McCarthy Brings Appeal For Support To Raleigh

RALEIGH (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy bid today for the support of the North Carolina delegation to the Democratic National Convention and said later the delegation leader, Gov. Dan Moore, "gave me nice treatment and hospitality and that's about all I expected."

his speech by Gov. Moore. The Minnesota senator was applauded after the speech for a little more than a minute but he got all the way to the back of the room before anyone rose to shake hands.

The presidential contender lost no time in acknowledging that he faces a tough task with the delegation, which heavily favors Vice President Hubert Humphrey. "Don't feel that the fact that you haven't influenced any delegates has had an adverse bearing on the campaign elsewhere," McCarthy told his audience in a brief airport speech.

Fewer Visits, Bigger Quotas By Bloodmobile

The Tidewater Regional Bloodmobile will make 12 visits to Pitt County during the new fiscal year, which began July 1. The number of visits is four less than last year's.

on the volunteer workers, nurses, and doctors. Also, we should be able to put a more concentrated effort on each visit this year.

Back To The Drawing Board

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP) — Robert Thacker has been blessed by six girls but no boys. Number six came Tuesday—Jane Elizabeth Thacker works at the Daily American Republic and on Wednesday he ran this two-column ad:

The schedule for the year is: Wednesday, July 24, Fellowship Hall of St. James Methodist Church; Tuesday, September 17, Moose Lodge; Monday, October 14, Farmville; Wednesday and Thursday, October 23-24, East Carolina University; Wednesday, December 4, Bethel; Thursday, December 5, Dupont Plant; Wednesday and Thursday, January 29-30, Moose Lodge; Wednesday, March 19, Ayden; Thursday, March 20, Moose Lodge; Tuesday, May 20, Moose Lodge.

House Lost In One Of Three Fires Reported Over County

Three fires with a total property loss of $5,850 occurred in Pitt County Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. The tenant house, occupied by Willie Ray Shirley on the Sam Bunting farm located on Highway 43, three miles west of Greenville, was a total loss.

in the field working at the time of the fire. Value of the dwelling is estimated at $3,090 and personal belongings of the Shirley family at $500.

September. A tobacco barn on the Davenport Farms in the Yankee Hill Section of Paoctolus was a total loss in a fire reported at 4:16 p.m. Wednesday. The Paoctolus Fire Department answered the alarm. Estimated loss is $2,000. Damage amounting to $350.00 to a farm truck occurred Wednesday afternoon. The Grifton Fire Department sent fire fighting equipment out at 3:38 p.m. to the Donnie Waters farm on Highway 118 east of Grifton.

Unanimous Vote By Warehouse Ass'n August 20 Tentatively Set For Opening Eastern Marts

By RONALD GOLLOBIN, Reflector Staff Writer. August 20 was set as the tentative opening date for the Eastern Belt tobacco market by the Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association here this morning.

Spencer Edmundson of Rocky Mount made the motion to set the date, stating that an announced date, even if tentative, would put pressure on buyers not to purchase so much Georgia tobacco. It would also encourage farmers in other areas not to hold back tobacco, as is commonly done in Georgia.

Lawrence Wallace, president of the Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association, said, "The topsy-turvy schedules of opening dates leaves the East where we are usually left—behind the proverbial eight-ball." Wallace continued to say that with the late Georgia opening date on July 31, buyers could be in North Carolina by August 20.

W. M. Cobb of Rocky Mount said that the maturity of the crop must be considered in setting an opening date. "We're trying to set an opening date just to keep a lot of tobacco from going to Georgia. When the farmer is ready to sell, he is going to sell, whether the market is four miles or 400 miles from home."

Cobb pointed out that the total amount of the suit if divided among warehouse men would amount to $150,000 for each warehouse. In other business, Wallace recommended that the Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association remain as part of the 36 member marketing committee and also retain membership with the Bright Belt Warehouse Association, which withdrew from the committee this week. This was approved.

Looting, Fire Bombing; Guardsmen Called In Akron Council Declares State Of Emergency

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Akron City Council declared a state of emergency today in the wake of sporadic incidents of looting, window breaking and fire bombing in a predominately Negro section.

Order was restored by daylight but patrols continued to watch the area. Mayor John S. Ballard said National Guard troops would be held over tonight. The state of emergency prohibits sale of firearms, deadly weapons, ammunition, dynamite and other incendiary devices and equipment.

Penalty for violating the curfew is a $100 fine, 30 days in jail, or both. The Akron Detective Bureau said carloads of older youths had moved around the Wooster Avenue area inciting younger boys who were standing on the street corners.

Police arrested 25 juveniles and 15 adults, mostly for malicious destruction of property. The disturbances were confined to a five to six-square block area near downtown Akron. Windows were broken in 15 stores. There were reports of some looting.

for National Guardsmen. Gov. James A. Rhodes activated 700 troops, members of the 1st Battalion, 145th Infantry, headquartered in Akron. Ballard said he called for the National Guard because "our assessment of the situation was the need to sweep the scene before this escalates any more."

Czechs Warn Against Stalinist Restoration

By PETER REHAK. PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leadership, promised the support of Yugoslavia, Romania and Western Europe's biggest Communist parties, defied Moscow's orthodox world today. It warned that an attempt to restore the old Stalinist life would face "the resistance of the overwhelming majority" of the nation.

This stance was the Czechoslovak party presidium's reply to tough demands from the Soviet Union and four East bloc governments in its orbit that Prague return, in effect, to regimented party life and a closed society.

slav President Tito, who has taken his country along an independent course since he broke with Stalin in 1948, and Romanian Communist leader Nicolae Ceausescu, who has been increasingly defiant of Kremlin control.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy churned ahead at a near record inflationary pace during the second quarter of this year but has begun showing signs of an orderly cooling off, the Commerce Department reported today.

this has been corrected by the recent tax increase. He looks for slower growth in the third and fourth quarters of this year and foresees a resumption of more normal economic growth next year.

N. Vietnam Releases 3 Americans

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam released three captured American fliers today to an American antiwar committee in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese radio reported. The Americans are expected to leave for Vietnam, the Laotian capital, Friday night.

A statement rejected the hard-liners' contention that the Communist system is in danger here and said there is nothing "counterrevolutionary" about the liberal course that has followed the overthrow of Antonin Novotny, the discredited president and party chief.

With the Soviet Union and four apprehensive allies demanding that the new leaders of the Czechoslovak Communist party reverse their liberal course, leaders of two other Communist nations and of the French Communist party were reported coming to Prague to show support for the new reform leadership.

The department said the gross national product jumped by $19.6 billion at an annual rate during the quarter to $850.8 billion. This was the second highest dollar advance in history and was down only slightly from the record $20.2 billion increase during the first three months of this year.

Chartener said the second quarter produces a substantial slowdown in consumer spending, a slight decrease in business spending for plant and equipment, a deliberate attempt to increase business inventories and a slight increase in residential construction.

Plan Recruiting In Poverty Areas

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The Army plans to take its recruiting program into low income Negro and white areas of Charlotte with recruiters operating at neighborhood centers.

The Hanoi broadcast called it "a very significant action taken when the U.S. government is intensifying its criminal war of aggression against the Vietnamese people."

A letter from the conference told the Czechoslovak leadership it no longer was a matter for Czechoslovakia alone when "alien forces lead your country off the path of socialism... and expose Czechoslovakia to the danger of being led astray from the Socialist community."

William H. Chartener, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, said inflation amounted to 4 per cent over the past year. He said there were no important imbalances in the economy during the second quarter except for the federal budget and for a leveling in federal spending for defense following military pay increases which went into effect this month.

Traffic Toll

RALEIGH (AP) — The Motor Vehicle Department's report of highway deaths and injuries for the 24 hours ending at midnight Wednesday: Killed—6; Injured (rural)—36; Killed this year—933; Killed to date last year—845; Injured to June 1, 1968—20,729; Injured to June 1, 1967—20,395.

Fish Still Dying In Cape Fear River

RALEIGH (AP) — A scientist for the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission said today fish are still dying in the Northeast Cape Fear River in eastern North Carolina, nearly a week after pollution of the river was discovered.

Thousands of dead fish were discovered Saturday in the Northeast Cape Fear and in Rockfish Creek near Wallace, which feeds into the Northeast Cape Fear. The toxic is believed to have been placed in the Rockfish Creek and washed into the river.

Cornell said personnel from the Wildlife Resources Commission and the North Carolina Department of Water and Air Resources are sorting the fish as to type, size, number and weight. He said it will be at least a week before estimates of the amount killed can be made.

Report Rhodesia To Be Republic

SALISBURY Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith's ruling Rhodesian Front has announced plans to make Rhodesia a republic, severing the country's remaining links with the British crown, so as to perpetuate white rule.

Nihon Dempa said the airmen were delivered today by the North Vietnam People's Army at 8 a.m. to Mrs. Anne Scheer, wife of Ramparts magazine editor Robert Scheer, Vernon Grizzard, an antidraft organizer in the Boston area, and Stewart Meacham, peace secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization.

After this is done, the pollution department's Stream Sanitation Commission will seek to determine what caused the kill, and possibly make a claim against the individual or company at fault.

Police identified the drivers of the cars involved in the 3:30 p.m. crash as Roy Andrew Rumbley Sr., 41 of 120 North Eastern St., Barbara Jean Brown, of 1307 North Overlook Dr., and Donald Morgan Smith, 23 of Route 2, Lagrange.

Damage was estimated to be $150 to the Rumbley car, $450 to the Brown vehicle and $500 to the Smith car. Mrs. Brown was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of the collision.

Area Debutantes For 1968

Miss Jenkins Enjoys Children

MISS SUZANNE JENKINS

As a member of a family of six, one could guess that the "love of children" of Debutante Suzanne Nancy Jenkins would come natural.

Miss Jenkins, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins, is the oldest girl and the third of six children in her family.

"I enjoy working with children," she commented. "With six children in my family, and three of them younger, I have certainly experienced a lot with children."

"In trying to choose a school, I finally decided on ECU. It has a good education department. At first, I didn't want to attend ECU because it's in my hometown. Now, that I'm here, I'm glad I stayed."

Miss Jenkins lived at home this year, but plans to stay in the Chi Omega sorority house for the '68-'69 ECU term.

"I feel I can meet more people staying at the sorority house. When you're living at home, you can't get close to the girls like you can when you're staying in the dorm."

Miss Jenkins says she prefers a co-education school over an all-girls' school. A rising sophomore, she is a primary education major.

In discussing her hobbies, Miss Jenkins said, "I love all outdoor sports — boat sailing, swimming — all are lots of fun. I enjoy cooking but basketball is my favorite sport."

After attending summer school for the first session, Miss Jenkins plans to spend the rest of her summer working at a local downtown store, visiting her friends, traveling and attending parties.

The blonde coed also has plans to model this summer.

"Modeling is lots of fun. You meet all kinds of people and this I enjoy. People really are surprised to walk in a store and see a girl in a long sweed coat when it's 99 degrees outside."

Expressing an interest in drama, Miss Jenkins observed, "Drama fascinates me. I usually attend all the plays at ECU Summer Theatre. My best friend is a drama major and I guess this has influenced my love of drama."

As a freshman at ECU, she was invited to participate in the Summer Leadership Development program at ECU, sponsored by the Richardson Foundation. She was a freshman cheerleader, a member of the Young Democrats Club and a member of the Chi Omega Sorority. She will be an alternate cheerleader for the coming year.

Chief marshal for Miss Jenkins when she makes her formal bow into society in September will be her father, Dr. Leo Jenkins. Assisting marshals will be her brother, Jeff Jenkins, a junior at the University of North Carolina and James Bard Bost of Charlotte.

Couple, Kids Living Together, But She Will Not Marry Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY Remember me? I wrote to you 6 years ago, and here I am again. I should have taken your advice because things aren't any better. I am still living with the same woman I wrote you about. I think the world of her, but her kids keep me upset all the time.

I built this beautiful home for them, and it is always a mess. Her kids are now 17, 15, and 13 and they're all lazy as peccoons. They have no respect for their mother, and she won't let me handle them.

I would marry her tomorrow, but she is very independent and likes things the way they are. (The kids think we're married.) What is wrong with her, anyway? It's usually the woman who begs for marriage, but in this case, it's me. So what is your advice?

LIVING IN SIN

DEAR LIVING: Lots of things could be "wrong" with her, but don't waste too much time trying to figure them out. You can't force a woman to marry you, and from your description of her and her brood you could be lucky. Ask a lawyer what your legal obligations are to this woman and her children. A man in your situation ought to know where he stands.

DEAR ABBY: I taught school and didn't marry until I was 33. Andrew was 37 and had never been married before, either. He lived with his mother, but said we would have a place of our own when we married. We did, but in less than a year his mother got "lonesome" and moved in with us.

Our house is small, but it did have two bedrooms, so I fixed one up for Mother B. with a new TV which she rarely turns on. She comes to our bedroom and sits on our bed (even when we are IN it) and watches whatever we're watching. After we turn out our light she sits on a chair in our bedroom and reads with a flashlight. And she doesn't leave until she thinks we are both asleep.

There is no lock on our bedroom door. Mother B. has four other children. They never ask her to their homes, but they run in to say "hi" to her on their way somewhere. Her health is good and she could afford to live alone.

I am at the breaking point, Abby. I have considered asking Andrew to make a choice be-between his mother and me, but I'm afraid he'd choose her. I can't take this much longer. What should I do?

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Have a long talk with Andrew. Explain your need for privacy, and ask him to convey it to his mother. Insist on a lock for your bedroom door. If Andrew refuses, then face it, he has already made his choice.

DEAR ABBY: I was amazed to read that letter from the girl whose boy friend supposedly didn't know how to kiss. All I can say is — I should be so lucky.

More than once I've had to push my dates away in disgust because of their aggressive "bedroom" kisses. There is a time and place for everything.

Bridge Club

GRIFTON — Mrs. H.P. Quinerly was hostess to members of her contract bridge club Thursday night at her home.

The house was decorated throughout with garden flowers. Games were played at three tables with Mrs. Thurman Williams and Mrs. J. L. Quinerly, highest scorers. Other players included Miss Hazel Patrick, Miss Bertha Johnson, Mrs. Robert Mewborn, Mrs. J. W. Short, Mrs. Dewey Wall, Mrs. W. I. Bissette, Mrs. J. L. Tucker, Mrs. J. S. Chapman, Mrs. Alton Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

GRIFTON — Mrs. Woodrow Smith entertained members of her bridge club at a dessert bridge Thursday night.

Garden flowers were used in decorating throughout the house. Mrs. Walter Patrick and Mrs. Roger Johnson were winners at bridge. Other players included Mrs. G. L. Tucker, Mrs. Sam Nelson, Mrs. Ben G. Tucker, Mrs. Roy Jackson, Mrs. Joe Edwards and Miss Ethlyn Koon.

Jay-C Ettes Offer Their Support

The Greenville Jay-C-Ettes voted recently to support the Greenville Jaycees in their annual project, the Boys Home Bowl Game, to be held August 3 at Ficklen Stadium.

The Jay-C-Ettes plan to aid the Jaycees this year by selling advance tickets and by assisting the cheerleaders for both the North and South teams in any way possible.

In 1960, the North Carolina Jaycees decided to become a part of Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw and built a cottage to house 16 boys. In seeking a way to settle the debt incurred, the Jaycees began sponsoring in the Boys Home Bowl Game annually.

In other business, the Jay-C-Ettes voted to send two crippled children to camp for a week this summer.

Volunteers for the Crippled Children's Clinic this month are Jo Ann Bell and Adell Prescott. Sheila Latta was recognized as a visitor and Barbara Smith was welcomed as a new member.

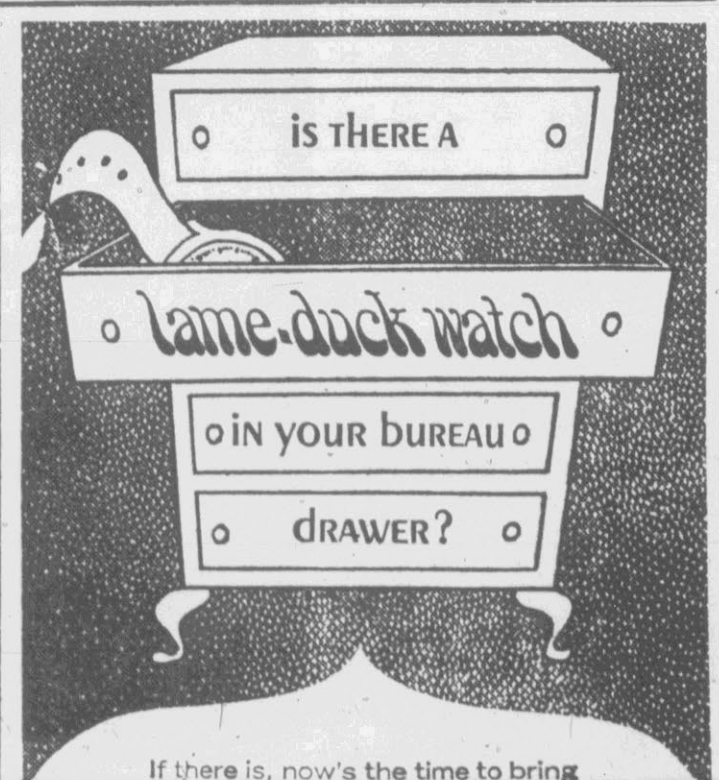

Stains in grout, the material between ceramic tiles, usually can be removed with a detergent. Pour out enough detergent to cover the stain. Let it stand several minutes and wipe clean.

Reserve a plastic mesh shopping bag for children's sand toys. Wet sand on the toys dries quickly, and shakes through the mesh onto the beach while the bag is carried to the car.

Their Mother Was Reluctant Party-Giver

FRANKFURT, Germany (WNS) — Widow Frieda Reichert, 52, always led her three children to believe that quite by chance they had the same birthdate, June 10. Now that the last of the three has reached maturity and left home, she has confessed that the story is not true. "It was so much easier and cheaper to have one birthday party a year instead of three," she explained. The three Reichert brothers are not upset; they have decided to keep the June 10th birthdates "so that we have an excuse for an annual reunion."

Land Acquisition A Wise Priority

East Carolina University has acted wisely in giving top priority to the acquisition of land in the vicinity of the main campus.

It is already obvious that the 100 acre campus between Fifth and Tenth Street is at its capacity, so far as new construction is concerned. In fact, in some cases new buildings are nudging one another to the point where they are not displayed to best architectural advantage.

Thus if adjacent acreage is not obtained, building in the instructional area and the women's dormitory section will have to cease. This would mean that new buildings would have to go on the land west of Charles Street and north of Greenville Boulevard. Obviously this would be an almost impossible situation for undergraduate instruction.

University authorities estimate they can obtain 31.7 acres of well situated land at a cost of $1,450,000. When we consider that some buildings to be constructed on this land will cost $3 millions and more each, then it is apparent this land cost is not exorbitant. Indeed, the figure may be too conservative.

East Carolina University has a great need for the classroom, dormitory and other facilities which were laid before the Advisory Budget Commission. However, the acquisition of this carefully chosen land is essential if the building projects are to be carried out. We hope the Advisory Budget Commission will look favorably on this high priority matter.

Some Good May Come In Bitter Medicine

This is the week people begin to feel the pinch of the new ten per cent tax surcharge in their paychecks. It is the week withholding goes to a higher figure and take-home pay comes down accordingly.

There are going to be a good many Americans who look at their new paychecks and wonder if the higher tax is really worth what proponents have declared it to be. The purpose of the additional tax on individual and corporate income is to help stem the tide of inflation, take some of the steam out of the economy, reduce federal deficit spending by adding more dollars in revenue to off-set the dollars being spent. It is to be accompanied by a reduction in federal spending as well.

It is a fairly complicated process which in all probability leaves most taxpayers shaking their heads and wondering whether the tax increase will really help them personally in the long run more than it hurts by reducing the take-home pay in the immediate future.

For many people this new tax surcharge is like the proverbial bad tasting medicine from childhood days. One has to take on faith reassurance of the experts who say the medicine may taste bad for a short time, but in the long run it will help cure the ailment.

If the income tax surcharge helps cure the nation's inflationary spiral it will prove a small inconvenience for taxpayers who are threatened with their buying power being reduced considerably more through inflation than by the surtax.

Vacation Time Has Its Bores

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season to stuff cotton in your ears as soon as you get to work.

It is vacation time. To the average American, going on a vacation is only half the fun. The other half consists in lying about it after he get back home.

These vacation tales usually follow a pattern: they are larger than life. If the fellow enjoyed himself, there has been no revelry like it since Nero fiddled while Rome burned. If it rained, there has been no downpour to match it since the one that floated Noah's Ark.

Take the cotton wadding out of your ears for the next few weeks, and you'll probably hear from the following familiar vacation types in your own office:

Hank, the Hero — "So I took one of these two drowning old ladies under each arm and swam half a mile against a rip tide to get them to shore. The beach was lined with cheering people." The truth is that Hank went wading and panicked when a wave went over his head. The two old ladies came out, punched him in the nose, then dragged him to safety.

Romantic Rosalind — "The third night out there was a full moon, and as we were sitting alone on deck, he silently slipped this diamond ring on my finger," she says. Actually, her aunt gave Rosalind the diamond on her 19th birthday, and Rosalind had it remounted a week before she left on the cruise.

Gives Swimming Party
Winterville, July 18—Mrs. Chas. McLawhorn and daughters, Myrtle, Mary Ida, and Leckie, entertained a few friends at a delightful swimming party and picnic supper last Thursday at Public Landing, honoring Mrs. J. V. Jenkins and Fimelle Sutton of Georgia, house guests of Mrs. D. T. McLawhorn. The guests arrived about five o'clock and enjoyed a delightful swim after which a delicious supper was served.

Entertains At Bridge
On Monday afternoon at her home on West Fourth Street, Miss Mary Elizabeth Ferguson delightedly entertained three tables of bridge. . . Attractive beads went to Miss Mary James Lipcomb for high score. Low score prize, a fan, was won by Miss Pearl Lautares. Miss Elizabeth Skinner assisted the hostess in serving delicious iced chocolate and sandwiches.

Strength For Today

PRINTING

Gutenberg can probably be put down as the inventor of printing. He was a pioneer. And a copy of the Bible found in recent years was recognized as a product of Gutenberg's skill. Prior to printing, each Bible had to be painstakingly hand-copied by scribes—a slow process and a costly one. Books were rare a few centuries ago. One of England's monarchs boasted of his wonderful library, consisting of three books. The Bible today has been printed in more than thirteen hundred languages and dialects and the American Bible Society alone in the past hundred and fifty years has distributed nine hundred million copies of Scripture.

printing centuries earlier than Gutenberg.

To be able to live in a country where all sorts of printed matter—except what the Supreme Court has called hard-core obscenity—can be widely distributed is a blessing that few of us fully appreciate. For one thing, if we did not have printing presses we would not have freedom. A free press and a free government go hand in hand. Some people think that radio and television will ultimately put the book market out of business, but this is hardly likely. People still want to read. Granting that there is considerable trash produced in book form today it must also be affirmed that some of the finest books of all time are being produced right now.

Much of Gutenberg's life was spent in exile. The Chinese had developed a form of

An Unlikely Candidate

It is an instructive, entertaining, and depressing exercise, to spend a few uninterrupted hours reading the campaign speeches of Eugene McCarthy. The Senator from Minnesota probably is pursuing a lost cause, in questing after the Democratic nomination, but seldom has a lost cause been pursued with finer rhetoric and wit.

You have to look back to Adlai Stevenson to find a candidate like him. Prior to Stevenson, the cupboard is bare. Minnesota's Man from La Mancha, a Catholic intellectual and a professor of sociology, was a most unlikely candidate when he entered the lists in November. Nine months later, he seems more improbable still.

McCarthy made an impromptu talk at the Waldorf-Astoria last month. His train of thought led him to remark on something he had read—that the United States is the first leading nation in the world to look upon its military posture largely in defensive terms.

"Most other great nations have looked upon their role as a positive one; and when they were militaristic, as though they had some offensive mission to fulfill. In our case, even our military department is called the Defense Department. The danger of the defensive approach is that there is no limit to what one needs to protect himself. It is Kafka-like. It is the burrow: If you listen carefully, you can always hear the scratching sound."

Now, that is high octane stuff. One tries to picture Humphrey quoting Kafka—or Nixon quoting Kafka, or Rocky, or Romney, or the Hon. George Wallace. The picture will not come. The late Senator Kennedy used to try his hand at quoting Camus, but it lacked the bell-like ring. McCarthy dips into Camus as casually as a man eating popcorn. He draws upon Chesterton, Eliot, Allen Tate, C. S. Lewis, Cicero, Toynbee and Mr. Dooley. Such references run throughout his spontaneous speeches; they leave no ghost-writer's spoor behind. They spring full-blown from McCarthy's own capacious skull. Politicians are not supposed to say these things.

He loves to spoof the Defense Department. Some one asked him in Cleveland what he would do, if he were President, to reduce military appropriations: "I would go to the Pentagon. And if they would not let me in, I would try to get diplomatic representation, to see if we could negotiate some kind of settlement."

At Chicago two weeks ago, he took after Party Chairman John Bailey, and fell easily into some metaphors drawn from the Roman church:

"John Bailey said last year that the convention was over. He said they had already renominated a President, and had also approved a program. I said if we allowed that to go, I supposed in 1972 they would just send up white smoke from the White House, and this would be a new order in American politics. I might point out to you that almost everything the Church tried to give up at the Vatican Council has been picked up by the Defense Department, with some help in the State Department: a little bit of infallibility, a Grace of Office, and the idea of the Holy War. The suppression of heretics is under consideration. They have even begun to speak some Latin in the Defense Department—a very bad sign."

Such unconventional observations, as Hamlet once remarked, are not likely to please the millions; they are caviar to the general. And from the conservative view, there is this further defect, that McCarthy's high-gloss, literary points over some dangerously wrong-headed notions.

Thus McCarthy has moved from de-escalation and an unconditional halt in the bombing to what amounts to outright surrender in Vietnam. He professes to be a champion of liberalism, yet he supports labor policies that are the antithesis of freedom. His long suit is economics, but the idea of economy in spending is unknown to him. In the eyes of American conservatives, this poet-politician is dead wrong on every major issue. But golly, how we wish he were on our side!

Other Editors Say Who Needs Protection?

(The Raleigh Times)

Do Americans really have to have guns to protect themselves from some sinister foreign group? Or from some criminals?

Or, is the question really one of whether Americans should have a law protecting them from guns they seem to have bought to protect themselves from something.

Last week, a baby was shot in the face in a North Carolina community by a pistol presumably in the hands of his 3-year-old brother. At least the two little children were the only human beings in the room with the pistol at the time it was fired.

Yesterday, a 3-year-old boy got a pistol out of his mother's pocketbook in their car in Durham and killed himself. He didn't mean to kill himself, but he is dead today. The news story didn't say why the mother was carrying the pistol in the purse.

Today, the Associated Press reported that 199 people were shot to death last week. Of that number, 115 were homicides, 65 suicides and 19 by accidents. Some of the homicides were committed during the commission of crimes, but some weren't. For example, a housewife in Florida was shot and killed during an argument with her husband. She didn't want him to bring a rifle into the house. And, the 19 deaths by accidental shooting require no explanation. The 65 persons who committed suicide may have found other ways to kill themselves, but if guns hadn't been handy, some of those people might not have sought out the other means.

Maybe we do need some laws to protect us from the guns we now buy so freely to protect ourselves from something, whatever that something may be.

Tricky Dollar Tactics

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — You don't hear much today about the New Economics, for in baseball, politics or economics you don't praise the coaches when they aren't winning. And there have been no real big winning streaks this year.

Still, some of the same spirit and confidence and sense of balance that made the New Economists appear to be such winners during the balanced boom of a few years ago will be needed during the next 12 months.

During this time our economic leaders will be trying to cool things, but not to the degree of provoking a freeze. Their thermostats, so to speak, must be very sensitive, as were those of the New Economists.

The New Economists in their heyday advocated "fine tuning" to keep the economy constantly at a near maximum pitch, through use of short-term restraints such as temporary taxes, and spurs, such as lower taxes or more spending.

In a way, they viewed the economy as a pretty balloon to be kept firm and fat. If the balloon looked a bit tired they blew in enough air to make the wrinkles disappear. If needed, they could leak a little air from time to time.

For a while the New Economists seemed to keep the balloon firm, neither too taut nor too slack. And to this day you will not find a dyed-in-the-wool New Economist who will admit that failure was in their methods. They are more inclined to blame the politicians.

These politicians, it seems, became fascinated with the big bright balloon, saw in it a symbol of perfection and sought to make it more nearly perfect. They pumped in so much air that it appeared swollen and quite vulnerable to a pin.

So now, just as it was important to inflate to the proper pressure, it is necessary to let the air out at the correct speed and for the right length of time. It is a delicate job.

In most ways the present assignment is more ticklish than was that of the New Economists. The dollar must be protected for the sake of international monetary stability; joblessness must not be permitted to rise so high as to ignite domestic unrest; mortgage money must not be permitted to dry up.

Above all, the economic coaches must be able to detect well in advance when recession threatens. This will be difficult, for this huge economy of ours reacts to the coaches' signals only months later. It yaws.

These signals that can be fed to the economy generally are of two types: Fiscal and monetary. Fiscal matters relate to government spending and taxing; monetary matters to the availability and cost of credit and money.

Most of the fiscal signals have now been given and cannot be changed for another year. That is, Congress has approved the rate of taxation and the amount of government spending for the present fiscal year.

The main responsibility, therefore, rests with the monetary manager, which is the Federal Reserve Board, made up of seven men appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate for 14-year terms.

The board governs the Federal Reserve System, which consists of 12 regional banks and 24 branches whose purpose is not to make money in the manner of commercial banks but to supply enough credit and money for orderly economic growth.

There are many advisers to the board, all of whom are supposed to be on our side!

Food Chains Don't Gouge Poor

By ELMER ROESSNER

The St. Louis Better Business Bureau, after an extensive survey, spikes the oft-repeated charge that food chains raise prices and lower quality in ghetto areas.

While its research was limited to St. Louis, the merchandising principles the St. Louis BBB discovered probably apply to supermarket chains in other cities.

The BBB survey did not take in independent stores or small chains, so the findings do not apply to them. It shopped the A&P, Bettendorf-Rapp, Kroger, National and Schnucks chains in both poverty and suburban areas.

Ends Two Rumors? The survey ended two common rumors, which recur in other cities as well. Disproved were:

meat displayed in the cooling cases of suburban stores is transhipped to poverty stores as it nears the end of its life and approaches spoilage.

That deteriorating produce is transhipped from suburban stores to poverty stores. The Meatcutters' Local No. 1 That deteriorating packaged mises of the store where sold. The union told the BBB that it would not stand for the transshipment of meat from suburban to ghetto stores.

And while the BBB did not shop independent stores, it pointed out that they were in direct competition with the chains and have to offer competitive prices and quality.

Major Findings Other major conclusions of the BBB were:

1. Retail grocery chains do not permit price and quality differentiation between stores of a given chain in different locations in the St. Louis area. (There was some evidence that higher shoplifting losses in ghetto areas were absorbed by the chains as a whole, not in individual stores.)

2. Price advertising, regional supervision and management training implement those policies.

3. Volume of foods moved through warehouses to stores on computerized orders, with orders filled by numbers by unionized workers, makes quality discrimination in stores virtually impossible.

4. Deterioration of perishables compel chain buyers to specify uniform, fresh, high-quality items.

5. Slower turnover and lower sales per customer give much of the merchandise in poverty stores a counter-tused look and also creates a greater workload for stock clerks in poverty stores.

6. While shelf life of meat and perishables can be stretched beyond management rules, any consistent pattern will be detected by chain inspection.

Jet Hijacker Quoted: 'Fidel Ordered Me Back'

By BOB M. GASSAWAY
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fifty-six passengers back from a hijacked airliner flight to Cuba joined in a lusty cheer Wednesday night when they landed on U.S. soil in a plane chartered by the U.S. State Department for their return trip.

Crew members said the neat, dark-complexioned hijacker who commandeered a National Airlines DC8 jet with a gun and fake grenade stated that "Fidel ordered me back" and stayed behind on the Communist island.

Airline officials said the hijacker boarded National's flight 1064 to Miami in Los Angeles, giving his name as "Hernandez."

Richard Nell, a U.S. Air Force senior master sergeant from Biloxi, Miss., said two men saw the hijacker off in Los Angeles. All three spoke Spanish.

"They looked like they were sending him off on a big trip," Nell reported. Nell's wife and son also were aboard the hijacked airliner.

Nell said the man was about 5-foot-8, weighed 140 pounds and was in his early 20s.

Mrs. S.D. Knizner of North Palm Beach, Fla., said the hijacker was "a very nice looking young man, well dressed—casually, like everybody dresses in California."

Melton Hamilton of Houston,

Tex., said the only passengers the Cubans "interrogated directly were the servicemen."

Hamilton added, "actually, I had a helluva time except for the propaganda they put out."

"I just gave them my rank and serial number," reported Marine Pfc. R. J. Broussard of Scott, La. "They tried to get us messed up, but we got out of it. They tried to get us confused."

Marine Lance Cpl. Lawrence Hoven of Wilmer, Ala., a veteran of the Vietnam war, said: "They just asked a few questions about did I think I should have been over there (in Vietnam). I told them anything the United States has anything to do with, I'll be there."

The hijacker took command of the plane over Texas after a stop in Houston. Stewardess Kathleen Dickinson of Coral Gables, Fla., acted as an interpreter for the gunman, who she said was "extremely nervous."

She said he told her: "Fidel has indicated to me that I've got to go back to Cuba any way I can."

ami, the pilot, said the man threatened to explode a hand grenade and brandished a wrapped object. But in Havana, Oliver said, the hijacker "made a big show of unwrapping his hand grenade. It was a can of old spice shaving lotion."

Sgt. Nell said the gunman sat across the aisle from him and his family during the flight to

Los Angeles to Houston. The man pointed to Nell's watch at one time, indicating he wanted to know the time.

"I pulled my watch off and showed it to him across the aisle," the career serviceman said. "He came out with a, 'Thank you.' I think that's the only thing he said in English."

Nell said the man clutched a shaving kit in his lap until the jet landed in Houston.

Egg Men Talk Dropping Prices

RALEIGH (AP) — Representatives of North Carolina commercial egg interests met here today to discuss drooping prices.

Commissioner of Agriculture James A. Graham, who presided over the session, said some egg packers "contend a feed company and a leading food chain have instigated some buying practices that are detrimental to sound business."

Shotguns Issued Fire Stations

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Baltimore County fire stations have been armed with two sawed-off shotguns for protection in future riots.

T. Austin Deitz, deputy chief of the fire department, said Wednesday the weapons were to be used by firemen "only in the case of riots, if our stations are attacked."

"They will be used only to prevent our stations from being fire-bombed or looted. We're not going to ride to fires with them," Deitz said.

He said two shotguns and 50 rounds of ammunition were issued about two weeks ago to each of the 17 stations in the county surrounding Baltimore, where rioting and looting broke out last April.

Red China's Army Said Trying To Stop Clashes

By FORREST EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's army is reported finally trying to stop the bloody fighting in South China after six weeks of standing aside from the clashes between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung and between rival Maoist factions.

Travelers arriving from Canton, South China's largest city and the capital of Kwangtung province, told of troops patrolling the main streets and manning barricades at highway intersections and railway yards.

The official Canton newspaper Nan Fang said Peking had ordered troop commanders in Kwangtung to crush the wave of violence, but the report broadcast by Canton Radio gave no details.

A number of travelers from Kwangsi province, west of Kwangtung, said army units at Liuchow took sides once, in a major factional fight that broke out July 10 and lasted for 36 hours. They said rockets used by the soldiers set off fires which devastated 17 city blocks.

But their reports said that within the last three days the army had taken major steps to control the situation in the city, which is on the main rail route for Chinese war supplies to North Vietnam.

One traveler from Kwangsi said supply trains were under heavy guard after backers and foes of Mao Tse-tung had raided the trains to steal weapons consigned to the North Vietnamese.

There is no way to confirm the travelers' reports, but their multiplicity and the way they dovetail indicates they may be true.

Professional Western analysts believe the army, after first trying to stop the battles, was ordered six weeks ago, to stand aside, but there was no indication whether the orders came from Peking or provincial military leaders.

Some China watchers think there is "a good possibility and perhaps a probability" that army leaders in South China deliberately allowed the factional war to reach crisis proportions before moving in under the banner of restoring order and saving the nation.

Statistical Sam — He claims he averaged 800 miles on the road every day of his vacation. If you remark, "Aren't you spreading it on a little thick, Sam?" he whips out his gasoline bills to try to prove his tall tale. But all they prove is that if he was making 800 miles a day he was also getting 75 miles to the gallon.

Sportsman Sid — "He battled me like a tiger for a full half-hour, but when I finally reeled him in he turned out to be a 9-pound bass, the biggest ever caught at Lake Bid-awee," says Sid. The real facts: It was the largest minnow anybody at the lake had ever wasted time on, and it managed to wiggle off the hook before Sid could slip it into the boat.

Homeloving Harry — "I painted my house all by myself," is his brag, as he pulled out snap-shots. But if his wife were there to hear him, she'd grimly let you know that she and the kids painted their cottage after Harry fell off the first step of the ladder, sprained his ankle, and spent the rest of his vacation dozing in a backyard hammock.

The Great Man Himself — "Took so much paper work along with me I never even had time to go out and get a decent tan," the boss grumbles testily. But he's the biggest fibber of all. He didn't take any paper work with him, and the reason he didn't get a tan is that the sun doesn't shine on the indoor roulette wheels at Las Vegas, where he lost his shirt.

But it isn't polite to question the veracity of a returned vacationer as he limps up to your desk and begins to recount his fabulous adventures, full of woe, or wonder, or both. Simply press the cotton a little more tightly in your ears — and smile, smile, smile.

After all, you go on your vacation next month — and then you can get even.

This Time, Black Panthers Leave Guns Home

By HAROLD V. STREETER
 OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The leggy girls swivel mini-skirts across their hips as they chant in rhythm:
 "Time to get your gun."
 In cadence with the clapping of the girls' hands, the 60 young men flanking them in military line on the courthouse steps raise clenched fists in reply:
 "And USE it."
 These are the Black Panthers, a gun-carrying group of Negro militants spawned in West Oakland. This time, they left their guns at home.
 Inside the Alameda County courthouse, on trial on a charge of murdering a white policeman is Huey Newton, the handsome 26-year-old who organized the Black Panther party in 1966.

 Around the heavily guarded block-long courthouse past doors locked on all but one side, their supporters march. And as they pass helmeted officers they calmly hiss in words clear enough to reach police ears.
 "Pigs go home."
 Black leather jackets and black cloth berets distinguish the elite guard. They move in a precise military column only when squad leaders quietly pass the word. Some speak into walkie-talkies—to where, none will say.
 On each "Free Huey" button worn is a back-arched black panther.
 "The panther doesn't attack anyone," Newton has explained the symbol choice, "but when he's forced into a corner he will strike out and he will not stop until the aggressor is wiped out."
 Charging police brutality and disrespect for blacks, Newton's panthers began cruising the ghetto areas with guns in cars on watch for police patrol cars. They said their aim was, when arrests were attempted, to step up and advise the black suspects of their rights.

 Panther leaders contended and Oakland authorities denied that this activity prompted police to "get" Newton. In October 1967, they got him—on a charge of shooting and killing a policeman who stopped his car.
 Last April in a West Oakland gun battle, Black Panther Bobby Hutton, 18, was killed and two policemen wounded in another incident.
 How many Black Panthers are there?
 Always the answer from

Black Panther sources is the same:
 "Those who know don't say; those who say don't know."
 Police intelligence puts the number at around 200. They come largely from the West Oakland ghetto where 40,000 Negroes are crowded together. There are more than 121,000 Negroes in all Oakland.

 It has grown rapidly in recent years but now appears to be stabilizing.

New Rules Due To Zoo Vandals

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Board of Estimates approved Wednesday plans to fence in the city zoo, establish a 25-cent admission charge and bar children under 14 unless accompanied by an adult.
 The plan was proposed as a result of increased vandalism, including the killing of several birds with rocks and the poisoning of several animals.

Wrong Basket At Toll Booth

PRINCETON, Ky. (AP) — An attendant started out of the toll booth on the Western Kentucky Parkway, and carried a wastebasket under one arm.
 When a motorist drove up, the attendant told him to "drop the money in the basket, please."
 It took the startled attendant several minutes to sift through the wastebasket for the coins which should have gone into a basket at the side of the booth.

Embezzling By Women Charged

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP) — Three sisters and two other women were charged Wednesday with embezzling an estimated $100,000 from the Spartanburg General Hospital during the past year.
 Warrants against the women, prepared by the State Law Enforcement Division, were signed Wednesday before Spartanburg Judge Bobo Burnett, who also acts as a magistrate.
 The women were released under $3,000 bond each until the October term of General Sessions Court in Spartanburg.
 Charged with embezzling "over $20,000 each" from the hospital were:
 Mrs. Rebecca Ann Miller, 25, and Mrs. Betty G. Byrd, 37, both of Spartanburg; Mrs. Sandra Jean Rogers, 22, and Mrs. Marlene B. Wilson, 32, both of Rt. 4, Inman.
 All four were employees in the bookkeeping department at the hospital.
 Mrs. Betty Jo Barnett, 30, also of Rt. 4, Inman, was charged with conspiracy. She is a teller at First National Bank.
 Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Rogers are sisters.
 R. T. Thomason Jr., chairman of the hospital board, said he expects accountants to complete an audit of payroll records in two weeks. Until the final audit, he said, the total funds embezzled will not be known.
 Charles Boone, administrator of the hospital, said some former hospital employees had been listed on the payroll and the checks for them were being intercepted and cashed.

British Drop Minor Charges Against Ray

LONDON (AP) — Minor British charges against James Earl Ray were dropped today, bringing his extradition to the United States a step closer.
 Home Secretary James Callaghan was expected within a few hours to sign the extradition order returning the 40-year-old escaped convict to the United States to face trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Chicago Eyeing Airport In Lake

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's proposed in-the-lake airport has gained official support from city planners.
 The commissioners of aviation, development and planning and public works are giving favorable reports to Mayor Richard J. Daley, who is selecting a site for a third airport.
 The Lake Michigan site would be developed into a 27-square-mile airfield by a system of dikes. It would have parallel runways of 15,000 feet each and facilities for passengers, cargo and auto parking.
 Scheduled for completion in the late 1970s, the proposed airport would be located 5 1/2 miles offshore at 31st street.

Wallace Gains Reflected By Major Party Concern

By WILLARD H. MOBLEY
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Wallace's growing muscle in public opinion polls is matched by increasing concern in both major parties over his potential impact on the presidential election.
 Republicans, regarded at this stage as most likely to suffer from a big Wallace vote, appear to be the most concerned.
 But Democrats are worried too, that the former Alabama governor could grab off enough Electoral College votes to toss the election into the House of Representatives.
 Wallace, in campaign speeches, has been gleeful at the prospect.
 With the exception of Republican presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon, the major candidates of both parties have had little or nothing to say publicly on the possibilities.

 A bipartisan move to neutralize the effect of a big Wallace showing has been launched by Reps. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., and Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.

They plan to set up a steering committee next week to spearhead a drive for pledges by candidates for election to the House to vote for the presidential candidate who wins the greatest popular vote.
 "The initial reaction has been very good," said Goodell Wednesday night.
 Nixon, campaigning in Philadelphia early in the week, figured Wallace a likely winner in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and possibly Georgia, and conceded Wallace's third-party candidacy could hurt him in a general election.
 Some well-placed officials in Washington, notably Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the House Republican Committee which looks out for GOP members' campaign interests, go a good deal farther in estimates of what Wallace might get.
 By Wilson's calculations there is a chance Wallace might carry nearly all the South and even some border states.
 Another veteran GOP politician, who would not be quoted by name, came up with a figure of six or seven for the number of states Wallace might take, and said both Democrats and Republicans would be damaged by that.
 Talk about Wallace stemmed from recent polls showing him the choice of up to 17 per cent of the voters, about twice what he was registering early in the campaign year.
 The Electoral College has 538 members, thus requiring 270 for a majority.

The four states named by Nixon would drain a total of 39.

Estimates of possible Wallace strength by others would raise the drain high enough to make collection of a majority exceedingly difficult.
 In a House election each state, no matter how big, gets only one vote and the majority within each delegation determines where that vote goes. A winning majority is 26.
 Nixon expressed confidence Wallace winnings would not affect the outcome in the House. He thought party lines would hold, even in states going for Wallace for president.
 He said there would be no deals with Wallace. "Under no circumstances would I negotiate — nor would Hubert Humphrey," he said.

WILSON, N. C. (AP) — Dr. R. E. Goudy, Wilson County coroner, has ruled suicide in the death of John Daniel Gold Jr., 38, associate professor of English at Atlantic Christian College.

Suicide Ruled In Wilson Death

Gold was found shot to death at his home Tuesday night.
 Funeral services were held at the First Presbyterian Church today.
 Gold was the son of the late John D. Gold, editor, publisher and founder of the Wilson Daily Times.
 He was a graduate of ACC and won his masters degree from the University of North Carolina. He taught at Wilmington College for two years and joined the ACC English Department in 1967.
 Gold is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Daisy Hendley Gold of Wilson; one sister, Mrs. Robert B. Broughton of Raleigh; three half-sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Swindell and Mrs. John Gray Hughes, both of Wilson; and Mrs. Frank Kennon Borden of Goldsboro.

Adopt Series Of New Pollution Control Steps

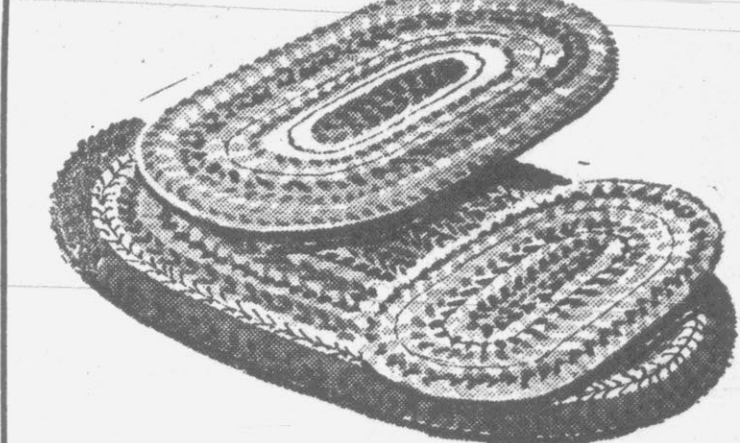

CHICAGO (AP) — Air pollution control in Chicago may become more effective now that a package of 17 new amendments has been adopted by the City Council.
 Most effective provision calls for an eventual end to the burning of garbage in coal burners and unapproved incinerators.
 Director William J. Stanley said the new amendments were necessary to bring about a visual reduction of air pollution in high density areas of the city.
 Hopefully, the legislation will reduce pollution from incineration and garbage burning by 70 per cent.
 Other provisions control particle emission from fuel-burning units. The sulphur content of fuels will be limited.

State Youth Commission Idea Rooted In 1962

(Editor's Note: This report tracing the history and goals of Youth Councils of North Carolina, looks at the plan to establish a state youth commission. Miss McNair is publications chairman of the State Council and a student at Greensboro's Dudley High School. She has been a reporter for the Teen-Age Record. Dr. Conner is adult director of the Youth Council.)

Youth Council—Bjt to N.C. By FRANCES McNAIR and Dr. H. T. CONNER GREENSBORO (AP) — Any discussion of Youth Councils of North Carolina must begin with a March morning in 1962 when many Piedmont citizens read their papers with horror—even disgust—and learned that eight teen-agers, both boys and girls, were arrested for drunkenness and unruly behavior at a "social club-sponsored dance in a Greensboro hotel" the previous night.

The Greensboro City Council hurriedly established a study committee to investigate and determine why Greensboro's young people seemed to feel that they had to have "drunken parties" instead of more wholesome entertainment.

After considerable study, the committee suggested abolishment of local "social clubs" in high schools and the establishment of a youth council composed of interested students and adult advisors with a paid coordinator from the city Recreation Department.

One of the old-timers with the Greensboro Youth Council reports that "for the first year and a half, the Youth Council was little more than a discussion group as youth and adult members alike tried to find something to do and a really concrete reason for being."

There was no place in the United States which had a youth council to be copied; so-called "youth councils" seemed to be only groups of adult advisors who evidently accomplished very little.

The Greensboro Youth Council actually began to work effectively during the spring of 1964, with a teen-age page in the Greensboro Record, a beautification contest among all six high schools, and a weekly television program.

Today, four years later, the Greensboro Youth Council has 69 members elected representatively with each of the six local high schools having membership based on enrollment. There are nine adult advisors and a paid executive director.

The Greensboro Youth Council meets under sponsorship of the City Council. In fact, it has really become the "junior city council" for all the youth of Greensboro.

It sponsors approximately 50 programs which range from the unlikely name of SLOBS (Sunday League of Bowlers) to High I.Q. Bowl; from summer employment to city and school beautification.

One interested advisor says direct youth participation in these programs is well over one-half of all the youth in the city and the influence probably stretches well beyond that. Participation comes from all economic groups as well as all races and creeds.

Probably the most impressive work of the Greensboro Youth Council was a direct result of the Sears Foundation High School Beautiful Contest. Next came a grant, also from Sears in March 1967, to conduct a Youth Council workshop for representative larger cities across North Carolina. A third major expansion came through North Carolina Recreation Society meetings and by word of mouth when Greensboro Youth Council activities became known.

Youngsters throughout the state learned of the Greensboro group and soon additional North Carolina cities had organized, functioning, official youth councils.

In December, 1966, High Point, Greensboro, and Raleigh joined to form Youth Councils of North Carolina, Inc. (YCNC). It was designed not "to keep out" interested student groups but to insure older councils and members that their high standards would be upheld and safeguarded.

The organization has doubled its membership with the addition of Fayetteville, Asheville, and Wilmington councils.

Stewart Rogers, immediate past chairman of the North Carolina Council (Page High School, Greensboro) says the idea of forming a Youth Commission of North Carolina "came from the kids — not adults."

The youth first went to the Richardson Foundation and received advice. "But most important, they gave us a grant which would enable us to carry out our plans," Rogers said. "Since there has been no previous youth commission, we are approaching the idea as a study. We want to travel throughout the state explaining the theory behind a youth commission and the value it will be to the adult community as well as to the teen-agers."

Eighteen student leaders from the six YCNC groups met in Greensboro June 26-30 for a workshop during which they planned next year's program.

All of the councils are assuming responsibility for promoting the youth commission. In addition to this major assignment, Asheville has charge of the March convention; Fayetteville will survey teen-age voting opinion; High Point, publicity; Raleigh, chartering of new councils; and Greensboro, publications.

Later in the summer, members will draft a youth commission bill to be presented to the North Carolina General Assembly next year.

Roger Carrick, present chairman of YCNC, (Central High School, High Point) says: "Many adults believe teen-agers do not have the maturity to take an active part in civic affairs. Results in a number of cities indicate, with a minimum amount of guidance, youth can become outstanding contributors to the betterment of the community. There is a need, therefore, for young people to get involved in situations which allow them to exercise constructive leadership and 'fellowship' traits."

Nixon Maintains Can Outdraw Rocky In South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he would run well in the cities and "considerably stronger" than rival Nelson A. Rockefeller on the fringes of the South as the Republicans' presidential candidate.

New York Gov. Rockefeller, at a separate news conference Wednesday, claimed Nixon's delegate lead is suffering "slow leakage" and said he expects to get the GOP nomination on the fourth or fifth convention ballot.

Nixon's assessment of his vote-drawing strength came at a news conference in Baltimore, Md. He had been asked about Rockefeller's claim to greater strength in the cities and the populous Northeast.

"I expect to do well in the cities," Nixon replied, "and naturally I will run considerably stronger on the perimeter of the South."

"So the question," he said, "is which game plan do you want to buy."

Nixon then said he expects a very close race against the Democratic candidate in November but that the Republican nominee, "whoever he is," can win the election.

"It will be a different fallout of votes if Gov. Rockefeller is the nominee than if I am," he said.

Dog Forgot His Accepted Role

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A St. Bernard forgot at the Vancouver Kennel Club show that his breed is supposed to be the kindly rescue-people-lost-in-the-snow type.

He bit the judge. Judge Oliver Harriman, Pebble Beach, Calif., who was working the St. Bernard class, had to be treated at a hospital for head and neck lacerations. The dog? He won fourth place in his class.

Rockefeller said in Chicago that Nixon had lost 42 delegate votes in the past 10 days—but would not say where—and that some had gone to him and some to California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He maintained that Nixon would fall far short of the 667 delegate votes needed for the nomination, not only on the first ballot but the second as well.

Rockefeller has said before that he expects delegates to favor Nixon on the first ballot, but not by a winning margin, then shift to Reagan and himself and finally nominate him on a late ballot.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy took his campaign for the presidential nomination into the South and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey canceled a Midwest swing on what his camp said were doctor's orders.

It was learned a third of McCarthy's youthful campaign workers—some 75—are about to get the ax and some of them feel one reason is to erase the image of a McCarthy "children's crusade."

One source said top advisers made the decision to "furlough" the campaigners to trim a campaign deficit and McCarthy acquiesced but "just wanted to be left out of this sort of thing."

Humphrey's aides said Dr. Edgar Berman ordered him to cancel the Midwest trip that was to begin today and put off campaigning until next week when appearances in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco are planned.

Humphrey is recovering from what is described as a case of flu. It was understood he had passed a battery of tests to determine the illness was nothing worse.

In other political developments:

—Third party candidate George Wallace's aides announced he will begin a swing today into seven states including Missouri, Iowa, Rhode Island, Florida, Montana, California and New Mexico.

—The telephone strike threatening communications for the Democratic National Convention in Chicago was reported deadlocked after striking electrical workers rejected a wage proposal from the Illinois Bell

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm temperatures will again be the rule over much of the nation Thursday night, although there will be some cooling in the upper Great Lakes region. Agree On Right To Play In Sand

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — A state legislative committee has agreed that kids should be allowed to build sand castles and dig holes on Oregon's beaches.

In discussing proposed revisions to a beach bill, the committee excluded recreational excavations from the definition of improvements. Rep. Lee Johnson, chairman, said this would "get around the problem of kids digging in sand."

Telephone Co.

—Five Negro candidates for Congress said a sampling of 1,196 Negro voters in six cities showed they favored Rockefeller over either Democratic presidential contender but would vote heavily for either Democrat over Nixon.

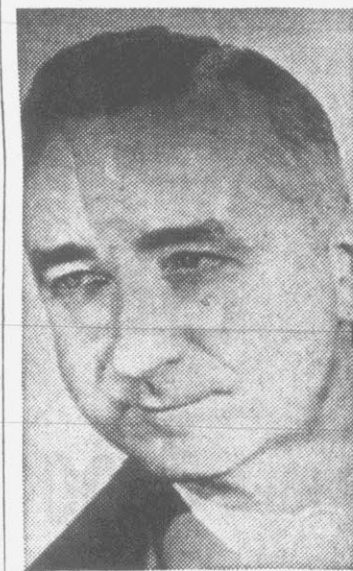

—The Democratic National Committee said more than 250 Negro delegates and alternates would take part in the party's national convention this year, twice the 1964 number.

Church To Have Guest Speaker

Maj. Edgar C. Bundy will be guest speaker at the People's Bible Church Saturday, at 8:00 p.m. by invitation of the church and sponsored by the Church League of America.

Maj. Bundy will be interviewed on "Carolina Today" Friday morning at 8 a.m. on WNCN-TV.

Maj. Bundy entered the armed services in 1941 and rose in ranks from private to major.

MAJ. EDGAR BUNDY

As an Air Force Intelligence officer he served in every major theater of war and received Nationalist China's highest aviation decoration from Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, the Bronze Star Medal from Major General Claire Chennault of the 14th Air Force, and five battle stars for major engagements.

In 1949 Major Bundy was invited to testify before a full committee concerning the Far Eastern situation. His testimony lasted for two hours before both Houses of Congress, representatives of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the State Department and all the major news services. The major predicted under oath that South Korea would be attacked by the North Korean Communist forces which were being trained and equipped by the Soviets. One year and two days later it happened.

The church is located on 264 Bypass, West. Rev. John T. Woodley is pastor.

Special music will be featured and nursery facilities will be available.

Says Paper May Change Plans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty says the Los Angeles Times may force him to seek a third four-year term in office.

If the newspaper continues to oppose his administration, Yorty said Wednesday, he might run again to prevent the Times from trying to run the city. "They'll not do that as long as I'm here," he said. Yorty's term ends next year.

A Times investigation led to the bribery indictments and conviction of two former harbor commissioners appointed by Yorty. The mayor said he fired the two men, Karl Rundberg and Robert "Nick" Starr, before they were charged with accepting furniture from a developer in return for harbor favors.

The Times printed Yorty's statement. There was no comment on the editorial page.

Rives
ENFIELD — Funeral services for Ralph Cooper Rives, 80, were held Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the Branch Memorial Chapel. Burial followed in Elmwood Cemetery, the Rev. R. L. Falkner, the Rev. J. Edward Morrison and the Rev. Earl Fisher officiating.

Mr. Rives was the son of the late James Redden and Lucy Bellamy Rives of "Rives Landing" near Greenville. He was educated at Pollard's Academy also near Greenville. He later moved to Enfield where he entered retail sales. He was a member of the Enfield Municipal Board, the Halifax Board of Education, and the Halifax County Board of Commissioners. He served as a board member of the Southern Retail Merchants Association in 1929.

Mr. Rives helped found the Halifax Historical Restoration and Historical Societies. In 1959, he was listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southeast."

He is survived by his second wife Blanche Hardee Rives of the home; one son, Dr. Ralph Hardee Rives of Greenville; three sisters, Mrs. Luther W. Ransone of Enfield, Mrs. Joseph M. Melton of Farmville, and Mrs. Roy Creeve of Fredericksburg, Va., and two brothers, Charles Exum and James Redden Rives, both of Enfield.

His first wife, Lottie Hardee Rives, died in 1930.

Mozingo

Mr. Otis Herman Mozingo, 60, died Thursday morning at his home in Bethel. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis three years ago. Funeral services will be Friday afternoon at three o'clock at the Wilkerson Chapel, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Mozingo, a native of Greene County, was reared near Farmville and had made his home in the Bethel community for the past thirty-five years. He was a retired farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Annabelle Griffin Mozingo, four daughters: Mrs. Jake Mobley of Robersonville, Mrs. Franklin Bowers of Bethel, Mrs. Donnie Long of Wallace, and Mrs. Henry Byrd of Tarboro; seven grandchildren; his father: E. M. Mozingo of Greenville; one brother: Fred Mozingo of Bethel; and seven sisters: Mrs. Clayton Earl Roberson, Mrs. Quinerly Carroway, Mrs. C. R. Dennis, and Mrs. Ethel Bryant, all of Greenville, Mrs. George Moore of Walstonburg, Mrs. James Norris of Ayden, and Mrs. Guy Eakes of near Ayden.

Bowen

Mr. Elbert G. Bowen, 63, died suddenly on Wednesday at his home on Myrtle Avenue. Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Willis Wilson. Interment will be in the National Cemetery at Hampton, Virginia at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Bowen had been a resident of Greenville for the past six years. He retired from the U. S. Army after 23 years service.

He is survived by a brother, Hersel Bowen of Greenville; four sisters, Mrs. Ressie Pryor and Mrs. Humber White, both of Greenville, Mrs. Eddie Lewis of Norfolk, Virginia, and Mrs. Shirley Toney of Fayetteville.

Beginning Sewing Class To Start

Pitt Technical Institute will begin a course in Beginning Sewing tonight from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. Each class will be 40 hours in length and tuition for each class will be $4.00.

All interested persons who wish to attend should be present tonight.

One may enter up through Wednesday, July 24, if unable to attend the first meeting.

Bowling Council Award Received

Amanda Caldwell received the Annual Service Award from the New York City Bowling Council for her work in organizing bowling as a collegiate sport, last Thursday.

Miss Caldwell was a member of the faculty of New York University until September of 1963 when she came to Greenville. Miss Caldwell is the owner and operator of Sarell's Needlecraft Shop at Pitt Plaza.

Pitt Group Attends Raleigh 4-H Session

A delegation of five 4-H club members and one extension agent is representing Pitt County at State 4-H Club Week in Raleigh this week.

The Pitt County 4-Hers participating include: Larry Bowling, Forestry Demonstration; Denise Grimsley, Rural-Civil Defense Demonstration; Susan Manning, Fruit and Vegetable Use; Tommy Manning, Electric Demonstration; Susan Manning, State 4-H Health Pageant; Jonnie Cassick, State 4-H Talent Parade, will present a vocal solo, "I Could Have Danced All Night."

The Pitt County delegates are among 1,250 club members and leaders participating in the annual four-day program which began Monday on the North Carolina State University campus.

The program consists of recreation, attending classes, competition, election of state officers and a lot of fellowship.

"Four 4-H Club Week offers an excellent opportunity for personal growth and development," comments Dr. T. C. Biaclock, state 4-H Club leader. "It is an event that club members look forward to each year with great anticipation," he added.

The group is being accompanied by Miss Linda Humphrey, assistant home economics extension agent.

Hair Stylists At Advanced Course In New Bern

Only Asks $20 Million To Double Dahomey's Crops

Associated Press Writer
COTONOU, Dahomey (AP)—Emile-Darlin Zinsou, a diplomat handed power by the ruling army has drafted a plan to double crops in two years and better the lot of Dahomey's two million population.

All he needs, he says is about $20 million.
"We need a loan to provide means for production," the 30-year-old president-designate said in an interview. "People have land, they have will... but no money or tools."
The plan involves an agricultural credit agency where subsistence farmers can borrow enough to spread out.
"If you fly over Dahomey you'll see one hundredth of the land cultivated. . . We just need the means," Zinsou said.
He looks forward to exporting perhaps 300,000 tons of corn and some cotton to supplement the palm oil.

A new peanut oil plant is expected to press 30,000 tons yearly by 1970.
"My program involves, above all, development of man," Zinsou asserted. "Governments are not for societies, they're for men."
He figures it will take five years to balance the $1 million annual budget, now $3 million off.
He hopes France will restore its $2 million budget support, stopped when Col. Alphonse Alley succeeded Gen. Christophe Soglo after a coup last December. It is understood France is waiting to see Zinsou's government working smoothly.
But Zinsou faces more than economic problems. Three former heads of state were stopped next door in Togo after unsuccessfully trying to take part in forming Zinsou's 10-man government.
Two of them were blamed for sabotaging May elections which had only a 27 per cent turnout. It's a safe bet Dahomey has not seen the last of them, Zinsou said.

Dahomey has had six governments since independence in 1960.

Zinsou lives in a two-story white house conspicuously rising above a shacklined Cotonou side street with a drain sewer trench out front.
He reads poetry—a great fan of Senegal President Leopold Senghor's works—and admits to piles of unfinished manuscripts. He has a wife and five children.

Grant Credit To East St. Louis
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—East St. Louis got a credit extension Wednesday from the Mobil Oil Co., which had threatened to sell no more gasoline for city vehicles until a five-month old bill was paid.
The firm told the city it would extend credit until Aug. 1, and the city told Mobil that it could now pay $4,000 on the $16,000 bill the funds coming from trash collection fees.

The financially beleaguered city had to issue wage consignments redeemable at local banks last week because of a $60,000 payroll shortage. East St. Louis has operated in the red since 1951.

Bikini-Wearers Protest A Rule

HONOLULU (AP) — Few demonstrations draw such popular support as the one at the University of Hawaii.
A group of bikini-clad university coeds protested a new rule against wearing bikinis in the university swimming pool.
Gladys Yoshihara, pool attendant, said of the bikini wearers: "It doesn't look good. Their shorts slide off when they hit the water."
The elevated university pool has large plate glass windows on its sides so that visitors can see the swimmers from below.
The university has had to place the viewing windows off limits.

Planters Bank Assures Tie For Teener League Title With 16-1 Romp Over State

Planters Bank iced no worse than a tie for first place in the Teener League with a 16-1 romp over State Bank last night. In the other game, Home Builders kept its fading chances alive with a 4-3 victory over Carolina Dairy.

Planters now has a 10-3 record with two games left to play. The only team that can catch them, Home Builders is 9-5. Planters needs only to win one of its two remaining games. They play Home Builders to night and College View on Friday.

The rest of the standings show State Bank in third, 8-6. Carolina Dairy in fourth, 7-8, followed by Pepsi-Cola, 6-9, and College View, 2-11.

In the opening game, Home Builders took the lead in the first inning with a lone run.

Joe West reached on an error and advanced on fielder's choice, as Carolina Dairy refused to try and get him on steals. Finally, he stole home with the go-ahead run.

In the second, the Builders picked up another run. Tim Norris doubled and then stole third. An error on the play allowed him to get up and come home for a 2-0 lead.

The fifth inning saw Home Builders up the score to 3-0. Norris bunted his way on and Steve Bostic reached on a fielder's choice. Two attempts were made to pick off Bostic at first, and on the second attempt, an error allowed both runners to advance. Don Rivenbark then singled in Norris with the run.

The final Home Builders run came in the seventh, and proved to be the winning run. Riven-bark reached on a fielder's choice, advanced on another by Whitney Miller and then scored on Robbie Cox's single.

Carolina Dairy, which had loaded the bases in the first inning with none out, and then failed to score, came to life in the bottom of the seventh, but fell one run short. Seth Jones reached on a fielder's choice, and J.C. Daniels doubled. Jimmy Sugg walked, loading the bases and a walk to Byron Dickens forced in Jones. Randy Phillips singled in the other two runners, and Robbie Leggett reached on an error, loading the bases again.

But Home Builders slammed the door right there, and held on to get the win.

The second game was just the opposite, with Planters having little trouble with State Bank. The league-leaders pushed over six runs in the first inning to have more than enough to win. Ed Coburn led off with a walk and Stanley Cobb also got a free trip. Lewis Gidley doubled in Coburn, and Jimmy Bond walked to load them up. David Prewitt reached on a fielder's choice, and an error scored Cobb and Gidley. Bond came over on a passed ball and another scored Prewitt. Eric Vernon then walked and stole second, going on to third on an error. He scored on a wild pitch with the sixth run.

The second inning saw eight more come across, making it 14-0. Cobb walked and stole both second and third, scoring on an error on the final steal. Gidley walked and after Bond singled both stole up a base. Prewitt walked loading the bases, and a walk to Gary Woods drove in Gidley. Vernon reached on an error, scoring Bond and Prewitt, and Woods scored on a passed ball. Jeff Steig walked, and Cobb reached on an error, scoring Vernon and Steig. Gidley walked and Bond reached on another error, bringing Cobb around with the final run of the frame.

The other two runs scored in the fourth. Coburn struck out but reached when the ball got by the catcher. Two more passed balls moved him to third, from where he scored on an out. Bond walked, took second on a balk, and came around to score on an error.

The lone State Bank run came in the fifth inning. Russ Smith singled and stole second, scoring on a hit by Jimmy Paige.

Amazingly, Planter got only four hits, but took advantage of 11 walks and seven errors. State Bank also got four hits, but Planters didn't make the same mistakes.

Nixon's Hit Leads Bosox

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nixon invaded Humphrey country Wednesday night and came out a winner.

The Nixon was Russ, a former Minnesota catcher, not Dick, a former Washington vice president, and the scene of battle was Metropolitan Stadium rather than the political arena.

Nixon's platform was revenge and he pushed it through with a tie-breaking three-run pinch double in the ninth inning that carried the Boston Red Sox to a 6-5 victory over Hubert Humphrey's favorite team, the Minnesota Twins.

You might even say that Nixon won his primary battle, since it was the first appearance of the season for the veteran catcher, just brought up from the minor leagues.

Elsewhere, in the American League, Oakland edged Detroit 3-2, the Chicago White Sox nipped Baltimore 1-0, Cleveland downed California 4-2 and Washington tripped the New York Yankees 2-1.

Nixon went to spring training with the Twins, for whom he batted .235 last year, but was released two days before they broke camp. The Red Sox signed him for their Pittsfield, Mass., farm club and brought him up Wednesday when they found themselves with only one able-bodied catcher.

"Sure it felt good," Nixon said. "I wanted to get that hit for us and I wanted to get it against this club. Every club I talked to told me they'd have wanted me if I'd been released earlier. But everybody had roster problems by that time."

Nixon connected off Ron Peranoski after the Red Sox had loaded the bases against Al Worthington on Rico Petrocelli's double and two walks. The Twins came back with two in the bottom of the ninth.

The White Sox literally balked Baltimore's attempt to chop another game off Detroit's league lead. A controversial balk call in the fourth inning gave Chicago the only run of the game and set off a heated argument between Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver and plate umpire John Flaherty.

Tom McCraw opened the inning with a single, one of only three hits the Sox got in the game. He stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored when Flaherty called a balk on Tom Phoebus.

Weaver said Flaherty first told him Phoebus speeded up his motion and jerked as McCraw bluffed coming down the line. After talking it over with his fellow umpires, Flaherty then said that Phoebus stopped during his delivery, which constitutes a balk.

That ended the Orioles' seven-game winning streak and gave Weaver his first loss in seven games since taking over as manager.

Rick Monday's two-run homer in the first inning and a game-saving throw by Reggie Jackson in the seventh highlighted Oakland's win over Detroit. It was the Tigers' fifth loss in seven games since the All-Star break.

Dick McAuliffe doubled with two out in the seventh and Mickey Stanley singled. But right fielder Jackson fired the ball to catcher Dave Duncan, who tagged McAuliffe out.

Larry Brown stroked three singles and batted in three runs as Cleveland Downed California. The victory was the Indians' fourth straight and enabled them to move into a virtual second-place tie with Baltimore.

In the only afternoon game, Camillo Pascual and Dennis Higgins combined to beat the Yankees and snap Washington's nine-game losing streak.

The Senators took a 2-0 lead on RBI singles by Frank Howard in the fourth and Del Unser in the seventh. Higgins took over in the seventh after New York scored a run.

look at it as more than just another tournament on the tour—it's for the whole Association.

"And in the future there will be more touring pros in the field because we are setting up a special club pro tournament and only the top 25 from there will qualify for next year's PGA tournament," Chalfant said.

The touring pros contend that probably 50 or 60 of their colleagues are good enough to challenge for the title but can't win berths in the tournament because of the number of spots allotted to club pros.

The size of the field also is under fire, with Arnold Palmer—who has never won the PGA—among the critics.

"A field this size is very unfair to the players themselves in their own championship," Palmer said, noting that today's first starters teed off at 6:30 a.m.

PGA Field Draws Crowding Charge

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Touring golf pros, who contend they draw the crowds and build the purses, have charged that the field for the PGA tournament is overloaded with club professionals.

"The small number of touring pros in the field is absurd," Jack Nicklaus, the tournament favorite said before the battle for the PGA title began today.

"The number is much, much too low," added Nicklaus, a member of the Players' Tournament Committee. "It's unfortunate to say the least—that what should be our best tournament has probably the weakest field we play in all year."

"It's getting better, but it's still ridiculous," Nicklaus said, pointing out that nearly two-thirds of the 168 entries are club professionals.

Despite the big number of club pros—who make a living as professionals at golf courses and rarely venture out on the pro tour—the touring pros have won every PGA title in modern times.

"We know that no club pro is going to win this thing," said Noble Chalfant of Denver, vice president of the PGA. "But we

Immanuel Rolls To Big Victory

Meadowbrook and Immanuel Baptist picked up victories in the Church Softball League last night. Meadowbrook outlasted Jarvis, 17-12, while Immanuel beat Pentecostal, 43-7.

Presbyterian leads the standings with a 12-1 mark, while St. James is second at 12-2. Immanuel is another half-game back at 12-3. Oakmont is in fourth place with a 7-6 record and is the only other team with a chance to catch the leaders. Rounding out the rest of the league are Mt. Pleasant, 7-7, Grace and Meadowbrook, both 7-8, Gum Swamp and Jarvis, both 2-11, and Pentecostal, 1-10.

In the opener, Meadowbrook pushed into the lead in the first inning with three runs, while Jarvis picked up one in its half of the first. Meadowbrook came back with four in the second, and Jarvis matched that to make it 7-5.

In the third, Meadowbrook scored two more and made it 9-5. But in the fourth, Jarvis rallied to score four more and tie it at 9-9.

Finally in the seventh, Meadowbrook broke the tie, pushing over eight runs, and then holding Jarvis to three to take the win.

The second game was over before the second inning was finished, as far as the outcome was concerned. Immanuel led off with four runs in the first inning, and Pentecostal came back with two in their half of the frame.

Then in the second, Immanuel pushed over 11 runs to take an insurmountable 15-2 edge, and it was all over. Immanuel went on to record one in the third, 13 in the fourth, four in the fifth, two in the sixth, and eight more in the seventh. Only three honers highlighted the splurge, as Harris, Buck and Horne each cracked roundtrippers.

Pentecostal added three in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

Salaries, Heat And Ice Spark Workout

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There were some heated salary discussions, 100 degree temperatures and some important ice in action at various training camps of the pro football teams.

And, too, there was a U.S. Navy lieutenant (j.g.) who turned in an impressive performance in Wednesday's practices at the camps scattered across the country.

The 100-degree heat and the ice came at Carlisle, Pa., where the Washington Redskins are holding their workouts. A 78-man squad sweated through the heat and quarterback Sonny Jurgensen got the ice.

Jurgensen, who underwent an off-season elbow operation, packed the arm in ice after a brief trial of lobbing passes up to 20 yards.

The salary discussions involved Dave Parks of the New Orleans Saints and Nemiah Wilson of the New York Jets. And the Navy lieutenant (j.g.) is former Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach of Navy, who is working out with the Dallas boys' rookies at Thousand Oaks, Calif.

Coach Tom Landry has had nothing but praise for Staubach, who plays to quarterback for the Cowboys when he is discharged from the Navy next year. He now is stationed at Pensacola, Fla.

Parks, an all-pro receiver who played out his option with San Francisco last year, signed with the Saints. But the question of compensation for Parks has been referred to Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle, a club spokesman said.

The 49ers had been hoping to sign Parks themselves until his deal was confirmed with the Saints.

"Inasmuch as this is a matter that must be referred to the commissioner for resolution," said 49er president Lou Spadia, "it would be inappropriate to make any comment at this time. I may have a comment later."

Wilson, a defensive back acquired by the Jets from Denver last week, has been in a prolonged salary dispute with New York general manager Weeb Ewbank. Ewbank said Wilson wanted a 51 per cent increase. No salary figures were released.

Wilson said he planned to play out his option.

The new Cincinnati Bengals, at Wilmington, Ohio, spent most of their workouts on the draw play that helped coach Paul Brown gain his reputation. Veteran Bill Bailey of Buffalo and Estes Banks, obtained from Oakland, were the running backs.

"Right now, they're No. 1," said Brown. "They've the most experienced we have."

He is still awaiting the arrival of running back Bobby Burnett, the AFL's rookie of the year in 1966, who is recovering from a leg injury. Both Burnett and Bailey were starters at Buffalo in 1966.

And there were some cuts, too. The Philadelphia Eagles cut two rookies and asked for waivers on two more. The Denver Broncos trimmed eight free agents. The Green Bay Packers released a free agent. Atlanta cut four.

All camps are not yet open. Chicago and Los Angeles veterans are due to report today. The New York Giants are the last to get started, next Sunday.

Rain Stalls Cardinal Drive; Atlanta Loses

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Gibson was caught in the rain that fell on St. Louis' pennant parade but Danny Coombs and Jeff James left a couple of the Cardinals' pursuers high and dry.

St. Louis struck for six runs in the fourth inning of Wednesday night's game against San Francisco—only to have a downpour wash out Gibson's bid for his 10th straight pitching triumph before the Giants could bat in the fifth.

The postponement left the Cardinals riding a six-game winning streak while their National League lead mushroomed to 10 lengths with help from Houston southpaw Coombs, who snapped runner-up Atlanta's seven-game unbeaten skein 5-2 for his first victory of the season.

James, meanwhile, pitched Philadelphia to an 8-0 victory over Chicago after the Cubs had won their winning string to five with an 8-4 conquest in the doubleheader opener. James, a rookie right-hander, scattered four hits on the way to his first major league shutout.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati ended a seven-game tailspin by whipping Los Angeles 7-4 and Pittsburgh split a twin bill with New York, beating the Mets 8-2 in the first game before bowing 5-4.

Gibson, leading 6-0 when rain halted play after the Cards' big fourth-inning flurry, could have picked up his 13th victory in 18 decisions by retiring the Giants in the fifth. But the thunderstorm left the St. Louis ace three outs away from an official game.

Coombs, who has spent parts of five seasons with the Astros but was making only his seventh major league start—and first this year—checked the Braves until the eighth, when he got relief help from John Buzhardt.

The 26-year-old pitcher, who contributed a two-run single in Houston's four-run sixth, allowed seven hits and barely missed going the distance for the first time in his checkered career.

"I wasn't expecting to go as far as I did," he said. "I only walked one man and I came through with the double play ball when needed. So I must have been throwing to the right spot."

James, also 26, stroked his first hit in the majors, a run-scoring single that capped Philadelphia's three-run second-inning burst in the nightcap. Home runs by Don Lock, Johnny Callison and Cookie Rojas eased the young hurler's path to his third victory in six decisions.

Ernie Banks slugged the Phillies in the opener, driving in six runs with a pair of homers that helped Bill Hands bring his pitching mark to 9-5. The Cubs' Glenn Beckert hit safely in both ends of the doubleheader, extending his hitting streak to 23 games.

Mack Jones' pinch hit double in the eighth inning knocked in two runs, snapping a 4-4 tie and carrying the Reds past the Dodgers. Reliever Ted Abernathy, for whom Jones hit, picked up his seventh victory against one loss. It was the Dodgers' 12th setback in their last 14 games.

The Mets overcame a 3-2 Pittsburgh lead with a three-run rally in the sixth inning of the nightcap, an error by shortstop Jose Pagan opening the gates, and snapped a six-game losing streak after the Pirates cuffed rookie standout Jerry Kosman in the first game.

Maury Wills doubled, tripled and scored twice and Willie Stargell blasted his 15th homer as the Pirates knocked out Kosman in the third inning. Steve Glass, given an early 4-0 lead, breezed to his sixth successive victory for a 7-2 season record.

Rubin Has Blast For Former Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gabe Rubin, who owned the American Basketball Association champion Pittsburgh Pipers last season, blasted former Coach Vince Cazzetta today as a "nobody" and a "lousy basketball coach."

"If you want to know the real reason Cazzetta will not be with our team in Minnesota, it's because he's a lousy basketball coach, and you can quote me on that," Rubin is quoted in the current issue of Pittsburgh Weekly Sports, which goes on the newsstands Friday.

"We had the talent and his role was overrated," the story quotes Rubin. "The players used to laugh at him when he'd draw plays on the blackboard before a game. Him and his clipboard and his X's and O's."

"In my opinion, the Pipers won in spite of Vince Cazzetta," Rubin said. "I transferred it to Minneapolis-St. Paul last month. Cazzetta, the ABA Coach-of-the-Year, later quit."

"We made him. The whole image," Rubin was quoted. "He was a nobody when he came here. An assistant at Rhode Island. We brought him out of obscurity and now he can go back."

Pirates Sign N.C. Lineman
Doug Temple, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Granger Temple of Route 5, Box 142 Elizabeth City, has signed a football grant in aid with East Carolina University.

The 6-1, 190 pound guard and linebacker was chosen to play in the North-South All-Star game.

Perfect Game For W-S Hurler

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Righthander Ed Phillips realized he was working on a no-hitter about the fifth inning but had no idea it would be a perfect game.

"I didn't see any possible way it could happen," he told newsmen Wednesday night after retiring 27 batters in order.

Phillips, signed by the Boston Red Sox in 1966, slammed a two-run homer to help his own cause and lead Wins-on-Salem to a 3-0 Carolina League victory over Rocky Mount.

It was the first perfect game in the Class A Carolina League's 20 year history.

Winston-Salem Manager, Bill Slack, a veteran of 20 years in major and minor league baseball, was surprised as anyone at Phillips' perfect game.

"It just isn't done, especially in the minor leagues," Slack said. "Somebody has got to get on by an error or walk or something."

Phillips, 23, is a native of Ardmore, Okla., but has lived most of his life in Portland, Maine. The 6-foot-1, 190-pounder played Little League baseball as well as on teams at Deering High School in Portland and Colby College.

Wednesday night's victory over Rocky Mount was Phillips' first perfect game and first no-hitter as a professional. He pitched no-hitters in high school and college.

Asked what he was thinking when he faced Carl Solarek, a pinchhitter and the 27th batter Wednesday night, Phillips said: "I was thinking I didn't want to walk him. I kept saying, 'He's a righthand batter, don't walk him.'"

He went 2-2 on Solarek and struck him out. He struck out all three batters in the ninth inning and 10 players in all. Five sparkling field plays helped preserve his perfect game.

Phillips said his most effective pitch was a slider.

"I called on it when I thought I might be getting into trouble," he said.

He went 3-2 on five hitters, but three of them struck out swinging on curves or sliders. Phillips is in his third year in minor league baseball. He played in Oneida, N. Y., Greenville, S. C., and Pittsfield, Mass., before joining Winston-Salem this year. His record with Winston-Salem now is 7-9.

Title Fight Is Next For Laguna

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — A Teo Cruz-Ismael Laguna lightweight title fight appears ready to be made for Madison Square Garden in the fall as the result of Laguna's brilliant victory over young Vic Melendez.

Laguna, champion for seven months in 1965 in winning and losing title fights with Carlos Ortiz, came on like a whirlwind in the last seven rounds to completely outclass the previously unbeaten Puerto Rican New Yorker in the Garden 10-rounder Wednesday night.

So today Laguna's manager, Cain Young, and Cruz' manager, Pete Martinez, will meet with Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner to negotiate the title fight for September or October.

The Garden had offered Cruz, a Dominican Republic native who dethroned Ortiz in Santo Domingo on June 30, $40,000 to meet the Laguna-Melendez winner.

Cruz and his manager were brought up by the Garden to watch the fight.

No N.C. Record Of Untaxed Church Properties

By NICK TAYLOR
Shelby Star Writer
Written for The AP
SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — More than $5 billion in local property taxes are legally avoided every year by churches across the United States.

Increasing focus on facts like this is resulting in nationwide attention upon the possibility of taxing some church property and income and other exempt property as a means of reducing personal income and local property taxes.

In North Carolina, no one really knows how much money in property taxes is lost because of church or other exemptions. The lack of information is due to the fact that, despite a state requiring counties to maintain lists of exempted property, few of them do.

A general statute passed in 1939, requires county tax supervisors to maintain a list of exempted properties and stipulates that a duplicate of this list be sent to the North Carolina Board of Assessment.

If the practice was ever widespread in the state, it is no longer.

A primary reason that the state Board of Assessment before 1968 never requested such a list from the counties.

Until July 1, 1967, the state Board of assessment was composed entirely of ex-officio members who were heads of state departments having something to do with finance. The board had no budget, no staff, no office, not even a telephone.

Now the Board of Assessment has a different and more vital composition. It has a staff, offices, a budget. Further, its membership is no longer ex-officio save one seat held by the state director of tax research.

The remainder of the board's membership is appointive, two by the governor, one each by the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House.

The new board was created, effective July 1 of last year, by the General Assembly after requests from the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners for a full-time board to assist in administration of property tax matters.

In February, the board moved into its new offices at the state's Internal Revenue Building in Raleigh and began the work, at the request of the Governor and the Tax Study Commission, of examining the entire property tax structure for North Carolina.

The board is operating on a budget of about $80,000, which includes a full-time secretary and provisions for clerical and appraisal help. Funds to finance the board are deducted from state intangibles tax revenues before the tax is returned to the counties. So the counties themselves, and not the state, are financing the board.

Not the least of the board's focal points is a compilation, as far as possible, of tax-exempt properties in the state. Recently, tax supervisors in each county have received a request from the state board for lists of their exempted properties.

Board of Assessment secretary J. A. Benoy, says, however, the request is not a mandate. "All the board is asking the counties to do is send us the information if they have it; if not, all they have to do is say so."

"We are not seeking this information for any purpose other than to report to the governor on the status of the property tax in the state, which is our statutory duty."

Benoy stressed that the boards information-gathering was not designed specifically to result in any recommendation on the discontinuance of tax exemptions, despite the fact that the exemptions are one aspect under scrutiny by the state's local Government Study Commission.

While the board is engaged in gathering information on the total property tax structure, data on exemptions may be difficult to obtain.

There is no present conception of how much tax-exempt property there is in the state. When the 1939 law requiring that list of exempted property be kept, assessments were easier to come by. There was no re-valuation program. The cost of assessment, because of fewer urban properties, was low and could be left to county tax supervisors and appraisers.

Today, for a county of 60,000 to 70,000 population, some $1,000 would be required for a private firm to appraise tax-exempt properties, according to estimates pertaining to Cleveland County.

Benoy estimates that "only about 20 counties will return some reasonable approximation of exempted properties."

Many counties, Benoy says, have already advised the Board of Assessment that they do not, as of now, have the required information.

With information from only 100 counties, any Board of Assessment recommendation tax exemptions may be incomplete.

Said Benoy, "our information may be so skimpy that we'll consider it a matter for continued study, and make no recommendation."

The Board of Assessment due to report its exemption of other property tax finding Jan. 1, 1969.

Certain church properties already taxed — property required for future use but now used for religious purposes — property used for non-commercial purposes; a church-owned home not occupied by the minister or other persons involved in church work.

Stanford Profs Studying In Own Wilderness Lab

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer
STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University researchers have been studying without a break for 75 years a 735-acre wilderness in the campus backyard.

The outdoor laboratory is called Jasper Ridge. It's virgin cover and animal life have changed little since Indians roamed the land before the Spanish discovered San Francisco in 1769.

Biologists are looking to Jasper Ridge for some of the answers to rational planning of the environment in the face of the world population explosion.

"Our planet is a spaceship with a limited carrying capacity," says Prof. Paul R. Ehrlich, a population biologist.

"Technology may support further increase of the world's population, but the price will not be small. Already we are suffering the consequences: overcrowding in desirable living areas, pollution of our air and water, shotgun application of pesticides, a bankruptcy course in the use of many natural resources.

"We must decide whether we want woods and mountains in which to seek solitude, or an ant-heap existence. Do we wish to continue to eat meat or wild porridge and fried algae suffice?"

Ehrlich and colleagues rambled Jasper Ridge, which anchors the northwest corner of Stanford's 8,300-acre campus, in continuing biological investigations of organisms as they live, reproduce and die without human interference.

The ridge offers experimental material for more important questions affecting the way people live: Better knowledge of the immunity of certain plants to certain insects might greatly reduce the present reliance on hazardous insecticides. And how is increasing smog affecting ridge plant and animal life compared with observations made in years past?

Researchers say no other American university has available a "real world" laboratory comparable to Jasper Ridge in size, diversity of natural life longevity of experimentation and convenience of location.

Eleven formal courses in Stanford's department of biological sciences use the ridge, as do honors undergraduates and graduate degree candidates doing special research.

They and more advanced scientists study a small grove of redwoods along San Francisco Creek, and cattails and sedges where the creek was dammed in 1884 to form Searsville Lake and a large marshland.

A moist ravine contains a luxuriant stand of buckeye. Nearby grows leatherwood, a rare plant locally. Some 3,000 species of trees, shrubs, herbs and other plants grow on Jasper Ridge.

Animal life abounds, too — snake (including rattlers), lizards, rodents, several thousand species of insects, spiders, frogs, slugs, and 127 species of birds. Deer forage on the ridge, and a rare variety of horned toad lives there.

Ten years ago, university trustees protected the area by formally establishing it as an academic reserve for teaching and research. The move came none too soon. Housing subdivisions have edged close to two sides. The university's two-mile-long atom smasher stretches along the creek below the ridge. The route of Junipero Serra Freeway cuts through university land adjacent to the accelerator.

The trustees called Jasper Ridge "an irreplaceable asset whose value could not be reckoned even in millions of dollars."

VISTA Worker Hopes To Spur Industrial Park

By NEIL BIBLER
Associated Press Writer
BROWNING, Mont. (AP) — VISTA volunteer Jim Ludwig, 27, of Rochester, N.Y., has created a film which he and the Blackfeet Indian Nation hope will be the first step toward industrial development for this 1.5 million acre reservation.

The 28-minute color and sound movie narrated by tribal Chairman Earl Old Person shows the tribe's preparation for a commercial future, including a fully equipped 67-acre industrial park. Natural resources abound, along with scenic beauty and outdoor recreation sites.

A $2.5 million airport is part of the plan by which the 12,000 member tribe hopes to realize its motto, "The past we've gained; the future we'll achieve."

Ludwig spent a year shooting the movie for which the tribe bought the supplies. His interest in Indian problems began when at age 15 he saw a movie on poor conditions among the Navajo. It grew as he studied film-making at Syracuse University.

"I really believe the Blackfeet have the greatest potential among the reservations in the Northwest," Ludwig says. However, he is very much aware of such current problems as alcoholism and a 40 per cent sub-standard housing level. The area, he says, "is like an underdeveloped country."

He began his work with an undue idealism, he says, which turned to disillusionment and then became "a realistic idealism that is very practical."

Ludwig spends much of his time working with Indian youth. Once he saved a boy from jail and on another occasion he arranged for an Indian youth to study in the East.

His many summers working in youth camps have led him to plan hikes for Indian young people, whom he calls "wonderful and sincere and honest." Before Ludwig's hikes, many young Blackfeet had never been to Glacier National Park 13 miles west of Browning and adjacent to the reservation.

Farmville Pays Sanitation Workers $1.25

FARMVILLE — Sanitation workers here will average $1.25 per hour for a 45 hour work week, during the 1968-69 fiscal year, according to town clerk, Carl Beaman.

The town also provides fringe benefits such as a $5,000 major medical insurance policy, hospitalization and a $2,000 life insurance policy, at no cost to the worker. Laundry service including rental on uniforms is paid for on a 50-50 basis. The town pays half of the laundry-rental costs, and the worker pays half.

The sanitation workers are on the state retirement system, and receive social security, and workmen's compensation.

New Diplomatic Relations Set

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepal and Algeria have decided to exchange diplomatic representation at the ambassadorial level, the foreign ministry announced here.

Algeria is the 44th state with which this Himalayan kingdom is setting up diplomatic relations.

CANCEL PROGRAM

Due to East Carolina University using their pool at Memorial Gymnasium, the swimming program conducted for children by the Recreation Department will be cancelled for the remainder of the summer.

PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE
GUARANTEE AGAINST FAILURE
Penneys guarantees every Foremost® tire against all failures in use — this guarantee lasts for the entire guarantee period stated for each tire. If the tire fails during the guarantee period, return it with your guarantee certificate and Penneys will, at its option, (1) repair the tire, (2) replace it with a new tire, or (3) give you an immediate refund. If we replace the tire during the free replacement period, there is no charge; if we replace the tire after the free replacement period, you pay 50% or 25% less than the current selling price of the tire including the Federal Excise Tax (see guarantee against failure chart for details).

GUARANTEE AGAINST TREAD WEAROUT
Penneys guarantees every Foremost® tire (except the 72 series) against tread wearout for the entire guarantee period. You benefit as follows if your tire wears out during the first half of the guarantee period, return it with your guarantee certificate and Penneys will replace your tire with a new tire (the charge for this will be 50% of the current selling price including Federal Excise Tax). If your tire wears out during the second half, the charge will be 75% of the current selling price including Federal Excise Tax.

These guarantees do not apply to commercial use of tires.

Here's how your guarantee against failure works:

Entire guarantee period.....	18 months
Free replacement period.....	1-9 months
50% off period.....	10-14 months
25% off period.....	15-18 months

The Worry Clinic
Childhood Emotional Scars Affect Behavior

Opal's case is a twin for that of the "Silas Marner" wife described Monday. For Opal is also a slave to a childhood situation that is now goading her into abnormal behavior. Yet Opal says she can't help herself, for she has an inner compulsion that drives her onward, in spite of logical reasoning.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-527: Opal G., aged 39, is on the verge of a divorce. "Dr. Crane," her angry husband began, "I think Opal is losing her mind!

"For she goes to beauty parlors almost every day and has spent thousands of dollars on new hairdos, facials and all the works."
"In fact, the beauty operators even refuse to see her, for she will try to go back the very next day and have a complete repetition of all that was done to her face and hair the day before."
"Now she is pestering plastic surgeons to alter her face, though they will not do so, since she doesn't need such surgery."
"Dr. Crane, she cries and says she knows she is acting silly, but she keeps telephoning hairdressers even in neighboring cities to get more beauty parlor treatments."

When I saw Opal in my office, she cried copiously and admitted that her husband was correct in his description of her. "But, Dr. Crane," she sobbed "I just can't help myself!"

"I have such a strong compulsion to go back to a beauty parlor that I feel as if I'll explode if I don't have a new hairdo and facial!"

After 3 hours of quizzing Opal, I finally found the root of her trouble.

When she was 5 years old, her mother had a new baby, born in the home.

They lived on a remote farm and no women folks were available that first morning to help around the house.

So little Opal became nursemaid and housekeeper. She did a very good job, too.

And by afternoon, when a couple of neighbor women arrived, they admired Opal's housekeeping.

At the age of 5, Opal didn't realize that such a comment is an idiom of our language and simply meant that she was unusually talented or precocious. It was intended as a compliment.

But Opal missed the point and tucked away that statement in her subconscious mind.

Now, a full 34 years later, it is goading her onward into abnormal behavior.

For Opal faces her dreaded 40th birthday, which accentuates her worry about possible loss of physical charm to her husband due to the menopause bugaboo.

Although she is a very attractive woman, she has an inner compulsion to visit beauty parlors every day for facials and new hairdos. Why?

Because subconsciously she considers "an old head" as a prime - faced great grandmother's visage!

Childhood emotional scars can thus goad people into all sorts of weird behavior that defies their logical reasoning.

For phobias and obsessions are almost impervious to reasoning until they are brought out into the full light of conscious attention and then dissected scientifically.

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Your editor runs this column to help you readers solve your own problems and thus safeguard your marriage and your children's future, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

Ecology is the science that deals with the interrelations of living things with their common environment and with one another.

NOTICE OF SALE

140,000
Town of Bethel, North Carolina
Sanitary Sewer Bonds.
Sealed bids will be received until 11 o'clock A.M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, July 30, 1968, by the undersigned at its office in the City of Raleigh, North Carolina, for $40,000 Sanitary Sewer Bonds of the Town of Bethel, North Carolina, dated June 1, 1968, and maturing annually, June 1, $5,000 1970 to 1977, inclusive, without option of prior payment. Denomination $5,000 or, at the request of the successful bidder by telegram or in writing received by the Local Government Commission within 48 hours after the receipt of bids, $1,000; principal and semi-annual interest (June and December 1), payable in legal tender at Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company in New York City; general obligations; unlimited tax; coupon bonds registrable as to principal alone; delivery on or about August 26, 1968, at place of purchaser's choice. There will be no auction.

Bidders are requested to name the interest rate or rates, not exceeding 6 percent per annum in multiples of 1/4 or 1/10 of 1 percent, and each bidder must specify in his bid the amount and the maturities of the bonds of each rate. No interest rate bid may be more than two times the lowest rate named in the bid. No bid may name more than six interest rates, any of which may be repeated. All bonds maturing on the same date must bear interest at the same rate. The interest payable on any bond on any interest payment date shall be represented by a single coupon and the interest rate on such bond shall be the same throughout its life. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest interest cost to the Town, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds from their date until their respective maturities. No bid of less than par and accrued interest will be entertained.

Each bid must be submitted on a form to be furnished with additional information by the undersigned, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for Bonds", and must be accompanied by a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company for $500, payable unconditionally to the order of the State Treasurer of North Carolina, on which no interest will be allowed. Award or rejection of bids will be made on the date above stated for receipt of bids and the checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned immediately. The check of the successful bidder will be held un-

Opening lead: King of ♥

Altho North would have experienced little difficulty in scoring 11 tricks at no trump, he and his partner arrived at four spades on a natural sequence of bids. Had South handled his cards a bit more adroitly, the suit contract would have proven virtually as profitable.
West opened the king of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. The king of spades was cashed and, when East showed out, South hastened to reenter his hand with the queen of clubs to take the proven spade finesse against West's ten. The king of spades was cashed; however, when declarer attempted to cross back with another club to complete the drawing of trump, West administered a jolt by ruffling with the eight of spades.

The question now arose concerning how best to put East in for another club ruff. West toyed with the idea of under-leading the queen of hearts in the hope that partner had the jack—however, he finally chose to shift to a diamond. If East had the king of diamonds, as appeared likely, since South had already shown up with so much strength in the two black suits, then the diamond play would be much safer.

South had no recourse but to finesse dummy's queen. East won the trick with the king and led back another club enabling West to score with the ten of spades. He cashed the queen of hearts for the setting trick.
Declarer's carelessness was no doubt induced by the great wealth of playing material at his command for, even after the adverse trump division was revealed, he still had 10 top tricks available. The uneven split in spades should have alerted him to the possibility that West might be short in another suit.
The luxury of bringing in the entire trump suit should have been forgone in the interests of safety. South must content himself with cashing his four high spades and then begin to run the club suit. West may ruff in with the ten of trumps whenever he wishes, but there is no way to prevent declarer from taking eight tricks in the black suits plus the two red aces—bringing his total to the required 10.

SUMMER CIRCUS

The circus doesn't come to Peru, Indiana; it is in permanent residence within the homes and business firms throughout the community.

What began there with a Big Top showing in 1884 had become, by 1907, winter quarters for many American traveling carnivals and circuses.

When the quarters closed in 1941, civic leaders created a museum to house relics scattered throughout the town in memory to those bygone days. As many great circus names retired from their specialties, they came to Peru to settle.

Kelly, Beatty, Hodgini, Wilno. These names now perform again; this time, however, it is the children and grandchildren before the crowds.

Learning the routines of the circus is a delight to these children, be it high-flying trapeze work or becoming a clown with a brand-new face. Under guidance of the old-timers, who watch their proteges perform in a way once their own, the children work out year-round in barns, stores or the high-school gymnasium.

Every summer since 1960, when a community movement returned circus life to the northern-central Indiana community just off Highway 31, parents and children have prepared for their annual four-day circus, held usually toward the end of July.

Some 350 residents involve themselves in the workings of the show, from performance and publicity to raising the rigging and cleaning up when it's all over. These efforts bring some 100,000 visitors and circus buffs to the event.

The profits go into a Circus Festival Fund, which is used to buy permanent buildings for an additional museum, improved rigging equipment, more bleachers and additional advertising and publicity for the event.

Each year the circus grows larger. The city is working to construct a permanent Big Top in a downtown lumberyard and additional plans will send a troupe "on the road" to fulfill requests for appearances from other communities.

For now, though, the four-day show creates a "circus city" within the community that presents the summer show at Peru, Indiana.

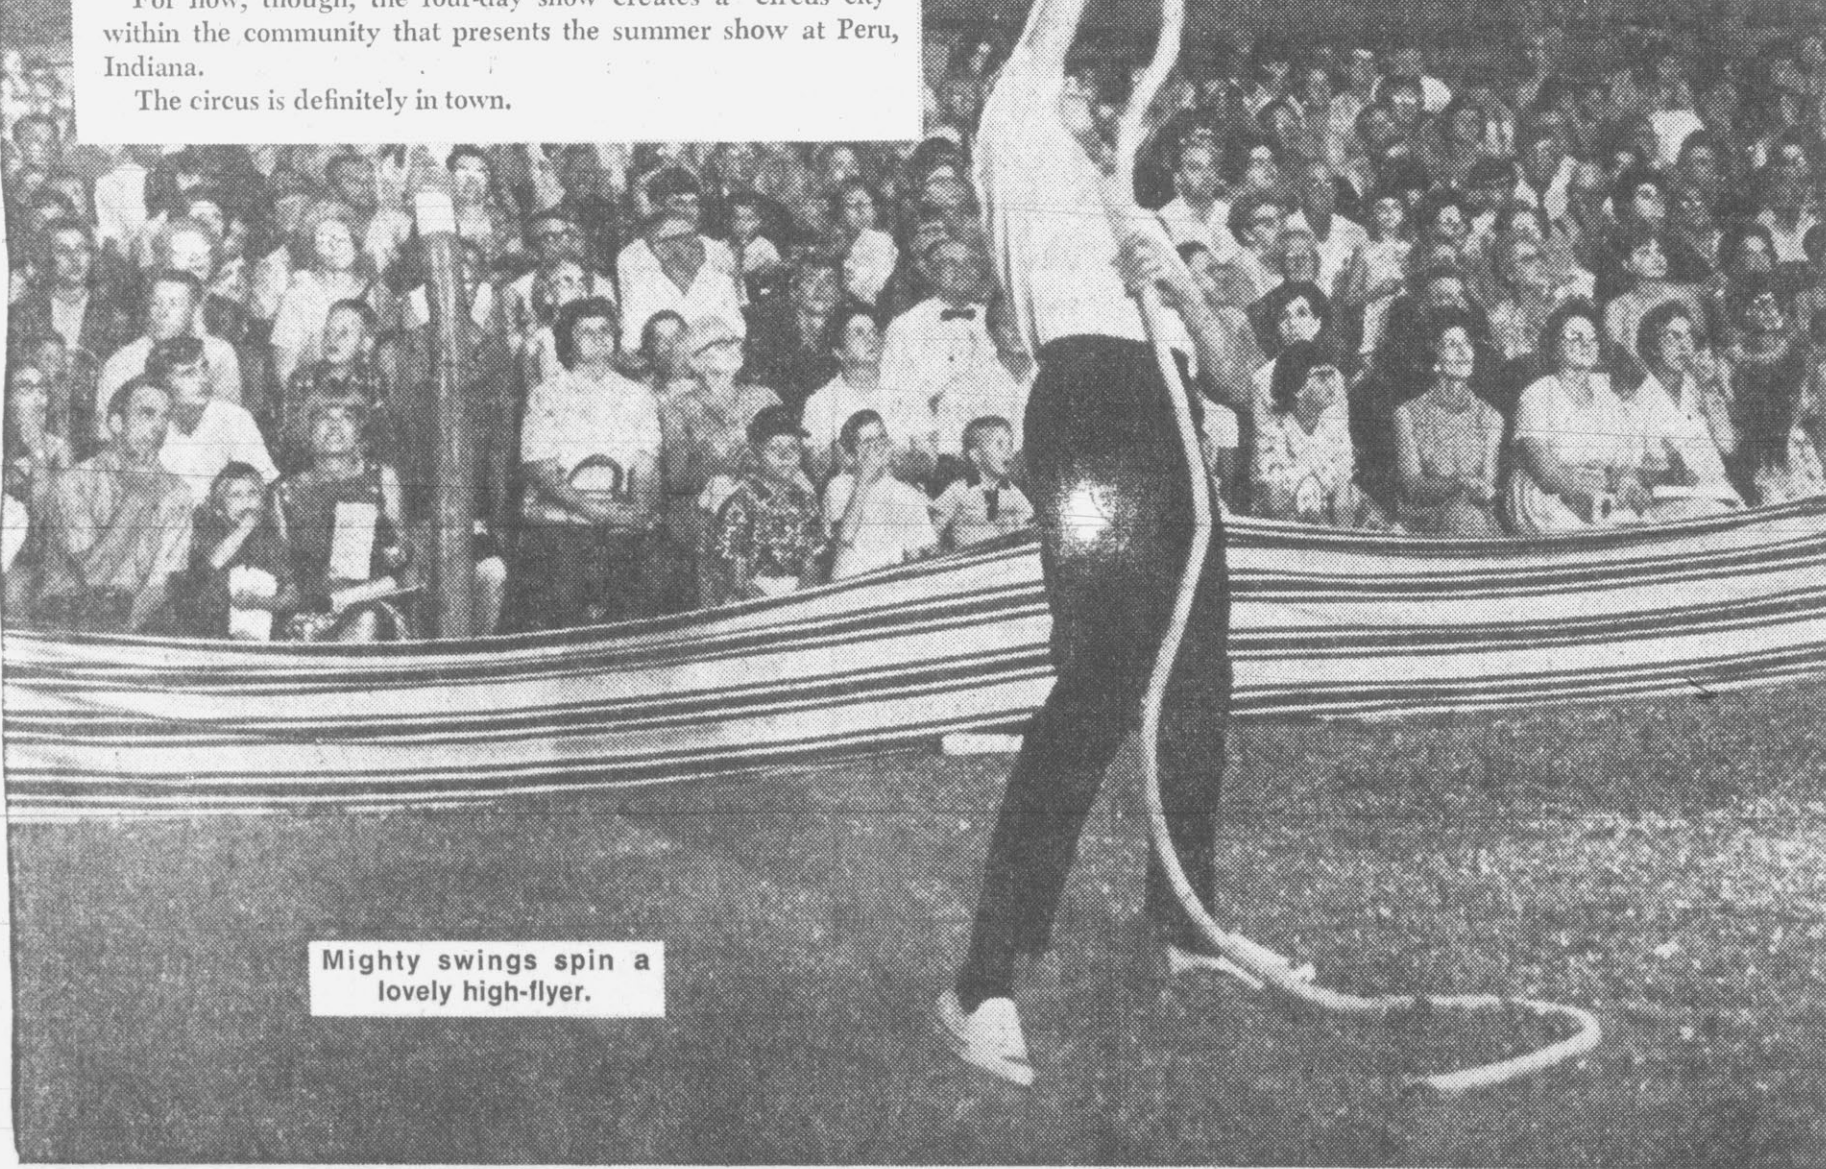

The circus is definitely in town.

Mighty swings spin a lovely high-flyer.

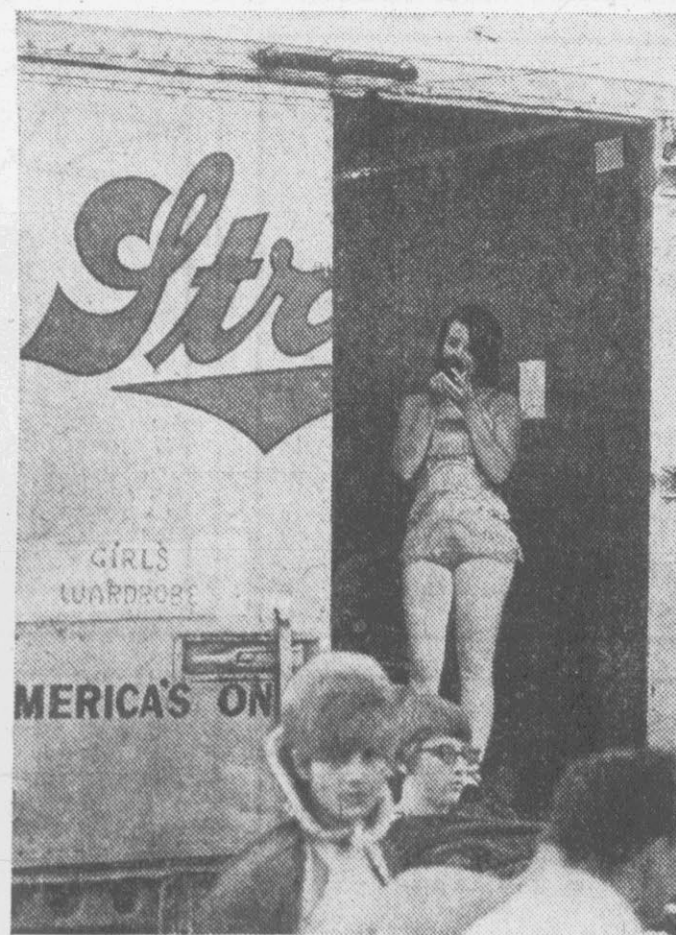

A part of the clown kids.

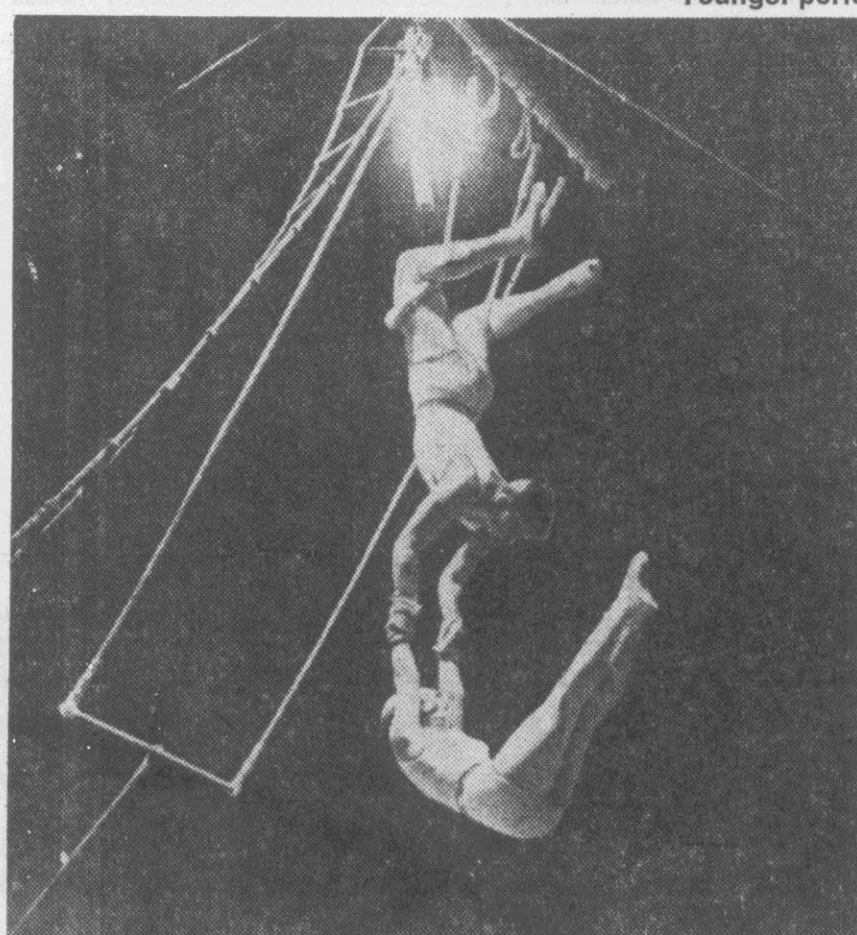

Younger performers waiting their cue to march.

The family that plays together makes up together.

A wardrobe in the back of a truck.

Aerial beauty while the packed house watches.

The star of yesterday, now a teacher, watches his students.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:
Grade A whites: 45½ to 46½; medium, whites: 39 to 40½; small, whites: 29 to 30.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog market today was 25 to mostly 50 cents lower today. Tops of 29.00-29.50 Bethel, Rocky Mount; 19.75-20.50 Wilson; 19.50-20.50 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove, Albemarle and Lumberton; 21.00 Salisbury; 20.00 Greensboro, Siler City and Denton.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed this afternoon after a moderate early rise.

Trading was active, with a parade of sizable blocks contributing to the volume total. Turnover ran far ahead of Tuesday's and was an example of pent-up demand arising out of the Wednesday closing, one of a series of recesses called to allow brokerage firms to catch up with paperwork.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 5 a 346.0 with industrials up .3, rails off 1.2 and utilities unchanged. Some glamor stocks rebounded from recent selling. Blue chips put on an irregular performance.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.75 at 919.45.

Losses outnumbered gains by fewer than 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange, but softness in component blue chips dragged down the Dow.

Burndy, up 1, was high on the list of volume leaders.

Canteen Corp., off 4¼ at 27 on a block of 98,600 shares, also was pushed near the top.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher.

Brewery Reopens In A Heat Wave

TORONTO (AP) — With Ontario steaming under a humid heat wave, the province's beer drinkers took heart today as sales of suds resumed following a three-week brewery shutdown.

A large majority of Ontario's 2,700 brewery workers voted Wednesday to accept an agreement providing a wage increase of 93 cents an hour spread over 1968-69-70. The hourly rate under the old contract ranged from $2.89 to $3.51.

Terry Standing In For Humphrey

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina will stand in for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey during a visit by Sen. Eugene McCarthy to Atlanta today.

Both are to speak at a $20-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Fulton County Democratic party.

Appointment For Bethel Man

RALEIGH—J. C. Williamson, Jr., a Bethel native, has recently been named associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. Williamson holds two degrees in economics from NCSU and has attended the University of Chicago. He joined the State faculty in 1953. Since 1961 he has been assistant director in the school of Agriculture and Life Sciences in charge of research and extension work.

J. C. WILLIAMSON, JR.

In his new position as associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, Williamson will handle administrative duties for the research program.

He is married to the former Sallie Gurganus and they have two children. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson, live in Bethel.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says the National Funeral Directors' Association has agreed with its position that advertising of the price of funerals ought to be permitted.

The department alleged in an antitrust suit filed last year that the association inhibited price competition by prohibiting its members from advertising their prices.

In a proposed consent judgment announced Wednesday, the association would be prohibited from limiting advertising of rates and would be required to offer to readmit any funeral director expelled for violating its rule.

The judgment is expected to become final in 30 days.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new requirement intended to combat auto thefts—and contribute to highway safety—has been announced by the government.

Federal Highway Administrator Lowell K. Bridwell said Wednesday cars manufactured after Dec. 31 will be required to

Church Youth To Hold An Outing

The Senior High United Methodist Youth Fellowship will have a day of fun and fellowship Saturday, July 19.

The Youth will leave from Saint James Church at 7 a.m. and go to Atlantic Beach. Their counselors will drive them to Bogue Sound beach and a noon-day hot dog lunch is planned. The day of fellowship has been planned to include all youth from the eighth grade through the twelfth.

The ministers, Rev. Richard Brunson and Rev. Jim Starnes, invite all youth of the church to share in this day.

Worship Service Planned Tonight

The Thursday evening worship service for "weekend vacationers" will be tonight at 8 o'clock at Saint James Methodist Church, 2000 East Sixth Street.

The sermon tonight will be by the pastor, the Rev. William K. Quick. The regular order of worship for the seventh Sunday after Pentecost will be used.

The service tonight is a part of the summer program of Saint James and is designed to provide a mid-week worship hour for those members and friends of the church who may be beginning their vacations or who will be out of the city on the weekend.

Tonight's worship hour will be held in the Chapel of St. James.

have permanent identification numbers attached inside that can be read by an officer standing near the left windshield.

His office said the new ability to spot stolen cars should deter thefts and contribute to safety because the accident rate for stolen cars is about 200 times that for other automobiles.

A Justice Department study estimates 650,000 cars were stolen last year and 100,000 of them were involved in accidents.

President Johnson personally handed a $230.40 monthly Social Security check Wednesday to the 24 millionth beneficiary under the 33-year-old program. William F. Owen, 65, of Richmond, Va., promptly turned the check over to his wife.

The U.S. Office of Education says the $1 billion Title I program to meet special educational needs of deprived children is lagging because schools are generally unprepared for a massive effort and communities are not dealing with such root causes of academic failure as discrimination and poor health.

Completed UNC Registration

CHAPEL HILL — Three local students, Miss Beth Moore, Miss Curtis LaVonne Simpson, and Ernie Hargett recently completed a one-day registration session at the University of North Carolina here.

Incoming freshmen participate in the program before entering the university in the fall. During the session, they take placement tests, prepare a course of study and familiarize themselves with the campus. Pre-registration is co-sponsored by the Office of Undergraduate Admissions and the General College.

UNC is composed of 14 colleges and schools with more than 70 departments. The student body is estimated to exceed 16,000 for the fall—more than 3,000 of these freshmen and new students. There are nearly 1500 faculty members.

Miss Moore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Moore of 209 S. Elm St.; Miss Simpson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Simpson of 1201 Battle St.; and Hargett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Hargett of 203 S. Elm St.

Flatt And Scruggs, Band Concerts, Theatre Slated

The production, which begins the second half of "Season 5," stars Sally-Jane Heit and Bill Holter, both of Washington, D.C. Performances are scheduled nightly at 8:15 through Saturday, Aug. 3, and at 2:15 p.m. on Wednesday, July 31. ($4.50 evenings, $3.50 matinee, special group rates.)

Cut Cables For 2,400 Goldsboro Telephone Wires
GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Construction crews doing street work in Goldsboro today inadvertently cut cables carrying 2,400 telephone wires.

Residents of a large portion of western Wayne County and part of the city were left without telephone service.

Al Bowen, Southern Bell Telephone Co. manager at Goldsboro, said hopes are that service will be fully restored before "we go to bed tonight."

He said the telephone company a few years ago had moved the cables to avoid such an occurrence. The construction work involves straightening a dog leg curve on a busy street.

MPs Cut Short AWOL Protest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nine AWOL servicemen made a quick transition from church to stockade Wednesday when military police unceremoniously officiated at the end of their 48-hour anti-Vietnam war protest by cutting chains that bound each to a clergyman.

John Robinson, 18, a Marine enlistee from Westport, Conn., said: "Cutting of these chains does not really break the bonds. I hope what we're doing will give some kind of enlightenment to others."

Eight of the servicemen began what they called a "community service of liberation" at 1 p.m. Monday at Howard Presbyterian church here, each chained to a church leader. A ninth serviceman joined them Tuesday.

A bomb threat Tuesday night resulted in all transferring to St. Andrews Presbyterian church in Marin City, across the Golden Gate.

IN SECURITY JAIL
ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Edward Thompson Jr., charged with a double murder and kidnappings of 3 young girls, was moved to the Buncombe County jail last night from an undisclosed jail where he had been held since his arrest Tuesday.

Let's Hear From The People

Before decisions are made concerning the proposed sale and relocation of the City Hall-Utilities Building, shouldn't the citizens of Greenville be given time to study and vote on the issues involved? The Redevelopment Commission and City Council have had ample time to do their studying and to make their plans.

IN THE PAST WHEN LARGE SUMS OF MONEY WERE REQUIRED BY THE CITY FOR NON-BUDGET MATTERS, THE USUAL PROCEDURE HAS BEEN FOR THE CITY COUNCIL TO CALL FOR A SPECIAL REFERENDUM.

A special referendum should be held to give the Greenville residents the opportunity to vote for or against the sale and relocation of this building in the River Front Area.
