Pentagon Tables F111B

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has halted development of the Navy's controversial F111B fighter, it was disclosed today.

Congressional committees had knocked out funds sought by the Pentagon to continue work on the F111B, one version off the TFX warplane which former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had sought to develop into a multi-service plane.

The Air Force's F111A fighter-bomber is not affected by the action.

In a statement, the Pentagon said Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown issued a "stop work order" Tuesday to General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Tex., prime contractor for the swing-wing jets.

ABC Men Find Big Still

LAGRANGE, N. C. (AP) — State Alcoholic Beverage Control agents discovered a 500-gallon capacity still in Lenoir County Tuesday night and used 40 sticks of dynamite to destroy the installation.

The discovery came just 24 hours after revenuers had made one of the biggest seizures of moonshine whiskey in North Carolina history in the same area.

Clarence Bland, chief law enforcement officer for the ABC unit in Lenoir County, said, "This apparently is the still that made the whisky we found last night."

No arrests were made Tuesday.

The still was in a section of the township of Falling Creek.

On the Monday night raid at a farmhouse outside LaGrange, revenuers found 2,622 one-gallon, plastic jugs of bootleg whisky and ingredients and containers for making and storing more liquor.

Two Americans Said Held

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda reported that two American students were caught trying to smuggle out anti-Soviet literature provided by the Chinese Embassy in Moscow.

The Communist party newspaper said customs officials at Brest, on the Soviet-Polish border, also discovered Russian icons hidden in the Americans' car.

The newspaper identified the two young men as James Kratzer and Parry Watson and said they were students at an affiliate of Stanford University in Vienna.

The U.S. Embassy said it knew nothing about the report and was investigating.

Bridegroom Is Unwanted

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Wally Mellish was in a mental hospital today, unwanted by the Australian army for the convicted prostitute he married while holding her and their baby son hostage.

The 22-year-old ex-convict, who staved off besieging police for a week by threatening to kill 19-year-old Beryl Muddle and their three-month-old son Leslie, left his house Tuesday and surrendered when the police promised he could apply to fight in Vietnam. The army turned him down, and the police took him to the hospital.

Beryl, who was married to Mellish last Wednesday on the second day of the siege, said she is "through with Wally for good."

"Most of the time I was tied up with a dog chain and belt," she said in a statement. "Sometimes I was chained to a bed or a chair. I was more worried about the baby than myself. Then he decided to come out. Thank God it's all over."

Fortas Foes Falling Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says four GOP senators have abandoned their opposition to President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments and opponents "are beginning to vanish into thin air."

Dirksen said again at a news conference Tuesday that a threatened filibuster will not materialize over confirmation of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice.

Dirksen was asked if the opposition petition signed by 19 Republican senators—whose leaders have threatened the filibuster—was nothing more than a piece of paper.

"Well, I wouldn't say it's just a piece of paper," he replied. "But there are four on that list who will vote for confirmation. They told me they will."

He would not name the four

Pompidou Turns In Resignation

PARIS (AP)—George Pompidou, premier of France for the longest period in modern times, resigned today in a government shuffle ordered by President Charles de Gaulle.

Pompidou, 57, turned in his resignation and that of his government to De Gaulle in a brief ceremony at the Elysee Palace.

Eastern N. C. Firemen Hold Quarterly Meet At Farmville

FARMVILLE—About 250 firemen from 32 Eastern North Carolina counties held their quarterly meeting of the East Carolina Firemen's Association in Farmville last night.

A. W. Poole of Elizabeth City, president of the association, officiated. Other association officers attending were: 1st vice-president, Eugene Parsons of Tarboro; 2nd vice-president, Berry Sumrell of Greenville; Treasurer, Curtis Flanagan of Farmville, who is also executive secretary of the State Firemen's Association; secretary, Michael Worthington of Greenville.

The members discussed a plan to set up schools on civil disorders. Billy Sauter, Area Consultant for Firemen's Service Training, Department of Community Colleges, showed a 30-minute film of the Watts riots in Los Angeles. This film emphasized the part firemen play in riots such as this. About 2,000 fire alarms were turned in to the Los Angeles Fire Department in the course of two days.

Another matter discussed concerned the possibility of dividing the East Carolina Firemen's Association into two associations: secretary, Michael Worthington of Greenville.

The members discussed a plan

AT GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONIES . . . for the East Carolina Sheltered Workshop this morning were Boring, Stoughton, Jones, Clark, Dudley, Parker and Hudson.

Ground Is Broken For Sheltered Workshop Building Here Today

Officials of the East Carolina Sheltered Workshop and Vocational Rehabilitation Center, Inc., broke ground today for the $266,129 building to be erected on a site just north of Greenville.

Dr. Douglas Jones, president of the workshop's board of directors, and Thomas A. Boring, director of the workshop, turned the first spadeful of earth at ceremonies this morning.

The 12,000 square-foot facility for training handicapped persons will be constructed on a 20-acre site on the Dail farm—an industrial site complex just north of the Greenville city limits.

Construction on the project is to begin immediately and the building should be completed within six months after construction is started.

The training facility will include an administration area, classrooms for shoe and motor repair, sewing and ceramics, janitorial training and shop foreman training and others; and kitchen and dining facilities.

Construction will include a brick and cast-stone exterior with masonry block interior partitions.

Others on hand for the ceremonies included: Workshop Board Members Joe Clark and Jack Stoughton, Cameron Dudley and Dempsey Parker, architects for the facility, and James H. Hudson, general contractor.

MIG Shot Down After Brief Fight

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops intercepted another Viet Cong force approaching Saigon today, and U.S. pilots reported shooting down a MIG17 in a brief dogfight over North Vietnam.

A force of about 200 guerrillas, moving toward Saigon in the darkness early today, ran into two companies of government troops, part of the big allied defense ring against a threatened new enemy offensive on the capital.

Allied blocking forces had reported killing 37 guerrillas in three skirmishes Monday and Tuesday within 28 miles of the South Vietnamese capital. And the U.S. Navy reported its river patrol boats and helicopters destroyed three sampans moving enemy rocket launchers toward the capital.

With a new major attack on Saigon expected before the end of the month, U.S. B52 bombers flew six new missions Tuesday night and today against enemy jungle infiltration routes, supply points and camps 25 to 65 miles from the city.

In North Vietnam, enemy MIGs appeared about 11 miles southwest of Vinh Tuesday as U.S. warplanes made heavy raids against supply lines in the panhandle region.

Lt. Cmdr. John Nichols of San Diego, Calif., said he caught one MIG17 with a volley of cannon and missile fire from his Crusader jet. As Nichols broke off from his last firing pass, his wingman said the MIG smashed into the ground and exploded.

Set Opening Sales Dates On Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flue-cured tobacco officials in two states—and perhaps four—will set opening sales dates Friday.

Georgia Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell will announce the opening dates for his state's markets after receiving the recommendation of a special advisory committee, which is to meet Friday in Macon.

The South Carolina Warehouse Association's Board of Governors will meet jointly with the group's marketing and sales committee in Florence, S. C., Friday to set a date for openings in that state. Border North Carolina markets traditionally open with South Carolina markets, but they opened Aug. 10 last year, a week after South Carolina.

Tobacco interests in the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt will meet in South Boston, Va., Friday to plan limited early openings recently approved by the industrywide Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Committee. An opening day may be selected at that meeting.

Prison Term And Fine Given Doctor Spock

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Benjamin Spock was sentenced today to two years in prison and ordered to pay a $5,000 fine for conspiracy to aid, abet and counsel young men to avoid the draft.

His three codefendants also received two-year prison sentences, but were ordered to pay varied fines.

U.S. Dist. Judge Francis J. W. Ford granted stays of execution for all the sentences, pending appeals to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and continued the defendants' $1,000 bonds.

Convicted with the 65-year-old pediatrician were Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43, fined $5,000; Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student, $1,000 fine; Mitchell Goodman, 44, an author from Temple, Maine, fined $5,000.

Lawyers for the four immediately announced intentions to appeal the sentences.

'A Raw Deal' Says Ousted Duke Gridder

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—The Duke University football team has lost its No. 1 quarterback and next fall's captain, Al Woodall, as a result of an investigation into reports of cheating by athletes and other Duke students.

Woodall, who would have been a rising senior, told the Durham Sun he will not attend Duke University this fall. He said he had signed a contract to play with the Richmond Roadrunners of the Atlantic Coast Football League.

He denied having cheated and said he got a "raw deal."

"It was a girl's word against my word and they believed her in the hearing," said Woodall, from Erwin, N. C. "I appealed twice and twice I was turned down. The last appeal was turned down last Wednesday. I repeat I was given a raw deal."

He added, "In my case, I was charged with allowing a coed to write a paper in education for me, which I denied."

Honoring Lanier

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH—J. Con Lanier, 77-year-old Greenville attorney, is being recognized in a formal presentation here tonight "for his faithful and dedicated years of service" to the Tobacco Tax Council, of Richmond, Va.

Lanier, one of the founders in 1949 of the Tax Council and a long-time member of its board of directors, was to receive a plaque in token of his devoted efforts on behalf of "his State and Nation, as well as of the Tobacco Industry."

Fred S. Royster, of Henderson, Bright Belt Warehouse Association managing director and Tobacco Tax Council president, was to make the presentation as a highlight of a banquet for the 24th annual meeting of the warehouse association.

Education Plans Failing Deadline

RALEIGH (AP)—A long-range plan for higher education in North Carolina will not be completed in time to meet its August deadline.

Watts Hill Jr., chairman of the State Board of Higher Education which is preparing the report, said Tuesday, "It's surely going to be into the fall. We won't have it completed by next month."

Lion's Share Of Tentative Budget Is For Personnel

By RONALD GOLLOBIN
Reflector Staff Writer

Wage hikes and added personnel account for most of the $228,847.30 increase in the 1968-69 city budget tentatively adopted Monday night by the city council.

The police department budget showed an increase of $97,447.98 over last year's budget. Of this increase, $96,293.00 will go for salary boosts and the hiring and outfitting of four additional policemen.

The four new men will swell the police ranks to 45 uniformed full-time men, nine administrative personnel, 10 part-time school crossing guards, and 18 volunteer policemen.

The Fire Department's budget shows an increase of $12,342.96. Salary hikes and four additional men to be hired will raise wages for the department $30,942.00 over last year's, but the department will not purchase any new fire-fighting vehicles this year. Last year a $16,000 fire truck was purchased.

The four new men will give the department 37 full-time firemen.

The Public Works Department's budget shows an increase of $64,845.61. Of this amount, $39,915.00 will go for increased salaries and related benefits such as social security and insurance.

City Manager Harry Hagerly said that taxable property on the books amounted to $70,002,500, up $3,190,740 from last year.

Revenue from the Greenville Utilities Commission is up $37,000 over last year. An increase of $8,000 from the Powell Bill will come into the city's coffers and the cash on hand is substantially more than last year at this time. Last year cash on hand totaled $20,141; this year it runs to $87,000.

Money for the city's debt service at this time last year was $576. This year it is $4,217.

On the negative side of the revenue picture, an estimated $16,000 in court costs will be lost due to the abolishment of Recorder's Court as part of the court reform plan to take effect on December 1 this year.

Another estimated $14,000 in beer and wine taxes will not be collected due to the recent controversial change in method of collection of state beer and wine tax.

The $26,590,000 increase in the city debt service is almost entirely due to interest on the $200,000 Sheppard Memorial Library bonds voted in last year.

Thus the total increase for the taxpayer will amount to 20 cents per $100 of valuation. The breakdown is $1.37 for the general fund, as compared to last year's $1.20; and 13 cents for retirement of the city's debt service, as compared to last year's 10 cents.

Circus Tent Fell In During Storm

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Elephants trumpeted, the wind howled, the tent crashed. State Police said 85 of an estimated 300 spectators at the circus Tuesday night were injured, but none critically.

Scores had fled before the collapse, because of the violent thunderstorm. Police said approximately 800 persons had been in the tent, watching as the various acts were speeded. The tent can hold 4,000.

Of the injured, two hospitals admitted two dozen, hospital attaches said. Others were discharged or treated on the circus grounds.

The 300-foot-long tent was the scene of a performance by the Clyde-Beatty-Cole Brothers Circus in this Finger Lakes city.

Some in the audience said the collapse was preceded by a loosening of some of the aluminum poles holding up the tent and by a rush of water down the top above the center ring.

"There was a loud scream but there was no time for panic," said Bob Fasce, a reporter for the Auburn Citizen Advertiser who was in the tent.

"Everybody hit the dirt and the poles came down," he said.

Fasce said some people crawled out from under the tent and others were freed when circus workers cut the canvas.

"People were crawling on their stomachs, caked with mud, coughing from swallowed rain water. Circus workers flashed knives as they ripped at the canvas to free as many persons as they could. Elephants followed in the background," he said.

Two East Carolina University students were injured in this car when it collided with a second vehicle at the intersection of N. C. 30 and N. C. 33 at Pactolus this morning.

Highway Intersection Wreck Injures Two

PACTOLUS — Marvin Elmo Cowell of New Bern was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of a wreck near here this morning that caused an estimated $1,300 damage and injured three persons.

Crowell, 52, allegedly failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection of N. C. 30 and N. C. 33, according to Highway Patrolman J. C. Ball.

The Cowell car collided with a vehicle operated by Robert Leroy James Jr. 19 of Plymouth. Damage was set at $800 to the James auto and $500 to the Cowell car. Trooper Ball reported. According to the officer, both drivers and a passenger in the James auto, Miss Ruth Askew, 19, of Plymouth, were treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital for cuts and abrasions suffered in the 7:05 a.m. collision.

Both James and Miss Askew are East Carolina University students and were enroute to the school for their classes at the time of the wreck.

Encourage Her To 'Wait A While'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter announced her engagement a few months ago, and now there are indications that she is not quite so "sure" as she once was. The boy is pushing for an early wedding, and our daughter now says she wishes she could wait "a little while," but because she said they'd have "a summer wedding," she has to go thru with it soon.

In our hearts we have never felt that this young man was "right" for our daughter, but when she told us she was going to marry him, we kept our opinions to ourselves, since her decision had already been made. Now we are sorry we weren't more honest with her in the beginning, and we don't know what to say or do.

Please answer this as soon as possible.

TROUBLED PARENTS

DEAR TROUBLED: Let your daughter know that you are with her all the way if she wants to "wait a while." Encourage her to wait until she is absolutely certain that he is the man with whom she wants to spend the rest of her life. A broken engagement is relatively "painless" as compared with a broken marriage. If she doubts it, she can ask any divorcee.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day and must admit you sure do get some pips, but I think my problem takes the cake.

It's a neighbor of mine, (I'll call him "Frenchie") who is always out in his yard, putting around, wearing only a little French beret and his UNDER PANTS. I don't mean regular swim trunks, or Bermuda shorts either. He wears those little brief, clingy jockey shorts—and that is all! Now is he some kind of nut?

When I have guests over, they see Frenchie out there in that get-up and wonder what kind of a neighborhood this is. Frenchie is very anti-social, so it's not like I could be talking to him one day and subtly drop a hint that maybe he ought to dress up a little more to go outside. So what should I do?

DEAR SEEN: Tell Frenchie that you have "seen everything" and it's too much. Ask him, in a nice way to please wear outdoorsy shorts while he's outside. If that doesn't work, tell your guests that you have some kind of a nut for a neighbor.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been suffering from a muscle-deteriorating disease for the past 11 years. He is 42 and hasn't been able to walk for four years, so he's in a wheelchair. I hold down a job and am trying to raise three children,

In addition to being a nurse to my husband, which is not easy. I am 40, attractive, and I miss dancing, swimming, and bowling, which I once loved. Would it be wrong for me to accept the occasional companionship of a man who can do all those things I love to do? I don't want to get emotionally involved with another man because I love my husband, but Abby, I get so weary just sitting with him.

What do other wives of handicapped husbands do? I am a normal, healthy, energetic woman. Please don't give me a sermon about having taken this man "in sickness and in health." I know all that. What I need is some advice.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: If you honestly don't want to become emotionally involved with another man, don't go swimming, dancing, or bowling with one. It may start out innocently enough, but it rarely ends up that way. You say you have missed a lot.

Well, your husband has also missed a lot. And that "sermon" you didn't want to hear about having taken your husband "in sickness and in health" would not be a bad one to review. What if the "shoe" were on YOUR foot, which wasn't going anywhere?

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90063 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOK-LET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

Thomas White To Give Program

"Living Up to Our Collect" is the topic to be discussed by Thomas White at the meeting of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday evening at the Woman's Club.

The program is a part of the theme for the year "Advancing the Status of Women by Uniting, Sharing and Acting." Mrs. Edith Harrington, chairman of the Personal Development Committee will introduce the program.

Miss Gladys Stokes, president of the local club, will preside over the business session. His feet and suggested that he postpone the ceremony for 15 minutes while she gave first aid to a cub scout who had sprained his ankle in the accident. Cooked veal—see recipe below
1 cup fat-free veal stock—see below

1 can—7 ounces—tuna in olive oil
1 cup commercial mayonnaise
Juice of ½ lemon—about 1½ tablespoons
1 can, 2 ounces, flat anchovy fillets, drained
¼ cup drained capers
Remove strings from veal and any top surface white membrane; slice thin. Into an electric blender turn veal stock, tuna including oil, mayonnaise, lemon juice and half the anchovy fillets; puree. Stir in two tablespoons of the capers. Spoon a little of the sauce in a serving dish—an 8 by 8 by 2-inch glass baking dish is fine. Add the veal, spooning the remaining sauce over the slices as added. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. At serving time, cut the remaining anchovy fillets in half as garnish; sprinkle with remaining capers. Makes six healthy servings.

Cooked Veal and Stock
Into a saucepot place a boned tied neck of veal—about 2¼ pounds, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 peeled carrot, 1 medium onion stuck with 2 cloves, tops of 2 celery ribs, several sprigs parsley and 2 bay leaves. Bring to a boil. Cover and simmer until veal is tender—when a fork inserted in center can be easily twisted—about two hours. Strain stock; chill stock and veal separately. Remove congealed fat from stock; use amount called for in above recipe. Leftover stock may be refrigerated until needed.

Couple Weds In Noon Ceremony

ROBERSONVILLE — Miss Mary Martha Woolard, daughter of Mrs. Otis Glenn Woolard and the late Mr. Woolard, became the bride of Herbert Theophilus Highsmith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Highsmith, in a formal ceremony at the First Christian Church here Saturday at high noon.

The Rev. John Browning performed the double ring ceremony.

The couple spoke their vows before an altar flanked by brass pedestals containing white gladioli with accents of pink and fern. Lighted white cathedral candles in ivy entwined brass candelabra completed the setting.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Wiley Burroughs Rogerson, organist, presented a program of wedding music.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Michael Glenn Wollard of Newport News, Va., the bride wore a formal gown of ivory English net and alencon lace over peau de soie. The gown featured an empire bodice with a stand-up collar, long sleeves ending in calla points buttoned at the wrist, and an A-line skirt. An attached chapel length wattleu-train of silk faced peau was adorned with a self-fabric bow at the center top.

Her floor length veil of illusion and alencon lace was styled as a cage, being split and falling on each side with an open back. Pearls and sequins trimmed the lace appliques. She carried a colonial bouquet of ivory butterfly roses complemented by ivory satin streamers.

Mrs. Michael Glenn Woolard of Newport News, Va., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a petal pink floor length gown of summer desire fashioned along modified A-lines with petite val lace edging at the short sleeves and narrow neckbands. The fabric of the dress was repeated in the headbow from which pale pink net cascaded to the floor. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and roses with satin streamers.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Yancey Robertson Jr., of Burlington, Miss Christine Hurst of Chapel Hill, cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Betsy Leigh Bunting of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Robert Brown Goins of Raleigh. They wore dresses and headbows identical to the matron of honor and carried bouquets of pink daisies and baby's breath with pink satin streamers.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Julius Francis Budacz, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was head usher. Other ushers were George Robert Wooten Jr. of Tarboro, Archibald Caleb Lineberger III, of Charlotte, Ashley Mark Page Jr. of Elm City, Hoke Smith Roberson Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, of Windsor and John Richard Taylor of Ayden.

The mother of the bride wore an absinthe green crepe long formal sheath with caviar and bugle beading at the neckline. The back was designed with twin floating panels. She wore a matching headpiece of net and velvet and carried a small bag to which was pinned a pale green cymbidium.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a short-sleeved long sheath, fashioned on princess lines, of deep pink chiffon over crepe. The neck and sleeves of the dress were banded with pink and iridescent fish scale beads. Her headpiece consisted of pink petals of matching organdy.

Mrs. Callie Roberson, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore an agus corded gown with an A-line skirt, matching turlan of net and braid, and a pink cymbidium corsage.

Following the ceremony, the mother of the bride entertained at a wedding breakfast at the Robersonville Country Club.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Robersonville.

Most Of Tax Hike Is For Personnel

An increase in Greenville's tax rate from $1.30 to $1.50 per $100 valuation is bound to cause raised eyebrows and probably some raised voices among the taxpayers of the community.

almost $100,000 in other additional income over last year's budget to come from other sources to match the total $288,000 increase in spending plans of the city for the next 12 months.

Operating the city of Greenville, like most other businesses, cannot be done without people. The vast majority of the budget increase for the city this year has been earmarked for increased personnel costs. Of the $228,000 in additional spending planned for all city operations, $194,700 of the increase will off-set higher personnel costs.

It is not easy for the taxpayers of Greenville to absorb an increase of 20 cents in the tax rate. On the other hand, it obviously was not easy for members of the Council to authorize such an increase. It boiled down to a matter of whether the Council was going to adequately provide for personnel and other operations of the city government, and set the tax rate at the level needed to maintain good local government functions.

The Council, in our judgment, is more to be commended than condemned for the decision it made. The easier and more immediately popular course obviously would have been to hold tax rates at their previous level and let the backlog of city problems continue to grow.

Letter Raises Some Revulsion

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Question and revulsion alike arise almost immediately about the authenticity and true purpose of a race issue letter popped into the state's political campaign in the past few days.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

unless demands were met. He said he opposed those who "believe that any goal is possible by the use of force and pressure."

Later, Gardner said he planned to investigate the source of the letter and conceded that "it doesn't sound right." Certainly, he said, it was not the type of letter intended to gain sympathy or solicit funds for a cause.

Letter's Contents
Purportedly addressed to white businessmen, the letter included such statements as these:

"No longer can you afford to ignore the rights of our race to fully share in the promise of America. . . . We have already been forced to wait too long for our earned place in society. . . . We will be heard. We want and we demand our equal place. . . ."

"Our savior, Dr. Martin Luther King, . . . which racists killed the greatest American that ever lived. . . . never allow yourself or anyone else to forget the debt that the white race owns the Negro for the killing of this great man."

Makes Demands
From this adulation of King, the letter blatantly gives away its racist purpose by making demands such as these: —"you are to allow all employees to take time off from work to attend these meetings (civil rights, poor peoples' meetings)."

—"We are asking you to pay these people for their time off. We are also asking you to encourage all employees, black and white, to attend these meetings. . . . They will begin in May and never stop."

—"You must help build a memorial to Dr. Martin Luther King. This is just one small way to help tone for your own guilt. We are planning to largest monument ever constructed in America (in his behalf). You will be called on later to help finance this project."

—"The treasury department is holding half dollars in memory for this great man. His likeness will appear on the new coins."

Racist Appeal
At this point, it is clear the letter is racist-inspired but who knows by whom? There is more, equally revolting — and unusual in the plane of North Carolina's practical-minded politics.

Miniaturization Fine, But Not In Basketball

Miniaturization is an engineering field that began long before the space age gave it added impetus. Now it is regarded as an answer to problems we didn't even know existed, and the specialists are reducing complex electronic circuits and parts to an incredible degree.

Perhaps the ultimate was attained by a British firm that produced an integrated circuit (no larger than a freckle) that replaces 65 components, and appears to have a future in color television sets.

We can see where miniaturization may result in whole new industries and change the world by resolving old problems (while creating new ones); taking care, meanwhile, not to inhibit the size of basketball players.

Other Editors Cite... Retires At ECU

(Goldsboro News-Argus)
Mrs. Agnes Barrett, secretary to Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of East Carolina University, kept the event pretty much a secret, but she retired as of the first of the month. Here is the good news which hasn't gotten around much so far. Multiplied thousands of former East Carolina students will be glad to get the good news. Mrs. Barrett, native of Kentucky, will continue to make her home in Greenville near the ECU campus. She will spend the rest of the summer in foreign travel.

Mrs. Barrett, who also has served as secretary to the board of trustees, served as secretary to each of the six presidents of the Greenville institution. As a girl still in her teens she began work as secretary to Wright, first head of the institution. Other presidents for whom she has served are: Dr. Robert H. Wright,

Dr. Leonard Meadows, Dr. Cooke, Professor Harold McGinnis, Dr. Leo Jenkins, the present chief executive of the university.

Trustees made Mrs. Barrett a "thank-you" retiring gift of special luggage and a silver tray. Greenville friends and others feasted her with a special testimonial dinner, and made her a gift for summer travel.

Mrs. Barrett was a very young woman when she began work as secretary to Dr. Wright. Over the years she has seen the University grow from one with a small enrollment of girls and one boy to over 9,000 with enrollment divided about 50 percent girls and 50 percent boys.

Mrs. Barrett is retiring in full vigor and health and can be depended upon to participate in activities for progress in Greenville and for East Carolina University.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SEEN AND UNSEEN

"Science says so." This assertion is supposed to settle all arguments. If the scientists think a thing is right, that, in the minds of many, makes it right. Philosophers, theologians, and the common run of men and women have to stand aside for scientific opinion.

The scientists of this age are among the most wonderful people that ever lived. Their achievements have been monumental and breath-taking. A scientific mind is something before which we should stand in reverence. They don't come any smarter than the scientists and never have. They should be given applause, praise and support.

But science is the technique evolved for understanding the material world, dealing with it and using it. And that material world is the basis upon which we have to live. But there is a lot of truth outside the concept of science. Religious truth came not as the result of scientific investigation, but through revelation—that is, through God's conferring of information regarding certain topics. Man could never have reasoned out the basic truths of religious faith. A divine Creator might well be assumed because we have a creation. But beyond that—the love and fatherhood of God, the divine character of love and understanding—these could never be discovered and understood through scientific reasoning.

Praise science, but let us not prostrate ourselves before it, for it is a technique. "The things that are seen are temporal but the things that are unseen are eternal" (II Corinthians 4:18).

"Growing old is no more than a bad habit which a busy man has not time to form." —Andre Maurois.

Oneupmanship In Paris

PARIS — All the French seem to want to talk about these days is their revolution. They don't have any interest at all in what has been happening in the United States and they've been so boorish about it I've found myself bragging about our riots back home.

This is how the conversation has been going: "You should have been here during the uprising," Anatole said. "It was fantastic."

"Maybe so," I said, "but until you live through one in you don't know what a riot is. Washington, D. C."

"Ours wasn't a riot," Anatole said. "It was an all-out revolution."

"Ours could have been, except for the curfew. You didn't have a curfew in Paris, did you?"

"No, but we had a general strike," he said angrily. "You couldn't even get gasoline for your automobile."

"We had looting and burning. Whole blocks were incinerated."

"The students burned every car on the Left Bank," Anatole replied. "They also broke windows. Did you have any barricades?"

"He had me there. No, we didn't have any barricades, but we had marines and paratroopers patrolling the streets," I said. "We could have been at war."

"Our students took over all the buildings at the university," Anatole said.

"So did ours at Columbia. They gave no quarter."

Anatole toyed with his apertif. Then he said, "Our police were more brutal to the students than your police."

"How can you say that?" I cried. "Our police used Billy clubs and tear gas and hoses."

"Aha," said Anatole, "our police also used clubs. But they were six feet long, and the police threw the tear gas right into the students' faces. They also beat them up on the way to the station."

"Our students were also

Ads To Spur Action

By ROBERT D. HAWORTH
NEW YORK (AP) — "If you're short of help, try an exconvict."

"If you're looking for a new plant site, try the nearest ghetto."

"All the time you spend yacking about the 'youth problem' you could be doing something about it."

These are headlines to some of the advertisements soon to appear in newspapers and publications throughout the country as part of a series of campaigns by the Advertising Council. The campaigns are aimed at encouraging citizen and corporate involvement in helping to solve the nation's racial and urban crisis.

One of the advertisements, sponsored by Urban America, Inc., tells how Lockheed Aircraft included persons with police records in its hiring and training program and helped solve its own labor problems.

Urban America, Inc., a nonprofit organization dedicated to improving the social and physical environment in the nation's cities, also tells how IBM is bringing employment to the slums by converting an old warehouse in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant district into a computer cable factory.

Many other companies are doing the same. So can you," the advertisements say.

Advertisements sponsored by the President's Council on Youth Opportunity suggest how individuals can help by developing recreational activities and entertainment for youth and volunteering to teach new skills.

Robert P. Keim, president of the Advertising Council, said the four-pronged attack on the American domestic crisis is the most massive project ever mounted by his organization in its 26-year history.

The council is a nonprofit organization which conducts national advertising campaigns for the public good. Its operating budget of about $700,000 a year comes from funds solicited from companies in the advertising - communications industry. Advertising agencies contribute all creative services in preparing campaigns, and all advertising space in publications and radio and television time is contributed by media owners.

In one of the television spots produced for the current drive, the camera scans the room of a slum dwelling while a child's voice is heard saying, "Here kitty, kitty. Here kitty, kitty."

Suddenly the camera zooms in on a large rat.

"What if your child mistook a rat for a kitten?" asks the commentator, Melvin Douglas. "Some of the posters put out for one of the campaigns read: 'Most kids live in cities. So do our rats.' 'What happens to our cities happens to our suburbs,' and 'Ancient Rome had better sanitary facilities than parts of our cities do now.'"

Each of the advertisements urges the reader or listener to write the sponsoring agency for further information on what can be done by individuals, citizens groups and employers. Keim estimated that more than $25 million worth of space and time will be contributed by the advertising media to the crisis campaigns during the next 12 months.

Pricing Ourselves Out Of Mart

By ELMER ROESSNER
Steel strike or no next month the United States will price itself out of another chunk of the world steel market and lose another bit of the American Steel market to foreign producers.

The United States was a net exporter of steel before 1959. In that year of the 116-day steel strike, imports topped exports and they have every year since.

In 1965-67, we imported an annual average of 8.9 million tons. In the first five months of this year, we imported 6.6 million tons, an increase of 56 per cent over the first five months of 1967, according to the American Iron & Steel Institute. Part of this, of course, was due to the frantic stockpiling by American users in fear of a steel strike next month.

Leadership Is Gone
Steel productivity of Western Europe, Russia and Japan was largely bombed out during World War II, giving America dominance in the world markets. However, in the early 1950s foreign production was restored, and in the late 50s production was expanded considerably faster than consumption. Production has also expanded in Canada, Latin America and India, once big American markets.

Since 1959, the turning point in foreign steel trade, European steel producers have lowered prices but U.S. prices rose, notably in 1959, 1962, 1963 and 1965, which were years of steel labor negotiations.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, in an analysis of the steel market, said: "Various surveys on price differentials suggest that delivered prices of imported steel products, including f.o.b. shipping point, freight and other delivery costs, customs duty and insurance, average from 10 to 20 per cent per ton below domestic prices on comparable products." It is significant that Japan, which must first import both its iron ore and coal, can ship steel to America below our own prices.

It seems obvious that if there is a strike next month, or if a sizeable wage increase is negotiated without a strike, prices of U.S. steel will rise again, giving foreign producers still more advantage in selling in both American and foreign markets.

The House Ways and Means Committee is considering legislation to put a quota on steel imports, as well as on other products. In hearings it has appeared sympathetic to the steel industry's plea. "That might save part of the American market. But it cannot do anything to prevent further loss of the foreign market. Incidentally, much of our present exports are financed by AID.

Not All Labor
However, the Cleveland Fed explains that it is not labor costs alone that is pricing the U.S. out of world and even our own markets. It cited differences in technology, differences in the cost of plant and equipment, raw materials and capital. However, it added, the level of output per man-hour in the domestic steel industry is greater than in the steel industry of any foreign country," but still not enough for U.S. steel producers to maintain an advantage.

ACLU Moves In Where Angels Fear To Tread

By A.F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A senator campaigning for a presidential nomination is slain, and the American Civil Liberties Union promptly goes to the aid of the accused.

A famed baby doctor is accused of conspiracy to counsel violation of the draft law. The ACLU involves itself.

A teacher is charged with violating a state law forbidding the teaching of evolution. The ACLU involves itself.

For 48 years, the ACLU has been embroiling itself as a self-styled defender of the Bill of Rights.

Controversy has nurtured the organization which now claims a national membership of 125,000 and operates on an annual budget of $2.2 million.

Where is it headed? Into new controversy. Recommendations expected to generate new clashes came only recently from a 285-member national conference at the University of Michigan here.

It was proposed, among many other things, that the ACLU condone "violations of an admittedly valid law as a method of expressing political or social opinion."

Holding that "the present Selective Service law as presently administered and in present circumstances is a violation of civil liberties and constitutional guarantees," the Ann Arbor conference said the ACLU "should act to oppose the present draft law in the judicial, legislative and public arenas."

Another resolution proposed government subsidy for public broadcasting "to foster diversity on the airways," and another advocated "a guaranteed income as a matter of right," in lieu of the present welfare system.

Whether these recommendations become national policy rests with the union's 80-member Board of Directors, which may adopt or reject conference actions, despite the fact this organization has battled for a "one-man, one-vote" principle in the public realm.

In 1925, five years after its founding, the ACLU became involved in one of the most famous cases in American judicial history: the Scopes Monkey Trial in Tennessee.

Clarence Darrow was the ACLU's volunteer, unpaid counsel defending what the union claimed was an infringement on free speech.

John T. Scopes, a schoolteacher, was charged with violating a Tennessee law forbidding the teaching of evolution. Darrow lost to William Jennings Bryan, acting as special prosecutor, and Scopes was fined $100, but the State Supreme Court reversed the verdict on a technicality.

The law, although often fouted, stood until its repeal by the 1967 Tennessee General Assembly.

Among the latest trials in which the ACLU has involved itself was that of Dr. Benjamin Spock, pediatrician-author, and four others accused of conspiracy to counsel violation of the Selective Service Act. That, too, was lost in the lower courts, but is being appealed.

When Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was arrested in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., the counsel for ACLU's Southern California chapter A. L. Wirin went to Sirhan in what Wirin described as a move to safeguard Sirhan's rights and to help him find a lawyer to represent him.

A few years ago within the space of 48 hours, ACLU attorneys were defending members of the DuBois clubs, which the Justice Department wanted to register as Communists' front organization, and the constitutional rights of George Lincoln Rockwell, American Nazi Party leader who later was shot to death by one of his former lieutenants.

In the great majority of suits in which it imposes itself, the ACLU does so as a "friend of the court" and limits itself to defense of the accused's constitutional rights.

The ACLU has been a participant in several landmark decisions coming from the U.S. Supreme Court in recent months.

Among those in which it was on the winning side: —Federally funded aid cannot be denied dependent children on the grounds that a man having illicit relations with their mother is a "substitute father" and therefore must support them.

—That an 1866 civil rights act bars all racial discrimination, private as well as public, in the sale and rental of property. Losers have included: —Establishment of a policeman's right to "stop and frisk" a suspicious-looking person. —The upholding of a New York law requiring public school systems to lend textbooks to children in parochial or other private schools.

While it has been generating controversy at an increased rate in recent years, the ACLU also has been growing under the executive directorship of John de J. Pemberton, a 49-year-old Quaker lawyer from North Carolina, via the Harvard Law School and the State of Minnesota.

Pemberton took over in 1962 from ACLU's founder, 84-year-old Roger Baldwin, a World War I conscientious objector who went to jail and who was an activist in the American Council Against Militarism.

The union now has affiliates in 43 states with seven times that number of chapters. In 1950 it had 9,000 members and affiliates in but 36 states.

ACLU is a private organization, chartered by the State of New York, and is supported by contributions from its membership. A "contributing member" pays $6 a year, and other categories pay from $10 through $100 and up.

Associate Director Alan Reitman says contributions of members average $18 each.

ACLU estimates its paid staff —executive, legal and clerical —and those of its affiliates total no more than 100 to 125 combined. Pemberton's salary is $25,000 a year, that of his legal director, Melvin J. Wulf, $19,000. Directors of state affiliates range from less than $10,000 to $17,000 annually.

Many shades of political opinion are reflected in ACLU's members who include businessmen, lawyers, teachers, legislators, clergymen, journalists, authors, white collar workers, trade unionists, housewives and students. Reitman estimates lawyers and educators constitute a majority.

"The objects of the American Civil Liberties Union," says its constitution, "shall be to maintain and advance civil liberties, including the freedoms of association, press, religion and speech, and the rights of the franchise, to due process of law and to equal protection of the laws for all people throughout the United States and its possessions. The union's objects shall be sought wholly without political partisanship."

National policy is set and reviewed by the ACLU's Board of Directors, headed by Ernest Angell, a New York attorney and president of the American Fund for Free Jurists.

Board members serve without pay, as do "cooperating (volunteer) attorneys," of which the ACLU says it has a roster of 800 scattered over the country. If paid the usual fee, the union estimates services of its volunteer lawyers would exceed $4 million a year.

Through its affiliates, and chapters within affiliates, the union is at any given moment working on several hundred cases and lobbying in state legislatures from coast to coast on thousands of bills. These range from antiobscenity and right-to-counsel measures to legislation to abolish loyalty oaths and capital punishment.

In what came as a surprise to some members and many outsiders, ACLU directors this month endorsed federal gun control legislation on grounds that freedom to bear arms must be sacrificed "to the more important freedom of free and fearless debate on which our free society rests."

Pemberton said "when citizens flaunt guns at political demonstrations . . . this does suppress minority opinions."

Before becoming involved in a case, most affiliates follow criteria established by the New York affiliate in requiring that an alleged violation pass at least one of three tests to qualify for support:

Has freedom of inquiry or expression been violated? Is due process of law affected? Has there been discrimination?

Founder Roger Baldwin likes to remind everyone: "No fight for civil liberty ever stays won."

FEATURE ATTRACTION!

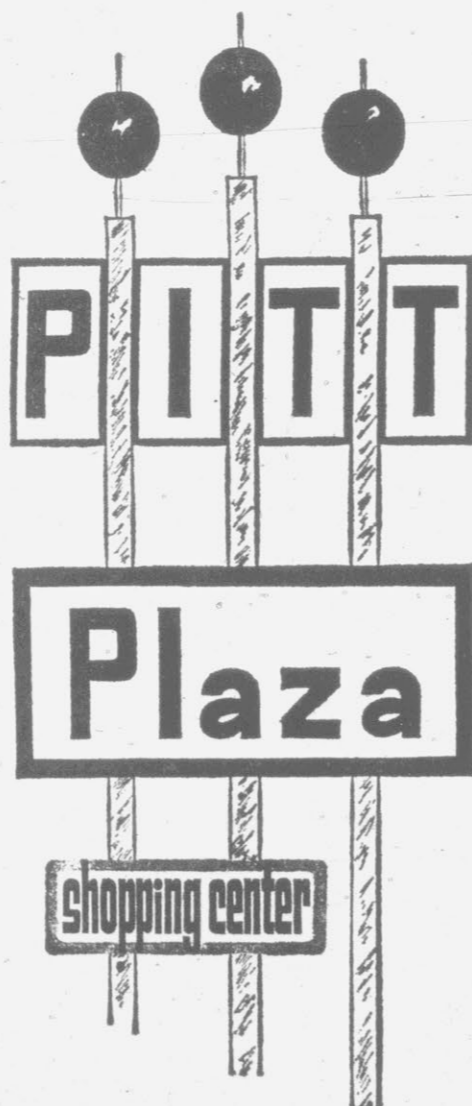

NORTH CAROLINA'S

FOOD MOBILE

WILL BE AT PITT PLAZA

Thurs., Fri. and Sat.

JULY 11, 12, 13

NORTH CAROLINA'S FOOD-MOBILE WILL BE A FEATURED ATTRACTION AT PITT PLAZA SHOPPING CENTER — GREENVILLE, N. C. THIS TARHEEL FOOD DISPLAY SMACKS THE EYE LIKE THE SPREAD AT A FAMILY REUNION.

Put that food dollar where your mouth is — right here, if you please, in North Carolina.

Carrying this message for Tarheel consumers, North Carolina's "Food For Families On The Go" trailer is rolling onto asphalt and concrete again. The trailer, or "food-mobile," features some 500 food items — all either raised or prepared by North Carolinians.

Agriculture Commissioner James A. Graham says the food-mobile will appeal to visitors' appetites with a newly designed food showcase interior.

"We hope," he says, "this rolling display of North Carolina foods will encourage Tarheel buying power to support our growing Tarheel food industry. North Carolina's economic bowl goes unfilled when all of that valuable greenery, our food dollar, goes to make an income salad for producers and processors out-of-state.

"That's why we urge the slogan, 'Help Build North Carolina By Using North Carolina Products.' By setting our tables with foods freshly grown or prepared here in the State, we're each helping ourselves to a better income.

Last year over 125,000 visitors roved through the food-mobile as it made tours around the State. The 33-foot long trailer was first seen by Tarheel consumers last summer.

"This year," Graham notes, "we've set up several functional display areas within the trailer. I'm sure visitors will be surprised at the wide range of foods they'll see displayed at our snack time, cookout, and 'three square meals per day' section."

Food items on display include sweet potatoe flakes, baby foods, fruit pies, country hams, pickles, barbecues, cheeses, ice creams, and other treats.

Agriculture Department specialists will accompany the food-mobile to demonstrate cookout techniques, answer consumers' questions, and distribute recipes, the Agriculture Commissioner says.

Humphrey, McCarthy May Attend N. C. Caucus

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy may both be in Raleigh July 18 to talk to North Carolina's delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

McCarthy's state coordinator, Dr. Alden Lind of Chapel Hill, confirmed Tuesday that the Minnesota senator would visit North Carolina the same day.

the delegates plan to caucus in Raleigh.

Humphrey's press chief, Al Spivak, said a few hours later in Washington that the vice president might change his scheduled to "drop by" to meet the delegates, too.

Earlier in the day, State Democratic Chairman Tim Valentine Jr. had publicly invited both men to attend the Raleigh caucus.

"Our meeting is designed to organize our delegation," Valentine said, "but we would not be opposed to the candidates or their representatives appearing briefly on the program."

Lind said he had told Valentine Tuesday morning that McCarthy was scheduled to pass through North Carolina between visits in Richmond, Va., July 17 and Atlanta, Ga., the following evening. The candidate probably would have time for a brief stop in Raleigh to attend a rally and would be available to meet the delegates, Lind said.

The McCarthy organizer said he understood from talking to Valentine that candidates would not be invited to speak to the caucus, but after Valentine's announcement, Lind said his candidate "would be prepared" to appear.

North Carolina's 59 delegate votes are bound to favor its candidate Gov. Dan Moore until he releases them, but the delegation leans heavily to Humphrey.

Lind is the only delegate openly committed to McCarthy, and he has been trying for several weeks to bring the senator to North Carolina in an effort to win support in the delegation.

Humphrey visited the state twice this spring and has made five trips to the state since his election to the vice presidency in 1964.

He has strong support in the top ranks of the state party, including that of former Gov. Terry Sanford who urged him to seek the presidency after President Johnson's announcement

Appalachian U. Seeks $16 Million In Budget

BOONE, N. C. (AP)—Appalachian State University submitted to the North Carolina Advisory Budget Commission Tuesday a request for $16 million in capital improvement funds during the 1969-71 biennium.

W. H. Plemmons, university president, told the commission the most critical need now is additional land for expansion.

He requested approval of $700,000 for land purchases.

Plemmons said 5,400 students are expected to be enrolled at Appalachian this fall, "which is about all we have room for now."

More than 8,000 applied for admission to the fall term, he added.

Plemmons also asked for about $3.6 million for a new fine arts building; $2 million for expansion of the campus water system; $1.25 million for a laboratory school where student teachers will be trained; and $1.4 million for expansion of the steam generating and distribution system.

Earlier Tuesday, the commission heard requests for $2.8 million from two state institutions in Buncombe County.

The six-member commission, which started its tour of state institutions Monday, now has received requests for 336,696,000 in capital improvement money.

To do the job right you could install a heating system, a cooling system, a ventilator, an air filter, and a dehumidifier. Or simply install an electric heat pump.

It takes a heap of machinery to make a house really comfortable. Unless you have an electric heat pump. A heat pump does exactly the same things as heating, cooling, ventilating, humidifying and dehumidifying systems do. Except a heat pump takes up less room. And can be controlled with just one thermostat setting. By the way, a heat pump usually costs less than all those separate systems.

First Inning Run Wins For National, 1-0

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Things happen when Willie Mays is on a baseball field and that, as much as anything tells why the National League won its sixth straight All-Star Game against the Americans Tuesday night.

starter because Cincinnati's Pete Rose broke his thumb Saturday night, opened the game with a single against Cleveland's Luis Tiant.

He led off first and Tiant threw over to Harmon Killebrew. Mays stepped back, then again led away. Again Tiant tossed and this time, disaster.

down in between against Drysdale, Juan Marichal, Steve Carlton and Seaver. There was another two out double in the eighth by Don Wert and nothing more.

Managers Agree Pitching Is Key To All-Star Win

By B.F. KELLUM

HOUSTON (AP)—"Pitchers dominated the game as they have all season," said Red Schoendienst.

"There was great pitching on both sides," said Dick Williams. "But that's the way it has been all year."

So the opposing managers, Schoendienst of the Nationals and Williams of the Americans, saw eye to eye on what made the low-scoring 1968 All-Star Game turn out as it did Tuesday night.

There were other factors, too—a big one being Willie Mays' opening single and skippy hop base running that brought in the Nationals' only run in their 1-0 victory.

But it was mainly a battle in which the All-Star pitchers had the All-Star hitters looking like they belonged on the awkward squad.

It was the Nationals' sixth straight All-Star victory. Buckets of champagne were available in both dressing rooms but only the Nationals popped the corks.

However, the American Leaguers took the loss in stride. The only bitter player was Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins—and it wasn't the loss that bothered him.

Killebrew, the American League's first baseman suffered a severe hamstring pull in his left leg while stretching for a low throw from shortstop Jim Fregosi in the third inning.

In obvious pain as he dressed, Killebrew shrugged off most questions with "I'd rather not talk about it."

Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the starting and winning pitcher for the Nationals, said he replied mostly on the fast ball and slider. "It seems like this is the year of the pitcher," he said. "This thing seems to run in cycles. I believe that in the World Series and in the All-Star games the pitchers have the advantage."

Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, another National League hurler, said, "We had great pitching and great defense. That's a combination hard to beat."

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets said low scoring games have been the trend all year.

"Good pitching will overcome good hitting at all times," he said. "I didn't think there would be more than five runs scored in the ball game."

Williams said he wanted to use all 25 of his players and succeeded with the exception of Gary Bell, one of his own Red Sox pitchers Bell was scheduled to pitch in the eighth but an American League double play ended the inning before he could appear.

Schoendienst, who predicted a low score at his pregame press conferences said, "In a game like this, the hitters don't see enough of the pitchers to get on to them."

Bonallack Is Early Leader

By TOM REEDY Associated Press Sports Writer

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP)—Michael Bonallack, the top British amateur, made the professionals take a back seat in the early stages of the British Open Golf Championship today.

Bonallack, a big hitter and great putter, shot a two-under-par 70 over Carnoustie's 7,252-yard links to seize the early lead under conditions which were not conducive to unusually low scoring.

His playing partner, Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., scored a disappointing 37-41-78 and said:

"Michael, he is great with that little short stick and I putted like an old motorboat."

Clive Clark, the promising British professional, carded a 76 and said he was affected by the wind which struck up just as the field of 130 competitors took off in the first of four 18 hole rounds.

Hubby Habjan, club pro from Chicago, Ill. on his first trip to Britain, scored a 37-40-77. "This is sure different golf from back home," Habjan said. "You get in some of these bunkers and you're looking straight up to the sky. It's a terrific course and it makes you think all the time."

Brian Barnes of England equalled Bonallack's 70 with a fine outgoing 33 plus a back nine of 37.

Playing with Barnes, New York's Jerry Pittman who was seventh in both the U.S. open and the Masters this year, needed 78 shots.

Bob Charles, the left-handed 1963 British Open king from New Zealand, scored a seven par 37-35-72.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

AYDEN COUNTRY CLUB

Nelson White of Greenville picked up a "birdie" at the Ayden Golf and Country Club recently, but it didn't go down on the scorecard.

White, driving off the tee, hit a bird in flight, a rare occurrence despite the number of golf balls and birds around. It was the first "birdie" of his career.

Gerald McCullen eagled the sixth hole at Ayden, really. He used a driver and a wedge to hole out the par-four hole.

In Ayden's "CBS Classic," Mac Edwards and Marvin Baldree defeated Cecil Howard and Jimmy Wall.

FARMVILLE C. C.

Shelby Roebuck successfully defended his Farmville Golf and Country Club championship this year. He downed Roy Mewborn, five and four in a 36-hole match for the title.

In the first flight, Frank Allen defeated Bud Dail. Bob Fiser downed Joe Wallace in the second flight, and Randolph Allen beat Bob Smith in the third flight.

P. K. Ewell beat Moses Moye in the fourth flight, while Allen Darden won the fifth flight over Charlie Lapp. In the sixth flight, Adam Corbett won over Bert Watkins.

BROOK VALLEY

The cooler weather which invaded the area last week brought out a few more golfers, and helped to produce a couple of eagles at Brook Valley Country Club.

Melvin "Big Daddy" Moore, the club champion, picked up an eagle on the fifth hole at Brook Valley. He hit a four-iron into the cup.

The other eagle came on the 15th hole, when Joe Exum holed out an eight-iron shot.

J. G. Proctor Jr. recently fired his best nine-hole round from the blue tees at Brook Valley, carding a 41.

Owners Leave The Door Open

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League owners, refusing to buckle to additional player pension demands, Tuesday kept their camps closed to veterans but opened the doors for further negotiations.

The owners said their training camps would remain closed unless the Players Association permits all veterans to report but added the camps would be properly conditioned and prepared to play.

They also announced they would attempt to fulfill pre-season game commitments "on the assumption that clubs have an adequate number of players, open to rookies for tryout purposes.

for further talks by saying, "We will be available to meet with the Players Association anytime to arrive at a mutual agreement."

Modell called the emergency meeting of owners Monday night after negotiations between the Players Association and NFL owners' representatives broke down earlier in the day. The players want an immediate hike in their pension fund while the owners want to hold off until 1970 when the merger with the American Football League is complete.

At the completion of the meeting, Modell said the owners are prepared to continue negotiations and were in touch with the players' attorney, Dan Shulman of Chicago.

Modell said the owners were unanimous in affirming their negotiation committee's rejection of "the union's unrealistic demands on pensions.

Killebrew Is Injured

Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota, playing first base for the American League All-Stars, lies on the ground after being injured while trying to take a low throw in the fourth inning of the game last night. Dick Williams of Boston, the American League manager and Umpire Larry Napp of the American League bend over the injured player. He was later found to have pulled a leg muscle. (AP Wirephoto)

Imhoff Says He's Not Ready To Go To Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers unloaded their costly, 7-foot-1 bundle of contract worries called Wilt Chamberlain Tuesday but may have picked up a low-priced 6-foot-10 package of the same in the form of Darrell Imhoff.

Imhoff, one-third of the manpower the Los Angeles Lakers had to ante up to get the National Basketball Association's all-time great scorer, says he's not ready to go to Philadelphia.

The eight-year NBA veteran, contacted in Los Angeles Tuesday, said he has "a lot of problems" to work out, adding: "I'm a little disappointed about leaving the Lakers since Los Angeles is my home."

He said: "I have been in contact with the general manager at Philadelphia and (General Manager) Fred Schaus of the Lakers. I'll take a lot of time and think it over."

His statement appeared to contradict 76ers' General Manager Jack Ramsay, who said in announcing the trade for Imhoff, forward Jerry Chambers and guard Archie Clark:

"Our three players are contracted and the Lakers have negotiated with Wilt and reached satisfactory agreement."

Imhoff, a starter with the Lakers, might also find it difficult beating out Chamberlain's understudy, 6-foot-9 Luke Jackson, for the pivot spot with the 76ers.

All gives rise to speculation that Imhoff may be asking the 76ers to trade him to a team nearer Los Angeles, where he says he has business interests and is still involved in an off-season ticket selling program for the Lakers.

For the 76ers, negotiating a contract with Chamberlain had become a yearly summer ritual to whose settings changed with jet-liner speed from Philadelphia, to California surf to a sweaty gym in Atlantic City, N.J., where the pro team held its pre-season tuneups.

Although he was probably worth every cent—NBA Most Valuable Player in 1967 and 1968, only pro to score more than 25,000 points, tremendous rebounder and close-in shooter and key to the 76ers' only league title—his demands were too much for the 76er management.

After reportedly earning $250,000 for the 1967-68 season, Chamberlain reached a contract impasse with the 76ers this spring.

Alert Mays Shows That Hustle Wins Big Games

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Hustle won Tuesday night's All-Star baseball game and hustle has always been the trademark of 37-year-old Willie Mays.

Mays sat slumped in the National League dressing room and told how he scored the only run of the game in a pitcher-dominated 39th All-Star battle.

For Mays, the San Francisco great, he was almost solemn. He scarcely smiled.

As the leadoff batter for the National League, in the first inning, Mays drilled a grounder between the hole at third base and shortstop.

He started his fancy dancing off first base and this seemed to make the American League starter, Luis Tiant of Cleveland, nervous.

Tiant lobbed over a throw. Mays took another leadoff. Tiant whirled and threw hard to first.

"The ball glanced off my back and I saw the first baseman (Harmon Killebrew) wasn't going to be able to handle it, so I took off," Mays said.

Mays dashed to third moments later on a wild pitch that also walked Curt Flood of St. Louis.

Then Willie McCovey of San Francisco hit a hotshot off the hard synthetic turf to AL second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota. Mays put his head down and bolted for the plate. Carew looked to home and decided to go for the double play.

"I had no idea one run would win it," said Mays. "I was just lucky enough to score the winning run."

Mays is so lucky he has scored a record 20 runs in All-Star competition. Mays' single, his 23rd All-Star hit, also is a record. Mays is lucky?

He was named Tuesday night's Most Valuable Player. Asked how he felt about setting All-Star records, Mays said, "Damned fine."

"I'm glad I was able to score the winning run," Mays said. "I wasn't supposed to play."

Mays, the captain of the National League, wasn't picked on the starting team in his 15th All-Star Game.

Then Pete Rose of Cincinnati broke a thumb, leaving a spot in the starting outfield.

Mays refused to downgrade the AL although it was losing its sixth game in a row in the series. "They played a helluva game," Mays said. "We didn't exactly kill them, 1-0." But this was a game won with feet, not the bat. And No. 21, one of the greatest home run hitters of all time, still can pick 'em up and lay 'em down.

FRANK TALK ABOUT "FRANKS"

Call them Wieners or Hot Dogs if you like... but whatever you call them, there is something you should know about Frankfurters. ALL FRANKFURTERS ARE NOT ALIKE. Check the ingredients statement on the package. you'll see what we mean.

The best are All Meat or All Beef like A&P's Super-Right Frankfurters... The best never contain cereal or dry skim milk extenders. When you're buying Franks, check the package. If it doesn't say "All Meat" or "All Beef," chances are they contain extenders or fillers.

If you're planning a picnic, a cookout or a quick meal... if you don't want to gamble on quality, think of Super-Right All Meat or All Beef Frankfurters. Frankly speaking, they're your best value.

While you're at it, think about these natural go-togethers: Jane Parker Sliced Frankfurter Rolls, Ann Page Beans and Ann Page Mustard. Frankly speaking, they're your best values, too!

Birthday Of A Confederate Ship Captain

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Department of Archives and History

Written for Associated Press
RALEIGH (AP) — Captain of the only Confederate ship to sail around the world—July 13 will mark his birthday. His name was James Iredell Waddell and he was born, in 1824 in Pittsboro.

Long after Lee had surrendered at Appomattox, Waddell and his Confederate cruiser Shenandoah were still sailing the high seas capturing U.S. vessels. Only on Nov. 6, 1865, nearly seven months after the surrender, did Waddell give up. The son of Francis Nash and Elizabeth Davis Waddell and the great-grandson of colonial leader Hugh Waddell, he was reared by his paternal grandparents. He became a midshipman in the U.S. Navy in 1841.

Soon afterward he fought a duel with a fellow midshipman and as a result carried a limp the rest of his life. Until the Civil War he performed a series of more or less routine duties, including teaching navigation at the Naval Academy. One of his students described him as a handsome man, over six feet tall and weighing some 200 pounds, a "splendid specimen of manhood," of "noble bearing. . . gracious . . . courtly. . . radiant with kindness."

With the coming of war he joined the Southern Confederacy in 1864, near Madeira, he took charge of the new fast Indian, Sea King, and transformed her into the Confederate Shenandoah. Immediately he set sail to prey on New England fishing fleets in the Pacific.

He sailed into Melbourne in January and remained there for repairs until the following month. When he sailed away he needed men, and no less than 42 "stowaways" appeared on deck. Interestingly enough, he was able to procure American recruits from nearly all the prizes he was to capture.

Now Waddell really went after the whalers. He captured four at Ascension Island April 1; one in the Sea of Okhotsk in May; and 24 or 25 in Bering Sea the week of June 21-28. He continued his search.

On August 2 he fell in with a British ship which reported the collapse of the Confederacy. Waddell then set course for England, and in November reached Liverpool. There he lowered the last Confederate flag to fly officially.

Later Waddell returned to the U.S. and became a captain for the Pacific Mail Co. He died in Annapolis in 1886, leaving a widow but no children.

Number 13 Was Lucky For Them

LUCKY FOR THEM
PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Pieter Goosen say it is nonsense to regard the number 13 as unlucky. The bride was one of 13 children whose father celebrated his birthday on December 13. She was born on October 13. The couple met on January 13 three years ago and were married January 13.

Tydings To Take Fight To Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said that if the Senate Judiciary Committee fails to act today on firearms registration and licensing legislation he will carry the fight directly to the Senate.

Talking to newsmen in advance of a closed committee session, he anticipated that opponents would attempt to block a vote by filibustering.

Tydings said that if the committee defers action any longer, the only chance of passing a bill at this session would be to offer it as a rider to other legislation already on the Senate calendar.

"I'm going to insist on a vote on registration and licensing," he said. "I'm entitled to it and the American people are entitled to it."

He noted that his bill to require the registration of all firearms and the licensing of the owners has the support of party leaders in the Senate, Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill.

Tydings, at the last meeting of the Judiciary Committee, two weeks ago, offered his bill as an amendment to an administration bill to ban interstate mail order sales of rifles and shotguns and their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of the state.

THE COMPLEAT LAUNCHING

SAULT SAINTE MARIE, Mich. (AP)—Jack O'Connor, while launching his boat along the St. Mary's River, forgot to set the handbrake on his car. He launched his boat, his trailer and his car.

Bomb-Carriers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A Secret Service man fired one warning shot at two Negro youths he caught approaching Gov. Ronald Reagan's home with two firebombs Tuesday night. The bombs did not ignite.

Police said the incident apparently was related to disturbances which started earlier Tuesday about two miles southwest.

N.C. Markets

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady. Tops of 21.25-21.75 at Rocky Mount; 21.00-21.50 at Bethel; 20.75-21.50 at Wilson; 21.25 at Selma; 21.00 at Greensboro and Salisbury; 20.75 at Siler City and Denton.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger Tuesday. Supplies adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 42½ to 43½; medium, whites: 38 to 39½; small, whites: 29 to 30.

Honor Organist At Testimonial

Johnny A. Wooten, organist for the Wells Chapel Celestial and Radio Choir was honored with a testimonial ceremony Saturday in the Fellowship hall of the church.

Mrs. Mary Brewington, choir president, presided over the service which was an appreciation of Wooten's nine years as organist.

He received a money tree from the congregation dedicated to him for "devoted service."

Thieu Looks For Last Big Effort

ABOARD USS CONSTELLATION, off North Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today that he thinks American troops can begin leaving South Vietnam in 1969. He said the next Viet Cong offensive—expected late this month—"may be the last all-out effort from the Communists."

Thieu was reminded at a news conference aboard the aircraft carrier Constellation that he had said in April that American forces could be reduced by the end of 1968. He was asked how he felt about this now.

"I think we have moved very fast on our plan to develop our armed forces according to our 1968 and 1969 plans," he replied. "The end of 1968 is too soon, but I think from 1969 we could have a timetable for phasing out the major American units."

"But I repeat, I never hope that all American forces have to withdraw altogether at one time. There should be a progressive phasing out because we know well that Vietnamese armed forces need time to grow, to train, to be equipped and to take over more and more responsibility from the American forces."

Planning Board Is Established At Grifton Meet

GRIFTON—The Grifton Town Board Tuesday night passed an ordinance for the establishment of a planning board for Grifton. Board members also heard the police report and the library report for the month of June.

The Grifton Police Department reported 31 arrests for the month, with 23 persons found guilty, one found not guilty and seven cases are pending. The library reported 843 books were issued during the month of June.

The two new commissioners, Eugene Clayborne of Clayborne Insurance Agency, and Edward Bright, head of Adult Education at Pitt Technical Institute, were sworn in.

OBITUARY

Tyndall

Mr. Linwood N. Tyndall, 45, died Monday in County Hospital in San Mateo, California, as a result of injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile on July 4th. Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending the arrival of the body.

Mr. Tyndall was a native of Pitt County and served in World War II. He graduated from East Carolina University in 1954 and was a bank examiner for the Federal Reserve Bank for twelve years. He presently was an auditor for the Civil Aeronautics Board in California. He was a member of the Chicod Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Newton T. Tyndall of Cox's Mill Community; and two brothers: Norman E. Tyndall of Greenville and P. Ray Tyndall of near the home.

CANINE SURFER SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Summer has brought out surfers by the thousands, including Ollie. The five-pound dog is an accomplished surfer after riding the waves the past two weeks with Tim Ebner, 14, his master.

The ears of a cricket are found on its front legs.

Thuy Denies Progress In Paris Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador Xuan Thuy, pressing for a quick end to all U.S. attacks on North Vietnam, accused American authorities today of having "spread rumors" of progress in the Paris peace talks to serve their own political purposes.

Thuy, denying progress, told U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that the search going on here for a way toward peace in Vietnam would fail unless the United States halts all attacks on the North at once. In case of such a failure, he argued, the United States would "bear the full and entire responsibility."

Thuy made his latest attack on the U.S. position in the 12th session of the talks which began May 13. The meeting lasted about three hours.

Harriman contradicted Thuy. He told newsmen: "I still maintain there are straws in the wind despite what he said." The coffee break today lasted only about half an hour as compared with 45 to 50 minutes last Wednesday and about 40 minutes in two meetings before that.

There have been conflicting assessments of the deadlocked discussions for several weeks, but this was the first time the differences had come up so openly in a formal meeting.

When he left the conference hall Thuy told newsmen: "There was no advance in today's session because the United States spoke of the future of the Southeast Asian region to avoid talking about the unconditional cessation of bombardments."

Harriman, back at the U.S. Embassy, said he could not claim any "immediate results" in the talks, but he stuck to his line of "straws in the wind."

In his statement to Thuy, Harriman renewed promises of U.S. support for a postwar Asian development program in which North Vietnam would participate. He appealed for an end to the war.

The American envoy recalled that President Johnson had pledged U.S. financing for a development program in a speech at Johns Hopkins University in April 1965.

Chancel Drama Troupe To Play At 2 More Churches

The East Carolina Chancel Drama Troupe is in the midst of a four-day engagement in Greenville churches. The acting company, composed of E.C.U. students under the direction of Albert Perton and sponsored by the E.C.U. United Campus Ministry, appeared earlier this week at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church and Sycamore Hill Baptist Church. Tonight, the troupe will perform at Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church followed by a Thursday evening appearance at St. James United Methodist Church. The St. James engagement is being jointly sponsored by Holy Trinity United Methodist, Hooker Memorial Christian, Oakmont Baptist, Our Redeemer Lutheran, and the host church.

Both remaining performances will begin at 6 p.m. with a children's drama based on adaptation of A. A. Milne's "Winnie the Pooh." Covered-dish suppers follow at 6:45 and the evenings conclude with an adult drama based on humorist Mark Twain's "The Diary of Adam and Eve." An added attraction is an art show beginning at 5:30 p.m. featuring paintings and etchings by E.C.U. students.

This unique festival of religion and the arts has been well received in several eastern North Carolina communities throughout the first weeks of this its second season. The public is invited to attend either of the remaining local performances. No admission will be charged although an offering will be received to help defray expenses and each family is asked to bring food sufficient for its members.

Rezoning Okayed By Ayden Board

AYDEN—The Ayden Board of Commissioners Monday night approved the rezoning of the west end of Third Street, running from Verna Avenue to the town limits.

The section will be rezoned from residential to B2—limited business, town officials said.

Board members passed a resolution thanking Congressman Walter Jones for his assistance in obtaining federal funds for the town of Ayden for the damages caused during the ice storm in January.

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N. C. (AP)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture plans to get tough on tobacco growers who trade marketing cards in order to circumvent federal quota restrictions.

John I. Morton, a spokesman for the department, announced the crackdown Tuesday and said warehousemen's price support contracts will be terminated if they knowingly permit illegal use of the cards.

Morton made the announcement at the annual meeting of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association in Wrightsville Beach.

Marketing cards listing poundage quotas on flue-cured tobacco are distributed to each grower, and he must present his card when he markets his tobacco.

If a grower sells tobacco with a card assigned to another man's farm, the law says poundage quotas at both farms will be reduced the following year.

Morton said, "Some investigations are going on now, and some examples will be made to show people this is a serious violation."

Another speaker at the meeting, State Farm Bureau President B. C. Mangum, told association members it is "getting tougher every year" to defeat legislation aimed at levying a tax on cigarettes in North Carolina.

"But we can continue to win the fight," he said, "if we go at it in a united, aggressive way."

Frank B. Snodgrass, vice president and managing director of the Burley and Dark Leaf Tobacco Export Association, told the group he does not expect Congress to pass restrictive tobacco legislation this year, but considerable activity can be expected during the next session.

Fifteen bills, some with more than 40 sponsors, have been introduced this year, Snodgrass said, including a measure which would require a skull and crossbones to be depicted on every pack of cigarettes.

THE PENNEY STORY

Why make such a big deal out of quality?

By ROBERTA NASH

I asked a Penney store manager the question once and when he finally decided I was serious, he said, "If I could use only one word to describe the phenomenon of Penney's, I'd pick the word, quality."

"Mr. Penney has always been a fanatic on the subject," he continued. "They say the only thing that still makes Mr. Penney angry is when someone suggests we compromise Penney quality to make a lower price."

*Should you throw away your iron or keep it

By ROBERTA NASH

Perhaps your iron isn't obsolete just yet. But with Penn-Prest, most women never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the ironing.

(Of course, if you haven't a tumble dryer, you may have to touch up in some cases. But just a touch up.)

Please don't confuse Penn-Prest with some other 'permanent press' process that may have disappointed you. This one is different.
