Dodd Principal Proponent Congress Considers Two Tougher Gun Curb Laws High Court Supports Stop And Frisk Needs

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, accused for years of handcuffing the police, has bowed to the judgment of the cop on the beat.

As a practical matter, said eight of the nine justices Monday, he can't be expected to run off to a judge for a warrant every time his practiced eye picks out suspicious behavior.

Moreover, the eight agreed, it is only reasonable that he pat down the suspect or suspects if he fears his questions may be answered with a bullet or a knife-sweep.

"Such a search is a reasonable search under the Fourth Amendment," the justices concluded, "and any weapons seized may properly be introduced in evidence against the person from whom they were taken."

Chief Justice Earl Warren assigned himself the job of announcing the landmark criminal law decision, as he has so often in the past.

It is precisely the government's interest in "effective crime prevention and detection," Warren said, that justifies stopping people on the street for investigation even though the cop doesn't have probable cause to make an arrest.

And to support the thesis that the cop has the right to frisk the suspect, Warren footnoted his opinion with FBI statistics of police officers killed and wounded in the line of duty: 335 killed from 1960 through 1966; 23,851 assaults on police officers in 1966 alone.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, which has just passed a gun-control bill labeled by President Johnson as too weak, is now considering two tougher measures.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a principal proponent of gun-control, sponsored the bills Monday. They would require federal registration of all firearms and outlaw mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Congress sent to the President last week a measure which would ban mail-order sales of pistols. But Johnson, speaking in strong terms following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, said a tougher measure is needed to keep guns out of the hands of irresponsible people. He specified a need to ban sale of long guns through the mails.

As Congress continued to debate gun control, a widespread movement appeared to be developing in which people are turning in their guns to local authorities.

And some stores have stopped selling guns and ammunition, with one dime store saying it wouldn't even sell toy guns any more.

There were also calls for action from local and state officials as the drive for gun controls was stepped up following the Kennedy shooting.

Dodd's federal registration bill would cover all cases except in states that have their own registration laws. Sources said the only such states are New Jersey and Hawaii.

The penalty for having an unregistered gun under the Dodd bill would be a $2,000 fine and two years in prison.

Dodd's other measure would ban the mail-order sale of rifles. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., sponsored this measure earlier this year but the Senate rejected it, going along instead only with the ban on mail-order pistols sales.

Also introduced in the Senate in the wake of the Kennedy assassination was a bill that would make it a federal crime to kill, assault or kidnap a Congress or Cabinet member.

Johnson has not indicated whether he will sign the bill containing the ban on mail-order pistols sales.

ed the first swimming program for the city.

A joint swimming program sponsored by the Recreation Commission, the police department, the street department and ECU will be in effect, beginning Monday.

Under the direction of Alton Little and Dr. N. M. Jorgensen of ECU, the program will provide the opportunity for supervised swimming for children regularly attending any one of the city's 10 playgrounds or parks.

The program will operate Monday through Friday, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The police department will provide a bus for transportation of the children from the playground to Memorial Gym and the street department will provide a driver for the bus.

State Board Of Education Approves Pitt Tech Change

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The State Board of Education has approved the conversion of Pitt Technical Institute to a community college.

Dr. Robert Lee Humber, chairman of the Board of Trustees of PTI said today he was notified of the Board of Education's action in a letter from I. E. Ready, director of the Department of Community Colleges.

PTI's trustees voted to request community college status for the technical institute at a June 3 meeting.

According to Ready's letter, the approval came at a June 6 meeting in Raleigh.

The approval, however, is subject to several provisions.

According to Ready, the community college status is "subject to the approval of the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission and also subject to meeting any requirements of law for the local financial support required."

The state education board will forward the request to the Department of Administration for submission to the advisory budget group along with a "B" budget proposal for operating the college parallel programs, Ready reported.

Budget requests as set by the State Board of Education for the 1969-70 fiscal year total $35,000 for operations and $75,000 for equipment. The request for the 1970-71 year was set at $163,850 for operations and nothing for equipment.

PTI is scheduled to operate next year under a $950,000 budget as a technical institute. The money for the community college expansion would be in addition to that sum.

According to Humber, the request to become a community college was made "after examining carefully the needs of Pitt County citizens."

The local technical institute will "be able to render greater services demanded by local needs" as a community college, Dr. Humber explained.

"First," he said, "it will permit students now taking courses at Pitt Technical Institute to obtain credit for this work if they desire to further their preparation for life." At present, academic credit is not given by institutions of higher learning for work taken at technical institutes.

As a community college, students taking academic courses would be able to transfer credit for the courses to any institution of higher learning in the state.

Humber cited this example: "A person taking electronics needs a basic education in physics. Such courses are college parallel and are today being offered at PTI. But students cannot get credit for them at other colleges." If PTI becomes a community college, such credit can be transferred.

A second major reason for moving to community college status, the board chairman noted, is the fact that students enrolled at the local school do not have to meet SAT (Stanford Aptitude Test) score levels required by most colleges and universities. A student may enter PTI without taking the SAT and if his record is good, can then transfer to a

Working On Heart Transplant Patient, Philip Blaiberg, Has Liver Complication

Extradition

LONDON (AP) — U.S. legal experts worked today on plans to take James Earl Ray quickly and safely back to the United States for trial while police on both sides of the Atlantic continued their investigation to learn whether Ray had help in his four-nation flight.

American authorities took the first formal step toward extradition Monday night by obtaining a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Some legal experts suggested the British government might speed up the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien. But other lawyers said there is a strong tradition against using this procedure as a substitute for extradition.

The 40-year-old escaped convict was held in Brixton Prison after his two-minute appearance Monday in Bow Street Court on charges of carrying a forged passport and a loaded gun, the charges on which he was arrested at London Airport Saturday under the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Ray at his first court appearance Monday was assigned a British lawyer at his own request and ordered held without bail for another hearing June 18 on the passport and gun charges.

Saigon Again Target Of VC Rockets

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong switched to daytime bombardment of Saigon today, slamming some 30 big rockets into the heart of the city during the morning rush hour. The barrage killed at least 19 Vietnamese civilians and wounded 106.

It was the heaviest casualty toll—and the first major daytime bombardment—since the Viet Cong began almost daily shelling of the capital 38 days ago. The barrages have killed at least 128 persons and wounded 619.

The six-foot 122mm rockets exploded in the vicinity of major government buildings but did little damage to most of them. However, one landed on the roof of the government communications headquarters and knocked out most telecommunication lines abroad, including lines leased by a number of American firms.

Life guards will be obtained by Dr. Jorgensen.

The program will operate on the following schedule: Monday, South Greenville; Tuesday, Greenfield Terrace and Williams Park; Wednesday, Third Street and Meadowbrook; Thursday, Hillsdale, Guy Smith and Woodlawn; and Friday, Elm Street and Peppermint.

Stipulations placed on children participating in the program are that each must have completed the first grade or be six years of age.

From 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., Alton Little will teach a swimming class for those who can not swim.

Each child will be covered by liability insurance during the seven-week program.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient, received emergency treatment for a liver complication today, Groote Schuur Hospital announced.

In London, Dr. Christian N. Barnard, who headed the surgical team that gave Blaiberg a new heart Jan. 2, said Blaiberg has hepatitis and his condition is "not critical."

Barnard, on his way to Cape Town after visiting the Netherlands, said he talked by telephone with doctors at Groote Schuur Hospital who gave him a report on Blaiberg's condition. Hepatitis is an inflammation of the liver.

"His condition is not critical," Barnard told newsmen. "But I am disappointed that this happened. I have not given up hope."

Blaiberg, 59, returned to the hospital for routine tests June 4, five months and two days after he received the world's third transplanted human heart. He was transferred Monday to the special sterilized suite he had occupied after the operation.

Meanwhile Britain's heart transplant patient, Frederick West, 45, was suffering from a chest infection that developed three days ago. But the National Heart Hospital in London said he improved slightly Monday night and the improvement was maintained today. West was operated on May 3.

Blaiberg received his new heart in the Groote Schuur team's second transplant. The first was performed on Louis Washkansky Dec. 3 but he died 18 days later of pneumonia.

Since the historic first transplant operation on Washkansky, 20 other heart transplants have been performed around the world. Six of the recipients are still alive.

Doctors had consistently reported Blaiberg's condition as "excellent" since his Jan. 2 operation. He recovered steadily after the surgery, and was sent home one March 16.

Since then he has returned to the hospital twice a week for checkups and spent a week in the general ward last month for routine medical tests.

"I am feeling fine," he said then. "There is no cause for concern."

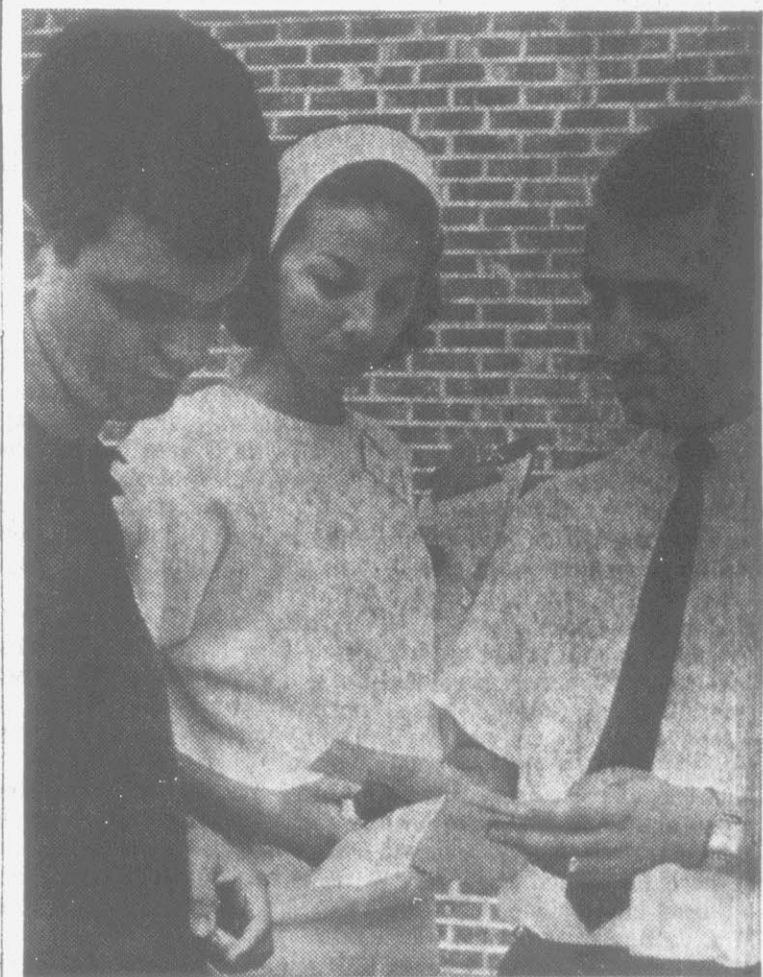

A week after his discharge from the hospital Blaiberg started driving his own car in city traffic, and Barnard commented that his patient "now enjoys all the activities of a normal man."

The Greenville Recreation Department and its assistant director, Boyd Lee Jr., have received praise from vice-president Hubert Humphrey for conducting a program of recreation for handicapped children.

The praise came in the form of a telegram to Lee yesterday. The telegram read: "Mrs. Humphrey and I are pleased to have this opportunity to extend our greetings to the staff of Greenville's Day Camp for retarded children, and to express our personal appreciation for the fine work you are doing on behalf of these youngsters.

"Your program is extremely important to the children's development and well-being, and I hope that other communities in North Carolina will be inspired by your example to undertake similar efforts. Such programs

Paris Peace Negotiators Back To Table Wednesday

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — The possibility of new moves by the United States and North Vietnam focused attention today on the deadlocked Paris peace talks as negotiators prepared to go back to the conference table after a six-day recess.

The meeting Wednesday will be the eighth between U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Xuan Thuy, since the talks opened May 13.

While no one on either side here expects any major breakthrough for some time, perhaps months, Western diplomats expect occasional tactical maneuvers by Hanoi and Washington of importance to the long-range peace outlook.

Harriman returned Monday night from a weekend trip to the United States to attend the funeral of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. He also conferred with President Johnson and if he came back with any new ideas they would presumably begin to show up in the discussion Wednesday.

U.S. diplomats also hope to get some indication soon, perhaps Wednesday, of the significance of the assignment to Paris of a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party politburo. Le Duc Tho arrived a week ago to serve as "special counselor" to Xuan Thuy. He did not attend last Wednesday's meeting, the explanation being that he was tired from traveling. He is expected to show up Wednesday.

Each side is trying to wear away the position of the other by a combination of patience, propaganda and diplomacy—all based on what is happening in the war. With no major victories on either side on the battlefield the positions in Paris have held firm.

From 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., Alton Little will teach a swimming class for those who can not swim.

Each child will be covered by liability insurance during the seven-week program.

The commission also approved a plan to obtain written permission from the parents of the children participating in the program.

City Councilmen reported to the board that they are attempting to take steps to alleviate the "public display" at Green Springs Park. The police department is making regular checks of the park, requesting all who are not picnicking to leave.

Director Alton Little reported to the commission that a total of 6,924 persons attended the South Greenville Park for a daily attendance of 239. The total includes 479 persons taking part in the Hughes program.

At Elm Street Park, which had an average daily attendance of 191, a total of 5,148 participated in planned activities, with 4,883 having reservations, making a total of 10,031. The average did not include 3,534 students using reserved recreation areas, 57 in Alcoholics Anonymous, 400 at Senior Reunion and 980 riding the train.

Little reported that the Elm Street total combined with the South Greenville total gave an attendance record of 21,926 and an average attendance of 812 per day using recreation facilities under supervision.

Husband Using Automobile As Plaything Is Serious Business

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen this problem in print before, but you have no idea how much it means to those of us who are faced with it.

My husband thinks his car is a plaything. It is unbelievable how immature he becomes when he gets behind the wheel.

For example, he'll pick out a car on the road, and try to "race" with it. Or he'll drive with no hands on the wheel, and steer with his KNEES. Or if he sees a pedestrian slowly crossing the street he'll speed up and aim his car right at him, to scare him. He also tries to frighten other drivers by seeing how close he can come to them without actually hitting them. Believe me, we have had some pretty close calls.

He does these things with our four impressionable youngsters in the car, and they seem to enjoy it. If I say one word to him, he flies into a rage, so I don't dare to open my mouth. What should I do?

TREMBLING

DEAR TREMBLING: If the most you can do is "tremble" when your smart - alecky husband risk the necks of his family, not to mention his own and strangers', you have a bigger problem than you think. Call your local police department and report the boob. Give them his license number, and the description of his car and ask them to look out for him on the pretense that they've received "anonymous" complaints. Of course they can't touch him until they catch him breaking the law, but if he drives as you say he does, they'll soon nab him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a very nice girl (I thought) for about 6 months. About a week ago I asked her to marry me. She said she couldn't give me a definite answer until I talked to her father.

Well, I made arrangements to talk to her father and this is what happened. He took me in to another room and closed the door. He didn't pull any punches. He asked me how much money I made, how much I had saved, how much insurance I had, and what I owned. I told him. The whole thing didn't take 5 minutes. Then he told me I was not meant for his daughter, and showed me the door. On my way out, I passed by my "nice" girl, and she didn't say a word. She just gave me a blank look. I have thought this over and I am wondering now if maybe I wasn't lucky to have it happen this way. Signed,

STILL WONDERING

DEAR STILL: No doubt about it. Everyone was lucky.

DEAR ABBY: In regards to the mother who came home early one Sunday afternoon and caught her teen-age son and the young Scandinavian maid "flagrant delicto".

You advised the mother to tell the boy about the birds and the bees. It would appear that the maid has already done that.

If the mother cans the maid, I would like to hire her. I love Scandinavian cooking.

Four Years Of A Rough Assignment

Gen. William C. Westmoreland is leaving his command of United States forces in Vietnam after leading our military efforts for 52 months.

Seldom has an American military man faced a more difficult assignment in the face of such bitter criticism from home.

His was the worst frustrating assignment that a military man can face: That is to fight a limited war in hopes of wearing the enemy down to the point where a meaningful truce could be negotiated.

At this point it is not clear whether or not this purpose has been accomplished. While it is true that talks are underway in Paris, there is nothing yet to indicate that they will be successful. In all likelihood there will not be until the political situation in the United States becomes more clear.

At any rate, Gen. Westmoreland is leaving Vietnam on an optimistic note. He said he was leaving the country completely convinced that "our side is getting stronger whereas the enemy is getting weaker."

There can be no doubt that Gen. Westmoreland and his advisors have made some miscalculations during the course of the long and inglorious Vietnam war. The surprise Tet offense earlier this year is an example of this.

On the other hand we agree with him that his decision to advise the South Vietnam army rather than bring it under joint allied command was a correct course. It may be even now that allied troops have furnished the precious time that South Vietnam's armed forces needed to become an effective fighting unit. And this may be America's best hope of honorably disengaging from the tragic conflict.

War is a series of surprises and some strategy that Gen. Westmoreland has tried has been effective in Vietnam; other strategy has not.

Leading the nation's fighting men in a unpopular war, with a divided nation back home, and with military objectives limited is not the best assignment for any military man to undertake.

Gen. Westmoreland has done the job as well as possible, however. He deserves his appointment as Chief of Staff of the Army.

RALEIGH — Higher interest rates and relatively fatter bank balances will give the state an unexpected $10 million or more extra return on its general and highway fund investments by the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

1965-67 and $15 million in general fund reversions helped immensely toward solving a serious state fiscal problem.

Upward Course

As yet—still a year from the close of the fiscal biennium—no responsible official has ventured an estimate of how much if any general fund surplus will accumulate in the treasury. Surpluses of various amounts—from a few million to nearly $100 million—have become traditional in the North Carolina budget-making process, and at times the estimating of amounts has become a political issue.

Unofficial guesses are that there will be a surplus for budget-planners to begin with. The report of at least a $10 million average in investment return is considered a good sign.

Another sign was the report of a healthy, upward surge in business activity in the state during the first quarter of this year.

Zoo Study Tour

The state's zoological garden study commission will tour eight or nine locations across the state next week visiting prospective sites and hearing presentations.

Some of the tour, on the long haul between Wilmington and Asheville, will be aboard the state-owned airplane, Carolina Cardinal.

For example, the study group will fly from Raleigh to Wilmington for a tour and luncheon, then return from Wilmington to Sanford by plane. The next day, it will go from Raleigh to Asheville and then from Asheville to Shelby by plane.

The rest of the four day tour, including Charlotte, Statesville, Greensboro and Asheville locations, will be by bus.

Two-Price System

A spokesman for major cotton textile companies, Harold W. Whitcomb, warns of a possible reversion to the "old two-price cotton system" which he says would further harm U. S. cotton producers.

Under the two-price system, says Whitcomb, cotton was "priced out of a considerable share of the U. S. fiber market because mills were forced to curtail consumption." The two-price system subsidized sales of cotton to foreign countries which meant that U. S. mills had to pay a support price $42.50 per bale higher than paid for the same cotton by foreign mills. Many U. S. manufacturers switched to synthetics. The two-price system was abandoned in 1964.

If it returns, says Whitcomb, "we would have no choice but to forsake cotton as quickly as possible." Whitcomb is chairman of Fieldcrest Mills.

And, conceivably, this "wind-fall" could be doubled by the start of the 1969-71 biennium.

If so, $20 million or so in unappropriated balances would be a tidy nest egg for the new state administration and the 1969 legislature.

At present, deputy State Treasurer Ray Moore calculates that return on the state's General Fund investments, at almost unprecedented rates of interest, reached $10,450,000 (m) during the first 11 months of this fiscal year.

Comparisons Made

When the present 1967-69 budget was drawn, the figure was general fund investment return for the fiscal year was only $12.5 million.

For all of fiscal 1966-67, the general fund return was only $12,338,000. The state's highway fund brought in enough to push the 1966-67 total to $18,179,000 (m). But it must be remembered that the highway fund return is committed for specific purposes and does not revert into the general (operating) fund.

Moore believes the general fund return for this fiscal year will turn out to be about $19 million.

Revised Estimates

It is recalled that at the start of the present state administration, when Gov. Dan K. Moore went before the 1965 General Assembly facing certain budget problems he was able to produce some revised General Fund budget estimates.

In full, the revised estimates totaled $63 million more than the figures used by the Advisory Budget Commission in making 1965-67 budget recommendations.

Included in the estimate was more than $5 million increase in return on the state's General Fund investments than had been projected originally. This along with a $43 million increase in General Fund revenue estimates for

In The Meantime, We Are Looking To 1969

What? No young lady in the Miss North Carolina Pageant to represent Greenville or Pitt County this year?

The prospects of a State Pageant without a local representative are not very exciting, but we suppose that that is the way it will have to be.

Greenville has known some glorious days so far as the state pageant is concerned. They were climaxed 10 years ago when Betty Lane Evans was crowned Miss North Carolina.

Some great pageants have been held here in the years since. And there is hope for the future. The Jaycees, who sponsor the pageant say that a new series of Miss Greenville Pageants will begin here next fall. At that time another Miss Greenville will be chosen. She will have several months to prepare for the Miss North Carolina Pageant and the Jaycees feel she will be better prepared.

In the meantime we'll be looking forward to the 1969 Miss North Carolina Pageant.

NEW YORK (AP) — The holdup man aimed his gun at the cashier and the cashier threw up his hands. This activated a radio transmitter hidden in a special belt the cashier was wearing.

Instantly a little computer, attached to a telephone elsewhere in the store, dialed the police. Seconds later a tape message related to the police the name and address of the store being robbed.

Next the computer dialed the telephones of nearby stores and told their proprietors—again by activating a tape recording—to jot down a description of the robber and his vehicle as he left the store.

In this instance the thief was caught before reaching his automobile. Even if he had escaped immediate apprehension the police still could have had a description, a license plate number and other identifying information.

Should the thief—or perhaps a dishonest employee—have slipped in while the store was closed he might have been picked up by radar waves that

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

Some years ago a humorist began making such a success that his name became almost a household word. As actor and writer he gained great popularity. But he seemed to have no capacity whatsoever for making friends. In fact, those nearest to him had no personal use for him whatsoever. The latter part of his life was given over to business ventures and he accumulated a very sizeable fortune. When he died, however, and his body was taken from central Manhattan to a cemetery some miles away there was not a single car following the hearse.

There can be success, and "success." This man was successful in the second sense of the term. He left a vast fortune. He kept thousands of people in stitches for several decades by his witty writing. He was influential in his field. But he had no close friends.

Too infrequently do we ask ourselves what is the meaning of a successful life. Some people of great wealth are successful and others are not. Some people of humble origin achieve greatness, although most of these remain in the status in which they were born. There are some people who like the proverbial bull in the china shop cause plenty of excitement but bring upon themselves neither praise nor affection.

A successful life would appear first of all to be a gracious life. Again it would appear to be a life above suspicion of any grave evil. Third, it would involve the employment of some powerful variety of faith, usually religious faith.

Local Firm Has Increase

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Home Building & Loan Association which was held in the mayor's office Friday evening, the officers made a very flattering report as to its growth. It was stated that the present charter permitted for a total of $2,500,000 authorized capital and that outstanding shares now amounted to $2,300,000. The officers were instructed to make application to the Secretary of State for an amendment of the charter increasing the authorized capital to $5,000,000.

The Sham Is Emerging

Deadlines are the curse of a columnist's life. There comes an hour when copy has to be produced. Nothing of the future can be foretold. One can only turn to another topic entirely, and hold the shocking events of Los Angeles for later reflection.

In the interim: Resurrection City. This is the tattered, demoralized collection of plywood A-frames knocked together by the "Poor People's Campaign" as the state - set for their spring assault on Washington. To those persons who are devoutly committed to this venture, doubtless this littered village symbolizes the misery they hope to see relieved.

Many such dedicated men and women exist. Their labors, and their sincerity, have been abundantly described. Yet it may be that too much has been said of the sincerity, and too little of the sham. A vast deal of this affair is sham.

What about these husky, well-fed marchers? When the campaign began, back in mid-May, a number of authentically poor persons were on hand—old men, toothless, inarticulate, whose bewildered eyes mirrored the drabness of their lives. Most of them appear to have departed now. The mule team, having served its television purposes, seems to have been abandoned for the time.

One now finds in Resurrection City a very different breed of "poor." Many of them are chronic welfare types—tough, insolent, sullen, uncommunicative. The blacks have come primarily from the cities—New York, Detroit, Chicago. They have brought to Washington little more than their warm bodies and a sense of undefined and nebulous resentment. The attitude is essentially negative: Down with the system! Down with injustice! But what, specifically, do they want? Down with the system! Down with injustice!

The whites, for the most part, are graduate student types, blonde and bearded and bearded. Beside the militant blacks, they are both literally and figuratively pale. They seem healthy enough, if they are in fact "poor" to obtain work that would lift them out of poverty. Heaven knows there are jobs available in Washington, honest jobs, sufficient to put all these birds of passage to work. This is the farthest prospect from their minds.

For the truth is that many of the demonstrators have made poverty their business. They have become the professional poor. They loaf indifferently around their shantytown, so many extras sent (Continued On Page 5)

Other Editors Saying Regulation Inevitable

(Sanford Herald)

We have heard the arguments pro and con on the banning of guns by mail. They seem to boil down to the issue of personal freedom in the concept of the original Constitution and in the spirit of pioneer America as opposed to the issue of control at some level of who can gain access to a gun.

Now is an emotional time to make a final decision.

"Today the nation cries out to the conscience of the Congress," said President Johnson in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. "Criminal violence from the muzzle of a gun has once again brought heart-break to American." No one can deny that.

As direct result of the assassination perhaps, Congress did act on a gun control provision. It would ban the mail-order sale of handguns, restrict over-the-counter sales to state residents 21 and over, curb imports and clamp down on traffic in military-type weapons. But rifles or shotguns were not included. This caused President Johnson to decry the anticrime bill as a "watered-down" version.

It is interesting to note that lawlessness caused America to regulate access to guns federally before. In the 1930's, Congress moved to deprive gangsters of machine guns and sawed-off shotguns.

The anticrime bill "package" has other features. These include provisions to permit court-supervised wiretapping in the investigation of major crimes and to overturn certain Supreme Court rulings that extend the rights of criminal suspects in regard to confessions and eye-witness testimony; and authorization of a $400 million, two-year program for improvement of local police forces, including intensified riot training (opposition to which appears virtually nil).

Our personal feeling is that as basic as is the right of the free American to guard his home and family personally from danger without, there must come the rational realization that somebody is bound ultimately to get hold of a gun who is not going to and restrictive purpose intended, and that he must be regulated.

Group Quits Stage

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON —While the Humphrey and McCarthy camps hope for support from friends and followers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the route the Kennedy men seem most likely to take today is a withdrawal from politics for the foreseeable future.

Their feeling was best captured a few hours after Kennedy was shot down in Los Angeles when a trusted political aide who for years had served the Kennedy family turned to a companion and said: "If this is what the political process means, the hell with the political process."

Perhaps this bitterness will pass in the weeks ahead, but nobody can be sure. What is definite is that the Kennedy camp's mood today is radically different from what it was after the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

In 1963, there was an immediate desire to regroup and return to the business of governing the nation. Not long after the President's murder, Robert Kennedy was leading discussions with intimates at Hickory Hill about his and their political futures. There is no interest in any such exercise today.

The able lieutenants who have had two leaders shot from under them—such as Lawrence F. O'Brien and Kenneth P. O'Donnell—show no interest in continuing the game and, barring a shift in mood, plan to absent themselves from the political race of 1968.

The one man who could regroup the Kennedy forces, Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, has no such intention at present. As the last surviving Kennedy brother and head of the clan, he feels deeply his responsibility to all the fatherless Kennedy children. At the moment he feels neither responsibility nor ambition for higher public service.

This certainly rules out any attempt for the Presidential nomination this year by Teddy Kennedy, and high-level members of the Kennedy team concur in the inappropriateness of such a move. More to the point, it makes the prospect of Kennedy's taking the Vice Presidential nomination less than likely. Here again, present advice of the Kennedy men seems to be a flashing red light.

The short-term impact seems in Vice President Hubert Humphrey's favor. To overhual Humphrey's huge lead in national convention delegates, Sen. Eugene McCarthy would need full support of the Kennedy family, staff, and supporters.

Without such a Kennedy switch to McCarthy, those party pros backing Bobby Kennedy will go to front-running Humphrey. For instance, candidates for convention delegates running in the New York primary June 18 who had been pledged to Kennedy now will run as uncommitted delegates and, as party regulars, likely will wind up with Humphrey.

Yet, the long-term impact of the exit from politics, at least temporarily, of the Kennedy men should evoke no cheers from the Humphrey camp. Even before the tragedy in Los Angeles, Humphrey roused little optimism among political realist as the party's putative nominee against (Continued On Page 5)

Setting Steel Contract Pattern

By ELMER ROESSNER

The agreement between the United Steelworkers of America and the Aluminum Company of America will set a pattern for settlement between the Steelworkers and the 11 big steel companies.

To accept less would seem a step backward to union negotiators.

Steelworkers will demand a vacation bonus, just as the Alcoa workers got: $30 a week. This a new departure in union demands and can quickly pay for vacations. And at today's costs of vacation, steelworkers can see reasonableness in such a demand.

Steel companies will be asked to pay a wage increase of at least 56 cents an hour, or 6.5 per cent, whichever is higher. They will also seek the same improvements in pensions, hospital insurance, unemployment benefits and other fringes won from Alcoa.

And the steel companies, upon settlement, it will announce price increases just as Alcoa did.

This is not to say there won't be a strike. The steel industry and their customers are in a position to take one and a strike would make a price rise seem more reasonable.

ELMER ROESSNER

Other Look-Aheads

The Truth-in-Lending Law will make all consumer credit a little more expensive. Credit granters will have to do more extensive paper work, devise new forms for billing and sales contracts, drill sales-people and writers on how credit terms are to be described, and buy more legal advice.

Expect vigorous lobbying for changes in the law to allow Americans to own gold. Dealers in bars and foreign gold coins would count on a big boom in sales if gold were freely sold. The cry that only supposedly free Americans are the only people in the world forbidden to own gold would stir some Congressmen. A few government officials are said to favor such a change, but others oppose it. It would be a constant reminder to the people how much the dollar has shrunk in value.

New taxes on the flying public may result from federal action to bring airports up to date. Bills in Congress would increase taxes on fares, aviation fuel and an 8 per cent tax on air-freight way-bills. Many airports are considering boarding fees and higher fees on concessionaires. Levies on flight insurance already make that protection cost 50 per cent more than it would otherwise.

Cheaper Housing, Tastier Citrus

Savings up to 15 per cent in home construction can result from new techniques developed at the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory. They involve use of five scientifically designed, factory-produced components for roof and walls. Components use low-cost lumber and high insulation.

A new process to improve the flavor and aroma of citrus products has been developed by the Department of Agriculture. It provides ten times as much flavor from citrus peel and processing liquids. Aggie scientists have also developed orange and grapefruit tablets.

Almost Three-Fourths Of County Grads Plan To Further Education

Almost three-fourths of the graduates of Pitt County high schools this year plan to further their education, either by attending college or entering trade or technical schools.

Of the 782 graduates, 60 of them, 36 per cent, will attend colleges and universities, according to Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, guidance director for Pitt County schools.

Another 279, or 38 per cent of the graduates, will attend trade and technical training courses or enter military service. The other 26 per cent of the young people leaving high school as graduates plan to take up various occupations.

Of the 260 students attending colleges and universities, 63 county graduates will attend East Carolina University. Thirty-four students will attend Lehigh Community College in Kinston, while 20 students will attend A&T University. A total of 15 students have enrolled at Atlantic Christian College, while 15 students will attend North Carolina College at Durham, 12 the University of North Carolina, and 10 graduate will attend Wayne Community College.

Many of those graduates who are planning to attend colleges and universities have received scholarships or other forms of financial aid.

According to Mrs. Lewis, scholarships given Pitt students by institutions of higher learning this year will amount to $157,503 over a four-year college career period. Loans and work-study awards made to graduating seniors this year could amount to $150,708 over a four-year term.

Usually, the guidance counselor explained, scholarships and other financial aid arrangements are awarded to the students on the basis of need. Counselors working at the various schools aid students in determining what they will do after high school graduation and in many cases can assist students in applying for scholarships at colleges they wish to attend.

Grads Took Time To Nab Youths

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The latest class of officers from the Scottsdale Police Academy was delayed on its way to graduation. The rookies took time out to capture a fleeing youth who had just disarmed a sheriff's officer and threatened to kill him.

Maricopa County Sheriff's Sgt. Tom Bartlett said he was questioning a youth in the back seat of his patrol car, when the boy pulled a gun from under a folded coat on his lap, disarmed him and fled on foot.

As the youth ran past the boy's carrying the cadet graduation class, the officers-to-be clambered out and surrounded him.

POTHOLE PATCHING

PORTLAND, Wash. (AP) — To speed the spring chore of repairing potholes and to make neater patches with a minimum of jackhammering, according to Omak Industries, Inc., many city highway maintenance departments are using mobile saws equipped with diamond-edge blades cut around weather damaged sections of pavement.

also would have activated the computer.

In fact, the devices that flooded the room with radar waves might also have activated a camera that would have recorded every move of the intruder for playback later by security officers.

You'll seldom hear very much about these ingenious devices, mainly because too much publicity about a security product is guaranteed to reduce its effectiveness. But as crime and violence increase, so do the number and type of products to combat them.

Some of these items were shown to the trade recently at the International Security Conference, a gathering that impressed on the uninformed layman not so much the security he could find in these items but, instead, the elaborate extremes that man must use today to protect himself from other men.

A records storage firm sought business for its complex of vaults drilled into a Utah mountain, with the reminder that on Aug. 14, 1814, the British burned Washington, destroying the public records.

It indicated that such chaos could be avoided no matter what the devastation, presumably even by an atomic bomb, because "the overburden of granite—200 feet of solid rock—will withstand any force known to man."

A manufacturer of "unbreakable" glass invited anyone to swing a baseball bat at a huge pane of its product.

Another firm promoted "Chemical Mace," suggesting to law enforcement officers "its incapacitating formulation can be projected directly into a crowd or, if necessary, can be 'rained' on their heads."

But the trend in security products now seems to be evolving away from those that meet force with force. Fortress-like strength, such as in old banks, loud alarms, violent weapons are giving way to silent, unseen electronic devices.

from Central Casting, awaiting a call from the producer-director to conduct another march. On stage, gang! The fervor is trumped up, and away they go.

The artificiality does not mean that the fervor is not bruising. It is. This past Tuesday afternoon, the marchers cornered Attorney General Ramsey Clark and subjected him to a half hour of shrill and arrogant abuse. Perhaps Clark did well to hold his temper in the teeth of this taunting, but it would have been refreshing, all the same, for Clark simply to have walked out on his tormentors. They had not come for rational discussion of grievances; they had come for a game of bear-baiting. Clark had the part of the bear.

How much longer, we are beginning to wonder, will the government tolerate these truculent invaders? By what right do they disrupt the orderly processes of society? The right of dissent, it is said, the right to petition for redress of grievances. These are surely precious rights. Yet they are not absolute rights. A hard line still distinguishes legitimate speech from disorderly conduct. The right of dissent does not embrace a right indefinitely to impose upon the peace and dignity of this capital.

The longer these loafers hang around, the more they will alienate those political forces that presumably they hope to win to their cause.

Richard M. Nixon. Now, in the joyless atmosphere following another Kennedy assassination, the candidate of happiness seems ill-suited to combat the dark-visaged Nixon.

What could change this, think Humphrey boosters, would be a Hubert Humphrey-Ted Kennedy ticket—attracting to Humphrey the pro-Kennedy sentiment generated by the new assassination. But apart from Teddy's personal wishes, some Kennedy men feel that such a ticket contradicts their dead leaders' feeling that the Johnson-Humphrey leadership was inappropriate for 1968.

Kiwanis Grabs Top In North State Loop

The Kiwanis took over first place in the North State League yesterday by beating the Jaycees, 1-0, in the second game of a doubleheader. In the first contest, the Lions had knocked the loop into a three-way tie with a 15-2 romp over Coca-Cola, which had been in first alone.

The Kiwanis hold an 8-3 record, a half-game ahead of the Lions and Coke, both 7-3. R. C. Cola and the Optimists are tied for fourth with 3-7 records, while the Jaycees are in last place with a 3-8 record. The loss by the Jaycees eliminated them from title contention. The Optimists and R. C. can at best only tie for the title, and a single loss would eliminate them.

In the first game, the Lions pushed over five runs in the first inning. Danny Allen was hit by a pitch and moved up on a wild pitch. Wayne Elks singled and he also moved up. Mike Lewis walked, loading the bases. Harold Crawford reached on an error, scoring Allen, and Lee Moore walked to force in Elks. A walk to Ronald Moore brought in Lewis, but Crawford was caught in a fielder's choice hit by Jimmy Averette. Jimmy Buck walked to score Lee Moore and Allen was hit again, scoring Moore with the fifth run.

In the second, Coke got its first run. Jeff Barber reached on an error and scored on Bobby Green's single.

The Lions pushed four more runs in the fourth, making it 9-1. Elks singled and Lewis got a hit. Both advanced on an out, and Lee Moore's single brought in Elks. Ronald Moore doubled to drive in Lewis and Lee Moore, and Jimmy Averette reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Ronald Moore.

The fifth saw six more Lions cross the plate. Lewis reached on a fielder's choice and moved around to third on a pair of wild pitches. Crawford walked as did Lee Moore. Ronald Moore reached on a fielder's choice which scored Lewis. Averett singled in Crawford, and both the Moores scored on a double by Allen, along with Averett. A pair of wild pitches brought Allen around with the final run.

Coke picked up its other run in the sixth. Bobby Kittrell reached on an error, advanced on Billy Pittman's single, and scored on an out by Connie Cannon.

Winning pitcher Lewis allowed just three hits as he struck out nine and walked two. Elks was the only hitter on either team with more than one hit, getting two for the Lions.

The second game turned into a pitching duel between a pair of Jaycees and a pair of Kiwanis. It didn't end until the bottom of the seventh inning.

Dave Mathias and Chris Garrett teamed up to toss for the Jaycees, giving up seven hits, while striking out nine and walking seven. For the Kiwanis, Chris Manning and Kelly Heath put together a three-hitter, walking two and striking out six.

The lone run in the game came across in the last of the seventh. With two out, Al Heath walked, and James Mayo was hit by a pitch. An error let Heath take third, and he scored on a single by Manning, ending the game, and putting the Kiwanis into first place.

Robert Boles and Manning each collected two hits for the Kiwanis.

Financial Crisis For College Sports

CHICAGO (AP) — A financial crisis is developing on the college athletic front, the National Collegiate Athletic Association reported Monday.

Marcus Plant, of the University of Michigan and NCAA president, said "New ways and means must be found to finance our expanding activities."

The report is the third of a series repeated every fifth year, and the 10-year record shows finances are being strained by increases in costs and the pressure for more facilities and participation opportunities.

"There are obvious limitations on gate income as a support factor because of increased student bodies, practical limitations on fieldhouse and stadium capacities and also a practical ceiling on the price of tickets," said Plant.

"The main reason for the report," said Plant, "is to bring to the attention of the colleges a good picture of what the situation is and where the problems lie. There is no immediate or tangible result foreseen. But there has been some evidence of necessary cost cutting by schools, like reduction in squads."

Plant cited the possibility of general college revenue or governmental assistance in the building and maintenance of facilities "as a means of dealing with what could be a financial crisis in the colleges' expanded sports, physical preparedness and recreational programs."

The survey, packed with statistics, is to be distributed to college administrators and has been filed with Vice President Hubert Humphrey and the U.S. Congress.

No Repeat Of Score Troubles

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Golf Association is taking extra precautions that there will be no repetition of the De Vicenzo in the Open Championship, starting Thursday.

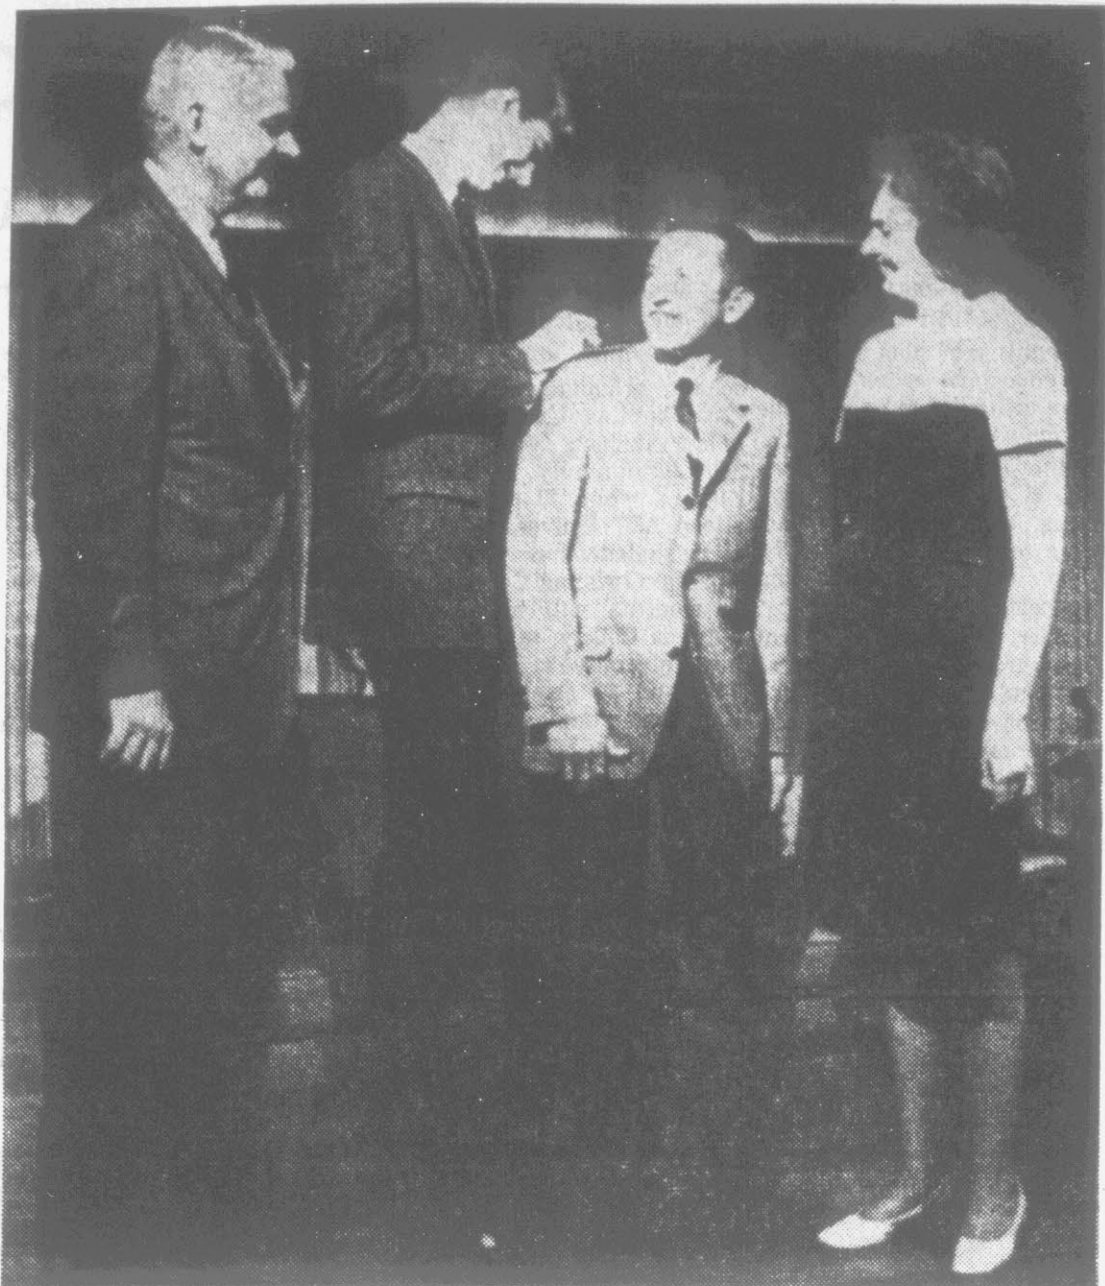

Tightest security measures—including an off-limits tent and armed patrolmen—will be taken to protect players rechecking their score cards at the 18th green at the Oak Hill Country Club.

"This is simply a refinement of what we have been doing since the Jackie Pung incident in 1957," said Joseph C. Dey, executive director of the USGA,

"But the player will be given every chance to check his card in privacy."

Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina blew his chance to tie Bob Goalby for the Masters crown at Augusta in April when he negligently signed for a four on a hole on which he had taken a three in full view of television's millions.

The mistake caused him loss of a stroke, just enough to knock him out of a playoff for the title, worth $25,000 in cash and supposedly worth $1 million in other opportunities.

Maris Limpes Away After Powering Cards To Win

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris' tender heel probably hurts a lot less than Phil Niekro's scraped knuckles after their most recent duel at 60 feet, 6 inches.

Maris limped out of St. Louis' starting line-up Monday night with a bruised heel after smashing a two-run third inning homer that knocked out knuckleballer Niekro and powered the Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

After the ailing outfielder's third homer snapped a 2-2 tie, southpaw Larry Jaster and rookie reliever Wayne Granger made it stand up as the National League leaders beat the Braves.

The New York Mets nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 10 innings on Tom Seaver's four-hitter and Al Weis' run-scoring single; San Francisco whipped Pittsburgh 8-0 behind Juan Marichal and the Chicago Cubs downed Cincinnati 4-3. Houston and Philadelphia were idle.

In American League action Cleveland thumped Oakland 7-2, Baltimore trimmed Washington 4-1 and the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Yankees 5-2. California and Boston were rained out. Detroit and Minnesota had the day off.

Maris' homer, which followed a double by Lou Brock, saddled Niekro with his fifth loss in 10 decisions while inflating his earned run average to 4.19.

The Cardinals scored two second inning runs on singles by Cepeda, Tim McCarver and Mike Shannon plus a ground out. Deron Johnson and Bob Tillman tagged Jaster for homers in the bottom of the second, tying it 2-2.

Granger replaced Jaster, 5-2, in the eighth with two on and one out, gave up a run-scoring single to Hank Aaron and then got Joe Torre to bounce into a double play before checking the Braves in the ninth.

Seaver stopped the Dodgers' winning streak at seven games in a tight duel with loser Don Sutton, who allowed only three hits until the 10th. Then Ron Swoboda walked, took third on Kevin Collins' single and scored the game's only run on Weis' single to center.

State Comeback Nails Salukis

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — "That's the way it's been with us all year," said Sam Esposito, North Carolina State coach, after his club upset Southern Illinois 7-6 Monday night in the College World Series first round.

"First one boy, then another has been picking us up every game," said Esposito, a major league infielder for 10 years.

Third baseman Chris Cammack led the Atlantic Coast Conference champions this time. He was 3-for-5, including a run-scoring double, and scored the tying run in the ninth when he crashed into catcher Randy Coker, knocking the ball loose. Fred Combs then singled home the winning run.

St. John's of New York also did what it has been doing all year, winning with outstanding pitching. Tom Sowinski, senior righthander with an expressionless face, shut out Harvard 2-0 on four hits.

This lowered his season earned run average to 0.74 and made his record 10-1. He has given up only seven runs, all earned, in 86 innings. St. John's, 24-8, now has won seven straight, the last five on shutouts.

The first round of the NCAA's double-elimination tourney will be completed tonight, with Oklahoma State's Big Eight champions meeting Texas at 5:30 p.m., CDT, and top-ranked Southern California facing Brigham Young at 8. Harvard meets SIU in a loser's bracket game at 2.

OSU will send senior lefthander Bill Dobbs, 6-2, against James Street, 9-3, Texas' talented sophomore. USC will start Bill Lee, 11-3, against BYU's Ken Crosby, 5-2.

"BYU is tough," fretted USC coach Rod DeDeaux. "Crosby shut us out on two hits in today.

March."

Southern Illinois, ranked No. 2 behind USC in the final national coaches' poll, was making an impression with its white shoes, bat girls and a 4-1 lead in the seventh, when the pitching collapsed.

SIU's 11-game winner, 6-foot-5, John Susce, was watching in the stands. He was called in, donned a teammate's uniform and shoes—one size too small—and got the third out after North Carolina State tied it 4-4. SIU came back to get a 6-4 lead, then fell apart in the ninth.

The Salukis made three errors, two by third baseman Barry O'Sullivan, who had smashed a two-run homer, inside the park, in the sixth.

SIU, Harvard and N. C. State are competing in their first College World Series. SIU used all its top five pitchers, but Lefty Jerry Paetzold faced only one batter and is the likely starter today.

Return To Normal As Indians Whip Oakland

By OIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland Manager Alvin Dark let Lee Maye, Stan Williams and Mike Paul go back to doing what comes naturally, and it all turned out wonderfully for the Indians.

Last Friday night, Paul was pitching in relief against Detroit with a one run lead and retired the first two hitters in the ninth inning. But Dark moved him to first base and brought Williams out of the bullpen.

Williams allowed a single. Paul returned to the mound and Maye went to first base and fumbled a ground ball. The next hitter slammed a triple that beat the Indians.

Monday night, with Maye in the outfield, Williams the starting pitcher and Paul sticking to the mound in relief, the Indians barged by Oakland 7-2 and held onto second place in the American League.

Supreme Court Next In Line For Cassius

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The way has been cleared for Cassius Clay, the boxer stripped of the world's heavyweight title when he refuse to accept induction into the armed forces, to appeal his federal court conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Charles Morgan Jr., an Atlanta attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said Monday after the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected a request for an "en banc" rehearing of Clay's conviction, that he would appeal to the nation's highest court within 30 days.

The Supreme Court is expected to adjourn sometime this month until early October and presumably won't act on the Clay appeal until the fall.

The nine justices may simply refuse to review the five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine given Clay after his conviction in U.S. District Court at Houston, Tex., last June 20.

It could be as late as next spring before any decision is reached if the Supreme Court decides to review the case.

"It's all in the hands of Allah now," said Clay in Chicago, adding that he wasn't surprised about the New Orleans Appellate Court decision.

A normal three-judge panel of the 5th Circuit Court had upheld the conviction in an opinion issued here May 6. It rejected the claim by Clay, who prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, that he was a valid conscientious objector to military service because he is a minister of the sect.

His attorneys asked the entire 13-man appeals court to review the appeal "en banc." Mondays one-sentence opinion issued here simply denied a rehearing.

In a highly publicized move April 28, 1967 at the Houston Induction Center on April 28, 1967, the Louisville, Ky., native refused to take the traditional one step forward which signifies induction into the Army.

Coastal League

The Giants downed the Dodgers, 7-3, in last night's Coastal League action.

Winning pitcher Lonnie Barnhill struck out 13 batters and led his team with two hits.

The loser, Pope, also had two hits, pacing the Dodgers. He struck out nine.

Maye keyed a three-run first inning burst with a triple and Williams protected his advantage until the seventh when Paul bailed him out of a jam that cut the lead to 4-2. Dark let Paul stick to pitching the rest of the way and the Athletics never threatened again.

The victory cut Detroit's first-place lead over the Indians to three games and ruined Baltimore's chance of overtaking Cleveland as the Orioles downed Washington 4-1 behind Jim Hardin's four-hitter.

In the other AL game, the Chicago White Sox scored three times in the ninth inning for a 5-2 decision over the New York Yankees. California was rained out at Boston in the only other scheduled game.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals shaded Atlanta 4-3 and the New York Mets nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 10 innings at night, and the Chicago Cubs edged Cincinnati 4-3 and San Francisco blasted Pittsburgh 8-0 in afternoon contests.

After Jose Cardenal and Larry Brown started the first for Cleveland with singles off loser Lew Krausse, 2-7, and Tony Horton, playing first base, hit a sacrifice fly, Maye tripled for another run and scored on Duke Sims' hit.

Oakland never caught up, although the A's did get rid of Williams in the seventh with two walks and run-scoring singles by Reggie Smith and Bert Campaneris. But Paul entered and silenced any further Oakland hopes.

Just to be on the safe side, the Indians added three runs in the eighth to insure Williams' fifth victory in eight decisions.

Hardin certainly showed Washington what he does best as the 24-year-old right-hander won his eighth game against only two losses. He started slow and gave up three hits and a run in the first inning, but the Senators got only one bad hop single from then on as their record against the Orioles fell to 0-8 this season.

Boog Powell gave Hardin the runs he needed with a sacrifice fly in the first inning and a run-scoring single in the third against loser Camilo Pascual, 5-4.

Luis Aparicio, who singled and scored on Wayne Causey's pinch hit in the fifth inning for a 2-1 lead, blooped a double in the ninth to send the White Sox ahead of the Yankees. Bill Voss added a two-run single as reliever Dooley Womack's record fell to 0-5 and Wilbur Wood raised his to 4-2.

Tom McCraw of the Sox and Andy Kosco each hit solo homers and the Yankees tied the game 2-2 in the seventh on Charley Smith's sixth pinch hit in eight tries off the bench.

Security And Moose In Wins

The Moose and Security Life picked up victories in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday. The Moose topped Greenville Tobacco, 6-4, while Security took the Exchange, 6-2.

Pepsi-Cola, with an 8-2 record, holds a two-and-a-half game lead over Security Life, 6-5, which is followed by Greenville Tobacco, 5-5. Next comes the Moose and Elks, both 4-6, and the Exchange 4-7.

In the opener, both teams were locked in a scoreless tie until the fifth, when the Moose came up with six runs. Ray Warren opened things up with a single and Ronnie Faulkner walked.

Marvin Aldridge reached on an error and Keith Jones walked to drive in Warren. A single by Terry Glisson brought Faulker across, making it 2-0. Jack Jones then unleashed a grand-slam homer to boost the score to 6-0.

The Tobs came up with two runs in their half of the inning. Pat Hagan walked, as did Howard Vainwright. Jim Wilkerson reached on a fielder's choice and Julian Vainwright walked to drive in Hagan. A single by Macon Moye brought Howard Vainwright across, cutting the lead to 6-2.

In the sixth, the Tobs scored two more. Mike Reilly walked and Ronald Hodges singled. Hagan got a hit to load them up, and a double by Jim Wilkerson brought Reilly and Hodges across, and put the tying run at second. But the next man went down, ending the rally and giving the Moose the win.

Glisson and Jones each collected two hits for the Moose. While Hagan had two for the Tobs.

In the second game, the Exchange pushed across a run in the top of the first. Billy Wilson walked, moved up when Louis Clark was hit by a pitch, and took third when Robert Brinkley walked. Richie Puryear then walked, forcing in Wilson for a 1-0 lead.

Security came right back with a run in its half of the inning. Wes Puryear singled, stole second and took third on Phil Dash's single. A passed ball then allowed him to score, tying it up.

In the bottom of the third, Security struck for the lead, getting three runs to make it 4-1. John Causey reached on an error and took third on an out. Dash walked and moved to second on a passed ball. Morris Vicars reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Causey, and putting Dash on third. Dash and Vicars worked the double steal with Dash scoring the second run. Jack Jenkins walked, and Vicars scored on an out.

Two more Security runs came across in the fifth. Worth Albea walked and Puryear reached on an error. Phil Dash doubled in Albea, and a double by Vicars scored Dash.

Dash, who hurled the win, allowed only one hit by the Exchange, but gave up nine walks as he struck out 11.

The lone hit came in the fifth, when Clark doubled, and moved to third on an error. He scored after Randy Alford reached on an error.

Dash was the only player with two hits on either team.

Victim Declines To Sign Complaint Against Brown

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Authorities have dropped an assault case against former pro football star Jimmy Brown in connection with a high-fashion model found injured beneath his second-floor balcony. But he still may face a charge of battery against a police officer.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Phillips Mueller said his office would not issue a complaint because of insufficient evidence. After his arrest Brown had been booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

"There was not sufficient evidence to convict," Mueller said Monday. "This is aside from the fact that the girl would not sign the complaint." He added, however, that a complaint could be issued if "some evidence turns up in the future."

The German-born model, Eva Marie Bohn-Chin, 22, hospitalized in fair condition, wasn't available for comment.

Mueller said his office will file a complaint charging Brown with battery against a police officer, a felony.

Brown was arrested Sunday night after neighbors in his West Hollywood apartment reported a fight.

Deputies discovered Miss Bohn-Chin semiconscious on the concrete patio about 20 feet below Brown's balcony.

Brown was freed Monday on $12,500 bond.

Doctors said Miss Bohn-Chin had a dislocated shoulder and bruises on her head, mouth and cheeks.

Deputy John Texeira, 165 pounds, said the 228-pound Brown knocked him seven feet with a swing of his left arm when the officer attempted to enter the apartment.

Officers would not comment on the progress of their investigation to determine what happened in the apartment.

They did report finding blood on the bed, the rug, the walls and a towel in the apartment.

Brown was quoted in the sheriff's report as saying: "You big white cops and your God damn system. Everything is against the Negroes. In order to get in,

Sidestep Endorsement Of March By 'Poor People'

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—The high court of the Southern Presbyterian Church sidestepped a recommendation Monday night to encourage its members to participate in the Poor People's June 19 Solidarity Day March in Washington.

The 1968 General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church U.S. (Southern) adopted instead a substitute resolution calling on the church to reaffirm its recognition of its ministerial duties.

The recommendation, offered by the Rev. Russell Kerr of the Mecklenburg Presbytery, also urged that members of the church "seek out and execute practical plans for fulfilling our social responsibilities in the name of Christ."

Tabled when the substitute recommendation was approved was a resolution noting that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference has issued a call to the religious community and other persons "of good will" to participate in the march.

It would have directed the clerk of the assembly to send to every minister and clerk of the session a copy of the "Call to Americans of Good Will" to participate in the march and encourage those who so desired to join.

Several commissioners spoke fervently in favor of an earlier amendment which would have strengthened the original proposal. Included among the speakers was the Rev. William A. Alexander Sr. of Nashville, Tenn., a Negro, who called the resolution a "bad resolution."

Alexander said the amendment was good, however.

The more liberal proposal was killed 255-151.

Bank Robbers Are Sentenced

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Three men were sentenced in U.S. District Court at Greensboro Monday to prison terms on bank robbery charges.

Charles Andrew Brown, 38, of Greensboro was sentenced to 14 years in prison after pleading guilty to taking part in two robberies.

Billy Ray Beeson of High Point was sentenced to an 11½-year sentence for the $15,647 robbery of an Archdale bank Feb. 20.

Major Durant Wood Jr., 30, of Greensboro, was sentenced to eight years for the $12,130 robbery of a Thomasville bank last Nov. 21.

Rockefeller Opens Drive To Overtake Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stressed a theme of "new leadership for a new America" today as he launched an intensive campaign to overtake Richard M. Nixon, the apparent front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, Rockefeller said Americans "want nothing short of a new government, a new party in power, and a new leader at the head of that party."

The New York governor said "there is around us a new national mood and a new national resolve—to find a new leadership toward a new America. The Old Politics no longer suffices."

"The men of the Old Politics do not understand change," Rockefeller said. "They do not appreciate the significance of the emerging forces. And they do not seem to care."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy died, the governor said, "because he dared to speak out on the issues before the American people."

Rockefeller said his candidacy was based on "my deep conviction" that he could "carry forward the great unfinished mission of building a better America."

The governor charged that "The Old Politics talks about its concern for the poor, the jobless, the urban decay—but dismisses concrete plans for action as 'pie in the sky.'"

A new leadership," Rockefeller continued, "can recapture control of events, master them rather than let them master us, restore direction, and assert meaning and purpose in all our national life. It is to offer this new leadership that I am seeking the presidency of the United States."

End 6:30 a.m., embargoed matter.

Rockefeller begins an intensive television and newspaper advertising campaign in an effort to sway public opinion and Republican delegates from Nixon tonight with a nationwide television address.

One aide indicated the campaign will concentrate on Rockefeller's differences with Nixon on the issues—and the governor's theme that he is a winner and Nixon is not.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has scheduled a meeting with advisers, reportedly on strategy to win away Democratic National Convention delegates now favoring Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

McCarthy had already set a pattern of meetings with state delegates with a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., last Tuesday before Kennedy was shot and campaigning was suspended.

The Minnesota senator plans to resume formal campaigning Thursday with a speech to the New York Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace resumes his third party presidential campaign today with a 12-day swing through Southern states, beginning with a stop at Memphis, Tenn.

It is his first campaigning since the death of his wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace, May 7.

Other political activity today includes primaries in Illinois and South Carolina and party conventions in Texas.

Illinois Democrats select 48 of their 118 national convention delegates and Republicans name 48 of their 58 delegates.

The organization Democratic slate—headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley who has not said which candidate he favors—expects to win heavily despite challenges by McCarthy backers in 13 to 24 districts. Nixon is expected to win considerable support among GOP delegates.

In Texas, Gov. John Connally is expected to get control as a favorite son of the state's 104 Democratic convention votes. Speculation has been that in a showdown Connally would back Humphrey for the nomination.

Texas Sen. John G. Tower is expected to hold control as a favorite son of 56 Republican votes, at least for the first ballot at the national convention.

In the South Carolina Democratic primary, incumbent Sen. Ernest Hollings is challenged by John Bolt Culbertson, a Greenville lawyer.

In other political developments:

—Two of Chicago's four newspapers have urged editorially that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy be offered the Democratic vice presidential nomination at the national convention in Chicago. The editorials were in the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Sun-Times.

Dr. Gilbert Mason of Biloxi, Miss., has become the first Negro ever to be chosen a Mississippi delegate to the Democratic National Convention. He was one of four delegates chosen Monday night.

Federal Road Funds Held Up

RALEIGH (AP)—The cost of the Vietnam war, and its subsequent federal budget cuts, have held up $1.6 million in federal funds which North Carolina is to receive under the Highway Beautification Act.

The law, passed nearly three years ago, provides for the "restoration, preservation and enhancement of scenic and natural beauty" in the vicinity of highways built with federal aid.

"Actually, we're anxious for Congress to act on this," said State Highway Administrator W. F. Babcock Monday night. "With the increased federal spending on the Vietnam war, this beautification project is looked upon as a fairly low priority matter."

Under the law, billboards within 660 feet of Interstate or other primary roads built with federal assistance must be removed by July 1, 1970. Also, junkyards within 1,000 feet of such roads must be removed or screened.

The 1967 General Assembly passed a bill to bring the state into compliance with the federal act. If it had not done so, the state would have faced the loss of about $12 million in federal highway funds as well as the $1.6 million allocation as a penalty.

Break-In, Theft Reported Here

Greenville police are investigating the theft of a cash register and between $24 and $28 in cash from the West End Atlantic Station at 2114 Dickinson Avenue early today.

Police officers discovered the break-in about 6 a.m.

Entrance to the building was made by breaking out a rear window. The cash taken was in the cash register.

Young Bicyclists Killed In Mishap

RICH SQUARE, N. C. (AP)—Two children, riding double on a bicycle on N.C. 305 near Rich Square Monday night, were killed when their bike swerved into the path of a loaded log truck.

Killed were Barbara Jean Whitaker, 9, of Rich Square, and James McKinley Edwards, 13, of Jackson.

Spock Voices Belief Viet War Abominable

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The war in Vietnam "has no shred of legitimacy and will blacken the reputations of my country for decades and centuries to come," says Dr. Benjamin Spock.

The pediatrician called U.S. involvement in the war "outrageous and abominable" as he testified Monday in defense against federal charges that he and four other men conspired to violate draft laws.

He said American forces have killed "hundreds of thousands" of civilians while fighting in Vietnam and that thousands of U.S. troops have been killed needlessly.

"What's the use of a physician like myself in helping to bring up children to be killed in a cause which is ignoble?" he said about American war dead.

He told the all-male jury that America is participating in a war which is "totally illegal, immoral, unwinnable and detrimental to the best interests of the United States."

Spock said he believed the United States violated the Geneva accords of 1954 which were drawn up to partition Indochina into North and South Vietnam after the forces of Ho Chi Minh defeated the French.

Questions Need Of N.C. Primary

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — State Democratic Chairman Tim Valentine said Monday night he doesn't know if a presidential preference primary is needed in North Carolina.

"I don't think it would make a whole lot of difference either way," Valentine told a television audience.

He made the statement in commenting on a proposal by Rep. Tom Strickland, D-Wayne, to introduce legislation next year to give North Carolina a presidential preference primary.

Valentine said primaries call for a great deal of time and money spent by candidates in the primary states, "and I don't know if we need that sort of thing in North Carolina."

He was interviewed by a panel of newsmen on the University of North Carolina's educational television network.

Valentine charged that a protest demonstration by Negro delegates at the state Democratic convention Thursday "was an attempt to have the matter in the news rather than an attempt to get results."

Negro delegates staged a temporary walkout when they failed to win proportionate representation in the state's delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

The protest was touched off by the overwhelming defeat of a motion to give Negroes 25 percent of the seats in the delegation.

Historical Soc. Will Hear Rives

Three Tar Heels Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense released a Vietnam war casualty list Monday containing the names of three North Carolina soldiers.

Killed in action were M. Sgt. Clarence E. Hornbuckle Jr. of Fayetteville, Sgt. John D. Crews Jr. of Rocky Point and Pfc. Samuel T. Hill of Gastonia.

N.C. Work Incentive Measure Said Needed

RALEIGH (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton says the 1969 General Assembly will have to pass additional legislation before North Carolina can participate in any work incentive program for the state's welfare recipients.

State Welfare Commissioner Clifton Craig said Monday Bruton had informed him of this by letter.

Most states appear set to join the federal program to employ welfare mothers and older children when it gets under way July 1.

At present, nearly all income earned is automatically deducted from the amount a recipient receives from the Welfare Department, under the incentive program, the welfare department will disregard the first $30 of a recipient's earnings plus one-third of the remainder in figuring the welfare payment.

Under part of the incentive program set up by 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act, the Welfare Department would pay the recipient's grant to the Labor Department, which in turn would pay it to the recipient.

Craig said Bruton informed him the welfare laws of North Carolina do not provide for welfare payments being made to anyone other than the recipient himself or his guardian.

Federal officials had set a starting quota of 1,300 people for North Carolina before Bruton ruled the program would have to wait until the legislative barrier could be cleared.

The Worry Clinic Inner Conflict Could Explain A New Zealot

Howard's case is not uncommon, though it is very perplexing to his wife, Paradoxical as it may seem, Howard and the chronic drunkard are "twins" in their attempt to flee from an inner conflict. So send for the booklet below and insure your marriage against these male upsets after the age of 40.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D.

CASE F-589: Howard W., aged 41, is a special problem. "Dr. Crane," his wife protested, "Howard and I have been married for 19 years.

"We were attracted to each other at the start because we both liked the same things, such as good music, a little dancing, the same religion, etc.

"After 18 years of happy marriage, my husband suddenly became a religious fanatic.

"He has joined a new sect the past year. It forbids dancing, movies and even advises against television.

"We no longer can communicate because he is only happy when he is talking about 'the Lord.'

"And he leaves me alone every night to attend religious gatherings. In fact, he gives this church so much money that we are in debt and I have had to get a job just to pay our rent.

"What could make a good man change so radically?" Excessive interest in religion is often a form of sexual camouflage.

When people go almost berserk in their moral zeal, beware!

They are usually fleeing from an unresolved sexual dilemma, much as the chronic alcoholic likewise rushes into drunkenness to evade his fear of impotence.

Joan of Arc was one of these unmarried religious zealots who would probably never have had visions if she had been happily married.

The same is true of St. Paul, who differed radically from St. Peter in his religious zeal.

Peter was apparently a happily married man, for he invited Jesus to his home for dinner and to treat his sick mother-in-law.

As between Peter and Paul, which exceeded Hitler in his zeal to exterminate all those who differed with him, even his own people? Hitler at least persecuted aliens!

It was Paul, who tried to ferret out the early Jewish Christians and who stood, consenting, even at the stoning of Stephen.

Then, when Paul had his vision on the road to Damascus, he switched to the other side and was just as much a zealot in defense of the Christians.

Religion, like music, mathematics and other branches of science, is the product of logical thinking, not effervescent emotionalism.

So whenever you find clergymen or church members who lack "horse sense," you can safely suspect what we call an attempted moral compensation for an inner unresolved sexual conflict.

Many men and women in the 40-bracket thus go berserk in their advocacy of religion, chiefly because they are in a panic over their fear of waning sexual vigor or physical charm.

In that famous stage play called "Rain" the missionary zealot who had preached such a caustic indictment of lewd women, finally succumbed.

As Shakespeare warned, when people protest too much, be suspicious of them!

Howard is typical of scared men who try to camouflage their platonic nature by a veneer of religious fervor.

Drunkards do the same with alcohol.

Others go berserk over golf, poker clubs, bowling leagues.

Many simply frequent the front rows at burlesque shows and compile pornographic picture galleries.

So send for my medical booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and insure your marriage against these upsets after the age of 40.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

Area Survey To Begin June 17

Householders in this area will be questioned about their employment and unemployment the week of June 17-22 by the U.S. Census Bureau interviewers.

According to Joseph R. Norwood of the bureau's regional office in Charlotte, Mrs. Jean C. Wilson of Rt. 1, Grimesland, will be conducting the interviews locally for the bureau.

The questioning is part of the bureau's monthly population survey taken simultaneously throughout the United States to gather information about the U.S. population.

Households to be interviewed are part of a scientifically selected national sample and their identity is confidential. Facts obtained in the survey will be used only for statistical purposes.

Age Discrimination Act Soon In Effect

The federal Age Discrimination Act of 1967 become effective June 12 and according to Lloyd Nooe, manager of local Employment Security Commission, could change the hiring policies of some local companies.

"The new law," Nooe said, "prohibits employers engaged in a business affecting interstate commerce from arbitrary age discrimination in employment."

He said the law is designed to protect individuals 40 to 65 years old by promoting the employment of older workers on the basis of ability rather than age.

Nooe continued, "Basically, the law means an employer can't refuse to hire a job applicant because the company thinks he is too old. Refusal to hire an older worker has to be for some reason other than age, or unless age is a bona fide occupational qualification of the job."

The law applies to employers of 25 or more persons in an industry affecting interstate commerce; employment agencies both public and private serving such employers; and labor organizations with 25 or more members in an industry affecting interstate commerce.

Nooe stated it would be unlawful for liable employers to fail or refuse to hire, or to discharge and discriminate against any individual concerning compensation, terms, conditions or privileges of employment because of age, or to deprive any individual of employment opportunities because of age.

Nooe believes the Age Discrimination Act is one of the most important legislative moves ever to effect the older worker. "We've always known older workers make good employees, but some employers have been reluctant to hire them. We think this Act will increase their chances for employment."

Sugar Beets Sweeten Revenue

STOCKTON, Calif. (P) — California sugar beet growers are sweetening the state's economy by an estimated $210 million a year. That is how many dollars the $84 million crop generates in related industries — sugar mills, railroads, truck lines, utility companies, chemical plants, petroleum companies and machinery manufacturers, among others.

Malcolm Young, executive manager of the California Beet Growers Association reports that for every dollar received by the sugar beet grower, economists estimate that $2.50 is generated in the economy.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Dble. 2♥ Pass
4♥ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣
In order to land his four-heart contract successfully, South found it necessary to contrive successive endplays against his opponent—West.

The bidding was sound thruout. West had the classic requirements for a take-out double of one heart, inasmuch as his hand will make a good dummy for any suit partner bids. North's immediate raise to two hearts is the recommended procedure with an in-between holding that contains good trump support. South was certainly within himself in proceeding to game with a hand worth at least 20 points.

West opened the king of clubs and South won with the ace. Trumps were drawn in three rounds. Declarer observed that there was little point in making any plays thru the East hand, inasmuch as West was marked with most of the missing high-card strength to warrant his take-out double.

In fact, if West were put on lead, the return should prove very satisfactory to the declarer. South accordingly exited with the jack of clubs, forcing out West's queen.

West got out with a diamond and declarer won the trick with the jack in his hand. He cashed the king of diamonds and then led over to the ace. East showed out on the third round, but this merely set the stage for another endplay which applied the finishing touch to South's campaign against West.

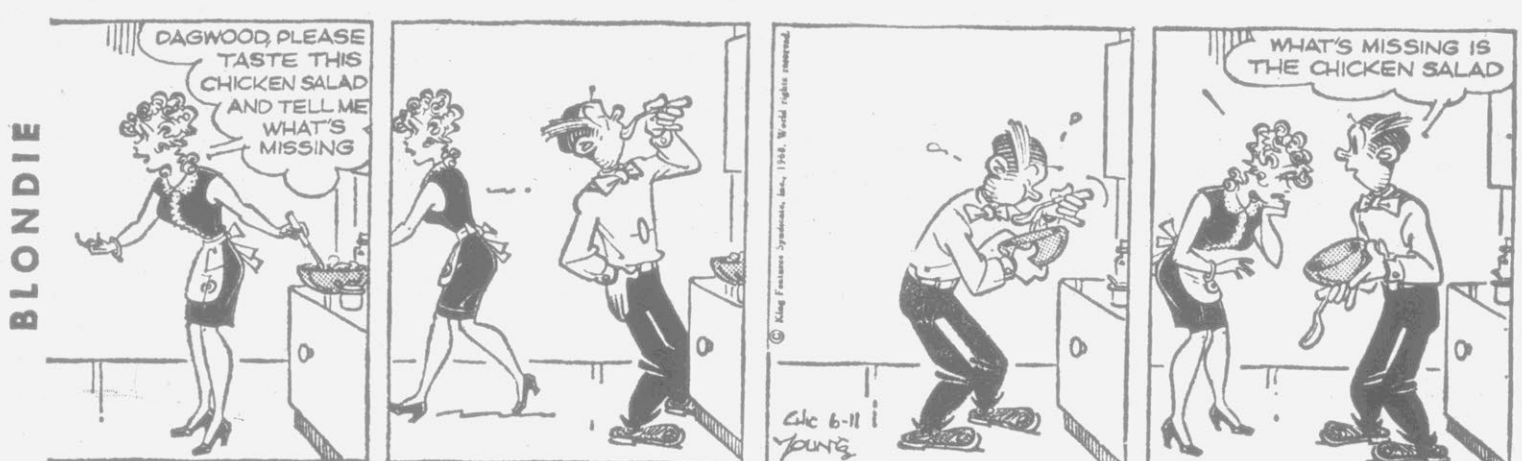

A fourth round of diamonds was led; but, instead of ruffing, South discarded a spade and West was in once more for the final humiliation. If he returned a club, it would present declarer with a ruff and discard, so West cashed the ace of spades. This play established South's king for the game-fulfilling trick. In all, he lost one trick each in diamonds, spades, and clubs.

'Ham' Got To Church On Time

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AH)—Bridegroom Horst Weinberger was stuck in a stalled elevator when a two-hour power failure hit Johannesburg on his wedding day.

Weinberger, a ham radio hobbyist, rang SOS signals on the elevator's alarm bell and mechanics responded to his emergency call. He made it to the wedding on time. His main worry:

"My bride is an Israeli girl and she had a return ticket back to Jerusalem."

Commission Begins Study Of Violence In America

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential commission has formally embarked on a study of violence in America and President Johnson wants the panel to consider whether campaigning candidates should be limited in their physical contact with voters.

Johnson met with the 10-member group at the White House for the first time Monday, signed the executive order creating it for one year and said he was asking Congress to give it subpoena powers.

He also gave it what he called a simple and direct charge in which he expressed the hope it would find "understanding and insight into the kinds of violent aberrations which have struck down public figures and private citizens alike."

Besides this, Johnson told the commission he hoped it would uncover the causes of disrespect for law and order, violent disruptions by groups and individuals and other ways to control or prevent such outbreaks.

Among the many facets of violence touched upon, was the safety of campaigning.

"Does the democratic process which stresses exchanges of ideas permit less physical contact with masses of people—as a matter of security against the deranged individual and obsessed fanatic?" Johnson asked.

The commission was named by Johnson last Wednesday, the same day Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was felled by an assassin's bullet after a political victory speech in California.

Johnson told the commission, headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, educator and brother of the former president, that it faced a difficult task.

He suggested among other things that it look into the possibility the seeds of violence are "nurtured through the public's airwaves, the screens of neighborhood theaters, the news media, and other forms of communication that reach the family and our children."

He said he was asking the heads of the major radio-television networks and the Federal Communications Commission to cooperate with the violence study.

In New York, NBC and CBS both said they would cooperate with the commission. ABC was said to be studying the situation.

More Troubles For U.S. Bases In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Troubles increased for the U.S. military in Japan today. A special committee of Japanese cabinet members urged that the United States be asked to relocate an air base. The Tokyo city council demanded a ban on visits by nuclear warships and student demonstrators blocked a gunpowder shipment.

Sentiment against American bases in Japan, which is constantly fanned by the Socialists in their campaign to scrap the U.S.-Japan security treaty, increased markedly this month after an American jet based at Itazuke Air Base crashed on the Kyushu University campus.

Despite a U.S. promise to curtail night flights, the cabinet committee recommended that Prime Minister Eisaku Sato ask the United States to move the air base to another site.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Toshio Kimura said even if the full cabinet agrees, no formal request will be made to U.S. authorities until a number of alternate locations can be offered.

Sources said the Japanese are considering asking the United States to share the Japanese air bases, at Tsuki or Miyazaki, which like Itazuki are on Kyushu, Japan's southern island.

At Kitakyushu, meanwhile, about 100 leftist students charged into a railway station and snake-danced on its track to prevent the arrival of 1,800 tons of gunpowder for the U.S. ammunition depot on the city's outskirts.

A freight car containing the gunpowder was switched to a spur line and left standing. No attempt was made to run the student blockade.

school which formerly would not accept him.

Students enrolled at the school would be able to shift from one field to another. "If they were enrolled in an academic area and decided a technical education would be best for them," according to Dr. Humber, they could transfer to the technical fields. Or if they were enrolled in a technical program and decided an academic area would benefit them more, they could shift their interests, according to their developing aptitudes and interests.

"Such an institution thereby becomes a testing ground for all students. . . to explore more fully their capabilities and to create more useful lives and careers congenial with their talents," Dr. Humber explained.

A third advantage, under the community college program would be that the school would be able to offer to citizens of Pitt advantages that are available elsewhere.

Dr. Humber said that 57 Pitt residents last year went to community colleges in other counties because such a program of transfer courses was not available here. Sixty-seven students are presently enrolled in other community colleges for the coming school term for the same reason, he continued.

Humber also pointed to the idea that the "enlarging of the staff and faculty of the institute" to provide a full range of community college classes, "undoubtedly will have a social and economic impact. . . bringing into the community more men and women of high intellectual caliber and leadership."

"The people of the county should not be denied an opportunity for a complete education, equal to facilities existing anywhere else," Humber commented. "Nor should any segment of the population be limited in the type of education to be offered."

"To discipline the skills, train the minds and stimulate ambitions of all high school graduates to reach their maximum potential in life is the assignment which PITI has accepted and is committed to fulfill in plentitude. We are not de-emphasizing technical instruction, but enriching it by enabling all of the talents of an individual to be developed," the trustee chairman explained.

The city assembly of Kitakyushu has adopted a resolution demanding removal of the ammunition depot because of local opposition. Last month, a U.S. freighter was unable to unload part of a 3,500-ton ammunition shipment because of a boycott by the local longshoremen's union.

The Tokyo Metropolitan Assembly unanimously adopted a written opinion opposing the entry of U.S. nuclear-powered vessels into Yokosuka the port of Tokyo and one of the two Japanese ports at which U.S. Navy ships regularly call.

The opinion asked the Japanese government to ban U.S. nuclear ships from Japanese waters. It cited the increase in the radioactivity level reported in Sasebo harbor during the recent visit there of the U.S. nuclear submarine Swordfish.

are urgently needed. Their benefit is immeasurable, both for the young people they serve and our society. Best wishes for another successful summer."

The program to which the vice-president referred began last year on a trial basis. According to Lee the pilot project was designed on the premise that disadvantaged children have the same basic recreational needs as normal children. A varied program of physical and social activities are scheduled for those taking part in the day camp.

All activities are scaled, Lee said, to the children's ability of retention, skill level, attention span, interest and physical stamina.

This year, 13 young people are enrolled in the camp which began its three-week period of operation yesterday.

The students attend the camp each weekday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Elm Street gym.

Narcotics Habit Cost $200 Daily

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say Ronald Phillip Valentine robbed six banks, taking nearly $14,000 to buy drugs that detectives say cost him $200 daily.

Officers reported Monday they arrested Valentine, 30, in a sanitarium where he was a patient paying $50 a day for treatments to cure drug addiction.

Wallace Party Petitions Before Election Board

RALEIGH (AP) — A stack of petitions asking the North Carolina Board of Elections to recognize the American Party of presidential hopeful George Wallace may be considered by the board Wednesday.

Alex Brock, secretary of the board, said Monday the board will meet Wednesday to officially canvass the returns from the second primary and may consider the American Party's application at that time.

He made the statement after Ed Ewing, a campaign coordinator for Wallace, filed a suitcase-full of petitions with the elections board.

Ewing, former news officer for the late Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama and a national coordinator for her husband in his presidential bid, said the petitions contained 16,000 signatures of certified registered voters. This is 6,000 more than the number needed to place the third-party candidate on the ballot in North Carolina.

Ewing said he had the names of about 60,000 more Tar Heel voters in his office at Montgomery, Ala., but they had not been certified by county elections boards. This procedure costs 5 cents a name.

The Wallace party, if approved by the elections board, will be required to hold a convention in North Carolina before Aug. 1 to select presidential electors and name candidates.

Wallace, who is scheduled to arrive in Charlotte Saturday night, plans to launch a campaign tour through the South within the next few days.

Robert Reid Stubbs of Charlotte is listed as chairman of Wallace's American Party in North Carolina.

Ewing told newsmen he expected Wallace to gain ballot position in 48 states. He added Wallace parties bearing various names have met ballot requirements in 25 states and will qualify in "about six or eight others" within a few weeks.

Ethel Kennedy Again Visits Hillside Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethel Kennedy, with four of her 10 children, returned at dusk Monday to the grave of the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The senator's widow also had visited the simple white cross on a slope at Arlington National Cemetery Sunday, the day after his funeral and burial.

Accompanying her and the children were Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former astronaut John Glenn, and former Olympic decathlon champion Rafer Johnson, all long-time family friends.

Some 20,000 other people visited the flower-strewn hillside earlier in the day. Some 60,000 that thronged the site Sunday.

A memorial plaque in Moscow, the sudden release of two captured U.S. soldiers, a toy dog for a little girl hospitalized in New Jersey.

As the tributes flowed, the Kennedy family, deep in its own grief, found time to share the grief of others.

At the request of Ethel Kennedy, a large stuffed toy Dalmatian dog was presented to Deborah Ann Kwiatek of Linden, N.J.

The 3-year-old was hospitalized Saturday at Elizabeth, N.J. after her grandmother hurled her to safety from the path of a train while they awaited passage of the Kennedy funeral train.

The grandmother, Antonette Sevirini of Elizabeth, had been holding the girl in her arms and standing on the tracks when a northbound train approached.

Mrs. Sevirini and a man were killed. Five others were injured.

The stuffed dog was delivered to the hospital where Deborah is recovering from head injuries. The Kennedy family also sent flowers or telegrams of condolences to the families of those injured and killed.

A memorial plaque, bearing a photograph of Kennedy and an inscription in Russian with his name, the dates of his death and birth, and the words "Of Eternal Memory" remained at the entrance to Moscow University through noon Monday.

It had been put up Friday by American students and later adorned with black ribbon and flowers by Russian students.

Two U.S. soldiers captured while guarding a Philippine tug in the Mekong Delta May 20 were released Monday by Cambodia.

Prince Nordom Sihanouk,

Cambodia's chief of state, said they were released in homage to Sen. Kennedy.

The two, reported in good health, are Pfc. Jerry A. Tester of Boone, N. C., and Spc. 4 Ronald J. Lehrmann, whose wife lives in Mangum, Okla. Both military policemen who had been stationed in South Vietnam, they were guarding the tug while it operated in an ill-defined border area between Cambodia and South Vietnam.

They were turned over to the Australian Embassy which has represented American interests since diplomatic relations were broken off by Sihanouk in 1965.
