Violent Night In Erie, Cleveland, Chicago, Seattle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sporadic racial violence erupted Thursday night in four areas ranging from Erie, Pa., to Seattle, Wash., with Cleveland and Chicago again the major targets.

Reversing his policy of trying to let black community leaders control the situation, Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes reinstated a dusk-to-dawn curfew in Cleveland's Negro slums. It was enforced by National Guardsmen and white police.

There were 30 arrests—two for looting, one for arson and 27 for curfew violation. Several small fires broke out on the East Side where 10 persons, including three policemen, were killed in shootings Tuesday.

Meanwhile, merchants and police differed on protection supplied in the troubled area.

One merchant charged that his store was looted while two Negro policemen watched. But some Negro policemen claim that merchants, after removing valuable items, allowed gangs to loot their stores so they could collect insurance.

In Chicago, a North Side supermarket, which has been the scene of previous incidents, again was vandalized, and store windows were smashed in suburban Maywood after police used tear gas to break up a demonstration at the village hall.

The disturbance in Maywood, an integrated city 15 miles west of Chicago's downtown section, followed a meeting of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Police said about 300 Negro youths marched to the village hall where the village board was meeting. After police used tear gas to disperse them, the youths moved to the downtown section where they smashed windows, overturned park benches and hurled objects at passing vehicles, slightly injuring ten persons.

Twenty five persons were arrested and a curfew was quickly imposed.

A resident of the area said the disturbance on Chicago's North Side began after a group of young Negroes listened to a talk described as inflammatory.

A newspaper photographer was beaten and about 100 youths invaded the supermarket, the front of which was still boarded as the result of an earlier disturbance.

Shotgun-armed police halted the invasion, but the youths harassed a fire department station and pelted passing vehicles with rocks and bottles.

A warehouse in the Erie, Pa., Negro area was firebombed and police and firemen were pelted with rocks and bottles when they responded to the alarm.

Police said a Negro militant, Bennie Wall, was arrested after he threatened to shoot a police captain. They said Wall, who was found to be unarmed, was charged with inciting to riot and released under $500 bond.

Police in Seattle's predominantly Negro central area used tear gas to break up a group of disorderly persons after a truck was set on fire.

The driver told police a group of about 20 youths approached his vehicle and tossed firebombs. He said he was threatened with robbery, but was able to escape and make his way to a fire station.

A group of youths then gathered across the street from a high school and were broken up by police firing tear gas.

Unity Urged On Czech Leaders In Coming Parley

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak leaders, awaiting decisive talks with the Soviet Communist party Politburo, were urged by pacemakers of this country's liberalization drive today to "defend unitedly the road on which we have started and which we will not leave alive."

The appeal came amid mounting concern over rumors that the leadership was split on how to react to Soviet pressure at the showdown meeting likely to begin next week.

The rumors were fed by the decision Thursday of the policy-making party presidium to remove Lt. Gen. Vaclav Pchlik, a chief target of Soviet attacks, from a key position in the party Central Committee.

The presidium ordered Pchlik back to army service and abolished the political department of the party which he headed. It controlled the army, security police and judiciary.

This was an apparent move to conciliate the Kremlin. The Russian propaganda war against the Czechoslovak leadership continued unabated. The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda attacked the departures from orthodox communism and said it was impossible to understand why these were not suppressed.

Usually reliable sources said they understood the decision in Pchlik's case had not the unanimous backing of the 11-member presidium.

Unconfirmed reports in Prague said Moscow demanded Pchlik's removal in a secret note charging that Czechoslovakia had become a weak link in the Warsaw Pact chain.

Second Heart Transplant For Britain

LONDON (AP) — A dying 48-year-old man was given a new heart today in Britain's second heart transplant operation.

"The condition of the patient is at present as satisfactory as can be expected in view of his very grave state for several days prior to the operation," the National Heart Hospital said.

The three-hour operation was performed by the same team that gave a new heart to Frederick West, 45, at the beginning of May. West died 45 days later of a lung infection.

The hospital identified neither the recipient nor the donor.

The donor was rushed to the hospital by ambulance in the early morning after suffering grave brain injuries in a road accident.

Within an hour of arriving the donor died, a hospital spokesman said. The operation began soon afterward. It was the world's 28th heart transplant. Seven other recipients survive.

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., took himself out of any consideration for the Democratic vice presidential nomination today with a statement saying "for me, this year, it is impossible."

Train Hits Car, Driver Injured

BELL ARTHUR — A Wals-tonburg man, Carl T. Hicks Jr., was injured this morning when his car was struck by a freight train at a crossing in Bell Arthur.

Investigation of the 10 a.m. collision by Highway Patrolman George B. Russ and F. L. Owens, is continuing.

According to the officers, the Hicks car was headed north on rural paved road 1206 and was crossing the railroad when the west-bound Norfolk Southern freight—70 cars pulled by three diesel engines—struck it broad-side. The vehicle was pushed 240 feet from the intersection before it came to rest, the patrolmen reported. The train was allegedly traveling about 20 miles per hour at the time of the crash, the officers said.

Damage to the Hicks car was placed at $500. Damage to the train was said to be relatively minor.

Hicks, taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Greenville Fire Department's Rescue Unit suffered multiple lacerations and a possible neck injury.

'Technicalities' Hurt Wallace Sign-Up Drive

BOSTON (AP) — Third-party candidate George Wallace's bid for enough certified signatures to be listed on the Massachusetts presidential ballot shaped up today as a down-to-the-wire affair.

The former Alabama governor must submit 61,236 certified signatures to the secretary of state by next Tuesday, but an Associated Press survey covering communities with more than two-thirds of the state's registered voters shows that he has less than two-thirds of the 61,236.

Latest returns from the survey showed today that elections officials in 99 communities have certified 38,934 of the signatures on petitions submitted by the Wallace forces.

The survey includes reports from all of the state's major cities.

Tuesday, the last day for signatures to be submitted to local election officials for certification Wallace forces said they had 135,000 signatures.

Officials in many communities could not provide figures on invalidated signatures, but totals from those which did tabulate them indicated that slightly less than 50 per cent of the signatures were being rejected.

State law requires that signatures on candidates' petitions conform exactly to signatures on voting records. Omission of a middle initial carried on the voting lists, or vice versa, is one of the technicalities which keeps a signature from being certified.

In most communities, election officials said invalidated signatures had been rejected "for the usual reasons," but there were scattered reports of phoney signatures.

101st Airborne Now Air Cavalry

SAIGON (AP) — Because most of their assaults now are from helicopters rather than by parachute, the former 101st Airborne Division now is the 101st Air Cavalry Division.

The name change was made early this month without fanfare.

A U.S. Command spokesman said today the reason for the change was that the 101st had largely adapted the mobile concept that calls for extensive use of helicopters in movement of troops and for assault landings.

Pitt Has Budget Of $4.2 Million

A budget of $4,211,860.17 for the fiscal year 1968-69 was adopted officially last night by the Pitt County Commissioners.

Last night's meeting was the last in a series of budget work-sessions in which the commissioners hacked $251,806.02 from the original proposed budget of $4,463,666.19.

This year's budget represents an increase of $443,120.93 over last year's budget of $3,768,739.24. The major area of the increase can be found in the establishment of an ambulance service and a rise in the school budget.

Schools in Pitt County will absorb $1,286,835.14 of the county money which is well over half of the tax dollar.

The total anticipated tax revenue is $2,347,878.08 with the balance of the budget money to come from state and federal funds as well as department revenues.

The tax rate for the 1968-69 fiscal year has been set at $1.45 as compared with last year's $1.38.

Duplin Firm To Pay $15,800 For Big Fish Kill

RALEIGH (AP) — A Duplin County oil company plans to pay the state $15,800 in damages for a massive fish kill on the Northeast Cape Fear River which was caused by an insecticide.

E. C. Hubbard, assistant director of the North Carolina Department of Water and Air Resources said Thursday that Worsley Oil Co. of Wallace accepted responsibility for the fish kill earlier this month.

The damage assessment is the largest of its kind in the state's history.

Hubbard said the oil company advised him it recently discarded an undetermined amount of "endrin," a highly-toxic insecticide, by pouring it into a storm sewer.

He said the insecticide ultimately reached the Northeast Cape Fear River and a tributary, Rockfish Creek. The fish kill extended 45 miles.

On July 15, when the Worsley Company learned of the kill, Hubbard said, its attorney advised chairman J. V. Whitfield of the State Board of Water and Air Resources of its possible liability.

Hubbard said the attorney told Whitfield that if an insecticide killed the fish his client "could be responsible and if so, would be willing to pay any damages involved."

"The cost of this fish kill is $15,800.80, of which $8,288.60 represents the fish replacement costs, while the remainder covers the cost of the investigations," Hubbard said.

The Wildlife Resources Commission, which will replace the fish, reported recovering and identifying 12,565 fish weighing a total of 7,158 pounds.

Ex-Employee Files Suit In Federal Court

A former Greenville Housing Authority and Redevelopment Commission employee who alleges he was dismissed because of his "efforts to secure equal and non-racial practices and policies . . . in the operation of housing projects . . ." has filed suit in U. S. District Court, asking $100,000 in damages and reinstatement in his job.

The complaint, filed July 16 by Warren G. Barnes, names the Housing Authority, the Redevelopment Commission, the City of Greenville, and Col. A.E. Dubber, executive director of both the housing and redevelopment bodies, as defendants.

Barnes, whose employment was terminated December 31, 1967, had been manager of the Kearney Park housing project since November 1, 1964. The federal suit asks that Barnes be awarded $50,000 in actual damages, $50,000 in punitive damages, and that the defendants . . . be enjoined to reinstate the plaintiff in his employment in the same or comparable position and to eliminate all practices and policies in the operation and administration of the Greenville housing projects based on race or color."

Termining his dismissal "wrongful," Barnes' complaint alleges that "the acts of defendants were malicious, willful and wanton and were authorized and sanctioned solely because of the plaintiff's race and because of the efforts of plaintiff and other Negro citizens to obtain rights secured to them" by the U.S. Constitution.

Barnes' complaint alleges he was fired by the defendants "without cause and . . . due process" after the defendants associated him "with complaints of the Negro applicants and tenants about the racially discriminatory practices of the defendants."

The civil papers were served on Dubber and on Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West as head of the city government yesterday. An answer to the complaint is called for within 20 days after service of the paper, unless an extension of time is granted.

Obscenity Case Rulings By Fortas Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said today that Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas' judgment in obscenity cases is "abhorrent to the maintenance of moral standards by our communities."

In a Senate speech, Miller called on President Johnson to withdraw his nomination of Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Miller noted the Senate Judiciary Committee has received testimony that in May and June of 1967 the Supreme Court reversed 23 of 26 state and federal convictions for violating laws on obscenity and reversed 26 additional cases in the court term that ended last month.

"Justice Fortas voted with the 64 majority in all of these cases," Miller said.

He added that although Fortas did not write any opinions in these cases setting forth his judicial philosophy on this subject, "We do have his judgment in the reversals of these cases."

"And," Miller said, "the judgment is abhorrent to the maintenance of moral standards by our communities. It is a judgment which encourages the permissiveness and criminal activity which are plaguing our society."

One case in which Fortas voted to reverse a conviction involved three strip-tease films, entitled 0-7, 0-12 and D-15, that were ruled hard-core pornography by a federal district judge, a Los Angeles jury, and California appellate courts.

The film 0-7, consisting entirely of a model who strips off a bra, garter belt and sheer, transparent panties, already had been viewed by a three-man subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin said meanwhile the drive he leads to block Fortas' confirmation as chief justice has gained new strength as the result of just-concluded Judiciary Committee hearings.

Foreign Aid Funds Lowest In 21 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under heavy battering by both House and Senate, the authorization for President Johnson's foreign aid program will be the lowest in 21 years of overseas assistance.

The latest slashes were made Thursday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which trimmed $25 million out of the military aid section, putting it at $365 million.

President Johnson had asked $420 million for military aid in a total request of $2.9 billion. As reported to the floor by the Foreign Relations Committee the total authorization would be $1.94 billion.

The House had approved a $1.99 billion measure.

Provide Aerial Briefing Of Area Involved In Hearing Today

NEW BERN—A public meeting to discuss pollution, modification and utilization of the coastal waters along the 3,375 miles of tidal shoreline in North Carolina was held here today.

The fact-finding session was one of a series of meetings being held throughout the United States by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration as part of the National Estuarine Study — a look at coastal water and estuarine pollution — which the U.S. Congress has directed the FWPCA to make by November 1969.

In preparation for today's meeting, 32 federal and state officials and news media representatives participated in an 800-mile orientation flight from New Bern southward to Wilmington and the South Carolina border, then up the Outer Banks to Currituck, Elizabeth City, Norfolk, then southward again to Plymouth the Texas Gulf Sulphur phosphate mine in Beaufort County and back to New Bern—surveying the estuaries of North Carolina.

The flight was sponsored jointly by the FWPCA, an agency of the U.S. Department of the Interior, and the State of North Carolina.

North Carolina has the third largest system of estuaries in the nation and according to officials, has one of the best and most active management programs in effect to control and preserve the natural resources of the estuaries.

With more than two million acres of estuarine waters, this state's estuarine systems are exceeded only by those of Alaska and Louisiana.

Estuaries are coastal bodies of water connected to the sea by inlets or river mouths. The FWPCA study includes not only the bodies of water themselves, out the "estuarine zone," the environmental system consisting of an estuary and those areas which are consistently influenced or affected by water from an estuary. Included in the "estuarine zone" are the salt marshes, coastal and intertidal areas, bays, harbors, lagoons, inshore waters and channels.

North Carolina's estuaries ranging from the salty waters of the South to the practically fresh-and-tide-free waters of the Currituck Sound at the northern tip of the state—provide a home and food for an abundant supply of wildlife, including fish, shell fish, birds and animals. The varied uses made of these estuaries by commercial fishermen, sportsmen, and industry, make them invaluable.

Pollution or modification of these estuaries by man as he uses them affects the plant life and wildlife of the area.

"This public meeting," according to Eugene T. Jensen, Middle Atlantic Regional Director of the FWPCA said, "is being held to explore and identify problems of North Carolina's coastal waters."

Jensen pointed out that dredge and fill operations, erosion, pollution (including industrial waste and municipal waste) and other factors, can have an adverse effect on the estuaries.

Today's meeting, Jensen said, was to provide "an opportunity for all individuals and organizations interested in the future of North Carolina's coastal waters and estuaries to give their views on what should be done to protect these invaluable resources."

These areas, Jensen pointed out, provide fish and shell fish in commercial quantities, as well as provide income to the residents of the area through sportsmen coming into the area to hunt and fish.

Information presented at today's meeting will be used in the preparation of FWPCA's report to Congress.

Poverty Really 'Good Business'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., says the activities of an antipoverty program official show "poverty is really a pretty good business for some people."

Rep. Green told the House Thursday that Richard Frost, a $1,000-a-month official with an Upward Bound project in Oregon, also serves as a $100-a-day consultant to a firm that has an Office of Economic Opportunity contract to review Upward Bound grants.

Upward Bound is a program administered by the OEO aimed at helping potential high school dropouts stay in school and go on to higher learning.

Rep. Green said Frost used to be national director of Upward Bound but quit that post to become an advisory board member of Educational Associates which has no other source of income but the OEO.

She said Frost also is deputy director of an Upward Bound program in an Oregon prison for which he draws a $1,000-a-month salary. In addition, she said, he is a professor at Reed College in Portland, Ore., and gets paid between $16,000 and $18,000 a year.

Rep. Green commented in connection with an amendment to a higher education bill that would eliminate OEO's authority to award contracts to private agencies. The amendment was approved.

The bill also would transfer Upward Bound to the Office of Education.

Frost, contacted in Portland, said Rep. Green's criticism stemmed from his opposition to transfer of Upward Bound out of the OEO.

"Now, as a free citizen, I continue to oppose such a transfer," Frost said.

"Mrs. Green has a real political clout over the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and would like this successful program (Upward Bound) in that department," he added.

Britain Accepts Metric Change

The Question Is Whether To Tell Or Not To Tell Sister

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: If you knew positively that your sister's husband had been keeping another woman for 7 or 8 years, would you take on the sad task of telling your sister?

Many other people know it, and she is bound to find out someday, and then she will know that we knew it, too.

HER SISTERS

DEAR SISTERS: There are two schools of thought. To tell and not to tell.

I belong to the "not to tell" school. There are exceptions, of course. In most cases the wife usually knows, but she is putting on a brave face for reasons known only to her.

Allow her her pride and keep quiet. And should she in time admit that she knows, be "oig" and don't chime in with those who would say, "I knew it all along."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl and I am waiting for a guy who is overseas in the service. (Let's call him Morey.) I don't have an engagement ring or anything like that, but I promised Morey I would wait for him, so that's what I am doing.

Well, there is a guy Morey used to run around with (let's call him Herman), and Herman comes over and takes me out just to keep me from going nuts. Anyway, it started out that way. Now, Herman tells me he thinks he is in love with me, altho I told Herman from the start that I was waiting for Morey and I think of him only as a friend.

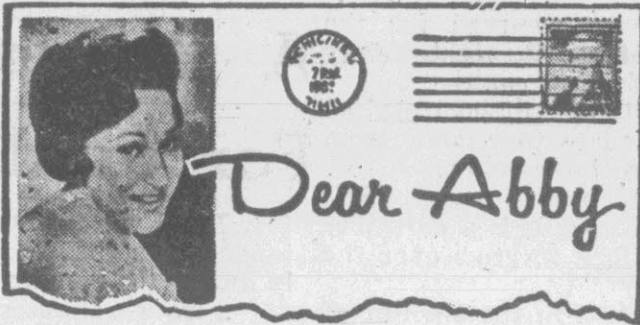

Don't get me wrong, Herman hasn't tried anything, but he is starting to like me too much for his own good. I don't want to quit seeing Herman because he's really a nice guy and a girl could go nuts sitting home all the time waiting letters.

My mother says I shouldn't be going out at all, but I can't see any harm in it as long as visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Car-gile and family. While there, Mrs. Carson attended the summer theater at East Carolina University.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Carson and their daughters Cindy, Jannet, and Amy of Grifton visited Dr. Carson's mother, Mrs. D. C. Carson here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Etheridge of Rocky Mount were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Keel Sunday afternoon.

I don't lead anybody on. What or dinner table. But before marriage, or immediately after, do you think? I don't want to hurt Herman.

WAITING FOR MOREY
DEAR WAITING: Maybe you think of Herman as "only a friend," but he obviously has other ideas about you. I don't know how you figure you are "waiting" for Morey, when you are going with Herman. If a girl "waits" for a fellow, she waits alone without "going nuts." Don't worry about hurting Herman. I have an idea he can take care of himself.

DEAR ABBY: You said, "There is one type of man I have never known to be strong, reliable and trustworthy, and he is the man who would ask for a loan of money from the woman he loves."

Are there NO exceptions?

BEEN THERE
DEAR BEEN: Yes. A husband and wife many years married, and united by common interests, may become so one in purpose and thought that a common purse would be as natural to them as a common bed.

At the same time 25 antique dealers from Eastern N.C. will have their 2nd antique lawn show and sale. Admission to this will be free to all.

Stranded Visitors' Scheme Backfires

PARIS (WNS) — Nicole Fienet, 24, pretended to be a street-walker, took $40 from each client and then led him to her hotel room. Once inside, her "husband" would break into the room, threaten to call the police and chase the male victim away. Enough victims met in the corner bar to exchange stories and call the police themselves. In court, Nicole admitted that her husband was only her lover, Claude Bruno. "We are visitors from Belgium, ran out of money and couldn't get working papers that would allow us to take legitimate jobs," she explained.

Busy Thoroughfare Needs Action

It is to be hoped that the State Highway Commission will shortly work out plans for the North Greene Street improvements so that the project can proceed.

Although funds have been reserved for the four-laning of this important street, right-of-way problems have delayed the letting of contracts.

Hopefully curbs and gutters will be installed and the street will be widened to four lanes from the bridge to the Belvoir Road intersection.

Greene Street is already one of Greenville's busiest interior thoroughfares and it is a certainty that its traffic load will continue to grow over the years.

Funds for the improvements in the amount of $280,000 have been set aside from the urban fund portion of state road bond money. Greenville has given the project priority, drawing on these funds.

The project has once been placed out for bids, but awarding the contracts was withheld pending redesigning portions of the street.

Highway Commission officials now say they expect to call for bids again in the fall.

We are hopeful that all the problems connected with the Greene Street project can be settled soon

Gardner Makes Political Gains

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Rep. Jim Gardner has been gaining and is continuing to make inroads into the usual, traditional Democratic majorities pooled in contests for governor of North Carolina.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

He remains the underdog, but few political observers will deny at this point that Gardner is likely to run the strongest race for the governorship of any Republican in North Carolina in years. And neither will many say flatly that a Gardner victory in November is beyond reach.

This is all disturbing and a bit alarming in the headquarters of the Democratic nominee, Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, and adds up to the fact that the state will see a classic campaign, already begun.

Statewide Survey
The observations now reported are based on a statewide survey conducted the past month, including both interviews in Raleigh and visits to key counties in all sections of the state.

The main conclusion is inescapable — Gardner is gaining and will run strong against Scott.

Staunch Scott supporters poo-poo this and contend that Scott will sweep the state by a greater margin than anyone since Luther Hodges did more than 10 years ago. They believe Scott commands the popularity and support to go in on a record wave of general election votes. They point to overwhelming support indicated in the May primary.

Other conclusions, or present observations, were reached.

A Greater Efficiency For Handling Tobacco

Local warehouses are taking steps to see that tobacco brought in for sale is handled more efficiently during the coming marketing season.

Five warehouses are installing automatic systems for tobacco handling which will cut down the long waiting periods farmers have experienced during peak selling periods of past years.

The system will utilize a conveyor system which will transport sheeted tobacco from the farmer's truck to a scales for weighing. Then it will move to another area where a fork lift truck will scoop it up and place it on the floor for sale.

The system should eliminate much handling and it should provide a more effective system for receiving tobacco in the warehouses.

It represents a giant step toward more efficiency in warehousing. There will in all likelihood be other improvements in the years to come.

We are pleased to see Greenville warehousemen among the first to adopt new methods.

Too Busy For Missile Talks

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations for starting U. S. Soviet talks on curbing the superpower missile race apparently have been stalled by the Kremlin's preoccupation with Czechoslovakia.

This is the explanation widely advanced in Washington as to why the atomic big two have yet to announce the long-expected opening of discussions about restraining their own arms competition.

It is now four weeks since Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko officially signaled Soviet readiness to begin the talks, for which Washington had been pressing for 1 1/2 years.

President Johnson quickly responded with an announcement July 1:

"Agreement has been reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the United States to enter in the nearest future into discussions on the limitations and reduction of both offensive strategic nuclear weapons delivery systems and systems of defense against ballistic missiles."

U. S. authorities said at the time that careful preliminary U. S. Soviet diplomatic exchanges would be necessary to outline the subject matter of the talks and agree on what categories of persons should be assigned to the negotiating teams, since the atomic missiles question goes to the heart of the military might of the two great powers.

But these U. S. officials had generally expected that an accord on a time and place to begin the talks would be virtually wrapped up by the time the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference convened for its summer session July 15.

Instead, "the nearest future" of which Johnson spoke is lengthening by the day and administration sources now shy from predictions on when the discussions may start.

While the exact state of the preliminary negotiations is a closely held secret, it is understood that some days have elapsed since a reply of any kind was received from the Soviets to the last U. S. proposal about how to proceed.

In the absence of any official word from Moscow explaining the delay in a Soviet response, U. S. strategists are now inclined to attribute it mainly to the priority Soviet leaders are giving to their campaign to keep upstart Czechoslovakia in line.

According to this reasoning, the Kremlin these days operates under committee rule and it takes time for the leadership to decide on major issues such as a potential missile hold-down.

Misses Sammy and Mary Louise Langley have returned from Virginia Beach. Miss Annie Perkins has returned from Chapel Hill, where she has been attending summer school.

Mrs. E. E. Rawl and sons, Matt Phillips and Edward Rawl Jr., spent yesterday in Snow Hill.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
FLIRTING WITH CATASTROPHE

Anger can degenerate into a terrible vice. God intends it to be a moral instrument for men to use to the pulling down of the strongholds of evil. Our Lord was frequently angry, but he never lost his temper. There is a distinction here. He was always angry against man's inhumanity to man. His temper burst forth into flame as he encountered hypocrisy and as he saw men putting material interests before spiritual. This is the use of anger at its high and noble levels.

But we pick up the newspaper every day to see that someone in a fit of rage has committed murder. When we allow anger to plunge into un-control the capacity God has given us to protest against evil, it becomes so diseased and decadent that it involves us in spiritual illness. A person who cannot control his temper is spiritually sick and frequently mentally so. Beethoven tells how he once became so angry at a fellow musician that in a rage he flung himself upon the floor. "I fell on my hands," he writes, "and when I got up I found I was deaf. The doctors said afterward I had permanently injured the nerves of my ears."

No Troubles In Russia

MOSCOW — I haven't visited the Soviet Union in 10 years, but I am happy to report it is still a workers' paradise, and the envy of anyone who is caught up in the rat race of the Western world.

While the West is struggling with its almost insurmountable problems, the Soviets are living in an aura of stability and progress where every day is like the next and one doesn't have to worry about any surprises.

It was my Soviet friend, Dimitri, whom I hadn't seen in 10 years, who made me realize how far behind the United States was, compared to the Soviet Union.

At lunch he chortled, "I told you the United States would demand to be more like us."

"What on earth do you mean, Dimitri?"

"All your American politicians are screaming for law and order. There is no country in the world that has more law and order than the Soviet Union."

"That's true," I had to admit. "Everyone wants a stronger police force in the United States."

"Forgive me for boasting, but we have more police per capita than anyone. Not only will you find a uniformed policeman on every block, but there are thousands walking around in civilian clothes and no one knows who they are. It's impossible to be mugged in Moscow."

"How are you fixed on student demonstrations?" I asked.

"We have none unless they're organized by the government, and we have no draft card burners or agitators, either."

"This is George Wallace's kind of country," I said. "When our government officials speak you don't find anyone picketing them."

"It must be wonderful to live in a land without pickets," I told Dimitri.

"And we don't have strikes."

"American workers never seem to be satisfied," I said. "How do you keep the workers from striking?"

"The government decides what they should be paid, and the workers agree."

"That certainly is better than collective bargaining," Dimitri said. "We also have better newspapers than you do. Your newspapers are always criticizing the government and that makes the people unhappy. Our newspapers never criticize the government, so the Soviet people never fret."

"But suppose, heaven forbid," I said, "the government makes a mistake. Who points it out?"

"The government. Otherwise it's not a mistake."

ART BUCHWALD

"I hate to bring this up, Dimitri, but we've been sitting here for hours and we haven't had any lunch. Is there something wrong?"

"Of course not. Under the Communist system there is no class discrimination in the Soviet Union. A waiter in this country has the same rights as all other citizens, and he is permitted to eat his lunch when we eat ours."

"I see. Then he'll serve us after he's finished?"

"Not necessarily. Since we've done away with the decadent capitalist system of tipping, a waiter doesn't have to serve us if he doesn't want to. All a Soviet waiter is obliged to do is serve the State."

"Then how does one get something to eat?"

"You tip the waiter before the meal starts," Dimitri said. "Well, why didn't we do that?"

"I didn't want you to think that was the only way you could get lunch in my country."

Forty Years Ago Other Editors Say Temple Of Friendship

(Christian Science Monitor)

An ancient Egyptian temple has taken to the water to escape the waters. The temple of Dendur, threatened by the flood rising behind the Aswan High Dam has now been whisked from its site along the timeless Nile and placed aboard an American freighter. After three weeks of rolling on the Mediterranean and the Atlantic, the building — knocked down into 647 pieces for shipping — will be offloaded onto New York wharves. Thence it will be carefully trucked up Manhattan to come to rest, reassembled, on the Metropolitan Museum of Art's grounds.

The little jewel, one of 266 saved from the flooding stream, is a gift from the Egyptian Government to the American people. It expresses the farmer's thanks for the help given by American in salvaging the archaeological treasures of Upper Egypt.

It is a happy thought that the present dark state of relations between Egypt and the United States has not held up this project. The temple's age can remind us all that the passing of time and the growth of mutual goodwill are certain to bring a betterment in these relations. Egypt's refusal to halt this project, even under the bitterness felt against America as a result of last year's Arab-Israeli war, bespeaks Cairo's welcome conviction that America and Egypt will once again be friends.

Protectionist Measures Loom

By ELMER ROESSNER

There is a strong possibility that a big chunk of protectionist legislation will be slipped through in the closing days of Congress.

With the surtax, American industry is paying higher taxes today and is facing loss of sales because consumers are also paying higher taxes; it faces loss of government contracts because of the $6 billion cut in federal spending; it faces loss of sales because of the threatening steel strike, and higher wages because higher pay for steelworkers will spread to other industries.

So industry is marshalling all of its lobbying power, and all of the other pressures it can generate to keep competing goods out of the United States.

The Year Of The Quota
Tariffs are out. Treaties, including the Kennedy Round of cuts, pledge most Western nations to reduced rates. But quotas are in. Also in are border taxes, import surcharges and export rebates, all of which would limit imports, make them more expensive, or subsidize American exports.

The end result would be to increase the cost of doing business and the cost of living in the United States, to the benefit of the corporations protected.

There is some validity to the protectionists' argument. Many countries raise barriers to American goods. In recent weeks, the French applied a new import tax on pork. The West Germans have imposed a quota on canned pears, canned asparagus and canned wax beans. And it is becoming increasingly difficult to sell an American broiler in all of Europe, so many are the taxes, inspection fees and quotas imposed on them.

Because of its current troubles resulting from strikes and riots, other members of the Common Market have agreed that France may temporarily impose new tariffs and quotas on imports, including steel. In two recent months, U.S. exports sank below the level of imports.

In addition, many Euro-

Nixon Hasn't Got It

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CINCINNATI — The new political fact of life, that the Republican Presidential nomination is not yet absolutely sewed up for Richard M. Nixon, was underlined here July 21 in a room at the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel as the National Governors' Conference got underway.

Governor Spiro (Ted) Agnew of Maryland, once a booster of Governor Nelson Rockefeller but lately leaning toward Nixon, had asked Governors James A. Rhodes of Ohio and George Romney of Michigan to the Sunday morning meeting to form a loose coalition at the Republican Convention. As the three remaining favorite sons leading uncommitted delegations to Miami Beach, Agnew proposed, they ought to try pooling their strength though not yet move in a specific direction.

Rhodes cut off Agnew before he had scarcely gotten his words out. Ohio's 58-member delegation, Rhodes declared, was uncommitted and was going to stay that way right to the moment it arrived in Miami Beach — precluding Rhodes from making arrangements with other state delegations. Rhodes, normally boisterously outspoken in voicing his opinions to fellow Governors, concluded by primly advising that he couldn't discuss residential politics.

Romney followed by saying much the same thing. Taking aback by their caution, Agnew replied he had no intention of trying to bind one state's delegation to another and indicated that Maryland, like Ohio and Michigan, was staying uncommitted for now. The meeting, briefer than anyone had expected, was over.

While the Maryland-Ohio-Michigan axis was stillborn, the Sunday morning meeting did reveal the present inclination of all three states to go through one ballot at Miami pledged to favorite sons. And that is one of two slender props supporting the renewed hope by Nixon's opponent of stopping him on the first ballot.

The other is Governor Ronald Reagan's guerrilla raid through the South engineered by F. Clifton White, his expert delegate collector. Reagan stopped in West Texas en route to Cincinnati to pluck off delegates Nixon had been hoping for and leaves here seeking new conquests.

Indeed, White has Reagan delegates sequestered in supposedly pro-Nixon delegations throughout the South, whose disclosure will be intended to produce the image of fading Nixon strength. It is Reagan's Southern expedition, rather than any Rockefeller comeback, that causes thinly-veiled anxiety among the Nixon high command gathered in Cincinnati.

Nevertheless, Reagan would be of little concern to Nixon had the three important uncommitted delegations been broken open with a majority of them guaranteeing Nixon's first ballot nomination. Indeed, two weeks ago, that seemed the logical course of events.

That this possibility has faded and that all three may remain uncommitted on the first ballot produces a new mood of uncertainty. Although he is the least predictable of politicians, Rhodes privately tells friends he would

William Friday Expects 52,794 Attending UNC

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—President William C. Friday of the Consolidated University of North Carolina estimated today that enrollment at the university's four campuses will reach 52,794 by 1975 as compared with 32,944 last fall.

In a talk prepared for delivery to the Fayetteville Kiwanis Club, Friday said he expects the enrollment at the Chapel Hill campus to reach 18,492 by 1975, some 17,338 at N. C. State, 9,054 at Greensboro and 8,000 at Charlotte.

"We want," Friday said, "to enroll every student who shows by past performances in high school that he has prepared himself for university-level work and is motivated to succeed in higher education. The limitation is in space and personnel."

Friday said an applicant might not always get to attend the campus of his choice but he was confident "there will be a place within the four campuses of the university for qualified applicants."

The UNC president told the Kiwanians that in 1964 ratings by the American Council of Education, 24 departments on the Raleigh and Chapel Hill campuses were rated adequate, good or strong.

"These ratings make it clear that the university at Chapel Hill stands in those comparisons as one of the best universities in the country," Friday said.

The ratings also make it clear that N. C. State "is one of those institutions in which much has North's one no trump bid crowds the upper limits of the range for that call — observe that he has 18 points plus two tens. It may be pointed out on his behalf, however, that an opening bid of one club may present a rebid problem if partner responds with one diamond.

East overcalled one no trump with two spades. South's hand was worthless defensively and yet he could take six tricks at a diamond contract. Accordingly he jumped directly to five diamonds in an attempt to steal the hand from the opposition.

West was tempted to raise his partner but, inasmuch as the auction had reached an extremely elevated level and he feared that 11 tricks might exceed the offensive potential for his side, he doubled to extract some measure of compensation on the deal.

West opened the ace of spades. East felt that it was extremely unlikely that his side could cash any more spade tricks and, in an attempt to induce a heart shift, he played the king of spades under his partner's ace. East intended his play as a suit preference signal, calling for the lead of the higher ranking of the two plain suits.

West was unfortunately unaware of the urgent necessity for a quick shift in the attack, and he woodenly continued with a second spade. South ruffed and led a diamond. West was in with the ace and belatedly led a heart. Dummy's ace was played and, after the king of diamonds drew the remaining trump, declarer discarded his last heart on the high clubs.

West should have made his heart shift at trick two, while he still had the ace of diamonds. The bidding made it highly improbable that South had a second spade, and besides, if East wanted a continuation, he could have given a more normal come-on with the nine, ten or even the jack of spades. His play of the king was an unnecessarily high card which could logically mean only one thing: He wanted a heart shift before it was too late.

Evans-Novak . . .

like to see Ohio stay with him as favorite son for a ballot or two.

Actually, Rhodes has been under unremitting pressure to endorse Nixon from Ohio party regulars — particularly the state party's influential money men from the Cleveland area.

Romney faces no such pressure.

Agnew, while still much more sympathetic to Nixon's hardline on the race question than Rockefeller's, is now undecided. To try to keep him that way, Rockefeller forces have dispatched platoons of high and low pressure salesmen.

To Train A Child

Mommy, I love you.
I'm glad I'm alive.
It's fun to run and play and laugh and dance.

It's hard to stand still and listen.

Mommy, I love you.
Thank you for taking care of me. Thank you for cookies and milk and bread.

Please give me a dime for Sunday School. I like Sunday School. We sing and laugh and learn about God.

Mommy, I love you.

And so on and on she prattles in her own innocent and naive way. Soon, however, her questions will become more complex and her parents will need all the love and wisdom they can obtain.

Fortunately, we as parents are not alone in this endeavor. The Church stands ready and anxious to help us train our children. Through worship, study and meditation we can learn to know what God requires of us. Come to the church of your choice this Sunday and every Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Missions Revival To Open Sunday At Local Church

NASH FAMILY... The Rev. Robert Nash, Southern Baptist missionary to the Philippines, with his wife, Jan, and sons Robert, age nine, and David, age 5.

The Rev. Robert N. Nash, in 1964, will be accompanied by his wife and two sons. They will lead a session on "Life in the Philippines" during a covered dish supper at the church on Sunday, at 6:00. The evening service will follow at 7:45. On Sunday morning, members of the deaf class of the church will participate in the service through an interpreter, Mrs. John Moore. On Wednesday evening slides of the mission work will be shown.

A native of Athens, Ga., the Rev. Nash was graduated from Mercer University and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He served as pastor of Oakland Heights Baptist Church in Salisbury, before coming to Arlington Street.

Burying Former Federal Judge

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Former federal judge David E. Henderson 88, who died Thursday, will be buried Saturday after 2 p.m. funeral services at Charlotte's First Methodist Church.

Henderson, former judge of the Western North Carolina District, lived in Charlotte.

A former president of the Mecklenburg Bar Association, he was sworn in as federal judge in 1948.

Active in church and civic affairs, Henderson also served as a presidential elector, federal referee in bankruptcy and conciliation commissioner during the depression years of the 1930s, and on the North Carolina Elections Board.

A native of Onslow County, Henderson was known to his friends as "Zeke." His full name was Jackson Ezekiel David James Nathanial Sylvester Willie Edward Demosthenes Henderson.

Survivors include his widow, the former Mattie Jenkins of Aulander; three sons, David H. Charles J. and J. Wesley Henderson, all of Charlotte; and a daughter, Mrs. Martha H. Hones of Columbia, S. C.

New President Of 4-H Clubs

RALEIGH (AP)—Mike Carpenter of Rt. 1, Clyde, is the new president of the North Carolina 4-H Clubs, succeeding Janice Handcock of Seagrove.

Carpenter was elected Thursday during 4-H Club Week at North Carolina State University.

Other new officers are Judy McLean of Rt. 2, Horse Shoe, vice president; Beth Whitley of Rt. 2 Rocky Mount, secretary-treasurer; and Selwyn Sampson of Pembroke, reporter.

Club week ended Thursday night with a banquet and the annual 4-H parade of talent.

High Curiosity Over Iron Casket

BELLEVIEW, Ill. (AP)—A cast iron casket dug up by sewer workers on the west side of Belleville last week remains unopened and unidentified.

But Dr. C. C. Kane, coroner of St. Clair County, said Thursday he thinks it should be opened. He said so much curiosity has arisen over the origin and contents of the ornate mummy-shaped coffin that "if it is reburied someone just might decide to dig it up to see who or what is inside."

Dr. Kane said county records have been no help in establishing the identity of the tightly sealed casket.

Minor Damage In Thursday Mishap

Jacqueline Tutt Moseley, 906 Charles St., was charged with following too closely by police yesterday after investigation of a 1 p.m. collision at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Memorial Drive.

Police said the Moseley auto collided with a car driven by Thelma White Simmons, 25, of Winterville.

Damage to the Moseley auto was set at $100 while damage to the Simmons car was placed at $25.

Now Two Left Of S.C. Quadruplets

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP)—The last male of the Norris quadruplets has died of respiratory difficulties, the ailment which also took the life of his tiny brother hours after birth.

Stephen Edward Norris, two-and-a-half days old, died Thursday at 12:05 p.m. at Spartanburg General Hospital. Doctors said he had been experiencing breathing troubles since birth early Tuesday morning.

The two girls—Suzanne Rene and Stephanie Lynn Norris—remained in satisfactory condition.

The parents of the quadruplets, the Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Norris, named the babies Thursday, just before their second son died.

Mrs. Norris, 25, continues to improve and is expected to be discharged soon, hospital officials said.

Doctors have been watching the infants closely. They were born seven weeks premature and placed immediately in incubators, the usual procedure for babies who weigh less than five pounds.

The Rev. Mr. Norris is pastor of the First Free Will Baptist Church in Spartanburg. The birth of the quadruplets was first recorded in South Carolina in 18 years.

Have New Law But Lack Funds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky passed an "implied consent" law to cope with drunk drivers, then found it lacked funds for sufficient breath-testing equipment. But Public Safety Commissioner W. O. Newman says the program will be implemented as far as possible in the next two years.

Roll Back Time Of Man's Arrival

BARTOW, Calif. (AP)—An archaeologist associated with the Calico digs says major breakthroughs in dating the arrival of man in North America have been made.

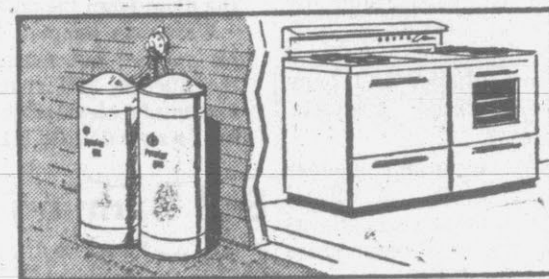

Ruth D. Simpson, project field director, said Thursday evidence of man dating back 80,000 years has been found at the California site. She said new techniques developed in the desert excavations may roll man's arrival date on this continent back even further.

It had previously been theorized that man came to this continent about 37,000 years ago.

Gibson Blanks Phillies For 11th Straight Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Patience finally paid off for Jim Northrup and Joe Torre, but against Bob Gibson it appears almost useless.

National League hitters have been waiting for almost two months—since May 23—for Gibson to lose, but the hard-firing St. Louis right-hander is having none of it. In fact, its almost as difficult just to score a run against him as it is to beat him. The Philadelphia Phillies are the latest left watching and waiting as the veteran hurler cut them down 5-0 Thursday night on five hits for his 11th consecutive victory and eighth shutout of the season.

Now with a 14-5 record, Gibson has yielded more than three runs only once in those 19 decisions, and in his last 92 innings he has allowed only two runs.

So the wait goes on against Gibson, but for Northrup and Torre, it has finally ended.

The slugging Northrup waited three weeks—since July 4—before breaking a home run slump Thursday night and Torre drummed his figures for five weeks—since June 20—before he connected.

Northrup broke loose for two blasts, driving in three runs, and helped the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 rain-shortened victory over the Washington Senators in the only American League contest.

Torre unloaded a three-run clout in Atlanta's 4-2 triumph over the New York Mets.

In the only other game in the National League, Cincinnati scored a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates who waited and waited for the clutch hit and never got it.

Gibson left little hope that the Phillies would be the ones to break him down. He struck out six, walked one and allowed only one runner as far as second base in posting his 12th complete game in a row.

His victory string and this 33rd shutout of his career each tied Cardinals' team records.

Chris Short, 9-10, had the misfortune to be the opposing pitcher and the Cardinals touched him for two runs in the fourth inning on Johnny Edwards' single.

Two more scored in the fifth on Orlando Cepeda's double and Mike Shannon's hit, and Gibson doubled in the final run in the eighth as the Cardinals swept the four-game series, extending Philadelphia's losing streak to seven games.

The victory, by the way, also kept St. Louis' National League lead at 12½ games over Atlanta.

Detroit, wrapped in a 6-9 slump since the All-Star break, raised its American League lead to 5½ games over idle Baltimore entering a three-game weekend series against the Orioles.

Northrup, who says hitting a home run "tends to make you overwringing," brought the Tigers in with a two-run shot in the first inning and a leadoff belt in the third, giving him 15 for the season and 59 runs batted in.

The homers made it easy for Joe Sparrma 8-9, who walked six men but allowed only a single by Paul Casanova before rain ended the contest after 6½ innings.

Church Games End In Forfeit Wins

Both games in the Church Softball League ended in forfeits last night. Jarvis forfeited to Grace in the first game, and Pentecostal forfeited to Gum Swamp in the nightcap.

The victory pulls Grace out of a three way tie for fourth and gives it sole possession of the rank. Presbyterian still leads the league with a 13-1 season. Immanuel is second at 1-3, and St. James follows at 1-3. Grace is in at fourth with a 8-7 record, and Oakmont and Meadowbrook are tied for fifth at 8-8. Jarvis (2-12), Gum Swamp (2-13) and Pentecostal (1-1) fill out the standings.

BLASTING OUT — Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio, blasts out of a sand trap on the seventh green during Thursday's opening round of the $100,000 Minnesota Gold Classic in St. Paul.

Unknowns Lead Minn. Golf As Trevino Falls To Eighth

By LEW FERGUSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — While Lee's Fleas fretted over the putting woes of their new hero, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino five of pro golf's virtual unknowns swept into the opening-round lead Thursday in the $100,000 Minnesota Gold Classic.

Locked in the tie for first heading into today's second round were Pete Brown of Pomona, Calif., J.C. Snead of Hot Springs, Va., Jim Colbert of Overland Park, Kan., Harry Toscano of New Castle, Pa., and Bob Stanton (of Sydney, Australia) who now lives in New Orleans.

All had five-under-par 65s over the 6,702-Keller golf course. Firstplace money is worth $20,000.

None of the leaders is ranked in the top 60 money winners this year on the PGA tour, and only Brown has ever won a PGA tournament—the WACO Turner at Ardmore, Okla., in 1964.

Trevino, who claimed he "didn't make one putt," soared to a three-over 74 to fall eight strokes behind the leaders. He needed a big recovery today to keep from being cut as the field was to be trimmed to the low 70 pros plus ties.

"I just came up here to see all my friends," Trevino quipped after his mediocre round. "I don't need the money."

Trevino and Tom Weiskopf are the only golfers among the PGA's 14 leading money winners this year who showed up for the Classic.

Weiskopf still was very much in contention. He was tied for second with Dave Eichelberger and Monte Sanders with 67s—one stroke behind the leaders.

North State Wins

Greenville's North State Little League team win in the second round of the District Tournament yesterday, 18-4, over Tarboro. Bobby Jones was the winning pitcher for Greenville.

North State plays Robersonville today at 4 p.m.

A win today will give the North State a chance at the district title tomorrow. If they win then, they will go to the state tournament in Forest City next week.

Also competing in the race will be course record holder and January race winner Ed Heretford. Although ranked third in the semi-annual run, Heretford ran an AAU approved 10-mile course earlier in 55:02.

The top ten seeded runners are Voss; Steve Jackson, Arlington, Va.; Heretford; John Osborne, Charlotte; George Phillips, Winston-Salem; David Marlin, Hampton, Va.; Larry Forrester, Greensboro; Joe Day, Fayetteville; Joe Abernathy, Charlotte; and Fred Hurd, Ahoskie.

Starting at Aulander at 6 p.m., the course ends in Ahoskie, 10 miles away. The event, hosting 36 entries this year, is sponsored by the Ahoskie Jaycees.

Teams To Arrive For Bowl Game

Fifty-four of North Carolina's finest high school football players will begin reporting in at 12 noon Saturday at East Carolina University to launch preparations for the sixth annual Boys Home Bowl Game on August 3.

Forty of the football stars, who come from throughout the state, have already signed football grants-in-aid at various colleges and universities, promising this to be the most star-studded battle in the series.

The annual game is sponsored by the North Carolina Jaycees for the benefit of Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw. Greenville Jaycees will host the event.

North and South teams will clash Saturday, Aug. 3, in ECU's modern Ficklin Stadium, following a week of daily practice sessions which get under way Monday, July 29.

The game is expected to be a contest of speed versus power. North head coach Alex Gibbs of Mount Airy has emphasized size, his team outweighing the South by a large margin.

South head coach Roger Thrift of New Bern, however, says, "We feel like we have the talent and the speed to put the South All Stars back on the winning track."

The South All Stars won the first game in the series, but have lost each year since, last year by a 19-13 score.

Whatever the outcome, the event should provide the most exciting football yet in the series. Jack Wall, state project manager for the event, said: "It seems each year that we get more and more of the top players in our state, and this year is no exception. The quality of our players will be the best yet."

Wall also noted that the number of players and coaches has been reduced this year "so that all participants will take a more active part."

Tickets for the Boys Home Bowl Game are still available from any Jaycee at $2.00 Admission at the gate will be $2.50.

Files Suit In Challenging Draft Director's Order

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — A student at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill has filed suit challenging Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's order that persons who turn in their draft cards be reclassified as available for induction into the armed services.

Robert C. Eaton, 21, of Jacksonville, Fla., asked U. S. District Court Thursday to order his classification as a student and further requested an injunction preventing his own induction now scheduled for next Tuesday.

Eaton said he sent his draft card to U. S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark last Oct. 20 to protest the war in Vietnam.

Four days later, Eaton said, Hershey sent letters to all draft boards saying persons who have turned in their draft cards should be reclassified "to a class available for service as a delinquent."

Eaton contends that Hershey had no authority to issue such instructions. He says that as a college student in good standing he is entitled to deferment by law until he is graduated or reaches the age of 24.

The blanket toss—an Eskimo tradition in which one person is bounced high in the air from a taut blanket—is part of the spring whaling festivals.

Billions Needed For N.C. Roads

RALEIGH (AP) — An official of the North Carolina Highway Commission says $5 billion will be needed for highways in the state between 1968 and 1990.

"In these areas alone, highway needs will cost about $1 billion between 1968 and 1990," Sproles said at a symposium at North Carolina State University.

"It will be a departure from the usual format in that it will discuss very few subjects," Inouye said Thursday.

Boy's Dog Will Receive Medal

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP) — Smokey, a German shepherd dog who saved his young master from being bitten by a snake, will receive a medal for heroism.

Smokey knocked Morie down and then tangled with the snake, taking a bite on the foreleg. It swelled but the infection cleared up.

Smokey will get his medal from the German Shepherd Club of St. Louis Saturday.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady on large down two cents on mediums and smalls Thursday. Supplies adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 46½-47½; medium, whites: 37-38½; small, whites: 24-26½M

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady. Tops of 20.25-20.75 at Rocky Mount; 20.00-20.50 at Bethel; 19.50-20.25 at Wilson; 20.75 at Salisbury; 20.50 at Greensboro; 20.00 at Siler City and Denton.

NEW YORK (AP) — Selected oils were strong in a mixed stock market this afternoon. Trading slackened from Thursday's vigorous pace.

While losers outnumbered gainers by 100 issues or more, the popular market averages firmed and moved into plus territory.

The strength in the petroleum group, the largest in stock value on the New York Stock Exchange, inspired sporadic buying in other blue chips throughout the list.

The market performance was very uneven, however, and reflected considerable caution in view of Thursday's sharp decline and the imminence of the weekend.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.68 at 887.15.

Boosts in dividends by Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Gulf Oil drew investment buying to the group.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 333.0, with industrials up .3, rails unchanged, and utilities off .2.

Recent sharp declines seemed to have discounted to a greater or less extent the widely heralded forecasts of a business slowdown, or even a possible recession in early 1969. Meanwhile, the financial performance of the oils was underlined by a report showing a sharp rise in corporate profits in the second quarter, despite the adverse effects of the income surtax.

Jersey Standard spurred about 1½ as one of the most active stocks. Gulf Oil added a fraction.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading slowed from Thursday's pace.

Stardom Brings An Unwelcome Side

EDITOR'S NOTE—Reports— inaccurate, as it turned out—of the impending cancellation of NBC's science-fiction series, "Star Trek" earlier this year resulted in a record-breaking flood of viewer mail, even some demonstrations outside network headquarters. In the eye of the storm was Bill Shatner, ex-Shakespearean actor, ex-Broadway performer, who has been learning that being a television star in a popular series—in some ways—isn't all its cracked up to be.

By WILLIAM SHATNER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As a professional actor with 15 years experience I have enjoyed some success among the fans and my fellow actors, but never have I experienced such acclaim as my role in "Star Trek" has brought me.

The mere fact that I am an actor would indicate that I enjoy this, and naturally I do, but it's a funny thing the way the sudden public recognition changes how you are treated not only by the fans, but by your fellow actors, directors, producers and even your family.

For example before I was in this series going to a movie was no big thing. I'd just get in my car, drive to the theater and buy a ticket. Now if I stand in line to buy a ticket people ask for autographs, stare, poke each other and ask, "What's he doing standing in line." It really becomes kind of uncomfortable.

So as a result now I call the theater and say I want to come and see the picture, but that I don't want to stand in the box-office line impeding the orderly sale of tickets. Usually they say just come right to the door and we'll collect your money there.

Things changed after the first year of the series. Now nobody on the set comes up and says, "Hi, Bill. How are you?" I find that I have to walk up to them, and say hello first. It's all a little silly, but there is a definite change in the way people treat anyone who happens to be lucky enough to be in a hit series.

Even directors are inclined now to suggest rather than tell you how they want a scene played. It used to be, "Bill, in this scene I want you to do this and so." Now the approach seems to be, "Bill, how do you feel about doing the scene this way?"

Producers seem to be affected in the same way. Used to be they'd call, if I were lucky, and
