'Incompetent' For Trial

LEXINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Charles D. Bennett, 55, of Winston-Salem, identified by police as the passenger who fatally shot a bus driver and wounded another passenger last May 10, has been declared incompetent to stand trial.

A report of the psychiatric examination ordered by Superior Court Judge Robert A. Collier was returned this week to the clerk of Davidson Superior Court. Bennett is under treatment in a state mental institution.

He was charged with first degree murder in the death of Larry E. Nissen of Winston-Salem, driver of the Greyhound bus which was making a nonstop run from Winston-Salem to Charlotte on Interstate 85. The shooting occurred south of Lexington when Nissen refused Bennett's request to stop the bus.

One-Upmanship By Tots

NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone who's tried to figure out the meaning of a painting by Pablo Picasso can now secretly chuckle.

The tables have been turned by a group of 4-year-olds.

The 16 tots, offspring of New York University faculty members, have collaborated on a gift of a piece of artwork to the Spanish master.

They've spent about a fourth of their young lives, while attending the University Plaza Cooperative Nursery School, putting together a multicolored creation of painted wood and paper, topped by a small pennant.

No one knows with certainty what the children had in mind.

Older hands reinforced the whatsit with nails to insure its survival during transporation to Picasso's home in southern France.

Carl Nesjar, a sculptor who plans to deliver the children's work personally to Picasso, said Thursday: "He'll love it. He has a feeling for things of this kind."

Democrat For Gardner

RALEIGH (AP) — Republican gubernatorial nominee Jim Gardner announced today that Felix Harvey, a Kinston Democrat, will head a state-wide "Democrats for Jim Gardner" Committee.

At the same time, Gardner said that "for the past several months my office has been swamped with hundreds of letters and calls from concerned Democrats offering their support of my campaign for governor."

Gardner also released at a special news conference the names of 11 members who he said will be on the "Democrats for Gardner" Committee.

They are Ed A. Morris, board chairman of Blue Bell Inc., Greensboro; Francis Essic, basketball coach at Pfeiffer College; E. M. Pittman, mayor of Hookerton; Jim R. Twisdale Sr., 81-year-old Halifax County resident; Dallas Hudson, former Democratic precinct chairman in Harnett County.

Also, Charles Murphy Edwards, president of Tri-City Motor Co., Roanoke Rapids; John Whitaker Sr., former board chairman of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem; Mrs. Wilson Leggett, Elizabethtown housewife who served as "Women for Broughton" chairman in Bladen County; Thomas M. Evins of Oxford, president of W. A. Adams Tobacco Co.; C. E. Shaw, mayor of Halifax; and Mrs. Ben T. Harper, a Snow Hill housewife and second runner-up in the 1954 Mrs. America Pageant.

Colonel Airs His Thanks

HONG KONG (AP) —A man identified as a U.S. Air Force colonel shot down and wounded near Hanoi last October took to the airwaves Friday to thank his captors for their "humane treatment."

The speaker identified by Radio Hanoi only as Col. John P. Flynn, did not make any political comments nor did he call on American fighting men to defect.

In a broadcast monitored here, Col. Flynn was quoted as saying:

"Despite the fact that I was a pilot who had participated in raids against (North Vietnam)... I received massive doses of penicillin and all other medical treatment I needed.

"I wish the bombing could stop and the war could end so that the people of Vietnam could get on with the job of building their nation."

Grant And Loan For Walstonburg OK'd

WALSTONBURG — Approval of a $292,000 grant and a $73,000 loan to help prepare an industrial park and create jobs in Walstonburg, was announced recently by the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

The funds will enable the Greene County community to expand water and sewer facilities for a 22-acre site by providing a new water-filtration plant and well, and sewage-treatment facilities. The 22-acre site is now under option for use as an industrial park by a local development corporation. The applicant estimates the park will attract to the area firms that should create about 170 jobs.

The federal funds were requested by the town of Walstonburg. In applying for the grant, Walstonburg officials said the Wilson County Technical Institute can provide vocational instruction for persons hired to work in plants that locate in the park.

Total cost of the project is $365,000. The loan is repayable in 40 years at 4¼ per cent annual interest.

EDA was established to assist economically lagging areas in the nation. It provides public works grants and loans, business loans, planning and technical assistance.

Heart Transplant Is Undertaken In Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) —A 49-year-old electrical designer, who doctors said had little time to live after suffering his third heart attack, underwent heart transplant surgery today in the Montreal Heart Institute.

He was receivingt he heart of a 23-year-old man who had died as the result of a traffic accident.

The operation is the 22nd in the world. Four of the transplant recipients are still living, including Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 59, who received a heart in Cape Town, South Africa, Jan. 2.

Post-Storm Activity

A. J. STANCILL propping up tobacco on the farm of his father, W. J. Stancill.

Strong Wind, Rain Cause Some Damage To Crops

Considerable crop damage and slight damage to buildings occurred late Thursday afternoon between Greenville and Pactolus.

The strong wind, accompanied by heavy rains, centered on an area approximately one mile wide and about three miles long between the Rams Horn Road and Old Creek Road.

Greatest damage was to tobacco and corn, with some trees blown down and a few roofs dislodged.

Farmers in the area were busy this morning propping up the tobacco which had been blown down.

Mack Ray Haddock said he hoped to have his tobacco bark in place by the end of the day.

Frankie Coburn and his son, Frankie Jr., were removing a large pin-oak tree which barely missed smashing into their home.

Tobacco on the farm of W. J. Stancill was almost flat on the ground. Stancill's son, A. J., and Charlie Adams were leading a group straightening the stalks up this morning. They stated they thought damage would amount to perhaps $2,000.

The Pitt County Agricultural Agent and the Federal Crop Insurance office indicated that no reports of damage in other areas had been received.

The Greenville Utilities Commission weather station reported .68 inch of rain fell in Greenville during the thunder storm.

The storm resulted in a number of temporary electrical outages by users of the Greenville Utilities in the Greenville area late yesterday afternoon and early in the evening.

Outages were due to lightning striking utility lines and transformers serving customers.

Living Costs Again Rose During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose three-tenths of 1 per cent in May, continuing upward at an annual rate of more than 4 per cent, the Labor Department reported today.

Biggest price boosts last month were for clothing, up nearly 1 per cent and food, up four-tenths of 1 per cent, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the bureau said "The upward trend of prices will continue for several months."

This year's rate of climbing living costs is the fastest in more than a decade.

At the same time, the bureau said average wages of some 45 million nonsupervisory workers rose $1.59 per week to a record weekly high of $106.03.

But the purchasing power of the average paycheck was still slightly below last year because of the rapidly rising prices.

The rise of living costs pushed the government's consumer price index to 120.3. This means it cost $12.03 in May to purchase typical family needs worth $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Chase said the recently enacted 10 per cent income tax surcharge would eventually have some effect on slowing the price rise, but not for at least several months.

2-Year-Old Killed On A Busy Highway

WINTERVILLE — A two-year-old Negro child was killed here yesterday when struck by a car on busy highway N.C. 11.

Roslyn Lynette Boyd of Route 1, Winterville died instantly of injuries she received in the mishap, Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey reported.

The child, he said, was struck by a car being driven by Dianne Venters Weatherington of Route 2, Ayden, about 5:15 p.m.

The Boyd child staying with relatives in Winterville, was on the porch of a house on N.C.11, when a truck carrying a load of tobacco workers stopped on the opposite side of the highway.

The child darted from the porch and started across the highway to meet her uncle—a passenger on the truck — and was struck by the car.

No charges were placed in the fatal mishap, Harvey said. He ruled the death accidental.

The fatality was the 13th on Pitt County highways so far this year.

Storm Interrupts Electric Service

Electric service was interrupted for a "considerable number" of Greenville Utilities Commission customers last night.

The outages, according to GUC director Leonard P. Bloxam was the "result of lightning" which accompanied a rain storm here.

"We probably replaced 10 transformers at various locations, and handled something like 100 no-current service calls," the director explained. "Most of the no-current calls involved blown fuses or transformers," he added.

According to Bloxam, the majority of the outage calls were completed by midnight.

Hot weather continued to increase the city's electric demands yesterday, the director reported.

The Utilities commission hit a new peak with a remand Wednesday of 53,600 kilowatts, with the demand peak yesterday the second highest on record at 50,800 kilowatts.

Power consumption hit a new peak for Greenville Monday when a demand of 50,400 kilowatts was reported. That topped the previous high for any single day recorded last summer of 44,200 KWs, by 6,200 KWs.

The record-breaking peaks were attributed to the hot weather causing air conditioning units to be used more than ever.

Yesterday's high as recorded at the GUC weather station was 93, while the low for the day was 80 degrees.

Temperatures at midnight stood at 77 degrees while at 8 a.m. today the temperature was 73.

Rain yesterday totaled .68 inch.

Wind this morning was from the southwest at three to six miles per hour. The Tar River level varied from 2.8 to 3.2 feet.

Bloxam said Utilities officials have over the past few days been attempting to determine "where all the load had developed at one time" and noted two factors have been found to exist.

He said, "last summer we did not have any extremly hot weather—as compared with the last several days—so air conditioning use never reached its maximum.

"This year we picked up that additional load, plus the load of air conditioners installed during the past 10 or 11 months."

Gun Controls See Setback In Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive for stronger gun control laws, already beset by delays and apparent adverse public reaction, suffered what may be a crippling setback.

The latest blow was a 7-5 vote by the Senate judiciary Committee Thursday to delay forther consideration of weapons control bills until July 9.

"Those concerned about the passage of responsible firearms legislation had better realize that this was a real setback" Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said.

The outlook for new legislation urged by President Johnson had been dimmed previously by a slowdown in the House and by a sharp reversal in an initial flood of mail favoring strong gun controls after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Could See Price Supports Go

Tobacco Growers Told Tide Running Strongly Against Them; Now Fewer Friends

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Tar Heel tobacco growers were told today "the tides are running very strongly against tobacco as a commodity" and that they could wake up some day and find their government price support program abolished.

"We have less friends today outisde the tobacco producing areas than we have ever had in the last 30 years," said Carl T. Hicks of Walstonburg, president of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp. at the organization's annual meeting.

"I sincerely challenge you and all tobacco growers to reexamine your philosophy and attitude because we could awake some morning" and find the tobacco price support program abolished, he said.

Hicks pointed out that stabilization's stocks now total 770 million pounds and that it owes the Federal Commodity Credit Corp. over $507 million for loans made on tobacco in price support operations.

Hicks told the growers they must "resolve to do something about reducing the surplus of flue-cured tobacco." He indicated that a cut in tobacco acreage allotments may be one answer.

"I seriously challenge you and all other growers in the flue-cured area to think seriously because we can't expect the government to continue to support us in our program" if surplus stocks continue to pile up.

L. T. Weeks, stabilization general manager told the growers there "has never been a time when tobacco was not in some kind of trouble ranging from minor local difficulties to major crises throughout the industry. History also reveals the tobacco economy has survived the many periods of advertisty and has always recovered, and usually into a stronger economic position."

Weeks also said that despite their troubles in the area in which it is produced tobacco is "more profitable than other commodities produced."

R. A. Darr, president of the Federal Land Bank and the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Columbia, S.C., told the group that "our efficient agriculture is the primary basis for the strength of our nation and its position of world leadership."

Nomination Opposition Is Growing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of President Johnson's naming a new chief justice are claiming increasing support in both parties and the offensive seems to have taken the Senate Democratic leadership by surprise.

The opposition, centered so far largely on a petition being circulated by Senate Republicans, is "a little more emphatic than I anticipated it would be," Democrat Senator Mike Mansfield said Thursday night.

"I don't know what these people can do," commented Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which will consider Johnson's appointments of Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice.

Fortas would replace the retiring Earl Warren with Thornberry stepping up from the U. S. Court of Appeals in Austin, Tex., to fill the vacancy created by Fortas' elevation.

Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., described the GOP move to block the nominations "a blatant political maneuver" and "the worst sort of hypocrisy."

"In 1960, when a Senate resolution urged President Eisenhower not to make Supreme Court appointments while the Senate was not in session, the Republicans were up in arms," Brewster said in a statement today.

"They argued that it was imperative that there be a full complex of justices at all times," he continued. "Yet today, with Congress still in session, with the Senate fully prepared to confirm or reject these nominations on their own merits, some Republicans tell us that it is now best for the country to leave the highest seat on that court vacant for almost six months."

"This is partisan double talk," Brewster contended, "and I hope my colleagues recognize it for what it is."

A question was raised in the Judiciary Committee about whether a vacany really exists on the court since President Johnson said, when announcing Warren's retirement, it was "subject to the appointment of a qualified successor."

The committee called Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to testify on the question July 11. But the Justice Department hastened to cite what it called numerous precedents for approving court appointees before a predecessor actually stepped out.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who said he won't sign the Griffin petition but has not taken a public stance on the nominations, said "It is a fine question. If no vacancy exists there is nothing to fill."

Earlier Start For Old Belt Leaf Markets

RALEIGH (AP) — Flue cured tobacco markets in the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt will open two weeks earlier than usual this year, with nine sets of buyers.

The limited early opening was approved late Thursday by the industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee, which rejected growers efforts to win early sales on the other two northern-most marketing areas, the North Carolina Eastern and Middle belts.

The committee meeting in Raleigh actually approved —by a 14-9 vote — a motion for limited early opening of the three belts, but the motion was withdrawn after spokesmen for the buying companies said they could not accept the plan.

The Old Belt, which normally opens in late September with 26 buyers, will operate at just over one-third buying strength for the first two weeks.

Grower James B. Hunt of Wilson made the original motion for early openings at one-third strength in the three northern belts. The proposal, supported by a group of Farm Bureau and Grange representatives, would have permitted the Eastern Belt to open three weeks after sales begin on the Georgia-Florida belt, and the middle belt belt would have followed a week later with the Old Belt opening set two weeks after auctions begin on the Middle Belt.

After the buyers' minority said an early opening would not be feasible on more than one belt this year, Hunt withdrew his motion with the comment: "We've made our point. We don't want to endanger the Old Belt getting its opportunity for an early opening this year."

The committee endorsed a proposal adopted over buyers' objections, to recommend opening of the South Carolina-Border North Carolina Belt "not later than July 23," about 10 to 20 days earlier than usual.

The first flue-cured sales of the season will be on the Georgia-Florida Belt, and Georgia Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell will announce the opening date July 12.

In other action Thursday, the industry committee approved a sales schedule proposed by buyer spokesman Howard Cone of Richmond, Va. The schedule calls for Georgia-Florida markets to sell four hours a day, five days a week for eight sales days then drop to four hours a day, four days a week. All other belts with the exception of Eastern North Carolina markets will operate four hours a day, four days a week from the beginning. The Eastern Belt will sell five hours a day, four days a week because Eastern Belt Growers have complained they receive less sales time in their own belt than any other markets in proportion to the amount of tobacco produced in the area.

The four-day week will run from Monday through Thursday on all belts after the opening week of sales.

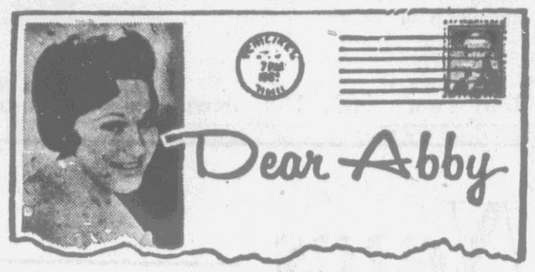
Mother's Humor Did The Trick



By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the teen-aged girls who kept their room in a horrible mess to the dismay of their mother reminded me of my own girlhood. My sister and I were also careless and lazy about keeping our room tidy. No amount of nagging or threatening helped.

Finally, one day Mother came into our room with a WHEELBARROW and RAKE and proceeded to "clean" our room. We all had a good laugh, but somehow after that we kept our room clean. Sometimes humor gets thru when everything else fails.

MRS. D. L. P., CALGARY

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl. I am a virgin and I intend to stay that way until I get married.

With my parents' permission, I started going steady with a boy I'll call Vic. He is 20. Vic is a gentleman and he treats me with respect.

Vic's mother invited me to her house for supper last night to "get acquainted." She seemed very nice and friendly and I really liked her. Then she got me aside and said, "It's none of my business how far you go with my son, but as a favor to me, I want you to take these birth control pills. I'll buy them and keep you supplied. All I want is your promise that you will take them."

Abby, I was too shocked to say anything except, "Thank you very much, Mrs.—, but I won't be needing them."

She insisted that I take them anyway, saying, "Vic's older brother had to get married three years ago, and I don't want to go thru that again, so as a favor to ME, I want you to take them. And please don't say anything to Vic about this." And she shoved them into my purse.

Abby, I am not going to take these pills. I don't need them. Should I tell Vic? What if Vic's mother asks me if I am taking them? Should I loe and say yes to avoid an argument? I honestly don't know what to do and I can't ask my mother.

VIC'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Give the pills back to Vic's mother and tell her firmly that you appreciate her offer, but you have no use for them. I see no point in telling Vic.

DEAR ABBY: I am stumped. We have a young woman renting a room from us. My wife and kids will be gone most of the summer and I would rather not have that girl staying here while my family is gone.

There is no attraction on either side, so that's not it. Also I'm not worried about gossip. I just would rather not have her here is all.

She doesn't have a lease, so that's no problem. I mentioned this to my wife a couple of weeks ago, and so far she's done nothing about it. I am very easy going and dislike scenes, so what do you advise me to do?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Search your mind and try to come up with the REAL reason you don't want the girl there. (Could be you're deceiving yourself.) In any case, as long as you know you want her out, ask your wife to tell her she'd better look for another room — or YOU tell her.

DEAR ABBY: Will you PLEASE make some attempt to curb the incessant babbling of doting grandmothers? Many a good card game has been ruined because these slobbering idiots don't know enough to keep quiet about a subject that is a crashing bore to others.

We even tried imposing a 10 cent fine at our bridge club for every mention of "what my adorable grandchild said." One simpleton announced that the 10-cent fine wasn't going to stop her from talking about HER cute little granddaughter, so with that she threw a ten dollar bill on the table and launched into an endless monologue about the world's smartest 4-year-old. She said it was worth it.

Here's a story our minister told that brought down the house: A doting grandmother said to her friend, "Say, have I ever told you about my grandchildren?" Her friend replied, "No, and I sure do appreciate it."

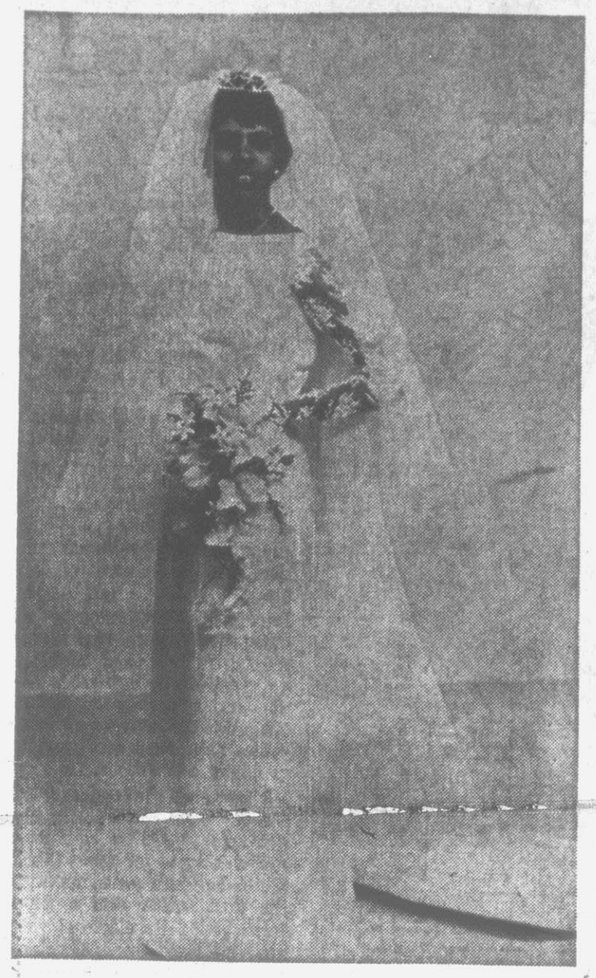
Couple Spoke Vows Saturday



MRS. WILLIE ALBERT WHITFIELD

Miss Deloris Yvonne Dail became the bride of Cpl. Willie Albert Whitfield, USMC, Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Ayden Missionary Baptist Church.

The Rev. C. B. Gray officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mamie K. Dail of Ayden and the late Mr. Frank Dail. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Annie Mae Whitfield of Delhi, La.

The church was decorated with traditional green and white arrangements of gladioli, snapdragons and magnolias. Two seven-branched candelabra entwined with miniature ivy formed the background. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ella Hardy, organist, and Mrs. M. B. Burney, soloist, who sang, "Because." Mrs. Hardy sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her nephew, Willie Jackson Jr. of Bridgeport, Conn., wore a formal gown of silk peau de soie, designed with a scoop neckline and long lace sleeves reembroidered with seed pearls. A chapel train extended from the shoulders and was styled with matching lace appliques. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of embellished rhinestones and pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Lossie Quinerly, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal A-line gown of mute green. Her matching headpiece featured a self-fabric rose and a veil of silk illusion.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mary Leggette Whitehead of Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Barbara Ann Smith of Winterville and Miss Bettie Pearl White of Greenville. They wore pale blue dresses and headpieces identical to that of the honor attendents.

Pvt. John Davis of Norfolk, Va., served as best man. Ushers were Cpl. John Wilmer, L-Cpl. J. Tarner, and L-Cpl. Alford Williams, all of Norfolk, Va.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dail chose a shocking pink lace dress with matching accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

The bride attended Greenville School of Commerce and is presently employed in the bookkeeping department of Planters National Bank in Greenville. The bridegroom attended Monroe College in Monroe, La., before entering the United States Marine Corps.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into an off-white dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories.

The couple will reside in Norfolk, Va.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's mother entertained at a reception in the social hall of the church.

The Whitfield- Dail wedding party was honored at an after-rehearsal dinner Friday night. Host and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, Miss Deloris Nobles and Miss Gloria Dixon.

Holshouser Plans Resign Today As GOP Delegate

BOONE, N. C. (AP) — State Republican Chairman Jim Holshouser planned to resign today as head of the North Carolina delegation to the GOP national convention in favor of gubernatorial nominee Jim Gardner.

Holshouser said Thursday he would present his resignation at a closed meeting of the delegation today.

He said Gardner should fill the post to gain exposure at the party's convention in Miami.

"Now that the primary is over," Holshouser said "it is important that all Republicans stand united for the fall campaign, and naming our candidate for governor as the chairman of the delegation to the national convention is one tangible way in which this can be done."

Truckers Open Door To Criticism

Violations uncovered in a 72-hour concentrated check of trucks entering North Carolina from South Carolina gives some indication of the number of truckers violating the state's highway regulations every day.

The check at 13 points along the South Carolina border early this week brought to light 349 violations and resulted in 130 arrests and penalties assessed against truckers amounting to more than $35,000.

While the amount of penalties may make the exercise appear a profit-making venture of the Department of Motor Vehicles, the money involved represents only a factor in the matter. If that much in penalties was owed the state by those checked along the South Carolina border, how many other trucks were there operating in the state from other areas that were likewise violating one or more of the state's highway regulations.

The situation does not warrant a blanket indictment of the trucking industry for taking advantage of a state which cannot possibly keep tabs on every truck operating on its highways. Yet the findings in the concentrated check does suggest that a great many more violations are taking place than should be. They suggest that the truckers should exercise greater care on their own to avoid violating the state's regulations governing the huge vehicles using the highways. The findings also indicate the Motor Vehicles Department might in future months give greater attention to trucks using North Carolina's highways than they have in the past.

Most citizens recognize that the trucking industry pays an enormous amount each year in licenses and taxes for the privilege of moving vehicles over public roads. The trucking industry should no more be subject to punitive costs for using the highways than other motorists. At the same time, it should be expected that the trucking industry should exercise every reasonable caution to see that its vehicles respect highway regulations govrning weight, size and other provisions for trucks just as they respect the laws governing highway safety.

Findings in the concentrated check of trucks raises a question concerning the care taken by truckers to avoid violating a number of the North Carolina regulations.

Real Continuing Study Indicated

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — A long range study being conducted by the State Board of Higher Education and now nearing completion will be an on—going continuing project. It has to be.

WILLIAM SHIRES

An overall, up-to-date report is scheduled to be submitted in August, in plenty of time for careful consideration and thought before convening of the 1969 General Assembly. The report is supposed to be the basis for constructive planning and meaningful steps by the next legislature toward meeting the challenge and needs of higher education in North Carolina during the next decade.

But these challenges and needs are changing and increasing. The present study, which has taken nearly two years, does not pretend to be the final word.

The Board of Higher Education itself says, "this blueprint for future development will be updated on a continuous basis as long - range planning is a process, not an event. It never terminates."

Study Objectives

A great deal of change has occurred since the present study was begun in 1966. Some change was foreseen at that time —other was not.

Change, however, has not altered the prime objectives of the long - range study. These include allocation of functions, the role, scope and optimum size of the various institutions, both public and private—a total of 71 in the state.

Of course, what the Board of Higher Education recommends regarding private institutions will be advisory only since these schools are administered by separate, private boards of trustees and private or church-related organizations. But private institutions are included in the study in order to give a broad, comprehensive picture of higher education and its trend across the state.

Involved In Planning

The Board's latest interim report points out that private colleges and universities are involved in the planning process in "appropriate ways."

"Their academic programs and their plans for future enrollments are factors to be considered as recommendations are developed concerning the future growth of higher education in the State." The board adds that the sum total of planning efforts by all concerned should simplify the picture and bring about "better results for money spent" by students and the state for higher education.

Role Of Board

Such long - range planning in the field of higher education was a goal set out when the legislature created the Board of Higher Education nearly 15 years ago.

It began as a study commission created in 1953 and instructed to report findings on the "role and function" of state-supported institutions to the 1955 General Assembly. It became evident quickly that less than two years was not sufficient time for such a task and that no part time study commission could do the job adequately. The commission itself recommended a continuing study and coordinating authority by a permanent, statutory board, and this was created by an act of the 1955 General Assembly.

It is explicit in the legislation creating the Board as a statutory body that it is not a governing board, but a planning and coordinating agency.

The priority assignment is planning. And the law states that the Board should seek cooperation of all of the institutions of higher education and other educational agencies in planning a system. . .that will serve all the higher educational needs of the state..."

Khe Sanh Base Not Necessary

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — The abandonment of Khe Sanh may be a propaganda setback for the United States, but it does not reduce the American military position significantly.

Khe Sanh is the first major U. S. base in Vietnam to be abandoned because of enemy pressure. During the 77-day winter siege of the base by two North Vietnamese divisions, it became a symbol of American determination to stand fast in Vietnam.

Top U. S. officials in Washington and Saigon said that the base would be defended at all costs. Spokesmen for the U. S. Marines pushed the line "If we leave Khe Sanh, South China Sea?"

Hanoi can be expected to repeat the American statements on Khe Sanh to bring pressure on the Paris peace talks and to bolster the standing of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong in influential world capitals.

One U. S. Marine officer at Khe Sanh openly criticized the American propaganda during the siege, saying that the vulnerability of the position to North Vietnamese siege guns in Laos ended its usefulness.

The new western anchor of the allied line below the demilitarized zone is at Landing Zone Stud, a supply base with an airstrip 10 miles east of Khe Sanh. This area has been in Marine hands all along, and the base could have taken over Khe Sanh's activities at any time.

Operations against enemy units along the western portion of the DMZ can be launched as easily from Landing Zone Stud as from Khe Sanh.

In announcing its decisions to abandon Khe Sanh, the U. S. Command cited not only a big increase in enemy strength and new tactics but also the need to keep U. S. troops mobile. Khe Sanh, in short, tied down too many allied troops for its military values and was a sitting duck for North Vietnamese artillerymen.

Not that life will be simple at Landing Zone Stud. The bulk of the rounds that hit Khe Sanh were rockets and mortars, and these weapons can be moved easily to new mountain positions from which they can hit the new main forward base. But shorter Marine lines of communication should bolster the U.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
KNOWLEDGE AND LIFE

To what extent is the world going to be saved by knowledge? Certainly no generation has gathered unto itself so much knowledge as the generation in which we live. We have not conquered all disease, but we have conquered many diseases which in the past were considered incurable. No government in the world is perfect or anywhere near perfect, but we know more today about human relationship than ever before and are more determined than we have ever been that justice will be accorded to all.

Yet with the vast amount of knowledge we have—and our scientific knowledge is certainly stupendous—we are far from happy and sufficient in our everyday living. We suffer from evils that have long plagued the world. We are still fighting battles over issues that engaged the attention of men centuries ago.

The truth of the matter is that with all our amazing knowledge today we have not advanced ourselves to anything like satisfactory living. Races rises against race. Criminality fights law. Disease spreads like a scourge over vast areas. Poverty continues to exist. It would seem that the more we learn the more are we conscious of the fact that our grasp of knowledge is weak and almost futile. If we are going to save ourselves and the world it looks as if it is going to take more than knowledge for us to accomplish this.

Let us seek to know more, but let us realize that faith, kindliness, generosity and unselfishness will do more to heal the sores of the world than will vast knowledge.

Local Kiwaninas Have Big Time At Bayview

Despite rainfall of cloudburst proportions, members of the Greenville Kiwanis Club went down to Bayview yesterday and enjoyed their annual outing. The outing was in the form of a plunge in the ripping waters of the Pamlico bay, dinner at the Bayview Hotel last night and an old fashioned "Square dance" given at the pavillion at end of the long pier stretching far out into the bay. . . In the word of President Frank Harrington C. B. Rowlett, and other prominent members of the organization, "the affair was a huge success.". . .

Auto Registration Foes

WASHINGTON — The Committee to Abolish the Registration of Automobiles and the Licensing of Drivers has just opened up a lobby in Washington and I was happy to visit with Roger Crash, their spokesman.

Mr. Crash said, "We have formed this organization because the constitutional rights of all automobile drivers are at stake. There is no reason why anybody should not be allowed to own and drive an automobile in this country without his rights being infringed by local, state and federal authorities."

"Obviously you're against registration of vehicles, then?"

"We certainly are. Most people who drive should not be inconvenienced by some bureaucrat who wants to know what they intend to use a car for. There is a conspiracy in this country to get everyone to register their automobiles, so they eventually can be taken away from them."

"Who is behind the conspiracy?"

"The Communists. They know that America would collapse overnight if their automobiles were confiscated. This country is going through an hysterical period right now. They blame all the automobile deaths and accidents on the drivers.But you're not going to prevent accidents by asking people to register their vehicles. If somebody wants a car to kill somebody, he'll find it, no matter how many laws you have."

"You're also against a driver's tests, aren't you?"

"We certainly are. Why should you penalize the law-abiding average driver by making him take a driver's test, just to catch a few nuts who are outside the law?

"By asking someone to take a driver's test, you are subjecting him to indignity and guilt by association. You cannot punish the car-loving automobile for pleasure, in citizen who only uses his automobile for pleasure, in order to prevent accidents caused by lawless elements of our society."

ART BUCHWALD

"Mr. Crash, one of the arguments for registering automobiles and making people take a driver's test is that it prevents the vehicles from getting into the hands of children, criminals and unstable people who might cause accidents."

"The bleeding hearts and do-gooders use this argument all the time, but the automobile is part of our American birthright. Has it ever occurred to you that in every make their people register their automobiles and take a driver's test?"

"Is your society for doing away with traffic laws as well?"

"We are against what would inconvenience a driver in any way. People must be free to do what they want with their automobiles. Our economy depends on motor vehicles. Every time you pass a traffic law you discourage someone from buying a car. Traffic laws do not prevent accidents; people prevent accidents."

"How do you propose to repeal the registration and driving test laws that are now on the books?"

"By launching a mammoth letter campaign. We're going to ask everyone who owns a car to write his congressman and senator demanding the repeal of all laws having to do with motor vehicles. This is an election year and,

To The Editor

The 1967-68 year, just now drawing to a close as the Center closes for the summer, marks a high point in the history of the East Carolina Art Society and the Greenville Art Center; the Center's service to the community has been considerably expanded and its sphere of influence extended. A major contribution to our success was the excellent publicity accorded our program by your newspaper, and we are most grateful.

No doubt you are already aware of your good fortune in having a topnotch staff, but I want to add my personal expression of appreciation. During the three years of my tenure as director of the Art Center, Rosalie Trotman's spirit of cooperation, competence, and unfailing good nature have been consistently in evidence. Without her and Blanche Hardee, the responsibilities of my job would have been truly unwieldly. The sense of accomplishment on behalf of the Center, which I feel at this point in time, would be much diminished had I not received the enthusiastic help of these two capable people. Blanche's feature article on the Center's drawing room was beautifully and meticulously done, and aroused a lot of public interest.

Many people complimented the excellent coverage Rosalie gave Fine Arts Festival Week and the Fourteenth Annual Sidewalk Show, co-soonsored by the Art Center and the Greenville Woman's Club. The praise is fully deserved; her article on the Sidewalk Show winners was polished and professional, and had to be done under less-than-ideal circumstances because the juror's selections were delayed. Both Rosalie and Blanche rise to the challenge of feature articles with exceptional competence, and take care of more routine news releases with complete dependability.

My own personal "Thank you" is accompanied and reinforced by the gratitude of the president and entire executive board of the East Carolina Art Society. Our accomplishments would have been less had we not received the unfailing cooperation of "The Daily Reflector" and its dedicated staff.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. C. W. Walker

Nixon Switch Talked

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Quiet, undercover pressure from Midwest Republicans for a Nixon-Lindsay ticket, including a scheme for Richard M. Nixon to switch his residence after Election Day if necessary, is about to surface.

It may break into public view today at a closed-door organizational meeting of Ohio's delegation in Columbus. At that meeting, a big city GOP chairman — possibly Robert Hughes of Cleveland — will suggest Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York as a city-oriented Republican ideally suited to run for Vice President if Nixon is nominated.

It is no sudden inspiration. Republican professionals in other Midwestern states, including Illinois and Indiana, have privately discussed a Nixon-Lindsay ticket for weeks. What's more, Lindsay's intimates have been made aware of these discussions.

They also have discussed the obvious handicap to a Nixon-Lindsay ticket: both men are residents of New York state. The 12th Amendment to the Constitution bars a state from giving its electoral vote (in New York's case, 45 votes) to more than one of a party's two nominees if they both come from the same state. Theoretically, then, a Nixon-Lindsay ticket could result in a Republican President and a Democratic Vice President.

But these Midwestern Republicans have a solution. If the Nixon-Lindsay ticket were successful but the result was so close that Lindsay could not be elected without New York's 45 electoral votes, Nixon would take up official residence — become an "inhabitant," in the language of the Constitution — in some other state. Of course, Lindsay could be the one to move, but all the talk has been about Nixon.

Republicans looking to Lindsay as the best running-mate for Nixon have researched the law and find no legal bar to Nixon, for example, temporarily taking up residence in Ohio, the home state of his mother and father.

The Electoral College does not meet until mid-December, six weeks after the Nov. 5 election. Thus, taking up temporary residence in another state, if the vote were so close as to require that, could be done after the election.

This same solution could be used by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, both residents of Minnesota, if the Democrats nominate a Humphrey-McCarthy ticket. A possible move of Humphrey's residence to the District of Columbia has been discussed by his aides.

But that is far less probable than a Nixon-Lindsay shuffle. A native Californian, Nixon moved to New York only after his defeat in 1962 for Governor of California, so a post-election paper transfer of residence would not disturb any deep-seated home ties.

Nevertheless, any arrangement by Nixon to circumvent the Constitution would carry political risks. Research by the Library of Congress discloses that since the 12th Amendment was adopted in 1904, neither party has nominated both President and Vice President from the same state.

One powerful and pro-Nixon Republican leader in Congress, for example, told us that Nixon would "destroy his credibility" if he ever agreed to the "phony sham" of establishing

Consequences Of Tax Surcharge

By ELMER ROESSNER

Now that some of the dust has settled, it is possible to take a clearer view of the consequences of the new income surtax.

Much of the commentary so far has been of the ouch variety; it has been influenced by the ouch most commentators have felt when they related it to their personal incomes. I, too, have cried ouch, but now that some of the initial pain has eased I can reappraise the consequences.

First, further inflation is not prevented. But, it is being slowed down. nions, however, will increase demands for pay increases to maintain take - home pay. However, with higher taxes to pay and the certainty of more sales resistance, employers will fight demands more firmly. They have to.

Second, sales will decline and higher prices will be resisted. Treasury figures seem to minimize the effects on sales. A married man with two dependants and earning $7,500 a year, would have $1.20 more a week withheld; $2.20 at $10,000 a year; $4 at $15,000 and $9 at $25,000.

ELMER ROESSNER

$11.6 Billion Drain

Families' savings are at a record high. Most families are in a position to withdraw a few dollars a week from their savings to maintain their present standard of living.

But with renewed fears of unemployment, most will hug their savings and buy less. And a tax rise that withdraws $11.6 billion from the spendable income, $8.7 billion this year and $2.9 billion next, is certain to reduce sales by close to those amounts.

Third, unemployment will rise, perhaps to more than 4.5 million. There's a built-in provision in the tax bill that will reduce government employment by 244,000, largely by not filling vacancies, which will keep that many bright young men out of federal service.

Even larger will be disemployment in private indjstry. As consumer sales lag, and as government spending is cut by that $6 billion, few hands will by needed to produce goods.

Only Few Bargains

Fourth, prices will remain fairly stable. The first impulse of producers will be to increase prices to maintain after-tax profits. But except in public utilities, this won't be practical. The tax increase will inhibit price hikes in competitive industries and services; with lesser spending power, the gravy won't be there to spoon up.

Fifth, industrial expansion will be cut back. With $6 billion less in government orders and $11.6 billion less in consumer corporate spending, many projucts will be shelved.

Not all will be, however. Many a corporation, seeing a bargain in materials and a respite from wage increases and, perhaps, ways to use more highly taxed dollars for replacement or expansion, will push plant and equipment spending.

Supervised Swimming Is Provided Children Attending City's Parks

This summer for the first time, the city is providing the opportunity for supervised swimming for children regularly attending any one of the city's 10 playgrounds or parks.

The joint swimming program, sponsored by the Recreation Commission the police department, the public works department and East Carolina University has been listed as "highly successful," by recreation director Alton Little.

As many as 97 in one day have participated in the program, which began June 17.

In its first day of operation, 97 children participated from the South Greenville Park. On Tuesday, 77 participated from Greenfield Terrace and Williams Park; Wednesday, 55 from Third Street and Meadowbrook; Thursday, 53 from Hillsdale, Guy Smith and Woodlawn and Friday, 67 from Elm Street and Peppermint.

This schedule of days for the playgrounds will be observed throughout the eight-week program.

At 9 a.m. each morning, the children are picked up at the assigned playground for that day and transported to Memorial Gym at ECU. The bus, provided by the police department, is operated by a driver from the public works department.

From 9:30 - 10:30 a.m. Little conducts a class for those children who cannot swim. A range of 25-50 children have been in the swimming classes each day.

Recreational swimming for all who come from the playground for that day is conducted from 10:30 until 11:30 a.m. The children are then returned to the playground.

A special program for retarded children has been scheduled for 11:15 - 12:00 noon.

Children participating in the eight - week program must have completed the first grade or be at least six years of age. Each child is covered by liability insurance. Written permission has been obtained of each parent whose child is participating in the program.

Life guards, obtained by Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, director of the Department of Health and Physical Education, of ECU, are being employed throughout the program.

Little says he plans to use the fire hydrants sprinkler program, first initiated last year, again this year. This system was also sponsored jointly by the recreation, public works and police departments.

Last year the sprinklers were used in nine different locations. A total of 5,192 participated in the program for a daily average of 247.

Little commented that he hopes the system will benefit those this year who are not able to participate in the swimming program.

Powerful figures in the Midwest disagree. The 12th Amendment, they say, was adopted when states were far more jealous of their power and influence than today, before modern communications and transportation homogenized the U.S. Furthermore, they point to Robert F. Kennedy and other politicians who moved out of their states and successfully ran for office elsewhere.

Teepee-Tent City In Olympia, Wash. Now

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Another Washington had its Resurrection City today—a teepee and tent encampment set up by Indians who say they want their land back because white men haven't lived up to their treaties.

The camp, established on a corner of the state capitol grounds, is referred to by Indian leader Janet McCloud as "Resurrection City II." Some of its leaders also were active in the life of the first Resurrection City in the national's capital.

When the camp started, Mrs. McCloud announced the Indians were reclaiming a good part of the state—including Olympia. She said the white man had broken the Medicine Creek Treaty of 1854.

She referred to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that the treaty didn't give Northwest Indians the right to fish commercially for salmon off their reservations in violation of state conservation laws.

The current nighttime population of the camp, consisting of three 20-foot canvas teepees and four tents is 29, Mrs. McCloudy said.

The settlement is officially ignored by the state.

Guaranteed Pets At Puppy Palace

WOLLASTON, Mass. (AP) — Arnold A. Pell has opened a "puppy palace" where pets with a 10-year guarantee can be purchased. To keep the number of returned puppies to a minimum, Pell installed a "puppy love room" where customers can become acquainted with possible pets and determine if dog and potential master are compatible.

In a conventional war, retreat on a flank would be a serious tactical matter. But in Vietnam the U. S. and South Vietnamese troops make no attempt to seal the frontier, and North Vietnamese units regularly cross along virtually the entire length of the border.

One of hardest things for the U. S. Command to explain now is if Khe Sanh is unnecessary in June, why was it so vital in January when the siege began.

Senior Marine officers have said that the base was surrounded before the Leathernecks realized what was afoot. Any withdrawal would have meant a fighting retreat through some of the best ambush country in Vietnam. It was reckoned that the siege would be less costly than a fighting withdrawal.

FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA

Fourth of July, and, from sea to shining sea, our flag flies proudly. Across the nation, school bands parade, fireworks splinter, and hometown newspapers carry full-page dissertations on what it means to be an American.

And I wonder. In these troubled days of dissension and White House pickets, what does it mean? Does it mean free speech without responsibility? Does it mean moral freedom that lacks integrity?

To be sure, an American today is a citizen in a changing world; but the things that count have not changed. Inalienable rights still require us to account for our deeds.

As our ancestors migrated across this vast continent, the Church moved with them. It taught integrity, responsibility, and a calm strength in the face of danger.

In today's world of unrest and contention, the Church remains steadfast. The principles it teaches still point the way for us to be a "nation with liberty and justice for all."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Opening lead: Six of ◇

Failure to uncover the killing lead presented South, the declarer at four hearts, with an opportunity to salvage his contract. Altho he laid the proper ground work for a successful campaign, South faltered at the crucial moment and suffered defeat.

West opened the six of diamonds, East put up the queen and South won the trick with the king. Declarer observed the duplication of values that were present in diamonds and clubs. If the dummy had three diamonds and two clubs, for example, South might expect to restrict his losses to three tricks on the deal.

With three club losers staring him in the face, declarer must somehow avoid giving up a spade trick. His only chance apparently was to induce the opposition to lead that suit for him.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds and South cashed the ace of diamonds. He now surrendered the lead by exiting with a small club. West held the trick with the jack. He followed with the ace and queen which East overtook with the king.

East switched to the deuce of spades and South went into a prolonged huddle. He finally decided to play East for the king of spades, and accordingly put up the queen from his hand. West covered with the king to force out the ace and East subsequently took the setting trick with the jack of spades.

If declarer had played the ten of spades from his hand when East led that suit, West would have been obliged to play the king to dislodge North's ace—and South's spade loser would thereby have been eliminated.

If East had the king of spades, it would have been fairly routine for the defense to cash out their club tricks so that West is in to lead a spade thru dummy. When East overtakes the queen of clubs with the king to make the spade play himself, there is a clear-cut inference that his partner has the king.

Nixon Sketches Idea For Studies Of Government

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If he wins the presidency Richard M. Nixon says he'll want a working vice president, one who can take the lead in a major reorganization of the processes of government to make it "more responsive."

Nixon sketched plans Thursday for a blue-ribbon commission to undertake a broad revision of the way the federal government operates. It would, he said, be studied with "the best management talent, the best government talent, and also the best academic talent from any disciplines."

Speaking in New York, the contender for the Republican presidential nomination said "the alienated" must be brought back into touch with their government.

The commission he envisions, he said, would seek ways of bringing government "closer to the people, of transferring functions to state and local governments, of creating new instrumentalities where appropriate to involve the people at the community level directly in the decisions that affect their own lives."

The job of overseeing this undertaking will be filled by the vice president, he said.

"And in making the decision on the vice presidential nominee," he said, "this is one of the major factors I will consider."

One of those who has expressed interest in sharing the GOP ticket with Nixon, Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, formally endorsed Nixon Thursday and predicted he will win the nomination on the first ballot at the convention in Miami Beach.

Nixon was taken to task by his rival, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, for his criticism of President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

Nixon has sided with those Republicans who feel Johnson ought to have left the naming of a new chief justice and an associate justice for the next man entering the White House.

Rockefeller said Thursday in Sioux City, Iowa, he couldn't agree.

"The President, under the Constitution, has a responsibility to make the appointment," he said.

He said, however, that he could understand why the Republicans—hoping one of their own will enter the White House in January—would rather the changes were made next year.

"It's good politics—if you get away with it," he said.

Rockefeller's day included a visit to what is becoming a must stop for all politicians when they visit Huron, S.D., the drugstore founded by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's parents.

Though Humphrey is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, Rockefeller tossed a little business his way by selecting $21.08 worth of toys for his two children and earrings for Mrs. Rockefeller.

As it happened the multimillionaire candidate had only $21 in his pockets but a newsman helped out by giving a dime.

Humphrey took things easy Thursday, spending most of the day relaxing and holding conferences at his home in Waverly, Minn.

Meanwhile, several hundred miles away, his political fortunes received a boost. The Kansas delegation to the Democratic National Convention met and voted to commit their 38 votes on a unit basis to Humphrey.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Humphrey's competition in the Democratic race, was host Thursday night at a reception for delegates to the convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Atlantic City.

McCarthy called for attention to the "four new civil rights"—jobs, housing, education and health.

Some 300 persons attended the reception, despite expressions of annoyance beforehand by Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director. Wilkins said he wanted no political candidates "intruding upon our convention."

George Wallace, who has been drawing crowds in the thousands regularly at his rallies, did it again Thursday night in Columbia, Md., a "new town" a building between Baltimore and Washington. The throng was estimated at 7,500.

AT OPENING . . . Braxton and Doris Brooks, owners and operators of the Montgomery-Ward catalogue sales office flank Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West as the official cuts the ribbon formally opening the store yesterday. The Montgomery-Ward catalogue office is located at West End Circle.

Shareholders Okay Wachovia Changes

Shareholders of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company today approved a proposal to reorganize as a holding company and form a new national bank, which will continue Wachovia's banking and trust business.

The action took place at a special shareholders' meeting. The proposal must be approved by the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency and the International Revenue Service before it becomes effective.

If the reorganization proposal is approved, a new national bank, named Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, N. A. (for "National Association") will be formed. The present Wachovia Bank and Trust Company will transfer substantially all its assets to the national bank in exchange for the national bank's capital stock. The charter of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company will be amended, changing the bank's name to The Wachovia Corporation and its principal activity from banking to general business.

Present shareholders will become shareholders of The Wachovia Corporation. The Corporation will own all the stock of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, N. A., except directors' qualifying shares.

R. W. Howard, Senior Vice President, said the move would give Wachovia increased flexibility to offer the financial services needed by today's individual and corporate customers.

He'll Sign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says he will sign the bill making four national holidays fall always on Mondays, but the resulting long weekends won't start until 1971.

The new law will change the dates for Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day, and give Columbus Day status as a national holiday.

Washington's Birthday will fall on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

The bill applies only to federal employes and the District of Columbia. But by Jan. 1, 1971, when the law takes effect, most states are expected to have recided to go along with the new holiday lineup, which, with Labor Day, will produce five three-day weekends a year.

Homecoming At Church Sunday

The annual homecoming service of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville will be held Sunday.

An outdoor luncheon will be served on the church grounds at 1 o'clock.

During the afternoon, the choir of the Emmanuel Pentecostal Holiness Church of Raleigh and the choir of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville, will present a musical program at 2:15 p.m.

Viet Hero, With One Leg Has Selling Job

By ROY MALONE
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — When Hubert Bankhead walks before the St. Louis police board next week he hopes to convince them that just because a guy lost part of his leg in Vietnam is no reason he can't once again be a police detective.

The board will be faced with an unusual request. But Bankhead, a 26-year-old Negro, is an unusual man.

The first day he got his artificial leg he strapped it on and walked out of Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, Colo. "I just made up my mind to do it," he said.

Bankhead is one of seven children raised on a farm near Wyatt, Mo. He graduated in 1961 with a degree in mathematics from Missouri University.

After a stint as an Army officer, he joined the St. Louis Police Department.

He was promoted to detective in his first year but was called back into military service in 1965 because of his special training in code analysis.

As commander of a Special Forces team he performed classified missions in Vietnam he cannot discuss. Then he became a pilot, flew 27 photo-reconnaissance missions and was shot down four times. The last time was over North Vietnam with a co-pilot and two civilians aboard.

Landing just south of the demilitarized zone, Bankhead suffered a crushed right leg. It was during the Tet offensive and the men had to wait 36 hours in the jungle before being picked up by a helicopter. The right leg had to be amputated below the knee.

Bankhead has had his new leg for about three weeks. He said it takes six months for the average amputee to learn how to use a new limb. But the former high school athlete and holder of the Black Belt in judo and karate, has already run with his. He uses a cane to help strengthen the good leg.

Grant And Sawyer Tie For Early Tourney Lead

By LES GARNER
Reflector Sports Writer

Battling 98-degree heat and sprouting grass on the Brook Valley greens, defending champion Sonny Grant and East Tennessee State University student Ken "Buzz" Sawyer shot one-under-par 71's to take the first round lead in the N.C. Men's Amateur Tournament yesterday.

Bob Edgerton of Raleigh shot an even par 72, to take a one-stroke back third place behind Grant and Sawyer. Last year in the final round of the tournament, Edgerton finished in the same position behind Grant, losing the match by one stroke, the same margin that he was behind yesterday.

Grant, a Greensboro mattress salesman, commented that he "didn't play particularly well, just stayed out of trouble." On the front nine, he bogeyed the first hole, but on to birdie the fifth to have a 36 par out.

The defending champ said that the strongest part of his game was with his irons, noting that he drove most of the day with his number one and number two irons. On the back nine he bogeyed hole thirteen, but came back to birdie the par five 530-yard seventeenth and sing a 12-foot putt on eighteen to par in at 35 for his round of 71.

Sawyer, also from Greensboro, had five birdies, three of them on consecutive holes, to offset what he termed the "hard to putt" greens. He also birdied the par five seventeenth, but three-putted on the second, fifth, twelfth, and sixteenth holes to par out with a 35, and in with a 36.

Commenting on his game, Sawyer said that he was "well satisfied" and did not find the heat a problem.

One of the pre-tournament favorites, Dale Morey from High Point, shot a 78 and fell seven strokes off the pace. The N.C. Open champ called his game a "bad one," noting that his putting gave him the most trouble.

Among the former amateur champions, except Grant, Billy Joe Patton (1965) came in two strokes off with a one-over-par 73, Pat Foy Brady (1961) shot a 75, four strokes away, and Bill Harvey (1966) posted a 76.

Miles Purser of Grifton paced local golfers in the tourney with a 76. Greenville's Morris Snyder finished with 78, Ercell Webb shot an 81, and Reynolds May finished with an 82 for yesterday's first 18-hole round.

After today's round, the number of golfers wil be cut to 60 and ties with the cut coming, according to Carolina Amateur Executive Director Hale Van Hoy, at about a score of 160 for the two days.

Peninsula Stretches Win Streak To An Even Dozen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The red hot Grays of Peninsula stretched their winning streak to an even dozen Thursday night as righthander Don Boyd made his Carolina League debut with a five-hit, 5-0 shutout of Kinston's Eagles.

Boyd didn't let an Eagle get past first base all night.

League-leading Salem held on to a half-game lead over Lynchburg with a 1-0 victory over the Winston-Salem Red Sox. Wayne White won the pitching duel over Rich Hoban as White scattered four hits, in four different innings for the Rebels.

Salem's only score came in the sixth when Dave Arrington clouted a triple and came home on a single by Lou Quinn.

The Lynchburg White Sox had three two-run innings to whip the Greensboro Patriots 6-4. Shortstop Joe Monty drove in three runs with a single and a home run for the Lynsox.

In other league action Thursday, Rufus Anderson scored three times and drove in another run to spark Wilson's 6-4 victory over Portsmouth. The Raleigh-Durham Mets defeated the Burlington Senators 3-3 and Rocky Mount took a 9-5 decision over High Point-Thomasville.

Tonight's action will find Portsmouth at Wilson, Peninsula at Kinston, Raleigh-Durham at Burlington, Lynchburg at Greensboro, Salem at Winston-Salem and Rocky Mount at High Point-Thomasville.

Strike Talk In The Air As NFL Players, Owners Meet In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Strike talk was in the air today as National Football League players' and owners' representatives arrived in Detroit for a negotiating session.

The Associated Press learned Thursday night that NFL players have voted to strike unless owners grant demands for a higher minimum salary, improved pension plans and higher exhibition game pay.

All 640 NFL players were contacted in a telephone poll and a vast majority of them voted to authorize a strike, it was learned.

Detroit Lions owner William Clay Ford said today's meeting is a regular meeting between the players' association and owners' negotiating committees, not an emergency session as had been reported.

Time and place of the meeting could not be ascertained Thursday night.

Lions offensive lineman John Gordy, president of the association, and Philadelphia Eagles quarterback King Hill, vice president, were expected to lead the players' representatives.

Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell is the chief spokesman for the owners.

Ford said reports of the strike threat were "strictly a rumor. "There is nothing to substantiate it." He said he spoke with Gordy Thursday night and Gordy made no mention of a strike.

"I know for a fact that the players have not been polled," Ford said. He declined to elaborate.

In Philadelhia, however, Eagles' linebacker Dave Lloyd said there had been an information telephone poll of Eagles players.

"We have been contacted, but we haven't had a group meeting to say whether we'd strike or not," Lloyd said.

Gordy was unavailable for comment in Detroit. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was not in New York and also could not be reached for comment.

Set Appreciation Day For Dr. And Mrs. Frizzelle

AYDEN—Sunday will be Appreciation Day for Dr. and Mrs. Mark T. Frizzelle at the Ayden Little League park named after them. The ceremony will begin at 2 p.m.

Earl Smoth, East Carolina University baseball coach, will be the main speaker. Smith headed this year's baseball clinic for the Ayden Little Leaguers.

Also on the program is Stuart Tripp, former coach and now Ayden School principal. He will introduce Smith.

After the ceremonies, the four Ayden teams will play a doubleheader baseball benefit.

Last summer the park was dedicated to the Frizzelles because of their aid in the Ayden Little League program.

Sunday's program is to acknowledge the new dug-outs, fencing, equipment house and bleachers for which Dr. and Mrs. Frizzelle have been responsible.

Again, Here Come The Mets—Seek .500 Level

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here come the Mets! Again!

New York's grown-up expansion babes soared within a stride of hitherto unreachable heights Thursday night . . . for the fifth time this month . . . by trimming Houston 3-1 behind right-handers Don Cardwell and Ron Taylor.

The victory put the Mets' season record at 35-36. They never have reached the .500 level, after the first week, in any of their previous six National League seasons. But for the past two weeks it's been touch and go.

A four-game winning streak brought the Mets within a step of the elusive break-even point on June 14. The next day they rattled 16 hits off San Francisco's Juan Marichal . . . and lost 9-5.

Last Saturday, Gil Hodges' youngsters were knocking at the door again, but Los Angeles' Don Drysdale applied the brakes. Then, two shots at .500 in Cincinnati this week became a pair of one-run losses.

Tonight in the Astrodome, Nolan Ryan, a 21-year-old rookie with a 6-5 record and speed to burn, leads the uphill assault against last-place Houston and fireballer Larry Dierker, 7-10 on the season.

In Thursday's only other NL games, Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 6-5 on Zoilo Versalles' 11th-inning homer, ending Marichal's personal winning streak at 10 games, and Atlanta shaded Philadelphia 4-3 under the lights as brothers Hank and Tommie Aaron combined to drive in three runs.

In the American League, Boston drubbed Cleveland 9-3 and Minnesota zipped Baltimore 2-0 in a game halted by rain after five innings. The other clubs had the day off.

Cardwell, who went into the Houston game with six straight setbacks and a 1-8 record, blanked the Astros for seven innings before leaving under fire in the eighth. With one run in, Taylor came out of the Met bullpen and got the third out, stranding two base runners, then retired the Astros in order in the ninth.

Two of Ed Charles' three hits figured in the New York scoring. Singles by Cleon Jones and Charles, a late throw to the plate on Jerry Grote's grounder, a balk by losing pitcher Denny Lemaster and Jerry Buchek's sacrifice fly sent two runs across in the seventh. Singles by Charles, Grote and Don Bosch produced an insurance run in the ninth.

Versalles' leadoff homer off Marichal in the 11th ruined the Giant ace's bid for his 15th victory and dropped San Francisco into third place, one-half game behind Atlanta and seven back of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie McCovey drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers, staking Marichal to an early 5-2 lead. The Dodgers rebounded on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the fifth and tied it on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's run-scoring single in the sixth.

Four LA relievers then battled Marichal, 14-3, to a standoff until Versalles' second homer broke the tie.

Hank Aaron drilled his 14th homer . . . and 495th of his career . . . and brother Tommie delivered two runs with a pair of singles, helping the Braves take a 4-2 lead into the ninth.

But winner Pat Jarvis needed relief help from Cecil Upshaw, who retired Rich Allen on a sharp grounder to third baseman Marty Martinez for the final out after pinch hitter Bill White's RBI single had closed the gap.

Local Swim Club Loses To Goldsboro

Greenville's Swim Club lost to Goldsboro Wednesday, 215-101, at Seymour-Johnson Pool.

In the meet, two Greenville swimmers captured first places. Eric Topper won in the freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke events, while Steve Worsley took first in the 13-14 boys' freestyle, breaststroke, and butterfly.

Second high in total points from Greenville was Cindy Worsley. She won the senior girls' breaststroke and took second in freestyle and butterfly.

Billy Tucker placed second in freestyle, backstroke and butterfly.

Scoring five or more points were Billy Billica, Arthur Fahrner, Lius Martinez, and Katherine Holt.

Greenville swimmers placed as follows:

10 and under boys: freestyle—Eric Topper (1), Billy Tucker (2), Billy Billica (4); backstroke—Eric Topper (1), Billy Billica (2), Karl Topper (5); breaststroke—E. Topper (1), Billica (2), K. Topper (4); butterfly—Billy Billica (1), Billy Tucker (2); 200 meter free relay—Tucker, Topper, Billica, Topper (1).

10 and under girls: freestyle—Jane Farley (2), Katherine Holt (4); backstroke—Katherine Holt (1); breaststroke—Jane Farley (4); butterfly—Jane Farley (3).

11 to 12 boys: freestyle—Linus Martinez (3), John Calhoun (4); backstroke—John Calhoun (4); breaststroke — Linus Martinez (4); butterfly—Linus Martinez (1), John Calhoun (5).

Baseball Deals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A flurry of player transactions occupied major league baseball Thursday.

The Chicago Cubs were the busiest team. The Cubs, who have dropped six straight and 11 of their last 12, swapped outfielder Lou Johnson to Cleveland for outfielder-pitcher Willie Smith, acquired catcher Gene Oliver from Boston, called up pitcher Bill Stoneman from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League and sent pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and first baseman John Boccabella to Tacoma.

In addition to dropping Oliver, the Red Sox claimed veteran left-hander Juan Pizarro from Pittsburgh. The Pirates used the roster room created by Pizarro's departure to add reliever Bill Henry from San Francisco.

The New York Yankees, troubled by an unreliable bullpen, purchased veteran Thad Tillotson from Syracuse of the International League.

Pirates Sign Virginia Tackle

John Charles Bussler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bussler, 7611 Trammell Road, Annandale, Virginia, has signed a football grant in aid with East Carolina University.

He is a 6-2, 210 pound defensive tackle who played for Coach Charles Billak at Woodson High. Bussler is a two-year letterman in football and participated in track.

Coach Henry Vansant, who recruited Bussler, said, "He will be used as an interior lineman, and his desire to excell should make him successful."

Patriots Aim To Sign Dennis Byrd

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots focused all-out efforts today on signing North Carolina State's Dennis Byrd, a defensive lineman picked by the American Football Club in the first round of the pro draft.

The signing of defensive back Jim Smithberger of Notre Dame Thursday left Byrd as the Patriots' only major 1968 draft choice outside the fold. Smithberger was the Patriots' fifth selection.

RC Cola And Lions Win Playoff Games

R.C. Cola and Lions earned the right to second round tournament positions yesterday by posting victories in the first round North State League playoffs. R.C. defeated Optimists, 6-0, and Lions downed Jaycees, 5-2.

In the second, R.C. picked up another pair of runs as Jeff Bailey singled and advanced to second on a wild pitch. T.J. Payne and Jones also singled while Bailey scored. Payne then scored on Randy Lewis' and Natton's walks.

R.C. finished out the scoring in the fourth as Bobby Jones singled and advanced to second on an error. Lewis singled and stole second. Both scored on a series of flies.

The game was called because of rain in the fifth inning.

In the first game, Jaycees had an upset 2-0 margin after two innings. In the second, Bill Ellington walked, and Al Salisbury singled. Both then scored on an error and a stolen base.

Lions came back to tie in the third. Harry Pair walked and advanced to third on Danny Allen's double. Both then scored as Wayne Elks flied out and Mike Lewis singled.

Rivals Oppose CP&L Move To Pass On Surcharge

POWER RATES, N. C. Bht..

RALEIGH (AP) — The two major competitors of private power, electric cooperatives and "electric cities," are united in their opposition to Carolina Power & Light Co.'s recent move to pass its share of the federal income tax surcharge on to the firm's customers.

Mayor J. Garner Bagnal, the president of the North Carolina Municipally Owned Electric Systems Association, Thursday endorsed the Tarheel Electric Membership Association's call for a full scale "rate of return hearing" before CP&L can receive a requested 2.7 per cent rate hike.

Meanwhile, the North Carolina Electric Membership Corp. (NCEMC), bargaining agent for the state's rural electric cooperatives, formally asked the state utilities commission for permission to be heard in opposition to CP&L's request.

Bagnal, in a telegram sent to news media in Raleigh, termed the power company's action "another classic example of the absurdity of the private power companies' claim that they pay millions of dollars in taxes.

"The truth is they merely collect the taxes from their customers and remit them to the taxing agency of the governments that impose them."

Some members of the "electric cities" group which Bagnal represents purchase power from CP&L. A total of 70 cities which operate their own electric services belong to the association.

J. S. Brown Jr., executive secretary of the NCEMC and executive manager of the Tarheel Co-Ops' Association, earlier had called for the rate returning hearing which Bagnal endorsed.

A day after Brown's first statement, the NCEMC formally petitioned the utilities commission for permission to intervene in the rate filing proceedings.

The corporation noted that 19 of its members purchase all or a substantial portion of their power requirements from CP&L.

If the rate hike is granted, the petition said, the increase in wholesale power costs would result in the co-ops and their members being required to pay "many hundreds of thousands of dollars" more for electricity.

Opine Cuba Not Ready Renew U.S. Relations

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA (AP) — Would Cuba be interested in resuming diplomatic relations with the United States? Not until Vietnam is settled and not unless the "right man" was in the White House, say the experts here.

Even if those conditions were met, the immediate prospects for a reconciliation look gloomy from here. The political barometer indicates, instead, that Fidel Castro couldn't care less about diplomatic ties with the United States. Or the Organizatiin of American States. Or the Alliance for Progress.

The Cuban prime minister never really has trusted Washington and appears to dislike it even more today, many diplomats report.

They reason that too many changes have taken place in Cuba since Castro broke U.S. domination of the island and plunged the country into a whole new world of communism, alliances and thinking. Vietnam has served to harden Cuba's anti-American stance.

Despite this seemingly rigid position, there are occasional suggestions from East and West sources, but seldom from Cubans, that Castro might be open to some accommodation with the United States. Most agree, however, the United States would have to make the first move.

Washington cut relations with Cuba in early 1961. Since then the gap between this Caribbean island the United States has widened, aided by the Bay of Pigs invasion, the 1962 missile crisis and now Vietnam.

The resulting isolation has hurt Cuba more than the United States. There is little doubt Castro would like to see the American blockade lifted although he has punched holes in it by increasing trade with Western nations like France, Britain, Spain, Italy, Canada and Japan.

The Worry Clinic

Code Is In Accepting The Bigger Challenge

Howard Hughes and Charles Lindbergh, as well as Otto Graham, John Pont and all great leaders, follow the "code." Jesus also demonstrated it when he wrestled with his destiny in Gethsemane. Frustrated men and modern "hippies" could be transformed if they'd follow that "code."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-510: Otto Graham is one of our greatest football stars.

He attained fame as a college player; then as a pro, and now as a coach.

A few years ago he was playing golf with Richard Nixon and John Pont, who was then football coach at Yale.

Otto mentioned that he had a superb job as coach of the Coast Guard Academy.

"For I'm under no pressure and have no alumni problems," he smiled.

Richard Nixon broke in with this wise advice:

"Otto," he began, "you owe it to football to accept a bigger challenge. For you have the talent to do it."

Otto Graham has since accepted the helm at the Washington Redskins.

But John Pont tucked away that sage advice by Richard Nixon and says it was the deciding factor in his acceptance of the football post at Indiana University.

Over 30 years ago I met a remarkable newspaper man who pioneered this column in the Scripps - Howard papers. His name was Walter Morrow.

He had done a superb job at Akron and then had been sent to Columbus, Ohio, but now was in charge of the Denver S-H paper.

When I was out there for lectures under his paper's auspices, I asked him:

"Walter, why did you decide to come West? You already had a topmost position in Ohio and your family were located there."

Walter apparently held to the same philosophy as that which motivated Richard Nixion.

"Well," he replied, "I'll admit I would rather have stayed in Ohio.

"For my family and friends were there. And everything was running smoothly so I was not under pressure or strain.

"But I have always felt that a man should accept bigger challenges in life and not coast along complacently at the status quo.

"And I knew this job out here in Denver would make me get into gear. So I'd be forced to think and worry and plan new strategy to meet bigger dilemmas.

"I accepted this job just because of that inner 'code' of life, as you might call it."

That same "code," as Walter called it, caused Paul Revere to desert his warm, comfortable bed to rally the early patriots. It also brought George Washington away from his comfortable life as a rich plantation operator, into the dreary winter of Valley Forge.

Jesus wrestled with that same "code" when, in Gethsemane, he first asked God to let him evade Calvary if possible, but then he realized the whole point of his being sent to this Earth would have been frustrated, so Christ added:

"Nevertheless, not my will but thine be done."

This same "code" explains why great men stay in the harness, instead of lolling around in rich indolence.

Howard Hughes and Charles Lindbergh are current examples of such men who pioneer and experiment and keep venturing into new fields, despite their previous wealth and eminent past success.

He never got the "stuff."

The post card arrived last week, a quarter of a century in transit.

Nab 4 Outside Sirhan's Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sheriff's deputies say they arrested four young men with explosives outside the jail holding Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, the accused assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Deputies said it was the third time in three weeks that persons were found with weapons or explosives on the Los Angeles County Central Jail grounds.

None of the incidents was linked to Sirhan's presence, the sheriff's office said.

Booked Thursday on suspicion of bringing explosives onto jail grounds and possession of marijuana were Robert Glass, 18, driver of the car where it was found, James Neal DeAugustine, 18, both of Redondo Beach, and Robert Young, 20, Torrance. A fourth youth was remanded to the custody of juvenile authorities.

Deputies said marijuana was found in Glass' car along with two devices, each containing about two ounces of flash powder and used by the military to simulate explosions during training purposes.

Eleven Failed Deadline For Certification

Eleven persons failed to meet the deadline for reporting acreage certification in order to file for Federal Crop Insurance, according to Alice Evans, head of the FCIC office here.

Last year's certification reports will be used in figuring acreage certification for these 11 farms, Mrs. Evans said.

"Eleven persons out of 1550 is a very small percentage," Mrs. Evans pointed out, "and the number is generally right around that figure." Last year nine persons failed to file their certification.

This year there have been only six claims of crop damage filed, as compared with the 150 claims at the same time last year.

Underground Nuclear Test

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (AP—The Atomic Energy Commission today set off a low-yield atomic underground explosion at its Nevada test site here, about 70 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

It was the second nuclear test in 48 hours.

An AEC spokesman said the 5:22 a.m. blast caused a "mild rolling" of the earth at the control center near the test site.

Henry Vermillion of the AEC's Las Vegas headquarters said seismograph there registered "a mild shock wave" but that no one reported feeling any motion.

He said the test was "related to weapons development."

Harsh Outlook For Dissenters

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong warned today that anyone directly or indirectly supporting pro-Communist or proneutralist policies will be subject to immediate military trial and imprisonment at hard abor.

A communique from Huong's office said the warning was issued because "a number of organizations have recently issued communiques appealing for peace in a rather vague way, sowing confusion among the population."

Citing a 1965 decree by the military junta which ruled South Vietnam at that time, Huong said sentences at hard labor would be applied to:

—"Those who directly or indirectly disseminate the policy, slogans and orders of the Communists, of individuals or groups directed or influenced by the Communists.

—"Those who carry out activities intended to weaken the national anti-Communist will and affect the struggle of the people and the armed forces.
