Death And Devastation In Manila's Morning Quake

By AMADIS M. GUERRERO
Associated Press Writer

MANILA (AP) — Rescue workers dug through the rubble of a five-story apartment house that collapsed in Manila today during the Philippines' worst earthquake in memory. One Filipino said he saw 12 bodies removed from the wreckage, and a police spokesman said it was believed that about 200 persons were killed throughout the Philippines.

It will probably take days for a reliable casualty toll to be compiled. It was believed that most fatalities occurred in the apartment building that collapsed in the capital's Chinese quarter, but estimates of the number of tenants ranged from 400 to 1,100 and reports of the number of missing varied just as widely.

The quake came at 4:21 a.m., while most people were in bed. It lasted almost a minute and registered six on a scale of nine. It was felt throughout the main island of Luzon and damage was believed heavy.

The tremors toppled the spire of the Church of Christ Cathedral in Manila, leveled cement walls throughout the city, twisted steel bars and shattered countless windows.

It set off a fire in Manila Harbor, and authorities said about $7.5 million in imported cargo burned. Officials said it consisted of general merchandise, medicine, dry goods and silverware from the United States, Europe and Asia.

Two fires at the big Far Eastern University in downtown Manila damaged the science and arts buildings.

Officials at Clark Field said that a big U.S. airbase north of Manila and the John Hay military camp farther north in Baguio suffered only minor damage.

Border Belt's Prices Steady For 2nd Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flue-cured tobacco prices were steady on the South Carolina-Border North Carolina markets for the season's second day of sales Thursday, with a few choice baskets bringing a top price of $78.

The Federal-State Market News Service said Thursday's prices were generally the same as Wednesday's, when sales averaged $68.11 a hundred pounds. That figure was a record for the belt's South Carolina markets, but fell short of the 1967 opening day figures of $69.32 on the belt's North Carolina markets.

Volume continued extremely heavy Thursday, with all markets blocked.

The market news service said a total of 10,214,777 pounds were sold in heavy opening day trading. Stabilization Corp. receipts for opening day were 3.8 per cent of gross sales — a rather sharp increase from last year's receipts of .7 per cent for the first market day.

Auction bid averages on a limited number of representative U. S. grades Thursday were:

Lugs—good lemon $76, unchanged; fair lemon $73, unchanged; low lemon $70, down 91; fair orange $71, down $1; low orange $69, down $1.

Primings — Good lemon $71, down $2; fair lemon $70, unchanged; low lemon $69, up $2; fair orange $69, unchanged; low orange $68, up $2.

Nondescript — Best $65, up $3; poorest $57, up $1.

Congress Is Letting Key Bills Wait

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 90th Congress, scattering after today for a month's recess, will be back in September to grapple with an array of major bills and an historic controversy that could keep it here till Christmas.

Overshadowing all else when the unwelcome election-season session begins will be the possibility of a filibuster over President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

This prospect and the impact of the two national political conventions prompted Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to say Thursday that "after the recess there will be a lot of politics and little substance."

"I wouldn't be surprised if we stayed here the rest of the year," he added.

If Congress does, it will be the longest election-year session since World War II.

The nominations of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice of the Supreme Court, plus gun controls and the nuclear nonproliferation treaty are the major items facing the Senate.

But that chamber must also wrap up action along with the House on such things as the farm bill, foreign aid, education and financing the war in Vietnam.

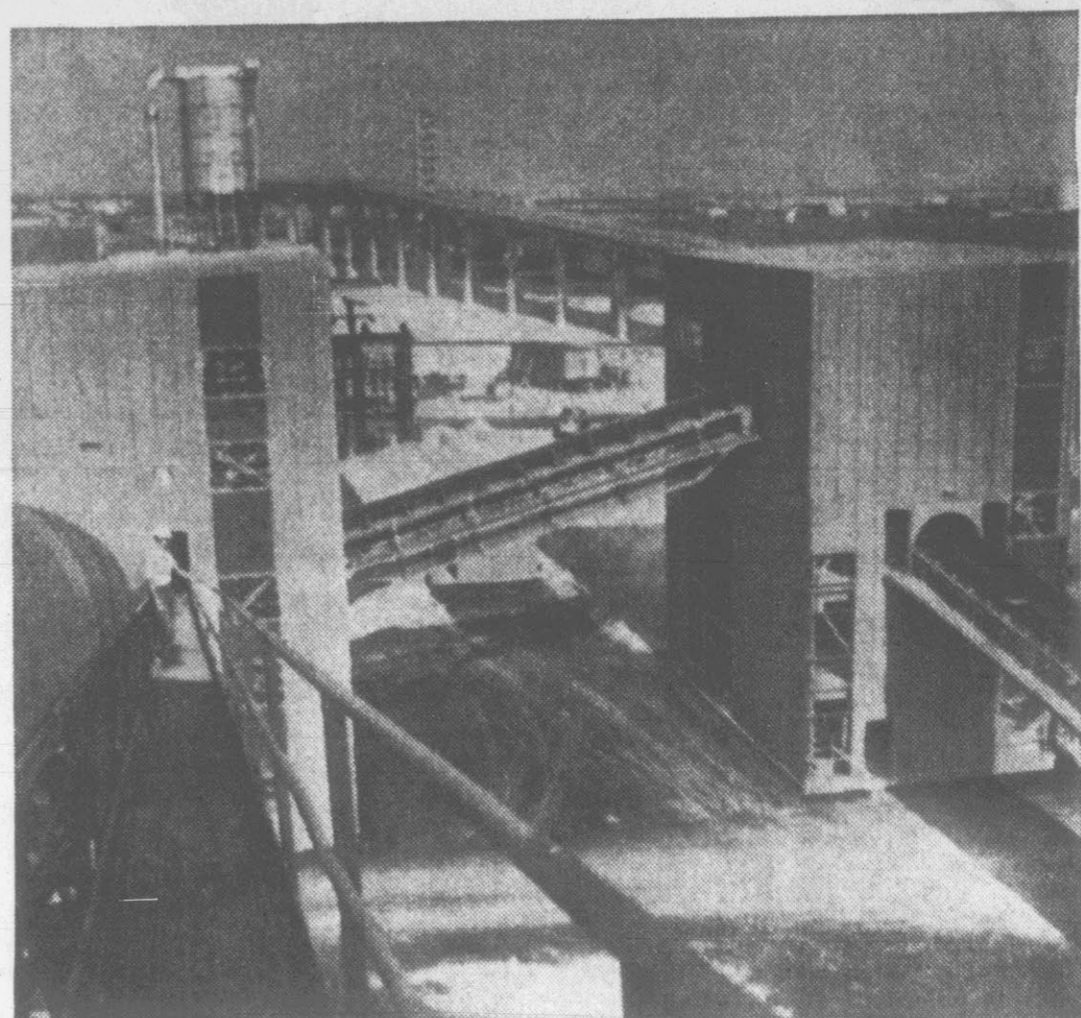

House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., said the House is counting on a quick session. With the lengthy battle abuilding over the Supreme Court, however, the House likely will have to wait the Senate's pleasure before much is accomplished.

Complicating the situation will be the question of a recess for the November elections and the impact of the election itself.

Besides a new administration, voters will elect more than 30 senators, and all 435 Representatives.

The Senate Judiciary Committee this week shelved any action on the Supreme Court nominees until Congress reconvenes after Labor Day. But it is doubtful the matter will reach the floor quickly even then, if at all.

The committee must decide whether to reject the nominations or report them to the floor and then majority and minority reports must be written. The whole process could take days, even weeks.

New Terminal Stands Ready

TRANSFER TOWERS — These are the transfer towers along the two miles of conveyor belts built at Morehead City by the North Carolina Ports Authority. (AP Wirephoto)

Governor Dedicates New N.C. Port Facility Today

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore said today an $11.4 million addition to the Morehead City Port "illustrates the full potential of cooperation between federal government, the state and private industry to achieve sound industrial development on a large scale.

Moore delivered the dedicatory address at ceremonies opening a giant bulk handling terminal which will serve as an outlet for foreign ports from North Carolina's recently-tapped phosphate reserves.

The facility, built by the North Carolina State Ports Authority and financed by a U. S. Economic Development Administration loan, will serve as a transfer point for phosphate products mined by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. in Beaufort County.

"It is considered to be the most modern bulk cargo handling terminal in the world," Moore said. "Totally new concepts have been used and the basic layout is designed so that its capacity may be doubled without disruption of basic operations and at minimal expense."

"The proportions of this complex are gigantic by any standards."

The automated terminal is essentially a network of heavy duty conveyor belts which link an inland barge dock with a storage warehouse and berths for deepwater freighters.

Phosphate products, widely used as a major ingredient of fertilizer will be carried by barges 58 miles on the Intra-coastal Waterway between the Texas Gulf Sulphur mine and the Morehead City Port. They will be unloaded by conveyor, stored in a 106,000-ton A-frame warehouse and transferred by belt to ocean-going freighters nearly a mile away.

The highly automated facility has a loading capacity of 3,000 tons of phosphate an hour which may be doubled when other firms begin mining operations in eastern North Carolina's rich phosphate reserves.

Geologists estimate that the deposits contain 1.5 billion tons of phosphate ore — enough to supply the world demand for hundreds of years.

"I have always believed," Moore said, "that if government and private industry could cooperate fully in serving the needs of industry, then great results could be accomplished. The validity of this concept was never more visible than it is today."

"The movement of phosphate cargo," he added, "is expected to increase the flow of other products through the port. As a result, import-export trade will increase and job potential for the area will continue to grow."

"The Morehead City State Port Terminal bulk cargo handling facility truly opens up the sea for us in North Carolina and makes us even more fully citizens of the world."

Czech Critics End War Of Propaganda

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's five hard-line critics appeared today to have ordered a ceasefire in their propaganda war against the liberal Prague concept of communism.

Reports available here from Moscow and other East European capitals that had expressed hostility to the course of Alexander Dubcek's reformist regime said the flow of invectives ceased after the windup of the Soviet-Czechoslovak conference at Cierna Thursday.

The Prague press was similarly decorous. Except for a few generalities, Czechoslovak newspapers carried no editorial comment on the Cierna communique and headlines stuck to the few facts.

Czechoslovak leaders assured their countrymen Thursday night they had held their own at the showdown meeting with the Russians, but thousands of demonstrators in Prague expressed skepticism.

Favors Full-Year Teacher Plan

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Pat Taylor, Democratic nominee for North Carolina lieutenant governor, says Tar Heel teachers should be employed on a year-round basis.

Addressing a Charlotte civic club Thursday, the Wadesboro politician said also that the state's system of government needs to be examined.

The teachers, he said, could be utilized during the summer months with programs to help both students which excel in school and those needing remedial work.

Govm't Seeks Steel Rollback

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major confrontation with the steel industry, President Johnson has authorized an effort to try to force a rollback of increased steel prices by boycotting firms who boost their costs.

President Johnson Thursday told the Defense Department to avoid buying steel products from firms who put in major price increase. He said such general boosts could have "dire consequences" for the nation's economy because of possible inflationary results.

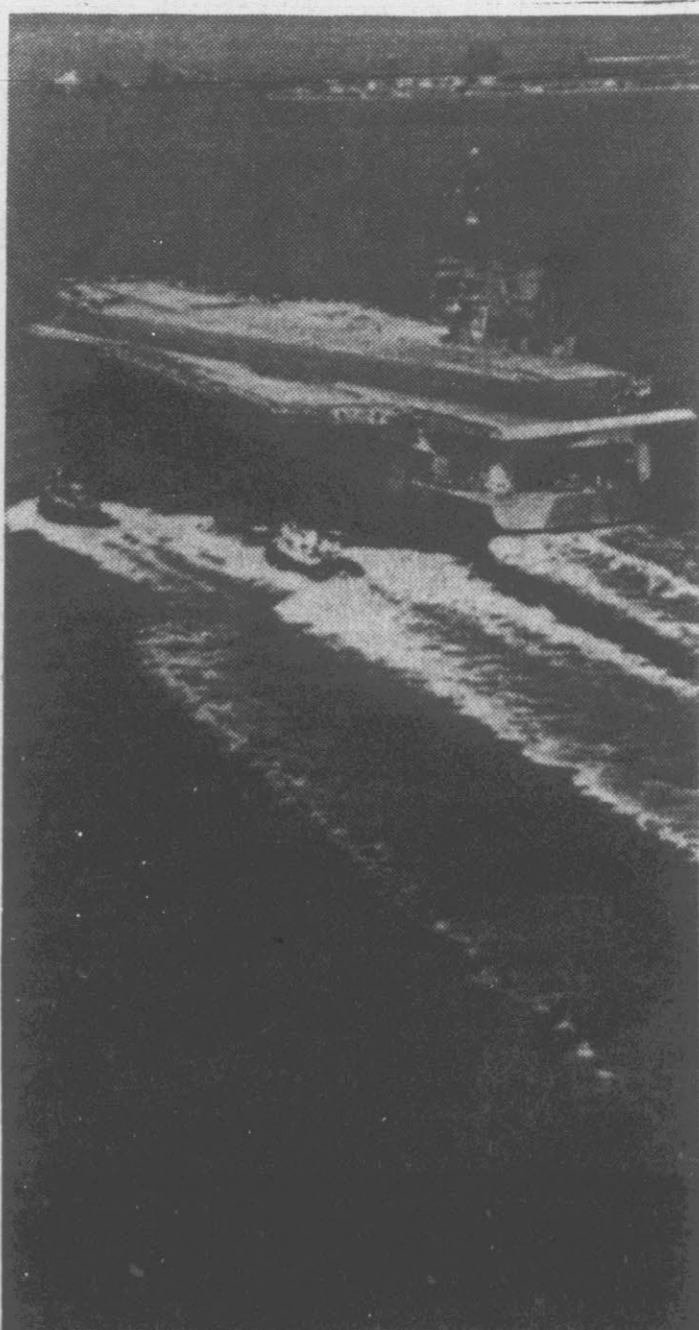

Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford followed the President's statement by directing his agency "wherever possible to shift orders for future deliveries of items of steel on which prices have been raised to companies which have not increased prices, if by doing so you can obtain the required product, on time, at a lower cost to the government."

The Pentagon took similar actions in April 1962 and January 1966 in efforts to force steel producers to recant on announced price increases. This pressure contributed to the success of the efforts.

The current boost in the price of steel started Wednesday when Bethlehem Steel Corp., the industry's second-leading producer, said it was raising the cost of its products 5 per cent across the board.

Republic Steel Corp., the nation's No. 3 steel producers followed later Wednesday with an announcement that its prices on principal products were going up.

The 398th is commanded by Captain John Atkeson. Other officers and senior enlisted personnel of the company, all of Greenville, unless otherwise noted, are: 1st Lt. James Card, executive officer and platoon leader; 1st Lt. Bobby Hazelton (Winterville), platoon leader; 1st Lt. David Gurley, platoon leader; CWO Clyde J. Warren, section leader; 1st Sgt. John Murray; platoon sergeants (all rank of E-6), Arthur Wayne, Willie Jones (Williamston), Edward Newsome (Wilson), Edgar Gaskins, Jack Donnelly, and Sgt. (E-5) Johnny Phelps.

The men will probably make the trip to Atlanta on commercial buses.

Captain Atkeson explained that during the 15-day period, the men will receive on-the-job training in their primary occupational specialties, which is in the supply field for the members of the 398th Supply Co.

In regular meetings held in Greenville, the reservists receive training primarily in the fields of riot control, marching drills, and vehicle maintenance.

Police Policy Unconstitutional Declares Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A police policy—common in the South—of restricting Negro policemen to a Negro section was ruled unconstitutional Thursday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The decision came in a suit filed by 12 Negro officers on the St. Petersburg, Fla., police force, attacking assignments and other administrative practices.

The appeal was from a U.S. District Court ruling upholding the department on the ground that its racial classifications were merely to further "effective administration."

"If police efficiency were an end in itself, the police would be end to put an accused on the rack," the appeals court said. "Police efficiency must yield to constitutional rights."

Pollsters Say Public Opinion Favors Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — Top pollsters George H. Gallup Jr. and Louis Harris say that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "has now moved to an open lead" over Democratic presidential candidates Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

They also said in a joint statement Thursday that Richard M. Nixon would run an "extremely close" race in a contest involving Humphrey and third party candidate George C. Wallace, "with Wallace perhaps holding the balance."

Gallup and Harris disclosed these conclusions after their most recently published polls, taken in July, were in apparent contradiction and created considerable political repercussions as Republicans gathered in Miami Beach, Fla. for their national convention.

Gallup and Harris said two key factors accounted for the apparent disparity in the polls: the time at which the polls were taken and the margin of error built into the sampling process. "Public opinion changes over time, and each was an accurate reflection at the time it was taken," they said.

The Gallup Poll, published Monday and based on interviews between July 19 and 21, showed Nixon defeating both Humphrey and McCarthy while Rockefeller was only able to tie them. The Nixon camp cheered this survey.

Then the Harris Poll, based on interviews taken July 26-29, became available Wednesday night and showed Rockefeller could prevail over either of the Democratic hopefuls while Nixon could not. Rockefeller supporters cheered.

The Gallup-Harris statement further buoyed the Rockefeller camp, for the New York Republican has based his campaign to upset Nixon for the GOP nomination on convincing delegates that he is more popular with the voters than Nixon.

In Miami Beach, Leonard Hall, Rockefeller's convention floor manager, said the joint statement provided "further confirmation of the momentum that has been building up in recent weeks all over the country for Mr. Rockefeller."

In the same city, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's chief spokesman, charged that "professional gishers" keeps pollsters from criticizing each other. He said Rockefeller chose polls as the battleground and "struck out."

Harris and Gallup said their joint statement was issued in an effort to eliminate what they considered to be widespread confusion over the polls. "It is simply an effort to clarify the situation," Gallup said.

Man In A Uniform: Cream Of Any Nation's Crop

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Why do parents tell their daughters they don't want them to have anything to do with a man in uniform unless he's an officer? Enlisted men are just as good as officers (and some are a lot better) but they seem to be treated like dirt. Funny, but a guy who's not in service at all has the edge on all servicemen.

I have dressed civvies and lied to a girl's parents just so I could call for her at her house like a gentleman and meet her folks. I'm the same man in a uniform, but if I wore it, they'd run me off the property. What do people have against enlisted men anyway?

IN THE ARMY

DEAR IN: Most parents don't make any distinction between an enlisted man and an officer. They simply rule out all men in uniform because they're skeptical of a man who is here today and could be gone tomorrow. The cream of any nation's crop wears the enlisted man's uniform (for a time, at least) and I would remind parents that they could be passing up gold because it doesn't look as good as polished brass.

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls who works in our office (I'll call her Zeldia) is being married next Saturday. Three weeks ago all the girls in my department received engraved invitations to her wedding, but I was left out. I was invited to a bridal shower given for Zeldia by the office girls, but because of illness I was unable to attend. I sent a nice gift however.

This morning Zeldia stopped by my desk and gave me an invitation "by mouth." I had already made plans for next Saturday and cannot attend her wedding. Must I give her a wedding gift?

BECKY

DEAR BECKY: Why don't you just give her a gift "by mouth"? (Say, "Best wishes.")

DEAR ABBY: Since I graduated from grammar school two years ago I have gone steady with three boys, all of whom I gave in to. I was lucky. I didn't get pregnant.

Now all my friends are just starting to date and here I am. I have already done just about everything, so there is nothing to look forward to. I could blame my mother for allowing me to date so early, but that wouldn't be fair because I begged her and told her that she could "trust" me. I am not writing for advice. It is too late for that. Now I have to live down a bad reputation. (Boys talk afterwards. I found that out.)

Please print this for mothers who let their daughters start to date and go steady when they are too young. Once they do, the trouble begins. No matter how is at 13, she is only a child. "mature" a girl thinks she is at 13, she is only a child.

Tennis Queen Owes Stamina To 'Dash Of Indian Blood'

By CINDY ADAMS
Women's News Service
NEW YORK (WNS) — Shortly before Billie Jean King, queen of pro tennis, won her third consecutive Wimbledon title, she let her short hair down to me in an exclusive interview.

The scene was, naturally, a tennis court. The action was, naturally, Mrs. King playing tennis. After a half hour of panting and huffing after her, I was very close to death but Queen King volleyed on forever.

"I think this inexhaustible bouncing energy I have stems from my parents," grinned the 24-year-old Californian. "See, they are sort of a mixture of Irish, Scottish, English and just a little dash of Seminole Indian mixed in there somewhere and my mother always told me that it's that little dash of Indian blood that gives me my stamina.

"In a way it's actually this surplus stamina that got me into tennis. My whole family is interested in sports. Even my kid brother, Randy, just pitched three no-hitters and a one-hitter in four games during a baseball tournament in Long Beach. But the problem was that I just had so much get up and go that I was too tomboyish even by our family's standards!"

Shortstop

"As a youngster I was a very good shortstop on our local softball team. My dad, an engineer at the Fire Department, also used to engineer picnics and on those days the Department men always wanted me to play shortstop or third base on their team. I just was plain no good at home economics - type things and I excelled at such unladylike pursuits as batting and fielding and throwing. Soon I realized I had to channel this energy into something and I obviously wasn't going to be a pro baseball player. So, the only ladylike sport my parents could think of was tennis. That's how I got into this."

THIS was demonstrated by her slashing a ball just past my nose to the far side of the court where Larry King, her very blonde and very young husband of three years was bravely attempting to hit them back.

Mr. King is a student at the University of California at Berkeley where, in a small apartment, the Kings make their royal residence. A law student he is. A tennis player he isn't.

While he was retrieving the ball, Billie Jean said, "Larry is all for my playing tennis. I mean, I must admit it's my life. I'm intensely competitive and I know it's this inner terrific drive to win and to live, eat and breathe the game that's responsible for my place at the top."

3 And A Half Miles A Day

"During my real young years I walked three and a half miles a day to school, just to strengthen my legs. I spent every spare minute hitting balls. There isn't anything more in the world that I can say I ever wanted than to play at Wimbledon. Earlier in the game I couldn't stand to lose. It used to just kill me. Since I picked up my first racket at the age of nine, I've talked about wanting to be a champion.

"But, still, if Larry wanted me to stop playing I'd stop. It's as simple as that. I like to read and, perhaps, someday I'll return to college to obtain a degree with a major in history or psychology. But right now he's all for me playing. He enjoys the game, too. Actually, my playing pro tennis and being away from him periodically is helpful to him. He's studying hard and the funny thing is that his grades are higher when I'm away. Maybe there's something in our attempting our individual goals apart."

The former Billie Jean Moffit is 5 feet six, 140 pounds, has boyishly cut brown hair and man-sized freckles. Besides the big serve, other trademarks are her blue-rimmed harlequin glasses and her uninhibited sense of humor.

And was she worried about this upcoming trip to Wimbledon? "No. I don't worry. I work and I practice but I don't worry. I used to be so light-hearted — outwardly, anyway — that I joked with spectators and talked aloud to myself on the court. I've since cut that out and I concentrate more.

"However, I don't really mind whom I play or where. I take each match at a time. I'm ready for each one. I really hit that ball hard now. I guess that's the nub of the situation. Either you're well trained and you're ready or you aren't."

The bidding:
 West North East South
 Pass 1NT Pass 3♠
 Pass 4♠ Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
 In today's four spade contract, South—the declarer—drew a useful clew from West's failure to enter the auction.

West opened the king of diamonds and East followed with the five, the lowest card outstanding in the suit. West switched at trick two to the queen of clubs.

Declarer, after some deliberation, played low from both hands—permitting West to hold the trick. The club continuation was taken in the closed hand with the king. The ace and jack of spades drew two rounds of trump but, when East showed out—discarding a club, declarer switched to the ace of clubs on which he disposed of the four of hearts from his hand. The ace of hearts was cashed next and then the queen was led from dummy. East covered with the king and South ruffed. The North hand was reentered with the ten of spades, drawing the last trump, and declarer discarded the ten of diamonds on the jack of hearts. Another diamond trick was conceded to the opposition and South scored up the game, having lost two diamonds and one club.

The North was gratified by his partner's success, he asked South at the conclusion of the deal why he had rejected the straightforward finesse in hearts, in favor of a more complicated play.

"My decision was based on West's failure to bid," was South's reply. "The play to the first two tricks revealed that West held the ace, king of diamonds, and the queen-jack of clubs. If he had the king of hearts in addition, that would give him 13 high card points, sufficient to open the bidding as the dealer. His silence convinced me that East probably held the king of hearts, in which case the normal heart finesse would fail."

Observe that, if South finesses West for the king of hearts, East is in, and, on the diamond return, the defense cashes three tricks in that suit.

Mom's Antitank Cannon Seized

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Robert Levine says police have seized his mother's antitank cannon.

Levine, 23, said Thursday his mother bought the 20mm cannon for $125. He said she hoped to sell it for $500 in order to hire an attorney to defend Levine on charges of conspiracy to commit murder and attempt to commit murder and shooting at a dwelling.

Levine and a friend were charged after a shot was fired at three youths sitting at a bus stop.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Messersmith said deputies seized the cannon "before it got into the wrong hands" as the result of a newspaper ad offering it for sale.

"We also took about 50 rounds of live ammunition," the deputy said. "That thing could blow hell out of downtown West Palm Beach."

Messersmith said the weapon was confiscated under a federal law which prohibits felons from possessing weapons shipped in interstate commerce.

But Levine, who served two years in prison for aggravated assault, told newsmen that the gun belongs to his mother and that is legal.

New Bishop Meets Garber In Raleigh

RALEIGH—Bishop William R. Cannon, recently elected by Methodists at their southeastern jurisdictional conference at Lake Junaluska and assigned to eastern North Carolina, arrived in Raleigh today to meet with his predecessor, Bishop Paul N. Garber.

Bishop Cannon arrived at the Raleigh-Durham airport at 9 a.m. and went directly to the Methodist Building for an orientation with Garber and the various board and agency heads of the United Methodist Church. He held a news conference in the Bishop's office later in the morning and was honored at a 12:30 p.m. luncheon. Some 100 persons attended the luncheon joins the staff of the Conference Board of Education as director of youth work and the Rev. Dr. James I. Warren, who becomes a professor at the Scarritt School for Christian Workers in Nashville, Tenn. Warren has been serving the Saint James Methodist Church in Raleigh.

Bishop Cannon is the former dean of the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta. The 52-year-old cleric, author and theologian will assume the supervision of the Raleigh Area Methodist Churches immediately. There are 850 churches, 545 pastoral appointments and 215 members under his area responsibility. He is the first bachelor bishop to be chosen by Methodists since 1808, when delegates in Baltimore, Md. elected William R. McKendree of Missouri a Bishop of the old Methodist Episcopal Church. He will live in the episcopal residence in Raleigh.

Bishop and Mrs. Garber leave for Geneva, Switzerland on August 8. Garber is expected to begin writing a history of European Methodism.

One In Four Buys Newspaper

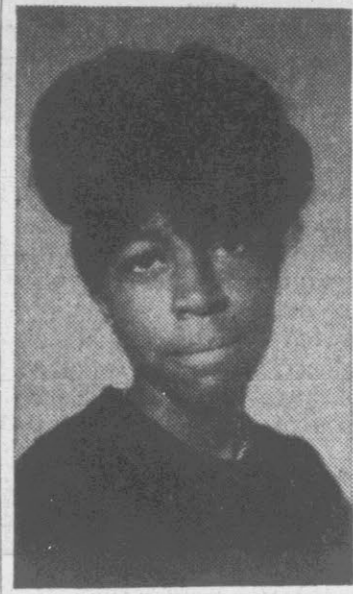

LA PLATA, Argentina (UPI) — About one in four inhabitants of La Plata, which has a population of about 300,000 buys a newspaper daily, according to David Kraiselburd, director of the newspaper El Dia de La Plata. Kraiselburd said this average puts the people of La Plata on a par with the French in newspaper buying and gives them one of the highest rates of newspaper buying in the world.

Wake's 3-Step Plan Approved

RALEIGH (AP)—Wake County's Board of Education has federal approval to proceed with a three-step school desegregation plan.

School Superintendent A. E. Fussell was notified Thursday the board's plan had been accepted by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He said the agency said the approval was qualified by a requirement that the board develop an alternate plan for desegregation in the event a proposed $13 million bond issue is defeated by county voters.

The board earlier had been told by an HEW regional officer the plan would not be acceptable because it depended on passage of the bond issue and delayed total desegregation of the school system for three years.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Miss Ida L. Rogers, 1968 graduate of H. B. Sugg High School in Farmville, has been awarded a $1,700 scholarship to St. Augustine's College in Raleigh. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Rogers of Rt. 1, Farmville.

Only Paying Emergency Repair Cost

Approximately $300,000 in Civil Defense funds are being distributed to 27 North Carolina municipalities which were hard hit by a crippling ice storm that gripped the eastern area last January. Some $225,000 was paid to the municipalities Thursday, representing around 75 percent of the amounts allocated. The remaining 25 percent will be paid after final audits are made.

Greenville, which operates one of the state's largest municipally-owned electric systems, received $67,174 for 75 percent of its share. Farmville, Fountain, Winterville and Ayden also shared in the distribution.

Greenville's was by far the largest of the amounts, followed by Smithfield with $22,148 and Kinston with $20,620.

For many of these cities the rare ice storm dealt a staggering blow, not only because power was disrupted for several days during the coldest of weather but also because of the great unanticipated cost of repairs.

The Civil Defense grants covered only the cost of emergency repairs and not that of later permanent repairs. The grants will help most of these municipalities overcome a real financial hardship this year.

The Growing Project Is In Its Sixth Year

Tomorrow night some of North Carolina's outstanding young athletes will take the field at Ficklen Memorial Stadium for the sixth annual Boys Home Bowl Game.

The game is sponsored by the North Carolina Jaycees to benefit Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw. The event has attracted considerable interest through the years. It is a credit to the state Jaycees who have worked so diligently each year to make it a success.

We are pleased to welcome to Greenville these young football players, their coaches and all who make the bowl game possible.

The Boys Home Bowl Game is an event of which we are proud. We hope it continues to grow over the years.

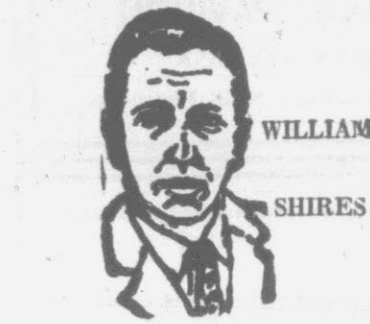

Tomato Crop's Huge Market

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Up along Jonathan's Creek and in the picture pretty valley of the Pigeon River back of Lake Junaluska one of rural North Carolina's most striking success stories is unfolding.

Story Told

The Waynesville Mountaineer last week published a special 16 page, supplemental "tomato section" to tell about Haywood's mountain-grown tomatoes and dotted it with more than a dozen recipes for using tomatoes.

WILLIAM SHIRES

Editor Curtis Russ wrote that the more one reads about tomatoes and uses, the more one becomes convinced that it is perhaps the best liked vegetable grown. Tomatoes are the leading canned vegetable in the United States.

He added the notation that, unknown to many, the tomato is related to the tobacco plant. It is also related to pepper, egg plant and the potato. It is native to Central America, and tomato seeds were sent from there to Europe where, while not eaten, the tomato was used as decoration. Later, Europeans learned to eat tomatoes and legend arose that tomatoes stimulated romance. They were called "love apples." Russ also says there perhaps are more ways of eating tomatoes than any other vegetable. Small boys like to pick them ripe from the vine, sit in the shade of a tree and bite in. Other like them sliced and chilled. Some prefer sprinkling slices with sugar, or with a dash of salt and a spoon of vinegar.

And, of course, some believe that overripe tomatoes are perfect ammunition to be tossed at politicians.

Thousands of acres of carefully groomed and cultivated, watered and sprayed tomato plants — 11,000 plants to the acre — are yielding a good fine summer harvest. Haywood County farmers expect to pocket approximately $2 million from tomatoes, suddenly and almost unexpectedly the county's leading cash crop.

Within little more than a year, Haywood's tomato growers have increased acreage, improved cultivation practices including disease control and irrigation and are now shipping a bumper crop to market. The increase in annual income is estimated conservatively at more than $100,000 from tomatoes alone.

Economic Factors

Refrigerated trucks roar out of Haywood by the score each night, loaded with tons of ripening tomatoes. Most will be on the table of consumers in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other major Eastern cities within 36 to 38 hours.

Five of the 16 tomato packing plants located in western North Carolina are in Haywood County which also grows apples, onions, lettuce and has lush pastureland for cattle and livestock. All told, Haywood is recognized as one of the state's leading agricultural counties.

Tomato growing is a separate and relatively new part of the story.

Tomato growing in Haywood and other North Carolina counties is an endeavor which requires a small cash outlay — $300 to $350 per acre — but a great deal of labor. From this relatively small outlay, agricultural agents think a family of four could realize $5,000 on one acre of tomatoes with an average net income of $3,400 per year. Of course this requires between 1,000 and 1,500 man-hours of labor for spraying, irrigating, suckering and harvest.

There is a huge market. The Mountaineer reports that New York City alone could absorb the entire annual crop from Haywood County in two days.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy joining to run together on the Democratic national ticket are discounted by sources in both camps.

Although the two Minnesotans, the only contenders now in sight for the Democratic presidential nomination, are miles apart over the key Vietnam issue, some Democrats have suggested that McCarthy might become Humphrey's running mate.

"This is not outside the realm of possibility," one highly placed Humphrey source says, "but it would require a major change of attitude. . . . You could not have the presidential and the vice presidential candidates at marked odds on Vietnam."

McCarthy is a strong critic of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies, while Humphrey basically has adhered to the President's position.

A McCarthy aide, echoing the comments from the Humphrey people, said such a combination would require a 180-degree turn in the views of one or the other of the contenders. If McCarthy were to change his stand, the aide said, his "supporters would consider it a repudiation of all who rallied around him."

Besides, McCarthy isn't interested in being vice president, the aide said.

Even if the Minnesota senator wanted the No. 2 spot, Humphrey sources say McCarthy is not mentioned in conversations about the second spot among persons close to the vice president.

These sources say Humphrey has made no commitments about his running mate and "there have been no overtures to anyone. The prime consideration will be on who would be highly qualified for the place."

However, two people close to Humphrey listed four names as high among the vice presidential possibilities: Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., co-manager of Humphrey's campaign; Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and now ambassador to France; Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

Rome, Aug. 2 — Pope Pius believes that women today should remember the modesty in dress shown by the women who were among the early Christian martyrs in Rome. Receiving in audience the organization against immodesty in women's dress, he said: "Christianity transformed pagan women into Christian women to such a touching point that women dragged into the circus to be torn to pieces by wild animals were more concerned about covering their nudity than about saving their lives."

He urged the organization to continue its struggle against immodesty in dress "even if it doesn't give immediate results."

LET IT WORK OUT

An astronomer recently gave it as his opinion that the heavenly bodies in our galaxy alone equal ten raised to the twentieth power, or one hundred thousand million billion. And we have not the faintest idea as to how many galaxies there are other than our galaxy of the Milky Way.

A number of conclusions would seem to emerge from this situation. The first would be that our planet Earth is not the only one inhabited by rational beings. The second would be that since our planet is one among almost unnumbered billions and apparently insignificant in size we had better seek to be humble. It would be an amazing thing, would it not, if we on this little speck of dust whirling about the sun, which one astronomer calls "a pale

To Russia By Aeroflot

MOSCOW — The Soviets have just signed a treaty permitting Pan American Airways to fly to Moscow and Aeroflot, the U. S. S. R. airline, to fly to the United States. This should open up the gates to tourism for both countries, and no country is better prepared to handle tourists than the Soviet Union.

To add a new thrill to my trip to Moscow I decided to take an Aeroflot plane. I really didn't decide to take Aeroflot; the Russians decided that for me. I was booked on an Air France plane from Paris to Moscow at 9 in the morning. But when I went to get my visa the day before, the Soviet consulate people said the visa wouldn't be ready until 10 o'clock, on the day I was leaving.

"But," I protested, "I'm scheduled to leave on Air France at noon."

"That's a helluva way to get business for your airline," I complained.

"That's cheaper than advertising," the consulate man shrugged.

I am happy to report that Soviet planes are well constructed and perfectly safe. If there is any flaw in the design of their planes, it is that the aisles aren't wide enough for the stewardesses.

As a safety factor, Aeroflot selects their stewardesses for their strength instead of their looks. That's why you never hear of an Aeroflot plane being hijacked to Havana.

When my wife and I arrived at the airport in Moscow, the Intourist guide who was slated to meet us wasn't there, and there was some confusion about it.

The commissar in charge went through several sheafs of paper and finally he said to us coldly, "You were scheduled to come on the Air France flight."

Other Editors Say Family Reunion Time

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Just why the summer months were picked for renewal of a fascinating American tradition is not known, unless it ties in with the vacation season, but one only needs to read the daily newspapers these days to be aware that we are in the midst of the season of family reunions.

They usually occur on the weekend, preferably Sunday, and they frequently are held at the old family church. Dinner on the grounds, sometimes group singing, always some "brief remarks," and a general counting of noses are the chief features. But it goes without saying that a good time usually is had by all and if it were not for these get-togethers a lot of youngsters would grow up never finding out about that celebrated aunt who kept all the cats, or the great great uncle who raised the finest watermelons in the county and a host of idiosyncracies that help perpetuate the family name.

We know of one huge family which went to great pains to identify relations as to blood ties or marriage bonds. All those related to the family by blood wore red roses while those who came into the family through marriage wore white ones.

Oh, there may be some indigestion from all that food that is eaten and there may be some minor falling-out over proper identification of some patriarch of the family, but for the most part the family reunion is something of which everyone may be proud.

Of course, there are some whose families simply switched around so much that there are not enough descendants to whomp up a family reunion, but that appears to be the exception rather than the rule, especially in Eastern Carolina, where there are still remnants of the same family living on land grants from the Lords Proprietors of England.

So long may this rich custom rule and may the younger members of the family continue to receive inspiration from those of a by-gone age who lived when men were men and women didn't have to wear mini-skirts in order to prove attractive enough for the marriage mart.

This seemed to satisfy him, and he gave me a car and a chauffeur to the Hotel Rossiya which American newspapermen in Moscow refer to as "Comrade Hilton." The Hotel Rossiya has good beds and is the largest hotel in the world. One lobby overlooks the Kremlin, and the other lobby overlooks the winter palace in Leningrad. It is so big and the chances of getting lost are so great that no tourist is permitted to leave his hotel without a canteen of water.

Every problem concerning tourism is handled by Intourist, an all-encompassing state organization which provides cars, interpreters, meal tickets and free red tape for anyone visiting the Soviet Union.

If you stick to the schedule, Intourist will give you no trouble. But if for some reason you want to change it, you are marked as a petty bourgeois adventurer, and the Intourist people will show you no mercy.

Turbulent Month In Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

August will be another turbulent month for business.

There will be more strikes, more demonstrations, more riots, more drops in sales, more dips on the stock market, another slump in housing starts.

There will be more strikes because the Steelworkers' demands will inspire other unions to seek comparable gains, and because the cut in take-home pay resulting from the surtax will cause union members across the country to fight for increases. Notably, the United Mine Workers are about to open negotiations for 100,000 miners.

There will be more demonstrations because the political conventions will add to political-economic ferment. Protests will be heard not only in the convention cities but wherever there are audiences and TV cameras.

More Ghetto Trouble

There will be more riots in ghettos because little has been done to solve the problems of the ghettos and little has been done about plans to control shooting, burning and looting. The National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders' report that riots are "a form of social protest by non-criminal elements" and that the "riffraff" are not to blame will tend to encourage moderate Negroes to join in future hell-raising.

There will be declines in sales because higher withholding taxes will shrink the spending power of those workers not getting wage or pay rises. True, consumers' reserves of savings and credit can offset this, but if that comes, it will come later. The initial reaction, already begun, will be to tighten up spending.

More dips in the stock market are certain because higher corporation taxes, currently taking 63 per cent of big corporation profits, will to reduce dividends and, therefore, stock prices.

Less Housing

Despite government efforts to bolster housing by making more money available, starts, which declined in April, May and June, will probably be found to have declined in July.

for the national political conventions will be reassuring. There can be no violent changes in ground rules while Congress is away, and in the period after the recess not much legislation will be handled. Business will have a breather.

Huge Stockpiles

Now Worry Business

The "magnitude and direction" of the 1968 inventory rise are less than those of 1962 and 1963 but probably greater than they were in 1965, the bulletin of the National Association of Purchasing Management reports.

Some corporations are becoming uneasy over their stockpiles. Stockpiles tie up capital, which can currently yield 5 per cent or more; they require insurance, protection against theft, accounting, checking, auditing and charges for the footage they occupy, and they are subject to taxes

Under Cover Votes

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
PROVIDENCE, R. I. — The danger of badly underestimating respectable voter support for George Wallace in the industrial East was dramatically shown in a survey we conducted here last week, just before Wallace's campaign visit.

On the surface, the segregationist third-party candidate from Alabama scored miserably — only two convinced Wallace voters among the 53 we sampled.

One of those we talked to, a house painter in a neat, lower-middle income suburb, told us: "From what I hear about Wallace, he's dangerous. They say he's a racist."

But the day after Wallace came here for a one-hour TV interview and a nighttime rally this same voter sang quite a different tune.

"Wallace said he was against bussing school children and he said we have a right to sell our house to anyone we want. You know, I just might vote for that man."

Clearly, for this particular voter, a 1964 Johnson Democrat, Wallace's whirlwind campaign here wrought something of a miracle. From Wallace-hater he became a Wallace fan — perhaps even a Wallace voter. And this explains why Northern Democratic politicians, who watched the former Alabama Governor score so well up north in the Presidential primaries four years ago, should be highly suspicious of polls that say Wallace won't draw in the big Northern cities this year.

On the external evidence of our sample, taken with the help of an Oliver Quayle professional pollster, Wallace is scarcely any threat at all, scoring at less than 4 per cent of the total vote. Furthermore, both declared Wallace voters were Republicans who backed Barry Goldwater in 1964.

But the external evidence, as our before-and-after interview with that house painter indicates, conceals deep philosophic conflicts over the race issue in the minds of many voters who, as respectable citizens, just do not like to admit they would ever vote for Wallace — style solutions.

No fewer than 16 of the 40 Democratic voters who went to the polls for Lyndon Johnson in 1964 and something good to say about Wallace. They admired his candor, his outspokenness, his "idealism," his "tough line on riots and crime," his "sincerity."

"He says what he thinks," a young trained nurse told us, and then launched into an attack on "welfare cheaters" (an idiom meaning Negroes). A retired guard at one of the local mills at first shied away from talking about Wallace. "I don't know anything about him." But a few minutes later, warming up to the subject, he blurted out: "He does a good job on segregation."

What this suggests is that more than one-third of the 1964 Johnson voters we sampled have not closed their minds to George Wallace. And among the eleven 1964 Goldwater voters that turned up in our sample, there were far stronger pro-Wallace sentiments.

"It cost me $120 to put up those lights," a salesman who voted for Goldwater, and now leans toward Richard M. Nixon, told us, pointing to an (Continued On Page 5)

Despite the language barrier and the problems of coping with Soviet bureaucracy, you can have a wonderful time visiting the Soviet Union. At the airport just before we were ready to leave I said to my wife, "You forgot to throw a coin in the fountain at Red Square. Now you may never come back." She cried all the way to Monte Carlo.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson took a nostalgic look back at 37 years in Washington in an early farewell speech Thursday night. The President remembered his arrival in 1931 as a congressman's assistant and told of his dreams to do something to achieve peace, to bring health and education to all, to do something "about leading men, to heal and build..."

Evans-Novak...

(Continued from page 4) elaborate floodlight system fixed to the roof of his garage. "I've been broken into three times in this house and I won't let my wife walk the dog at night outside the range of those lights. Wallace is tough. He'd get to the heart of this thing. Any more mass shootings like Cleveland and I might switch to Wallace." These symptoms of white backlash came before Wallace saturated the Providence press and television with his one-day visit and before his rally (July 25) almost broke up in warfare between an angry platoon of screaming Negro militants and the several thousand Rhode Islanders who had come to hear him speak. The ferocity of that demonstration against Wallace only made the backlash burn brighter.

In short, if the voters here are a reasonable facsimile of lower middle-income whites in other major Eastern cities, Wallace could make deep inroads in the industrial, Democratic Northeast. They are frightened and receptive, and no one is more skilled than Wallace at exploiting the fears and anti-black hostilities of whites frightened at the Negro revolution.

"Well, I'm leaving," the President said, "and I haven't gotten all those things done."
"But we've begun."
Johnson voiced his impromptu reminiscence at a speech before the National Bar Association, an organization of Negro lawyers. The President reviewed progress in civil rights and cited fresh figures on increased Negro income. He received a standing ovation as he told his audience, "I know that Americans, black and white, will prove they can be real soul brothers."

WASHINGTON (AP)— The U.S. birth rate dropped to a record low last year, the Census Bureau says.

Americans produced only 17.9 births per 1,000 persons, plunging below the previous lows during the Depression years. The Census Bureau said the net increase in the population was the lowest since World War II at 1.08 per cent. The population at the start of this year was figured at 200,248,000 persons. The median age of the population was 27.7 years. One out of every nine persons was Negro. And there were 100 women for every 96.7 men.

WASHINGTON (AP)— A shortage airport runways, not a control tower slowdown, is blamed by the head of the Federal Aviation Administration for the congestion in the skies above major cities.

Acting administrator David D. Thomas told a House subcommittee Thursday investigations by his agency have not detected any deliberate slowdown by air traffic controllers, even though many were having to work 10-hour days, six days a week.

a real VACATION

They had waited for this real vacation—this long trip—for years. But this time it was different, this time he wouldn't be going back to his job.

At first, retirement seemed frightening, like being shut off from the mainstream of life. He had seen too many men age beyond their years, after their career ended. He had no wish to be on the sidelines. He and his wife could have moved to a warmer climate and just have taken it easy. He didn't want that. So, before he left home, he had a long talk with his minister.

He found that there was plenty a man his age could do. Financially secure, he could afford to volunteer for a job. In fact, through the Church there was work he could do that would spread to the farthest corners of the world.

Right now, he is enjoying this vacation. He is savoring every moment of it. Because, when he gets home, he's going to lead a full and useful life. And that's the way he wants it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Community Ambassadors Report On Experiences

Oriental tea ceremonies and Independence celebrations figure in the daily lives of Greenville's two community ambassadors, Fred Irons and Cordell Avery. Avery, on an informal camping trip to the resort area in southern France, and Irons, participating in the near ritual of Japanese life, are now entering their last months as experimenters in international living.

Before leaving for the Riviera, Avery was shown a varied picture of French life. On July 8, he went to a Fondue Party. "That's where everyone takes a skewer with bread on it and dips it into a tremendous pot of melted cheese."

Later that same week, he and his "brother" Francois crossed the Swiss border and visited the town of Poruntrut. "There we walked through the cobblestone streets and went to the Court of Berne's Chateau of Poruntrut." Avery then bought a Swiss watch for a souvenir, and "stopped at the border and loaded up on Swiss chocolate."

With Bastille Day on July 14, Avery viewed the French independence day celebrations. "The whole country was decorated in red, white, and blue, (the tricolor) for the big day. There was a great fireworks show in Montbelliard followed by a large ball."

Of his family, Avery writes that his French father is a home-movie "bug" and has already shown pictures of vacations in the Alps, New York City and Chicago.

Part of the Experiment in International program is a farewell party the Americans give for their foreign families. Avery's group sponsored a meal of hamburgers, potato salad and chocolate chip cookies. "Afterwards we played records and danced."

The trip to the Riviera is a 19-day tour that includes a stop-over in the Alps, beginning July 25.

In Japan, Irons has become somewhat of an expert on the Japanese tea ceremony. On each of three successive days, he reports, "The procedure was very complicated, but the tea wasn't bad."

Of a Japanese Christian church service, Irons says that the only part he understood was the scripture. "The preacher introduced me to the whole church during the service. I had to stand up and give my name. It's nice to know that Christianity is universal."

On July 15, Irons began karate lessons. He thinks it's rewarding, "but my knuckles get battered."

Sore from the karate workout for the next two days, Irons visited a Japanese high school the second day. "The teachers we saw seemed ultra-strict. They seemed to demand a lot of respect, too. There is a larger gap between teacher and student. I don't like the atmosphere at all."

On Thursday, Irons and his American Experiment group observed the old Japanese industries of pottery and silk dyeing. "They did everything by hand. Every design in the silk dyeing, down to the gold outline, was done with a hand brush. A kimono made like that would cost from $400-$4,000."

Bridal kimonos were featured at the shop the group visited Saturday. "They are embroidered by hand and start at $2,000. Although the brides wear layers and layers of clothing, the dresses are really beautiful."

Missionaries Will Speak Sunday

The Rev. and Mrs. Jimmy Aldridge

Two missionaries from Africa and the quartet of the Free Will Baptist Bible College will highlight services commemorating the 15th anniversary of Grace Free Will Baptist Church, Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Jimmy Aldridge, having just returned from the Ivory Coast for their first furlough, will speak in the morning and evening services. Aldridge is one of five missionaries who receive full support from Grace Church.

Since its beginning in 1953, Grace Church has grown until it has one of the largest Sunday School enrollments in Greenville. Coupled with the emphasis on missions is the church's emphasis upon Christian service. Several young people have gone into Christian work. Two ministerial students, Bobby Smith and Henry Hagan, Jr., were graduated in the spring and will begin graduate work this fall.

For those who need financial assistance during their Christian leadership training, Grace maintains a student loan fund.

Among its other ministries is a daily radio program, "Coffee with the Pastor," conducted by the church pastor, Rev. Chester Phillips.

Ron Christ, minister of music, will direct the musical program for the anniversary services.

Gunman Hits Two Patrolmen

NEW YORK (AP) — A man firing a shotgun from 15 feet critically wounded two patrolmen early today as they responded to a call in the Crown Heights section of Brooklyn, police reported.

Police officials termed the shooting an ambush. About 23 policemen wearing bulletproof vests and armed with shotguns searched the neighborhood for the gunman.

The victims were identified as patrolmen Thomas Dockery, 31, and Leonard Fleck, 28, both of Brooklyn. The night administrator of Kings County Hospital said Dockery was hit in the right shoulder and arm and Fleck in the chest and abdomen.

Police said Dockery and Fleck were answering a call to investigate an argument at 1054 Eastern Parkway, a four-story, 32-family brick building.

Eastern Parkway is the dividing line between the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section and the Crown Heights section, where many Jewish families reside.

The gunman escaped by running down an alleyway on the right side of the building, police said.

Ingersoll Is New Bureau Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Charlotte N. C. Police Chief John E. Ingersoll was sworn in Thursday as director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, speaking at the brief ceremony, predicted control of narcotics addiction and the use of dangerous drugs would, in the next few years, become one of the nation's most serious problems.

Ingersoll, a former Justice Department official, served with the Oakland Calif., police force from 1957-1961, beginning as a patrolman. He resigned as Charlotte police chief in April to take a position with the U.S. Justice Department.

Negroes comprised 14.9 per cent of about 2.6 million federal employes last year.

Decide 'Missing' Marine Led Charge By Viet Cong

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A U.S. Marine investigation is reported to have decided that a white man killed by a U.S. reconnaissance patrol in a clash with an enemy squad was a young Leatherneck missing since 1965.

Marine sources said the shabbily dressed figure was shot at less than 20 yards as he led an enemy charge. They said as he fell he cried out, "Help me Help me!"

Four survivors of the patrol, shown photographs of missing Marines, picked out the picture of the 18-year-old Leatherneck whom the investigation finally centered on.

Marine sources gave this account:

The Marine patrol was operating about nine miles south of Phu Bai on July 15 and stopped for lunch. Shortly after noon, one of the nine Marines saw a 15-man North Vietnamese unit approaching through heavy underbrush.

The leader was young, with pointed Caucasian features, fair skin, and blond hair.

The startled Americans held their fire until the enemy was only 20 yards off and more North Vietnamese had come into view.

The mystery man fell under the first Marine volley. The Marines were outnumbered and one of their men was killed when another enemy squad appeared, so the Leathernecks broke off the fight and called in a helicopter to take them out.

The following day three members of the patrol led a Marine investigation team to the scene, but they were unable to locate any bodies.

North Favored In Sixth Boys Home Bowl Game

Boys Home Players Bound For East Carolina

Seven of the players in the sixth annual Boys Home Bowl Game to be played Saturday night at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium will be wearing Pirate uniforms this fall as they enter East Carolina University on football grants-in-aid. Nearly all of the 54 players in the game have received grants to various colleges. Those to join East Carolina are, first

North Out To Notch Fifth Straight Victory

The sixth annual Boys Home Bowl game hits the turf of Ficklen Stadium tomorrow night at 8 p.m. with promises of another fine battle between outstanding players.

The North, which has won four straight games after an initial South victory, is again favored to win, but the South will be seeking to stop the string and start one of their own.

The North will be under the direction of Alex Gibbs of Mt. Airy, with Edenton's Marion Kirby as assistant. Gibbs said that he expects the game to be tight, and he is hoping to hold the South to no more than two touchdowns.

South Coach Roger Thrift of New Bern, and his assistant, Steve Yates of North Rowan High School, look at the game differently. They feel that it will be a high scoring affair.

Perhaps the best thing about the South prospects is Thrift's own quarterback, Richard Stillely. Stillely guided the New Bern team to the Northeastern Conference title last year and an unbeaten regular season. He is rated as one of the best passers around, and can also run the ball.

Joining him in the backfield will be Mike Freeman of Kannapolis Brown High School at fullback, and Eric Caldwell of Newton-Conover, and Tim Foley of Greenville Rose at halfbacks. Thrift feels that he has a fine threat in these four boys, and that they will be able to put the team on the scoreboard several times.

Facing them across the field will be a team built to a fine pitch by Gibbs and his staff. They plan to use the ground attack as much as possible, with tailback William Walsler of Lexington and fullback Bill Wallace of Edenton Holmes doing most of the damage.

The North will be using the I formation, while the South will generally use the wing-T.

Besides Foley, three other area players have drawn starting assignments, all on the South squad. David McGlohon of Ayden will start at linebacker, while Greg Stox, also of Ayden, will be the defensive right guard. Rose High's Mike Aldridge will be at defensive right halfback.

The probable offensive lineup for the North: ends, Hooper Sartin, Graham, and Lonnie Ashby, North Davidson; tackles, Bryan Cheek, Raleigh Broughton, and Drew Phedger, Durham; guards, Larry East, Elizabeth City, and Doug Temple, Pasquotank Central; center, Stauber Wilson, Winston-Salem Parkland; quarterback, George Snyder, Mt. Airy; halfback, Laymon Williamson, Greensboro Smith; fullback, Bill Wallace, Edenton Holmes; tailback, William Walsler, Lexington.

The probable defensive lineup for the North: ends, Bill Clark, Wilson Fike, and C. G. Newsome, Ahoskie; tackles, Bobby Sparks, Glen Alpine, and Roger Littlejohn, Winston-Salem Reynolds; guards, Ron Gochenour, Spray Morthead, and Ronnie Peed, Helena; linebackers, Bruce Mills, Thomasville, and Kenny Hill, Winston-Salem Reynolds; halfbacks, Craig Koontz, Lexington, and Jim Webster, Winston-Salem Parkland; safety, Dave Gibbs, Thomasville.

The probable offensive lineup for the South: ends, Dick Tuttle, New Bern, and Roger McSwain, West Rowan; tackles, Jim Brown, West Carteret, and Randy Wilson, Burgaw; guards, Lee Kirkley, Wadesboro Bowman, and William Wright, Tabor City; center, Bill Taylor, Washington; quarterback, Richard Stillely, New Bern; halfbacks, Eric Caldwell, Newton-Conover, and Tim Foley, Greenville Rose; fullback, Mike Freeman, Kannapolis Brown.

The probable defensive lineup for the South: ends, Eddie Green, Hamlet, and Jeff Clark, Jacksonville; tackles, Joe Ruder, Havelock, and Rod Jones, Jacksonville; guards, Merceda Perry, North Rowan, and Greg Stox, Ayden; linebacker, David McGlohon, Ayden; rover, Jim Forbis, East Mecklenburg, halfbacks, Mark Donnell, Sanford, and Mike Aldridge, Greenville Rose; safety, Sid Tetterton, Washington.

Marichal Blanks Dodgers, 2-0, To Gain 20th Win Of Year; Ahead Of Dean's Pace

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

If relief pitchers had to depend on Juan Marichal to build their reputations, they'd be in a lot of trouble.

Marichal, who became the National League's first 20-game winner with a three-hitter as San Francisco blanked Los Angeles 2-0 Thursday night, believes in finishing what he starts.

The Dominican Dandy bested Dodger ace Don Drysdale for his 16th consecutive complete game and fifth straight victory. Marichal has gone the distance in 96 of his last 97 victories.

In other National League action, Atlanta topped New York 4-2, Chicago tripped Houston 4-1, St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 2-1 in a game ended by rain after seven innings, and Pittsburgh rapped Cincinnati 6-1.

Washington whacked Detroit 9-3, Minnesota bounced Chicago 4-1, Baltimore downed Cleveland 5-1 and New York blanked Boston 1-0.

The bullpen had its usual quiet evening while Marichal mowed down the Dodgers. It was the Giant ace's seventh straight victory in head-to-head showdowns with Drysdale.

Marichal, 20-4, is six days ahead of the pace set by Dizzy Dean who won 30 games in 1934—the last pitcher to do it. Dean didn't notch No. 20 until Aug. 7. Detroit's Denny McLain, 21-3, is the only other 20-game winner in the majors at the moment.

Jim Davenport singled San Francisco's first run across in the fourth and hot-throwing Dick Dietz cracked a homer in the sixth. It was Dietz' sixth hit in eight at bats.

The rampaging Cardinals extended their first-place lead to 15 games with Steve Carlton's seven-inning two-hitter beating Philadelphia.

It was the fourth straight complete game victory for the St. Louis pitching staff. Roger Maris stroked a single and double and had a hand in both Cardinal runs.

Maris doubled Lou Brock home in the third and singles by Curt Flood and Maris followed by Orlando Cepeda's double play grounder broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth. Johnny Callison homered for the Phillies.

Willie Stargell hammered a three-run homer that carried the Pirates past Cincinnati. Stargell connected against Jim Maloney in the fourth inning after Matty Alou's single and an error by Tommy Helms had put Pittsburgh in business. Errors by Johnny Bench and Vada Pinson helped the Pirates to a run without a hit in the first and Maloney forced in another with a bases-loaded walk.

Phil Regan chalked up his 14th save of the season and Don Kessinger rapped three hits and had a hand in three scoring rallies as the Cubs tripped Houston.

Kessinger tripled and scored on Ron Santo's first-inning single. The same combination clicked again in the seventh with singles by Kessinger and Santo sandwiched around a sacrifice producing another run. Jim Hickman doubled and Kessinger singled him home in the eighth.

Regan came out of the bullpen in the eighth and protected Joe Niekro's fifth straight victory and his 11th of the season. Randy Hundley homered for the Cubs.

Atlanta's Cecil Upshaw came on with two runs in and none out in the first inning and shut New York out with nine innings of four-hit relief as the Braves tagged the Mets with their fifth straight loss.

Felipe Alou's leadoff double triggered a two-run Brave rally in the first but the Mets bounced back to tie, knocking out starter Jim Britton. Then Upshaw slammed the door on them and Atlanta pushed a pair of runs across in the second, taking the lead for keeps.

Coke, Pollard's In Tourney Finals

Coca-Cola and Pollard's advanced into the finals of the Ladies Softball League tournament with wins last night. Coke, the regular season champ, rolled to a 17-8 win over Empire Brush, while upstart Pollard's upset second-place Little Mint, 5-4.

The two teams will meet next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for the title.

In the opener, Coke had the game won by the end of the first inning. Putting together 11 hits, Coke pushed 10 runs over the plate to hold a big lead.

After that, it was just a question of what the margin would be. Coke added five more in the second, then came up with one each in the third and fourth. Empire Brush picked up one in the third, three in the fourth and four in the sixth.

It was quite a bit different in the second game, as it went right down to the wire. Pollard's picked up the lead in the first inning with a pair of runs. Little Mint came back with one in their half of the first, but two more by Pollard's in the top of the second made it 4-1.

That score held until the fifth inning, when Little Mint broke loose for three more runs to tie it up at 4-4.

The game was decided in the final inning when Hannah singled, moved up on a hit by Sawyer and scored on a hit by Hardee to give Pollard's the winning run.

College All-Stars Test Mighty Packers

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A bevy of ex-collegians, all aspiring for pro jobs, will learn the facts of play-for-pay football life against the Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star Game at Soldier Field tonight.

The 50-man collegiate squad, directed for the first time by Norm Van Brocklin, former Minnesota Viking coach, rates a three-touchdown underdog trying to avert a third straight trimming by the National Football League champion Packers.

A crowd of 60,000 is expected for the clash which starts at 9:30 p.m., EDT, and will be telecast nationally via ABC.

The Collegians trail 23-9-2 in the series launched in 1934 by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. They have beaten the pros only twice in the last 10 years.

their latest victory a 20-17 shading of the Packers in 1963.

Like Van Brocklin, former NFL star quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles, new Packer Coach Phil Bengtson will make his All-Star Game debut.

Bengtson, successor to retired Vince Lombardi, obviously has a lot more going for him than Van Brocklin, who has had only three weeks to prepare his youthful charges for the test against the tough, slick and talented Packers.

The Pack, priming for its fourth straight rule of the professional roost, shut out the All-Stars in the last two games, 27-0 last year and 38-0 in 1966.

Best chance for an upset rests mainly on the passing skills of All-Star quarterbacks, Gary Beban, Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA, and surprising Greg Landry of Massachusetts.

Beban, particularly, is the scrambling type quarterback—like Fran Tarkenton, former Viking star—who most annoys the Packers.

Willie Davis, Green Bay's bruising defensive end, pointed out: "A study of our history will show we often have had trouble with unorthodox quarterbacks."

"Beban can move around and throw the ball. So we've got to be conscious of which quarterback is in there, that's for sure."

BURR'S ARRIVAL . . . Raymond Burr, star of NBC's "Ironside", is met on the flight deck of the USS Hancock CVA 19 by the carrier's commanding officer

Captain "Jeep" Streeper and Commander Jack Endacott, executive officer.

Met Ray Burr Aboard Carrier In Making Vietnam Film

Captain "Jeep" Streeper, husband of Greenville native Cora Redditt Streeper, was commanding officer of the USS Hancock CVA 19 when part of the NBC TV special "Raymond Burr Visits Vietnam" was filmed aboard the ship.

NBC is rerunning the special in a series of Friday night repeats this month. Included in the specials will be "Raymond Burr Visits Vietnam," a record of the actor's impressions of the country; "Tomorrow's World Feeding the Billions," a report on solving the world's food shortage; "The Royal Palaces," a look at Britain's palaces and their art treasures and the "American Alcoholic," a study of the middle-class problem-drinker.

Raymond filmed part of the special on Vietnam aboard the air craft carrier, the Hancock, during its 1967 deployment.

Burr expressed a real interest in a big cartoon displayed in the cabin of the ship that some of the men had made for Captain Streeper. It showed the carrier under attack, two of its planes having a mid-air collision and the carrier aground on an island. The caption under the cartoon said, "It has been another good day."

Burr asked the meaning of the cartoon. He was told by the executive officer, Commander Jack Endacott, that the captain kept the rumors down and morale up by keeping the entire crew as fully informed as possible on what was happening. He spoke to the crew every day telling them of the results of the 18 and 20 hours work that they were putting in. Unless a pilot loses the least of any carrier, the Captain fell into the habit of ending his "crew briefings" over the "another good day." This was how the cartoon originated.

Burr used the same phrase in summing up this time aboard the Hancock by saying, "Our strikes found their targets. We got all our pilots back — it has been another good day."

Mrs. Streeper and her husband have recently purchased a lot in Brook Valley here and have plans to build soon.

Seven Complete Pre-Registering

CHAPEL HILL — Seven local youth recently completed day-long pre-registration at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. All of them incoming freshmen, John Graham Clark III, Lee Hannah Dunn, Bernice Cleveland Branch Jr., John Dawyer Gross, William Joseph Pate, Tracy Jackson Warren, and Gerald Oren Whittington participated in the program.

During pre-registration, students take placement tests, prepare their course of study, and familiarize themselves with the campus. It is co-sponsored by the Office of Undergraduate Admissions and the General College.

UNC-CH is composed of 14 colleges with more than 70 departments. The student body is expected to exceed 16,000 this fall—more than 3,000 of these freshmen and new students. There are approximately 1,500 faculty members.

Cars Collided Here Yesterday

Two vehicles received $350 damage in an 8:45 p.m. collision yesterday at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Chestnut Street.

Police reported that a car driven by David Michael McCray, 18, 805 Darby Ave., Kinston, was making a left turn from a south-bound lane on Memorial Drive when a car driven by Raymond Wardell Edwards, 19, 1011 Anderson St., collided with it.

Edwards was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, and no injuries were reported.

Damage was set at $200 to the Edwards vehicle and $150 to the McCray car.

Dental Board Denies Prejudice Motivation

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Dr. Reginald Hawkins' assertion that charges of malpractice against him were racially motivated has been denied by an official of the North Carolina Board of Dental Examiners.

Dr. Clinton Diercks of Morganton, secretary-treasurer of the board, Thursday took issue with Hawkins regarding the manner in which the charges against the Charlotte Negro dentist were investigated.

Hawkins and two other Negro dentists in Charlotte were told by the board this week they would lose their licenses unless certain conditions are met. All three plan to appeal the board's ruling to Superior Court.

In replying to the board's decision, Hawkins charged that board members "knew the local committee members" in Charlotte who investigated the case and knew the identity of the dentists whose work on children in a Headstart program was questioned.

Dr. Diercks said Thursday: "No members of the board knew the names of the committee members until the matter came to trial." Furthermore, he said, the board did not become involved in the case until after a Charlotte committee finished its investigation.

Dr. Diercks also noted that two Negroes were on the board named to review the findings of the local group.

He also said the Charlotte committee never knew the names of the dentists during its investigation. Each dentist and his patient were identified by number, Dr. Diercks said.

Hawkins insists that the investigation and its result—threatened withdrawal of his license to practice unless he returns to dental school—were aimed at him because of his political activities and his suit that successfully forced integration of the North Carolina Dental Society. Hawkins was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in May.

Bill Has Funds For 2 N.C. Dams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the White House Thursday a $1.7 billion public works bill which authorizes the proposed Randleman Dam and Howard Mills Dam in North Carolina.

Funds for the projects, expected to cost $31 million, will not be available until a separate money bill including the two dams passes Congress at a later date, possibly next year.

Scott Shows He's Taking GOP Rival Seriously

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — The early takeover of the North Carolina Democratic party machinery by gubernatorial nominee Bob Scott is a further indication that Scott isn't taking his Republican opponent lightly.

For the 68 years they have controlled the state government, Democrats have felt little threat from Republicans. Things have been changed by the vigorous campaign being waged by the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Rep. Jim Gardner, R-N.C., and by effects of the national political situation. Scott, the incumbent lieutenant governor, frankly admits that "the job before us is one we recognize as serious."

"We're all agreed that there's a need to get started earlier" on campaign preparations, he says, which in the past "have always been bunched into a few frantic weeks after the National Convention."

his own people into top leadership positions of the state party organization earlier than normal.

The Democratic gubernatorial nominee traditionally puts his own people into the top jobs, but generally after the Democratic National Convention scheduled this year to begin Aug. 26 in Chicago.

Scott's people, however, took over Wednesday, with the national convention still three weeks away.

Jimmy Johnson of Charlotte, Scott's campaign manager, took over as state party chairman and Mrs. James Harper Jr. of Southport became vice chairman.

But Gardner is concentrating heavily on attracting Democratic votes and Democratic leaders fear that disenchantment among North Carolina Democrats with the national administration might cause them to cross party lines in the November general election.

The new Democratic party chairman himself says that keeping the national party ticket and the state party ticket separated in the mind of the voters will be a major task.

"There's a great deal of frustration directed against the federal government," says Johnson. "It's our job to see it doesn't spill over."

Johnson succeeded Tim Valentine Jr. of Nashville as state Democratic chairman.

Other new appointments approved by the State Democratic Executive Committee Wednesday: Mrs. E. K. Power of Durham, secretary; John A. Williams Jr. of Raleigh, treasurer; Joe W. Yates of Raleigh, finance director; and Chuck Barbour of Durham, executive director.

N.C. Building Activity Is Off

RALEIGH — Building permits totaling $38,177,163 were issued during June in 36 North Carolina cities of more than 10,000 population. State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane reported today.

Commissioner Crane said the June figure was off eight per cent from the $41,565,542 building total reported for June, 1967. However, he reported a 7.5 per cent increase in total value of permits issued during the first half of 1968, compared with the first six months of 1967.

Permits totaling $233,419,098 were issued in the cities during the first half of this year, Crane said. Total for the comparable period of 1967 was $217,199,131.

Crane said Charlotte led the Tar Heel cities with June permits totaling $9,063,660. Raleigh was second with $4,736,731, Rocky Mount third with $3,708,717, Winston-Salem fourth with $3,663,709, Greensboro fifth with $2,332,966, and Wilmington sixth with $2,298,533. Durham, Goldsboro and High Point each reported permits in excess of $1,000,000.

Greenville was reported as having had permits for $331,579 issued during the month.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a sharp loss this afternoon amid concern over possible developments in the steel-price battle between Washington and the industry. Trading was fairly active.

Losses outnumbered gains by a ratio exceeding 8 to 3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 6.62 at 871.45.

Cautionary advice from investment experts combined with the doubtful outlook for the economy and the current fracas over steel prices to cause many investors to keep to the sidelines, brokers said.

Prices were down from the start and steadily widened their losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 2.5 at 327.4 with industrials off 2.9, rails off 2.8 and utilities off .1. Most steels continued to back away cautiously in view of the opposition of Washington to the price increases.

Singer was off 2½ at 71 on a block of 48,900 shares.

Prices fell sharply on the American Stock Exchange.

S&M Corporation's Building Is Begun

The first prefabricated wall panel was riveted into place yesterday during a dedication ceremony of the S and M Equipment Corporation's new building under construction on North Memorial Drive.

Mayor Eugene West and county commissioner chairman R. L. Martin spoke briefly.

The equipment corporation deals primarily with logging and wood handling machinery. The new building is expected to be ready for occupancy by mid-September. It will feature a large showroom, and a complete parts and service department. A 14-foot high door is being installed to permit the servicing of even the largest types of logging equipment.

In September the corporation will be one year old. Organized by Frank Meacham and Carl Stanfield, the company employs 10 persons with an annual payroll of $125,000.

Both Meacham and Stanfield hold B.S. degrees in forestry from NCSU.

Sherry Robertson, Miss Pitt County was also on hand for the dedication ceremony.

After the ceremony, a luncheon, Walter M. Keller, a forestry specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at NCSU, gave a brief talk.
