Several 'Stunners' In Supreme Court Rulings

FORMER SUPERINTENDENT . . . of the Greenville City Schools, J. H. Rose is shown speaking at the 1943 and 1944 graduating classes reunion held Saturday night.

1943-44 Grads Hold Reunion Some Came From Far Places

Approximately 45 members of the 1943 graduating class of Greenville High School and 33 from the class of 1944 met at the Greenville Golf and Country Club Saturday night for a 24th and 25th reunion celebration. Class members came from as far as Sioux City, Iowa, Shawnee Mission, Kan., and Austin, Tex., to visit with each other and their former teachers during a social hour, dinner and dancing to music by Pete Oglesby. A buffet table was centered with green mums and white gladioli and displays of old class annuals, snapshots and letters from class members not present. The GHS yell was led by former cheerleaders Mary White Jones Smith, Mrs. Ann Duncan Groome and Nancy Hannah Dunn. Class prophecies were read by former officers, Shirley Warner Taylor, Mattie Harris Mayo Horne and Hennie Ruth Whitchard Gripp. Master of ceremonies J. M. Smith Jr. introduced former superintendent J. H. Rose and eight faculty members who taught the classes. They were Miss Laura Bell, Mrs. Clinton Bowen, Roland Farley, Miss Deanie Boone Haskett, Mrs. Howard Mims, Mrs. R.S. Moyer, Vester Mulholland and Miss Ona Shindler. Brief remarks by each class member provided several highlights about those present. Hennie Ruth Whitchard Gripp traveled the farthest distance, coming from Sioux City, Mary White Jones Smith, with six, reported the largest number of children. While 1943 class members present have no grandchildren yet, two from the class of 1944 have achieved this status. Grace Peel Lewis took honors with a three-year-old grandchild, and Leonard Ernest reported a one-year-old. Ledyard Ross is the most recent father, with a child under one year. Three sets of twins have been born to class members present, and the oldest child reported is 22 years old. Margaret Johnson Little, who celebrated his 25th wedding anniversary this year, has been married longest. One person not present, Lee Bell Paramore Dusek, 1944, has thirteen children. Class members rose in a spontaneous tribute to Mary Elizabeth Allen Reaves and her husband, whose son was killed in Vietnam several months ago. In addition to Smith, the following members of the classes of 1943 and 1944 served as arrangements committee for the reunion: Dot Flye Aldridge, Lib Kittrell Proctor and Knott Proctor, Margaret Johnston Capwell, Sam White, Eloise Warren Hunsucker, Bill Taylor, and Sidney Dunn.

Southern Governors Told Cities Need Self-Rule

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri told fellow Southern Governors today states should give their urban areas greater authority to manage their own affairs. Hearnes, in a prepared recommended "creative localism" under which states would give their metropolitan centers the constitutional power, legal authority and "creative imagination" to solve their own problems. "Many alternative ways have been proposed by which this could be done," Hearnes added. "Home rule charters can be created. More authority can be given to counties. Metropolitan government can be fostered." Hearnes is chairman of the Committee on Human Resources of the Southern Governors Conference. "Archaic state constitutions inhibit attempts to solve inter-local and area-wide problems, restrict the taxation and borrowing power of local governments, and thus have fostered an undesired local dependency on the distant federal government," Hearnes declared. "The racial crisis which plagues our riot torn cities in demonstrating in an all too profound way the need for us to take a fresh look at urban areas, to thoroughly investigate and analyze the nature of our problems, and to vigorously implement whatever thoughtful and imaginative policies we may de-

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has turned a long-obscure civil rights law into a far-reaching ban on racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing. ## Wallace Always In Background At Charleston

CHARLESTON (AP) — Third party presidential candidate George Wallace is not a member of the Southern Governors Conference, but in a sense he has dominated it. Even before the former Alabama governor arrived in Charleston today for a rally and fund-raising dinner, his candidacy had been the chief topic of news conferences and, no doubt, the closed-door political discussions of the Southern governors. The approximately 120 newsmen present have questioned and polled the 16 governors from deep-South and border states about the chances of Wallace in the November general election. Their consensus is that Wallace won't win the presidency, but will carry some Southern states and perhaps deny decisive votes to the Republican or Democratic nominees. The governors viewed Wallace as the definite front-runner in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. He is also expected to run well in at least North Carolina and South Carolina. Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia, who supports Wallace, said Wallace will carry 10 to 12 states "if the situation still exists in November as it does today." Gov. Albert P. Brewer of Alabama, who succeeded Wallace's late wife, Lurleen, gave Wallace four to five states for sure "and an excellent chance to carry several more." "He's high man in our state," commented Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas and Gov. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky said Wallace will get no significant votes in their states. Gov. Hulett C. Smith of West Virginia said Wallace will poll no more than 5 per cent of the votes in his state. Gov. Rockefeller called Wallace "a demagogue . . . He is trying to split the people of the United States."

Prince Charles Now A Knight Of The Garter

LONDON (AP) — Charles, Prince of Wales, has become a Knight of the Garter under his mother's sword. Queen Elizabeth II tapped her 19-year-old, lanky first-born son on the shoulder Monday, ordered him to tie the garter to his leg and presented him with a kingfisher blue ribbon to wear over his left shoulder and the Garter star. Charles, heir to the throne, underwent the ceremony in St. George's Chapel in London with the dignity of a monarch-to-be. Charles, standing firm, took the knight's oath to be courageous, "and having undertaken a just war thou mayest stand firm, valiantly fight, courageously and successfully conquer."

McCarthy Calls On Rival To Voice Private Doubts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—wrapping up his New York primary campaign—says Democratic presidential rival Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey should make public any private doubts on the Vietnam war. "I think everyone has private doubts," McCarthy said at a Harlem rally Monday. "There comes a time when the private doubts of a public man must become public doubts." He referred to a prediction by former White House press secretary Bill Moyers that Humphrey soon will begin spelling out his differences with Johnson administration policies including escalation of the war. But a Humphrey spokesman said in Washington "the vice president does not follow the practice of thinking one thing in private and saying another thing in public. "He intends to discuss all the issues that are vital to this country just as he has been discussing such issues throughout his public life," the spokesman said. On the Republican side, Richard M. Nixon called on President Johnson to stop "dragging his feet" and sign the anticrime bill. And New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller took his hunt for delegates to Capitol Hill in Washington. McCarthy was the only major presidential candidate to campaign on behalf of delegate

Searched Soviet Sea-Going Tug

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuelan warships seized the Soviet ocean-going tug Ikonobon Gromovoy, reportedly crammed with electronic equipment, after an "energetic chase" in the South Caribbean, Defense Minister Ramon Florencio Gomez told newsmen Monday. Gomez said the tug was taken inside Venezuela's 12-mile territorial limit Friday and escorted to Puerto Cabello, 60 miles west of Caracas. He reported nothing "abnormal" was found during a search of the vessel. The defense minister said the tug, towing a barge-like craft, was spotted by a patrol boat off Orchilla Island, 100 miles north-east of Caracas. When the Soviets refused to heed the patrol boat's orders to stop and tried to flee, other ships were summoned. They forced the tug to change course outside territorial waters, Gomez said.

Two Arrested In Scuffle With Draft Resisters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two people were arrested during a brief scuffle that broke out Monday when police and FBI agents surrounded an antidraft demonstration on Capitol Hill. Eleven women pacifists were using a propane torch to burn what they said were 13 draft cards when a carload of FBI agents pulled up at the scene outside the Supreme Court building. The agents seized a young man who was in the crowd of 50 and seconds later uniformed police leaped from a parked bus, breaking up the demonstration by prodding several people with their night sticks and shoving others. The man arrested by the FBI was identified as Francis Thomas Memia, 20, of Holden, W. Va., wanted for failing to report for induction into military service last January.

Will Reinstitute Orders On Milk

RALEIGH (AP)—A fair trade practice order suspended by the North Carolina Milk Commission nearly two months ago will be reinstated in a revised form July 1. The commission voted Monday to resume the order which includes a provision requiring all distributors to post their price lists and give advance notice of changes. A controversial proposal to set a statewide schedule of rebates for all large-volume purchasers was eliminated. Distributors will be permitted to set their own rebate rates, but they will be required to list the rates with their regular price filings before the commission. Initial price lists must be filed by July 7. The commission held a public hearing last month after suspending the fair trade practice order April 21. Most spokesmen at the hearing expressed support for resumption of the filing system as a means of avoiding surprise price changes and possible milk price wars.

Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Abe Fortas and Thurgood Marshall comprised the majority with Stewart.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Abe Fortas and Thurgood Marshall comprised the majority with Stewart. Justices John M. Harlan and Byron R. White dissented, saying the finding that the old law applies to purely private actions "is almost surely wrong and at the least is open to serious doubt." Because the court prefers to announce its holdings in bunches instead of spacing them out, the housing decision overshadowed other big rulings. Among them were: 1. Sanction for police to keep jailing chronic drunks found on the city streets. 2. A ban on denying welfare to needy children solely because of their mother's sex conduct. 3. Freedom for community antenna television operators to pick up copyrighted movies and cartoons from TV stations without having to pay for them. The 5-4 decision on drunks was surprising, particularly since the court six years ago said California could not make it a crime for a person to be addicted to narcotics. Justice Marshall, in the court's judgment, stressed that facilities for treating impoverished alcoholics "are woefully lacking throughout the country." "It would be tragic," he said, "to return large numbers of helpless, sometimes dangerous and frequently unsanitary inebriates to the streets of our cities without even the opportunity to sober up adequately which a brief jail term provides." Stewart, who in several instances this term showed new liberal leanings, dissented with Fortas, Douglas and Brennan. The welfare decision, a unanimous ruling given by Warren, struck down Alabama's version of the "man-in-the-house" rule and could knock out similar rules in 17 other states. Alabama, said Warren, violated the 1935 Social Security law and federal policy by barring assistance to needy children solely because their mothers had extramarital sex relations. The CATV decision, a 5-1 ruling announced by Stewart, likened cable relay systems to antennas people put on their roofs to improve TV reception. These relays, Stewart said with Fortas objecting alone, do not amount to public performances. Thus, he reasoned, CATV operators do not violate federal copyright law when they relay copyrighted movies and cartoons to subscribers without compensating the firms that licensed the material.

Epileptic's Mother Won't Face Facts Concerning Son

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: One day last week a little neighbor boy was here playing with my son. Fortunately I was present when the playmate had an epileptic seizure. I took him home and told his mother what had happened. Abby, she turned on me as if I had accused her child of some crime. She said, "What do you mean, EPILEPTIC? Once in a while he has a little fainting spell but he'll outgrow it. Besides, it can't be epilepsy because we have never had any insanity in our family!"

I tried to tell her that I knew an epileptic seizure when I saw one because my younger sister had had many. I also tried to tell her that it had nothing to do with "insanity," and with medication, epilepsy could be controlled. I even told her how happily married my sister is today. I did all I could to educate this woman, but she insisted she had no need for my explanations, so I left.

Abby, it seems incredible that we still have people who think epilepsy is something to be ashamed of. I hope you will print this letter with a few facts of your own to wake up people like my neighbor.

SYCAMORE LANE

DEAR SYCAMORE: The notion that epilepsy is something to be ashamed of dates back to biblical times, when illnesses which couldn't readily be diagnosed were attributed to witchcraft, insanity, or the work of the "devil."

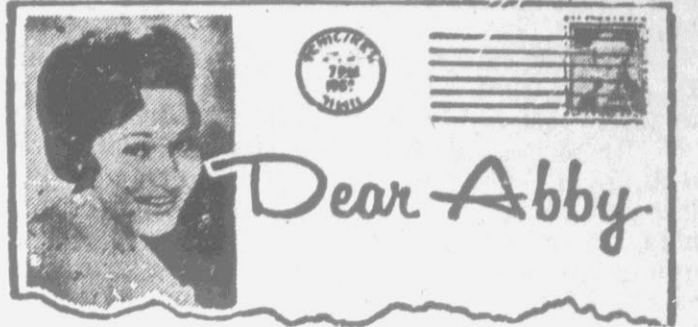

It is a safe estimate that about one out of every 100 Americans has epilepsy. The exact cause is not known, but it can be the result of prenatal influences, infectious diseases, or brain damage.

Altho the "tendency" toward it can be inherited, it is not considered an hereditary disorder. In recent years medication and drugs have become extremely effective in controlling epilepsy. With proper care, most epileptics are able to attend school, hold down a job, eventually marry, and live normal lives. I hope your neighbor sees this. For her sake, but especially for her son's.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor recently acquired a 90 - pound "puppy." When he cries at night, he sounds like one of the hounds of Baskerville. We live in a canyon and the echo of his barking can be heard for miles. The noise at night is bad enough, but we also have a day time problem. The puppy likes to tiptoe thru the tulips (ours) regularly every morning.

All the other neighbors are up in arms, too, so maybe if you print this, it will save a dog's life. Thank you.

ALSO UP IN ARMS. DEAR ALSO: A dog, like a child, cannot be expected to know what it hasn't been taught. The real culprit is the dog owner, so tiptoe over there and tell him that if you want your tulips fertilized, you'll do it yourself. DEAR ABBY: The man who advised "love - hungry" women to greet their husbands at the door every day for a year with a Geritol embrace must have more red blood in his veins than the cold fish I married. In the morning it's "Don't touch me or talk to me. I'm in a hurry to leave." At noon, "Don't bother me. I came home to eat my lunch and sit a bit." At night, "I'm tired. Shut up and take the kids in the other room." At bed time, "Shut up and go to sleep."

If I kiss his ear or try to put my arm around him, he says, "Is sex all you can think of?" So much for the Geritol embrace. I get more pleasure from the want ads.

MIDDLE-AGED MAMA Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Film Producers Advertise For Child Actor

PARIS (WNS) — Advertisement in local newspapers: "Wanted: boy, from 9 to 12 years old, sufficiently charming to pick up pretty women and take them home to his father." The want ad was placed by film producers of Andre Cousteaux's "L'Enfant a Femmes" and they searched six months for a suitable child actor. "I have had responses from widowers and divorced men who claim that their youngsters are experienced at the game, but the kids don't seem to be able to play the part in front of a camera," said Cousteaux.

Stonger Safeguards Are Required

Monday's big fish-kill on the Davidson River calls for prompt and meaningful measures. Somebody did dump a large quantity of poisonous material into the water, and it should require no Sherlock Holmes to fix the exact responsibility. No one can guess how many fish were killed. It is known that some 250,000 fish in the Pisgah National Forest fish hatchery were destroyed. Restoring contaminated streams and rivers to a status of reasonable purity is a long and painstaking process. It requires the cooperative efforts of many state, county and community agencies; it requires voluntary measures and compulsory measures; it requires a constant element of watchfulness and policing. In the last decade there has been much accomplished in cleaning up the waters of North Carolina's streams. Even the Tar River, which in the eyes of many beholders was a hopeless case, is gradually recovering from generations of human abuse.

N.C. Ports Eye Japan's Trade

By L. C. BRUCE
RALEIGH — The State Ports Authority is most interested in Japan because of the large volume of trade moving across State operated terminals now, between North Carolina and Japan; and because of the increasing demand in the Japanese Market for North Carolina commodities and goods. Value of exports to Japan, now moving through N. C. Port terminals, makes that country the leading customer of the North Carolina ports. For these reasons, when the opportunity came to send a representative to the recent American Festival in Japan, which was a food and agriculture trade exhibition in April, 1968, we were fortunate to be chosen. Accompanied by many people from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, New Mexico, Washington, Missouri, and agricultural states, we arrived in Tokyo on April 6 to join with other North Carolinians already there—representing North Carolina Travel Promotion, Department of Agriculture, Export Management, Soybean Producers, and also Governor Dan K. Moore, who with Mrs. Moore, was to have been an honored guest of the Japan Tobacco Industry and who also was to have accompanied U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and other Governors of Agricultural States on an inspection of potential markets for North Carolina and U. S. Products. Governor and Mrs. Moore had to cancel their plans at the eleventh hour. He was represented at functions on April 5, 7, 8, by Bill F. Hensley, Assistant Director of the Department of Conservation and Development, who was in Japan at the time, promoting travel to North Carolina. Incidentally, according to Mr. Hensley, Japan now furnishes more travelers in U. S. A. than any other country outside the western hemisphere, however the question is: Does North Carolina receive its fair share of these visitors?

Present in Tokyo were Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer. He is president of Tobacco Associates, Inc., and his assistant, Mr. Robert Minor. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Seawell of the Tobacco Exporters Association of the U.S., and Tar Heel natives, Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Kiger, now of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., were also on a mission to Japan at the time. Now let us point up some of the changing and improving trade relations between the industrial and commercial world of Japan and the industrial and commercial world of North Carolina. To begin with, today we are only sixteen hours flying time via Chicago and Anchorage, Alaska from Tokyo. Almost half way around the world, and less than one day's journey, nestles an industrial nation with "USA-type get-up-and-go" in a climate and landscape so similar to western North Carolina that, if the Coastal Plain touched the mountains in North Carolina, the terrain would be exactly like that of Japan. The Japanese are an ethnic group, who have been isolated geographically, until World War II, to the extent that they have developed a different culture from their neighbors. Similar developments are noted in western groups of people, such as the Scottish Highlanders. Recently customs and dress of the people have changed to such an extent that following a few days in Tokyo, in the financial and trading district, one is hardly conscious that he is observing oriental people. Motivation, of course, is the commercial and industrial life of Japan is one of survival. It is the age-old struggle of man everywhere to survive against a supply of food and water, which is always critical, and could be disastrous. To stay ahead of this potential disaster, a fine transportation and distribution system has evolved, which counts as integral part—ocean shipping on the one hand and rapid transit public land transportation, such as railways, on the other.

With fresh water supplies becoming a premium item in the needs of a growing population even one setback in efforts to improve our lakes and streams is costly and dismaying. Less than a year ago there was another fish-kill in the Davidson River. Whatever remedial preventative actions were taken then are now proven insufficient. More stern measures are indicated.

SDS Moving Toward Its Own Destruction

Well, the young social rebels who call themselves the Students for a Democratic Society have taken their first steps toward hari kari. A pity, too. They provided the raw material for an occasional healthy burst of healthy indignation and breast-beating. But you can mark it down that the SDS took its first step toward self-destruction when they dreamed of an alliance with the "laboring class" (as in France) to add to their leverage in up-ending the social order. And their second fateful step was the call to "infiltrate" the armed forces. Their infiltration of the two fields will give the youngsters a new insight into practical economics (an unfamiliar page in their collective story) and a couple of years in uniform will add a measure of value in their lives to the centuries-old concept of flag and country. The business world could wrap up the fate of the radical element by recruiting the left-overs for management jobs, and let them "infiltrate" the world of sweating out problems of production, sales, profits, taxes and ulcers. It's a nice idea.

DMZ A Pawn Of Paris Talks

By JOHN T. WHEELER
DONG HA, Vietnam (AP) —Despite the bloodpath in the demilitarized zone area so far this year, neither side has been able to get the upper hand. Like weary fighters, American and North Vietnamese battalions continue to slug it out in a fight that has a seemingly unlimited number of rounds. "The DMZ has become a pawn of the Paris peace talks," one senior U. S. officer said.

He said the Communists are pushing for a major victory that would give their negotiators in Paris leverage to pry concessions out of the United States and later South Vietnam. Looking back across five and a half months of fighting this year, another U. S. officer said: "In January I would never have believed they could have kept up the pace or that we would ever suffer so many casualties." The coming months are expected to dwarf the fighting so far this year that the U. S. Command says has cost about 20,000 enemy dead. For all the death along the DMZ and recent U. S. reinforcements, the enemy is still said to have as many combat troops as the allies, the same ratio Hanoi was able to maintain last year.

Propaganda fed to North Vietnamese troops clearly shows Hanoi's thinking. As reported by prisoners the line is: "We must keep up the fight. The outcome of the talks in Paris depends on how well we do in the battlefield." Intelligence reports say newly arrived troops have been told they are "to complete mopping up operations against the U. S. aggressors who have been defeated for all intents and purposes." U. S. intelligence believes an indication of how seriously Hanoi's DMZ divisions have been hammered is that in some cases entire replacement regiments have moved into position intact instead of groups of replacements being divided up among several units. Some U. S. officers blame the partial bombing halt ordered by Washington to get preliminary peace talks off the ground with increasing the danger to U. S. troops in the northern line. "Hell, they get a running start all the way from Hanoi to within 120 miles of the frontier before the bombers can go to work on them," one said. "Sure they are getting plenty of replacements, weapons and all the rest of it through. Our job is a hell of a lot tougher and more dangerous." (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
IS DIVINE HEALING POSSIBLE?
Why has healing largely ceased in the modern Church? There are certain of the miracles of Jesus which might be called classical miracles. They were signs of his unique position and power and will probably never occur again. Such miracles are the Feeding of the Five Thousand, the Walking on the Waters, and the Stilling of the Tempest. But for decades after the ascension the disciples continued to heal all manner of diseases. Why has this not continued? All sorts of reasons have been advanced, but when we examine them they are reasons in appearance and not in substance. So far as one can see, there is no reason why faith-filled men and women today should not heal the sick exactly the same as many of the disciples in the early Church did. There is a growing feeling among Christians today that healing is not only possible but that the Church is neglecting one of its functions in not practicing healing. If the Church ever awakes to this duty its healing ministry will be carried on not in conflict with medical science but in cooperation with it.

Where Can They Turn?

WASHINGTON — It was unattractive of Arthur Schlesinger to say so, but he is right. For the time being, the former supporters of Robert F. Kennedy have no place to go. And the story of the 1968 elections could well be decided by what is done to deal with this problem. Hubert Humphrey may have the Democratic nomination virtually sewed up, but he is still far from winning the election in November. The general guess is that public reaction to the assassination of Senator Kennedy has strengthened the position of the front-running Republican candidate, Richard Nixon. Unless Humphrey succeeds in reuniting the badly fractured Democrats between now and August, his party's nomination may not be worth very much. How can this be done? In its first emotional reaction to the loss, the Kennedy faction rejects the idea of supporting either Humphrey or Senator Eugene McCarthy. Of the two, most of the Kennedy men would probably prefer the vice president, if only because he is almost sure to win the nomination in any case. But Humphrey's record of strong support of the war in Vietnam is a formidable obstacle to any reconciliation between the two camps. When it comes to domestic issues, the problem perhaps is not great. For all the silly dispute over Humphrey's "politics of joy," the two candidates spoke essentially the same language on the issues of race relations and urban poverty. But Kennedy's opposition to the war in Vietnam provided so much of the emotional impetus for his campaign that this gap between the two camps will be hard to bridge. For some of the senator's followers, it may well be impossible. Many of them — particularly the younger groups — are a good deal more passionately anti-Vietnam than Kennedy himself was. He deplored the heavy American commitment to the war, spoke of dealing with the Communist National Liberation Front and called on the South Vietnamese army to shoulder a heavier share of the fighting. But he was cautious about the ultimate solutions in Vietnam, including the possibility of a coalition government in Saigon. And he certainly did not propose a simple surrender to Communist aggression to Asia. With this more discriminating brand of dissent, a reconciliation may be possible. Humphrey, of course, cannot be expected to repudiate the record of the Johnson administration on Vietnam. But he has also made it quite clear that he will not rest on it either. In the past, the vice president has tended to ignore the (Continued On Page 5)

South Dakota Story

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's appointment of Myron H. Bright as new U. S. court of appeals judge for the eighth circuit concealed a tangled web of Presidential politics, patronage, and revenge. When Chief Judge Charles J. Vogel, a native of North Dakota, announced his intention to retire early this year, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, one of Robert F. Kennedy's closest political friends, strongly recommended a South Dakota state judge as Vogel's replacement. In pressing his case on Attorney General Ramsey Clark for the appointment of state Circuit Judge Francis Dunn, McGovern pointed out an obvious fact: South Dakota was the only state among the seven making up the eighth circuit court of appeals that was not represented among the court's eight judges. The Justice Department apparently approved Dunn, after running the usual check with the American Bar Association, and proposed him to the President. That was in February. For two months, McGovern and Democratic officials in South Dakota waited for the expected appointment to be announced. No other state was bidding as hard as South Dakota for the judicial plum. No hint of trouble was foreseen, either in the Justice Department or in South Dakota. But then, on April 25, exactly nine days after McGovern effusively introduced Bobby Kennedy to a political rally in South Dakota, the Senator's office received a telephone call from the Justice Department that the matter of the appointment had been taken out of Justice by the White House and that Dunn was no longer under consideration. Later that same day, the President formally nominated Bright, a North Dakota lawyer without any judicial experience, to the Vogel vacancy.

Top Democrats in South Dakota were both flabbergasted and angry. With their state having lacked representation on the circuit court of appeals for the past ten years, what possible reason was there for the President to veto McGovern's recommendation? As they pieced the story together, from conversations with Administration officials and others, they concluded that McGovern was being punished for giving Kennedy such obvious help in the South Dakota primary. Kennedy's opponents were Vice President Hubert Humphrey (a native son) and Sen. Eugene McCarthy. # A Gold Mine Is Still Untapped

By ELMER ROESSNER
Many years ago I thought I had it all figured out. I thought the giant corporations would suddenly discover a fantastically large potential market right under their noses. Henry Ford discovered a similar market years before. He reasoned that if he were to sell his Lizzies to the masses, the masses had to make more money than they were making. So he started upping wages. I remember reading a story in a newspaper that Ford's higher wages meant that even a lowly sweeper would get $5 a day. Five dollars a day for a sweeper! And I was being paid $5 a month to deliver the paper I read that sensational news in. Other corporations caught on. They started paying better. And a vast new market opened up for automobiles, for homes, for better foods and for that new-fangled gimcrack, the radio. Ford was a generation ahead of Keynes. Another Great Potential because they were discriminated against in employment, education and opportunity. So I figured out that the smart corporations would suddenly become aware of that enormous market out there for everything from permanent Piper Cubs. And when they understood that, they would charge into the areas of prejudice and throw their weight around. A Happy Dream They would tell the people, in Little Rock, in Birmingham, in New York and in Los Angeles: "Here, you dumb whites! We can all have 20 million more customers if we treat these minorities right. We've got to give them education, a sense of belonging, and a chance to make good money like Ford gave those whites fifty years ago." And the idea that there were acres of diamonds and millions of customers waiting to be picked up would spread from corporations to other people, and even the restaurants in Atlanta would get the idea that if minorities were enriched in education, civil rights and income, business would boom. I never wrote the story; I was always waiting for the first sign of a break to sound a trumpet. It hasn't come. True, the corporations, great and small, are now acting to some extent. They are now avoiding discrimination in hiring, but mostly because the government is breathing down their necks. They are training minorities, mostly because they are in desperate need of trained men. They are minority graduates, not because they want show-window employees but because they want brains so badly they don't care what color skin they are under.

Many years later, when I started writing about business, I realized there was another, even greater, potential market. There were 20 million Negroes, Mexicans, Indians, Puerto Ricans and other minority groups who were abominably poor customers because they were poor themselves. And they were poor

NORAD Becomes Issue In Canadian Politics

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian-U.S. agreement to combine forces for the air defense of North America was born in political strife 10 years ago and the issue has cropped up again in the campaign for next Tuesday's national election.

T.C. Douglas, leader of the small New Democratic party, says the North American Air Defense Command—NORAD—is an obsolete concept and that Canada could find better uses for the $140 million it spent this way last year.

Robert Stanfield, the Conservative leader, says his party agrees that Canada should share in North American defense. He has shied away from expressing direct opinions on renewal of the agreement, due in five years. Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has also touched on NORAD, saying Canada should emphasize a continental defense role rather than participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization bloc.

His statement seemed to discount any Canadian initiative on NORAD if he remains in power. But the history of NORAD indicates that it won't be kept out of politics for long.

Canada joined it at a time when most Canadians agreed that Canada couldn't defend itself alone. Canada had already worked closely with the United States in setting up radar warning networks.

The Conservatives, then in power under Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, announced Aug. 1, 1957 that agreement had been reached with the United States to mesh air defenses.

Diefenbaker ran into controversy when he sought ratification by Parliament and he finally called for a new election to give him a mandate for his program.

Opponents said the effect was to put Canada's air force under control of a foreign power. Lester B. Pearson, then opposition leader and later prime minister, said the agreement had been negotiated in a "slap happy, casual way" and that Parliament had not been consulted.

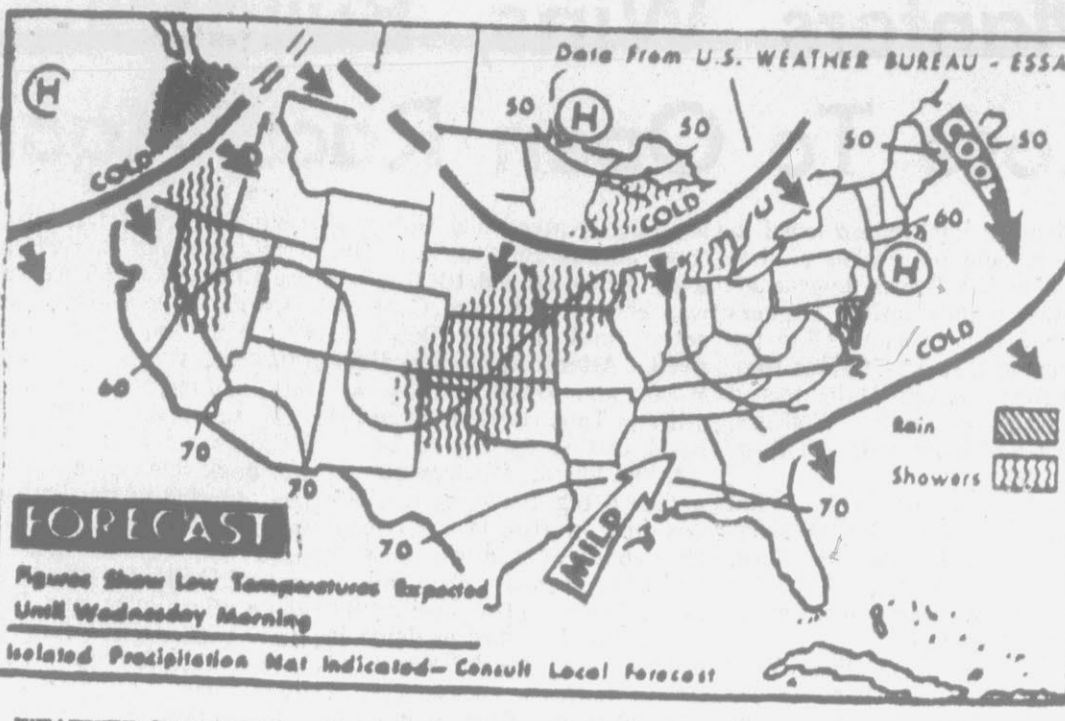

But Diefenbaker got a big majority in the election and won Commons agreement to the pact on a 200-8 vote June 19, 1958.

The government ordered the American Bomarc anti-aircraft missile, designed to carry nuclear warheads. That brought an outcry from groups opposed to introduction of nuclear weapons to Canada and prompted heated debates in the Commons. The Diefenbaker government split on the nuclear question and the warheads became an issue in the 1953 election. Pearson's Liberals emerged with enough seats to form a government and went ahead with nuclear tips for the Bomars.

There has been criticism that the NORAD system was set up to warn of approaching bombers and that the chance of jet-bomber attack is small because of the large missile arsenals built up by the United States and the Soviet Union. But NORAD's supporters say it is the only warning system against missiles and that a bomber attack is still possible.

One of the last acts of the Pearson government was five-year renewal of the NORAD agreement last April. Either government can call for review of the agreement's terms at any time and it may be terminated by either country on a year's notice.

Greenville Student Earns Perfect Academic Record

RALEIGH—A Greenville student attained a perfect academic record at North Carolina State University during the spring semester to lead a list of 17 honor students from Pitt County.

Chancellor John T. Caldwell praised Patrick G. Hatcher and 11 other Pitt County students for their academic achievements.

Hatcher, a sophomore majoring in chemistry, is among 60 NCSU men and women to gain a straight "A" record.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce E. Hatcher of 1905 E. 3rd St., and a 1966 graduate of J. H. Rose High School.

While 1,651 NCSU students were attaining the Dean's List, 482 were dismissed for academic difficulties—a ratio of more than 3 to 1 of honor students over those who were suspended.

Other Pitt County students gaining academic honors are: GREENVILLE—Zeno R. Allen, senior, economics, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Allen, Rt. 1; Robert T. Buck, senior, product design, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Buck, 1209 N. Pitt St.; Dwight E. Bullock, senior, wood technology, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bullock, Rt. 5; Kyle L. Vann, junior, mathematics, Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Vann, 1103 E. Rock Spring Rd.;

Others from Pitt County included: Edward L. Taylor, sophomore, textile chemistry, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Taylor, Rt. 1, Grifton; Robert C. Jackson, senior, textile technology, Mr. and Mrs. Horace R. Jackson, 402 N. Pitt St., Grifton; John M. Groet, senior, textile technology, Mr. and Mrs. John Groet, Grifton; Benjamin C. Burch, freshman, mathematics, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ross Jr., professional student in architecture, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ross Sr., of Raleigh, (he is a graduate of Ayden High School).

Coltrane Urges United Efforts

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—D. S. Coltrane, chairman of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council, says Negro and white parent-teacher groups should work together on the local level "to share with one another common problems and concerns."

Coltrane made the remark in a speech prepared for delivery Monday night to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in Wilmington.

Progress in race relations, Coltrane said, has fallen short of Negro expectations, causing increasing racial unrest. Conditions appear to be improving from the point of view of some whites, he said, "but the laws cannot wipe away centuries of oppression and injustice. It is people, we the people, that must wipe out the oppression and injustice. It is with us that the quest for unity begins."

Coltrane said, "The time has arrived when moderate whites must curb the haters within their own ranks, and the black moderates must curb their own extremists."

"The unmet needs of the black community present a challenge," he added. "The opportunities for better race relations are all around us. Together we must work to bring these opportunities to fruition."

Discuss School Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the Albemarle, N. C., School Board met with federal officials Monday to discuss methods of making their school desegregation plan acceptable to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A spokesman declined to comment specifically on the meeting.

If Albemarle fails to comply with HEW guidelines, the spokesman said, the board probably will be cited for a hearing which could lead to termination of federal funds.

Hungry Attackers

SAIGON (AP) — The manager of a restaurant in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section, said he lost his entire stock of turtles, monkeys, snakes, porcupines and boa constrictors when the Viet Cong occupied his establishment recently.

Warehouse Is Lost To Blaze

FUQUAY-VARINA, N.C. (AP) — The $200,000 Growers, Dixie and Star Tobacco Warehouse near Fuquay-Varina was destroyed by fire Monday night. The cause of the fire had not been determined.

Everett Clayton, owner of the Big Top Warehouse which burned two months ago, had recently purchased the Growers, Dixie and Star building. The Big Top Warehouse was located some 2½ miles from the Monday fire.

The most controversial aircraft ever approved for construction. But until last week, the outcome in the House Armed Services Committee had been uncertain. A private agreement has now been reached to go along with the Senate.

Had Enough LSD For 12,000 'Trips'; Freed

FORT ERIE, Ont. (AP) — John Staley, 23, of New York City, was acquitted Monday of possessing LSD for sale despite his admission that he had been carrying enough of the psychedelic drug for 12,000 "trips."

Staley was arrested on a bus at the U.S.-Canadian border May 25. Authorities said his suitcase contained $72,000 worth of the drug.

In a statement at his trial June 6, Staley said he was taking the LSD from New York to Toronto, where he was to have handed it over to an unidentified person at a hotel.

Magistrate Johnstone L. Roberts, in acquitting Staley, said there was no evidence that Staley had been offering the LSD for sale. Roberts said that possession of the drug has not been made an offense in Canada.

Noyes Col. ...

(Continued From Page 4) futile hawk-dove controversy which has plagued the Johnson administration, placing the emphasis on the "arts of his campaign, it is likely that his pronouncements on Vietnam and world affairs will be pitched more and more to a liberal audience.

This is particularly likely if the problem of the Republicans in dealing with the same issues continues to shape up as a kind of mirror-image of the Democrats. The new and vigorous challenge to Nixon being mounted by New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller can be expected to harden Nixon's line on the war and the issue of "law and order" at home.

Assuming that Nixon and Humphrey are nominated, therefore, something of a paradox is in the making. Nixon, running nominally as a candidate of change, will be forced into the position of defending many of the policies of the Johnson administration and relying on the support of the middle-road independent voter.

Humphrey, the administration man, may well find himself soft-pedaling the record of that administration in Vietnam and elsewhere, and pinning his hope of victory on an appeal to the forces of the liberal left.

There are limits, of course, to how far Humphrey can go in trying to heal the divisions within Democratic ranks.

Gun Curbs For San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Board of Supervisors has passed a gun law requiring the registration of all firearms sold or transferred within San Francisco.

Under the ordinance passed 7-3 Monday, registration will involve a $2 fee with a receipt like an automobile registration slip. Violators would be subject to a fine of up to $500 and up to six months in jail, plus confiscation of weapons.

Mayor Joseph Alioto called for such an ordinance immediately after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and urged citizens to turn in their firearms. His office says more than 300 have been turned in.

Coke Stays In Race With Win

Coca-Cola stayed in the race for the North State Little League title with a 7-3 victory over the Jaycees yesterday.

The Lions lead the league with a 9-3 record, while Coke is a half-game back with a 9-4 record. Another half-game behind is the Kiwanis, 8-4. Eliminated from the race are the Optimists and R.C. Cola, both 4-8, and the Jaycees, 3-10.

Coke pushed over three runs in the first inning. Pat Clark singled and Prince Bunting drew a walk. Dill Forbes doubled in Clark and Bunting, and made third on a passed ball, scoring on another.

In the second, Coke got what proved to be the winning run. Bobby Gadrow walked and Pudge Diket singled. Both advanced on a passed ball, and Pat Clark walked, loading the bases. Bobby Kittrell singled to drive in Gadrow for a 4-0 lead.

The Jaycees got into the act in the bottom of the second. Al

Pirates Shove Astros Deeper

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

What kind of host is it who locks his guests in the cellar?

The Houston Astros, who obviously overstayed their visit to Pittsburgh, have some idea today after the Pirates slammed the basement door on them.

The Pirates, stuck in the National League cellar themselves last Thursday, completed a five-game sweep of the Astros with a 4-3 victory Monday night that shoved Houston deep into last place.

Pittsburgh, tied for eighth, has won six straight.

The Atlanta Braves also took a step up the stairs, moving into second place with a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati in the only other game played.

Los Angeles was rained out at Philadelphia.

In the American League the Chicago White Sox shaded Cleveland 2-1, Minnesota summed Washington 4-1, Oakland tumbled Baltimore 3-2 and California tripped the New York Yankees 2-1 in 12 innings.

The Pirates, the biggest disappointment in the league this season, started their series in Forbes Field against Houston only one game ahead of the Astros after climbing out of the cellar with a victory over San Francisco last Thursday. They kept Houston in the dark by outscoring them 34-8 in the five games, extending the Astros' losing string to six.

Willie Stargell supplied a big shove Monday night by slamming his 11th homer in the fifth inning to break a 3-3 deadlock. Reliever Roy Face gave the final push, striking out Jimmy Salisbury walked, stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. Curtis Creech walked and a walk to Howard Corey loaded them up. Bill Ellington also drew a walk, forcing in Salisbury with the first Jaycee run. A single by David Duckett brought Creech over, and Mike Stevenson walked to force in Corey, making it 4-3.

Coke came up with two insurance runs in the fourth. Clark walked and Kittrell doubled. A walk to Bunting loaded them up, and Bobby Griffin walked to drive in Clark. Connie Cannon singled in Kittrell to make it 6-3.

The final run scored in the fifth. Gadrow walked, as did Diket. Both moved up on a passed ball, and Clark hit a sacrifice fly to score Gadrow.

Kittrell led the Coke hitting with two, while Duckett had two for the Jaycees.

Bando's Two-Out Single Brings Birds Down Again

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sal Bando suddenly has found Baltimore pitching to be a soft touch and the Oakland Athletics are driving the battered Orioles to ground.

Bando, who drilled three hits and drove in three runs as Oakland completed a doubleheader sweep over Baltimore Sunday, beat the fading Orioles 3-2 Monday night with a two-out run-scoring single in the ninth inning.

The loss, fifth in a row for the second-place Orioles, dropped them eight games behind front-running Detroit—closer to the bottom of the American League than the top.

The A's, who have beaten Baltimore six times in their last seven meetings, moved into a fifth-place tie with Boston—9½ games off the pace.

Jim Fregosi's 12th-inning homer gave California a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees. Monday walked and Bando broke the deadlock with a single to right.

The husky third baseman, whose batting average dipped to .238 after an 0-for-4 collar in the first game of Sunday's twin bill, has since collected four singles and a double in eight trips to the plate for a .250 season mark.

Fregosi led off the 12th with a homer off New York reliever Joe Verbanic, ending the Yankees' three-game winning string and overshadowing a brilliant pitching performance by the losers' Stan Bahnsen.

Bahnsen held the Angels hitless until Bobby Knoop's double and a single by recently acquired Vic Davalillo tied the game 1-1 in the sixth, and allowed only one more hit before leaving for a pinch hitter in the top of the 12th.

The Yankees pushed over a run in the sixth after filling the bases with none out against Jim McGlothlin, but shoddy baserunning cost them a bigger inning. McGlothlin worked out of another bases-loaded jam in the ninth before giving way to winner Minnie Rojas.

Voss, batting .140 going into the White Sox game against Cleveland at Milwaukee, broke up a scoreless duel in the seventh inning with his two-run triple off Steve Hargan.

Winner Jack Fisher blanked the Indians until the ninth, when pinch hitter Willie Smith double home an unearned run before reliever Bob Locker nailed the victory.

The setback ran Cleveland's losing streak to seven games, but still left the Indians in third place—8½ games out.

Kaat scattered eight hits and reeled off their fourth straight victory and extended Washington's winless streak to six games. Frank Quilici banged out a triple and double, scored one run and drove in another before Bob Allison's two-run homer in the eighth capped Minnesota's attack.

Richie Puryear got the second rally going with a walk. He moved to second on Ed Clark's fielder's choice and took third on a passed ball. Randy Alford then singled to score Puryear for a 3-0 edge.

The Moose picked up their lone run in the fourth inning. Keith Jones singled and Terry Glisson doubled to score him.

Brinkley struck out and walked five in allowing two hits. He was also the leading hitter for the Exchange, getting three hits.

Planters Wins, Builders Lose To Open Race Again

Planters Bank again found itself in sole possession of first place in the Teener League after last night's action. Planters downed College View 9-6 in the opener to take a half-game lead, and then Carolina Dairy topped second place Home Builders, which had been tied with Planters, 4-2.

That gave Planters, 6-1, a full game lead over the Builders, 5-2. State Bank holds down third, 3-3, followed by Pepsi-Cola, 3-4, and Carolina Dairy, 3-5. Last is College View, 1-6.

In the opener, College View pushed over two runs in the second. Gene Vincent singled and moved up on a wild pitch. Bob Lamb walked and Derek Dunn sacrificed them up. Vincent came across on a wild pitch and Lamb took third. Lamb then scored on a passed ball.

In the third, College View added another run. Jeff Barwick walked and scored on Tommy Durham's double.

Planters finally broke the ice in the bottom of the third. Stanley Cobb walked and stole second. Jimmy Bond walked, and tried to steal second, but the ball was errored, allowing Cobb to score, and moving Bond to third. After walks to Gary Woods and Wayne Owens, another to Tom Harrison forced in Bond, cutting the lead to 3-2.

In the fourth, Planters put together a big inning getting seven runs to rush to a 9-3 lead. Ed Coburn opened with a walk and stole second. Cobb walked, as did Lewis Gidley, loading the bases. Bond walked to drive in Coburn, but David Prewitt hit into a fielder's choice, getting Cobb at home. Woods walked to score Gidley, and a walk to Owens brought in Bond. Harrison also walked to score Prewitt, and Eric Vernon hit a sacrifice fly to score Woods. Coburn singled to drive in Owens and Harrison.

College View tried to rally in the sixth, getting three runs. Vincent and Lamb both walked and Derek Dunn singled in Vincent. Lynn Hudson got a hit to score Lamb, but Dunn was out trying to make it. Hudson then scored on Jim Heidenreich's out.

Dunn led the College View hitting with two, while no one on Planters, which got only two hits, had more than one.

In the second game, Home Builders set aim on trying to get back into a tie with Planters, scoring in the first inning. Steve Bostic walked, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. He then walked while Rick Boles and Bill Lee were walked, and then trotted across when Robbie Cox was hit by a pitch.

In the third, the Builders scored again. Joe West reached on a fielder's choice and stole second. Rick Boles singled, and an error on the play brought West across making it 2-0.

Carolina Dairy came up with one in the fourth. Paul Carr reached on a fielder's choice and Billy Sutton singled. Ronnie Ellis was safe on an error, scoring Carr.

In the fifth, two more runs pushed Carolina Dairy into the lead. Kim Harbin singled and stole second, then scored as Randy Phillips slapped a homer for a 3-2 lead.

The other run scored in the sixth. Carr walked and Sutton was hit by a pitch. Ellis sacrificed them up and after Jimmy Sugg walked, Harbin singled in Carr for the final 4-2 score.

Harbin led the Carolina hitting with four, while Phillips had two.

Exchange Nips Moose By 3-1

Robert Brinkley tossed a two-hitter as the Exchange downed the Moose, 3-1, in the Tar Heel League yesterday.

Pepsi-Cola has clinched no less than a tie in the league with a 10-2 record, while Security Life, the only team that can catch them, is 7-5. Greenville Tobacco is 6-6, followed by the Moose and Exchange, both 5-8, and the Elks, 4-8.

All three Exchange runs came across in the first inning. Louis Clark reached on a single and Billy Wilson doubled. Brinkley doubled in both runners, but was out trying to stretch his hit.

Paige Leading Teener Batting

Jimmy Paige of State Bank is the leading hitter in the Teener League and has a six-game hitting streak going for him.

Paige has picked up eight hits in 17 trips for a .471 average. He has hit safely in every game he's played, the only player in the league who has done this.

Right behind him is Kim Harbin of Carolina Dairy, who has picked up 12 hit in 27 at bats, the most hits in the league. His average is .444.

Following them is the only other four-hundred hitter, Bill Lee of Home Builders with an even .400.

Founding out the list are: Tommy Diggs, Pepsi-Cola, .381; Jimmy Bond, Planters Bank, .357; Joe West, Home Builders, .350; Eric Vernon, Planters Bank, .333; Tommy Durham, College View, .333; Jimmy Bryant, Pepsi-Cola, .333; and Gary Mills, Pepsi-Cola, .313.

Trevino Making Dream Come True

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — When Lee Trevino arrived in El Paso two years ago, the only job he could get at the Horizon Hills Country Club paid $30 per week plus fees for teaching golf lessons.

Today Trevino is one-third owner of the club and has a new goal of squaring the young course with the loan company before the end of summer.

Something best described as a riot broke out at the club when Trevino, a gregarious Mexican-American with a flat swing and four sub-par rounds, blazed home in record form Sunday to capture the U.S. Open.

"We wanted him to come home," said co-owner Jess Whittington. "We had this party all planned but Lee said he didn't have time for that social stuff now."

"He said he wanted to have the course paid for by the end of the summer. And he just might do it too," Whittington said with a twinge of amazement in his voice.

Trevino originally was not expected to return to El Paso until after the British Open next month, Whittington said, but he was due back here today because of the illness of his 3-year-old daughter, Lesley.

It was not immediately known if Trevino would withdraw from the Canadian Open in Toronto this weekend.

Jess, his cousin Don Whittington and Trevino are co-owners of the club. Trevino plays back a good portion of his tour earnings into the course corporation.

Jess and Don could take bows on Wall Street for the decision a year ago to borrow money to sponsor Lee on the golf tour.

"All I can say is it was one heck of an investment," Jess said.

Trevino migrated to West Texas two years ago but at that time Jess and Don were in the process of building up the club and couldn't really afford to hire Trevino.

"He asked if he could play here until he got his class A card," Jess said. "The best we could do was $30 per week plus his lesson fees."

But Trevino snapped up the offer and he was all over the place.

"He did everything," Jess said. "He revamped the store room, built new clubs racks, picked up range balls and even shined shoes when the regular shoe shine boy didn't show up."

"Finally we told him when he thought he was ready (for the pro tour), to let us know and we'd sponsor him."

Trevino decided he was ready one year ago and he entered the pro tour at the U.S. Open. He finished fifth, winning $6,000 and that's when he bought one-third ownership in the country club.

Possible Lawyer For James Ray Is No Stranger

By BILL EVANS
Associated Press Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Arthur J. Hanes, who has tentatively agreed to defend the man accused of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is no stranger to racial controversy. He was mayor of Birmingham in 1963 when racial disturbances shook the city and international attention was focused on Public Safety Commissioner Eugene "Bull" Connor and the use of police dogs and fire hoses to put down demonstrations. He defended three Ku Klux Klansmen accused of the 1965 slaying of civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in Hayneville, Ala. Two of the accused went free on state charges but were convicted on federal conspiracy charges. The third died. When he was mayor, Hanes accused King of being one of the instigators of Birmingham's troubles. Now, he is getting ready for a hurried trip to England to talk with the man accused of killing King while the civil rights leader was directing a protest in another Southern city—Memphis, Tenn.

Hanes plans to leave Wednesday to confer with James Earl Ray who, in a letter signed "R.G. Sneyd" asked Hanes to take the case. Sneyd is the name of the man being held as Ray was using when arrested.

The lawyer said he does not know who will pay Ray's legal fees but added, "I understand this man has funds."

Hanes' first taste of political life came in 1948 when he finished second in a five-man race for the presidency of the Jefferson County Commission. He then had a law practice in Birmingham.

Next came three years as a special agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Chicago and Washington.

In 1961, he was elected mayor of Birmingham. And with the office came a head-on confrontation with the forces of integration.

Of the disturbances in his city, Hanes said they were not spontaneous but had been carefully plotted at a Communist-inspired workshop a year before.

Hanes, who is 51, comes from an old central Alabama family. His maternal grandfather was a Confederate officer during the Civil War. His father was a Methodist minister. He obtained his law degree from the University of Alabama. Although he says that politics has always fascinated him, he since stepping down as mayor of his sons, Arthur Jr., in his has devoted most of his time to his private law practice. One partner.

DIVORCE LOANS

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bar Association's executive committee is considering a plan that would make available funds for legal fees for persons seeking a divorce. Clients would repay in monthly installments.

FROM PEN PAL . . . Barbara Hall Cannon of 1305 Dickinson Ave. looks over a display of more than 30 patches from various European Countries and several counties in Germany she has collected since February, 1967. The patches were sent to her by pen pal, Army Sgt. Joseph W. Phillips. The collection has stopped now, however. Mrs. Cannon was married several weeks ago to Rodney Cannon of Greenville. The cloth emblems started coming after Sgt. Phillips' mother asked the then-Miss Hall to write to her son. The two have never met but hope to be introduced when the Gritton man returns to the United States next month after five years in Germany.

Advisor To A Bunch Of 'Water Buffaloes'

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — For eight months a young Marine captain, Don Bonsper, has been the U.S. advisor to a bunch of "crazy water buffaloes."

It was not exactly what he had in mind when he graduated from the Naval Academy in 1965 but it has been rewarding, he says.

Bonsper's buffaloes are South Vietnamese marines of the 2nd Battalion, which won its nickname in battle three years ago.

The unit charged a Viet Cong position like "crazy water buffaloes," a captured guerrilla report said.

The Vietnamese marines, mostly farm youths with a healthy respect for the nation's cantankerous beast of burden, liked that and now sport a shoulder patch showing a wild-eyed buffalo.

While Bonsper watched, the little marines in camouflage green were doggedly pushing through a rubble street on the western edge of Saigon. Columns of smoke spiraled skyward and the buildings occasionally shook from rocket bursts. It was blistering hot.

Unperturbed, the blonde-crew-cut American checked grease-penciled maps, listened to the South Vietnamese major at his side and worked the battered pack-radios connecting with the helicopter gunships overhead. Although seven had died that morning and 11 were wounded, the South Vietnamese marines were relaxed and sometimes even carefree.

Scratching his head, Bonsper had to reach back to figure out how many men the 600-man battalion had lost since he joined it eight months ago.

"It must have been about 60 killed and 300 wounded."

Luckily, Bonsper had gone through that—and five previous months as a platoon leader and company executive officer with the American Marines—without being scratched.

From his home in Portville, N.Y., Bonsper won a Naval Academy competitive exam and emerged in 1964 as a Marine second lieutenant with a new bride and a Fulbright Scholarship for a year's study in Costa Rica.

A year later, he was in Vietnam. He has spent practically all of his time here in the field. The only break was a week's leave with his wife in Hawaii—returning Feb. 3 and driving straight to his battalion which was then also fighting in Saigon.

Now, in the little house where the Vietnamese marines had set up their command post, Bonsper peeked at a photo of his wife, carefully tucked inside the confidential folder of the battalion's official combat log, and contemplated his 25th birthday next month.

"I'll make it," he grinned. "I've got 15 days until I go home. I'm ready."

Claim Swindling In Car Market

MOSCOW (AP) — Sixteen men and a woman have gone on trial in Moscow on charges of swindling thousands of rubles from prospective car buyers by plying them with drugged champagne.

Three victims were poisoned by unexpectedly strong doses of the wine, the newspaper Vechernyaya Moskva—Evening Moscow—said in reporting the case. It did not say whether the three died.

The ring's method, the newspaper said, was to seek out someone who had been waiting a long time to buy a car—an item in short supply in the Soviet Union, offer him one for cash and then accompany the customer by train to another city to pick it up. During the train ride, a member of the ring would break out the champagne and rob the victim after the drug took effect.

Eating A Peach Wrecked Truck

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Thomas R. Zarcone, 51, of the Buffalo suburb of Amherst may have developed an aversion to peaches early Monday—and for good reason.

Zarcone was driving a truck and eating a peach when juice from the fruit squirted into his eyes. The vehicle went out of control and hit a pole. Zarcone was released from the hospital after treatment for arm and nose injuries.

Actors Equity Closes 19 Shows On Broadway

By BOB MONROE Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Dolly didn't say hello and Fiddler didn't fiddle as a strike by Actors Equity closed 19 Broadway shows.

Certain time Monday night found only a slow procession of pickets under the darkened marquees at such hits as "Cabaret," "George M!," "Hair," "Hello, Dolly!" and "Fiddler on the Roof."

The strike also closed nine road shows in cities from Wilmington, Del., to San Francisco. But it did not affect off Broadway productions.

The walkout was called by Actors Equity after it failed to reach agreement with Broadway producers on wages and other items to replace the contract that expired two weeks ago.

Producer David Merrick, who announced the death of two of his shows after the strike began, said after a City Hall meeting: "This strike could last for five years. There'll be nothing left of the theater when it's over."

The pickets who strolled the theater-lined streets of Times Square carried signs reading, "Actors on strike—no show until we get a contract." They distributed "fact sheets" to passersby.

At the theater hour the normally thronged sidewalks in the area were largely empty, restaurant maitre d's presided over deserted tables and taxicabs were available for the asking.

Disappointed playgoers, some of whom had bought their tickets months ago, lined up at box offices to get their money back or to trade their tickets for future performances.

The strike brought the first Broadway blackout since 1960 when Equity struck for nine days over pensions. Actor Ralph Bellamy headed the union during that walkout in which only 19 of 22 productions survived to reopen.

A brief Equity strike in 1964 ended after two matinee performances were canceled.

There was no sign of a quick end to the present dispute. The sides met separately at City Hall Monday evening to "explore the issues" with Deputy Mayor Robert Sweet and Vincent D. McDonnell, chairman of the state mediation board.

Equity seeks to have the $130-a-week minimum increased to $200, a shorter contract, retention of choruses for the full run of shows, premium pay for road shows and control over appearances of alien actors, chiefly British, on the New York stage.

The union has about 15,000 members but only about 800 of them worked in the affected shows. The strike affects thousands of others including members of 10 theatrical unions.

Merrick, speaking for the League of New York Theaters, accused Equity of renegeing on a contract agreed upon two weeks ago by the union negotiating committee which included an eight per cent wage hike.

He said the dispute was mainly with chorus members, whom he described as "teen-agers with no responsibilities."

Merrick said the Equity demands would raise the cost of bringing a musical to Broadway from the present $600,000 average to $900,000 and added that "would eliminate musical productions."

He announced the closing of his shows, "I Do! I Do!" and "How Now, Dow Jones."

Among the Broadway stars the mood was generally one of frustration and regret.

Those idled included Jill Haworth, Lloyd Bridges, Betsy Palmer, Joel Grey, Steve Lawrence, Eydie Gorme, Pearl Bailey, Janis Paige, Maureen Stapleton, Robert Goulet, David Wayne, Zoe Caldwell and Gordon MacRae.

Grey, star of "George M!" said, "It doesn't seem real. The idea that I'm not going to be at the theater putting on my make-up at 8 o'clock is simply unbelievable. I hope that we can reach a quick solution to this problem."

Fewer Dropouts Than Expected

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—College dropouts may be many fewer than is commonly supposed, a new survey of student attrition at the University of California's Berkeley campus indicates.

The survey shows that 50-55 per cent of students who begin their education at Berkeley eventually graduate there, and that another 15-20 per cent graduate from other colleges.

Thus, only about 30 per cent fail to earn a four-year degree. The survey indicates attrition rates for public educational institutions are much the same across the country.

The Worry Clinic Fight For Survival By The Pioneer Airlines

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-501: My brother, Dr. John B. Crane, is a former Harvard and Northwestern University economist.

Now he occupies the Musser Chair of Economics at Iowa Wesleyan.

But back in 1932, he was the leading aviation specialist in America so he was commissioned by the U. S. Congress to fly all the airlines and make recommendations concerning our entire airmail service.

At the outset, Uncle Sam had subsidized aviation to help develop our airmail lines.

But it was then decided to let private firms take over.

One bush pilot held the franchise on the airline route from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, Ohio.

Uncle Sam paid the airlines about $3 per pound to carry first class airmail, including this short Pittsburgh-Cleveland line.

So its operator finally hit upon a unique plan not only for maintaining adequate airmail traffic, but for greatly increasing his cash returns thereon.

For he found that if he sent big sacks of mail order catalogues at first class rates, he would zoom the total poundage and thus make a big hit with the Post Office.

Besides, every pound at first class rates, cost him only about $1.60 airmail postage, yet Uncle Sam returned him $3.00 per pound, so it was a bargain.

As a result, he began shipping large mail bags of catalogues and even thick city telephone directories, back and forth between Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

The Post Office was amazed at the terrific volume of airmail between those two cities.

And this owner of that small airline contract even went a step further, for he attached a tag to an ice cream freezer and sent that freezer back and forth for over 100 trips, all at first class airmail postage!

"In those early days," my brother added, "most people were even afraid to ride the airlines."

"Unless they were movie actors and thus seeking special publicity pictures and no velvet press coverage, they went by train."

"Once while I was in California, an intrepid passenger decided to take a flight to New York."

"But he died before the plane took off!"

"However, the airline didn't want to lose the money for his ticket, so the attendants carried him on the plane, and wrapped a blanket around him so he'd seem to be sleeping. Then they shipped him to New York.

"The other passengers didn't even know they were riding with a corpse!"

"And in those early days, the planes were cold and we got merely a box lunch."

"Most people didn't have much appetite, anyway, for the planes were so bumpy and noisy, you were likely to get airsick."

"Tom Mix once got on with me at Los Angeles, but he became so airsick by the time we reached Albuquerque, that he got off."

"Indeed, I even decided to stop at Kansas City and go to a hotel for the night."

"Next day I took another plane. But we overtook that original plane at Pittsburgh!"

"The tremendous development in air transportation since then is one of the marvels of this 20th century and merits a dramatic biographical story."

Raleigh Dinner Will Honor Mrs. J. B. Spillman, Sr.

Mrs. J. B. Spillman, Sr., retiring after 11 years as executive director of the N. C. Mental Health Association, will be honored with a 7 p.m. dinner at the Raleigh Statler Hilton Inn Thursday.

Leaving in September, Mrs. Spillman has been coordinating the state mental health program since 1957. Her office has been in Greenville.

President of the N. C. Mental Health Association H. G. MacLean of Haw River will preside over the program which includes Dr. J. W. Pou of Greenville. Dr. Green will give the invocation, and Dr. Pou, who has been arrangements chairman for the dinner, will introduce the guests.

Platform guests include Ed Rankin, Chairman of the N.C. Board of Mental Health; Dr. Leo Jenkins, President of East Carolina University; H. P. "Pat" Taylor, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Bob Scott, Lieutenant Governor and candidate for governor; and Terry Sanford, former governor.

Westmoreland acknowledged that allied losses also have been high but said they were nowhere near the proportion suffered by the other side.

The Viet Cong, Westmoreland said, have failed in every one of their objectives—to "take over the government, inspire an uprising among the people, defeat the South Vietnamese military and isolate the free world forces."

Westmoreland later paid a courtesy call on Prime Minister Eisaku Sato. The general was accompanied by David L. Osborn, minister - counsel at the U.S. embassy.
