Tentative Approval By Pitt Commissioners

$4,153,743 County Budget, And Seven-Cent Tax Hike On Horizon

A tax rate of $1.45 per $100 of valuation, and a budget of $4,153,743.59 for the 1968-69 fiscal year were tentatively approved last night by the Pitt County Commissioners.

The tax rate increase is a seven-cent hike over last year's rate of $1.38.

The $4,153,743.59 budget is an increase of $385,004.35 over the 1967-68 county budget.

Reginald Gray, county auditor, said that much of the increase is due to substantially increased school budgets (including Pitt Techanical Institute), and the establishment of the ambulance service.

the ambulance service accounts for two cents. Last year the

The schools budget accounts for $.795 of the tax rate, and schools budget accounted for $.734 of the tax rate.

The $4,153,743.59 budget figure tentatively approved last night is $309,922.60 less than the original budget requests of $4,463,666.19, which if adopted, would have meant a tax rate of $1.623.

In other areas, the commissioners set the minimum annual pay for county employees at one step below the State Merit Salary Schedule. Discussion on salaries had previously been set aside until all other items in the budget had been approved.

Raises for heads of the county departments and agencies were approved at five per cent, a figure based on the cost of living increase, according to Gray.

The tax rate and budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year can not be officially adopted by the commissioners until July 25, Gray stated. It must be adopted by July 28, according to North Carolina Law.

Authorized To Complete Plans, Call For Bids

Utilities Officials Given Go-Ahead On CATV Plans

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

Utilities officials were authorized last night to complete plans and call for bids on equipment needed to begin operation of a Community Antenna Television sytem here.

The commission took the action after they accepted a franchise for operation of such a system as tendered by the City Council.

City Manger Harry Hagerty said the municipally - owned operation will be "a nice, big first for North Carolina." He said other municipalities are waching the progress of the local operation.

Commissioner Hoover Taft offered the motion that plans be completed for the antenna and distribution system and that a cost figure for installing the system be obtained. Calling for bids on the equipment was authorized.

The motion was approved unanimously by the four commissioners Ray D. Minges and B. B. Sugg Jr. were not present.

The motion also authorized making application to the Federal Aviation Authority for erection of the antenna and application to the Federal Communications Commission for permission to bring in more distant television stations.

Director Leonard Bloxam told the commission that the CATV system could begin distributing the signals of area stations immediately, without FCC approval. This includes WNCT-TV, WITN-TV, WRAL in Raleigh and WTVD in Durham. Picking up more distant stations would involve the FCC action.

Chairman Ed Waldrop asked how the system would be affected if the FCC were to reject the request for bringing in the more distant stations.

Assistant Director Malcolm Green said he felt this would have little effect.

"The real interest is not in the outlying stations," he said. "The selling point is the perfect picture it brings in."

He explained that the system will give a near perfect picture, in proving even nearby station receptions. This improves color television quality.

Green also said initially the system will operate on 12 channels. When the commission is authorized to bring in additional stations the system can be converted to 20 channels.

Green, who has been developing the system, reported that a decision has been made to install the receiving tower on land now avialable at the Utilities sewage disposal plant property. It is located east of Greenwood cemetery and just south of the Tar River.

Tests of reception in this area have already been made by a firm with special equipment.

Green said the tower to be erected will be approximately 500 feet in height. The FAA must approve the tower because of its proximity to the Pitt - Greenville Airport. However, Director Leonard Bloxam said the location should not interfere since it is between two glide patterns leading to the airport.

Once the tower is constructed antennas to provide the best reception will be placed on it and directed toward the desired stations. A system of lines will be developed from the tower throughout the city. Patrons will be tapped on to the line and pay a monthly charge for the service.

In addition to better television reception CATV systems provide other services such as weather report channels, music channels and in some cases stock market and news ticker channels.

S.C. Warehouse Ass'n Sets Back Market Opening

FLORENCE, S. C. (AP) — South Carolina warehousemen, pressured by major buying companies, have set back the opening date for the state's tobacco markets to July 31 –the same date Georgia markets are to open.

Members of the South Carolina Tobacco Warehouse Association had previously agreed to begin tobacco sales next Tuesday, July 23.

The unanimous vote to change the opening date came Tuesday during a three - hour closed meeting in Florence. Attending the session were association members, representatives of the South Carolina Farm Bureau and delegations from the tobacco buying companies.

Marion Fowler, executive secretary of the association, said after the meeting that the buyers "requested and insisted we agree to a date no earlier than July 31.

"Since we took this action in deference to the buyers' interest, we asked them to keep buyers on the South Carolina markets until 85 per cent of the crop is sold," he said.

Fowler added that details of the change in opening dates would be made available sometime today.

At a meeting several weeks ago in Raleigh, the Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Committee recommended that South Carolina markets open no later than July 23, and the association adopted the proposal.

This week the committee rescinded the recommendation and said a July 31 opening date would be better for Palmetto State tobacco growers. Buyers indicated at that meeting that they would not come to South Carolina for a July 23 opening, which would have preceded Georgia market openings by eight days.

Three Kidnap Charges And Two Of Murder Filed Against Outlaw

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Two charges of murder and three additional kidnap charges were filed today against outlaw Edward Thompson Jr., who was arrested by Greensboro police Tuesday.

Three teenaged girls who had been held as hostages more than 24 hours were released, shaken and at times sobbing, when Thompson was taken into custody.

He is accused of shooting the mother of one of the girls and the father of another.

The warrants, signed in Roanoke, Va., also charge him with kidnaping the girls. This made a total of nine kidnaping charges against Thompson.

Roanoke Sheriff O. S. Foster was en route to North Carolina this morning to serve the Virginia warrants.

With pitstols drawn, police stopped Thompson in a stolen car belonging to the father of one of the girls. He offered no resistance. Police found two rifles and a pistol in the car.

Thompson, 37, a Negro from Eden, N.C., was declared an outlaw June 25 by Judge W. K. McLean in Buncombe County Superior Court at the request of Sheriff J. F. Kilpatrick of Henderson County. This meant any citizen could have legally shot Thompson if he disregarded an order to surrender.

He was wanted on six counts of kidnapping, three of rape and one each of armed robbery, car theft and assault on an officer. The crimes occurred in May and June near Hendersonville and Mooresville in western North Carolina. The victims in all the cases were white.

The car in which Thompson was stopped at Greensboro belonged to J. Howard Davis, 50, a Roanoke salesman whose body was found earlier in the afternoon in the basement of a house near Roanoke. Also in the house was the body of Mrs. Brewster Freman, 50, of Roanoke. Both had been shot.

The three girls were Jo Ellen Davis, 13, daughter of the dead man; Hester "Cherry" Freeman, 17, daughter of the dead woman, and Mathilda Love, 13, of near Roanoke, a cousin of Hester Freeman.

A year ago this Friday, Mathilda Loe's mother, her brother and two sisters died in the Hendersonville, N.C., crash of a Piedmont Airlines jet. Her father had died earlier of a heart attack.

Thompson was held without bond in an undisclosed jail for security reasons.

Czechs Say They'll Defy Soviet Line

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new Communist leaders defied the Kremlin and other orthodox Communist governments Tuesday night and said the nation will continue on its liberal course, with the full support of the people.

The Czechoslovak Communist party presidium met to discuss a letter from the Warsaw conference of the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria. Their leaders met Sunday and Monday because the Poles and East Germans fear the liberal ferment will spread to their countries, and the Soviet leadership also is uneasy.

The Czechoslovak presidium said it will prepare a reply in the next few days. In an interim communique, it said it was aware that opponents "are active and trying to misuse the democratization process against the party and against socialism."

Alexander Dubcek, the new chief of the Czechoslovak party, refused to attend the Warsaw meeting and proposed instead that he and his colleagues hold a series of bilaterial meetings with the various allied Communist leaders.

Reliable sources said the letter from Warsaw demanded that the Czechoslovak leaders attend a Communist summit conference within two weeks to justify their program, The New York Times reported in a dispatch from Prague. The report said the letter charged that the policies of the Dubcek regime had given rise to "revisionism" in the party and had raised the threat of a counterrevolution by forces friendly to "imperialism."

Jet Hijacked By Lone Armed Man

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A National Airlines jet was hijacked today over Texas by a man who threatened to blow up the plane with a grenade and was flown to Cuba. There were 64 persons aboard.

The DC8 landed at Jose Marti Airport in Havana and the first off the plane was the hijacker, described by the pilot as a Cuban, AP correspondent Fenton Wheeler reported from Havana. Wearing a yellow shirt, he walked jauntily away with security police. He appeared to be carrying no weapons.

The man had held command over the plane during a refueling stop at New Orleans, La., after walking into the cockpit with a grenade and a pistol shortly after takeoff from Houston, Tex.

Ordinarily, the plane and passengers would be returned qickly but the apparent illness of a passenger or crewman may delay the flight back to the United States.

The passenger or crewman—it was impossible to tell which—was removed from the plane in a stretcher and was driven away in a Red Cross ambulance. He once raised his head, showing he was conscious.

The plane carried 57 passengers and 7 crewmen and the crew was the first to follow the hijacker off the plane. The passengers then followed, the first dozen or so U.S. servicemen. The soldiers were taken to a separate room at the airport.

"I've got a Cuban in the cockpit with a grenade in one hand and a pistol in the other," the pilot, Capt. Sid Oliver of Miami, reported by radio as Flight 1064 took off from Houston.

"I am being ordered to Cuba," he added.

The flight, which originated at Los Angeles, had made a scheduled stop at Houston. It also was scheduled to land at New Orleans before reaching its destination at Miami.

A FAA spokesman said Oliver convinced the hijacker there was not enough fuel in the tanks to overfly New Orleans.

Extensive Red Assaults Seen

SAIGON (AP) — Widespread enemy attacks as heavy as the Tet and May offensives can be expected throughout South Vietnam in late July, August or early September, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today.

Basing his comments on reports from senior U.S. commanders since he arrived in Vietnam Sunday, Clifford said enemy forces around Saigon are increasing and there is a continual movement of enemy troops into the military district that surrounds the capital.

The purpose, he said, "obviously is to launch some attack on Saigon."

Asked if enemy tactics have any relation to the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks in Paris, Clifford replied: "We proceed on the assumption that the enemy combat plan is based on making impressions on the conference in Paris." He said a "spectacular event" could affect the negotiations, but did not elaborate.

Clifford said the level of fighting in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces has not been as high as it was in previous months because some North Vietnamese divisions have been pulled back into North Vietnam for refitting.

They can be expected to return "in greater force," Clifford told newsmen at Da Nang during a visit to the northern area below the demilitarized zone. He met at Da Nang and Phu Bai with U.S. Marine and Army officers commanding troops in the critical northern war zone.

The Pentagon chief said none of the American troop commanders in Saigon has asked him for more troops. and he has no plans to request additional troops.

Clifford said he was interested in the recent statement by South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thiu that phased withdrawal of American troops might begin in 1969, but he himself was not prepared to give any estimate.

The "outstanding fact" of the briefings he received in Da Nang today, Clifford said, was a report that the South Vietnamese 1st Army Division is comparable in effectiveness to any division in the U.S. Army. The division operates along the demilitarized zone.

The secretary said the South Vietnamese are accelerating their efforts elsewhere in the country and he hopes other government units can be brought up to the quality of the 1st Division.

Water Pollution Hearings Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of four Interior Department public hearings on water pollution in the nation's coastal areas and estuaries has been scheduled for July 26 at New Bern's Craven County courthouse.

Other hearings announced Tuesday are: New York City, July 23-24; Seattle, Wash., July 23; and Aberdeen. Wash., July 25.

Pou Named Trustee Of System

Dr. J. W. Pou, vice-president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. here was today named to the Board of Trustees of the Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System.

The appointment was made

DR. J.W. POU

by Gov. Dan K. Moore and the oath of office was administered this morning by Pitt County Clerk of Superior Court H. L. Lewis.

The Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System is controlled by the system's board of directors.

All teachers and state employees contribute five per cent of their pay to the system. The State of North Carolina contributes a like amount to the retirement plan, thus providing a retiremnt fund for teachers and state employees.

Hanoi Urged To Reveal Response

PARIS (AP) — The United States made a new appeal to North Vietnam in the Paris peace talks today to declare what action it will take "if the remainder of the bombing of North Vietnam ends."

"I have stated many times," Ambassador W. Averell Harriman told North Vietnamese negotiators, "that the United States is prepared to stop the bombing of the remainder of North Vietnam, but I have asked what would happen then.

"I have asked what you then will do—slow the pace of the war or continue to heighten the level of your aggression? And to that central question, you have given no answer—no answer whatsoever.

"Are we to interpret this to mean that further restraint on our part will be met again by further escalation of violence on your part?"

Harriman's statement was released by his office btfore today's session ended. This 13th meeting of the two negotiating teams was the longest since the talks started May 13. It lasted almost 4½ hours Harriman said when the meeting ended that no progress was made.

Harriman told the North Vietnamese in his formal statement that the United States had made a series of proposals for reducing infiltration from North Vietnam into the South, restoring the demilitarized buffer zone between North and South, respecting the neutrality of neighboring Laos and Cambodia, and the like.

He said North Vietnam had rejected each proposal.

"Your only answer has been the repetition of a slogan: Stop the bombing and pull American forces out of Vietnam."

Before going into the meeting, Harriman said the lack of enemy shelling of Saigon for the past month "may have some significance."

Harriman said he had "no way to judge" whether a reported withdrawal of some of the enemy forces in the Saigon area constituted a peace move. He added that he did not know exactly how much withdrawal there had been.

Recommends Cut Off Wake Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — An official of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has recommended that federal funds be cut off from Wake County schools because of inadequate progress in integration.

The Wake County Board of Education was told Tuesday that the board's plan to totally integrate the county schools by 1970-71 had been rejected by Dr. Eloise Severinson, regional civil rights director for HEW at Charlottesville, Va.

The Wake schools have been receiving about $2 million a year in federal funds.

A BARGAIN

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)— A parking ticket and the $1 fine was received Tuesday by the municipal-county clerk's office with this note on the back of the ticket: "Hi! It was worth it. Got a dream of a hat on sale."

Utilities To Consider Special Gas Rate, At Schools' Request

An attempt will be made to apply a special natural gas rate recently given East Carolina University, to the Greenville city schools.

The Utilities Commission decided this last night after hearing a letter from City Schools Supt. C. C. Cleetwood requesting a more favorable rate on gas for heating the E. B. Aycock Junior High which is now under construction on Red Banks Road.

Dr. Cleetwood told the commision the school officials feel present rates for natural gas will be too expensive. He said the school board must consider now whether to install oil-fired heat in the building, rather than using gas as originally planned. Cleetwood explained that the city schools could obtain oil through state purchasing.

Utilities Director Leonard Bloxam reminded the commission has set a special rate for natural gas being used at ECU's new heating plant on 14th Street. In this case Greenville Utilities receives only a "wheeling charge," an amount for transmitting the gas through its lines. However, the gas used does not affect the Utilities demand with N. C. Natural Gas. This is an agreement which involves a penalty after a maximum amount of gas, regaroless of the season.

With the agreement of the commission Bloxam said he would determine whether this special rate could be extended to include the city schools.

The commission charged off $15,867.18 in uncollectable accounts for the year ending June 30, 1963. Business Manager Larry Brown reported that this represented only a half percent of the total buildings. While the accounts are removed from the books, records are still kept on them for possible future collections.

New customers now pay a deposit of $2.50 for each service and Chairman Ed Waldrop appointed a committee to study the possibility of increasing this.

City Manager Harry Hagerty and Commissioner B. B. Sugg, Jr. will work with Brown on this.

Area Debutantes For 1968

Norma Harrell Following In Her Sister's Footsteps

Debutante Norma Harrell is following her sister, Lee Lang, who made her debut to North Carolina society in 1961.

Miss Harrell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Harrell, of 1106 W. Rock Springs Rd., Greenville. Her father will act as her chief marshal and her assisting marshals are Dickie Wade and Mike Moye, also of Greenville.

Miss Harrell is spending seven weeks this summer working as a teacher's assistant at South Edgecombe School, Pinetops. In this capacity, she types stencils, reads stories, supervises recess play and refreshment periods.

"The children go to school four hours daily and concentrate mainly on reading skills. I was interested in this program because I have always enjoyed reading personally and I liked the idea of being involved in a program which aims to improve their skills and develop the children's interest in reading," said Miss Harrell.

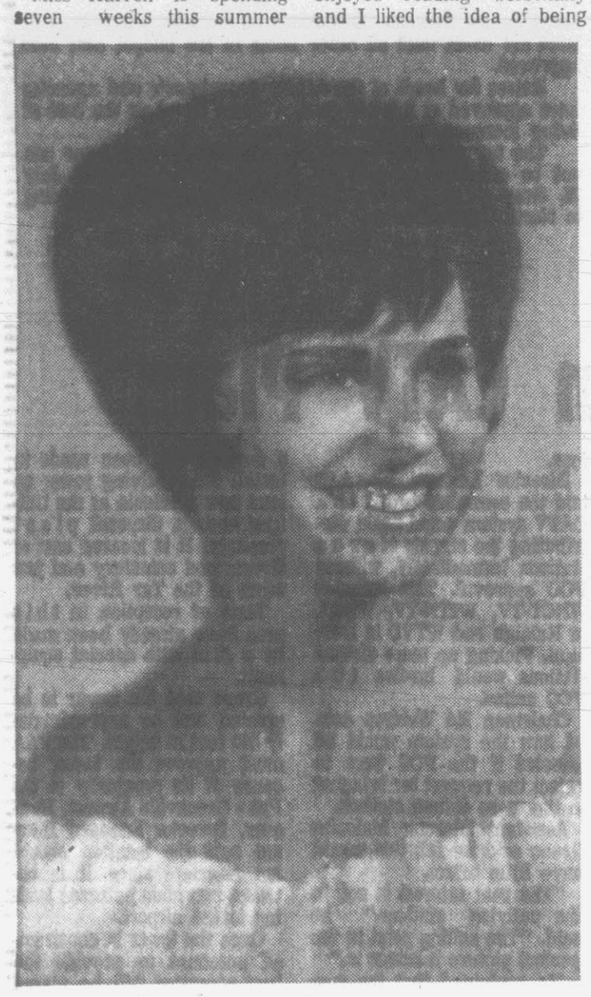

A student at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., Miss Harrell remarked, "I did not chose Wellesley just because it's a girl's school. I wanted to go there for the advantages the school offers. Since I have been there, I have found the girls to be less inhibited about speaking out in class as perhaps compared to speaking out in a class at a coeducational college.

"The college has a very high academic standing and I knew I would meet girls from across the United States, not just girls from one area. It afforded the opportunity to meet girls with different viewpoints. Wellesley is located about 12 miles from Boston, which offers so many cultural opportunities such as the opera, ballet, plays and symphonies."

"Although I have not declared my college major, I am very interested in political science. Since politics has been a favorite subject of discussion at our house, I developed a fascination for the workings of government and political parties. Another reason for my interest stems from serving as a pagette during two different sessions of the N. C. General Assembly," she added. Miss Harrell served as a pagette while she was a sophomore in high school for a week and then again for a week and a half while she was a senior.

After Aug. 1, Miss Harrell plans to just enjoy the rest of the summer and perhaps spend some time at Island View Shores relaxing.

In addition to reading, she also enjoys boating, fishing, crabbing, swimming and water skiing.

Blueberry Medley .... Beverage

BLUEBERRY MEDLEY

Blueberry Layer—see recipe below
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon double acting baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 large eggs
¼ cup milk

Prepare Blueberry Layer. On wax paper sift together flour, baking powder and salt. In a medium mixing bowl cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture, in three equal additions, alternately with milk, stirring just until smooth after each addition; begin and end with flour mixture. Spread over Blueberry Layer.

Bake in preheated 375-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out without any batter clinging to it—about 40 minutes. Cut in squares and serve warm with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. The blueberries intertwine with the batter in this pudding.

BLUEBERRY LAYER

In an 8 by 8 by 2 inch cake pan over low heat, melt one tablespoon butter. Spring with ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar. Spoon a one-pint basket of blueberries two generous cups washed over the sugar.

Doesn't Dig Chosen Career, Romance Better Off Buried

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and am going with a very pretty girl who is also 18. It is getting serious between us, and now I have a problem.

My father is a mortician, and his father before him was also a mortician, and that is what I want to be.

My girl says she feels "funny" about my going into that profession, and unless I go into something else it is all over between us. Abby, the mortuary business has been very good to our family, and I have never considered going into any other profession. Besides, one day I will inherit this business, and I couldn't do any better in anything else.

I have never liked a girl as much as I like this one and I hate to lose her, so what should I do?

MORTICIAN'S SON

DEAR SON: If your girl doesn't dig your chosen profession, it's time to bury your relationship.

DEAR ABBY: When a friend invited me to her home for a dinner party, I knew it was the date of her wedding anniversary. But since she made no mention of the occasion, neither did I.

I surprised her with a gift when I arrived. She took it, thanked me, and quietly put it out of sight. Not one word was mentioned about my gift OR the occasion all evening. (Obviously, no one else had remembered it.)

I was hurt and disappointed because I had written a poem and enclosed it with my gift, and it would have pleased me had she opened my gift and read my poem to her guests.

A few days later I received a note from her thanking me for the gift an dpoem, but it didn't make up for the hurt I felt that evening.

Don't you think the hostess showed extremely bad manners in ignoring my gift the night I brought it?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Jonathan Swift put it this way: "Good manners is the art of making those people easy with whom we converse. Whoever makes the fewest people uneasy is the best bred in the company." I think your hostess showed extremely GOOD manners, not bad.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that mother of the 14-year-old girl with sideburns not to fret. I am a 14-year-old girl with a mother who has a MUSTACHE. She is 39 and she knows there are many things on the market to bleach or remove that horrible looking fuzz as she is a modern, good-looking woman. But she thinks a mustache on a lady is SEXY, and my father agrees with her.

The kids who know my mother all say to me, "Aw, go shave your mother's mustache." They think it's funny. I think it's awful. Print this. Maybe she'll take the hint and take it off.

Sexy Perks Provide Refreshing Breaks

FRANKFURT, Germany (WNS) — What is a Perk? A pretty girl in decollete blouse and mini-skirt who serves goodies during the coffee break and perks up the workers with her smiling presence. Employment agent Rosa Herz has placed more than 50 perks with West German factories and offices during the first two weeks of their existence. "Sexy secretaries take the minds of male employees off their work during business hours," explained Frau Herz. "The Perk refreshes workers with refreshments and her refreshing presence during the breaks, then quickly disappears."

Joy Baker--Both The Wife And Daughter Of Senators

By MALVINA STEPHENSON

WASHINGTON (WNS)—Joy Dirksen Baker is caught in the middle of the Senate controversy over the two Supreme Court nominees.

Her "daddy," the Senate Republican leader, favors confirmation. Her husband, the freshman Senator from Tennessee, was one of the Republicans who signed the opposing statement.

Despite such differences among Senators, Joy, with her mother's help, manages to keep peace in the family. No two women have had more experience in dealing with Senators.

"When my parents come over here, the men don't talk politics," explains Joy, her large blue eyes twinkling. "That's one of the rules of the house."

The Dirksens and the Bakers, a closely knit family, spent several nights a week together. Joy affectionately describes her two Senators as "quite opinionated." That's one reason she wouldn't even think of suggesting any changes in their thinking. It's also the reason "we get off politics," she says.

Modesty

Joy, the Dirksens' only child, has taken her mother's advice "to be natural, be yourself." The result is refreshing modesty and an understated manner. On the social circuit, she responds innocently with "I don't know" to prying inquiries about her Senators. And during trying periods in the Senate, the "safest subject" in the family circle is considered "flowers." Both Senators love to grow things. In the privacy of the greenhouse behind the Bakers' spacious home, the Senate Minority Leader, 72, and his son-in-law, 42, can agree on everything.

Senator Dirksen brags about his son-in-law's roses and tomatoes, while Senator Baker gets ecstatic about marigolds, dear to the heart of the Senate Minority Leader.

Wouldn't Have Changed

Referring to the Supreme Court issue, Mrs. Baker said. "We didn't discuss it in advance." As for her husband's decision to oppose confirmation, she said, "I don't think he knew Senator Dirksen's position, and if he had known it, it wouldn't have changed his mind a bit."

Nevertheless, the woman who knows them best insists that her father and husband more often than not think alike on basis issues. A computerized analysis of the first session of the 90th Congress shows them together on 81 per cent of the votes.

Mrs. Baker knows the issues, too, but she keeps her views to herself. She has a college degree in political science and is an inveterate newspaper reader—she starts her day with the Washington and New York papers and later the mailman brings the Tennessee and Chicago papers.

The Bakers have two children, Darek and Cynthia. Mrs. Baker spends most of her energies raising them, leaving the limelight to the men folk.

"Everybody in the family makes speeches," she explains. "My father, my mother, my husband, my brother-in-law (Virginia Congressman Bill Wampler). That's enough. I say, no speeches for me."

Mrs. Baker has not been able to do anything much outside the house in recent weeks. A freak accident put her on crutches. She broke her leg in a fall in a parking lot, after which complications developed. She doesn't expect to be able to resume her tennis game with her husband until October.

Handsome Waist Valued Asset

COCKTAIL FASHION . . . This black cocktail dress with embroideries of silver and fuchsia red twigs by Rome's Faraoni Fashion House was presented in the Italian capital at the Fall and Winter Fashion Show Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Rome)

ROME (AP) — A handsome waistline is the most valuable asset a girl can have if she wants to look like a million dollars in the new Italian fashion creations for fall and winter.

Baratta and newcomer Andre Laug yesterday both showed the slender-line silhouette that has taken the Rome collections by storm. Nothing could be more flattering than the gently flared redingote that is everybody's darling this season.

Most Roman designers have heaped on the jewelled embroideries, lames and brocades with such a prodigal hand that as a steady diet it all becomes a bit too rich for the blood.

That's why Andre Laug's unassumingly handsome little collection comes like a breath of fresh air. His line is young and fresh, prim and proper.

Clean-lined, high-waisted redingotes sport huge saddlebag pockets set on the slant, or small, neat pocket flaps diagonally placed on the hip.

Curved seams exactly matched on coat and dress ensembles underline a small bust, or point up a slender waist. Sometimes these are used below the bust and at the hip for a corselet midriff effect.

Models wear glazed serpent skin, open crown domes or helmets with matching belts. There are a few gold or silver long shirtwaisters, but even these have plain skirts and prim unadorned collars and cuffs.

Laug is satisfied with two tiny rhinestone buttons to trim a slim sleeveless black cocktail dress. His one knockout number is a plain black tube, cut in two diagonally at the midriff and laced together again with a string belt threaded through rhinestone bangles.

By Valentino-De Barentzen-Fabiani standards, Baratta is fairly restrained, too. He uses wool fringe and bobbles to perk up the ends of long scarf collars and hems one coat with the same trim.

Bride-Elect Entertained

GRIFTON —Miss Sandra Murphy, bride - elect of August, was honored with a shower last week at the home of Mrs. J. T. Oglesby Jr.

Guests were greeted by the hostess and presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Walter Murphy.

Upon arrival, Miss Murphy was presented with a white carnation corsage.

The house was decorated throughout with yellow and white arrangements of summer flowers. The appointed table was centered with an arrangement of yellow and white snapdragons with white candles.

Burnt-on starch can be removed from the plate of an electric iron if you let the iron cool and then rub the plate with very fine steel wool. A bit of mild scouring powder on a damp cloth is also very effective.

North Carolina Has A Price To Pay

Dr. Charles Carroll, retiring superintendent of public instruction, put North Carolina's school situation squarely on the line when he declared that this state will have to pay for top quality public schools if it expects to have them.

"We aren't going to get quality teachers in the bargain basement. We aren't going to get good leadership in the bargain basement. And if we want top level education. we're going to have to pay for it."

Those words by Dr. Carroll add emphasis to a point which needs to be re-emphasized time and again to all citizens of North Carolina. The state has in recent years made a good start in upgrading its public schools. It has invested heavily in new buildings, better teacher salaries and better programs of instruction in its public schools. But even with this special push to improve the schools of North Carolina, the state can ill afford to rest on its laurels. It still has a good way to go before it can assert its schools have reached the level of quality that most people want.

Fortunately for this state and for its future, citizens have shown a willingness to pay higher taxes when necessary to provide better schools. They have grumbled, to be sure, and they have insisted that the larger expenditures be made wisely. But when they have been calld on for more funds for schools, North Carolinians have consistently responded positively.

The important thing is that the citizenry of the state recognize that better schools will always cost more money; that quality education cannot be bought with a lump-sum payment; that increasing demands upon young people will constantly require better public schools.

For the sake of the state and its younger generation, we trust North Carolina will never reach the point where it says our schools are as good as we want them. Should that day ever come, North Carolina will have reached the threshhold that will lead it into an era of deterioration.

Names Applied Growing Areas

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The Triangle, the Triad, the Crescent all have become terms, more or less descriptive, familiar to those who have been planning orderly growth and development of North Carolina's fastest growing sections.

In effect, the areas encompassed by such terms as the Research Triangle, the Piedmont Triad and the Piedmont Crescent are large building blocks on a planner's map. They have replaced many local descriptions which came to be commonly adopted across the state a few years ago, such as "Gate City", (Greensboro); "Bull City," (Durham); "Queen City," (Charlotte); and of course Raleigh reserved "Capital City," Wilmington took "Port City." Other localities and municipalities looked for distinctive names, titles, slogans and descriptions.

WILLIAM SHIRES

But now the regional concept has come into being and a town such as Sanford, "the Brick Capital of the World," is becoming part of a larger, more ambitious picture.

Local Pride Remains

Certainly local pride remains. Mount Olive is the pickle capital and Mt. Airy is famous for granite. The Wilkesboros for chicken, and Morehead City for fish and seafood. There are others —Ahoskie for peanuts, Franklin for rubies and sapphires, and Boone and Blowing Rock for cool breezes in the summer.

Local promotions and events — the Azelea Festival at Wilmington, the Strawberry Festival at Chadbourn and numerous others—are encouraged and publicized.

Nevertheless, more and more the idea has become to promote and publicize — and build and develop — on a statewide structure, utilizing the "building blocks."

Projects Being Planned

The city of Asheville, which stages more summer conventions and probably attracts more tourists during summer season than any in the state, has a $4 million new convention center and sports arena on the drawing boards. Completion date tentatively is late 1970.

This will be four-level structure on the site of the present downtown Asheville city auditorium and will face both the downtown business district and the Asheville expressway.

Final details of the Asheville complex are to be completed in the next few months and contracts are scheduled to be awarded in the Spring.

Across the state from Asheville, there are reports of a huge new convention and hotel facility to be constructed at one of the most popular coastal resorts. No formal announcement has been made but the plans are definite and are progressing

Forward Look

Imagine a monorail train speeding high over populated areas dotted with modern, high-rise dwelling and shopping centers, and then across the green countryside with lakes, forests and parks.

Look down and there is a herd of giraffe. Here is a monkey island. This, of course, is a highly futuristic view of what the highly - developed areas of Piedmont North Carolina might be like in a few years.

Immediate Plans

One of the immediate plans disclosed recently is for a $20 million sports complex in the High Point-Greensboro-Winston-Salem Triad, on a site near the Greensboro - High Point Airport, which would attract major league professional sports to this thickly - populated, sports-minded area Site selection or recommendation — was the result of a $30,000 survey conducted by a California firm for a state stadium authority.

Unprecedented Chaos Unless Accord Gained

If the tobacco marketing situation becomes any more confused after the markets open than it is now, there is going to be unprecedented chaos in an industry which has faced chaotic conditions at times in recent years.

At a time when the industry faces its most serious threat from forces outside, it appears that conflicting forces within the industry may drive it to its knees before the outsiders can succeed in their similar objective. What seems to be shaping up is an intolerable situation with respect to the opening dates of the various belts.

The Georgia-Florida belt, which traditionally opens first, has said it will not open until the last of July, considerably later than normal. In South Carolina, officials have said that belt will open a week before the slated opening in Georgia. In the Eastern Belt, where there has been increasing pressure for an opening date earlier than in previous years, a later-than-normal opening would result if the presently schedule Georgia opening date prevails.

Each belt faces its own problems, but the problems of each has a direct bearing on those of the other. Unless representatives of the various belts diligently seek compromises on opening dates in the next several days, this may be the year when they create sufficient confusion to kill the tobacco auction marketing system as it has been known for many years.

2,000 Words Provoke Crisis

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Reform-minded Czechoslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evicently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet - dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries on Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia. This has the ring of ultimatum. It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia over the past 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

Those leaders, led by Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered. Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this. Perhaps he has it in his power to exert pressures which eventually will bring back to authority the "conservative" hard - line Communists now discredited in Czechoslovakia.

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vacu-

A Gun For The Waiters

PARIS — You would think after all the United States has done for Europe, the least the Europeans could do is make it easy for an American to buy a gun. But such is not the case. In spite of their great claims to being civilized, the Europeans are still living in the Dark Ages when it comes to making firearms available to the public.

I discovered this accidentally when I was overcharged by a waiter in a Left Bank cafe. He claimed it was an accident, but I knew he did it on purpose.

I told my wife I was getting sick and tired of being pushed around, and the only thing to do was buy gun and carry it with me at all times. Then if someone tried to overcharge me, I'd let him have it.

"Isn't that a bit strong?" my wife asked.

"It's the American way," I said. "Can you think of a better reason for using a gun than when you get the business from a surly cafe waiter?"

The next day I went to a gun store near the Paris Opera and told them I wanted a revolver.

"What do you want it for?" the dealer asked.

"I am an American citizen," I said, "and according to our Constitution I am allowed to bear arms, any place, any time, anywhere. Now be a good man and give me a gun."

"We cannot sell a gun just like that, monsieur," the dealer said. "We have regulations in France concerning guns."

"Regulations?" I said incredulously. "What on earth for?"

"The French government does not want anyone in the country to have a gun. There is too much chance of accidents."

"That doesn't bother us in the United States," I said with a certain amount of pride. "Do you know last year we had over 5,000 people killed by firearms alone?"

"Alas," said the dealer, sadly. "We only had 12. The rules here are too strict."

"Don't you have a National Rifle Assn.?"

"We have something like it, but parliament tells them what they can or cannot do."

"In my country," I boasted, "the National Rifle Assn. tells Congress what it can or cannot do."

"Quelle chance," the dealer said. "Please, sir, what can I do for you?"

"I want a gun to shoot surly cafe waiters."

"Tres bien, fill out these papers. Then go to your local po-

Central America

(Christian Science Monitor)

Time alone will tell whether President Johnson's dramatic, open-handed and generously cheered visit to Central America will be more successful than other United States efforts to step up progress in that part of the world.

Last month these columns held an editorial entitled "Indifference toward Latin America," which concluded that "there would seem to be a growing indifference to Latin-American conditions in the United States." This indifference was traced to a rising feeling that the Latin Americans were not themslves making an adequate effort at self-help, and to a lessening United States concern over the possibliity of communism in Central and South America.

Obviously, the Johnson visit is a welcome indication that Washington has not wholly lost interest. And the American pledge of $65,000,000 to Central America, if widely used, can have considerable effect in an area of only 13,000,000 population.

But the touchstone is still the Latin Americans' own readiness to make the clearly heavy effort needed to pull themselves out of the economic doldrums and move steadily forward. Several of the Central American states (Costa Rica and Salvador) have made some progress. Yet even they find themselves still caught by the area's gravest threat — a birthrate outrunning economic expansion. As for the other three lands (Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua), they are showing few signs of real progress.

True, the five are seeking to forge a Central American Common Market. Potentially at least, this could be a major step forward — if only through giving the area a greater sense of common purpose. But, unlike Western Europe's Common Market with its great diversity, Central American economies are heavily competitive rather than complementary.

The missing element (in almost all of Latin America) is that intangible spark which drives men and countries forward, whatever the obstacles.

Nixon's Grip In Illinois

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — The surest sign that the Bourbons of the Illinois Republican party are elevating support of Richard M. Nixon for President to an article of faith is their placing of Rep. Paul Findley in political cold storage.

Findley seemed the logical choice to fill the vacancy on Illinois's national convention delegation left by the death of Charles Becker, president of Franklin Life Insurance Co. in Springfield. Becker was one of the few Illinois Republicans backing Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for President; Findley, who represents the Springfield area in Congress, also supports Rockefeller.

But the Bourbons who run the party back in Findley's district vetoed him, listing their Congressman no better than fourth choice for Becker's successor. Indeed, they made it clear Findley was in most bad graces at home.

Actually, the 47-year-old Findley, aggressive and suitably conservative for Illinois, was considered a rising light in the state party until a few months ago. It was then that he offended the sensibilities of party leaders by backing Rockefeller. "I just don't know what's gotten in Paul lately," one Bourbon told us.

Findley's treatment is one of many indications that the herd instinct, common among Republicans generally but particularly prevalent in Illinois, is coming into play again. Just as there was something down right indecent in not backing Barry Goldwater here in 1964, so is support for Nixon becoming a necessary credential of Illinois Republicanism.

Although the state's 58-member delegation will not be formally polled until a caucus in Miami Beach on the eve of the convention, it is today safely in Nixon's hands. Around 41 delegates are sure for Nixon, and only two — Negroes from Chicago's Southside —back Rockefeller. Most of the remaining 15, perhaps all of them, will wind up with Nixon.

The reason for this, oddly, is no great outpouring of affection for Nixon, whose political talents are privately deprecated by many party leaders here. Nor has there been an excess of finesse by Nixon's Illinois campaign manager, candy maker William Rentschler.

Rentschler has stepped on toes here with his Nixon campaign appointments. Richard Ogilvie, president of the Cook County (Chicago) Board, was deeply offended when Rentschler gave National Committeewoman Audrey Peak, a foe of Ogilvie's bid for the gubernatorial nomination, a key role in the Nixon campaign. Ogilvie won the nomination in the June 12 primary, and Mrs. Peak was purged as national committeewoman last week. Moreover, Rentschler scarcely hid his animosity to Ogilvie during the primary.

Rather than personal popularity or effective organization, the reason for Nixon's success can be found in the way Illinois Bourbons remember everything and learn nothing. They can neither forgive nor forget that Rockefeller did not back Goldwater in 1964. With Gov. Ronald Reagan's Presidential chances disappearing, they have now attached themselves to Nixon as the only legitimist candidate.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE PRESENCE

Some centuries ago there was a famous religious figure, Brother Lawrence, who made it a point to practice in his life every day the presence of God. He did not just think about God or dwell upon religious teachings. He tried to alert himself to the fact that God was actually in his presence and he in the presence of God. He found, as everyone else has found who has tried this and succeeded in alerting himself to this presence, that the result is peace, confidence and the heightening of one's aspirations.

The presence of God in the world is, of course, the greatest reality with which we deal. How absurd it is to feel that God made the world and then went away and left it to its own devices. We belive that God is still in his world and this means He is not in just some of it but in all of it. If we ask Who God is, we can only reply that He is the spiritual reality, endowed with personality and purpose. Who made the universe and presides over it and over its destiny. Our minds are too little to take in the whole concept of God. The Bible spells out for us what we can understand about fundamental religious truth. But after it is all spelled out it is still a mystery. Some things we may never understand fully — but what of that? We understand enough to get along. We know that the God Who made us still supports us. We can believe in the presence of God in the world and practice that presence.

Surtax Effects Still Uncertain

By ELMER ROESSNER

The biggest question facing business today is: "Now that the surtax has gone into effect, will interest rates drop:"

There is no sure answer.

When the surtax was pending in Congress the Federal Reserve warned that it would find it necessary to boost interest rates if the surtax was not voted. Heroic if painful steps, it implied, were necessary to put brakes on inflation.

But it did not promise that interest rates would be lowered if the surtax became a law.

Spending Cuts Now Sudden

The cut in government spending, which was tied into the surtax bill, will reduce employment and slow the economy a bit but it will be slow in taking effect. The application of the surtax to corporations will also reduce both their willingness and ability to expand. The effects here may be quicker, and this may reduce employment and, perhaps inflation, within a shorter time.

Under these circumstances, corporations will borrow less money for new plants and equipment and the government itself may be required to borrow less. This should relieve the demand for money and, even if the Federal Reserve does not reduce basic lending rates by lowering the rediscount rate private lenders may shave their rates.

ELMER ROESSNER

However, as pointed out here, consumers have the resources to increase spending, which could upset the expected slowdown in business.

Most banks believe that there are no interest cuts in sight.

The Bank of America declared: "It does not appear likely that interest rates will drop significantly in the near future, because credit demands are strong and inflation is still a major problem in our economy."

The long-term outlook is for interest rates to remain high by historical standards, it added although there will be fluctuations.

Higher Rates, Perhaps

The First National City Bank of New York said: "With larger revenues flowing from the surcharge and the Treasury doing less financing, the Federal Reserve could tighten up on monetary policy a bit more than would have been the case if the tax increase had not gone through."

From this, it may be concluded that the Fed was going to push up interest rates if the surtax had not been passed, and that it may push them because it was passed!

Other banks have taken similar views. Of course there may be some wishful thinking behind their conclusions, since banks make more money when interest rates are high.

One bank, however, seems to belive that interest rates may be shaved.

Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. has reduced the interest rate it pays on certain negotiable certificates of deposits. The bank reduced from 6½ per cent to 6 per cent the interest it pays on CDs due in 271 to 360 days. However, it left unchanged interest rates on other maturities.

High rates on CDs are not for little people. They are usually sold in amounts of $100,000 or more.

lik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks rushed to endorse it.

The statement said after the Communists took over in 1948, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of this wrong people."

"It would not have mattered so much that they did not have sufficient statesmanlike experience, practical knowledge or philsophical education, if they had at least possessed more common sense and decency," it said.

After World War II, it went on, the Communist party "possessed the great trust of the people" but "gradually exchanged this trust for offices until it had all offices and nothing else."

The party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for rule, calculating cowards and unprincipled people."

"Personal and collective honor declined. Honesty led nowhere, and it was useless to speak of any appreciation for ability. Therefore, most people lost interest in public affairs...

"We are all responsible for the present state of affairs. The greater responsibility rests with the Communists among us. The main responsibility, however, rests with those who were componenet parts or instruments of uncontrolled power."

The statement said that this year the Czechoslovaks have had great hopes in the process of democratization, but these hopes now are threatened.

"It took several months," it added, "for many of us to believe that we could speak out, and many still do not believe it. Nevertheless, we have spoken up, and so many things have been revealed that somehow we must complete our aim of humanizing this regime. Otherwise the revenge of the old forces would be cruel...

"Let us demand the resignation of people who have misused their power, who have harmed public property or who acted dishonestly or brutally. We must find ways and means to induce them to resign: for example, through public criticism, resolutions, demonstrations, demonstrative work brigades, collection drives for gifts to them when they withdraw, strikes and boycotts of their doors."

Commends Long Service To N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore had words of commendation Tuesday for 29 persons who have worked for the North Carolina Highway Commission 40 years and 11 who have served the commission for 45 years.

"The important work of state government has been advanced by the labor you have performed and by the dedication which has surrounded the conduct of your work with the North Carolina Highway Department," Moore said as he handed out framed certificates to the workers.

Ogilvie, a tough-minded pragmatist who seems the coming strongman of Illinois Republican politics, is no Bourbon. He wants to be elected governor and surely would back Rockefeller — or anyanybody else — if he felt it necessary to win, but Ogilvie's personal polls show Nixon and Rockefeller running about the same and each defeating Vice President Humphrey.

Accordingly, Ogilvie, though still technically uncommitted, is apt to take the course of least resistance and support Nixon. That general expectation in Illinois saved Ogilvie trouble during the primary campaing from the pro-Nixon Chicago Tribune," the powerful journal of Bourbonism.

lice station with all your identification and explain to them why you want a gun."

"Good, and then I can have it?"

"No, not yet. They will investigate you for three months. After that they will send their recommendation to the main police station, which will investigate why the local police station gave permission to let you have the gun. This will take three more months. If they agree, you can come back and buy the gun."

"Six months to buy one lousy gun?"

"That's for the gun. Buying ammunition requires another investigation."

"Do you know if we had red tape like that in America that almost nobody would be able to own a revolver?"

"That's why we don't sell too many ourselves," the dealer said. "Do you want to start filling out the papers?"

"No, I don't, and if the French had any sense they'd permit Americans to buy hand guns just by showing their passport. How else can we protect ourselves from waiters while we're traveling abroad?"

Program Helps Overcome Learning Difficulties

By DONNA DIXON
Reflector Staff Writer

A five-week program for children with unique learning difficulties is now being conducted at the Wahl-Coates School on the East Carolina University campus.

The program is being sponsored cooperatively by Pitt County Schools and East Carolina University. Financial aid is coming from a grant of $12,000 from the ESEA.

The children, who range from grades preschool to the eighth, are divided into separate groups —"readiness group, learning disability group and language development group." A total of 28 children are enrolled in the program.

Mrs. Betty Levey, director of the summer program, commented, "We are stressing communication for these exceptional children. We are working with them and trying to meet their needs."

Mrs. Levey, who is a part-time faculty member in the Department of Special Education at ECU, is also director and coordinator of Special Education in the Pitt County School system. Mrs. Levey usually teaches one course a quarter in the department at ECU.

The referrals for the children came through the Development Evaluation Clinic on the ECU campus. The DEC conducted a complete evaluation and study for each child. Consultants for the DEC recommended children for the program and advised the groups that they should be placed in.

"All the classes are small to provide individual attention for each child," commented Mrs. Levey.

Language Department Specialist Miss Doris Phillips of Greenville works with each child to develop him build his vocabulary and to develop sound and language skills.

"The majority of children that have articulation problems have other problems. It becomes necessary for me to get to the basic problem and solve it before I can help them with language problems. Often, I have to give visual and motor preception training."

Dr. Gilbert G. Ragland, director of the Special Education Department at ECU, is a consultant at DEC, which serves 28 counties. As director of the SE department, Dr. Ragland supervises the training of teachers who will teach exceptional children.

"The program demonstrates and illstrates to teachers how to teach and work with children with learning problems. Also, it assists the children in their own learning process," observed Dr. Ragland.

Instructors for the five-week program are Mrs. Lois Nunnally of Wilmington, who is working with the readiness group and is principal of the Washington Catlette School in Wilmington; Miss Doris Phillips of Greenville, Language Department Specialist and graduate student at the University of Tennessee; Miss Maxine Brown, Miss Evelyn Cochran, Miss Donna Ebert and Mrs. Jeannette Whitehurst, speech therapist.

All the instructors have completed or are enrolled in undergraduate or graduate work at ECU.

Parents' reactions to the program have all seemed to be very positive. Mrs. Levey quotes one parent as saying, "I have noticed such an improvement in my child. I wish the program could last all summer."

During the five-week program, graduate students and future teachers have observed the children and the methods of training being used.

According to Mrs. Levey, the instructors have been doing some field testing and trying out new methods and materials to see how they work with the children.

Last week a video-tape was made of the children and their instructors by the State Department of Public Instruction. The video-tape will be shown in November at the Special Education Conference in Charlotte.

SPEECH TRAINING . . . Miss Doris Phillips, Language Department Specialist for the five-week workshop at Wahl-Coates School, works with one of the children enrolled in the program to help her develop vocabulary, sound and language skills.

East did not provide his partner with full measure of cooperation in defending against South's three no trump contract, and the latter was allowed to walk off with the game prize.

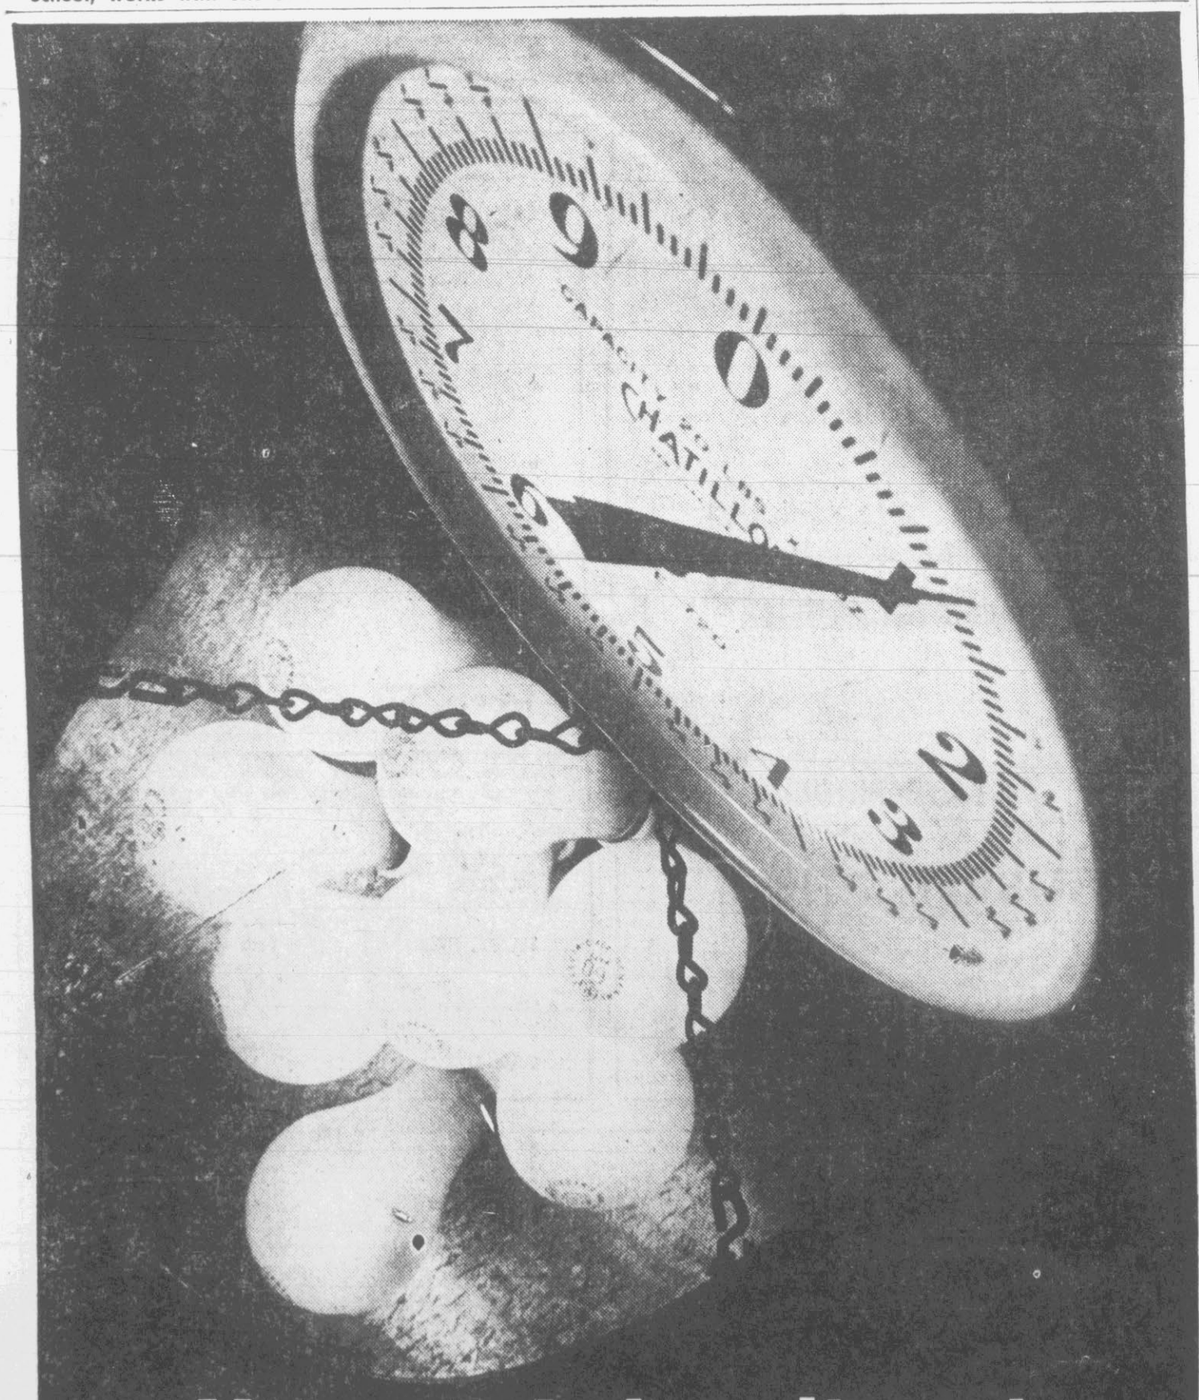

West opened the three of hearts and East put up the king which held the trick. The four of hearts was returned and declarer played the queen from his hand, losing to West's ace. He now cleared the suit and dummy was in with the jack as East discarded a small club.

The jack of diamonds was led and, when East covered with the king, he was permitted to hold the trick. The four of clubs was returned and South put up the ace. He cashed the ace of diamonds and, when the queen fell from West's hand, the contest was over. A small diamond put the dummy in to cash the balance of the suit as well as the high spades—making four no trump.

East had missed a golden opportunity to execute an unusual unblocking play which would have sent South down to defeat. When West led the third round of hearts, if East had discarded the king of diamonds, declarer would have been unable to run that suit without letting West in with the queen—enabling the latter to cash two more heart tricks.

Observe that East had nothing to lose by getting rid of his diamond honor, for if South has both the ace and queen then East's king is finessable. Since he can never hope to win a trick with that card, he might just as well get rid of it in the hope that it may serve to promote partner's holding.

How much does it cost to make a light bulb light?

The amount of electricity a light bulb (or any appliance) uses is very accurately measured by your electric meter.

You are charged only for the amount you use. Right now the average annual residential cost is 2.1c per kilowatt hour.

So let's figure how much it costs to light a 60 watt bulb for eight hours.

Multiply 60 (watts) by 8 (hours) and divide the answer by 1000 (to make watt hours kilowatt hours).

If you did it right you got .480. Now multiply .480 by .021 (2.1c). The answer is about a penny. One cent.

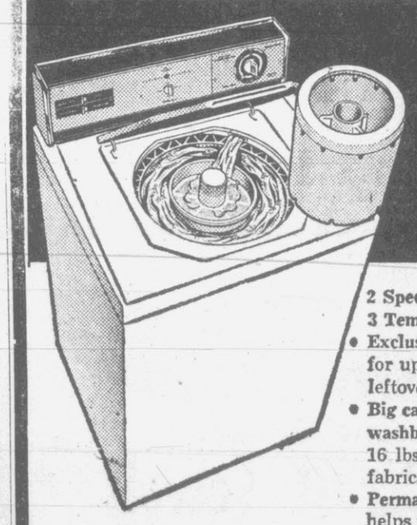

Using that same formula, here are some other things a penny's worth of electricity will do: toast 40 slices of bread, brew 20 cups of coffee, wash 14 pounds of clothes.

Wouldn't it be great if you got that much value for every penny you spend?

Many Blind Jobless, But Could Work

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While job programs are devised almost daily to correct economic inequities, a poor but eager group that seeks only an opportunity sometimes must feel out of tune with the times.

These are the nation's 425,000 legally blind citizens, only 11,000 of whom have regular jobs, many of them paying close to the minimum wage. Although many blind people cannot work, thousands can work but can't find jobs.

Those that are employed often work in factories especially designed for the blind. And though blind workers have proved their skills in exacting factory jobs, their livelihood often is based in dustcloths and brooms and such.

"If our shops closed tomorrow," said Robert Goodpasture, executive vice president of the National Industries for the Blind, "about 99 per cent of our workers would be unemployed."

The NIB, a nonprofit affiliation of 78 factories for the blind in 75 cities, attempts to upgrade the nature of blue collar work for the blind, research new products the blind might make, and coordinate buying and marketing of products.

If Goodpasture sounds a bit annoyed it might be because of the size of the job. "We need work," he said. "We have 5,000 jobs but we need 16,000 in five years." Eventually, he adds, "at least 25,000 should have blue collar employment."

Unfortunately, in most instances it must be the blind themselves who will provide the jobs, mainly through organization and expansion of their own factories, or through use of their professional skills or ownership of newsstands.

"Private enterprise is not absorbing blind people into their plants," said Goodpasture. "Industry and labor have not set up the machinery for acceptance of blind workers into manufacturing jobs."

As a result, almost all blind blue collar workers are employed in NIB factories, even though their skills are equal in many ways to sighted workers and their job safety records far exceed that of most other groups.

Output of these factories will perhaps surprise most people. In 1967 sales totaled $54 million, and the 5,000 workers earned $8,776,000 on an expenditure of six million manhours of labor.

Seldom, however, do blind blue collar workers graduate from their own special industries into jobs where they compete with sighted workers. An obvious disadvantage is that many of them are multiple handicapped, maybe deaf or emotionally disturbed, and so cannot compete.

However, a good many could obtain competitive jobs if given the chance. "It's not that our workers are not good enough; it is industry's lack of acceptance," Goodpasture claims. This may or may not be industry's fault.

For many years the NIB did not try to educate industry in the values of employing blind workers, leaving that instead to state directors of vocational rehabilitation, or DVRs as they sometimes are acronymed.

"Historically, our shops have not trained people with placeable skills," Goodpasture conceded. "We accept some of the responsibility for this, and now we are training them in operations that are usable in other industries."

Prerecorded Tape Sales Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers' sales of prerecorded tapes rose 74 per cent in 1967, to $106.1 million at retail list price value, a Record Industry Association of American study reveals.

The study includes manufacturers' sales of reel-to-reel as well as four and eight-track cartridge tapes. This year the association plans to add prerecorded cassettes to its tape sales study.

The largest increase was registered in sales of eight-track prerecorded tape cartridges. Volume in this category amounted to $59.6 million in 1967 compared with $23.8 million in 1966.

Dirty Bird Stole 20,000 Worms

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The early bird got the worms—20,000 of them to be exact—recently from a northwest Albuquerque residence, police reports showed.

The worms, raised as bait for fishermen, were taken from a worm bed behind the house of B. P. Gambrel.

'Hogan' Survives The Odds

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —"Hogan's Heroes" has faced—and apparently conquered—the problem of presenting on television a wartime comedy at a time when the nation is torn by war and antiwar feelings.

Not that the conquest is complete. The CBS series still draws occasional knocks from critics who claim that a prisoner of war camp run by Germans in World War II is not suitable for comedy.

But "Hogan's Heroes" has won the most important test in television: survival. It will be returning for a fourth season next fall.

Bob Crane, who is Hogan, has his own theories why the show has survived against long odds and the barbs of critics:

"I think if we tried to come on the air now, we wouldn't have a chance with 'Hogan's Heroes,' the times would be against it. Three years ago, the timing was just right. World War II — in fact, the Korean War, too — had been over long enough so people could laugh about some of the things that happened during the war.

"By now the characters are well established and accepted, and we have licked most of the criticism that a German prisoner of war camp is not a fit subject for comedy—assassinations, plane crashes and a few other matters that offer definite taboos.

"But nearly everything else can be treated in a comic manner. Oh, I've had people ask me, 'How can you make fun of a concentration camp? Think of all the Jews that were killed.' Well, ours isn't a concentration camp; It's a camp filled with soldiers who are prisoners. And their situations can be funny."

Another criticism has been the portrayal of the German captors. Crane's defense: "Schultz (the comedy character played by John Banner) is neither stupid nor a traitor. He simply says, 'I see nothing; I know nothing.' He is a type that appears to have been common in Nazi Germany.

"The camp commandant, played by Werner Klemperer, isn't stupid, either. He is an egomaniac, the kind of man who can be fooled when he is buttered up, which is what I do to him. But then we also need two or three regular bad guys to present the element of danger. These are the brutal, Nazi types who are our villains."

Crane believes that his own role is crucial to the believability of the series. Although he is a funnyman in other mediums, he plays Hogan fairly straight.

"He is a gung-ho type, almost like a John Wayne," the actor explained. "He can be flip in his relations with the camp commandant, but in most situations he is serious. When the heroes get too wild, he says, 'All right, knock it off!'

"I keep a close eye on the character, and if anything doesn't sound right in the script, I speak up about it. Series can be badly damaged when characterizations get out of hand."

Students Stage Opera In Italy

SIENE, Italy (AP) — The North Carolina School of Arts Tuesday presented its third performance in Italy this year, a one-act opera ', Keith Gates dealing with a time when there is no more love.

The U.S. composer's work, performed for the first time outside the United States, was directed by conductor Piero Bellugi of Florence, and featured a 75-piece orchestra comprised entirely of students from the Winston-Salem school.

Elizabeth City Edges Past Pitt County To Gain Second State Teener Loop Berth

Elizabeth City downed Pitt County, 3-1, yesterday to join Greenville in the Teener League State Tournament next week.

Greenville qualified for the tournament Monday by beating both Elizabeth City and Pitt County in the district tournament. The district's second berth was filled yesterday.

In addition, Elizabeth City and Greenville played an exhibition game last night, with Greenville outlasting Elizabeth City, 18-13.

The game that counted, yesterday afternoon, saw another pitching duel, with Gary Anderson and John Hewitt of Elizabeth City tieing up with Laverne Loftin of Pitt County. Anderson gave up four hits, while striking out two and walking two. Hewitt, in relief, gave up no hits, struck out two and walked one in just two innings.

Loftin allowed five hits, struck out eight, but walked seven.

After threatening in the first and second inning, Elizabeth City finally pushed over two runs in the fourth. Anderson walked and John Spence beat out a bunt for a single. Both advanced on a wild pitch, and scored when Chap Ward singled into left field.

Pitt County had also seen seven chances go by the boards, missing out on opportunities in the second, third and fourth innings.

But in the fifth, they came through with a run to cut the lead to 2-1. Simon Cox reached on a fielder's choice, and moved on to second when the ball was overthrown at first. He took third on a wild pitch and scored easily when Mike Griffin duobled into left.

But Elizabeth City closed up after that, halting the threat there, and snuffing out two more attempts to score in the last two innings.

Meanwhile, in the seventh, Elizabeth City added an insurance run. Gary Cartwright singled and stole second. Gill Lee attempted to sacrifice Cartwright to third, but the play was made there. The ball was overthrown, however, allowing Cartwright to come around to score the final run.

In last night's exhibition game, no holds were barred, as the two banged in 31 runs and got 18 hits.

Elizabeth City took the lead in the first inning. Gill Lee reached on a fielder's choice and took second on an error. A passed ball moved him to third and he scored when Mark Bright reached on an error.

Greenville came back with six runs in the second. Lewis Gidley singled and Byron Dickens was hit by a pitch. Jimmy Bond walked to load them up, and Bill Higgins sacrificed Gidley home. Stanley Cobb doubled in Dickens and Bond, and after Joe West walked, Russ Smith homered to drive in three more runs for a 6-1 edge.

In the third, seven more Greenville runs came across for a 13-1 margin. Kim Harbin singled and Gidley got a hit. Dickens walked and Bond reached on a fielder's choice, when an error allowed both Harbin and Gidley to score. Higgins walked to reload the sacks and a walk to Cobb forced in Dickens. West sacrificed Bond across, and a double by Smith scored Higgins and Cobb. Smith stole third and scored on an out by Jimmy Paige.

In the bottom of the third, Elizabeth City rallied to score nine runs and close the gap to 13-10. Gary Cartwright singled and Lee reached on a hit. Gage Williams was safe on a fielder's choice, scoring Cartwright. A balk brought Lee across and Ricky Lane walked. All hands were safe on an error on J. D. Sanders' grounder, and Bruce Jones singled in Williams and Lane. Sanders scored on a wild pitch and John Marshall walked. Cartwright singled in Jones and Lee homered to end the scoring.

Greenville came up with two more in the fourth, giving them what proved to be the winning runs. Dickens and Bond walked and Higgans singled. Derek Dunn walked to force in Dickens and Bond scored on West's sacrifice.

In the fifth, Greenville added another run to lead 16-10. Smith walked, moved to third when Paige was safe on an error, and scored when Harbin, attempting to sacrifice, reached on an error.

Elizabeth City added another run in the fifth with another homer by Lee.

The sixth saw the final two Greenville runs come across. John Conway reached on an error and West was safe on a fielder's choice. Both advanced on a passed ball, and a sacrifice by Smith brought Conway in. A wild pitch moved West to third and he scored on Paige's single.

Elizabeth City closed out the scoring in the seventh with two more runs. Bruce Jones walked and Marshall was safe on an error. Cartwright walked to load them up, and an out by Lee and a single by Chris Jones brought in the two runs.

Coke Nearing Ladies Title

Coca-Cola moved closer to clinching the Ladies Softball League title with a 15-11 victory over Food Mart last night. In other games, the Little Mint downed Wachovia, 14-2, while Pollard's beat Empire Brush, 27-7.

Coke leads the league with an 11-2 mark, and has two games left to play. The Little Mint is in second place at 9-3, with three games left, and is the only team that can catch Coke. Any combination of Coke wins and Little Mint losses totaling two would give the title to Coke.

The rest of the league shows Food Mart, 7-5, Pollard's, 5-6, Wachovia, 4-9, and Empire Brush, 1-12.

In the opening game last night, Empire Brush pushed over three runs in the top of the first, but Pollard's came back with three to tie it up in their half of the frame. In the third, Pollard's struck for five more to go into the lead, 8-3.

From there on out, Pollard's was in command. They scored three more in the fourth, and seven in the fifth before Empire Brush got back into the act, trailing by then, 18-3. Pollard's picked up five more in the sixth and three more in the seventh.

Wachovia took a brief 1-0 lead in the top of the third inning of the second game. But it lasted only until the Little Mint came to bat in their half of the inning.

The Little Mint came up with seven runs, enough to win. Three more crossed in the fourth, with two each in the fifth and sixth. Wachovia picked up, another in the fifth.

In the final game, it took eight innings before the result was known. Coke took a 3-0 lead in the top of the first, but Food Mart came back with two in the bottom of the frame. Two more in the third put Food Mart into a 4-3 lead, which held until the fifth.

In the fifth, Coke scored three more runs to lead 6-4, but again, it didn't last long, Food Mart came up with two more in its half of the fifth to tie it up.

In the sixth, Food Mart came up with four more runs for a 10-6 lead, but Coke came back with five in the seventh to lead, 11-10. Food Mart then tied it up to send the game into extra innings.

But Coke ca emup with four runs in the eighth to win it

Cards Roll Past Giants In 6-1 Win

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can't help getting the feeling that the St. Louis Cardinals are going to be chuckling all the way to the World Series over those persistent reports they're well overdue for a re-reversal of fortunes.

Masterful Lou Brock did just about everything but sweep out the joint Wednesday night as the Cards whipped San Francisco's slumping Giants 6-1.

And, to add a bit of sweetening, Nelson Briles picked up the victory on a three-hitter.

It was the sixth straight for the Cards, who've been beaten only once in 14 games this month.

Brock not only delivered three hits, two runs and two RBI, but also contributed three stolen bases as St. Louis held on to its 9½ game lead over Atlanta, a 6-2 conqueror of Houston.

Pittsburgh ended its 10-game losing streak by stopping the New York Mets 3-2, Chicago snapped Philadelphi's winning streak at seven, 4-3, with Glenn Beckert's 12th—inning double, and Ron Fairly's grand slam homer guided Los Angeles past Cincinnati 9-2 in other National League activity.

Brock picked a painful way to begin his string of heroics. He was hit by a pitch in the first inning, then stole second before eventually scoring on Mike Shannon's sacrifice fly.

In the second, Brock's two-run single broke a 1-1 tie. He then swiped second again and came in on Curt Flood's single.

Willie McCovey's 23rd homer produced the Giants' lone run.

Pittsburgh relied on Jerry May's two-out two-run double in the seventh to end its tailspin two losses short of the modern-era club record set in 1939.

May's decisive blow came after Donn Clendenon walked and Bill Mazerowski beat out a slow roller. The Mets, who lost their fifth straight, had taken a 2-1 lead in the fifth on Ron Swoboda's two-run single.

Fairly's grand slam—first by a Dodger in four years—enabled Los Angeles to break its five-game victory drought. It was the Reds' seventh loss in a row. Fairly also scored another run in the seventh on a sacrifice fly, and Tom Haller had a three-run homer.

Don Pavletich hit a solo blast for Cincinnati in the seventh.

Beckert had a chance to be a hero twice in the Cubs' triumph, and in the process extended his hiting streak to 21 games.

In addition to his winning blow in the 12th, he had a run-scoring single in a two-run sixth, after starter Chris Short had held the Cubs hitless for five innings.

However, the Phils sent it into extra innings with a pair of runs in the bottom of the ninth when Tony Taylor doubled and scored on an outfield error and Cookie Rojas singled in a tally.

Atlanta used Bob Johnson's tie-breaking single in the eighth, and Tito Francona's two-run single in a three-run ninth to upend Houston.

Nicklaus Hoping To End Bad Year

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, trying to retain his reputation as one of golf's best pressure players, heads into Thursday's start of the 1968 PGA tournament hoping to end almost a year of frustration.

Not since last fall has the blond king of the fairways won a tour title, but Nicklaus still ranks as the man to beat on the 7,095-yard Pecan Valley course.

Nicklaus' bid for victory in the last of the Big Four tournaments will be challenged by 167 touring pros and club professionals on the par 70 layout criss-crossed by Salado Creek.

Top contenders include Billy Casper, top money winner on the tour this year, and a band of brash youngsters led by San Antonio favorite Lee Trevino and confident Dave Stockton.

But defending champion Don January, a Texan who grew up in the sun-baked Southwest, said the heat and the shaggy rough around the narrow fairways will be the biggest challenges.

"The rough is tough, and the heat may be awful," said January, who failed to make the cut last week at the Milwaukee Open.

Temperatures in the 90s are likely throughout the tournament, which is a sharp change for Nicklaus. He played in the British Open in Scotland last week, with temperatures in the 50s.

Nicklaus, fighting an erratic driver all season, always has fared well in the four prestige tournaments, which also include the Masters and the PGA.

Except for 1964,, he won at least one of the Big Four every year since he turned pro, claiming the PGA crown in 1963.

The pro tour this year, however, has been dominated by Casper and the younger players, such as Trevino, Stockton, Bob Lunn and Tom Weiskopf. Trevino, El Paso, Tex., native whose Mexican ancestry makes him the sentimental favorite of San Antonio's Mexican-American fans, won the U.S. Open last month.

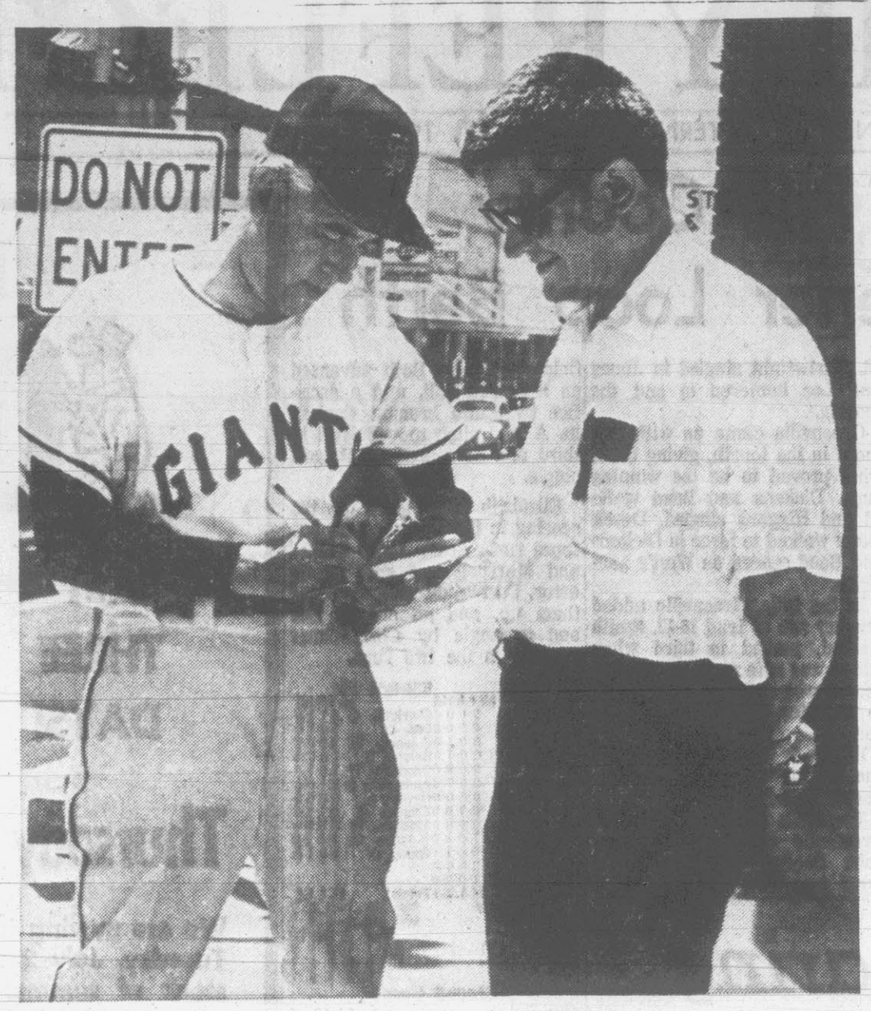

Lunn and Weiskopf each have won twice this year, and Stockton won the last two tournaments he played, collecting a $40,000 payoff in the Milwaukee Open Sunday.

Most of golf's big names are in the field, with the exception of South African Gary Player, last week's British Open champion, and Argentina's Roberto DeVicenzo.

Arnold Palmer, who has never won the PGA title and whose last triumph in a prestige tournament was at the 1964 Masters, has been in and out but will tee off Thursday. He appeared optimistic about his changes after a practice round Tuesday before he flew to Colorado to visit a boys' golf camp.

Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols, Dave Marr, Al Geiberger, Jerry Barber, Jay Hebert, Bob Rosburg, Dow Finsterwald, Lionel Hebert, Doug Ford and Sam Snead are among the former champions in the field.

Twin Pitchers Get The Word-Get In Good Shape

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Minnesota pitchers got the word to start running for their money Dean Chance wasn't caught standing still. And neither were the Twins' hitters.

Jolted by a pregame blast—directed at the pitching staff—by club president Calvin Griffith Tuesday night, the Twins erupted for six first inning runs and went on to crush Boston 12-3 behind Chance's six-hitters.

The victory—only the third for the Twins in their last 12 games—sent them from seventh to fifth place in the American League standings.

Detroit's Denny McLain breezed to his 18th victory, tops in the majors, as the front-running Tigers blanked Oakland 4-0, ending a three-game losing string and holding their 6½-game edge over second place Baltimore.

The red-hot Orioles topped the Chicago White Sox 4-2 for their seventh successive victory, Cleveland nipped California 2-1 in 10 innings and the New York Yankees swept a twi-night twin bill from Washington 4-0 and 4-3 in other AL action.

Griffith, conviced that an out-of-shape pitching staff was responsible for the Twins' recent tailspin into the second division, ordered more running for the hurlers after a rare on-the-field inspection visit before his club took on the Red Sox.

"Our pitchers have got to get their legs in better shape," Griffith said. "How many pitchers have we had go nine innings recently? I can't remember any for a long time."

Chance then went the route with ease, backed by an early inning barrage that sent three Boston pitchers scurrying for cover before Jim Lonborg finally stilled the Twins' bats. All 12 Minnesota runs were scored in the first foug innings against loser Gary Bell and relievers Bill Landis and Jerry Stephenson.

Tony Oliva's two-run triple and a two-run homer by John Roseboro were the big blows in the first inning burst. Oliva doubled home a run in the second and Rich Reese and Rick Renick contributed two-run singles in the third and fourth, respectively.

Chance allowed only four hits—including homers by Lonborg and Reggie Smith—until the ninth.

McLain scattered eight hits and struck out nine while running his unbeaten string to nine games—all full-route jobs. The Detroit ace, 18-2, did not permit an Oakland runner past second base.

Al Kaline slammed his fifth homer against loser Chuck Dobson, who was clipped for eight hits and all four Detroit runs in the 5 1-3 innings he lasted.

Andy Etchebarren's fifth homer sent the Orioles in front to stay at Chicago and right-hander Jim Hardin shackled the White Sox on six hits. The victory was No. 6 without a loss for Earl Weaver, Baltimore's new skipper. The loss was the White Sox' first in four starts under new pilot Al Lopez.

Rocky Colavito slammed a three-run homer in his first game as a Yankee, helping Steve Barber, who scattered 10 hits, subdue the Senators in the opener at New York. Joe Pepitone's two-run blast in the sixth inning of the nightcap erased a 3-2 deficit and gave reliever Fred Talbot his first victory after eight setbacks.

St. Louis trimmed San Francisco 6-1, Atlanta downed Houston 6-2, the Chicago Cubs shaded Philadelphia 4-3 in 12 innings, Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 3-2 and Los Angeles drubbed Cincinnati 9-2 in National League games.

Leaders Win In Church Loop

League-leading First Presbyterian and second place St. James Methodist picked up victories yesterday in the Church Softball League. Presbyterian edged Grace Free Will Baptist, 9-7, and St. James rolled to a 22-8 victory over Oakmont.

Presbyterian now posts a 12-1 record, while St. James is 12-2. Immanuel is 11-3, followed by Oakmont, 7-6. The rest of the league is out of the title race. Grace is 7-8, Meadowbrook, 6-8, Mt. Pleasant, 7-7, Pentecostal 1-9, Jarvis, 2-10, and Gum Swamp, 2-11.

In the first game, Presbyterian pushed over a run in the first inning, and Grace matched it in the bottom of the frame. Grace then moved into the lead in the second with three more runs, including a homer by Horne.

Presbyterian cut it to 4-2 with a homer in the third by Fuller, but two more Grace runs in the bottom of the third made it 6-2.

In the fourth, Grace pushed over another to lead 7-2.

Finally, in the sixth, Presbyterian came to life, scoring four more runs to close the gap to 7-6. Glidewell homered during the inning. The winning runs came over in the seventh, when three more runs scored.

In the second game, St. James scored two in the first, with Riddick homering. Oakmont came back with a run in the bottom of the first, but St. James countered with seven in the second for a 9-1 edge.

St. James went on to add seven more in the third, two in the fifth as Jackson homered, and two each in the sixth and seventh.

Oakmont added two in the fourth on Forvendall's homer, two in the sixth on a homer by Anderon, and two more in the eventh as Benton and Anderson, and two more in the seventh as Benton and Anderson both homered.

Sifford Sets Sights On Masters Golf Tournament

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "I'm gonna play in the Masters before I die," Charlie Sifford vowed today, chomping hard on a black cigar.

"I may just get the ticket here this week."

The elegant and exclusive Masters in the magnolia groves of the deep South represents the final challenge to this 45-year-old former Charlotte, N.C., caddie, who has been batting his black head against the white man's prejudices and superiority on the golf tour for more than 20 years.

"Most of the barriers are disappearing but there are still a couple of tournaments where I still have trouble," the Negro veteran said. "You know what they are — I don't need to name them."

Sifford left no doubt that one of them was the Masters where no black man has ever played.

Charlie tees off here Thursday as one of the 168 pros in the 50th Professional Golfers Association Championship. If he should win, it would be almost impossible for the Masters Green Coats to ignore him.

"I could also qualify by finishing in the top 15 in the Open," Sifford said.

"Are you sure the Masters would invite you?" someone asked.

"They'd better," Sifford snapped. "If they didn't, I'd be a rich man. I'd sue both them and the PGA for all they're worth."

Sifford said he had not yet been approached by any of the black activist or power groups pressing for boycotts among black athletes of various sports.

"I go a different route — I don't subscribe to all that stuff," he said. "I'm not mad at anybody. But if they come to me and show they can help me, I'll listen."

Sifford was the first Negro to crack the PGA tour on a regular basis. For years, however, he was barred in many southern cities and could play only part of the circuit.

While other golfers were supported by manufacturers, who provided equipment and even funds, Charlie went for years without a sponsor. He had to pay all his freight.

He won several non-tour events, such as the Puerto Rican Open, the Long Beach, Almaden and Garden Opens. He was Negro national champion five times.

Last year he won his first tour title — the Hartford Open — and the people there said he cried.

Sifford must still feel like shedding a bitter tear now and then.

Before coming here for the PGA he made a reservation in one of the contestants' hotels and got notice that he was confirmed at $12 a night

When Charlie checked into the hotel, one of San Antonio's better hostelries, the clerk informed him brusquely:

"Twenty-six dollars a night."

"I said to hell with it. I went to another place," Sifford said.

Pirates Sign Virginia Safety

Danny Copenhauer of Route 2, Box 107, Wytheville, Va., has signed an athletic grant in aid with East Carolina University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Lee Copenhauer of Wytheville.

The 6-0, 175-pound Lees-McRae Junior College transfer played safety for Coach George Litton.

"Copenhauer is an aggressive player, and he may be active as a tailback," Coach Harold Bullard of the East Carolina Pirates said.

Senior LL To Hold Tourney

Greenville will play host to the Senior Little League District Tournament here Thursday and Friday. The tournament will pick a representative for the state tournament to be held next week at Clemmons.

Thursday two games will be played, deciding the finalists. At 1 p.m., Shaw Air Force Base will meet Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. Then at 3:30 p.m., Morehead City will take on Warrenton.

The two winners will meet Friday at 2 p.m. All games will be played at Guy Smith Stadium.

Three Greenville businesses are helping to sponsor the event, State Bank and Trust Co., Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and Planters National Bank and Trust Co.

Dan H. Gordan of Greenville is the tournament director.

Park Agrees To Buy 3 Stations

ITHACA, N. Y. — Park Broadcasting, Ithaca, N. Y., has agreed to purchase radio stations WNAX-AM, Yankton, S. D. WEBC-AM, Duluth, Minnesota, and KRSI-AM-FM, St. Louis Park, a suburb of Minneapolis. The announcement that Park would buy all the stations owned by Areawide Communications was made jointly today by Roy H. Park, President of Park Broadcasting, and B. C Gamble, Chairman of the Board of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., Minneapolis.

The transaction is subject to approval by the Federal Communications Commission and involves the transfer to Park of all the stations owned by Areawide Communications, a subsidiary of Red Owl Stores, Inc., which was recently purchased by Gamble-Skogmo. The purchase price was not revealed.

Other Park Broadcasting stations are: WNCT-TV-AM-FM, Greenville, N.C.; WDEF-TV-AM-FM, Chattanooga and WJHL-TV, Johnson City, both Tennessee; and WTVR-AM-FM, Richmond, Va. All four television stations are VHF affiliates of CBS, and each was the pioneer station in its market.

Noted Geologist Keynotes Study

Dr. Byron N. Cooper, head of the Department of Geological Sciences at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, served as keynote speaker for the National Science Foundation-sponsored geology institute which began at East Carolina University Monday, July 15.

The institute has assembled 40 teachers of earth science from across the United States to spend six weeks in intensive study of geology in the ECU Geology Department.

Dr. C. Q. Brown, director of the institute, said Dr. Cooper is recognized as a leading authority on Appalachian geology by virtue of the "significant scientic contributions to the geological literature over the past two decades."

Among Dr. Cooper's distinctions is his selection as the "Distinguished Lecturer" for a tour sponsored annually by the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Rep. Jones Will Protest Closing 2 Post Offices

First District Rep. Walter B. Joesn announced yesterday that he would oppose the closing of two First District post offcies under the recent tax-bill provisions that requires all government agencie to reduce expenditures.

The two facilities, in Waves (Dare County) and Aydlett (Currituck County) will close about July 27, the date when post office Saturday changes will begin.

Jones issuing a statement in Washington said that he would protest the move to Postmaster General Marvin Watson, asking reconsideration of the post office's economy action.

Jones added, however, "The protest will be difficult to defend in view of the cost of operation involved." The Aydlett office required an expenditure of $3,842 last year while only bringing in a revenue of $900 for the same period. Waves had an expenditure of $4,841 and a revenue of $1,300.

Jones assured the patronage of the two post offices that the closing would not affect mail service in the area. Post office functions will now be channeled through star routes, rural route extensions, contract rural stations and, in some cases, nonpersonel stations.

Local office cutbacks in accordance with the government spending cut have also been announced. Beginning July 27, window service at both the main branch and ECU substation will be curtailed.

The Saturday window service will be limited to general delivery for two hours. All other services will be closed. Home delivery will continue as usual unless post office officials receive further notice.

Since there is no general delivery at the ECU substation, the window there will be closed all day Saturday.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named an 18-member committee to define the federal government's responsibility for family planning programs, and estimate costs of a five-year program of research, training and services.

Johnson named Secretary of Welfare Wilbur J. Cohen chairman of the new committee Tuesday and asked for a report on findings in two months. He listed two of the objectives as defining the federal role in:

—Research and training in population control, including development of new contraceptives, and in supporting research and training in private institutions.

—Helping families gain access to birth control information and services. Officials estimated at least five million American women do not now have such information.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn has called Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., an "old fogey" who criticizes the corps without understanding it.

Passman had criticized the view at a closed congressional hearing last month [illegible] — Peace Corps volunteers, paid by the government, have the right to publicly disagree with U.S. foreign policy particularly on Vietnam.

Vaughn replied in a televised interview Tuesday that a corpsman does not volunteer to serve foreign policy.

A special study has confirmed what any adult American already knew: the mail brings a lot of bills. The President's Commission on Postal Reorganization study found 40 per cent of the mail involves transactions—bills, payments, statements, money orders, purchase orders and questions about orders.

Sgt. Maj. George W. Dunaway, a decorated veteran of World War II and two tours in Vietnam, has been named the new sergeant major of the Army. Dunaway, born in Richmond, Va., will advise Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, on enlisted man matters.

The nation's industrial output rose in June to 164.4 per cent of the 1957-59 base period for its second straight monthly record, the Federal Reserve Board reports. Increases were recorded in production of autos, some household goods, defense equipment and steel but production of aluminum and business equipment was down.

Award Contract For Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department Tuesday awarded Ernest W. Miller of Greensboro, N. C., a contract to construct a $498,900 post office building at Chapel Hill.

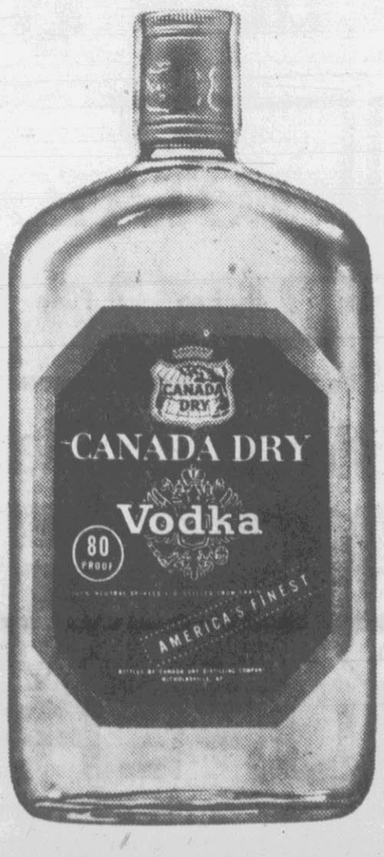

Miller will lease the building to the government for $38,658 a year for a basic 20-year term, plus renewal options.

what kind of coffeemaker do you use?

It really doesn't matter.
Any coffeemaker can give you a good cup of coffee,
providing you use a fine fresh coffee
that is ground exactly right for your coffeemaker.

We've always known that the correct grind is important to coffee flavor.
That's why, years ago, we developed Custom-Grinding.
That's why we don't have just one or two grinds
but seven different grinds... to fit any coffeemaker, including electric percolators, of course,
(Ask for medium-fine grind for electrics).

Custom-Grinding means a little extra work for us
and a little extra time for you.
(It takes 15 seconds to grind a pound).
But what a difference in flavor those few seconds make.

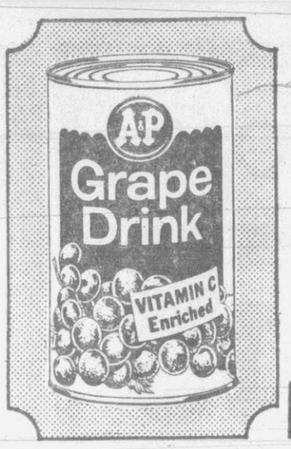

You know, there's only one reason we insist on selling custom-ground bean coffees... WE CARE.

Street Corner Hiring Still A Custom In South

By FRANK MURRAY
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Fa. (AP) — Across the South thousands of poor men heave themselves out of beds six days a week at daybreak and pull on dusty boots and old clothes for another siege under the sun waiting to "catch the breaks"—a job for a day and some cash to take home.

Most cities have their corners. Some have many.

Some of the men who gather on the corners are dirt shovel laborers. Others know a little about plastering or painting or carpentry.

But knowledge of a trade means little when the first car pulls up. The driver, the husky foreman of a construction company, holds up three fingers.

The first three workmen to his car pile inside without questions. They know this man pays $1.65 hourly and takes a few men each morning from the corner beside a railroad track in Hollywood's industrial section.

Each time a car or truck slows, the men crowd to the curb. They elbow each other and shout, "I'm your man, boss!" and "Over here, boss!"

Roosevelt Burdine Jr., 26, a big man wearing a blue uniform marked with the name of a trucking company, is near the front.

"You want to work?" a driver asks Burdine.

"Doing what?"

"Spreading sand, $1.25 an hour."

"I can't go for that," Burdine replies, turning away.

Another man steps forward and dickers for $1.40 an hour. He slips into the car, carrying his lunch in a brown sack.

This is corner breaking, an informal outdoor hiring hall where laborers—without exception, Negro laborers—hustle and bid against each other for temporary jobs. Top pay goes to about $2 an hour, with no Social Security or unemployment compensation.

Rain or shine in most cities of the South, the men cluster on their familiar corner. In Atlanta the corner is the triangular traffic divider at Decatur and Ivey streets just three blocks from downtown.

In Orlando, Fla. it's the parking lot of an outdoor restaurant where the men buy cold drinks to battle the sun. Miami has many corners, but the one on Northwest 17th Street has become popular since an elevated expressway was built, making it the only one in town with shade and shelter from rain.

Many of the corner men insist they want permanent jobs. Many of the businessmen who hire them insist they would prefer full-time employes.

Among whites who think about the situation and talk about it, the most common tack is the one taken by the Jacksonville Police lieutenant who said, "They just want a few hours work and their pay in cash. They don't want a record made of the money so they can still get welfare."

But a Florida Board of Welfare spokesman disagreed. He said welfare is paid only to persons in four categories—none of which seems to apply to the men on the corners.

Welfare is available in Florida only to the aged, the blind, dependent children and the permanently disabled.

"Because we're colored they figure we're a bunch of bums," says Burdine. "They figure you just want to work two hours to drink wine. A lot of fellows here don't even drink; they're church fellas."

Burdine, a father of two fired from his truck driving job after an accident, reports he made as much as $150 in one six-day week of catching jobs on this corner in Hollywood. But Burdine says, and other men agree, most days are spent just waiting.

"You might as well stay here as lay around the house," according to Nathan Green. "There's nothing to do there but eat up the little bit of food you got."

The men grumble that full-time jobs are not available because they are Negroes, that they are forced into taking what they get—a statement disputed by the local state employment office.

Frank Sampson, manager of the Hollywood office of the Florida State Employment Service, said some of the men probably could qualify for full-time laborer or trainee jobs now open. But Sampson said many of the men were reluctant even afraid, to apply for work through a government office.

"If you got money to pay for food and rent, then you're happy even if there's nary a cent left," Burdine explains. "But if you can't do that you're disgusted. If you can't earn money, you get it some other way. But I ain't planning to take.

"I never have stole," Burdine added. "If I need food for my kids I'll ask a grocer for it, but if I don't get it then I'll have to take it. You have to eat."

British Paper Says Reasoned Rebuttal Was Due Dr. Spock

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some claims put forth by Dr. Benjamin Spock and his anti-Vietnam war confederates are patently absurd, says an influential British newspaper, but they should have been rebutted by reasoned argument—not prosecution.

Commenting on the American baby doctor's recent conviction and two-year prison sentence for conspiring to counsel young men to evade the draft, Britain's nationally circulated Guardian adds:

"The trial becomes in microcosm a trial of the war itself. The verdict in the Boston court after many months had gone against the defendants. But a larger trial on the issue is taking place in the presidential campaign. So far the verdict has been going against the war—and it has helped bring about President Johnson's own decision to leave office."

And what of the American political scene between now and election day 1968?

West Germany's Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung sees Democratic Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and former Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the likely presidential contenders.

But, it cautions: "There is nothing to be sure of in this election campaign at present . . . The death of Robert Kennedy has produced new insecurities . . . Since the murder the air has become more cloudy, the prospects more veiled. Displeasure and indecisiveness have spread over the pre-election scene."

Over-all, it concludes, "The probability has increased that this year the tide is turning for the Republicans."

If American politics seem complicated to some foreign observers, the American character appears remarkably simple to others.

Prof. Yuji Aida of Japan's Kyoto University writes in the popular weekly magazine Yomiuri after a 40-day tour of the United States: "Almost all Americans I saw were all very simple and naive, possessing 'crystal' spirits and philosophy. This is true not only with their personality but with their social structure and human relations, which are just as simple, clear and naive.

"The word 'simple' may create some misunderstanding, so I will call them 'precise.' But this is a watch-like precision, not complication. In America, there's no complication in social structure and human relations. And this respect makes the greatest difference between the United States and Japan . . ."

There are almost as many people living in Tokyo, the largest city in the world, as there are living on the whole Australian continent.

Five From Pitt At Senior Camp

Five Pitt County 4-H'ers attended the Senior Teen 4-H Camp at the Betsy-Jeff Penn Center, Reidsville, during the week of July 8-13.

The local members included: Susan and Faye Manning, Red Oak Club; Sally McRorie, Red Oak; Linda Shearin, Thrivers Club; and Sharon Thompson, St. John's Club.

Miss Susan Manning and Miss Sally McRorie were named superior campers for the week. Miss Manning also received a swimming award and completed the Senior Life Saving course.

During the week, the 4-H'ers participated in swmiming, handicrafts, wildlife, recreation leadership, water skiing, horsemanship, teenage decisions, riflery, archery, spin casting and flower arrangement. Awards were given to outstanding 4-H'ers in the various events.

Miss Linda Humphrey, assistant home economics extension agent, also attended the camp.

The weight of the sun is about 330,000 times the weight of the earth.

To The Citizens Of Eastern North Carolina

The Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO) is attempting for the fourth time within the past six years to unionize certain employees of Carolina Telephone. Unsuccessful attempts were made among Plant Department and Traffic Department employees in 1962 and Plant Department employees in 1966. These employees rejected union affiliation by a substantial majority. Another election will be held on Friday, July 26.

There has been no labor union among the employees of Carolina Telephone since it was founded in 1900. Today, wages and working conditions are better than ever before.

Wages and fringe benefits compare favorably with those found in communities served by the company. Salaries and wages paid by Carolina Telephone in 1967 totaled more than $17,800,000. In addition, an upward adjustment in December, 1967, will amount to about $750,000 annually. In 1962, salaries and wages came to nearly $10,000,000. The value of fringe benefits voluntarily provided by the company approximates 30 percent of the productive payroll. These fringe benefits include such things as the employee pension plan, sickness and death benefit payments, hospital insurance, group insurance, vacations, coffee breaks, paid holidays, and premium payments for night, Sunday, and holiday work.

Employees are provided all necessary tools and work equipment. Offices are designed to be comfortable, as well as functional. Emphasis is placed on safety through continuing training and safe working conditions.

Personnel policies are in keeping with modern trends and are reviewed frequently to assure that employees are treated fairly.

Residents of eastern North Carolina who are served by Carolina Telephone have never experienced interruption of telephone service because of labor difficulties within the company.

It has never been necessary for employees to enlist the aid of a third party to protect their rights or to represent them in their dealings with management.

The management of Carolina Telephone feels that a labor union among the employees of the company is unnecessary and undesirable. The company is opposed to this Union and has advised the employees of its belief that if the Union were voted into the company that it would not work to their benefit.

North Carolina Always Target Of Hurricanes

By Christopher Crittenden

State Department of Archives and History

Written for The AP

The hurricane season is here again. Since the dawn of history North Carolina has been pounded by terrific storms.

A publication of the U.S. Weather Bureau, listing all hurricanes of which record could be found, includes no less than 148 from 1586 through 1962. As the authors state, "There was surely many storms. . .of which we found no record."

Even in the 1580's Roanoke Island was being buffeted by severe storms. When Sir Francis Drake arrived offshore in June, 1586, "There arose a great storm (which they said was extraordinary and very strange) and last three days together, and put our fleet in great danger." And again in August, 1587, "There arose such a tempest at northeast that our Admiral (Drake), then riding out of the harbor, was forced to cut his cables and put to sea, where he lay beating off and on six days before he could come to us again."

In 1667 two hurricanes struck the Outer Banks. No less than 12 days of rain were reported in connection with the second.

In 1769, while Tryon Palace was under construction. Gov. Tryon reported the "calamities arising from the extreme violence" of a storm at New Bern. The tide was said to have risen 12 feet higher than ever before. and one entire street was swept away with some of the inhabitants. But Tryon Palace seems to have been unharmed.

In 1846 a hurricane was so violent that it opened both Hatteras and Oregon Inlets.

In 1879 at Hatteras the anenometer cups were blown away when registering winds 138 miles per hour, and the wind was estimated to have reached 168 mph.

Worst of all was Hurricane Hazel, October 15, 1954, "the most destructive storm in the history of North Carolina." By that time hurricanes were given girls' names.

Hazel's storm center entered the North Carolina coast near the South Carolina border and moved northward east of Whiteville and Clinton and West of Goldsboro and Wilson, crossing the Virginia line in or near Warren County.

The waterfront in the lower Cape Fear area was "practically annihilated. Grass - covered dunes some 10 to 20 feet high along and behind which beach homes had been built in a continuous line simply disappeared, dunes, houses, and all. Of th 357 buildings which existed on Beach Beach, 352 were totally destroyed and the other five damaged." Nineteen were known dead in North Carolina and some 200 injured.

Honorary Title Is A Year Late

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — In May 1957, when Edwin L. Mechem was governor of New Mexico, he mailed a honorary colonel's commission from Santa Fe to J. R. L. Kilgore of Albuquerque.

The piece of mail was delivered to Kilgore in April 1968, eleven years after it had been mailed.

"A man from the Post Office told me 'it must have been lost in a crack," Kilgore said.

Hydrogen and helium make up about 95 per cent of the sun.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

Tough Questions Are Confronted In Transplants

CHICAGO (AP) — Difficult moral questions relating to heart transplants may have to be decided by persons other than the physicians, according to a professor of psychiatry and of law at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Andrew S. Watson, in an American Medical Association report, said that select committees, broadly representative of legal, economic, political and religious organizations, may be needed in the future to decide ethical standards.

"We are faced with a myriad of perplexing questons that will have to be answered," said Dr. Watson. "The prospect of more clinical transplant trials by surgical teams calls for defining the physician's role.

"Who gets the transplanted organ? Whom do you let die, whom do you let live? This latter question is critical. Can we leave it up to the doctors to decide?"

The United States and Britain and Canada are the only countries that fatten beef cattle with grain feeds and by-product feeds such as beet pulp, hay and silage.

The Worry Clinic

Early Psychic Trauma Worsens With Years

Tom's wife is terrified lest her husband get a divorce, yet she is driving him toward that dire result by her slavery to a childhood emotional experience. Scrapbook this case, for millions of unhappy people are simply such slaves to early emotional scars that they can't logically solve their problems.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-526: Tom B., aged 38, is the husband of Freda, who has become a female miser.

"Dr. Crane," Tom began. "Freda literally screams and throws a tantrum if she learns I contribute to the Red Cross or Boys Scouts or the church or YMCA.

"Yet she knows I make a salary of $25,000 per year, so we certainly are not in danger of going on public relief!

"She is a beautiful woman, too, and with a very high I.Q., yet she seems stupidly short-sighted in her behavior.

"For she is also insanely jealous of every woman I meet, yet her very jealousy is making my love for her grow sour.

"How can a person with a high I. Q. be so dumb in social relations?"

Freda suffered severe psychic trauma at the age of 3 years.

Up to that time she had been the queen of her household.

Then the arrival of a baby brother, without any warning to Freda, caused her parents to push her aside.

Freda felt rejected. And jealous of the brother who had usurped her throne.

This emotional scar has left such an indelible imprint on her emotional outlook, that her high I. Q. is by - passed.

Thus, the psychic trauma (injury) at the age of 3 years has beclouded her outlook on people.

So she is constantly in terror lest her husband also cast her aside, as her parents did when she was a toddler.

That's why she is abnormally jealous of every woman who might wean Tom's affections away from her.

And men, as well as women, often grow miserly when they feel insecure in their love life.

Many a wife will thus tearfully cite the fact that her middle-aged husband grows so miserly that he hangs on to the purse strings with a strangle hold, only doling out dimes and quarters under pressure.

For people subconsciously recognize that money means power.

"I am slipping in my erotic appeal to my wife," such a panicky male will confess, "so I shall try to hold her in financial slavery to me."

Conversely, men who are generous with their love making are seldom stingy with money.

Misers with affection are thus very likely to be misers with money!

Alas, emotional scars may be very difficult to erase by sound logic.

For example, a deep - seated phobia of lightning or of death or of high places or of cats or blood or dozens of other items, may go way back into childhood, and be so potent that it requires a long reeducational process in the emotions.

It is well to explain the onset and the cause of such emotional scars, but even after you are helped to remember how your phobia started, you still have the lengthy task of re-training your emotions.

Tomorrow I shall give you the striking case of a wife who was a slave to a forgotten remark by a neighbor woman.

So send for my booklet "How to Control the Emotions," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

For childhood fears may enslave an intelligent brain and even cause divorce, suicide or business failure!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Playing Down Import Of Honolulu Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials appear intent on playing down the significance of this weekend's Vietnam summit in Honolulu, referring to it as just a "review session."

Advance indications are that the session between President Johnson and South Vietnam's chief executive, Nguyen Van Thieu, will be no more momentous than their four previous get togethers.

The Vietnamese, however, have provided an occasional suprise and no one is ruling out the possibility they could do it again this time.

"There is no particular urgent political or military reason that required a meeting at this time," said one official.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said it will be a rather routine affair consistent with the established rythm—his word—of a Johnson meeting with Saigon leaders approximately every six months.

Although the White House has not released the President's schedule, indications are Johnson will fly to Hawaii from his Texas ranch sometime Thursday. He is to meet in Honolulu with Secretar of Defense Clark M. Clifford, returning from a Vietnam tour, before seeing T ieu, probably this weekend. Johnson is expected to fly to the ranch today.

In the past, the Vietnamese have precipitated the unexpected often enough at such conferences to be disconcerting to their Washington allies.

In March 1967, for example, Johnson was upstaged at the Guam conference because of ree-wheeling public statements by Thieu, then the No. 2 man in the Saigon government, and Nguyen Cao Ky, prime minister at the time.

In similar fashion, the same pair grabbed headlines from Johnson at their very first meeting in Honolulu in February 1966.

Whether the Saigon officials refrain from grasping for the limelight would seem to be just about the only element of uncertainty this time.

American officials said Johnson and Thieu probably will spend much of their time in Honolulu in private talks, saying exactly what is on their minds.

Professing to guess at the topics likely to be discussed, the officials listed potential subjects of conversation in the following order:

—The militar situation, with emphasis on probable enemy intentions and capabilities vs. allied plans to counter whatever develops.

—Modernization of the South Vietnamese armed forces, and efforts to place more men under arms.

—Progress in the development of the new constitutional government.

—A review of Paris talks between the U.S. and North Vietnam, with emphasis on possible future negotiating moves and discussion on contingency planning should the conferences produce a breakthrough.

New Bern City Manager Quits

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — Edgar A. Welch, city manager at New Bern for almost eight years, resigned Tuesday night to accept a similar post at Eden, in Rockingham County.

Welch said he would take the job at Eden—a consolidation of the cities of Leaksville, Spray and Draper—on Aug. 19. He will be the new city's first manager.

Welch's resignation here is effective Aug. 16. He has held the New Bern post for seven years and 11 months.

Advertising Tax Liens August 12

WINTERVILLE — The advertisement of tax liens for 1967 taxes will begin on August 12, according to Town Clerk Elwood Nobles.

The date of the tax lien sale has been set for September 9, Nobles added.

Precedents Are Given By Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas said today he was surprised by comments that services he has performed for President Johnson since going on the court were unprecedented.

"That is just not true," he told the Senate Judiciary Committee at the second day of his appearance on his nomination to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Fortas said that from the days of President George Washington on through to Harry S. Truman, chief executives have called on members of the Supreme Court in whom they had confidence for help.

As he began his testimony on this point, in response to a question from Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., newsmen were handed a three-page statement citing illustrations of instances in which presidents have turned to Supreme Court justices for advice.

The document was entitled "Memorandum for Justice Abe Fortas" and was timed at 8:45 a.m. today. There was no indication of who had prepared it.

Fortas made use of it after saying that "to my surprise" he had heard comments after his testimony Tuesday that his response to calls from President Johnson for help in a few matters of a critical nature since he became an associate justice in 1965 was unprecedented.

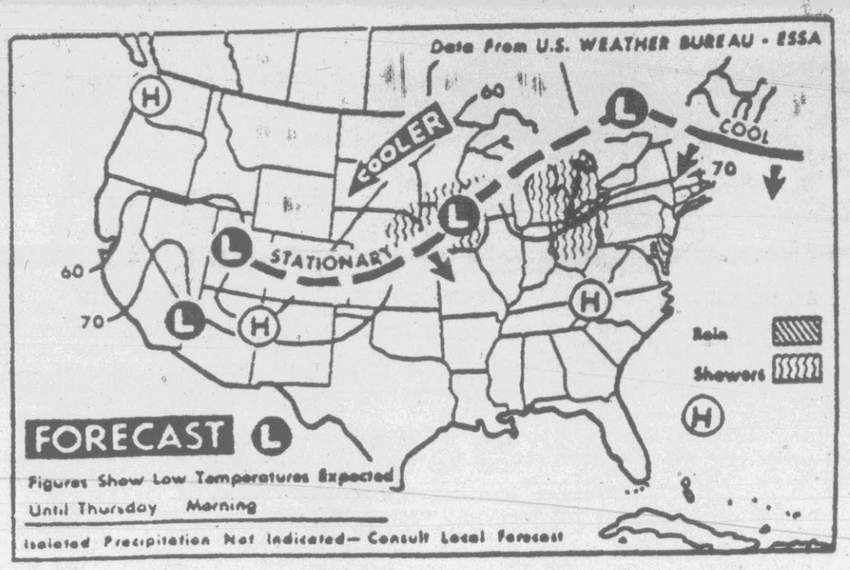

Fortas said that other members of the court have been called on to perform services for a president, adding that President Washington from time to time had asked advice of Chief Justice John Jay.

Capital City's Tourism Hurting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital—its tourist loss dramatized by the closing of the historic Willard Hotel—is readying a countrywide advertising campaign to try to draw visitors back.

Hotel occupancy figures indicate tourism fell off a full fifth from the year before right after the April racial riots, although it has improved since, and the crowds at theaters, monuments and cafeterias remain noticeably smaller.

The campaign to recruit tourists is sponsored by the Washington Hotel Association and the Convention and Visitors Bureau which estimates a $40 million loss from April and May hotel room cancellations alone.

"We're going to have to hit John Doe Tourist over the head," said hotel association president Hudson Moses, "to show him he was mislead by accounts of the aftermath of what happened in the spring."

That was a reference to the April riots after which room occupancy in the 42 association-member hotels dropped 19.5 per cent in April and 20.2 per cent in May from the corresponding months last year.

North Vietnam Identifies Trio To Be Released

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam informed the United States at the Paris peace talks today of the names of three captured American airmen who are to be released shortly. The decision to release them had been announced two weeks ago.

The U.S. delegation gave the names as follows:

Maj. James Frederick Low, 43, captured Dec. 16, 1967.

Maj. Fre Neale Thompson, 32, captured last March 20.

Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, captured last Feb. 15

Coup In Iraq

BEIRUT, Leanon (AP)—A bloodless military coup in Iraq has ousted the regime of President Abdel Rahman Aref and expelled him from the country, Baghdad Radio announced today.

A "Revolutionary Command Council" took over all executive and legislative powers. Its membership was not announced immediately, but there was speculation it is led by the Baath Socialist party, which rules Syria.

Minges Coliseum One Of 15 Structures Honored

East Carolina University's Minges Coliseum was one of 15 prize-winning structures in the ninth annual Architectural Awards of Excellence competition sponsored by the American Institute of Steel Construction.

Other winners in the competition included two banks, a learning center, an expressway oasis, a residence and an enclosed elevated concourse and an experimental building, as well as several industrial research facilities.

Included in the list are a manufacturing and research facility for Teledyne Systems Company, Northridge, California; Ford Automotive Safety Center, Dearborn, Michigan; Los Angeles Federal Savings and Loan, Los Angeles; Syntex Interim Facilities, Palo Alto, California; The Alcoa Building, San Francisco; the Lindheimer Astronomical Research Center, Evanston, Illinois; and the Bank of Houston, Houston, Texas.

Architects for the Minges sports facility, F. Carter Williams, of Raleigh, will be presented a stainless steel plaque on which a picture of the Coliseum will be etched.

Certificates will be awarded to the structural engineer, general contractor, structural steel fabricator and to the university. A plaque for mounting in the Coliseum will also be provided.

General contractor for the more than $2.5 million project was Dickerson, Inc. of Monroe. The structural engineers were Kahn and Furbush of Raleigh, while the steel fabricator was Peden Steel Company of Raleigh.

Construction on the 109,000 square feet building (more than 2½ acres of floor space) was begun in September, 1965 and the building was dedicated January 27, 1968.

The steel truss roof system was assembled on the ground and jacked into position with 32 hydraulic jacks. The roof system weighs in excess of 450 tons.

To Discontinue New Bern Buses

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — The City Transit Co., which has operated New Bern's city bus system since January, 1947, informed the board of aldermen Tuesday night that it will discontinue service Aug. 1.

The company, a subsidiary of Seashore Transportation Co., said it had been steadily losing money on city bus service and no longer could carry the burden.

The action will leave the city without transportation for children who attend city schools. Pupils living outside the city are provided transportation by Craven County.

Etah, Greenland, is the northernmost town in the world.

Further Segregation Seen In Next 17 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — America will become increasingly segregated by race over the next 17 years, says a study released today by President Johnson's National Commission on Urban Probelms.

The study finds that between now and 1985, nonwhites will become more concentrated in cities and whites will continue moving into suburban areas.

"The projections vividly portray the geographic fulfillment of the fears expressed by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders—that the American society is becoming an apartheid society," said the study's authors.

Nonwhite population within cities of 50,000 or more are projected to increase from 50 to 58 per cent; white population will decline from 30 to 21 per cent.

Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, chairman of the commission, said in a forward to the report that the findings are projections—not predictions. But he said they underscore the "alarming prospect" that "our people may be increasingly segregated. This should be read not as prophecy but as warning."

The report says the shifting of population undoubtedly will mean more cities will have nonwhite majorities by 1985. Of the largest cities the only onesw ith nonwhite majorities now are Washington, D.C., and Newark, N.J.

Authors of the report are Patricia Leavey Hodge, research associate at the University of Chicago's Population Research Center and Philip M. Houser, director of the center.

Approve Signing Contract For Two Projects

WINTERVILLE—At a special business meeting last week the Winterville Board of Aldermen authorized Mayor Walter Dail to sign a contract with Brooks Service Company in Kinston for the installation of a chain-link fence at the Winterville Cemetery and the lift station on Forbes Avenue.

According to board members, the fence will be installed only on a section at the front of the cemetery.

The site of the lift station will be enclosed with chain-link metail fence.

Total cost of the two projects is $2,426.

Board members also ordered the sale of an old Winterville Rescue Squad truck and approved a salary increase for all town employees.

Honor Retiring Postmaster

FOUNTAIN — Fountain Postmaster Mrs. Thelma B. Yelverton, who will retire July 31, was honored here Saturday by local residents with a dinner party. R. D. Jefferson, rural carrier, presented her with a Certificate of Meritorious Service on behalf of the Post Office Department.

A gift from the First District Postmasters, a silver Paul Revere bowl, was presented by Billy Tarkington of Manteo.

Mrs. Yelverton had served as a career substitute clerk in the Fountain Post Office for 20 years and for the past four years has been Postmaster.

Local citizens credit her with being instrumental in obtaining renovations for the Post Office building, including new screen line equipment, central heating and air conditioning.

A silver footed casserole was presented to Mrs. Yelverton by the host and hostesses for the dinner party.

Beatles' Cartoon Movie Pleases

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles, lately a sleeper on the pop scene, shot back to the front today with a cartoon movie that left critics generally happy and sometimes raving.

It's called "Yellow Submarine," after a Beatle song of two years back.
