A record goal of $130,000 has been set for the 1968 United Fund Drive in Pitt County, reports David O. Speir, President of the Board of Directors.

This goal was approved Tuesday night at the Pitt County Board of Directors' meeting.

Twelve agencies have been earmarked to receive funds collected from the United Fund Drive. The Salvation Army has been allocated the largest single amount.

The participating member agencies and the amounts they are scheduled to receive are:

— Salvation Army	$24,659.88
— Boy Scouts of Eastern Carolina Council	$21,222.60
— The American Red Cross	$17,962.02
— Pitt County United Fund Office	$15,000.00
— Local Community Services	$10,000.00
— Girl Scouts of Pitt County	$9,858.00
— Pitt County Mental Health Association	$9,005.53

— Carolinas United	$8,316.79
— Association for the Blind	$2,906.25
— Pitt County Retarded Children	$1,511.25
— Bonner's Lane Day Center	$1,116.00
— 4-H Clubs	$930.00
— Contingency for unpaid pledges	$7,511.68
— For a total of	$130,000.00

Bonner's Lane Day Center is a new agency which has been accepted into the United Fund of Pitt County as a participating member.

Speir, in expressing his appreciation for the volunteer persons who gave so much free time in developing the United Fund budget, said, "Thirty men met on three different occasions to study the budgets of the member agencies of the fund and make their recommendations to the Board of Directors."

He said he feels confident that every concerned citizen of Pitt County will make this a successful drive and will give their fair share when called on this fall to contribute.

Predicts Support For Tobacco Tax

CHARLOTTE (AP) — State Sen. Herman Moore, D-Mecklenburg, predicts that sentiment for a tobacco tax will be "a lot more widespread" in the 1969 North Carolina General Assembly and "won't be just a Piedmont vote."

Moore, who will be president pro-tem of the State Senate, told a newsman Wednesday that the state's budget for the next biennium may well be $3.5 billion and require new sources of revenue, such as a tobacco tax.

Bills introduced by Buncombe and Mecklenburg delegations to institute a tobacco tax died in committees during the 1967 legislative session.

State Sen. Ed Kemp of Guilford shares Moore's optimism for a tobacco tax bill in the next session.

"The legislature is going to have to face this," he said. "We don't want to make tobacco a whipping post, but we don't want to make it a sacred cow, either."

Kemp said support for a tobacco tax may even come from legislators in eastern counties "because they've got some revenue problems in the eastern counties too."

Still opposed to a tax on cigarettes and other tobacco products is State Rep. Claude Hamrick of Forsyth County. His county—although in the Piedmont—is home to the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

Hamrick says needed revenue could be raised by tax reforms rather than new taxes. He suggested ending certain exemptions from property and income taxes.

Anticipated efforts to institute a tobacco tax in the next legislature were discussed this week at Wrightsville Beach during the meeting of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association.

William H. W. Anderson of Raleigh, secretary-treasurer of the Tobacco Growers' Information Center, told the association meeting to expect "trouble" in the way of tobacco tax bills from the Mecklenburg and Guilford delegations.

Anderson said the North Carolina tobacco industry already is heavily taxed, paying income and sales taxes and an inventory tax "on every hoghead of tobacco."

Smaller Leaf Crop For '68 Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — An over-all tobacco crop of 1,828,000,000 pounds has been forecast for this year by the Agriculture Department.

Last year's crop totaled 1,972,000,000 pounds and the 1962-66 average was 2,126,000,000.

The season's initial forecast, released Wednesday, indicates an acreage for harvest of 899,300, six per cent below last year and the smallest in 78 years.

Indicated average yield for the current crop is 2,033 pounds an acre, 19 pounds under last year. The five-year average is 1,957 pounds.

Outlook as the month began ranged from generally favorable for cigar types to very promising for most other kinds.

Flue-cured tobacco production was forecast at 1,086,000,000 pounds, a 14 per cent drop from both last year and the five-year average. An average yield of 1,973 pounds is indicated for types 11-14, compared with last year's 2,070.

Burley tobacco production is estimated at 572 million pounds, 31 million over last year. The five-year average is 645 million. A yield of 2,405 pounds an acre is expected, 131 over last season and only 32 pounds under the record for burley set in 1966.

Here is the breakdown by states for tobacco, showing estimated production for this year, with last year's production shown in parentheses:

Burley
Tennessee 101,050,000 (90,945,000); North Carolina, 17,940,000 (15,678,000).

Flue-cured
Type 11, Virginia 97,200,000 (103,572,000) and North Carolina 267,900,000 (294,000,000). Type 12, Eastern North Carolina Belt, 362,850,000 (409,920,000). Type 14, Georgia 111,150,000 (148,452,000); Florida 22,800,000 (25,408,000).

Flue-cured
Type 21, Virginia Belt 6,890,000 (6,966,000).

Cites History

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark challenged today the contention of some senators that there is no vacancy on the Supreme Court, and therefore no need to examine the qualifications of President Johnson's nominee for chief justice, Abe Fortas.

The point of a vacancy was raised after Johnson accepted Chief Justice Earl Warren's retirement effective with approval of a "qualified successor."

"From the earliest years of the Union," Clark said, "presidents have nominated and the Senate has confirmed persons to high office where no vacancy existed at the time."

His statements were in testimony prepared for the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Named Job Placement Director

Carl B. Toot of Richmond, Va., has been named to succeed Bill Farrior as director of job placement for the Pitt County Schools. Farrior has entered private business in Farmville.

As director of job placement, Toot will be responsible for the development of pupil attitudes toward jobs and will assist in developing job opportunities and placing students in the jobs.

Toot comes from Tuckahoe Junior High School in Henrico County, Va., where he spent five years. He has also worked in Sandy Valley High School in Sandy Valley, Ohio.

Toot received his B.S. from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, in 1955. He will receive his master's from the University of Virginia in August. He is married and has two children.

Proved A Point About Speeders

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — The Idaho Department of Law Enforcement says it has proved what it always preached—the speeding driver doesn't get there much faster than the one who takes it easy.

The agency said that in a 1,000-mile test, a driver who tried to beat the traffic arrived at the finish line just 31 minutes ahead of the second driver who stayed in his own lane.

The driver who took the chances, the department added, made four panic stops and applied his brakes 1,335 times. The other driver used his brakes 642 times and made no panic stops.

Spock To Press His Opposition

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock says he will continue his active opposition to the Vietnam war despite a two-year prison sentence and a $5,000 fine for antidraft activities.

"I'm still not convinced I broke any law," Spock said Wednesday after he and three other men were sentenced in U.S. District Court. "There's not a shred of legality in the Vietnam war."

Congress Seeing Its Adjournment Hopes Dwindle

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders have all but given up hope for their planned Aug. 3 adjournment of this session of Congress and President Johnson has implied he may call on Congress to "reconvene after the political convention."

In a White House message Wednesday, Johnson reminded Congress of the "vitality needed" legislation still pending.

This, he said, includes bills on higher education, antipoverty, gun controls, conservation, health and consumer protection. "Even though the session may have to be resumed after interruptions for political conventions, it is critical that this legislation be enacted and the Congress return to complete the unfinished agenda for all the people before this session is ended," he said.

Congressional leaders won't admit their pessimism over meeting the Aug. 3 quitting date but there is increasing talk of a post-convention session starting after Labor Day and continuing until early October.

The original plan, or hope, was to adjourn for keeps by August 3, two days before the Republican convention starts in Miami Beach. The Democratic convention begins in Chicago Aug. 26.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., still says publicly he is hopeful the original target date can be met, but privately he is pessimistic.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who only a few weeks ago was optimistic about closing shop by August 3, now says he is less hopeful.

The cold fact is that the legislative wheels aren't moving as swiftly as the calendar.

Two big bills pregnant with controversy—and originally scheduled for House consideration by Friday have been rescheduled for next week. They provide authorization for the foreign-aid program and stiffer restrictions on the sale of rifles and shotguns.

Both must be considered by the Senate after the House acts. Then they likely will go to a conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Four of the annual appropriation bills have not even emerged from the originating House Appropriations Committee. Six other money measures have passed the House but have not been considered by the Senate.

Meanwhile, many federal agencies are operating on emergency month-by-month financing.

Two big education bills high on the must program still await House action.

Many Expect A Future Role For Pompidou

PARIS (AP) — French political writers and foreign commentators cannot agree whether President Charles de Gaulle kicked Georges Pompidou upstairs or down when he ousted him Wednesday.

What has them guessing is De Gaulle's parting instruction to his premier for the past six years: "I wish... that you hold yourself in readiness to accomplish any mission and take on any mandate which could be given you one day by the nation."

Columnist Marcel Gabyly of the independent Figaro considered this an "official" proclamation that "Pompidou is the man De Gaulle hopes to have succeed him."

Paris Jour's Bernard Lefort similarly asked: "Doesn't the general's letter clearly mean that he considers Pompidou as the most apt to assume his succession?"

Le Parisien's Gerard Badel agreed that "Pompidou is being temporarily set aside to prepare for the day when he will be the successor of Gen. De Gaulle."

The conservative Aurore and the Communist party organ Humanite did not see a straight track into De Gaulle's office for Pompidou.

British commentators, who tend to take a dim view of De Gaulle because of his opposition to Britain, saw Pompidou's forced resignation as another example of De Gaulle's "high handed rule."

The drama of Pompidou's dismissal tended to obscure the appointment Wednesday of his successor, Maurice Couve de Murville, De Gaulle's foreign minister for 10 years and since May 31 his finance minister. He was expected to present his Cabinet list before the weekend.

In his last act as finance minister, Couve imposed $500 million in new taxes on high-income groups, stock companies, automobile owners, passports, and alcohol permits to reduce the budget deficit aggravated by the student-labor crisis of May and June.

British government circles felt the appointment of Couve de Murville assured a continued freeze in British-French relations.

Greenville And Raleigh Lead East's Building

Greenville and Raleigh led all other cities in Eastern North Carolina in construction activity for the calendar year, but Tarboro led the cities in percentage increase, following release of the May construction statistics by the North Carolina Department of Labor.

Raleigh moved above the $15 million mark at the end of May and Greenville has topped the $10 million mark for the first five months of

Greenville's construction was light in May with only $465,600 in building permits issued, but the total for January through May is $10,699,381, and only Raleigh, the largest city in the East, can top that total.

Although total construction in Greenville was topped only by Raleigh in the five-month period ending in May, the town fell behind three other area cities during the month of May. Greenville was topped by Goldsboro with $592,955, Tarboro with $1,019,973, and by Wilson with $932,745. Raleigh reported permits issued for construction for May totaling $4,014,372.

Behind Raleigh and Greenville for the five-month period were Rocky Mount and Kinston. Total construction in Kinston was recorded at $2,844,631, while activity in Rocky Mount totaled $3,003,788.

Wilson's construction for the five-month term totaled $2,722,880, while Tarboro's total was $2,312,403. Construction for Washington was recorded at $926,295, while total activity for New Bern amounted to $882,350.

Although Raleigh led in total construction or permits issued during the five-month period, they fell behind in the percentage column as far as improvement over the same period in 1967 is concerned.

Tarboro led the local cities with 429.1 per cent increase in the amount of permits issued during the five-month term. Goldsboro showed a 264.9 per cent increase, while Greenville recorded an increase of 94.6 per cent. Rocky Mount's increase was 30.7 per cent, while New Bern recorded an increase of 58.6 per cent.

Raleigh fell below most eastern cities showing a 19.9 per cent decrease. Other cities showing a decrease included Washington, 61.9 per cent, and Wilson, with a 12.3 per cent

Advice Always Easier To Give

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a physician who has just passed his 50th birthday.

He tells all his male patients who reach 50 to "slow down." If they smoke, he orders them to quit or cut down, but HE'S a two-pack-a-day man.

He puts all his overweight patients on diets, but HE is considerably overweight himself, and can't stay on a diet for two days. He insists that daily exercise is a MUST, but HE doesn't exercise at all.

He says that an annual vacation away from one's daily work is essential to good health, but HE hasn't had a vacation in six years. And this will floor you. He wants all his patients to have a thoro check-up every year, but HE hasn't had one since he was in the service in World War II. What's wrong with him and how can I get thru to him?

DEAR WIFE: He's human. He wants all his patients to have give than to take. You can get thru to him (maybe) by insisting that HE consult a colleague for a check-up. And if he refuses ask him to keep paying those life insurance premiums, so you and your next husband can retire in luxury.

DEAR ABBY: My husband grew up in Kansas City, Missouri, which is where we spent the first 12 years of our married life. Then he got transferred to St. Louis. We still have lots of friends back in Kansas City, so we go there for week-ends and vacations quite often.

My question: Should we call up our friends when we get to Kansas City or should they call us? Everyone knows in advance when we are coming and how long we're staying, because my husband's mother lives in Kansas City and she has a big mouth.

Since our friends know we're in town and where we're staying, shouldn't they call us? Or should we call them?

BETWIXT DEAR BETWIXT: Call those you want to see. A big mouth cannot always be relied upon to get the word to the right people.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, age 22, is being married to a 30-year-old man who was married before. His marriage lasted less than two years, no children, and this is our daughter's first marriage. I should add, he is a well-to-do man from a socially prominent family.

The problem: We want to give our daughter a lovely big church wedding. Her fiance's parents say that they will attend, but they will not send any of their friends or relatives invitations to this wedding—or even announcements afterwards. Their reason: "All of our friends and relatives have given wedding presents on the occasion of our son's first wedding, and once is enough."

Abby, do you think this is right? What has our daughter to do with the wedding gifts his first bride received? Do you think they have the right to cut down on the number of lovely gifts she shall receive just because her fiance was married before?

THE GIRL'S MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: An invitation (or announcement) is not always a bid for a gift, although most people think it is. But if the parents of the groom don't wish to send invitations or announcements for this—or any other reason, it is up to them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO R.W.L. Before you turn out your light tonight ask yourself, "Did what I do today, make a difference in the life of one person?" If the answer is no, then you might as well be dead.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700.

Gambler Hooked On Egg Machine

LONDON (WNS) — Mrs. Kenneth Dawes sent her husband to the supermarket to get the breakfast eggs. He put two shillings into the slot machine for six eggs, and out poured 114 eggs. Dawes, 55, kept playing the machine until he had 26 half-dozen packages of eggs. Then the store manager caught him, called the police, and the Englishman was fined $24 in court. "My husband is a gambler who doesn't know when to stop," Mrs. Dawes told the judge. "I don't know what we would have done with all those eggs if he had brought them home."

Shower Honors Miss Forrest

GRIFTON — Miss Gloria Ann Forrest, bride-elect of July 28, was honored recently at a floating shower in the Edwards Chapel Church social hall.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Sutton, Mrs. Fred Stokes, Mrs. Jesse Moore, Mrs. Dalton Williams and Mrs. Harry Mahlone.

The honoree was remembered with a green mum corsage by the hostesses. Mrs. Grace Forrest, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. John Oglesby, mother of the bridegroom-elect, were presented white mum corsages.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow taffeta cloth overlaid with yellow tulle. An arrangement of yellow and white gladioli, fever few and fern centered the table.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Louis Smith and Mrs. J. D. Lee. Miss Nancy Oglesby presided at the guest register.

Wife Punches Mate For Picasso Insult

ZURICH, Switzerland (WNS) — Helga Meyer, 37, knocked her husband down with a single punch in a modern art gallery here and said that she would sue him for divorce. "He always told me that I was as pretty as a Picasso painting, and I had never seen Picasso's work before," she explained. Ludwig Meyer said that he meant a painting from Picasso's blue period and sent his wife several prints to show what he meant. Mrs. Meyer has agreed to reconciliation "for the sake of the children."

Equal Justice Is Law Of The Land

District Judge Francis Ford put it concisely when sentencing Benjamin Spock and others to active prison terms for their conspiracy to aid, abet and counsel young men to avoid the draft.

"Almost every week in this court," Judge Ford observed, "young men are sentenced to three years in prison for evading the draft. It is reasonable to conclude that the defendants were instrumental in inciting some of these men to flout the law."

The law concerning conspiracy to encourage people to violate the draft law is just as clear as that concerning draft evasion. The fact that Dr. Spock and his associates in this matter are well known personalities should not and has not made them immune from the law. More important, it should not make them immune from the punishment prescribed by the law.

Slow Start For Airport Grants

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — More on the state's fledgling airport aid program. State aid grants totaling $60,000 have been approved and checks will be mailed shortly for new airport construction at Monroe and Oxford-Henderson.

This brings to $124,000 the amount of state money allocated for eight local airport projects under a pioneering $250,000 of the initial appropriation remains and there are requests before the governor's aviation committee and the state board of Conservation and Development (C&D) for aid totaling approximately $180,000. Obviously what is left must be parcelled out.

"Off The Ground"
"It isn't what we asked nor what we needed," says State Rep. Robert H. Jernigan Jr. of Ahoskie, principal sponsor of the airports aid bill in the last legislature.

Jernigan feels, however, that the $250,000 appropriated for 1967-68 got the program "off the ground" and has been enough to fund at least $1 million in airport construction and improvement projects. Actually, during the past fiscal year, federal airport aid for North Carolina projects amounted to $2.5 million. This, Jernigan feels, is a good start.

Projects Listed
At least two sizable projects were listed in the approved funding column. The largest was $472,219 to begin construction of a new airport at Jacksonville, and the Rocky Mount-Wilson airport project received $440,052 in federal funds.

All told, federal funding was approved for 19 airport improvement projects across the state. In the previous fiscal year, $1,771,792 was made available for 11 projects. The projects for which a

In imposing the sentences, Judge Ford has carried out this latter point.

In sentencing these men for their conspiracy, Judge Ford has made it clear that the law applies to the well-known and the well-to-do as well as to the unknown individual whose case in court does not attract reporters, tv cameramen, does not become the subject of demonstrations or catch the attention of the nation as a whole.

The fact that an individual does not agree with the nation's foreign policy does not give him the right to evade the draft. Certainly a person's disagreement with domestic policies does not give him the right to refuse to pay taxes through which those policies are carried out.

The right of free speech and the right of protest are recognized by the public as well as by the courts. But these rights must be exercised within the law if the rights of others are not to be trampled under foot in the process.

National figures such as Dr. Spock should be required to pay for their violation of the law of the land just as every-day citizens are required to submit the punishment prescribed for the laws they violate.

The 'Mojo' Failed To Affect Federal Agents

Moonshiners should take the lesson to heart. A "mojo" did not keep Federal agents from making their second-biggest bootleg whiskey haul in North Carolina's history last Monday night.

A mojo? Well in this case it was turtle musk or parts of a dead turtle, hanging in a government whisky bottle, and superstitious folk believe will keep away evil spirits and lawmen.

It didn't keep away the lawmen; and there were probably more "evil spirits" in the 2,622 gallons of white liquor lawmen seized than any mojo could deal with.

Voodoo just doesn't work like it used to; but the bootleg-makers must have been hard-working people.

The Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit officers figured the liquor they poured out was worth $40,000 if sold by the drink.

That's big business; and lends credence to suspicions that bootlegging is still a large-scale industry in North Carolina.

And that brings up another point:

With all the state, county and local law enforcers North Carolina has on its payrolls, how come it took federal revenueurs to make the pinch?

Are federal agents the only ones immune to a mojo?

Strength For Today

GENIUS

The word "genius" is derived from a Latin word which means "to beget." Geniuses are not just certain bright people who have astounded their generation by their brilliance. They are persons whose minds begot something new. They gathered an idea which was later to have significance. Some of them wrote poetry or music. Others painted pictures. Albert Einstein was a genius who turned the world upside down when he arrived at a formula which proved that energy equals mass times the square of the speed of light. We believe that even greater discoveries will be made in the future than have been made in the past. Yet all this may not be beneficial after all for we may get to the place where a malicious or idiotic person blow us off the planet.

But let us ponder the significance of genius and thank God that into the multitude of the common folks of which we are part God has here and there caused a genius to spring up. If you have a child who appears to be somewhat queer and does not always keep his mind on what he is doing, watch out for him. He may be another Thomas Edison or Albert Einstein. The people of Princeton, New Jersey, used to smile at the queer old man who was often seen on Nassau Street munching an ice cream cone. But this was Einstein, and Einstein ushered in a new era. Genius is real, rare, and immensely transforming and important. Don't dismiss it with an epithet, raised eyebrows or a grin.

They'll MAKE Us Happy

The five-member Federal Trade Commission, splitting 3-2, called on Congress a few days ago to pass a law that would put an absolute ban on cigarette advertising by radio and television. As it happens, the Congress has other things on its mind just now, and is not likely to pass such a law any time soon.

Even so, the FTC's report and recommendation ought not to be passed by. It is one more manifestation of that maddening paternalism which increasingly characterizes our super-state. The assumption is that government agencies know what is good for us, and should use their powers to make us be frugal, healthy, and long-lived.

The operative words here are "know" and "make." Men and governments ought to creep humbly upon these terms. There was a time when the very best bureaucrats knew that the earth was flat. The very best physicians once knew that the finest treatment for a fever was to bleed the patient. Whole libraries are filled with the assertions of good men who knew that certain things were so.

These monumental collections of error, in one sense, are no more than the rocks and potholes that obstruct man's long road from the primeval swamp. They are a measure of how far we have come. It is when the state combines (a) the assumption that it knows with (b) its power to coerce, that we get into trouble. In a free society, the combination ought to be applied sparingly, judiciously, and with a reverent sense of our own shortcomings.

Unhappily, little of this restraint is evident in the current crusade against the cigarette. The FTC's report is not couched in the objective and dispassionate language of men who hold their own powers in awe. The report is full, supercilious, pejorative, and marvelously self-assured. The cigarette manufacturers are treated as rogues, villains, seducers of the young. Those who dare to doubt the conclusions of the Surgeon-General are disdained as a contemptible minority. The report is full of action verbs: A cigarette "spews" tar. The concurring statement of Commissioner Elman rings with the stridency of a hot-eyed reformer baying on the trail.

Patience, one would like to say to the FTC gentlemen, have patience. The evils of tobacco have been with us for generations; every man who lights a cigarette knows in his heart that the damned thing is bad for his lungs and bronchi. But he also knows, because the evidence of his own eyes will tell him so, that many heavy smokers live to an advanced age; cigarettes are not like cyanide; true, they may shorten his life, but so may the hurtling taxicab. Meanwhile, they give him pleasure.

You would never dream it to read the FTC report, but the makers of cigarettes are not fiends in human form. Cigarettes are as lawful as potatoes. Indeed, while one arm of the government is slashing at (Continued On Page 5)

Other Editors Say Prodding Is Needed

(Raleigh Times)

One of the principal changes proposed in an interview by Dr. Gordon McAndrew was decentralization of school control and returning decision making from Raleigh to local officials.

Dr. McAndrew, executive director of the Learning Institute of North Carolina, was interviewed by three newsmen on University of North Carolina educational television. He's leaving the State July 15 to become superintendent of Gary, Ind. schools.

During the interview he perhaps felt he could at last voice his true feelings without further fear of political reprisals from those whose feathers might be ruffled. At any rate, he said the Department of Public Instruction is too bureaucratic and too centralized. He said local school boards could make better decisions because they would be more acquainted with local conditions.

That would be an ideal situation, but experience has shown it isn't a practical one. Many rural counties of this State have never gone overboard in providing for education and what they have done was directed largely at the white middle and upper class students. The urban centers have been better, but some of them haven't lavished educational opportunity upon their youngsters in generous doses. It is sad but true that county and city school boards still need to be prodded by someone before they will do as much as they should and could do.

Left to their own devices, many counties would slide back instead of forge ahead. Bureaucracy is bad but, in this case, the alternative is worse. North Carolina's low ranking in public education is due also to a lack of suitable prodding by the Department of Public Instruction. The superintendent of public instruction is an elected official and he must not ruffle too many feathers either. Some local boards, therefore, haven't had the forceful urging they need.

All our children could profit from a changed attitude among all our public officials.

James P. Bass, the politically potent American Airlines lobbyist, urged Republican opponents to ease off. High officials of other powerful companies, including former vice president John Bugas of Ford, made similar efforts on behalf of the Administration. The White House has other resources. The possibility of rejiggering appropriation bills around to the disadvantage of anti-Fortas Senators was seriously discussed. Even without this campaign, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of the original 19, has defeated. He now intends to support the nominees and to oppose any effort to filibuster the nominations to death before adjournment. Several others among the 19 have no intention of engaging in a filibuster. Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado and Sen. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming will do nothing to prevent a vote in the Senate (although both are committed to "vote no"). In fact, the very thought of a filibuster by Senate Republicans now seems implausible.

Businessmen Fighting Outlawry

By ELMER ROESSNER
Somebody ought to tell Leonid Brezhnev that outlawry is so prevalent in the United States that all over the country groups of small businessmen are linking their stores with push-button electric alarm systems.

With these systems, if a store is held up, anyone by brushing a button with a finger or toe can set off an alarm light in five, six or more neighboring stores. A light will indicate which store is being held up and people in the other stores are to phone the police. It would be a simple matter to tie in loud speakers that would automatically go on in other stores when an alarm button was touched, or to tie a recording machine into the system. Either would provide convincing evidence if the cops arrive in time to make an arrest.

These signals can also be linked up to the nearest police station, the cops willing.

Government Will Help
Some systems are on the market in package deals, but a competent local electrician could set up a system tailored to local needs.

And somebody ought to tell Leonid that the government will help finance the installation of such an alarm system. If a group of businessmen get together and determine the kind of system they require and get a price, they may apply to the Small Business Administration, Washington, D. C. 20416, for a pool loan.

Many fire and theft insurance companies are refusing to insure property in hazardous areas, or are increasing rates to prohibitive levels. Electronic protection systems may induce them to issue policies or even cut rates.

Meanwhile, small businesses, with or without such neighborhood protection systems, can take other steps to reduce risks. Here are some: What To Do

Cooler Heads Prevail

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The reason the Senate Republican attack on the nomination of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice is crumbling under carefully regimented White House pressure is that from the outset it was almost entirely an instinctive partisan attack against President Johnson.

As such, there was not enough starch in the attack to avoid wilting under the pressure, and the Senate probably will confirm Mr. Johnson's court appointments before it adjourns. Instead of gaining adherents, the original 19 Republicans who agreed to fight the nominations are breaking ranks.

To understand this, it is necessary to go to the source of the Republican opposition. Contrary to the avowed argument that a "lame duck" President should not set the future course of the Court, what really triggered the Republican Senators was their conviction that the switch of Fortas for Earl Warren was a typical example of Presidential cronyism and thereby fair game for an election-year onslaught.

These Republicans felt the decision to promote Fortas, Mr. Johnson's closest personal adviser and old Texas friend Homer Thornberry, a U. S. Circuit Court judge, could be used to dramatize all the President's political liabilities. Moreover, it was the first chance the Republicans have had since March 31, when Mr. Johnson dropped out of the 1968 race, to cash in on these liabilities.

But such political reasoning was not sufficient to withstand the pressure that started the very day that Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan, a shrewd Republican moderate in his freshman term, announced that he and the other 18 Republicans would fight the nominations. Although the President's well-known capabilities for infighting have infuriated the Republicans, they have been effective.

Special target of the White House pressure has been Griffin, who was so aroused he called a press conference last week to protest. Among those who sought to soften Griffin's attitude was Republican industrialist Max Fisher of Detroit, a major backer of Gov. George Romney's aborted Presidential campaign and a national leader in the Jewish community.

James P. Bass, the politically potent American Airlines lobbyist, urged Republican opponents to ease off. High officials of other powerful companies, including former vice president John Bugas of Ford, made similar efforts on behalf of the Administration.

The White House has other resources. The possibility of rejiggering appropriation bills around to the disadvantage of anti-Fortas Senators was seriously discussed.

Even without this campaign, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of the original 19, has defeated. He now intends to support the nominees and to oppose any effort to filibuster the nominations to death before adjournment.

Several others among the 19 have no intention of engaging in a filibuster. Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado and Sen. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming will do nothing to prevent a vote in the Senate (although both are committed to "vote no").

The bidding:
South West North East
1 NT Pass 3 ♥ Pass
2 NT Pass 3 ♠ Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠ North made one attempt to try for a suit contract in today's hand, by bidding three hearts, over South's opening bid of one no trump. The jump response is, of course, forcing to game. When South returned to three no trump, North subsided.

The opening lead was the queen of diamonds and declarer won with the king. He had four top tricks aside from the clubs with the prospect of winning five additional tricks in that suit, provided that the queen fell quickly. He cautiously led to the dummy's ace of clubs but, when the queen did not appear, he paused to reassess the situation.

If both remaining clubs were located in the same hand, then the suit could not be established without letting the opposition in to drive out South's remaining diamond stopper. Furthermore, if declarer could not run all of the clubs, he would have to look elsewhere for a ninth trick, which would involve surrendering the lead once again. By this time the defenders would surely have established enough tricks to defeat the contract.

Declarer observed that he would require an insurance trick in hearts to cover the possibility of an unfavorable club division. Since he could not afford to cash the other top club first without removing North's last entry card, he switched his attack immediately. The South hand was entered with the ace of hearts and a small heart was led toward dummy. West promptly played low—to have gone up with the king would have established enough heart tricks to bring declarer's total to nine; South, however, had already decided to play West for the king and went up with dummy's queen.

With a heart trick in, declarer was in a comfortable position to switch back to the club suit, for he could no longer be defeated. The king of clubs was cashed and, when East showed out, West was given his club trick. Declarer regained the lead with the ace of diamonds and ran for cover with nine tricks.

Observe that, if South cashes the second high club early, he will no longer be in a profitable position to switch his attack to the hearts, for the North hand lacks a quick card of reentry. Even should the declarer succeed in establishing dummy's suit, the defenders will be able to take three diamonds, one heart, and one club before South can regain control.

Series Of 5 Traffic Mishaps Yesterday

Two persons were injured and an estimated $2,675 property damage caused in a series of five traffic collisions investigated in Greenville yesterday.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 9:35 p.m. collision on Memorial Drive, 200 feet north of the Millbrook Street intersection, and involved cars driven by Frank Debease, 47, of St. Rye, N.Y., and Mattie Mozzelle Allen of Robertsonville.

Police, who charged Debease with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, set damage to his car at $600 and estimated damage to the Allen vehicle at $450.

Officers reported Mrs. Allen was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries she received in the collision.

Special guests for the conference will be Congressman Walter Jones and L. H. Fountain of the first and second districts, respectively, and Lt. Gov. Robert Scott. Mel Broughton, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, will be asked to speak at the gathering.

The session will begin at 10:00 a.m. and end with graduation ceremonies after 5:00 p.m.

Attending these top-level conferences will be the county chairmen, vice chairmen, YDC presidents and other key Democratic leaders in the 30 counties within the boundaries of the first and second congressional districts.

All graduates will receive engraved certificates and will be called upon to conduct similar conferences on the precinct level in their own counties within 30 days after the meeting.

Other conferences are scheduled in Fayetteville July 20, Asheville July 27, and Morganton August 3.

Assistants for the Greenville conference will be State Senator J. J. Harrington of Bertie County, Phil Sawyer, County Chairman of Pasquotank County, T. G. Joyner of Northampton and Joe Parker of Hertford.

David E. Reid Jr. of Greenville will be the local coordinator.

Asking $615,000 For Facilities

MORGANTON, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina's Advisory Budget Commission has been asked for $615,000 to build facilities at the Western Carolina Center to treat infants with birth defects.

The item headed a priority list of capital improvements asked Wednesday by officials of the center for emotionally disturbed and retarded children.

The State Department of Mental Health has endorsed plans for the proposed infants' treatment unit, Dr. Iverson Riddle and Thomas Walton, center business manager, told the commission, which is making a swing around the state to learn budget needs.

They asked $1,371,500 for capital improvements at the center during the next two years.

The commission also was asked to approve $1,215,500 for capital improvements of Broughton Hospital.

Ben Hoffmeyer, superintendent of the North Carolina School for the Deaf at Morganton, asked $785,000 for improvements there. He said the 1969 General Assembly will be asked to establish a third state school for the deaf in the central part of North Carolina at an anticipated cost of $4,155,000.

Purse Snatched, Then Ticketed

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Elaine Lawson, 31, told police two boys snatched her purse containing $30 and her drivers license when she stopped to use a public telephone. An hour later she was involved in a minor traffic accident. Police ticketed her for failure to have a drivers license. The officer declined her explanation, saying she would have to tell it to the judge.

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Delhi Municipal Corp. was discussing ways of augmenting its finances.

"Why not," suggested one member, "auction off the post of the mayor? I am told people have already offered rupees 500,000—($67,000)."

"I will pay rupees 600,000 (about $80,000)," a Congress party member shouted.

Mayor Hansraj Gupta commented: "I don't mind at all. You better settle your terms with my party, the Jan Sangh."

Cigarettes produce $3.7 billion annually in tax revenues; tobacco is our fourth most valuable export. From the farm to the drugstore counter, hundreds of thousands of persons depend for their livelihood in part on tobacco products.

These considerations should suggest the greatest caution in imposing Draconian controls.

Rules Changed On Medical Aid

RALEIGH (AP) — A plan approved Wednesday by the North Carolina Board of Public Welfare would permit welfare recipients and the medically indigent to receive free medical and dental care outside a hospital.

Welfare recipients in North Carolina now must go to an approved hospital before they can receive free care.

The board's proposal, which now goes to the Advisory Budget Commission, would permit direct payment for medical services to the person performing the service "on the basis of usual, customary and reasonable charges."

Payments for the medically indigent, those who do not qualify for welfare checks but are unable to pay medical bills, may be dropped from the plan if State Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton decides the clause would "limit the discretion of the General Assembly" which will be asked next year to bring North Carolina under the "Medicaid" section of the Social Security Act.

Harp Must Use Untested Sophomore As Quarterback

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke University's football fortunes this year will ride on the abilities of three untested rising sophomores at quarterback now that senior Al Woodall has been suspended for cheating.

Woodall, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder from Erwin, N.C., was convicted of allowing a coed to write a term paper for him—a charge he denied. He was to captain this year's Blue Devil team.

Duke Coach Tom Harp expressed regret at losing Woodall.

"During spring practice our basic offense was built around his ability to throw the ball," Harp said. "His loss dealt us a very severe blow at the most important position, but we will make the necessary adjustments."

Now, Harp expects to look for a quarterback among three sophomores—Dave Trice, who was held out last year, Leo Hart and Randy Short.

Harp says of the trio, "They are all good, young men. One of them will have to do the job."

Duke had a 4-6 record last year.

Woodall announced his suspension Wednesday. He said he was given a "raw deal" from the faculty-student hearing board that considered his case through two appeals and had decided to play this fall with the semipro Richmond Roadrunners of the Atlantic Coast Football League, a farm of the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

Thirteen Duke students have been suspended and a few others have appealed convictions as a result of the cheating investigation.

The Charlotte Observer said that at least eight Duke football players were among those suspended. It named only Woodall and halfback Pete Schafer, but said four would have been starters in the fall.

A Duke spokesman, stressing that university policy was not to announce names of students involved in such cases, said that all eight had not been suspended, but that disciplinary action was pending against some. Woodall announced his suspension.

The following brief statement was released Wednesday night by Eddie Cameron, Duke athletic director:

"In cases of this kind Duke has a traditional procedure of fair hearings and the right to appeal. I am sure the procedure has been followed carefully and that all students involved have had fair treatment."

Woodall said he will finish work on his degree at a Richmond area school. He is working this summer as a playground instructor in Concord, N.C.

Speaking of his case, Woodall asserted, "I was charged with allowing a coed (tutor) to write a paper in education for me, which I denied. It was the girl's word against mine and they believed her in the hearing."

"I appealed twice and was turned down. The last appeal was turned down last Wednesday. I repeat: I was given a deal."

The investigation at Duke has been in progress for several weeks. The university is releasing little information about the matter, but it reportedly began when one athlete's girl friend reported him for allowing her to write his term paper.

Peter Schafer Sr. of Ramsey, N. J., acknowledged that his son, tailback Pete Schafer, has been suspended until the fall of 1969 as a result of the investigation.

Woodall's importance to the 1968 football team was underscored after spring practice when Harp said his quarterback had "improved his running and ball handling this spring 100 per cent. He's always been a great passer (52.7 per cent completions last year for 1,019 yards) and he's accepted the leadership which goes with a great quarterback."

Further complicating Duke's football future is uncertainty as to the status of Larry Davis, No. 2 quarterback last fall. Davis completed 14 of 32 passes for 185 yards and three touchdowns, one more than Woodall last year.

Davis passed up spring drills to play baseball and may not play football this fall. Harp had counted on Davis to play defensive back when he still had Woodall at quarterback.

Schafer was Duke's No. 3 rusher last year, gaining 265 yards for a 3.63 average. After spring drills, Harp said of him, "Pete is probably our best running back. He doesn't possess burning speed. He has good quickness and runs to daylight well."

Arnie, Jack Want To Win

By TOM REEDY

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the two richest professionals in the golf world, set out today in the second round of the British Open Championship determined to win.

Why? Said Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa.: "The gremlins seem to be against me, but when the day comes that I don't want to win, that's the day I quit."

Said Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, "I am playing from tee to green better than ever in my life. But I cannot seem to get a putt up to the hole. Golf here is different and you have to cope with it."

Palmer, with a 77 and Nicklaus with a 76 in the first round over Carnoustie's 7,252-yard par 72 course, hardly appeared to be immediate major threats for the 1968 title.

Nor did Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina, the defending champion. He, too, had a 77.

The leaders after the first of four 18-hole rounds were British amateur Michael Bonallack and English professional Brian Barnes, each at 70.

At 71 were two more Englishmen, Peter Mills and Maurice Bembridge, and at par 72 were Billy Casper, of San Diego, Calif., along with Tony Jacklin of England, left hander Bob Charles of New Zealand and Paddy Skerritt of Ireland.

Packers May Not Be Ready To Play

By MIKE BRYSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

The possibility that the College All-Star Game in Chicago Aug. 2 may become an early casualty of the hassle between National Football League owners and players was a step nearer reality today.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of Green Bay's champions, followed an order handed down by the owners earlier this week and politely ejected star quarterback Bart Starr and 10 other veterans from the Packers' training camp Wednesday.

Even if a settlement is reached in the dispute that threatens a suspension of NFL activity for the 1968 season—and there were no indications of this—it may not come in time to save the All-Star match.

Lombardi has insisted he won't send the Packers against the collegians in the game just a little more than three weeks away unless he can field a well-conditioned and representative team.

Starr & Co. weren't the only ones with rejection complexes. Quarterback Roman Gabriel and Pat Studstill, former Detroit Lion, were told to leave when they tried to check in with 13 rookies at the Los Angeles Rams' camp at Fullerton, Calif.

And Dallas Cowboy vets reportedly planned to set up their own training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., in an effort to get around the owners' decision that all veterans will be barred from regular training sessions until the controversy is settled.

Dave Manders, player representative of the Cowboys, was quoted as saying the oldtimers had decided to hold their own camp, minus coaches, because "There's too much at stake. We're going for the title."

Meanwhile, things were rosy in the American Football League, where players and owners announced agreement Wednesday on a new two-year contract providing increases in player pensions, insurance and in exhibition game pay.

Jack Kemp, of Buffalo, president of the AFL Players Association, termed the contract historic and a "tremendous step forward."

Under the new pact, a five-year player at age 65 would receive $689 a month instead of $500, a 10-year player would get $1,132 instead of $775 and a 15-year man would receive $1,497 instead of $990.

Exhibition game pay was boosted from $100 per game for each player to $125 for a two-year man, $150 for third and fourth-year players and $250 for a player with five or more years in the league.

Medical coverage for each active player in the league was increased from $15,000 to $50,000.

Reports that the NFL owners were planning further negotiations with the players were quickly dismissed by NFL President Art Modell, also president of the Cleveland Browns.

There also was a report that the players planned another vote on the matter. But Dave Manders, player representative of the Dallas Cowboys, reported Detroit's John Gordy, president of the NFL Players Association, said no further polls would be taken until the owners come up with a better offer.

Rookies Run The Club

Pro Golfers Return To Milwaukee After 7 Years

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Men's professional golf returned to Milwaukee today after a seven-year absence as 143 pros and one amateur were set to tee off in the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

Both par 72, and the course record were shaken during Wednesday's pro-amateur event, and when the play begins in earnest, they are expected to be shattered. Four pros tied the record 69 for the two-year-old North Shore County Club course and 19 more broke par.

Steve Opperman teamed with two Wisconsin amateurs to win the event with a best ball 60.

"The long ball hitters have a definite advantage here," said Tom Weiskopf, second leading money winner on the PGA tour. "And it's important that shots are kept high in the air."

Major Leagues Set Up Division Plans Weaver Named To Be New Bird Manager

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — For the time being, at least, major league baseball has set its house in order. How long the order remains is quite another question. Meetings of the National and American leagues Wednesday led to the adoption of a two-division split of the NL's 12 teams in 1969 and agreement by the AL to increase its schedule from the previously agreed 156 games to 162.

That means both leagues will operate with two six-team divisions with a best-of-5 playoff between division champions determining the World Series opponents.

Originally, the Nationals, who move into Montreal and San Diego next year, had voted to stay with a single 12-team league playing 162 games next year. Meanwhile, the Americans, adding Kansas City and Seattle, agreed to two divisions of six and 156-game schedule.

Commissioner William D. Eckert and baseball's executive council, recognizing the chaos two separate systems could create in the sport, urged the Nationals to reconsider. They agreed to split providing the Americans would revert to the 162-game schedule.

The AL went along and the Nationals announced the following divisions for 1969:

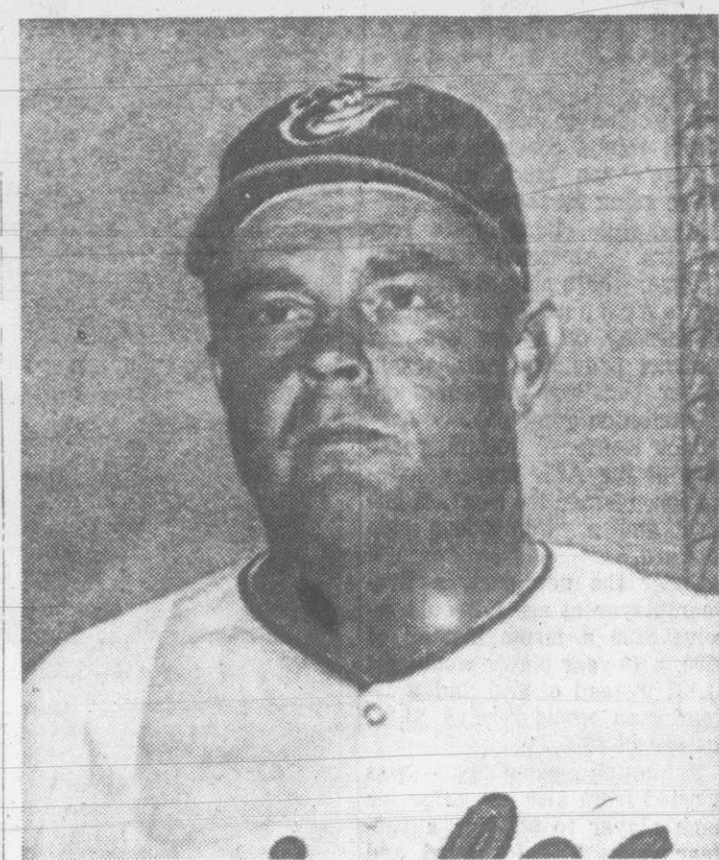

New York	San Francisco
Montreal	Los Angeles
Philadelphia	San Diego
Pittsburgh	Houston
Chicago	Cincinnati
St. Louis	Atlanta

Earlier, the Americans had split this way:

Minnesota	Cleveland
Chicago	New York
Oakland	Detroit
Kansas City	Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Weaver, a coach brought up as a minor league player a manager at Rochester to be a manager throughout his career, was named to replace Hank Bauer as the day after Bauer was summarily dismissed.

four full seasons at the helm of the Orioles. The second time was after the Orioles won their first American League pennant in 1966 and beat the Los Angeles Dodgers four straight in the World Series.

Weaver was one of three new coaches named by the Orioles last season when the team finished sixth.

The Orioles currently are in third place with a 43-37 record, but trail leading Detroit by 10½ games.

Bauer, twice voted Manager of the Year by The Associated Press, was informed of his discharge in Kansas during the All-Star break. Harry Dalton, Orioles director of player personnel, carried the news.

"Hank Bauer has been relieved of his duties as manager of the Orioles," read the announcement issued in Baltimore. "Dalton also announced that Bauer's contract would be honored through the 1968 season."

Dalton added that Bauer would be paid the balance of his contract for $50,000 a year which had been due to expire at the end of the season.

"It wasn't much of a surprise," said the 46-year-old Bauer. "Somebody had to take the blame and I'm the guy. Our pitching has been good, but the hitting has been bad."

Last season, the troubles were reversed with the pitching falling off since the Orioles swept four straight games from the Los Angeles Dodgers in the 1966 World Series.

The Orioles team batting average currently is .218.

You Have To Expect It

Hank Bauer, who was fired from his job as manager of the Baltimore Orioles baseball club yesterday, is shown at his home in Overlook Park, Kansas, and played with his poodle Freddie. "You have to expect these things in baseball," said Bauer, adding that "the Orioles have treated me fine." A successor is expected to be named sometime today. (AP Wirephoto)

Red Sox Have Farm Talent

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

If the Boston Red Sox run into trouble defending their American League pennant, they can always go to Louisville.

The Colonels there comprise the No. 1 farm club of Tom Yawkey's Boston enterprise.

Dave Morehead, Ken Brett, Darrell Brandon, Galen Cisco and Billy Farmer, who last year won 10 games for Pittsburgh, Mass., at age 20, are some of the pitchers down on the farm, hard by Churchill Downs where a pain-killing drug cost Dancer's Image and owner Peter Fuller $122,600.

The Louisville Colonels won 11 of their first 13 International League games this spring but tests similar to those given the Kentucky Derby winner were unnecessary.

The Colonels also have Red Sox chatters in promising catcher Jerry Moses, 21, of Yazoo City, Miss.; second baseman Sid O'Brien, young first baseman Jose Calero and others who someday figure to graduate to the big leagues. Recently, the Colonels sent star outfielder Joe LaHoud, back to Boston.

The Red Sox have a working agreement with the Colonels. Boston pays the salary and all expenses of Eddie Kasko, Colonels manager who after each game makes out a report which he sends to Boston farm director Neil Mahoney.

Working agreements are fascinating bookkeeping deals. In this instance the Red Sox provide the Colonels each month

New Jersey Back Signs With ECU

Peter DeBow Woolley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Woolley, 573 Sylvan Road, River Vale, New Jersey, has signed a football grant in aid with East Carolina University.

The 5-10, 195 pound quarterback and defensive halfback played high school football at Pasack Hills High and spent a year at Massanutten Military Academy in Woodstock, Virginia.

"Peter is a fine sprintout quarterback, and we consider him to be a prime prospect to play the tailback position in our single wing offense," Coach Henry Vansant of the East Carolina Pirates said. "He seems to have a burning desire to excel."

The average American consumed 4.8 pounds of butter last year.

Jones May Be Next Twin Victories Top Trojan Runner In Carolina Loop

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

When Coach Johnny McKay of Southern California said recently, "We have a boy who will take the place of O.J. Simpson," the boss of the Trojans must have been thinking of Jim Jones.

At least that's what a number of coaches believe.

Jones, a quarterback at John Harris High in Harrisburg, Pa., who threw 35 touchdown passes for a new Pennsylvania high school record last season had offers from 112 schools. He picked Southern California, and he'll probably have no trouble making the freshman team this fall.

In two years of high school football Jones, a Negro of 180 pounds and almost 6-feet-1, racked up 4563 yards and figured in 59 touchdowns.

"Jim Jones is a great kid," says George Chaump, his high school coach who now helps coach quarterbacks for Woody Hayes at Ohio State. "He has unique ability in passing and running and can throw a ball 50 yards while on the run without breaking stride. He ought to be great."

"I used to get a dozen calls a night," says Chaump, "because Jim Jones was that good, plus being a B student in an academic course and also senior class president."

"I wish Jim were at Ohio State now, but as a junior he seemed to be set on Southern Cal. Last March he went there and I've heard that John McKay went to Harrisburg to see Jones for himself."

Chaump really had Jim Jones for only two seasons because the all-around athlete broke his collarbone as a sophomore. His neck was in and out of a cast for nine months and he was not permitted to play on defense as a junior or senior.

Around Harrisburg it has been said that Chaump designed an offense similar to the Southern Cal attack. And if that doesn't help, McKay may change his system to fit the boy. Jones is that good, whether passing or running.

Southern Cal fans will have to wait until 1969, however, because O.J. Simpson will be back next fall when Jim Jones is a freshman.

The Portsmouth Tides swept a doubleheader from Peninsula, and Greensboro's Patriots took a twin bill from Burlington in Carolina League action Wednesday.

Portsmouth captured the opener 3-2 and went on a scoring spree in the nightcap to swamp the Grays 14-6 in a marathon which wound up in the early morning hours.

The Patriots took the Senators 6-1 in the opener and 5-1 in the second game.

First place Salem took a 3-1 decision over Lynchburg, but the Tides' back-to-back victories closed the Rebels' lead to three games.

Salem's three runs came on two White Sox errors.

Joe Dodder of High Point-Thomasville slapped a bases-loaded double in the fifth inning to produce the winning run for the Hi-Toms in a 4-3 decision over Winston-Salem.

Rocky Mount's Paul Coleman hurled a 2-0 shutout against Wilson and claimed his second victory of the week over the Tobs.

A doubleheader between Raleigh-Durham and Kinston was postponed due to rain.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An eager gallery followed defending champ Vern Callison through the first round of the National Public Links Golf Tournament hoping to see a pace-setting performance, and they did—but it was Callison's playing mate Don Maddox who set the pace.

PEDAL PUSHERS

Riders come through the Bordeaux-Limoges lap.

It takes more than mere determination to win the highest of all bicycling events: the Tour de France. It takes top physical condition, endurance, stamina and an inner courage to go on despite accident, agony or position.

With 100 or more entrants yearly, the event sweeps along the valleys and mountains of Europe, passing through some 800 different communities of France, Belgium, Spain, Switzerland and Italy during the approximate 3,000-mile, 25-30 day run.

Each day is a "stage" or "lap" with its individual winner, but the overall winner holds an honor considered greater than a world championship title.

Danger is part of the strenuous, body-torturing event. The bikes, sometimes moving at speeds over twenty-five miles per hour, ride a delicate balance which can easily be upset.

On turns, as many as twenty riders might be bunched together. A loss of control by one, which did happen in 1967, can send many riders over a roadway edge and to the hospital with serious, if not fatal, injuries.

Because of the altitudes, ranging from 4,000 to 7,000 feet in the mountains, oxygen is scarce and the competitive strain can drop a cyclist in exhaustion due to oxygen deprivation.

Along the course, there are cheering fans for encouragement and opportunities to rest or cool off before returning to competition amidst a welter of trucks, vans, automobiles and motorcycles carrying equipment, supplies and officials, be they newspapermen, trainers or judges.

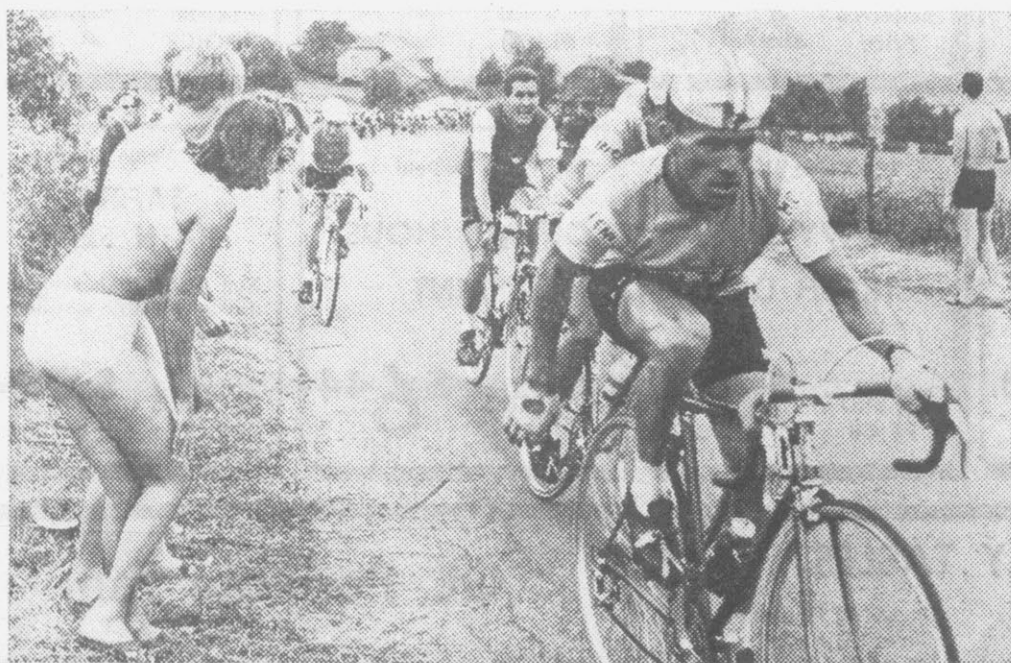

It is all colorful action and makes the Tour de France (these pictures from the 1967 event) a sought-after victory by bicycle-racing enthusiasts throughout the world.

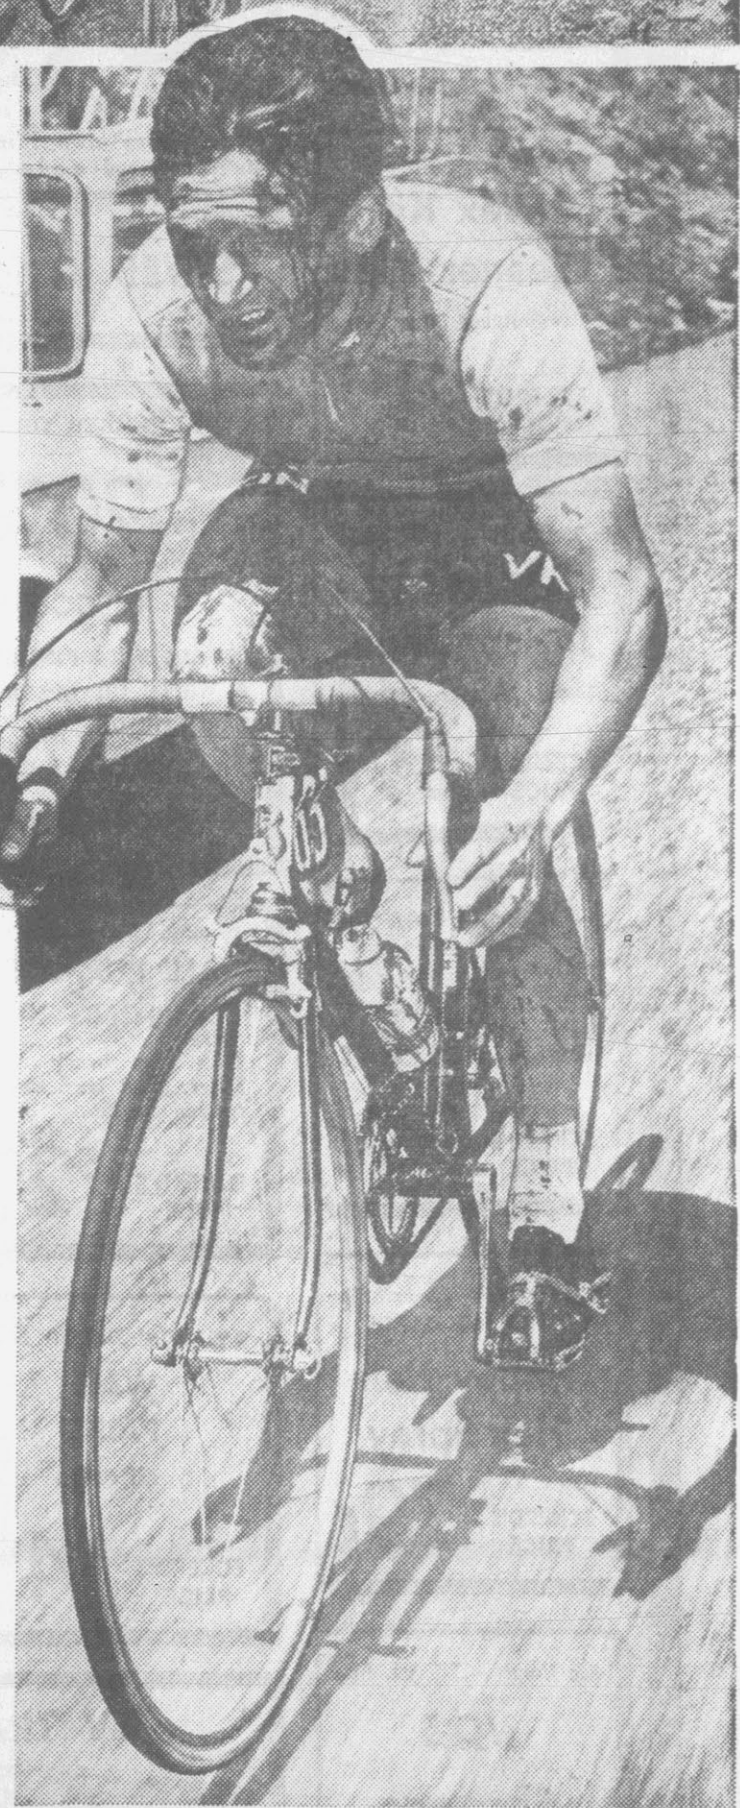

Between Digne and Marseille, riders stop for a drink and cooling off at a 13th-Century fountain.

On the rolling hillside a group moves on while official cars follow behind.

The lovely scenery goes unnoticed as riders push on between Jambes and Metz.

Following a bad fall during the Briancon-Digne lap, the Netherland's Huub Harings continues.

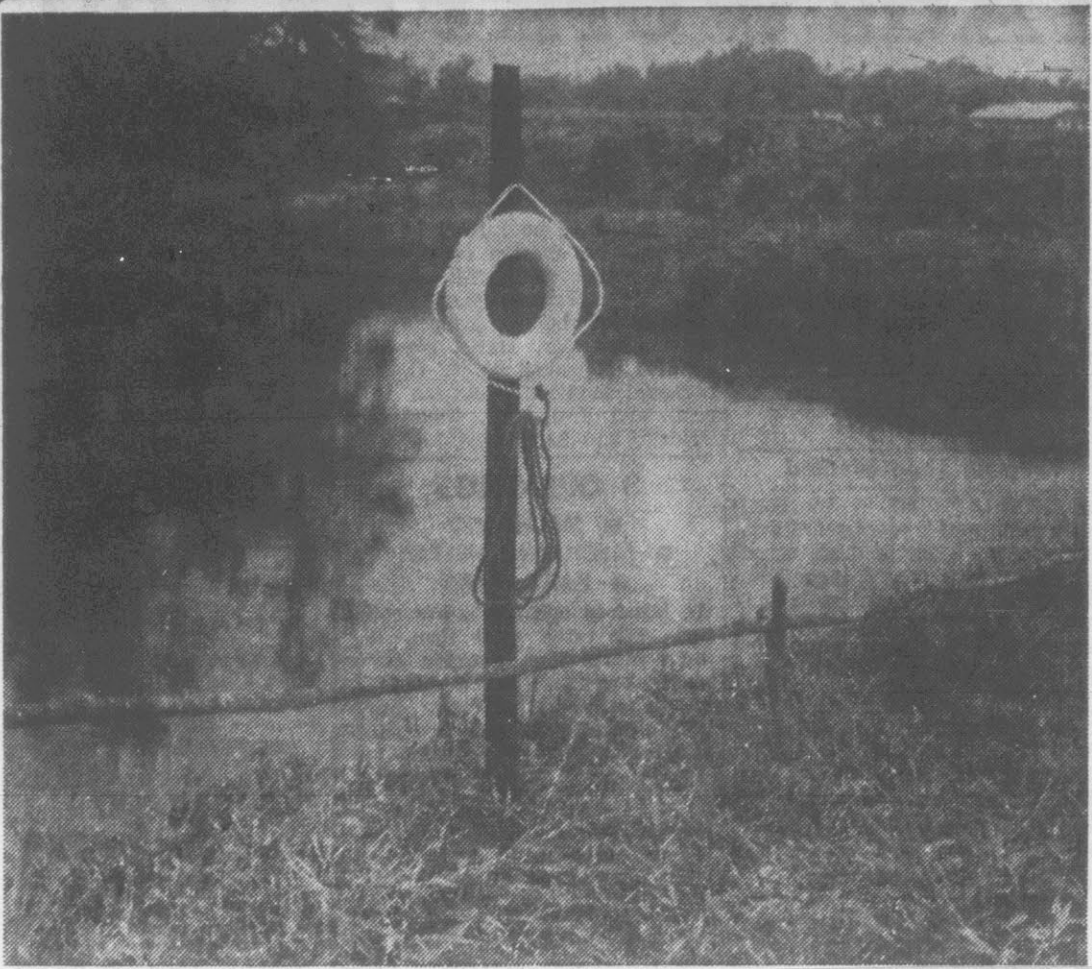

One rider gets cooled off with a hose during a stop.

Roger Pingeon, right, 1967 winner of the Tour de France, compliments fellow countryman and rider Raymond Poulidor.

A LITTLE FORETHOUGHT can make ponds safer and reduce chances of a tragedy.

Pond Is Great Asset, But Be Sure It's Safe

By ELMER L. BLAND
Ponds, like any other body of water, attract people. When the two come together there is always a chance of accidental drowning.

Ponds are valuable assets to farmers and have many uses. During the past quarter century, American farmers have constructed over a million ponds as part of their soil and water conservation plans. These ponds range in sizes, shapes, and depths.

Probably the most dangerous body of water is the irrigation pit. The pit is constructed with a dragline. Most pits are rectangular in shape and dug 10 to 14 feet deep to tap underground springs. The pits are constructed with 1½:1 side-slopes. Many ponds cave off, and there are straight up and down sections of the slope. A slope cut on 1½:1 would mean that a person taking 3 steps out into the water would go down 6 feet. A non-swimmer doing this would be in immediate trouble if he barely got away from the water's edge. It is difficult to visualize what lies underneath the water surface. Land-owners can take precaution to prevent drowning in dug pits and other types of farm ponds. A pond can be a source of good wholesome recreation if the following steps are followed:

First: Find out what the community or state laws say about your liability in case of an accident or death. You may need to protect yourself with insurance.

Second: Locate your pond so that it will not get drainage from barnyards or sewers.

Third: Decide how the water is to be used, so that the engineer or Soil Conservation Technician can provide for swimming and needed safety measures when he designs the pond.

Fourth: Have your pond built by a reliable contractor who will follow the engineering specifications.

When the pond is under construction, remove all trees, stumps, and brush etc. in the swimming area. Eliminate sudden drop-offs and deep holes in the swimming area.

After the pond is completed, mark the safe swimming area. Place warning signs at danger points. Post safety instructions for boating. Place life saving devices such as a ring-buoy, rope, and a long pole at the swimming area. Require all persons to wear life jackets while in boats if boating is permitted.

Never permit one person to swim alone. Use boats that will float when capsized. Stay out of pond during storms. Most of all, recognize that ponds are hazards to small children.

Many more ponds and pits will be constructed as time goes on. As the population grows, and spreads to the rural areas more people will be living near bodies of water like dug pits and ponds. It is important that each owner recognize this and make their ponds safe.

The Soil Conservation Service assists landowners through the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District, to obtain water by means of dug pits and impoundment ponds. A bulletin "Make Your Farm Pond Safe - Prevent Drownings" can be obtained from Soil Conservation Service.

Jury Chosen For Trial Of Pair

GREENSBORO (AP) —The way was cleared for the beginning of testimony today when jury selection was completed Wednesday in the Guilford Superior Court trial of two of six men accused of feloniously intimidating the Rev. Frank Williams at his Greensboro home a year ago.

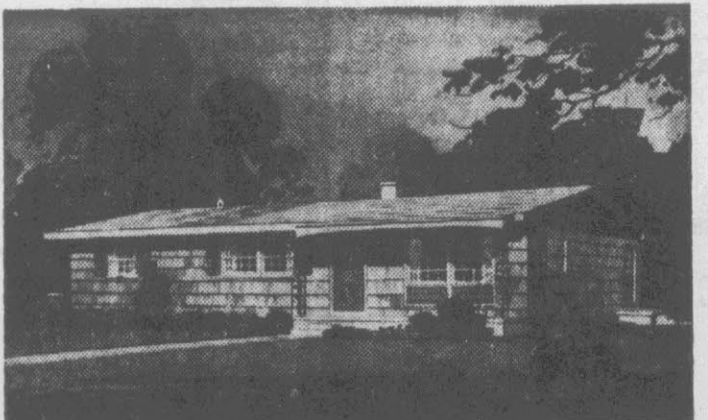

J. R. McBride of Greensboro and Clyde A. Webster of Rt. 2, Greensboro are charged in connection with the alleged placing of a burning cross on McBride's property last July 15. This was about a month after the Negro minister moved into the previously all-white neighborhood.

Four others are charged with placing a truck with a dummy hanging from it in the area of the Williams residence, near the McBride home.

Judge Allen Gwyn denied a defense motion that all six men be tried together, because the alleged offenses deal with different incidents.

Eight men and four women were selected for the jury after 19 were excused for various reasons. Some prospective jurors said they had formed opinions of the men's guilt because of news media accounts of the events.

Gun Turn-Ins Follow Request

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Police Chief W. D. Blake says eight firearms and a toy gun have been turned over to him since Chapel Hill's Board of Aldermen asked citizens Monday night to surrender their unnecessary weapons.

The board's resolution urged townspeople to voluntarily turn in unnecessary weapons to the chief of police to demonstrate their rejection of "violence as a way of life." Children were invited to give up their toy guns.

Elected Mayor In Three Towns

LOVELL, Wyo. (AP) — Clyde Reynolds, a lumber dealer, has been elected to a third term as mayor—all in different Wyoming towns.

Reynolds was chosen mayor of Glenrock in 1956, Shoshoni in 1964 and Lovell this year.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady with an instance of 25 cents lower. Tops of 21.25-21.75 at Rocky Mount; 21.00-21.50 at Bethel; 20.50-21.25 at Wilson; 21.00 at Greensboro and Salisbury; 20.75 at Siler City and Denton.

NEW YORK (AP)—Blue chips showed the way today as the stock market surged ahead in another postrecess session which promised to be a very big day on volume.

A parade of big blocks and a flood of dealings by smaller investors combined to make a record first-hour volume of 6.57 million shares, topping the previous high of 6.339 million shares made on May 3.

The ticker tape ran as fast as six minutes late in early trading but began to catch up. The psychology of a "traditional summer rally" was combined with bullish news—such as House passage of a $5.3-billion housing bill, a 6 per cent gain in retail sales over a year ago, and an encouraging outlook expressed by executives of General Motors—to boost stocks.

As blue chips took the center

Fewer Enemy Killed Last Week In A Relative Lull

SAIGON (AP)—Despite massive allied manhunt and record air raids around Saigon, U.S. forces and their allies in the Vietnam war killed fewer enemy troops last week than they had any week for a year and a half, the U.S. Command reported today.

The weekly casualty report reflected a prolonged lull in the ground war which senior U.S. officers blamed on refusal of the enemy to be drawn into combat. There were 961 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reported killed last week, while U.S. casualties of 198 killed and 1,248 wounded were the second lowest of the year. South Vietnamese

Joined Bank As Lending Officer

E. A. Warren, assistant vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, has joined the Greenville office as a banking department lending officer, it was announced today by R. W. Howard, senior vice president.

In addition to his duties as a lending officer, Warren will be responsible for working with local business and community leaders in giving assistance to business and industrial development in the Greenville area.

A native of Norfolk, Va., Warren joined the bank in 1960 in

From 1962 to 1963, he was in the Audit Department of the Greenville office and from 1964 to 1965 he served as a time payment direct loan representative in Greenville. He was transferred to Wachovia's Williamston office in 1965 and in 1967 became head of Wachovia's Washington office.

Surrender Guns Before Divorce

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP)—District Judge William B. Nangle asked a wife to surrender her pistol and her husband to surrender his shotgun until their divorce action is settled.

The judge said testimony indicated one of the parties, or both, might in the heat of an argument use one of the guns.

"I just thought it would be safer if the persons didn't have guns," Nangle said. "There are hundreds of homicides every year where one of the partners in marriage used a gun."

The couple gave their attorneys the weapons pending outcome of the case.

Less Than Half Inch Of Rainfall

A total of .32 of an inch of rainfall was recorded for Pitt County from midnight Tuesday through midnight Wednesday, according to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station.

Yesterday's high temperature was reported at 84 degrees, while the low for that day was 72 degrees. The temperature this morning at 8 a.m. was set at 74 degrees.

The Tar River level was reported at 3.8 feet this morning and still rising.

casualties also were reduced.

There was no lull in the air war, however, as U.S. fliers reported their second MIG in two days shot down Wednesday over North Vietnam. American pilots also reported destroying or damaging 86 barges and sampans around the North Vietnamese port of Dong Hoi, 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The enemy casualty toll last week was the lowest reported since the week ending Jan. 7, 1967, when the U.S. Command reported 626 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

The total of 1,446 Americans killed or wounded was the lowest since the first week of this year, when 184 Americans were killed and 1,132 were wounded, or a total of 1,316. The 198 Americans killed last week were 11 more than the 187 reported the previous week, but the 1,248 wounded last week were far below the 1,928 wounded the week before.

The South Vietnamese government said 213 of its soldiers were killed and 597 were wounded last week.

Refused Work, Welfare Ended

GREENSBORO (AP)—The refusal of a Winston-Salem child's mother to seek employment and training for employment resulted in welfare money for the child being cut off.

That was what John T. McDowell, Forsyth County Welfare Department director, said Wednesday in his answer to the mother's suit in U.S. District Court in Greensboro.

Jacqueline Brown Holt filed suit June 18, charging that funds for her child were ended illegally last May 31. She said she had been receiving welfare money for the child since August, 1964. She maintained that the monthly payments stopped without benefit of a hearing, as the Social Security Act requires.

McDowell said that the woman failed to comply with federal and state laws by refusing to seek employment or accept training for work, thus becoming ineligible for assistance under the program.

The suit contends that training as a maid was offered Jacqueline Holt, but that she wanted to become a beautician, for which no training was offered.

Border Guards Objected To Her Scottish Sword

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—A sword almost got the Scottish Highlanders, the all-girl bagpipe band from the University of Iowa, into trouble with East German border guards.

The University said Wednesday a busload of the coeds touring Europe was challenged on July 4 at a Communist checkpoint as they tried to enter East Berlin. Guards found the sheathed sword in the luggage compartment.

The sword belongs to Bonnie Luzius of Fairview Park, Ohio. She uses it in the sword dance, which she had performed at Dusseldorf earlier in the week.

The university said the border guards demanded a weapons permit for the sword and the Highlanders had none. But after some discussion they let the girls cross the border.
