of time.

Lawyer: No, I want money.

Sarcastic opposing lawyer: We know that.

Classic Pun

Or there was the plaintiff's counsel who announced: "I haven't been able to locate the defendant Whistler." At which the defendant's counsel queried sweetly: "Did you contact his mother?"

One frank witness's testimony epitomizes the helpless feeling a determined lawyer can instill in the hapless:

Lawyer: Are you sure this is the man who stole your car last Thursday?

Witness: Well, I was. Now, after cross-examination, I'm not sure I ever owned a car.

Items In The Mail

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Cost is one of the numerous factors limiting the number of heart transplant operations. The theoretical price tag on a new heart is about $50,000.

No wonder bus seats seem to be getting smaller. It's because people are getting bigger. The average young or middle-aged man today weighs 15 pounds more than his counterpart a generation ago.

If you feel you should reduce, climbing stairs may be your answer. It takes up to 15 times as much energy to climb stairs at it does to stroll on the level.

Remember when one man could push an airplane around? Well, the world's largest aircraft, the Lockheed C-5 Galaxy, has a cargo compartment so large an 8-lane bowling alley could be built in it. Hey, that's not a bad idea, is it?

Did you know that your body is far more intricate than the federal highway program? Inside you are some 100,000 miles of nerve fibers along which messages zip at speeds of 300 miles per hour.

The most famous outdoor clock is probably Big Parliament on time. But the world's largest indoor clock is in New York City's Grand Central Station. It has a 15-foot face and a minute hand seven feet long.

Flynn Fellowship Home Observes 5th Anniversary Tuesday Evening

The Flynn Christian Fellowship Home on 406 Pitt Street will celebrate its fifth anniversary here Tuesday night at 7 p. m. with a barbecue dinner.

Curly Wilem, manager of the home and vice-president of the national board of Flynn Homes, Inc. is sponsoring the supper for the official board of the home. Wilem emphasized that the purpose of the supper is "to give a summary to the board of the overall picture of the progress and achievements that have been made in the last five years, and to show how men have got on the 'right track' by coming to the home.

Wilem also plans to report the approximate cost of the operation of the home. Information on how many men have come to the home in the last five years and a followup of their progress will be included in the report.

Flynn Homes are located throughout the United States. North Carolina has 12. The first two in the state were in Charlotte and Durham.

As a rehabilitation center for alcoholics, the home provides a Christian environment for men. The men are given the opportunity to help themselves and to talk, work and share experiences and problems with other men like themselves.

New ECU-SGA Officers Slated

A new slate of officers, headed by President David R. Lloyd of Raleigh, is set to take over the varied and vigorous program of the Student Government Association of East Carolina University during the forthcoming 1968 - '69 term.

Serving in Lloyd's executive cabinet will be Rex L. Meade of Riverdale, Md., vice president; Buford L. Davis of Raeford, treasurer; Dianne Marie Holland of Fairfax, Va., secretary; and Catherine Charles Webb, also of Fairfax, Va., historian.

President Lloyd, who won his office in the annual SGA spring elections, was administered the oath of office by Howard Salenius of Greenville and Chicago, Ill., chairman of the ECU Honor Council. Lloyd in turn administered the oath to his fellow officers.

In his first official address, Lloyd called for a vigorous SGA year in 1968 - '69. He served as vice president of the SGA last year.

HEW Grant For Technicians And Dieticians

A grant of $27,265 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has extended for another year training programs for medical technicians and dieticians at East Carolina University.

The grant, from HEW's Division of Health Manpower, is to be coordinated by Dr. Edwin W. Monroe, Director of the ECU Life Sciences and Community Health Institute.

Dr. Clifford Knight, professor of biology, and Dr. Miriam Moore, Dean of the School of Home Economics head up the two training programs and will administer the funds.

Dr. Monroe said the grant is an extension of a similar grant to the university last year when the programs were initiated. No new programs are to be started with the extension funds.

Children Tutor Dad For Tests

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Now that his nine children, all born in this country, are grown, Juan Gonzales decided it was time to become a citizen of the United States. After coaching by four of his sons and a daughter, he sailed through naturalization tests.

Gonzales, a native of Mexico, has lived in this country since he was 17. Helping him with several months of study of American history and government were Fernie, Armando, Gilbert and Rudolph and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Rays Jr.

Gonzales is looking forward to voting, not having to register annually as an alien and to crossing the border to visit relatives in Mexico with less red tape.

the community again. The people have been so wonderful and donated so many things for the home."

"The public attitude here is better than anywhere I have worked. The people just extend a warm heart out to the home and the effect that it has on the men is amazing. The attitude of the public is what makes it easier for the men."

The official board of the home consists of 12 regular members plus three honorary members. Officers are: president, John M. Gomery; vice president, Herbert W. Lee; secretary, Mrs. Harrell Thomas and treasurer, Curtis Hendrix. Members include: Mrs. Mabel Blount, Dr. Badger Clark, James T. Cheatam, III, Dr. Ed Clement, Charles Gaskins, Ben Harrison, Jesse A. Moye, Jr., Joseph "Scrappy" Proctor and Rev. Glenn Savage.

Dr. Marshal Helms, Bobby Gaylor and Mrs. Nancy Hannah compose the advisory committee of the board.

The Flynn Home in Greenville is a three-story building. On the first floor, is a music room, T V room, dining room, kitchen, office, coffee room and the master bedroom for the manager. The second floor contains five dorm rooms and one private bedroom. Two large rooms and a prayer room are on the third floor.

At the present, the home has 15 men. The maximum capacity of the home is 21 or 22. In the five years the home has been in operation, a total of 400-500 men have entered and left the home.

According to Wilem, the men must attend Alcoholic Anonymous meetings, a church of their choice and the Bible readings within the home are planned within the home are planned weekly especially for the men.

Gardner Urges Tax-Credit Plan

PLYMOUTH — Rep. Reece B. Gardner proposed and advocated a "tax credit for education" as he spoke to the Washington County Young Republican organization at the county courthouse here Tuesday.

Reece's plan included giving direct tax credits to the income taxes of parents with children in elementary, secondary or higher education schools. He felt that this tax plan would help overcome the financial difficulties of school expenses due to increasing costs.

"For some reason, the Democrats seem to shy away from these programs that do not involve patronage, setting up of Federal agencies, or enlargement of the bureaucratic corps. They cling desperately to the old, tread-worn concept that only a bigger Federal government can provide for our needs," Reece said in his speech.

He added, "Without question, tax credits for education offer a practical and much needed solution to the financial problems which beset the family and the educational community."

Evans-Novak . . .

(Continued From Page 4) closest political associates are sure he will continue his campaign, they have been informed unequivocally that things will be different. The cotton-candy atmosphere of Oregon and California where McCarthy, the poet-philosopher, glibed at Bobby Kennedy's dog, Freckles, will not reappear.

It is doubtful if McCarthy will campaign at all for New York's primary on June 18 where 123 delegate candidates pledged to him will battle slates pledged to Kennedy and Humphrey. Nor is it likely that McCarthy will engage in political horse-trading with party pros who backed Kennedy and now wonder whether to jump to McCarthy or to Humphrey.

Thus, based on the structures of conventional politics, McCarthy will be even less satisfactory to the Democratic establishment today than he was before Kennedy's assassination. In an entertainment oriented society where style outweighs substance, McCarthy's effort to depersonalize politics seems futile. But the political mood after the Kennedy tragedy is smoky and shapeless, and, just possibly, appropriate to Gene McCarthy's appeal.

HAVE TRUNK ... WILL TRAVEL

In the rugged hill country of South Vietnam, the machines of man are often unable to do work necessary for the well-being of many villages.

At Tra Bong, 60 miles south of Da Nang, cut timber for a Special Forces detachment lumber mill was unable, via conventional means, to be moved from a nearby hill because of terrain conditions.

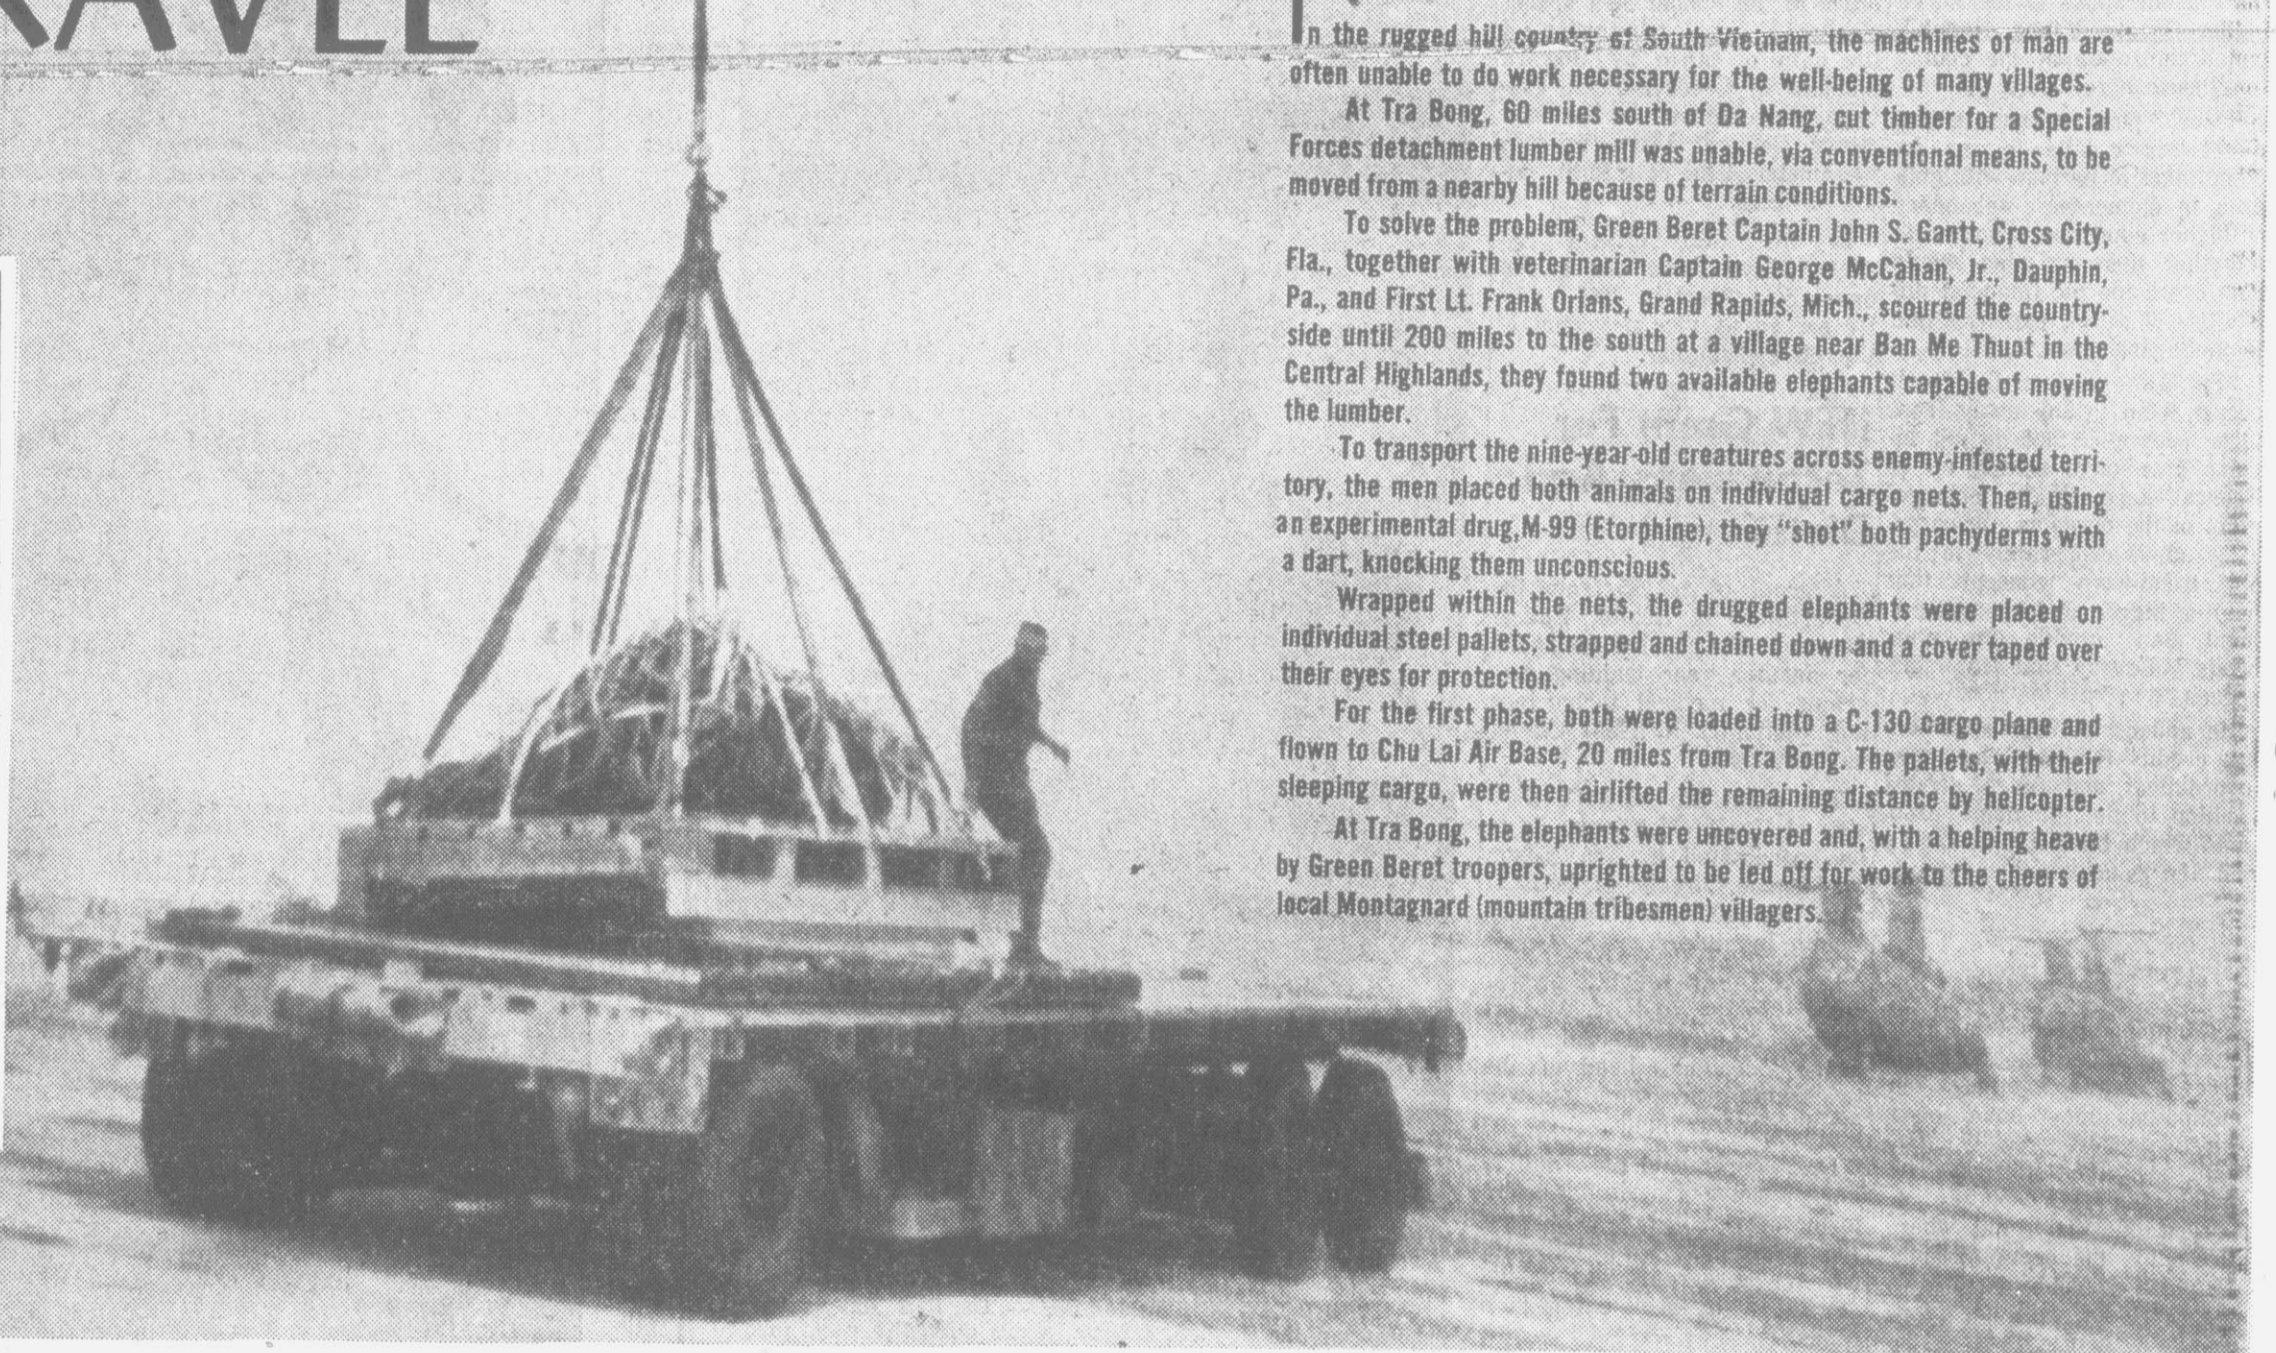

To solve the problem, Green Beret Captain John S. Gantt, Cross City, Fla., together with veterinarian Captain George McCahan, Jr., Dauphin, Pa., and First Lt. Frank Orlans, Grand Rapids, Mich., scoured the countryside until 200 miles to the south at a village near Ban Me Thuot in the Central Highlands, they found two available elephants capable of moving the lumber.

To transport the nine-year-old creatures across enemy-infested territory, the men placed both animals on individual cargo nets. Then, using an experimental drug, M-99 (Etorphine), they "shot" both pachyderms with a dart, knocking them unconscious.

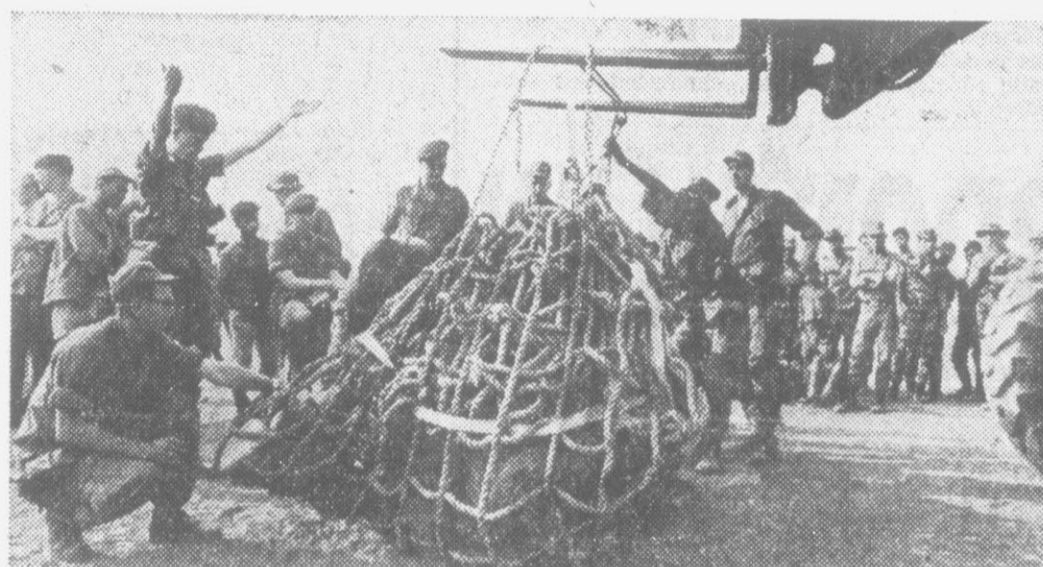

Wrapped within the nets, the drugged elephants were placed on individual steel pallets, strapped and chained down and a cover taped over their eyes for protection.

For the first phase, both were loaded into a C-130 cargo plane and flown to Chu Lai Air Base, 20 miles from Tra Bong. The pallets, with their sleeping cargo, were then airlifted the remaining distance by helicopter.

At Tra Bong, the elephants were uncovered and, with a helping heave by Green Beret troopers, uprighted to be led off for work to the cheers of local Montagnard (mountain tribesmen) villagers.

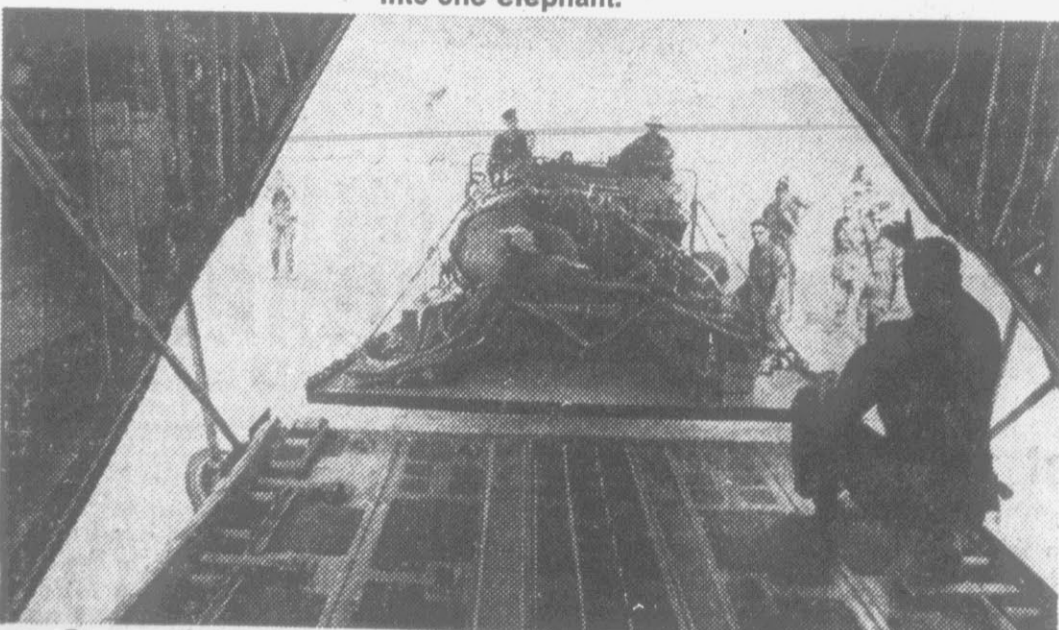

Capt. George McCahan, Jr., prepares to shoot a drug-carrying dart into one elephant.

Captain John Gantt signals for the lift truck to slowly raise the cargo net.

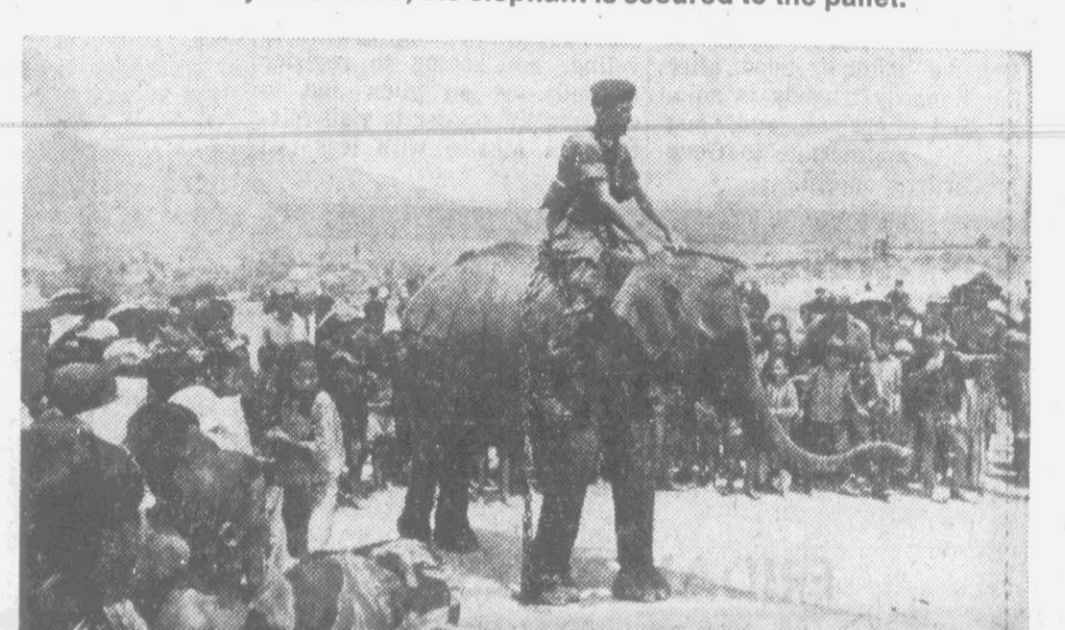

Eyes covered, the elephant is secured to the pallet.

On a pallet and secured, one pachyderm is brought into the C-130 cargo plane.

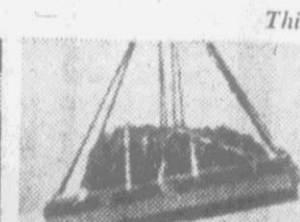

A Green Beret member at Tra Bong helps one elephant to its feet.

Capt. John Gantt leads the elephant, mahout-style, before Montagnard villagers.

Turn-In-Your-Guns Movement Speads Over U.S.

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A turn-in-your-guns movement has started in the nation in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

from public officials, groups and individuals—for stronger gun-control legislation at federal, state and city levels. "I don't feel like killing anything any more," said Alan E. Schoening as he turned in two hunting guns to police in Lancaster, Pa. "Enough people have been shot now," he said. "I want to give you these guns so you can destroy them. I hope this gesture will encourage others to do the same."

A chain of discount stores in Columbus, Ohio, said it would stop selling guns and turned over its stock of small arms, hand guns, ammunition and related items to the police department. J-Mart president Marty Rosen said he took the action "to remove the possibility of supplying anyone with the means to cause bodily harm, inadvertently or intentionally, not only to our dedicated public leaders, but to anyone..."

An Indiana-based chain, Wonderland stores, discontinued the sale of ammunition. It stopped the sale of guns two years ago. The store president, Sanford Friedman, said the ammunition sale was being stopped "to help preserve public safety and sanity."

In Dallas, store owner E. O. Crawford discontinued the sale of toy guns the day Robert Kennedy died. "We teach our children love of a gun and love of killing by giving them a toy gun as soon as they are able to walk," he said.

John E. Fletcher of Denver urged gun owners to take "all firearms in your possession to the steps of the state capitol next Sunday (Father's Day) to be destroyed and disposed of."

He said the gesture would be "a sign of our intention to kill no more... and as a fitting remembrance to a fallen martyr—Robert F. Kennedy."

Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts said he will tell his colleagues in the New England Conference that strong gun controls are long overdue. The conference will meet in Stowe, Vt., June 27, and the issue is expected to come up then.

Volpe, chairman of the National Governor's Conference, plans to propose tighter gun laws when that group meets next month in Cincinnati.

A Gallup Poll report, released Sunday in Princeton, N.J., said that a special survey conducted on the day that Sen. Kennedy was shot found that the public advocates registration of all firearms as the best way to curb such violence.

A letter appeared in the Milwaukee Herald, signed by a man who called himself "an avid owner and user of guns" and urging a 90-day jail sentence for possession of any firearm. "I know this means ending the sport of hunting," he wrote, "but our first obligation must be to mankind and the perpetuation of society."

Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco proclaimed the seven days beginning July 4 a "Amnesty Week," and asked all citizens to turn in their guns—with no questions asked. Last Friday, Alioto had urged a city gun control law "with teeth in it."

Not all the action came from adults.

A group of junior high and high school students in University City, Mo., formed an organization called Students for Action Committee to work to eliminate gun sales.

"The adults don't do anything," said Sharon Liebermann, a member of the group. "They mourn and say they'll do something and then they seem to forget."

Circuit Judge Max Raskin of Milwaukee urged passage of a law under which firearms would have to be drawn out of a local arsenal, somewhat like books out of a library. Raskin said the borrower would sign out the weapon, state his purpose for needing it and sign it back in after a specified time. The crime-control bill which the U.S. House of Representatives passed Thursday includes a new provision prohibiting the sale of rifles, shotguns and handguns to anyone under 18.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long says Congress should consider amending the Constitution to end life-tenure for Supreme Court justices if the court does not heed directives in the new anti-crime bill.

The Louisiana Democrat suggested a Constitutional amendment that would require periodic review by Congress to determine whether a justice on the basis of record, age "and other relevant considerations" should continue to serve.

Long said he would vote no on Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William O. Douglas if such a system were in effect now.

"Based on the way (Justice William J.) Brennan and (Justice Abe) Fortas are going," Long said, "I would have to say no to them, too."

He made the proposal in a broadcast prepared for showing over the weekend to his Louisiana constituents.

The recently-passed anti-crime bill includes provisions intended to overturn Supreme Court decisions on use of confessions and eye witness testimony at criminal trials.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says there is no connection between the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion and a sound detecting buoy found 40 miles north of Sao Jorge Island in the Azores.

Officials said the buoy, of the type dropped from airplanes three to five years ago, was to be recovered by tug.

The buoy was found Saturday in the area from which the Scorpion sent its last known message May 21.

Jenkins Address Raleigh Club, Condemns Forces Of Disruption

RALEIGH — "When coercion in any form is allowed to dictate the course of a university, it is doing a disservice to society," stated ECU President Dr. Leo W. Jenkins as he spoke to Rotary Club luncheon here today.

He was commenting on four articles charged that "A large minority" of the ECU faculty is afraid "of retaliation by ECU administration officials if they speak openly for change."

Clarifying his position, Jenkins said, "I did not come here to plead with them — plead with them for the truth—not only technical, but in spirit. . . ."

He continued, "On our campus, and on most campuses, there are numerous agencies, such as student government, faculty senate, and dean's advisory council, through which legal changes and grievances of all types can be carried."

"Now when the hard core group of disrupters discovers that all of these agencies are closed to them because their requests or demands are not worthy, they resort to channels outside these agencies; and they have a rather comfortable tool if they can find a friendly newspaper."

"But we must remind ourselves that the welfare of our nation is the joint responsibility of all our schools. . . . and our agencies of communication. We would be unfaithful to our own heritage and less than men were we to stand by and let a small group of moral slobs, marijuana smokers, or peddlers of anonymous obscenities invade and take over our campus. Jenkins then cited misinterpretation of statements and actions as the reason for the accusations which prompted the newspaper articles, and termed it a "weapon that has been used against East Carolina University and other fine schools throughout our land."

He next called for "an end to this type of thing, saying 'I appeal for the truth in spirit so that we can go on and build a greater Carolina. We have struggled a long

Lumber Firm Is Damaged By Fire

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Fire early today destroyed stocks, machinery and a number of buildings of McDonald Lumber Co. one mile east of Fayetteville.

Neighbors reported hearing an explosion about 2 a.m., and firemen theorized a boiler exploded, scattering fire.

The main office building was not damaged, but several small buildings and sheds to the rear, along with quantities of piled lumber, were consumed by the flames. Tractors and a dry kiln were included in the loss.

No damage estimate was immediately available.

Three Women Claim 'Girl In Polka-Dots'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With Sirhan Bishara Sirhan behind bars, top prosecutors are meeting daily in hopes of closing holes in Los Angeles County Superior Court Case No. A233421.

That case contains the murder charge against the 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant accused of slaying Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sirhan is to enter a plea to the charge June 28.

Although Sirhan was arrested at the scene of the fatal shooting early Wednesday, and identified by several witnesses as the New York senator's assailant, the case presents unanswered questions.

Not the least of them is whether there was a conspiracy behind the shooting.

Police haven't been able to produce the dark-haired "girl in the polka-dot dress." Sandy Serrano, 20, a Youth for Kennedy worker, reported seeing the girl run from the Ambassador Hotel after the shooting and say, "We shot him."

Three young women, the latest a 19-year-old belly dancer, have claimed to be the girl in the polka-dot dress, all saying Miss Serrano misunderstood their words as they ran from the hotel. But Miss Serrano says none is the girl she saw.

"You've got to be color-blind to think that's the girl," Miss Serrano said of the belly dancer, Kathy Fulmer, who had told police she was wearing a polka-dot scarf and a blonde wig the night of the murder.

Meanwhile, Pasadena police are keeping a 24-hour guard at the home of Sirhan's family, although the family reportedly has not been staying there.

In Chicago, a Jordanian grocer was shot to death Saturday in his store and police speculated his killers, described by the victim's wife as two Negroes, may have been seeking revenge college and news officials to guard against destroying "all of this by shifting to an arrangement by which a vocal and rude minority rules the land without respect for majority rights and interests."

for Kennedy's death. Abder Rayyan, 55, father of nine, was shot in the head as he bent over a vegetable bin. His assailants left without saying a word.

Of five other persons wounded during the Kennedy shooting, three have been released from hospitals and the other two are reported in good condition.

In the city of Taybea in Israel-held Jordan, Bishara Sirhan, father of the one-time race-horse exercise boy accused in the assassination, said Sunday that childhood memories of killings in the Arab-Israeli war of 1948 could have disturbed his son.

Voting Today On Church Merger

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern) voted today whether to merge with the Reformed Church in America (RCA).

The General Synod of the Reformed Church, meeting in Ann Arbor, Mich., also was to vote on the Plan of Union.

The Southern Presbyterian Church has about one million members, mostly in the South and the Southwest. The Reformed Church, with about one-quarter million members, is concentrated in the Northeast and Midwest.

If approved today, the union must be ratified next year by three-fourths of the presbyteries and two-thirds of the similar bodies in the Reformed Church, which are called classes.

The plan then would have to be approved a second time by the General Assembly and the General Synod in 1969. Actual merger would come by 1970.

Zoo Consultants Starting Tour

RALEIGH (AP) — A team of consultants and the State Zoological Garden Study Commission planned to fly to Wilmington and Sanford today to begin a tour of North Carolina to determine the feasibility of establishing a state zoo.

Norwood (Red) Pope of Raleigh, commission chairman, said the five-day tour would include visits to Asheville, Shelby, Charlotte, Statesville - Iredell County, Greensboro - High Point - Winston-Salem, Asheboro and Raleigh - Durham - Chapel Hill.

The out-of-state consultants included three zoo experts. They are Clayton Freiheit, director of the Buffalo Zoo; William Hoff, administrative director of the St. Louis Zoo, and George Spedel, director and creator of the Milwaukee Zoo.

The group will visit Asheville and Shelby Tuesday.

Pope said the delegation will analyze terrain, climate, highways, utility systems, tourists, park and recreation facilities and other criteria in determining if it would be feasible to establish a state zoo.

The cost of the tour, estimated at $10,000, will be borne by the Raleigh Jaycee Zoological Foundation.

Believed In Ghosts, Or Had A Secret Love Affair

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—When one of the greatest scientists of his Time stunned the Victorian world by announcing he believed in ghosts, was he telling the truth or trying to hide a torrid love affair with a pretty medium?

The question has cropped up again, as it did during his lifetime, nearly 50 years after the death of Sir William Crookes whose discoveries paved the way for television and whose high honors included the presidency of the Royal Society.

Crookes gave Victorian England one of its most curious talking points when he insisted that 17-year-old Florrie Cook, a medium, had produced under the strictest conditions the materialized form of a "spirit" named "Katie King" and that he himself had been photographed with this spirit in bright electric light.

The 1874 photograph exists, including copies titled in ink by Crookes himself, "W. Crookes and Sp. in Electric Light." At the bottom of one such photo Crookes wrote rhapsodically of "Katie" that "round her eyes she made an atmosphere of life; the very air seemed lighter from her eyes. Her overpowering presence made you feel it would not be idolatry to kneel."

The most recent study of the extraordinary events that baffled even the great Charles Darwin claims the entire affair was a fraud and the only science involved was the science of illicit love.

But this does not satisfy those who find it hard to believe even now that a man of Crookes' intelligence and means could not have arranged clandestine meetings with a girl without subjecting his international reputation to possible ridicule.

And two distinguished members of the board of the Society for Psychical Research, Mrs. K. T. Goldney and R. G. Medhurst, have now reported on a study in depth of letters and papers—some of them examined for the first time—on the Crookes-Cook case.

"I can only give you my personal opinion," said Mrs. Goldney, "and that is that I do not believe Crookes was carrying on an affair with Florrie Cook. I believe that in his belief that she was able to materialize the 'spirit' of 'Katie King' he was sincere but deluded."

Brook Valley Championships Trophies Given

FATAL CRASH — Track worker attempts to remove the body Sunday of race driver Ronnie Duman who was killed when three cars collided and burst into flames in the Rex Mays Memorial Race at State Fair Park in Milwaukee. Death Awaited Driver Duman On The 3rd Lap

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Death awaited less than three minutes for Ronnie Duman Sunday. It claimed him at the south wall at the start of the third lap in the 150-mile Rex Mays Classic automobile race.

But the south wall bore the scars of the flaming crash — which injured six spectators — and Duman's young son, Dick, sobbed unconsolably at his mother's side.

A native of Dearborn, Mich., Duman began as a stock car driver in 1951. He was severely burned at the Indianapolis 500 in 1964. The same accident claimed the life of drivers Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald.

Track Sensation Came A Cropper On Hot Asphalt

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The young man sat there in the grass on the seat of his burnt orange shorts, his socks and spiked shoes off and some 4,000 persons at the United States Federation Track and Field Meet stared in stunned silence.

Trophies were awarded yesterday afternoon at a barbecue dinner in the Brook Valley Club Championships. Missing however, was the championship flight of the men's division which is yet to be played.

Melvin "Big Daddy" Moore, the defending, and Ercel Webb are meeting in the finals of the tournament, but play had to be suspended because of the illness of one of the participants. It is expected to be completed at a later date.

Jane Sauve was awarded the first place trophy in the championship flight of the women's tournament, while Jim Ward was named the junior division champion.

In addition, trophies were presented to the Most Improved golfers among ladies, men and juniors. These went to Miriam Martin the women's division, Phil Harvey in the juniors, and Pat Duncan in the men's.

Harvey was the runner-up to Ward in the championship flight. The first flight winner was Steve Jones with Tommy Boone finishing second. Robbie Pinner defeated George Morton Jr. to win the second flight, while David Mitchell won the third flight over Steven Mitchell.

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP) — A field of 160 junior golfers are scheduled to begin play Tuesday in the 19th annual Carolina Golf Association Junior Tournament at Salisbury.

Mildred Coleman was the runner-up in the championship flight of the women's tournament. Bernie Rawl was first in the first flight, with Cynthia Mendenhall second. Jane Worsley won the second flight over Mary Meade Powell. Jean Ramsey defeated Doris Harvin in the third flight play.

In the men's tournament, Jack Cuthbertson downed Billy Wolfolk in the fifth flight, while Roger Bullock downed Kip West for the fourth flight title.

Drysdale Giving Up A Run Didn't End The String

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Don Drysdale's shutout string finally came to an end, but it had no effect on his team's seven-game victory skein.

Before that, Drysdale had rewritten the record books by demolishing the cobweb-covered mark of 56 consecutive scoreless innings set by Walter "Big Train" Johnson in 1913 for the Washington Senators.

And Sunday, the Phillies fell 4-3. Before that, Drysdale had rewritten the record books by demolishing the cobweb-covered mark of 56 consecutive scoreless innings set by Walter "Big Train" Johnson in 1913 for the Washington Senators.

By the time the baton was passed to him he was outdistanced by several teams, including the eventual winner, Prairie View. So Morton just quit, two-thirds of the way down the track, walked to the grassy infield and ripped off his shoes.

"My feet got too hot," Morton said. The track sulted Jim Green of Kentucky fine. He won the outstanding competitor award with a 9.3 victory in the 100 and 20.9 in the 220. Ron Kutichinski of Michigan was voted the outstanding performer of the meet by ripping off a 1:47.1 in the half-mile—the best in the world this year over that distance.

Alvin Dark Introduces Two-Catcher Offensive

By HAL BOKK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Introducing . . . Alvin Dark's two-catcher offense, a new wrinkle designed to battle the Great Hit Famine of 1968.

Dark used both Duke Sims and Jose Azcue, Cleveland's regular catchers, Sunday against the Detroit Tigers, stationing Azcue behind the plate and Sims in, of all places, left field.

Naturally, it paid off with Sims doubling and scoring on Azcue's single in the fifth inning and then homering in the seventh for the Indians' other run as Luis Tiant blanked the Tigers 2-0 on a four-hitter.

Only three other games were played in the American League Sunday. Washington pounded Minnesota 7-4 and New York F. Kennedy.

In the National League, Pittsburgh tripped Houston 3-1, Los Angeles edged Philadelphia 4-3, Atlanta split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning 4-0 before losing 6-5, St. Louis split with Cincinnati, winning 10-8 and then losing 7-6 in 12 innings, and San Francisco swept the New York Mets 5-4 and 4-1.

"I decided on Sims in left field because of this ball park," said Dark, who last week employed another catcher, Ken Suarez, at both third base and second base against Chicago.

"I figure if Willie Horton can play left field here, Duke can," Dark continued. "I just told Sims to let (Jose) Cardenal catch all the balls he could reach."

Sims caught two flies and defended his outfielding.

"I can catch fly balls and any ball in my area I'm going to take," he said.

Washington erupted for seven hits and six runs with two out in the fourth inning and whipped the Twins. Pitcher Joe Coleman, who had only two hits all last year, matched that total Sunday and contributed a two-run double to the big rally.

Mike Epstein started the rally with a two-out single and Paul Casanova and Bernie Allen followed with singles. Coleman doubled and Fred Valentine and Ed Stroud singled. After Frank Howard walked, Ken McMullen singled for two more runs.

Harmon Killebrew had a two-run homer for the Twins.

Stan Bahnsen pitched the Yankees to their first game victory over the Angels and then Charlie Smith's pinch single drove in the winning run in the bottom of the ninth of the nightcap, completing the sweep.

Roy White drove in two runs with a pair of early singles and Jake Gibbs' two-run single keyed a five-run Yankee uprising in the sixth inning that wrapped up the opener. Bahnsen won his sixth, although he lost his shutout when the Angels bunched three singles with two out in the ninth.

Some shoddy Yankee fielding cost Steve Barber two runs in the nightcap and the game was tied 2-2 going into the bottom of the ninth. Errors by Bobby Cox and Joe Pepitone had set up one run and a dropped throw at first base by Ruben Amaro on an attempted double play allowed the other to score.

But Bill Robinson opened the Yankee ninth with a single and moved up on Cox' sacrifice. Gibbs was intentionally walked and Smith delivered his fifth pinch hit in seven trips as Robinson scored.

Casper's Eyes On U.S. Open

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Billy Casper trained his eyes on a third U.S. Open title today after a one-stroke victory in the Speedway Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

"If I can eliminate the mistakes I made here, I'll do well in Rochester," Casper said. "I had a two-week layoff since Memphis and hadn't played much but I feel good now."

The PGA's leading money winner, raised his earnings to $124,243 with a $20,000 first-prize for his fourth victory of the season.

Casper admitted Mike Hill, a 28-year-old rookie, made him play more boldly than he had wanted in the final round.

Hill, of Jackson, Mich., was playing only his second pro tourney.

Hill tried to tie Casper when the veteran bogeyed the par-5 18th hole. Hill blasted a drive and iron shots to just off the green, then chipped to three feet from the pin.

His putt attempt for a birdie curled around the cup but failed to drop and Hill ended with a par.

Casper finished with two-under-par 70 and a 72-hole score of eight-under-par 280. He had won the Speedway Open in 1962 and 1966.

Hill, with 75, and Speedway defending champion Frank Beard, who rallied with 68, tied for second place at 281.

Two oldtimers tuning up for the U.S. Open—Sam Snead, 56, and Dutch Harrison, 58—were in a five-way tie at 282 with Lou Graham, R. H. Sikes and Fred Marti.

Snead shot 73 and Harrison 72 in the final round. Graham had 70, Sikes 71 and Marti 71.

There was a brief service before the start of the final round in memory of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as part of the national day of mourning.

Indoor Acrylic Fiber Court May Be Tennis Factor

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The indoor acrylic fiber court of the Charlotte Coliseum may have been a factor that contributed to the 5-0 sweep by the United States over Ecuador in the Davis Cup American Zone tennis finals.

Pancho Guzman, defeated by Clark Graebner 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 in one of Sunday's two concluding singles matches said: "I feel that I would have beaten Graebner if we had played on clay."

The Americans were beaten 3-2 by Ecuador on clay courts in Guayaquil last year.

The U.S. team next will meet the European champion on the series of preliminary tests for the right to play defending Davis Cup champion Australia later this year.

In the second of Sunday's two concluding matches, Arthur Ashe defeated Miguel Olvera 6-1, 6-3, 6-0.

Carolina League Idle All Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 12 teams in the Carolina League were idle Sunday, with three games being postponed because of the day of mourning in tribute to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Rain caused postponement of the other three games—Peninsula at Wilson, Winston-Salem at Rock Mount and High Point-Thomasville at Burlington.

The Lynchburg at Greensboro Kinston at Salem and Raleigh-Durham at Portsmouth games were postponed because of the day of mourning.

Games tonight: Raleigh-Durham at Portsmouth, Winston-Salem at Rocky Mount, Peninsula at Wilson, High Point-Thomasville at Burlington, Lynchburg at Greensboro and Kinston at Salem.

Harsh Feelings Follow Baseball 'Mourning'

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP)—When Cecil Turner arrived at Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo three years ago, he wondered what he'd gotten himself into.

Turner had grown up in a Washington, D.C., household as one of 12 children and the small California city was, to say the least, different.

"I wanted to leave at first," said Turner, a couple of minutes before he went out to dominate the NCAA's college division track championships Saturday. "It was so quiet. I couldn't get used to it."

But Turner stayed and isn't sorry he did. Besides becoming a world-class track performer, he did so well on the football field that the Chicago Bears made him a fifth-round National Football League draft choice.

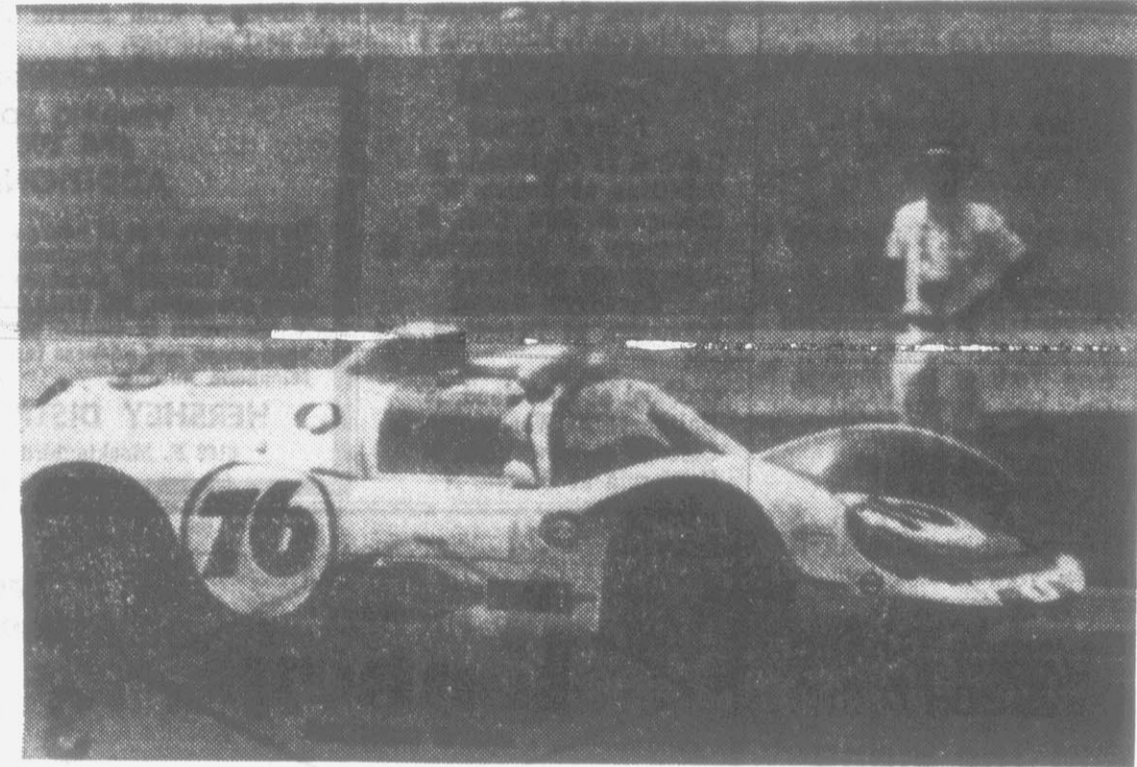

This Friday Turner bids good-bye to track and says hello to pro football when he reports to the Bears' rookie camp where he will be tried both as a pass-catching flanker and as a defensive free safety.

"I'm pretty sure I'll make the team," said Turner, "I like to catch the ball. I can hit too, but catching the ball and scoring is the main thing."

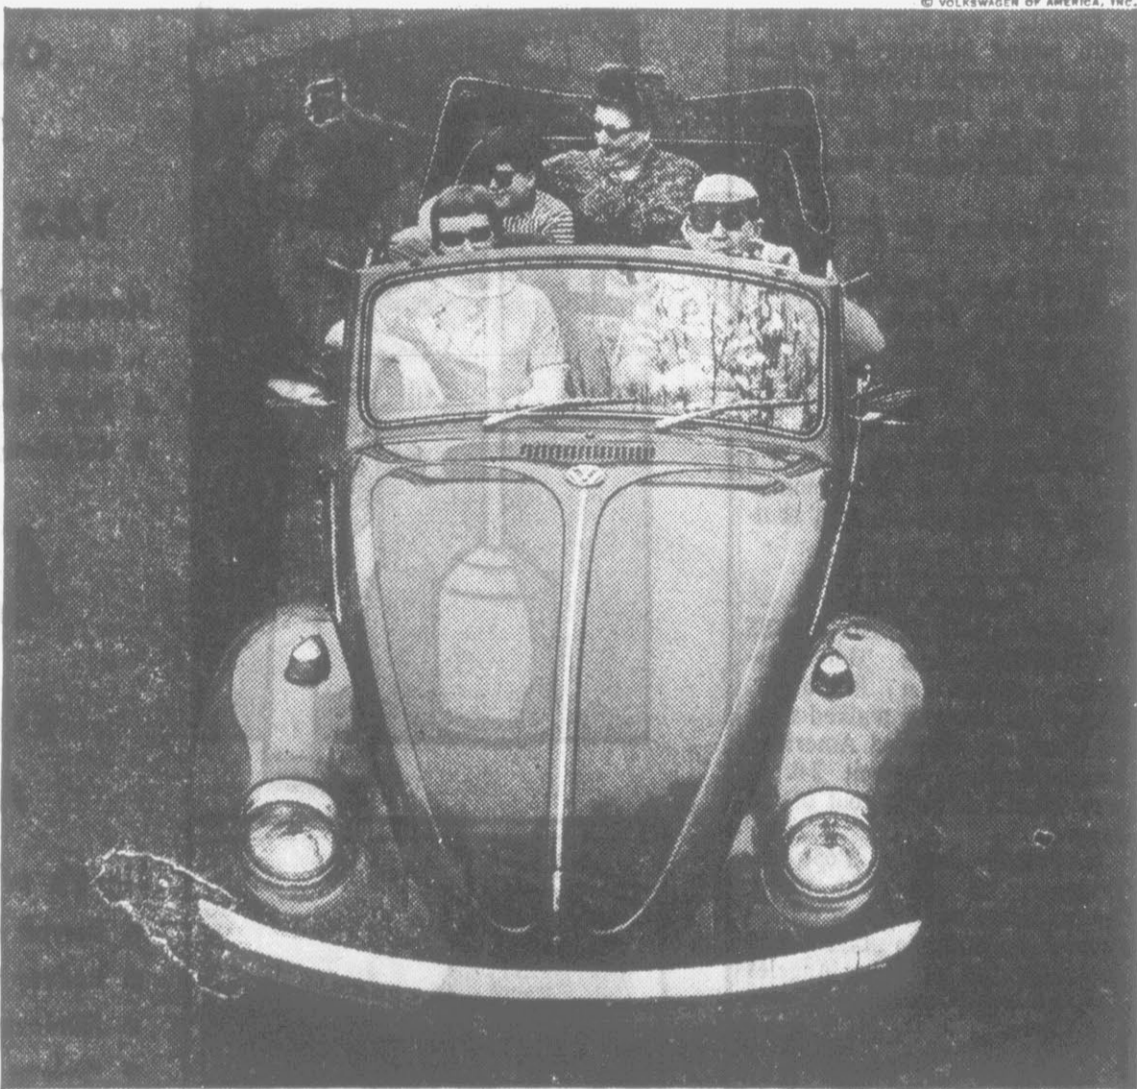

Turner doesn't think his relatively small size—5-foot-11½ and 180 pounds—will hurt him. He points to the success of another track star in football: Bob Hayes.

Turner's victory in the 100 meters at 10.3 and the long jump at 24-3½ as well as a second in the 200 meters and a leg on a winning 440-yard relay team led Cal Poly SLO to the team title at the meet with 62 points.

The University of California at Santa Barbara was second with 48 points; Nevada third with 40 and San Diego State fourth with 33.

HOWMET TX — The experimental turbine car which has attracted considerable attention in national and international road-racing circles this year, was plagued by troubles early in the season. It hit the wall at Daytona and at Brands Hatch, England, Sunday, about 26,000 people watched it run well ahead of a field it had lapped at Huntsville, Ala., to post the first turbine racing victory. It was in the Heart of Dixie National Sports Car Races, with Ray Happenstall at the wheel. (AP Wirephoto)

Take it for a test tan.

How can you lose? Even if you don't like the Volkswagen Convertible, you'll still have something to show for your time.

But first things first. We think you will like it.

You can ride around in the sun for about 27 miles on just one gallon of gas.

And no matter how hot it gets, the engine won't boil over because there's nothing to boil period. (It's air-cooled.)

In fact, our Convertible has all of the legendary powers of our Bug when it comes to economy. It also has a top that's thicker than the top on any domestic convertible at any price. (And that covers a lot of cars.)

The VW top is vinyl on the outside. And leatherette on the inside (to prevent shiny metal bars from showing off).

In between, there's a one-inch-thick hand padding that actually cushions sound.

All in all, this top makes the Convertible as airtight and weatherproof as our regular Sedan.

And that's a nice thing to know.

Unless, of course, you live on the desert.

WELCOMED — The Rev. James Starns (right) with the Rev. William Quick of St. James Methodist Church.

Associate Minister Group To Offer Civic Projects To Arrive Thursday

The appointment of a new associate minister for Saint James Methodist Church was the only ministerial change within the city of Greenville announced this weekend by Bishop Paul Garber of Raleigh.

The Rev. James Starnes and his family were welcomed Sunday by the Rev. William K. Quick and members of Saint James to fill the post made vacant by the Rev. Frank E. Berry who is on a one-year sick leave.

Starnes, his wife and two children will move into the associate pastor's parsonage at 207 Adams Blvd. on Thursday, June 13, which is moving day for the 21 Methodist pastors who received new assignments from Bishop Garber.

A native of Mooresville, the new minister is a graduate of High Point College, class of 1958. He taught and coached at Elizabethtown High School and during this period decided to continue his theological education. He entered the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in September, 1961 and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Atlanta-based Methodist institution in 1964. While in Atlanta he served as associate pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church.

Returning to North Carolina he served for one year on the Bolivia-Supply circuit in the Wilmington District. Since 1965 he has served as pastor of the Salem Methodist Church in Goldsboro.

His wife, Myrtle, attended High Point College. Their children are Kathy, 8, and Jamie, age 1.

As associate pastor, he will share the pastoral ministry with Rev. Quick and will also have direction and supervision of the church's program of Christian Education.

The Frank Berrys will remain in Greenville during their sabbatical year and will live on Jefferson Drive.

Community Action Group To Offer Civic Projects

The Community Action Group, organized recently, will present several projects for the betterment of their neighborhoods, to Greenville officials.

The group is composed of citizens living in the area of Almar Avenue to Tyson Street and from West Fifth Street to Fleming Street.

Projects to be presented to the city officials include: paved streets, well-lighted streets, neighborhood playgrounds, clean streets and vacant lots and the removal of condemned houses.

Officers of the organization are: Robert Bellamy, chairman; Charles Z. Davis, vice chairman; Rev. West Shields Jr., secretary; Mrs. Clara Barnhill, assistant secretary; Rev. Joe W. Hedgebeth, treasurer.

The Community Action Group was formed during a meeting held May 27 at York Memorial AME Zion Church for progress and betterment of their neighborhoods.

Received Ph. D. From Fla. State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — James D. Bassler of Greenville, N. C., received a Ph. D. degree from Florida State University during commencement exercises June 6.

Bassler was one of 1,788 candidates to receive degrees at the graduation, 71 of whom were awarded doctorates.

Dr. Robert B. Mautz, chancellor of the university system, was the speaker.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures will average above normal through Saturday with daytime highs in the 90s. Warm through the period, with precipitation mostly less than a quarter inch, occurring as widely scattered showers mainly in early part of the period.

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

Each year the potential income from the Pitt County tobacco crop is reduced by plant diseases. A large percentage of these losses can be eliminated if good disease control practices are followed on the individual farms.

In order to carry out the disease control practices on your farm, first you need to know which disease is causing the damage to your tobacco crop.

Upon request, we will be glad to visit any farm to help determine the disease or diseases damaging the tobacco plants. Once the disease is determined, recommendations can be made that will help remedy the disease on your farm for future years. There are some relatively new virus diseases attacking the tobacco plants, such as etch, vein binding, and alfalfa mosaic. An attempt is being made to check these diseases in North Carolina before they cause serious damage. We would especially like to be informed of any abnormal leaf diseases in order to determine if any of the new virus diseases are in Pitt County.

Other diseases that cause serious losses to the tobacco crop are black shank, Granville wilt, nematodes, and brown spot. The severity of the damage caused by these diseases can be substantially reduced by using the recommended control practices.

Study Sessions Begin Tuesday

A series of special studies on the "Impact of Racial Tensions" will begin at the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Dr. C. R. Prewett, head of the psychology department at East Carolina University will lead the first meeting in a discussion of "The General Dilemma."

The studies have been planned in response to the feeling that youth and adults can profit from a careful and soul-searching look at problems that confront our society, particularly problems concerning race relations.

On June 25, the church will hold discussions on "The Implications of Poverty," on July 9, "The Educational Aspects of Racial Tensions" and on July 23, "The Pressures of Prejudice."

Murder Intent Charged Ex-Grid Star Jim Brown

By BILL WOODRUFF JR.
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jimmy Brown, former professional football star turned actor, was arrested Sunday night after sheriff's deputies found a woman on the pavement beneath Brown's second-floor apartment.

The victim was identified as Eva Marie Bohnchin, 22. She was reported in good condition at Los Angeles County-University of Southern California Medical Center with minor head injuries and a dislocated shoulder.

Brown, 32, a former fullback with the Cleveland Browns who led the National Football League in rushing, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

He was taken to the West Hollywood sheriff's substation and was later released on $12,500 bond. His attorney, Jules Covey, said he would make no statement until later today.

Deputies Myron Cole and John Teixeira said they were called to Brown's West Hollywood apartment at about 9 p.m.

after neighbors complained of a fight.

Teixeira said Brown attacked him when he and Cole tried to take the actor into custody. When the officers subdued Brown and left the apartment building with him, the officers said they found Miss Bohnchin on patio concrete beneath a second-floor balcony.

They said they found patches of hair and bloodstains in the Brown apartment.

Sheriff's deputies said Miss Bohnchin carried a German passport but declined to give further information on her background. She and Brown are Negroes.

The 6-foot-2, 228-pounder, the NFL's most valuable player in 1965, his final season, was cleared of an assault and battery charge against an 18-year-old girl July 2, 1965 after a 10-day trial in Municipal Court in Cleveland.

Brown announced his retirement from football July 14, 1966 and turned to acting fulltime. His film credits include "Rio Conchos," "The Dirty Dozen,"

"Ice Station Zebra," "Dark of the Sun," "Year of the Cricket" and "The Split."

He was named All-American at Syracuse University in 1956 and won the rushing championship eight of his nine seasons in the NFL.

Brown was acquitted in Cleveland, in 1965 of a charge of assault and battery brought by Miss Brenda Ayres, 18. She accused Brown of slapping her on the face, stomach and hip in his motel room, giving her whisky and forcing her into sexual relations.

Brown denied the charges during his testimony in a Municipal Court trial. He said Miss Ayres came to his motel room at 3 a.m. and refused to leave.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated 80 minutes before returning the acquittal verdict.

Searchers Continue To Hunt Lost 4-Year-Old

HIGHLANDS, N.C. (AP) — Searchers concentrated their efforts today in the Osagee Mountain section for a four-year-old Atlanta, Ga., girl missing since last Wednesday.

The child, Vencencia Schweers, called Cenda, wandered from a home in that section, two miles from Highlands about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

About 900 civilians and military men, locking arms, marched shoulder to shoulder through brushy sections Sunday without finding a trace of the child, daughter of Atlanta banker Edward Schweers and Mrs. Schweers. Red Cross representatives served food to the search parties. Searchers included National Guard units of Waynesville-Sylva, Canton, and Asheville-Hendersonville.

Sheriff Brice Rowland said he believed the child still is in the area from which she vanished. The mother said she recognized the possibility that Cenda might have been abducted.

Sheriff Rowland said he had

Thieves Take $70,900 In Old Coins In Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Thieves took $70,900 worth of rare coins Sunday from a tourist replica of a Spanish galleon, police reported.

The owners of Treasure Ship Inc. said the bandits "left a trail of gold and silver" as they fled. Most of the coins were from sunken ships in Florida's coastal waters.

Some $28,000 of the loot was recovered. A policeman discovered a royal gold doubloon valued at $25,000 where the bandits discarded gloves and a pile of other coins.

A guard aboard the docked vessel, William Frank Stephanak, 62, told police three youths accosted him on deck. He said they pulled a .38-caliber pistol, bound his wrists with tape and forced him into his bunk below.

Methodists Announce Negro Superintendent

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP)—The Rev. James C. Peters, a 43-year-old Negro, is the new district superintendent of the predominantly white Winston-Salem Forsyth District of the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Bishop Earl Hunt Jr. announced the appointment as the closing act of the Conference's final 1968 session Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Peters has served as an administrative officer of a district of Negro churches in the former North Carolina - Virginia Conference which was dismantled when the new United Methodist Church struck down segregation.

He is a resident of Greensboro and a native of Wiggins, Miss., graduating with an A.B. in science from Rust College at Holly Springs, Miss. He obtained his B.D. degree from Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta.

His experience includes four years as executive director of Gulfside Methodist Assembly Grounds at Bay St. Louis, Miss., and six years as pastor and part-time executive secretary of the conference of Upper Mississippi.

A district superintendent is described as "a minister to ministers" and chief administrative officer of a district.

The Rev. Mr. Peters, in his new assignment which was effective Sunday, will supervise 35 churches of predominantly white churches.

In line with the appointment of Peters, Bishop Hunt also named a special biracial committee "to keep the lines of communication open by receiving complaints and suggestions" arising out of the end of segregation in the conference.

The 10,000 members of the former Negro jurisdiction officially joined the 272,000 member white conference with this meeting.

Negro churchmen on the biracial committee are Richard C. Erwin of Winston-Salem, a lawyer, who will serve as chairman; the Rev. Joseph Bethea of Greensboro and the Rev. J. T. Jones of Asheville.

White members are the Revs. Cecil Hefner of Statesville, Kenneth Johnson of Winston-Salem, J. Clay Madison of Greensboro, and Robert M. Smith of Mount Airy.

Bishop Hunt said white congregations in the Winston-Salem area had urged him to name a Negro superintendent for the new district.

Peters said his appointment will set an example for the few remaining segregated conferences in Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama and other Southern states.

"If I fail, of it the merger fails," he said, "the integration movement in the church will be seriously set back."

Peters, who has participated in NAACP marches and demonstrations in Mississippi, said "there's no need to give hell constantly to white people" to force a change of customs. "I think they should have time for redemption," he added.

Two U.S. Soldiers Released By Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk today released two American soldiers as a gesture of homage to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The two soldiers, Jerry A. Tester and Ronald J. Lehmann of the 560th Military Police Company, were aboard a Philippine tug that strayed into Cambodian waters in the Mekong Delta.

They were turned over to the Australian Embassy, which has represented the United States in Cambodia since Sihanouk broke relations with Washington.

There was no immediate indication when or how the men would leave Cambodia.

In a message of sympathy to Sen. Kennedy's widow, Cambodia's ruling prince said: "The royal government, the Cambodian people and I want to express our admiration and our respect to the Kennedy family whose sacrifices for the cause of peace, justice and liberty for the oppressed must not be vain for the honor of the American people and the future of humanity."

Sihanouk's announcement made no mention of releasing the tug or its eight-man Filipino crew. Phnom Penh newspapers had reported they would be treated leniently and would be released.

The U.S. government had protested the detention of the men and said the tug intruded inadvertently into Cambodian waters due to a navigational error.

The Cambodian government rejected the protest, saying the boat passed a "clearly visible" Cambodian border post on the river bank and ignored signals ordering it to turn back.

Earlier the Cambodian government had offered to release the two men in exchange for two bulldozers. Washington made no reply to that offer.

Measure Water Needs Of Crops

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—An electronic recording process that will determine when plants need water has been devised at the Davis campus of the University of California.

Researchers float a tiny, electrically actuated pin on the surface of a leaf, which measures microscopic changes in the thickness of the growing leaf as its cells fill with or empty themselves of water. As the pin rises and falls in response to the leaf's change in thickness, the movement is recorded on a line graph.

"So far, we've always looked at the moisture content of soil in trying to determine when best to apply water to our crops," says D. W. Henderson, irrigationist in the department of water science and engineering. "This is not always economical, and it is not always a true indicator of need. Plants suddenly wilt from high temperatures or severe winds even though the soil has plenty of available moisture."

SNOW COSTS $100 MILLION
OTTAWA—Canadian governments, local and national, spend some $100 million each winter plowing, melting or moving snow from streets and roads.

The mineral production of the Houston area has a value of about $487 million a year.

Veterans Of Normandy Serving In S. Vietnam

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
CAMP EAGLE, Vietnam (AP)—The weatherbeaten sergeant major tilted back his helmet, scratched his chin and recalled that he had been frightened by a cow.

Plenty of soldiers had been frightened by cows and lots of other things on that dark night 24 years ago when they parachuted into Normandy.

These were not the beachhead forces which went in at dawn—these were the paratroopers who dropped behind the Nazi lines hours ahead of the main strike on D-Day, June 6.

They belonged to the 101st and 82nd airborne divisions and not many of them are still around. Only a handful are dodging bullets in Vietnam.

They try and stay in touch and exchange stories—like the rocket the other night that blew up a latrine next to the Colonel's tent. The explosion hurled the toilet seat into the colonel's cot, which luckily was unoccupied at the time, the colonel being in a bunker.

The colonel is Lt. Col. Bernard E. Carr, 45-year-old ramrod-straight provost marshal of the 101st Airborne Division.

In Normandy, he was a green young artillery lieutenant and though his career has since carried him through Korea and Vietnam, nothing has dimmed the memory.

After the war, Carr went back to Michigan State University, studied criminology and came back in the Army as a military policeman. He also had four children—the oldest boy is now at West Point.

Another Normandy veteran with the division has become something of a legend—A. B. Cannon, the grizzled sergeant major of the 2nd Brigade, 101st Airborne.

Cannon, 44, lean and tough from Cisco, Tex., jumped as a "pathfinder" with the 82nd Airborne Division, the pathfinders being those who go first to mark drop zones for others.

He has two vivid memories of the night, both a little embarrassing.

He somehow dropped his weapon coming down and the man who braced him, and then gave him his own weapon, was James M. Gavin, the airborne commander who later became a three-star general.

After the war, Cannon stayed in airborne outfits, made another combat jump with the 187th Regimental Combat Team in Korea and did such unusual things as serving as an airborne advisor in Saudi Arabia.

Sometimes he runs into an old comrade, John Dobransky of Nashville, Tenn., who is now sergeant major of the 2nd Battalion.

These three think they are the only Normandy jumpers now at Camp Eagle, the headquarters of the 101st Airborne Division and the attached brigade of the 82nd Airborne.

"Of course we are proud to have been there," Carr recalled. "But it was just an episode in the war. A lot of good men joined us later."

Senator's Driver Beaten, Robbed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lee E. Morrow, personal driver for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was beaten and robbed in the early Sunday hours after being on duty for 24 hours with the grieving family.

Police said Morrow, 45, was stopped by seven juveniles a block from his Northeast Washington home. They hit him in the face with a stick and took his wallet, containing 50 cents and three gasoline credit cards in Kennedy's name.

Morrow was not seriously hurt, police said.

The youths fled.

Barber Provides Extra Service

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Not only political discussion, but the latest stock market news is offered to customers of barber Herman Herr, whose shop is located on the 14th floor of a local building.

When a patron wants to know what the stock market trend is, porter Sam Powers walks down the hall to a window and trains binoculars on a display window of a brokerage company located two blocks away. The firm posts market changes on a card in its window.

Charge Mother In Knife-Killing

WILLIAMSTON — A Williamston mother of three has been charged with the butcher-knife slaying of her husband on Saturday, according to Williamston Chief of Police John L. Swain.

Mrs. Patricia Ann Rawls, Negro, 320 Railroad St., Williamston was charged with the first-degree murder of her husband, William Henry "Pistol" Rawls, 32.

According to Chief Swain, Mrs. Rawls stated that she was in her yard hanging up clothes when her husband started shoving and pushing the children around. Mrs. Rawls claims that she asked him to stop, according to Chief Swain, and when he did not, she went into the kitchen, got a knife, and then stabbed her husband in the chest.

Chief Swain said investigation showed that Rawls sustained a wound below the collarbone from a knife approximately nine inches in length which severed a large artery leading to the heart, resulting in death.

Mrs. Rawls will be arraigned before a grand jury this week.

Newly-Independent Republic In Deep Trouble

By JOHN LAWTON
BEIRUT (UPI)—The People's Republic of South Yemen, which until independence last Dec. 1 was the British colony and protectorate of Aden, is having severe early birth pains, most of them political.

One source of trouble is Maoism—Chinese Communism—and a graver one is heightening friction with its neighbor, the Republic of Yemen. The Maoist challenge has at least for the present been dampened, if not defeated. But the Aden government's relations with the Yemen republic grow worse by the day.

Trouble between the neighboring republics was not long in starting when South Yemen passed new citizenship legislation that made their Yemeni allies aliens in the country they had actively helped establish by waging guerrilla war against the British.

The law states that a national of the Yemen republic, residing in Aden, is considered an alien unless he applies for naturalization following five years continuous residence in the country. Yemmen resented this "discriminating" law—and said so.

In a sharply worded statement Yemen's minister of unity affairs, Abdo Othman, accused South Yemen of "reneging on past declarations about the equality of all nations, north and south."

Othman reminded the Aden government of the recent past when South Yemen's ruling national Liberation Front (NLF) leaders were holed-up in Yemen, receiving full and unstinted support from the Yemeni government in their war against the British.

"We did not then consider Aden's future rulers aliens in Yemen," Othman said. "But now that they have seized power they at once begin shunning us."

There are other reasons, too, for the soured relations between the "twin" republics. Soon after South Yemen's independence they established portfolios to coordinate moves toward eventual unity of the two countries. But things soon began to go wrong.

The ruling NLF in Aden protested to the Yemeni premier, Gen. Hasson Alamri, the continued presence and activity in Taz of the NLF's arch rival for power, the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, (FLOSY), headed by Abdul Qawee Macakawee and Abdulla ASnag. FLOSY lost the battle for power to the NLF a few days before the British pulled out of Aden last year.

Independence did not change FLOSY's name or its aim, to liberate South Yemen from the NLF. It appeared—the NLF—to have the cautious and tacit approval of the Yemeni government.

Wanted 'Please' In Jury Summons

BRISTOL, England (UPI)—Builder Terence Bryant thinks jury summonses lack courtesy. When he received one, he wrote a letter protesting that it didn't say "please." He refused to show up.

A magistrate found Bryant's letter "very offensive and improper" and fined him 20 pounds ($48).

FLOSY's armed guerrillas have played an active part in fighting against the Yemeni royalists, who have been trying for five years to topple the Yemeni republicans.

To counteract FLOSY's forces in Yemen the NLF sponsored and formed the "Popular Resistance forces" (PRF), ostensibly to fight alongside the royalists. The PRF immediately came under Yemeni suspicion as being basically loyal to the NLF regime in Aden and not to the government in power in Sanaa. After a bloody clash in Hodeidah Harbor the PRF were dissolved and scattered as they became illegal in Yemen.

Then came South Yemeni President Qatan Al Shaabi's charges that the Sanaa regime

Now A Pill For 'Planned Sheep'

HOPLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Now it's planned parenthood for sheep.

The idea is not to prevent a population explosion, but to make certain it happens on schedule, according to a University of California animal scientist.

The scientist, Glen M. Spurlock, says field trials utilizing a hormone similar to the one in the "pill" have shown promise in birth control for sheep.

was harboring hostile forces (FLOSY) in Taz which he considered "an unfriendly act."

The Yemeni government described the charge as a figment of Shaabi's imagination and "fear psychosis."

FLOSY's guerrillas have stayed on in Taz. Sanaa is reported unhappy with the NLF regime in Aden and to want a national coalition uniting the NLF and FLOSY to the government of Aden. This the NLF has rejected outright.

And as if all these sparks erupting between Aden and the Yemeni government in Sanaa were not enough, South Yemen has had to fight a grim battle against Chinese-oriented extremists trying to take over its remote desert provinces.

Tito Promises Invoke Reforms

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Part of the rebellious student movement at Belgrade University agreed Sunday night to return to classes after President Tito promised them educational, political and economic reforms.

Representatives of the Communist party youth and student organizations joined with leaders of the student action committee in adopting a proposal to return to classes. They had given sufficient guarantees that the students' demands would be carried out.

In an effort to end the week-long students' strike, the 76-year-old president said students occupying the university had brought up questions that had bothered him.

"This time . . . I will wholeheartedly endeavor for solutions, and students must help me in this," he said. "If I am not able to settle these issues, then I should not remain in my post."

Tito acknowledged that the government and the ruling Communist party were responsible for much of the unrest among the 40,000 striking students.

He said the party will be purged and that efforts would be made to bring greater unity among party leaders.

The president also promised that those responsible for police attacks on the students last week would be punished.

Tito admonished the students, however, to go back to their studies while the government and party worked out a solution.

Still Greater 'Frankness' For American Films

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-Television Writer
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—American film makers appear ready to take another significant step in the direction of greater frankness in dealing with sex, obscene language and other subjects once considered taboo on the screen.

This is part of a continuing process that began when Hollywood decided it could no longer attract an audience with the fairy-tale morality imposed by a puritanical production code. One of the first acts of the new president of the Producers Association, Jack Valenti, was to revise the code into more general terms.

Since the 1966 revision, vast changes have been evidenced in the film treatment of sex, nudity and language. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" introduced profanity and tough talk about sex relations.

"The Pawnbroker," "Hawaii" and other films exposed female breasts. Such actors as Charlton Heston ("Planet of the Apes"), Michael Parks ("The Bible"), Terrence Stamp ("Far From the Madding Crowd") and Paul Newman ("Cool Hand Luke") were seen nude from a rear view.

"Blow-Up" featured two nude teen-agers in a romp with David Hemmings. Bedroom scenes became more and more explicit. Not all these films were granted the production code seal, but the turn downs have been rare. Most of the films have been categorized "Suggested for Mature Audiences," a new designation promoted by Valenti.

How much further can American films go in dealing with once censored matters? A glance at new and forthcoming projects gives an indication.

Rex Harrison and Richard Burton have been named to star in "Staircase," based on the London and New York play about two homosexual barbers. David Wolper has purchased "Couples," John Updike's best seller that depicts in utmost detail adultery in suburbia.

Twentieth Century-Fox is planning a film of "Myra Breckenridge," Gore Vidal's sex-filled satire with a hero-heroine who changes gender.

Paramount has announced the future filming of "Tropic of Cancer," the Henry Miller novel long banned from this country as pornographic.

"Candy," the book described as a pornographic satire, has recently been filmed with an all-star cast. At least two new films now entering the theaters feature the use of a vulgar expression for excrement; they are "Rosemary's Baby" and Burton-Taylor's "Boom."

The British-made "I'll Never Forget What's 'is Nafe" was recently condemned by the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures, successor to the Legion of Decency, because of the film's depiction of an "unnatural" sex-act.

The Catholic office, which has been notably more lenient than its predecessor, decried "yet another instance of the game of one-upmanship as it is played today by some movie makers in the name of free expression."

Many of the new film projects seem unable to pass even the weak-kneed code as it stands today. There are indications that the Producers Association may reduce the restraints.

"I believe further revision of the code is necessary, though I don't know if I'll be able to achieve it," Valenti told me recently.

"While I don't necessarily condone the increased frankness in films, it is increasingly apparent that the public wants such films. How else can you explain the amazing business being done by a picture like "The Fox"?"

Taken from a D. H. Lawrence novella, "The Fox" depicts a lesbian attachment between Sandy Dennis and Anne Heywood. The action includes a kiss scene between the two women and a female masturbation scene.

Valenti has been sounding out opinion in the film industry for a classification system. Most European countries have a government or industry-enforced system of limiting certain films to adult patronage.

American producers have always resisted such a plan. It wasn't needed in the era when nearly all films could be seen by family audiences. Now certain films are labeled as "Suggested for Mature Audiences," but the designation is not noticed by many parents and there is nothing to stop theaters from selling tickets to minors.

Nursing School Grad Is Presented Award

AWARD WINNERS . . . Miss Henderson and Miss Hudson with Dr. Myrtle Irene Brown, dean of nursing at Duke.

At Least 12 Die In N.C. Wrecks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 With at least 12 persons having lost their lives in traffic accidents during the weekend, North Carolina's highway death toll has mounted to 223—or 85 more than for the same period last year.

Accidents in which three persons were killed near Durham, two near Cherokee and two just south of Charlotte helped run up the weekend total.

Three young men were killed in the Durham wreck, caused when the driver apparently lost control. The car left the highway, struck a utility pole and overturned.

The victims were Larry William Greenhill, 18, and Richard Allen Carbtrey, 15, both of Rt. 7, Durham, and Michael Andrew Lassiter, 20, of Rt. 2, Chapel Hill.

A head-on collision of two cars near Cherokee killed Clayton W. Arch 18, of Rt. 1, Whittier and Darlene McCoy, 17, of Rt. 1, Bryson City.

The drivers of two cars died in a head-on collision about eight miles south of Charlotte. They were Marshall Lee Morris 49, of Charlotte and John Milton Knox, 54, of Rock Hill, S.C.

Other weekend victims were Tresa Midget Glenn, 14 of Salvo, killed when struck by a car on the Outer Banks; Mrs. Leslie Caulder Perkins, 43, of Charlotte; Russell Warren McHone, 43, of Rt. 4, Mount Airy; Herman Coleman Crawford, Jr., 18 of Winston-Salem; and George Edward Walters, 25, of Rt. 2, Laurel Hill.

Woman Elected Post Commander

By CHARLES H. GOREN
 (© 1968 by The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
 Q. 1—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠9 6 4 3 ♡A 6 ♦9 5 2 ♣K Q 7
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♦ Dble. Pass ?
 What do you bid?
 A.—You have an average hand in high cards (10 points) and a five-card suit, which make game prospects very bright opposite a takeout double. The method of conveying this bit of information is to bid one more than necessary. The proper call is two spades.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠Q 7 3 ♡J 6 4 ♦A J 10 7 3 ♣A 8
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—A raise to four hearts is clearly indicated. Holding three trumps to an honor and a short suit, there can be no doubt as to this choice. A bid of three no trumps, merely because you have touchy stoppers in all the suits, would be highly improper.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as dealer you hold:
 ♠A Q ♡A Q 6 4 2 ♦A K 4 ♣A 6 5
 What is your opening bid?
 A.—Despite the wealth of high cards, an opening bid of two hearts is not recommended. It is fractionally short of the prescribed requirements. Our choice is for a bid of two no trump. If partner has nothing he is permitted to pass. But if he has a bare smattering of high card strength he will raise to three.

Q. 4—You are South, East-West vulnerable, and you hold:
 ♠10 7 3 ♡A K 6 5 ♦K 9 4 3 ♣K Q
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♣ 1 ♦ ?
 What do you bid?
 A.—There cannot be much doubt that you will have a very fine play for game, but there may be richer stakes available. Against the adverse diamond contract, it is reasonable to estimate that you will win five tricks, three in high cards and two in trumps. If partner can win the expected three, you will score a plus of 500 points which is more than the value of your game. Double.

DURHAM—Miss Martha L. Henderson was one of two students to receive special graduation awards from the Duke University School of Nursing Friday.

The Greenville girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Henderson Sr.

She was named recipient of the Duke University School of Nursing Alumnae Award which goes to the student in the graduating class who has demonstrated outstanding leadership, scholarship and nursing skill.

Miss Annette Hudson of Washington, D.C., received the other special award, the Mosely Award, presented to the senior who has shown the most skill in the art of nursing throughout her program at Duke.

Before transferring to Duke in 1965, Miss Henderson attended Meadert College in Raleigh for two years. She participated in the Edgemont Community Learning project during her junior and senior years and was a member of Santa Filomena, the senior nursing honorary society.

Both girls are listed in the current edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Soap And Water Riot Deterrent

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A National Guard officer believes he has devised a harmless method for cleaning up riots with soap and water.

Lt. John Graf, 24, of the 101st Calvary's C Troop, tried out his idea Sunday with men of his command and it proved to be a billowing success.

"You're totally disoriented and you feel weightless," Graf said as his men floundered in the foam during test at a training reservation near suburban Meadowbrook.

Graf of Trevose, Pa., worked out plans for his bubble gun with his employers, the Pennsylvania Box and Lumber Corp. and the Walter G. Kidde Co. of Bellevue, N.J.

After two weeks of work and an outlay of $18,000, they devised the foam cannon. Mounted on an armed personnel carrier, the gun shoots under pressure a stream of liquid soap and water that forms suds.

POPULAR BREED
 NEW YORK—Cocker spaniels were the most popular breed in America from 1936 until 1953, when beagles took over. Poodles now are the most popular.

Goren on BRIDGE

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠Q 7 ♡A Q 4 ♣A 5 3 ♣J 10 7 5 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Partner has shown a preference for spades over no trump and very likely has a six-card suit. Since you have only one diamond stopper, and partner may be short in that suit, we recommend a raise to four spades.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠K Q 9 4 ♡A K Q 3 ♦A K ♣K
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Since there can be little concern about the texture of the trump suit, there is at the moment only one pertinent factor, and that is the number of aces held by partner. If he has three, a grand slam can hardly be missed. If he has two, a small slam should be a virtual sure thing. If he has but one, five should be safe, and if he has none I'll be surprised. There is a remote possibility of getting overboard, but it is too remote for serious consideration and the recommended call is a Blackwood bid of four no trump.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠Q J 6 ♡Q 10 3 ♦K 9 7 3 ♣10 4 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♣ Dble. Pass 1 ♦ Pass 1 NT Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Since partner has doubled and then bid no trump, his hand must be at least as good as an opening one no trump bid. You have eight points and should, therefore, raise to two no trump.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠A K Q 10 6 2 7 ♦K J ♣A J 10 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South
 What do you bid?
 A.—We recommend the minimum bid of four spades. If partner has ever so little you should be able to make it, and surely you would not expect to be down more than one trick. A mere overcall of three spades would be inadequate.

The Worry Clinic Educational Insurance For A Moral Society

Dr. Combs opened my eyes to a new type of educational "insurance" for the future of our moral society. It involves color movies and Bible courses that are available for churches, schools and private groups. In fact, last year 70 TV stations carried these programs. They help us harness our idealism!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-588: Dr. Roy T. Combs was a former State Auditor of Indiana, but now is a VIP in a New York City firm of efficiency experts.

"Dr. Crane," he telephoned me not long ago, "I wish you could come over to a banquet at Indianapolis."

"For our Educational Communication Association is having a dinner meeting."

Dr. Combs then told me about the religious films and television programs which that organization sponsors.

So I made a special trip to Indianapolis for this dinner meeting.

Miss Ella Harlee is the dedicated president and she told us about the 70 television stations that release the inspiring religious programs of this non-profit ECA group.

Last year, moreover it produced 15 religious films — more than any other organization in America.

Banker Clarence Elbert, of Indianapolis, is now the newly elected head and Kurt Panzer, legal genius and philanthropist, is a main "spark plug."

These inspiring color films are available for release anywhere over educational television.

And a most inspiring movie film called "God and Man in the Twentieth Century" can be rented for use by churches or schools.

Another interesting facet of the splendid work of ECA is the series of Bible courses available.

All branches of our Armed Forces employ them, too.

While we see so much evidence of delinquency and Godless behavior all over America and the world, too, it is refreshing to find that practical antidotes are already developed and in wide use to combat this erosion of the soul.

The films and teaching aids developed by ECA are available to all churches, YMCA and other moral organizations that wish to implement their altruism so that our oncoming youth will be inspired.

William James, pioneer American psychologist, urged that we thus harness our idealism to help make the world better.

Far too many people, said Dr. James, feel exalted, exhilarated and uplifted but remain in that lofty state so long that it becomes only an emotional binge.

If we are to fulfill Abraham Lincoln's admonition, we must get into constructive action.

Lincoln thus said he hoped his biographers could say of him that:

"He planted roses where thistles grew before."

In a somewhat similar vein, Horace Mann, Father of our Public Schools, urged:

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity!"

If your church or Women's Club or other educational group wishes to learn more about these dramatized Bible films and Study Courses, write direct to Ella F. Harlee, Suite 704, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

Next to hearing in person such inspirational leaders as Bishop Sheen, Billy Graham, Oral Roberts and Dr. Peale, these films will be a visual tonic to your soul and are especially slanted to youth.

They are not sectarian or directed to any single religious denomination but are a non-profit form of insurance for idealism.

These inspiring color films are available for release anywhere over educational television.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady to 50 cent higher. Tops of 19.25-20.25 Kinstone, New Bern, Benson, Mt. Olive, Newton Grove, Albertson, Lumberton; 19.50-20.00 Rocky Mount; 19.25-20.00 Wilson; 19.00-19.50 Bethel; 19.50 Salisbury, Selma; 19.25 Siler City, Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was steady. Price of live poultry at the farms was 14 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced irregularly this afternoon, despite the tightening of market credit by the Federal Reserve Board.

"A margin increase never changed a trend," said one analyst.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was up 1.93 at 916.81.

This was lower than its best reading of the morning when it was up about 3 points.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 150 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The ticker tape was late for a spell in the morning as heavy trading continued after last week's historical record in volume.

Except for some of the higher-priced issues, gains and losses ran generally from fractions to around a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 4 at 342.5, with industrials up 1.3, rails up .1, and utilities off .4. The Federal Reserve Friday raised margins for stock buying to 80 per cent from 70 per cent in an expression of concern for the amount of credit employed in the current stock-market boom. This allows only 20 per cent of a stock's price to be carried on loan.

Goodrich, down about 1/2, was the volume leader by a slight lead over Safeway Stores which gained a fraction. Goodrich recovered partially from an initial loss of 3 1/2 on a block of 79,600 shares.

Safeway was boosted toward the head of the list by a block of 86,400 shares at 27 1/2, up 3/4.

Among other very active issues, Sanders Associates rose about 2 1/2, Gulf & Western about 1 1/2, Seeburg and American Airlines about a point.

National Airlines, Araconda and McDonnell Douglas were active fractional losers.

Du Pont bolstered averages with a 4-point jump. IBM slumped about 3 points, and Control Data eased 1 1/2.

Homestake picked up a couple of points, Xerox more than 4, Boeing, Chesapeake & Ohio and General Dynamics a point or so.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

U.S. Churches Crowded On The Day Of Mourning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Churches throughout the nation were crowded Sunday on the national day of mourning for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Speakers at many memorial services called his assassination a symptom of a sickness in society.

Commenting on the slaying of the senator: his brother, President John F. Kennedy, and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Archbishop John F. Dearden told 1,200 worshippers in Detroit:

"Violence has come to be accepted in the United States. Violence has settled on us like smog sits on some of our industrial cities.

"We pray God to open to us an understanding of the way to dispel this atmosphere of violence that does ill to the mind and heart."

At an ecumenical Mass for Kennedy in Philadelphia's Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Philip J. Dowling called for a renewed effort to realize peace on earth.

A special memorial Mass was celebrated by Roman Catholic Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York in St. Patrick's Cathedral, where final rites for the senator were held on Saturday.

In Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing eulogized Robert Kennedy as he had his brother 4 1/2 years ago.

At the White House, evangelist Billy Graham conducted private services for President Johnson and his family and some members of the staff.

In Rome, Pope Paul VI, speaking to thousands in St. Peter's Square, termed the slaying of Kennedy "madness and loathing and therefore a stimulus for an everlasting and healthy spiritual reaction."

At Hyannis Port, Mass., airport Sunday more than 200 mourners stood in silence as Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the late senator, returned from his burial near his brother in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, where nearly 60,000 persons visited the gravesite.

In Washington Cathedral's memorial service, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre asked:

"Who taught Jew to fear Arab and Arab to hate Jew?"

"Who set black against white and sundered one Asian nation after another in twain? Who failed to inter the hatred that is in America: In the correspondence of every public figure, in the latest apathy of every private person, in the selfishness of our whole system which has today so alienated the young?"

Ministers Noted Kennedy Slaying

A number of church congregations in the Greenville area yesterday heard their pastors mention the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Rev. William Quick, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church asked his congregation, "What has happened to the American Dream?" Rev. Quick went on to say that, "In the light of massive campaigns of civil disobedience, the assassination of two of America's best known political figures—Martin Luther King and Robert F. Kennedy—in less than two months, economic boycotts, and the poor people's march, what's happened to that dream?"

The Rev. Robert L. Dasher, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer, said that it was "a time to ask ourselves of the nature of society, men and ourselves

"Whether or not you politically agreed with Robert Kennedy, one thing among many, that John Kennedy and Robert Kennedy have given me is that man can give himself for others, that even with wealth and the temptations to simply enjoy the wealth, man can still serve others."

"It meant something to me when Robert Kennedy said last week to a group of pre-medical students that we must live up to community responsibility; that we must become involved on a level higher than selfish interests."

At the Hooker Memorial Church, the Rev. Robert Huffman led a special prayer for the Kennedy family.

Rev. Charles D. Edwards, pastor of the Arlington St. Baptist Church referred to Kennedy briefly in asking the congregation, "What is the spiritual state of our nation?"

Safe In Pastor's Study Looted

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The theft of $140 in silver from a safe in the pastor's study was reported Sunday by Judson Baptist Church.

The Rev. R. E. Whitley, who discovered the loss Sunday morning, told officers he was last in his study last Wednesday. There was no sign of a break-in, he said.

Nearly 86 per cent of Texas rice is produced in the Houston area.

French Starting Crucial Election Campaigning

PARIS (AP) — France's 13-day election campaign opened officially today with more than 2,000 candidates in the field for the 487 National Assembly seats to be filled June 23 and June 30.

Nominations closed at midnight for the election President Charles de Gaulle says is the most vital in France's history.

De Gaulle dissolved the Assembly on May 30 at the height of the worst crisis of social turbulence France has known since World War II.

Although the campaign did not open officially until today, De Gaulle fired the opening gun Friday with a radio-TV appeal to his countrymen to rally around him in defense of the Republic.

"Everything, truly everything, depends on it," he declared. "Everything is at stake."

The president had previously tried to make the central issue of the campaign his regime vs. "totalitarian communism." But since then all political leaders outside the Gaullist camp have been hotly disputing this.

The political leader of France's ultrarightists, former Premier Georges Bidault, urged Frenchmen Sunday to vote against both the Communists and the Gaullists.

"The spectacle of present-day events shows that Gaullism is no alternative to communism," Bidault told a news conference after his return from six years in exile.

There was no sign of a break in the strike tying up most of the country's big metallurgical factories although the Peugeot auto plants were to reopen today.

High schools and universities also were still closed by strikes of both students and teachers.

Premier Georges Pompidou warned university students they would have to re-establish relations with his government if they wanted the educational reforms they have been demanding. The students and the teachers unions so far have refused to have anything to do with the government and called for the overthrow of De Gaulle's regime.

Hundreds Gathering For SREB Sessions

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—More than 300 educators, governmental officials, civic and business leaders began arriving in Atlanta today for a two-day regional convocation of the Southern Regional Education Board.

The meeting, to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, marks the 20th anniversary of the organization.

Among those attending will be nine Southern governors, six former governors, 45 college and university presidents, 20 state legislators and representatives of about 50 national and regional education associations.

South Carolina Gov. Robert E. McNair, SREB chairman, will preside. Other governors attending will include Dan Moore of North Carolina; Albert Brewer, Alabama; Lester Maddox, Georgia; John J. McKeithen, Louisiana; John Bell Williams, Mississippi; Buford Ellington, Tennessee; Mills Godwin Jr., Virginia, and Hulett Smith, West Virginia.

As registration for the meeting got under way, Dr. Winfred L. Godwin, a director of the SREB, announced the organization has received new grants totaling more than $500,000.

Godwin said a $250,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York will finance a program to assist public junior colleges in meeting the needs of Negro students while grants from three federal agencies — totaling more than $250,000 — will be used to expand the student internship program.

The internships combine academic work related to the student's field of concentration with research and service projects which meet the needs of local agencies concerned with social and economic development, Godwin said.

Coast Guard To Drag For Drowned Boy

ATLANTIC BEACH, N. C. (AP)—The Coast Guard was to begin dragging operations today in an effort to recover the body of Dennis Johnson, 13, of Havelock, who drowned Sunday south of Atlantic Beach.

Ninety-five persons were rescued from the rough surf during the weekend in the wake of tropical storm Abby.

Young Johnson was swimming with an uncle when he began struggling in the rough water and called for help.

Lifeguards had closed Atlantic Beach to swimming at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, but reopened Sunday to an estimated 9,000 sunbathers.

Ben Horton, chief lifeguard at the beach, said his group had rescued 86 persons during the weekend. The Salter Path rescue squad, which was summoned when the Johnson boy drowned, rescued nine.

SUCCEMBED SUNDAY KANSAS CITY (AP)—Morgan Boone, great-great grandson of frontiersman Daniel Boone, died Sunday. He was 68.

Wallace Party's Petition Slated

RALEIGH (AP)—Supporters of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace were expected to present a petition this afternoon to state elections board secretary Alex Brock asking that Wallace's name be placed on North Carolina's presidential ballot.

The Wallace workers, headed in North Carolina by Reed Stubbs of Charlotte, say their petition has 18,000 signatures of persons certified as registered voters. A minimum of 10,000 certified signatures is required to place a third party on the ballot.

Wallace's American Independent Party must win election board approval, which may come at a meeting Wednesday, before it can hold a convention, nominate presidential electors and name the party's candidate.

Wallace completed the requirements four years ago to get on the ballot in North Carolina but withdrew his name before the general election.
